

LONDONERS CLEVERLY CAUGHT IN SMOOTH SWINDLING GAME

New York Gang Sold Swamp Lots as Choice Real Estate in Heart of Americas Metropolis—Cleaned Up in Many Canadian and U. S. Cities.

A number of London citizens have been swindled on a New York real estate proposition. Just how many is not known, but from inquiries made there are quite a few.

Information has been received that the promoters have been arrested in New York City, and their trial will take place shortly.

Other cities in Canada report operations by the gang, who did business under the name of the Imperial Realty Company, of New York.

A large number of businessmen in Ottawa, Montreal, Toronto, Hamilton, London and other places, purchased lots, to find out now that they have been badly swindled.

The agents of the company worked London industriously for some days. They were rather smooth operators, and succeeded in unloading several pieces of property on the unsuspecting.

The proposition was to sell swamp lots in the residential district of New York. The prices were very reasonable, of course, and when the land was filled in and graded, the lucky owners would wake up and find themselves fabulously wealthy, just like the Astors.

Now that the true nature of the deal has leaked out, there will be a scurrying to keep their names from becoming public property. Some are known, but it is understood that many more are yet to be discovered.

It was with some difficulty that the operations of the men could be learned here.

Transactions reaching a total of several thousand dollars are reported by real estate men in New York.

A dispatch from New York gives an account of the arrest of the promoters.

A Gigantic Bubble. New York, Sept. 6.—The arrest of a score of members of a corporation doing business all over the North American continent under the name of the Imperial Realty Company has exposed one of the most gigantic swindles ever worked since the bursting of the famous Mississippi bubble. It is estimated that the Imperial Realty Company's operations covered all the states of the Union and a lot of territory in Canada. Businessmen were the ones chosen for victims for the most part, but there are said to be a number of victims among the poorer classes. The men were remanded for trial.

The property was extensively advertised as attractive lots in the best residential section of Greater New York. Investigations revealed that it took about a day and a half to reach it from New York City, and it was offered by the company at $4 per acre. The lots were sold at prices ranging from $48 to $350, dependent upon the evidence of each victim's appearance of affluence or vice versa.

The arrest is the climax of a rigid inquiry the civic officials of New York City have been conducting throughout the various branches of the real estate market. New York has a real estate exchange which keeps the agents toiling the mark, and it was through the efforts of the reliable and respectable members of the trade who formed the exchange that the civic officials were able to take the action that resulted in the arrest of the whole personnel of the Imperial Realty Company.

At Hamilton. Hamilton, Sept. 8.—The Imperial Realty Company of New York is a bubble, the bursting of which will be felt in this city and other places in Ontario, and in fact throughout Canada. The selling of the swamp lots in the residential part of New York City was one of the best money-getters ever launched on the market.

Monday morning was when the bubble burst, and owing to the fact that between 30 and 40 people of this city have bitten at the alluring bait held out to them by the company's agents, the information will prove somewhat of a bombshell in several homes.

SIR CHARLES FITZPATRICK, Canada's Representative on the Hague Tribunal, Which Decided the Fisheries Dispute.

WATER COMMISSION FOR MR. VAN CLEVE Will Recommend Niagara Falls Man for Position of Head Engineer.

The water commissioners have notified the board of works that they have selected Mr. Van Cleve, of Niagara Falls, as their choice for the position of head engineer, and have agreed to pay 40 per cent of the salary.

That communication will be read at the meeting of No. 2 committee tonight, and from what can be learned will be sent to the council as a recommendation.

There is some opposition, but it is expected that Mr. Van Cleve's name will be sent to the council for disposal.

FAR-REACHING STORM ON ITS WAY HERE Warnings Displayed On Upper Lakes and the Florida Coast.

Washington, Sept. 8.—Storm warnings are displayed on Lake Superior from Duluth to Marquette, according to a weather bureau bulletin issued shortly before noon today.

Key West, Florida, Sept. 8.—Heavy squalls from the northeast, accompanied by rain and a falling barometer early this morning, indicated the approach of the tropical storm which was reported by the weather bureau of Porto Rico yesterday.

It is estimated the storm has travelled 200 miles.

LONDON BOYS BOWL WELL OUT WEST Help to Capture Two Big Trophies at Winnipeg Tourney.

Corbie Weld, a former London bowler, and his rink captured the Gerhard-Heintzman trophy and the McMillan cup, the two principal features of the recent Manitoba bowling tournament held in Winnipeg recently.

The Winnipeg papers speak in glowing terms of the fine bowling of Mr. Weld himself. Mr. C. O. Smith, another London Old Boy, led for Mr. Weld during the contests. There were 44 entries. In addition, Mr. Weld won the singles contest after a fine uphill battle with W. A. Murray, of Winnipeg. At one time Mr. Weld was down 12 to 5, but he kept Murray from scoring after that, running his string to 13 without a skip.

BAD EARLY MORNING FIRE AT VILLAGE OF PRINCETON

Early Morning Conflagration Does Considerable Damage to a Number of Places and Loss Will Amount to Several Thousand.

[Special to The Advertiser.] Woodstock, Sept. 8.—Princeton Village, about fourteen miles from here, experienced a bad fire this morning, considerable property being destroyed. Fire broke out at 4 a.m. in an unoccupied building known as Wells Block, which was under process of reconstruction, and burned to the ground. It spread to a dwellinghouse owned and occupied by Mr. and Mrs. Chessright,

ROOSEVELT AND BILLY HEARST TO FIGHT BOSSES TOGETHER

Millionaire Editor Offers Colonel Support of Independence League.

[Associated Press Cable.] New York, Sept. 8.—Republican leaders and members of the "Old Guard" at the Republican state committee were not inclined to discuss today the cabled statement of William Randolph Hearst from Paris, urging Theodore Roosevelt to fight the "bosses" in this state, and the intimation that the Independence League would help him.

Mr. Hearst's declaration was deemed of much importance in the present situation, and until today no light had been shed on what position Mr. Hearst or the Independence League would take in the approaching state campaign.

Following a long statement of Mr. Hearst, in which he flays the "bosses" of both parties and at the same time finds certain faults with Col. Roosevelt, Mr. Hearst concludes: "Whetting the Tomahawks. 'Come home to New York, Mr. Roosevelt, and honestly take the war-path against the bosses."

"We independents are whetting our tomahawks for the fray. There is no jealousy in our ranks. We do not care who leads, if only he leads aright."

"We do not care who gains the glory as long as the people gain the victory."

"Drive the Republican bosses out of the Republican party, Mr. Roosevelt, and if any one of them deserts to the Democratic party, fifty thousand independents will take his place."

"If Barnes, Woodruff, Aldridge, all three of them desert to the Democratic one hundred and fifty thousand independents will take their votes."

"We cast that many votes at the last election, Mr. Roosevelt. We can cast them again and more."

DR. SMITH LEFT A LARGE ESTATE

Toronto, Sept. 8.—The late Dr. Andrew Smith, head of the Veterinary College here till it was taken over by the Government, left an estate of $622,219. The will probated shows real estate, $194,500; cash, $399,191. He left $21,000 to charities, including $15,000 to St. Andrew's Society.

INFANTILE PARALYSIS First Case in Toronto—Victim Was 29 Years of Age.

[Special to The Advertiser.] Toronto, Sept. 8.—R. W. G. Milliken, 72 Victor avenue, died yesterday afternoon after a very short illness, which doctors have now pronounced to be infantile paralysis, and the first case on record in this city.

Paralysis started at the man's feet and crept up his body until death ensued. He was 29 years of age, and was departmental manager for Ryrie Bros.

THE WEATHER Tomorrow—Fair and Cooler.

Toronto, Sept. 8.—5 a.m. Today—Southerly winds, increasing in force; fine and warm today; local showers and thunderstorms tonight. Friday—Strong winds and moderate rains; westerly to northwesterly; a few passing showers, but generally fair and much cooler.

WEATHER NOTES. A depression is situated this morning over Lake Superior, attended by showers and thunderstorms, while a very pronounced cold wave covers the western provinces, accompanied by freezing temperatures.

Minimum and maximum temperatures: London, 59-78; Victoria, 50-72; Vancouver, 59-71; Kamloops, 45-63; Edmonton, 40-52; Calgary, 34-44; Prince Albert, 30-50; Moose Jaw, 35-50; Qu'Appelle, 35-44; Winnipeg, 42-50; Port Arthur, 52-64; Fanny Station, 56-70; Toronto, 56-70; Ottawa, 54-64; Montreal, 58-68; Quebec, 52-58; St. John, 54-60.

TODAY'S PROBS. The East—Moderate winds; fair and a little warmer. The West—Strong winds, gradually shifting to west and north; a few local showers or thunderstorms; cooler on Friday.

All West—Mostly fair and cool; local night frosts.

Muzzles Remain

The muzzling order has not been rescinded. Dr. J. H. Tennant, Government veterinary inspector, notified Mayor Beattie today that the order to keep dogs muzzled was still in force, never having been revoked.

"Until such time as the Government does revoke the order, we have no alternative but to keep the dogs muzzled," said Mayor Beattie. "When it was issued, the order was for an indefinite period, and it still remains so. We can do nothing until such a time as the Government acts."

COMMISSION SEAT NOT TAKEN AUTOMATICALLY

Ex-Alderman Matthews' Claim to the Vacancy Without Foundation.

Ex-Ald. R. F. Matthews, now of Evelyn, has put in a claim for the seat on the board of water commissioners, vacated by the death of Mr. A. T. McMahan.

Mr. Matthews was in the city yesterday, and declared that as the candidate who stood next, he was entitled to the seat, claiming that was the usual procedure followed in municipal elections.

"I was the highest of the defeated candidates," he stated. "As such, it falls to me to be elected to the position. As for the fact that I live in Evelyn, it does not matter. Other candidates are members of boards live out of the city. I still own property here and pay taxes. I think I am entitled to it."

