SIMMONS BEDS Built for Sleep

No matter how simple or how elaborately furnished the bedrooms of your home may be—there is a Simmons Bed of a design and finish that will harmonize exactly. Artistic beauty, refinement, design and elegance of finish characterize every number. Simmons steel beds, in either "twin" or "double" widths, are masterpieces of beauty, and unlike beds of wood, they cannot warp, become loose jointed or decay. They are strong, correctly proportioned, serviceable, thoroughly sanitary and 100% comfortable. Let us show you these new designs.

LOST BOTH FEET BY CIRCULAR SAW

Terrible Calamity and an Unusual
Surgical Operation—Well Known
Man Victim of Accident

To have had both feet cut off by a circular saw was the awful experience of C. R. Hayward of Upper Brighton on Wednesday afternoon of last week. Not only did this calamity fall upon Mr. Hayward, but Archie Bubar who was assisting him in woodwork came literally within an inch of having his spinal column severed by the same saw. Mr. Hayward was engaged in sawing up fence rails for fire wood, using for the purpose a circular saw driven by a gasoline engine. He and his assistant were on top of a pile when the rails began rolling, precipitating both men on to the saw table. One of Mr. Hayward's feet was severed just above the shoe top, while the other was so terribly mangled that amputation was necessary.

Mr. Bubar had his clothing cut clear through to the skin just across the small of his back and his escape from death was marvelous. Dr. G. N. Belyea and Dr. W. B. Somerville were immediately summoned and with the assistance of Mrs. Belyea, R. N., a genuine triumph in surgery was accomplished. Dr. Belyea recalled that in all his hospital experience, he had never known recovery of a similar case where a double amputation was done under ordinary anaesthetics. His experience and judgment told him that to administer ether and thus adding burden to the shock already sustained by the patient, would in all probability prove fatal. Therefore he decided to resort to interspersal anaesthesia by means of novocaine. The injection was made at the fourth lumbar vertebra and in eight minutes the patient was absolutely insensate from that portion of his body downwards.

Mr. Hayward's suffering had previously been alleviated by a full dose of morphine and he was perfectly calm under the long operation, which he apparently took a deep interest in, asking questions and urging the surgeons not to hurry unduly as he felt all right. It may seem strange, almost uncanny, that when this serious operation began, Mr. Hayward requested his daughter, Miss Elisabeth, to play the piano to keep his attention from the ordeal through which he was passing, and when he observed the physicians were gathering up their instruments, he said "If you are all through, give me my pipe."

A week has elapsed and Mr. Hayward is making a good recovery with no set-back whatever, and having had no more severe physical shock than the immediate accident and the mental anguish by the knowledge of his unhappy misfortune. Mr. Hayward is past 50 years of age and the father of a large family. His many friends all over the county deeply sympathize with him and trust that his recovery may be speedy and steady and that soon he may be around with a pair of new feet, which the skillful artificers of today will be able to make for him. Drs. Belyea and Somerville are being congratulated upon the success of their unusual surgical procedure.

THE OPEN SEASON

Old residents search their memories in vain to recall a year when fall-like conditions continued so far into the winter. Garden and wild flowers are still being brought to The Observer office. On November 28, Martha McCollum and Hilda Knight brought The Observer dandelions, while Scott McAuley of Centerville mailed in bunches of elder-bushes with fresh green leaves. Arthur Watters brought a dandelion and strawberry blossom on December 1. Clarence Kyle brought dandelions on December 2, while on the same date Miss Catherine Taylor brought in beautiful pansies. Miss

VALUABLE FOX SHOT BY MISTAKE

David Burpee of Jacksonville Loose
Animal Which Had Burrowed
Out

A valuable black fox owned by David Burpee, Jacksonville, made its escape from the fox ranch some days ago by burrowing deep below the wire fencing of the ranch. The plucky little animal hadn't long to enjoy its freedom, however, as soon as it made its appearance on a neighboring farm it was shot for a wild fox, but later was restored to its owner.

Mr. and Mrs. G. Hammond have arrived from Kilburn where they have been spending the summer, to take up their residence in their new home in Jacksonville.

Miss Winifred Harper left Friday morning to attend the C. G. L. T. convention which opened in St. Andrew's church, St. John, on Friday evening. While in the city Miss Harper will be the guest of Mrs. George Sealey.

The friends of Mrs. George Jones, who underwent an operation at the Fisher Memorial Hospital, Woodstock, are glad to know that she is resting comfortably and every hope is entertained for her recovery.

Rev. Mr. McCall, pastor of the Advent church, Woodstock, reached to the Primitive Baptist congregation here on Tuesday evening.

Miss Myrtle Trus, Woodstock, spent the week-end at the Methodist parsonage.

Mr. and Mrs. George Good left this week to spend the winter with their son, Mr. Jasper Good, Jacksonville.

