The copy filmed here has been reproduced thanks to the generosity of:

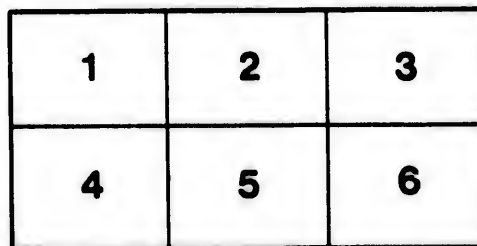

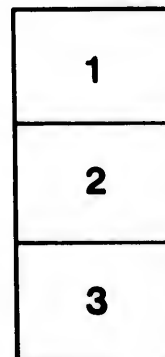

Seminary of Quebec
Library

The images appearing here are the best quality possible considering the condition and legibility of the original copy and in keeping with the filming contract specifications.

Original copies in printed paper covers are filmed beginning with the front cover and ending on the last page with a printed or illustrated impression, or the back cover when appropriate. All other original copies are filmed beginning on the first page with a printed or illustrated impression, and ending on the last page with a printed or illustrated impression.

The last recorded frame on each microfiche shall contain the symbol  $\rightarrow$  (meaning "CONTINUED"), or the symbol  $\nabla$  (meaning "END"), whichever applies.

Maps, plates, charts, etc., may be filmed at different reduction ratios. Those too large to be entirely included in one exposure are filmed beginning in the upper left hand corner, left to right and top to bottom, as many frames as required. The following diagrams illustrate the method:

Les images suivantes ont été reproduites avec le plus grand soin, compte tenu de la condition et de la netteté de l'exemplaire filmé, et en conformité avec les conditions du contrat de filmage.

Les exemplaires originaux dont la couverture en papier est imprimée sont filmés en commençant par le premier plat et en terminant soit par la dernière page qui comporte une empreinte d'impression ou d'illustration, soit par le second plat, selon le cas. Tous les autres exemplaires originaux sont filmés en commençant par la première page qui comporte une empreinte d'impression ou d'illustration et en terminant par la dernière page qui comporte une telle empreinte.

Un des symboles suivants apparaîtra sur la dernière image de chaque microfiche, selon le cas: le symbole  $\rightarrow$  signifie "A SUIVRE", le symbole  $\nabla$  signifie "FIN".

Les cartes, planches, tableaux, etc., peuvent être filmés à des taux de réduction différents. Lorsque le document est trop grand pour être reproduit en un seul cliché, il est filmé à partir de l'angle supérieur gauche, de gauche à droite, et de haut en bas, en prenant le nombre d'images nécessaire. Les diagrammes suivants illustrent la méthode.

The Time Indicator prepared from these calculations will be found on the succeeding page. The object of introducing this Table is to show more precisely (by specifying the seconds) the difference in time between the places indicated.

CANADIAN TIME INDICATOR,

CANADIAN TIME INDICATOR,

Showing the Difference of Time between the chief Places of Canada and New York, Boston, Portland, and Buffalo.

It will be observed, by glancing at the Indicator, that when it is noon in Montreal, it is 37 minutes past 11 at Toronto—thus showing that the difference between Toronto and Montreal is 23 minutes; and in like manner may be ascertained the difference between any other two places shown on the Indicator.

P R E F A C E .

