HELD UP C.P.R. EXPRESS

Nat Scott, Engineer of the Train, Tells How It Was Done.

A Firm Voice of Command, and Revolvers and Rifles Pointed at Him, Made Scott the Train Robbers' Obsolete Servant—Robbers Got $7,000 in Gold Dust From Ashcroft For Their Pains—Possessors of Felony Tracing Them.

Vancouver, B. C., Sept. 12.—The C.P.R. transcontinental express was held up five miles from Silverton, B. C., thirty miles from Vancouver, at 9 o'clock Saturday night. The hold-up was performed in a most masterly fashion, not a hitch taking place. Here is the story told by Nat Scott, the engineer of the train: "A mile and a half from Mission Junction I felt some one pushing me aside from behind. I turned and saw a masked man, who said in a very quiet voice: 'I want you to stop the train.' I thought at first it was a joke. I said: 'Ah, cut it out.' I made as if I would tear the handkerchief off his face. Again came the quiet voice, though this time with more firmness in it: 'I tell you I want you to stop the train.' Then I saw in the uncertain light a revolver pointing at me from above the cab. I said: 'You're not joking.' 'No,' he said, 'I am not joking.'"

Rifles Pointed at Him. "I pulled the lever and the train began to slow up. The man in the mask called out: 'Don't stop her now, go on till I tell you to stop. Do as I tell you and not a hair of your head will be touched. Stop at Silverton, at the little bridge with the church to the left.' I said all right, I am at your service, and as I turned to speak I noticed two more rifles pointing at me from above. 'We went on for about three miles until we got to the bridge west of Silverton. Here he shouted to me to stop the train. I did so. Two highwaymen then got down with Creel, the fireman, and got him to un couple the engine, express and mail car, while the third man covered me on the engine. I chatted with this man and he talked back. There was no swearing or bluster. When the three got back I was ordered to go ahead with the express and mail car. I went ahead for a mile and a half to Ruskin and was again ordered to stop. Here I was ordered back to call the expressman out of his car. I did so, and the highwayman ordered up his hands and took his revolver from him.

$7,000 in Gold Dust. "They then told him to throw out the express parcels and the money and open the big safe. He threw them $7,000 in gold dust from Ashcroft, but said he had not the combination for the safe. The mail clerks were ordered in the same way to throw out all registered letters. The highwaymen asked where the package from Victoria was, but were told they had everything. The highwaymen then said to the mail and express clerks: 'Get back boys and go to bed.'"

"I was then ordered back to the engine, which was uncoupled, and I was told to drive them to the creek at Warnock station. Here they jumped off and said: 'Good night.' I replied: 'Good night. I hope you will have a pleasant journey.' The ringleader who did all the talking for the gang replied: 'I hope we will.' I then called out to them, 'You fellows have got your nerve with you.' The reply came back: 'And we got something else, too.'"

Last night the posse of police had traced the highwaymen across the Fraser River, and are now following the trail through the woods to the American border, ten miles distant. Nat Scott has given a fairly good description of the men. Conductor Ward was met by the highwaymen when coming forward to see what was up. He was ordered back into the passenger cars, where he warned the passengers to secrete their valuables. The passengers were not molested.

NORTH RENFREW PETITION ABATES.

One of the Petitioners Passes Away in Pembroke.

Pembroke, Sept. 12.—John Baptiste LeBlanc of this town, whose rise to fame was due to the fact that he was one of the petitioners against the return of Ned Dunlop, M.P.P., is dead. In fact, he was buried yesterday. The effect of LeBlanc's demise will be that "the petition will abate," that is, it cannot be tried now until a substitute petitioner for the late LeBlanc is obtained. This will entail advertising the facts of Dunlop's election in a local paper, following which within 14 days, the substitute's affidavit must be filed with the proper authorities. The trial of the North Renfrew protest has been fixed for Sept. 27, but of course the taking off of LeBlanc will change this.

In some quarters it is suggested that the petition be dropped, altogether, which within 14 days, the substitute's affidavit must be filed with the proper authorities. The trial of the North Renfrew protest has been fixed for Sept. 27, but of course the taking off of LeBlanc will change this.

Human affection is the foundation of the idea of immortality: love was the first to speak that word.

So long as clothes are worn women will have something to talk about and the men something to worry over.

Mr. Borden will speak in Blenheim in the afternoon and address a mass meeting in the Grand Opera House in this city at night.

