Citizens Indignant-Engineer Receives Scores of Complaints.

Ratepayers Forced to Connect With Drains and Ex-Ald. Booth Talks of Damages.

Indignant citizens made the life of City Engineer Wright far from happy today, when he listened to scores of complaints regarding the sewers. Literally hundreds of cellars, were flooded during the storms of Sunday and Monday mornings. The big sewers could not carry away the downpour, with the result that the water in the

We were flooded out on Sunday and Monday, and I stand to lose quite a bit of money. I think the city can be forced to reimburse us. I do not intend to stand this sort of thing much longer. My house is damaged and I should be paid for the damage."

For three years I have been urging the necessity of a storm sewer," said City Engineer Wright, "It is absolutely necessary. The hygienic system is carrying more now than it should. It was never designed for the purpose of carrying storm water, but in the past numerous catch-basins were made to carry off storm water.

IMPORTANT POLLING IS ON AT VERMONT

Result May Have Bearing on the Presidential Elections

Next November. [Canadian Press.]

Montpelier, Vt., Sept. 3.—One of the most interesting political campaigns that Vermont has experienced in years closed last night, and today it is expected that between 65.000 and 70,000 voters will decide between five candidates for governor. Vermont is considered a staunch Republican state, but a successful candidate must receive a majority of the vote or else the election goes to the Legislature. Whether the active fight of the Progressives party, led by Former President Theodore Roosevelt, and the speaking tour of the Democratic, Prohibition and Sosialist leaders, will be sufficient to overthrow the normal Republican vote and carry the gubernatorial fight to the Legislature is a matter of keen interest. As Vermont is the first state election since the national conventions the decision is looked upon as having some bearing upon the presidential contest in November.

LABOR MEN MAY NOT SECURE CITY'S GRANT

Alderman Richter Claims That the Contribution Was Illegally Given-Manufacturers' Committee Has Spent Appropriation for Entertainment.

It is possible that the Trades and Labor Council will not be given their grant of $150 for their Labor Day demonstration, voted by the city council some time ago. Ald. Richter, chairman of the finance committee, returned from a trip west on Saturday, and immediately looked into the matter. The check had been drawn up, but he instructed City Treasurer Bell not to issue it until he had time to go thoroughly into the matter.

MADE IN WRONG MANNER.

In explanation, Ald. Richter stated that the method of making the grant was wrong. According to the opinion of City Solicitor Meredith, the council could not make the grant to the Trades and Labor Council direct. However, the money could be paid over by the manufacturers' com-mittee, who have funds for the entertainment of visitors. This has been done in the past, and could be done in this

Here is where the difficulty comes in. The reception and manufacturers' committee had $2,500 for the purpose of entertainment.

It now developes that the committee have overdrawn their account, and there is no money to meet the obligation to the Trades and Labor Council. Where the money is to come from no person at the city hall knows, and seems quite probable that the Labor men will have to do without their grant "The only way the money can be paid over is for the reception commit-ee to order it charged up to their account for entertaining," said Ald. Richter That was the method adopted last year, and this is the proper way. The difficulty in the way now is that the reception committee have expended all their money, and have overdrawn their account.

TERRIFIC STORM AT CHICAGO

Chicago, Sept. 2. - After sweltering in a terrific heat for several days this city was visited today by a violent storm, during which there were about forty fires started by the lightning. and the rainfall amounted to about 1.45 inches in an hour and a quarter. It is believed that the loss from fire and floods will run into the hundreds of thousands of dollars.

Hotels and business houses down town were flooded, as were scores of residences and business houses in the outlying districts. Floods from the riverlike streets put out the fires under the boilers in the Auditorium and Congress Hotels. Water forced in by the terrific pressure on the sewer flooded the Pompelian room in the Congress, the favorite resort of visitors to cago's political convention.

Before the rain began the temperature hovered around 86, with the humidity at a high mark. Early in the day the heat claimed a toll of six lives.

Everybody Satisfied With the Exception of Those Who Got Left.

There are a whole lot of people in London today that are consoling them-selves with the old saying, "Better late than never." There are likewise some ew who are thinking of joining the "too-late" club. But wait! It is with the latter that we would have a word. at the grand whirlwind close of The Advertiser's great dictionary distribu-tion we find a few books left. While they last they are yours for the one coupon which is printed elsewhere in today's issue. But they won't last long, so present your coupon today. Procrastination is said to be thief of time. Here's a chance to get even with the thief and at the same time save your initiation fee in the

Just clip that last coupon printed elsewhere in this issue and present it at this office without further delay. If you have one for yourself you'll want another one to present to a friend. Remember, only one coupon and only a few books left. The distribution is officially closed, and this is

Christopher Eastin, of Detroit, Meets Horrible Death as Two Women Watch.

