Mr. and Mrs. Nichols are citizens that Kentville can ill afford to lose being identified with all the best interests of the town. Mr. and Mrs. Jonathan Sanford, parents of Mrs. Nichols also go to Berwick and they will be much missed here.

Miss Gladys Turner, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Charles Turner, New Minas, left Wednesday for Providence, Rhode Island, to take a course in training at Butler's Hospital. Split in German Socialist Party

Berlin, March 24, via wireless to Tuckerton, N. J.—The long expected split in the German Socialist party as the result of the political situation created by the submarine warfare controversy in the Reichstag occurred today. A new party, consisting of 18 Socialist members, was constituted by the Radical wing, after a Socialist caucus had decided to exclude Deputy Haase for a breach of discipline.

The Socialist caucus was held after closure had been applied in the Reichstag by the president. When the resolution was reached to exclude Deputy Haase for the same reason that Deputy Liebknecht was excluded from the organization, the minority assembled and resolved to leave the party.

The total number of Socialist members in the Reichstag is 100. The dissenting minority on the last vote consisted of thirty Socialists.

"THE SPLENDID CALIBRE"

(From the Boston Herald)

The Maritime Provinces have entered on an earnest campaign to remove the reproach of not having done their share of the part that Canada is taking in the great war. When the figures were given out a week or two ago which showed that Canada had raised almost exactly 250,000 men, or half of the 500,000 that it has made its goal of voluntary enlistment, it appeared that the Maritime Provinces had contributed 23,550 men, a substantial number, but much below their quota. Hence the energetic efforts of the patriotic leaders in that region to boom enlistments.

In Nova Scotia they are fast making up for lost time. It indicates something of the spirit of the patriotic wave that is sweeping that Province to say that two college presidents have enlisted and have urged their students to follow them in a body. One of them, Dr. George B. Cutten, president of Acadia University, bears a name to conjure with in the theological life in Canada, and is not unknown in New England. At Yale a score of years ago he won enough football fame to gain him a place on the All-American eleven, and later he held pastorates in New Haven and here in Massachusetts. He is the leading educator of Lower Canada, and at 43 he steps down from his high place to enlist—not as a chaplain, but as a fighting man—in a brigade that is sure of overseas service.

President MacKinnon of Halifax Presbyterian College has likewise enlisted, and, with his fellow college president, is making a whirlwind tour of Nova Scotia to swell the recruiting. Canada will raise its full half-million soldiers and the Maritime Provinces will do their

That designation means a whole lot when it is lived up to, as it is in Horton Flour. It means the very finest Canadian wheat; it means greater strength and more nutritive value in your bread; and it means more loaves of crisp, appetizing texture and snowy-whiteness.

THE ARRIVAL AND DISTRIBUTION OF CHRISTMAS STOCKINGS

Many questions have been asked concerning the fate of the consignment of Christmas stockings sent from Kentville and vicinity to Nursing Sister Hare for distribution in No. 2 Stationary Hospital.

Following is a letter which tells a most interesting story of this arrival and distribution. Some little time after Christmas to be sure—but none the less welcome:

No. 2 Canadian Stationary Hospital.
France, March 10, '16

Dear Miss Chase:
The stockings arrived here in splendid condition yesterday, and really, no one must feel badly at all that they were so delayed. For after all we had a splendid Christmas here for the men—and they were so happy and pleased with theirs today. We unpacked one box and they were distributed to the Wards, and I have asked the Sisters in charge of the Wards to have the men send answers and such as far as possible. One sergeant in my ward has written already a number of postals I gave him and some letters. Of course very many of the men are not able to write, and you know how hard it is for me to do much than write and tell you a little.

It somehow made me want to cry to see all the stockings, and they ere splendid ones, in the wards on the tables, as the sergeant said to me. "Our wonderful people at home to do all this." The love and thought which was expended made one wish I could tell each one how the stocking were appreciated. One stocking, a very sick little Scotch boy, who came with the 1st Canadian Contingent fortunately got, with a cat in it, and another was awfully pleased with a dog with the "waggy" tail. They stand by their beds and on the bedside lockers.

