Little Hope Held For His Recovery by Hospital

Langlois Lefroy, 407 Merton street Toronto, who has been staying in the Tecumseh House for several days. was found in his room this morning by a bellboy lying on the floor in a heap and in a semi-conscious condition.

The bellboy. Alex. Black, had been sent up to the room on the third floor, because the telephone operator reported that the buzzar on the switchboard corresponding to that room was ringing continuously, and she could get no answer from the party at the other end. When he was found the man was lying on the was found the man was lying on the floor and was crying out, "Doctor! Doctor!"

Black then went down to the office and reported what he had seep. The manager of the hotel then went to the man's room and there he found him lying in a heap on the floor, and him lying in a heap on the floor, and saw that his face was covered with a green powder. Dr. C. P. Jento was called, and as soon as he arrived he saw that the man had taken paris green. He ordered him sent to Victoria Hospital.

A stomach pump was brought into play immediately and the man restused to allow them to put the pump down his throat. The pump was forced down into his stomach and the paris green numbed out, but he had had the poison in him such a length of time that small hope is held out for his recovery.

Attendance at Collegiate Will Increase 150, Principal Announces.

REGISTER NOW

There will be an increase of 150 pupils attending the London collegiate this year over last year, according to Principal Everton Miller. The school will have to house 1,600 pupils this year and the problem of doing this with inadequate accommodation is being met by the principal with temporary measures. Final figures as to attendance are not available until the examination results in the high school are announced, but the expected increases in the three units are divided as follows: central collegiate, from 829 last term to 850 this fall; east unit, from 245 to 300, and south unit, from 346 to 425. These figures give the fall total of 1.575, but further additions are expected to bring it up to

It will be noticed that the greatest increase in attendance is made in the south collegiate. This has been made possible through Victoria school arranging to provide two extra classrooms to supplement the high school. The central collegiate will continue to use the old commercial school, known as the north building, while the east unit will be the old Princess avenue school as usual.

Principal Miller explained that several factors had contributed to increasing the collegiate attendance. One fact that jobs are quite difficult to obtain this year and consequently the would-be entrants into the busi ness world have decided to come back to school for another term.

Not Much Work.

"It is an established fact that when positions are hard to get the secondary school attendance in-creases," stated Mr. Miller. "The poys who realize that their chances of securing good employment with chances of advancement depends up on the education with which they are

Another contributing factor which not quite so apparent, but is none less felt, is that many families are moving into London from the country and district towns to send one or more of their children to University of Western Ontario. The principal reports that time after time he has interviewed fathers who are moving to London in order to provide higher education for their children. As soon as one child is old enough to attend "Western" the family moves in and the younger children are placed in the collegiate Another indication of large attendance is the large registration made in

I was in Toronto last week and there the officials of the department of education told me that the demand for teachers for the various technical schools was unusually large. This they attributed to the increasing demand for technical school graduates and the larger attendance of pupils in the schools.
"This year, for the first time, the department is providing a special intensive commercial course in all the technical schools. It will be run the technical schools are the technical schools. This course is limited to pupils with two years of collegiate standing, and is intended for such pupils who find that they would prefer a commercial life and want a commercial course to fit them for the work. It is an entirely new departure by the department, and the officials expect the greatest success for it."

Mr. Beal will be in his office at the school every Tuesday, Thursday and Saturday evenings to meet all parents and guardians who wish to discuss courses and work of their Lidren with him. This is part of the work of the technical school to which particular care is given. He emphasizes the fact that with all courses in the technical school, the legiate is given and that a pupil passing through any course is every bit as well qualified for life from the academic standing as a pupil who takes the usual work in the colleelder Coolidge, knows what the president wants, and makes no fuss about getting it for him. "When you know what he wants, that's what he wants, and that's what he gets," she said succinctly in reply to a question whether the executive is fussy about what he eats.

