Meaning into various circulation. Werkmover in popers with will do this so eff-otually and naturally as Electricity. In this seen computing age, when the throbbing brain is never at reas, when ever nerve is a context of the highest timesion, and the contrastile hear is too much minimized by our issued context. The second second second second second second a fearth ertent, there issues every a person, and the source at the hard is too much similared in some member suffering more or less from symptoms indicating some disorder in which the edimarky precibed temedies too often rail, and the unhappy patient is left to drag out a weary existence. Our experience in the application of Electricity in thousands of such agent of no mean power, and it has proven in the hands of many medical practitioners as invaluable auxiliary in cousing the domant engine of nature, and making the system for more sukeptible to action of the various medical grants.

Ar more susceptible to action of the various medical agents. It is believed by the Medical Faculty, and most learned Natural Philosophers, that the various functional parts of our bodies form a sort of galvanic battery, in which our mervous system might be apily compared to a network of telegraphic wirns, along which the electro-filal currents travel through all parts of our body, increasing its life power, and promoting a healthy action of all its ergans. But as the human hody is what is termed a Geod Conductor, the greater part of the electric fluid is immediately absorbed by the grant reserve in felctricity, the earth our which we walk. Thus our system is som-tianally basing drained of its most precious life-sixing and life-austaining principle, and more especially if we have to lowerd the standard of our mervous system by overtaing the body or neals, by addentary habits, excesses and abus, or by any other cause. Disease, as we need, is the result of loss of vital power, its reform, ji scient there can be no curve fored mill the suffering parts are re-vitalized, and the natural cleatre-vital currents stored and brought to their proper standard and bainee. This, howvere, cannot be ten by drigs or simulants, which often do more harm than good, and, in the long run, bring the sufference that the suffering runts are the body or bailence. This howvere, cannot be tended to Biodrizal treatment.

They imperceptibly your a stream of electric fluid into the system, saturating the blood with the much needed vitality, charging the brain and nervous systems generally with that bestingting multi which will re-invigorate the enterblood or shattered consti-tation, assist raw Decessive oneans in Thein oreaarics, and facilitate the more perfect assimilation of food, by southing the irritated nerves, it enables the eshausted sufferer to recompense "fined nature" by that "sweet restorer, balmy sleep."

Neurishant and sleep are the means employed by nature in repairing the wasted issues consequent apon the wear and tear of every day life, but the body is often too much exclusive to parent of direct and assimilate the food, and the nervous irritation is at times too frast to parent the patients to get the sleep they so much require. It is shown by numbers of prioriest estimonials given by medical authorities and the public generally, whe have, by observation and experience, proven it to be of inestimable benefit to the millering community.

THE SONG OF THE FLATIRON. I sing the song of the flatter, The flattron heavy and hot, The Nihilis brave of the laundry, Who for others' rights cares not a jot; For, whether to smash, smutch mangle, To mangle, and souther a size

To rumple, rend, roughen, or rip, I laugh at all laws, in the Chinaman claws, Or the hired girl's iron-like grip.

Over surfaces soft-starched or sodden, I pass, plough, and pound in my power, Frantic cries in hall, bedroom and bou-doir Are my deep-rooted, delicate dower; But, hilarious, I leap to my pastime, Of creases and kinks I am king, And of folds that criss-cross I'm the flat-footed boss, As my song self complacent I sing.

The curling tongs clank with smazement. The fluting iron wrinkles with spite, As washboard and wringer their victims, Prepare for my flendish delight; And I hiss as I scorch cuffs and collars, I smoke as the wristbands I fray. And laugh fit to drop as the shirt buttons

And the plaits pucker under my play. In embroidery and lace I revel, Fine acedlework dies at my touch, And, with me at my best, not a garment Need wait for Time's sundering clutch, And still my brave scong of the flatiron I sing with a joviallip As I tramp, twitch and twist in the China-mar's fist as I tramp, twist man's fist Or the brawny hired girl's grip. NATHAN D. URNER.

