BATHURST SCHOOLS.

He would have thought, if he had desired to show his expression of public opinion upon the facts of the case, that he would not have tried to side track this question by referring it to a committee, but would have manfully moved a resolution in the house to the effect that these regulations were not to be rescinded and redressed. The hon. member only possessed very strong and fixed opinions on this question, but had already fully made up his mind six or eight weeks before the elections came on. Up to that time the hon. member had been a most ardent supporter of what he now asserts had been all these years a Rome-enqured government. What reason he could give for this change of opinion he did not say, but he was able to arrive at so strong a conclusion as he had in September, 1879, was a private organization, the Roman hierarchy, and referred to the government as the minions of the Roman hierarchy. He then dealt with the Anarchist bombs signed by Pitts, and issued during the York and Queens county elections, which he spoke of as "Roman bombs," and he said that if the hon. member had been a private or political organization.

Hon. Mr. Blair's Convincing Address.

Member for York Quotas Scripture Backwards.

The gathering at the local house on Monday afternoon was the largest this session, there being fully two hundred ladies present while the sterner sex filled every available space in the galleries. The occasion was the Bathurst school discussion.

Many members had taken their seats when Pitts arrived with an armful of books and papers, thought by all who saw them to be copies of the notorious anarchist bombs which were so industriously circulated prior to the recent elections. After much preliminary sorting, upsetting and unfolding of documents, enough to terrify the hearts of all those who supported them, they were loaded with dynamite, he got settled down.

In due course of time he arose, wiped his cadaverous jaws with his five cent handkerchief, gulped a glass of water, and then began the most illiterate, nonsensical and tiresome harangue it has ever been the ill fate of hearers to be scourged with. It was expected that after the statements which had been made in his journal and through the doggers which he either sent forth or were sent forth in his interest that the government would be charged with such misdeeds that they could not stand before the pressure of public opinion but would have to give place to other and better men.

He did not launch forth into a statement of what crimes the government had committed in connection with the school law, but contented himself with asking that a committee of seven be appointed to investigate the matter. After endeavoring during the past four months to get something that might be used as a charge against the government, he had failed in his attempt. He had made a miserable failure of it. It appeared from his ranting that the opposition had decided not to take any part with him in the matter, that he could show them no reason why they should give him the support of the government in dealing with the school act. His only complaint was about legislation that was made before the present government came in power and with which they had no connection. It was the most disgusting failure ever made as a parliamentary speech. Even J. K. Pinder could not stand it and got out to the lobby to rest. Members on both sides of the house laughed when he quoted "As ye reap ye also sow." The only one in the gallery who gave him any applause was a man who had stolen a pair of snow shoes from the camp in order that he might be present to applaud. "His neighbor and their children" also came in for some severe criticism. It is not possible to give the tirade in full as it was too long to be reported. The hon. member said to do so, and would not be related by natives of York who might see it in other lands. As a joke it was a success, as a speech it was a failure. Many pined for him from time to time he wiped his nose with the handkerchief he had used and belched forth some absurdity.

He denied that he was a nuisance, an anarchist or obstructionist.

He appeared to be placed in a position that he would like to escape from, that he had got himself into a hole and would do the best he could to get out. He did not want the question of the schools discussed in open house, but rather to carry it before a committee where it would be hidden from the eyes of the people from the public gaze. Open criticism he did not want, but he wanted to be in a false position and one from which there was no retreat and would "be brazen" it out as best he could.

PLAIN FACTS.

