DAZZLING, BLINDING DOUBLE PLAY PROVED THE WATERLOO FOR AMERICAN LEAGUERS

Giants Crowned Kings of Baseball Universe in Game a Fitting Climax to the Most Remarkable, Best Played and Hardest Fought Series in History of Diamond Classic.

Special to The Standard.
(BY DANIEL)

New York, Oct. 13.—A white streak starting the withered grass tops, a bustling human mass, then a flash of lightning followed in a twinkling by a bolt which dealt final destruction—and the Giants were crowned kings of the baseball universe. What a demoralizing, remarkable, best played and hardest fought series in the long history of the diamond classic. What a struggle was that final contest, what a dazzling, blinding game was the double play, won the frantic Johnny Rawlings to the Stewart George Kelly, then comes that long stretch of turf to the anxious Frankie Frisch who completed at the Waterbury of one of the greatest ball clubs which ever fought for the championship. You may talk about the spectacular, unassisted triple play by Wambegans, of Cleveland, against Brooklyn last year. You may wonder over that contest of the impossible which Harry Hooper, of the Red Sox, recorded in 1912, when he crashed over a wall to make a wonder catch and chortle the hopes of another Giant hero. But when these greatest feats of past series are forgotten, men still will be telling about that double play which came in the maddening shadows at the Polo grounds and sent the champions of the American league reeling from a debacle while little Rawlings rose to the majestic stature of a world series colossus. That play finished the Yankees—that play ended the game. That outting down of a hit from a last swing in fury by Frank Baker at once gave to the New York club of the National League the second world championship attained by that combination—both in the regime of John McGraw.

Scored on Error.

Never before was there a world series game which teemed with so much excitement, which brimmed with so much drama, which was so tense and taut and broke up so theatrically. Never before was there a ball game on which so much depended, so much in prestige, in glory in satisfaction and in money too. The Giants got their long run in the first inning without the help of a hit. Bancroft walked, Young walked and then came a destructive error by Pockingspang. Kelly shortstop and just when steadiness was most demanded he wavered. The ball caromed out of his glove into left field, while Bancroft raced the mad across the plate and Young reached third.

From that point to the spectacular finish it was fight, fight, fight. For a third time in a most effective game Arthur Neft battled the Yankee slugger and pleaded with his comrades to help him to victory. Twice they backed his own stalwart defence with a stonewall in the infield and a fair line, unimpeded line in the outfield. Against Neft stood for a third time Young Waste Hoyt, only twenty-two years old, but as handy as a Marty, as strong as a Johnson, as baffling as a Johnson, as baffling as a Johnson.

LIBERAL - CONSERVATIVES OF ROYAL NAME GEORGE B. JONES AS THEIR STANDARD BEARER

Most Enthusiastic, Harmonious Convention at Sussex
Where the Winning Spirit Was Paramount -- Prime Minister, Hon. Dr. Baxter and Hon. F. B. McCurdy Addressed Audience of 2,000.

Special to The Standard.
Sussex, Oct. 13.—The convention held here today to nominate a candidate for the Prime Minister that there will be an Executive Grand Division of the Canadian National

GEORGE B. JONES
Nominee of Convention

HON. J. A. MURRAY
Chairman of Convention

for the National Liberal and Conservative party was one of the largest and most enthusiastic ever held in the county of Kings, and when the ballots are counted on December 6 the standard bearer, George B. Jones, will be the representative of Royal in the Dominion House of Commons.

Following the convention there was held a public meeting in the new rink which was addressed by the Prime Minister, Hon. J. B. M. Baxter and Hon. F. B. McCurdy. There were between two thousand and twenty-five hundred persons in the rink and all listened with the closest attention to the speakers as they scored point after point in their indictment against the Wood-Crozier and King combination, who are preaching three different kinds of policies to suit the Province in which they are talking.

A feature of both the convention and the public meeting was the large number of ladies present and they seemed every whit as interested as the men and followed closely the arguments of Hon. Mr. Meighen.

W. H. Hesse, of Norton moved that the executive be composed of the officers and one representative from each electoral sub-district, to be chosen when the parish organizations were formed.

The chairman then threw the meeting open for nominations for a candidate to carry the standard of the National Liberal and Conservative Party to Royal. They wanted a man, he said, whom they could send to Ottawa and feel he would work and stand up for good Government, so that his constituency and the province got a fair deal, and a man who was regarded as a good all round citizen.

The convention was a most harmonious one and only one name was placed in nomination, that of Mr. Jones. If the enthusiasm displayed may be taken as a criterion of what is to happen, then there can be no question but that he will be triumphantly elected. Queens County was especially well represented when the distance they had to come is taken into consideration, some coming as far as fifty miles by auto to be there and they were among the most enthusiastic rooters for Mr. Jones.

The convention was called to order by General Hugh H. McLean, the sitting member for the Constituency, who asked for nominations for a chairman for the convention. The name of Hon. J. A. Murray was placed in nomination by W. D. Turner and he was declared elected. Mr. Murray then took the chair. R. St. John Freeze was elected as secretary of the meeting.

The next business was electing officers for the campaign. Alfred West, of Coles Island, was chosen as chairman; Abram Branscombe of Penobscot, as vice chairman; R. St. John Freeze as secretary, and Frank Bartlett as assistant secretary. The following resolution was moved by H. P. Bolton and seconded by A. D. Murray:

General McLean said he had a man in mind who possessed all the qualifications mentioned by the chairman. A man in whom the people of Royal had the utmost confidence, one who could be trusted to be true to his friends and one, he was sure, would meet with success as their candidate. That man was George B. Jones.—(at the mention of Mr. Jones' name the crowd broke into cheers and it was some time before the speaker could go on) and it gave him the greatest pleasure to place in nomination Mr. Jones, but before doing so he wished to thank the electors of Royal for the splendid support they had given him in the 1917 campaign, especially the ladies who had worked so hard to secure his election.

The nomination was seconded by Councillor A. E. Case, of Wickham, Queens County. No other name was put forward and the ballot was declared closed. Mr. Jones was then called to the platform and three rousing cheers were given as he came forward.

Mr. Jones thanked the electors for the splendid reception they had given him. He assured them that as a public meeting was to be held to hear the Prime Minister it was not his intention to deliver a speech, but he had a few things he wanted to say. He had, while representing the county of Kings in the provincial legislature, tried always to do his duty by his constituents and he would do the same when acting as their representative at Ottawa. Later on it was his intention to visit the different parts of the constituency and hold meetings. He did, however, want to refer to one thing. He had been mentioned as a possible candidate for the United Farmers Party, and he wished to set himself right about this. He had been asked by a number of farmers if he would run and he had told them he would not on the United Farmers platform as he did not consider it in the interests of the farmers of the Maritime Provinces.

RESOLUTION

"This Convention of the National Liberal and Conservative Party of the constituency of Royal desires to express its utmost confidence in the Premier of Canada, The Right Honourable Arthur Meighen, and the Government of which he is leader.

"We adhere to the Government's policy of moderate protection, thereby assuring a continuous Canadian industry with a resulting home market for our agricultural products.

"Recognizing the tremendous task confronting the Government during this reconstruction period following the world war, we voice our appreciation of the splendid effort and magnificent achievement of the Right Honourable the Premier since he assumed office.

Battering Humanity Pays Better Than Bettering Humanity

Such Conclusion Arrived at in Report on Salaries Paid
College Instructors.

