pleased at the idea of leaving his comfortable bed. "Why in being, doctor. What shall I do?" came across the wire.

"Oh! perhaps it's a pin," suggested the doctor, recognizing the voice of a young mother, one of his patients.

"No," was the reply. "I'm sure I can't be that."

"Perhaps he has the colic," returned the doctor, with well-simulated solicitude.

"No, I don't think so," replied the anxious mother: "he doesn't act that way."

"Then perhaps he's hungry," said the doctor, as a last resort. "Oh! I'll see" came across the wire, and then all was still.

The doctor went back to bed, and was soon asleep again. About half an hour afterward, he was again awakened by the violent ringing of the telephone bell.

Jumping out of bed and placing the receiver to his ear, he was cheered by the following message: "You are right, doctor! baby was hungry."

GENERAL NOTES AND NEWS. Cholera continues to spread in Italy. BARD'S FRENCH OINTMENT cures itching of the scalp, or other eruptions thereon.

BARRA—The Roman Catholic Diocese of Barrabarra will open their Annual Mass on Tuesday, 3rd August. It will continue four or five days. The proceeds are for the new Church in course of erection at that place.

A MOONLIGHT EXCURSION is to take place to-night on the Steamers Nelson and Miramichi. There will be music and dancing. A run will be made up river, the Nelson leaving Chatham at 11 p. m. for Douglastown, Newcastle and Nelson.

OUR RESPECTFUL FELLOW—A Blackville correspondent writes to me glowing terms of the eloquence of the head of the Chatham Police contingent in his address to the crowd at Blackville Station on Tuesday last. He says that Messrs. Mitchell and Adams were thrown in the shade altogether by Mr. Rigby's good and interesting speech.

1102.—Miramichi Council No. 441, Royal Arctican, is opened for regular duty on the first and third Fridays of each month, in their rooms, Masonic Hall, Chatham, N. B. John S. Benson, M. J. Regeant and Medical Examiner, Wm. Wilson, Collector; John Featheringham, Secretary. Present membership of the order, 62,000.

OBITUARY.—Mrs Alex Reid of St. John while making summer visit to her daughter Mrs Henry A. Mitchell, died last week, stricken with paralysis from which she did not recover, and died on Tuesday of this week. The remains were taken to St. John by the express train Tuesday night and the funeral will take place in that city to-day. Married last the year, she had a large circle of friends in her bereavement.

ST. JOHN'S CHURCH BARRA, held on Tuesday afternoon and evening in the Chatham Skating Rink, was an unqualified success. The sum realized, including returns from articles reserved for special purchase, will be about $200. The ladies and gentlemen in charge have every reason to congratulate themselves on the perfection of their arrangements and the practical good will manifested by the whole community towards their Church and pastor, Rev. Neil McKay. Mrs. McKay was, during the evening the recipient of a valuable gift purchased by members of the congregation.

Returned from Camp.—On Saturday last the 73rd Battalion returned home from Camp Sussex after a very pleasant and profitable sojourn on the tented field. They marched through the principal streets headed by their Band, which is showing rapid improvement.

The officers and men are all enthusiastic over the way in which the Camp was conducted and with good reason. The Company also carried off the Commandant's prize for general tidiness about the Camp, which speaks well for the smartness displayed by the young men who compose the Chatham Company. No. 4 and No. 5 Co. also carried off the prize for tidiness. The following are the winners of first prizes at the ball firing during Camp.

- 73d BATTALION. 1st Co. Private John Kendall. 2d Co. Sergeant John Thompson. 3d Co. Private Jas. Dickson. 4th Co. Sergeant Wm. Welling. 5th Co. Private J. Cameron.

No. 2 Co. paraded in review order on Sunday and marched to St. Andrew's Church, Chatham, where the Rev. E. W. Waite, preached an eloquent sermon appropriate to the occasion.

The Newcastle Field Battery kept up the reputation of the North Shore—for main strength and staying qualities, having defeated a team from every corps in Camp in the Tag of War contest. Would it not be as well now, since our military organizations are so good, for the citizens to encourage them and keep them up in good shape, so that we may have some good soldiers to work upon when asking that the next camp be held on the Miramichi. When it is taken into consideration that it took $40,000 to put the late camp through at Sussex and that our own Battalion of five companies brought back to the Town of Chatham and vicinity some twelve hundred dollars in wages since for 12 days drill. Citizens of all classes will see it is to their advantage to give every encouragement to this element of the public service.