He would not state whether or not he would push his claim.

Claim Not Clear. However, it does not appear at all likely that Mr. Matthews will take the seat. There are grave doubts as to the validity of his reasoning. While there is a general statute covering the filling of vacancies for civic bodies, the London waterworks is under a special act, and the vacancies must be filled by the city council.

Clause 46 of the waterworks act reads as follows: "A water commissioner may resign, and shall cease to hold office for the same causes as by municipal law the seat of an alderman in the council becomes vacant. In case of a vacancy during the term of his office, the council of the corporation of London shall appoint a person to fill the vacancy and the person so appointed shall hold office for the residue of the term for which his predecessor was elected or appointed, or for which the office is to be filled."

There is nothing clearer than that clause, and makes it very patent that Mr. Matthews nor any of the other defeated candidates can be automatically elected to the position.

No word has been received as to whether or not Mr. F. E. Leonard will accept the position, but it is considered probable that he will.

NEW SCHOOL PLANS WERE ACCEPTED

Colborne Street Institution May be Called The Alexandra.

At the meeting of No. 2 committee of the board of education, held yesterday, plans of the new Colborne street school were submitted and accepted. The committee also recommended that the school be called the Alexandra.

Only routine business was transacted. Those present were Dr. A. J. Wyckoff (chairman), J. I. A. Hunt, W. T. Strong, W. W. Gammage and Secretary McAlister.

It was suggested that the new school be called the Alexandra.

NARROW ESCAPE OF BOATING PARTY

Gasoline Explosion in Windsor Boat-house—Two Men Scorched.

Windsor, Sept. 8.—As the result of a gasoline explosion in a boat-house at a party given by William Humphreys and Clark Deneau, a party of boaters narrowly escaped serious injury.

The party was making some repairs to the launch preparatory to taking it out on the river when the explosion occurred.

Two members of the party were scorched by the flames and saved themselves by plunging into the river. The fire department extinguished the flames.

UNLUCKY JOHN

Waiter, Who Was Thrashed by Cook, Gets Another Beating.

John Poullos, the young waiter who served as a floor duster on Tuesday night to appease the wrath of the cook beater, was again in the limelight at the police court this morning, when he was charged with a broken finger and some bruises, which he alleged were the result of an attack made on him by Benjamin Sturkey, a German who has figured in the police court on several occasions. Sturkey was arrested on charges of assault and occasioning bodily harm, and after hearing the evidence the court bailed Sturkey in the sum of $300 to appear tomorrow morning and produce witnesses to substantiate his story of innocence.

DR. BLACKWELL DYING

New York, Sept. 8.—Dr. Emily Blackwell, for many years head of the New York infirmary for women and children, is critically ill at her summer home at York Cliffs, Maine. Her death is expected.

CRIPPEN'S TRIAL GRIEWOME NOW

Crown Witnesses Identify Parts of the Murdered Woman's Body.

DOCTOR TALKS TO MISS LENEVE

Druggist Tells of the Accused Physician Buying Quantity of Deadly Poison.

[By Associated Press.] London, Sept. 8.—At the resumption today of the trial of Dr. Hawley H. Crippen and Ethel Clara Crippen, for the murder of the former's wife, Public Prosecutor Humphreys introduced evidence to establish the claim of the crown that the parts of the mutilated body found in the Crippen home once formed a part of the person of Belle Elmore, the missing wife, and to so strengthen what has been regarded as the weak link in the chain of circumstantial evidence against the accused.

Was Belle's Hair. The first witness called was Mrs. Adeline Harrison, whose acquaintance with Belle Elmore had extended over a period of twelve years. Mrs. Harrison was asked to examine strands of hair found when the dismembered body was uncovered, and having done so, she swore that she recognized the exhibit as similar to that worn by Belle Elmore.

Recognized Scars. A torn bit of feminine underwear, also discovered by the searchers in the cellar, was next introduced, and the witness declared that she had seen Belle Elmore clothed in undergarments of a like texture. Testimony had been offered before, showing that the lower part of the body bore a scar, the result of an operation. Mrs. Harrison testified that she had seen a similar scar on the body of her friend.

Society Attend. The startling statements of the public prosecutor in his opening address on Tuesday, and the tracing of poison had been found in the body, and that Crippen had purchased an identical drug shortly before his wife's disappearance, served to stimulate public interest in the sensational drama, and fashionably-dressed women were again prominent in the over-crowded court room today.

The accused were seated in the dock and the doctor took advantage of the opportunity to speak to the jury. Miss Leneve presented a woebegone appearance and did not seem anxious to converse. Crippen, to whom his spectacles had been returned for the first time since his arrest, appeared as the Crippen of early photographs. He spoke to the jury anxiously and she replied in monosyllables.

When Mrs. Harrison left the stand, the prosecution called the chemist who claims that he sold arsenic, a deadly poison, to Crippen. The witness testified that the doctor purchased five grains of the drug on Jan. 19, explaining that he required the poison for use in his laboratory. As is required of purchasers of poisons, he signed the registry book of the store, making this inscription: "Munyon, per H. H. Crippen."

Arthur Newell, representing Crippen, detracted somewhat from the strength of the evidence, and incidentally indicated what is believed to be the line of defence in his cross-examination of the witness. A deadly examination of the witness testified that the doctor purchased five grains of the drug on Jan. 19, explaining that he required the poison for use in his laboratory. As is required of purchasers of poisons, he signed the registry book of the store, making this inscription: "Munyon, per H. H. Crippen."

Inspector Dew, who arrested the fugitives and brought them to a front Quebec, re-entered the witness box today and read a lengthy statement signed by Crippen when the police first asked him to make an explanation of his disappearance from London, after suspicion had been directed against him. The gist of the statement had already been covered by Mr. Humphreys in his opening address.

Inspector Dew also testified regarding the search of Crippen's house, and told of finding there a loaded revolver and a box of cartridges.

SPOONERS' PARADISE NEATH THE JAIL WALLS

A Weird Place Where Lovers Galore Gather Nightly.

Daniel Cupid, in his search for pastures new, has selected a rather unusual resort, and as a result of his efforts, the officials at the county building are having their troubles kept in the present by the missing lady friend and draws a bench in close to the side of the building. They have a fine time and unconsciously provide much amusement for many people. The only objection I have is that they dig up the lawn with their heels and spread peanut shells over every thing."

IMPRESSIVE FUNERAL OF LATE ADAM M'MAHEN

Many Societies and the Leading Citizens Join in Final Tribute.

The funeral of Mr. Adam T. McMahon was held this afternoon from his late residence, 609 Colborne street, to Woodland Cemetery, and was one of the largest ever held in this city. The services, which were of a deeply impressive nature, were conducted by Rev. Dr. Ross, pastor of St. Andrew's Church. The casket was covered with beautiful floral offerings, and among others received were a broken column from the water commissioners, a large wreath from the mayor and council, a "Gates Ajar" from the board of trade, a harp from the Irish Benevolent Society, a large wreath composed from the employees of the firm of McMahon & Granger, wreaths from the Conservative Club and Conservative Association, the Huron and Erie and London Trust Companies, Mr. James Granger, Col. J. W. Little and many others.

Throughout the day and yesterday the family received many messages of condolence and telegrams from friends throughout the province. The pallbearers were Messrs. William Wyatt, Philip Pocock, D. H. Howden, George C. Gibbons, John McMillan, John Marr, John Emsie and James Granger.

Among the relatives attending the funeral were Mr. Samuel McMahon, of Detroit, and Matthew McMahon, of Red Deer, Alta.; brothers: Mrs. Brown, of Chatham, N.S., and Rev. and Mrs. Beverly Ketchum, of Hamilton.

Among those who attended the funeral from the city were Mayor Beattie and all the aldermen, City Clerk Baker, City Treasurer Bell, Water Commissioner P. J. Darby, President S. Stevely, of the Irish Benevolent Society, and the following members: E. J. Cary (secretary), B. C. McCann, T. J. Murphy, Dr. Schoobottom, E. Ryan and Robert McMorris.

IMPRESSED WITH THE WEST

Progressive Spirit is Everywhere Evident Says Mr. J. H. Chapman.

Mr. John H. Chapman, who has recently returned from the Victoria Conference, states that no really radical or unusual changes were effected in the teaching or discipline of the Canadian Methodist Church at this conference. On the question of amusements a new footnote has simply been substituted for an old one.

In regard to the discussion on "higher criticism," machinery has been provided to deal with questions of this type, which are not likely to further attract unusual attention.

Mr. Chapman was deeply impressed with the progressive spirit manifested on the Pacific Coast. It is said that Vancouver is surveyed large enough to contain old London, with her seven millions inhabitants. Victoria is essentially a city of beautiful homes.

Calgary, Alberta, appears to be the most progressive city between Winnipeg and Vancouver. Calgary controls her own street railway system, and last year derived from it a net revenue of $32,000. Calgary strikes the easterner as being a "city of men."

Everywhere the streets are filled with men all intent on business and activity. Moosejaw, Sask., is also a progressive and enterprising city.

FORMER LONDONER WEDS IN WINNIPEG

Mr. Walter Little Was United in Marriage Yesterday to Miss Elsie Gordon.

[Special to The Advertiser.] Winnipeg, Sept. 8.—Holy Trinity Church was the scene of a very brilliant wedding yesterday afternoon, when Elsie, only daughter of J. C. Gordon, druggist, was married to Walter Harley Little, son of J. W. Little, of London, the service was fully choral. Ven. Archdeacon Fortin being the officiating clergyman.

After the ceremony a reception was held at the bride's home, the bridal party receiving in the drawing-room, standing about a half circle of palms, ferns and mauve and pink sweet peas. On the lovely lawn a marquee was erected sheltering the bride and groom, which was with white roses. Many beautiful gifts were received, among them being a handsome tea service from Robinson Little Company, of which Mr. Little is the Winnipeg manager.

