AL RECORDS BEATEN BY C.N.E. LABOR DAY

Only Rain Prevents Reaching 200,000 Mark—189,500 Enjoy Exhibition Displays and Trades Union Sporting Events.

Labor Day attendance . . . 189,500 Same day last year . . . 174,500 Total to date . . . 791,500 Same date last year . . . 573,400

The Canadian National Exhibition closed another record yesterday when last year's Labor Day figures of 184,500 were passed. There were early indications that it was to be a great day, for when the Dufferin street gates were opened 5000 people were waiting to gain admission. With ideal weather, the crowd continued to come early, and at 2 o'clock over 100,000 were on the grounds. Going on this basis that last year 107,000 came in after 2 o'clock, it looked as if the 200,000 mark would be reached. A heavy downpour of rain, however, which lasted some time after 2.30, was a factor which militated against this calculation being reached. Two hours before the closing it was practically certain that last year's record had been exceeded.

Day's Summary. Five thousand people waiting at Dufferin entrance for the gates to open at 8 a.m. Over 100,000 people on the grounds at 2 p.m. Over 150,000 people on the grounds at 5 p.m. Over 18,000 passed thru the turnstiles into the war memorials painting gallery. Over 25,000 people visited the war trophies building. All seats for the night performance taken before 10 a.m. Largest crowd on record at the Dog Show. Midway saw the greatest attendance in its history. Nearly 40,000 people saw the two grand stand performances. A crowd of over 20,000 witnessed the Labor Day sports from the natural amphitheatre on the waterfront. All reserved seats were sold before 10.30 this morning. The crowd started lining up shortly after 3 o'clock, and it was still so large when the plan was closed that the end of the box office under the grand stand was smashed in the crush and required extensive repairs. General Manager John G. Kent is endeavoring to arrange, through the army, for the services of several anti-aircraftmen with overseas experience to demonstrate and explain the mechanism and uses of the big guns spread over the grounds.

LEADERS OF LABOR SPEAK THEIR MINDS

At two o'clock a great crowd had gathered around the band stand to hear the labor leaders. The speaker was not long after the meeting was in progress when the weather temporarily broke down and the heavy rainfall caused a shifty sooty section and starting to shift for shelter. Notwithstanding the elements, however, many remained under umbrellas or under the shade of the grand stand. The speaker, who was introduced by John Doggett, president of the Labor Day committee, who introduced John Flett, one of the best known representatives of the moderate section of the movement.

"This is a day," said Mr. Flett, "when we feel like telling people things they should know. Eighty-five years ago a nation was born. The state declared every effort by the worker at economic improvement. Leaders of movements," he said, "indeed been sent to Van Doman's Land."

The speaker then traced the progress of the movement to its present great place in the life of the nation. He said that the United States had been enabled to show what organization could accomplish. Continuing, the speaker said that the industrial system in which the employer knew his men as Jack, Jim and Jean had had its day. The worker at the factory was known today not by his name but by his number. "Labor believes in the eight-hour system," said Mr. Flett. "The federal premier when approached in the matter passed the buck on to our provincial premier, and the buck was passed on back by the provincial to the federal offices. The federal government can establish the eight-hour system upon its federal works. It will do so if it is honest. Yes, I say, if it is honest. Henry Ford no matter what our opinions of his personal idiosyncrasies, was able not only to put the eight-hour law into effect in his own plant but to compete successfully against competitors. Must Crush Autocrat. Touching upon the unrest in Canada, the speaker pointed out the need of democratizing all institutions. "We owe it to democracy," he said, "to see to it that autocracy within the Dominion was crushed."

Throne Speech Refers to Prince's Visit—Outlined Program is Brief.

Ottawa, Sept. 1.—Parliament opened in special session at 3 o'clock this afternoon. The speech from the throne, as delivered by the governor-general, was brief; it opened with reference to the warm welcome which the Prince of Wales is receiving at all points he has visited and emphasized that the ties between the motherland and the Dominion were never closer nor firmer than at present.

WILSON REFUSES SENATE'S REQUEST

To Supply Latest Drafts of Treaties Would Encroach on Presidential Powers.

Washington, Sept. 1.—The request of the foreign relations committee for the latest drafts of the proposed treaties with Germany's allies has been refused by President Wilson. In this, his first visit to our Dominion, the prince of Wales is to be met by the Canadian army, and with the ideals and aspirations of our people. The warm and sincere welcome which everywhere greeted him unite our country with the motherland and the other Dominions in a great community of feeling.

Your Home Needs Hot Water Heating

Old fashioned heating methods are expensive, unsanitary, and unsatisfactory. Stoves and hot air furnaces are being abandoned. Real Estate men find it hard to sell houses that have not hot water heating because people will no longer put up with the inconvenience and inefficiency of old methods. If your house does not have Hot Water Heating, it will pay you in Health, Comfort and in Money to take out the old and put in the newer and better kind.

LOOK HERE!

Did you ever think that any spark plug could stand up to its work continuously from 8 a.m. till 10 p.m. every day for two solid weeks without the least sign of a crack in the porcelain?

Come and See the "Tungsten" Spark Plug at the "Ex."

In the Tungsten we have the plug that every car owner has often wished for—a plug that will work right along from dawn till dawn without ever ceasing to deliver a big fat, sizzling hot spark that assures maximum motor efficiency. And the chief reason is the Cornish Clay from which the porcelains are made. This material is elastic—not brittle like porcelain made from ordinary American Clay. In making the Porcelains for Tungsten Spark Plugs, the Cornish Clay is heated to 2,600 degrees—1,600 degrees above the point at which ordinary American Clay will melt like wax.

BUT---See For Yourself

We are operating a special machine that shows six Tungsten Spark Plugs at work. They will run all day long from the time the Exhibition opens in the morning till it closes at night. Whatever else you miss at the Exhibition, be sure you see the demonstration of this super-spark plug.

ENNISCLARE FARMS WIN AT ROCHESTER

In Hunting and Jumping, Canadian Stables in Front at Big Show.

Special to The Toronto World. Rochester, N.Y., Sept. 1.—With nearly 1,300 entries, the largest in its history, the Rochester horse show enjoyed a splendid opening today, the best of the American and Canadian stables being fully represented. In the hunting and jumping classes the Canadian stables were awarded the large majority of the honors, Ennisclare Farms of Oakville won 12 of a possible 15 ribbons in four classes shown.

