The Earthquake in Turkey-1,000 Lives Lost.

LONDON, July 23 .- The Standard's Constantinople correspondent says it has been conclusively established that more than 1,000 persons were killed by the recent earthquakes.

Attempted Murder in a Church. PARIS, July 22 .- During the funeral services of Leconte Delisle in the Church of St. Sulpice, yesterday, a man attempted to stab M. Dutaigny, who represented President Casimir Perier at the obsequies. The man was arrested, and is believed to be a lunatic. Mr. Gladstone's Eye Worse.

LONDON, July 22 .- Mr. Gladstone's return to London is due to the condition of his eye, which has become worse. Another operation will be necessary, and the ex-Premier's physicians say that the ultimate result is uncertain, though they are hopeful of effecting a permanent cure. Discount Rates.

LONDON, July 22 .- The rates of discount last week were a for three months and for 30 days. All imports of gold were taken quickly for the continent. Silver grew firmer during the week on the strength of the French purchases, but weakened evidently when the French demand was satisfied. Business on the Stock Exchange remains almost at a standstill.

140 Lives Lost. Opessa, July 22 .- It is now certain that 140 persons went down with the Italian steamer Columba which collided with the Russian steamer Vladimir in the Black Sea a few days ago. All the evidence badly inculpates the Russian seamen, who abandoned the Columba and her crew and passengers to their fate, although the vessel floated an hour and a quarter after the collision.

Battle Between Spaniards and Malays Paris, July 22 .- The Matin's Madrid correspondent says that the Governor of the Phillipine Islands has telegraphed to the Government an account of the fierce battle between Spanish troopsand natives in Mindana, The Spaniards were surprised, but they recovered speedily and drove the Malays from the field. They lost 14 killed, including an officer, and 47 wounded. The Malays left 27 dead on the field. Canadian Cattle Shut Out. London, July 22 .- Dr. Andrew Smith, of Toronto, has had several interviews with Mr. Gardner, president of the Board of Agriculture, concerning the restrictions imposed on trade in Canadian cattle. His opinion is that the Government will maintain these restrictions for the rest of the year at least. While not asserting that contagious pleuro-pneumonia exists among Canadian cattle the Government contends that suspicious cases enough to justify the restrictions have been found. The Evicted Tenants Bill.

LONDON, July 22 .- The debate on the Evicted Tenants Bill in the House of Commons on Friday night would have been Speaker, who has rarely so exercised his prerogative. The fact was not generally known at the time, but the Speaker prithat he would not give his assent to closure the measure which merited full and free have assented to an early division, and an anderstanding has been arrived at whereby a division will be taken on Monday. On entering the committee stage the bill will be fought line by line, and this process may occupy a month, notwithstanding the fact known persons. that Sir William Harcourt has allowed only a few days to carry the measure through to its final passage.

Women in the Wesleyan Conference. LONDON, July 22 .- The leading question before the Wesleyan Conference is that of the admission of women as delegates, it was foily to keep such a large armed which will be decided at the sitting on force around Pullman as long as the com-Monday. The leaders and more conservative delegates oppose the admission of women, holding that the innovation is illegal and against all precedent here or in the United States; but a very considerable section of the delegates favor the immediate recognition of the work and influence of women by their admission. The case of Miss Dawson will probably be referred to a committee. Princess Alix to Wed in September. LONDON, July 22 .- The wedding of the 'arewitch and Princess Alix of Hesse, has been definitely fixed to take place in September. The stories frequently told of late that Princess Alix is disinclined to embrace the faith of the Greek Church are characterized by persons authorized to speak on he subject as being wholly baseless. The London Massage Scandals. LONDON, July 22 .- In consequence of the massage scandals mentioned in these dispatches last week detectives have visited and warned the owners and managers of a number of places in the West End to close up their houses on the ground that they were employing assistants who were not in possession of proper certificates. The result was that many of these houses were summarily closed up. Officials of the Home Office state that of scores of so-called massage establishments visited by the detectives only about half a dozen were legitimate. The others were gorgeously furnished houses which charged enormous fees and employed double staffs of attendants, half male and half female. These establishments admitted so-called patients of both sexes, who were privileged to choose either a masseur or a masseuz. The Home

Office inquiry into the matter has been conducted so as to lead to no public disclosures, but the condition of things was found to be as immoral as could be well

A Princess Converted to Catholicism. BERLIN, July 22 .- Much court gossip in the last few days has concerned the report that the Princess Frederick Charles has been converted suddenly to Catholicism. The change has not been so sudden as is supposed. The initial impulse to her change of creed was given several years ago. It came from Queen Marie of Bavaria, an ardent Catholic. She improved her friendship with the Princess to bring her into consultation with the royal confessor and Cardinal Hohenlohe. Immediately after the Queen's death in 1889 the Princess told her friends that she felt she must at once declare her conversion to the Catholic Church. Under the persuasion of her daughter, the Duchess of Connaught, and the insistence of the Emperor, however, she remained formally attached to the Protestant Evangelical Church. Eventually the conversion of two German princesses to the Greek Church for State reasons disarmed Emperor William's opposition. The Princess will pub-licly abjure the Evangelical creed very

The Corean Warcloud.

SHANGHAI, July 22 .- The report that war has been declared between China and Japan is not yet confirmed, but China is preparing for war.

LONDON, July 22 .- A dispatch received this evening from Yokohama says it is stated that Corea demands the withdrawal of Japanese troops from the peninsula considering the reforms propose by Japan. The Japanese Government is much surprised by this demand, which is regarded as proof that she has been influenced by China to defy openly Japan's wishes. Negotiations have been in progress | be transmitted from this House congratufor several days between Tokio and Pekin, but their tendency is not generally known. The Chinese legation here has heard nothing from Pekin since Saturday morning. Everybody there discredits the rumor that war has been declared as well as the report that 10,000 soldiers have started for Corea. The officials at the Japanese legation also discredit the war rumors of the last two days and express much surprise that war has been regarded here as imminent. The British Foreign Office denies all knowledge of war or final preparations for war between China and Japan.

IN LABOR'S FIELD.

The Strike at Sacramento Has Been Declared Off.

Pullman Shops Must Open at Once or be Closed for a Stated Ported, SACRAMENTO, Cal., July 22 .- The strike was declared off at 5:15 p.m. yesterday. CHICAGO, July 22 .- Roy Goodwin, W. E. Burns, M. J. Eiliott and other directors of the American Railway Union, and L. P. Benedict, stenographer, were arrested yesterday. John F. McVean is now the only director of the A. R. U. who has not been arrested. A warrant is out for him. PULLMAN, Ill., July 22.-The Pullman strikers continue to wage war on the men closured but for the intervention of the and girls at work in the laundry and car wheel shop. A detachment of police was sent from Kensington to Roseland to escort the girls from their homes there to the vately informed Sir William Harcourt shops. Only a few of those who went to work were willing to brave a second enin view of the important issues raised by counter with the angry women and men at Pullman. When the girls, accompanied by discussion. The leaders of the Opposition a wagon load of police, arrived at a point near the railroad station several bundred women met them and began throwing mud at the girls and using abusive language. The pickets at the Pallman oil tanks were fired on early yesterday morning by un-present. Mr. Davin called attention to the advertisement stating that binder twine made at Kingston Penitentiary would be sold as far west as Owen Sound for 61 and 7 cents a pound. He asked Sir John Thompson if he would extend that to the Northwest, and send twine there free of freight.

