NEW PREMIER OF GREECE MAN OF 80

Rhallis Has Succeeded in Forming Cabinet

Constantine for King in Declaration of Victorious Party—Plebiscite, Then Call Him Home.

Athens, Nov. 17.—George Rhallis, former premier, has succeeded in forming a cabinet to succeed the Venizelos government, defeated in Sunday's elections, and the new ministry is to be sworn in today.

Mr. Rhallis previously had informed Admiral Couroudouros, the regent, that he would accept the task of forming a cabinet, but only after the resignation of the old government had been definitely announced.

Athens, Nov. 17.—There are rumors that it is possible the Greek army which is supposed to be loyal to former Premier Venizelos may create the republic of Smyrna, in Asia Minor.

Athens, Nov. 17.—Constantine is our rightful king, said former Premier Gounaris, leader of the successful party in the Greek elections, "and we expect him back as soon as a plebiscite is held showing that the people want him.

London, Nov. 17.—(Canadian Press)—Hon. E. G. Theodore, premier of Queensland, Australia, announces that the American loan offer was form 9 1/2 to 10 per cent and that negotiations with England had little better results it was determined to raise money for development locally, by compulsion, if necessary.

Premier Theodore recently visited London for the purpose of raising a loan there, but owing to the action of the Queensland government in passing an act, which violated the contracts under which the crown pastoral leases were held, he found it impossible to secure the co-operation of any of the London financial houses.

London, Nov. 17.—The general purposes committee of the stock exchange has repeated its temporary regulation imposed at the beginning of the war prohibiting arbitrage dealings. It also has revoked the regulation which required a declaration that a transaction was not being made on behalf of alien enemies.

Fire, which broke out in the Fairville engine house at an early hour this morning, destroying the entire fire fighting equipment of the Lancaster parish, threatened for a time to wipe out much of the community and was got under control only after the engine house, the Orange Hall, on the opposite side of the street, and three dwellings were destroyed and three others badly damaged.

Through the efforts of Councillor John O'Brien, a new house recently erected in McKel street by the county housing board have been turned over to the families whose homes were destroyed, to give them shelter until they can make arrangements to rebuild the burned dwellings.

The fire broke out in Church Avenue, Fairville about 4 o'clock. It was one of the worst conflagrations that has visited this section in years. That no lives were lost was the one consolation to those who were driven out of their homes into the storm, and as it was some had a very close call.

Miss Gillis, who was living next door to the engine house, was awakened by a fire alarm. She quickly opened the door and saw flames breaking through the partition right over her head. By this time others in the vicinity had been alarmed by the fire and rushed down Main street calling fire. He also rang the fire alarm bell and in a short time a number of firemen assembled.

They were however, helpless to do anything to fight the flames as their equipment was in the burning building, and when they broke open the door great volumes of smoke and flame drove them back. A telephone call was sent to Chief Blake of the city and another to district chief Clark of Carleton asking for assistance and, within an hour a salvage corps motor and a hose cart arrived on the scene.

When the fire was first seen the wind was blowing from the north and it looked as if the whole of Fairville would be destroyed. Owing to the firemen being so badly handicapped by the loss of their apparatus they were unable to cope with the situation and as a result the flames quickly spread catching houses on either side of the engine house. Soon afterwards the wind shifted and the flames bridged the street, catching the Orange Hall, in which was the Gaiety Motion Picture Theatre.

When the apparatus arrived from the city and Carleton the engine house, Gaiety Theatre and three dwellings were a mass of flames and every effort was then made to prevent the blaze from spreading. Before it was finally under control another house was badly damaged and two slightly damaged.

The heaviest loss was that of the engine house, in which were kept a steam boiler and a telephone call was sent to Chief Blake of the city and another to district chief Clark of Carleton asking for assistance and, within an hour a salvage corps motor and a hose cart arrived on the scene.

THE NEW RAILWAY BRIDGE

The above cut shows the present approach to the new railway bridge at the falls, and shows also that by extending the pusher grade 750 feet the bridge done, Douglas Avenue could be unmaking the grade any steeper than at present—only a little longer. If this we could be raised twelve feet, without derailing the railway with only a two per cent grade. The scheme is entirely feasible.

OPPORTUNITY SCHOOLS.

The State of New York in 1919 adopted a law which provides that boys and girls who leave school at fourteen years of age, or between that and eighteen years, and go to work must spend four hours each week, or 144 hours each year, in a continuation school, and must do it between 9 a.m. and 5 p.m., until they have attained the age of eighteen years.

LAW ENFORCEMENT.

A deputy police magistrate in Ontario recently, referring to a clause in the Ontario Temperance Act, said: "My very soul would boil at having to enforce that provision of the Act. I shall not do so any more than is necessary. It is against British justice."

Ontario should lose no time in relieving this gentleman of his magisterial duties. He practically invites everybody to disregard the law of the country.

One of the most glaring faults of the present time is disregard for law. Perhaps there are too many laws, but that is in the hands of the people themselves, and when a law is on the statute books, expressing the will of the people, the individual who violates it is a criminal in the eyes of the law.

Children are a great factor in industrial and commercial fields, many firms depending to a large extent on child labor. Thousands thus go into unskilled and blind alley occupations, and drift from job to job for years simply because they have no disinterested person to advise them what is the best course to pursue.

From the employers' standpoint the school is an important factor, despite the fact that it causes them to relinquish young workers for four hours a week without a future because it offers 20 cents more per week than the school is again forced to take up the burden which others are unable to assume.

The question of the height of the new railway bridge is to be considered by the Railway Commission, which will hear the city council, which will also hear the shipping men? Why not also the city council? It is in the interest of the city? This matter should be settled right. The people have to the council to have it settled in their interest and no other.

LIFE IN NEW FRANCE

Life in New France in the pioneer days was not an entire blank. True there was a vast contrast between the habits of the peasant who was trying to make a home for himself in the new country where wild animals and Indians abounded and that of the ruling class seated on the land by the King of France.

The settler had big taxes to pay and very little with which to pay the charges at any time but the rulers lived in comparative luxury and with considerable means. Bigot the intendant of 1755, had charge of the country about 1755, was one of the most difficult of the settlers had to deal with.

Once he made a ceremonial trip to what is now Montreal taking with him a fine retinue of officers. The entire cost was charged against the settlers; they made many complaints but in the end they paid the bill. He had ways and means of making it very uncomfortable for the tardy payers.

After he returned to his residence in Quebec, his career became even more uncertain. His gambling grew more extensive and continued so until 1763, a sum he knew well how to regain. Besides his official residence on the banks of the St. Charles river he had another home at the foot of the Charlevoix Mountains—the ruins later known as Chateau Bigot—and there many a riotous night was passed by his official guests.

