ANNEXATION OF KOREA IS CERTAIN

This Development is Only a Matter of Time

Depends on How Readily Koreans Give Up What They Owe to the Japanese—To Open Port Arthur.

TOKIO, Monday, Dec. 20.—The decision of the Japanese government to open Port Arthur as a free commercial port of entry has been under consideration for considerable time and while the official announcement has been made upon the subject it is learned from very reliable sources that the plan will be consummated in a very short time.

TOKIO, Monday, Dec. 20.—The possible annexation of Korea to Japan is the intention of taking steps looking to the annexation of Korea. That annexation is very probable at some time in the not far future is certain, but the policy of the Japanese government, it is said, is the same as it was when Prince Ito was the resident-general of Korea, which means that if the Koreans lend themselves to the Japanese protectorate in such manner as to enable Japan to develop the resources of Korea and make of Korea a valuable ally, actual annexation will be indefinitely postponed, otherwise it is the only step remaining. The leading newspapers of Tokio are divided on the question.

DEMANDS RELEASE OF INNOCENT P. E. I. MAN

Governor MacKinnon Takes a Hand in Minnesota Case

Alex. MacKenzie Has Served Five Years for the Murder of Dutch Henry Who Was Killed a Few Days Ago.

ST. PAUL, Minn., Jan. 14.—Governor Eberhart received yesterday from Lieut. Governor McKinnon of Prince Edward Island, Canada, a letter calling the attention of the Minnesota executive to the killing by the Northwest Mounted Police on Monday near Muddy River, Sask., of "Dutch" Henry, alias Henry Stewart, a notorious northwestern desperado, and demanding in the name of the Dominion of Canada the freedom of Alexander MacKenzie, who has been serving five years on a life sentence for the alleged murder of the outlaw.

Daniel McKenzie, the aged father of the convict, at one time was a member of the Prince Edward Island legislature. He is on his way to Winnipeg to secure proof of the slain man's identity from the Northwest Mounted Police for presentation to the Minnesota government.

Governor Eberhart commenced an investigation last night and an exercise of executive clemency is expected when the father comes to St. Paul.

Alexander MacKenzie was sentenced from Rotseau County in August, 1905, for murder in the first degree.

SEVERAL ACCIDENTS IN UPPER CANADA

Girl Caught in Machinery in Knitting Mill

Employer at Hawkesbury Badly Mangled—Case of Immorality—Jebb's Message to Toronto.

QUELPH, Ont., Jan. 14.—Beatrice Miller, 15 years old, while at work in the Royal Knitting Co.'s mills here, became entangled in some belting and the power caught her so that she was drawn in and wound round the shafting.

Practically every stitch of clothing was stripped from her body but beyond some nasty bruises the girl was not seriously hurt.

HAWKESBURY, Ont., Jan. 14.—Arthur Vale, aged 31 years, employed in a mill here, got his foot caught in a pulp machine so badly that the machine had to be broken to release him.

This took some time. Vale was badly crushed and died within two hours. He leaves a widow and five children.

HUNTSVILLE, Ont., Jan. 14.—Jeremiah Clayton, of Dorset, is in jail here charged by his daughters, Ella May, aged 17 years, and Bertha Annie, aged 15, with serious offences. The oldest daughter gave birth to a child last March and she claims her own parent to be the father of the infant.

The child died a month later under circumstances which are now being investigated.

HUNTSVILLE, Ont., Jan. 14.—Mrs. Josephine Trepanier attempted to light rags soaked in gasoline for the purpose of burning out a chimney, when she was burst into flame and her clothing caught fire. The woman was so badly burned before help arrived that she died at Hotel Dieu a few hours later.

TORONTO, Jan. 14.—E. A. Duvenet, K. C., has received from Richard Jebb a message for friends in Toronto who supported Jebb's claims to the East End Commission in London. No reply has been as yet received from Balfour, to whom the Toronto cable was addressed. Jebb's message says: "Please convey my heartfelt thanks to friends for their non-party appeal."

SERIOUS FIRES TODAY IN ROCHESTER AND CHICAGO

Wholesale Bakery Burned—Employer Rescued by Chinese—Loss of $300,000 in Chicago Hide Plant.

CHICAGO, Jan. 14.—Fire early today almost destroyed the six story building occupied by the Chicago Raw Hide Company. The damage is said to be $300,000. Several other buildings were slightly damaged.

ROCHESTER, N. Y., Jan. 14.—Benjamin C. Harned's wholesale and retail bakery and restaurant in the heart of the city was gutted by fire for the second time in a few months this morning.

Henry Schultz, a baker, was pinned in the basement of the building by the flames. Ing Guey, a Chinese restaurant keeper, chopped down a partition with a meat cleaver and rescued the imprisoned baker. Guests at the Hotel Eggleston, adjoining the Harned building, were aroused and hurried from the hotel to the street below, where a heavy snow storm made them extremely uncomfortable. No one was hurt, however. The total loss is about $250,000.

GERMANY BIDDING FOR CANADA'S TRADE

Many Incidents Tend to Influence the Election

Canada's Tariff Prosperity and Chamberlain's Great Appeal Principal Subjects of Comment.

LONDON, Jan. 14.—At the moment Canada takes a front place in the ever changing political landscape. Today's most forceful cartoon is by Matthews, a Canadian artist, and bears the ironical label "Free Trade Means Free Food." It depicts the miserable down-at-the-heel out-of-work on the embankment snatching a quarter loaf of bread and bowl of soup from the hand of charity under the eye of a London policeman.

Special cablegrams from Ottawa, Montreal and Toronto, which occupy the first columns in Unionist papers, picture Canadian prosperity with high pay and steady work under the tariff. Sir John Macdonald's 1891 election address is starred in capitals as showing how Canada owes her existence to a policy which wider application will stimulate British prosperity and quicken Imperial unity.

Today's special messages from Berlin show the eagerness of Germany to undermine British trade in Canada by securing the Canadian tariff.

