a holiday for the rest of the afternoon, and I remained, needle in hand, changing and fitting the rest of the head-dresses, until Sir Richard tanped at the door to escort his wife down to dinner, and expressed surprise and disapproval at my occupation.

"Oh, It's all right, Dick, dearest!" I heard her explain, as she hurried him out of the room. "Miss Bernard quite enjoys the little change. We have been working together and making friends all day. The liver and kidneys are overpoisonous waste matter from the sys They fail and become torpid clogged. The bowels become constipated and stomach derange-

There is one medicine which will overcome this condition more certainly and more quickly than any other, and this is Dr. Chase's Kidney-Liver Pills.

I heard no more. I suppose hould not have heard so much, but he speaker's skirt had caught in the wire of a flower-stand outside the door, and she had not taken the trouble to lower her voice while unfastening it.

my duties were pretty evenly divided between the schoolroom and the boudoir. Almost every day I was summoned to bear my mistress company either walking or driving; to read her to sleep when she was tired; to alter her dresses; give my opinion of her tea-gowns; to practice duets with her; even help her to receive her guests in the afternoon; and to act as duenna when the officer from the cavalry barracks in the neighboring town dropped in after dinner, as they did nearly every night during Si Richard's absence in Scotland, whith er he had been called to attend the death-bed of an only sister, to whom he was attached.

It was at this crisis that my in atuation received its first effectua heck. I was reluctartly compelle o admit that notwiti standing he pretty, affectionate ways, her caress ing manner, her charming tempe. and undeniable good nature, my little mistress had in reality very little feel ing, and gave nothing like an adequ ate return to her devoted husband for the deep affection and devotion h lavished upon her. She did not seem to feel or realize his bereavement i the least, and scarcely ever allude to the subject, except to bewail the loss of her London season, and the local entertainments, the dances, the flower-shows, the races she would have to give up. She grumbled about the trouble and the unbecomingness of her mourning, until I was quit weary of the subject; and the gay sweet laugh with which she greete Sir Richard on the day he returned from the funeral grated upon my ear:

and aroused in me a feeling almost o aversion. "Surely, surely," I thought hotly several times during the trying weeks that followed, "however shallow o self-engressed nature may have mad her, she cannot be quite unimpres sionable! She must have some feeling of love for that courteous, kindly gant one, and if made a couple of gentleman, who has enriched her with inches smaller in the rim would suit all his worldly goods, and whose lif is so devoted to hers; and, if she loves him ever so little, she must see and feel that his heart is mourning fo that companion of his youth and childhood who is not vet cold in he grave, and she must know that hurts him sorely to hear her grum bling incessantly about the heat and heaviness of crape in June, and the

She let her husband wander sadly and silently about his property all day, not making the slightest e fort. I could see, to relieve his mel ancholy and one night about ten days after his return when I had timidly invited him after dinner to hear th children recite some religious poetry she had deliberately driven him out o to her satisfaction that my pupils had the drawing-room by opening the piano and bursting into a loud, flip-

I often wished afterward that I had not been betraved into that act of imoulsive folly, for it raised an unseen parrier between my master and me, which, for months, it was evidently act in the power of either of us to renove. He avoided me in the most pointed manner after that evening did not come near the schoolroom for more than a week, and, in many other ways, let me see plainly that he rejected my sympathy and deeply re ented my officiousness in reproving the woman he loved. This knowledge grieved and irritated me so much that two or three times, I began a letter to Mother Josephine, telling her I was not happy at the Court, and begging ner to look out for another situation for me; but somehow, I do not know why, I never finished them. About a month after Sir Richard's eturn from the north. I was reading his wife to sleep one afternoon with soporific in the shape of the dullest and trashiest novel it had ever been my ill-luck to wade through, when Birdie, who was standing by the win-of granulated sugar and one cup of warm water and stir for two minutes. Put 21/2 the Sugar Syrup. This gives you a family supply of the best cough syrup at a saving of $2. It never spoils. Take a teaspoonul every one, two or three hours.

