Gangster On Way to 'Pen' Says M'Fadden Did Not Kill Sabine

Arthur Conley Says He Is the Man Who Owned "the Big Black Gun"—Refuses To Tell Who Brought Saws Into Jail—Gives Message To Young Men Inclined To Leading Life of Crime.

Toronto, May 25.—"McFadden should not go—he is not the man who shot Sabine."

This statement was made by Arthur Conley, this morning while sitting in the union station shackled to his nephew, Jack Conley, and W. Strutch, awaiting their departure for Kingston.

"I never knew Sabine was shot until I was arrested on Monday night."

"Who owned the big black gun?" he was asked.

"Who did you get the .35 from?"

"I owned the gun. I destroyed it," Conley stated. "That is I took it and hid it."

"Not from anybody. It was brought back into the house on Saturday, where I got it. I used it on Monday at Ammon Davies'. After I came home I got rid of it. I was through then, and if I had have had word I would not be going back to Kingston today."

"Who brought the saws into the jail?"

"A good fellow, that is all. He tried to help me, and I have got to shield him."

"Have you a message for the young men of Toronto who may be slipping away from their mother's side?" he was further questioned.

"Yes. Tell them to work hard and be honest, even if they have got to work at a dollar a day with a pick and shovel. Do it rather than face what I am going through."

Jack Conley, shackled to his uncle and handcuffed, was a bit pale and needed a shave.

"Have you anything to say about McFadden and Hotrum and who did the shooting?" he was asked.

"I think it was Hotrum did the shooting," the lad answered after a careful deliberation of the question.

"I don't know, but it looks like him now."

"Why?"

"From what I have been told since the trial."

"Did you make any statement to the police or the jail governor regarding McFadden and Hotrum?"

"No," stated Jack; and Art added, too, that he had made no statement.

It is Arthur Conley's third trip to Kingston. In 1905 he was sent down for six years, and in 1915 went back for six years more, and has been out less than a year. He is now ticketed for fifteen years.

REORGANIZATION IS CONSIDERED AT CONVENTION OF VETERANS

Comrade Lauchman Refers to Association's Inactivity.

COBWEBS IN CRANIUM

Smaller Executive Will Be Advocated by Members of G. W. V. A.

Brantford, May 25.—"Dry rot," as conveying a description of the G. W. V. A. was charged this morning by Comrade Lauchman of Ottawa, to "cobwebs in the cranium," with the explanation that cobwebs could be swept out, while dry rot could not be. There was some discussion as to the apathy shown, some delegates blaming the executive and others the branches. Reorganization is being considered, with a motion sent to the Dominion G. W. V. A. asking for a smaller executive of nine, in place of sixteen, with a view to lessening expense.

Mayor Hanna of Belleville, first labor mayor of that city, today invited the G. W. V. A. to meet in Belleville in 1922. Comrade Cunningham of St. Catharines wanted a census taken of United States slackers in Canada. These men who fled the United States in wartime were keeping Canadian veterans out of jobs. The matter was laid over.

By resolution the veterans indorsed the bringing of trial of war criminals. The Dominion G. W. V. A. has been asked to amend the constitution to have the provincial executives formed of the president, two vice-presidents, representatives to the Dominion Command and five men chosen by the convention in annual meeting. This would reduce the executive from 16 to 9, and would be a move toward economy.

Comrade Rawlinson of Toronto, declaring that the association must be reorganized, resolution and nominating committee were presented at the convention, called for a division of the province, west, central and east for the one central organization could not handle the work properly.

Comrade Armstrong, of Mount Dennis, blamed the branches rather than the central body.

EGERTON ST. RATEPAYERS TO APPEAL TO COUNTY JUDGE OVER EXCESSIVE CHARGES ON SEWER

Court of Revision Granted Reduction of $1,200, But It Was Not Deemed Enough—175 Appeals Heard, Majority Being Refused.

No less than 175 appeals against assessments were heard by the court of revision on Monday night at the city hall, the majority being refused, some laid over, and a few minor ones granted. The biggest number of appeals concerned the payment of statute labor tax.

The appeal of the Carling Brewery Company against the assessment of the company's property was laid over. The appeal was based on the loss of business caused by the advent of prohibition.

Messrs. Lawson & Jones, lithographers, appealed against being assessed as manufacturers, and asked that they be assessed as lithographers, which would mean a reduction of 10 per cent of their present assessment. The appeal was laid over.

The ratepayers of Egerton street appealed against the construction of the sewer, claiming that the assessment should be based on the normal cost of the construction of such a sewer, and not on the abnormal cost which prevailed during the period of its construction. City Engineer Brazier placed the excess of cost in the construction of the sewer at about $1,200. The court granted a reduction pro-rata to the appellants to the amount of $1,200, but this decision was declared unsatisfactory, and the ratepayers announced their intention of appealing to the county judge.

Today City Clerk Baker stated that in event of such an appeal the judge would have no power, as the period in which such an appeal should have been entered has passed.

Sincere Sympathy.

A Mr. Good appealed against being called upon to pay statute labor tax and presented evidence that he was entitled to exemption. The court granted his request, but when the appellant stated that he had already paid over five good crisp bucks to the city treasurer, all the court could do was to exonerate him from the tax. The court hoped that he might meet with success in his efforts to recover the money from the city's treasure chest.

Another appellant, when refused relief from payment of statute labor tax, emphatically declared he would not pay it. The court retorted that the collector would attend to that part of the matter. "Well, if they come after it they have to get it out of my shoes, for that's all I've got they could seize," declared the man, sticking one foot up on the table at the same time and exhibiting a well-worn boot sans toes.

The court was in session from 7:30 till 11:45 p.m.

DUBLIN CUSTOM HOUSE BOMBED AND SET FIRE TO BY SINN FEIN

One of Finest Buildings in City Is Totally Destroyed.

EMPLOYEES ESCAPE

Historic Structure Cost One Million Pounds.

London, May 25.—The custom house in Dublin, says a Central News dispatch from that city, was attacked and burned by Sinn Feiners this afternoon.

The fire, says this account, started at 1:15 o'clock, the flames breaking out simultaneously throughout the building, which was totally destroyed. It was one of the finest buildings in Dublin, and cost one million pounds.

The inmates fled as the fire broke out.

Another account states that the custom house was set on fire through bombs thrown in the building.

The railway bridge running past the building was occupied by a large number of men, upon whom a fusillade was opened. Others in the immediate vicinity of the custom house also were fired upon.

Lorry loads of the military were bombed as they were driving to the scene. The soldiers fired machine guns and revolvers, and several persons were seen to fall. So far three persons appear to have been killed.

The affair seems to have been a most elaborately organized attack.

Armed men guarded all the approaches to the custom house to prevent the saving of the buildings. Shortly afterwards Liberty Hall, the headquarters of the Irish Transport Workers, was set on fire and destroyed.

Sailboat Party of 8 Is Believed To Have Lost Lives In Lake

Lifesavers Searching Waters From Hamilton to Toronto in Effort To Ascertain If Yawl "Venetia" Is Still Afloat—East Wind Blowing Straight Up Lake Ontario.

Toronto, May 25.—The life-savers at various points on Lake Ontario were asked this afternoon to search the lake for a party of eight Toronto people who left Saturday for a sailboat trip to Hamilton, and who have not arrived at home or sent word of their whereabouts. In the party is Miss Grace Parks, aged 21, and her younger sister, Joyce, aged 15, who boarded with Mrs. Frederick Farley on Parliament street here. The Parks girls' parents reside at Selbourne, Ont.

According to the report given by Mrs. Farley, a party of eight left for Hamilton on Saturday in a sailboat.

There were ten to go, but two people backed out, the girls told Mrs. Farley, before they started, and only eight went. They were going to stop at Oakville to pick up one of the men's wives and then go on to Hamilton.

Superintendent Saunders and Engineer Elford of the local life-saving crew left at 1 o'clock in a speedboat to sweep the lake to the west along the north shore. It has been an east wind since Saturday, blowing straight up the lake parallel with the shore. The life-savers will work the lake all afternoon.

The boat is a 50-foot sailing yawl, named Venetia, and flying the flag of the National Yacht Club.

In the party were also George Stevenson and Stanley Hoskins of 7 Moss Park Place.

LONDON CONSTABLE TO BE TRIED FRIDAY

Roy Brammer Is Charged With Fraud.

CUT ON $8,000 BAIL

Alleged To Have Seized Whiskey While Posing As a Provincial Constable.

Although a second arrest has not yet been made in connection with an alleged seizure of whiskey in Aldridge Township, Provincial Officer Arthur H. Palmer, who is investigating the case, is following close the lead to a man being apprehended, it is expected. Police Constable Roy Brammer, of the local police force, the first man arrested, and charged with fraud, is bailed in the sum of $8,000 to appear before Judge W. H. Chittick at the county police court in the court house at 2:30 o'clock Friday afternoon.

The second man in the case was described by Mr. McCaffrey, at whose home the seizure was alleged to have occurred, as being rather dark, medium height, and wearing an overcoat which had broad shoulders, and made him appear stouter than he really was. McCaffrey was in London this morning.

On the day following the alleged seizure, Provincial Officer Palmer went to McCaffrey's home to search it and was told that on the evening previous two men posing as provincial constables and calling themselves "Palmer" and "Kelly" had searched the place and seized the whiskey. They showed badges and tore up the flooring and sent the grain in the barns in their search for more. McCaffrey told Palmer they threatened to shoot if any disturbance was made during the search.

