Touring Car Swerves Into Ditch While Rounding Dangerous Curve.

PARKHILL CORONER ACTS

Husband of Victim, Driving Machine, Escapes With Minor Injuries.

Parkhill, July 28.—Mrs. R. O. Morrison, of 1487 Hubbard avenue, Detroit, is dead, her husband is badly bruised, and Miss Ethel Rankin, also a resident of the Michigan city, is suffering minor injuries as the result of an automobile accident between this place and Grand Bend shortly after 9 o'clock this morning. Dr. Racey, of Parkhill, coroner, has hurried to the scene of the tragedy, and will conduct an immediate inquest, it is announced.

There were no witnesses to the tragedy, but Mr. Morrison explains that as he was rounding a dangerous curve between Grand Bend and Parkhill, the touring car he was driving swerved into the ditch and turned turtle.

Death instantaneous. While the death of Mrs. Morrison was practically instantaneous as far as can be ascertained, the physician subsequently in attendance states that the fatality resulted from internal injuries, and that no bones were broken.

How the victim's husband and Miss Rankin contrived to escape with but minor injuries is considered remarkable by officials here.

Mr. Morrison was driving with his wife at his side, Miss Rankin being seated in the rear of the car.

The tourists were returning home to Detroit after a holiday in Bayfield.

Arrangements for the removal of the body to Detroit late this afternoon are being made by Brown, Son & Co., funeral directors here.

Provincial Attorney-General delays death sentence on two men held in Vancouver.

New Westminster, B. C., July 28.—Alexander Paulson and Allan Robinson, condemned to die for the murder of W. F. Salsbury here last fall, were hanged this morning shortly before 9 o'clock in Oskalla prison.

Vancouver, July 28.—Within eight hours of the time appointed for their execution for the murder of William Salsbury, jun., Allen Robertson and Alex. Paulson were granted a 12-hour stay of execution by the provincial attorney-general, Mr. C. E. Bennett, who stated that certain phases of the case had not been thoroughly canvassed by the federal department of justice, in the consideration of the prisoners' plea for clemency, apparently has been adduced by counsel for the condemned men.

Some permanent reprieve did not reach the department at Ottawa.

The stay of execution, it is understood, is formally fixed at twelve hours to permit of further consideration today of the evidence submitted by counsel.

1500 MEN FIGHT FOREST FIRES ON VANCOUVER ISLE

Victoria, B. C., July 28.—The forest fire situation in the province is still dangerous, according to P. Cavehill, chief forester, who stated today that 174 new fires had been discovered during the week. This brings the total outbreaks for the year up to 1,348. There are 69 fires still burning in the Vancouver Island and lower mainland districts, and these are being fought by 1,500 men.

LATE NEWS BULLETINS.

ARREST WALTER HEINTZMAN.

Toronto, July 28.—The police last night arrested Walter Heintzman, who is wanted on a charge of breaking jail at Kitchener, and Arthur Howard, alias George Hayward, who has been wanted in Toronto for several weeks on charges of theft.

FRENCH TRAWLER IS AFIRE.

Sydney, N. S., July 28.—The French trawler Champagne, which left North Sydney at 3 p.m. Thursday for the fishing grounds, is on fire off St. Esprit, near Forchu, 40 miles from Sydney, on the south coast of the island.

KILL CHINESE COXSAIN.

Canton, July 28.—A motor launch belonging to the Asiatic Petroleum company, flying the British flag, was fired on today by soldiers of the Merchants' Defense Corps at Shikha, 20 miles from Canton, and a Chinese coxswain aboard was killed.

SEEK TO HASTEN KING REPLY.

Montreal, July 28.—No reply having been received from division No. 4 of the railway employees' department of the American Federation of Labor to the telegram sent to Ottawa two days ago, the following message was this morning dispatched personally addressed to Premier W. L. Mackenzie King:

"We wish to know if the government can do anything to make the railways, including the government roads, conform to the conditions of the industrial disputes investigation act, and if not, have the employees equal right to determine their course?"

Auto Suggestion Kills Man Hanging Self

LONDON, July 28.—The first case on record of death from auto suggestion was reported to a coroner's jury yesterday by Dr. Henry King.

Dr. King testified that Alfred Manning, a despondent man, had planned to take his own life by hanging. He tied a handkerchief around his neck, but not tight enough to cause strangulation.

The physician said that death was due to the fact that Manning had convinced himself he was hanging himself. Through auto suggestion, the heart stopped beating. Manning, in fact, was killed by the vividness of his own imagination.

GRAND TRUNK SHAREHOLDERS APPEAL FAILS

English Privy Council Upholds Decision of Board of Arbitration.

STOCKS HAVE NO VALUE

London, England, July 28.—(Canadian Press Cable).—The Grand Trunk Railway shareholders' appeal to the privy council failed. The appeal was dismissed today by the judicial committee of the privy council.

The appeal was brought by the shareholders of the Grand Trunk Railway Company from the decision of a majority of the members of the board of arbitration created to ascertain the value of the preference and common stocks of the appellants upon the acquisition thereof by the Canadian government. The main question involved in the appeal was the correctness of the decision of the majority of the arbitrators in excluding as inadmissible the evidence of the value of the physical assets of the Grand Trunk Railway Company and their subsidiary companies, which was tendered by the appellants.

The majority of the arbitrators, Sir Walter Cassels, chairman, and Sir Thomas White, decided that the preference and common stocks had no value. Hon. W. H. Taft, former president of the United States, to other members of the board of arbitration, dissented from the award, and made an appraisal of the stocks.

WOULD WELCOME RAILWAY DISPOSAL

Victoria, B. C., July 28.—Parties who say they can sell the Pacific Great Eastern Railway to United States capital which is to be used possibly as part of the proposed line from Seattle to Alaska, have been approaching Premier Oliver. So far, however, these persons who have been making the proposals have not been able to show that their connections are such that they could carry out the sale they propose.

"We would welcome anyone who could take that Pacific Great Eastern burden off our hands, but so far none has made an appearance," Premier Oliver said today.

CUTS THROAT OF INJURED DOG.

Ottawa, July 28.—The meaneast motorist has been found.

After hitting a valuable dog belonging to B. E. Black of Ottawa West, the road hog cut the animal's throat with a penknife. It died after two hours of excruciating pain. The police are investigating.

FAVORS 3-MAN SCHOOL BODY AT $5,000 A YEAR

Trustee Rev. A. A. Bice Would Eliminate Present Twelve-Member System.

WOULD SAVE CITY MONEY

"Pay for the members of the London Board of Education!"

No. This is not said in passing jest, nor is it a shot directed at the school trustees by Mayor Cameron Wilson, or any of his associates on the city council.

It comes rather as the honest belief expressed Friday by Trustee Rev. A. A. Bice, chairman of the salary committee of the board of education, "Eliminate the present system of twelve members," he declared, "and then let the ratepayers elect or appoint three real good representatives and pay them $5,000 each for the year, and I venture to say that the city would be saving money at that price."

Present Body Unwieldy.

Chairman Bice advanced this as his honest conviction, and intimated that a board of education of 12 members was too unwieldy a body to solve the city's many pressing educational problems with any degree of real satisfaction.

That a smaller board, not unlike the size of the public utilities commission, would be quite ample for a community of 60,000 persons, has long been the claim of school trustees during the past four or five years, but upon every occasion that the issue was introduced for definite action, it was "considered," and passed on to be dealt with in turn by each succeeding board.

Delegates from the London Board of Education who attended the last convention in Toronto of the Urban School Trustees Association attended fully equipped to fight for a 6-man board, were persuaded for some reason, never yet made sufficiently clear, to refrain from agitation until 1923.

IDENTIFY SUSPECTS IN HOLD-UP CASE

Montreal, July 28.—Identification of John Valicute and of Jack Thomas by victims and witnesses in connection with the hold-up in St. Jean on July 7 last of the $25,000 payroll of the Dominion Textile Company, was made yesterday afternoon, according to a statement by Chief of Detective LePage here last night.

Officers from Hamilton, Ont., are expected here shortly in connection with the hold-up of the Steel Company of Canada payroll April 20 last, with regard to which both Valicute and Thomas are suspected.

STAGE BATTLE AT CHURCH BAZAAR

Ottawa, July 28.—Alleging that his arm was badly chewed and that he was hammered with chisels, screwdrivers, etc., until he was unconscious, Frank Abram yesterday related to Magistrate Asquith how a church bazaar was conducted here was anything but a brotherly-love affair.

When Abraham got into an argument about the location of his booth a free-for-all fight followed and Abram was badly mauled. Four other church supporters, charged with assault, were found guilty and fined $5 and costs.

Paris, July 28.—The French government, it was made known today, has received what it considers absolutely trustworthy information that an attempt against the life of Premier Poincaré is being plotted in German monarchist circles.

BAD NEWS CAUSES SHARP DROP IN VALUE OF MARKS

New York, July 28.—Unfavorable cable dispatches concerning German financial situation caused another sharp decline today in the value of the mark.

Mark, which were quoted here at 17 7/8 cents a hundred, the same price as the new low record of July 8. This represented an over-night decline of 1 1/8 cents a hundred.

Now that the report has gone abroad that the London civic commissioners, including School Trustee Edwin Smith, and headed by Mayor Cameron Wilson, will seek a quiet spot early in August, "far from the madding crowd," to stage a special convention, the next problem to loom on the horizon as a source of possible debate among the school trustees is, "When shall we, too, gather again in customary parley?"

For weeks past the friendly greeting from one trustee to another has been, "Good morning, have you heard when the civic commission meets again?" May Appoint Woman To League of Nations

LONDON, July 28.—Viscountess Astor yesterday asked Mr. Lloyd George whether the government intended to appoint a woman as delegate, alternative delegate or technical adviser to the assembly of the League of Nations.

The prime minister replied that the government had decided to appoint the Earl of Balfour and H. A. L. Fisher, president of the board of education, as British representatives to the next meeting. He said that he was not in a position to announce the third representative, but would consider the suggestion of the viscountess.

SAY BUS PASSED STANDING CAR

Normal Car Crew Lay Charge Against Transportation Rival.

Magistrate Bartlett Reserves Judgment in Case Friday.

First echoes of the transportation war between the London Street Railway and its men and the operators of omnibuses was heard in police court Friday morning, when a Normal car crew endeavored to convict Roy Vanner, former policeman, now a bus owner, of passing a standing street car. Judgment was reserved.

According to Motorman Osborne, his car stopped to let a child off at the L. & P. S. R. station, when Vanner's bus passed the rear door, last Saturday afternoon. Osborne stated he shouted to him to stop. Conductor Lewis Parker stated that Vanner passed the car when it was standing at its regular stop between the L. & P. S. R. tracks and the derail, just south of the G. T. R. gates.

Roy White, a former policeman, now a street car man, was on a Ridout car going south and heard the motorman of the Normal car, which was going north, calling to Vanner to stop.

Vanner denied the street car had passed its regular stopping place and came to a halt suddenly. He stopped when it did, and after he had passed the rear door, a child was let out by the conductor. He heard the motorman call to the conductor to get his number.

Last Thursday, Vanner testified, he was near the corner of York and Talbot streets when the crew on a Normal car endeavored to pass him.

Objects To Market Inspection By London Grocer

LABOR SECRETARY CRITICIZES.

WHY was Ald. Drake picked to act on the committee of the city council which recently conducted an inspection of the city market?

So questions J. F. Thompson, secretary of the London branch of the Independent Labor Party, who expresses the opinion that it is opposed to all sense of fairness to have the councillor in question, a grocer, to act on a committee to conduct, as he states, an investigation staged at the instigation of the Grocers' Association.

"A man shouldn't lay a charge and be judge of the case," the secretary declared, questioning also Alderman Drake's remarks concerning a lunch counter conducted in the basement of the market house by himself.

"Alderman Drake states that he would not like to drink tea at this stall," said Mr. Thompson, "as the smell of the fish would not make it very enticing. Well, I say that it is not the tea that smells. Talking about the cleanliness of the place, why the medical officer of health for the city comes every Saturday and buys cream there."

BLAZE DAMAGES STRATFORD MILL

Stratford, Ont., July 28.—No estimate was available this morning of the loss in the fire which badly damaged the plant of the Duffen woolen mill early this morning. The ruins, which smoldered until well into daylight, kept the owners from getting in to ascertain just what damage was done.

The fire started in the third story, where a quantity of oil is kept for the wool. It bubbled into a volcano a few minutes after being noticed. The firemen succeeded in saving the main office and the boiler-room. The plant had been operating overtime and had a heavy stock on hand. The loss is, therefore, expected to be heavy.

ASK STRIKERS TO RESUME WORK PENDING LABOR BOARD VERDICT

Optimistic Note Dominant in Railroad Circles Following President Harding's Statement That He Has Ordered Rehearing of Grievances of Shopmen.

