Canada's Governor

Most Likely To Be the Earl of Aberdeen.

Official List of the Liberal Cabinet Members.

Onward March of the Cholera Plague in the East—A Merchant Burned to Death by Brigands.

Don't Want Carnegie's Money.

LONDON, Aug. 16.—Mr. Keir Hardy has sent as a contribution to the Homestead strikers' fund the $560 given him by Mr. Carnegie in the recent election.

Ready for Another Wrestle.

LONDON, Aug. 16.—Notwithstanding that Mr. Gladstone is likely to have the field all to himself, he has to-day issued an address to the electors of Midlothian, formally soliciting re-election rendered necessary by the assumption of office.

Fatal Explosion of a Cannon.

LONDON, Aug. 16.—A dispatch from Boma, in the Congo States, says that while a number of officers and men were testing a new quick-firing gun on Saturday, the weapon exploded, killing a soldier. The Governor and Vice-Governor, who were watching the test, were both struck by flying pieces of metal and seriously wounded.

Lord Stanley's Successor.

LONDON, Aug. 16.—There is every reason to regard as official the belief expressed by the Daily News to-day that the Earl of Aberdeen is to succeed Lord Stanley of Preston on the expiry of the latter's tenure of office as Governor-General of Canada. The selection is heartily approved of in Canadian circles here in view of the Earl of Aberdeen's knowledge of Canada, his interest in Canadian affairs and his pleasant personal qualities.

"Death to Germans!"

VIENNA, Aug. 16.—Rioting occurred in Prague and other places in Bohemia last evening in connection with a Czech fete. A Czechist fired four revolver shots at a party of Germans in one of the streets of Prague, causing a panic. A number of men employed in the Moravætz glass factory raided the Antonienthal market place and attacked all the Germans they met with red hot iron bars, shouting "Death to the Germans." Several persons were badly hurt. Gendarmes restored order.

The Official List.

LONDON, Aug. 16.—The new Government, as officially announced this evening, is as follows:

Mr. Gladstone, Lord Privy Seal and First Lord of the Treasury.
Earl Rosebery, Foreign Secretary.
Baron Herschel, Lord Chancellor.
Sir William Vernon Harcourt, Chancellor of the Exchequer.
Herbert H. Asquith, Home Secretary.
Right Hon. Henry H. Fowler, President of the Local Government Board.
Right Hon. H. Campbell-Bannerman, Secretary of State for War.
Earl Spencer, First Lord of the Admiralty.
Right Hon. John Morley, Chief Secretary for Ireland.
Right Hon. J. A. Mundella, President of the Board of Trade.
Sir Charles Russell, Attorney-General.
John Rigby, Solicitor-General.
Right Hon. Samuel Walker, Lord Chancellor for Ireland.
The McDermott, Attorney-General for Ireland.
Right Hon. Edward P. C. Majoribanks, Patronage Secretary to the Treasury.
Alexander Asher, Solicitor-General for Scotland.
Right Hon. J. B. Balfour, Lord Advocate of Scotland.
Earl of Kimberley, Secretary of State for India and Vice-President of the Council.
Marquis of Ripon, Secretary of State for the Colonies.
Sir George O. Trevelyan, Secretary for Scotland.
Mr. Arnold Morley, Postmaster-General.
Mr. Arthur Herbert Dyke-Acland, Vice-President of the Council on Education.
Baron Houghton, Viceroy of Ireland (without a portfolio).

The new Ministry held a conference this afternoon. Mr. Gladstone was present. Despite the falling rain a large crowd waited for hours to receive Mr. Gladstone in the vicinity of the house in Carlton Gardens, where he is staying until he takes up his official residence in Downing street. When he drove to the house the crowd cheered him. He smilingly bowed his thanks for the reception. After the lapse of a brief interval he emerged again, accompanied by his wife and daughter, and the party were driven to Kensington to attend a wedding.

The announcement of the appointment of Baron Houghton to the position of Viceroy of Ireland was such a surprise that the representative of the Associated Press made inquiries about it, when he found that the appointment had been made as announced.

The composition of the new Government, according to the Associated Press reporter's statement, causes intense disappointment among the Radicals. John Morley is the only man prominently identified with the Radicals, who has been appointed Cabinet Minister, and among the ex-Cabinet posts few members of the new set, it is alleged, have any but the remotest chance of getting a place. The old set are masters of the situation. Apart from Radical opinion the Cabinet is composed of eminently reputable men. Mr. Gladstone has preferred collecting around him tried colleagues accustomed to subordination and certain not to deviate into strange ways. His three new Cabinet Ministers, Messrs. Asquith, Arnold Morley and Acland are sound Liberals.

The Inman Line.

LONDON, Aug. 16.—The Inmans confirm the report that they are negotiating with the Southampton authorities with a view to making Southampton their terminus, instead of Liverpool. The offer of the city is to dredge the harbor at a cost of £70,000, to guarantee 30 feet of water at low tide, if the Inmans will promise to remain there ten years. The Inmans will thus avoid the Mersey bar, always a menace to safety and a source of delay. The change is expected to take place in March.

Burned to Death by Brigands.

ROME, Aug. 16.—A dispatch from Castro, Sicily, says that brigands captured a wealthy wine merchant named Billotte and a servant. Billotte sent the servant with a letter to his bankers, requesting that the ransom demanded by the brigands, 500,000f., be forwarded. The servant informed the police, and a posse of twenty gendarmes started out to attack the brigands. The latter were warned by their scouts, and escaped to the mountains after hastily putting Billotte to death. The soldiers, after reaching the place deserted by the outlaws, found Billotte's body in the midst of a pile of burning wood.

Progress of the Cholera Plague.

ST. PETERSBURG, Aug. 16.—The cholera is abating at Nijni Novgorod, Astrakhan, and in the Transcaspian territory, but the number of deaths continues excessive in the Caucasus Don provinces, Saratoff, Samara, Simbirsk and Orenburg. A mob attacked the floating hospital at Starobelsk in the government of Kharkof, and completely demolished it. The doctors were assaulted, and would probably have been killed had it not been for the intervention of the troops. The total number of new cases of cholera reported in Russia yesterday were 7,600. The total number of deaths from the epidemic were 3,900. These figures represent all the returns received, but two-thirds of the towns attacked have no telegraphic communication with the chief town of the provinces in which they are situated, which towns make daily reports to St. Petersburg.

VIENNA, Aug. 16.—Cholera is spreading in Austrian Galicia. Seven deaths have occurred at Sukio, near Jawaroff, and one at Kolomea. A severe epidemic of cholerine prevails in Lexenburg. The weather is very hot.

An Old Rumor Revived.

LONDON, Aug. 17.—The Pall Mall Gazette comes out with a repetition of the rumor that Mary Anderson will soon return to the stage. Mary Anderson and her husband have of late been residing at Oban, Argyleshire, Scotland, a place noted for its exports of pig iron and whisky.

The Work of Reform Begun.

LONDON, Aug. 17.—The Times says it believes that in addition to home rule, measures for the extension of local government and for reform of the registration laws and a total local option, will be decided upon at the first formal Cabinet meeting on Friday.

A Gorgeous Pageant at Antwerp.

ANTWERP, Aug. 17.—The Landjuweel procession, in imitation of a similar demonstration here 300 years ago, was held today. More than 3,000 persons took part in it. The costumes alone cost 500,000 francs. Forty-five floats carried historical tableaux, and each float was preceded by a band. The procession will be repeated to-morrow and next Sunday. The festival commemorates the Landjuweel feast of 1561, when the Chief School of Rhetoric invited the Low Country schools to debate for a silver cup.

The Right Man for the Place.

LONDON, Aug. 17. — There is good authority for yesterday's statement that the Earl of Aberdeen will succeed Lord Stanley when the latter retires. It is believed that the post is one which the Earl, owing to his knowledge of and close interest in Canadian affairs, strongly desires to occupy. Mr. Gladstone, who has a real friendship for the Earl of Aberdeen, is perfectly willing to meet his wishes. The selection is very generally praised here. It is not yet known whether Lord Stanley of Preston will complete his full term of office.

They Won't Forget It

Exciting Experience of 200 Tourists

On Their Trip Down the Lachine Rapids.

The Vessel Became Unmanageable and Ran Aground—The Passengers at the Mercy of the Torrent—Fortunate Deliverance.

MONTREAL, Que., Aug. 16.—The R. and O. steamer Bohemian arrived here this morning with the passengers of the Columbian which ran aground yesterday in the Cedar Rapids. There were over 200 tourists on board the Columbian, and they had an experience which they will not soon forget.

AT THE MERCY OF THE TORRENT.

The vessel's tiller chain broke, and she became uncontrollable, and swung around in the swift current, creating no little alarm among the passengers. Fortunately the channel is quite deep in the rapids, and she descended clear of all rocks until she ran aground.

AN OPPORTUNE BRIDGE.

The passengers were sent ashore by means of a bridge made of two long pine trees and placed in position. As soon as the residents in that locality saw the plight in which the steamer was they came to render assistance by taking them off in skiffs. Some of the passengers, anxious to get to the city, were taken from the island to a neighboring island and thence to the shore. They had to cross three channels in order to reach the mainland. After reaching the mainland they took rigs for Vaudreuil, arriving in Montreal this morning.

STEEP CHARGES.

The passengers complained bitterly of the way the boatmen acted who ferried them to the shore. They refused to let the passengers land until they paid $1 each. At first $3 a head was demanded, but they finally consented to take the lesser sum.

KIND WORDS FOR THE COLUMBIAN'S OFFICERS.

The Bohemian, of the same company, arrived at the scene of the accident early this morning, and took from the stranded vessel, 80 passengers who had remained on board all night. These were landed in Montreal this afternoon. All spoke highly of the officers and crew of the Columbian and regretted the mishap to that vessel.

Northwest Train Men.

CHICAGO, Ill., Aug. 17.—The general grievance committee of the Trainmen's Union on the Northwestern Railway is holding secret sessions in this city. It is stated a list of grievances is being prepared and that it will be presented next week.

A Millionaire's Death.

NEW YORK, Aug. 17.—J. A. Bostwick, the well-known Standard oil man and millionaire, died last evening while endeavoring to recover blooded horses from his stable at Mamarone which was on fire. He burst a blood vessel and bled to death.

For Shorter Hours!

Big Strike of Switchmen at Buffalo,

Involving the Erie and Lehigh Valley Roads.

The Trouble Extends to the New York Central.

Several Bodies of Militia Sent to the Scene—Probable Tie-Up of the Michigan Central and Lake Shore—Serious Disturbances in Texas Among the Miners—Parisian Cabbies on Strike.

LITTLE FREIGHT MOVING.

BUFFALO, Aug. 16.—A few freight trains were run out to-day, but there was no general movement. Third Vice-President Webb, of the New York Central road, is in the city to-day, called here by the gravity of the situation, and while acknowledging the serious nature of the strike, is confident that with proper military protection all will come out right. Mr. Webb said: "The strike has not extended to our road, and we are not aware that any of our men are anxious to join in." General union meetings were held by the different organizations last night and this morning, and while no definite action was taken the situation is such that a straw would cause a general strike among the various unions.

THE NEW YORK CENTRAL INVOLVED.

BUFFALO, N.Y., Aug. 16.—At 1 o'clock the New York Central switchmen abandoned all work in the freight yards. It has been what has been regarded as the climax of the existing trouble. All the big New York Central officials, including H. Walter Webb, are here. Police escort has been sent out to bring in the Lake Shore trains due here at 1:40 a.m. Two police captains with their squads are on the train.

The state board of arbitrators and the switchmen held a meeting to-night, but no conclusions were reached.

OTHER ROADS WILL BE TIED UP.

All the New York Central switchmen are now out and the only roads, the Michigan Central and Lake Shore, now running, will be tied up before morning.

TROOPS ORDERED TO BUFFALO.

ROCHESTER, N. Y., Aug. 16.—Everything is quiet here at 11 o'clock. Rumor of a strike on the New York Central from Lyons to Rochester to begin at midnight. Both Rochester companies of the National Guard, the first and eighth separate companies, which have been waiting orders all day, have just received orders to proceed to Buffalo at once.

SERIOUS SITUATION IN TEXAS.

KNOXVILLE, Tenn., Aug. 16.—The hostilities between the miners and the militia men have reached a grave condition, for the miners are dynamiting in a dozen places on the K. and O. and Knoxville and Walden's Ridge Railroad to wreck any train carrying militia. To-night through mail trains could not go forward, and it is believed the United States authorities will have to interfere. In the attack on the stockade at Oliver Springs several hundred shots were fired. Three guards were badly wounded and one was fatally hurt. Six miners were injured, but none fatally. The miners at Coal Creek decided to aid in a second attempt to release the convicts at Oliver Springs and thereby secure help enough to defeat the State troops and release the convicts. Gov. Buchanan has ordered out the Third Regiment of Tennessee Militia. The release of the convicts at Inman and Tracy City has crippled the commercial interests of South Pittsburg to an alarming extent. Several of the largest furnaces and iron works have banked their fires, and will be unable to resume operations until the affairs between the company and State are settled.

PARISAN CABBIES ON STRIKE.