Stay the wheels, ye men of commerce, Shed a tear for heroes' sakes, Send a greeting to the living, On this bright Armistice Morn.

The scores of hymns set to music by Mr. Jones are well-known to members of all denominations.

He has written several books and pamphlets, including "In Fane and Forest," "Camp-fire Choruses," and "Know All These Things."

One of his unique achievements was the writing of an index to the Bible. The story of how he came to do this is rather old.

So, during a voyage from Europe, a little later, Mr. Jones and a friend compiled an index and submitted it to a London publisher.

For many years he was organist in a city church and one of his choicest possessions is a folding miniature organ, which always accompanies him on camping trips.

Mr. Jones has the happy faculty of stowing verses and sayings of famous men away in his head, and when reciting them at opportune moments.

He is tremendously proud of the Aura Lee Young Men's Club of which he has been President since 1883.

At three choruses, at a signal, started off. Mr. Statten pulled off his coat and exhorted his gang to sing louder than the other choruses. Mr. Statten took off his collar and vest. Mr. Statten took off his collar and vest. Mr. Statten took off his collar and vest.

CABLEING to the other end of the world is, of course, an expensive business, a fact which lends point and plausibility to a story related recently by Baron Hayashi, Japan's new Ambassador to Britain.

It seems that a young Japanese couple resident in London had a son born to them, and the proud father, said Baron Hayashi, cabled the news of his happiness to his brother in Tokio in these words:

"A handsome boy has come to my house and claims to be your nephew. We are doing our best to give him a proper welcome."

Captain Eric Leighton

A LONDONER who arrived in New York the other day on the S.S. Celtic, with the oddest hat on record. The hat, which Captain Leighton calls "standing," won the prize of $500 offered by the London Daily Mail for the most original creation in men's headgear.

Forty thousand designs were submitted, and the "standing" carried off first honors. It is of drab shell with a peculiar taper crown, full at the sides, and with a wide brim.

Capt. Leighton is a nephew of the late Lord Pauncefote, who was once Ambassador to Washington. In 1918, decisions were given in over 9,000 cases.

When Colonel Margeson became Pension Commissioner he was determined that as far as lay in his power every one who came to interview him on questions of pensions should receive every consideration it was possible to give.

He is seldom that one enters the office of Colonel Margeson without finding him at work cleaning up a bunch of files. To his legally trained mind there is never a dull moment.

Indicative of the magnitude of the tasks which face the Pension Board is the fact that the sum of $29,000,000 was paid out in pensions by the board between Sept. 30, 1918, and Sept. 30, 1919.

During 1920 the board contemplated spending about $25,000,000 in the fiscal year. On Sept. 30, 1919, the board had paid in Canada and all over the world, except United States and Great Britain, a total of 3,265 pensions were paid in the United States and 7,774 in Great Britain.

In 1919, the total number of dependents was 16,872; disabilities, 56,998; wives of disabled, 22,151; forming a grand total of 148,189 pensions.

Typewriters Make Good Drug Store Side Line. In every city there are persons who really have use for a typewriter.

At least the Ross Pharmacy felt that there were such persons in Prescott, Ariz., so the line was added to the store when it was seen that the machine filled a place and was not already represented in the city.

That was a year and one-half ago. Now the machines are being sold as fast as they can be gotten. In June a dozen were sold in fact, orders are taken in advance of their arrival.

School teachers, ministers, small business men like paper-hangers and even a man working on the section of the Santa Fe hotel, which is posted about the store, and the display in the windows, inquires that tend to sales are secured—and a 50 item in a drug store is worth going after.

In most cases the sale is made and a deposit taken against the ordering of the stock.

LOWER PRICES SHOULD HELP THE MONEY OUTLOOK

But Slow Crop Movement is Unsettling Factor

Changes of the Week Reported from Montreal—Heads of Steel Companies on the Outlook.

(Financial Post.) The further decline in the price of wheat, while a real evidence that the cost of living is coming to lower levels, is having the effect of emphasizing the financial strain and the apprehension ahead is indicated by the action of the security markets.

However, the readjustment is being generally faced in the spirit that it is the inevitable and that soon as it is passed and a more stable basis reached there will be ushered in a period of prosperity and development in which Canada's agricultural potentialities will be particularly good.

Intelligently administered by the government, make her an important world factor. In some industries, which for a time have suffered depression there is already a better feeling and reports from New York indicate that in the markets there, where conditions are usually ahead of the rest of the country, there are beginning to be discernible some signs of movement of commodities.

The general feeling, however, is that until the period of restlessness and uncertainty is past, industrial profits will be small, while in many cases the decline in commodity values may mean actual losses, particularly on completed products. In the latter connection the retailer and wholesaler, like the manufacturer, will have to face a readjustment also, and it would seem that those who are not willing to adjust prices and keep buyers interested will be likely to suffer when the bottom is reached if they are still heavily stocked.

However, it is not to be forgotten that price trends often go below as well as above their proper level and from the bottom of the present movement—whenever that is reached—there is more than likely to be a reaction. This is particularly so because production is being checked and it is the psychology of trade that the public does not like buying if there is a chance of prices going lower, but will come in quickly when there is any tendency to higher levels.

If this is the development and accumulated needs have to be filled the recovery after the bottom is reached may be rapid. Outlook for Money. The general manager of one of the leading Canadian banks points out that the reduction of commodity values and contraction of stocks should reduce needs for commercial credits and that after the movement of the crop this should bring about a more healthy financial condition.

This same opinion is expressed by Ely Stone & Co., New York, whose weekly letter says: "Pretty soon now, there should be some improvement in the banking position; liquid, unless there is, it would be an ominous sign, for if it is not soon better, it will be worse."

Even the most obtuse now realize that we are in a period of business readjustment, involving some hardships. The speed with which we shall pass through this will depend on the readiness to face facts and act accordingly.

Whatever else the American business man may hope for, generally, he should be prepared for a period of business readjustment. When we see evidence of all being willing to make proportionate sacrifices, we shall be happy to take a constructive attitude, for it is then that business will seem to be at its worst and its recovery will be rapid.

Apparently, however, all are not yet quite ready to take this medicine, so that this point has, in our opinion, not yet been quite reached, though we are rapidly approaching it.

Industrial Outlook. The articles in this special industrial number of The Financial Post carry a tone of confidence if not of optimism, particularly as regards the deferred outlook. The following letters from two important manufacturing concerns may be regarded as typical, particularly as they have to do with a great basic industry.

