Ruled Destiny!

CHAPTER XXVII.
A BLOW THAT STUNNED.

FLORIS lay awake that night thinking of this which had befallen her. The passionate words, the pleading voice, rang in her ears so that she could not sleep, could not think. She went about the house the next day like a wan ghost, so pale and quiet, and yet so lovely in her pallor and quietude, that even Mrs. Sinclair smiled through her spectacles admiringly.

"You were right to call yourself Lillian, my dear," she said. "You are like a lily broken down by rain, this morning; but I don't like to see you so pale. You must not do any work to-day."

The day wore on, the bells filled the soft spring air, with their melody, and as the sun began to slip behind the hills, she stole out to keep her appointment.

As she reached the square, glowing bravely in his budding foliage and sweet with the scent of almond blossoms, she saw him pacing to and fro, his arms folded on his breast, the sun shining on the close-cut, iron-gray hair.

He turned and saw her, and came toward her with that peculiar suppressed eagerness which belongs to a lover who is still in the agonies of suspense, and raised his hat. Floris gave him her hand, and he walked beside her to the seat.

"It was good of you to come," he said at last. "I scarcely dared to hope that you would grant my request; it seemed a bold and presumptuous one while I made it, but after I left you it grew in my mind to be audacious. And yet I could not say all I wished to say last night before your friend. Ah, yes, it was good of you to come."

Floris looked straight before her; his voice seemed to sound as if from a distance and mingled with the strains of the brass band on the quay. "I had promised," she said, in a low voice; "but I am sorry."

"Ah, do not say that," he broke in. "If you knew how I have looked forward to this meeting how I have counted the hours—"

He stopped, and his white, thin hand went to his lips, as if to repress the eagerness and passion with which he had begun to speak, for Floris had shrunk slightly.

"I forgive me—I am too impetuous," he pleaded; "but the depth of my love for you must be my excuse. Miss Wood, I have asked you to meet me here that I may have a precious opportunity of telling you how devotedly I love you, and tell you what sort and manner of man it is who dares to lift his eyes to you. Love, they say, levels all distinctions; but I feel that there is a gulf between us which only your charity and mercy can bridge over."

He paused, and Floris saw the hand resting on the seat near her elbow tremble like a leaf in the breeze. "Last night, when I spoke to you— with the mad recklessness of a man possessed with one idea, one hope, one mad longing and desire, I expected, I dreaded that you would send me from you with a word of contempt and anger. Miss Wood, it would have been only just contempt and well-merited anger. Who am I, that I should dare to speak of love to such as you? Who am I? I will tell you. I was once a gentleman, have been an adventurer and a gambler, for Heaven's sake, do not turn away. Hear me out," for Floris had shrunk away from him slightly but perceptibly. "Hear me out, I beseech you," he pleaded, moistening his lips and clutching the seat.

"I say that I was an adventurer and gambler, yet a change has come over my life, my very thoughts. Fate favored me; I saw you again in the quiet sanctity of your home; the reverence which you had filled me with leaped into a love so deep and passionate that I could not repress its utterance. Though I felt that you must drive me from you, as I deserved to be driven, I must speak, I must tell you all that your beauty, your purity, your goodness have wrought in me."

Floris roused herself from her reverie and raised her head, but he put up his hand slowly. "Do not answer me yet. Give me a few more minutes, a few kind words, then—then do with me what you will. I have said that I am a gentleman by birth; but I am poor—oh, I know you so well, though I have seen you so few times that I know money, wealth or poverty would make little difference to you! I am poor. I could be a rich man yet, for I have learned some skill at the gambling table, but all that is passed. I have touched my last card, come what will. From the hour I first saw you I resolved that my life, if I decided to keep it, should become a changed one. In the future I would place myself in the ranks with honest men, would leave the old life of adventure and trickery forever. There may be little chance for me in the future, and yet—and yet I am not without hope. I am not an old man, I am younger than you think," and he smiled faintly, "though my hair has gone gray and the life I have led has left its marks upon my face. I am young enough to hope that, if you will trust yourself to me, I can make a place for you in the world in which you would be secure. I am young enough to feel ambition, an honorable ambition, thrill through every nerve at the prospect of a life spent in devotion to you. Will you accept that life? Will you trust me? Will you be my wife?"

He bent over her as he spoke and extended his hand tremblingly toward her, his face white and working, his eyes pleadingly fixed on hers. Floris sat motionless, looking beyond him with eyes that saw nothing of the lovely almond blossoms or the fair scene stretched at her feet. What should she say to him? His words, his manner of saying them, moved her as deeply as it was possible for her to be moved by voice or words. That he loved her she could not doubt, passionate earnestness had rung in every tone. He had not asked her to love him, he did not seem to expect it, he had asked her to trust him, to be his wife, to share and encourage his struggles toward a better life! Should she say "Yes"? Should she trust him? What was there left to live for? No friends, her lover false and treacherous, no object in life. Why should she not become of some use in the social scheme, and let this man take her? Her silence tortured him. "Ah," he breathed. "I see it is

You Feel Fine

Fatigue is the result of poisons in the system, the waste matter resulting from the activities of life. The kidneys have failed to filter these poisons from the blood and you are tired. But awaken the kidneys and liver by using Dr. Chase's Kidney-Liver Pills and you soon feel fine. The poisons are swept from the system, the pains and aches are gone and you are ready for work and for play.

"Do not," he said, quickly; "you shall tell me some other time. Oh, it is the present and the future for which I am begging. Trust yourself to me, say 'I will be your wife,' and all will be well; I know it, I feel it. I will make the remainder of your life so happy that the past, sad though it may have been, shall seem like a dream from which my love has awakened you!"

She hung her head. "I—I do not ask you to love me, not now at once," he went on. "In time—"

She raised her eyes and looked at him, and the look made his heart grow cold for a moment.

"No," she said, in a low voice, "you have not asked me to love you. Had you done so, I would have answered you before this, at once, I cannot love you."

His face went from the faint flush which hope had implanted there to a very wan pallor.

"I cannot love you," she said, bravely and firmly. "I have no power of loving left! My heart is like a stone."

She pressed her hand to her left side with a piteous little gesture which wrung his heart.

"It is as if it were dead," she went on, still in the low, quivering voice. "There can be no such thing as love for me. Is it not right that I should tell you then, who have been so frank with me?" and she turned her large eyes on him piteously.

He bit his lip and was silent. (To be Continued.)