Hon. Mr. Blair followed: He said if there were any members of the house who regretted this motion he was not the man. The hon. member had been elected for the county of York with his colleagues upon this issue, and he (Blair) was glad that the fight was no longer to be carried on under ambush. He was glad that the system of getting the hon. member carried on for some time previous to the recent elections was now to be brought to an end, and that these gentlemen had taken upon themselves the responsibility of placing this matter before the most competent and capable tribunal in the land. Whatever might be the result of this discussion the people throughout the country would be able to form a more accurate judgment than they had hitherto been able to do. The hon. member declared that he was not interested in an individual case, and that he merely desired to remedy an existing evil. He (Blair) had the greatest respect for any gentleman who believing that a grievance existed that ought to be remedied, boldly and manfully threw himself in the gap to redress that grievance. He would be very glad if he could believe that the hon. gentleman was entitled to claim before the house that he was actuated simply by the dictate of honest principle. But he felt unable to accord to the hon. member that honor, and in this connection would invite the attention of the house to the action and attitude of that gentleman in the past. He thought that there was one patent, undepicted fact that stood against all the declarations of the hon. member, and that that was that during these years, and in the very community in which that gentleman resided, there had existed under his very eyes without attracting the slightest attention from him all the grave wrongs and grievances of which he now so vehemently complained. During all these years the hon. member was not only silent with respect to these grievances, but warmly supported the government, yet he now asks the house to believe that in bringing this subject up just anterior to the elections, he was inspired by principle of pure patriotism. He could not believe that the hon. member when he started his agitation and scattered his

him to carry their minds back to that time in 1879, the school law had been enacted, and its non-sectarian features rendered it impossible that religious teaching should be given. There was a very strong sentiment in the country not entirely confined to the Catholic population that religious instruction should not be entirely excluded from the schools. The majority, however, thought otherwise, and the consequence was that Roman Catholics who had always given their children religious instruction in their schools looked upon the law with very great disfavor. Some people might think that this was a frivolous objection, but there was nothing which appealed more strongly to the minds of people, than anything that touched their religious usages or prejudices. The Catholics may have done wrong in throwing themselves into direct antagonism to the law, but they were free to do so now that they thought it a pity that our Roman Catholic people had not viewed the matter in a different light, and did not allow their children to mix with the Protestants in the same schools. Hon. members would recall the intense, bitter agitation of the period. It seemed as though the well-being of the community was imperilled, and even its commercial relations about to be rent asunder. So far as the government was concerned, the government had always been an opponent of the free school system. A more unblinking falsehood had never been uttered or believed by an aspirant for political honors.

This point asked if hon. Mr. Blair had not been a candidate in opposition to the free school candidate.

Hon. Mr. Blair—It was a candidate, but not in opposition to the free school candidate. I stated on the hustings in the most public manner that I was most heartily in sympathy with the non-sectarian school law. True, I did not set my eyes to the government of the day on the other questions, but my view has been plain and clear on that question down to the present time. The hon. member in his speech had referred to the "weak-kneed lumber-jointed" Protestant supporters of the government. He (Mr. Blair) thought the supporters of the government stood as firmly on their feet as the hon. gentleman. Hon. Mr. Blair said he thought he would like to hear the hon. member's inspired remarks about the religious instruction being given in the schools? Not a particle of proof that had ever been shown in the press or otherwise, and should such a case exist it would receive immediate attention. No such complaint had ever been brought before the board of education. It might be that incidents of the kind had occurred in different portions of the province; if so, they had been promptly dealt with by the inspectors. As to proposition 1, submitted to the board of education, he thought there to be the Catholic children being taught together in Protestant districts? He did not think the Protestantism of the country was so weak and mean a thing that it could not stand up against such a religious character. I wish all denunciations would follow that content of affairs until this agitation had commenced. As to the second proposition, "That regulations be made to provide for the granting of certificates to persons holding certificates from the government as one of the order," hon. members could see why that proposal was made. If all the regular hours were devoted to teaching and only such text books used as were prescribed, there was no reason why the teaching should be given by any teacher. As the law provided he or she was qualified. No suggestion had been made that the sisters were not fully qualified. They were most efficient and competent teachers, and the inspectors have stated that their schools were very successful and deserving the highest commendation.

CERTIFICATES.