PICKPOCKETS AFTER THE FAIR VISITORS

Reaping a Harvest On Trains Between Hamilton and Toronto.

Toronto, Sept. 8.—Pickpockets are reaping a harvest on the trains between Hamilton and Toronto. The crowds to the exhibition, especially those from points in the United States, come with well-filled purses, and the chief "operator" among them is a man of expert "dips" is a stout gentleman, who usually wears a gray suit, but has a change of hats. He wedges himself in at the doors as the people pass in and out and blocks the way.

In the crush the pickpockets get busy, separate and pass the swag on to a fourth party, who keeps away from the trio who collect it.

While this is one of the police confines of Hamilton and Toronto, the provincial detectives will not move in the matter because the thefts take place on the railways, and the latter say they are doing the best they can.

FINE LOT OF SHOWS FOR THE MIDWAY

President Reid, of the Fair Board, Says He Got Best of Them.

President W. J. Reid arrived home from Toronto this morning and stated to The Advertiser that he had been successful in getting a splendid lot of shows for the Midway.

"There was keen competition," said Mr. Reid, "as the Ottawa fair and a big exhibition at Brockton, Massachusetts, are at the same time as the Western, but we managed to get the pick for London."

Good tea is the result of care and experience in blending—must be the combination of fine flavor, smooth strength and richness. Because all these elements are so generously included in Red Rose Tea it well merits the term "good tea."

THE PRESBYTERIANS REPLY TO VAUGHAN

Declare That Protestantism Has the One Great Sacrifice.

Ottawa, Sept. 7.—The Presbytery of Ottawa has been moved by the eucharistic congress in Montreal to make a deliverance for presentation to its own constituency, and in the belief that it may be an aid to others, whose connection is not with the Presbyterian Church.

Last night at Montreal Father Vaughan, referring to the criticisms which have been made concerning his attack on Protestantism, said he had been charged with attacking his Protestant friends and felt very distressed about it. He had no right to blame them for their opinion, and he believed there were many Protestants actuated by the best motives.

ROOSEVELT CLASHES WITH "RED" MAYOR

Latter Attempts to Kill Demonstration For Colonel, But Without Success.

Milwaukee, Wis., Sept. 7.—Shortly after Colonel Roosevelt arrived here today he found himself involved in a controversy with Emil Seidel, the Socialist mayor, who had declined to act upon the reception committee which welcomed the colonel to Milwaukee.

In a contribution to The Big Stick, a newspaper published by the Milwaukee Press Club for this occasion, Mayor Seidel stated that "if Mr. Roosevelt comes to Milwaukee holding the same ideas which he expressed in an article published by him on March 29, 1909, it is clear that he cannot serve the cause of honesty and decency in American political life.

"Inasmuch as I am a Socialist, and as he has designated Socialism as a thing which is against morals and religion—abhorrent, revolting— which would replace the family and home life by a glorious state of free lunch counter and a state founding asylum—I am sure that he will be pleased that I am not personally connected with his reception in the city.

TORONTO FAIR ALMOST OVER

An Exhibit That Caused Much Comment and Congratulation.

The closing days of the Toronto fair have been reached, and the attention of Western Ontario is centered upon what promises to be London's greatest fair next week. Not only are the special attractions to be provided very numerous and interesting, but exhibitors are putting forth efforts in regard to the displays that shall surpass those of any previous year.

One of the most noteworthy exhibits at Toronto this year has been that of Gourlay, Winter & Leeming, makers of the famous Gourlay pianos and equally celebrated Gourlay-Angelus player pianos. The firm received so many compliments from capable judges, including several rival manufacturers, that they decided to make an equally attractive display at London.

Place of Honor in Family Medicine Chest

Mrs. Louis Inra will never be without Duffy's Pure Malt Whiskey, now that she has found out what it will do for her. Last winter it cured her of a severe cold. Her happy husband says:

"In justice to Duffy's Pure Malt Whiskey, I must say that it cured her of a severe cold when everything else she tried failed. She has been troubled with a cough every winter recently, and has tried all kinds of patent medicines and home remedies without their doing her much good. Finally I advised her to try Duffy's Pure Malt Whiskey once and see if it would not give her some relief. That was early last winter, and the results were very gratifying, so much so that Mrs. Inra will never be without your valuable Malt Whiskey any more, and has such faith in it that it takes the place of honor in the Family Medicine Chest."

"KILL ALL" JAPAN'S FORMOSA WAR CRY

Press Exultantly Asserts Island Campaign Is One of "Systematic Slaughter."

Tokio, Sept. 6.—A "campaign of systematic slaughter" is the appellation given by the Japanese press to the military operations conducted in Formosa.

From official reports and other sources it is gathered that the Japanese in Formosa are realizing that a "campaign of systematic slaughter" is being conducted on their own ground, inured to all the vagaries of a tropical and malarial climate and inspired with inveterate hatred of the invader, can give more trouble than the trained armies of a civilized foe in the open field.

With all its tens of thousands of Korean victims, Japan's little war against the Koreans is not mentioned in the same breath with this other little war she is conducting in Formosa.

The frequent reverses sustained by the Japanese troops operating in the latter island and the relatively large list of casualties in their ranks indicate the difficulties with which Japan is confronted in what is frankly admitted to be a war of extermination.

According to a statement made by General Viscount Sakuma, Governor-General of Formosa, the Gaogan and Mariko tribes, which are now being attacked, number about 100,000. They have established their position in a natural fastness close to the central mountain range along the upper reaches of the Dakusli River.

In order to divert their attention, a force was sent from Yurik in the direction of Shichih. Formosans elected to die fighting rather than surrender, and the Kelto tribe, which had surrendered and was living within the defence lines, was induced to rise in revolt and make common cause with them.

On receipt of this news reinforcements were sent from Taipei, and efforts are now being made to recover the lost positions. The Japanese accomplished it is proposed to advance still further, so as to connect with the force advancing from Shichih. Barbéd wire inclosures will be formed, and it is proposed to crush the insurrection in a single action.

The Japanese force arrayed against the savages consisted originally of six companies of infantry and a battery of mountain artillery. The Japanese were confronted by the task of dealing with the bravest and most ferocious tribe of all, known as the Taruko. This tribe is said to be well armed and even to possess some dynamite. It is expected to offer a desperate resistance.

General Sakuma states that these people are childishly superstitious. They are devoted to their chiefs, whom they implicitly obey, so that if once they make act of surrender their fealty in the majority of cases can subsequently be relied upon. They worship the moon and the monkey, and in this context it is recorded that some years ago, when a Chinese ship approached Taito, on the east coast, the light at the mouth of the bay was taken by the aborigines for the moon, and they offered no resistance.

The aborigines wear no clothes save a narrow waistband, and their skin closely resembles the earth in color. When they are in the forest and have donned their headdress, consisting of a chaplet of leaves or a wisp of grass, they can scarcely be distinguished from their environment. This circumstance undoubtedly confers upon them a big advantage in the struggle. They are, moreover, extraordinarily skilled marksmen, and although their arms are mostly old-pattern rifles, many possess more up-to-date Mausers and Sniders, and it is believed that they have about one hundred thousand rounds of ammunition smuggled through by Chinese traders from the east coast, together with the rifles. These people have soles like leather, and their feet are very hard and tough. They are remarkably agile, are animated by strong patriotism, and are as brave as men can be. The women act as baggage carriers, and are as hardy and courageous as the men.

EVANGELISTIC WORK MAKES GOOD PROGRESS

Encouraging Reports Presented at the General Assembly's Board Meeting.

Toronto, Sept. 7.—At the annual meeting of the general assembly's board on moral and social reform and evangelism, a practical review of the development of work along evangelistic lines in the Presbyterian Church in Canada was made.

The conference opened its sessions in the Life building yesterday afternoon, with nearly all the members present. The afternoon session was presided over by Judge McKay, of Port Arthur, and the evening by Rev. Dr. C. W. Gordon, of Winnipeg.

After receiving reports of an encouraging nature as to progress in the various fields of evangelistic work it was decided that conferences of ministers and workers of the province with Alexander and Chapman be held during the latter's campaign in Toronto with a view to acquainting the ministers with the best methods of obtaining the best results. The evangelists will address the conferences.

It was decided also by the board to recommend Synodical and Presbyteries in missionary fields to make use of Synodical and Presbyterial missions to assist the superintendents in the development of the mission fields.

On receiving the report of the Knox College gospel team of five students the board concluded to appoint similar team in all the colleges if desired by the institutions, and to continue vigorously the campaign of recruiting and training young men for the ministry.

At the request of the home mission board will their operation in the work of converting the foreigners. Announcement was made of the itinerary of Rev. Dr. Wm. Patterson and Rev. Dr. Wm. Patterson in Algoma district till Oct. 9th, in British Columbia till the end of November, in Saskatchewan till Dec. 20th, in Toronto during the month of January, and in London during the first half of February.

A committee was appointed to arrange for the publication of Professor Kilpatrick's book on evangelism, which he has donated to the board. The committee's sessions were devoted entirely to the evangelistic work, and today's will deal with the moral and social reform progress of the church.

Queries Answered.

TAYLOR.—Between 40 and 45 years ago my aunt received from Scotland her share of her father's property. At this time she was sick, so she signed the papers for her husband to get the money and pay for the farm where they were living for a home. He did so, but instead of putting the farm in his wife's name he took it out in his own name. About three years ago they bargained to sell the farm to the youngest boy of the family, who had the stock and implements for having stayed with them and worked the place. They left the farm and moved to town. The boy was to pay so much a year for them to live on. Uncle died in June. Aunt never knew till then that the farm was not in her name. The sons that have been doing for themselves the last twelve years are now trying to take a share out of the farm. What can they do? Does the farm belong to auntie?