PARIS, Aug. 16.—Four thousand Paris cab drivers struck to-day.

CAUSE OF THE STRIKE.

BUFFALO, Aug. 17.—The switchmen's strike was ordered by Grand Master Frank Sweeney, of the Switchmen's Mutual Aid Association of North America, at midnight last Friday night at Buffalo. It was inaugurated with only twenty malcontents. The officials of the Erie and Lehigh Valley Railroads made light of it at once, though already they begin to regard it as serious. It was without question a surprise to the officials concerned.

The demands of the switchmen were formulated some weeks ago and presented to Superintendent Brunn, of the Erie. The refusal to comply with these demands led to the strike, which has already spread among hundreds. Here is the ultimatum:

BUFFALO, June 11, 1892.

C. A. Brunn, Esq., Superintendent Erie Railroad, Buffalo:

Sir.—The undersigned committee, representing the switchmen employed by your company at Suspension Bride, Black Rock and Buffalo, beg leave to present the following for your consideration:

Day foreman, $65 a month.
Day helpers, $60 a month.
Night foreman, $70 a month.
Night helpers, $65 a month.

The hours to constitute pay on night work. Overtime to be paid at above rate and computed as follows:

Day foreman, 25 cents an hour.
Day helpers, 23 cents an hour.
Night foreman, 27 cents an hour.
Night helpers, 25 cents an hour.

Crews working 30 minutes of any hour shall receive one hour's extra pay; less than 30 minutes not to be counted.

When crews start work, either day or night, they are not to be laid off for any cause other than their own acts, and will work wherever the yardmaster may direct in yard service.

All switchmen suspended or discharged will be given a fair and impartial hearing within five days after date of suspension or dismissal before his immediate superior, subject to an appeal to higher official authority, and if he be found innocent he shall be reinstated at full pay.

We respectfully request a definite answer to foregoing on Saturday, June 19. Respectfully,

COMMITTEE.

The grievance concerns both time and wages. The men want a ten hour day instead of twelve hours and want extra pay for all time over ten hours. They also present scale is 23 cents an hour for switchmen, night work, and 24½ cents for foremen or night conductors. The day figures are 21 and 23 cents.

The men now ask that the wages be increased to 25 and 27 cents for night work and 23 and 25 cents for day work.

THE STRIKE EXTENDS.

BUFFALO, N. Y., Aug. 14.—The New York Central and West Shore switchmen have struck work. Up to midnight the situation was not serious. Only two arrests had been made of strikers for rioting and in one instance 25 policemen succeeded in dispersing a body of 200 obstructionists. With trouble at Sayre, Hornellsville and Binghampton and prospective outbreaks at Waverly, Jersy City and other points the handling of freight by the men imported to take the places of strikers must necessarily be impeded and it is not easy to foresee the outcome should the difficulty extend as the strikers affirm it will, from State to State.

The members of the State Board of Mediation and Arbitration are here. Yesterday they conferred with the men. To-day they will confer with representatives of the railroads. Plenty of troops are now massed here.

WILL IT SOON END?

CHICAGO, Aug. 17.—After a conference at the switchmen's national headquarters, at which all the grand officers were present except Grand Master Sweeney, Grand Secretary Simsrott said: "The Erie lines and the Western New York and Pennsylvania system, two of the three great railway systems involved in the strike, have acceded to our demands. This leaves only the Lehigh Valley road to fight."

THE NEW MINISTRY.

Chatty Points in Personal and Political Records.

Great Britain's Rulers as Selected by Mr. Gladstone.

Right Hon. Farrerr Herschell, Lord Chancellor, is the son of the Rev. R. H. Herschell, and was born in 1837. He was called to the bar in 1860. He represented Durham in the Liberal interest from 1874 to 1885. Mr. Gladstone made him Solicitor-General in 1880, and he was raised to the peerage in 1886.

The Earl of Kimberley, Secretary of State for India and President of the Council, was born in 1822, and succeeded to the title of Baron Woodhouse in 1846. He was made Earl of Kimberley in 1866. In 1852 he was appointed Under Secretary of State for Foreign Affairs, and was appointed envoy to St. Petersburg at the close of the Crimean war. He was Under Secretary for Foreign Affairs in Lord Palmerston's second administration and Under Secretary for India in 1864. He succeeded the Earl of Carlisle as Lord Lieutenant of Ireland and resigned in 1866. He was Lord Privy Seal under Mr. Gladstone from December, 1868, to July, 1870, and afterward Secretary of State for the colonies. He was Secretary of State for India from December, 1882, until June, 1885, and was reappointed under Mr. Gladstone's third government in 1886, going out when Salisbury came in.

The Marquis of Ripon (George Frederick Samuel Robinson), was born in 1827 and succeeded to the title in 1859. He was returned from Hull in 1852 and won Huddersfield for the Liberals in 1853. After holding subordinate offices he was appointed Secretary for War in 1863 and Secretary for India in 1866. He was chairman of the high joint commission which arranged the treaty of Washington in 1871. He has also been grand master of the Freemasons of England, which office he resigned to join the Roman Catholic Church. In 1880 Mr. Gladstone appointed him Viceroy of India, where he was extremely popular with the natives and unpopular with most Europeans because of his listening to native claims.

H. H. Asquith, M.P. for East Fifeshire, is 40 years of age, and a new man in office. He has made himself conspicuous in the House, however, by his efficient oratory, and it is believed that he will make an excellent Home Secretary.

Right Hon. H. Campbell-Bannerman is 56 years of age and a veteran office-holder. He has been Financial Secretary to the War Office, Secretary to the Admiralty and Chief Secretary for Ireland and Secretary for War in the short Government of 1886. He is a Scotchman.

Earl Spencer, whose full name is Right Hon. John Poyntz Spencer, was born in 1835. He was Lord Lieutenant of Ireland in 1868-74, and Lord President of the Council in 1880. He was again nominated for Lord Lieutenant of Ireland in 1882, and arrived in Dublin on the evening of the day that Lord Frederick Cavendish and Thomas A. Burke were assassinated. It fell to Lord Spencer to administer the Crimes Act. Lord Spencer adopted home rule views with Mr. Gladstone.

Right Hon. Sir William George Granville Venables Vernon Harcourt, Chancellor of the Exchequer, is one of the best known men in Great Britain. He was born in 1827 and called to the bar in 1854. The city of Oxford elected him as a Liberal in 1868. He was elected professor of international law in Cambridge in 1869 and appointed Solicitor-General in 1873. In 1866 he was Chancellor of the Exchequer. He is an able writer and debater, and his letters in the Times signed "Historicus" attracted wide attention. Sir William, who was knighted in 1873, married for his second wife Mrs. Ives, daughter of the late John Lothrop Motley, the historian, and formerly United States Minister in England.

Right Hon. John Morley, Chief Secretary for Ireland, is the eldest son of Jonathan Morley, of Blackburn, Lancashire, and was born in 1838. He was called to the bar in 1859; was editor of the Fornightly Review, Pall Mall Gazette and McMillan's Magazine. In 1883 he was elected as an advanced Liberal from Newcastle-on-Tyne. In 1886 Mr. Gladstone appointed Mr. Morley Chief Secretary for Ireland. He has been for many years a consistent advocate of Irish home rule. He is the author of several well-known works.

Right Hon. J. A. Mundella, president of the Board of Trade, was born in 1825. He entered Parliament for Fifield as an advanced Liberal in 1868, and represented that constituency until 1885, when he was returned for the Brightside division of Sheffield. He was Vice-President of the Council of Education in 1880-85, and President of the Board of Trade in 1886.

Right Hon. Henry Hartley Fowler, President of the Local Government Board, was born in 1830, and was mayor of Wolverhampton in 1863. He was elected as a Liberal from Wolverhampton in 1880. He has been Under-Secretary for the Home Department and Financial Secretary. He was created a Privy Councilor in June, 1886. He is the only Methodist that has ever been a Privy Councilor.

Arnold Morley, Postmaster-General, has been the chief Liberal whip. He is 43 years old. He was called to the bar in 1873 and entered Parliament in 1880 as a member for Nottingham. In 1886 he was Patronage Secretary to the Treasury.

Right Hon. Sir George Trevelyan, Secretary for Scotland, was born in 1838. His mother was a sister of Lord Macaulay. He was elected for Tynemouth in 1856. In 1868 Mr. Gladstone appointed him a civil Lord of the Admiralty. In 1880 he was Parliamentary Secretary to the Admiralty, and was appointed Chief Secretary for Ireland after the murder of Lord Frederick Cavendish. In 1884 he was Chancellor of the Duchy of Lancaster. Mr. Gladstone appointed him Secretary for Scotland in 1885, but he disagreed with Mr. Gladstone's proposed scheme for Ireland and resigned. Sir George afterward came in line with the Liberals. He is the author of "Life and Letters of Lord Macaulay," and other works.

Arthur H. Dyke Ackland, M. P. for Rotherham and vice-president of the Council on Education, is about 45 years of age, and the second son of Thomas Ackland. Until 1885 he was an Oxford tutor. He was elected to Parliament in that year, and gained general esteem by his careful and effective style of debate.

The Earl of Rosebery, who will be Foreign Minister under Mr. Gladstone, was born in London in 1847. He is of old Scottish descent, the seat of the family being at Dalmeny Park, near Edinburgh, where Mr Gladstone was entertained during his Midlothian campaigns. In 1871 Lord Rosebery made his first speech in public, when, at the opening of Parliament, he was selected by Mr. Gladstone to second the address in reply to the speech from the throne. He came into notice by advocating the separation of religious from public education in Scotland. It 1874 he was chairman of a commission of schools and Irish representative peerages. In 1877 he was elected Lord Rector of the University of Aberdeen, and in 1880 Lord Rector of the University of Edinburgh. He was appointed Under Secretary in the Home Department in August, 1881, and in November, 1884, was appointed First Commissioner of Works. In 1886, under Mr. Gladstone, Lord Rosebery was appointed Secretary of State for Foreign Affairs. He then showed the firmness which won him the confidence of all parties so far as the foreign interests of Great Britain were concerned. March 20, 1878, Lord Rosebery married Hannah, the only child of Baron Meyer de Rothschild. His wife brought him a splendid dowry. She died Nov. 19, 1890.

BUILDING

A reputation is like building a wall. It is first necessary to have a good foundation.

To tell you that our foundation is good would be entirely unnecessary—that you already know full well; but a word as to the superstructure. Our sales are daily increasing. At present we are unable to meet the demand, and the superior merits of CUTTAM'S recently improved WASHING COMPOUND are rapidly convincing the public of their folly in using foreign washing powders It is sold everywhere.

A DOORSTEP COUCH.

Peculiar Effects of a Wine Supper—Edward St. John Disrobes in the Street.

NEW YORK, Aug. 16.—Edward St. John, living at No. 94 Ross street, Williamsburg, had an escapade early Saturday morning that has both scandalized his friends and given them a choice morsel of gossip. St. John, it seems, attended a wine party on Saturday night, and when he parted with his friends at 3 o'clock in the morning was feeling as if the world was composed of pleasure and sunshine. He, however, became very tired on reaching the corner of Ross street and Wythe avenue.

St. John thought he had reached home and calmly began disrobing. He took off everything with the exception of a white shirt. He then lay down on the flagging, but being unable to compose himself to sleep got up and finally made his way home. He jumped into bed, regardless of what became of his clothing.

When Groceryman Heins opened his store in the morning he discovered the clothing lying upon his doorstep, and was sure a mysterious and terrible crime had been committed. While his clerk watched the wearing apparel he hurried to a police station and told his story. He was accompanied to the store by an officer, who brought the clothing to the station house. Everything was of the finest material, and evidently belonged to a man of refined tastes.

In the pockets were found a gold watch and chain, a sum of money, keys and visiting cards bearing the name of "Ed. St. John, 94 Ross street." When the officer visited the house St. John was found to be still sleeping and was awakened with difficulty. He at first denied that the clothing was his, but finally, as he regained his senses, he recollected having disrobed in the street. He begged to have the matter kept quiet, and the police tried to do so. Though an entry was made on the station house blotter, no report was sent to police headquarters. But the matter leaked out.

ATTACHED TO THE FAMILY.

But He Couldn't Have the "Old Woman."

An excellent story of one man who did not believe that marriage was a failure is told in Missouri at the expense of the once famous Governor of that State, Claiborne F. Jackson, who, so the story runs, married five sisters. After one wife had died and been mourned he married the second of the sisters, who also died. He then courted and won the third sister, and she also followed the first two. He gained the fourth sister with the same unhappy result, and then applied to his many-time, or to be exact, four-fold father-in-law, for the fifth and last of the girls. Some of his affinities were widows ere he transformed them from weeping Niobes to willing brides, but a little thing like that could not deter this persistent benedict.

The father of these girls was very deaf, and when the request for the hand of the fifth was made the following dialogue is reported to have passed between them:

"I want Lizzie!"

"Eh!"

"I want you to let me have Eliza-a-beth."

"Oh, you want Lizzie, do you; what for?"

"For my wife."

"For life?"

"I want to marry her."

"Oh, yes, just so; I hear you, boy."

"I'm glad you do," muttered the Governor.

