MAIL ORDERS

We solicit out of town orders which receive our personal attention. The length of time taken to fill orders is governed very largely by how busy we are in the department of our factory in which the particular goods are made. While we have exceptional facilities for promptly turning out goods, it is important to place orders ahead as possible. Orders are filled by us in the rotation in which they are received, and customers can always depend on our doing everything in reason to give prompt despatch.

ORGANIZE FOR THE PEACE MOVEMENT

Good Meeting Held on Wednesday Afternoon and Proposal to Hold Celebration Adopted

On Wednesday afternoon, a representative gathering of business and professional men, met in the Council Chambers in response to an invitation extended to meet Mr. E. W. Scammell, the organizing secretary of the Canadian Peace Association. His Worship Mayor Andrew presided and briefly explained the objects of the Association, which were to mark the centenary of peace between the United States and Britain. All over the continent, various towns and cities had been selected as centres for this celebration, which will take place next summer, and out of the seven selected in New Brunswick, he felt sure that we in Campbellton would show as we had done in the past, that we were capable of carrying a project of this kind to a most successful issue. He said that after listening to Mr. Scammell, it would remain with us whether we accepted the invitation of the Association or not, and called on that gentleman to address the meeting.

Mr. Scammell explained that on Christmas Eve 1914, it would be One Hundred Years since the signing of the Treaty of Ghent, by which the unfortunate war of 1812, between the

MR. E. W. SCAMMELL
Secy Canadian Peace Association

United States and Great Britain, was brought to a conclusion, and it had been felt by a large number of people in Great Britain, Canada and United States that the centenary of so unique an event should be adequately celebrated in all three countries. Committees had been formed for that purpose in America, Great Britain and Canada, and last May a conference had been held in New York between representatives of the three committees at which several plans were discussed, and a general scheme of celebration recommended. These recommendations embraced four main points:

1. The erection of monuments.
2. Thanksgiving Services in the churches.

His Worship asked the chairman of the various departments to have their estimates ready for next night of meeting, so that the assessment need not be delayed. It was pointed out in this connection, however, that there was no necessity for the assessors waiting for this as they could go ahead now, and have their valuation all ready before the amount of the appropriation was made up.

Councillor McLean drew the attention of the Water and Sewerage Committee to the large amount of waste there was in the using of water by our own Electric Light plant, and other concerns in the town. He thought if this was remedied, we would not be up against the same lack of water as we were a few weeks ago. This matter would be looked into by the water department.

His Worship stated that there were a number of applications for electric street lighting equipment, but as he desired some further particulars relative to the present plant, he would not bring the matter before them just now.

The Water and Sewerage department were authorized to get prices on a working alvein or wregon for use in the department.

Mr. Wm. Taylor was re-appointed Street Commissioner, after which the Council adjourned.

CLEAN UP DAY NOW ESTABLISHED FACT

Streets Committee and Board of Health Will Take Active Part in The Campaign

The agitation started to have a regular clean up day in the town, is now bearing fruit. The Board of Health are interested and have issued notices calling for the cleaning up of yards and premises, and Councillor Patterson, chairman of the Streets Committee is most sympathetic toward the movement. The Council and the Board of Health ask the citizens to co-operate with them and have a thorough clean up of their premises. Along Water Street especially, there are many open basements and premises that have not been looked well since the celebration in 1912. Then their ugliness and unsightliness were mercifully hidden by the cedar boughs planted around them. It would not cost the owners much to have these places at least made tidy, and their value would be much enhanced to an occasional stranger.

For those who under stress of circumstances are unable to pay for teams to haul the rubbish to the dumping ground or who may have only a small quantity of refuse to dispose of, Councillor Patterson will receive requests for the use of the town teams for hauling this rubbish to the dumping ground free, in so far as he can with the teams at his disposal. There has often been heard the cry of some who claim they are unable to pay 75c to haul one barrel of rubbish to the dumping ground, so that if they put their application in early, they will not have that excuse this year. For the benefit of the town and the health of the citizens, the authorities trust that the pride of the town's people will be awakened and carry the clean up campaign to a successful issue. The Board of Health will grant free lime to all citizens desirous of having it, who will have their yards and premises cleaned up before the 23rd of May. Now all together. Who will have the best cleaned up lot?

3. An educational propaganda in the schools and universities.
4. Public festivals in a number of centres.

Three monuments were to be erected, one in London, one in Washington, and one in Ottawa, the foundation stones of which were to be laid respectively by the King, the President of the United States and the Governor General of Canada. In addition it was proposed to erect monuments possibly of identical design, along the International boundary where high-ways intersect that boundary. It had also been suggested that archways should be placed at the points where the Highways from Vancouver to Los Angeles and from Quebec to Maine crossed the International boundary. He hoped that monuments would be erected in some of the centres of celebration, but that would depend largely upon the amount of money which would be available.

In regard to the second proposal he was glad to say that the churches in Canada had signified their desire to

ST. ANDREW'S CHURCH ACTS TO REMAIN

F. P. Drumm Has Refused Call to St. Andrew's Church in Halifax

At a session meeting of St. Andrew's church held last evening, the Rev. T. P. Drumm officially notified the church that he had refused the call to St. Andrew's church, Halifax, electing to remain in Campbellton. The Rev. gentleman notified the church at the time of his refusal, but unfortunately his wife did not reach there in time, and the call was unanimously sustained by the Presbytery.

St. Andrew's church, Halifax, is one of the oldest churches in the Maritime Provinces, and is a splendid medium for great work and service in that city. It was with feelings of deep regret that the members of the church heard of the call to Halifax, and now that the position is known, the fears of the congregation are allayed. It is of great satisfaction to note that the Rev. gentleman elects "to remain in Campbellton" for some time yet at least. The call to a church of this size and importance in a city like Halifax is a signal honour, and St. Andrew's church here feel proud that their minister is reckoned among the best in the Eastern provinces.

DATES WANTED

Who can supply the public with the dates upon which the ice ran, for the past twenty or thirty years? There has been considerable discussion as to the lateness of the season, but we contend that a few years ago the ice was in the river several days later.

co-operate with the Association in the holding of services of thanks-giving on a Sunday to be selected.

The most important feature of the whole celebration was its educational side. The peace of the next hundred years would depend upon the children of today, and he declared it to be of the greatest importance that the boys and girls should be made to feel that they had a special part in the celebration. By this means many misapprehensions still existing between the people of Canada and the States would be removed, and the good relations that had long existed would be cemented, and, if possible, become more cordial. It was suggested that there be a revision of the school histories, giving due prominence to the peace of 1812, and to those treaties which had made the long peace possible. There had been several occasions during the last hundred years when differences had arisen between the two countries, and war would have occurred had it not been that the good sense of the people intervened. It was, therefore, proposed to invite the schools throughout Canada to submit essays dealing with Anglo-American relations, and the general benefits which had attended the hundred years of peace. These essays were to be submitted to an educational Committee in Ottawa and Dominion prize awards, Tableaux and simple pageants were to be arranged, there was to be a general school holiday, and schools in the United States and Canada, remote from any centre, would thus be enabled to

Do you wear Holeproof?

If not why not? Are't you aware of the wonderful guarantee of six pairs lasting six months? If you wear them out before this time simply box 'em up with the guarantee which is made out by us with each sale of six pairs, and send by mail to the Holeproof Hosiery Co., London Can., and the return mail will bring six brand new pairs to replace the worn out ones.

Do you realise what this means? It means twelve pairs of stockings, the best quality made, for the price of six if you wear out the first six within the guarantee time limit.

Nothing in value approaching this has been offered the public for many a day.

Do you wonder we style "Holeproof" "worth while hosiery"?

Wear 'em and you'll second our motion.

Keeping Out of the Ruts

The blood of a business which advertises regularly runs faster than the blood of a business which rarely or never opens its mouth.

Men who get in ruts grow to like ruts. There is a certain comfort and contentment in routine—which word is very close to "rutine." Advertising compels the advertiser to bestir himself—and since he advertises to YOU, since he wants your favor and custom, you can be pretty sure that he is doing his best to deserve your favor and custom.

LIBERAL ELECTED FOR BONAVENTURE CO.