When you need Footwear—make it Goodrich

WHEN these remarkable Boots and Shoes first appeared on the market some years ago, much comment was made on their unusual wearing qualities.

Improvements are continually being made in the "Hi-Press" line by the Goodrich people and they are still head and shoulders above any other Boots and Shoes made—in wear, comfort and economy.

All styles—boots for fishermen, farmers, miners, construction men, sportsmen, etc. All with the Red Line 'Round the Top.

YOU men who often get out of doors and need good, strong rubbers that will give you real service—here's just the thing for you—the "Hi-Press" Heavy Dull Sandal.

The best wearing rubber on the market—bar none. Close fitting, comfortable. Has a sole of that famous Red-brown Rubber which has given "Hi-Press" Boots such a name for wear. The balance of the sandal is black.

We strongly recommend this Goodrich-made footwear. We know all brands and this is unquestionably the best.

A Crying Shame.

Editor Evening Telegram.

Dear Sir,—I think it is about time for the people of this Dominion to awake and try and realize what other people are doing. I often wonder why they don't, but they will, and when they do someone will have to answer for the insult that has been given the returned soldiers by sending Police Sgt. O'Neill away on the Labrador with a commission as 1st Lieut. I call it a crying shame; and I wonder at the returned soldiers for allowing it. Is this how the returned soldiers are going to be treated after all they have done for their country? I am not objecting to this man going down on the Labrador, but what I do object to is he being allowed to go in khaki uniform. What is wrong with the Police Sgt. uniform, if he is ashamed to go in it? If he wants to wear a khaki uniform, why not let him volunteer. There are men older than he is in France to-day, and he will not be the first policeman to fight for his country. Some of the police gained honours, but they did not gain them the way O'Neill did. He is in a uniform to-day which should be a returned hero's.

I think the returned men are very quiet to allow such a thing to go on without making an effort to stop it. What is their Association doing now? Will any protest be made? If not then they haven't much regard for themselves or for the people who have given their sons to fight in answer to their call for recruits. What did O'Neill ever do? Why was this Commission given him? Who got it for him? These are the questions the public are asking themselves. Will someone answer?

Hoping the returned soldiers will take this important matter up, and thanking you for space Mr. Editor, I remain, yours truly,
July 20, 1918. "FAIR PLAY."

Whether from city or country find themselves living under an unusual strain. The unusual work necessitates the use of different muscles and this development demands a good supply of pure, rich blood. Because it goes directly to the formation of new blood, Dr. Chase's Nerve Food is of the greatest assistance in building up new cells and tissues and strengthening the muscles.

Flower Day.

In aid of the French Red Cross, Mrs. Charles Harvey is organizing the Annual Flower Day to be held Saturday, July 27th. It should be our proud boast that Newfoundland this year sends a larger sum than before to our great Allies, the French, who with the Belgians had first to bear the onslaught of the enemy; who have sacrificed and suffered most, and whose resources are being strained to the utmost.

Will all those who have flowers reserve as many as possible next week, and send them on Friday, July 26th, to Mrs. C. Harvey, Musgrave Terrace, Gower Street, and so help the French Red Cross.

AT REST.—The funeral of the late Mrs. A. M. McKay took place yesterday afternoon, and was very largely attended. Interment was at the General Protestant Cemetery, the Rev. Gordon Dickie, M.A., of St. Andrew's, and Rev. W. Graham officiating at the graveside.

The Week's War.

The new German drive has dashed itself to pieces on the stone wall of allied resistance, and far from reaching its objective has been halted almost ere it commenced. Five hours after it was launched the attack was definitely held up on the whole front East of Rheims, and the only gains worth mentioning were in the neighbourhood of the Souain Road and Prunay at which points they succeeded in penetrating to a depth of one and one half miles on a very narrow front. Strong counter attacks at these places were immediately initiated by the French, and carried out with a measure of success. On the West fronting Rheims in the early hours of their advance the Germans succeeded in getting across the Marne. The bombardment preceding the attack was opened by the enemy shortly after midnight. Sunday and lasted until 4.30 Monday morning, when the advance was made under cover of mists which are particularly heavy in the Marne Valley at this hour. The French intelligence department had been well served and correct dispositions were rapidly and properly made to meet the rush. Military observers watching the progress of the battle, were confident that the Germans have lost their punch. The number of troops employed by the enemy is estimated to be between 700,000 and 800,000. The present offensive is the most ambitious stroke made by the enemy since March 1st, and the apparent purpose was somewhat similar to that of their May attack along the Aisne. Some new features are shown by the bringing up of naval guns behind the German lines, these having a greater bombarding range than the field guns and projectiles were thrown into many towns far beyond the actual battle area. Up to the present the French and Americans only have been generally engaged, and their successes have been exceedingly notable. The Americans from late reports having captured the town of Broetry, and in the region of Soissons, made a bag of 4,000 prisoners besides many guns and considerable war material. The French have taken the offensive and delivered an attack over a 25 mile front, resulting in the capture of several thousand prisoners, and in addition to this have occupied the heights overlooking Fontenoy, on the left of the German flank. This movement is menacing to the enemy and he is faced with the alternative of withdrawing his troops from the Marne front or taking the risk of having them pounded to pieces. That Foch's moment has arrived is now clear and when his carefully planned attack was projected, it went forward with all the pomp and circumstance of war, with every department, every weapon and every available man in play. The object of this thrust is to get sufficient artillery into position to keep the Germans from using their railway lines around Soissons. This accomplished, movement of the enemy between Chateau Thierry and Rheims becomes impossible. A new element in Foch's attack, which took the Germans by surprise was the absence of any initial artillery preparation, and infantry and tanks moved forward, supported by barrage fire only. The indications now are that the object of Foch's strategy has been attained, the enemy's railway communications having been interrupted, preventing him from bringing up reserves, upon the use of which great regiments were anticipated. By these manoeuvres it is possible that Soissons may fall into the hands of the Allies. Should this happen it will mean the evacuation by the Germans of the entire Marne salient. The battle still rages with considerable fury along the Franco-American front. Latest dispatches, however, do not mention that the British armies in the North have yet been called upon to bear any considerable part in the struggle. From this it may be inferred that the enemy intended to break through the French and American lines, and having rolled them up to turn his attention to the British. The order from Foch for the whole line to advance may be given at any moment. When the hour strikes for this, it will be the beginning of the end.