W. T. Sampson, vice-president and general manager of the Ontario Steel Products Company, Limited, says: "The present lull in some lines of trade is not surprising, and has been generally expected for some time past. The readjustment which business is now undergoing is proceeding in an orderly manner. Constantly advancing prices were perpetuating the 'vicious circle' and inviting disaster, and I certainly cannot but think that the present lull in business will ultimately bring most beneficial results. It is, of course, unpleasant for the moment, and in some cases involves special hardship, but at the same time it is a perfectly normal and healthy development following past war boom."

Owing to difficulty in obtaining raw materials, inventories are not generally excessive, and as losses in this connection have probably been pretty well anticipated and provided for. T. J. Dillon, president, Canada Foundries and Forgings, Limited, says: "All indications industrially, clearly point to readjustment with strong tendency towards greater conservation not only on the part of capital, but also the demands of labor."

These processes, if continued along the same and gradual lines, will conduce to a more healthy condition generally and restore confidence throughout the country.

THEN THEY PREVARICATE. SOME men are truthful at all times—except when their wives ask for money. An Old Offender Caught. MAGGIE PEPPER PRESENTED TO TWO FULL HOUSES

Many Pleased With Performances by Amateurs in Imperial Yesterday Afternoon and Evening.

Maggie Pepper, one of Charles Klein's excellent comedy dramas, was presented to two full houses in the Imperial Theatre yesterday under the auspices of the Irish Literary and Benevolent Society, with a cast of local amateurs. The show was staged under the direction of John R. McCloskey, who added still another success to his already lengthy string of plays well received and greatly enjoyed by the audiences at both performances. The stage settings were particularly attractive. The costumes and furniture as well as the furniture were loaned by local firms. The Imperial orchestra was heard in excellent selection before the performance and between the acts.

Miss Blanch A. O'Brien, in the title role, handled a difficult and big part with ease and made a dramatic and particularly good in a dramatic act at the end of the second act. The leading male character, that of Joe Higgins, the owner of a large New York store, in which Miss Pepper was employed, received an excellent interpretation from Joseph C. Calnan.

Claskey portrayed the part of the principal comedy character, Jake Rothchilds, in a manner which delighted the audience, and D. J. Higgins, as Mr. Marlow, also injected some bright humor into the piece. Miss Loyola M. Duffy as Miss Murphy, one of the Hobnobk employees, had a very amusing part, and the scene was perfectly at home and she was employed greatly to the success of the performance.

Leslie H. Rogers, as the jealous manufacturer, John Hargan, and J. W. E. Gale as Jim Darkin, the villain of the piece, shared the honors of the heavy part of the cast and although criticized by a part of the entire audience from their first appearance, gave true-to-life representations of the characters. Miss George, as Mrs. Darkin, was also good. Miss Margaret McCarthy gave a nice portrayal of the part of Miss Hargan, the disappointed fiancée.

Other minor parts which went towards making the show a complete success were taken by Miss Helena McCullough, Miss Helena T. Breen, Miss Blanche C. Sharkey, Miss C. Murray, Miss Sadie J. Morris, W. J. Quigg, F. E. O'Donnell and Alban L. Breen. Taken as a whole, the show is a bright snappy comedy, although the author showed rather poor taste in the character of the leading man by introducing him in a semi-intoxicated condition. There is not much point in this action and it cannot attract the character actor which is cleverly built up to this situation. But the cast gave a true reading of the author's plot and is to be congratulated on the success of the piece.

HOW MANY WOMEN DO YOU KNOW? Who can say they are perfectly well? "I am tired all the time," "I am nervous it seems as though I should fly," "I can hardly drag around today," all such expressions are characteristic of women who have weakened strength until headaches, backache, nervousness, dragging down pains, irritability and the blues, symptoms of female weakness, have developed. Women who are in this condition may rely upon Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound to restore them to health and strength.

SIMPLER DRESS FOR WOMEN IS ADVISED. President of Business Women's Federation Gives a Hint to Working Girls. (New York Times.) Mrs. Lena Lake Forrest of Boston president of the National Federation of Professional and Business Women, starting an agitation for simpler clothes for women. Mrs. Forrest, who is one of the pioneers among women insurance agents, arrived at the Hotel McAlpi, yesterday and expressed herself forcibly on the attire of the young business women of the present day.

"You never see a young business woman going to work in a Tuxedo coat, dancing pumps, combined with colored tights and rousers, but you see girls going to work in a general mixture of ball room finery and tailored things," said Mrs. Forrest. "Of course there is an argument in behalf of the girls, for it is not altogether the result of any lack of sense of fitness. Confronted with the necessity of buying clothes out of a limited income, the business girl buys the former and tries to make them do for both occasions. But, no matter how good the material, they won't do more than the mixed clothing will do for the young man. I feel that the Federation of Professional and Business Women should concern itself with a nation movement in behalf of simple and suitable dress reform for business women."

The trouble has been that the movement dress reform is mentioned for women the world jumps to the conclusion that it means mannish clothes or a uniform. I do not believe in either, but what I do herald is the coming of a new day when business women will prefer simple clothes to perishable finery and choose to wear the former on all occasions.

"The habit of the tea-and-cake lunch on the present quiet conditions, has followed women into the business world. This is disastrous. I hope to have it federation add to its agitation in favor of the better and better clothes out of the propaganda in favor of three squares a day." The hasty snack, the pastry meed undermines a woman's health and ability. Common-sense preservation health must be achieved by business women before they can hold the place the world of men so recently achieved.

Routine business was transferred a meeting of the Carpenter's and Joiners Union, Local 1544, held in Oddfellows hall last night.

try, which will naturally react favorably on the present quiet conditions. Therefore, it would appear with a combination of more conservative financial ideas, sane labor views and good drops, Canada should have a good year in 1921 with reasonable prosperity.

ROOT MAY BE STORM CENTRE FOR HARDING

Cable Message to Hays Revives League Issue

Controversy Begins on State Secretaryship—The Pro-League Clamor for Root, While "Irreconcilables" Advocate Knox or Hill.

(Special dispatch to The New York Evening Post.)

Washington, Nov. 16.—Elliott Root, unless he voluntarily and quickly removes himself as a possible member of the Harding cabinet, is expected by Republican party leaders to become the storm centre of the first big League of Nations issue in the Harding administration.