Hon. Mr. Blair, after recess continued, as follows—

As I observed, under this arrangement entered into between the government and the representatives of the Roman Catholic order, the certificates of any religious order should be recognized as rendering the holder eligible for examination. It did not prevent that holder of such certificate should not submit himself or herself to such examination. It did not provide that any of the stringent regulations that were in force as to the character and quality of scholarship which should be required of any religious order should be diminished, but that these certificates should only entitle the holder to stand the examination. And I apprehend that under the operation for a long period of years of that arrangement a great many have submitted themselves to examination and having successfully passed it have become entitled to receive licenses qualifying them to teach. I would invite your attention to examine with me into the character of that arrangement and discover what the underlying objections are. I am not aware that any person of reasonable judgment can find fault if a teacher examined and qualified to teach should happen to belong to an order of any denomination. I do not apprehend that it would be the desire of the people of this country who are capable of exercising calm judgment to say that because a person is in close relationship with any particular church he would therefore be disqualified to teach in schools under the operation of the law. It is not possible that a person who is qualified to teach should be disqualified to teach because of his religious affiliation. I am informed that the Roman Catholic order has been permitted to teach wherever the trustees desired and the children were willing to attend.

EXAMINATIONS.

Following this regulation there was an application made to the government in 1878 to allow the Sisters of Charity to be examined separately and apart from other applicants, and if any of them desired to come up for examination that they should not be compelled to attend with the general applicants but having regard to the nature of their sisterhood and its obligations that they might be allowed to submit themselves to examination in a less public way. As early as 1878 in St. John an application of that kind was made, and while it was not acceded to, and no specific rules of the board made tion with the religious orders of the Catholic church should be allowed to do so. Instead of granting equal rights to all it would absolutely prescribe a particular class of our people and cause serious dissatisfaction. Individuals actually and prominently connected with different churches have been examined and received licenses. I have a few names: Rev. John Home, a Presbyterian minister, never attended Normal School, received license and taught school for years, and I am informed is still teaching; Rev. Mr. White, another Presbyterian, an other name. It is because they do not happen to be connected with the Roman Catholic church, that it is all right I suppose. Suppose there was no other regulation about it; suppose those persons came up in the way they did in 1879. If Catholics were made an ad hoc about it and seek to stir up agitation and have somebody make a resolution to refer the matter to a select committee of seven, as in the present case, would it not be felt on all sides of the house that it was an intolerant spirit that dictated such a course? What need had been shown for a change in the existing state of things? The government were most carefully and thoroughly enforcing all the regulations of the board of education; they were carrying on the schools in conformity with the law, no attempt was being made to undermine the principles of Protestantism, and if the Catholic children could receive any benefit by being taught school hours upon matters of religion, it ought to be a matter of satisfaction to every well-thinking man rather than a ground for concern and complaint. But while he had been drawing the attention of the house to the arrangement entered into in 1875, he thought it desirable that he should get down to the actual state of affairs as they were in 1892. If Catholics were made of the school law, under regulation 31, would he find the only regulation now in force relating to the subject. In 1892 the government thought it advisable to put everything in the manual that had any relation to the subject, and therefore embodied regulation 31 as follows:

PERSONS ELIGIBLE FOR EXAMINATION.

If the applicant has obtained professional classification at the provincial Normal school, or has received a certificate of qualification from some other normal or training school after attendance thereof of not less than one school year. That is as it exists today, and in 1892, the executive council in 1875, at that time until the manual came out in 1892 that was the existing order. Unquestionably the phrasing was changed, and in a way to which no possible objection can be taken. The manual of 1884 was based on the previous manual, and therefore contained any reference to the subject. It was issued by the superintendent of that day and not submitted to the board. The government thought the manual should contain all the regulations and hence made it so in 1892. There were, as there undoubtedly are, "recognized normal schools" in connection with all religious denominations, and if applicants come up with certificates and are able to pass the examination, they will be entitled to receive and will receive licenses qualifying them to teach. He could not see how any possible objection could be taken to this regulation. There was no point in the discussion, unless the hon. gentleman who were cavilling at the contents of the manual of 1884 were able to put into some shape proposals in amendment of the regulations now existing.

Dr. Stockton—Do you refer to me?

