The falling off in the revenue, caused by short importations, will probably compel Mr. Rose to account for some deficit in the revenue on Friday next.

GOVERNOR COMING TO GALT.—We learn that there is a probability that Mr. J. E. Gough, the Apostol of Temperance, will deliver a lecture in Galt at a not distant date under the auspices of the Y. M. C. A.

The Emperor Napoleon proposes that from the 15th of August next, the centennial anniversary of the birth of Napoleon I, every soldier of the Republic and of the First Empire shall receive an annual pension of 250f.

In Nevada there is a Ruby Valley, so called on account of the immense number of rubies found in the sands of the mountain streams flowing through it. These gems, though very beautiful and perfect, are too small to be merchantable, the largest being only the size of a pin head.

THE PACIFIC RAILWAY.—Its whole length, from Missouri River to the navigable waters of San Francisco, is 1800 miles. It crosses two immense mountain barriers—the Rocky and the Sierra Nevada ranges—one at an elevation of 7,043 feet above the sea. Of its whole length, 1,680 miles have been constructed since Jan. 1st 1869, to Jan. 1st 1867, a period of 317 working days, 1,150 miles were opened, being at the rate of three and six-tenths miles per day. It is completed six years in advance of the limit set by Congress.

ANOTHER BRITISH CONFEDERACY.—It is proposed to form a confederacy of the British West India Islands. The proposed confederacy will have two satellites, the Legislature of Jamaica, which will include the Bahamas, Barbados and Turks Islands, the Leeward Islands—comprising Antigua, Dominica, St. Christopher, Anguilla, Montserrat, Nevis, Carriacou, and the Virgin Isles, also British Honduras in Yucatan; the second Division to include the Windward Islands, Barbados, St. Vincent, Tobago, Grenada, and St. Lucia; also Trinidad and British Guiana, with the seat of the legislature in Barbados.

THE OREGON TIMES, in discussing the prospects of the New Dominion, sees danger in the far future. It goes into statistics, and estimates that in 1961 we will have a population of eighty millions, and in point of area, will be the 5th nation on the globe. "Should the Dominion become a monarchy," says the Times, "we will have upon our northern borders a power that will have a capital, a navy, and a Russia cradled in the European States. Perhaps, sometime in the distant future, it may become a northern 'North-west' where swarms of fierce barbarians will descend to extract the sweets of luxury from the fair fields of a then effeminate south."

MAN FOUND DEAD NEAR HILLSBURG.—On Sunday last Mr. Andrew Nodwell found the dead body of Duncan McLean, tailor, on his farm, which lies not far out from Hillsburg. He was seen the day previous at the same place, but it was thought that he had been drinking and had fallen down till his effects had ceased. When found he was quite dead, with a bottle lying beside him. An inquest was held the next day in Hillsburg, when a verdict was returned that deceased had come to his death from the effects of intemperance and exposure. He was well known in Erin, was an excellent workman, but unfortunately was addicted to liquor. He was about 45 years of age, and we believe leaves a wife and child.

LABOR AND EDUCATION.—Mr. Froude is in favor of every man having a trade. In opposition to the statement that education and physical labor do not agree well together, he says:—It hurts no intellect to be able to make a floor or hammer a horse-shoe; and if you can do either of those you have nothing to fear from fortune. Spinoza, the most powerful intellectual worker that Europe has produced during the last two centuries, was a shoemaker by profession and legacies that were thrust upon him, chose to maintain himself by grinding object-glasses for microscopes and telescopes. If a son of mine told me that he wished to devote himself to intellectual pursuits, I would act as I should act if he wished to make an imprudent marriage. I would absolutely prohibit him for a time, till the firmness of his purposes had been tried. If he stood the test, and showed real talent, I would insist that he should in some way make himself independent of the profits of intellectual work for subsistence.

