The Unkindest Cut of All!

"But yesterday the word of Caesar might have stood against the world; now lies he there, And none so poor to do him reverence. This was the most unkindest cut of all!"

Readers can at will substitute the name of Coaker for Caesar in the above quotation, without changing its form or significance. But yesterday and the word of Coaker might have stood against the world, in the shape of the Fish Regulations, with which as a weapon he has been defying the fish markets of Europe and America. But his friends interfered. The Brutuses, the Cassiuses, the Cascas of the factions not in complete sympathy or accord with the policy of the local Caesar, entered into a conspiracy against him and destroyed whatever good there was in his Fish Regulations at one stroke. And these men were his whilom friends. The Government formed by these men was of Mr. Coaker's own making, and were as eager to pass the Regulations in the beginning as they were determined to destroy them while Caesar was away. The Government must shoulder whatever consequences may arise from this action on their part. We have been told time and again that the Fish Regulations were made wholly and solely in the interests of the fishermen, to protect them from any loss arising out of a decline in the price of fish. The Regulations were made primarily to maintain and keep up the price of fish. Neither Mr. Coaker nor any of his following can truthfully deny this statement. Nor do we expect that they will. The fishermen, according to Mr. Coaker, were to be the sole beneficiaries under the regulations. The drafting, the framing, the passage of this Act through the Legislature was made dependent upon the good it was intended to do, and which was its object. The fishermen were first in the thoughts of the man who inspired the regulations, and the Government of which he was a member accepted them as such.

We have then the illuminating spectacle of a Government pledged to a protectionist policy for the benefit, present and future, of the fishermen, casting aside all pretensions to being friends of the very body of men for whom the regulations were made, and deliberately repealing, without Legislative authority, an Act having for its fundamentals the good of the very class, which is now, by the action of the Executive, absolutely repudiated. It was dinned into the ears of fishermen, that the regulations were for them alone—not for the merchants. The Northern fishermen particularly had faith in the declaration of their leader that it was as he said. They believed in the regulations, and expected great things of them. It has been stated by the Advocate that should the price of fish, caught during the coming season, slump, the cause will be the repeal of the regulations. But who repealed them? Taking advantage of the absence of the dominant head of the Government, who was in Europe making his power felt in the fish markets there, the Executive, amongst which there is not one solitary fisherman, deliberately cast aside the cherished policy of Mr. Coaker and scrapped it. The Government then will have to accept the responsibility should the threatened crisis in our fishing industry arise. No other body of men is to blame. The Government has committed itself to an anti-fisherman policy; and no amount of explaining away can confute this charge. The very fact that the Minute of Council, authorising repeal, was passed during the absence of the Minister of Marine and Fisheries is ample and sustaining proof that the only act of service or value to the fishermen has been rescinded. When Mr. Coaker arrives he will be confronted with a situation with which he alone can cope, and only by doing one of two things can he retain that independence of conduct which has been one of his proudest boasts. He must either insist on the restoration of the Regulations or resign from the Ministry. His friends have aimed a shrewd blow at his amour propre, to accept which, lying down, we do not think is consistent with Mr. Coaker's courage. He has been wounded in the house of his friends, and in a most vital spot.

Sealing Plane Makes Flight.

BUT DEVELOPS ENGINE TROUBLE. The sealing plane which was damaged in landing on Tuesday, after a short trial flight at Botwood made another flight yesterday morning under favorable weather conditions. The machine was in the air nearly two hours, when it was compelled to descend owing to engine trouble, a safe landing being made at Botwood. According to messages received the plane reached as far as Upper Black Island flying at a height of 3,000 feet, from which Foggo Island and Gull Island were visible, which, according to navigating officers gave the plane vision (with her powerful glasses) of approximately 40 miles. It is believed that a cruise of about 6 hours would suffice to cover the regular breeding grounds of the harps and hoods, but whether the seals can be located while flying at an altitude of 3,000 feet is considered doubtful by some people. Pilot Cotton reports that the temperature averaged 10 and 12 above while flying yesterday. The following official message reached the sealing merchants yesterday afternoon: "Cotton, Kean and Heath started patrol of sealing grounds today, but plane developed engine trouble when over Upper Black Island and forced to return. Saw Foggo and Gull Island from an altitude of 3,000 feet." Upper Black Island is about 42 miles distant from Foggo.

Tonight at 7.30 there will be office of Tenebrae and sermon, and Mass of the Resurrection on Good Friday morning at the usual hour. During the past six years Gower St. Choir has sung this work several times with much acceptance to the large congregations who have assembled to hear it, and we feel sure that Mr. Beresford, the organist and choirmaster, and his choir will give a sympathetic and helpful rendition in song of the events recorded in the work.

C. L. B. GRAND CONCERT—Methodist College Hall, Easter Monday night. Tickets: Reserved Seats, 75c., at the store of Gray & Goodland's. General Admission 50c. Artistic programmes and Home Made Candy for sale.

Thursday Before Easter.

To-day being Thursday in Passion Week, immediately preceding Good Friday is known as Maundy Thursday, so called from the custom of washing the feet of the poor on this day, which was taken to be the fulfillment of the new commandment (mandatum novum) given by Christ when washing the feet of his disciples (John xiii. 5.34). The name Maundy is also given to the Sovereign's bounty in England, and to the small silver coins distributed on that day. The practice of washing the feet of twelve beggars on Maundy Thursday was last observed in England by James II. The king's maundy formerly distributed by the lord high almoner in the Chapel Royal, Whitehall, is now given at Westminster Abbey during a special service. The first word of the church's office for to-day is mandatum.

Naval Prize Money.

BAY ROBERTS R.N.E.'S MEET. A meeting of the returned Naval Reservists was held in the Public Building at Bay Roberts on the 21st instant, to discuss the matter of the Naval Prize Money. The meeting was called to order by J. Barrett, who briefly explained the object of the meeting, which was to get in touch with the Naval Committee at St. John's and co-operate with them in demanding what they deem as their legal rights, in view of the fact that Navy boys on the same footing as the Canadian sailor with regards the War Service Gratuity and Prize Money. Reservists Ralph Barrett, H. Deering, Bartlett, E. Mercer and Christopher, of Port de Grave, spoke very strongly on the subject, and it was finally decided that a committee of six be appointed to write Secretary Matthews, of St. John's, and secure the fullest information as to what the Government intend doing in the case. The following Committee was then appointed:—J. Barrett, Chairman; Ralph Barrett, Secy.; Treasurer: H. Deering, H. Neal, N. Bartlett and A. Snow. The singing of the National Anthem brought the meeting to a close.

McMurdo's Store News.

THURSDAY, Mar. 24, '21. We have heard so many mothers say to us that we think there really must be something in it—that Humphries Specific No. 20 is a specific for whooping cough, abating and shortening the spasms, and rendering the fits of coughing less frequent, and less taxing to the little sufferer. At any rate these minute sugar pellets are well worth trying for this purpose. No child will refuse to take these pellets. Price 25c. a bottle. Aumee's Shampoo Powders give that softness to the hair which is so greatly admired by men. Price 10c. a pkg.

Water Jacket Cracked.

A message received this morning from Messrs. Cotton and Bennett says that a crack in the water jacket on the carburetor has been discovered. This must have allowed water to get into the petrol and was the probable cause of the trouble with the plane all along. It is expected that when repairs are effected everything will work satisfactorily.

Messrs. Bowring Bros., Ltd., received the following message from Capt. Abram Kean, S. S. Terra Nova, this morning: "Got hit in back with a piece of ice while blasting yesterday. Fear I won't be able to get in the hospital for a couple of days. Ice conditions the same as last reported."

Since the discovery of the robbery at the Furness Withy premises, the police have recovered nearly $5,000 worth of cloth, some of the rolls being intact. These latter contain 65 yards double width, and are worth $800 each. Much of the stolen property was cut in suit lengths and sold around town. Many people have made returns of these pieces to the police, in order to avoid trouble. There are a few pieces not recovered yet but the police hope that it will be all collected in a day or two.

