BULGARIA AND SERVA NEXT TO TAKE FIELD

Powers Effort to Avert General Balkan War Appears Hopeless—Montenegrins Reported to Have Received a Crushing Defeat.

Rapid Concentration.
London, Oct. 9.—News from Sofia, Bulgaria, says that the rapidity of the concentration of the army has exceeded all expectations, and developments will now be very rapid. Everything in connection with the mobilization has worked with the utmost smoothness, and there has been a remarkable absence of confusion at the war office.
The stock exchange in London was somewhat more affected today by the Balkan situation, owing to the weakness of continental markets and principally of Paris, from which market selling orders were rather liberal. The leading gold mining shares and Peruvian securities were depressed, while Rio Tinto declined 3/4 of a point. From Berlin, Canadian Pacific was offered at $3 below parity. American stocks fell from 3/4 to 1 point, principally on continental sales. Domestic securities were unable to stand the depression, and other sections dropped in sympathy. Consols are 3-16 lower. Bulgarian Government stock fell from 1 to 3 points, and Turkish Government stocks 2 points.

[Canadian Press.]
London, Oct. 9.—If Serbia and Bulgaria have not already declared war on Turkey, as reported from Paris, it is believed everywhere that they are on the point of joining their mobilized armies to that of Montenegro, whose troops are said to be generally engaged with the Turks along the frontier.
Should the two Balkan nations decide to appeal to arms about half a million soldiers of the Balkan states, who have been concentrating for the past week, will be ready to oppose the Turkish army. The numbers of the Ottoman troops in European Turkey have been variously estimated and are understood to total several hundreds of thousands.

Little Hope of Peace.
Europe was prepared for an appeal to arms by Serbia and Bulgaria by the replies of their governments that the reforms promised by the powers in Macedonia were vague, and that no guarantee was given that they would be carried out. It is generally recognized that the intervention of the European ambassadors at the Porte cannot now have any effect.
Greece seems, for the present, to be holding back, she made today her last protest to the powers against the seizure by the Ottoman Government of Greek vessels in Turkish waters.

Montenegrin Defeat.
News from the scene of action is very meagre. A dispatch from Constantinople is authority for a statement that a Montenegrin detachment which had crossed the frontier has been annihilated. (Continued on Page Eleven.)

VACHT LOST IN THE GULF SIX YOUNG MEN PERISH

Government Steamer Returns to Rimouski After Vain Search For the Bernadette, Which Has Been Missing Since Saturday.

[Canadian Press.]
Rimouski, Oct. 9.—The relatives of the six young men, Harold Blair, Emil Tessa, A. X. Proulx, A. Ringuet, R. Brekingsole, J. Bonner and George McKinnon, who were on the Bernadette, the yacht which has been missing since Sunday night, and which is supposed to have foundered in the gulf during a storm, practically gave up hope of their being safe when the Lady Evelyn, the postoffice steamer, which had been searching for the boat, this morning reported that no sign of the craft had been found.
The scene on the quay when reports by wireless from the Lady Evelyn were received was a sad one, the mothers and fathers of the boys and a large number of townsfolk waiting for hours for word from the steamer. The Lady Evelyn will make another search this afternoon.
The Bernadette set out on Saturday to race the Oenone to the north shore and back. The Oenone returned on Monday morning.

HIGH HONOR AT HARVARD FOR THIS YOUNG LONDONER

Dr. Reginald A. Daly Receives Appointment as Head of Geological Department of Great University—Highest Honor in Institution's Gift.

Another young Londoner, Dr. Reginald A. Daly, has been chosen for a signal honor in the United States. Dr. Daly, who resided here for many years, has just received the appointment of head of the geological department for Harvard University, and will fill the Cooper Sturgis chair, succeeding Professor Davis. The position is the highest obtainable in geology on the American continent, and is a life appointment. It is one of the most sought-after posts among university men, not alone for the honor of holding it, but as well for the important work that the holder is engaged in.
Dr. Daly attended school here for some time. In 1891 he graduated from Victoria University after an exceptionally brilliant course, and won the Prince of Wales scholarship.
Mr. Fred Daly, of this city, is a brother.

SECOND GAME OF THE WORLD'S SERIES ENDS SIX TO SIX IN THE ELEVENTH

Red Sox and Giants Tie in Sensational Overtime Battle—Game Being Called on Account of Darkness.

[Canadian Press.]
Boston, Oct. 9.—Mathewson and Meyers were the batteries for New York, and Collins and Carrigan for Boston.
Umpire O'Loughlin took his position behind the plate. Umpire Rigler gave decisions on bases, while Umpire Klem went to left field, and Umpire Evans to right field. It was announced that a hit into left field stands would count as a two-base hit, while hits into other temporary stands would go as home runs.
The crowd gave its first cheer of the day when Catcher Cady and several of the Red Sox substitutes popped out from beneath the big concrete stand and began batting balls around in lively fashion. Manager Stahl complained of feeling ill this morning, but said he would probably take his position at first base.
The sky became overcast an hour or so before the game, and it was a good day for speed pitching.
Ten minutes before game time the four umpires held a conference to decide on ground rules. While the conference was going on Mayor Fitzgerald drove on the field with an automobile, which he presented on behalf of the Boston fans to Manager Jake Stahl. A silver bat was presented to Captain Wagner, the Red Sox shortstop.
Mayor Fitzgerald threw out the ball to Collins.

THE GAME IN DETAIL.
FIRST INNING.
New York—The first ball was a strike. Snodgrass drove the second ball pitched into the bleachers for a two-base hit. Doyle struck out. Collins used three wide sweeping curves to turn the New York batter back. Becker went out. Yerkes to Stahl. Yerkes handled Becker's grounder cleverly. Snodgrass in third, time was called until the umpire could clear the field of photographers. The first ball on Murray was a strike and the crowd cheered. Collins threw out Murray at first. No runs, one hit, no errors.

SECOND INNING.
Boston—Hooper scratched an infield hit. Mathewson only being able to knock down the ball, which he could not recover in time. This started the Boston fans cheering. Hooper stole second. Meyers threw wide. Fletcher dropped Yerkes' line drive, and the batter was safe. It was a miserable error by the New York shortstop. Speaker beat out a bunt, and the bases were filled with none out. The crowd broke into a continuous cheering. Mathewson put the first ball to Lewis over as a strike. The second ball pitched was a strike. Hooper was forced out at the plate on Lewis' grounder to Herzog, who threw to Meyers. The play was Mathewson to Doyle to Merkle. The ball bounding off Mathewson's hand, thereby giving the pitcher an assist. Lewis and Speaker scored on an infield hit drive to left. Wagner went out on a high fly to Doyle. Three runs, three hits, one error.

THIRD INNING.
New York—Snodgrass fled out to Hooper. Collins used a fast-breaking curve over the corners of the plate. His drop ball was particularly effective. Doyle was out on a foul to Gardner. No runs, no hits, no errors.
Boston—Speaker led off and went out to Merkle, unassisted. Merkle knocked down Speaker's drive which was labelled for a two-base hit. Lewis sent up a high one to Murray and went back to the bench. Gardner went out, Doyle to Merkle. No runs, no hits, no errors.

FOURTH INNING.
New York—Murray got a three-base hit to right. Merkle was out on a high foul to Gardner. Murray scored on a sacrifice fly of Herzog to Speaker. Meyers singled to left. Wagner only being able to knock down the ball, Fletcher fled out to Hooper. One run, two hits, no errors.
Boston—Stahl struck out. Mathewson served him with drop balls. Wagner was out on a fly to Murray. Fletcher took Carrigan's grounder and threw him out at first. No runs, no hits, no errors.

FIFTH INNING.
New York—Mathewson was a strike out victim, and Carrigan dropping the third strike, threw the New York pitcher out at first. Snodgrass also fell a victim to Collins and fanned. Doyle fled out to Lewis. No runs, no hits, no errors.

One Hundred Londoners Book For Christmas In England

Unprecedented Rush For Steamer Accommodations By Businessmen an Indication of Prosperity—More Steamers Needed.

More than one hundred Londoners have booked passage to England for the Christmas season with Mr. F. B. Clarke, and other agencies are having many bookings.
"Within one month of Christmas there will not be a stateroom left on the Canadian boats," said Mr. Clarke. "We are having a business that is unprecedented in our history at the present time, and I think it will be the largest Christmas season on record. Most of those who are taking the trip are business people of London, and there is no better indication of the prosperity of this city than this increasing journeying to the old country. It's getting to be quite the thing to spend Christmas in England."
The need for more Canadian passenger ships is impressing itself upon the steamship agents of London every day. Not only do they have the local trade to look after, but a great many orders are booked here for other cities, many of them American points.

out to Doyle. No runs, no hits, no errors.

TENTH INNING.
New York—Merkle got a three-base hit, past Speaker. Wagner threw out Herzog at first. Meyers was purposely passed to first. McCormick batted for Fletcher, and Shaffer ran for Meyers. Merkle scored on McCormick's fly to Lewis. Shaffer took second on the throw to catch Merkle at the plate. Mathewson fled out to Yerkes. One run, one hit, no errors.
Boston—Fletcher fumbled Lewis' grounder, and the runner beat the throw to first. Gardner sacrificed. Mathewson to Merkle. Lewis taking second. Stahl sent up a high foul, which Merkle dropped. Stahl went out on a tap to Mathewson, who threw the runner out at first. Lewis on third. Wagner was out on a grounder to Mathewson, who touched the runner on the line. No run, no hits, one error.

SEVENTH INNING.
New York—Herzog singled to right. Meyers popped out to Yerkes. Herzog stole second. Carrigan's throw being low, Fletcher popped out to Stahl. Mathewson struck out. No runs, one hit, no errors.
Boston—Herzog took Carrigan's grounder and threw him out at first. Collins struck out. Hooper went out, Doyle to Merkle. No runs, no hits, no errors.

EIGHTH INNING.
New York—Lewis dropped Snodgrass' fly. Doyle singled to centre. Snodgrass taking second. Doyle was forced at second, when Yerkes took Becker's grounder and threw to Wagner. Snodgrass went to third on the play. Snodgrass scored on Murray's double into the bleachers. Becker taking third. Collins was sent from the box and was relieved by Hall. Collins popped to the bench. Becker on third and Murray on second and then Merkle went to bat with one man out. The New York fans kept up a continuous cheer. Hooper popped to the bench for a strike. Merkle sent up a high foul to Carrigan. Carrigan dropped F. B. C.'s fly after a hard run. It was not an error. Becker and Murray scored. Fletcher an error on the play. Stahl got an infield hit which Doyle could not handle. Gardner taking third on the play. Stahl stole Merkle's base. Fletcher caught Gardner at third but failing. Wagner struck out. One run, two hits, one error.

NINTH INNING.
New York—Fletcher out, Wagner to Stahl. Mathewson popped out to Stahl. Snodgrass took his base on balls. It was the first base on balls of the game. Snodgrass stole second. Carrigan's throw being low, Doyle was purposely passed to first. Becker also took his base on balls. Hall being unsteady. Becker was forced at second when Wagner took Murray's grounder and threw to Yerkes. No runs, no hits, no errors.
Boston—Carrigan was out. Mathewson to Merkle. The Red Sox went to bat in the last half of the ninth with the score a tie, and the crowd kept up a continuous cheering. Hall fouled out to Herzog. Hooper fled

THIRTY YEARS FOR DALBA
Attempted to Assassinate King Victor Emmanuel of Italy.
[Canadian Press.]
Rome, Oct. 9.—For attempting to assassinate King Victor Emmanuel on March 14 last, Antonio Dalba was today condemned to thirty years penal servitude by the assize court.

As the would-be regicide was not of full age the court was unable to sentence him to a longer term.

ENTHUSIASTIC CONFERENCE OF ONTARIO LIBERALS

Inspiring Addresses By Sir Wilfrid Laurier and Leader Rowell
—Officers Elected and Organization Work Reported to Annual Meeting of Reform Association.

Toronto, Oct. 9.—The eighth annual meeting of the General Reform Association of the Province was held yesterday. Intense enthusiasm greeted the presence of the two leaders, the veteran chief in the federal arena, fresh from his triumphant tour, and the new young captain of the provincial forces, with such an account of his first year's stewardship as enthused and cheered all his loyal followers.