Miss Etta Fraser underwent a surgical operation at the Fisher Memorial Hospital on Wednesday. Her friends hope for a speedy recovery.

THE PROTESTANT ORPHANS' HOME

Sunday, December 9 will be set aside in every Protestant church in New Brunswick as Orphans' Sunday, if the request of the Provincial Campaign Committee in charge of the campaign to raise $250,000 for the Protestant orphans is carried out. Letters have been sent to every Protestant clergyman in the province requesting that this be done, that special sermons be preached at the services on that day stressing the responsibility of the Protestant people for the proper care of the little unfortunates who have been left as orphans. It is believed that this plan will be generally carried out and with this as a prelude to the great drive to start Monday, December 10, the Provincial Campaign Committee have no doubts as to the measure of the response from the Protestant people who are aroused as never before. This is by far the greatest Protestant movement in the history of New Brunswick and there is every indication that the stigma that the Protestants do not properly provide for their orphans will be wiped out with a generous response that a record for giving will be established of which the whole province will be proud.

Local campaign organizations have been formed in nearly every county in the province and it is confidently believed that before the end of this week the whole of New Brunswick will be thoroughly organized and ready for the great effort. Wherever organizations have been effected the most prominent people have gladly assumed the responsibility for raising the local quotas and are taking up the work with an enthusiasm that insures success. The movement is gaining strength and momentum daily and there is no doubt as to the outcome.

THE OLDER BOYS' CONFERENCE

DEATH OF AN INFANT

At Fredericton on November 29 an infant son was born to Mr. and Mrs. A. A. Barter at the maternity hospital. The child died on Friday and the remains were brought to Hartland by automobile by Mr. Barter accompanied by his daughters, Mabel and Gertrude.

At the home of Harry Barter a brief service was held by Rev. G. F. Bolster and the remains were taken to Avondale for interment.

The Remedy You Breathe

PEPS are the finest protection you can have for Throat, Chest and Lungs this weather.

You simply divest a Peps of its silver-jacket then dissolve the tablet in your mouth. The powerful medicinal fumes given off are breathed through the throat and air-passages deep into the chest and lungs. In this way weak spots are soothed, strengthened and healed, coughs and colds quickly arrested.

Peps are powerfully germicidal and speedily effective. They exterminate the germs that bring bronchitis, throat troubles, influenza, pneumonia, etc. Free from all harmful drugs, splendid for all weak-chested children.

St. Paul's church.

The new hose wagon of the fire department is a fine looking piece of equipment and we are sure that it will be an asset in the fire-fighting apparatus of the town.

Jack McFadden was a visitor in town this week, coming from the North Shore where he had been on business in connection with Fraser Companies Ltd. He is now in Glen-dyne.

Arthur Tompkins of Perth arrived here this week to take over his duties as manager of the Star Theatre, succeeding C. T. Johnstone who is going to St. John to take over the management of the Empress Theatre there.

Our readers will notice by an announcement in the advertising columns, that the Townsend Piano Co. of St. John are opening a branch here. This firm is one of the old established music houses in the Province and has an enviable reputation for giving satisfaction and for square dealing.

A very successful Show of Comedy and Vaudeville under the auspices of the St. Cecilia Club was held on Wednesday night at the Star. The talent was of high order and there were many encores. Edmundston can produce splendid local talent and the pity of it is that we do not utilize it more.

Don't forget the Sale of Work and Supper at the Palms on Saturday. Articles for Christmas at reasonable prices; articles which are useful as well as decorative; clothing suitable for children and grown ups will be offered and will be quickly sold. Supper will be served which would tempt the appetite of an epicure. Plants for Christmas, the beautiful white narcissi, the aromatic oriental lily, and the perfumed hyacinth will be on sale, and these will be out for Christmas and the New Year.

"Billy" Brehner is laid up with illness this week. Archibald Fraser of the Fraser Companies Ltd., was in town last week. R. D. Murphy of the Fraser Companies staff is in Boston for the firm. J. W. Hall was a visitor to Woodstock last week going on Thursday and returning on Saturday.

A meeting of the local committee of the Provincial Protestant Orphans Home was held in Fraser Hall on Wednesday evening.

The fire department is to hold a ball in the near future, and we are sure that it will be one of the popular events of the season. Mrs. Henry Tedlie of Hartland was a visitor last week at the home of Rev. N. and Mrs. Franchetti. Mrs. Tedlie left for home on Wednesday morning.

The mild weather of this time of the year is phenomenal. If it continues much longer spring will be here, and we shall miss our chance of kicking about the weather.

The Hon. J. E. Michaud left on Wednesday morning for St. John, where he went to attend a banquet to be tendered the Hon. Peter Veniot, Provincial Premier.

We notice that the sidewalk by Aaron Lawson's and Mrs. Hebert's houses is being mended. We are glad that this is so, for sooner or later some one would have broken their leg there.

