GALES IN GREAT BRITAIN

MUCH DAMAGE DONE AND MANY

London, Jan. 27.—The wind blew an hurricane all last night. Much damage was done here. Many persons were injured. The glass roof of the Westminster aquarium was demolished, causing a panic among the audience, in which several per-sons were hurt. A printing office in the Haymarket was unroofed and a boy killed. Many vessels were wrecked off the coast

Many vessels were wrecked off the coast and a large number of lives lost.

Reports from all parts of the kingdom agree that the gale on Saturday was one of almost unparalleled severity. At Hastings the seas dashed over the streets, making walking dangerous. At Monmouth the Wye and Monnow rivers overflowed and the highways were flooded. Southampton and Eastbourne suffered severely. There has been a heavy snowstorm throughout the country. At Torquay were many casualties. Trees were uprooted and many boats swamped. Shops on the Isle of Wight were closed early on Saturday, owing to the hurricane. At Newry many houses were unroofed. At Leeds the roof of a dwelling collapsed, killing the daughter of a workman. The mail train between Durham and Darlington was twice stopped by the gale. The bark Nokomio, Capt. Murphy, which sailed from Londonderry, Jan 19, for Baltimore, and which returned to Lough Foyle for shelter, parted her cables and was driven to sea. It is feared the vessel and all hands have been lost. An iron chapel at Newcastle was demolished. The roof in falling killed a woman and two children. falling killed a woman and two children.

There have been numerous marine cas-ualties around the coast. The Frisia reports that she had a rough passage with heavy gales and tremendous seas. The railway station at Elmswell was blown across the rails, blocking the traffic for raged here last night.

A temporary panic was caused among the audience at the Port St. Martin theatre last night by the sudden quenching of the gas-lights. Cries were raised of turn on the gas. The slamming of the doors by the wind and the roar of the tempest drowned the voices of the actors. Madame Bernhardt's foot was wounded by fragments from a broken window.

A PENITENTIARY BURNED.

the Majority of the Convicts Safely Re-STILLWATER, Minn., Jan. 26.-A fire caught in the basement of the penitentiary at 11.45 last night. The fire was discovered by a pedestrian, who failed to ran down town and turned on an alarm. The fire caught under the main office of the Car company and when the department arrived it was impossible to do any effect tive work on account of the dense smoke. At 1 o'clock it was evident the prison was tive work on account of the dense smoke. At 1 o'clock it was evident the prison was doomed and a company of state militia was called to assist in removing the convicts, of whom 330 were shackled together by chains and removed. The fire spread with remarkable rapidity. Starting at the west end of the prison it soon reached the warden's office and the rooms occupied by the guards. It then spread to the offices of the Northwestern Car company. The entire front part of the building was a mass of flames. The kitchen and eating room of the building were next seized by the devouring element All the above named departments were gutted. How the fire started is a mystery. Chief Joy was overpowered by smoke in the car office. Someone turned water into the room, which knocked him down. He was rescued more dead than alive. Fireman Dodd saved a convict who was left in a cell at the risk of his own life. One prisoner was burned to death, but the records of the prison being lost his name cannot be ascertained. The convicts are housed in an adjoining foundry, and are behaving well. They are guarded by the militia. What disposition will be made of them is the puzzling question. The county jails are too untrustworthy usually for the imprisonment of such as the loungers and other important convicts.

Many have arms and legs broken, skulls crushed in, and clothing burned in many cases, so that it drops off in rags when the body is moved. The appearance of the bodies is horrible, and it is not likely that any can be recognized. Many of the faces have coal dust ground into them until they are as black as the coal itself.

A Father Discovers the Skeleton of His Daughter Four Years After Her Disappearance.

