SERIOUS PROBLEM CONFRONTS THE PRESBYTERIAN COLLEGES

Dearth of Candidates Offering for Ministry—Proposal to Unite Theological Faculties Strongly Opposed.

Yesterday afternoon at the Presbyterian General Assembly was given over almost exclusively to the educational work of the church in Canada. The reports of the colleges were on the whole very gratifying, although the lack of young men ready to offer themselves for the ministry appeared to be the cause of alarm. The question of uniting the theological colleges of the church was advocated by Hon. John Charlton, but such a move did not meet with general favor. A telling speech against such a plan was made by Rev. J. A. Macdonald, of the Globe.

The Report of Knox College.

Principal MacLaren presented the report of Knox College. During the year two new professors—Kilpatrick and Kennedy—had been appointed, and had added materially to the strength of the college. Sixty-four students were attending theological lectures. Sixteen graduates, of whom twelve were "Varsity" graduates. The other years were well represented, and although not up to some former years, there was no cause for worry. Principal MacLaren, however, advised that the ministers give special attention to the young men. The scarcity of those offering for the ministry was becoming alarming. Other callings in life had become more appealing, and they were taking the flower of the youth.

The removal of Knox College from its present site to one more suitably located to the university. At its last meeting the following resolution was adopted: "In view of the unsuitability of the present site and the need of extensive repairs to the present building and the erection of the Caven library, this board expresses its judgment that it is urgently desirable to remove to a more suitable site and erect a building to the needs of the college and commensurate with the strength of the church at an estimated cost of $300,000, exclusive of the price to be obtained for the present site."

New Site Advocated.

Mr. J. K. McDonald, of Toronto, made a splendid plea to the assembly on behalf of the removal. The board before passing the above resolution had thoroughly canvassed the situation and thought that removal was the only way out of the difficulty. The college needed repairing very badly at present. Conservative estimates had

INGRAM GOES TO RAILWAY BOARD

Make-Up of the Ontario Railway and Municipal Commission Announced.

Toronto, June 7.—The Ontario railway and municipal board is now complete and will hold its first meeting at the Parliament buildings early next week.

The chairman, Mr. James Leitch, K. C., of Cornwall, was appointed last week and the other two members and the secretary were appointed at the cabinet meeting this afternoon.

They are:

Mr. Andrew Ingram, of St. Thomas, M. P. for East Elgin, who will have to resign his seat in the Commons, thus involving a bye-election.

Mr. Henry Norman Kittson, wholesale grocer, of Hamilton.

The secretary is Mr. Henry C. Small, barrister, a Torontonian, who has of late resided and practiced his profession at Carleton Place.

The salary of the chairman is $6,000 per annum, of the other two members $4,000, and of the secretary $2,000.

The members hold office during the pleasure of the Government and must give their whole time to the work.

They cannot directly or indirectly hold railway stock or have an interest in any device or article, etc., used by railways.

FIVE NEW LAKE BOATS

C. P. R. Charters Them to Help Increasing Business.

Montreal, June 8.—Five lake steamers have been chartered by the C. P. R. to help keep pace with the upper lake traffic, which has increased so rapidly this season that the company's regular fleet have been unable to meet the demand.

In speaking of the situation Mr. G. M. Bosworth, fourth vice-president, said: "This phenomenal and unprecedented traffic is due to the vigorous immigration policy of the last few years. As we take the people into the country we have to take their produce out, and bring them food and clothes; that is how immigration creates trade."

RICH MONTREALER IN THE TOILS; IS ACCUSED OF HUGE STEALS

The Canadian Customs and C. P. R. Reported To Be Greatest Sufferers.

New York, June 8.—The Herald this morning says: David Hobbs, of Montreal, for whom the police of two continents have been looking since last October, was arrested in New York, and locked up at police headquarters, last night.

Hobbs is charged with defrauding the Canadian Customs and the Canadian Pacific Railway Company out of a large sum, estimated by the Montreal police to amount to $200,000. He held an important place with the Canadian Pacific Railway, and was regarded as one of the influential and wealthy men of Montreal.

He was taken to headquarters last night by a secret service detective, who gave the name of Rufus G. Chamberlain, Col. A. Percy Sherwood, chief of

ORAL EXAMS ARE ON

Meds Before Ontario Medical Council Board.

The examiners of the Ontario Medical Council are in the city holding the oral examinations of the graduates of London Medical College. The examiners came here from Kingston. They include Hon. Dr. Pyne, Dr. McCulloch (Alliston), Dr. Hays (Toronto), Dr. McCabe (Strathroy), Dr. Sinclair (Woodstock), Dr. Woods (Kingston), Dr. James Newell (Windsor), Dr. Duff (Kingston), and Dr. Hodge (of this city).

THE KEY RATE MAY BE REDUCED

The City Making Representations That May Mean Substantial Cut.

Key rate reduction is again in the air.

Though No. 3 committee and the city council filed the letter from the secretary of the underwriters, refusing key rate reduction for the present, and though it appeared for a time that everything was off, there is good reason to believe that there will be a partial reduction in the key rate or the surcharge.

Nothing definite could be learned at the city hall today other than that it was probable a communication would be received from the insurance men next week, which will be of interest to the business public of London.

The city is now making representations to the underwriters, which, it is thought, will bear fruit.

In their last letter to the city, the insurance people told London that when it had its new chemical wagon in East London, and had carried out certain regulations demanded by the underwriters, the latter were ready to talk reduction, but not before.

The city has done practically all the underwriters have demanded, and all minor matters of detail will now be considered.

It is along these lines that representations have been made, and it is thought that when the new combination chemical wagon is here, which will be in about a month, a reduction in the insurance on business properties will be put into force.

Nothing definite has been received from the underwriters so far, but next week will tell the tale.

RUSSIAN PREMIER GOREMYKIN. Has Failed to Pacify Parliament, and Is Booked to Quit Office.

DAMP KILLS EIGHT IN MONTANA MINE

One of the Worst Disasters in History of That State.

Anaconda, Mont., June 8.—One of the most serious accidents in the history of coal mining in Montana has occurred in the mines of the Northern Pacific at Rocky Fork, near Red Lodge, Carbon County.

Eight men are dead, all victims of the white damp that filled the corridors of the mine after fire which started Wednesday. Their bodies have been recovered.

Of the dead, two were members of one of the parties that entered the mine in the effort to reach the men known to be there.

The dead: Terrance Fleming, William Bailey, Mike Gaboring, Thomas Skelly, A. J. McPate, Matt Reika, Roy Carey, Joe Bracey. Carey and Bracey were of the rescue party.

ASSAULT CHARGE DROPPED

One Policeman Was Alleged to Have Struck Another.

The police commissioners met yesterday afternoon to investigate a charge laid against P. C. Down by P. C. Lloyd, also a member of the local force. Lloyd charged Down with assaulting him. The trouble is said to have emanated from a flat car on the G. T. R. which broke loose recently. It seems that P. C. Lloyd tried to take the car, in order to stop it, and that when he returned to the police station, P. C. Down "jolted" him about the affair, and it ended in a quarrel between the two officers, during which P. C. Lloyd charged Down with assaulting him. P. C. Down denied the charge, and the case was dropped.

WILL NOT ATTEND CAMP

Men Could Not Be Secured for Composite City Regiment.

The militia authorities here have received a telegram from Gen. Otter, stating that the Composite City Regiment, which has been previously mentioned as the provisional regiment, and was to be composed of men chosen from the city regiments in the district of the Seventh (London), Twentieth (St. Thomas), Twenty-first (Windsor), and Twenty-fourth (Chatham)—will not attend camp this year.

As has been mentioned before great difficulty was experienced in getting men to turn out from the city regiments, and so it was decided to abandon the project.

BOOM, BANG, FLASH, SUCH A STORM

Tree Limbs Flew and Camp Tents Collapsed, But Nobody Seriously Hurt.

The terrific electrical storm which swept over this city last night, was a bit of little if any damage was done. There was a heavy gale, a spectacular display of lightning, and continuous crashings of thunder, that would put the big guns at the barracks to the blush.

Reports from all the townships surrounding the city tell of an odd tree being blown down, or losing a limb, but not one report of damage to building or person has so far reached the city.

The gale beat upon Carling's Heights with exceptional fury, and caused quite a bit of excitement while it lasted. Several tents gave way to the strain, and left their occupants exposed to the fury of the storm. Many were drenched to the skin, and had all their goods soaked by the heavy downpour. Others were kept busy driving tent-stakes, and holding their tents down as best they could through the greater part of the night. Many of the horses became frightened and threatened to stampede, so that the Hussars had their share of the hardships.

A house on Oxford street almost across from the camp grounds had a close call, a tree within twenty feet of it being struck by the lightning and losing a large limb.

EXCHANGES SCHOOL BOYS.

London, June 8.—W. Blackiston, of Darlington, submitted the scheme of the Earl of Meath for interchange of visits of schoolboys of the mother country to the colonies, and the colonies to the mother country, with the object of unification of the empire. Mr. Blackiston says 120 boys, 13 or 14 years old, could be sent at a cost of £2,500 per year. The idea was merely a suggestion, and he would leave the details to Lord Strathcona and others.

GOREMYKIN FAILS; WILL STEP OUT

Czar Dissatisfied With Latest Prime Minister.

STORMY SCENES IN THE DOUMA

Radicals Clamor for Independent Action—Agrarian Disturbances Are on the Increase.

St. Petersburg, June 8.—According to reliable reports from Peterhof, Emperor Nicholas has about decided to retire Premier Goremykin. From the first it was apparent to outsiders that M. Goremykin did not possess the force, capacity or skill necessary to steer the ship of state in the present crisis, and his majesty, who is extremely dissatisfied with the Premier's sorry failure to make any headway toward a rapprochement with the Lower House of Parliament, is now ready to sacrifice him. But the Emperor seems to be torn by conflicting counsels. A few of his advisers are urging him to make a frank surrender and accede to Parliament's demand for a ministry from the Opposition majority.

These influences are hardly likely to prevail against the party headed by Gen. Trepoft, which believes that no further concessions should be made. The cabinet itself is in open rebellion, and with the support they are receiving from the court the rebels are confident of being able to unhorse M. Goremykin.

Dispatches from the interior continue gloomy, and show that the gradual extension of agrarian disorders and partial strikes now affect twelve provinces. The latest disturbances reported are at Kieff and Tver. Numerous collisions between peasants and rural guards have taken place, but nothing in the nature of mass movements has yet occurred.

Tortured the Innocent.

A sensation has been caused by the disclosures of M. Vladimiroff, a correspondent of the Twentieth Century, formerly the Russ, who investigated the case of Mile. Spiridonova, and who is now in the Baltic Province, investigating the Russian revolution. He declares that six out of the eight men executed at Riga were innocent, and adds that they were forced to confess by tortures which put the Spanish inquisition to shame.

Although the Social Revolutionists have proclaimed a temporary cessation of the Terrorist campaign, there is little abatement in the murders of police officials in the interior.

Mounted gendarmes yesterday evening charged a crowd of workmen at the Government cartridge factory at Vasil-Ostrov, who emerged from a meeting, singing the "Marseillaise." The gendarmes used their whips and sabres, injuring many and wounding two men seriously.

Storm in the House.

The storm produced by overnight developments, broke as soon as the Lower House of Parliament opened today, exposing the split between the radical and more moderate elements of the Opposition and proving that the leaders of the Constitutional Democrats will be unable much longer to hold their extreme allies of the peasants-workmen group, who openly favor Parliament shaking off all governmental control and proceeding independently. The former attitude of the Government as foreshadowed by yesterday's decision to demand a month's time for consideration of the law providing for the abrogation of the death penalty, in accordance with the statutory privilege, was further emphasized by Premier Goremykin's reply to an interpellation on the subject of the Black Hundred publications, which was communicated in writing. It practically amounted to a flat refusal to make any explanation, basing his refusal on the ground that the House was exceeding its rights, as (Continued on Page Eight.)

PACKING DISCLOSURES A HANDLE FOR JOE

Chamberlain's Party Will Use It to Push Protection Propaganda.

London, June 8.—Sir Howard Vincent, Conservative member of Parliament for Central Sheffield, and one of the most pronounced advocates of protection and preferential treatment for colonial products, has given notice of his intention to interpellate the president of the board of trade in the House of Commons on the subject of the meat packing disclosures in the United States. His question is evidently drawn up with the view of extracting information which may be utilized by the fiscal reformers in pushing their propaganda.

MONSTER DELEGATION INVADES OLD LONDON

12,000 Lancashire Churchmen Register Opposition to Education Bill.

Berlin, June 8.—The meeting of the German and Austrian Emperors at Vienna and the exchange of telegrams between them and King Victor Emmanuel is the cause of much satisfaction, both to the Government and the public as clearing up a period of doubt and mistrust among the allies, and restoring the solidity of the triple alliance as a peace preservative. Semi-official utterances are all to the effect that discussion between the Emperors and the respective foreign secretaries has resulted in complete goodwill, founded on mutual understanding, in which the Italian Government party participated.

PROHIBITION WINS

Prince Edward Island Plebiscite Declares for No Liquor.

Charlottetown, P. E. I., June 8.—The plebiscite on the repeal of the St. Act in Queen's County resulted yesterday in the overwhelming majority of 10 to 1 against the act and in favor of prohibition, which, according to statute, comes automatically into force. This is the last of such plebiscites, and next month the whole Province will be under prohibition. There was practically no contest, the anti-prohibitionists making no effort.