Took Check For $250.

It was stated that before entering the house they arrested and handcuffed a man who came from the house with a bottle of whiskey. They allowed him to go, it is stated, when he gave them his check for $250. The whiskey was valued at $250.

On information regarding the license number, the provincial officer arrested P. C. Brammer shortly after 8 o'clock Monday night and had him taken before Judge Chittick.

According to a story published yesterday, Brammer's car was thought to have been in a local garage for repairs and taken from there without proper authority and used during the raids. Provincial Officer Palmer says that he has information that this is not the case.

Chief of Police Robert Birrell this morning said: "Brammer was an A.I. policeman. He had been on the force for seven years, and always had a good record. Of course as soon as I received the information that the information had been laid against him I at once suspended him."

TILLSONBURG STORE DAMAGED BY FIRE

Two Children in Rooms Above Are Nearly Suffocated.

[Special to The Advertiser.] Tillsonburg, May 25.—Fire of an unknown origin was discovered in the clothing store of Charles Fensberger, 301 Broadway, about 2 a.m. today. Tenants in the rooms above had a very difficult time to escape. In fact, two small children were near suffocation when rescued. The smoke was very dense, and this impeded the firemen in locating the exact location of the fire. The fire had evidently smoldered for quite a long time, and the heat did much damage to the clothing.

The stock was partially insured, but the exact loss cannot be estimated for a few days.

Laymen Should "Lay Off Siko" Says Alienist At the Ontario Hospital for Insane

Just What Is "Psycho-Analysis"—The Idea Is To Resurrect Old-Time Grievs, Disappointments, Unavenged Wrongs, etc., Give Them The "Once Over" and Kiss 'Em Good-Bye Forever—Sinking Shaft Into Your Subconscious Mind To Find Out What's "Biting You" Dangerous Pastime.

Writers of prominence, such as G. K. Chesterton, the noted English essayist, are emerging with increasing frequency to discuss the theory and scope of "psycho-analysis," with the startling sequence that psycho-analysis has suddenly attained a position, as equal in uncertainty and as doubtful in character as the better-known indoor favorite, the celebrated ouija board. Although widely different in principle and practice, both "weegee" and "siko" have now achieved the startling reputation of eventually disturbing the mental equilibrium of their disciples to such an alarming degree as to warrant their removal to one of the several institutions for the feeble-minded.

What is this "psycho-analysis"? In response to this inquiry from a citizen with a potentially progressive mind, an exhaustive search was conducted in semi-intellectual circles, with the desired result. A local adherent of the Freudian psycho-analytic method of approach was unearthed and interviewed. Translated from the "high-brow" into every-day language, the following was gleaned:

Are You Troubled?

"Are you troubled by an intangible 'something,' that leaves you at a loss to determine just what it is, and why? If one is so affected, one is in need of a thorough application of 'psycho-analysis' without delay. If one, however, has failed to note these symptoms it behooves one to take the same treatment. For, taking as his authority the greatest living exponent of 'psycho-analysis,' one Sigmund Freud, the local devotee contends that there is something wrong with every person, whether that person is aware of it or not. No one, however intellectual, is exempt, evidently. With every individual there exists a gap or vacuum between the sub-conscious and the conscious minds. To some this

FERRYBOAT SINKS AT DOCK; CROWD REACHES SAFETY

Montreal, May 25.—Over a hundred passengers on board the steam ferry John, running from Port Fortune to across the Ottawa River, had a narrow escape this afternoon when the steamboat sank at the wharf as it was about to leave its moorings. The boat was filled to capacity with a holiday crowd, and two automobiles had just been loaded on to it when the boat began to sink. Capt. Ferdinand Bangor, owner of the boat, ordered everyone ashore, and the passengers were all landed in an orderly manner while the boat was going down. The cause of the sinking has not been ascertained.

FEW TRAVELED OVER HOLIDAY

Smallest "24th" Traffic in Years, Say Railroad Officials.

MOTOR CARS TO BLAME?

Money Market and Mid-Week Holiday Also Mentioned As Causes.

Contrary to all expectations the holiday traffic on May 24 and the preceding day was the smallest experienced in many years by either of the local railroads. It is said that this condition prevailed on every line in Canada.

Extra equipment was put on all trains but in on case it really needed. On May 23 two extra trains were operated by the G. T. R., one running east and one west, but in neither case was the traffic heavy enough to make them worth while.

Local railway officials are quite at a loss to explain the smallness of the crowd, for not only did fewer people travel on Tuesday than at either Christmas or New Year's, but the traffic was not nearly as heavy as it was on Victoria Day of 1920. Some of the officials claimed that the mid-week holiday, coupled with the tightness of money, was the cause, while others lay the whole blame on the growing use of automobiles.

NOTABLE CANADIANS WILL ATTEND THE CONVOCATION DINNER

VALEDICTORY ADDRESSES

Graduates To Be Guests of Honor—Harvey Club To Attend.

The graduates of this year will, as usual, occupy the special place of honor at the head tables, while the students will be arranged in respective classes about the banquet hall. FAVOR WOMAN ORDINATION

Greenfield, Mo., May 25.—Advocates of woman ordination have won a victory at the 81st assembly of the Cumberland Presbyterian Church here. The majority report, was opposed to woman ordination, but was rejected by the assembly.

SAYS TARIFF BILL WILL NOT BENEFIT AMERICAN FARMER

Hon. Duncan Marshall Declares It Will Only Stir Up Feeling Between Canada and United States.

"A most damnable thing for the American agriculturalist," was the terse comment of Hon. Duncan Marshall, minister of agriculture of Alberta, yesterday on the Young emergency tariff bill, which is awaiting the signature of President Harding. The Alberta minister of agriculture passed through London yesterday and was the guest of his brother-in-law, Dr. McNally, provincial medical health officer, and J. C. Elliott, M.P., during his short stay in the city. He sails on May 27 for England, where he will work for the removal of the British embargo on Canadian cattle.

Will Help Him.
The western minister was in Britain last year, working quietly on the same mission. He declared yesterday that the passing of the tariff bill in the United States would help greatly in his present mission. Already the whole agricultural section of the British Isles was strongly arrayed against the legislation, and this new move on the part of the United States would away a great portion of the remainder of public opinion in favor of the embargo's suspension.

Was Not Logical.
The British authorities were prepared to admit, Mr. Marshall declared, that Canadian cattle had a clean bill of health, but imposed the embargo with Canada's free trade relations with United States as one of the strongest reasons for its need. This wasn't really a logical argument either, he said, as the United States have been in cattle for over 30 years on their own quarantine arrangements, with no bad results to either. This tariff, however, does away with that argument of British protectionists and look for a reversal of opinion in a good many quarters.

Need the Wheat.
It will affect our cattle, of course, but the Westerner's confidence in the product has particular part of the West is famous for it. It won't affect our wheat to any appreciable extent. American millers have got to have that wheat, tariff or no tariff.

It's just one of the stupid results of protection," concluded Mr. Marshall. "The American agriculturalist will not be worked, because it serves only to stir up bad feeling. It's the old story over again. When business is bad, go to the Government."

Hon. Duncan Marshall was born and raised near Chesley, Ontario, in Bruce County, which has given the West some of its most prominent politicians.

Twins Born At Springbank Zoo

Proud Mother Doe Caressees Fine Pair of Red Deer.

The addition of two red deer to the population of the city's zoo at Springbank took place early Monday morning, when one of the does gave birth to twins. On two or three occasions Monday afternoon and yesterday visitors to the park were treated to a brief view of the youngsters testing the strength of their spindly little legs, while their mother stood nearby with wondrous and mother love mingling in her gaze.

But most of the time the small creatures were content to lay quietly gaining strength for renewed gambols in the shelter of the trees, while their patient mother nosed, licked and pressed them impartially, a process of endearment that was carried on too far away for the big, roared deer to make an attempt to witness it or to disturb the babies.

Finds Tablets Discarded by Former Residents of House.

DIES IN CONVULSIONS

Parents Were Anxious Over Younger Child Found With Empty Vial.

Accidentally obtaining some strychnine tablets, which are thought to have been left around the house by former tenants, Eleanor Leone Walker, aged four years, daughter of Howard Walker, 25 Mount Pleasant avenue, ate them Tuesday morning shortly before noon, and although medical aid was quickly summoned, she died in the way to Victoria Hospital. Dr. Norman Schram was called to attend the unfortunate child, and immediately ordered her removal to the hospital, but she died in the ambulance before treatment could be instituted.

Mr. Walker had noticed the tablets on a high shelf in the woodshed where he kept some carpentry tools. They were in a bottle underneath some tools. Evidently the little girl had climbed up without being observed and found the tablets. Her baby brother, two years younger, was discovered playing with the empty bottle, and anxiety was at once felt lest he had swallowed the tablets. It was not anticipated that the little girl had eaten them until she was suddenly seized with the first convulsion while the family was at dinner.

Accompanied by Dr. Schram, she was being taken in an ambulance to the hospital, when it became apparent to the physician that she would not arrive before her death. The ambulance was stopped at the home of her grandfather, Mr. Walker, of 156 Bruce street, and she died just as she was carried into the house.

The funeral of the little girl will be held Thursday afternoon.