Sir John Thompson said that they complied with the usage of business in paying freight as far as Owen Sound, but they would not be able to send it free of freight to the Northwest. They were not selling binder twine under cost. They Corbett, who pride themselves upon the allowed for the cost of convict labor 50 cents a day. On the second reading of the emasculated Franchise Bill, Sir John Thompson promised to present the bill as originally brought down at next session. Revision of the voters' lists under the present law begins June 1 and ends Dec. 31, but in committee this morning the revision was fixed to begin Sept. 1, 1894, and be finally completed Feb. 28. The bill was read a third time after Mr. Laurier had objected to delay in revision which would force members to go to work at once on revision.

The House agreed to an amendment of the Senate to the Northwest Act providing for filling a vacancy on the executive committee in case of death or resignation.

OTTAWA, July 23 .- Last evening about 10 o'clock James A. Gouin, city postmaster, while walking along Elgin street, near Cooper, was attacked by two men who struck him a heavy blow on the head, rendering him unconscious and then gagged and robbed him. They secured a gold watch and chain valued at several hundred dollars. When the men committed the robbery some people were still sitting on their doorsteps a short distance away. It was the most daring deed ever perpetrated in the capital.

DEBS & CO. Some Pulpit References to the Late

Labor Troubles

By Rev. E. B. Lanceley-They Strove Unlaw ully-The Might of Money.

Dundas Street Methodist Church was filled last evening by an audience who listened attentively and with profit to the pastor, Rev. E. B. Lanceley, who delivered an excellent discourse from II. Timothy, ii., 5: "And if a man also strive for masteries, yet he is not crowned except he strive lawfully." Said the preacher:

"On the crowded streets of our city one is naturally led to ask: 'What are the motives which animate the people as they journey to and fro?' Comparatively few struggle for a mere bare existence. Some struggle for affection's sake, to relieve dependent parents or helpless children. A large amount of activity issues from a desire for some kind of notoriety. This is one of the deepest and most subtle motives of the human heart. Its grossest expression is seen in the desire for physical supremacy, as in the case of Sullivan and possession of qualities similar to a mastifi when they will stand up and batter one another into a mass of blood and bruises. It was also seen in the recent labor difficulties across the border. Debs and Sovereign were striving for supremacy. They fought for the throne of the empire of labor. They would have all the working men bow beneath their scepter and obey their unjust mandate. They strove for the mastery, but were not crowned because they did not strive lawfully. Their plan of operation was a violation of the laws of the nation, a violation of the laws which lie at the basis of the brotherhood of man, the greatest good to the greatest number, and it was a violation of the law of God. In its practical effect it was a war on labor. Millions of innocent, honest, law-abiding workingmen throughout the country in all branches of industry were made to suffer by reason of unlawful, violent, widespread interference with interstate commerce, Numberless industrial establishments of all sorts, lines of business in nearly every community, all giving employment to labor are suddenly benumbed by trade paralysis, brought on by the efforts of these men and their associates to force a private manufacturing establishment to yield to the wages demand of its employes. If there are to be similar difficulties in the inture, every time there is a local conflict between manufacturing companies and their employes there can never he any such thing as industrial peace. Innumerable Thompson, seconded by Hon. Wilfrid enterprises will languish or be abandoned Laurier and carried. His Excellency was forever. Men of means desirous of venturing into new undertakings will hesitate. John Thompson then moved that a message | Capital will be withdrawn from activity, and more than all others workingmen will suffer from the unwise conduct of those who assume to represent their interests. Hon. David Mills-Do you draw the line Debs & Co. failed because their cause was unjust and their methods incone, and if a man strive for masteries he will not be crowned except he strive lawfully. "The same ingredients are to be found in the heart of the conqueror on the battle field everywhere the spirit is manifest. In the market, on the street, in the etiquette of the drawing room, and in the spurious patriotism of politicians who would sacrifice a profound principle for a party plum. It ofttimes saturates the plan of the philanthropist, and even the sanetuary of God is not exempted from its influence. appearance of good conduct to the meanest possible motive. It is better for to regard all men honest until you find them out rogues than vice versa. There is less misery in being cheated than in that kind of wisdom which thinks it perceives that all mankind are cheats. Neither extreme is safe to assume, yet large scope must be allowed for the influence of this spirit of desire for supremacy. We boast in this country of the equality of our institutions. and then try our best to break up the social level. Here, where everybody says all men are equal and everybody is afraid they will be, people are as exclusive as possible. The man who possesses blue blood and delights to be accounted one of the aristocracy has no legitimate ground for supremacy. It is purely accidental. Misers. they who leve money for money's sake, are scarce, and yet with many the most persistent desire is for the supremacy which attends the possession of wealth. The power of money is the mightiest power of the present age. The man of money casts midnight or joy over the world of traffic. It is not the Russian Czar, the German Kaiser, the Turkish Sultan, or the French President, but the capitalist that makes war or preserves peace. The destinies of nations are not fixed in congresses or par liaments, but in the Bank of England, Wall street, New York, or Board of Trade. Chicago. Wealth hides meanness of birth and paints over the stains and flaws in men's characters and to many men it is the most feasible way to destruction. A man may be unable to write his own name. yet if he has money he requires no other passport into the best society of earth. "There is no substantial ground for supremacy in anything that is merely outside of man. The true ground upon which to base a just estimate is what a man 'is.' not merely what a man 'has'-not in outward possessions, but in uses. "The service before the Christian Church is a noble and elevating one. The work of Jesus Christ was the cutcome of his own pure inner life. Men should strive to imitate him. Be good and you will do good, and doing good is better than getting newed in Paris.

London, July 23.—Seventeen plain misters went to Windsor Castle on Wednesday, and came back with that handle to their names which is the goal of ambition to the British bourgeoisie. The crowd of "Knights Expectant" was a curiously mixed one, and eminently characteristic of such occasions. It included prosperous brewers, engineers, shoemakers, lawyers, merchants, and, by way of emphasizing the latter day respectablity of the profession of journalism, two newspaper men - Isaac Pitman, inventor of phonographic shorthand, and Wemyss Reid, author and formerly editor of the Leeds Mercury. The Knights Expectant or otherwise are not thought much of by the ancient British aristocracy and court officers and flunkeys, and the crowd on Wednesday had that fact impressed upon them in a variety of ways. Most of them expected that they would travel free in the special train provided for the Ministers summoned to Windsor to attend the council on the same day; but instead of that cheap, comfortable arrangement, they had to buy their own tickets and proceed by an ordinary passenger train. While at Slough they had to submit to the additional indignity of being shunted into a siding to allow the Cabinet special to pass them. At the castle they were taken in hand by the Lords in Waiting and drilled to fit them for the royal presence. Then, after being hustled about from room to room, they had some luuch and there was a little trouble with old Isaac Pitman, who is a vegetarian. Then there was more drilling and hustling, and finally came the processional march along the gloomy corridors into the audience chamber, where the Queen sat with her back to the window, so that her faithful subjects should stand in full light while the royal face was in shadow. The Duke of York was there, and the Equerry in Waiting and several dowager duchesses, all gazing at the nervous Knights Expectant.

The manifesto says among other things: A Lord in Waiting called the names, and each man in turn knelt before the Queen, who, with a sword borrowed from the Equerry in Waiting, tapped him on the shoulder, and in the good old form said:

"Rise, Sir Thomas So and So." Then the royal hand, which is said to be still soft and plump, was laid upon the new knight's wrist, and the happy man bent and kissed it, not squarely, but distantly and timidly, as though apologizing for taking such a liberty. The final trial was that of getting out of the audience chamber with the least possible delay and without turning the back upon the Queen or knocking the furniture or people over; but all the knights had been well drilled in this at home and while awaiting the audience, and it was performed very creditably. The Sun's informant, an elderly man of considerable weight, declared in conclusion that although the actual ceremony in the audience chamber only lasted about 90 seconds for each knight, it constituted the most trying ordeal he had ever gone through. Ladas Not a Favorite. Ladas has surprised his friends and pleased the Nonconformist critics of his owner by again suffering defeat. This does not mean that the Prime Minister's colt is not a fine horse, but it does mean that Isinglass is a most extraordinary one. However, Isinglass does not run in the St. Leger, so that the change in betting to 5 to 4 against Ladas is again tempting to the triends of Lord Rosebery.