Mr. Fabien Bujaud Elected by Acclamation to Seat Recently Vacated by Hon. J. H. Kelly

New Carlisle, May 8th, 1914.—For the first time since 1888, when the Honorable Honore Mercier ex-Premier of this Province, was elected in Bonaventure, we have had the pleasure of having an election by acclamation in this county (sure sign opposition is falling mighty fast) when yesterday Mr. Fabien Bujaud, advocate of New Carlisle, has been elected for this county, to replace the seat left vacant by the appointment of Honorable John Hall Kelly to the Legislative Council.

Our first duty is to hearty congratulate Mr. Bujaud for his great success, and we must say well deserved, as Mr. Bujaud is the only man we believe capable in this county of replacing the Honorable Mr. Kelly, and to follow his footsteps in the great work the Honorable Mr. Kelly has begun. Mr. Bujaud was born in Bonaventure 38 years ago, his father was a farmer there, and he lost his mother in his early days. From early childhood to now he has known what hardships mean, and by himself, by his own hard labor and energy, he succeeded in rising from the humble position of fishing on the North Shore, to lawyer and M. P. P., which he occupies today, and in a few words we may say that if there is a self-made man in Bonaventure to-day, this man is Mr. Fabien Bujaud, advocate and M.P.P. for this county.

FRANK HAYNES PAYS EXTREME PENALTY

Atkinson's Murdered Left Behind Full Written Confession of Crime

Sydney, N.S., May 8.—Frank Haynes expelled the murder of B. S. Atkinson on the scaffold this afternoon at 5.41. Haynes walked firmly to the scaffold. Standing in the centre of the trap, and with the noose placed around his neck, Haynes asked for the doctor, who placed a morphine tablet in the prisoner's mouth. His words to the doctor were his last, and Rev. J. W. McConnell said the prayers. As he finished the Lord's Prayer, "for ever and ever," Hangman Holmes sprang the trap.

Haynes made a full written confession of his crime in the presence of Jailer Kinn and Capt. Furton. STORY OF THE CRIME.

The crime for which Haynes paid the extreme penalty brought to light a story which held the people of the maritime provinces enthralled for many months. On the night of the fifteenth of August last, the body of Benjamin S. Atkinson, proprietor of the Minto Hotel, Sydney, and a well-known horseman, was found on the road eight miles from the city. Atkinson had a bungalow at Mira and the original supposition was that he had been killed as a result of his horse bolting. There were a number of suspicious circumstances connected with the case, however, and the arrest of Haynes followed an investigation. Haynes, who is supposed to be a native of Nevada, only arrived in Sydney in the early summer of last year. He had been on intimate terms with Mrs. Atkinson, the wife of the murdered man, and maintained a camp in the woods near the scene of the murder. Mrs. Atkinson and a brother, William Maddin, were also arrested, charged with complicity in the murder, but the charges against them were subsequently dropped. At the trial of Haynes a letter was introduced by the Crown which had been written by the prisoner to a young woman living in Los Angeles. This letter proved to be the undoing of the case worked up by the counsel for Haynes. It asked the woman to whom it was addressed to write the prisoner, explaining how he came into possession of the eighty— in Canadian currency found on him when arrested.

The woman in question happened to be employed at the time by a detective agency. She showed the letter to her employers and they turned it over to the Crown authorities at Sydney.

MAY MEMORIES

In the spring the sunny blackbird Whistles to his little mate And a thrush is busy building Just inside the garden gate. There is a robin in the maple And a wild canary, too— And each little bird is calling— As I call, my love, to you.

Farther off, across the prairie, Walls the plaintive whippoorwill, And a meadow lark is singing In the grass, when all is still. And, as each bird calls, another Answers to him, sweet and clear.

Oh, I too am calling—calling— But my darling does not hear.

A quack doctor was holding forth about his "medicines" to a rural audience.

"The gentlemen," he said, "I have sold these pills for over twenty-five years and never heard a word of complaint. Now what does that prove?" From a voice in the crowd came, "That dead men tell no tales."

PROTECTING HOME MERCHANTS

Do our local merchants merit the free "Buy at Home" publicity campaign now being conducted by the local newspapers. Do they encourage these papers by placing the advertisements in their columns, and by giving them their orders for printed stationery, etc.?

Are the papers justified in refusing mail order advertising from the large city houses, and other objectional advertising which is frequently offered them?

These two questions have an important bearing upon the business interests of our town.

In the past, the Graphic has contended that the merchants are entitled to some consideration, and the management of this paper have turned down contracts for advertising, aggregating hundreds of dollars a year, because they felt that it was this paper's duty to endeavor in every way to build up the trade of these merchants; to encourage its readers to buy at home.

The Graphic also refuses to insert objectional advertising; advertising which might corrupt the morals of the young, or advertise in any way articles the use of which are detrimental to mankind. Only recently a contract for a brewery concern was offered us at very high rates. This advertising was sent us in plate form, but although the amount of the contract was large, larger than any single local merchant's, we would not accept, preferring to keep our columns clean and above reproach.

We wish to make the Graphic a paper, which can enter any home and be read by every member of it.

That our policy is appreciated, we feel sure. The fact that this paper now goes into over three thousand homes in this territory, speaks for itself.

But there are still many merchants in Campbellton and throughout this territory, who do not advertise regularly. To these we wish to say that they are losing an opportunity of expanding their business. It is a recognized fact that in this age, advertising pay, and we invite all to use our advertising space.

The Graphic is each week read by at least 15,000 people, as each paper is read on an average by at least five persons.

THE INTERCOLONIAL

The Toronto Globe says:—
The general dissatisfaction in the Maritime Provinces with Mr. Gutelius' methods of managing the people's railway has found expression in a motion of condemnation presented by Hon. Mr. Emmerson and vigorously supported by a number of members sitting for constituencies along the line of the I. C. R., who agreed with him that the present methods of the management are oppressive and unfair to the public and to the employees of the road. Put into a sentence, the trouble seems to be "Too much Gutelius."

The Hon. Geo. P. Graham presented what is undoubtedly the prevalent opinion among the business men of Ontario when he said that few, if any, of them wish the Intercolonial to be run to make money. The people of the East, he holds, are just as much entitled to have the Intercolonial run independent of a profit, so long as it pays its way, as the people of Ontario are to have the canal system operated in the same way. That, however, is not the idea of the Cochrane-Gutelius management. The methods adopted to increase revenue have exasperated shippers, and this feeling of exasperation has been still further increased by the importation of American officials, who seem, in not a few cases, to be even less tactful than Mr. Gutelius himself.

Mr. Graham, who as Minister of Railways in the later years of the Laurier Government had a good deal of experience in operating the I. C. R., says the Intercolonial cannot be run with a club. If an official has no tact, if he goes on with the idea that he is running a big company road, and says to the shippers and passengers: "If you do not like this I will hit you on the head," and says to the employees: "If you do not want to work over the Intercolonial at this rate of pay I can get plenty of men to take your places," he will always make a failure of it, no matter how laudible his object may be.

This undoubtedly expresses the ripe wisdom of experience. It is not so much what has been done along the Intercolonial that has alienated the people as the arbitrary way in which action has been taken.

Mr. Cochrane himself is about as conciliatory as a polar bear, and in Manager Gutelius he has found, it would seem, a man after his own heart. The result is a greater degree of friction than the Intercolonial has labored under for many a year. Before the next general election Mr. Borden will probably be forced to admit that the Maritime Provinces are suffering from "Too much Gutelius."

The people of New Brunswick join with the St. John Evening Times when it says that "universal sympathy goes out to Hon. William Pugsley and all the members of the family in the hour of their sore bereavement. Mrs. Pugsley, whose death occurred Monday morning, had suffered a long illness, and her condition has been recognized as critical for some time past. Beloved by her family, and held in the highest regard by all who knew her fine qualities of mind and heart, her death is deeply mourned. Very specially does sympathy go out to Hon. William Pugsley, who has himself so lately suffered severe illness, and is now called upon to bear so great a loss. Friends throughout Canada share the sorrow of the mourning family."

Employees of the Parks Department are planting trees along the streets of Toronto at a distance of about 30 feet apart, the intention being to have 10,000 planted before long. In this the civic officials are showing wisdom. Their work, if kept up, will make the city a beautiful and pleasant place to live in, especially in the summer. The people of Montreal a month or more years ago undertook to line the residential streets with shade trees, and viewed from a height the city to-day has the appearance of a small forest. In some cases, where the trees were placed too close together, the thinning out process is now going on. In point of summer foliage there are few towns in the country that can compare with Montreal.

