A WOODSTOCK LADY.

For a Period of Twelve Years She Suffered.

Female Weakness made her Life a Burden. Physicians all assured her that she could never have her Kidney Pills made her a Well Woman.

WOODSTOCK, Ont., Feb. 7.—(Special) Medical men are much puzzled over the case of Mrs. Wm. Rowe, of 311 Dundas street, this city.

For years (twelve or more) she had suffered with what is ordinarily called "Female Trouble," or "Female Weakness." She had consulted and had been treated by the very best physicians, but they failed to do her any good, and ended by the discouraging announcement that she need never hope to be well as her disease was positively incurable.

However, Mrs. Rowe was persuaded as a last resort to try a treatment of Dodd's Kidney Pills, and to her great surprise and the joy of her family and friends she began to show signs of improvement. This change gave her a new hope, and the treatment was continued till at last she was completely cured and restored to the greatest good health possible to vigorous womanhood.

The case of Mrs. Rowe and the hopeful verdict of the doctors had become widely known and as a consequence her satisfactory restoration to good health has created a profound sensation with the public, and not a little confusion among those physicians who had so positively pronounced her incurable.

Dodd's Kidney Pills have proven themselves an unfailing remedy for all diseases peculiar to womanhood, and thousands of grateful women are testifying to the fact that this remedy has saved them after everything else had failed.

Mrs. Rowe says: "I suffered as only weak women do suffer, for over twelve years. The doctors told me I could never be cured. I tried everything but could not get any relief. Dodd's Kidney Pills cured me, and I owe my life and health to them and nothing else."

Floor of Vehicle in Which Charles Jones Was Riding Proves Too Weak to Sustain Him.

MONTEZUMA, N. Y., Jan. 23.—Charles C. Jones is the largest justice of the peace in the United States. He is six feet high and weighs 475 pounds. His waist measure is 67 inches, his chest 64 and his collar 34. He is very active and attends to many business interests. In order that he may not be excluded from his own house, Mr. Jones has been obliged to have all the doors made half a size larger than ordinary doors, but he is unable to visit his friends and neighbors because he cannot enter their houses.

Mr. Jones went to Auburn last week to take the oath of office. The end of the stage in which he made the trip had to be removed to admit him, and during the journey the floor gave way, leaving Mr. Jones with his feet on the ground and the stage on his back. He was released from this position by being jacked up, one foot at a time, with planks and blocks of wood until he was able to dismount himself on the seat, which was stayed up with bags of grain for the rest of the trip.

BROKEN BACK.

Walter Davis Surprised His Physicians by Long Survival.

(N. Y. Herald, 5th.)

When Walter Davis was thrown from a switchboard at Coney Island nearly eight months ago, and was pined up unconscious and with a broken back, the physicians at the Kings county hospital said he could not live, and that he would die right there.

But he did not die until yesterday, though the lower part of his body had been paralyzed for several weeks. He was twenty-two years old.

It was on June 17 that he was thrown while being whirled rapidly around one of the loop devices at the island.

Although the physicians did not believe they would be able to save him, he not only lived, but he seemed steadily to improve.

All the aid that science could give him was his, and the physicians began to hope for some extraordinary prolongation of his life until a few weeks ago, when paralysis of the legs set in.

British Cavalryman Shot by a Six Year Old Boy.

LONDON, Feb. 5.—One of the most surprising incidents of the war is reported in the case of the death of Private H. H. Hughes, 1st King's Dragoon Guards, whose wife lives at Dover. The details of the story are given by Sergeant Probert of Private Hughes' troop, who has sent full particulars to the war office, and by his comrade, Private Morris Elmer. The affair occurred at Orbyfontein, near Hartswater, Orange River colony, on November 9, 1901. Captain E. A. Williams, 1st King's Dragoon Guards, being among those who lost their lives. The small force was skirmishing when a Boer boy, afterwards found to be only six years of age, walked up to Private Hughes, and when close to him, deliberately shot him in the abdomen with a revolver he had concealed, the wound proving fatal on November 10.

FRENCH RIVER ROUTE.

Discussed by Louise Coste Before St. John Board of Trade.

Louise Coste, the dominion government engineer, addressed a special meeting of the board of trade yesterday on the French River route question, which he said was a matter of national importance to the people of Canada. In a long address on the subject he pointed out that the deepening of the route was the key to the situation, and that the products of the great Northwest might be exported from Canadian ports, instead of going through United States outlets, as under the existing conditions. The Collingwood route he described as being unsatisfactory, and gave statistics showing that only four per cent. of the Northwest products come to Canadian ports for shipment. The French River route would mean that Montreal would be the gainier in summer and St. John in winter.

After a number of those present gave views agreeing chiefly with those of Mr. Coste, the matter was referred to the freight and transportation committee of the board.

Among those present were Col. Tucker, M. P., Geo. Robertson, Aid. Maxwell, Aid. Baxter, James Osborne, Senator Ellis, W. F. Hatheway, D. J. McLaughlin, F. A. Dykeman, H. B. Schofield and J. N. Sutherland.

"Our Western Empire," an English magazine, refers to the line of steamers running between Canada and the British West Indies as follows: "Messrs. This firm is doing more than anyone to foster trade between the two countries."

POPE'S GIFT TO MGR. FARLEY.

The Pontiff Presents to Bishop a Costly Pectoral Cross in Token of Personal Esteem.