Chicago, July 28.—Plans for peace in the U. S. railway strike again today seemed to be assuming a more tangible form and hope was expressed that the 300,000 union shopmen soon would resume work and submit their grievances, including the question of seniority rights, to the United States labor board.

The announcement that a plan for settlement of the walkout would be put before a meeting in New York Tuesday of executives of 148 of the largest railroads, made by T. Dewitt Cuyler, chairman of the Association of Railway Executives, after a conference with Warren G. Harding, together with the president's statement indicating that he would ask the labor board to grant the shopmen a rehearing, was taken in rail circles here to mean that the rail chiefs would be asked to leave settlement of the issue involved to the board.

While the conference at Baltimore of R. and O. officials, with their striking workmen was reported to have progressed smoothly toward an agreement, B. M. Jewell, head of the Shop Craft Workers, was withholding approval of a separate peace until all plans for a national settlement had been thoroughly discussed.

Strike Summary

WASHINGTON, July 28.—Three coal carrying railroads, the Norfolk & Western, Chesapeake & Ohio and Louisville & Nashville, today declared embargoes over their lines against the acceptance of any freight, except foodstuffs, live stock and fuel.

There was a noticeable increase in the number of reports of violence reaching here today from as far west as San Bernardino, Calif., and as far east as Concord, N. H.

In San Bernardino a special guard employed by the Santa Fe was shot and killed.

At Concord five shots were fired in a skirmish between unknown assailants and New Hampshire state troops who are guarding the Boston & Maine shops there.

Chicago added its bit. One man was taken to a hospital suffering from cuts received when six white men attacked two non-union negro shop workers in a crowded street car, causing a panic among passengers.

At Sioux City, Iowa, two men found guilty of throwing literature from an airplane upon non-union workers, were sentenced to thirty days in jail and fined $1,000 each for violating a federal injunction.

A white man and a negro, both striking shopmen, were being held on murder charges at Memphis, Tenn., in connection with the deaths of two negro car repairers, who were shot while leaving the Illinois Central shops.

The minister of labor said that the facts of the case as stated had been brought to the attention of the government.

"Of course," Mr. Murdock explained, "they would have to be proved. But they might not be quite as they are now given, and of course should be fully inquired into. If they are now correctly stated, I feel sure a charge concerning them would have to be submitted to the department of labor at Ottawa. I am quite sure that no such charge had been laid there before I left to come west. Even to this time, I have not been advised of any such charges having been laid."

If such a charge were to be submitted, it would naturally be investigated at once," he declared.

EXPECT SETTLEMENT.

The 800 maintenance-of-way men employed on the Canadian Pacific and Grand Trunk Railways in this district are optimistic regarding the settlement.

Millionaire's Son Works As Strikebreaker

WILMINGTON, Del., July 28.—Alfred Victor du Pont, 23, a Harvard senior, whose loyalty to his mother cost him an inheritance estimated at more than $50,000,000, is expected to check in at the Pennsylvania Railroad shops here as a strikebreaker. His wages will be 20 cents an hour, and he will get plenty of adventure dodging strikers.

Alfred Victor du Pont is the disinherited son of Alfred I. du Pont, of the rich powder manufacturing family. He had been employed in an automobile factory, but was laid off, and decided to get a job in the railroad yards.

When Alfred I. du Pont got a divorce, he called the paterfamilias of the boy into dispute. This led to a feud that still exists.

CHANGES WILL CUT BURDEN OF CITY TAXPAYERS

Exemption of $300 Now Allowed for Each Child in Family.

CHEERS KNIGHTS OF GRIP

Further Amendment Permits All Traveling Expenses To Be Tabulated.

Sweeping changes in federal income tax regulations which will affect thousands of residents of London and Western Ontario were announced at the office of the district income inspector Friday morning.

One important amendment to these regulations is that commencing in 1923, an exemption of $300 will be allowed citizens for each child in the family. Instead of the $200 exemption at present in force.

This change was made because the federal house realized that it is practically impossible to rear a child on $200 per year, and it will mean a decided saving for fathers of families who pay Dominion income tax.

Another significant change, which will be welcomed by those who journey from place to place in the district, is that permitting traveling expenses to be tabulated with other necessary expenses on income tax returns.

Defining traveling expenses as that including the entire amount expended for meals and lodging while away from home in the pursuit of trade or business, this amendment removes much of the cause of complaint in previous years.

Railroad employees and commercial travelers in London declare that this amendment will prove a boon to them in paying income tax next year.

Will Change Status.

Any person who can rightfully claim dependents is placed in the same category as married persons, according to an amendment in the regulations, and this will change the status of hundreds of Londoners in paying income taxes.

In fact, this feature cropped up repeatedly at the court of revision for London hearing appeals against income tax, but as the amendment did not cover municipal taxes the court was powerless to act, although of the unanimous opinion that such an amendment should be drafted.

Exemption of $2,000 in salary is granted for those proving that they have dependents by the new regulations.

The clause states: "Four per cent per annum will be taxed upon all income exceeding two thousand dollars, but not exceeding six thousand dollars in the case of a married person, or any other person who has dependent upon him any of the following persons: a parent or grandparent, a daughter or sister, a son or brother under twenty-one years of age, or incapable of self-support on account of mental or physical infirmity, and four per cent per annum upon all income exceeding one thousand dollars, but not exceeding six thousand dollars in the case of all other persons."

LAPORTE TO TAKE PART IN TREATY DELIBERATIONS

Quebec, July 28.—Hon. Ernest Laporte, minister of marine and fisheries, who is leaving on Aug. 22 for Europe, will not return here until the end of December, it is learned. In addition to attending the meeting of the league of nations in Geneva and the Franco-British treaty deliberations in Paris, the minister will tour a section of Europe. He will accompany the Canadian exhibition train and will deliver addresses in the most important sections of France, Belgium and Switzerland.

BECK IN BID FOR REVENUE GAS COMPANIES DERIVE FROM SALES FOR HOME COOKING PURPOSES

Domestic, Commercial and Power Rates To Consumers Boosted in 46 Municipalities in Province As Commission Prepares Schedules To Take Care of Cost of Operation of Chippawa Development and Acquisition of Private Companies in "Clean Up" Deal.

TORONTO, July 27.—Preliminary announcement of important changes in rates paid by consumers of hydro power throughout all sections of the province was made by Sir Adam Beck, late this afternoon.

Unusual significance is attached to the announcement in view of the fact that the new schedules take care of the cost of the operation of the Chippawa development and the cost of the acquisition by the hydro commission, of the private companies involved in the now-famous "clean-up."

Reductions in domestic, commercial and power rates to consumers will affect 67 municipalities, while increases have been made in 46.

The commission has also a strong bid for the revenue now accruing to gas companies from the sale of gas for cooking purposes by reducing the follow-up rate on power sold for domestic consumption from a maximum of four cents per kilowatt hour to two cents.

This change involves 48 additional municipalities, all of them outside of the cities, and brings into force the 2-cent maximum for this form of service over the whole of the province.

During the interview in which Sir Adam announced the changes, the hydro head stated that this move had as its object the stimulation of the use of electrical appliances of all descriptions. The follow-up rate applies to power sold to domestic consumers over and above a fixed minimum.

Equalize Toronto Rates. Consequently to the consummation of the "clean-up" deal between the Provincial Hydro Commission, the McKenzie & Mann interests and the City of Toronto, the commission has equalized the rates over the lines serving the whole of Toronto.

While this step does not involve any change in the rates paid by Toronto consumers who were served by the hydro prior to the "clean-up," power costs to the former patrons of the Toronto Electric Light Company have been slashed from 25 to 50 per cent and over.

The new rates for the province will date from July 1. In Toronto the equalized rates will be made effective as rapidly as circumstances will permit.

Sir Adam intimated today that he would know further details of the new schedules, during the course of an address he will deliver at the opening of a new Hydro building at Galt.

Low Rates in Hamilton. In Hamilton, the first rate schedule established by the provincial commission in 1913 was lower by 50 per cent than the rates formerly charged by the private company which monopolized the business. Consumers had been paying 8 cents per kilowatt hour, with a monthly meter rental of 20 cents hydro service cost, on an average, 3.9 cents for domestic lighting and 4.1 cents for commercial.

Reductions were made from time to time by the commission. Last year the domestic rate averaged 2.1 cents and the commercial 1.2 cents. Since 1918, the industrial power rate has declined from an average of $17.13 per horsepower to $13.63. The total revenue collected from Hamilton consumers of hydro-electric energy since 1913 has been $2,867,118.61. If the first rate schedule had been maintained the revenue on the same consumption would have been $4,341,088.33. The saving by reduced rates, therefore, has been $1,473,969.72. Despite sharp competition the hydro load has increased from 1,364 to 16,995 horsepower, and the present rate for delivered energy is 15¢.

The local rates are as near cost as possible, since the net surplus of 1921 was only $153.27 on a total revenue of $605,687.15. That term "cost" included the purchase of power from the commission, operation, maintenance, administration, interest, sinking fund on the local investment, a contribution to contingencies and over $61,000 to plant renewal reserve. Assets of the Hamilton system are $2,179,031.42; liabilities, $1,400,278.82. Reserves and surplus funds make a total of $778,752.60. The population of the city of Hamilton is about 115,000.

Results in Hagersville. Hagersville, with a population of about 1,200, is 54 miles from Niagara Falls. Its hydro-electric rates have declined since 1913 from 5.4 cents to 2.3 cents per kilowatt hour for domestic lighting, and from 5.4 cents to 2.2 cents for commercial. The load has increased from 114.5 to 2,495 horsepower. The revenue for 1921 was $18,044.35. After placing to plant renewal reserve $708, and meeting interest, sinking fund and all ordinary expenditures, there was a net surplus of $3,014.80—equivalent to $8.52 per horsepower on the 1921 load. The assets are $23,440.41; the liabilities stand at $10,975.80; the reserves and surplus at $17,864.61. The accumulated surplus of $14,336.72 exceeds the total outstanding liability by over $3,000.

Report of Dundas. In Dundas (population 5,554), lighting rates under hydro-electric administration have declined since 1913 from 5.8 cents and 3.5 cents to an average of 2.6 cents and 2.2 cents for domestic and commercial lighting, respectively. The load has increased from 139 to 1,172 horsepower. Generating costs at Niagara were higher in 1921 than in former years, but the price of power delivered to Dundas remained steady at $17 per horsepower per annum.

Revenue last year of $42,566.07 permitted the meeting of all ordinary expenditure, the allotment of $4,400 to renewals reserve, and the establishment of a surplus of $3,405.55. The commission finally assume ownership of the Grand Trunk system. With the failure of their appeal to the privy council, it is likely that holders of the stock found to be without value will make representation to the government for consideration of their claims on compassionate grounds. Whether the government would consider such representations remains for determination. In the meantime, the Government is in negotiation with the Grand Trunk to restore the pension rights of employees and ex-employees of the Grand Trunk, lost as a result of the strike of 1919.

EXPECT INDIA TO EXPORT WHEAT OTTAWA, July 27.—(By Canadian Press).—India's wheat crop will be 48 per cent in excess of last year, or 9,818,000 tons, it is estimated by H. A. Chisholm, Canadian trade commissioner to India.

It is probable, he states in a communication to the department of trade and commerce, that India will be exporting instead of importing wheat before the end of the current year.

ALLEGES ROBBERY AFTER SLEEPING IN CEMETERY Buffalo, July 28.—When Frank Dohan, of London, Ont., awoke in Oakwood Cemetery, Niagara Falls, Thursday morning he discovered that his gold watch and $7 were gone.

Dohan reported to the police that he had been held up, but after an investigation the police learned that the Londoner had slept in the cemetery during the night, and that there was no evidence that he had been robbed.

Unearth Graveyard of Missing Motor Cars.

MONTREAL, July 27.—What may prove to be the graveyard of many missing automobiles was discovered today by agents of the Merchants' Insurance Association of Montreal, who have been searching for stolen cars since last fall. Three auto skeletons have been dragged from the bed of the St. Lawrence and are now on a small island opposite St. Jean de Dieu Asylum at Longue Pointe. How many more lie submerged remains to be ascertained. It is believed that the automobiles were driven into the river so that their owners might collect the insurance.

ernment finally assume ownership of the Grand Trunk system. With the failure of their appeal to the privy council, it is likely that holders of the stock found to be without value will make representation to the government for consideration of their claims on compassionate grounds. Whether the government would consider such representations remains for determination. In the meantime, the Government is in negotiation with the Grand Trunk to restore the pension rights of employees and ex-employees of the Grand Trunk, lost as a result of the strike of 1919.

PICK PITBLADO IN RAIL TANGLE

Winnipeg Lawyer To Represent Roads On Board of Conciliation.

Union Chiefs Again Assert Wage Cut Violates Dominion Law.

MONTREAL, July 27.—Isaac Pitblado, K.C., of Winnipeg, it is announced, has been appointed to represent the Canadian railway companies on the board of conciliation, which will attempt to settle the dispute between the companies and the railway shopmen (Division No. 4, Railway Employees' Department, American Federation of Labor).

