DARING RAID ON ENGLISH COAST CITIES FAILS IN ITS OBJECT

Five Powerful Battle Cruisers and two Armored Cruisers Bombard three Coast Towns Killing Noncombatants and Inflicting Much Damage.

55 PERSONS KILLED 155 WOUNDED.

(Special to the Graphic)

York, (via London) Dec. 17.—Refugees from Scarborough are still arriving at York and Leeds at an early hour today, although bombardment of Scarborough by German warships began at eight o'clock yesterday morning and lasted but half an hour. At Scarborough last evening the moving picture houses were open, but all the people were discussing the attack in which five children, five women and seven men perished, thirty were wounded and over a hundred houses were hit. One battleship and two cruisers did the firing, steaming northward after bombardment. Not a shot was fired in reply by the city, as there were no cannon.

Among many dramatic incidents was one in which one family of four was wiped out. The father died in the hospital, but his wife, son and nephew were killed outright. A shell blew down the chimney and part of roof of the hospital. Patients were unharmed, although they were thrown into panic. Shells were all explosive. Hotel, church and many houses were hit. The British war office fixes the number of dead at Hartlepool as seven soldiers and 22 civilians and the wounded, at fourteen soldiers and fifty civilians. At Scarborough thirteen casualties are reported, while at Whitby two were killed and two wounded. Men, women and children of civilian population were left dead or wounded, struck while at breakfast or at work. In all the casualty list totals 110 according to official estimates, of whom 31 are known to be dead.

All coast towns are preparing themselves in case of another murderous attack by German barbarians.

London, Dec. 17.—Official bureau today says that 55 persons were killed and 155 wounded at Hartlepool by the German naval raid Wednesday.

(Special to the Graphic)

London, Dec. 16.—The sequel to the daring raid on Hartlepool, Whitby and Scarborough failed to materialize during the day.

Five powerful German battle cruisers and two armored cruisers strike simultaneously at these points and inflict heavy damage, killing thirty-one and wounding seventy-nine.

Land batteries thought to have inflicted some damage, but enemy ran away when attacked by patrolling squadron.

England stirred to still, cold anger and good effect of coast raid predicted.

Allies continue cautious advance. Gains were made in Flanders, while French also attack strongly in Alsace.

London, Dec. 16 (11.20 a.m.)—The official bureau announces:

"German movements of some importance are taking place this morning in the North Sea. Scarborough and Hartlepool have been shelled and our flotilla have at various points been engaged.

The situation is developing.

Scarborough, Eng., Dec. 16.—(via London 12.13 p.m.)—Four German cruisers bombarded the town of Scarborough this morning.

Hartlepool, Eng., Dec. 16.—(Via London, 12 o'clock noon)—The residents of Hartlepool were awakened this morning by heavy gun firing. A great crowd at once assembled on the beach to learn whence the sounds came. Shells from the German ships soon began dropping into the city, whereupon the crowd on the beach rapidly sought shelter.

Hull, Dec. 16 (via London, 2.12 p.m.)—The arrival of the German raiders off Scarborough took place under cover of a thick veil of fog. Some people declared they saw a German cruiser lying off Castle Cliff.

The roof of Saint Martin's Church was struck and one woman is known to have been killed.

Another church was damaged and the roofs of several houses were carried away by shells.

The people were greatly excited. They rushed from their houses at the first sound of firing, and women and children were seen running through streets in their night clothes.

Whitby, York, Eng., Dec. 16.—(Via London, 1.48 p.m.)—Two German cruisers bombarded this town between 9 and 10 this morning.

London, Dec. 16, 1.44 p.m.—The official press bureau this afternoon made the following announcement with regard to the German attack on the North Sea coast of England:

"The fortress commander at West Hartlepool reports that German vessels engaged that fortress between eight o'clock and nine o'clock this morning.

"The enemy were driven off. A small German war vessel also opened fire on Scarborough and Whitby."

London, Dec. 16.—Reports circulated here late this afternoon, that the British fleet which went in pursuit of the German vessels engaged in the bombardment of the English coast cities succeeded in sinking two of the enemy's ships.

Also, reports that the British fleet had suffered some damage. The Press Bureau would not confirm either of these or scores of other rumors in circulation here.

Newcastle, Eng., Dec. 16.—The bombardment of Hartlepool began at 8 a.m. Several British battleships have already arrived there and others are on their way. The gas works have been set on fire. Several rows of houses have been destroyed, and a number of persons killed.

London, Dec. 16.—The British patrol fleet has engaged the German raiders at several points, but the outcome of the engagement had not been announced early this afternoon. It is believed the fleet commanders were to run up the enemy.

It is 400 miles across the North Sea to Kiel from Scarbor-

HAS FOOT CRUSHED
IN RAILWAY YARDS

Ogilvie Ferguson Meets With Serious Accident Early on Monday Morning

Early on Monday morning, Mr. A. Ogilvie Ferguson met with a serious accident in the I. C. R. yard here, where he was employed as a brakeman. He was coupling up cars in the yard, and the clutch not working properly, he in a railwayman's way, kicked it with his foot, which got caught in the coupling. He was unable to get assistance, and had to put the draw bar himself to release the injured foot, which was dreadfully crushed. He was removed on a stretcher to his home and medical attendance summoned. It was at first thought necessary to amputate, but it was later found that the foot could be saved, although the unfortunate young man suffered fearful pain.

He is the oldest son of Mr. J. C. Ferguson, is married and has three small children. The injury which is still very painful, will confine him to the house for two or three months.

Neither Scarborough nor Hartlepool is fortified. Scarborough has a population of 40,000 people, and during the summer months the seaside hotels are crowded. At this time of the year, however, the hotels are comparatively deserted. Hartlepool, together with West Hartlepool, has a population of 90,000.

GERMANY DOOMED TO SURE DEFEAT

New York Times Aably Describes the Situation—Diplomats as Soldiers

New York, Dec. 15.—In a leading editorial today the New York Times says:

"Germany is doomed to sure defeat. Bankrupt in statesmanship, overmatched in arms, under the moral condemnation of the civilized world, befriended only by the Austrian and the Turk, two backward looking and dying nations, desperately battling against the hosts of three great powers, to which help and reinforcement from states now neutral, will certainly come should the decision be long deferred, she pours out the blood of her heroic subjects, and wastes her diminishing substance in a hopeless struggle that, postponed, cannot but alter the fatal decrees. Yet the doom of the German empire may become the deliverance of the German people if they will, be timely, but seize and hold their own."

"Leipsic began and Waterloo achieved the emancipation of the French people from the bloody, selfish and sterile domination of the Corsican ogre. St. Helena made it secure. Sedan sent the little Napoleon sprawling, and the statesmen of France instantly established and proclaimed the republic? Will the Germans blindly insist on having their Waterloo, their Sedan—their St. Helena, too?"

"A million Germans have been sacrificed, a million German homes are desolate. Must other millions die, and yet other millions mourn before the people of Germany take in the court of reason and human liberty their appeal from the imperial and military caste that rushes them to their ruin? They have their full justification in the incompetence and failure of their rulers. German diplomacy and German militarism have broken down."

"The world cannot, will not, let Germany win in this war. With her dominating all Europe peace and security would vanish from the earth. A few months ago, the world only dimly comprehended Germany; now it knows her thoroughly. So if England, France and Russia cannot prevail against her, Italy, with her 2,000,000, the sturdy Hollanders, the Swiss—hard men in a

MUST ACCEPT PRICE SET BY GOVERNMENT

Contract of $900,000 for Motor Trucks and Wagons to be Awarded to Firms Whose Models are Approved

Ottawa, Ont., Dec. 14.—It is understood that the government is ready to award contracts to the amount of $900,000 for motor trucks, wagons, etc., provided that the firms whose trucks and wagons have been approved, will come down to the government's price. The motor trucks that have been selected are understood to be the Kelly, Paclard and White. The first can be got at 25 per cent. below catalogue price and the other two must agree to do the same in order to get their share of the contract, it is said. The plan is to buy the parts from these American companies and do the assembling in Canada.

THE CHRISTMAS TABLE

For the woman who likes to entertain Christmas offers many opportunities. The social obligations of months may be paid off at this time with little extra trouble or expense. Decorations, of course, must be reasonable, although the Christmas table may be decorated in a number of ways.

Christmas bells covered with holly will give a festive appearance to any dining room. Strong wires wrapped around with ribbon and draped with greens should be fastened to the chandelier and bent to form the support of the bells. Each small bell is then suspended by a loop and bow of red ribbon to fall in front of a plate.

A large bell hangs a little higher in the center. From each tongue of the small bells is fastened a place card by means of a baby ribbon. Around each plate there is a garland of evergreen fastened with a bow of red ribbon. This makes a very pretty table.

fight—the Danes, the Greeks, and the men of the Balkans will come to their aid and make sure that the work is finished, once for all."

IF I WAS SANTA CLAUS

If I was only Santa Claus. I know what I would do. They'd be a lot of folks surprised, I bet 'fore I got through; I don't think Santa always does things in the proper style; I wish that I was Santa Claus 'or just a little while.

I'd give my sister Sue a gun— A dandy twenty-two— I'd put a little note on it That said: "This is for Sue, If you don't want it, I'd suggest You let your little brother Tim Take charge of it; You'll get much joy From knowin' you've pleased him."

I'd bring my dad a padded glove— A ketchin' glove I mean; I'd have for ma a dandy sled— A bow and arrow I would bring For my big brother Jim, I wouldn't be much work at all To get them 'way from him.

I'd bring Aunt Ann some base ball pants; I'd have them just my size, She'd see the point without the hints, That Aunt of mine is wise; A bow and arrow I would bring For my big brother Jim, I wouldn't be much work at all To get them 'way from him. And for myself, I'd bring a dog, Six rabbits and a goat, A baby-wild cat I could train, A pony and a boat, Ten pounds of chocolates, five of cake, A tool-box full of saws— Say! Wouldn't I do things up right If I was Santa Claus?