Pope Leo XIII has conferred a signal distinction upon Bishop Farley of New York, now visiting in Rome. After a private audience of nearly an hour the pontiff surprised the bishop by presenting to him a costly and beautiful pectoral cross, such as is worn by bishops as a part of their episcopal insignia. In presenting the gift the Pope said that he desired that it should be received not only as a special token of his personal esteem for Bishop Farley, but as a sign of his love and regard for the great archdiocese of New York, of which Mgr. Farley is the auxiliary bishop. In accepting the gift the bishop assured his holiness that the cross would abide with him through life and would be treasured as his most important possession.

Considerable interest attaches to the New York prelate's visit to the Vatican, as it is thought that he is the bearer of important messages from Archbishop Corrigan, which may materially affect the diocese of New York and Brooklyn.

The recent reports of Bishop Farley's illness at Rome disturbed many of his friends in Brooklyn. The illness was of a very slight nature and is now at an end. The bishop will shortly set forth for the Holy Land on an extended tour. His present tour abroad is the first in ten years. He will return to New York in about three months.

THE NUMBER "NINE."

(From Public Opinion.)

A correspondent remarks the peculiar persistence with which the number nine and its multiples, as well as nineteen, appeared at different epochs in the life of Queen Victoria. In her first birthday she was a month and nine days old, and she came to the throne in the nineteenth year of her age. She was married on the ninth day of the month of January, 1840, and she died on the ninth day of the month of August, 1901. The figures of the year of her birth, 1819, when added together, give a total of nineteen; and the figures of the year of her accession, 1837, give a similar result. The thirty-six completed years of the nineteenth century had expired at her accession, which is four times the number of years in a century. It is interesting to note that her late Majesty had nine children.

THE VALUE OF SMOKING.

During the recent manoeuvres in Switzerland, the general staff made a series of experiments characteristic of the most democratic army in Europe. They were designed to test the influence of the troops of smoking being permitted in the ranks during long marches. A staff officer declares that the results showed the balance of advantage to lie entirely on the side of the full pipe. There were no difficulties of discipline, which was really improved, because smoking kept the men more cheerful and less sensitive to fatigue.

"I wanted to see if it worked the same way that my cryin' doll does," was the reply, as she gave the baby a jab that made it howl. "They're all alike, ain't they?"—Chicago Evening Post.

N. W. TERRITORIES

An Interesting Letter from Senator W. Dill Perley

The Country Where a Poor Man Can Make a Good Home for Himself.

Some Figures Showing Its Marvellous Growth of Wheat - Stock Raising Far Easier and More Profitable Than in New Brunswick.

To the Editor of the Sun: WOLSELEY, N. W. T., Feb. 11.—It has been quite a while since I wrote anything for the Sun. Now that I have a spare moment, it might be interesting to some to read a line or two about this part of our great dominion of Canada.

I have not been an extensive traveler; but here in this part of Canada you meet immigrants from almost every part of the globe. By coming in contact with them, in business and otherwise, you are able to form, in my judgment, a fair opinion of the country from whence they came. That being so, then I am of the opinion that the Northwest Territories of Canada is the best, or at least one of the best portions of this earth, for a person to make a good and comfortable home in.

This is the country where a poor man can soon make for himself a home of plenty and comfort, and the beauty of it is that it makes no difference from whence he came.

By reasonable industry and perseverance he soon acquires a knowledge that enables him to become efficient and make a success of the work he engages in. If it so happens that he has no means, only his hands and a family, he is never less successful at once, from the fact that his own labor will command good pay, and every member of his family, from the herd boy to a servant girl, can get ready employment at a proper wage.

name Qu'Appelle district and other towns west to Moosejaw, but I have named sufficient to give you an idea of the productiveness of this district, which is only on a par with other parts. I have no desire to boom any one section over another, because there is but little difference. One section may be more adapted to mixed farming, while another is more a grain growing section. Every bushel of this wheat means fifty cents cash to the farmer who has it to sell. My opinion of this country has not changed since the first day I put my foot in it. There is only this difference, the conclusions I arrived at then are verified now. While in the past I have been a bit diffident in advising my fellow New Brunswickers to come here, I have no hesitancy in now saying to them to come here rather than go to the United States, as I see they are still doing notwithstanding the statements made by the grits when in opposition.

I know New Brunswickers very well, and I am confident they would make a success in this country. It is a better all around man than a New Brunswicker, and such a man will make the best settler here. I say to New Brunswickers it is a pity to see foreigners coming in here and getting the best parts of this great country, even the Americans from the western states, the "corn land," are coming here by the thousands and getting the goodly land whilst our maritime province people of both sexes are going to the United States to be only laborers.

This is a great country. No part of this globe can excite me as much as this one. I am not opposed to immigration, but I am free to confess that I am not so anxious as some to see this country given away to foreigners and our own people to the east going to the United States.

Although it is not the policy of our federal government of either party to aid immigration from one province of Canada to another, nevertheless I would like to see such a policy pursued as would tend to keep our own young people at home in Canada. Soon we will realize this country has been given away and taken up by foreigners and our own Canadian boys will have to find a home under a foreign flag. This should not be so.

Before closing this letter I must tell you something about the stock of this section of the west. As great as our capabilities are for growing wheat, stock raising can be carried on with even a greater and more certain success. We never have to feed turnips here, even to fatten an old cow. All animals get fat on grass alone and fatter than ever I was able to make them or my neighbors after feeding turnips and grain for three or four months in New Brunswick. Our native prairie grass makes feed. No extra feed is required beyond a summer's run to make an old ox as fat as he can be made. You may think this exaggeration; it is not, and now about horses, let me conclude by saying I am writing our own experience. We have on our farm raising loads that do not get either shelter, hay nor oats in summer or winter. In winter they go off the snow and eat the grass, even at the coldest time. Some of our best farm horses have never yet been in the stable even one night or day from in October until the last days of March. They come in fat and sleek, and the summer's work they do of any. After we get through with the work of the season, in October or last November, we take the hatters off and let them go until we want them next spring to start the seeder. Snow and cold is no obstacle. The grass grows cured into good hay on the stack, and that is the best of feed.