A NEW TALK SOON WITH GRAND TRUNK

Company and City to Confer and Something Big Is in the Air.

There are the strongest indications that negotiations with the Grand Trunk Railway regarding the proposed amendments in this city will be reopened by the company within the next week.

This was the statement made to the Advertiser today by one who knows, and is a member of the city council. It is understood that Manager McGulgan has intimated to the civic authorities that he will again lay the case of the company before the city.

It was thought for a time that there would be some important conferences of late which have resulted in the company coming a little closer to the city.

How the points of difference between the city and the company are to be overcome, no one is prepared to say, but the greatest confidence is expressed that the interested parties will get together this summer.

It is said, too, that there may be some developments which will create more than a mild amount of interest in certain matters which are now city hall gossip are touched upon by one of the interested parties.

"Wait and see," said the gentleman referred to above to The Advertiser today. "There may be some very interesting news in Grand Trunk matters next week. There's something big in the air, and it's liable to explode any day."

HOBBS WILL INVESTIGATE.

London, June 8.—The officer selected by War Secretary Haldane to proceed to the United States and inspect all units of meat intended for the British army, is Lieut.-Col. Percy Eyre Hobbs, chief instructor of the Army Service School of Instruction at Aldershot. He will proceed to America shortly.

THE GENERAL ASSEMBLY SEEN FROM THE GALLERY

One of the new officials whom the General Assembly will get acquainted with at this meeting is the Rev. J. C. Robertson, the general secretary for Sabbath schools. Mr. Robertson is evidently the right man in the right place, and his appointment by last year's assembly has already been amply justified. He will be heard in connection with the presentation of the Sabbath school report.

The committee of the Presbyterian Council of London, on entertainment, under the presidency of Mr. George M. Reid, knowing that a Presbyterian General Assembly is a hard-working body, and not out for a holiday, has arranged to show the commissioners only one "good time," as the saying goes, but it will be of the real sort. This will be a reception on the beautiful grounds of Sheriff Cameron on Saturday afternoon from 3 to 6 o'clock. There the Presbyterian ministers of the city and their wives will receive and welcome a far-flung line of the beauty and chivalry of Presbyterians.

The place of the next meeting of assembly is already being talked of. An invitation will be presented from the Presbytery of Winnipeg to hold next year's meeting in that city. Twice already has this Presbytery, in previous years, met in the great western metropolis, in 1887 and 1897. Montreal and Toronto are both likely to bid for the meeting. The general impression seems to be that either Montreal or Toronto will be successful. But one cannot tell how such a vote may go. The venerable and beloved Dr. Duval, of Knox Church, Winnipeg, is present, backed by a big delegation of live western commissioners, determined, if possible, to have the next meeting go to the Prairie City.

One of the "grand old men" from the east is Dr. Murray, of the Presbytery of Winnipeg. The editor of the Witness has long been a man of "light and leading" in the Maritime Provinces. The Presbytery of the Witness is the oldest and one of the very best Presbyterian papers in Canada. Dr. Murray has the true newspaper instinct, and is one of the most genial members of the press at the assembly.

Looking over the assemblage one sees among the representatives many well known ministers and elders, who are recognized as men of light and leading, from the various provinces of the Dominion. The Advertiser has already given brief sketches of a number of these. Today we can only mention a few more. Others will come on the scene later.

From British Columbia came Rev. D. McRae, of St. Paul's, West Victoria, of gentle, yet heroic, mold, who has given a quarter of a century of splendid service to the west. Mr. McRae, who was reared in Glenagarry, was the first moderator of the Synod of British Columbia and Alberta. Dr. John Campbell, of the fine old First Church, Victoria, came from Argyleshire, Scotland. He was formerly minister at Harrieston and Collingwood. Rev. J. A. Logan, of Richmond, came from Nova Scotia. He is one of the best pastors and preachers in the Province. Among the laymen are James McQueen, formerly mayor of Vancouver, and a brother of the well-known Ontario teacher, Robt. McQueen, of Kirkwall, H. W. C. Book, L.L.B., and Thornton Fell, K.C., are both lawyers of the highest standing, the one from Vancouver, the other from Victoria.

Alberta sends Rev. Dr. D. G. McQueen, of Edmonton, one of the most influential ministers in the whole province. Dr. Herdman, the missionary superintendent, is not only a man of missionary zeal and statesmanlike outlook, but a noted mountain-climber, and a man of the finest literary taste. From Saskatchewan Rev. Dr. Carmichael, another missionary superintendent, went from Columbus, Ont., to Regina many years ago. He resigned his pastorate there to accept his present position. He was born in London Township, and like most people born in this part of the country, has sound sense and weight of character. Hon. W. R. Motherwell is a member of Premier Scott's cabinet as minister of agriculture for the new province. Mr. Motherwell had a somewhat hard row to hoe in the beginning of his political career, but as he believed in the "perseverance of the Saints," he got there, and he stays there. A Regina paper, politically opposed to him, calls him "A Wall Flower." All this contributor can say is that he has had the pleasure of meeting the good elder in his own province, and of traveling through part of his constituency, and he ventures to say that there are few men better liked or more highly respected in the Province. If our friend is "a wall flower," he is a pretty strong, lively and useful one. One of the youngest elders at the assembly is George E. McCraney, L.L.B., M. P. of Prince Albert. Mr. McCraney is a son of the former member of the Commons.

Manitoba comes up with a perfect whirlwind of great names. Besides those already mentioned, we have Rev. Principal Patrick, a splendid Scotch Presbyterian minister, Dr. Hart, Dr. Gordon (Ralph Connor), Mr. J. Brown, the new leader of the Liberal party in the Legislature; the Hon. Colin H. Campbell, attorney-general of the province, and Hon. D. Laird, a former minister of inland revenue in the Dominion cabinet, all from the Prairies; Judge Forbes, St. John; Hon. Colin H. Campbell, attorney-general of Manitoba; or James McQueen of Vancouver, would do. And there are scores of others.

city, come from other presbyteries in the province.

From New Ontario we have Rev. W. M. Rochester, of Kenora, formerly known as Rat Portage. Mr. Rochester has just been appointed the new secretary of the Lord's Day Alliance for the west, a position for which he is eminently fitted. Dr. Laurie, formerly of London Junction, comes as a lay commissioner from Port Arthur, where he successfully practices his profession. But your contributor begs to defer introducing you to representatives from the other 25 Ontario presbyteries until this heat be overpast. He sympathizes with many of the members of the assembly of proper Presbyterian proportions, who were heard ejaculating now and then yesterday and last evening, that London was giving them a "warm reception."

The Province of Quebec is not all of our way of thinking, nevertheless our comes Principal Sordani, of Montreal, who knows Hebrew, Greek, systematic theology, how to translate the Psalms in meter, and many other things; John Mackay, the brilliant young scholar and orator of Crescent Street Church; Rev. Dr. Scott, the staid editor of the Record; Dr. Moffatt, the man of weight; W. R. Cruickshank, the man of "sweetness and light," and S. J. Taylor, the secretary of French evan. preaches as delightfully in pure French as he does in English. We notice David Morrice, the big cotton man, and Mr. Justice Archibald as two greatly respected Montreal elders.

One can't look at these hearers and listen to these debates without feeling profoundly that this is a gathering not only of earnest men, but of brainy men. It has been said that the Maritime Provinces have given more brainy men to the Canadian Parliament than any part of Canada. These provinces have certainly given their full share of brainy men to the church.

Dr. Sedzwick is one of the splendid "young old men." He has been 44 years in the ministry, and can tell more real good stories than perhaps any other wise man from the east. He is a son of the manse, and a recognized authority in ecclesiastical law and procedure. His brother is a judge of the supreme court of Canada, at Ottawa. He has recently been acting as deputy governor-general, during his excellency's absence from the capital.

Prof. Walter C. Murray has perhaps the finest philosophy mind of any man in the church, except of course, Watson, of Queen's. He is as delightful to meet as his books are to read. Dr. Forrest "goes like the wind" when he gets going. He has been principal of Dalhousie College and University of Dalhousie for twenty years, and has made his institution a splendid success. Dr. McCurdy, the eastern church agent, is beloved and trusted by the whole church. His Honor Judge McRae, who presides over an assembly, and there is no more useful man in the supreme court. The Hon. Senator McGregor, New Glasgow; Hon. H. M. Goudge, George Mitchell, M. P. of Joseph Henderson, and Hon. B. Rogers, are other prominent elders from the east.

There is a fine array of foreign missionaries at this meeting. Some of them will be heard this evening. Rev. J. Griffith of Homan, China, is one of the very best missionary speakers of the day. Rev. J. T. Taylor, principal of our college at Indore, India, speaks well also. Drs. Buchanan and Nugent come from India, too. From Trinidad, we have Dr. Coffin, and Mr. Morton, and Dr. Armand, the well-belo, who has come from the New Hebrides, will be heard with new interest at this time, both for his own and on account of the famous history of his mission.

The house is already impatient of tedious and irrelevant speeches. In the very air there seems to be the determination to have a man sit down unless he has something to say on the subject in hand, and can say it with reasonable brevity. The great privilege is met primarily and unflinchingly for the forwarding of the kingdom of God. It says, to every member, "If you have anything to say, say it, and be done."

Occasionally a speaker even among the grave and reverend fathers and brethren comes to the platform and pitches into a contested subject as if he would raise Cain. But that audience will soon quiet him down. He must either quiet down or sit down.

Among some of the commissioners the question is being discussed as to why this democratic Canadian church should not sometimes elect a layman as its moderator? The Southern Presbyterian Church of the United States has this year elected a distinguished lawyer as its presiding officer. This is the third time the Southern Church, which is one of the most conservative of Presbyteries, has elected a layman to its office. Other Presbyterian churches have done the same. We profess to believe in the parity of Presbyteries. Why not carry out in practice? That splendid moderator, Hamilton Cassels, K.C., or His Honor Lieutenant-Governor Clark, or the Hon. George W. Ross, of Toronto; John McIntyre, K.C., of Kingston; Justice Macdonald, of the supreme court, Ottawa; Judge Forbes, St. John; Hon. Colin H. Campbell, attorney-general of Manitoba; or James McQueen of Vancouver, would do. And there are scores of others.

SERIOUS PROBLEM FACES COLLEGES

placed the cost of this work at $30,000. When this was done, Knox College would still be an old building, and no amount of repair could make it different. It was not modern enough. Then the present location was very poor. Knox College should be in closer proximity to the University of Toronto. Several sites were available, one of which was especially satisfactory. He moved that the assembly grant the board permission to sell Knox College and purchase a suitable site for the new building. The money could be raised among the connexion. Many wealthy citizens had told him that they would give money towards a new building, but not a cent for repairs to the old structure.

Rev. W. J. Clark seconded the motion. He gave a historical resume of the work done by Knox College in the past. All the money spent was well repaid by the splendid return in men. If they had faith in the future any further expenditure would make even greater returns. He clearly showed the disadvantages of the present location.

Have One Great Institution.

Hon. John Charlton was an advocate of the consolidation of the theological faculties. He wanted one great theological institution of which the denomination could be proud. He wanted one to compare favorably with Princeton and other American theological seminaries, towards which the Queen's Big Endowment.

The movement to secure an additional endowment of $500,000 had been carried on, and was resulting in considerable success. The claims of the fund had been discussed in 125 congregations, and subscriptions were being paid in, and others circulated for the fund.

Discussion in pulpit and on platform has been supplemented by abundant distribution of literature descriptive of the history and work of the university. The results flowing from this cannot be estimated by subscriptions alone, but by increased knowledge of the university and the extension of its influence. This campaign of education regarding the ideals and progress of the institution has been very materially aided by the press. Its attitude has been most gratifying, for in addition to the church papers, twenty-four dailies and nine weeklies in widely separated districts have given large space to making known what Queen's is rendering to the country, in many cases publishing illustrated articles and sympathetic editorials.

Financial returns, while disappointing in many quarters, have on the gistrate of the city of London. It affords me great pleasure to welcome you to this city, this metropolitan city, I had almost said.

"I am told that it is ten years since the assembly met here. Those of you who were here ten years ago will agree that the city has grown a great deal. And I must say that Presbyterianism has grown in that period, as several new churches have been established. "And when I say that I welcome you to the city of London, I do not mean by mere words of the mouth, but we extend to you this welcome from the bottom of our heart.

"And we hope that your visit will be one of pleasure as well as profit. It has been said that in London the Scotch get everything. Well, if you do not get everything you want, ask for it, and it will be given you." (Laughter.) His worship called London the city of churches, and added that all of these churches are doing excellent work. London has no slums. Workmen own their homes. These men live in the best way, and we may thank Providence that we have a city that on the Sabbath worships God. He also spoke of the brotherly feeling that exists between the clergy of the different denominations. He thought it could not be duplicated in any city in Canada. He concluded by wishing the assembly prosperity.

Prof. Baird, of Winnipeg, made a happy reply on behalf of the assembly. The hospitality of London was undoubtedly, as he carried in his pocket at this moment the latchkey of the home at which he was staying. He referred to their visit to Vancouver last year, when the mayor came bedecked with gold chains and pendants, and he thought there were ribbons attached to them also. But if the London mayor was short on gold lace, he was long on the heartiness of the welcome given.

Prof. Baird referred to the splendid progress London had made during the past few years. He appreciated the beauty of the city and the happy growth in its domestic and religious life.

Judge Forbes, of St. John, N. B., also replied, and ably seconded Prof. Baird's sentiments.