The proceedings throughout breathed the spirit that is infecting the whole party. It is militant and confident. Organized work was perfected, provision made for the formation of Young Liberal Clubs throughout the whole province, and reports of a most gratifying character were submitted. There was a splendid attendance of the stalwarts, the men who have borne the heat and burden of the day, and a remarkable influx of young men, eager and strong, anxious to give freely of their best for the service of Liberalism.

Officers Selected.
The officers who will guide the association through the coming new year of its endeavor were elected as follows:

President—Hon. W. L. Mackenzie King, C. M. G., Ottawa.

Vice-Presidents—F. P. Pardo, M. P., Sarnia; C. M. Bowman, M. P., P. Southampten; A. J. Young, North Bay; Edmund Proulx, M. P., L'Orignal.

Treasurer—A. E. Dymott, Toronto.

General Secretary—F. G. Inwood, Toronto.

Auditor—J. F. MacKay, Toronto.

Executive Committee—Hon. George P. Graham, Brockville; Lieut.-Col. A. T. Thompson, Ottawa; Hugh Guthrie, M. P., Guelph; J. A. McMillan, M. P., Alexandria; H. M. Mowat, Toronto; Dr. B. G. Connolly, K.C., Renfrew; W. O. Sealey, Hamilton; F. D. Kerr, Peterborough; J. W. Curry, K.C., Toronto; C. A. Foster, Haliburton; John Lennox, Hamilton; J. E. Atkinson, Toronto; J. L. Regan, Blind River.

Inspiring Address.

"Liberalism's fire always shone brightest in the darkest hour," said Hon. Mackenzie King, the president, in the course of the inspiring annual address with which he opened the proceedings. "Rising manfully above defeat, our great leader, Sir Wilfrid Laurier, bade his followers close up the gaps in the lines and continue to follow his white plume; whilst, forgetful of self and prepared for such sacrifices as the cause might demand, Mr. Newton W. Rowell responded to the unanimous invitation and accepted the Provincial leadership. In Sir Wilfrid's chivalrous devotion and Mr. Rowell's moral earnestness the party has found examples worthy of its many splendid traditions. But it has gained more than this. The spirit of Liberalism has been reinvigorated, and today its influence is felt abroad throughout the length and breadth of the Dominion as it has not been for years." (Prolonged applause.)

Mr. King reviewed the work of the year, and noted the evidences of renewed strength and influence. Federally, it had recently culminated in the wonderful tour of Sir Wilfrid Laurier, and he noted the duty of the Liberal party to respect the views of those of its adherents who may be sensitive on the question of international relations, it is no less imperative that it should be true to what is a vital need of the Dominion, and continue to press its demand that wider markets be found for the ever-increasing agricultural wealth of the provinces. What was believed to be an efficacious remedy having been rejected, upon the present Administration must rest the responsible duty of providing a new or better remedy. Regarding the navy question, Mr. King said that Mr. Borden "must not be allowed, by temporizing measures or make-shift expedients to further postpone the declaration of a policy which may be considered in its entirety and in relation to the important enactment of the statute books of the Dominion."

Sir Wilfrid Laurier.

Sir Wilfrid Laurier was then introduced by Hon. Mackenzie King, who expressed the gratitude of the Ontario Reform Association to the Liberal leader for his kindness in accepting his triumphant tour of this Province by visiting their annual meeting.

Sir Wilfrid was greeted by a storm of cheers which he came forward, and was extremely delighted at the warmth of his reception. He proceeded: "I rejoice that it is my good fortune to be present with my good friends, the Ontario Reform Association, with such useful work as you are now doing. I rejoice that you are getting ready for the next test in the Dominion as well as in the Province."

"You do not expect that I should go today into the many questions which arise in Dominion politics. Let me rather refer to the work which has brought me again to Ontario. As a result of this tour one thing is apparent to me, and it is that the Liberals are more steady than for years past in their attitude toward Liberal principles, and that the Conservatives are not altogether satisfied with the administration at Ottawa, and are commencing to show signs of wavering. It is evident that the people have been thinking since the election of things that are somewhat different at the polls, and I believe that today Ontario would not send back to Ottawa such a representation as she now has, but would choose a better one. (Applause.)

"We suffered," said he, "during the last election by what is called the British-born vote. Most of the British immigrants are generally a good deal in England, but strange to say when they come here they often become Tories. At the last election we had the vote very generally against us. There was no reason for that, except that these men, coming to a country with which they were not familiar, and finding a French-Canadian at the head of affairs, were turned against us on that account by a somewhat insidious campaign. At all events, I think we can now make the English Radicals understand that the Liberal party, even though it is headed by one of French origin, is a party based upon the principles of true English Liberalism." (Cheers.)

Sir Wilfrid proceeded to pay a very warm compliment to Mr. N. W. Rowell, and congratulated the Liberals of Ontario on securing such an able leader. "As the leader of the party," he said, "I had an eye on Mr. Rowell for many elections past, and was tried to get him to run for the House of Commons many times. I am sorry I did not do so, but now you are here, and I am glad to have you here. He has done good work in this Province, and he will continue to do good work, while the grasp of affairs has just shown in his address as much as to cheer my heart and to show me that today we have in Mr. Rowell a man who can force even the Whitney Government to follow the elementary principles of constitutional government." (Laughter.)

Opposition Leader.
Mr. N. W. Rowell was given an exceedingly cordial reception, the cheers which greeted him almost equalling those which welcomed Sir Wilfrid himself.

In opening his address Mr. Rowell pointed out that it was scarcely a year since he had assumed the Provincial leadership, and he expressed with evident feeling his appreciation of the sympathy and cordial support he had received from the people. "No man could have been more justly or more kindly treated or more loyally followed," said he, "than I have been by the gallant and brave Liberals who have served under me in the Legislature."

"We entered the Legislature," said Mr. Rowell, "a party of but twenty-two. But we soon found that Sir James Whitney was by no means so immovable as he professed to be, and when compelled would speedily change his course. In fact, we soon discovered that he had no principles at all on the conduct of public affairs, but was guided solely by political expediency or the obstinate Toryism which is the most striking characteristic." (Applause.)

Discussing the work of the past year, Mr. Rowell dealt with the course taken by the Liberal party with regard to the present system of patronage, the hydro-electric service. He pointed out that while the Whitney Government had tried to have this made a Government department subject to the present system of patronage, this was strenuously opposed by himself and the Liberals, with the result that finally the Provincial Government had been compelled to abandon their intention and leave it as it should have been, under the commission.

In the same way, dealing with the development of Northern Ontario, Mr. Rowell showed that the Opposition succeeded in forcing the Government to adopt a more active policy for its development. During the past six years the Whitney Government had not made as much progress as a good business administration could have done in six months, but the consistent opposition of the Opposition had gradually awakened them into activity. As a result the Government had proposed to spend five million dollars on development work; but even when they had passed this allotment, all they could plan for was the spending of $350,000 on roads in Temiskaming. Even with this, and with the co-operation of the Opposition in opening up New Ontario, said Mr. Rowell, "we was up to date the whole policy enunciated by the Government for that work."

From this Mr. Rowell proceeded to discuss tax reform. On this he remarked that Premier Whitney had especially displayed his obstinate Conservatism. In the same way with regard to the project for an eight-hour day for underground miners, Mr. Rowell pointed out that the Opposition had compelled the Government to nominate a commission to investigate the question, so that it would be due to the work of the Opposition.

Abolish the Bar.

Mr. Rowell then took up the question of temperance. His policy had been regarded with amazement by Sir James and condemned as a joke by Mr. Hanna, but when the answer of the Province was received to these proposals Sir James' attitude toward his amazement, and Mr. Hanna found it was not a joke. Instead of that they hastened to present an amendment calling for the abolition of the bar. This was Sir James' answer to the Liberal proposals after he had already declared that the country was satisfied with the liquor license policy of the Government.

"I once again," said Mr. Rowell, "we have compelled the Whitney Government to recognize that existing legislation is insufficient, and now both parties are proposing advanced temperance legislation. I have been said that our policy goes too far, but I believe that no leader ever tried more thoroughly to ascertain the real sentiment of both party and people before enacting a measure. I feel convinced that they are not going too far in advance of the moral forces of this Province."

At any rate," he declared emphatically, "that is the policy upon which we shall go to the country at the next election, and that is the policy upon which we are prepared to win or lose." (Loud applause.)

Discussing public health, Mr. Rowell then in scathing terms denounced the lethargy of the Prime Minister with regard to war against tuberculosis. Although a bill had been repeatedly introduced by Mr. Joseph P. Downey and Dr. James McQueen, and refused by Sir James, when the matter was pushed he suddenly changed his opinion and accepted the new public health act, which practically embodied the provisions of Dr. McQueen's bill.

In the same way with regard to a comprehensive compensation bill, said that after the Government had trifled for years with this subject, next session would see an adequate compensation act put through.

Dealing then in the manner in which the Government of Sir James Whitney had attempted to usurp the powers of Parliament in spending the $5,000,000 for Northern Ontario so as to disturb the independence of the vote of the representatives of the people, Mr. Rowell said they had opposed this, and would continue to oppose it until the rights of the people to control the expenditure of their own money were once again established.

When embarrassing questions were put to ministers, Sir James was behind the bulky chair of the Speaker, and had them ruled out, finally threatening to bring down new rules to prevent the presentation of such matters.

"You generally find that a bully is a coward," declared Mr. Rowell, "and the people have mistaken this bully for a man of courage, while he is really one of the worst cowards in the House, skulking behind the Speaker for safety."

Sir George Ross.
Sir George Ross was called upon, and the veteran Liberal leader was given a hearty reception, speaking from his private car, as he humorously described his invalid chair.

What was needed now, said the ex-Premier, was a constructive policy that would appeal to the public imagination, and Mr. Rowell had that policy, one which would appeal to the best sense and judgment of the people of Ontario. Now it was for his followers to follow the policy of Sir John Macdonald and "rub it in." (Laughter.)

"Let everyone know without hesitation or fear of criticism that Mr. Rowell and his party mean to abolish the bar to start with, Sir James Whitney says abolish the bar and drink and so he damned you do not call on anyone to treat you Mr. Rowell says 'save the man and his family from destruction, and the country from the fearful loss of life and money which results from the liquor traffic.'"

"Follow the principles enunciated by your leader," declared Sir George, "and I am confident that the people of Ontario, believing the old Liberal party to be still true to its principles and progressive administration, will respond when the time comes by entrusting the government to his wise, capable and forcible leadership." (Loud applause.)

Sir Allen Aylesworth concluded the oratorical interlude with a brief speech, in which he expressed his entire confidence in the policy expounded by Sir Wilfrid Laurier, and his hope that the time would not be long before he would again become Prime Minister of Canada.

The hearty thanks of the association was expressed to Sir Wilfrid Laurier for his kindness in attending the annual meeting, and appreciation for his great, self-sacrificing work in the interest of the Liberal party.

Mr. Geo. Ross, who retired in South Renfrew to provide a seat in the House of Commons for Hon. Geo. P. Graham, received the cordial thanks of the association, and a resolution regretting the retirement of Hon. A. C. MacKay, Provincial politics was also unanimously carried.

The organization of Young Liberal Clubs throughout the Province to be brought into affiliation with the General Reform Association was endorsed by the association, and will be carried out with all possible dispatch.

The fixed date of the annual meeting was altered, and it was decided that it will be called at the discretion of the executive committee.

Miss Robson Warmly Welcomed.
Miss Mary Robson, who appeared at the Grand Opera House, Tuesday evening, in "A Night Out," is long established London favorite. Her great talents in comedy are familiar to all patrons of the theatre, and she is always received with a large corte of admiring friends. This happened on her present appearance. They were all there, or at least as many as could get there, and they were well repaid for their latest offering. It is a clean, wholesome comedy, full of bright lines and clever dialogue, and in the hands of Miss Robson it becomes one of the classics in comedy on the stage today.

This is the second time Miss Robson has appeared here in "A Night Out." Last season it was new to her, and while it was welcomed with open arms by the theatregoing public a decided improvement has been seen in its presentation. Miss Robson is more familiar with the lines and full organizations, and she brings out the force of each. It is a delightful play now, charmingly acted.

