FEDERAL GRANTS FOR PROVINCE ASKED

Royal Commission Told Aid Needed For Settlers, Farming

Restoration of Dominion Subsidy for Agriculture Called Necessary by Provincial Minister

$100,000 A YEAR FOR ADVERTISING

Hon. J. A. Murray Urges Drive for Immigrants; Issuing of Return Tickets Only to Harvesters Recommended; Encouragement of Fish and Coal Industries Requested

THE CASE for New Brunswick was elaborated this morning before the Royal Commission, sitting to hear the claims of the Maritime Provinces for a carrying out of the Confederation pact by a number of witnesses. A restoration of the federal grant to agriculture was urged by Hon. Lewis Smith, Provincial Minister of Agriculture; Hon. J. A. Murray, Superintendent of Immigration, recommended a grant of $100,000 a year for the purpose of adequately advertising the advantages of the province and placing settlers on the farms here. A. N. McLean advocated the removal of the sales tax on sardines and the making of the duty on imported canned fish an ad valorem instead of a straight duty. A. D. Taylor asked that the sub-vention of 50 cents a ton on New Brunswick coal be restored and made applicable to short hauls, and W. S. Fisher made a plea for equipment of the ports of these provinces and the compulsory routing of Canadian trade through these ports.

The chairman of the Commission, Sir Andrew Duncan, said the work of the Commission would be greatly aided if their request for a summary of the evidence which it was proposed to submit had been compiled with.

HON. LEWIS SMITH

The first witness was Hon. Lewis Smith, Provincial Minister of Agriculture, who said that the chief difficulty in his department was the withdrawal of the federal subsidy crippling the work of the department. Up to three or four years ago the department received from $40,000 to $60,000. If this amount was now available, management would be given to the fish stock industry. Another difficulty under which the province labored was the harvest excursions, which gave a cheap rate going to the west and the return at the same rate. He thought if a return ticket was obtainable at the same rate, it would help to bring them back.

These excursions took young men out of the province at a time when they were needed here. He suggested that nothing but return tickets be sold to the harvesters. The minister said the striking posters advertising these excursions were seen by immigrants coming in, and induced them to leave this province and go west.

OPPORTUNITIES HERE

Hon. Mr. Smith said if a young man really wanted to work he need not go to the west for employment; he could find it here and the white situation was so, he objected to the railways and the Dominion government advertising here for settlers for the west.

Asked what would be done with the federal grant if it was given the province, Mr. Smith said a part would be spent on agricultural education. In answer to Sir Andrew, he said the province now conducted short courses for agricultural students, but it would be much better if the courses could be longer.

The minister said there was in the province about 26,000 farms of more than 50 acres each, but could not give any figures as to the number of men employed.

HON. J. A. MURRAY.

Hon. J. A. Murray, superintendent of immigration for the province, said the province had for years labored under a great disability in the advertising overseas as compared with the western provinces, the emphasis being placed on the west as the place in Canada for settlers to go to.

In answer Sir Andrew asked what had been done by the province to impress on the federal immigration department the injustices complained of. Mr. Murray said immigration was a federal matter and the province was dependent on them, but the matter had been called to their attention at various times.

Since taking over his present office he had been in correspondence with every immigration agency in the British Isles and Scandinavian countries and they all asked for information. He referred to the farm settlement board which had bought 478 farms for our own people and settlers from overseas of these 80 per cent. had been sold to New Brunswick families and 299 of them had been fully paid for.

IMMIGRANTS NEEDED.

Mr. Murray said New Brunswick needed immigrants with a small amount of capital, a minimum of $100 being required. The farms were sold on a cash payment of 25 per cent. on farms under $1,000 and 50 per cent. on farms from $1,000 to $5,000. The total capital investment on the average farm was about $2,500, and this was the class of immigrant the province was trying to get.

The province last year sent a representative to the Scandinavian countries and his visit was being followed up, but the province needed financial

Evidence Stolen In Jersey Murder Case; Prosecutor Perturbed

Action Now Needed

AN EDITORIAL IN THE FINANCIAL POST

ALL THE spouting of well-meaning platform performers counts for nothing when demands for national unity are not given some practical attention, in the form of measures that will find the economic solution to sectional discontent in Canada.

Saint John people, for instance, are not much impressed by idle pleas to use Canadian ports when the Canadian government operates a practically free port in a foreign country in direct and immediate competition with Saint John, where port fees are charged.

The Canadian National Railways provide wharf and warehouse accommodation at Portland, free of charge, for all steamers doing business with that railway. Competition evidently makes this necessary. They provide similar free accommodation at Saint John, to the extent of two berths owned by the railway, but the accommodation at these two berths is so limited that very few shippers are able to take advantage of the privilege.

They are forced, therefore, to dock at berths owned by the city of Saint John, or by the Dominion government, and where charges are assessed against all classes of traffic. Saint John business men feel that the solution is to make Saint John a national port. Negotiations have taken place with the Dominion government, but it has not yet been possible to arrange satisfactory terms.

The determining hindrance seems to be that the matter has been viewed at Ottawa as a routine, departmental affair, rather than as a question of policy, a matter of more than local interest. Sir Andrew Rae-Duncan's commission is hearing many a story of economic disadvantages unfairly forced upon Maritime Province people. If the inquiry brings them lucidly before the public it will have served a useful purpose.

Indiana Boy Is Burned At Stake By Pals

WHITING, Ind., Aug. 3.—George Cannan, nine, is dead, the victim of his playfellows, who "burned him at the stake." He died before rescuers could reach him. The group of playmates decided upon George as the captive to be burned in the "Indian pagoda." He was tied to a stake, but the fire would not light. So someone poured turpentine on the wood at his feet and on his clothing. He was in flames a moment later. Policemen were unable to learn the names of his companions, who fled, screaming, when the fire started.

PEACE MOVES MADE BEHIND MEXICO SCENE

Trace Proposal Is Rejected by President Calles

PROTEST BY U. S.

Oregon Announces Support of Government in Religious Controversy

Canadian Press
MEXICO CITY, Aug. 3.—Although the proposal of the Roman Catholic archbishopric for a trace in the religious situation has not been accepted by President Calles, peace manoeuvres continue behind the scenes. The manoeuvres may accomplish nothing, but considerable hope exists that they will.

President Calles in rejecting the proposal of the Archbishopric, declared "that the federal government will only limit itself to act with the required energy to enforce the laws of this country."

What is considered as giving added strength to the hand of President Calles in enforcing the new religious regulation, is the statement given to The Associated Press in Nogales, Arizona, by former President Obregon, who announced his support of the government in the religious controversy. General Obregon is a potential presidential candidate in the 1928 election.