In the novice middleweight hunters, Ennisclare Farms won all of the four ribbons, Ridgely winning first, Indian Arrow second, Ondrean third, and Rempstone fourth, and in the novice heavyweight hunters, Ennisclare took first with Newburn, second with The Strand, and third with The Whip. Bates of Ottawa taking fourth ribbon.

In the novice lightweight hunters they won second with Hallow, third with Shot, and fourth with Matt H. There were 57 entries in the open jumping class, which provided a wonderful contest. The Woodin Farms of Chicago won, with Jack Hamilton riding, first and third, and Ennisclare won second and fourth with Ridgely and Loughborough, ridden by Hugh Wilson, who rode all of the Ennisclare horses.

WHOLESALE ARRESTS IN WEST HUNGARY

All Persons Suspected of Sympathy With Communists Are Being Persecuted.

Vienna, Sept. 1.—The Viennese newspaper continued today its reports of wholesale arrests and persecutions in western Hungary of all persons charged with or suspected of being in sympathy with the Communists. The same conditions are said to prevail in the trans-Danubian region, where pogroms are reported to be in progress.

Many specific instances of arrests and cruelties are recited, with the names of the places where they occurred and details. It is said that the allied military mission at Budapest has been apprised of the situation.

Paul Garami, former Hungarian minister of justice who has arrived in Vienna on his way to Switzerland, is reported to have confirmed these reports, particularly with respect to the pogroms.

The political situation in Hungary is unchanged. The Friedrich government has issued the election program, providing for universal suffrage, a literacy test for women, but not for men. The age limit for voters is 24 years, for both sexes. These elections are expected to be held about Sept. 20.

THREATEN TO CLOSE ALL PARIS THEATRES

Reply of Directors of Amusement Places to Demands of Actors' Union.

Paris, Sept. 1.—Directors of theatres, moving picture houses and music and concert halls have refused to deal with the Federation of Theatrical Employees' Union, the first demand of which was to forbid the engagement of a union or employe not a member of a union. A resolution was passed, however, expressing the directors' statement to the press, saying they would not discuss with any class of employes, and so meet artists and employes who do not belong to any organization.

After considering the demands recently presented by employes, which were chiefly for higher wages, the directors issued a statement to the press, saying they would not discuss with any class of employes, and so meet artists and employes who do not belong to any organization.

BIGGEST LABOR DAY AT THE EXHIBITION

and pioneers of this great movement," said the speaker, amid applause. "And yet at the time these agitators and pioneers do their spadework in bringing about these great changes they are generally ostracized, ridiculed, or despised by those whose material and economic interests would be affected by the changes recommended. Do not forget that minorities are the greatest powers on earth. The men who stand alone for principle have iron in their blood, granite in their backbone, and an overmastering confidence in truth."

Not Represented
"What is the record of the parliamentary representation in the Dominion of Canada today so far as labor is concerned," Mr. Simpson proceeded to ask. "If you look over the figures of the number of men who are filling our legislatures and our parliament you will find how inadequately the voice of labor is heard in the lawmaking institutions in Canada," he replied. "All told there are 84 members in our federal parliament and nine legislatures of the Dominion. Of the 84, 222 are lawyers, 133 being public opinion makers, 228 belong to the merchants and captains of industry, 161 are farmers and 5 are the representatives of labor. On the basis of men engaged in various occupations, Mr. Simpson pointed out that labor had less than one per cent. representation. Problems were not only industrial but political and he urged men and women not only to join a labor organization but also to have a direct voice in the laws under which they were governed."

Tom Moore Says
Tom Moore remarked: "Today we are asking for certain things. Tomorrow these things will be in our grasp. There must be a continual progress in order that a higher civilization can be established. There are always those in every movement—and there are those today in the labor movement—who become impatient at the progress that is being made. There are none of us possibly who are satisfied with all that is being done. There may be more of us satisfied that the world is moving quick enough to the objective that we have in view, but we must realize it cannot move quicker than the mind of the great mass of the people are willing to move. Therefore the duty of the labor movement today—as it has been its duty in the past—is to create the ideas, to spread them by education, by propaganda, by public speaking or by example if necessary in order that they may become the voice of the community as a whole and thru them become the laws of our country and put into operation for the good of all humanity. The compensation laws, the factory laws, the protection we have for women and children in our factories, incomplete as that is, were given to us by our employers, but these were the result of thought in the minds of the workers themselves."

Condition Improving
"Labor today is on a better plane than what it has been thruout history. There may be some who disagree with that, because we have the problems of the high cost of living, on account of which any wage increase we have got in the past year or two has been discounted as we got it. We know the profiteer has been taking to himself that which was the right of labor to possess. But that is a passing phase in the movement for labor must eventually prevail because it is founded on justice and right. The ideas of labor today are not the ideas of a mere few cents per hour, but they are as to how they can co-operatively control and manage the industries of today and the future."

Coming to discuss who is to pay the debts of the great war, Mr. Moore declared the workers had done their share both in life and in death, and was now up to the profiteers to pay so far as money was concerned. Labor today was willing to produce, because labor knew it could not share in the profits except that which it itself produced, therefore there was no worker willing enough to limit production. The world of the future would be delivered by the fullest extent.

Mrs. W. E. Singer, a well known member of the Independent Labor Party, spoke a few words following Mr. Moore. She is also a member of the Women's Auxiliary of the International Association of Machinists, and advised the women of the movement to do everything to further the cause of real labor. Opportunity called at the gate, she said, and it was up to the women to answer the call. This was the question of the moment among the women of Canada. The responsibility of the women in Canada were worthy of the sex, and the speaker looked forward to the day when the influence of the mothers and wives of the nation would rise to its proper stature. The same applied to the labor movement itself. Organization was the keynote of the situation. She hoped the workers would send men and women to the legislature to look after their interests.

