KUROPATKIN DRIVEN BACK

Russian General Retreating at all Points with Enormous Losses.

Hai Cheng Abandoned—Loss Around Liao Yang Estimated at Between 6,000 and 8,000.

St. Petersburg, Aug. 3, 10 p. m.—Whether a general engagement is already progressing around Liao Yang, between the force of General Kuropatkin and the three Japanese armies, which have been moved against them from the south and east, the decisive battle of the campaign is regarded as certain if the Japanese energetically follow up their preliminary successes of the last three days. The fighting has been of a desperate and bloody character, the Russians offering the most stubborn resistance. The losses, therefore, must be heavy on both sides. (Between 6,000 and 8,000 men is one estimate given of the Russian losses. All the estimates, however, are little better than guess work as yet, and possibly the Russian casualties may be much larger.)

The strong screen drawn around General Kuropatkin's interior position has been driven in at all points, Hai Cheng being practically abandoned without a blow. The pressure of the Japanese numbers and the failure to hold the northern position probably rendered it useless to try to hold out there.

The Russian forces last night constituted a compact chain in the form of a semi-circle around Liao Yang, extending from Anshanshan, half way between Hai Cheng and Liao Yang, to Anping, which is only thirteen miles east of Liao Yang. Unless the bulk of General Kuropatkin's army has already been withdrawn north of Liao Yang, it is difficult to see how he could now do so with such great pressure, the Japanese being almost upon his main lines. Inasmuch as portions of four army corps were engaged in the fighting up to last night, and as these corps comprise three-quarters of the whole Russian army, it seems certain that nothing except portion of the stores and munitions have yet been evacuated. Nevertheless, well informed military attaches express the opinion that General Kuropatkin will get away with the bulk of the main army if he finds the chance against him.

From the best information obtainable as to General Kuropatkin's dispositions, his forces were located this morning as follows:—

General Zearoubieffs and General Stakelberg's corps, forming right wing at Anshanshan, the First Siberian (late General Keller's) and the Tenth European Corps on the left. The recently-arrived 17th corps and the portion of General Stoessel's corps, which is not at Port Arthur, were at Liao Yang.

Intense anxiety prevails in all circles. All newspaper specials from the front are suspended, which is considered ominous.

MUST CLEAR OUT.

St. Petersburg, Aug. 3.—According to a message received from Harbin, Gen. Kuropatkin has ordered the removal from that place of all useless civilians in order to provide the greatest possible accommodation for the winter quarters of the Russian army.

COMPENSATION GIVEN.

Liverpool, Aug. 3.—The owners of the British collier Foxton Hall, which was detained at Port Arthur from the time of the first attack made by the Japanese until early in March, and which suffered damage during her detention, have received compensation from the Russian Government. The speedy settlement of the claim by Russia has greatly gratified ship owners here.

CZAR ALARMED.

St. Petersburg, Aug. 3, 5.45 p. m.—The correspondent of the Associated Press hears that Emperor Nicholas has just received a telegram at Peterhof containing alarming news.

It is also reported that Viceroy Alexieff, who had gone to Harbin on his way to Vladivostok, returned to Liao Yang, yesterday, and conferred with General Kuropatkin regarding the situation.

RUSSIANS LOSE 1,000.

Liao Yang, Tuesday, August 2.—(Delayed transmission).—The Russian attempt to push back a numerically superior force of Japanese from Kuchiatz on July 31 resulted in an admitted Russian loss of 1,000 men.

PETRIFIED PIG

A strange and unique find was made yesterday by the workmen engaged in excavating for Glenn's new warehouses in the discovery, about eight feet under the ground, of the semi-petrified carcass of a fat hog.

City Engineer Jones examined the specimen with much interest. Surrounding the bone skeleton was a petrified coating of what was the fatty flesh. It was perfectly white in color, hard and firm and waxy in appearance. It had kept its form perfectly. Mr. Jones applied a match to a portion of it and it burned much like a wax taper.

King Christian of Denmark, who is in feeble health, refuses to take the advice of his physician to seek quiet and rest.

THAT INQUEST

Hamilton, Paper Makes Pertinent Comments on Enquiry into Death of Dresden, Man.

The Hamilton Spectator, commenting editorially on the inquest upon the death of a Dresden resident, says:

William Bradt was foreman of a coroner's jury which sat last night to investigate the death of Brakeman Stonehouse at Burlington Junction. Mr. Bradt did not agree with the other gentlemen of the jury, and refused to sign the verdict of the majority. Whereupon the coroner determined that Mr. Bradt should not be paid for his services as jurymen, and has refused to sign an order for Bradt's pay!

It seems to us that that is a high-handed proceeding, even for so lofty and important a Government official as a coroner. If men are to be bulldozed into signing such verdicts as is approved of by the coroner, it will be a saving of time and money if the jurors are left at home, and the whole business done to his own liking by the coroner.

We are very much afraid that when the Ontario Government rewards a medical man for faithful political service, by giving him the dignity and emoluments of the coroner's office, it neglects to instruct him in his duty as coroner. We think that it is the jurymen and not the coroner who is responsible for the verdict. We know that in higher courts the jurymen gets paid no matter whether he agrees with or differs from his fellow-jurors in respect of the verdicts.

Perhaps the county crown attorney has something to say in the matter of coroner's inquests, and perhaps he will say it in this case.

TIES BURNED

Pere Marquette Railroad Suffers Serious Loss Near Sarnia—Cause Unknown.

Port Huron, Mich., Aug. 3.—An immense number of ties belonging to the Pere Marquette Railway, and stored on the Canadian side of the river, near Sarnia, were destroyed by fire, causing a loss which will run into thousands of dollars.

LARGE FUNERAL

The funeral of the late Rev. T. E. Harrison, of Dresden, took place yesterday at 8 a. m. in the Dresden Methodist Church. The services were conducted by Rev. R. Hobbs, Strathroy, President of the London conference, and Rev. R. G. Garbutt, Chairman of the Chatham District, assisted by Revs. S. J. Allin, of Parkhill, I. B. Walwin, of London, R. D. Hamilton, of Petrolia, G. H. Cobblestick, Chatham, and other ministers of the town and district. Several of the official members of the Empress Ave. Church, London.—Mr. Harrison's last charge—were present.

Beautiful floral offerings were sent from the Dresden and Empress Ave. churches, and from Dr. Carson, of Chatham. The remains were taken to Alliston, Ont., for interment.

A large gathering of the people of Dresden gave evidence of the esteem and affection of the people for their pastor. The widow has the sympathy of the entire community and of the church at large.

GLENGARRY'S MAN

Highland Scots Have Tendered Lord Dundonald Parliamentary Nomination in Their Constituency.

Winnipeg, Aug. 3.—A private message received here from the east says that Lord Dundonald has been offered the nomination in Glengarry, and that he will probably return to Canada and contest the seat. Glengarry is well known as a stronghold of Scots, but of recent years has received a considerable French-Canadian population.

BAND CONCERT

Another Delightful Program by the Regimental Band on the Park To-Night.