Romance or Roguery. The villagers of Maiden Bradley, Bath, have been excited this week over the appearance there of a person who claims to be heir of the twelfth Duke of Somerset, and demands the restitution of the title and estate. The claimant describes himself as Lord St. Maur, who was supposed to have been dead for 29 years. He was accidentally wounded by a bear while shooting in India and died soon after. The claimant admits the encounter with the bear, but says he escaped from his claws and got away with some scratches, which he will exhibit when the time comes. His absence is accounted for by the assertion that he was taken prisoner by the Russians and kept for a considerable period.

Byron's Curls. A lock of Byron's hair, duly authenticated by John Murray, which came up for sale at Southby's the other day, was accompanied by a letter from the poet's sister, in which the writer said: "I enclose what my poor, dear brother would have termed one of his best behaved

Scrope Davis it was who first discovered how those same curls were taught to behave well. He walked unceremoniously into Byron's bedroom at Cambridge one morning, and found Hyperion with his locks in papers. Scrope chaffed and Byron swore. Scrope said: "I could have sworn your hair curled naturally.' "Naturally it does," the other told him, "in the morning." A Queer Accusation. To tell a man he "is incapable of speaking other than London English" is an offense which cost the litigant who thus described the shortcomings of a lawyer's clerk $750 damages at the hands of a British jury on Saturday. Major Baker, the agent of an American insurance company, was the man who indulged in the vile slander, and now he is wondering what town he should have named instead of London in order to turn the observation from a reproach to a compliment. What's the Matter With the Navy? The annual navy maneuvers have not begun yet, but the mobilization of the fleet seriously. Her place is to be taken by the Dryad, which broke down a few weeks ago. The Onyx, sister ship to the Jaseur, has also broken down. The steering gear of the Medea has gone wrong. The Pearl had signaled "Not under control," but happily has recovered her faculties again. The Pique has broken down. Two firstclass torpedo boats have broken down. The Speedy broke down some days ago and cannot go to sea. This is the list of casualties for one day.

A Boy Hero. The story of a brief but great career, told at a coroner's inquest in London on Saturday, deserves a place in the world's record of heroes. It is the simple record of a little lad of ten, John Clinton by name, son of a humble carman. A few months ago the boy saved his baby brother from burning to death. The child had set fire to his clothing and the curtains. Johnny rolled the baby along the carpet till the fire was extinguished. He then tore down the burning curtains, receiving severe burns on his hands and arms. On Wednesday last the boy's companions were wading along the bank of the Thames, when a little fellow got beyond his depth and called for help. Johnny Clinton jumped in and saved him. Then, as the rescued boy told the coroner: "After Jack pulled me out he slipped back into deep water and we didn't see him again. The body was recovered a few minutes later, but life was extinct.

The Steamship War. The latest phase of the war in steerage rates in America is the alarm in certain circles here over the announcement that hordes of undesirable immigrants are coming to England from the United States. There is great fear that when the rates go up these persons, as one newspaper expresses it, "will remain stuck in our end of the drainpipe." The nature of the recent labor news from America prevents any great rush westward. Alarming Developments.

Saturday's attempt to plunge an Anarchist dagger into a representative of the President of the French Republic at a state funeral in Paris will renew the popular and official terror in that capital, and make sure the passage of the severe repressive measures pending in Parliament. More striking proof of the defiant attitude of these advocates of assassination is furnished by their bold placarding of the whole city of Paris Friday morning with bloodthirsty threats. The placards were printed on white paper, a color forbidden to all except official notices, and were headed "Conseil Municipal." The police, therefore, failed to notice their character, till they had been posted for some hours.

"Lovers of liberty: Denounce and threaten the bourgeois organization, which is founded upon theft and brigandage and which, like robbers who are menaced, desperately defends itself. If the defense of the bourgeoisie be banishment and other exasperating measures, ours will be to strike, at all hazard, and to act like wild beasts.

"Bourgeoisie-poison, dagger fire, and dynamite will be your lot. We will give to society its true aspect of slavery." Good Preachers. Father Ignatius is calling attention to the lack of preaching ability among the clergy of the English Church. He declares: "It is high time that something were done to prevent the grevious torture inflicted every Sunday upon so large a number of the church-going population. Why should people who are utterly unable to preach be compelled to try to do so Sunday after Sunday for the whole course of their lives? They are a misery to themselves and a torture to their fellow creatures, and they cause many persons to dread the Sabbath and the house of God."

REPUBLIC OF HONOLULU.

gated July 4.

No Military Display, and the Change Accomplished Quietly.

WASHINGTON, July 22 .- A Honolulus setter of the 13th says: The Provisional Government is no more and the republic of Hawaii holds the reins of power. But it is only a change of name: the same people are in power and the avowed purpose of the Government is the same-to obtain annexation with the United States. The new constitution, which was finished on the 3rd, was promulgated on the 4th of July, from the front steps of the former palace. A large crowd was present and when President Dole appeared he was greeted by a mighty cheer while surrounded by his cabinet, the military and the members of the late Constitutional Government, he read the proclamation of the new republic as follows: "I, Sanford B. Doyle, President of the Provisional Government of the Hawaiian Islands, by virtue of the charge given me by the executive and advisory councils of the Provisional Government and by act dated July 4, 1894, proclaim the republic of Hawaii as the sovereign authority over and throughout the Hawaiian Islands from this time ferth. And I declare the constitution framed and adopted by the constitutional convention of 1894 to be the constitution and the supreme law of the republic of Hawaii; and by virtue of this constitution, I now assume the office and

porters of the ex-Queen. One of the royalist papers, the Holomua, which has been a strong supporter of the ex-Queen, has changed its policy and is advising all royalists to take the oath of allegiance to the republic, and acknowledges that the cause of the ex-Queen is

A royalist commission, consisting of Samuel Parker, H. A. Wideman and John A. Cummins, has gone to Washington. It is their intention to try to obtain an interview with the President with the idea of forcing him to give them an answer as to what he intends to do in the Hawaiian matter. Their expenses have been paid by prominent royalists here, and they carry a secretary with them. Parker and Cummins are half Hawaiians, but Wideman is a German. The roya ists here have great hopes of the commisson's success.

The Great Strike as Seen From Different Standpoints.

YOU MAY TAKE YOUR CHOICE.

The Investigating Commission as Defined by Chairman Carroll D. Wright-Chauncey M. Depew Reviews the Strike-Grand Master Workman Sovereign Says What Has Been Gained—The Pullman Side and That of Eugene V. Debbs.

The end of the great railroad strike has set men thinking of the remedy for possible troubles of the same kind in the future. As eminent contributions to strike literature the opinions of leaders and representative men are valuable in enabling our readers to form some opinion upon knowledge of the conditions which made the strike possible. The cold facts of their opinions are given, and readers will find food for thought if they do not, in considering the varied opinions herewith given, find a fully satisfactory conclusion to the whole matter.