Answer.—Upon the facts stated the aunt has a right to have her late husband declared to have been a trustee for her. This would require a suit in the high court against the heirs of her husband, who are all her children. She had better consult a lawyer upon full information. If she does not claim to be the owner she is entitled as widow to one-third of the property of her husband, and the children to the remaining two-thirds, in equal shares. The youngest son can refuse to recognize the claim of his brothers, in which case they would have to bring the suit and the ownership of the mother could be set up as a defence to their claim.

RUPTURED HIS HEART. Ottawa, Sept. 7.—As a result of his poor-meeting in the case of George Budge, the Austrian, who was found dead in bed in his room, Dr. Craig has discovered that the cause of death was an exceedingly rare occurrence, being due to rupture of the heart.

The large arteries from the heart are frequently ruptured by aneurism or other causes, but actual rupture of arteries or ventricles is very rarely found in post-mortem examinations. The causes are unknown, but most likely degeneration of heart muscle fibre is responsible for Budge's death.

MORE WATER VAPOR SEEN ON MARS

Astronomers Discover More Striking Proof Than Heretofore.

Flagstaff, Ariz., Sept. 6.—More water vapor in the atmosphere of Mars has been discovered by the astronomers at Lowell Observatory. A spectrogram has been measured with the new comparator and includes more striking proof of the presence of both water vapor and oxygen than shown in previous plates. Spectrograms of the moon and Mars were taken at equal altitudes and coincident times. The earth's humidity at the time of the observation was only sixty-two hundredths of a grain of water vapor in a cubic foot of air, which means an exceptional dryness. The measurements make the intensity of the little "a" band of water vapor in the spectrum of Mars two and one-half times as great as in the lunar spectrum taken under identical conditions, and great "b" one and a half times as strong in the spectrum of Mars as in that of the moon.

THE FISHERIES SETTLEMENT. More important than the finding of The Hague tribunal in the fisheries case is the settlement of such a question by such a process.

The Atlantic fisheries question has been a source of friction for over a century. It is gratifying to know that the most irritating point of difference—the American claim to fishing privileges in the larger bays—has been decided in Great Britain's favor.

The Americans contended that the three miles from the coast line, inside of which they were forbidden to fish, followed the windings of the shore, thus giving them access to all bays over six miles wide at the entrance.

The decision at The Hague wipes out many old stores. Arbitration seems more than ever the proper caper when you happen to win.

The chief harvest in the west this year was the Prime Minister. He sowed broadcast the seeds of Canadian sentiment.

THE WORLD'S COAL. Statistical information as to the production, consumption, imports and exports of coal in the British empire and the principal foreign countries is furnished in the British Board of Trade's "Coal Tables for 1908-09."

The United States shows the greatest increase in production in the last four years, namely, 21,000,000 tons, Great Britain and Germany coming next, with about 12,000,000 tons each.

British India ..... 12,770,000 tons. Australia ..... 10,190,000 tons. Canada ..... 9,270,000 tons. South Africa ..... 4,938,000 tons. New Zealand ..... 1,861,000 tons.

India's output in the last three years has increased by 3,000,000 tons; Australia's by 1,500,000 tons; Canada's 1,000,000 tons, New Zealand's by 130,000 tons, and Africa's by 80,000 tons.

In Canada the average value of coal at the pit's mouth was 10s. 8d. per ton, or more than double that of India, while the Australian price was midway between the two extremes, 7s. 4½d.

Not only is the average wage paid in the United States double that paid in other countries, but the production per head is also double. At the same time coal sells in the United States for less than anywhere else.

THE WOMAN'S CORNER

Why Not Learn To Be Graceful

It's a bit stupid of women that in their frantic struggle for beauty they have pinned their faith to clothes, and overlooked the grace which is the only real, reliable, blow-in-the-bottle substitute for pulchritude of face and form.

Of course to be really beautiful, you have got to be born that way. If nature bestowed upon you a saleratus biscuit complexion instead of one of peaches and cream, there is mighty little you can do to alter it. Also if you failed to draw a tall and willowy figure in the lottery of life, and got instead an apple dumpling shape, it is in vain that you starve yourself and try all the fifty-seven varieties of recipes for getting slight and agile, for no woman by taking them can add one cubit to her stature, or remove an ounce from her weight.

Likewise, while it is true that fine feathers do make fine birds, it is not everyone who is blessed with a purse that enables her to ameliorate her homeliness by an application of French gowns and hats.

On the other hand, the chief recommendation of grace as the underpinning of beauty is that it is something that absolutely may be achieved by any woman, and, furthermore, is something that may be had without money and without price.

To Be Had for the Taking.
It is free, and is yours for the taking. Its only requirement is a little thought, and effort, and study.

When we say that a woman is stylish, we simply mean that she wears her clothes gracefully. She imparts an air of smartness to whatever she has on. Her hat is on at the proper angle. Her belts are taut. Her skirts hang evenly. Her clothes appear to belong to her instead of her belonging to them, and in the simplest cotton frock she looks more elegant than another woman does in an imported velvet.

Such a woman always gives an impression of being beautiful, whether she is or not. So does the woman who always strikes in the picture as being something of a beauty. She is the woman who never strikes an ungainly pose, who can lie in a hammock without sagging down like a load of bricks, who can sit in church or at the theatre without sitting on the back of her neck, and who puts, not only her feet, but the best side of her, forward.

You may not have thought of it, girls, but there is a way to sit, and a way to stand, that will add 40 per cent to any woman's good looks, and an uncouth way of doing the same thing that will discount her charms even more.

There never was a more vivid illustration of what being drilled in graceful pose means for a woman than was given by Evelyn Thaw during the two long trials of her husband, in which she was the cynosure of every eye. She had been the pupil of that great artist and connoisseur of beauty, Stanford White, and so well had he impressed his precepts on her that it was remarked by those who watched her, that never once, by any chance, did she fall into any attitude that did not set off her beauty to the greatest advantage.

On Case in Point.
If she looked straight in front of her head was held so that the profile was as clear cut as a cameo. If she looked up, the throat and head were tilted to an angle that brought out the exquisite lines of chin and throat. If she looked down, the head dropped like a weary flower on its stem, and she said to yourself that this was the most exquisite pose of all.

To a degree, any clever girl can acquire the art of being graceful. She can watch herself and cure herself of the habit of sprawling. She can refrain from sitting with her feet stretched out in front of her, and train her elbows to lie in curves instead of jerky straight lines, and she can master the knack of melting into a chair instead of being a mere excrescence on it like a bump on a log. Few young women in these days of athletics and gaucherie have any comprehension of what a woman really can do with a couch and a cushion as a background. They are like the late lamented Mrs. Wither, who, when her daughter implored her to loll in the carriage, cried out, "Loll, Lavinia, I am incapable of such a thing!"

ADVERTISER PATTERNS

BEAUTY PATTERN COMPANY.

No. 8758—A Practical Up-to-Date Style for a Play Dress—Child's Rompers.

For comfort, convenience and labor-saving qualities rompers are always to be recommended, and a style such as this one, easy to make, and comfortable to wear, will be found most desirable. The yoke and short sleeve are cut in one piece and are joined to a body portion that has the blouson or leg parts cut without the usual inside seam. This will be found a great advantage, as it gives greater freedom in movement and more comfort. The pattern is cut in three sizes—2, 4 and 6 years. It requires two yards of 36-inch material for the 4-year size.

A pattern of this illustration mailed to any address on receipt of ten cents in silver or stamps.

CYNTHIA GREY'S CORRESPONDENTS

Dear Miss Grey: Would you please answer the following questions:

1. Is it wrong for girls of 16 to keep company occasionally with young gentlemen of the same age?
2. Is it wrong for young girls to correspond with young gentlemen, whom we met while on our vacation?
3. And if it is wrong to keep company with young gentlemen, what amusements are there in a town for girls of our age?
4. What is a suitable way for us to wear our hair, and what length should we wear our skirts?

THE TWINS.

1. No, if your parents are willing.
2. Rather unwise, if that is the sole extent of your acquaintance.
3. I hope indeed that "keeping company with young men" is not the only way to get fun. Why not organize a girls' club of some description? Get two or three of your brightest thinkers together and discuss it. If your club was formed with the idea of helping yourselves or others in some way—all the better. Have a very secret initiation; publish a club newspaper; get up a concert or little private play and have outsiders come to enjoy it; have a social evening occasionally. There, haven't I suggested enough fun for a whole winter? You are welcome to any help I can render through this column if you decide to form a club.
4. Part in two braids, and either let them hang, or bind about the head. Tie with bows of wide ribbon. Just below your boot top.

Dear Miss Grey: Will you please answer the following questions:

1. Do you think gold buttons on a red sweater coat would be in good taste?
2. Could you also tell me what would be the most fashionable colors for fall suitings?
3. What will be the most fashionable colors for fall suitings?

BETSY.

1. Yes, white pearl, or red to match the coat would be equally suitable.
2. Ask a druggist.
3. Maize, helio, bisque, raven's wing, burgundy, teal and olive green are all popular shades.

Dear Miss Grey: I used to keep company with a young gentleman whom I love very dearly, but we quarrelled about two months ago, and have not been in one another's company since. He keeps company with a young lady now, who he always told me he disliked very much. He always keeps out of my sight when I am with another young gentleman. Do you think he is jealous of me?

2. Will I go back with him if I get the chance?

Please answer my questions and give me some advice.

GOLDEN LOCKS.

1. Unless you are willing to eat "humble pie," and acknowledge your fault in the wrong, I'm afraid nothing can be done to bring you together. Do you love him enough to do this? Maybe he is sorry, too.
2. My dear, that is for you alone to decide.

Dear Miss Grey: Will you please answer the following questions:

1. I am 20 years old, height 4 feet 11 inches, weight 104 pounds. Can I wear a long coat, if so, what length, or would a suit be more suitable?
2. What colors will be worn this winter?

HAZEL.