The Berliner Tageblatt says: "In this manner Germany could establish and secure her imperial influence in a country which is the source of ten years will rank on an equality with the United States."

On top of this comes Chamberlain's manifesto to the nations which the Times says "brilliantly a large to the Empire, appeals to the noble emotions of which men, drugged with the ordinary election addresses, are sometimes tempted to forget themselves capable of. Crude affliction has driven Chamberlain into retirement, but these ringing sentences selected by himself from his greatest speeches set forth the whole subject from the lofty standpoint of one who disdains petty quarrels of the moment and fixes the gaze upon the enduring realities of national greatness." Chamberlain's personal messages sent yesterday to the electors of West Birmingham are making him the first unopposed member of the new parliament reads: "England expects Birmingham to be true to the past and will not be disappointed. Where Birmingham leads all England will follow."

Today's special messages include Hon. Odo Vivian, heir to Baron Swansea, who says he never regretted anything more than voting Liberal in 1906; managing director of War and Co., leather manufacturers of Worcester; Sir David Solomon, ex-Radical candidate; Robert Durston, the first Liberal lord mayor of Liverpool; Sir Henry Vernon of the well known Liberal family.

In the American market of the stock exchange this morning a bet was taken of 2500 to 2400 on the return of medicals. Elsewhere on the exchange betting is 5 to 4, and even for smaller amounts. A fortnight ago Lincoln gave 2 to 1. On the other hand securities are being put up in anticipation of Liberal reform.

ST. LOUIS, Mo., Jan. 14.—The last of the ice gorges in the Mississippi River went out today, bringing high water and an avalanche of ice on shipping. The loss exceeds $100,000. The river is rising rapidly and is clogged with ice banks 18 feet high. The ferryboat Madison, valued at $3,000, was sunk at Madison yesterday. The excursion steamer City of Providence is adrift and in imminent danger. More than a thousand men worked along the levee last night to save small craft. Scores of launches, barges and house boats went to the bottom yesterday. The steamer Saturn burned to the water's edge last night while caught in an ice jam and Captain Thomas and his crew of five men had a narrow escape.

MISSISSIPPI RIVER IS NOW FREE OF ICE

ALL TRAINS HELD UP BY HEAVY SNOWSTORMS

Traffic Suspended in the Middle West—Passengers Stalled All Along the Line.

DETROIT, Jan. 14.—Owing to snowdrifts more than a dozen passenger trains laden with passengers are stalled in front of Grand Rapids. They were marooned last night. Rescue trains and snowplows share the same fate, and as far as known every passenger and freight train in that region that is not held up in the railroad yards is dead in some drift with no hope of getting out until the storm subsides.

CANCER AND THE SIMPLE LIFE.

Dr. Robt. Bell, an eminent English surgeon, who has made a life study of cancer, has reached the conclusion, among others, that one of the surest safeguards against this disease is to be found in leading the simple life. He does not, however, point out just what conditions of modern life are responsible for the development of the affection. Sir Robert finds that the death rate in England from cancer has increased from 0.55 per thousand of population in 1885, to 0.92 per thousand last year, or nearly double. And in spite of the enormous amount of study on the part of the scientists, no important advance actually has been made in discovering either the cause or cure for this malady. In advocating a simple life Dr. Bell says that cancer rates are unknown in Brittany. Nor has he in all his experience ever heard of or met with a vegetarian who had become a victim of this disease. He admits that vegetarians are rare and that the latter fact might or might not be significant, but it is actually true that the Britons are famous for their abstemious diet. These people still lead the lives and follow the customs that their forefathers did hundreds of years ago. They live the simplest of simple lives and Dr. Bell believes that perhaps these people could teach modern science something of what is to be avoided in life if cancer is to be overcome.

FREIGHT RATES.

Upper Canadian merchants appear to be greatly troubled over the announced increase in west bound freight rates on steamship lines trading between Canada and European ports. As yet the increase affects only certain lines including dry goods, millinery and hardware, but it is said that the conference which meets at the close of the present week will arrange new schedules for other lines as well. Steamship companies operating to Boston, and certain other American ports, have also announced increases on a few lines of goods, their new rates being made the same as those to St. John, and it is reported that the companies doing business to New York and Philadelphia will follow the example set by the Boston lines. Strong protest is being made by upper Canadian importers against this action on the part of the Canadian lines, not so much because of the increase as by reason of the fact that it will be brought into effect without any warning. Importers in many cases have made contracts for sales of goods covering their whole winter's delivery and are therefore unable to reimburse themselves from their customers for the additional cost in freight charges. They will therefore be subject to considerable losses on contracts now made but still unfilled, which losses in a number of cases, it is said, will be well up in the thousands. Another argument used against this increase is that it will prove a serious blow at the British preference. The extra freight charges it is contended will overcome the advantage now enjoyed by Britain and will result in a greater demand for the output of industrial concerns across the line. Mr. Bosworth, fourth vice-president of the C. P. E., who is now in England, ridicules this idea but does not offer any argument to refute the contentions of the Canadian importers.

ORGANIZE.

In the present movement to boost St. John a great deal may be accomplished by effective organization. The Board of Trade has undertaken the general supervision of the campaign, the newspapers of the city are acting together in forwarding it, and individual citizens are showing an awakened interest. But outside of this none of the important groups or factors in civic life as yet displayed any marked activity. There are numerous institutions and organizations which could accomplish more as such, than their members can do individually, and if these were to join heartily in the work now being carried on the result would be of the utmost importance. Different associations, wholesale merchants, hardware men, trades' unions, of which there are many, athletic organizations and all such institutions, whether in mercantile, sporting or social lines, might by adopting a definite policy of patronage for home industries materially aid in the excellent work which is now to be inaugurated. These bodies have frequent opportunities for discussion and might take up subjects of local and civic importance and by the presentation of individual views develop valuable ideas whereby the progress of the city can be enhanced. It is of course in the home that the great work is to be accomplished, for that is the source of all strength, and the sentiment which is developed there influences all matters of business. In each family there can be aroused a larger interest in the advancement of the city—and there is no doubt that this is now being accomplished—it will mean much, but while this is going on the organizations referred to can find opportunity for valuable action along the lines suggested.

