RELICS OF THE OLDEN TIME.

The curious in regard to ancient art have at present an opportunity of gratifying their taste in an ordinary degree, by paying a visit to the shop of Mr. Crow, Meal Vannel, who has lately raked from the gloomy recesses of some old howlet-haunted biggin, and restored to open day and another age, a heavy elaborately carved, oak bedstead, which, from its ornate configurations, and the style of their execution, appears to have been the regal couch of Scotland's anointed, a century or two at least before she made England a present of her sovereignty. By the antiquary it must be looked upon as a relic of great interest, and the more valuable from the fact of its being complete, and in a state of such perfect preservation, that it would not only not disgrace, but adorn, the sleeping apartment of the most fastidious, provided always that his sympathies consoorted, to a considerable extent, with the antique. It is a massive affair—the head and foot pannelled, the cornice and stock heavy, the side boards high, the foot-boards peaked and higher still, while all around on post, stock, cornice &c. The devices are floral; but conspicuous on the roof, the royal arms of Scotland are perceived at once, about 18 inches or so from the head and at an equal distance from the foot the sceptre, sword and regal crown, are as easily distinguished. The space between is occupied by stars, and other decorations emblematical of kingly dignity. Besides the bed, there is a table, evidently equally ancient and asuring in every respect with the bed, having the same devices and tracery, being formed of the same material, and comparatively as massy in its construction. Both were found, we believe, among the old lumber of a cellar, and were, when discovered, so thickly incrust with clay, and other adhesive that the carving was scarcely traceable or but guessed at from the inequalities of the surface. We could wish, for the sake of 'old langsyne,' to see it again the respected property of some one whose fortune would enable him to do it befitting honours.—Pertshire Advertiser.

This interesting relic is now in Edinburgh. It is one of the most unique specimens of the royal furniture of Scotland we have seen. In addition to the foregoing description of it, we may add, that the four posts are surmounted with crowns, and that the peaked foot-board contains a device of cupids, in which are blended the rose and the thistle. It is pretty evident, however, that this formed no part of the bed originally, but had been added after the union of the crowns. If we may be permitted to hazard an opinion as to the age of this royal remain, we would say that it may be as the reign of James V. who added the concentric circle to the crown, which the devices on the bedstead display. James VI. is well known to have had a great partiality for the Palace of Falkland, which the ancient bedstead in question no doubt graced at one time, and possibly it may be a relic of his magnificence—the peaked foot-board, with the rose and thistle, being an addition after his advent to the English throne.—Scottish Journal of Topography, Antiquities, &c.

The Last Days of Great Men.—In one morning of advanced life, Johnson amused himself by committing to memory eight hundred lines of Virgil. At the age of seventy-three, when staggering under an immediate attack of paralysis, sufficiently severe to render him speechless—he composed a latin prayer, in order to test the loss or retention of his mental faculties. Nor is this a solitary instance. One of the most beautiful sonnets in the English language was composed by Mason on the attainment of his ninety-second birthday. Locke, at seventy-two, and Newton, at eighty-four, retained their faculties in unabated vigor. The feeble frame of the Earl of Chatham, at seventy, sank under the effort to express the conviction of his mind, after a speech so singularly eloquent, bold, ardent, and animated, as to rival, if not out-vie, the most brilliant outpourings of his youth or early manhood.

A SHORT SERMON.

Perhaps it may not be amiss to remember the printer in my discourse. He is in a very disagreeable situation. He trusts every body—he knows not whom; his money is scattered everywhere, and he hardly knows where to look for it.—His paper, his ink, his type, his journey-men's labor, his living &c. must be punctually paid for. You Mr. —, and You Mr. — and a hundred others I could name, have taken his paper and you and your children, and your neighbours have been amused and informed, and I hope improved by it; if you miss one paper, you think very hard of the printer, would rather go without your best meal than to be deprived of your newspaper. Have you ever complied with the terms of your subscription? Have you taken as much pains to furnish the printer with his money as he has to furnish you with his paper? Have you paid him for his type, his press, his hand work, his head work? If you have not, go and pay him off.—[Dow, Jr.]