The publication by David Lawrence of the cable dispatch sent by Mr. Root to Will H. Hays, chairman of the Republican National Committee, last August, which was laid before Senator Harding at Marion, in which Mr. Root went on record against "scrapping" the present League of Nations in its entirety and expressed the belief that the League was not "dead," has brought out into the open a controversy which has raged within the Republican household through the entire campaign. As a result, it appears today that all Republicans who are pro-League in their sympathies will soon line up behind Mr. Root for Secretary of State in the Harding cabinet, while the anti-League will fall in behind Senator P. C. Knox of Pennsylvania and David Jayne Hill of New York.

Clamor for Root's Appointment. Already a clamor for the appointment of Mr. Root as secretary of state is beginning to appear among pro-League Republicans, including many who supported Mr. Harding and others who supported Mr. Cox. It is expected that the League leaning which took opposite sides on the presidency for the senator are likewise suggesting Mr. Root.

On the contrary, all of the Republican "irreconcilables" senators and some others who are willing to "go along with" Senator Harding on an Americanized Association of Nations are letting it be known privately that they would regard the appointment of Mr. Root to the cabinet as a mistake, that the question ought to be fought out within the party in the senate with a view to solidifying the Republican strength in that body behind the administration's policy and that a neutral, perhaps, had better head the cabinet rather than precipitate an open break in the party ranks at the outset.

In other words, another compromise is already in the minds of many senators. The argument now being sought for ward against the selection of Mr. Root, Senator Knox and Mr. Hill is based on the theory that, in the absence of a decision by that wide council which President-elect Harding has committed himself to consult in determining his policy toward the Peace Treaty and the League, the selection of a committed advocate or opponent of the principle of a League of Nations to head the cabinet would be certain to start a party row. Senators now hold that only one decision was reached by the election and that was to "scrap" the Wilson League, without definitely determining anything else.

The clamor for Mr. Root as secretary of state, however, has precipitated the controversy within the party, and again Senator Harding avoided an open break in September by consulting representatives of all sides on the Root cable message. He quickly discovered the elements for trouble which it contained and avoided a break by standing squarely for the rejection of the Wilson League and for "Americanism" in broad terms, leaving the details of further decision in the future.

The controversy over the selection of a secretary of state may be expected to increase rather than diminish. Senator Harding or some of the persons now mentioned for the post take steps to end it. It is believed likely here that the president-elect will postpone his decision as long as possible; that he will consult leaders of all factions in the party on the subject, and that his final answer will take into consideration the necessity of securing two-thirds of the senate to back the policy the Harding administration finally elects to pursue.

If the controversy becomes too bitter to permit the selection of Mr. Root, Mr. Hill or Senator Knox or Lodge, the name of ex-Senator George Sutherland of Utah, who has sat with Senator Harding in Marion all summer, is suggested as a compromise. Already Mr. Sutherland is generally accepted as a probable cabinet member in the post of attorney general. He was, however, a member of the Foreign Relations Committee of the senate for many years and also on the Committee on Cuban Relations.

It is believed likely here that the

STRONG ADVICE AGAINST STRIKE

U. M. W. Officials Suggest Careful Consideration—Defend Action in Montreal.

(Canadian Press Despatch.)

Truro, N. S., Nov. 16.—"We are sailing through dangerous seas and careful navigation is necessary," said President Robert Baxter, opening the first session of the United Mine Workers' conference called for the purpose of making a recommendation on the recent agreement at Montreal between representatives of the United Mine Workers and certain Nova Scotia operators here this afternoon. "We are in a position that needs calm and cool deliberation. My advice is that we should be as cool as we can."

Secretary MacLachlan, the last member of the wage scale committee to report, vigorously defended the actions of himself and President Baxter in going to Montreal and making the much discussed agreement with the operators. "It was the best we could get," he said. "We ask the right to tell you why we brought this agreement to the men and why it is better than striking."

In conclusion the secretary made an inspiring appeal to the conference, putting the case to them in the words: "In the face of the industrial conditions on this continent, in the face of the fact that the international union is fighting for its very existence, in the face of the fact that this organization is straining its resources, would we be doing the right and fair thing to take support from men who have been fighting for months for our benefit?"

The meeting adjourned at five o'clock this evening until ten o'clock tomorrow morning.

USE The Want Ad War

A MORAL COURT.

To the Editor of the Times.—Sir,—Few social problems are causing the Christian thinkers more concern than that of crime and punishment. There is a growing conviction that punishment must be redemptive rather than repressive. This was the view advocated by Victor Hugo, in his books long ago. We must be more concerned to reform the criminal than to punish the crime. I have been interested to read in an United States paper of a Moral Court held in Pittsburgh, presided over by a judge whose creed is that "most bad men were bad boys, and most bad boys are so because of environment rather than heredity." Believing that, he sets out to cure bad boys rather than punish them. Day by day boys in the earlier stages of rascality and crime file through this court, have the "why" of their offenses sought out, and an endeavor made to find for them some way of permanent redemption. It does not differ widely from the British Juvenile Court, except that it has no power to sentence boys to imprisonment. Instead of handing the boy over to the probation officer he is turned over to the church. The Protestant churches use the Y. M. C. A. as a means of communication with the court. The Roman Catholic and the Jews each have an organization of "Big Brothers" to look after their boys. Each congregation has a list of men willing to undertake this work of helping a boy, and an honest endeavor is made to find the right man for each particular boy. He is held to strict account, and has to report regularly. He must keep in touch with the boy, and see that he carries out the programme of work, schooling and conduct laid down as the way to better things. If he fails he is promptly replaced.

"Of the five thousand boys and young men we dealt with during the first year only an insignificant proportion failed to make good; and virtually all the failures slipped either because they were mentally deficient or because their home surroundings neutralized all we were able to do for them. Almost as fundamental as the effect on boys is the reaction on the men who have come into the work in making better boys they are making themselves better citizens."

It is a policy of mingled justice and common sense worthy the consideration of every magistrate, as well as every citizen. How many men in St. John could be induced to see such a plan through?

Yours,
QUERIST.

NOVA SCOTIA TAKES UP MOTHER'S ALLOWANCE

(Halifax Chronicle.)
Some time ago the provincial government appointed a commission to inquire into and concerning and to report on the following matters:—
"Schemes providing mothers pensions or allowances and what scheme, if any, would be practicable in this province."
This commission, consisting of John McKean, chairman; Alex. McKay, secretary; Ernest H. Blois and Miss Jane B. Wisdom, has been holding a number of meetings and gathered statistics and information bearing on this matter.
The public may not be aware that the provinces of Alberta, Saskatchewan and Manitoba have adopted a scheme providing certain mothers of young children with means sufficient to keep the family together. Also the province of Ontario has recently adopted a very comprehensive measure for that province. It is held by many that the mother who is worthy and competent should be helped, through poverty, to give up her children either to institutions or to place them in foster homes. It will be observed that in all such schemes great stress is laid upon these two factors, namely: that the mother shall be a person worthy and competent to care for the children.
The commission is endeavoring to find out the possible number of such

LONDON MAN FORCED TO LIVE ON MILK AND BREAD

Bailey Eats Pork and Anything Else Since Taking Tanlac - Gains Twenty Pounds in Few Weeks.

