WHIRLED AROUND A SHAFT. Lad Employed at Portland Rolling Mills Had a Terrible Experience Yesterday—Caught in the Belting, He Was Hurling Many Feet Against a Window.

Harry Dever, Jr., an employe of the Portland Rolling Mills, had a miraculous escape from instant death while working in the mill yesterday afternoon.

Yesterday afternoon between four and five o'clock while at work in the shop his clothing in some way became entangled in the shafting and before he could call for assistance or any of his fellow employes could move a hand to help him, he was wrapped tightly in the relentless belt and with the speed of the wind was carried to the ceiling and the pulleys.

Every particle of clothing had been torn from his body, while from many cuts blood flowed freely.

The window against which young Dever was hurled was completely shattered. In falling into the arms of the workmen he was particularly fortunate as otherwise he would have struck on some sharp casting...

CHAMBERLAIN'S SPEECH.

Addressed Nine Thousand People in Dingy Hall, Birmingham. The Advocate of Protection for the Empire Was Cheered to the Echo—A Masterful Review of the Cobden Theory.

LONDON, Nov. 4.—Joseph Chamberlain made a speech this evening to a gathering of 9,000 of his fellow townsmen at Bingley Hall, Birmingham. It was by far the largest audience the former colonial secretary has faced during the fiscal campaign...

Mr. Chamberlain said he did not blame the United States, but he appealed to Englishmen to say whether they would adhere to the old system or adopt another which would prevent the American invasion.

FOSTER IN GREAT BRITAIN.

The Distinguished Canadian Warmly Received in Monmouthshire. A Free and Frank Talk to the British Electors—Told the Workmen How Canada Had Prospered Under Protection.

LONDON, Nov. 5.—Hon. Geo. E. Foster was warmly received at the Tariff Reform League meeting at Newport, Monmouthshire, last night. He said he was there as a citizen of the British Empire. He believed with Chamberlain and the best thinkers in Britain's over-the-sea dominions that on the decision of the fiscal question depended the future of the empire.

Under protection Canada had thrived and members of parliament who had bought the policy adopted in 1878 had been obliged to abandon their theories of free trade. The mother country had prospered under free trade, but much of it was due to the progress made with steam and with electricity, and with everything else. Canada and other colonies were ready to give preferential treatment to England. The home country should adopt a similar attitude towards colonies, and this was what Chamberlain aimed at.

Mr. Foster speaks at Cardiff tonight.

WEDDING BELLS. Popular C. P. R. Official Married—Interesting Event at Sutton.

At 4 o'clock Wednesday William Brunsvick Howard, Jr., of the passenger department of the C. P. R. in this division, and Miss Margaret Alma Fowler, daughter of William H. Fowler, mill owner, were married by Rev. Canon Richardson at the home of the bride's parents, 24 Orange street.

It was a very pretty event and the suite of rooms on the lower floor were profusely decorated with flowers, among which white chrysanthemums predominated. Smiles was festooned and intertwined about the walls and ceiling and between the parlors a veritable trellis work of pretty vine hung most gracefully.

In front of an arbor of chrysanthemums the principals stood as the ceremony was performed, the bride wearing a charming gown of Canton crepe richly appliqued. Her shower bouquet was of roses and carnations. Miss Harriet K. Sheldon of Wollaston, Mass., a near friend of the bride, acted as bridesmaid, and was assisted by six pretty bridesmaids, who with garlands of smilax and strands of white ribbon formed an aisle, through which the bridal party passed before and after the pronouncement of the nuptial service. These young ladies were: Misses Carrie Murchie, Florence Boardman, and Melva Johnston of Calais; Miss Kimball and Lydia Kimball, cousins of the bride, and Miss Lou Howard, the groom's sister, of this city. They were prettily gowned in white. Miss Sheldon looked exceedingly well in white crepe de chin, her bouquet being composed of pink chrysanthemums.

Prior to the marriage, Mesdames W. B. Howard and W. H. Fowler, mothers of the contracting parties, held a reception; and after the ceremony the go back to the land and dig and delve for us." Americans, however, said Mr. Chamberlain had not so conceived their national destiny, and did not believe that any such thing was created by Providence to dig and delve and plow for the benefit of Great Britain. They knew that they had resources of their own and behind the tariff wall they had built up their industries until they had reached a stage where, unsatisfied with the extent of their own markets, they were invading those of the United Kingdom.