Wedding announcements of interest to a great many people in Edmundston were received here last week. They were in regard to the wedding of Miss Marion Emmeline Simms, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. H. Simms of Grand Mere, Quebec, to G. Harry P. Babin, the wedding taking place in St. Stephen's church, Grand Mere, on Nov. 20.

A chicken supper was given by the Edmundston school staff on Thursday night. The revenue from this supper is to form the nucleus of a fund to purchase instruments for a town band. There is promised a very interesting Police Court action next week, involving illegal selling of liquor, assault and battery, and a number of other things.

JEWELS CAUSE WORRY.

Best Precautions to Guard Against Thieves.

The possession of rare and precious jewels is a source of great worry to many people. It is so easy to lose them.

Jewel thieves are such well-dressed rogues that they almost look like gentlemen, and it is difficult for the unwary to anticipate that the man who is wearing himself such an agreeable companion is actually planning a raid on a well-filled jewel-case.

If only jewel thieves were compelled to wear some distinctive mark of their profession, say, a broad arrow on the forehead—it would relieve the anxiety of all lovers of priceless gems.

I was once asked by a woman, says a writer in an English paper, what were the best precautions to take to guard against jewel thieves. I replied that if I had $50,000 worth of jewels no thief would ever steal them. I should just sell them.

That is the sort of answer a man would give, but it does not help a woman very much. As a matter of fact one can only give the general advice that common sense and reasonable care should be exercised.

A very famous jewel thief named Nicholson used to say that so many temptations were placed in his way that he could not resist them. He never blamed himself but always the women who were so careless with their valuables.

He appeared in the dock for the last time at Middlesex Sessions, in London, some years ago, when the late Sir Ralph Littler sentenced him to ten years' penal servitude.

"My lord," he pleaded, "I am an old man and I'm afraid I shan't live to serve that sentence."

"How old are you?" asked the judge.

"Turned seventy, my lord," was the reply.

"I suppose you are right," said the judge. "Well, look here, Nicholson, do as much of it as you can!"

He did his best and died six years later in Parkhurst Prison.

Iris From Heaven.

Some flowers get their name from beautiful old legends.

Narcissus was a beautiful youth beloved by the nymph Echo. But as he was incapable of love Echo died from grief. In order to punish him, the goddess Nemesis caused him to see his image reflected in a fountain.

Narcissus fell in love with his own shadow and slowly pined away until he was changed into the form of the flower.

The hyacinth sprang from the blood of another handsome youth, Hyacinthus, the son of a Spartan king. While he was playing at quoits the god Zephyrus, in a fit of jealousy, caused a quoit to strike his head, killing him instantly.

Iris means "a rainbow." And because the rainbow was supposed to unite heaven and earth the ancient Greeks regarded Iris as the messenger of the gods.

Snowdrop, bluebell, and honey-suckle are names that explain themselves. The daisy is the "day eye," but the foxglove is really the "fair eye."

The origin of tulip is in the Turkish form of "turban," a name prompted by the resemblance between the flower and the headdress. Thyme is derived from a Greek word meaning "incense."

The Marriage Portion.

That brilliantly witty playwright and novelist, Mr. Israel Zangwill, is telling a new story about a "Shadchan" (marriage-broker).

He called on a prospective client. Taking some photographs from his pocket he said: "I have some nice eligible girls waiting for husbands. Now this one"—showing the photograph—"is rather pretty. Her marriage portion is $250. This one here—she is a little plump. Her dowry is $500. This third one—maybe she is a little ugly, but she brings $1,000 for a husband."

"I've got one, too, who brings with her $5,000, but I ain't got her photograph."

"No matter," retorted the client. "I can well imagine it."

Poor Little Babies.

Java has a population of 38,000,000. It is so impossible for that enormous fertile island to accommodate such a population if it increased normally. It is kept within limits only by the fact that 50 per cent. of the babies die before they are five years old. Borneo plague kills them and people take few precautions to check it. Polygamy still flourishes there. The Sultan's son, the Crown Prince of Solo, who is an educated man and speaks English and a number of European languages, has two wives, and his father, the Sultan, has many more.

Luck at Cards.

Many card players are particular about the cut of the cards. They must be divided and put back with the most meticulous care. A slovenly cut brings good luck to the dealer and bad luck to the utter. Some imagine that special tables or positions at the tables are lucky to them, and refuse to play unless they can get the places they desire. Others conceive that certain members are unlucky to them, and nothing will induce them to play with them. To drop a card on the floor when playing is generally regarded as a bad omen.

Motorcars a Terror in China.

The motorcars of Chinese officials are formidable terrors. With fur-capped servants standing on the running boards, they go full speed through the long streets, heedless of life or property, and with no thought for traffic laws. The khaki-clad police hold out their arms in warning, and everybody dashes to the curb as the cars speed by with shrieking sirens.