Moderator Dr. Falconer spoke highly appreciative words of the reception that had been tendered them by the city of London.

The deputation then withdrew.

Organized—June Weddings—
Successful Students.

Sarnia, June 7. — At non-jury sittings of the high court before Mr. Justice Tupper, in the Petrolia, an action for damages brought by Mrs. Kettle against the town of Petrolia for the death of her husband, by being thrown out of a wagon by reason of a defective roadway, defendant was awarded $100 and costs, Judge Justice Tupper, an action for wages, was dismissed, but defendant was awarded $100 for false arrest.

Among those who successfully passed the medical faculty exams at Toronto University are the names of J. A. Simpson and H. H. Mosher, first year; H. Craswell, second year; R. Y. Kenney, G. Gray and T. L. Towers, third year, and Miss C. B. Murdoch, fourth year, all former students of Sarnia Collegiate Institute. John Cowan passed his first year examinations in arts course, and N. E. Towers, second year, political science, with honors.

A quiet wedding took place on Wednesday at the home of Mr. Bert Rowbotham, Davis street, when Miss Stella Rowbotham became the bride of Mr. D. W. Sharp, of Cygnet, Ohio. Rev. J. J. Paterson, of St. Andrew's Presbyterian Church, officiated. The home of Mr. W. A. Logan, Euphemie street, was the scene of a pretty wedding yesterday, when his eldest daughter, Miss Lexy A., was married to Mr. George H. Warning, G. T. R. engineer, by Rev. J. W. Baird. Miss Mae Goodall played the Wedding March, while Miss Madge Vance, of Birnam, and Mr. Edward Jackson, of Sarnia, acted as bridesmaid and groomsmen.

The meeting for the organization of a municipal association of Lambton County was held in the town hall on Wednesday afternoon, with Warden F. C. Watson in the chair. Those on the platform included Messrs. Barr, Sarnia; John Fraser, Petrolia; Robert Rae, Theford; Joshua Adams, James Kerr, Sarnia; Capt. Pollock and P. D. McCallum, Forest. Warden Watson welcomed the representatives of the different municipalities, and John Farrell and W. A. Graham each made a happy reply. The association was organized and the following officers were chosen: Honorary president, ex-Warden Robert Rae, Theford; vice-president, ex-Warden Wm. Nesbitt, Dawn; secretary, John Dalziel, county clerk; treasurer, D. N. Sinclair, Sarnia; auditors, ex-Warden Albert Duncan, Petrolia, and Joshua Adams, ex-mayor of Sarnia. Officers to compose the executive committee, Petrolia will be the next meeting place, dates to be fixed by the executive committee. Adjournment was then made to the new county buildings, where addresses were delivered by ex-Wardens Albert Duncan, W. H. McMahon, George A. Proctor, Dr. MacLean, and W. A. Brock, and the buildings were declared formally opened. In the evening the hundred or more guests were banqueted by the city council at the Hotel Northern. Among the speakers at the banquet was Robert Rae, the oldest county councillor living in Lambton, who had the honor of dining with the (then) Prince of Wales at Point Edward, in 1860.

It's a good thing for humanity that when a man is old enough to marry he is old enough to know better.

Faulty Digestion

Causes Physical and Mental Breakdown—Mi-o-na Will Strengthen Stomach.

Few people realize the intimate relation between the mind and the stomach. Worry and excessive mental work react on the digestive system, while on the other hand the greatest cause of nervous and brain impairment is a weak or faulty digestion.

When the stomach does not assimilate the elements of strength and nerve force that are in the food we eat, the energies we expend in the active processes of life are not replaced, and physical and mental breakdown results.

If the stomach does not have action, it soon becomes unable to act, just the same as a muscle that is not used becomes weak and valueless. Just as soon as you find that your food is not properly digested, that you taste it after eating, that the tongue is furred, the breath is a disagreeable odor, the head occasionally dull and aching, begin the use of Mi-o-na.

This reliable remedy contains no pepsin, and is an absolute strengthener of the digestive system. In fact, it is a guarantee against all diseases of the stomach, excepting cancer. It is not a patent medicine, and its formula is furnished to physicians, druggists, and all intelligent people who may desire it. Mi-o-na differs from any other remedy on the market in its lasting effects.

Mi-o-na costs but 50 cents a box. If you cannot obtain Mi-o-na of your druggist, it will be sent by mail, postpaid, on receipt of price. Write us for advice on your case from a leading stomach specialist which will be sent free. The R. T. Booth Company, Ithaca, N. Y.

First Church, Park and Dufferin Avenues, Where Sessions of the Presbyterian General Assembly Are Being Held.

Canadian youth had drifted in large numbers. The whole church wanted one great theological institution, to which they could look up.

Principal MacLaren declared that the American and British theological colleges were suffering from a lack of men to a far greater degree than Canada. The dearth of candidates for ministry was becoming a serious matter, but it was not so serious here as in the other countries. As far as he could see there was no great efflux of students to American colleges. If there was consolidation, such a college should be centered in Toronto.

Ministry Does Not Attract.

Mr. J. K. McDonald rose to remark that the ministry did not attract young men like it did 20 or 30 years ago because they had become disgusted with the treatment that old ministers had received. He saw great difficulty in the way of consolidation. All the colleges were well endowed, which would be willing to give up?

Rev. J. A. MacDonald was not so sure that to have only one theological institution was the best thing. He was not convinced that it would be the wise thing for Knox or Queen's or Montreal to move out of the constituency they now occupy. There is money enough being made and that will be made to endow them abundantly. There should be these opportunities for the rich man to spend his money well. The theological institution is vital to a university. Knox has been a vitalizing power to Toronto University. He paid a glowing tribute to the professors in those institutions.

"Man for man, they are the equal to any professors in Princeton, Union or Chicago," declared Mr. MacDonald amid applause. He asserted that the theological institution was the recruiting ground for the ministry. It touched the corporate life of the university and very many men in the Christian ministry were there because these men had touched them during their university careers. He thought it a calamity to close any of the colleges.

The resolution was carried unanimously.

Felt Lack of Students.

Principal Falconer presented the report of the Presbyterian College, Halifax. They, too, had felt the lack of students, but the prospect for the future looked encouraging from the standpoint of numbers.

Principal Springer presented the report of the Presbyterian College, Montreal. There were seven in the graduating class. The financial aspect of the college had been most satisfactory.

Principal Gordon presented the report for Queen's University, and it was most satisfactory. The enrollment for the session had been as follows:

Students in arts (in attendance)	335	383
Post-graduates in arts (in attendance)	24	33
Undergraduates in arts (extra-mural)	199	188

whole been fairly satisfactory, considering the many heavy claims upon the university. It was reported that the General Assembly in June, 1905, that about $125,000 had been promised. The total amount now assured, including cash contributions, subscriptions and sums secured by bequest, is about $230,000. Of this amount $106,000, in subscriptions, have already been entered on the university books, of which $51,671, have been paid up to April 16.

The Chief Discouragements.

The chief discouragements which at times have made the work very trying have been: First, very considerable indifference among ministers and other church leaders as to the responsibility they assumed in asking the university to maintain its life-long relationship to the church; second, the difficulty of securing suitable men who would at different points devote several weeks or months of their time and their energies to awakening the interest of the people and to soliciting subscriptions. The slowness with which subscriptions have come in has been partially due to the fact that much of our work has been done in sections of the country and church where heretofore Queen's has been comparatively little known. Information must precede interest and active cooperation. This preliminary work might well be done in much larger measure by the trustees, friends and graduates of the university, and by the ministers, and office-bearers of the church. Important and promising districts are yet practically untouched, such as Montreal, Quebec, Kingston, Lanark and Renfrew, and large sections of Western and Northern Ontario. If the people to whom we appeal are to enter with spirit and intelligence into the movement such preparatory work will form the key to the situation.

Meantime the interest is widening and deepening. Many graduates of other universities are aiding not merely by sympathy, but by generous gifts and the increase of students and graduates, and the frequent setting forth of the work of the university in pulpits, platform and press are giving the country a much truer appreciation of its ideals and the quality of its instruction. We have every confidence that, as the movement continues to gather strength, our plea will become more convincing to men of both large and moderate means and will result in a more liberal response to the growing needs of the university.

Several speakers spoke enthusiastically of the work Queen's University was doing, and all thought it a wise move when they decided to keep the university under the control of the church.

The Civic Welcome.

It was shortly after 5 o'clock when the deputation from the city council, composed of Mayor Judd, City Clerk Baker, Ald. Matthews, Ald. Armstrong, Ald. Gillen and Ald. Wyatt, waited on the assembly to extend a welcome to London.

Mayor Judd said: "As the chief ma-

LONDON, FRIDAY, JUNE 8.

THE LORD'S OWN LAND.

The reporter of the Toronto Globe at the General Assembly wires his paper: "The city itself is at its finest and one representative from Western Canada has expressed what many have felt when he said, 'After all, Ontario is the Lord's own land.'"

The kernal beauty of the Forest City in contrast with the treeless prairies, must appeal to the western delegates, and bring a home feeling to such of them as were born and reared in the east. Old Ontario is the Lord's own land indeed. Her soil and climate, and the character of her population, have given her a strength which has enabled her to mother the Canadian west, and bear on her broad shoulders the chief burdens of Confederation.

She has sent forth her sturdy sons and daughters to build up the western provinces, just as the sturdy sons of England, Scotland and Ireland cleared the land in this Province, and left to the people of Ontario today the inheritance of a varied and prosperous agriculture, and well-ordered cities and towns. Compared with the west, Ontario—the older portion of it—has "arrived." The west is still in the making, and Ontario may be proud of the part her children are playing in the great work of nation-building.

It would be well, however, if Ontario could catch more of the buoyant and progressive spirit of the west. The atmosphere there is so charged with enterprise that an eastern man feels its tonic effect at once, and he can almost sympathize with the pushful westerner's complaint that the east is "slow." Men's energies are spurred and they become more hopeful in a new country where opportunities abound. But old Ontario, though more placid than her bustling sister provinces in the west, is still the Lord's own land, with a marvelous foundation of natural wealth which is widening and deepening as the prospector and the railroad penetrate into her undeveloped areas. The type of her people is pretty well fixed and she has escaped some of the problems which vex a country into which all races are pouring.

CHANGES IN THE ASSESSMENT LAW.

The Ontario Legislature wisely refrained from laying violent hands on the new assessment during the last session. The act is not perfect, but it should be given a fair trial before being condemned. The principal changes may be indicated as follows:

Section 1 provides that the $1,000 exemption from assessment of income derived from personal earnings, etc., shall apply to residents of cities and towns having a population of 5,000 or over who are householders or heads of families, and the exemption of $700 to resident householders or heads of families in any other municipality. The income exemption of a person resident in a city or town of 5,000 or over, who is not a householder or head of a family, is by this section fixed at $600, and at $400 in other municipalities. This section also exempts from assessment income derived from any investment, or from moneys on deposit or loaned upon mortgages or other securities where such incomes do not exceed $300, and where such person is a householder or head of a family, and is not in receipt of an income from all sources exceeding the sum of $300. Sections 2 and 3 make some minor changes in business liable to business assessment. Section 4 reduces the minimum business assessment to $100. Section 5 renders liable to a business assessment the business of a broker or financial agent, or of a manufacturer's agent, or other agent or intermediary in the business of the sale of goods who has not the actual custody of the goods, or business assessment all subordinate lodges of any registered friendly society. Section 7 provides for the assessment of local telephone systems. Section 8 provides for the assessment of telephone and telegraph plants of a steam railway when the wires are used for commercial purposes. Sections 10, 11 and 12 relate to the assessment of oil lands, and the property of oil and gas companies. Section 13 particularizes the property of railway companies, which is assessable under the provisions of sub-section 2 of section 44 of the act.

GOVERNMENT BY COMMISSION.

The Ontario Government today hands out another batch of fat positions for trusty followers.

Andrew Ingram, M. P. of East Elgin, and Henry Kittington, a wholesale grocer of Hamilton, are made members of the new municipal and railway board at $4,000 per year each. Henry C. Small, of Toronto, becomes secretary at $2,000. The chairman is Mr. Leitch, a Cornwall barrister, who gets $4,000 per year.

In addition, Cecil B. Smith, chairman of the Temiskaming Railway board, is appointed a salaried member of the provincial hydro-electric commission. The other commissioners are Hon. Adam Beck and Hon. J. S. Hendrie, members of the cabinet without portfolio, and it is intimated that Mr. Beck it to be made minister of power, which will yield him a salary equal to that of other ministers.

Is there any reason, except the desire to multiply fat jobs, why the duties of these two commissions should not be performed by a single board? The railway problem, with the growth of electric traction, is to a great extent allied with the power problem. A board composed of Mr. Ingram, a practical railway man; Mr. Smith, a civil and electrical engineer, and Mr. Leitch, who is said to be an expert in municipal law, would, we venture to say, do all the work assigned to two commissions—and do it better. Mr. Beck and Mr. Hendrie have no practical knowledge of electric matters, and Mr. Kittington, a grocer, probably does not claim to be a railway expert.

The province is fast drifting into government by commission. We have the Temiskaming railway commission, the hydro-electric commission, and the railway and municipal commission. Yet a cabinet, which has delegated so many of its powers, proposed to increase the number of its portfolios.

Meanwhile any M. P. is free to slander anyone inside or outside the House under cover of parliamentary privilege.