An Irish sergeant who is returning to England to get his commission got a stocking with your name in it and will write later, at present he is too sick.

Then the Canadians in my ward, and they are going to do it in the other wards too, are packing a box to send to their particular friends in the trenches, and I will let you know about this later.

We had to undo many of the stockings containing apples and in such cases packed the other things in boxes to be sent to the front for our Canadians, and you may rest assured the men will enjoy them much more there than they would have at Christmas when they had so much.

Cookies, cake, etc., were perfectly grand. Apples in the majority of cases not fit to eat, and once in a while some candy was beyond using. But the stockings were beautiful.

The day they came and told me the boxes had come I was just watching a man breathe his last, after a fight of three days, when we hoped he'd pull thru. Poor lad, he was an Englishman. There is one benefit derived from being near Boulogne, we have as consultant Sir Bertram Dawson, (the King's physician) and he comes and is a dear. He is so careful and particular over even the most ordinary Tommy and orders just as if he were the most important case possible. He is always so cordial and pleasant, I love to have him come. I'm going to write the man's mother as I know she will be pleased to know her son had the benefit of his advice even if he could not save him. A Nova Scotia boy left us sometime ago for the trenches and we are going to send him his stocking and one each for his chums. The Aylesford box of stockings I have not yet opened.

The sheets and pillow cases too were most acceptable and the pyjamas I am using for sitting up suits and my men will be the envy of the rest of the hospital I am sure.

Our love and thanks to you
Minard's Liniment Cures Dandruff.

all for all the happiness you have given us.

Pardon my hasty scribble which I hope you can make out.
Sincerely yours,
C. MARGARET HARE (Sister)
P. S.—The Sergeant Martin who wrote to several for the different men came to us from the front a little while ago, very sick with pleurisy and dyspepsia. He is able to sit up now. C. M. H.

A SOLDIER BOY IN LONDON.

The following letter is from Glen S. Ellis, son of Mr. and Mrs. Alfred Ellis, Sheffield Mills. He left Valcartier last November in reinforcements for the 40th and as his letter tells he was ready to leave for France. His cousin whom he visited was (Birdie Henman) Mrs. Baker, well known here.

East Sandling Camp
Feb. 29, '16.

My Dear Mother:
I did not get a chance to write on Saturday or Sunday as usual as I went up to London on pass. I was lucky to get one at all, as I had almost given up hope of getting even a week end off. I put in for one on Thursday, but thought we would be shooting, and so not able to get off, but Friday night they told us we would not have to shoot, and that our passes would be out that night at retreat. That sounded fine, and I sure felt good natured.

I arrived at Charing Cross about nine o'clock, and went right to Acton to cousin Birdie's. It was nearly ten when I got there, but they were up, and so surprised to see me. I had a little cold, and my feet were wet, (it was a rotten night and the ground was covered with slush, so cousin Will insisted that I take some licorice for my cold, and a hot foot bath. I demurred, but they insisted. Then after I get in bed Cousin Birdie came in to make sure I was all right. Gee! Mother it reminded me of home, and how you used to come in and tuck me up.

When will it be again?

They told me to "sleep in" in the morning and I sure did, as it was after eight when I woke up. However, I was down in time for breakfast, after which Charlie took me down and all thru the "works," where they are making five and eight inch shells, and cordite mixers. Left there about eleven, and went up to London where I met Ruth (by appointment) at Shepherd's Bush station. She took me to St. Paul's Cathedral, and then to a restaurant for dinner. After that we went to Westminster Abbey, and the guide took us all through and explained things to us. All the principal things are now covered with sand bags for fear of Zepps. I saw where the Kings and Queens were buried, and the poet's corner. Also the Coat of Arms and flags, many of which latter were all torn and burnt and blood-stained. It sure was grand and wonderful, and interesting. If only you could see it all.