James Simpson of Toronto has been appointed by the shopmen to act for them, and it now remains to agree upon a chairman.

It was announced tonight by the Railway Association of Canada that each of the railway companies have received notice of a board of conciliation with regard to the shopmen's dispute.

As no official notification has yet arrived from the department of labor to the railway companies with regard to a conciliation board for the maintenance of way men, there had been no appointment of a member to represent the railway companies, but it was intimated today that such an appointment would be made as soon as the notice would be received.

Shopmen Not Satisfied. W. D. Mallon, president of Division No. 4, Railway Shopmen, when informed of the appointment of a member for the railways on the shopmen's conciliation board, stated it was certainly a step forward, but added that the shopmen were far from satisfied with such an arrangement.

"While the conciliation board will be in session," he said, "the railway association is violating the law by enforcing the wage cut."

A reply from the deputy minister of labor has been received by the officials of division No. 4 to their telegram informing the department of their strike vote as follows:

"Minister absent in Western Canada. Would state attitude of railways on point raised in your telegram has not been clear, and is matter of present discussion, the result of which will be indicated to you as soon as possible."

"Few Sticks and a Woman's Shirt" Plug Sewer

THAT humor may manifest itself in such an uninteresting thing as a sewer inspector's report is the assertion of City Engineer H. A. Brazier, who quotes the report in question as proof of his statement.

The report, which was submitted to the engineer by an inspector who investigated a clogged sewer in this city Thursday, says: "On investigation of the sewer I found that the obstruction was due to a few sticks and a woman's shirt." The inspector did not report what disposition was made of the offending articles.

DEALS WITH 227 CRUELTY CASES

London Humane Society Reports Busy Month During July.

No less than 227 cases have been dealt with by the London Humane Society during the month of July.

In addition to routine work in the city, and continual examination of reported cases of cruelty in the county, Humane Society Inspector Tustin has had to answer 28 emergency calls since the beginning of the month.

His report, presented at the regular monthly meeting of the Humane Society, held in the Y. W. C. A. building Thursday night, showed that of out 13 summonses which were issued for alleged cruelty to animals, 12 convictions were secured.

According to the inspector, the society has to deal with a far greater amount of work in the county than in the city of London itself. Animals in the city are, for the most part, in good condition and little cruelty is reported, but throughout the county it has been necessary to watch the horses closely. The report showed clearly that assistance from the county was necessary if the work was to be carried out with the greatest degree of efficiency.

Inspector Tustin's report was as follows: Horses dealt with, 523; dogs destroyed, 48; cats sent to shelter, 42; cats destroyed, 23; other animals inspected, 132; cases of poultry inspection, 52; number of horses ordered off road, 42; summonses issued, 13; convictions secured, 12; emergency calls, 28.

CHAUTAUQUA'S CLOSING CONCERT WELL RECEIVED

Dr. George Kerby of Mount Royal College, Calgary, Impresses Thursday's Audience.

Although of somewhat meager numbers in comparison to the crowds which attended the earlier sessions of Chautauqua, those who were in attendance at the closing session, Thursday night, afforded a most enthusiastic reception to the splendid program provided.

The address of the evening was delivered by Dr. George W. Kerby, president of the Mount Royal College of Calgary, whose subject, "Task of a Nature," was most timely and developed with exceptional understanding and foresight. And in addition to the forceful message of his lecture, Dr. Kerby impressed his audience not a little with his skill and polish as an orator and the charm of a fine personality.

Inspector Tustin's report was as follows: Horses dealt with, 523; dogs destroyed, 48; cats sent to shelter, 42; cats destroyed, 23; other animals inspected, 132; cases of poultry inspection, 52; number of horses ordered off road, 42; summonses issued, 13; convictions secured, 12; emergency calls, 28.

Civic Commission Will Meet Next Week If Quorum Is Present In City

Providing that sufficient members are in London to form a quorum, the civic commission will meet next week. Friday marks the 79th day since the commission met last, and it also marks the day when Mayor Cameron Wilson has placed the damper on the statement, made Thursday, that the commission would meet for sure next week.

Now comes the reservation that a quorum be present in London before the meeting will be scheduled, and this rider added by the mayor has caused a cloud of gloom to pervade the city hall.

However, those city officials who have been singing, "Just Awaiting for You," dedicated to the civic commission, are hopeful that a meeting will be held next week, even going so far as to declare that many members will interrupt their holiday pleasure to return to London and renew acquaintances made at the round-table conference when the commission met last May.

HOLD POULTON ON SECOND CHARGE

Police Allege Bicycle Theft Against Man Thought To Have Taken Watch.

Rather expecting that Robert Poulton, charged with the theft of a watch from the Byron Sanatorium, was about to be discharged from custody Friday morning, city detectives immediately directed the county authorities to hold him in that event, as they had another charge of the same nature to bring against him.

Appearing subsequently before His Honor Judge Talbot Macbeth, Poulton was remanded for another week in order that his counsel may be allowed to settle the second charge, that of stealing a bicycle at Sarnia, out of court.

"Just as a plea for leniency has been entered in your favor," declared Judge Macbeth, "comes the intimation that the city police are ready to nab you on a second charge."

The prisoner held that, as he had smashed the bicycle in an accident, he had offered to pay for the same. He explained that the wreck had occurred at Point Edward and that he left the fragments of the wheel there.

EXPECTS FRICTION OVER SCHOOL ACT

Dr. Weir Believes Adolescent Measure Will Cause Hardship in Some Instances.

Nothing short of a revolution by the masses will halt the enforcement in September next of the adolescent school act, according to Dr. George S. Weir, public school attendance officer in London who can see, however, he states considerable friction when the schools reopen for the fall term.

The minister of education is determined that the provisions of the act, compelling all children to the age of 15 years to remain at their studies must be enforced to the letter, the officer states, incidentally pointing out that there is no other alternative but to obey. "There is no chance for one to use his own discretion," he states.

Dr. Weir reports that he is being besieged daily with city folk seeking detailed information upon the provisions of the act, who seemingly still are somewhat apprehensive of the reception of what is actually demanded by the provincial authorities.

That not a little hardship will be occasioned in many families is his belief as there are many instances brought to his attention where the adolescent child is practically the sole support of the home circle. There are several cases of widows, he points out, who while not receiving pensions must necessarily allow their children to go to work as soon as possible.

Although Dr. Weir applied to Toronto for information concerning the manner in which similar acts were enforced in American cities, and the co-operation shown there by the employers, he reports that he has been informed by Major Cowles, provincial attendance officer, that it will be impossible to obtain this data until after the holidays.

Water sports, land sports, and unusual games and contests, with attractive prizes offered in each event, will feature the day's program. Bands are to be in attendance, and an abundance of refreshments will be provided.

Amongst the firms which will be represented in the crowds at Port Stanley are the D. S. Perrin Company, the London Rolling Mills, Scott-McHale Co., London Printing and Lithographing Co., London Soap Company, and it is expected that the number of plasterers and employees who attend will run into the hundreds.

There may be something wrong with the construction of general appearance of the new Central Collegiate Institute. Then again there may not. This is a question that has yet to be settled, amiably or otherwise, by the school trustees within a few days.

In any event, there will be another tour of the new structure before the summer passes. Trustee A. E. Silverwood, chairman of No. 3 committee, was positive of this fact Friday morning, adding, however, "that he did not know whether there was anything the matter or not."

W. A. Tanner, secretary of the board, says that since the report was spread abroad that sub-contractors had taken court action to secure their money for services rendered and goods furnished, the question was in status quo.

Silence reigns uppermost in the general direction of the architect's department, and it is thought that he is getting busy on plans for a new school in Southeast London.

"ENJOY YOURSELF" MOTTO OF CORSET WORKERS PICNIC

Employees of Colene Company and Families Hold Successful Outing at Springbank.

Thursday afternoon all of the employees of the Colene corset company and their families picnicked at Springbank Park.

"Enjoy yourself" was taken as the motto of the merry-makers, and they did. It was an occasion of equal good time for both adults and kiddies.

A baseball game between two picked teams of men and women employees provided much fun, and was one of the features of the afternoon.

Other sports and games were held, the following being the winners of them: Ball driving contest—Mrs. Curchin. Boys' race—Ralph Jones, George Gallagher, Norman Jones.

Candle race—Mrs. M. Dermott, Mrs. Jones. Men's race—George Ellis, L. E. Jones, A. MacCallum.

Threading needle contest—L. Jones, E. Ellis. Ladies' race—Mrs. G. Mitchell, Mrs. Jones.

Throwing ball, ladies—Miss G. Mitchell, Miss Clara Donovan.

Rope skipping contest—Winnifred Gallagher, Beryl Jones.

CIVIC COMMITTEE WILL DISCUSS TRANSPORTATION

Mayor Reports Body to Meet During Week-End—Suggests Baker as Secretary.

The civic committee appointed to investigate and bring in a report to the city council on the transportation problem of London, paying particular attention to the London Street Railway system and motor bus situation, will likely meet this week end, Mayor Cameron Wilson announced Friday.

The committee has held one meeting since its organization, and it is likely that a secretary will be named at the next session. The name of City Clerk S. Baker is suggested as the logical choice for this office.

The personnel of the committee is as follows: Mayor Cameron Wilson, chairman; Ald. J. H. Childs and Ald. Gordon Bart Drake, representing the city council, and Sir Adam Beck and Philip Pocock, representing the ratepayers of London.

To Introduce Resolution On Six-Day Week

HOLDING that it is time that the several provincial legislatures as well as the federal government should take definite action to establish legislation compelling a 6-day week, delegates of the London Trades and Labor Council will introduce a resolution to this effect at the Dominion Trades Congress in Montreal early in August.

The delegates admit that there is such a law, as the Lord's Day act, but they feel to observe in what manner the same is adhered to. They express the opinion that Sunday should be a day of complete rest for all manner of labor.

Knowing Farm Costs.

IT IS EASY for a man not engaged in farming to imagine that increases in the price of produce the farmer has for sale means a direct and immediate gain to the agriculturist. It generally follows, for instance, that an increase in hogs carries with it sooner or later an increase in the price of feed.

The case of hogs will allow of some figures being used that will have a fairly wide application, because feeding hogs for market is something that is carried on in a good many districts. Figures show for a number of years, from 1914 to 1920, the average of hogs, fed and watered, at Toronto:

19158.47
191610.54
191715.35
191818.15
191918.71
192019.21

The quotation today stands around $14, a little lower than the 1917 price. It would be very easy for the consumer of bacon to imagine that the man who was raising hogs had made a nice little pot of money. There is no denying the fact that money was made on hogs in those years, but before jumping at conclusions let us take the average increase in the price of feed, for this purpose the following being used: Oats, barley, American No. 3 corn, bran and shorts. The average price of these in carload lots was:

1914$1.35
19151.50
19161.48
19172.21
19182.28
19192.55
19202.75

It is seen from these tables that although there was an increase in the price of hogs, there was almost an equal increase in the price of feeds most used. Taking 1914 as 100 per cent, the advance in the price of hogs was 231.7 per cent, and the advance in the price of grain was 204 per cent—that takes in the whole period from 1904 to 1920. Between 1916 and 1917 the price of hogs was 127 per cent of 1914, and in 1917 188 per cent of 1914; the price of grains in 1916 was 110 per cent, and in 1917 164 per cent.

These figures have a deeper meaning than simply showing that farm profits are deceptive to the man who is not in the business. Their real significance is for the farmer as showing need for close study of market conditions and their actual relation to the things he has to sell.

Farmers of Saskatchewan are in session now in Saskatoon. And one of the chief things to be considered at their meetings is, according to advance notices, "placing farming on a business basis, where they will receive remuneration for their product equal at least to the cost of production." Just why a reasonable profit should not be added is not known, as it is one of the first principles of any business that returns equal to only cost of production will soon close up the works.

Worth-while advances have been made in Ontario in this regard, and we have farmers all over keeping accounts instead of taking things for granted. One of the best things that could happen to agriculture in Canada would be to reach the point that gave definite knowledge of what an article should sell for to make a profit. Against this, it might be argued, are world markets in the setting of which prices the farmer has no say. While this is an undoubted fact, the farmer would, by a thorough knowledge of his costs, be in a position to plan his crops along the lines that he knew, from definite facts, yielded him the best returns from the investment of his money and labor power.

One Hundred Years Ago.

ONE hundred years ago, 1822, the famous French scientist, LOUIS PASTEUR, was born. He has frequently been named as one of the six greatest men of the world, and the chances are that in the world of science and medicine he would rank even higher. The event will be thoroughly well celebrated in France toward the end of the year.

In the realm of bacteria—if there is such a realm—PASTEUR worked. His findings were revolutionary, and they opened up new fields and uncovered secrets that before had been as closed books. He showed that germs caused the various phenomena of fermentation, and from that revolutionized the wine and beer industries of France and all the world. He laid the base of the germ theory of disease, upon which idea have been built so many of the malady-conquering marvels of recent years.