Very little news is coming in from other theatres, the operations on the Western front overshadowing all others. Fighting in Palestine, where the Turks are being persistently harassed, continues active, and in a recent engagement six hundred prisoners, half of whom were Germans, were taken by the British. From far off Siberia but the barest details filter through. Allied troops being sent to that country via Vladivostok, and Japan has agreed to reinforce these with several divisions. Since the Austrian retreat from the Piave (Italian) front, only minor engagements have taken place. There is no thought at present of the Austrians organizing a new offensive against Italy, they being too much occupied with other troubles, which are taking the whole attention of the Administration. The determination expressed at the recent Imperial and Press Conferences in London, to continue the war until a

Impressive Ceremony at Littledale.

On Tuesday morning at Littledale, His Grace Archbishop Roche conducted the very impressive and beautiful ceremonies of Religious Profession and Reception of several young ladies into the Order of Mercy. At 8.30 His Grace, vested in cope and mitre, and preceded by the young novices and postulants, and attended by Rt. Rev. Mr. McDermott, V.G., Rt. Rev. Mr. Reardon and Rev. Father Rawlins, entered the Convent Chapel, and proceeded with the ceremony. The preliminaries over, the Archbishop, divested of cope and mitre, began the celebration of Holy Mass. The entire ceremony was strikingly beautiful, and especially so at the junctures when the newly-professed Sisters, just about to receive Holy Communion from the hands of His Grace, signed their vows; and when the newly received Sisters returned to the Chapel robed in the sombre garb of religion after having cast aside the shimmering bridal robes, attired in which they had previously entered—indeed nothing so solemn and impressive had ever previously taken place at Littledale. The perfect ease and precision with which His Grace conducted the entire ceremony; the large number of aspirants to the religious life, twelve in all; the very practical, eloquent and impressive sermon delivered by Mr. McDermott; the exquisite singing of the choir; the tastefully adorned altar and sanctuary—the beautiful flowers, whose fragrance wafted the thoughts of all Heavenwards—and the glorious sunshine that enveloped the entire surroundings within its brilliant shafts, and sent a thrill of joy to the hearts of the youthful souls who were freely and voluntarily giving up all—parents, friends and worldly pleasures—to follow Him who had chosen them, and who themselves had chosen the "better part," and imparting, as it were, upon them and the large congregation of clergy and relatives and friends present a special blessing from on high. Benediction of the Most Blessed Sacrament, imparted by Rev. Fr. Rawlins, concluded a most beautiful and solemn ceremony. By His Grace much pleasure and joy was assuredly experienced. His has ever been a zealous mission, and great desire to spread the spirit of religion abroad over Newfoundland, and the Archdiocese of Coventry and Lichfield, and in course of construction, demands a corresponding increase in the number of Sisters to carry on the noble and self-sacrificing work.

The Man From Torbay

Oh, a strapping fellow came out from Torbay. He sold all his fish and went home the same day. Put a "spot on the crackle" and said of brave "Foch". He's a terror for Hokin' the Germans, by gosh. And when he was sat with his wife at their tea. There's no boots said he, like the Big Katch for me. I've sailed over many long miles of the blue. Pogie fishing I was in America, too. To my knees in the water when folks were asleep. I hauled in my trap on the salt rolling deep. But my feet were warm as toast. Kate makes for me. There's no boots, said he, like the Big Katch for me. I have worn lots of rubbers, the big ones and small. I wore them in spring time and in the wet fall. But the rubbers that Hickman sell they are so neat. That soon all the others must take a back seat. All those who enjoy them with this will agree. There's no boots, said he, like the Big Katch for me. His wife looked upon him and said "Tom, my boy, I am glad that the Big Katch to-day you enjoy. For I've known you to spend in the past lots of 'dough' For boots that were not worth tuppence, I know." You are right, dearest Kate, they are beauties, by Gee. There's no boots, said he, like the Big Katch for me.

AIR BOMBING THE ENEMY.

PARIS, To-day. Yesterday our men in collaboration with British squadrons, continued their work along the whole front; 20 enemy machines were downed or put out of control by our pilots and two captive balloons were burned. The British airmen destroyed seven German machines. Our bombers continued their expeditions against the crossings of the Marne. A foot bridge, west of Reul, was bombed and demolished, canionments and troop concentrations at Culchy le Chateau, Vaughn Ravine at Tere on Tardouise, and in the region of Oetilly, were attacked with machine guns or bombs, the troops being dispersed. Stations in the rear areas were sprinkled with projectiles and fires broke out in the projections of Amfontaine and Fismes. Heavy explosions were observed at Pontavert; 22 tons of bombs, two British squadrons dropped 2 tons and a half of explosives with excellent results.

BELGIAN ACTIVITIES.

BELGIAN COMMUNIQUE, To-day. Our artillery shelled the enemy communications between Houthoulst and St. Aden; bomb fighting took place near Dixmude and three were patrol encounters across the front and enemy reconnoitering party trying to occupy one of our posts north of Neuport was repulsed.

IN THE EAST.

EASTERN THEATRE, To-day.
Patrol encounters took place on the Struma where the Germans captured several Bulgarian prisoners. Both armies are active on the Struma in the region of Doiran and West of Vardar.

WAR REVIEW.

(By the A.P.)—Notwithstanding the fact that the Germans have thrown large reinforcements into the new battle line between Soissons and the region of Chateau Thierry, they were, thus far, unable to break through the line of the onslaughts the American and French troops are making against them. The Germans have not yet been able to push their line further east into the deep triangular salient which has been formed by the Americans and French troops, and successfully withstood a terrific counter attack by the enemy. The Germans have been unable to gain the plateau southeast of Soissons, where the Allied guns dominate this important strategic town. The gains of Friday were on the 25 mile line and on the southern flank, Northwest of Chateau Thierry. The Americans were particularly violent throughout the day. Around Soissons and in the region of Chateau Thierry the Germans sent in large forces of reserves in an endeavour to push back the Allied troops. Here the American artillery did not allow the Germans to surround many of the enemy and aiding greatly in staying off the Germans. In the sectors where the Germans were fighting the most desperate work, Chateau Thierry, the German line was driven in upon the plateau Northwest of North of the line, and to the heights to the North of Courchamps, the former position representing a gain of 3 1/2 miles from the point of the original departure at Torcy. While it is not possible yet, geographically, to limit with exactitude the gains made in the past few days' fighting along the front by the French and Americans, it is known that at its deepest point the penetration has reached another 25 miles, and that over the whole 25 miles it ranges down to about 2 miles. In addition to the infliction of very heavy casualties on the enemy, the French and American forces up to the present have taken more than 17,000 prisoners, including two Generals, with their Chiefs of Staff and 360 cannon. The offensive of the entire west front in France, seems to have shifted from the hands of the Germans to those of the Entente. East and west of Rheims where the Germans last Monday started a battle over a 45 mile front from Chateau Thierry to Eastern Champagne, the enemy is now on the defensive on most of these sectors. The German offensive at Chateau Thierry where there is an additional 10 miles where the Germans lose additional ground along the Marne to the French and Italian troops. The Germans have not seen fit to resume the fighting. In the region Southwest of Ypres, the British carried out another successful penetration into the German lines, capturing the village of Meteran, a point of strategic value for obtaining a further gain ground. The two men-made prisoners, and the loss of some machine guns.

