Which Was The Heir?

CHAPTER XIX.

EVA laughed softly. 'It isn't often you make such a mistake, Mr. Oldham,' she said. 'He has only just come from Australia, and has never been in England before.'

'Dear me! Then, of course, I am mistaken. Good-morning. I must detain you. Perhaps you will be so good as to ask Sir Edward if he will drop in on me when he is in town next?' he said. And he stood a moment looking after the dog-cart.

'Could he have sworn I'd seen the boy before. From Australia. Just a fancy of mine, I suppose.'

'Who was that old gentleman?' asked Cottie.

'Mr. Oldham, the solicitor. He's the earl's lawyer—the Earl of Starborough—the big house, you know. He is a great friend of mine, and is a very clever man. I ought to have told him about your loss; he would be able to help you than anyone else. I believe there is nothing he could not find out. Yes, I must tell him; and he will be able to communicate with your friends in Australia.'

'No, no!' broke in Cottie, inwardly shivering. 'Don't trouble. I mean—I'd rather you didn't worry about it. I don't want them to know; they'd fret about it. I shall be all right!'

'What a strange boy you are,' Eva commented, looking at the flushed and rather anxious face.

They drove into the lane leading to the hall, and Eva suddenly uttered an exclamation and pulled up.

CHAPTER XX.

'WHY, it's the very thing!' she cried, with an air of satisfaction. They had stopped before a small, thatched cottage, overgrown with ivy and white roses. An old woman in a cap, as white as the driven snow, sat in the open doorway at some kind of needle work.

'What is it?' asked Cottie.

'Why, I have found a place for you—for the present, at any rate, Ronald,' said Eva. 'This is where you must stay. The old lady is the sister of our butler, Ripley, and—she beckoned to the old woman, who came down to the gate with her work in her hand, dropped a curtsey, and smiled placidly up at the beautiful girl.

'Oh, Betty! I'm so glad I saw you!' said Eva. 'This young gentleman—his name is Ronald Bell—he wants a lodging for a little while. Will you let him have that spare room of yours? I'm sure he won't give you much trouble; and, perhaps, he can help you in your work.'

She turned to Cottie with an explanatory air.

'She makes gloves, you know; and perhaps you could help her cut them out, or something; at any rate, you could bring the materials from the factory, and take the gloves back when they are finished; that is, if you don't mind,' she added—for the lad looked so absolutely gentlemanly, not to say aristocratic, calmly surveying the old woman and the cottage, that Eva felt that she was suggesting something infra dig.

'Oh, that's all right,' Cottie said, easily. 'I don't mind what I do; and it doesn't sound like very hard work,' she added, laughing.

Betty Ripley dropped a curtsey, and placidly eyed the handsome young boy through her spectacles.

'Of course I will, Miss Eva. Leastways, he shall have the room and welcome; but as to helping me—he don't look that sort, like.'

'Oh, I can work,' said Cottie; 'and thank you very much.'

She was about to jump down, but Eva laid a hand upon her arm.

'No; I want you to come to the Hall. Perhaps my brother is in, and he will advise us what to do about the stolen property.'

'All right,' assented Cottie. Now she had got over the first brunt of her loss, she took things easily enough. Her life had been such a series of ups and downs, that no misfortune—excepting that great one, the parting from Geoffrey—could affect her very deeply or for long.

'He will come to you in—say, half an hour,' said Eva, starting the horse again.

As they were turning in at the gate, a young woman came along the lane. She was rather a stylish young person, dressed in a somewhat Londonish fashion, with red hair that shone almost crimson in the sunlight. She raised her eyes to the dog-cart for a moment as it passed her, and Cottie, who had lost nothing of the sharpness of vision which she had acquired in the mining camp and the bush, asked:

'Who was that?'

'A young person who is living with her grandmother in a cottage in Starborough grounds,' replied Eva, rather coldly, with that peculiar note of reserve which a lady uses when she does not altogether approve of the individual of whom she is speaking.

'She is a Miss Rachel Lane. But what a curious boy you are!'

'An I?' said Cottie, casually. 'Rather pretty, wasn't she? What strange hair and eyes she has; they looked like—like some kind of jewel, didn't they. Now, do you, do the English people, think her pretty?'

Eva was silent a moment, then she said, as coldly as before:

'I don't know. Yes, I suppose so—some persons. It is a matter of taste. I don't admire her. I don't like— But I don't know anything about her. She is down here on a visit to her grandmother, and I believe, was to have left some weeks ago; but I have heard that she has given up the idea of being a governess, and is staying on at the grandmother's cottage. But this doesn't interest you,' she broke off, with a smile. Cottie shrugged her shoulders.

'Oh, no; only she looked so—so singular,' she said. 'Oh, what a beautiful old place!' she broke off, as they passed through the fine old place! she broke off, as they passed through the fine old gates into the neglected and weed-grown drive.

'It is the Hall, where my brother and I live,' she said. 'Now, we will see if he has come back. Come this way.'

Cottie, accustomed to her boy part gave her hand to help Eva down, and followed her into the hall.

'Sir Edward and Mr. Bassington are in master's den, miss,' said Ripley, blinking at Cottie.

Elections Without Candidates.

It has recently been suggested that the people shall be asked to say, by means of a direct vote, whether they wish the House of Lords to be ended or mended. This method of settling a vexed political question is known as the referendum, and it was first used in Switzerland, in 1874, a convenient method of ascertaining the will of the Swiss nation upon a particular issue, without having to subject the country to the expense and bother of a general election.

When a referendum is decided upon, one ballot paper is delivered to each elector, who is instructed to place a cross opposite the word "for" or "against," these being the only words printed upon it. The marked papers are then either collected by officers appointed for the purpose, or placed in public ballot boxes by the electors themselves.

Although the referendum would be a novelty so far as Great Britain is concerned, it has been tried upon several occasions in Belgium and France, and in Natal last year to ascertain the opinion of the colonists on the question of adhesion to the South African Union. Its principle has also been embodied in the written Constitution of the new Australian Commonwealth.