Every resident of the County is heartily invited to hear the policy of the people expounded by its chieftain.

EDITOR FAWCETT GOES

Well-Known Newspaper Man Off Without Saying a Goodbye

Complained on Friday That Financial Difficulties Oppressed Him—Gave His Foreman Power of Attorney For His Wife and a Statement of His Liabilities—Told Foreman He Was Going Away Never to Return.

Toronto Junction, Sept. 12.—A. R. Fawcett, editor of The Leader and Recorder, left town on Friday afternoon, not intending to return, and giving no one a clue to his future whereabouts. He gave no reason for his sudden departure, and did not even say good-bye to his wife and family.

The reason given for his shaking the dust of Toronto Junction off his feet is said to be looming financial difficulties. Before departing he left a letter with his foreman, in which he gave his wife power of attorney and a statement of his liabilities. The condition of the business, however, did not warrant his leaving it so suddenly. There was nothing very pressing, and his wife looks upon it as unexplained. He has made frequent appeals to his subscribers of late, these appeals had become chronic and there is nothing to indicate that his financial condition is worse now than it has been for some time past.

To his foreman, Mr. Fawcett said he was going away never to return, and to his family he did not tell them this much. Much sympathy is felt for Mrs. Fawcett and the family. He had of late told his children that they would have to get out into the world and shift for themselves.

Mr. Fawcett is a well known newspaper man and was the founder of The Fleetchton Advance and The Toronto Junction Leader.

FOUGHT AT GALLOWAYS.

Spectators Struggle to Get a View of Robinson's Fighting.

Halifax, N.S., Sept. 12.—W. S. Robinson, the old man convicted of the murder of his wife near Berwick, suffered the full penalty of his crime at Kentville this morning. He went to the scaffold stoutly protesting his innocence. His last words to his spiritual adviser were: "I have no confession to make. I committed no crime. I am, so help me God, an innocent man." At midnight a large crowd hung around the jail, but there was no demonstration, although trouble had been looked for. Radcliffe arrived at 12.35 and went for Robinson at 1.25. While waiting he noticed that some of the spectators were making a disturbance. He threatened to postpone the execution. Seeing that matters were not improving a few minutes later, without forming the usual procession, he handcuffed the prisoner's hands and rushed him to the room adjoining the scaffold. As the door opened to admit them into the latter several of the spectators, supposedly respectable men, were in a clinch on the floor, and others were trying to part them. The noise was quickly adjusted and within five minutes the trap was sprung, and in less than four minutes he was dead. The unseemly scene was caused through having too many spectators and some were fighting for good places. Even the scaffold was crowded.

BURNED TO DEATH AT THRESHING.

While Trying to Save His Machine From Flames Was Surrounded.

Clinton, Sept. 12.—While engaged in threshing grain on the farm of Alex. Badour, in Goderich township, Fletcher McCartney was burned to death.

The fire was noticed in an old stack near the barn and it spread rapidly. McCartney was the owner of the machine and was bravely trying to haul it out of the barn when the flames enveloped him and the machine.

The barn was completely destroyed. McCartney was married and had a large family.

The seer is naturally serious.

BALTIC FLEET SAILS

Emperor Personally Saw the Ships Off at Kronstadt.

Vessels Will Merely Touch at Libau Where Fleet Will Be Joined By Transports and Colliers and Go Direct to the Orient—Race Is Now For Run Bridge Where Next Battle Falls—Uncontrollable Japs.

Kronstadt, Sept. 12.—The Baltic fleet sailed yesterday for the Far East.

The fleet will merely touch at Libau, where it will be joined by twelve transports, colliers and supply ships, already waiting there, and will then proceed direct to the Orient. The scene on the departure of the fleet was an imposing one. At 2 o'clock in the afternoon, the time set for the departure of the remainder of the fleet, the Imperial yacht with the Emperor, Grand Duke Alexia, the High Admiral, and other high naval officers on board put out from Peterhof, on the other side of the bay, with an escort of three torpedo boats.

Admirals Rojestvensky, Voolkersan and Esquiquet went on board the Imperial yacht and personally said farewell to the Emperor.

Then with destroyers ahead and abeam, the Souvaroff led the squadron down the Finnish Gulf. The waterfront and the piers and forts were crowded with spectators. From the signal masts above the forts fluttered a string of colored flags, reading: "Good luck to the Baltic fleet on its long voyage."