U. S. PROTEST MADE

What is considered here as a virtual protest by United States Consul General Weddell, has been deposited with the Department of State. It concerns the refusal to accept the Mexican government of the Episcopal Church of San Jose de Gracia, last Saturday night.

It is asserted that the Mexican Episcopal clergyman in charge of the church, failed to register as required by the Mexican government, and as soon as this technically is overcome, the church will be returned to the charge of the transfer of Roman Catholic churches into the hands of municipal appointed citizens' committees, who have charge of them during the absence of the priests, continued quietly yesterday and today, is expected to be completed shortly. When the work of checking up inventories of church property is completed, the doors of churches will be open and worshippers will be free to enter and pray when they so desire.

VALUABLES MISSING

The cathedral in Mexico City continues closed. The municipal committee refused to accept the inventories given it, declaring that several gold vessels are missing. The committees appointed by municipal authorities to check up inventories of church property are missing from almost every Roman Catholic church in the city. The authorities have ordered an investigation.

Unofficially the theory is advanced that some of the articles may have been removed by priests to their homes or elsewhere for the purpose of protecting them.

A number of the priests although without churches, are remaining in the city. They are wearing civilian clothes, and living in the homes of relatives or friends or in boarding houses. They are prepared to officiate in a private capacity when parishioners need their services. Many of the clergymen are assuming lay occupations until church services are resumed again.

Some have left or are leaving Mexico, but apparently not in large numbers.

BOYCOTT IS FEARED

The economic boycott called by the National League for Defence of Religious Liberty for the purpose of slowing down business in an endeavor to have the government rescind or ameliorate its religious regulations, is having no effect so far as Mexico City is concerned. Business men, however, greatly fear that it will manifest itself here later. Meanwhile reports from many parts of the republic tell a different story. People in towns, villages, and some of the largest cities, especially in the central states, are wearing mourning and draping their houses in black, and eating only sufficient food to sustain life. They are avoiding amusements and purchasing nothing they can do without with the tranquillity prevailing.

MRS. FRANCES HALL, the central figure now in the "murder mystery of the century," who is held for the slaying of her husband, Rev. Edw. W. Hall, and his companion, Mrs. Eleanor Mills, walking with one of her attorneys, Timothy Pfeiffer, of New York.

AT THE hour of midnight, Mrs. Hall was taken from this handsome home in New Brunswick, N. J., to the cell marked by the arrow in the Somerset county jail at Somerville. She was denied bond.

One of the first steps would be to learn how the evidence disappeared, he said, and who is responsible for its disappearance. The warden of Somerset County Jail referred all questions to Prosecutor Bergen of Somerset County, but the latter declined to comment.

Senator Simpson declined to say whether he believed the evidence was sufficient to warrant the arrest last week of Mrs. Frances Stevens Hall, widow of the slain rector, now free in $10,000 bail. He said it was probable that the only witness he would call in the near future, would be Mrs. Gibson, the "pig woman."

Fredericton People Keenly Interested In Taxation Problems Here

SAINT JOHN'S taxation problem, particularly that phase of it bearing upon the Saint John Assessment Act as the special instrument, is being followed with almost nervous interest by the people of the City of Fredericton. An act or system similar to the Saint John method is about to be employed at the capital, and judging from the reports cropping up through the press and from individuals, Fredericton taxpayers are bracing themselves for almost any untoward eventuality.

DR. W. C. KIERSTEAD of the University of New Brunswick faculty, who was one of the framers of the Saint John Assessment Act, and who has made an exhaustive study of taxation systems about the continent, is said to have been prominent in moulding the Fredericton plan. It would appear from gossip heard in business and household circles in Fredericton, the proposed new law up there—because of its similarity to the Saint John system—is being anticipated with apprehension.

COMING back to the Saint John situation, an interesting sidelight on real estate under the existing tax system is presented in the case of a gentleman desirous of buying a new home. He was offered one of the best residential properties in the city, a home made available through a death in the family, but upon looking up the house on the assessors' list it was found to be taxed just $2,000 more than the stiff price asked. In other words the prospective purchaser would be burdened from the outset with an overplus of taxes that would make his property exceedingly costly, a levy out of all proportion with its true value.

Restrictions Put On Papal Audiences of Non-Catholics

ROME, Aug. 3.—A more rigid system of vigilance over audiences of non-Catholics at the Vatican has been instituted. It is officially announced. Before such audiences are granted, it was said, it must be made clear that they are not desired merely to satisfy curiosity. The applicants are to be asked whether they really desire to be received through a feeling of piety and respect for the Pontiff.

The announcement was made in detail of a report that audiences by the Pope to all non-Catholics had been suspended, after the refusal of some non-Catholics to kneel as the Pontiff passed. It was added that several non-Catholics had arisen in which non-Catholics showed an attitude unbecoming the occasion, and it was because of this that the more rigid control was instituted.

STATEMENTS OF FIVE PERSONS GONE FROM SAFE

SILENT ON PLANS

Convinced That "Pig Woman" Did Not Invent Story Told Previously

Canadian Press
SOMERVILLE, N. J., Aug. 3.—Important evidence in the sensational Hall-Mills murder case, including statements of five persons under suspicion, was missing today from the official files. Transcripts of statements made by witnesses in the initial inquiry four years ago have been removed from the safe of the warden of Somerset county jail, according to State Senator Simpson, newly appointed special prosecutor, who declared he was horrified by the discovery.

Nevertheless Senator Simpson pressed the belief he had sufficient evidence at hand to indict a woman and at least two men for the murder of Rev. Dr. Edward W. Hall, and Mrs. Eleanor R. Mills.

DOCUMENTS SOUGHT.

One of the first steps would be to learn how the evidence disappeared, he said, and who is responsible for its disappearance. The warden of Somerset County Jail referred all questions to Prosecutor Bergen of Somerset County, but the latter declined to comment.

Senator Simpson declined to say whether he believed the evidence was sufficient to warrant the arrest last week of Mrs. Frances Stevens Hall, widow of the slain rector, now free in $10,000 bail. He said it was probable that the only witness he would call in the near future, would be Mrs. Gibson, the "pig woman."

BELIEVES WOMAN'S STORY.

The prosecutor said he was "absolutely convinced" after an examination of Mrs. Gibson, yesterday, that it is not the type of person who through sheer imagination, could invent any of the evidence which she gives for the night of the murder. The senator said that Mrs. Gibson told him she recognized a woman and two of the men.

HANSARD QUOTED IN CUSTOMS CONTROVERSY

STEVENS REPLIES TO CHALLENGE OF EX-PREMIER

Customs Minister Declares Boivin and Bureau Defended by King

Ottawa, Ont., Aug. 3.—Hon. H. Stevens, Minister of Customs and Excise, in a statement issued here, replies to the challenge of former Premier King, Liberal leader, for substitution of the resolutions which Mr. Stevens made in his open letter issued on Thursday last, with respect to the customs probe.