Woman Suffrage and Prohibition.

Editor Evening Telegram. Dear Sir.—We are grateful to Mr. Warwick Smith for having brought to light, (in his letter of the 23rd inst.) one of the strongest weapons and one of the first to be used by those who oppose Woman Suffrage, i.e., the charge of a policy including strict Prohibitionary measures. We beg to state that the most ardent supporters of enfranchisement for women hold widely divergent views on the subject of Prohibition—and this question has not even been touched upon at any of their meetings, since it has absolutely no bearing on the principle involved. The following circular, issued to women residing outside St. John's, defines our position. Very faithfully yours, AGNES M. AYRE, Secretary.

FANNIE McNEILL, Assistant Secretary. March 24, 1921.

CIRCULAR.

Enclosed herewith is a copy of the Petition to give the women of Newfoundland the right to vote at Parliamentary and Municipal Elections. A large number of women of all classes in St. John's have signed a similar Petition, and we have every hope of its being passed by the Legislature next Session. For the last thirty years women have been voting in New Zealand, with excellent results. They have obtained the franchise in England, in Canada, in all of the United States of America—in Finland, Poland, Norway, and other parts of the world—and recently women of South Africa joined the ranks of voters. No one will contend that Newfoundland women are less intelligent than those of other countries, and it is manifestly unfair that we should be excluded from the franchise any longer. It is very unjust that women should be taxed, but given no voice in the spending of the money that they have no share in making; and that all the more important and lucrative positions should be closed to them. Women need the vote for their own protection, because no class, nor sex, nor race, can have its welfare properly and intelligently safeguarded without the lever of the vote. We trust the accompanying Petition will be signed by every woman in your District, as well as by every man who is a sympathizer with the movement.

To the Workingman.

Better than gold is a conscience clear.
When working for a living, you have nothing to fear.
Still you are blessed with content and health
Untried by the lust or cares of wealth.
Poorly living, yet a happy thought.
Will adorn and enoble a poor man's lot.
For mind and morals on nature's plan
Are the genuine test of a gentleman.
The best men known upon this earth
Are men whose hands are brown
from work;
And thereby earn a prouder fame
Than those of kings or warriors name.

The workmen what'er their task,
To carve the stone or bear the hod;
They bear upon their honest brows
The royal stamp of God.

God bless the noble workmen
Who rear the cities of the plain,
Who dig the mines and build the ships,
Who drive the commerce of the main.

And brighter are their drops of sweat
Than diamonds in a coronet;
I sing their praise, their swarthy hands
Have made the glory of all lands.

The years will quickly come and go,
Now let us sing this song;
There will be work and riches too
When all the rich are dead and gone.

Then contemplate, when the sun declines,
Thy death with deep reflection,
And when again the rising shines,
The day of resurrection. —E.M.

A Word About

Marmaduke.

Everyone is wondering just what kind of comedy "The Irresistible Marmaduke" really is. The answer is "wait and see." While waiting, however, it would be as well to book your tickets, because they are selling rapidly at the Royal Stationery Company's store, and you may find it difficult to secure a good seat if you postpone it too long. In addition to the comedy itself, there are several attractions in the way of "specialties," in which leading city artists will take part between the acts, so that there will not be a dull moment from the time the gentlemanly "heroes" appear on the stage until the band plays "God Save the King" and you depart satisfied to your homes. The C.C.C. and C.L.B. bands will form the orchestra. There will be dances by Mount Cashel boys, songs and recitations by popular and talented ladies and gentlemen, while the comedy itself is a winner from the word "go." No talent will be seen behind the footlights, blended with the best of our well known amateurs. All next week people will be talking of "The Irresistible Marmaduke," so get your tickets early and be able to keep up your end of the conversation. The proceeds, as you are probably aware, will be given Mount Cashel. Help out the good cause.

Where Are the Seals?

Editor Evening Telegram.

Dear Sir—The vital question today is where will the feet strike the harps this spring? As usual there is diversity of opinion. The spring of 1905 the ice conditions north, or in Green Bay were about the same as we have this year; the prevailing winds being N.W., the ice was driven seaward. Some were of the opinion that the main patch of seals would be 100 miles E.N.E. of St. John's; again others said that to find the harps, the ships would have to go about 50 to 80 miles S.E. of Balls Bluff in the Straits, which was the result. On March 28, 1905, the S.S. Eagle, Capt. Arthur Jackman, arrived with 22,064 prime young harps. Sailing on March 13th with the other ships, which the Eagle left the following day, and on March 16th struck the main patch of seals 130 miles E.S.E. of Cape Freels, or directly off this port, out in the broad Atlantic. When Capt. Jackman bore up for home he was 250 miles S.E. of St. John's away out over the Grand Banks in the regular track of the ocean liners during the summer season.

Capt. Abram Kean, in the S.S. Aurora, went north in the vicinity of the Groais Islands with the rest of the fleet, with the exception of the Kite. Capt. Joseph Kean, who secured a full load in company with the Eagle. Capt. Abram Kean spent a fortnight cruising around looking for the seals in the far north in company with the other ships, in which time the Aurora burned nearly 500 tons coal and arrived on April 14th with 4,553 seals. The total catch in 1905 for 20 steamers was 177,100.

Where are the seals to-day?

Yours truly,
L. G. CHAPEL

St. John's, March 24, 1921.

Interesting Lecture.
Prime Minister Addresses S. U. F.
A most enjoyable concert and lecture was held last night in the Odd Fellows Hall, under the auspices of St. John's Lodge, No. 5, S.U.F. The Grand Master, Mr. J. F. Curlew, was in the chair and the affair was largely attended. Following a selection by the orchestra the chairman addressed the audience, after which the concert was proceeded with, songs being rendered by the vocalists whose names appear in the programme. The songs were interspersed with excellent selections by the orchestra. The feature of the entertainment was the lecture by the Premier, Hon. R. A. Squires on "The Unknown Warrior." The lecture was most interesting, and was highly appreciated by all present.

It lasted nearly an hour and on the motion of Mr. J. C. Phillips a hearty vote of thanks was accorded the Premier. At 9:30 the National Anthem brought the affair to a most successful conclusion. The proceeds are to be devoted to the S.U.F. Widows and Orphans Fund. The full programme follows:—

James II's Last Stand.

During the reign of William III. and Mary II, some very important events took place in Ireland, for it was there that James II, surrounded by the Celtic Irish, who looked on him as a hero, made his last vain struggle for the Crown, which previously he had worn. Louis XIV. of France, encouraged the expedition, and Tyrconnel, then Lord Lieutenant of Ireland, raised an army for James. Lord Mountjoy, leader of the Irish Protestants, was enticed to Paris and shut up in the Bastille, and meanwhile James landed at Kinsale, 15 miles south of Cork, entering Dublin in triumph on March 24, 1688. His first great operation was the siege of Londonderry, the stronghold of the Ulster Protestants, where the citizens, greatly encouraged by the Rev. Geo. Walker (whose monument, probably still rises from the walls) endured the worst miseries of famine for more than three months. At last, three ships from England broke the boom of firwood laid across the river Foyle, and carried food to the starving garrison. The Irish army, thus baffled, retreated without delay. Marshal Schomberg then arrived with 16,000 troops, and William, soon landing at Carrickfergus, nine miles north-east of Belfast, found himself at the head of 40,000 men. The cavalry of James behaved well, but he himself was obliged to flee through the Pass of Duleek for Dublin, from whence he hurried to Kinsale, and thence to France. This was prolonged for a year by Tyrconnel and St. Ruth, a French general, and the Siege of Limerick, where the fragments of James' army made their last stand, ended in capitulation. It is said that a million acres of land were confiscated to the Crown, and their possessors driven into exile. About 1,200 Irishmen crossed to France, and formed the "Irish Brigade" in the army of Louis, whilst thenceforth William held the crown securely.

Last House of Queen Elizabeth.