LOCAL AND PERSONAL ITEMS

Two delightful headliners were shown last week at the local theatre, but of an altogether different calibre. Freddie Barry, the young and rising screen star, brought many tears as he silently worked out his role in "Heroes of the Street," that of a son, whose father a policeman was killed on Christmas eve, leaving his children in for a lot of hard treatment, out of all of which they came up smiling. Tom Mix and his horse Tony, were as good as ever on Saturday night, in "Three Jumps Ahead." The play was replete with hair-raising escapades. The comedy and Fox news end of each programme was also excellent.

A number of local Masons attended the special at the Masonic Hall on Wednesday last to welcome the Grand Master and return on an official visit. A pleasant evening was spent and a delicious luncheon of coffee, cake and sandwiches was served through the courtesy of the members of the Eastern Star Chapter.

Mr. and Mrs. Carey Dickinson and daughter of Avondale spent Sunday with Mr. and Mrs. T. H. Jameson.

Mrs. L. L. Clark and Freddie Clark have gone to Boston to visit her daughters, Mrs. Fanjoy and Miss Phyllis Clark.

George Niles, while out scouting last week, near the confines of the town, had the good fortune to get his peepers on a large buck. Said deer has since been hanging by the heels.

Miss Bertie West had a fall last week and sustained a dislocation of the shoulder.

Frank MacKenzie of Grand Falls spent Sunday with his parents, Mr. and Mrs. F. K. P. MacKenzie.

The Senior and high school basketball teams, played a strenuous game at the gymnasium on Thursday evening.

Mr. and Mrs. C. F. West of Presque Isle visited Mr. and Mrs. E. West on Sunday.

Miss Marjorie Burr of Fort Fairfield is visiting her grand parents, Mr. and Mrs. S. W. Burr.

Miss Addie Irving and D. H. Burr were Centreville guests at the recent wedding of Miss Laura Irvine at Mars Hill, Me.

The local Red Cross and supplemental help have been very vigorous of late in the work of uplift. Among recent contributions were $25.00 to the Japanese relief fund and $60.50 which was collected locally for the aid of the Fisher Memorial Hospital at Woodstock. The Misses Rayworth, Field and Marjorie Lee were also successful in collecting $8.15 for Christmas stockings to soldiers in hospitals. The local Hospital Aid is also beginning to bear fruit.

Everett Hoyt has been sick since last Wednesday with a severe attack of erysipelas.

Eric Brown went to Bridgewater on Sunday.

Miss Barbara Fenety of Fredericton is the guest of Mr. and Mrs. A. O. I. Crookshank.

How many chances of fire in your home?

You don't know. But there are a great many chances—too many with which to gamble. Why not let the insurance company take the risk? Insurance costs but a very little and if fire comes, your policy may mean your salvation. There is no better protection than the sound indemnity of dependable fire insurance.

Let this agency tell you about it. You will be under no obligation. Better insure in this agency.

DODGE MOTHERS-IN-LAW.

Strange Customs Among Natives in West Africa.

A strange custom prevails among the natives of Angola, Portuguese West Africa, according to Lolo Davis, diamond prospector, who is now in New York after a visit to the dark continent.

With the Backoko tribe, he says, the custom is for the bridegroom to look on his mother-in-law for the last time when he marries her daughter, and she, in turn, takes her last gaze on the features of her sons-in-law. If ever they meet afterward, Mr. Davis continues, the one who sees the other first has to pay a heavy penalty in silver or salt.

"I was going through one of the Backoko villages one day," the diamond prospector said, "with my guide, Umoto, when he suddenly uttered a loud yell and leaped to one side of the narrow path through the tropical undergrowth, and ran away as fast as he could, after throwing his packages on the ground. I chased him and caught him under a banyan tree, shaking violently. When I asked what was the matter he replied in the Backoko tongue, which sounds like a man with a hoarse voice trying to talk Chinook through a megaphone. 'Because of my mother-in-law.' I then learned of the custom among the natives, and discovered that we had been within a few feet of Umoto's mother-in-law's palm-thatched hut, but she did not see him. The handicap of paying many forfeits is not a very serious one with the Backokos, as the marriages do not last many moons."

Nursing Sick Children.

To nurse a child through a severe illness requires much more than the loving attention and care which all mothers are prepared to bestow upon their little ones when they are ill. It requires knowledge and firmness added to an inexhaustible fund of patience.

It is when a child is ill that the full value of previous training in the good habits of childhood will manifest itself. Though man, things may go by the board when a child is ill, more amenable than a child that has entirely followed its own devices.

Generally speaking, a sick child is best left alone. Look into the wards of a children's hospital. The patients are in their beds, and there they stay. They are not, as many an anxious mother is tempted to do, continuously nursed and rocked in someone's arms.