"Well," responded the old man, "you needn't holler so that the whole country can hear you. Well, yes, you can have her. You've got the whole on them now, my lad; but, for goodness sake, if anything happens to the poor, misguided girl, don't you come back after the old woman. You hear me now?"

And the Governor promised solemnly that he would not.—[New York Herald.

A Good Summer Job.

It was hot. The perpendicular rays of the sun seemed to rebound from the pavement with a hiss. Waves of heat flowed over everything. The little grass plots were scorched and the leaves on the trees at the corner of the alley rustled like dry husks.

Perspiring men sought the strip of shade along the sides of the great buildings. Dogs panted and ran restlessly about or lay with half-closed eyes and lolling tongues.

The whole world seemed breathless, dusty and choking.

The man lay on his back with his head at the edge of the curb. His legs were drawn up. His hands were clenched and his lips twitched nervously. His eyes were wide open and staring up at the blue sky, but they saw nothing. A low moan came from his lips.

A score of people had gathered around him. They stood close because they knew they shouldn't.

"Apoplexy," suggested one.

"Sunstroke" said another.

"Drunk, more likely," observed a third.

A policeman came and a doctor happened along. By this time the object of their solicitude appeared to be in convulsions.

"You're too late, doc," volunteered one of those brisk men who are always wise and generous with their wisdom.

The doctor said nothing. He stooped and unbuttoned the poor fellow's vest Everybody crowded closer and watched the doctor. They saw "Wear Fakem's Ventilated Underwear."

It was painted in red letters on the shirt front. The dying man arose, thanked the doctor and vanished around the corner.

Two Fears.

She (tremblingly)—How am I to know that you are not marrying me for my money?

He (speciously)—And how am I to know that you are not marrying me to reform me?

Marching in Line.

A French physician is authority for the statement that the regular tramp of marching soldiers is much more harmful to brain and body than the less regular walk of the ordinary pedestrian. According to the scientist, walking ten miles in line is as exhaustive as walking twenty miles at go-as-you-please gait.

As to Fishing.

The pastor was calling at the house of Brother Billings, and the small boy was entertaining him until the parents came down.

"Do you ever go fishin'?" inquired the youngster, who had inherited his father's fondness for the sport.

"I am a fisher of men," responded the good man.

"Do you carry your bait in a jug like papa does?" was the next question, and just at that moment Brother Billings appeared with a seraphic smile of innocence lighting up his genial countenance.

William Richardson, a colored cook, living in Chatham, received a bad pounding Sunday night in a resort at 105 Beaubien street. He had been around town drinking all the afternoon, and went to the place about 10 o'clock last night. While there he met Harry Hill, of Cleveland, and "Kid" Freeman, of Detroit, two young colored men, whose acquaintance he had recently made. They finally became engaged in a quarrel, and Richardson was kicked several times in the face and thrown into the street. His face was badly pounded, and both his eyes were so badly swollen that he was unable to see.

Mr. Oliver Bailey, of the Raleigh Plains, was burned out on Wednesday. While threshing, a spark from the engine ignited the stack, and before it was got under control his barns and house were consumed, together with about 1,200 bushels of wheat and twenty tons of hay. No insurance.

Ridgetown Council on Monday adopted a bylaw to repeal the former rate bylaw, as it was deemed expedient that owing to the extension of the L. E. and D. Railway to Ridgetown additional amounts would be required for municipal purposes, and that the former rate of 15 mills was inadequate. The new rate will be 16½ mills. Owing to the mayor's absence the law was not finally passed.

MIDDLESEX.

Mr. James Brown, of Metcalfe, had his barn struck by lightning during the recent storm. Thirty acres of wheat were lost as well as a large quantity of hay.

The little son of Mr. G. Ross, of London, who is accompanying his mother on a visit to his uncle, Mr. J. N. Ross, of this village, says the Lucknow Sentinel, had a thrilling experience, and one that the little fellow is not likely to forget for some time. While playing about the garden he undertook to catch "the big flies," as he said, and lifted the top of one of the bee hives. In an instant the bees were upon him, and, although his cries brought immediate assistance, the child was badly stung before he could be got away from the hive.

On Friday George Ernest, a son of James Harris, con. 10, West Nissouri, had taken dinner and afterwards went to the barn, cleaned out the granary, his father and brother meantime going elsewhere to prepare for threshing. During the afternoon they returned to the barn and were horified to discover George's body suspended by a rope from a rafter. He was immediately cut down, but life was extinct. The young fellow had been despondent for some time past.

Mr. John Ovens, of the C. P. R. Hotel, Woodstock, has a curiosity in the shape of a meteorite which fell in his garden during a recent thunder storm. This visitor from Mars, or regions adjacent, is about five and a half inches by three inches, and is most curiously formed, presenting the appearance of a bunch of macaroni, or of long, thin roots, held together by some softer composition.

Excitement is high in C. O. F. circles in Galt over the mysterious disappearance of $211 93 of the money belonging to the demonstration committee. The night of the demonstration the money collected during the day, some $1,200 was counted by five of the committee and put in a valise and locked in the shoe store of Mr. Chas. Roos. Upon opening it in the morning the valise was found open and $212 short. There were no windows or doors broken open, and the mystery is how did the money get out?

The Dumfries Council met on Monday, when a rate of four mills on the dollar was struck for the current year.

DISEASE OFTEN FOUND IN COW'S MILK

The tendency of cow's milk to become acid is due to a fermentation induced by certain bacteria. This fermentation is always increased by the action of oxygen in the air, and therefore is very rapidly induced when milk is exposed in shallow vessels, as is generally the case in dairies. Unclean vessels of any kind also induce fermentation, because they generally contain the bacteria that always accompany dirt. Cow's milk often carries disease germs, the principal ones being those of tuberculosis, scarlet fever and typhoid fever.

These are stern facts, and should be carefully considered by every mother who values the life of the infant. Little ones feed on cow's milk during the summer time are liable to be cut off at any time by disease, especially in large towns and cities.

The duty of the mother is to shield her babe from all danger, when it is necessary to feed it artificially. Mothers have now that celebrated Lactated Food which is so strongly recommended by medical men as the nearest approach to mother's milk. Its composition is pure, healthy and invigorating. It is made from the best products of nature, and is suited for the weakest digestion. The mothers of Canada who have used it, extol its virtues and recommend it to their friends. It can be said with truth that Lactated Food saves babies' lives.

Looked Like a Comet.

MOUNT WASHINGTON, N. H., Aug. 16.—The electric current which feeds the lamp of the Mount Washington search light was turned on Saturday evening under the most favorable circumstances. The Glen House, which is four miles away, air line, could be distinctly seen from the summit, and word was received that the grounds were as bright as at noonday, and that one could distinctly read a newspaper on the piazzas. Communication was also had with Gen. Wentworth at Jackson, seventeen miles distant and also with Intervale and North Conway. Word was received from much further distances, saying that it appeared as a flash and long tailed comet of great brilliancy.

A Wise Young Woman.

Young Adolphus Fitzwilliam, he loved a fair maid,
But to ask her to marry him he was afraid,
Because of catarrh, which she had very bad;
So much so that often the youth was quite glad
To omit, at the parting, the kiss of the lover,
The reason of this she set out to discover.
"Catarrh makes me loathsome. It's fatal to love.
O, darling Adolphus, by all that's above,
I vow I'll not lose thee if something there is
To drive out catarrh and to sweeten a kiss."

So this wise young woman began searching for a cure, and good luck attended her. She found Dr. Sage's Catarrh Remedy at the drug store, and felt convinced that a preparation which the proprietors had such confidence in that they were willing to offer to pay $500 for a case they cannot cure, must be worth trying. She bought it. She tried it. It cured her. And when Adolphus kissed her at the altar last week, her kiss was as sweet and pure as roses in June.

Girls, a word of advice: If you want a lover to stay a lover, you must get rid of catarrh. Do as this sensible girl did, and get the only sure remedy for this disgusting and dangerous disease—Dr. Sage's Catarrh Remedy.

Repentance must be something more than a mere remorse for sins; it comprehends a change of nature befitting heaven.

Mr. J. R. Allen, upholsterer, Toronto sends us the following: "For six or seven years my wife suffered with Dyspepsia, Costiveness, Inward Piles and Kidney Complaint. We tried two physicians and any number of medicines without getting any relief, until we got a bottle of Northrop & Lyman's Vegetable Discovery. This was the first relief she got, and before one bottle was used the benefit she derived from it was beyond our expectation."

ELEPHANT MEAT.

African Explorers Say That It Is Capital Eating.

All African explorers speak highly of elephant steaks. The full-grown elephant weighs about 7,000 pounds, and Mr. Newbuary estimates that he can count on some 3,000 pounds of first-class meat from each animal. In 25 years he expects to see elephant meat for sale in the markets.

Steaks as big as bed mattresses will hang up on all sides, and French elephant chops with handles on them six feet long will lie on the counters. Elephant hides, he thinks, will be found valuable for leather, slightly thick, perhaps, but it can be split. Then there is the ivory, always in good demand. The clip of wool from an elephant will, of course, be admits, be small, but there were formerly woolly animals of the elephant kind, and he does not see why careful breeding may not revive the species.

Fine all California elephants' wool clothing he considers a possibility of the future. But it is not alone in these ways that Mr. Newbuary expects to be able to teach California to profit by the elephant. It is a powerful and intelligent animal, and as a beast of burden will be as successful in California as in India. It can be readily broken to harness, and can draw enormous loads. Nor does he despair altogether of the elephant as a driving animal.

He thinks it not unlikely that the California trotting elephant may be evolved, as the American trotting horse has been. Cabmen may yet call out: "Keb, sir, keb! Nice closed keb and rapid elephant!" Of course, as a saddle beast, the elephant has shown his superiority in the Orient. Its gait, however, is at present irregular, but Mr. Newbuary sees no reason why it may not be taught a graceful canter and a swinging gallop. But the most practical place where the elephant can be put to immediate usefulness Mr. Newbuary considers to be the orange groves.

"In picking oranges," says Mr. Newbuary, "the trained elephant would be a great success. He would come as a boon to orange-growers. He could readily reach all over the trees with his trunk and carefully pick the fruit and place it in a bag on his back. He could pick more oranges than ten men, and would never strike for higher wages or flirt with the hired girl. If I were asked to name in three words the hope of California for the future I should answer: 'Elephants, elephants, elephants.'"—[California Times-Mirror.

VANDERBILT'S $2,000 WHIP.

The Vanderbilt family owns a valuable whip. It was presented to the late W. H. Vanderbilt by the Jackson & Woodin Car Company of Berwick, Pa. The design was made by Fritz Kaldenburg, the sculptor, at a cost of $2,000. The whip and ivory stock, before any carving was done, cost $600. It is seven feet long. Above the stock the whip is made of solid whalebone, then worth $3 per pound, now scarce at $10. Over this solid whalebone is the finest braiding of split tapered whalebone ever attempted.

The braiding of the whip and the making of the snapper occupied one whole month. The case cost $100. The handle is of the purest ivory, 21 inches long and one and one-half inches thick at the butt end, which is an ornamental capital, from which a floral pattern emanates, emblematic of power, truth and perpetuity, which encircles four panels. In each panel is a wonderful piece of carving—on one side a locomotive and a train of cars, on the other a steamboat, symbolizing the foundation of Cornelius Vanderbilt's great achievements.

On the third and fourth panels are the achievements of W. H. Vanderbilt's genius—the Grand Central depot on one, and on the other himself in a buggy driving his celebrated fast horses on the road. On the end of the handle two portrait busts in high relief of Cornelius and W. H. Vanderbilt—father and son. The whip is sacredly kept in a glass case among the art treasures of the Vanderbilt gallery, and in future generations will be treasured as a work of art.

Immense Glacial Field in Central Idaho.

BOISE CITY, Idaho, Aug. 16.—F. J. Schermerhorn, the geologist and mineralogist, who is working in the interest of Idaho exhibit at the World's Fair, writes he has discovered an immense glacial field in Central Idaho, beneath which lies a series of glacial lakes. The field probably covers an area nearly as great, though not as thick, as the great glacial fields of the Alps. The glaciers are about 25 miles southwest of Shoup, amidst a number of high peaks.

A rather unusual thing occurred recently in Cardiff, Wales. The organist of a church found several of the notes soundless. An examination revealed the fact that six birds, including a robin, had built their nests in the pipes.

Aunt Pauline—More shame for him to let 'em git rusted.

The Best Gift to Mankind.

If I am asked what is the remedy for the deeper sorrows of the human heart—what a man should chiefly look to in his progress through life as the power that is to sustain him under trials and enable him manfully to confront his afflictions—I must point to something which in a well known hymn is called "The old, old story," told in an old, old Book, and taught with an old, old teaching, which is the greatest and best ever given to [mankind.—W. E. Gladstone.

BOARDING HOUSE VS. HOME.

Judicial View of What a Husband Should Provide for His Wife.

TRENTON, N. J., Aug. 16.—Vice-Chancellor Bird has filed a decision in an interesting woman's rights case, giving alimony to Mrs. Annie B. Shinn in a suit for support and maintenance against her husband, Howard. The decision turned on the point as to what kind of a house Shinn should provide for his young wife, whom he married in 1890.

