Geo McMaster Committed to Stand His Trial and Bailed. Georgerown, Ont., Feb. 4.—Joe McMaster, who assaulted young Turner at Glenwilliams, was brought from Milton jail yesterday and arraigned before Magistrates Kennedy and Barber, charged with assaulting with intent to do grevious bodily harm one Albert Turner. County Crown Attorney Matheson prosecuted. The prisoner's interests were looked after by Barrister John Shilton, of Toronto. Turner, who looks anything but well, said that he attended church at Glenwilliams on the evening of January 30; that after the service, and as he and Miss Wheeler were moving away from the church steps McMaster jumped between them, shoving him (Turner) off the sidewalk. He regained his position beside the lady and they walked peaceably along until they reached Mr. Martin's house. Miss Wheeler here excused herself, stating that she left her wraps in Martin's United the waiting her outcoming he received a blow which felled him to the ground. He attempted to rise, but was struck and went down again. The pounding continued until he became unconscious. Several other witnesses were examined, all of whom swore they saw McMaster assault Turner. Their worships considered a clear case had been made out against McMaster and they committed him to stand his trial at the spring assizes. After consultation they decided to accept bail. This was forthconing.

The officers and sailors were fully dressed but their clothes had been drenched and frozen and they had been almost paralyzed with cold and fatigue. They had been ashore three hours before they had recovered sufficiently to tell the story of the wreck. Their accounts agreed upon the following points:

DEPORTED THE SCHOOLMASTER.

How the Liberty-Loving People of the Republic Treat Foreigners.

St. PAUL, Minn., Feb. 4.—A special to the Pioneer Press from Grand Forks, N. D., says:—Early in December the Minto School Board engaged Prof. Alex. McConnell, of Toronto, as principal of the Public Schools. When he arrived to take charge of the schools he applied to County Superintendent Woods for the required certification of examination. The superintendent declined to grant the certificate on the ground that his employment was an infraction of the Alien Contract Labor Law. McConnell subsequently took a State examination and received a state certificate, but a protest was made by Minto people and the matter was referred to the authorities at Washington. On Wednesday McConnell was arrested by Immigrant Inspector Reyford on a warrant issued by the Secretary of the Treasury requiring. He affair has caused quite a commotion at Minto.

KILLED BY A FALL. The Elbe left Bremen on Tuesday after The Elbe left Bremen on Tuesday afternoon. The few hours of the voyage before the disaster were uneventful. At 4 o'clock yesterday morning the wind was blowing very hard and a tremendous sea was running. The morning was unusually dark.
Numerous lights were seen in all directions showing that many vessels were near by. The capitain ordered therefore that rockets should be sent up at regular intervals to warn the craft to keep out of the Elbe's course. It was near 6 o'clock tervals to warn the craft to keep out of the Elbe's course. It was near 6 o'clock and the Elbe was some 50 miles off Lowetoft, coast of Suffolk, when the lookout man sighted a steamer of about 1,500 tons approaching. He gave the word and as precaution the number of rockets was doubled and they were sent up at short intervals. The warning was without effect. The steamer came on with unchecked speed and before the Elbe could change her course or reduce her speed notably there was the terrific crash of the collision. The Elbe was hit abaft her engine room. When the smaller steamer wenched away an enormous hole was left in the Elbe's the family of his father-in law, Morris Jacobs. After dinner he was walking up and down the hallway of the third floor where the Jacobs family live, enjoying a cigar. The window opening on the air shaft was open, and in some way that it has been impossible to learn Mr. Samuel fell through to the bottom. He sustained a compound fracture of the skull. Joe McMaster Committed to Stand His Trial and Bailed.

GEORGETOWS, Ont., Feb. 4.—Joe McMaster, who assaulted young Turner at Glenwilliams, was brought from Milton jail yesterday and arraigned before Magistrates Kennedy and Barber, charged with assaulting with intent to do grevious bodily harm one Albert Turner. County Crown Attorney Matheson prosecuted. The prisoner's interests were looked after by Barrister John Shilton, of Toronto. Turner, who looks anything but well, said that he attended church at Glenwilliams on the evening of January 20; that after the service, and as he and Miss Wheeler were moving away from the church steps McMaster jumped between them, shoving him (Turner) off the sidewalk. He regained his position beside the middle walk. He regained his position beside the fady and they walked peaceably along until they reached Mr. Martin's house. Miss Wheeler here excused herself, stating that she left her wraps in Martin's. While waiting her outcoming he received a blow which felled him to the ground. He attempted to rise, but was struck and went down again. The pounding continued until he became unconscious.