Obviously the unhappy thoughts that call the attention of Freud and his psycho-analysis. These thoughts worry one, and through the years are never actually healed, but are driven in deeper (probably into the convenient cap by other things, with the result that they live, rusting and molding, and corrupting the mental system; not unlike the effect of an undigested portion of cheese upon a weak stomach. At this juncture the most important of the psycho-analysis asserts itself. The idea is to resurrect these old-time griefs and disappointments, the unburied wrongs, and give them the "one" over, and then, after a general revival, reject them all for good. As Freud would say, "Hallow with a gentle priest-benediction the errors and shortcomings of our younger days."

To cite a simple case, the local informant suggests the case of a person who, early in childhood, became obsessed with the idea that he would like to be a policeman. In the trend of events other worries and trials apparently submerge this overwhelming desire to become a pavement-pounder or a traffic officer, and it dies a natural death. Not so. Not according to psycho-analysis. The impression still lingers in the sub-conscious mind, and must be eliminated to insure proper functioning of the mind. Psycho-analysis is advanced as the most approved method. In event of the suspect being of a changeable disposition, and having at different intervals wished to become an ice cream or a boiler-maker, the task is more complicated, and might require a post-graduate course in addition to the regular dose of psycho-analysis.

But there is always somebody ready to take the joy out of life, and now comes G. K. Chesterton and others with the claims that a faithful adherence to the doctrines of psycho-analysis will only result in the convert finishing in a padded cell or worse.

Not for Laymen.

"Psycho-analysis," said Dr. G. Stevenson, a member of the staff of the Ontario Hospital for the Insane, in an interview today, "is purely a subject for the medical profession. No layman should attempt to practice it. Psycho-analysis has certainly been used to great advantage in treating nervous diseases of the aggravated type. The trouble has been, of course, with some who think they know what they are doing. It is, however, seldom used to any extent with patients of this institution or similar places, except in very early cases, as to properly utilize the power of psycho-analysis one must have the clear thinking and co-operation of the patient, and that is impossible here."

To illustrate his contention, Dr. Stevenson pointed out that, for instance, a case of paralysis was noted and examination failed to show any apparent cause. In such a case a wrong idea implanted sometime in the mind of the patient has wrought the damage, and it falls on "psycho-analysis" to locate this particular idea, and with the aid of the patient, to cast it out. If this can be accomplished a cure will likely follow, he says.

Dr. Stevenson admitted that severe criticism had been hurled at psycho-analysis, but declared that "you will never move these ready to condemn any new movement without waiting to find anything about it or test its worth."

"A layman," he concluded, "should on no account meddle with it."

A council of branch secretaries would prove a good thing. Start with the bottom. Don't try to reorganize from the top down. Men should not be entitled to privileges of the G. W. V. A. if not members.

Comrade McLean of Hamilton appealed strongly for district commands, while Comrade Davison, also of Hamilton, wanted men elected who would call a spade a spade, and who loved the association, even if they were unlearned.

Comrade Cunningham, St. Catharines, thought that the membership depended largely upon the branch secretaries. If he were not a good one, he should be "fired." "We don't help a man if he does not belong to us. It's cheap at $4. For that sum a veteran can have a private secretary at his service, get employment when out of work, assistance when ill, a decent burial when he dies, and provision for his dependents when he dies."

Comrade Hutchison, Brantford, declared that the death of the G. W. V. A. has been preached at seven conventions which he had attended. He had yet to realize the association on its death-bed. He wanted to see other branches being proportionally interested as Brantford in the payment of the per capita tax. He wanted executive members who did not attend executive meetings to be called to order, and, if necessary, substitutes appointed.

Comrade Sweet, Brantford, declared that a certain amount of public opinion was against the association in some cities, and the adoption of a selfish platform generally would hurt it immensely. He wanted more action by local branches.

Comrade Appleby, Woodstock, declared that veterans should be careful where they placed the term "dry rot." The Woodstock branch had to get rid of men who went into the association for what they got out of it. He did not endorse the movement to reduce the number of executive. At present the average attendance at executive meetings was not more than nine, and if the number were reduced the average attendance would be yet smaller.

OLD AGE PENSION AND $50,000,000 LOAN ARE ASKED

Brantford, May 24.—The annual convention of the Great War Veterans' Association, Ontario command, is to be one of high-pressure business, as shown by the heavy sessions held today. The veterans called on the Dominion Government for a loan of $50,000,000 to the soldiers' settlement board to enable city veterans to erect homes on such conditions as veterans who are farming receive them, payable in 30 years, limit of $5,000, and interest at 3 per cent. It was claimed that this would solve the housing problem, help to combat unemployment, and give assistance to the veterans needing homes.

The convention also passed a resolution against the Spinnery bill, as being a return to patronage, a condition no veteran wanted. Two busy sessions were held today, and tonight the delegates were the guests of the local veterans at the Temple Theatre.

With President O'Flynn in the chair, Mayor George Wakeke formally welcomed the veterans to Brantford. "You have given Canada a place in the sun because of your service and heroic sacrifice," he said. He declared that the veterans had received much from the Government, but there was still more due, and instanced a local veteran who had a paralyzed hand, getting $15 a week, and paying $8 a week board.

Premier E. C. Drury was a guest of the veterans, and said the returned men's honor was of the highest calibre. He declared that the Government policy was that, if other things were equal, the returned man received the preference, but if the returned man could not measure up, they expected him to stand aside for the more efficient man. The only exception was that of the disabled man.

Readjustment Needed.
A readjustment in lower money values was wanted, Premier Drury said, but there should not be lowering of the standard of living, so as to interfere with good citizenship. Canada's produce could be exported only if at rock bottom prices. He said that, if instead of falling off the ledge they could climb over the ladder, they would be better off, and he predicted that the worst of the present decline would be over within a year.

Comrade C. E. Jenkins, replying to the premier's address, assured Hon. Mr. Drury that in the returned men he had behind him the most loyal body of citizens in the country.

Mrs. Kate Morris, president of the ladies' auxiliary of the provincial command, appealed for funds, which the auxiliaries lacked, she said. She expressed the hope that the auxiliaries would not disband, but said they should stand on their own merits.

Pleas for Pensions.

President E. D. O'Flynn, in his address reviewed the activities of the executive during the year, and pleaded for an old age pension for veterans. He emphasized the need of placing the returned men in lucrative positions, as well as in the positions carrying small pay.

The president said the executive committee, for financial reasons, had held fewer meetings during the last year than usual, but meetings had been called whenever the president deemed it necessary. He said he had visited more than 30 branches, and no request by a branch for a visit had been overlooked.

The executive committee had decided that the starting of an official publication was a financial impossibility, and the plan had been temporarily given up. Practically every point which affects the interests of returned men had been the subject of correspondence with

NEARLY CRAZY WITH ECZEMA

No rest day or night for those who are afflicted with that terrible skin disease, eczema, or as it is often called, salt rheum.

With its unbearable burning, itching and torturing relief is readily obtained. There is a remedy like Burdock Blood Bitters for giving relief to such sufferers; no remedy that has done, or can do more for those who are almost driven to distraction with the terrible torture.

Apply it externally and it takes out the itching, itching and burning, and promotes healing. It internally and it gets at the source of the disease in the blood—drives it out of the system.

Miss L. M. Boutiller, 89 Victoria Road, Halifax, N. S., writes: "I have suffered for years from eczema. I could not rest day or night. I suffered great agony, and was nearly crazy with the itching and burning. I used all kinds of salves, but nothing seemed to help me. I saw Burdock Blood Bitters advertised, and was advised to try a bottle. I found great relief, and I really cannot recommend it highly enough for what it has done for me."

Burdock Blood Bitters has been on the market for over forty years, and during that time has been manufactured only by the J. C. Milburn Company, Limited, Toronto, Ont.

BIRD NOTES

(Contributed by Melville Ornithological Club.)

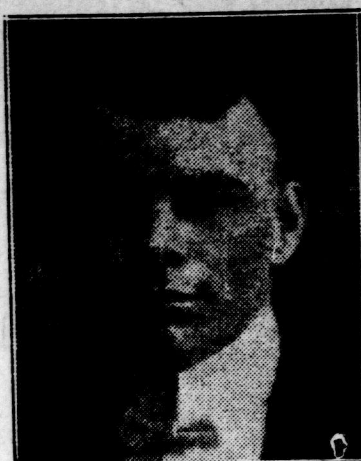

This is the season when the birds are busy rearing their young. Some of the birds which arrive in the spring, such as the Bluebird, Robin, Song Sparrow and Bronze Grackle or Blackbird, have already brought out one brood, and the young birds may be seen hopping about the ground or making weak efforts to fly, looking altogether out of proportion with their short tail feathers. The birds which bring out these early families will almost always raise two families or sometimes three in a season. It is interesting to note how the different birds, guided, of course, by instinct, choose their nesting places, each species adhering to what might almost be called certain rules, not only in placing their nests, but also as to the materials used in their construction. Many nests have so much individuality that the practiced eye can tell at a glance what kind of bird built them.

What could be more appropriately placed than a Yellow Warbler's nest in a golden spring bush, illustrating how wonderfully nests are often concealed. There are three Robins' nests, a Song Sparrow's nest, two Chipping Sparrows' nests and a Catbird's nest in the writer's garden, and not one of these can be seen by the casual observer.

MAY CHOOSE SITE FOR ARENA TODAY

The Committee Meets at 4 o'clock This Afternoon.

It is quite possible that the site of the proposed ice arena for this city will be chosen at a meeting of the arena committee at 4 o'clock this afternoon.

There are several sites under consideration at the present time, but it is believed that a decision will be reached today.