"When a man's stomach gets in such a bad fix he has to live on bread and milk as long as I did, and then gets a medicine that fixes him up in a few weeks' time so he can eat pork and just anything else he wants, I think it is time for him to talk for the benefit of others. Well, Tanlac has not only done that for me, but it has built me up twenty pounds in weight, and made me feel better than I have in many years."

The above statement was made recently by Mark Bailey, a well-known carpenter living at 180 Albert St., London, Ontario.

"For eight years," Mr. Bailey continued, "I gradually went down hill on account of stomach trouble. After eating, gas formed and puffed me up, and for hours I had such severe pains I could scarcely stand it. I had an attack of influenza last winter and that left me in a worse fix than ever, and I fell off about twenty pounds. I got where I could scarcely eat anything, and was finally told after an examination that I had an ulcerated stomach."

"I got to worrying a great deal over my condition, and finally decided to see if Tanlac would help me like it did so many who had praised it to me, and the medicine seemed to go right to the spot, and I saw it was just what I had been needing. My stomach feels just like a new one now, and, to make a long story short, Tanlac has made me an working every day without the least bit of trouble. Tanlac is beyond doubt the best medicine made."

Tanlac is sold in St. John by the Ross Drug Company and F. W. Munro; in G. W. McKay, Beaver Harbor; William J. Colwell, Evans; C. V. Parsons, High-land; John F. Meagher, Debec; O. D. Hanson, Lepreau; E. L. Conley, Leonardville; N. H. Johnson, Clarendon Station; and by the leading druggists in every town.

able and to get ready for them the psychological depression which always comes with a price slump, and which always intensifies the slackening of business could be greatly mitigated. The only sure way to prevent panics is to be ready for them. Then they never come. It is only when business confidence is destroyed that a panic is possible. The best way to insure confidence is to set aside from the large earnings resulting from advancing prices a reserve fund to offset the losses that may come later when values are deflated.

DEFLATION A NORMAL PROCESS

"Why keep on referring to this as an abnormal period?" asks a Broadway, N. Y., business man. "Is a period of deflation any more abnormal than one of inflation? Haven't we been having both at recurring intervals for more than a century? If business men could only be educated to look upon times of readjustment as both normal and inevitable..."

COUNCIL PASSES TENDERS FOR GRANITE BLOCKS

Six Year Term for School Trustees Recommended - G. E. Day and E. R. W. Ingraham Reappointed.

At the regular weekly session of the common council yesterday afternoon on motion of Commissioner Jones, seconded by Commissioner Bullock, George E. Day and E. R. W. Ingraham were re-appointed members of the board of school trustees, and a motion was adopted recommending that no one serve on the school board longer than six years. An opinion from the city solicitor, Hon. Dr. J. R. B. Baxter, of Hampstead, was read in which he stated that the city had not full power to sell or lease wharf property. This question arose recently over the opinion of Commissioner Jones, the chairman of the railroad commission, of the solicitor upholds the contention of Commissioner Jones, and in the council recently. The council, after considerable discussion, voted to award a contract for 246,700 granite paving blocks to C. H. Dexter, of Hampstead, at $106 a thousand. The other bids were those of B. Mooney & Sons, Ltd., for $110 and R. D. Hamilton for $116. The council voted not to accept tenders for other street material as the bids were considered excessive. Mayor Schofield announced that Hon. E. B. Carvell, chairman of the railroad commission, would hear the issue of the height of the new railroad bridge at the falls tomorrow.

Wants Representation.

When the appointment of school trustees came up, Mr. Bullock said that the council ought to be represented on the school board, but the terms of commission expired before that of school trustees, and such an arrangement would not give continuous touch between the two bodies. He thought that each mayor ought to be automatically a member of the school board.

Mr. Frink said he was willing to conceive of real working relations between the council and the school board, but the council would not act legally independently of the council. There had been discussion of the subject in the council, but it had not been taken up. He failed to see where the presence of the mayor on the board would have any corrective action.

Mr. Jones moved that the council recommend to the school board that the latter advise the government to make provision that a member of the school board should not hold office on the board longer than six years. Mr. Thornton seconded the motion and it was adopted unanimously. The council adjourned at 8:30.

COLLEGE GIRLS START REFORM

(Boston Post.)

A campaign against French heels, too much candy, insufficient exercise and not enough sleep among the girls at Boston University has been started by a group known as the "Chevron system." Most girls hate to do the sensible thing simply because it is sensible, the college committee in charge of the campaign says.

The general follies of college girls have been catalogued as follows: They play too much; they take insufficient exercise; they wear scandalously high French heels; they eat too much candy; they are careless of their general appearance.

The "Chevron system" is calculated to change all this. A valuation has been placed on total abstinence from each of the follies and the girl that behaves the best gets a long string of beautiful chevrons to wear on the sleeve of her gym suit.

Fearing the significance of the chevrons would be misunderstood, it was decided to prohibit the wearing of the multicolored chevrons on the gymnasium blouses worn by the girls in their physical training classes.

Ten points are awarded for sleeping eight hours; five points for abstaining from candy between meals for twenty-eight days each month; ten points for correct posture all the time; ten points for abstaining from French heels; five points for general good appearance.

The chevrons are red, blue and gold, according to the length of time the girl plays the game. So far no one has yet received anything but the first chevron, but the contest is on and the college girls are vying with each other in a furious competition for the first blue chevron.

The wholesale price of bread in the city is now fourteen cents while the retailers sell at fifteen and sixteen cents.

Had An Annoying Hacking Cough

GOT NO REST AT NIGHT

Hacking coughs are very wearing on the system. The constant coughing disturbs the rest, and keeps the lungs and bronchial tubes in such an irritated and inflamed condition that unless you get immediate relief the cough may become settled and serious lung trouble ensue. There is no better remedy than Dr. Wood's Norway Pine Syrup for relieving all kinds of coughs or colds, combating as it does the lung-healing virtues of the pine tree with which is combined wild cherry bark, and the soothing and healing expectorant properties of other excellent herbs and barks.