Shinn took her to board with his parents, where she was given a poorly-furnished room, and ultimately had to leave on account of unpleasantness. The vice-chancellor said that a boarding house was in no sense the kind of a home which a husband was bound to provide for his wife.

The house in which Shinn and his wife lived was poorly furnished, and a weak pretense at compliance on his part with the duties of a husband.

London, Wednesday, August 17

PRESIDENT VAN HORNE, of the C. P. R., says he thinks the canal rebate policy of the Canadian Government was a mistake, and he is glad the Ottawa authorities have backed down. He favors freeing the canals of all tolls.

THE Detroit Free Press, with the murder in the State Prison by a life convict as its text, advocates the re-establishment of the death penalty in Michigan. Our contemporary holds that while it may not be necessary to hang every person who slays a fellow-being, a criminal should not be told by the law, "Your life in any case is safe."

THE London Chronicle says that the Radical M.P.s are eager to open fire upon the House of Lords. They declare that if the lords evince a "nasty" disposition towards the House of Commons, the latter will, at the first hint of trouble, refuse to vote the salaries of the officials connected with the House of Lords. The motto of the Radicals is, "No nonsense from the House of Lords." And a very good motto it is. The irresponsible legislators must either behave themselves, or be taught that the representatives chosen by the people are the real rulers.

LIVERPOOL may lose her proud position as England's great Atlantic port. The Inman Company confirms the report that they are negotiating with the Southampton authorities with a view to making Southampton their terminus instead of Liverpool. The offer of the city is to dredge the harbor at a cost of £70,000, and to guarantee 30 feet of water at low tide, if the Inmans promise to remain there ten years. The Inmans expect to gain at least half a day in the time to London, as they will avoid the Mersey Bar, always a menace to safety and a source of delay. The change is expected to take place in March.

LORD RIPON, formerly Viceroy of India, is the new Secretary of State for the Colonies in the Gladstone Government. He is a progressive statesman. While in India he saw much to make him believe that the interests of the people were sacrificed to make it comfortable for the Anglo-Indian officials, and he inaugurated a series of reforms that were directed toward extending the rights of the natives, and in certain directions limiting the special privileges of Europeans. The consequence was that he became the most unpopular Viceroy ever known, in the eyes of Anglo-Indians, while the natives everywhere welcomed him with acclaim. His departure was the occasion of the most extraordinary manifestations in his favor.

PORT STANLEY.

The foolish attack on the flag of the United States camping party at Port Stanley has brought the flag of the neighboring nation into much greater prominence than would have been possible if the jolly visitors had been permitted to enjoy their holiday without outrage. Port Stanley people have replaced the flag. They do not wish to have it understood that their loyalty to this fair Dominion is endangered by a little flag floating on the tent of a Yankee camping party. They wish their visitors to come back and to bring many more with them.

There is no reason why the Port should not become a great summer resort, whose thousands of visitors would bring benefit not only to London's lake port, but to London itself. The interview with a shrewd capitalist from the United States, given in another column, will confirm this view.

THE POTATO PEST.

Inspector Dearness writes to the ADVERTISER as follows:

"With reference to your note in to-day's paper on the 'new potato pest,' that green worm is doubtless the larva of the five-spotted sphinx, an old guest of the potato and tomato. Serious and long-continued injury from this insect is likely to be prevented by the rapid increase of the ichneumon, whose larvæ feed upon the internal tissues of the 'green worm.' If anyone whose potatoes or tomatoes are infested with the pest will observe he will find green worms bearing on the back scores of little white cocoons, from each of which a little black fly will issue to deposit its eggs in the skin of another green worm. These ichneumons will hold the larvæ of the sphinx moth in check. Half of the number of the larvæ I have seen within the past week are so infected. Those with the white cocoons on their back should not be killed."

Our correspondents who have been anxious to know how to combat the latest enemy of the potato vine will find the explanation and advice given by so experienced an entomologist as Mr. Dearness worth heeding.

HON. EDWARD BLAKE IN LONDON.

Unusual interest has been taken by Canadians in the speech delivered by Hon. Edward Blake at the Eighty Club, London, where a banquet was recently given in his honor. The honorable gentleman adduced the past history of Canada as a strong proof that the possession of local self-government was mutually beneficial to the local and to the imperial authorities. He pointed out that the British Government first tried the experiment of conceding to Canadians an inadquate measure of legislative control over their domestic affairs, "without including the essential element of an Executive responsible to and thus controlled by the popular assembly." The British Government by the agency of the Executive and the Crown-nominated Legislative Council retained the power to thwart the views of the popular body, and thus made Canadian self-government largely a sham. This, he said, was done under the impression that Canadians were incapable of self-government, under the belief that the minority in race and creed would use their power to oppress the so-called loyal minority, which posed as the English party, and argued that the connection depended upon its continued ascendancy, or on the continued deprivation of the popular rights demanded. Under that system gross abuses prevailed; discontent and agitation ensued; petitions to the British authorities were delayed, neglected or declined; and in the end rebellion raised its armed hand. The constitution was suspended, and a commissioner was sent out, in whose report frequent proof and clear demonstration of the evils of the system were supplied, and an extended measure of responsible self-government—home rule—was granted. A capital error in the arrangement then arrived at was remedied at Confederation. The legislative union of the French-speaking Province of Quebec and the English-speaking Province of Ontario, with the object of fusing the population into a harmonious English whole, was a failure. After 25 years' trial home rule in local matters was restored to each Province, and the friction and deadlock, faction and antagonism, instability and inefficacy in government in great measure disappeared. The change was a vindication of the home rule idea, though the Canadian constitution is yet defective. "Our politics," candidly confessed Mr. Blake, "have their squalid and disheartening elements; much has happened which I for one deeply regret and deplore;" but despite all this, the honorable gentleman protested that Canadians would rather be misruled for a time at home than have the old world Family Compact revived in the midst of them. He claimed that on the whole, despite their differences in race and religious belief, the Canadian people had satisfactorily proved their general adhesion to the principles of civil and religious liberty and of equal rights. "Markedly," he added, "here we show the efficacy of covenanted organic guarantees and restrictions, which have ever been sacredly observed."

On the future of Canada, Mr. Blake made some significant observations, which we give at length:

Now, much that I have said so far would be applicable and encouraging were I giving you the account of Canada as an independent State, regulating its affairs by a system of central and local governments. But you may ask me, What of home rule in Canada as affecting its relation to the Empire? What of the future of the country? Its future is hidden from your view. The long delay in grappling with the problem of the relation of the great colonies to the mother country, the absence and apparent impossibility of devising any system for common control over what might possibly have continued or become common concerns, have naturally and necessarily led to the gradual but permanent division of these concerns and the concession of the separate interest and control of the colony. There have grown up habits of thought and feeling, different and divergent interests, systems and policies; varied engagements, relations and conditions, and there has been a steadily diminishing proportion of common interests; and thus have the tremendous and perhaps insuperable difficulties in the way of formulating a plan for the federation of the empire, or for permanently reconciling, as to the great colonies, British connection with British freedom been enormously increased. (Hear, hear.) My sympathy with their grand ideal has led me, though disapproving of some of their plans, and finding no solution on their or indeed on any lines to watch in anxious expectations, while others, infinitely more competent and influential, have been engaged in the attempt to prosecute the work of federation. But I have seen no new light from their labors. This, then, is all that I will now say, and it is the material point for the present purpose that I believe the sentiment of attachment and respect of loyalty and affection on the part of the masses of the Canadian people towards the United Kingdom, to be widespread and deep-rooted, and that I am convinced it owes what strength and vitality it possesses in a very great degree to your concession of home rule in local affairs. It is difficult for any man, I confess it is impossible for me accurately to guage the depth of the national sentiment, to mark the directions and estimate the forces of the various and often hidden streams of the national thought. But, if I rightly judge, the measure of content in Canada, and her desire to find some way whereby she may, consistently with her national aspirations and her material interests, remain connected with these islands, is due to home rule in local affairs. (Hear, hear.) The measure of doubt or difficulty, of inclination, or tendency to look to some other future, is mainly due to her geographical situation and physical conditions, and these various consequences and to the absence of any practical plan for setting up what would be now regarded as common and imperial interests, to be dealt with in a common and imperial Parliament. Here, then, the analogy becomes less close; it becomes less close because the difficulties in the case of Canada do not exist in the case of Ireland. Ireland is at your doors; you and she have great common imperial interests; you and she have a common and Imperial Parliament, where those interests have long been, and will, I think, ever continue to be treated. You have not to create or to undo, but only with modifications to continue the system. (Cheers.)

The leading points in this address, therefore, are that if Canada is a part of the British Empire to-day, it is owing to the concession of self-government which the early Liberals of Canada worked so hard to secure. Mr. Blake believes that the close relationship existing between Great Britain and Ireland renders it infinitely easier to establish and maintain, under reasonable guarantees for stability and for fair play to the minority, a somewhat similar measure of home rule in the last named island. It is apparent that Mr. Blake has little faith in the Imperial Federation idea, and that he has grave doubts as to the ability of Canada to remain in her present anomalous position of a dependency. In this part of his address, of so great interest to all Canadians, the member for South Longford is not so clear as we could have wished him to be. It will set many people thinking to find even so able and thoughtful a statesman as Mr. Blake raising the strongest doubts not only as to the feasibility of federation—the realization of which seems out of the question—but as to the possibility of "permanently reconciling, as to the great colonies, British connection with British freedom."

SOME NEW DISCOVERIES.

A cablegram from Paris says that Dr. Patscheff, of Moscow, has discovered what he claims to be a certain cure for cancer. M. Patscheff has treated two ladies, one of whom is a member of the court of St. Petersburg. Both ladies had been treated in Paris, Berlin and elsewhere, but found no relief until they were taken in hand by the Russian physician. Dr. Patscheff's system is based upon a course of sulphuric baths. He will soon make a report to the Paris Academy of Medicine upon the results already secured.

Mrs. S. L. Ballentine, of Port Huron, Mich., has just received a patent for a device to secure glass in the doors of stoves and furnaces. The process of baking in the oven can be watched through the glass, and there is a saving of fuel, since frequent opening of the doors will be needless, and the glass will allow the heat to leave the oven less rapidly than iron.

A pupil of M. Pasteur in Paris claims that after a series of careful experiments has discovered a mode of vaccination that will certainly prevent the person vaccinated from being attacked by cholera.

The freight companies had better look out. A new method for the transportation of grain through pipes has been invented by Mrs. N. E. Beasley, of Chicago, and it is thought that it would be a success if properly carried out. The plan is to lay pipes from Chicago to the Atlantic coast. The grain is to be carried in a continuous ventilated shaft, and it is claimed that a continuous stream of grain can be carried at the rate of twelve miles an hour, without friction. There are to be power stations 23 miles apart. It is estimated that grain can be transported in this way for 3 cents a bushel. A working model of the new plan is to be erected shortly.

The London Star, commenting upon the marriage of the Duke of Devonshire, and the Dowager Duchess of Manchester, chronicled in our cablegrams yesterday, says: "The Duke of Devonshire has married his old love, who is now aged 60 years. The story of their early separation is a romance. They were fondly attached while both were young, but the habitual indolence of Lord Hartington prevented a declaration. The lady tried to infuse energy into him by listening to the attentions of the late Duke of Manchester. This had a contrary effect upon Lord Hartington than she intended. She finally became the wife of the Duke of Manchester. Lord Hartington's long bachelorship was attributed to the fact that the Duchess of Manchester after her marriage had a powerful influence over him. He consulted her before he took a single important political step. Their relations were so well known that the society papers began to speculate upon their marriage immediately after the death of the Duke of Manchester. The difficulty was that the Duke of Devonshire was strongly opposed to widows marrying, and Lord Hartington, who has strong views of filial duty, delayed the union during the lifetime of his father."

They Can't Be Stopped.

[Kansas City Star.]

Dr. Hammond, of Washington, has collected 70 cases which have occurred in that city during the last ten years of men dying suddenly from running after street cars. The 70 cases might be posted in every street car in the country, and men would keep chasing them just the same.

MIDDLETOWN, N. Y., Aug. 16.—John S. Hallins, aged 94, has been married three times. He was at a Honesdale hotel the other day and told the diners that he intended to get married before he went to his home in the adjoining town. As he is well-to-do, one of the dining room girls offered to marry him. He agreed, and but for the appearance of his youngest son, 60, there would have been a wedding on the spot. The old gentleman persisted and started off with the girl, only to meet his granddaughter, aged 30, whose efforts finally prevailed, and the marriage was indefinitely postponed.

ITCHING AND SCALY

Skin Disease Nine Years. Doctors and Medicines Useless. Cured by Cuticura for $4 75.

I feel it is my duty to tell you my experience with your CUTICURA REMEDIES. I have been troubled for over nine years with a dreadful skin disease. When I first felt it, there appeared a few small red spots on my breast, and it kept on spreading slowly. It started the same on my back, between my shoulders. A few days after the spots turned gray, and began itching. Small scales would fall off, so it continued spreading all over my body. I tried all the patent medicines I could think of, or get hold of. I also consulted doctors. Yes, they would cure me in a short time, but they always failed. Then I gave it all up, thinking there was no cure for me. Some few months ago I noticed your advertisement in the Tacoma Morning Globe, thought I would try the CUTICURA REMEDIES, not thinking it would do me much good, but to my surprise, three boxes of CUTICURA, one cake of CUTICURA SOAP and three bottles of CUTICURA RESOLVENT cured me entirely. My skin is now as white and pure as that of a child. I send my photograph. I have many friends in Chicago, Ill., and St. Paul, Minn.