The perplexity ever attendant upon any endeavor to obtain information from the usual Railway Guides, whether in Europe or the United States, arises from the system of massing, in the smallest possible space, a variety of particulars not really congruous to the main object of the enquiring Traveller—namely, to understand clearly the best route to his destination;—precisely as if a stranger in a city, on enquiring his best way to reach some well-known portion of it, were to be answered at once by a dozen informants, one of whom probably giving him a plain direction (could the stranger sufficiently abstract his attention to heed it), while another tells him of the houses of entertainment he will find on the way, another of the policemen and managers of the streets, another of the waggons of goods he will meet, another that he can certainly come back the same way if he like; with, from the others, similar information, which might possibly under other circumstances be very useful to him. Therefore, in the compilation of the present work, it has been borne in mind that there are, especially in Canada, two descriptions of travellers. Many, who are strangers, desire chiefly to know how to select the most advantageous Route to their destination; while others, from the experience they have acquired by constant travel, know well which to select for their various occasions of business through the country, and only require to be kept informed of the changes of arrivals and departures, and of other circumstances, that usually affect railway and steamboat communications: for the former, it was deemed advisable to preserve the main portion of the work (the Routes and their accompanying Table) in a clear and simple form, free from a mass of details that might probably confuse them; while, for the latter, who need fuller particulars, there are given a Railway Time Indicator, and a complete set of authenticated Time Tables of all the railways in Canada, with their special connections; presenting, altogether, it is believed, a more complete and useful Traveller's Guide than has yet been offered to the public.

The present work, which first appeared in the "Canada Directory for 1857-58," is an attempt to avoid, for Canadian travellers, the confusion charged against the Railway Guides published in other countries; and abundant evidence has been furnished to show that it has been successful, and that the republication of this portion of the Directory in a separate form would receive a large meed of public favour. As one evidence of this appreciation, it may be permitted here to give the following extract from a review, by the Glasgow Commonwealth, of the Canada Directory, especially as it furnishes an apt illustration of the peculiar method that characterises these "Routes:"—

"As an evidence that we are not bestowing too high encomiums on the Canada Directory, we may state that it has mastered in the shortest space, and in the simplest manner, the problem that seems to have puzzled all the Bradshaws of Britain. It has perfected a system of Railway and Steamboat guiding; and those who have so often plunged in vain into the mysterious pages of one of our larger railway guides, and been baffled, after their most strenuous endeavours, to extract information, may well wonder when we tell them that the task has been achieved as merely one of the pieces of incidental information given in this massive volume. We shall take an illustration. We wish to go, for instance, to the little village of Addison, in Canada West. We find therefore an alphabetical table containing the names of all the cities, towns, and villages in Canada, and consequently have no difficulty in finding the name of Addison. The Table has four columns—the first containing the names of the places; the second, the names of the townships in which they are situated; the third, the counties; and the fourth, the “most convenient” points accessible by railroad or steamboat. We find, then, that Brockville is the most convenient station; and Brockville is printed thus in column 4, “Brockville, A, C, D, or 15.” The capital letters and figures point out the routes or lines of travel. We turn therefore to A, and find that A gives us the Grand Trunk Railway from Montreal westward—C, the Royal Mail Through line from Montreal westward—D, the American line from Montreal westward—and 15, the Bay of Quinté steamers, bi-weekly from Montreal westward. There are therefore four routes for reaching Brockville, and the traveller may take his choice. By means of this Directory we can thus travel to any village in Canada with incomparably more facility than to many of our own villages in Scotland or England; and the publishers of our Railway Guides at home might perhaps take a useful hint from the mode in which the Canadian editor has mastered the knotty question of giving plain directions.”

If the plan of this work really possess any peculiar merit, it is owing to the adoption of a principle not perhaps immediately evident to the casual observer. While the Railway Guides and other publications of a similar nature, hitherto published, confine themselves principally to such places at which there are stations, this work includes these in an alphabetical list of all places, geographically described, that can be reached by one or more of the Railway or Steamboat Routes of the country;—a mode of conveying such description of information, it is submitted, that must particularly recommend itself to those who, from their necessary ignorance of the country, must naturally desiderate the plainest possible directions to guide them in their travels.

It is therefore hoped that these Routes and their connections with those in the United States, with the accompanying Table, will not only be deemed sufficiently explicit for the general traveller, but that they will especially serve as a protection to the strangers who annually land on our shores from the very serious mistakes to which their ignorance of the country renders them liable. The importance of a correct knowledge in this respect may be seen from the fact, that an unnecessary travel of twenty miles by stage or by a specially hired vehicle would probably cost an immigrant family nearly as much as the whole of their inland transport besides.