May I not properly add, where can you find such a country as this? and then to realize illiterate foreigners are coming from thousands of miles across the ocean and getting 160 acres of land for ten dollars. To our maritime province boys I say come west. If you can raise some money to help in the start you will get down to business the sooner; but in any case come west, and you will soon get to be boss of yourself and boss of the job.

These are the names of only thirty-four women, chosen almost at random, whose precious stones and jewelry are valued at $2,500,000. It can be shown that the figures are not unreasonable. The average importation of precious stones into the United States is $1,000,000. Thus during only the past year, diamonds alone have been valued at $1,000,000. This amount one-half is made up of the remainder fully two-thirds have been sold to families and individuals.

"OIL OF GLADNESS"

South American Nervine has proved itself the "oil of gladness" to many a sufferer from indigestion, nervousness, and general debility. It is the fountain-head of the trouble—the digestion. It tones the stomach, stimulates the bowels, and promotes healthy circulation, stimulates the flow of red blood, and accelerates the action of the organs.

South American Nervine cures nervousness, sleeplessness, neuralgia, nervous prostration, nervous choking, nervous twitching, hot flashes, sick head-ache, dyspepsia, indigestion, and all ailments. It is the very nectar of health.

She was attended by her niece, Miss Margaret Brown of Amherst, who was becomingly attired in navy blue, with decorations of white silk and allover lace, with navy hat to match. Leo F. BOSTON LETTER.

A Pro-Boer Meeting That Failed to Materialize.

Quite a Number of Canadians in the Present United States Congress; None However from N. B.

Massachusetts Farmers Turning to Dairying, Fruit Growing and Market Gardening—Recent Deaths of Former Provincialists—The Smallpox Situation—Lumber and Fish Markets.

(From Our Own Correspondent.) BOSTON, Feb. 6.—Boston was to have held a pro-Boer meeting in Faneuil hall, that celebrated birthplace of liberty, last Tuesday night, and although quite a number of pro-Boers appeared, none of them was admitted to the historic edifice. Those in charge of the event bungled things completely, and those who went to the hall, some coming from a distance, left for home disgusted at the fiasco.

Who constitute the pro-Boer committee no one has been able to learn, but a grand flourish was announced with a demonstration Tuesday night were to include the noisy, over-estimated former Tammany congressman from New York, W. Bourke Cockran, the irregular democrat whose violent abuse of Grover Cleveland in party conventions and out of them, made him notorious the country over. Another speaker was to the renowned Webster Davis, the lord high executioner of everything British in the United States of America, and whether ever else he could strike a deadly blow in the interest of Kruger, Steyn & Co. Those manifesting the plans for the demonstration failed to make connections. They failed to get the hall, failed to bring the two chief celebrities to the city, and most unfortunately of all, failed to notify the expected audience that they had failed. There is little likelihood of another pro-Boer meeting being arranged for in the near future, as most of the local enthusiasts appear to be in a state bordering on complete paralysis.

Seven members of the present United States congress are Canadians by birth. Six of them were born in the province of Ontario, and the other in Nova Scotia. The natives of New Brunswick who have figured in past congresses, have been offered entirely, including the Hon. Jeremiah Simpson of Medicine Lodge, Kansas. All seven are republicans. The city of Hamilton is the birthplace of two senators.

Congressman Wm. Connell of Scranton, Pa., was born in Cape Breton, and for many years worked in the coal mines. He began life as driver boy, receiving 75 cents a day, and from that humble berth worked himself into the United States congress. The list of states and provinces in the present senate and house follows: Senator James McMillan, republican of Michigan, born in Hamilton, Ont.; Senator Jacob H. Gallinger, republican of New Hampshire, born in Cornwall, Ont.; Senator Jos. H. Millard, republican of Nebraska, born in Hamilton, Ont.; Thos. Kearns, republican of Utah, born in Woodstock, Ont.; Congressman Jas. T. McCleary, republican of Minnesota, born in Ingersoll, Ont.; Congressman Jas. A. Hughes, republican of West Virginia, born in Cornwall, Ont.; Congressman Wm. Connell, republican of Pennsylvania, born in Cape Breton, N. S.

The annual reunion and ball of the Prince Edward Island Club of Boston and vicinity was held in Paul Revere hall, Feb. 6, at the Hotel Marlborough. The attendance was large and there was a general renewal of old acquaintance. E. W. Doyle, vice president of the club, was in charge of affairs, with D. A. McDonald, vice president, as assistant. The club was formed several years ago, largely through Mr. Doyle's efforts.

The agricultural bureau of the state has compiled statistics showing that the farmers of Massachusetts are turning from general farming, and to dairying, poultry raising, market gardening, and fruit growing. This movement is due largely to competition in the west, the development of transportation facilities and unsuitable land. Since 1880 in this state, as in other North Atlantic states, there has been a marked decrease in the acreage of improved farm land. The average gross income per acre last year was computed as follows: Farms under three acres (mostly near large cities), $698.48; farms, three to nine acres, $30.83; 10 to 19 acres, $33.72; 20 to 49 acres, $29.40; 50 to 99 acres, $12.71; 100 to 174 acres, $32.27; 175 to 259 acres, $7.93; 260 to 499 acres, $5.76; 500 to 999 acres, $4.26; 1,000 acres and over, $2.25. The farms of the state number 37,715. The chief product is that of the dairy, valued last year at $12,855,744. The next is hay, worth $9,056,854. Vegetables, exclusive of potatoes and onions, yielded $3,412,855; eggs, $2,571,341; fruit, orchard, $1,170,883; small fruits, $1,463,714; potatoes, $1,900,937; and other products, $1,639,760.