We also visited the Mansion House, Bank, and Government buildings. I stayed in after tea and split wood with Carrol, and put in a new axe handle for them. I did not get up the next morning in time to go to meeting with Cousin Will, but Hinman and the Belgian boy took me to the Brompton Oratory to hear the music, which was grand. We came home through Hyde Park, and saw Albert Memorial Hall and Statue. I left Cousin Birdie's about three for Mrs. Whitehead's. They sure were good to me Mother. Cousin Birdie made me some real Canadian doughnuts. Gee! but they were good. They also took two snaps. Had tea and supper at Mrs. Whitehead's. Her son Walter was also home on leave, and had brought with him a big six-foot chap in kilts. He had been a teacher in a college in York, and had no friends in London. They are in the "London Scottish." Had a fine evening there, but short, as I had to leave at eight to get my train. They gave me a box of "cats" to take back to camp. I am sending home some sock legs, as you

WILL WE EVER WALK ON AIR?

Train Of Thought Inspired By a Letter About "Fruit-a-lives"

MR. D. McLEAN

Orillia, Ont., Nov. 28th, 1914.
"For over two years, I was troubled with Constipation, Drowsiness, Lack of Appetite and Headaches. I tried several medicines, but got no results and my Headaches became more severe. One day I saw your sign which read 'Fruit-a-lives' make you feel like walking on air. This appealed to me, so I decided to try a box. In a very short time, I began to feel better, and now I feel fine. Now I have a good appetite, relish everything I eat, and the Headaches are gone entirely. I cannot say too much for 'Fruit-a-lives', and recommend this pleasant fruit medicine to all my friends'."
DAN McLEAN.

"FRUIT-A-LIVES" is daily proving its priceless value in relieving cases of Stomach, Liver and Kidney Trouble—General Weakness, and Skin Diseases.

mentioned and in the parcel are a couple of little badges the girls might like. We expected to leave for the front today, but did not. We are all ready, packs all filled and are ready to march in ten minutes time. We have orders not to leave Camp.

There are fifty of us going as machine-gunners. It is snowing here today, and quite like a Canadian day in March, but is very muddy and sloppy. The boys are just like a lot of kids over the snow.

I have seen no ice fit to skate on since I came here, or a sleigh or sled of any description. One day some of the boys bent up a piece of metal roofing, and used it to coast down hill, till it broke and upset them. It is getting on for dinner time now, but I tell you it is not much like the dinners we used to have at home, still it is not too bad. I suppose this is the last letter I can be anyway free in writing, as all the men will be censored as soon as we get across.

Good bye for now. With love for you all.

Your loving son,
GLENN.

Baby's Own Tablets are guaranteed by a Government analyst to be absolutely safe and free from injurious drugs. Once a mother has used them she would not use anything else for her little ones. Concerning them Mrs. George Tallon, Noelville, Ont., writes: "Please send me two more boxes of Baby's Own Tablets for I have found them so good for my baby, I would not be without them." The tablets are sold by medicine dealers or by mail at 25 cents a box from The Dr. Williams Medicine Co., Brockville, Ont.

SPECIAL MEETING OF THE KENTVILLE TOWN COUNCIL

The Mayor and Town Council were in session on Wednesday evening and spent about three hours in considering the estimates for the present year. It is apparent that during the last few years the Town has not kept its tax rate sufficiently high to pay for all the services of the town during the year and overdrafts have been carried forward year by year. This year the Council is confronted with a very high rate—as high as $2.25 per $100 if the usual expenditures of the Town are to be maintained and the legacies of over expenditure of previous years also met this year. But inasmuch as this is a war year and retrenchments will have to be made by the individuals and incorporations the mayor and councillors are using every faculty they possess to keep the rate as low as possible without sacrificing or making any service of the Town inefficient in any way. Thus the whole evening on Wednesday was given up by our "city fathers" to a consideration and discussion of ways and means. If the rate for 1916 is not placed much higher than any former years it will be on account of a lot of hard thinking and planning by the Council and Clerk. The Council adjourned at 11 o'clock to meet next Wednesday evening at an early hour to pass the estimates.

AN IMPORTANT INDUSTRY FOR KINGS COUNTY

The committee appointed by the Board of Trade at its regular meeting on March 14th, to promote the interests of sheep raising in Kings County, met Tuesday afternoon at the office of Mr. George E. Graham, General Manager of the D. A. R.

Mr. J. Everett Kinsman, occupied the chair and others present were Messrs. George E. Graham, Geo. C. Roy, P. Innes, Jos. A. Kinsman; Prof. W. S. Blair, President of the Kentville Board of Trade, and W. E. Porter, Secretary.

