TOPICS OF TO-DAY.

Mr. Henry F. Young has been chosen by the Liberals of East Northumberland to contest the Local election.

The last time Stanley lectured at Birmingham he received 15 guineas for his fee. This time the Birmingham lecture manager offers 300 guineas, and is afraid he can't get him at that.

Princess Victoria, the sister of the Emperor William, will hereafter live most of the time out of Germany, having an allowance of $50,000 a year for that purpose from her brother.

It is rumored that the first volume of Bismarck's unpublished correspondence, extending from 1852 to 1880, is about to be issued, and that the second volume will appear soon after the first.

There is a new Eiffel Tower on the banks of the Neva, near St. Petersburg, constructed entirely of 10,000 blocks of ice, with restaurants, observation platforms and other attractions. It is 150 feet high.

The London Young Liberal Minstrels seem to have taken Toronto by storm. The company received a perfect ovation from the large and critical audience that assembled last night to enjoy their unique performance.

Signs of spring multiply in this neighborhood. In the city, the sparrows are building their nests, and this morning a red squirrel was seen disporting himself among the trees and fences in the east end of Craig street, London South.

It is alleged that the falsification of English coins by clipping and counterfeiting has gone to a greater extent during the last few years than for a long time before, and that things have got to such a pass that it isn't safe to accept certain coins at all.

William Black, the novelist, is at work upon a new novel that will be published in one of the magazines in July. It will have a Scotch name, but the story will be located chiefly in London, with incidental excursions to the United States and Canada.

The Southern States love to honor the Confederate heroes. According to a dispatch from Richmond, Va., it is proposed when the statue of Gen. Robert E. Lee reaches that city to place it in a wagon to be drawn by a rope a mile long. Men and women even now are clamoring to have a hold of the rope.

We have received from Mr. A. G. Westlake, Woodstock, a photograph of the young man supposed to have been murdered near Princeton, and who is as yet unidentified. The corpse is that of a man between 20 and 30 years of age, shaven face, prominent nose and mouth, dark hair and eyebrows, and apparently of French-Canadian extraction. His overcoat is of checked tweed.

A shoemaker is responsible for the statement that if men would adopt the English fashion of keeping their boots on trees they would get ten times the wear out of them. When the shoes are taken off they should be put on a tree at once. The leather is stretched to its full extent then, and all the wrinkles smoothed away. As there is no chance for the leather to crack, as it does if the wrinkles are allowed to remain in one condition long.

The Grand Trunk is adopting a novelty that all travelers will appreciate. This is a station indicator. In one end of the car is a box filled with cards containing the name of each station on the route. When a train starts out a card attached to a lever in the box is pulled, and a card drops into view, showing the name of the next station. Thus every passenger who is not blind may know the station the train is approaching without making any effort of inspiration to interpret the enigmatical calls of the train men.

John S. Fraser, father of Hon. C. F. Fraser, died on Monday at Brockville. He was born at Inverness, Scotland, in 1804, and came to Canada in 1812. He lived for some time in Glenora, but after the death of his first wife went to Prescott and afterwards to Brockville, where he lived for the last 50 years. He was the father of sixteen children, of whom two sons and four daughters, with his wife, survive. He was present at the battle of the Windmill as lieutenant-major of the Glenora Fencibles. He had many friends, by whom he was much respected.

The remains of a step-mother, it appears, indirectly laid the foundation for the millions of the Astors. The original John Jacob Astor was born in the village of Waldorf on the banks of the Rhine in 1763. His father was a butcher. He forced his sons William and Jacob to work from morning until night, while he enjoyed himself with his neighbors at the tavern. The mother of the Astor boys died while they were young. The father married again, and the motherless boys for several years passed through a siege of terror. John Jacob, the eldest, seems to have received more than his share of the trials. During the day he would go from door to door with a heavy basket of meat on his shoulder, and when night came, would prefer the left side of a plank with the horses rather than to be the scowling of his step-mother. At the age of 16, he hid good-bye to his native village and started out to better his fortune. Sixteen years later the boy who had been driven from his home on the Rhine had accumulated $250,000 in honest money. In 1848 he died, leaving $20,000,000. The two generations of Astors which followed increased and enjoyed this mammoth fortune. It now amounts to nearly $200,000,000.

Detroit River Bridge.
OTTAWA, Feb. 25.—The bill to incorporate the Detroit River railway bridge was read a second time yesterday.

A Free Market for Chatham.
CHATHAM, Ont., Feb. 25.—In spite of all opposition in and outside the Town Council the Board of Trade's recommendation to abolish market fees was carried last night. Chatham is bound to lead.

Muzzling the Press.

An Irish Editor Jailed for Reporting a Meeting.

England to be Represented at the Berlin Labor Conference.

Adverse Vote in the Commons on the Shorter Working Day Question.

Emin Pasha Declines the Governorship of Eastern Soudan.

Full Reports of the German Elections—151 Supplementary Constituents Necessary.

Tennyson's Illness.

Sick Again.

The Gag Law in Full Force.

St. Petersburg, Feb. 25.—The son of Sir R. D. Morier, the British ambassador, was wounded yesterday by the accidental discharge of a pistol which he carried in one of his pockets at the theatre.

Clemency Denied.

Paris, Feb. 25.—The Municipal Council, 33 to 13, yesterday voted resolutions condemning clemency towards the Duke of Orleans or other pretenders, and demanding clemency for convicted strikers.

Earthquake Shock at Rome.

Rome, Feb. 25.—There have been felt at Rome two slight earthquake shocks, and there is great alarm. There was a slight earthquake yesterday in Estremadura, Portugal, between Leiria and the sea coast.

Emin Pasha.

LONDON, Feb. 25.—Emin Pasha writes that he has declined the Khedive's offer of the Governorship of Eastern Soudan, and that he is resolved to return to Wadai and reconquer that country for Germany.

Joseph Biggar's Funeral.

DUBLIN, Feb. 25.—The remains of Joseph Biggar were interred at Carnmoney yesterday. A large number of friends and sympathizers attended the funeral. Many Parisian members of the House of Commons were present.

Bismarck Blamed.

BERLIN, Feb. 25.—There is mutiny in Bismarck's own camp. The Hamburg Nachrichten, generally his blind follower, blames him for the defeat of the Government at the last election, because he permitted the general voting system.

The Command of the British Army.

LONDON, Feb. 25.—The News states that the result of the Army and Navy Commission report will be that the Duke of Cambridge will retire from his position as commander in chief and will not be succeeded by any member of the royal family.

Emin Pasha.

BERLIN, Feb. 25.—Emin Pasha has written to a friend that he has declined the Khedive's offer of governorship of Eastern Soudan, with his residence at Suakin, and that he is resolved to return to Wadai and reconquer that country for Germany.

England Will Be Represented.

LONDON, Feb. 25.—The British ambassador at Berlin has been instructed to promise that England will be represented at the Berlin Labor Conference. The Italian Government has replied that Italy cannot promise to be bound by its decision.

Disaster at Hamburg.

LONDON, Feb. 25.—While a large number of workmen were engaged yesterday about the Flora Concert Hall, which is being erected at Hamburg, the iron cupola fell, burying 38 men in the ruins. Five have been taken out dead and eight have been rescued severely injured. Five others are missing.

London's Scandal.

LONDON, Feb. 25.—Henry Labouchere has weakened in the matter of the Cleveland street scandal, and has consented to give up his threatened exposure. In return, it is said, of Mr. Gladstone himself, backed by the most powerful pressure of the aristocracy, which naturally wishes to hush up this awful scandal.

Seventy-Five Infants Murdered.

ST. PETERSBURG, Feb. 25.—Further investigation at the baby farming establishment of Midwife Skoblinka, in Warsaw, has led to the discovery that 75 infants have disappeared, and all are believed to have been murdered. Skoblinka, now under arrest, has pursued the business of baby farming for many years.

Joe Contradicted.

LONDON, Feb. 25.—Mr. Morley denies emphatically the statement made by Chamberlain that the Gladstone party has made a bargain with the Parnell party to the prejudice of unemancipated education, agreeing to abandon opposition to Catholic schools for the Irish support on other things. Mr. Morley declares he has never spoken on the subject to any Parnellite.

land, has applied for a license to sell "wine and beer, to be drunk on the premises." The said premises, however, are those of the church house, and the purpose for which His Grace craves the license is the supplying of liquid refreshment to the clergy of the diocese who are attending the memorial jubilee.

Confession of a Plotter Against the Czar.
PETERSBURG, Feb. 25.—A man named Platchkoff fell from a scaffold last night and broke both thighs. He thought he was about to die and made a confession. He is an exile from Russia, having been implicated in the plot to blow up the Czar two years ago, and gave the names of several high Russian officials who were also concerned. He has important documents in his possession.

Mrs. Langtry.
LONDON, Feb. 25.—Mrs. Langtry, having recovered from her late serious indisposition, attended the St. James' Theater last night with Shakespeare's comedy "As You Like It." A large contingent of fashionable people were present, headed by the Prince and Duchess of Fife. It was universally conceded that Mrs. Langtry had improved in her delineation of "Rosalind" since she last played the part of the character.

