LILIAN TO WED.

Chicago's Cleverest Woman to Marry a Plain Business Man.

FROM A GIRL'S POINT OF VIEW

She Mercilessly Satirized All Men Under 35.

WEDS OBJECT OF RIDICULE.

Two Groups of Quartz Claims Located Near Bennett—Sold to B. C. Capitalists.

Chicago, June 20.—Chicago's woman author, Lilian Bell, is to be married. She has bestowed her affections, too, on one of those creatures whom she so mercilessly satirized, "a man under 35." The particular young man whom Miss Bell has thus honored is Mr. Arthur Hoyt Bogue. He is a Chicago business man and considerably under 35. Miss Bell is 33 years old. She is by birth a southern woman, but has lived in Chicago for several years. Her first book, "The Love Affairs of an Old Maid," was published when she was only 21. It met with great success. Since then she has written several books and many clever essays. Her best known works are: "A Little Sister in the Wilderness," "The Under Side of Things" and "From a Girl's Point of View." Her latest book, "The Expatriate," is now in press.

Miss Bell is tall, slender and graceful. She has keen, observant brown eyes, hair tinged with gray and clear cut features. She dresses well and is extremely fond of society. In conversation she is witty, animated and unaffected. She belongs to several women's clubs, is a hard worker and a great reader.

Arthur Hoyt Bogue is a Princeton graduate and is well known in Kenwood social circles. He is popular and good looking, but not literary in his tastes. He has known Miss Bell but a short time.

The wedding will take place in the early spring, and the honeymoon will be spent in Paris. On their return Mr. and Mrs. Bogue will reside Chicago.

In "From a Girl's Point of View" Miss Bell deplors and ridicules the man under 35. She calls him raw, crude, unformed, untrained, egotistical and other uncomplimentary names. In one instance she says: "Far be it for me to say that the untrained man under 35, at his worst, is of no use in this world. He is excellent for a two-step." Evidently Miss Bell has discovered another use for him—she thinks he will make a good husband.

Bennett Claims Sold.

Bennett, June 12.—The Gridiron group of quartz claims, six miles below Bennett, and owned by Mr. Whitefield, is reported on good authority sold to Vancouver capitalists for $5000.

Mr. McKay, owner of a group of claims eight miles below Bennett, on the same ledge, also sold his properties to another party for $10,000. The sale was negotiated by the Bank of Halifax.

Up-River Weather.

The reports from up the river this morning are that cloudy, damp weather prevails. Rain falling at Stewart and Bennett. The average temperature was a fraction above 50. The river is reported as rising at all points.

Wrestling Match.

Local interest is running high in the wrestling match which occurs Friday night at the Orpheum between Ben Treneman and Guy Hall. The match is for two out of three falls, catch-as-catch-can and Graeco Roman style.

Each man has up $500, and the go will be well worth the seeing. Both men are training conscientiously for the contest which as a scientific exhibition will undoubtedly excel anything of the kind that has yet occurred in Dawson.

SOGGS CASE.

Much Irrelevant Evidence Being Introduced by the Defense.

THE LEGAL LIGHTS AT VARIANCE.

The Testimony Introduced Today Is All Corroborative.

A RIPPLE OF AMUSEMENT.

Mr. Rogers in Favor of Much Bathing on the Part of the Prisoner.

During the afternoon session of the Soggs case yesterday, W. H. L. Lang was called to the witness stand and testified to having been present at the time of the shooting and corroborates the evidence of the previous witness, with the slight difference that when Soggs jumped back over the sluice boxes away from Rogers, he was hollering "Keep off; keep away from me," and that when the first shot was fired Rogers was stopping over with his hands on the boxes as if intending to vault over them towards the defendant. At 10:30 o'clock this morning the Soggs trial was continued. The courtroom was comfortably filled, but not packed as it was yesterday.

Carson Wade was the first witness called, and testified that at the time of the shooting he was employed as a miner on lay No. 11, and that he was present when the trouble occurred. He repeated the evidence, in substance, of Rogers, merely adding that in reply to the question asked by Rogers as to what he was "rubber-necking" around there for, Soggs had said, "A part of this gold is mine, and I have a right to be here." After this, and till the time of the shooting the witness did not see the belligerents, as he was busy cleaning up and his back was towards them. When the first shot was fired he looked up long enough to note the fact that he was in range of the Soggs artillery and that bullets not previously stopped by Rogers, were coming his way. "After that," he said, "I ducked."