TOM MOORE SPEAKS AT DIRECTORS' LUNCH

Labor was well represented at yesterday's luncheon at the Exhibition, tendered to the leaders of the movement by the directorate of the C.N.E. Stirring addresses were delivered by Tom Moore, president of the Trades and Labor Congress of Canada; John Flett, a well-known labor organizer, and by other well-known men. Among well-known faces were those of John Munro, president of Toronto Trades and Labor Council; Arthur O'Leary, former president of W. J. Hevey, former secretary; C. A. B. Brown, of the board of education; James Simpson, Col. Noel Marshall, Mayor Chubb, and many of the controllers and aldermen of the city, including the secretary of the Street Railwaymen's Union, and their business manager, W. D. Robbins, and Joe Gibbons.

"Our Guests."
In giving the toast, "Our Guests," President T. A. Russell said he rejoiced that this year's Exhibition was the greatest exhibition of the products of labor that had ever been known. It was an exhibition, he said, of the co-operation of capital, labor and agriculture, a co-operation which made the 1919 Labor Day the greatest ever observed.

This was the day, said the president, when the public at large was giving increased thought to the labor problems of the day, and not only were they viewing these problems with interest, but their sympathies were going with their interest to the workers. Although there were many ideas and theories advanced to solve these problems, yet the solution to them was not such a chaos as might be imagined. On the contrary, said Mr. Russell, all these theories and ideas, instead of causing confusion, would eventually get the solution so much nearer, as it showed that intelligent thought was being expended on the troubles. The president concluded by making a plea for those holding the different theories and ideas to admit the honesty of purpose of the other, and in this way the solution would be made so much easier.

No Short-Cuts.
President John Munro of the Toronto District Trades and Labor Council, made but a short speech when called on, and thanked the directors of the Exhibition for their generosity and for the expressed sentiments of the president towards labor.

"We cannot curb the impatience of those who want us to jump the chasm. There can be no progress except by orderly development. There can be no short-cuts in the development of our civilization; it must be by a process of evolution. We hope the progress will be quick. Some are impatient to see the wheel spin round rapidly, but not until it spins off the handle and destroys itself and everything around it. Thus, Mr. Moore, significantly expressed the feeling that labor should progress in unison with the general public opinion and not in advance of it, during the course of a stirring address.

Constructive Methods.
"Years ago the directors of the C. N. E. stirred every energy to bring a million people thru the Exhibition gates during the season," said Mr. Moore. "Today they look not for a million, but for a million and a quarter. This is a sign of the times. It is the same with the labor movement. I do not look for an immediate solution of the vast problems at hand. These embody a force ever in progress. What we may look upon as our ideal today, may prove but an obsolete far-off in the scheme of progress tomorrow, and may prove but the forerunner of still higher and far different ideals. However, when we deal with the question of unrest, we should endeavor to find a constructive, and not a destructive, method."

However, I do not believe we have as much to fear as some would have us believe. We hope to never return to the conditions of 1914. It would be well for us to realize that the struggle of labor for years past has been, not one midway of dollars and cents, but one rather of principles, such as actuated the allies during the war.

Continuing, Mr. Moore pointed out that labor today should be considered from the standpoint of a something which in its results should be anxiety by all concerned. For the first time, labor had become a problem for statesmen to consider. There was every need of co-operation between employers and the workers. Transportation, that harnessing of the forces of locomotion, the problem of Japan and other foreign countries, as well as many other factors in the nation's problems, indicated the need of great questions of the moment in the world. No greater instance of the co-operation between labor and all other interests in the world could be given than the coming conferences at Ottawa, and at Wellington between the governments, respectively, of Canada, the United Kingdom and the employers with representatives of the American Federation of Labor.

Concluding, Mr. Moore pointed to the greatest pride in representing one of the greatest labor organizations of the world, the American Federation of Labor. Practically all the labor organizations in Canada, he said, were affiliated. It was the most democratic institution in the world. No one section had undue prominence over another. Its progress was not by rapid, but by sure, steady growth.

Continuing, Mr. Flett cited the national labor and other movements as having passed away, while the A. F. of L. lived on.

"It might be interesting to note that neither President Gompers nor the executive of the A. F. of L. had any power to call a strike," said the speaker, "yet Mr. Gompers had been personally as the walking delegate. I believe today labor and capital are more united than at any previous era. And, let me say to you manufacturers if you are here, you make a great mistake in refusing to recognize workers as your equals. Such an attitude, if it can be well said, breeds Bolshevism."

Mr. Flett now brought figures to show the strength and influence of his organization. The A. F. of L., he said, has 113 national and international unions, it has 45 state federations, 800 city central bodies, five departments, 450 local department councils, and 27,900 local unions, with a total membership of 3,500,000.

Exhibition Notes

ROAD-BUILDING MACHINERY PROMINENTLY DISPLAYED
Sawyer-Massey Company Have Wonderful Exhibit.
This time a year ago the Sawyer-Massey Company announced that they would display at this year's Exhibition the largest and most interesting exhibit of road-making and threshing machinery ever shown by any individual company in America, and now it is very apparent to a visitor who looks over the exhibit in the machinery section at the north of the grand stand that they have lived up to their promise. By going in for the manufacture of road-making machinery the Sawyer-Massey Company have shown their enterprise and progressiveness, so that already they are in the forefront of the new industry. The manufacture of road-making machinery is closely associated with the wonderful development of the good roads movement in Ontario, yet in spite of the great number of municipalities which have taken up highway improvement under the direction of the provincial government there hardly one of these municipalities which is not using the machinery turned out by the Sawyer-Massey Company. That firmly established the early popularity of the product of this company, but in addition to that there are repeat orders being received almost every day, which is clear enough proof that those municipalities or contractors who have used this road-making machinery are firmly convinced that it is the best on the market. In connection with Ontario's good road movement it is highly pleasing to note that our improved highways are being constructed with machinery made in Canada, for the road-making output of this company is produced in their modern plant at Hamilton. The fact that the Canadian goods with Canadian workmen is doubtless one of the things which induce so many buyers to try out the Canadian product, but it is the merit of the product itself which is holding the purchaser. The manufacturer who produces a machine also places the company in a better position to serve the Canadian public than are their competitors who are forced to import machinery from the other side of the line.