After considering different plans and projects, it was decided to ask the Dominion Department of Agriculture for an expert on sheep raising to give addresses throughout the county on this subject.

The different phases of the sheep industry was discussed and the general opinion was that owing to the high price of wool—35c to 47c per lb as quoted by the Nova Scotia Underwear Co.—farmers should be encouraged to build up their flocks by keeping the most promising animals, instead of slaughtering them.

This project as being promoted by Mr. George E. Graham is a most worthy one and should meet with the keen appreciation of the farmers.

This is a time when the people should avail themselves of every advantage to make the most of the great possibilities which are theirs.

MILITARY NOTES

Lieut. Smith of the 112th Battalion, left this week on a short leave of absence.

Lieut. Parsons has returned to resume his duties with the detachment of the 112th Battalion, in training here.

L. Corps. William Quigley and Harry Barnaby of the 219th, N. S. H., detachment, Kentville, have been appointed to go to Halifax to take the non-commissioned officers course.

Private Murray Baird of the 219th Battalion, N. S. H., is spending the week in Bridgetown settling up some business affairs in which he was engaged previous to his enlistment for Overseas Service.

Among Acadia men enlisting in the 219th Battalion appears the name of Phillip S. Beals in training with the company at Berwick. Mr. Beals graduated with the class of '09. He is a son of Rev. F. H. Beals of Wolfville.

Mr. Roy Rafuse, who went to France with the 6th Mounted Rifles was wounded about two months ago receiving a bullet through his hat which carried the hair and part of his scalp. His father, Mr. Fred Rafuse, Kentville, received word from him this week and after being in the hospital a while he has joined the firing line.

Rev. T. C. Mellor has recently received word that his eldest son, Lieut. Frederick Courtney Mellor, has left Scotland for the firing line in France. Lieut. Mellor's regiment was at the Dardanelles during the campaign there but he remained in Edinburgh and vicinity training additional troops for reinforcements. Now he has been called from his training work to the battlefield. With two noblesons in the conflict Rev. T. C. and Mrs. Mellor have contributed their share to the cause of justice and humanity. May the boys both be spared to return and receive a true soldier's "welcome home."

112TH BATTALION

The 112th Battalion has now been recruited to about 1400 men, 1460 being the number enlisted, a number being unfit for service.

Below we give a list of the recruits at Kentville since our last published report: H. L. Stokes, Halls Harbor. L. H. Coleman, Kentville. Harold Victor Nesbitt, Canaan.

Albert Craig, Woodville. Arthur Burnby, Windsor. The last named has been sent to Windsor.

Lt.-Col. Weatherbe to Command Pioneers.

Lt.-Col. Paul Weatherbe, of the Royal Canadian Engineers and a graduate of the Royal Military College, Kingston, has been appointed to command the 4th Overseas Pioneer Battalion in place of Hon. Lt.-Col. R. S. Lowe, whom it is understood is to have another appointment.

The headquarters of the 4th Pioneers will probably be at Otawa, but the Battalion will be recruiting, at all events, in part, in the Maritime Provinces, and it is expected that recruiting for this Battalion will commence very shortly. The work of the pioneers is mainly rough construction work and field engineering.

Militia headquarters have issued an order that men qualified for pioneer duties in any Overseas Battalion are to be allowed to transfer to the Pioneer if they wish to do so.

Lt.-Col. Weatherbe is a son of the late Sir Robert Weatherbe of "St. Eulalie," Grand Pre, and a brother of Dr. Philip Weatherbe of Halifax.

Kentville's New Theatre to be Known as the "Strand"

It has been decided to apply the name of "The Strand" to Kentville's new modern theatre. The plans are now complete and every available inch of space has been used judiciously. Competent persons who have looked over the plans pronounce the new building as one of the best in the Province. The floor of the auditorium will have a drop of one inch to the foot and no matter where one is sitting the view of the stage will be unobstructed. Special attention has been given to the stage the proportions of which are sufficient to allow for the staging of the largest productions.