Witness' principal sight of Soggs and Rogers during the quarrel preceding the shooting consisted of glimpses of flying feet as the two men hopped back and forth over the sluice boxes, as he was looking down at his work in the boxes. After the last shot was fired Mr. Wade rushed to Soggs and tried to take the gun from him, but was joined by Mr. Beck, who told him to go back to his work of cleaning up.

At this point, Attorney Wade turned the witness over to the defense.

Mr. Noel asked the witness if he had heard Mr. Rogers say anything about Soggs previous to the shooting.

Mr. Wade objected to the evidence as being irrelevant, but the defense was sustained.

"Mr. Rogers said to myself and others, the day before the shooting, when speaking about the ejection of Soggs from the cabin of Mr. Cahill, 'I would give a hundred dollars to have seen it.'"

Mr. Noel—"Is it not a fact that some time previous to this you heard Mr. Rogers say, 'I would give a thousand dollars to have Soggs point a revolver at me?'"

"No, sir."

Prosecutor Wade wanted to know if the defense was trying to show that the shooting was done by contract.

Mr. Wade's testimony from this on was purely corroborative and he was soon excused.

Dr. Earnest Beckett was the next witness called: "Just before the shooting occurred I met Mr. Morrison, who told me that Soggs had a gun; that some one ought to warn him. I went and told Rogers of it."

"What did Rogers say?" asked Prosecutor Wade.

"He just laughed."

Witness returned to his cabin and did not again come out till he heard the shots. He then looked out of the door and saw Rogers coming towards his (Rogers) cabin, and Soggs, as he thought, following. He went at once to Rogers' cabin where he began caring for the wounded man.

Witness identified the two bullets in possession of the court, and testified to having found that three bullets had taken effect as stated by previous witnesses.

Mr. Noel then took the witness in cross-examination: "What were the words used by Morrison when he told you that Soggs had a gun and that someone should warn Rogers?" asked Mr. Noel.

The witness repeated his former statement, but could not recall his exact words when he delivered his warning, neither could he recollect with certainty the reply of Rogers. His evidence as given at the preliminary hearing was produced and Mr. Noel tried to refresh his memory, but nothing at variance with the substance of previous evidence was elicited.

The defence then went back to the day of the ejection of Soggs from the Cahill domicile, in an effort to get testimony showing previous animus of Rogers against Soggs, but witness could remember nothing more serious than the admitted threat of Rogers, when he wore "the ripple of amusement," that if Soggs came bothering around the work he would give him a bath.

Whatever may be established by Mr. Noel concerning Mr. Rogers' feelings concerning Soggs, it is quite clear that the chief witness for the crown has a strong predilection in favor of mirth for himself and bathing of the plunge bath order as applied to Soggs.

Dr. Castle took the stand and briefly testified concerning the nature of the wounds of Rogers. This witness completed the case for the Queen.

Mr. Noel recalled Dr. Castle with the evident intention of showing that none of the wounds had been dangerous, but succeeded only in bringing out the fact that the bullet still carried by Rogers might yet cause death.

Robert Cahill was next called. He identified the first agreement between himself and partners and Soggs. This was to the effect that Soggs was to take charge of the claim and laymen and stating what his remuneration was to be.

A dictated letter was then produced which witness had signed and which had been written by Mr. Bird at the dictation of witness. This letter was addressed to Soggs and cancelled the foregoing contract. This letter was the result of dissatisfaction on the part of Ellis and Cahill with Soggs' management of the claim.

Some debate here took place as to the relevancy of some of the evidence being introduced.

"My learned friend may disagree with me," said Mr. Noel, "but if so he will disagree with many a criminal lawyer."

Mr. Wade very quickly replied that he numbered no such lawyers among his acquaintances, and suggested that the books of 34 Gold Run be audited to show animus between Rogers and Soggs last year.

Mr. Cahill recalled a difference of opinion which had existed between himself and the prisoner. This difference of opinion resulted in Soggs calling Cahill a liar, and in witness slapping prisoner in the face.

Then more evidence concerning that bath offered gratis by Rogers to Soggs, was brought forth and finally merged itself into a more or less lively tilt between the legal lights which closed with honors easy.

At the opening of the afternoon session some dozen witnesses were called by the defense and briefly questioned as to the general character of the prisoner, which, according to their testimony was good.

The prisoner, Nelson A. Soggs then took the stand and begins his testimony as the Nugget goes to press.

Steamers Sybil and Victorian Arrive From White Horse

EACH BRINGING A LARGE LOT OF MAIL.

Much Delayed Baggage Brought by Victorian.

TYRRELL LOADING FOR NOME.