New York, Oct. 13.—A young man of twenty two, possessed of one complete set of powerful muscles and having nothing at all above the eyebrows, can, and sometimes does, "earn" as much as $50,000 a year in the ring. A gentleman of scholarly attainments who has devoted, say thirty years to teaching higher mathematics or civil engineering or chemistry, is fortunate if he gets $3,000 a year for brain power. Battering humanity seems to pay better than bettering humanity. These conclusions were arrived at in a report to Institute for Public Service on salaries paid college instructors. And these salaries have gone up in the past year. Full professors at Yale or Michigan are paid as much as $10,000, and those at Columbia or Harvard may earn $8,000. But in 140 higher institutions full professors are awarded less than $2,000. The largest salary for instructor, as differentiated from professor anywhere, is $3,500. But eight colleges pay less than $1,000, and 61 pay not more than $1,500. The increase in tuition, ranging from one dollar to $150, will not meet the demand for higher salaries, the report declares. Students are now getting their learning at bargain prices.

"Vamp"—Settles in Court.

New York, Oct. 13.—Only a plate glass window stood between him and the object of his adoration. She posed there behind it, seeming to beckon to him, her charmed lips parted in a tantalizing smile, her white arms reaching out in promise of surrender. With a cry the impressionable youth burst through the glass and seized her in his arms. She made no outcry, gave no resistance to his caresses. But as he was struggling with her weight, trying to drag her away with him, the police came.

In court home Parry, a visiting Englishman, said he is going back to England, where there is no such thing as prohibition, and manager of Bedell's Fifth avenue cloak and suit firm, told the court he was willing to let Parry go if Parry would pay $150 for a plate glass window he smashed. Parry was fined $150 for the wax dummy who lost her head completely under the young man's brutal love making.

German Internal Affairs Nearing Serious Stage

Berlin, Oct. 13.—All leave of officers and men in French armies of occupation on the Rhine has been cancelled by General Degoutte because of complications in the internal German situation.

In German capital the press are vigorously protesting the League of Nations Council decision regarding upper Silesia, and is unanimous in declaring that Germany cannot consent to any suggested economic arrangement whereby the disputed territory remains in doubtful status.

"Germany will never consent to judicial murder from Geneva," the Tages Rundschau declares. "We must defend our Holy rights with every man at the disposal of this defenceless nation." It is considered possible that Chancellor Wirth will resign his position, and his party is already preparing to handle the crisis.

Many Germans are already leaving Silesia in fear of renewed Polish attacks.

Both Premier Briand and former Premier Viviani are noted as orators, gifted with tremendous magnetism and personality, but neither speaks English with any degree of success.

British Delegates To Leave Oct. 26

London, Oct. 13.—The principal British delegates to the Armament Conference at Washington will leave for the United States October 26. United News is reliably informed. Subordinate members of British delegation will leave November 5, reaching Washington shortly after conference has been inaugurated.

A despatch from Melbourne says Australian delegate Pearce has departed for Washington.

Every available foot of space was occupied in the Armories building last evening where over four thousand people flocked to hear Rt. Hon. Arthur Meighen, prime minister, and Hon. Dr. John B. M. Baxter, minister of customs, discuss the issues of the present federal campaign. Shortly after seven o'clock the people began to arrive and when the meeting opened the building was crowded. There was no occasion whatever for any brass band or torchlight procession for the purpose of collecting a large gathering. The arrival of the Premier and Hon. Dr. Baxter was marked by round and round of cheering, and the reception given to the Minister of Customs from the citizens of his native city on the occasion of his first political speech in St. John since he joined the Meighen Government was a remarkable one. The Minister of Customs and Excise was in splendid form, and his brilliant, forceful and convincing speech brought forth general approbation, and when he appealed for a solid maritime support behind the maritime ministers in order to give them the maximum weight at Ottawa, prolonged applause greeted his remarks. Hon. Dr. Baxter was also loudly cheered when he declared his views that imports and exports should be limited to Canadian ports only, and that he would advance to the utmost of his ability the aspirations of the City of St. John which he also shared in regard to our harbor. His speech far excelled any that has ever been made in this city by any member or representative in the Dominion Cabinet from New Brunswick, and the Prime Minister highly complimented the Minister of Customs and Excise on his wonderful speech.

Mayor E. A. Schofield presided as chairman, and among the prominent citizens who occupied seats on the platform were J. Roy Campbell, ex-M. L. A. and Mrs. Campbell, Commissioners Jones and Frink, Hon. R. W. Wigmore, Mr. and Mrs. M. E. Agar, Judge Ritchie, Mrs. Geo. F. Smith, Mr. and Mrs. L. P. Tilley, John Lewis.

His Worship in introducing the various speakers referred to the necessities and ambitions of the people of St. John and hoped that such works as the harbor improvements would receive the consideration of Premier Meighen and Hon. Dr. Baxter.

Hon. Dr. Baxter Cheered

Loud and prolonged cheering greeted the Hon. Dr. Baxter when he arose to speak, and it was some time before the Minister of Customs was able to make himself heard. He immediately turned his attention to the remarks of Mayor Schofield declaring that he wished to assure the audience that from the time he entered the Commons Council, some years ago, of the City in which he was born, the harbor problem was one in which he had been in very close touch. "I will, to the utmost of my ability, impress upon the Government the desires of the citizens of St. John, and do all that is humanly possible in my power to realize our hopes and ambitions

ST JOHN, N. B. TUESDAY, OCTOBER 14, 1921.

MR. MEIGHEN'S CREED.

"More than any other country, Canada needs a protective system. She is a young country mostly undeveloped. She lies alongside a great big country tremendously developed. The United States has every advantage that Canada has and tremendous advantages besides. It surely follows to the mind of every reasonable man that to abandon the protective system in Canada would be simply to invite the absorption of Canadian industry in the far vaster industries of the United States. The principles of the protection of Canadian industry have been proclaimed by practically every statesman who has shouldered the responsibility of government in Canada. They are sound and they are right and the vast mass of the people of Canada know that they are sound and right."

—From Premier Meighen's Portage Speech.

A NATIONAL STATESMAN.

The enormous crowd at the Armoury last night furnished abundant proof of the popularity of the Rt. Hon. Arthur Meighen, otherwise the people would not have been there in such large numbers to hear the addresses delivered by him and his colleagues. The thousands who were fortunate enough to get within sound of the Prime Minister's voice heard a speech that was not only a great one but was congenial to the sentiments and opinions of the mass of St. John citizens. The cheers with which it was greeted came from the hearts of the audience. To say of a political speech that it struck the popular chord is not to certify to its moral character. As a rule politicians of the shifty order are tactful enough to consult what they consider the prejudices of any large audience they have to face. Speeches to which little exception could be taken have been addressed to St. John crowds by party leaders who did not mean all they said, who did say all they meant, and whose course in public life was guided by principles that would not for a moment be tolerated by the great majority of St. John people. These very diplomatic speakers knew what to avoid, and at what points to give way to bursts of candor. In the audience last night there must have been many who had previous experience of being ambushed by such vote-catching oratory, many who noted the contrast between the honeyed words spoken for their beguiling and the things afterwards done by the solicited orator.

The audience last night knew that the speaker was dealing in good faith with them, and that it was not the vice of flattery or deception that was such the ring of sincerity in it, but from beginning to end it sounded the note of national common sense. But that might not be a sufficient test. A politician whose only merit is proficiency in the art of persuasive eloquence might succeed in imposing on his hearers by a sham sincerity and reasonableness, and dupe them out of their confidence. The public have a check on Mr. Meighen in his record. His Armoury speech is exactly in accord with that. From the first he has stood for adequate protection, and has advocated it on public platforms and before great audiences in every Province and at most of the great trade centres in this country. The speech he delivered last night is no sporadic outbreak of Ministerial communicativeness for assuring the people of St. John. It is one speech in a series to be delivered in the course of a tour of the whole Dominion. And it is not the first speech nor is it the last to be given in that tour. Upwards of thirty large audiences in different parts of the country have already been addressed by Mr. Meighen within the last four weeks. The speeches have all set record and have received publicity throughout the length and breadth of the country. It is easy for anyone who has any curiosity in the matter to collate these speeches of Mr. Meighen's and satisfy himself as to how last night's utterance, which squares so well with Mr. Meighen's work as a statesman, compares with what he said to audiences at other times in other parts of Canada. Such an examination would satisfy the inquirer that in the matter of consistency Mr. Meighen's political character grades A+. He is an honorable statesman, and he is happy in the possession of a national reputation for honorable statesmanship. He seems to carry over with any group or section by showing himself ready to shade his opinions to the complexion of their policy.

