PREFACE

United Nations General Assembly Resolution 45/65 of 4 December 1990 adopted by consensus the Report of the Group of Qualified Governmental Experts on the Role of the United Nations in the Field of Verification. This resolution, inter alia, called upon member states to assist the Secretary General in implementing the recommendations contained in the Report of the Group of Experts. Among these recommendations was the development of a "consolidated data bank of published materials and data provided on a voluntary basis by member states on all aspects of verification and compliance".<sup>1</sup>

Canada has played a particularly active role in the United Nations' consideration of the issue of "verification in all its aspects", including the study conducted by the Group of Experts. At the Forty-Fifth Session of the General Assembly, Canada's Secretary of State for External Affairs Joe Clark confirmed Canada's intention to support the United Nations in establishing such a consolidated data bank through voluntary contributions of Canadian compilations and indexes of verification material. This undertaking follows from an on-going policy commitment by Canada to share with others, through the United Nations, the results of its verification research.

During the Forty-Sixth Session of the General Assembly, Canada contributed to the United Nations database a detailed Bibliography on Arms Control Verification: 1962-1991. That Bibliography covered more than 1500 entries during those years. Included were English language publications and submissions by governments and international organizations as well as the academic research community's literature on the subject.

The following report updates the Bibliography provided in 1991. It has been prepared as a further Canadian contribution to the development of a United Nations data bank on verification and to assist governmental experts, negotiators and researchers in their work on verification matters. The Update encompasses more than 800 new entries covering approximately the same time period as the 1991 Bibliography, with special emphasis on the literature between the summers of 1991 and 1992. Also included is French language material.

The Canadian Government wishes to acknowledge the work in the preparation of this Update performed under contract by Mr. René Unger, in collaboration with the Verification Research Unit of External Affairs and International Trade Canada.

ABSTRACT

This Update follows-on from an earlier compilation of verification literature entitled Bibliography on Arms Control Verification: 1962-1991<sup>1</sup>. Researchers are advised to consult both bibliographies for a more complete picture of the literature covered during this timeframe.

This Update lists alphabetically over 800 documents related to verification identified since the publication of the 1991 Bibliography, with special emphasis on material produced since the summer of 1991. It also covers French language material, particularly that published by External Affairs and International Trade Canada and the United Nations Institute for Disarmament Research. As before, these documents include the publications and submissions of governments and international organizations as well as the academic literature on the subject.

Each document has been assigned a number of subject keywords describing its contents. An updated thesaurus of these keywords is included in this report. Subject access to the documents contained in the Update is provided through an index of these keywords.

ERRATUM

Entry number 402 has been incorrectly inserted in the bibliography section under the name "Jeffrey". The entry should be under the name "Richelson".

INTRODUCTION

Purpose

This Update has been developed to facilitate research on arms control and disarmament verification issues. With this aim in mind, a subject index has been provided to help with searches on a wide variety of subjects. In addition, the work of specific personal and corporate authors can be identified rapidly.

Scope

This Update follows-on from the earlier publication entitled Bibliography on Arms Control Verification:1962-1991. It generally covers material identified since the summer of 1991. It also covers French language material, particularly that published by External Affairs and International Trade Canada and the United Nations Institute for Disarmament Research.

Researchers should note that some documents dated before the autumn of 1991 have also been included in this Update. Consequently, to ensure thorough coverage of the literature published before the autumn of 1991, both this Update and the 1991 Bibliography should be consulted.

As was true for the 1991 Bibliography, a variety of documents are covered in this Update. The focus, however, is on substantive discussions of matters related to verification -- documents that propose, discuss, explain, evaluate or otherwise comment in a detailed fashion upon verification processes, procedures or systems. More transitory materials, such as documents that summarize the current state of negotiations or report on specific events, have usually been omitted from the Update. In this regard, articles from newspapers, newsletters and similar publications with a "current affairs" focus, generally have not been included.

There are several topics covered by this Update -- confidence building, peacekeeping and compliance -- that are included because of their focus on matters related to arms control verification.

It was intended that a variety of sources be examined for this Update. These are listed below. Time and resource restraints, however, precluded complete coverage, particularly with regard to the 1992 session of the CD.

- The Conference on Disarmament (CD), 1984-1991; the Committee on Disarmament (CD), 1979-1983 (CD); the Conference of the Committee on Disarmament (CCD), 1969-1978; and the Eighteen Nation Disarmament Committee (ENDC), 1962-1969: The 1991 Bibliography sought to include relevant national submissions to these various forums, which address verification issues. In general, the minutes of CD meetings were not been covered, nor were submissions to ad hoc committees.