The site is an ideal one (Mr. Perry Bishop's lot on Main St.) and the structure will present a fine appearance. Excavation for the new building will begin early in April, or as soon as the frost is out of the ground.

BRINGING UP FATHER

Matchless Company of 35 people will produce Geo. McManus' famous musical comedy, at Nickel Theatre, one night only, Thursday, April 6th.

Bringing Up Father, the reigning cartoon series of the newspaper world by Mr. George McManus, has been the nucleus of a new musical comedy, produced under the direction of Mr. Gus Hill, who seems to be about the only sure fire successful cartoon play producer extant. 'We've got to hand it to Gus,' McManus was wise to place his BRINGING UP FATHER in Hill's hands, which is next to having his hand on about a half million real dollars. The newest bid for musical comedy honors represents an outlay of a goodly sum of money, as Gus Hill has not yet reached the cross roads where producers usually turn back. He will make Bringing Up Father more magnificent than anything he has ever produced. A car load of scenery and electrical effects are a very necessary adjunct to a good play, so is a good book and catchy music, incidentally a few regular actors. A car load of feminine beauty is probably the most valuable asset to a play of that kind and Mr. Hill has that car load, and it's a pullman too.

The real novelty in Bringing Up Father is found in the fact that the cast was selected entirely from vaudeville performers. Indeed the entire play is simply an elongated vaudeville bill, with pretty beauties to give the thing zest. The idea is original with the producer who somehow seems to know just what theatre goes like best. It is therefore up to you 'John' to 'hike down' to Clark's Drug Store and secure a couple of seats for "Bringing Up Father."

You know how the crowd always is at a good show, so take our advice and get your seats early. General admission 50c., Reserved, 75c. and $1.00.

A. A. Bligh of Brooklyn Corner attended the R. W. Grand Orange Lodge of Nova Scotia at Springhill recently. At the close of the gathering he visited Amherst being the guest of Rev. A. H. and Mrs. Whitman. Mr. Whitman is greatly encouraged in his work. He has been holding special meetings through February and as a result a large number have been added to the church. Questions of great interest to all Orangemen were discussed at the Grand Lodge. HOW MRS. BEAN MET THE CRISIS

Carried Safely Through Change of Life by Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound.

Nashville, Tenn.—"When I was going through the Change of Life I had a tumor as large as a child's head. The doctor said it was three years coming and gave me medicine for it until I was called away from the city for some time. Of course I could not go to him then, so my sister-in-law told me that she thought Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound would cure it. It helped both the Change of Life and the tumor and when I got home I did not need the doctor. I took the Pinkham remedies until the tumor was gone, the doctor said, and I have not felt it since. I tell every one how I was cured. If this letter will help others you are welcome to use it."

London, March 10—(Correspondence of the Associated Press)—"Soup plates" is what the British soldiers at the front call the helmets with which they are now equipped as a protection against shrapnel. They are of steel and painted gray. In appearance they resemble an inverted bowl and are far from ornamental. They afford protection to the neck and ears as well as the head.

A British correspondent testifies to their efficiency in reducing casualties as proven in the recent stiff fighting for the recovery of the "international trench" north of Ypres-Comines canal.

"I saw eight dented or pierced helmets today," he writes, "the wearers of which suffered no worse injury than scalp wounds, and some escaped entirely. All would have been killed had they worn the ordinary khaki cap. One helmet had been dented eight times by falling shrapnel, while a jagged two-inch hole marked the entry of a shell fragment which caused a flesh wound."

"Another bore a deep fissure made by the butt of a German rifle during the hand-to-hand fighting in the captured trench. The wearer of the helmets was not even stunned and he was able to kill his antagonist. Still another had been dented by shrapnel unknown to the wearer. Several had been cut thru by pieces of shell, but the net effect was no greater than a smart blow across the skull with a club."

OBITUARY

Elijah P. Armstrong.

The death occurred at Church Street Cornwallis on March 21st of Elijah P. Armstrong, Esq., in the seventy-first year of his age. Mr. Armstrong resided upon the old homestead in Church Street all his life, and was universally respected by all who had the pleasure of his acquaintance.