Sybil Sails Tonight, Victorian on Saturday—Columbian Bringing First Cargo of Freight.

The steamers Sybil and Victorian are now at the C. D. Co.'s dock from Whitehorse. The Sybil arrived at 6 p. m. and the Victorian at 2 o'clock this morning. They brought a large number of passengers, many of whom have been several weeks coming in owing to the congestion of traffic by reason of the low water in the upper river. Both boats brought down a large consignment of mail.

The Victorian was loaded with perishable goods and a considerable amount of baggage, some of which has been laying at way points all winter. The Sybil sails tonight for Whitehorse and way points and will be followed by the Victorian next Saturday.

The steamer Tyrrell will commence taking passengers this afternoon for St. Michael. There has been already 100 tickets spoken for and the probabilities are that the boat will leave loaded to her utmost carrying capacity. She leaves next Monday at 9 p. m.

The Columbian is now loading at Whitehorse and will carry the first consignment of through freight for this season. She will bring down 70 tons and a large number of passengers.

Life Insurance for Klondikers.

Falcon Joslyn who has recently returned from the outside has been appointed general agent of the Mutual Life Insurance Company, of New York, for the Yukon territory and Alaska.

The recognition of this country as a safe field of operation for life insurance evidences the fact that mortality in the far north is no greater than in the great cities of the East. This is the first great company which has taken the initiative in this direction and probably to the keen insight of its manager in similar conditions all over the world is due the phenomenal success attending its operations. It may be of some interest to know the extent of the business done by this insurance company. Its assets aggregate more than the collective capital of four of the great national banks of the world: The Bank of England, France, Imperial Bank of Germany and the Bank of Russia, leaving a surplus in assets above these great institutions of over $125,000,000.

Mr. Joslyn is to be congratulated upon his appointment. He will no doubt do a flourishing business.

M'KINLEY AGAIN.

It is altogether probable that the Republican national convention which assembled in Philadelphia on the 19th inst. has ere this renominated Wm. McKinley for the office of president of the United States. McKinley's administration, whether through good fortune or as a result of his sterling qualities both as a man and executive officer, has been most successful.

The president is able to look back upon a term of four years in which his administration has scored one triumph after another. The unusual and general prosperity which has prevailed in the states, while due in a great measure to causes entirely outside the influence of legislative measures, will be credited to the administration. This is no more than just, as McKinley would certainly have been held responsible by the great masses of people had the country been subjected to a severe financial depression during his term of office.

A war in which great glory was achieved by American arms and immense additional territory brought under the American flag has been fought, the entire credit of which belongs to the McKinley administration. The policy of expansion into which the United States was almost compelled to enter as a result of events growing out of the Spanish-American war has been approved by the people at large, and undoubtedly will receive hearty and enthusiastic endorsement at the polls in November.

All circumstances combined have served to bring the president and his administration into high repute with the people, and the return of McKinley to the White House for another term of four years is as nearly a foregone conclusion as anything in politics can be.

NO ENTANGLEMENTS.

Another crushing blow to the prayers about "imperialism" is administered in the policy outlined by the administration for dealing with the existing trouble in China.

Minister Conger has been instructed to draw upon the naval force in Chinese waters for the protection of the legation and of such refugees as may find asylum there. He is not even authorized to take any action to guard the interests of Americans in the interior. Nothing is ordered that will engage us in the broil that is so clearly in prospect. The views of our government are expressed in the following announcement from Washington: "By adhering closely to its old time policy of abstention from interference with internal matters in China, and especially by refraining from entangling movements in connection with the projects of other powers, the state department is confident that it can properly care for all the legitimate interests in China during the present crisis without becoming involved itself and without loss of prestige."

Our path is marked out for us, and the administration adheres to it severely. What measures we may yet have to take to secure the lives and property of Americans in China we cannot know. If the activity of the Boxers extends to the endangering of all American interests they must be protected. We shall exact a full and complete reparation for every injury that is done to us. Whatever may be necessary to assert the dignity of the United States and to protect its people will be done.—P. J.

The rate of sickness and death in Dawson is as small as in any other city of the same size in the world. This is due not only to naturally healthful climatic conditions, but to the fact that the community as a whole has been brought to realize the necessity of observing ordinary sanitary precautions. Two years ago at this time typhoid fever was raging in Dawson to an alarming extent. The hospitals were overcrowded with sick and dying men and cabins all over town had their tales of woe to tell. The prevalence of the disease came about from the use of impure water, poor food and disregard of the simplest rules of health.