Many Toronto people confess to being sand-eaters. The appetite is likely to be formed by a long course of drinking Toronto water.

The members of the House of Commons treated the Cingmars episode yesterday as a huge joke; but the joke was on Foster, not on Cingmars.

Mr. J. D. Clarke, formerly of The Advertiser, will remain private secretary to the new Minister of Justice, a position he has held under the late Hon. David Mills, and Hon. Charles Fitzpatrick. Mr. Aylesworth is to be congratulated upon securing the services of one so experienced in the work of the justice department.

In the death of Mr. Thomas McCormick, London loses a citizen whose benefactions took a wide range. He built up a great industry by his energy and native ability, and the wealth he so honorably acquired he used with a deep sense of responsibility. The commodious home for aged people in this city is one monument of his benevolence. His service on the Hospital Trust was a labor of love, and his judgment in that capacity was always of the best. He gave freely to more than one church, and had an open hand for every movement which appealed to his sympathies. His charities were innumerable and his name will live in his good works.

CAN'T LOSE IT.

[Philadelphia Press.]
"Of course," said the optimist, "if a man gets into the habit of hunting trouble, he's sure to find it."
"Yes," replied the pessimist, "and if he's so lazy that he doesn't try to avoid it, it will find him. So what's the difference?"

ELASTICITY.

"This talk about the need of a more elastic currency makes me tired."
"How is that?"
"When a fellow has to spend a nine-dollar-a-week salary over the needs of a family of five it strikes me that elasticity is not the greatest need."

THE POPE ON DRESS.

[Chicago Journal.]
Stories multiply of Pope Pius' democracy. Visitors are received with great simplicity. As soon as one enters he causes him to be seated in an armchair by his side, chats, laughs and relates anecdotes and stories. The other day the Pope, while receiving some ladies, remarked that they had trains to their skirts.
"This is not hygienic," said he, "one gathers thus in the streets a quantity of microbes and other things. As to myself, when they compel me to add a train to my cassock it bothers me much, although there are four prelates to uphold it."

"But, holy father," said one of the visitors, "we hold our trains when in the streets."
"That must be very convenient," replied Pius X.; and passing from word to action the Pope made several tours in the room holding up his robe in mimicry of a fine lady.

A GOOD FISH STORY.

[San Francisco Argonaut.]
A story was told by Lord Claude Hamilton at a dinner of the Fly Fishers' Club. An Irishman had caught a big pike. Noting a lump in its stomach, he cut it open. "As I cut it open there was a mighty rush and a flapping of wings," said he, "and away flew a wild duck; and, begorra, when I looked inside, there was a nest with four eggs, and she had been after sitting on that nest."

THE BEST SHORTHAND SYSTEM.

[Ottawa Citizen.]
A shorthand contest took place in Baltimore last week and the prize was won by a young Englishman who wrote the system perfected nearly half a century ago by the late Sir Isaac Pitman. A number of systems, all copied from the original Pitman system, but given different names, are extensively used in the United States and Canada, the alleged inventors all claiming that the systems are improvements on the Pitman method, but apparently the old reliable still holds the palm when it comes to a thorough speed test. The real test of a shorthand system is high speed. Many systems are evolved which will enable a student to rapidly acquire the ability to write 100 or 125 words a minute, but when a speaker gets up into the rarefied atmosphere of 175 to 200 words per minute, and over, these systems often break down. No verbatim reporter is an expert unless he can take 200 words continuously for several minutes, which means that during some minutes he may be called upon to sputter to 225 words. Almost any bright student with any system can reach a speed of 180 or 140 words a minute in a few months, but it takes years of practice to increase speed above that to 200 words. Not only have the brain and the hand to be trained, but it is necessary to have the best system, and Isaac Pitman's has long been considered the most reliable. Pitman was knighted in 1894 by Queen Victoria for the distinction he achieved in bringing stenography to a high state of perfection.

A GIRL'S WAKING.

[M. Lennart, in Atlantic.]
What marvel have her still eyes looked upon?
In what new wonder hath she grown adept?
Hath some bright miracle but lately sweet Across the common sky? From what dim lawn Of fairy woodland hath she just withdrawn?
What secret tenderness that long hath slept,
What love unrealized, what pain un-
wont,
Now stirs and dreams and trembles for the dawn?
Yes, marvel, wonder, miracle are hers,
And hers all treasures of wild fairyland.
And hers a new, still, god's intimate command.
For see! she holds, still tranced and listening,
As listens one to unseen messengers,
A gray old volume where dead poets sing.

MOTHER, MOON AND STARS.

[William S. Lord.]
The moon is bending o'er the sea,
As I, my babe, bend over thee;
She rocks it gently to and fro,
As I now rock you—so and so.
The wind, her breath, sings softly, "Dear, Sleep sweetly, now, for I am near."
The stars look down upon the sea,
As I, my babe, look down on thee;
The earth's at rest; they vigils keep,
As I watch o'er thy peaceful sleep.
And through the silence I can hear,
"Sleep sweetly now, for we are near."

THE ANSWER.

[Washington Star.]
Why did those old Egyptian kings Build pyramids and other things? Why did they proudly carry or paint And obelisk with figure quaint?
Why did some Roman monarch raise A circus in those good old days, And see how wealth is wrung from fame, To sound a complimenting lie?
Why did old Caesar late at night Sit up describing every fight, Or Alexander make that bluff And say "The world's not big enough?"
To us who view the modern game And see how wealth is wrung from fame, The answer need not cause surprise, It always has to advertise.

The Insurance Director

[From the Montreal Herald.]

The expectations of some clients of insurance companies are not marked by an excess of modesty. Nothing rouses the indignation of a cashing-in-policyholder so much as to find that the "profits" accruing to him do not pan out on as large a scale as they were represented to when he went in. He knows, by this time, that the premium he pays is simply the amount required to cover the risk taken by the company—the exact betting ratio that he will or will not earn the amount of the policy at such and such a period of its career—plus a "loading," estimated to cover pretty accurately the expenses of the business. He knows that the rate of interest used in figuring out the proportions is 4 per cent, and he knows, furthermore, that a better return than that is hard to secure in a gilt-edged investment. He knows there are only two ways in which the company can acquire additional revenues; one by investing its money in better-paying securities, and one by improving the average of the life-risks associated with his own in the business, by careful selection, so that they do not really cost quite so much to carry as the assured's table make out. And he knows that they can only be improved and selected at the price of a sharp increase in "cost of new business," the more desirable risks being today pursued by the hottest kind of competition.

That leaves one source open for the extra revenues to provide the profits upon which he is so insistent—more remunerative investments. Yet, when the manager of the North American Life declares frankly that insurance funds are not in the strict sense trust funds, in that the directors of the company are not rightly bound to make good any individual losses, the policyholder raises a tremendous uproar, and we hear a lot about the sacred rights of widowhood and so on. It is undoubtedly the sacred right of widowhood, as of any other situation in life, that may fall heir to a policy, to collect every cent of the full face value of that policy, undertaken to be paid by contract. We know of no company in Canada which is supposed to be in the slightest danger of having to refuse such payment. But profits are a rather different proposition.

When the receiver of the ten talents restored them to his lord, and with them the other ten which they had made, it was not proposed to hold an investigation into him to ascertain whether he might not have made eleven talents profit if he had not invested five talents for a time in the Jericho equivalent of Steel Common during a slump. Certainly no one suggested that he ought to have buried the ten talents in the earth of 2.9 per cent consols and still paid over ten talents profit out of his own private funds, for the honor of being a director. Yet that is about what is being suggested by those who ask that the insurance companies should pay a substantial rate of profits, and yet confine themselves to gilt-edged investments. When insurance directors are compelled to make good every cent lost by depreciation, and at the same time allowed no share of the profits accruing from appreciation of the stocks, their business is not a company to invest in, there will be a number of very excellent and conscientious financiers looking for jobs elsewhere.

NURSE BABY OR SWING DUMBBELL

John Burns Would Have Girls Proficient in Both—Sees an Improved England.

London, June 7.—Mr. John Burns and Mrs. Burns with their son were present at Battersea Polytechnic last Saturday, when the prizes to students of the women's gymnasium were presented by Lady Treves. Sir Frederick Treves, who was present, in the course of an address, referred to the reputed degeneration of the race, and this gave Mr. Burns a text for some interesting remarks on the future of England. It was his opinion that the race never had more or better facilities for both physical and mental improvement than they now had. Physical deterioration had been greatly exaggerated by melancholy old-joys, and doleful Jeremiahisms, who were under the impression that the country was going to the dogs. There were, he admitted, masses of people who were not robust, but that food was to good food badly cooked or wrongly eaten. Referring to the physical training of women, Mr. Burns

Many Women Think

That it is impossible to make good pastry from flour made of Manitoba Hard Wheat, and, consequently, buy one kind of flour for bread and another for pastry.

Since the appearance of "FIVE ROSES" FLOUR on the market there is no need for any housekeeper to do this, as this brand is made by a process which renders it not only the ideal flour for bread, but which guarantees equally good results for pastry when used the "FIVE ROSES" way.

"FIVE ROSES" FLOUR will make lighter and flakier pastry than any ordinary brands on the market, whether made from Manitoba or Ontario wheat.

All we ask is that you will give "FIVE ROSES" a fair and unprejudiced trial for pastry on your next baking day. The results will, we know, more than satisfy you.

BIOGRAPH STARTS MASSACRE

Missionary Shows Pictures and Stirs Up a Revolt.

Paris, June 7.—In colonial circles here a great sensation has been caused by the murder of M. Charbonnier in the neighborhood of Tangier, for, following close on the native revolt at Tala, near Tunis, and the murder of a wealthy lawyer at Bob, it is believed to indicate a Pan-Islamic uprising throughout Morocco and Algeria.

Pan-Islamism is the dream of the Sultan of Turkey, and his recent attempt to establish a military station in Egyptian territory is due to this policy, which is also that of the powerful Senoussi sect of vagabond and fanatical Mussulman priests, who have been specially active recently in Northern Africa.

The attitude of the German Emperor, whose desire it is to pass as the protector of Pan-Islamism, has greatly encouraged these fanatics, who, though they have no intention of accepting his leadership, recognize that by spreading discord among the Christian powers which have Mussulman possessions he is greatly assisting their cause.
The preacher who stirred up the recent revolt and massacre of Christians at Tala used a biograph showing troops on the march in order to prove his miraculous powers. This apparatus was of German origin.

TANGLED THREADS

All Helen's own agony was now swallowed up in anxiety for her mother.

She dashed her letter to the floor, and sprang to her assistance. She placed her in a comfortable position, for she had fallen face downward; then, rushing for water, she bathed her head and hands, and worked vigorously to revive her.

She would have sent for a physician, but their servant was out, and she did not dare to leave her dear one alone. "Mamma! Oh, mamma!" she breathed, in a voice that was husky from fear and emotion; "wake up! It breaks my heart to see you lie here so white and still! If I should lose you, too, now, what would I have to live for?"

But the blessed unconsciousness for Margaret Seymour would not last; she soon began to breathe again, and, presently opening her eyes, gazed wonderingly into Helen's pale, anxious face.

"What has happened?" she murmured weakly. Then, as memory began to reassert itself, she gasped: "Oh, that man!"

"Never mind him now, dearest; don't think about him or anything else; just try to wake up and be yourself once more," Helen fondly returned, as she softly kissed the pale cheek nearest her.

Then she went to get her glass of ice-water, which she made her drink, and the girl was encouraged to see that she was refreshed and was coming more and more to her normal condition.

But presently, either from a chill or mental excitement, the woman began to tremble violently, and was shaken from head to foot, and Helen became greatly alarmed again.

"Are you all right, mamma?" she anxiously inquired, and without waiting for a reply, she drew up the soft, bright-hued afghan and tucked it close around her.

But Margaret Seymour was made of too strong a stuff to succumb to either physical or mental weakness.

She lay quiet, with closed eyes, for ten or fifteen minutes, struggling mightily for self-control, until, by degrees, the trembling ceased, her tense muscles relaxed and her strong will reasserted itself.

Finally she sat up, outwardly calm, a resolute expression gleaming in her beautiful eyes.

"Helen," she began, "oh, don't try to talk now, mamma," pleaded the fair girl, "just lie still and rest. If you could get a little nap I am sure you would be much better for it."

"Yes, I must talk—I could not sleep," returned Mrs. Seymour, with a strangely impatient gesture. "I must say what I have to say now, and then I never want the subject referred to again, for," with a spasmodic catch in her breathing, "I cannot bear it. That man—"

"Mr. Lancaster?" queried Helen, as her mother paused, her lips blue from suffering and the terrible tension under which she was laboring.

"Oh!" throwing out her hands, as if the sound of the name had stung her like a lash. "Yes, I refer to him," she resumed more calmly; "but how strange that he should be Robert Eggleston's uncle! I have been very remiss not to have ascertained the fact; but, like you, I imagined that they both bore the same name. I inferred that he was Dr. Eggleston's nephew."

"Well, but what is he—this man—to you, mamma?" Helen inquired.

"Nothing! Great Heaven, he is nothing to me," was the passionate response; "but—"

"Well, but! Go on, please, dear, if it must be told, and have it over," said Helen, with starting tears, for she had never seen her mother in such a state before.

"He ruined my life, my child," returned Mrs. Seymour, her face upturned, "my life!" repeated the girl, amazed. "How could that be possible?"

Mrs. Seymour dropped her face upon her hands.