When the referendum has been used, it often results in a startling surprise to professional politicians. The bulk of mankind, it has been found, do not like change, and so are far more apt to vote "against" than "for" any particular measure of supposed reform.—P. W.

The King of Cartoonists

It is wonderful to think that Sir John Tenniel, who recently celebrated his ninetieth birthday, and who, during his fifty years' connection with 'Punch,' turned out 2,500 cartoons, did such magnificent work with the sight of his right eye gone. It was destroyed in a friendly fencing bout with his brother. An interesting reminiscence of the early days of 'Punch' is that Tenniel, together with three other members of the staff, used to make a river trip every year from Oxford to the lower reaches near London. Says Mr. Henry Silver, who, together with Tenniel, is another of the sole survivors of 'Punch' as it appeared in the 'Fifties':

When Sleep Fails You

DR. CHASE'S NERVE FOOD will bring rest, comfort and vitality by building up the nerves. Mr. Jas. Wesley Weaver, a veteran of the Fenian Raid, Port Dalhousie, Ont., writes:—'For years I was afflicted with nervousness and drowsiness, so that I never knew for three years what a full hour's sleep was, never more than dozing for a few minutes at a time. Heart pain and headaches almost drove me wild. I had spells of weakness and cramps in stomach and limbs. "Though I tried several doctors, I was money uselessly spent. Finally Dr. Chase's Nerve Food was brought to me and eight boxes cured me. I am simply wonderful what benefit I have obtained from this treatment. Sleeplessness and headaches or warnings of approaching nervous collapse. You can positively remove these symptoms and prevent prostration or paralysis by the use of Dr. Chase's Nerve Food. 50 cents a box, 6 for $2.50, at all dealers or Edman Bates & Co., Toronto. Write for free copy of Dr. Chase's Recipes.'

HOW CAN WE COUNTER-ACT THE INCREASED COST OF LIVING?

A second's reasoning will supply the answer. Beef and pork are dear and getting dearer all the time, and the cost is out of proportion with their food-value.

EAT MORE BREAD.

There is more nourishment in a shilling's worth of bread than a shilling's worth of beef or pork. But the problem is not done with yet. The shilling's worth of bread is not always the same value. Bread made from contains more nourishment than any other, because it contains the greatest amount of gluten, the health-giving nutriment of wheat.

The Evening Chit-Chat
By RUTH CAMERON

The Bishop of London has recently contributed to the literature of ways to lower the divorce rate, the suggestion that every husband and wife should take a two weeks' vacation separately each year.

It seems to me there is much in favor of the Bishop's idea, and also something against it.

One of the most important elements of a good vacation is complete change. It isn't merely a cessation of work that is needed to rest anyone. It's also the differentness of things—different air to breathe, different wall paper to look at, different food to eat, and different personalities to rub up against.

The most different vacation—other things being equal—is always the most renewing.

Wherefore it is a firmly held theory of mine that it is not the best thing for two very intimate friends, or for two members of a family—two sisters or a mother and daughter, or a father and son or two brothers, to go off on a vacation together.

I think one does not get so much invigoration or "renewedness" out of the rest time that way as when one goes with some person one likes but does not see very often any other time in the year.

And for the same reason it seems to me that it is a good idea for a husband and a wife to take a vacation from each other as well as from their work each year.

And then, too, I think it is a splendid thing to get far enough away from your blessings occasionally to get a proper perspective upon them.

There never was a blessing, however great, which one could get dangerously accustomed to, and familiar with the familiarity that breeds, if not contempt, at least lack of appreciation, unless one occasionally had a chance to miss it—and a good husband or wife is not an exception to that rule.

I know one couple who have followed the Bishop's plan long before it was his plan, and they both declare that it works out splendidly, because while they enjoy the vacation at the time they also enjoy coming home to each other after it is over.

The prime objection to the Bishop's theory, a nice young husband with whom I was discussing the plan, contributed.

"But neither my wife or I enjoy anything so much unless we can do it together," he pointed out.

To the average man whose two weeks' vacation is almost the only chance he gets to enjoy himself with his wife that is quite an objection.

Doubtless when the Bishop suggested that married couples should have a two weeks' vacation from each other he had a vision of them also having a month or two together.

But since the average marriage couple doesn't move in the Bishop's set and therefore doesn't find that exactly possible, why wouldn't it be a good compromise to split the two weeks and take half vacationing from each other and the other half with each other?

No Man is Stronger Than His Stomach

A strong man is strong all over. No man can be strong who is suffering from weak stomach with its consequent indigestion, or from some other disease of the stomach and its associated organs, which impairs digestion and nutrition. For when the stomach is weak or diseased there is a loss of the nutrition contained in food, which is the source of all physical strength. When a man "doesn't feel just right," when he doesn't sleep well, has an uncomfortable feeling in the stomach after eating, is languid, nervous, irritable and despondent, he is losing the nutrition needed to make strength.

Such a man should use Dr. Pierce's Golden Medical Discovery. It cures diseases of the stomach and other organs of digestion and nutrition. It enriches the blood, invigorates the liver, strengthens the kidneys, nourishes the nerves, and so GIVES HEALTH AND STRENGTH TO THE WHOLE BODY.

You can't afford to accept a secret nostrum as a substitute for this non-alcoholic medicine or sweet concoction, not even though the urgent dealer may thereby make a little bigger profit. Ingredients printed on wrapper.

HOUSEHOLD NOTES.

Many delicate and nervous people who cannot digest iron tonic should eat spinach, which contains more iron than even the yoke of an egg. Onions are also an excellent nerve.

Woolen blankets should be put away in boxes lined with newspapers and a few pieces of cotton, saturated with turpentine, should be put in the corners of the boxes to keep out moths.

Tablecloths, napkins and towels should be darned neatly on the wrong side as soon as they become thin and worn and before the thread breaks. It will make them last much longer and look better.

If the lamp smokes or gives a poor light, it may be merely dirty. Take the lamp apart, boil the burner in soda water and pour scalding hot water through the tubes and connecting rods.