The text of Mr. Stevens' statement is as follows:

"Mr. King says that 'in the committee's report to parliament, there was no reflection either on his government or Mr. Boivin, yet Mr. Stevens' amendment in the House proceeded to censure the government.'

CHARGES EQUIVOCATION

"I have already declared that Mr. King was quoted as stating, when the above quoted statement, when compared with the facts, will amply prove it. The facts are as follows:

"On page 3062 of the evidence of the special committee, is set forth a resolution moved by Mr. Bennett and seconded by myself, which resolution charges that: 'Ministerial action has been influenced by the improper pressure of political associates. Resulting in the suspension and in some instances, loss of revenue to the country.'

"The resolution concludes with the words:

"The action of the Hon. George H. Boivin, the present Minister of Customs and Excise, in these matters, merits the censure of the House."

"This resolution was defeated five to four, all of the four Conservative members voting for the resolution, the Liberals and the Independent voting against it.

"Later on, when the report was tendered to the House for adoption, I moved a resolution in almost the same terms, which resolution will be found on page 5,018 of Hansard, and which was carried by a majority of 12 in the House, and yet Mr. King has the audacity to assert that I made no effort to bring this vote of censure before the committee.

QUOTES HANSARD.

"Next, Mr. King challenges me to produce from Hansard a single quotation which will show that he defended the action of Mr. Boivin. I will now show that he not only defended Mr. Boivin, but Mr. Bureau also. Pages 5,147, 5,148 and 5,149 are largely devoted to a defence of Mr. Bureau, and from which I quote:

"Mr. Mackenzie King—All the time that Mr. Bureau was in the ministry I never knew of an act on his part, with respect to the administration of the Department of Customs, which was dishonorable or dishonest in any way."

"And again: 'I am not prepared yet to believe the charges made against Mr. Bureau.'

"I now quote from the unanimous report of the committee which report Mr. King accepted in full: 'The Hon. Jacques Bureau failed to appreciate

No More Cloudy Teeth You Restore Color Now

Gain gleaming, sparkling whiteness

Please accept full 10-day tube free. Note the amazing difference in the color of your teeth and firmness of your gums when dingy film is cleared off as leading dentists urge.

MODERN dental science has discovered a new way in tooth and gum care. Off-color teeth are quickly whitened, restored to sparkling clearness. Tender gums are firmed, given healthy color.

One's whole appearance thus is often amazingly changed in this way. Famous movie stars use it before going on a scene as an essential part of their "make-up." That's largely why movie smiles are so glistening.

Leading dental authorities now widely urge it. For it marks a new era in tooth and gum protection. Please accept a full 10-day tube to test. You'll find your teeth are not naturally off color... simply coated with a dingy film that clouds them.

Just a film hiding them
And imperiling your gums
Dental science now traces scores of tooth and gum troubles to a germ-laden film that forms on your teeth.
Run your tongue across your teeth and you will feel it—a slippery, viscous coating.

Clears film off
Firms the Gums
It accomplishes two important things at once: Removes that film, then firms the gums.
A few days' use will prove its power beyond all doubt.

SAINT JOHN, N. B., AUGUST 3, 1926.

CONDEMNED HOUSING.

Mr. Henry Lytle's report to the sub-district Board of Health will come as something of a shock; it is one of the most dismal pieces of reading we have encountered for a long time, and should rouse us to immediate action.

The report covers only one district and Mr. Lytle says that from casual observation, he thinks that there are parallel and even worse conditions existing elsewhere in the city; furthermore that the blocks where bad conditions prevail are in many cases held solely by the most dastardly of residential property.

The report should be read in full and special note taken of Mr. Lytle's observations on the question of sewers, light, overcrowding and lack of, or bad, sanitary arrangements. Amateur plumbing appears to be responsible for much of the evil and this is surely a question which is, or should be, legislated for in our building laws.

Now the question is what are we going to do about it? Out of one section of Saint John roughly one-tenth of the houses are condemned as unfit for human habitation. At a rough estimate this affects a third of the people or more, all of whose health is endangered and who, in their turn, menace the health of their more fortunate neighbors.

Heaven knows, our tax bills are high enough, but it would surely be a fair economy, not to say inhuman disregard of the rights of others, to permit a plague spot to fester in our midst. And is it the only plague spot? Mr. Lytle does not think so.

Mr. Lytle has made certain recommendations. Every single one of these should be carefully examined. The assumption by the city of responsibility for collecting and disposal of waste is a particularly urgent matter. This never will be, indeed cannot be, satisfactorily accomplished by private agency, and it is the basis of sanitary control.

But outside public responsibility there is the land itself. Does the building law cover all necessary means to combat the situation? If so, is it being enforced? It may be argued that decent people can only afford to pay rent to low than the landlord is unable economically to provide and maintain decent housing. Can we as a community afford to suffer to exist a state of affairs which can only result in the filling of our hospitals and perhaps our jails, institutions to maintain public money? Are we to pay to cure when we might pay the same or even less to prevent?

His Worship the Mayor has the whole question of civic administration under review. Is this not a part of the main issue intimately connected perhaps in its economic phase with the incidence of taxation?

ADMINISTRATIVE DEPARTMENTS.

Mr. S. Y. Wilson, testifying on behalf of the fishing industry of Nova Scotia before the Duncan Commission, agreed that the Minister of Marine need not necessarily be a fisherman. This is an important recognition of a principle, long held in European countries, that the head of an administrative department need not only need not, generally speaking, should not be an expert in the subject dealt with by his department.

A minister's duties are twofold, organization and administration. The latter, under normal circumstances far exceed the former in volume. A man can usually bring a more detached vision to administrative matters when his mind is unencumbered by executive minutiae. A sound administrator is always able to extract from the permanent officials the requisite data on which to base his decisions. If a minister be a good administrator, he is also a good organizer to the point of being able to pick subordinates who can devise organization plans. Only in exceptional circumstances will organization outweigh administration in importance and justify the installation of a technical expert as departmental chief.

An example of this is the office of Secretary of State for War in Great Britain. Usually he is a civilian, but when the outbreak of the Great War made the organization of new armies on a huge scale the almost paramount concern of the War Office, Lord Kitchener was appointed Secretary. His armies were a tremendous success, the expansion of the strictly administrative side of the war arrangements led much to be desired. So far as already existing machinery went, all was well. Beyond that, the new administration tended to shortightedness, the expert judged situations by the standards he knew where the non-expert would have given more weight to the words of executives able to tell of altered conditions.