Siberian Horrors.
ST. PETERSBURG, Feb. 25.—The Government has purchased a steamer to convey prisoners on their way to Siberia down the Volga instead of sending them on the old barges, which made the voyage a terrible cruelty. It is reported that the Czaritch will make a tour in Siberia next summer.

Yasawa, Feb. 25.—It has been ascertained regarding the fire here that the woman Skoblinka set fire to the house and watched the progress of events from a distance. She carried a complaint against the butcher of illegitimate children.

The Hours of Labor.
LONDON, Feb. 25.—In the House of Commons yesterday R. C. Graham moved to amend the address by a declaration in favor of shortening the hours of labor, and that the motion was carried by a large majority.

Mr. Headlam opposed the amendment.
ST. PETERSBURG, Feb. 25.—The Government has decided to give the best interests of the country. He was for reform, but not for revolution.

Under Secretary Ferguson said it would be premature to give replies to Germany's or Switzerland's invitations to conference, and that the latter was at present abandoned.

Mr. Randolph Churchill said he favored the discussion of the subject, but regarded the amendment as inopportune.

He advised that Parliament should give a sympathetic but not dogmatic reception to the demand of the labor party.

The amendment was rejected 198 to 87, and the address was adopted.

The German Elections.
BERLIN, Feb. 25.—The results of the election are now known. They show that 240 members were elected, and that in 151 districts supplementary elections are necessary. An article in the North German Gazette indicates that Prince Bismarck will discard the National Liberal candidates against the Socialists. The Socialists' Central Committee has ordered that all voters of the Socialist party should support the German Liberal candidates at the last election, because the Liberals and the candidates of the Cartel parties. The committee of the National Liberals has ordered its party to support the German Liberal candidates against the Socialists. The Conservative leaders recommend their party to abstain from voting on the second ballots in this city where the election is practically between the German Liberals and Socialists. It is said the Government has abandoned the Socialist Bill. The Hamburger Nachrichten declares that the 240 elected are divided according to parties as follows: Conservatives, 32; Imperialists, 19; Centerists, 89; German Liberals, 23; National Liberals, 16; Socialists, 21; Alsatians, 12; Poles, 14; Guelphs, 2 and 1 Dane.

The British Parliament.
LONDON, Feb. 25.—The House of Commons yesterday Mr. Morley gave notice that he would move, as an amendment to Mr. W. H. Smith's motion, that the House adopt the Parnell report, that the House reprobates the charges of the gravest and most obvious falsehood based upon calumny that have been made against members of the House, and whilst expressing satisfaction at the exposure made of the evil-doers, regrets the wrong inflicted and the suffering caused by the conduct of these acts of flagrant infamy.

Sir Charles Edward Lewis, member for Antrim, gave notice of motion that the House should depose Mr. Parnell and many others have been declared parties to a criminal conspiracy, and that the House finds the conduct of such members deserving of severe condemnation.

Mr. Sexton moved to adjourn. His purpose was to call the attention of the House to the illegal violence used by the Irish ex-cutive during the Clongorey evictions. In the course of night a body of emergency men, assisted by a body of armed police, turned the houses over the heads of the tenants to be evicted, making many families homeless, and causing the most serious suffering. The police were roughly assaulted, the police marching to the farm where huts were in course of erection and arresting the workmen in gross violation of the law. Another lawless outrage of the police was their breaking into a tenant's house and arresting seventeen workmen. Could the police break into houses for the purpose of making arrests except upon a charge of felony? What was the charge against those workmen? Father Kinsella, who had tried to protect them, had been sent to prison by a complaint magistrate for opposing the illegal command of a police officer. All of which proved once again that Ireland was not governed by law, but by a horde of unscrupulous instruments of a practically absolute Minister.

Mr. Balfour denied that the police had destroyed the property of tenants. Poverty might excuse much, but it could not excuse organized and wholesale lawlessness. The men evicted at Clongorey were, however, first obliged to subscribe to the Plan of Campaign.

Sir Charles Russell maintained that the Government procedure in Ireland constituted a system that could not long stand beside that of a country governed according to constitutional principles. (Hear, hear.)

The proceedings at Clongorey presented an instance where the police measures were purely arbitrary without either legal sanction or moral justification. The despatch of Mr. Kalfour directly endangered the peace of the country. The House should remember the case of Clongorey as another instance of how Mr. Balfour always stood by the police in enforcing the law, however brutal their conduct, or however great the interference with the rights and the liberty of individuals. (Cheers.)

The House voted against the motion to adjourn—108 to 154.

Old World Wirelets.
ALEXANDER JOSEPH OLIVA, the sculptor, is dead.

It is reported that the King of Wurtemberg is dying.

The Duke of Orleans is about to send another envoy to England despite the strenuous protests of the Chinese Government.

The Duke of Orleans has been removed to the prison of Clairvaux. The principal industry in which prisoners there are employed is spinning cotton and flax.

During the election at Cezimbra, Portugal, there was a riot. The district administrator was shot and severely wounded. Several Government supporters were injured.

CANADA'S CAPITAL.

Monday Was Not a Good Day for Farmers.

The Proposal to Remove the Duty on Corn for Ensilage Voted Down—Mr. McCarthy's Next Move.

(Special to the Advertiser.)
OTTAWA, Tuesday, Feb. 25.

It is now being universally admitted that Parliament is in for an unusually long session. A tariff bill always means a long session, and a wearisome discussion, and we are to have a tariff bill of no meager length. A labor measure, an important C. P. R. bill, a fisheries and Behring Sea report, a ratting reciprocity debate and many other time-consuming items are already entered on the programme, and no one knows what may turn up. May 24 is even at this stage spoken of as the date of prorogation.

The House this morning packed itself into the Railway Committee room, where the Railway Committee was in session. Among other bills passed was one incorporating the Mount Forest, Markdale and Meaford Railway Company. This proposes to run a railway from Mount Forest via Markdale to Meaford. Quite a lively discussion arose over the bill incorporating the Inter-Provincial Electric Company, which is asking the right to swing a bridge over the Ottawa River, connecting Ottawa and Hull.

Hon. Mr. Peter Mitchell and Mr. Robillard and the Ottawa members contended that the company should be compelled to provide for foot and carriage passengers, but the majority of the committee thought otherwise.

OTTAWA, Tuesday, Feb. 24.
In the House of Commons to-day the bill to incorporate the Tilsonburg, Lake Erie and Pacific Railway passed its third reading.

In reply to Mr. Cimon, Mr. Chapleau stated that the Canada Temperance Act had been put in force in 71 counties. It had been repealed in 31 counties, and there were no petitions now pending to put the act in force.

Mr. Jones (Halifax) asked whether in view of the negotiations respecting the fisheries now going on at Washington between the British Minister and the American Government it is the intention of the Government to appoint a Canadian Commissioner to take part in the negotiations and to watch over and protect the interests of Canada.

Sir John Macdonald—There was no formal commission issued, but the Minister of Fisheries (Mr. Tupper) left this afternoon to represent Canada at Washington.

Mr. Laurier—Informally.
Among the bills read a second time were the following:

Respecting the Grand Trunk Railway Company—Mr. Curran.
Respecting the Grand Trunk, Georgian Bay and Lake Erie Railway Company—Mr. Tisdale.
To amend the act incorporating the Detroit, Windsor and Lake Huron Railway Company—Mr. Ferguson (Welland).

In motion of Mr. Laurier for copies of all correspondence between the Government of Canada, or any of the departments, and the Messrs. Anderson, or any other parties, respecting the Atlantic mail services.

Mr. Foster said it would be impossible to bring down the papers. As the Messrs. Anderson had thrown up their contract to provide the service for a bonus of $500,000, the Government had entered upon negotiations with other parties, and it would be unfair to expose these negotiations by bringing down the papers.

Mr. Laurier declined to accept the explanation on consensu. The Government had positively refused, even when a motion of censure was proposed by the Opposition, to give last session the information to enable the House to judge of the merits of the proposal for a $500,000 subsidy for a fast Atlantic mail service. He insisted on his motion which on a division was lost.

The greater part of the sitting was devoted to Mr. McMillan's motion desiring it expedient to place on the free list all grains and seeds which do not ripen in Canada, but which are now largely imported and sown for the production of food for stock.

Mr. McMillan, supported the resolution with his usual clearness and vigor. He calculated that if the system of ensilage were adopted a saving of $12 a head in the feeding of every cow would be effected, and this would mean a total saving of $85,000 on the feeding of cows alone. By another calculation he put the number of cattle in Ontario at 1,928,000 and the average saving at $10 a head, and thus showed that the new system of feeding would give enormous advantage would accrue to the farmers of the Province. In support of his demand for justice for the farmers he showed that during last year for the industries of wool, cotton, wood and hides, raw material to the value of $7,896,000 had been admitted free of duty. This was done for the manufacturers. Nothing was done for the farmers. He made good use of the resolutions of the East Middlesex Farmers' Institute and of the Provincial Institute in favor of free corn, and made out a case against the Government which they had to do.