The Baltic fleet is composed as follows:

Battleships—First-Class.

Souvaroff, launched 1902; 13,516 tons; 18 knots speed; crew, 740; main battery, 4.12 in., 12.6 in. guns. Borodino, sister ship to Souvaroff, launched 1901.

Orel, sister ship to Souvaroff, launched 1901.

Alexander III., sister ship of Souvaroff, launched 1901.

Oslaba, launched 1898; 12,674 tons; 18 knots speed; crew, 732; main battery, 4.10 in., 11.6 in. guns.

Battleships—Second-Class.

Navarin, launched 1891; 9,476 tons; 16 knots speed; crew, 630; main battery, 4.12 in., 8.6 in. guns.

Lissol Niliy, launched 1894; 8,980 tons; 16 knots speed; crew, 590; main battery, 4.12 in., 6.6 in. guns.

Admiral Nakhimoff, launched 1885; 8,500 tons; 16 knots speed; crew, 567; main battery, 8.8 in., 10.6 in. guns.

Second-Class Cruisers.

Dmitri Donskoi, launched 1883; 6,600 tons; 16 knots speed; crew, 510; main battery, 6.8 in., 10.47 in. guns.

Aurora, launched 1860; 6,630 tons; 20 knots speed; crew, 422; main battery, 8.6 in. guns.

Almaz, 3,000 tons.

The Japs at Port Arthur.

Choo Foo, Sept. 12.—A Chinese who left Port Arthur the night of Sept. 6 arrived here yesterday, and reports that Japanese troops to the number of 5,000 control Louisa Bay to the northwest of Port Arthur. This Chinese was taken to Port Dalny, and on the way passed through five villages where detachments of Japanese are making use of a balloon, which he describes as a cigar-shaped affair, with a car suspended, and says that "fat foreigners, wearing a moustache," runs the balloon.

The Japanese intrenchments line the hills in every direction, and reinforcements are constantly arriving from Port Dalny. The Japanese hospitals at Port Dalny are filled with wounded and transports are engaged in removing the wounded men to Japan as fast as possible.

Race New For Run Bridge.

New York, Sept. 12.—The Herald's St. Petersburg correspondent wires: The race between Kurapatkin and Kuroki appears now to be to the Hun River bridge. According to the opinion of military experts, the fight is sure to take place there, its ex-

Japs Lost Red Cross.

Liaoyang, Sept. 7.—(Via Tientsin, Sept. 12.)—The Japanese officers were unable to restrain their soldiers after six days of desperate fighting and looting became general. Last night the soldiers, in attempting to rob the missionary and Red Cross compound, stabbed Dr. A. M. Westwater, a well known medical missionary, in the neck and hand. This is said to be the first instance that the Japanese soldiers have been known to be uncontrollable.

The Japanese were welcomed by the Chinese, but they abused the good name which they established in the Chino-Japanese war.

Quiet at Mukden.

Mukden, Sept. 12.—All is quiet in this region. It is understood that the main force of the Japanese has retired to Yentai. A solemn service was held here yesterday for the repose of the souls of those killed in action. It was attended by the entire staff and garrison.

Like a farmer, every chicken is interested in its own crop.

UNIQUE CASE

Mrs. Green and Mrs. Abraham both Ask Courts for the Guardianship of Little Grace Betcone.

Grace Kathleen Betcone is an orphan. Her mother died in Detroit last May and her father some time previous. The father left $1,000, which is deposited in a Windsor bank. The mother left some personal property. Now the aunt and a Detroit neighbor of the little girl's mother are fighting for possession of the child and the property. On the death of her mother the child came to reside with her aunt, Mrs. Sarah Green, of Dante, Zone Township. Letters of guardianship were granted to Mrs. Green by the Surrogate Court. In the meantime Mrs. Abraham, of Detroit, with whom the child had been living during the mother's absence a short time prior to death, made application for letters of guardianship in Detroit and got them. She then endeavored to secure possession of the girl and procured a writ of habeas corpus for the production of Grace Betcone before Mr. Justice Britton at the assizes at Sandwich. Mr. Britton heard the evidence and sent the child back to Mrs. Green without finally determining judgment and has never given judgment. Mrs. Abraham comes forward and asks the Court to cancel the grant of letters of guardianship to Mrs. Green. Application will be made to the judge on Thursday for the cancellation of the grant of letters of guardianship. Application has also been made by Mrs. Green to the Surrogate Court of Essex. Mrs. Abraham has filed a caveat and the question of granting it is still pending. W. E. Gundy, of the firm of Wilson, Pike & Gundy, is acting for the plaintiff; Fred Stone, of the firm of Houston & Stone, contra.