The second feature of the Sawyer-Massey exhibit is the threshing outfit, which are attracting a great deal of attention. This display includes a full line of threshing machinery, and it has its appeal to the farmer as well as to the man who plans to run a threshing outfit as a business. There are types of threshing equipments planned to meet the demands of the farmer or syndicate who wish to thresh by steam power, or by the kerosene tractor, making, on the whole, one of the most interesting power displays on the grounds. The company announce that they will have a similar exhibit at the Central Canada Exhibit at Ottawa.

RET-SOL TEA.

Under the grand stand you can get a real cup of tea brewed from the best Ceylon buds, and sold by the Ret-Sol Tea Company, situated on the fact that the company and attendants are largely returned boys.

NEWCOMBE PIANOS EXCEL.

Newcombe is a name that spells authority for what best in the line of musical instruments. The Newcombe piano being an everyday word in many a household. At the Exhibition the stall of the firm, which is situated in the manufacturer's building, is the objective of hosts of visitors, who are attracted by the reputation of the instruments, which are distinguished by the fine qualities of the instruments shown. Many new styles are on view, a specialty of each being the Howard Termon Rods which are known to preserve the permanence and purity of tone, which are enduring assets to any instrument. The players' benches are equipped with many Newcombe features as represented by levers and controlling appliances and cased in rich mahogany and decorated with other fine and splendid vogue among the musical portion of Exhibition visitors.

AN UNBEATABLE EXHIBIT

The first thing that strikes one forcibly on entering the centre door of the industrial section is the exhibit of the Boeckh Company, Limited.

In an artistically designed and well-arranged booth, Boeckh has displayed everything that is new and good in brush and broom manufacture as shown and demonstrated. On viewing the exhibit, the visitor is struck by the range of toilet brushes displayed for inspection. A special line of Pen-Dura Hair Brushes calls for much comment and approbation. The name Pen-Dura stands for penetrating and durable, and with the usual Boeckh thoroughness, these qualities, along with other recognized good ones, have been built into the brushes that now bear their name.

As usual, Boeckh Rubber-Set Shaving, Rubber-Set Paint and Varnish Brushes come in for their share of public approval, while Clean Sweep Brooms, and the floor brooms with the reversible Sew-Lock Handles, are popular as ever, and in even greater demand.

Visitors at the Boeckh Booth are always assured of a warm welcome by a staff of courteous attendants.

HYGIENIC FOOTWEAR.

Crowded out of the Exhibition this year, but our unique comfort-giving footwear parlor and our many years of special training in scientific shoe fitting, together with the advantage of being fitted with the most comfortable shoe in the world, are at your service.

Whether or not out-of-town visitors require shoes just now, they should visit our store, learn our "safety first" methods and have your foot size taken

ABOLISHES HOUSECLEANING.

There will be no more mad orgies of housecleaning with an Apex vacuum cleaner in the home. Many families commented yesterday, "The superior qualities of the Apex—the last word in vacuum cleaners." It is demonstrated by McDonald and Wilson upon the grand stand, where the beauty and tone and musical effects, the beauty of the cases of the various classes is a leading asset in the mind of the excited buyer.

The Cecilian Concertophone, which has the faculty of accepting any record and is equipped with a sound moderator also came in for no small attention.

FINE FURS DISPLAYED.

The Canadian girl is always resplendent in beautiful fur garments. Furriers, who have a most attractive display of rich furs in the most fashionable designs on view at their exhibit in the manufacturer's building. It is a reflection of their regular display at their showrooms.

MAPLE PRODUCTS.

Direct from the sap, with all its flavor intact, Old Time Maple Syrup is a delicious treat. The last word in brand maple butter is another delicacy that should be in every home. The maple products are manufactured by Maples Limited, who have an exhibit in manufacturer's building.

W. C. T. U.

Yesterday was a busy day for the volunteer workers of the W.C.T.U. but they were organized to give the best of service to the public.

The W. C. T. U. always provide a real meal; good food and the surroundings are clean and congenial. The proceeds go to build the William Hall. When you are ready to dine look for the W.C.T.U. under the government building.

BIRD'S DINING HALL.

Thousands were provided with a full course meal yesterday in Bird's Dining Hall, opposite the grand stand, where a full course meal is obtainable for a few cents. The restaurant is back after three years' absence while the Bird boys and staff were serving overseas, and they are being patronized to capacity.

A BISCUIT FOR CANADIANS.

The Christie Biscuits have become a household word in Canada. When the war came to an end, and the restrictions upon the use of foodstuffs were removed, Christie, Brown & Co. Limited, were able to resume their old standards, and immediately people flock to use these delightful biscuits. So great was the demand that the firm was forced to cancel all export orders, so that none of their Canadian friends would be disappointed. Christie, Brown & Co. Limited, have their booth in the accustomed spot in the manufacturer's building, and are receiving a general praise on account of its attractive appearance.

RENFREW MACHINERY EXHIBITS.

Attention should be drawn to the famous "Happy Farmer" tractor now on exhibit at the Renfrew Machinery Company's exhibit at the Exhibition grounds. Special attention is called to the model of the tractor which is cut into sections, showing all its workings open to public view in order that the visitor to the exhibit may acquaint himself with every detail in its manufacture.

Not only is the "Happy Farmer" tractor itself on exhibit, but four other well-known machines make up what is aptly termed the "Renfrew Big 5." These are the Renfrew Cream Separator, with its special lubricating system and its changes of capacity; the Household Sewing Machine, with a capacity of half an ounce to 30 pounds; the Renfrew Kerosene Engine with its shaft intake manifold which gets the vaporized kerosene into the chamber with speed and at the exactly desired temperature, and last but not least the Renfrew Truck Scale, which will weigh anything from one to 3,000 pounds, and which will lift up and carry its own load.

"ARE WE DOWNHEARTED?"

The men themselves are in earnest each is facing the future with a smile—"Cherish!"

The countenances of the throngs who are daily watching our "boys from YOUNGER (unable to resume their former means of livelihood, but taking advantage of the benefits of the department of soldiers' civil re-establishment's retraining scheme) are a study.

No levity apparent in this ever-changing kaleidoscope of faces—only a serious, comprehending thankfulness, that the disabled boys are taking advantage of the country's provision for trade-training to tend for themselves.

A trade gained for each and every wounded man is another national asset.