The requirements of small and large departments vary as much as those of small and large businesses. Usually in small affairs the administrative expert is of some value and is an economy. Perhaps this has justified our former Ministers of Agriculture and Doctor

Queer Quirks of Nature

VAIN MALE USES PERFUME.

Common Frivolities.

(right) are perhaps the most fragrant, bringing a spicy odor like that of sandal-wood.

The frillflies shown in the picture is a rather small northern kind. If you catch one of these frillflies and smell the upper surface of the forewings you can easily detect the fragrance quite strong.

If you do not succeed with the first try, another, for the females enter the field in the general confusion, and in males it is much stronger in some than in others.

ness has evidently been reproduced suddenly and without warning in the scenes of peace. The very language employed by writers to convey to the nation the nature of the calamity is that which for two years used to be so sadly familiar and to the veterans among the soldiers and sailors whose fate quartered them in the locality it must be deemed as if the night-mares of 1917 and 1918 were once more upon them.

The Political Fray

Conservative PLEDGES, POLICIES AND RESULTS (Toronto Saturday Night).

Mr. Meighen says the King Government has trifled with its pledges and has scored at its promises to the people. Well, think it may not have so, but it certainly has trifled with both pledges and promises. Is it not also true that it has bungled in most if not, as Mr. Meighen says, in every attempt at initiating important legislation, and has it not too often presented the unedifying spectacle of reversing its proposals and withdrawing its bills?

Has it not, in fiscal matters adopted a course of fittal and irrational tinkering designed merely to placate its Allies? What is it that has "disturbed business, frightened capital, contracted employment, almost dried up immigration and driven hundreds of thousands of our sons and daughters into a foreign land?" Premier Meighen lays the blame at the door of the King Government and its Allies. No impartial observer can deny that, aside from the operation of economic laws which no Government could prevent, all these things resulted in great measure from the unholly combination of unscientific tariff tinkering and smuggling aided and abetted by customs officials who were protected and sustained by one of Mr. King's chief ministers.

NO MOCK GOVERNMENT

(Charlottetown Guardian). The late Government, which it would be unfair to call Liberal, has been tried and has failed. For the sake of holding office it abandoned every principle of the once great Liberal party; it secured support by promises which it could not and never intended to keep; it held out bribes to constituencies; let its different departments, notably the Customs Department, run wild, permitting the country to be robbed of millions of dollars, and finally was censured and defeated by those who had kept it in office.

With a reputation of similar condition possible, with a group of non-political and irresponsible representatives ready to play a similar game again, the only way out as already stated, is to give the old reliable and dependable Conservative party such a majority as shall make reputation of mock government impossible.

THE FISCAL POLICY

(London, Ont., Free Press). Canada needs at the present time a good national fiscal policy. That is a policy which is based not on wire-pulling and bargaining, but is based on the sound requirements of Canada. It needs a policy that will keep Canadians in Canada; that will develop Canadian resources in Canada and that will have as its main object, Forward Canada.

THE NATIONAL RAILWAYS

(Toronto Globe). Mr. Meighen says he will insist upon a higher protective tariff, no matter how the next House of Commons is composed. He should be equally frank about his policy with regard to the National Railways.

POEMS I

LOVE

"A Prayer," by Grant Allen.

THIS well-known English novelist wrote little verse; but when he did, he struck twelve. This is the kind of man I particularly care for—an energizing, uplifting utterance, written to help one's fellow—a flash, almost an inspiration from on high. Few people know it; but it has long been one of my particular favorites.

A crowned Caprice is god of this world's breast are his white wings furled. No ear to listen, no eye to see, No heart to feel for a man hath he.

But his pitiless arm is swift to smite; And his mute lips utter one word of might. Mid the clash of gentler souls and "Wrong must thou do, or wrong must suffer." Then start, oh! dumb blind god, at least that we Rather the sufferers than the doers be.

DINNER STORIES

OLD Zeph Dorgan sat on a log near the bridge one Sunday morning, coasting anxious glances at an uncertain sky. His willow ashpole and can of bait lay at his feet.

Before he had quite decided on the matter the minister came by, having taken a short cut owing to the fear of a fall. Brother Zeph," he asked, "is you gwine to ch'ch or is you gwine to preach?"

"Ah dunno yet," said Zeph, "Ah'm jest a-wrestlin' wif ma conscience."

Timely Views On World Topics

FIGHTING BETWEEN CAPITAL AND LABOR IS COSTLY TO ALL.

By LORD GREY, British Statesman, in a Recent Speech.

ENGLAND cannot afford the antagonism which exists between capital and labor today. If only some time ago, if only in the last century, employers had realized that they must make the wage earners feel that they had a partnership in the industry, we should have had today trades unions representing a generation of workers who were brought up to full knowledge of the conditions of industry and would be up for the August school of can of bait lay at his feet.

The DIM of LIME LIGHT

TELLER, Alaska—One of the most excited members of the Amundsen polar party was Titina, Captain Nobile's dog mascot. As long as things went smoothly and there were only North Poles and things like that to look at, the little 18-month-old terrier was calm. Most of the time she never had occasion to use. But when the Norge was bounced and bumped in the storm of Alaska, which was very nearly disastrous, Titina was worried. She admitted it. Her tail quivered and curled under her legs. And her master seemed frightfully pre-occupied. But she brightened up immediately the Norge came under control. After all, she was a mascot, and her expedition had explored the North Pole.

LONDON—Dr. William M. McGovern has discovered how to assure himself a pleasant welcome in native villages where he goes exploring far in the upper reaches of the Amazon basin. He wears a pair of brilliant pajamas which amaze the natives that he is received with gusto and acclaim. Dr. McGovern reports that he found evidence of a civilization much older than the Aztec; that there is gold, silver, coal and petroleum to be found in the northwest part of the Amazon basin. Aside from these and a few other matters—his explorations have shown that the natives are a different race from those of the Amazon basin. NEW YORK—Brooklyn Bridge is celebrating its 43rd birthday. By way of celebration, painters have given it a new coat of paint and renovated the old roadways. Four thousand three hundred and ninety-seven persons and ere traffic cops said, when interviewed for birthday comments, "Well, a lot of water has flowed under the old bridge since then, eh?"

FIGHTING BETWEEN CAPITAL AND LABOR IS COSTLY TO ALL.

By LORD GREY, British Statesman, in a Recent Speech.

ENGLAND cannot afford the antagonism which exists between capital and labor today. If only some time ago, if only in the last century, employers had realized that they must make the wage earners feel that they had a partnership in the industry, we should have had today trades unions representing a generation of workers who were brought up to full knowledge of the conditions of industry and would be up for the August school of can of bait lay at his feet.