Turns Gas On and Dies.

Toronto, Sept. 12.—Despondency induced by the use of liquor caused Fred Thompson, bookkeeper for G. N. Reynolds & Co., Wellington street, to commit suicide in the firm's premises during Saturday night. When Mr. Reynolds went down to the office yesterday afternoon he found the gas jets turned on, but no light. Investigation resulted in discovering Thompson's body on the top floor. Deceased was a widower, 35 years of age.

Killed By a Train.

Mooselaw, N.W.T., Sept. 12.—Neil Smith of Winnipeg, was instantly killed at Mooselaw Friday night. Mr. Smith, his wife and two small children were passengers on No. 26, en route to Winnipeg. Just how the accident happened no one seems to know. Smith was in the yard where trains were switching and in some way he fell across the track, his head striking on the rail. A passenger train, which was making up, ran over him.

Germanic Goes Aground.

New York, Sept. 12.—The White Star Line Germanic, in the service of the American Line, which sailed from Southampton on Sept. 3, went aground in the main ship channel near Sandy Hook during a thick haze last night. The steamer does not appear to be in a bad position. She may possibly float clear at the next high water this morning.

Killed Thirteen Cattle.

Ottawa, Sept. 12.—Twenty-five cattle in the yards at Buckingham awaiting shipment got loose Saturday night and strayed along the track. The C.P.R. Montreal local express for Ottawa ran into them, killing thirteen. The loss is estimated at $500. The cattle belonged to an Ottawa drover. The train was delayed for an hour.

JERRY'S LOVE BUSH

Copyright, 1904, by T. C. McChure

Old Jerry lifted his head and looked after "the mistress" with vague distress while she made her third restless round of the grounds. Then he dug savagely in the bed of scarlet geraniums, irrespective of the plants' good. "Why doesn't the master come home?" he demanded querulously, with the anxiety of one who had lovingly followed "the master's" life up from the days of white cotton socks and sailor collars.

HER FINGERS HAD GONE SWIFTLY TO HER THROAT.

the tumult that beat there. Here was the very center and core of the master's life, old Jerry knew it, and yet—his face changed suddenly as though an evil cloud had passed before the sun's brightness. His very body seemed to become gnarled and twisted, while the hands closed and unclosed suggestively at his sides, driving the nails into the hard palms. Every breath he drew was an unspoken malediction upon the man who came through the gates to meet his mistress. "You're there, are ye, ye black hearted serpent!" he panted.

His heart seemed to die within him as he measured his strength against his opponent's. With a sense of helpless inadequacy his old figure collapsed tremblingly. But the habit of years in extremity was strong upon him. His head fell forward reverently on his breast.

"God Almighty," he breathed, "this makes the third time this week, an' I dunno—I dunno where's Mr. Aleck!"

The man he hated was walking bareheaded beside the mistress. Their steps turned to a tall shrubbery at the other end of the grounds. Jerry made a hobbling detour by the back of the house and reached it first. He was on his knees again, trowel in hand, but hidden by the dense growth when they passed.

"Why do you submit to this neglect?" the even, insidious tone was urging. "Believe me, I have not told you one-half of what has come unbidden to my knowledge. Constance, the way of escape is always open!"

Old Jerry's breath came in hard, dry puffs as he listened. His fingers dug themselves into the ground, tearing up handfuls of sod. It had come to this then!

"Blast him! Blast his lying tongue!" The force of the words rent him from head to foot as he shook his trembling fist after the man he would gladly have strangled. Then he got slowly on his feet, seeming to grow younger and stronger as he did so. The blood of the fighting race still beat in his veins in spite of his seventy years. It blazed in the blue eyes under their shaggy brows, promising war to the death before those he loved and served were injured.

All that day he watched the horse and grounds untiringly. His mistress had hidden her visitor goodby at the gate and walked slowly back to the house as though all life and hope were gone from her, and he saw her no more.

At midnight he installed Johnny, Mr. Aleck's favorite groom, in his place.

"Don't ye make no sound nor word," he admonished, "an' ye don't need to know what yer here for, but if ye see anny wan goin' or comin' call me. An' Johnny, b'y, if ye could annyway get word to the master in the mornin' to come home 'tis makin' yer sow! you'd be."