Detroit, Sept. 3. - Bitten by a mad dog some time ago, Christopher Eastin, aged 34, died yesterday morning at his home, 1479 Woodward avenue. Beside his bed as he ley dying stood two women. Eastin had married both of them, and up to a short time before KILLED BY LIGHTNING his death neither was aware that he was living a double life. Eastin morried his first wife, Mrs. Elizabeth Eastin, seven years ago. Two years later he married his second wife, Mrs. Rose Eastin, who is the mother of his two children.

It was but a short time before Eastin began to lose his hold on his reason that he asked his first wife, with whom he lived, that his second wife, who lived with her mother at 107 Antietam street, be summoned to his bedside. Notified by messenger electrical storm of the season swept shortly before midnight, she hurried over this district early yesterday to him.

Then, crazed with the disease which was ending his life, he sprang from his bed and fought with five strong men. He died yesterday

GOODWIN WANTS TO DIE

Physicians and Friends Cannot Dispel the Actor's Gloom. Los Angeles, Sept. 2 .- Nat Goodwin

believes he is going to die, and is so morbid that Dr. John C. Forbat, one of his physicians, said today that to dispel the moroseness which afflicts tearing through the flesh of the anithe actor, is one of the hardest tasks that confronts his friends and medical advisers. "Mr. Goodwin thinks that there is practically no chance that he will ever walk again and that makes him mor-old," said Dr. Forbart. Two rinks of Port Elgin bowlers When Goodwin found that he could played here recently, and the game not move his legs he asked the doctor resulted in a victory of 41 for the home what was the matter. Guelph Man Walked Into Engine and Was Badly Injured. [Special to The Advertiser.] are guests of their cousin, Mrs. James

Guelph, Sept. 2.-Thomas Clemes and another man, both of Acton, walked into a C. P. R. train which was crossing the road at Allan's bridge, in the heart of the city, today. The engine and tender had passed the crossing and the two continued walking, Clemes being hurled over to a siding and his friend knocked

When they were picked up it found that Clemes had a piece of wood about two inches long, from the baggage ar, driven through his jawbone, smashing his teeth, but was otherwise uninjured. The other man was only shaken up, immediately getting up and running Canadian Pacific officials have been on the watch for him all day. The whole affair is something of mystery, as the engine and crossing bells

were ringing. HORSE, MAN AND BUGGY OVER EMBANKMENT

A RUSH TO AUSTRALIA.

Australia is experiencing for the first time in many years an inrush of immigration. For two or three de rades the population has almost stood still, while the main stream of British emigration flowed to Canada. This year 100,000 persons have applied for passages to Australia. Already over 30,000 have gone, and steamship accommodation is all booked up to December

While the main current of British emigration will continue for years to come to flow to Canada, though perhaps diminished, it looks as though a boom were at last setting in for Australia. What is the significance of the new turn?

Most of the new immigrants are fandseekers. The cause of this is the change recently adopted by the Australian people in land laws and tax ation. In the more settled states the cream of the land had been monopolized by a few holders. The character of the country lent itself to latifundia and there had come to be almost a reproduction in one sense of the system in Great Britain. But in 1910 the Labor party won the elections on the platform of a graduated taxation of land values, to down the monopoly In November, 1910, the Fisher Govern ment carried its land values tax. Land value up to $25,000 was made exempt. and upon higher values a rising scale of imposts levied, the maximum being reached on value exceeding $375,-The result was that in nine 1911, taxpayers sold land of the value

fact that the British syndicalists feel war talk and advocate peace. strong enough to make a fight for recognition at the annual trades union congress, being held at Norwich this

The word, "syndicalism," which new to this side of the Atlantic, derived from "syndicat," the French the organized workingmen, or "conscious proletariat," have finally adopted syndicalism as their plan of camhas been elaborated down to the minutest details, and it is claimed by syndicalists that all the machinery is ready for carrying on the normal processes of production and distribution when the hour of revolution strikes. The weapon is to be the general strike. The workers in all trades, including transportation, in the moment of the paralysis of business are to seize the instruments of production and the capitalists and owners, and carry on the various industries on a co-operative basis. In anticpation of the new order, the country has been divided into districts. The syndicats of each district elect delegates to a bourse, and the district bourses are organically related Above them is a central body, a permanent committee, sitting in Paris, which would act as the directing head of the revolution. The exchange of commodities between the various districts would be effected by the bourses. On paper the system is formidable, but the syndicalists have chiefly to reckon with the stolid peasantry of France. The great revolution gave France a stand by the established order.