Before he had quite decided on the matter the minister came by, having taken a short cut owing to

REMEDIES ARE SUGGESTED TO MEET SITUATION IN MARITIMES

M'Kenna Presents Trade Board Case To Duncan Commission

Canadian Partnership Has Not Been Fairly Operated, Declares Spokesman for Saint John Organization

THE Canadian partnership has not been fairly operated. We have not seen our ports properly equipped by the Dominion as national undertakings, nor have we seen the trade of the Great West develop with the seaboard, but we have seen Government-owned railways used to develop United States ports. We have assumed obligations for much more than we have received, and in no respect has there, so far as the Maritime Provinces are concerned, been manifested that spirit of partnership on which Confederation must rest.

So declared yesterday J. D. McKenna, President of the New Brunswick Publishing Company, in summing up the case for the Saint John Board of Trade, before the Royal Commission, headed by Sir Andrew Rae Duncan, investigating the claims of the Maritime Provinces with reference to the Canadian Confederation.

F. W. Cornell, freight rate expert, combated the suggestion that a milling enterprise could be successfully operated at a Maritime port.

Mr. McKenna took pains to explain that the Maritimes were not envious of the prosperity of Central Canada. But he contended that Quebec and Ontario, reaping the benefits accruing to them by reason of a confederation which the Maritimes had made possible, should be prepared to do everything in their power to see that Nova Scotia, Prince Edward Island and New Brunswick fared equitably with the rest of Canada.

Mr. McKenna divided his presentation into three parts. In the first place he sought to establish that the Maritimes had been induced to enter the confederation on the distinct understanding that they would share in certain benefits, secondly that these benefits had not accrued and thirdly he submitted a list of suggested remedies to meet the situation.

In the elaboration of his first point that the Maritimes had been induced to bring about a confederation, Mr. McKenna pointed out that the Maritimes had made possible the confederation against their better judgment, Mr. McKenna tendered a book containing the official record of the correspondence and resolutions relating to the proposed union of 1867, which he characterized as "one of the very few in existence." This established, he contended, that a federal union as opposed to a legislative union of the provinces had been arranged and showed that the British North America Act was not the real basis of Confederation.

L. W. Simms, president of the Saint John Board of Trade and president of the T. S. Simms, Co., Ltd., in his address to the Commission, declared that freight rates from the Maritimes to other parts of Canada were too high, and submitted, in referring to rates put upon the production of his own plant, figures to bear out his arguments. In answer to a query by Sir Andrew, Mr. Simms pointed out that in indiscriminate lowering of freight rates, was not a "sure-all."

"The geographic situation of Saint John is by nature advantageous," said Mr. Simms. The speaker continued stating that industry operates on a narrow margin of profit and therefore, a conspicuous handicap of from one to four per cent was sufficient to eliminate many industries.

Mr. Simms declared, "What has affected Maritime Province industries."

In reply to the chairman, Mr. Simms said that his plant employed between 250 and 300, according to the season of the year. He further explained that his firm manufactured brush bristles, household brushes and brooms. The speaker stated that his firm enjoyed a national distribution in paint brushes, but it was confined to territory east of Winnipeg for household brush distribution and east of Windsor for the distribution of brooms. Mr. Simms submitted figures, which he said represented the percentage of the wholesale price charged for these three varieties of brushes, that showed the amount of the freight rates for shipments of these commodities to the west.

Mr. Simms' figures showed that in each of the three cases it cost the firm more to make shipments of their products to Calgary than it did to send them to the Pacific coast. In reply to Sir Andrew, the speaker said that Panama Canal competition as regards ocean freight, made the freight rates to Calgary higher than those on shipments going to the east.

Sir Andrew—"How long has your business been established?" Mr. Simms—"Fifty-four years." Sir Andrew—"How have you been able to carry on when so many other Maritime industries appear to have failed?" Mr. Simms—"The freight rates we enjoy on paint brushes keeps us going. The value of this commodity is so high that the freight rates in his regard do not bother us."

HANDICAP OF FREIGHTS The chairman referred to the candy industry of the Maritime Provinces and asked Mr. Simms about it at length. Mr. Simms declared that A. J. Ganong, of Ganong Bros., St. John, had informed him that he could rebuild his plant within a period of three or five years, (Mr. Simms did not remember the exact number of years) with the money he loses by being located in St. Stephen instead of Montreal. "Mr. Ganong was offering to the freight charges," the speaker said.

Mr. Duncan—"Have you any competition in your business in the Maritimes?" Mr. Simms—"We had no competition for some time."

London, Conn., rather than to route it through Canadian ports. Witness said that he had personally taken this matter up with Mr. Wallace Campbell, general manager of the Ford Company at Ford, Ont., and he (McKenna) was convinced that it was a clear diversion of freight on the part of C. N. R. officials to United States ports.

Mr. McKenna next took up the remarks of Sir Henry Thornton while in Saint John at a dinner. This was in November, 1924, and Sir Henry had declared on that occasion that the situation in the Maritimes was a national disaster, it was no time for words but was time for action and the machine, Sir Henry said, was not hitting on all cylinders.

"I think the commission could very well ask Sir Henry what he meant by those words, whether he was just giving an after dinner speech or talking officially," remarked Mr. McKenna.

NEW LINE BROUGHT HERE Mr. McKenna said that since the New London, Conn., matter the Ford Motor Company of Canada was sent to the United States ports and as a direct result of this matter the Roosevelt Line is now coming here. He cited the advantage meant to a local firm, Connors Bros., Ltd., as it had opened up a new market for them with beneficial results.

Mr. McKenna also impressed the commission with the answer of Sir Henry to a question from Saint John in January, 1926, when he said that he would use his influence and that of his staff to stop the diversion of Canadian traffic through other than Canadian ports, would have the facilities here properly equipped and would provide ample tonnage to handle the traffic.

"Here is something more that I think that the commission could very properly ask Sir Henry about," remarked Mr. McKenna.

DISASTROUS TO EAST Continuing after the half hour recess, Mr. McKenna said that he was prepared to recognize an Canadian ports and the centralization of the larger industries in the provinces of Quebec and Ontario but, he pointed out, that an economic condition has been disastrous to the Maritime Provinces. "At Confederation," Mr. McKenna continued, "the tariffs prevailing in the three provinces were from 7 to 12 per cent. At this time, protective duties from Saint John in this country. It was the policy of all provinces to have a tariff for revenue."

FOUNDRIES WIPED OUT The speaker reminded the commission that, 68 years ago, there were foundries in Halifax, that have been wiped out today. The tannery business in the city of Saint John and elsewhere in the province had almost disappeared. Mr. McKenna continued, "This is not an industry in the Maritime Provinces," said the speaker, "but competition from the west has practically destroyed it. I am not complaining about the success of Quebec and Ontario but there should be some compensation to the Maritimes for a policy that has made her industries suffer so greatly."