The death of Queen Elizabeth on March 24, 1603, made a dreary close to a reign perhaps the most brilliant in English history. Be the facts connected with the execution of her last favourite what they may (and legend has been busy with that episode), it is certain that Essex's conspiracy and tragic end plunged her spirit into gloom. A profound melancholy possessed the Queen, who was then in her seventieth year; she had lived a full life, and she passed the days huddled in a chair, silent and brooding. Already the courtiers were turning their eyes to the North, where the Scottish Solomon was preparing to enter upon his inheritance, and her Council were busy with the question of the succession. As the end visibly approached, they sent the Keeper, the Lord Admiral and the Secretary, to know her will, and she replied that, as she held a royal sceptre, so she desired none but a royal successor. When Cecil besought her to be more explicit, she said that she would have a king of Scots? Afterwards came the Archbishop of Canterbury to advise her to fix her thoughts on God. She answered that she did so, nor did her mind the least wander from Him, and thereafter her voice failed her, so that she spoke no more. Then her senses left her, and she lapsed into lethargic slumber, in which, after some hours, she passed quietly away, without struggle or convulsion. Her reign was in its forty-fifth year and had been fortunate beyond expectation. The Elizabethan now is regarded as a Golden Age, and during the troubles that set in under her successors, men learned to look regretfully back to the palmy days of "Good Queen Bess."

Lady Day and Its Customs.

Lady Day—March 25—was anciently called St. Mary's Day in Lent, to distinguish it from other festivals in honour of the Virgin. The Festival of the Annunciation and first day of the Gregorian year has long been observed as quarter day, and from its civil importance was written in ancient documents as "Our Lady Day the Annunciation." In these olden days—when the tenant was entirely at the mercy of the landowner—various customs were indulged in on quarter days, which have long since fallen into disuse. The best remembered of these consisted of the presenting of free gifts of various kinds with which to find favour in the eyes of the landlord.

And when the tenants came to pay their quarter's rent, They bring some fowl at Midsummer, a dish of fruit at Lent, At Christmase a capon, at Michaelmasse a goose, And somewhat else at New Year's tide, for fear their lease shall loose!

Apart from the collection of rents, with their attendant observances, there do not appear to have been any very general customs indulged in on Lady Day. There are some traces of the strengthening of sickly children in Scotland by laying them in a freshly dug grave on Lady Day, and in Lancashire there was a festival known as the "Guisling Feast," held at Ashton-under-Lyne, while a species of cakes known as "Poppe's Tassies," were sold at St. Albans in memory of an escape from footpads on the Great North Road, but these observances have fallen into disuse, and the general idea appears to be to honour the customs of Lady Day rather in the breach than the observance.

A Notable Actress.
Mrs. Bernard Beere, the well-known actress who died on March 25, 1915, but whose name was Whitehead, was born in 1856, and received her training for the stage from Herman Verin. She made her professional debut at the Opera Comique, London, and in 1877-8 was a member of the company at the St. James's Theatre, where she took the part of "Emilia" in "Othello," "Lady Sneerwell" in "The School for Scandal," "Julia" in "The Rivals," and "Grace Harkaway" in "London Assurance." She subsequently played at the Crystal Palace in Old English comedy for which, with a fine figure and distinguished manners, she had made much aptitude. In 1878-9 she went on tour with Mrs. Chippendale, and on her return to London she created the role of "Lisa" in W. S. Gilbert's "Gretchen."

en." The next ten or twelve years were probably the best in her career. She was the original representative of such characters as "Sangaree" in "Michael Strogon," "Dora Steer" in "The Promise of May," "Jane Byre" in Willis' drama, "Lena Despard," in "As in a Looking Glass," a role which she acted with great power, and "Mrs. Arbutnot" in "A Woman of No Importance." She was also the original representative of "Fedora" (1883), another of her great parts, and "La Tosca," (1889). She had besides a varied repertory, which included "Lady Teazle," "Julia," in "The Hunchback," "Pauline" in "The Lady of Lyons," "Julie" in "Richelieu," the "Princesse de Bouillon" in "Adrienne Lecouvreur," the "Countess Tiocka" in "Diplomacy," "Peg Woffington" in "Masks and Faces"—a role in which she had a great success—and "Lady Gay Spanker." With a company of her own Mrs. Bernard Beere toured the provinces for several years.

The statement was objected to by counsel for the respondents but was allowed by Judge Codrere before whom the case is being heard. W. R. Granger, president of the registration committee, who was on the stand, said that beyond an anonymous letter and a broad statement by a man in court that ninety per cent. of so-called amateur players were not amateurs within the meaning of the association's rules, he had not the slightest idea that such conditions existed. Mr. Lafame had put the question that two players of the Royal Bank team and two belonging to the Shamrocks had, to the knowledge of the registration committee, broken the rules. This question was then disallowed and Mr. Lafame changed the form of the question to the above statement.

"Bluenose" Will Be Launched on Saturday

According to present plans, the fishing schooner Bluenose, now building at Smith and Rhuland's Yards, Lunenburg, as a contender for the honor of representing Canada in the 1921 International schooner races of Halifax, will be launched on Saturday, March 26th. The vessel is now planked and decked, with the deck-houses up and the hatches and skylight in place. Virtually all that now remains to be done before launching is the finishing, such as the interior work of the cabin and fore-cabin and odds and ends. The caulking was practically all done as the vessel was being planked. About thirty men have been employed in the construction of the schooner.

One of the disadvantages under which the Lunenburg schooner Delawana raced with the Gloucester Esperanto last year was that the American's canvas was of better quality and gave that ship better driving power. It is hoped that such will not be the case this year and, the Bluenose at least will spread the best possible commercial duck procurable.

Good Progress On Mayflower. Advice from Essex, Mass., where the schooner Mayflower is building as a contender for the honor of representing the United States in the 1921 International, say that the vessel is confidently expected to be ready for launching by April 15th next. W. Sterling Burgess, who prepared the plans for the schooner, is superintending the construction at the yards of J. F. James and Son. Master mariners who have inspected the Mayflower's model or have studied the hull, express belief that she will prove as great an innovation as did the old Fredonia, a fishing schooner which was designed by the late Edward Burgess, father of the Mayflower's designer, and which enjoyed a reputation among the old salts of New England for her speed and wonderful ability in rough water. Like the Bluenose, the Mayflower embodies nothing that can be termed freak, notwithstanding the fact that the lines in both cases depart somewhat from the conventional. Capt. Charles Hart, of Gloucester, who built the Esperanto and who sailed the old Fredonia in her palmiest days, regards the Mayflower as "the finest fishing vessel ever built."

Lunenburg sea Captains are inclined to wait and see before passing definite opinion. The Mayflower is owned by The Schooner Mayflower Association, Inc., Boston. The sum of $51,000 needed for her construction and equipment was readily raised by subscription. Captain Angus Walters, skipper of the Bluenose, will have a "foeman worthy of his steel" in Captain J. Henry Larkin, who has been chosen to have charge of the Mayflower when she sets sail for the Banks and who probably will skipper the boat in the New England elimination races and, if the Mayflower wins there, then again in the International contest.

Bank Clerks Paid High Salaries
IF THEY ARE GOOD HOCKEY PLAYERS.

Montreal. (By Canadian Press)—That bank clerks who are good hockey players receive $75 a week for work in the bank for which other clerks who are not hockey players receive $30 a week and that therefore these men who are classified as amateurs are getting $45 a week indirectly for their services as hockey players, was the statement of N. K. Lafame, K.C., counsel for George Tradre, of the Boston Shoe Trades team, who has asked for a writ of mandamus to compel the registration committee of the Quebec branch of the Amateur Hockey Association to grant him an amateur card.

The statement was objected to by counsel for the respondents but was allowed by Judge Codrere before whom the case is being heard. W. R. Granger, president of the registration committee, who was on the stand, said that beyond an anonymous letter and a broad statement by a man in court that ninety per cent. of so-called amateur players were not amateurs within the meaning of the association's rules, he had not the slightest idea that such conditions existed. Mr. Lafame had put the question that two players of the Royal Bank team and two belonging to the Shamrocks had, to the knowledge of the registration committee, broken the rules. This question was then disallowed and Mr. Lafame changed the form of the question to the above statement.