In Italy, as in France, syndicalism the proletariat. In Germany it has depending upon the conquest of the parliamentary machinery by means of the Social Democratic party. In France the syndicalists have no faith in political action; they do not oppose the Socialists, with whom they have much th common, but they regard parliamentary socialism mainly as a pastime for the professional classes and "intellectuals."

In Great Britain the leader of syndiealism is Tom Mann, recently imprisoned for advising soldiers to disobey orders if commanded to shoot at strikers. His culpability resembles that of Mr. Bonar Law, who declared that British soldiers would not shoot their Ulster fellow-countrymen for rebelling against home rule, In Great Britain syndicalist ideas have gripped many of the workingmen and are viewed with apprehension by the group which relies upon parliamentary methods to transform society. The Independent and we commend it to readers.

Labor party, which has thirty seats in the House of Commons, is strenuously combatting syndicalism, and there may be a cleavage in the ranks of organized they

BOTHA A BRITISH GENERAL.

General Botha, former commander of the Boers against the British in the South African war, has been made a British honorary general, He is already the Prime Minister of a united South Africa under the British flag. How typical of the British Empire! The Manchester Guardian says of Botha;

"General Botha was undoubtedly the ablest of all the remarkable military men whom the war produced. The tame of Delarey, in some respects the most attractive figure of all on the Boer side, was local only, and he never had the main body of the British attack to resist. De Wet, whose name was better known in this country than that of any other Boer leader, was, despite his brilliancy, never more than a lieutenant, He was to Botha what Stonewall lackson was to Lee in the American Civil War. But General Botha was for the greater part of the war its chief directing force and the commander in the principal field of opera tions. He entered Natal a private burgher in the command of his friend and neighbor, Meyer. After the first battle of the war at Dundee he succeeded to Meyer's command, and his reputation in the sec ond month was already so high that General Joubert put him in sole charge of the defence of the Tugela He won the battle of Colenso with a mere handful of men without the slightest assistance from the besiegers of Ladysmith. Even more brilliant though less successful was the battle he fought at Diamond Hill soon after the occupation of Pretoria. He there met the whole invading army with a force not exceeding five thousand men, and these disorganized by a headlong retreat and a succession of reverses. These five thousand men occupied a front of thirty miles, which is perhaps the more daring extension in war. For nearly two years afterwards he kept the war going in the Eastern Transvaal, which was still at the end of the war the chief centre of resist-From beginning to end of the war his character as a soldier never suffered the slightest blemish."

Only ten years ago in arms against Great Britain, Botha is today the trusted repository of the innermost secrets of the British Government, the head of a British state in which he fought the British power, and now wears the uniform of a British general. As such he is one of the proudest illustrations of British principles, an expression of British imperialism of the true quality. And yet if the statesmen months from October, 1910, to June, who boast they are the only simonpure Imperialists had had their way of $90,000,000 in 18,288 transactions. MOTOR-DRIVEN OILSHIPS.

[London Daily News and Leader.] The four oil-carrying ships which are to be laid down for the navy under the recent supplementary vote are each to be fitted with internal combustion engines. The chief reason for taking this step is to enable the ommission on oil fuel, now sitting under the chairmanship of ord Fisher, to have at their disposal the full st information relative to the working of motor installations in ships. For this reason, too, each ship will have a different type of engine. Two of the new vessels are to be built at Devonport dockyard and two That gently quivered in thy trees, by contract. ### Another Canadian Wooer of the Muses

By Special Arrangement With the Winnipeg Telegram.]