BRUCE MINES, Algoma, Jan. 26.—Four years ago the daughter of Mr. James Mills was lost in the woods. Mr. Mills was living in the township of Kirkwood, newly opened up for settlement, and far away from any neighbor. Early in the after noon, his daughter, aged 14, started with a pail and dipper to fetch some water from a small creek a few hundred yards from their honse. As time passed and she did not return her father became alarmed for her safety, and having obtained assistance a search was instituted, and continued for many days, without discovering anything more than the track of her feet in the soft mud at the creek. A force of forty lumbermen joined in the fruitless search for the missing girl. A few days ago some men working in the woods came upon a human working in the rearest the union had twelve clubs in the province, with it, being every club in the province, with only one or two exceptions. Eleven matches were played during the season. The receipts of the union were $86.40 and at the expenditure $43.12 as a cash balance. After adopting the report, the protest of the Ottawa club against the rulings of the referee in the final match, cy when Toronto won the championship, was taken up. Mr. Nutting of Ottawa moved, and Mr. Cunningham seconded, a motion that according to the rules of the union the selection of Mr. Merritt to act as referee on the occasion referred to was illegal and that the match should therefore be declared void. So far the discus sion has been confined to a few leaders i the methodist body, including Dr. Nelle the methodist body, including Dr. Nelle of Victoria, but in a few days you may hear of it being talked of more generally. The School Readers

Mr. Ross has abandoned his composit series scheme. It will not work ; if com mitted it would have been the biggest blunder of the whole collection. As we have said before there are but two practical ways out of the difficulty : either leave things as they are with two series in the field, insisting on county uniformity; or let one of the publishers offer to buy the other out at a valuation arrived at by arbitration. We understand that one of the publishers has made such a proposition to the government, and it is also reported that a conference of publishers will take place this week.

The Callender Junction.

The difficulty between the Northern railway directors and the directors of the Hamilton and Northwestern has been settled, and an agreement in the Callender branch matter has been signed by both parties. Last week Mr. John Stuart and Mr. William Hendrie of Hamilton, and Mr. Barker, manager of the united railways, were in Ottawa, and along with Hon. Frank Smith and Sepator James Turner, had an interview with the minister of railways and canals. The proposal was made that a point farther west than Callender shall be selected for the junction, thus saving considerable distance between Toronto and Winnipeg. But to this the deputation objected, for the reason that it would involve a good deal of very expensive rock cutting. The citizens of Toronto, and of Hamilton, too, have good reason to congratulate themselves that the proposal for making the junction away west of Callender has been abandoned. The objection stated appears to have been deemed sufficient; but there is still another which, whether mentioned or not on the occasion, should be known to the Around the shores of lake Nipissing, but principally to the eastward, there are large tracts of valuable pine lands. That region will, in two or three years more, be turning out a large lumber cut, which will find its way to the front. Now, if the branch from Gravenhurst were deflected considerably to the west of the lake, the produce of these fine lands, which lie mostly to the east of it, would be carried to Montreal, or some other point east, because to bring it this way it would have to be carried backwards on the main line of the Canadian Pacific railway. But if Callender be the point of junction, Toronto and Hamilton will have rather a better chance than Montreal of getting this lumber to handle. A considerable portion of the Nipissing lumber cut there is of the heavens falling. will be shipped at Toronto to the other side of the lake, while some may find its way by rail to Buffalo or the Bridge. To re- The Week, and we hope it will continue to tain Callender as the point of junction is, show such internal progress and outward therefore, in the interest of both Toronto and Hamilton

Still another contingency there is of great future importance to both cities. The to some of the articles. Northern and Hamilton and Northwestern roads, now under one management, make together a railway system of great value, not only to the counties through which they run, but to all Ontario lying north and west of Toronto. That system is or ought to be quite strong enough to maintain its own independence, and to resist all attempts on the part of either the Grand Trunk or the Canadian Pacific to gobble it up. Last week's agreement, by which the building and running of the Callender branch is placed in the hands of the board here, cannot fail to make the position of the united roads very much stronger than ever before. The best possible all rail connection with the Northwest is now assured to the people of Western Ontario, and the benefit to both Toronto and Hamilton must be great. For summer traffic wo have choice of several northern lake ports; and for winter a good all rail route is now secured. Something else, however, is wanting, and the present success in the matter of the Callender branch will materially help us to obtain it. We want a railway giving the Northern system its own connection with Buffalo and the Bridges, independently of the Grand Trunk. If the Grand Trunk authorities are willing to accommodated and would give running powers at reasonable rates from Toronto to Buffalo, going over either the Great Western rails or those of the Buffalo and Goderich road, from Caledonia eastwards, the building of a new road from Toronto to Buffalo might not be necessary for many vears to come. But if no such arrangements can be made, then most undoubtedly the public will be for a new line between Toronto and Hamilton with another from some point on the Hamilton and Lake Erie line to the Niagara river, and the success of the Northern in the Callander branch arrangement will, of course, make