Mr. Bowell asked his followers to wait until the tariff changes were submitted.

During the debate Mr. Watson mentioned that there was a petition before the Government, signed by all the members and Senators from the Northwest, asking for the removal of the duties on coarse grains. Notwithstanding this, however, Mr. Watson was the only member from the Northwest who voted for the resolution.

After further discussion the House divided and the resolution was lost. Yeas, 59; nays, 84.

The vote was a straight party one, except for Mr. Kirkpatrick's edification: Yeas—Messrs. Armstrong, Bain (Wentworth), Beaudry, Blake, Broussard, Bowman, Brien, Brunelle, Campbell, Casey, Casgraves, Chabot, Davies, De St. Georges, Dessaint, Doyon, Edwards, Eisenhauer, Elie, Fiset, Fisher, Flynn, Gauthier, Gervais, Giguere, Hain, Jones (Halifax), Kirk, Kirkpatrick, Lang, Laurier, LeGros, and Rev. Mr. Galloway, of Dorchester Station, are expected to give the occasion. The London Concert Company is also expected.

Rev. Mr. Phillips has been visiting this, one of his former pastorates, quite recently.

Miss Temple, of Springfield, is a guest at Mrs. McDiarmid's.

The House adjourned at 10:30 o'clock.

Capital Notes.
It is understood that the duty on lime is to be reduced to one-half that paid at present.

A press dispatch says: The Orange Incorporation Bill is sure to pass in the Commons, but will meet with unexpected opposition in the Senate. It is said that the Catholic Senators, who are in a slight minority, are organizing to oppose it vigorously.

Mr. Laverne has given notice of a series of inquiries respecting flogging as a punishment in penitentiaries, and asks whether the Government is aware that about one month ago a convict in Stony Mountain penitentiary was flogged for attempting to escape, and two days after the flogging he was declared insane and sent to Kingston asylum.

The following is the clause dealing with trades unions that Mr. Clarke Wallace will add to his Combines Bill:

The provisions of this act shall not be held to repeal section 22 of the Trades Union Act, so far as such section applies to trades unions which are "combinations, whether temporary or permanent, for regulating the relation between workmen and masters," but shall be held to repeal the said section so far as such section applies to trades unions which are combinations, whether temporary or permanent, for imposing restrictive conditions on the conduct of any trade or business.

In the Senate Mr. McCallum put in the third day of his attack on the management of the Welland Canal Monday and finished his indictment. Three divorce bills were read a second time.

It is learned that owing to the intense feeling entertained by the French members against Mr. McCarthy, the resolution of the Government is aware that about one month ago a convict in Stony Mountain penitentiary was flogged for attempting to escape, and two days after the flogging he was declared insane and sent to Kingston asylum.

The resolution declares that it is the duty of the Government of Canada to seek from the Imperial authorities an amendment of the Constitution that will confer upon the Provinces the right to say whether or not separate schools shall be maintained. It is to be moved as an amendment to supply.

THE WEATHER.
TORONTO, Feb. 25.—11 p.m.—The depression has moved slowly northward from Lake Superior, and is being absorbed by a developing storm to the westward of the Missouri Valley. The pressure has continued to increase over the Northwest Territories with very cold weather, and is spreading south and east. From the Lake Region eastward the weather has been cloudy and mild, with light local rains. Minimum temperatures: Prince Albert, 42° below zero; Calgary, 20° below; Quebec, 24° below; Winnipeg, 20° below; Toronto, 34°; Montreal, 14°; Quebec, 12°; Halifax, 12°.

LOCAL TEMPERATURES YESTERDAY.
For 24 hours ending 8 p.m.—(Observations taken at 3 a.m. and 8 p.m.): Highest, 43°; lowest, 32°; mean (daily), 39°.

PHENOMENA.
For the next 24 hours for the lakes: Strong winds and gales, east shifting to northwest; cloudy, with rain, turning to snow, followed by decidedly cold weather.

THE RAILWAYS.
The Canadian Pacific Railway's earnings for the week ending Feb. 21 were $221,000; the same week last year, $296,000. The earnings on the Southern route are not included.

The Michigan Central railroad offers $500 reward for the arrest of the parties who placed obstructions on the track and nearly derailed No. 20 express on Feb. 12 and 14.

The Astor Funeral.
NEW YORK, Feb. 25.—The funeral of John Jacob Astor took place this morning from Trinity Chapel and was simple and unostentatious in character. The little edifice was filled to the doors with mourners. The sidewalks and street were filled with people who were unable to gain admission.

An ADVERTISING correspondent writes: We regret to announce the death of Mrs. Biddulph Tooley, one of the early pioneers of this township.

The deceased was 84 years of age at the time of her death. She leaves a large family and a host of friends and relatives to mourn her death.

Mr. F. H. Neil has purchased of Mr. Colclough, Hibbert, a fine imported Clydesdale mare, which will be an acquisition to his already fine lot of brood mares.

[From the ADVERTISER'S CORRESPONDENT.] A very pleasing event occurred recently at the residence of Mr. James Patterson, the occasion being the marriage of his second and youngest daughter to Mr. Albert Bateman, of New Brunswick.

Mrs. Bateman will be greatly missed, as she was much esteemed, and she carries with her to her Maritime home the good wishes of etc.

A much needed postoffice is being talked of in this neighborhood.

Mr. Hugh Brodie is very low at present, the grippe having found a weak spot in him.

Mr. James Cox is making preparations for a large bank barn which would make a great improvement to his farm. John Kane is the contractor.

A Matter of Taste.

Ray Troussay—"But how can you think I'm pretty, when my nose turns up so dreadfully?"

Jay Bousay—"Well, all I've got to say is that it shows mighty poor taste in basking away from such a lovely mouth."

An Interesting Report.

On page eleven of Bulletin No. 10, of the 10th and Revenue Department, which has recently been issued, Prof. A. McGill, of Ottawa, who has had charge of the analysis of the various kinds of baking powder for the Government, remarks in referring to imperial baking powder:

This is an excellent powder. It is a very flattering testimonial, considering that the market is flooded with cheap adulterated goods referred to, consumers will find it to their advantage to use "imperial" which they can depend on as being always reliable and the best possible to be had.

"He is a man of moist habits," says the latest issue of the "Lancet." "He is a man of moist habits," says the latest issue of the "Lancet."

We have no hesitation in saying that Dr. J. D. Kellogg's Dysentery Cordial is without doubt the best medicine ever introduced for dysentery, diarrhoea, cholera and all summer complaints.

The hygienic and medicinal value of this promptly gives relief and never fails to effect a positive cure. Mothers should never be without a bottle when their children are teething.

It is always a more wholesome exercise to discover our duties than to assert our rights.

Castoria is recommended by physicians for children teething. It is a purely vegetable preparation; its ingredients are published around each bottle. It is pleasant to the taste and absolutely harmless. It relieves constipation, regulates the bowels, quiets pain, cures diarrhoea and wind colic, always feverishness, destroys worms and prevents convulsions, soothes the child and gives it refreshing and natural sleep. Castoria is the children's panacea—the mother's friend. 25 cents, 50 cents.

The switchmen's interest in the railroads they represent seems to be flagging.

Six out of seven octogenarians in the British House of Commons are Liberals.
Selfishness rarely promotes longevity.The Marquis of Lorne is reported to be a first-class Highland dancer; but his brother-in-law, Prince Battenberg, beats him hollow as a "reeler," or "thorpe" from the old world are very misleading.DR. BURGESS, the well-known lunacy expert, has been lecturing on snakes in Hamilton. The reports do not say whether the Doctor drew his illustrations from the experience of bibulous experts in that wicked city—vide Rev. J. S. Ross—or from the Beverly swamp.The London Free Press asserts that members of the Ontario Legislature draw $1,000 a year for their services. That may be the indemnity which the Tory leaders would be prepared to vote M.P.'s, if they should at any time obtain power, but while a Liberal Government holds the purse strings
the legislators have to jog along on $600.The only addition needed to make the burst Arizona dam as big a life-destroying success
as the dam above the Johnstown Valley was plenty of human beings. The dam was there, the floods came, and the valley was swamped. The catastrophe, however enough, but it would have been much worse
if the district had been thickly populated.
Damned waters are hard things to control, and the human race is slow to take warning where self-interest intervenes.LA MINERVE, the leading Tory organ in Quebec, reports that Sir John Macdonald has granted $5,000 to build a bridge at Prince Albert, N. W. T., where the Meis have been clamoring for work. The chronicle points to this as a proof of Macdonald's constant and benevolent care of the French-speaking population. It was only the other day that the Tory leader informed the House that he and his associates had granted separate schools to this Province, and he is also on record as saying that the right to use French as well as English in Canada was confirmed by the Tory party, after it had been denied away back in the '40s. Evidently the Tory leader is again prepared to let the French-Canadians have pretty much what they ask for, knowing that the stalwart Tories will stand by him and Messrs. Langerin and Chapleau no matter what they do.SIR RICHARD CARTWRIGHT, in speaking before the New York Board of Trade the other day, spoke strongly against the assumption that Canadians were prepared to yield their legislative independence in exchange for freedom of trade, however desirable unrestricted reciprocity may be.
He said:One thing is certain. To propose to the people of Canada to surrender their allegiance to every sentiment of manliness and respect against such a proposal. The connection of Canada with Great Britain is purely voluntary. British statesmen are even ostentatious in offering to let her settle her own destiny.The member for South Oxford is right.
There is no reason to believe that unrestricted reciprocity would in any sense impair the autonomy of Canada, or be anything but a benefit to the great mass of our people. At the same time, we believe that it would be beneficial to both countries, on the broad ground
that all trade is beneficial to the traders, or it would not long continue. If we buy from the States, the people will take good care that they get our products in exchange for what we import; and if they buy from us, we, on our part, will be equally exacting. There are some fools left in the country yet, but we notice that they take good care to boast about the extension of that trade, when it is supposed to be promoted by their political friends. The fact is we cannot have too many markets for our products.