ARGUMENT. THE AMERICAN COMPANY, of Jersey City, N. J., have undertaken to guarantee to their Advertising patrons a total circulation for their various papers of not less than ONE MILLION. This means an addition of 500,000 to our present lists. It has been said that to secure a half million new subscribers in six months is a business impossibility. This is probably true by ordinary or common methods, but NOT TRUE when the effort is associated with the kind of enterprise that appears in this prospectus. Five hundred thousand new subscribers will mean to us more than $500,000 of advertising revenues during the next five years. We can afford to pay for them at least half their value to us. We are willing to do even more than this, if necessary, and to that end have originated the fairest and most ingenious plan of distributing Cash Premiums or Rewards of Merit among new subscribers that the world has ever known. The plan or method is in conflict with no law against lotteries or schemes of chance; it involves nothing that is illegal or immoral; it places a premium on brains; it is, in short, the very essence of what is commendable, honest, liberal and attractive.

Explanation. Each dash appearing in the partially spelled words indicates the absence of a certain letter, and when the proper letters are supplied the original word selected to form each Riddle will be found complete. EXAMPLE: H--r-e, something every farmer should possess. In this case the omitted letters are o and s, and when properly inserted the completed word is HORSE.

REWARDS paid in cash the VERY DAY any answer is found to be correct.

Each answer will be numbered as received, to be examined in the order of its number, and when found correct a New York Certified Bank Check for the full amount of whatever reward such correct answer secures will be sent the VERY DAY the award is made.

REMEMBER If you only solve one word you will receive $20 in Cash; you are not confined to any particular word—any one of the entire ten will bring you a $20 cash reward—while if you are bright enough to solve more than one your reward will be increased in proportion from $50 to $250. Also remember that you do not have to be first, or last with your answer. EVERY correct answer for even a single word wins a splendid cash reward.

The Only Condition.

The object of this extraordinary offer is, of course, to secure Subscribers at once and in large numbers. We therefore require that 50 cents for a year's subscription to some one of our papers shall be remitted with every answer. We publish four great papers: The American Fireside, The American Homestead, The American Household Journal, and The American Cottage Home. Name your choice of any one of the four—they are all the same price, 50c. a year. If you send answers to more than one word you must send a separate name and 50c. for every word you answer. Thus, if you send answers to two words, send an extra name besides your own and $1, and so on—one name and 50c. for a year's subscription for each word you answer. The total amount of cash rewards that you receive for correct answers can be divided pro rata among the list, or you can keep it all, just as you arrange between yourself and those whose names you send. In every case we will pay the full amount of the reward for correct answers to the person who sends the names.

Don't send answers without subscriptions—they will receive no attention and cannot possibly win a reward even if correct.

Protection. As a means to guard against even an appearance of irregularity or collusion, a copy of the original ten words selected to make up the above Word-Riddles is deposited with Mr. C. P. SMITH, Superintendent of the Jersey City Police Department, under seal, to be opened December 31, 1892, in the presence of witnesses, after this contest closes. The complete list will be printed in full in the January issues of our four papers, so that all who have not received rewards for correct answers will know wherein they failed. This method of protection is due to all concerned, and absolutely prevents everything that is not wholly honest and fair to every subscriber.

DESIGNATE THE WORDS YOU ANSWER BY THEIR NUMBERS, and be wise and send your answer at once.

Address all letters and make all remittances payable to the Treasurer of the American Publishing Co., as follows:

Hon. J. F. KELLY, Treas., 214 Washington Street, Jersey City, N. J.

Blood Poisoning

Mrs. Mary E. O'Fallon, a very intelligent lady of Piqua, Ohio, was poisoned while assisting physicians at an autopsy 5 years ago, and soon terrible ulcers broke out on her head, arms, tongue and throat. Her hair all came out. Her husband spent hundreds of dollars without any benefit. She weighed but 78 pounds, and saw no prospect of help. At last she began to take Hood's Sarsaparilla and at once improved; could soon get out of bed and walk. She says, "I became perfectly cured by

Mrs. M. E. O'Fallon.

Hood's Sarsaparilla

and am now a well woman. I weigh 128 pounds, eat well and do the work for a large family. My case seems a wonderful recovery and physicians look at me in astonishment, as almost like one raised from the dead."

HOOD'S PILLS should be in every family medicine chest. Once used, always preferred.

THE WHEEL.

WHAT THREE WOMEN DID.

Three Brooklyn young women, Miss Alice Minchel, Agnes Becker and Miss Mable Stout, returned to Brooklyn on Saturday from a bicycle trip to Albany. They started two weeks ago, and each took a luncheon basket, a water-flask and a change of clothing. It took them just a week to reach the State capital. When they started they intended to cover 30 miles a day, but they found this impossible on account of the condition of the roads. They made 35 miles on the first day, but not more than 20 during the rest of the time. At one point the road led through nine miles of marsh, and the fair bicyclists had to walk their wheels through the swamp. They met with a warm reception along the line and were frequently invited into houses by the farmers and other people. At one town they were taken for the advance of a circus which was billed to appear the next day and received a great ovation from the inhabitants. The young women all weighed more when they got home than when they started.

SPOKES.

William Martin, of New York, who claimes to be the champion six-day bicycle rider of the world, has issued a challenge to Charles W. Ashinger to ride a 24-hour race for $200 a side.

JOCKEYS HURT AT GLOUCESTER.

GLOUCESTER, N.J., Aug. 16.—An accident which may result in two deaths occurred yesterday afternoon on the Gloucester track in the first race. The event was four and one-half furlongs and there were eleven starters. As the horses were rounding the turn entering into the home stretch, Sir Jim was in the lead, with Hurry Away, the favorite, running second. The others were closely bunched behind. Suddenly Hurry Away stumbled and fell, and a half-dozen other horses and their jockeys fell in a heap like so many ten-pins. The animals, strange to say, were not injured, but picked themselves up and scampered away. The jockeys, with the exception of Pfankuchen, who rode Cavalier, were lying all over the track insensible. Moore, the colored rider of Joe B., soon revived, but the other riders are mostly in a critical condition. They are Horton, who rode Patrick; Brooker, the rider of Catherine; McGlone, of Hurry Away; Cleary, of Wildfire colt, and Morrissey, who was mounted upon Come On. Cleary is the worst hurt of the lot. The colt trod upon his face and disfigured him fearfully. He is delirious. He is in a local hotel and had to be put in a straitjacket. He may die. Patrick rolled over Horton and the latter is badly hurt, but is though to be out of danger. Morrissey was taken to the Cooper Hospital, Camden, and is still unconscious. He has a severe contusion of the head, is injured internally, and is hurt about the hips. His condition is serious. Booker was badly stunned and Moore escaped with a severe shaking up. Pfankuchen lit upon his head, but escaped injury. McGlone had a shoulder badly hurt and was severely bruised. The accident created great excitement among the 2,000 spectators, but the programme was carried out.

TURF TIPS.

A California horseman has invented a sulky which beats the kite-shaped track for lowering the record of trotting horses. This sulky winds up like a clock, and the machinery not only furnishes propulsion for the sulky, but carries the horse along. The driver sets the indicator at, say, the 2:07 notch, and if the horse will be good enough to keep out of the way the machine will get there on time. It will be seen, therefore, that in making trotting records the horse becomes a matter of secondary importance. The sulky is everything. This gives the business of breeding trotting horses a black eye. The brand on the sulky will hereafter be looked to more carefully than the pedigree of the horse in the shafts.

CRICKET.

The M. A. A. eleven of Detroit defeated the East Toronto club at Toronto on Monday in a one-inning game, 161 to 85.

Toronto defeated Guelph on Monday on the latter's ground by 214 to 43. Guelph made 71 in their second inning for the loss of four wickets. For Toronto Saunders made 96, Cosby 46.

At Brampton on Monday Toronto defeated the home team in the first inning, 85 to 52, with the loss of 5 wickets.

The Inter-Provincial cricket match is off, at least for the present. Word comes from Mackie, secretary of the Eastern Association, that the team from Montreal could not be on hand in Hamilton. But possibly it may be arranged a week later.

LONDON ASYLUM VS. HAMILTON.

A well-played and exciting game of cricket was witnessed yesterday afternoon on the Asylum grounds, between elevens representing the above-named clubs. Hamilton won the toss and went in on a beautiful wicket—165 runs was the score before the inning was closed. Sayers made 73 runs in fine form without a chance, his leg hitting especially being very hard and clean. Southam (28), White (25), and Martin (13, not out), also got double figures. After lunch the Asylum went to bat, and after a very exciting contest finally won by 6 runs. Beemer headed the list with 59, compiled by very steady and patient play. Terry (19), Gillean (18), Thurling (14), Walker (13), and S. D. Smith (12), were the other principal scores. Gillean and Thurling by short running and plucky play at a very critical period of the game, contributed most materially to the result. Score:

The Windsor Keystone Gun Club will have an all day shoot at their grounds, near the Mineral Springs, Sandwich, on Friday next. The events will be open to all.

ATHLETICS.

Jim Corbett's backer, Phil Dwyer, expresses himself pleased with his condition. Corbett was fighting mad when he heard that Dominick McCaffrey had said he had won most of his fights by scratches, catching his opponents out of condition. "Now," said Corbett, "whether I win or lose with Sullivan, I will be glad to go to the Manhattan Athletic Club, where McCaffrey is instructor, before his friends or pupils, or I will give him $1,000 if he will stand before me for four rounds in Madison Square Garden Sept. 12, or I will give him $250 for every round he survives. I'd punch more holes through him than there is in a sieve."

NEWPORT, R. I., Aug. 16.—To-day's court tennis match at the Casino was a four handed contest. The players were Tom Pettit, the American champion, and G. R. Fearing, jun., of Poward, against J. H. Hickey, a strong professional, and E. S. Degarmendia, amateur champion of the country. Pettit and Fearing gave their opponents odds of 15 and defeated them in two straight sets 8—5, 8—3.

Outfielder Dungan, of Chicago, is probably permanently disabled. One of the muscles in his right arm has contracted and he cannot throw at all.

A match was played in Toronto Monday morning between the Dukes, of Toronto, and the Blues, of Tilsonburg. The Dukes sustained their first defeat in a hotly contested game of thirteen innings, the score being Blues 5, Dukes 4. Handley, of the St. Thomas Browns, pitched for the Blues, and McColl, of the Browns, and Bell, of London, also assisted the Blues. In the afternoon a second game was played between the same clubs and the Dukes won by a score of 7 to 2. Handley and McColl, of the Browns, again played with the Blues.

TORONTO TIDINGS.

Terrible Accident to a Commercial Traveler—Body Recovered in the Bay—Murder of a Toronto Man in Michigan.

TORONTO, Aug. 16.—Geo. M. Bligh, traveler for P. G. Dodds & Co., wholesale paints and oils, Montreal, but living in this city at 303 Crawford street, missed his footing while trying to board a street car on King street this afternoon and fell under the car. The wheel went over his head, crushing his skull. He died before reaching the hospital. Deceased was about 35 years of age and well-known in the city. He leaves a wife and one child. He came here from St. Catharines about the beginning of the year.

Word has been received from Jackson, Mich., of the murder of Wm. Cuddy, of that place, brother of Detective Ali. Cuddy, of the Toronto force, and of the late Jack Cuddy, one of the best known and most popular officers in the Province. William, the murdered man, was contractor and member of a firm which employed convict labor. Late yesterday afternoon he was found in his office in the prison lying unconscious on the floor, his brains oozing from a terrible wound in the head. Blackman, a convict serving a life sentence for murder, is believed to have struck the fatal blow. Cuddy died three hours after he was found. Deceased had intended selling out business and shortly returning to Toronto to live.

W. E. Kelly, the Simcoe lawyer who is charged with fraud in connection with cases in which School Teacher Chrysler was convicted, was up before Acting Magistrate Baxter this afternoon and remanded till Monday. His bail of $1,000 was doubled.

The body of Harry Broughall, son of Rev. A. J. Broughall, who was drowned off Port Union July 17, was recovered this afternoon four miles east of Victoria Park.

POISON IN THE WINE.

Members of a Presbyterian Church Made Seriously Sick.

AMENIA, N.Y., Aug. 16.—Two bottles were mixed up in this town Sunday with disastrous results to 25 or 30 members of the Presbyterian Church, for the mistake resulted seriously to many of those who attended communion services at the church and sipped the contents of a cup filled with a combination of powerful chemicals instead of wine. In the concoction sulphuric and nitric acids were given as components, greatly diluted, of course, or this would be a town of mourning. As it is, every physician in the village had his hands full, but soon the good news was circulated that no fatalities are expected to follow the mistake. But there are several unfortunate persons in Amenia who will likely be remined of it painfully for many a day. A bottle of wine and a bottle of similar appearance containing battery solution were mixed up in some way so that the solution took the place of the wine.