As to the Investigating Commission. By the law under which President Cleveland proposes to appoint a commission to investigate the recent strike Commissioner of Labor Carroll D. Wright will be chairman, and he will have the casting vote. He is regarded as eminently fitted for the responsibility, having devoted many years

CARROLL D. WRIGHT. of his life to the study of the labor question and of industrial questions gener-

Commissioner Wright was born in Dunbarton, N. H., on July 25, 1840. He was educated in the public schools of New Hamp-Blue and White Stripe Duck for when the war broke out. Then he enlistshire and Vermont, and was studying law ed in the Fourteenth New Hampshire Regiment, of which he became Colone 1864. He served as Adjutant-General under Phil. Sheridan, and was one of that distinguished officer's most trusted aides. Poor health compelled him to resign in March, 1865, when he returned to the study of law and was admitted to the bar in the following October. He practiced his profession for several years, and then moved to Massachusetts, where he was elected to the State Senate in 1871, and was serving in that body when appointed Chief of the State Bureau of Statistics of The New Constitution Was Promul- Labor, an office which he filled for fifteen years. In 1880 he was appointed State Supervisor of the National Census, and in 1885 he was commissioned by the Governor of Massachusetts to investigate the public records of the towns, parishes, counties and courts of the State.

The National Bureau of Labor was established under a law passed by Congress in 1884, and in 1885 Col. Wright was selected as its first Commissioner. For the next three years he filled both the State and national offices, but finally gave up the State office.

Mr. Wright is a big man, fully six feet in height, broad shouldered and athletic. He has pleasant blue eyes, dark brown hair and a smooth face, except for a heavy brown moustache, slightly tinged with gray. In a recent interview he defined the scope and duties of the Commission:

The responsibility of this new commission will be very grert, especially in view of the fact that this is the first opportunity that the President has had to act under the law of 1888. It might be well to say right here that we have nothing to do with the arbitration of the questions involved in this dispute. The law requires the commissioners simply to investigate the facts and report upon them, making at the same time such suggestions in the way of remedies as may be deemed appropriate. With regard to the possible solution of the present trouble and the remedies that may be suggested by the commission, I can only say that until the whole matter has been thoroughly sifted, there is no ground upon which to base any conclusions. The mediauthority of President thereof. Long live cine cannot be indicated until the disease has been diagnosed.'

Col. Wright has declined to give any annexationists, next read the proclamation intimation of his sympathies in this strike, but the correspondent is able to state that was no military display whatever. The On all labor problems, especially in their men on the Philadelphia were not landed, relation to capital, Col. Wright has been a give its enemies the chance to say as they always following ethical rather than purely economical lines. Fads, crankisms and fancies have never commanded his attention, except as incidental studies.

The Law. The authority for the appointment of the commission is section six of Chapter 1,063 of the Laws of 1888, entitled "An act to create boards of arbitration or commissions for settling controversies and differences between railroad corporations and other common carriers engaged in interstate and territorial transportation of property or passengers and their employees." section is as follows: "That the President may select two commissioners, one of whom at least shall be a resident of the State or Territory in which the controversy arises, who, together with the Commissioner of Labor, shall constitute a temporary commission for the purpose of examining the causes of the controversy, the conditions accompanying it and the best means for adjusting it, the result of which examination shall be immediately reported to the President and Congress, and on the rendering of such report the services of the two commissioners shall cease. The services of the commission to be ordered at the time by the President, and constituted as herein provided, may be tendered by the President for the purpose of settling a controversy such as contemplated either upon his own motion or upon the appliversy or upon the applic of the Executive of a State.

Representative O'Neißt. Louis, the author of the law, says:
"It was during the Southwestern Railway strike that I fr the original bill. It was first intrd in March, 1886. Master Workmowderly and Mr. Hayes, of the Knig Labor, heartily approved of it. It I both houses, but was too late to recene President's signature. The same bs reintroduced in the next Congress, fter a debate mainly over the compuclauses it was passed, with those cli left out. If those clauses had been in the bill it would have been mucire effective in the present case. Thet made by those who opposed the compy provision was that while employers n be compelled to take back strikers, juld be almost impossible to compel sts to go back to work unless you mar them between files of soldiers. In tid it was agreed that it would be best ave the law as advisory, rather than sulsory, and so it stands."

Chauncey M. D's View. The President of they York Central Railroad, Chauncey Mpew, cabled, on request, his view to the don Times. He

"The laber troubles e United States are due to the long-caued industrial depression, and the st was caused by the ambitious effort of Debs, President of the American Railwaion, to absorb all organizations of rail employes into The success of theorder and the delay in suppressing it a owing to the heretofore undefined bdsry between State and Federal author

"There is universal at and almost frantic desire for anyth in place of present conditions.

"With these unpreceed industrial conditions and the anlous political relations in a few States, elements were favorable for what in in countries would be revolution, a with Anglo-Saxons riots, at first sessful; then reason soon reasserts if and firmly enforces the law.

"Our railroads have at one hundred and seventy thousand is of trackage and one million employ Among em-ployes the locomotive emers, firemen, trainmen, switchmen anders have each their organization or brohood. These labor organizations have ome conservative with time, and their cracts with the companies are inviolable, he locomotive engineers are the strongend richest of American labor unions, 1 their agreements, while not enforce at law, are adhered to with scrupuloionor.

"Mr. Debs was for ma years a high and popular official of throtherhood of Locomotive Firemen ande editor of a labor magazine of advanciocialistic and somewhat Anarchistic vie He conceived the idea of breaking the existing organizations and gather the railway world into his order. Hisheme was attractive. The initiation was only $1, and the annual dues twentve cents.

"The order was to con the railways and coerce their manager Debs would begin with a million dolla in his treasury and have an income two hunared and fifty thousand.

"Finding no real or imagry grievance on any railway, he chose take his fight question which has been before it to be upon the trouble between Pullman Car Company and the mechani in its shops over the construction of so hundreds of freight cars for various raiads.

"Debs ordered a boycott the Pullman cars, and on the refusal ofe railways to break their contracts withe Pullman Company and inflict natess cruelties upon their passengers he ored their lines closed. Trains were stoed wherever telegrams reached them, wout regard to the health or necessitieof travelers, traffic ceased and busineswas paralyzed over about two-thirds of t area of the United States, a distance ataining onethird of our population.

"The reliance of the strirs was upon the impotence of State gernments and the friendship of local authities. They could confidently count the co-operation of rival local politiciar The industrial and financial distress we them general sympathy, though the action intensified the suffering a thousal fold.

"State autonomy reach its perilous condition when the Govnor of Illinois gave great moral support to the strike by rebuking President Cleveland and virtually ordering the United Sates forces out of the territory. It reachd its ridiculous stage when the Governor o California requested a permit from the strike leader to visit his capital, which was contemptuously refused.

"After President Cleveland's proclamation it required a few days for the general public and the strike leaders to grasp the idea that the President was in earnest and the army and navy in motion; then this gigantic conspiracy collapsed as suddenly as it had organized.

"The losses occasioned by the strike are enormous, but it is destiled to prove of incalculable benefit to the country. The national idea has been strengthened and broadened. Safe anchorage has been found for persons and preperty.

"The far reaching results of this short revolution can be briefly stated. Interstate railroads are national highways which the Government will keep open at any cost, and a method will be provided for the settlement of differences with their empleyes. The General Government will find a way to protect the citizens of the States, who, in a larger sense, are citizens of the United States, from the cowardice of all State officers or their corrupt sympathy with law-breakers.

Legitimate labor is better protected and more sure of its rights and of justice. "CHAUNCEY M. DEPEW."

General Master Workman Sovereign's Idea "As regards railroads, I believe the result will be a general agitation that will result in a complete readjustment of the methods employed by these corporations. I think it will eventually arouse the people to elect to Congress men that will bring about the Government ownership and control of all interstate transportation lines.