Mr. Bourassa has joined the lonely band led and hitherto solely composed of Mr. Monk, who believes that Canada does not need and does not want a navy. Politics makes strange bedfellows, but these two have a common characteristic—they like to be different. It does not matter in the least what the position may be, they are satisfied if it is contrary to the view of the majority.

Of course Canada doesn't need a navy. This country will never need a navy, for that matter, so long as the people in the old land can raise enough money to maintain Britain's supremacy. But is not such an attitude on the part of a growing nation thoroughly creditable to a rich Dominion?

Bonar Law, says a London cable, will be a member of Balfour's cabinet if the Unionists win. They won't win this time, but other elections are coming. And some of these days Bonar Law will be in about the same position as Asquith is now.

ST. JOHN IS GOING AHEAD.

☞ The Sun and Star want to help it grow.

☞ Do you?

☞ Will you lend a hand for a boost?

☞ We want a slogan, a phrase of progress, a battlecry—call it what you will.

☞ Something that will boil the gospel of go-ahead down to half a dozen words in a sentence that will hit home like a hammer blow.

☞ Something that the papers can use for a headline or business men on a letter head.

☞ If you can think of a good slogan, send it in.

☞ The Sun and Star will pay $10 for the best slogan, and $5 for the next best.

☞ Scores have already been received—all of them good. Send more. The list closes Jan. 14

SUSPECTED OF MURDER, HE CUT HIS THROAT

Coachman Tries to Throw Blame on Japanese Butler When Questioned

Blame—Still Alive

POUGHKEEPSIE, N. Y., Jan. 13.—Frank Schermerhorn, coachman on the Compton place, cut his throat today but he is still alive. Chief McCabe found him in his home near his employer's place. Just before he attempted suicide suspicion had pointed to him as the slayer of Sarah Brymer. He is being brought to the hospital here. "I am not guilty," said the coachman. "I would rather die than go to jail." Schermerhorn was taken into custody and his wound was dressed by a physician, after which he was brought to the county jail here. On the table in the room the chief found a note which read: "My dear wife: I am not guilty. "FRANK."

Schermerhorn was too weak to make much of a statement. He did say, however, that he stood watching under a window of the Compton mansion while the Japanese butler committed the crime. This statement he policed discredit. They say there is no doubt that Schermerhorn strangled the governess to death.

The Evening Chit-Chat

By RUTH CAMERON

I heard an accusation against my sex the other day that I very much fear has quite a deal of justice in it. I wish every woman who reads this would think it over and if she acknowledges the justice would do all she individually can to make it less just. A school teacher made the accusation. She said: "I dislike to discipline girls far more than I do boys because the girls are so much more resentful than boys. "If you punish a boy he may stare up tremulously at the time, but he forgets it as soon as it is over. "But if you punish a girl she lays it up against you and acts injured for days and is resentful for months."

I think it is largely this tendency which keeps most women from being good "sports" in the finer sense of the word "sports." Resentfulness is a weakness of small minds. Of course I do not mean that all women possess this trait by any means or that no men are afflicted with it, but I do think it is a trifle more common among women than men. And the women who get rid of it the farther they will have traveled on the road to being universally acknowledged as man's equal in every respect.

Most people don't seem to realize somehow that cold air can be just as stale and close as hot air.

In the summer if a room has been all shut up for a few hours, when we go into it we say, "How close and stale the air is," and we promptly throw open the windows.

But in the winter we leave the same room shut up for twice as many hours and then just because the air is cold we do not realize that it is stale and merely turn on the heat instead of opening the windows when we go into it.

If we systematically opened the windows in our living rooms and dining rooms and chambers several times a day and aired out I fancy a good many of us would be healthier.

"We would never get the house warm if we did that," I can hear the cold buyer exclaiming. Please don't forget, my friend, that fresh air is very much easier to heat than stale.

Is your card with your full address upon it in your glasses case? Suppose you lose your glasses to-morrow? If your card is not in the case that means that you regain them by paying out quite a little money for advertising or that you simply give them up or that you pay out the money for advertising without regaining them.

Is any of these things satisfactory as simply being informed by the holder of the whereabouts of your glasses as you doubtless would be if your card were in the case? It is an extremely small thing, almost too small to remind you of, but maybe it's one of those little things that you always meant to do and always put off until to-morrow.

In that case, why don't you just do it and do it tonight?

THE LIGHTER SIDE OF LIFE

MIMMA BELLA. Where Mimma lies, some nameless children sleep. Whose graves in the obliterating grass sink slowly, as the empty seasons pass. And look like waves upon Time's slow-heaving deep. No tears, no flowers; save when Spring-time weeps Upon them, of the breeze with faint "Alas!" Brings them stray petals from the flowers' mass. Upon some grave that Love and Sorrow keep.

Who were they? No one knows. But theirs this wreath Of fourteen berries, that a stranger brings With blossoms for his child that sleeps beneath.

For life, their names are faint forgotten things. But now within the large book of Death Their names are written with the names of kings.

NEW COLORS FOR THE SPRING. The new shade cards for the spring and summer of 1910 has just been issued by the Parisian Flower and Feather Syndicate Chamber. "Perhaps the most distinguishing characteristic of the new shades is the comparative absence of greens," says the Drapers' Record.

There is an appropriately named range of citronelle, a little group called sea-breeze, and a group of sea-green dubbed Neptune, but of true greens there are none. Elephant grays come third on the card under the title Cover. Pride of place is given to some cold blues called North Poles (inevitable application), and a good group termed "paleen fence."

Greys and "greyed" shades are again widely given prominence, and it is indeed, a card of subdued tones once more. At the end of the card appear half a dozen very delicate shades of different hues, grouped as Fluorescent. Rosewood shades are again present, this under the very infelicitous name palec (holy wood), and the rose range, diamond, dubbed linn (lump), not to be confused, on translation, with goblin.