Now that is all changed. Dawson's inhabitants as a whole are well cared for. We have a splendid supply of pure water and no alarm on that score need be felt. In other respects as well, conditions are favorable for the maintenance of an unusually high degree of public health and the records of the hospitals and the health office will serve to demonstrate that Dawson today is far above the average when considered from a sanitary standpoint.

An Opportune Time.

"Say, old boy," said the young man as he shook his friend by the hand and handed over a cigar. "I want you to be the best man."
"Thought her father objected," said the friend, who understood the situation.
"Not a bit of it! I've received his blessing and we are to be married next month and live happily ever afterward with the old folks."
"You'll have to explain," said the friend.

"Explain? There is nothing to explain. The old man is all right; the girl is all right, and I am all right; if you will promise to be the best man you'll be all right too!"
"So the stern papa relented, did he?"
"Relent nothing! Say, you remember when I asked him last summer to give me his daughter he said it would be a cold day when I got her? Well, when we had that heavy snowstorm I met the old man stuck in a snow drift and swearing because the street cars were not running. I reminded him of what he had said, called his attention to the condition of the weather at that moment and gently pointed out where a man went who didn't keep his word. Well, my nerve caught the old man, and I got the girl with his blessing. Cards will be out tomorrow, and the old man is going to do the proper thing."
—Detroit Free Press.

Wars of the Century.

Although the existing war in the Transvaal has been protracted in an unusual degree, it is not the longest struggle in which Great Britain has been engaged during the century. Napoleon declared war against England in May, 1803, the previous war between the two countries having only terminated by the treaty at Amiens in October, 1801. The war of 1803 lasted until April, 1814, when Paris surrendered to the allies and Napoleon was sent as prisoner to Elba, where he arrived on the 4th of May. He escaped from Elba in March, 1815, and recommenced the war, which finally terminated with Napoleon's defeat at the battle of Waterloo on the 18th of June, 1815, having lasted nearly 12 years. Napoleon was sent as prisoner to St. Helena, where he died in 1821.

The European power that has been most at war during the century has been Turkey—38 years of it, as against 62 of peace. The second on the list is Spain, with 32 years of warfare, not counting her last fatal campaign. Then come France with 27 years, Russia with 24 and Italy with 23. Great Britain has had no less than 21. Germany, not counting Prussia, follows with 14, Sweden with 10 and Denmark with 9.

Our own country during this century has escaped with three foreign wars, one civil strife, the Philippine insurrection and a baker's dozen of Indian campaigns, the longest of which was the Seminole war.—Chicago Chronicle.

Where the Sun Never Sets.

Should any person by the name of Smith go to the top of the hill east of the city tonight, "Soapy's" old saying, "The sun never sets on the Smiths," will be for once verified; and as it seems to be the intent of nearly every man, woman and child in the city to go, there is no doubt but that among them will be members of the illustrious family.

Messrs. Atwood and Cantwell, the photographers, will be on hand with their instrument and will "take" Sol at midnight, also the gaping multitude that will be on the summit. At 11:30 last night the sun could be distinctly seen from the first bench on the hillside and tonight he may be seen at all times from the summit of the hill.

THE DAUGHTER OF A SOLDIER

Queen Victoria Has a Warm Feeling for Her Troops.

In the First Years of Her Reign She Spent Much Time With the Various Companies.

It may be interesting to recall some of her majesty's early relations to her soldiers, of whom she once said: "Noble fellows, I feel as if they were my own children; my heart beats for them as for my nearest and dearest." The queen has never forgotten that she is a soldier's child; and when presenting colors on one occasion to the Scots Fusilier Guards she said: "I have been associated with your regiment from my earliest infancy, as my dear father was your colonel. He was proud of his profession, and I was always taught to consider myself a soldier's child." When an infant in arms her majesty was present at a review at Hounslow Heath, to the no little annoyance of the prince regent, who said, "That infant is too young to be brought into public." The faithful attendant of her early childhood was an old soldier, who had been her father's bodyguard. In her youth the queen heard the Duke of Wellington spoken of with bated breath, and on his death she spoke of him as "our immortal hero."

