MURDER AND SUICIDE IN OFFICE AT HAMILTON

FRENCH REPULSE SEVERAL FIERCE ATTACKS BY GERMANS

HAMILTON DENTIST MURDERED IN OFFICE

Hedgewood Holmes, Supposed To Be of Gravenhurst, Greets Dr. Williams in Friendly Way and Later Shoots Him Dead.

[Canadian Press.]

Hamilton, July 2. — Hedgewood Holmes, who is believed to be a resident of Gravenhurst, today shot and killed Dr. Harry Williams and immediately turned the weapon on himself with fatal results.

The motive for the tragedy is still a mystery. Williams had only been here a short time looking after the practice of Dr. Victor Ross, dentist, who is in the north country. Holmes called at the office early this morning, but the doctor was out. He told the young lady in charge that three of his brothers had gone to war, and that he would have been there himself if he had not been afflicted with consumption.

When he returned the doctor was still out. He sat down to wait and chatted pleasantly for a few minutes with the girl in the office, showing no emotion. The young lady left, and a few minutes later the loctor entered.

"Hello, Abbie," said Williams.

"Hello, Doc," came the response.

The pair entered the surgery and closed the door. Fifteen minutes after five shots rang out, and the occupants of the house, entering the room, found both men unconscious on the floor.

NO JUSTIFICATION FOR SINKING, SAYS PRESS OF BRITAIN

Armenian's Captain Right To Run, Fearing Ship Would Be Sunk.

U. S. ACTION EXPECTED

Washington, However, Seems To Think German Submarine's Act Legal.

[Canadian Press.]

London, July 2.—Except in dispatches from the United States in which the steamship Armenian is described as a transport, there is nothing in the British press to indicate the status of the vessel. Stress is laid upon the fact that she is the largest steamer, with the exception of the Lusitania, thus far attacked by a German submarine. The contention of the few morning papers which discuss the question editorially is that, whatever the nature of her cargo, the Germans were not justified in sinking her.

Why Captain Ran.

The Chronicle argues editorially that the commander of the Armenian disregarded the signal to stop because he knew he would not be treated in accordance with international law, but that his ship would be illegally sunk and the crew cast adrift in open boats fifty miles from land. The paper contends that he was justified, therefore, in running away and that the responsibility for the deaths which resulted from this course cannot be laid at his door.

"The dead Americans," says the Chronicle, "are just as much victims of Germany's illegal submarine warfare as if they had been drowned after the ship was torpedoed, and one would need to be very anxious to shirk the issues their deaths raise if one accepted any other conclusion."

Must Complicate Matters.

The Daily News considers the sinking of the Armenian must complicate the task both of President Wilson and Dr. Von Bethmann-Hollweg, the German chancellor, assuming that the latter really desires to preserve peace with America. Discussing the question in an editorial, the News says: "Germany has not yet replied to the American note, but in practice the sinking of the Armenian is a very peremptory reply. The incident brings into thorough relief the justice of President Wilson's contention that submarine warfare, as the Germans practice it, is inconsistent with the observance of the rights of neutrals."

The Express also takes the view that the incident constitutes a cynical reply by Germany to America, but infers that nothing will result from it.

No Justification.

The Standard assumes that the Armenian's cargo must have been examined by United States customs officials, but says whether this was so or not there was no warrant for the proceedings of the German commander. The editorial continues: "He ought to have stopped and searched her, but if he took the extreme course of destroying her at sea he was bound to provide for the

SERGT.-MAJOR PIPER WAS A LONDONER

COMPANY-SERGT. - MAJOR F. A. PIPER, killed in action, who fell on the same day as Lieut.-Col. H. C. Becher, was not a Strathroy boy as previously reported, but was a native Londoner. He was born in this city, and lived here until enlisting with the 7th Fusiliers. His mother and father live in Strathroy. He was among those insured by the city of London.

SAYS FOOD PROVIDED BY GERMANS UNEATABLE

Officer Asserts British Live On What Is Sent From Home.

[Special Cable to The Advertiser.]

London, July 2.—Several letters have been received from prisoners by the war department of the Canadian Red Cross testifying appreciation of the efforts made by all to alleviate the hardships of Canadian soldiers in the enemy's hands. Writing from Aschen, one man believes he is the only Canadian there and the only speaker of English, except a doctor. He says he has been well looked after in both hospitals. From Munster there comes a letter which says: "A great number of men have left for other encampments. All parcels are distributed at Munster, so you need not make any difference in sending them."

One officer, who has been a prisoner six months, called on the Canadian Red Cross. His account of the suffering of some prisoners was terrible, much worse than one imagined. He says: "They simply live on food sent from England, as it is not possible to exist on the food given them by their captors."

This officer's testimony naturally renders the Red Cross anxious to redouble its efforts.

Lieut. Pemberton, 5th Battery Canadian artillery, has been appointed second lieutenant of the Royal Regiment of Artillery.

RIVER POLLUTION

Health Board Chairman Draws Controllers' Attention to Conditions.

Pollution of the river was brought to the attention of the board of control today by C. R. Somerville, chairman of the board of health. Mr. Somerville reported that the board had made an inspection of the river and found many pipes emptying into it.

He advocated the construction of a deep level intercepting sewer along the entire bank in order that all sewage could be picked up and carried to the city filtration beds. The whole question will be gone into later.

Mr. Somerville's objection to the city emptying sewage into the river at Blackfriars street and other places was answered by the statement that this was necessary owing to the repairs being made in the syphon chamber on Evergreen avenue. Once this latter is repaired the sewage will be handled in the usual way.

NO PEACE NEGOTIATIONS

[Canadian Press.]

Galveston, Texas, July 2.—Official denial that negotiations looking toward peace are being carried on between Gens. Obregon and Villa was issued in Vera Cruz today by Gen. Carranza, according to a cablegram reaching the Carranza consulate here. The message adds that no such negotiations will be undertaken.

The defeat of Zapata forces east of Mexico City by Gen. Gonzales and the capture of several cannon and other war material also is reported.

EX-MINISTERS ASK PROMISE OF IMMUNITY

Manitoba Men Want Assurance Before Giving Their Evidence.

SIR RODMOND IS WAITING

Will Give Complete Statement If He Feels So Disposed.

[Canadian Press.]

Winnipeg, July 2.—Hon. A. B. Hudson, attorney, was the first witness called this morning when the royal commission resumed investigation of the alleged political deal. His evidence, begun Wednesday, was continued under cross-examination by Mr. Pitblado, Government counsel.

Mr. Fullerton read a telegram from W. N. Tilley, at Ottawa, that he was quite willing to come here and give evidence, but could not fix any date.

Mr. Hudson said he had charge of the election petitions, and with the exception of one protest, no person had any authority to withdraw them without his consent, and he in turn must have consulted the committee. He never consented to the withdrawal of any petition with the exception of that of Sir Rodmond Roblin. In this they had no evidence, since the witness had gone to the war.

Witnesses Disappear.

Discussing the situation with Hon. Mr. Johnston and two others on May 7, "They thought," said Hudson, "that if the commission went on and we, as prosecutors were to present the whole of the evidence we had, or hoped to have, we felt that Kelly, when the time came for an action to be instituted by the province to recover the money, would have a great advantage in knowing our case, and in addition the witnesses seemed to have a faculty of disappearing."

Horwood was in Minnesota. "He," said Hudson, "probably knew more of this affair than anyone else, except Kelly."

They had spent a lot of money to locate Salt, and found him once, but he got away.

Roblin Wants Immunity.

A. J. Andrews appeared before the commission on behalf of his clients, the members of the late Government, who have been subpoenaed to give evidence. He asked the commission to give an assurance that no statements they

"MISSING" GIRL FINALLY FOUND

Telephones Her Mother From Guelph That She Is Working There.

ASKS FOR HER CLOTHES

Requests Mrs. Poyner To Bring Them To Her in Royal City.

After having been missing for more than a week, during which time the whole country was being searched by her parents and police, Wilma Poyner, 402 Dundas street, has been finally located. Her mother declared to The Advertiser today that she had received a telephone message from hr daughter at Guelph. This message, said Mrs. Poyner, declared that the girl was well, that she had gone immediately to Guelph after leaving home here a week ago Sunday, and that she had secured a position there and was working. She asked her mother to bring her clothes to Guelph, as she intended to stay there.

"I don't know what I will do," declared Mrs. Poyner. "I am too much upset over the whole affair to decide on anything."

Reported in Many Places.

During the time the hue and cry has been raised for the "missing" girl, she has been reported in many cities and towns in Western Ontario. Last night The Advertiser's St. Marys correspondent sent in a story to the effect that a strange girl, answering the description of Wilma Payner, had been seen near St. Marys with a roving band of gypsies. The presence of the girl roused the suspicions of those who saw the band in view of the stories of the London's girl's disappearance that had appeared in The Advertiser.

Father at Brantford.

The girl's father returned from Brantford last night, where he had gone to investigate a story that the girl had been seen there. He declared that he had found no trace of her.

46,000 Volunteer Munition Workers Enlisted In Week

[Canadian Press.]

London, July 2.—Introducing the munitions bill in the House of Lords today, Lord Curzon, lord privy seal, announced that the first week of the campaign made to speed up the manufacture of arms and ammunition resulted in the enrollment of 46,000 volunteer munition workers.

He was confident, Lord Curzon added, that before the end of the year the advantages in both men and material would be decisively on the side of Great Britain and her Allies.

IMPORTANT POST TAKEN BY ITALIANS

Dominates Plezzo and Is Now Solidly Occupied By Invaders.

PROGRESS IS VERY SLOW

Rains Increase Difficulties, Making Trenches Torrents of Mud.

[Canadian Press.]

Rome, July 1—Via Paris, July 2.—The following official statement was issued tonight at the headquarters of the Italian general staff:

"A detachment of the enemy, preparing defences on the position of Monticello and Saccarant, was dispersed by our artillery fire.

"In the valley of Padola barbed-wire protected entrenchments were located at Heikofel and afterwards were demolished by artillery.

Attacks Repulsed.

"Vigorous night attacks against our positions in the defiles of Monte Croco and Val Piccolo with the aid of rockets, searchlights and asphyxiating gas bombs were repulsed at both points. Our artillery dispersed groups of workers on the northern slopes of Freikofel and Valgrande as well as on the Raoute in the Baumbasch Valley. The fire on Fort Hensel was resumed with good results.

"At the head of the valley of Sesia an important position dominating Plezzo was solidly occupied by us.

Torrents of Mud.

"'On the Isonzo the forward march of our troops, also not interrupted, is very slow by reason of the necessity for snatching the ground inch by inch from our adversaries and reinforcing each stage against a return to the offensive on the part of the enemy. Persistent rains are increasing the difficulties of progress and transforming the trenches into torrents of mud. Last night the enemy tried repeatedly, but vainly to capture some points recently conquered by us.

"Enemy aviators continue their misdeeds and some of their victims are among the civil population. Our aviators effectively bombarded a column of troops and wagons near Appachiasella and the San Daniel Railroad station.

SNOWS ARE BAD.

[Canadian Press.]

Udine, Italy, via Paris, July 2.—The Italian advance in Tyrol is seriously hindered by the continued bad weather, which is exceptional in midsummer. The mountaineers do not remember a season when there has been so much snow on the heights on July 1. The mountain streams, which usually are dry at the end of June, are now deep and almost impassable.

The Italian troops are encountering snowstorms and thick fogs, which have interfered with long-range firing. Hailstorms were beating today in the men's faces in parts of Tyrol, where the advance upwards is still in progress.

More elaborate Austrian defences are confronting the invading forces. The Austrian trenches are protected by wide ditches and wire entanglements; at other points pits have been dug and covered with branches of trees and earth, with spikes at the bottom. Into these infantry in the course of a charge are in danger of falling. The Italians, therefore are obliged to advance slowly and with extreme caution.

One of the most effective sections of the Italian light troops is comprised of customs guards, whose duty heretofore has been concerned with mountain smugglers. These guards are now being utilized as scouts, and many of their exploits are being related along the front, some of them even being mentioned in the orders of the day. On one occasion four of these guards crawled close to the Austrian outposts and came into possession of information of great value to the Italian commanders. All of them refused rewards for this service.

HYDRO MEN COMING.—A meeting of the hydro engineers and managers will be held in London on July 22 during the official opening of the London and Port Stanley Railway. The question of rates will be the important question that will be up for consideration.

ARE TIPS GIVEN SUBMARINES OF SHIP SAILINGS?

Britain Thinks Some Information Given Germans From American Ports.

ANXIOUS OVER ADRIATIC

Threats To Sink Liner Recall Similar Acts Before Lusitania Went.

[Special Cable to The Advertiser.]

London, July 2—(By Staff Correspondent of United Press).—Coincident with the renewal on a large scale of submarine operations around the British Isles, definite reports were given to the admiralty this afternoon that departure of British vessels from North American ports was being "tipped off" to German "U" boat commanders.

The sinking of three big steamers, the Inglemore, Caucasian and Welsbury and damage to sailing vessels was confirmed in admiralty advices. But the greatest interest was manifested in the story of the Welsbury crew on their departure with a cargo of sugar for England being made known to German submarine commanders, who lay in walt and attacked her as she was approaching British coasts.

Rumors of Adriatic.

Less than an hour after news reached the admiralty, cable dispatches from New York reported rumors of similar threats against the White Star liner Adriatic, bound for Liverpool, with a passenger list that includes many persons of prominence both here and in Canada, including Premier Borden. it was recalled in official circles that similar rumors preceded the departure of the ill-fated Lusitania from New York, and for that reason some concern was expressed in shipping circles for the safety of the White Star liner.

Tips Seem Probable.

The admiralty would not comment on the report from America regarding the Adriatic. But it was deemed certain here that extraordinary precautions be taken to protect the liner and her great human cargo from the moment she entered the war zone until she docked at Liverpool. For several weeks rumors have reached officials here that submarine operations along the southwest coast of Ireland were being directed by information received in America. The admiralty generally discredited these reports, but has made careful investigation.

Von Tirpitz's Plans.

The story told by the Welsbury's crew was the first definite statement, in spite of these charges. They reported that they found a warning of submarine disaster painted inside the forehold of the vessel shortly before they left Cuba. It is inconceivable in the opinion of officials here that the sinking of the Welsbury, after the posting of the warning, was merely coincidence. They unite in the view that by some route, as yet unknown, the fact that the Welsbury was leaving for England with a sugar cargo was communicated to the German admiralty and from Berlin sent to submarines operating in the war zone. Officials here said today they have reason to believe that the system of tipping the departure of vessels from the United States and other American ports has been highly perfected in the last few weeks. They believe that Grand Admiral Von Tirpitz, by employing a flotilla of his latest submarine monsters and using information gained in the tipping from across the water, plans to strike terror to the heart of British ship owners.

AUSTRIANS ARREST CZECHS' LEADERS

Espionage Charge—Archduke Said To Have Denounced Whole Race.

[Canadian Press.]

London, July 2.—The Czech parliamentary leader, Dr. Kramarz, and Dr. Schreiner, head of the Bohemian gymnastic organization, were arrested at Prague on May 22, charged with espionage and maintaining friendly relations with the Italian consul, according to the Times. The only compromising documents found in their possession are said to have been copies of a Czech review published in Paris.

The Times asserts the two men are imprisoned in Vienna, although false reports of their liberation have been spread officially in the hope of influencing the Czech population in favor of the war loan.

The refusal of the Czech party to disavow its arrested leaders is reported to have resulted in Archduke Frederick, commander-in-chief of the Austrian army, addressing to Emperor Francis Joseph a report denouncing all Czechs as traitors.

The Times' article contains the statement that several Czech regiments have deserted to the Russians and Servians.

BELGIANS FORBIDDEN TO DISPLAY COLORS

[Canadian Press.]

Brussels, via London, July 2.—Gen. Von Bissing, the German governor-general of Belgium, has issued an order forbidding, under penalty of fine or imprisonment, the wearing or exhibiting of Belgian insignia in a provocative manner, and forbidding absolutely the wearing of the insignia of nations warring against Germany and her allies.

Greeks Reported In Advance On Albania

Two Bands Said To Be On Way To Berat—First Intimation of Any Intention To Claim Section of Country.

[Canadian Press.]

Rome, July 1, via Paris, July 2.—A dispatch to the Tribune from Antivari, Montenegro, says two large Greek bands are advancing toward Berat, Albania, after occupying the villages along the way.

There have been no previous reports of an intention on the part of the Greek Government to lay claim to a section of Albania. This principality, which was established after the Balkan wars, borders on the southeast on that part of Greece which was awarded her after the defeat of Turkey. Albania already has been invaded by Servian and Montenegrin troops, while Italian forces have been stationed there for some time.

ALL ATTACKS BY ENEMY REPULSED

MORE POISONOUS GASES

Huns Use Them in Bombs in Argonne, But Without Success.

[Canadian Press.]

Paris, July 2.—The French war department today gave out the following official statement:

"The artillery fighting was spirited all last night at a great many points along the front, notably in the vicinity of Woesten, northwest of Ypres, in the region of Souchez and in the neighborhood of Verneuil, to the north of the Aisne.

"After a violent and continued bombardment upon our positions along the road from Ablain to Angres, to the north of the Bethune highway, German Grenadiers delivered an attack at about 2 o'clock in the morning. The result was a complete failure.

"Near La Boiselle, one of our mines was successful in destroying the advance works of the Germans.

"In the Argonne there was very violent fighting all last night. One of the German attacks was supported by the use of asphyxiating bombs as well as large hand bombs. It was driven back.

"In the forest of Le Pretre there was also a forward movement on the part of the enemy, which followed a violent artillery attack to prepare the way. This attack also was driven back by the fire of our infantry."

VISITED FAVORITE SPOTS OF VICTIM

Late Archduke's Relatives Pay Tribute To Murdered Man.

[Canadian Press.]

Washington, July 2.—Ceremonies in Austria Hungary, marking the first anniversary of the assassination of Archduke Ferdinand, the Austrian crown prince, were described in foreign office dispatches from Vienna forwarded to Washington today by the Austro-Hungarian summer embassy at Lenox, Mass.

"Archduke Charles Frances, successor to the present Emperor and his consort, the Archduchess Zita," the dispatches stated, "paid a reverential visit to the places intimately connected with the last days of the martyred Archduke Ferdinand.

"'The future rulers of Austria-Hungary went privately to Innsbruck, visiting without ceremony the scenes beloved by the late heir to the Austrian throne. Throughout the empire the anniversary of Archduke Ferdinand's death has been reverently celebrated."

Memorial articles, it was announced, were published in Vienna reviewing the war's progress. They declare the death of the archduke has been avenged by the "justified resistance of the House of Hapsburg with the army and navy, whose strengthening the late archduke regarded as his life work."

BUILDING COMMITTEE MEETS.—The building committee of the board of education meets this afternoon. Nothing but regular routine business is scheduled to come up.

SUBMARINE SINKS 3 GOOD STEAMERS

Inglemoor, Caucasian and Welburg Sent Down, But Crews Saved.

TRAITOR ON LAST NAMED

Forecast of Vessel's End Is Found Painted in Ship's Hold.

[Canadian Press.]

London, July 2.—Three British steamers, the Inglemoor, the Caucasian and the Welbury, were torpedoed and sunk today by a German submarine. The crews of the Inglemoor and the Caucasian were landed at Falmouth. The crew of the Welbury is safe.

Traitor Aboard.

The commander of the submarine was markedly delighted on learning that the steamer Welbury carried a cargo of sugar. After the ship left Cuba it was discovered that someone had painted inside the vessel's forehold the words: "You have a cargo of sugar for England, but you will never get there."

Big Vessel.

The Caucasian, the largest of the three vessels sent to the bottom by the German submarine today, was a tank steamer of 4,656 tons gross. On her last eastern voyage across the Atlantic, she left Port Arthur May 21 for Dartmouth. She was 365 feet long, 49 feet beam and 28 feet deep. She was built at Sunderland in 1899, and was owned by the Petroleum Steamship Company of London.

The Inglemoor, according to the latest maritime records, left Bahia Blance, Argentina, March 31 bound for Naples. She was of 4,331 gross tons, and was built at Blyth in 1912. She was 362 feet long, 51 feet beam and 27 feet deep She was owned by W. Runciman & Co. of London.

The steamer Welbury left Kingston, Jamaica, May 22 by way of Matanzas, Cuba, June 8, for a port in the United Kingdom. The Welbury was of 3,591 tons gross, and was built at West Hartlepool in 1907. She was 340 feet long, 48 feet beam and 24 feet deep. She was owned by the Burg Shipping Company, Limited, of Hartlepool.

SCHOONER SUNK.

[Canadian Press.]

London, July 2.—The British schooner I. C. Tower, which left Parrsboro, N. S., June 1, for Newport, England, was sunk off Fastnet today by a German submarine. The undersea boat then sank a bark six miles away. The crew of nine of the schooner was landed at Queenstown.

Halifax, N. S., July 2.—On Tuesday, June 1, the four-masted schooner, 518 tons, I. C. Tower, Capt. Tower, sailed from Port Greville, N. S., on her maiden voyage. The schooner was laden with 640,000 superficial feet deals, shipped by J. Newton Pugsley, the owner of the vessel.

The news that Capt. Tower and his crew of eight, who are Nova Scotians, had been saved and landed at Queenstown, was telegraphed to Parrsboro this morning.

TO PROTEST USE OF STARS AND STRIPES

[Canadian Press.]

Washington, July 2.—Secretary Lansing disclosed today that the investigation being conducted by the United States Government into cases of alleged misuse of the American flag by British merchantmen to deceive German submarine commanders had not yet been completed, but that evidence in specific cases probably would be called separately to the attention of Great Britain while the general subject would be included in the new note.

BRITISH TRADE UNIONISTS REFUSE TO VOTE SYMPATHY WITH FELLOWS IN GERMANY

"Sentimental Bosh," Says Ben Tillett — Prize-Fighters Do Not Stop To Kiss—The British Workmen Want Enemies Practically Wiped Out.

[Canadian Press.]

London, July 2.—The trade unionists of Great Britain today dismissed with contumely the suggestion that a vote of sympathy be given to their German fellow unionists in trade at the annual conference of the federation now in session at Derby.

"Drop such sentimental bosh," was the prompt demand made by Ben Tillett, the fighting head of a number of leading unions. "This is a scrap," he added, "and must be fought out in that spirit. Whoever heard of two prize fighters stopping in the middle of a fight to kiss each other."

One of the other delegates declared: "British workmen, whose sons are at the front are so bitter on accont of German outrages that they would hardly be content with anything less than the wiping out of the German people."

Some trade union delegates who were in Germany in June, 1914, said they had found the German workers in full sympathy with their government; that they had openly boasted that "when the great war came, Germany was going to crush France and then Britain.'"

Loud cries of "Next business" buried the proposal.

RUSSIA HAS GREAT FAITH IN ENGLAND

Londoner, Back From Czar's Empire, Says Hope in the Outcome Is Implicit.

BEAR WILL STRIKE HARD

May Be Slow, But Is Sure, Declares Albert MacGarvey.

Albert MacGarvey, a former well-known resident of London and Petrolea, who for several years has been a prominent oil magnate in Russia, arrived in the city a day or so ago from Grosny, at the foot of the Caucasian Mountains, to pay his first visit in Canada since the outbreak of the war.

"What of the war?" he was asked.

Mr. MacGarvey replied to this question: "We know less about actual conditions over there than you do here, owing to the stricter censorship of war news, though back in our little corner of the vast empire, we are so far removed from the scene of warfare that it only touches us owing to the fact that some 1,500 men from the refineries have been called to the colors. You know, service is compulsory over there.

Faith in Allies.

"On all sides, there seems to be greatest faith in the outcome of the war. It is a foregone conclusion that success will lie with the Allies, though it may be slow in coming. Implicit faith is felt in the friendship of England, and the belief is a creed that England will fight as long as Russia is in the war. What of Russian reverses? Like the bear, the Russian is no acrobat, but if he is slow in striking, he strikes hard in the end.

Normal Evolution.