Among recent deaths of former provincialists were the following: In Biddeford, Me., Jan. 30, Mrs. Bridget O'Donnell, formerly of St. John; in Chatham, N. B., Lillian Lillian, my first child, six years ago, I have suffered greatly from piles. I could not bring myself to bear the thoughts of a surgical operation. Pyramid Pile Cure entirely cured me. LETTERS FROM THE PEOPLE

TO THE EDITOR OF THE SUN:

Sir—Your editorial this morning in reference to the senatorship and Colonel Domville was timely and pertinent. There can be no misunderstanding the attitude of the liberals of Kings on this question. They have strongly represented their wishes to the minister of railways and been treated with contempt; in fact, some of the replies sent by the minister to recommendations in Colonel Domville's favor were of an insulting character. Apart from the fact that Kings has never had action in representation, while York now has and always has had a member and sometimes two in the upper house, there should have been no question about Colonel Domville's right to the position. But for him there would be no Liberal party worth the name in Kings today. He has upheld the liberal banner in adversity and prosperity for the past fifteen years, and his non-appointment to the vacancy in the senate is a piece of political turpitude and ingratitude of the basest possible description. Mr. Thompson, who has been appointed, has no claim nearly equal to Colonel Domville. He is a family connection and a mere hanger on of the minister of railways, who has come from making a sacrifice, made money out of politics. He has never taken part in the discussion of public questions in the house of assembly and is incapable of any independent action in representation, while of the way in which Kings county and its liberal champion have been treated, is it any wonder that liberals everywhere are announcing their intention of joining hands with the conservatives of the county in electing Mr. Sprout and in opposition to the "lightning change artist" from Sussex and the corrupt opportunist combination at Fredericton.

THE SEMI-WEEKLY SUN

ST. JOHN, N. B., FEBRUARY 12, 1902

COLONEL DOMVILLE RULED OUT.

The New Brunswick appointment to the senate followed suddenly on the creation of the vacancy. This great haste is easily explained. Friends of Colonel Domville were pressing his claims upon the minister of railways. Mr. Blair heard from scores of leading supporters in Kings, St. John and other counties, recalling the fact that Colonel Domville had kept up a strenuous fight for twenty years in behalf of the party now in power at Ottawa. They explained that Colonel Domville was contesting a constituency against a conservative minister when Mr. Blair was still indifferent in dominion politics. They spoke of the colonel's six campaigns against Mr. Foster and two subsequent contests, and showed that Mr. Thompson had only one federal campaign to his credit. Mr. Blair did not need to be reminded of the many assurances, expressions of regard, and announcements of good intentions that Colonel Domville has had from the premier and his colleagues. Nor did he need to be told that while Mr. Blair had already a representative in the senate and has never been without one or two delegates there, Kings has yet to welcome its first senate appointment. What really happened during the last week or so was that the messages and requests for the appointment of Colonel Domville reached Mr. Blair in such numbers, and some of them were so strong that he was obliged to take some action at once. As he had determined on the family appointment, he made it straightway, which was the wise thing to do. Mr. Thompson was to be called. But the friends of Colonel Domville are not accepting any more promises. They are comparing notes with the friends of Mr. Emmerson and of other public men whom the minister chooses to treat as "sucked oranges."

ANOTHER CONFESSION.

The Telegraph, as official organ of the department of railways, has come forward with another of its striking announcements. The Montreal Times and Montreal Gazette have pointed out that the Intercolonial bridge are behind time more frequently than they used to be before Mr. Blair imported his big and expensive engines. To this the inspired writer for the Telegraph replies:

The new engines which Mr. Blair has purchased have not been responsible for the delay of trains, as alleged by the Gazette, for the very good reason that they are only employed on parts of the line. They do not run to Montreal at all. Until some of the bridges are strengthened, the road cannot have the full benefit of the new equipment in this regard, neither as respects passenger nor freight trains.

This is refreshing. The Drummond railway when bought was described as a splendid railway. Under the revised contract it was raised to a higher standard. After the transfer, further large expenditures were made on it, until we were told that it was one of the finest roads in America. Yet now, after three years, the roadbed is not able to bear the weight of Mr. Blair's engines. Those engines were bought, some of them a considerable time ago, in order that better time might be made between Montreal and the sea. The public will be surprised to find that they have never been used, and cannot be used on the western end of the railway.

THE KINGS COUNTY CONTEST.

The Fredericton Herald complains that the Sun has ignored the contest in Kings since the issue of the writ, though it had a good deal to say before. As our readers know this statement is not correct. It is not now necessary to shame the government into bringing on the election. At least the cowardly ministers have been driven to that point, and the people of Kings are able to do the rest. The Sun is only repeating what it said the other day when it expressed the hope that Mr. Sproul will be returned by a practically unanimous vote. The people of Kings owe it to themselves to show in a notable and striking way what they think of the series of crimes committed against them in the attempt to prevent the election of a popular and worthy candidate. We believe, moreover, that this is the view and the desire of just men in both parties, including many who are friendly to the government on other grounds.

ON THE BENCH.

Many practicing lawyers seem disposed to criticize the appointment of Mr. Mills to the supreme court bench, urging that he is an academic lawyer who has no experience in the courts, and little knowledge of the processes of litigation. The same objections were raised to his appointment as minister of justice, and yet Mr. Mills seems to have got through the work of that department without any striking exposure of incompetence. True the solicitor-general, who knew all about procedure, was at his side, but in the supreme court the new judge will not be alone. Mr. Mills is associated with old hands, and as the junior judge will be under no necessity of making public his limitations. One thing may be taken for granted. Mr. Mills will give deep study and profound thought to any matter that comes before him. Perhaps the appointment is something of an experiment, but it is not the first experiment which has been tried in the making of judges.