By kind permission of Col. J. B. Rankin and officers of the 24th Kent Regiment, the Band will play, weather permitting, the following program on Tecumseh Park this evening, under the direction of Watson H. Walker, Bandmaster:—

March, Sons of the Brave—Bidgood. Valse, Convent Bells—Boettger. Medley Overture, The Climax—O'Hare. Barn Dance, Jolly Dances—Round. Characteristic, Dixie Girl—Lampe. Selection, All to the Good—MacKie-Beyer. Valse, Feodora—D'Albert. Indian March, Navajo—Aistyne. Regimental March, The British Grenadiers. God Save the King.

'Twas VICTORY FOR SAINTS

St. Thomas Finally Succeeded in Downing the Chatham Tecumsehs

But Babcock's Braves will Endeavor to Retrieve Loss on Monday Next.

Chatham Tecumsehs and St. Thomas lacrosse clubs played in the latter city yesterday. Great interest was taken in the game in St. Thomas and the attendance was good. The crowd for once went away with a good taste in their mouths. They had expected to win and were not disappointed. But any team ought to win backed up by the enthusiasm furnished yesterday. The ball had scarcely been faced off when St. Thomas scored and then followed this up a few minutes after with another. The few Chathamites scattered through the grounds were given a little interest in the game when Stuart scored for the Tecumsehs. St. Thomas got another goal and at the end of the first quarter the score stood three to three.

In the second quarter St. Thomas scored two goals and added another making the score six to three. Chatham made repeated attacks on the St. Thomas goal in this quarter but goal-keeper Skelden was playing a great game and he saved the day for St. Thomas time and time again.

In the third quarter Chatham scored and St. Thomas added another. The score was 7 to 4 at the end of the third quarter.

In the last quarter Roger Hutchinson, who has been playing a great game, carried the ball up field and scored on a pretty long shot. As usual the St. Thomas team quit in the last quarter and it was only a little hard luck on the part of Chatham, that prevented them scoring time and time again. Copeland and McFarlane missed adding a game by a very narrow margin. Even the St. Thomas enthusiasts thought that the game was lost in the last quarter and they yelled for their team to play up. Several of the home boys were laid out but none of the Chatham boys sustained any injuries of moment. Chas. Lynn, the Chatham trainer, was always in evidence when there was anything doing and he always attended to the crumples. The juniors, who were tried out yesterday, are promising players and they will be heard from again. Manager Babcock went on to Buffalo but will be back at the end of the week. He expects St. Thomas here on Monday next, civic holiday, when all who love a good game of lacrosse can see as exciting and close a game of lacrosse as they desire. The management of the St. Thomas team has had a good effect as shown in yesterday's game.

THURSDAY, AUG. 4.

WHY HE SAID IT.

Liberal newspapers are asking why Dundonald should have said, in parting from Canadians, "Keep both hands on the Union Jack." They need not look far for their reason. The disrespect for much that pertains to monarchical government which has run riot in their own columns since the Dundonald incident is reason enough. If it is a crime to be a Lord, is it not a greater crime to be a King? Even the Halifax Chronicle, Mr. Fielding's organ, has descended to berating Imperialism. The Toronto Mail and Empire recently queried whether the band would play "Will He No' Come Back Again," when Dundonald sailed; to which the Chronicle vituperatively replied: "Colonial" bands may play "any old thing" they please.

"But Dundonald will not come back to Canada again, nor will any successor of him."
"The Imperial game is up in that direction."

"Another degrading 'colonial' tie has been snapped!"
It is only fair to the bulk of the Liberal voters to say that they do not endorse such an attitude on the part of their leaders and their press. Colonial ties are not degrading; colonialism do not think them so. But with utterances such as there have been on the part of public men, and with the inflammatory remarks of one section of the press, is it any wonder that Dundonald cautioned Canadians to keep both hands on the flag?

Russian papers call upon the Russian soldiers to give no quarter. "No quarter, no prisoners," should be the motto. The Japanese treat their prisoners as guests. Everything possible is done for their comfort. The sick and the wounded have the benefit of the best medical skill and trained nursing. Russia is a Christian country. Japan is not.

"Newspaper discussion," says The Globe, "both leads and follows, both reflects and inspires, the thought and habit of Parliament, but the reputation of a public man rests more largely with the press than with any other agency. His character is in his own keeping, but his reputation is often made or marred by newspaper report and comment." This is true as a general thing; but there are times when the public man places it beyond the power of the press to either mar or mend his reputation. Take for instance Sir Richard Cartwright's defence of the Jackson appointment and all that it implies. Sir Richard has deliberately sacrificed his own reputation, and has left nothing to be added by the press. Sir Richard's worst enemies in the press can do no worse than report his own words; his best friends can do no better. —Woodstock Express, Independent.

SIR JOHN KNEW THE MAN.

Brantford Courier.
Sir John Macdonald showed his discernment all right enough when in those early days he side-stepped that man Cartwright.

BRAVE OLD DICK.

Ottawa Citizen.
The Liberals should present Sir Richard Cartwright with an oil painting of himself in the heroic role of acting as lightning rod for the government on the Jackson scandal.

MOST SERIOUS RESULT.

St. James Gazette.
The following is quoted by the Gaulois from a French government report: "To cut off his head is the most serious insult that can be shown to a Cambodian; happily, his prejudice is not shared by the other people of Indo-China."

NEVER AGAIN.

Bellefleur Intelligence.
Will those little ministers at Ottawa ever look as large as men again? —Hamilton Spectator.

Never in the world. Dundonald and the public's X rays have shown them in their true characters, viz., moral dwarfs, whose souls would have room to lie full length in a peanut shell.

STOLE A JEWELLED HAND.

Pioneer, Allahabad.
A Burmese woman travelling by the day train last week was reclining in the carriage, with one of her arms out of the window, near Sitkwin, on the Burmah state railway, when some one came along the footboard and cut her arm clean off with, apparently, a sharp sword. On the lost hand were rings, with the usual accompaniment of bangles.

EVEN SO.

Brockville Times.
Every cheer at the Dundonald farewells was a nail in the coffin of the Laurier Government.

HENRI THE HEROIC.

Toronto Telegram.
If Russia were Henri Bourassa, M. P., and was required to salute the British flag, it would die first.

BOBS NOT SURE OF HIS WELCOME.

Montreal Star.
Lord Roberts says that he will not be able to come to Canada this year. He possibly thinks that this does not look like a good year for British generals in Canada.

SMALL POTATOES LAURIER.

Ottawa Citizen.
The premier refused to allow the house to adjourn for an hour later in the evening that the members who desired to do so might take leave of Lord Dundonald. As an example of smallness and partisan bitterness the action was quite in keeping with the government's attitude throughout the whole Dundonald affair.

WHAT IT SUGGESTS.

Montreal Gazette.
The stopping of a prize fight at Fort Erie is being praised by Ontario Liberal newspapers. Their present attitude suggests, though, that the many years during which prize fights were allowed to go on unchecked are a serious indictment against those responsible for the administration of justice in the province.

THEIR DEEP REGRET.