"Oh, how can I tell her?" she moaned, almost inaudibly. Then, after a moment, she sat erect again, a peculiar expression gleaming in her eyes. "I cannot go into details, Helen."

she went on, with pale lips, "but years ago, in my girlhood, two men professed to love, and sought to win me. One I loved and married—your father; the other still sought my society and persecuted me with his professions, even though I had repeatedly told him that I entertained not one particle of affection for him—that I was loyal to my husband in every breath I drew. I forbade him to seek me, for I could not see that my husband was annoyed to have him around, and I finally refused to see him when he called. I sent him away without seeing him again and again from my home. I learned afterward that, in spite of my ungracious attitude toward him, he had been encouraged to believe I was secretly fond of him, and regretted that I had not chosen him—that I was not happy with my husband, and, one day, through the treachery of one who had long pretended to be my dearest friend and in whom I had the utmost confidence, he was not only admitted to my home, but was conducted up to my private sitting-room—was told, in fact, that I wished to receive him there in secret. He was only too eager to avail himself of the privilege, and, notwithstanding by undisguised astonishment upon seeing him enter my room and my indignant protest against his remaining there, he began to tell out an incoherent and passionate avowal of love, begging me, if I was wretched with my husband, to leave my home and go with him to some distant country, where he would spare no effort to make me happy. Just in the midst of this my husband walked unceremoniously in upon us, and overheard enough of what was passing to make him furious. He was a proud and impulsive man, and a terrible scene followed. Ah!" she interposed, with a shiver of agony, "I cannot bear to think of it even now! I cannot talk about it."

"Did he, my father—believe that you—his wife—were untrue to him?" Helen gravely and wonderingly inquired.

"Yes; his jealousy had been aroused; every circumstance had been most ingeniously distorted to make it appear that I was disloyal, and the cleverly arranged deouement left but one inference to be drawn."

"And who plotted all this?—that false friend?"

"Yes,"

"Who was she?" demanded Helen sternly.

"I cannot tell you, dear—I could do you no possible good to know," said Mrs. Seymour, after a moment of hesitation.

"Is she still living?"

"Yes,"

"My father actually accuse you of being untrue to him?"

Her mother bowed a voiceless assent to the question.

"And then?" queried Helen, in a weak voice.

"And then—well I, too, was proud, too proud to argue, beg, or entreat him to forgive an offense of which I had never been guilty. I was wounded to the heart's core, crushed and angry, and I went away without seeing him again that same night."

"You ran away from—you left him?" cried Helen, aghast.

"Yes,"

"And you never made up with him—he never forgave you?"

"He had nothing to forgive, Helen," was the proud response, while the woman drew herself haughtily erect. Then she added, in a hollow voice: "No, we never made up the quarrel. I was too proud to make the first advances, and I had buried myself so effectually that I had never had any suspicion of my hiding-place."

"And—and then he died and you never saw him again! Oh, mamma, how you must have suffered, poor dear! And to think that I never dreamed of anything so dreadful. I have always supposed that my father died before I was born, and you were left to struggle alone," said Helen, sobbing in a heart-broken way over the sad story.

All her life she had yearned for her father, whom she had never seen—she had not even a likeness of him—but who she had fondly believed, until this moment, had been in perfect harmony with her mother, and had passed away in his own home in spite of her loving care and devotion.

"Yes, and then he died—to me," wailed the stricken woman, as she sank back upon the couch, but her words were inaudible to any one save herself, for she had buried her face in the pillows, and Helen thought she was simply sobbing out the grief she could no longer control.

CHAPTER XVI.

Helen wept in sympathy, and for several moments no sound save those heart-broken sobs was heard.

"All this happened before I was born," the young girl repeated again, as if this phase of her mother's sorrow had deeply impressed and saddened her.

"Yes, I, myself, did not even know that I was to become a mother at that time," replied Mrs. Seymour, with a weary sigh.

"How dreadful, mamma!—how desolate and forlorn you must have felt! And you were so poor, too, for you have told me that you had only a few jewels, which you were obliged to sell to support us, while I was a wee, skilful baby. You have had a hard, a sorrowful life, dear—how hard I never dreamed till now!" Helen observed, in tones of deepest sympathy.

"We will not go back over all that, my darling," said her mother, more collectedly than she had yet spoken. "The past is past, and until now, I had supposed it too deeply buried ever to be resurrected. I never told you this trouble because I could not bear to have it cast its shadow upon your young life. I wish you need never have known it. You have known something of my struggle with poverty—how I have conquered every obstacle and have carved out for you and an eminently respectable position in life, and accumulated a comfortable little fortune for our future. I am proud to have achieved all this, and I am perhaps a better and a stronger woman today than I should have been had I lived the petted child in a society of luxury and ease. I am proud of you, also, Helen—of your high sense of honor and truth, of your career in school, your talent for art, and I feel that you are a lady worthy to occupy a high place in society. But—and her usually sweet mouth settled into hard, resolute lines—"after what we have this day learned, I could never give you to Robert Eggleston; I could never let you marry the nephew of Halburton Lancaster, allow you to be associated with him in any way, even if Rob had not proved himself unworthy of you by neglecting your education and transferring his allegiance to Marjorie Elsworth. Did you ever tell her anything about him?"

"No," she said, "at least nothing of our relations to each other. She saw his picture in my album one day, and asked me some questions about him. I simply said that he was a school friend, but she was very much taken with his face, and expressed great admiration for him."

Mrs. Seymour sat in deep thought for a few moments. She was impressed that Marjorie was by no means the artless girl that she had appeared to be. Helen had told her about her talent for reading faces, and knowing that Helen could not speak of Rob without revealing something of the tenderness that was in her heart, she surmised that Marjorie must have suspected that there was more than simple friendship between them. Then, as she recalled her various letters, it seemed to her that the girl had been systematically trying to undermine Helen's confidence in her lover, and, if so, no doubt she had been just as careful in winning herself into Rob's confidence.

"Well," she said at last, but with pain-drawn lips, "I am glad we have learned the truth in time. I never could have given you to the nephew of—that man."

Helen regarded her mother gravely for a moment. Then she observed, with a quiet dignity which she had never before manifested when speaking to her, and which betrayed a depth of character that surprised her listener:

"Mamma, whatever sins he—Mr. Lancaster—may have been guilty of in his past, they could never have affected Rob in my estimation. I could never have regarded him as in the least responsible for them. The simple fact that he is the nephew of one who had wronged you could not change my attitude toward him if he himself had been true. I should have loved him just as well—and I think it would have been right for me to be true to him. However, it is evident that something has changed him—that he no longer regards me with the same affection which he has hitherto expressed and manifested. If he has learned to love Marjorie, as I am very sure she loves him, I have no desire to stand in the way of the happiness of either. I shall write to Rob today, release him from all promises that he has made me, and return him his ring," and she resolutely slipped it from her finger as she concluded.

THE QUESTION OF PROFITS

Comes Up at Insurance Inquiry Into Canada Life Company.

Toronto, June 7. — Whether in 1905 the Canada Life used $343,000 of the policyholders' profits to extend the business of the company, was a subject of dispute between I. F. Hellmuth, counsel for the Ontario Government, and Mr. Frank Sanderson, attorney for the company, at the insurance investigation this morning. The companies act provides that policyholders shall receive 90 per cent of the profits and the shareholders 10 per cent. The new business of the company in 1905 cost $248,000, which amount was taken out of the surplus earnings of the company. The contention of the company was that the directors had the power to say what amount should be set aside as profits, and that of that sum only the policyholders to get 90 per cent.

CANADA LIFE'S BIG GIFTS

Since 1891 Donated Nearly $50,000 to Various Charities.

Toronto, June 7. — Mr. Wallace Nesbitt, K. C., counsel for the Canada Life, sought the privilege of addressing the commission upon matters brought out in connection with the company. He said that the various subjects taken up during the long examination of Hon. Senator Cox and other members of the Canada Life staff should be reviewed, and he asked permission to put in a statement giving the Canada Life's side of the case. The commissioners had already ruled that addresses of counsel were barred, so the request was refused. Mr. Sanderson, as required by the commission, put in a list of drafts of the Canada Life to various charities. The amounts aggregated $40,600, dating back to 1891.

MONTREAL CONFERENCE ENDS

Was Largest on Record, Nearly 500 Delegates Being Present.

Smiths Falls, Ont., June 7.—The Montreal Conference closed at noon, the session being one of the largest on record. Owing to the large number of members to the General Conference, the final draft of stations showed no important changes. Melvin Taylor, president of the conference, goes to Sherbrooke Street, Montreal, with T. Anson Halpern as assistant. This will give the president opportunity to push the church extension scheme, of which he is in charge. An invitation from the town council of Gananoque to meet there next year was adopted. There were nearly 500 delegates and visitors this year.

Liege is to have an international exposition of foodstuffs in July and August.

ST. JOHN FOR SHERIFF

Toronto Rumor Says Carscallen Will Become the Speaker.

Toronto, June 7. — It is rumored that Hon. J. W. St. John, Speaker of the Legislature, will be appointed sheriff of York County, in succession to the late Dr. Widdifield, and that Mr. Henry Carscallen, M. P. for East Hamilton, will be appointed speaker. There is no official confirmation of the story.

CANAL BOATS WRECKED

Four Wrecked En Route from St. Croix to Quebec.

Quebec, Que., June 7. — St. Croix and McNaughton's tug Spray left St. Croix yesterday morning with six canal boats, two coal-laden and four light, in tow for this port. After leaving the bay, five of the boats broke away from the tug. The captain of the latter, seeing the danger the crews of the drifting vessels were in, launched a boat, which picked them up. One of the light canal boats broke in two, and three others were driven ashore, and are probably all wrecked.

SPRING DUCK SHOOTING

Canadian and American Sportsmen Will Discuss It at Buffalo.

Toronto, June 7. — The meeting of the League of American Sportsmen, to be held at the Iroquois Hotel, Buffalo, tomorrow, will be attended by a large number of Canadian delegates. Chief Provincial Game Warden Tinsley will read a paper protesting against the practice allowed under the laws of several of the states of shooting wild duck in the spring. It is hoped that a working agreement will be reached between the Ontario Association and the American League.

SOME SMALLPOX.

Toronto, June 7.—Dr. Hodgkiss, secretary of the provincial board of health, has received word of smallpox outbreaks at Seneca, Sydenham and Dunwich, in Haldimand, Grey and Elgin Counties respectively.

At Sydenham there is only one case, at each of the other places several. All are of a mild type. The local authorities are taking all necessary precautions.

A number of people are protesting against the enforcement of quarantine, claiming that the disease is "the Cuban itch," "the Philippine rash," or anything but smallpox. The authorities, however, are carrying out their duties undeterred by these protests.

CLOUDBURST AND FLOOD

Immense Damage Done to Towns in Pennsylvania State.

Butler, Pa., June 7. — Continuous thunderstorms and heavy rains last night have resulted in the greatest flood in this section in half a century. Between Boydstown and North Hope, the downpour resembled a cloudburst. Five feet of water is pouring over the sluiceway, and the water at noon was within a few inches of the top of the dam. Kearns Meadow, north of Butler, is covered with nine feet of water. The Kearns bridge is entirely submerged, and the water has stopped the machinery in the pumping station of the Butler Water Company. Work has also been suspended in the Davis lead works, Hamilton bottle works, part of the Standard steel works, and a number of smaller factories. Thousands of dollars worth of lumber have been washed away from the Pueris, Cornelius and Wm. Wick lumber yards, and farmers in the creek bottoms have suffered great damage to crops. Five feet of water surrounds houses in the lower portions of Butler, and scores of families were taken from their dwellings. Every railroad entering the city is disabled by the water, and no mail trains have reached Butler today. Long stretches of track are reported to have been washed out.

MONTREAL PROVINCE.

Montreal, Que., June 7. — The possibility of securing legislation for the erection of the Island of Montreal into a separate province is being discussed at the city hall on account of the difficulty experienced, when the city seeks legislation at the hands of the Legislature at Quebec. This it is claimed seriously retards the progress of the city.

THE CRICK IN THE BACK—"One touch of nature makes the whole world kin," sings the poet. But what about the touch of rheumatism and lumbago, which is so common now? There is no poetry in that touch, for it renders life miserable. Yet how delightful is the sense of relief when an application of Dr. Thomas' Electric Oil drives pain away. There is nothing easier it.

La Belle Otero, the famous continental dancer, takes no chances of an ankle, as through the twisting of an ankle, as each of her feet is insured for $10,000.

Malta-Vita

"The Perfect Food"

Little Children Like Malta-Vita, but There Is a Better Reason for Letting Them Have It.

Malta-Vita provides the children with all the nourishment their young bodies need, and in such a form that they digest it easily and get all the good out of it. It makes them healthy and robust.

"Thousands of mothers tell of experiences similar to that related here: 'We had almost despaired of finding something our baby could eat without being distressed. He had, since birth, been constantly suffering from constipation and a general derangement of the stomach and bowels. Since we began feeding him Malta-Vita, he has improved wonderfully in health and is entirely cured of constipation. In fact, my husband and I realize a great benefit since using Malta-Vita. We find it gives life and tone to the entire system.'—Mrs. M. McCormick, South Bend, Ind."

Being a pure grain product—simply the whole of the best white wheat and a little malt—with pure barley malt extract—Malta-Vita supplies the body with all those food elements which make bone, blood, muscle and brain bring perfect health.