Severai other witnesses were examined, all of whom swore they saw McMaster assault Turner.

Their Wedding Journey.

The old folks had gone to bed and Sime and 'Mandy were in the dim little parlor where burned a slow fire of sizzling hick ory logs in the old-fashioned fireplace. The wintry blasts shook the old farm house and the windows rattled, and a puff house and the windows ratted, and a pure of smoke now and then came down the chimney on a return trip and circled familiarily about the room, but Sime and 'Mandy didn't mind it. They were sitting very close together. Sime, with throubing heart and faltering tongue, had declared himself and 'Mandy had listened shyly and with downcast eves.

MAKING LOVE MATCHES AN EXPERIENCED WOMAN TELLS HOW

IT IS ACCOMPLISHED.

Results-Match-Makers Must Know How

Women are born match-makers. This characteristic im many becomes a posi-tive mania, like unto the craze for five o'clock teas, Russian cigarettes and other oddities. Some times the match-maker shows a total lack of discretion selections that she makes, giving siders a wild desire to incarcerate in a permanent asylum for weak-nded females.

But these are exceptions, for the woman of society, whose personality has brought her in prominence, has sufficient tact and knowledge of human nature to show her who shall meet who.

Matchmaking is the easiest sort of thing if you just know how, as it is simply a case of propinquity—continued association with the charming surroundings in which Cupid so delights to revel.

It is as impossible for a worthy chaperon of any perception at all to do aught but match make at a summer resort as for the sun not to shine when the clouds have rolled away.

Last summer at one of the loveliest and most picturesque lakes in the North-west, in the prettiest little cottage im-aginable. I dwelt for many long weeks. that the hammock swung dreamily all day long; old Sol's too ardent rays were kept from view by the thick, green foliage; the water splashed lazily along the shore, rocking the boats to and fro, and all was ideal except for the lack of a scheme. So I planned to do a little unselfish matchmaking. The first thing I did was to send this note:

A French Mathematical Predigy.
Young Vernier, the mathematical prodigy from the provinces, of whose success in obtaining admission to the bigher normal school without undergoing an examination yon were informed a few days ago, has arrived here, and is the object of much curiosity. This youth of eighteen has a great opinion of his genius, for, when complimented on his wonderful proficiency, he calmly remarked that mathematics were so badly taught in France that he had no trouble in convincing the real savants of the "insanity" of the prevailing methods. He says that during his stay ants of the 'nsamity of the prevaiing methods. maticians of note, who imagined that they were replying to an elderly savant like themselves, and were astounded when they ascertained that he was a schoolboy. The Minister of Public Instruction was informed of the existence of this "infant phenomenon," and promptly admitted him to the nigher normal school on his own responsibility. Young Vernier does not intend to repose on his laurels. On the contrary, he is writing for the Academy of Science a work which will be ready by the summer, and which, as he confidently puts it, will bring about "a revolution like that accomplished by Laplace and Newton." He attributes every mathematical discovery to "intuition," or which he evidently believes that he has a considerable stock at his com-mand. It remains to be seen whether young Vernier will succeed in carrying out his threat of demolishing the existout in shreat of demonstrating the east-ing system, and it is quite possible that he overrates his powers. There is no doubt, however, that he possesses ex-ceptional talents, and his career will be watched with interest .- Paris Corres pondence London Telegraph. The Irish Elk.

AN ACCIDENT AT ST. MARY'S WITH ALMOST FATAL RESULTS.

System—An International Code.

Marine signaling is at least 25 centures old. Among the regists and Romans the polished sur, coof the shields were used as mirrore to reflect the sunlight from one toireme to another. As they used no firearms there was no smoke to interfere, and the flashes of sunlight could be easily read. In this day it could not be done, for whole squadrons of warships are sometimes enveloped in smoke. However, smokeless powder may in a few years so alter conditions as to make some similar system possible in battle.

The use of firearms introduced a new mode of signaling only as regards signals of distress, and as a manner of saluting other nations. In actual battle the cannon are useless as signals, because each faction is firing indiscriminately, and the number of guns to be fired as signals lose their identity. Any foreign vessel of war entering a harbor of another country with which it is at peace hoists the flag of that country at the fore truck and fires a salute of 21 guns, which salute is returned with the same number of guns. A vessel in distress, if in daytime, fires a gun continu ously until some answer is had from shore or some other vessel, if there is one in hearing distance.

