Our kind friends, who some months ago, took such pains to misrepresent facts to the public, in the first place to say that the $500 Piano which we offered as a grand prize, was not worth more than $100, secondly, that if given away it would be to some friend, thirdly, when they found that we had kept our word to the people to the very letter, interested themselves in having us fined. have received their JUST REWARD at the hands of the FAIR-PLAY loving citizens of Toronto and hundreds of the best people have been attracted to our store by the prosecution brought against us by our jealous rivals who were afraid that if the people of Toronto once tested the quality of our famous Teas they would never buy elsewhere.

James Laut's Teas are recomended by the medical faculty and the Press as healthful and comforting. Use no other if you value good health.

THE GOVERNMENT ASSAILED.

In the debate on the address in reply to the queen's speech Sir Stafford Northcote assailed the government's policy.

Mr. Gladsone, in an eloquent speech, vehemently attacked the land league and highly eulogized Mr. Forster's efforts to restore order in Ireland without bloodshed. store order in Ireland without bloodshed. He upheld the impartiality of the commissioners under the land act and said the average of the rent reductions so far was 23 per cent. Regarding the land league's war against all property he thought there was every indication that a great conspiracy had not only been confronted, but defeated

The ninth rule provides that when a member is named by the speaker or chairman for disregarding his authority or abusing the rules of the house the speaker shall forthwith propose his suspension, which if carried, shall on the first occasion be for a week, on the second for a month, and on the third for the remainder of the session. The tenth is intended to cut off debate

DAIRY DAINTIES. nd Day of the Belleville Conven

BELLEVILLE, Ont., Feb. 8.—The attend nce at the dairymens' convention was largely increased to-day. Prof. Bell, of Albert college, delivered the annual ad-of its principles.

Prof. Bell, of the agricultural college, spoke on the subject of permanent pasture, Root cultivation and permanent pasture were the foundation of the best agriculture. Ontario was not a grazing country and therefore it was necessary to devote attention to the cultivation of the different grasses. The speaker then described the various varieties of grasses, illustrating their comparative natures by means of diagrams.

their comparative natures by means of diagrams.

Hon. Harris Lewis spoke briefly in favor of a succession of grass crops, after which the meeting adjourned for dinner.

At the afternoon session Prof. Roberts, of Cornell university, read two short papers, one being "The science of developing and perpetuating milking qualities of darry cows." He condemned breeding from immature parents, and advocated the cultivation of valuable qualities by care and attention. The only means of perpetuating valuable qualities was by mixing of families.

The new search builds huts and goes over every inch of the region, which is ploughed by heavy drift ice every spring. The general health of the crew during the twenty one months' drift after entering the ice near Herald island was excellent. No scurvy appeared. We used distilled water and bear and seal meat twice a week. No rainwater was served. Divine service was regularly held. We took plenty of exercise. Everybody hunted. Game was scarce. We got about 30 bears, 250 seals and 6 walruss, but no fish or whales were seen. All possible observations were made in the idrift, the result showing that the northwest course ship was keeled over and heavily pressed by ice. Most of the time the mental strain was heavy on some of the ship's company. The result of the drift for the first five months was forty miles. The soundings were pretty even. They were 18 fathoms near Wrangel land, which was often visible, 75 miles distant. The greatest depths found was 80 fathoms, and the average 35. The bottom was blue mud. medical inhalations, combined with proper constitutional remedies.

Ozena is the professional or technical name given to an advanced form of catarrh in which ulceration has eaten through the membrane lining of the nose to the cartilage of the bone. Any case of catarrh may end in ozene, but it most frequently occurs in those who are naturally scrofulous. The discharge takes place through the nostrilor or through the throat, and is generally of a yellowish or greenish yellow color, frenquently tinged with blood, and himost always attented by an offensive smell. In the language of Dr. Wood, of Philadelphia, "the disease is one of the most obdurate and disagreeable which the physicians has to encounter. In bad cases the breath of the patient becomes so revolting as to issolate him from society, and to render him an object of disgust even to himself."

In some instances pieces of bone become separated and though off; leaving deep, unhealthy ulcers, which secrete a blood matter, and are extremely difficult to heal.

After Ozena has continued some time the sense scannes it causes a large share of the patient's discomfort.

Besides these grave consequences, all of which are liable to spring from scrofulous catarrh or Ozona, there are others which, if less dangerous, are sufficiently unpleasant. It occasions great unhapiness to thousands of both sexes, by isolating them and preventing their settlement in life. An offensive running from the nose, with foul breath, is about as great a calamity as can befall young people.

The treatment of this disease requires much care and perseverance to conduct it to a successful issue. The remedies must be carefully adapted to the stage of the disease in each case, and applied directly to the parts affected, which may be done by the patients themselves, whereever they may be, and without hindrance to their daily occupation.