The malt extract, added after the wheat has been thoroughly steamed and cooked, burns the starch of the wheat into maltose, or malt sugar. Maltose is highly nutritious and easily assimilated even by very weak stomachs. Physicians recommend maltose for its strength-giving qualities, and Malta-Vita is rich in it.

Malta-Vita, every grain of the malted wheat a wafer-like flake, is baked crisp and brown. "Oats to a turn," delicious beyond compare to any cereal today. Eat it with milk, cream or fruit and let the children have all they want.

THANKS PREMIER FOR NEW BILL

Congregationalists Pleased With Lord's Day Measure—$203,000 for Jubilee Fund.

Embryo, June 6.—The Congregational Union met in the Congregational Church here today with a good attendance at the first session. Rev. J. B. Silcox, of Toronto, chairman of the union, presided, and a great deal of routine business was transacted.

Rev. Mr. Munroe and I. M. Pearce were appointed minute secretaries, and the following committees were named: Business—Rev. J. P. Gerrie, J. L. Alexander, and Messrs. W. J. Althouse, George Williams, George Wilson, E. J. Joslin, Membership—Rev. J. W. Pedley, T. B. Hyde, John Morton, J. K. Unsworth, Dr. E. M. Hill, Messrs. Henry Yule and J. D. Nash. Nominating—Rev. Wm. McIntosh, D. S. Hamilton, D. C. McIntosh, H. O'Hara, B. W. Robertson, Finance—Messrs. T. Moodie, Wm. Woodley and J. T. Daley. Press—Rev. J. K. Alexander, H. J. Daley, J. P. Gerrie, H. P. Thomas and W. R. Harvey.

Rev. J. T. Daley, secretary of the union, presented the 53rd annual report.

Pleased With Bill.

The Lord's Day observance committee's report expressed satisfaction with the efforts of the union to enact a Lord's Day observance bill, and recommended that Sir Wilfrid Laurier be thanked for his personal interest in the measure.

Rev. J. K. Unsworth, of Hamilton, reported for the jubilee fund committee, pointing out the wonderful success of the movement, which had resulted in freeing all but half a dozen churches from debt. Although the central fund still needs about $9,000 to complete the enterprise, the total amount raised had exceeded the most sanguine expectations of three years ago. About $203,000 had been raised altogether, and the churches were commended for their self-sacrificing efforts.

Ladies To Have a Voice.

The Home Missionary Society held an interesting session, with Mr. H. O'Hara presiding, in the absence of President Charles Cushing. After hearing a comprehensive report from the secretary, Rev. Wm. McIntosh, and the educational secretary, Rev. J. L. Alexander, and the election of officers, the society adjourned. The officers for the ensuing year are:

President, Charles Cushing, B.C.L., Montreal; secretary, Rev. Wm. McIntosh, Ottawa; honorary secretary, Rev. E. M. Hill, D.D., Montreal; treasurer, Rev. J. Black, Montreal; educational secretary, Rev. J. L. Alexander, Granby, Que.; representatives on executive committee: Western district, Rev. W. Kelly, Waco, Tex.; central district, H. O'Hara, Toronto; Quebec district, H. P. Pedley, Montreal; Nova Scotia and New Brunswick, Rev. W. Cox.

The general committee is composed of 25 gentlemen, and a resolution was made today, when on motion of Rev. J. B. Silcox, seconded by Rev. D. S. Hamilton, the names of the ladies delegates were added—Mrs. Willet, Mrs. J. B. Silcox, Mrs. B. W. Robertson, Mrs. J. Hill, Mrs. Lamb, Rev. J. B. Silcox, who spoke very strongly in favor of ladies on the committee, as the ladies deserved to be represented in the various branches of Christian work, because of their loyal interest in the church.

There was a large attendance at the evening session, when an address of welcome was given by Rev. W. T. Gunn, and responded to by Rev. W. P. Pedley.

Many Hopeful Signs.

The chairman, Rev. J. B. Silcox, in delivering the annual address, took for his theme, "The Revival of Religion, and dealt with the subject in a masterly way. He pointed out the need of social salvation as well as individual salvation, and saw many signs of hope today in the demand for higher ethical standards and deeper spiritual life. The church should insist on the practicality and reality of the Kingdom of God upon earth and demand the overthrow of every evil in the land. The Christian community should fearlessly condemn gambling on a race track, even though that race track should be under the patronage of the representative of royalty. The address was listened to with deep interest throughout.

Among the Londoners registered are the names of Rev. W. H. A. Clark, Rev. D. S. Hamilton, Miss Perry, Miss M. McDougall, Mrs. J. Hill, Mrs. Jackson. Many matters of deep interest will be up for discussion during the week.

ROUGHHOUSE AT BRANTFORD.

Brantford, Ont., June 7.—A strike occurred today at the Pratt & Leitchworth Lumber Co. mill, the foreign element causing the trouble. The men asked for an increase of pay. On account of the foreman being away the men were asked to wait till his return when the matter would be taken up. Some were willing to wait, others wanted to go out right away. About 20 men went out and soon a fight broke out among them, in which stones, bolts and bars were used. One Armenian had his head cut with a bolt, another had his leg lacerated. The police were called, and arrested seven of the ringleaders, and put a stop to the fighting. All is quiet again.

The Nerves of School Children

Dr. Welf Mitchell, the great American authority on diseases of the nerves, makes the following observations on school children's nerves:

As examination time approaches headaches become frequent as the result of eyestrain and exhausted nerves. St. Vitus' dance is preceded by incessant winking, shuffling of the shoulders and twitching of the face muscles.

Girls become hysterical, nervous, cry easily, get fidgety, etc.

Under these circumstances the system demands such assistance as is afforded by Dr. Chase's Nerve Food. Failure to restore the depleted nerves makes a complete failure of health almost certain, for nervous diseases do not get well of their own accord.

Because of its mild and gentle action and extraordinary restorative influence Dr. Chase's Nerve Food is especially suited as a treatment for pale, weak and sickly children.

It invigorates the brain and nerves, adds new firm flesh and tissue, and builds up the system generally; 50 cents a box at all dealers, or Edman-son, Bates & Co., Toronto.

MESSAGE HITS LIVE STOCK FOLK

Packing House Disclosure Means Heavy Blow to the United States Industry.

Salt Lake City, Utah, June 7.—The Herald today publishes a letter from President Frank J. Hagenbarth, of the National Live Stock Association, which says in part: "The President has seen fit to ignore urgent requests from official representatives of the live stock industry requesting him to withhold any radical message of reports to Congress bearing on abuses of the packing industry for the reason that such message, if heralded over the world, would work an irreparable loss both at home and abroad to the producers of live stock. It must be presumed that the President of the United States is too big and broad a man to feel chagrined because of the fact that Homer Garfield's report exonerated the packers from certain imputed delinquencies and it cannot be thought that he harbors revenge because Judge Humphrey's decision was a measure of defeat for the Government. Nor can it be presumed that, because he failed on these two former occasions, that the President, anxious to make a record or win out, chose the present method of doing so."

Mr. Hagenbarth urges that all existing abuses could be corrected under the laws now in force and declares that the Neill-Reynolds report concerns principally particular occurrences and not general conditions. He says the Smithfield market, says that almost all the stock growers have suffered for three years because of the beef trust agitation, and concludes:

"To sum up the entire subject in a few words, the President, over the heads of the packers, has hit a hard blow at the live stock industry."

DISEASED FROZEN HOGS

A Large Quantity from America Headed Off by Liverpool Inspectors.

London, June 7.—The Chronicle says that Mr. John Burns, as president of the local government board, has been closely watching developments in the canned meat matter. As soon as the aspect became serious he summoned a meeting of the medical health officers of the London County Council, the city corporation and 28 metropolitan boroughs, and consulted with them as to whether anything further could be done to secure an adequate inspection of canned goods. He also instructed Chief Medical Officer Buchanan to prepare a report.

This has been done, and the report will be available to the members when Parliament meets next week after the Whitsuntide holiday.

It is stated that steps are being taken to get the foreign office to take diplomatic action in the matter. Mr. Terratt, chief meat inspector at the Smithfield market, says that numbers of frozen hogs arrive from the United States in a shockingly diseased condition, yet bearing the Government inspection seal. He does not believe that any competent inspector would be foolish enough to pass hogs in such condition. The wonder is how the seals get attached to them.

Mr. Terratt adds that it is impossible for the inspectors here to discover while the hogs are frozen whether or not they are healthy. Buyers are warned that they purchase at their own risk. If, when the hogs are thawed they are found to be diseased they are immediately seized.

HID HER FACE 27 YEARS

Jilted in Youth, Lived a Recluse—Is Dead.

Winfield, Kan., June 7.—Friends of Miss Della Gero have reported to the authorities here that she has just died at her home at Axtell. Her death has served to bring forth the mystery in her life. Although nearly 50 years old, no one has seen her face for the last 27 years. She was jilted in her youth by a young man who was going with her, and since then she has refused to see any of her old friends and acquaintances. She locked herself in a room and remained there all the time. At one time Miss Gero was a resident of Winfield, and was a reigning social belle.

WANT JEROME TO QUIT

An Effort to Get Rid of New York's Strenuous Prosecutor.

New York, N. Y., June 7.—Removal of Wm. Travers Jerome from the office of District Attorney of New York County is demanded of Governor Higgins in a complaint which has been filed at the executive chamber by Wm. M. Amory, of New York. Frank E. Perley, secretary to the governor, advised tonight that such a complaint had been filed, but he would say nothing as to the nature of the charges made against Jerome.

While nothing definite can be learned here as to the nature of the charges made by Mr. Amory it is assumed that the complaint is the one which was threatened by him before a legislative committee last winter and is based upon the charges he then made against Mr. Jerome of negligence in failing to prosecute persons implicated by Mr. Amory in his allegations against certain metropolitan traction interests.

Governor Higgins is at Olean and expects to make a western business trip before his return to Albany. He may not be here before June 15, and probably will not see the Amory charges before that time.

A NOBLE OTTAWA GONE.

Ottawa, June 7.—John M. Garland, head of the wholesale drygoods firm of J. Garland, Son & Co., died this morning. He was one of Ottawa's foremost businessmen and greatly interested in charitable work, being practically the founder of the Perley Home for Incurables.

ONE OF THE BEST THEY EVER HELD

Annual Gathering of the Lobo Sunday School Association—Helpful Suggestions.

The fifteenth annual convention of Lobo Township Sunday School Association was held in the Presbyterian Church, Nairn, on June 1. It proved to be one of the best ever held by the association. Much of its success was owing to the earnest and untiring preparations accomplished by the able and efficient president and secretary, Mr. Douglas A. Campbell and Mrs. Ella Zavitz. The association is not only extending its territory, having met this year at Nairn, in East Williams, but also receiving the center line school between East and West Williams; it is also extending its lines of work, thereby perfecting its efficiency.

Mr. John Alder took the convention as a class to illustrate the "Supplemental Bible Question Course." About half the schools are pursuing this work and it was earnestly urged that the remainder take it up.

TEACHER TRAINING.

Mr. F. B. Holtby, Lucan, enthusiastically urged the association to take up the teacher training department. He considers it the great need of the Sunday school at the present time. While all other professions, even down to baseball playing, demand that those who undertake the work be specially trained to that particular profession, yet for the teaching of the youth righteousness—the highest and most important of all the professions—no such training is required or expected.

It was placed in the hands of the two visitors of schools—Mrs. Stewart, of Nairn, and Mr. John Alder, of Melrose—to introduce "Teacher Training" through the township during the coming year.

The visitor of schools, Mr. D. A. Stewart, gave a very encouraging report of the various Sunday schools in the association, showing the evidences of interest and progress in the important work. Edgar M. Zavitz gave an interesting digest of the provincial convention, held in London last autumn. He spoke of the great benefit he derived from attending the convention, and regretted that more did not avail themselves of the golden opportunity. He received there much inspiration, especially from an awakening to the fact that environment had more to do with the child's destiny than had heredity; that the misery and depravity and crime could be swept out of our land by means of the Sunday school. There is surely inspiration enough in that fact to make us redouble our earnestness and our efforts in the glorious work of bringing the children, and with them the nation, to Christ.

Excellent music was provided by the local choir, enlivening each session. The usual sandwich and cake display appeared at the interval between the two sessions, and the disappearance of the edibles was as it always does, an interesting as well as a necessary adjunct of the convention.

Rev. E. P. Stewart conducted the devotional exercises at the first session, and Rev. Mr. Rennie at the evening session.

RELATION OF CHILDREN TO THE STATE.

The first speaker of the evening was Rev. Mr. Spill, his subject being "Relation of the Children to the State." His treatment was very able and greatly enjoyed. It was full of illustrations, which were very apt. "Everything," he said, "depends upon relation. The sun and planets and world systems in the sky; the heavenly bodies would run into chaos and ruin, if it were not for the relation which they bear to each other to hold them in place and order. The parts of a flower, when held in relation to each other, make the beautiful object; but when their relation to each other is severed, the flower is destroyed. So everything depends upon relation. And the future of the state depends upon the relation of the children to it. And that relation is largely in your hands, you who are the teachers and the trainers of the children of today. You are not only engaged in the work of saving the children, you are empire-builders as well. But I have faith in you. I believe the Sunday school is doing the right kind of work. Therefore I have bright hopes for the future welfare of the nation."

"DUTY OF THE HOME."

Rev. Mr. Moore spoke on "The Duty of the Home to the Sabbath School." He said that the home was the basis of all other institutions; that the Sunday school should not be a substitute, but an aid to the home training. Parents should attend the Sunday school with their children. They are responsible for their example in this respect. Jesus revolutionized the world when he taught the importance of children.