For short distances the semaphore is very successful and is also used among merchant vessels, as well as men of-war.

The principal signal for short distances is the "wig-wag," which is used, not for general maneuver, as the semaphore, but for any and all messages that have to be explained in detail. The "wig-wag" is made by a person standing erect with a small flag in each hand, which he waves in certain combination for certain letters. Clever Remarks in Court.

Lagal retorts are very numerous and often very good. Sometimes they take the form of a spar between opposing counsel and sometimes that of a facetious remark addressed to the judge, as in the case, "Woodcock vs. Bird," when the chief justice, happening to remark that birds should live together in harmony, the counsel for Mr. Bird replied, "Yes, my lord, they should, but my client complains of the length of the plaintiff's bill!"

Most frequently, however, the repartet takes the form of a pointed remark by a witness to a builtying lawyer. "How do you like your bacon and beans!" Mr. Cockle once asked a witness. "Bolled, but without cockle sance," was the satisfactory reply.

without cockle sauce," was the satisfactory reply.

In fact, it is rather the fashion among a certain class of witnesses to decry the legal profession on all possible occasions. Of course such persons betray a very poor appreciation of the immense benefits the profession confers upon and receives from society, but some men are never astisfied unless they are disparaging something of alleged utility. These are the men who would second the prayer uttered by the deaf Dean of Ely when, following a speaker who had commented upon an extraordinary epidemic of mortality among barristers, and whom he had imperfectly heard, he said: "For this and every other mercy may the Lord make us devoutly thankful."

It was found that the explosion occurred It was found that the explosion occurred only when a rate of vibration of sixty per second was communicated to the prepared strings. Vibration of the G string caused an explosion, while that of the E string had no effect.

Mrs. Ormiston Chant, of London, cannot retire into private life. Since the Empire affair she has been the most written about social reformer in England, and now her toy image is being sold about the streets. Largest Lens in the World. Largest Lens in the World.
A lens, which will be when finished the largest in the world, is now being cast at Jena, Germany. It is an objective for an astronomical telescope, and will be 481-8 inches in diameter, about five inches greater than that at the Lick observatory, in its rough state, before grinding, it weighs just one ton, and will cost, it is estimated, about $75,000.

In making slate pencils broken slate is put into a mortar run by steam and pounded into small particles. Then it goes into a mill and runs into the "bolt ing" machine, such as is used in ing machine, such as is used in nour-ing mills, where it is bolted, the fine, almost impalpable flour that results be ing taken to a mixing tub, where a small quantity of steatite (soapstone; flour, similarly manufactured, is added, together with other materials, the whole making a stiff dough. This dough is kneaded thoroughly by passing it sev-eral times between iron rollers. Thence it is conveyed to a table, where it is made into "charges," or short cylinders, four or five inches thick, and containing eight to twelve pounds each. Four of these are placed in a strong iron chamber, or "retort," with a changeabl nozzle so as to regulate the size of the pencil, and subjected to tremendous hydraulic pressure, under which the composition is pushed through the noz zle in the shape of a long cord, and passed over a sloping table slit at right angles with the cords to give passage to a knife which cuts them into lengths.

They are then laid on boards to dry and, after a few hours are removed to sheets of corrugated zinc, the corrugat-ing serving to prevent the pencils from warping during the process of bak warping during the process of saming two which they are next subjected in a kilinito which superheated steam is introduced in pipes, the temperature being regulated according to the requirement of the article exposed to its influence. From the kiln the articles go to the finishing and packing room, where the ends are thrust for a second under rapidly revolving emery wheels, and withdrawn neatly and smoothly polish ed. They are then packed in paste board boxes, each containing 100 pen cils, and these boxes are in turn packed for shipment in wooden boxes contain ing 100 each, or 10,000 pencils in a ship ping box. Nearly all the work is done by boys, and the cost, therefore, is light.—Exchange.

A Gambler's Superstition They were playing a quiet rubber of whist and had called for a new deck of cards. One of the players was an old timer, a card player of years of experience, and he took up the old wornout pack and put them on the window sill. "Why not?" "Superstition," was the answer. "Burn a pack of cards, and they'll never give you another hand and will mock you to the last. They're bad enough at best, but you never saw a gambler curse the cards or abuse them. He doesn't dare to. I knew a 'successful' card player who did it. He was dwelling on velvet then. In a year he was a beggar, and he never won a game worth metioning forever after. It's a whim but the gentlemen of the cloth of green respect it. They won't bann a pack of
