How does he feel?—He feels at times a gnawing, voracious, insatiable appetite, wholly unaccountable, unnatural and unhealthy—August Flower the Remedy.

How does he feel?—He feels no desire to go to the table and a grumbling, fault-finding, over-nicety about what is set before him when he is there—August Flower the Remedy.

How does he feel?—He feels after a spell of this abnormal appetite an utter abhorrence, loathing, and detestation of food; as if mouthful would kill him—August Flower the Remedy.

Boys and Their Mothers.

Some one has written beautifully to the boys in the following manner: here is a whole sermon in a few sentences: 'Of all love affairs in the world, none can surpass the true love of the big boy for his mother. It is a pure love, noble and honest, and the highest degree to both. I do not mean merely a dutiful affection. I mean a love which makes a boy gallant and courteous to his mother, saying to everybody plainly that he is fairly in love with her. Next to the love of a husband, nothing so crowns a woman's life with honor as this second devotion of a son to her. And I never knew a boy to 'turn out' bad who began by falling in love with his mother. Any man may fall in love with a fresh faced girl, and the man who is gallant with her, and who really neglects the worn and weary wife. But the boy who is lover to his mother in her middle age is a true knight who will love his wife as much in the sea-level autumn as he did in the daisied spring-time.

Publisher—Good! That song will take the town and sweep the country. Give me the manuscript, quick. I'll compose it and it'll be a wordy yet.

GENERAL NEWS.

—Parliament at Ottawa has been prorogued till Feb. 26th.

—The British possession at Case Colony, South Africa, is agitating for home rule.

—Tramcars on the Grand Trunk Railway have had their wages reduced from $1 to 90 cents per day.

—British Columbia is to have new Parliament buildings erected.

—Forty-seven failures are reported for Canada for the past week, as against thirty-seven a year ago.

—The portion of Quebec province along the St. Lawrence was visited by an earthquake shock on Thursday, 11th, which lasted 10 seconds.

—One of the most severe storms in the history of Winnipeg visited that city on Wednesday, 10th. Two men living a short distance out of town, lost their way in the storm and were frozen to death.

—It is stated that a glass factory in Liverpool has glass journal boxes for all its machinery, glass shingles on the roof, a glass floor, and a chimney 105 feet high built entirely of glass bricks each a foot square.

—During the past year 727 Icelanders located in Canada. They constitute a very desirable class of settlers, who quickly adapt themselves to life in Manitoba and the northwest. If by any possibility the live stock and household effects of the people of Iceland could be brought to Canada the general impression is that the whole population would migrate to this country.

—The English reformers adopted some curious titles for their devotional and controversial works. "Matches Lighted at the Divine Fire," "The Gun of Penitence," "The Shop of the Spiritual Apothecary," "The Bank of Faith," "Six pennyworth of Divine Spirit," "Some Fine Siseents Baked in the Oven of Charity, Carefully Conserved for the Chickens of the Church," "The Sparrows of the Spirit," and "The Sweet Swallows of Salvation" are among the number.

—Lower California, which somebody periodically threatens to purchase and bring under the territorial dominion of the United States, is the largest of North American peninsulas. It is of about the same area as Florida. Its greatest length is about 800 miles and its greatest width about 145 miles. The whole peninsula is subtropical in climate and productions and its extreme southern end is just within the torrid zone. The coast line on gulf and ocean is about 1,700 miles in length. The population is sparse and the means of communication are so undeveloped that it is one of the most remote regions in the civilized world. The gulfs ports are almost unknown to people of this country.

—Observers have noticed that a fish hawk, after securing its prey, will often rise very high in the air, drop the fish, quickly swoop down upon and seize it, and then fly homeward. The object of this, as explained by an old skipper in the Lower Bay of New York, is to get the fish 'head on' as a hawk will never fly with the tail of its prey foremost. So if it has caught it that way, giving it a twist it drops it and seizes it again with the head pointing in the right direction.

—A certain New York woman possesses one of the rarest coins in the world. It is a twenty-franc piece, and at first glance does not appear to differ greatly from the ordinary French coin of that denomination. Upon close inspection, however, it will be seen that while one side is plainly marked 'Napoleon Empereur,' the other side says quite as plainly and contradictorily 'Republique Francaise.' The answer to this seeming numismatic enigma is as follows: The coin was minted at the time of Napoleon III's accession to the Empire. One side was already stamped 'Republique Francaise,' when word came that France was no longer a republic and that Napoleon had been crowned. The obverse side was, therefore, marked with respect to the latter historical development.

But few of these coins are now in existence, and hence the possession of one of them is a matter of much moment to the collectors. The best known authority on such subjects declares the coin to be simply invaluable.