The reports of the preliminary canvass among local clubs will be received also. Lists were circulated among the many organizations backing the proposition, and those already returned show that many of their members are subscribing for one share or more. A total of 15,000 shares valued at $10 each are being issued.

"HAMLET" PRESENTED BY ASSUMPTION STUDENTS

Four London Boys Win Unstinted Applause From Large Audience.

The people of London expected much from the students of Assumption College in their presentation of "Hamlet," the play which was presented last night in St. Peter's Hall last night. It is seldom that sufficient talent is realized in one class to take all the parts in a play, especially one as difficult as "Hamlet." However, the four students of Assumption College last night proved themselves an exception.

The students of Western University, of which Assumption is a unit, showed great interest in the latter's contribution to the event of convocation week.

The play was of double interest to many of the audience, as several of the leading roles were played by London boys. J. O'Donnell and Hubert Coughlin appeared in leading male parts, while Kenneth Cook and Gerald Forristal, in female parts, won the envy of the girls present. These four are all former L. C. students.

The performance tonight promises to be even better than last night. The boys will be more accustomed to the stage, and a packed house is anticipated when the curtain rises at 8 o'clock.

Mrs. G. B. Sage Delivers President's Address at the Thirty-Fourth Annual Session—Receipts for the Year Totaled $10,984.19.

Over 200 delegates are registering at Cronyn Hall today for the 34th annual meeting of the Women's Auxiliary of the Diocese of Huron, which is being held there today and tomorrow.

The printed report of the treasurer, Miss Adelaide Smith, distributed today, shows the yearly receipts to be $10,984.19, the expenditure to be $11,160.36, leaving a balance of $3,624.26 on the right side, since the balance from last year was $2,874.43. The Huron Auxiliary is this year being assisted $4,000 for the Dominion pledge fund, $200 more than last year, and the Indian pledge is over $400.

The first session of the W. A. opened this afternoon at 2 o'clock with the president's address delivered by Mrs. G. B. Sage. This address, which is always one of great inspiration for the W. A. members, was exceptionally interesting in that it noted certain important changes in the auxiliary's finances for the coming year. This morning, however, communion was dispensed in St. Paul's Cathedral, the sermon being delivered by the Rev. G. E. Simmons of Honoan, China, who also addressed the public meeting held in Cronyn Hall this evening. A splendid thank offering taken amounted to over $15.50.

MICHIGAN MAN SENT FOR TRIAL

Robert S. Ford Charged With Furious Driving.

AUTO STRUCK BOY

Clark Daly Confined to Bed For Month As Result of Injuries.

Robert S. Ford, formerly of Brown City, Michigan, now a resident of this city, was committed for trial by Magistrate A. H. M. Graydon in police court this morning on a charge of driving wantonly and furiously, causing bodily injury to Clark Daly on April 15. Ford is to be tried at the general sessions of the peace, which opens at the courthouse on June 7, and will be defended by John M. McEvoe and W. G. R. Bartram. He has been bailed to appear at the higher court.

Clark Daly, 12-year-old son of John M. Daly, 300 Princess avenue, stated that on the day of the accident he was riding a bicycle north on Richmond street. As he was crossing the intersection of King street, he turned his head and saw an auto a few feet away from him coming from the east. Then it struck him. His injuries consisted of a broken collarbone and bruises about the abdomen. He was confined to his bed for a month.

John R. McPhillips stated that he followed the car which struck the boy from the corner of Clarence and King streets. It was traveling at a fairly good speed, he stated.

W. J. O'Brien saw the accident. He was standing in a doorway of the Alma Block on Richmond street, waiting for another man named Ford. He stated that the car was going at the rate of about 30 miles an hour. It stopped about 20 feet west of the place where the boy was struck.

"Have you ever driven a car?" asked Mr. McEvoe.

"No. But I have one and someone else drives it," replied the witness.

In reply to the question, the witness stated that he had driven in cars which were going at as high a rate as 70 miles an hour.

"Did you ever drive at 30 miles an hour?" asked the counsel.

"Yes," was the reply.

John M. Daly stated that his son was laid up for a month, being able to get about a week ago.

FIVE MEMBERS OF THE UNSHAVEN CLUB GO BACK TO THE "CLINK"

When the vanguard of the hoboes from near and far swarmed the police court on a certain several weeks ago they were treated with levity and, after some friendly advice had been served out to them, were put on the road again. Since that time their comrades have been getting arrested daily and obtaining free meals from the cafeteria that overlooks the Thames.

Their luck changed when they returned, but now the soot-caked counter-janers are regarded as spoiling rather than improving the scenery over in the Carling street edifice.

So longer will the walk-a-mile-to-ride-a-hundred-miles be treated in a friendly manner.

John Anderson, one of the younger members of the Order of the Unshaven Club, was told to go back to jail for a week, and that if his father sends money from Toronto for his deliverance, he would be allowed to go, but that if he did not something was radically wrong with the boy.

Noise Goes Back.

Nelson Cook was sent back for another seven-day stretch. He claimed to have a home, and has been heard of on all parts of the continent for ten years, while his parents have been keeping the home fires burning in England. He was informed that the reformatory might be a suitable place for him.

Angus Boykins, who comes from Philadelphia, and has a wife in Detroit, could not raise the necessary coin to take him to Buffalo, his destination. Now he is satisfied to be ordered to go to St. Thomas. He has 50 cents to take him there, and says that he is a hard-working colored man and "suitably" will earn enough money to pay his fare to Buffalo.

Joseph Kolowski dropped in from Detroit this morning, and was intended to go to Montreal until a C. P. R. constable upset his schedule. He will not get to Montreal until next week if the masonry down on Ridout street will hold.

Arrangements have been made for Hon. W. E. Raney to address the laymen on Friday evening following a banquet. Reception will also be tendered the students who will be ordained on the following Sunday. The ordination service will be held in Askin Street Church and Rev. Dr. Chown will be present and preach the sermon.

In keeping with the co-operation plan between the Methodists and Presbyterians, the Presbyterian pulpits will be filled by visiting Methodist ministers. A large attendance of out-of-town ministers and delegates is expected.

NIKOLSK IS CAPTURED.

Toronto, May 25.—Newspaper advices received here from Vladivostok assert that the troops formerly commanded by the late General Kappell, the anti-Bolshevik leader, have captured Nikolisk, two miles northwest of Vladivostok, and are advancing toward Vladivostok.

A dispatch from Tokio March 21 reported that the Kappell forces had captured Nikolisk.

METHODIST CONFERENCE WILL OPEN ON MAY 30

Sessions Will Be Held at Askin Street Methodist Church.

The annual Methodist Conference opens in convention in the Askin Street Methodist Church on May 30, and the conference proper on the 1st day of June. On Monday the stationing committee will meet and appoint ministers to vacancies not already filled, and pass judgment on the different transfers of ministers already made. Several London ministers will be transferred this year. The statistical committee will also be in session, and reports on the work of students to be ordained will be submitted.

On Wednesday a general session of the ministers will be held, and the first public session will be on Wednesday evening, when Prof. Augustine Smith will preach.

CANADIAN BANK DEPOSITS SHOW BIG DECREASE

Ottawa, May 25.—(Canadian Press).—Total assets of Canadian banks show a decrease of over $50,000,000, and total liabilities a decrease of $18,000,000 for the month of April in comparison with the figures for March, according to the April bank statement issued today. SEEK TO RECOVER $200,000.—A. L. Leitch and James Gough, ratepayers of the town of Stratford, on behalf of themselves and all other ratepayers, have issued a writ in the supreme court against the corporation of the town of Stratford, the Middlesex Furniture Company, and Town Councillors Dampier, McKee, Reeve, Burtholme, Zavitz and Hill, in order to force the final payment on mortgage of $200,000. It is claimed that the council authorized the loan of $200,000, and then did not collect the final payment, but considered the mortgage paid.

BIG DANCE AT LUCAN.

LUCAN, May 23.—The Opera House was filled to capacity this evening for the Empire Day dance, held under the auspices of the G. W. Y. A. A large number of young people came into town from the district for the dance and spent a thoroughly enjoyable evening.

THREE PERMITS WERE ISSUED ON HOLIDAY

Majority of Permits Since Monday Have Been For Garages.

Even the fact that yesterday was a holiday failed to stop the rush for building permits, no less than three being issued from the city engineer's office on May 24, while ten were issued on Monday. Only three of the fourteen permits were for dwelling houses, the majority of the remainder being for the construction of garages and the rest for alterations to present premises.

The stated value of the work to be done under the permits issued yesterday and Monday was $15,820, bringing the total for the month to $387,725, distributed over 122 permits, as compared with 180 permits and a value of $266,655 for the whole of May, 1920.

The permits issued were as follows: C. Watts, 23 Bruce, garage, $125; John Hobbs, 51 Oxford, alterations, $500; F. Hall, 550 Quebec, garage, $125; R. Rodda, 452 Ottawa, veranda, $350; Mrs. T. Williamson, Moyer street, garage, $120; H. Privett, 923 Princess, garage, $120; John Petherborough, 278 Rosent, 2-story brick dwelling, $5,000; London Pure Ice Company, Bathurst, alterations, $250; James Moran & Sons, Gordon street, brick veneer dwelling, $3,700; Mrs. C. T. Meres, 495 Egerton street, lean-to kitchen, $200; H. Warren, 150 Egerton, raising roof, $100; C. A. Mann, 78 King, garage, $225; W. G. Wood, Ellis, frame dwelling, $2,000.