Montreal Gazette.
The Liberal organs are expressing their deep regret that the career in Canada of "so gallant a soldier and in all respects so admirable a man as Lord Dundonald has ended so ignominiously." It is with deeper regret, however, that the Liberal organs feel that too small a percentage of the population of Canada recognizes the presence of the ignominy they think should be attached to Lord Dundonald's departure.

PITY FOR SIR RICHARD.

Woodstock Express.
There is perhaps no spectacle in Canadian politics to-day more pitiable than that presented by Sir Richard Cartwright, a man of superior ability and vast experience, compelled to applaud and assist in the repudiation of the very principles which in other days he was wont to advocate with such singular power and eloquence. For years the country has rung with his stern denunciation of all the principles and practices in which he now participates. It is impossible to look on the giant in chains and not experience a feeling of pity.

THE GOVERNMENT'S DISAPPOINTMENT.

Ottawa Citizen.
It is said that the Government was convinced that there would be counter-demonstrations against Lord Dundonald in Montreal and Quebec, the government organs having done their best to stir them up. So far from anything of that nature, many French-Canadians joined in the demonstrations, as was the case in Ottawa, and there was not the slightest antagonism displayed. This is said to have chilled the spines of the cabinet even more than the tremendous popular ovations which the general received in Ontario.

DICTATOR FISHER.

Montreal Gazette.
The Huntingdon Gleaner, a Liberal newspaper that has declined to become intoxicated with the joys of office, wonders where the government gets its justification for spending $12,000,000 extra with milk at 60 cents per hundred pounds. If the Gleaner will read the fulsome eulogies the Liberal organs are now printing of Hon. Sydney Fisher it would not ask such a silly question. The $12,000,000 represents only the additional income Mr. Fisher has added to the agricultural wealth of Canada by showing the farmers how to produce a dollar's worth of crate-fatted chicken at a cost of $1.11.

GLENGARRY'S FAREWELL.

At the Dundonald farewell in Montreal Miss Maclellan sang a pathetic little appeal, Glengarry's Farewell to Dundonald, the words of which were contributed by Rev. J. U. Tanner, of Lancaster, and the music being the well-known air The March of the Cameron Men. Following are the words of the song:

So your lordship is leaving;
Dundonald, we're grieving,
To think we must part as we do;
For you've fought with a might,
And championed our right
And it pains us to bid you adieu.
Oh, we want you still near us,
Dundonald, oh, hear us,
Oh, gallant, oh, pleading don't spurn;
But come back to us early,
We're missing you sorely;
Oh, promise some day you'll return.
'Tis for us that you're bleeding,
For us interceding;
You fell, but you fell on our side;
But we'll see you up yet,
And we'll never forget,
Our dashing Dundonald, our pride.

Our farewell we address you;
Adieu, and God bless you;
For you a rich blessing increase;
And may heaven reward you,
And angels aye guard you,
God speed to Dundonald, the brave!

EVANGELIZATION OF THE WORLD

This was the theme discussed by Mr. Morgan and Mr. Wallace of the Victoria Band at Park street Methodist church last night.

Mr. Morgan spoke of the need of evangelizing the world.

Evangelization of the world in this generation means the opportunity of giving the unconverted peoples of heathen nations of the world the privilege of accepting Christ. England has been Christianized for centuries but all Englishmen are not Christians. So with our movement we aim, during our generation, at giving every man, woman and child the privilege of accepting Christ and hope they will.

When God wanted to save the world he gave it not a theology but Jesus Christ. Christ's way of working was by personal contact with each of his immediate followers; and these he sent out to proclaim the glad tidings to others. They accepted Christ and then were used of Him to win others unto himself. And to-day the greatest and sublime need of the world is for Jesus Christ. St. Paul said All men have sinned and come short of the glory of God. Jesus said, I am the way, the truth, the light.

A great many people say why read the Gospel to the heathen; it will only increase their responsibility. Let me ask, Would you like to change places with them; give them your God and you accept their dumb, blind idols. Give them the benefit of your great institution founded upon the responsible for the past nor the future, but we are responsible for the present. In China 10,000,000 souls are given to the care of the Canadian Methodist Church, and if these go out into the night the responsibility will be laid at our door.

We can evangelize the world if each one will do his or her duty. Will this great Methodist Church hurl the gospel throughout the world or will she not? The duty rests with us.

Mr. Wallace then spoke of our resources for sending the gospel. Christ fed 5,000 people with a few loaves of bread and a few fishes and all were filled and an abundant supply left over. He blessed and broke. To-day there are one thousand millions hungering for the gospel and the Master says to us "Give ye them to eat." We say "What have we to give." We are so few in numbers we can not send the gospel to these millions." But this is our duty. And either we, as the disciples of Christ, must do our duty or give up Christ. If we do our duty Christ will bless and multiply our work.

To whom much is given, of them much shall be required. God has blessed us with plenty, will we use not even our surplus to spreading His gospel. In our Canadian Banks, lying there on deposit, there are 600,000,000 of dollars, which, at 3 per cent. would pay the whole mission bill for one year. Are we robbing God that we may be comfortable ourselves? The law of sacrifice is the root of the Christian religion.

But our greatest resource is Christ. He has said, "I am with you always"; also, "If ye abide in me ye shall ask what ye will and it shall be done unto you"; also, "Ask and ye shall receive that your joy may be full." God is the great power-house and we are the channels through which that power is fed and supplied. Is there something wrong with the channels? Let us see to it that we are responsive to the will of God.

During the service a quartet was rendered by Messrs. Holman, Gifford, Morgan and Gardiner.

ROYAL HIGHLANDERS

A GATHERING OF FORMER MEMBERS OF THE BLACK WATCH.

The visit of the Black Watch Brass and Pipe Bands to Canada next month is of special interest to all Scotchmen who glory in the splendid name and record of Britain's finest fighting corps, but it is a momentous event to all former members of the corps. Many of these are scattered throughout Canada and it is safe to say that they will come hundreds of miles to hear once more the pipers of their old regiment and to hear the splendid band. All ex-members of the Black Watch are requested to communicate with the director of the Canadian tour, Mr. Stewart Houston, Massey Hall, Toronto, or Mr. W. W. Scane, Chatham, Ont. The Brass and Pipe Bands, sixty strong, will be in Chatham on Monday afternoon, September 12th.

INFLUENCE OF COLOR.

The Effect of Light and Dark Hues Upon Rooms.

In deciding what color scheme to adopt for a room the first thing to consider is from which point of the compass it receives its light. A room facing north is without sunshine, and this lack of sunshine should be supplied artificially by an abundance of yellow or red. Light coming from the north is said to be cold light, and as blue is a cold color it should never be used in such a room.

Blue can only be used in a room that is flooded with sunshine. Green can be used in a room lighted either from the north or south. In the former it should be rich and warm in quality, and the sash curtains could be either rose color or yellow. A touch of red should be introduced somewhere, as the contrast emphasizes the value of the green.

As a rule, the darkest colors are on the floor and gradually lighted toward the ceiling. The hangings should be a trifle darker than the walls and the ceiling considerably lighter than the walls.