ACQUITTED ON HER SECOND TRIAL

Young Men Saved Lives of Three Children

McKay Will Not Go West—Suits Against Directors of Sovereign Bank—Strathcona Again Contributes

TORONTO, Ont., Jan. 14.—Mrs. Martha Scott was acquitted at London, Ont., last night on her second trial on the charge of shooting Harvey Scott, her father-in-law. The evidence of the old man's hardness and brutality to the prisoner and her good conduct were the chief points brought out.

Chas. Hodgins and Wm. Bartlett of Sarria saved the lives of the three children of David Barr, who being left alone in the house upset a lamp and set the room ablaze with burning oil. The young men held the children and extinguished the fire.

Hon. A. G. MacKay is against the provincial opposition, gives a flat denial to the Ottawa story that he is going west as solicitor for the Canadian Northern.

A suit against the directors of the Sovereign Bank to collect the amount of notes given by them for stock was opened before Chancellor Boyd yesterday. The last case is against Donald McMillan and Jas. McFee and the amount is slightly over twenty-six thousand. The defence contends that the notes were signed at the instigation of the management with no intention that there should be no liability.

MONTREAL, Jan. 14.—Archbishop Dubouché announced last night that he had promised a subscription towards the fund of $100,000 towards defraying the expenses of the Eucharistic Congress, which will be held in Montreal this fall.

Two additional protests were registered before the Liquor License Commissioners at a meeting yesterday afternoon in the Seaman's Institute. Besides the petition against the granting of the application of M. J. Nugent, the commissioners were asked by delegates to refrain from issuing licenses to James Bartley and Percy Harney. The commissioners will meet in the afternoon next at 2 o'clock, when the licenses will be issued.

A COLUMN FOR WOMEN

Fashions and Fads

Rough furs for some reason seem to take precedence this season over the smooth and silky ones. Even the brightly moniker skin has a place in favor. Velvet and gilt are much used in Paris neckwear for the season, the velvet in tiny bands and edgings, and the gilt in embroidery, tassels and drops.

White homespun and blanket weaves are in vogue for skating suits. They are also being used to make up garments for automobile touring in the southern climes.

Drapery effects are progressing in dressy costumes, taking the form of real or simulated tunic, long full side draperies, panniers, scarf-like folds, etc.

Black and white are attractively combined in many of the new jacket effects. The black usually taking the form of satin pipings, jet buttons and tiny buckles.

Orthodox labors are newly made of net-top laces, the edges of which are outlined with a single row of mother-of-pearl sequins and tiny gilt or silver beads.

The fashion of yellow as a color for gowns and hats is promised a strong vogue and finds its entering wedge in the increasing favor of "yellow" and ecru laces.

The eight-button gloves are graceful with a dress sleeve, avoiding any sliding line between the glove and sleeve.

Velvet shopping bags are returning to favor. All shades allowed. White suede gloves are most popular for evening. All shades are to sweep about the new big hats.

Tulle and maline were never more popular than now.

Household: Hints

Cold-boiled potatoes, diced and added to an equal quantity of canned salmon and a few chopped olives, make a foundation for a tasty salad. Serve with mayonnaise.

For hurts or scalds, nothing is more soothing than the white of egg, which may be poured over the wound. It is softer as a varnish for a burn than colloidion.

In building or remodeling a house, before the final boards are put on the pantry, have it lined throughout with mosquito wire. It will make it forever mouseproof.

Never scrape cooking utensils of any kind clean them out as much as possible, fill with water and washing soda, cover and allow them to steam. They will then clean easily.

Before washing silk stockings soak in warm water, then wash gently in cold soapwater. Don't wring, but squeeze out, and after rinsing in several waters hang up to dry.

To clean gilt, try touching it up a little at a time with a camel's hair brush wet in alcohol. Don't let it dry, but rub off with a flannel, which should be changed frequently.

When a carpet is to be taken up wash with water to which a little ammonia has been added—not over a tablespoonful to a pall of water.

After washing woollen socks, dry them on frames to prevent them from shrinking. They should be washed in warm suds of white soap with a little blue added, but should not be rubbed on a board.

Clothes will not dry out so quickly if sprinkled and packed in a tin boiler the night before ironing day. They should be packed as tight as possible and the top faced on the boiler.

LAWS WOULD BE IN BALFOUR'S CABINET

Former Premier Makes Straight Protectionist Appeal.

TORONTO, Ont., Jan. 13.—Lyon cables from York-Balfour, who, if the Conservatives win, will have Bonar Law, a Canadian, as one of his chief colleagues in cabinet, visited York tonight in an attempt to induce the electors to reject another Canadian, Hilar Greenwood.

It was a great meeting, and an enthusiastic one. Balfour is as much a master of the conservative party as ever. He was greeted with cries of "Good old Balfour," and he looked over the audience with that winning smile that goes far toward explaining his popularity.

Balfour is daily being driven to say more in defence of the Lords, as he finds their action in rejecting the budget is the central feature of the fight. To-night he took the ground that the Lords had given the people a chance to control their own purse.

CANADA HAS OVER 30,000 MILES OF RAILWAY

Annual Report—Increase in Freight Traffic, But Decrease in Passengers.

OTTAWA, Jan. 12.—The annual report of the controller of railway statistics tabled in the Commons today contained some interesting and illuminative particulars as to the growth in business and earning power of the railways of Canada and as to the number and character of the railway operation increased 1,138 during 1909, exclusive of 675 miles of railways open for traffic on the new Transcontinental line which is officially returned as being still "under construction."

On June 30th last it was estimated that at least 2,300 miles were in process of being built. The total mileage on that date is given as 29,236 miles. Comparative statistics show that Canada has the largest railway mileage in proportion to population of any country in the world, while relation to area it has the smallest.

Canadian railways carried 32,683,209 passengers and 66,842,258 tons of freight in 1909, a decrease of 1,851,883 in the number of passengers, and an increase of 3,771,691 in the freight tonnage, as compared with 1908. The aggregate of earnings for the year were $145,066,336, a decrease of $1,861,977, as compared with 1908. Operating expenses were $104,609,084 a decrease of $2,704,053. The net revenue was $40,457,252, showing a settlement of $462,269 as against 1908.