The elder Coolidge called Aurora into confidence when it was decided that the president would spend his vacation in the simple and almost primitive home, and the cone suggested, very tactfully, that probably Aurora would like to have help to keep the house up and to do the cooking. This was the first time that help had ever been offered Aurora, and she didn't take to it kindly.

The evening meal is at six. This is called supper. When she and the colonel are alone it consists of some light dish, but now it's different. What the meal consists of depends ntirely upon what was served at dinner.

The president's favorite pie is custard. Aurora says that she just makes the crust and relies for the filling on the recipe left by her late mistress. Horticultural Society Secretary Enthusiastic Over Present Exhibits.

"The biggest and best in years" was the verdict of H. J. Childs, secretary of the London Horticultural Society, speaking regarding the society's gladioli and dahlia show, clery's gladion and danna snow, opening today.

Webster defines the gladion as a "sword lily" and the dahlia as a "composite plant with large, bright flowers," but then Webster was not a member of the L. H. S. and had a super been present at one of their never been present at one of their exhibitions. That may explain the impotence of his description. According to Mr. Childs, the dahlia is slightly more popular than its deli-cate rival, the gladioli. Large exhibits of both are pouring in from all over the district, changing the show-room into a veritable "court of color" —bold red and yellow striving for supremacy over the more delicate mauves and pinks, and scenting the air with a faint, indescribable per-

Conservative Leader Upholds Tariff Wall As Panacea For Farm Troubles.

Canadian Press Despatch. Eugenia Falls, Ont., Aug. 21 .-What Canada wants through this period of business depression is a return to the national policy which aims to retain Canada for the Canadian people, according to the slogan which Right Hon. Arthur Meighen, leader of the Conservrative party. leader of the Conservrative party, broadcasted at this center today, when he addressed several thousand when he addressed several thousand people, mostly farmers, from the northern counties, gathered in this former stronghold of the U. F. O. Mr. Meighen touched upon many phases of the administration of the King government, but the point which he emphasized most was that the time has come when the people in general can no longer overlook the importance of an adequate protection for Canadian farmers as well as for Canadian industry, and that the only thing which can allow Canada to take her proper place among the

It may have been true that during his pre-elec-tion promises the present premier tion promises the present premier threatened to make tariff reductions in seventeen leading commodities, in-cluding foodstuffs, but nothing apcluding foodstuffs, but nothing appeared to be further from the mind of the government than that such the specifications. He had another threats should be into combine the Prothreats should be into commission "I doubt." he said. "whether this firm knows what the union printers wake is. The clause in the bylaw temanding this was to insure a standard of living, not to enforce any stated wage. For this reason I am opposed to the tender being given to this firm."

Then the time came when the Progressives held the whip hand, and so a certain part of Canada's tariff had to be bartered. That is the way it went at the last session of parliament with the bringing down of the budget and that is the way it will go with the next budget if Mr. King hangs on that long.

The past has demonstrated that

Have You a "Susan" in Your Family? Someone Who Goes Shabby in Order to Support Parents or Relatives Whom You. Too, Should Care For?-If So, You Should Divide Up With Her. Don't Be a Welcher a Minute Longer.

Have you a little martyr in your family? If you have, don't pile any more faggots around the stake at which she is being slowly roasted. Don't give the thumbscrews another turn. Don't add to the burdens under which she is being crushed.

You don't know what I mean? Well, then, listen to the story of Susan, and perhaps it will enlighten you, and as Captain Cuttle used to say. "the bearings of the story is the application thereof."

Susan is a woman in her late thirties, but so tired and worn that she looks older. She is a competent stenographer and earns a good salary but she is always shabby because it takes so much money to support her family that she never has any to spend on herself. Susan is the youngest one of a large family. All of the other brothers and sisters are married and have established homes, with wives and husbands and children of their own. But Susan has never married, although she had many chances to do so in her youth, because somebody had to take care of mother.