Miss Robson has surrounded herself with a most capable company, as she always does. Mr. Paul Decker, in the role of Paul, is excellent. He is a young actor of great promise. Mr. C. C. Gwynne, as Mr. Deacon, played a difficult part with judgment and discretion. John Rowe, as the Irishman Terry, was very clever.

The ladies of the company all showed marked ability. Miss Edith Conrad, Miss Ruth Quinn and Miss Kathleen Comery were excellent. It was a fine evening's entertainment.

Made Famous by Wilson.
Thursday night is to be given over to "The Bachelor's Baby." Francis Wilson's famous New York and London comedy success, at the Grand Opera House, The Colonial Theatre Company, Limited, of Ottawa, are the presentors, and they offer that English comedian, Etienne Girardot, known for his creation in "Charley's Aunt" in the leading role. The play is said to be one of laughter, and to contain situations both ludicrous and pathetic. A sweet child is an important factor in the cast.

"The Spring Maid."
Not often does an operetta receive the stamp of emphatic approval on its first visit, and come back for a return engagement, showing even greater perfection. Werba and Luescher, its producers, retained nearly the entire organization which presented "The Spring Maid" last season, with Gene Luescher and J. H. Goldworthy, and the splendid cast, which proved so notable wherever the opera was sung. A few changes among the principals, and scarcely any among the chorus and orchestra, only resulted in improvements. The spirit of the operetta itself, with its charming love story and swinging and alluring score, finds a reflection in the work of the singers. Those who saw "The Spring Maid" last spring will be even more pleased this time, "The Spring Maid" with its organization of seventy, will be at the Grand on Saturday for an engagement of matinee and night. The seat sale opens tomorrow at 9 a.m.

Travel in Special Cars.
"The Pink Lady," with the New York and London company, is booked for next Monday and Tuesday at the Grand. This big hit in the popular field of entertainment is in three acts and as many scenes. Its books and lyrics are written by C. M. S. McNeil, the author of "The Belle of New York" and "Leah Kleeschna," while the score in the work of Ivan Caryll, of the Gaiety Theatre, London. It is a delightfully clean-cut and charming performance, made brilliant by the most pleasing music that has been turned out for a work of this kind in years. Seats Friday at 9 a.m.

GIRLS! GIRLS! SURELY TRY THIS! DOUBLES BEAUTY OF YOUR HAIR

All You Need Is a 25 Cent Bottle of "Danderine"—Hair Gets Lustrous, Fluffy and Abundant at Once.

Immediate?—Yes! Certain?—that's the joy of it. Your hair becomes light, wavy, fluffy, abundant and appears as soft, lustrous and beautiful as a young girl's after a Danderine hair cleanse. Just try this—moisten a cloth with a little Danderine and carefully draw it through your hair, taking one small strand at a time. This will cleanse the hair of dust, dirt or excessive oil and in just a few moments you have doubled the beauty of your hair.

A delightful surprise awaits, particularly those who have been careless, CHURCHILL'S ORATORY.
(P. E. Smith, M.P., in Oxford Review.) Churchill bestows upon his important speeches a degree of almost meticulous preparation; he elaborates and over-elaborates. Latterly an excessive dependence upon his manuscript has a little impaired the parliamentary success of some of his most important speeches, but his hearers enjoy the compensating qualities of these defects. His speeches are marked by an arresting literary quality. Some of his phrases are scarcely less happy than those of Disraeli. He is more instinct with the House of Commons spirit than any of the new generation. . . . and will perhaps recall to a generation which has almost forgotten them the parliamentary standards and modes of expression amid which Mr. Gladstone, Sir William Harcourt and Mr. Chaplin served their apprenticeship.

LONDON, WEDNESDAY, OCT. 9.

MR. GRAHAM IS RIGHT.

Our local contemporary assails Hon. George Graham for asserting that the Ne Temere decree was made an issue in the last election by the enemies of the Laurier Government. His speech, it says, is "an insult to Ontario."

Will our contemporary turn to page 213, volume 1, Hansard debates, House of Commons, session of 1911-12? It will find there some remarks by Mr. J. H. Burnham, M. P., Conservative, West Peterboro. Here are a few extracts:

"I may, perhaps, be able to suggest some few things to them (the Liberals), which at least in our part of the country occasioned their downfall. One of these is a little measure to which I refer as a typical measure. Let there be no misunderstanding or misconception, unintentional or otherwise, with respect to my reference to Ne Temere. I am considering that measure as typical of simple mistakes, misunderstandings or misapprehensions, made by Protestant or Catholic, Jew or Gentile, bond or free. The question involved is: Are we married or are we not, when the law of the country says we are? You will understand that it was the (Laurier) Government's position with regard to this plain and simple question."

"Mr. E. M. Macdonald—Would the honorable member state what power in his opinion, the Government have to deal with this question?"

"Mr. Burnham—They have the power at any rate of answering questions with respect to it."

"Mr. Macdonald—That is begging the question."

"Mr. Burnham—I will explain. If the Government are asked a question whether they have power to enforce the laws of this country, then they should say yes if they think they have; if they think they have not, they should cause an inquiry to be made as to why they have not."

"Mr. A. K. Maclean (Halifax)—Give us your explanation of the whole thing."

"Mr. Burnham—The hon. member desires to draw me into a side issue."

"Mr. Puresley—Do I understand my hon. friend to say that in his part of Ontario the Ne Temere decree was used against the late Government?"

"Mr. Burnham—It most distinctly was."

"Mr. Oliver—It was."

"Mr. Maclean (Halifax)—If the hon. gentleman will permit me to ask a question, would he say whether in his judgment, the Ne Temere decree played a very important part in the Province of Ontario, and if so, what proportion did it play in the issues of that campaign?"

"Mr. Burnham—It certainly played a most important part."

"Mr. Oliver—Hear, hear."

As Mr. Burnham himself made the Ne Temere decree an issue in his own riding, his evidence is unimpeachable. Every active election worker will corroborate him. Many voters were actually told that the Laurier Government promulgated the Ne Temere decree; it was the staple of the still-hunt phase of the anti-Laurier campaign. But people who were blinded a year ago by these stories now see that the marriage question remains where the late Government left it—in the hands of the provincial legislatures, where the Privy Council says it belongs. And the Burnhams and others who deluded them into the belief that a Conservative Government at Ottawa would take the matter into its own hands, voted against the Lancaster bill.

AS TO CAMPAIGN FUNDS.

Some tell-tale evidence as to the source of campaign funds has been extracted by a United States Senate committee of inquiry. Mr. Cornelius Blais, Jun., testified that his late father collected $2,088,000 to finance Mr. Roosevelt's election in 1904. Asked what percentage was contributed by corporations, he replied, "To be quite frank, 73 per cent." Mr. Archibald gave $100,000 on behalf of the Standard Oil Company, and Mr. Frick, of the steel trust, the same amount. Mr. Gould also gave $100,000, and Mr. J. P. Morgan $150,000. Mr. Roosevelt made no objections except in the case of the Standard Oil Company. A few days before the election he ordered the repayment of the money to Mr. Archibald, but his opponents say it had then been spent, and that Mr. Roosevelt knew it.

Mr. Roosevelt, in the witness box, contended that these contributions brought no favor, and that no favor was implied by their acceptance. But Congress has since made campaign contributions by corporations a crime and has passed an act requiring subscriptions of over $10 to be published, although Mr. Roosevelt wrote in 1908, that "the right to refuse to make public those contributions is as sacred as the right of a man to cast a secret ballot in the election." The majority of conscientious citizens are of the opinion that Congress is right, and Roosevelt wrong. The latter may not have been influenced by campaign funds, but his agents must have been tempted to make corrupt expenditures with such a sum at their disposal, and the donors established a claim on the Republican party which many Republican politicians, if not the President himself, would be disposed to allow.

Under the new law the party campaign purses are not so far under the system of secrecy, but they ought to suffice for all legitimate objects. There are scores of thousands of small subscriptions which were not asked for in other days. These are honorable to the givers and the receivers alike. A similar appeal would no doubt meet with a similar response in Canada, if a similar law were passed. Certainly Canadian public life would be none the worse for publicity in campaign contributions.

A WONDERFUL VETERAN.

Right Hon. James Bryce, statesman, diplomat, historian, biographer, legal authority and professor, angler, Alpine climber and globe-trotter, has now ascended into the air to survey mankind and its abode even more extensively. After flying for 25 minutes with Mr. W. S. Burgess in his aeroplane along the Massachusetts coast, he said that he was delighted with the experience.

Mr. Bryce is a wonderful old man. Only this year he has been "doing" South America, and has just brought out a book of his impressions, which is said to give the best panoramic view of Latin America ever published. In works of travel, of course, the ambassador is a past master. He has a unique genius for seizing the main characteristics of both a country and a people. It was a good traveller as well as an historian and lawyer that wrote the American Commonwealth.

"Transcaucasia and Ararat" tells the story of Mr. Bryce's ascent of Mount Ararat in 1877, a very difficult and unusual climb. His guides refused to follow him beyond 13,600 feet, and up the ice-capped dome, so he finished alone. He was only 39 years old then. There is an informing book of his on South Africa, written just before the outbreak of the Boer war. The volume on South America now completes his round of the continents, unless Australia is yet to be studied. The age of discovery is not over if "discovery" be taken in its old-fashioned meaning of "uncovering." Mr. Bryce is a sort of seer, who takes the cover off places and peoples that he visits and "discovers" their secrets to the less seeing world.

We shall expect from him very soon the account of the aeronaut's true impressions and the true meaning or value of aeronautics for the thought of men. The New York Sun expresses some misgivings for the safety of so important a life committed to the flighty air. It says:

"Probably Mr. Bryce will not be reprimanded by his sovereign, for the English are a sporting people and love adventure for its own sake. If Mr. Bryce is to be taken to task at all it will be by his American friends, who know that none of his predecessors, and his failings as well as he, and that a rupture of amicable relations with England is not to be feared so long as a man of such learning, wisdom, tact and self-control occupies the British embassy at Washington."

Lightning has come out of the Balkan war cloud at last.

Mr. Borden is finding that it is easier to unmake than to make a naval policy.

The Servians, Bulgars and Montenegrins will have no promenade through Turkey. The Turk is brave with the bravery of fatalism. Unhappily for the world he values justice no more than his own life.

His enemies are trying to explain away the Laurier demonstrations in Ontario. They know in their hearts that there has been a revulsion of feeling since September, 1911, and that Laurier's tour has brought it to the surface.

The war in the Balkans is the result of the mutual jealousies of the great Christian powers. If they had united to enforce justice in Macedonia, the Balkan States would have had no excuse for shedding blood. But the great countries distrust one another more than they dislike the Turk, and if they come to an agreement it will be only because they are thrust into it by the little countries. They have suffered hundreds of thousands of Christians in Armenia and other parts of the Turkish Empire to be massacred at intervals for centuries, because Christianity has no place in European diplomacy.

DREADNOUGHT CRUISER GOES 40 MILES AN HOUR.

[London Daily News and Leader.]

The battle cruiser Princess Royal, which has been undergoing exhaustive trials after fitting with new three-bladed propellers, has developed the astonishing speed of 34 knots (roughly, 40 miles an hour). There will be a final test before the formal acceptance by the admiralty.

The Princess Royal, completed this year, is one of the latest Dreadnought cruisers. Her official speed is 31 knots. She has a tonnage of 26,350, a length of 660 feet, and a beam of 88 feet. Her engines develop a horsepower of 70,000, and she carries eight of the new 13.5 guns and 24 4-inch.

The Princess Royal was built at Barrow.

This record of the Princess Royal easily beats that of her sister ship, the Lion, the previous record holder. There is no large ship in the world to approach the speed of the Princess Royal, and there is every appearance that the honor of possessing the fastest big warship will remain with the British navy for some time to come.

The builders, Messrs. Vickers, of Barrow-in-Furness, are delighted with the result. In addition to her marvellous speed, the Princess Royal has proved a splendid sea boat.

THE DEVIL IN LITERATURE.

[By Special Arrangement With the Winnipeg Telegram.]