NEW YORK, Aug. 16.—Henry Distler, 52 years old, living in Brooklyn, was attacked by nightmare on Saturday night and walked out of a fourth-story window. He was instantly killed.

Burned to Death While Smoking.

NEW YORK, Aug. 16.—Margaret Gillen, aged 60, living at No. 674 East One Hundred and Thirty-Second street, was burned to death in her room yesterday while smoking a pipe. She fell asleep and set herself on fire.

Heir to $187,000,000.

PHILADELPHIA, Aug. 16. — Cornelius Chadwick, a real estate agent at No. 207 South Fifth street, this city, heir at law of the fabulous wealth of old Sir Andrew Chadwick, who died in England in 1768, has been fighting the Court of Chancery with 101 English agents and barristers this score of years for the estates. They are now in sight and a compromise is soon expected by which Chadwick and a powerful New York syndicate, which is furnishing the sinews of war to prosecute the claim, will reserve a large portion of the estate valued at not less than $187,000,000. At the time of Sir Andrew's death his possessions had grown to £1,100,000, mainly in London real estate, where he owned over 1,000 houses. He had no children.

The most beautiful sight in the world is a handsome young lady walking along King street with her boots polished with P. G. French Dressing.

COMMOTION IN CAMP.

Excitement Among Salvation Army Officers.

Some Forty or Fifty Dismissed Since Commandant Booth's Arrival—Talk of a Secession.

TORONTO, Aug. 16.—Great excitement exists among the local corps of the Salvation Army over the dismissal or forced resignation of between 40 and 50 officers since the arrival of Commandant Booth three weeks ago.

Among those dismissed are Brigadier Philpott and Adjutant Rolfe, who were accused by Commission Rees, Booth's predecessor, with keeping a diary of events at headquarters with the object of writing them up. This the accused officers denied and demanded an investigation, which was refused, and they were given their walking papers. Both officers are immensely popular and have been in the service many years.

Very great dissatisfaction naturally exists among the rank and file at what is considered the very autocratic and arbitrary conduct of Commandant Booth, and a round robin demanding an explanation is being extensively signed.

So far Booth has refused to make any explanation or receive a deputation on behalf of the dismissed men, and there are ominous and widespread threats of secession. In fact if some understanding is not arrived at it looks as if the bulk of the Toronto corps will secede in a body.

THE TYPOTHETÆ AT TORONTO.

Annual Meeting of Employing Printers —The Pittsburg Strike—A Test Case for the Courts.

TORONTO, Ont., Aug. 16.—The sixth annual convention of the United Typothetæ of America began this morning, President Sheppard, Toronto, in the chair. After the president's annual address, Secretary Waddey reported that five new organizations had been founded during the year.

The executive's report referred to the printers' strike in Pittsburg which has been running since October, 1891, in which 300 are out. The offices are now running with non-union men working ten hours a day. The strikers are holding out for nine hours. The result of the inquiry of employers as to whether they favored nine hours a day, the report stated, was that only 60 out of 1,000 were so inclined. Others all holding ten hours basis. On recommendation of the executive, the convention determined to take a test case into court to settle the rights of employers and men, and whether labor organizations shall have the right to intimidate non-union men who wish to work, the case to be carried to the Supreme Court of the United States.

At the afternoon session a number of interesting papers were read.

To-night a big reception was held at the Pavilion, where Mayor Fleming extended the civic welcome to the delegates, and a generally good time was enjoyed.

PRESS AND PEOPLE.

PUNISH THE POOR ONLY.

The people and the newspapers that approve the cruel act of Gen. Snowden, though their phrases are mellowed with soft words, like "law" and "order," are in truth violent partisans; to them "law" means the will of the rich, "order" the subjection of the poor, and the transgression of statutes is reprehensible only when it can be fastened upon the "lower classes." Such men would not condemn this brutal officer even if the law condemns him; if the law is as brutal as he, they will exult. —[New York Standard.

THE POINT IN A NUTSHELL.

The question of responsibility for murder in connection with the fight at Homestead depends upon the right of a citizen, as between himself and the community, to rescue his property from trespassers by means of a private army. If Mr. Frick had that right, armed resistance on the part of the inhabitants of Homestead was riot, and the rioters, whether they fired the first shot or not, were guilty of the murder of any one on either side who lost his life. If Mr. Frick had not that right, the riot began with the attempt of his private army to invade Homestead, and in that case he and his soldiers, not the inhabitants of the invaded town, were the real rioters and liable for all the consequences. When Pinkerton's men were disembarking at Homestead, were they doing so in the peace of the State of Pennsylvania?—[New York Standard.

THE GOOD OLD TIMES.

What easy times our fathers had, they lived a natural way,
To earn a half a dollar then they had the whole long day.
Some fourteen hours did they have this meager sum to win,
The whole, long blessed day to earn a half a dollar in.

How light their lot compared with ours: we have to spurt a spin,
We who are granted but six hours to earn twelve dollars in.
Two hundred dollars in a year was all they had to earn,
But we must earn five thousand—will those old days ne'er return?

And they had twelve months to earn it, fourteen hours to the day,
But we have to have vacations which steal half our time away.
We've only six hours in the day and eight months in the year,
In which to earn five thousand—ah, too great the strain, I fear.

They had so long to earn so little, but our hard life is such
That we have little time to work in order to earn much.
How rich our fathers were—in time—how prodigal and rich!
What vast amounts of time they gave for small amounts of cash.

And how we sigh for those old days of moderate events,
When one had fourteen hours in which to earn his fifty cents;
But now we work like galley slaves, and wreck and waste our powers,
For sixty cents in sixty seconds, ah, what a life is ours.

—S. W. Foss in Yankee Blade.

ENGLAND AND AMERICA.

England has 27,000,000 people. England is one-third the size of California, one-fifth the size of the state of Texas. It is an old country where for hundreds and thousands of years millions of people have been treading upon each other's heels in the struggle for the necessaries of life. It is a country where every acre of land has long since been appropriated, where land monopoly prevails; a country where the laws come out of the past saturated with privileges, saturated with injustice; a country where the people are divided into hard, unbending social divisions; a country where every natural resource has long since become private property, where the forests have been felled and the mines have been dug into and the fields have been harrowed for hundreds of years to supply the wants of millions of population. And yet, gentlemen, compare the condition of the people of that country with the condition of the people of this country; a country that until a few years ago, almost in the day of our fathers, was hidden from the knowledge of the people of those older worlds. Here while they were exhausting their fields, the mold in our agricultural valleys was deepening. Here while they were exhausting their mines, ours were lying undisturbed in the mountains. Here, while they were exhausting their forests, not the sound of an axe broke the silence of the woods. And now, when there is let into this country, but a handful of people, so to speak the most intelligent, the most enterprising, the best educated people of the world, a people that have brought with them to this country all the knowledge, all the science, all the inventions, all the tools, all the capacity for self-government, and all blessed influences of the Christian religion—when they are let loose in this great country, extending from sea to sea, rich, untouched, unexhausted, unexplored, you come here and elsewhere and say that we owe our greater prosperity, our better opportunities for usefulness, our higher wages, our better conditions in every respect, not to the bounty of Almighty God, in giving us such a country, not to the wisdom and sacrifice of the fathers in giving us free institutions and equal laws, not to the enterprise and intelligence of our people, but to a poor little two-by-six law of Congress.—[Congressman Wilson, of West Virginia, in Congress.

HIRELING SOLDIER SERVICE ILLEGAL.

Public opinion has set in strongly against the Pinkertons, and there is a very earnest desire to make their hireling soldier service an illegal business. With this desire every real believer in the regular enforcement of the law according to our principles of government is in sympathy. It has been said, however, that it cannot be done. But it can be. For the bringing of such troops into a community they and their employer should be and easily could be made liable, by a single statute in the various States, for the results of any consequent riot. In the presence of such a statute, no plutocrat would dare introduce hireling troops except as the duly authorized deputies of a sheriff, and no such troops would dare to appear. The subterfuge of deputizing Pinkerton's men so as to give them the color of public office and the insignia of impartial administrators, when they are in fact hired partisans subject to private orders, should also be stopped. When a sheriff cannot preserve the peace and execute process in his county with the aid of such of the inhabitants of the county as he may select, it is his duty, in the interest of law and order, to call upon the Governor to supply him with troops from the regular militia force. [New York Standard.

She Trod on a Match.

A Mysterious Sheep Disease.

KALAMAZOO, Mich., Aug. 16.—Hundreds of sheep have died in this vicinity during the past few weeks as the result of a parasite which completely fills the fourth stomach. Nearly all agricultural periodicals have been questioned regarding the remedy. One remedy used successfully is turpentine, one part; milk, sixteen parts. Dose, one to two ounces.

In a Nutshell.

Knowledge
Is what we get at school and college,
but sense
Comes to us only through experience.

Three hospitals in Philadelphia are conducted by women exclusively.

The Chinese gardeners are the most expert fruit growers in the world.

If a man is patient, it is because he has tried impatience, and found that it failed.

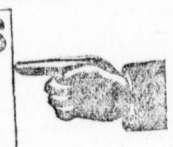

In the dreary deserts of Arabia the rosemary and lavender flourish to perfection.

Photographing under water has actually been carried out, so it is said. Experiments were made in 1889 in the Mediterranean to ascertain how far daylight penetrated under water. In very clear water, near Corsica, and eighteen miles from land, the limit of daylight was found by means of photographic plates to be 1,580 feet.

Confirmed.

The favorable impression produced on the first appearance of the agreeable liquid fruit remedy Syrup of Figs a few years ago has been more than confirmed by the pleasant experience of all who have used it and the success of the proprietors and manufacturers, the California Fig Company.

LOCAL MARKET.

Reported by A. M. Hamilton & Son.

LONDON, Wednesday, Aug. 17.

WEEKLY REVIEW.

A few important changes in values have taken place the past week, chief among which was an advance in oats, sales being made at 95c to $1, the bulk of the sales reaching 97c. There was a steady and strong local demand, and these, coupled with very light receipts, was the main feature in sustaining and creating the advance. No alterations are experienced in wheat values. Receipts were light, but as good as could be expected at this season. Sales of new mostly $1 17, with an occasional poor lot at $1 15 and an extra good one at $1 18. Old was steady at $1 25. Almost no receipts of corn, peas and barley, and a moderate demand has nominally caused the value of these three lines to advance. We feel justified in quoting them higher, for it is certain they would bring more money.

Eggs were steady at 9c in large lots, small lots selling at 10c and 11c.

Butter has been scarce some days during the week, and has advanced about 3c per lb for the week; at Tuesday's close 20c to 23c was the price for pound rolls, and 18c to 20c for large rolls and crocks.

Lard active, with a little more demand; sales at 10c a pound mostly.

The cheese market at last session was a little higher, selling at 9 5-16c for best makes.

Ducks quiet, offerings light, 75c to $1 being the range.

Chickens sold from 50c to 90c, according to size and quality.

Trade in fruits was active. Peaches are coming forward from the east, and are selling at $1 to $1 25 per basket. Apples scarce and high, $1 50 to $2 per bag. In other kinds of fruits there was a moderate trade and prices were steady.

Vegetables met a good steady inquiry, and sold reasonable.

In meats the only change was in lambs; sales ranged from 7½c to 10c.

Hides and skins quiet at quotations; tallow in good demand at 5c to 6c for rendered and 2½c to 3c for rough.

Very little wool offering; sales at 17c.

Hay came in freely, and sold at $6 50 to $7 per ton.

Live Stock Markets.

MONTREAL.

MONTREAL, Q., Aug. 15.—About 300 head of butchers' cattle, 100 calves and 400 sheep and lambs offered at the East End abattoir to-day. Trade was good, and prices had an upward tendency all round. Prime beeves were in demand, and sold at from 4½c to 4⅝c per pound. Pretty good stock, including fat cows, sold at about 4c, and common dry cows at from 2½c to 3½c per pound, with some of the harder looking bulls at about 2½c per pound. There was a fair demand for veal calves, and prices were from $6 to $8 each, but the best were sold before reaching the market. The sheep offered to-day were not a fancy lot, and prices continue low, or from $3 to $4 50 each. Good lambs are in demand; 13 superior lambs sold at $4 25 each; they were of the Cotswold breed. Common lambs $2 to $3 25 each. Fat hogs are rather dull of sale, especially large porkers, which bring about 5c per pound, but nice, small hogs bring 5½c per pound.

EAST BUFFALO, N. Y.

EAST BUFFALO, Aug. 16.—Cattle—12 cars were on sale; the market was quiet, but the demand was about equal to the supply, and the stock on sale changed hands at about Monday's values.

Sheep and Lambs—Very little life to the trade; 6 cars, mostly common western lambs, and 2 cars Canada lambs held over from yesterday, and about a load of Canadas, and 1 of western lambs came in to-day. The demand was only fair; order buyers bid in order s for a few loads of stock for out-of-town butchers on the direct line of the Erie road, and on account of the uncertainty of shipment on that road to-day the orders were not filled, but the bulk of the supply changed hands at average closing values of yesterday, market being quotably steady; New York markets reported about steady with yesterday; 20 cars on sale at Sixtieth street, and 12 cars at Jersey.