The brothers and sisters were quite horrified at the thought of mother being left alone in her old age with nobody to look after her. But none of them volunteered to break up their own homes and take

Mother had no money, and just as soon as she was out of school Susan went to work to support her and an old aunt, who wished herself on Susan. Ever since Susan has been footing the bills. The other sons and daughters are so sorry they can't help, but are always building a new house, or buying a new car, or expanding their business, or sending their children off to college, or taking a trip to Europe, so really they haven't a penny that they can

But they are very dutiful about coming to see mother, and paying her long visits when they are tired out and want to rest, and they often send the children to spend months at a time with grandma. In fact, there is hardly ever a time when there isn't some one of them staying there. And in the summer they make it a custom to have a family reunion in the old home. It is so nice for mother to have all of her children and grandchildren together with her.

That's the time when Susan runs into debt to the butcher and grocer, for it never occurs to the well-off sisters and brothers to pay board. although they are eloquent enough about the high cost of living when it touches their own pocketbooks. They ignore the fact that it is because Susan has had to feed them and their hungry children that she can't afford the new dress she needs so badly.

Susan's life is a dull, hopeless grind. All day at the office, and then back home at night to the society of two querulous, tiresome old women, who tell the same old stories over and over again, and who have a thousand whims and crochets that must be catered to. The brothers and sisters say that it is just wonderful the patience The brothers and sisters say that it is just wonderful the patience was a recent guest with his sister, Susan has with mother and Aunt Hannah, but none of them ever come and Mrs. S. W. Howe, King street.

gets a little much-needed rest. Yet mother is just as much the other children's mother as she is Susan's. Mother did for them just as much as she did for Susan. Their duty to mother is just as great as is Susan's. It is just as much up to them to help support her as it is Susan.

They have no right to dump the whole burden of mother's support on Susan, and to sacrifice Susan on the family altar. Still less have they the right to sponge on Susan's meagre purse and force her to take care of their children. It is a beastly selfish thing they do, and they don't make amends by calling Susan a saint. It isn't a halo Susan wants. She desires a twenty-five dollar hat.

Nor does mother appreciate what Susan does for her. It takes every cent that Susan makes to feed and clothe mother, and keep a roof above her head and a fire in the furnace. Mother takes all of this for granted. with never a thank for it, but she has spasms of appreciation and gratitude for the five-dollar bill that her sons occasionally send her, and the lace collar and the knitted shawl that Maud and Geraldine presented to her on

It is the children that have gone into the world and who have fine homes and go into society and who are successful 4n business of whom mother is proud. It is their exploits of which she brags. and she wants them to spend their money in making a splurge. Susan will take care of her. Poor Susan, who was never pretty or dashing or ambitious like the other girls.

It is the old, old story of the Prodigal Son, who has the fatted calf slain for him, while the good son never gets so much as a veal

Have you a Susan in your family? If so, quit being a welcher. Divide up. with her. It is just as much your duty to help take care of your parents

THE SEA HAWK

To Sir Oliver Tressilian, renowned for his exploits on the Spanish Main, comes Peter Godolphin, insulting and threatening to forbid Oliver's marriage with his sister, Rosamund. Because of personal enmity growing out of land disputes, both Peter and Rosamund's guardian, Sir John Rosamund's guardian, Sir John Killigrew, oppose the marriage. Incensed at Sir John's reference to him as a "pirate," Oliver engages him in a duel. His young half-brother, Lionel, awaits his return, anxiety tempered with speculation as to now Oliver's death would affect his own fortunes. Oliver, he realizes, accumulated considerable wealth through his adventures on the Spanish Main.

It was into his ear that the dying man had poured the wretched tale of his repentance for the life he had lived and the state in which he was leaving his affairs with such scant provision for his sons.

For Oliver he had no fear. His "Master Lionel!" Master Lionel!" Master Lionel!" Master Lionel!" he cried, his small, bright eyes concernedly scanning his young masteriul child of his first marriage. Resentment Fills Reddy Fox's Heart Because Buster Visited the Pasture

"Spreading the News" in Ancient Days

According to records, the first English newspaper was published in 1622, when Nathaniel Butter issued his Weekly News.