The other day I reviewed a collection of western lyrics by a Saskatchewan poetess; today another wooer of the muses, Mr. Leslie Grant Scott, steps into the middle of the stage with "The Light of Genius and Other Poems" (William Briggs), If Mr. Scott had not written a poem in honor of Sir Wilfrid Laurier, no one could tell that he belonged to fair Canada at all. There is no conventional address to the fatherland, no mention of wheat, no reference to the Aurora Borealis, no address to the winter lakes, no praises of the men of the northern zone, no rhetoric regarding the maple leaf, or wild geese, or the citadel at Quebec, or the fruit trees in the Grimsby region-there is nothing of Canadian flavor, except one lonely poem; beginning, "O hearken to Sir Wilfrid Laurier." To read these poems you would think the author had never been as far as Winnipeg. His sympathies seem to lie in the other direction. If he has not been in the effete east, in India and China, he has found subjects which were suggested by sights and sounds and philosophy in the Orient. A vein of eastern mysticism runs through Mr. Scott's poetry. Take this poem, "The Taj Mahal by Moonlight," as an example:

"O Taj Mahal, thy soul doth live! I saw it in the moonlight rise, All pale and ghostlike to the skies; I heard it in the frgarant breeze, O Taj Mahal, thy soul doth live!"

That is a poem which ought to appeal to an architect; it does not convey much sense to the literalist, but the symbolist would receive it with

"The poem, "Reincarnation," is also eastern in its philosophy. A lady of Delhi would understand this poem, where a Winnipeg maiden would wonder what the young man was talking

In ages past you, dear, were I, I you, The new tank ships will be the Lo, now we meet once more and it is done;

We, soul and body, once again are

"The Snake Charmer" is another one-stanza lyric, which suggests Indla It is not a pleasant poem to a westerner, but it has a certain creepy fascin-

"With music insinuating, So the snake charmer plays, Till at length, from all ways, The snakes slowly slide, With sinuous glide,

Up him writhe and twine round his Let us imitate the example of the poet and leave them there while we "No; but one doesn't expect a man a noble brevity Mr. Scott relates a tra- to who wears a tortoise-shell glasses to gedy in twelve lines. He uses up a whole page for each quatrain. On page 17, "We Meet"-

On page 18, "We Kiss"-The skies burst into glowing glory; The world with rosy love's aflame; O heav'n, O earth, witness love's vic-

O wind, O sea, cry out love's name."

That was too gorgeous, too flamboy. ant, too victorious, to last long, so on page 19, "We Part"-

The slow sad shadows fall; The dull, gray gloom of twilight dim Creeps slowly over all: For love and life are but Fate's whim."

Mr. Scott is to be complimented on his concision of phrase. He does not show any striking originality; he brings no new message and little or no inspiration, but is frequently able to produce a quatrain which points a contrast in a gripping style. His poem, "Pain and Envy," seems to me to be the cleverest thing in his beautifullyprinted little book:

Now Pain and Envy met one day, And started boasting, on their way, Said Pain, "I do cripple bodies whole," Sneered Envy, "I shrivel up man's soul!!*

distinct credit to the organizations.

The Cigarmakers had 500 men in the march. The parade was divided into tw sections. The first was headed by the First Hussars' Band, the following organizations taking part: Brotherhood of Railway Trainmen, Stage Workers' Inion, Amalgamated Carpenters, Custom Tailors, Bill Posters, Musicians, Typographical Union, Metal Polishers, Electrical Workers, Brewery Workers and Cigarmakers' Union. The second section was headed by the Seventh Regiment Band, and was composed of P. R. Federated Trades, Orders of patrick, 2 W. French, 3 Geo. McKit-Conductors, United Garment Workers, Stove

Stevenson, had a great deal of difficulty in selecting the best-appearing organization in the parade, as several of them were particularly good. However, their final choice fell on the Metal Polishers, who presented a very natty appearance indeed. Dowler Firm Wins Prize. There were a large number of floats in the parade, the prize being won by R. H. & J. Dowler. The firm made an excellent display and were clearly en-

PRACTICE WHAT YOU PREACH

[Copyright: 1912.] Do more in any direction of merit than you talk or write about it.

There are many physicians who are talking and writing about health; they are rich with information, but they are forever ailing, and they in no way express health and virility in their appearance.

There are beauty specialists who carry sallow complexions, dry, lustreless hair and uncared for teeth as sign boards of their own inefficiency in the line of work they represent.