Mr. Chamberlain said he did not blame the United States, but he appealed to Englishmen to say whether they would adhere to the old system or adopt another which would prevent the American invasion.

PANAMA REVOLUTION.

Manifesto of the Junta to People Directly Interested.

A Political Change That Was Practically Bloodless—Only Two Chinese Men Killed During the Bombardment of the City by the Gunboat Bogota.

PANAMA, Colombia, Nov. 5.—The revolutionary junta last night published a manifesto addressed to the citizens of Panama, saying that the inhabitants of the Isthmus had done what was inevitable in view of a situation which was becoming graver daily.

It was pointed out that notwithstanding the grievances inflicted upon the Isthmians by their Colombian brothers, the former had suffered with resignation for the sake of harmony and the union in the hope of improvement in the situation and of the Isthmus ultimately making effective progress under Colombian rule.

Under the late system of Colombian government the inhabitants of the Isthmus had been governed with the narrow-mindedness which in days gone by had applied to American colonies by the powers of Europe.

The manifesto then refers to the fact that the Isthmus of Panama netted Colombia large sums in customs duties, adding that while the junta did not wish in this exposition of facts, which would be handed down to posterity, to be regarded as being moved by a mercenary spirit, nevertheless it was but just to point out that in spite of large sums of money collected from the Isthmus for fiscal purposes, the latter had not received the benefit of even a bridge over any of the rivers, the construction of a single road between any of the towns on the Isthmus, the erection of any public buildings, the establishment of a single college, nor of any other step tending to advance the industries or intellectual development of Panama, as not even the most trifling part of the large sums collected had been applied towards netting Panama in any such a form.

The failure of the Hay-Herran canal treaty to meet with approval of the congress at Bogota is then touched upon. It is pointed out that only a few public men were opposed to the treaty and that their opposition was due to the fact that it was alleged that Panama would be the only part of the country which would receive direct benefits from the building of an interoceanic canal. The manifesto then continues:

"The people of the Isthmus, in view of this notorious situation, have decided to recover their sovereignty, in order to work out their own destiny and to insure the future of Panama in a manner in keeping with the evident destiny of the country, its vast territory and its immense riches."

"The separation of the Isthmus from Colombia was accomplished without any feeling of hatred or any sentimentality on the part of the Isthmians people, and it is considered to be not only an insult to a high official, but as insulting the Chinese government itself. Better informed officials, however, realize the helplessness of China and the madness of attempting to go to war with Russia."

"We therefore now begin to form one of the free nations of the world."

IGNORED WIFE AND CHILD. Alleged Bigamist in Court Moves Judge and Spectators to Indignation by Unfeeling Act. (Brooklyn Eagle, Nov. 3.) There was an affecting scene in the Manhattan avenue court yesterday morning when Albert Scheubel, a boss truckman, arraigned before the court, bigamy, refused to speak with his wife and ignored his four-year-old daughter, Mary. When the child attempted to put her arms around her father's neck he brutally repulsed her and turned away. Many of the spectators were moved to indignation and the school of patience in the courtroom was at its breaking point. Scheubel, who deserted his wife last September, went to Troy, and on September 7 was married to Miss Margaret McCallan, a widow, at Westchester, N. Y. Scheubel's wife, a well-known contractor of 385 Knickerbocker avenue, Miss Wilson was visiting friends in Troy at the time. Scheubel and his second wife were kept at 384 West One Hundred and Twenty-fifth street, Manhattan. Miss Wilson met Scheubel three years ago, and not long after she had been living at 126 Duane street and he left his family destitute. Mrs. Scheubel being obliged to go out to work to maintain herself and three small children. She has been married five days ago, that her husband was seen in Manhattan, she had a warrant sworn out for his arrest on a charge of abandonment. Little thinking he had married again.

Court Officer George Reis was given the warrant to serve, and, while looking for Scheubel, he happened to see a young woman to whom he told of his search. Young Wilson at once recognized from the description that the man wanted was his supposed father-in-law, and offered to help the policeman locate him. Scheubel was caught in Morning-side Park yesterday morning and at once brought to the Manhattan avenue court, where he was arraigned on a charge of bigamy.