The terms of the agreement signed at Ottawa last week have not been published. But we have good hopes that they will, when made known, be found to be such as the people of both Hamilton and Toronto can heartily approve of. We venture to believe that a crisis of very great import nce to both cities has been safely passed and that the independence of our import ant railway system has been secured.

Sir John's Strength.

An old protectionist friend of Sir John gives the following account of a converation between them some year's ago, when the leader's stock was rather low. They were talking of the future prospects of the onservative party and the chances they had of putting out Mr. Mackenzie. "A for Mackenzie," said Sir John, "I know exactly what he is going to do on every his own head." Sir John, it would appear, depends as much for success on what he he does on the policy which he himself proposes. He gets inside of people's heads, takes a look round, learns what they are up to, then comes out and goes them on better. We don't know, however, that he has yet got inside of George Stephen's head. We should also like Mr. Blake to say whether he has ever felt him poking

The editor of the Richmond Hill Libera has had to leave the place. According to his valedictory he met with much persecution, his enemies among other things having fired his office. But of those friends who stood by him he can only say:

It was not Canada who first erected the commercial barrier between the two countries. It was not until we saw our neighbors doing all they could to make their barrier more formidable that we thought it was time to throw up earthworks. Now, however, we have fortified ourselves, it cannot be expected that we shall agree to negotiate a treaty on any other than advantageous terms, and what is more as Sir Leonard Tilley said the other day, the novement must be initiated at Washing-As for annexation, we have no objection to the Courier dreaming and writing about it, but our contemporary can rest in peace, for at the present time there is no more apprehension of its coming about than

Max Muller of Oxford does not accept his doctrines, but he says they are worthy of consideration. The question at issue is not whether they are dangerous, but are such doctrines true. Three or four prominent clergymen in England have come out in favor of George, and one minister said in a recent sermon that common possession of land was socialism, but it was the socialism taught by Jesus of Nazareth.

He was 30 years of age and heir to the dukedom of Westminster, the wealthiest in the land. He died of congestion of the lungs on Monday last after three days' illness. The dead earl married ten years ago a daughter of the earl of Scarborough. He leaves a son and heir, Viscount Belgrave, who is 9 years old. Those Street-Car Sleighs.

To the Editor of The World. SIR: I am one of those unfortunate in dividuals that have to daily use the Queen street cars. What a time we have had of them lately. Such a getting up-stairs, a jolting, a rocking-worse than the cradle of the deep. And to see those poor fellows of the deep. And to see those poor fellows, the drivers, perched on top of the antideluvian go-carts! Sir, it is a disgrace to humanity. It is high time that the company adopted something modern. They have a good paying business. The public pay cash. The company should certainly spare a little of that cash for the comfort of the public, who support them. Otherwise they will find some other means of reaching various parts of the city. reaching various parts of the city.

impure Water Found in a Holy Well at Mecca.