Before that date, though, public letter writers have been traced to 1588, furnishing "newsletters" to anyone desiring their services.

C. OF C. TOUR TIGHTENS INTER COMMUNITY TIES

Business and Professional Men of London Visit Western Ontario Towns.

SPLENDID RECEPTION

Many Speeches Prove Friendly Spirit of Co-operation Between Counties.

The towns on the route followed yesterday by the London Chamber of Commerce on its motor tour of Western Ontario vied with each other in extending to the visitors a toyal and hearty welcome. The towns at which the party stopped were Mitchell, Listowel, Wingham, Clinton and Exeter. The visit to Lucan was postponed until a later occasion, owing to the late hour of arrival.

Gordon Ingram, R. H. Dowler, and Gordon Philip, president, vice-president and secretary, respectively, of the local chamber, headed the delegation. They were ably supported by Mayor G. A. Wenige and Dean Sherwood Fox, head of the faculty of arts of the Wenige and Dean Sherwood Fox, head of the faculty of arts of the University of Western Ontario, and J. H. Saunders, president of the Western Fair board.

Sergt. Thomas McDonald's pipers enlivened the trip by their presence, the Scotch dancing of Miss Lenora Gilmore being particularly ap-preciated at both Listowel and Wingham. The other members of being particularly ap-at both Listowel and the band were Miss Belle McIntyre, Stewart McCallum and Donald Ellis. Arrive at Mitchell.

Upon the arrival of the London party at Mitchell at 10:45 a.m. they were greeted by Mayor E. D. Cam-eron and Dr. E. T. Brown, president of the Mitchell Board of Trade, as well as by the Mitche'l Musical So-clety Band and 500 of the citizens of

In welcoming the party from the balcony of the Hicks' House, Mayor Cameron stated that Mitchell residents believed they lived in the best town in Western Ontario, and de-towns had widened considerably." He instanced the spontaneous help given Mitchell last year by five of her sister towns in celebrating Old Home week. Dr. Brown also pointed but that the automobile had permitting that the automobile had permitting the property of the board of trade, the president of the boa but that the automobile had permit-ted Mitchell citizens to visit London ride on the street railway and to eat peanuts while picnicking at Springbank Park." He also pointed out that Mitchell sent some of her population Mitchell sent some of her population to London to attend the university.

DOMINIONS MUST IHINK OF DEFENSE

Vice-Admiral Intimates Question of Fleet Should Receive Consideration.

PREMIER SPEAKS

Canadian Press Despatch. Ottawa, Aug. 21.—"I must in duty remind you that it takes three years to build a ship and nine years to train the crew to man her." Thus Vice-Admiral Sir Frederick Field, commanding the special service squadron now touring the empire, declared at a dinner given here in his honor tonight by Hon. E. M. MacDonald, minister of national defence. Sir Frederick was speaking in reply to the toast of his health and that of the officers of the special service squadron, proposed by Premier King and seconded by Sir Robert Borden, Canada's premier during the war.

Premier King spoke in high terms of the work of the navy in the war, of the value of the cruise of the special service squadron, and, on behalf of the Dominion government, extended a warm welcome to Canada.

There were some, the premier continued, who were apt to criticize Canada's navy, and in this connection he was reminded of a reference in the Bisley Who's Who to Sergeant Burke, winner of this year's king's prize. In thet, Who's Who, declared Mr. King, the only reference to Burke was "new blood." - "The Canadian naval service," he went on, "is the new blood in the great naval power which has meant so much in the history of the world.