LONDON, To-day. The newspapers to-day give prominence to a report of a new type of British aeroplane which, having been tested at the front with the greatest success, is about to be employed here in large numbers. No technical details are given, but it is said the new machine has enormous speed and climbing power. It is capable of carrying a great weight in bombs, machine guns and other equipment, and of attaining a height of twenty thousand feet in an astonishingly short time. It is said the machine can come long distances at a WAR REVIEW. (By the A.P.)—Notwithstanding the fact that the Germans have thrown large reinforcements into the new battle line between Soissons and the region of Chateau Thierry, they now seem to have been able to stem the tide of the onslaughts the American and French troops are making against them. Friday saw the Americans and French batter their way further east into the deep triangular salient which has Soissons, Rheims and Chateau Thierry as its vertices and successfully withstood a terrific counter attack by the enemy. On the plateau southwest of Soissons, where the Allied guns dominate this important strategic town. The gains of Friday were carried to their greatest depth in the center of the North-west of Chateau Thierry, where the Americans are holding forth, the fighting was particularly violent throughout the day. Around Soissons and in the region of Chaudun, where the Germans seem to be pushing back the Allied troops. Here the American artillery did notable work, killing and wounding many of the enemy and aiding greatly in staying off the Germans. In the sectors where the Americans are fighting Northwest of Chateau Thierry, the German line was driven in upon the plateau Northwest of Bonnes, and to the heights to the North of Courchamps, the former position presenting a gain of 3 1/2 miles from the point of the original departure at Torcy. While it is not possible yet to geographically limit the extent of the gains made in the two days' fighting along the front by the French and Americans, it is known that at its deepest point the penetration has reached approximately 7 miles, and that over the whole front it ranges down to about 2 miles. In addition to the infliction of very heavy casualties on the enemy, the French and American forces up to the present have taken more than 17,000 prisoners, including two Generals with their Chiefs of Staff and 360 cannon. The offensive of the entire front in France seems to have shifted from the hands of the Germans to those of the Entente. East and west of Rheims where the Germans last Monday started a battle over a 65 mile front from Chateau Thierry to Eastern Champagne, the drama has shifted to the hands of the Entente. It is known that at its deepest point the penetration has reached approximately 7 miles, and that over the whole front it ranges down to about 2 miles. In addition to the infliction of very heavy casualties on the enemy, the French and American forces up to the present have taken more than 17,000 prisoners, including two Generals with their Chiefs of Staff and 360 cannon.

WHAT WILL THEY DO? LONDON, To-day. What the Germans are going to do on the battle front from Rheims to the Marne and thence to the Aisne is the question which occupies most of the military and editorial commentators in the morning newspapers.

Summer School. Yesterday afternoon, Sergt. Spencer of the Royal Nfld. Regiment, by permission of the Commanding Officer, drilled the male teachers of St. John's on the use of the rifle. The school was a very interesting, as well as instructive one.

Mrs. Bristol continued her series of lectures on the use of Dramatization in connection with the Teaching of Languages. Miss Warrall gave a lesson in Physical Culture to section C. Prof. Hutton gave a very instructive lecture on "Teaching Singing in Schools." He worked the teachers to such a pitch of enthusiasm that they all began to sing, thus emphasizing the practical side of his lecture.

At 12:30 Dr. V. P. Burke, the Principal, announced that the teachers were to have a half holiday this afternoon, which intelligence was received with enthusiasm.

100,000 RESERVES. PARIS, To-day. The Germans have been forced to bring up 100,000 reserves to the army of the German Crown Prince as a result of yesterday's fighting, and French and American air operations have been enabled to strongly fortify the newly gained positions southwest of Soissons, says Marcel Marin in the Echo de Paris.

AIR RAIDS INTO GERMANY. LONDON, To-day. British bombing squadrons have again invaded Germany and have gone beyond the Rhine. An announcement from the air ministry says that bombs were dropped on the Benz works at Minchen, on the railway station at Hildeberg, on blast furnaces in the Saar district and on a powder factory at Oberdorf; the latter was bombed yesterday. A fire resulted in the Benz works and railway trains also were attacked.

Nfld. Scotch Cured Herring.

While New York operators are gradually adjusting their affairs in the matter of cold storage for their herring, there is still a shortage of available space, and, therefore, a restricted buying movement. Stocks now coming forward from St. John's are for the most part winter and spring herring. There is practically no fall herring to be had in Newfoundland; at least there has been a cleanup in first hands. The winter herring—especially that cured before the beginning of the frigid weather—is considered to be of a quality superior to the spring herring. Merchants are of the opinion that the spring herring cured when the temperature was lowest are not properly cured and will hardly stand up in the warm weather here. The improvement of these fish in cold storage would be slight and it is doubtful if the fish would show any improvement, because of the fact that frozen herring do not absorb the salt properly, and, therefore, are always mildly cured. The prices in this market have not been as low as they were a few weeks ago, indeed, a wide range of prices has been in order. Quality has been the determining factor in the matter of price, for there is a small demand in evidence, and buyers are recognizing more and more every day that the quality of the coming season will be limited at best. Winter herring of Scotch cure has been bringing from $22 to $25, according to quality, spring herring has averaged about $20 to $23, and fall caught fat herring has been bringing in a limited way $24 to $25 per barrel, and is expected to be re-established. Packers and merchants in Newfoundland are still asking good prices for their fish, but there are instances where sales of spring herring have been made as low as $12 per barrel, and up to $14 for fancy quality—Fishing Gazette.