THAT COLD YOU HAVE

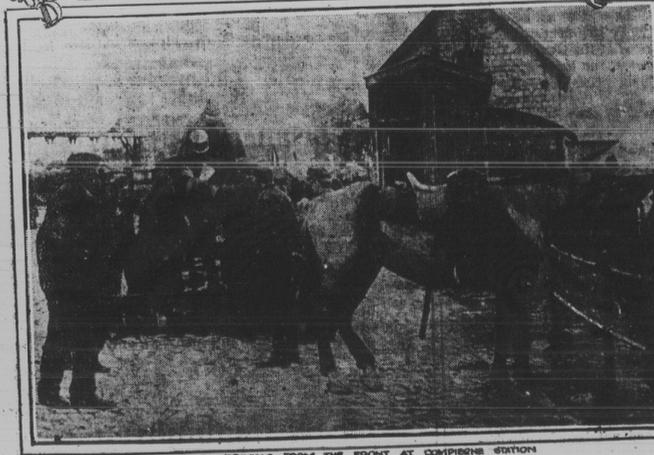

may bring sickness, doctors bills and loss of work; you know that serious sickness usually starts with a cold, and a cold only exists where weakness exists. Remember that. Overcome the weakness and nature cures the cold—that is the law of reason. Carefully avoid drugged pills, syrups or stimulants; they are only props and braces and whips. It is the pure medicinal nourishment in Scott's Emulsion that quickly enriches the blood, strengthens the lungs and helps heal the air passages. And mark this well—Scott's Emulsion generates body heat as protection against winter sickness. Get Scott's at your drug store to-day. It always strengthens and builds up.

TREE DECORATION

For a variation in the way of table decoration set tiny Christmas trees at the four corners of a large mirror and a larger tree in the centre. The frame of the mirror and the three stands should be covered with green moss, over which asbestos snow should be piled. The trees should be decorated with tinsel and ornaments, and the centre tree may have small candles.

THE BASKET CENTERPIECE

The hostess who prefers a simpler decoration may perhaps find something to her liking in the following suggestion of a tasteful combination of holly and ribbon: A silver basket—or if a silver basket is not at hand any basket of a fancy weave of straw—filled with holly may form the centerpiece for the dinner table. A bow of red ribbon should be tied on the handle with one end trailing on the table. Bank holly around the basket, coming to points on the white table cloth.

CHRISTMAS CANDIES

Christmas candies make suitable favors for the Christmas dinner or for the children's Yuletide party. The candies should be placed in fancy boxes, of which a wide assortment shown in the shops at the holiday season will serve as inspiration for those who wish to make their own. After all, with a little gay paper, some cardboard and a jar of paste very creditable substitutes may be prepared in case the hostess does not wish to purchase boxes.

THE CHRISTMAS SEASON

Only a week now separate us from the golden festival of the year, and the indications that it is drawing nigh are becoming more and more abundant. Preparations are being made for its customary home celebration, for the usual gift giving, the family reunions, and the rejoicings special to the season. This is right. Apart from the importance of neglecting nothing to stimulate trade, it is well also that everyone should try to be as happy and to make others as happy as possible and to forget even for a day the gloomy thought, the sadness and anxieties begotten of this awful war.

Anything should be sincerely welcomed that will bring even temporary relief from contemplation of the dreadful spectacle of millions of our fellow men in Europe grappling in a death struggle, of tens of thousands of homes laid waste and countless households plunged into mourning for the loss of loved ones, and of strife and hatred, instead of peace, gladness and good will filling the hearts of great Christian nations. We still believe that the spirit that pervades the Christmas season is not dead in spite of war's loud tumult and devastation and that the old-time celebration of the great festival will do good to all. It will tend not only to draw tighter the bonds of family affection and to brighten many homes that would otherwise be sad and dull enough, while the misery caused by the war will appeal on this occasion more strongly to all of us and our gifts will be bestowed more liberally on those at home and abroad who are not so fortunate as we are.

In these sad days, too, when so many children are deprived of the heritage of happiness, which is childhood's right, the little ones should not be forgotten. We may not be able to gladden all the childish hearts abroad, which are innocently suffering through man's inhumanity to man, but we can at least bring joy to many at home, whose belief in Santa Claus is one of childhood's most beautiful traditions and to whom his visits are always rare and likely to be rarer this year. Notwithstanding the cutting off of the German toy trade there seems to be an abundance of material still on hand to rejoice the expectant little hearts, if we can judge from the displays in many store windows.

THEY ARE WAKING UP.

Signs are multiplying that the German people are waking to a realization of the seriousness of their position as a nation, and they are beginning to place responsibility where it properly belongs. Thus we see in a letter by Professor Paul Natorp, published in the Kölnische Zeitung, the statement that "Never" however, would he (Bismarck) have allowed it to come to pass that when the war became inevitable the three greatest powers, outside of Germany and the United States, should be allied in opposition against us. And that would have sufficed to maintain peace. For no two of the three powers would, without being sure of the third, have dared to attack the indissolubly united forces of Germany and Austria."

Further on in this remarkable letter Professor Natorp makes this bold statement: "In this sense I do not hesitate to declare, although a German that Germany is not altogether innocent of the outbreak of the war; not that there can be even the slightest doubt of her sincerest love of peace, but her diplomats did not recognize the road upon which alone peace could have been maintained, or did not know how to conquer the towering difficulties which confronted them on that road."

That the German people are thinking, and not only thinking but talking thus clearly and openly, is proof that though they are bravely fighting for the Fatherland, they realize that they, through their war lords, are responsible for the trouble, and when this idea becomes generally accepted, as it surely will, there promises to be a bad half hour for the bosses of the German people.

Sultan Mehmed V., in his speech to Parliament, declared that war had been forced on Turkey and that Great Britain, Russia and France were to blame. He is only partly right in his declaration. The Ottoman Empire certainly was forced into the fray, but it was by the hand of its ally, Germany, as the Grand Vizier and other dignitaries very well know, and have admitted. Mehmed seemingly has some of the traits of his relative and predecessor in office, Abdul Hamid, the banished.

Lord Cromer, former British Consul-General in Egypt, in a communication to the London Times, declares that as a result of the war that country must be wholly and irrevocably relieved from the pernicious yoke of Turkish suzerainty. It may accordingly be predicted that His Highness the Khedive Abbas II. is about to join the growing ranks of monarchs out of a job, and also that Egypt will henceforth be more British.

PRESENTATION

On Dec. 1st, quite a number of the friends of Mrs. Harrison and Miss MacPherson met at their home in Richardsville and presented each of the above ladies mentioned, with a purse of gold. The presentation being made by Mr. Jas. Adams, and address read by Mr. Geo. E. Sevil, which is as follows:-

Mrs. Harrison and Miss MacPherson. Dear Friends:- It is with feeling of deep regret, that we, your friends in Richardsville have heard of your intended departure from among us.

During the period you have been with us you have endeared yourselves to us all by your hearty interest in Church, and Sabbath School, as Organist, teacher, and Secretary.

It becomes by pleasant duty on behalf of your friends, to present you in their name, this gift as a small token of the esteem in which you are held. Our very sincere wishes go with you to your new home, and hoping amid your new duties, "you will not forget us".

Signed on behalf of Union Church Congregation, Richardsville, Dec. 1st, 1914.

Mrs. Harrison and Miss MacPherson were taken completely by surprise, but replied in a few well chosen words.

The evening was then spent in speeches, recitations and singing. Then all repaired to their respective homes, wishing Mr. and Mrs. Harrison and Miss MacPherson every happiness in their new home, (Campbellton).

THE RED FOLDER

(Canadian Government Railway Employees Magazine). A time table folder is perhaps the largest and most direct medium of intercourse between the Passenger Department of a railway and the traveler, actual and prospective. It is necessary the information the railway wishes to impart should be accurate and comprehensive. So the proposition in the preparation of a time folder resolves itself into reducing a mass of figures, instructions, general information and advice to an easily found, read and quickly understood basis.

In recent years the railways of Canada and the United States in their march of progress have not neglected the time folder and marked advancement can be noted in the simplification and tabulation of the material published, and the erstwhile rather common expression "as puzzling as a railway time table" is rapidly becoming a misnomer.

Though retaining the familiar red cover, the October issue of the Canadfolder, to use a printer's expression, appears in a new dress. Each page is now of uniform size bordered by a fine rule, with an electrotype heading indicating whether the information contained on that page pertains to the Government Railways in general or a division of the system in particular.

The border and rule are printed in red and the text in black, a combination most pleasing to the eye. Commencing in logical order, is a table of contents alphabetically arranged accounting for each of its thirty-eight pages. Following this is an index with the designating letter in prominent and plainer face type so that the reader can find any station on the Intercolonial, Prince Edward Island Railway, National Transcontinental, International and New Brunswick & P. E. I. Railway, and having found it, is referred to the table in which such station will appear. The table number is another new feature of the October issue and has been adopted with the view of referring the reader more quickly to the relation the station has in view bears to the other stations and the train runs by which it can best be reached. A list of the officers of the Government Railways, their sphere of action and office addresses, with the Canadian ticket agencies will be found on page 5. Then follows the time table proper. A first glance will show there has been a house cleaning. The odds and ends which had crept into the older issues have disappeared. There has also been a combing out process in the footnotes—where explanations are given as to the particular conditions under which trains will stop at certain stations. All the reader now has to do is to note the train number and the particular letter prefixed before the time opposite the station in which he is interested and a heavy faced letter easily picked out in the footnotes will indicate just the conditions under which that particular train will stop at that particular station. A very plain and up-to-date map occupies the four centre pages. Still another new feature, and one that will be appreciated by passengers to Portland, Boston, New York, Philadelphia, Ottawa, Toronto, Buffalo, Detroit, Chicago, etc., is the arrangement of condensed time tables of connecting lines. The sleeping, dining and parlor car service is all contained on one page. The general information has been revised with a view to making it more readily understood.