BE WARNED!

The Monetary Times warns the Dominion Government that if the changes in the tariff, notice of which has been given, are such as to increase the taxation on commodities required by the people, as they are likely to be, there will be a big increase of wandering. Our commercial contemporary argues with the ADVERTISER that the present is a very inopportune time in which to increase the taxation of the people. Such an increase would be detrimental to a marked degree to the agriculturalists of the country, and its effect would of course react on our merchants and manufacturers. Here is what the Monetary Times says.The Canadian farmers ought not to be called upon in their present condition, to bear unnecessary burdens for the benefit of any other class. Their wealth is down to the minimum, below those of many other industries. The protection afforded them is the only reason why they are able to get additional duties put on for the asking; no independent industry is made, no evidence of success is sought, and legislation proceeds on one-sided statements made by people who are personally interested. The increased duties revenue arising from augmented duties is welcome to the Government, which is enabled to raise an enormous revenue that could not be got in any other way without crumblings. Some say the cord will be drawn too tight, and thefarmer will revolt against a practice of which he is made the chief victim.There is just this fear that emissaries from the ranks of those benefited by high taxation will manage to stir up enough
race and religious discussion in the country to divert the attention of the people from the one great necessity of to-day—a decrease in taxation sufficiently large to enable the workers to live in decent comfort. It is a trick which the Tory bootlers and ringsters have. They would like nothing better than to see the farmers and wage-earners flying at each other's throats
over differences of opinion about the expenditure of a few thousand dollars on about the right of children of French-speaking parents to be taught their A B C's in their own language until such time as they can be taught English. While the tumult over this sentimental question goes on, the Dominion plunderers could draw a few millions more out of the tax-paying public without a grumble. It is such a condition of affairs which men like David Creighton, D'Alton McCarthy and Charley Rykert would like to see brought about.
And they all work, by different agencies, to secure their object.

FREE EDUCATION IN ENGLAND

The proposal to establish free education
in England, which Lord Salisbury favors, not proving to be very acceptable in some quarters, and especially among the Wesleyans. This denomination has three or four normal schools for training teachers in the country, and at one of their annual meetings held a few days ago the projected free education scheme was very strongly opposed. The principal of one of the normal schools, Rev. Dr. Greaves, took the ground that the tone of national education would be lowered by the operation of the system of free schools, that parental responsibility would be lessened and that there would be strikes and demonstrations on the part of the children. As to its probable effects upon the Wesleyans, he believed that it would destroy many of their schools, lower the standing of the scholar and the tone of education in all the best voluntary schools,
and reduce enormously the large amount
now received in those schools for the expenditure of local control. When Foster's Elementary Education Act was passed in 1870 the Methodists came to two conclusions, the reverend doctor said, the first of which was to stand resolutely to their own Wesleyan day schools, and the other to seek to establish un denominational schools within a reasonable distance of each family in the country. It would have been folly, he said, to part with their schools in 1870, it would be madness to do so now. The principal of another of those training schools, Rev. Dr. Riggs, was not less outspoken in his opposition to free education, partly because of its effect on the schools of the denomination, but chiefly because in his opinion it would be a retrograde step. And in support of this view he quoted a few exceptional extracts from the report of the Commissioner of Education at Washington. The President of the Conference also joined in condemnation of the proposed free system and declared that as Wesleyans "they were strongly pledged to the maintenance of voluntary schools and to the support especially of their own Wesleyan schools." What a pity that on a subject of this importance the Wesleyans of England could not have the benefit of the advice of their brethren in Ontario, where for many years the people have enjoyed a system of free education, established under the direction of an able Methodist minister. Another view of the matter is taken by Dr. Percival, head master of Rugby, who stated his conviction
to be that the truly Conservative policy was not to resist the democratic wave, but to meet it as it rode upon it safely rather than be overwhelmed. He felt that if the system of free education was to be adopted, un denominational schools should be placed within the reach of all parents, and he pressed a hope that the clergy and other supporters of church schools might see the advantage of adopting a conciliatory policy on the point. It is not an easy task in any country for a Government to please the clergy in educational affairs, but there are not many countries in which this task is easier than in our own Province. Our experience is old enough to enable us to give a word of counsel to Old England.

THE BOY PRETENDER.

When the juvenile Duke of Orleans arrived in France the other day and asked liberty to take his place in the ranks of the army, most people regarded the application
as a boyish frolic, unworthy of being elevated into a national question. It is true that the Duke belongs to a family of pre-tenders to the French throne, and that they are at present under banishment from the country. But as there has been none for twenty years, and the contention of the rulers of to-day is that the republic is now stronger than ever it has been, it did seem a very small matter to raise such a hubbub about. Yet President Carnot and his Cabinet have been very much worried about what to do with the boy pretender.
They have debated early and late as to whether they should carry out the sentence of two years' imprisonment for the violation of the law forbidding him to enter France, or whether they should suspend the sentence and send him quietly back to the frontier to resume his studies, and reflect on the magnanimity of the republic. The President favored the more lenient course, and accordingly on Saturday night the Duke was placed on a train that was intended to convey him to the Spanish frontier, when up dashed a troop of officials with a Government order to take the offender back to jail. This order, the dispatches inform us, was dictated by M. Constans, Minister of the Interior, who has always favored the most rigorous application of the law, but it was not sanctioned by President Carnot till his Government was threatened by a series of complications arising out of the announcement that the Radicals in the Chamber would demand a similar pardon for other fugitives against the republic.

The situation is indeed awkward for the Government, and its theatrical side will no doubt make a strong impression on the populace. In one sense of the word, the Duke of Orleans had a perfect right to present himself in Paris. He asserted that his motivation was to obey the law calling on every Frenchman, on attaining the age of 21, to expressly declare to the Government that he was not to be bound on all French citizens, and as the members of the Orleans family, although forbidden to reside

in France, have not been deprived of citizenship, it may be plausibly contended that the young Prince did but do his duty in trying to enlist as a common soldier. No matter how it turns out, therefore, the prestige of the present French rulers stands
a good chance of being impaired by the visitation and imprisonment of the youthful Royalist. Had his offer to serve in the ranks been accepted, he would probably have acquired a strong hold upon the goodwill and confidence of the masses of the people. Should the Government, on the other hand, be forced by the pressure of the Chamber of Deputies to complete his harsh punishment for wishing to share the hardships of the common soldier, his treatment
may provoke an outbreak of popular sympathy. The Government has already exempted the Duke of Anjou from the operation of the law exiling his family from France on the ground that he had munificently contributed to the encouragement of French literature by his gift of the palace
and domain of Chantilly to the French Academy. It could scarcely afford to be less generous towards his grand-nephew, who has refused to exempt himself from the conscription which presses so heavily on every son of France.Then it must not be forgotten that the move on the part of the heir to the claims of the old monarchy was taken after his father had unequivocally adopted the principle of universal suffrage. The plebscite is now a fundamental feature of the Orleanist as well as of the Bonapartist programme. The Count of Paris has sense enough to see that the day has gone by when monarchy could be restored by violence in France. It can only replace the republic if it is demanded by the overwhelming majority of the people of France. Is such a change likely? A good deal will depend on the success of the next "conflict of arms" in which France is a participant. If the Republic falls to come out on the top, then the Monarchy may have a chance. The French have rarely any use for those who fail, as the last Napoleon discovered to his cost.REV. DR. RYCKMAN, formerly of London, pins his faith to the North Pole as the probable site of the Garden of Eden. In a recent lecture, he pointed out that there must have been a first home somewhere, and he endeavored to prove from scientific argument that this first home was at the North Pole, presenting most interesting statements from eight different branches of science. One of the chief points of argument was that in the northern regions, fossils of plants and animals were found which are peculiar to southern regions or torrid zone, and several fossils have been found of trees such as are now found in California, showing that in the far north a tropical climate was once enjoyed. The lecturer drew attention to Siberia as being the chief source of supply for ivory. Excavations revealed mammoths, which nature abandoned, frozen together,
which must have been there at least 2,000 years.