Red seems to be universally used in halls, as they are seldom light and seem to require red to give a cheerful aspect, but it should be a bright, brilliant color to overcome the darkness of an unlighted hall. Terra cotta is not deep enough, and Pompeian and Indian reds are not rich enough.

The person who falls asleep in church is in danger of falling into diarepute.

Local Briefs

Jas. Pirie, of Valetta, was in the city to-day.

J. F. Hanrohan, of Ottawa, is in the city for a few days.

John Pringle, of Dover, was in the city to-day on business.

J. D. Piper, of Fort William, was a city visitor yesterday.

Mr. Dove, of Hamilton, spent yesterday with friends in the city.

John Henderson, of Dover, was a city visitor to-day. He accompanied John Pringle.

The Civic Holiday G. T. Ry. tickets on Saturday, Sunday and Monday are good until Thursday night.

The schooner Ontario, Capt. Frank Grandville, arrived from the north to-day with a cargo of lumber.

Fred Stone, of this city, left this afternoon on a month's trip to the Pacific Coast through the Northwest and British Columbia.

The following cricketers will compose the team who will go to Cleveland on Monday:—Messrs. Nicholl, Kenny, Wells, W. G. Richards, P. Miller, H. Dennis, S. A. Mercer, H. Pritchard, R. Richardson, E. Bell and I. Sutherland.

WERE TOUCHED

Will Quessell and Roger Hutchison were touched for their gold watches and Fred Dowling lost his money yesterday at St. Thomas. The Chatham players left their valuables and money in their clothes at the Grand Central while they were playing and when they returned found that their clothes had been rifled. The police were notified.

FAMOUS SPRINTER

J. W. White, the champion foot runner in the fat man's class, is quite elated over his recent victory on Emancipation Day—and quite rightly so. Mr. White stands without a peer in Kent County or any other County as a speedy heavyweight, and he has been doing considerable training this summer and is ready for anything that comes along.

This afternoon in the Rankin House John Lee, M. P., N. Massey and Mr. White were talking over the latter's wonderful victories in the sprinting line and Mr. Massey seemed very anxious to take Mr. White on a tour over the continent. Mr. White is very modest over his successes and receives his due praise with a manner fitting a true hero.

A race between Mr. Lee and Mr. White was talked of, but Mr. Lee thought it better to stick to parliamentary elections when running is mentioned—other people do the work then.

No man has a narrower outlook than he who is on the lookout for himself alone.

The deepest quietness has often proved to be inspiration for the highest action.

WOMAN'S WARNING

Tells President Roosevelt Angel Announced His Destruction.

Washington, August 3.—Since the President's return from Oyster Bay the White House cranks have begun again to put in their appearance. Mrs. Burgendine, about 50 years old, of Mariposa, Ill., called at the White House to warn the President against impending death. She said she was the mother of 14 children. She carried a picture of her family with her to prove her statement.

Mrs. Burgendine announced she had been advised in a vision that Mr. Roosevelt was to be blown up. To a White House official she said: "I have had a vision in which an angel appeared to me, and directed me to warn the President. I did not find out from the angel just what is going to be done to the President, but I know he is not going to be shot. The angel intimated that he is to be blown up."

"I telegraphed the President a year ago that if he went to Chicago he would be killed, but he went anyway. The spirit has appeared to me again, more angry than ever before, and has warned me that I must let the President know the danger."

A secret service man told the woman that over in the White House building the President had an office in which such warnings were received. He led her over to the office of John E. Wilkie, chief of the secret service. She was then handed over to the police to undergo an examination as to her sanity.

LIBRARY BOARD

The regular meeting of the Public Library Board was held last evening with Chairman A. Sheldrick and Messrs. S. M. Smith, Dr. Charteris, F. Stone, W. Anderson, J. U. Thibodeau and J. W. Humphrey present.

As the chairman had not arrived at the opening of the meeting Dr. Charteris was appointed acting chairman.

I. L. Davis, late secretary of the Board, stated that Mr. Twohey had asked him to act for him as secretary during his (Mr. Twohey's) absence from the city.

Miss Barassin, the librarian, was granted two weeks' vacation.

A communication from Geo. Allan re the publication of library edition of Ruskin was referred to the library committee.

G. W. Sulman presented a large photo to the library. The secretary was instructed to suitably acknowledge the gift.

The following accounts were paid: Gas Company, $4.40.

Robert Riddell, $1.60—referred.

C. W. Baxter, $9.62—referred.

The following was the librarian's report as read and received:

New borrowers, 38.

Books given out, 1,432.

Cash received for fines, $5.04.

Cash received for cards, $1.90.

Cash received County fees, 50c.

REMARKS.

1. Mrs. Koffage has some 75 or 80 historical magazines which she would like to sell to the library.

2. In regard to borrowers' application nothing has been done about the renewing of them. As it is now some people have had the use of books since last September for five cents.

Books asked for by public: St. Elmo, Our Island and their People, Crossing Elizabeth's Garden, East Lynne, Grey and Gold, Why Patty Went to College, A Princess or a Woman, Poems J. B. McKenzie, Magic Forest, People of the Whirlpool, At the Mercy of Tiberus, Yellow Von, Long Night, Pigs in Clover, Nettie Westley, Catharine Frenchman, Stone Marked Mystery, Call of the Wide.

EDITH M. BARASSIN, Librarian.

In regard to the first remark there was no action.

In regard to the second remark of the report the librarian was instructed to follow typewritten rules and regulations, and the third remark was left with the library committee.

The treasurer was authorized to draw on the City Treasurer for $125.

The salaries were ordered paid: Miss Barassin, $25; Miss Reid, $12.50, and Mr. Roesch $14.

Mr. Davis was authorized to sign cheques and orders in the absence of Secretary Twohey.

The Board then adjourned.

RUSSIA'S PERIL

The Japs May Capture Kuropatkin's Army—Only Chance of Escape to the West

(Special to The Planet).

New Chwang, Aug. 4.—Gen. Kuropatkin with one hundred thousand men is now behind the Russian forces; Gen. Oku, with an army of 50,000 men, is on their front, while flanking them on the left is Gen. Nodzu, with his division of 50,000 men.

If Gen. Kuropatkin is defeated in this battle he must either move westward or surrender. To move westward would take him away from the railroad and necessitate a wide detour to reach Liao Yang.

The foreign military attaches are with the second army en route for the front to witness the battle.

Tokio, Aug. 4.—The Japanese victors at the battle of Simoucheng have advanced and occupied Haicheng.

SACHEL OF THE SATELLITE

Miss Talker (repeating the professor's lecture on how to swim)—"And he said that when in the water you must keep your mouth shut."

Miss Caustic (sweetly)—"How in the world could you do that?"

The Hamilton Spectator talks about "That new Satellite." Methought I had a rival until I read the article and found out that it was the Planet Saturn that the Satellite belonged to. This was too Saturnine for me.