In the earliest years of her reign the queen was accustomed to review her troops mounted on a charger dressed in military costume. Two months after her accession, mounted on a grey charger, she wore a trim blue cloth coat and skirt with a star on the breast and around cap with a peak ornamented with a deep gold band, in reviewing for the first time the Household troops at Windsor. Later on the queen was dressed in a long habit with a cutaway jacket and a large hat ornamented with military plumes. At some reviews in Hyde Park the queen was in a tight fitting bodice and her form encircled with a bandolier; while in reviewing the troops on their return from the Crimea, her majesty wore a habit of fine scarlet cloth, the collar of which was embroidered in gold and silver with the devices of a field marshal; across the left shoulder was the blue ribbon of the Garter, while a brilliant star gleamed on her breast, and fastened round her waist was a crimson and gold net sash fringed with gold tassels. Her hat was of black felt, with a round crown ornamented with an officer's plume of red and white feathers. The queen rode on that memorable occasion a splendid chestnut horse.

In old times, too, the queen delighted to stay at the Pavilion at Aldershot, where she often received crowned heads and distinguished soldiers. From her sitting room window she commanded a view of the Long Valley stretching from Caesar's Camp, and could witness the evolutions of the troops with ease. Her majesty subscribed liberally towards the three churches, numerous schools, reading rooms, hospital, and theater at Aldershot, and in every effort to improve the condition of the private soldier she has taken the keenest personal interest. The first death warrant she was called on to sign was that of a criminal who had formerly been in the army. "Are there no extenuating circumstances?" asked the queen of the minister, and the reply was that he was once reported for gallant action in the field. "Ah, then he has fought for his country in the field," said the queen, and at once joyfully wrote the word "Pardoned" across the warrant.

It will thus be seen that the queen's intense personal sympathy with her soldiers in the field now, and with their wives and children, is only the continuation of a settled policy which has characterized her whole life. White in the piping times of peace the common soldier has, save by nurse maids, been held in little esteem by his fellows, the estimation in which he has been held by his sovereign has always been a high one. For his interests and comforts she has been at all times concerned; and the devoted loyalty which inspires all ranks, from the field marshal to the drummer boy, is caused by a thorough appreciation and recognition of a long continued and never wavering devotion on the part of their beloved sovereign to soldiers considered by her as specially her own children.—Ex.

A Wasted Joke.

"I don't think I'll try any more practical jokes on my wife. They don't pan out well."

"Elucidate."

"You see, she has a habit of hoisting

the window in our room every night. As I usually go to bed last she depends on me to hoist it. Sometimes I forget it, and then there's a wild squabble. Frequently she wakes me up in the night and asks me to see if it is open. If I don't, she nags at me until morning."

"A night or two ago I resolved to give her a hard scare. I rolled up a lot of old newspapers into a long bundle and laid the package down by the window. Of course she was asleep and didn't hear me. Then I opened the window a little way and crept into bed. Some time after midnight she nudged me and said:

"Jim, I'm sure you didn't open that window. It's like a bake oven in the room. Get up and see."

"So I got up, went to the window and threw the sash as high as it would go. As I did so I gave a little shriek and then flung my bundle down to the walk below. It struck with a dull thud, and I dodged behind the curtain to await developments. The room was very dark, and I couldn't see my wife, but I heard her raise herself to a sitting posture. Then she spoke.

"Poor old Jim!" she quietly said.

"He's tumbled out of the window in his raggedest night shirt. What a spectacle he'll be when they find him in the morning!" Then she lay down again and went to sleep."

"What did you do?"

"Stood there shivering for a minute or two and then sneaked into bed."—Cleveland Plain Dealer.

Johnnie Hogan's Dilemma.

Snoqualmie, June 8.—The people around Snoqualmie are just now speculating as to the probable fate of Johnnie Hogan, who is just now making heroic efforts to digest a $20 gold piece he accidentally swallowed Saturday. Johnnie was working for A. F. Kinsey, and seems to have accumulated what to him seemed an enormous sum of money. He first carried it around in his hand, then in his pocket. Doubting the security of the latter place, he put the coin in his mouth. A few moments later he was on a vigorous run towards the Kinsey store.

Mrs. Kinsey, perceiving he had a grip on his throat, and an unusual expression on his face, asked him what was wrong. Johnnie did not seem very talkative. He managed, however, to say "Twenty dollars!" A lump in his throat just above his hands corresponded with the amount he had mentioned, so it was at once evident what the trouble was. In the skirmish to recover the gold it went down. Johnnie had some money yet due him, which he was afraid he might not be able to enjoy. So he accordingly drew it and regaled himself with all sorts of confectionery, ice cream, etc.

Several days have now passed, and Johnnie is yet enjoying the sunny slopes of the silent river, which he is beginning to have hopes of not crossing for the present, at least, and he is planning on how to get some good of the money that he has on deposit.