Hon. Mr. Blair—If the hon. gentleman thinks it applicable to him I do refer to him. Hon. member's remarks were in plain terms just what they were otherwise their criticism is pointless. Hon. members should be dissatisfied that there should be this regulation in the manual. Hon. members had acquainted themselves with the contents of the manual and the law, and they had answered all their enquiries with the utmost courtesy, as they themselves admit. Now let them formulate what proposals they have to make to alter, amend or amend any of these regulations. Then we will have a government that will be able to learn what the view of the legislature is on this question.

MILITARY REGULATION.

Hon. Mr. Blair then referred to what was called the "military regulation" which prohibited any teacher wearing in school while engaged in teaching, symbols or insignia connected with any religious order. The hon. member said that he became so ashamed of the regulation that they passed an order in 1872 to the effect that nothing in such regulation should prevent the wearing of the cross as denominationally worn by certain religious orders. This was proposed by a gentleman opposite to revive that military regulation? The order of 1872 was published and when the elections of 1874 took place they resulted in the return of the most protestant house that ever sat in this province with a government that did not contain one Roman Catholic member. These gentlemen ratified, confirmed, and carried out the regulation of 1872, abolishing the military regulation. And yet the argument is now soberly put forward that the government are displaying a desire to retain themselves in office, in allowing the sisters to teach and wear these crosses and symbols. It is claimed to be the result of political exigency. When the King government passed this order no such exigency could be said to exist, for they had just emerged triumphant from the people. It was simply the strictness of the question that resulted in the action they took; the weight of argument advanced by the Catholic representatives that led the government to that course and which down to the present had not been questioned. It was simply absurd that intelligent people should allow themselves to be influenced by the cry that Sisters of Charity, while teaching Catholic children, were going to impair the rights and privileges of the protestant people of the country. No doubt before this debate closed the house would hear from the hon. member for Sunbury (Mr. Perley) who was in the government at that time, and no doubt familiar with the reasons that influenced the action of the government.

NO COMPLAINTS.

It had been claimed that one result of allowing religious instruction after hours would be the selection of teachers by the trustees who had sole control in that matter because of their denominational bias. Whether the teacher was a Protestant or a Catholic mattered little to the people,

LOCAL NEWS.

NEW ADVERTISEMENTS.

THIRD PAGE.

John G. Adams, Equity Sale, Havlock Co. Real Estate.

Fancy Sale.—The mission hall of the Methodist church will hold a fancy sale to the school room of that church on Monday evening next.

Diphtheria.—Rev. Mr. Crawley is ill from diphtheria. His pupil here on Sunday last was filled by the Rev. S. McCully Black, of St. John.

Recovering.—C. B. Harrison, M. P. P., Sunbury county, is at Victoria hospital and is improving under the treatment received there. It is to be hoped that his recovery will be speedy.

Delegates.—Aldermen Kelley, Chesley, Blizard, Dr. White, McLaughlin, McGoldrick and Smith, of St. John, were here during the week as delegates to promote the amendment to the assessment act of that city.

A Night Trip.—Hon. Mr. Emmerson was in his place on Monday at the house, having made a night trip from Amherst where he was called on Friday, 24th ult, to attend the funeral of Mrs. Read, his grandmother.

Hoop Industry.—During the past winter one hundred and thirty thousand birch hoops for lime barrels have been made at Hoyt Station by H. Edwards, of Fairville. A large quantity has been made at Rustigornia also by Fairville parties.

Gilmore's Band.—Something over two hundred seats have been booked at St. John for Fredrick citizens who intend going to that city on the 21st inst., to attend the Gilmore band concert. It is expected that one hundred more seats will be taken.

Baby Hurt.—Story McLaughlin, formerly of this city, but now of Lewiston, Me., is confined to his room there, the result of a severe injury. It is supposed that he will come out all right, but his recovery will be slow. The trouble is injury of the spine.

At Home.—On Saturday afternoon from four to six o'clock, a large attendance of legislators and citizens met at Lady Tilley's "at home." On Saturday evening upwards of one hundred guests attended a very pleasant "at home" at the residence of Doctor and Mrs. Coulthart.

Three Fires.—On Sunday afternoon there was an alarm of a fire at the corner of King and Regent streets; on Tuesday the roof of P. McGinn's work shop got in a blaze, and about two hours after was on fire. No damage of any amount was done in either case.