Flattions should not be left on the back of the stove where they have no chance to lose their heat. They should be put away in a cool place where it is dry, so that they will not rust.

Small white spots on the finger nails may be removed by bandaging them at night with a linen cloth spread with a mixture of myrrh and turpentine. In the morning, wash the fingers in olive oil.

Salt and vinegar added to the water in which fish is boiled will serve to whiten and harden the fish. A teaspoonful of salt and a tablespoonful of vinegar to two quarts of water is the right proportion.

Benenas are nourishing, but many children cannot eat them without prolonged indigestion. If they are mashed with a fork and beaten to cream they will not harm the smallest child and can be eaten with a spoon.

Stains can be removed from marble with the following mixture. A gill of soapuds and oxgall, half a gill of turpentine and as much fuller's earth as will make a paste. Rub on the stains and leave for a few days.

When pressing seams on heavy material, put the iron down heavily, hold it there a moment, then lift it up and put it down a little further along. This does not put the seam out of shape as running it along does.

A suggestion in whipping cream is to whip it in the upper part of a double boiler, with fine ice or cold water placed in the lower part. An added advantage of this arrangement is that the boiler is deeper than the bowl, and there is less splattering.

To test butter, take a clean piece of white paper, smear a little of the butter on it, roll the paper up and set on fire. If the butter be pure, the smell will be rather pleasant, but if it is made up wholly or in part of animal fat it will smell like tallow.

When the milk supply is limited for any cause, save the water in which the rice is boiled. When this is allowed to stand until it is jellied it makes an economical substitute for milk and can be used in all the cream soups and needs not the thickening with butter and flour that milk must have.

No Indigestion Or Sick Stomach

Gas, heartburn, dyspepsia and all misery in stomach vanishes.

Take your sour, out-of-order stomach—or maybe you call it Indigestion, Dyspepsia, Gastritis or Catarrh of Stomach; it doesn't matter—take your stomach trouble right with you to your Pharmacist and ask him to open a 50-cent case of Pape's Diapepsin and let you eat one 23-grain Triangule and see if within five minutes there left any trace of your former misery.

The correct name for your trouble is Food Fermentation—food souring; the Digestive organs become weak, there is lack of gastric juice; your food is only half digested, and you become affected with loss of appetite, pressure and fullness after vomiting nausea, heartburn, griping in bowels, tenderness in the pit of stomach, bad taste in mouth, constipation, pain in limbs, sleeplessness, belching of gas, biliousness, sick headache, nervousness, dizziness or many other similar symptoms.

If your appetite is sickle, and nothing tempts you, or you belch gas or if you feel bloated after eating, or your food lies like a lump of lead on your stomach, you can make up your mind that at the bottom of all this there is but one cause—fermentation of undigested food.

Prove to yourself in five minutes that your stomach is as good as any; that there is nothing really wrong. Stop this fermentation and begin eating what you want without fear of discomfort or misery.

Almost instant relief is waiting for you. It is merely a matter of how soon you take a little Diapepsin.

What Imagination Will Accomplish.

Dr. Charles K. Mills, of Philadelphia, told at a dinner an amusing story of the influence of the imagination on the health.

"A young bank clerk," he said, "feeling fagged out from the excessive heat of a trying summer, consulted a physician. The physician questioned him, sounded his lungs, and then said, gravely:—

"I will write you to-morrow."

"The next day the bank clerk received a letter from the medical man telling him that his right lung was gone and his heart serious deranged, and advising him to lose no time in putting his affairs in order."

"Of course," the doctor wrote, "you may live for weeks, but you would do well to leave nothing of importance unsettled."

"Naturally, the young bank clerk was very much depressed by this sad letter, nothing less than a death warrant. He did not, of course, go to work that morning, and before noon he was having trouble with his respiration, while severe pains shot rapidly through his heart. He did not get up all day, and on towards midnight he had a sinking spell that caused his people to send post-haste for the doctor."

"The doctor, on his arrival, was astounded."

"Why," he cried, "there were no symptoms of this sort yesterday! What on earth have you been doing to yourself?"

"The patient's face screwed up with pain, he pressed his hand to his breast, and said, feebly:—

"It's the heart, I suppose, doctor."

"The heart?" said the doctor. "There was nothing yesterday the matter with your heart."

"My lungs, then," the patient groaned.

"What allis you?" the doctor shouted. "You don't seem to have been drinking."

"Your letter, doctor—you told me I had only a few weeks to live."

"Nonsense! Are you crazy? I told you to take a month's vacation at the seaside and you'd be as good as new again."

"The patient drew the fateful letter from a drawer beside his bed."

"Well," said the doctor, glancing at it, "this is a pretty mess. This letter was intended for another man. My secretary mixed up the envelopes."

"The patient laughed. He sat up in bed. His recovery was rapid. That night, in fact, he was well again."

"And what," ended Mr. Mills—"what of the dying consumptive who had got this young man's letter? The consumptive, delighted with the prediction that a month at the seaside would make a sound man of him, packed his trunk and took the first train for New England. That was 10 years ago, and to-day he is in fair health."—Tit-Bits.

Mr. Griffin and some members of his family were engaged in the Textile Cotton Mills where good wages was given. Settling the Issue.

The ministerial party and the opposition party at home seem to be manoeuvring for vantage ground in the coming great electoral struggle on the Second Chamber question. In the House of Lords, Earl Rosebery, the man of the lonely furrows, who affects to hold himself detached from either of the great parties of the State, has induced the House of Lords to pass resolutions accepting the principle that the membership of the House of Lords shall be modified along the lines that a peerage shall no longer entitle the holder to occupy a seat in the Second Chamber. The object of this reform is to enhance the respect of the House in the minds of the public and to enable it to become a stronger and more efficient chamber.

Sir Robert Finlay, who by the way is the leading counsel for Newfoundland in the forthcoming Hague Arbitration on the Fishery dispute with America, is in charge of a resolution of a somewhat similar character which he moved in the House of Commons last night. He was Solicitor General from 1895 to 1900; and Attorney General from 1900-1906, so that for eleven years he was a high law officer of the Tory administration of those periods. It follows then that the great majority of the House of Lords and the official Tory party in the House of Commons have taken up a definite policy of reform of the House of Lords. There is, however, a distinct difference of opinion on this question between the official Liberals and the official Tories. The Liberals do not wish to make the second chamber stronger; the Tories do.