Will Play Part. "But should a critical situation ever arise. I think the new blood in Spencer, in charge of the provincial any department of our national life may be expected to do its part in a manner which will do credit to the

Mr. King expressed a wish that Admiral Field might have been able to cross Canada, and thus have been to cross Canada. better able to study its problems and the difficulties before it. He spoke mers he has been in the beautiful the b of Canada's four thousand miles of corn borer district, studying the the principle which had animated relations in the North American the life habits and general activities international frontier, stressing that the principle which had animated relations in the North American Continent had been the settlement of difficulties by arbitration. Mr Spencer declares that although the for further reference. thought it was to reason we should look as a solution of international difficulties. At the same time, the prime minister concluded, looking back at the years immediately behind us, any man who believed at all in the manhood of the British people would feel that should the situation ever require it. Canada and the other deminister would be represented to deminister would be represented. Mr. Spencer declares that, although the corn borers had not become any worse within a radius of four miles of Union, the situation outside of that was not so good. From Sparta to Aylmer the corn fields had been attacked to a greater extent, and in the worse within a radius of four miles of Union, the situation outside of that was not so good. From Sparta to Aylmer the corn fields had been attacked to a greater extent, and in the ever require it. Canada and the other dominions would be prepared to do their part as they had done it in the bast.

Sir Robert Borden said that, if possible, he would like the whole population of Canada to go to the coast and see the special service squadron and further, he would have liked to see some of the public men in Great Britain accompanying the squadron on its cruise and learn a little more than they seemed to know about the British Commonwealth.

Must Move Slowly. The nations of the British Commonwealth had made one of the most successful experiments in government the world had ever known. Some seemed to think that the relations of the dominion to the mother country might be more clearly defined, but Sir Robert felt that any movement of that kind should be one of slow

The four foundation stones of the tonomy, equality, justice "I think," Sir Robert went on, "that Great Britain has already understood, and certainly we in the dominions understand that this great common-wealth can only be kept together by observing the principle of equal nationhood. But I believe—and I think there is something to be said from the standpoint of Britain perhaps, and it ought to be continually in the minds of us of the Dominions, that we cannot assign to or claim that we cannot aspire to or claim the status or privilege of nationhood unless we are prepared to accept its responsibilities. I venture to think that the future of this great dominion, or of any great dominion, will be infinitely greater within that commonwealth than it would be out side, and I venture to think also that It would be a most unworthy aspirathe would be a most unworthy aspiration on the part of any of the dominions to seek to hold the status, the prestige of nationhood, and at the same time seek to avoid the attendant responsibilities."

He felt however, that Canada would again do her wort investigations.

Tecumsehs Land In Third Place After Coming Out of Slump To Beat Anglers

Gehringer's Triple in Eighth Is Deciding Factor in Close

LOSING STREAK OF TECS ENDS

Struggle. IN THIRD PLACE

What listened like a ferocious, vicious snarling rally of three hits, after the famine of timely blows there has been during the last six playing days, was unleashed by the Beattyman in the eighth frame of yesterday's farewell appearance of the Muskegon Anglers. It brought two runs, a 3 to 2 victory, and the Londoners to the end of a losing streak which was getting monotonous and a trifle wearing, and put them in third place, as Flint lost. Singles by Beatty and Nason, sacrifice hits by Tice and Coogan, and a larruping triple by Gehringer were the magic the local conjurers used to bring forth a victory before the unbelieving customers. The latter expected some awful break to happen along in the ninth and prove the whole thing a hoax and an illusion, but Achenbach turned the invaders back in his half of the ninth and in order.

Heretofore, the main interest in a series between Flint and London has been whether London could maintain their sway over the Vehics they've held all season. Flint owed little to London for making a runaway race of the first series.

In the game here today and the double-header Saturday, a little heart interest will therefore be injected for the first time this year. With the season but two weeks from closing, the Flint club will be putting everything they've got into every game so that they will be well up in the second series race when it closes and as well be set to play real ball in the play-off series. Not that the Flinters have laid down on the job since they won the first series. But baseball history shows that split seasons have a bad effect on the team winning the first half. Having won their first half, a team has little to lose in the second lap and that knowledge has a tendency to eventually shade down the fighting spirit of a club, no matter how hard the team may try to stave it off.