PASTEUR turned his talent to practical things. A disease threatened the silkworm industry of France with destruction, but PASTEUR found the cure, and it is claimed it meant enough to France to pay the enormous Prussian indemnity.

Anthrax was decimating the cattle of France. It was observed that when diseased animals were buried that healthy animals eating the grass above the inhumed carcasses were stricken with anthrax. The opponents of PASTEUR cited this as positive disproof of PASTEUR's opinion that anthrax was a germ disease. But PASTEUR by close observations discovered the fact that earthworms carried the disease germs from the buried animals to the surface and left them in the characteristic worm-built mound. He proceeded to develop the cure for anthrax.

But PASTEUR's most spectacular triumph, to the public at large, was the conquest of rabies. This once most horrible name in the dismal catalogue of human misfortunes has lost almost all of its former terrors. And so, one after another, have nearly all of the ancient disease scourges gone their way into things of memory.

It is also stated on good authority that LORD LISTER, the eminent English surgeon, was at this time working on antiseptic surgery. PASTEUR's theory of the bacterial nature of disease provided him with the clue he needed, and in time came the advanced methods of modern surgery.

LOUIS PASTEUR was a great man, and his work still lives, greater and more noted even than in the days when he started it. That is, indeed, the real test of greatness.

That Marconi Team.

LONDON can show something rather unique in athletics, viz.: a good baseball team of Italians. It might be fairer to use the name Canadian-Italians, for they are all residents here of good standing in the community.

The team is entered in one of the city leagues under the name, "Marconi." Every member of the nine is of Italian extraction—there are no "ringers," not even for a pitcher, and the whole team has mastered the game of baseball to such an extent that it can hold its own with the best of the amateurs.

The players go into the game with the enthusiasm and zest that is part and parcel of their nature; they play to win all the time, and are good enough sports to take decisions against them with good grace and fine sportsmanship.

The Marconi team in action is good evidence that this country is ready to recognize and take in any race that wants to come here, attend to business, and take its place along with the rest of the Canadian people.

NO. 278—SELECTING THE CAUTIONS.

In many occupations one of the prime requisites is caution. A good sense of caution will, for instance, be very likely to lengthen the life of the worker in an explosive factory.

Often it is important to the salesman to know whether his prospect is the cautious type of person.

How can you tell whether an individual is cautious or not? There are a number of indications. One is the shape of the head. One is the coloring. One is the profile. One is the eye. One is the handwriting. All of these indications do not have the same value, of course.

But you may be sure you have a cautious man if his head is wide at a point half-way up from the ears and

NOAH'S POETRY

HEARIN' AN ANTHEM.

I went to church the other day, it was the proper thing to do, I ventured ten feet from the door and softly settled in a pew.

The choir had reached the stage by then when they were going to sing a spell, the name upon the weekly sheet it sounded unto something swell.

At first the organist he played a bit, and ambled round both here and there, while all his fingers coughed a spell and pumped their lungs chock full of air.

Then one soprano started in to tell about the setting "sun, and on each quiverin' note she made she loafed around and on it hung. She hadn't quit when "long there came an alto with a voice so deep, and sang a bar about the sun in mystic ways that made me creep.

About this time a tenor voice was waitin' for a chance to shoot—he warbled something on the sun in manner that was crisp and cute.

When all at once a basso came and hit the low notes all kerplunk, and hollered it was his belief that that there sun has sink, sank, sunk.

Then for a spell they took a rest, the organ played a little toon, then all the crowd they pelted in about the sun goin' down too soon. More stops was pulled, more air was pumped, and all the songsters raised a row, about the stars a-comin' out just when they did, and where and how.

Once more soprano opened out and sobbed a little ditty sweet, about the stars, the stars came out, came out to peep.

They kept it up for quite a length, about the sun not stayin' set, and 'bout the stars they said some things I couldn't neither hear nor get.

And there I sat 'till they was through, I heard the last exultant shout, and I've been wonderin' ever since just what the whole thing was about.

—NOAH.

Among the other merchants represented were: R. J. Wood, Cornet Bros., Bee Hive, J. C. Trebilcock, F. Harding, S. Wray, Mrs. Maddens, F. L. Ross, James Ward, B. R. Sloan, Turville Bros., The Fulton Market.

The managing committee consisted of F. Harley, president; R. A. Jones, vice-president; E. Sutton, secretary; W. H. Branton, treasurer.

DR. BISHOP'S ADVICE

RULES FOR BATHERS

THESE are the days when every available bathing beach and swimming hole is dotted with all kinds of people who desire to escape the heat.

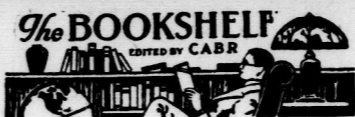

Every summer as the crowds that frequent the more popular beaches grow larger and larger, the individuals who frequent the beaches add some elements of contamination to the common bath.

If the water thus contaminated by tens of thousands of human bodies gains entrance into the nose, ears, eyes and throats of bathers, or is swallowed by them or breathed into their lungs, infection may follow, particularly if the physical resistance of the bathers is lowered, favoring infection.

Where the sickness takes the form of bronchitis, it may be due to extension of the infection from the nose or throat or because the water has been drawn deeply into the lungs.

Infection may also occur on the external skin, in the form of boils, when the natural protective covering of the skin has been removed by prolonged soaking in the water by friction, or when the skin has been injured by the sun.

ROBIN. By Frances Hodgson Burnett. Frederick A. Stokes Company, publishers, New York. $2.

IN THAT much-quoted poem,

"L'Envol," Rudyard Kipling asserts the requisite to be only that each good artist shall diligently endeavor to "draw the thing as he sees it," since only God himself knows the truth of "things as they are."

Realist and romanticist, each has its place, so long as the realism or romanticism is honest, the result of the individual's temperament, his instinctive way of looking at things. For the ages-old dispute between the two really resolves itself into this—a difference in the way of seeing things, the difference in the angle of vision.

It is only the chosen, extreme few, who, looking direct, see the romance of reality and the reality of romance.

Mrs. Burnett's point of view is and always has been that of the romanticist, and her most recent book, the charming "Robin," which carries on and completes the story begun in "The Head of the House of Coombe," shows no change in the angle of vision.

It is an exquisitely tender and touching tale, this of the love of Robin Gareth-Lawless and Donal Muir, the girl who had so little and the boy who had everything, a tale made to seem only the more delicately beautiful because of the dark background of war against which it is presented.

For it was on the 29th of June, 1914, that the Dowager Duchess of Darts gave the dance with which "Robin" begins, the dance at which Robin and Donal met again, years after that first childish encounter neither had forgotten, and danced together while the duchess and her old friend Lord Coombe talked gravely of that which had happened at Serajevo.

This love-idyl of theirs developed as many another love-idyl did in those breathless, astonished days, with an always present sense of haste, an always present knowledge that today only was theirs, that for them tomorrow might never come, and that today was of necessity short.

Told with a fine reserve which does not diminish its intensity or the flame-like quality of the young passion it depicts, the love of these two, boy and girl, she innocent, inexperienced and unworried to a degree impossible for one less singularly brought up, reaches its culminating moment. Then come sorrow, pain, despair, and a darkness which seems like the darkness of an eternal night, but proves in the end to be only the blackness of the hour before dawn.

Mrs. Burnett has done nothing better than her picture of these two young lovers, whose ecstasy was all the keener for the dread which never left them.

Her Robin is not at all a modern heroine, but a very old-fashioned little maid, sweet and soft and gentle and docile, asking only for love, given and received, doing only what she was told to do by those about her, a charming child, lovely and lovable.

When the shadow falls upon her, the reader shares the helpless indignation of her old nurse Dowie, that one so innocent and helpless and little should suffer so. But she never lacked for good friends, nor did the head of the house of Coombe ever fail in his self-imposed task of guardianship, although there came a time when the fulfilling of it led him along very dangerous paths.

And over it all there rests, shimmering, iridescent as the veil of some fairy queen, the glamour with which Mrs. Burnett invariably endows whatever theme she touches.

The old cottage in the wood is well called a fairy cottage, and the castle among the Scottish moors, whose "crumbled walls and remaining gray towers stood calm in the clear air," is an abode well suited to the fairy princess whom Robin so often resembles. Yet her pain is very real, set before us very simply and very clearly, so that the pity of it brings at times a lump to one's throat.

LEARN A WORD EVERY DAY

TODAY'S word is LULL. It's pronounced lul, with the u short.

It means—to soothe to rest; to quiet; or, as an intransitive verb, to become gradually calm. It may also be used as a noun, as "the lull before the storm."

It is akin to the German "lullen," the Danish "lulle," and the Swedish "lulla," all imitative of low and soothing sounds.

It's used like this: "He was lulled to sleep by soft music."

CANADA'S AREA IN THE EMPIRE.

Q.—What proportion of the British Empire is included in Canada?

A.—One-third of the total area of the British Empire, namely, 3,723,000 square miles, is comprised in Canada.

NEVER swallow the water. Avoid drawing water into the lower breathing tubes.

Put a little vaseline in the external ears and nostrils to help in preventing infection.

The 5 o'clock hour

when old friends gather is made or marred by the quality of the tea the hostess serves. She delights to hear the bits of praise that reach her ears above the talk and laughter.

So many successful hostesses serve RED ROSE ORANGE PEKOE TEA because of its rich amber color, its fragrance and the flavor that so distinguishes it from ordinary teas.

The best grocers everywhere sell it always in the sealed package: 43c per 1/4 lb.; 85c per lb.

C. P. R. RAILMEN HOLD BIG PICNIC

2,000 London District Employees Attend Outing At Springbank Park.

Special Trains Bring Holiday Crowds From Western Ontario Centers.

About 2,000 employees of the London division of the Canadian Pacific Railroad, gathered at Springbank Park, Thursday afternoon, for their daily duties in connection with the transportation of the nation, and allowed themselves to revel in care-free game and contest on the occasion of the fourth annual picnic of the company in this district.

C. P. R. employees boast that their picnic is the largest of the year that is held at Springbank, and judging from the happy crowds on this last excursion to Springbank, they may be within the bounds of truth in their claim.

The merry-makers were from all branches of the service of the company, the carshops, bridge and building employees, freight sheds workers and many other railroad crafts were well represented on the grounds.

Two trains brought special cars into the city laden with the picnicers from outside points during the morning, many coming from Chatham and smaller places between London and Chatham, as well as from Woodstock and other places east.

G. W. V. A. Band Played. The Great War Veterans' Band played for the picnicers during the afternoon while the sports were going on. Higman's Orchestra played for an "old-time dance," held in the pavilion in the evening, and the day's musical program was further assisted by the selections of the Scotch Pipers' Band.

London stores and manufacturers supplied the prizes for the winners of the long list of contests, twenty in number, besides two baseball matches.

The first baseball match was played between the trainmen and the London freight office, the latter team winning by a score of 13 to 5.

Later in the day two picked teams of women played softball, both teams arriving at an indefinite conclusion about the exact score.

Car Shops Win.

Among the other features of the day were the baby show for the boys, and the baby show for the girls, and the tug-of-war between the carshop men's team and the bridge and building team. After three pulls the carshop team were declared victorious. Dr. Hugh Stevenson presided over the tug-of-war in the capacity of judge, in a very efficient manner. Of all the events of the day the tug-of-war aroused, without exception, the keenest interest in the crowds, partisanship for each team running high.

In the sports, which were open to C. P. R. employees and their families, no one, the committee in charge ruled, was allowed to carry off more than two prizes. In this way a wide distribution of prizes was achieved, greatly to the satisfaction of everyone.

Refreshments were served free during the afternoon to the children of the employees by means of tickets, distributed by the committee in charge.

In the baby shows a London baby boy won the boy's prize, and a Caradoc baby girl, the girl's. The former was won by Baby Tarn of London, and the latter by Baby Goslin of Caradoc.

Good-Will Abounds.

Hospitality and good-will abounded, fun was rampant, competition in the events was keen and altogether it was a jolly good picnic, according to the participants.

The baseball teams were composed

Refuses To Pay Tax, As He Is Not Canadian Subject.

Special to London Advertiser.

ST. THOMAS, July 27.—Appearing on a charge of failing to make out his income tax returns, Thursday morning, Frank Cornelius, a former resident of the Oneida Reserve, claimed exemption on account of his not being an enfranchised subject of Canada. The case appears to be without parallel in the province. Magistrate Maxwell advised the accused to consult legal advice, and laid the matter over for two weeks. Cornelius is supported in his contention by the Oneida Indian Council, and it is thought that the matter will have to be taken to higher courts.

GOES TO RUMANIA SURVEYING FOR OIL

Young Londoner Achieves
Distinction in Overseas
University Science
Course.