SIR ANDREW'S REMARK Sir Andrew interrupted Mr. McKenna with the remark that many Maritime firms have been going out of business because they were absorbed by larger ones or because they have been "pushed out" by larger Maritime firms. This industry, he pointed out, the chairman, goes on all the time. "I'd like you to help us understand what the Maritime Provinces want from the Federal Government in the way of aid to their trade."

"It'll come to that in a minute," Mr. McKenna replied. "But first I want to establish what Confederation was to give us. Then I'll prove that we did not get the benefits we were promised and then I'll tell you what we want."

SHARE IN PARTNERSHIP "At the beginning," continued Mr. McKenna, "I want to say that, having reached that very favorable condition in manufacturing those provinces should be willing to share with us the partnership we were promised when Confederation went into force."

The speaker referred to the heavy emigration of Maritime young people to the United States within the past few years. Mr. McKenna informed the commission that he had seen class after class of young men graduate from a provincial high school, complete college courses and then be forced to seek a living in the United States because employment conditions were so bad in the Maritimes.

Sir Andrew—"It had a bad thing?" Mr. McKenna—"It had it if it rises to a high degree."

Sir Andrew—"The patriotic sentiment is often more highly developed in those who live in their native land."

Mr. McKenna—"Sir Andrew, I venture to say that there are more Maritime Province people and their descendants living in the New England States today than there are in the Maritime Provinces."

The speaker now referred to another given relief that we are not favored with in a matter such as this," Mr. McKenna queried.

REVENUE TARIFF. "The provinces entered Confederation with the understanding that the one for tariff revenue only," Mr. McKenna said in his report. "When we entered Confederation, there were four provinces. Then Manitoba and the West came into view. The C. P. R. was built. In order to make the C. P. R. a financial success, the West had to be developed."

INCIDENT OF ABATTOIR. Mr. McKenna said that he was one of a delegation that went to Ottawa seeking an abattoir for the Maritime Provinces. "We were consistently advised that such a project was commercially unprofitable," Mr. McKenna said. "An abattoir was started by ourselves and the moment we did this the big packing companies were right on our heels. Here Mr. McKenna stated that Swift's had enlarged their Moncton plant and otherwise improved their holdings. "What we need," Mr. McKenna concluded, "is a sound dairy policy. The abattoir would give us an outlet for by-products."

Sir Andrew concluded Mr. McKenna's hearing with the remark that the Dominion Government should see that the business industries of the Maritime Provinces were given an entry into Canadian markets.

CORNELL CALLED. F. C. Cornell, freight rates expert, was then called upon. Mr. Cornell confirmed his remarks to the flour-milling industry in Canada. Mr. Cornell said: "Flour milling in Canada was centralized in the Niagara Peninsula first. When the West was opened by that C. P. R. the grain production of that territory increased yearly. The wheat was produced and shipped without being milled and the by-products were thus taken out of Canada."

"Then came the question of development and the export of flour. In this industry, your flour must be of first quality, you are competing against the worst and you must be on the cheapest possible route. In the last 10 years Buffalo has become the largest milling centre in North America."

"The potential demand of the Maritime Provinces for milled flour is about 1,200,000 barrels a year now. The establishment of a flour mill at the port of Saint John is not feasible. If it were so, it would have been here long ago."

The Wife Who Flirts With Other Men in Order to Keep Alive Her Husband's Interest— Shall the Widower Marry a Home-Town Woman or an Unseen Correspondent From a Matrimonial Club?— The Silly Girl Who Complains That Her Fiance is "Too Good."

DEAR MISS DIX—Every day we read about middle-aged men who have got tired of their wives and who have wandered away from them. I wonder if this isn't largely the wives' fault because they don't keep their husbands interested.

I am not taking any chances on my husband getting bored with me, and so I keep him on the anxious seat by flirting with other men and showing him that I can attract other men. This makes him furiously angry and he says it is going to make him hate me, but I think it is the way to hold him. Don't you? LOUISE.

ANSWER: Possibly, it all depends on the individual man. The wife who studies her husband, and deals with him accordingly.

There are men who enjoy the love chase, and who are interested in a woman only as long as they are pursuing her. Once caught and safely domesticated in their own little chicken coop they lose interest in her, and are off after some other bird who is still upon the wing.

Undoubtedly the woman who is married to this type of man does well to keep him always guessing—to keep him feeling that she is only half-tamed and that any moment she is liable to escape from him and listen once more to the call of the wild.

There are other men who value a thing only in proportion to how much other people think of it, and have much other men want it. They must always be getting the glad hand from their fellow creatures, and it enhances their wives' values in their eyes for them to arouse the admiration of other men.

Doubtless the woman who is married to this kind of man makes a wise play when she flirts a little and makes her husband believe that there are half a dozen men ready to swoop with her any day that she will climb out of the window. They feel that if other men put their O. K. on their wives that they must be worth keeping.

But the great majority of men don't want to be kept in a stew about their wives. They don't want wives that they have to watch. They don't want wives about whom they feel uncertain. They want wives in whom they can believe with an implicit faith as they do in God; wives whom they can trust; wives who would no more think of flirting than they would of committing the seven deadly sins.

After beauty has gone and romance faded and youth is on the wane the greatest appeal that the average woman has to her husband is just his knowledge that she loves him with every fiber of her soul, and that no matter if all the world turns against him her arms will still be open to him, her breast a haven of refuge for his head. It takes a mighty poor sort of man to betray that kind of loyalty and devotion. And just that knowledge of his wife's love keeps many a tempted man in the middle of the road and safe from the wiles of the vamp.

Wherefore, the flirtation plan is not always a safe method of holding a husband and keeping his interest alive. Some men like wives to keep them guessing and other men hate conjugal and feel that a wife who can't be trusted isn't worth bothering about.

So sometimes the idea works and sometimes it is a boomerang—all according to the type of husband you have. DOROTHY DIX.

DEAR MISS DIX—I am a widower a little past middle age. I have joined a matrimonial club and have been corresponding with a lady who tells me that she has considerable wealth. I also go with a woman in my home town who has no money, but who has a splendid character, is a perfect lady and an excellent housekeeper. Which one of these women would you marry? LONSOME WIDOWER.

ANSWER: If you were going to put everything you had in the world into any other investment which would you take—the thing you knew all about, that you had thoroughly investigated in every way and knew to be sound and honest, or something that you were getting sight unseen, and that you only knew about through some glittering advertisement?