The Montreal Herald:—The appointment of a Royal Commission to investigate the charges against the Premier of New Brunswick and the former Provincial Secretary, was not decided upon a moment or too soon. The charges are of the gravest nature, and would appear to involve not only the individuals named but the whole New Brunswick Government. * * *

This view appears to reflect current opinion in New Brunswick, and it shows that even if the charges wholly unfounded, public confidence will not be restored until there has been a thorough probing.

Sarnia was proclaimed a city by His Royal Highness the Duke of Connaught.

A Chicago man has established a new record by being called a liar seven times in one day and getting soundly thrashed each time when he resented it.

MANY NEW NAMES ON GRAPHIC LIST

Past Week a Record Breaker in Graphic Contest.—Store Coupons Good

As the weather grows warmer and spring is opening up the rivers and roads, the business of getting subscriptions in the Graphic Auto contest is becoming easier, and the past week has been a record breaker as regards the number of new names being added to our list. One candidate alone, added nearly seventy thousand votes to his total, while another was a close second with over sixty thousand.

A few subscriptions are received each week for which no votes are asked. Every person remitting for a new subscription or a renewal, is entitled to votes and should have them entered for one of the candidates.

The standing up to last evening was as follows:

Miss Amy E. Beck, Chandler P. Q., 36,000.

Weston Chisholm, New Carlisle, P. Q., 298,505.

Mrs. Wm. Copeland, Dawsonville, N. B., 4,950.

J. F. Marcotte, New Carlisle, P. Q., 165,055.

George Wilkins, Shives Athol, N. B., 215,139.

Contestants should remember that this contest is entirely separate from the other contest advertised in the Graphic, wherein twelve merchants and the Graphic are giving away another Ford car to the one procuring the largest number of votes. But we have allowed the merchants participating in this other contest the privilege of issuing, with every purchase, coupons for votes which will be good in the Graphic's own contest.

The stores where you can get these coupons are as follows:

Thos. Wran, Druggist.

Leon Cantin, Jeweler.

Central Book Store, Stationery, Etc.

J. F. Gallagher, Dry Goods and Ladies' Wear.

Geo. St. Onge, Groceries and Provisions.

A. A. Andrew, Andrew's Clothing Store.

Miss Urtican, Milliner.

Ferguson Bros., Men's Outfitters.

The Lounsbury Co., Furniture, Etc.

F. E. Shephard & Co., Ladies' Outfitters.

H. C. Montgomery, Jeweler and Sporting Goods.

I. Floyd, Butcher.

SECOND COUNT IN AUTO CONTEST

Many Coupons in Boxes and Candidates Are Working Hard

The second count in the Automobile Contest took place Wednesday and a large number of ballots were found in all the boxes.

From a business standpoint the contest has proved to be very successful. The merchants state that it is accomplishing to a large extent the object for which it was started, to induce citizens to "Buy at Home."

Astevy merchant counts the votes in his own ballot box and keeps the count secret, there is no possibility of the standing of any candidate becoming known so that all have an equal chance if they work hard. A rule which is being closely adhered to is that any candidate buying votes from any person will be disqualified from continuing in the contest. This eliminates any contestant who might have money from buying enough votes to assure the winning of the Auto.

The stores at which Automobile Contest coupons are given are as follows:

Thos. Wran, Druggist.

Leon Cantin, Jeweler.

Central Book Store, Stationery, Etc.

J. F. Gallagher, Dry Goods and Ladies' Wear.

Geo. St. Onge, Groceries and Provisions.

A. A. Andrew, Andrew's Clothing Store.

Miss Urtican, Milliner.

Ferguson Bros., Men's Outfitters.

The Lounsbury Co., Furniture, Etc.

F. E. Shephard & Co., Ladies' Outfitters.

FUNERAL OF LATE MRS. DAVID SANSOM

Last Friday afternoon there passed away to her eternal rest, one who was greatly beloved by all who knew her, Mrs. David Sansom.

She had been in failing health for the past six months, but she bore her illness with uncomplaining patience and Christian resignation. She was the second daughter of Mr. and Mrs. James Bell of Taymouth, her father being a well-known farmer and lumberman in that district, and is owner of the well-known Bell's Hotel in that town. She was married in 1890 to Mr. David Sansom of this town, and was a highly esteemed member of St. Andrew's Presbyterian church, to which she devoted much loving attention. It is but lately that she and her husband donated the exquisite individual communion set which the church now uses. The deceased lady was a niece of Mr. E. A. Bell of Fredericton. She leaves three children, Jean, Quentin, and Jim to the care of a mourning husband, and two sisters, Mrs. Hoyt of Fredericton and Miss Bell, who nursed her through her long illness, and they mourn for one who only in her thirty fifth year, was cut off in the midst of her usefulness and in the flower of her womanhood. The funeral was held on Sunday afternoon, the services being conducted by Rev. W. Gordon Pirih, B. A. of Tide Head, assisted by Rev. J. H. Jenner and Rev. C. W. Squires. A double quartette from St. Andrew's choir, carried out the musical part as arranged by the deceased lady, the hymns sung by them being "Let the lower lights be burning," "Nearer My God to Thee," "Safe in the arms of Jesus" and "Good Night."

About the largest number of mourners turned out, as was ever known here, many being unable to procure teams to take them to the Rural Cemetery, where interment was made. The pall-bearers were, Messrs J. R. McKenna, W. M. Milligan, A. A. Andrew, Jas. R. Craig, H. A. Carr and Jas. D. McMillan. During the time of the funeral procession the bell of the Baptist church was tolled.

The floral tributes were very beautiful, flowers and wreaths being received from many friends, among whom were:

Mr. and Mrs. Wm. Richards.

Mr. and Mrs. John Richards.

Mr. and Mrs. A. E. Bell, Fredericton.

Mr. and Mrs. J. D. McMillan.

Mr. and Mrs. W. H. Miller.

Mr. and Mrs. Jas. Evans.

Mr. and Mrs. M. P. Moore.

There was also a beautiful pillow from the bereaved husband and children, and an anchor from her mother and father and family. The expressions of sympathy extended to the sorrowing ones have been heartfelt and general, and with these others the Graphic desires to extend sympathy and kindly thoughts to the mourning family who feel their loss so keenly.

That's what a customer asked me recently about a patent medicine I had sold for years, and I was forced to admit that in reality I knew nothing more than what appeared on the label, wrapper and advertising.

Some of the claims made were so extravagant that of course I could not take them seriously, but I concluded I had better find a line of remedies I did know something about.

The vulgar stale puns and jokes and the actions of the pair are not fit to be witnessed by any self respecting citizen, much less the youth of our town. WOMAN DIRECTS HOME PURCHASES

Quick to Recognize Genius and Sensible Men.—Her Weakness
as a Buyer

Women have more strength in their looks than we have in our laws and more power by their tears than we have by our arguments. Women are quick to recognize genius and to listen when wisdom speaks. They may chatter in the presence of fools, but know and appreciate the value of earnest, sensible men.

It is assumed that the Almighty made man as his masterpiece, and conceded being that he is, man accepted this statement as a piece of truth.

That the earth and all it contains were made for his special benefit, that woman was created solely for his comfort, that the sun was made to give him light by day and the moon to enable him to find his way home at night, that the heavens were hung with a resplendent curtain of stars and the planets sent whirling through space in a majestic dance about the god of day simply to afford him matter for wonder and amusement—ideas of this sort evince an egotism that can only be accredited to man.

Masterpieces indeed! Why, God made man and, finding that he could not take care of himself, made woman to care of him, and she is discharging her heaven ordained duty in an artistic and capable manner.

Are Women the Weaker Vessels?

Men are fond of alluding to women as "the weaker vessels," and Pope calls "man the 'great man of things.'" Men rule with a rod of iron the creatures of the earth, the sea and the air. They hurl defiance in the face of kings and presidents. They tread the ocean's foam beneath their feet, they harness the imperial thunderbolts to the jaunting electric car and even succeed in mounting the storm and flying upon the wind, but the bravest of them tremble and like Cretans when called upon by their wives to explain some of their extravagant purchases, and for this reason many men deem themselves "the weaker vessels" and thereby shift the responsibility to them.

More Good Sense Than Men.