I have seen so many of those cases saved by in-thief, was arrested by Detectives Weyl and Jeckson. He was highly indignant and denied all knowledge of the robbery.

The proofs, the detectives say, are positive. Henderson when arrested declared that he had long ago reformed, and was leading an honest life. To prove his assertions he said that he was engaged to a highly respectable young woman in South Ninth street. The detectives visited the house and found a young woman and a young man inside. The detectives visited the house and found a young moman and a young man inside. The detectives stated their errand briefly. "Can you prove what you say?" cried one of the girls, starting to her feet. "Yes," said one of the detectives. There was a half suppressed scream, a heavy fall, and one of the girls was stretched senseless on the floor. When she revived her grief was piteous. Rocking herself to and fro, she moaned as though her heart would break. At length she became composed, and declared that she would renounce her lover forever. She will visit police headquarters in the morn-

What is there that they can by any possibility do to help themselves in the against it. But the other one of the three principal parties concerned has always been more or less in its favor; and, as In so serious a matter, the public will already said, the pressure for amalgamation has always come from the Grand Trunk e in no mood to take up the question as side. All the pressure brought to bear, and oonundrum, the answer to which keeps the word of promise to the ear only, while all the many and various plans tried, have breaking it to the hope. We present it as a serious, practical question—a question which, as we hope to show, admits of a rational, practical answer. Holding it to be a point settled, then, that the existence of the various local lines as independent competitors cannot possibly be perpetuated, we ask next, what other form of competition is there left to us, which is really practicable, and capable of being continued for the general good. A certain optical illusion—the mere unsubstantial shadow of competition-being now in rapid course of vanishing away, what reality of competition is there that we can grasp and keep hold of? Looking all around, and especially taking a good look ahead, can we discern anything that will do "to tie to," as the Americans say? This is the real practical point in the railway question, and we propose to give a practical answer. answer is that competition of the local railways with the great through railways having definitively failed, our policy under the circumstances should be to develop of that ; the more railways, the cheaper Valley and the Midland, for example, being many railways of the "Glenmutchkin" class developed and sustained, on the large scale, should be built, or merely projected and between the Grand Trunk, the Great Westilt at all, what ern, and the Canadian Pacific. the various petty schemes which, under pre tence of conferring upon us what would be only a miserable penny's worth of competi tion, if ever obtained, would surely rob us of a pound's worth as soon as the game had been sufficiently played. The old proverb of "penny wise and pound foolish" has hardly ever had a more pointed illustration.

The sanctioning of these harrassing little bills would certainly go far to make Great Western proprietors reconsider whether it be really worth their while t continue the fight, seeing that the legislature and people of Ontario seem to think we have three. The difference between that the Grand Trunk may as well take the peninsula at ouce and make the most of it through to our own seaboard, and having Such action on the part of the Ontario two only, appears to be something worth House would be suicidal. DISCUSSION ON THE QUESTION OF CO-EDUCATION.

Should Women be Educated Together—Refused Admission to University College—An Important Debate—The Budget to be Brought Down Next Tuesday.

There was again a warm time over the boundary award in connection with a motion for a despatch which the premier refused to produce. A motion by Mr. Gibson brought on a discussion on the higher education of women in which that was favored by all speakers but Mr. Hay, who thought there was too much education and too many advanced education and too many advanced education institutions already, and also that the training was not sufficiently practical. Other speakers agreed that education for women and men should not be in the same lines nor co-education.

The was again a warm time over the professions when they were not, and the country already. What was needed was an education which would fit them for the practical duties of life. Institutions for higher education had been multiplied beyond the needs of the country already. He was opposed to a college for women, and the province would not sanction it.

Mr. Metcalf (Kingston) said Mr. Hay was a behind the age. He agreed with Dr. McLaughlan that women could not bear the same strain as men, and that their education should not be in the same lines nor co-education.

Mr. Deroche said there should be provi-Other speakers agreed that education for women and men should not be on the same lines, and the minister of education approved of the action of the University ollege authorities in refusing ladies adnission to lectures for the present.

Hon. Mr. Morris moved for further correspondence in reference to the boundary award.

Mr. Meredith said the premier was afraid to bring down the despatch. He had said he was willing to go to the privy council but that would be giving up Ontario's case. The despatch which had been printed and brought down was bitter in its tone and threatened the Dominion government with the results of the elections of 1883. government wit

Hon. Mr. Mowat said the oppositio leader was incorrect in stating what he said. He had said that the only reference that could be made now was to the privy council, that there could be no second arbitration. If both parties wished to refer it to the privy council, it could be done, but Ontario would in that case have to give up the award. The Ontario government up the award. The Ontario government had acted in the most friendly manner for three years, and had not even received a reply. The despatch asked for was only written after a months' consideration of the award. The Ontario government that from Ontario, to which it was a reply, and it and the answer to it would be brought down at the same time. The opposition could get the despatch from their friends at Ottawa, as parliament would be in

Hon. Mr. Wood said it was true that Hon. Mr. Wood said it was true that a change had been made, and that the meat had cost more. Tenders had formerly been made below the cost or good meat. Complaints were continually made about the quality of that supplied and the government had to make the change in order to procure good meat.