THE HARDEST THING TO FACE.

"I do perceive here a divided duty." I cannot remember who it was in "Othello" that speaks the above words nor under what circumstances, but he or she has my deepest sympathy. I don't think there is anything harder to face in the world than a divided duty.

Joy in Peace of Mind.

It is hard enough to face a decision between pleasure and duty, but in that case you get something either way you decide. If you take the pleasure you, at least, have a good time or an illusion of one. If you take the duty, you have the supreme joy of peace of mind and self-respect. But when you have to choose between divided duties you don't get full peace of mind either way. As I have said before, I think women have much more of this sort of thing than men, because with men the personal relations are so much simpler. A man's chief duty in life is as provider for his family, while

When we perceive a divided duty it is our part to look it straight in the face, to make our decision as wisely as possible and then put the matter out of our thoughts and have peace of mind. We have earned it by doing the best we can. AT THE TOP.

Whenever you see someone up at the top. Don't imagine he got there by-luck. For back of his glory lies many a story of battle and struggle and pluck; He may seem to be taking things easy to-day. And digging the trials which irk. But the years of his past, from the first to the last. Were a constant succession of work.

Whenever you see someone crowned by success.

Don't fancy he won it by chance; Though he's walking to-day on an easier way.

And you cannot behold with a glance The scars of his battle, just keep this in mind—

Life's laurels don't go to the shirk, And if you but knew his life history through.

You'd know that he once had to work.

Success doesn't come to the indolent hand.

With busy men life is concerned; Be the man who he may, he will find on the way

That its prizes all have to be earned.

So whenever you gaze on a leader of men.

Up on top where the glory is fair, You can know with his luck there were courage and pluck—

You can bet that he worked to get there.

IN THE SUPREME COURT.

The King vs. Nolan for Murder.

AFTERNOON SESSION.
Nolan's Evidence (Continued)
After recess yesterday Hon. Mr. Warren continued his cross examination of the accused. The witness said in part: "Belle first started to run away last June. I don't know why she used to run away. She did not stay away long the first time, only about 10 minutes. I found her at the bottom of my own land."
Counsel—"How did you know she was running away?"
Witness—"I found a pane of glass broken and Mary said she had thrown a bottle through it and had then run away."

Atrid of a Beating.
"The only reason I know she ran away is because she threw the bottle through the window. I thought she might not come back till I went away. She was probably afraid that I would beat her."
Counsel—"Do you think now she ran away because she was afraid you would beat her if they told on her?"
Witness—"Yes."
Witness went on. "I did not know whether it was because of me or of the other children she ran away. The other children might have beaten her. This occurred before she took the $10 bill. The first time I beat her was after she took the $10 bill. I do not know why she was afraid that I would beat her. The time she ran away after taking the $10 bill she was away for about 12 hours. That was before I beat her. I beat her with a strand of rope when she came back. That was the only time I ever beat her. I don't know whether she was afraid of me or not. The child had no reason to be afraid of me. She ran away, in June twice, to Mrs. Mason's twice, to Mrs. Prendergast's once and the time she was frostitben."

Didn't Know Why Belle Ran Away.
"I counted it running away if she hid."
Witness here enumerated where Belle went on the occasions she ran away. "I am positive" said witness "I never beat Belle except that one time with the rope. I was not digging my potatoes when Belle ran to Mrs. Prendergast's. The ground was barely covered with snow and there was not much frost. I think this happened just before Christmas. I hadn't beaten Belle since June. I don't know why Belle should have run away without boots and stockings after she broke the cup. She didn't tell me she broke the cup. I didn't hear anything about the cup until that night when I heard Gregory and Mary speak of it. I don't know why Belle ran away. Mike Murray's house is a mile from mine. I did not take Belle down to the brook. I am not here to tell you a lie if I can possibly help it. I made no threats when I came out of the woods the last day that Belle ran away."

Counsel—"If you hadn't threatened her why did she run away this time?"
Witness—"I can't account for it."
"I passed the boys at Mrs. Prendergast's. I went past the road to the graveyard before I turned in. I did not go up the graveyard road."
Let Her Go Home.
"I saw her crossing a piece of vacant land when I turned back and I ran after her and caught her. I said nothing to her. I picked her up and tucked her under my arm. When I got to the road she got contrary and told me she'd go home if I put her down. So I did as she asked. She only had two pair of stockings on then. The toes were out of her own but she had a pair of mine over them, also with holes in the toes. It was not a very cold day. It wasn't cold enough for me to have my mitts on but I had them in my pocket and fearing I'd lose them I took them in my hand. I put on one. It would have been a cold day to Belle. I did not smack her over the head with my mitt, only over the shoulder to hurry her home. I wanted to get her off the snow. She would go quicker than if I carried her. If I took her up she would feel colder than if she went on herself. I did think about the cold and the child's feet. I never thought of putting my mitts on her."

Did Not Kick Belle.
"The child could have run all the way with boots on. The child was a thin child but she was strong. I was out of wind when I got her. I drove the child in front of me till we got to the scrape. I did not kick her over it. I only kicked the snow after her. I don't know why I kicked the snow after her. She stumbled after going over the scrape. I heard Joe Mason say she fell. I heard him say that I kicked her. That was false. He must have thought I was kicking the child instead of the snow. She was crying after getting to the bottom of the scrape. I gave her three slaps with the mitt after passing Prendergast's bridge and told her to 'Pull up quick for home.' I only saw one stocking come off on the way home. That came off about 60 or 70 feet from the house. I picked it up and gave it to her as I was not going straight to the house. I went and bandaged the horse's hoof before Belle ran away. I had my dinner before I attended to the horse."
Cried Because She Felt Bad.
"When we got home Belle went into the house and I went and fixed up the horse. After doing some other work about I went into the house. I asked Belle what she was doing so near the door. I slapped her with the mitt and told her to go in and stay in. Up to this time I said nothing about the chimney when I tied her. It was in June that I put her in a swing after the first time she ran away. I never put the rope around her waist. I just sat her in the wing. I put on several potato poultices. On Friday I sent for Mrs. Prendergast. I wanted her advice and help as I was going away each morning. On Saturday I went for her with my horse. On Friday the soles of Belle's feet were black. Mrs. Prendergast spoke of the doctor. I said I don't know what about the doctor. I think I could do as well myself. I had trouble with the doctor before. I told the doctor that when I called him again I'd be refused to come when I wanted him. I have never needed the doctor since then. I would rather have died than have sent for the doctor. If one of my children were dying and I thought the doctor could save him I would send for him but I would not go for him."

Counsel—"Would you let your child die before you yourself went for the doctor?"
Witness—"No, I would not."
Could Not Pay the Doctor.
"I used to attend to the poulticing of the child's feet at night time. On Monday night when the top of the toe came off I began to think of the doctor. The feet were then healing around the edges."
Counsel—"If the feet were healing why did you think of the doctor and the hospital?"
Witness—"I did not know what to do. Lots in my place would do the same."
Continuing—"I did not send for the doctor, because I wasn't able to pay him for one visit at that time. To get at my purse when Belle stole the 50 cents she would have had to use a knife. There were $20 in that purse."

Tied Her Hands.
"Belle was on the floor about ten minutes after the rest of us got in bed. The children did not carry Belle upstairs. She went up herself. I don't know whether Mary carried Belle upstairs more than twice. Gregory did it as a rule. He could carry her more comfortably than I could. If I carried her up she might strike her feet. I imagine that Mary and Gregory could carry Belle up and downstairs better than I could. She said she'd sooner have Greg than either me or Mary to carry her up. She wouldn't let me take her up. I offered to carry her up the first time but she wouldn't have me. I tied her once in June last so that she would not run away in the night. I had no trouble with her but I tied her hands and I lay down on the floor and she lay down with me. When I went out I sent her upstairs. I tied her hands and kept her out of bed for fear she might get up and go through a window. I untied her hands when I went away. If she ran away after I went people would be up and would tell me about it. I don't know why she started to run away that night."