Flint has lost Runser from the infield, but the youngster Martin has filled in very nicely. Regan at first base it out with a broken leg and the Vehics inner works is therefore half new. Jackson the pitcher who always seemed to have the faculty of arousing some antagonism in the local fans, has gone to the American Association, but otherwise the experienced and well-balanced flinging corps of the Vehics is intact. It should be a tidy series. The locals were elated coming out of their slump the way they did yesterday. something at stake. Heretofore, Associated Press Despatch. New York, Aug. 21.—Rounding the last turn for the wire the Brooklyn Dodgers, hard ridden by Uncle Robble, are making a desperate bid to overhaul the league-leading Giants and the Pirates in second place.

The Dodgers took the last game of the series from the Smoky City aggregation, 3—2, yesterday, after 11 hard-fought innings for their third successive victory and went into third place in the league standing, passing the Cubs, who dropped both ends of a double-header to the tailare making a desperate bid to ends of a double-header to the tailend Boston club, 2-0, 5-0.

The Cardinals took a new lease or curtain raiser and the sight-cap. 3-1, and 13-10, but are so far in the ruck that only a miracle can bring them into the money. Only one game was played in the younger league, Boston nosing out Cleveland in a well-played contest, 5 to 4. Flagstaff, hero of the game, made four hits, a sensational run-ning catch, and was instrumental in

What is a Tube Worth?

YOU wouldn't pay the price of a casing for a tube. Yet many motorists risk a costly casing to save a few cents on the price of a tube. For a poor tube, by causing under-inflation, may easily ruin the casing.

through imperceptibly. Tubes made from one thickness of rubber will always have this fault, because it is impossible to detect flaws in thick rubber.

Poor tubes allow air to seep

But Goodyear Tubes are laminated-built up, layer on layer, of pure, tissue-thin rubber, each layer thin enough to be properly inspected for sand or other foreign material. The valve-patch is vulcanized into the tube, not stuck on. The whole is made as near permanent air-tightness as is possible.

So, for the good of your casings, we urge you to buy Goodyear Tubes. They will add to your tire mileage. And as tubes they will give you unusually long and satisfactory service.

Thee Thousand British Families To Settle on Canadian Farms.

Associated Press Despatch London, Aug. 22.—Describing the agreement between Canada and the British Government for the settle-British Government for the settle-ment of three thousand British fami-lies on Canadian farms as the most important development since the empire settlement act was passed, the Daily Telegraph, in an editorial. Telegraph, in an editoria says that each new settler who makes good in Canada or any other domin-ion, becomes inevitably a willing customer for things Britain makes. Continuing the newspaper says:
"The present government, in lindness, has denounced imperia preference, but that decision preference, but that decision is re-garded only as a temporary setback We are confident that as settlements proceed family sentiment will be pro noted, and this development will ink imperial preference permanently

Defence Devotes Much Time to Analyzing Alienists'

Testimony. Associated Press Despatch

Chicago, Aug. 22.-That Nathan Leopold Jun. and Richard Loeb have paranoid personalities was the direct statement made today to Judge John R. Caverly by Walter Bachrach one of the attorneys who are trying to possible for him to stand the pain. save from the gallows the admitted murderers of Robert Franks.

Mr. Bachrach devoted much of his argument to an analysis of the medical testimony, asserting that the state's alienists had taken insufficient opportunity to study the youths. He also intimated that those observations had been made with the idea of stopping the defense based upon legal insanity and therefore failed to take into considerations symptoms which would show a mental disease short of insanity. Mr. Bachrach examination to prove his point as to the character of the state's investigation. He followed this with quota tions from a book written by Drs. H. Douglas Singer and William O. Krohn, other state alienists. From this volume he read symptoms of paranoia and pointed out that these TO END IN TWO WEEKS

Local Market

With the demand for hay stronger than ever and supplies diminishing to-day's situation is regarded by buyers as nothing short of serious. Only two loads were brought to town this morning. The quality was poor, but they sold without difficulty at $9 and $11 a ton. Buyers have held orders for a week which they cannot fill, and the prospects for the next two weeks are not very bright. Harvest is claiming the major attention throughout the district, and farmers are loath to spare the time to haul hay to the city when the year's crops are on the fields.