STORMONT CONSERVATIVES

Ottawa, Aug. 3.—A big demonstration was held at Newington to-day under the auspices of the Stormont County Conservative Association, when 3,000 people heard J. P. Whitney, R. R. Gamay and others discuss political issues. Mr. Gamay repeated his well known story of an alleged attempt to bribe him. Considerable interest centred in the attendance of Mr. Whitney, this being his first appearance, it is said, on a platform with Mr. Gamay. The provincial leader was laudatory in his reference to the man from Manitoulin, and the most enthusiastic prevailed. Col. McLeish, A. Brodeur, M. P., and others spoke. No reference was made to the Dundonald incident, except that Mr. Whitney expressed pleasure at meeting so many "foreigners." The gathering was an unqualified success from the standpoint of attendance and enthusiasm.

Number Seven in the Bible.

On the seventh day God ended His work.

On the seventh month Noah's ark touched the ground.

In seven days a dove was sent. Abraham pleaded seven times for Sodom.

Jacob mourned seven days for Joseph.

Jacob served seven years Rachel.

And yet another seven years more. Jacob was pursued a seven days journey by Lahan.

A plenty of seven years and a famine of seven years were foretold in Pharaoh's dream by seven fat and seven lean beasts, and seven ears of full and seven ears of blasted corn.

On the seventh day of the seventh month the children of Israel fasted seven days, and remained seven days in their tents.

Every seven years the land rested.

Every seventh day the law was read to the people.

In the destruction of Jerico seven persons bore seven trumpets seven days; on the seventh day they surrounded the walls seven times, and at the end of the seventh round the walls fell.

Solomon was seven years building the temple and fasted seven days at its dedication.

In the tabernacle were seven lamps.

The golden candlestick had seven branches.

Naaman washed seven times in the River Jordan.

Job's islets watched with him seven days and seven nights, and offered seven bullocks and seven rams for an atonement.

Our Saviour spoke seven times from the cross, on which He hung seven hours, and after His resurrection appeared seven times.

In the Revelation we read of seven churches, seven candlesticks, seven stars, seven trumpets, seven plagues, seven thunders, seven vials, seven angels and a seven-headed monster.—Philadelphia Methodist.

Weeping Willows.

When the South Sea Bubble in England collapsed one of the speculators went to Smyrna to repair his fortune. He was a friend of Alexander Pope and sent him a box of figs in which had been placed a twig of a tree. Pope planted the twig on his grounds on the shore of the Thames, not knowing of what tree it was. It grew and was a weeping willow. In 1775, when the tree was over fifty years old, one of the young British officers who came to Boston with the British army, brought a twig from the tree, which he intended to plant on his lands after the rebellion had been crushed.

John Parke Curtis, son of Mrs. Washington, going on grounds to the British camp under a flag of truce, became acquainted with the owner of the willow twig, which was wrapped in oiled silk, and obtained it from him. He planted it near his home at Abingdon, Va., here it became the progenitor of all the weeping willows in America.

TASTE FOR COMFORT

In this age of hard fact, the house beautiful yields to the house comfortable to a great extent. Perhaps it would be better to say that in this age of nerves and tastes and distaste, the house must be beautiful in order to be comfortable.

This store, at any rate, includes both comfort and taste in its house-furnishing work.

Wish everyone knew how fine a stock of Furniture we have here, subject to your approval. There is, perhaps, just the least bit of enthusiasm in the statement that you can't afford to furnish your home without coming here to see.

It's one of the coldest of facts that the choicest things are always where the power of collection is greatest.

One can afford to miss almost anything—if they want to. But we're not talking of those who just buy things, but to those who shop, who count the cost, weight, qualities, styles, appearances, and all the little round of thinkings that come up at such a time when what you have to look at and live with and be sociable to for years is to the fore

The Letter-Box

THE COMPANY IS ACTIVE.

To the Editor of The Planet:

Dear Sir,—In reference to a letter in The Planet of 3rd inst., wherein a writer styling himself "Common Sense," complains of the Council not "making" the Gas Company repair a hole in the street opposite the Police Station, I wish to say that this matter was brought to the attention of the writer by an official of the city some time since, and it was purely through an oversight that the repair was not made. I wish to say also that it is not necessary for the Council to "make" the Gas Company repair any defects occasioned by its work on the streets, since the Company is willing to satisfy the City Engineer, or other proper official, at all times as to the condition in which the streets are left.

In consideration of the above, perhaps the Council may be allowed to preserve the stiffness of their vertebrae columns to ward off the onslaughts of sentimentally "Knockers," such as he who signs himself "Common Sense."

Yours, etc.,

BOY KILLED

Drumbo, Ont., Aug. 3.—Harold Wismer, son of Henry Wismer, Dundas street, Woodstock, was killed this forenoon on the farm of John Ort, near this place. Mr. Ort was drawing in clover, and the boy fell off the load, striking the whiffle-trees, and causing the horses to start. The wheels passed over the boy's head and crushed his brains out.

When Frank and Blanch had made a short stop at Saratoga, "just to be able to say so," as Blanch said, they returned to the mountains, and the little domestic drama began. As it progressed Frank grew interested in watching the effect it had on his proud mother. To have her only son show her so much devotion before crowds of people gladdened her heart, and it was soon noticed and commented upon. She had known that Frank was from the first a little smitten with this sister of his college chum, but as he had had several mild cases before she thought nothing of it. With motherly caution she took care to ask no questions, even when Blanch told her they had visited Alice on their way to Saratoga. When the denouement came she was, as Blanch had predicted, completely taken aback. She made but little reply to his lover's tale except to laugh at him and assure him he would soon overcome it, but that night she questioned Blanch.

"I noticed Frank was very attentive to Miss Page," Blanch said, "while she seemed to avoid being left alone with him a moment. She is one of the sweetest and prettiest girls I've met in a long time, and also one of the proudest. I fell in love with her at sight and am sure Frank has, but so far as I saw she gave him no encouragement. She is poor, pretty and proud, and that tells the whole story. I imagined she believed she would not be welcomed by you."

When the last of August came and the Nasons returned to Boston, Frank and his mother were on excellent terms.

"What has come over Frank?" Edith said to Blanch one day. "He has never been so well behaved in his life. First he quit idling and began to study law as if he meant to be somebody, then he deserted his crowd of cronies for us and has acted as if we were his sole care in life ever since. What is the meaning of it, Blanch?"

"It seems so good to have him devoted to us that I am not going to ask any questions," answered Blanch.

CHAPTER XXX.

THE last day of August dawned fair in busy Boston. Summer sojourners were returning. John Nason's store was filled with new fall styles, the shoppers were crowding the streets, and the bustling, bustling life of a great city was at flood tide. Albert Page, full of business, was in his office, and Frank Nason was studying hard again. Small fortunes were being won and lost on State street, and in one smoke polluted broker's office Nicholas Frye sat watching the price of wheat. The September option opened that day at 78½, rose to 79, fell to 76½, rose to 78 and then dropped back to 76. He had margined his holdings to 71, and if it fell to that price his $50,000 would be gone and he—ruined. For many nights he had had but little sleep, and that made hideous by dreams filled with the unceasing whirr and click, click, click of the ticker. He was worn and weary with the long nervous strain and misery of seeing his fortune slowly clipped away by the clicker's tick that had come to sound like the teeth of so many little devils snapping at him. To let his holdings go, he could not, and, lured on and on by the broker's daily uttered assertion that "wheat could not go much lower, but must have a rally soon," he had kept putting up margins. Now all he could possibly raise was in the broker's hands, and when that was gone all was lost.