THE LADIES!

A New and Distinct Form of Dress,
which is afflicting Canadian Women.
Now some of them Regained Freshness, Health and
Superb Physical Beauty.A great London
Physician says that he notes a new and distinct form of
nervous disease produced in Canadian women by worry and overwork in caring for the home. This is only too true. It is why we see so many ladies pale, weak, languid, and suffering from headaches and innumerable weaknesses. They cannot stand the strain upon their nervous system. Many of them have found the means to sustain their failing strength, to give color to the cheeks, and new life and vigor to the body, in Paine's Celery Compound. This pure and scientific remedy is especially adapted to the needs of women, and is daily making the most remarkable cures. Mrs. W. E. Cooper, 60 St. Hyppolite St., Montreal, was for a long time troubled with nervous headaches, loss of appetite, low spirits, etc. After using the Compound, her headaches disappeared, appetite was good, and her spirits
revived.Annie Gourley, of River Beaudette, P.Q., found the Compound a certain cure for weakness, and now feels as well as she ever did.Many a Canadian lady has the same reason to be grateful.Paine's Celery Compound can be purchased at any drugstore for one dollar a bottle. If he should not have it on hand, order direct from WELLS, RICHARDSON &
CO., MONTREAL.

Constipation,

If not remedied in season, is liable to become habitual and chronic. Durable purgatives, by weakening the bowels,
confirm, rather than cure, the evil.
Ayer's Pills, being mild, effective, and strengthening in their action, are generally recommended by the faculty as the best of aperients."Having been subject, for years, to constipation, without being able to find much relief, I at last tried Ayer's Pills, and soon began to feel better. I deem it both a duty and a pleasure to testify that I have derived great benefit from their use. For over two years past I have taken one of these pills every night before retiring. I would not willingly be without them."—G. W.
Bovian, 26 East Main St., Carlisle, Pa.
"I have been taking Ayer's Pills and using them in my family since 1857, and in cheerfully recommending them to all in need of a safe but effectual cathartic."
—John M. Boggs, Louisville, Ky."For eight years I was afflicted with constipation, which at last became so bad that the doctors could do no more for me. Then I began to take Ayer's Pills, and soon the bowels recovered their natural regular action, so that now I am in excellent health."—S. L.
Loughbridge, Bryan, Texas."Having used Ayer's Pills, with good results, I fully endorse them for the purposes for which they are recommended."

BASEBALL.

Hamburg, of last season's Buffalo team has signed with Louisville.

Unless something is done rather suddenly, the prospect is that Detroit will next season figure in a league consisting of Blenheim, Tilbury West and other prominent Canadian towns.—(Detroit Free Press.)

The fact that a syndicate has offered $1,000,000 for the National Baseball League, as told in the Sun yesterday, caused no little surprise among the baseball men in this city, and it was the general opinion that the Brotherhood is at the back of the scheme. It is also thought that could the Brotherhood buy out the National League at the price named it would be much cheaper for them than to attempt to down the League by opposition.—(New York Sun.)

Corbett, the California man who defeated Jake Kilrain the other day, is a ball tosser. He formerly played center field for the Haverly Club, of San Francisco, when Fred Carroll was a member of that team. Carroll says that Corbett is far from being the inferior of Kilrain in physique. His build is of the giant order. He is not at all hollow-chested and is about the only man to-day gifted with the science, dexterity and a good enough physical make-up to face John L. Sullivan in a contest.

In speaking of Day's attempt to buy out Indianapolis Nick Engle said the other day: "I do not believe Mr. Day will succeed. Why, Indianapolis has a better club than New York. The trouble with Mr. Day is that he is too slow. Neither he nor Mr. Mutrie knew a word about the disaffection in their ranks. Mr. Brush, to my mind, is the sharpest man of the two." Mr. Engle also intimated that if Mr. Brush had been Mr. Day, the Chicago League Club would have had a better team right now.

W. E. Blair, the well-known ball player, who died at Pittsburgh Saturday, began his baseball career with the East End Athletics of that city, with whom he made an excellent record. His first professional engagement was with the Zanesville club in the Tri-State League. His work with that club was so good that he was secured by the Athletics, of Philadelphia, with which club he remained during the season of 1888. In 1889 he was secured for the Hamilton club, with which he played last season. This spring the Chicago League club paid Hamilton $500 for his release, and Billy was signed to pitch for Ason at a salary of $2,000.

CURLING.

Following is the score in the consolation match, Toronto vs. St. Mary's:

Toronto, 10; St. Mary's, 3.

John Bain, 10; W. Andrews, 3; I. G. Fowles, 10; S. Spaulding, 3.

Total, 23; Total, 65.

Majority for St. Mary's Monday between two rinks from Port Elgin and two from Southampton at the first-named place. Southampton won by one shot.

In a match between Emile and Woodstock at Embro the latter team won by ten shots.

A LOCAL CONTEST.

A curling match was played yesterday at the Simcoe Street Rink between the Chatham and Galt clubs for the Caledonian district medal. Galt kept the lead until the last end when Chatham scored seven points, giving them the victory by one shot. The ice was in very bad condition and play was difficult. Col. Moffat acted as referee.

THE TURF.

At Woodard's Lexington race yesterday the King, one of George Wilkes' sons, was not knocked down until the auctioneer had heard $30,000 bid. Warlock, son of Belmont, brought $15,000. Horn, a daughter of Onward, went for $12,000, and Susan S., a daughter of Hyllas, brought $10,000.

The Windsor Driving Park Association will hold their summer meeting on July 1, 2, 3 and 4. The record of the Windsor association is one that any city may be proud of, and the pluck and perseverance that they have shown every year, when a miserable support was given by the townspeople, is highly commendable. This year they purpose eclipsing all former efforts, and the events will be interesting. They will send a delegate to Lansing, Mich., March 4, when a circuit will be formed.

Discussion of Secrecy of the Ballot Postponed.

Toronto, Tuesday, Feb. 25.

In the Public Accounts Committee this morning an order was issued summoning Dr. Sipp, barrister of the London Asylum, to appear before the committee on Thursday to give evidence regarding the management of the institution.

In the Private Bills Committee nine bills were passed, principally dealing with town debts and powers sought by municipalities.

Toronto, Monday, Feb. 24.

The business of the House was light and disposed of in about half an hour. The day of petitions is over; not one was presented. The only return brought down was one asked by Mr. Meredith, and consisted of a written copy of the questions as to the interpretation to be placed on the Separate School Act amendment, as submitted for a decision to the judges at Osgoode Hall, and the full text of the decisions of the judges thereon.

Bills were read a second time, one of them the act incorporating the Village of Tilbury Center, and two to amend the Municipal Act.

Mr. Meredith introduced a bill to amend the act to incorporate the Huron College.

Notice of motion was given by Mr. Ross (Middlesex) of a bill respecting the practice of architecture. By the Attorney-General, bill to further facilitate proceedings under the Land Titles Act.

Mr. A. F. Wood (Hastings) moved the second reading of his bill to provide for the secrecy of the ballot. He was proceeding with his speech when the Attorney-General pointed out that the House was very thin, and asked if it had not better be postponed for the present.

Mr. Meredith objected that if it did not come on now the Attorney-General's own bill dealing with only a branch of the same subject might take precedence of it.

The Attorney-General promised that Mr. Wood's bill should either take precedence of the Government bill or be considered in this city, and it was the general opinion that the Brotherhood is at the back of the scheme. It is also thought that could the Brotherhood buy out the National League at the price named it would be much cheaper for them than to attempt to down the League by opposition.—(New York Sun.)

THE DARK CONTINENT.

What Evangelists and Explorers Have Brought to Light—The Country and What It Will Produce.