You wouldn't buy a pig in a poke, would you, when you could get one at the same price that you could look over, when you could consider marriage with a woman of whom you know absolutely nothing except the fairy tales she tells you when she tries to "sell" herself to you? Surely your common sense must tell you that there is something wrong with her, or else she would not be under the necessity of advertising for a husband and marrying a man who had never seen her. Desirable women with large estates can always marry, if they want to, in their home towns.

Believe me, there are enough risks in matrimony to satisfy even the most adventuresome when you take into yourself a wife whom you know and whose habits and tastes and friends and acquaintances are those to which you are accustomed. My advice to you is to marry your neighbor woman and not to take any chances on a stranger with a mythical fortune that probably exists only in her imagination and that she uses as a bait to catch suckers. DOROTHY DIX.

DEAR DOROTHY DIX—I am 24 years old and a very nice young man is deeply in love with me. He has a good position and is all kindness and loving consideration to me, but my objection to him is that he is too good. He has had no experience in the world in general, as he has had a very sheltered life. He has never sown any wild oats, having had no inclination that way. I should like to marry a man of the world who, after living a wild life, would find in me his ideal. I often feel like telling my young man to go out into the world and see life and then come back to me. If I am wrong tell me so. CONSTANCE.

ANSWER: It has been cynically said that the reason why there is a double standard of morals is because women secretly admire rouses. You seem to be one of the silly and misguided girls who think that a man shows his manhood by having lived a rotten life instead of a clean one. The test of strength is resisting temptation. Any weakling can yield. Don't fool yourself into thinking that any man is good simply because he hasn't had a chance to be bad. The world, the flesh and the devil lure every man from the cradle to the grave. You think it would be very romantic to have some man who had led a wild and lurid life come back and find his ideal in you. A lot of other women have thought the same thing, and they have come out of their sentimental trances to find that they have married just the husks of men, worn-out rascals who brought to them nothing but burnt-out souls and worn-out bodies. Men who had kissed a thousand tainted lips, who had wasted their hearts in a thousand light loves, who had been part of so much evil that they believed in nothing good—men who had worn their finer feelings to tatters and shattered their health by dissipation.

You despise your young man because he has not sown any wild oats. Do you know that the wife of every man who has sown a wild-out crop has to help him harvest it? Thank God that you have the opportunity to marry a good young man and grab him before some other woman gets him? DOROTHY DIX.

HERE IS A LOVELY NEGLIGEE OF CHIFFON AND LACE

By Marie Belmont
This is the daintiest negligee imaginable, and is very practical into the bargain, for it is of a durable material and can stand a lot of wear.

It is of pale peach chiffon with inserts and sides of the bicolor jacket and skirt. The inserts are banded with black velvet.

This negligee would be effective in almost any shade with matching or contrasting lace. A light georgette or crepe material might also be substituted for the chiffon if a heavier garment were desired.

BEHIND THE SCREEN

By JACK JUNGMEYER.

WHATEVER the American political attitude may be toward a concord of races, there is already functioning a League of Nations for purposes of entertainment, with Hollywood as its capital.

In the directorial realm foreign representation grows apace. With a decided present leaning toward Germanic and Scandinavian motion picture celebrity. And movie productions during the coming year will show effort to display an international viewpoint, with less catering to the purely provincial.

A distinguished figure among the recent importations from the big German organizations, UFA, is Andre E. Dupont, director of many outstanding European films and now making his first picture for Universal. His "Variety" remarkable for imaginative fights and fascinating camera angles, has enthralled critical audiences here and in New York.

WAS CRITICAL.
Dupont, who rates as a sound screen dramatist (and there are few), paved the way for directing by establishing in a Berlin newspaper the first German critical page devoted to film. Thus, his own country, he is credited with having elevated movies to the dignity of being taken seriously—by constructive producers that they dared him to make better. He accepted the challenge, setting a new pace. And almost at once he displayed the distinctive style and the forte for camera angles which still sets him apart.

A serious student of Freud, Jung and Dr. Brill, he digs deep below the surface to uncover motivation and emotional springs in his photoplays, many of which he himself has written. He has a detached, almost clinical approach to his subject, coupled with a passion for visual perfection which makes every scene an artistic composition. He knows how to seduce the eye with absorbing movement and grouping, and how to reach the heart with honest, rugged emotional appeal.

Using an Unproved Soap
On your face may prove a costly folly

That is why foremost beauty experts of the world advise this simple daily rule in gaining the charm of natural loveliness.

Before Palmolive came, you were told "use no soap on your face." Because soaps then were judged too harsh.

Then came this famous creation. A soap made of rare beauty oils in expert blend. A soap made to be used lavishly on the skin. A soap that changed the beauty methods of the world.

Thus today the accepted beauty care is simply the balmy olive and palm lather of Palmolive used in this simple way. Beautiful complexions are too priceless for experiment.

Try this one week... note the changes in your skin

Wash your face gently with Palmolive Soap, massaging it softly into the skin. Rinse thoroughly first with warm water, then with cold. If your skin is inclined to be dry, apply a touch of good cold cream—that is all.

Do this regularly, and particularly in the evening. Use powder and rouge, if you wish. But never leave them on over night. They clog the pores, often enlarge them. Blackheads and blemishes often follow. They must be washed away.

Get real Palmolive

Do not use ordinary soaps in the treatment given above. Do not think any green soap, or represented as of palm and olive oils, is the same as Palmolive.

It costs but 10c the cake!—so little that millions let it do for their bodies what it does for their faces. Obtain a cake today. Then note what an amazing difference one week makes. The Palmolive Company of Canada, Limited, Toronto, 317-2.

Iced Tea

TODAY'S RECIPES
Tomato Soup—One small can of tomatoes stewed with slice of onion, bit of bay leaf and a couple of pepper cones. Strain and add to two bouillon cubes dissolved in one and one-half cups boiling water or one and one-half cups strong beef broth. Season to taste, heat to boiling point and serve.

Mint Sauce—One glass currant jelly, one tablespoon finely chopped mint, two tablespoons finely cut orange peel. Beat with fork until well blended, peel the orange very thin so that none of the white is on the peel, cut in small pieces.

Parsley Butter—Add finely chopped parsley to creamed butter and put over hot potatoes just before serving.

Cheese and Bacon Sandwiches—Toast two slices of bread, one slice on one side only. Put thinly sliced cheese on untoasted side and put under hot flame until hot and bubbly. Lay over this crisp bacon which has been prepared and then put on the toasted slice of bread. Garnish with half a pickle. These may be made on an electric grill.

A Thought

Better is a handful with quietness than both the hands full with travail and vexations of spirit.—Ecc. 5:6.

THAT happy state of mind, so rarely possessed, in which we can say: "I have enough," is the highest attainment of philosophy.—Zimmermann.