Frye sat and watched the blackboard where the uneven columns of quotations looked like so many little legs ever growing longer. Around him were a score of other men watching the figures. No one cared whether another won or lost in the great gambling game that ruins thousands.

It was the caldron filled with lies, false reports, fictitious sales and the hope and lust of gain that boiled and bubbled, heated by the fires of hell. And ever around that caldron the souls of men were circling, cursing their losses and gloating over their gains.

And Frye was muttering curses. So fast came the quotations that the boy could no longer record them. Instead he called them out in a drawing sing-song:

"September wheat now seventy-three—the half-five-eighths—a half-five-eighths split—now a half-three-eighths—a quarter—seventy-three!" Frye set his feet hard together and clinched his hands. Only 2 cents in price stood between him and the loss of all his twenty years' saving. All the lies he had told for miserable gain, all the miserly self denial he had practiced, all the clients he had cheated and robbed, all the hatred he had won from others, availed him not. His contemptible soul and his life almost now hung by a miserly 2 cents.

"Seventy-three—a quarter—an eighth—seventy-three—now seventy-two seven-eighths—three-quarters—five-eighths—three-quarters split—now five-eighths—a half—a half!"

Pandemonium was raging in the Chicago wheat pit, and the ticker's teeth clicked like mad.

"Seventy-two—a half—a half—three-eighths—a half—three-eighths—a quarter—seventy-two!"

Cold beads of sweat gathered on Frye's forehead. One cent more and he was ruined.

"September wheat now seventy-one seven-eighths—seven-eighths—three-quarters—seven-eighths split—now the three-quarter-five-eighths—a half—a half-five-eighths—a half—a half again—three-eighths—a quarter—an eighth—a quarter—an eighth—a quarter split—an eighth—"

"Seventy-one!"

Frye was ruined. He gave one low moan, the first and only one during those three long weeks of agony.

The devil's teeth kept snapping; the endless coils of tape kept unwinding. The boy continued his drawl, but Frye paid no heed. Only those spider legs on the wall seemed kicking at him, and that fatal seventy-one—one—kept ringing in his ears. He arose and staggered out and with bowed head made his way to the office.

Seventy-one—one—one! It was the last he heard, and then he sank forward on his desk in a stupor.

At this moment Uncle Terry, with Frye's letter in his pocket and righteous wrath in his heart, was speeding toward Boston as fast as steam could carry him.

The clear, incisive strokes of an adjacent clock proclaiming midnight awoke Frye. He raised his head, arose, lit the two gas jets and sat down.

Seventy-one—one—one!

They brought it all back to him, and now, alone in his misery, he groaned aloud, and with his despair came the dread of the morrow, when he must go forth crushed, broken, despairing, penniless.

All would know it, and all would rejoice. Out of the many that hated or feared him not one would feel a grain of pity, and he knew it.

Then his past life came back to him. He had never married, and since he had looked down upon his dead mother's face no woman's hand had sought his with tenderness. All his long life of grasping greed had been spent in money getting and money saving. No sense of right or justice had ever restrained him. Year after year he had added to his hoard, carefully invested it, and now it had all been swept away!

He took a pen and wrote a brief letter. Then he went to his tall safe, opened both doors and, taking a small, flat packet from an inner till, returned to his desk, placed that and the letter in one long envelope and sealed and directed it.

Once more his head sank forward on the desk, and he groaned aloud. For a long time he remained thus, living over the past three weeks of agony, and then there smote upon his tortured nerves the sound of many clocks striking 1. It sounded as if they were mocking him, and from far and near, some harsh and sharp, some faint in the distance, came that fatal, one, one, one! He arose and, going to a small locker in his room, grasped a half filled bottle of liquor and drank deeply.

He arose again and, taking a letter opener, crowded bits of paper into the keyhole of the door and up and down the crack. Then he closed the one window, turned out the two gas jets and opened the stopcocks again. An odor of gas soon pervaded the room, into which came only a faint light from the statehouse dome.

CHAPTER XXXI.

ALBERT PAGE had just finished reading his morning mail the first day of September when his office door opened and Uncle Terry entered.

"Well, well!" exclaimed Albert, springing to his feet. "How are you, Uncle Terry? How are your good wife and Telly, and when did you arrive, and why didn't you let me know so I could meet you?"

"Waal," answered Uncle Terry, seating himself, "I got in purty late last night an' put up at a tavern near the depot."

"But why didn't you write or wire me, so I could have met you at the train?"

"The fact on't is," replied Uncle Terry, removing his hat and laying it on the floor beside him. "I've allus pulled my own boat in this world, an' it sorter goes agin the grain now to h'ist the oars over to 'nother fellow." Then, reaching into his pocket, drawing out a letter and handing it to Albert, he added: "Bout two weeks ago I got this 'ere from that thief Frye. I was 'spectin' the gov'ment boat 'long most every day an' so couldn't cum any sooner."

Albert read the letter and gave a low whistle. "Frye must have been either very hard up when he wrote," he said, "or else the other parties are crowding him, and this is his last effort to fleece you. I have heard that he has been speculating in wheat lately, and it may be he has got caught. I hope so, so it will be easier for us to bring him to terms. I have my plans all mapped out, and I think we had best go for him at once while he is likely to be in his office." Then, calling to Frank and rapidly writing a check for $500 while that surprised young man was shaking hands with Uncle Terry, he continued: "Please go up to the station, Frank, and get an officer at once and step into the Mayvick bank on your way back and get this check cashed. We will go prepared for the worst."

When Frank had gone Uncle Terry said: "There wa'n't no need of yer gettin' money, Mr. Page. I've brung three hundred, which is all he asked fer."

"We may need more nevertheless," answered Albert, "and as I wish to make but one visit to Frye's office, it's best to go prepared." Then after filling out a writ of replevin he added: "Excuse me a moment, Mr. Terry. I will be back soon."

He was absent perhaps five minutes, and then Uncle Terry was astonished to see a strange man enter from an inner room. He wore a full black beard, smoked glasses, broad slouch hat and a clerical coat which was buttoned close to his chin. Uncle Terry looked at him in surprise, waiting for the stranger to speak.

"Don't you know me, Uncle Terry?" said the new arrival.