—The emigration returns for 1893 have just been published by the Imperial government. The departures of all nationalities from British ports, during the last twelve months, numbered 307,750, showing a decrease for the year, as compared with those of last year, of 13,647. British emigrants numbered 209,117, showing a decrease of 925. Of these 134,802 were English, an increase this year of 487; 22,067 were Scottish, a decrease of 665; and 52,155 were Irish, the emigrants were as follows: For United States, 149,150, showing a decrease as compared with last year of 889; for Canada 24,759, an increase of 1,505, entirely due to the increase in the English emigrants to the Dominion; for Australia 11,264, a decrease of 4,686; for South Africa 3,093, an increase 301. The foreigners going to the United States, numbered 64,100, a decrease of 21,083; the foreigners going to Canada numbered 25,612, an increase for the year as compared with last year of 7,000.

Jones.—'I am, because I know already while you have to ask for information on the subject.'

W. C. T. U. COLUMN.

Conducted by the Ladies of the Sackville W. C. T. U.

We publish to-day, in our Women's Column, the contents of an autograph letter of Gen. Noel Dow, sent to the "Maine Building" at the Columbian Exposition, by request of Mrs. L. M. Stevens, president of the W. C. T. U. of that state. It is said that the "grand old man" of prohibition rises at 5 o'clock every morning according to a life-time habit, walks three miles daily, and drives fifteen or twenty when the weather permits. Prohibition seems to prohibit disease and death as well as poverty.

What Prohibition has done for Maine.
BY NEAL DOW.

1. We had many distilleries seven of which and two breweries were in this city. Now we have not one in this state, nor has there been for many years.

2. At the same time a great quantity of West India rum was imported; it came to us by the cargoes, many of them every year. Now not even one puncheon is imported, nor has there been for many years.

3. Before prohibition rum shops were everywhere in the state, wholesale and retail, no matter so small or remote but the rumrunner found it and established a grog-shop there. Now, in more than three-fourths of the state, having three-fourths of our population, the grog-shop is unknown. An entire generation has grown up there, never having seen a saloon or the effects of one.

4. The quantity of liquor now sold in the state is not one-twentieth so great as it was before prohibition. In Portland, the largest city, the quantity sold is not one-hundredth part so much as it was, the city being twice larger than it was at the time the law was made.

5. Our people used to spend in strong drink the entire valuation of the state in every period of twenty years, as the nation is now doing in every period of thirty-five years. But now one million dollars will far more than pay for all the liquor smuggled into the state and sold in violation of law.

6. Our state saves annually, directly and indirectly, more than twenty millions of dollars, which for prohibition would be spent, lost and wasted in drink.

7. Maine is now one of the most prosperous states in the Union, but before the adoption of prohibition it was undoubtedly the poorest.

8. The whole face of the state has been changed for the better. Before the law there were conspicuous indications everywhere of dilapidation, unthrifty and decay in shabby churches, shabby school-houses, shabby dwellings, neglected and shabby barns. Now there is nothing of all that, but everywhere are seen conclusive proofs of industry, activity, enterprise and thrift, no dilapidated or neglected buildings anywhere, either public or private, but everywhere unmistakable proofs of an industrious and thrifty people.

9. In 1884, after an experience of the benefits of prohibition for thirty-three years, that policy was put into our constitution by a popular vote, the majority being 47,075, the affirmative vote being three times larger than the negative. There can be no more convincing proof than this, that prohibition in Maine has not been 'a failure' as the distillers and brewers declare it to be, but on the contrary a great success.

Portland Me.
A Conservative member of the English Parliament was making the point to a Liberal woman suffragist that women, if enfranchised, would vote the Conservative ticket, and he instanced the election for the chief municipal officer of a city in which there was an unusually large proportion of women voters, and in which the Liberal party had been accustomed to win. 'What do you think is the reason that the Liberal men voters were not able to persuade the women to accept their candidates?' asked the suffragist. This was the answer which, unconsciously to the Conservative gentleman who made it, cut the ground from under his hypothesis. 'Oh, we were obliged on account of the women to put up a man of such high character that the women were attracted by his superior habits and record, so that it was of no use to talk to them about the Liberal candidate, who was morally a very much lower grade of man.' So then it seems that even on the admission of an opponent, women will make morally the highest vote.

North Wales has been experiencing a genuine temperance crusade under the leadership of Lady Henry Somerset. The government veto bill has been greatly strengthened as a result of this crusade. Lady Henry has engagements that will occupy her time almost exclusively for the entire winter and we earnestly pray that her health may not be impaired by such continuous platform work.

When his wife discovered a bottle of it in his coat-pocket he said it was worthless. She said it was all right, 'so long as it takes too much of it.'