ST. ANDREW'S CHURCH BAZAAR.—Last night the Town Hall was crowded with visitors to the Bazaar, and the discomfort and inconvenience of our miserably small Hall were never so keenly felt. The tables were well patronized during the evening and the boys of young ladies who did the selling were kept busy enough. Nor were the refreshments neglected by those who wished to fortify the inner man as well as invest their spare change in the many fancy things offered for sale. The Battalion Band opened the concert with their favorite airs, played in their best style. Mr. Hugh Walker by his juvenile choir then delighted the company by giving a number of beautiful selections. Mrs. Budd playing the accompaniments on the melodeon. In the course of the evening Mrs. Howitt also sang a favorite piece. It was announced by Mr. Massie that the dressing gown was gained by the congregation of St. George's Church for the Rector, Archdeacon Palmer, the number of votes being 73 to 70 votes from St. Andrew's congregation. To-night another dressing gown will be given to the medical man in town who gets the largest number of votes. A concert will also be given again this evening. Admission 10 cents; and at the close of the bazaar the goods remaining unsold will be sold by auction.

May Cattle Fair.

The May fair was well attended on Wednesday. There were more cattle in than might be expected, considering the number that have been sold and shipped during the winter and since the spring. There were quite a lot of fat cattle, in excellent condition, but sales were by no means brisk, and we have to note a decline in prices compared with the two previous fairs. The glut in the large markets, and the fact that dealers have lately been losing on their stocks previously bought accounts for this decline. The average price paid for good cattle was $4 per cwt. live weight, although a few in prime condition fetched higher figures. There were a large number of milk cows—some of them in very poor condition. Prices of these ranged from $20 to $40, according to size and quality. The following are a few sales:—John Thomson, 4 steers, $216; Geo. Newstead, cow $64; Wm. Patterson, 4 head, $140, and yoke of oxen, $95; E. V. Thompson, cow at $52.50 per cwt.; Chas. Mickle, cow at $60, and 13 head at $125 per cwt.; Wm. Bell, 6 head at $4.75 per cwt. and cow for $65; Henry Tolton, 4 head at $5 per cwt. and 2 for $115; John Armstrong, 3 steers and cow for $270; Philip Balkwill, 3 head for $155; George Jackson 4 for $220 and 2 for $65 each; Jos. Jackson 2 at $4 per cwt.; Wm. Hood, yoke of steers, $120; John Hawes, 7 at $4.50 per cwt.; Robert Byrd, cow and steer, $68; Geo. Shell, 2 head $50; Robt Dryden, Erasmus, sold cow and steer 3700 lbs to Wm. Hearn at $1.50 per cwt.; Alf. Simpson, one cow, $25; R. Hinds, six head, $4.37 1/2 per cwt.; W. Laidlaw, ten head, $6.50 per cwt.; R. Ferguson, four head, 4 cents a pound; Geo. Stewart, two head, $30; Thos. Hood, two head, 4 cents per lb.; Geo. Hood, jr., four head, 4 cents per lb.; Jos. Jackson, ten head, $4.12 per cwt.

The Neeve Assault Case.

We learn that the condition of Mr. Neeve, the victim of the late brutal assault, is such as to give encouragement to his friends, and we trust that in a short time he will regain his wonted good health. The traces of the two ruffians is yet to be had, but Chief Constable Kelly is industriously "working up" the case, and it is to be hoped that the officers of the law will ultimately meet with success. Suspicion points strongly to the man we mentioned in our last issue, but his whereabouts has not yet been discovered.

The Brutal Assault on Mr. Neeve.

DEAR SIR.—The late murderous assault described in your issue of yesterday, made on our much respected fellow-townsmen Mr. John Neeve, by some villain still at large, makes our blood run cold to think of.

Reflect that in the broad day light, on his own premises, near his own dwelling, an inoffensive man was set upon by two or more ruffians, a blow of the arm over his head, then kicked and hammered in a brutal manner, and his house afterwards ransacked for plunder. Surely after this none of us are safe even in our houses.

In view of this desperate crime, Mr. Editor, I would suggest that a large reward be offered by the Mayor of the town for the capture of the villains, not so much as an incentive to the performance of duty, as to mark the horror and detestation of the community at the fearful and outrageous nature of the crime, and their determination that such villains shall not go unpunished.

I feel convinced that all classes would cheerfully acquiesce in this, for no one can be safe if the dangerous and lawless characters in the country are permitted to indulge the belief that crimes may be committed without just vengeance surely and speedily overtaking them.

Yours respectfully, JOHN HORSMAN.

Suicide of a Stubbhorn School-boy.