There are manicures whose nails offend the sight there are teachers of metaphysical thought who write and lecture on the power of the mind to accomplish all things, yet who are constantly complaining of their own lack of supply, and blaming fate and circumstance therefor, and asking aid of others to establish themselves. A woman who gave lectures to classes of interested men and women on the art of making a beautiful home on a small amount of meney lived in the most haphazard manner; her house was a pandemonium of disorder, and ugliness and discomfort started from every corner. Another who wrote on interior decorations, in skilled and scientific manner, allowed her home to not only offend the eye, but it gave forth the evil odors of unaired and unswept and uncleaned rooms. A whole bevy of women artists, copying pictures sublime with beauty, in an old world gallery, looked like scullion maids out of work; so unkempt, un-combed, and untidy was their appearance. There can be no great and lasting success for anyone who does not make an effort to demonstrate the truths they preach, by pen or word, in their own lives, homes and personality,

The white stocking craze has done lot to ease aching feet, and there's nothing so comfortable as a nice, clean pair of white stockings and a fresh pair of shoes and slippers. Stockings ought really to be changed twice a day, and the girl who hates to darn will find that this saves her a great deal of work. Changing stockings, like changing your shoes, brings the wear and the rub on another part of

My hobby is shoes and stockings, and as long as my feet look all right f feel that I can face the world with calmness. If you want to know how sensitive people are about the way they are shod, sit in a street car and gaze fixedly at the feet of the woman opposite. She will get so uncomfortable that ten to one you can make her get up and leave the car, because she is quite sure she has a hole in her stocking or something is the matter with her shoes. The same applies to men, though, on the whole, men are more par ticular about their shoes than women are and ou seldom see a man in very moderate circumstances whose shoes aren'

I know of one beauty shop where the customers' feet are massaged before face massage is given, and it's an awfully good idea, not only because it promotes circulation and beauty doctor said that more wrinkles come from foot troubles than from financial worries, and I guess she must be right, for if you ever had seen the painedooking faces of the girls with the aching feet you could be sure they are making real wringles in their faces, lines that von't come out on salary days. Lots of girls get stockings that are too short or too narrow, on the pleasing theory that they make their feet smaller, but they only curl the toes over, cramp the toints and push the toes together. If you get a foot encased in a small stocking and then put it in a shee one size too narrow or too short, you have a fine idea and good-hearted, and will have the of what slow torture is. A Great Trouble. Girls have had so much trouble keeping their pumps on for the last couple of years since pumps have been so fashionable, that the whole way they walk is changed. Girls have to waddle a little to keep the pumps from falling off-that is the trouble with their walk. You can't walk well or look well if your shoes hurt you or if you have to make an effort to keep them on.

Cramping the toes to keep one's pumps on also makes the feet ache; that causes vrinkles and ugly looks. So if you want to be pretty get good understandings.

CHAPTER II.

A Close Shave.

The Watermelon climbed the stone wall and paused a moment to view his surroundings. The road wound up the hill from the village nestling at its foot and dipped again out of sight farther on. On all sides were the hills, falling rocky pasture lands, rising to orchards or woods, and now and then a farmhouse. It was ail sides were the hills, falling rocky pasture lands, rising to orchards or woods, and now and then a farmhouse. It was summer, glad, mad, riotous summer. They sky was a deep, deep blue, with here and there a drifting, snow-white cloud. The fields were gay with buttercups and daisles, and wild roses nodded shly at daisles, and wild roses nodded shly at in the leafy recesses of the trees the birds twittered and sang. A little gray squirrel peeped at him from the limb close by, and then scampered off with a whisk of its bushy tail. A brook laughed and tumbled under a slender bridge across the road.

The Watermelon was a vagabond in every fibre of his long graceful self. The open places, the sweep of the wind, the call of the birds, the rise and fall of the hills, hiding the fascinating "beyond," found unconsclous harmony with his nature. As a captive animal, given a chance for freedom, makes for the nearest timber as a cat in a strange neighborhood.

the sun-warmed air, borne on the breath of the new-mown fields, came the sound of distant church bells, softly, musically, soothingly. Slipping from the wall, he set out for the village below in the valley, where the road wound steeply down.

The village boasted but one barber shop, a quiet, little, dusty-white, one-room affair, leaning in timid humanity against the protecting wall of the only other public building in town, drygoods, grocery and butcher shop in one. The church bells had stopped for some time when the Watermelon turned into the wide empty street, and strolled carelessly up to the faded red, white and blue pole of Wilton's Tonsorial Parlor. In its Sunday calm the whole village seemed deserted. A few of the bolder snirits who had entroover a sund carelessly rattled a few old keys he carried in his pocket. They fingled with the clink of loose coins, and were pleasing to the ear, if not so much to the touch. "I came here for a shave, but I pay for what I want, see? Say, I'll bet that feller busted your cash register," and he nodded pleasantly toward the new shiny received of customs on the shelf near the looking-glass.