"My impressions of Russia? I might have given them when I went there a few years ago. Now, Russia has become such a familiar story that its features have ceased to impress. I may say, there has been a natural development in the country, a normal evolution rather than a startling awakening. While some industries have suffered from the war, others have been greatly benefited. Trade has suffered especially owing to the lack of railroads, and the fact that the Government is using the railroads in existence for transportation purposes.

Prohibition Helps.

"It is quite true that the suppression of the use of vodka has resulted in a marked improvement in the condition of the people. I also believe the law is carried out with absolute fidelity. People are putting money in the banks as never before. But, owing to the heavy war taxes, it will be some years after the war closes before the people will be in a position to buy extensively from other nations."

RECOMMEND DR. HILL AS CITY'S M. O. H.

Controllers Vote To Give Him Salary of $1,000 Year For Services.

Members of the board of control today unanimously recommended that Dr. H. W. Hill, director of the Institute of Public Health, be appointed medical officer of health of London, and that $1,000 a year be paid to the institute of public health as the city's share of his salary. The recommendation was made at the request of C. R. Somerville, chairman of the board of health and the Institute of Public Health, and follows the recommendation made by the board of health some time ago. Action has been deferred, pending the licensing of Dr. Hill to practice in the Dominion.

In presenting his case to the controllers, Chairman Somerville declared that it would not be necessary to pay a large salary for an assistant. Ambitious young men would, he said, be willing to occupy the position for the experience they would derive that would fit them for important posts in other cities.

He further stated that the city and institute could work most advantageously together. The city health work, he said, was as necessary to the institute as would be a hospital to a medical school.

No Contraband On Steamer Adriatic

White Star Line Officials Ridicule Rumor That She Was Marked.

[Special to The Advertiser.]

New York, July 2.—Representatives of the White Star Line today ridiculed the report that the steamer Adriatic, which sailed from New York on Wednesday, had been marked for destruction by German submarines.

They denied the Adriatic carried war contraband and asserted there was no reason why the Germans should make special efforts to sink the vessel.

The report is believed to have had its source in the fact that Premier Borden of Canada, and several other prominent Canadians were aboard. Included among the Adriatic's 420 passengers are five Americans.

The rumor said the liner carried large quantities of ammunition.

THIRTY KILLED ON LINER ARMENIAN

Boat Riddled By Shrapnel As Captain Sought Safety in Flight.

ELEVEN AMERICANS DEAD

Twenty-Eight Men Rescued From Water—Four Die in Boat.

[Canadian Press.]

LONDON, July 1. — Admiralty dispatches this afternoon reported thirty lives lost in the sinking of the liner Armenian, eleven of whom were Americans. Survivors were landed at Cardiff, Bristol and Liverpool. The American embassy today arranged to send the American survivors to their homes.

Captain Trickey, of the Armenian, in an interview today said that he only surrendered to the German submarine when the freighter was afire in three places and after the ship's engines had been put out of action and a dozen members of the crew had been killed by shrapnel fire. Most of the members of the crew who perished, Captain Trickey said, were Americans.

"The submarine as a signal for us to stop," said Captain Trickey, "first put a couple of shots over our bows when we were four miles off. I put my stern to him and ran for it.

"The submarine then began to shell us in earnest, the shrapnel bursting all around us, killed several of the crew and knocking others overboard. I soon realized that the enemy was gaining on us, but I did not propose to surrender without a struggle. But my steering gear was soon hit and placed out of commission. Then a shell fell into the engine room and another carried the Marconi house away. Still another cut down the funnel and disabled the stokers, preventing them from keeping steam up.

Over Dozen Dead On Deck.

"By this time the ship was on fire in three places and I decided to surrender. We had resisted the enemy for an hour, and twelve or thirteen men lay dead on the deck.

"The submarine commander then forced me to clear ship and at seven minutes past eight the Armenian went down, shattered by two torpedoes.

"I must say that the submarine commander showed us every fairness after we had given up, picking up many of the crew who, because of a damaged boat, had fallen into the water.

"Most of the crew who perished were Americans."

Joseph Carter, a colored muleteer, of Norfolk, Va., one of those rescued after the lifeboat was swamped, said that his friends King, Oakes, Speed, Small and Foreman Sedden, all were drowned. Carter added:

Fired 100 Shells.

"The submarine chased the ship for two hours and fired about 100 shells; 25 of them striking the ship. I was in the boat with 38 others when it fell into the water. I was swimming nearly an hour before I was picked up.

"Twenty-eight men were rescued from the water. Four members of the crew died in the boat. A part of the head of one of them had been blown away. Another had lost both legs. One man had been blown to pieces by a shell.

"I owe my life to Muleteer Johnson, who knocked me down just in time to avoid being hit by a shell. Captain Trickey was the last man to leave the steamship."

Latest Type of Sub.

One of the Armenian's officers in an interview tonight said that the submarine which sunk the freighter was of the latest type, large and speedy.

"As we tried to escape," said the officer, "she greeted us with a perfect storm of shrapnel; the first shell to find its mark burst on the starboard deck, killing ten men outright. The wireless operator stuck to his post to the last, sending 'S.O.S.' signals until his apparatus was broken.

"We finally saw that escape was hopeless and hove-to, lifting the wounded into boats. Four of these died and were buried at sea before we were rescued."

WASHINGTON NOT EXCITED.

WASHINGTON, July 1.—Official information on which to base an accurate judgment of the circumstances under which the British steamer Armenian was destroyed with the loss of a number of American lives, was lacking tonight, and until all details are available, Secretary Lansing stated that the position of the American Government could not be determined.

There was little tension over the incident in official quarters here after it became known that the Armenian had sought to evade capture. It was admitted that if official reports bore out the press dispatches there was no likelihood that any new cause of complaint would be added to the issues pending between the United States and Germany.

GODERICH HAS FEATURES IN INDUSTRY AND SPORT

Great Celebration—Home Team Beats Kincardine in Baseball.

GODERICH, July 1. — Dominion Day was celebrated in Goderich by one of the biggest days of sports that the town has had for years. The morning was taken up with children's sports and trade procession. The Good Roads Machinery Company had an immense display, having some ten teams hauling different machines. The Paget Grain Door Company showed the first auto truck that was turned out in Goderich, that firm having taken up that line. The afternoon sports were held at the fair grounds.

Goderich defeated Kincardine at a fast game of baseball by five to two.

The lacrosse match between the public schools was won by Victoria School.

A football match between the town league teams was won by the Big Mill team.

The 33rd Regiment Band supplied music and gave a concert on the square in the evening.

THROBBING, NEURALGIC HEADACHE CURED HEAD-SPLITTING DISTRESS VANISHES INSTANTLY

This Wonderful Curative Liniment Never Fails.

RUB ON NERVILINE

Neuralgia quickly cured is twice, nay, ten times cured. Little neuralgia pains grow into big ones, but "Nerviline" in ten minutes relieves even the worst ones. Even a single application will remove the nerve congestion that causes the pain.

Nerviline penetrates deeply into the sore tissue, reaches the source of inflammation, drives it out root and branch. Every drop of Nerviline is potent in pain-subduing power, and its strongest charm lies in the fact that it rubs right in, even to the very last drop. Nerviline is not greasy, and its pain-removing power is at least five times greater in strength than ordinary remedies.

We guarantee Nerviline will cure neuralgia—not only relieve it, but actually and permanently cure it. Just in the same way will it cure lumbago, sciatica, stiffness and rheumatism.

To conquer all muscular and nerve pain, use Nerviline. A large bottle in the home keeps the doctor's bill small. Get the large, 50-cent, family-size bottle; it is more economical than the 25-cent, trial size. Sold by all druggists everywhere, or the Catarrhozone Company, Kingston, Canada.

ST. THOMAS MAN AMONG WOUNDED.

[Special to The Advertiser.]

ST. THOMAS, July 1.—Pte. Frank P. Barlow, who enlisted at this point, is officially reported wounded. He was a farm laborer, working about three miles from this city, and was a young Englishman. He has two sisters living at Waterloo, Ont.

GALT MAN INJURED; ONE OF "NOBLE 14."

BERLIN, July 1.—Word has been received here today that Pte. Hubert White, one of the noble fourteen who left in August last for the battle line, had been wounded in action. No details are available. His father lives in Perth County.

PTE. SAM WYLIE AGAIN MENTIONED.

[Special to The Advertiser.]

GALT, July 1. — Today's casualty lists included the name of another Galt soldier, Pte. Sam Wylie, who is reported wounded. While Pte. Wylie is not a Canadian, having been born in Scotland, he had lived here several years and was well known. He was identified with the Burns' Club Pipe Band. He has two other brothers serving in his majesty's forces, one, Thomas, along with him in the first contingent. On June 1 both Thomas and Sam Wylie were reported wounded, the former writing to a relative here conveying the news.

DRAGOON OF STEPHEN AMONG THE WOUNDED.

[Special to The Advertiser.]

EXETER, July 1.—Word has been received that Pte. Herbert W. White of the Royal Canadian Dragoons has been wounded, but his wounds are not considered serious. He is a son of Mr. William White of Stephen.

TWO MORE MISSING OF STRATFORD ROLL.

[Special to The Advertiser.]

STRATFORD, July 1.—Two more Stratford men are reported missing in today's casualty list.

They are: Ptes. Albert Montier and G. W. Maddox. The latter's home was in Drumbo, but both were natives of England. They enlisted here.

MINISTER'S WIFE LOSES HER BROTHER.

[Special to The Advertiser.]

CAMLACHIE, July 1.—Rev. and Mrs. J. W. Johnson went to Arkona Monday for a few days prior to going to their new charge at Ethel. Their friends here sympathize deeply with Mrs. Johnson in the loss of her brother, Roy Fair, who was killed in action in France June 15. The sad news reached Mr. and Mrs. Johnson a few hours before they left the village.

THREE ST. MARYS BOYS WERE WELL KNOWN

[Special to The Advertiser.]

ST. MARYS, July 1.—Apparently St. Marys' casualty lists from the battlefront are increasing. One is reported wounded, Pte. Elmore R. Lang, 1st Battalion, formerly of the 9th, and a new name among the missing is Pte. W. J. Hannaberry, 1st Battalion. The latter is well known here. He is an orphan boy and his foster mother, Mrs. Pat. Hannaberry, lives in the West Ward and formerly lived in the Township of Blanshard, where young Hannaberry was raised.

Pte. Frank Finnie, also missing, is a son of James L. Finnie, of the North Ward. He is a native of St. Marys, and well known throughout the town. His parents received a letter from him on June 15th.

AVIATOR PLUNGES CLEAR AT LAST MOMENT

A. Goshek's Machine Wrecked in Accident at Petrolea.

[Special to The Advertiser.]

PETROLEA, July 1.—Aviator A. Goshek crashed to earth with his machine here today. The magnificent aeroplane is now a mass of twisted wires, poles, canvas wings, machinery and propeller blades. The airman, by a daring leap from his falling machine, when about twenty feet from the ground, managed to escape with some bruises and a bad shaking up.

Upwards of 3,000 spectators were thrilled as they had not anticipated in coming from towns and cities far and near to witness the aeroplane exhibition.

Goshek made a beautiful start and as he soared into the air at about 50 miles an hour, a great hurrah went up.

Almost in the next instant a hoarse shout broke from the throng, as the flying machine was caught in a wind pocket or met a contrary gust of wind, flopped almost over and plunged earthward from a height of about 200 feet.

The intrepid birdman plunged from his seat to the high side, and momentarily swung the giant wings toward the level. With a great gliding swoop, the structure crashed to earth and was crumbled in an instant.

TEUTONS PUSHING WELL INTO POLAND

Now Only a Hundred Miles From Great Russian Base.

BRITAIN FEELS PUZZLED

Wonders Whether Germans Propose To Continue Trip Northward.

[Canadian Press.]

LONDON, July 1.—11:30 p.m.—The northward drive of the Austro-German armies from Galicia into Poland is daily becoming more formidable, and England is puzzled as to whether they propose to make their man effort in this direction, instead of maintaining a concentrated offensive to the eastward, to force the Russians out of the southeast tip of Galicia.

Whatever the ultimate object is, the fighting along the Gnila Lipa River has not abated, and this afternoon's Berlin official communication not only records progress in this sector, but further north in the arc around Lemberg, as well as along what has now become the northern front, between the Vistula and Bug Rivers.

Far Into Russia.

The Austro-German forces on this front are estimated at 2,000,000 men, and their progress has been rapid. They have crossed the forest fringing the Tanew River, and are not far from the Zamosc fortress, 25 miles north of the Galician frontier. Only 100 miles to the north is the great Russian base, Brest Litovsk, linked with Warsaw by important railways and lying almost due east of the Polish capital.

The development of the Polish campaign has created a situation entirely unexpected by the Allies. A few months ago the Russians were at the Carpathian passes and during the spring months there were confident predictions both in England and France that Hungary would soon be overrun. The British press has been optimistic for weeks that the Russians would turn and make a stand, but it now frankly concedes that the new invasion of Russia is serious. The papers, however, place faith in Russia's munitions campaign, much the same as the British public is relying upon David Lloyd George's plan to equip the British army in France as ultimately to match the Germans in explosives and munitions, especially machine guns.

ATTACKS REPULSED IN GALICIA.

PETROGRAD (via London), July 2. —2:35 a.m. — The following official statement regarding the progress of hostilities was isued tonight by the Russian army headquarters:

"The enemy's offensive between the Vieprz and Bug Rivers continues. Rear guard actions of the most stubborn character occurred here on June 29 on the Tomaszow and Zamosc road, as well as on the roads to Sokolka.

"In Galicia the enemy on June 29 and the morning of June 30 delivered persistent attacks in various sectors of the front from Kazonka to Halicz. All his attacks were repulsed. We inflicted great losses on the enemy, and took about 4,000 prisoners. The enemy was unable to make headway along the front of our trenches for a distance of several hundred paces, except in some sectors. On other fronts absolute calm prevails."

BERLIN CLAIMS MANY PRISONERS.

BERLIN (via London), July 1.—The following official statement regarding progress of hostilities in the eastern theatre was issued today:

"Our positions here are unchanged. The booty taken during June amounts to 2 flags and 25,695 prisoners, of whom 110 were officers, seven cannon, six nine-throwers, 52 machine guns and one aeroplane, beside much material of war.

"In the southeastern theatre of war: After bitter fighting the troops of General Von Linsingen yesterday stormed the positions of the Russians east of the Gnila Lipa River near Kunicze and Lucznycz, and to the north of Ronatyn. Three officers and 2,328 men were made prisoners and five machine guns were captured.

"East of Lemberg the Austro-Hungarian troops have pressed forward into the enemy's positions. The army under Field Marshal Von Mackensen is continuing to press forward between the Bug and Vistula R'vers. West of the Vistula after stubborn fighting by the Russians the Teutonic allies are advancing on both sides of the Kamenna in pursuit.

"The total amount of captures during June made by the Teutonic allied troops under General Von Linsingen, Field-Marshal Von Mackensen and General Von Woyrich amounted to 409 officers and 140,650 men and 80 cannon and 268 machine guns."

GUELPH MAN KILLED IN BEING RUN OVER

Roy Young Stops Bicycle In Path of Motorist—Chest Badly Crushed.

[Special to The Advertiser.]

GUELPH, July 1.—Roy Young, 25 Clark street, this city, was struck by an automobile driven by Fred Spofford, 2 Tiffany street. Young was riding a bicycle on Woolwich street, going north and Spofford was coming along behind him in his auto. A street car stopped at the corner of Woolwich and Mont street, and Young stopped rather short and the auto struck him, running over his chest.

The ambulance was called, and the injured man was removed to St. Joseph's Hospital in an unconscious condition.

It was soon seen there was no chance for his recovery, and he passed away at 4 o'clock.

An inquest was called by Dr. Savage, coroner, and the jury viewed the remains, after which an adjournment was made.

L. & P. S. WIRES CAUSE BLAZE IN ST. THOMAS

Short Circuit Brings Firemen to Save P. M. Depot.

[Special to The Advertiser.]

ST. THOMAS, July 1.—The holiday was spent quietly in this city, thousands of people going to Port Stanley.

The new electric system on the L. & P. S. Ry. got badly balled up when one of the high tension wires got short circuited. The contact started a fire in the Kain Street Pere Marquette depot. The local fire brigade, however, was promptly on the scene and extinguished the blaze before much damage was done. Several of the electric trains from London were delayed several hours. It was found necessary to get, steam locomotives to move the traffic.

STEAM ENGINES HAUL TROLLEYS

Road To Port Crippled By Breakdown of L. and P. S. R. Line.

EXCURSIONISTS DELAYED

Till Faithful P. M. Locos. Hitch On and Bring Train to City.

Several hundred Londoners who left via the London and Port Stanley electric cars yesterday, intending to picnic by the lake, picnicked, instead, right in the cars between St. Thomas and the Pore, after spending many hours on the way. After waiting in vain for the electric trains to proceed, some of the passengers got out and walked several miles to Port and came home other ways. Many other passengers who decided to stay in the cars were hauled home by steam locomotives, furnished by the Pere Marquette.

Make No Statement.

The management would make no statement regarding the tieup to The Advertiser, but it was unofficially stated that breakdowns in the wiring, breakdowns in the equipment and green engineers were responsible. It was generally admitted that the day's business was not what had been expected.

Started After Eleven.

At 11 o'clock there were no signs of cars, but about an hour and a half later they finally got started. There were all kinds of delays along the road, but the picnickers were a little more than disgusted when they finally got down to within three miles of Port, about half past five in the afternoon, to find that the train that had left at 10 o'clock was stalled there and the line impassable. The Pere Marquette finally came to the rescue, and locomotives brought the passengers home.

Linemen Look for Trouble.

About 9 o'clock last night about forty hydro men with their repair kits, left via the London and Lake Erie Transportation cars to look for line troubles. Many of them, it was stated, were out all night.

The London and Lake Erie cars did a record business all day and carried thousands to and from the Port. Many Londoners also motored down to the lakeside.

Norwegian Vessel Withstands Attack

Kotka, Reported Sunk by Submarine, Is Still Afloat.

[Canadian Press.]

London, July 2.—The Norwegian bark Kotka, which was reported to have been sunk on June 30 off Fastnet, Ireland, by the gun fire of a German submarine, was discovered this morning still afloat.

The Kotka left Stockton, Maine, May 5, for an English port. When the bark was attacked by the submarine the 12 men of the crew took to the lifeboats and were landed six hours later at Queenstown.

Steamers have been dispatched to tow the Kotka into Cork, to which port her timber cargo was consigned.

HEBERT DENIES ANY ATTEMPT AT GRAFTING

Says He Is Not Surprised at Newspaper Stories.

[Canadian Press.]

Montreal, July 2. — Controller Napoleon Hebert, accused of writing a letter asking $200,000 for his vote to grant the Montreal Tramways a 30-year addition to their franchise, which alleged letter, published in the News on Wednesday, was made the basis for an application for a writ enjoining the board of control from passing the franchise addition, this morning issued a statement to the press. He said:

"The revelations of a certain newspaper do not surprise me, for I was prepared for it in the morning by a high official who came and threatened me in my office in an endeavor to make me vote in opposition of my conscience on the tramway question.

"To this official I replied that I neither feared his threats nor those of his friends. I have nothing to fear because I have nothing with which to reproach myself."

Insistent demands for the fullest investigation into the charges against the controller are being made in the press, and it is suggested that the attorney-general deal with the situation.

HE WAS PRO-GERMAN

Hensall Man Pays $3 for Expressing Declarations

Frank Uttley, who says his home is in Hensall, was fined $3 by Magistrate Judd today for going about in front of an East London hotel yesterday yelling that the British were no good and that the Germans would trim them to a fare, and similar sentiments.

"You want to be careful when you start acting in that way," said the court, "or you will get into trouble."

SIR CHARLES TUPPER IS 94 YEARS OF AGE

The Aged Statesman Receives Many Congratulatory Messages in English Home.

[Special Cable to The Advertiser.]

London, July 2.—Sir Charles Tupper is spending his 94th birthday quietly today at Bexley Heath. Considering his advanced age, the veteran statesman enjoys good health. On being visited by the Canadian Associated Press, he was found reading congratulatory messages from different parts of the world. Sir Charles is naturally pleased with the way in which his anniversary is remembered in different parts of the empire.

Among many cables from Canada was the following from Finance Minister White: "Please accept heartiest congratulations upon the attainment of your 94th birthday anniversary. Canada, a united people in the crisis of this great war, faithful to the Empire, and cherishing its great traditions, looks back today with pride, veneration and affection to the fathers of confederation, whose dreams have been so amply fulfilled. May you long be spared to enjoy the esteem and regard of the Canadian people."

Other messages were from the Daughters of the Empire in British Columbia and several members of the Dominion and Provincial governments.

POLICE COURT GIST

Man Who Stole Military Halters Is Remanded for Sentence for Month.

Charles Hamilton, who was remanded last week after pleading guilty to a charge of stealing military halters from the Mounted Rifles stables at the fair grounds, was bailed to appear for sentence for a month in police court today.

Chester Tozer, who said his home was in Galt, and that he stepped in to part two men who were fighting on Clarence street, was fined $4 for being disorderly. An Italian fruit merchant told the court that Tozer stole a pineapple and struck him and his mother. Sergt. Monaghan happened along and grabbed Tozer. Tozer denied the whole thing, but finally pleaded guilty in order, he said, to get back to Galt.

John Tracy, who said he was discharged from the 18th Battalion because he had rheumatism and had since been doing home guard duty in Windsor, was arrested while sleeping in a G. T. R. car in which a race horse was being shipped through.

"I was going to Toronto to try and enlist and go right to the front," he told the court. "I was tired of doing home guard work and want to get into action."

He was allowed to go, and will try and walk to Toronto.

Antonio Hyde, who was with Tracy in the car, said he was on his way from Chicago to Waterloo to work on war orders. He said he would walk to Waterloo, and was let go.

DRAWS $300 FINE

At the police court today David Taylor of London Junction was found guilty by Magistrate Judd of selling liquor that was over strength, and fined $300 and $3.85 costs.

"There is no question whatever that you sold this stuff," said the court. "The examination made by the department proves it was over strength. Under the act I have no other course than to fine you."

NEW COUNSEL TO REPRESENT BECKER

Manton Retires From Case—Mrs. Becker Not To Plead Personally.

[Canadian Press.]

New York, July 2.—The next step in the effort to save Charles Becker from execution for the murder of Herman Rosenthal will be the selection of new counsel to represent him in an appeal to the United States supreme court. Martin T. Manton, who has represented Becker up to the present, and who has announced that he will retire from the case, was not prepared today to say what attorney will lay Becker's appeal before the supreme court.

"Becker's constitutional rights have been invaded," said Mr. Manton. "In that lies the opportunity to apply to the supreme court of the United States."

Mr. Maton would not admit that Becker had offered to tell Gov. Whitman the names of men higher up in graft dealings in which Becker was concerned. It was learned from Mr. Manton that Mrs. Becker will not go to Albany to make a personal appeal to Gov. Whitman.

Robert C. Taylor, the assistant district attorney who represented the state in the previous appeals Becker has made, said there was no ground whatever for an argument that Becker's constitutional rights were violated. "I can see no import in the reprieve," he said. "In my opinion the governor, as an act of mercy and kindness, wishes to give Becker and his lawyers more time, in the possibility that they might discover something in their interest."

It was pointed out today that an application for an appeal to the supreme court would not act as a stay of execution of Becker's sentence, and that it would be necessary for Becker's counsel to obtain either a writ of habeas corpus from a federal judge or a writ of error from a member of the United States supreme court.

Sam Schepps, the so-called gentleman gambler, upon whom the state relied during the first trial of Becker to corroborate the testimony of Jack Rose, Harry Vallon and Bridgie Webber, the three informers, was quoted as saying that he held "the secret in the Becker case," and would tell Governor Whitman, should the governor ask him to.

Holds the "Secret."

"I hold the secret of the Becker case, and I will tell the governor if he asks me for it," Schepps was quoted as saying. "Whitman can get it for the asking. The story is so clear anyone will believe it; but as for proof, say, do you want that I shall go so far as to bring Becker back to Broadway and me take his place in the electric chair? I hung myself enough in this case, and there's nothing doing any more."