REPRESENTATIVE SENATORS.

The Ontario senate vacancies have been filled by the appointment of two former members of the house of commons, Mr. James McMullen and Mr. William Gibson. Mr. McMullen sat four terms for North Willington. During the first three terms he was a keen, unsparring and persistent critic of government expenditure. In his last term the Laurier government was in power, and Mr. McMullen unwisely became an excuser and apologist of public extravagance. But unfortunately he had been so successful in impressing the necessity of public economy on the minds of his constituents, that in the election following his change of attitude they refused to elect him. In the parliament campaign, for 1897, Mr. McMullen, who then felt secure of his parliamentary seat, declared that he was in favor of reducing the number of senators and making them elective. Since he is fresh from defeat at the polls, he would not be expected to accept a seat in the senate, but he is a man who is so well able to overcome his scruples against large expenditure and high tariffs, is no doubt equal to the present emergency.

Mr. Gibson is a wealthy contractor, who sat two terms in the house of commons. He was elected in 1896 by a majority of over four hundred on a low tariff and retrenchment platform. One term of straight support of the policy and practice of the Laurier government and a rather close intimacy with the machine did the business for Mr. Gibson, who had been appointed whip of the party. He also has occasion to repeat of some reflections which he has made on the senate in days gone by.

The ministers at Ottawa do not say much now about reforming the senate by making it elective or in some other way responsible to public opinion. Sir Wilfrid's method of bringing the senate into harmony with the electorate is unique. Among the men whom he has called to the senate are those mentioned below. The list does not include any who have been elected after the defeat mentioned, but only those who were rejected on their last appeal to the Dominion electorate:

- Senator Gillmor, defeated in Charlotte in 1896.
Senator Templeman, defeated in Victoria general election 1891.
Senator Thompson, defeated in York general election 1891.
Senator Carmichael, defeated in Picton general election of 1878, by-election 1881, general elections, 1882, 1887 and 1896.
Senator Church, defeated in Lunenburg in general election of 1878.
Senator Mills, defeated in Bothwell, in the general election of 1896.
Senator Cox, defeated in West Peterborough in 1871, and in the general election of 1887.
Senator Kerr, defeated in West Northumberland in 1878, 1882 and 1888.
Senator Landarkin, defeated in South Grey 1900.
Senator Gibson, defeated in Lincoln, 1900.
Senator McMullen, defeated in North Wellington, 1900.
Senator Robertson, defeated in Kings, P. E. I., 1891 and previous occasions.
Besides these we have:
Senator Watson, appointed after his defeat as a member of the Manitoba government.
Senator Young, appointed on his defeat as member and speaker of the Manitoba legislature.

GREENLAND.

The Fredericton Gleaner cheerfully announces that it has no objection to the annexation of Greenland by the United States, since Canada has no use for that region of ice and snow.

This reminds one of the complacent way in which certain statesmen of France in former days regarded the loss of Canada, described by them as "a few acres of snow." A like opinion was expressed concerning Alaska when Mr. Seward bought that territory from Russia. It is said that the late Sir George Cartier was strongly of the opinion that Alaska should have been secured for the Dominion of Canada that was to be, but could not get support for that idea in his own country or in Great Britain. No one now doubts that if Sir George held those views he was right. Alaska has proved a splendid investment for the United States. Its wealth of minerals and fisheries is incalculable. Besides its adverse possession shuts out from the seaboard a great extent of Canadian territory, practically excluding the whole of the Yukon and a large part of British Columbia from the control of their natural ports. There is now and may be for many years to come an unpleasant boundary question on that coast, and the Behring Sea dispute, has been another consequence of the purchase.

Now all the results of this purchase of Alaska may be duplicated on our northeastern frontier if Greenland passes under United States control. Then we shall have other bays and straits open to dispute. We shall have the United States on three sides of us. What the exact consequence may be can no more be foreseen than the condition of Alaska and the Yukon could be foreseen forty years ago. We know little of the natural wealth of the regions around Davis Straits. But we know that Greenland is next neighbor to Canada. If Greenland passes from Danish control, its natural destiny is to be joined to the Dominion.

In the didactic and rather didactic manner sometimes employed by a learned member of the university staff when discussing Canadian affairs, the Gleaner gravely informs the Sun that the Monroe doctrine is not a definite and precise declaration, nor yet a feature of international law. That is more than true. It is a platitude. But it is sufficiently clear that President Monroe laid down no doctrine which would prevent the transfer of Greenland from Denmark to Great Britain. What doctrine a future president might lay down on one day say. We know, of course, that Mr. Cleveland's secretary of state assured Lord Salisbury that "today the United States is practically sovereign on this continent and its flag is law upon the subjects to which it confines its interposition." The reason given for this state of affairs was that "its limited resources, combined with its isolated position, render it master of the situation and practically invulnerable as against any of all other powers." That language means that the United States may do as it likes in America, not only forbidding the transfer of Greenland to Canada, but compelling the transfer of New Brunswick to the United States. Olney doctrine is, however, not Monroe doctrine, and the isolated position of which Mr. Olney spoke is no longer the situation of the United States.