A few days ago Lord Morley told a story in the House of Lords showing that during the Rosebery administration the Cabinet was divided on this crucial question. Premier Rosebery had made a strong speech against the House of Lords. The Cabinet appointed a committee to consider the question of reforming that chamber, the Premier not being a member. That committee of the Cabinet never reported as the members could not agree whether the recommendation should be to strengthen or to weaken that Chamber.

This question is the crux of the situation, and is now rapidly assuming a partisan form, the Tories standing for strengthening and the Liberals for weakening that Chamber. The Liberals contend that no internal reform of membership would afford a remedy for present evils. It would not destroy the power of the Upper House to reject a Budget, nor would it in any way diminish the power of the Upper House to hold up indefinitely legislation which was objectionable to the majority of its members. Indeed, it might strengthen their hands in doing what the Liberals object to their doing. The root of the difficulty was the unfairness with which Liberal legislation has been treated. Even Liberals were, as a rule, inculcated with the virus of Toryism when they became lords, and if they were not their sons, who succeeded them, got a bad dose of it, and as no impartiality was to be expected of the majority in the House of Lords, the only remedy left was to curtail the powers of the House and leave the reform of its membership as a secondary and less important matter to the future.

Smallpox Spreading.

Small pox has made its appearance at Broad Cove, C.B., having developed there during the past couple of days. Dr. Dunn practices in that locality and three cases are under observation, while a fourth has distinctly developed the malady. Dr. Brehm left by last evening's train to look after the quarantining of these patients and their houses. Vaccination will also be resorted to and everything possible done to prevent the spread of the disease. A case has also developed at Carbonear and the information about these outbreaks was telegraphed the Government yesterday by Judge Penney.

The drowning of Danl. Collins, reported a few days ago in the Evening Telegram, which occurred at Paradise Sound on the 25th March, was a very sad affair. He was in company with Capt. Byrne and another man on the schooner Paradise in a squall of wind when the mainsail jibbed and carried the man overboard. In an instant Capt. Byrne jumped into the dory towing behind and grasped Collins as he swept by, holding him for some time, but was unable to take him on board with the schooner owing at such a rapid rate and had to let him go. The man drowned quickly. It was impossible for the one man on board to bring the schooner up in the wind, considering that the main sheet had gone over with Collins. The body was not recovered.

Missionary Meeting at Garnish.

Editor Evening Telegram.
Dear Sir,—On Friday past a missionary meeting was held in the Methodist Church, which proved to be a decided success. The first speaker was Mr. S. Avery, J.P., of Burin. Mr. Avery is noted as a platform orator and on Friday night he sustained his reputation. He started in by telling us "In order to make life a success, a man should commence life a-right." He took us to our Bibles and told us of men that had made a success of life. "Why?" said he, "because they had commenced life right. God had prospered them and they acknowledged it and gave Him the tenth of all they possessed." The address was a masterpiece and proved that the speaker was a deep thinker as well as a public orator. Long may the worthy magistrate be spared to give such addresses for the enlightenment and encouragement of the people. Such addresses can't fail to enlighten and encourage the moral, social and religious life of man. A very nice solo was given by Miss Georgie Buffett, of Grand Bank, and then Rev. H. Godfrey rose to address the meeting. Garnish people had never heard Mr. Godfrey, so all were anxious to hear him. The rev. gentleman showed us in vivid language what consecrated lives had done for the establishment of the kingdom of righteousness. Mr. Godfrey is a master of history and gave to us from his boundless store. Both addresses were highly appreciated by the people, and should the gentlemen come again next year a full church will greet them. Mr. H. G. Harris occupied the chair and did his work in a commendable way. Mr. Harris is young, but seems to have inherited the energy of his father, and will no doubt make a success of life. Miss Laura Lorenzen presided at the organ with her usual grace and ability. Miss Lorenzen is a worker for the church, and a great deal of the success of this mission is due to her energetic and unselfish toil. The meeting from start to finish was a success, and the collection will be about twenty-five dollars over last year.

Western Notes.

(Western Star.)
The fishing was reported good in several parts of the bay last week.

The residents of Georgetown are contemplating abandoning that settlement and moving to Petrie-Crossing.

It is reported that a new Pulp Co. will soon be established at Deer Lake and will utilize Corner Brook as the principal shipping point.

There is some speculation indulged in over the proposed motor ferry service for Bay of Islands. It is not known as yet whose tender has been accepted.

News concerning York Harbor is very encouraging. The company hopes to start with 300 men in the near future. Tests of the products of the mine have turned out satisfactorily and there is every indication that the mine will be a permanent and profitable industry to Bay of Islands.

Several business men of this town are endeavoring to form a company for the purpose of establishing a telephone service on this side of the bay. It is said that the Government will lend material assistance to the project, the only initial expense being the purchase of instruments and the payment of the operator. It is hoped that the public will come forward and make the project a success. Such a service would be of inestimable benefit to our citizens.

Who Were the Winners

Editor Evening Telegram.
Sir,—This morning's News refers to the differences of opinion regarding the winners of sweepstakes held on the Southern Cross. To any fair minded and disinterested person there can be no difficulty in deciding who the winners are. Unless expressly stated, when the sweepstake holders drew, that the ship should reach H. Grace, the men who hold them for Monday are certainly the winners on her arrival here, and unless there was a designated point named that she should reach or pass in the port of Harbor Grace to be considered "in" the holders of Monday sweepstakes are entitled to them, for the ship was in the port of Harbor Grace when she dropped anchor at 11 o'clock on Monday night.

At least this is the opinion of all the seafaring men that have given an opinion on it, and also, I have been told, the opinion of the captain of the ship.

Yours truly,
SALVAGE.