One load of oats sold at $1.70 a cwt. Indications point at a record market

Chicago, Aug. 22.—Corn met with a rush of selling and underwent a decided new setback in price today during the early dealings. Warm weather was the principal bearish factor. Opening prices, which varied from unchanged figures to a drop of 2c, were followed by a good rally, but then by down turns all around to well below the initial range. Wheat was weakened as a result of sympathy with corn. At first, however, buying gave wheat a temporary brisk upturn. After opening at %c off to %c up, the wheat market showed material gains, and then a fractional general loss.

Oats, as well as wheat, were governed largely by corn, starting at %c to %c decline. Oats rallied to a moderate extent, but soon receded in a pronounced manner.

BEFORE CABINET

Council Meets For First Time Since Holiday-Larkin To Attend.

Canadian Press Despatch.

Ottawa, Aug. 21. - The capitol woke from the holiday doldrums today. The cabinet held its first council in a fortnight. The first important social function since prorogation took the form of a state dinner attended by all official Ottawa to mark the arrival of Vice-Admiral Sir Frederick Field and his staff. Hon. P. C. Larkin, high commissioner in London, arrived on his annual business visit.

The cabinet occupied itself with the mass of routine business which has accumulated since its last meeting. "We were building bridges all has accumulated since its last meeting. "We were building bridges all afternoon," said Hon. George P. Graham, who presided in the absence of Premier King. The prime minister was occupied with social duties throughout the day.

The cabinet sits all day Friday. It is expected that by-election cam-paigns and the premier's tour of the west will compel the postponement of further councils until well on in the fall. It seems likely, therefore, that the numerous appointments to that the numerous appointments to fill vacancies on the judiciary and elsewhere will have to be made to-morrow. Many guesses are being made as to who will get these ap-rointments but nothing definite is pointments, but nothing definite is known as yet.

Imperial relations and trade conditions in Europe, as well as immigra-tion, will be discussed tomorrow, when Hon. P. C. Larkin attends the cabinet council. He did not attend oday's council to be considered is the exact status of a London conference proposed by Premier Ramsay MacDonald for this fall, which would define the conditions on which future imperial con-ferences would be held. Canada has accepted on the understanding that ference proper, but a sort of pre-liminary ways and means committee to discuss the scope of future im-perial conferences. On this question perial conferences, on this question only to extinguish the blaze.

AWAITING CIRCUS

Camels, Elephants, Hot Dogs and Circus Lemonade To Be Abundant Wednesday.

AT QUEEN'S PARK

A few days now and there will roll out of the dawn the great truckling wagons of the Sparks Circus, in London, for a one-day's stay, Wednesday, August 27. From nowhere it will appear to come, the great It will appear to come, the great tents will go magically into the air— it will seem that the great mushroom growth "just happened," but it didn't. For months the men have been working that the Sparks Circus might come to London. And when it arrives it will mean that the efforts of more than a hundred men who have gone before it have been suc-

The first man to start in the advance of a circus is the first contracting agent. His task is to prepare the way for the coming of others. Then there starts, three weeks before the circus, the No. 1 adventus of the company of the circus, the No. 1 adventus of the circus of the circ vertising car, carrying 25 bill posters, lithographers, banner tackers and others. A few days and there comes others. A few days and there comes the first press agent. Then comes the second contracting agent, then the No. 2 car with 25 more men. Another wait and still another press agent. Then a week before the show comes the third car with more men. And should this be not enough, there is a brigade of eight men who are supposed to work as hard and do as much as the 60 or 70 men on the three cars.