It will be rather surprising if Men Carroll of Kamouraska should be made solicitor general, giving Quebec five portfolios and this place in the ministry. One would expect that Mr. Emmerson would be a more likely choice. Mr. Carroll is, we believe, usually classed as a French Canadian, though his name is Henry George, his father's name, Michael Burke Carroll, and his mother's maiden name was Campbell. In Kamouraska one finds many French speaking men bearing such names as Fraser, Ross, Flynn, and Campbell, and Mr. Carroll's mother tongue is understood to be French. He is thirty-six years old and has been three times elected. Mr. Carroll sat on the Drummond railway committee of the commons, and is a good party man.

The Paterson fire appears to have been one of the greatest recent disasters of the kind. The city is the third largest in the state, exceeded only by Newark and New Jersey, and is one of the great American manufacturing centres.

CHAS. V. DEBURY

In Fit of Despondency Attempts Suicide in Butte.

Had Hosts of Friends, But Would Not Tell His Trouble.

(Anaconda, Montana, Standard, Feb. 3.) Despondent because of his inability to secure a position and possessed of a blue-blooded pride that precluded the asking of aid from his many friends, who would gladly have helped him, Charles V. de Bury, well known in Butte society and the son of a Belgian nobleman, sent a bullet from a special Colt's revolver crashing through his body in an attempt to end his life at his home, No. 4, in the Standard building, in East Granite street, Butte, shortly after 5 o'clock yesterday afternoon. The leaden missile entered the left breast below and to the left of the nipple, narrowly missing the heart, for which it was evidently aimed. It tore through the liver and the lung and passed out at the back between the sixth and seventh ribs. The difference of an inch would have ended the life of the would-be suicide. He lay in a comatose condition until he was removed to the St. Mary's hospital in a critical condition. Physicians in attendance cannot say what are his chances for recovery. If a vital organ has not been seriously injured, he may live.

That de Bury deliberately attempted self-destruction appears to be a certainty. He was found lying on the bed in his room gasping for breath. There were powder burns on his chest, indicating that the muzzle of the pistol had been pressed against his body when the shot was fired. The revolver was lying on the floor several feet from the body. De Bury had evidently fired while standing near the bureau and had then staggered to the bed, expiring in his room. The body was found by C. Frederick Sully, who is employed at Hennessy's. Mr. Sully asked Dr. Hays what had actuated him to shoot himself, and the young man replied: "I am giving you lots of trouble, am I not?" A hole in the wall of the room showed where the bullet had imbedded itself after passing through the body of de Bury. Mr. Sully was at dinner with his family when he heard a pistol shot. He could not at first locate the sound, but on passing through the hallway he heard a groan. Going to the room of de Bury he saw at a glance what had taken place. Satisfying himself that de Bury was still alive, Mr. Sully sent for physicians, and Dr. T. J. Sullivan and J. W. Gunn, whose offices are in the Hennessy building, responded. They said that de Bury was in a serious condition and sent for the ambulance from Murray & Frew's hospital.

In the meantime Dr. Murray of the hospital had been sent for, and when he arrived the physicians worked on the wounded man. At the hospital a further examination was made and the bullet in the breast and lung was dressed. There was no external hemorrhage and no symptoms of an internal rupture, which led the doctors to believe that de Bury had not been seriously injured. If a vital spot was not touched and blood poisoning does not set in, de Bury has a chance of recovery. At a late hour he was resting as quietly as could be expected. De Bury was born in St. John, New Brunswick, about 37 years ago. He is the son of Count R. V. de Bury of Belgium, but who now lives with his wife, one son, an attorney, and two daughters, in St. John. Count de Bury is reported to be wealthy. On Tuesday he was now located at St. Lucia, in the British West Indies, where he is doing service as a captain in the British royal artillery. Charles de Bury came to Butte about two NEARLY everybody is having la grippe again. It resembles somewhat in the beginning a severe cold. A chill or cold spell is followed by aching bones, sore throat, headache, cough, and general weakness. Its course may be quite slight or severe, but in either case it nearly always leaves one in a miserable condition.

Unless Perina is taken it will be weeks or months before a person regains his usual health. If the victim is fortunate enough to begin the use of Perina at the commencement of the attack the course of the grip is much shortened, and the system is left in a natural state.

People who have had la grippe, but are still suffering from the after-effects, should not neglect to take Perina, as it will promptly restore them to health.

Henry Distin, the inventor and maker of all the band instruments of the Henry Distin Manufacturing Co., writes the following from 141 South Ninth street, Philadelphia, Pa.:

"I had a bad attack of la grippe last December which lasted more than three months, and which left me with a chronic catarrh, and several of my friends advised me to try Perina. I began with a bottle the first week in March, and it certainly did me a great deal of good. I was so well satisfied that I purchased another bottle and followed the directions, and can say that it has cured me."—Henry Distin.

A large number of those who are afflicted with this epidemic, instead of getting well as they ought to, will have chronic catarrh as the result. This is almost invariably the case unless Perina is taken as soon as possible after the grip begins.

Every one who has observed the effects of Perina during the last three epidemics of la grippe positively knows that this remedy will cure it permanently.

The fact is, however, that a great multitude of people will not take Perina, and in a foundation for chronic catarrh will be laid.

Even in cases where chronic catarrh has affected the lungs, and the early stages of catarrhal consumption have been developed, Perina can be relied upon as a prompt and lasting cure. La grippe and catarrh are at present the two great enemies of life in the land. Perina is a cure for either.

If you do not derive prompt and satisfactory results from the use of Perina, write at once to Dr. Hartman, giving a full statement of your case and he will be pleased to give you his valuable advice gratis.

Two Earthquake Shocks on the 3rd Inst.—News Notes.