GEORGE M. PULLMAN.

The situation is certainly gravitating fast in that direction. The real railroad strike has just begun. As for calling it off or stopping it, that would be impossible. It has gone beyond the possibility of an abrupt ending, or any ending that ignores the rights of the employes. They have become aroused to a lively appreciation of the manner in which they have been downtrodden, and the general question of railroad operators and the system employed must be solved by the people. It is not now a mere question of running trains, but a broad question of general rights that the immediate future must decide.

"J. R. SOVEREIGN, 'General Master Workman of the Knights of Labor."

The Pullman Co.'s Stand.

In an interview, George M. Pullman, stated the issue as he saw it thus clearly; The demand made before quitting work was that the wages should be restored to the scale of last year, or in effect that the actual outgoing money losses then being daily incurred by the company in car building should be deliberately increased to an amount equalling about one-fourth of the wages of the employes.

It must be clear to every business man, and to every thinking workman, that no prudent employer could submit to arbitration the question whether he should commit such a piece of business folly. Arbitration always implies acquiescence in the decision of the arbitrator, whether favorable or adverse.

Who will deny that such a question is plainly not a subject of arbitration? Is it not then unreasonable that the company should be asked to arbitrate whether or not it should submit such a question to arbitration?

The public should not permit

VICE-PRESIDENT WICKES. obscured. That question was as to the possibility of the creation and duration of a dictatorship which could make all the industries of the United States and the daily comfort of the millions dependent upon them hostages for the granting of any fantastic whim of such a dictator.

Any submission to him would have been a long step in that direction, and in the interest of every law-abiding citizen of the United States was not to be considered for a moment.

Debs on the Situation.

"The situation now, so far as we are concerned, is that every avenue leading to a settlement has been closed up by the rejection to the General Managers' Association of the proposition submitted to them vesterday by us," said President Eugene V. Debs, of the A. R. U. "They not only rejected a fair and square proposition to settle, but they took occasion to show their venom and spleen by attempting to insult not only organized labor, but Mayor Hopkins and the city authorities of Chicago as "We now propose to muster all resources and combine all our forces to give the railroad companies a fight to a finish, regardless of consequences. For the past ten days we have been flooded with letters, telegrams and communications of every character from every source, appealing to us, in the name of humarity, to declare the strike off. We have done everything that manly men could to that end. We will not surrend to our honor.

"We now propose to test the efficacy of public opinion. If the railroad managers had made us as fair a proposition as we made to them and we had refused to accept it, public opinion would have risen in revolt against us and forced its verdict at the points of the Federal bayonets. What we ask is a fair and square deal."

"Corporations are no more sacred than flesh and blood. If they can with impunity disregard public conscience, comfort and safety, then the plain, common people, whom we represent by multiplied thousands, have the same prerogative when arrayed in a fight against them.

"We are in shape financially to make the strike last six months or six years. While the American Federation of Labor did not order its men out, it did pledge us its support. All labor will stand by us to the end. We can live cheaply. We will stand by this fight to the end, if that be till the new century dawns.

"The railroads do not want peace. They are foolish enough to think they can crush organized labor.

"How about Pullman!" "We will take care of Mr. Pullman before we get through with him. Pullman has deigned at last to make a statement to the public. He will submit a statement to his employes next. He has come to the explaining point, and we will bring him to the settling point before we get through with him."

For nearly 50 years this wonderful remedy has proved itself the best, quickest, safest and surest antidote for pain in the world.

THE TRUE RELIEF

RADWAY'S READY RELIEF is safe, reliable and effectual because of the stimulating action which it exerts over the nerves and vital rowers of the body, adding tone to the one and inciting to renewed and increased vigor the slumbering vitality of the physical structure, and through this healthful stimulation and increased action the cause of the PAIN is driven away and a natural condition restored. It is thus that the READY RELIEF is so admirably adapted for the CURE OF PAIN and without the risk of injury which is sure to result from the use of many of the so-called pain remedies of the day.

In using medicines to stop pain we should avoid such as inflict injury on the system. Opium, Morphine, Ether, Cocaine and Chloral stop pain by destroying the sense of perception, opium, Morphine, Ether, Cocaine and Chloral stop pain by destroying the sense of perception, when the patient loses the power of feeling, This is the most destructive practice: it masks the syptoms, shuts ur, and instead offremoving trouble, breaks down the stomach, liver and bowels, and, if continued for a length of time, kills the nerves and produces local or general paralysis.

-Sir Oliver Mowat passed his 74th year yesterday. Ontario's Grand Old Man is in excellent health and is enjoying his holidays. Apparently he has yet a good spell of working years ahead of him. Sir Oliver is eleven years younger than Gladstone, ten years younger than the Pope, and five years younger than Bismarck. The Queen is just a year older than the Premier who has broken the record in point of long service to the public. Long may her Majesty and the veteran Premier of Ontario reign!

-The Boston Transcript says that the death of Dr. Pagani, of that city, brings to mind the brief furore over Dr. Brown Sequard's "elixir vitae," which was in full tilt five years ago, and which counted Dr. Pagani among its most sanguine advocates. The doctor experimented with the elixir in assured faith of its efficacy, and for a time at least the results of his practical tests seemed fully to justify his hopes and expectations. But the revivifying effect of the elixir upon consumptive patients was not lasting, and death as aforetime claimed

-A correspondent insists that the "yellows" on peach trees, which has caused so much injury to fruit growers, is primarily due to an impoverished soil. He says that he had a peach tree which one year bore a very heavy crop-so heavy that the principal branches were split at their intersection from the weight. Soon after blossoming the following spring the tree developed "yellows." He dug the earth all round and gave it a liberal dressing of ordinary manure. During the following month the tree put on a healthy appearance and the "yellows" entirely disappeared; and, moreover, the peaches which it bore were much improved in davor and were larger though not so abundant as the year before. Does this experience prove that an ill-fed soil is the cause of the disease? If it does, the remedy is certainly easy.

We do not doubt that the progressive people of the Northwest will extend to Hon. Wilfrid Laurier and his companions a most hearty reception. Their message regarding the Liberal policy, which we believe will be shown to be the policy of the majority of the people when a verdict is recorded in the near future, is one of cheer and of hope to the tillers of the soil. What the Northwest requires, like every other same rate of taxation as they were before part of the Dominion, is fair play for the Mr. Foster announced his first budget. energies of the people-immunity from The [tariff, as stated in the budget speech, every tax and restriction on interchange of commodities that can be thrown off-the the old or original "N. Mr. Laurier will be accompanied by Hon. L. H. Davies, M.P., Liberal leader in Prince Edward Island; Mr. Choquette, M. P. for Montmagny; Mr. J. Sutherland, M. THE PLAGUE CAUSED BY DIRT. It is announced by cable from Hong Kong that Dr. Kitasato, of the Japan Imperial Medical Commission, has discovered the true bacillus of the plague which has slain its thousands in Canton and Hong Kong. Kitasato studied under Koch and is the foremost biologist of Japan. He declares that the bacillus of the plague, which develops in all patients after the second day and ravages the internal organs, is distinct from any ever found before in human blood. It resembles the "Milzbrand" and "huhner cholera" bacteria heretofore found in animals only. The bacillus consists of slender, short, straight filaments. Kitasato bred these bacilli and inoculated several animals with the virus. Every animal developed plague symptoms and died.

The experiments showed clearly that the bacillus were generated in filth, and that patients who led cleanly lives recovered. One doctor wore clothes of an infected patient but escaped the disease. Kitasato and his associate, Prof. Aoyama, are experimenting with bactericides which may expel this deadly bacillus from the human system before it once secured firm lodgment, when the patient is doomed. The doctors agree that the Hong Kong plague is identical with the great plague of London of 200 years ago, and with the Astrakhan plague of five years ago.