Big Property Purchase.—Eleven thousand acres of land in Carleton county, known as the Foundry Block, has been purchased by H. P. Walker, of Massachusetts, and James Carr, of Woodstock. They will cut off the lumber and bark and lay out the land for settlement. The price was in the neighborhood of $50,000.

Come to See Us.—Among those who came to see the town and citizens may be mentioned: G. A. Schofield, W. W. Turnbull and Morris Robinson of St. John; grand master Fowler, of Sussex; Dr. McAvaney, police magistrate Ritchie and J. E. B. McCready, of St. John; Robert Swin, of Donkton; John Crawford, of Harvey; and Mrs. Burchill, wife of Speaker Burchill.

An Increase Asked For.—The university senate at their meeting on Tuesday last, appointed a delegation to wait upon the members of the provincial government with a view to obtaining an increase of the provincial grant in aid of the university. The step is rendered necessary in the interest of the institution as it is not possible to reduce the number of professors without impairing the efficiency of the staff.

One For John.—The St. John Sun says: George Downie and William Taylor, of Halifax, are in the city en route home from Fredericton, where they have been taking a special course of instruction at the Royal school of Infantry. Both gentlemen speak in the highest terms of their treatment at the capital. They are loud in their praise of Mr. Edwards of the Queen, where they boarded during their sojourn in Fredericton.

Habeas Corpus.—On Thursday Judge Fraser granted an order under the habeas corpus, returnable on Monday, calling on the Sunbury county jailer to show by what authority he detains Arch. Conley in custody, and also commands justices Albery Grass and Abner Smith, to return proceedings committing Conley to said jail. The trouble arose over alleged damage by Conley to a fence owned by Mr. Stevens of Sunbury county.

Parents, Manages and Coys.—It appears very evident that the endeavors of the heirs of Solomon Parent to secure the property in New York that it is believed belongs to them, is to be a strenuous one. They will leave no stone unturned to secure their rights and they are justified in so doing. The several families of Manages and Coys within this county and Sunbury are also interested and will hold a meeting on Tuesday next, the 4th inst., at the hotel here, owned by Turney Manzer, at 10 o'clock, a. m. All interested are asked to be present.

Always Correct.—Roberts and Phillips, who took the prisoners Gordon and O'Ree to Dorchester had some difficulty in getting them passed as inmates of the penitentiary as they were the first to be sentenced to that institution by a police magistrate under the new law. They found after enquiry that Mr. Marsh was right, as he is in all his readings of the law, and the city should give him all the credit he deserves as he is a very efficient officer. Helley Boulter, who was supposed to have received the goods stolen from Davis, Staples & Co.'s store by Gordon and O'Ree, has been dismissed on his own recognizance, there not being sufficient evidence to convict.

Easter Service.—The following music will be rendered by the Fredericton Baptist choir (stone church) to-morrow, Easter Sunday. The pulpit will be occupied by Rev. Mr. Crawley, who will preach sermons suitable to the day.

Morning service, 11 o'clock—Opening, Christ is Risen; Hymns 185, 188; Anthem, Christ our Passover; solos for soprano, alto and bass; sermon: hymn 40, Again the Lord of Life and Light, &c.

Evening service, 7 p. m.—Opening, Lift Your Glad Voices; Hymns 648 and 183; anthem, Go Forth to the Mountain; grand chorus; soprano solo by Miss Winters; sermon: hymn 409. Miss A. L. Lagrin, organist; J. W. Spurden, leader.

The Bridge.—Some few people experienced difficulty in getting across the highway bridge to this city during the week. The trouble was that the carpenters were so discommodated by the constant passing of teams that they could not do any work and so the bridge had to be closed while they were working. When several teams were waiting they were allowed to cross. Had the warm weather not come on so suddenly the ice would still be fit for crossing, indeed up till to-day many teams crossed. If there was no bridge they would have to cross on the ice or stay at home. Many ask, "How would we get along without the bridge?" but they fail to note the recompense given by the man who fought it through against all opposition. Now it is a trouble if they have to wait a few minutes had it not been for Attorney General Blair they would have none to cross.