GRAND MANAN, Feb. 8.—The earthquake shock so generally felt over this province and Quebec on the 3rd inst., was also felt on this island. According to what your correspondent can gather, there were two distinct shocks felt here, one about 2 p. m., and the other about 8 p. m. The storm on the 2nd inst. was the worst for years. It used the Aurora very roughly at Gaskill's wharf. One vessel and a boat or two went ashore.

Shortly after a week ago Miss McCoskery suffered a relapse and Saturday passed quietly away. Deceased is survived by her mother, one brother, C. A. McCoskery, living in New York, and two sisters, Mrs. Joseph H. Ritchie and Miss Sarah McCoskery.

A BACON FOR MR. BLAIR. The I. C. R. has at last by a fluke got hold of a cargo. Owing to the deaths at Sand Point being occupied, the steamer Fitzcarbone, which had hundreds tons inward freight was compelled to dock at the I. C. R. terminus and is unloading her cargo there. It was consigned to the C. P. R., and would have been handled by them had a berth for the vessel been available. This not being the case the C. P. R. are compelled to let the I. C. R. take over the business. The cargo will amount to about forty carloads and the freight on to Montreal will be between $1,000 and $2,000.

Were the I. C. R. terminus under other control the C. P. R. would be able to unload the Fitzcarbone's cargo and haul it over their own line, but as the terminus is controlled by the I. C. R., that railway is exercising its privilege and refusing to make any agreement with the C. P. R.

She was the last few years of her life, the oldest woman in the province. In all she had sixteen children, eight boys and eight girls, and of these ten are living at the present time. The eldest is eighty-nine years of age, and the baby of the family carries her sixty-four years as if they were but little more than half that number. The members of this remarkable family are:

TO RELEASE MISS STONE.

Missionaries and Diplomats Should Surrender the Job to Newspaper Man.

NEW YORK, Feb. 10.—Rev. Henry Otis Dwight of the American mission at Constantinople, who is now in this city, has received from missionary sources a letter giving a new phase of the cause which have delayed the surrender of Miss Stone. The letter says:

"Prospects of the release of Miss Stone are much lessened by the well meant activity of newspaper correspondents. The situation is extremely critical. It has taken months to convince the captors of Miss Stone that the ransom money has reached its limit. Men chosen for the delicate mission because of their acquaintance with Orientals have faced serious personal risk in the attempt to carry that mass of gold into the wild region where the brigands can be met. They have bravely stood between the millionaires, knowing that after the money had been paid and before the captives are released, the whole enterprise may come to grief through the untimely zeal of those in charge of soldiers and police in the neighborhood. Now, besides the ordinary news of the newspapers, correspondents appearing on the ground with orders to be present when the money is paid and the captives are released. The brigands simply will not risk the presence of any stranger. The general self-interest of the newspaper interest is an absolute condition of success in negotiations where complications, quite unknown to strangers are essential factors of the case."

A crew of men are hauling ice for Henry O'Neill, Angus Kennedy, as usual, is having the ice house at his hotel filled. DARKEST AFRICA.

A St. John Man, Now in the Niger Protectorate, Describes Life There as it Appears to a Young Canadian.

Dear Foster:—I will write you in diary form starting from the 19th of Nov., and if you wish, I will some day write you out my diary from the time I left New York for I have kept a diary for several years in one form and another.

Nov. 19th.—I hadam—I awoke about 6 a. m., feeling dull, with a headache. As we were at early tea (8.30) the three women carriers ordered the night-bearer, appeared and carried my three loads down to the yard, then the head woman demanded how much we were going to give them.

Nov. 21st.—Baptist Mission House, Oyo.—We had early tea, as it was breaking day, and started again. We walked for an hour and a half, then camped under a large ebony tree in a small village, here we had ekoin and started in the hammocks again and arrived here about 4 p. m.

Nov. 24th.—I went to church morning and afternoon, but of course could understand nothing that was said. When we arrived home in the morning I found my man, the first I have received from home since leaving St. John. It was a delight. I hope from this out the mail will be often. I forgot to say that lots of natives have come to welcome me. One man brought some jam. The chief of this quarter sent me a duck. It is the custom to send presents to newcomers. Mr. Pinnock has given me some of the new cases to treat. One is a very bad sore on the ankle. The tendons around are all bare. One has rotted away. After dispensary we walked the king and the crown prince. They both received us kindly. The king promised us help in building at Ishoki if we should decide on settling there. He is ruler of that part of the country. He seems pleased with the idea, and said he was pleased with me, as we were leaving he presented me with a basket full of coverlets, about a bushel or more, and a little black kid. Mr. Pinnock and he are great friends, and he wanted to put the king's marks on Mr. Pinnock's arm. This is done by cutting three

Nov. 26th.—The day we went to visit a very powerful man, but he was not there to meet us. Generally, the travellers stop over night in the station, but Mr. Edmondson, a foreman brick-layer, working on the railway, an old friend of Mr. Pinnock's invited us to dinner and gave us a very nice room, and bed.

Nov. 27th.—I visited the blind man who had his hand nearly cut off by robbers. The wound is healing nicely. We also called upon the Western missionaries, Messrs. Edmondson and Welbow, both of whom came from England when I did. Harold and Corey Pinnock were visiting Mr. and Mrs. Jones all day, and we called on them to bring the boys home. Mr. and Mrs. Jones are C. M. S. missionaries in charge of the men's training school. They are going to start tomorrow on an itinerant trip.