Coming second in a class of 900, in subjects taken in the University of Edinburgh, is the honorable record made by a well-known former young Londoner, William R. S. Henderson, who has just graduated with honors, with the degree of Bachelor of Science, from Heriot-Watt College, Edinburgh. Mr. Henderson had the distinction of being selected by Cunningham Craig, the eminent consulting geologist, as a member of his staff, and is now in Rumania surveying for oil in the foothills of the Carpathian Mountains.

The son of the late Rev. Alexander Henderson, for years clerk of the London Presbytery, and Mrs. Henderson, former general secretary of the London Y. W. C. A., and now superintendent of the Nurses' Home, Victoria Hospital, Mr. Henderson was born in Appin, while his father was minister there. He attended school and had just graduated from the collegiate, taking his entrance to Normal School examinations, when he enlisted in 1916 for overseas service.

Going to England in the signalling corps of the 135th Battalion, he was transferred to the Royal Naval Air Service, and spent his active days in Southern Italy.

When peace was declared he took advantage of the offer of a college course to all Imperial officers who had left school to enlist, and in 1919 enrolled in Heriot-Watt College, Mrs. W. R. S. Henderson, with her baby, is remaining in England while her husband is in Rumania.

Wins New Honors

WM. R. S. HENDERSON.

THE talented young son of the late Rev. A. Henderson, clerk of the London Presbytery, and Mrs. Henderson, superintendent of Victoria Hospital Nurses' Home, graduated with honors in this year's class in Heriot-Watt College, Edinburgh, was selected by Cunningham Craig, eminent consulting geologist, for his staff, and is now in Rumania surveying for oil in the foothills of the Carpathian Mountains. Immediately after finishing his collegiate course in London in 1916 he enlisted with the 135th Battalion, serving with the Royal Air Force in Southern Italy.

Peggy Kurton Tells How She Gained Her Complexion

(This is the fourth of a series of articles on beauty written especially for the readers of The London Advertiser.)

BY PEGGY KURTON.

Celebrated for Her Complexion.

THE geographical structure of your face, and the general arrangement of your features is something you haven't much control over, but your complexion is within your power.

Don't delude yourself—you can't cover up a bad skin. Remedy it first, then redecorate later if you must.

Your skin is always in sympathy with your general health. It won't have a peach-and-cream appearance if your stomach is disordered, if your liver has become lazy and indolent and if your lungs haven't been given plenty of fresh air.

Nervousness and morbid emotions all will register on your skin. The reason out-of-door exercise is the world's greatest beautifier is because when you get outdoors you get rid of your unhealthy thoughts. Exercise banishes morbidity.

Clear your mind and your skin will be very healthy. Rain or shine, I have at least one hour of it a day.

OF course your skin must be clean. I wash my face with soap and water in the evening just before retiring, using water as hot as I can stand it and a good, pure soap.

I put a few drops of tincture of benzoin in the water to soften it and because it has a whitening effect on the skin.

I rinse my face in cold water, then scrub with a piece of ice held in a Turkish towel. Then I dry it thoroughly and rub in a little cold cream.

In the morning I wash with cold water and during the day I use a cleansing cream when necessary. An occasional Turkish or cabinet bath is very good for the complexion. I drink orange juice every morning.

(formerly Mabel Smith), who is spending the summer in the east, accompanied her sister to Delhi.

Miss Kate and Miss Constance Fraser, Stanley street, with their sister, Miss Hattie, superintendent of the Preventorium, Toronto, have been holidaying for three weeks at Cape Cod, Mass., have returned home. Miss Hattie goes on to Anisquam, Maine, until the middle of August.

A charming event of Thursday afternoon was the luncheon given by Miss Webster in honor of her niece, Mrs. Fred Searson, and Mrs. Reginald Green, both of Paris, France. Covers were laid for twelve, the table lovely adorned with sweet peas and smilax. The guests included Mrs. W. E. Greene, Mrs. Kent Campbell, Mrs. David Arnold, Mrs. George McNeil, Mrs. Fred Beltz, Miss Noble, Mrs. Claude Brown and Mrs. Henry Jones and Miss Mason of Toronto.

An event of this week much enjoyed by those who attended was the supper party held by Princess of Wales Lodge, Daughters of England, at Mrs. Lewis' parlours, Springfield. Mrs. George Newman, president of the lodge, presided. Covers were laid for 23, the tables beautifully adorned with the emblem of the D. O. E., red and white roses. The members of the lodge are looking forward with pleasure to the English picnic to be held at Port Place.

Members of St. Joseph's Mothers' Unit are feeling much elated over the success of their first public social and business venture. The garden fete held Wednesday afternoon and evening in the grounds of the home of Mrs. W. Wilson, Mount Pleasant avenue. Warm appreciation is expressed by the members of the capable management of the general convenor, Mrs. E. A. Pocock, and the president, Mrs. J. Moir, to whom a large share of credit was due for the happy results. While all returns are not in, it is anticipated a substantial amount will be realized for the work of the club.

Miss Bessie Henderson of Kitchener, daughter of Mrs. Alexander Henderson of this city, is spending an interesting summer as one of the leaders at Glen Bernard summer camp for school girls, near Sandridge in the Parry Sound district, a "dream come true" of Miss Mary Edgar, the brilliant young Canadian authoress and writer of plays and pageants. During her visit to the city in the winter, when she addressed the C. G. I. T. groups and leaders, and also was guest of honor of a Women's Press Club party, Miss Edgar told of her plan to have an all-summer camp for school girls, following her happy experience with summer camps in Canada, the United States and Japan, where she visited during a trip around the world a couple of years ago. Miss Edgar's plays have been presented during the past winter by various girls' clubs in the city. She is an enthusiastic advocate of self-expression in drama as a means of learning life lessons, and impromptu pageants and plays are an interesting feature of so generously offered. Will sign as before. A NEEDY ONE.

Am so sorry that early requests to the Mail-Box have met with disappointment, and trust there will be better luck this time, although two others have already inquired about the brown suit. Is 34 your number, or could you wear a larger size? If a Pest has parted with her suit, possibly someone else has one to pass along to you, or even a good warm coat. Doctors' bills and sickness do eat up a lot of money, and when income is small, leave little for other things. Sorry, too, you have been such a sufferer. Trust you won't be cross with me for being frivolous. A woman told me solemnly not long ago she knew a man who was cured of rheumatism by carrying a raw potato in his pocket. She said the potato gradually dried up the rheumatism went away. It appears if the potato had potted instead of drying he would not have been cured. The potato just decays out of bad temper when the rheumatism will not obey its bidding. Best wishes for a nice warm outfit for winter.

The TATTOOED ARM

CHAPTER XV.

HOBART'S reply was a smothered cry and Miles and Scottie had only time to regain the shelter of the rear staircase when Miss Drake swept across the hall and to her own room.

"So she knows, does she?" Scottie rubbed his chin. "I wish that we did, but it's my opinion we'll find out nothing more this night."

Scottie was right. Nothing happened until the next morning when Zorn appeared in the garden and had the older man summon Miles.

"Where can we talk?" Zorn asked as Miles appeared.

"Just down the road here. I understand your message Sunday evening, of course. Did you trace the bill of lading?"

Zorn nodded smilingly as they strode along the road toward the weather-beaten shed.

"Yes. She is at Freedale at the home of a certain estimable but somewhat peppery old farmer named Higgins."

"Elphalett!" exclaimed Miles. "His sister Hitty has been a maid here in the household for a generation, but I never thought of him! How did Miss Patricia happen to go there, and why?"

"Perhaps you had better read her letter first," Zorn glanced about the ramshackle shed and produced a small, bulging envelope.

Miles tore open the envelope and took from it two folded slips of paper.

"Dear Sergeant Miles:

Mr. Zorn will tell you how he found me and why I stayed away. I have promised him I will come home this afternoon. I had to tell you first, though, that I have broken our agreement; I am sending word to Mr. Kemp to meet me, and I mean to tell him as much as I can without being disloyal to my family. After all I have been through I don't know what to think except that we have terrible enemies who will stop at nothing, and I am nearly crazy! I assure guard my father and the other well, and find out who the men who are in their pay, especially the one with the tattoo mark on his arm. Hastily,

"Patricia Drake."

"This letter doesn't tell me much except that the young lady is on the verge of hysteria," he commented.

Miles had unfolded the second note. It was comparatively brief, and although its lines, cramped, shaken hand was unlike any that he had studied before during his investigation, there was yet something vaguely familiar about it which arrested him.

"My dear child," he read.

"Great trouble has come upon your esteemed father and your uncles and compelled them to do the strange things which have so distressed you of late. Now they are facing ruin and disgrace through no fault of their own, but you, my dear, can save them."

"I have known your family for many years, and it is my duty to tell you the truth. I am an infirm old woman and live at some distance, but my car will be outside your gate at 11 tonight, and my servants are to be trusted to bring you safely to me. I will make you comfortable for the night and you may return in the morning."

"Watch for the flash of light twice in the road and be prepared to come at once, telling no one, or I cannot help you. Have faith in me, for my only wish is to keep you and yours from greater suffering."

"A Friend."

"I told her that I was going out to play and asked her what she was going to do about it."

"She said that I deserved a little rest," she said.

"When I left his house somebody tried to hold me up; hit me with a blackjack and only the soft felt hat I was wearing saved me from being knocked for a goal! See?" Zorn removed his cap and displayed a strip of plaster where his smooth, blond hair had been clipped away. "He sneaked up from behind and landed on me, but something must have scared him, for he took to his heels and was gone before I could recover sufficiently to give chase. It's on me, isn't it?"

"Yes. It came near being a disastrous appointment for me!"

"Disastrous!"

"He sneaked up from behind and landed on me, but something must have scared him, for he took to his heels and was gone before I could recover sufficiently to give chase. It's on me, isn't it?"

"Gracious!" exclaimed Miles. "Any one but an unsophisticated child like Miss Patricia would have seen at a glance that this was the bunk! Tell me what she told you, Zorn; what happened to her?"

"She says that Saturday night she saw that note lying on the floor just under her opened window. She never thought of doubting the good faith of the 'infirm old woman,' threw a few things into a bag and waited for the signal. It came and Miss Patricia slipped down the drive to where a limousine stood at the gate with one man behind the wheel and another holding the door."

"After that things happened too quickly for her to utter a cry. The man took her bag, clapped his hand over her mouth and bundled her in and she was off. She remembers, remembers struggling, but a sweet-smelling cloth—chloroform, probably—was placed over her face, and then everything was a blank."

"When she came to herself there was a rush of cool air in her face, for the window behind the driver's seat was down and the two men were talking."

"Her heavy beaded handbag was still on her arm, and without stopping to think, she smashed the man over the face with it, tore open the nearest door and jumped, rolling over and over into a ditch. They cursed and halted, but another car was coming, and that gave her an opportunity to scramble up and over a low stone wall into a mass of willow shoots growing by a brook."

"They gave up hunting for her and drove off. She stumbled along in the darkness with sense enough to keep to the main road. A moving van came rumbling along and on an impulse she hailed it; she says the idea flashed across her mind that if she could find out the name of the nearest village and get word to Mr. Wells he would keep her confidence and come to take care of her, at the same time sending a warning to you."

"When she asked them where they were going and they told her 'Freedale,' Miss Patricia thought at once of this Higgins and got them to give her a lift."

"Whatever they thought, they let her climb in and on the way she arranged with one of them to take that note to Wells' house when they got back to the city in the morning. They reached Freedale at dawn and Miss Patricia got down and went directly to the Higgins place."

"Did she recognize either of the two men who abducted her?" demanded Miles.

"No. But when one of them flung her traveling case into the car she saw that his sleeves were rolled up and a device of some sort was tattooed on one arm."

"Tell me how you located Miss Patricia?" asked Miles.

"The scrap of paper she had used for that message to Mr. Wells started me in the right direction," Zorn replied. "I caught the first train to Brookside. It wasn't difficult to locate a new family named 'Slocum' and learn the name of the furniture mover."

"The boss of the moving gang described the house at Freedale where he had left the girl. I took the early afternoon train and located the girl at the Higgins place."

"Did you see Wells last night at 11?" asked Miles.

"Yes. It came near being a disastrous appointment for me!"

"Disastrous!"

JACK DAW'S ADVENTURES

AFTER JACK HAD EXPLORED ALMOST EVERY ANGLE AND CORNER OF THE CAVE WITHOUT FINDING A COIN HE DECIDED TO FLIP A COIN. HEADS I'LL TURN RIGHT, TAILS I'LL TURN LEFT, SAID JACK.

THE COIN FELL TAILS, SO JACK TURNED TO THE LEFT. HE HAD NOT GONE VERY FAR BEFORE HE SPIED ONE OF THE GORILLAS ON WATCH. JACK THEN THOUGHT THAT THIS MUST BE THE RIGHT ROAD.

JACK HID BEHIND A ROCKY COLUMN UNTIL THE BEAST FELL FAST ASLEEP. THEN HE CREEPT SILENTLY BEHIND THE GORILLA, HOPING THAT THE LAST DANGER POINT WAS PASSED.