A PAGAN'S REPORT.

O Mother, I have loved thee without And looked upon the mystery of change,
Since first a child, upon the closing
year,
I saw the snowflakes fall and whispered 'Strange!'

Because in these pale border-lands of Grief hath companioned me, I have not grieved;
And when love passed into the outer strait,
I have not faltered and thou hast not fallen.

For I have lifted up my heart to thee,
And thou hast ever harkened and drawn near.
And loved thy shining face down over
me,
Till I could hear thee as the hill-flowers
hear.

And I have cried to thee in lonely need,
'Jeing but a child of thine bereft and wring,
Till all the rivers in the hills gave head,
And the great hill-winds in the holy tongue.—

The April stars and autumn smelts
I know—
Soothed me and calmed with solace beyond reach
Of human ken, mysterious and low.

Then in that day when the last snow
shall come
And chill the fair round world within its fold,
Leave me not friendless in the gathering gloom,
But give me thine arms about me as of old.

With sleep once more in thy compassionate hands,
Crown me a murmur as of many hills
When I would rove the crimson valley lands
With all my vanished comrades of the hills.

When the great storm out of the dark shall drive,
And blur the sun, and beguile my re-
laxance,
Let not thy weary earthling faint nor strive,
Faring beyond the tumult to thy peace.
—Bliss Carman, in Scribner's

Personals.

—The Emperor of China, who is twenty three years old, is now studying the English and French languages, while Prince Yanagi-Wara, the heir presumptive to the Japanese throne, has entered the Noble's School where all the students study a foreign

—Miss Louise Alexander, of New York, is rapidly becoming famous as the "girl detective." Since she entered the service of a detective agency
a week ago Friday she has captured nine thieves in New York stores, and demonstrated anew that there's more than one way for a bright woman to earn a living. Miss Alexander began her career as a child actress in support of Bernhard about 16 years ago,
and her gift for detecting dishonest persons made her a professional detective. There must be a good living for a bright and pretty young woman in the rapidly growing detective business, because few women take up the trade.

—The Sultan has a hobby. It is carpentry and cabinet work. Before he came to the throne and when there seemed little prospect of his succeeding to the heritage of Osman he spent a good deal of time in the joiner's shop, and indeed became a fairly skillful workman, capable of shouldering his tool and earning his living anywhere. And although his Majesty no longer handles chisels, saw and plane, he has not forsaken the old trade. He has become a master man, and for large jobs and cabinet maker's workshops are fitted up in the palace, where skillful artisans turn out articles of furniture, of which the designs are furnished by the Sultan,
who often visits the shops.

Who 'Gins' Is.
Says the Pictou Advertiser: A friend
writing to Pechie, from Moncton, says that 'Jim,' the man whom Carroll arrested there a year ago turns out to be the missing James Duffy, a former resident of Albert Co., N. B., who had not been heard from for 12 years.
He was formerly a school teacher and a good musician. An old school mate of his and his own sister have called to see him in the penitentiary, but he denies any connection with them, and hides himself all he can.

—For some years past an American Company has been engaged in boring for oil in Gaspe, some time ago it being reported that one of its wells had sunk to depths of 500 feet and $300,000 had been spent in operations. Oil has been struck in small quantities at different times but appearances were so promising that the company were sanguine of a good return for their investment. At last the company has struck oil, and it is reported that there is a flow of 100 bbls per day of very fine oil, which it is hoped will continue.

'It's all well enough,' said the man who dislikes popular music, 'but young gentlemen to write sentimental verses and set 'em to music. But when it comes to shouting 'em at everybody who goes along the street by means of a piano-organ it really seems positively indecent.'

ST. JOHN FIRM ASSIGNS.—The announcement on Monday last that the well known publishing house of J. & A. McMillan had assigned was received with surprise by those outside commercial circles. The house is one of the oldest in the Maritime Provinces, and has a most honorable record. The assignment is to Messrs C. W. Weldon and George A. Schofield. The amount of liabilities assigned is in the vicinity of $70,000 and the assets are nominally about the same. The firm carried on a large stationery, book-binding, blank book making and printing establishment and the store was one of the best equipped bookstores in the country. After the race Mr. Prescott and Mr. Chappell traded horses.

AN INTERESTING CASE.—The case of Albert Fawcett vs. Clifford Estabrook both of Upper Sackville, for trespass was concluded before Magistrate Cahill Tuesday having lasted three days. The defendant was charged with a number of years being using plaintiff's land in going to a spring to water his cattle. Plaintiff forbade defendant to do so and the action was brought. Defendant's counsel applied for a non suit on the ground that the land was used for agricultural purposes and that the defendant was in evidence to be using the land for a number of years defendant had acquired the legal right to occupy it. The court entertained the application and non suited the plaintiff. Plaintiff applied for a copy of evidence taken for the purpose of appeal, from the magistrate's decision and the case is in a fair way to be brought up before the supreme court. Powell & Bennett appeared for plaintiff and T. A. Kinnear for defendant.