Plain gelatine flavored with prunes cut into small pieces make a pleasant dessert. Cold boiled codfish served with mayonnaise seasoned with garlic is an excellent French dish. The water in which corned beef has been cooked can be saved for boiling cabbage or beans. Cod steak can be fried in olive oil with a sauce of much pepper and fresh tomatoes. Corned beef should be soaked in cold water and put into fresh water when cooked. Berries and early apples are much more like fresh fruit when canned without sugar. When necessary to add water to baked beans be sure that it is boiling water. If a little fruit is left over from a meal cook it so that it need not be wasted. Soup should be boiled fifteen or twenty minutes after the thickening is added.

Published by Authority.

Under the provisions of the War Measures Act, 1914, His Excellency the Governor in Council has been pleased to order that the following Regulations respecting Lights shall come into effect as and from this date. W. W. HALFYARD, Colonial Secretary. Dept of Colonial Secretary, July 16th, 1918.

1. Measures shall be taken so that the glare or upward reflection from street or other outdoor lights in the City of St. John's shall be reduced to fifty per cent. of the normal. This Regulation shall apply to Bell Island, Conception Bay.

2. No light shall be lit in any public building, shop or private residence in the City of St. John's, or in or near any settlement in the Districts of St. John's East or West, or on any road approaching St. John's or any of the said settlements, upon which lights may be visible at sea, shall be so obscured that the glare or upward reflection upon the heavens shall be reduced to fifty per cent. of the normal. Side lights on motor cars, motor cycles, or vehicles of any description must be obscured, and shall not be of greater strength than ten candle power.

3. Head lights used on any motor cars or motor cycles in or near the City of St. John's, or in or near any settlement in the Districts of St. John's East or West, or on any road approaching St. John's or any of the said settlements, upon which lights may be visible at sea, shall be so obscured that the glare or upward reflection upon the heavens shall be reduced to fifty per cent. of the normal. Side lights on motor cars, motor cycles, or vehicles of any description must be obscured, and shall not be of greater strength than ten candle power.

4. It will be the duty of the members of the Constabulary to see that these Regulations are strictly enforced and all orders issued by them for their better observance shall be forthwith carried out.

5. Every person convicted of a violation of these Rules and Regulations before a Stipendiary Magistrate or Justice of the Peace, shall be liable to a penalty not exceeding $100, or in default of payment, to imprisonment not exceeding Three Months. July 13, 11

Why Not Peace Economy?

By RUTH CAMERON.

RUTH CAMERON

A package containing several breakable articles came to me from the shop, the other day, and when I opened it I found that, instead of being packed in excelsior, the articles were safeguarded by a multitude of scraps of paper. I looked more closely and recognized these as credit slips slipped up by some cutting machines. War economy, of course.

Yes, and why not peace economy, too, when we have fought the good fight and won our victory? Necessity is a teacher as well as a mother. The necessities of war are daily teaching us all the best kind of economy, which is not the economy of doing without, but the economy of fuller use of what we have.

But School Cannot be over Too Soon. If we do not promptly forget these lessons as soon as our teacher leaves us, (and this school cannot be over too soon, and the savage Hun beater, that will be one blessing wrested from the most tragic duty the world ever had set before it. Of course the efficiency movement had long before the war, taught many of the business men of the country lessons in this fuller utilization which enriches both the individual and the world. For instance, there is a big mail order house which for years, has manufactured wall paper out of the vast quantities of correspondence it handles. But the stern teacher who is now task master, will surely drive home the lesson more forcibly and more universally.

Cheating Thirteen Hundred Pigs. Fortunately the largest and most important industry in the country is the one in which the lessons of utilization have been most ably put into practice. I refer of course to the great business of home-making. Let me tell you a little incident which will illustrate more forcibly than anything I could say, what has been done in this line. A friend of mine knows a man who has the contract for collecting the garbage for two cities. Each, I believe, of about ten thousand inhabitants. He told her, the other day, that before the war he was able to feed sixteen hundred pigs on the material gathered. To-day he can only feed three hundred.

Surely She Will Never Go Back. That is a humble, perhaps some might say a vulgar, incident. But to my mind it is one of the best things I have heard for months.

Surely the American woman is learning a lesson in true economy which she can never wholly forget. I do not mean that I think she will be as strict after victory is won, as she is to-day; but I do not think she will ever be as lax as she was in those carefree, careless, wasteful days before the war.

I fell from a building and received what the doctor called a very bad sprained ankle, and told me to must walk on it for three weeks. I got MINARD'S LINIMENT and in six days I was out to work again. I think it the best Liniment made.

Edmonton. ARCHIE E. LAUNDY.

A Close Shave.

Two soldiers—an Irishman and an Englishman—having met in Flanders, began to talk of the hairbreadth escapes they had in battle.

"Well," said the Englishman, "one day in the height of an engagement a shell took the hair off my head. Now, what do you think of that for a haircut?"

"Sure," said Pat, "when I was in a battle, a bullet from one of them Maxims whizzed by me and took every hair off my face. What do you think of that for a close shave?"

No Wonder.

There was an air of trouble and excitement when the portly politician rushed into the newspaper office and howled a demand to see the city editor. Ushered into the presence of the austere person he began:

"How dare you insult me as you did in your paper last night?"

"Why, what do you mean? I printed your resignation just as you requested, didn't I?"

"Yes, but you headed it 'Public Improvement!'"

TO HAVE A PRETTY ARM.

To have a pretty arm is a bona craved by most women. But arms are not all pretty, and to make them so will require treatment and lots of patience. One must remember that it is harder to build up than to tear down. However, there are simple treatment that will work a wonderful improvement, if not entirely correct the faults. Exercises may be adopted that will perfect the circulation and take away from or add to any part of the arm. Should the arm be thin the exercises should be mild, but if there is too much flesh the exercises should be vigorous.

An ideal method of plumping the arms is to wrap them with oiled bandages, to be worn at night. Before applying the bandages, the entire arm should be bathed with warm water for eight or ten minutes. In addition to cleansing the skin it opens the pores and better prepares the skin to absorb the oil.

The bandages should be trips of linen about two inches wide, first soaked in olive oil and then applied. Begin at the wrist by winding the bandage around the arm, working upward until the whole arm is encased. The bandage should be put on firmly, but not so tight as to retard circulation. To prevent ones clothing or the bed clothes from becoming soiled, silk may be used to cover the bandages.