NEW PUMPING STATION

Will Take Care Richmond Street North Sewage System.

Good progress with the new pumping station which is to take care of the Richmond street north sewerage system was reported today at the city engineer's office.

The station is located at the corner of St. George and Victoria streets, and its purpose is to take charge of the sewage which will not reach the drain by gravitation. The pump will be operated by electrical power, automatically controlling a lever, which operates a sump through a 10-inch inlet, and will pass through a basket, which will check the passage of rags and other extraneous matter.

AERO RUDDER CRYSTAL WILL NOT SKID AT CURVE

To prevent, as much as possible, the dangerous skidding of the rear wheel of a motorcycle while rounding curves at high speed, a Carolina race rider has fitted his mount with a light vertical rudder on the order of those used on aeroplanes. Light cables, says Popular Mechanics, connect the rudder to the motorcycle steering fork in such a way that turning the front wheel to the left swings the rudder to the right and vice versa. Upon first consideration it would appear that increased wind resistance would have a retarding effect. However, the inventor claims that this is more than offset by the fact that the prevention of the skid improves the tractive force of the rear wheel.

A DESERT SAVIOR AND FAITHFUL DOG

The following story appeared in recent Pasadena publication. Mrs. Lou Beck, widow of the hero of this story, is a sister of Mrs. C. W. Wainwright, 74 Byron avenue, this city. Mrs. Beck returned to her California home last week, after some weeks' visit in London.

[By Louise George.] Pasadena is planning to immortalize the achievements of the late Lou Westcott Beck and his dog Rufus.

A life-size statue in marble or in bronze of the one-time savior of men lost on the Great American desert, and his noble conductor, the dog Rufus, whose work paralleled that of the St. Bernard (with the burning sands of the Mohave Desert or Death Valley for his terrain, instead of the more merciful snow and cold of the Alps), will be erected in Brookside Park, when these plans come to fruition.

The statue will stand upon a pedestal surrounded by a miniature desert, with cactus and dunes, greasewood and desert flowers producing a faithful replica, and a pool of water to reflect the noble lines of man and dog, reminding one of the water holes found by them and marked by Beck with red sign posts which proved life savers to many a luckless traveler.

The park department of Pasadena will furnish the site and the desert setting for the statue and provide for its upkeep. The funds for the memorial will be furnished by popular subscription. Wherever a heart is touched by the story of one man's unique and self-appointed task for humanity and by an humble canine's herculean efforts to aid his master's work there will surely come a contribution to the fund.

Only $5,000 is needed to erect this memorial. A campaign to raise the money has already been launched, and the committee in charge is composed of representative citizens of Pasadena with Gen. Charles McC. Reeve as chairman, Freeman Ford, Lawrence Newman, A. E. Call, Dr. T. H. Agnew, W. H. White, A. L. Hamilton and Dr. Russell Ball, who is treasurer of the fund.

Contributions to the fund should be addressed to Dr. Russell Ball, care of Blankenhorn-Hunter Company, Colorado street and Marquette avenue, Pasadena. The commission for the statue was awarded last December to Miss Maud Daggett of Pasadena, a talented sculptor whose work has received wide recognition and which adorns fountains and pedestals in twelve of the most beautiful gardens in the city. Her portraiture is especially admirable, her first portrait bust to win public recognition being one of the late Gen. Harrison Gray Otis, executed during the lifetime of this remarkable man and especially cherished by his descendants.

Submitted Design. Miss Daggett worked for several months before submitting a single design for the statue of Lou Beck and Rufus, the final one approved by the committee and accepted by them is shown on the frontpiece of this magazine. Its appeal is instant and unmistakable.

The idea of the memorial emanated

IF YOUR EARS RING WITH HEAD NOISES

If you have roaring, buzzing noises in your ears, are getting hard of hearing and fear that you may lose your hearing, get 1 ounce of Parmitin (double strength), and add to it 1/2 ounce of water and a little granulated sugar. Take 1 tablespoonful four times a day.

This will often bring quick relief from the distressing head noises. Clogged nostrils should open, breathing becomes easy and the mucus stop dropping into the throat. It is easy to prepare, costs little and is pleasant to take. Any one who has had the terrible trouble of the ears, is hard of hearing or has head noises should give this prescription a trial.—Adv.

WIFE TAKES HUSBAND'S ADVICE

And Is Made Well Again by Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound

Springfield, Mass.—"The doctor told my husband that I had to have an operation, otherwise I would be a sickly woman and could not have any more children on account of my weakened condition. I refused to have the operation. My husband asked me to try Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound. For the first four months I could do but little work, had to lie down most of the time, and was very nervous, but my husband was always reminding me to take the Vegetable Compound, which I did. Of my eight children this last one was the easiest birth of all and I am thankful for your Vegetable Compound. I recommend it to my friends when I hear them complaining about their ills."—Mrs. M. NATALE, 72 Fremont St., Springfield, Mass.

Sickly, ailing women make unhappy homes, and after reading Mrs. Natalie's letter one can imagine how this home was transformed by her restoration to health. Every woman who suffers from such ailments should give Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound a fair trial. It is surely worth while.

from Mrs. J. C. Davis of Devore, California, whose house stands on the road along which Beck and his dog Rufus passed in their journeys to Death Valley and who saw in Beck one of the great and gentle spirits of the day. It is not given to everyone to recognize greatness. Having eyes to see they see not. And only since Beck's death several years ago has the public at large understood the magnitude of his undertaking. There were those, however, who did understand without the perspective of time.

"Beck is the greatest citizen who ever stepped on California soil," said Lawrence Newman of Pasadena during the lifetime of the desert man.

Not only Beck but his dog Rufus, his master about three years, living in peace and happiness in the care of Beck's devoted friend, Dr. T. H. Agnew, to whom he was left as a precious legacy. He died recently of old age (18 years old for a dog). The grave of Rufus is in the beautiful oak-shaded courtyard of Dr. Agnew's small animal sanatorium in Lamanda Park, and his headstone is a small barrel cactus.

Many saw them each year in Pasadena in the Tournament of Roses procession, and citizens spoke with pride of the wonderful dog with his little desert host, who was left to the care of the Red Cross, a packet of poison antidote, against the poison snakes of the waste lands.

The man, medium stature, slightly stooped, though still under middle age, spare and bronzed by the scorching desert winds, with a peculiar walk, slouching a bit, but gripping the ground which marks all men of the open, and which means endurance. His face boyish and appealing, his eyes a bright blue, mystic, poetic, obsessed with the one idea of service to mankind, in the way he had chosen.

I knew Lou Beck and talked with him about his work, but that was years ago. I learned much recently in a talk with his closest friend, Dr. Agnew of Lamanda Park.

Few Crossed Desert. "Few men, I believe," said Dr. Agnew, "have ever crossed the great American desert. The man who crosses it, of it, or in it at certain places and come out again, but I believe that Lou Westcott Beck was the only white man, who ever crossed and recrossed that desert, trying out there, to tell the tale. He and Rufus, his dog, went to places where no man had ever been before to the best of my belief. He carried a small camera as part of his equipment and took many pictures. He had 1,500 of them in a book which Mrs. Beck now has in her possession. These pictures show plant life and insect and animal life of the desert that is absolutely different from any that I have ever seen in other places. He mentioned the wild camels of the desert long before these stories of recent date were written. He told me he had seen three camels at one time."

"He told me," said Dr. Agnew, "that if he were led blindfold to any part of this American desert and opened his eyes in the middle of the night, he could tell in what part of the desert he was. He had a lighted candle and could examine the face of the ground. It was the face of a friend to him. The different shaped rocks scattered about or the vegetation, or the very grain of the sand itself was what he needed to see."

With reverence and with awe, Dr. Agnew talked of the spiritual experiences of these desert trips. Beck was never lonely in those brilliant desert nights with the long and friendly stars amid those great wastes of sand, for he found God there, and the voice of God was as audible to him as to Moses in the Desert of Sinai.

"Just God and me and Rufus," he often said.

His work in the desert first began because of a promise he made to God. But to begin at the beginning—where in the Middle West, and on account of delicate health as a young lad, he came west and lived on a ranch and led the life of a cowboy for a few years, getting his first taste for the great open spaces and their illuminating silence.

When the Klondike discoveries caused a second Forty-nine rush to Alaska, Beck went with the horde of gold seekers to Nome. He found no gold there, but he did find Rufus and brought him to California and to Pasadena with him.

"Was he called Rufus because he was red?" I asked of Dr. Agnew. "Well, now, I do not know," said the doctor. "He was a dark reddish brown in color, a decided reddish tinge."

"What breed of dog? Well, some have called Rufus a Siberian bloodhound, but that's an awful mistake," said this experienced veterinarian. "To my mind he was a cross between a Newfoundland and an Alaskan sled dog. He was born in Nome you know."

While Lou Beck lived in California, always the desert spots were calling to him, and one winter he took a vacation from the work which brought him a livelihood and with a pack on his back and Rufus for company he started from one of the towns on the border of the Mohave Desert.

He was not desert wise at that time, and he soon managed to get lost. Food and water gave out, and for three days and nights he and Rufus wandered with no food and without a drop of water.

Made His Promise. Only those who have lived through a like hell can translate the agony of such an experience.

"Twas then that Beck made his promise to God. It was this—that if he ever escaped and was allowed to live, he would devote himself to saving others from such suffering."