But the list isn't complete yet. There arrive the programmers, who

There arrive the programmers, who pass out small billing, and the heralds. And then, just to see that everything has been done right, there arrive the "checkers up," who go over the work done by everyone and see that it is done correctly. And even then the work is not ended.

For there yet must come the 24hour men, who notify every person seen by the contracting agents just when the circus is to arrive and when the supplies must be on the lot. And so, when the Sparks Circus "happen so rival. For a hundred men have gone before it—and never a detail is reglected—even to the routing of the parade and the bumps in the road that lead from the railway tracks to the lot. But the work of a circus doesn't show on the surface. And it shouldn't. For if there's anything that should show it's the romantic side, it is the place of glaring chandeliers and sprinkled wood shavings—the circus.

Seats can be secured circus day at the state of the shaving sh

Seats can be secured circus day at Strong's Drug Store, 184 Dundas street, same price as at the show grounds. Circus prices—children under 9 years of age, 30 cents, adults, 75 cents. Exhibition grounds, S. W. section, Fair Grounds.

VERSES AND REVERSES.

By SAMUEL HOFFENSTEIN.

Jingle-Jangle Reverie.

The sun arises in the east And bread arises out of yeast. And while the zenith is its goal. The bears are freezing at the pole. I do not know the reason why The sun should choose the eastern sky.

When it might just as well arise
In any quarter of the skies.
I only know that every day. It starts upon its golden way: The flowers unfold, the birds awake And sing, the while the bakers bake. The sun is bright and ought to know.

The ostrich lives in foreign lands
And trots along the burning sands.
And when from foes it would escape.
It hides its head—the silly ape!

Mamma—"My goodness, Jean went out without a hat and now it is be-Papa—"Well, why worry about it. Hasn't she got her hair shingled?"

Kiddie-Kapers! Little Ethel was having her hair "Mother," she asked, "why does my hair crackle like that?"
"It's the electricity in your hair. dear," replied her mother.

"Why, mother, isn't that queer—
I have electricity in my hair and grandma has gas in her stomach."

Spoiled the Day. It was one of those warm afternoons with just enough of a breeze stirring to make motoring delightful. The old bus never hummed along

The old bus never hummed along better as I stepped on the "gas." A tingling sensation of enjoyment crept over me as I realized that, with the exception of a solitary motorcyclist directly ahead. I had the whole road to myself. Well, I would soon eliminate that fellow!

I gave my car more gas. But the distance between us widened. He evidently accepted my challenge for a race. Nothing suited me better. My speedometer registered 40 miles and was rapidly creeping up to 50, Gad. but that chap must have a dandy motor in his wheel! I was doing 60 now. Suddenly the motorist slowed down and waited for me. He knew when he was beaten! He knew when he was beaten!
I slowed down, too. I'd exchange a few kidding remarks with the fellow. He stopped. With a screeching of brakes I brought my car to a stand-

"Sixty miles an hour, eh?" he rasped. "I guess we'll take your pedigree. Let's see your license." He was the highway policeman!

The New Flannel Frocks Are Here!

The fashion-right wearers of summer's flannel sport dresses will be interested in this announcement. For these practical dresses cleverly adapt themselves to fall colors and trimming details and stand securely in their fashion-first place.

The youthful wearer of these dresses may go from the classroom to the tennis court, from the office to the golf-links, serenely conscious that she is appropriately dressed.

Here are three interesting versions of the fall mode.

Simple Dresses of soft flannel in navy, red and black, are pin-dotted, or have the larger coin-spots in white. They are slipover dresses with trim inset pockets, and jaunty silk ties. Sizes 16 to 42 ... $8.95

Smart Dresses of more mature lines are developed in a French blue flannel, hairline striped in white. They are coat dresses, with a notch collar bound with braid and edged with white pique.

The Fall Browns in their varied range are represented by dresses of wool crepe, in slipover styles. Their Peter Pan collars are bound with accenting bands of taffeta, and the dresses are trimmed with hand-drawn work $16.50