P. S. A.—Cantata, "Love of God," Sunday Afternoon from 3 to 4 o'clock. Come and bring a friend.—m31,31

Many Killed and Injured in Railway Collision.

Special to Evening Telegram.
MULHEIM, Germany, March 31.
It appears to-day that upwards of two hundred persons received more or less serious injuries when the steamer express ran down and wrecked a military train bound for Strasbourg yesterday. There was one death during the night, making the total dead 22, and 6 others are said to be dying. The victims were soldiers. Two signalmen have been arrested and are charged with having given both trains the right of way at the same moment.

Big Liner Goes Down.

Special to Evening Telegram.
PERTH, West Australia, March 31.
The big British liner Pericles was wrecked 6 miles south of Cape Leeuwin, the southwest point of Australia, to-day. The passengers and crew took to the small boats and all were landed safely at Cape Leeuwin. Soon after being abandoned the steamer disappeared beneath the waters. The Pericles was a new boat, having been built at Belfast in 1908, and was owned by C. Thompson & Co. of London. The lost steamer registered 6,898 tons net. She was last reported on March 6th as arriving at Sydney from London.

Pittsburg Miners Strike

Special Evening Telegram.
PITTSBURG, Pa., March 31.
At midnight to-day approximately forty thousand Union coal diggers in District No. 5, United Workers of America, will strike. At that time the '98-1909-1910 wage contract expired. As yet the operators of the district have not signed new agreements for the ensuing year. It is believed, however that the strike in this district will be of short duration. It is said on authority that a temporary agreement will be reached between District Union officials and operators which will allow nine operators to go forward with little delay pending the settlement of the entire dispute. The differences in the Pittsburg District between miners and operators cover working hours, the use of certain permissible explosives and a demanded increase of 5 cents per ton on run of mine coal.

Opposition Wants a Strong Second Chamber.

Special to Evening Telegram.
LONDON, March 31.
The official opposition amendment to Premier Asquith's resolutions on the Veto powers of the House of Lords was moved in the House of Commons to-day by Sir Robert Finlay. It declares in favor of a strong and efficient second chamber and expresses willingness to consider proposals for the reform of the Upper House, but declines to proceed with the government's proposals which would destroy the usefulness of any second chamber. Winston Spencer Churchill made an important contribution to the debate. He declared that when the Veto resolutions were disposed of they would advance with the Budget regardless of the consequences. Unless the House of Commons carried the Budget it was idle, he said, to look to the King or to the country to carry the Veto Bill, but he predicted that at the proper time and under the proper circumstances they would succeed in carrying both the Veto and Budget measures to the steps of the throne. Mr. Churchill closed with a significant statement: "The time for action, he said has arrived. Since the Lords have used their Veto to affront the Prerogative of the Crown and have invaded the rights of the Commons, it has become necessary that the Crown and the Commons acting together should restore the balance of the constitution and restrict forever the Veto of Lords. Premier Asquith's guttural motion, which is published to-night, provides that the committee stage of all three Veto resolutions shall be concluded on the night of April 14th.

Train Blown Down an Embankment.

Special to Evening Telegram.
TRIESTA, March 31.
The fiercest tornado in years, accompanied by heavy snow, has caused immense damage and loss of life in Southern Austria. A passenger train was blown off the rails near Miggia and rolled down an embankment, killing four persons and injuring 12. Steamer navigation had been suspended as great damage has been done in the harbor. Several steamers of the Austrian line dragged anchors and narrowly escaped disaster.

ALGERINE ENTERS PORT WITH 17,500 PRIME HARPS.

Seals Should Average Fifty-two Pounds --- Steel Ships Should Have Good Fares --- Hoods Mostly for Wooden Ships.

All were on the qui vive last night expecting the Algerine to arrive about midnight, but she did not enter port until 6 a.m. to-day. Those then about saw as she steamed up the harbor that the ship had a big take of seals, and when she was berthed at Bowring's Southside premises she hauled for 17,500 all prime young harps which should average 52 lbs.

After leaving Westleyville on the 15th March at 8 a.m. in company with the other wooden ships, the Algerine steaming through clear water until the Barracks, off Foxo, was reached, steaming off from that point in a N. E. direction meeting slob at first, and as she proceeded finding the ice becoming heavier. Some time afterwards took an inside cut and struck the heavy Arctic floe and being unable to force through cut away to the westward, the ice being lighter in this direction.

On Tuesday, the 15th, the ship ranged up alongside the Eagle and secured three whitecoats and a family of hoods which were picked up on the 15th. From this date until St. Patrick's Day the Algerine and Eagle were in company. The Newfoundland was also near both vessels from the start until the 16th, when she became nipped. The Algerine and Eagle had left the others of the wooden fleet away to the eastward, and on the 15th the Eagle found two whitecoats, one of which had been partially eaten by an Arctic fox, several of which were seen or could be traced on the pans.

The Algerine struck the harps on the 17th at 6.30 p.m., but notwithstanding the fact that it was too late to begin killing several ardent hunters amongst the crew killed and skinned about 300 which they threw in on the deck.

The Eagle bore away 6 miles to the eastward of the ship then, while the Newfoundland could be barely sighted to the south, evidently jammed.

The Algerine struck the fat about 80 miles N. N. E. of the Barracks, and at daylight on Friday, the 18th, every man on board was out over the bows engaging with much energy in the work of killing and panning. That day the 161 men of the crew accounted for 10,000, a splendid day's work, and out of this number 2,000 were put under decks. Splendid weather prevailed and on Saturday, the 19th, the crew continued the slaughter with greater zest than ever, cleaning up about 5,000 seals. Sunday, the 20th, the men were all engaged "doubling" the pans and hauling them to the ship, and from that day until Saturday, the 26th, they were engaged picking up their pans and scattered seals which were found between the flags and killed and hauled on board. In this way the whole of the patch in their immediate vicinity was wiped out. The weather was variable and cold, but the men did not give heed to weather conditions while the seals were in evidence. Easter Sunday it blew a gale from the southward, but they had pretty well their load on board and this worried no person. The last seals were taken on Tuesday past, the 28th ult., when 600 were killed.