AGRICULTURE.

THE SEASON AND CROPS.—April was quite dry, but in other respects was not unfavorable to vegetation; and the rains which set in with the first week of May, brought out more abundant and richer foliage than is unusually seen. Grass and winter grain made a luxuriant growth, though the prevalence of cloudy and damp weather produced too much succulence of the stems to give the strength to support the grain in the best manner. The latter part of May, and fore part of June were remarkable for cold and moisture, as well as for very high winds. Frost occurred in many places on the first of June, and in some places on the thirteenth; though the injury by frost was less than that caused by the cold winds, which had a blighting effect on some tender fruits and plants. On the fifteenth of June, the weather became suddenly hot, the mercury ranging, for several days, from 88° to 96° in the shade. So great a degree of heat, with seasonable rains, has caused a rapid advance of all crops. Hay will be very heavy; winter wheat will be good, if it escapes rust, and has favorable weather to ripen; the same may be said of rye. Oats and barley look well. Indian corn is rather backward. In this vicinity, there is an entire destitution of peaches, plums, and fine cherries; but mid-way between this and New-York, cherries were abundant; and in New-Jersey, we hear peaches are plenty. Apples and pears are generally well set, though there is considerable appearance of blight on the trees, and many fine pears have nearly perished this season.

The wheat crop at the south and west is generally spoken of as good.—Cultivator.

HOGS IN THE WEST.—The number of hogs slaughtered in the valley of the Mississippi last year is stated to have been 1,500,000, a fourth of which were put up for market in Cincinnati. The bristles from these hogs are estimated to be worth 50,000 dollars. Eleven millions of pounds of lard from them is calculated to have been run into lard oil. This oil is exported to the Atlantic cities, and to foreign countries. It is used in the Eastern States for the adulteration of sperm oil, and in France it is used to adulterate olive oil, the skill of the chemists being such that they are able to incorporate 65 to 70 per cent of the lard oil with that of the olive.

U. S. CROPS.—The Commissioner of Patents says, the quantity of grain of all kinds exported during the year, ending Sept. 1, 1847, was 41 million bushels. Of this, about 20 million was wheat, 20 million corn, and the rest rye, barley and oats. The whole wheat crop, 114 million of bushels, and corn 540 million bushels.

WASH FOR BUILDINGS.—The following composition is said to be not only protective against fire, but to render brick work impervious to water. Lime is slacked with hot water in a tub to keep in the steam. It is then passed, in a semi-fluid state, through a fine sieve. Take six quarts of this fine lime, and one quart of clean rock salt, for each gallon of water, the salt to be dissolved by boiling, and the impurities to be skimmed off. To five gallons of this mixture of salt and lime, add one pound of alum, half a pound of copras, three-fourths of a pound of potash added gradually, four quarts of fine sand, or hard wood ashes, and coloring matter to suit the intended purpose. It is applied with a brush. It looks as well as paint, and is as lasting as slate.

The Government of Prince Edward Island have granted 600 barrels of Indian Meal, being 200 for each County, towards relieving the distress which exists in the agricultural districts of that Island.

Failure of the Canal Bank of Albany.—The Canal Bank of Albany has stopped payment, and the probability is that the failure is a bad one. On the 4th of March last, the bank owed the commissioners of the canal fund $139,819, and its circulation was $159,356. Its chief indebtedness was to other banks, viz: $506,603. To depositors, $76,650. The Canal Bank was a safety fund institution.

By a letter in the Journal de Quebec of Saturday last, it appears that the storm which was experienced here on Monday last was felt with still greater severity at St. Paul's Bay. It appears that a very heavy rain fell during the space of twenty-four hours, by which the river Gouffre was swelled up to at least twelve feet above its usual level; and the current becoming so strong, that all the mills, bridges, wharves, trees, in fact, everything which could stop its free course, were carried away. Several buildings on the banks of the river, fences, fire-wood, boards, and the boats used in crossing over the river, as also a schooner, have been carried down the river and with no prospects of anything being saved. Several fields of potatoes have been deeply ploughed by the current, and will be totally lost. Some chantiers, full of building timber and boards, have also been completely destroyed.—Quebec Morning Chronicle.