Blackville Notes.

I see in your paper from many other places in the province, but few write you a short sketch. The crops in general look well, but farmers are anxious for more rain. Potatoes have commenced their heavy again and Paris Green and London Purple are in great demand.

The Methodist Picnic, which excited here from Chatham on Dominion Day will be held on the 20th inst. at Blackville. The sports were hotly contested between Blackville and Chatham boys, especially the "tag of war," which was won by Chatham, but rather by trickery than man's force. The foot race was won by Mr. E. E. Sullivan, Agent at Blackville Station, throwing heavy hammer by A. R. McDougall. The other sports were about equally divided between Blackville and Chatham.

Our Station Agent discharges his duties faithfully and well and is a very accommodating young man. The Station, Freight House, etc. at Blackville are being painted and begin to look very attractive. Mr. Fayle is doing the work.

The work of locating the Indian Branch Extension has been commenced by Mr. D. W. Brown, C. E., Mr. D. H. McNeil has contracted to build it. Other merchants are doing quite a good business in general, especially Messrs Scott Fairley and B. T. Underhill, who do an extensive lumbering trade. Work on the N & W Railway is being pushed rapidly forward. Rails are now being laid at the rate of half a mile per day.

Last but not least some of our young ladies are returning home from Boston and elsewhere looking as beautiful as the Summer Rose.

Diocesan Synod.

THE APPOINTMENT OF DR. JACK to the University Senate was a graceful act on the part of the government. Dr. Jack's long connection with the university will render him able to offer many valuable suggestions, and it will be a source of pleasure to those who graduated under him to know that he is still connected with the institution.—Frost Gleason.

ELECTION CASE.—On Saturday afternoon his honor Judge Tuck held the arguments of Attorney General Blair and Mr. E. L. Wetmore, in the matter of the petition against the return of Mr. Theriault. A number of preliminary objections were taken, the most important of which was as to the service of the writ upon Mr. Theriault, who does not reside in the Province of New Brunswick and is, therefore, out of the jurisdiction of this court. His honor will give decision in the matter this week.

Chief Justice Allen has dismissed the petition against the Albert County M. P.'s, but suspended the operation of the order until Oct. 1, to give the petitioners an opportunity to amend. The ground on which the petition was dismissed is that the petitioners had not shown that they were aggrieved by the election.

Hon. D. L. HILGERSOP was in town last evening, and was in very excellent humor, notwithstanding his political defeat. Mr. Harrington was at the recent Synod meetings here, and took an active part in the business. There is a gentleman named Blair, a member of the synod for one of the county districts, and Mr. Harrington desired to have him on a committee. His honor and the "speaker" of the synod—the Metropolitan, Wm. Wilson, Collector; John Featheringham, Secretary. Present membership of the order, 62,000.

At the Diocesan Church Society meeting on G. A. Blair, Secy. of the Executive Committee, was present. He was accompanied by Mr. J. L. McDonald, formerly of Chatham, whose labors of a few years ago have been crowned with great success. The people of the church there, though not very many in numbers, make up for this in their efforts to second those of their pastor in the building up and increase of their congregation. In providing themselves with a new Church and other surroundings for the proper rendering of their solemn services, they have been aided to the sympathy and substantial aid of many in the community not of their faith—a gratifying fact. The ladies and gentlemen in charge have every reason to congratulate themselves on the perfection of their arrangements and the practical good will manifested by the whole community towards their Church and pastor, Rev. Neil McKay. Mrs. McKay was, during the evening the recipient of a valuable gift purchased by members of the congregation.

Lawlessness on the Railway. Northumberland has been treated to a taste of labor law and lawlessness on a much smaller scale, but embracing some of the elements which characterized the Chicago and St. Louis troubles. Blackville being the centre of the lawless operations. The result is that three of the men concerned are now in Chatham Lockup, being held for examination before the Hon. Magistrate Blair, while others of the gang are endeavoring to make their escape. The names of the men said to be principally responsible are Bernard McCormack, Brian McCarthy, Jas. McDonald, Thomas McCarthy and Dennis McGill. The catalogue of their misdoings individually and collectively cover instances of more or less gravity, from the simple act of tampering with the telegraph wires to the more serious acts of robbing and the most aggravated forms of intimidation and molestation of men engaged in their legitimate work. For several months past they have done about as they pleased in Blackville and vicinity, molesting, abusing and beating whom they would and setting law and order at defiance, their lawlessness culminating in what threatened to be a serious strike last on Monday last, followed by the arrest of the three last named on Tuesday.