And he did live. In their extremity, Rufus found a spring of water—but he did not drink of it. He was wiser than his master, for Beck drank and was poisoned. Indeed, he attributed his untimely death to the insidious effect through succeeding years to this first poisoning. But at the moment it stimulated him to renewed effort and he was successful in finding a trail which led him and his companion Rufus to safety.

Lou Beck never again lost himself on the desert. He seemed to have a subliminal faith in his God-appointed mission, and never feared the fate that overtakes so many overconfident ones.

Beck and Rufus made twelve trips, twelve consecutive years, into the desert lands, going always in the winter season. Beck would first haul his supplies to a convenient base of operations. Sometimes he took a pack mule part of the way, but oftener he went on foot accompanied by Rufus.

It was the heart of the desert. Its mysterious beauty and wonder, its unimaginable lure—and its terror and horror. He knew Death Valley from one end to the other. He located water holes on the Nevada and learned how possible for one man of limited resources but mighty spirit.

And during these dozen years Beck kept his promise to God and he and Rufus rescued scores of men from death on the desert.

Every year these two found prospectors whose fate had led them to the desert and who had lost their way and were verging on madness and death.

They found thirst-crazed creatures, their fingers worn to the bare bones with futile digging for water, when, as often happened, there was a water hole within a stone's throw if they had only known how to find it.

The sights they saw were not pretty. Swollen and protruding tongues, blackened faces, buzzards scarcely waiting for the last breath to leave the tortured bodies before pecking out their eyes.

To Rufus belongs the credit of rescuing 30 of these victims of the desert. He was the scout who went from side to side of the trail, often ranging far afield, leaving his master's vicinity a half mile or more, always with his two-quart bottle of water, his packages of food and his poison antidote.

log, at any rate on the open road, and when special roads for motor traffic are made, a development which I think is certain to come, the average speeds of passenger-carrying motors will be equal to, if not in excess of, average railway passenger speeds today."

What Lord Montagu attempted in his address was to show the conditions which the rapidly increasing use of motor vehicles and the heavy demand for improved transportation facilities will bring in a by no means very remote future. For eighty years the railways have been the most important factor in inland traffic, but he does not see that this stage in the development of transportation is necessarily a permanent condition of affairs. Before the railways in land traffic was carried on entirely by means of roads, and the situation, as he now sees it, is that the country may be compelled once more for a very large proportion of its inland traffic to go back to the roads.

Glass of Concrete. These roads of the future must be adequate to the new traffic. They must be thoroughfares straight and wide and built of some permanent or semi-permanent material, such as glass or concrete, that will stand up under the continual heavy traffic, and so well built that the annual upkeep, the most important expense today, will be reduced to a negligible figure. He sees a considerable change in motor vehicles, and trailers with tires of a size far larger than now exist will be employed for carrying small parcels, mails and perishable produce. Motor vehicles will be constructed with more than four wheels, and trailers will come more and more into use, partly as a result of the very high taxes based on the power developed by the engine of the vehicle and partly to save expensive labor. He does not have a pessimistic view of the question of fuel supply, but believes that gas carried in metal cylinders or improved steam engines will furnish power even

After a few days of the work carried on by Beck and Rufus the man conceived the plan of placing sign posts throughout the desert giving information about water holes and trails.

The magnitude of this undertaking did not stagger his courageous soul. He tried to interest individuals and organizations. His great hope was that the Government would take it up and do the thing on a big scale.

But he did not wait on anyone's efforts. He did what he could in a small way. He spent every cent he could spare on the project. He had the sign posts made and painted them at his home in Pasadena, and fashioned the signs themselves from bits of tin, painted so that they would withstand weather. He hauled these posts to his base of operations on the desert and himself set them up where he felt the need was greatest.

He also spent money on supplies and buried these supplies, canned goods that would not spoil, and left information about these caches of food in hopes of saving some unwary traveler starving to death.

Three years ago last July, Beck died, and the lifesaving work on the desert stopped. Someone told me that two years ago $100,000 had been appropriated by the Government for the realization of his dream of safeguarding the travelers in the desert lands of the great West. I cannot hear of any work, however, being started in this direction.

Many of Lou Beck's sign posts, they tell me, have succumbed to the desert. But the work of this man and this dog should not be allowed to perish from the land, and if the proposed statue rises in Brookside Park, it will perhaps fire other great souls to achievements which shall be lasting.

Beck, through the work of his successors.

At the forthcoming dog show there will be a dog dog appropriately decorated in honor of Rufus, the desert dog, and dog lovers are expected to leave their offerings for the memorial.

ROAD TRANSPORT OF NEAR FUTURE

Special Motor Highways Will Be Built of Glass or Concrete.

In an address before the Institute of Transport at a recent meeting in London, Lord Montagu of Beaulieu, a British authority on inland transportation, said that if road traffic continued to increase at the present rate the width of the most used main roads would have to be doubled to take at least four lines of travel and that other trunk roads reserved for this new transportation should be built between populous centres from which radiated continual fast and heavy traffic. He continued:

"Speed limits, as we know them today, will, of course, be abolished before

If the supply of petroleum becomes greatly reduced, He believes, too, that many of the railways will find it to their advantage to convert some of their short roads into toll motor roads. The future of the fast trains, averaging over 50 miles an hour, heavy traffic in bulk, such as coal and iron, and in long night journeys by passenger trains.

The problems of transportation which Lord Montagu cites as existing in Great Britain are similar to those in the large cities and populous districts in America, and some of the solutions which he suggests might in a measure find application in this country. But the question of railroad traffic is naturally different in America from what it is in Great Britain. Distances in the latter country are much shorter than in the United States, and the short hauls in which the motor car is employed to the greatest advantage can be made profitably and successfully. In fact, motor transport of goods between New York and nearby cities has recently increased to such an extent and is in such a state of development that it might in fact realize Lord Montagu's vision of the future.

The idea which Lord Montagu puts forward is that good roads are a great asset of a country. And that the means of transportation which they furnish are very important factors in a nation's strength. "The nation that neglects the development of its transport in the future," he says, "will cease to exist as a power in the world." Rudyard Kipling expressed the same thought when, in defining civilization in its broader and truest sense, he said: "Transportation is civilization."—New York Herald.

XIII.—MISS CROWELL INVESTIGATES.

Jack Trevor's nurse and April Moore faced each other, a mingled look of fear and hostility on the latter's face. The very worst had happened. This daring woman—Miss Crowell—had discovered the whole truth concerning the money that had been stolen from her.

And now she was boldly challenging April.

"What have you done with Mr. Trevor's money?" she asked, her eyes fixed on the girl's face.

"I have done nothing," April answered, her face pale.

"You have done nothing," she repeated, her eyes never for a moment leaving April's face.

Puppy Stories

(by Vincent G. Perry)

THE STORY OF WIGGLES.

What an angry cry old Bruno gave as he dashed forward at the top of his speed. How dismayed he was, when he perceived that the little puppy had disappeared from sight. Poor Wiggles had been drowned, thought Bruno, as he looked up and down the river, to see if he could see the puppy floating. His heart was filled with sorrow, and he thought of Betty and how and she would feel at the news—and then his heart was filled with anger as he thought of the evil monkey and the harm he had done.

Now, Bruno had not escaped some punishment for his misdeeds. For Wiggles was a high-spirited little puppy, and had stayed with his captor quite unwillingly, so he had given the bad monkey some severe bites on the arms. Wiggles bites were not a thing to be ignored. Pedro soon found that his monkey arms became quite swollen and sore—it was because of that, and because he wanted to torment Bruno as well as do the greatest harm he could to little Betty that Pedro had thrown little Wiggles into the river.

With swollen arms, it was not such an easy thing to escape from Bruno. Pedro soon found that the fast-running little stream, a great hope sprang up into his heart. Why, the stream was going so fast there was plenty of time for it to have carried Wiggles around a curve down the stream, before he had reached there. The monkey had thrown the puppy into the water, thought Bruno. Why hadn't he thought of that before. Perhaps at that very minute Wiggles was somewhere down the bank of the river, safe and sound, and Bruno went in search of him.

Cinnamon Vine.

Dear Miss Grey and Readers—Here I come with something "special" for the Mail-Box for S. C. H. fund. Twenty-one package of cinnamon vine bulbs. Three bulbs for ten cents. Dirt cheap. This vine has a very pretty shape and when in blossom smells like cinnamon. The blossoms are not much to look at, but the fragrance makes up for it. It is very hardy after it once gets started.

The vine I took these seeds from was planted more than twenty-five years ago, and has never been covered in the winter. Plant in a sunny window and keep well watered. When they are large enough, all danger of frost is past, plant outside and train to climb. Grows very fast. Every seed should grow. I planted six for myself and every one came. Saw in Wednesday's paper when Anchor would exchange a pair of white chrysanthemums for one of yellow. Please send me her address. I would like also to exchange with anyone having any other color. Someone took my penname so hereafter I shall use C. N. VINCE.

P.S.—Mite for C. S. H.

Ans.—The bulbs reached the Mail-Box. Many thanks for them, also for the hospital mite. Am mailing address requested.

Dear Miss Grey—This is my first visit to your Mail-Box, but for the last few years I have enjoyed reading the letters very much. I am fifteen years old and in third form high school.

I would like to get one sachet bag, if you please.

Please find inclosed a mite for the fund. May I call again, Miss Grey?

Ans.—Am mailing you a sachet. Thank you for hospital mite. Certainly, call again.

Minny—You did not inclose your name and address.