I saw a letter in a newspaper the other day, a letter from an anxious reader asking if an authoritative history of the devil had ever been published. I believe that Daniel Defoe, that most enterprising and most mendacious of all journalists, wrote a "History of the Devil" for the edification of credulous readers in the days of good Queen Anne, but I feel quite free to state that the history was not definitely to state that the history was not authoritative. Defoe, however, with that supreme journalistic instinct of his hit upon a subject in which the public has always been interested. And it ought to give us pause when we reflect that two of the great world poems, Milton's "Paradise Lost" and Goethe's "Faust," owe perhaps their chief interest to their delineation of the character of his satanic majesty. But both Milton and Goethe were partly inspired by an earlier work on the same subject, a work with as fine a flow of genius as their own, Christopher Marlowe's drama, "The Tragical History of Dr. Faustus." We are indebted to Professor Phelps, of Yale University, for a new edition of this classic in an excellent series entitled "The Masterpieces of the English Drama," published by the American Book Company.

As it was once my privilege to study English under the inspiration of Professor Phelps, of Yale, I am not surprised to find that he has written a brilliant introduction to this book, not to find that he estimates Marlowe as a Samson of Elizabethan drama, which he regards as "the greatest part of the greatest period of the greatest literature of the world."

And, if any of the Elizabethans was fitted to write of the boundless aspiration of a Faustus, or of the solemn cruelty of the devil masquerading as Mephistopheles, that man was Marlowe. We know very little of Marlowe's life, except that he was born in Canterbury, the son of a shoemaker, that he went to Cambridge, after graduation drifted to London, gave himself up to a dissolute life in the company of Nash, Greene and other "university wits," took to play-writing and the making of poetry as a profession, and was killed in a tavern brawl at the early age of twenty-eight. Drink and the devil did for "Kit" Marlowe, but not before he had written four great plays, had established blank verse as the medium for his fellow playwrights, had made the romantic type of Shakespearean drama possible, and had also written two or three poems of immortal beauty. As Marlowe went around London vaunting himself as an out-and-out atheist, it seems strange that he should have written such a play as his "Dr. Faustus," which is essentially spiritual in tone. In treating of the geography of hell in this play, Marlowe makes Mephistopheles say to Faustus:

"Hell hath no limits, nor is circumscribed In one place; for where we are is hell, And where hell is there must we ever be."

That was a wonderfully spiritual conception for a thinker in Marlowe's time to attain. Milton echoes this idea in "Paradise Lost," when he says the mind "can make a heaven of hell, a hell of heaven," but the world of modern men has scarcely adopted it even at this late date. The final scene in Marlowe's play is also one of the most intense concrete presentations of the truth of the text, "The wages of sin is death," that any preacher has ever given to his followers. The awful scene in which Faustus has to fulfill that twenty-four year old promissory note, which he had subscribed to the devil, is easily one of the most thrilling passages in the whole gamut of our dramatic literature. But the question arises, "how could an atheist have written such a sympathetic account of the destruction of a human soul?" No one has ever been able to solve this riddle. Perhaps Marlowe was a secret believer, but it is more probable, as Professor Phelps has hinted, that he did this by reason of his art, that he could interpret spiritual passion just as easily and as beautifully as a bad woman who sings touching solos in a church choir.

Anyway, there is a wonderful fascination in Marlowe's plays. He has the true voice of his age, so boundless in its aspiration, so intense, so beautiful. "We hear in his plays," says Dr. Phelps, "the great voice of Elizabethan England; he represents its overweening pride, the enthusiasm of discovery and conquest, the shout of success, the sky-scraping ambition which dared God out of heaven, the desperate aspiration of passion, the intellect and the inflexible power of an abnormally developed will."

WORSE YET. [Chicago Journal.]

Wilton Lackaye, the actor, once made a dramatization of "Les Misérables." He had spent much time on his work. The dramatization of the Hugo masterpiece had been one of the dreams of his early youth. Truly, the completed drama was to the actor as a child he dearly loved. But when Mr. Lackaye tried to interest theatrical capital in the production he found dearth of enthusiasm. Everyone knew that Lackaye had dramatized "Les Misérables," and it was one of the live topics of Broadway. Oscar Hammerstein met Lackaye in this particular period and his first question was:

"To produce 'Les Misérables'?"

And to this Lackaye sarcastically replied:

"manager to produce it! I haven't found a manager that can pronounce it."

Ninth Letter: On Taking the Weight Off Your Feet.

Dear Sis,—Have just returned from the art exhibit, and you'll laugh when I tell you the thing that has impressed me most. It's the fact that while all the standing and walking, my feet aren't tired a bit.

EXPERTS CALLED IN TO STATE DAMAGE

County Makes Claim That the Flood of Last Spring Was Exceptional.

MANY FARMS DAMAGED

One Man States That Roadway Protected Martin's Place in Normal Years.

Both the morning and afternoon sittings of the high court yesterday were taken up with the case in which George Martin, of London Township, claims $2,500 from the county of Middlesex, for damage done to his property along the river by the waters of the River Thames, which overflowed his banks and were directed onto his farm by the raised roadway approaching the Guest bridge. At the court yesterday, Judge Sutherland adjourned the court until 9 o'clock this morning.

The plaintiff was in the witness box for nearly two hours in the morning, and upon the conclusion of his evidence, the county was called upon to prove its case. The plaintiff was in the witness box for nearly two hours in the morning, and upon the conclusion of his evidence, the county was called upon to prove its case.

A Treacherous River. Frederick J. Lee, of Woodstock, who is a surveyor and engineer of 25 years' experience, stated that in his estimation sufficient space had not been provided under the bridge for the waters to pass through at the time of the annual spring freshets. He said that the Thames was a particularly treacherous river and that it was difficult to foretell its movements.

Mr. F. W. Farncombe, engineer, of this city, stated that in his opinion no bridges should be constructed where the roadway would have to be raised to conform with the specifications of the bridge.

This concluded the testimony for the plaintiff, and immediately the solicitor for the county, Mr. J. C. Elliott, of Gloucester, moved that the case be dismissed from the court, as the claims of any person for damages arising from the flood of the Thames could be settled by arbitration, as provided by the municipal act. At this point the judge dismissed the jury and signified his intention of hearing the case himself.

$400 High Estimate of Damage. As the case was not dismissed, the county as its first witness called Geo. A. McCubbin, of Chatham, who gave evidence to the effect that his estimate of the property damaged on Martin's farm was only of four and a half or five acres in extent. He thought that the work had been done in a correct manner, and in his estimation the raising of the roadway had protected Martin's property from several previous floods. Messrs. P. B. Fetterly and D. McAlpine, land valuers for a local loan company, testified that the damage at about $200, and Mr. McAlpine stated that the farm could be completely restored by the expenditure of $400. The value of the property would be increased by the deposit of alluvial soil brought down by the waters.

The defence produced as witnesses a number of farmers residing along the banks of the river from St. Marys south, and they all stated that the flood of last April was the most severe in a number of years, and a great amount of damage had been done in all sections of the county. Among the witnesses called were Messrs. David Bonis, Charles Hudson, W. McCuffin, Wm. McVey and Miss Mary Bonis. In the opinion of all these witnesses the flood of Good Friday did more damage than any of the last 35 or 40 years.

Both sides in the action completed their cases this morning, and after counsel had presented his arguments, Mr. Justice Sutherland reserved his decision until a future date.

Call Expert Testimony. The defence presented four witnesses this morning. Charles Talbot, the county engineer; James A. Bell, who has had 37 years' experience as a surveyor and engineer in the province; Alec Baird, engineer, of Leamington; and Reeve R. W. Jackson, of London Township. Mr. Talbot stated that at the time the new bridge was constructed in 1908, he made ample provision for carrying the flood of the Thames, and that the raising of the roadway had protected Martin's property from several previous floods. He stated that the bridge was constructed in 1908, and that the raising of the roadway had protected Martin's property from several previous floods.

Mr. Bell stated that he had examined the request of the county council, and to all appearances the bridge was well constructed. The precautions taken at the time of the construction of the bridge were all that were necessary for the evidences of all previous freshets, and sufficient roadway had been provided. Mr. Baird stated that he had examined the request of the county council, and to all appearances the bridge was well constructed. The precautions taken at the time of the construction of the bridge were all that were necessary for the evidences of all previous freshets, and sufficient roadway had been provided.

Mr. Jackson stated that he would have a relief bridge built over the roadway, and that the bridge would be constructed in 1908, and that the raising of the roadway had protected Martin's property from several previous floods.

Mr. Bell stated that he had examined the request of the county council, and to all appearances the bridge was well constructed. PORT STANLEY FISH ALL GO TO BUFFALO

Lack of Cold Storage Facilities Results in Loss to the Canadians.

[Special to The Advertiser.]

Port Stanley, Oct. 8. The entire catch of fish here this season will go to Buffalo, as a result of there not being a cold storage plant here to handle it.

Port Stanley has grown to be one of the largest fish markets on the lake, and a profitable one as well. During the year from 4,500 to 5,000 tons have been shipped out of Port, and locally disposed of. The price averages about 4 cents a pound.

UHLAN BEATS ALL RECORDS FOR MILE

"Black Wonder" Broke World's Trotting Record at Lexington Track.

MANRICO WON FUTURITY

Kentucky Classic Was Won in Six
Hard-Fought Heats, Last One
Being Made in Record Time.

Lexington, Ky., Oct. 8.—This was the opening day of the fortieth annual trotting meeting and the twentieth annual meeting of the great Kentucky Futurity. The weather was ideal and one of the largest crowds that ever graced the local track was present.

Manrico was returned the winner in the Kentucky trotting classic after six gruelling heats. In the last heat Baldy McGregor took the lead of Rythmell and Manrico for the first three-quarters. When the contestants turned into the stretch Manrico moved up with a rush and after a mile brush won the heat and race by beating Baldy McGregor to the wire. The time in this heat was 2:07 1/4, which is a new world's mark for the sixth heat of a race. This also was the fastest six-heat race ever trotted.

The "black wonder" Uhlman, was out for an effort to lower the track record for trotting, 1:52 1/2. The track was in superb condition and the son of Bingen made the circle in 1:58 flat. This not only breaks the track record, but also the world's record for a trotter, which heretofore was held by the trotting queen, Lou Dillon, in 1:58 1/2, made at Memphis, Tenn., seven years ago. Uhlman was driven by his trainer, Charles Tanner.

The Tennessee, for 2:05 pacers, was only a walkover for the game little pacer, Braden Direct, a son of Baron Direct and Braden Lass. Summary: The Kentucky Futurity, two-year-old trotters, three in five, value $14,000—

ONLY N. H. A. TEAMS CAN PLAY IN ARENA

Montreal Rink Officials Will Not Consider New Pro. Hockey League At All.

[Canadian Press.]
Montreal, Oct. 8.—Only the teams in the National Professional Hockey League will be seen playing at the Arena this winter. This was decided at a meeting of the directors of the Arena Company, held last night. The management of the Arena are evidently of the opinion that one professional league is sufficient and will cater only to those who played there last winter by giving the use of their rink exclusively to them. This decision puts an end to the talk of the new league, and there will be rest among the officials of the N. H. A.

Chicago, Oct. 8.—Prevented from playing today because of rain, the Chicago clubs of the American and National Leagues will meet tomorrow in the first game of the series to decide the baseball championship of Chicago. Manager Callahan, of the American team, announced tonight that he would send Pitcher Walsh into the game to oppose either Cheney or Lavender, one of whose Manager Chance, of the Nationals, had planned to select.

MEETING CALLED TO DECIDE PROTEST

Interprovincial Rugby Union Will Hold Meeting Saturday Night to Take Up Hamilton's Protest.

[Canadian Press.]
Montreal, Oct. 8.—President W. C. Hagar, of the Interprovincial Rugby Football Union, has sent out a notice calling a meeting to be held at the M. A. A. on Saturday night, when the protest lodged by the Hamilton club will be taken up. The meeting is called for Montreal because it is the headquarters of the union and most central to Ottawa, and the officials of the match as well.

M'GILL'S LINE-UP WILL UNDERGO CHANGE

Number of Different Combinations
Will Also Be Tried.