When morning came he relieved Johnny at 6 o'clock, the latter having seen no one "comin' or goin'," and again took up his surveillance of the house. It was dusk when at last the figure he had been looking for came slowly down the steps. She had almost reached the gate when Jerry, his old heart beating in his throat, stepped out on the gravel walk beside her.

"I dunno if you noticed, ma'am," he said casually, touching his hat, "but I'm afraid 'tis dyin' the rosebush be the south wall is."

She had halted, looking at him in uncertainty, bewilderment for a moment displacing the listless despair of her face.

"'Twill be ten year ago come tomorrow week since I planted it," Jerry went on reminiscently, "I mind well 'twas the very day the master brought ye home, ma'am. I can see yez now, standin' hand in hand lookin' at me—"

Her fingers had gone swiftly to her throat as if the lace there strangled her. Jerry watched her for a moment.

"An' sure there never was such a tree for blossomin'," he went on slowly. "I used to think that the love in the eyes of yez both that day blessed it. 'Sure 'tis a love bush, I s'x to myself. An' 'tisn't in yer two arms ye could carry the roses on it when it begun to bloom, an' they the sweetest that ever grew. But lately—somehow—I dunno!"

His voice had trailed off into the inexpressibly sad monotone of his race. The slender figure before him quivered, her hands twisting themselves convulsively in the folds of her cloak.

"Last year," he quavered on, "there was but three small buds on it; this year there's but wun. I misdoubt if it's alive at all the love bush 'll be another year."

She moved stumbingly away from him across the grass to the south wall. Jerry scarcely breathed as he followed and stood behind her. Oh, the wealth of blossom the love bush had once borne! She remembered how the old gardener delighted to bring the fragrant arnfuls to her on the anniversary of its planting—the day that Aleck had brought her home. Now—She looked at the blighted, twisted leaves, clinging as if for shelter to the wall, and a sob, which was the upheaval of all the torture and despair in her heart, tore her delicate throat. Her face as she turned it to Jerry was an agony.

"Save it!" she pleaded. "Oh, Jerry, if it is not quite dead, save it!"

"Yes, ma'am." But Jerry's voice was husky and he drew his coat sleeve across his eyes. "'Tis safe enough she is now, glory be to God!" he added in a whisper.

He stood in the shadow of the wall until she had stolen back to the house, carrying the one poor blossom of the love bush with her. Then he made his way to where beyond the grounds lay a strip of moonlit road.

At sight of the figure which paced impatiently back and forth there Jerry's body was contorted again, but this time with savage triumph.

"Aye," he hissed slowly, "ye may walk an' ye may walk ag'in, an' ye may keep on walkin' till the feet drop off ye an' the Devil gits his own—but ye'll never git what yer waitin' for—an' the Lord be praised for it!"

It was the one regret of Jerry's life that he was in bed and asleep that night when the master got home. Evidently Johnny, with the aid of a sudden and suspicious ailment of the bay mare, had "made his soul" to some purpose that morning. The master had arrived at 10 o'clock, according to Mrs. Riley, the cook, and to the best of her belief, he and the mistress had talked all night.

Jerry was assiduously doing his best for the love bush the next morning when they came out of the house, Mr. Aleck's strong shoulder behind the mistress, she leaning back against him, her face white and shining with love. The old gardener rose quickly and came to meet them.

"If you'll believe me, ma'am," he began eagerly, "'tis a new shoot I just this mornin' found on the rose bush be Giving Medicine to a Sick Tiger.

In a certain zoo is a very beautiful tiger, said to be the largest one in captivity. But if he would only move about as if he felt at home, and not be so dignified, we should be better pleased with him. Yet the poor creature is excusable, because he has dyspepsia, and his sufferings make him cross.

One day the keeper decided to administer a dose of medicine, so with the bottle and a whip he climbed to the top of the cage. Was that tiger cross? You would have thought so if you had seen him throw back his great head and snap at the whip. The keeper, after enraging him, poured a little medicine down the lash, which he gradually withdrew, until in its place there was a tiny medicinal stream, at which the tiger kept biting and snapping, too much surprised, it seemed, to distinguish between whip and liquid. When he turned away his head, the medicine was poured over his paws, and when he had licked them clean that day's treatment was completed.—St. Nicholas.

The Judge's Card.