The oil may be applied by massage. In the arms but the bandages are better. The arms should be bathed again in the morning and after being thoroughly dried a small amount of oil again rubbed into the skin by friction, after which the arms should be wiped with a soft cloth and then powdered.

What Do Your Eyes Tell.

Bright vivacious eyes of any shade mean a nature full of life and fun and laughter; ready if the hair is fluffy to take capricious fancies. The small eyes which are so bright may be the windows of a most attractive soul, but we must not hope to find the most deeply loving types with eyes like this.

The big green eye shows a fund of jealousy. In the sparkling grey eye we find a high spirited clever type more inclined to attract than to succumb.

The love of romance is shown in the long, dreamy eye whether its colour be blue, brown or grey. The brown eye gives warmth, but sometimes inclinations to infidelity; these and the dark hues are the eyes that predominate.

THE HELPFUL MAN. He never saw the trouble; he only saw the deed.

He never thought of distance; his mind was on the need. He never reckoned money as a prize worth clinging to; He said its only value was the good that it could do.

He never stopped to reckon what he'd miss, of joy, to stay. And help a fellow being who was stranded on the way— Never paused to think of pleasures that he cherished long and planned;

All he saw was one in trouble who must have a helping hand. There seemed nothing so important that he wouldn't turn aside. For the man who needed friendship and was really trouble-free; He wasn't one to answer, "I have something else to do."

He thought his foremost duty was to help a man he knew. He never saw the trouble; he only saw the deed. He never thought of sacrifice; his mind was on the need. And he had this simple motto, which he followed to the end: "When the other man's in trouble, that's the time to be his friend."

Fads and Fashions.

Black dinner gowns are always good trimmed with Chantilly lace. Cloth coats for small children have short waists and flaring skirts.

MOST CHEERING NEWS.

LONDON, July 19. (Via Reuter's Ottawa Agency).—The stroke with which Generalissimo Foch transformed the battle position is welcomed by the newspapers as equally surprising and brilliant, as in perhaps the most cheering news the Allies have received since 1914. Even the most optimistic, when the extent of the German defeat East of Rheims was known, were hardly prepared for the dramatic speed with which Foch's strategy developed. Experts compare it to the battle of Ourcq in 1914, when Manoury prepared the way for the great victory of the Marne. None of the previous brilliant episodes of the war have given such solid ground for confidence as this double operation of defence and attack, nevertheless warning is uttered against any over sanguine anticipation. The enemy will certainly reach violently against the menace of this whole position of the Marne, and Generalissimo Foch, now that he has reached the enemy communication, may contract and hold the territory won without attempting to push the advantage further.

A PILLAR OF EMPIRE.

LONDON, To-day. (Via Reuter's Ottawa Agency).—The Hon. H. Burton, K. C., Minister of Railways in South Africa, who is attending the Imperial War Cabinet meetings, was the guest of honour at a luncheon given by the Empire Parliamentary Association at the House of Commons yesterday. The Rt. Hon. H. H. Asquith, who presided at the distinguished gathering said, that without exaggeration Botha was one of the pillars of the Empire. (Cheers). He paid a hearty tribute to South Africa's contribution to the war, and particularly to the brilliant services of the German East Africa contingent. South Africa had sent 60,000 men overseas. Hon. Mr. Burton said the Nationalist movement was practically a racial unmaking of substantial progress.

STORY OF THE FIGHTING.

LONDON, July 19. (Via Reuter's Ottawa Agency).—A despatch from American Headquarters dated last evening reads as follows: A large number of American storming troops co-operated with the French this morning in a powerful offensive. A number of battalions participated in the rush. The Americans went over the top with a yell, and were waiting for the usual artillery preparation. The Germans resisted very feebly but here and there stubborn fighters were encountered which were quickly vanquished by the American bayonets. The enemy was completely surprised by the attack everywhere, an attack which was successful, particularly in the region of Soissons where the final objectives were passed in a dash. The operation turned out to be even more successful than had been hoped for. Many guns were captured. The Germans were so completely surprised that officers were captured in bed and one man was taken while cutting rye in the fields behind the front lines. Heavy thunderstorms and violent rain last night enabled the storm troops to take up their positions unobserved and may account for the enemy's lack of vigilance. Numerous prisoners were taken in the first hour. The French battalions advanced in a dash, and crossed the River Sauteres waist deep, singing all the time. The operation was judged as a big division on the flank of the enemy salient between the Aisne and the Marne, and a view of arresting the German offensive towards Epernay, Montagne and Rheims. It is the first time since the 21st of March that the Allied command has taken the initiative on such a great scale. This is doubtless owing to the tactics of wearing the enemy down. The whole of the German left flank is menaced and the enemy must bring up troops from the Marne front or leave them in danger. The Americans are trained to the last notch and behaved like veterans. Nothing surprised them there was the closest co-operation between the infantry and the artillery. Light and many heavy guns were moved up swiftly and the retreating enemy forces were literally deluged with shells. The reserve and tanks did all that was expected of them. They proceeded and accompanied the infantry, clearing many places that escaped the artillery. Hastily organized enemy counter attacks were and there were all broken up. East of Chateau the fighting will likely become heavier as the German reserves arrive. The American and French south of Soissons launched a second attack at noon and swept on so fast that the cavalry was thrown in later in the afternoon. All headquarters to-night are well inside the territory that was captured in the morning. The Americans south of Soissons until noon had counted 2500 prisoners and 50 guns. They also captured an immense amount of material, including a number of aeroplanes which the enemy were unable to remove. Many prisoners have not been counted. The Americans north of Chateau Thierry captured more prisoners and an equal amount of material. The attack has progressed so far that the enemy in the vicinity of Chateau Thierry is in a risky position. The American troops are greatly elated and received warm thanks from the French commander. The attack in the afternoon was even more dashing in its nature than the morning onslaught. Only here and there did badly frightened German attempts to make a stand, and the Americans rushed these with revolvers, rifles and bayonets. The great importance of the day's successes becomes clearer hourly. On the left wing our troops have captured the high plateau overlooking Soissons from the southwest, and have cut, or have under fire, the Soissons-Thierry highway, which is the main feeder to the enemy front on the Chateau Thierry sector. The Soissons Villers-Cotterets railway has also been cut. Several infiltration movements were effected by the cavalry riding through the gaps of the enemy's retreating lines and establishing themselves in the villages further ahead. The haul of men and guns is the largest ever made by the Allies in one day since the battle of Malmesdon last October.