"By gosh, it's you, Mr. Page," exclaimed the old man, "or else I'm tuck with a change of heart!" Then he added, with a laugh, "I'd never known ye 'cept fer yer voice."

method and the ability to do so, he says, Dr. Goldberg, the discoverer, will send the method entirely free to all men who send him their name and address. He wants to hear from men who have stricture that they have been unable to get cured, prostatic trouble, sexual weakness, varicocele, lost parts, impotency, etc. His wonderful method not only cures the condition itself, but likewise all the complications, such as rheumatism, bladder or kidney trouble, heart disease, nervous debility, etc. The doctor realizes that it is one thing to make claims and another thing to back them up, so he sends you a rule not to ask for money unless he cures you, and when you are cured he feels sure that you will willingly pay him a small fee. It would seem, therefore, that it is to the best interest of every man who suffers in this way to write the doctor confidentially and lay your case before him, and if he accepts your case for treatment it is equivalent to a cure, as he does not under any consideration accept incurable cases for treatment; and remember, if he does accept your case you may say when you are cured, "He made me well, and all by his booklet on the subject, containing the 16 diplomas and certificates, entitled 'How.'"

DEAFNESS CANNOT BE CURED

by local applications, as they cannot reach the diseased portion of the ear. There is only one way to cure deafness, and that is by constitutional remedies. Deafness is caused by an inflamed condition of the mucous lining of the Eustachian Tube. When this tube is inflamed you have a rumbling sound or imperfect hearing, and when it is entirely closed, Deafness is the result, and unless the inflammation can be taken out and this tube restored to its normal condition, hearing will be destroyed forever; nine cases out of ten are caused by Catarrh, which is nothing but an inflamed condition of the mucous surfaces.

We will give One Hundred Dollars for any case of Deafness (caused by catarrh) that cannot be cured by Hall's Catarrh Cure. Send for circulars,

A WELL KNOWN ALBANY MAN

Recommends Chamberlain's Colic,
Cholera and Diarrhoea Remedy.

About eighteen months ago Mr. W. S.
Manning, of Albany, N. Y., widely known in trade circles as the representative of the Albany Chemical Co., was suffering from a protracted attack of diarrhoea. "I tried Chamberlain's Colic, Cholera and Diarrhoea Remedy," he says, "and obtained immediate relief. I cheerfully recommend this medicine to those similarly afflicted." Sold by All Druggists.

Various Methods.

All men must make their choices.
Some are wise and some are rash.
Some statements raise their voices,
And some others raise the cash.

He Had a Perpetual One.

"Riddles," they said, "do not seem to interest you?"

"No," he replied; "I married one."

VALUABLE TIME SAVED.

Slight injuries often disable a man and cause several days' loss of time and, when blood poisoning develops, sometimes result in the loss of a hand or limb. Chamberlain's Pain Balm is an antiseptic liniment. When applied to cuts, bruises and burns it causes them to heal quickly and without maturation, and prevents any danger of blood poisoning. For sale by All Druggists.

Condensed.

thought of it before. I always order two quarts and pay for two quarts, but it never measures more than three pints."

CURES COLDS IN ONE HOUR.

Many cold cures are dangerous because composed of deadening opiates.
But fragrant, healing Catarrh-ozone cures colds in one hour and is both harmless and delightful to use. Even the worst colds, sneezing, sniffeling colds with running eyes are stopped very quickly when the balsamic vapor of Catarrh-ozone is inhaled. Catarrh-ozone acts like a charm on colds, kills them outright, prevents their return a few hours later. For colds, catarrh and throat trouble use only Catarrh-ozone. Complete outfit $1.00, trial size 25c. at all druggists.

AGE OF THE EARTH.

It is in Doubt and Scientists Predict a Loss of Light and Heat—When the Sun Dies.

The time has admittedly gone by for attempting to "reconcile the facts of nature" to "a recognized phrase" with the chronology of the Bible, which makes that of the world rather less than 6,000 years.

Indeed, in the Egyptian rooms at the British Museum, the visitor can see for himself objects which go back to an authenticated period long antecedent to 4,000 years B.C., and great is the wonder produced on the minds of those who first make their acquaintance. In that same department, among the mummies, there is what is in many respects the most striking of the exhibits in the department—the body of a man who belongs to the Stone Age. It lies in an accurate representation of the peculiarly-shaped grave in which it was found, and it has been in consequence somewhat irreverently nicknamed by the habitues of the museum
"the man in the pie-dish."

The particular interest in that corpse—which men, women and even children look upon without the least thought or suggestion of the fear or horror usually inseparable from death —is that it is unquestionably the oldest exhibit in the museum; and scientists have been rather struck by the fact that the authorities of the great institution in Great Russell street have not, so to say, taken the bull by the horns, and boldly labelled that exhibit as dating from 50,000 B.C. Thus, with one single stroke of the pen, Bishop Usher's Biblical chronology is multiplied by about nine, and it may be that an even higher number would be required to satisfy the requirements of the age of that particular specimen.

How long has the earth been a planet capable of supporting not only human but all forms of life?

In an address Lord Kelvin once delivered on the subject, he gathered together the opinions of various scientific men, and, after being of interest to every thinking being, Darwin, in his "Origin of Species," stated that "in all probability a far longer period than 300,000,000 years has elapsed;" while later on, in the same book he wrote, "He who can read Sir Charles Lyell's grand work on the 'Principles of Geology,' which the future historian will recognize as having produced a revolution in natural science, yet does not admit how incomprehensibly vast have been the past periods of time, may at once close this volume."

Lord Kelvin himself—the Professor William Thomson—over 40 years ago, made an attempt to calculate the length of time during which the sun has been burning at its present rate, and in that connection he wrote: "It seems, on the whole, most probable that the sun has not illuminated the earth for 100,000,000 years, and almost certain that she has not done so for 500,000,000 years. As for the future, we may say with equal certainty that the inhabitants of the earth cannot continue to enjoy the light and heat essential to their life for many million years longer, unless new sources, now unknown to us, are prepared in the great storehouse of creation."

It is a remarkable evidence of the acute perception of Lord Kelvin's mind, as of the rare provision of his intellect, that the last words—"unless new sources now unknown to us, are prepared in the great storehouse of creation"—should have been added to that remarkable sentence.
As an example of the very extraordinary range of time given to the age of the earth, consider the following statement from Prof. Jukes'
"Students' Manual of Geology." He wrote: "Mr. Darwin estimates the time required for the denudation of the rocks of the Weald of Kent, or the erosion of the chalk hills known as the North and South Downs, at 300-000,000 years. It may be possible, perhaps, that the estimate is 100 times too great, and that the real time elapsed did not exceed 3,000-000 years; but, on the other hand, it is just as likely that the time which actually elapsed since the first commencement of the erosion, till it was nearly as complete as it now is, was really 100 times greater than his estimate, or 30,000,000,000 of years."

Prof. Phillips, in a lecture to the University of Cambridge, considered the rate of erosion between the ranges of the North and South Downs to be rather one inch a year, than Darwin's estimate of one inch in 100 years, so that on mere geological grounds he reduced the time to about a hundredth. Calculating, however, the actual thickness of all the known geological strata of the earth, he came to the conclusion that life on the earth's surface may probably date back to between 38,000-000 and 96,000,000 years.

Within the last 10 years, Prof. Sol-las of Oxford, working on new principles applied to the stratified rocks, reduced this time very considerably, for he wrote: "So far as I can at present see, the lapse of time since the beginning of the Cambrian system is probably less than 17,000,000 years, even when computed on an assumption of uniformity which to me seems contradicted by the most salient facts of geology."