Could do as Well as Doctor.
"She said nothing to me when I tied her hands. She was against the chimney when I tied her. It was in June that I put her in a swing after the first time she ran away. I never put the rope around her waist. I just sat her in the wing. I put on several potato poultices. On Friday I sent for Mrs. Prendergast. I wanted her advice and help as I was going away each morning. On Saturday I went for her with my horse. On Friday the soles of Belle's feet were black. Mrs. Prendergast spoke of the doctor. I said I don't know what about the doctor. I think I could do as well myself. I had trouble with the doctor before. I told the doctor that when I called him again I'd be refused to come when I wanted him. I have never needed the doctor since then. I would rather have died than have sent for the doctor. If one of my children were dying and I thought the doctor could save him I would send for him but I would not go for him."

Counsel—"Would you let your child die before you yourself went for the doctor?"
Witness—"No, I would not."
Could Not Pay the Doctor.
"I used to attend to the poulticing of the child's feet at night time. On Monday night when the top of the toe came off I began to think of the doctor. The feet were then healing around the edges."
Counsel—"If the feet were healing why did you think of the doctor and the hospital?"

Continuing—"I did not send for the doctor, because I wasn't able to pay him for one visit at that time. To get at my purse when Belle stole the 50 cents she would have had to use a knife. There were $20 in that purse."

Kept Stolen Property.
"After arrest I went back to the children to tell them not to tell anything to any policeman because of the stolen property in the house which I was afraid might get me into trouble. It was stolen by Gregory and Mary late in the fall. I discovered they had stolen it the morning they did it. I asked where it came from but they didn't give me any satisfaction. I didn't beat them. Constables Devine and Mr. Ezekiel came to search the house. I told them it wasn't there. It was there but I had to tell a lie to keep myself out of trouble."
Counsel—"So you are prepared to lie to get yourself out of trouble?"
Witness—"I did that time."
"The stuff is there to-day hid under my house. I never got an opportunity to replace it. I go to church every Sunday but the children wouldn't go. Only Mrs. Mason and Mrs. Prendergast spoke to me about the prest. I would have got him but the child did not have the intelligence to talk to the prest."
Counsel—"Were you prepared to let a case-hardened child die without a prest?"
Witness—"Yes."
He continued—"The services of the prest would have been good, but the child couldn't talk to him."
"I Made a Mistake."
Mr. J. G. Higgins re-examined. The witness said—"I can't account for the child being afraid of me." In connection with Mrs. Prendergast's "boot," witness said he made a mistake. In further questioning he said—"I did not hear what the Magistrate said I beat Mary with in the Hr. Main Court. I found out about it in the Magistrate's Court here. I partly understood it was a shove-handic. In the course of re-examination witness said he owed Dr. Jones money. Last summer he said he made a little over $200 and practically nothing in the winter.
The re-examination lasted nearly half an hour and the prisoner was allowed to leave the box after being in it for nearly 8 hours during 3 1/2 hours of which he had to undergo a grueling cross examination, of which he showed the effects. The next witness called was Bridget Scivour.
A very Good Neighbour.
She said she had lived in Avondale for 35 years. She knew Nolan well. She had often been in Nolan's house. He was a very good man in every way so far as she knew. She had seen all his children. They never complained to her about their father. She did not know if Nolan had done anything to them. His children couldn't be worse. Nolan always looked well after the children. Mary used to burn her clothing and her brother's and sister's. She used also destroy food. Nolan did not neglect them in any way. Mary told nothing but lies. Belle was a nice little girl, but she was wild. She would run even if she saw strangers."

Cross examined by Mr. Warren, witness said she had heard of Nolan beating the children. Belle used to run away before last June. It was two years ago that Mary burnt the clothing. Belle ran away the most. She didn't think that Nolan would throw water over or beat any of his children. Everybody said that Mary Nolan stole the things from Ezekiel's. Higgins, B.A., re-examined.

Both Children Bad.
Martha Cantwell was the next witness. Examined by Higgins, B.A., she said she lived at Avondale and she knew Nolan well. Both his children are bad and liars. She used to be in Nolan's house when his wife was alive. The children were well dressed for a poor man.
Warren, K.C., cross-examined. Witness said the two Nolan children were liars and thieves. She had given Mary clothes which she burnt, and said she hadn't done so. Witness had never heard of Nolan beating his children. She heard the people say Mary had beat her father to Hr. Main Court for beating her. She used to see Belle with boots on everyday except in the summer.
At 6:15 p.m. the hearing was adjourned until 10 o'clock this morning.

MORNING SESSION.
CASE FOR DEFENCE CONCLUDED.
The case for the defence in the Nolan murder case was concluded in the Supreme Court to-day. Several witnesses were examined and counsel for defence intimated that he would begin his address to the jury after recess.
Patrick Molloy's Evidence.
Upon the Court resuming, pursuant to adjournment, J. G. Higgins, B.A. for the defence, called Patrick Molloy, witness said he lived in Avondale and knew Nolan. He had called at Nolan's house. He was supposed to have run away. He spoke to Nolan in the night. Nolan never told him he had given Belle an odious beating. He knew the Nolan children well. He used not play with them.
Cross-examined by Warren, K.C., he saw Nolan, Gregory and Mary the night he was at Nolan's house. He was in the kitchen that night. Belle wasn't there. He had heard of Belle running away. He remembered Detective Byrne going to Avondale. He was asked to come to town to give evidence. He said he couldn't come because he was subject to fits. On the night in question he left John Nolan's at 7:30 to go to Nolan's. His brother was with him. Both went in the kitchen of Nolan's house. Accused made no mention of Belle. Witness had taken a saw of Nolan's to be filed. It was before he went out about a shaft. Nolan's children were wild and used to run away. He had never heard of their father beating them. He had heard of Nolan being up in Court at Harbor Main. Witness did not know what he was there for. Mary had her father up for beating her, he said after further questioning.

Higgins, B.A. re-examined.
To Mr. Justice Johnson—Witness said he had had a fit.
John Molloy's Evidence.
John Molloy was next called. He said he was the father of Patsy Molloy. Patsy has falling sickness on whites. Witness was born at Avondale. He knew Nolan well and was good friends with him. He said that Nolan was a good solid man and a very good neighbour. Nolan's children were very wild. When Nolan let them out he had a job to get them in. (Laughter.) Mary was very wild and Gregory was the same. Witness had caught Gregory stealing. Belle was wild and hard to do anything with. Witness said he had put his tie and collar in his overcoat-pocket and he found them gone later. This was on a Tuesday. After dinner that day Mike Mason told witness that Gregory had taken the collar. The collar was now too dirty to be put on. Witness produced it amid much laughter.
Cross-examined, he said no other boy had played tricks on him like that. He had never heard of Nolan beating his children. Accused, however, had a reputation for beating his children.
Counsel—"Why did you hesitate in answering that question? Is it because you don't want to say anything against Nolan?"
Witness—"I have nothing to say against him."
The children had a bad reputation, he said. He had heard of the robbery at Ezekiel's house. He had never heard tell of Nolan beating his children when he was at home.
Counsel—"Did he have a reputation for beating his children?"
Witness—"Well, he had."
Witness was home when Detective Byrne came to his house. The Detective wanted the boy to come to town as a witness, but his mother wouldn't allow him to go.
Re-examined, witness said he had only heard of the children being beaten since the "red-tide".

Enough Lies to Hang Him.
Francis Cantwell was the next witness. He said he lived at Avondale and knew Nolan and his children. Nolan's children boarded at Mrs. Mason's after their father's arrest. He was there once. Michael Mason, Joseph Cantwell, Mrs. Mason, Mrs. Murray and the Nolan children were all there. Witness heard Mary Nolan say she made lies on her father in Harbor Main Court, and further, she said she'd make enough to hang him. He knew Nolan well. His children were wild and unruly. Witness helped to look for them once when they ran away. They were found in a cellar. These two children were Gregory and Belle. Nolan took the children by the hand and brought them home. Nolan did not beat the children. All the people in the neighbourhood say the same. (Continued on page 11)

Good Friday in Jerusalem Before the Great War.