When there is unpleasant medicine to be taken, or some unpleasant operation of the sick room to be performed, it is better to be truthful with the child and promise some little treat afterwards, rather than deceive in the first instance, and be found out. Once deceived, the child is for ever after sceptical, and in this way a mother lays up a good deal of trouble for herself.

Blackfoot Sun Dance.

Blackfoot sun dance ceremonies at Gleichen have come to an end. This year's high priestess is Mary Wolf Leg, a Blackfoot Indian woman. During the final afternoon the high priest and medicine men recited the long tribal prayers, the Sun Dance pole with its offerings to the sun god was erected and Mary Wolf Leg was permitted to eat for the first time for days. During the fasting period nothing passed her lips save a small quantity of water, given her by one of the medicine men at noon of each day. While the woman was fasting the other members of the tribe held their various social, fraternal and other ancient dances and ceremonies, including the initiation of new members into the Society of the Horns, the crazy dog dance and the sweat dance were performed. Another interesting feature of the annual gathering was the traditional ceremony, accompanying the sale of a medicine pipe. This year Vincent Yellow Old Woman sold the medicine pipe to Jack Sun Calf. Every woman and child attending the Sun Dance camp took part in a big special feast and dance.

Beastly Language.

Certainly dogs understand language and sometimes seem to try and make sounds resembling words. A French scientist tried to teach a monkey to talk, and got it to say "feu" (French for "fire") whenever a match was struck. The scientist smiled when asked why he did not teach the animal English. Really the animal enjoyed blowing out the flame! It has been estimated that the maximum vocabulary of monkeys is about thirty "words"—a word being a definite cry common to all members of the species, and indicative of an emotion.

Ugliest Cathedral.

The world's ugliest cathedral is in Munich, Germany. Its ugliness is due to the fact that its towering walls of brick are perfectly plain until they rise above the level of the surrounding houses. The other day it was discovered that two great towers are falling out of perpendicular. One has moved four inches and the other nearly a foot towards the west, so that Munich may in the near future outdo Pisa by having two "leaning towers."

Each for Herself.

When forty women met recently to form a musical club in Waco, and were asked to write on slips of paper the name of their choice for president, the organization of the club had to be abandoned because the nominating committee found on the slips the names of thirty-nine of those present. The fortieth slip bore the word "Me."—Musical Courier.

Early Golf.

Speaking of golf, a correspondent says that Ananias must have been a golfer—at any rate, after a "bad lie" he "lay dead." Supphra, too, he adds, for after a worse "lie" she "laid the hole."—Boston Evening Transcript.

TRAPPER FINDS VICKS HANDY FOR A HOST OF ILLS

Ontario Man Says It is a Most Useful Remedy

Mr. C. Phoenix, of 756 Gray St., London, Ont., writes: "I am very pleased to recommend Vicks VapoRub. I am a hunter, trader and trapper, also a fisherman. I use Vicks VapoRub in place of liniments, because it is very handy to carry and always gives such quick relief for small animal and insect bites and for chapped hands and lips. My boots would blister my feet and I rubbed it on them and it made them just right. When I go trapping next fall I will have plenty of Vicks VapoRub in my kit. I call it the 'Trapper's Friend.' I have not had a cold all winter and I go out all the time and sometimes stay out all night with my traps."

Vicks VapoRub, the discovery of a Southern druggist, is a combination in salve form of Camphor, Menthol, Eucalyptus, Thyme, Turpentine, etc. Absorbed through the skin and at the same time inhaled as a vapor, Vicks reaches immediately inflamed, congested air passages.

It is the modern direct treatment for all cold troubles, the successor to goose grease, camphorated oil, liniments, poultices and plasters.

Used for croup and children's colds, Vicks gives remarkably quick results and also avoids nauseating internal dosing. Just as good for cuts, burns, bruises, bites, stings.

At all drug stores, 50¢ a jar. For a free test size package, write Vicks Chemical Co., 344 St. Paul St., W. Montreal, P. Q.

Though Vicks is new in Canada it has a remarkable sale in the States. Over 17 million jars used yearly.

HOW MANY OF THESE WILL PROVE TRUE?

Mysterious Seer Foretells What the Next Year Will Bring Forth

Paris, Dec. 1.—(United News).—The year 1934 will bring—Re-election of President Coolidge and complete victory of prohibition forces.

Return of Lloyd George to power and the strengthening of relations between Great Britain and Germany.

Violent earthquakes in many parts of the world.

Death of two famous French statesmen.

Assassination of two great Red leaders of Russia.

Sudden death of the ambassador of a world power in Paris who has "harmed" France.

Vast plot against Premier Mussolini and an attempt to assassinate him, with the subsequent crushing and bloody defeat of a strong anti-fascist army by fascist.

Revolution which will shake the Spanish throne and start Spain on the road to be a republic within a year.

Withdrawal of all French troops from the Ruhr as Germany starts to pay her war debts.

