LONDON PLAYERS' AVERAGES. The averages of the players of the ondon club are here given, including esterday's game at Hamilton. The ercentages are taken from the official ores as they appeared in The Adverser. Cockman leads in batting with a percentage of .385. He has played in 25 games, and has hit steadily since joining the club. In only five of the games has he failed to get a hit. His fielding average of .830 is the lowest of the three outfielders.

Johnson's average of .303 in batting is a surprise in a pitcher, but is accounted for by the steady average hit of one a game. In only eight of his 36 games has he failed to hit safely. His fielding average of .890 is very good, considering the number of different poitions in which he has played. Gunther leads the team in fielding with .965. He has made but 18 errors, in 52 games, and he contributed some of these while behind the bat. His batng has taken a terrific drop. In the ast 17 games he has hit safely but 11 Previous to them, his batting was the heaviest in the league, and if he had kept up, a fine percentage would have been to his credit at the close of hardly likely. Cleveland treated Baltimore to the first coat of whitewash that the champions have received this season, and Cy Young was the man who did it. The Orioles got but five hits off him. Amile, the left-hander, pitched his first National League game and let the Spiders down with six safe ones. Dad Clark was released by New York to Louisville. The Colonels played in the metropolis yesterday, and Dad pitched the finest kind of a game, holding the Giants down to five hits and one run. Meekin went him a little better, and let the men from Kentucky out with three hits and not a single run. As at present constituted the New York outfield is nearly as strong as the best in the league. OPEN 9 A.M. TO 8 P.M. THE HALEYS SENT FOR TRIAL

On the Charge of Grievously Assaulting Mr. Albert Jeffrey.

Tilsonburg, Aug. 24.-Albert Jeffrey having sufficiently recovered to give evidence, the preliminary hearing of the assault case against Thomas Haley took place at the town hall, Courtland. The crown was represented by J. H. Angley, county crown attorney, Wells, Q.C., acted for the prisoner, and the prosecution was conducted by W. A. Dowler. Mr. Jeffrey detailed the circumstances under which he received such serious injury at the hands of the ounger defendant, Thomas Haley, and stated that the younger man was in ited during the progress of the trou v the elder prisoner shouting to the ounger, "Give him a good one while you are at it," etc. J. G. Herron was also asked as to ome admissions made by the elder defendant, and the evidence of Dr. L C. Sinclair closed the evidence for th prosecution. No witnesses were called for the prisoners.

Counsel for the prisoners asked for the discharge of the elder defendant, and that the younger be admitted to bail. The magistrate decided, however commit both defendants for trial, but admitted them to ball, each to give bail for each.

The proceedings this afternoon wer held in the handsome church on Princess street, and were attended by very large congregation. The impres sive ceremony of ordination was pro-ceeded with. The bishop affirmed the principle that a leader of the people needed a moral life, and should in all respects be an exemplar of true Chris tian doctrine. The services lasted two hours, and were of the most impressive character. The formal reception into full ordination of the Rev. J. W. Lyburtis was a solemn and impressive function.

"The Westminster."

We have received the first amalgamated number of the two newspapers, "The Canada Presbyterian" and "The Westminster," which will hereafter appear under the latter title-it having been wisely thought convenient, euphonious, and historical, while in no sense restrictive. The general idea Is somewhat that of Lyman Abbott's "Outlook," of New York-publishing weekly, with one of the issues each month larger and more fully illustrated. The "Canada Presbyterian," under Mr. Robinson, its founder, had secured a valuable circulation in every the Dominion. "The Westhad also made itself widely next? In every new mining amp the temptations to lawlessness are great. All sorts and conditions of men drift into such a place, and the Manufactures .... tendency is to a free use of firearms in ase of disputes. Where justice is aserted, as it is on the Klondike, where all are given a fair chance in the eyes of the law, and where property is safe, there is no necessity for miners going armed, while there is always grave danger from such a condition of affairs. Better keep all on an equality, and by prohibiting the carrying of concealed weapons, restrain temptation.

Major Walsh, we believe, will in this respect do his full duty.

CHARLOTTE SMITH

Has a New Scheme to Compel Batch elors to Marry.

New York, Aug. 23.-Charlotte Smith, president of the Women's Rescue League, called on the Central Labor Union to explain her new scheme for compelling marriageable bachelors She said she had statistics to show that there was an intimate con nection between her scheme and the labor question. The great competition of women in the field of labor, she held, was because 60 per cent of the men refused to marry.