By 8 o'clock last evening the body of the Queen's Avenue Church was well filled with attentive listeners who had gathered together to hear the lecture on "Africa, its Resources and its People," which was to be delivered by Rev. J. J. Gracey, D.D., of Buffalo, N. Y. Promptly on time the lecturer began, and held the interest of the entire assemblage from commencement to finish. He dwelt chiefly with the Western coast of the country, and spoke of the belt of fever land which gave Europeans so much dread in visiting that country. One reason for the existing state of affairs was accounted for by the Mandrake tree which grew in many fantastic and grotesque forms along the banks of the rivers and by its peculiar growth caught all the debris that came down the streams. This accumulation, when the water would subside a little, was baked in the sun until it became fetid and a mass of corruption and disease spreading evils in the immediate neighborhood of these Mandrake trees here is little or no sign of life, no birds, insects or anything that would only sign of animal life is the occasional spluttering of the lazy crocodile. With 100 miles of this region the fever of which so much was heard of from travelers is about as great as it is. The Mandrake, however, as some would make us believe and under ordinary circumstances were not fatal. It is impossible to breed oxen, cattle or horses in this region; potatoes cannot be cultivated because they all run to vine; butter is to be had, but its price will fluctuate between 40 and 70 cents per pound. The natives of the country appear to be of two things: little children may be seen running around eating red peppers with as much relish as the American child would eat a banana or peach. All the dishes prepared by the natives consist of a change of meat, but it is cooked just as it is. The "Bitter" is the water, and the uninitiated it is very offensive. The country is in some places infested with deadly insects and reptiles which place life in a very uncertain state. There are the "drifters"—large black ants which move around in myriads, and by their united forces have been known to kill elephants; there are also the "figgers," a small insect which gets into the skin of a visitor, where it will live, feed and fatten on the victim and then, after which it is necessary to cut away the flesh so infected. The productions of the land find their way into all the cities and towns of the civilized world. The chief of these is the Liberian coffee, the only equal to which is that from Mocha, Persia. The coffee tree in Africa is about the size of a peach tree, and has when in blossom a very delicate and beautiful flower, and emits a sweet and delicious fragrance. The people affect the styles and manner of speech of Europeans, and although some of their languages are very rich, yet English is spoken as a general thing all along the coast. All the different sects are united on the belief of an almighty power and an supreme being, but they have created 10,000 other spirits which they in a manner worship, and dread and guard against their influences by the use of charms. The slave trade—although many people think it a thing of the past—is still in a flourishing state in the interior and some of the districts have become almost depopulated by the constant demand upon its residents for the slave markets. The history of the country is very antiquated, as it had place before the time of Abraham and the early wise men.

Why will you allow a cough to lacerate your throat or lungs and run the risk of filling a consumptive's grave, when, by the timely use of Bickle's Anti-Consumptive Syrup the pain can be allayed and the danger avoided? This Syrup is pleasant to the taste, and unsurpassed for relieving, healing and curing all affections of the throat and lungs, coughs, colds, bronchitis, etc.

One swallow can't make a spring, but one watchmaker can.

A SURE BASIS OF POPULARITY.—Merit, apparent to a "cloud of witnesses," upon which the popularity of Dr. Tilton's Eucalypti Oil is founded. Throat and lung complaints, pain, soreness, stiffness, swellings, burns and ailments of various other kinds, yield to the action of this speedy and safe remedy.

A horse should be watered before it is fed and not immediately after.

TORONTO TICKLED.

London's Young Liberal Minstrels in the Queen City.

The Boys Get a Grand Ovation—A Splendid Success and a First-Class Performance.

Toronto Globe, Feb. 23.

The London Young Liberal Minstrels had an splendid audience last evening at the Grand Opera House on the occasion of their debut before a Toronto audience, and were received with continued and reiterated applause as each portion of the fine programme was brought forward. Minstrelsy and jocularities alike met with ready appreciation, and roars of laughter showed how the melodies touched the heart and how the comic songs stimulated the risibilities of the audience. When the curtain rose it discovered a beautiful picture. The minstrels were attired in the costume of the seventeenth century. The principals being placed in the front row, flanked by the artists on the bones and tambourines at either side. Behind them were placed a large and elegant band of music, under the leadership of Mr. Roselle Pococke. Behind them again were two rows of chorists, the whole being arranged in four tiers, with colored glass, and a large and elegant band of music, under the leadership of Mr. Roselle Pococke. Behind them again were two rows of chorists, the whole being arranged in four tiers, with colored glass, and a large and elegant band of music, under the leadership of Mr. Roselle Pococke.

The first part of the programme was a grand and stirring song, "The Boys Get a Grand Ovation—A Splendid Success and a First-Class Performance." The chorus was good, so were the solos; while the singing of the quintette in the chorus part was quite a marvel of melody. In the variety acts it was hard to realize that the performers on the stage were amateurs. All the specialties were fully up to professional standard. The curtain rose on a novel and pretty staging that immediately brought down the house. On elevated balcony tiers, over which colored lights spread a sea glow, sat rows of gorgeously-costumed and well-grouped Rithopians. The effect was decidedly tasteful and striking. The first two parts consisted of the customary solos and choruses, every number calling forth a well-deserved encore. After particularly interesting and favorable comment on the various parts, the Empire concludes: "It is to be regretted that the London Minstrels do not stay longer in the city, as they would be certain to meet with crowded houses."

A CLEVER AND CLEAN ENTERTAINMENT.

The Toronto Mail starts its remarks with the following: "The Grand Opera House was well filled last night by an enthusiastic audience on the occasion of the appearance of the Forest City Young Liberal Minstrels. The organization gave a clever and clean entertainment, free from vulgarity or questionable jokes." After referring to those taking part the same paper says: "The stage was attractively set, and the minstrel stage was presented quite an imposing appearance. Other features were drill maneuvers, athletic exercises, Roman statuary, and altogether a most creditable entertainment."

A DECIDEDLY FAVORABLE IMPRESSION.

The Toronto World knows what it is talking about when it says: "The London Young Liberal Minstrels had a crowded house at the Grand last evening and gave a very fine performance. The first part of the programme consisted of a grand and stirring song, 'The Boys Get a Grand Ovation—A Splendid Success and a First-Class Performance.' The chorus was good, so were the solos; while the singing of the quintette in the chorus part was quite a marvel of melody. The curtain rose on a novel and pretty staging that immediately brought down the house. On elevated balcony tiers, over which colored lights spread a sea to the cause of the accident, he was of opinion that possibly the broken tire of the engine might have been the cause, but the exact conduct of the engine was difficult to determine. He thought the cars got off the track before the bridge was reached, but it was doubtful. From the report to Sir Joseph Hickson in regard to the accident, Mr. Holson quoted: "As to the switch, it was of the kind called stubb switches, of which style there were 99 per cent. of the total in Canada."

Law and Order.

Toronto, Feb. 25.—The International Law and Order League closed its sittings yesterday. Hon. Chas. C. Bonney, of Chicago, was re-elected president. The list of vice-presidents includes J. R. Dougall, Montreal, and Senator Moody, Dakota; general secretary, L. Edwin Dudley, Boston; treasurer, Major E. L. Bond, Montreal.

Major Hayward, Chicago, described the modus operandi of the league in Chicago. They filed 1,644 charges last year against liquor sellers in the city; 611 charges were for supplying liquor to minors, 925 to men in a state of intoxication, and 98 for permitting minors to play pool in saloons. Chicago cost the taxpayers of the State $1,602,395 for the general arrests, numbering 48,119, made by the police force—an average of $338.45 for every arrest in the Chicago League's prosecuted 1,649 charges, at a total cost of little more than $8,500, at an average cost of $5.11.

Major Bond, of Montreal, said there were 1,100 saloons in Montreal, and the league had been endeavoring to reduce the number. For a long time they had met with poor success, but last year the tide had turned and 50 run shops had been whole saling the city.

It was decided to establish an organ of the league. The proceedings closed with a public meeting in the evening addressed by J. C. C. Bonney, Col. Dudley and Hon. S. H. Blake.

PROFESSOR PAUL.

The Story of a Life's Love.

I have been asked so many times by my brother artist, to whom I have read extracts from them, to transcribe my entire notes of the history of Professor Paul, that I have at last decided to do so. They contain the story of his life almost word for word as he related it to me, for I always made it my first duty during the continuance of my interviews with him to write down each morning all that he had told me upon the previous evening. This I did with so much care, and at the same time endeavored, as far as my memory would allow, to preserve the very language which he used in its narration, that the reader, who cares to interest himself in this history, will no doubt become quite well acquainted with Professor Paul as I was myself.

These notes have been in my possession now for nearly seven years, and during that time they have been read and handled so repeatedly by my friends, that when I came to transcribe them I found that in places the writing was completely obliterated. Whenever this was the case, however, I did not hesitate to draw upon my memory to supply the missing part, as I always found it was very clear and decided; but I have never resorted to this expedient unless it was absolutely necessary to do so in order to render the story intelligible.

This has not occurred except at very rare intervals, and the reader may safely rely upon the accuracy of this transcription. Indeed I may add that after it was completed, it was carefully compared with the original notes, and was found to be correct in every particular, with the exception of the few passages to which I have already alluded.

The reader will also find, related at the end of these notes, a brief account of some events in the life of Professor Paul, which afterwards came under my personal observation, and which I have thought it would be unwise to separate them.

I am unable now after so great a lapse of time, to recollect how it was that Professor Paul came to the notice of the person to whom he should relate his history, but after reading the first few passages of my notes I find that it was evidently at his request that I first began to listen to him.

The notes begin as follows:

I went down to see Professor Paul the next evening as I had promised. He had requested me to lay aside all ceremony, and come at once upon my arrival into the little room behind the shop, and I accordingly did.

I found a bright coal fire burning cheerfully in the grate, and there it, in a large armchair, sat the old man apparently in deep meditation. He was seemingly engrossed with his thoughts, that he did not notice my entrance, and continued still to sit in silence, so without waiting longer I drew a chair up to the fire and sat myself down.