Used After Shaving Keeps Skin Soft and Smooth

DR. CHASE'S OINTMENT

64 Cents a box, all dealers, or Edmundson, Bates & Co., Ltd., Toronto

These are some of the predictions of the mysterious Professor Raymond, Hungarian seer living in Paris, whose uncanny prophecies of events in 1933 have created a sensation.

A year ago he predicted the death of President Harding, the Japanese earthquake, the occupation of the Ruhr, volcanic eruptions in Italy, a dictatorship in Germany and the remarkable stabilization of the Austrian crown.

Drawing aside the veil of the more distant future, Professor Raymond sees two great wars both ending disastrously for the Anglo-Saxon race. Between 1942 and 1946 Japan will be victorious in a war against the United States. Within a few years, Great Britain will be reduced from a world empire to a small island nation in a losing conflict against the Alliance of France, Italy, Russia and Germany. The Democratic party will win the election for president in 1938. Between 1928 and 1932, Aristide Briand will return to the premiership of France. In 1927 the ex-Kaiser will die still in exile, from cerebral congestion.

THE NATIONAL WAY ACROSS CANADA

Canadian National Rail Services Are the Acme of Travel Comfort

From the Atlantic Provinces to the Pacific, the ideal route is via "Canadian National"—"The National Way."

Whether on business or on pleasure, the traveller has the advantage of a through rail service that is unsurpassed for excellence. The finest equipment of all steel trains is furnished, and the most modern of standard sleepers, compartment cars, and modern diners.

The "National Way" is also the finest scenic route, and by reason of its construction furnishes the smoothest and most comfortable journey. From Maritime Province points there is the best of service to Montreal via the "Ocean Limited," and "Maritime Express," of the Valley Route to Quebec.

From Bonaventure Station, Montreal, the famous "Continental Limited" leaves daily at 10:00 p.m. for Ottawa, New York, Chicago, Winnipeg and Vancouver. This is the finest of through Transcontinental services; the equipment of these Canadian National trains being of the most modern standard.

Ticket Agents of the Canadian National Railways will afford enquirers all the detailed information regarding these services. Enquiries addressed to the General Passenger Department, Montreal, will be promptly replied to, and booklets describing the territory will be mailed.

TO CALIFORNIA FOR THE WINTER

To California, British Columbia and Pacific Coast points is the objective of many who wish to escape the rigors of a cold winter.

Those who are in a position to spend this period in a land of sunshine and warmth, where flowers bloom all year, can make the journey comfortably and quickly by Canadian National Railways and connecting routes.

Any Ticket Agent of the Canadian National will furnish the required information as to through train services, routes, fares, etc., or write General Passenger Department, Montreal, for this information.

NEW LAMP BURNS 94% AIR

BEATS ELECTRIC OR GAS

A new oil lamp that gives an amazing brilliant, soft, white light, even better than gas or electricity, has been tested by the U. S. Government and 35 leading universities and found to be superior to 16 ordinary oil lamps. It burns without odor, smoke or noise—no pumping up, is simple, clean, safe, burns 94 p. c. air and 6 p. c. common kerosene (coal oil).

The inventor, J. M. Johnson, 246 Craig St. W., Montreal, is offering to send a lamp on 10 days' FREE trial, or even to give one FREE to the first user in each locality who will help him introduce it. Also ask him to explain how you can get the agency, and without experience or money make $350 to $500 per month. 15-25

TRADE AT HOME PAGE

The purpose of this page has been outlined in previous issues—how that this space will from week to week give a sound, logical argument against the unprofitable “sending away habit”. The articles will begin with the first issue of January and every one of the surrounding spaces will by that time be taken up.

Today a man ‘phoned us and said: “Are the merchants of Carleton county crazy that they intend to pass up the opportunity for throttling the mail order houses in the way which you suggest? Carleton county business people should hop to this opportunity! I sure want a space and congratulate you upon your idea!”

A few of these spaces are still left—of course the best locations are taken—but every spot in the paper is a good one. Every merchant will share equally with another in the benefit of this vigorous propaganda.

STILL DEFEY SPANIARDS

MOORS HAVE WAGED HOLY WAR FOR CENTURIES.

Desert Kings Still Follow in Steps of Their Ancestors — Determined to keep Spaniards in Certain Limits in Morocco — Countless Expeditions Sent Against Them.

Rasul and Abd-el-Krim, unbalanced kings of the desert and the mountains that hem in the Spanish zone in Morocco, the two Moorish leaders whose name has spread throughout Europe and Africa, are faithfully following in the steps of their ancestors.

For centuries Moors have waged a "Jihad," or Holy War, against the intruding infidels, and to-day the Spanish hold on to the narrow strip of territory behind Melilla is less secure than ever before.

How seriously the position is regarded in official circles may be judged from the fact that there are well over 150,000 troops in Morocco, well armed and equipped for modern warfare—in the Melilla sector.