The "secret" to which Schepps was quoted as having referred is believed to be what was said at a recent meeting between Mrs. Charles Becker and Jack Rose in Schepps' jewelry store. After this meeting Mrs. Becker and Rose gave different versions of what had been said. Mrs. Becker asserted that Rose had told her he couldn't afford to tell the truth about Becker, and Rose, denying this, asserted that he had told Mrs. Becker her husband was guilty.

GOVERNMENT TAKES OVER TRANSCONA SHOPS

[Canadian Press.]

Winnipeg, July 2.—Notice was posted in the Transcona shops today that the Dominion Government will take over the shops dating from July 1.

MEMORIAL SERVICE FOR COL. BECHER

Special Sermon and Service in St. Paul's Cathedral On Sunday.

A special memorial service for Lieut.-Col. Becher and the other Canadians who have fallen in the war will be held in St. Paul's Cathedral next Sunday morning at 11 o'clock. The 7th Regiment will parade at the armories at 10:15 and at 10:45 will march to the church in a body. Col. Shannon and the officers of the divisional headquarters' staff also will attend, and the officers of the 33rd and 34th Battalions have been asked to accompany the officers of the 7th.

The service will be conducted by the rector, Canon Tucker, and will be practically a reproduction of the impressive ceremony in St. Paul's in Old London on a ecent occasion of similar chahacter.

The band of the 7th, under Bandmaster Slatter, will play the dead march in "Saul" and the "Last Post," and vocal music of a memorial character will be rendered by the full choir under the direction of F. G. Killmaster. All the hymns, psalms and prayers will be specially adapted to the occasion. Every effort will be made to give expression to the deep feeling which the deeds of the Canadians have inspired in the hearts of the whole community.

The evening service in the cathedral will be patriotic, and the rector will preach on the character and mission of the British Empire.

EX-MINISTERS

might make would be used against them in any other proceedings.

"We don't know yet what powers we have to grant immunity," said Justice Perdue.

If this assurance were given, said Andrews, Sir Rodmond Roblin would make a full and complete statement of everything, if he felt disposed to do so. None of the ex-ministers, however, would voluntarily give evidence without his approval.

The chairman assured him any questions asked to which witnesses might object to answering would not be pressed in his absence.

Surprising Letter.

Hudson explained that the whole case of the prosecution in the Parliament building inquiry was altered when a letter was produced which was Kelly's tender to put in caissons for slightly over $840,000. Previously it had been understood that Kelly was being paid for caissons on yardage basis, and witnesses were to be called to show an alleged shortage in material. The letter, said witness, was a great surprise, and upset their theories.

The Attorney-General was questioned on details of evidence given Wednesday, and little that was new developed.

Hudson said he knew Phippen and Tilley were preparing to attack the jurisdiction of the original commission. This they did on May 7 and following the injunction.

Following the injunction, a suit was entered to restrain the commission from compelling Kelly to give evidence. This injunction, said witness, was entirely apart from anything discussed with Phippen, and action was not taken through any collusion.

No Money.

"Have you any knowledge of any money in connection with these dealings?" asked counsel.

"None."

"Were you promised any?"

"None."

"Did you expect any?"

"No."

He never heard of the charge of the payment of money in connection with election protests until after the change of Government, when he heard rumors, which, however, he was unable to trace to anything definite and there were, he said, many reasons in support of the position taken by Phippen at the time he talked with witness, but Hudson said he felt he could not afford to draw back at all until things were cleared up. The commission thus was continued, and he had no intention of stopping it.

Re-examined by C. P. Fullerton, Hudson said before he heard of the letter re contract price on caissons, it was his opinion that Kelly could not escape the penitentiary. After this letter was produced he thought it constituted a possible loophole in the criminal suit, though he did not think it a good defence in a civil action.

DISPERSES CROWD

Suggestion of Collection More Effective Than Policeman.

An unknown woman demonstrated at Springbank yesterday that her sex is not wanting in enterprise and presence of mind. A girl had fainted from exposure to the sun, and Dr. Schramm was giving first aid, assisted by a member of the local St. John's Ambulance Corps. The crowd which gathered around impeded the work of the doctor and his assistant, and also prevented the free circulation of air which the girl needed.

A policeman tried in vain to induce the morbidly curious to move back, but a lady stepped forward with a practical solution of the difficulty.

"Seeing that so many people are gathered together at this one point," she said, "why should we not take up a collection for the Red Cross among them."

Suiting the action to the word, she borrowed a hat and proceeded to pass it around. A few pieces of silver were dropped into it, but the most wonderful effect of her action was the rapidity with which it succeeded in dispersing the crowd.

SPLIT HONORS

34th Wins at Baseball, 33rd at Football Yesterday.

Although the greater number of the men of the 33rd and 34th Battalions spent yesterday out of the city, those who did remain in London enjoyed themselves in games and sports at the heights. There was a baseball game and one of football. The 34th was successful in baseball, winning by a 15-to-13 score, but the 33rd turned the tables at football, proving victors by a 5-to-1 score. Members of the two battalions not on the lineups cheered their respective teams vigorously.

There were other games enjoyed. Running races and such like, but they were not scheduled, and no prizes were offered. They were just impromptu as it were, but keenly enjoyed just the same.

Seventy-five of the 34th men went to Petrolea, and as many from both the other battalions enjoyed the day at Stratford, Ingersoll, Guelph and various other Western Ontario points.

THEY PASSED UP LONDON.—No cases of pocket picking were reported locally yesterday, but the detectives kept a sharp lookout, as from several points in the district word came that people getting on trains had had their purses abstracted. Two cases occurred at St. Thomas, but no arrests were made.

SPRINGBANK MECCA FOR MANY PICNICS

Riverside Park Crowded By Merrymakers From Morning Till Night.

Springbank Park enjoyed one of the most popular days in all its history on Dominion Day. From early morning until far on into the evening pleasure-seekers crowded the cars, bound for the river beauty spot, either in small groups or as units of the many large picnic parties that chose this day for an annual outing.

King Street Church.

One of the largest picnic parties of the day was that of King Street Presbyterian Church, fully 400 attending, and proving the wisdom of choosing a holiday for the outing. After everyone managed to be safely transported to the park, the young people of the Sunday school entered with enthusiasm into a program of sports of which W. J. Snellgrove was general manager, and the others officers were: George E. Perry, field marshal; S. H. Hindmarsh, clerk; George Wallace, assistant clerk; W. A. Hunter and W. A. Adams, starters; J. Black, N. K. Wanless, Hugh Wilson, J. D. McCrae and S. F. Buskard, judges.

Two lively baseball matches were witnessed after tea, the first between the Ancient Mariners and the Aeroplanes, resulting in a win of 4 to 2 for the latter. N. K. Wanless and H. Murray formed the battery for the Ancients and G. C. McIntosh and Eldon Wegg for the juniors.

The second game was of the indoor baseball order, the ladies taking part as well as the men. The captains of the teams were W. A. Adams and Hugh Wilson, the former's team winning by a score of 20 to 10.

Chalmers Church Picnic.

Rev. A. Graham, pastor of Chalmers Presbyterian Church, was present for the first time at the annual picnic of the Sunday school which was attended by a very large representation of the congregation. The picnic was of the good old-fashioned variety, starting early in the forenoon and continuing until the evening, with both dinner and tea, carried in the generous lunch baskets. A baseball match and a series of races, in which both children and grownups took part, were outstanding features of the day. J. H. Langford was clerk of the course. Rev. A. Graham and James Donaldson acted as starters, while the duties of judging were performed by William O'Dell, Alfred Light and William Michael.

The unanimous verdict of the many present is that the picnic of yesterday was the most successful in the history of the congregation.

The following were the prizewinners in the various events: Infant class, girls—Sadie Merryfield, Agnes Foster, Dorothy Munro; boys—Tom Foster, Sam Munro, Bob Findlater. Miss Foster's class—Newton Williams. Miss Dunlop's class—K. Fenwick, G. Sutherland. Mrs. Duguid—Jack Clare, Ben Spendler, Arnold Webb. Mrs. Bryce's class—M. O'Dell, Vera Fenwick, E. Foster. Mrs. Fraser's class — Kathleen Donaldson, H. Williams. Young Men's class — Roy Brown, Ted Graham, R. Legg. Young ladies' race—Miss Michael M. Allen. Teachers' race—Vera Williams, Annie Dunlop, Clara Allen. Married men's race—J. Merryfield, J. H. Langford, A. Light. Junior married ladies—Mrs. Webb, Mrs. Brock, Mrs. Fenwick. Senior married ladies—Mrs. McPherson, Mrs. Legg. Novelty race—Mr. Foster and Arnold Webb. Fat men's race—James Donaldson, Ed. Sutherland. Peanut race—Miss McArthur, Miss V. Williamson. Peanut race No. 2—Arnold Webb, Margaret O'Dell.

Bagpipes, Too.

The skirl of the bagpipes caused the pulses of members of Clan Fraser and Daughters of Scotia to beat more rapidly on Thursday afternoon, and added very much to the pleasure of the annual picnic held at Springbank Park, and attended by about 400 or 500 loyal sons and daughters of Scotland. Malcolm Kerr, Gordon Nichol and Alexander Kelly were the gallant pipers of the occasion, playing the good old Scotch tunes from time to time during the afternoon and evening. Credit for the excellent arrangement was due to the members of the committee—Mesdames Masterton and Cooper, Misses Scott, Clugston and Fullerton, James Phillips, James Masterton, George Scott, A. Kelly and J. C. Clark.

NO JUSTIFICATION

safety of the crew, as the last American note emphatically declared. The captain seems to have taken pains to commit all the acts against which President Wilson has solemnly protested. This outrage, in principle, is quite as bad as the sinking of the Lusitania and has a peculiar insolence in being committed while the American demands remain unanswered."

CONSTRUCTED A RAFT.

[Canadian Press.]

London, July 2.—Dr. Vivo, the Armenian's physician, who is supposed to have been rescued by the submarine, came from Porto Rico. According to survivors the first person aboard the ship to be killed was the American foreman of a gang of muleteers.

"We had a very trying time in the open boats during the night," said First Officer Vincent in describing his experiences. "Our clothing was torn up to provide bandages for the wounded, and to plug holes in the damaged boat. We were compelled to throw overboard the bodies of four men who had died, in order to lighten our boat.

"When it seemed likely the boats would be overcrowded, the purser and a half dozen others jumped into the water, where they laboriously constructed a raft from floating wreckage."

CAUSED STIR IN PARIS.

Paris, July 2.—The sinking of the steamship Armenian has caused a stir in Paris, stress being laid upon the deaths of Americans on board the vessel. Coming so soon after the Lusitania case, which is not yet settled, the press wonders what will be the outcome of the latest incident connected with Germany's submarine warfare.

The Matin says the Armenian's destruction certainly will greatly increase the indignation of Americans and perhaps inspire a real ultimatum from Washington.

TENSION RELAXED.

Washington, July 2.—Tension over the destruction of the British steamer Armenian, with the loss of a number of American lives, was considerably relaxed today following the receipt of unofficial advices telling of the apparent refusal of the ship's commander to heed the warning of the German submarine to stop. This phase of the matter overshadowed in the official view all other questions involved in the destruction of the Armenian.

If official reports should bear out news dispatches concerning attempts of the Armenian to escape, it was said, no new cause of complaint likely would be added to issues pending between the United States and Germany. Officials hold that if the Armenian sought to evade capture the sinking of the ship was justified under international law, even though non-combatants were aboard. Precedents are cited in support of this contention.

LOCAL NEWS

STAFF CUT DOWN.—The staff of the city incinerator has been cut down by the cutting off of the third shift of engineers.

ONE HUNDRED DOLLAR BLAZE.—Fire in the attic of J. E. Smallman's residence, Elmwood avenue and Marley Place, did $100 damage yesterday afternoon. The blaze was extinguished with chemicals.

SAVING OF 1721.—According to the monthly report of Garbage Superintendent W. C. Dodd, the actual cost of the department for last month was $2,190.41. This was a saving of $721.59 over the same month last year, when the department was under a contract system.

AITKEN—PIKE.—A pretty wedding was solemnized at the parsonage of the Centennial Methodist Church Wednesday evening, when Miss Lillial Pike of this city became the bride of John J. Aitken of Windsor. Rev. H. A. Graham performed the ceremony. Mr. and Mrs. Aitken will reside in this city.

Y. M. C. A. GYPSY TRIP. — The boys' choir and bugle band of the Y. M. C. A. will hold a gypsy trip in the country on July 6, 7 and 8. This trip is open to all members of the choir and bugle band. A rehearsal is to be held Saturday night at 7:30. Boys' secretary, F. Wilson, expects a good turnout.

STILL UNCONSCIOUS. — Matthew Sandford of 450 Grosvenor street remains unconscious at St. Joseph's Hospital, and the attending physicians are unable to state yet whether or not he will recover. Mr. Sandford has recovered consciousness only once or twice since he was struck by an auto on Wednesday evening.

RETURNS FROM MEETING.—General Manager E. V. Buchanan of the public utilities commission has returned from a meeting of hydro engineers and managers at Brantford. It was decided to have a big exhibit of electric appliances in Toronto during the time of the Canadian National Exhibition there. A convention will be held at the same time.

KNIGHTS OF PYTHIAS' PICNIC.—Knights of Pythias and their ladies, to the number of more than two hundred, yesterday enjoyed a splendid picnic at Springbank. Myrtle Lodge, No. 2, and Prospect Lodge, No. 10, were responsible for the arrangements. The afternoon and evening were spent very pleasantly, and an excellent program of sports was carried out.

WILL BUILD IT LATER.—At the meeting of the board of control today it was decided to build the sanitary sewer on Grey street, between Maitland and Adelaide street, somewhat later in the year. The same will apply to two sewers on Grand avenue, one running from Carfrae street to Gerrard and the other from Carfrae to 210 feet west of Bellevue avenue.

ACCIDENTS AT SPRINGBANK.—Two minor accidents occurred at Springbank yesterday afternoon. A young girl, aged 18, was pushed out in front of a car near the loop by a crowd rushing to get out of the rain. While painfully injured her hurts are not serious. A young man was riding on the roller coaster had his mouth badly cut when two cars bumped together.

WILKINS REMANDED AGAIN.—Oliver Wilkins, who is in custody on a charge of assaulting George Beaman, who is in the hospital in a serious condition as a consequence of a terrible battering he received with a hammer, appeared before Squire Chittick in the county police court today, but as the victim of the alleged assault is still not in a physical condition to appear against him, he was remanded again for a week.

AWARDED COMMISSION. — Judge Talbot Macbeth has awarded Anderson & Co. judgment for $150 and costs in its action against William Hodgins to recover the commission on the sale of a farm property owned by the defendant. The former claimed that the defendant had entered into an agreement with its agent to pay $150 if a purchaser were found, and the defence was that no contract was made, and that, in fact, the purchaser of the property was not introduced by the plaintiffs.

SEWER BIDS.—Bids on the following sanitary sewers were ordered called by the board of control today: Windsor avenue, High street to 500 feet east; Ardaven Place, 394 feet east of Ridout street to east limit of street; Carfrae street to creek to 130 feet west; Emery street, from High street to 500 feet east; Rattle street, from Adelaide to Elizabeth street; Adelaide street, from Pall Mall street to Salisbury street; Salisbury street, from Adelaide street to Elizabeth street; Elmwood avenue, from Wharncliffe road to Brighton street.

TROUBLES HEAPING UP.—Albert King, an Indian, who was brought in from Lambeth by County Constable Shaver yesterday, was charged before Squire Chittick today with having been drunk in local option territory. He was remanded for a week. The arrest was made following a free-for-all fight, in which the accused man apparently came out last best. At any rate, his appearance in court suggested that he had been subjected to very rough treatment for his face was badly cut and he had one almost perfect black eye. Now, to add to his troubles, he faces a charge for which the penalty is a severe one.

SUCCESSFUL PARTY.—A very successful strawberry and ice cream garden party in aid of Holy Trinity Church, Chelsea Green, was held on Wednesday night on the grounds of C. Tickner, Maud street. The spacious lawns looked a veritable fairyland beneath the mellow light of countless Japanese lanterns and shaded electric lights. Instrumental selections, vocal items, and Victrola music formed a pleasing accompaniment to the environments. A sale of work of the church guild proved a splendid adjunct financially. Upwards of three hundred people partook of the good things provided and the committee have every reason to congratulate themselves on the results. A substantial sum was realized which is being used towards the church building extension, which is now being built, the labor of which is supplied entirely by the male members of the congregation.

GOING TO CHINA

Member of City Engineer's Staff Given Important Post There.

Harry F. Barnes, a member of the city engineer's department of London, has been given an important post in China and sails for the celestial kingdom on July 27 to become instructor of railroad engineering in the State University of Tang Shang, South China. During his connection with the local department he has been working as an instrument man on the grade separation reports being prepared in connection with the subway proposals for the Grand Trunk.

The funeral will be held on Saturday morning to St. Peter's Cemetery.

WEDDING BELLS

CARRUTHERS—McARTHUR.

A pretty June wedding took place last Wednesday afternoon at the home of Mr. and Mrs. John McArthur, when their eldest daughter, Margaret, was united in marriage to Robert Carruthers, both of this city city, by Rev. W. C. Riddiford, pastor of the Egerton Street Baptist Church. The bride was given away by her father, and entered the parlor to the strains of the wedding march played by Mrs. Herbert Morton. Miss Mary, sister of the bride, made a charming bridesmaid, while J. W. Piper supported the groom. After the wedding tea Mr. and Mrs. Carruthers left on the 12:30 p.m. G. T. R. for Hamilton and other points. Upon their return the happy [illegible] sea Green.

THOMAS—GRIFFIN.

The marriage was solemnized on Tuesday morning, June 29, at the Cronyn Memorial Church, of Grace, youngest daughter of the late Mrs. Selena Griffin, to W. Gordon Thomas, son of Mr. and Mrs. W. D. Thomas, Dundas street. Rev. R. W. Norwood officiated at the ceremony, which was witnessed by only the immediate relatives.

The bride, who was unattended, looked very sweet in her travelling suit, and wore a corsage bouquet of orchids and lily of the valley, and a becoming Panama hat. The happy couple left on the 11:10 train for Chicago, and on their return will reside in this city.

KRITHIA FALLEN, STATES DISPATCH

Athens Telegram Says Allies Have Captured Turkish Stronghold.

FIGHTING IS DESPERATE

Flower of Turkish Forces Is Struggling Fiercely To Keep Constantinople.

[Canadian Press.]

LONDON, July 2. — 2:20 a.m. — A dispatch tonight from Athens says that the Allies have taken the Turkish stronghold of Krithia, on the Gallipoli Peninsula, to the western edge of which Sen. Ian Hamilton's report of Wednesday carried his forces, but there is no confirmation.

Gratification over the British progress in Gallipoli is hardly more pronounced than the realization of the tremendous task which faces England and France in their attempt to clear the Turks from their natural defences barring the way to Constantinople.

The British press representative in the Dardanelles sends a dispatch by way of Alexandria, dated from the latter place Friday, in which he describes the battle of Achi Baba. This began with an allied advance on June 4, and the correspondent says, still continues.

The correspondent again emphasizes the difficulties of the allied advance against "an almost impregnable fortress, and pays tribute to the tenacity and bravery of the Turks.

"The force drawn up against the Allies," he says, "is the flower of the Turkish army, which, notwithstanding casualties that must already amount to 70,000, is fighting valiantly and desperately, realizing that when the bastion of Achi Baba falls, the occupation of the Kilid Bahr plateau becomes a mere question of time, and when Kilid Bahr falls, the doom of Constantinople is at hand.

"In view of the difficulties which confront the Allies, a gain of twenty yards in Gallipoli may fairly be likened to a gain of five hundred yards in Flanders, and the five hundred yard advance on June 4 was equal in its way to the battle of Neuve Chapelle."

The correspondent tells of the British attempts against the Turkish lines on June 21, when the Turkish casualties reached a total of seven thousand and the fighting lasted from dawn to dark on the longest day of the year. The result was some gains for the Allies.

"In one trench there was a temporary shortage of ammunition," says the chronicler, "but the troops fought with stones, sticks and fists. At the end of the day some six hundred yards of Turkish trenches had been taken. One trench, two hundred yards long and ten feet deep, was brimful of Turkish dead. They were valiant, those dead men.

"The officers who have been in France, say that as a fighting unit one Turk is worth two Germans."

AMERICAN SHELLS NOT BEING USED BY FRENCH ARMY

Emphatic Denial Made By Embassy at Washington—Prince's Story a Lie.

WASHINGTON, July 1. — Flat contradiction of statements that American shells have been used to a large extent by the French was contained in a statement issued today by the French embassy. It follows:

"Statements have appeared in the press from time to time, describing the use by the French of American shells and the killing of German soldiers by such American ammunition, said to be vastly more destructive than that made in France. It has been added of late that the mortalities thus caused have been considerably increased because the French were using 'poisonous American shells,' made by a certain company in Cleveland, Ohio, in such a way that 'in many cases even slight wounds resulted in terrible infection, causing quick death.'

"One of the German princes was asked 'what was the percentage shot by the French,' in the great drive north of Arras, in the course of which the French captured the 'Labyrinth,' some other important positions. His royal highness vouchsafed the opinion that 'it is rather difficult to estimate this accurately,' but he thought that 'at least 50 per cent were American shells, adding, 'this last French offensive would not have been possible without American ammunition.'

"In view of such frequently repeated stories it cannot be amiss to state once for all that France has bought no shells of any sort in the United States since the beginning of the war."

ATTACK MADE ON BRITISH DESTROYER

Lightning Damaged But Able To Be Taken Into Harbor.

14 MEN ARE MISSING

Lomas, Bound for Argentina, Sent to the Bottom.

[Canadian Press.]

LONDON, July 1. — 7:50 p.m. — The torpedoboat destroyer Lightning was damaged last night off the coast by a mine or torpedo explosion. She is now in harbor. Fourteen members of the crew are reported as missing. Announcement that the Lightning had been damaged was contained in an admiralty tonight. This is the first strike ficial communication issued by the admiralty against British naval craft in home waters.

The Lightning was built in 1895. She was a vessel of 320 tons and her armament consisted of one 12-pounder and five 6-pounder guns. In times of peace her complement was 60 men.

Steamer Sunk.

The British steamship Lomas, bound from Argentina for Belfast with a cargo of corn, was sunk by a German submarine Wednesday afternoon, sixty miles west of the Scilly Islands.

The submarine first fired two shots, presumably as a summons to haul to, but the second shell struck the steamer, killing the second officer. The crew took to the boats and were picked up by a Belgian trawler and landed at Milford Haven. The submarine sent the Loman to the bottom by a torpedo and shell fire.

The Lomas was of 3,048 tons gross, her length being 325 feet. She was built in 1898 at West Hartlepool and was owned by the Buenos Aires and Southern Railroad Company of Hull.

Bark Torpedoed.

The British bark Thistlebank, which sailed from Bahia Blanca, Argentina, April 26, with a cargo of wheat for Queenstown, was torpedoed by a German submarine yesterday at a point off Fastnet, Ireland. Some of her crew were landed at Baltimore, a small seaport 47 miles southwest of Cork.

The Italian ship Sardomene, timber-laden, was also torpedoed without warning, five miles from Castletown Bearhaven, Ireland. Two of the crew were killed outright and several were wounded or missing. Seven were saved.

Word has been received from Castletown Bearhaven that nine of the Sardomene's crew were drowned and two others died of injuries. The mate is the only officer among the nine survivors, two of whom were wounded.

The Sardomene sailed from Banbury on Feb. 21 for London. She was a vessel of 2,000 tons gross and was built in 1882.

OVER 38,000 LOST IN THE DARDANELLES

Operations To Date Against the Turks Have Been Costly.