The one significant revelation in these experiments is the confirmation of the view that this terrible scourge, like cholera, diphtheria, typhoid fever and many other maladies is caused by filth. When men and women keep their bodies clean, when they maintain pure minds within the "earthly tabernacle," when they scrupalously observe natural laws with regard to their surroundings, they need have little fear of suffering from pestilential diseases. The "black death" experiences but emphasize the lesson that every breach of nature's laws brings its punishment. The worst of it is that at times the innocent are made to auffer, though, as has been proved recently in China and Hong Kong, even in the center of a plague-spot the cleanly person enjoys comparative immunity. When the nations of the earth learn the simple old, $1 per dozen and 25 per cent. esson so clearly emphasized in these 15 per cent; old, 15 per cent. perrible experiences ?

ONE WAY OF GETTING RICH! One of the results of mutual banishment f trade is seen in a recent order of the United States customs. This year the Port Huron and Detroit line of steamers ist" has discovered that at times holidaymakers on the islands in the St. Clair flats have found it convenient to order their vegetables from Sarnia dealers. So serious a state of affairs having been represented to the customs authorities of the United States, orders have been issued for the appointment of two new officers, to be placed on the pleasure boats, at a salary of $840 a year each. The exclusive sale of vegetables to the St. Clair settlers must be retained at all costs. Nor are the Canadian customs laws more civilized. A Canadian spent some time in the United States. While he lived there he met with an accident that compelled him to buy an artificial leg. Then he moved back to Canada. Being concealed by his nether integuments, the new limb escaped the lynx-eyed Canadian customs house officer at Windsor, but not for aye. Five years have elapsed since then, and we are told that the artificially-legged man has become a leading politician, and very sensibly opposed to the present Ottawa Administration. Hence, probably, the order issued that the duty on the artificial limb must now be collected. Under pains and penalties $100 has been paid, the majesty of the nation has been maintained, and the fat purse of the men who squander the hard-earned money of the populace has been replenished at a time when it was getting decidedly low. We must all get rich by being prevented from buying and selling where we find it benefits us--if

PARLIAMENT AND THE TAX LIST. This afternoon the Dominion Parliament adjourned, after sitting for several months, and transacting the greater portion of its more important business in the last ten days of the session. The hurry and scurry in the midst of which millions of money was voted at the bidding of Sir John Thompson is the direct result of calling Parliament at a late date and the keeping back of important measures till members we can. Can we?

When the changes in the tariff were brought in it was announced that their announcement had been delayed in order that the tax list might be fully considered. No sooner were the changes published, however, than Finance Minister Foster was besieged by beneficiaries of the "protective" system, and the process of changing back the duties was begun. Before it was finally passed, the muchheralded tariff, as compared with the measure amended in committee of the House, at the instance of the Government. was scarcely recognizable. It was found not to be smallpox later on. The Chatham medical fraternity were greatly worked up about the case. James Miller, of Thamesville, met with a distressing accident while riding a reaper on one of the Ferguson farms in Howard, near Ridgetown. He was thrown from the machine and the ground being hard his arm was broken.

A case of peculiar interest under the Liquor License Act was heard at Chatham Friday. Wm. Heyward was charged with contravention of the act. The gravamen of the charge lay in Mr. Heyward's acting as agent for the Walkerville Brewing Company, and delivered lager to city hotelkeepers in the original packages. The magistrate reserved judgment.

Blood Poisoning

Mrs. Mary E. O'Fallon, a very intelligent lady of Piqua, Ohio, was poisoned while assisting physicians at an autopsy 5 years ago, and soon terrible alcers broke out on her head, arms, tongue and throat. Her hair all came out. Her husband spenthundreds of dollars without any benefit. She weighed but 78 pounds, and saw no prospect of help. Mrs. M. E. O'Fallon. At last she began to take Hood's Sarsaparilla and at once improved; could soon get out of bed and walk. She says, "I became perfectly cured by

Hood's Sarsaparilla and am now a well woman. I weigh 128 pounds, eat well and do the work for a large family. My case seems a wonderful recovery and physicians look at me in astonishment, as almost like one raised from the dead." HOOD'S PILLS should be in every family medicine chest. Once used, always preferred.

CRICKET. LONDON WINS BY FIFTY-TWO RUNS.

Play in the great match between London and the Detroit Athletic Club was resumed a little after 11 o'clock Saturday morning at the asylum grounds with Burrows and Senkler at bat for Detroit. Runs came very slowly for the first half dozen overs, and then Senkler started to hit. Soon after Burrows was caught at the wicket for a very steady and careful 36. Newhall added 26 to the score and Senkler was retired for a dashing 51, making Detroit's score 166-just two more than that made by the Londons on Friday-leaving London 72 to win.

After luncheon beneath the shady maples, to which all did ample justice, play was resumed by sending Becher and Hyman to face the bowling of Roberts and Stewart. The former succumbed to Roberts in the fourth over, and Dr. Williams joined Mr. Hyman. Runs now came very fast, Mr. Hymas batting in splendid style and getting the boundary with some clean leg hitting, four drives, raising the telegraph rapidly to 60, whilst Dr. Williams batted carefully. Roberts brought down a nice drive at mid-off from Mr. Hyman, and for a while the wickets dropped quickly, and although only eight runs were needed it looked decidedly shaky for a big score. Valker, however, stayed the havec after Williams was caught in the slips and batted in his usual brilliant style. At 4:35 Bamford found his off stump, and the inning closed for 123, leaving the London Cricket Club winner by 52 runs. Dr. Beemer, the captain, courteously sent all the men to the wickets before he joined Walker and carried his bat. The Detroit Cricket Club have had a most successful tour in the east, beating the crack clubs Rosedale, East Toronto, Hamilton, etc. They left Saturday evening for the west, and London never spent a jollier or a more pleasant game in every respect, and they trust that a similar good time will often be spent in the future with such gentlemanly players as the Detroit Cricket Club. The score:

BOWLING ANALYSIS.

Detroit Free Press: The D. A. C. brought their Canadian tour to a finish Saturday by playing London a two-days' match at the Asylum grounds, and considering the powerful combination they had to meet, and the amount of work they had already done, made a very bold bid for victory. The members of the D. A. C. were very hospitably entertained by Dr. Beemer and the members of the eleven, and the visit proved a fitting finish to a most enjoyable week's trip. The trip was quite a success, the D. A. C. winning three games

The total net results of the year in the business department of the Baptist Union -official organ of the union -showed: Total expenditures, $27,096 15; total receipts, $22,208 73; deficit for the year, $4,887 42.

The general secretary's report showed expenditure for necessary expenses of $2,720. The rest of the literature sent gratitously during the year was $739 71. The condition of the funding was next dealt with. It appeared that $6,149 43 had been collected during the year out of the $10,-000 which the promoters of the fund set themselves to collect.

Saturday morning's session of the Baptist Young People's Union commenced at 9 o'clock. The feature of the proceedings was addresses by a number of prominent denominational editors. The principal speeches were those by Rev. Geo. A. Horr. editor Boston Watchman, and Rev. Dr. Calvert, editor of the Christian Inquirer. New York City, the two leading Baptist newspapers in the United States. The theme of the speeches was the necessity of supporting denominational newspapers.