All the reader is now asked is to apply the alphabet to his quest for information and the railway has done the rest. The October folder is certainly a distinct improvement on any previous issue.

FIRE AT THE STEAM LAUNDRY ON MONDAY

Gasolene Burner Explodes and the Premises are Completely Gutted.—Loss Insured

On Friday morning about 10.30, the brigade were called out to a serious fire at the Globe Laundry on Pater-son Street, near to the I. C. R. track. The brigade were quickly on the scene, but the fire had a good hold of the building, which was of wood, when they arrived and burned fiercely. The employees had barely time to escape, leaving some of their clothing and hats behind them, and in a very short time the building was gutted.

The fire started near the outside door from a collar finishing machine, which was heated by gasolene, which in some manner exploded, blowing a window and scattering fire all around. Although there was a large quantity of laundry articles in, a good deal of it was saved, but still the loss which is covered by insurance, will be pretty heavy.

It is not likely that the premises will be rebuilt this winter, which means a heavy loss to both proprietor and employees. The building was owned and managed by Mr. Geo. Sansom.

HAVE SUFFICIENT CASH ON HAND NOW

Belgian Relief Committee at Antwerp Asks That Goods Are More Desirable

The Belgian Relief Committee of New Brunswick have given out for publication the following letter:—"From the most reliable information that we could secure, namely from the Central Committee at Antwerp, who has charge of the distribution of all relief supplies, we were advised that food stuff was more desirable than cash, as they had sufficient cash on hand for all requirements, and in fact returned $5000, that had been sent them by the N. S. Government, asking to have this invested in food stuff to load the steamer now at Halifax. Acting on this advice our Committee invested what funds we had on hand in flour, amounting in all to 3400 ninety eight pound bags, which we got at a very low rate f. o. b. one of the Lake Ports. This rate was nearly $1.00 per barrel lower than the best wholesale price today, and we would advise that all cash collected or raised by the different mediums throughout the Province be sent to the Central Committee, St. John, Mayor James H. Frink, Treasurer, to be invested in large wholesale quantities, as a dollar would go much farther invested in this way than buying small quantities of goods from a local dealer."

PRESENTATION TO MUSIC DIRECTOR

Surprise Gift Tendered the Conductor of the Patriotic Chorus on Monday Night

On Monday evening at the close of the practise of the choir for the Patriotic Concert tonight, the young ladies of the choir provided the members with tea, sandwiches and cake, after which Mr. Wm. M. Ferguson, on behalf of the chorus, presented the conductor with a beautiful reading lamp, to mark the occasion of an approaching event in which he was to take part. Mr. MacColl, who was greatly surprised at the kindness of the members of the chorus, briefly returned thanks. Mr. R. B. Gerrard, on behalf of St. Andrew's Presbyterian Church choir, then presented him with two beautiful chairs, with the best wishes of the choir.

The recipient of these lovely articles was quite embarrassed in receiving two presentations in one evening, but was greatly touched by the kind thoughtfulness of his many friends.

CORRECTION
A correspondent points out to us that the late Thos. Corbett, conductor on the I. C. R., could not have worked on the road 40 years as the first passenger train passed through Campbellton on the 22nd Dec. 1875, just 39 years ago. Our information regarding the late gentleman's length of service was received from Moncton, and we were under the impression he had worked on the road while it was being constructed.

LEADERSHIP (Notes on an Address by Mrs. Blanche Read Johnston, Dom. Press Supt.) Acts 1: 14; 2: 17; 6: 2-5.

In considering the claims, opportunities, and responsibilities of our work, I have chosen for my brief address a subject which appealed to me as a very important one at this crisis hour in the history of our great Dominion—the need of leaders. I think there can be but one answer to the question, "Do we need leaders?" Every department of Christian service or moral effort is crippled for lack of workers.

The mission field! There is more money available now for mission work and more doors wide open than are there missionaries to enter them.

In the ministry! Everywhere throughout the land we are told there are empty pulpits. Deaconesses are needed. Leaders in the Suffrage are needed urgently.

In the Sunday school! The need is efficient teachers. What great things we could do with our L. T. L. if we had a sufficient number of workers. Every department of our W. C. T. U. work is suffering for the lack of consecrated, capable leaders. The clock of opportunity is striking one little word in the present tense—NOW.

The Honor of Leadership. There is a sense of dignity attached to the position of a leader which must not be forgotten. But the honor brings a correspondingly great weight of responsibility. The man or woman who is unwilling to shoulder and carry responsibilities connected with his or her work will never make a leader.

The policy of throwing responsibility back upon another is a sure method of developing weakness and indecision; two failings that a leader dare not evidence. Its influence is deadening, its effect is disorder, and its final result—absolute defeat.

A burden that gives strength—The bearing of responsibility makes for strength of character and shrinking from it will help to destroy what noble characteristics we possess. No matter what side of aggressive work we look at, the development of a true sense of responsibility everywhere is essential to strong leadership.

Did time permit I would like to call the honor roll of women great in leadership.

(1) I would mention the Queen of mothers—the Holy Mother—the mother of our Lord. Motherhood must take pre-eminence in the realm of woman's leadership. Good mothers make good homes, good communities, good nations.

(2) Mary and Martha—friends of Jesus.

(3) The women at the tomb, ambassadors of the Cross and the Resurrection. They were leaders in telling the story of the Christ.

(4) Priscilla, who was one who "improved and expanded the theology of the eloquent Apollos." A professor of theology I sometimes call her.

(5) Anna, who was a prophetess in the temple courts and publicly welcomed the Holy Child in its precincts; and Paul mentions a host of women associates in the work of the early Church in his last words to the Romans, chap. 16: 1-27, and in other Scriptures.

(6) Dorcas, founder of the mission.

of service of clothing the poor and needy, which is found in all Christian communities to-day.

(7) Florence Nightingale, who lighted the way to the honored profession of nursing.

(8) Elizabeth Fry, bearing her message of hope and cleanliness into the prisons to the unfortunate delinquents and criminals incarcerated there.

(9) Josephine Butler, with her loving helpfulness for fallen and cast-out women.

(10) Lady Huntington, inspiring courage to those who were oppressed for their religious convictions.

(11) Catherine Booth, peacemaker of teachers, flinging wide open doors on to the platform and pulpit for thousands of women.

(12) Frances Willard, reformer and organizer of women into battalions of aggressive service for humanity. The greatest federation of women in the world. And a multitude who stand in the firing line of earnest devotion to-day fighting for liberty, truth, sobriety, and purity.

I think we should erect on the altar of our hearts, a memorial to the noble army of women who have blazed the path for us.

In our modern days, women everywhere are entering fresh departments of life work. But once it meant even greater misunderstanding, even opprobrium, for those who left the beaten paths of conventionality.

But we pass on to speak of the sacrifice of leadership. No one must undertake leadership in our Master's work unless she is prepared to make sacrifices of time and pleasure. It has been said that women's chief work is to suffer, and one must be prepared for understandings; suffering of body if it. Suffering of mind through misunderstandings; suffering of body if not physically robust; suffering of spirit sometimes, perhaps, because of the sense of isolation or lack of appreciation often felt by the true leader.

Note.—Oh, dear friends, do not let us be afraid to speak the cheering word to each other. Do not wait to give the flowers until their fragrance falls upon unresponsive senses. Give the roses of appreciation now, while ears not deafened by death's cold hand may listen and be inspired and encouraged in their efforts of uplifting.

PICKED UP TWO AVIATORS IN NORTH SEA

British Airmen Rescued After Motor Became Disabled and They Dropped to Sea

London, Dec. 14.—A telegram to Reuter's Telegram Company from Flushing says that the Dutch steamer Oranje Nassau has picked up two aviators in the North Sea.

The aviators proved to be a British officer and his mechanic, who had been compelled to descend upon the sea on account of the motor of their seaplane becoming disabled.

At first they refused to leave their craft until they were assured they would not be interned in Holland, wither the vessel was bound.

It was reported that the aviators had been flying over Belgium, where they dropped five bombs.

WAR COURAGE. MANY a man in Canada, willing to go a-warring across the seas, is unwilling to fight at home—against the shadowy foes or bad times or of business depression. This is a time in Canada when Canadian business men should fight—fight to capture new trade and to hold old trade. To stop one's advertising is to withdraw a powerful offensive and defensive force, and to expose one's business without a guard. If the courage of manufacturers, wholesalers, retailers—the generals and captains of trade and industry—fails, the courage of the nation will ebb. Keep up Your Courage. Keep up Your Advertising. OLD SANTA CLAUS. Old Santa Claus sat all alone in his den With his leg crossed over his knee, While a comical look peeped out at his eye, For a funny fellow is he. His queer little cap was tumbled and torn, And his wig was all awry, Put he sat and mused the whole day long, While the hours went flying by. He had been as busy as busy could be In filling his pack with toys, He had gathered his nuts and baked his pies To give to the girls and boys. There were dolls for the girls and whips for the boys, With wheelbarrows, horses and drays, And bureaus and trunks for dolly's new clothes, All these in his pack he displays. Of candy, too, both twisted and striped, He had furnished a plentiful store, While raisins and figs and prunes and grapes Hung up on a peg by the door. "I am almost ready," quoth he, quoth he, "And Christmas is almost here, But one thing more—I must write them a book And give to each one this year. So he clapped his specs to his little round nose, And, seizing the stump of a pen, He wrote more lines in one little hour Than you ever could read in ten. He told them stories, all pretty and new, And wrote them all out in rime, Then packed them away with his box of toys To distribute one at a time. And Christmas eve when all were in bed Right down the chimney he flew, And, stretching the stocking leg out at the top, He clapped in a book for you.