LONDON, July 1—Premier Asquith announced in the House of Commons this afternoon that the British naval and military losses in killed, wounded and missing in the operations against the Dardanelles up to May 31 aggregated 38,635 officers and men. The figures showing the killed, wounded and missing by officers and men follow:

	Killed.	Wounded.	Missing.
Officers .	495	1,134	92
Men	6,927	23,542	6,445
Totals .	7,422	24,676	6,537

ONTARIO PROFESSOR WITNESS AT INQUIRY

Criticizes Company for Treatment of Lusitania Passengers.

LONDON, July 1.—The Lusitania inquiry reopened today. Joseph Marrichalo, professor of languages in Ontario, formerly a French army officer, a second-class passenger on the vessel, strongly criticized the steamship company regarding the reduced speed to economize coal. He said the company reduced the fare for second-class passengers from $70 to $50. He thought it would have been better to attack the pockets of passengers rather than risk their lives. The treatment of passengers by the company on landing, he said, was disgraceful. The witness admitted writing to the company for an immediate allowance on his claim or else he would make statements neither to the credit of the company nor the admiralty. This was not a threat, but notice that his claim would be pressed. Lord Mersey said he was sorry, but he did not think the witness meant that.

SHELL PRODUCTION IN FRANCE IS MORE THAN CONSUMPTION

Exceeds It By About One Million a Day —Will Increase Output.

PARIS, July 1.—The French Cabinet today decided to create two new undersecretaries of state in the ministry of war, thus making three undersecretaries in this department. Albert Thomas, who recently was appointed under-secretary of war, will be virtually minister of munitions. The two new ones will direct the army transport and sanitary services.

The President appointed Deputy Joseph Thierry and Deputy Justin Godart to fill the positions as undersecretaries.

The cabinet determined upon this action so as to decentralize administration and give Minister of War Millerand added freedom from administrative details and more time to consider larger questions.

The recent action of Parliament in passing the Dalbiez law for industrial mobilization, so that the Government would be able to secure an increase in the number of skilled workmen for the production of munitions by taking men from the ranks, seems to have been in anticipation of future requirements for shells, when all arms of the artillery are likely to be in prolonged action.

It does not appear that the French army has been short of shells at any time since last September or October, but the efforts of the Government are constant to increase the output, since it has been seen how enormously effective is the artillery arm, causing, as it does, seven-tenths of all casualties.

Shell production since the beginning of last December has been about 100,000 a day in excess of ordinary consumption on the firing line.

GERMANS NOW RUSH MORE TROOPS TO WESTERN FRONT

Trains Diverted From Swiss B order—All Steamer Service Suspended On L ake Constance.

GENEVA, Switzerland, via Paris, July 1.—3:10 p.m.—The Swiss people are wondering what is happening on the other side of the Rhine. No German trains are arriving at Constance, and the Swiss Railway, as a consequence, has been obliged to suspend its international service in this section. The Germans have suspended the steamer service on Lake Constance.

Swiss, as well as other neutrals, including Americans, have been unable to enter Switzerland, all being stopped at the frontier.

It is believed here that the Germans are sending large reinforcements through southern Germany from the Russian to the French front, and for this reason have put the usual restrictions on travel.

CLOSED SINCE SUNDAY.

PARIS, July 1.—2:53 p.m.—The German frontier along the Swiss-Baden line has been closed since Sunday. The Wurttemburg border was closed today. Travellers who proceeded by boat from Switzerland to Friedrichshafen were reduced to the alternative of returning immediately or remaining in Germany for several days, possibly several weeks.

HELP EMPIRE BY KEEPING FUNDS IN THE DOMINIONS

Reginald McKenna Says This Will Be Greater Service Than Subscribing To the War Loan.

LONDON, July 1.—"While anxious to give residents of the overseas dominions every opportunity to subscribe to the war loan, I hope," said Reginald McKenna in the House of Commons last night, "they won't lose sight of the fact that they can do greater service to the Empire by lending their resources to their own Dominions, and so reducing the calls those Governments are making on the United Kingdom."

CANADIANS IN ENGLAND OBSERVE DOMINION DAY

LONDON, July 1.—The Dominion Day celebration among the Canadian soldiers at Shorncliffe opened in the early morning with bugle and drum. The 11th, 12th, 42nd, 48rd, 49th and Pats reserves paraded in Folkestone, receiving a hearty welcome. A military tatoo was held tonight, when massed bands performed. There was no formal celebration of the day in London, business proceeding as usual in military and Red Cross offices.

Duncan Ross, Once Representative for Yale-Cariboo, Passes Away.

VICTORIA, B. C., July 1.—Duncan Ross, member of the Dominion House of Commons from 1904 to 1908 for Yale-Cariboo, died suddenly last night. He was a native of Bruce County, Ontario, and a former resident of Kincardine, in that county.

ENEMY IS SUPPOSED TO HAVE MARKED THE BOAT BORDEN TOOK

New York Tribune Goes Out of Its Way To Make It Mark at Any Rate.

[Canadian Press.]

NEW YORK, July 2.—The Tribune this morning prints the following:

"Rumors in German circles yesterday predicted that the White Star liner Adriatic, which left Wednesday for Liverpool with a large cargo of war material, munitions, and automobiles, consigned to the Allies, had been marked for attack by German submarines. Aside from being a floating arsenal, local Germans point out, she is an especial mark because some prominent Englishmen are among her passengers.

"Sir Robert Borden, premier of Canada, is one of the passengers, bound for London to consult with the British Cabinet.

"Other passengers were: Captain F. Conway Jenkins of the Royal British Aviation Corps, Dr. Charles Sarolea, Belgian consul at Edinburgh, and a number of British army officers.

"The Adriatic, under ordinary circumstances, would enter the danger zone on Tuesday evening, July 6."

40,000 IN BREAD LINE IN MEXICO CITY

MEXICO CITY, June 27, via Wireless via SS. City of Mexico to New Orleans, July 1.—Repeated attempts made by the Carranza army, directed by Gen. Pablo Gonzales, to capture Mexico City have failed so far, and the forces under Gen. Zapata and Gonzales Garza claim to have had the advantage in the fighting. The Carranza army penetrated to the city but was driven back, and the Zapata forces say that the Constitutionalists have received a definite check.

The members of the diplomatic corps are meeting daily in an endeavor to protect the lives of foreigners.

The shortage of food is becoming serious. Forty thousand poor were in line in front of the international relief offices today.

ITALIANS CAPTURE FORT ON MOUNTAIN

cale Slope and By Bluff Induce Garrison to Surrender.

GE EXPENSIVE WORKS

Fog auses a Slackening of Artillery Action On Both Sides.

[anadian Press.]

GENEVA, Switzerland, via Paris, June 30.—A dispatch from Laibach, Austria, to the Geneva Tribune reports the capture by Italians of a mountain fortress at Col Sugna, 2,500 metres northeast of Ak in Trentino, which cost the Austrians $800,000 to construct.

The correspondent characterizes the capture as an "audacious affair." He states that an Italian with 100 men climbed the steep slopes and demanded that the garrison surender, saying that the fortress was surrounded, which was a bluff, and the garrison capitulated.

ITALIAN REPORT.

ROME, June 30. — (Via Paris, July 1.) — The official statement issued tonight at the headquarters of the Italian general staff was as follows:

"Continued unfavorable weather conditions have imposed new obstacles, which our troops surmount with unchangeable tenacity. In the mountainous part of the theatre of operations fog has caused a slackening of the artillery action on both sides, but has permitted our adversaries to devote greater efforts to the work of fortifying themselves, which, however, has been hindered by the action of small Italian detachments.

"Actions favorable to the Italians have occurred in Val Chiese, between Castello and Condino (36 miles southwest of Trent), and at Porto Manazzo in Val D'Assa. An artillery duel in the district along the ridge of the Carnic Alps also was favorable to us.

"Along the Isonzo front an attack by the enemy upon Italian positions east of Plava, with quick-firers, aided by artillery, was completely repulsed. A night attack against our positions at Castello Nuovo on the Segrado Plateau was likewise repulsed."

WHAT BERLIN SAYS.

BERLIN, July 1.—Wireless to Sayville.—The following official statement regarding the Italian situation was issued today:

"The Italians' general attack, renewed yesterday by several infantry divisions against the Austro-Hungarian positions on the Doberdo Plateau, was everywhere repulsed, with heavy losses for the Italians. The enemy's main charge was directed against the front comprising Sagrado and Monte Corsich, northeast of Monfalcone. The first Austro-Hungarian trenches were entered by the Italians, who, however, were driven back into the valley by a counter-attack. The slopes of Monte Corsich were covered with bodies of Italian dead.

"The charge against the height east of Monfalcone, and one to the northeast of Sagrado, as well as several lesser charges against the Gorizia bridgehead broke down. After this defeat the enemy has remained quiet on the northern Isonzo front. On the Carinthian frontier the cannonade continues."

DEMAND ASSURANCE OF NO CONSCRIPTION

Much Opposition to British Proposed Registration Bill.

[Canadian Press.]

LONDON, July 2.—2:58 a.m.—Considerable opposition to the registry bill is forecasted in the Parliament lobby. Several members have announced their intention of offering amendments of a sweeping character.

One member proposes to offer an amendment to the effect that "this House declines to assent to the introduction of any system of compulsory registration, which is cumbrous, costly and diverting. Mere amassing of indigestible statistics is not organization.

Opposition to the bill comes mainly from the radicals, but ex-Minister Joseph A. Pease will inquire pointedly as to the probable cost and other members will demand assurance that the Government does not contemplate the introduction of forced labor, or conscription. Some Radicals speak of the measure as a "Prussianizing system," while lukewarm supporters complain about the indefinite character of the questions to be asked in taking the register.

Mr. Shore, which is expected to be some time in August.

MISS MINNIE WYNN DEAD.

EXETER, July 1.—The death of Miss Minnie Wynn of Mill street took place Tuesday evening. Miss Wynn had been in poor health for a long time. The funeral, which is to be private, will take place from her late residence, Friday afternoon, to the Exeter Cemetery. She leaves to mourn, five brothers and two sisters.

GAS SHELLS USED AGAIN BY ENEMY

One Trench Lost By French—Allies Destroy Dempierre Works.

[Canadian Press.]

PARIS, July 1.—10:45 p.m.—The following official communication was issued by the war office tonight:

"In the north the day has been relatively calm; although to the north of Arras the cannonade has been very violent.

"Before Dompierre one of our mines demolished some of the enemy's works. The cannonading has continued on the Aisne front.

"The Germans attacked on June 30 on the road between Bernaville and Le Four De Paris with great forces, with the intention of penetrating our lines of defence. They reached our first trenches only by reason of the destruction caused by projectiles of heavy calibre and by the employment of asphyxiating shells.

"The enemy was stopped, thanks to the solidity of our second line, and immediately driven back by counter-attacks of our infantry, which established itself on a front about 200 yards distant from the destroyed works of our first line.

Bombardment Diminishes.

"The enemy's bombardment diminished today. Two new attacks were immediately arrested by our artillery.

"There was an artillery duel in the region of the Bois d'Ailly, Flirey and Le Pretre forest.

"In the Vosges, after the bombardment of our front of Langenfeldskopf and Eigensfirst, two attacks were delivered against us by the enemy, but were completely repulsed."

The war office this afternoon gave out a report, as follows:

"Last night passed quietly in the north, in the vicinity of Arras, and as far as Champagne. The German attack in the Argonne reported yesterday was particularly violent. It is estimated that the forces engaged amounted to two divisions. This attack, however, was checked. Furthermore, two fresh movements against our trenches at the east of the Benarville road were repulsed.

"Another violent attack delivered by the Germans in the vicinity of Metzeral has been completely checked. The Germans suffered important losses."

SUCCEEDING, SAYS BERLIN.

BERLIN, July 1 (via London, 5:30 p.m.)—The following official statement regarding the progress of hostilities was issued today from the headquarters of the German army regarding the western theatre of war:

"North of Arras, fighting around the trenches, under continuous artillery fire, is proceeding favorably for us.

"In the Champagne district, southeast of Rheims, the French attacked without success.

"On the heights of the Meuse and in the Vosges, there were only lively artillery duels.

"Enemy airmen dropped bombs on Zeebrugge and Bruges (in Belgium) without doing any damage of a military character."

LLOYD GEORGE SURE RECENT BAD ERRORS WILL NOT BE AGAIN

Mistakes of Judgment Will Be Investigated—Munitions Bill Passed.

[Canadian Press.]

WASHINGTON, July 1.—Searching investigation is being conducted by the United States into several cases in which it has been officially reported that British ships flew the American flag apparently to avoid attacks by German submarines.

Reports have been received not only from Ambassador Gerard in Berlin, but through American consular sources in Great Britain, with affidavits and other evidence tending to show alleged misuse of the United States flag.

The issue is regarded as of such importance to the safety of ships really entitled to fly the American flag that a note may soon be sent by the United States to Great Britain renewing the representations previously made concerning any general use of the American emblem by British vessels. Some of the affidavits thus far received state that in certain cases the British admiralty agents have consulted with the masters of the vessels, and, in instructing them to take certain courses, advised the use of the American flag.

The United States will not act until it has received complete information, but in view of the emphasis which is laid in Berlin upon the dangers of such a practice. Ambassador Gerard's information on specific cases, as obtained from the German Government, is being carefully investigated. Sufficient proof, it was stated, authoritatively today, already has been gathered to cause officials to consider the making of new representations on the subject.

FEMALE BALLOONIST IN A TRAIN WRECK; WINGHAM IS FOOLED

But In Great Program Absence Is Scarcely Noted—Crowds Beat Records.

[Special to The Advertiser.]

WINGHAM, July 1.—The Dominion Day celebration here drew one of the biggest crowds the town or Victoria Park has had for some years. Early in the morning passenger-laden vehicles were coming in a constant stream; also the trains, both C. P. R. and G. T. R., unloaded quite a number of people. The only disappointment for the visitors was that the balloon flights of Madam De Vonda could not be seen as the feminine aeronaut was in a wreck in Chicago. She sent word to the committee.

In spite of all, the weather was excellent and a grandstand which would seat about 1,000 people was well patronized by the fans at Victoria Park, in which games and other spectacles were put on.

The first was a grand parade of school children, fire brigade, decorated automobiles, calathumpians and bands—the Kincardine Pipers and Citizens' Brass Band.

The Clinton-Wingham baseball game for the championship of Huron County in the forenoon, and in the afternoon a good clean game of lacrosse between the Huron Oaks (Wingham) and the Six Nation Indians (Brantford Reserve) were exciting events. A baby show in front of the grandstand was immensely enjoyed in the afternoon.

Another game of baseball, Wingham vs. Clinton, and a football game between Listowel and Wingham, were played in the afternoon. Excellent music was given by both the Kincardine and Wingham bands.

War Hops and Fireworks.

In the evening an interesting exhibition of native dancing by Indians of the Onondaga tribe in full costume, displaying the "war dance" and the "Ham Ham," was much appreciated, after which a splendid display of fireworks was enjoyed. The pyrotechnics were the finest ever seen in this vicinity.

There were special police on duty under Chief Geo. Allen, but there were no disturbances to worry them. Much credit is due to these gentlemen of the committe, President L. Kennedy; manager, Ald. F. L. Binkley, and secretary-treasurer, W. H. Gourney.

Patriotism was the ruling spirit, and the spirit ran high. Inspiring patriotic choruses were rendered by a choir of sixty children—all children of soldiers who have gone to the front or have enlisted for service.

The Prize Winners.

The results of competitions were as follows:

Parade features—Auto decorated—1, Dr. A. J. Ross; 2, Dr. Ford, V.S.; 3, W. A. Currie.

Bicycles decorated—1, Cecil Markley; 2, Percy Merkley.

Calithumpians—1, A. S. Bailey (representing "Kaiser Bill, killed in action"); 2, W. J. Boyce, commedian.

WOMAN OF WINDSOR MAY BE VICTIM OF ILLEGAL OPERATION

Aged Detroit Physician Is Held on Criminal Charge—Denies Guilt.

[Special to The Advertiser.]

DETROIT, July 1.—Charged with performing an illegal operation that may cause the death of Victoria Charbonneau, 23 years old, of Windsor, Dr. Ralph E. Gustin is locked up at Central station.

Physicians at Providence Hospital are working to save Miss Charbonneau's life, but they think there is no hope for her. According to Prosecutor Keadan, the girl was operated upon two weeks ago in Dr. Gustin's office. After the operation she was kept in the doctor's apartments for five days, the prosecutor said.

The doctor denies doing anything criminal. He is 65 years old.

RUSSIA'S PLAN.

THE latest cables from the eastern zone of the war show the Russians still in retreat before the Germans, but this should not plunge us into gloom. It would be foolish to pretend that the Teutons have not performed brilliantly.

Never has the wonderful war machine shown to such advantage as in the great drive through Galicia. But considering his handicaps and the vastly superior numbers of the enemy, the feat of the Russian commander in withdrawing his armies intact, while all the time hitting back savagely, stands out as a more striking achievement than that of the Kaiser's generals. And this should assure us that the Grand Duke will be able to prevent the destruction of his armies, holding them safe until reinforcements of men and munitions once again give him the offensive. It is the destruction of the Russian armies that is the object of the titanic operations of the Germans. If Warsaw should fall and later Odessa, and even Moscow, all remote possibilities, so long as the Czar's armies of trained veteran fighters are in the field, Russia cannot be conquered. It is very clear why the Grand Duke is not making a stand, until he has secured the needed shells and other war material. In time these can always be supplied, but only after many months of training could the present Russian armies be replaced if wiped out.

The Germans are trying to drive the Russians to a pitched battle, while they hold the advantage in numbers and munitions, but the Grand Duke is too wily to be caught. Hence the general Russian retirement. Meantime the Germans are being pulled away from their bases and their line is becoming extended in a manner to make it highly vulnerable should the Russians be able soon to make another smashing advance. And sooner or later that is just what they will do.

PIG LOGIC.

ONE of these Dachshund Americans, Herr J. Von Bruck, published a letter about a month ago in the New York Times, declaring (1) that Germany had, in north-eastern France, taken possession of 89 per cent of the French coal industry, 78 per cent of the coke, 90 of the iron ore, 86 of the pig iron, 63 of the wire, 77 of the steel castings industry of France, and soforth; (2) that the United States was committing a breach of neutrality in allowing the export of arms and munitions to France! Of course, Herr Von Bruck's figures lie. We have only to remember that the Creusot works, for one, the French Essen, is not in German hands. But never mind that.

Most of these German-Americans have not been in the United States long enough to imbibe the rudimentary notions of sportsmanship, not to mention logic. If the Americans let Germany go and help herself to French steel without interfering, why should they be called upon to interfere with France or Great Britain's not taking but buying what steel they want overseas?

Yet the convention of German-Americans said to be called to meet on July 8 in Detroit is expected to demand of the American Government that it interfere with an honest trade in order to countenance an organized gang of robbers and cut-throats. No one but a German could possibly think in this way; he is "a beast that wants discourse of reason" where his own interest is challenged.

CARELESS WATCHING.

SECRETARY DANIELS of the United States navy, whose position corresponds to that of the British First Civil Lord of the Admiralty, is charged by many American journals with being totally incompetent for his task. Some of his statements tend to back up the charge. One would think that the head of the American navy, especially at this most critical hour for his nation, would have his eye on the doings of the navies of the belligerents, an intimate knowledge of their operations. Yet in a speech made a few days ago he unburdened himself of this gem: "We have seen the main fleet of the greatest sea nation in the world withdrawn from the seas to some secluded harbor without having fired a shot during the first year of the conflict."

No doubt, Mr. Daniels had reference to the North Sea fleet, the superdreadnoughts of which were months ago tucked away in harbors of Albion's coast against the day when the Germans come out for the great fight, but the battle cruisers and smaller craft have been there all the time, and many a good shot and true have they sent at Von Tirpitz's pets. There were two dashing raids off Heligoland, when three of the German vessels went to the bottom, and that later routing of the Teuton's coast raiders, which witnessed the sinking of the Blucher.

Mr. Daniels should inquire of Von Tirpitz as to whether the British fleet has retired from the seas. There is nothing the German admiral would like so well as to have a clear sea, so that he could bring his fleet from the Kiel Canal to harry the British coast and commerce.

If Mr. Daniels wants further proof of the splendid effectiveness of the British navy in the war, let him recall the smashing victory off the Falklands, the sweeping from the seas of the world of German war vessels and merchantmen, the convoying safely of hundreds of transports and supply vessels, the running down of the Emden and the Dresden. If he wished to illustrate the ineffectiveness of fleets in this war, Mr. Daniels should have pointed to the bottled-up squadron of the Germans, not to the alert, ever-active British ships.

A MISCALCULATION?

IT WOULD appear that one main cause of the Allies' present difficulties has been a miscalculation as to the number of men that Germany and Austria could equip and put into the field. For one thing, it was thought that Germany would be handicapped for want of copper, cotton and rubber, and in any event her limit of men was placed at about five millions and Austria's at two or three. Perhaps these figures had really to be doubled. Correspondingly, the number of men to be equipped by the Allies must be greatly increased and kept up to a level to beat anything Germany can possibly do.

Germany opened for attack with a great preponderance of men and machinery. The Allies evidently planned a certain number of men and guns as necessary to throw back and demolish the Teutonic forces. Gradually they drew even with the foe and even a little surpassed him by the end of winter. Then suddenly Germany showed her capacity in output of munitions and men by vast increases to her armies and artillery. The Allies are again, for the moment, in the rear. But this time they will make no mistake. The vastness of the orders given to American manufacturers, in addition to the reorganization of industry in Great Britain and Russia, shows that no chances are being taken at all. As Lloyd George told the manufacturers and workmen in England, the equipment is to be provided in simply inconceivable quantity, to give every opportunity and backing to overwhelming numbers of men, before the Allies begin the crushing forward movement to the Rhine that will settle the war.

EDITORIAL NOTES.

Life seems to be just one graft probe after another.

Dr. Dernberg says he desires nothing more than to go to the front and die. That makes it unanimous.

With Austrian aeroplanes hovering above Venice these nights gondola flirtations have lost their ages-old popularity.

Germany has been miscalculating ever since the war opened. Her latest is the expressed intention to retain Belgium permanently.

The sinking of the Armenian makes plain that Germany holds the United States in contempt. And that attitude, like pride, frequently precedes a fall.

Premier Borden will be able to personally assure the British Government that Canadians are with the rest of the British, people to the finish in the great fight for liberty.

An admirer of O'Donovan Rossa says that he was a great humorist. Perhaps but it is certain that as a Fenian leader and a dynamiter he added more to the anxiety than to the gaiety of nations.

The indignation of the Germans over the bombing of Karlsruhe by French airmen is absurd. For months their airships have been bombing London suburbs, Paris and Calais in every instance without the excuse of military significance.

The Archangel route has been open now for more than a month and there is no doubt but that war munitions have been pouring in for the use of the Grand Duke's armies. Pretty soon they will reach the front and we will see the Muscovite forces stiffen and "come back."

THE ROYAL EXAMPLE.

The fame which our monarch has won,
His subjects will never forget;
He saw how a work might be done,
And promptly the challenge he met.
The liquor he brands,
And fearlessly stands,
A royal example to set.

A summons impressive and grave
Invites you to do the right thing;
Unite with the loyal and brave,
The day of true triumph to bring.
Cast out what is vain,
From liquor abstain,
And follow the lead of your King.

THE SAME THING.

[Chicago Herald.]

Lawyer—So you went out and waited for some time on the pavement. Now, did you strike the witness in the interim?

Defendant—No, I didn't. I pasted him in the jaw.

COOL.

[Ladies' Home Journal.]

Young Barnes had married contrary to his father's wishes. Meeting his parents soon afterward, the father said angrily:

"Well, young man, I have made my will and cut you off with a dollar."

"I am very sorry, father," said the youth contritely; and then added: "But you don't happen to have the dollar with you?"

A SOFT JOB.

[Dartmouth Jack O'Lantern.]

He—Say, I'm going to have the softest job this summer of any man in college.

Him—What'cher going to do? Go to summer school?

He—Nothing doing there. I'm going to work in a bread bakeshop.

Him—What doing?

He—Loafing.

ALWAYS THE SAME.

[Wall Street Journal.]