American boys are generally precocious, but we have before us an instance of one who was horribly so. On Monday last a school boy in North Andover, Massachusetts, had some difficulty with his teacher, left the school house and went home. His father told him he had better go to school, but the teacher's pardon and resume his studies. The boy manifested a reluctance to do so, when his father insisted that he should. The boy then went up stairs to his own room, and loading two pistols, which appear to have been his property, discharged the contents of one into his head and the other into his heart simultaneously. He died instantly, and when found by his relatives, who hastened to his room on hearing the report of the pistols, his body was found lying in a pool of blood. It is supposed that he preferred to die rather than apologize to his teacher. In this case the father seems to have done his duty, but we fear that the general system of home and school education in the United States fosters and develops in boys the feeling which prompted this unfortunate youth, to take his own life rather than submit to his parent or teacher. An unchastely precocity, an unripe manhood, an unnatural independence are the bitter fruits of the leveling doctrines of American Republicanism. Jack there is as good as his master, the child is as good as his parents, and no authority, human or divine, is to be respected or obeyed if it interferes with the self will of the individual.

Dominion Rifle Association.

The members of the Dominion Rifle Association assembled in Ottawa on Wednesday. Col. Botsford was called to the chair. Capt. Stewart read the report of last year's operations. The report recommended that the match should take place earlier in the season than last year's match. The suggestion was also made that the prizes should be offered in greater number with a view to encourage marksmen. No statement of the expenditure was exhibited in print, and questions were freely expressed that this should be done. Sir John Young has become the patron, and has sent to England for several Caps which he intends to present for competition. Mr. Mason, of the Hamilton Club, raised a discussion upon the proposed amendment to the rule of membership, in order to reduce the amount to be paid by a rifle association desiring to become affiliated; also to apportion the members in the Council according to population. In the council of the Dominion Association objection was taken that no amendment could be adopted at the meeting without due notice, and the meeting sustained that view. Some of Mr. Mason's amendments were in the right direction. This matter having been disposed of after a long debate, the Association then proceeded to the election of members of the Council as follows:—For Ontario—Lt. Col. Jackson, Brockville; Lt. Col. Forrest, Ottawa; Lt. Col. Higginson, Hawkesbury; Mayor J. W. Morris, Perth; Lt. Col. Boulton, Cobourg; Lt. Col. Williams, Port Hope; Lt. Col. Paton, Kingston; Rev. V. C. Clements, Lakefield; Lt. Col. Gilmour, Toronto; Lt. Col. Fairbanks, Oshawa; J. Mason, Esq., Hamilton; Judge McDonald, Guelph; Capt. Stevenson, Chatham; Capt. McClelland, Woodstock; Lt. Col. Moffat, London.

The Accident at the Drill Shed.

Besides those parties whom we mentioned as having been injured by the fall of the gallery in the Drill Shed on Wednesday, there were several others who were more or less hurt. One of them was Mr. George Porter, who had his right arm broken at the wrist, which for a time at least will incapacitate him for doing much. The injured member was carefully set by Dr. McGuire, and he is now doing as well as could be expected under the circumstances. A man named Frank Mast was also knocked down during the confusion at the time of the accident and bruised considerably, besides sustaining internal injuries. He is at present lying at Casey's hotel, where he is receiving every attention, and Dr. McGuire has charge of the case. On inquiring this morning we learned that Mr. Mast was progressing favorably, no dangerous symptoms having appeared. Hugh McLachlan was conveyed home by Crewson's Carriers soon after the accident, and though badly injured about the back we understand his chances of recovery are very good. There were five or six others bruised and scratched a little, and a good many more were very much frightened, as might have been expected; but it is very fortunate that considering the large crowd who were on the gallery at the time, more serious results did not follow the catastrophe.

Mrs. Lophia J. Canfield, of Peru, Ohio, finds great fault with Anna E. Dickinson, because at her lecture she wore a tight waist, trailing skirt, and lace wristlets, which had to be fixed now and then by the speaker, and her trail—why not call it tail—had to be managed as she moved about the platform.

The Neeve Assault Case.