Hogs—Fifteen cars on sale; the market was about steady with yesterday, and quoted with fairly good demand from packers, who took the best hogs at $6, taking the hogs straight, with the roughs out, and a fair number of corn hogs, weighing 190 lbs, selling at $5 90; York buyers were also in the market and paid $5 85 to $5 90 for the best of their kind and $5 to $5 80 for best grassers. Pigs ruled slow for really choice prime corn pigs on market, the fair lots bringing $5 to $5 30, with skips and culls at $4 to $4 50; roughs, $4 to $4 75; stags, $3 25 to $4.

MAMMARONECK, N. Y., Aug. 17.—Early this morning fire broke out in the stables of John A. Bostwick at his beautiful summer home on Oriental Point. The flames communicated to the stables of Mr. Constable adjoining. The fire originated it is thought through the carelessness of two of the stablemen, who it is said retired last evening considerably under the influence of liquor.

TWO LIVES LOST.

Just how it happened, however, will never be known for after the fire had burned itself out their chared and blackened bodies were found in the ruins with the dead bodies of eighteen valuable horses burned to crisp.

ANOTHER FATALITY.

Soon after the fire broke out, Mr. Bostwick, who had been ill for some time, hurried out upon the piazza of his residence. The sight of his stables in a blaze and the realization that his valuable horses were being cremated before his eyes put him into a fever of excitement, and suddenly he fell unconscious to the floor and expired before medical aid could reach him. His death is supposed to have resulted from heart failure.

The Constable stables were also destroyed with several valuable horses and turnouts. Total loss estimated at $150,000. Mr. Bostwick was a stockholder of the Standard Oil Company, and ex-president of the New York and New England Railroad.

Mothers' Affection.

Do mothers favor their sons because of some instinctive influence which makes them feel prouder of a boy than of a girl? Because a "boy is father of the man"—man with all the possibilities of power and position before him, and which are closed to girls? Or are mothers actuated by a natural law, and lean towards their sons as women lean towards men—the weaker to the stronger?

Mothers as a rule aid and abet their daughters in getting married, but often hear with regret of the engagement of their sons to other women. However, girls are somewhat compensated by the partiality their fathers show them. If the "stern parent" has a soft spot in his heart, seldom can it resist the coaxing and wheedling way so natural to girls when desirous for him to part with an extra half crowd or to give them a treat at the theater or elsewhere.

Perhaps it is but fair that, as mothers favor their sons, fathers should favor their daughters. But the attention girls miss before marriage is repaid sevenfold afterward. For, whereas a man's mother usually leaves him and his home severely alone, and is quite diffident when visiting him his mother-in-law's concern for her daughter's welfare exhibits itself in a multitude of ways.—[London Tit-Bits.

Adam Graeme, of Mossgray.

By Mrs. Oliphant.

"Is it?" said the impracticable stranger. "I have never been at Messgray."

"Ay," said John, dryly, fancying he was now sure of a more satisfactory answer; "but ye'll ken the young lady it's like?"

"The young lady!" exclaimed his companion in evident astonishment. "Is there a young lady at Mossgray?"

John Brown was brought to a stand-still—he was half angry at his failure.

"Ay, nae doubt there's a young lady; ye maunna hae been living near hand here or ye would have heard of the young lady at Mossgray."

"You don't mean," said the young man, hurriedly, "that Mr. Graeme is married?"

A long gruff laugh answered the question, to the considerable relief of the inquirer, before John was able to say

"Man, ye may ken mony things, but ye dinna ken the Laird!"

"No, indeed I do not," said the stranger, echoing John's laugh; "but pray tell me who the young lady is."

"Ye see," said John, "the Laird was to have been married langsyne—the time's past mending—it was lang or ever ye were born or heard tell o'; but ye'll no prevent the lass frae seeing somebody she likit better—and a shilpit chield he was, no fit to haud the candle to Mossgray; sae the short and the lang o't is, that the twaesome ran away, and the Laird was left without his bride, and took it sair to heart as I have heard. Aweel, there was nae mair word o't till a young lady came to the Mount—there's where I am—to learn the young lasses the kind of havers that's guid enough for the like o' them; and wha should this be but the daughter of the Laird's auld joe, and nae sauner was't it found out, than she behooved to gang hame to Mossgray, and as muckle wark made about her as if she had been a crowned head, let alane a bit peenging lassie; and there she's been, ever since, mistress and mair. The word gangs that she'll get a' the land; but I canna think that Mossgray would pass ower his and bluid for a stranger, and they say there are some of the name to the fore yet."

The young man made no answer, and just at this crisis John Brown pulled up his horse opposite a lane which sloped down to the water-side.

"You see yon light? it's in the Laird's study, for he's an awful feelosophical man. Yon's Mossgray; if ye haud straight down ye canna miss't."

There was only the partial light of the moon to guide the stranger, as he turned the sudden angle of one of the accumulated buildings, which formed the house of Mossgray. Dimly seen, and in glimpses, as these clouds fitted across the moon, the old house looked grand and imposing to the inexperienced eyes eagerly gazing upon it. A thrill of family pride, the first he had ever felt, made the young man drew himself up, and hold his head higher, as he looked at the heavy bulk of the oldtower rising between him and the sky. In the projecting turret high up yonder, and from the small deep windows in its rugged walls, gleams the light which John Brown pointed out. The Laird's study—the heart of the adventurer beat high as he tried to prepare himself to meet this stern Laird, half dreaded, half defied.

Lower down in a more modern part of the house, from larger windows of some household sitting-room, warm light was shining, and close beside the visitor as he stood surveying the dark mass of building, were the cheerful kitchen fire and lamp. The young man did not perceive that at the uncurtained kitchen-window there were curious faces watching him. He lingered with natural hesitation before presenting himself to the unknown Mossgray, whose welcome was so dubious; but while he lingered, another face appeared at the low window near him. The old housekeeper, with excited curiosity, had come to see for herself who the intruder was. A loud exclamation aroused him.

"God preserve us!—we never did ye ill. Have you come to warn us of our end, Charlie Graeme?"

He saw an aged face, strangely convulsed with terror, fall back upon the shoulder of a strong middle-aged woman who stood behind, as a shrill cry ceased, and hastily advancing, he discovered the kitchen door, and knocked. For some time the summons was not attended to; at last a decent gray-haired elderly man opened it, and looked out, not without timidity. The young man asked for Mr. Graeme, and was silently admitted.

In an old elbow-chair by the fire sat the housekeeper of Mossgray, hysterically wringing her withered hands.

"I never did him ill! Oh Guid send he be come for me, and no for the innocent callant that he did enow mischief, when he was flesh; but ye saw it, Saunders Delvie—ye saw the Appearance as weel as me."

"I tell ye, Auntie," said Janet; "It was Appearance; it was a mortal lad, as life-like as either you or me."

"Will you be so good as to tell me," said the stranger, "if Mr. Graeme is at home?"

The old woman sat stiffly erect, gazing at him with rigid terror.

"And where should the Laird be, I should like to ken," said Janet, testily, "but just in Mossgray?"

The young man smiled. The light of the fire fell upon his ruddy, animated face. Mrs. Mense's fears began to abate; he was no Appearance after all.

"Wha are ye?" asked the old woman, with some solemnity. "Tell me that you're no Charlie Graeme?"

"My name is Halbert," said the stranger. "It is my father you mean, and I am like him, I hear."

Mrs. Mense rose, and advancing to the young representative of the Graemes, looked earnestly into his face. The youth's color rose under the scrutiny, but the blush was accompanied by a good humored smile; the result was satisfactory.

"Guid grant that it prove what it looks—true face," said the old woman as she turned away. "Take him out to the young lady—I'll tell Mossgray myself; but no—bide a wee, Janet, I'll show the gentleman the road."

The penalty which he paid for entering the house by the kitchen door was the threading of various dark passages linked together by short flights of stairs. The old woman panted and lost her breath as she toiled on before him.

"These stairs must weary you," said Halbert, kindly; "had you not better direct me, and I will go on myself."

"Your father would have cared little for trouble to the like of me," said Mrs. Mense emphatically; "and you're a guid lad to mind; but I maun tell Mossgray myself."

Lilias Maxwel sat alone, learning upon a small table in the cheerful drawing-room. A desk stood near her, covered with notes of invitation which she had been writing for the great party which her guardian insisted on giving in her honor. She had finished these, and was sitting thoughtfully, looking at a book before her, which she did not read. She was thinking of what she could do to help forward the cause of Halbert Graeme.

Just then the door opened, and Lilias started in surprise as Mrs. Mense entered, followed by the young man, who, in his flutter of spirits, looked as he was—a remarkable handsome and prepossessing youth.

"I'm gaun to tell Mossgray," said the housekeeper; "and, Miss Lilias, this is Mr. Halbert Graeme."

There was a little awkwardness at first, which the serene bearing and temper of Lilias got through perhaps scarcely so well as Helen Buchanan's embarrassed frankness would have done; but they surmounted it, and talked about Halbert's journey, while Mrs. Mense laboriously panted up the old staircase of the tower, to the study of the Laird.

The Laird sat among his books not very attentive to them—his mind had wandered to other things; and by the fireplace stood Charlie's chair, still turned toward the light—toward the faint pale moonbeams which, dimmed, but not quenched, by the artificial light, stole in like something spiritual across the dusky wall.

"Mr. Adam," said the old woman, advancing to the table in the strength of her unwonted agitation, "I have seen this night a face I never thought to see, under the roof-tree of Mossgray, or with my old e'en again. I have looked upon the face of your cousin, Charlie Graeme."

Mossgray started nervously, and raised his head; that gray, pale, old man's head, which to his faithful servant looked still young.

I thought it was an Appearance sent to warn us of our end," said Mrs. Mense, solemnly, "and my heart failed me, Mossgray, because I kent, that whate'er your better spirit may have done, I had ne'er forgiven him, no when he was dead. But it was nae Appearance; the face is the face of a living man, and if it's like him, it has that in it, that in his bravest days he never had. The lad's face is a true face, Mr. Adam. I have lived near forescore years, and I have learned to ken."

While in this state a friend recommended me to try a bottle of Northrup and Lyman's Vegetable Discovery. I used one bottle, and the permanent manner in which it has cured and made a new man of me is such that I cannot withhold from the proprietors this expression of my gratitude."

RIGGIN BURIED.

Two Hundred Thousand People Turn Out to Honor a Yankee Sailor.

PHILADELPHIA, Aug. 16.—Charles W. Riggin, boatswain's mate of the United States steamer Baltimore, was buried on Saturday with great pomp and ceremony. The Patriotic Order of America, Sons of Veterans, Junior Order of American Mechanics and other patriotic orders contributed liberally toward the fund raised to bring the body home, and turned out in large numbers with a great display of flags, banners and brilliant uniforms to take part in the funeral. There were many Grand Army men and naval veterans also in the procession, which contained about 5,000 men. The route from Independence Hill to Woodlawn Cemetery, about five miles, was lined with about 200,000 spectators.

Capt. W. W. Ker graphically described the brutal attack upon the American sailors in Valparaiso. Rev. Dr. MacGregor pronounced a glowing eulogy on Riggin and paid a tribute to American patriotism. A detail of marines from League Island Navy Yard fired the salute over the grave, and sailors from the receiving ship St. Louis acted as a guard of honor. Members of the National Guard of Pennsylvania and New Jersey participated in the parade.

Unhappy Invention.

The principle of the "penny-in-the-slot" machine, if we are to believe a recent visitor to London, has received a new and ingenious application in England. He declares that as he was rising from being shaved in a little barber shop in London he heard a particularly bad hand-organ going out on the street.

After paying for his shave and lingering a moment he went out. He was astonished to see that there was no one turning the hand-organ. It was evidently an automatic machine, going by clockwork. No one stood near it.

Approaching the queer machine, which was still grinding out atrociously bad music, the stranger observed this sign in lage letters on the front: "If you want the organ to stop, put a penny in the slot."

He promptly slipped in a penny, whereupon the organ gave a sort of dying groan and the noise ceased.

Then a rough-looking man came out of an alehouse near by, wound the organ up like a clock, shouldered it and went on down the street, no doubt to set its machinery going further on.

OF THE FUTURE.

10 Band Mills sold in Canada in 1891 where one was sold in 1890. We predict an equal increase in 1892.
Our present orders indicate it, so place your orders early.
The Circular Saw 22 years ago was as much a novelty and as difficult to run as the Band Saw is to-day. With the experience gained in handling the Circular, knowledge of the Band Saw is much more readily acquired. Special improved tools also facilitate the work. We furnish an expert with each mill to instruct in the use of tools and work on saw.
The adjoining cut illustrates our NO. 1 BAND SAW MILL, capacity 10,000 to 20,000 feet in 10 hours. Our No. 2 mill is much heavier—capacity 20,000 to 40,000 feet per day.

LONDON AND ENVIRONS.

—She was but seven, I was nine;
I loved her madly and she knew it.
I knelt and begged her to be mine,
She said she really couldn't do it.

At thirty-eight her hair is gray,
Her roses brighter bloom than ever;
To-morrow is my wedding day;
'Tis late, but better late than never.