"A Faithful Cross, of Trees the Fairest!
O Tree Among Them All the Rarest."
(By Mary Boyle O'Reilly, in Ave Maria.)

The first sight of Palestine is a sad shock to fond illusions. "The abomination of desolation" rests on the hallowed land. The country that should be sowing with milk and honey is mostly desolate; the unfruitful hills are burned red; and clouds that bring no moisture are driven across the hills by the wind. Judea, is, indeed, a barren land, "where a city seated on a mountain can not be hid." From the seaboard, all roads wind up and up to the Holy City. Not for nothing was it written in the Sacred Books that pilgrims went up to the city beloved of God. It may be added here that no one can appreciate the full meaning of the Gospel story who has grant orange groves; past hamlets half hidden in roses of Sharon; up through the spreading pastures on which the Bedouins send their herds, to the gloomy ravine known as the Black Valley, where lonely shepherds, "abiding with their flocks by night," called to each other, with pipes made of reed. The only signs of human habitation are the watch-towers of vineyards, rare in a country where the vine was once the emblem of the nation, and the grapes of Judah were carved on Hebrew tombs.

Then of a sudden the Sheik pauses to shade his eyes with an expectant hand. The lagging column comes up; the brow of a hill is rounded; and below—throned on the twin mountains Zion and Moriah that rise from an abyss—lies the square, walled Bible City. So familiar it looks, and so small, that the sense of reality passes; the breathing of the silent throng seems as the restless sound of studying mates in some far-distant schoolroom, the shadowy city but an illustration in the Bible History. One glance shows Jerusalem to be the tomb of a great city surrounded by miles of tombs. In very truth, "they have made of Jerusalem but a heap of stones." Since the pilgrimage of the Kaiser, it is possible to drive to the Joppa Gate. Within its gloomy arch a sleepy Turk sits at the receipt of customs, his Slave of the Long Road searching the bales of fodder borne by ruminating donkeys for contraband wine and salt. Once inside the embattled walls, where the average street is only five feet wide, none may drive; and the few who ride must hug the bulging house walls.

"How these stang streets, set edgewise on the hillsides, in a climate where rainfalls are torrents and the wind a tornado, could have accumulated the deposits of debris that line their length, only the officials of the Turkish Government can tell. For Jerusalem the Holy, beloved city of the Hebrews and sacred city of Christendom, has for six centuries been Moslem. From the Dome of the Rock that crowns its acropolis, standing where Solomon's Temple stood—where Jesus was found a Child amongst the Doctors; where He cast out them that bought and sold in the Holy place; where He walked a Master teaching in parables; where the Sanhedrim met in judgment when Judas Iscariot, "who also betrayed Him," returned them the appointed thirty pieces of silver; down through all the staircases, vaulted streets reeking with filth and awful odours—Jerusalem is Turkish.

In these dimly-lit lanes, the daughters of Jerusalem stood weeping; and beyond the way turning to the west, near the Gate of Judgment, is the spot of the Third Fall. The last five Stations are in the Church, of the Holy Sepulchre, marked each by a shrine or an altar. Even Dimas, the Good Thief, is remembered with a shrine— he who, being a highwayman, had encountered the Holy Family during their flight into Egypt; and, touched by the celestial beauty of the Christ-Child, refused to rob them. "I will remember you in your last hour," promised the Lady Mary, since a promise was all she had to give.

Of all the Gospel saints, the most popular in Palestine is that noble counsellor, Joseph of Arimathea, a secret disciple while yet a member of the Sanhedrim. Jerusalem is rich in ruins that once knew "Joseph the stranger," the storehouse whence he drew the myrrh and aloes; the new tomb that he built; the house to which he fled, with that other fearful disciple, Nicodemus, to escape the vengeance of the Great Council; and the ruined gate, under which he waited in the dark of a Syrian night for the one treasure that accompanied him in all his wanderings—the Holy Grail.

Of all the sites in the world, there is not one that has, of late, caused such controversy as the place of the Crucifixion. For hundreds of years no one appears to have questioned the site that is now covered by the Church of the Holy Sepulchre. Apostles, disciples, martyrs and Crusaders seem to have lived and died content in the certainty of their conviction. At last came a scientist armed with questions. Was not the central spot of Christendom, according to St. Mark (xv. 22), "a place called Golgotha," which is Hebrew for a skull? Is it not written in St. John (xix. 20), that it "was near, to the city?" Now, the Church of the Holy Sepulchre is well within the walls, and has not, so far as is now known, any resemblance to a skull. So old is this rock that Hebrew tradition holds that in one of the little caves the Prophet Jeremiah wrote his Lamentations.

Returning from the supposed Golgotha to the traditional site is not an easy task on the afternoon of Good Friday; for the alley-like streets are packed to suffocation, albeit with a gentle, silent crowd. Passing the eastern wall of the Temple terrace that towers far above, one comes suddenly on a remnant of the Chosen People, their Hebrew Bibles in their hands, weeping and lamenting as they mourn in the words of Isaiah. On Good Friday a Turkish pasha, wise in his generation, sets a guard to protect them, lest some Oriental schismatic, made fanatical by the morning's ceremonies, attempt to start a massacre in the streets.

For this lonely little band, strangers in their once great city, hardly a stone remains upon a stone. The work of Solomon and of Herod has passed as the splendour of a dream; and in the pitiful awakening, the homeless people stand weeping before a remnant of a ruined temple; its rough stones made smooth by the kissing of sorrowing generations. The level rays of the sinking sun shine on a hundred golden crosses; the evening mist grows blue in the valley of Jehovah's Judgment, and, rising, shrouds the Wall of Weeping in its clammy folds; and from the gathering twilight the voice of an angel rabbi moans the cry that has re-echoed through the ages:

We sit in solitude and mourn
For the palace that is destroyed.
We sit in solitude and mourn
For the walls that are overthrown.
We sit in solitude and mourn
For our majesty that has departed.
We sit in solitude and mourn
For the great men who lie dead.
We sit in solitude and mourn!

There are many Spring suits made of fine black serge. Gray and beige are frequently combined with navy blue. When making preserves, remove the stove cover to a table and put on it an asbestos mat. The preserves will continue boiling if you set them on the mat, and you will not have to stand over the stove while filling the jars. Instead of grating cheese for sandwiches, an easier way is to pare cheese with a vegetable or apple peeler, the kind with slot in the curved surface.

OFTEN WORKED ALL DAY WITHOUT A BITE TO EAT

Soucy Hardly Able to Sleep or Work Before He Got Tanlac—Day's Work Doesn't Tire Him Like Half Hour's Job Did Before.

"I was so down and out. I could hardly eat, sleep or work, but Tanlac has built me up all round and I feel just like I've been wanting to feel," said J. A. Soucy, 2277 Jacques-Heriot St. Ville St. Marie, Montreal, a well-known employee of the Grier Timber Co.

"I had indigestion so bad that many a time I went all day long without eating a bite of anything. In fact, I almost hated to eat, for I suffered so with pains and cramps that sometimes even a glass of water turned against me. My nerves were so shattered they kept me restless all the time and I dreaded to see night coming on for I would lie wide awake for hours rolling and tossing. Then in the morning I had a terrific headache and all through the day I felt so weak and no account I would nearly give out.

"But I feel as strong and healthy now as I ever did in my life and five bottles of Tanlac are what have fixed me up so fine. I'm surprised at the way Tanlac has built me up. Why, a whole day's work now doesn't tire me as much as a half hour's job used to. I eat hearty, sleep good and sound, and don't see how anybody could be in better health. Tanlac has done even more than I expected, and it is my turn now, I think, to do something for Tanlac."

Tanlac is sold in St. John's by M. Connor; in Paradise, by Mrs. Martin F. Byrne; in Upper Gillies, by Heber Andrews; in Portland, by H. C. Haines; in St. Joseph, Salmonier, by Mrs. J. Gushue; in Marytown, by Exquisite Valley Royal Stores, Ltd.; in Flat Islands, by William Samson; in Jamestown, by Christopher Haines; and in Lewisporte by Ulrich, Frazer, & Co.