Mrs. E. J. Ross, Penhold, Alta., writes: "About three years ago I caught a very bad cold, accompanied with a sore throat and hoarseness. I was so hoarse you could not hear me speak. I could get no rest at night with the terrible annoying hacking cough. I tried several remedies, but they did me no good. I finally saw Dr. Wood's Norway Pine Syrup advertised so I got a bottle. It at once gave me relief, and after using four of them my cough had all gone. Now I always keep it in the house."

"Dr. Wood's" is put up in a yellow wrapper. Three pine trees the trade mark; price 35c. and 60c. a bottle. Manufactured only by The T. Milburn Co., Toronto, Ont.

WINE MERCHANTS ARE SENTENCED

(Canadian Press Despatch.)

Montreal, Nov. 16.—Joseph A. Pesant and Rene Ricci, beer and wine merchants of this city, were today sentenced to 12 months in jail each, at hard labor, and to a fine of $2,000 each or an additional twelve months each on a charge of false pretences, made in the same case was dismissed on the ground of the accused being already acquitted.

Following this sentence, Pesant and Ricci were taken to the enquete court before Judge Let and proceedings tried in the case against accused of uttering forged government seals. They were committed for voluntary statement on the 28rd of this charge.

The whole case out of the action of David Davis, of Detroit, who charged the accused with having sold him 50 cases of what was alleged to be Canadian Club Whisky for which he paid $15,000 and which he later found on arrival of the shipment to be a cheap, inferior brand, made in the same case was dismissed on the ground of the accused being already acquitted.

Another charge of uttering forged government stamps on the part of the Minister of Justice to prosecute in the case of the accused, the Revenue Department for the placing of fictitious revenue stamps on bottles of what was alleged to be whisky bottled under government supervision.

GETS $175,200 BY FORGERY.

Man Dressed as Army Officer Collects Funds from French Government.

Paris, Nov. 17.—A young man wearing the uniform of a French lieutenant recently obtained $176,000 francs (about $157,200 at nominal exchange) from the French Ministry of Finance upon presentation of a payment order purporting to have been issued by the quartermaster of the army of occupation at Mayence. The charge of uttering forged government stamps was proved to be forgery.

The police arrested Henri Platel, aged 21, a tailor. They say Platel confessed to the crime, adding that he had been from the Government. It's easy.

Another forged order for several hundred thousand francs was found in Platel's home, according to the police.

CITY TREASURER WALKED TO STATE HOUSE WITH CHECK

FOR 10 MILLION DOLLARS

City Treasurer Thomas W. Murray walked from City Hall to the State House in Boston, carrying a check for $10,042,987.88, which he handed to State Treasurer James Jackson in payment of Boston's State tax.

Among other items this payment covers $588,771 the city owed the state as its share of the bonus paid last year for service men, and for which the 83 per cent tax levy is being made for this and the ensuing two years. The check was on the First National Bank.

FEATURES AT OPERA HOUSE VERY ATTRACTIVE

Making Motion Pictures Continues to Interest All - Veterans of Stage Renew St. John Visit.

The popularity of the feature act "Making Movies" at the Opera House continues to grow and the large audiences in attendance at the three performances yesterday were kept convulsed with laughter. As is customary at every performance a motion picture of the audience was made after which new scenes in the motion picture drama were taken. The troubles of the police sergeant, the arrest of the villains, their ordeal in the third degree, their attempt to escape and subsequent death were some of the scenes enacted. That it made a big hit was evident from the heavy laughter. This picture, which is being produced with a local cast, will be shown on the Opera House screen commencing next Tuesday.

In addition to "Making Movies", there are four other highly entertaining acts. Following the final episode of "The Silent Avenger", featuring William Dunlop, Peggy Ophars, a concert violinist who was formerly with the Cleveland Symphony Orchestra, played a number of difficult and tuneful selections. Her technique was good and her efforts were rewarded by hearty applause.

Fox and Ward, who have been partners together as minstrels since 1818, followed and received quite an ovation. Mr. Fox announced that they first appeared at the Mechanics Hall in 1855. During their act they gave a short sketch of their life during their fifty-two years on the stage. They also sang some amusing chatter and puns, which were really good and evoked prolonged applause.

Grace Hayes and Company made quite a hit in a class vocal and piano offering. The young lady has a pleasing voice and personality, her numbers were thoroughly enjoyed. Her accompanist is a clever player and his work was appreciated.

Greene and Dayton brought the programme to a close with some clever dancing, songs and snappy conversation. Both are clever and their dance numbers made a decided hit.

This programme will be repeated to-night and again on Thursday afternoon and evening.

COMPANY MUST PAY IF CONDITIONS ARE FULFILLED

Washington, Nov. 17.—An insurance policy on the life of a person against the Northwest Mutual Insurance Company is complied with, the Supreme Court has ruled in sustaining lower court decree in a suit brought against the Northwest Mutual Insurance Company by Isabel H. Johnson, beneficiary under a policy obtained by her husband.

The company withheld payment on the ground that it was contrary to public policy to pay indemnity on the life of a suicide.

Counsel for the company contended that the courts had held repeatedly that neither the insured nor the beneficiary should do anything to "wrongfully accelerate the maturity of the policy."

To Be Troubled With Constipation

THE CAUSE OF MANY ILLS

An ounce of prevention is indeed worth many pounds of cure, in the case of a cold.

fresh contracts of magnitude, and cancellations are not only still a factor in lowering the rate of output in various channels, but mark a more general phase in the iron and steel industry. With the repression of manufacturing activities, employment is decreasing in many directions, thus tending to automatically lower the public purchasing power, and there is a disinclination or inability among most consumers to absorb goods beyond actual necessities. The continued price concessions and attractive sales indicate a growing disposition on the part of retailers to reduce stocks of merchandise, but these efforts to stimulate demand are not having the hoped for results in many cases, because of a belief among buyers that further reductions will later be forthcoming.

to expectations that additional reductions will be made in the future and to fears that until still lower prices are named buying by ultimate consumers will not assume normal proportions. The approach of inventory-taking time restrains buying by some distributors, who evidently desire to ease financial conditions as much as possible. On the other hand, it is argued that readjustment cannot proceed in an orderly way until retailers decide to absorb their losses on old stock and pass the new prices along to the public.

Practically all branches of the iron and steel industry continue lifeless and depressed. In spite of lower prices for many lines, buyers remain extremely reticent, leading to greater competition among independent producers, many of whom have curtailed operating schedules fifteen to twenty per cent. compared with last month.