THE COAL FIELDS OF QUEENS.

The Names of the Company and What They Propose To Do.

The promoters of the above named company are seeking for incorporation to enable them to lay out, construct and operate a railway from some point or points on the Grand Lake coal mines, in the county of Queens, to some point or points of shipment on the Grand Lake or adjacent railways.

They also ask for power to purchase, work, manage, hold, lease and sell coal mines and mining rights, and all kinds of coal mining property, real and personal, and to open and work the same, in the county of Queens, in the province of New Brunswick, and to search for coal in the said county, and to purchase, hold, use and convey real estate, and also to construct, purchase, hold, use and convey vehicles, vessels and other property and machinery for raising and manufacturing coal, and to raise, manufacture and sell coal, coal oil and other substances from coal, and to construct, hold, purchase, own and operate roads and tramways, wharves and piers necessary for the proper carrying out of the purposes and objects of the company, and to transport coal, coal oil and other substances, goods and chattels to and from the mines and other places of operation of the said company, and to use the same for the purposes aforesaid, and all other purposes for which roads and tramways, wharves and piers may be used, and to acquire, purchase, construct, hire or hold all such wharves, water lots, docks and piers as may be required.

The said company is to be incorporated under the name of the Queens Coal and Iron Company, and the name of the company shall be the Queens Coal and Iron Company, and the name of the company shall be the Queens Coal and Iron Company, and the name of the company shall be the Queens Coal and Iron Company.

The provisional directors of the company are: Joseph Bullock, Frederick A. Jones, William Marlock, Samuel B. Perkins, and Byron G. Taylor. The head office of the company shall be in the city of St. John.

The capital stock of the company shall be $100,000 to be divided into 2,000 shares of $50 each.

The first meeting of the shareholders, for the appointment of directors, shall be held in the city of St. John, on the first Tuesday in June, 1893, and the annual general meeting of the shareholders shall be held on the first Tuesday in June of each year.

Another Big Enterprise at Marysville. It must be pleasing to all who wish to see the country prosper to learn that it is contemplated by Mr. Gibson to add another enterprise to those which have made that village and its environs in manufacturing. It is at present proposed to convert the large single mill into a factory for the manufacture of all kinds of woollen goods.

With the cotton mill so near and under his control, all classes of goods can be made, covering an immense range. They cannot only be made as well but as cheaply as in any other part of the American continent. Besides other advantages that will arise from this new venture, it will be of more immediate advantage to Central New Brunswick than has Mr. Gibson's other factories. They did much for a portion of the province, but this will consume about all the wool that can be raised here. It will necessitate the keeping of more sheep by our farmers, and will be a boon to all. The busy town will extend its bounds, as the hands to be employed will require homes, and these will have to be built, as there is a large population there now as the town can accommodate.

PROVINCIAL EXHIBITION. To be held at Fredericton in September. It was decided by Agricultural society, District No. 34, that although their past two exhibitions have been fairly successful yet on account of being strictly confined to the products of the farm they did not allow for the manufacturing enterprise which is beginning to manifest itself throughout the province. They have concluded to hold an exhibition in September next, on the 19th, 20th and 21st, which will include, besides all products of the farm, everything in the line of manufactured goods. Ample space will be put at the disposal of all firms or individuals to display their or their specialties and there can be no doubt but that the show will be a most successful one. September has been chosen as the best month because the city then is in its fullest beauty and the weather is warm and delightful. Cheap rates will be given on all steamboat and railway lines, and at that season of the year the trip from St. John by the river boats will be very pleasant. All possible will be done by Fredericton citizens to aid the society in the project, and visitors may be assured of a good show and the best attendance.

Marysville News. It is expected that one gang will start in the mill in a few days. The ice has run below the dam but that above is still holding, though very weak. Miss Aggie Ramsey, who attended the funeral of her brother, Allen, at Quebec, returned home on Thursday. Wheeler's bus line has been sold out to interested parties and will hold a meeting on Tuesday next, the 4th inst., at the hotel here, owned by Turney Manzer, at 10 o'clock, a. m. All interested are asked to be present.