FAWCETT'S FOUNDRY.—Stone for the foundation of Mr. Chas. Fawcett's new foundry has been ordered. It is on the old site, but will be much larger and more convenient than the old one being hauled from Wood Point and Fairville. Active operations will begin as soon as the weather permits. There will be two new buildings, one moulding shop and fitting shop, 192 feet long by 55 and 45 feet wide respectively. These will run parallel 40 feet apart and will be connected by a building 45 feet wide. The moulding shop will be one story, containing one room only and used exclusively for moulding. The fitting shop will be two story and will give accommodation as well for a polishing shop and mill room on the lower floor. The second floor will be taken up with carpenter shop, nickel room, blacking room, etc. All the buildings will be of wood with the possible exception of the engine room which may be of brick. The new engine will be a Wheelock 60 horse power. The nickel building will be carried on to a greater extent than before. It is expected that everything will be in running order by the end of June.

THE CHORUS CONCERN.—The Methodist Choir Concert will be on Friday day Feb. 2nd, in Music Hall, Sackville. The choir has been so fortunate as to secure the services of the violin virtuoso Herr Carl Walther whose playing lately created such a sensation in St. John. It will be a great treat to hear this violinist whose performance is at once so artistic and so thrilling. He has the rare gift of being a true artist and at the same time a popular player that his audiences are always enraptured. Mrs. Harrison of course will sing to Sackville audiences she does not need that anything else be said. As Mrs. Harrison intends going away shortly and will be gone some time this may be the only opportunity of hearing her in concert music this season. The chorus will consist of about forty voices; besides other selections from the great masters they will sing the grand chorus, "Thanks be to God" from Mendelssohn's oratorio of Elijah. It represents the outburst of thanksgiving when the rain comes in answer to Elijah's prayer. Prof. Waits of Moncton will assist in the programme. Other special features of the concert will be the recitation of the Psalm of the Hall at Goodwins book store.

Mr. and Mrs. Harvey Brown of St. John were in attendance at the funeral, Mrs. Brown being a sister of Mr. Howard.

Death of Judge Oulton.

Dorchester was shocked on Saturday morning last, the 24th by learning that Alfred E. Oulton Esq., Judge of Probate had passed away at nine o'clock.

Mr. Oulton had been for some time past in declining health; but no one dreamed that his end was so near. He was out to his office on Saturday the 13th but that very day he was seized with a gripe and that fell disease working from the inside he became weaker and stronger than his strength to cope with it, and in spite of the most assiduous medical attention on the part of Dr. J. P. Mitchell as consulting physician, he passed away on Saturday morning as quietly as a sleeping child.

The deceased was born at Westmorland, N. S. on the 2nd of Oct. on the 2nd of March, 1845. He received his education in the schools of his native place, and spent three years at Mount Allison University. He studied law as his profession, and pursued his studies in the office of A. L. (now Mr. Justice) Palmer. He was admitted to the bar in June, 1867, and then went into a law partnership with Mr. Palmer, which partnership lasted three years, when the latter removed to St. John. On the death of Governor Chandler in August, 1878, he was appointed judge of probate for this county, which office he has filled with universal satisfaction up to the time of his death. In June, 1878, he was elected secretary of the municipality of Westmorland and has since ably performed his official duties. In 1883 he married Kate Estabrook, daughter of the late G. B. Estabrook of Sackville. He was a member of Sussex lodge, No. 4, F. & M. and immediate past master for 1893. His wife and five small children are left to mourn their loss.

The funeral took place on Monday afternoon at 3 o'clock. The remains were first taken to Trinity church which overflowed with a deeply impressed congregation; and when the grave was reached the Mourners' body took charge of the remains which were interred with Masonic ritual; the deceased having always been esteemed as a highly honorable member of the fraternity. In all the several relations of life Judge Oulton was always highly esteemed as a man of honor, and the profound respect and sympathy felt for his bereaved widow and fatherless children. On Sunday morning last the rector of Trinity church, Rev. J. Roy Campbell in his remarks spoke feelingly and fittingly of the dead and his words were endorsed by the sentiment of the community. To the afflicted family, widow, children, aged parents and brothers and sisters, the Post, in common with the community, extends the deepest sympathy.

Like other Keapers, what they fight each other for I cannot well make out, for though Scotch Act and labor interests are points at issue, both would-be mayors and all the councillors seem to be on the same side. The Post is therefore safe in predicting that that side will win.