The ship bore up for home on Wednesday morning, the 30th, leaving the whelping ice about 30 miles N. of the Funks. She ran through a deal of slob ice up to the mouth of Bonavista Bay yesterday when she ran into clear water.

On Tuesday last the whole of the steel fleet of ships could be seen through the glass from the barrels they then being about 15 miles away to the westward and N. E. All were picking up seals, and the ship nearest the Algerine was the Adventure, and she seemed to be very light. The appearance of the Bellaventure showed that she was well fished, and she still had her crew on the ice killing.

At 4.40 p.m. yesterday an alarm of fire was turned in from box 26 bringing the Western and Central firemen to Mr. Budden's residence, Duckworth St., West. Sparks coming from a defective chimney caused the alarm, but the services of the firemen were not necessary.

AYER'S HAIR VIGOR

 Ingredients: Sassafras, Glycerin, Quinine, Borax, Castor Oil, etc.
 We believe doctors endorse this formula, or we would not put it up.
Does not Color the Hair

The Florizel could not be distinguished, but the Beothic could and she was very "snug" in the water. On the 26th a ship looking very much like the Aurora could be discerned but so far away that her condition could not be determined. The Eagle was last seen on Monday last, the 23th ult., looked very deep and will report for a big trip of fat. The Newfoundland was away off to the S. E. and she, too, will give a good account of herself.

About 8.30 last night the Algerine hove up under Bay de Verde Head, remaining there until 1.30 this morning. The reason for this was that the glass was noticed to be falling, and with such a "surge" of seals it was deemed imprudent to cross Conception Bay with the possibility of a high sea running.

Few on board are sanguine of the wooden fleet securing trips of harps, but thousands of hoods lay off to the eastward of them and no doubt is entertained that good takes of these will be secured. When the Florizel reported for the first harps and hoods alluded to above she was then 70 miles S. E. of Belle Isle in the Straits, but so heavy was the ice on that day (March 15th) that this powerful "Dreadnought" of the Arctic ice could not penetrate more than 5 miles through it. The last the Algerine heard through the Eagle from the Florizel was on the 19th ult., when she reported panning 15,000. It is believed on the Algerine that she will have no less than the record trip of 50,000; the Bellaventure, 40,000 and the Eagle from 25,000 to 30,000, while the Bonaventure and Beothic should report for heavy cargoes. Not an accident was reported, nor was there any sickness amongst the crew, except a few slight colds. Besides being filled to the hatches the Algerine has 2,300 in pounds on deck.

Last year the ship had over 9,000 seals. This is Captain Bishop's second spring in charge of the ship, and we congratulate him on the very successful issue of the voyage.

Snowstorm in Austria.

Special to Evening Telegram.

VIENNA, March 31.

This city is suffering greatly from a heavy snowstorm, which has extended over a considerable part of the country. Many accidents are reported and several deaths. The telegraph and telephone services are at a standstill.

A Fire Alarm.

At 4.40 p.m. yesterday an alarm of fire was turned in from box 26 bringing the Western and Central firemen to Mr. Budden's residence, Duckworth St., West. Sparks coming from a defective chimney caused the alarm, but the services of the firemen were not necessary.

Florizel Coming.

LOOKS WELL FISHED.

At 11 o'clock to-day Bowring's had a wire from Lightkeeper White at Cape Bonavista stating that the s.s. Florizel had passed there at 10 o'clock, while from Catalina the Postal Telegraphs had word saying that she had passed Catalina at 11 a.m. looking very deep. The ship should be here at 5 p.m.

The Algerine saw the Neptune four days before striking the seals, when she was to the N.E. of the Funks, and the captain is hopeful that the ship will get a good trip of fat. Old bedlamer seals were numerous on the slob ice in the mouth of Bonavista Bay yesterday afternoon. The ship slowed down and "pot" shots were taken at them by the men from the barricade, several being killed. The ice was so soft to get out for them and they would not trouble in launching a boat. No doubt the shore folk will get some of these.

Exciting Chase and Capture.

For some days past "Tec" Byrne has been looking for a man wanted by him on a charge of stealing cash and goods from various stores on New Gower Street. At 9.30 this morning he eyed his quarry near Bowring's South Side, and the thief discerning the officer put on steam and ran down the South Side Road to Job's premises. Byrne who is a good runner kept him in sight, and a crowd witnessed the spectacle. When the fugitive got near Job's he ran up the hill and doubled on his tracks running west with Byrne close at his heels, and all the forenoon the hunter and the hunted kept up the game amongst the hills and through the bush. The officer never lost sight of his quarry and eventually at 1 p.m. ran him to earth out at the light house. The man was completely exhausted, but was desperate enough to jump over the cliffs when Byrne leaped on him. He was brought to the city and placed in the cells at 1 p.m.

Enjoyable "At Home."

In the handsomely furnished dining parlors and salons of the Crosbie Hotel a very interesting and most enjoyable function took place last evening under the auspices of the L.C.A.S. It took the form of an "At Home," at which Mrs. S. K. Bell was the presiding genius, and the large audience present were delighted at the original methods taken for their entertainment. It was purely an informal affair, but this rather added to than detracted from the pleasure all who were present felt. There was a musicale from 8 to 9 o'clock, in which Mesdames Lindsay and Squires, Miss McKay, and the Messrs. Courtenay contributed vocal and instrumental items. A very nice feature was the Land Surveying Competition. On a large map of Newfoundland was charted the new line of the Bonavista Bay railroad, and the persons who could measure this with its deviations and sinuosities would get the prize. This looked comparatively easy, but nevertheless it proved to be a knotty problem. The prizes were all souvenirs of the country, and the first was won by Mr. Brown, who went within 1/2 inch of the total measurement, and received a Nfd. 22 gold piece. The second a silver paper knife, was won by Mrs. R. G. Johnson, and the third, a beautiful bouquet of flowers tied with the native colors, Pink, White and Green, was given to Mrs. Slater. Another beautiful floral prize was tied with the Methodist College colors. Mrs. Bell and Mrs. W. J. Herder, the Vice-President of the L. C. A. S., received the visitors graciously. All present expressed the hope that soon another such enjoyable affair will be promulgated.