Dear Miss Grey—I must first of all tell you, Miss Grey, how much I have enjoyed reading the letters through the Mail-Box.

I am reading the story, "For Love of Betty," in The Advertiser, and think it is very interesting, also the Mail-Box letters.

In inclosing a mite for the stock children's hospital. I will sign myself, CLOVER LEAF.

Ans.—Has anyone a pattern like the one in the Mail-Box? Thanks for mite.

The Sachets.

Dear Miss Grey—As I did not see my letter in the Mail-Box, I wrote you a letter before the 17th of March and sent you a St. Patrick card, but they must have gone astray.

You will no doubt, wonder why my address is changed. We have moved. We have been here a month now. It doesn't seem like home to me. It just seems as though I am visiting, even if I have been working.

There have been several letters in the Mail-Box lately that I have enjoyed so much.

Say, Cuddled Annie, I wrote you a letter about two weeks ago. Didn't you get it? Where do all my letters go to anyway? If you didn't get my letter, let me know through the Mail-Box and I'll send you my new address. Jackie's Chum, I got your letter and will write later.

Miss Grey, I do not know how much the sachet bags are, so kindly let me through your Page and oblige? Will you please write only the figure when Thistle sends them? Thistle, I know you must have patience.

Say, Forget-Me-Not's Sister, I did not see your letter in the Mail-Box. Do write again. I miss you very much. I won't take up any more room. Bye-bye everyone. As ever,

FORGET-ME-NOT.

Ans.—There is no set price for the sachets. They are means of raising money for our hospital fund.

Wants Song.

Dear Miss Grey—This is my second letter to you. I would like to get the words of some comic recitations. Please send me the words of "Smile Awhile." Hoping I am not asking for too much I will sign myself, JUNE ROSE.

Seconds the Motion.

Dear Miss Grey and Mail-Box Friends—It is a long time since I wrote to you. I have been very busy since June, 1919, bringing with him an English wife, and a baby boy. I also have one other grandchild, nearly 2 years old, so I have no girls here, so have all my work to do, living on a farm. I raise ducks and chickens, which keeps me busy during the summer. The letters are quite interesting of late, not so much nonsense. How green the grass is, if the rain would only give the farmers a chance to get all the seedling done. Some have none in Am sending mite for S. C. H. also some sweet william seed. Fuzz Wuzz says it takes "ribbons" 2 1/2 inches wide but does not say how much. I hope she gets plenty of orders. I knit and crochet a lot for my own family and grandchildren, of course I have to take

To prove that the Paris Seamless is dry we scratch a match on the surface of the interior—anywhere. That is why this refrigerator is a safe place to keep food—and keep it fresh and wholesome.

Buying Economically.
Dear Cynthia—I have read in your paper for a long time about many affairs of the home, about good house-keeping, recipes for cooking, etc. There is one thing that has struck me forcibly which you should take up. If a young woman wishes to be thrifty when she has a house of her own, she should understand all about buying and buying economically, and in the best markets. If you could market here you very seldom see any young ladies—a perfect dearth of young girls. If these young ladies who hope to some day have a home of their own would visit our market they would obtain a fine education in the value of that which goes to furnish the table of a house. A campaign waged by your column might do some good. Yours, HOUSEHOLDER.

BETRAYAL KISS.
Three Wives and Policeman Waited at Station.
NEW YORK, May 24.—Harry A. Newton, an actor, who gives his address as the Calvert Hotel, Forty-first street and Broadway, and is handsome enough to break the heart of any matinee idolator, is in the Tombs because he kissed his wife.

When his wife threw her arms around his neck and kissed him at Grand Central Station this morning, it was the signal for Warrant Officer John Devine to arrest Newton on a charge of bigamy, for the wife who kissed him was wife No. 2 and wife No. 1 and No. 3 were standing near by watching.

In Tombs court Newton pleaded guilty to a charge of bigamy. Magistrate Rosenblatt for action by the grand jury. He went to the Tombs in default of bail.

Not only was Newton's excessive number of wives revealed this morning, but also, the proceedings brought out a little domestic quarrel. Newton addressed wives No. 2 and No. 3 as "honey" clear up to the moment when he was led away to his cell after the hearing, in which he waived examination, but he positively would not speak to wife No. 1, under any circumstances.

Spectators of the trial today agreed that Newton is a keen judge of femininity in selecting young women to marry. All three are exceptionally pretty, Nos. 1 and 2 being blondes, with a brunette winning his affections in between.

The story of the loves of Harry is both complicated and interesting. Harry, as it has been intimated, would attract attention anywhere. Tall and dark, of handsome face and figure, he is dramatic in speech and manner. Recently he has been playing juvenile parts in a stock company in a Boston theatre. The loves of Harry, so far as they are recorded by the court, began ten years ago in Monticello, Illinois, where he married Florence Madiera, an actress. Miss Madiera gives her present address as 1690 Broadway.

Seven Years Enough.
Harry got along with only one wife for seven long years, and then he won for his helpmeet Glenn Argoe, a vaudeville actress. She it was who gave him the betrayal kiss this morning. Miss Argoe lives at the Jefferson Hotel. Harry and she were married in Rochester, Minn. Happiness blessed the match. It is understood, until September 3, 1919, when the gift of her mother, he sent it to her by a court attendant. The three wives were together in an anteroom when it was delivered.

While Newton was waiting in the detention pen of the court he fingered a small Bible belonging to wife No. 3, the gift of her mother. He sent it to her by a court attendant. The three wives were together in an anteroom when it was delivered.

"Don't pay any attention to him, dearie," said wife No. 2 to wife No. 3, while wife No. 1 looked on. "He's only a court attendant. The three wives were together in an anteroom when it was delivered."

But, anyway, when Newton was led away after the hearing, wife No. 3 looked at him longingly, and wife No. 2 even glanced over her shoulder at him. The three women said they had made every effort to rush the prosecution, because they believed their joint husband was getting ready to marry another actress in Boston.

Saginaw and Bay City Both Look Alike To Orme's Men.

BRANTFORD, May 24.—The Brants made a clean sweep today, Saginaw and Bay City both looking alike to the locals. Saginaw made it a battle, however, and largely through the stickwork of Leese, whose two homers featured and saved the game. In the afternoon Hurst and Wendelbore were touched off for twelve hits and eight runs accumulated. Noonan allowed eight hits, but was invincible in the pinches. Score: Morning game.

NATIONAL RESEARCH OPPOSED BY SENATE

OTTAWA, May 24.—(By Canadian Press).—The Senate held two sessions today. The motion to withhold the amendment to the act amending the judges act, which had been refused by the House of Commons, was defeated by 29 to 30.
A bill to create a national research commission met with considerable opposition, and discussion was deferred until tomorrow. The Lake of the Woods control bill, made necessary by the failure of the Ontario Government to pass legislation agreed to by Manitoba, Ontario and the Dominion, received second reading.
The Senate adjourned until 11 o'clock on Wednesday.

GOVT. URGED TO HELP RELIEVE UNEMPLOYMENT

Labor Educational Association
Discusses Problem At Preston Meeting.

PRESTON, May 24.—Delegates from various parts of the province, to the number of 150, attended the annual convention of the Labor Educational Association of Ontario here today. They were welcomed by Mayor Schultz, K. K. Homuth, M.L.A., and William Smith of Galt, president of the trades and labor council.

The financial report showed about $2,000 in the treasury, after all expenses for the year were paid.
Among the resolutions passed was one requesting Premier Meighen to take some action before the House of Commons adjourns towards relieving the unemployment situation. The resolution stated that if there was no improvement this summer the suffering next winter would be very great throughout Canada.
Another resolution asked the Federal Government to pass an old-age pension act.

A unique competition took place at the convention. Twelve prizes were offered for the delegates having on them the most articles of wearing apparel bearing the union label. W. Weinstein of Toronto had on him twelve articles, the product of union labor, and he was given first prize.
The convention next year will be held in Guelph, and will be held on Labor Day.

The officers were re-elected, as follows: President, James Marsh, Niagara Falls, Ont.; vice-president, Dr. J. F. Hett, Kitchener, Ont.; secretary, Joseph Marks, Toronto.

BRITISH TROOPS UNDER ORDERS FOR SILESIA

Four Battalions To Be Sent Immediately by Government.

FRONTIER NOW CLOSED

Serious Situation Develops As Result of Recent Aggression.

LONDON, May 24.—A force of four battalions of British infantry is under orders to proceed to Upper Silesia from the Rhine, and it is contemplated, if possible, to increase this force, Austen Chamberlain, the Government spokesman, told a questioner in the House of Commons this afternoon.

Urgent representations have been made at Warsaw by the ministers of the three allied powers, acting in concert. Mr. Chamberlain said, but the evidence at the British Government's disposal rendered it difficult to form a definite opinion regarding the recent aggression in Silesia.

FRONTIER CLOSED.

BERLIN, May 24.—A new government order, operative today, imposes a maximum limit of 100,000 marks for illegal recruiting or for organizing military bodies.

Other orders issued completely close the Upper Silesian frontier, and forbid the formation of armed corps for action in Upper Silesia.
The miners in the Lower Silesian coal fields have struck, and all mines are idle. The trouble is due to a dispute over wages.

VOTE NOT TAKEN.

PARIS, May 24.—The Chamber of Deputies this evening took an adjournment until Wednesday afternoon without having voted on the question of confidence in the Government.