How to Make Water Cold.—What is better for a thirsty man, in warm weather, than a hearty drink of pure cold water? We answer—nothing, unless it be two hearty drinks. But as every body can't get ice to make their water cool, we give the following receipt, cut from an old book, to make water cool without ice:

Let the jar or pitcher containing the water be surrounded with one or more folds of coarse cotton, to be constantly wet. The evaporations of the water will carry off the heat from the inside, and reduce it to the freezing point. In India and other tropical regions, where ice cannot be procured, this is common.

God resisteth the proud;—singles out pride for his grand enemy and sets himself in battle array against it. But he giveth grace,—pours it plentifully on humble hearts. His sweet dews and showers of grace slide off the mountains of pride, and fall on the low valleys of humble hearts, and make them pleasant and fertile.—Leighton.

A lady complaining to her husband the other day that she had become very thin, remarked that her clothes were getting so large for her that she found she could no longer wear them. 'Perhaps,' replied the good natured husband 'you would wish to have a set of small clothes.'

To make tracing paper, mix six parts (by weight) of spirits of turpentine, one of resin, one of boiled nut oil, and lay on with the brush or sponge. We find this produces a tracing paper that leaves nothing to be desired.

Mark This.—"When sinful creatures kneel together before their Almighty Creator, the solemnity of the work in which they are engaged, and the greatness of His majesty, should prevent a rigid observance of each other. Judge not, lest ye be judged."

SUMMARY OF NEWS

ATTEMPTED REVOLUTION IN MEXICO.—By the steamer Portland, from Vera Cruz, at New Orleans, on the 1st instant, advices have been received of the progress of the revolution in Mexico. The news is of much importance, showing that no Mexican administration could survive, which should force to make peace with the United States. The revolution, which at first appeared contemptible, has now, by the accession of Paredes, assumed a more serious character. The pronouncement of the insurgents openly advocates a continuation of the war and a violation of the treaty which has just been concluded with the United States. Paredes is second by Padre Jarauro. The Mexican Government had forward to the scene of insurrection all its disposable force, under Genls. Bustamante, Yanez, Manon and Cortazar, which, it is said, will be insufficient to put down the movement. On the 20th ult. dispatches had been received from those officers, intimating that they had so disposed their forces as to compel Paredes to risk a battle, which would be definitive in its issue.

LETTER FROM MEXICO AND YUCATAN.

NEW-ORLEANS, July 13, 1848.

We have a few days later from Vera Cruz. Nearly all the volunteers and the ten regiments of regulars had arrived at Vera Cruz.

The Legislature of Tamaulipas has demanded two millions of dollars of the federal government, as indemnity for the territory north of the Rio Grande, ceded to the United States by the treaty of Guadalupe.

The Mexican government appropriated $200,000 for the immediate relief of Yucatan.

Paredes has addressed a manifesto to the States, calling upon them to furnish him with aid in men and money to complete his revolution.

Important rumors have been received from Tampico. The Mexican government, having sent a force to take possession of the town, the citizens opposed its entrance. No further particulars are given.

Paredes and Jarauro are operating against the government with energy. They are likely to cause serious trouble to Herrera's Administration.

General Worth's division remained at Jalapa at last accounts.

Eight thousand of the white inhabitants of Yucatan, flying from the Indian savages, have taken refuge in Merida.

FROM BRITISH GUIANA.—The Georgetown Times of May 5th has the following:—The weather is magnificent. The canes are everywhere luxuriant and most promising. Sugar making goes forward on every estate in the Colony. If the price be low, we shall have the satisfaction at all events of having the crop one of the largest we have shipped.

We have had six arrivals with immigrants within the fortnight. The Appoline with 280 Coolies from Madras, the Candahar with 200, and the Lord Hungerford today with about 300. The Tamerlane from Calcutta with 218, all of whom have been sent to Berbice. The Helena arrived from Sierra Leone on the 19th of April, with 122 captured Africans, most of them in a weak and sickly state.—The Una came in this morning 24 days from the same place, with 202 Africans on board.