THE YOUNG EXPLORER AT LAST CAME TO A STAIRWAY LEADING UPWARDS. HE PAUSED, WONDERING WHERE IT LED TO, THEN HE DECIDED TO FIND OUT.

VEGETABLE SALAD

ONE of the reasons that many people do not serve salad is that the family does not like oil. Another reason is that one does not always have lettuce and most recipes for salad call for lettuce.

The following recipe uses very little oil and no lettuce:

1 cup shredded cabbage
1 cup celery cut in small pieces
2 cucumbers, pared and cut in very small pieces (or they may be chopped)
3 tomatoes, chopped
1 red pepper, fresh or canned

2 green peppers cut in small pieces
1 teaspoon salt
1 teaspoon paprika
1 tablespoon sugar
1 tablespoon vinegar
3 tablespoons oil

Mix all the ingredients in a bowl thoroughly, and serve very cold. If you do not have celery use twice as much cabbage and add one-fourth teaspoon celery salt.

This salad is especially good served with fried or broiled fish and with cold meat.

"It certainly is," agreed Miles, but there was a peculiar quality in his tone. "Are you going back to the city now?"

Zorn nodded and rose. "I wish you would deliver this letter. I don't trust them to the mails and time is an essential factor. It is to Professor Nigel Lorton, at the Archaeological Museum."

It was late that afternoon before Patricia put in an appearance and there was a new, shy dignity in her bearing that silenced the reproof upon her aunt's lips.

Roger had appeared at luncheon more wan and fragile than ever, but later Miles had caught a glimpse of him tottering down the drive muffled to the ears in a greatcoat, in spite of the mild spring weather, and wondered what errand could have dragged him forth.

The return of Patricia, however, turned his thoughts to other channels, and the arrival within an hour of an unexpected caller banished all idle speculation for the time being from his mind.

The caller was Miss Ora Hawks, but the transformation in her appearance was remarkable. If she had not quite succeeded in regaining the lost years of her youth she had made a victorious effort to mitigate the inroads of time.

The butler served tea in the drawing-room, but the detective knew that although Carter had been sent to summon both Hobart and Andrew only the latter appeared and that he had loitered in the hallway below trying in vain to catch a word of the conversation between Miss Hawks and her former swain.

All at once the heavy portieres parted and the visitor reappeared. It was doubtful if she was conscious of the pseudo-houseman's shadowy figure in the background as she made for the front door, calling back over her shoulder with a quick, convulsive catch of her breath:

"No, don't trouble, please! I can find my way. Tell Jerusha I—I will see her soon. Goodbye!"

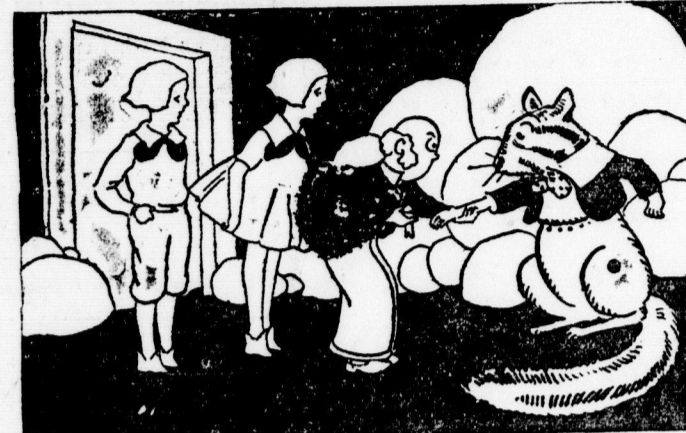

It was not the words nor the tone in which they were uttered which for a moment held the detective rooted to the spot, but the dazed look of half-incredulous wonder upon the woman's face and the glint as of dawn in her eyes.

Scarcely had the door closed when there was a crash in the drawing-room, followed by the hiss of flame and a man's bellow of profanity mingled with pain.

A pungent odor of smoldering

CHIPMUNK VERY ILL—BUT HE'S CURED

[By Olive Roberts Barten.]

NANCY and Nick and Dr. Snuffles were calling on Chirk Chipmunk. Chirk had told the landlord, Mr. Tingling, he was sick and couldn't pay his rent. To tell you the truth, Chirk was about as sick as a circus rider, but he was an excellent pre-tender.

"Yes," said Dr. Snuffles, when he had looked at Chirk's tongue and felt his pulse and taken his temperature and looked down his throat and felt him all over, "you need medicine. Your stomach's bad and your heart's out of order, your liver is awful, your lungs don't work, your appendix is cloth assailed his nostrils stiflingly as Miles dashed the portieres aside to behold Andrew tearing off his scorched coat from which a curl of acrid smoke arose and stamping out a tiny bluish flame that darted across the rug from beneath the overturned tea-table.

"—that three-legged stand!" the latter growled beneath his teeth. "Help me get this off, William, never mind the rug."

"I am afraid you are badly burned, sir!" Miles ventured.

Radio Radiations

BY THE RADIO EDITOR.

TO all those who are using vacuum tubes in their radio work, the use of the rheostat for adjustment of filament currents is well known. But there seem to be many who do not understand or appreciate the utility of the device which is known as the "A" battery potentiometer for adjustment of the "B" battery.

In the main they have consisted of a high-resistance unit, which was placed either in series with, or in shunt to the "B" battery. When in series, much larger batteries than the normal ones were necessary to overcome the added resistance of the unit.

When in shunt, due to the high voltage employed in the plate circuits of the tube, considerable energy was wasted in the potentiometer unit. This was particularly objectionable since the capacity of the battery commonly called upon for weeks to completely discharge a storage battery through such a resistance.

But the effect of the potentiometer as connected in the accompanying circuit is all that can be desired. It enables the addition to, or the subtraction from the "B" battery of the "A" battery voltage.

For example when the potentiometer slider is at the extreme right, the circuit from the plate through the telephone to the filament includes the full 22½-volt battery and a full six-volt battery. When in contact of the potentiometer is slid to the extreme left on the negative terminal of the "A" battery, the potential of the "A" battery is opposed to that of the "B" with a corresponding reduction of the total potential in the plate circuit.

Condenser. The capacity, C, connected as shown, is essential for proper operation. Lacking it, there will be considerable resistance offered to the high-frequency currents which flow in the plate circuit. Its value need not be greater than .0005 MF, although a much larger condenser may be used.

For the operation of the sensitive "gassy" tubes usually used for detector purposes, the potentiometer is of great value.

RADIO PRIMER. Copper-Advance—Trade name for an alloy of copper and nickel, a material that is widely used for resistance coils and rheostats. Its resistivity is high and its temperature co-efficient is practically negligible.

CONNECTING POTENTIOMETER FOR ADJUSTMENT OF "B" BATTERY.

This work was very small—often of the flashlight battery size.

Connection. The "A" battery potentiometer is connected directly across the "A" or filament lighting battery. This battery is usually six volts. If the resistance of the potentiometer unit is 300 ohms or more, the amount of current flowing through it is entirely negligible. It would require many

BRITAIN YIELDS TO MANDATE OF EMBARGO VOTE

Lloyd George Tells Commons Legislation Will Be Enacted At Early Date.

FAVORS CATTLE PARLEY

LONDON, July 27. — (Canadian Press Cable.)—Replying to questions in the House of Commons today regarding recent developments in the cattle embargo situation, Premier Lloyd George said the government accepted the vote of the House of Commons as a mandate to deal, at the earliest possible time, with the embargo problem on the lines of the resolution adopted by the House.

The government, continued the premier, hoped to consider the decision of both Houses at a very early date and decide what action was required. Legislation of course would be necessary.

P. A. Hurd (Coalition Unionist) asked whether, in view of the vote and in order to promote good feeling with the Canadian people, the premier would intimate to the Canadian premier that the British government desired to enter a personal conference with the Canadian ministers in order to devise arrangements regarding the embargo and other outstanding commercial questions.

Considers Parley. Premier Lloyd George replied that that was a matter that would have to be considered. He thought probably such a conference would be desirable, and with that proposal in mind it would be difficult for him to make a definite statement for a few days regarding the government's proposed legislation.

Captain Wedgwood Benn (Liberal) asked: "Does the premier think the decision of the House would be satisfied by the imposition of quarantine which would be equivalent to an embargo?" and Colonel W. Grant Morden (Coalition Unionist) asked: "Is the premier aware that certain members of both Houses are openly stating that they will so manoeuvre matters that no bill will be introduced this session?"

To these questions Premier Lloyd George replied that the questions could be put next week, when he would be in a better position to answer, but obviously a good deal of consultation would be necessary. There was a resolution of a different character passed by the House of Lords, and this also had to be taken into account.

EXTORTS MONEY FROM MOTORISTS

Man Impersonating Constable Takes Money From Tourists and Gives Receipts.

SARNIA, July 27.—Motorists traveling along the highway between London and Sarnia are warned to be on their guard against a man who has been operating the road in the guise of an officer of the law, and has on several occasions extorted money from motorists who are usually ready to pay up and save delay. In one case, it is alleged, the driver of a car bound for Chicago from Niagara Falls was stopped and asked to make a deposit to insure his appearance at court, and was not even suspicious until he exhibited the receipt to an officer aboard one of the ferries, who expressed the opinion that it was a worthless one.

"Show your credentials" appears to be the advisable slogan for tourists using the highway to follow, if they wish to avoid being duped.

While reports at the London end of the London-Sarnia highway again indicate a resumption of former practice of tourists by genuine police officials who love this easy kind of game, judging from numerous convictions in the past, complaints at the Sarnia end of the road have been singularly absent this season.

PORT STANLEY BREEZES CALL

Lake-Cooled Zephyrs and Inviting Beach Lure Vacation Throngs.

Little Fishing Village Becomes Populous Town During Holiday Season.

There's a tang to the air that's blown from off any of the great lakes in the summer time, and such a breeze is more appreciated when one leaves the city far behind and camps himself upon the heights at Port Stanley. A day at Port Stanley will often leave the visitor tired, but a week will rejuvenate him, and then, when one only spends a day at the lakeside there is likely to be so much fun crammed in that weariness could be the only result.

The season at present is well under way at the resort, in fact, it is really at its height just now. And this period of midsummer is when Port Stanley comes into its own.

The lake is black these days with-in a hundred yards of shore with the figures of bathers from early morning to late at night. The board walk is crowded, and Invererie Heights full of picnickers. Other amusements are going in full tide.

Leave Cares Behind. Most of the two weeks' annual vacations given to the employees of offices and other places come in the months of July and August. They are considered the vacation months. As a consequence Port Stanley's population is today that of a good-sized town instead of the little fishing village it is in the winter. The visitors are transients, and therefore light-hearted. They recognize that Port Stanley is a summer resort "where those who enter in leave all care behind."

Port Stanley is fortunate in being easily accessible, both by rail and motor. The trip by automobile is far from wearisome, for the route is picturesque, and in many places lovely. By rail the journey is equally interesting.

Lures Picnickers. The L. and P. S. Railway, which is really the booster of Port Stanley, has well planned its attractions for the season of 1922. Some of the best have been carried off, but there are still others yet to come.

Among the picnics not held already are the Irish picnic, the Scotch picnic and many others. Both days on which the Irish and Scotch picnics are held are gala days at Port. For some years past, just as Port Stanley has grown, so have the crowds at these two picnics, and it is expected that this year the throngs will be again in advance of last year.

There are, all things considered, few summer resorts in Canada where a more enjoyable day's outing, or one, two or three weeks' vacation might be spent better.

Simply Delicious!

Try it on Berries, Pies, Cereals, Puddings, Desserts or Coffee

Your first sip of Keepsweet Cream will amaze you. You'll marvel how it is possible to seal pure cow's cream in cans while retaining all the fresh delicious flavor!

After using canned milk products you will find the flavor of Keepsweet Cream incomparably superior.

Try it, for instance, on berries. There's a test for you! Pour the Keepsweet Cream just as it comes from the can over the berries. It makes a pretty picture—the ripe, full berries partially submerged in rich cream. And the flavor—simply delicious!

It is equally good on all kinds of cereals, breakfast foods and porridge, and puts that rare richness and silkiness into coffee and other beverages, hot or cold.

Try it on puddings! Or on pies, or with blanc-manges, or frozen desserts!

Ordinarily, raw cream too often lacks the richness and the fullness which is perhaps one of the greatest features of this wonderful Keepsweet Table Cream.

It is Not Condensed Milk: It is Pure Cow's Cream

There is no other product like Keepsweet! It stands in a supreme class by itself. It is not condensed milk. It is not evaporated, medicated, dried or treated.

It is cream, the purest, the richest, the finest cream that healthy, well-bred Canadian cows can give.

The cream is hermetically sealed in sanitary cans and every atom of germ life in the Cream is destroyed, thus making the cream PURE! That's why Keepsweet will keep so long in all its purity, in all its sweetness, in all its freshness.