C. L. B. Successful Year.

The regular weekly parade took place on Tuesday last and as usual was largely attended. Routine work was gone through until 8:45 p.m., when all members attended the annual meeting of the Athletic Association in the W. & N.C.O.'s Mess. Rev. E. H. Fletcher occupied the chair, and on calling the meeting to order, congratulated the Association on the record attendance, and then proceeded to the report of the Secretary, C.S.M. Bert Colton, presented the accounts for the previous year, duly audited, which showed the Association to be in a healthy financial condition as after having paid into the Brigade funds their assessed amount towards running expenses, there is still a large balance to the credit in the savings department. The review of the year's work was then read by the Secretary, and as it proved very interesting, extracts from same are furnished for the benefit of the Brigade friends, supporters and others interested.

Extracts from Secretary's Report: "During January, 1920, the Association ran off a series of fixtures both in hockey and basketball. The games were a great attraction both to the lads and seniors and several members proved quite proficient players. In March last Messrs. A. Hammond, A. Hennebury and S.

Skiffington rejoined the Brigade as Gymnasium Instructors. All are ex-members of our organization and had splendid records while serving with the Royal Nid. Regiment. They were accorded a hearty welcome by the Athletic Council and up to date have done splendid work in connection with our Gym.

It is a well known fact that the success of the annual C. of E. Garden Party largely depends on the Sports Committee, and this Association feel proud of the fact that we had the management of the Sports on this occasion. There was not one dull moment during the whole of the afternoon and night, and when we realize that the total receipts for that day amounted in the vicinity of $7,000, it proves to us that it only needs the united efforts of every member to make a sports programme a decided success.

At the presentation of the Outerbridge Shield the Association again figured prominently and the Gymnasium squad under C.S.M. Rendell acquitted themselves very creditably and received the united congratulations of all ranks. The annual Camp Sports have always been successful and this past year was by no means an exception to the rule. We had every satisfaction, splendid weather, and keenly contested events, with a large number of Brigade friends and others as delighted spectators. Our big

TO-DAY'S MESSAGES.

BELGIUM TAKES INITIATIVE.

BRUSSELS, March 23. The Senate and Chamber have adopted a bill for the reduction of fifty per cent of payments on German goods, in accordance with the London agreement.

HIS FATHER'S SEAT.

LONDON, March 23. Austen Chamberlain, recently elected leader of the House of Commons, has been appointed Lord Privy Seal, both positions having been previously held by Bonar Law. This will reconstitute Chamberlain's seeking re-election in Birmingham. It is believed that the Labor Party will fight the election, but Birmingham is considered quite a safe seat for Chamberlain. The Speaker of the House of Commons, James William Lowther, is retiring, and it is reported that the Prime Minister has offered the position to John Henry Whitley, Deputy Speaker.

A BLOODY POLICY.

DUBLIN, March 23. Twenty-four persons were killed and nearly thirty wounded in an ambush reported to-day. The men, to whom the Government attribute the organization of ambushes, have not been captured. Multiplication of ambushes is believed to be largely due to reprisals for recent executions. Sinn Fein is said to regard their men as belligerents, and the execution of those captured as a breach of the laws of war, and punishable by reprisals. The execution of Whelan was followed by the killing of two policemen, in his native town of Clifton. For every man executed vengeance is anticipated, and as the Government has in custody many men liable to the death penalty, and is said to mean to carry out executions, the piling up of deaths on each side is considered here as inevitable.

A POLISH REPUBLIC.

LONDON, March 23. A wireless despatch received from Berlin gives a Kaptowitz report to the effect that armed Polish bands, in Dominion Championship Sports arranged for September 1st, were anticipated by all ranks to class amongst "the events of the season," but unfortunately the weather proved contrary to our expectations, and we had to postpone the event. Through the kindness of the "Importers' Association an extra half-holiday was arranged for September 15th, but again we were severely disappointed as the weather proved even worse than before. However, we were determined to run them off, as we had a large sum invested in prizes, and they took place on the 22nd and 23rd September commencing at 4 p.m. and finishing at dark each evening. The Sports were keenly contested and those who attended, felt well rewarded. As regards the financial end, we managed to clear ourselves with a small credit balance which, considering the many obstacles in our path, was very creditable.

On December 10th we ran off a Championship Wrestling Tournament and Boxing Exhibition. It was a decided success both socially and financially, and we trust it will be the forerunner of many more during 1921. To Major Fred Marshall, whose return to our ranks is now assured, the credit of this success must be given and with him as our Gymnasium Captain we predict big things for the C.L.B. Athletic Association and the Sporting Community.

In conclusion we wish to thank all the officers and friends who have helped us out during the year, and also take this opportunity of heartily congratulating Capt. Frank Miles and C.S.M. Harold E. Rendell on their "United States."

Lieut. Col. Goodridge then occupied the chair and after congratulating all members on the year's work, conducted the election of officers, which resulted as follows: Hon. Pres.—Lt. Col. R. F. Goodridge, re-elected. 1st. Vice-Pres.—Major Williams. 2nd Vice-Pres.—Capt. C. E. A. Jeffery. 3rd Vice-Pres.—President Old Comrades, H. Fockham. Chairman—Rev. (Lieut.) E. H. Fletcher, re-elected. Vice Chairman—(Capt. of Gym) Major Fred Marshall, O.B.E. Secretary—C.S.M. Bert Colton, re-elected. Athletic Committee—C.S.S. Harold E. Rendell, R.S.M. Rowland Williams, Sergt. F. Stone, Sergt. H. Smith, Lieut. Fred Reid, Lieut. Wm. R. Moty, Lieut. Harold Hayward, Captain Frank Miles, Capt. N. Henry (Adjutant).

Speeches were then made by Major Marshall and the newly elected officers, after which the meeting adjourned. The sporting public will be delighted to know that a large wrestling tournament will be run off about the latter part of April. Mr. Ben Stafford has kindly offered the Athletic Council prizes to the value of $100 for this event, and with this splendid gift to spur them on it is a foregone conclusion that the tournament will be equal to any ever run off in this country.

cluding regulars from General Haller's army, have crossed the Upper Silesian frontier at some points, and proclaimed a Polish Republic. The despatch adds that Germans are fleeing from the region.

IN THE COMMONS.

LONDON, Mar. 23. An Irish debate was raised in the House of Commons to-day by Francis Dyke Acland, in appealing to the Government to act with magnanimity before Easter. He advocated the amending of a constituent assembly to choose the form of an Irish constitution. Members, who supported Acland, made much plain for the analogous situation in South Africa. Former Prime Minister Asquith criticized the Government's failure to employ the same vigor in vindicating law in Ireland against Crown forces as against Sinn Feiners, and in a suggestion that the Government again get in touch with representatives of the Irish people, said it was useless to lay down impossible conditions in such negotiations. Replying to Asquith with a statement of the Government in connection with the execution of Mount Joy and elsewhere, as bringing disgrace and shame upon England in the United States, Lloyd George said that two of the men executed at Mount Joy were murderers, and that the other four were engaged in an ambush to kill policemen. They were taken with arms, bombs and soft-nosed bullets in their possession. He gave similar details of the other cases adduced, and argued that Asquith himself could have taken no other course, had he been in power, than the Government had done. On the question of negotiations the Prime Minister announced no new policy. Lloyd George declared he was laboring to the utmost to keep the door of peace and conciliation open, and every Irishman ought to assist.

NEW LAMP BURNS 94 PER CENT. AIR.

Beats Electric or Gas.

A new oil lamp that gives an amazingly brilliant, soft, white light, even better than gas or electricity, has been tested by the U.S. Government and 36 leading universities and found to be superior to 10 ordinary oil lamps. It burns without odor, smoke or noise—no pumping up, is simple, clean, safe. Burns 94% air and 6% common kerosene (coal-oil).