Women have more good sense than men. They have fewer pretensions, are less implicated in theories and judge of values more from their immediate and involuntary impressions on the mind and therefore more truly and naturally. It is said "men have sight, women insight." For these and many more reasons women make better shoppers than men.

Women regulate their purchases altogether by the amount they have to spend, men by the amount of credit they can get. Women like to put their money where it will do the most good; men where it will make the greatest show. Men are usually "broke" women very seldom. All of which goes to show that women are the "stronger vessels" after all.

Women Are Prone to Bargains.

Woman's weakness as a purchaser lies in her pronounced susceptibility to bargains. No man ever followed freedom's flag for patriotism with half the enthusiasm that woman will trail the red, white and blue that constitute the banner of the bargain counter. And therein lies her temptation.

This trait of woman's nature is recognized by the mail order and retail catalogue houses to the extent that nearly all of their misleading circulars and pictorial catalogues are addressed to the women. And the women, true to their natures, respond with many orders.

Their Spirit of Loyalty.

But if women are prone to bargains they are also possessed with the woman's spirit of loyalty to their own town and community when once they come to a full realization of the injury they are working both to themselves and their home merchants by sending their money away to some large corporation in a big city for goods that they can buy as cheaply and of much better grade at home and without the inconvenience necessitated by long delays when ordering from out of town merchants.

The Slogan of Woman.

Women not only make the home worth while, but they make the local town, the countryside and the whole community worth while. Wherever there is found a movement on foot for the uplift and betterment of community interests and conditions woman's power and woman's influence can always be found behind it. Woman's slogan is, "Purity of home, purity of community and the home town and home merchant forever."

The mail order patrons are not willfully and consciously in the wrong; they are merely mistaken. They are to use the language of a jokester, of a dead century, trying to skin a flint worth a nickel and spelling a pack-knife worth a dollar.

I OWE MY LIFE TO "FRUIT-A-TIVES"

They Did Me More Good Than All
Other Treatments Combined

Mrs. H. B. Williams

PALMERSTON, Ont., June 20th, 1913. "I really believe that I owe my life to 'Fruit-a-tives'. Ever since childhood, I have been under the care of physicians and have been paying doctors' bills. I was so sick and weak that people on the street often asked me if I thought I could get along without help. The same old stomach trouble and distressing headaches nearly drove me mad. Some time ago I got a box of 'Fruit-a-tives' and the first box did me good. My husband was delighted and advised a continuation of their use. 'Fruit-a-tives' completely cured me."

Today, I am feeling fine, and a physician meeting me on the street, noticed my improved appearance and asked me the reason. I replied, "I am taking Fruit-a-tives". He said, "Well, if 'Fruit-a-tives' are making you look so well, go ahead and take them. They are doing more for you than I can."

Mrs. H. B. Williams.
"Fruit-a-tives" are sold by all dealers at 50c. a box, 8 for $2.50, trial size 25c. or sent on receipt of price by Fruit-a-tives Limited, Ottawa.

PLAIDS IN SUBDUED TONES

Now it is plaid taffeta. You may not like the idea, but the one who tries to be a faithful chronicler of fashions must put them on as they come.

The brilliancy of squares and checks did not deter the multitude from giving them approval, and now that the dyes have learned to subdue the tones and take away their crudity, this effective gaiety is quite acceptable.

First came Roanoke striping, then broad brilliant plaid, then wide, solid colored check. The public took to all of these, but it must be confessed that the minority and not the majority were followers. However, now that the dyes have learned to subdue the tones and take away their crudity, this effective gaiety is quite acceptable.

For instance, in quite attractive, and when combined with black or dark brown silk it makes a gown that is out of the ordinary.

Women are wearing the extra long tunic with enthusiasm. They like it very much. It is not as trying as the short hip drape, for it does not cut the figure sharply into two parts. As a good model, take this gown, worn by Miss Prevost in the play called "Madame" which has been such a success here.

There is a narrow undershirt of deep brown taffeta and over this a full, long tunic with a scalloped edge. This, like the full bodice, is of russet brown and green checked taffeta.

The entire style is agreeable and easy to wear for the majority of women. One can follow it out in any combination of colors, but the new tones are preferably in the russet shades that have lately come into high favor. They are a decided contrast to the gorgeous Russian and Turkish colorings that have prevailed, but it was high time that the dyes made a change. The Occidental cannot be as loyal to vivid tones as the Oriental, whose fashions have not changed for centuries.

For the last four years there has been a leaning toward the suit composed of two fabrics and two colors. The idea has always had a following among the elect and the indiscriminate, strange as this may seem. Possibly the reason was much the same in both cases; the rich woman could afford many clothes and the cheaply dressed woman desired many clothes.

The dominant class of woman between these two had to content herself with suits of one color that were not too easily observed from month to month.

The fashion never died out, yet it was never considered popular. The critics said it could not last, because it was garish, and yet it has outlived many other fashions started at the same time.

This spring it is quite the thing to have a skirt of large checks in dull, undefined colors that melt into each other, and a jacket in a solid color that harmonizes with the skirt.

The two fabrics differ; one is usually of rough material like homespun serge or gabardine, and the other is of smoother cloth. When taffeta is used for one garment, it is often chosen for the other, although that ribbed material called golfie goes very well with it and there is a fine quality of serge that is admirable.

These plaid skirts have drapery of some kind. They are not made in the Turkish fashion of last autumn, although there are women who, preferring straight lines to horizontal ones, cling to this style with modifications. There is not so much drapery at the hips as there was in the original Calot skirt.

FIGHTING A BIG ONE A Trout-Fishing Episode. By ARCHIE P. McKISHNIE

"Over yonder by dat rock," says Timmy Tabb, my half-breed guide, squinting his beady eyes across the white-manned stream, "feller fish here last year catch a six-pound trout, him."

"Oh, he did, did he?" I observe caustically. For over an hour I have been trying, without success, to plant my Ranger fly in the centre of an eddy forty yards out, against a wind that makes accurate casting an impossibility. Perhaps I consider Timmy's remark something of a reflection on my skill. I certainly resent being told what another angler was able to do, and much minding with guides has made me sceptical of everything they say regarding fish and fishing grounds.

"He weigh six pound," repeats Timmy Tabb gently, "and one other big un get away, him. Dat feller no good on play fesh, lak you."

I allow the compliment to mollify me. I grin down at Timmy, crouched in the stern of the canoe, and throw him my tobacco pouch. He fills his pipe, black eyes still fastened to the almost perpendicular wall of rock that splits the current in mid-stream.

"We'll go across if you like," I say after he has lit up.

"Sure ting." Up comes the anchor and we shoot, the sharp prow of the canoe clipping the churning teeth of the rapid and flinging beads of foam in my face as we run the gauntlet and strike the smooth water in the lee of the rock.

"Theer bagosh," grunts Timmy Tabb, as he lowers the anchor, "you able cast all right now, some; win' she fair, eh?"

"Wind's fair, Timmy," I answer. "Here goes for that big chap that got away from the 'older feller'."

My Amer. fly, led by Timmy's squaw-wife—one of the most adept fly-tiers I have ever known, by the way—zigzags across the brown tongue of water between the teeth of the rapid like a live thing. "Nothing doing," I answer to the question in Timmy's eyes. My guide snokes furiously while I reel in the balance of my line.

"Try um some more," he grunts, and catching Timmy's enthusiasm, I do "try um some more."

"Spack," falls the fly close to the wall of rock; "zee-ree" whines the reel, then "amack."

"Bagosh," exults Timmy, leaning over on his knees and reaching for the landing net, "you get heem sure; what I tell you?"

"I've got him all right, but can I hold him? That's the question. I know by the way he bellys the bottom and reel, it's a pretty sure sign, that. He rushes straight towards the canoe, and I'm kept busy reeling in; then 'awish-swish'—he has sighted us, and is off in the first mad rush, of which I know from experience there will be several before he can hope to get him under control."

I tremble for my tackle. I am using a nine-foot split bamboo rod and the lightest silk line procurable. All of the latter, except a few turns, is out before I am able to turn the big fellow in frenziedly. Twenty feet away from the canoe the big fellow half shows himself, then down he goes again, and once more I fight him and shudder to think what will happen when he gets all my line.