She said she was going to Boston to start a campaign against the Republican and Democratic candidates for mayor there, because both of them are bachelors. She did not believe that a bachelor ought to hold an elective office because no man could possibly act on questions of public morality unless he was married. Even if all the bachelors in Greater New York were to men without husbands. It is reported from Boston that Mr. Curtis, the Republican candidate for Liver Troubles.

Dr. Radwy & Co., New York:

Dear Sirs: I have been sick for hearly two years and have been doctoring with some of the most expert doctors of the United States. I have been bathing and drinking hot water at the Hot Springs, Ark., but it seemed everything failed to do me good. After I saw your advertisement I thought I would try your Pills, and have nearly used two boxes; been taking two at bedtime and one after breakfast, and they have done me more good than anything close I have used. My trouble has been with the liver. My skin and eyes were all yellow; I had sleepy, drowsy feelings; felt like a drunken man; pain right above the navel, like as if it was bile on top of the stomach. My bowels were very costive. My mouth and tongue sore most of the time. Appetite fair, but food would not digest, but settle heavy on my stomach, and some few mouthfels of food come up again. I could only eat hight food that digests easily. Please send "Book of Advice."

WADE FOR THE YUKON

Accepts the Position Declined by Col. Aylmer-Plenty of Work for Harvest Hands-Bloodshed.

Winnipeg, Aug. 24.-Fred C. Wade, barrister, of Winnipeg, has been appointed registrar of the Yukon district, which position was declined by Col. Aylmer. The 6,000 harvest hands from eastern Canada have all been dispatched to the harvest fields, and the crop will now be gathered quickly. The Hungarian colony, near Whitegood, was the scene of a terrible tragedy Saturday. Adam Grega, aged 28, had a quarrel with his aged father over the ownership of some chickens. The old man in a rage struck his son in the face, and the latter, seizing an axe, felled his father with a blow. While the old man was on the ground severing his head from the body.

Canada's Great Fair. As the time approaches for the opening of the Victorian-Era Exposition and Industrial Fair at Toronto next week, interest in its success throughout the country increases, and it is safe to say that the attendance will be greater than ever. The great Diamond Jubilee Procession, and the numerous other incidents connected therewith, will prove great attraction. All the paintings, uniforms, costumes and state paraphernalia have arrived from England, and every preparation has been made even to the cream-colored horses which are to draw her Majesty's carriage. Such a grand spectacle and opportunity to see the soldiers of the British Empire has never before been placed before the people of Canada, and it should not be missed. Cheap excursions will be run the first week as well as the second, and everything will be complete both

"Look here; we're awfully late," says Cecilia, tossing about the things on her dressing-table to find something or "We must hurry. Peter has knocked twice. Do you know, Nell, I think fancy balls ever so much cheaper than other ones? Look at us, now, we don't want gioves. Such a saving! Her dress had cost £30, but she is so delightfully happy in the idea that she has saved money over this affair, by choosing a costume that does not demand gloves, that Nell, whose sense of humor is keen, refrains from laughter. And, indeed, laughter would have been out of place, for now Cecilia has changed her mind again.

'After all, I'll take a pair of gloves decides she. may be glad of them. I hate dancing without gloves, one feels so undressed. Where is my pail? Is that it, Marsham? Give it to me. How light! Oh, there's Peter knocking again. Come in, Peter. Come in and look at me. How do I

"Oh, Nell, come and look at Peter! Isn't he perfect? A very dream." Indeed, Gaveston, as Peter the Hermit, an idea suggested by his wife on account of his name, is looking extremely handsome, if more aged than he should be. The long flowing robes, the white hair, the sternness imparted by the whole costume makes him, if idealized, certainly older than he is.
"And how do I look, Peter? Good enough to be your wife. Though I do not believe Peter the Hermit had one."

"Then he was less lucky than I am."
"What a lovely saying." She has evidently forgotten the dull aching at her heart that has troubled her for many days—everything. She is standing right in the middle of the room—lovely adored-the admired of everyone.