Textile markets have been featured by further sensational price cuts on cotton goods, some prices being fully 50 to 60 per cent. below those prevailing early in the year. In some lines these cuts have led to much better business, but in others buyers are still holding aloof. It is pointed out that some of the new prices represent reductions in labor and raw material costs which may not actually occur for a month or more. With manufacturers and distributors willing to take these chances to stimulate business, the adherence of many retailers to old high prices leads to many complaints. Dun's Review says: At a time when business should normally be expanding in volume the situation is characterized by continued hesitation and waiting, and in some directions the restraint on operations is more even more apparent than formerly. While the change from the inflation of the war period and afterward has not been uniform, having started months ago in some quarters and only recently in others, there is evidence of a movement toward new conditions in all lines, and the different statistical barometers are now more clearly reflecting the transition. Returns of production indicate progressive curtailment as old orders are filled and are not replaced by

And no one could tell the difference!

This test of direct comparison was made by Anna Case, world-famous soprano, before 2500 people, at Carnegie Hall, New York City, on March 10, 1920. See the three diagram sketches below:

First—Miss Case stood beside the New Edison and sang.
Suddenly—the lights went out, but Miss Case's voice went smoothly on.
Then—the lights went on again. Miss Case was gone. The audience gasped with surprise to find that her voice had been coming from the New Edison.

Mr. Santa Claus! Come in and hear the phonograph that did it

We want you to see it, listen to it, test it for yourself. This marvelous phonograph can give the family more pleasure than any other instrument you can buy them for Christmas.

Here is why: This phonograph has actually proved that it can match the performance of the living artist,—and match it so perfectly that no one can tell its Recreation from the living performance.

It did this on March 10, 1920 before 2500 people at Carnegie Hall, New York City—with Anna Case, the world-famed soprano. It did this on September 30th, 1919, before 2500 people at Carnegie Hall, Pittsburgh—with Marie Rappold, prima donna of the Metropolitan Opera Company. It did this on November 5th, 1919, before 6500 teachers at the State Armory, Albany—with Mario Laurenti of the Metropolitan Opera Company. It did this over 4000 other times, with more than fifty great vocalists and instrumentalists. You can read the facts of these amazing achievements in the leading newspapers of the United States and Canada. They are the talk of the music and scientific world.

And the phonograph? It's the Official Laboratory Model of the New Edison, "the phonograph with a soul." Every Official Laboratory

Model in our store is an exact duplicate of the famous original Official Laboratory Model which cost Mr. Edison three million dollars to perfect. It is capable of sustaining the test of direct comparison; we guarantee this.

Get an Official Laboratory Model for Christmas. You will have the one phonograph which brings you the living performances of great artists exactly as those artists have given them. You know this is so! The proof has been given! The absolute, scientific proof!

Say the word,—and we'll save an Official Laboratory Model for you, and deliver it in time for Christmas.

The NEW EDISON
"The Phonograph with a Soul"

Test It Yourself
You'll be able to recognize its superiority with your own ears—in every kind of vocal and instrumental music. Come in and see whether this isn't so. We'll gladly give you Mr. Edison's famous Realism Test.

Money Help
Ask about our Budget Plan. It shows you how to make best use of your Christmas money. It brings your New Edison for Christmas, and makes 1921 help pay. Careful, systematic spending always makes money go farther.

Prices
There is no inflation in Edison Prices. "Edison stood the Gaff" to keep his favorite invention within the reach of everyone.

IS SHADE ANOTHER STANLEY KETCHEL?

Australia Hails San Francisco Boxer as Middleweight Star.

(New York Times.) Is America to have another middle-weight of the Stanley Ketchel and Billy Papke class? Boxing fans who have seen Billy Shade, an almost unheard-of fight from San Francisco, in action against a couple of high-class fighters in Australia, say he is a wonderful middleweight and as good as Billy Papke ever was. They also compare him favorably to the late Ketchel. If all this is true, then the United States will be able to boast of a first-class middleweight, who may bring fame, as did the late Ketchel and the great Nonpareil—Jack Dempsey—before him. Shade has been boxing in a small way around Frisco, but, finding the game not too good financially he set sail for Australia, taking with him his manager Jimmy Gilfeather. They landed unheralded, but soon had a chance to show what the boy was made of. He fought a fellow named Hubert Hinton and stopped him in one round. It was thought to be a fluke, so Billy was asked to meet Tommy Uren, the middleweight champion of Australia, and the match was made. Uren is a high-class fighter and a tough one, but Shade knocked him out in the nineteenth round of a whirlwind battle. W. P. Corbet, veteran critic of Sydney, says in The Referee of that city, "Like a bolt from the blue came the crash. Possibly half of the nineteenth round had gone when Tommy Uren charged forward, leading a left. Billy Shade sidestepped the attack adroitly, and, with the quickness of a flash, drove his right across so forcibly and accurately that Uren flopped heavily to the padded floor and lay stretched on the broad of his back till the greater part of the count had gone. Then he rose slightly in a brave effort to resume the perpendicular but it was no good. His system had been too seriously racked to recover so quickly. Not once before in his long career had Tommy been knocked out. "A master of the right cross could not have placed the punch with greater precision or effect. A moment or two previously Shade had jolted a short left under the chin while the boxers were operating at close quarters. This attack probably assisted the end—Uren looked somewhat shaken when they broke clear of each other—but, whether it did or not, there was sufficient steam back of, and accuracy in the wallop to do the deed, even if the victim had been as fit as when the round commenced. "There was no monotony about the shade-Uren display. Though Uren exhibited greater cleverness than the American, the latter was always there or thereabouts, willing to fight as frequently as opportunity offered, and steadfastly intent upon administering the sleep producers whenever chance permitted. Once again it was demonstrated that a battle is not lost till it is won also that you never know till the numbers are up. "Billy Shade has it in him to become great as a boxer. He is only 20 years of age, is well-built and stands straight up to his man in the way that the best exponents of the best days of the game stood. But he must get rid of a couple of mannerisms. He often brushes his right glove across his nose as did Kieran Eddie Kelly, who told me he copied that foolishness from Mike Gibbons, former champion middleweight of the world."

New York, Nov. 17.—Neither the army nor the navy football team will play again until they meet at the Polo Grounds here on November 27. New York Times.—Jose R. Capablanca, now chess champion of the world by virtue of the resignation of Dr. Emanuel Lasker and in accordance with the conditions of their first contract, but with whom nevertheless he will play a match for the title in Havana, is back from England. Capablanca was interviewed as to what he thinks of Samuel Reschewski, a boy wonder, who made a sensational debut at West Point on Wednesday. In the champion's opinion, the little fellow is in a class a shade below that of the international masters. He thinks that there are probably not more than six players in this country who could defeat the child in a serious match.