Scheubel was sullen when brought before the court, but his appearance seemed to be weary of the proceedings. Mrs. Scheubel picked up her little one and looked at her father, but his eyes reached out her hands toward the man and said: "Papa, that's my papa." "Kiss me, papa." The man took no notice of her, and the court said: "Don't you know your own child?" Scheubel said nothing and the child ran to him and caught him around the knees, hid her face in his breast and sobbed, while the unfeeling father bent down and released the child's arms and hands to one side, and a murmur ran through the court and the spectators. Higginbotham could hardly restrain his feelings.

Mrs. Wilson, who was also in court, would not look at the man who had deceived her, but kept her place beside Mrs. Scheubel. Her brother handed a banknote to the court, asking that it be given to Mrs. Scheubel, who was penniless. Magistrate Higginbotham gave her the money and said Scheubel in vain await the action of the grand jury.

John Naylor, auctioneer, who was passing at the time, also heard the shot, and at once summoned the police. Atkins was identified by a man who knew him. His moustache was shaved off and he was dressed in a blue suit, with blue skull-cap, fannel shirt and military boots. The weapon with which he killed himself was found lying on the floor beside his body, and held five cartridges, only one chamber being empty. THE JEWISH CEMETERY AT NEWPORT. These Hebrews in their graves. Close by the street of this fair seaport town. Silent the near-silent waves. At rest in all this moving up and down! The trees are white with dust, that o'er their sleep. While the broad curtains in the south wind's breath. While keeps fresh these leafy tents they keep. The long, mysterious Erosus of Death. And these sepulchral stones, so old and that pave with level flags their burial ground. Seem like the tablets of the law, thrown down. And broken by Moses at the mountain's base. The very names recorded here are strange, of foreign sound and different climes; Alvarez and Rivera interchange. With Abraham and Jacob of old times. "Blessed be God, for He created Death!" The mourners said. "And Death is rest and peace." "In the certainty of faith. And give Life that nevermore shall cease."

DRAMATIC MURDER. Of an Armenian President in London Oct. 26th. Followed by the Assassination of Two More Delegates to the Convention —Where Is Scotland Yard?