[Canadian Press.]
Montreal, Oct. 8.—All the senior members of the McGill team, except Matheson and Rankin, were out for two hours yesterday. Passing and dropping on loose balls was practiced for a while, and then the first team lined up against the seconds for half an hour. Several changes were tried in the first team line-up, and a number of different combinations were given a trial. Billington played centre half throughout, but both Draper and Fisher were placed on the back line with him. Paisley played for a time yesterday in his old position at quarter back, and it is apparent that McEwen has not yet wrested the place from him for keeps. Bignall was up on the outside wing, which Lewis usually holds down. Lewis is still suffering slightly from the injuries to his leg which sustained tackling Maynard in the last half of the Toronto game.

BRACEBRIDGE WON FIRST OF O. L. A. FINALS

Defeated Western By One-Sider Score of 24 to 3.

[Special to The Advertiser.]
Bracebridge, Oct. 8.—In the first game of the final home and home games between Western and Bracebridge for the intermediate championship of the O. L. A., played here this afternoon, the latter won by a score of 24 to 3. The day was fine and the grounds in fair condition, but the game was too one-sided to be of much interest. The Western team played a clean, gentlemanly game, but were outclassed by the home team, who were much heavier and apparently older men and better players. It is claimed that

RAILROAD MAN HAD TO LAY OFF

Until He Took GIN PILLS

Buffalo, N. Y.
"I have been a Pullman conductor on the C. P. R. and Michigan Central for the last three years.

About four years ago, I was laid up with intense pain in the groin, a very sore back, and suffered most severely when I tried to urinate.

I treated with my family physician for two months for "Gravel" in the bladder, but did not receive any benefit. About that time, I met another railroad man who had been similarly affected, and who had been cured by GIN PILLS, after having been given up by a prominent physician who treated him for Diabetes. He is now running on the road and is perfectly cured. He strongly advised me to try GIN PILLS, which I did—with the result that the pains left me entirely."

ATHLETICS WIN SECOND OF SERIES

Plank Held Dooins' Men to Six Hits and One Run—Seaton and Brennan Hit Hard.

Philadelphia, Oct. 8.—The Philadelphia American League team evened up the inter-league series of this city today by defeating the Philadelphia National League team, 6 to 1.
Plank backed up by fast fielding, held the Phillies safe throughout the game. The National League players appeared dangerous in only one inning, the seventh, when they had three men on bases and none out.
Seaton, who pitched for the Phillies, was hit hard, and Brennan, who relieved him in the ninth inning, had two scored off his delivery. The score:

Batteries—Plank and Lapp; Seaton, Brennan and Killifer. Umpires, Johnston and Hart.

BROUGHT BLACK FOX OVER A THOUSAND MILES

Rare Animal Was Bought From Indians in the Great Bear Region.

[Special to The Advertiser.]
Edmonton, Oct. 8.—Returning from a stay of four months on Lake Athabasca, more than 1,100 miles northwest of here, where they made extensive scientific explorations, Alfred Hare, of Tees, Alta., Professor Burwash, of the University of Chicago, and A. W. Haigh, a local prospector, brought to Edmonton a pure black fox and a red fox, marked with black. The two animals are valued at $1,000.
Mr. Hare paid $350 to Indians in the Fond du Lac and Great Bear Lake regions for the foxes, which he will take to his farm at Tees for propagating purposes.

An Experiment.
His plan is to breed the black variety for their fur, which has a high commercial value throughout the world. Trappers in this district say that interbreeding of the red and black foxes will gradually produce the pure black variety. The result of this experiment will be watched with interest in the United States, Canada, and Europe, because of its possibilities.

The two foxes have had most unique experiences. They were transported from the far northern wilds to civilization by every mode of travel except aeroplaning. The black fox was carried 300 miles, while the other animal in its trip from Great Bear Lake travelled fully 1,100 miles.

Taken in Canada.
The animals were transported in canoes and packed to Athabasca, 98 miles north of here, and from that point brought to Edmonton by rail. When finally landed at Tees, the foxes have travelled more than 200 miles by rail. They are in good condition. Professor Burwash, who has made a long study of wild animal life, declares that while the experiment to be conducted by Mr. Hare is novel, there is no reason why it should be otherwise than a success. The black fox is not a freak any more than is the red fox, he said. The animals should reproduce their kind.

RECORD ENTRIES AT BIG RIDGETOWN FAIR

Every Class Filled to Capacity
With Exceptionally Fine
Exhibits.

Ridgetown, Oct. 9.—Today was the second day of the Ridgetown fair, and the real opening day. There was a good attendance. The entry list is the largest in the history of the society, and the quality of the exhibits exceptionally fine.

In the main building are displayed the fruits, flowers, home-made cooking, butter, eggs and dressed poultry, and in each list there is keen competition. The merchants have made beautiful displays also in this building, and the piano men are much in evidence.
In the poultry sheds are to be found some of the finest chooks, ducks, turkeys and geese, and the judges were kept busy trying to pick the best.
Howard, Orford and Harwich are noted for their thoroughbred stock, and the animals shown uphold the reputation of former years. The cattle sheds and sheep and hog pens are all filled to their capacity, and some have been forced to exhibit in the open.

The Races.
Two races were run off today, and the competition was keen. The most interesting race was the 2:25 class, which was won by Dony Bars in straight heats. The following is the result:

Dony Bars 1 1 1
Prince Rupert 2 2 2
Roy Peters 3 4 3
Ala Electric 4 4 4
Baron Woods 5 6 6
L. D. 6 6 6
Time—2:22 1/4, 2:20 1/4, 2:20 1/4.

Farmers' road race, half-mile heats:

The Riordon Pulp & Paper Company, Limited, was formed of the Riordon Paper Mills, Limited (established 1859), and G. H. Perley & Co. (established 1899). The Company has 1,184 square miles of timber lands (valued at $2,055,800) in the Province of Quebec on the Rouge River (a branch of the Ottawa River). The plants are located at Hawkesbury and Merritt, Ontario (pulp and paper), and Calumet, L'Annonciation and St. Faustine, Quebec (lumber). The total annual capacity is 37,500 tons sulphite pulp, 6,000 tons ground wood pulp, 6,000 tons paper and 15,000,000 feet lumber (B.M.)

Net earnings of the Company for the past three years average $226,410, over two and one-half times interest on the present issue of bonds, despite the fact that the Calumet mill was not in operation during the greater part of 1911, as it was being rebuilt in steel and concrete. With the additions under way and the benefits to be derived from the new capital, the earnings for 1912, according to the estimate of the Managing Director, will amount to $300,000, three and one-third times bond interest requirements.

The management of the Company has been practically continuous for the past 50 years. All the directors are either practical pulp and paper merchants or experienced lumbermen, ensuring the competent supervision of all affairs of the Company.

Of the $2,500,000 Bonds authorized, $1,000,000 are held in the treasury and can be issued only to the extent of two-thirds of the actual cost of extensions and additions to the fixed assets of the Company.

The repayment of the entire issue, either before or at maturity, at 105, is an important feature, assuring an appreciation of five points to purchasers at par.

Daring Attempt Made to Loot British Columbia Institution.

[Canadian Press.]
Vancouver, B. C., Oct. 8.—A daring but unsuccessful attempt was made last night to rob the branch of the Bank of Vancouver at Collingwood East. When the janitor arrived at the building this morning he found that the building had been entered during the night and an attack made on the safe. Two men had evidently been concerned in the attempt. They tried, with gasoline or an acetylene lamp to melt away the metal of the safe, but their supply of fuel evidently gave out, and they were forced to decamp.

The Russell "30" is a Complete Car

WHEN you order a Russell "30" there are no extras to buy. It is complete in every detail. There is a perfect self-starter—electrically operated. Turn the switch and you are ready to go. The same dynamo which generates electricity for the self-starter takes care of the complete lighting installation. You control the lights in any part of the car by merely pressing a button.

The car's tremendous power is under perfect control. You can drive on high gear as slow as a walk and yet increase your speed at once to 30 miles an hour without strain and without any apparent effort; no jarring, no jolting.

No roads are too rough or too steep for this car. The 1913 Russell "30" has every known improvement and refinement designed to increase comfort and simplicity in operation.

Personal demonstration of the car cannot fail to convince you of its excellence. Our local agent will be pleased to arrange for this demand.

The demand for this car should be enormous, and orders ought to be placed promptly to insure late fall or early spring delivery.

If you are interested, write to the local agent nearest you for some interesting explanatory literature.

HE COMES UP SMILING

A Comedy Novel

By CHARLES SHERMAN

Copyright, 1912, The Bobbs-Merrill Company.

The Watermelon found Billy sitting on the steps of the only hotel in town. It was a big, stout, unimpressive fellow, with a fair, blank and unattractive, and Billy, alone on the top step, looked somehow small and forlorn and wouldlike.

"Where's Henrietta?" he asked, ignoring her eyes and the question they asked. "Upstairs," said Billy, "fixing up." She raised her hands to her own soft hair and bit her lip to get courage to voice the question her eyes had already asked.

"Where's the general?" asked the Watermelon. Billy nodded backward. "In the office, trying to convert the landlord. He's a Democrat, you know, and he won't come and walk down the road with me a bit," said the Watermelon. He rose and held out his hand to help her up.

Billy rose with a trembling laugh that faded miserably in its manifest attempt to be brave. It was late afternoon, sweet and cool as they left the village behind. The deep quiet of the last of the day was over fields and woods and road, the heat and strenuous business of the day were slowly melting away over the reeds, thinking of the day's bargains and of the supper waiting for him. The shadows were lengthening, long and graceful across the village green.

Neither Billy nor the Watermelon spoke until they had left the village some little way behind, and had come to four cross-roads with the usual small, dingy school-house, door locked, dirty windows closed for the summer, and shabby, faded blinds drawn.

Billy knew from the Watermelon's face that the interview with her father had been far from satisfactory. She feared that the Watermelon had not stood up for himself, that her speaking to her father that morning had not helped matters as she had hoped it would. She tried to think of something to say that would influence the boy, something she could do to show him how she cared so he would not think of leaving her. The Watermelon was silent, for now that the hour of parting had come, he did not know what to say, could not bring himself to leave her—gay, foolish, light-hearted Billy.

He, however, was the first to speak. The schoolhouse recalled miserable days of long, dull confinement, and he nodded toward it, pausing in the grass by the wayside. "A standing monument," said he, "to buried freedom."

"I never went to school," said Billy. "It must be awful."

"Awful," the Watermelon shrugged. "It's taken ten years from my life. Schools should be abolished."

"They sat down on the tiny, weather-stained step, side by side, in the gathering dusk. Billy began the Watermelon earnestly, and then stopped.

"Poor little Billy's heart fluttered and she put her hand to her hair in her nervousness. "You know," she said, firmly but irrelevantly, "I love you, Jerry."

"I know," replied the Watermelon, "and I love you. No matter where I am, Billy, no matter what happens, you are the best me, and I will keep you best. I'm shiftless, lazy, no count, but Billy, kid, I'll always love you."

"And we will be married and live happily ever after," crooned Billy, "I'm going away tonight, Billy, back to the road."

"Oh, Jerry, please, dear. If father knew how much I care for you, he'd let me stay. He said to give you time; for me to go away for a while and maybe you would get over it."

"And if I did," demanded Billy, "if I loved another, wouldn't you be jealous? Wouldn't you still love me, Jerry?"

"She clenched her small fist and pounded him on the knee to emphasize the passion in her voice. "If he were a decent chap," stammered the Watermelon, "it would be better for you."

Psoriasis All Over Body Doctors Said Incurable, But How There Is No Sign of Disease, Thanks to Dr. Chase's Ointment.

Mede. N. Massey. Psoriasis is one of the most dreaded of itching skin diseases. It is a sort of chronic eczema. The itching it causes is almost beyond human endurance, and doctors are accustomed to give it up as incurable.

But here is a case that was given up and pronounced incurable. The result proves that Dr. Chase's Ointment almost works miracles in curing the worst form of itching skin disease imaginable.

Mrs. Nettie Massey, Connecon, Ont., writes:—"For five years I suffered with what three doctors called psoriasis. They could not help me, and one of them told me if anyone offered to guarantee a cure for $50.00 to keep my money, as I could not be cured. The disease spread all over my face, even on my face and head, and the itching and burning was hard to bear. I used eight boxes of Dr. Chase's Ointment, and I am glad to say I am entirely cured, not a sign of sore to be seen. I can hardly praise this ointment enough."