Dr. Wharton, of Baltimore, a singing evangelist of wide repute, sang a number of lymns so pathetically that many of the tudience were moved to tears. One of them, lowever, was of a humorous nature, and concluded with the refrain "We'll meet in Baltimore in '95," which was received with

Some interesting statistics were handed over by the secretary as to the attendance it the convention. The total number of telegates and visitors registered was 5,539, but a considerable number have not registered. Of the 5,539, 2,427 were from Ontario, 462 from Pennsylvania; New York Michigan and Illinois came next in the fize of their delegations. There was one delegate from Palestine, two from China, one from India and two from England. Rev. R. H. McKay and Rev. Dr. Mc-Tavish extended greetings to the delegates on behalf of the Presbyterian Church of Canada, which were suitably acknowledged. The board of managers considered the question of next year's meeting, but came to no decision. Baltimore and Dallas are rivals. The afternoon was devoted to State some mantras, and it was then pushed over came to a close tonight with great mass meetings in Massey Hall and the Pavilion. There was a monster afternoon meeting in the Massey Hall, too, the great building being packed from floor to ceiling. Fully tion of them being citizens. Mayor Kennedy was on the platform. All the visitors were loud in their enlogy of the quiet of the Toronto Sabbath. These views were given formal expression to by a resolution moved by Dr. Ellis, of Baltimore, expressing the pleasure of the delegates at the manner in which Sunday is observed in Toronto, and hope that Toronto will be able to continue to set such an example to the world.

Rev. Dr. Johnson, of Columbus, Miss. gave an eloquent address on popular amusements.

ing the afternoon, under the presidency of Rev. R. F. Y. Perce, of Rockford, Ill. Tonight's meetings were remarkable for their enthusiasm and large attendance. Many of the delegates left the city yesterday, taking excursion boats in different directions. Many more left for home tonight. The formal announcement of the election of Baltimore as the place of next year's convention meeting was not made until this evening. The audience had been requested not to applaud today, being Sanday, but when the announcement "Baltimore, '95' was made, a Chautauqua salute was indulged in, and at the close of the meeting the Baltimore delegates who remained in the city gave expression to their feelings by rising in a body and singing the Dox-

New York, July 22.-Bernard Oxelbone, a painter, is in the hospital suffering from injuries that may prove fatal, the result of brutal practical jokers. Oxelbone was working on a new building, where he became the butt of other workmen, several of whom planned to paint his whiskers. Failing to do this, one of them poured a quantity of oil over Oxelbone's head. Another, named Winters, touched a lighted match to the oil-saturated whiskers, and in an instant Oxelbone was enveloped in flame. In agony he jumped from a window on the second floor and was badly shaken up. His burns may cause his death. He has identified Winters, who is a plumber, as the man who set fire to his beard, but cannot name the one who poured the oil over him. The building in which the affair occurred was damaged slightly by fire communicated from Oxelbone's blazing beard. "When George met me it was a case of love at first sight." Lucelie-It must strife?" Oh, probably, her father cam have been. I feel sure he never took a along just then and kicked him .- [Buffal

WAR OUGHT TO BE PROCLAIMED ON EVERY STRAGGLER.

The Minor and Weightier Reasons For This Murderous Plan of Action-Why Housewives Should Inaugurate Stera Measures in Dealing With This Pest.

It seems highly important that every-housekeeper should realize the necessity of keeping flies out of her home. To say nothing of the work they make, soiling windows, paint and pictures, our very choicest of things; to say nothing of their annoyance in buzzing and lighting on our persons, they are positively dangerous to have around, according to physicians, who affirm that the common house fly is an active agent in spreading disease. In order that every housekeeper may be able to cope with this summer pest, is here reproduced from Good Housekeeping some advice on the subject:

Be up and doing. Be alert. Begin the campaign early in the season. Proclaim war on every straggler that appears. Don't tempt them to come. Starve them out. See to it that the table is cleared off the moment the family are done eating. If the meal has to wait for a late comer, cover the table with a square of cheesecloth. Leave no crumbs on Montreal, was visited by another bad fire the floor. Put cooking dishes into soak as soon as through with. 15 keeps the flies out and helps the dishes. Don't let the children scatter crumbs when they eat lunch. A few crumba make a square meal for many flies. Put the garbage pail as far away from the back door as possible. Put as little into it as possible. Burn or bury all you can. Set an old colander in the sink, put in it all the accumulating parings of vegetables, orange and lemon peels, eggshells, and let them drain and partly dry. Open the dampers of the range and burn part at a time. If a bit of sugar or molasses is spilled, wipe it up quickly. Don't let the flies know of it. If one knows, he will fly and tell all the rest. Put in the screens early and don't sedentary, while persons living in the open forget the back door.

And, finally, if flies chance to get in now and then, make a business of killing them. Close doors, blinds and windows, all but one, leave the blind open, curtain up, window closed. See how quickly the flies seek the light. Take a towel doubled in the hand and go after them. Leave not one to tell the tale. If there are many in the room, another way is to leave the window open. Cut a newspaper into strips, leaving a bit to double and tack on a stick. With one of these in each hand gently persuade the flies out of the window. Flies do not like newspapers. They make too

OGDENSBURG, N. Y.
OGDENSBURG, N. Y., July 21.—At the cheese board meeting today 2,195 boxes were offered.
The market was very dull; 83c to 83c was bid, but salesmen would not accept, consequently there were no sales. The Montreal Trade Bulletin says: "There is a natural apprehension that cheese, which is high-priced, cannot much longer hold out under the heavy supplies on this side. Against this, however, must be taken into account the fact that factorymen having sold up their make so closely are in splendid trim to hold make so closely are in splendid trim to hold back their supplies for a week or two, and thus test the ability of English buyers to do without their product. Should this test fail in obtaining its object, it would be a bad job for the factorymen, with their heavy accumulations of July goods. The feeling in England also appears to be considerably mixed for while some house. be considerably mixed, for while some houses there are canceling orders sent their representatives on this side, others are sending out orders to be filled on best terms, one order for 1,500 boxes being filled this week on these terms. Whether or not the recent strong and upward movement was due to speculation, it is evident that the main support of the market has been the extraordinary heavy consumption of cheese in Great Britain. Live Stock Markets.

CHAPTER XX.

If Terry had been pale when Fanny spoke to her in the morning, she is still paler now, white as the white gown she wears, as she advances up the drawing-room of the Hall to meet the hostess, who hurries to Everyone is here, and though all the lamps are delicately shaded, still there is enough light to let her perfectly be seen. To her, indeed, the room seems inordinately bright. Her pallor, however, is the only me from that !" sign of emotion she betrays. She returns Fanny's welcoming words, slowly, prettily, with a smile on her charming lips.

She had seen Trefusis the moment she entered the room, He was sitting next Miss Anson, and Terry was conscious that the latter bent towards him and whispered something hurriedly to him as she came in. He has now risen, and is coming towards her, holding out his hand, and smiling pleasantly. There is not a touch of nervousness about him. He seems quite honestly glad to see her, telling her so in the friendliest, easiest way.

Truly Fanny had been right. He has got One thing only in his manner strikes her as strange, as apart from the ordinary maner of a mere friend who meets one of a long absence. Undoubtedly his gaze ther has been prolonged, scrutinizing, as if he would read her. This perhaps more than all e'se hardens her, and gives her courage, putting her on her mettle. She smiles back at him in a leisure'v way. "I heard you had gone to the Rocky Mountains,' says she.