The port of Quebec is assumed as a starting point, and so throughout the course of travel is supposed to be westward. In a few peculiar cases, where a favorable opportunity occurs to select another Route than that given in the Table, the necessary information is stated in a Note upon the place affected by such a contingency.

In cases where the Main Routes run in a parallel direction and generally through the same places, it has not been thought proper here to exhibit any preference; but rather leave each immigrant to decide for himself, according as he may be governed by the value of his time, the amount of his means, and other peculiar circumstances. It should however be observed that No. 14 is a cheap but tedious Route, and is therefore chiefly used in cases requiring the transport of families or of considerable baggage; persons unimpaired in these respects generally prefer to travel by the regular stages from Brockville and other points convenient to destinations on the route of the Rideau River and Canal.

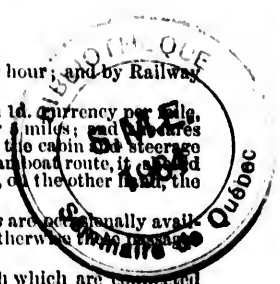

EXPLANATIONS, ESPECIALLY IMPORTANT TO EMIGRANTS.

1. The travel is continued night and day on the principal Routes.
2. The rate of travel by Steamboat, upward, averages about 12 miles, and downward 14 miles, per hour; and by Railway 24 miles per hour.
3. The rate of charge, per adult, averages by Steamboat, between Quebec and Montreal, cabin 1d. currency per mile, steerage 1d. per 3 miles; between Montreal and Hamilton, cabin 1½d., steerage 3d., per 4 miles; and by Railway, throughout, for 1st and 2nd class respectively, average slightly higher than the cabin 3d. steerage rates; stating averages about 2½d. per mile. But, in choosing between a railway and steamboat route, it should be borne in mind that the former comprises a less number of miles in a journey; while, on the other hand, the latter includes meals in the cabin charges.
4. In cases requiring the transport of more than an usual quantity of luggage, Freight Steamers are occasionally available between Quebec and ports on Lake Erie, and between Montreal and Ottawa; but otherwise the passage are unprofitably long and tedious.
5. Two Railway trains start westward daily from Quebec, as also a Steamer every evening, with which are connected as closely as possible, all the continuous lines of travel; which connections are stated in this work at the foot of every Route. Montreal being the chief centre of Canadian traffic, and the means of transport very frequent, no direct connections in regard to that City require to be noticed: travellers proceeding East, West, or South, need suffer at any time but very trifling detention.
6. The personal luggage of Emigrants, which is usually heavier than the common allowance made to other passengers, is carried free on all the Main Routes.
7. Children under 12 years of age are charged at half the rate of adults, and those under 3 years free.
8. No charge should be made for transhipments of luggage at any point short of the full distance comprised in the passage-ticket purchased by the passenger, unless a special condition to the contrary is expressed thereon; but it is expected (and is very advisable) that immigrants will render personal assistance in such removals.
9. The following are the "currency" rates of the several British coins, disregarding fractions of cents:—

	s.	d.	op.	¢	cents.
Sovereign, .....	24	4	op	4	87
Half-sovereign, .....	12	2	"	2	43
Crown, .....	6	1	"	1	22
Half-crown, .....	3	6	"		61
Florin, .....	2	5	"		48
Shilling, .....	1	2	"		24
Sixpence, .....		7	"		12

Pence and half-pence retain the same value.

Frequently, in the common usages of trade, the crown and half-crown are reckoned respectively at 6s. and 3s., and, in almost all cases, the 1s. and the 6d. at 1s. 3d. and 7½d.; the last, in Western Canada, is called a shilling (for "York shilling"), in contradistinction to a "shilling currency," or 12d.