Nothing finer than the backsteering to the exhibit can be imagined—an appealing historical series illustrating the present reconstruction, and how the neglected disabled of past wars were not re-established. South-west wing of process building.

CECILIAN PLAYER AND CONCERT-PHONE.

One of the most attractive spots of the Exhibition yesterday was the northeast corner of the manufacturer's building where the Cecilian piano player and concertophone were on display to listen to the rich melody of this popular instrument. In addition to the beautiful qualities in regard to tone and musical effects, the beauty of the cases of the various classes is a leading asset in the mind of the excited buyer.

The Cecilian Concertophone, which has the faculty of accepting any record and is equipped with a sound moderator also came in for no small attention.

"HEALTH FOR ALL—ALL FOR HEALTH"

Slogan of the Exhibit on Health and Child Welfare.

The north wing of the government building houses this year a health exhibit of varied interest, one which shows concern for the welfare of the adult and the child, which pays attention to the problems of the rural as well as the urban community. In its setting of spotless white, the exhibit of the provincial board of health depicts Ontario as an object lesson in cleanliness, and every attendant at the Fair, whether young or old, will thoroughly enjoy a visit into the temple of health.

"Chin-Chin," the children's friend, tells boys and girls from 6 to 16 years some important facts about their health and their diet; he then weighs them and gives them a souvenir which is a record of the number of pounds and ounces registered on the scales.

The babies and young children have come in for a special share of attention. In the centre space of the exhibit, marked off by white columns, the babies, with a fat and smiling cherub, the baby reigns supreme. Every afternoon, thru the splendid co-operation of the department of public health of the city of Toronto, child health conferences are held, two medical practitioners and one dentist being in attendance from three to five p.m., depicting Canada in a similar to the child welfare clinics conducted by the department through the city, and all mothers who attend the Exhibition are invited.

A special demonstration is given by a nurse at 2 p.m., showing the simplest and best method of bathing, dressing and preparing food for the baby. A booth is given over to "foods for children," wherein are displayed the meals suitable for children of various ages as well as nutrition lunches for school children. The clothes which children wear are also shown and include an infant's layette, outfits for the toddlers and older boys and girls.

Tuberculosis is one of man's most formidable enemies, but can be overcome by these: The doctor, sunshine, fresh air, good food and rest. A tent illustrates how one may "take the cure" in his own back yard in comfort, in fine weather or when the thermometer registers many degrees of frost.

School hygiene is emphasized and many points in connection with our schools, both urban and rural, are shown to be capable of betterment.

Sanitation for the rural home is illustrated by a small model of a septic tank operating with a siphon. A small scale unit of the type of drifting sand filter used by the city of Toronto in the purification of its water supply is in operation.

Social hygiene is today a matter of great importance in our national life, and many gratifying comments have been passed in regard to this section of the health exhibit. A very fine set of posters supplies interesting and instructive information upon venereal disease. Arrangements have just been completed whereby the board has been granted a license to manufacture the recognized treatment for syphilis.

In a sample case are displayed the various serums and vaccine supplied free of charge to the public of the province by the provincial board of

C.N.E. COAST TO COAST FILMS ENCHANT WESTERN VISITORS

Canada Scenically and Industrially Illustrated by Hon. Sir George Foster's Enterprise Shows Illimitable Resources.

(Thousands of Canadians in western Canada demonstrated their patriotism and appreciation of their country by attending the lectures on "Canada From Coast to Coast," illustrated with moving pictures of Canada, scenically and industrially, as shown in the exhibitions in Regina, Calgary, Edmonton, etc. Here they learned that their Canada was a land of scenic beauty and illimitable resources.

The educational campaign, initiated by the minister of trade and commerce, Ottawa, the Hon. Sir George Foster, is proving to be a great factor in the present reconstruction period in making the citizens better acquainted with the natural products, resources and magic beauty of their own land.

Loud in Praise.
The director of publicity for the trade and commerce department, Ottawa, Mr. D. W. Johnson, is carrying on this work, and his lectures may be heard and the trade and commerce department's collection of Canadian motion pictures, seen at the Fair Grounds in the large tent next to the industrial building. Western Canada was loud in her praise of these films, depicting Canada as a source of glory agriculturally and industrially. The Lieutenant-Governor of Alberta, the Hon. Dr. R. G. Brett, gave the work his support, and attended the illustrated lectures at the Calgary Exhibition. He was much impressed by the wonderful collection of moving pictures.

"There is no camera that can do what the moving picture camera. It must feature Canada as she is, and Canadians as they see their Canada unfold on the screen before them, have brought home to them strongly the wonderful heritage which they possess in this land of illimitable resources and magic beauty. Millions of eyes are seeing these Canadian government films every day."

Those attending the Toronto Exhibition should not miss them. The boys and girls (the future men and women of Canada), as well as the adults, should visit the large tent next to the industrial building. They are of special interest, and make an appealing every citizen. This exhibit is of double interest to the people of Ontario, in that the Ontario Motion Picture Bureau is co-operating with the Federal Bureau, and has on display also a wonderful series of Ontario feature pictures.

The Legacy of War

Canada's Dead and Missing	63,038
Canada's Wounded	149,709
Canada's National Debt	$1,670,263,691
Soldiers' Annual Pensions	$35,000,000

THE world to-day is staggering with debt. Some of the leading countries are verging on bankruptcy. The British pound shrunk from $4.86 to as low as $4.12 in New York and the Canadian dollar to 95 cents.

Five years ago Canada had never dreamed of the financial burden she carries to-day.

Canada entered the Great war with a national debt of $337,000,000 or $42 per head of population. Canada emerges with a national debt to date of $1,670,263,691, which is expected to approximate $2,000,000,000 by the end of the fiscal year—or about $250 for every man, woman and child in the country.

Interest charges alone will eat up nearly one-half our present national revenue and soldiers' pensions will have to be provided as well.

Can Ontario Afford $36,000,000 a Year on Drink?

TO Canada's effort Ontario contributed one-third of the men and nearly one-half the money. And she will bear a chief share of Canada's burden of annual charges. If efficiency was necessary to win the war, it is necessary to reconstruct for peace.