Justice Grantham of England was once on a train when a stalwart man entered the compartment and began to smoke. "This is not a smoking compartment," remonstrated the judge. "All right, old chap. I'll just finish my cigar," said the man. Then his lordship became angry and taking out his card handed it to his companion, saying he would report him when the train stopped. The smoker took the card, put it into his pocket without looking at it and went on with his cigar. At the next station he got out and went into another carriage. Justice Grantham called the guard and demanded that the man's name and address should be taken and that he should be summoned. The guard went to the delinquent and shortly after returned to his lordship. "If I were you, sir," he said confidentially, "I would not prosecute that gentleman. He has given me his card—see, here it is—and he is Mr. Justice Grantham!"

Mr Chester Loomis took Dodd's Kidney Pills

And From a Used Up Man he Became as Smart as a Boy.

Orland, Ont., Sept. 12.—(Special).—Mr. Chester Loomis, an old and respected farmer living in this section, is spreading broadcast the good news that Dodd's Kidney Pills are a sure cure for the Lame Back and Kidney Disease so common among old people. Mr. Loomis says:

"I am 76 years of age and smart and active as a boy and I give Dodd's Kidney Pills all the credit for it. "Before I started to use Dodd's Kidney Pills I was so used up I could hardly ride in a buggy and I could not do any work of any kind. Everybody thought I would not live long. Dodd's Kidney Pills are a wonderful remedy."

The kidneys of the young may be wrong but the kidneys of the old must be wrong. Dodd's Kidney Pills make all wrong kidneys right. That is why they are the old folks' greatest friend.

THE VERY THIN WOMAN.

Rules Which She Must Follow In Order to Gain Flesh.

The very thin woman must follow an entirely different regime from that ordinarily pursued if she expects to put flesh on her bones. If she is inclined to worry she should try not to be so intense in unimportant matters—she should shut her eyes, in a sense, to everything she can. The troubles which never happen wear out the nerves and destroy the health more completely than important events. Read only pleasant books and talk as much as possible to cheerful, jolly people who are too light hearted to relate harrowing tales to enlist your sympathy. Hurry is a twin brother to worry, so try to take life as leisurely as you may. Diet is of paramount importance in gaining flesh, and, while overfeeding must not be confused with a liberal diet, the thin woman must eat plenty of only such foods as will yield substantial results. Sweet milk and cream, eggs, starch and sweet vegetables and fruits, beef, mutton and fish will certainly increase her weight, unless she has some chronic trouble. Sleep is an important factor in gaining flesh. Get ten hours of regular sleep each night in a room well ventilated and a half hour nap during the day if you can. If inclined to be restless during the night eat a light lunch before retiring. A glass or two of warm milk and a slice of thickly buttered brown bread will be sufficient. Coffee and sweets should never form a part of such a repast.

GIRLS WHO FLIRT.

The Troubles They Are Sure to Bring Upon Themselves.

Girls should bear in mind the fact that if they wish to win the respect of men they must behave in a modest, dignified manner. Why should they respect her if she has no self respect? They will seek her society, and she will appear to have lots of attention, but behind her back they will laugh at her. Men can tell at once the girl whom they can treat in an offhand way; they are not very particular when with her as to their language or conversation, says the Philadelphia Bulletin. They are equally quick to recognize the girl whom they know will allow no freedom; they treat her with a chivalrous respect such as they never show the other girls.

When it comes to choosing a wife men do not often look for her among the girls whom they have flirted with. They want a girl whose bloom has not been rubbed off by constant flirtations with other men, they want a girl who is fresh and sweet, and they do not want to feel that she has been just as sweet to numerous other men as she is to them.

You needn't be cold and stand off in your manner to men. Be as cordial and sweet as you can—indifference never makes friends—but don't, I pray you, spoil your girlish charm by letting any man feel that he can treat you with the slightest familiarity.

CULINARY CONCEITS.

The oftener soup is strained the clearer it becomes. An old napkin serves very well for a strainer.

When stewing prunes, add one or two spoonfuls of red currant jelly to the water in which the prunes are stewed. A tablespoonful of sugar added to the water for boiling roast beef will give a rich brown color as well as fine flavor. An innovation for the table is boiled lettuce. Boil the lettuce until tender, serve the whole head and dress with butter, pepper and salt.

To prevent tomato soup from curdling add the tomato before the milk is put in, and remember to strain the tomato juice before turning it over the flower and butter. Some very admirable cooks greatly simplify cake making by putting all the ingredients, even the eggs, together and making one long and vigorous beating do for the whole.