The inventor T. W. Johnson, 246 Craig St., West, Montreal, is offering to send a lamp on 10 days' FREE trial or even to give one FREE to the first user in each locality who will help him introduce it. Write him to-day for full particulars. Also ask him to explain how you can get the agency, and without experience or money make $250 to $500 per month.

Two Dollars and thirty-five cents will purchase four dollar value in Men's Shirts at BISHOP'S Men's Wear Dept. during this week, and Men's Working Shirts worth two dollars and fifty cents for only one dollar and sixty, while this shipment lasts.

JOHN M. HOLLAND.

There passed away at his late residence, 17 Alton St., Somerville, Mass. John M. Holland, who died on Wednesday morning, January 26th after a short illness. The deceased formerly conducted a shoemaking business at 49 New Gower Street, West End, and at one time conducted his business in the Eddy block adjoining the late J. B. Ayre's crockery store, Water Street. He was a well known and respected citizen and prior to his leaving for the States was a member of the Star of the Sea, T.A. & B. and Mechanics' Societies, being one of the oldest members of the last named. For the last two years he had been living with his son Thomas F. at the above address, and did a business at 199 Medford Street, Somerville. The burial took place Friday morning, January 28th, at Holy Cross Cemetery, Malden, Mass. A Requiem High Mass was celebrated at St. Joseph's Church, Union Square, Somerville, by Rev. Father Mullen. To the bereaved we extend our sincerest sympathy.—R.I.P.

ELSIE MARTIN.

The past week, which has just gone into eternity, has removed a bright young life from earthly scenes to a far sadder clime, where sickness and sorrow are not known. We refer to the death of Miss Elsie Martin, seventeen-year-old and only daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Frank Martin, of Water St. West, which sad event occurred at her parents' home on Wednesday night last. A short while ago, mention was made of her being ill, but no one thought that the end to her short career would come so soon. Last year she underwent an operation for appendicitis at the General Hospital St. John's, and it seems that since then, her health was never fully restored, although she rallied for a time, and all had hoped she was on the road to complete recovery; yet within the last few weeks, her condition changed, and to the grief of her parents and friends she gradually faded until her spirit took its flight heavenward. We trust that the family in this their irreparable loss, will feel the presence of the Divine Comforter very near, who doeth all for the best, and who alone can bind up the broken heart. May they be able to say, "Thy Will be Done."

The funeral took place on Friday afternoon and was a large one, all Elsie's young friends attending, being anxious to pay their last tribute to their departed comrade. Her casket was buried with floral tokens of sympathy. Thus she was laid in the bosom of Mother Earth in the Church of England cemetery there to sleep until that day when—children are liars. Witness gave a specific instance of a lie on Gregory's part.

"We'll read the meaning of those tears. Not now, but then, we'll understand." The sincere sympathy of the town goes out to the bereaved family at this sad hour of their bereavement.

Warned Against Perjury.

Cross examined by Warren, K.C. Witness said he had never heard of Nolan beating his children. He had never even heard of him beating Mary. He had never talked the case over since Nolan's arrest. Although his sister had been subpoenaed as a witness he had heard nobody say anything about it. That was as true as the rest of the evidence he gave. When Mary made this statement about "making up lies" he was watching a game of checkers. Witness later said Gregory was not there. (The Chief Justice at this point warned the witness against perjury.)

Continuing witness said, "There was no conversation going on at the time Mary made this statement. Mrs. Mason wasn't paying any attention as she was getting ready to go to Avondale. Mrs. Mason wasn't minding when Mary Nolan used these words. I have never talked this case over with anybody. I don't know whether Mrs. Mason heard Mary say this or not."

Cross Examination of Cantwell.

"I heard that Mrs. Mason gave evidence. I don't know whether Mrs. Mason said anything about Mary's statement or not in her evidence. I suppose I can hear it in this statement of Mary's. I was not paying any attention to Mary Nolan at all. The first thing I heard her say was that she had made lies on her father in Hr. Main Court House. I swear she said these words. I don't know what she meant by these words. I heard nothing more after she said that. I was in Nolan's house the Sunday Belle died. I was also there for the funeral. I was at Nolan's house since the funeral. That was the Sunday Detective Byrne came. Detective Byrne told us to get out of the room and we all went out except the two children. I never heard any conversation concerning what Byrne said to the children. Nobody told Mary not to tell on her father."

"I Can Read And Write."

(Counsel here produces a writing.) "I have never seen any letter like that before." Higgins, B.A., re-examined. Recess was taken for some minutes at this point.

THE NEXT WITNESS CALLED

was Patrick Grace. Examined by Higgins, B.A. he said, "I am a native of Avondale. I know Nolan well. Nolan was always a good, hardworking, industrious man and a good neighbour. I worked with him on Bell Island. I never heard of him ill-treating his children. I know he treated his children well. I know his children were very awful wild. I don't know anything about them personally. Their reputation for telling the truth is very bad." Cross examined by Warren, K.C. he said, "Dr. Jones is the doctor at Avondale. He is the general and district doctor. I don't know who the relieving officer there is."

JOSEPH CANTWELL'S EVIDENCE.

Joseph Cantwell was the next witness. Examined by Higgins, B.A. he said, "I live at Avondale. The Nolan children went to Mrs. Mason's after their father was taken. I was there one Sunday afternoon. The Nolan children were in the room. I was playing checkers with Mike Mason. My brother was sitting down watching. Mrs. Mason was going around the house. My brother passed a remark to Mary about the lie she said she had made to about Hr. Main Court. I remember the Sunday Nolan was arrested. I was at his house at the time. I have not been talking to Nolan since his arrest."

Cross examined by Warren, K.C. Witness said, "I have not been talking to anybody about this case. I have not mentioned Nolan to anybody. I was upstairs just now when my brother went upstairs. I had no conversation with him about the case. I have not talked over the case, nor have I heard anybody else talk about it, or mention Nolan's name since he was arrested. I came to town on Monday last. Several others came with me. I had no conversation with them about the case. The only remark I've heard about the case is what Mary Nolan said in Mrs. Mason's house. Gregory Nolan was in the kitchen at Mrs. Mason's that day."

Talking to Herself.

"I thought Gregory was there but I'm not sure. I am sure that my brother said nothing about Gregory since he left the witness box. I minded what Mary Nolan said. I minded nothing else. I can't tell you whether Mrs. Murray was there or not. I think Mrs. Mason was in the kitchen when Mary used those words. I couldn't swear to Mrs. Murray being in the kitchen at the time." The witness then told what led up to Mary saying those words during which he said Mary was talking about her father.

Counsel—"Who was she talking to?"

Witness—"She was talking to herself."

Counsel—"Do you swear that?"

Witness—"Yes."

Counsel—"When she was talking to herself and carrying on what was she saying and doing?"

STEWART'S Home Made Bread,
 THE BREAD MY DADDY LIKES.

Daddy is evidently not one of those back number lords of creation who believes that woman's place is in the home—and only there! His taste in a wife is an up-to-date woman who will prove herself a real companion. He knows that if she is a slave to her kitchen she can't enjoy the poise or have the interest in world affairs that a little extra leisure would make possible; and so he is pleased to eat MRS. STEWART'S HOME MADE BREAD—the loaf with the home made flavor. The smiling, well-nourished kiddie doesn't look as though suffering because mother is progressive enough to buy good bread made by a bread specialist, instead of wearing out her life in the kitchen.

Eat Stewart's Home Made Bread.

The Value of Experience

A Trust Company's Officers are specially trained and experienced in the handling of Trust Funds—that is their business. All transactions in the administration of an Estate are the result of careful consideration by the Trust Company's Officers, guided by the Board of Directors. Every Estate administered by the Trust Company is benefited by the experience of its Directors. From the date of its appointment, the Trust Company is a tried and experienced Executor. It does not require to gain experience at the expense of the Estate. Appoint this Company your executor. Montreal Trust Company Sir Herbert S. Holt, President. A. J. Brown, K.C., Vice-Pres. F. G.