The people in the Armoury last night heard the National Policy upheld by a National statesman. That is the proper description of the Prime Minister who, after sustained and strenuous labors in administrative service, has undertaken and will carry out—provided his voice will permit of it—an extremely arduous tour of speech-making from end to end of Canada, in the course of which speech-making he may be depended upon never for a moment to waver from support of the one great principle for the forwarding of Canada, the principle of adequate protection. That this drive against the anti-protection forces, who so long had the field to themselves in Western Canada will prove arduous is not unlikely, but it promises to be fruitful. So far Mr. Meighen's tour has been effective as a means of making the support of the National Policy coextensive with the national population and the good results already apparent may reasonably be looked to continue.

As to Mr. Baxter's address, it is sufficient to say that he "ran true to form." The people of St. John know him as an interesting and forceful speaker at all times, one who always has his facts duly marshaled, and with the happy knack of presenting them in the most attractive and telling fashion. That he had his audience with him was plainly evident from the attention with which he was followed and the applause which punctuated many of his remarks. Particularly was this the case when he appealed for closer co-operation among the Maritime Provinces, for it was rapidly being realized by thinking men and women that if these provinces are ever to get the fair and reasonable treatment from the more populous portions of Canada, that they are entitled to under the Confederation pact, it must be by the combined efforts of all these provinces. Individual action is too ineffective to get results, and the old adage that "Union is Strength" needs to be thoroughly appreciated by the people of these provinces if they would get what is coming to them.

The other Minister who spoke, Mr. McCurdy had less to say than his colleagues, but what he did say appeared to be thoroughly appreciated.

THE "BUSINESS" SIDE OF MATRIMONY.

King Constantine of Greece hasn't been so successful as he would have liked against the Turks, but he has executed a coup that will strengthen him immensely by tying up his family with a great American fortune. These American millions will enable him to live in the style to which he has been accustomed, and will give him a prestige among the Greek politicians which will go far in recompensing what he may have lost by his unsuccessful forays into Asia Minor.

The King took the first step towards replenishing the royal treasury when he engineered the marriage of Prince Christopher to Mrs. William B. Leeds, the widow of the American plate magnate, who was a King in his own right in this particular branch of industry.

This marriage will make it possible for an American woman to become queen of Greece someday, which will be better for the throne, whatever else may be said of it, than to have a German princess for queen, as happened when the great war came.

But following the nuptials of the Greek prince and the Widow Leeds, comes the union of the son of the Royal Highness, William R. Jr. to Princess Xenia, a Russian and a niece of Constantine's. This marriage took place in Paris recently and went off with much "clat," as they say. Three ceremonies were performed to make assurance doubly sure, the last one being in the Russian Orthodox Church.

All the Kings and queens and their families who could reach the French capital were present, and it is rare that a social event attended by such magnificence is staged even in that gay center of fashion.

All this must have been very pleasing to the Leeds's, who no doubt like that sort of thing, but especially must it have brought sweet solace to the heart of the Greek King, who has met with some reverses since he ousted Venizelos from power and returned to his throne at Athens.

Whatever happens politically in Greece he is now insured against having to go out looking for a job as head waiter or for an equally menial occupation, as some members of European royalty have been compelled to do; and he is also protected politically, for a King with an ample private purse has all the attractions for the people of his monarchy.

The effect of conserving the home market for home producers is to increase the output of these producers, and it is a fact well understood by everybody with any knowledge of manufacturing, that the bigger the output the lower is the cost to produce. Lower production costs mean lower prices. Further, the lower the price is the greater is the demand. Take by way of illustration the Ford car. It has been substantially reduced in price three different times during the last year, and with each reduction in price the demand has increased.

The Hon. C. W. Robinson is generally regarded as a shrewd business man, even if he is somewhat easy going in his activities. Just how easy going he must be shown by the fact that he approved of the ridiculous regulation limiting the number of partridges that may be legally shot to six per day, and twenty for the entire season. Mr. Robinson is too shrewd a man to suppose that any sportsman would pack up his gun and walk away from the woods if he were permitted to shoot a larger number of birds. Why therefore permit the promulgation of such a silly regulation?

I see in an American paper that Babe Ruth is suffering from an infected left elbow, which has swollen that legs are crippled with Charley horse—whatever that may be—and he has a sore knee, to say nothing of a low-grade rheumatism in his right wrist. I hope the Babe is feeling all right.

I asked a girl with whom I was walking yesterday, why she wore furs in Summer and she said it was so as to avoid giving me the cold shoulder. Wasn't that nice?

I notice that the price of ice cream sundae is being reduced in some places. Yet people still complain that there is no reduction in the high cost of living!

WHAT OTHERS SAY

Polylot Court.

The International Court of Justice, established under the auspices of the League of Nations, is a cosmopolitan body of jurists. Of the 11 judges and four deputy judges no two belong to the same state, and they disperse in twelve mother tongues. Two are of English speech, Viscount Finlay of Great Britain and John Bassett Moore of the United States. The representative from the United States is Professor Charles E. Hughes of New York. The German-speaking member hails from Switzerland. Dr. Barbosa of Brazil probably learned Portuguese in infancy. Italy, Japan, Holland and Denmark nurtured the other judges, while Belgium, Roumania, Serbia and China are the homes of the deputies. The British Empire was within sight of a second appointment. In the first ballot Sir Robert Borden tied with Mr. Bassett Moore, but the United States candidate was selected on the second ballot. Several of the judges have held distinguished positions on the bench of their own country. Viscount Finlay has been Lord Chancellor of Scotland, and all the members of the court have a national and local reputation as jurists. It is stated that the world has four great systems of jurisprudence and that all are represented in this remarkable court.—Vancouver Province.

Ways With Unemployment.

There are as many ways of alleviating unemployment as the nations concerned, and a survey of the world shows that the greater the efforts at unwise relief the worse the results. This ought not to have been a heart toward real distress among those undeservedly or unwillingly idle, but should suggest mingling prudence with benevolence. The less professions and the greater pretension of benevolence toward the proletariat were shown in Russia. There the entire possessions of the property owners were put at the service of the wage earners and squandered in the encouragement of unemployment. Since

The National Liberal-Conservative party in Kings and Queens Counties are to be congratulated upon their choice of a standard bearer. In Mr. George S. Jones they have a candidate who can be depended upon to look after not only local interests, but the larger and more important interests of the Maritime Provinces generally. As one of the representatives for the past thirteen years, he has had an opportunity of gaining considerable parliamentary experience which should stand him in good stead at Ottawa. Though his speeches at Fredericton have not swelled the size of the Official Report to any considerable extent, he has always been regarded as one of the strong men of his party and his counsel and advice have ever been continuously sought after and highly esteemed by his colleagues. There should be no difficulty whatever experienced in electing Mr. Jones no matter who his opponents or opponents may be.

The effect of conserving the home market for home producers is to increase the output of these producers, and it is a fact well understood by everybody with any knowledge of manufacturing, that the bigger the output the lower is the cost to produce. A BIT OF VERSE

MARIGOLDS.

(Louise Driscoll.)

Do you like marigolds?
 If you do
 Take a garden
 Gay for you!

I've been cutting their
 Fragrant stalks
 Where they lean on
 The garden walks.

The head's too heavy for
 The brittle stem.
 A careless touch and
 You've broken them.

Each one shines like a
 Separate star
 Set in some heaven where Gardens are.

My hands smell of the
 Herbilike scent,
 Telling what garden
 Way I went.

Fragrant, vivid and
 Strong, they stay
 Long after Summer has Gone away.