The remark brought an agreeable thrill of excited expectation to all save the barber. He shook his head with boundless faith in his new possession. A few of the bolder spirits who had outgrown apron strings and not yet been snared in anyone's bonnet strings, had remained away from church and foregathered in the seclusion of the barber shop. The Watermelon regarded them a moment through the widow, as he felt carelessly in his pockets for the coins that were never there. It was a quiet crowd, well-brushed hair, nicely-polished boots and freshlyshaved faces. They were reading the sporting news of Saturday's papers and ogling any girl, fairly young and not notoriously homely, who chanced to pass. The himself as to anyone. # CANADIAN LEAGUE SEASON ENDS WITH LONDON TEAM HOLDING FOURTH PLACE

"Dad" Stewart's Men Humbled Indians in the First Game, but London Came Back and Easily Copped the Farewell Contest With Matt Hynes in the Box-Big Crowd in Attendance.

[BY JINX.]

The Canadian League season of 1912 passed away yesterday. There was nothing extraordinary in its passing at Tecumseh Park. One of the largest crowds of the season turned out to see "Dad" Stewart's sectionhand: and the Barrett bingles brigade divide a double-header, the visiting pill peddlers tak-barrett affair by the score of 10 to 0. and the Home Hopes bringing home ing the first affair by the score of 10 to 0. and the Home Hopes bringing home the bacon in the farewell fracas by the score of 4 to 2. Had the local hired belp dropped the pair to the Saints they would have finished the season leading the second division, but as it turned out they are nothing worse than fourth thace, the tail-end of the first division with Ottawa, Brantford and Hamilton place, the tail-end of the first division with Ottawa, Brantford and Hamilton badly.

SAINTS TRIED HARD. The Saints made a big bid for both conflicts, but they shot their bolt in the first game when they started out on a clean-up, and made the Barrett bunch look like a troop of Boy Scouts just breaking into the game. The Tecumsels were bad, very bad, and in the second inning the nightmare occurred. In this spasm, the Stewart clan accumulated eight large and julcy markers and packed the game away in the woodbox. The worst of it was that the majority of these counters came after two men were out. Before the third man was placed among the ead ones, Eddie Linneburn, Frankie Fox and Benny Speer staged a little comedy which for plain and frantic finging had a bunch of raving Zulus trimmed in forty different peculiarities. No less than five errors were chalked up to the local squad in this chapter, and Benny Speer was the chief offender. In fact, Benny offended Manager Barrett so much that the professor pulled him from the game, and Greenhalgh did the back-stopping for the remainder of the afternoon.

THE FINAL GAME Brantford, Sept. 2.-Brantford, with Peterboro Lost Both Games to New Donovan on the mound, walloped the Kolts today in the last game of the Canadian League season, 9 to 1. *Wet grounds prevented the morning game, and the few fans present this afternoon witnessed a ragged exhibition. Rose started, but was touched freely, and Garlow, who followed, did little better. The Kolt infield went soaring in the seventh, and the Red Sox scored six runs, Donovan pitched a steady game.
The Kolts and the Reds play a postseason series of five games this week.

O'Hara Scores.

Fiske O'Hara, a young Irish tenor, who is rapidly achieving fame, completely filled the Grand Opera House both at he matinee and evening performances the hollday. His new offering, "The Rose of Kildare," proved to be one of the best vehicles he ever had. There is sufficient sentiment in it to make it a delightful attraction, and gives O'Hara elenty of opportunities for displaying nis excellent voice. The play deals with the troublous times in Ireland prior to the eighteenth century. There is a touch of melodrama in the whole play, but it is never overdone. The situations are all well worked

Mr. O'Hara is an actor of more than ordinary merit, but his talents as a vocalist were most appreciated. His best song was "There is Only One Ireland," and it delighted the crowd greatly. The support tendered Mr. O'Hara was even and clever. Miss Gladys Wynee, as the Rose of Kildare, is an actress of unusual promise, and soon became a favability, excelled in the role of Terrence

Ottawa Unions Have a Record Turnout-Ten Thousand March at Montreal.