Indeed, people are already arriving. Carmens innumerable, a Charles the First, a Henry the Eighth, and a Johnny Green. Tommy Stout—evidently of the same family as Johnny Green —follows at his heels, with a sister who, resemble Marie Stuart, has copied that lovely and most unhappy lady very closely. The string of pearls in her cap, however, has unfortunately got broken, and now the beads are tumbling down her cheeks one by one, giv ing the startling impression that she is weeping capiously. Miss Wood, the famous tennis play-r of a decade since, a gaunt, but er of a decade since, a gaunt, dauntless being, has come as "Tennis," and she insists on making imaginary strokes with her racquet whenever she moves, she is rather a formidable person. Her sister, who couldn't walk a mile to save her life, has come as Golf, and quite bristles with brassies, bashies and cleeks, and is hung with patent tees and balls. The only thing she hasn't, indeed, is a caddie. So she brib-ed a young nephew to take the part, but at the last moment he had developed mumps, and was put to bed.

Mickey, as an Irish Peasant, is one of the successes of the evening-from his old "caubeen," to his coat al patched and torn, to his knee-breeches that give on the terrifying expression that they won't hold together for an-other moment, to his awful brogues, he is all he ought to be. He is holding his shillelagh in the most approved fashion between his first finger and thumb, loosely, gaily, letting it twirl a t will, as if ready at any moment to break his neighbor's skull.

"Isn't Marie Stuart realistic?" say he to Nell, in a whisper, as she stands near the stairs. "On her way to the block, of course! See how the tears flow down her face. Rather upsetting

She is followed almost immediately by Philip Stairs, who looks extraor-dinarily handsome as Don Pedro. The lress suits his dark complexion, dark and earnest eyes—the eyes that are now fixed upon his hostess.

All the suns of India cannot keep his face from whitening as he sees her, standing there at the head of the grand old hall, her husband-her husband! beside her. That gown! He turns abruptly in his way up to her, and pretends to do something or other to his costume, but almost immediately e recovers himself, and goes on to her his face an impassive mask. She receives him sweetly, indifferently turning from him to give her hand to a newly-arrived Turk, who looks as it a mouse would frighten him. After him, however-as if to make up for his deficiencies—comes Mrs. Cutforth-Boss. Stanley on Thursday next. The and she does it nobly. ## THE FOLLOWING TESTIMONIAL SPEAKS FOR ITSELF

J. Wilson Jones, a well-known gentleman, says: Ordinarily I have serious objections to giving testimony of any description, there being so much of this thing done, that people have lost faith in the average testimonial; but my case is so truly remarkable that I have decided to make an exception, and think I should wrong the public if I held back the true history of my case. For many years I have suffered untold agony from rheumatism. My joints would become so swollen that I was at times scarcely able to move, and was totally unfitted for business for weeks at a stretch. I called at Galley's Homeopathic Institute, and saw their doctor, was carefully examined, and a course of treatment prescribed. I followed directions faithfully, and am only too happy to state that my rheumatism has gone com pletely, and I am able to attend to my business every day. When I think of what I have suffered for so long a period I am only too thankful for the opportunity I have of giving my story plainly and simply, in the hope that others who suffer from this dread disease may know where to obtain relief. (Signed) J. WILSON JONES.

Mrs. Martin Williamson, eldest daughter of Henry Hindley, of Dexter road, died yesterday morning, aged 2 years, after an illness of three days, of inflammation. She leaves a sorrow-ing husband, brothers and sisters, and parents, and a seven-months' old child.

A Port Stanley correspondent writes: Another meeting was held on Saturday night at the cottage of Mr. E. N. Hunt, Orchard Beach, for the purpose of settling the right of way difficulty with Mr. John A. Robinson. Nearly all the beachers were present, and a lively time ensued. It came to light that there are two parties, one favoring fighting the matter out by law and the other paying the $300 which Mr. Robinson asks for a sidewalk three feet wide along about 300 yards of sandy waterfront. Some warm speeches were delivered on the matter, and when the vote came the fighters polled Hamilton and Port Hope Infantry 21 out of 25, leaving three in favor of companies at Windsor and Sandwich settling quietly. A committee, comthe most efficient officers in the force was appointed to get legal advice on at that time. His death will be re- the matter, and to report at the next

After twenty years of most excruciating pain caused by gravel I am pleased to make it known that I have been completely cured of this long-standing trouble by Dodd's Kidney Pills. During these years I have spent hundreds of dollars without any permanent relief. Had I heard of your wonderful remedy years ago it would have saved me months of agony and hundreds of dollars.