His death has removed from our midst a gentleman of the old school, courteous and kind in his intercourse with all men, one whose hand was always extended to the relief of suffering humanity, and whose character always exemplified the type of true Christian manhood.

He was a man of strong convictions, despising all kinds of shams and standing four square for all things that made for the moral uplift of the people.

Mr. Armstrong was a Past Master of St. George's Lodge, A. F. & A. M., Wolfville, and although not actively associated with the craft during his later years of life always exemplified the cardinal virtues of the order in his upright walk before his God and fellow men.

The service at his late home was conducted by the Rev. T. C. Mellor, a former rector of the parish who spoke feelingly of the true spirit of Christian fellowship always shown by the deceased towards himself, and his character as a Christian man.

At St. John's Church the rector Rev. J. D. Hull took for his text the words of the apostle St. John, "Blessed are the dead who die in the Lord" dwelling upon the assurance that those we lay away in the tomb upheld and sustained by an abiding faith in the Christ shall be blessed indeed.

"Father we thank thee for this bond that links together those who are kindred in spirit. We thank Thee that once a man was called the friend of God. So all may be Thy friends we well those who meet and match their souls. Let us desire friends; let us cultivate in ourselves the qualities that shall make us worthy of them."

William L. Harris

On March 13th at his residence Sheffield Mills there passed to his eternal rest one of the oldest and most widely known inhabitants of this place in the person of Mr. William L. Harris. Born in September, 1836, he had almost reached his fourscore years, yet was his eye not dim, nor, to all appearance, his natural force abated when on the evening of March 4th he was suddenly stricken with paralysis. Everything that could be done by medical skill and loving care to restore consciousness proved unavailing and he gently fell asleep to awaken in the life beyond.

A man of bright, genial disposition, open hearted, hospitable, whom to know was to love and respect, devoted to his home and family, loyal to his friends, deeply interested in everything that affected the welfare of the community where all his life had been spent, he will be missed and mourned by all.

The funeral services were conducted by Rev. Dr. A. C. Borden of Canning, his pastor and intimate friend assisted by Rev. Mr. Prosser to whom also he was warmly attached.

He is survived by his widow (daughter of the late Philip Weaver of Medford) one daughter, Mrs. Gladwyn of Truro, four sons, Morris, Fred, Arthur of Boston, Mass., and Dr. Cecil of Berwick; also three brothers, Alpheus of Sheffield Mill; David of Lynn, Mass.; Robert of Canard, and two sisters, Mrs. Wallace and Miss Bessie of Canard. To them the heart of the whole community goes out in sorrowing sympathy.

Mrs. Harvey D. Woodworth

Mrs. Harvey D. Woodworth passed away at her home at Canning on Tuesday, March 21, at the age of fifty-two years. Although she had been in delicate health for sometime, her illness was not considered serious until about a month ago.

The funeral was held on Saturday afternoon, Rev. Mr. Bone, pastor of the Baptist Church, conducted the service, and spoke in a most feeling manner of the high christian character of the deceased, and of her patience under great suffering. Rev. Dr. A. C. Borden offered prayer, and Rev. D. H. McQuarrie gave a short address. Music was furnished by a quartette which consisted of Mr. N. W. Eaton, Miss Emily Eaton, Mr. and Mrs. Edward Henderson.

The burial was in the cemetery at Habitant. Mrs. Woodworth was a lady most highly esteemed, and will be greatly missed in the community. She leaves to mourn their loss a husband, three children, Mrs. Judson Spicer of Welsford, Miss Alfreda, now teaching at Falmouth and Bowman of New Glasgow, also an aged father, Mr. George DeWitt of Pereaux, three brothers, and five sisters, all of whom have the sympathy of a large circle of friends.

FACTS ON THE BUILDING OF THE WELLINGTON DYKE

From a copy of the Nova Scotia or Colonial Herald dated at Halifax Wednesday, March 9, 1825, 91 years ago, we clip, the following report presented on the building of the Wellington Dyke across the Canard River from Canard to Starrs Point:

Wellington Dyke

Of this great undertaking, which speaks so loudly in favor of the skill and enterprise of the farmers of Cornwallis no account has yet appeared in our papers; and as I had some opportunity of gathering the facts relative to it I will thank you to lay before the public the following hasty sketch.