IMPORTANCE OF TEACHER TRAINING.

Rev. Mr. Knox discussed on "Teacher Training." He emphasized its vast importance. As people must be trained for every other vocation, why not for the most important vocation, in view of the nation's highest welfare. It is an indisputable fact that more depends upon early training than upon hereditary tendencies. Out of the vilest slums of Glasgow there were taken 500 of the wretched offspring of the most depraved class that could be found anywhere, and out of these only 23 went back. Hereditarily largely determines a person's physical character. That depends upon the influences we place around the child from its early babyhood. The right of environment should be found in the home, but unfortunately it is not always found there, and when it is not, the state is in danger. Therefore the Sunday school is a necessity, and a trained Sunday school teacher is the ideal Sunday school worker. The right of intellectual training, there must be the moral development and the spiritual insight, for the man is useless without character. He must walk close to God. The teacher should be a trained professional worker in teaching. He should know the Bible and know how to teach it; how to meet the needs of the child's developing mind, with the ultimate aim ever in view of making the heart of the child right with God.

IF WOMEN ONLY KNEW

Thousands of women suffer untold misery every day with aching backs that really have no business to ache. A woman's back wasn't made to ache. Under ordinary conditions it ought to be strong and ready to help her bear the burdens of life.

It is hard to do housework with an aching back. Hours of misery at leisure or at work. If women only knew the cause, Backache comes from sick kidneys, and what a lot of trouble sick kidneys cause in the world.

But they can't help it. If more work is put on them than they can stand it's not to be wondered that they get out of order. Backache is simply their cry for help.

DOAN'S KIDNEY PILLS

will help you. They're helping sick, overworked kidneys—all over the world—making them strong, healthy and vigorous. Mrs. F. Ryan, Dorcas, Ont., writes: "For over five months I was troubled with lame back and was unable to move without help. I tried all kinds of plasters and liniments but they were no use. At last I heard tell of Doan's Kidney Pills and after I had used three-quarters of the box my back was as strong and well as ever."

Price 50 cents per box or three boxes for $1.25, all dealers or The Doan Kidney Pill Co., Toronto, Ont.

SNAP-SHOTS AT VARIOUS SPORTS

Sultry was a hot tip at Hamilton the other day. Sultry cooled some before the finish.

If Joe Wright strokes his crew to victory at Henley, he will not give three hoots where the Toronto ball team finishes.

The Hamilton Herald opines that it is hard picking the winners these days. This sad experience comes to all of us, sooner or later in life. The H. H. must be getting it good and plenty. They must be playing the "One Best Bet" of the Toronto News.

Ballott won yesterday at 2 to 1, and it is now up to the Mail and Empire to suggest that Ballott was a 1,000 to 1 shot when George W. Ross was judge of the course.

Harry Stinson at Cleveland the other day, worked Alexander (2:06½) the best mile he has gone this year, stepping him the circuit in 2:16, the last quarter being made in just 31 seconds. Fond Heart is showing up very well this season and Stinson has great hopes of doing things with her. She is a good behaved thing and always works well. She stepped a mile in 2:16½ yesterday morning. A bay colt by Bingen performed in a very gratifying manner also, stepping a half in 1:16½.

The Toronto Star thinks that the distance from where the Torontos are to the surface in the Eastern League race is not far. Great! It would not be, if Barrow's beef-eaters were going in the right direction, but at this p.m. it is about 1,000 miles, with the going tough.

A teacher whose spelling's unique
Thus wrote down the "days of the week,"
The first he spent, "Sunday,"
The second day, "Monday,"
And now a new teacher they elude.
—Topeka State Journal.

Those Boston Nationals are the jealous things. Just because the Americans lost eighteen straight games in a row and established a record, Tenney's bunch have just duplicated the performance, and will possibly add a few more to make the record safe.

The Yankees and Giants may play baseball in England. And how do you think Barrow's Boarders would line up with the village choirboys of Stow-in-the-Wold?—Telegraph.

One man rode a horse 8,700 miles, and on his last mile, he could beat Mortlake to death, 'tis said.

In the M. and M. the best known horses and what they have done figure as follows: Czarina Dawson was second to Mainstreet last fall at Lexington in 2:08 1-2, and showed herself a 2:09 trotter that day. She is good-headed and will be well driven. Oran is under the management of Dr. J. C. McCoy, of Kirkwood, Del., one of the shrewdest men in the game, and he will be a factor. It is said he never has worked better than 2:10, but is certain to be a 2:08 horse on race day. Alice A. is the first of the get of her sire to start in an important race. She is a 5-year-old, and worked fast enough over an Ohio breeding farm track last summer to cause her owners, a pair of seasoned veterans at the racing game, to stake her down the line, which means they believe her capable of beating 2:10. Anita worked in 2:09 before she was sold last fall, and Ben Axworthy has a public trial of 2:10 1-2 charged up to him. Lady Babbie was entered in this race two years ago, but went wrong, and has been in the repair shop since. She is owned by E. E. Smathers and driven by Alta McDonald. If she gets to the races it will take better than a 2:10 horse to beat her.

Capt. Bacon has been touted as a wonder for the last year, and as the Bingen has a lot of speed he may do something, although it is not likely he will win. East View Maiden is regarded as one of the real good things in the race. She has been wintered in California, and before leaving there for the Empire City track, where she now is quartered, worked a mile in about 2:14, but it tabbed as having stepped a half in 1:02, and it also is said she was trotting at the finish. Madge Wildfire, if well driven, certainly has a chance. George Saunders worked her in 2:08 1-2 at Lexington last October, but she no longer is in his stable, being owned in Pittsburg. Nickel Grattan could race around 2:20 over poor half-mile tracks last fall, and one day stepped a quarter in :31 1-2 so handily he was put away for this year. His sire has a record of 2:13, his dam one of 2:17 1-4, and his granddam one of 2:17. When to this it is added his grand sire's mark is 2:24 1-2, and that of his great grand sire, George Wilkes, 2:22, it will be seen Nickel Grattan has the blood lines that make trotters. Delight is a beautiful mare that could shade 2:10 last fall. Blakemore was a fair 3-year-old two or three seasons ago. Geers is in the unknown list with Fashoda, but it is safe to say the horse would not have been named unless he had shown the Tennesseean enough speed to give him a chance for the money.—Chicago Tribune.

Carl Chester's latest "Diamond Glints" are as follows:
Ball players slide over plates.
A line hit—the week's washing.
Baseball flies never fall in the soup.
Umpires clean the platters with brooms.
Baseball players never wear the muffs they make.
"A haw! game," muttered Mrs. Simpson when the twins began to cry.
Baseball teams, like trotters, must travel fast to gain results.
"What's the score?" asked Brown when a bill was presented.
Baseball players do not consider it brutal to knock out the sphere.
"Safe," whispered the umpire when he crawled into bed at 3 a.m., without awakening his wife.
Smith—Guess I'll take in the ball game today.
Mrs. Smith—All right, John, but after it is over avoid errors, cut out the high balls and dash for home.

A scholarly maiden of sense.
Saw the sphere batted over the fence,
With elation she shouted,
Our rivals are routed,
Oh, wasn't that base act immense."

New York American: Three years is about the limit for a player in one town. This has been proved with Baltimore, Brooklyn, Pittsburg and Chicago, as well as with Boston Americans. It isn't hard to figure out the same for McGraw's team. When one knows how astute John J. McGraw is, one wonders that he hasn't made changes before this.

The much touted colt, Codoro, b. King, 2:06½, out of Jolly Bird, 2:15½, by Jay Bird, is now in Lon McDaniel's stable, he having bought him at the recent Boston sale for $5,000, acting for Ralph B. Williams, owner of Glenwood M.; 2:07½, and other 1½ horses in McDonald's stable. Codoro is a 3-year-old and is eligible to the Kentucky Futurity and other big futurity purses to be decided next fall. On the day of the sale the son of Bingen trotted a quarter in 31½ seconds. Several horsemen wanted the youngster, but Mr. Williams, acting on McDonald's advice, was willing to pay the most for him. He is said to be a good looking colt, and Mr. McDonald thinks he has in him one that stands a good chance of winning a big futurity or two as any other colt in training.

THE OAR.
ARGOS COMPLETE TRAINING.
Toronto, June 7. — The Argonaut Henley crew has completed its training on this side of the water, and are right now fit for the race. The fog prevented any trial this morning. They were out this evening for the last time and will leave for Montreal at 9:15 tomorrow morning and sail on Saturday.

They are taking their new Aying oars with them, as well as two rowing machines, for work on board ship, so that their journey over will not throw them back in their training to any great extent, and the three weeks in England will give them plenty of time to perfect themselves in crew work. The Argonauts will have no excuse to offer if they fail to win the Grand Challenge. They have the biggest, strongest and heaviest crew that ever sat in a boat on any water. They have trained faithfully all winter at their rowing machines and indoor gymnastic work, and have attained a physical perfection that leaves nothing to be desired.

ATHLETICS.

Hamilton, June 7.—The dispatch from Chicago to the effect that Billy Sherring would compete in the Marathon race there in September, is made out of whole cloth. Sherring states most emphatically that he will not run at Chicago or elsewhere.

TOOK $10,000 EVENT
IN BURST OF SPEED

Go Between Took Westminster Handicap—Favorite Was in Third Place.

New York, June 7.—Closing with a great burst of speed in the final furlong Go Between, backed down from 12 to 1 to 9 to 1, won the $10,000 Westminster handicap at Gravesend today. Eugenia Burch, an added starter, and quoted at 15 to 1 for the place, and was leading by a length, passing the stand the first time, followed by Von Tromp and Cairngorm. This order was maintained to the mile pole.

Quarter of the far turn, Crimmins sent Eugenia Burch up. The mare thing doing in the curtain raiser. The game should be good, too. The line-up:
First game, 2:30 p.m.—
Somervilles—Loney or Myers, catcher; Fitzmaurice or Clark, pitcher; Penwarden, 1st base; Patrick, 2nd base; Maxwell, 3rd base; Donohue, shortstop; Dunn, left field; Matland, center field; Wagner, right field.
Tigers—Duncan, catcher; Lewis or Collins, pitcher; Carothers, 1st base; Angles, 2nd base; Gains, 3rd base; Gowers, shortstop; Palmer, left field; Mason, center field; Bassett, right field.
Second game, 4 p.m.—

Ramblers—Gillett, catcher; Heathfield, pitcher; Walters, 1st base; Beggs, 2nd base; W. Penwarden, 3rd base; Flynn, shortstop; Quick, left field; Morley, center field; Westcott, right field.

A killing was made with Oraculum, owned by former Jockey George Odom, in the seventh race. He opened at 25 to 1, and a steady stream of money gradually forced his price down to 7 to 1 at the close. L. Williams, who had the mount on Oraculum, rushed the Odom colt to the lead, and, making all the pace, won easily by three lengths. Lady Amelia, Court Dress and Ballott were the winning favorites.

A FATAL KICK.
Buffalo, June 7.—Dr. Moody, a 3-year-old, was kicked in the side while in the race at the post today in the fifth race. After trailing the field for five furlongs Dr. Moody dropped dead.

THE RING.

PUGS HELD FOR TRIAL.
New York, June 7.—Terry McGovern and Jimmy Britt, the pugilists; Harry Pollock, manager of the Twentieth Century Athletic Club, and Tim Hurst, who refereed the bout between McGovern and Britt before that club about two weeks ago, today were held for trial in the court of special sessions by Magistrate Breen. They are charged with violating that section of the penal code relating to prize-fighting. Bail was fixed at $500 in each case. Twelve other persons, including fighters, waiters and ticket sellers, also were held for trial on a similar charge.

BIG ENTRY LIST FOR JUNE REGATTA

A meeting of the committee of the London Rowing Club having in charge the regatta to be held at the end of the month, met last evening and arranged many details of the programme. The committee is very optimistic over the regatta, and are confident of most successful races.
The entry list will be much larger than ever, as there are many young oarsmen getting in shape on the river. New oars have been received, the boats made ready, and everything is in first-class shape for the event.

PLAYING FOR DAVIS
TROPHY COMMENCED

Newport, Eng., June 7.—The international tennis tournament for the possession of the Dwight F. Davis international challenge cup commenced this afternoon, the United States being pitted against Australia for the honor of challenging the British holders. The inability of Beals C. Today's singles are between Holcombe Ward, United States, and Los Poedevin, Australia.

In the all-England mixed doubles tennis championship preliminary round today, D. R. Rhodes and May Sutton beat Mr. Fry and Miss Longhurst, 6-2, 6-2.

AMATEURS OPENLY
VIOLATE THE RULES

Montreal, June 7. — "In lacrosse matches which have been taking place recently amateurs have openly violated the rules of the C. A. A. U. by playing against professional teams, and also 'professionals' said Captain Gorman, president of the C. A. A. U., today, when asked whether he had taken any steps against them. He also said that it would be really unnecessary to make these men professionals, as they were already professionals.
"Of course," he added, "something would have to be done, but it would be time enough when they were all professionals."

PRETTY WEDDING AT WRIGHT HOME

Mr. Wm. P. MacDougal and Miss Nellie Wright United
by Rev. Canon Dann.