1. I think I would prefer the long coat. Wear it the same length as your dresses.
2. See answer to "Betsy."

Dear Miss Grey: Please let me know through the columns of your paper how to remove ink spots on cotton goods.

L. E. IRWIN.

Moisten the spots with strong salt water and squeeze a few drops of lemon juice. Then wash without soap in lukewarm water. Repeat if necessary.

Dear Miss Grey: Will you please tell me what will take grass stains out of a wash dress, tan color, with a pale-blue stripe. HELIX.

Ans.—Wet the stains with alcohol. Rub well and the green will disappear. Then wash as usual.

Dear Miss Grey: What is the best hair restorer?

1. Do you think it perfectly right and proper to have superfluous hair removed, or do you think it wiser not to meddle with it?

2. I think you say it is right to have many boy friends. Do you think it is right to have any who you know can never be anything more than friends, or can you be sure without being intimately acquainted? Of course, I understand what true boy and girl friendship means, but it seems to me that a boy should not be wasting his time paying attention to a girl who can never be anything more than a friend. I am only 17, and wish advice from one of more experience.

GIRLIE GIRL.

Ans.—1. Honestly I don't wish to recommend any one preparation, as most of them have their drawbacks. Better ask your druggist, or a scalp specialist.

2. I think it better to leave it alone. Although I believe the electrical needle will remove it. I am told it is very painful.

3. As long as you confine yourself to friendship, I think it is perfectly right and natural to enjoy the society of as many people as possible, whether men or women. Friendly intercourse, and the exchanging of ideas tends to broaden one. Evidently, though, you are not speaking generally, but are referring to one particular young man. Try to treat him just as you do your other boy friends—be friendly, yet not too cordial. No doubt he will soon see "how the land lies," and will act accordingly.

How to Care for Hair.

The hair is a frequent sufferer from too much vacation. The nose gets skinnier and peels and soon recovers, but a course of ocean wetting and dusty drives often leaves its trail of disaster in the appearance of the hair for a month or more, unless immediate action is taken.

The first thing to do upon returning is to brush and air the hair thoroughly.
Then give it a good shampoo, that all signs of travel may be removed. After this a good hair tonic should be used, and used regularly.
If the hair is unusually dull and brittle it needs massage, a good thing in any case to tone up the scalp.
Afterward, never allow your hair to be too tired to give it a good brushing each night.
The foregoing cautions seem almost too simple to speak of, but you may be sure, from the number of badly kept heads of hair to be seen at this time of year, that they are frequently neglected.

When a Man Marries

By Mary Roberts Rinehart.

Copyright, 1910, The Bobbs-Merrill Co.

I wish you could see this Mrs. Wilson, Hal. You would change a whole lot of your ideas. She is a thoroughbred, sure enough, and of course some of her beauty is the result of the exquisite care about which you and I—still from our Andean pinnacle—used to rant. But the fact is, she is more than that. She has fire, and pluck, no end. If you could have seen her this morning, standing in front of a cold kitchen range, determined to cook, you would not have been so quick to quarrel with her. I'll keep out of the kitchen when I offered to take over the cooking—you needn't grin; I can cook, and you know it. I would understand that she was paralyzed with fright at the idea of getting breakfast, and equally clear that she meant to do it.

By the way, I have learned that her name was McNair before she married. This would-be artist, Wilson, and that she is a daughter of the McNair who financed the Callao branch!

I have not met the others so intimately. There are two sisters named Mercer, inclined to be noisy—they are playing roulette in the next room now. One is small and dark, almost Hebrew in type, named Della, and called Lolly by her friends. The other is blonde and languishing, and with a decided preference for masculine society, even, saving the mark, mine! Dallas Brown's wife, good looking, named Lolly, is a very nice girl, and around—they all do, except Mrs. Wilson. Then there is a maiden aunt, who is ill today with grippe and excitement, and a Miss Knoles, who came for a moment, but who, I think, Mrs. Wilson was caught in the quarantine (see papers), and after hiding all night in the basement, is sulking all day in her room. Her presence created an excitement all of all proportion to the apparent cause.

From the fact that I have reason to know that my artist host and his beautiful wife are on bad terms, and from the significant glance which she cast at me, I'll keep out of the room. The announcement of Miss Knoles' presence was met, the state of affairs seems rather clear. Wilson impresses me as a spineless sort, anyhow, and from the significant glance which she cast at me, I'll keep out of the room. The announcement of Miss Knoles' presence was met, the state of affairs seems rather clear. Wilson impresses me as a spineless sort, anyhow, and from the significant glance which she cast at me, I'll keep out of the room.

Ann Brown mislaid her pearl collar when she took it off last night, and has fussed herself into a sick headache. She declares it was stolen! Some of the people are playing bridge. Betty Mercer is doing a cake-walk to the Rhapsodie Hongroise—Jim has no every-day music—and the telephone is flowers in the vestibule—somebody sent Lucille Gates' Ajax, only with the gates shut.

There are no servants—think of it, Mummy. I wish you had made me learn to do a little—there was a soldier in the Spanish war—but we girls are a terribly ignorant lot, Mummy, about the real things of life.

Now, don't worry. It is more sport than camping in the Adirondacks, and not nearly so damp. Your loving daughter, KATHERINE.

P. S.—By the way, can't you spare some of the Indian pottery you picked up at Callao? I told Mrs. Wilson about it, and she was immensely interested. Send it to this address. Can you get it to the next steamer?—Tom.

From Maxwell Reed to Richard Burton Bagley, University Club, New York.
Dear Dick:
I enclosed find my check for five hundred, as per wager. Possibly you were within your rights in protecting your bet in the manner you chose, but

This note, evidently delivered by messenger, was found among other litter in the vestibule after the lifting of the quarantine.

Dear D.—Can't get a picture. Have waited seven hours. They have closed the shutters. Mr. H. McCORD.

CHAPTER IX.
Flannigan's Find.
The most charitable thing would be to say nothing about the first day. We were badly brutal—that's the only word for it. And Mr. Harbison, with his beautiful coarseness—the really sincere kind—tried to patch up one quarrel after another and failed. He rose superbly to the occasion, and made something that he called a South American goulash for luncheon, al-

while I do not wish to be offensive, your reporters are damnably so.
Yours,
MAXWELL REED.

From Officer Flannigan to Mrs. Maggie Flannigan, Erin street:
Dear Maggie:
As soon as you receive this, go down to Mac and tell him the story as I tell you hear. Tell him I was walking my beat, and I'd been after seeing Jimmy Alverton about doing the right thing for Mac on Monday, at the poles, when I seen a man hangin suspicious around this house, which is Mr. Wilson's, on Ninety-fifth. And, of course, after chasin the man a mile or more, I lose him, which was not my fault. So I go back to the Wilson house, and tell them to be careful about closin up for the night, and while I'm standin in the hall, with all the bells around me, sparklin with jewels, the beard of health sends a man to lock us all in, because the Jap that's been waitin has took the snailpox and come to the hospice. I stood me ground, I sez, sez I, you cant stop an officer in pursute of his business. I refuse to be shut in.

So here I am, and likely to be for a month. Tell Mac there's four votes shut up here, and I can get them for him, if he can stop this monkey business.
Then go over to the Dago Church on Webster avenue and put a dollar in Saint Anthony's box. He'll see me out of this scrape, right enough. Do it at once. Now remember, go to Mac first: maybe you can get the doll from him, and mind what you tell him. Your husband,
TIM FLANNIGAN.

From me to mother—Mrs. Theodore McNair, Hotel Hamilton, Bermuda.
Dearest Mother:
I hope you'll get this letter before you read the papers, and when you do read them, you are not to get excited and worried. I am as well as can be, and a great deal safer than I ever have been. I have had a very nice time here, and I am quite sure that it was the hard-boiled eggs and the state of the house that did it, and when I said that the grippe was a germ, she retorted that I had probably brought it to her on my clothing. You remember that Betty had drawn the nurse's slip, and how pleased she had been about it. She got up early the morning of the first day and made herself a lawn cap and telephoned out for a white nurse's uniform—that is, of course, for a white uniform for a nurse. She really looked very fetching, and she went around all the time with a red nose on her face, and a Saint Cecilia expression, gathering up bottles of medicine—most of it flesh reducer, which was pathetic, and closing windows for fear of drafts. She refused to help with the housework, and looked quite exalted, but by afternoon it had pallid on her somewhat, and she and Max shook dice.

Betty was really pleased when Aunt Selina sent for her. She took in a bottle of cologne, and a hair brush, and we all stood outside the door and listened. Betty tiptoed in her pretty cap and apron, and we heard her cautiously draw down the shades.

"What are you doing that for?" Aunt Selina demanded. "I like the light!"
"It's bad for your poor eyes," Betty's tone was exactly the proper blend of sweet and low and sugary.
"Sweet and low, sweet and low, with a dash of the western sea!" Dal hummed out loud.

"Put up those window shades!" Aunt Selina's voice was strong enough. "What's in that bottle?"
Betty was still mild. She swished to the window and raised the shade. "I'm so sorry you are ill," she said sympathetically. "This is for your poor aching head. Now close your eyes and lie perfectly still, and I will cool your forehead."
"There's nothing the matter with my head," Aunt Selina retorted. "And I have not lost my faculties; I am not a child or a sick cow. If that's perfunctory, take it out."

We heard Betty coming to the door, but there was no time to get away. She had dropped her mask for a minute, and was biting her lip, but when she saw us she forced a smile. "She's ill, poor dear," she said. "If you people will go away, I can bring her up all right. In two hours she will eat out of my hand."

though it was too salty, and everyone was thirsty the rest of the day.
Betty was hungry, of course. She froze Jim until he said he was going to sit in the refrigerator and cool the butter. She locked herself in the dressing room—it had been assigned to me, but that made no difference to Betty—and did her nails, and took three different baths, and refused to come to the table. And of course Jimmy was wild, and said she would starve. But I said, "Very well, let her starve. Not a tray shall leave my kitchen." It was a comfort to have her shut up there anyhow; it postponed the time when she would come face to face with Flannigan.