A visitor dropped into the outer office of a large equipment company and asked for somebody who wasn't in. The gentleman of color in attendance told him he expected Mr.—— in "every minute," and advised him to wait. While the visitor was waiting one of the men of the company whom he knew came in, and they talked for a time.

"Fine lot of men in this company," remarked the visitor to the darky when the other man had gone.

"Yessah," replied the colored attendant. "Very fine bunch of gen'lemen throughout." Then after a thoughtful pause, "Yessah, you'll find 'em jes' exactly as nice all the way through; jes' exactly the same temperature."

STROPPING HIS BACK.

[Ladies' Home Journal.]

When the train stopped at the little Southern station the tourist from the north sauntered out and gazed curiously at a lean animal with scraggy bristles, which was rubbing itself against a scrub oak.

"What do you call that?" he asked curiously of a native.

"Razorback hawg, suh."

"What is he doing rubbing himself against that tree?"

"He's stropping hisself, suh, just stropping hisself."

THE WAY OF MOTHERS.

[Jane Burr.]

I've tucked him under the blankets,
I've snuffed the flickering light—
His gaping satchel mocked and stared
As I said, "My son—good night."
Tomorrow and tomorrow,
I'll come, but he will have flown—
Tomorrow and tomorrow
I'll rock by the hearth alone!

I've kissed his wee little bruises,
I've buttoned his round-collared shirts,
Taught him the tales of the gnomes and elves,
And bound his baby hurts;
I've watched beside his cradle
When the fevers raged and burned—
And stood with God at the turning,
Where the bigger things are learned.

And now the nesting is over,
He aches for the spread of his wings;
Aches for his chance—his bitter chance
To learn the bigger things;
And 'way out there who'll soothe him,
So helpless they are—our men—
I'll go once more while he's sleeping
And tuck him in again.

BENEVOLENCE.

[Exchange.]

An old circus man tells this one:

"The usual crowd of small boys was gathered about the entrance of the tent in a town in Illinois. A benevolent-looking old gentleman standing nearby watched them for a few minutes with a beaming eye. Then, walking up to the ticket taker, he said, with an air of authority:

"'Let all these boys in, and count 'em as they pass.

"The gateman, thinking that the benevolent-looking old gentleman was indulging in a bit of philanthropy, did as requested. When the last lad had gone in, he turned and announced: 'Twenty-four, sir.'

"'Good,' said the benevolent-looking old gentleman, as he walked away, 'I thought I guessed right.'"

THE PESSIMIST.

[Brooklyn Life.]

Payton—A bachelor is a man who has been crossed in love.

Parker—Yes, and a married man has been double-crossed.

HONEST CONFESSION.

[Judge.]

Marjorie—Everybody seems to notice whether you go to church.

Madge—Yes, dear, that's the only reason I go.

BARNARDO'S SIX HUNDRED.

[By Rev. T. Watson, in the Armley and Wortley News, England.]

Note.—Six hundred Old Barnardo Boys are in the Canadian contingent, which has covered itself with glory.

You've heard of "The Light Brigade,"
And of the charge they made;
Not one heart was then afraid,
Had their order and obeyed,
All that Six Hundred.
Fought they all for Britain's fame,
Fought they all in Britain's name,
Full of honor—free from blame,
Them all history shall acclaim,
Heroic Six Hundred.

Now we see another band,
Coming from a distant strand,
Eager all to take their stand,
For the good of motherland,
Just the same number'd.
All save one a Stepney boy,
Counting it their highest joy,
Strength and manhood to employ,
That no foemen might annoy,
Homeland, far sunder'd.

Once they fought a cold world's scorn,
Fought it bravely all forlorn,
Fought with hunger night and morn,
Battered, bullied, bruised and torn,
Neglected Six Hundred.
At the homes—Stepney Causeway—
They were gathered night and day,
Taught therein to work and pray,
And through life to fight their way,
Rescued Six Hundred.

That their lives might be well spent,
With a great and good intent,
They to Canada were sent,
To the care of others lent,
And some critics wonder'd.
Some, in doubt, said, "Tell us when
They have had their chance, and then
What per cent will be good men?"
Now we answer, "Nine in ten,"
A worthy Six Hundred.

Mixing with a mighty throng,
Of some sixty thousand strong,
Marching smilingly along,
You may find somewhere among Barnardo's Six Hundred.
Now, ye critics, kindly say,
When we sent those boys away
To a distant land that day,
Do they now our hopes repay?
Observe the Six Hundred.

From their rivers, lakes and trees,
From their toil and hours of ease,
They have crossed again the seas,
Sailed they fast before the breeze,
Lest Britain be plundered.
Knowing well the foemen's sneer,
Each one cried out, loud and clear,
"We are coming, mother dear,
We'll stand by you, never fear."
Loving Six Hundred!

Hail we you with great delight,
Stepney boys, you charm our sight,
Marching fearless to the fight,
For your King and Truth and Right,
Barnardo's Six Hundred.
You'll meet sights to make you reel,
But your hearts are true as steel,
And we know just what you feel,
For your home and country's weal,
Loyal Six Hundred!

Count it 'mongst your highest joys,
When you hear the battle noise,
See the arts that war employs,
That you all are British boys—
Barnardo's Six Hundred!
If your friend were here today,
"You are men," he'd proudly say;
"Put your trust in God, and pray
For his strength to win 'The Day,'
My gallant Six Hundred!"

When you've fought and gained the goal,
On your country's honored scroll,
There amongst the mighty whole,
We shall proudly then enroll
Barnardo's Six Hundred.
You may fight and suffer pain,
You may not return again,
But through Christ, for sinners slain,
May the conquering host attain,
Which cannot be numbered.

THE HAUNTED COAT.

By M. Gertrude Miller.

"Lucky that Uncle Jim should turn up now!" I remarked cheerfully, tossing the pink cable-slip over to Dorothy. "I'll try to touch him for five hundred at least."

I had been a successful mining-promoter when the slump in copper came along and knocked the ground completely out from under my feet. In our palmy days there had been nothing mean about Dorothy and me. We had the money and we spent it—which fact Uncle Jim forcibly impressed upon my mind as we rode up in the subway on the morning of his arrival from Europe.

A thrilling tale of losses I had narrated; but for all the effect it had upon my uncle, it might have been so much "hot air." All the comfort he vouchsafed was sundry platitudes about "experience being a dear teacher," and so forth—which was about as pleasant, under the circumstances, as a canned-soup advertisement to a starving man.

"Dorothy will bring him around," I reflected, as I gracefully changed the subject. She had never failed yet to wheedle out of me anything on which she had set her heart, I smiled reminiscently; and as I surveyed Uncle Jim's impassive countenance, I regarded him as a lost man.

When at last, however, Dorothy and I had an evening alone—some of Uncle Jim's cronies had dragged him off to a show—my girl sobbed out her disappointment.

"It's no use!" she said between sobs. "Your uncle's like a block of stone. He says that we deserve all we've got—that we cut a wide swath when we had the money, and now we can suffer — that a fool and his money—"

"That's all very well," I interrupted savagely, "but the fact remains that I've got to hustle for a job, and I haven't a spring overcoat."

"I know I oughtn't to have give away your last season's coat," and Dorothy's voice broke.

We were so absorbed in our troubles that we failed to note the lateness of the hour, and Uncle Jim's voice made us both jump.

"You needn't worry about the coat," he remarked dryly. "You can have mine."

His tone nettled me, but a glance at the coat was sufficient. How I had envied that old codger the possession of such a swell garment! Dorothy clapped her hands ecstatically as I strode in front of a mirror, transformed by this masterpiece of a London tailor. Uncle Jim was spare, and I kept in trim with athletics, so the coat was a perfect fit.

Waving aside my somewhat hollow expressions of gratitude, the old gentleman faced me squarely.

"I want this coat," he said impressively, "to mark a new era in your lives. You always were a spendthrift, Jack, but I've a lot of faith in Dorothy. Now, Dorothy, if Jack ever gets hold of any money again, it's a foregone conclusion that he'll throw away that coat; and I want you to promise me solemnly that, if he does, you will rip it apart and save that good satin lining. It was guaranteed for two years. I want you to do this yourself, Dorothy—not even trusting a tailor to rip it, for the satin is too good to be cut up. I'll be back in a few months, and I want to know that you've kept your word. I should like to see you take at least one step toward economy."

His solemn tone over such a trivial matter rasped on me, but Dorothy, I could see, was deeply impressed.

"I promise!" she said earnestly.

If I had counted upon any further generosity as a sequel to the donation of the coat, I was mightly mistaken, for up to the moment when I saw Uncle Jim—multi-labeled suitcase in hand—safely on a westbound Pullman, he had not loosened up in the least. He merely observed, as a parting shot, that he hoped what I was passing through would be a lesson.

"Never mind!" was Dorothy's comforting remark that evening. "It's a dandy coat, Jack. Besides, I really believe this is a test for us, and Uncle Jim means to do something handsome."

Dorothy is a dear, but neither her affection nor the sense of being well-tailored could make me oblivious to my daily humiliations.

At the zenith of my promoting career, many a capitalist had slapped me on the back and said in a bantering tone: "I tell you, Wentworth, if you were open to an offer from me, salary would be no object." Looking around my luxurious suite of offices, amid the busy click of typewriters, I had smiled a bit scornfully and looked upon it as a joke. I now found that it really was a joke, and rather a grim one; for, when I approached these gentlemen and asked for a position, all I got was their polite regrets that I was not a specialist in the day of specialization, and an impatient murmur about their "busy day" as I was coldly bowed out.

To add to my tribulations, I developed a tendency to corpulence. The fact that I was posted for "dues" debarred me from my wonted exercise at the Athletic Club. As my sides took on flesh, Uncle Jim's coat perceptibly shrank. Unluckily, the season was late—May and November had somehow swapped places—and to be without a coat would have been a fatal confession of poverty.

After a fortnight, however, of fruitless search for a "job"—from seeking a "position" I had come at least to the humbler term—I decided that the coat was to blame. I am not superstitious, but that coat got on my nerves and haunted my dreams. It became so intolerable a burden that I seriously considered the advisability of losing it.

"Oh, don't!" pleaded Dorothy. "Remember my promise."

Dorothy need not have worried—the coat had no intention whatever of being lost.

As I hurried from the subway at Wall street the next morning, I experienced an unusual sense of relief—the coat was in the seat I had vacated. It seemed to me that I received more encouragement in the banking-house I visited that day.

"Oh, Jack," was Dorothy's first greeting that night, "a messenger brought back your coat, and he seemed to expect a reward, so I gave him our last dollar. It was awfully careless of you, Jack, to lose it. Don't worry about the dollar," she added, "for I can sell my diamond brooch. The spoons are all gone!"

I winced, but there was no help for it.

Next morning, as I waited in the customers' room of a stock-exchange house—one of a crowd of men of assorted types and ages, all applicants for the managership of an up-town branch—I reflected bitterly upon the irony of fate. The last time I visited that office I had called for the senior partner, whose guest I was to be on a yachting cruise. Times had changed, however, as the attitude of the clerk who took in my card showed conclusively. The manner of Mr. Austin himself left no room for doubt, when, a little in advance of the "common herd," I found myself in his private office.

With the finesse of a seasoned diplomat, he at once put me off the social plane, and upon that of a prospective employee. The slight encouragement I received, therefore, only irritated me; and full was I of bitterness that I swept angrily out, completely forgetting the coat.

"Thank heaven!" I ejaculated, when I discovered the loss. "Maybe some poor devil will find it."

I had never taken any stock whatever in Dorothy's expectations of a reward from Uncle Jim for thrift.

Hardly had I reached home that evening when a messenger, carrying my coat, arrived from Mr. Austin's office, and with it a short, crisp note in the handwriting of my whilom yachting-companion. Its meaning was unmistakable—that when a man so "hard up" as he knew I was left behind him such a good coat as that, he felt it would jeopardize the interests of the house to employ such a person as manager.

A confounded memorandum-book in the pocket had, of course, disclosed the ownership.

I glared at Dorothy, as if daring her to make any remarks, but she had no disposition to triumph over me.

"Never mind!" she said soothingly, laying her hand on my shoulder. "I'll rip that coat apart tomorrow, and there'll be an end of it. And by the way, Jack, the Ladies' Aid are packing a box for a missionary in Kansas tomorrow, and as I couldn't donate anything, I'm compelled to entertain them. I—I—I've sold the clock."

I thought I had missed the handsome timepiece which—pleasantly reminiscent of our wedding—had ticked away so merrily during our hitherto prosperous life together.

"By Jove, Dorothy!" I exclaimed suddenly, ignoring her sacrifice on the altar of hospitality, "why don't you put that coat in the box? The missionary that gets it will be tickled to death."

Dorothy sighed.

"I'm afraid Uncle Jim was right," she said sadly, "about your extravagance. Indeed, I won't give away that coat! I'm going to use the satin to line my old covert."

On my way up in the subway, next day, I met Billy Eastman. I had had a stroke of good luck.

"Hello, old man!" I said jovially. "I'm mighty glad to see you! I've just been appointed manager of Douglas & Cameron's up-town branch. Wish me success!"

"Indeed I do," he responded heartily. "Now I'm sure that you and Dorothy'll join us—we're taking a cottage at Seaport for the season, and, hang it, Jack, I've been pretty hard hit in the panic, and we'd like to divide the expense."

My spirits went down like the barometer before a storm. Carrie Eastman and Dorothy were like sisters, and the thought of pleasant week-ends with a kindred spirit like Billy was too much. Mentally I consigned Uncle Jim to a shocking fate, as I reflected how that five hundred dollars I had meant to get from him, coupled with my present modest salary, would have enabled us to accept Billy's proposal.

I found Dorothy worn out by the Ladies' Aid; and it didn't improve her spirits much to learn of the Seaport proposition, which the state of our finances made impossible.

In the centre of the dining-room was the missionary box, ready for me to nail up. I waited till Dorothy had retired; then, stealing softly to my wardrobe, I took out Uncle Jim's coat and deposited it carefully under the pile of bedding at the top of the box. In a spirit of mischief, I pinned on a card reading:

Don't fail to rip out the satin lining. It's the best part of the coat.

One Sunday morning, a fortnight later, after making his announcements, Rev. Dr. Hanscombe looked benignly over the congregation.

"Some good friend," he remarked benevolently, "has chosen to do his or her alms in secret. Our brother in Kansas writes us that underneath the satin lining of a handsome overcoat contained in the box our ladies so generously packed for him, his wife found five hundred dollars in bank-notes; and he begs me to thank the congregation for this generous gift."

A ripple of surprise ran through the church. My thoughts were decidedly at variance with the spirit of the hour. I understood now what a woman's intuition meant, and why Dorothy had so insisted upon preserving that coat, over whose loss she had spent many sleepless nights. Into my mind there came suddenly a vision of the way the surf rolled up on the beach in front of the Eastman's cottage at Seaport.

As I looked up, I caught Dorothy's eyes. They said, as plainly as eyes can: "I told you so!"

A PAGE OF GENERAL INTEREST TO WOMEN READERS

HOSPITAL IS "MANNED" BY SCOTTISH WOMEN

Entire Staff in Paris Hospital for Wounded Is Composed of Women.

The June issue of the Red Cross Bulletin contains an interesting account of a military hospital in Paris, "manned" entirely by women:

"I think it will interest you and other friends if I would tell you something of my visit to the Chateau de Royaumont, where there is maintained a hospital by the Scottish Women's Suffrage Association.

"The chateau is most beautifully situated in a fine park to the north of Paris, and formerly a monastery, but was destroyed in part during the revolution of 1792. There remains, however, the greater part of the monastery, to which has been added a more modern building, in which the proprietor lives. It is in the monastery that the hospital of 200 beds is established. One hundred and sixty were occupied at the time of my visit, all by French wounded or injured soldiers. Medical cases are directed chiefly elsewhere.

The entire staff of doctors are women, the chief surgeon being Miss Innes (M.B., M.S., London), the highest degree which can be taken by man or woman in medicine. I saw a lady surgeon perform an operation for hernia, and I can say truthfully I never saw it better done. They had some twenty cases of operated hernia in the hospital, including a child of three, who was found in a neighboring village. They perform all the operations of modern surgery, which to me was a surprise as well as a pleasure. The fine rooms of the old monastery were filled with happy faces of the wounded—each bed having a red coverlet contrasting with the old grey stone walls, while the little bed tables were made gay with flowers. The refectory, a lofty room with grained stone roof and fine old oak trimmings, is used as the dining-room of the staff. Near the table there is a fine stone pulpit from which some old monk used to read the Lives of the Saints while the brethren dined.

A Wonderful Work.

"These ladies are doing wonderful work. They get their wounded direct by their own motor ambulances, driven by women. The X-ray room and operating rooms are thoroughly up to date, and I can say that some of the X-ray plates I saw are equal to the best. I was much struck by the grateful remarks made by the patients, with whom I had considerable conversation."

HARVEST-TIME.

Pillowed and hushed on the silent plain,
Wrapped in her mantle of golden grain,

Wearied of pleasuring weeks away,
Summer is lying asleep today—

Where winds come sweet from the wild-rose briars,
And the smoke of the far-off prairie fires;

Yellow her hair as the goldenrod,
And brown her cheeks as the prairie sod;

Purple her eyes as the mists that dream
At the edge of some laggard, sun-drowned stream;

But over their depths the lashes sweep,
For summer is lying today asleep.

The north wind kisses her rosy mouth,
His rival frowns in the far-off south,

And comes caressing her sunburnt cheek,
And summer awakes for one short week—

Awakes, and gathers her wealth of grain,
Then sleeps and dreams for a year again. —Pauline Johnson.

ABOUT ALUMINUM.

There are two important "don'ts" for all aluminum users:

Don't clean it with washing soda or other strong alkalies, as these will ruin it.

Don't use aluminum for cooking eggs. It is much easier to have an agate-ware dish for eggs and an iron frying-pan than to spend ten or fifteen minutes' hard labor removing the dark stains formed every time eggs are cooked in aluminum.

The best use we can make of our life is to live so that we shall be a benediction to everyone we meet.

ADVERTISER PATTERNS

Waist 1350—Skirt 1336—A Charming Summer Dress.

Composed of Ladies' Waist Pattern 1350, and Ladies' Skirt Pattern 1336. As here illustrated, white taffeta, was employed in the making, with pipings of new blue on the free edges. The waist has new-style features. The sleeve, in short length, is finished in bell style, and trimmed with buttons to correspond with those on the waist front. The skirt is composed of double-flounce sections, that may be finished with deep, scalloped or straight lower edges. For poplin, linen, organdie, lawn, dimity, voile or crepe, this design is very attractive. The waist is cut in six sizes: 34, 36, 38, 40, 42 and 44 inches, bust measure. The skirt is in six sizes: 22, 24, 26, 28, 30 and 32 inches, waist measure. It requires 7¼ yards of 36-inch material with 1¼ yards of lining for the foundation skirt, for a medium size. The skirt measures about 3½ yards at lower edge of lower flounce.

This illustration calls for TWO separate patterns, which will be mailed to any address on receipt of 10 cents FOR EACH pattern in silver or stamps.

Getting Used to Eyeglasses---Corrections That Reduce Blindness.

Why Spectacles Cause Uneasiness When First Worn.—What the Oculist Does.

WEARING GLASSES.

The eye is a living thing, very much alive and active.

There is nothing more characteristic of living things than change. It is not to be wondered at that results obtained one day may not exactly tally with those found the next day, particularly in eyes that are irritated by strain, overuse, ill-health, etc.

Thus it is impossible to set a definite time and say all eyes should be examined every six months or twelve months, or any other period that will fit all cases.

Some disorders must come in a few days, others a few months, others a few years.

One of the most troublesome optical effects produced by glasses is the feeling as if the floor were rising and you were walking uphill and as if you had grown much shorter; or, conversely, as if the floor were sloping away and you had grown taller.

These and similar effects may be very annoying and may even cause dizziness and nausea. They are due to an optical distortion produced by certain glasses.

Usually the feeling soon passes off. It is unwise to wear such glasses at once in a crowded street, especially in a strange city. One should get used to them at home before venturing where a misstep might cause a serious accident.

In getting used to glasses, it should be borne in mind that glasses are often ordered to make the eyes do their seeing in a different way. If glasses were given, as they easily could be, which did not make the eyes see differently, they would cause no trouble in getting used to them, but, of course, they would do no good if what was really needed was something to make the eyes change from a bad way of using them to a new and better way.

When Willie is cross and won't "mind mother," when he's dull and won't study his lessons, don't take down the birch rod and don't call him a naughty boy. It's quite likely that Willie has adenoids.

If he breathes through his mouth instead of his nose, if his voice is expressionless and his face dull, if his upper teeth are prominent, look for adenoids—and have them removed.

[Correspondents are requested to make their inquiries as brief as possible, and to write on one side of the paper only. It is impossible to give replies within a stated time, as all letters have to be answered in turn. No letter can be answered privately.]

Don't Use It.

Dear Miss Grey,—I am 22 years old, and my hair is very grey. Some of my friends have advised the use of peroxide, to make it all lighter, in order that the grey will not show so plainly. How much peroxide shall I use to keep my hair from becoming so obviously "yellow"? PRUDENCE.

A.—If you want to keep your hair in good condition, you canot use any peroxide. Even the "judicious" use of it will turn your hair yellow after a time, and it certainly kills the hair-roots. Grey hair is not objectionable—when it is well kept it is very beautiful, and almost universally becoming. Probably if you have your head massaged every week for a while the scalp will be put into a better condition, and no more of your hair will turn—but don't try peroxide.

Better Not Try.

MILLY.—You should not have accepted so valuable a gift from a man to whom you were not engaged. You have certainly made overtures enough in attempting to patch up your difficulties, and if I were you I wouldn't do anything more. If a man does not care for a girl, she can no more hold him than she could a bubble, and the sooner she resigns herself to this knowledge the happier she will be.

Talk to Mother About It.

Dear Miss Grey,—I am a young man of 28 and am the main support of a widowed mother, which I have been for some years. I have not gone out much with any young ladies, thinking my duty was to care for my mother, and that I should not court a young lady with the intention of matrimony. All of my men friends have married, and think it strange I do not. I could not keep up two households, and do not think it good policy to ask a wife to live with one's folks. I know a young lady whom I think would make a good wife. Should I court this girl, or do you think my duty is toward my mother first? I would not like to ask a young lady to wait an indefinite time to marry. Please let me have your advice. MOTHER'S SON.

A.—Your mother is your best friend and your duty is to provide for her. At the same time, I think all good mothers wish to see their children happily settled in life. Why not talk to her about this matter? Perhaps you could arrange to have a wife and mother in the same home, and each be of much comfort to the other.

Gladys Is Grateful.

Dear Miss Grey,—1. I expect to spend a week at the lakeside. Please state what wearing apparel will be necessary in the way of dresses.

2. What will prevent shoes from squeaking?

3. To whom should I write for a copy of a will, and explain if the land is free from all debt, etc.

Have received information from you before, and wish to thank you for it. GLADYS.

A.—1. Fussy clothes, or fine feathers that one has always to be in fear of spoiling, seem very much out of place at the lakeside, I think, and certainly a girl cannot enjoy herself if she has to be continually mindful of her clothes. A dark skirt, two middy blouses, sport coat or sweater, white skirt and nice blouse, linen suit or wash dress of muslin. These would be ample for a week's outing. If you do not wear "middies," shirtwaists, white or colored, may be substituted; if your woolen skirt is blue, a good idea is to have a blue blouse of serge or flannel to wear, if the weather suddenly turns cool.

2. Sometimes to bore a very tiny hole right in the centre of the sole—not to go through, of course—is effective. A little oil may be dropped into the hole as a further help.

3. Do you mean that the person making the will is deceased? If so, you could probably obtain a copy by applying at the surrogate court office, situated in the county in which the person died. There would be a small fee charged for copying. If you wished to know whether any debts existed against the estate, it would be necessary to advertise for creditors. I think you had better see a lawyer.

Cure for Warts.

Dear Miss Grey.—In Saturday's Advertiser a reader asked for a cure for warts. It is a very simple and harmless remedy, but I have found it a positive cure. Simply bandage the parts and keep the bandage soaked with castor oil for a few days and the warts will disappear.