Egg Tonic.
A raw egg is an excellent tonic and is very strengthening. If prepared in the following way it is really a delicious drink: Put the yolk of an egg into a dish with a teaspoonful of white sugar and a teaspoonful of orange or lemon juice and beat lightly together with a fork. Put the white on a plate and add a pinch of salt. Then with a broad bladed knife beat it to a stiff froth. Now, as lightly as possible, mix all together in the dish, then as lightly transfer it to a clean tumbler, which it will nearly fill if properly made. It must not stand in a warm place, as it soon becomes liquid and loses its snowy look. Any fruit juice may be used in place of orange or lemon.

To Extract a Splinter.
A bit of home surgery, stated to have been practiced when a splinter is driven into a child's hand particularly deep, is its extraction by steam. A bottle with a sufficiently wide mouth is filled two-thirds with very hot water, and the mouth of the bottle is placed under the injured spot. The suction draws the flesh down when a little pressure is used, and the steam in a moment or two extracts inflammation and splinter together. This is very efficacious when the offending substance has been in for several hours, long enough to have started some of its evil consequences.

Creamed Dishes.
It may take a very few more minutes in the preparation, but the effect is sufficiently attractive to be worth the effort if ecaloped codfish is cooked in individual baking dishes having buttered bread crumbs on top. In fact, all creamed dishes are attractive if served in ramkins.

SCHUMANN--HEINK

World's Greatest Contralto to Appear in Comic Opera in the Detroit Opera House This Week

Mr. F. C. Whitney, who is in the rank of play producers in the world, and who will introduce Mme. Schumann-Heink to Detroit audiences for her comic opera debut in America during this week, is winning much success by his close adherence to a well-defined business rule. Even as early as the days of "The Fencing Master," when he fully made up his mind to go extensively into the theatrical business as a play producer he mapped out the course which he has followed to the letter. He resolved that he would exercise all his energies and managerial experience each succeeding season in raising the standard of his attractions, and in making for them more and more elaborate productions. For the dramatic season of 1904-5, he has devoted most of his time to perfecting the tour of Mme. Schumann-Heink in the new Stange & Edwards play, "Love's Lottery," and in making his latest musical comedy, "Piff Paff Puff," the most successful production of that character before the American public. He has succeeded splendidly with "Piff Paff Puff," which is now in the sixth month of its record-breaking run at the Casino, New York. Recently he has been giving the closest attention to perfecting all the many details of the Schumann-Heink production and tour. Long an admirer of Mme. Schumann-Heink's great talents, both as an operatic singer and comedienne, Mr. Whitney is taking more than a business interest in aiding her to achieve notable success in her venture into the field of comic opera. Every detail in the construction of "Love's Lottery" has received his personal attention. From the day Mr. Stanislaus submitted the scenario of "Love's Lottery" both opera and production have received the most careful study and consideration. The scenic models, costume plates, properties, light effects, and orchestration were made under his personal direction, and the performance when it is seen in this city will give eloquent testimony to the weal of his experience and artistic taste. Seats can be secured by writing or telephoning the manager of the Detroit Opera House.

Thrasher's Fatal Hurt.
Ripley, Sept. 12.—While thrashing at the barn of George Emmerson, Purple Creek, Garner Stanley, son of William Stanley, 12th concession, Kinross, in attempting to replace the fanning mill belt, while the machine was in full motion, the cylinder of his left arm against the cylinder sheaf pulley. It was taken off below the elbow. He received a deep cut on the shoulder, one on the temple, one on the back of his head, which affected the brain, and is considered by the medical men the most dangerous. Two hours after the accident four doctors were present and found it necessary to amputate the arm above the elbow. Mr. Stanley is 31 years of age, is married and has three small children. He has never gained consciousness, and the doctors entertain little hope of his recovery.

Body Found in Raceway.
St. Catharines, Sept. 12.—The body of a man was found in the raceway at Hedley & Shaw's mill on Saturday, and yesterday it was identified as that of James Sanders, an employee of the waterworks department. Sanders was in the hands of the police as a common drunk one day last week. He gave his age as 64 and said he was single. Superintendent Milne of the waterworks department believes he came from Hamilton. The man evidently fell into the raceway while drunk and went over a fence as there were some bushes on him.