The soothing, healing influence of Dr. Chase's Ointment is truly wonderful. Eczema, salt rheum, barber's itch, ringworm and scores of such torturing ailments are relieved at once and as certainly cured if the Ointment is used persistently. Mothers find Dr. Chase's Ointment invaluable in preventing and curing the skin troubles of babies, such as chafing, irritations of the skin and baby eczema.

SEALING TREATY HAS EXCELLENT RESULT

Reports For Season Show the Smallest Killing in Many Years.

Washington, Oct. 8.—The fur sealing season in the Bering Sea has closed, with the smallest killing of seals in many years and a total absence of pelagic sealing, according to reports to the department of commerce and labor. The result has been, it is declared, a considerable increase in the number of seals, which were threatened with extinction by the wanton slaughter of pelagic sealers.

The total number killed off the Pribilof Islands during the season was 3,764, considerably less than the average in the past. These were killed by American Government agents, and the skins will be sold in London in January, the proceeds to be distributed among the United States, Great Britain, Russia and Japan, in accordance with the terms of the treaty signed by those powers for the preservation of the seal herds.

Miss Dickson Succumbs to Wounds Inflicted by Man Who Killed Wife. Calgary, Oct. 8.—Rallying from semi-consciousness at noon, Miss Mildred Dickson, the young woman who was shot by Davis when he murdered his wife and committed suicide, made the following statement to the coroner: "Davis shot me. He came to the house last night, and I answered the door. He demanded to be let in. I was afraid. I told him to let me see what he had in his pockets before he came in. I felt that he was armed. He refused my request, and as I tried to close the door, he drew a gun and shot me. I staggered and he burst into the room, gun in hand."

Overcome by shock and pain, Miss Dickson collapsed into unconsciousness. A minute examination showed that she had been shot twice, once through the abdomen and again through the shoulder.

RASH SO BAD BABY CAME NEAR DYING

Head Broke Out. Spread to Arms, Legs and Entire Body. Itched So He Would Scratch Until Blood Ran. One Box of Cuticura Ointment and Nearly One Gallon of Cuticura Soap Cured Him. Has Had No Return.

"My boy was about three months old when he broke out with a rash. It was very itchy and ran a watery fluid. We tried everything we could but he got worse all the time, till it spread to his arms, legs and then to his entire body. He got so bad that he came near dying. The rash could not be scratched till the blood ran. It was in the morning, I put mittens on his hands to prevent his tearing his skin. He was so weak and run down that he could not hold his head up. He was almost a skeleton and his little hands were thin like claws."

"He was not about eight months when we tried Cuticura Remedies. I had not laid him down in a cradle in the daytime in a long while. I washed him with Cuticura soap and put an application of Cuticura Ointment on his body. He was so soothed that he could sleep. You don't know how glad I was to feel better."

"It took one box of Cuticura Ointment and pretty near one gallon of Cuticura Soap to cure him. I think our boy would have died but for the Cuticura Remedies and I shall always remain a firm friend of them. He was cured more than twenty years ago, and there has been no return of the trouble. I shall be glad to have you publish this true statement of his cure." (Signed) Mrs. M. C. Maitland, Jasper, Ontario, May 27, 1910.

"For more than a generation mothers have found a speedy, agreeable and economical treatment for their skin-tortured little ones in Cuticura Soap and Ointment. Although they are sold by druggists and dealers everywhere, a liberal sample of each may be obtained free from the Potter Drug & Chem. Corp., sole props., 53 Columbus Ave., Boston, U.S.A."

THE POWERS' NOTE

Paris, Oct. 8.—The following is the note presented by the powers to the Balkan States:

"The Governments of Russia and Austria declare to the Balkan States:

"First, that the powers energetically reprove any measure susceptible of causing a rupture of the peace.

"Second, that, leaning on article 23 of the Treaty of Berlin, they will take in hand, in the interest of the Balkan peoples, the realization of reforms in the administration of European Turkey, it being understood that these reforms shall not affect the sovereignty of the Sultan or the territorial integrity of the Ottoman Empire. The powers reserve to themselves liberty of action for a collective ulterior study of these reforms.

"Third, that if, nevertheless, war breaks out between the Balkan States and the Ottoman Empire, they will permit, at the end of the conflict, no modification of the territorial status quo in European Turkey. The powers will make collectively to the Sublime Porte representations similar to the declaration."

GENERAL BALKAN WAR IN FORTY-EIGHT HOURS

Opening of Hostilities by Montenegro Believed To Be Merely Beginning of Struggle That May Involve Some of Great Powers.

Paris, Oct. 8.—A general conflagration in the Balkans is expected by officials here within 48 hours. Montenegro's declaration of war against Turkey is regarded merely as the beginning. It is believed that the other units in the Balkan coalition will follow suit as soon as the mobilization of their armies is complete. There is only a faint hope now that the representations of the powers will avert general hostilities.

Montenegro's move is considered in Paris to be all a part of a prearranged plan. It is asserted that Greece was first selected by the Balkan confederation to force the issue and inaugurate the war. This could easily have been done by Greece seating in the Greek Parliament the deputies from Crete, which was certain to prove a casus belli to Turkey. Greece, however, declined to accept responsibility for starting the flame of battle.

Montenegro was then picked for the task. She had a long-standing quarrel with Turkey over the boundary question, and Turkey's refusal to grant satisfaction was seized upon as justification for Montenegro's resort to arms.

KILLED THE BABY

Little Berlin Child Played on Grand Trunk Tracks.

Berlin, Oct. 8.—Another fatality occurred in the Polish section of the city late yesterday afternoon when Rosie, the 17-month-old daughter of Martin Zoblifsky, of 91 Charles street, met death beneath the wheels of Grand Trunk freight cars. The child was playing in front of its parents' house on a railway siding. She was apparently sitting on the tracks, as the wheels of the cars cut the body completely in two.

The train moved out of the siding and the trainmen were not aware of the accident until they were notified at the yards. The mother of the child was seriously stricken upon learning of the accident, and slight hopes are entertained for her recovery. Dr. J. F. Honsberger, the coroner, has ordered an inquest this evening.

BROKE HIS LEG

Roadmaster Hickey Was in Bad Smash Near St. Thomas.

[Special to The Advertiser.]

St. Thomas, Oct. 8.—Timothy Hickey, Michigan Central Railway roadmaster, of this city, met with a serious accident today, while inspecting the road on a gasoline speeder ten miles west of St. Thomas. The speeder jumped the track and threw the roadmaster, his assistant, J. G. Kennedy, and an engineer named Houston with great violence to the ground. Mr. Hickey's injuries consist of a fractured leg and severe cuts on his head. The other two men escaped with bruises and a severe shaking-up.

UNION DEFENCE IS OUTLINED IN DYNAMITE CASE

Counsel Says "Jobs" Referred To in Correspondence Meant Work For Men.

BELIEVE ONLY THREE IN CRIMINAL WORK

Declares That the Funds of Ironworkers Were Not Diverted for Illegal Purposes.

Indianapolis, Oct. 8.—What the defence will be in the trial of the 45 men accused by the Government of complicity in the "dynamite conspiracy" was outlined before the jury today by William N. Harding, attorney for the defendants. Mr. Harding said at the outset it would be shown that the executive board of the International Association of Bridge and Structural Ironworkers never appropriated a dollar to be used for dynamiting. He asked the jury to suspend judgment until after the witnesses had testified. If anyone connected with the union diverted the funds for any illegal purpose, the guilty persons, he said, would be shown were not among the present defendants.

"When you have heard all the testimony," said Mr. Harding, "we think you will have concluded that about three men were engaged in the nefarious work of dynamiting and that those three men already have pleaded guilty."

Referring to letters written by Frank M. Ryan, president of the Ironworkers, which the Government quoted as showing that "jobs" was the term used to designate explosions against employers of non-union labor, Mr. Harding said it would be shown that "jobs" meant only new work which offered a security for union men to get employment. He added it would be upon the very letters which the Government quoted in the indictment that the defence expected to rest its case.

The district attorney completed his address to the jury of 23 hours, covering five days.

DUTTON HORSE DEALER DROWNED IN TORONTO

Alex. McWilliam Walked Off Docks Into Lake When He Lost His Way.

[Special to The Advertiser.]

Toronto, Oct. 8.—Alex. D. McWilliam, aged 52, of Dutton, one of the best-known horse dealers in Western Ontario, was drowned last night, when he mistook his way, and walked off the docks at the foot of Church street in the darkness.

Mr. McWilliam came to Toronto yesterday to dispose of a lot of horses. At about 10 o'clock he left his hotel in company with a friend, James Dickie, also of Dutton, to visit some parties on Church street.

Unused to the city, the two men missed their direction and instead of going north on Church street, walked south to the bay. In the inky darkness which surrounds the docks at this point McWilliam, who was in advance, stepped off the edge of the pier into the waters of the bay.

Dickie went to his assistance with a plank, but the plank proved too short, and after twice coming to the surface, the doomed man sank. His friend then ran to a hotel and notified the police. Detective Elliott, with the aid of a silk pole recovered the body about an hour later. It was taken to the city morgue.

McWilliam was married. He was known as the tallest man in his country, standing full six feet six inches, and weighing nearly 275 pounds.

SAVING THE BEANS

Favorable Weather Is Helping Growers Around Zurich With Harvest.

[Special to The Advertiser.]

Zurich, Oct. 9.—Harvesting of the bean crop is progressing favorably. Eggs have gone up, and are scarce. The circulating dealers are buying the hens that lay them, and ship them in great quantities.

Apples are selling at 90 cents to $1 per barrel, the dealer supplying the barrels.

Judge Doyle, of Goderich, visited Zurich in an official capacity on Tuesday and presided at the court of revision and passed upon upward of 40 cases. The venerable gentleman has been on the bench 22 years, having been appointed by the Sir John A. Macdonald Government in 1892. He is 70 years of age.

The judge's court of revision, held here on Tuesday, was without special interest, although about forty cases were presented. Some were changed from one class to another, while some had not reached their majority, others again were aliens, and thought they would get their names in print, but they didn't. The Conservatives were represented by Mr. Williams, and an attorney from Exeter, and Mr. E. Zeller looked after the Liberal interests.

Good Eaters Are Good Fighters

Whether at Work or Play, Endurance Comes From Good Digestion, Always Assured by Stuart's Dyspepsia Tablets.

Men and women must have quick wit and good grit to stand the day's battles. A dyspeptic may get away with his wits, but he is always working on points with those around him. A good stomach and a good meal well digested puts us in a good, jolly fighting mood. The sort that move down work and commands the hearty co-operation of our associates. The man at the head of a business who has a good stomach has behind him a good fighting force against competition and the daily mixups that are bound to take place. In fact, well-organized business is like our digestive system.

Stuart's Dyspepsia Tablets as soon as taken into the system go right to work as assistants to the stomach, rendering it an immense amount of help in working out the very complex processes of digestion, encouraging it in the performance of its functions, relieving it of a portion of its duties, thereby allowing it a temporary respite, and also toning up, strengthening, revitalizing its secretory glands, mucous membranes, absorbing strengths and muscular walls in such a way that the stomach soon recovers its lost powers of digestion, motility, assimilation and ultimately does its work as well as ever without outside assistance.

These powerful little tablets contain in a concentrated form every element necessary to digest all forms of food, whether meats, vegetables, cereals, eggs, fish, etc., they act equally well in an acid or an alkaline medium. If your stomach is ailing, does not digest as quickly or as thoroughly as it should, and your entire system in consequence is suffering from malnutrition and mal-assimilation, you owe it to yourself to give the abused stomach assistance to help it out of its present condition.

The solution of your stomach-trouble problem is easy. Go to your druggist at once and secure a package, then take one or two after each meal, or as required, then note the difference in the way you feel. All druggists sell them. Price, 50 cents.

Three Good Pals

Breakfast time should be the "curtain-raiser" of a happy day.

But the day can't be a happy one with ill-health.

Tea and coffee are often disturbing factors.