PLAIN TALKS ABOUT BIG BARGAINS FOR X'MAS SHOPPERS.

The period approaching the Christmas Holidays is that in which every merchant puts forward his greatest effort to secure the good will of his public. We are no exception to the rule and we are showing now a line of goods in Clothing and Furnishings for men and boys that surpasses in value anything even Oak Hall has shown previously. As to the quality of the goods, we can't improve that. We have built up our business on quality and we are increasing it along the same reliable lines. Anything you get from us or anything we advertise is absolutely the top-notch of quality—THE BEST. There can be nothing better. You can therefore depend on it. Another little thought we would like to impart to you is that during this holiday season we are offering these Superior Goods at prices which make them distinctive bargains. We want you to call and inspect our stock as early as possible, so that you will not be disappointed later on when the very thing you wanted may be sold out. These Quality Bargains are going to be snapped up mighty fast.

A BATH ROBE from the new stocks we are showing is something any man would be happy to have. They are the greatest quality value for the money you can get. There's a fellow you know who could use one of these. You can get one for $6.50.

We also have a select lot of House Coats, the silk-lined, big pocketed Jacket that spells home comfort as much as do a pipe and a pair of slippers. Make some man happy by a gift of one of these coats, which will also make him comfortable, at the unusual low price of $5.00 and up.

YOUR OVERCOAT is your most displayed article of Clothing in the Winter months. You therefore need a it that quality touch in material, cut and finish which is distinctive of our line.

The greatest line of Overcoats, prices $8.00 to $20.00.

A SUIT may look all right when it's new, but if it hasn't the quality of material, why waste money on it? Our suits are of a quality that keeps them looking well outside the usual time limits. They have also the cut and style to make them winners of appearance.

We are selling them at Bargain Prices. $12.50, $15.00 $18.00, and up.

SOME SHIRTS go to the laundry for the first time looking like Joseph's Coat—a thing of many colors,—and come home from the laundry with all their glory faded—as plain as a November sky.

We don't keep that kind. Our Shirts are the Quality article with quality visible in both material, cut and color and they are yours for $1.00 to $2.50 each.

NECKWEAR

There is nothing a man appreciates more than neat, classy looking Neckwear. The kind that puts a finishing touch to a fellow's appearance. The manufacturers have a million styles and we have picked the five hundred best. Best in style, color and quality.

A fancy box with every tie. 50c and up.

OAK HALL

MCRAE & MCRAE

The People Who Put the "Quality Punch" in Their Merchandise.

GLOVES

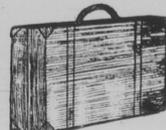

In this climate of cold winter a Glove to be serviceable must have something above the ordinary. That is why we are offering a special line of gloves. Hand covering to be proud of and that will wear true until you get tired of them. Any kind you may ask for, priced from $1.25 up to $5.00.

A TRAVELLING BAG, elegantly and efficiently fitted—made for use as well as ornament, what a luxury and what a necessity. The person who gets one of these travelling bags will exclaim: "Just the thing I need." Make some one say that while you are listening this Christmas. A full line priced from $6.50 to $18.00.

SUIT CASES—There's a friend of yours who, every time he goes on a long or short journey, has to borrow a Suit Case. Do him a favor this Christmas by sending him home one of these real tough cowhide Suit Cases. They have corners and handles of the hardest hide, made to last and give service. They are built of "dreadnaught" quality material and look the part. One will cost you $8.00, $6.00, $8.00, $10.00, $12.00.

THE BOY

The little fellow needs looking after in the furnishing line as well as his big brother or Dad. His boyish health and sports make him rough on clothes. Therefore, a Boy's Suit or Overcoat needs a "quality armor" to make it stand the battle of "boy wear." Look at our line of Boy's Suits at $2.75 up to $10.00. Boys' Overcoats at $2.99 up to $6.00.

HANDKERCHIEFS of the finest Irish Linen, soft, pliable and lasting. The kind of handkerchief the laundry can't kill. Put up in select seasonable boxes, all ready for you to attach a Christmas Greeting, and send to the person you know will appreciate them. In boxes of 1/4, 1/2 and one dozen, Initialed or Plain, $1.00 up.

FANCY VESTS—The little dash of color and variety of pattern that gives life to otherwise sombre Men's Clothing, is the Fancy Vest. Masculine Fashions this winter decree that fancy vests of tasty patterns and good material are quite the thing. We have them with both the pattern and the quality touch. Wear one for $2.50.

MUFFLERS

There are a few new wrinkles in the Muffler line. They are mufflers that are snug and comfy on the neck without looking like a blanket. There is a friend of yours who would appreciate one of these for Christmas. Bandana, Pure Silk and Wool, Camel Hair, etc., selling at 75c up to $5.00.

If we wished to tell you about all the good things we are showing in the way of QUALITY BARGAINS, we would fill up the whole paper and then want more space. The articles referred to on this page are only some of our leaders; to see the rest of our large stock, come to Oak Hall and let us show you. We can do it and the earlier you come the more time we can devote to you. Don't wait until we are up to our eyes in work with the Christmas rush. Come now and do your shopping early. Mark on this page all the items you want to look over, then when you come into our place there is no danger of your forgetting.

THE KARLSRUHE
IN A FIGHT
Damaged by British Cruiser Glasgow, But Escaped—Loss of Their Supply Ships

London, Dec. 12.—The German cruiser Karlsruhe has been in battle with the British warship Glasgow, off the coast of Brazil, and has been damaged, but managed to escape, says a despatch received here to-day from Rio De Janeiro. It is stated at the Admiralty that no official report of such a battle has been received, but the news also comes in a message from Buenos Ayres, which says that "part of the Karlsruhe's stern was shot away by the Glasgow's six-inch guns." Attaches of the Admiralty expressed full confidence to-day that the Karlsruhe, as well as the converted cruisers Prinz Eitel Frederick and Kronprinz Wilhelm, would soon "be accounted for."

The Chilean admiralty reports heavy cannonading on Thursday off the island of Mocha, a possession of that government, lasting from 1.30 until 3 o'clock. This was believed at the time to be the German cruiser Prinz Eitel Frederick chasing a British vessel. From Puerto Saavedra, Chile, reports also came of an unidentified fleet operating during the night. If these reports, received by wireless, are true, it is believed that the Karlsruhe and Kronprinz Wilhelm, as well as Prinz Eitel Frederick, will soon be rounded up by the British. Deprived of their supply ships, the cruisers will soon be rendered helpless owing to a shortage of coal and supplies.

Buenos Ayres, Dec. 12.—When the Falkland Islands several supply ships were left exposed and helpless. The crews were taken off and made prisoners by the British and the vessels were then sent to the bottom.

From Puerto Saavedra, Chile, reports also came of an unidentified fleet operating during the night. If these reports, received by wireless, are true, it is believed that the Karlsruhe and Kronprinz Wilhelm, as well as Prinz Eitel Frederick, will soon be rounded up by the British. Deprived of their supply ships, the cruisers will soon be rendered helpless owing to a shortage of coal and supplies.

ALL UNITE TO PRAISE HIS NAME ON CHRISTMAS EVE

This given out in many a song and story
That celebrate our blessed Saviour's birth—
On Christmas eve all creatures do him glory,
Even the very lowliest ones on earth.
"This said that at the dawn of Christmas morning
Dumb animals are given power to speak.
The masters of these creatures should take warning
Lest they should be accused by things so meek."
In lowly stall and manger there are praises
Unto the Christ Child, whom they claim as friend.
Each creature his own thankfulness utters
And sings a Christmas carol without end.

The stars on high unite in joyous singing.
Telling the old, old story, ever new.
The bells from every steeple now are ringing.
Their message on the opalescent blue.
"Peace on earth, good will to every nation!"
This is the message all these sounds foretell.
Both young and old, all things of his creation,
Unite, for God is good and all is well.
All creatures, high and low, delight in singing.
Both young and old and rich and poor unite
In that sweet message which the bells are ringing
Upon the first faint beams of morning light.

FELICITATING PA

By W. D. Nesbit
My pa says when he was a boy,
Why, all he'd get was just one toy—
A jumpin' jack, or pop-gun, when
"Tuz Christmas-time where he live"
then.
He never looked for any more—
He didn't expect a whole toy store!
My pa he says 'at in those days
Folks did things dif'rent, anyway.
He says he never got a stack
O' candy—more he could pack.
Two sticks o' candy's all he got—
An' he'd think that was a lot.

My pa he says when he's a child
Folks didn't all try to go wild
An' make their children think they'd get.
Enough to run their pas in debt.
O'course, it wasn't from their pas
But always come from Santy Claus.
He tells me that I should be glad
I don't have Chris'mas like he had—
He says there's lots he was denied

THE BELGIAN BILL ADAMS

A Belgian lancer, named Bogaerts, is becoming famous. He gallops out alone, lance in rest, and usually kills or wounds one Uhlan, whereupon the rest surrender. Bogaerts has already secured fourteen prisoners. He has killed three Uhlans and wounded several without having himself received the slightest injury. (Cable news in daily Press.)
The Germans they are crowdin' on our centre an' our flanks.
Their cavalry was spreadin' consternation in our ranks;
The hairyplanes was droppin' bombs an' harrows from the hair,
An' things was pretty umpty-doo, but BOGGITS, 'e was there!

Says Boggits, "Elp me on me 'orse, an' pull me girth-rings tight;
I'm goin' to eat twelve Prooshians up before I sleep to-night;
I'd rather scoff a Hewlian than a plate of hegg-an'-am—
I'll show these blanky-blank dragoons the sort of bloke I am."

The rest of us was layin' low an' duckin' in to the shell,
But Boggits 'e rode forth alone, towards the mouth of 'ell;
A hundred Prooshian cavalry was ridin' down a slope—
"Ands up, you cows!" says Boggits, "for you 'aven't got no 'ope."