City Council. On Thursday evening the city council held a session and decided upon the following assessment for this year: Schools $4,000; Public health $500; Victoria hospital $200; Roads and streets $3,000; Support of poor $2,000; Fire department $3,750; Administration of justice $2,000; Street lighting $1,700; City government and contingent $1,100; Water works $2,500; Public works $3,500.

Total $42,200. This total is the same as last year. A large amount of asphalt sidewalk is contemplated, and considerable will be spent in this way.

Noway Notes. Hon. T. W. Anglin will lecture at St. John on Thursday evening next at the opera house. Rev. Sydney Welton, it appears, has shaken the dust of St. John from his feet and will in future reside in the land of the free. Perhaps it is as well. A public concert was held at Harvey Station on the evening of Friday, the 24th ult, in the Grange hall. Rev. J. A. McLean, R. A., presided. There were music, songs, recitations, readings, etc. A bill has passed the house that will be pleasing to most farmers, to the effect that a fence four feet high will henceforth be a lawful fence, instead of the old height of four and a half feet. An advertisement columns will be found in the card of John G. Adams, of the late firm of Adams Bros., court house square. He will carry on the undertaking business as before and will have in stock also a full line of furniture of all kinds. As an experienced undertaker Mr. Adams has had a long service, and it is not too much to say that he has no superior in the city. All who may require his services in this line may depend on getting the best satisfaction at the lowest possible rates.

TROUBLE AT BATHURST.

He Breaks the Door With an Axe.

The following comes from Bathurst, dated the 28th March: The orange body here hired a hall from Charles Bos about nine months ago to be used, as Bos alleges, for the purpose of their meetings and not otherwise. When the vacancy in the grammar school was filled by the appointment of E. O'Brien, several protestants withdrew their children from the primary and intermediate departments and set about opening a separate school. The orangemen offered them the use of the hall but Mr. Bos stated to his lessees that he would not allow the building to be used as a school, at least not at the same rental. An arrangement was finally made by which the school was opened with the distinct understanding that as soon as a new teacher was procured for the grammar school the teacher and pupils would vacate the Bos hall. E. O'Brien was dismissed about two weeks ago, and yesterday P. G. Berton, R. A., of St. John, took charge. Mr. Bos immediately notified his tenants that they must leave, which they refused to do, and this morning when teacher and pupils arrived the door was found securely locked. In a few minutes quite a number assembled when Mr. Bos refused to open the door. Joshua Gammon, one of the officials of the orange lodge, took an axe and broke the lock.

At St. John on Monday last, Mrs. Armstrong, wife of the Rev. W. B. Armstrong, rector of Peterborough, Queens Co., died at the age of forty years. Deceased was a daughter of the late George Wright of Norwood, Charlotte, P. E. I. She leaves a husband and four children to mourn their sad bereavement. Much sympathy is expressed towards the esteemed rector and his family by all.

The friends of Capt. Spencer M. Medley, third son of the late Bishop Medley, have questioned the sad intelligence of his death in New Zealand. He was in his 66th year, and during his military career saw considerable active service. He wore the Crimean, Afghan and New Zealand badges. Ten years since he retired from the service with the rank of captain. He leaves a widow and two children.

Thomas C. Everett of St. John street, this city, died at his residence on Friday, March 31st. He had been a sufferer for some time from hemorrhage of the stomach, and it was felt by his friends on Wednesday that his end was fast approaching. Deceased had a long acquaintance here and at the lower mills, where he worked for years as a mechanic. He was a brother of Mrs. J. Morrison, and brother-in-law of Julius L. Inches of the agricultural department. He was a son of the late Thos. C. Everett of St. John. He had reached the age of fifty-three. A wife and five children are left to mourn, to whom the warmest sympathy of all is extended.

CAE LEND OF WALL PAPER.—McMurray & Co. have just received a carload of wall paper that ever reached this city, comprising everything in the wall paper line, some very handsome designs at all prices. They are now on sale. Their advertisement was received too late for this issue but will appear next week. Look out for it, in the meantime call and see the paper.