They contain a drug—CAFFEINE—that gets on the nerves of many a naturally happy-tempered man or woman, resulting in "crossness" and irritability.

But now comes

Instant Postum

which is absolutely free from any drug.

This new food-drink makes "good company" at breakfast or any other meal. Manufactured from choice Northern wheat and the juice of pure Southern sugar-cane, it is prepared at table INSTANTLY by stirring a level teaspoonful, direct from the tin, in a cup of hot water, and adding cream and sugar to taste. Everyone can drink it with happy results.

Balkan States Want to Shove Turkey Out of Europe

SHOWING HOW EUROPEAN TURKEY IS MOST SURROUNDED BY THE LITTLE STATES THAT THREATEN TO ATTACK HER ALL TOGETHER.

The Balkan states have been called to the "cockpit of Europe." For years there's been trouble brewing there, lots of harsh talk and no little fighting. Just now they are all threatening Turkey.

On the one hand in the present controversy are Serbia, population 2,700,000, army 125,000; Montenegro, population 230,000, army 55,000; Bulgaria, population 4,000,000, army 500,000; Roumania, population 6,700,000, army 170,000; and Greece, population 2,500,000, army 50,000; total available 200,000.

On the opposite side is Turkey, losing war with Italy, the Balkan states believe that now is the best chance they'll have in a long while.

Hitherto the big powers—France, England, Germany and Russia—have kept the Balkans more or less quiet. They were then afraid to stir up the Turks too strenuously. Now it may be different; they may let the combined Balkan nations lick the Mohammedans and shove them back out of Europe.

Tsar Ferdinand of Bulgaria, King Peter of Serbia, and King Nicholas of Montenegro are the three best-known rulers of the scrapping Balkans where women and children often fight alongside husbands and fathers.

LOOK OUT, RICHTER, SOMETHING DOING IN 2 WEEKS. HISI!

Mr. Glaubitz Hints at Development That Is Due to Confuse Critics.

FINANCE MINISTER IS NOT TAKING TO WOODS

"You Can't Club Us Into Submission," He Tells Hydro-Electric Overlords.

The special committee named by the council at its last meeting to go into the report submitted by Engineer Gabey, of the hydro-electric commission, on the cost of street lighting will meet tonight for organization purposes. It consists of Aldermen Richter, Robinson, Bennett, Murphy, Wright, Ashplant and Rose. Aid. Richter will undoubtedly be elected chairman.

It is the intention of the committee to go into the whole question thoroughly. An expert engineer will be engaged. Together with an accountant, who will take Mr. Gabey's report and analyze it minutely. An examination of all the accounts will be made by the accountant, while the engineer will look over the power station, and see what portion of the capital cost should be charged up to street lighting.

Language Started 'Em. In the meantime a reply is being prepared in the offices of the hydro-electric commission, that its members expect will shatter the charges made by Aid. Richter, that Mr. Gabey's report was cooked, and "was crooked as a ram's horn." Information has come to the city that Aid. Richter's language rather startled some of the hydro-electric engineers, and they are endeavoring to make their case good.

It was hinted today by General Manager Glaubitz that in two weeks something was going to happen. There was a mysterious air when he said that the impression being given that somebody had a rod in pickle for Aid. Richter for daring to dispute the accuracy of Engineer Gabey's statement, Mr. Glaubitz was questioned about the matter still further, but he failed to give any further information.

"Aid. Richter will hear something in two weeks," was all that could be pulled out of him.

The finance minister did not appear, simply smiling over it. He seemed to be in a good mood, and he seemed to be in a good mood, and he seemed to be in a good mood.

"I am convinced that we are paying too large a price for street lighting. I analyzed Mr. Gabey's report carefully, and I can come to no other conclusion than we are being grossly overcharged."

"I am willing to sit down with experts and discuss this matter. It can be shown that I am wrong. I will be frank enough to admit it. That is all I asked of the water commissioners in the spring. They would not do it, but appealed to the hydro-electric commission."

Mr. Glaubitz was emphatic in stating that the water commissioners would have nothing to do with Aid. Richter, as the whole question was one for the hydro-electric commission to handle.

GIVE WEST LONDON SOUND RIVER WALL OF SOLID CEMENT

Bylaw Likely To Be Presented to the Ratepayers at Next Election.

CONTRACTOR FIGURING ON COST OF WORK

Offer Will Be Made to the City to Permanently Fortify the District From Floods.

A bylaw for a permanent breakwater in West London will be voted on by the ratepayers in January.

Mayor Graham announced today that a well-known contractor was engaged at the present time in making a survey of the river from Oxford street to the Dundas street bridge, securing data upon which to estimate the cost of a cement embankment that distance. This contractor will send in his offer within two weeks' time, and it will be submitted with the bylaw to the people.

Repairs have been made on the breakwater this year, but they are only temporary. City Solicitor Meredith notified the council earlier in the year, that nothing but temporary repairs could be made to the breakwater. Anything resembling permanent work would have to be paid for by debentures or on the local improvement plan. On this advice the council decided to expend $2,000 out of the general rate to make the breakwater safe for one season, and then take steps to construct a permanent embankment.

An estimate of the cost could not be obtained today, but it is expected that the amount will not be excessive. It is the intention if the work is decided upon to construct the face of reinforced concrete.

LOCAL OPTION WORKERS TO HAVE BIG CAMPAIGN

Meeting Will Choose Speakers From Ministers of All Denominations.

A series of meetings by the temperance people of London Township in connection with the local option campaign now being waged there.

A meeting of the executive of the temperance party has been called for Saturday next, and on Monday it is expected that all the ministers of the township, of all denominations, will meet in the Y. M. MISSIONARY SAFE IN JAPAN AT PRESENT

In Former Years He Entered Country With His Life in His Hands.

An interesting address was given by Rev. E. Wilkinson, a Japanese missionary on furlough, in Wesley Hall, of the First Methodist Church, telling of the advancement of civilization in the Oriental world.

Mr. Wilkinson stated that the Japan of today and the Japan when he first ventured into that far country with his message of the gospel, were two very different countries. In those early days the mission was despised and even hated, and always proceeded with the risk of being murdered. The missionary in Japan today is on a different footing. He is welcomed to the land and enjoys an influential position in the district. They recognize the value of the missionary and esteem him accordingly.

A vote of thanks was tendered the speaker at the conclusion of his address.

speakers will be Mr. R. B. Chadwick, Edmonton, Alta., and Mr. J. J. Kelso, Toronto, superintendent of the department for neglected and dependent children.

Addresses on mental defects are to be given by Dr. Henry A. Goddard, director of the Research Institution for the Feeble-Minded at Vineland, N. J.; Dr. George Villeneuve, Montreal, and Dr. Helen McMurchy, of Toronto. The judges of the juvenile courts in Montreal, Winnipeg and Toronto are to deliver papers on delinquent children, while the question of housing and public health is to be discussed by Dr. J. E. Laberge, medical health officer, Montreal; Dr. J. O. C. Hastings, medical health officer, Toronto; Dr. H. B. Yeats and G. Frank Beer, Toronto.

The subject of medical inspection of schools will be in the hands of Miss E. Rogers, supervisor of school nurses, Toronto, and Miss Eunice Dyke, also of Toronto.

Charity organization work in Canada is to be dealt with by Rev. J. A. Turnbull, Toronto; Rufus D. Smith, Montreal; J. Howard Falls and Samuel Arnold, Toronto; Rev. J. W. McMillan, Halifax, N. S., and Miss Helen Reid, Montreal. Papers on inebriates will be submitted by Rev. Father Minahan, Toronto; Dr. R. W. Bruce Smith, Toronto, and Recorder Weir, Montreal.

ANNEXATION AN AID TO SECURE MANUFACTURERS

Industrial Commissioner Says Several Americans Have Been Looking at Sites in Suburbs.

With the prospects of the annexation of the suburbs to the city comes the news that representatives from several industrial concerns from the American side have been recently visiting in the city looking for possible locations for factories.

Last week three or four representatives were here and went over the city in company with Industrial Commissioner Mr. J. Grant Henderson. They were shown over Pottersburg, Ealing and Chelsea Green, and were favorably impressed with the territory they viewed. However, before they would entertain the idea of locating in these parts, the suburbs must be annexed to the city. They would not think of selecting a site without adequate water collection, or a suitable waterworks system.

MR. NEELY SILENT

Has Not Made Promised Statement on Temperance So Far.

It was stated in the official organ of Mr. Geo. W. Neely, that the Conservative candidate would make an announcement today on his attitude towards the temperance question.

He has not done so as yet, and the organizers of the temperance movement are wondering if he will preserve a discretion on this most important question.

"We have heard nothing," said Mr. F. Whitehall, secretary of the committee, who interviewed Mr. Neely. "He stated that we would receive an answer today, but we have not."

ARRANGING DETAILS FOR EXHIBITION.

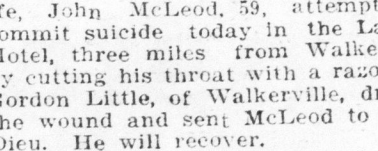

Another enthusiastic meeting of the committee arranging details of the world-wide exhibition to be held next week in Wesley Hall by the Epworth Leagues of the city was held at the Y. M. C. A. and was attended in good numbers.

Reports of committees were received and reviewed, and it was found that all departments of work were progressing enthusiastically. In order to give the public full opportunity of all the exhibits, it was decided to issue tickets that would permit of attendance at the exhibition, and at the lectures on different evenings.

This exhibition is to be one of high educational value, and is being promoted by the Young People's Forward Movement for Missions, locally assisted by missionaries on furlough and officers of the Epworth Leagues. It aims at interesting all in missionary endeavor, to accomplish this end, it has gathered a large number of strange articles, costumes of foreign countries, using motion pictures and eminent lecturers to make plain the work and aims of the missionary forces in Canada and elsewhere.

NEW RADIAL LINE TO ENTER FROM THE EAST

Lake Erie and Northern Railway Submits the Plans at Galt.

[Special To The Advertiser.] Galt, Oct. 8.—The Lake Erie and Northern Railroad has submitted to the town council a plan of the proposed route of entry into Galt, which it is expected will not meet with opposition.

Coming from Paris on the east side of the Grand River the route crosses the town council a plan of the proposed route of entry into Galt, which it is expected will not meet with opposition.

According to Superintendent the line crosses the property of the R. McDougall Company, necessitating the demolition of a portion of that plant, and then across the mill pond, which is to be filled in, to Main street. The company will erect a station at Main street on a portion of the filled-in pond, and direct connection will be made with the C. P. R. on the opposite side of the road, where the new $100,000 freight yard of the C. P. R. is to be situated. He also states that steel will be laid from this end during the coming winter.

CASH PRIZES FOR HISTORICAL ESSAYS

Teachers in London Are Likely To Enter Competition.

Circulars have been issued by the Ontario Historical Society, offering prizes for the best historical essay, to be written by citizens of this province.

The essays are to contain no more than 5,000 words, and are to be signed by a pseudonym. The prizes are $100 for first, $50 for second, and $40 for third. The competition closes on Dec. 31, 1912.

All essays are to be forwarded to Mr. Alex. Fraser, the secretary of the association, at the Parliament Buildings, Toronto. Mr. John Dearness, of this city, is president.

It is understood that a number of teachers and others in London, will enter the competition.

HAY ADVANCES TO $15 PER TON TODAY

Small Attendance Causes Few Farmers to Bring Produce to Market.

The feature of the small market today was the rise in the price of hay. As the farmers have not been attending market during the past week, there was a scarcity of hay, and as the demand was brisk the prices rose to $15 and $15 per ton. Only seven or eight loads were offered.

The only other offering besides hay today was fruit, of which there was but a medium-sized shipment received. Grapes were for the largest single offering of fruit, but the prices remained the same—20 and 25 cents per basket.

The prices were as follows:

A SURE, QUICK COLD CURE—ACTS GENTLY

Pape's Cold Compound Cures
Colds and Grippe in a Few Hours—Contains No
Quinine.

The most severe cold will be broken, and all grippe misery ended after taking a dose of Pape's Cold Compound every two hours until three consecutive doses are taken.

You will distinctly feel all the disagreeable symptoms leaving after the very first dose.