Absolutely nothing is put into Keepsweet Cream to make it keep, and nothing is taken away. It is the cream just as it is when separated from the milk.

Don't Add Water, It's All Ready to Use

Just punch two holes in the top of the can and empty the cream into the cream jug. Then use it as you would ordinary raw cream. Don't add water. It's all ready to use just as it is. If you wish it a little thinner, add milk. Of course, once you have opened the can, Keepsweet Cream requires the same care as ordinary cream.

It Will Keep Sweet All Summer Long

Without ice, without special care, Keepsweet Cream in the sealed can will keep sweet and pure and wholesome all summer long!

Think of the advantages of having such a product always on hand. No worry about the irregularities of ice men or of ice melting and cream souring. No spoiling through hot weather or thunderstorms.

Up on your shelf is your cream supply—a score or more of cans of Keepsweet Table Cream. It inspires you with a feeling of confidence as it is always ready for instant use.

How It Is Done

The Cream is first pasteurized, which temporarily prevents souring or fermentation. It is then homogenized, which makes it more readily digestible. The cream is then sealed in sanitary cans, after which it is sterilized, can and all. This destroys all germ life. It is thus made literally pure.

No Meal Complete Without Keepsweet

Ask any good grocer for Keepsweet Cream. He can supply you with the Baby size can, containing 6 ounces, or the Family size can, containing 11 ounces. Many families now order Keepsweet by the case.

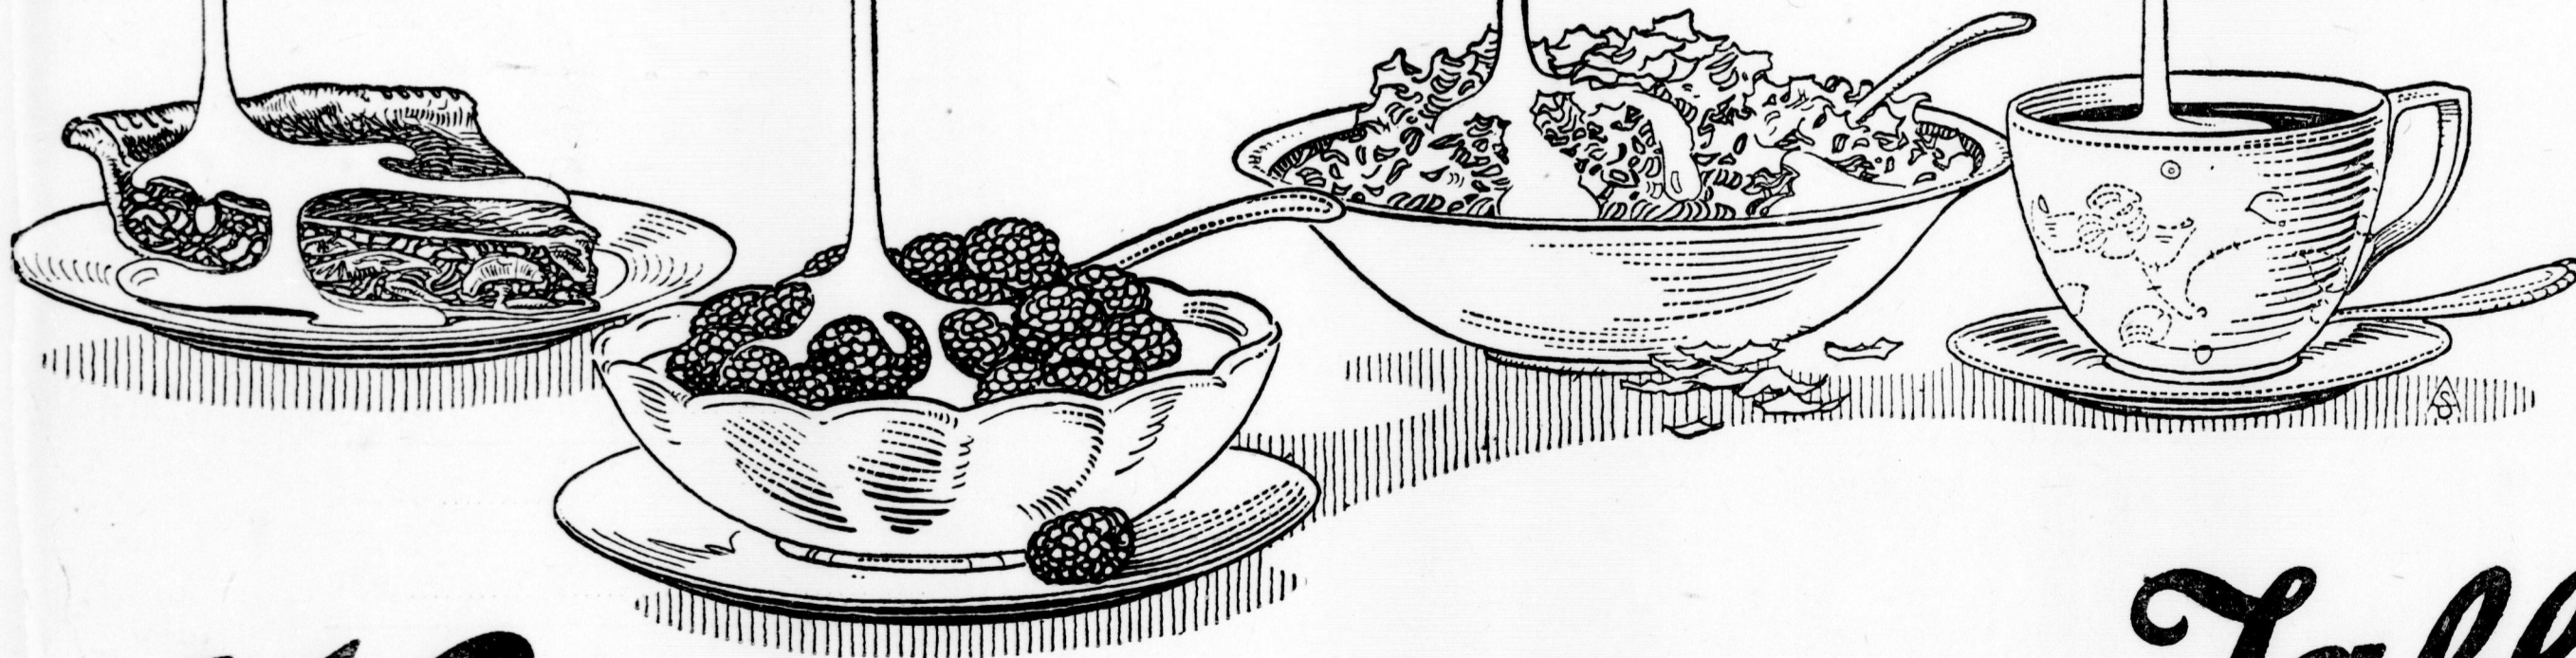

You will become a regular user of Keepsweet because of its delicious flavor, its convenience and its economy and because it is fresh cow's cream in the purest form that you can buy.

Wonderful for Summer Cottagers and Hotels

If your milk or cream supply at your summer cottage or hotel is uncertain, order at once a supply of Keepsweet Table Cream. In most localities the price of Keepsweet Cream is identical and sometimes even lower than the price of local cream.

Keepsweet Cream is the natural solution of your milk and cream problem. Take along a supply and have rich, wholesome cream on your berries, pie and in your coffee!

CLAIM DEFECTIVE SIREN WAS CAUSE OF WRECK

Officers of "Canadian Commander" Testify Lighthouse Fog Alarm Did Not Operate.

MONTREAL, July 27.—Failure of a Miquelon lighthouse to operate its siren during a heavy fog, of conditions which prevented the horn from being heard, combined with an unexpected strong current setting in towards the land, were given as the reasons for the grounding of the C. G. M. Canadian Commander by the captain and chief officers of the ship, testifying before the wreck commissioner's court here today. The grounding of the vessel occurred on July 3 in a bay near Platte Point, Little Miquelon Island. Captain D. M. MacLean, master of the vessel, Clarence Beavers, chief officer, and Howard Pieroway, wheelman on duty at the time of the disaster, testified that the first time they heard the siren was four days after the ship had grounded. R. T. Heniker, K.C., representing the masters' interests, asked that an investigation be made regarding the allegation that the fog siren had not been sounded for four days of dense foggy weather. The case was concluded and taken on for deliberation by the wreck commissioner's court.

FIND 3 BODIES IN ST. CLAIR IN 3 DAYS

SARNIA, July 27.—The St. Clair River gave up its third human body, in as many days, today when that of Wesley Forbes, fireman on the S. S. Ramonic, who was drowned after taking cramps in an early morning swim on Tuesday last, was discovered floating in the water at Courtright, twelve miles from the point where he drowned. As the local authorities have not yet been able to find the dead man's relatives, burial of the remains will likely be made at Point Edward.

NOTED MOUNTAIN CLIMBER KILLED

BASEBALL AND SPORTING NEWS

TECS OVERCOME 4-RUN LEAD TO WIN

Carmen Hurlis Well and His Double Is Pinch Needed.

PORT HURON, July 27.—The London Tecumseh team today overcame a four-run lead of the home team and won the first game of the series, 7 to 5. In the seventh inning, with two gone, the visitors hammered Winters all over the yard, and Carmen's double was the winning blow. Winters was hit harder today than at any time during his career here, the Tecumseh making sixteen hits, including six extra-base knocks. Horne hit a homer with two on in the first inning, but after this Carmen steadied, and was never in danger.

LITTLE DRIBBLES

A huge soccer parade starting from the armory sharp at 3 o'clock will precede the soccer cup final being played at Tecumseh Park Saturday afternoon between W. O. R. and St. Andrews.

Henderson's Juvenile Pipe Band will head the parade and will be followed by the band of the Free Press Cup, the president and officers of the L. and D. F. A., the teams, Army and Navy, St. Andrews, W. O. R., R. C. R., Grand Trunks and Maple Leafs.

This will give the anxious club officials a chance to find out who the executive of the new Maple Leaf Club is.

A special meeting of the 1st W.O.R. is slated for the armory tonight at 8 o'clock. It is the request of Manager Watkins and Secretary Bill Friend that all the members of the club be present as important business will be discussed.

Grand Trunks and United Vets of St. Thomas played a 2-2 tie in the latter play of the season. The Vets led at the half time, 1-0. Davey having scored. The Grand Trunks had the edge of play at the half and had two penalties within ten minutes, both of which were scored by Hazelwood, drew even with Vets, shortly after the period opened.

The teams: United Vets—Darlington: Arnold, Boulton; Kelly, J. Baker, C. Davey, L. Davey, P. Barker, Banks, Denney, R. Davey.
 G. T. R. line-up—Knowles: Brewer, Green, Evans, Thorne, Askever, Lowrie, Hazelwood, Gellatly, Bearhill, Angus.

CHAMP HAS SLIGHT SHADE IN SPLENDID STRUGGLE

Tender Had Wide Margin For Six Rounds, Which Leonard Overcame Later On—Champ Slightly Battered.

RINGSIDE, Jersey City, N. J., July 27.—Benny Leonard, world's lightweight boxing champion, successfully defended his title against Lew Tender of Philadelphia in a 12-round, no-decision contest tonight, earning, in the opinion of a majority of the sport writers at the ringside, a narrow shade in a great struggle.

The challenger, a left-hander, furnished the champion with the most interesting battle he has had since he turned back Willie Ritchie some years ago. Tender started with great confidence and skill, carrying the fight to the champion's nose early in the rounds. He landed a series of sharp rights to the head and jaw, and brought the champion's nose early to the ring, in the first four rounds, that Tender was to have things all his own way.

Then Leonard, called the "sharp-shooter," steadied himself and began to find a mark. He carried the fight to the sixth and seventh rounds in a burst of speed and looked himself into the seventh round his mouth stuffed Tender's shoulder, and he lost a false tooth. The eighth found Tender on the aggressive again.

The ninth was an even round, and in the last three Leonard appeared to have a shade when it was over, the champion, battered more perhaps than he has been in any bout since his fight with the title from Freddie Welsh in 1917, said: "These southpaws are hard to solve."

All during his training he had battled Tender's pugilistic record, and predicted that he would finish Philadelphia within 7 rounds. Tender, too, had said that he would win by a knockout, but he had nothing to say of this. He said he was satisfied with his showing, and would seek an engagement with Leonard in a decision match.

He carried the fight to the sixth and seventh rounds in a burst of speed and looked himself into the seventh round his mouth stuffed Tender's shoulder, and he lost a false tooth. The eighth found Tender on the aggressive again.

The ninth was an even round, and in the last three Leonard appeared to have a shade when it was over, the champion, battered more perhaps than he has been in any bout since his fight with the title from Freddie Welsh in 1917, said: "These southpaws are hard to solve."

All during his training he had battled Tender's pugilistic record, and predicted that he would finish Philadelphia within 7 rounds. Tender, too, had said that he would win by a knockout, but he had nothing to say of this. He said he was satisfied with his showing, and would seek an engagement with Leonard in a decision match.