Some interesting statistics are given in regard to accidents. There were 473 persons killed and 1,404 injured on Canadian railways in 1909, representing an increase of 29 in the number killed and a decrease in the number injured. Of the fatalities 26 were passengers, 137 employees, 190 trespassers, and 67 non-passengers. Six passengers were killed in collisions and 83 injured. One passenger in every 807,849 was killed, and one in every 113,211 injured.

THE "WHITE LADY OF THE HOHENZOLLERN" ONCE MORE

Everybody has heard of the "White Lady," who is said always to make her ghostly appearance in the old palace at Berlin whenever death is about to overtake a member of the reigning house of Prussia, and concerning whose visitation on the eve of the demise of Frederick the Great Carlyle wrote so interestingly in his history of that monarch. The White Lady is supposed to be the spectre of Countess Agnes of Meran, whose first husband, was Count Olymunde, whom she murdered, along with the two children she had borne him, because they constituted an obstacle to her marriage with one of the ancestors of the Kaiser.

It is related that, although she succeeded in accomplishing her ambition, she became an object of such execration by the people of Berlin that, on the death of her second husband she was obliged to fly for her life, and seek refuge in Southern Germany. According to tradition, she died in the little Bavarian town of Himmelron, where she was buried in the churchyard and in the church itself.

Recent building operations in connection with the strengthening of the foundations of the ancient church of Himmelron have led to the discovery, hidden away beneath a pile of stones in the vaults of the church, of a leaden coffin, the remaining marks of which served to indicate that it contained the remains of a lady of the house of Hohenzollern, this being confirmed by the fact that when the coffin was opened and examined there were found the skeleton of a woman and the remains of gold-embroidered robes.

Close by this coffin there were two smaller ones, holding the skeletons of children. While there is every reason, therefore, to believe that the remains contained in the larger coffin were those of the White Lady of the house of Hohenzollern, speculation prevails as to whether the children the smaller ones were the offspring of the countess' first marriage, and who met with death at her hands, or whether they were the issue of her union with the prince, to whom she had perpetrated such frightful crimes.

From the location of the coffins it would seem as if they had been thrust on one side without any ceremony, in order to await the decision of the highest ecclesiastical authorities as to whether they were entitled to Christian burial and the rites of the church, and had then been forgotten. Perhaps if they are now, after all these hundreds of years, interred with the blessing of the church in consecrated ground, the ghost of the White Lady that haunts the old palace at Berlin may be laid.

UNIQUE BEQUESTS OF INSANE MAN

Would Devise Means of Happiness to All

Leaves World—Little Children Not Forgotten and Old Folks Remembered.

Below is given the will of an insane man which attracted much attention when first published a good many years ago. The text is from a correct report of the original possessed by the law department of the University of Michigan. It is as follows:

I, Chas. Lombardy, being of sound mind and disposing memory, do hereby make and publish this, my last will and testament, in order justly as may be, to distribute my interest in the world among succeeding times.

That part of my interest, which is known in law and recognized in the sheep-bound volumes as my property, being inconsiderable and of no account, I make no disposal of in this my will. My right to live being but a life as late, is not at my disposal, but these things excepted, all else in the world I now proceed to devise and bequeath.

Item—I give to good fathers, and mothers, in trust for their children, all good little words of praise and encouragement, and all quaint pet names and endearments and I charge said parents to use them justly and generously, as the needs of their children may require.

Item—I leave to children inclusively but only for the term of their childhood, all and every, the flowers of the field, and the blossoms of the woods, with the right to play among them freely, according to the customs of children, warning them at the same time against thistles and thorns. And I devise to children the banks of the brooks and the golden sands beneath the waters thereof, and the colors of the willows that dulp therein, and the white clouds which float high over the long, long days to be merry in, in a thousand ways, and the night, and the moon and the stars of the milky way to wonder at, but subject, nevertheless, to the right hereinafter given to lovers.

Item—I devise to boys, jointly, all the useful fields and commons where fields and ponds where one may fish, or where, when grim winter comes, one may skate; to have and to hold the same for the period of their boyhood. And all meadows and clover blossoms and butterflies thereof; the woods and their appointments; the squirrels and birds, and echoes and strange noises and all distant places which may be visited together with the adventures there found. And I give to said boys each his own piece of the freestone at noon in the burning wood, to enjoy without let or hindrance, and without any incumbrance of care.

Item—To lovers I devise their imaginary words, with whatever they need, as the stars of the sky, the red rose by the wall, the bloom of the Hawthorne, the sweet strains of music and aught else they may desire to figure, to themselves, the lustiness and vigor of their love.

Item—Any of those who are no longer children or youths or lovers, I devise and bequeath all bolsters, cushions, and pillows, and I give to them the disdain of weakness and undaunted confidence in their own strength. Though they are old, I give to them the power to make lasting friendships, and of possessing, in mine, it struck him as euphonious and pleasing, and when she asked him what his name was he calmly replied "Dam Fool."

"Why I can't call you that," said she, horrified; "I'll call you Joseph."

HE LIKED "DAM FOOL."

"The boy flew into a rage. ... said Dam Fool was an 'immovable gun,' a nice name, and if he could not have the name he would not work for it. He was so stubborn about it that he had either to use the name or to send him back to the compound. Even when he kept him, and she told me that it was a relief to her feelings sometimes having a kitchen boy answer to that name."

"The Kafirs are very imitative and will cook a dish exactly as they have been taught. But I never could quite bring myself to eat Kafir cooking. It is apt to be weird."

KAFFIR BOYS AS SERVANTS

Humor in the Names They Choose and Sometimes in Their Cooking—Squaws as Hired Girls in Nevada.

"I never shall forget the names my Kafir boys took," said a western woman, who kept house several years in South Africa, where her husband was manager of a mine. "When the Kafir boys come from the kraals no one ever uses their native names. As soon as they are brought in contact with the whites they take a white name."