—Chas. Santley, the English baritone, who sang in this city last year, is threatened with cancer.

—Mr. W. F. Thompson, of Brantford, acceptably filled the pulpit of South London Baptist Church on Sunday in the absence of Rev. W. M. Walker, B.A., who is enjoying a brief vacation.

—A number of young Royal Templars of South London council, paid Nilestown lodge a visit on Monday night. Refreshments were tendered them at the close of the meeting and a pleasant time was enjoyed by all.

—Yesterday was St. Thomas' civic holiday, and of course thousands went to Port Stanley. The Twenty-fifth Battalion Band accompanied them and played on the steamer Joe Milton during its periodical trips. Everything passed off nicely.

—Meetings of the Board of Education and No. 2 Committee of the board were called for last evening and yesterday afternoon respectively, but on account of some misunderstanding there was no quorum at either, and consequently no business was transacted.

—The trustees of the Protestant Orphans' Home return sincere thanks to the Orangemen of No. 1 District for $10 75, being their share of the annual collection taken up in the Congregational Church on July 10, and handed in by Mr. Baldwin, treasurer.

—Eight carloads of excursionists passed through the city yesterday to and from Port Huron. They hailed from St. Thomas, the excursion being run under the auspices of St. John's Episcopal Church. The trip was greatly enjoyed, the fare being $1 25, and a run through the tunnel being one of the attractions.

—At the meeting of Beaver Division, No. 164, Order Railway Telegraphers, held in the Conductors' hall, St. Thomas, on Monday night, 21 new members were initiated. There were in attendance a number of members from London and other places. After the business was transacted a banquet was served in the Reform Club rooms. The chair was occupied by Grand Chief Vaneteer, of London, and the vice-chair by Mr. Kennedy of Woodstock. The usual toasts were proposed and responded to.

The Band Concert.

The usual large crowd attended the concert given by the Seventh Band in Victoria Park last evening. The music and the weather were delightful and the only objectionable feature was the dust. A report, which is to be hoped is without foundation, was circulated to the effect that there would be only one more concert. The following programme was well rendered:

March—The Oaks.....Rollinson
Quadrille—The New Promenade.....Coote
Waltz—Fruhling's Lieder.....Gungl
Glee—The Red Cross Knight.....Colcott
Gavotte—Theodora.....Le Thiere
Selection—National Airs.....Godfrey
(By special request.)
Waltz—Mein Schuster Tag in Berlin..Gungl
Polka—Jolly Blacksmith.....Suckley
Xylophone solo.....Harry McKenna
(By request.)
God Save the Queen.

Sad and Untimely.

The death occurred in this city yesterday of Mr. A. R. Baker, manager of the Bell Telephone Company, St. Thomas. Deceased was a popular young native of London and was universally known and esteemed here. He started his business career with the Bell Telephone Company in this city about ten years ago and rose to the position of chief operator. Nearly three years ago he was appointed to the local management of the company at St. Thomas, where by his executive ability and personal popularity he established the agency on a flourishing basis. A week or more since he was stricken with typhoid fever and was removed to the residence of his sister-in-law, 128 Fullarton street. There he passed away at 4 o'clock yesterday afternoon. On June 16, two months before his death, he married Miss Helen Oliver, an estimable young London lady, and this fact renders his demise peculiarly sad and untimely. His bereaved widow and his parents, who reside at 454 Oxford street, will have the heartfelt sympathy of the community in their deep affliction. Mr. Baker was but 28 years of age and had an apparently bright and successful future before him. A host of friends in London and St. Thomas will hear of his taking off with painful regret. The funeral takes place on Thursday.

Another Londoner on the Top.

Geo. McGuire, writing from Cleveland, Ohio, says: "The writer, a former resident of London, who for many years has been a citizen of Ohio, residing in Cleveland since 1850, during which time I have met many 'London boys' who have made their mark in Uncle Sam's dominion. In fact I have never known a London man that settled among us that made a failure, except in two cases; and in those cases the cause of failure was whisky. I have known them as successful mechanics and farmers. I know several who have gained renown as soldiers, as physicians and as lawyers. Of the latter class is the Hon. Hugh McCurdy, elected this week at Denver, Col., as grand master of the Knights Templars of America. 'Hughey' was raised on Richmond street, opposite the new Catholic Church, and learned the cooper trade with John Cruikshank on the spot where the City Hall building now stands. After leaving London he settled in Michigan, where he studied law and became prominent as a legal light in that State. He served as judge for many years. His inaugural address is a model, and will be read with pleasure by many in London, especially those who lived there in the 40s and 50s—by Masons, because of its teachings, and by all who believe in progress."

Huron College in England.

The Eastbourne Chronicle of July 30 says: Rev. H. G. Miller, who was formerly curate at Old Town, preached two sermons in St. Mary's Church on Sunday with a view of spreading English interest in colonial educational enterprises, more particularly in regard to Huron College, Ontario, of which, at the present time time, he is the principal. A public meeting in support of the same object was held in the town hall on Tuesday afternoon, under the presidency of his worship the mayor (Ald. Morrison). Mr. Miller was the chief speaker, and he gave some striking statistics concerning the extent and progress of Canada, placing his figures before the audience in most interesting style. Speaking of Huron College, Mr. Miller said it was founded 29 years ago by the first bishop of the diocese. He had no pecuniary interest whatever in appealing for that institution. His own position was absolutely secured, but he might be in the position of being a principal without a college, for it must close at Christmas if generous support was not forthcoming, and then they would sink back into the same state as they were in before the diocese was formed. He earnestly appealed for assistance in order that such a calamity might be averted. His honor Judge Ermatinger and the mayor also addressed the meeting, the latter, on behalf of those present, wishing Mr. Miller every success in his enterprise.

Enjoyment at the Fort.

Charming Annie Pixley (Mrs. Fulford) kindly aided in making a success last night a concert given in the Port Stanley Town Hall by the Ladies' Aid of the Presbyterian Church, the proceeds of which went towards the building fund of a new manse. The edifice was packed, and the audience most appreciative. London talent contributed largely to the programme, though no doubt Mrs. Fulford was the drawing card. She was announced for two numbers, which were increased to four by her gracious responses to vociferous encores. She sang popular selections sweetly and with delightful expression. Bert Leys' clear, ringing voice and splendid enunciation won favor from the first. His catchy ditty, "Hi, Tiddly-hi-ti," was loudly applauded. Mr. R. Tatham, of London, and Mr. McKillop of St. Thomas, sang very acceptably. Miss Mary Leys, Miss Ollie Stanton and Miss Kate Sweeney, of London, and Miss Dunbar, of Toronto, also rendered vocal selections and received enthusiastic recalls. Mrs. Pegler and Miss Thrupp, of Port Stanley, favored the audience with an instrumental duet. "God Save the Queen" brought a most enjoyable evening to a close. The musical director was Mr. Fred L. Evans, of London, a fact which speaks itself for the artistic excellence of the entertainment. Mr. D. K. Mackenzie, of St. Thomas, was a model chairman. Rev. R. McIntyre, of Alma Church, St. Thomas, made a short and humorous address. Financially the concert was very satisfactory.

A pleasant incident was the decoration of the stage with the Union Jack and the Stars and Stripes. The American flag had been presented by public-spirited residents of the village to the campers from Youngstown, Ohio, whose colors had been torn down by some contemptible person or persons. The majority of the Youngstown visitors were present and thoroughly appreciated the compliment.

A BID FOR THE ROAD.

An American Capitalist After the L. and P. S. R.

Mr. E. St. John, of Port Clinton, Ohio, Wants It, and Will Make a Proposition to the City—He is Charmed with the Prospects—Some Improvements He Would Make.

Mr. E. St. John, of Port Clinton, Ohio, a well-known capitalist, is in the city and is here on business. Mr. St. John is identified as a monied man with many interests. He is president of the Retail Merchants' Protective Association, which has organized a branch in this city; his money is invested in the mammoth hotel Victory at Put-in-Bay, the celebrated summer resort; he has a controlling interest in the D. J. Brown Manufacturing Company, of Romney, Ont., and he has his finger in other monetary pies. Now the London and Port Stanley Railway has come under his notice, and this it is that brings Mr. St. John to London.

Accompanied by his manager, Mr. E. H. Brennan, and his solicitor, Mr. E. G. Love, he went over the road yesterday afternoon. Ald. Leonard, Ald. Gartshore and Ald. Hannah were on hand and supplied the visitors with all the information at their command. On the arrival of the regular at Port they were driven to the heights and shown the attractions of the place.

"Yes, we intend to make a proposition to the city to-day," said Mr. St. John, when questioned this morning by an ADVERTISER reporter. "I considered everything carefully, and am now prepared to make an offer. You have a beautiful resort at Port Stanley. I am much pleased with it."

"No, it might not be expedient to make public at present the conditions of my offer, but it will be a substantial one. Twenty-five thousand dollars could be judiciously expended upon the grounds and in the erection of a new hotel. One of the very first principles of the tender will be the extension of the tracks around to the beach and a first-class incline railway system to the heights in order to save the people that tiresome climb."

"Do you propose using steam or electric power?"

"Steam; because it is more desirable for long roads. I would put on new rolling stock. Electricity is all right for short lines. We have an electric railway at Put-in-Bay, from the beach to the hotel, and it does a tremendous business."

"Do you purpose running a steamboat connection?"

"Certainly. Large and commodious American steamers would be run between Port Stanley and Cleveland. I have just consummated a deal whereby the steamers City of Alpena and City of Mackinaw will run between Buffalo and Cleveland, connecting at Cleveland with the steamers City of Detroit and City of Cleveland for Put-in-Bay. There is no reason why Port Stanley should not become a leading summer resort and thrive on the patronage of the people on the other side as well as on this side of the lake. I have many interests in Canada and hope to include the London and Port Stanley Railway among them."

The Danish Government has issued a decree forbidding the importation of dogs from any foreign country except Sweden and Norway.

No one need fear cholera or any summer complaint if they have a bottle of Dr. J. D. Kellogg's Dysentery Cordial ready for use. It corrects all looseness of the bowels promptly and causes a healthy and natural action. This is a medicine adapted for the young and old, rich and poor, and is rapidly becoming the most popular medicine for cholera, dysentery, etc., in the market.

Liver Complaint, Kidney, Debility and Female Weakness All Cured.

LONDON, June 29, 1880.
For some time I was a sufferer of liver complaint, affections of the kidneys, debility and female weakness; also with pain in the side, between the shoulders and underneath the shoulder blades, and much weakness in the back and distress across my body, and much sinking down of the system. Through persuasion I tried Williams' Royal Crown Remedy, and have derived great benefit from its use; in fact I am feeling better at present than I have for a number of years. I can with pleasure recommend it, and I would induce any one who is afflicted to get it without delay

THE PEOPLE'S FORUM.

Not a Workingman's Tariff.

To the Editor of the ADVERTISER:

Our interests are not protected as they ought to be by the present tariff. By it we are simply taking in at the spigot and blindly letting out at the bung hole. With machinery and improved methods of production, together with the present long hours of labor, we are producing more than the market can absorb, and thus making the tariff worse than a farce. Shorter hours of labor and a wider market is what we want. Yours,

Small Boy and Big Fish.

POTTSTOWN, Pa., Aug. 17.—The danger of small boys fishing for big game was illustrated to-day by John Keim, a lad of 13 years. He stood on the Schuylkill River bridge and in attempting to land a five-pound bass he was pulled over the railing and into the water, 35 feet below. Friends pulled him out and found his leg broken, but he got the fish.

Chinamen Must Be Photographed.

WASHINGTON, Aug. 17.—The Treasury Department, acting under the Geary Chinese Exclusion Act, has made a ruling by which all Chinese now in the country are required to furnish the Government with three photographs of themselves. One is to be attached to the application for a certificate, the second to the certificate itself and the third to a duplicate of such a certificate.

A Beautiful Girl Ruined by Drink.

CINCINNATI, Aug. 17.—Once a welcome guest in the homes of Senators Carlisle and Blackburn and other prominent Kentucky families, to-day in the police court. That is a brief story of Bettie Johnson's life. Years ago she was a petted daughter of a prominent Kentucky family, but the custom of serving wine in the house bred in her a taste for liquor, and in time she became a drunkard. She had received a magnificent education and had unusual musical talents. As she became more confirmed in the drink habit she was cast off, and at last became the pianist in one of the Over the Rhine beer halls, where she was arrested last night. She is only 30, but all her girlish beauty is gone and she is completely depraved.

An anti-cancer league has been organized in Paris, its purpose being to seek means of relieving humanity from one of its most dreadful scourges.

Among the pains and aches cured with marvelous rapidity with Dr. Thomas Eclectric Oil, is ear ache. The young are especially subject to it, and the desirability of this Oil as a family remedy is enhanced by the fact that it is admirably adapted not only to the above ailment, but also to the hurts, disorders of the bowels, and affections of the throat, in which the young are specially subject.

What more can be asked than a prompt and permanent cure; and this is the intrinsic virtue of St. Jacobs Oil in the cure of all aches and pains, and especially for bruises, sprains, cuts and wounds. It is the best. Always prompt and sure.