Guelph, Sept. 2.-Under auspices of he Iron Molders' Union, the Labor Day celebration here, while considerably dampened by a heavy downpour all morning, proved very successful. The morning events were cancelled, as was the horse race matinee in the afternoon, but the Westing-house Football Club, of Hamilton I am now seventy-six years old, and played the Guelph team, winning by to 2; and the sports and band concert in the afternoon and evening were well attended. The results of the sports were:

Five mile open, Owen J. Dalby. Ted Ingles, Sydney Johnson, Hespeler; two-mile, L. Peere, B. Boyd, T. Hall, McKen, McGowan, F. King, Mallott, Wm. Graham

St. Thomas, Sept. 2.—Rain marred but did not stop the Labor Day celebration here. An incessant downpour kept the morning parade from starting till near noon, when the Twenty-fifth Regiment Band, the Oneida Indian Band and the London Pipe Band preceded several hundred union men with floats, fancy turnouts, etc., along the streets.

In the afternoon a picnic was held at Pinafore Park, a large number attending. The usual program of races and games was run off, and a ball game between St. Thomas Amateurs and Strathroy resulted 6 to 3 in favor of St. Thomas. A concert was held in the evening. Hon. T. W. Crothers, Minister of Labor, was the guest of honor and delivered a speech at the park in the afternoon.

INTERVENTION UNLIKELY

Both Rome and Constantinople Agree That Any Act by Powers Would Be Ruinous.

Chiasso, Switzerland, Sept. 2. - The proposition of Count Leopold von Berchthold, the Austro - Hungarian foreign minister that autonomy be gradually given all the European provinces of Turkey, has spurred on Turkey to hasten the unofficial negotiations for peace with Italy, which are Turkish delegates and Pietro Berto-Sergt. > Turkish View. The Turkish delegates to the peace 'conversations" repeatedly have insisted upon the abrogation of the law passed by the Italian Parliament last February, annexing Tripoli to Italy, even if such abrogations were merely a matter of form, advancing the proposition that the Government of Tripoli be intrusted nominally to a prince appointed by the Sultan, but chosen by Laly. Among those urged Turkey for this office is Caraman Ali Pasha, a descendant of the ancient rulers of Tripoli, who is now mayor 4.00 of the city of Tripoli, which is controlled by the Italians. But the Italpremier, Signor Giolitti, has

The Italian premier's position now Extra series, 500 yards— 1.00 is even stronger than it was last year at the commencement of the war, as Maj. W. A. In addition, the Italian army, 5.00 and navy are in excellent condition 4.66 and the financial situation in the 4.00 kingdom is so good after fourteen 3.00 years of surpluses in the budget that no loan would be needed to carry on 2.00 the war. This year a large sum is 1.00 available for the purposes of war, and 1.00 an equal surplus is expected in the budget of next year. Agree on One Point. A point on which the Italian and Turkish peace negotiators are entirely agreed is that they will do their utmost to avoid intervention in the controversy between the two coun-.... 25 $7.00 tries, which several times has been attempted. Count von Berchthold's attempt to secure autonomy for the European provinces of Turkey is considered to be a move for veiled intervention in 2.00 European Turkey, which, if accepted, would place European Turkey, like Crete, practically under the tutelage of the powers, with a predominant Austrian influence owing to Austria's frontage on the Balkan States. Naturally Turkey opposes the proposition, and while Italy, as a member of the Triple Alliance, has adhered to it, she hopes that peace between her and Turkey will be brought

Great Britain Has Not Demanded That Matter Go to Arbitration.

STATEMENT BY FOREIGN OFFICE

Possible That Government May Await the Results of the United States Election.

[Canadian Press ]

London, Sept. 3.-A complete disavowa s given by the British Foreign Office of he so-called announcement that the British Government will formally demand arbitration on the Panama Canal tolls

"The lines of action which lie before the British Government are now being onsidered, and any announcement of the aind is premature."

This is the full text of the formal statement given out by the foreign office ing in reply to requests for details as to the reported demand for arbitration report, the officials of the foreign office said in the first place it was wholly incorrect, for no announcement of any sor had been made or even decided on by the British Government. The statement purporting to be official was issued the Press Association and the Central news, two of the leading news agencies. It appeared at an hour when it was too late to obtain independent confirmation or denial, and all the London newspapers printed it this morning as printed it this morning as a fact. Situation Unchanged.