- United Nations publications: The United Nations has been active in the field of verification mainly in two ways: as a source of research and as a forum for deliberation. Coverage includes UN General Assembly and Security Council resolutions pertaining to verification and submissions on this subject from the Secretary General as well as the member states of the UN. Also covered are relevant UN Secretary General studies and research publications by the United Nations Institute for Disarmament Research (UNIDIR).
- Other international organizations: Several other organizations besides the CD and the UN have dealt with verification issues. Two such organizations are the International Atomic Energy Agency and the Western European Union. Budgetary and other similar annual documents, however, have not been included.
- National governments: Governmental publications have been covered in the Update. Canadian publications make up a large proportion of these documents, but there are also a number of American documents.
- Academic publications: The Update contains books, reports, articles and papers submitted at various conferences, and individual academic papers appearing in a variety of journals. Where the contents of conference publications are of particular interest, articles have been listed individually.
- International Treaties and Agreements: The texts of international treaties and agreements have not been covered by this Update.

Arrangement

The bibliography contained in this Update is arranged alphabetically in descending order of priority by:

- author,
- corporate author,
- article title, and
- book or document title.

All entries follow a standard bibliographic style.

The names of corporate authors are entered in descending hierarchical order. Below is an example:

United States. Congress. Library of Congress.
Congressional Research Service.

Under each entry is a list of subject keywords used to describe the contents of each article. These keywords are taken from a Thesaurus of controlled vocabulary, which can be found later in this report. For example:

513. Gormley, Dennis M. "How to Think About Verifying Limits on Nuclear-Armed SLCMs". ARMS CONTROL. Vol. 10, No. 3, December 1989.
SUBJECT KEYWORDS: SLCM; NW; START.

Access

This Update can be used in a variety of ways. The alphabetical listing contained in the bibliography can be used to retrieve documents published by a particular author, private organization, government, governmental agency, or international organization.

If information on a particular topic related to verification is desired, the Subject Index can be used. The keyword Thesaurus preceding the Subject Index explains the keywords used and their interrelationships. In the Index, the numbers ("postings") following each keyword refer to the appropriate entries in the bibliography.

The keyword structure to the subject indexing of the entries in this Update has been designed for computer searching using Boolean search strategies. Consequently, when printed in isolation, some keywords may have a large number of postings. A number of keywords have been added and refined as the database was updated: the user should keep this in mind when consulting this Update and the 1991 Bibliography.

When searching for the views of a particular country or countries on verification issues, in addition to checking under the country's name in the alphabetical listing, it may be useful to examine the Subject Index under the relevant subject entry. This will permit commentaries on national positions to be retrieved.

Thesaurus

Below are explanations of the terms used in the thesaurus.

SCOPE NOTE (SN): A Scope Note defines a term or describes its scope.

EG.            SLCM                    SN: Submarine Launched Cruise Missile
EG.            CONSULTATION            SN: Includes consultation and cooperation procedures, complaints procedures, crisis management and prevention procedures

BROADER TERM (BT): A Broader Term refers the reader to related keywords that are larger in scope.

EG.            SATELLITE            BT: R SENSORS

In this example, the keyword 'Satellite' describes just one method of remote sensing and so represents just one aspect of the concept of remote sensors (R SENSORS).

NARROWER TERM (NT): A Narrower Term refers the reader to related keywords that are more specific.

EG.            CONSULTATION            NT: SCC

In this example, the keyword 'SCC' represents one particular example of consultation -- in this case, the Standing Consultative Commission used under the ABM Treaty.

RELATED TERM (RT): A Related Term refers the reader to keywords related to the keyword under discussion but not in a more general or more specific sense.

EG.            CFE                    RT: CONVENTIONAL

The keyword 'CFE' (Conventional Forces in Europe Treaty) is related to the keyword 'conventional' in that conventional weapons are a central issue in the CFE Treaty.

USE (USE): The term USE directs the user to search for a topic within the Index using the indicated term.

EG.            Testing                    USE: R&D

USED FOR (UF): The term Used For is the reciprocal of USE.

EG.            R&D                    UF: Testing

The Thesaurus below lists the terms used as 'Keywords' in the accompanying subject list. Where necessary, each keyword is followed by an explanatory note. The reader should note that acronyms and abbreviations have been used extensively in the selection of these keywords. Keywords will also be followed by a note of any broader, narrower or related terms.

NOTE: A number of keywords have been added and refined as the database was updated; the user should keep this in mind when consulting this Update.

SUBJECT INDEX

SUBJECT INDEX

This subject index has been provided to help with searches on a wide variety of subjects. Abbreviations and acronyms have been used extensively in the selection of the keywords found below. Definitions of these keywords can be found by referring to the Thesaurus.

The numbers ("postings") which follow each keyword refer to the appropriate entries in the bibliography section of this Update. The keyword structure has been designed for computer searching using Boolean search strategies. Consequently, some keywords many have a large number of postings.

NOTE: A number of keywords have been added and refined as the database was updated; the user should keep this in mind when consulting this Update.