LONDON, Nov. 4.—The dramatic murder of Sargis Sargis, president of the Armenian revolutionary committee in London on the night of October 26, was followed this afternoon by the assassination of two more delegates to the Armenian convention here. The suicide of the assassin, though he has not yet been identified, gives good reason to believe that he also was the slayer of Sargis. The murders were carried out in a more daring manner than was the assassination of Sargis. The murderer fired two shots at a third member of the group, but missed him, and then attempted to flee. Seeing that his escape was cut off, he drew another revolver and committed suicide, using his left hand. It is considered a significant fact that the assassin of Sargis was also left handed. The murders took place in the early afternoon close to the Armenian headquarters at Peckham Rye. The two victims were shot down from behind at close range. William Henry Tuck is a son of Moses Tuck, who was a native of Fayette, Me., and who removed to this province and died in St. John, April 23, 1868. He Tuck family are descended from Robert Tuck (or Tucker) who lived for a time in Watertown, (near Boston) and in Salem. He came from Gorleston, a seacoast town in the northeastern part of the county of Suffolk, England, bordering upon the county of Norfolk. W. H. Tuck was born in the city of St. John February 27th, 1828. Having received his early education in the schools of this city, he entered as a student at the Sackville Academy in Oct. 1844, and remained there until June, 1848. In October of that year he began to read law at the office of the Hon. Lemuel Allan Wilnot of Fredericton, afterwards judge of the supreme court and lieutenant-governor. Mr. Tuck remained in this office until Mr. Wilnot was elevated to the bench in 1851, commencing his term of study with William Jack, and was admitted as an attorney in Oct. 1853, and in Oct. 1855 was called to the bar. In June, 1857, he was made a Queen's Counsel. During the time he has been at the bar he has been in partnership with many other persons, relying solely on his own abilities to satisfy the demands of a large and ever increasing practice. For years Dr. Tuck was actively engaged in politics, indeed soon after entering on this field he became a leader among his party in the county of St. John. Up to confederation he was a staunch supporter of Sir Leonard Tilley, and the office he held until it was abolished by the local legislature in 1873. On the death of R. L. Haesen in 1874, he succeeded that gentleman as recorder of St. John. In the same year Mount Allison College, of which he is one of the alumni, conferred upon him the honorary degree of D. C. L. At the general election for dominion parliament in 1878, Mr. Tuck and C. A. Everett were the liberal-conservative candidates for the representation of the city and county of St. John, but these gentlemen were defeated by two opposition candidates, Hon. Isaac Burpee and C. W. Waldon. On Dec. 1st, 1879, Mr. Tuck married Sarah P. Fawcett, daughter of H. S. Fawcett of Exeter, Me., by whom he has had issue four sons and two daughters. While Dr. Tuck was in practice he was engaged in nearly all the great criminal trials which have taken place in the province and his eloquence had weight with juries. In the McCarthy murder case he was the principal counsel for the prosecution and during the progress of that important trial his cross-examination of the witnesses for the defence was a marvel of subtlety. He was known as one of the best lawyers of the province, and the very large practice that he had in mercantile matters made him a most welcome addition to the bench of New Brunswick. Judge Tuck was created chief justice on the resignation of Sir John Allan in 1898. FREDERICTON, Nov. 3.-Michaelmas term of the supreme court opened this morning at eleven o'clock, with Chief Justice Tuck and all the judges in attendance. The barristers in attendance were: Attorney General Pugsley, C. N. Skinner, K. C., T. C. Allen, K. C., clerk of the court, J. D. Haesen, K. C., J. H. Barry, K. C., C. J. Foster, K. C., Geo. W. Allen, K. C., J. D. Phinney, K. C., M. G. Teed, K. C., A. J. Gregory, K. C., M. N. Cookburn, K. C., A. B. Con-chief, a democratic age in which we live. Fifty years ago when he began to practice his profession the distance between the members of the bench and the bar was greater than it was today. However democratic he may have been, the people had always treated him with the greatest kindness, and this applied to the other members of the bench. Whatever the future might have in store for him, he wished to say that as long as he maintained his physical and mental activity he proposed to remain Chief Justice of New Brunswick. He was 75 years of age and in one and a half years would be able to retire under the terms of the bill lately passed by parliament, but so long as he retained the confidence of the members of the bar he would continue to preside over this court. He wished to thank them for the very kind and handsome address which he felt sure that it expressed the opinion of the gentleman who was easily the leader of the bar, not only because of the position he held, but because of his great ability.

THE GRAND BANQUET. FREDERICTON, Nov. 3.-The banquet tendered his honor Chief Justice Tuck of the supreme court by the Barristers' Society of New Brunswick on the occasion of the fiftieth anniversary of his admission as an attorney, held at the Barker House this evening, was probably the most successful ever tendered a public gentleman in this city since confederation. The president, the Hon. J. D. Haesen, M. P., presided, having the guest of honor on his right and the other guests arranged on either hand. The menu was a masterpiece of credit on the management and was served in a praiseworthy manner. Oysters on Deep Shell. Consomme Imperial. Boiled Halibut, Sauce Hollandaise. The following is a complete list of these guests: Governor Snowdon and court, several barristers and Senator Wood failed to make train connections. After the opening ceremony had concluded, Hon. William Pugsley, attorney general, arose in his place and informed the court that he had been selected to perform a very pleasant duty. With the permission of the court he then read the following address: To the Honorable William Henry Tuck, D. C. L., Chief Justice of the Supreme Court of New Brunswick, etc., etc. Honored Sir-The members of the bar of this province, on the occasion of your completing fifty years of service as a member of the profession, desire to congratulate you upon such an auspicious event. Since your admission as an attorney on October 13, 1853, the changes in New Brunswick, and economic conditions of the province, have been very great. You have spent your life in this province, and for years you have taken an active and prominent part in its business and social activities. At an early age you entered the profession, and became one of the leaders of the bar, and for many years, as clerk of the crown, and had initiated a connection with the administration of our criminal law, as prosecuting officer, and still later, as recorder of St. John, you, as our own supreme court in 1898, met with hearty approval, which was continued, and in 1898, you were appointed to the higher position of chief justice of the province. During your career at the bar you were always regarded as a prompt and laborious lawyer, and the same spirit of industry has marked your judicial life. We cannot forget that you have ever treated the members of the profession with consideration and kindness, and we desire most heartily and warmly to congratulate you upon attaining the jubilee of your entrance into your noble profession. We cannot forget that the advantages which you have enjoyed as a westerner since of late, yet we devoutly hope that you may yet be spared many years of physical and intellectual vigor to preside over the supreme court of your native province. Signed on behalf of the bar of the province, WILLIAM PUGSLEY, Attorney General.