Instead of this being the case, the Panama Canal question remains in exotly the same position as it has occupie for some time. The Government will in all probability propose its reference to the court of arbitration at The Hague, but the method of submitting it to that tribunal has not yet been decided upon. The foreign office has been throughout outspoken in its conversations with the representatives of the press, with the statement that arbitration is the only Sir Edward Grey, secretary of state for preign affairs, and others members of the British cabinet, have been scattered all over the United Kingdom and the Continent ever since the Panama Canal bill became law, and in consequence there has been no opportunity for the Jovernment to frame its program. It is possible that the Government will await the result of the elections in the United States, in the hope that the United States Government may find a way afterward of meeting British wishes.

Some Uncertainty. London, Sept. 3 .- Some uncertainty appeared to exist at the foreign office as on the newspapers were requested to for a week. vithhold its publication. A short time afterward the denial was reaffirmed and permitted to appear.

A German Opinion. Berlin, Sept. 3.—The privileges accorded by the Panama Canal act to American vessels engaged in the coasting trade is a violation of the Hay-Pauncefote treaty, according to Wilhelm Kaufmann, the well-known professor of international law at Berlin University. In an article published in today's Tageblatt, in which the professor deals point blank with the question, he said that in titled to impose compensatory dues or exclude entirely the ships of nations which pay subsidies and thus violate the conditions of entire equality provided for by the treaty. The exclusion of railroadowned shipping is, he says, justified because these vessels are practically sub-

Holiday celebrations had their aftermath in police court this morning, when a couple of hours of Magistrate C. Judd's time were taken up with lisposing of about 25 prisoners, the majority of whom had found their way into the hands of the bluecoats through intoxication.

Andrew Collings engaged in a lively session at the corner of Rienmond street and Central avenue Monday evening and as a result spent the night in the cells, and shelled out $3 this morning to avoid a ten days' sojourn at Castle Carter. The tale as told in court this morning was to the effect that Collings with his wife and another man were proceeding up Richmind street, when an Italian boy, ob-serving Collings' condition, remarked, Heinze is pickled again. Disposed of Two of Them. Collings at about the same time passed some very offensive remarks toward an Italian woman, who entered a drug store to phone for the police. emerged Collings made a pass at her, but was prevented from striking her by the timely interference of Melville Hueston, who happened along in a motor car. A fight commenced, a second man attempting to assist Collings, but the motorist easily disposed of both of his opponents. The police in the meantime arrived n the patrol and took Collings into ustody despite the strepuous opposition of his wife. This morning she asserted that she has been grossly insulted daily since coming to this country from England, and complained that people are continually casting reflections on her dialect and nationality.

Carried Wicked Weapon. A party of foreign laborers employed by the Bell Telephone Company, celeprated at the Bank Hotel during the afternoon, and were taken into custody by P. C. William T. Middaugh, Joseph Farquee, one of the party, had three charges against his name. He carried Delivering Oil in Driver's Aba knife, the blade of which looked like an executioner's axe, was drunk and disorderly on the street, and after being lodged in his cell amused himself by tearing out the plumbing. He was essessed $14, but has the option of Admitted Allowing Boy Under Present Delivery Fifteen Years of Age to Enter the Theatre.

A doorman at the Empire Cheatre was heavily muicted in police court this morning when he was fined $50 Police Magistrate Judd for allowing children under 15 years of age to enter his place unattended. Accused pleaded guilty to the charge, and had no option therefore, but to accept the minimum penalty of $50. His check was taken, but later it developed that the bank on which it was drawn was unable to pay over that amount from his account.

The show is legally operated, and resents films passed by the Ontario oard of censors, but the law does not allow any child under fifteen years of age to attend excepting with a chaperon. A boy who had never been in theatre of any kind before was the cause of the trouble.

OUTLOOK FOR 1913 GOOD AT BERLIN

Joint Stock Company Will Take Over Franchise Next Season-"Pop" Williams Loses Money.

Berlin, Sept. 2.—Berlin's Canadian League players departed for their respective homes this afternoon, when the games between the 1911 champions and Guelph were called off on account of wet grounds. The season has been an unsatisfactory one for Owner Williams financially. The majority of the players who were signed and went into training at Windsor failed to deliver the goods when the league season started, and over a score of players were given a trial before a winning was gathered together three team weeks ago by Manager Deneau. The schedule adopted by the league proved disastrous to Berlin and travelling expenses were unnecessarily high. Notwithstanding these drawbacks, baseball enthusiasts are confident Berlin will make a good ball town, and a joint stock company will take over the franchise at an early date and commence to build up the team, and make arrangements for the rental of athletic grounds for next season before the an-8 nual meeting of the Canadian League.