The particular offences for which the accused are held were committed on Monday last, when they began the day's work by using threatening language and firing revolver-shots in the village of Blackville. They proceeded to the railway station and there made a declaration of their intentions. Among the latter were the fixing and maintaining of the rate of wages on the railway, the prohibition of any butchers but those of Blackville doing business at the station, and the stopping of the line of the railway store, the prevention of picks and other tools used on the railway being sent away from Blackville to be pointed, etc. They had flags with them and their proclamation was emphasized by the flourishing and discharge of revolvers and the announcement of the intended execution and burial on the spot of the Railway manager. They proceeded up the track nearly half a mile from the station, where a large gang of men were at work in a ballast pit, and proclaiming their orders, intimidated the better-dressed laborers and induced the others to join them, putting an end to the work of construction at that point. They then boarded the engine at the pit and ordered driver David Vanstone to convey their party—low a large one—up the line to the station, where they were to be put to work. The driver, however, refused to move without orders, and after vainly endeavoring to make him go, they marched the whole distance. Arrived at the pit, they helped themselves to the contents of the men's dinner cans, and forced the men to quit their work, flourishing and discharging their revolvers to intimidate them, as they had also done at the pit. Seven miles further up a gang of men were laying rails and they proceeded to the station and stopped the work, even going a further distance to where Mr. Lyle was putting in rail levels and making his assistant knock off.

No. 15 engine, with a number of flat cars was at the railway point in charge of Conductor Hardy and the outlaws boarded this train and ordered him to run down to Blackville, but neither driver nor conductor could be induced to move until their regular hour. The distinguished party of "regulators" helped themselves to a free ride and on reaching Blackville the five chiefs went into council together on the question of the morrow's work, it being understood that they were to take charge of railway and village affairs generally the next day. That night the five named above slept together in a house near Blackville. Bridget, the next morning a constabulary force headed by deputy Sheriff Cassidy and policeman Rigley and numbering about twelve men went by train from Chatham to the scene of the outbreak and found that the men had fled. They were captured in due course, but not until they had given the posse an exciting chase and a long hunt for him in a bit of woods a few hundred yards from the station. Brian McCarthy and Bernard McCormack, who were just approaching the scene taking the alarm and, like all bulling cowards, running away and succeeding in slaking the others up to latest advice.

The Stipendiary Magistrate's hearing of the charges against the prisoners is set down for to-day and will, no doubt, be watched with much interest.

Diocesan Synod.

Resolved That this Synod recognize the evil of Intemperance as one of the greatest obstacles to the growth of Christ's Kingdom.

And Further Resolved, That in the opinion of this Synod, the Church of England should be found in the front ranks in the contest against this gigantic evil, and that the Clergy and Laity of this Diocese be called upon resolutely to oppose the evil, and to encourage every legitimate effort to suppress it.

The mover stated he would not make any remark on the subject further than to say that he hoped the Synod would be the means of encouraging the organization of temperance societies in connection with the Church of England in the Diocese.

Rev. G. O. Troop asked the privilege of seconding the motion. While the members differed as to the means to be adopted to remedy the evil, they all agreed that intemperance was a curse.

Rev. L. A. Hoy asked that the following notice be reworded:—That a committee of three members be appointed, at least being laymen, from each diocese, appointed to the means of encouraging the organization of temperance societies in connection with the Church of England in the Diocese.

The Synod then adjourned sine die.

Lawlessness on the Railway. Northumberland has been treated to a taste of labor law and lawlessness on a much smaller scale, but embracing some of the elements which characterized the Chicago and St. Louis troubles. Blackville being the centre of the lawless operations. The result is that three of the men concerned are now in Chatham Lockup, being held for examination before the Hon. Magistrate Blair, while others of the gang are endeavoring to make their escape. The names of the men said to be principally responsible are Bernard McCormack, Brian McCarthy, Jas. McDonald, Thomas McCarthy and Dennis McGill. The catalogue of their misdoings individually and collectively cover instances of more or less gravity, from the simple act of tampering with the telegraph wires to the more serious acts of robbing and the most aggravated forms of intimidation and molestation of men engaged in their legitimate work. For several months past they have done about as they pleased in Blackville and vicinity, molesting, abusing and beating whom they would and setting law and order at defiance, their lawlessness culminating in what threatened to be a serious strike last on Monday last, followed by the arrest of the three last named on Tuesday.