But once more I am lucky. I have about three feet of line left on the reel, when he turns and flashes across towards the rapid. This brings him closer to us, and I gain a part of my line. Amer. dash and I find it less hard to turn him. He is rising. Timmy Tabb grunts his joy and says unmentionable things in the French tongue. "Now, Timmy," I say, and reel the big fellow slowly towards the canoe. Timmy tries with the net and misses, and once again the trout is away, fighting almost as strongly as ever.

Twenty minutes later we lift him into the boat. He has fought to the finish and killed himself on the line. Timmy fumbles for the scales in the kit and weighs him while the vermillion spots on his sides are still aglow.

"Look," he says, pointing to the little brass indicator. I bend down and look. "Six and three-quarters, Timmy," I say. "Some trout, eh?"

"Bagosh, I know dere big trout stay here," says Timmy. "Last year a feller catch one weigh six pounds, him."

Twilight is falling. The blue-white mists are rising above the flashing waters, and above the shaggy wooded bank rests a long streak of mauve and crimson. Below it the great forest sweeps like a sombre cloud, through which dips out to greet us as we paddle shoreward the red eye of our campfire.

LIEUT. BECKER'S BROTHER IN TROUBLE

New York, May 8.—Police Lieutenant John Becker, brother of the ex-Lieutenant Charles Becker, whose second trial for the murder of Hermann Rosenthal, will begin in the Supreme Court on Wednesday morning, has been named by Carl Dressner, the confessed perjurer, as "the master behind the plot to free the four gunmen who shot Rosenthal."

It was John Becker according to Dressner, who "manufactured" the tissue of lies, which Dressner placed before Justice Scott on April 11th, two days before the gunmen were electrocuted. It was John Becker, according to Dressner, who promised him a reward for his services and who sent him to the law offices of Charles G. Kringle and Lionel H. Kringle to swear to the false affidavits which were sent to Governor Glynn as a part of the papers in the gunmen's final appeal for clemency.

Dressner has put his charges against Lieut. John Becker in the form of an affidavit, which is locked up in District Attorney Whitman's safe. He repeated the contents of the affidavit yesterday to a group of newspaper men in the tomb. The District Attorney, it is understood, has corroborated Dressner's remarkable story and will take criminal action after the second Becker trial.

Dressner's reward according to his affidavit and statements, was to have come directly from ex-Lieut. Charles Becker, the man indicted for the murder of Rosenthal. The amount of reward was not stated in specific figures, but Dressner understood that he would be well taken care of.

It was appropriate that when Mr. Edison was seeking the utmost perfection in sound reproduction he should find that this power lay in the diamond. He discovered it in the course of more than 2,500 experiments, always looking toward rarer sweetness, mellow, stronger tone.

He has equipped every new Edison Phonograph with a diamond-point reproducer.

INDIAN ACT AMENDMENTS UP IN HOUSE

Hon. Chas. Marcell Makes Plea on Behalf of the Occupiers of Mission Reserve

The House of Commons on Monday, considered in committee the amendments to the Indian Act. In this connection Dr. Roche announced that no further Indian scrip would be issued and said that there had been none issued with the last two or three years.

An amendment was also made with regard to the removal of the Indian reserves. Legislation was passed in 1911, providing for the removal of Indians from the vicinity of towns of 8,000 population by referring the matter to the exchequer court, having a report there from the governor-in-council and having the whole matter endorsed by parliament. This, said Dr. Roche, provided every safeguard and it was now proposed to remove the limitations of population and to provide that wherever lands were required for a similar purpose they should be dealt with in the same way.

Hon. Charles Marcell made a plea on behalf of the Indians who occupy a reserve across the river from the town of Campbellton (N.B.). He said they had been on this land for nearly 200 years and it would be an injustice to remove them. He was afraid that an effort would be made to secure the reserve for private interests. The proposed law, he considered, would make it easier for speculators to get possession of Indian reserves.

A man went to a Judge and asked whether he could bring suit for slander against a man who had called him a rhinoceros.

"Why, certainly," said the Judge. "When did he call you that?"

"About three years ago."

"Three years ago? And you only start suit today?"

"But, your Honor, yesterday I saw a rhinoceros for the first time."

A lady who had called to see Mrs. B. found her little son, Frank, in the library rubbing his eyes and yawning.

"Sleepy?" she inquired.

"Um," grunted Frank.

"I suppose you usually go to bed with the chickens," smiled the visitor.

"No, I don't," snapped Frank. "I have a little bed in my room all to myself."

Strange Story Told in the Police Court This Morning

The case against Victor Cobham, a sixteen-year-old boy, who is charged with breaking away from the Boys' Industrial Home, developed some remarkable phases in the police court St. John, Tuesday. Mrs. Cobham told the magistrate, but not under oath, that she went out to the Home on Sunday, May 3rd, to see her boy, not knowing that he had run away from the home. When she returned, she found the boy had come home. Joseph Morris, another boy who had run away from the Home with Victor Cobham, was called, and said that he and Victor had been to the Cobham home on Thursday and on Friday evening, that Mrs. Cobham knew her son left the Home, and that she and her boy made up the plan of her going to the Home in order to deceive the authorities. The magistrate said, "There's a modern Ananias here some where; it's either you, Mrs. Cobham, or this boy." Victor Cobham, questioned, confirmed what Morris said about his mother's false story. Morris said, further, that Mrs. Cobham supplied them with clothing, and that they slept in the woodshed and in the cellar until the next Saturday. Supt. McDonald told of Mrs. Cobham's visit to the Home to see her boy. Officer Saunders said that on Saturday night, May 9th, he went to Cobham's, and could not find Victor. He went back Sunday night and searched in the cellar, and gothim sleeping in a damp place on a sheet of oilcloth and covered with blankets. Mr. Cobham did not know his boy was there, having been kept ignorant of it by his wife, who tapped on the floor for Victor and Joseph Morris to come up when he had gone to work. The magistrate spoke of the good treatment the boys received at the Home and contrasted it with sleeping in the cellar and dodging the police. Victor could not be sent back to the Home, as he was over sixteen, and if anything was done with him, he would have to be sent to Dorchester. Mrs. Cobham had left herself liable for the boy was remanded for the present.

KING OPENS NEW WING OF BRITISH MUSEUM

First Instalment of National Building Expansion Costs $1,000,000

London, May 12.—King George, accompanied by Queen Mary, Thursday afternoon, formally opened the new wing of the British Museum which bears the name of the King Edward VII. Galleries, and whose foundation stone was laid by the late King Edward in June, 1907.

The new wing, costing £200,000 to build, is but an instalment of a great scheme of expansion, having its genesis so far back as 1895, and designed to cope with the ever growing demand for space. Nineteen years ago the Government bought, at a cost of £250,000 from the trustees of the late Duke of Bedford an area of five and one-half acres of ground with sixty-nine houses thereon. After the clearance of the buildings the Museum held a four square area covering thirteen acres in all. A bequest of £50,000 by a lecturer who during his lifetime had been so constant a frequenter of the Museum library as fully to realize its urgent need of enlargement, enabled the Museum governors to launch out upon the present work which affords chiefly sorely needed accommodation for books and paper.

The new building, in architectural harmony with the older portion of the Museum, is of Portland stone, Scotch granite and marble, the facade of the five-storied block (measuring 386x60 feet) being flanked by two 90-foot towers. Severe simplicity is the keynote of the design, but at the front there have been placed groups of statuary representative of science and art.

Princess Mary accompanied Their Majesties, who were received by the Premier, the Speaker of the House of Commons, and Lord Escher. The King spoke eulogistically of the great part played by the museum in the life of the nation and accepted a silver key as a memento of the occasion. Later Their Majesties, with Premier Asquith, spent half an hour inspecting the new galleries.

GIRL KILLED IN QUEBEC STORE

Brutal Murder Committed Without Apparent Motive in Ancient Capital

Quebec, May 12.—A brutal murder was committed when Marie Blanche E. Dubois, aged 19 years, was beaten to death with a hammer in the rear of the shoe store which was conducted by she and her brother. About half past ten o'clock somebody rang the bell. Miss Dubois answered the door, and coming up stairs, she told her mother that there was a man who wished to change a pair of boots. On returning to the store the girl was attacked by the man who killed her with a shoe-maker's hammer.

The provincial and city police are working on the case and expect to make an early arrest.