The Wright homestead at 536 Wellington street was the scene yesterday afternoon of a very interesting event, when Miss Nellie Wright, daughter of the late James Wright, was united in marriage to Mr. William Percival MacDougal, of Toronto. The ceremony was performed in the drawing-room under an arch of foliage and white flowers. Rev. Canon Dann officiated.

At 5:30, as the strains of the Lohengrin wedding music were heard, played by the Italian Orchestra, the bride entered, leaning on the arm of her brother, Mr. Wm. Wright, and preceded by four ribbon-bearers—the Misses Reggie Mulken, Pearl and Bella Bland, and Ella Smith, of Toronto. The bride looked lovely in an exquisite lace gown mounted on chiffon satin, with elbow sleeves and high collar of white satin. Her veil was caught up with lilies of the valley, and she carried a shower bouquet of Bride Roses and lily of the valley.

Miss Sadie Wright, sister of the bride, was maid of honor, and was gowned in white Dresden silk, with pink silk, and carried pink sweet peas. The groom was supported by Mr. William Partridge, of Toronto.

The groom's mother, Mrs. MacDougal, of Montreal, was handsomely gowned in black silk crepe de chine over black silk.

Miss Wright wore a white lace robe over white chiffon satin, and carried white roses.

A recherche dejeuner was served in the dining-room, which was backed with honeysuckle branches and marigolds, the small tables being adorned in forget-me-nots. The bride's table, arranged in white and green, was under a canopy of white, trimmed with smilax. Mr. and Mrs. MacDougal left by the 7:50 G. T. R. express for Detroit and points west. They will reside in Toronto. The bride wore away a modish suit costume of navy blue broadcloth with vest of cream, and white chip hat trimmed with navy blue wings.

Guests were present from Montreal, Galt and Toronto. The groom's gift to the bride was a handsome pearl necklace, to the bridesmaid a bar of pearls, and to the groomsmen a handsome pearl pin.

MILNE-MCNEIL.

The marriage took place on Wednesday at Syracuse, N. Y., of Mr. John H. Milne, formerly of this city, and son of Mr. John Milne, manager of the Northern Life Assurance Company, to Miss Ethel, daughter of Mr. James McNeil, of Syracuse. Mr. Milne is the eastern representative of a large Detroit house and has his headquarters in Buffalo, N. Y.

TELFORD-WHITEHEAD.

A very pretty wedding took place in the First Presbyterian Church on Wednesday, when Miss Etta Telford-Whitehead was married to Mr. John McLaughlin, of Toronto. The ceremony was performed by Rev. W. J. Clark. The bride was supported by Miss E. Langford, and Mr. John G. Patterson assisted the groom. After luncheon, the young couple left on a honeymoon trip, and upon their return they reside on King street. Both have many friends in London who will extend congratulations.

WILL IT END IN A RACE?

Heads of Departments Talk About the Merits of Their Nags.

Chief of Police Williams and Fire Chief Clark are divided as to the speed merits of the horses in their respective departments.

"I have a horse on the patrol wagon which can beat anything in the fire department for a mile," Chief Williams said today.

"Against my black?" inquired Chief Clark, somewhat astonished.

"Yes, against the black," Chief Williams answered.

"If you ever bet the patrol wagon on him I'll be using it for a supply wagon," said the fire chief.

The difference of opinion has not as yet been removed, and the fire chief is anxious that Chief Williams shall come for a ride with him some day to a fire until he shows him how fast a horse can really run.

—Jacob Greenbaum, the Hebrew who is under arrest here awaiting trial on a charge of stealing silk from R. C. Struthers & Co., had a visit today from his brother, who is a resident of Tonawanda, N. Y., and his son, Philadelphia. Hearing of his arrest they came to this city to wait the result of his trial, and if necessary to be of financial assistance to him.

GOREMYKIN FAILS, WILL STEP OUT

Under article forty of the regulations Parliament is only empowered to "exact explanations upon matters submitted directly for its examination."

After reading this communication, President Mounseiff announced that he had officially written a letter to the Premier, insisting upon a reply, on the ground that the publications directly affected the dignity of the House as a body, and upon a motion of M. Perunkewitch, the president's action was unanimously approved.

M. Siplaguine, of Sevastopol, a nephew of the late minister of the Interior of that name, offered a way out of the imbroglio by proposing a resolution instructing President Mounseiff to go to Peterhof in the name of the House and request the Emperor to suspend all death sentences.

SUMMER LULL NOW FELT AT CITY HALL

Period of Adjournment Is at Hand—The Aldermanic Tile Hats.

The hot weather has brought with it the usual lull in civic business. Around the city hall the officials are working assiduously under the orders received when the weather was cooler, and when the aldermen were in the order-giving mood.

Major Hayes is getting in the money—collecting the taxes, so that the city may be able to meet its obligations, while Assessment Commissioner Grant is out with his staff sowing the seeds for another crop—a crop which he has reason to believe will prove far ahead of the yield of last year.

The question of the extension of the lease of the London and Port Stanley Railway to the Pere Marquette appears shelved.

The company could not see its way clear to do anything better for the city on the unexpired term of the present lease, and the city naturally refused to consider General Manager Cotte's offer.

The feeling around the city hall, is, however, decidedly friendly to the P. M., and if the Port Stanley service promised by General Passenger Agent Moeller and Traveling Passenger Agent Kearns, is carried out, the company will make still more friends for itself.

In some quarters it has been insinuated that the city paid for the tile hats worn by the aldermen and officials on the occasion of the reception to the Governor-General.

This is a paltry injustice to the city fathers and servants. They paid for their own hats, though the city bought the gloves. However, the citizens are not inclined to be too severe or on the men they elect to represent them and on the men who serve them, and but few can be found who are ready to object to the gloves item.

When it is all said and done, it must be admitted that the men who compose the council put in a great deal of the business, and they get but little thanks for it.

Night after night they sit in the stuffy committee-room of the city hall and worry over matters in which they are not personally interested. They make quite a few enemies, and with very few warm friends, and at election time they have to show cause for everything done during the year.

About this time, they solemnly affirm that they will never again run for office, but like old fire horses, they hear the sound of the alarm, they prick up their ears, at election times, and get in the game again.

They should not be credited with wearing hats paid for by the city when they paid for them out of their own pockets.

APPOINTMENT OF NEW TREASURER FURTHER DEFERRED BY COMMITTEE

Body Was Not Representative Enough, and It Was Enlarged.

The General Assembly of the Presbyterian Church transacted a large amount of business at this morning's session. The overtures committee drafted the order of business for the assembly, and the business committee arranged the following list of matters to be decided today: The appointment of a new treasurer, and the matter of the treasurer's salary, also that a committee be appointed to frame a minute to the late R. H. Warden. The following committee was named by the moderator, Mr. Lyle Cundy and Prof. Baird, ministers; George Keith and R. McQueen, elders. The applications of students were referred to a committee, as also were the applications of ministers.

Rev. Dr. Armstrong brought in the report of the committee appointed to look into the matter of appointing a successor to the late treasurer, Dr. R. H. Warden. The committee met, but came to no conclusion as to a successor, and the matter was postponed, but it was decided that the committee was not large or representative enough. He wanted eight more names—five ministers and three elders, and recommended the following: D. D. McLeod, Faskin, Hay, Radcliffe and Wilson (Vancouver), ministers; Paul Harding and F. W. Merchant, elders.

The College Report.

The matter of college reports was then taken up.

Prof. Patrick gave a report of the college at Winnipeg. The college had a most successful year. The task of raising $50,000 to commemorate the late Principal King had been undertaken, and was highly successful, some $22,535 being now to the credit of the college from this fund. While the east had not been unkind of them, he was contributing to this fund, and largely contributed to this fund, Principal Patrick was much pleased with the success of the theological staff. Five men had taken B. D. degrees, a splendid showing for so new a country.

Principal Patrick also spoke of the death of candidates for the ministry. Of the graduating class of Manitoba University, not one had set himself apart for the ministry. The west was men to the ministry. There was no skepticism in the west, and the absence of candidates for the ministry was not due to this, and he was glad of it. It was not due to lack of religious life, the west compares favorably with few exceptions, with any country. The worldly spirit prevailed in the west. There were three reasons for the dearth of candidates, the

CRIMINAL CASES FOR THE SESSIONS

Half a Dozen at Least To Be Heard by Judge Macbeth
Next Week.

Six or seven criminal cases are to be tried by Judge Macbeth at the June sessions, which open next Tuesday. Nearly all of the cases are of theft, although none are of a very serious nature.

Thomas W. Jones is accused of breaking into the Barber Asphalt Company's premises and stealing several tools, etc. He is alleged to have been an accomplice of Alfred Quid, now under conviction for the same offense.

Garnet Westford will be tried on the charge of stealing a couple of watches from John Corsey.

Johnston Peters and John Alexander (Indians) will be tried for breaking into the store of Wm. C. Richardson, of Middlemiss, and stealing a quantity of clothing.

Edward McGarvey, of Strathroy, will have six charges to answer to. He is said to have stolen buggy cushions, rigs, etc., from several farmers about Strathroy.

It is probable that the case against Alfred Denly, Joseph Denly and Thos. Westcott, for assault, occasioned by harm to Wm. White, which was transferred from last June's session, will be tried at this court.

The following cases have been added to the list of civil suits to be tried at the June sessions.

Reid vs. Shuttleworth—An action brought by Elizabeth Reid, a forewoman, who came to the city from Toronto in October at the solicitation of John R. Shuttleworth, to work for the season. She was discharged without cause or reason, it is alleged, and claims $200 damages and costs for loss of employment, etc. J. M. McEvoy for plaintiff, and McKillop & Murphy for defendants.

Ruffe vs. London Rolling Mills Company—An action in which John Ruffe, a laborer, asks $200 damages for injuries received, while employed by defendant company. Macpherson & Perrin for plaintiff, and Duvernet for defendant.

Wilkin vs. Harris—An action brought by Joseph Wilkin, a liverykeeper, against James H. Harris, for $200 damages for false arrest in connection with a horse-trade between the parties, the defendant having the plaintiff arrested for obtaining goods under false pretenses. Macpherson & Perrin for plaintiff, E. Meredith for defendant.

Crowe vs. the Turner Lumber Company—An action brought by Braithwaite Crowe for $140 for wages, etc., alleged to be due him from defendant company. Meredith, Judd & Meredith for plaintiff.

The non-jury case entered is McMeekin vs. the Soap Company, an action brought by J. H. McMeekin, of this city, for $300 for machinery for the manufacture of soap, said machinery having been delivered to the company, but not paid for. J. M. McEvoy for plaintiff, McConnell & McMaster for defendants.

Ministers Should Be Evangelists.

"We ministers should be our own evangelists. With a good ministry, evangelists are not necessary. Be your own evangelist, and your people will never forget you. A living ministry will never become obsolete."

"I don't envy millionaires, but I do envy a man like our moderator, Dr. Falcor, who gave two such sons to the ministry as he did, and whose work has been such a splendid success. That is worth something."

Dr. Milligan made a strong plea for young men for the ministry.

Dr. Armstrong seconded the motion and referred to the splendid mission activity displayed by Manitoba College.

Dr. Duval advocated that the full course of five years be undertaken by every student, although in cases of exigencies, the course might be shortened. The course might be shortened for students who have taken a Biblical course. He examined all such, and some were short of the vital education.

"It takes more education to make a man than it does to make a minister, and I find that lack just here," he said.

Professor Gregg, of Toronto, a nono-generarian, the oldest man in the assembly, and who has been nearly 60 years in the ministry, made a speech in which he asserted that the cause of so few young men going into the ministry was the fact that the student body was made up of the ministers themselves. They did not leave the truth.

Rev. Dr. Armstrong presented the report of the Ottawa Ladies' College. During the year there were 44 students in residence and 81 day pupils, of 145. The work done was highly satisfactory, and the outlook promising. The finances also were satisfactory.

WHERE DOES IT COME FROM?

Several parents of the west end of the city have been complaining that their children are continually bringing home ammunition, in the form of shotgun and rifle cartridges. The children play with them and are liable to be injured in any way they should happen to explode. It is alleged that these cartridges come from the dump at the end of Carling street, and it is thought that they are thrown out there as being useless by the wholesale ammunition houses. The question as to whether such dangerous rubbish should be allowed to be thrown on a public dump is causing considerable discussion.

LIVE STOCK MARKETS.

TORONTO.

Toronto, June 7.—The run at the city cattle market today was 105 loads, with 1,565 head of cattle, 728 sheep and lambs, 1,150 hogs and 280 calves.
It was a good run at the city cattle market today, with over 100 cars, and over 1,500 head of cattle. The demand for butchers' cattle this week is unusually brisk, and the market today was quiet from the point of view of the butcher. The demand for butchers' cattle, in fact, was a little harder to get hold of than earlier in the week. There was, however, a considerable amount of trading done outside of the market during the very early hour opening of the market. The result was that the later arrivals found a market for their cattle. The demand for butchers' cattle, however, had been secured by the scalpers, who buy on the chance of a rise in the market. During the day, although prices were slightly enhanced in some cases by the operations of the market, just now is due to the fact that there is a demand for butchers' cattle for both east and north of Toronto, besides a steady demand for the Montreal market. Buyers from many points were today, arriving after the bulk of the cattle had changed hands, found that they had to pay a premium for the cattle. The demand for export cattle is steady, and there are some good loads offering, the top prices being around $5.10 to $5.20. The sheep market is steady at the recent decline.

The hog market was steady and unchanged from the last sale, but the prospects are said to be for a lower market. Stockers and feeders' market was steady and good for good quality.