Do you like marigolds?
 Here's what
 To meet the frost with
 A golden edge—

To go as far as
 A weak thing may
 Lasting tomorrow with Yesterday!

WHAT OTHERS SAY

Polylot Court.

The International Court of Justice, established under the auspices of the League of Nations, is a cosmopolitan body of jurists. Of the 11 judges and four deputy judges no two belong to the same state, and they disperse in twelve mother tongues. Two are of English speech, Viscount Finlay of Great Britain and John Bassett Moore of the United States. The representative from the United States is Professor Charles E. Hughes of New York. The German-speaking member hails from Switzerland. Dr. Barbosa of Brazil probably learned Portuguese in infancy. Italy, Japan, Holland and Denmark nurtured the other judges, while Belgium, Roumania, Serbia and China are the homes of the deputies. The British Empire was within sight of a second appointment. In the first ballot Sir Robert Borden tied with Mr. Bassett Moore, but the United States candidate was selected on the second ballot. Several of the judges have held distinguished positions on the bench of their own country. Viscount Finlay has been Lord Chancellor of Scotland, and all the members of the court have a national and local reputation as jurists. It is stated that the world has four great systems of jurisprudence and that all are represented in this remarkable court.—Vancouver Province.

Ways With Unemployment.

There are as many ways of alleviating unemployment as the nations concerned, and a survey of the world shows that the greater the efforts at unwise relief the worse the results. This ought not to have been a heart toward real distress among those undeservedly or unwillingly idle, but should suggest mingling prudence with benevolence. The less professions and the greater pretension of benevolence toward the proletariat were shown in Russia. There the entire possessions of the property owners were put at the service of the wage earners and squandered in the encouragement of unemployment. Since

Benny's Note Book

BY LEE PAPE

Last night pop was late for supper again on account of playing tennis with Mr. Jones next door, and me sed, my goodnies, Willyum, it must be a fascinating game to make you forget your stumbluck, hee hee.

It is a fascinating game, there's only one game as fascinating as tennis and that's another game of tennis, hand me the peen please, sed pop. With me did, saying, Well how do you play it, Willyum, last nite you told me you would explain the rules to me some other time, and this is some other time, so I explain them now.

Well, sed pop, in the fers place the server serves the ball. Natchery, sed me.

Don't interrupt, please, Im trying to put it in very simple language for you, sed pop, and me sed, Well you don't need after sed highly esteemed by his colleagues. There should be no difficulty whatever experienced in electing Mr. Jones no matter who his opponents or opponents may be.

Whose explaining this? sed pop, and me sed. You are, if you ever get started, and pop sed, Very well then, the server serves the ball.

As you sed before, sed me, and pop sed, Well, he's allowed to serve 3 balls, and this is the 2nd ball he served, the first one went in the net, haw, haw, did you ever get stung.

All rite, go on, go on, what happens then? sed me, and pop sed, Then the ball is hit back by the man on the other side of the net.

O, you mean the fersst mans partner, sed me.

Yes, I mean, no, certany not, not his partner, his opponent, sed pop.

That's wat I ment, sed me.

Yes, its the same thing, ony different, sed pop, and me sed.

Well, go on, wat then?

Then I stop explaining before I get brane fever, sed pop.

Now Willyum, you can't say I waent following you, sed me, and pop sed, You were ahead of me, if anything. And he opened the paper and stayed behind it.

The world began there has been no greater misery than there.

Even so sensible a country as England is suffering from an excess of indignance toward those able to work and demanding payment for idleness. Winston Churchill said last week that the Government had spent $500,000,000 in relief of unemployment since the war, and he was tickled by his joke that he let the transgressor go free.—Boston Transcript.

CAR CRASHES H FALSE

Policeman Knocked off his feet by a car, walk loses leg, W. Driver Badly Injured

New York, Oct. 11.—Three persons were seriously injured in a succession of automobile accidents resulting directly from a bungler skidding on Avenue and 113th street. Patrolman W. O'Hara, having been notified of the supposed robbery, commenced the taxi cab of Otto Holbrich of 2764 Creston avenue, The Bronx, 116th street and Seventh avenue. Three other cars followed and skidded on 113th street one skidded on the police car, knocking O'Hara from the running board.

At this point a touring car, the police say was travelling 60 m. an hour, operated by Harold Brown 238 West 112th street, crashed into the third taxi after first swinging into the curb and injuring Thos. Lewis of 1886 Seventh avenue, who was standing on the sidewalk.

Agnes Clark of 136 West 127th street, an occupant of the taxi, was taken to Harlem Hospital with a fractured skull and internal injuries. Lewinsky

Silesia Pretext for Consideration It So as to Avoid Hardship Objection.

Paris, Oct. 12.—Another session of the Supreme Council, whereat French and British attitudes to adopted at the Washington conference are likely to play an important part, was opened today in connection with the informed diplomatic circles. The suggestion for the session is immediately after the League of Nations council has announced its resolution in connection with the Upper Silesian settlement. Although it would have the appearance of opposing President Harding's view that the preliminary conference of the big powers should be avoided, it is considered there should be some sort of contact between the Powers is inevitable, following Premier Briand's declaration yesterday that his policy regarding internal and external affairs is based wholly on Allied solidarity.

It seems here that any decision of the Supreme Council regarding Silesia is bound to bring up the question of a reduction in military force as Premier Briand has now confessed that Germany has practically complied with the treaty's disarmament clause with the exception of her police garrisons, and, therefore, there is the necessity of maintaining troops along the Ruhr frontier.

A European Preliminary.

It will be during the discussion regarding the Silesia problem that the disarming conference will be approached, with Belgium and Italian representatives thus taking part in the "European preliminary" conference. President Harding's conference policy fixes its agenda.

The Premier's insistence that security of France from invasion, strictly or economically by Germany, must be the basis of any reduction of her present military strength is tonight by the Journal des Debats an argument for an immediate clear understanding with Great Britain, this newspaper declaring Premier Briand has not a day to lose if he wishes to go to Washington. The Kidneys

The office man and the outdoor worker suffer alike from derangement of the kidneys.

Backaches and headaches among the symptoms. In some cases Bright's disease soon develops, others suffer from high blood pressure until hardening of the arteries sets in.

In order to forestall painful or fatal diseases prompt action should be taken at the first sign of trouble.

Mr. A. D. MacKinnon, Kinross, Inverness county, N.S. writes:

"I can highly recommend Dr. Chase's Kidney-Liver Pills to all suffering from weak kidneys. I suffered from kidney disease for a long time. I may also say that for three years I was nearly always troubled with headaches, and no treatment seemed to do more than afford temporary relief. I was finally told by Dr. Chase to take Liver Pills, and after using a few boxes was completely relieved. I have also used Dr. Chase's Ointment with the best results, and never fail to recommend these wonderful remedies."

The Premier's insistence that the security of France from invasion, militarily or economically, by Germany must be the basis of any reduction in her present military strength is taken tonight by the Journal des Debats as an argument for an immediate and clear understanding with Great Britain, this newspaper declaring that Premier Briand has not a day to lose if he wishes to go to Washington.

NO FORTS IN THE PACIFIC WILL BE JAPAN'S PLEA

Opposition Party Agent and Many Correspondents Coming to Parley.

Tokio, Oct. 13.—The Teikoku News Agency says it is convinced Japan will recommend to the conference abolition of the defenses in the Pacific from the viewpoint of assuring commercial freedom. Kotaro Mochizuki, member of the House of Representatives, is making on the Shinyo as the special representative of the Kensei, or Opposition party. It is reported the Yuirotokei Government will send an unofficial delegate to the conference.

So great is the battle preparatory to the meeting of the Japanese delegates, one would imagine that of Tokio was headed toward the capital of the United States. The newspapers which are sending numerous staff correspondents, devote themselves almost exclusively to the conference's problems. In this connection some of them are hopeful and some fearful. Some attack the United States, while others excitedly demand results from the stipulation made by the Japanese which the delegates probably realize they cannot hope to attain. Very one seems a trifle nervous as the time approaches for the deliberations which may mean so much to the empire.