MANITORA WHEAT PRODUCTIONS. a state of things is not pleasant The wheat production of Manitoba has to think upon, although it may be possible just now so far overtaken the local conthat individual scruples on the matter may sumption as to leave a practicable surplus be groundless. It would be altogether refor exportation. The Winnipeg Free Press assuring were the ice of commerce to be states that the grain thus far marketed foots up to 350,000 husbels, but that it is produced from our city water. In that for example, but 38 000 hushels have come for example, but 38 000 hushels have come for ward, though that district was full of wheat. It is thoughithat in order to ob-tain cheap land many people have gone tain cheap land Productive industry is the distinguishing too far back from the railway, and hence feature of the present age. Its active that in the absence of good travelling till principle, says a prominent thinker, is winter, comes much that should be marinvention, especially mechanical invenketed remains yet unsold. The old saying tion. Each day brings some new disketed remains yet unsold. The out saying that "Rome was not built in a day" is al-together applicable to the new districts of the West. Time must be allowed for the West. Time must be allowed for the West. Time must be allowed for railway construction. Time must be al-lowed for settlers to come in and make their arrangements; to break up the ground, put in the seed and provide for its care and transport. Let us suppose that next year there will be as many as ten thousand persons engaged in cultivating the sell for wheat. Each man then can, Dr. Harris, of Massachusetts, is so rapid by aid of labor-saving machinery, manage that the increase of manufacturing power to handle forty acres. Experience shows that twenty-five bushels is a mini-mum crop, though ene-third more that this is possible is made car. years. That this is possible is made ceris not at all an unusual return, tain by the multiplication of steam engines From such a basis it follows that and the improvement of machines. This season will long be remembered by maltsters as one of the most eventfal in the history of the trade. The first week in November has already arrived, and not withstanding an unprecedented crop of barley both in the United States and Can-the different the adopted, and resolutions passed rati-tion adopted, and resolutions passed ratibarley both in the United States and Can-ada, hardly more than one or two of Albany's malt-houses have begun opera-tions, and they have only started up re-cently. The reason of this is very plain. On comparison with previous years it is found that, as a rule, the malting season begins about the middle of September and ends about the middle of May. Last year was a very favorable year for barley, and large harvests were gathered and were pui They should be seed.

Mr. Bethune held that an order had been issued by the Court of Appeal covering these cases. The Chancellor expressed the opinion that the Court of Appeal could decide the question of jurisdiction, and that the hear ing of the case should be proceeded with. Mr. Johnson then made application to add forty-eight additional charges, and it thereof to respondent's counsel. The hearing of the evidence upon the several charges was then commenced by Mr. Bethune. The first witness called,

Why, it is those poor simple fellows, who, having office, did not know how to keep it, who chose to direct their policy more by the dull directions o musty books than by the bright light of passing events and the urgent suggestions of pressing necessities. A new theory of the origin of the human race has been put forward by a German professor, Gherke. He says that the aboriginal Americans and the people of the north of Europe are descended from bears. Towards the end of the glacial sea son these bears floated south on icebergs They could not return, and were forced to make the best of their quarters. Gradual make the best of their quarters. Gradual-ly they shed their furry coat, and in order to keep one pair of feet dry they walked on their hind legs. The claims of the family to consideration are fully met. Tales of absorbing interest are always in the course of publication, while hilarity is promoted by selections of current wit and spicy observations on men and things, together with interesting puzzles, curious games, and other parlor amusements.

The Agricultural Information given from week to week is highly appreciated by those who see in Agriculture a profession to be pursued by the aid of intelligence rather than as a business depending very much upon chance. It bristles with pointed hints, and suggests opportunities which, if attended to never fail to redound to the benefit of the farmer.

The columns of "Pertinent Paragraphs" which appear from time to time, together with the "Scientific News," furnish a class of reading which has been highly appreciated by intelligent. readers.

The Editorial contributions are kept well up with the times on all matters, not unfrequently leading public opinion through the Dominion on many questions of political and general importance.

. TWO WORLDS NOW ON EXHIBITION.

There are two planets now in the morning sky which attract special attention, although they are surrounded by some of the most brilliant twinklers in the heavens, such as Sirius Aldebaran, Capella, and other stars of the The first and most first magaitude. conspicuous of these planets is Jupiter conspicuous of these planels is Jupiler, which outshines even the famous Dog Star, although its light is not so d-zzlieg. The other planet is Mars, which is remarkable for its ruddy hue. Jupiter and Mars are now not far apart, lying between the Twins on the west and the Lion on the east. They are best seen about 3 o'clock in the morning, when they are half way up the southeastern slope of the sky. But while they are attractive ob-jects for naked eye observation, they are belanced with the southeastern slope releasoops. With a powerful telescope the contrast in their appearance is very the contrast in the store that has been marked cold dips. But that on the whole the weather will be very mild, with very little s'e'ghing; that the present iw, weeks will be rather rough. The Chatham Wagon Manufacturing for wood-100 cords of dry and 150 of Company appears to furnish one example of "the beneficent working of the National Policy. They are ranning a full force of powerful appearance great, and every discovery that has been made about them shows that these two plan the separated in point of development by lod that can only be reckoned in mil of years. While Farina stages in the development of an or-tanic being, so the astronomer, by turning alls telescope from Jupiter to Mars, can ex-alibit first a world in its infancy and then a world in its old age. It is most interesting and wonderfau, after watching the huge belted and spotted globe of Jupiter, herdly yet redeemed from chass, the scene of the most tremendaus upheavals, and buried sleep in a dense stimosphere of hot and thoulthous vapors, to turn to the quiet scenery of Mars, a globe that long ago passed from the stage of active world growth, and which is already. vapors, to turn to the quee show the stage of globe that long ago passed from the stage of active world growth, and which is already, probably, declining toward the arriess, water-less and lifeless condition of our moon.