LLOYD'S CRYPTIC SPEECH.

LONDON, July 19. (Via Reuter's Ottawa Agency).—Representatives of Canada, Newfoundland and Australia attended a dinner given by the Comrades of the Great War Association which is interested in the welfare of discharged soldiers and sailors throughout the Empire. Hon. W. A. Massey, Premier of New Zealand, and Lieut. General Smuts of South Africa sent sympathetic messages. Premier Lloyd of Newfoundland said that one result of the Imperial Conference was that the day for the exploiting of any one of our resources by the enemy had passed. Hon. Joseph Cook, Minister of Finance of Australia, Sir Joseph Ward, Finance Minister of New Zealand, and Sir Edward Kemp, Overseas Minister of Militia for Canada, also spoke.

BIG MONEY.

WASHINGTON, To-day. Italy got another credit of $100,000,000 from the United States Government to-day, and Belgium was given $9,000,000 additional. This makes Italy's total loan from this country $760,000,000, Belgium's $145,250,000, and all the Allies loans $6,380,040,000.

PROS. MUST WORK OR FIGHT.

WASHINGTON, To-day. Professional baseball was held a non-essential occupation, under the work or fight order to-day, by Secretary Baker. "I have decided the work or fight regulation includes baseball," he said in announcing his decision.

FOOD MEN TO CONFER.

WASHINGTON, To-day. Food Administrator Hoover left here enroute to London, July 18th, and returned from an Atlantic Port a few days later, to make a survey of the food situation in Europe. He was accompanied by Jos. F. Cotton, Chief of the Meat Division; Jas. W. Bells, of the Milling Division, and Geo. T. Jackson, Vice-President of the grain corporation of the food administration, and Lewis Strauss, Mr. Hoover's Secretary. Mr. Hoover will confer with the Food Ministers of the Allies, and endeavour to determine their requirements, and take measures to unify distribution. The entire problem of the pooling of food supplies will occupy a large part of his time while in Europe. Mr. Alonzo Taylor, chief of the division of the food administration, who has a wide experience with food problems in Europe, especially in Germany, will accompany the Administrator of the war, has been in London for weeks, preparing data for the conference which begins next Monday.

ORDER IN COUNCIL VALID.

OTTAWA, To-day. By a majority of 4 to 2, the Supreme Court of Canada this afternoon upheld the validity of the Order in Council of April 20th. It is under the authority of these Orders in Council that exemptions of men in class one, between 20 and 22 years of age, were cancelled.

AT LAST.

LONDON, To-day. In the House of Commons to-day, the British Nationality status of Aliens Bill was amended by adding a provision that no certificate of nationality shall be granted for a period of five years after the war to any German subject, or any subject of any countries at war with Great Britain, unless he has served in the British or Allied forces, is a member of a race or community known to be opposed to enemy Governments, or was a British subject at birth. Another amendment adopted empowering the Home Office to assent to the application of a British born wife of an enemy alien to resume her British nationality. It was adopted by the House to-day by an unanimous vote. (See 5th Page for other Messages.)

FALL OF SOISSONS INDICATED.

WASHINGTON, July 19. While no announcement of the capture of the city of Soissons has reached the War Department, Secretary Baker said to-day that the fall of that city seems to be indicated by despatches.

ENEMY COMMUNICATIONS INTERRUPTED.

PARIS, July 19. (Havas Agency.)—A review of the fighting in the Allied counter offensive printed by the Paris papers to-day lays stress upon the interference with the enemy's railway communication occasioned by the speedy Allied advance. Our progress southwest of Soissons, says the Echo de Paris, prevented the enemy from bringing into action his reserves over the railways in the vicinity of Laon near Chateau Thierry, around Rheims and along the Aisne. He had expected to secure great results from the use of these reserves.

RAILWAY CUT.

LONDON, July 19. On the left wing which includes the Soissons sector to Chateau Thierry, says a Reuter despatch from the French front, dated 11 o'clock Thursday. The railway from Soissons to Villers Cotterets also has been cut at several points. Infiltration movements have been carried out by cavalry. They advanced through gaps in the retreating enemy line and established themselves in villages further ahead.

WHAT THE LOSS OF SOISSONS WILL MEAN.

WASHINGTON, July 19. The loss of Soissons, the all-important railway centre from which the right flank of the German Marne salient is supplied probably would mean the evacuation of the entire salient. The attention of officials here, Secretary Baker said to-day naturally is centred on the great counter blow delivered by General Foch. The gradual extension of this operation to the east hasn't been officially confirmed, he said, but the gains on the front of the original counter thrust have been deepened, narrowing the salient and making the position of the German tenable. The significance of this move, Mr. Baker said, lies chiefly in the fact that the supreme commander evidently feels that the Allied forces are now sufficiently strong enough to undertake an offensive.

GUNS CAPTURED.

PARIS, July 19. More than 100 guns have been captured in the Allied attack on the Aisne-Marne front, according to the Herald to-day. The Paris military commentators are unanimous in calling Thursday's advance a fine success for the Allies, but deprecate jumping to conclusions as the battle is going on. Henri Bidou says that the fact that the German reserves, intended to support the offensive of July 15 have been rushed to the rescue of General Von Boehm makes the continuation of the enemy drive doubtful. He adds, "What will the enemy do? Will he attempt to continue the offensive manoeuvre southward while defending himself on the west, or will he on the other hand slacken his hold? Will he attempt a counter attack? We have arrived at the moment when the manipulation of the French divisions is going to be decisive, and in that game we may believe that the last word has been said.

MANY TOWNS CAPTURED.

WITH THE AMERICAN FORCES ON THE MARNE, July 19.—American and French forces are continuing to advance their spearhead midway between Soissons and Chateau Thierry. The Americans took many towns in the course of the night. Early to-day the Americans resumed the offensive and made further progress. During the night the German reinforcements were coming from the region in the north, but the expected counter attack hasn't appeared up to an early hour this afternoon.

PRISONERS CAPTURED.

LONDON, July 19. The French troops in their counter offensive on the battle zone between the Aisne and the Marne, captured 16,000 prisoners yesterday, according to news reaching here this evening. Forty-eight guns were captured by the French on the first day of the attack. The maximum distance of advance was six miles and the minimum two miles.

SAYS 17,000.