FREDERICTON, N. B., Nov. 3.-At the conclusion of the menu, J. D. Haesen, M. P., proposed the health of the king, which was duly honored. The toast to the governor general and dominion parliament was proposed by the chairman, coupled with the names of R. D. Wilnot, M. P., for Sunbury and Queens. The proposer expressed regret at the absence of Hon. Senator Wood, who had missed his train connection at St. John. Mr. Wilnot responded in a happy vein. He referred to the feeling in parliament regarding the question of increasing the salary of judges and pledged himself to support any measure tending toward that end. A. B. Connell, K. C., vice-chairman, in a neat speech proposed the toast to the lieutenant-governor and provincial parliament, coupled with the name of Premier Tweedie. The latter on rising, was greeted with cheers. On behalf of the lieutenant-governor he expressed his honor's regret at not being present. The speaker next alluded to his own hope of seeing a native Canadian as governor-general of the Dominion, and honorably said, was good in accordance with notions of good government. Their policy had been to promote the interests of the people. In passing he paid a tribute to the leader of the opposition. He expressed the idea of Before making the purchase we tested the product for years through physicians in the most difficult germ diseases. We proved that Liquezone does what nothing else in the world can accomplish, and that the results are unvarying.

Kills With Oxygen. Liquezone is simply liquid oxygen-so drugs, no alcohol in it. It is the discovery of Paul, the great German chemist, who spent 20 years on it. His object was to get such an excess of oxygen in stable form into the blood that no germ could live in any membrane or tissue. Oxygen is life to an animal-the very source of vitality. It is the essential of air. Its effects are exhilarating, purifying. It is Nature's greatest tonic. But germs and vegetables, and even of oxygen-the very life of an animal, die to vegetable matter. Liquezone changes the blood with such an excess of oxygen that the germs die, and the blood goes. We spend 14 days in making each bottle. We Paid $100,000 for the American rights to Liquezone.

WOMEN'S COUNCIL. Mrs. Robt. Thomson and Mrs. Willoughby Cummings. Return From P. E. Island and N. S. Additional Councils to Be Organized-School for Defective Children Talked of.

On Friday Mrs. Thomson and Mrs. Cummings were at Charlottetown, where they met the executive committee in the Prince of Wales College. Meetings were held in the morning and evening, and on both occasions there was a big attendance. Mrs. McIntyre, wife of the lieutenant-governor, was present, also Mrs. Anderson, who was formerly intimately connected with the P. E. I. branch of the Women's Council. The ladies were entertained to lunch at the Queen Hotel by the Charlottetown local council. At the public meeting in the evening Mrs. Thomson presided, and addresses were delivered by Rev. Mr. Fetherston and Mr. Anderson, inspector of schools. Rev. Mr. Williams and Miss Fitzgerald sang very beautifully during the evening. Mrs. Cummings reports that four new councils will be formed, Fredericton, Woodstock, Dorchester and Summerside. Arrangements are also being made to start one at Sackville. While in Halifax Mrs. Cummings and Mrs. Thomson talked with Dr. Sinclair of Charlottetown and Dr. McKay, superintendent of education for N. S., regarding the establishment of an institution for the training of defective children. Both gentlemen expressed keen interest in the affair and promised their loyal support. Later on they had a talk with the attorney general of N. S., who was also much interested and wanted the details published. A suggestion was made that an institution be established wherein children from all three provinces could be cared for. In Nova Scotia alone, outside of Halifax, there are over 600 defective children, so it is evident that an institution of this sort is much needed. Mrs. Cummings will meet the local council here on Tuesday afternoon and will leave St. John the following day.