The weather, which has ruined part of the rice harvest, has caused prices to soar higher, but still the workmen, and especially the shipbuilders, constantly are demanding higher wages and are getting them. The newspapers attribute to the Government the intention to propose international abolition of the regulations which prevent foreign shipping from engaging in Japanese coastal trade.

France May Quit Ruhr. It is now believed possible that Premier Briand will seize the opportunity of strengthening his own position internally, as well as with France's allies and the United States, by hitting the sanctions against the Ruhr district before he leaves here for Washington. Details of Germany's disarmament efforts, published to night, have all the earmarks of having been inspired for this purpose.

The latest report of the Inter-Allied Commission of Control shows that Germany possesses only 102 cannon of all sizes remaining undestroyed, 22,800 cannon having been demolished. Thirty-four million tons of shells, four bombs have been destroyed, leaving less than 1,000,000 tons, while 110,000 trench mortars have been rendered harmless. This leaves Germany with less than 200 trench mortars. Eighty-four thousand machine guns are reported scrapped, and preparations have been made to destroy a remaining 3,000, while the Germans are promised to deliver a final 160,000 rifles and 90,000,000 cartridges immediately.

The control commission's reports already have passed through the disarmament conference. It is estimated here that Germany is able to comply with the remaining disarmament requirements inside of 40 days if the Upper Silesian settlement does not complicate the question, and it is not doubted that the French troops will leave Dusseldorf, Duisburg and Ruhrort before the end of this month, thus giving the French delegation new proof to use in Washington that France is not militaristic once Germany's good faith has been established.

Britain Explains Credits Viewpoint

Unless Bolsheviki Recognize Debts There Is No Assurance Behind Any Loan.

London, Oct. 12.—It is pointed out on behalf of the British Government that the stipulation made by the International Russian Relief Commission must recognize its existing debts and other obligations, that cannot be fully appreciated. The British Government has already given £250,000 in surplus of clothing and medical and transport supplies, and is still making contributions to the relief of the Russian people. It is pointed out that the Russian Government should pay its debts at any particular time, but if the Bolsheviki Government were to repudiate the debts incurred by the Czarist Government, while negotiating any credits of its own, this would be a precedent for any Russian Government, which might sue in London for the amount to repudiate the credits entered into by the latter. If, in other words, the principle of continuous obligations were abandoned by Russia, there would be no security for current debts.

Special to The Standard. Fredericton, N. B., Oct. 12.—"To nominate or not to nominate" is the question which at the present time is agitating the minds of the lamed crock of United Farmers or Progressives, whatever the followers of Hon. A. T. Cresser in York-Sunbury term themselves. The convention is called for Saturday afternoon next, T. H. Caldwell, M. P. for Carleton-Victoria, president of the U. F. A. and C. Gordon Sharpe, the secretary arrived here last night for the purpose of ascertaining the lay of the land they found in short time that the U. F. or York-Sunbury, after a short but very brisk bye-election campaign in May last, had become aware of the fact that the saying "elections are not won with prayers" is as true in 1927 as ever it was. After a long and hard pull the U. F. A. in this constituency will try to make a contest in York-Sunbury to annoy the Government forces and keep them employed here instead of taking part in other ridings, otherwise there will be nothing doing. There is no more hope of a U. F. candidate being elected here than there was in the bye-election.

Roscoe Arbuckle Pleads Not Guilty To Manslaughter

His Trial on Charge of Causing Death of Virginia Rappe Set for November 7th.

San Francisco, Oct. 13.—Roscoe Arbuckle, once comedian, but now looking like he never knew how to laugh, has but a little more than three weeks to prepare for the battle of his life when he went to bed tonight. November 7th will see the big thrower of custard pies and Bohemian parties standing before court, ready for trial on the charge of causing the death of Virginia Rappe, model, film comedienne and "best dressed girl in Hollywood."

Arbuckle arrived in San Francisco, scene of the Labor Day party, at which Miss Rappe died, early today and entered a plea of "not guilty" to the charge of manslaughter against him.

FOR WOMEN

Reflections of a Bachelor Girl

By HELEN ROWLAND

There Are Moments When the Wife of a Fascinating Man Feels Like Apologizing to His Women Friends for Taking Up So Much of His Time.

A woman may not get as much excitement out of life's pleasures as a man does, but she certainly gets a lot more thrills out of her sufferings.

Central has nothing on Hymen, when it comes to connecting the wrong parties, and then getting the wires crossed.

The heart of a woman is a secret sanctuary, where she is constantly burning incense and candles before a succession of idols of clay!

The Greatest Thing in the World! Croesus couldn't but it; Midas never possessed it; Nero sighed in vain for it; Napoleon lost it; and Solomon got too old for it. The thrill in the heart, when young eyes meet young eyes!

A man never can understand why a woman will "draw the line" at a kiss and then stand right on the edge of it and dare him to cross over.

No dearest, a man doesn't take a girl motoring by moonlight, because he admires the beauty of her soul, but a burglar enters your house because he is interested in interior decorations.

"Good judgment" is the beautiful imitation that comes to you, the morning after you have bought the wrong stock, backed the wrong horse or proposed to the wrong girl.

There are moments, when the wife of a fascinating man feels like apologizing to his women friends for taking up so much of his time.

We sigh for "the privacy of home," but "home" is the one place where a man can never have a private thought, a woman can never have a private opinion; and the only private property that anybody seems to have is his tooth-brush.

A woman's passport to love is a smile; her card of dismissal is the first frown that!

Discuss Causes Leading Up To Arms Conference

It Was Only America's Economic Ambitions That Caused the Call, Says Japan.

London, Oct. 13.—"It was only America's economic ambitions which impelled her to call the conference on limitation of armaments," Viscount Kato, of Japan, told the International Economic Conference here today. The Japanese economist pointed out the conflict between American and Japanese interests in China as one of the reasons for America's fear in the Far East, but admitted the Japanese people are beginning to reduce their armament burdens intolerably. "The failure of Prussian militarism taught Japan a lesson," he declared. Arthur Henderson, asserting China was the real crux of the armament conference, declared Great Britain would not seriously attempt to reduce her armaments until the policy exploiting Chinese commercially is ended. The Chinese delegate, Pood, told the conference future peace rests with success of the Washington conference.

Watch Your Gums—Bleeding a Sign of Trouble

Medical science knows how serious is the sign of bleeding gums. For it knows that tender and bleeding gums are the forerunners of Pyorrhea, that dread disease which affects four out of five people over forty.

If the disease is unchecked, the gum-line recedes, the teeth decay, loosen and fall out, or must be extracted to rid the system of the Pyorrhea poisons which seep into the system and wreck the health. These poisons often cause rheumatism, nervous disorders, anemia, and other ills.

To avoid Pyorrhea, visit your dentist often for tooth and gum inspection, and use Forhan's For the Gums. Forhan's For the Gums will prevent Pyorrhea or check its progress. If used in time and used consistently. Ordinary dentifrices cannot do this. Forhan's keeps the gums firm and healthy—the teeth white and clean. Start using it today. If gum-shrinkage has already set in, use Forhan's according to directions and consult your dentist immediately for special treatment.

The First Lecture of Winter Series

Miss Christine Matthew Lectured on "Some Very Ancient History."

Speaking of twenty millions of years ago as though it were yesterday and of Dinosaurs and Pterodactyls as one would say "cats and dogs," Miss Christine Matthew gave the first lecture of the winter series at the Natural History Society rooms yesterday afternoon. These lectures have been held under the auspices of the Ladies' Association for many years, and are always very popular. Mrs. W. H. Shaw, president, presided and announced the speakers in the course, which promises to be of great interest.