U. S. Exports.

Washington, June 8.—Exports from the United States to Cuba, Puerto Rico and the Hawaiian, Philippine and Samoan islands will reach $45,000,000 in the fiscal year which ends with the present month, and will be more than three times as much as in 1896 and more than twice as much as in any year of our commerce with those islands except in the years 1892-3-4, when reciprocity greatly increased our exports to Cuba and Puerto Rico. To Cuba the total for the fiscal year seems likely to be fully $25,000,000, against $7,500,000 in the fiscal year 1896 and $24,157,000 in the great reciprocity year 1893, when exports to that island were more than double those of five years earlier. To Puerto Rico the exports of the year will be, in round terms, $2,600,000, against an average of $2,750,000 in the reciprocity years 1892, 1893 and 1894, when exports to that island were double those of earlier years.

To the Hawaiian islands the total for the year will be about $15,000,000, or five times as much as in 1896, and double that of 1898 the total for 1900 will be about $2,500,000, or more than in the entire fifteen years since 1885, the date at which the first record of our exports to the Philippines was made by the treasury bureau of statistics. To the Samoan islands the exports of the year will be about $125,000, or nearly as much as in all the years since 1896, at which date the official records of our exports to those islands began.

Notice.

Notice is hereby given that the partnership heretofore existing by and between Frank Berry and Murray Eads, proprietors of the New Pavilion, has this day been mutually dissolved, Murray Eads continuing the business, and will adjust all outstanding accounts against or in favor of said partnership. PERSONALITIES.

Charles Henry Gibbs, the keeper of a lighthouse on Nantucket island, enjoys a salary of $1 a year.

Frederick R. Burnham, the American scout who won distinction in the Matabele war, is with Gen. Roberts in South Africa.

Archbishop Feehan, of Chicago, went to the scene of his present labors in 1852, making the trip from New York by stage and steamboat.

Mrs. Alexander Clapperton, who entered Sir Walter Scott's service at the age of 16 and was with him at Abbotsford when he died, recently died at Kirkhill.

Senator Cockrell, of Missouri, takes his luncheon precisely at 2 o'clock every day. The meal invariably consists only of two large red apples from his home state.

D. K. Pearsons, the millionaire philanthropist, lays it down as the chief rule for financial success to be one's own manager and to trust no one to take care of one's business for one.

Representative Mitchell May of the Sixth New York district has the reputation of being the best dressed man in congress. His clothes are always of the latest fashion and cut and fit him like a glove.

Professor Perry G. Holden, of the University of Illinois, has resigned and has gone to Pekin, Ill., to assume the duties of manager of the agricultural department of the Illinois Sugar Refining Company.

Giles F. Filley, who recently died in St. Louis, gave up his fortune of $1,500,000 to meet the notes of a friend which he had indorsed, although he might have had the advantage of the bankruptcy laws.

Gov. Mount, of Indiana, has in his wife an efficient helper. She assists him in the arrangement of his notes for speeches and attends herself to the filing of his large collection of newspaper clippings.

When Lord Kitchener was a schoolboy, his leading characteristic was laziness, and as a punishment his father sent him to a woman's school. This had the desired effect, and young Kitchener, on being sent back to the public school, acquitted himself with credit.

Lucrezia, the murderer of Empress Elizabeth, is again in solitary confinement. He tried to stab the superintendent of the prison where he is confined with a sharp instrument he had made out of a can-opener. The reason for the attack was a refusal of unusual privileges.

Lots of Empty Houses.

Probably never before in the history of Dawson were so many "For Rent" signs seen on cabins as at the present time; and yet cabins suitable for family residences are very scarce, the majority of the empty cabins having been occupied by men alone, and are, consequently, of the dingy order. The business houses of the city are all occupied and appear to be doing heavy business in their various lines.

Begins Today.

According to calendaric formula, today is the first day of summer, the preceding three months having constituted the spring period. If there is to be any hot weather in the Yukon during the year 1906, it is due to arrive now at any time. A few days of weather sufficiently hot to wilt leaves, a la Kansas, would not be out of order as compared with the extreme cold which visits this country during the winter season. At present, however, there is no more pleasant summer weather being experienced in the universe than here in the vale of the Yukon.

THE FREE LIBRARY CONCERT

Supplied an Evening of Unalloyed Pleasure.

Mrs. Perry Gratefully Remembered for the Good Work She Has Done—An Excellent Program.

The most successful concert in the annals of the Public Reading and Recreation Rooms was held last night in the new quarters. The present rooms are a distinct improvement on the old quarters, and those present last night were unanimous in saying that they enjoyed the evening in the most luxurious and pleasant surroundings that Dawson can produce.