WATER FALLING OFF IN SMALLER STREAMS

Lumbermen Having Trouble With Their Drives

Fredericton, May 12.—With the water falling off rapidly the past few days in the smaller streams, considerable difficulty is being experienced in getting out some of the drives in this section. On the Kewick stream, Messrs. Randolph & Baker are having some trouble in making the anticipated progress with their drive owing to the rapidly falling water. Mr. Elwood Burt, who is in the city to-day, said his drive was at the mouth of their stream, and ready to go into the main stream as soon as the other passes there. There is about 4,000,000 feet in the Burt drive and about 3,000,000 in Messrs. Randolph & Baker's drive. In the event of the Randolph & Baker drive being held up, Mr. Burt will at once have his drive brought in to his mill.

From the upper St. John River water comes that logs are running into the sorting gaps at Van Buren rapidly to-day.

The water came up seven inches at Van Buren last night, but is at a standstill here to-day.

The freshet, which is about a foot higher this year than it has been for some years, has not yet caused any serious inconvenience to the lumber industry about St. John. The mill of Messrs. Randolph & Baker at Randolph, will be forced to stop if the water rises a foot higher, as it is now at the doors of the mill. Messrs. B. Mooney & Sons have had their wood-piles floated at the brickyard in Fairville.

HEART TROUBLE

When uric acid is dissolved in the blood it thickens the blood almost to a jelly; this is what causes the heart to flutter and seem to stop because it is weakened by the strain uric acid puts on it. Anti-Uric Kidney Pills drive out all uric acid poisons from the system. They are quick of action and guaranteed by Thos. Wran. See that the name B V Marion is on the package.

PREMIER ASQUITH ON HOME RULE BILL

Pledged Government to Introduce an Amending Bill

London, May 12.—Premier Asquith in the House of Commons to-day, pledged the Government to introduce an amending bill to the Home Rule for Ireland measure in the hope of it being passed by agreement between the parties.

If this offer is accepted, he said, both the original Home Rule Bill and the amending bill will become law practically simultaneously. This, he contended, was the only proper way of carrying out any agreed settlement which might be reached.

GUN RUNNING BY ULSTER UNIONISTS

Renewed on Big Scale.—20 Machine Guns Landed

Belfast, May 12.—Gun-running operations of Ulster Unionists have been renewed on a big scale, and 20 machine guns have been landed on the coast of County Down during the past two nights.

The garrison at Holywood Barracks is under orders to be ready for any emergency. This indicates a general confiscation of arms if Ulster Volunteers keep up their filibustering.

AGRICULTURE

So many dairymen wonder what the factory is going to pay, so many men fight for another sixteenth of a cent on the price of cheese, that some milk producers in thinking almost entirely of selling price, are apt to overlook cost.

The twin sisters of economical milk production are good cows and individual records. Cows may be fed right and fed alike, yet fail to produce milk economically; that is at low cost, because they were not built on dairy lines. But even with the average run of dairy cows that seem to produce just about the same quantity of milk, there are so many strange variations that the keeping of milk records is not only advisable from the business standpoint, but becomes of fascinating interest.

When a simple feed record is kept in addition to the milk record, the actual cost of milk as produced by each cow is ascertained easily, so that the owner may be assured that he is keeping only such cows as yield plenty of milk at a low cost. Can you tell off-hand whether the milk of some of your cows costs 62 cents or 97 cents per 100 pounds? If your profit over cost of feed is now only $10 per cow, you can make it $20 by keeping records.

Send to the dairy commissioner, Ottawa, for milk and feed record forms, which are free. They are cost reducers.

HAPPY PROVINCE IS NEW BRUNSWICK

Hon. C. W. Robinson Tells The Canadian Gazette, London of its Advantages

"During the recent dull times which have been experienced the world over, no country has left the depression less than New Brunswick and the maritime provinces generally. We have had no land boom or over-inflation of prices. Our progress has been healthy, steady and substantial." This is the proud boast of the Hon. C. W. Robinson, of New Brunswick, who is on a visit to London. Mr. Robinson is a New Brunswick born, a lawyer by profession, and he has served a term of office as premier of the province. Speaking to a representative of the Canadian Gazette of the advantages offered by the province to investors and settlers, he said:

"We have in the province some 30,000 square miles of land, and only a comparatively small portion is at present occupied. We have a population of about 360,000 in a country which could easily maintain ten or twenty times that number. The greater part of our boundary is coastline, and we are rich in fisheries, though these are capable of much further development. Apart from commercial fishing, every stream and lake abounds in trout and salmon. Probably there is the best sport in the world to be found for the angler in the province. There is also good moose shooting to be had. The interior of the province is practically uninhabited, and it is full of game, preserved by the government. Sportsmen come from the United States and from this country to the province every fall, and if the province were better known, we should get more of these visitors."

CHANCE FOR CAPITALISTS

"The chief resources of the province are agriculture—including apple-growing, which is becoming a considerable industry—timbering, and fishing. We have also districts in which oil and natural gas are found, and large deposits of oil shales yet to be developed. We are also developing coal mines. The railroad from Fredericton to Miramichi was built to tap the coalfields."

"Our municipal securities are safe investments. You can buy municipal bonds paying 5 per cent with absolute confidence. For the man on the spot in New Brunswick there are many chances and opportunities of making profitable investments. Means of transportation by water and rail are good. The sawmills and the lumbering and the business has been stimulated by the deducting of the duty on timber to the United States. We have excellent pulp wood, and we expect considerable quantities. We have pulp mills in the province, but only the paper mill. Here is a capital chance for the investor. There is room for a big paper factory, especially on the Grand Falls, where there is abundant water power. It seems a pity to export pulp when we ought to export paper. At present we make the pulp and export it, while we have to import paper."

"COME OUT AND SEE US."

"There is ample room for settlers in the province, and those who come with some knowledge of farming do well. There is an abundance of farm land available, and the prices of farm products are high. Those settlers who have no capital to start with can begin their life in the province as farm laborers—for whom there is always a large demand—with the prospect of buying a farm with their savings. The government does a great deal to encourage the farming industry, and assists men to purchase on easy terms. To the man with some capital, fruit-growing offers many attractions."

"I think a visit to New Brunswick would pay men who have a desire to start industries in a new country. They would see for themselves what opportunities there were. Almost all municipalities in the province offer inducements to industrial enterprises coming in, in the way of low taxation and free water."

"I am of the opinion that New Brunswick and the other maritime provinces have been kept back by the emigration methods in vogue. But progress in the maritime provinces has only been delayed, and these provinces are bound eventually to equal any other part of Canada. Their progress needs assistance, but even as they are, they are bound to go ahead, slowly but surely."

BATHURST MAY INSTALL WATER WORKS

Council Decides to Engage Engineer to Make Plans And Estimates

(From the Gloucester Northern Light)
The Town Council, which adjourned on Wednesday to meet on Friday evening, convened on the appointed date in the Town Hall with a full attendance.

Ald. Power on rising to move the resolution which follows, said that last year he had brought before the Council in the shape of a resolution, the matter of taking steps to install a water and sewerage system. At that time he had not been able to get a second for his resolution, but now that the absence of works of this kind had been sorely felt as it had at the recent fire, he believed that the ratepayers of the town were more than ever desirous that the Council should do something at once regarding this matter, and he would therefore move the following resolution:

Resolved, that the Electric Light, Water and Sewerage Committee be empowered to at once engage the services of a competent engineer for the purpose of obtaining an estimate of cost of bringing water and establishing water works and sewerage in the town of Bathurst.

Ald. Kent seconded the motion, and said that now that the establishment of the pulp mill was assumed, he was in favor of having the work taken up at once. Everybody admitted that at the present time, the town had not adequate fire protection as it would have with a water system.

Ald. Hachey thought that before starting a work of the magnitude of this, that the ratepayers should be asked to say whether they wanted it or not. It had been the understanding when they were elected a year ago, that unless the pulp mill was actually started, nothing should be done about water works, and the pulp mill was not started yet.

Ald. Landry, DesRoches and Poirier and Henderson spoke of the necessity of securing better fire protection than we had at present, and pointed out that public opinion in the town in regard to the installation of a water system had undergone a great change since the present Council was first elected. They were now of the opinion that steps should be taken as soon as possible looking to the early installation of a water system.

When the question was put, the resolution was carried, with only Ald. Hachey voting against it.