The most miserable headache, dullness, head and nose stuffed up, feverishness, sneezing, running of the nose, sore throat, mucous catarrhal discharges, soreness, stiffness, rheumatism pains and other distress vanishes.
Take this wonderful Compound as directed, with the knowledge that there is nothing else in the world, which will cure your cold or end grippe misery as promptly and without any other assistance or bad after-effects as a 25-cent package of Pape's Cold Compound, which any druggist can supply—contains no quinine—belonging in every home—accept no substitute. Tastes nice—acts gently.

Attend Convention at Hamilton.

The delegates elected from the different churches to attend the A. Y. P. convention left this morning for Hamilton. Among those going were:
Bishop Williams, Rev. C. R. Gunne,
Rev. W. R. Norwood, Rev. A. E. Appleyard, Rev. S. Hardy, Misses Wickoff, Lyla Winslowe, Ida Drake, Lottie
Armstrong, Ella Hayman and others.

Breaks Arm at Gymnasium.

Earl Austin, the 13-year-old son of Mr. James E. Austin, of 443 English street, is at Victoria Hospital with a fractured arm as a result of having fallen from "the horse" while taking physical exercise at the Y. M. C. A. gymnasium yesterday afternoon. Dr.
Beal reduced the fracture.

FRACTURES SKULL IN FALL FROM BRIDGE

Daniel Stewart Found Beneath
the Thames Street Viaduct

Seriously Injured.

Daniel Stewart, aged 30, who has been four years in Canada, and who until Tuesday morning boarded at 394 Ridout street, was found with a fractured skull and in an unconscious condition, on Thames street, beneath the Grand Trunk viaduct, late Tuesday night, and is now at Victoria Hospital, to which he was taken in the police ambulance.

Stewart worked with his brother-in-law, J. Williams, the London box works, until last Friday, and had continued to work steadily. However, it is claimed that he had a dispute with a relative and proceeded to forget his troubles.

Stewart was conveyed to Victoria Hospital in the police ambulance and was immediately taken to the operating room, where his condition was somewhat improved.

This morning he was reported to be resting somewhat more easily, although it is not certain that he will recover.

Stewart is unmarried.

MOTHERS' CLUBS HEAR REVIEW OF YEAR'S WORK

Mrs. (Dr.) Colin Smith Is President of Union for the Year.

Officers were elected and a report of the year's work submitted by Mrs.
Clytie E. Tanner, secretary, at the annual meeting of the Mothers' Club held recently.

There are thirteen Mothers' Clubs connected with the different schools in this city, which make up the Union Club. The payment of $1 or 50c (according to size of club), constitutes membership in the union. Last year St. George's was the banner club, having 30 members. Victoria is an energetic organization, deeply interested in the playgrounds movement, having raised by means of the canvass and a garden party $330 for the special work. Reports of the other clubs show good membership and increasing interest and enthusiasm in the work.

Part of the special work undertaken by the Union Club was along the line of public playgrounds, the members having secured Dr. Curtis, organizing expert, to lecture in the city. The outcome is known to all, namely, the equipping of four of the school grounds as playgrounds for those distressed.

It was thought by members that the clubsters of the Union Club would help along the problems of the home and school, and to this end Mesdames Irwin and Tanner waited on the Ministerial Alliance and put the matter before them.

Numerous complaints of various natures had been heard from time to time concerning Victoria Hospital, and Col. Garshore asked the Majority Club to appoint a delegation to inspect the institution. They did so and were most cordially received by officials and staff, and found everything above reproach. Rules and regulations seemingly harsh were explained and the delegation was perfectly satisfied.

Mr. Beal, of the Alexandra school, lectured on "Manual Training," and opened the eyes of many by his clear and comprehensive survey of the subject.

The club is also indebted to Mr.
Deane, of the Normal School, for a splendid talk on "Temperament as a Guide to Discipline."

Before the last municipal election
the Mothers' Club, working in connection with other women's organizations endeavored to have representation on the school board. The meetings and discussions on the subject were very educational to the majority of women, and although no candidate was put in the field, they felt that they had done their duty.

4. What have we learned about public playgrounds?

5. The use and abuse of drugs in the home.

6. Are the principles of education, as given by the greatest authority,
carried out in our schools?

7. How can we simplify our mode of living so that the mother may have more rest and time for the greatest essentials?

MET AT THAMESFORD

St. Andrew's Missionary Society Gave Secretary a Warm Welcome.

[Special to The Advertiser.]

Thamesford, Oct. 9.—The members of the W. P. M. S. of St. Andrew's Church, at the regular meeting, were pleased to have the secretary, Mrs. W.
McLeod, with them after her recent serious illness. The society will hold its annual thank offering meeting on Oct. 21, when Mrs. John Patterson, lately missionary in India, will give an address, and tell of the needs of India.

The guild of St. Andrew's Church are going to hold a box social on the evening of Oct. 18.

Mr. George A. McPherson, of Kam-loops, visited friends and relatives here recently. It is 22 years since he left Niagara.

Miss Mabel Hogg, of Port Moody, is at home for the winter.

RAN A "BLIND PIG."

[Special to The Advertiser.]

St. Thomas, Oct. 9.—Charles Duncan, a colored man, was found guilty by Magistrate Glenn yesterday of conducting a "blind pig" and was fined $20 with costs, amounting to $2.85, with the option of one month in jail. Duncan was given two weeks to find the money.

The West Calls for Help.

Twenty Thousand Harvesters Wanted.

The crops in Western Canada have been so heavy this year that it has been necessary for the farmers of the west to make wider appeal for help than ever, and it will require at least twenty thousand additional men to complete the harvesting.

In order to relieve the situation the Canadian Pacific Railway has decided to run a harvesters' excursion, Monday, Oct. 14, to Winnipeg, return fare from Winnipeg $18.

Full particulars from any C. P. R. agent.

W. Fulton, C. P. and T. A., London. 30n

More Men Required to Harvest West- ern Canada Crops—$10 to Win- nipeg, Oct. 14.

On account of the urgent appeal from the west for additional farm laborers, the Grand Trunk Pacific have decided to run another excursion on Monday, Oct. 14, from all stations in Canada, $10 to Winnipeg via Chicago and Duluth, plus half-cent mile from Winnipeg to destination, but not beyond Macleod, Calgary or Edmonton.
Returning, half-cent mile to Winnipeg, plus $18 to destination in Eastern Canada. The farmers along the Grand Trunk Pacific pay the maximum wages and this is an excellent chance for young men to visit the west. The route via Chicago is an attractive one, as many large cities and towns are passed en route, which breaks the monotony of the journey, as there is something new to see all the time.

The Grand Trunk Pacific Railway is the shortest and quickest route between Winnipeg-Saskatoon-Edmonton.
Ask nearest Grand Trunk agent for full particulars, tickets, etc. or write city where a fine new building for the furtherance of their work will be erected shortly. This was stated at the annual meeting held yesterday afternoon in the school room of the Askin Street Methodist Church. The property is situated on Park avenue, south of Queen's, and at the next regular meeting of the union, Oct. 25, building plans will be submitted and a board of trustees appointed to take charge of arrangements. Mrs. H.

Asplund and Mrs. Weekes were chosen as trustees pro tem.

Reports of Work.

Interesting reports of the work being done by the various departments of the W. C. T. U. were read. Devotional meetings have been held at frequent intervals during the year, with several members of the city clergy taking part. Religious and temperance literature is distributed amongst the colored population of the city, and it is hoped to hold a public meeting for them shortly.

Temperance Work.

The introduction of temperance work into Sunday school, mission bands, Epworth Leagues, etc., has been largely in charge of Miss Yeates.
Temperance quartettes are now going into some twenty Sunday schools, and it is hoped by the W. C. T. U.
that other schools will also lend their co-operation this year. It was stated that over 200 pupils recently pledged themselves to abstain from the use of the cigar.

Another Good Work.

Visiting has been done in the jail and city hospital, flowers, fruit, and reading matter being donated to patients in the latter institution. Those in charge of the different branches of work are: Evangelistic, Mrs. Hea-man; parlor meetings, Mrs. Larsche; work among Africans, Mrs. West; jail work, Mrs. Wallace; sailors' department, Mrs. Wray; temperance in Sunday schools, Miss Yeates; mission field, Mrs. Asplund; mothers' union,
Mrs. Asplund; narcotic report, Mrs.
Sadler; hospital, Mrs. Webster; press,
Miss Coyne; law and legislation Miss Hurst; unfermented wine, Mrs. James.
Good Financial Year.

The annual report of the treasurer,
Mrs. Weekes, was not quite completed owing to some funds yet to be paid in,
but it was stated that the year had been very successful financially. The statement of receipts at the dining hall during fair week showed a clearance of over $300.

Reports of the president, Mrs. Asplund, and of Mrs. Wray, the corresponding secretary, were also most optimistic in tone. The organization of the Y. W. C. A. in connection with the union was felt to be an important step. Petitions had been sent to the Government re amendment of the liquor license laws, the prohibition of the sale of liquor on statutory holidays, and the passing of a new law whereby intoxicants might not be sold in close proximity to a factory. The stand taken by Mr. Rowell, the Liberal leader, was felt to be a very strong support.

Two delegates were chosen to attend the provincial convention in Renfrew on Oct. 28, and following days.

The New Executive.

The election of officers for the ensuing year resulted in the following slate: President, Mrs. Asplund; vice-president, Mrs. Heaman; treasurer, Mrs. Weekes; corresponding secretary, Miss Yeates; recording secretary, Mrs. Wray.

Refreshments were served at the close of the meeting by those members connected with Askin Street Church.

A pleasant feature of the afternoon was a Bible reading by Rev. Mr.
Harvey, and a solo by Miss Talbot.

SPECIAL OFFICER TO DEAL WITH WHITE SLAVE CASES

Three or Four Suspects Taken Almost Daily at the Tunnel or Detroit Causes Authorities To Take Action.

SARNIA BRANCH OFFICE,
209 Front Street.
Office hours: 9 a.m. to 5:30 p.m., 5:30 p.m. to 7:00 p.m.

[Special to The Advertiser.]

Sarnia, Oct. 9.—Attorney Carl Wagner, of Port Huron, has been appointed white slave officer by the United States Government for the district surrounding that city. The appointment of Mr. Wagner is but one of the many being made throughout the States to enforce the Mann act.

Hitherto this law has been handled by the police and the immigration officials almost entirely, but now under the new legislative enactment the district officers appointed will have absolute supervision, although the others will co-operate with them on all such cases. The best of men have been picked for the service along the border, and especially in Port Huron and Detroit, where the white slave cases are unusually numerous.

As high as three or four couples are detained or rejected by the American authorities almost daily, most of whom come through the Sarnia tunnel. The new appointee to the office is a civil war veteran, and has practiced law for over 30 years. The white slave traffic has become a serious problem along the border, and no efforts are being spared to eradicate the evil by the American courts.

DUCK SHOOTING IN ST. CLAIR DISTRICT

Authorities Keeping Close Watch For Those Who Break the Law.

[Special to The Advertiser.]

Sarnia, Oct. 9.—Now that the duck shooting season has opened, the officers of the law are kept busy watching for those sportsmen who evade the provisions of the law, and especially the Yankee hunters, who come across the river and shoot in Canadian waters and in the Detroit and St. Clair districts. The latter have been paid a visit to Stag Island yesterday, looking for violators of the law, but came back empty handed.

The coroner's jury yesterday viewed the body of Andrew Johnson, who was killed by a freight train. The inquest will be held next Thursday night.

The ferryboat Hiawatha, running between Sarnia and Port Huron, met with an accident to her engine today, and was forced to lay up for several hours. It is understood that the American inspectors of vessels are making two or three important changes in the life-saving apparatus board the four boats belonging to the Ferry Company.

FEAR INCENDIARY

Recent Blaze in McLaughlin Stables
May Be Firebug's Work.

[Special to The Advertiser.]

Sarnia, Oct. 9.—It is said that the fire in McLaughlin's stables was of incendiary origin. An investigation disclosed that the blaze started in the hay mow and looked as if the fire-bugs were again at work. A reward of $100 was offered by the town during the epidemic of fires last spring, which evidently scared the guilty parties, and for nearly three months no alarms have been turned in.