The Yukon Field Force band was in evidence and discoursed music to the pleasure of everybody. The principal artists in Dawson played their parts and rejoiced the audience with their efficiency and versatility. Towards the close of the evening, the president, Dr. Macdonald, in a felicitous speech, referred first of all to Mr. Griffith, who is par excellence the accompanist of the Yukon, afterwards to the great blank that will be caused socially by the withdrawal of the Yukon Field Force band. He then, in happy terms, drew attention to the great loss that Dawson, socially sustains by the absence of Mrs. Perry, whom he said was the originator and sustainer of the institution under whose auspices the meeting was held. After referring in unequivocal terms to the part Mrs. Perry has played in the history of the library and reading rooms, he, as president, presented Mrs. Perry with a sackful of nuggets, and hoped that in after years, when she looked upon them, she could reflect with pride, pleasure and satisfaction on the work that she inaugurated in the Yukon, and carried on to a most successful issue. After the presentation the band played "For He's a Jolly Good Fellow," followed up by "God Save the Queen."

An excellent program comprised of musical and literary features was produced, and the evening as a whole was a most befitting dedication of the new quarters to the laudible uses for which they are intended.

Mail Arrives.

The steamer Sybil brought in 24 sacks of mail last night, and this morning the Victorian arrived with 31 sacks. The latter was principally second-class matter and as yet has not been sorted, owing to the immense labor involved. By tomorrow all mail will be ready for delivery.

POLICE COURT NEWS.

Jas. E. Rooney and John Mooney, both having become hooch looney, indulged in a free fight in the alley in the rear of the Aurora saloon yesterday, and in the melee Mr. Mooney decorated the right optic of Mr. Rooney until this morning that side of his face was swollen like a toy balloon that swains from the rural district buy for their sweethearts when the circus comes to town. When asked to plead Mr. Rooney said "Guilty," and Mr. Mooney said "The same here;" the court said "$15 and costs for both of you."

John McCrimmon who is working a lay on 13 below on Hunker, was in court on the charge of shooting a dog, the property of John A. Cameron. The dog boasted illustrious ancestry in that he was a "black Russian Porcupine husky," or at least, as witness Louis La Plante said, "his father came from the Porcupine, so the Indians said." The fact that the dog was black, although it was not claimed there was any African blood in him, probably accounted for his love of chickens, as even the prosecution admitted that in passing the house of the defendant the late lamented canine had been addicted to disturbing the latter's poultry, having on one occasion killed two, and at another time terrified an unassuming hen by carrying her around in his mouth. Cameron swore that he paid $150 for the dog and had, on various divers and sundry times, refused $200 for him. McCrimmon testified that the now defunct canine was "as ordinary a looking dog as ever walked the streets of Dawson" and that he could prove by a man who had seen the bill of sale that Cameron had paid only $50 for him, and that in reality the dog was not worth over $25. During the evidence it came out that one bill of sale for $50 was made out several months ago, and that one for $150 has been made out since the object in dispute quit biting chickens and bit the dust. In view of the evidence and counter evidence the court continued the case until Monday afternoon when the bills of sale and further evidence in behalf of the defense will be introduced.

Charges were made this morning by Capt. Cox of the steamer Sybil against three men, two of whom had mutinied on the last trip of his steamer up the river. The men who had sought to ring in deep water customs on the bars and flats of the Yukon, were put ashore at Big Salmon, where they were turned over to the police, being brought down to Dawson this morning on the Victorian by Constable Sharmen. Another man, a stowaway on the Sybil, was also in custody of the Big Salmon officer. The fellow was following the example of Mormon elders insofar that he was traveling without scrip or purse. The hearing of the case would come on later in the day.

The case of C. J. Malaman vs. James Hartney for wages, occupied the remainder of the forenoon.

Gold Commissioner's Court.

In the case of Mulkey vs. Phillips, which was postponed from the 18th to the 20th inst., a slight misunderstanding as to the hour set for hearing was the cause of non-appearance of one of the litigants. They came together on the street and as a result the case was heard during the afternoon and taken under advisement by the commissioner.

The case of McGeachem et al. vs. Flanigan et al., involving alleged trespass on the bench claim No. 3. Monte Cristo creek, in which complaint it is averred that a part of the ground has been unlawfully worked, was heard yesterday and taken under advisement.

An Excellent Appointment.