Premier Briand, questioned by a group of deputies before the meeting of the chamber today, said there was no reason for the occupation of the Ruhr region because the aspect of the Silesian question had been changed, and if the Ruhr were occupied without the support of the Allies it would be equivalent to abandonment of the treaty of Versailles.
Premier Briand went into the same subject later in his statement to the Chamber of Deputies on the Government's foreign policy and with regard to the London agreement for non-occupation of the Ruhr valley.

Wants Support.
The premier laid emphasis on the point that the main object he had been pursuing was to retain the support of public opinion, as well as the moral support of the government of America and Great Britain.

"In the world as it is constituted today," M. Briand said, "no country can exist in isolation. I do not want France to be in the same position as in 1870. If coercive measures must be adopted it must be in agreement with our allies."
Premier Briand said he was convinced of the good faith and loyalty of the government of Chancellor Wirth, and that it was trying to live up to its promises.

The premier asked the Chamber of Deputies for a vote of confidence in his policy toward Germany. He made it clear that unless there were some flagrant violation of the disarmament or reparations clauses of the treaty, the troops on the Rhine would not receive orders to advance into the Ruhr and then only conditionally upon agreement with the Allies. He contended that the mere presence of 200,000 men on the Rhine was sufficient to make Germany fulfill her obligations.

Is Clearing Up.
Concerning the Silesian question, M. Briand said the situation was clearing up and did not necessitate intervention by the French troops.
"That is a far cry from your hand on the name of the next speech," shouted Deputy Le Provost de Launay, while the members of the extreme right showed great agitation and expressed their disapproval of the premier's utterances as being "a move toward the left."

Dilating on the situation between Great Britain and France, M. Briand declared: "It is folly to believe that after the great storm which the Entente friendship has weathered it would founder on the Silesian question, upon which all are agreed in principle."
The premier reviewed the events of the recent London conference, and quoted the British prime minister as saying that when the French and British viewpoints were so far apart he thought it likely that the conference would break up, and further quoted the words of Mr. Lloyd George, who added: "I should not like to be the man who would have on his conscience the responsibility of breaking up the good record between France and England."

ITALY'S ATTITUDE.
Paris, May 24.—The Italian Government, replying to the French Government's request that the Allies take joint action at Berlin to impress the German Government with the necessity of checking the movement of volunteers to Silesia, says that it has instructed its ambassador at Berlin to join with the French ambassador in the necessary representations.

SURGEON DENOUNCES PROPAGANDA OF THE ANTIVIVISECTIONISTS

Dr. John R. Deaver of Philadelphia Addresses Western Ontario Academy.

DEFENDS EXPERIMENTS

Tells the Medical Convention
Animals Must Be Sacrificed
For Human Benefit.

Emphatic denunciation of antivivisectionists was made by Dr. John R. Deaver, M.D., D.S.S., LL.D., professor of surgery at University of Pennsylvania, and surgeon-in-chief to Lankenau Hospital, Philadelphia, when he read a paper on "The Perverted Activities of the Antivivisectionists" before the final session of the Western Ontario Academy of Medicine in the auditorium of the new Western University Medical School Tuesday afternoon. In addition, Dr. George B. Eusterman, head of the castric division of the Mayo Clinic, gave the opening address, and Dr. G. A. Ramsay, treasurer, Dr. G. A. Ramsay, committee, Drs. F. Campbell, G. C. Hale, and J. I. Ferguson.

My choice of subject has been influenced by the appearance in the United States of a certain individual who represents the perverted activities of the antivivisectionists," Dr. Deaver, "and he has been endeavoring to spread his propaganda abroad. The honor of listening to this gentleman will in all likelihood also be yours in the near future. I can only hope that the press of Philadelphia. It is a significant comment on the good judgment of the Philadelphia newspapers that not one of the three principal morning papers contained a single word of the meeting at which the gentleman in question was scheduled to speak in Philadelphia about one week ago."

"It is the duty of those who respect the high aims of our profession to demonstrate the fallacy of this attitude and to enlighten the attitude of these misguided individuals of our kind. Everyone truly interested in humanity realizes that race improvement is largely dependent upon health improvement of the race, and all right thinking individuals know that much of the progress made along these lines has been achieved through studies made on animals, to which the term vivisectionists has been applied. In most instances the word is no more applicable in a vicious sense to the investigations of the research worker on animals than it is to the surgeon on the operating table."

Animals Die as Result.
"The two are for the most part performed under precisely similar conditions, and for precisely similar purposes, and the limit of suffering. That animals die as a result of experimental work goes without saying. But I cannot imagine that anyone would rather sacrifice human life for this purpose, or perhaps the limit of suffering. The progress made along these lines has been achieved through studies made on animals, to which the term vivisectionists has been applied. In most instances the word is no more applicable in a vicious sense to the investigations of the research worker on animals than it is to the surgeon on the operating table."

Continuing, the speaker stated that the human body being an intricate piece of machinery, it was only by determining on animals the function of various portions, that the local boys have learned the cause of certain disturbances in health. He also cited the progress made in bacteriology by animal inoculation, whereby specific organisms have been isolated and transmitted and inoculation cannot be done without the use of living beings. Shall these be animals or human beings? he asked. "To me it seems that almost any animal of nature be artificially infected present the same symptoms as those occurring in the human body."

Problem of Nutrition.
The problem of nutrition, he declared, was also being solved by research work conducted on animals. Education of the lay mind to test it in its right light, to abolish perverted ideas on the subject. Prevention of disease, in his opinion, is progressive due to animal experimentation. The ravages of typhoid fever in the Spanish-American war in contrast to the immunity to it in the great war, as the result of the use of living beings, proved his statement.

He said that the aspect in the mind of the layman seems to have the antithesis of entirely. There is the benefit to animals. Anthrax, cattle plague, chicken and hog cholera, all these have been studied on animals, and the beneficial results to animals, and to the commercial world. He continued by saying that there was much to learn in treating cancer and other malignant diseases, and this might be obtained by the use of animals.

Says "Anti" Are Cruel.
"Who interferes with these methods," concluded Dr. Deaver, "or who endeavors to restrict them is the one to whom the epithet of cruelty should be applied, for it is he who would condemn man and animal to avoid suffering." In moving a vote of thanks to the speaker, Dr. F. R. Miller, chief of the department of physiology of Western University, declared that the British Government, recognizing the value of this type of research, had issued licenses so that it could be carried out by properly qualified persons.

Dr. Eusterman, speaking on "Gastric Syphilis," stated that he had picked out a series of 55 cases, which are extremely rare. He first differed between himself treated 5,000 and 4,000 cases of these diseases respectively during thirteen years at the Mayo Clinic. He declared that contrary to text book, gastric ulcer is more common in men, 45 being the average age, and 55 being the common age for cancer. The involvement is out of proportion to the general appearance of the patient. Lues has all the symptoms of ulcer and cancer of the stomach, but there is just enough added to give a diagnosis," he said.

Gastric Syphilis.
He then explained these symptoms and illustrated his talk by a number of lantern slides taken from X-Ray plates of cases at the Mayo Clinic. "The practical aspect is that if the lesion is recognized in time it promises a most brilliant therapeutic result," he continued. He outlined the successful treatment of the disease and concluded by presenting slides showing a very unusual case of circumscribed syphilis of the stomach.

VICTORIA DAY SEES RECORD CROWDS AT LAKE AND RIVERSIDE

Railway Officials Estimate Attendance At Port Stanley
As 2,500.

As anticipated, Victoria Day proved a record-breaker in attendance for this advanced season of the year, at the various amusement places. Despite the menacing cloud banks earlier in the day, the elements considerably withheld whatever they may have had in readiness, so allowing thousands of London picknicks and excursionists to pursue their merry way. The attendance at both Springbank Park and Port Stanley, easily reached expectations, while the railroad report that the traffic in and out of the city over the holiday was reasonably good.
After the dinner hour, the picknicks commenced to arrive at the lakeside in appreciable numbers, and by 3:30 the board walk, with its adjoining attractions, began to assume its old time vigor and liveliness. The regular game of the London Inter-Club Baseball League took place as scheduled, the Orioles defeating the Alerts in a snappy contest, 5-3. A rough estimate for the day by the L. and P. S. R. placed the attendance in the neighborhood of 2,500. The management expressed itself as being well pleased with the showing for this early date, particularly in view of the decided uncertainty of the weather.

An additional feature at Springbank Park was the soccer match; a London all-star aggregation compelling the Sarnia football team, the local boys winning out by one tally, 4-3. With the crowds still travelling down the river all evening, the total attendance for the day at Springbank was estimated to be well over the 3,000 mark. Some 4,000 or more "fans" who remained in the city for the morning and afternoon baseball games at Tecumseh Park were amply repaid, inasmuch as they were accorded two real exhibits between London and Port Stanley, the added remuneration in the shape of two decisive victories for the home club.

FOREST FIRES SWEEP HAMLET

Two Lives Are Believed To Have Been Lost At Meno.

MALEONE, N. Y., May 24.—The hamlet of Meno, near St. Regis Falls, was completely destroyed last night by one of the worst forest fires ever known in the Northern Adirondacks region.
Every building in the hamlet, which was a residence place for workers of the New York and Ottawa Railroad Company, and employees of the Brookline Co-operative Company, was destroyed by the flames, despite the heroic efforts of hundreds of volunteers to check the fire. Two men are believed to have been burned to death, and many others narrowly escaped.

The loss will reach into the thousands of dollars.
Residents of the hamlet were taken to St. Regis Falls for shelter.