The effectiveness of this simple remedy

The effectiveness of this simple remedy is surprising. It seems to take hold instantly, and will usually stop the most obstinate cough in 24 hours. It tones up the jaded appetite and is just laxative enough to be helpful in a cough, and has a pleasing taste. Also excellent for bronchial trouble, throat tickle, sore lungs and asthma, and an unequaled remedy for whooping cough and croup.

This recipe for making cough remedy with Pinex and Sugar Syrup (or strained honey) is a prime favorite in thousands of homes in the United States and Canada. The plan has been imitated, though never successfully. If you try it, use only genuine Pinex, which is the most valuable concentrated compound of Norway white pine extract, and is rich in gualacol and all the hatural healing pine elements.

Pretty much every primary school in the city ought, within the next week to hear of Eileen's "I'm pretty little but I'll try." There have been many surprises, but out of these surprises there are valuable lessons to be learned. First of all, let us congratulate Mr. Lavellee on his victory. It was evident to all thinking men that Mr. Lavellee was the nore experienced of the two candidates and it is therefore not surprising he was elected. As for Mr. Marcil, it is no credit at all to himself personally that he went down to defeat. His great mistake was in relying on a programme which was not sufficiently explicit or even possible of realisation. Mr. Marcil has a long career in front of him and he will certainly find means of revenge. At the same time let us frankly denlore the seeming anathy that exists among 30 many voters. #### GREAT CHANGE IN A FEW DAYS

DODD'S KIDNEY PILLS MADE WM. GERVAIS A NEW MAN.

His Muscles Cramped, he was very Irritable and he had Headaches-Dodd's Kidney Pills changed if all.

Hitchcock, Sask., Feb. 14. (Special.) -Mr. Wm. Gervais, well known and highly respected here, is telling his friends of an almost miraculous change Dodd's Kidney Pills have made in him. He is a man of few words,

"My muscles would cramp," Mr. Gervais says: "My head ached and I was very irritable until I used Dodd's Kidney Pills. Two boxes made new man of me.'

A change in a few days from a nervous irritable condition, with an aching head and a presentment that a serious illness was hovering over him, to rousing, energetic health was what Dodd's Kidney Pills did for Mr Gervais. That's what they have done for thousands of others on prairies. No matter where you go you will hear of cures they have made. If you don't know from your own experience, your neighbor will tell you they are the one sure cure for any form of Kidney Disease.

Mr. Kent, speaking on behalf of the Opposition in seconding the resolution, added a glowing tribute in endorsation of what the Premier said. Three great men had been taken from amongst us since the House last met They had all been closely identified with the political life of the country and were associated in the House Sir James Winter was a great lawyer a gift of unlimited powers for patient research, a hard worker and uncompromising champion for what his conscience de med to be the right course. with the prosperity of the Colony. After Mr. LeFeuvre had finished his pleasing effort, Mr. Kent rose on behalf of the Opposition. LONDON, Feb. 14. The first official glimpse of the progress made in Anglo-German negotiations was given by Premier Asquith, in a debate in the Commons this afternoon. He said that the British Government received, last month, an intimation that the visit of a British minister to Berlin would not be unwelcome, and might faciliate the attainment of the common object of the two nations. Lord Haldane was consequently sent to Berlin. Perfect freedom of statement and frankness of explanations had prevailed. I genuinely believe that these conversations, said Asquith, may have more than a merely negative result. There is unmistakable evidence of a sincere desire on both sides for the establishment of a better feeling between us. sick for the past year and his death ring to the overclouding of Anglo-

Billiousness or Sick Stomach.

It is more necessary that you keep your Bowels, Liver and Stomach clean, pure and fresh than it is to keep the sewers and drainage of a large city free from obstruction.

Are you keeping clean inside with Cascarets-or merely forcing a passageway every few days with salts. cathartic pills or castor oil. This is important.

Cascarets immediately cleanse and regulate the stomach, remove the sour, undigested and fermenting food and foul gases: take the excess bile from the liver and carry out of the system the decomposed waste matter and poison in the intestines and bowels.

No odds how badly and upset you feel, a Cascaret tonight will straighten you out by morning. They work while you sleep. A 10-cent box from your druggist will keep your entire family feeling good for months. Don't forget the children-their little insides need a good, gentle cleansing,