"This produces results which are not lacking in humor. Among the house boys Knite, Fack and Eppon were very common names. That's the Kafir name for Table, Chair, Watch, Carriage and Matchbox were other names that I had in the house at various times. My butter rejoiced in the stately appellation of New One. It was when the King please, 'That's a new one on me,' was going about."

"One of my house boys took the white name of Ham and Egg. The Kafirs are very fond of rice when they learn to eat it among the whites, and our stable boy thought he had found the nicest name in the house at Rice. But the Kafirs have the same difficulty as the Chinese in sprouting sports and rice, and they called himself Lice."

"One day the wife of one of the lasters sent down the compound and on one's expression in frequent use at the mine. It struck him as euphonious and pleasing, and when she asked him what his name was he calmly replied 'Dam Fool.'

"Why I can't call you that," said she, horrified; "I'll call you Joseph."

PEASANT SMUGGLED INTO NOBLE FAMILY

Boy Who for Years Posed as Count Deprived of Title and Estates

Romance of German Peerage Revealed in Hearing in a Court of Justice.

BERLIN, Jan. 13.—The tragedy of little Count Kwilckel would be a suitable title for a romance in real life which is now after many years of legal contests nearing its conclusion.

Today the high court at Posen adjudged the boy as the central figure in this thrilling story and who has been brought up as Count Joseph Kwilckel, the only son and heir of Count Ignacius Kwilckel, to be in reality the son of an Austrian peasant woman named Cecilia Meyer, the widow of a railway navv.

After giving judgment to this effect the court castles, would be directing Count Ignacius Kwilckel to hand over to the boy, who is now 13 years old, to his rightful mother, and peasant woman Cecilia Meyer. Neither the verdict nor the order of the court came into force immediately, because Count Ignacius Kwilckel has already given notice of appeal, and the case will in due course come before the supreme court of the empire at Leipzig.

MAY BE NEW TRIAL.

The supreme court of the empire, however, can only revise the formalities of this trial, and, if necessary, order a new trial by the high court if it be found that irregularities have occurred in this one. If this happened the great legal contest might drag on for several years more, but if the supreme court of the empire confirms the judgment of the high court at Posen little Count Joseph Kwilckel's fate will be sealed within a few months.

It would be veritable tragedy for the boy, who has been brought up in the magnificence of a wealthy Polish nobleman's castle, would be compelled by law to exchange his feudal home for the miserable hut of a poverty-stricken, uneducated, and coarse peasant woman. The little count, now the heir to great estates and vast wealth, would be face to face with the necessity of earning his own living after the manner of his plebeian forefathers, the hard laborers of darkest Galicia.

Count Ignacius Kwilckel and his wife, Countess Isabella, were the parents of three daughters, but the longed-for son was not born to them, much to their distress, because the peasant mother, who has now obtained a verdict for the return of the boy.

RUMORS OF FOUL PLAY

On January 27, 1897, Countess Isabella Kwilckel, then 51 years of age, gave birth to a son—at least an announcement to this effect was issued to the newspapers and to all the members of the Kwilckel family. Soon, however, the Countess Isabella was accused of having procured the baby from some other mother in order falsely to pass it off as her own son. Those members of the Kwilckel family who would be disturbed by the birth of this heir took the matter up and investigated all the strange circumstances of the alleged birth.

It was pointed out that the countess, instead of remaining in the ancestral castle for the happy event travelled to Berlin and rented an apartment, where she declined medical aid, and was tended by several old Polish servants. The alleged father, Count Ignacius, was absent in the south of Europe, and there were other strange circumstances which gave ground for the suspicious entertained by the relatives.

Relatives of the count brought the case in court and financed the peasant mother, who has now obtained a verdict for the return of the boy.

A great man years out nerves could be saved if the people would learn to walk on the balls of their feet, and a specialist recently. Besides giving elastic step of youth and resulting in a much more graceful walk, this habit, easily acquired with a little patience and persistent effort, prevents that jarring of the spine that comes from digging the heel into the pavement first.

A TREE THAT GROWS BREAD.

In the South Sea Islands there is a tree called the breadfruit tree. This tree is very like our horse chestnut in look and grows to forty or fifty feet high. Its leaves are a very dark green, and many of them are two feet in length. The fruit of this tree is the most wonderful part of it.

It forms the principal food of the natives of these islands, but before they eat it they roast it in an oven and when it is baked it looks just like wheat bread. It is very nice to eat, and nourishing, too, like real bread.

You'll Sleep More Soundly

If You Keep Healthy With Dr. Morse's Indian Root Pills

The man or woman with a good appetite, sound digestion, and bowels and kidneys working right, is never troubled much with sleeplessness. It is when the bowels become constipated and the liver and kidneys sluggish that the trouble begins.

Lazy liver and constipated bowels quickly bring on biliousness, indigestion and sick headaches, making a sound, refreshing night's sleep impossible. Or the inactive kidneys allow the blood to become loaded with uric acid, which causes rheumatism, with all its sleep-destroying tortures.

Dr. Morse's Indian Root Pills, taken regularly, induce sweet and dreamless sleep by keeping all these organs active and regular. The headaches disappear, the digestion becomes good again, the blood is purified and perfect health returns.

Dr. Morse's Indian Root Pills have been a favorite household remedy in Canada for over half a century, and they are in daily use throughout the world. Being purely vegetable they are safe for young and old. Made by W. H. Constock Co., Ltd., Brockville, Ont., and sold by all dealers at 25c a box.

NEGRO POUND DANCING WITH WIFE'S CORPSE

Crazed With Grief He Slings and Capers in Street With Body in His Arms.

CINCINNATI, Jan. 11.—The unusual sight of a negro singing and waiting in the street with a corpse of a colored woman in his arms started Patrolmen McCorkhill and Reynolds early Tuesday. They closed in on the man, who, they thought, dropped the corpse and ran. While one of the officers took after him, the other conveyed the body, which later proved to be that of the negro's wife, to her former home.