Attorney Duffern Pattullo has been appointed vice-consul for Norway and Sweden for the Yukon territory. While the duties of the office may not be such as to consume any great amount of the attorney's time, and while the fees incident to the occupancy of the position may not be equal in amount to the salary of a railroad president, yet when there is any consular business to be transacted Norway and Sweden may rest assured that their subjects in the far away Klondike will be ably looked after by Mr. Pattullo, whose knowledge of the language especially fits him for the position.

Barracks Improvements.

With the vacating of a number of the buildings at the barracks by the withdrawal of the Y. F. F., a series of improvements which will add greatly to the appearance of the inner court or square will be inaugurated. Already the royal stables have been razed to the ground and the material is being hauled away. The other buildings, including the police court room, that form a row across the center of the square will all be removed as well as those immediately next to and between the general police quarters and the square, thus throwing all the parade and drill ground into one square. New and more commodious quarters will be provided in which the police court will be adopted.

Sunday Night Entertainment.

On Sunday night the Orpheum Theater Company will give a grand entertainment, clean and respectable in every particular. The entertainment will include an exhibition of many pictures which are said to be particularly interesting. The scenes depicted are from actual photographs and have been taken by the vitroscope, at the scene of action. They include a Spanish bullfight, the battles of Santiago and Manila, the charge on San Juan hill, and a battle scene from the South African war, showing the British troops in action with the Boers in retreat.

The entertainment will include a high class concert by the best talent in town.

Where is Blankenship.

U. S. Consul McCook has received a letter from the United States pension officer which makes it desirable that Wm. H. Blankenship call at once upon the consul here.

The gentleman in question some time since made application for his pension money, but owing to section 4719, revised statutes of the United States, Mr. Blankenship's name has been dropped from the roll, he having failed for three years previous to this, to make application for his money. Before he can get it now he must call at Consul McCook's office and fill a new application blank.

Benefit for Capt. Jack.

Capt. Jack Crawford, who has contributed his services as an entertainer upon so many occasions in Dawson, will leave on the steamer Tyrrell Monday. A number of the genial captain's friends are arranging a benefit for him to be given on Sunday night at the Palace Grand. It is to be hoped that a good sized audience will attend.

BRIEF MENTION.

John King, of 60 Bonanza, is in town. J. Loyd, of 17 Eldorado, has returned to his claim.

Miss Mulrooney, of the Fairview, is visiting the Forks.

Mr. and Mrs. Driscoll, of Portland, Or., are visiting Dawson.

Mr. and Mrs. Hines, of England, are registered at the Metropole.

J. H. Crowley and E. M. Elliot, of Hunker, are at the Flannery.

Earl Davis, of No. 7 below on Bonanza, is in the city on business.

Sheriff Eilbeck and the jurors of the Soggs case are lodged at the Metropole.

M. M. Jurney, of 26 Eldorado, arrived on the Sybil and has gone up the creek.

W. A. Watrous, an old time Dawsonite, arrived from the outside by the Sybil.

Ed Orr expects his family as soon as up river navigation settles down to steady gait.

Jack Trimble, of Eldorado and Bonanza, was a passenger on Yesterday's stage to the Forks.

A new sidewalk of the regulation width is being put down on the north side of upper Third street.

A very heavy mail arrived by the Victorian which brought 62 sacks. The Sybil brought 24 sacks.

Almost every available room of Dawson's hotels is full. This has been the case for nearly a month.

A piece of vertebra from the tail of mastodon was found near town yesterday and is on exhibition at the Regina.

James Dalziel was admitted to the Good Samaritan hospital yesterday. The patient is suffering from an injured eye.

Yesterday Patrick & Co., of 1 and 20 Hunker, shipped a load of provisions and machinery to the above named claims.

Mrs. R. M. McDonald, wife of the N. A. T. & T. Co.'s Forks agent, was one of the Sybil's passengers. She is registered at the Yukon.

W. A. Steele, formerly a newspaper man of Seattle and abrother of H. G. Steele, who left for Nome on the steamer Hannah, was an arrival last night on the Sybil.

The little building which formerly adjoined the store of Mohr & Wilkens, was today moved across the street and moored next to the Arcade dry goods store.

C. C. Grimes, who has been with Capt. Donovan, on one of Alex McDonald's Dominion claims during the past winter, is in the city on a summer vacation.

Mr. Chandler, of the Bank of Commerce, who has been suffering with tonsillitis at the Good Samaritan hospital during the past fortnight was discharged this morning.

John Gomez and wife are recent arrivals from Skagway, where they resided during the previous two years. Mr. Gomez is a full cousin to the late Cuban commander and revolutionist of the same name.

The liquors are the best to be had, at the Regina.
