The Great Strike.

The great railway strike has assumed the vast proportions that were predicted of it. Almost all the railway systems of the country from the Atlantic to the Pacific are affected by the embargo, and what is more deplorable than all, life is being sacrificed at the altar of perversity.

The causes leading up to the strike are lucidly set forth by President Debs. From his statements it is evident that the grinding monopolists are directly responsible for the trend affairs have taken.

The outcome of the struggle cannot now be imagined. On a questionably might and discipline will ultimately prevail, but the carnage that can only be the consequence to such a suppression is awful to contemplate.

Lord Randolph Churchill and lady are now at Bar Harbor. Those of our republican cousins who hanker after British styles and customs will thus have ample opportunity to learn the latest adjustment of the monocle, the newest fold in the trouser legs, and to perfect their cockney pronunciation dancier know.

That "fine opportunity," so disastrous to liberal-conservative in the minds of imaginative glib editors, came and went once again last week with the almost always invariable result. The elections of West Hastings had a beautiful chance to help to rush out Sir John Thompson's government, but instead rushed in by acclamation one of his most popular supporters.

Some of the grip papers are yet busily wrestling with the intercolony conference banquet and the dastardly attempts of the Tories to exclude Mr. Laurier's name from the postprandial programme on the occasion.

Their most open and brazen attack on the Hon. Mr. Laurier was made on the 10th inst. at the station, when a mob of about 1000 men and boys held up the milk train on the Pittsburg and Fort Wayne tracks at Fortieth street and stoned the engine and fireman.

These previous known in no uncertain way, has caused no little commotion among the more law-abiding citizens. They fear the results that may ensue if something be not done to suppress these agitators before their peculiar teachings become to firmly rooted. England is fast becoming the headquarters of anarchism, and the most desperate and unscrupulous members of the sect having taken up their quarters within her confines. They are an undesirable commodity in any country, and those most menaced by their teachings have taken steps to prevent their now easy access into the country.

Two hundred and twenty-five freight cars on the Pan Handle tracks between 45th and 59th streets a distance of about a mile, were totally destroyed by fire between six and eight o'clock on Friday morning.

The feeling in the United States against the Senate for their treatment of the Wilson bill is something akin to that engendered against British lords over the Home Rule measure.

At daylight this morning there was evidence of violence along the stock yards. The company's tracks and vehicles were torn up, overturned, railroad buildings destroyed, freight cars broken and contents scattered along the tracks.

An interesting ceremony took place in the pretty chapel of the Notre Dame convent at 5 o'clock Monday morning when Miss Mary Elizabeth Dorsey, daughter of James Dorsey, Esq., of this city, was united in marriage to James J. Johnston, barrister and attorney-at-law, son of John Johnston Esq., also of this city.

The bride was charmingly decorated for the occasion, the bridegroom a graduate of the University of Toronto. The ceremony was officiated by the Rev. J. K. Dorsey, brother of the bride, supported by the Rev. J. K. Dorsey, brother of the bride, supported by the Rev. J. K. Dorsey, brother of the bride.

On Friday John Crane, a young man who made too free with jewelry and other property of some gold holders was found guilty of larceny.

On Saturday William Larler again was found guilty of larceny. He was charged with the theft of a watch and other property of some gold holders.

On Sunday the jury returned a verdict of guilty against John Crane for larceny. The jury found that he had stolen a watch and other property of some gold holders.

On Monday the jury returned a verdict of guilty against William Larler for larceny. The jury found that he had stolen a watch and other property of some gold holders.

On Tuesday the jury returned a verdict of guilty against John Crane for larceny. The jury found that he had stolen a watch and other property of some gold holders.

On Wednesday the jury returned a verdict of guilty against William Larler for larceny. The jury found that he had stolen a watch and other property of some gold holders.

On Thursday the jury returned a verdict of guilty against John Crane for larceny. The jury found that he had stolen a watch and other property of some gold holders.

Madame Carnot has declined a position. Emperor William is to visit Dublin and inspect the royal dragons.

The date for putting the new U. S. tariff into force has been put forward to August 1st.

The Grand Trunk workshops, shut down some time ago, have been re-opened. The workmen have resumed work.

The New York police found two bombs the other day in places where an explosion would have been disastrous.