It was some time after this, that awakening from his reverie, he turned to me, and his eyes in my direction and for the first time became aware of my presence. He looked at me for a moment with a somewhat questioning glance, and then as if reflecting something said slowly:

"Ah, yes, now I remember. It is very good of you to come, my friend. I am afraid you will find my history very uninteresting, but that at last has become necessary that I should relate it to some one, and as you were a brother artist I somehow thought you would be the most likely to give me a patient hearing. I will try and make it as brief as I can, and as there remains a considerable time before the day upon which it must be finished, I will be careful to distribute it over as many evenings as possible, that you may not become too fatigued at any one time."

When he had said this he slowly settled himself back in his chair and continued:

"My friend, before I tell you any part of my life's story, you must first promise me that you will keep it a close secret within your soul, until after the time of my death."

"On your honor as a brother artist you will not let a word of it be known to any living person until such time as I have passed away."

"Yes," I said, "I promise it, Professor Paul, and if I promise I will surely keep my word."

He seemed satisfied, but added, "It will not be anything that you would care to tell in any way, and my asking to be kept a secret is only a whim, the result of a mere fancy. I have always been afraid that if it were known perhaps people would stare at me, and I wouldn't like that. I dread it. But my history will be safe in your keeping, my friend; I feel sure it will; and beside there is a reason I am obliged to tell, but this you need not know until the time is complete."

I had no idea then to what he referred. I could tell from the dreamy look in his eyes, that his mind was ranging over a long period of years, at least something in his look gave me that impression, and when he next spoke it was confirmed.

"If I am not resting to you my history because I find a pleasure in dwelling upon the sad events which it chronicles, but rather because, to aid the purpose I have in view, it is necessary that you should know it. Ah, no, my friend, I would willingly give one half of the years which may remain to me, if by so doing I might but win an equal portion of the past, but this is not given man to do. Memory is eternal, and on its undying page my history is forever written."

"I do not wish to weary you, my friend, by telling you aught of my life save that you must know, and for this reason I will be brief."

"I was an orphan and lived with my aunt, except when away at college, until I had passed my twentieth birthday."

"Her home was in Seaton village, and there I spent the only happy years I had years I had ever known. It was a quaint old-fashioned little place, lying just far enough from the great London to have an easy access to its luxuries, and remain unspoiled by its vices. There it was I first learned to know and love the pure face of nature, and from the germs of that affection sprang my other love for that great art which is nature's second self."

"I determined to become a painter. I remember well, my friend, that even as a child, when I lay sick, my aunt could find nothing that would so well amuse me as some paper and a piece of charcoal. I think I always loved art. I have many times spent the whole day wandering over the beautiful stretch of country that surrounded the village without once returning to my aunt's house until warned to do so by the approach of night. Indeed, I have at times spent the night as well as the day in the fields, that I might more easily watch the delicate shadows cast upon the grass by the moonlight falling through the trees."

FUN, FACTS AND FICTION

A Judicious Compound of Wit and Wisdom.

The great majority of so-called cough cures do little more than impair the digestive functions and create biliousness. On the contrary, while it cures the cough, does not interfere with the functions of either stomach or liver.

She—How shiny the rain makes everything look, doesn't it? He—Yes, everything looks very shiny.

Carter's Little Liver Pills must not be confused with common Cathartic or Purgative pills, as they are entirely without effect on the bowels, and are not intended to produce a cathartic effect. One trial will prove their superiority.

"Do you want the earth?" inquired the haughty hotel clerk of a meekly-complaining guest. "No," was the reply, "you can keep it awhile longer until I ask you for it."

Peccolities of the Hair. There are times when all persons require to pay some particular attention to the hair. To rekindle the life and energy of the roots is a simple matter. Carter's Little Liver Pills will do the work. It works in accordance with nature, supplies fresh nutriment to the glands, keeps the hair luxuriant and natural in shade. Be sure to get it from the factory to miss it. Every druggist sells it. It is money well spent. See Dorend's advertisement in another column.

Where are you going, my lusty man? With the bucket of chalk and the big tin can. Down the path that leads to the brook-sweep glider.

"I'm going a-milking, sir," he said. A man's wife should always be the same especially to her husband, but if she is weak and nervous and uses Carter's Little Liver Pills she cannot be, for they will make her "feel like a different person," at least so they all say, and their husbands say so, too.

"I fancy I've seen that face before." "Yes, that's the way I wear it."

A Dinner Pill.—Many persons suffer excruciating agony after partaking of a hearty dinner. The food partaken of is like a ball of lead upon the stomach, and instead of a healthy nutriment, it becomes a poison to the system. Dr. Farnes's Vegetable Pills are wonderful correctives of such troubles. They correct acidity, open the secretions and convert the food partaken of into healthy nutriment. They are just the medicine to take if troubled with Indigestion or Dyspepsia.

"Now, that's what I like to see," observed the visiting merchant to the proprietor of the great dry-goods emporium, "all the clerks full of vim and energy." "Yes," assented the proprietor, "we close early to-day, and they are all getting ready to go home."

Sabbath Observance.

To the Editor of the ADVERTISER:—I notice in your issue of the 17th inst., under the heading of "Voices of the People—Religious Liberty," I notice a strange conglomeration of ideas, as to petitioning Parliament to pass a bill for the better observance of the Sabbath. The writer should remember that this beautiful world of ours is not made up of Christians. Supposing there was no law against murder, theft, arson, and a number of sins, imagine the state of affairs, the tables of stone commandments against committing these sins as well as the one against breaking the Sabbath. When will woman's suffrage be the order of the day? Paris Station, Feb. 22. E. J. T.

Ditches and Water Courses.

To the Editor of the ADVERTISER:—I notice in your last week's paper the remarks of an aggrieved person on the Ditches and Water Course Act of 1883. You answered his questions correctly—that is, to appeal to the county judge, who is to settle disputes according to the evidence. You should have told him that the evidence would have to be professional evidence, as the evidence of half of the farmers of a township would not break the evidence of an engineer. Those are the words used by a judge on one case of an appeal under the Ditches and Water Course Act of 1883. Now, sir, do you think there is any justice in that? I think there are numbers of farmers just as well qualified and better to make as just an award as far as each individual is concerned as the professional engineer. I do not mean to say that they are capable of taking the levels, as there are very few of them that would be qualified to do it, still there are some that can come pretty close to it. Now, I do think the act requires some amendments. For instance, the engineer has too much power in one way and not enough in another. He should have the power to go further than 50 rods above where he commenced the drain and to take in all lands each side that is benefited by the drain and make each lot pay according to the number of acres benefited. These are powers he should have and be made to use. No engineer should have the power to make an award that one man should be made dig and maintain an open drain on another man's farm, for if they are ever so good friends at the time the friendship will not last long. Every farmer should be made maintain all drains on his own farm, that is, if they have to be open drains. Then he will be more careful how he turns hogs and cattle in them unless it could be plainly shown that the drain would benefit to his farm. Such cases would be very rare ones, as it is admitted by able writers that the high lands require draining so I contented that a lot is benefited by a covered drain running through it.

Now, Mr. Editor, I would like to see the suggestions I have made discussed through the ADVERTISER, more especially the compelling one man to maintain and open drain on another's farm. I think the duties of the engineer should cease after taking the levels, and the award be made by disinterested farmers, as they should be fully better than the professional engineer the benefits of a drain, as it is the practical experience that teaches. Now very few of these engineers have that, consequently some of them make some stupid blundering.

Better Times for Farmers.

To the Editor of the ADVERTISER:—I notice a letter from "Observing Farmer" of Jan. 30 holding out great hopes of a better day dawning on the farmers of Ontario. I am sure from six years' residence and daily observation, the realization of such hopes would be hailed with pleasure by many of the now suffering farmers of Ontario. I agree with you that what your correspondent says respecting the benefits of free trade, but I do not believe in "bolstering up Ontario to the disparement of Manitoba and the Northwest Territories. Any man who gives himself credit for, he would know that facts point to the contrary. There are no industrious and steady farmers out here to-day who have lived in Ontario that would ever think of returning to Ontario. Here we have the finest climate with the richest land, producing the best grain and grass in abundance, from which we have the best of milk and butter, as well as the best of meat and fowl. Here we can handle our sheaves without fear of being lacerated with Canada thistles, we can properly carry them to our barns, if need be, without having to lift them with gloves or at the end of a pitch fork, and potato crops are not eaten up by the Colorado beetle (commonly called the potato bug in Ontario), but on the contrary are noted for their luxuriant foliage, while the fine fatters when cooked are as white as snow and light as flour. Your correspondent says many who came out to this country with glowing expectations would return if they had the means. I could tell him of several not far from London, Ont., who are earnest, persevering, steady men, who would gladly come out here if they had the means, men who have stood on London market and been compelled to sell their produce at prices in some of our bare arms, to say nothing of rent and taxes. These men have hoped against hope, but hope long deferred makes the heart sick; so many of those who are now sick at the prospects of Ontario will find the means somewhere or other to move West, where, I trust like myself, they will not be disappointed. I admit there are many good practical farmers in Ontario as well as some poor ones here, but that proves nothing either for or against the capabilities of the land, but many of the farms in Ontario are worn out, especially in the case of rented farms, where all is taken out and as little put in the land as possible. The consequence is, many of these farms are overrun with weeds and will take years of good management to bring them back to their normal condition. Thanking you for space in your valuable daily issue, for which I am still a subscriber. Yours respectfully,

NORTHWEST FARMER.