From the St. James' Gazette. A terrible calamity has just happened which ought to shake the Mohammedan religion to its foundations. The distinguished analyst, Prof. Heaton, has been making a chemical examination of the water of the holy well of Zem-Zem at Mecca, and has discovered it to be full of the worst kinds of impurities. Since its rediscovery in the sixth century by the grandfather of the prophet Mohammed this well has formed the chief supply of water to the millions of pilgrims who have annually resorted to Mecca to pay their respects to the famous black stone that adorns the corner of the Kaaba. There was and is no ailment for which Zem-Zem water is not a sovereign remedy; and its effects upon the mental powers are equally remarkable, so that a celebrated Moslem recorder of theosurer of the province. Col. Ross asked to logical traditions traced his wonderful nemory entirely to his copious draughts rom Hagar's Well. It is a humiliating reflection that, owing to the carelessness of the inhabitants of Mecca in sanitary matters, this miraculous water should be charged with all sorts of impurities. But it is some consolation to reflect that if the more than the corresponding week, twelve more than the corresponding week of 1883 and well water could work such wonders in so thirty more than in the corresponding week mpure a state there would probably be no imit to its powers if it were cleansed.

SOUDEIKIN'S MURDER. Why the Russian Colonel was Killed by own strength of will and great natural gifts. The new chief was a born mouchard, a detective of the stamp of Vidocq or of 'Monsieur Lecocq,' Gaboriau's celebrated romance. His plan was this :- Never to arrest a man, however dangerous he might be deemed, when first suspected, but to follow him step by step and watch him day and night, find out who were his friends, track them in the same fashion, and then, at a given moment, arrest them all—all but a few, for Soudeikin was too clever at his hysiness not to arrest them all—all but a few, for Soudeikin was too clever at his business not to know that if he let one or two conspirators escape he might thereby be enabled to make further and possibly still more important captures. In 1878 Soudeikin arrested at Kief every known or suspected member of the revolutionary party. But a few days later he set several of his prisoners at liberty, giving the preference to those who were the most compromised and the least prudent. These he called 'decoys.' The nihilists called them 'bombs.' To accomplish his purpose he spared neither money, promises, pains nor lies; and in his own person he became almost ubiquitous. He possessed in perfection the art of insinuating himself into the confidence of his prisoners, even of those who were most suspicious and always on their guard."

The names "Westminster," "Grosvenor," "Belgrave," proclaim sufficiently how large and valuable a part of the west end of London belongs to the family of Grosvenor. The marquisate of Westminster was raised into a dukedom in the person of the present head of that house about ten years ago.

Tather later than sooner, and it must be admitted that he took excellent measures to ensure his safety. He studied the tactics of his enemies and followed their example. Both in the manner of his life and the organization of his staff Soudei kin imitated the nihilists. Like a veritable 'illegal man,' he had no fixed habitation. He lived first in one quarter, then in another, and his intimates alone knew his true address, which altered continually. His confidential assistants acted in like manner. The spring dog show season, which at one time did not promise well, has already been filled in with the following fixtures: Cincinnati, March 4 to 7; New Haven, Conn., March 12 to 14; Toronto, Ont., March 26 to 28; Cleveland, Ohio, begin ning of April, and Westminster kennel club, New York, the end of April.

Arrangements have been made for the return of Dr. Zukertort on Feb. 6 or 8, when he will play simultaneous games against picked players of the Toronto club at the Horticultural gardens. The games will be played on the floor of the hall with live men, special costumes having been or-dered from New York for the occasion.

JOHN FLOOD. Athenæum Club Night.

The directors of the Athenæum club have arranged for certain evenings when the shareholders of the club can bring to the rooms any or all of their friends. On such evenings it is intended to have some additional attractions. On Saturday evening the first of their club nights was held. Sig. Marcicano's full Italian orchestra played from eight to eleven. Their music was good and drew forth frequent applause. All the billiard, pool and chess tables were in constant demand. Dr. Zukertort, the world's champion chess player, kindly gave some useful instruction in the game some of the local members. The evening was most enjoyable and ought to be repeated. The club is now in a flourish-ng condition. The skeleton of a man holding in his n tnd a lantern has been exhumed in Chicago, and the people assert that it is the remains of Old Diogenes, who went around looking for an honest man. No wonder that history records the fact that the old

Hon. A. MACKENZIE, M.P., Ex-Prime Minister of Canada, President. Hon. A. MORRIS, M.P.P., and J. L. BLAIKIE, Esq., President Can. Landed Credit Co., Vice-Presidents.