POSITION OF AFFAIRS IN VENEZUELA.—The most decided piece of intelligence in reference to the contending parties—Paez and Monagas—in Venezuela, received, is contained briefly in the following extract of a letter dated Porto Cabello, June 30th. It came by the brig Otto, which arrived on Saturday.—N. Y. Herald.

The accounts of the movement at Maracaibo are not of a decided nature. The government's fleet is now remaining in this port to obtain sailors, they are very scarce; all the commanding officers have gone over to the constitution party, as well as the most experienced marines. The constitution party is very strong in Maracaibo; they have possession of the lake and of the fort, and it is generally believed that they will not give up their position.

FUGITIVES.—It is stated by the captain of a vessel which arrived at New York, that he spoke on the 5th inst 26, long 68, 5th Eclipse from Port au Prince for St. Thomas, her deck crowded with mulatto passengers, no doubt fleeing from the fury of the blacks in that part of the island.

Magnetic Telegraph from Portland to Calais.—The posts for the magnetic telegraph from Portland to Bangor are now being delivered at different points upon the route, and the work will be pressed forward with all possible rapidity. As soon as the work is fully under way between this city and Portland, arrangements will immediately be made to continue the line to Calais, so that the whole line will be completed very nearly at the same time. The wire for the entire line between Portland and Calais has been contracted for, and is to be delivered in August and September.

Now if the people of New Brunswick will push forward their line to Halifax, in the course of a very few months, say by the first of December at farthest, the communication between Halifax and the principal cities in the United States, will be open.—Bangor Whig, July 15th.

A Fire, caused by an incendiary, broke out in Boston on Wednesday evening, in a wooden stable on Hudson-street, and extended to Harvard and Albany-street, destroying property to the amount of $30,000. It was the largest fire which has occurred in the south part of the city for many years.

POTATO ROT.—The potato rot, it is stated, has made its appearance, to a most alarming extent on Long Island; threatening to destroy more than one half the crops now in the ground.

A RUNAWAY COUPLE NOOSE.—Mayor Havenuever, yesterday, at his office, in the City Hall, at the mutual request of the parties, slipped the matrimonial noose over the heads of a loving (and runaway) couple from Boston. It appears the ceremony was deemed impracticable, or hazardous at least, in the neighborhood of the parents, who had declared war against the annexation, and off came the candidates for connubial bliss to Gotham, where things of that sort are done up to order. The bridegroom is from Massachusetts, and the bride is said to be a belle of Halifax, N. S., the place whence the lovers last started for New York.—N. Y. Express, 12th.

The steamer General Jackson alias Buena Vista has been rechartered by the conductors of the combined press of New York to run between Halifax and Boston for the remainder of the season to anticipate the news by the British steamers. She left New York for Halifax yesterday, with a new boiler and her machinery repaired generally to increase her speed.

Failure of the Canal Bank of Albany. The Canal Bank of Albany has stopped payment, and the probability is that that failure is a bad one. On the 4th of March last, the bank owed the commissioners of the canal fund $139,519, and its circulation was $159,356. Its chief indebtedness was to other banks, viz: $506,603. To depositors, $76,580. The Canal Bank was a safety fund institution.

James P. Peabody has been doing the good people of St. Louis in grand style. He bought a coffee-house on credit, and in a few days sold it for cash and pocketed the rocks. He then stocked a shop on credit to the amount of $100, sold off, pocketed the needful, and intended to carry off the goods too. The latter, however, stuck in the mud and were left behind; but he took a boat and made himself scarce with the money. An enterprising genius, that Peabody!