"I say without hesitation," declared Premier Hearst, "that I do not know of one act or measure in this province that increased the efficiency of our people, conserved our national strength, aided thrift and generally contributed to our fighting power to a greater extent than the Ontario Temperance Act."

Previous to the Ontario Temperance Act the drink bill of the province approximated $36,000,000 per year, an amount about equal to Ontario's share of the annual interest on our national debt. In the face of our financial responsibilities alone is this the time to repeal the Ontario Temperance Act or relax a single one of its restrictions upon waste of money and man power? To every question on the Referendum Ballot vote—

"No!"—Four Times—"No!"

No Repeal; No Government Beer Shops; No Intoxicating Beers in Standard Hotel Bars; No Government Beer and Whiskey Shops

THE Referendum will put four questions squarely up to every man and woman in the province qualified to vote. Be sure you answer every question. Be sure you mark your ballot with an X after each question under the column headed "NO" or your vote will be lost to Temperance.

SEPTEMBER IN ALGONQUIN PARK

September is one of the most delightful months of the year in the Highlands of Ontario, and Algonquin Park offers attractions that are not found in other districts. It is situated at an altitude of 2000 feet above the level of the sea, assuring visitors of pure, bracing air that rejuvenates body and mind. A few days here is better than ounces of tonics and saves doctor bills. The territory is also easy of access via the Grand Trunk, 200 miles north of Toronto, and 170 miles west of Ottawa.

CONTESTING SINGERS SHOW MUCH MERIT

R. B. Bennett, 1994 East Queen street, and the Misses Daisy Bird of Fort William and Catherine Robinson, 570 Indian road, were the winners, respectively, of the men's and women's series at the singing contest yesterday at the horticultural building, where easily three hundred people gathered to hear the dozen contestants partake in a display of exceptional ability. Such at least was the opinion ventured by Maestro Carboni, who with Boris Hambourg chose the winners.

Those who participated, aside from the winners themselves, were the Misses Marjorie Vincent, 309 Lake street, Hazel Aitken, 518 Durie street; A. Lois Fredenburg, 1 Sanford avenue; Grace Johns, 125 Moore avenue; Al. L. Pennal, 226 Humber side drive; N. A. Armstrong, 158 Fern avenue; A. E. MORE GOOD ROADS FOR THE PROVINCE

Information Given at the Exhibition Regarding Public Highways.

KEEN INTEREST TAKEN Ontario Has Increased the Amount Spent for This Purpose.

In accordance with the practice of several years standing, the Department of Public Highways has an office in a section to the north of the grand stand, from which all information as to good road building possessed by the department is dispensed to all who care to seek it. Scores of men and women interested in public affairs in general and the betterment of highways in particular avail themselves of this privilege every day. Two of the departmental engineers are in charge of the office and give expert advice on all questions relative to road building and maintenance, and the methods by which the province stands ready to assist all communities in bettering their thoroughfares. To give a practical side to this information, several sections of model roadways have been constructed, each section showing the results to be obtained through the use of some particular type of construction and material.

The keen interest which the subject of roads now holds throughout Ontario is evidenced by the large number of members of county and township and town and village councils who call at the office for advice and consultation with the engineers. The enactment at the last session of the legislature of an amendment increasing the provincial grant toward the cost of road maintenance from 20 to 40 per cent, is proving of great assistance to these municipalities in keeping their highways in good shape after they have been constructed.

All counties of the province are now acting under the highways improvement act, and for this year have mapped out extensive road programs. However, owing to the scarcity and uncertainty of labor, the work has been held back considerably. The shortage of labor is entirely contrary to expectations, but none the less it has been coped with generally, and the result has been the municipalities are being forced to the use of mechanical devices in road construction.

The unfortunate part about the situation is that all counties are ready to spend large sums in improvements, but are being held back by labor conditions. The aggregate appropriations made for roads by the counties of Ontario this year are over $4,500,000, and average an increase of from 50 to 100 per cent over the previous year's allowance.

The announcement has been made that contracts have been let for 40 miles of new provincial highway. The sections contracted for are those between London and Ingersoll, between Brantford and Ancaster and at Brockville. They will be of a bituminous penetration road construction with a top surface three inches thick, of stone and bitumen.

The arrangement by which the government assists to the extent of 50 per cent of the cost of construction and maintenance of highways known as "provincial county roads," although remaining under the control of the county administration, has worked out with excellent results. All counties have taken advantage of this help, and approximately 2000 miles of this class of thoroughfare have been designated up to date in the province, while still more are being constructed to that standard this year. Some are cement concrete, some of tar and asphalt penetration, and other of waterbound macadam, 18 feet wide.

The suburban area plan by which cities co-operate with the counties in which they are situated in the construction and maintenance of main highways for the benefit of the suburban area now paying seven to twelve miles on all sides of the urban municipality, has met with general success. The adoption of this system was made still more favorable for the municipalities by a last session amendment increasing the grant on such roads, the county and city in each suburban road area now paying 20 per cent of the cost of construction each, and the province 60 per cent. Thirteen cities have entered into this scheme.

TUESDAY MORNING, SEPT. 2.

President Wilson's Conference on Capital and Labor.

Conventions may not be in favor among a certain class of politicians, but they are growing in favor with statesmen. In fact there is no other way in which large and important bodies of public opinion can be harmonized, or brought into the practical relationship which is necessary for progressive action.

Of course, the question occurs whether progressive action is welcome, and we must judge it is not in such quarters as take pains to bar the steps that would bring it about.

There is a decided "get together" tendency at work in all sorts of directions, and those who ignore it politically, socially, nationally or in any other way are pretty certain to meet the usual fate of obstructionists.

It is quite characteristic of the times that President Wilson should call a conference of representatives of labor and capital. Reasonable men can always work out a solution of their problems. The only important conference that has failed in recent years to arrive at a solution has been judged to have failed through unreasonableness. In a meeting of representative American labor men and capitalists there is certain to be enough sound common sense to insure a satisfactory settlement. Nothing more important, nor more essential to the welfare of the race can be imagined at the present time than a thorough understanding between capital and labor, and such an adjustment of their mutual interests, and the creation of some kind of automatic sliding scale establishing a definite relation between wages and the cost of living, as would end all future conflict, and bring about an era of constant and steady production.