The special features of this Company are its Tontine Investment and Semi-Tontine Investment Policies, and its Commercial Endowment Policy.

ITS TONTINE AND SEMI-TONTINE INVESTMENT POLICY Combine in one form the greatest number of advantages attainable in a Life Assurance policy. They appeal at once to the intelligence of all who understand the principles and practice of Life Assurance. All policies, whether on Life or Endowment rates, are subject to no higher charge in Premium Rates in taking the "Tontine or Semi-Tontine Investment" form. The extra benefits of this class are conditioned only on the continuance of the policy for a certain specified term or Tontine period of 10, 15 or 20 years, selected by the insurer himself. Two things most desirable in Life Assurance are the CERTAINTY OF PROTECTION in case of early death, and PROFITS IN LONG LIFE. These are combined in the Tontine and Semi-Tontine Investment policies of the North American Life Assurance Company.

WILLIAM McCABE, Esq.,

Managing Director,

North American Life Assurance Co., Toronto.

Dear Sir. -As requested by you, I have examined your "Book of Estimates" in relation to Tontine Savings' Fund Policies, as bear off.—As requested by your company.

The assumed rates of mortality, interest and expenses upon which the estimates of probable results have been based, are less favorable than the experience among Canadian Companies would have justified, while the estimates of surplus are far within the results actually realized by other Companies issuing Tontine Policies, and hence may be anticipated with confidence. In brief, these estimates are, in my opinion, both safe and conservative.

Very Respectfully Yours,

BOSTON, Mass., Aug. 31, 1883

Mr. Wm. McCabe, F.I.A., Eng.,

Managing Director North American Life. Dear Sir.—The paper you have submitted and explained to me, entitled "Commercial Endowment Insurance by Graduated Mortuary Payments and Deposits," sets forth a plan of Life Insurance which I have no hesitation in saying will serve a large class of Insurers better than the usual plan which requires larger payments.

These "Graduated Mortuary Payments and Deposits" are quite sufficient for the safety of the Company, and well adapted to ecure its cohesion and stability ELIZUR WRIGHT, Consulting Actuary.

Managing Director North American Life Assurance Co., Toronto, Ont.

Dear Sir.—I have carefully examined your new Commercial Endowment Policy and the leaflet explaining the same. You combine the economical features of insurance by natural premiums, by which the insured pays as he goes and gets what he pays for, with a small charge to secure an endowment payable at the end of the term selected.

In this way you avoid the necessity of accumulating large reserves, which of course must render Life Insurance more expensive and yet make the Company secure by the Endowment feature. The plan ought to attract business, as it is both economical and safe

CIGARS VS. LADIES.

Which Shall it be at the University Banquet 2-Arrangements For The Afstitute building, Prof. Louden in the chair. There were present Messrs. Baker, Caven, Cassidy, Galbraith, Montgomery, Manley, O'Sullivan, Kingsford, Blake, Creelman, Cane, Frost, Wigle, Edgar, Irving, Marsshall and Hodgins. The only question of importance discussed was the advisability of admitting ladies to the galleries to hear the speeches, and in connection therewith the speeches, and in connection therewith the propriety of allowing smoking at the dinner, Mr. Manley remarking that it was a question of cigars v. ladies. Prin. Caven favored the presence of the ladies and the absence of the cigars. Mr. O'Sullivan thought there would be a good deal of difficulty in connection with the admission of ladies to the galleries, and thought it was not suitable for ladies to sit and watch 600 gentlemen engaged at dinner. The matter was referred to the dinner committee.