PARIS, July 19. The Franco-American offensive between the Aisne and the Marne has yielded thus far 17,000 prisoners, and more than 360 guns have been captured by the Allies, according to the war office statement to-night. All day the battle raged, the French held their positions on the plateau southwest of Soissons and made important advances at various places. The statement reads: The battle began yesterday between the Aisne and the Marne continued all day with extreme violence, the enemy reacting along the whole line with large reserves in an attempt to stay our progress. Despite his efforts we continued our advance over the most part of the front. On the left we maintained the plateau southwest of Soissons, and in the region of Chaudun. In the centre our advance exceeded three kilometres. At certain points along the line of Vaux Castille and Nory-sur-Ouren on the right, our troops occupied after bitter fighting, the plateau northwest of Bonnes and the height north of Courchamps and advanced beyond Torcy. The number of prisoners counted up to the present exceeds 17,000, including one battery of 210's.

AMERICANS SURPRISED.

WITH THE AMERICAN ARMY ON THE AISNE-MARNE FRONT, July 19.—No resistance was encountered at Virezy or in the neighboring villages taken. At two villages on the southern portion of the line the hands of the clocks had been stopped by shell fire at 4.50 o'clock, indicating the time the Allies started bombarding on Thursday morning. One of the greatest surprises for the Americans in the opening of the offensive was the flight of the Germans before the attack. The Americans, many of whom were going over the top for the first time, were fully prepared for a stiff fight, and as the hours went on without a German counter blow, they began to wonder when the enemy would retaliate.

HAPPIEST MAN IN THE WORLD

PARIS, July 19. Last night, when he saw his troops on the heights dominating Soissons on the southwest, General Mangin smiled, says the correspondent of the Liberte. Premier Clemenceau was there and warmly shook the General's hand on his return from the front. Premier Clemenceau said to his friends, "I have shaken the hand of the happiest man in the world."

NEGOTIATIONS CONTINUING.

WASHINGTON, July 19. Negotiations between the United States, Great Britain, France and Japan as to the character of military aid for Russia are continuing. It was said to-day, and no final agreement has been reached. It was stated that no American forces have been landed in Russia, except the few marines at Vladivostok and on the Murman coast.

BRITISH SLOOP TORPEDOED.

LONDON, July 19. A British sloop was sunk by a submarine on Tuesday, says an Admiralty report to-day. Twelve of the crew were the only survivors.

SERIOUS LABOR DISPUTE.

LONDON, July 19. A labor dispute which may lead to a serious situation, has been begun in Coventry and other centres, says an announcement issued by the Ministry of Munitions to-day. A large number of skilled munition workers is stated to have handed in notices which will take effect next week.

METEREN CAPTURED.

LONDON, July 19. Scottish troops captured the village of Meteren, together with more than 300 prisoners and a number of machine guns in operation in the Batfield sector this morning, according to the official report from Field Marshal Haig to-night. The Austrian troops advanced to a short distance south of

BATTLE BECOMES FIERCE.

WITH THE FRENCH ARMY IN FRANCE, July 19.—The battle along the front of the Franco-American counter offensive between the Aisne and the Marne River is becoming fiercer to-day. The Germans are bringing up reserves.

FRENCH PRISONERS EQUIVALENT TO GERMANS.

PARIS, July 19. L'Homme Libre, without intending to divulge the number of prisoners and guns captured, says it is fully equivalent to the number announced by the Germans as having been captured by them on July 15. The German official statement on Tuesday announced that 15,000 prisoners had been taken on Monday. German raids last night in the Villers Bretonneux and Morlan-court sectors on the other side of the Somme were driven off by the British says an official statement of Field Marshal Haig to-day. The British captured a few prisoners in successful raids in the regions of Buchoy, Willerval and Locre.

MINARD'S LINIMENT USED BY PHYSICIANS.

THE Sunlight enterprise and organization for production, manufacture, and distribution were made complete long before the war. But during the war the difficulties and costs of transport have been multiplied. Therefore, Lever Brothers have purchased a fleet of steamships to convey raw materials direct from their plantations to Port Sunlight.

The Housewife is given the full benefit of this enterprise, and thus, in spite of the difficulties caused in England by the war, Sunlight Soap remains the best soap throughout the world, and gives the fullest value for the housewife's money.

THE SUNLIGHT SERVICE IS THE MOST COMPLETE SOAP SERVICE IN THE WORLD. SUNLIGHT SOAP IS MADE FOR THE HOUSEWIFE'S PROFIT, FOR ONLY THEREBY CAN THE MAKERS HOPE TO PROFIT BY SUNLIGHT SOAP.

"Royalo" Port Wine. Creme De Menthe. Black Cherry Brandy. London Dock Sherry. Sloe Gin. Ginger Wine Cordial.

266 Water Street, St. John's, July, 1918.

Dear Sir, or Madam:

I beg to approach you as one whom I am of the opinion appreciates the good things of life with regard to some new drinks I am about to place on the market.

The wines in question, a list of which you will find at the head of this letter, are manufactured by a Toronto concern who, since that Province went "dry," have made a special study of wines that were popular in the "good old days" and have endeavored to imitate these wines as closely as it is possible to do when same have to be made according to the Prohibition law.

The Wines which I am now offering are the result. Nothing like them has ever been on the market since Prohibition days, and they should in no way be confounded with brands of non-alcoholic wines which have previously been on the market and which in the main are syrupy and nauseating.

Especial care has been taken to imitate the original flavors as far as it is possible, in fact it is practically impossible to distinguish the two Liquers mentioned above from the real thing, while the other wines are very similar in flavor to their namesakes. A not unattractive feature is that the drinks are bottled in quart bottles, absolute counterparts of their real namesakes.

It is my desire to get a sample bottle of each of these wines into your home, for I am of the opinion that once you try them you will become a steady user of one or other of the kinds offered. I am therefore going to ask you to give me an order for one sample bottle each of "Royalo" Port Wine, London Dock Sherry, Creme de Menthe, Sloe Gin, Black Cherry Brandy and Ginger Wine Cordial at One dollar per quart bottle delivered (the same price as in Canada), that is Six Dollars in all.

(These sample orders will be filled through one of the St. John's dealers handling these goods, and delivery will be made as soon as the first shipment is received, probably some time in September.) Orders may be phoned to my office—telephone number 60.

Special prices to the trade upon application.

I am sure you will be pleased with this sample order and I hope to hear from you at your convenience.

With best wishes,

Yours very truly,

P. E. OUTERBRIDGE,

Agent for The Gordon Wine Co., Toronto.