Rasul is better known than Abd-el-Krim, as his warlike activities cover a much longer period.

His name is as a brigand—the family name—and soon won for himself a great name as a daring pillager and a leader of men. Like all Moroccans he is a crack shot, and a successful smuggler, a born bandit, and is as brave as a lion.

His father of years ago, the attempt made by the Spanish authorities to bring him to book for his lawlessness, and raiding villages, convoys, and military outposts with unrelenting regularity.

His predatory operations were assisted by the nature of the country, which consists of wide stretches of barren desert and lofty ranges of mountains, where none, but the truceless and the brave. From these rocky fastnesses Rasul led little armies to harry the Spanish garrisons, and plunder the towns and hamlets, safely secure in their proximity to the strongholds of Ceuta and Melilla.

There were arms and ammunition aplenty for in his mountain strongholds at Tazerant in the Beni Arao mountains and the Foudak of Wadi Ras, Rasul had gathered the spoils of many assaults with the Spaniards. For was he lacking in artillery, for his captures include several batteries of machine and field guns.

He met with immediate success, and soon his fame rang from the mountains to the coast.

His mother, a Spanish woman, wishing to avoid their children said: "Hush, or I shall give you to Rasul!" Such was the dread of his name.

Countless expeditions were sent against him, but he was a champion life, and although his strongholds were reported bombed and shelled to pieces, he always turned up again and harried the invading troops, so that they had to retire to their base.

He and his men fought the fiercest of the Spanish army in pitched battles, and often proved victorious. His personal bravery became a household word, and his power extended over the length and breadth of Morocco.

After several years of war he was finally quelled down, and the Spanish military authorities, wishing to make peace with him, commenced friendly overtures. These were good fruit, and Rasul was granted $350,000 a year and a complete pardon. It was hoped that this would see the end of the struggle, and that the rebellious Moors would devote their energies to less warlike pursuits.

Rasul gave out that he was retiring from active hostilities and declared that he wished to remain at peace in the mountains in a zone which the Spaniards promised not to violate.

It was hoped that he would intervene on behalf of Spain to stop the recent attack by the Rifas under Abd-el-Krim, by whom he is much respected, but up to the present he does not appear to have fulfilled expectations. He has remained entirely passive, an attitude which is causing the Spanish authorities to have many anxious moments.

Abd-el-Krim has been somewhat overshadowed in the past, despite the fact that a few years ago he inflicted a crushing defeat on the Spaniards and captured hundreds of prisoners, whom he afterwards ransomed for $1,000,000. This sum was paid by Spain after long haggling.

Abd-el-Krim, at the beginning of his career, was more modest. He declined that Rasul, and for two years was employed by a Spanish firm in Melilla. There he found "everything bad" and disgusted with the treatment meted out to the Moors, fled to the mountains and joined in the war against the common enemy.

At the head of fanatical but well-trained bands of tribesmen Abd-el-Krim would sweep down from the mountains and by night take possession of territories in the Spanish Protectorate. Then he would return to his home in a sheltered valley behind formidable and almost inaccessible ranges.

His great success occurred a short time ago, when he routed the Spaniards outside Melilla and almost drove them from the town.

It seems almost incredible that the Spanish army, with its tanks, its machine guns, its airplanes and heavy artillery, should not be able to wipe out its native opponents. Even the death-dealing inventions of modern science cannot cope with the bravery of the Moors, who are fighting not for religion, but under the direction of a commander well-versed in the art of war.

The struggle between Moor and Spaniard began 1,000 years ago. It is destined to be interminable.

A Million a Year.
Only twenty-one persons in the United States in 1922 filed income tax returns showing net incomes of $1,000,000 or more. Ninety-two per cent of all returns were filed by persons who had net incomes of $5,000 or less.

SPANISH GOOD FLIERS.

Head of British Air Mission Says They Have No Nerves.

A rather curious report current two or three years ago with reference to Japanese aviation is recalled by an observer in London, who is the Master of Somerville, who has just returned after spending many months as head of the British air mission to Japan. The suggestion was that Japanese could not be made into good aviators because of something in their early upbringing, one point being that because they were carried pick-a-back in infancy they had somehow lost their sense of equilibrium. In support of this it was pointed out that many accidents had happened in Japan, and even to-day it is conceded that they have produced no outstanding fliers.

The statement, however, that they do not make good aviators is disproved by the Master of Somerville, who describes them as pupils leaving little to be desired, and the standard achieved by pilots throughout the naval air force is very high. In fact, one report of the Japanese credits the statement that it is higher than the British naval air force. The Japanese are said to be ready to try anything, and to have no trace of nerves. All this makes a very different story from that which became common property shortly after the armistice, and there seems now no doubt that that hypothesis is out of date.