"Not quite so far." "I am glad of it. It brings you here again Booner than we hoped for." If he had looked for agitation in her, he is certainly disappointed. She is regarding him with a soft but steady caze. There is even perhaps a suspicion of laughter in her eyes. She is altogether composed. even beginning to wonder at herself. After il, perhaps there was not so much to be afraid of, and of course there a lways a good deal of moral support to be got out of given him his dismissal. There is a good deal of moral support to be got out of a well-made gown also; and Terry had taken great care with her toilette f r this evening. She is exquisitely if simply dressed. The white silk of her gown clings closely to her slender figure, and is charmingly arranged, with little touches of priceless lace about it here and there, round the short sleeves and the soft girlish neck. Old Miss Bridget had left many desirable things behind her, and the single row of pearls that clasps Terry's throat is worthy of mention. There is a pearl pin or two also in the nut-brown tresses of her hair. Her hands, as she talks to him, are toying lightly with a large white feather fan. Her eves gleam at Trefusis between the long dark lashes that fall so persistently, making the short glimpses of the eyes all the more precious:

And when the Knight saw verily all this, I hat she so fair was, and so young theretowhy, he left her and went back to his seat on the lounge next to Miss Anson. It was most naturally done, of course. Mr. Kitts had come up to speak to Terry, to renew acquaintance with this pretty creature who has grown so much prettier during this past year; and Trefusis had slipped away under cover of his approach, back to Geraldine, who gives him a broad glad smile of welcome. Terry is still standing in the middle of the happy, lovely thing-apparently.

Dinner has gone off brilliantly, without a single check, Both Terry and Trefusis have been at their best. There is rather a large house-party, and every one has seemed exceptionally gay—especially Mr. Kitts, who is dressed in the very latest fashion with regard to ties, and is altogether

"a beaming youth of glory." The drawing-room, even thus early in the lovely May, is warm and sweet, and the fire burning in the grate drives Terry to the balcony outside. The windows have been thrown quite wide to admit the air and the pale glimpses of the moon in the dark heavens above. There is still time to stand here and let the soft night air cool her burning forehead before the men come in. She leans over the railings and gazes into

"All alone?" asks somebody in the airiest tone. Hef alls into a lounging attitude beside her, resting his own arms on the railings plose to hers.

"Yes; it was so warm in there that I came out," says Terry. Her tone is of the friendly indifferent kind. "The others were afraid to venture."

"And you?" "I am afraid of nothing."

Trafusis looks at her persistently for a moment, then he laughs. "I ought to know that," says he. "You aren't even afraid of behaving badly to people." He pauses, Then, "How long ago it all seems, doesn't it?" There is distinct amusement in his tone. "Since you so unkindly gave me my conge !" "Oh, no! It seems like yesterday," says Terry, laughing too, and very naturally. "And you mustn't call that behaving badly. It was the wisest thing I ever did in my life. You must see that. You were angry with me then. Do you remember, turning suddenly and looking full into his face, "how ridiculously angry you were? But now-now you acknowledge my wisdom. "You were always wonderfully wise" You have not even married your cousin, Terry's fingers close with a tight pressure upon the iron railings. After a moment she turns to him.

'You are changed," says she, slowly. "Thank Heaven !"

"Why not? You at least ought to be thankful, considering how distasteful I was to you in those old days. But never mind that; let us go back to what we were talking about just now. I like going back. "I love il !" says Terry, with enthusiasm. He looks at her curiously again. She has accused him of being changed: what of her? 'Then we'll take a walk into the dark ages, and perhaps you will tell me, as we go, where your wisdom lay in"—cheerfully consigning me to misery for life." as for that! However, for one thing, I believe you expected me to obey you."

"No! did I, really? What a confounded prig I must have been !"

"That is too hard a word."
"Is it? What is the right one, then?" "Well, perhaps tyrant." He looks amused. "Is that softer?"

"Oh, ever so much."

a tyrant? A prig? Do you know, I'm sure of it. But I've reformed all that. You in a woman's word."

Terry raises herself.

"Don't stir," says he, laughing. "Why, that is the greatest good of all that you have done me. It is, really. I was a fool that time. I should have seen that I was the last man in the world to please you, and that you were the honestest creature on earth, to break your word before it was too late. I," laughing, "am awfully obliged to you! Fancy how I should have repreached myself if I had ruined your lite. You saved

"I saved you from more than that-from ruining your own life," says Terry, quietly. "That's nothing; nothing as all. It was your life was the thing. You see I am not so tyrannical as I was. And so you think I expected you to obey me?"

"Quite that, if not more. I think you expected me to bow down to you." "I expected in vain, then. I don't believe ever got my own way with you."

"Always! Always!" says she, gayly.
"Not always, certainly."
"Yes, every time. You ordered me about and scolded me, and I bore it all most beautifully until I could bear it no longer." She is looking at him and laughing, as if at some good old joke.

A Wonderful Cure.-Mr. David Smith, Coe Hill, Ont., writes: "For the benefit of others I wish to say a few words about Northrop & Lyman's Vege-TABLE DISCOVERY. About a year ago I took a very severe cough, had a virulent sore on my lips, was bad with dyspepsia, constipation and general debility. I tried almost every conceivable remedy, outwardly and inwardly, to cure the sore but all to no purpose. I had often thought of try-ing Northrop & Lyman's VEGETABLE Dis-COVERY, so I got a bottle and when I had used about one half the sore showed evident signs of healing. By the time that bottle was done it had about disappeared and my general health was improving fast. I was always of a very bilious habit and had used quinine and lemon juice with very little affect. But since using three bottles of the VEGETABLE DISCOVERY the biliousness is entirely gone and my general health is excellent. I am 60 years old. Parties using it should continue it for some time after they think they are cured. It is

NOT ON THE ROLL.

Breckinridge Believed to Have Been Dropped by the Masens.

CINCINNATI, O., July 22 .- "Have the Masons expelled Col. Breckinridge?" has been on every tongue for a fortnight, but the Masons were sworn to secreey and no or else could tell what was done at the recent meeting of Lexington Lodge, No. 1, believed to have been called for the purpose of taking action on charges affecting the Masonic standing of the silver tongued congressman. An eminent Mason today showed a responsible gentleman a newly printed list of the members of Lexington Lodge, No. 1, issued since the meeting in question, remarking as he did so: "Masons are not permitted to divulge the secrets of the lodge room, and I can't say whether Col. Breckinridge was expelled from our ledge or not, but here is a complete list of our present membership, and you can see for yourself who are members." An examination of the printed roll showed Col. Breckinridge's name to be missing, and the circumstances attending the printing of the list and its display are conclusive proof that the Ashland district congressman has been dropped by the Masons.

Henry Was Found in Hamilton.

[Special to the ADVERTISER.] OTTAWA, July 21.-Henry Freeman Jeynes, an attorney's clerk in London, Eng., skipped out last December after collecting $3,000 of his employer's money. He was supposed to have come to Canada. He sent for his people to come by way of Antwerp. They were shadowed, and a cablegram was sent to the chief of the Government Secret Service Bureau here to continue the shadowing on their arrival. They arrived at Quebec on the steamer Wanderahn last Tuesday, and yesterday Inspector O'Leary telegraphed from Hamilton, Ont., that he had arrested his man there, where he was going under the name of John Cox.

Chinese Laundry Tickets. Probably not one person in a thousand understands the true interpretation of the Chinese laundry ticket. The celestials have a system of their own. It is based on the many gods and goddesses of the ranged to run a personally-conducted ex-cursion from Buffalo, Suspension Bridge and laundry. BUFFALO, N. Y., July 22 .- A dispatch from Washington says that the new immigration bill was favorably reported yesterday afternoon from the committee of the House on immigration. To Government Inspector DeBairy and other Canadian haters here who were instrumental in preparing and pushing the bill, this intelligence has features of triumphant glee. DeBarry says: "It's a great triumph for the American laborer." The bill is aimed solely at Canadians, and is particularly designed to prevent the employment of seamen on American vessels.