We learn that the condition of Mr. Neeve, the victim of the late brutal assault, is such as to give encouragement to his friends, and we trust that in a short time he will regain his wonted good health. The traces of the two ruffians is yet to be had, but Chief Constable Kelly is industriously "working up" the case, and it is to be hoped that the officers of the law will ultimately meet with success. PAINFUL ACCIDENT.—The Galt Reformer says that another of those serious accidents resulting from the careless use of fire arms occurred in the village of Hespeler on Monday evening. It appears that Mr. Kribbs, brother of the contractor for building the new Presbyterian church in Galt, was standing on the street in conversation with another gentleman, when a loaded gun in the hands of a boy near him was suddenly discharged, the contents lodging in the vicinity of Mr. Kribbs' knee, inflicting a nasty wound, the Harriston Correspondence. The Fair on Friday last was about as good as any of those previously held at the same season of the year.

There were about seventy head of cattle on the ground, the most likely of which were bought up with alacrity. There were comparatively few of the farmers in attendance—the backwardness of the spring, and the large amount of work that has yet to be performed before the seed can be put into the ground, having kept them at home. Among the sales effected the following may be noted—John Wilkinson, of the 9th con., sold 2 yoke of oxen for $240; Samuel Johnston, 1 cow, $22.50; James Murdoch, 1 cow $25; Neil McDougall, 1 cow $15.50; J. J. Mallaby, 1 do. $25; W. Baker, 2 steers $100; W. Boulger, 2 do. $50; Wm. McFarlane, do. $75.50; Peter Allan, 1 do. $15; A. McClerritt, 1 do. $14; John Duckworth, 1 ox $65; George Clarke, 1 steer $30; John Livingston, 1 cow $27.50. Mr. Hillburn bought twenty hogs at an average of $1.50 per 100 lbs. live weight. The Fair was perhaps to some extent injured by a most unwarranted report, industriously circulated through the medium of the press and otherwise during the last month, that the monthly fairs so successfully held in Harriston for a period of over four years had been given up or abandoned. The origin of such an unauthorized statement does not seem to be known to any one in this locality, and it matters but little—Harriston has been placed in a position possessing considerable material advantages, and turg at it as some people may, and from whatever quarter they may choose to make the attempt, it can neither be moved out of its place, nor its steady progress materially retarded. The last fair was about as well attended by buyers as usual, and there is no reason to apprehend, so long as good marketable cattle are brought in in large numbers as heretofore, that there will be any falling off in that respect. The buyers left with the intention of advertising an extra fair here in about three weeks, but as this would seriously interfere with the success of the monthly one, it is to be hoped that the representation made to them will induce delay until the usual time. There were eleven head of cattle at the Clifford fair on Thursday, and of these Mr. Anderson, of Guelph, purchased half a dozen to send out to his farm in Howick. Whether the others were sold has not been ascertained. There were twenty-two head of cattle at the Levis fair on Friday, of which three were sold, viz.: 1 ox, $35; 1 cow, $19; and another for $13. Since the great flood the weather for the most part has been genial, but on Thursday evening last a severe frost set in and on Friday morning the ice on standing water was about three-quarters of an inch thick. On Saturday forenoon we had a very cold rain; in the afternoon a heavy fall of snow which, however, did not find a resting place. Sunday was dry, but still cold, and Monday the frost was nearly as intense as on the morning of Friday last. As was expected, a good many cattle have died, and there are many others in a lean and weak condition; but such of these as are now able to move about at all will be able to pick up a living, and the market will not be glutted with "fallen hides" as it has for the past two or three weeks. Spring work is now being vigorously pushed forward, and peas have been sown to a considerable extent; but the ground is not yet in good order for the reception of wheat. No fears are entertained, however, that it will be too late. The earliest sown last spring, viz. about the 25th of March, was badly damaged by the midge, whilst that put in during the first half of the month of May was unharmed from any cause and turned out well. A gentleman residing in this village, who has occasion frequently to travel the Elora and Sauguen Road, and who is in the habit on his south-east trip of paying toll both ways to prevent the necessity of stoppage, complained that on passing through toll-gate No. 7, on his return on the 20th ult., toll was again demanded of him. He explained that he had paid the "woman" in the morning, and the keeper seemed satisfied, making the remark "All right." In a few days after, however, the individual in question received a summons to appear before certain of Her Majesty's Justices of the Peace, to answer to the complaint of his having, at the time stated, drove a team through the gate without paying the usual toll. Rather than be bothered with the matter, and knowing that a trip to Rothsay would cost him more, he paid the money.