Miss Matthew, whose lecture was entitled "Some Very Ancient History," treated of a subject which is apt to be rather too scientific for the average person as interesting as a fairy story. Her amusing comments, and bright way of telling the story of prehistoric animals were delightful. Her address was illustrated by splendid slides from the American Museum of Natural History where Miss Matthew spends much of her time in scientific research.

Massachusetts Board Justifies Ruling by Financial Condition of Candy Industry.

Boston, Oct. 13.—Cost of living, $13.50; minimum wage, $12. That's a decree handed down today by the State Minimum Wage Commission in regard to women and girls in the so-called "minor candies" or minor lines of confectionery and food preparations.

The decree brought back enquiries to the commission, the gist of which was: "How can a minimum wage of $12 be enough for a woman or girl whose cost of living you find to be $13.50? How about the gap of $1.50?"

A member of the commission said this minimum wage was established "on account of the financial condition of the industry. The commission came as near to it (the living cost), as it could and have the business survive at the present time."

The commission, in its decision pointed out that "operations of Massachusetts law require wage boards to consider not only the amount required to maintain employees in health, but the financial condition of the occupation in question, and the effect of any wage increase in the minimum rate of wages paid."

The commission added that Massachusetts is the only State with the minimum wage legislation having this provision.

The wage board, which investigated and then recommended a minimum wage of $12, found that the cost of living for a self-supporting girl in Massachusetts under present conditions is $13.50 a week. This budget is itemized thus:

Board and lodging	$8.60
Clothing	2.50
Laundry	20
Carfare	40
Doctor and dentist	50
Church	15
Self-improvement, recreation and community interests	50
Vacation	20
Reserve for emergency	30
Incidentals	25

Total $13.50
Which of these weekly items the wage board is supposed to omit in order to make up the $1.50 difference is not stated.

GIRLS' WAGES CUT AWAY BELOW LIVING COST

Coreans Ask Hearing At Coming Conference

Present Appeal to American Delegation.

Washington, Oct. 13.—The Korean Commission today presented to the American delegation to the conference on limitation of armament an appeal for an opportunity to fully present the cause of the Korean people to your delegation, to the end that you will either present it to the conference or that you will create an opportunity for us to do so.

The commission said through Senator Charles S. Thomas of Colorado, its special counsel.

Since the fundamental principle of the coming conference must be the inalienability of treaties, the Korean delegation said, the Korean question will be a simple one to adjudicate.

"Without exception," the appeal declared, "every nation invited to the conference made a treaty with Korea, agreeing to use its good offices to prevent oppression in Korea, and each nation recognized Korea as an independent State."

Finest Iron Gates Are Going To U. S.

Wittenban Art Treasures for Long Island Mansion.

London, Oct. 13.—What are described by connoisseurs as "the finest wrought iron and lead gates in England, artistically and historically," are soon to be erected on the estate of William Robertson Cos. at Oyster Bay, Long Island.

This art treasure, known as the Carshalton Gates, was purchased for Mr. Robertson by the late Sir William Robertson for a sum estimated at $100,000. Since their purchase they have been carefully mounted at Carshalton estate in Surrey, repaired and packed for shipment to America, where they should arrive some time this month on the Oyster Bay estate.

The gates have an interesting history. They were erected late in the seventeenth century for Sir William Swanton on the manor of Carshalton, who intended them as the ornamental approach to a fine country mansion, which, however, he never built.

The designer was the famous architect, Thomas Robinson, whose rail in the morning chapel at St. Paul's is another monument to his genius.

Thomas Swanton, Sir William's younger brother, on inheriting Carshalton, also announced his intention of building a mansion to back up the gates but for some unrecorded reason never accomplished his intent. Since then the gates have stood lonely sentinels over the empty estate.

In 1914 Lord Wittenban bought them with the idea of erecting them at the entrance to his estate in Berkshire, but the war intervened and with the land and other taxes that succeeded, he found it impossible to effect the removal.

And so, after waiting two centuries and a half to screen a home, they are at last to afford the stately approach to an American country house.

The gates cover a span of 113 feet, bounded and interspersed by four-sided pillars of wrought iron which are capped by openwork and finials of crow-like design. The outermost bounding pillars are of Portland stone, seven feet in height, and capped with specially fine figures in lead of Artistic design.

Both these figures have been badly pitted by shotgun bullets fired by stray vandals, but they are being restored to their former beauty by Englishmen, the most skilled workers in lead.

Since the purchase of the gates became known in art circles a week ago several wealthy Englishmen have attempted to rob them from Mr. Cob, at a considerably advanced figure, but the new American owner has steadfastly refused to part with his "find."

Hoboken's Mayor And Four Arrested

Commissioners Accused of Conspiracy to Defraud the City on Contract Deals.

New York, Oct. 13.—Mayor Patrick A. McCarty and four other commissioners comprising the city administration were arrested yesterday on charges of conspiracy and maladministration and arraigned before Judge James W. McCarty in the Court of Common Pleas, Jersey City. The complainant, Joseph F. McBride, 1017 Willow avenue, Hoboken, a taxpayer, charges conspiracy to defraud the city of Hoboken and maladministration in the letting of contracts for city work in excess of $500 without competitive bidding.

Corporation Counsel John U. Fallon asked the court not to require officials to furnish bail, as the charges in the complaint have been submitted twice to Hudson county grand jurors without result, he said, and because all of the men have been re-elected since the alleged commission of the acts.

Judge McCarty released the defendants in the custody of Mr. Fallon, but told him the charges were serious and that he hoped the County Prosecutor would ask the Grand Jury to give them early attention. After the hearing Mr. McBride, the complainant, said the alleged illegal acts never had been investigated by the Grand Jury, as Mr. Fallon stated.

Col. George T. Vickers, Assistant County Prosecutor, made no protest against the paroling of the prisoners without bail. He said that his impression was that the allegations had been submitted to several Hudson county Grand Jurors hereafter.

Continuation was created in the Corporation Counsel's office by the temporary disappearance of the warrants for the arrests of the five defendants. Judge McCarty issued the warrants Friday and gave them to Col. Vickers but when Prosecutor Garvin sought to serve them on Sunday they were nowhere to be found. Col. Vickers explained that he had notified the Corporation Counsel to produce the men and had locked warrants in his safe.

Besides Mayor Griffin, the commissioners arrested are Gustav Bach, director of revenue and finance; James H. Loughran, director of streets and public improvement; Bernard N. Fogarty, director of public safety, and Harry L. Schmulling, director of parks and public property.

DAZZLING, BLINDING DOUBLE PLAY PROVED THE WATERLOO FOR AMERICAN LEAGUERS

Giants Crowned Kings of Baseball Universe in Game a Fitting Climax to the Most Remarkable, Best Played and Hardest Fought Series in History of Diamond Classic.

Continued from Page 1. and went to third on a sacrifice by Snyder, but Nehf forced him at the plate, so Burns' single, which followed out there on the turtle back, pitching for all they were worth—pitching now with their brains, now with their flexible muscles—one hurrying to prevent a great victory, the other striving with every iota of his young enthusiasm and determination to stave off disaster for that one, all important day and force the opposition to stand the test of a ninth game.

Each got himself into trying situations. Nehf got himself into trouble mainly through wildness; Hoyt found himself in hot water through hitting the square, while the Yankees hit only in the fourth inning, in which they got a couple of singles and a pass to fill the bases with two out.

*Ruth batted for Pipp in ninth. The summary: Two-base hits, Rawlings (2); sacrifice hits, Snyder (2); stolen base, Young; double-play, Bancroft to Rawlings to Kelly; bases on balls, off Hoyt 3, off Nehf 4; struck out, by Hoyt 5, by Nehf 3; left on bases, Yankees 7, Giants 8; umpires, Chill at the plate, Rigler at first, Moriarty at second, Quigley at third.

The Elsie Won At Gloucester

Captain "Marty" Welch Was at the Wheel of Winner in Elimination Race.