Yours sincerely, "LONELY."

Ans.—Thank you, Lonely. I am glad to pass on your remedy to the reader inquiring.

Toads and Warts.

Dear Miss Grey,—Surely, Miss Grey, you are joking, but many people may think you are in dead earnest about toads making warts. When I was little I carried a toad around in each hand and played with them. I pick them up yet, and I have never had a wart in my life.

People are prejudiced against toads for that very reason, that they think they make warts, and kill them on sight, not knowing what useful animals they are. A LOVER OF ANIMALS.

Ans.—Yes, I was joking, and certainly thought it obvious enough for the dullest mind to understand so. While I do not share the regard for toads that you seem to possess (I never wanted to handle them), I quite agree with you that they are most useful in a garden, for instance, for the destroying of bugs and insects.

How and Where To Grow Roses

[Written Specially for The Advertiser.]

"You love the roses—so do I. I wish
The sky would rain down roses, as they rain
From the shaken bush. Why will it not?
Then all the valley would be pink and white,
And soft to tread on. They would fall as light
As feathers, smelling sweet, and it would be Like sleeping and yet waking, all at once!"

—George Eliot.

Everybody, except those who have the misfortune to reside in thickly-populated districts. Here the impurities of the atmosphere, the absence of direct sunshine, the sour condition of the soil, and the prevalence of cold draughts, prevent roses thriving satisfactorily, and to attempt to grow them under such untoward conditions would simply mean courting failure.

In the suburbs and in the country there is every facility for growing roses in beds or borders. Everywhere, in fact, where pure air, fairly good soil, and abundance of sunshine reigns supreme, there will the rose flourish and blossom exceedingly well.

The Matter of Soil.

A word about the soil:

I have already hinted that a fairly good soil is needful to grow roses. Roses will not flourish in a poor, hungry soil. They will struggle to grow, but the growth will be weak and puny, and the flowers miserably small. The ideal soil is a good porous loam, resting on a porous subsoil. The next best is a medium clay, not too compact or tenacious, or likely to hold water. Heavy, greasy clay is not good for roses, but might be made suitable by the addition of grit, stable manure, and vegetable refuse.

Gravelly soils are too dry; and shallow, sandy soils are the worst of all soils to grow roses in. The Advertiser readers are, I know, distributed over a wide area, and hence have diversified soils to deal with, and, as they are doubtless anxious to grow roses, it is my duty to give them a few hints how to go to work to prepare their soils so as to suit the requirements of the plants. At Springbank, where there are about 3,000 rose trees now in bloom, the beds originally were nothing but receptacles of quicksand, but having worked into this plenty of good rotten horse dung and fresh malden loam, one finds there today roses doing, as London's keenest amateur rosarian declares, remarkably well.

Taking the ideal soil first: This should be trenched three "spits" deep and plenty of good fat cow or pig dung buried between each "spit." The medium clay must also be trenched similarly, and manure—rotten horse dung—placed between the "spits." As the trenching proceeds, mix burnt garden refuse, old mortar and lime freely among the soil. Heavy clays also need deep trenching. In the bottom place cabbage stumps, tree or hedge prunings, and rubble to act as drainage. Between the second and first "spit" place a good layer of fresh, strawy horse dung, and mix road grit, burnt refuse, old mortar, decayed tree leaves, and lime among the upper layer of soil. Gravelly, chalky, and sandy soils must have thick layers of cow or pig dung placed between the first and second layers of soils. Clay ought also to be added, if possible. All this means hard work and expense; but the rose-grower must make up his mind to supply both requirements if he wishes to succeed.

The Position.

The position for roses. This important point has also been briefly referred to in my opening paragraphs. I again mention the matter here, because it is most important that the would-be rosarian should remember the fact that roses are sun-loving plants; that is, the better kinds. Tea-scented dwarfs and climbers need a warm, sheltered position. Draughty or sunless positions will not suit them. Hybrid Perpetuals and Hybrid Teas are not so particular about warmth, but they must have full exposure to sunshine; indeed, all roses, except one or two, such as the Boursault, Evergreen, and Ayrshire kinds, demand this essential requirement. At the end of this article I shall give selections of roses for various purposes and various aspects, and the reader will then be able to choose those kinds that will answer his purpose best.

Rose Trees.

The forms of rose trees. I will now briefly explain the various forms in which rose trees are grown for the benefit of the inexperienced reader. First of all, there is the dwarf. This form of rose is grafted or budded on what is technically called a stock. This is raised from a seed or cutting by the nurseryman and when the stem is the thickness of a cedar pencil, a bud or a scion is placed in the stem in the first case, or on the stem in the second one, as near its base as possible. The stocks are seedling wild roses or cuttings of wild roses, or cuttings of the wild Italian rose called the Manetti. Thus the trade describes dwarf roses as worked, i.e., grafted or budded on the Seedling Briar, Cutting Briar or the Manetti. Experience has shown that dwarfs on the Manetti stock do best on light soils, while those on the Seedling or Cutting Briar succeed best on heavy soils. Then there are also roses on their own roots. All roses do not do well thus, and, besides, they take much longer to develop into large plants. Own-root-roses are raised from cuttings struck in the fall. This is the chief reason for working roses on stocks. Good plants can be obtained thus in a couple of years or so, whereas those raised from cuttings take three to four years before they attain a decent size. Roses worked on stocks do not live so long as own-root roses. Sometimes the rose worked on the stock is weak and feeble and dies; the stock, however, survives, sends up vigorous shoots and these are carefully tended and pruned by the novice, under the impression that they will yield him a fine crop of flowers. Each year comes and goes, the plant flourishes, but no flowers appear. This is not a frequent occurrence, fortunately; but still there is the risk to be run. The experienced grower can recognize the shoots of the stock at once, and, therefore, is never tempted to spend time and labor on shoots that will never yield him any return for his trouble.

Where to Plant.

How and where to plant. All roses should be planted in either April or May. No practical rose-grower ever plants earlier. Those who do, either lose their plants or get the roots and stems so crippled with cold, wet and frost, that they rarely ever progress or flower satisfactorily afterwards. Any roots that are bruised or wounded should be cut off clean. If the roots are in the slightest degree dry, soak them for an hour or so in water.

Now, as to planting.

For dwarfs: Dig out a hole in the prepared soil, eighteen inches wide and deep enough to allow the soil-mark on the stem to be just below the surface of the ground. The soil-mark can be easily detected by examining the stem just above the roots. If this is difficult to discern, look for the spot where the plant was budded or grafted, and place the roots low enough to bury this in the ground. Cover the roots with fine mould, but do not let any manure touch the roots. Spread out the roots evenly. When the roots are covered about three inches, gently press the soil down with the foot, then fill the hole and tread firmly. Proceed in this way with each till all are planted. Dwarfs should be planted eighteen inches apart, each way. After planting, mulch the surface of the soil with manure.

The general management of roses may be summed up in a few words. The chief factors in insuring success are to prepare the soil thoroughly, to plant properly, and especially to pay careful attention to pruning. The latter subject I shall deal with in a future article.

Selections.

I will now conclude this article with a list of varieties for various purposes. I shall only give a limited number, and these will be as representative as possible and of proved merit. The letters in parenthesis after the names indicate the class to which the variety belongs, thus: H.P. mean hybrid perpetual; H.T., hybrid tea; P., Polyantha.

Dwarfs.

Frau Karl Druschki (H.P.)—Certainly the most beautiful white rose yet known.

Caroline Testout (H. T.)—Light salmony pink; very large flowers.

Countess of Gosford (H.T.)—Flesh color, shaded white and suffused pink.

Margaret Dickson (H.P.)—White, with pale flesh centre; magnificent form.

Mrs. John Laing (H.P.)—Soft pink, finely shaped.

Ulrich Brunner (H.P.)—Cherry-red; very large.

General McArthur (H.T.) — Bright crimson.

Gruss au Teplitz (H.T.)—Very bright scarlet.

Lady Roberts (T.)—Orange, shaded with apricot.

Kaiserin A. Victoria (H.T.)—Cream, shaded lemon.

Paul Neyron (H.P.)—Clear pink. The largest rose.

Prince Camille de Rohan (H.P.)—Velvety crimson.

Marie Pavie (P.)—White, with delicate rose centre. Blooms unceasingly all summer. May now be seen at its best at Springbank, first bed in park from Pipe Line road.

Madame Norbert Levavasseur (P.)—Better known as Baby Crimson Rambler. Always in bloom.

Clotilde Soupert (P.)—Rich, creamy white. A strong grower.

Maman Levavasseur (P.)—Pink Baby Rambler or Baby Dorothy. Beautiful, bright pink; blooms incessantly.

Climbers.

American Pillar—Rich, rosy pink. Exquisitely lovely. Will make thick canes twenty feet long in one season.

Hiawatha—Brilliant scarlet with a well-defined white eye.

Crimson Rambler—The Old Favorite, Dorothy Perkins. Delicate cherry-pink.

Tausendschon—Beautiful shell pink. Each individual flower measures two inches across.

All the foregoing may be seen in flower in season on Springbank's rose-bank drive.

TAILENDERS TAKE TWO GAMES FROM TECUMSEHS

"Slab" Warner's Boys Outhit and Outfielded London in Both Cases—Triple Play in Morning Game, and Home Run and Three Triples in Afternoon.

[BY BERT PERRY.]

LOOKING anything but tailenders, "Slab" Warner's Brants took both morning and afternoon games from "Doc" Reisling's team. The Tecumsehs demonstrated that they could lose just as consistently to right-handers as they could to southpaw pitching. The morning score was 6 to 1 and the afternoon count was 6 to 4. The p.m. contest was much the better of the two from the standpoint of the spectators. There was more healthy clouting in it than has been seen in these parts for some time.

The Brants had it on the locals in almost every department. They fielded better and had more fight in them. Warner has certainly got a tidy team, and it will not be long before he is up fighting for the top rung. In each game the visitors got the jump on the locals in the first frame, and London never could get ahead. In the second inning of the afternoon contest the locals tied the score, but from the fourth inning on were not in it.

Dillinger Got Poor Support.

Dillinger was on the hill for London in the afternoon. He was opposed to Poad, one of Warner's newest pitchers. Both twirlers were hit hard, but the Brants bunched their blows to better effect. Dillinger had good control, and pitched better ball than Poad, but his support was awful at times, and three or four runs were scored that should have been on the bases. Third Baseman Lusk gave a poor exhibition in both games. His fielding was miserable, and he certainly demonstrated that he is not good enough for the Canadian League. He had three errors in the afternoon pastime, and two of them were costly.

The London team did some good hitting in both games, but most of the hits came at times when there was nobody on the bases, or after two were out. The afternoon game contained three triples and a home run. The feature of the contest was the hitting of Reidy and Lacroix in the fourth inning. Cy was the first man up in this frame, and he clouted the pill to the pit in deep left field, Comstock making a quick recovery, and holding him to three sacks. Lacroix followed with a home run, the ball rolling under the fence in deep centre field. Eckstein and Cooper got three base-hits also. Cooper's smash would have been a single, but it hopped bad for Reidy and got through him. Comstock scored on it. Eckstein's triple came in the fifth inning, when he was the first man up in that frame. He scored on Schaffer's fly to Burrill. This was London's last run.

Eckstein's Great Catch.

Eckstein cut off a run in the sixth inning with one of the best catches seen at Tecumseh Park this season. With Mullin on third, Dunlap hit a long drive that would have hit the left field fence. Eckstein got under it and grabbed it out of the air with his glove-hand, almost leaning against the boards.

"Doc" Reisling went in to pinch-hit for Dillinger in the eighth when London had a slight chance to get a run or two in. There were two out, and men and first and second, but the London manager ended the inning by flying out.

Cy Reidy's hitting was another feature. The peppery right-fielder had three hits in three times up. He was at bat four times, but was hit once.

In the morning London pulled the first triple made in the Canadian League this season. Mike Mullin partly helped. It was in the eighth inning. Ivers was on second and Mullin on first base. Dunlap hit to Lusk, and he touched third and threw Dunlap out at first. For some reason Mullin started for second base, then turned back to first again. McEvoy threw to Lamy and Mullin was forced, completing a triple play and retiring the side.

THE MORNING GAME.

Hammond and Close were the opposing twirlers in the morning game, and the visiting twirler had a slight edge on the local slabster because he tightened up in the pinches and kept the hits more scattered. Neither one of them pitched good ball, Hammond showing very little of his usual stuff. Close was backed up by some brilliant fielding, and the London twirler was handicapped by a lot of poor base-running and indifferent work by his support.

Brantford got a two-run lead in the first frame, Buster Burill hitting the fence with a two-base drive after Comstock and Cooper had singled. Both these runners scored on the hit. Had Brantford not scored any more runs, these two would have served to win the game. They added another in the third on a walk, a stolen base, a long fly and an infield out. In the fourth, two more came over, Ivers getting a triple when Schaffer tried to stop his drive to centre field with one hand. Mullin hit through Lamy's legs and Ivers scored. Dunlap singled and Mullin went to third. Dunlap stole and Mullin scored on Fried's fly to Reidy. The sixth run was scored in the sixth inning. Ivers got a single and advanced on an infield out, and Whitcraft's bad peg to first. Whitty could have cut off Ivers at third had he pegged to Lusk instead. Ivers came home when Whitcraft threw out Fried at first base. In this case, also, it looked as if Whitcraft could have got Ivers at the plate had he thrown to Lacroix.

Lusk Pulls a "Rock."

Lusk spoiled a rally by London in the third inning. He pulled a fine "bone" on the bases. After Hammond had gone out to Dunn, Lamy singled to left and stole second. Lusk followed with a single to centre and Lamy scored. Whitcraft singled between first and second into right field, and Lusk apparently fell asleep on the job. He trotted to second base like a man in a dream, then, suddenly waking up, he tried to make third while Dunn had the ball. He was easily nailed on Dunn's peg to Mullin. This made two men out and put Whitcraft on second, whereas Lusk should have been on third and Whitty on first with only one out. Eckstein ended the inning by getting called out on three strikes.

London had another chance in the fourth, Schaffer and McEvoy, the two first men up, singling. Cy Reidy, however, hit into a double play, spoiling the opportunity. This is the second time in three games that Reidy has been up with no one out and somebody on second, and has hit into a double play at a time when the club needed a couple of runs badly. Had he bunted he would have prevented a double play and might even have filled the bases with no one out. He couldn't have done any worse than have himself thrown out at first base, anyway. It may be good baseball to play it the way he did, but the results don't prove it. If the London team would change its attack once in a while and spring something new, probably it would be a great deal more effective.

Schaffer Fans With Three On.

Another opportunity presented itself in the eighth after two men had been expunged. Lusk got a single and Whitcraft drew a walk, while Eckstein was hit by a pitched ball. This brought Schaffer up, and the crowd pleaded for a hit. Close, however, struck him out on four pitched balls. Schaffer didn't even strike at one of them.

The Brants looked like a mighty smart team in this game and they won't be down on the bottom long if they keep up that kind of ball. Joe Dunn made a great catch in the seventh when he robbed McEvoy of a double, at least, by jumping into the air and spearing his drive with his gloved hand. Comstock also made a nice catch of a foul fly by Lamy in the fifth.

STONE TOWN TAKES LONDON'S MEASURE IN NATIONAL GAME

Visitors Have Only 9 Players Against 10 Vets.

THE CONTEST WAS FAST

Four of Regular Line-Up Away Over the Holiday.

In a cleanly contested and fast exhibition of the national pastime of lacrosse, St. Marys yesterday, after a hard struggle, succeeded in defeating the London team by a score of 17 to 4.

London was much handicaped by having to play nine players against the ten veteran players of the Stone Town and were further at the disadvantage that four of the regular line-up were away over the holiday, Holley, Kersey, Spalding and Fetterley. Notwithstanding this the London team gave the veterans a hard battle and in the early stages of the game, it was anybody's battle. For the Londons Donahue starred in goal and took care of numerous apparently sure goals. The London goals were scored by Nash, Slattery and Jewett. Allan Kinder of Preston refereed the game to the satisfaction of all parties and the penalties were few and insignificant.

The following was the line-up of both teams.

St. Marys		London
L. Shannon	Goal	R. Donahue
L. Stewart	Point	N. Simons
T. Jones	C. Point	W. Diedrichs
J. Alberts	1st Def.	Lorne Broley
H. Cuthbertson	2nd Def.
B. McConnell	Centre	L. Slattery
W. Lavelle	2nd Home	J. McCrae
M. Cowan	1st Home	W. Nash
C. Wilson	Out. Home	J. Whitby
R. Riddell	In. Home	J. W. Jewett

The game on Saturday with Wingham promes to be a fast one, as London will have their regular team in action, and Wingham with four of London's last year championship team are putting up a fast game this season. Allan Kinder will referee and a large turn out of London lacrosse fans is hoped for. The game will be called at 2:30 p.m. in order to enable the Wingham team to return home before Sunday.

WALTER JOHNSON GOES HOME TO SEE BABY BOY

Washington, July 2.—Walter Johnson, premier pitcher of the American League, hurried home this morning from New York to see a baby boy which was born during the night. Mrs. Johnson is a daughter of Congressman Roberts of Nevada.

Vancouver, July 2.—New Westminster defeated Vancouver lacrosse club 9—8 last night.

TEXAS JIM AN EASY WINNER AT CHATHAM

Roche's Green Pacer Took 2:14 Pace Straight.

MONARCHIAL LADY WON

Took 2:14 Trot in Straight Heats After Being Beaten in First Heat.

[Special to The Advertiser.]

CHATHAM, July 1.—The features of today's racing at Chatham Driving Park were the splendid performances of Monarchial Lady and Texas Jim. In the 2:14 trot the little chestnut mare won in three straight heats after giving the first one to Nata Prime. The last three heats were easy victories, and Monarchial Lady came under the wire safe distances ahead, with her driver riding easily. In the 2:14 pace Texas Jim, who is heralded as the best green pacer out this year, lived up fully to his reputation. He did not have to extend himself once, and he was a sure winner each heat.

After the first heat, Roche, who was driving him, gave place to his son, and the youngster handled the reins as competently as his father.

Only one new race was put on the card today. Three heats had been pulled off in the 2:20 pace yesterday, with two firsts to the credit of All Direct. The fourth heat, run off today, settled the race in favor of the Winnipeg horse. In this race Mary Peters, who raced yesterday, was drawn from the contest.

The 2:14 pace was the race left over from yesterday's card. There were only three starters, the others having been drawn. It was a disappointment to the crowd when it was announced that Billy Brino would not start, as it was generally recognized he was the only entry capable of giving Texas Jim a good race. There was a good attendance, but the track was very heavy and the racing was not up to the usual standard.

Willard Spends Night At Port Stanley, But Vanishes In Morning

Heavyweight Champion and Two Friends Get Up At 6 o'Clock and Leave No Clue To Their Destination—Are Apparently On Way To Willard's Home in the West.

BY BERT PERRY.

There seems to be no doubt that Jess Willard, the giant cowboy from Kansas, who redeemed the heavyweight championship of the world for the white race by his defeat of Jack Johnson at Havana, Cuba, on April 5th last, spent last night at the Invererie Hotel in Port Stanley. Willard arrived at the Invererie shortly after eight o'clock accompanied by two friends. He made himself as inconspicuous as possible, and no explanation was given of his presence there. Before retiring at 11 o'clock he asked to be called at 6 o'clock in the morning. When the party was aroused this morning all three men dressed quickly and left the hotel without taking breakfast. They were all eager to get away, and Willard seemed annoyed that his arrival had been noised around.

Where the three men went is not known. They left Port Stanley on the early Traction car, but whether they got off at St. Thomas and took a train from there or whether they came on to London and took a train from here is a mystery. They were not seen in St. Thomas, and inquiry at all the hotels there failed to disclose any trace of them. No one had seen them at the M. C. R. station in that city, and one of the station porters there claimed that no one answering their description got on any of the trains up to 10 o'clock.

Have Not Been Seen Here.

They have not been reported in this city either. They are not registered at any of the hotels here, and the closest inquiry has failed to uncover any track of them in London. Williard registered at Port Stanley as Jess Willard, San Francisco, and the men with him registered at J. Sincoe of Toronto and J. H. Thompson of Toledo. Proprietor Kingston of the Invererie Hotel had a talk with Willard just before he retired. Willard had gone for a walk on the beach with Sincoe and Thompson, and many people greeted him with "Hello, Jess." He told Mr. Kingston about it, and said that as long as they didn't do anything worse than that to him he was all right. He would say nothing about where he had come from or where he was going, and his friends were equally as reticent.

Was in Rochester Wednesday.

For the past month Willard has been travelling with the 101 Ranch Wild West Show. His wife accompanied him until the show reached Buffalo on Tuesday last. Here a physician's examination revealed the fact that Mrs. Willard had tuberculosis and had only a month or two to live. She was immediately sent to the Willard home in Los Angeles, and Jess expected to accompany her until the management of the show refused to break his contract and allow him to go. The show was in Rochester on Wednesday, and here Wilard made application to have both his arms insured for $50,000 each.

It is believed that he has jumped his contract, and is now on his way home to join his wife. He apparently arrived here yesterday afternoon and thought he could take the boat from Port Stanley to Cleveland. The boat did not run last night, so it is probable the party decided to continue their journey by rail.

That the man at Port Stanley was really Willard, there is no doubt. He was immediately recognized by a resident of the Invererie who had seen him in Buffalo two years ago. This same person claims that the man who registered as Sincoe is really named Towers.

Kauff Declares He Is Done With Federal League

Crack Outfielder of Brookfeds Says He Will Report to the New York Giants.

NEW YORK, July 1.—Benny Kauff, the crack outfielder of the Brooklyn Federals, who refused to play in today's double header with Kansas City because of a disagreement regarding his salary, declared tonight that he is through with the Federal League and that he intends to jump to the New York Nationals. Kauff said that he will report to the New York club tomorrow.

John Foster, secretary of the New York Nationals, tonight declared that Kauff would better not report to the Giants tomorrow.

"The National Commission has acted on Kauff's case, and has declared him ineligible to participate in organized baseball for the next three years," said Foster.

Kauff, who caused a sensation early in the season by jumping to the New York Giants is suing that club for his salary, claiming that when he signed with it he was prepared to play and that it was through no fault of his that he was not permitted to do so.

Manager McGraw of the Giants, said tonight that he would be glad to see Kauff reinstated by the commission, because he would like to have him on his team.

BAD SPILL AT TILBURY RACES BUT NOBODY GETS INJURED

Molly Pointer Stumbled and Fell, and Ruby Wilkes Goes Over her—Big Crowd Attends.

TILBURY, July 1.—Notwithstanding the rain this forenoon, about 700 attended the trotting races here this afternoon. There was nearly a very serious ending in the fourth heat of the 2:40 class, when Molly Pointer stumbled and fell and Ruby Wilkes and driver drove over the prostrate horse and its driver. Luckily, both drivers and horses escaped injury and the only damage done was to the sulkies. The following are the results:

2:40 Class; One Mile.

HUYCK AND TRICK WON LONDON CLUB DOUBLES

The London Bowling Club's doubles tournament was largely attended yesterday afternoon and 24 rinks took part, members of the Thistle Club playing on the rinks, also. The prize-winners were W. H. Huyck and Albert Trick, who had a plus score of 26. V. Jackson and S. L. Taylor were the runnersup, with a score of 19. The prizes were silver cream jugs.

AT ELMWOOD CLUB.

At the Elmwood Bowling Club's matinee yesterday afternoon, George Grant's rink carried off the prizes. Its score was plus 39. All the greens were going, and twelve rinks were entered. The winning rink consisted of John Heaman, W. Weston, Frank Smith and Skip George Grant. The prizes were cut glass bowls.

The meeting which Grand Rapids hoped to be able to put on this week was declared off because of the scarcity of entries, only seventeen being received for the nine events, it is understood.

ALFRED VANDERBILT'S HORSES TO BE AUCTIONED

[Canadian Press.]