Mr. Baker reported the guarantee fund as progressing satisfactorily, among other liberal donations S. H. Blake having subscribed $100. He also reported having made successful arrangements with all branches of the Grand Turk and partial branches of the Grand Trunk and partial arrangements with the Canada Southern and Toronto, Grey and Bruce for reduced rates. it: Resolved, that as far as the students of Toronto School of Medicine are concerned the statements published in The World of Jan. 24 are false in every particular, as there is not the slightest dissatisfaction among the students regarding the management of either the school or the Toronto general hospital; and further, that nasmuch as the said report is particularly njurious to the latter institution we take this opportunity of expressing our entire satisfaction with the excellent facilities there afforded us for the pursuit of profes-

All The World cay say to the above is that the statement it published was made by a student of the school.

A Useful Book.

Such is the title of a useful book, a book that ought to be in the hands of every that ought to be in the hands of the councillor and alderman or municipal servant. It is a digest in less than 200 pages of the municipal law of the province, explaining the whole machinery, and showing each man, whether councillor or offi-cer, what his duty is and what the powers of the various corporations are. It is plainly written and to the point, leaving no excuse for ignorance on the part of any one. Every council should buy one of these handbooks for its members and offi-

In August last Mr. and Mrs. John a desperate fight ensued. This, it is said must have lasted fully half an hour, and Duck were driving from the city to their home at the Humber. On Queen street their horses stepped into an open drain, and became unmanageable, the result being that the vehicle was upset and they were thrown out. Mr. Duck was not much hurt, but Mrs. Duck received injuries from which she has not yet recovered. They claimed compensation from the city council, and failing to receive any, entered a suit for $10,000 damages. The case came up for trial before Justice Cameron and a jury Saturday, but was not concluded. It will be continued to-day.

Police Court Pointers.

A vagrant newsboy named Thos. Burn was made happy Saturday by enough money from the magistrate to set him up in business. Thos. Robinson, the directory thief, pleaded guilty and was sent to the central prison for three months. Thos. Smidel for stealing coal from the Grand Trunk was sent down for seven days. Michael Carroll pleaded that he could get no work and was sent to jail for 60 days. The case of John Rogers, threatening to shoot his wife, was remanded till to-day. A TERRIBLE STRUGGLE.

An Officer Fights Half an Hour With Knife Plunged in His Neck.

From the London Daily Telegraph. Late on Thursday night Constable Vardy, of the Derbyshire force, was watchng some gardens on the Meersbrook estate ast beyond Heeley, in the suburbs of Shefield, but in the county of Derbyshire. From his place of concealment the officer saw a man named Henry Gregory fill a sack with potatoes from a heap. As the fellow was leaving Vardy jumped up and followed him. The former immediately took to his heels, and an exciting chase ensued. Gregory, when overtaken, appeared to be in considerable distress, and begged hard to be allowed to go, saying he would rather cut his throat than be taken to prison. First satisfying himself that his prisoner had no knife in his hand, the officer fastened one of his handcuffs to the man's right wrist, and, holding the other with his left hand, brought back to where the sack had fallen He then placed the potatoes on his shoulders, and still holding the handcuffs with his left hand, proceeded with his captive in the direction of the Derbyshire police station at Norton. Gregory did not resist, but was most earnest in his entreaties to the contable that the contable the contable to the but was most earnest in his entreaties to the constable to allow him to go. By and by, however, he turned round suddenly, faced the officer, and with his left hand plunged the blade of his pocket-knife into Vardy's neck, following this up by making a desperate attempt to wrench the hand-cuff away. The officer, however, stuck to him with the greatest determined in the context of him with the greatest determination, and

Shortly afterward a bolt was drawn, and the drop fell. A horrible scene ensued. The rope broke, and the unfortunate wretch fell into the pit which had been dug to give the requisite fall. The hangman, Booth, was for a short time unnerved by the incident, and did not know what to do, but the jailer and another official went to his assistance, and the body was once more hoisted on to the platform, and the rope knotted, and the body left to hang for the prescribed time. It is stated that the neck of the chief was dislocated by the fall, and if so, probably life was already extinct before the body was suspended for the second time. The government enforced the attendance of the Kaffir prisoners who had been more or less comoners who had been more or less compatriots of Mampoer, and they were compelled to witness the death-agonies of the chief.