Ald. Shirley reported for the By-law Committee recommending that the following by-law be adopted:—

1. After the passage of this by-law the roofs of all buildings erected within the Town of Bathurst, shall be finished externally with tin, iron, zinc, copper, slate, tile, felt and gravel, or with some other material of an incombustible nature, and no roof of any building already erected in the town shall be re-laid or recovered except with materials heretofore enumerated.
2. Any owner, builder or other person who shall build or aid in the erection of any roof or part of a roof within the Town, or shall repair or assist in repairing any damaged roof in the said town contrary to any provisions of this by-law shall be subject to the penalties imposed by this by-law.

Ald. Shirley referred to the necessity of having the members of the Board of Health appointed at once, and nominated Geo. Robertson for one of these members. Ald. Henderson nominated Parley Chalmers for the other member, and on motion, these were appointed. As the Government has not as yet appointed the Chairman of the Board, Ald. Henderson moved that the Council recommend that they appoint Geo. Gilbert. Carried.

Council then adjourned.

For Baking Success
This Oven Test

Success on some baking days can be expected no matter what flour you use. But constant success is rarer. It can be assured in only one way. The miller must select his wheat by oven test. So from each shipment of wheat we take ten pounds as a sample. We grind this into flour. Bread is baked from the flour. If this bread is high in quality, large in quantity, we use the shipment from which it came. Otherwise we sell it. Constant baking success comes as a matter of course from flour bearing this name.

SEVERAL CHANCES

An under-secretary of the Spanish Legation, told at a dinner party in Washington a little story about the King of Spain.

"King Alfonso," he began, "is fond of taking motor trips in the region of Castile. He put up with his modest entourage at a more than modest inn. 'I'm sure,' he said laughing, they won't know me here."

"Well, they did not know him there. They treated him like an ordinary traveler. So much so in fact, that when he went to shave the next morning, he found there was not mirror in his room. So he went down into the inn yard in his shirt sleeves and there a pretty chambermaid brought him a broken piece of mirror which he set up beside the wall, and proceeded to lather cheeks and chin.

The girl stood chatting with him. Finally she said in an odd voice. 'You are not just an ordinary traveler, are you?'

"Why do you ask me that?" laughed the King.

"I don't know," said the maid. "But there is something about you—perhaps you belong to the royal court at Madrid."

"Yes, I do," he answered.

"Perhaps you work for His Majesty himself?"

"Yes, I do."

"And what do you do for him?" asked the pretty chambermaid.

"O, lots of things," the King replied, "I'm shaving him just now."

"When I marry it will be for love only."

"Is that so?"

"Positively."

"And if some poor man proposes to you?"

"But he won't. I shall take good care not to fall in love with any man who isn't able to provide me with what luxuries I desire."

As the taxi slipped down the side with increasing speed the occupant was becoming dreadfully nervous.

Opening the door, he called out: "I say, cabbie, not so fast; this is my first trip in a taxi."

"It's mine, too," came the prompt reply.

STOLEN--A PROBATIONER

Miss Bond turned from the telephone with flushed cheeks and compressed lips, as the interne entered the duty room.

"Cheer up!" he admonished her, gayly. "That is no face for a nurse to wear on duty."

For answer Miss Bond slumped into the chair at the table and drew the diet list toward her.

"That kidney case got a rheumatism tray at noon," she said wryly, "and of course, I'm to blame."

"Move to be pined than blamed," chuckled the doctor. "Who did it?"

"The new probationer, of course," snapped Miss Bond. "It gets worse and worse. You may be glad you are leaving to-morrow. I only wish I were."

"Tut, tut!" chided the doctor. "You have only another month."

"One month—thirty days—seven hundred and twenty hours," she sighed. "And if they inflict any more 'probes' on me I shall be a candidate for Ward C."

"Take some aspirin," advised the doctor. "What's the matter with this one?"

"Nothing," returned Miss Bond, shortly. "She just doesn't know how, and she never will know. Came from some little town where her people are well to do, and has some sentimental notions about nursing, from which, I think, she is recovering. Anyway, she is too pretty. Some fool interne will be running off with her before the month is out."

"All of the pretty ones don't run away the first month," chaffed the doctor.

"It's no use, Dr. Rand," retorted Miss Bond. "I don't want to be in a good humor to-day, and I won't. I am going off duty today. Perhaps, you see you again."

"The doctor held out his hand. 'Then good-bye,' he said. 'I shan't be on in the morning, and I shall probably not see you again.'

At the door she turned back. "By the way," she said, "the probationer is from your home town. Perhaps, she said mischievously, 'he can tell you news of that girl you were so interested in last summer.'"

The doctor flushed, and for a moment a look of such misery came into his eyes that her heart ached. She came back a step or two.

"I'm sorry," she said. "I didn't know it was as bad as that."

"I—some one told her things—and she wouldn't believe me," he said, miserably.

A white-uniformed special nurse came in, looking for the iodine; and the second nurse began to make ready the dressing tray.

"What solution, doctor?" she asked, perfunctorily, and left off to answer the telephone.

She turned to him breathlessly. "I'll have to let the probationer do that dressing with you, doctor," she said. "I'm sorry. I have to get ready for an accident case."

"I'll manage," he said, absently. "Send the tray up to No. 10."

He strode into the hall, and made his way up the ward. Once he stopped short, and his heart stopped beating for a moment, as a slim figure in blue, with shining hair, flashed out of one door and in at another, at the far end of the corridor. But he shook his head and went on. No, it couldn't be! Then he knocked at the door of the garrulous old lady, who was his patient.

"What ails you?" asked the old lady the moment he stepped into the room.

"Nothing," returned the doctor amiably. "Sho!" said the old lady. "I know she laid her skinny forefinger again better."

She held her nose in a gesture of deep thought.

"I know," she said. "You are in love."

"What makes you think so?" parried the doctor.

"Sho!" said the old lady. "Come, now; what is the trouble?"

The young doctor's lips came together in a straight line.

"She says I am a gambler and a drunkard," he said resentfully.

"As bad as that?" murmured the old lady. "I am sure you are not. But, and her eyes twinkled up at him, 'a girl never bothers about a man's morals unless she is in love with him.'"

A knock came at the door.

"Come in!" called the doctor.

He was seated with his back to the door, and did not see who came in until first the basin, then the alcohol bottle crashed to the floor. He turned swiftly.

"Eunice!" he cried, regardless of the old lady.

She went white; then her cheeks flamed red. She set the tray down deliberately and stooped to gather up the debris.

He raised her to her feet.

"Eunice," he said masterfully, "I am going to know—"

Then he saw that she was crying.

"Poor little girl!" he said as he drew her into his arms.

"I'm—I'm always dropping things," she said, irrelevantly.

"Do you think," he asked, "that you could drop all this in time to go to Europe Thursday?"

The old lady had been pretending to be asleep this long time.

"Yes," she said softly, and lifted her face to be kissed.

"I knew it would end that way," said Miss Bond wearily the next morning. "She was to pretty to last."

WILD MOB SHOOT NEGRO

Who Killed One of His Pursuers, Wounding Three

St. James, La., May 8.—Defiant and daring, Sylvester Washington, a negro, fired as Deputy Sheriff P. C. Simon and hurried himself this afternoon from the doorway of a burning city shed in which he was captured into the roadway, firing desperately as he did so. His body was riddled with a hundred rifle bullets from rifles in the hands of residents of this section, who had caught him after a twenty-four hour pursuit.

Before he was killed the negro succeeded in shooting four of his pursuers. One, Charles Bourne, wounded in the abdomen, died shortly afterward. John C. Melitt was wounded fatally. Mr. Harding was shot in the calf of the leg, the bullet penetrating the limb and killing Harding's horse, while another bullet grazed the head of a fourth man.

Another victim of the affair is an unidentified white man, mistaken for a negro, and shot last night.

WOMAN PELTED JUDGE

And-Battle With Police at Militant's Trial

Leeds, Eng., May 8.—Lillian Lenton, a militant suffragette, was sentenced today at the Assizes here to a year's imprisonment on a charge of setting fire to Westfield House, Doncaster, in June last year. Miss Lenton, while awaiting trial for the crime, which she confessed, was released owing to her serious condition of health, brought about by a hunger strike. She disappeared and remained in hiding for almost a year and was re-arrested only a few days ago at Brighton.

There was a stormy scene in court when sentence was pronounced. Miss Lenton's friends in the gallery pelted the judge with suffragette magazines and pamphlets, at the same time shouting at the top of their voices.