Our Flag Far North.
Winnipeg, Man., Sept. 12.—Inspector Pelletier and ten of the men of the Northwest Mounted Police left Regina on Saturday to take the steamer Arctic for Hudson Bay. Superintendent Moody, who goes in command of the party, will meet them at Quebec. The crew of the Arctic has been chosen from men who are engaged in the sealing industry of Newfoundland, and who are thoroughly familiar with ice work. They are going up to plant the Canadian ensign on all the northern-most points of British North America, and will spend the winter in the farthest north.

INTERVENTION IN WAR.

Inter-Parliamentary Union Ask Second Session of the Hague Convention—Heated and Bitter Discussion.

St. Louis, Mo., Sept. 12.—The powers of the world, signatory to The Hague convention, will be asked by the Inter-Parliamentary Union, at its twelfth conference, to intervene in the Russo-Japanese war; President Roosevelt will be requested to call a second session of The Hague convention; the use of submarines in time of war will be deplored, and many kindred resolutions will be presented during the deliberations of this week.

The decision to undertake to bring about intervention in the Far Eastern war was not reached until after a heated discussion, at times, bitter. When the proposition was brought forward Saturday, M. Cocheret, a French Deputy, was on his feet in an instant. He objected vigorously to any attempt whatever to inject the matter into the conference. He was supported by the president of the Italian group.

Then the suggestion was made that President Roosevelt should be the proper one to tender mediation. This proposition was left with the understanding that no further steps in the direction be taken without information as to the President's personal wishes in the matter.

International Peace Union.
The 38th annual session of the International Peace Union was resumed in the Hall of Congress at the World's Fair Saturday. Officers selected include: President, Alfred H. Love, Philadelphia, and a number of vice-presidents, among them being Clara Barton, Washington, D. C.; Wm. M. Cremer, M. P. London; Baron d'Estournelles, member of the Chamber of Deputies, Paris; Archbishop Ireland, St. Paul, Minn.; Cardinal Gibbons, Baltimore, Md.; Rabbi Joseph Levy, Pittsburgh, Pa.; Lady Henry Somerset, London, and Baroness B. von Suttner, Vienna, Austria. Resolutions were adopted setting forth the convictions of the union on international questions.

FROST DID SOME DAMAGE.

Weather Now Fine, With No Rain and Harvesting Goes On.

Winnipeg, Sept. 12.—The cold spell which began Friday night ended in frost in some districts Saturday night. Fortunately high winds generally prevailed, thus minimizing the damage to wheat.

It is probable that a certain amount of damage was done in some sections to green grain.

Brandon district reports light frost doing considerable damage to garden stuff, though wheat does not appear to have suffered to any material extent.

The weather generally continues fine, with no rain, and harvest operations are consequently progressing rapidly.

Grain now is beginning to come in a little more freely, four cars of this season's wheat, being inspected Saturday, two grading No. 1 northern, one No. 2 northern, and one No. 3 northern. But of course these receipts are very unfavorable compared with the situation a year ago.

Lord Minto Off at a Gallop.

Edmonton, N.W.T., Sept. 12.—After a day of ceremony in the city, His Excellency the Earl of Minto Saturday afternoon began his 500-mile ride across country. Mounted on a fine-looking police broncho, riding an English saddle and wearing khaki and the wide-brimmed Stetson hat, without which westerners count themselves but partially dressed, he made a decided impression in this particular on those who watched his departure. The party moved off smartly eastward to overtake the transport, which had started some hours earlier and to partake of luncheon, which had been prepared some 12 miles on the way. The route is from Edmonton to Vegreville, Burkh Lake, Lloydminster and Battleford, thence to Saskatoon, which is to be reached on the 21st inst. Fifty miles a day must be covered.

Labor Unfit For Humans.

Leeds, Eng., Sept. 10.—The Trades Union Congress at its session yesterday unanimously adopted a resolution emphatically protesting against the Government's action in sanctioning the South African labor ordinance, as opposed to the best interests of British workmen at home and abroad, as sanctioning conditions of labor unfit for human beings and as contrary to the anti-slavery traditions of the British Empire.

Harvesting Operations.

Winnipeg, Sept. 10.—Weather continues warm and fine, giving a great impetus to harvest operations throughout the West.

Tribute to King.

London, Sept. 12.—The Trades Union Congress at Leeds has been chiefly remarkable for a tribute of democratic admiration for the King as the best and most useful British statesman.