Aunt Selina got sick that day, as I have said. I was not so bitter as the others; I did not say that I wished she would die. The worst I ever wished her was that she might be quite ill for some time, and yet, when she began to recover, she was dreadful to me. She said for one thing, that it was the hard-boiled eggs and the state of the house that did it, and when I said that the grippe was a germ, she retorted that I had probably brought it to her on my clothing.

ROYAL SHOTS ARE AMONG THE BEST

King George Holds One of the Smartest Guns in England at Driven Partridges.

London, Sept. 7.—Though King George during his holiday at Balmoral is very busy nearly every day shooting grouse, which are unusually numerous on the royal moors, as elsewhere, this year, His Majesty is not doing any entertaining, except in a very quiet way, owing to the mourning for his father.

None among his subjects enjoys sport with the gun more than does King George. Speaking at the Keepers' Benevolent Society in 1904 the Duke of Devonshire remarked that then Prince of Wales was one of the smartest shots in England at driven partridges, that he "always got his first and second barrel in, and very often the third and fourth."

That this estimate of His Majesty's ability as a shot is one generally held by sportsmen was proved on the occasion of a plebiscite carried out by a sporting monthly magazine some years ago, when King George was classed as one of the finest eight shots in the kingdom, the eight crack shots including the Earl and the Duke of Devonshire, Lord Walsingham, Mr. Rimington Wilson and Mr. Headley Noble. Indeed, the phrase "the Prince of Wales secures the biggest bag" used to be quite a stereotyped expression in reports from the moors.

Last year King George was one of the party at the opening of the shooting season at Bolton Abbey, the Duke of Devonshire presiding from the seat, when the bag amounted to 308 brace. The magnitude of the bag coincided in a remarkable manner when King George visited the Upper Wharfedale moors in 1909, when seven in two days killed 694 brace.

At Diddington Hall, Norfolk, when the guest of Lord and Lady Amberst, in 1902, out of a bag of 784 head of game King George accounted for 147, but the most remarkable day's shooting that His Majesty has yet enjoyed within the confines of his realms took place two years later, when he and Queen Mary were the guests of Lord and Lady Lathom in Lancashire. The shooting party on this occasion, in addition to the Prince of Wales, included such notable shots as the Earl of Lathom, Lord Sefton, Lord Darley, Lord Crichton, Colonel Bromley-Davenport, Major Wynne-Pitch and the present Duke of Devonshire, and that business was gathered from the fact that the talented eight got under way for the "Big Wood" at nine o'clock.

By luncheon time the bag, thanks to a great moor, had reached 1,500 head, and the royal shot, who worked three guns and headed the list of kills, with Lord Sefton second, and Colonel Bromley-Davenport third, had secured 147, but at 4 o'clock, when the proceedings terminated, the same totalled 2,190.

While the King is away shooting grouse around the moors, his women have been busy on his London home, now that the Queen Mother has vacated Buckingham Palace, and one of the neatest-looking places in all London has now undergone a complete renovation of the palace. In the case of ordinary house it would be called the backyard, the real front of the palace being around on the garden side, hidden from public view by the very high walls that surround it.

Before taking the rooms in hand, workmen are now busy on the water supply, which has always been a source of trouble, and a more untidy, dirtier, drearier looking place it would be hard to find. The court is filled with men in clayey corduroys, digging into the water pipes, piling all around them mounds of earth and stone.

Sometimes you will see a sort of housekeeper in rusty black come down the steps and watch the workmen with an expression of discreet disapproval. The poemers of the palace know that they never do when they know that the next carriage may carry a king. There is a fine suggestion of holiday, too, in the way the sentries bring their heels down on the pavement. No doubt they feel it hard that such fine fellows as they should be asked to guard a gang of navvies.

WORLD CHASE FOR PEASANT HUSBAND

Russian Faces Bigamy Charge in Washington After Being Trained by Wife.

Washington, D. C., Sept. 7.—An interesting story of wifely devotion, involving a pursuit by a Russian peasant woman of a recreant husband from the Province of Volina, in Russia, to the capital of the United States, was unfolded in police court here today.

Sarah Kapparralis lived in Luga, Russia, when Barney Deitsch courted and married her, five years ago. After the birth of a boy Deitsch was drafted into the Russian army for the term of compulsory service. His wife related in court today how he hated the service and how she had planned with him that he should desert, and they would take the child to America.

The woman says she worked for a great dressmaker in Luga for eighteen months, never touching a penny of her wages, but having it all turned over to a friend who was to pay her ticket to America in her husband's name. Deitsch was to come to America first, make a fortune, and send for the mother and baby peasant. He escaped, but after two years stopped writing. He eventually came to Washington, and has been working here as a painter.

Following the receipt of information as to her husband's whereabouts, Mrs. Deitsch went again to the dressmaker and earned enough money to pay her passage here. On her arrival in New York, she says, she managed to meet one Benjamin Brockmowitz, in whose house she had been married in Luga. Brockmowitz retained a Washington lawyer for her, and at 2 o'clock Sunday morning the lawyer, Mrs. Deitsch and a policeman knocked at a modest home, where they found another woman and baby.

The two women faced each other, big-eyed and scared, in court this morning and notwithstanding the Russian woman's desire to get her husband back, Deitsch was committed for the action of the grand jury on a charge of bigamy after testimony had been heard to the effect that he had married with two women, the one man with whom he has been living lately.