What are the data, it will naturally be asked, on which calculations of this magnitude are made? Among the most important are the consideration of the underground heat which is constantly being conducted out of the earth in other words, the speed at which the earth rotates on its axis, as well as physical properties of rocks at high temperatures.

The loss of heat by conduction was Lord Kelvin's first argument for limiting the age of the earth. He found that if the earth had been losing heat in the past "with any approach to uniformity for 20,000 million years, the amount of heat lost out of the earth would have been about as much as would heat, by 100 degrees C., a quantity of ordinary surface rock of 100 times the earth's bulk. This would be more than enough to melt a mass of sugface rock equal in bulk to the whole earth. No hypothesis as to chemical action, internal fluidity, effects of pressure at great depth, or possible character of substances in the interior of the earth, possessing the smallest vestige of possibility, can justify the supposition that the earth's upper crust has remained nearly as it is, while from the whole, or from any part of the earth so great a quantity of heat has been lost."

In considering the cooling of the earth, and by tracing backward the process of cooling, Lord Kelvin came to "a definite estimate of the greatest and least number of million years which can possibly have passed since the surface of the earth was everywhere red-hot." This estimate he expressed in the following words:

"We are very ignorant as to the effects of high temperatures in altering the conductivities and specific heats and melting temperatures of rocks, and as to their latent heat of fusion.
We must, therefore, allow very wide limits in such an estimate as I have attempted to make; but I think we may, with much probability, say that the consolidation cannot have taken place less than 20,000,000 years ago, or we should now have more underground heat than we actually have;
nor more than 400,000,000 years ago, or we should now have less underground heat than we actually have."

A MAN HATES HIMSELF

When he wakes up with headache and a bad taste in the mouth. Something is needed to settle the stomach, clear away the dull, heavy feeling and create a little appetite. Just get a tumbler of water, some sugar, and pour in a stiff dose of Nerviline.
You'll pick up immediately and feel tip-top in a few minutes. Nerviline hasn't an equal for a condition of this kind. It stimulates, cures the headache, relieves the sick feeling and fits you for a hard day's work. Try Nerviline. Large bottles cost 25c.

Wars and Births.

Statistics of population seem to show that after long and severe wars in which many men are killed and the male part of a country's population is greatly decreased there is for several years a preponderating birth of male children until the normal proportion between the sexes is restored. This seems to have been noted after the Thirty Years' war in Germany, after the Napoleonic war in France and even in more recent times after the siege of Paris.

ECHOES FROM ERIEAU

Mrs. Richardson, of Adelaide St., is visiting at Hazeldean Cottage.

Misses Beatrice and Nora VonGuntten are guests at Mushroom Cottage.

Miss Lulu Merritt, of Louisville, is expected to-morrow on a visit to the Eau.

Last evening was a poor one for the fishermen. Very few catches were made.

J. W. Young, of Sandy-Knowe, spent yesterday at St. Thomas—and he hasn't got back yet.

Mr. and Mrs. W. G. Merritt and family are spending the week with friends at Outlaw's Inn.

Erieau residents are enjoying ravishing sunsets these evenings. Their variegated beauty defies attempts at description.

Several delightful sailing parties were out yesterday. The wind, however, was very weak and uncertain, although the day was delightful.

A class of five young Maple City maidens has been formed for the purpose of "learning to dive." From all reports there are many amusing incidents in connection therewith, and the raft at Outlaw's Inn would tell many a tale if it could.

Mrs. David Spicer and daughter Lillian and sons Edwin and Fred are guests of Mrs. C. B. Moore. We were in error when we stated the other day that Miss Lillian Spicer had accepted a clerkship in Mr. Moore's grocery. Miss Spicer is merely visiting her grandparents, Mr. and Mrs. C. B. Moore.

WORLD OF SPORT

BOWLING

GARNER HOUSE LOST.

The Garner House team lost to Dr. J. L. Bray's rink last evening in an exciting contest. The winners were only one shot to the good at the conclusion of the 18 ends.

The score:—

Garner House.

J. E. Thomas,
J. G. O'Neill,
J. S. Black,
R. G. Fleming, skip—21.

Dr. Bray's Rink.

W. Robinson,
J. W. Humphrey,
J. W. Webb,
J. L. Bray, skip—22.

The winners of last night's game will play L. E. Tillson's rink.

The fourth of a series of games was held yesterday afternoon on Tecumseh Park between the Garner House Pie Eaters and the Bizzy Kazzos, resulting in a score of 11 to 12 in favor of the Kazzos. The Pie Eaters saw they were up against it shortly after the start off. The Bizzy Kazzos were right on their job every minute. R. G. Fleming took it very much to heart, but will show them a few fancy twists next time.

CRICKET

The cricketers are turning out pretty well to practise these days, getting in shape for their game next Monday—civic holiday here—at Cleveland.

TELEGRAPH BRIEFS

Cholera is epidemic in Persia and is causing hundreds of deaths.

Natural gas has been found in the vicinity of Sheep Creek, near Calgary.

The steamship Halifax brought over 350 French immigrants, accompanied by three priests, who will settle near Winnipeg.

The Provincial Firemen's Association met at Milton and elected officers. A fireman's tournament will be held there to-day.

The Embassies at Constantinople have been warned that the Macedonian revolutionists are planning to kidnap a foreign Consul in order to force intervention.

Heavy thunderstorms were reported in Manitoba yesterday. The Canadian Northern crop report, issued yesterday morning, gives a favorable account of the crops and weather. Cutting of hay, oats and barley has commenced in some sections of the west.

A PROTEST

"The fast driving on Queen street and the rushing up and down of automobiles on that street is something terrible," said Robert Coyle to a Planet reporter this morning. "The residents of Queen street have time after time asked for police protection and not once have they got it. I was asked by a prominent citizen who lives on Queen street to act in my official capacity as constable and arrest some of the offenders, and will have to do it if the police—whom we pay for doing it—will not. The lives of children especially are greatly endangered by this reckless speeding of carriages and autos and it's a shame it is not stopped."

Our Sale of MEN'S SUITS at $10 is the Talk of the City..

You may choose any suit in the store for $10.00. This is the second time in the history of our clothing business that we have made such an offer. It means much here, with our reputation for selling only the Best Grades of Clothing.

It's an opportunity to choose from the very finest Suits that are made. The best turned out by such high-grade makers as New Method People and others of like standing in the clothing world. Suits never intended to be sold at this price. It makes no difference what they cost us or what they have been selling for, whether its $12.50, $15.00 or $17.50, they're all at the same price, $10.00.

You may say, How can we do this? The reason is: For each lot of suits in stock now, we had originally many times the number and on them we made our regular profit. We feel as though we can afford to take a loss on the balance, as the sizes in some of the lots are now somewhat broken. Still you'll have no trouble in being fitted, as there are Hundreds of Suits to select from, and in the entire assortment there are plenty of all sizes from 33 to 46, and all you pay is $10.00.