The Kaiser an' 'is shiny staff upon a 'ill-top stood;
The staff keeps tellin' Willie things is gin' pretty good,
But someone with a telescope sings out across the fun
"So 'elp me bob, there's Boggits!" Says the Kaiser, "Then 'we're done!"

Five thousand Prooshian Hewlians they come pluggin' through the grass:
"Old 'ard, old 'ard," says Boggits, "'cause you ain't allowed to pass."
E's skewerin' them Hewlians while they 'owls an' runs an' drops,
There's forty Prooshian kidneys on 'is lance before 'e stops!

A telegram to Kitchener goes flyin' oversea,
"With you an' France an' Boggits, we can keep our country free;"
An' Kitch wires back, "Give Boggits beer, and laurels for his brow, Bill Boggits an' Bill Adams ranks as equal 'crosses now!"

MORE FOOD REQUIRED FOR THE STARVING BELGIANS

The Committee in Belgium who has charge of the distribution of all relief supplies has made another appeal for food for these people. It is estimated that it will take $6,000,000 per month until Spring to give these starving millions two meals of soup and bread per day. New Brunswick has done well, over twenty cars of food and clothing, and $12,000 in cash has already been sent forward, but a special appeal is now made by the Provincial Committee for cash to buy food in large quantities wholesale to load the Admiralty Steamer "Treneglos" sailing from Halifax about December 25th. The Committee has on hand about $11,000 that will be invested in food stuff at once, but more is urgently required. The Belgians are starving and we must redouble our efforts promptly. Have you sent what you can? Send cash contributions to James H. Frink, Mayor, of St. John, Treasurer, and address all communications to James Gilchrist, Secretary, P. O. Box 204.

SENDING CHRISTMAS PACKAGES

When you have Christmas packages that are to travel a long distance, sew them up in strong unbleached muslin over the wrapping paper, writing the address on a tag. You can then be sure that they will arrive in perfect condition.

CHRISTMAS STORIES

LITTLE LULU AND THE SNOW FAIRIES

Lulu was a very tiny girl even for her six years. She was a good little thing, going to school every day and doing her small best to be helpful to mother when she was home.

The little girls were playing together at recess one day when Clara, who was Lulu's dearest friend, whispered to her:

"What's Santa Claus going to bring you, Lulu?" It was almost Christmas time.

Lulu shook her little yellow head and sighed. Mother had said just the day before that times were hard and perhaps Santa wouldn't be able to do as well as usual for some little girls that year. And Lulu was very much afraid when she heard it that mother had meant her little girl. So she answered Clara's question sadly.

"I don't know what Santa will bring me this year. If I don't get the doll or the set of dishes or the play furniture I want I'm going to try not to mind, for I am just sure Santa would bring them if he could."

Clara had heard talk about the expensiveness of toys, too, and when Lulu explained it to her she wondered if really dear old Santa would be too poor to bring her all she wanted this Christmas.

"Well, I'm going to keep on wishing, just the same," declared Clara. "You know the fairies help Santa, and the fairies can do anything."

Lulu was cheered by this view of the case as she ran, singing home from school. Every day she kept a sharp lookout for fairies. If ever she met one she meant to beg that fairy to do its little best to help Santa get his Christmas toys.

On Christmas eve as Lulu got ready to go to bed she noticed that the sky had become quite dark.

"I wonder if we shall have a white Christmas?" Lulu's mother said as she drew the curtains aside.

Lulu was tired and she soon went to sleep. Some time later she opened her eyes. Gazing out at the window, she saw something white fluttering and waving just outside the window.

"Whatever can it be?" she wondered and jumped out of bed and ran to the window.

Dancing on the windowpane were several little white things, like white dresses, just like the snow that lay on the ground. And fluttering through the air Lulu saw many more of these little white creatures, which she knew at once were the snow fairies.

The fairies waved their hands, and Lulu put up the window. Strange to say, it did not feel cold, and the little fairies flew in without seeming to be in the least afraid of melting.

"We are Santa Claus' little helpers," one fairy said. "We go about trying to find out just what little girls and boys want for Christmas. We can't come until there is snow, though, for we ride about on the flakes, and the snow has been so late this year. And now, little girl, will you tell us what you want Santa to bring you?"

Lulu did not have to think over that. "My doll has a crack across her face, and all her hair is all gone," she said. "Won't you please tell him to bring me a new doll?"

"We certainly shall," the fairies smiled, and then they spread their little wings and flew out of the window. Outside they looked like snowflakes.

Lulu crawled back into bed, and presently she went to sleep again. She did not know it was Christmas morning until her mother called her with a gay "Merry Christmas!"

Then she jumped out of bed. "Run right downstairs and see what Santa has left for you," her mother said. And when Lulu got down to the dining room she shrieked with delight, for Santa had hung up her stocking and filled it with goodies, while in a little chair underneath the stocking was seated a lovely golden haired doll.

Beside it was a little trunk, and when Lulu opened it she found it full of pretty clothes for the new doll.

THE YULE LOG

The following story of the origin of the Yule log in Virginia is told in the Pictorial Review by La Salle Corbell Pickett in an article dealing with Christmas in the south in wartime:

One time an old black man was sitting in his little cabin on a mountain side on Christmas eve listening to the cold wind howl over a world of snow and wishing that he had a fire to warm him when he heard a cry of a little child away out in the cold. The old man hobbled to the door and looked out across the snow, and the wind came rushing in and made him shiver so that his "onliest two teeth" chattered with cold. Again the cry came across the snow, and he wished with all his power of longing that he could go out and find the unfortunate little one, for the plaintive cry of a little child always goes straight to the heart. A third time the cry came, and a miraculous power seemed to fill the old man's veins. His muscles became tense and strong, and he stepped from the threshold into the snow, the crutch falling back in the cabin.

In an instant he was walking over the expanse of frozen snow with an activity he had not possessed since he used to "go to camp meetin'." By and by he came to a little child caught in a snow bank. He lifted the child, and as its little form touched him a new strength came into him, and the small burden seemed to give him wings to speed back to the little cabin. He put the child on the bed, drew the ragged quilt around it and looked about to see if there might be a piece of furniture of which he could make a fire to warm his small guest.

At that instant he saw a great log roll across the threshold and into the fireplace. The little child was looking at it with eyes like stars, and they sent gleams of light that kindled the log with the most brilliant fire the old man had ever seen, and the dingy little room was filled with radiance and warmth that brought a glow to the soul as well as to the body and seemed to flood the way with light.

As the light wrapped the child in a shining glory he laughed a laugh that was like a song of the heart and floated up and away. The old man turned his eyes to where the fire burned and watched the flames leap in opalescent tints over the log forming the shape of a cross in fire.

At this point in the narrative Br'er Simon usually became greatly excited, and his eyes kindled as he went on in his rich dialect:

"De flames er de cross spread en chase atter one erudder, a-crawling en a-creepin' in en out en around en about, a-skadin' byer en a-skadin' dar; a-lippin' up higher and higher; fir' a lil blue blaze would come, den a yaller one, den a bright red one would flare up, en den de blazes would all mingulate darself tergedder, red en blue en yaller en white would all mix wid de kindleation colors er de rainbow, en crackle en crackle en lip higher en bigger en bigger, de crackles a-gettin' louder en louder, en de blazes a-gettin' bigger en bigger."

As the old man watched all this display suddenly and magically appeared a table covered with a Christmas feast such as had never been spread before his eyes, and never again was he hungry or cold, and never was there a Christmas in old Virginia after that without the Yule log and the Christmas child to give it light and warmth.

MY CHRISTMAS TREE

By Charles Dickens

I have been looking on this evening at a merry company of children assembled around that pretty German toy, a Christmas tree.

Being now at home again and alone, the only person in the house awake, my thoughts are drawn back by a fascination which I do not care to resist to my own childhood. Straight in the middle of the room, cramped in the freedom of its growth by its encircling walls or soon reached ceiling, a shaggy tree arises, and looking up into the dreamy brightness of its top, for I observe in this tree the singular property that it appears to grow downward towards the earth, I look into my youngest Christmas recollections.

All toys at first I find. But upon the branches of the tree, lower down, how thick the books begin to hang—thin books, in themselves at first, but many of them, with deliciously smooth covers of bright red and green!

"A was an archer and shot at a frog." Of course he was! He was an apple pie also, and there he is! He was a good many things in his time, except X, who had no little versatility that I never knew him to get beyond Xerxes or Kantippe.

But now the very tree itself changes and becomes a beanstalk, the marvelous beanstalk by which Jack climbed up to the Giant's house.

Good for Christmas time is the ruddy color of the clock in which the tree making a forest of itself for her to trip through with her basket, Little Red Riding Hood comes to me one Christmas eve to give me information of the cruelty and treachery of that dissembling wolf who ate her grandmother without making any impression on his appetite and then ate her after making that ferocious joke about his teeth. The very my first love.

I felt that if I could have married Little Red Riding Hood I should have known perfect bliss. But it was not to be, and there was nothing for it but to look for the wolf in the Noah's ark there and shut his last in the procession on the table as a monster who was to be degraded.

Oh, the wonderful Noah's ark! It was not found seaworthy when put in a washing tub, and the animals were crammed in at the roof and needed to have their legs well shaken down before they could be got in even there, and then ten to one they began to tumble out at the door, which was but imperfectly fastened with a wire latch. But what was that against it?

Again a forest and somebody up in a tree—not Robin Hood, not Valentine, not the Yellow Dwarf; I have passed these and all Mother Bunch's wonders without mention; but an eastern king with the glittering scimitar and turban. It is the setting in of the bright Arabian Nights.