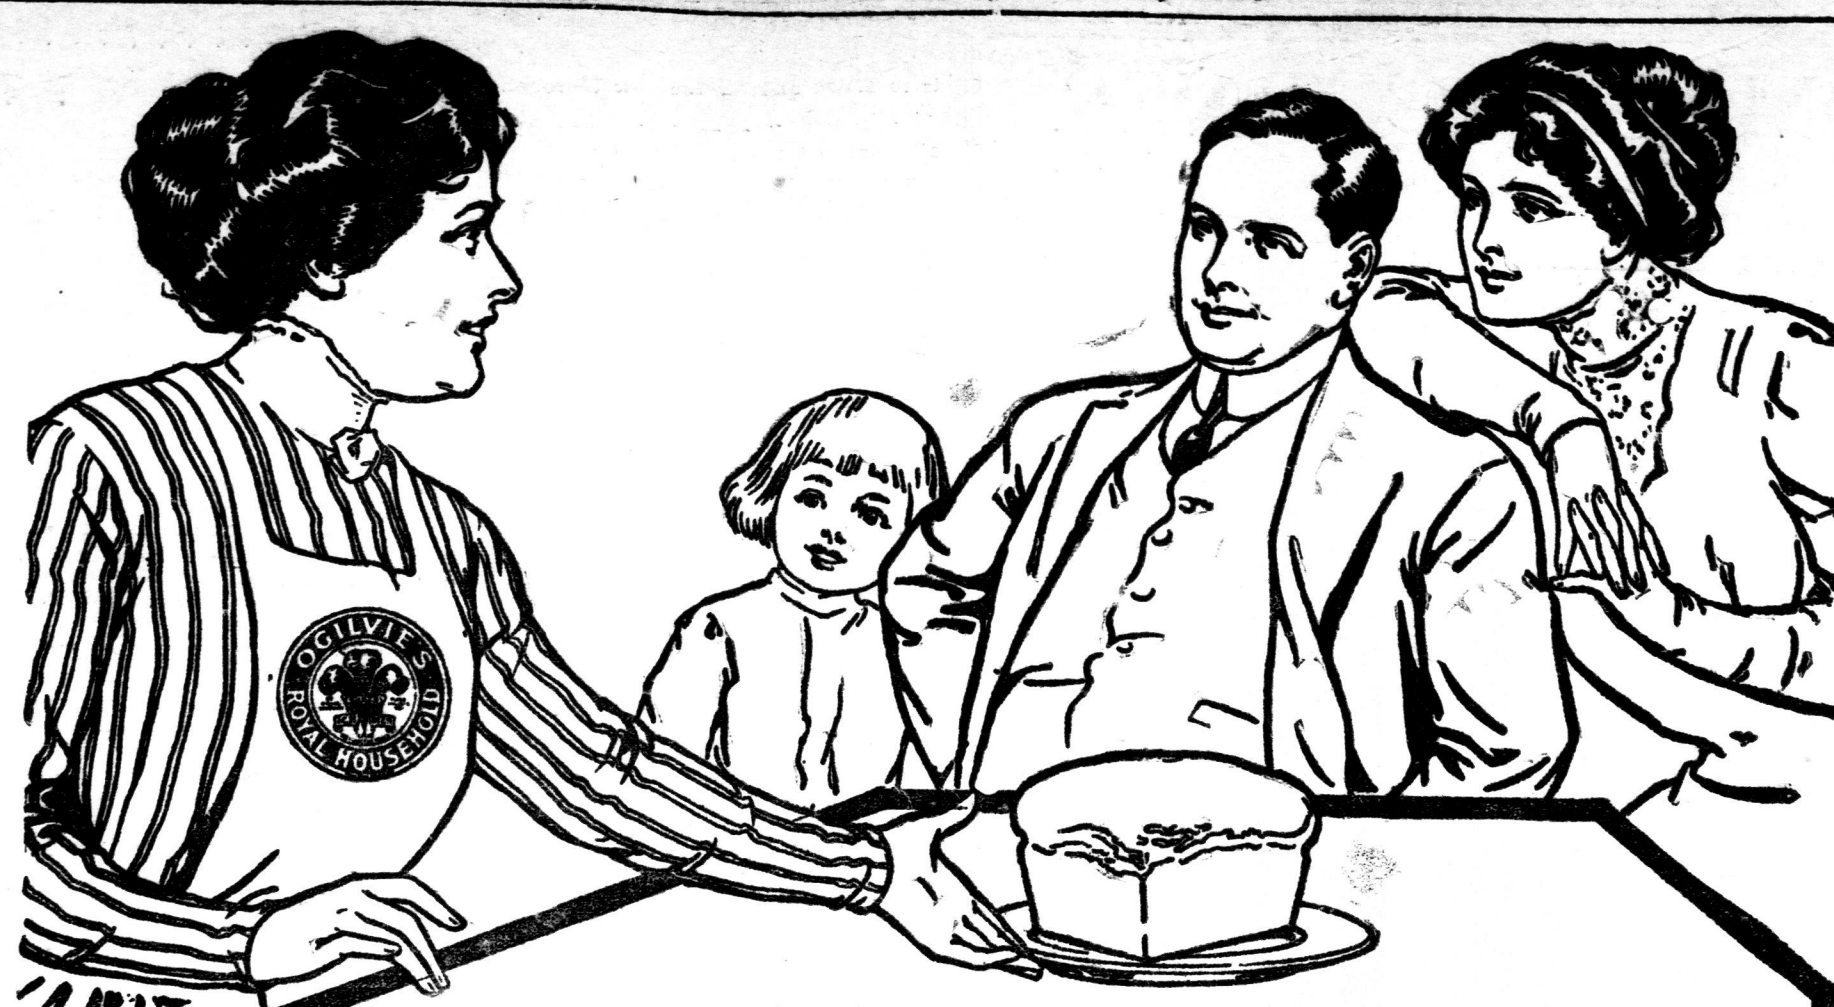

Witness Murdered by Released Convict Kept His Vow of Revenge Made in Court on the Day of His Sentence.

New York, Sept. 7.—After passing five years in Sing Sing Prison, to which he had been sentenced on the testimony of Felipo Crenentino, of Sixty-sixth street and Fourteenth avenue, Brooklyn, Dominico Scarpia, also known as Dominico Tropia, who was discharged from the prison last Saturday, returned to Brooklyn and fulfilling a threat he had made in open court on the day he was sentenced.

Clothed in his best, it being a holiday, Crenentino, with two friends, Giuseppe Palletta and Dominico Agastino, both living at Sixty-first street and Thirtieth avenue, visited a saloon at No. 1869 Sixty-first street. At half-past eight o'clock in the morning the three men left the saloon, and as they stepped out of the door Scarpia appeared suddenly before them. With an oath he drew a revolver and fired the shot striking Crenentino in the left breast above his heart. Several other shots were fired by the one-time convict as Crenentino fell, but they missed the mark.

Palletta and Agastino were so shocked at the suddenness of the attack that they were helpless. Before they recovered their senses Scarpia disappeared. In a few moments the police arrived, and an ambulance surgeon from the Norwegian Hospital, who stated that Crenentino had died soon after he was struck by the bullet.

Six years ago Scarpia had a cubby-hole shop at No. 1127 Sixty-first street. One day he met in the street Natalia Mina, a young woman. He snatched her face with a razor. The belief was that jealousy was the cause of the attack. The girl disappeared and never testified against the man. It appeared probable that he would be freed, when Crenentino was put on the witness-stand. Crenentino's story was sufficient to send Scarpia to the prison for five years.

Good, Better or Best?

A VITAL DIFFERENCE IN BREADS

QUALITY you know is comparative. Just as much so in bread, as in woollens or linens.

If you make bread at all you naturally want it to be good—as good as, or better than your neighbor's.

But is your bread as good as it ought to be? Does it furnish its full quantum of health and strength? Is it nutritious as well as delicious?

Ordinary flour makes fairly good looking bread. But if you care for food value, for nutrition, for digestibility, for bone and muscle and blood building quality, you will want a flour rich in the highest quality of gluten. You will want the flour that makes bread not only good-to-look-at, but also makes it strength-producing, health-producing.

But where can you get such flour and how can you tell it from the kind that isn't nourishing?

The safe way is to get OGILVIE'S "ROYAL HOUSEHOLD". Then you can't make a mistake.

"ROYAL HOUSEHOLD" is the finest flour in the world and makes the best bread in the world.

And it is just as good for Pastry as it is for Bread. It is the one flour which has proved an unqualified success for every household purpose. And its absolute uniformity guarantees you against failure—

ROYAL HOUSEHOLD FLOUR isn't just ordinary wheat sent to an ordinary mill and ground by the ordinary process. It is Manitoba Red Fife Wheat which is especially rich in high quality gluten, scientifically milled and subjected to scientific chemical tests as well as baking tests before it comes to you in sack or barrel, etc.

No wonder "ROYAL HOUSEHOLD" makes the finest and most nourishing bread. No wonder it makes the most delicious and healthful pies, cakes, biscuits, muffins, rolls.

Bread made from ROYAL HOUSEHOLD FLOUR is vastly more nourishing than bread made from ordinary flour. Also it is lighter, flakier, more delicious as well as more nutritious.

Order "ROYAL HOUSEHOLD" at once. Don't delay. The sooner you commence using this finest of all flours the better for your family.

NEW POLITICAL PARTY IN UNITED STATES

Former Senator Pettigrew, of South Dakota, Makes a Forecast for 1912.

Chicago, Sept. 7.—A new political party, representing a coalition of radical Democrats and progressive Republicans, is inevitably and may come in time to swing the next presidential election, in the opinion of R. P. Pettigrew, who was for ten years a United States senator from South Dakota. Mr. Pettigrew, who retired from the senate a few years ago, expressed his views last night at the Auditorium Hotel, where he is a guest for a few days.

"Really," he said, "there is no excuse for insurgent Republicans. They are advocating the doctrines of Lincoln and Jefferson and Bryan, and there is no place for them in the Republican party as now constituted. The Republican party was founded on the theory of human rights being predominant, but the corporations have captured the party, and it now operates as if the only thing that is sacred is property. Therefore those insurgents who are advocating the policies that moved Lincoln and Jefferson and Bryan should, if they are sincere, organize a new party. The conditions are about the same as they were when the Republican party was founded. The issue is human rights versus property."

"If the radical Democrats, who logically would be brought into the pale of the new party, and the radical Republicans, should unite, they would have the majority of the votes and could swing the presidential election at their first effort. It does not seem to me at all unlikely that this new party will come before 1912 and will sweep the country. But if the new party does not come and the Democrats nominate Harmon, who bears the Cleveland stamp, and the Republicans renounce Taft, the Socialists will poll 2,500,000 votes. Taft might be elected."

Former Senator Pettigrew believes that President Taft will be re-nominated, but he makes a fight, even if pitted against Theodore Roosevelt, which he does not expect—but he says the people of the United States would not re-elect Taft if a new party man were put up. United States courts did not escape

CHARGED WITH THEFT OF STEAMER STORES

Employees of the Richelieu and O. N. Company Before Toronto P. M.

Toronto, Sept. 7.—Fred Fenn, Dennis Hollows and Fritz Hess, butcher, baker and cook, respectively of the Richelieu and Ontario Navigation Company's steamer Toronto, who were arrested last week for theft, pleaded guilty in the police court this morning to stealing from the stores of that vessel.

Hollows, who is married, was sent to jail for sixty days. The other men go to the Central Prison for six months each. Stephen Dalrymple, one of the chefs arrested the day following the arrest of the other men, pleaded not guilty, and Charles Lewis and Andrew Tuttle, the restaurant keepers, charged with receiving the stolen property, were sent to face a jury trial at their own request. The three were each allowed to go on $400 bail.

MYSTERIOUS DROWNING

Body of Unidentified Woman Found in Toronto Bay.

Toronto, Sept. 7.—The body of a woman, about 60 years old, was found floating in the lagoon at Centre Island this morning. It is supposed the woman was drowned last night or early this morning, notwithstanding the popular belief that a body floats only after nine days in the water.

The body was clad only in light underwear and corsets, and there was nothing about it to give any clue to identity. Later—the body is supposed to be that of Mrs. Margaret MacWille, of this city, who for some time had been living with friends in Brant. The body is now at the city morgue. The woman's black silk dress, carefully folded, was found on the bank of the lagoon, along with two bank books, showing she was worth some thousands of dollars.

WILL MEET IN TORONTO.

VINES AS SNOW BARRIERS

Railway Plans to Protect Tracks With Wild Grape Vines.

Cadillac, Mich., Sept. 7.—There is talk among Grand Rapids and L. Railroad men to the effect that next spring the company will begin the construction of a new kind of snow fence. Vineyards from Grand Rapids to the Straits but without grapes on the vines are talked of.

The present snow fences are inadequate to the demands made upon them in February and March. Seeds of wild grape vines will be sown along the woven wire fences which they will climb, becoming a formidable barrier to the snows of the coldest and wildest months. Besides that, the grape vines will be a pleasing thing to look at in the summer months.

HAMILTON ENGINEERS DISSATISFIED.

Hamilton, Ont., Sept. 7.—Charles Waterbury, engineer at the Beach Pumping house, has sent in his resignation. He was appointed twenty-six years ago today. The other engineers are dissatisfied and are threatening to leave in a body because the city has so far refused to give them an assurance that they will be retained on the job after the new electric pumps are in operation.

GIRL TURNS AGAINST CRIPPEN MAY TELL ALL SHE KNOWS

London, Sept. 7.—Ethel Leneve has confessed to all that she knows concerning the fate of Belle Elmore, the wife of Dr. H. H. Crippen, whom he is charged with murdering. The girl for love of whom the physician is said to have committed the crime, will be the chief witness against him, according to a report that is gaining credence today. It is impossible to get either the confirmation or denial of this rumor.

INFANT MORTALITY HAS BEEN REDUCED

Nathan Straus Tells of Effectiveness of His Philanthropy.

Milwaukee, Sept. 8.—Nathan Straus at the meeting of the American Public Health Association at the Auditorium announced that New York had set new records in the last summer in the reduction of infant mortality, and he proposed the pasteurization of milk as a method of preventing infantile paralysis, the new malady that is proving so costly to society.

