ARABIAN MAXIMS.

To praise a dishonorable action is to incur the guilt of it.
 Real opulence consists in the wisdom of being content with little
 Prepare for adversity before it comes.
 Consider the man that flatters you as an enemy.
 The car of Hope is always escorted by Want.
 There is none but a fool who is not sometimes dissatisfied with himself.
 He who sows duplicity will reap calamity.
 Your most dangerous enemy is yourself.

DIRECTIONS to FARMERS and GARDENERS.

As some Springs are much earlier than others, the following Directions ought not to be too literally adhered to in point of time; but may rather serve to point out the order in which things may succeed each other; but as to the precise time of beginning, the judgment of the planter must be in some measure regulated by the appearance of the spring.

The last week in April, sow early pease, cabbage, parsnips, parsley, onions, turnips, radishes lettuce and mustard

However, those mentioned for the last week in April, may be put in whenever the snow is gone, the frost out of the ground, and the earth so dry as not to be muddy, and the others succeed in their order.

The first week in May, sow oats, wheat and rye, also some early English beans, (and the main crop by the 10th or 12th) spinage and orrice; and by the 20th of May a few hills of cucumbers, and a few early bush beans.

The middle of May, sow hemp and flax, and any time between this and the 10th of June will do for potatoes, such as are planted about the first of June, are frequently the largest but the earliest planted are as commonly the best to eat, being drier, in consequence of their being more thoroughly ripe.

The first week in June, plant all sorts of kidney beans; also cucumbers, squashes and pumpkins

The 20th of June, sow buckwheat; this is also a good time to sow in herds-grass, clover, or any other sort of grass seed, which is thought to succeed better if sowed now with buckwheat, than in the spring with oats. Herds grass that is sowed the latter part of June or through the whole of July, instead of running up, heading out, and ripening as that does which is earlier sown, spends the summer in spreading into a large bunch, and rooting firmly, by which it not only bears the severity of the winter, but sends up from each seed many more stalks the ensuing summer. The farmer should be careful to sow his clover, if possible, before the end of July; for it is very apt to be killed with the winter, if not well rooted, and it often happens that crops which come up well, late in the fall, are wholly killed, so that a single plant cannot be found the next summer.—The first week in July sow field turnips—the early Dutch may be sown as late as the 25th.—The 20th is a good time to sow turnip radish, and for a late crop, some salmon, ditto, as late as August 10th.—About the middle of August is the best time to sow winter wheat and rye, as by being sowed early it will be better rooted to stand the severity of the winter, and be more likely to escape a blast by coming in earlier next summer. In the fore part of September, corn salad, which may then be cut any time in the winter or spring when the snow is off.

THE FREEZING DROP.

WHAT new transitions we be- To mountains, atoms often
hold, grow,
To speak the wondrous power! an handfull yields a crop,
The Nidus teems ten thousand And yon cold gem that hangs so
fold, low,
Life bursts from ev'ry flow'r. Was late a freezing Drop.

II. FEBRUARY hath XXVIII Days. 1797.

While Winter holds his gelid reign,
 Worth! lend thine hand to prop;
 Nor let the wretch with want complain,
 Ah! that's a freezing Drop.

Shou'd e'er the dæmon to intrude,
 Ah! that's a freezing Drop.

And let the maid who loves sincere,
 Escape the thankless sop;
 For sadly flows the slighted tear.

Forbid the fiend Ingratitude
 At Friendship's latch to stop;
 Ah! that's the freezing Drop.

V. MAY hath XXXI Days. 1797.

S P R I N G.

WELCOME, sweet Spring, with all thy radiant train!
Thy infant seeds shall to per-

'Seed-time and harvest,' ever shall

And golden fruitage still shall bless our eyes,
Till earth shall cease to feel the
genial sun,
And systems burn in ev'ry part
of space.

Full Moon, 10th Day, 5h. 42m. Afternoon
Last Quarter, 18th Day, 7h. 28m. Afternoon

That lily blooms, in snow white charms array'd,
 You lilac too, how sweet it scents the air!
 The gay carnation's lively bloom's display'd,
 To imitate the cheek of Jess fair,
 The flow'ry pomp the beautiful larkspur share,
 While mix'd with roses in that thell'ring bower;

The fragrant woodbines quiver
 in the air,
 Distilling fragrance on some
 humbler flower,
 With colours which these flow'ry
 tribes adorn,

Say, can the artist's boasted
 skill compare?
 No, Nature paints the crimson
 blush of morn,
 And forms these flowers inmitably fair!

X. OCTOBER hath XXXI Days. 1797.

And sep'rate in a shower.	Unfolding in the vales ;
Ah me ! this Leaf, that wither'd lies,	Protected by parental arms,
This leaf deform'd and dead !	And woo'd by vernal gales.
These eyes beheld its beauties rise,	Alas ! how chang'd, its colour flown,
Beheld those beauties spread.	Its moisture dried by frost,
Admiring saw its ripening charms :	ts fibres shrunk—its vigour gone
	And all its graces lost.

APPROACH OF WINTER.

THE reaper's moon and harvest Survey thy cot, secure thy roof,
 pass, moon make it rain and tempest
 Rude blown the equinoctial blast, proof;
 Ah! now my rural friend, beware, So when the fable cloud falls low,
 This season claims thy utmost Thy hearth shall yield the pleasing care; glow,
 Health bids thee store, nor That soothes the rage of Win-

XII. DECEMBER hath XXXI Days. 1797.

Refurbish up thy warm furoat The buckskin glove and friendly boot ; And let the hat that shields thy head Around in ample cover spread ; This do for health, nor stint her :	Above the rest be this your care, Use exercise and morning air ; And this you'll find of such avail, While city fops look thin and pale, You'll wear the rose in Win- ter.