Oh, now all common things become uncommon and quite enchanted to me. All lamps are most wonderful. All rings are talismans. Common flower-pots are full of treasure, with a little earth scattered on the top; trees are for All Baba to hide in; beefsteaks are to throw down into the Valley of Diamonds, that the precious stones may stick to them and be carried by the eagles to their nests whence the traders, with loud voices, will scare them.

All the dates imported come from the same tree as that unlucky one with whose shell the merchant knocked out the eye of the genie's invisible son.

But, hark! The walls are playing, and they break my childish sleep. What images do I associate with the Christmas music as I see them set forth on the Christmas tree! Known before all the others, keeping far apart from all the others, they gather round my little bed—an angel, speaking to a group of shepherds in a field; some travelers, with eyes uplifted, following a star; a baby in a manger; a child in a spacious temple, talking with great men; a solemn figure, with a mild and beautiful face, raising a dead girl by the hand; again, near a city gate calling back the son of a widow on his bier to life; a crowd of people looking through the open roof of a chamber where he sits and letting down a sick person on a bed with ropes; the same, in a tempest, walking on the waters; in a ship again, on a seashore, teaching a great multitude; again, with a child upon his knee and other children around; again, restoring sight to the blind, speech to the dumb, hearing to the deaf, health to the sick, strength to the lame, knowledge to the ignorant; again, dying upon a cross, watched by armed soldiers, a darkness coming on, the earth beginning to shake and only one voice heard, "Forgive them, for they know not what they do!"

Encircled by the social thoughts of Christmas time, still let the benignant figure of my childhood stand unchanged! In every cheerful image and suggestion that the season brings may the bright star that rested above the poor roof be the star of all the Christian world!

A moment's pause, O vanishing tree, of which the lower boughs are dark to me yet, and let me look once more. I know there are blank spaces on thy branches, where eyes that I have loved have shone and smiled, from which they are departed. But far above I see the raiser of the dead girl and the widow's son—and God is good!

FAMOUS TREE THAT BLOOMS ON CHRISTMAS

A very interesting group of Christmas superstitions clusters about plant and animal life. Tradition tells us that after Joseph of Arimathea had begged the body of our crucified Saviour and had laid it in his own newly hewn tomb he left Palestine forever. Staff in hand, he traveled many weary months and finally reached Glastonbury, in England. Here he planted his staff, and in the course of time it sent out leaves and buds. On the glad Christmas morning the buds burst into a mass of exquisite bloom. Since that day of long ago the Glastonbury thorn never fails to be covered with delicate white flowers on Christmas morning. By the following day they have all disappeared.

A cutting of the Glastonbury thorn was taken to Buckinghamshire, where it became as famous as the parent plant itself. Thousands of people from near and far were wont to go to see the blossoming of the thorn on Christmas morning. When about the middle of the eighteenth century England adopted the Gregorian calendar, which brought Christmas eleven days earlier than under the older style of reckoning time, the common people were greatly dissatisfied. To their simple minds they had actually been deprived of eleven days of their mortal life, and that this loss they were to make up by carrying placards bearing the inscription, "Give Us Back Our Eleven Days!"

That they had been wronged became a conviction when the Buckinghamshire thorn failed to blossom on the new date, and when the people actually refused to attend church on the 25th of December the clergy in that part of England were forced to celebrate divine worship on both the old and the new dates.

In pagan times special deities were supposed to preside over the harvests, and the people sought in every possible manner to propitiate these powerful gods. In out of the way parts of Europe the trees are still formally invited to the Christmas feast. Taking acceptance for granted, the remains of the Christmas dinner are spread about the roots of the fruit trees. This ceremony is supposed to insure plentiful harvests the following autumn. In other places the trees were in olden times beaten with clubs to make them more productive.

Life is very miserable to those who suffer with indigestion, dyspepsia, Sour Stomach and Biliousness. This letter from Captain Swan (one of the best known skippers on the Great Lakes) tells how to get quick relief from Stomach Trouble.

POKY BURWELL, Ont., May 8th, 1913. "A man has a poor chance of living and enjoying life when he cannot eat. That was what was wrong with me. Loss of appetite and indigestion was brought on by Constipation. I have had trouble with these diseases for years. I lost a great deal of flesh and suffered constantly. For the last couple of years, I have taken "Fruit-a-lives" and have been so pleased with the results that I have recommended them on many occasions to friends and acquaintances. I am sure that "Fruit-a-lives" have helped me greatly, by following the diet rules and taking "Fruit-a-lives" according to directions, any person with Dyspepsia will get benefit."

H. SWAN
"Fruit-a-lives" are sold by all dealers at 50c. a box 6 for $2.50, or trial size 25c. or sent postpaid on receipt of price by Fruit-a-lives Limited, Ottawa.

ers come on at 6 a. m. and stay until 6 p. m. One band of tollers sleeps while the other works.

Each of the workers sits squat upon the floor in front of a blazing fire, over which is suspended a huge black caldron. Each little fellow has a long stemmed pipe with which he blows bubbles of the substance which sizzles and boils in the huge pot before him.

The boiling substance is a liquid made of melted precious stones. Millions of dollars' worth of priceless jewels are being imported into the north pole region for this purpose.

Each caldron boils a different pewel. The melted rubies make blood red bubbles, those that gleam like flames. The diamonds make white ones, bright and shining like great, round stars. Sapphires turn into deep blue spheres, turquoises make pale blue balls that look like the summer sky, and so on. As the bubbles grow to the desired size the workmen shake them gently off their pipes on the ice floor. Here they are allowed to rest until they are frozen into hard, round, shiny, wonderfully colored bright balls to hang on kiddies' Christmas trees. It is estimated that one man can make 500 finished ornaments in a day.

Mines Give Output of Gold to Make "Tinsel"

The great Klondike gold mines are being worked day and night to supply the demands of another room of the great glacier, where thousands of workers sit stringing strips of shredded gold on threads to make tinsel trimmings for the trees. They wear great spectacles on the ends of their little round noses, for this work is a great strain on the eyes. Each string is one mile long, and each grome completes three of these a day.

Silver tinsel is also made in the same way. The fashion in tree trimming demands the lavish use of this precious adornment.

Storerooms for Santa Claus.

Santa has no need for storerooms in which to stack his finished toys and tree decorations. The demand is so great and so immediate that directly things are finished they are packed, loaded on to immense sleighs and shipped to special stations which he has situated in every city all over the world and usually in such places as department stores or toy and candy shops. Sometimes when all these places are filled he even hides them in odd corners of people's houses. That is how it comes that one often accedes to find things tucked away in the most unusual places.

Years ago he would use his reindeer to carry the loaded sleighs to stations, and often they were so worn out by overwork that they were unfit for driving on Christmas eve. But now it is quite different. Since motor trucks have come into use, Santa has bought 328 to do this heavy work for him.

Something ought to be told of the character and habits of the little tollers who make their toys. They are an entirely different kind of creatures from any which we, who do not live at the north pole, have ever seen.

They are very small of stature, with large heads and queer elfin faces. We would call them gnomes or elves, but Santa calls them tollers. They have bright, mischievous eyes which dance with delight over their pretty handwork, the merriest laughs and sweetest little voices which keep up a continuous accompaniment to their tasks.

GIVE "SYRUP OF FIGS" TO CONSTIPATED CHILD

Delicious "Fruit Laxative" can't harm tender little stomach, liver and bowels.

Look at the tongue, mother! If coated, your little one's stomach, liver and bowels need cleansing at once. When peevish, cross, listless, doesn't sleep, eat or act naturally, or is feverish, stomach sour, breath bad; has sore throat, diarrhoea, full of cold, give a teaspoonful of "California Syrup of Figs" and in a few hours all the foul, constipated waste, undigested food and sour bile gently moves out of its little bowels without griping, and you have a well, playful child again. Ask your druggist for a 50-cent bottle of "California Syrup of Figs," which contains full directions for babies, children of all ages and the grown-up.

BIG MEETING IN AMHERST TO LAUNCH "MARITIME FORWARD MOVEMENT"

An Informal Joint Meeting, representing various Maritime Boards of Trade, and the Executive of "The Maritime Branch" of the Canadian Manufacturers Association, was held in Amherst on November twenty-fifth. At this meeting the following cities and towns were represented: Halifax, St. John, Moncton, New Glasgow, Truro and Amherst.

The opinion of the Meeting cannot here be better expressed, than in the terms of a resolution unanimously adopted, favoring the present as a most opportune time to hold a Maritime Conference, embracing all the various interests of the Maritime Provinces, at some central point, and that such a Meeting be held in Amherst on December seventeenth next.

The objects of this Meeting, and the benefits to be derived therefrom, were briefly voiced by the different delegates present, as follows:

TO BREATHE A NEW LIFE OF Good Will, Mutual Help, and Unity, among the whole population of these Provinces.

TO BRING HOME TO OUR PEOPLE the greatness and variety of our resources, and the exceptional opportunity now presented for their development and extension, through the dislocation of foreign commerce, caused by the present war.

TO ENUNCIATE THE AXIOM that development, to be sound must commence at home; that while "MADE IN CANADA" is good, "MADE OR PRODUCED IN MARITIME CANADA" is still better, has for its inspiration the same economic law, and is in no way inconsistent with the broader movement.

FIGURATIVELY, to have a Maritime Stock-taking. To bring together at one Meeting, The Producer, The Consumer, and the Manufacturer, with a view to foster and conserve throughout our whole people, a truly Maritime Spirit.

Every organized Maritime Interest will be invited to this Conference. Agriculture, Labor, Horticulture, The Mine, Forest, Fur-farm, Professions, Education, Manufacture and Commerce, (with apologies to any that may be overlooked) will be represented.

The Morning Meeting, (ten A. M.) will be TOPICAL; at which a series of short interesting addresses will be delivered, covering every phase of Maritime activity.