The particular offences for which the accused are held were committed on Monday last, when they began the day's work by using threatening language and firing revolver-shots in the village of Blackville. They proceeded to the railway station and there made a declaration of their intentions. Among the latter were the fixing and maintaining of the rate of wages on the railway, the prohibition of any butchers but those of Blackville doing business at the station, and the stopping of the line of the railway store, the prevention of picks and other tools used on the railway being sent away from Blackville to be pointed, etc. They had flags with them and their proclamation was emphasized by the flourishing and discharge of revolvers and the announcement of the intended execution and burial on the spot of the Railway manager. They proceeded up the track nearly half a mile from the station, where a large gang of men were at work in a ballast pit, and proclaiming their orders, intimidated the better-dressed laborers and induced the others to join them, putting an end to the work of construction at that point. They then boarded the engine at the pit and ordered driver David Vanstone to convey their party—low a large one—up the line to the station, where they were to be put to work. The driver, however, refused to move without orders, and after vainly endeavoring to make him go, they marched the whole distance. Arrived at the pit, they helped themselves to the contents of the men's dinner cans, and forced the men to quit their work, flourishing and discharging their revolvers to intimidate them, as they had also done at the pit. Seven miles further up a gang of men were laying rails and they proceeded to the station and stopped the work, even going a further distance to where Mr. Lyle was putting in rail levels and making his assistant knock off.

No. 15 engine, with a number of flat cars was at the railway point in charge of Conductor Hardy and the outlaws boarded this train and ordered him to run down to Blackville, but neither driver nor conductor could be induced to move until their regular hour. The distinguished party of "regulators" helped themselves to a free ride and on reaching Blackville the five chiefs went into council together on the question of the morrow's work, it being understood that they were to take charge of railway and village affairs generally the next day. That night the five named above slept together in a house near Blackville. Bridget, the next morning a constabulary force headed by deputy Sheriff Cassidy and policeman Rigley and numbering about twelve men went by train from Chatham to the scene of the outbreak and found that the men had fled. They were captured in due course, but not until they had given the posse an exciting chase and a long hunt for him in a bit of woods a few hundred yards from the station. Brian McCarthy and Bernard McCormack, who were just approaching the scene taking the alarm and, like all bulling cowards, running away and succeeding in slaking the others up to latest advice.

The Stipendiary Magistrate's hearing of the charges against the prisoners is set down for to-day and will, no doubt, be watched with much interest.

Diocesan Synod.

And Further Resolved, That in the opinion of this Synod, the Church of England should be found in the front ranks in the contest against this gigantic evil, and that the Clergy and Laity of this Diocese be called upon resolutely to oppose the evil, and to encourage every legitimate effort to suppress it.

The mover stated he would not make any remark on the subject further than to say that he hoped the Synod would be the means of encouraging the organization of temperance societies in connection with the Church of England in the Diocese.

Rev. G. O. Troop asked the privilege of seconding the motion. While the members differed as to the means to be adopted to remedy the evil, they all agreed that intemperance was a curse.

Rev. L. A. Hoy asked that the following notice be reworded:—That a committee of three members be appointed, at least being laymen, from each diocese, appointed to the means of encouraging the organization of temperance societies in connection with the Church of England in the Diocese.

The Synod then adjourned sine die.

At the Diocesan Church Society meeting on G. A. Blair, Secy. of the Executive Committee, was present. He was accompanied by Mr. J. L. McDonald, formerly of Chatham, whose labors of a few years ago have been crowned with great success. The people of the church there, though not very many in numbers, make up for this in their efforts to second those of their pastor in the building up and increase of their congregation. In providing themselves with a new Church and other surroundings for the proper rendering of their solemn services, they have been aided to the sympathy and substantial aid of many in the community not of their faith—a gratifying fact. The ladies and gentlemen in charge have every reason to congratulate themselves on the perfection of their arrangements and the practical good will manifested by the whole community towards their Church and pastor, Rev. Neil McKay. Mrs. McKay was, during the evening the recipient of a valuable gift purchased by members of the congregation.