Several boys from Moncton were sent to the Industrial School at East St. John yesterday. An effort is being made by Mayor Schofield and other members of the school board to provide a partial technical training at least for the boys at the school, so that they will know something of a trade when they leave and are obliged to earn their own living.

At the third session of the inter-church French training institute held last night in the church of England, Institute, under the auspices of the St. John County Sunday School Association, Hon. Dr. W. F. Roberts, minister of health, spoke on religious education. The subject of Sunday school topics was dealt with by Rev. H. B. Clark. Three groups formed for discussions were led by Rev. H. B. Clark, Rev. A. S. Bishop, who was chairman of the evening, and Venerable Archdeacon H. Crawford. Three interesting papers

ASSAIL MOVEMENT TO TEACH RELIGION

Schools Would Be Hurt, Say Opponents — Friends of Plan Will Be Heard. (New York Evening Post.) Objections that closing the schools for outside religious instruction one hour a week would interfere with the religious independence of children, open the way to religious propaganda in the schools, encourage dangerously close relations between church and state, increase truancy and deaths of children in automobile accidents, were urged last night at a hearing before a special committee of the school board consisting of Commissioners George J. Ryan, Arthur S. Somers and Samuel Stern. School authorities, pastors and leaders of several denominations and representatives of the Froshinkers' Society spoke against the proposal, which originated with the Interdenominational Committee for Weekly Religious Instruction, of which the Rev. Charles Sumner Burch, Episcopal Bishop of New York is chairman.

Ice Cream Is Food

"Every time that you eat a dish of good, wholesome Ice Cream, you are adding a rich supply to the materials with which the body is fed and repaired. For Ice Cream is made almost wholly of rich, pure cream and milk and therefore contains the very things that help us to grow and to build up our bodies so that they are strong and active and capable of resisting disease. Ice Cream also is excellent as a food because it can be used in place of the many greasy, heavy meats and other things that are so difficult for us to digest, and for this same reason, doctors frequently prescribe it as a food for invalids and convalescents. Once upon a time, Mother on special occasions gave you a nice dish of Ice Cream as a treat, but now she knows its true food value and serves it more frequently because it is good for the mental and bodily health and strength of her little ones, and grown-ups, too. Therefore, eat PURITY ICE CREAM."

Ice Cream Is Food

"Every time that you eat a dish of good, wholesome Ice Cream, you are adding a rich supply to the materials with which the body is fed and repaired. For Ice Cream is made almost wholly of rich, pure cream and milk and therefore contains the very things that help us to grow and to build up our bodies so that they are strong and active and capable of resisting disease. Ice Cream also is excellent as a food because it can be used in place of the many greasy, heavy meats and other things that are so difficult for us to digest, and for this same reason, doctors frequently prescribe it as a food for invalids and convalescents. Once upon a time, Mother on special occasions gave you a nice dish of Ice Cream as a treat, but now she knows its true food value and serves it more frequently because it is good for the mental and bodily health and strength of her little ones, and grown-ups, too. Therefore, eat PURITY ICE CREAM."

Several boys from Moncton were sent to the Industrial School at East St. John yesterday. An effort is being made by Mayor Schofield and other members of the school board to provide a partial technical training at least for the boys at the school, so that they will know something of a trade when they leave and are obliged to earn their own living.

OLDEST PORTRAIT IN THE WORLD

Clay Tablets From Babylonian Said to Date Back to 2300 B. C.

Philadelphia, Nov. 17.—What is believed to be the oldest portrait of a human being has been discovered in the University of Pennsylvania Museum collection of clay tablets from Babylonian, according to an announcement by Dr. Leon Lagrain, curator of the Babylonian section.

The portrait is on a postage stamp, which also served as a seal for a registered package, dated about 2300 B. C. It is a picture of Ibi-Sin, the last king of Ur, known to Bible students as Ur of the Chaldees.

The package or sack bearing the seal, Dr. Lagrain said, appears to have been sent by the high priest of the Temple of Ur, in which Abraham later worshipped, to a banker named Shulpaie and probably contained gold.

"The portrait is on a clay postage stamp and is the result of rolling an engraved cylinder over the soft clay. It is as clear and distinct and the features as well defined as on the day it was made. The astonishing thing is that it shows the king-god as smooth shaven.

"There are two supposed portraits before the one just discovered, but in neither of them is there any apparent effort at realism. Each has a long beard and among hundreds of representations of gods each has a beard. It seems likely that beards were considered solely as belonging to the gods and that kings wore false ones to make appearance more impressive.

BRIDE IN A BARN, LOST FIVE WEEKS

Believed to Have Tired of the Wedding Party and Strayed Away to Rest.

Paris, Nov. 17.—A theme for a ballad could be found in an incident connected with a wedding in Brive, Department of Correze, and the disappearance of the young bride just after the marriage ceremony and while the festivities were at their height.

The wedding occurred on September 26. After the ceremony some of the dancers observed that the bride was gone. The bridegroom suspected a joke was being played on him, but as night came on the entire wedding party realized that something unusual had happened and they began to search the woods for her. During the following week the rivers thereabouts were dragged, but without result. It was only when the young woman's favorite dog howled and would not be silenced a few nights ago that the searchers were led to the barn and to the young bride.

It is believed by her friends that she became tired after the wedding ceremony and went into the barn to rest, then she was stricken with an attack of paralysis and was unable to move or to cry out.

The ablest doctors have been called to attend her, but they are doubtful if they can save her life.

GETS THOUSAND POUND GRIZZLY

U. S. Government Had Been After Cattle Killer for Years.

An immense 1,000 pound bear—Silver Tip Grizzly as he was known to inspectors of the Biological Survey of the United States Department of Agriculture— which for years had been killing stock in the vicinity of Dubois, Wyo., and on whose head a $100 bounty had been placed by stockmen, is dead. His undoing was accomplished by a 60-pound No. 6 bear trap, which had been anchored to a 24-foot tree trunk. His body was found nearly eight miles from where the trap had been set. His end was brought about by Government Hunter Rowley, Ed. since government hunters are not allowed to accept bounties from any source the stockmen were saved the money.

The following account of Silver Tip and his end is given by Charles J. Bayler, Predatory Animal Inspector of the Bureau, at Lander, Wyo.

"While reports came in occasionally of a large silver tip that was doing a lot of killing in the vicinity of Dubois, no authentic report was received until the spring of 1918, when several cattlemen asked that we send a man after the bear. A hunter was sent up there and reported killing the bear that summer, but investigation proved that the bear most wanted was still at large. He was particularly destructive that summer, not