The demand of the human race for all manner of commodities is practically unlimited. All that is necessary to make it so is a properly regulated distribution of labor over the fields of production, and an adequate system of transportation for the distribution of the products. National and racial and sectional feeling may interfere with the full realization of such co-operation, but the more fully it is accomplished, the less difficulty will arise out of the various local problems that arise among the nations.

A commercial internationalism of this kind is quite compatible with strict national limitations and restrictions, and it may be the function of the league of nations to work out the principles on which the better regulation of world-labor and world-capital in co-operation may be founded. Such interplay of capital and labor is already a world problem, but local politics has tended to obscure its significance. President Wilson's conference may reveal new phases of the whole situation with bearings far beyond considerations solely of the United States.

Go to the Exhibition.

Another wonderful attendance thronged the Exhibition grounds and buildings yesterday, and the weather was almost perfect. The slight shower in the early afternoon did no more than freshen up the air and the grass. Apart from the attractions of the Prince of Wales, Gen. Currie and other special visitors, the Exhibition is the most remarkable of the splendid grounds have ever held. If there were nothing else than the war relics, this alone is a unique feature, and never again will it be possible to see this extraordinary collection of souvenirs of the great war, fresh from the battlefields, out of the hands and often of the persons of the enemy.

The war pictures are another revelation which no one who values his country should neglect seeing. They make realizable something of the magnitude and the peril of the struggle in which we were so long engaged.

And all the arts of peace present their old attractions. The photographic exhibit from the United States is one of the most beautiful collections ever brought together. The Canadian artists have an excellent showing, including examples of F. M. Bell Smith, John Russell, Robert Gagen, G. A. Reid, Mrs. McGilivray Knowles and others at their very best. Must of the best is abundant.

The soldiers' vocational training exhibit is one of poignant interest, and there are many other things that appeal to those who had to stay at home and watch the war from this side of the ocean, as well as to those who went overseas.

The vast manufacturing, transportation machinery and implement exhibits are on a bigger scale than ever. Farm produce, live stock, horticultural and ornamental sections display an amazing wealth of variety and high quality. Here is all Canada in miniature, and yet in superlatives. It is an education to see and know what our country can do.

THE DAY AT OTTAWA

By TOM KING

Ottawa, Sept. 1.—To the inspiring strains of "O Canada," the cornerstone of the tower of the new parliament building at noon today descended into place and we know on the authority of H. R. H. the Prince of Wales, that it was well and truly laid. The sun was shining brightly and a great crowd was assembled on Parliament Hill. Upon the platform were the heir to the throne, his excellency the governor-general, the Duchess of Devonshire, the prime minister and members of his cabinet, and many high dignitaries in the ecclesiastical, financial and political life of Canada. Hon. Mackenzie King, who he has no seat in the house, managed to find a place on the platform. Hon. Robert Rogers, who was minister of public works when the new building was projected and took an active part in superintending the work of construction, was also on hand, smiling and debonair, but credited by many with some other mission to Ottawa.

The prince's voice carries well, he could be heard more distinctly by people at a distance than could Sir Robert Borden. Sir Henry Drayton, who spoke last, made a poor third in this respect. As minister of finance, however, he showed true business instinct in seizing upon the occasion to advertise the Victory Loan of 1919. He read a brief address to the prince, thanking his royal highness for giving his standard to be used as the Victory Loan honor flag.

Sir Robert Borden's speech was appropriate to the occasion. He naturally recalled the fact that the cornerstone of the former building had been laid by the prince's grandfather, the Prince of Wales, in 1860. He traced the history of Canada from confederation and paid tribute to the statesman who believed in her high destiny and made it possible by wise legislation. Then he asked the Prince of Wales to lay the cornerstone for the new and grander parliament house within whose walls the statesmen of the future would labor to make the Dominion even greater than she is today.

The prince delivered a carefully prepared speech and delivered it well. He spoke with interest and was frequently interrupted with applause. There were some, however, who thought that the speech which must have been submitted to and approved by both the imperial and Dominion governments, skirted once or twice on the edge of controversy. The Liberals, for example, have been contending all along that Canada's consent was not given to the ratification of the peace treaty and have ridiculed the contention put forward by the prime minister and the president of the conference that our part in the treaty making at Versailles advanced Canada to the rank of a nation. The prince in his speech, however, spoke of the coming session of parliament as having been called for the discussion and ratification of the treaty, and more than intimated that the submission of the treaty for ratification by the Dominion parliament would be an historic landmark in the evolution of the empire.

At 2 o'clock in the afternoon parliament assembled for the despatch of business. Ordinarily the opening of the session is a grand event in Ottawa, but the prince's visit and the ceremonies on Parliament Hill rather shunted today's opening to a side track. However, some members of the house were in their places and Mr. Speaker in the chair when the gentleman usher of the Black Rod summoned the commons to the senate chamber to hear the speech from the throne.

The speech itself was what the fate of Sir John A. Macdonald used to call a skimpy chicken. No legislation was foreshadowed except the ratification of the peace treaty and legislation made necessary by its adoption. Some pleasing incidents occurred while the members of the house were waiting for their summons to the senate chamber. Ham Burham was loudly cheered by the opposition when he took his seat on the cross benches and Hon. Jacques Bureau shook hands with him heartily. Sir George Foster, who was not in his place during the last session, was cheered by both sides when he entered the chamber. Some of the opposition members called for a speech in French but Sir George at the time only bowed and smiled his acknowledgment. A few moments later, however, when he moved that his excellency's speech be taken into consideration tomorrow, he spoke in French to the great delight of the deputies from Quebec. Emanuel Danjou of Rimouski, who has been married since the last session, was also cheered when he entered the chamber.

The real business of the day, however, was the discussion by Unionist members in groups of two and three of the political situation. The members were in close touch with Hon. Robert Rogers and tonight there is in progress an informal conference among the hard boiled Tories who are opposed to the formation of a Unionist party and who want to bring about a reorganization on Conservative lines of the Union government. They are looking forward to the formation of a national committee representing the old line Conservatives of every province to assemble in Toronto before the close of the session and possibly to call a national convention.