The Afternoon Meeting, (2.30 P. M.) will be addressed by the Honorable, The Prime Minister of Canada, Sir Robert L. Borden. Representatives of the three Provincial Governments, and other prominent Maritime Public Men, representing the various shades of public opinion.

The Evening proceedings will be Informal, Entertainment and Good Fellowship.

The Movement is in the hands of the following Executives:—

- A. H. Wetmore, St. John; Geo. Henderson, Halifax; E. T. Higgs, Bruce Stewart, Charlottetown; Capt. J. O'Leary, Summerside, J. P. McNaughton, Sydney; H. G. Grant, New Glasgow; Thomas Williams, Moncton; C. W. Montgomery, Truro; and E. N. Rhodes, M. P. H. J. Logan, Percy C. Black, J. A. Hanway, Geo. T. Douglas, J. A. McDonald, D. A. Morrison, A. G. Robb, J. H. Douglas, Amherst.

J. H. DOUGLAS, Chairman Executive. Not since the days of the Charlottetown Conference, 1864, has there been gathered together in one assembly so large a number as broadly representative of the thought and industry of the maritime provinces as is promised at this the initial meeting of the "Maritime Forward" movement.

The programme speaks for itself and the importance of the meeting should appeal to every one interested in the development of these provinces. Day Meeting Commencing 10 A. M. Sharp.

IT'S DIFFERENT IN NEW BRUNSWICK

An esteemed correspondent sends the following timely clipping and enquiry:—

"Wang Chin-Hsing, the ex-president of Sunienfu, China, the district in which Peikin is situated, has been executed by shooting because of bribery and corruption for selling offices under him and accepting 'squeeze'."

Wang Chin-Hsing held the military rank of Lieutenant-General.—Exchange. What about our N. B. grafters or "squeezeers"?"

TWO CHRISTMAS COOKIES

In all good, old fashioned German households the hausfrau is very busy for days baking her Christmas cakes. Does it seem to you rather early? No, indeed. It is high time that the Yuletide goodies were being packed in the huge earthenware crocks to stand in the cool storeroom to "mellow." They improve with age, just like fruit cake. Here are a few delicious cookies that are served at festive coffees during the holiday season:

OBITUARY

JOSEPH POIRIER
(From the Gloucester Northern Light)
One of the oldest, best known and most highly respected citizens of the county has been removed from earthly activities in the death of Joseph Poirier, Ex-M. P. P., on the 8th inst.

A genial, big-hearted man, possessed of many attractive characteristics, the late Mr. Poirier made multitudes of friends and kept them all through his long and active life.

He was born at Grand Anse in the year 1840, was married in 1860 to Miss Amelia Theriault, and up until 1910 when Mrs. Poirier passed away, their home was the centre round which moved the social life of the community. Their union was not blessed with children, so they satisfied their strong parental instincts by adopting four, whom they brought up and educated. These are Mrs. Bernard Doucet of Richibucto, Mrs. LeGresley of Montreal, Mathilde, who became a nun and died some years ago in Montreal, and George Theriault, now living in the United States.

The funeral was held on Friday the 11th inst., and was one of the largest ever seen in Grand Anse.

When this veil is thrown over baby's carriage, the wind cannot blow it off, and flies cannot trouble the little sleeper.

Girls! Try it! Hair gets soft, fluffy and beautiful—Get a 25 cent bottle of Danderine.

If you care for heavy hair that glitters with beauty and is radiant with life; has an incomparable softness and is fluffy and lustrous, try Danderine. Just one application doubles the beauty of your hair, besides it immediately dissolves every particle of dandruff. You can not have nice heavy, healthy hair if you have dandruff. This destructive scurf robs the hair of its lustre, its strength and its very life, and if not overcome it produces a feverishness and itching of the scalp; the hair roots furnish loose and die; then the hair falls out. To cure, get a special bottle of Knowledge's Danderine from any drug store and use it.

SOME XMAS GIFTS

A SACHET FOR A DRESSER DRAWER

Cut a large sheet of blotting paper, to fit the drawer, cover with sheet wadding liberally sprinkled with sachet powder. Cover this with China silk, silkolene or any thin material. The outer covering should be cut about one inch larger all around than the blotting paper. Turn the edges in a round the wadding and baste, then stitch on the sewing machine through and through the blotting paper about three eighths of an inch from the edge. The blotting paper will hold the odor of the sachet much longer than anything which could be used for a foundation. It is also so smooth and easily fitted, and keeps in place so well, it is a material well worth using for sachets, for trunks, shirt-waist boxes and dressers.

DAINTY FLOWER SACHETS

Eleven inches of white satin ribbon required.

PANSY SACHET—Make a bag of six inches of white satin ribbon, sewing the sides half-way up. Fill with cotton well filled with sachet powder, gather the top and turn the ends, so that both will have the satin side up. Gather a three-inch length of the ribbon at the centre and fasten across in front of the bag gathering. Gather one end of a two-inch length, sew it against the other gatherings, and turn it right side out over the bag. Cut the end of each petal in a slight curve and fringe. If desired, tint the centre of the three outer petals with purple water color. Fasten the petals in place with a few long stitches of orange silk, worked across the centre.

DAINTY GIFT SLIPPER

Materials required to make a pair of slippers are about one yard and a half of pretty ribbon five or five and a half inches wide, two yards of ribbon one inch wide for bows, five-eighths of a yard of elastic, one half an inch wide, and one pair of slipper soles. Gather the ribbon along one edge, to fit the size of the sole, then sew it to the sole. Make a neat joining in the back. Turn over the top edge of the ribbon about one and a half inches. Make a casing in this and insert the elastic. Make pretty bows of the inch wide ribbon to finish the fronts.

A NOVEL DARNING BAG

Materials. One large oval embroidery hoop, a piece of suitable heavy material, a piece of card-board, one baby's stocking. Seam up the bag on both sides, gather into hoop at the top, then cut an oval of card-board for the bottom cover both sides with goods, then gather material into this bottom. Tie pretty bows at the top with ribbon to hang up. Applied to the front, a baby's stocking makes a novel pocket to hold darning yarn, thimble and needles, attach a button and loop at the top of the stocking to close when not in use.

PRETTY VEIL CASE

Materials. One yard of Dresden ribbon, five and a half inches wide, and four and a quarter yards of narrow satin ribbon. Fold one end of the wide ribbon double on the width and seam the two sides together. Fold in a point and feather stitch down. Catch under this turned in point, one end of the narrow ribbon and baste this strip of narrow ribbon through the centre of the Dresden ribbon. Make a feather stitching every four and a half inches securing the narrow ribbon to the Dresden ribbon. Fold over four and a half inches of the other end of the Dresden ribbon; put inside the fold a piece of wadding. Sprinkled with sachet powder, over hand down, catching the other end of the narrow ribbon in this stitching. Sew a yard length of the narrow ribbon to the point to be tied around the case when rolled up. Make a ruffle of the remaining narrow ribbon, to finish around the case. With a pretty veil folded and placed in one of the spaces, this will make a very dainty gift.

DAISY SACHET—Make a green ribbon bag one inch long and one half inch wide, fill it with cotton well sprinkled with sachet powder. Cut eighth, two-inch lengths of white satin

Bronze Wing's MOTHER KNEW BEST

Once on a time there was a young turkey gobbler named Bronze Wing. He lived with his mother and brothers and sisters in a little house in Farmer Jenks' poultry yard. Their house was very comfortable, and the farmer fed them well, so that the young turkeys were as happy as they could be.

When cold weather came the turkeys were fed more liberally than usual. The other turkeys who lived in the poultry yard gobbled the food until they began to get very fat.

Old Mother Turkey, who was a very wise old fowl, said to Bronze Wing and the rest of her children:

"Be careful, my dears. Don't eat too much. Christmas is coming, when every truly wise turkey scratches hard and eats very little."

Bronze Wing ruffled up his feathers and said: "I don't see why, mother. Farmer Jenks seems to like the fat turkeys the best. He has put all of them into a nice pen by themselves, and they are getting extra fine food."

"Yes, for awhile," Mother Turkey replied. "And one of them told me today that Farmer Jenks said that he would take them to the city. The city is fine."

"They will never come back from the city," Mother Turkey answered, shaking her head sadly.

It did seem hard to fast and work when every one around was feasting, but Mother Turkey kept watch over her brood to see that they did as she told them, for she was a turkey of many Christmases, and she knew the ways of the human folk well.

Young Bronze Wing gobbled about in a very disconcerted way. It was hard for him to see that he could, after the holidays were over, feast as much as he liked.

"Oh, dear! I wish I had a nice juicy grasshopper," he grumbled one day.

"Come, come! Scratch for worms like the rest of us," Mother Turkey urged. "Scratching is fine exercise and will help to keep down your weight."

"I don't care about being thin," naughty Bronze Wing grunted. "I don't see why there are no grasshoppers any more. They were delicious."

"Foolish child! There are no grasshoppers in the winter," Mother Turkey told him.

One morning Bronze Wing noticed that the gate of the poultry yard was open. He glanced around. Mother Turkey and the rest of the flock were busily scratching on the other side of the yard and would not notice him. So he sneaked out, intending to go just a little way on the lookout for grasshoppers.

Presently he came to the woods. He had been able to find no insects. The trees were bare, and the wind blew through them, making strange noises. The ground was covered with leaves, and every now and then Bronze Wing would stop to scratch these up to see if he could find a grasshopper lurking under them.

He was stepping along, cocking his head now on this side, now on that, on the lookout for grasshoppers when he heard a voice in some bushes say:

"Hello! Wild turkey for Christmas!" Then there was a flash of fire and a bang. With a squawk of fright Bronze Wing darted off. He half ran, half flew until he was far enough away from the men with the guns to take breath. Then he hurried home as fast as his legs would carry him. He was glad then he was not so fat. He could not have got over the ground so fast if he had been.