The police in court were at first greatly outnumbered and fared badly at the hands of the demonstrators. When reinforcements arrived, however, they soon obtained the upper hand and after a sharp struggle the ringleaders were ejected and the others fled from the building.

Magistrate—Officer, what is this man charged with?

Constable—He's a camera fiend of the worst kind, yer worship.

"But this man shouldn't have been arrested simply because he has a mania for taking pictures."

"It isn't that, yer worship; he takes the cameras."

NO TRACE OF THOSE ADRIAT

Adriatic Abandoning Search for Colombian's Lifeboat

New York, May 8.—No trace of the missing third lifeboat of the steamship Columbian, burned at sea, last Sunday, was found by the White Star steamer Adriatic, which arrived here tonight. The Adriatic was 224 miles distant from the scene when notified at noon on May 6 by Captain D. S. Miller, of the Franconia, which had picked up one of the boats, that another boat might still be in the vicinity of the wreck. Captain John Mathias, of the Adriatic, changed his course and arrived on the scene at midnight.

A double lookout was posted and a search for the boat was maintained throughout the night. There was a strong wind, rain, and a heavy sea, and it was impossible to say that the boat was not in the vicinity, Captain Mathias said, but it could not be located, and soon after dawn the Adriatic resumed its journey, arriving in this port many hours later.

Cheering News For Husbands Heard at Cleveland

Cleveland, Ohio, May 8.—At the opening session of the twenty-fourth annual convention of the National Cloak, Suit and Skirt Manufacturers' Association at the Hotel Statler here today, President John B. After next fall men will not be ashamed to see their wives dressed in the height of the season's fashion."

SPECIAL MEETING OF PRESBYTERY

Large Congregation Present at the Licensing to Preach of Mr. Grover Livingstone

A special meeting of the Presbytery of the Miramichi was held in the hall of St. John's church, Chatham, Wednesday.—Rev. Alex. Rattie, of Millerton, Moderator, and Rev. E. E. Mowatt, Loggieville, Clerk.

Eleven ministers and three elders were present and the meeting was called for the licensure of Mr. Grover Livingstone, who has just completed his studies for the ministry and is about to be called to the vacant pastorate of Shediac and Humphrey's Mills. A committee consisting of Rev. J. M. McLean, Rev. D. Henderson and Rev. Walter Matthews, and Elder Carriers, was appointed to examine Mr. Livingstone and his credentials, all of which were found to be eminently satisfactory.

At eight o'clock, after the transaction of a good deal of routine business, the Presbytery adjourned to the church to formally license Mr. Livingstone.

This was done in the presence of a very large congregation. A very impressive service was conducted by Rev. J. J. McArthur, Newcastle, assisted by Rev. E. E. Mowatt, Loggieville, and Rev. T. P. Drumm, Campbellton.

Mr. McArthur preached a powerful and appropriate sermon taken from Ephesians 4 and 11. He gave some Apostles, some Prophets, some Evangelists, some Pastors and Teachers, for the perfecting of the saints for the work of the ministry and edifying of the body of Christ.

The moderator then called forward Mr. Livingstone and put to him the questions of the formula. These having been satisfactorily answered, and after solemn prayer by Rev. D. Henderson, the moderator duly licensed Mr. Livingstone to preach the gospel wherever God in his providence may order his lot.

Rev. J. M. MacLean then addressed Mr. Livingstone in very fitting terms. He had known Mr. Livingstone for many years and was delighted to have the privilege of addressing a few words to him as he was entering his life's work. Mr. MacLean dwelt at some length on the duties and responsibilities of the work of the ministry which he claimed to be the most important work in which any man could be engaged, while his opportunities for doing good to his fellow men would be many and varied and he cautioned Mr. Livingstone to be exemplary in walk and conversation, he was to be a patron to the people and an example to the flock, of which he was to become an overseer. He was to discharge his duties without fear or favor and to do his best not only to the congregation of which he was to become pastor but in the interest of the church of which he was a minister, namely the Presbyterian church of Canada.

The praise service was led by an efficient choir and was hearty and spontaneous under the direction of Miss MacLean, the accomplished organist of St. John's church.

Afternoon the service the Presbytery attended to some further business of no public interest and adjourned about midnight to meet in New Mills, the last Tuesday in June.

JUST HENS
We hear a great many complaints from those who are endeavoring to make gardens, about the destruction caused by hens. They are poor neighbors indeed, who will allow their hens to run wild, and destroy their neighbors' lawns and gardens. In Moncton and other towns the by-law in this respect, is being enforced, and daily citizens are pulled before the magistrate and fined. The policemen and the citizens wronged, should report all cases.

FINE MIX UP IN COUNTY COUNCIL

Following the Unseating of The Councillors for Durham Three Writs are Issued

Following the protest against the election of Councillors Lawlor and Marchie for the parish of Durham, it will be remembered that the Council sustained the protest at the special meeting held recently, and declared the election of Councillors Lawlor and Marchie null and void. It now transpires that an appearance was made for Judge Barry a few days ago, who granted two writs of certiorari, and a writ of quo warranto. These will in all probability be argued before the full bench in the Appeals Court some time in June.

On Wednesday evening next, the Woman's Auxiliary of Christ Church will hold its Annual open meeting.

KILLAM-RAMSAY

A very pretty, but quiet wedding took place on Tuesday evening, May 12th, at the home of Mr. and Mrs. C. A. Killam, when their only daughter, Miss Amanda, was united in marriage to Mr. Harold Vernon Ramsay of Summerside, P. E. I. The bride looked very lovely in a becoming gown of white, Marquisee over white silk with lace trimmings, and bridal veil caught with orange blossoms, and carried a shower bouquet of lilies, daisies and maiden hair fern. The bride entered the parlor on the arm of her father, while Miss Flora Goss played the wedding march. Rev. T. P. Drumm, B.D., officiated. After the ceremony the party repaired to the dining room where a dainty luncheon was served. The presents were numerous and valuable, including cheques, silver and cut glass, testifying the esteem in which the young couple are held. The out of town guests were Mr. and Mrs. T. D. Ramsay, mother and father of the groom, and the Misses Shirley of Bathurst.

and villages in Canada with cities, towns and villages in the United States where the names were identical, these Shields were to be subscribed for by the children and placed in a prominent position in the schools which received them. In the Shield there should be a slot in which the name of a boy or girl could be inserted, and over the slot the words "Custodian of this Shield for the year." The boy or girl writing the best essay for the year on Anglo-American relations, would be made custodian for the following year. This Shield was also to bear the following words on which are based the hopes and ideals of this Association—"It is our will that the Peace which has lasted for a century shall continue for a millennium." Thus once a year two places under different flags, but bearing the same name, would be brought into contact with each other, and the exchange of ideas would result in a broadening horizon in both schools.

Mr. Scammell continued that he had been asked what was the good of this celebration and was it worth while. In each case he had replied it was worth while, because it would be an object lesson to the whole world, it would show that two peoples could live side by side and settle matters in dispute between them, not by resort to arms, but by the application of good will and common sense. The question was what part would Campbellton take in this movement. If it was desired by the meeting that it should be one of the centres of celebration it would be for the city to appoint a Committee which would be part of the General Committee for the Dominion. Such Committee should be representative of the city and should include the churches, schools and so on, and it should include delegates from such towns and villages as would take part in the celebration at Campbellton.

With regard to the cost, Mr. Scammell explained that the Central Committee would look after all its own expenditures, but each local committee would require to pay the expenses of their own celebration. He stated that the sum of $25,000 had been promised by Parliament, and if more was required, no doubt a further appropriation would be made. Mr. Scammell paid a high tribute to the people of this town for the energy and determination they showed after the terrible disaster in 1910, and felt sure, if they brought the same enthusiasm to bear on this matter, it would be a most signal success. Mr. Scammell's remarks were listened to with close attention, and received with applause.

In the discussion which followed, the feeling among those present was plainly shown, that we were able to take a hand in this great project, and once taking hold Campbellton would not be left behind. Mr. Scammell's remarks were listened to with close attention, and received with applause.

At the request of the meeting, a committee was appointed to take up the whole matter of naming the general committee, and at the request of the meeting added his own name to it. The committee being composed of Judge McLatchey, Rev. J. E. Purdie, Dr. Pinault, F. M. Anderson, Mayor Andrew and John T. Reid, secretary. The meeting then dispersed.