Lucy & Co. have just received from a celebrated Toronto manufacturer 50 suits of clothing for boys from four to sixteen years of age. These goods are without doubt the finest lot ever shown in this city. Prices from $2 to $5. April 1, '93.

NEW ADVERTISEMENTS. NOTICE. THE Annual General Meeting of the Stockholders of the Central Fire Insurance Company of N. B., will be held at 2 o'clock, p. m., for the purpose of electing directors and officers for the ensuing year, and for the consideration of such other business as may lawfully be brought before them. A. D. McHERSON, Secretary.

MAGNIFICENT STALLION. That is What E. A. Estey's Recent Purchase is Called. This morning R. A. Estey, of this city, received by train a Canadian bred Clydesdale stallion from H. H. Spence, Brooklyn, Ontario. The horse is three years old, bay, white on off hind leg and right front foot. He has just come from the Toronto horse show where he carried off the honors of his class books first in the list. He is registered in both the Canadian and American stud books and is admitted by all who have seen him to be the best stallion that has yet reached this city. Mr. Estey has thus put within reach of our farmers the very best blood and should receive their patronage. By being Canadian bred he is better suited to our climate and class of mares than those directly imported from the old country. He is a magnificent built, well-slow, active and wiry looking yet very kind and tractable. Not only will his colts rank high in this province but they will take first rank in the upper provinces and across the line. He may be seen at Mr. Estey's stable where terms, etc., will be made known. All should see him even if they do not intend to patronize him.

Frank Leslie's Popular Monthly for April. The "Art Aspects of the World's Fair," as set forth by Frank Leslie in the leading illustrated article in Frank Leslie's Popular Monthly for April, make a beautiful and impressive showing of the wonderful White City at Chicago. Two other articles in this number especially noteworthy are "The Russian Folk Songs" and "Charlotte Corssen's 'Bavarian Highlands.'" "From Ashes to Palms" is a study in Lenten lore, with some curious illustrations of Paucal customs in Europe. Other attractive illustrated papers are: "Birds in Flocks," by Nellie Hart Woodworth; "A Celestial Farm on Long Island," by Don Setz; "The Symbolism of Lines," by J. Carter Beard; and ex-Mayor Oakley Hall's reminiscences of "The New York Fanny Kemble." A second installment of Edna W. Placer's new serial story, "Jack of the Light," is given, together with short tales and sketches by David Ker, Katherine Strickland, Charles H. Grandall, Serena Townsend, Mary A. Denison, Eleanor Wadley, and others.

A Relief. The old college building on George street, at the rear of the present building is now a thing of the past, as it has been torn down. It is one of the oldest school buildings in the province, and many of the older residents of this city will remember the many joys and sorrows that fell to their lot within its walls. It was the property of the U. N. B., as is also the present school building. The school building will have to be removed from the present building to the new building on York street before June next. Then the site of the present grammar school will be improved and possibly rented.

WEDDINGS. Some Have Taken Place, Others Will. The wedding of Miss Jennie Winslow, daughter of T. B. Winslow of this city, to W. E. Smith, secretary of the telephone company is announced for Wednesday next, at the Methodist parsonage, this city, on the 28th of March, the Rev. R. W. Weddall performed the marriage ceremony between Charles W. Pond and Miss Eliza J. Spencer, both of Boiestown. On Wednesday evening, the 29th ult, Miss Annie Mahewlinny of Macas Bay, Charlotte Co., and Fred Bewis of Marysville, were married by the Rev. Mr. Noble, at his residence, Gibson. Best wishes are extended by all to the happy couple.

CHAPTER XLV.

THE APPOINTMENT.

"Valentine," answered Monte-Cristo,
"during my long watch over you, all I have observed has been what people visited you, what you ate, what you drank, same; at the same time, on the opposite side, toward Edward's room, Valentine fancied she heard the creaking of the floor; she listened attentively, holding her breath till she was nearly suffocated;