Nov. 28th.—After dressing a bad leg, Mr. Pinnock and I went to a village three and a half miles from Oyo, where we have a work started and a native evangelist. We walked all the way there, but took turns in the hammock coming back. As we were passing through the market at drum beat, the people shouted. Soon after we met a tall fine looking man with a curious shaped piece of polished steel. After talking to him awhile, Mr. Pinnock told me he was the chief of the district. These are the most powerful men in Oyo. He asked where we were going. Mr. Pinnock told our mission. The old fellow asked if I was a doctor, and if I would be his doctor. One of the operations Miss Palmer wanted to do was a money tumor on the upper jaw over the front teeth of a woman. This I cut off as well as I could. The woman taking no anesthetic, never moved a muscle through it all. Another operation was to lance a sore on a woman's cheek. There is a grand chance for this kind of work. I wish I had some more instruments and medicines. I could do a lot more good. Our board give no extra money for such things.

Dear Mother: I have changed my plans; instead of going to Ogbomoso I expect tomorrow Mr. Pinnock and I will start off on a trip to Ishaki and surrounding country. Our party will consist of eighteen, Mr. Pinnock and I, four hammock carriers, eight other carriers, a native preacher, Mr. Pinnock's boy and my boy and the king's messenger, who is introducing us to the chiefs. We take a tent, two folding beds, two folding chairs and a folding table, two boxes of food and a box of cooking utensils and one hammock, Mr. Pinnock's things and mine. We only take one hammock for we only expect to make short journeys about fifteen miles a day and we will take turns in the hammock. Travelling in the early morning resting in the heat of the day and preaching in the evening. Mr. Pinnock is going to act as business manager and I as doctor of the expedition. We will combine in this trip, first—prospecting for a new station for my work; second—preaching in the towns and villages; third—natural science. We expect to do some good or wish to; we expect to have a pleasant trip and to keep up our health. At present I feel grand. I do not know that I ever felt better. I expect to spend Xmas here with the Pinnocks. We will just get back about that time. Then I go on to Ogbomoso. Remember me to all the folks.

LOSS TEN MILLIONS

Paterson, N. J., Swept by Two Great Fires.

The Business Section of the Town Reduced to Ashes.

Flames Fanned by a Northeasterly Gale.

Acre of Glowing Embers—Sale of Liquor Stopped by the Mayor—Grand Assistance From Adjacent Towns—Hundreds Homeless; Thousands Without Employment.

PATERSON, N. J., Feb. 9.—A great fire swept through Paterson, N. J., today, and in its desolate wake are the embers and ashes of property valued in preliminary estimates at $10,000,000.

The great manufacturing plants of the place are safe, and the community temporarily dazed by the calamity has already commenced the work of reorganization and restoration.

The fire came at last midnight and was only checked after a desperate fight that lasted until late this afternoon. Every city and town within reach of Paterson sent firemen and apparatus to the relief of the threatened city, and it took the united efforts of them all to win the battle.

A north-easterly wind fanned the conflagration into a furious and carried its burning brands to kindle the blaze afresh at other points. The flames made stand after stand before the fire, but were repeatedly driven back, and when victory finally came it was at a cost of $10,000,000.

PATERSON, N. J., Feb. 9.—Main street was soon arched over with a canopy of fire for a block, and then for two blocks, as the flames fastened themselves upon building after building. The firemen fought with every resource, but in the end found none.

There was a series of explosions, and scores of walls fell when the fire left them standing. Flying firebrands carried the conflagration over some buildings and around others, and it threatened the city on every side.

This second great fire started at the angle between the street and the city hall, where the fire department is located. The fire spread rapidly, and in a few minutes it had reached the city hall.

Hundreds of persons hurried into the city before daylight to watch the work of destruction. The police force was overwhelmed, and many of the firemen were injured.

Early in the day the mayor issued an order for the city to be put under martial law. The city was in a state of confusion, and many of the firemen were injured.

The fire department was established early in the city, and it was one of the first to be organized. The firemen were brave and efficient, and they did their best to save the city.

Pale blood—pale face—poor health; Scott's Emulsion—red blood—rosy face—good health, that's the order of events.

Our first lines give a condensed history of many cases, chiefly young girls at school. For some reason girls of that age are frequent sufferers from pale blood—a real blood starvation.

Scott's Emulsion, a clean white medicine, makes rich, red blood and rosy faces. It is blood food.

CONCERT IN MONUMENT WHO GO TO POLIT.

BERLIN, Feb. 10.—The official North German Gazette this evening says Lord Pauncefote's proposal, April 14, 1898, to send a collective note to the government of the United States declaring American intervention (in Cuba) to be unjustifiable, is a historical fact and proceeds to characterize as absurd the attempt now being made to obscure and dispute an event which did not occur in the presence of the representatives of only two powers, but on which the representatives of all the powers at Washington, after reaching an agreement, reported to their respective governments, April 14, 1898, simultaneously and identically.

HONOR FOR AN N. B. BOY.

Son of Hon. L. P. Farris Wins Distinction at University of Pennsylvania. In open competition of the University of Pennsylvania last week, J. Wallace del. Farris, son of Hon. L. P. Farris, won the Frazier prize of $75 awarded to the best debater in the university for the year. He was also selected a leader of the team of three which will represent Pennsylvania in their annual debate with the University of Michigan, which takes place on March 7. As both the prize and the position are among the most eagerly coveted awards in the gift of the university, the honor won by the young provincialist is far greater than that represented by the money value of the prize.

COFFEE EYES.

It Attacks Many Persons There. To illustrate how coffee can affect the eyes, I can remember I have been subjected to severe attacks of headache, otherwise my health was pretty good until a short time ago my eyes became affected; they ached and pained me continually and were often badly inflamed. I also had queer, dizzy feelings in my head almost continually.

THE KING VACCINATED.

The London Mail of a recent date speaking of the precautions being taken against smallpox, says: "The King himself was vaccinated before he went to Sandringham, but his arm has not been very inflamed."