BARKWELL'S BRONCHIAL BALSAM.

Dear Sir,—I wish to testify of the merits of that grand preparation known as Barkwell's Vegetable Healing Bronchial Balsam. I was told by a neighbor what a grand Balsam it was. My little girl was very ill with bronchitis, and a very few doses restored her and I believe saved her life. I feel it my duty to let others know that they also can be cured of this terrible affliction.

LONDON AND PRECINCTS.

Where are you going to, my pretty maid?
Going to Sunday school, she said.
Have you been of late, my pretty maid?
Not for about a year, she said.

Then why do you go, my pretty maid?
The social is coming, sir, she said.
Mr. Alex. McKellar, of the township of Westminster, died the other day, aged 77 years.

Rev. C. C. Conzans, of Thorndale, was cordially invited to remain on the circuit at the last quarterly official meeting.
Mr. Alexander Tait, of Silver Heights, Menitoba, is in the city looking for good horse flesh, which he proposes to take back with him.

The grocery stock of James Beattie, amounting to $1,745.08 was sold by auction at St. Marys to J. W. Broderick, of this city, at 65¢ cents on the dollar.

The condition of Mr. William Dunn, of London South, who was severely injured by falling into an ash pit at the C. W. Works, a while ago, is very much improved.

On Friday morning Mr. C. Thorne, a milk dealer, living on the second corner of London township, was struck with paralysis. His condition is critical.

The veteran Bob Manly was charged at Magistrate Parke's court this morning with vagrancy. He was remanded for seven days. Two drunks were discharged.

Mr. John Burnett, veterinary surgeon to the Northwest Mounted Police, and Mrs. Burnett, who have been on a visit to relatives in this city for several weeks past, left yesterday afternoon per C. P. R. for Regina.

William Oldridge was charged by Daniel Shea at the Police Court this morning with stealing a game cock from his premises. The value of the bird was estimated by the owner to be $25. The case was adjourned until to-morrow.

John Hall, the young man who was caught breaking into Neil Cooper's store on Dundas street one evening last week, came up for trial at the Police Court this morning. The Magistrate gave him three months in the Central Prison.

At a meeting of the Executive Committee of the Societies' Demonstration it was decided to go on with the affair even without the co-operation of the Board of Trade, who some of the members thought—were too lukewarm in the matter.

The committee appointed to solicit subscriptions for the society demonstration, to be held in June, will start to-day canvassing. It is to be hoped that the merchants and people in general will be ready to support the movement with good donations.

Yesterday afternoon the funeral of the late Squire Sifton, of St. Johns, took place from the English Church of that place, and was largely attended, the services being conducted by Venerable Archdeacon Marsh.

The pall-bearers were Messrs. James Grant, James Fitzgerald, Thomas Talbot, Fenton Fitzgerald and John Sniker.

Two charges appeared on the docket against Elijah Bavin at the Police Court this morning. One was the larceny of an axe from the C. P. R. company, on which he was discharged. The second charge was vagrancy, and as the testimony of the prisoner's wife made a very unfavorable impression of Bavin, he was sentenced to one month.

At last evening's meeting of the St. John's Parish Club the following subject was discussed: "Resolved, that the State should grant a rudimentary education to every child who is ably debated by only." The question was ably debated by several members on each side of the question, and was finally decided by the negative, the advantages of liberal education and to the many being made strongly apparent. On Monday next essays by Messrs. H. P. Macklin on "Money" and Wilfred Davis on "The Idyls of the King" will form the programme of the evening.

Faith Well Placed.
The following has been received by the ADVERTISER from Messrs. Edwards Bros., Watford: "Gentlemen,—Enclosed find $1.75, for which you will please insert an accompanying advertisement four times in the weekly. We have great faith in the ADVERTISER and must say it has done business for us every time we have advertised in it."

Zera Semon in Trouble.
An interesting case came up before Mayor Watson, of Sarnia, on Saturday. Zera Semon, so well known to the public as the successful proprietor of a sort of variety show and lottery enterprise, who appeared here a short time ago, was charged by Chief Windred with transgressing the Lottery Act. From the evidence it appears that each purchaser of tickets received an envelope for every ticket, many of which contained blanks, while some contained numbers entitling their purchasers to prizes. James Higgins gave evidence that he had purchased a number of tickets which were all blanks, and James Donahue testified that he had purchased one ticket and drew a gold watch. J. P. Bucke, crown attorney, conducted the prosecution, and C. M. Garvey appeared for the defense. Zera was fined $20 and costs, amounting to $47.

Theatrical Enterprise.
Mr. S. T. Jack, manager of the Lilly Clay Company, which appears here this evening, presents the greatest show ever offered for public approval. He has agents in all parts of the world constantly on the lookout for new features. "Beauty in the Dreamland," the opening soiree, is a spectacular operetta full of pretty music, songs and tableaux. This is the only company now traveling who own their own car, although a great many claim to do so. The "Lilly Clay," as it is called, is very handsomely painted in a rich cream color and striped in red and gold. Both sides are embellished with a magnificent portrait of Lilly Clay. Each side also bears this legend: "Forty artists culled from Europe's capitals" at the top, and "Lilly Clay's Colossal Gaiety Company" beneath the windows. The car was sent at the depot during the stay of the company in this city.

The Tucker Comedy Company.
On Wednesday evening the Frank Tucker Comedy Company will open a three days' engagement at the Grand at popular prices, 25 and 35 cents. The company has one of the finest orchestral organizations on the road, and the dramatic ability of the company is unquestionable. The bill for Wednesday evening will be "Ranch No. 10," and for Saturday matinee "Uncle Tom's Cabin." Speaking of the company the St. Thomas Journal says: A large audience greeted Frank Tucker and his Metropolitan Comedy Company at the Opera House last night to witness the production of the comedy drama, "Ranch No. 10." The play is a western drama, with some very striking features in it, one being the burning of the old prison. Frank Tucker and his company produced it in a creditable manner. Nellie Thompson, as Annie Smalley, the heroine, was excellent. Frank Tucker, in the dual role of Al. McClelland and Tom McClelland, twin brothers, acted with great ease, and his gentle manners and kindly actions could not help but win the hearts of all. The balance of the company were excellent and evenly balanced. Special mention should be made to Miss Jennie Platt who introduced songs during the evening. She has a beautiful voice, of which she has full control. Songs were also sung by little Miss Thompson.

I'LL SETTLE IT.
Squire Jarvis to Try the Waterworks Case—Further Adjournment.
The adjourned case of Chapman vs. the Water Commissioners came up yesterday before Squire Jarvis in the interim session room. Squire Jarvis suggested that, as he had not been able to get the Attorney-General's opinion, some good legal opinion should be obtained, and his decision agreed to.

Mr. Meredith acquiesced, and Mr. Hutchinson objected, and then the Magistrate decided that he would go on with the case. Mr. Hutchinson then desired to call the plaintiff.

Mr. K. M. Meredith objected and asked for a week's adjournment.

Mr. Hutchinson opposed any further adjournment of the case.

Mr. Meredith said it would be unfair to the defendants to go on, as he was only employed to question the jurisdiction, and he would like an opportunity of consulting his clients as to what action was now to be taken.

After some further discussion Squire Jarvis said he would adjourn the case for a week.

Mr. Hutchinson said there was no necessity to delay. He had a witness here to examine and was ready to go on.

Squire Jarvis—But you said that you had about twenty witnesses.

Mr. Hutchinson—But I am only going to call one.

Mr. Meredith—The case is adjourned now.

Mr. Hutchinson—I don't see why a magistrate can't have a mind of his own and settle the case.

Mr. Meredith remarked that the Magistrate seemed to have expressed a mind of his own, but that Mr. Hutchinson wanted a different opinion.

After some further discussion the case was fixed for Monday next, at 2:30 p.m.

THE "NORMA" CIGAR.
All competent judges of a good cigar are unanimous in pronouncing the "Norma" one of the finest 10-cent cigars made in Canada. This cigar has all the delicate flavor of an imported cigar, without any of its attendant faults. The cigar is the product of H. McKay & Co., of this city, who invariably use the best tobacco leaf, most carefully prepared. The result of this strict attention to quality of raw material is that the "Norma" stands to the front of all 10-cent cigars, and although there is a prevailing idea that a cigar manufactured at home cannot be equal to an imported article, this prejudice is being rapidly overcome by the growing popularity of the "Norma."