Mr. Straus, president of the Child Welfare League of America, said that in part as follows: The old city of New York (now the borough of Manhattan) has established a new record in the saving of the lives of babies. Notwithstanding unusually severe periods of intensely hot weather the past summer, there have been fewer deaths of children under five years than in any preceding summer, and for the first time in the history of the city the summer mortality has fallen to a rate less than 50 per 1,000 per annum.

When I first undertook to protect the babies of New York from milk-borne diseases by supplying pasteurized modified milk, in 1893, the summer mortality was 100 per 1,000 per annum, making the rate per 1,000 per annum, 136.1. With the steadily-increasing use of pasteurized milk there has been a steady decline in infant mortality, until the summer of 1909, when only 3,900 deaths in a population of children larger by 125,000 than that of 1892.

In other words, in 1892, 934 children out of every 1,000 survived the summer, while in 1909, there were 983 out of every 1,000 who survived. The summer death out of each 1,000, that the pasteurization of milk fed to children has been a considerable factor in this achievement none may deny, for the prevention of sickness and death, proceeding directly from the destruction of the germs that cause illness and that slay the little ones.

My practical experience saving children from milk-borne disease warrants the assertion that the pasteurization of the milk supplies of our big cities, under careful health department supervision, would infallibly reduce the number of cases of infectious diseases and save lives of babies.

Hammond was groomsmen.

A Dangerous Light.
Autoists are complaining of the electric light at the corner of Sydenham and Richmond streets. It was at this corner that Hon. C. S. Hyman met with an automobile accident, and it is thought that the lack of light had much to do with it. When driving down the hill the lamp shines directly in the driver's eyes. Several motorists stated yesterday that it is a wonder more such accidents do not occur at this point.

Roberts—Large.
A very pretty wedding took place in St. James' Church, Port Rowan, on Tuesday, when Miss Beatrice Florence Elizabeth Large, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. James Large, of Birnie, Man., was married to Mr. Herbert Chatterton Roberts, of the Bank of British North America. The bride was given away by Mr. G. A. Mackay, manager of the Bank of Hamilton at Port Rowan, and looked very charming in a gown of cream lace net over silk. The ceremony was performed by Rev. Horace E. Bray, and during the signing of the register Mrs. G. C. Mackay sang most acceptably. "The Voice That Breathed O'er Eden." At the conclusion of the ceremony the wedding party were received at St. John's rectory by Miss Bray and a dainty wedding breakfast was served. Mr. and Mrs. Roberts left later for a trip up the lakes, and on their return will reside on Talbot street, this city.

SEES WESTERN CITIES BUT LIKES LONDON BEST
Dr. Burdon Declares East Still Best For Young Men in Many Ways.

"As a residential city, as an educational centre, as an agricultural metropolis, and a good city in which to invest money, I think London is equalled by few and surpassed by no other cities, anywhere in the world." This is the careful and unbiased opinion of Dr. F. L. Burdon, of 461 Waterloo street, who has travelled extensively in Europe and America.
Dr. Burdon, accompanied by his son, Frederick, returned on Tuesday from a two months' tour of the western provinces and states, Mrs. Burdon and daughter are stopping over in Minneapolis, and will return two weeks later.
Saw Western Cities.
During his trip Dr. Burdon visited Winnipeg, Calgary, Vancouver, Victoria, Seattle, Tacoma, Portland, Ore., and Spokane. Returning, he spent ten days in the Yellowstone Park, which he regards as one of the most wonderful and beautiful places in the world. He was favorably impressed with Winnipeg, a city of phenomenal growth, and where just now property values are extremely high.
Dr. Burdon reports that throughout Saskatchewan and Southern Alberta, the crops are almost an entire failure on account of the drought, and many of the farmers will require Government aid next year. This winter the settlers will no doubt experience great hardships. Calgary, though affected by the crop failure to a considerable extent, is a very progressive and growing town, and is certainly bound to be the great central city of Southern Alberta in the future.
Dr. Burdon has spent months in the Swiss Alps, but thinks that their grandeur and scenic wonders are far less than those of our own Canadian Rockies.
Northern Alberta, according to Dr.

NORDHEIMER PIANO EXHIBIT AT THE WESTERN FAIR
We have procured a space in the Main Building, about the centre (immediately to the west of the south side entrance).
A new departure in the way of a sound-proof room about the size of an ordinary reception room, has been arranged, where the most critical Piano buyers will have an opportunity of testing the tonal quality to the best advantage, and hearing a Piano almost as if played in their parlor at home. We saw the need of something along this order, and we trust you will show your appreciation by making it your special interest to pay us a visit.
THE DISPLAY will consist of PLAYER PIANOS, GRAND PIANOS AND UPRIGHT PIANOS, finished in handsome Walnut and rich Mahogany veneers, and designed after the Art Productions of the Colonial, Doric and Louis periods, and of the Latest European and American Markets.
A CORDIAL INVITATION is extended to all exhibition visitors to visit our stand, and inspect our superb stock of the celebrated Steinway (New York), and the "Quality Tone" Nordheimer Pianos.
AN EXACT DUPLICATE OF THE FAIR EXHIBIT and an addition of a large selection of used Pianos and Organs, will be on view in our Handsome Warerooms, 188 Dundas Street, where we will be pleased to show you every attention, and can promise better and bigger bargains than we have ever offered.

Burdon, has not suffered so severely from the scarcity of rain, and there are some good crops in that part of the west.

Vancouver's Destiny.
Vancouver is destined to be the great city of the west, but the present is the wrong time to invest in Vancouver city property, since everything has a very inflated value. The same comment may be passed on Seattle, Wash., and Portland, Ore. Although rents are high, property is held at such an exorbitant price that money invested in property in these cities would fail to bring more than two or three per cent interest. Everybody seems to gamble in real estate. They are asking New York prices for property in Vancouver.

In Portland, Seattle, and Vancouver they are asking $1,000 to $3,000 per foot frontage for property in business districts, and $500 to $1,000 per foot is asked for good residential lots, while in the newer parts of the cities, unimproved lots are worth $25 to $50 per foot frontage.

Wind and Cheek.
"While in the west," said Dr. Burdon, "I saw more business done on wind and cheek than ever in my experience before. I always entertained a high regard for the east, but I have returned with a still higher regard for it than I had previously possessed."
Dr. Burdon thinks that eventually a slump will come in Pacific real estate, when property may be bought at a price that admits of some speculation, but that is at present entirely out of question.

Vancouver is undoubtedly the commercial capital of British Columbia, but Victoria is the leading residential city.

There is a keen rivalry between Seattle, Wash., and Portland, Ore. Both are about equal in size, but Seattle has some slight advantage, and in the future will offer good investment opportunities. At present values are too high.

He was more favorably impressed with Montana and North Dakota, than with the Canadian Northwest. However, there are just as good opportunities in the east for the energetic, striving young business man as anywhere in the west. "One of the finest cities the world over," said Dr. Burdon in final appreciation, "is London, Ontario."

MOLLAND—ROBSON
Pretty Wedding in London Township at Home of Mr. and Mrs. J. Robson.

A very pretty wedding was solemnized at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Jeremiah Robson, London Township, on Wednesday, Aug. 31, when their daughter, Cora Gertrude, was united in marriage to Mr. Charles W. Molland, of West Nisourl. The ceremony was performed by Rev. Mr. McCracken, of Ilderton, in the presence of immediate relatives and friends. The scene of the happy event was the music-room, where a beautiful floral arch with a suspended wedding bell had been designed.

The groom's present to the bride was a brooch of pearls; to the bridesmaid, a brooch of diamonds, each a gold pin. After Caterer Peters, of London, had served the company with a choice wedding dinner and the usual toasts had been proposed, the guests arose and drank to the health of the bride. A game of tennis on Mr. Robson's spacious and picturesque lawn, besides posing for a group photo, completed an afternoon's enjoyment long to be remembered by the participants.

The choice presents evidenced the good taste of Mr. and Mrs. Molland's friends. The honeymoon is being spent among the Thousand Islands, Montreal, and other points of interest along the lakes and the St. Lawrence. Upon their return they will reside on the Homestead, St. Ives. Their many friends wish them long life and prosperity.

UP-TO-DATE WORK OF THE BURGLAR

London, Sept. 7.—A story of up-to-date burglary, scientific in its way but not very successful, comes from Birmingham. The attempt was made on the establishment of a large firm of jewellers, which amounted to about two cart loads, is a mystery. They made their way to the door of the strong room, which is of heavy steel, and using gas cylinders got to work with an oxy-hydrogen blowpipe. By this means they burned out of the steel door a circular hole a couple of inches deep. Behind this two inches of steel, however, was a packing of asbestos and another inch of solid steel.

Apparently at this stage the supply of gas failed, and the thieves had to leave their work unfinished. Whether the men were disturbed or not is not known, but they left behind them their gas apparatus, a complete set of burglar's tools of up-to-date pattern and a portable electric plant, by which communication was made with an upper room, in which a man could be placed to give an alarm on the approach of danger.

350,000 AT CONEY ISLAND
Big Turnout on Labor Day—Nearly Everyone Took a Dip.

New York, Sept. 7.—Humid weather and Labor Day caused 350,000 persons to visit Coney Island. Despite the fact that it was a large one, the crowd was very orderly, the police having but little to do and making but a few arrests. No accidents marred the pleasure of the day.

Nearly every visitor took a final dip in the ocean. Every bathing pavilion at Coney was crowded to its capacity from early morning until the close of the day.

"DIDN'T KNOW IT WAS LOADED."
Montreal, Sept. 7.—James Dearden, of Melbourne, Que., died in the Royal Victoria Hospital today as a result of wounds in the abdomen, sustained a few days ago at his home, when his 13-year-old son accidentally discharged a rusty gun he was cleaning, apparently not aware the weapon was loaded.