To Excavate City of David.
The proposed excavation on the site of the City of David in Jerusalem, was discussed recently at a meeting of the Palestine Exploration Fund at the rooms of the Society of Antiquaries in London.

Dr. D. G. Hogarth, who presided, said that the occasion was epoch-making in their history, and they were on the eve of undertaking the excavation of the City of David, which had long been their ambition. He pointed out that there might not be much in it, because it was a rocky hill, but he reminded them that the excavation of the pockets of earth on the Acropolis Hill at Athens gave us a most interesting collection to the British Museum.

The Dean of Westminster had written saying that he had the highest hopes of the work. The Palestine Government assured them of its assistance, but had said that the fund should have $5,000 in its possession before anything could be done. They had themselves, and through the British Academy, $2,000. Mr. Charles Masterman had given $2,000, and Viscount Bunsford $1,000.

The matter was under very fair auspices, and he gave a promise that no one's prejudices would be outraged.

"Orphaned" Horses.
Three unknown thoroughbred horses, bred at Badminton, were found for two years, save a London Daily Express report. All attempts to find the owner have failed. They now have been sold at auction to meet the expense of their keep. The best horse fetched more than $70.

They arrived at the sewage farm with a groom, who gave the name and address of the "owner." The horses were taken in and grazed. When the "owner" was asked for breeding money he declined all knowledge of the horses.

The matter was placed in the hands of the police, and the horses were advertised all over the country. The owner did not come forward to claim them. Several people whose horses had been stolen went to Bedlington, but none recognized the animals.

Sandy Scored.

A Scotswoman was being shown over a bathhouse for the first time in his life, and, being keenly interested in all he saw, he piled his guide with all sorts of questions.

The maid seemed to interest him, and going up to one, he pointed to the grates in the marble's lap and asked what it was.

"The marble looked at him in surprise. 'Don't you know what that is?' he asked. 'Why, that's a turnip, of course.' 'A turnip?' replied the Scotswoman, impatiently. 'I was no' asking about yer head.'

Beauty in Distress.

At a seaside concert some pretty girls were acting as attendants. One expressed an old gentleman.

"Shall I show you to a seat?" she murmured, with a bashful blush. The old man stared at her, and the girl repeated her question, feeling rather puzzled.

"Can I show you to a seat?" she said in louder tones. "Oh, what—what?" exclaimed the old man, who was very deaf. That finished the poor girl. "Shall I show you to a seat?" she screamed wildly.

No More Peters.

There are more churches dedicated to St. Peter than to any other saint. But there has never been a Pope named Peter. The custom, according to which popes change their Christian names on their elevation, was introduced in A.D. 561 by Peter di Porcia. He felt that it would be presumptuous to have himself styled Peter, the second, so he took the name of Sergius the Second. Following in the same line of sentiment, no pope has ever retained or assumed the name of Peter.

Kills and Cures.

Cocaine, which is killing our jails and making the tooth extraction almost pleasant, comes from the coca plant whose dried leaves South American Indians eat, about with them in little bags. These leaves are chewed much as we smoke tobacco, when they are on journeys, and are extremely sustaining. Cocaine taken in this form is harmless, and does not, as is often said, cause the dried coca leaves instead of taking the concentrated form of the drug no harm would be done.

A WONDERFUL OPPORTUNITY

The amazing story entitled, "The Wonderful Heroine," which appeared in the Family Herald and Weekly Star of Montreal, has caused widespread speculation as to the identity of this young and beautiful woman, who by her heroic self-sacrifice and abounding trust and faith in God, by her sweet purity and astounding courage in the face of unimpeachable horrors, came to be regarded as a living saint and the wonder woman of a great Empire.

Readers of the Family Herald and Weekly Star are indeed fortunate, because it is now announced that the publishers have secured a beautiful painting of "The Wonderful Heroine" and a reproduction in the original color, size 18 x 24 inches, will be sent free to all subscribers, new and renewal who remit in time.

With this beautiful and inspiring picture added to the extraordinary value of that great national farm and home journal, it is the bargain of a life time. The subscription of the Family Herald and Weekly Star of Montreal is only $2.00 a year.

OBSERVER OFFICE

Hartland, N. B.

THERE'S PLENTY OF BUSINESS ABOUT

When you hear anybody complaining That times are the devil for trade, While he takes up your time in explaining How easily losses are made, Just tell him to take off the sackcloth And put on his hat and come out; You can very soon prove Once you get on the move That there's plenty of business about.

Though it isn't like '19 or '20 When any darn fool could succeed, And you've got to hike around good and plenty To take in the orders you need, What else do you want if you're honest? There oughtn't to be any doubt If you hunt out your buyer And shape like a trier, There's plenty of business about.

One step won't take you very far, You've got to keep on walking; One word won't tell folks who you are, You've got to keep on talking; One inch won't make you very tall, You've got to keep on growing; One little ad won't do it all, You've GOT to keep them going.