The Liberals seemed in good spirits today and are confident of finding a seat for Hon. Mackenzie King. They have not abandoned all hopes of an Ontario constituency but assembles in any event they can elect their new leader at the coming by-election in the prince county. P. E. L. a seat made vacant some months ago by the death of Capt. Joseph Read.

JUST ABOUT "THINGS."

BY IDA L. WEBSTER.

After 31 years' service on the police force, and after obtaining more than one merit mark, Constable Noble John Craig has retired. His is one of the remarkable records where men have done their duty to the last letter, and yet promotion is kept from within their reach. It looks like it has been a most marvelous police force in its day.

And, by the way, thinking of the police force just reminds us that we have never been told or in any way heard a rumour as to whether Deputy Chief Dickson and Assistant Deputy Chief Geddes ever received an advance in salary with their promotion. Long after the announcement of their official "boost" had been made public, we were given to understand that the advance was merely one of story. Knowing something of the manner in which the police commission works, we rather feel that the same thing goes for now. If our surmise is correct, is it not time that the money was forthcoming?

Answering a message from a woman whose small child came near to receiving a severe bite from one of the dogs in the show at the Exhibition, we can only say that, after watching the manner in which mothers allow their children to shove their hands at the animals, we are greatly surprised that some one of them did not lose an arm. It must be remembered that the dogs are under a severe strain, and when people go up to them and paw them around, they very naturally resent it, and one of these bright days something is going to happen. It is reasonable to expect that those who like dogs well enough to go into the show like them well enough not to annoy them.

To our correspondent who signed "American on a Visit," we might say that we did not receive your letter until the prince had left the city, and, therefore, could not ask the citizens more cheers when he passed, as you suggested we should do. Like you, we think that the folks in Toronto are not very demonstrative, but perhaps they feel even more deeply than those who are. You see, it is terribly hard to expect more of people than it is their nature to give, and, after all, the prince knows that some hearts in this country are too full to cheer, while others are not just born that way. Personally, we thought that everyone did mighty well in that respect, but, then, we are not an authority, by any means. Write again some time.

Still the asylum at Orilla continues to do business, and still we continue to see W. D. McPherson if there are any sane children incarcerated there?

A letter from a "bank clerk" asks our help to get them more pay. We ask why not form a union? It is being done in the best-regulated businesses, and, as for people engaged in that particular capacity being willing to work longer hours, we can only say that if all bank accounts resembled ours they would not have to work at all.

S.O.E. AND TRAFALGAR DAY.

At a meeting of the Sons of England Benefit Society held last evening at headquarters, 18 Richmond street east, fine arrangements were made in connection with suitably commemorating the anniversary of the battle of Trafalgar. In Toronto, this event will take the form of a monster concert in Massey Hall, on Tuesday evening, October 21. The following artists have been engaged: Frank Oldfield, baritone; Albert Downing, tenor; Lillian G. Wilson, concert soprano; Jessie Alexander, entertainer; Joe Williams, comic vocalist; Arthur Lee, flautist; Mrs. F. E. Webb, A.L.C.M., and Charles Musgrave, pianists, together with the Royal Grenadiers Band. The proceeds accruing from the concert will be devoted to the war relief fund of the society. The following officers will look after the detail work: E. J. Otter, D. D. S. P. chairman; H. W. Watson, D. D. S. P., secretary; W. G. Jones, D. D. S. P., treasurer; together with John Scott, P. E., acting as stage manager.

LIFE AFTER DEATH

Articles By Conan Doyle Appearing in Toronto Sunday-World Attract Much Attention.

The series of articles which began in the issue of The Sunday World of August 21, and in which Sir Arthur Conan Doyle describes his discoveries in his investigation into the problem of life after death and communication with departed spirits, has awakened a wide public interest. Sir Arthur has found out so much in this line of investigation that to him the regions of the dead are no longer an unknown country. In the next issue of The Sunday World Sir Arthur gives the conditions of existence left this life. He devotes his vast literary ability, charm of expression and knowledge of science to the elucidation of the facts which he claims that he has substantiated by means of research among clairvoyants and mediums.

Why EDDY'S Matches are Better

THERE are two big reasons why Eddy's Matches are better than others. The first is wood, and the second is machinery. Matches require soft, smooth-fibred pine. Other wood does not make a perfect product. The House of Eddy can use only perfect blocks for matches because the rest of the wood can be used for paper or indurated fibraware.

The perfect match is the machine-made match. Absolute uniformity can be obtained in no other way. But match-making machinery is expensive to install and to operate. It requires a tremendous output to make its use profitable. No small manufacturer can afford to use it. 70,000,000 matches a day enable the House of Eddy to maintain automatic machines which would be impossible with a small output.

Think of this when you buy matches. Eddy's matches represent no waste—no use of poor material—no variations from standard. In these days when the tax on matches more than doubles their cost to you, it is worth while to consider the subject a little more closely.

When you buy matches see that Eddy's name is on the box. It is your best guarantee of satisfaction.

MCGREGOR THE GREAT WINS THE CHANTICLEER

Defeating Field of Seven Horses in Feature Race, Opening Day at Hartford.

Hartford, Conn., Sept. 1.—McGregor the Great, Walter Cox's great trotter, defeated a field of seven horses in the feature event, the Chanticleer, for $10,000 in the opening card of the Grand Circuit racing at Charter Oak Park to-day.

The best time was 2:07 1/2. Echo Direct, pilot, took second place in each heat. The 2:09 trot furnished the most thrilling finish of the day, when in the first heat Labe Riddell, Tara's Hall and Gentry C. tore down the stretch neck and neck, less than a head separating the three trotters at the finishing post.

The Chanticleer, for $10,000 trotters, purse $1,000. Match race, for trotters, purse $1,500. Labe Riddell, b. s., by San Francisco (Cox) 1 1 1 Mabel Trunk, b. m., (Horton) 2 2 2

New Chintzes Have Arrived
And Will Be Specially Displayed Today
Case after case has been unpacked, revealing a wonderful collection of beautiful chintzes that for rich colorings and choice designs have never been equalled in the history of the department. Especially fine are the imported English cretonnes, which are a perfect riot of color, portrayed in striking verdure, floral and bird patterns. In the collection are some wonderfully effective "nursery" chintzes, and also a fine assortment of heavier weights, patterned to closely imitate tapestry.