It was evening when he neared the house. And what do you think? As he passed the kitchen porch he saw the fat turkeys of the pen hanging up bare of feathers and without heads.

"They'll make fine Christmas dinners for some one," Bronze Wing heard the farmer's wife say—yes, the farmer's wife, whom he had trusted so much.

"They ought to be," Farmer Jenks replied, "considering all the extra feed they've had the last few weeks. How they did gobble it down! I wonder if that's the reason turkeys are called gobblers!"

Mrs. Jenks smiled. She seemed to think this a joke, but Bronze Wing shuddered. He felt he could never care for his food again.

He crept sadly into the turkey house, where his mother was wide awake on her roost waiting for him.

"Wherever have you been?" she demanded.

Bronze Wing told her all about it. "Yes, my dear," she answered, "I could have told you all this, but I wished to keep you young and happy as long as I could. Cheer up, though. There will not be another Christmas for a long, long time, and then remember not to be greedy. It was their greediness that got those fat turkeys into trouble, you see."

Bronze Wing hopped up to his perch and tucked his head under his wing. Before he went off to sleep, Mother Turkey heard him say, "Christmas is a horrid day for turkeys!"

CARAQUET RAISES $500.00 FOR PATRIOTIC & BELGIAN FUNDS

(From the Gloucester Northern Light)
A Caraquet correspondent writes as follows:—

"The different collectors have handed over to the Treasurer, Rev. Father Legarrec, parish priest, the handsome sum of $500.00. At a meeting of the parish, it was decided to divide this amount into two equal parts, and send one half to Mayor J. H. Frink of St. John for the Belgian Relief Fund, and the other half to Hon. W. T. White, Ottawa, for the Canadian Patriotic Fund.

It is very regrettable that the English-speaking people of Caraquet, as a body, refused to contribute, and did not follow the example of the Messrs. Fife and Foley and a few others, who contributed with their French-Acadian fellow citizens to the funds for the honor and glory of our beloved and patriotic parish. We all hope that they will translate their verbal patriotism into action, and that they will send a contribution of their own if they have not yet done so."

LUMBER OUTLOOK IS BRIGHTER THAN USUAL

Made Big Sale at High Price.—Unusual Market at This Season

Although very little has been said about the lumbering operations being carried on in the province at the present time, there is every reason to believe that there will be a substantial increase over last season's cut, says The Fredericton Mail. The Partridge Company will cut upwards of twenty million feet on the Nashwaak and it is believed that the Miramichi Lumber Company's cut on the Southwest Miramichi and tributaries will be greater than that of last year. On the Restigouche, Tobique and St. Croix the cut will probably be slightly in excess of last year.

Those in a position to know state that manufacturers lumber is selling at a higher price now than has prevailed for several years. In this connection it is reported that a St. Croix lumberman recently contracted to deliver one and a half million feet of manufactured lumber to a St. John concern at a price ranging from $20 to $23 per thousand feet. Several other equally satisfactory contracts are alleged to have been made during the past few weeks.

With lumber in brisk demand at good prices there does not appear to be any good reason why the people of New Brunswick should be discouraged over the outlook. As a matter of fact, there is no province in Canada in a better position to weather the storm. There may be a slight decrease in the lumber cut on crown lands during the present winter but it will be more than offset by the increase cut on private lands.

The J. B. Snowball Co., Ltd. of Chatham has also sold its entire cut of about thirty millions at an advance upon the last seasons price.

THE BRITISH CASUALTIES SLIGHT

Replying to his congratulations on the victory of the British squadron over the Germans off the Falkland Islands, Winston Spencer Churchill, First Lord of the Admiralty, has telegraphed the Japanese Minister of Marine as follows:

"With the sinking of the Scharnhorst, Gneisenau, Leipzig, and Nürnberg, the whole German squadron which had its base at Tsing Tau at the outbreak of the war have been destroyed, and the base itself reduced and captured.

"This event marks the conclusion of the active operations in which the allied fleets have been engaged in the Pacific for four months. Though it has fallen to a British squadron to strike the final blow in the South Atlantic it was largely owing to the powerful and untiring assistance by the Japanese fleet that this result has been achieved.

"Had the enemy turned west again the honors would have rested with the Japanese and Australian squadrons moving forward in general combination.

"The peace of the Pacific is now for the time being restored, and commerce of all nations can proceed with safety throughout the vast expanse from the coasts of Mozambique to those of South America.

"I take this opportunity of your excellency's cordial message to express on behalf of the British and Australian navies earnest recognition of the invaluable naval assistance of Japan.

The Secretary of the Admiralty has received a cable despatch from Vice-Admiral Sturdee of the British squadron, stating that in the battle off the Falkland Islands in which the German cruisers Scharnhorst, Leipzig, and Gneisenau were sunk, the British casualties totalled seven men killed and four wounded.

No officers, the despatch says, were either killed or wounded.

SUMMER TOURIST TRAVEL PROMISING

Steamship Man Expects That 1915 Will Find Canada Favorite Goal

PROSPERITY IS COMING

Believes Canada and United States Factories Will be Taxed to Supply Home Demand

"Conditions created by the European war will have an entirely different effect on tourist travel during the season of 1915 than they had in 1914," said a prominent official of a large steamship company yesterday.

"During the forepart of 1914 this class of travel was adversely affected by the general financial depression, which was really a fore-runner of the coming general upheaval, and later, when the outbreak of war shocked the world, its effect in Canada and the United States caused tourists who were en route to change their plans and hasten home. Thousands cancelled arrangements for vacation trips and remained at home in order to be in contact with their various interests, and thus be in a position to cope with the rapidly changing conditions. Consequently, the war practically ruined tourist travel on the American continent during the season of 1914, whereas, the conditions arising from the war will be decidedly favourable to this class of travel in 1915.

"Many of the great mills and factories of Europe are in ruins. Others have suspended operations, and imports from over the sea are curtailed to such an extent that there will be an unprecedented home demand for goods made in the United States and Canada, and also a new European and South American demand for the output of our factories which will tax their capacity to the utmost limit. This great industrial activity will bring general prosperity, the fundamental condition most favourable to the promotion of tourist travel.

"Another favourable factor due to the war is the fact that many thousands of people, who have in past seasons filled the large trans-Atlantic liners, will not be attracted to Europe in 1915, nor until conditions there are more normal. The major part of this great body of tourists will seek health and pleasure in Canada, the summer vacation paradise of North America.

"There is absolutely no doubt regarding the movement of this class of business, owing to the fact that the element from which it is drawn is made up of people of independent means, and those in professional and business life whose incomes are not dependent on, or materially affected by, any particular conditions, people whose summer vacation trip is an indispensable feature in their programme of yearly existence and set apart a portion of their income to provide solely for their annual outing.

"The travel from Europe and South America will undoubtedly increase, as many people in Europe, who have undergone great mental or physical strain, will embark on an ocean voyage to America to regain health and vitality. Many wealthy South Americans, who have formerly frequented the resorts of Belgium, France and Germany, will swell the tide of tourists travelling on the American continent in 1915."—Montreal Gazette.

GERMANS MAKE HEROES OF PIRATICAL CREWS

Ignore the Fact That the German Fleet Tried to Escape.—But Were Caught

Berlin, Via London.—The newspapers discuss the loss of Germany's cruisers Scharnhorst, Gneisenau, Leipzig and Nürnberg off the Falkland Islands, in a tone of keenest sorrow, but with complete resignation. They express patriotic pride in the previous achievements of these warships.

The Hamburger Nachrichten says:—"The ships could have taken refuge in a neutral harbor and been disarmed and their crews imprisoned, but the Germans on them would never have consented to this. They were resolved to risk their lives in achieving deeds for the sacred flag of the fatherland under which they served so long; they were determined to show what the German navy is made of. The heroic death of these courageous men will be unforgettable as long as Germans live on earth and cherish German sentiments."

AUSTRALIA'S PART IN BIG VICTORY

The Sydney correspondent of the Mail, describing the great rejoicings here at the British naval victory, says that Admiral Von Spee's fleet had been regarded as the special quarry of the Australian fleet, but even as matters stand Australia played her part by driving the enemy into the hands of the British by destroying his bases in the Pacific.

The Australian Navy office officially states that after the destruction of the Monmouth and Good Hope the Admiralty despatched a very strong squadron from European waters to avenge Admiral Craddock's loss.

THE WASTE OF WATER IN WINTER TIMES

Running Taps to Prevent Freezing are Source of Great Danger in Case of Fire

(Conservation) Several cities in Canada are to-day in a serious position because the water consumption is unequal to the supply. The result is insufficient pressure in the water mains for fire purposes. With the coming of winter weather this situation will no doubt be accentuated, due to leaving taps open, thus allowing the water to run therefrom for many hours at a time, to prevent the pipes freezing up.

Not the least of the many advantages which cities have derived from the installation of this heavy waste during the winter months. With the introduction of water meters, consumers have realized the value of having water pipes protected from frost. This precaution usually entails very slight expense, but where there is no check on the water consumed a lack of public spirit keeps people from undertaking the frost protection.

Water and waste pipes should at once be carefully looked after and protected, and particularly so where they are exposed to cold drafts. They should be well wrapped and kept thoroughly dry on the outside. As an additional precaution, pipes may be enclosed in a box and well packed with sawdust.

The quantity of water wasted by a small stream left running under average water pressure is as follows: 1-32 inch leak wastes 8 gal. per hour 1-16 " " " 34 " " " 1-8 " " " 137 " " " 1-4 " " " 514 " " "

On the basis of the local water rates, it is easy to figure out the actual cost to the city of these running faucets, and, also, the almost criminal neglect when compared with the small cost of over-coming this waste. Meter installation is now recognized as one of the best means of preventing water waste.

Where meters have been installed not only has it been followed by a marked reduction in the amount of water required for general consumption, but it has been possible to maintain a more satisfactory pressure for fire-fighting purposes.