GOING AHEAD. — The Mount Force Examiner says that on Friday, the 23rd ult., Messrs. Hartley & Son, and Mr. Geo. Beggs treated their employees and a few friends to supper at Evans' Hotel, in celebration of the construction by the former, and the successful trial by the latter, of the first engine boiler manufactured in that village, and, indeed, we believe, the first constructed north of Guelph. Mr. Mackenzie moved for copies of the proceedings of the court of enquiry in investigating certain charges preferred against Major Shaw. In asking for these papers, the mover said his object was to obtain satisfactory reasons for the neglect to act on what was generally understood to be the recommendation of the Adjutant General. The Minister of Militia the other day said he would oppose the motion, but he (Mr. Mackenzie) would nevertheless, in the public interest, move for these papers. He did not believe it to be advisable because the matter was connected with the Militia Department, that the circumstances relating to it should be kept entirely from the public. The motion was opposed by Sir Geo. B. Cartier. After a long discussion in which Sir J. A. Macdonald, Mr. Mackenzie, Mr. Brown, Hon. Mr. Holton, and Mr. Brown took part, the motion was withdrawn. A motion made by Mr. Metcalfe for an address for the returns of the appointment and instructions of the Intercolonial Railroad Commissioners was agreed to. Mr. Masson, of Soulages, moved for copies of the correspondence with the Government, relative to the imprisonment of Father McMahon. The motion which was supported by Mr. Anglin, and opposed by the Premier, and the Hon. J. H. Cameron, was, after some discussion withdrawn.

OR, THE LILY OF THE STRATH.

CHAPTER XXV. THE MYSTERY EXPLAINED.

Presently the far-off stars in the pale blue sky were eclipsed by a flaring, lurid light hung over the well, and a torch attached to a rope was slowly lowered down to where he lay.

In less than a minute a rattling shower of earth told that some one was descending the shaft. Sir Fergus closed his eyes to keep them from being blinded by the falling particles, and when he opened them again he saw close above him a light, active figure suspended by a rope, and a sharp face surrounded by tangled masses of black hair, lighted up by the blazing torch.

No sooner had the youth made out the position in which the wounded man lay than he dropped lightly to the bottom of the well, and, unloosing the rope from his own body, fastened it securely round that of the helpless Baronet. He then called to those above that all was ready, and forthwith Sir Fergus felt himself drawn from the ground and up the shaft towards the surface.

Oh, how reviving to the sufferer was the fresh, free air of the glen and the sight of the cliffs and bushes. By this time it was after sunset, and the twilight was drawing on, but it was light enough to show the Baronet that his deliverers were a group of gipsies—set of people on whose aid he well knew he had no claim, for he had long been their open and avowed enemy. In his weakness and helplessness, however, he was altogether at their mercy, and made no resistance nor offered remonstrance when they took from him the tablets and the piece of cloth which till that moment he had firmly grasped.

They asked of him no questions; but, constructing a litter of branches, covered it with their upper garments, and placing him upon it, carried him slowly and carefully away. Long and wearisome was the journey they took over the hills, and it was midnight when they reached the tents of the tribe, pitched in a solitary little glen far from human habitation.

Sir Fergus had again sunk into semi-unconsciousness and listless apathy, and he resigned himself without a word to whatever might befall him. He was undressed and laid upon a couch of soft moss in one of the tents. His wounds were bathed with all gentleness and tenderness, and a potion was given him to drink, under the influence of which he soon sank into a quiet and profound sleep.

Many days passed, during which, as it seemed to him, he lingered uncertainly between life and death—feverish, racked with pain, and the bruises on his body stiff and swollen. But all the while he was tended with the utmost care by the women of the tribe, and at length the satisfactory thought grew in his mind that he was recovering—that his wounds were healing and his strength returning.