Mr. Gibson (Hamilton) moved for a return of number of females who had applied for admittance to any of the lectures of IIniversity college and the results of such IIniversity college and the Results of Such Residuing Association: turn of number of females who had applied for admittance to any of the lectures of University college and the results of such applications, with the correspondence. He said that in consequence of the improvement of the secondary or high school education many young ladies had passed the first examination for the college. Fifty-four young ladies in college. Fifty-four young ladies in all had passed these examinations, and at least as creditably as male competitors. The subject was an important one. The senate of the university had made pro-vision for local examinations of women, and these had been taken advantage of from year to year in larger numbers. Some ladies had gone on to the third year. Nothing but a free and full admission to all the advantages of university college would sa isfy the ladies. Some ladies had applied for admission, and there was a mutual desire on the part of the ladies and the college authorities to do what was best. But the latter had come to the conclusion But the latter had come to the conclusion that it was not well in the interests of discipline that there should be co-education at present. He thought there was nothing in the act authorizing the exclusion of ladies from college. He did not think that if permitted they would attend in as large numbers as males. The influence of ladies taking a higher course of education would be very beneficial. He was not afraid of ladies attending the college lectures, and they ought to be admitted now to at least some of the lectures. If the present decision of the colleges authorities was approved by the colleges authorities was approved by the government he hoped they saw their way to the establishment of a special institu. WM. to the establishment of a special institution for ladies.

Dr. McLaughlin said education was given to citizens that they might the better discharge their duties in life. Co-education of mind and body ought to be the rule, but not co-education of the sexes, for there was a radical difference in their mind. Girls never excelled in mathematics and metaphysics, and should not take the same course as boys. College courses had been a lapted to the professions followed by men, and girls were intended for a different life. Girls were physically unequal ferent life. Girls were physically unequal to the same study. They were more to the same study. They were more lived the same study. They were more lived to the same study are lived to the same study. They make the same study are same study are same study are same s to the same study. They were more ambitious than boys, and made greater exertions while taking less exercise. Women in was largely owing to the difference in education. Provision had been made for the higher education of women in England, but women had not been subjected to the same severe examinations as men. The ladies should have a separate institution. A course of lectures delivered in Toronto for ladies had been well attended, but because they were adapted for women. ladies had been well attended, but because they were adapted for women, and that was what was needed, Hon. Mr. Deroche said there should be provision for the higher education of ladies as these was for men. He did not speak of the character of the education. They acknowled their responsibility in the common and high schools, and should in more advanced education. A large proportion of the teachers were women, and those in higher positions had to go abroad for their training. The house should record its decision in favor of provision being made for the higher education of women in the manner best suited for them. The tendency to the professions was not because of education, but because of the social system which gave

He never sticks pins in the speaker's legs,

Or moves folks' hats from their proper pegs;

He seldom bothers the house by speaking,

And is not given to stupid "leaking."

The consequence is, he'll be made a sheriff

When he's helped us to bottle the present tariff.

NEW ORLEANS, Feb. 8.—Ryan's left jaw is broken in two places. While he was fighting some rascal entered his room and stole all his clothes and $300. The contest lasted eleven minutes, but the actual fighting time was only air minutes. Sulfighting time was only six minutes. Sullivan's backers intend challenging the world with him for any amount of money, and will probably take him to Europe should he not find a customer in this country.

E COMMITTEE ON WORKS.

At the regular meeting of the committee on waterworks held yesterday it was decided to advertise for tenders for the supply of sixty hydrants with the privilege of taking more if required.

The sisters of St. Joseph complained of the increase in the water rate for the last menth from $50 to $150. The chairman said he would send the inspector up to the convent to see if there was not a waste of water, there being a metre in the building.

It was decided to order a quantity of supplies, consisting of lead pipe, brass, &c., also several articles for the waterworks wharf, engine rooms, &c.

Mr. Maughan asked for a return of the number of water-takers outside the city limits. He thouget it was a premium of fered to parties to live outside the city to escape taxation.

The secretary stated that the number was only nine,

Ald. Maughan called the attention of the committee to the necessity of placing more hydrants at the Northern railway at Brock street. He said that in case of fire much loss would be sustained by the Northern railway company.

Ald. Sheppard was opposed to placing the hydrants there until the company took some steps towards protecting its own pro-

Ald. Evans said that in case the build ings were destroyed a large number of men would be thrown out of employment. On that account he would be willing to increase the numb r of hydrants.