This embankment shuts out from the tide that fine stretch of marsh comprising about 700 acres of the finest quality, and capable of the highest cultivation, which lies between the main dyke and the mouth of the river Canard. It is said that the advantage of this valuable enclosure had been duly estimated by the first settlers of the township—I mean the Acadian French; and that previous to their being driven from this country they had commenced the labor of embanking. Indeed some of the older inhabitants yet point out the broken and defaced vestiges of their enterprise. Causes however, which stop to their labors—change of government gave an insecurity to their property—and driven at length from the Province the work was necessarily abandoned.

For many years the settlers upon the banks of the river Canard either remained insensible to the riches within their grasp, or too indolent to secure them.

About the year 1802 however—about forty years from the exodus of the French—they gathered some public spirit, and determined to recommence the undertaking. This second attempt was equally unsuccessful with the first; and after a few feeble and ill directed efforts was a second time abandoned. It again slept till the year 1816, when a meeting of the proprietors was called; and there, after some deliberation, it was determined to begin the present dyke. The work was immediately commenced under the superintendence of two or three of the more active and intelligent—and the whole proceeded in with the greatest industry and dispatch, till the Abbateau was raised to a level with the tide, and so nearly completed, that with but a few days labor it was expected to shut it out entirely.

At this very moment however when their point was so nearly gained an accident occurred, which frustrated all their hopes. One day when the tide was out it was observed that upon the south side of the abbateau, and close to the bank of the river, the water above had forced a leak through the main body of the work; anxiety now filled every one—no effort could save it—and before half an hour the violence of the water washed away with a fearful rapidity the complete side of the abbateau, and left the other a shattered and disfigured monument of their enterprise. This happened during the course of the summer of 1822 and at this time the expenditure of labor was equal to the nominal sum of £12000.

Although many of the proprietors lost heart at this inauspicious event and would have relinquished the scheme as utterly hopeless, some of the leading men of the County, stepped forward, and recommended a renewal of their efforts—hope was again awakened and accordingly on the same summer the work was recommenced—continued during the course of this—and towards the end of last September, with incredible labor, an abbateau was completed, which has since stood, and bids fair to satisfy every hope of its stability.

Those who have never had an opportunity of inspecting a thing of this kind can form no conception of the size and magnitude of the structure. Imagine a vast pile measuring 50 feet in perpendicular height—120 feet at the base, gradually narrowing at an angle of about 10 degrees till it reaches the top; and extending across the whole bed of the river about 300 feet wide; and you will have some idea of its broad and massy dimensions. I was one day present and saw the force usually employed—about 100 teams (500 working cattle) and 300 men. It was a busy and active scene, and looking upon it I could not help feeling some indignation at the remarks which are sometimes made by gentlemen of the city, about the slothfulness of our farmers. Here was ocular demonstration—a noble and exciting example of enterprise, activity and industry—it taught me a useful lesson, and I have ever been inclined since to defend the farmers of Cornwallis from any charges of idleness &c. in which the good folks in town so often indulge.

The whole work will cost about £15000 in real value—the best quality of land will come to the proprietors at £40—the second at £30 per acre.

Some improvements however are yet to be added and a petition has been prepared for the House of Assembly begging some legislative assistance. I have every confidence in the liberality of the House for if ever there was a public work which deserved the attention of the Legislature and was worthy their favorable consideration it is the Wellington Dyke of Cornwallis.

Anxious to make the information relative to this great work accurate, we have made inquiry and from a leading gentleman of that Township now in town have been kindly favored with the following particulars—The foundation of the Abbateau to the Wellington Dyke which for several years past has been building across Cunar river is 300 feet, which is the breadth in the Channel of the river—the materials with which it has been erected are brush, stone, timber, marsh sods, and these fastened together with rickets.

The body of the Dyke or abbateau is bound up in the middle of the foundation 100 feet wide. The sluice is 100 feet long, 14 feet wide, and 4 feet high, with two divisions made of solid timber, twelve inches thick, covered first with two inch plank then with timber six inches thick. The river where the dyke or abbateau was built across is upwards of 1000 feet in width and 40 feet deep.