New York, July 2.—Prize-winning show horses owned by the late Alfred G. Vanderbilt, president of the National Horse Show Association, who lost his life in the sinking of the Lusitania by a German submarine, will be put on sale within a few weeks, according to an announcement today. Thirty-four horses, some of them noted winners, and including novice Hackney harness horses imported from England by Mr. Vanderbilt, but never exhibited here, are in the first consignment to be sold. The animals were in training when Mr. Vanderbilt left New York.

WILLIAMS AND CHURCH COME TOGETHER TODAY

[Canadian Press.]

Pittsburg, July 2.—R. Norris Williams of Harvard, national amateur tennis champion, and George M. Church of Princeton, intercollegiate champion, will compete in courts of the Pittsburg Athletic Association here this afternoon for the national clay-court championship in singles. Williams worked his way into the finals yesterday by defeating H. W. Niles of Boston, while Church was winning from W. M. Washburne.

GOULDING LOWERS THE 3-MILE RECORD

Beats His Own Best Time at Waterloo Meet — Series of Interesting Events for Dominion Day.

[Special to The Advertiser.]

WATERLOO, July 1.—At the annual Dominion Day meet of the C. W. A. held in Waterloo, George Goulding lowered the Canadian three-mile walking record held by himself by 28 4-5 seconds. The former time was 21:55, and was made on a board track in Toronto. The new mark is 36 3-5 seconds from being a world record.

Starting from the scratch Goulding easily passed a field of five, who were strung out in handicaps up to 660 yards. Freeman and Lark, who came second and third, had 250 and 300 yards respectively.

The wind slowed the cyclists' speed, and no records were broken in that line, although the 1-mile boys' race was very fast. There were no serious accidents during the races, only two small spills taking place.

Art Spencer of Toronto captured a big share of the prizes, coming in first three times out of four races entered. The Riversides had about fifteen riders on the track and brought in a number of winners. The third heat of the 1 mile 2:35 class was thrown out on account of the poor time made.

A special event was the quarter mile ridden by the five-year-old son of Herb MacDonald. The little fellow made the circle in 1:10 2-5, and then stuck it out for another round, when he was stopped to receive the ovation of the crowd.

Between races a delightful program of fancy dancing in costume was given by four little ones, to the music of bagpipes.

In the morning a well played game of baseball between picked teams from Waterloo and Berlin was won by the former by a score of 4-3. The day's program was concluded by a splendid band concert and dance in the famous Waterloo Park. Results:

One mile, Novice—1, C. Coleclough; 2, H. Bounsall; 3, L. Scarlato. Time—2:24 1-5.

Half mile, Championship—1, A. Spencer; 2, G. Watson. Time—1:12 1-5.

One mile, 2:35 Class—1, H. Bounsall; 2, E. Penny; 3, L. Scarlato. Time—2:25 2-5.

One mile, Boys Under 15—1, H. Brown; 2, W. Taylor; 3, W. Bailey. Time—2:31 1-5.

LEAFS AND BISONS BROKE EVEN ON THE HOLIDAY BILL

Buffalo Won Morning Game and Leafs In Afternoon—Montreal Wins and Loses.

TORONTO, July 1.—Buffalo and Toronto divided honors today, the Bisons taking the morning game, 9 to 7, and losing the afternoon contest, 4 to 3. The Bisons landed on Herbert early in the first session and got their nine runs in the first three innings. The afternoon game was more closely contested, the Leafs winning in the sixth by driving in three runs. Score:

Morning Game.

By innings—										R.	H.	E.
Buffalo	5	0	4	0	0	0	0	0	—9	13	3
Toronto	1	0	1	0	0	1	2	2	—7	9	2

Gaw, Bader and Lalonge; Herbert, Luque and Kocher.

Afternoon Game.

By innings—										R.	H.	E.
Toronto	0	0	0	0	0	1	3	0	x	—4	10	0

Fullenweider and Onslow; McTigue and Kelly.

INDIANA BEAT VIRGINIANS.

RICHMOND, Va., July 1.—Although the Virginians batted Schmutz hard today, and secured more hits than Newark, the Indians were able to win 9 to 6, by timely hitting combined with numerous errors by Dunn's men. Score:

By innings—										R.	H.	E.
Newark	5	1	1	1	0	1	0	0	0	—9	11	1
Richmond	0	2	1	1	0	0	0	0	2	—6	14	4

Schmutz and Heckinger; Meadows, Morrisette, Works, and Schaufle.

ROYALS BREAK EVEN.

MONTREAL, July 1.—The Royals' inability to hit Huenke lost them the morning game with Rochester, 7 to 3 today, but the same number of runs made in the morning were sufficient to win from Rochester in the afternoon, 3 to 2. Dowd held Rochester to a row of bubbles in the second until the seventh inning, when the visitors scored their two runs. Scores:

Morning Game.

By innings—										R.	H.	E.
Rochester	0	0	0	0	1	4	1	0	1	—7	14	1
Montreal	0	2	0	1	0	0	0	0	0	—3	4	3

Huenke and Williams; Doyle, Richter and Madden.

Afternoon Game.

By innings—										R.	H.	E.
Montreal	1	0	0	2	0	0	0	0	x	—3	8	0

GERMANS BENT ON TAKING WARSAW

No Troops Yet Taken To Help On the Western Front.

COLONIALS NOT CHECKED

Allied Troops Used in Dardanelles To Keep Turks Busy.

[Canadian Press.]

London, July 2.—Evidently bent upon a decisive victory against the Russians, the Germans are not yet sending troops to the western front, but, assisted by their Austrian allies, are making every effort to capture the Russian-Poland capital of Warsaw. Berlin claims further advances by the great Austro-German armies in Galicia, while Field Marshal Von Mackensen is pushing steadily ahead between the Vistula and Bug rivers. Artillery activity continues unabated in the Arras region of France, but as yet there are no signs of an infantry offensive on that front, although it is scarcely possible that so many thousands of shells are being fired without some such objective. In the Argonne region the Germans, on June 30, gained some ground, though at the expense of heavy losses.

A further report regarding the Dardanelles operations claims that the colonial troops have not been checked in their efforts to advance, but that they have been used merely to keep the Turks on their front too busy to send reserves to that portion of the line where the Anglo-French troops made an advance of 1,000 yards.

The London morning newspapers generally print editorials on the sinking of the Armenian by a German submarine, the text of the articles being that the relations between United States and Germany are bound to be further strained by the latest of German submarine exploits. The editorials, however, evidently were written before the status of the Leyland liner had been settled.

Amsterdam is responsible for the report that a Zeppelin dirigible balloon was accidentally destroyed by an explosion today when leaving its shed at Brussels.

During the month of June 98 British ships, aggregating slightly more than 29,000 tons, were sunk by submarines or mines, with the loss of 111 lives.

BACE PROBLEM RAISED IN FRENCH DEPUTIES

Diagne Insists Senegalese Must Bear Share of National Burdens.

[Canadian Press.]

Paris, July 2.—The race problem was raised in the Chamber yesterday by Deputy Diagne, representing Senegal. The deputy submitted a bill extending the general laws regulating military service in France to the municipal communes of Saint Louis, Dakar, Rufisque and Gore, who are French citizens.

"The Senegalese have political rights," said Diagne, "and it is inconceivable that they are not also given the privilege to bear their share of the national burdens. Since Charlerol, my compatriots have paid ransom, and it is necessary that there should not be any distinction between France's colonies."

Despite the efforts of the Minister of Colonies to postpone consideration of the bill until the presentation of a similar plan proposed by the cabinet, sharp discussion ensued, during the course of which Diagne said that "we must put an end to scandalous favoritism whereby the blacks having political rights are not called upon for military service. We must put an end to unreasoning race prejudices."

The bill passed its first reading.

SPAIN'S NEUTRALITY HARD TO MAINTAIN

Discussion of the Question Forbidden at Public Meetings.

[Canadian Press.]

Madrid, via Paris, July 2.—Spain is experiencing difficulty in maintaining neutrality, and in a further effort to preserve it an official order has been given not to discuss the question in public.

Deputies of the Left, who oppose the Government policy, informed Premier Dato they proposed a speech-making compaign directed against the cabinet because of the suppression of public meetings. The Premier replied that he would authorize meetings on condition that neutrality be not mentioned. He said discussion of this question would serve only to give public expression of sympathy for one side or the other in the war.

FOR CLOSER ECONOMIC UNION BETWEEN TEUTONS

Meeting Held at Vienna—Allies' Methods Held Up as Example.

[Canadian Press.]

Zurich, via London, July 2.—At the conference at Vienna of the industrial leaders of Germany and Austria to discuss means for bringing about a closer economic union between the two countries, Dr. Reiser, president of the Hansa League, pointed out that the allies of the Quadruple Entente not only had entered into political treaties, but had concluded a number of economic arrangements. One of the most important of these, he asserted, provides that none of them may conclude a commercial treaty with Germany or Austria without the consent of the others.

Preferential Tariff.

A wireless dispatch from Berlin yesterday said a resolution was passed at the Vienna conference declaring for an economic alliance of the two countries to as great a degree as possible. One of the means to bring this about was a preferential tariff system designed to equalize differences in the cost of production.

COUNTER-PROPOSAL.

London, July 2.—Commenting on the Austro-German economic conference, the Post, in a column editorial, urges the Allies to take adequate steps to meet, after the war, the menace of German economic penetration. The Post suggests a system of preferential tariffs aimed against Germany.

FRENCH ROCKET FACTORY DESTROYED BY EXPLOSION

About Seventy Women Employed on Army Goods May Be Lost.

MARSEILLES, July 2. — 2:45 a.m. — An explosion yesterday destroyed an illuminating rocket factory, where one hundred persons were employed. Eighty women were working in the factory at the time. Fire spread rapidly and four are known to be dead, and others, with the exception of ten badly wounded, are thought also to have perished.

Rockets made in the factory were for the use of the army.

PROMOTING CAMPAIGN OF ECONOMY AMONG CHILDREN OF BRITAIN

Teachers To Help Pupils Save and Buy War Loan Bonds.

[Canadian Press.]

London, July 2.—A campaign to promote thrift among British school children, similar to the movement already established in Germany, is to be inaugurated by teachers in the elementary schools by direction of the board of education. According to the circular issued by the board, the facilities for saving are to be provided, and pupils are to be told of the desirability of subscribing to the war loan.

"Teachers should make clear," says the circular, "that everyone who can save even so small a sum as five shillings has an opportunity of contributing to the loans."

Reginald McKenna, chancellor of the exchequer, speaking at a meeting last night to urge economy to promote the loan, said: "The people of this country have got to learn that in our present circumstances parsimony becomes the highest virtue; a lump of sugar not consumed, bread which is not wasted, and a cigar or cigarette not smoked means so much less imported foreign goods which we can pay for only by sending gold out of the country or borrowing it. We must economize if we are to endure."

BANK TREASURER COMMITS SUICIDE

[Canadian Press.]

Annapolis, Md., July 2.—J. Marshall Caughey, treasurer of the Annapolis Banking and Trust Company, committed suicide by shooting, in his room at his club here last night. At the same hour the directors of the trust company were in session at the bank waiting for Caughey to appear to explain certain matters regarding his accounts.

Caughey was 31 years old and unmarried.

CHICAGO STRIKE BEGINS

Several Thousand Lumber and Brick Workers Out of Work.

[Canadian Press.]

Chicago, July 2.—Fifty-three of Chicago's largest lumber yards and 65 brickmaking plants were closed for business today, throwing several thousand men out of employment.

The establishments will not make deliveries of any building materials until the strike of 16,000 carpenters is settled, according to announcement made. The eleventh hour decision of the allied building construction and material interests to continue manufacturing operations but not selling, placed a more optimistic aspect on the lockout against the carpenters and other building trades workmen.

GERMAN EXPORTS FALL FROM $14,994,000 TO LITTLE OVER MILLION

Shipments From Three Cities to States and Possessions.

BERLIN, July 1, via London. — During the first six months of this year there were exported to the United States and American possessions from Hamburg, Lusbeck and Kiel, goods to the value of $1,153,000. Statistics for the first six months of 1914 show the export of goods valued at $14,994,000.

This information is taken from the first of the American consular reports on trade from Germany to the United States issued this year. It was prepared by Consul-General Henry H. Morgan of Hamburg.

WILLIAM MINERS' DEATH.

EXETER, July 1.—The sad news was received here this week of the death of William Miners, which took place at the home of his son in Windsor. Mr. Miners lived in Exeter for some time and a short while ago sold his house and lot and went to visit his son in Windsor. Four sons and four daughters survive him. The remains arrived in Exeter on the London, Huron and Bruce train last night and proceeded to Elimville, where they were laid to rest by the side of his wife, who died some few years ago. He was 69 years old.

Wilfred Codling of the Paris branch of the Canadian Bank of Commerce is home owing to illness.

Miss Bessie Weir is home from St. Margaret's College, Toronto, for the holidays.

Miss Benton of Walkerville will be the guest of Mrs. W. J. F. Ross for a couple of weeks.

CONFERENCE ON COAL OUTPUT.

LONDON, July 1.—The question of the British coal output, which, owing to the restiveness of the miners, has been giving the Government anxiety, is to be dealt with at an important conference of miners' representatives to be convened by the Government in London on July 7. The conference will be addressed by David Lloyd George.

STATES AFFECTED BY HESSIAN FLY SCOURGE

[Canadian Press.]

Washington, July 2.—The Hessian fly is inflicting immense damage to the wheat crop throughout an area extending from Northeastern Oklahoma and Northern Arkansas northward through Kansas, Missouri, Nebraska and Southern Iowa and eastward, including principally Illinois, Indiana, Ohio and Pennsylvania. In a circular issued today by the department of agriculture, the prediction is made that the fly will cause a loss of millions of bushels. Officials charge the fly with responsibility for decreased production reports from those states.

The department states in the circular that nothing can be done now to lessen the damage to the present crop, but warns farmers to sow no wheat in August, in order to save next year's crop from being attacked.

WINGHAM.

Wingham, July 2.—Many horsemen took a trip to Seaforth to witness the horse races there yesterday, and state that they were the best seen for some time. Comfort of spectators was affected on account of the grandstand being recently burnt down.

The recent rains here have been of benefit to fruit, grain and root crops.

The lacrosse team here is training hard for their coming game, which it is to play in London on Saturday.

Many visitors from outside towns and cities took advantage of cheap railroad fares to visit friends here.

Yesterday's experience shows that more accommodation for horses and rigs is needed, as all places available were filled to capacity.

The Western Foundry here has recently received a large order for stoves and ranges, which makes the employees' envelopes larger, as they are now working overtime.

Some of the factories are now taking stock and will soon be open to work on heavy orders for the fall and winter supplies.

Those who have cut hay state it is of a good quality and that fall wheat is filling well, with prospects of a good yield.

THOUSANDS GO TO CITY RESORTS

Sweltering Day Drives Crowds From London On Holiday.

"JITNEYS" ON THE JOB

Carry Crowds Through Streets —Many Picnics Mark Holiday.

Yesterday was decidedly a day for out-of-doors, and most people in the city took advantage of the holiday to get away from the swelter of the down-town streets to the freshness and comparative comfort of the "breathing spots." Port Stanley, at its best at this time of the year, was easily first favorite, and the Traction Company handled more passenger traffic than on any other day in the history of the line.

The Springbank cars also carried what street railway officials declare was a record crowd to the park. A great many picnics were held, and the many attractions at the new amusement park were well patronized. In the early evening a smart shower of rain drove the holiday-makers to the shelter of the pavilion and other buildings, but the big storm which has appeared to be threatening did not materialize, and the downpour served only to cool the air without dampening spirits.

Almost Deserted City.

During the late forenoon and afternoon London itself appeared to be almost a deserted city. The downtown sections were almost entirely clear of pedestrians, and practically the only traffic on the streets consisted of street cars, jitneys and private automobiles, and rigs carrying people who were on their way either to Springbank or the Port. London's most densely inhabited spot was Victoria Park, where a number of people who were disinclined for a longer jaunt found that relief from the stifling heat which they could not find anywhere else within the municipal limits.

General Manager Warburton was particularly pleased with the record made by the Traction Company. He felt, he said, that the company had reason to congratulate itself on the excellence of the service and the absence of all accidents, especially in view of the fact that the day was the best in its history, and that in spite of the fact that it synchronized with the opening of the new line.

He stated that twenty cars were kept on the service all day, and, although each one as it pulled out of the depot was jammed almost to the roof, not one got away late. He estimated that 1,500 people had to be turned away.

Two Ball Games.

The two baseball games at Tecumseh Park in the morning and afternoon attracted quite good crowds of fans whom even the heat would not induce to miss seeing a game, and the military sports at Carling's Heights also were well attended.

Taking it by and large, yesterday was one of the most thoroughly enjoyable and enjoyed Dominion Day holidays in the city's history. Perhaps the fact that this year Canadians have more reason to be proud of their nationality than ever before had something to do with the enthusiasm with which the anniversary of the birth of the Dominion was celebrated.

DUNDAS LEAGUERS "JITNEY" TO PICNIC

Methodists Disport At Their Annual Outing On Dominion Day.

Members of the Epworth League of Dundas Street Methodist Church demonstrated their up-to-dateness by electing to jitney out yesterday to their annual picnic. Two motor buses were required to convey them to their destination, the beautiful country home of Mr. John White, on the north branch of the river.

It was some time after arriving before the sports committee proved successful in gathering together for the serious (?) business of the afternoon the forty picnickers who insisted upon roaming around the grounds and discovering for themselves the charms of gardens and trout ponds.

Event No. 1 in the sport program was a baby picture guessing contest, Miss Nellie Cooper proving herself most clever in tracing a resemblance from chubby baby charms to the grown-up features of members of the party.

Miss Ollie Suhr and Miss Grace Martin were chosen as captains for the inevitable baseball game, which on this occasion was unique in every way. During the progress of the game every sacred tradition of baseball was most ruthlessly trampled upon, with the result that Miss Suhr's team batted themselves to a victory of 30—1. So alert were the players on both sides that not a single home run was permitted, though Rev. A. J. Thomas made a three-base hit, the high water mark record of the game.

In a "peanut hunt," Miss Grace Martin outdistanced all competitors by collecting forty of the "double-jointed variety." In a marshmallow contest the honors also went the way of a fair member of the league, Miss Howe. Miss Fletcher won in a peanut race, and in a backward race Miss Eva Vance was declared the "most backward person present." Miss Moore carried off the honors in the hesitation race.

The big novelty feature, however, was a hockey match, specially arranged for the ladies with toy brooms substituted for hockey sticks, a modest football for a puck and green sward for a sheet of ice. Strictest adherence to the rules of the game was insisted upon, with the result that the men were defeated by the feminine players.

Supper was progressing merrily on the lawn when an unscheduled shower arrived and caused the young people to beat a hasty retreat to the veranda, carrying with them all the dainties their hands could hold.

A phonograph added much to their enjoyment until the jitneys arrived to convey them back to the city.

SIGN BELL FRANCHISE

Board of Control Orders Agreement for $1,500 Put Into Effect.

The board of control today recommended that the franchise agreement with the Bell Telephone Company be signed. This agreement calls for the payment of $1,500 by the comapny to the city for the use of the streets for the remainder of the present year.

HOW THE HEROES EARNED THEIR MEDALS

[Special Cable to The Advertiser.]

London, July 2.—The Gazette gives particulars of the service which secured recipients the distinguished conduct medal, names of them were sent last week.

Particulars, slightly summarized, are as follows: Pte. Adams, signaller, carrying orders under heavy shell and rifle fire.

Sergt. Adamson, 3rd, valuable assistance to medical officer under heavy fire.

Pte. Batchelor, 2nd, bringing numerous wounded from under heavy fire.

Pte. Birdsey, 2nd, carrying messages and bringing in wounded during heavy fire.

Pte. Bloxam, 10th, rescued a wounded comrade and carried him a mile into safety; also assisted in reforming stragglers, and also accompanied officer to brigade headquarters when, finding it in the hands of the enemy, he escaped under fire.

Sergt. Brown, field ambulance, cut off from collecting station, remained with wounded in trenches all day and brought them all safely to the station.

Sergt. Calder, 15th, carrying messages and maintaining communication under fire.

Corp. Casement, Engineers, going for wounded officer near German line, carrying him in on stretcher under heavy shell and rifle fire, and also excellent work in the construction of a bridge for protection of canal bridges.

Corp. Castles, signaller, repairing telegraph and telephone lines under heavy fire.

Sergt.-Major Clifton, Medical, coolness in assisting to remove wounded from a church to a place of safety.

Pte. Cowell, 5th, continually carrying messages under very heavy fire.

Pte. Danson, 13th, carrying orders when telephone lines were down.

Sergt. Dougall, 16th, "during an attack on a wood this non-commissioned officer placed himself at the head of a party of men belonging to another battalion, who had no officer or leader, and with them cleared the farm beyond the wood of greatly superior numbers of the enemy."

Sergt. Dryden, 7th, "conspicuous gallant devotion to duty, going to the assistance of Col. Hart McHarg, who was lying wounded between our own and the German lines."

Pte. Duncan, signaller, carrying orders when telephone lines were down.

Pte. Highstone, 2nd, bringing in wounded and personal bravery under heavy fire.

Sergt. Ives, 3rd, when returning from reconnaissance brought in safely several wounded men. His general conduct and confidence set a fine example to others.

Pte. Joslyn, 5th, carrying dispatches as battalion runner under heavy fire.

Sergt. Kaye, dressing and assisting wounded throughout an action.

Corp. Kennedy, signaller, running great risk in carrying messages.

Sergt. Lunn, 16th, twice going out under heavy fire and dressing wounded man, covering him with a blanket.

Pte. MacArtier, signaller, carrying orders under fire when lines were down.

Sergt. MacDonald, conspcuous ability and coolness while carrying rations to troops and picking up wounded.

Pte. Mallette, 14th, although painfully wounded himself, rescued a wounded comrade and carried him a considerable distance.

Pte. McGuire, 2nd, carrying dispatches under heavy fire.

Pte. Mullins, 7th, assisting an officer to extinguish a lighted torch which had fallen in an open box of fused bombs.

Driver Pate, divisional train, coolness in carrying rations and picking up wounded.

Sergt. Pearless, 7th, operating a machine gun on enveloped right flank of his battalion until he and his gun were blown up.

Sergt.-Major Price, 14th, "for conspicuous gallantry and devotion to duty, going to the assistance of a man who, while on patrol had been wounded by Germans whom he had encountered."

Sergt.-Major Price "went out and, shooting two Germans who had wounded him, brought in a man, undoubtedly saving his life. His conduct all through the action was most meritorious and self-sacrificing."

Pte. Quigley, 2nd Brigade staff, repairing as a linesman at least a hundred breaks under heavy fire; he also assisted a wounded officer.

Corp. Ross, 10th, carrying three wounded men in succession under heavy machine gun fire.

Corp. Schultz, 10th, remained in dressing station after it had been practically blown to pieces and took charge until every wounded man was removed, displaying great coolness and courage throughout.

Pte. Turner, Medical, when dressing station had been heavily shelled, carried wounded to a neighboring ditch, and continued to tend them the remainder of the day till all were removed.

Corp. Wakeling, 1st, taking his platoon into the firing line when all non-coms. had been killed or wounded.

Pte. Walters, 8th, although wounded in the head and thumb, remained on a parapet using his rifle against attack.

Pte. White, 5th, carrying on medical officer's work after that officer was missing.

Corp. Whitla, 1st, carrying Capt. Lockhart to cover when wounded, under heavy artillery and rifle fire.

FOSTERING TRADE

Export Association Man Coming To Get in Touch With Local Factories.

R. J. Younge, one of the associate general managers of the export association, formed by the Canadian Manufacturers' Association, will be in London next week to get in touch with the local manufacturers. The export association plans co-operative efforts on the part of all Canadian manufacturers to secure foreign trade. This is especially true of Russia.

It is believed that there will be preferential tariffs put into effect by the Allies after the present war, and it is planned to have the Canadian manufacturers ready to avail themselves of the opportunities that these will afford.

34TH BAND CONCERT

Popular Band Will Give Concert In Victoria Park on Sunday Evening.