The negro was taken to the police station where he registered as Thomas Harvey. He was held for safe keeping. It was learned that Harvey, arrested over his wife's death, had left the house in the afternoon and did not return until midnight when the under-sheriff was preparing the body for burial.

According to the police Harvey seized a piece of wood and drove every one out of the house. Then he placed a cigarette in the dead woman's mouth and taking the body in his arms, started out of the house. He put the corpse in the front doorway while he returned to the house and procured a bottle of whiskey. He tried to force some of the liquid down the dead woman's throat, and falling to do this again picked up the body and started dancing down the street with it.

Do You Suffer From Headaches?

There are few people who have never experienced a headache from one cause or another. It effects all ages and both sexes alike, but the female sex is naturally the more effected through the higher nervous development and more delicate organization of the system. Those also of a nervous temperament and studious or sedentary occupation are subject to it. The presence of headache nearly always tells us that there is another disease which, although we may not be aware of it, is still exerting its baneful influence, and perhaps awaiting an opportunity to assert itself plainly.

Burdock Blood Bitters has, for years, been curing all kinds of headaches, and if you will only give it a trial we are sure it will do for you what it has done for thousands of others.

Mrs. John Connors, Burlington, N.S., writes: "I have been troubled with headache and constipation for a long time. After trying different doctors' medicine a friend asked me to try Burdock Blood Bitters. I find I am completely cured after having taken three bottles. I can safely recommend it to all."

CHAMBERLAIN MAKES FINAL EFFORT FOR PREFERENCE

"You Have an Opportunity You Will Never Have Again," He Declares—Warns Voters of Dire Results of Weakening Colonial Ties.

LONDON, Jan. 13.—From his Birmingham retreat, on the eve of the election, Joseph Chamberlain has made a final effort to rally his countrymen in favor of his cherished policy—Colonial preference. The invalid statesman, who is unable to write, and was obliged to dictate his statement to a secretary, has issued a manifesto addressed to the electors of the whole country. In it he reiterates the warnings which he has so often given to them of the gravity of the commercial situation.

"I address you," says Mr. Chamberlain, "as Britons, as patriots, and I tell you that it is not well with British industry." "Fighting out that Great Britain is losing in the international race by her persistence in free trade, he continues—"This is a critical and creative time. You cannot play fast and loose with your destiny. You have an opportunity. You will never have it again. Victories in politics are like victories in war; they are won by enthusiasm, lost by timidity. A mistake in imperial policy is irretrievable."

"Continuing at some length in a similar strain, he warns the electors that if the ties of sympathy binding the country to the children who are soon to become great nations across the seas should be weakened or destroyed, England would sink to a fifth-rate nation, existing on sufferance."

"Let us provide against it. The remedy is at hand." Explaining that the remedy is Colonial preference, Mr. Chamberlain concludes—"By a commercial union we can prove the way for federation. I see constantly before me, as a practical object of aspiration, that federation of free nations which will enable us to prolong in the days yet to come all the glorious traditions of the British race. Never yet in our history has the great democracy been unopposed, and I know that the fruition of our hopes is certain."

This manifesto is hailed by the Unionist papers as a trumpet call to MONTREAL, Jan. 13.—Mr. Henri Bourassa, in an article under his own signature in his paper, Le Devoir, this evening makes some remarkable utterances on the Government's naval program. Mr. Bourassa, in the course of the article, declares that this word has been passed around in order to disguise the nature of the program of the province of Quebec, but he adds that the Ministry and its friends are mistaken if they imagine they will be allowed to play such a comedy with impunity. Sir Wilfrid Laurier, he says, is either sincere or he is seeking to gain time.

Why Does Not The Stomach Digest Itself?

An Unsolvable Problem Which Has Puzzled Physicians of All Schools

A TRIAL PACKAGE OF STUART'S DYSPEPSIA TABLETS SENT FREE.

These seem to be no logical reason why the stomach should not digest itself when we consider the fact that it secretes digestive fluids and acids which are powerful enough to dissolve grates and digest meats, eggs, fruits, cereals, vegetables and other forms of food taken into it.

While the normal stomach is immune from self-digestion, there are many cases on record, however, in which a long-standing gastritis, and perverted digestion has completely digested or eaten away the mucous membrane lining of the stomach, and in some instances has engendered gastric ulcer, which ate its way clear through the stomach wall, and caused a fatal peritonitis.

In all cases of perverted function of the stomach, which manifests itself by the numerous well-known symptoms of indigestion and dyspepsia, Stuart's Dyspepsia Tablets act as a corrective, restoring it to a normal condition.

PAULHAN PLAYING PRANKS IN THE AIR

Perfect Control of His Airship—Several Ladies Enjoy Flights.

AVIATION FIELD, LOS ANGELES, Cal., Jan. 13.—While Louis Paulhan, of France, did not do anything so wonderful today as flying nearly a mile high, he took up Micaloni and Malcom, his assistants, and circled the field several times with them in his aeroplane and cut "cross lots" in what was said by some to be an attempt to slow down. Glenn H. Curtiss was flying the regular course at the same time for a ten lap speed record. The passengers were landed safely.

A HINT TO LADIES WHEN SHOPPING

If you wanted anything badly, and when you got to the store were persuaded to take something else instead, when you came away would you feel a little disappointed? As if somebody had "got one over you" and not for your benefit, mind, but for their own profit!

And when you proved that the something which you represented as being "just as good" as what you asked for was not as good—as what you were to be compensated even with the real thing, wouldn't you feel still worse?

This is just the case about Zamboni's. When buying it just ask for Zamboni, and see that you get it. The name is protected by law, and is clearly seen on each packet. Don't have anything else! Then you won't feel that somebody has made a few extra cents out of your lack of firmness.