Gloucester, Mass., Oct. 13.—Captain Martin L. Welch, who last year sailed the Gloucester fishing schooner Esperanto to victory over the Canadian champion Delawanna of Halifax in the North Atlantic fishermen's cup races, will be at the wheel on another Gloucester boat to defend the cup in the races this year.

The Elsie with Capt. "Marty" at the wheel and manned by a large number of the same crew that handled the Esperanto a year ago, won the elimination race on Gloucester today, crossing the line eleven minutes and twenty-two seconds, or nearly a mile ahead of the second boat, the Ralph Brown, under the command of Capt. Alvaro Quadros.

The Arthur James finished third, with the Elsie G. Silva and Phillip P. Mania, a Provincetown boat, a mile and a half behind the James. It was a perfect racing day, with just enough chop on the sea and a twenty-five mile wind blowing north-northwest. The forty mile course ran along the shore from the masterly hand of whistling buoy of Eastern point and then in a 90 mile triangle out to sea. Scores of boats pecked with spectators and thousands along the shore, saw the start and finish.

But the Silva got off in fine starts and the first five mile leg was spent in the prettiest part of the race in a spectacular run for position the James managed to get a weather position, but at that could only round the mark about half a length ahead of the Elsie, and a collision nearly occurred at the turn. The second lap, or first ten miles was a close reach and Capt. "Marty" brought the Elsie right out in front, putting the James and the Elsie higher in the wind. At the second mark she led the Brown by two minutes, the Silva and James running two minutes behind the Brown and the Mania half a mile in the store. The next lap was a broad reach, the boats going on a port tack with booms well off. The Elsie greatly increased her lead by passing the mark this time eight minutes ahead of the Brown.

The next ten mile leg was a dead beat to windward, the Elsie making it in two minutes, a short leg and a long start and the first five mile leg was the last leg in which the Elsie lapped on three more minutes to her lead. The defender is a fisherman, 187 tons gross, 98 tons net, 106 feet in length, 26 feet wide, and 11.5 feet deep. Built at Essex in 1910 and now owned by Captain Alden Gale, Capt. "Marty" and his crew will sail the Elsie east to Halifax on Saturday, at which time the Canadian elimination race will be held.

NEW YORK NATIONAL GIANTS GOOD, NOT GREAT, BUT GAME BALL CLUB

John McGraw's Men Are Hard to Beat in the 1921 World's Series — Pittsburgh Was Easy Picking for Giants Throughout the Season.

Ability to knock off its leading contender was the determining factor in the winning of the National League pennant by the New York Giants. Pittsburgh was easy picking for the Giants throughout the year. McGraw's team won 16 out of the 18 clashes. That wide margin of difference between the two clubs decided the issue.

That would make it seem that New York was the superior club. There seems to be considerable difference of opinion on that point. The fact remains that the Giants could beat the Pirates almost as they pleased. With scarcely a month to play, Pittsburgh enjoyed a seven and one-half game lead. Then followed a five-game series between New York and Pittsburgh, the former winning five straight. That was the blow that killed the Pirates.

Giants Not Great Club. The New York Giants are not a great ball club. There are no great teams in either the American or National leagues. However, the Giants are a game, tussling aggregation, led by two of the most aggressive managers in the game, John McGraw and Hughie Jennings. Such a combination of playing strength and leadership makes the Giants size up as a pretty formidable aggregation to beat in a world series, which calls for gameness and aggressiveness more than anything else.

Good pitching is most essential for a pennant-winning team. During the greater part of the 1921 campaign the Giants did not get good pitching. They can't get the impression from that statement that the Giants are lacking in capable pitchers. It just seems that at no one time was McGraw able to have four pitchers working smoothly.

During the greater part of the season, the last month of play excepted, McGraw usually had only two pitchers on whom he could depend. The dependable pitchers were not always the same fellows. For perhaps a month two certain pitchers would carry the burden, and then, as two more would round into form, the two dependable would develop a mediocre streak.

Giants Game Despite Hurling. It takes a game ball club to keep pitching along with a pitching staff lacking in consistency. At one stage of the race it seemed the Giants were hopelessly out of it. It seemed impossible for McGraw's club to combine hitting with pitching. Then there came a break, the pitchers rounded into form. Good pitching was aided by timely hitting and brilliant fielding, and the Giants were on their way.

He's Making Bid To Regain Crown

Johnny Ertle, the clever St. Paul boxer and ex-world champion bantam weight, is doing a great "come-back." After losing the title, he retired for more than a year, but he is now out to wrest the crown from Johnny Buff. Ertle has won the three bouts he has contested recently, gaining considerable prestige by knocking out Johnnie Rickles in third round. Ertle will be put to the acid test here on Oct. 17, when he meets "Babe" Asher, of Chicago.

Two Fine Right-Handers.

In Toney and Barnes McGraw has two corking good right-handers. The rough going ones. That goes for Douglas in the National. If there is one flaw in the work of Douglas it is his lack of control at times. A club that waits him out, very often proves most troublesome, and a wild pitch often is fatal to his chances in the final meeting of 1911 between McGraw and Pirates, Douglas wild-pitched himself to defeat with the score a tie.

Giants Strong Behind Bat.

Back of the bat New York is well fortified. There may be individual slumps on either Smith or Snyder, but no club can offer a greater combined strength. Both are fine receivers, good throwers and hard hitters. Smith, a left-handed hitter, is used by McGraw with a right-hander opposing, while Snyder draws the assignment against a southpaw. The New York infield is a bit lopsided on the right side of the diamond, and are two of the greatest ball players in the business. On the left side of the infield two good players, but far from great. Frank Frisch is poor of the third sackers in either major leagues. At shortstop it would be impossible to improve on the brilliant Bancroft. At second is Rawlings, who has seen service with a number of National league clubs. Rawlings is far from a great player, but he is of the winning type, as much desired by McGraw. Kelly fields well, and is the singular type as a batsman. Despite the disparity between the right and left side of the diamond, The New York infield is above the average. In the outfield Ertle is good. Outfield is good. This trio makes up an outfield that compares favorably with that of any other major league club. It isn't weak in a single department of the game. The addition of Meusel from Philadelphia rounded out the New York club, despite the fact that Meusel failed miserably at bat for two or three weeks. A natural hitter, he wasn't to be denied, and he struck his stride just at the time the Giants went into high gear as a team. George Burns is a great ballplayer, who has never attracted the attention he would merit. Burns, Meusel and Young can hit, throw and field, also run, and are sure to be heard from in the series. In conclusion the Giants are good, but not great. However, they are game, and game ball clubs are often harder to beat than great ones.

BRAZIL TRIES TO CORNER WORLD'S COFFEE SUPPLY

Absolute Control Means Selling Price of Coffee in New York.

Miles W. Vaughn. (United Press Staff Correspondent.) Rio de Janeiro, Oct. 13.—It is generally believed that the next three months will witness the success or failure of the coffee valorization plan recently instituted by the Brazilian government.

Opinion on the outcome of the gigantic scheme—which is nothing less than cornering the coffee supply of the world—varies. Count Alexandre Siallano, chief of the valorization committee, is confident of its success and declares that within a few weeks the Brazilian government will be in a position to absolutely control the price of coffee in New York.

Opponents of the plan advance these arguments: Coffee is sold in Santos and Rio de Janeiro for paper millrais, and the big New York houses are in a position to hammer down Brazilian exchange so that the selling price of coffee in gold—U. S. dollars—will not vary, no matter what the price in millrais.

The government runs the great danger of stimulating coffee production in other countries—namely Porto Rico, Mexico, Colombia, and Venezuela—permanently joining for Brazil the position of the foremost coffee country of the world.

Outlining the position of the government in a speech at Santos, President Epitacio Pessoa said: "The valorization of coffee is not a problem for the state of Sao Paulo (the great coffee raising state) alone, but for the nation because coffee constitutes our greatest source of National income."