Next Sunday evening, the band of the 34th Overseas Battalion will render a concert in Victoria Park. The band has already reached a wonderful state of proficiency, and its concerts are being eagerly looked for by the general public. A collection will be taken to aid in defraying the cost of purchasing music and other incidental expenses in connection with the maintenance of the organization.

RACING CYCLES CRASH ON TRACK; DRIVER MAY DIE

Machine Skids in Path of Other and Smash Results.

COLLISION AT FOREST

Ross Weir Is Accident Victim In 50-Mile-an-Hour Event.

Racing at fifty miles an hour, in a five-mile open motorcycle event, Ross Weir, of 707 Lorne avenue, crashed with his machine into another cycle, which skidded into his path, about two o'clock yesterday afternoon, and is now lying perhaps fatally injured at the home of H. Bayes, a cousin, in Forest, where the accident occurred.

Fourteen Stitches in Head.

Dr. Patterson of Forest, who attended the injured Londoner, used fourteen stitches to close the gaping wounds in Weir's head. Weir's lower limbs are paralyzed. He is suffering from serious internal injuries and his recovery is doubtful.

Today Dr. Patterson, over long distance telephone, announced that Weir was a little better, but would make no definite statement as to his ultimate chances of recovery.

"His chances look better, but in his condition it is too early to predict anything as to the outcome," said the doctor.

The other machine was ridden by Harry Lewis of 195 Waterloo street. Lewis escaped with a few bruises, falling clear of his cycle when it slid in the path of Weir's machine.

Three in Race.

The accident occurred a half lap after the commencement of the race on the half-mile track at Forest. Besides Weir and Lewis and another contestant waited for the starter's gun. James McGregor, also of this city, had intended entering the race, but at the last moment before the start his engine broke down and he was forced to withdraw.

Simultaneously with the bark of the revolver the three cycles shot away from the start. Weir, who was riding a twin-cylinder Excelsior, jumped into the lead. Lewis hugged his machine closely, and at the end of the first lap had a few feet advantage on the inside of the track.

Skidded in Path of Racer.

On the turn Weir shot up the speed and Lewis, fearing that he would be overtaken, opened up his engine to its widest. The speed was to great on the sharp, level turn. The big Pope Lewis was riding skidded across the track, dropping Lewis to the dirt, and slipped directly in the path of Weir's machine, thundering along on the outside of the track.

Hurled 18 Feet.

The Excelsior crashed into the machine on the ground. On the instant it turned completely over and smashed down on top of Weir, who had been hurled eighteen feet by the impact. The third rider, who was following very dangerously close throughout the lap, likewise nearly came to grief. He was able to swing his machine out of the course, missing the wreck and injured man by a scant foot.

Thousands See Accident.

Several thousands of people from Forest and the surrounding district witnessed the accident. There was a cry of horror as, unable to check the momentum of his machine, Weir plunged into the other cycle. The race was the opening event on the program. Practically all of the other races on the track were called off as a result.

Weir was picked up after the heavy machine, which was badly wrecked, was lifted from his chest. He was unconscious, but after a stretcher and been procured and he was being carried from the field, he recovered somewhat. It was then that he complained of a terrible pain in his chest. He swooned when the doctor was making a careful examination.

Parents Are Notified.

A telegram was sent to Robert Weir, the young man's father, about 7 o'clock last night, telling him to come at once to Forest. Mr. and Mrs. Weir left on the 9 o'clock Grand Trunk train for Wyoming, where an auto was waiting to rush them to Forest.

Weir is employed at the Ford Company's plant as a repair man. He has developed a reputation as a motorcycle racer by his daring and the fast time he has made on different Western Ontario tracks on several occasions. He was formerly employed in The Advertiser Circulation Department.

He is twenty years of age.

The races at Forest were not under the auspices of the London Motorcycle Club, as announced this morning, according to members of that association. Club riders, however, were helping to fill up the racing bill. A large number of Londoners motored to Forest yesterday morning to witness the races.

On Saturday the London Motorcycle Club planned a run to Strathroy. This has been cancelled, and the club members will ride to Forest to see Ross Weir.

CAMP GOSSIP

An order has been issued forbidding dogs within the camp grounds. Officers and men must dispose of their animals at once. The officers commanding the units will report when this has been done.

The following officers of the 34th Battalion have been granted leave of absence for a few days: Lieut. J. A. Peat and Capt. G. H. D. Martyn.

Recruits of the 33rd Battalion were at the ranges this morning and Lieut.-Col. Wilson states that the men are proving themselves apt learners in the use of the rifle. They are making better scores each day.

The 23rd and 34th Battalions are going on a route march this afternoon. They will go from the camp out the Asylum sideroad and through the city streets. Lieut.-Col. Oliver of the 34th will have command.

The following were taken on the strength of the 34th yesterday: James Hughes, Louis Pressman, Charles Morgan, D. Hamilton, Joseph Knight, Arthur Rawson, C. Young, H. Sharatt. All the men come from Petrolea, Wyoming, and vicinity.

NO OTHER PLACE JUST LIKE LONDON IN ALL AMERICA

Former Resident Writes The Advertiser That He Cannot Forget His Old Home After Travelling Over the Continent.

"I close my eyes and I see a map of the Continent of North America, a great variety of landscape with its mountains, rivers, forests and plains, most of which I have traveled over; then I look for the choice spots where men and women with keen discrimination for a habitat come together in numbers, and do you know that the little city of London, Ontario, will persist in crowding itself into the spotlight of this mental film?"

(From an Old Londoner.)

This is an extract from an interesting letter which reached The Advertiser yesterday, written by George A. Kennedy, a former Londoner and now secretary and manager of Garfield County Loan and Savings Association, Brockton, Montana. Thus do the charms of the beautiful city of London crowd themselves on the memory of her former residents.

Mr. Kennedy writes:

"A friend mailed me a copy of The Advertiser recently, which was read with more interest than is customary for me to give to a copy of one of our big dailies on this side.

"I have been 27 years below the 49th parallel, and during that time I have been an omnivorous newspaper and magazine reader, which may not be the highest standard of credentials for the kingdom above, but be that as it may, this "bill of fare," or mental "menu," served in every variety from the modest little "weekly" to the great metropolitan daily, has given me a perspective view of the newspaper world which enables me at this time to see The London Advertiser and the city it represents in a much clearer light than I saw it 25 years ago.

"Every line was read, and then I turned to the advertising and read every ad., and I want to assure you, Mr. Editor, that this is the highest compliment I can pay to a newspaper.

"I know the cities below the line, almost all of them with the exception of New Orleans, among the larger class, and I have learned a few things about the municipal life that governs them. I have had some practical experience in the political life of some of those cities, and in my quieter moods will catch myself at times making comparisons.

"I close my eyes and I see a map of the continent of North America, a great variety of landscape with its mountains, rivers, forests and plains, most of which I have traveled over; then I look for the choice spots where men and women with keen discrimination for a habitat come together in numbers, and do you know that the little city of London, Ontario, will persist in crowding itself into the spotlight of this mental film?

"Now, I can hardly blame it, for there is a raison d'etre, and we must not call it audacious when we see at the same time and for the same price, 'Detroit the Beautiful,' 'Milwaukee the Beery' and 'San Francisco the Winey.'

"London may have its little faults—too little to show on the film, but it stands there proud and aristocratic, looking down, methinks, with just a suspicion of contempt on some of her larger sisters below the line, but not unkindly.

"Her children drink the purest water that bubbles up anywhere on the continent—I drank it for two years. The ozonic zephyrs that play alternately from Georgian Bay and Lake Erie have protested time and again, to my certain knowledge, at the redundancy of the word, 'malaria' in your school lexicon. And schools, by the way, which are in every other respect the best on the face of the earth. Do you hear? The best on the face of the earth.

"I thank God that my early youth was spent in them, and moreover, that my Scotch parents put the fear of God into my heart while I was attending them. It has helped some in my citizenship below the line.

"I would like to tell you some more things about London as a place to live, but perhaps you know the city, and, anyway, this is getting lengthy.

"ALLAN KENNEDY."

SACRED HEART CONVENT.

The pupils of the Catholic Commercial Institute, Sacred Heart Convent, after a year of earnest study, have reached in the recent examination the very creditable showing given below. Each year adds to the list of those who creditably passed the tests required by the school before the pupils enter into the world of business.

Last week the Underwood credential test was given them. To pass this test 30 net words per minute is required. All the pupils acquitted themselves admirably, all obtaining the pass mark and several surpassing the usual standing of 40 words net per minutt. The following list sustains the standard set by the school, that if impressing upon the students' minds the necessity of being ever vigilant about little things.

N. Dunne and A. Mascari made the unusual high record of 60 words net per minute; K. Burke 55, V. Stine 49, C. Meanley 48, G. Warburton and E. Dewan 44, M. Warburton 42, A. Nopper and C. McCann 38, P. Cook 36, C. Kilgallin and L. Kennedy 30.

All final examinations are set, presided over and examined by outside officials. These facts are given for the satisfaction of the patrons of the school, and for those who employ its graduates. Since the opening of the school in 1911, 90 per cent of its enrollment have graduated, secured and retained positions in this city and elsewhere.

The pupils entitled to first-class honors, having taken 75 per cent at the recent examinations are: A. Mascari, G. Warburton, B. Dunne, L. Clarke, J. Sansone, A. Groom, K. Burke, E. Dewan, V. Stine, L. McGrenere, C. Meanley, K. Etherington, M. Warburton, M. Henry, H. Delaney, M. Larkin, B. Henderson, H. Pitt, L. Burns, M. Corcoran, H. Foley, A. Pitt, D. Fitzpatrick, M. Ziler, A. Deveney, L. O'Neill, T. Kilgallin. Second-class honors, 70 to 75 per cent—A. Nopper, C. McCann, C. Kilgallin, L. Kennedy, P. Cook, M. Sansone, V. McCarthy, C. Fenech, T. Mogan, I. Flanagan, T. GRAIN.

Chicago, July 2.—Unsettled weather, threatening further delay to the harvest of the domestic winter crop, led to an advance today in the price of wheat. The July option especially showed strength owing to increasing chances of a scarcity that would make deliveries difficult on current contracts. Demand was chiefly from shorts. After opening ⅝c off to ¾c up, the market scored material gains all around.

Liverpool, July 2.—Wheat—Spot was steady; No. 2 Manitoba, 11s 4½d; No. 3, 11s 3½d; No. 1 northern (Duluth), 13s 3d; No. 2 hard winter, 11s 4d.

Corn—Spot firm; American mixed, new, 8s.

FLOUR.

Liverpool, July 2.—Flour—Winter patents, 41s 6d.

HOPS.

The sales of the day were 15,000 bales, of which 600 were for speculation and export, and included 14,000 American. Receipts were 11,000 bales, all American.

New York, July 1.—Cotton futures closed steady; closing bids: July, 9.29c; October, 9.74c; December, 9.97c; January, 10.04c.

Spot—Closed quiet; middling uplands, 9.60c. Sales, 7,400 bales.

LONDON STOCK EXCHANGE.

London, July 2.—Money was in good supply today. Discount rates were steady on the prospects of dearer conditions, with applications for the war loan taking funds off the market.

The stock market showed a better tone. The war loan continued the most active issue, but oil shares were prominent again and home rails maintained their recent firmness. Brazilian stocks closed weak.

Most of the business in the American section was in United States Steel and Canadian Pacific at steady prices. Gold bonds were again frequently marked.

Closing prices were:

PARIS BOURSE.

Paris, July 2.—Prices were weak on the bourse today. Three per cent rentes, 70 francs for cash; exchange on London, 27 francs 15 centimes.

WALL STREET.

New York, July 2—Wall Street, 10:30 a.m.—Passing of the dividend on United States Rubber, common, after the close of yesterday's market, was followed at today's opening by a decline of almost 7 points. The stock opened after considerable delay with an offering of 5,000 shares at 45 to 46, against yesterday's final quotation of 51⅞. The balance of the list was irregular, some minor railways and specialties yielding fractions, while Canadian Pacific and American Can rose 1 to 2 points. American Coal Products was a feature of the inactive issues, advancing 9 points to 127 in the first half hour.

Noon.—Rubber continued to decline to 44¼, but recovered to 45⅝. Sales of Rubber in the first hour amounted to 25,000 shares, and with Can made up half of the operations of that period. Investment stocks and high-priced war specialties were unaffected by the break in Rubber, making further impovement until Canadian Pacific developed sudden weakness. That stock lost its early gain of 1⅜, and fell a total of 2½ points to 142, within a fraction of its low record. Later prices hardened again on a smaller volume of trading. Futures selling was again the feature of the bond list.

AUXILIARY PICNIC

Forest City, Division No. 22, Ladies' Auxiliary to O. R. C., London, held its annual picnic at Springbank Park on Wednesday. About one hundred members and friends spent a very pleasant afternoon and evening in sports of almost all kinds finishing with a ball game, Ladies' Auxiliary versus O. R. C.

The lucky competitors for the different events were as follows:

Children under 5 years—Greta Angles, Alva Bennett, Belva Barless, Hazie Cantelon, Jean McCullough.

Girls, 5 to 7—1 Bessie McCullough, 2 Violet Bennett.

Boys, 5 to 7—1 Fred McLeod, 2 Charley Bennett.

Girls, 7 to 9—1 Madeline Orendorff, 2 Olive Bennett.

Boys' peanut race, 7 to 9—1 Ernest Kintrea, 2 Kenneth Barless.

Girls' peanut race, 9 to 12—1 Ethel Kintrea, 2 Doris Drake

Boys, obstacle race, 9 to 12—1 Leslie Bennett, 2 Ernest Fletcher

Young ladies' egg race—1 Ethel Kintrea, 2 Margaret Crooks.

Ladies of Divisions 16 and 22—1 Mrs. Bennett, 2 Mrs. Kintrea.

Men of Division 16—Bert Angles, Joe Kintrea.

Fat ladies' race—Mrs. Orendorff, Mrs. Major.

Officers of Division 22—Mrs. Kintrea, Mrs. Bennett.

Men of Division 16, run, hop, step and jump—1 J. Kintrea, 2 Jas. Day.

The ball game which was progressing rather in favor of the Ladies' Auxiliary came to a rather abrupt finish in the third inning, because of O. R. C. captain's objections to Umpire Crooks' decisions. The game was called in favor of L. A. 2 to 1, and will be finished at some future date.

THE PERFECT PIE

By Peter McArthur.

Probably no dish that ever appeared on our tables has caused so much heartburning as the pie—and I do not mean by that to suggest the connection between heartburn and indigestion. The pie with the hunting-case crust has eclipsed many a honeymoon. The unsuccessful pie has been the unchartered rock on the sea of matrimony, the slough of despond on the straight and narrow path. But the good pie, the perfect pie, has been from time immemorial the peace-maker, the healer of lovers' quarrels. The great outstanding fact of married life is that man wants pie! As Scott did not exactly say:

Lives there a man with soul so dead
Who never to his wife hath said:
"I wish that you would learn to bake Pies like my mother used to make."

But I have known a man to do even worse than that! I have known a man to say to his wife, "I wish you could make pies like your mother used to make." In that way he rebuked her and made friends with his mother-in-law, a feat of diplomacy never equalled in the chancelleries of Europe.

But the question has been raised: "What kind of pie was it that mother used to make? What was her masterpiece?"

There is no need of any dispute on the subject. Just wait till you find one of those old-fashioned pie-making mothers, and listen to what she is singing to the grandchild on her knee:

"Can she make a cherry pie?
Billy Boy, Billy Boy!
Can she make a cherry pie,
Charming Billy?
She can make a cherry pie
While a cat can wink its eye.
But she's a young thing and can't leave her mammy-O"

When the biggest cherry trees that are now laden with ruddy fruit were mere seedlings that song was as popular as Tipperary is today, and there are still merry grandmothers who sing it to their marriageable grandsons when they go a-wooing. In the good old days before there were pie factories, where pies are made by machines and should be eaten by machines, the making of a cherry pie was the ultimate test of a housekeeper. No girl was accounted worthy of a home who could not make a perfect cherry pie.

And this is the season of the cherry pie! Let me whisper something. Every girl should show that she is able to make cherry pies. Every love-lorn boy should see that the girl he loves is able to make them. A word to the wise is sufficient—though in this case a word to the foolish might be more appropriate.

30 YEARS' SUCCESS

J. W. Westervelt Sen., Founder of the Westervelt School.

In London, in fact throughout Western Ontario, the name "Westervelt" is almost synonymous with "business education." J. W. Westervelt Sen. is today starting his 31st year as a teacher of business principles. For 30 years he has been training students so that they could go out into the world and fight their way to positions of trust and worth; many of his former students are today recognized as men equipped with the very highest standard of business acumen, and these men do not hesitate to state their success is greatly due to the business instincts inculcated in them by the training of J. W. Westervelt Sen.

Seldom indeed does the opportunity come to a teacher to educate parents and children, but on many occasions the Westervelt School has had this proud distinction. Parents have gone out into the world, have had success, and when the time has come to equip their children with business training they have recognized there is no better than the Westervelt training. Could a school or college receive a better recommendation.

Thirty-one years ago J. W. Westervelt was instructor of the commercial department of the Woodstock Baptist College, but ambition told him to seek larger fields, and he came to London and founded the Forest City Business College, now known as the Westervelt School. Strange to say, Mr. Westervelt was advised against this by businessmen of both Woodstock and London, but, gathering together six pupils, he leased rooms upstairs at the corner of King and Richmond streets, and thus started what is today one of the best equipped, highest standard and largest-attended day and night schools in Western Ontario. The school was maintained in this building until 1897, when, having to find larger quarters, rooms on the top floor of the Y. M. C. A. Building were leased, and today the entire top floor is occupied by the Westervelt School.

J. W. WESTERVELT SEN.
Thirty Years a Business Educator.

The enrollment of students has grown from the original six to about 500 day and 150 night students. Graduates have spread to all parts of the globe, and it speaks well for the founder and principal that wherever found they have good words for him and his training, and all who can will congratulate him upon his continued success.

Mr. Westervelt has given freely of the knowledge that has come to him and served his fellow-citizens on the school board, of which he has also been chairman. He is at the present time president of the Business Educators' Association of Canada and will attend their meeting in Toronto on Saturday.

SUBSCRIBERS WANT TO BE ANONYMOUS

French Authorities Will Permit This on Popular Request.

[Canadian Press.]

Paris, July 2.—Alexandre Ribot, minister of finance, today announced that it would no longer be necessary for subscribers to the national defence bonds to reveal their identity. This action was taken at the suggestion of Emile Aimond, president of the finance committee of the Senate, who called attention to the fact that many persons had called at the public offices to subscribe for the bonds, but desired to do so without giving their names and addresses.

EXPECTS REPETITION OF ATTACKS ON VERDUN

French Expert Says Germans Will Try Again, Only To Fail.

[Canadian Press.]

Paris, July 2.—The furious German attacks in the Argonne by an entire army corps, with the object of breaking through the French line in the hope of reaching Verdun, will be repeated, according to Lieut.-Col. Rousset, military critic of the Petit Parisien. He asserts successive checks have not discouraged the Germans, and that they will continue their efforts to gain control of this hilly forest region called the Thermopylae of France.

Lieut.-Col. Rousset and other military writers agree, however, that the French forces have made such preparations as to insure the failure of all efforts on the part of the Crown Prince's army.

"BATHTUB" CASE COMES TO AN END; SMITH MUST HANG

Triple Wife Murderer Sentenced to Death—Protests His Innocence.

LONDON, July 1.—A verdict of guilty was brought in by the jury today in the case of George Joseph Smith, who was charged with the murder of three of his wives. It has been alleged by the Crown that Smith had killed his wives, while they were in their baths and had collected insurance money on their lives.

Smith was sentenced to death.

"You will hang me before you're done, my lord," was Smith's excited outburst, while Justice Scrutton was summing up the case. The prisoner quickly followed this with: "You cannot hang me for murder; I've done no murder. This is a disgrace to a Christian country."

The judge told the jury that while no direct evidence connected Smith with the murder of Beatrice Mundy, one of the three wives, with the murder of whom he was specifically charged, there was seldom anything but circumstantial evidence in cases of cold-blooded, calculated murder.

Evidence Shows Design.

The jury, continued the court, must consider if Smith had opportunity and motive. There was no doubt that he had opportunity and if he gained by the woman's death the jury could see the motive. Even then, continued the justice, the jury might not be sure whether the deaths were accidental, or designed, but if it were found that an accident which benefitted the prisoner happened a number of times, they could draw a strong inference that so many accidents benefitting him could not happen unless by design.

Smith stood erect in the prisoner's dock as the verdict was pronounced. Asked if he had anything to say, he replied faintly, "I am not guilty."

In passing the death sentence, Justice Scrutton declared to the prisoner: "They find you guilty of cold-blooded, heartless murder. I entirely concur in the verdict."

WOMEN PARADE TO CELEBRATE PROMISE BY LLOYD GEORGE

Will Receive Delegation of Those Ready To Make Shells.

[Canadian Press.]

London, July 2.—The first women's street parade since the outbreak of the war will be held on the afternoon of July 17 under the direction of the Women's Social and Political Union, of which Mrs. Emmeline Pankhurst is the leader. This parade will be held in celebration of the promise of David Lloyd George, the minister of munitions, to receive a delegation of women anxious to serve the country as shell makers and other capacities.

Call to All.

Mrs. Pankhurst explained at a mass meeting held yesterday that the parade was planned to impress the Government and the nation with the desire of women to be of service, and she urged all women, suffragettes or not, particularly of leisure and non-producing classes, to participate.

Swift Snub.

"We want the vote first," cried several women in the back of the hall, in the course of Mrs. Pankhurst's speech, to which she replied: "I am glad that those ladies are in the very small minority."

SPAIN IS NEUTRAL, PREMIER DECLARES

Government Shows No Favor Towards the Entente.

MADRID, June 30 (via Paris, July 1).—Discussing war and internal conditions in Spain, Premier Dato said today there were no foundations for the allegation that the Spanish Government favors the cause of the quadruple entente. He declared Spain favors neither side and is acting as fairly as it can.

Asserting that the constitution would not be suspended, the Premier said: "Let us live united, having in view only the defence of the country. That is the principle we will maintain with firmness."

REPRIEVE FOR BECKER, GOVERNOR'S LAST WORD

Only United States Supreme Court Can Save Him From Chair.

ALBANY, N. Y., July 1.—Gov. Whitman today granted Charles Becker, the former New York police lieutenant, under sentence of death, a reprieve until July 26.

The governor said that he would take no further action in the case than the granting of the reprieve. This means that if the United States Supreme Court does not interfere, Becker will have to die.

CONSIDERING RELIEF FOR MEXICO CITY

Wilson and Lansing Plan To Ship Supplies and Remove Foreigners.

[Canadian Press.]

Washington, July 2.—Relief measures for Mexico City continued today to occupy the attention of the Washington Government.

Both President Wilson and Secretary of State Lansing held under consideration relief plans for the Mexican capital, where latest official advices said famine and anarchy endangered the safety of foreigners.

The relief measures included orders to obtain Gen. Carranza's consent for the shipment of supplies into Mexico City through neutral agencies, and the removal of foreigners from danger zones of fighting through the influence of the diplomatic corps there.

ITALIAN PREMIER VISITS FRONT.

[Canadian Press.]

Paris, July 2.—A dispatch to the Havas Agency from Rome states that an official note announces that Premier Salandra has returned from a three-days' visit to the front. The Premier visited the trenches for the special purpose of inquiring how the supply services were conducted and gaining first-hand information as to the spirit of the troops which, the note affirms, was excellent and equal to any sacrifice.

MURDERER OF AGENT DIES IN ELECTRIC CHAIR

[Canadian Press.]

Auburn, N. Y., July 8.—David Dunn, the 20-year-old Corning murderer, died in the electric chair early today for the murder of Wells Fargo Agent Harry T. Edwards in Corning February, 1914. An eleventh-hour effort of Warden Thomas Mott Osborne to obtain a respite because of belief in Dunn's insanity failed, and the execution went on as scheduled.