CANINE REASON.—While taking my usual morning walk a few days since, I was attracted, in passing one of the wharves at the North End, by what appeared to be a frolic between two small urchins, and a large dog, of a crossbreed, although apparently strongly inclined to the Newfoundland species. The wharf upon one side was bounded by a range of stones, affording between their walls and the water edge an extent of several yards breadth; there the children were engaged, as I soon learned, in endeavoring to approach near enough to skip oyster shells upon the surface of the water, but were invariably intercepted in their attempts by the dog, who would not allow them to come within some feet of the edge. And although at first I mistook their motive, believing that they were endeavoring to induce him to swim, I soon found that whatever might have been their intention in the beginning, they were then engaged in a regular game of battle with the dog, and they had at that period arrived at such terms of understanding that there was no fear on the part of the boys of exciting an angry colic-fur with their opponent, notwithstanding he at times hastened their retreat with a hearty growl, which from his after appearance, was evidently designed for intimidation.

Presuming at length upon his forbearance, mistaking his motive, they separated to divide his attention, that they might alternately accomplish their purpose, which had resulted in thwarting his endeavor to prevent their near approach to the water. But in this manoeuvre, although well executed, they had underrated his resources; for he no sooner saw their intention than he sprang upon one and threw him upon his back, and with almost a single bound seized the other by his dress and drew him toward his prostrate companion. This he repeated, quietly leaving, after his post as sentinel between them and danger, showing beyond doubt to my mind that his intention was above frolic, and was worked to a successful issue by reason.—Boston Traveller.

A boy nine years old was carried over Niagara Falls on Sunday week. He was playing in a boat, which got loose from the shore, and drifted into the current before he was missed. His mother, in her anxiety to save him took another boat, and was almost carried over the falls before self preservation compelled her to abandon the pursuit. The child passed over the fearful abyss in presence of its mother, itself probably unconscious of approaching death.

George D. Street, Esq. Agent, St. Andrews.
Alexander Campbell, Esq. Agent, St. Stephen.

THIS SOCIETY is established on a mutual simplified system—the most approved in England; and founded on a basis so sound as to give the most effectual security to its members.

THE DESIGN OF THIS SOCIETY IS—
First—To enable persons to become their own Landlords, and purchase Freehold or Leasehold Property, by advances made by the Society (£100 positively advanced for £36 a year for eleven and a half years, which sum pays both principal and interest. Other sums in proportion.)

Secondly—To provide a safe and profitable Fund for Savings, or Investments for small or large sums of money. (This Society offers opportunities in this respect which no other Institution in this Province can do;—Savings Banks only pay 5 per cent, whereas this Society pays 6 per cent. Compound Interest.)

1st—No money is lent but on security of Real Property.

2d—New Members are admitted up to the time the Society will end, with equal proportionate advantages.

3d—Any Member may withdraw the amount of his Shares at any time after the first year, with the compound interest thereon. Shares may be transferred at any time.

4th—Members may invest their Money in PAID UP SHARES, which will necessarily be doubled £100 at the commencement being worth £120 at the conclusion.

5th—Mortgages can be repaid at any time with proper notice.

6th—The Accounts and Bank Book are open for the inspection of members at every monthly meeting.

7th—Securities given by all Officers of Trust.

The Board of Directors in St. John have the GENERAL MANAGEMENT of the Society—but for the purpose of accommodating persons resident in other parts of the Province, BRANCH OFFICES, or AGENCIES, are formed—where Shares can be obtained, and all the payments made, in the various districts; and Local Boards of Management will be established so soon as the number of Shares taken in any district render it advisable.

The FEES are procured from the Monthly Subscription of the Members, and also from MONIES invested in PAID UP SHARES, which will always ensure ample means for meeting the advances required.

The PROFITS are certain, because the amount paid by the borrower, for an advance, must necessarily form the fund for paying the lender.

The EXPENSES of the SOCIETY are small, as the Officers act gratuitously, with the exception of the Secretary and Treasurer.

The FEES and FINES form a Contingent Fund out of which the expenses are paid, and the balance, which will be very considerable, will go into the general Fund, which will lessen the duration of the Society.

Every information, with copies of Prospectus, Rules, &c. can be obtained on application at the Office of the Society or at the Offices of the Agents.

By order of the Board,
CHARLES L. STREET,
Secretary & Treasurer