When Enter Ring, the challenger, a left-hander, furnished the champion with the most interesting battle he has had since he turned back Willie Ritchie some years ago. Tender started with great confidence and skill, carrying the fight to the champion's nose early in the rounds. He landed a series of sharp rights to the head and jaw, and brought the champion's nose early to the ring, in the first four rounds, that Tender was to have things all his own way.

Then Leonard, called the "sharp-shooter," steadied himself and began to find a mark. He carried the fight to the sixth and seventh rounds in a burst of speed and looked himself into the seventh round his mouth stuffed Tender's shoulder, and he lost a false tooth.  Buffalo..... 241 004 30X—14 13 2

Heitman, Reddy, McCabe and Bengough; Ensmann, Best, Taylor and Hill and Fisher.

BISON'S PROTEST GAME.

TORONTO, July 27.—Buffalo has protested today's game on the ground that the ball was in play when Babe Wingo was caught in the ladder ball trick in the ninth inning. Two of the three umpires now aver that Manager Wingo's contention is correct, and it is likely that President Toolie will order the game replayed.

SKEETERS LOSE, 7-2.

CAL'S FLUKE HIT BEATS ACES 3--2

Schwartz Outpitched Behan,
But Aces Dawdle On Paths.

SAGINAW, July 27.—Hamilton defeated Saginaw, 3 to 2, in 12 innings today when Calbert, Hamilton manager, who hadn't hit in five trips, ducked a high inside pitch in the final inning and then ball-caromed over El-Bett's head just inches inside the foul line for a two-bagger, scoring Gray, who had doubled with two out.

Schwartz outpitched Behan, but the Aces wasted many chances on the bases, having two men thrown out at the plate and wasting two hits and a walk in one inning without scoring.

BRANTS STOP WOLVES.

BAY CITY, July 27.—Brantford stopped Bay City's winning streak Thursday, taking the first of the series by 10 to 9 through ineffective work on the part of the Wolves' hurlers. Boothby and Helzman, Hixenbaugh proved easy for Bay City, seven runs being scored in the second inning, but Boothby was unable to hold the advantage, and was taken out with the score tied, 3 to 3.

Helzman's wildness and a couple of singles gave Brantford the winning runs in the eighth. Whaley started with two sensational catches in left field. The box-score:

STONEY LAKE FISH BREAKS RECORDS

PETERBORO, July 27.—E. B. Pepper of Hamilton has the distinction of landing the largest small-mouthed black bass ever captured in these waters. The monster bass weighed 74 pounds, was 23 inches long and 17½ inches in girth.

A local taxidermist, in business in Peterboro for 49 years, says the fish breaks all records for size. It was caught at Mount Julian, Stoney Lake.

ARREST MYSTERY MAN NEAR MOUNT PLEASANT

County Constable Believes Prisoner Alleged "Wild Man" Who Frightened Children.

Believed to be mentally unbalanced, Robert Saunders, supposedly a resident of Owen Sound, has been lodged in the Middlesex county jail pending a medical examination.

The prisoner was apprehended Thursday afternoon by county constables Alex. Shaver and William Fifield as he loitered under a railroad bridge in the vicinity of the Mount Pleasant Cemetery. He offered no resistance when placed under arrest.

This clears up the second case of alleged "wild men" reported to the police within the past week, nervous

DECLARES CANADA CAN TEACH WORLD

Calgary Speaker Tells Kiwanisians Dominion Possesses Golden Opportunity.

"Canada has the opportunity of interpreting to the world the meaning of the word Christian brotherhood, because Canada is a young nation without the jealousies and the prejudices of the nations of the old world."

Such a brotherhood would be her contribution to the world, according to Dr. Kerby of Calgary, the Chautauqua lecturer, who spoke to the Kiwanis Club Friday.

There were three great periods during which Canada's national consciousness developed, stated Dr. Kerby. The first was the French regime, next the period between the British conquest and Confederation, and then the period after Confederation.

Since Confederation three events had stood out—First, the Red rebellion, which was the French Canadian should be second, the South African war, when Canada proved herself "part and parcel of the empire," and thirdly, "the great war, when Canada helped to save the world from the despotism of a great empire."

"Today Johnny Canada is no longer a boy. He has reached strong manhood. He must be reckoned with in the councils of nations, and it will not be long before his ships are on every sea," declared Dr. Kerby.

"What is Canada's contribution to the world to be, now that she has reached manhood?" asked the speaker. "What is the name Canada and Canadians to stand for in the future?"

"To my mind, there is one word that Canada will stand for—namely, Brotherhood."

Dr. Kerby stated that the work that the Kiwanis Club was doing for the world was thrilling.

The name of the London club was spreading on account of this work through Canada and the world, he declared.

During the luncheon, music was supplied by the Shawbridge School Boys' Band. The members of the band are part of a party of boys from Shawbridge School, near Montreal, who are the guests of the London club at the boys' camp at Sage's Farm during the next few weeks.

Next week, it was announced at the meeting, the luncheon will be held at the boys' camp with the boys. The final arrangements for the Kiwanis picnic were also announced at the meeting. Special cars will be added on the day of the picnic to the 1:20 p.m. L. and P. S. train for Port Stanley. The picnic is a joint one with the St. Thomas Kiwanis Club.

Fred Lawton and Roy Lyons were the winners of the booster prizes at the Friday meeting, which were given by George Garing.

Happy At Sage's Farm.

Eighty boys and leaders are enjoying this wonderful camping weather on the flats of Mr. Sage's farm. At the beginning of the camp twenty-five boys were not able to swim, ten of these have already learned the art and the other fifteen will know how to swim before they leave the camp.

Mr. W. E. Kelly, of the Children's Aid, supplied some bouys to keep the campers from swimming too far up the river.

Rev. Mr. Gaeix of St. Thomas, is a visitor at the camp this week. Mr. E. E. Murrigh and Herb Nichols have just completed a big archway at the entrance of the camp which reads: "Welcome Ki-Y Camp." The archway is made out of wood found on the grounds.

At the camp fire last night, W. D. Davidson and Herb Easton refereed three boxing bouts between three different weights of boys. Mr. Frank Gray gave the evening camp fire story. This camp fire is held in the natural spot for such an event. It appears like a huge shell hole, the base of the hole has been leveled off for games and natural seats have been built in the bank.

Mr. Hesse was also at the camp fire last night. He brought out each boy a bar of Mack's Toffee, which, although much enjoyed by the boys, almost ruined the program, because of the fact that it almost gave some boys lockjaw, while the remainder could be heard to enjoy it.

The boys are making ready to receive the Montreal boys tomorrow afternoon. These boys, with their musical instruments, will be very popular for the next week in camp. Many Kiwanians and their friends are expected out in the evenings to enjoy the camp fire with the boys.

Court House Announces "Summer Here"

IT is now a well-established fact that the summer is here. The "three-hour" day is in vogue at the various offices at the Middlesex County Court House.

On each door is a neat little inscription indicating that it is the "long vacation period" for the entire staff, and that the hours will be "from 10 a.m. to 1 p.m."

RAINE GUILTY OF STEALING AUTO

Court Remands Prisoner Until Monday For Sentence.

Accomplice Still At Large, Being Hunted By Police.

Although Albert Judd, his counsel, raised strenuous objections, William L. Raine was found guilty in police court Friday morning of stealing an auto, owned by George H. Billings, from the corner of Richmond and King streets recently. The prisoner was remanded until Monday for sentence.

When Billings saw his car pull away from the curb, he shouted that it was being stolen.

Leslie Cromwell, a youth, chased the auto, leaped on the running-board, and grappled with Raine's companion. The car, Cromwell swore, crossed the intersection at King and Clarence streets at the rate of 25 miles an hour. As he was grappling with the other man, Raine turned and looked at him, Cromwell stated. He wore a dark suit and a straw hat. They Raine leaped from the car and sped south on Clarence street.

As the car was without a driver, it crashed into the curb, and in the excitement the other man freed himself from Cromwell's grip, and rushed down a lane. He has not been apprehended yet.

H. R. Ford and Alvin C. Ball, who were standing in front of a garage on Clarence street, identified Raine as the man who rushed past them, hat in hand. Harry C. Leckie, who was with them, said the man was going so fast he could not identify him. Ford told of finding a straw hat near the car with the initials, "F. S." in it.

Raine stated he knew Fred Sells, the other man wanted by the police, and whose arrest is expected at any time, but that he had been trying to avoid him as much as possible. He explained that he and Sells had been arrested some time ago on a charge of attacking a police officer, and that a settlement would give such an impetus to a general business that the effect would really be to help to lift the burden of the city.

On the night of the theft, Raine met Sells in Cassella's poolroom on Dundas street, the former admitted. They spoke, and then Sells walked out of the place. Shortly after, Raine was walking alone on King street when Sells pulled up alongside the curb and asked him to go for a ride. Raine knew Sells owned a car, but did not know he was not driving his own until he got in with him.

As he was about to ask him about it, Cromwell jumped on the running board of the car, forcing a struggle between the car and ran away.

When Deputy Magistrate P. H. Bartlett was summing up the case, Albert Judd objected to his finding against Raine, stating that in too many courts at the present time the magistrates were finding young men guilty on circumstantial evidence or presumption.

SAYS BUS PASSED STANDING CAR

Normal car opened both doors and stopped in the middle of the block. "We'll get you yet," he alleges they called to him.

Detective Harry Down, who was a passenger in Verner's bus Saturday declared the Normal car had passed its regular stop. The motorist stopped the car and suddenly got out of the car and was gone.

He told Verner not to care if they did take his number as he was in the right. William Knight, a former police officer, who was in the bus, corroborated the detective's evidence.

The street railway was represented by Edward Blair, and Mr. Verner by Albert M. Judd.

MAY AGAIN SIT ON SCHOOL BOARD

Members of the board, although they have not appeared since the December gathering.

This causes not a little inconvenience, the secretary points out, and will continue to do so until the rules respecting quorums is changed.

It has already been necessary to postpone one general meeting of the board, and it would not doubt have been unnecessary had the separate school trustees been in the habit of attending.

The board, officially, still consists of fourteen members, two of them non-active. A quorum must necessarily require a majority of legal members, meaning that eight of their number must be present. At a June session seven trustees appeared, and the meeting was adjourned after the regulation 30 minutes' delay.

With a board of but twelve members, the board of trustees, a legal quorum and the rules will be changed accordingly, should the separate school board still maintain its present attitude.

PEEP IN WINDOW LEADS TO ARREST

William Cockerton Assessed Ten Dollars For Rude Visit to Old Neighbors.

When William Cockerton came from Detroit to London in his "Lizzie" he little thought that it would land him in police cells. However, his species of car occasionally stops in the most out of the way places. His flivver stalled near Inkerman street and he decided to see if he could find any of his former neighbors.

As he was about to retire, George Bennett heard a noise outside his window. He noticed Cockerton walk briskly away, cross the street and take up a position near a bedroom window of a neighbor's house. Girls in this house were aroused by his peeping, so William returned to Bennett's house. Bennett and his brother dressed, went out the front door and caught the marauder.

Cockerton told the court he used to live in the house in which Bennett resides in 1912. He was looking for the inmates, he explained.

"You should have knocked on the door instead of walking around by the side of the house," the court pointed out.

While being held, Cockerton made an unsuccessful dash for freedom. Later he was turned over to an officer.

"Ten dollars and costs," concluded the deputy magistrate.

Police say Cockerton had but 44 cents in his pocket.

Saturday's Week-End and Month-End Sales Present Rare Opportunity For Economy

Tomorrow seems to be the opportune moment, the last July Saturday, and the climax of a month of sales which has extended to every department. Saturday's Sales will be general throughout the store, but owing to the quantities being limited in many cases, they will not be listed in the newspapers, but the Sales Tickets will be your guide. An absolute clearance of Summer Merchandise, which includes apparel to wear, for the balance of the Summer, and in many cases into the Fall, and in all there is splendid choice.

Millinery One-Third Less Than Half Price

You will be charmed with every one of these one and a half dozen models which we have assembled for final clearance Saturday. The very choicest hats from the show cases of which the shape itself or a part of the ornamentation would cost more than the price for the whole hat tomorrow, and many of them are admirably suited for fall wear. Small snapes for traveling and larger ones for afternoon dress. Only a dozen or so left to clear Saturday at just one-third less than half price. Sale prices $5.00 to $9.67

Light Weight--Little Price These Mohair Suits

Weigh but a few ounces. We don't know of anything else quite so light and fine for summer, and only a small amount is required to get them. The July sale has brought the price down to $18.50
Dark shades as well as light; sizes for men of all proportions.

Sport Styles That Look the Part

For wear on his outing trips, a man could ask for nothing finer. There is an outdoor suggestion to the fabrics, and the styles have "swing." The price makes this a great opportunity to buy one $35.00