By this time weeks and weeks had elapsed since his escape from the well, and he was naturally curious to know what effects had been caused by his disappearance at Bagley. He concluded that no one had been informed of his whereabouts, also some of the servants would have strayed at the tent, and a conveyance would have been got to take him home. He eagerly questioned the gipsies—those olive angels who ministered so kindly to him—but from them he could get no information whatever, and he soon saw that he was being purposely kept in ignorance of everything. He was confined, therefore, to his own conjectures, and often wondered if his guilty conscience had taken possession of the estate, and was recognized as the Baronet of Bagley, and unsuspected of being the author of his own disappearance. In his present position, however, all his conjectures were obviously fruitless, and he strove to wait with patience till he was strong enough to return home.

Feeling himself now sufficiently recovered to leave his couch, he asked for his clothes, but the request was quietly but firmly refused. He was plainly told that the time had not come when he would be allowed to rise. He wanted to know why, but no reason was given. Here long the conviction was forced upon his mind that he was a prisoner. After many solicitations a suit of clothes was brought to him in which address but these were not his own garments. Some what carefully he arrayed himself in the clothes which were produced, and now hoped to have an opportunity of quitting the encampment. This hope speedily failed him, for he was pointedly told that he must on no account go out of sight of the tents, and if he made an effort to escape severe measures would be taken against him.

Weeks passed in this way, Sir Fergus sleeping every day to meet someone in the wilds to whom he could appeal. But the season was now so far advanced that the shepherds with their flocks had quitted the hills for the lowlands, and the little glen was out of the track of chance travellers. Winter drew on apace and the dark frosty days of December came upon the scene.

At last, early one morning, before it was daylight, the Baronet was awake by sounds in the encampment which indicated a removal. Every one seemed busy, and as the usual watch was not kept in the tent, he silently dressed himself, and stealthily crept from under the canvass into the open air. It was a dull, cold, cheerless morning. Snow had fallen and covered the ground with white. It was falling still quickly and hoarsely, for the wind had fallen and the air was still.

Sir Fergus, before rising to his feet, looked cautiously round, and finding that he was unobserved, he crept down the slope on his hands and knees, and having reached to a short distance from the encampment he shot away at a speed which nothing but the fear of capture could have caused him to attain.

If your nerves seem to snap, and to crack, jerk and jump, and play all sorts of pranks, from the top of your head to the tips of your toes, now shooting forth like lightning along one unfortunate nerve, now trying to tie another into a thousand knots, then attempting to make a bowstring of another, sometimes in the region of the heart, again in the face, head, neck, &c.; in short if you have neuralgia in its worst form, with all the agony distilled to its most excruciating degree, use Briggs' Allevator, and in a trice your neuralgia, with all its demons has departed, and once again you will know how to live without it. Price, $1 per bottle. Sold by E. Harvey & Co. Guelph.

NEW SILVER MOVEMENT.—The Hamilton Times says a petition is being circulated in that city, and is receiving the signature of business men generally, and the movement will probably receive the cooperation of other cities and towns through the Province, with the design of inducing the government to receive American silver for duties on imported goods, at a fair fixed rate of discount, and export it from the Dominion as rapidly as received. It is an imperative necessity that relief should be afforded in some manner with reference to the surplus silver in the country, as the retail trade are subjected to a steady and enormous loss at present. The discount on large silver is now up to 5 1/2 per cent., and much difficulty is experienced in effecting exchange, even at that rate.

DYSPEPSIA.
There is no disease which experience has so amply proved to be remediable by the
PERUVIAN SYRUP.
(A protected solution of the Protoxide of Iron), as Dyspepsia. The most inveterate forms of this disease have been completely cured by this medicine, as ample testimony of some of our first citizens proves.
From the venerable Archdeacon Scott, D. D., Dunham, C. E.: "I am an inveterate dyspeptic of more than 25 years standing. I have been so wonderfully benefited in the three short weeks during which I have used the Peruvian Syrup, that I can scarcely persuade myself of the reality. Persons who have known me are astonished at the change. I am widely known, and can not recommend to others that which has done so much for me."
Another clergyman writes as follows:—"My voyage to Europe has been indefinitely postponed. I have discovered the 'Fountain of Health' on this side of the Atlantic. Three bottles of Peruvian Syrup have rescued me from the clutches of the fiend Dyspepsia."
A pamphlet of 32 pages containing a history of this remarkable remedy, with a treatise on "Iron as a medicine," will be sent free to any address. The genuine has "Peruvian Syrup" blown in the glass.