Brought a Whitecoat.

The Algerine brought a live whitecoat to port and it is an object of curiosity to all who visited the ship. She had another but it escaped from the punt in which it was kept yesterday afternoon and dived over the side into the water.

The Almerians sailed for Halifax at 1 p.m.

The S. S. Somerstrand, the first of the foreign fleet to load at Bell Island, left there yesterday with 6,070 tons on board, shipped by the N. S. S. Co. for Philadelphia.

The schr. Evelyn, Capt. Moore, sailed to-day for Oporto with 4,500 qts. fish, most of which was shipped by the Nfd. Produce Co.

Dr. Chisholm came in from Manuels to-day's train.

Mr. Geo. Somerville and wife who have been on a trip to England are returning by to-day's express.

The Acker Co. opened with their vaudeville performance at the Star Hall last night. There was a large audience. A reel of moving pictures depicted a search for a "mysterious Black Pearl, and Flame of Life; the Lower Regions were also shown. The staging of the scenes beneath the sea was very good. Messrs. Rendell and Owley were very clever and amusing in their tricks and feats of juggling, especially that of balancing a lamp on one by one. Greta Byron made a good impression in her songs: "That's A Man" and "The Hoodoo Man." Her stories were captivating no less than her dancing in costume. In the sketch: "Taming a Husband" Messrs. West and Henry gave proof of their ability and pleased the audience very much. Roberts' Indoor Circus was intensely interesting and drew rounds of applause. The two Irish dancers—Messrs. Riley and Fleming—did well in their clog dancing and songs. On the whole the company made such a favourable impression as to justify the expression of opinion that they will have good houses during their stay. The show will be repeated to-night.

The Bonne Bay Railway.

Mr. Stephen Taylor Replies to Mr. W. H. Tuff.

Dear Sir,—Please allow me space in your valuable paper to reply to a letter signed by W. H. Tuff which appeared in the Chronicle of 19th inst. in reply to a letter from me which appeared in your paper a short time ago.

Now, Mr. Editor, I wish you to note that there was nothing either personal or abusive in my letter, I merely gave my opinion, and if the petition which was sent in on behalf of a railroad by the Morris Party here, (where only 300 out of 1,200 signed the same) counts for anything then I may say that I also echoed the opinion of the majority of the inhabitants of this place, not counting the shore outside, where if a petition were sent around same as in Bonne Bay, pretty well all of the inhabitants would sign on behalf of a main road.

Now, Mr. Editor, if Mr. Tuff gets a little of the tar off his own brush he has only himself and the party with the white hat who wrote his letter to thank for it.

Mr. Tuff says that in a late issue of your paper there appeared a letter over the signature of Stephen Taylor, his assertion is correct. I did write that letter and signed my name thereto which is more than Mr. Tuff can say about his.

I suggested a main road from Deer Lake, or Bonne Bay to Flower's Cove, etc., instead of a railway to Bonne Bay only. A considerable number of the people in Bonne Bay, as well as all of the people on the shore, would be benefited by the former, whereas there is not a single inhabitant between Nicholville and Bonne Bay to derive any benefits from the latter.

Mr. Tuff continues his scribble by saying I am a strong supporter of Sir Robert Bond. Mr. Editor I am proud of that fact, and I may say in return that Mr. Tuff has all his time taken up to support himself.

Mr. Tuff goes on to say that now there is a possibility of a railroad being built, I loom up and protest against it. Now, if Mr. Tuff were able to read he could see for himself that I said, that I for one would like to see a railroad through to this place, (provided there was any necessity for it) and suggested a main road, but there Mr. Tuff and the party who wrote his letter for him does not seem to know the difference between a protest and a suggestion.

Mr. Tuff continues his scribble, (and does me the honour—one I never anticipated) that of coupling my name with that of the Right Hon. Sir Robert Bond one of the ablest, if not the ablest statesman on this side of the Atlantic, allow me to thank Mr. Tuff for the compliment, and I am sorry, Mr. Editor, I cannot compliment him in return; he says why did not Bond and Taylor, et al., &c. Where did Mr. Tuff get his legal phraseology from? It looks borrowed, if food was scarce and it was "eat all," he might have an idea what it meant, (that is if he were hungry).

Mr. Tuff asks what has Bond to show for his eight years in St. Barbe's District, and then goes on to say that a lighthouse was erected at Cow's Head (too ignorant to know the name of the place). Why, Mr. Tuff, that lighthouse was erected by the Bond Government, and for the balance of improvements made by Bond and myself I beg to refer you to the statistics of the Colony. And if a good main road were built there would be no necessity to stick in the mud either politically or otherwise, as there would not be any mud to stick in.

I may say right here, for Mr. Tuff's benefit, that if I choose to consider the matter from a personal point of view there is no one who would derive more benefit from a railway to Bonne Bay than I would. It would save me the trouble of walking across the country to Deer Lake every spring to join it there, and that I have as much business with the Railway Company as any one else in Bonne Bay every one knows; and when I suggested a good main road on the outside shore it was for the benefit of the masses and not the few, and also that Mr. Tuff does err when he says that the people on the coast would prefer a railway to Bonne Bay rather than a good road on the shore which is the only meaning can be taken out of the last paragraph of Mr. Tuff's so-called letter.

In conclusion, Mr. Editor, allow me to advise Mr. W. H. Tuff, (and, Mr. Editor, you would appreciate my ad-

Arrived from Cow Head

Mr. Benjamin Payne, a business man of Cow Head, with his son and nephew arrived here by the express yesterday, and is staying at the Crosbie Hotel. He came with the mail courier who has a komatik and dogs to Deer Lake, by way of Bonne Bay, covering a distance of about 70 miles. The road was found to be fairly good and the party joined the express on reaching Deer Lake and came here. Mr. Payne will remain here some time transacting business.

Two Queens Operetta.