There have been used in said dyke:
9,778 loads birch
13,036 loads poles 12 feet long
21,001 securing poles from 15 to 30 feet long,
71,756 pickets from 8 to 16 feet long
1,514 loads stone contracted for and brought on by the lead besides thousands which it may justly said were brought on in the days works.

THE CARE OF EGGS

The loss of eggs during the early spring and summer months is estimated at from 5 p. c. to 25 p. c. of the total production. The causes for this enormous loss are briefly two: (1) Persons who have only small flocks do not realize the necessity of gathering the eggs daily and keeping the collected eggs in a cool, clean place until marketed; (2) The dealers do not provide proper places in which to keep the eggs from the time they are received until they are sold to the customer or packed in cases and shipped to the wholesaler in the city.

The writer is of the opinion that the blame for this loss is not always the farmer's but a good share rightly belongs to the merchants and dealers who place their eggs in store windows and allow the sun to shine on them until the lot is sold. Incubation will start in an egg at a temperature of 70 degrees and often the temperature inside a store show window is very near 100 degrees. Eggs kept in such a window for only a few hours will become unfit for food and if sold over the counter, the customer will complain of the quality and dissatisfaction will result all around.

The Poultry Department of the Agricultural College in endeavoring to appeal to all dealers this spring to provide proper boxes in a cool, clean place in which to store eggs until they are sold, and use neat printed display cards in the window to attract attention. The exhibiting of eggs in the store windows is both an injury to the trade and a loss to both customer and dealer. The very perishable nature of this important food would be sufficient reason for all persons handling eggs to use every precaution possible to supply only eggs of fresh quality. Your personal support and co-operation is asked to bring about very much needed improvement in this trade.

GROWING CLOVER SEED IN NOVA SCOTIA

Last summer, the Nova Scotia Department of Agriculture, on the advice of S. J. Moore, Dominion Seed Inspector, offered to place a clover huller at the disposal of farmers in North Colchester and Pictou and Antigonish Counties, provided they would agree to save a certain amount of both first and second growth clover for threshing. The offer was accepted and the huller, the first one operated in the Province, was delivered at River John last fall. The results realized point to the possibility of farmers growing considerable clover seed at least for their own use in the Province.

The following report from A. C. Tattie, a graduate of the College at Truro, now farming in River John, who had charge of the machine, while it was in his part of the Province, is sure to prove of value and interest to those farmers whose operations may be hampered by the high prices now prevailing for clover seed. He writes:

"While here it threshed about thirty-five hundred weight of seed consisting of Common Red, Large Late, Alsike, separate and mixed with Timothy in many cases.

Towards the last, three hundred weight was threshed in six hours. The clover seed obtained seemed to be of good quality especially where it was allowed to become fully ripened. In many cases, however, the hay was cut too green, which greatly reduced the yield and quality of the seed obtained. The yield from first growth clover would run from two to three hundred pounds of seed to the acre. The second growth clover was in every case cut too green, yielding only about 40 pounds to the acre; heads would go through the mill without being threshed, but when they were examined they contained only immature, shrunken seed. This accounts for a considerable part of the difference in yield between first and second growth. However, the seed obtained from the second crop was practically free from weed seeds. The most prevalent weed in the first growth was sheep sorrel.

To any farmer who can save clover next year for the first time, I would say, select a piece that stands up good, and then let it ripen until the heads and stalks are mostly black. Of course, in a damp season this is very difficult, but cut it when the most of the heads are black. Alsike clover shells easily and must be handled carefully and cut slightly greener.

The self reaper is an excellent machine for cutting the clover with, as it leaves the hay out of the path of the team and the sheaves are convenient to turn, and then get it well dried to insure good work at threshing time. Keep a piece of the first growth to be sure of a crop and then save any second growth you can."

Arrangements will be made on application to further extend the usefulness of this clover huller. It is not likely that Nova Scotia farmers will grow much clover seed to sell but the great advantage which they will derive from growing at least some of their own seed will be the more liberal use of clover seed on their farms and the more liberal growth of clover will mean richer fodder for the cattle and enriched farms.

M. CUMMING,
 Secretary for Agriculture.