THE CONFESSION OF LAMPHERE OUT NOW

Confirms the Death of Mrs. Guinness

MURDERS DESCRIBED—Lamphere Describes How He Loaded the Rob the Murderers. ST. LOUIS, Mo., Jan. 13.—Confirmation of the death of Mrs. Belle Guinness and some details of her method of slaying the ten persons found buried on her farm near Laporte, Ind., were published to-day by the St. Louis Post-Dispatch. In a copyrighted story, the newspaper printed an alleged confession by Ray Lamphere, Mrs. Guinness' butler and assistant, who died recently in prison in Michigan City, Ind., while serving sentence for burning Mrs. Guinness' house and incinerating her and her three children and Jennie Olson.

CHILD LABOR WILL BE THEIR SUBJECT

ST. LOUIS, Mo., Jan. 13.—Confirmation of the death of Mrs. Belle Guinness and some details of her method of slaying the ten persons found buried on her farm near Laporte, Ind., were published to-day by the St. Louis Post-Dispatch.

It is known that Rev. E. A. Schell, formerly of Laporte and now president of Iowa Wesleyan University at Mount Pleasant, Ia., heard Lamphere's confession shortly after he was arrested in April, 1908, but he denies that he divulged this confession.

The Post-Dispatch says that if Dr. Schell would consent to talk he would verify the confession published.

According to the printed confession, Mrs. Guinness and three children and Jennie Olson were chloroformed by Lamphere, who robbed the house of about $60, with a woman accomplice. Lamphere helped dispose of some of Mrs. Guinness' victims; the chloroform used by Lamphere was part of that bought for Mrs. Guinness to kill three men, one of whom was Andrew Helgeson and the others probably Ole Bueberg and Thomas Peterson. Later one of these men, probably Lien, was the third husband of Mrs. Guinness.

The confession recites that Lamphere did not intend to kill the Guinness family, but simply to appropriate the money, to rob the murderers who had, however, deposited a large sum

MYSTERIOUS ASSASSIN IS STILL AT LARGE

Dying Boy Tells How He and Dead Companion Were Shot by Stranger

NEW YORK, N. Y., Jan. 13.—Arthur Shilby, Jr., the six-year-old school-boy who was shot at play yesterday afternoon by a black-bearded maniac was barely alive tonight. His mother has offered her blood for transfusion into his veins. The boy was shot straight through the body, and in addition to the shock and the danger of possible complications, he is greatly weakened by hemorrhaging. His physicians were confident this afternoon that there is no hope for the child. He had never before seen the man who shot him. This is how he tells his meeting:

"Hello, little boys," he said. "I've two pistols, one in each hand, and I started to fire at you. Robbie ran toward the woods and I ran toward the rocks. The man followed me and when I looked round he had stopped. Then I felt the bullet."

Manager Gorbell of the Scamens' Mission is pleased to acknowledge the receipt of ten gold sovereigns from Capt. J. A. Murray, R.M.I., of the Empire of Britain. These are the receipts of a concert held on the voyage across the ocean.

In the bank the day before the fire of April 28, 1908, Lamphere left a piece of lighted candle in the house, and this set fire to the place before the chloroform effects were over.

No explanation of the kerosene, said to have been purchased by Mrs. Guinness the day before the fire and found scattered on some of the unburned woodwork, is offered.

Jennie Olson, niece and adopted daughter of Mrs. Guinness, who, it has been believed, was murdered by the woman over a year before the house was burned and whose body was believed to have been buried in the farmyard, was not murdered by Mrs. Guinness, according to Lamphere's confession, but was chloroformed in the house the night it burned and was burned to death.

THE ABSENT TREATMENT.

"If the laying on of hands is part of the healing, how do the Christian Scientists justify their attempts on patients at a distance? And why do they restrict themselves to the exercise of the healing power only and disregard all the other endowments specified in the text? Do they speak with new tongues? Could they take up serpents or drink deadly things and yet remain unharmed? Would they take, say, concentrated laural water instead of claret for dinner, or eat acorns instead of horseradish with roast beef? Why do they not give demonstrations in their churches or temples of the impunity with which they can manipulate venomous snakes and serpents?"

SCIENCE TEACHES FAITH.

"The teaching and practice of Christian Science ignores all the physical reality of sickness, set aside all the recognized means of curative science and rely entirely on an appeal to the 'source of life for more life.' In theory Christian Science healings differ from faith healing in this—faith healers do not doubt the reality of disease and suffering, but believe that all spiritual and divine force neutralizes and counteracts them, whereas the Christian Scientists deny entirely the existence of a body or of pain and sickness and profess to call down the divine influence to overcome or neutralize the effects of pain, Mrs. Eddy and her followers."

THE ABSENT TREATMENT.

"Just now there is a phase of opinion—entertained, too, by some honorable and distinguished men—that there is scope and reason for the exercise of suggestion as a remedial and curative agent; and it has been seriously put forward that the already vastly overburdened medical curriculum should be still further charged by the addition of a 'sound psychological training,' so that every medical practitioner should be able to employ 'mental therapeutics' and to engage in the scientific practice of suggestion. But I venture to think that it would be highly undesirable to combine the practice of suggestion with the ordinary practice of our profession. Such a course seems to offer encouragement to those outside the profession to make arrogant pretensions to curative powers, and might possibly lead to unfounded accusations and regrettable indiscretions, even with the profession itself. Even if it should come to be decided that a set of persons should be properly trained to practice treatment by suggestion, I am not quite sure that the doctor should have more to do with the treatment than merely to examine and pronounce whether the case is suitable for its employment."

THE ABSENT TREATMENT.

"Suggestion enters into every act of our life, colors our sensations and controls our influences our judgment," said Dr. Bernard Hollander, president of the Ethological Society. "Even accepting nothing that cannot be mathematically demonstrated, there are highly credible in other matters; hence there are so many ardent believers among them. Suggestion is used of nervous ailments and morbid states of mind who in their branch of learning accept nothing that cannot be mathematically demonstrated. Even in purely medical disorders the constitution is weakened by the constant indulgence of morbid thoughts and habits. Merely Christian Science has failed, for it pays no attention to bodily needs and thus does positive harm to the patient."