The operetta "Two Queens" was reproduced last night by the children of the schools of St. Patrick's Convent in the School Hall. There was a large audience present, and the children acquitted themselves in an admirable manner. The C. C. C. band gave several nice selections during the evening and the affair was thoroughly enjoyed. There will be a matinee at 2.30 p.m. to-day.

Notes From Harbor Grace.

Mr. William Shea and Mr. William Moriarty arrived from Sydney by Monday evening's train. They had been working at Sydney all the winter.

We were shown last night a very pretty model of the Beach premises of Messrs. McRae & Sons, showing the firm's schooner Clara at the wharf. The wharves, stores, beacon light are all perfectly formed. Several small boats under sail are also in the neighbourhood. The work was done mostly with a penknife and reflects great credit on the maker.

Messrs. McRae & Sons schr. Clara, Capt. Yetman, arrived from Sydney yesterday morning with a cargo of coal to her owners.

The S. S. Progress brought a number of men in from Bell Island last evening to attend the meeting of the Knights of Columbus.

The following gentlemen were among the visitors who registered at the "Cochrane" House yesterday:—Mr. Cantwell and Mr. Crowley, Briggs, Mr. G. Byrne, Mr. Cahill and Mr. Barron, of St. John's; Mr. J. J. Finn and Mr. J. Mackey, of Carbonear; Messrs. D. J. Jackman, R. J. Costigan, Joseph and Norman Burke, of Belle Island. These gentlemen came to attend the meeting of the Knights of Columbus.

Work on the Southern Cross is being pushed ahead rapidly and last night a number of men were employed putting ballast on board. It is thought the ship will turn out more than she hailed for.

Quarantine was raised from the Rectory at 12 o'clock yesterday, and we hear the other houses will be similarly treated on Friday. There is not now much fear of any other outbreak.

A little boy after watching the men wheeling the seals up Murray & Crawford's wharf yesterday told his sister he would like to be a seal, giving as his reason that he liked to be wheeled about.

No Tariff War Between Canada and United States

In the latest papers from the United States we read about the great public agitation against monopolies. The case of the most famous monopoly of all, The Standard Oil, is before the Supreme Court of the United States on final appeal, and judging from the remarks of the Judges this gigantic monopoly will be heavily punished. An enquiry is also going on before a committee of the Senate on the cause of high prices throughout the Republic. The great Democratic Party are of course all against monopolies and high protection, but not only this great party but also the general public of America are being roused against the corrupt Protectionist Ring and their monopolies and consequent high prices for all the necessities of life. The worst and most indefensible of all these corrupt gangs is the Gloucester Fish Ring; of all burdensome taxes there is none that touches the public so generally as a tax on food.

All over England and other European Countries fish is the common food of the poor everywhere cheap, especially such common fishes as the herring and the cod. Only in America are they excessively dear, due entirely to monopoly and protection. Herring all over Europe are a shilling or 24 cents a dozen; all over the United States they are never less than sixty cents a dozen. Cod in Europe is generally eight cents a pound; in America it is never by retail less than 25 cents a pound. Salmon is still higher. Oysters are the only fish product that can be bought at a reasonable price. The tax on all foreign cod is three-quarters of a cent per pound, when the heavy freight is added this makes a fish trade with the United States almost prohibitory. America with its eighty-seven millions of wealthy inhabitants is the natural fish market of British North America. Two things stand in the way of cheaper fish for the multitude—the high tariff and combination amongst the fish dealers to keep up prices.

There is a great popular movement going on now in America against these corruptionists and combines. President Taft has yielded to this great popular movement by getting a commission appointed to enquire into the causes which have increased the price of living in America. The indignant public however, won't be satisfied with this mere academic treatment of a great evil. They will demand reform and the free importation of all products of food, both from sea and land. There will be a new Reciprocity Treaty between the United States and Canada and of course we will come in. A wag declared that it would pay the United States to pension off every Gloucester fisherman. What the American Government can do is to give them a large bounty so as to make up to them for the fall in prices naturally consequent on Reciprocity.

All our Trade are agreed that Free Trade with America would be a grand thing for the Colony. Let us hope that it will soon come.

April 1, 1910. D. W. P.

Wedding Bells.

TREMLET-NEWELL.
 The wedding of Mr. Isaac Newell, cabinet maker, and Miss Katie Tremlett, of Bonavista, was solemnized at Gower St. Parsonage last night. The bride looked pretty in an elegant wedding gown and was supported by her sister, Miss Lizzie Tremlett. Mr. Moses Pike supported the groom. After the ceremony the party repaired to the future residence of the newly wedded pair, Duckworth Street, where supper was served in good style. They received many useful presents.

Home Industry.

Editor Evening Telegram.
 Dear Mr. Editor,—Please allow me space in your valuable paper to make a few remarks concerning a cooperation which has started here this winter which promises to be a great improvement to the place. We believe the time is not far distant when there will be a reduction in the price of drums, owing to a number of small mills which can supply the material in the vicinity at a reasonable price. We hear also that the highest figure has been offered for shooks and hoops. There is no doubt but there will be a number of boys employed in the factory and some of the worn-out fishermen which the Government has promised the old age pension could be employed making hoops in this factory. Washing it every success.

MINARD'S LINIMENT CURES BURNS, ETC.

Worst Case Of Eczema

Cure only came when doctors gave up and DR. CHASE'S OINTMENT was used.

Mrs. Wm. Miller, St. Catharines, Ont., writes:—"My daughter Mary, when six months old, contracted eczema and for three years the disease baffled all treatment. Her case was one of the worst that had ever come under my notice, and she apparently suffered what no pen could ever describe. I had three different doctors attend her all to no purpose. Finally I decided to try Dr. Chase's Ointment and to my surprise she immediately began to improve, and was completely cured of that long standing disease. That was four years ago when we lived at Cornwall, Ont., and as not a symptom has shown itself since, the cure must be permanent."

The record of cures which Dr. Chase's Ointment has to its credit have placed it alone as the standard cure for eczema and all forms of itching skin diseases. Do not be satisfied with imitations or substitutes, 60 cents a box at all dealers or Edmundson, Bates & Co. Toronto.