The President recalls the silk valorization scheme of Japan, and other similar plans, declaring that no matter what the success or failure of these have been, Brazil is bound to win out in her present plan, because: "We produce 75 per cent. of the world's coffee, and when a nation thus dominates the market for a necessity like coffee, she can be certain of dominating the price."

The President said the coffee crop for the season 1921-22 is estimated at 15,500,000 bags, and that a shortage is bound to result since consumption during the year 1920-21 was 18,499,000 bags, and that consumption during the current year shows a tendency to exceed even that figure. Prohibition has caused a great increase in coffee consumption in the United States, the President declared.

Digging into Work of Ku Klux Klan

The Organization Has Taken in 1,468,710 Since Its Foundation.

Washington, Oct. 13.—Digging into the activities of the Ku Klux Klan, the house rules committee developed by testimony today that the organization had taken in 1,468,710 since its foundation, that the department of justice was still conducting an investigation of its own and that, according to the Klan's confidential informant to field agents, the chief of Police of Norfolk, Va., was a member.

Through news letters said to have been sent from Klan headquarters and not intended for general publication, the statement also was made that the Norfolk chief had promised 260 rifles to the local order "in time of trouble," and that Representative Upshaw, democrat of Georgia, in whose home district the Klan was born, had been put to it to deny membership in the Klan, and at the same time acquiesce in its activities as a preacher and church member.

The imperial wizard of the Ku Klux Klan, William J. Simmons of Atlanta, sat all day in the crowded committee room and heard witnesses declare that he was not its actual head, that all powers seemed vested in Edward Young Clarke, head of the publicity bureau, and Mrs. Elizabeth Tyler, his assistant. The committee will put the imperial wizard on the stand probably tomorrow.

All of the evidence today was by witnesses demanding an inquiry and those who had conducted independent inquiries for the post office department and newspapers.

O. B. Williamson, a post office inspector, told of a seven day preliminary investigation at around the imperial palace at Atlanta. Mr. Williamson, who presented the news letter in evidence, declared they had been sent out to stimulate the drive for members at ten dollars a head. Asked by Chairman Campbell if any part of the funds collected by the Klan had been spent for the needy, the witness replied:

"If you call Colonel Simmons needy then some thousands were spent for him, but none for charity. Colonel Simmons' salary is $1,000 a month."

C. Anderson Wright, a former Klansman, who testified he quit the Klan because he objected to the methods of management by Clarke and Mrs. Tyler, was pressed by committee members as to whether he acted in violence committed by alleged Klansmen actually to the organization, but he added that he had no knowledge of such affairs nor was he able to state whether members of congress belonged to the organization, but he added that Simmons had "openly boasted" of a congressional membership list.

Representative Gallivan, Boston, made a plea to the committee to consider his resolution providing for appointment of a joint committee of the senate and house to ascertain if members of congress were identified with the Ku Klux.

VICTORIA CROSS FOR "UNKNOWN HERO" OF U. S.

Britain Plans Unprecedented Honor at Time of Medal Presentation There.

London, Oct. 13.—Official London sources today announced that there is a disposition on the part of some American to feel that Great Britain has slighted the mission of Gen. John J. Pershing to lay the Congressional Medal of Honor on the grave of British "unknown warrior" at Westminster. It was explained here today that, far from being a slight, the British delay in officially inviting Pershing to London at this time was due to the desire to render an unprecedented honor to America's unknown hero at the same time the Congressional medal was conferred here. That unprecedented honor is the Victoria Cross.

Never since its institution has this decoration been given except for extraordinary gallantry by some British soldier on the field of battle, and in a manner beyond the requirements of duty—almost the same formula as the Congressional medal.

The news of Gen. Pershing's mission to bestow the Congressional medal on Great Britain's "unknown warrior" case here at a time when every official was away from London, both the King and the Prime Minister being in the Highlands of Scotland, and the entire Cabinet scattered. Parliament was not in session, and law officials held that the Victoria Cross could not be bestowed on America's "unknown warrior" without an act of Parliament.

Gen. Pershing has been appraised informally of this state of affairs, and it is understood here that he personally appreciates why an official invitation to come to London has not been forwarded to him. It was intimated here that British felt it would be better to officially ignore Gen. Pershing's presence in Europe at this time than to let him come to London with America's highest decoration for Great Britain's unknown hero.

It was said that if Parliament were sitting on October 15 it could not pass an authorization to bestow the Victoria Cross on the American "unknown warrior" and arrange for the ceremony before Gen. Pershing left for the United States, on October 20. Therefore it was decided that Major-Gen. Henry T. Allen, commanding the American forces on the Rhine, or some other high officer of the United States Army, should be sent to London to present the medal and hence to ascertain if members of congress were identified with the Ku Klux.

Matters Before Common Council

Matter of Replacing Water Main Held Over for Word from Government.

At a meeting of the common council yesterday morning Commissioner Jones presented his report on this proposed renewal in the west side as follows:

Within a very short time the Lock Joint Pipe Co., who have the contract for laying of a thirty-six inch main to Spruce Lake will have completed their labor and will then commence to dismantle their plant preliminary to removing it to other fields of activity.

Much yet, however, remains to be done before it will be possible to get the full benefits from the expenditure we have already incurred in this venture.

It will be necessary in order that the west side inhabitants may benefit to the fullest extent from the increased supply of water from the new main to lay another twenty-four inch pipe from Barnhill's corner eastward to the reservoir, a distance of about 3,700 feet...

The sum of $61,000 necessary to complete the new extension and give the west side practically a new water system will materially add to the cost of the work on hand.

Mr. Bufflock said he had heard a report that a 24 inch joint had been placed in the 36-inch Spruce Lake main and he could see no reason for it. Mr. Jones replied that he knew nothing of this.

Commissioner Frink said if any water extensions were planned he would rather see a reconstruction of the city main from Phinney's hill to Lake Lantz...

On Suspicion of Serious Charge

Geo. V. Parker Charged With Receiving Stolen Property to Value of $337.50.

A squad of city detectives and C. P. R. police made a raid on the barber shop of George V. Parker, Mill street, at four o'clock yesterday afternoon and placed him under arrest on a warrant charging him on suspicion of receiving stolen property...

The list of accident cases in the past few days have been quite numerous while yesterday brought still more to the hospital.

Arthur Thorne, aged 30, a married man, suffered injuries to his left leg and also to an arm while working yesterday on the site of the McAvoy oil station at Courtenay Bay.

Frank Cobham, employed with the city water department, suffered a severe cut on the head and an injury to his chest in being thrown against a concrete mixer while the machine was being started to clean the plant yesterday morning.

Roy Mayes, Queensdown, N. B., an employee of the Bedford Construction Company had his left hand cut at Courtenay Bay on Wednesday evening which necessitated an amputation of one finger at the hospital where he was removed.

The condition of Harry Chown, who was badly scalded while at work in the Power Company plant on Wednesday, is reported to be quite serious, but it is expected that he will recover.

Joseph Frennett, an inmate, was missed at 7.30—Found Hiding Behind Door. The guards at the Provincial Hospital were out last evening searching the neighborhood of the institution for Joseph Frennett, an inmate who was missed at 7.30 last evening.

Excitement On Prince Edward St.

William Thibideau Escaped from Policeman—Found Later Wearing Handcuffs.

William Thibideau furnished some excitement in Prince Edward street at about 3.30 yesterday afternoon, where he was placed under arrest by Policeman Orr.

The roving drunk was arrested about an hour later by sergeant Detective Power and Police Sergeant McCleese, in his room in a local hotel where he was found to be badly engaged in filling off, the bright steel barometer which adorned one wall.

There is no doubt that the magistrate will see his way clear to give him "a little more time" but as the police have recovered the handcuffs no doubt some other task than that of a filing clerk, will be assigned to his attentions.

In addition to being drunk, he is charged with resisting arrest, escaping, and also with the destruction of a pair of handcuffs.