SEE SAWING ON BROADWAY

AT THIS season of year the curtains are drawn on dozens of the "smart shoppes" of Madison and Park Avenue. Signs in the window read "Closed for the summer. Open August 28."

Yet these are among the highest rentals in Manhattan. The "shoppers" gesture must agree with that of society. When society shuts house and goes to the seashore or mountains, the exclusive "shoppers" shut down. Their rentals go on, though the blinds are drawn for two months.

AT THIS season, also, there is a place on Broadway near 56th street, generally designated as "Columbus Beach," for here the idle actors sun themselves when the play season is spent.

The "beach" is a sidewalk, crowded with perspiring passers-by. The actors are either "summering in town" or hoping for out-of-town engagements in stock companies and bargaining around the agencies. Some days several hundred players will come and go from this spot within a few hours. As usual, most of them try to "put on front."

You will hear "hams" reciting how they "expect to go to Newport next week, but had to stay in town to look after next year's contract."

And you'll see, also, many prominent stake folk who have been on the road and now seek to bask for a few weeks in the wester of their "beloved Broadway."

BROADWAY'S playfolk drift in colonies to resorts in and about New York. New Rochelle, put on the map by George M. Cohan, harbors scores of them. More recently Great Neck, on Long Island, has become "the place to go."

Thomas Meighan of the movies; Ring Lardner, F. Scott Fitzgerald, "Harpo" Marx and scores of others have places there.

The vaudeville world drifts to Freeport, where one of the largest colonies in America is to be found. "Dunlop City" they call it and it stretches to Long Island Sound where a fortalice building turns out to be "The Light's Club" rendezvous for thousands in the "three-a-day."

Here they come from the road for vacations and when they are ready to retire—if ever.

At this season there are perhaps several thousand variety performers in this rustic little place.

Flapper Fanny Says

What is the treasure men all would claim, prizing it more than gold? What is the gift which they all would name could they but choose and hold? "Happiness! Happiness!" all men cry, "This is the gift divine, this the one star in cloud-swept sky, this is life's fragrant wine!" Seeking it near and seeking it far, over the world they go; happiness shining like morning star, happiness all would know. Folly goes roving far and wide, wandering day and night; happiness waits by his chimney-side, could he but see aright! "Happiness! Happiness!" all men cry, "This is the gift divine!" Why do they look to the cloud-filled sky? Nearer it glories shine! Happiness does not far away, over strange land and sea; here it waits patiently day by day under your own roof-tree.

NEW YORK GIRL, 21 HOURS IN WATER, FAILS TO SWIM CHANNEL

REMOVED FROM WATER 2 MILES FROM FINISH

Heavy Fog Defeats Miss Clarabelle Barrett—Was in Exhausted Condition

DOVER, Eng., Aug. 2—Miss Clarabelle Barrett, of New Rochelle, New York, failed in her attempt to swim the English Channel. She got within two miles of Cap Gris Nez, France, when she had to be taken out of the water. She was in an exhausted condition.

Miss Barrett started her swim from New Monday morning at 8 o'clock. It was 2:30 o'clock this morning when she was forced to give up the swim. She was in the water for 21 hours, and 35 minutes.

Shortly after she had been taken from the water, into the conveying launch, Miss Barrett said: "I am very sorry I have failed like this."

During the swim Miss Barrett covered between 30 and 40 miles, being carried hither and thither by the swift tides. Fog caused the pilot boat to lose its bearings.

GALLANT ATTEMPT
It was a gallant attempt, and the New Rochelle woman was beaten not so much by the current, but by the fog which persisted from 10 o'clock last night, and which caused the pilot to lose his way.

The conditions had been ideal from the start until the banks of fog so dreaded by shipping men, came over the scene. Even the experienced pilot was unable to properly to swim on a direct course. Had it not been for the fog, those on board the pilot boat believed Miss Barrett's success would have been assured, as the strong "crawl" which she used virtually throughout sent her through the water in splendid style.

During the swim Miss Barrett ate a good deal of fruit—bananas, apples and lemons—but every half hour she drank plentifully of hot tea.

Walter Brickell, trainer of Miss Barrett, said she probably would not attempt the swim again this year, but she certainly would attempt it in 1927.

Miss Barrett and her party returned to Dover this morning, and as soon as they were over, went off to bed for much needed sleep.

MARTELOS LOSE TO ROYALS, 4 TO 1

League Leaders Defeated in Well Played Game in South End League

In one of the latest seven-inning games played on the South End diamond this season, Paul, Royals' leader, led the South End League twisters, the Martellos, to three singles last night and the colored boys won the engagement by a score of 4 to 1.

Both teams enjoyed a fairly good night in fighting, but the three errors committed by the Martellos, together with opportune hitting, enabled the Royals to come out on top. Dugay, who hurried for the Martellos, also allowed three singles, but the colored boys hit when his meant runs. Paul had six strikeouts and Dugay five.

WATERMEN AND ST. JOHNS WIN

Entering the sixth and final stanza with the score reading 8 to 5 against them, the Water Department strengthened their grip on first place in the City League by staging a sensational rally that netted their eight runs and made the final count 12 to 8 in their game with the St. Rose's on the North End diamond last night. One run was scored by the Watermen before Snodgrass came to bat. Two men were out. The bases were plugged, the count was 3 to 2 on Aubrey and the fans were frantic. Snodgrass drove out a wicked single and scored two runners. Hannah, not content with having the count tie, doubled and forced two more in. After that the Watermen slashed away until they had 12 runs. The game was called at the end of the inning.

Each team called upon two twirlers and Armstrong, who relieved Hannah, pitched fine ball. Murphy connected with one of Armstrong's curves for a homer, his second in two days. The fielding by both teams was poor.

This game put the Fairville crew out of the race in this section for league honors and the Watermen and Saint Johns are now the two contenders for the pennant.

YANKS HALTED BY WHITE SOX

After Eleven Straight Victories Are Defeated by Pitching of Red Faber

NEW YORK, Aug. 3—It was a Blue Monday for the league leading New York Yankees, for they were victims of an inter-urban clash between Faber of the White Sox and Shocker of New York.

Eleven straight victories had come to the men of Miller Huggins, until they faced Chicago—and Urban the Red—yesterday. Faber halted them 2 to 1, permitting only six safeties.

Philadelphia, once again showing signs of taking up the chase, topped Detroit twice, 6 to 0, and 10 to 1. The first contest was an immense conquest for the veteran, Howard Ehmke, who gave the Tigers just three singles.

Blings again found among the long distance hitters, drove out a homer in the ninth with two on base, to record a victory for Washington over St. Louis in a slugfest 14 to 10. Ken Williams, of the Browns, registered his 12th circuit punch of the year.

Pittsburg accepted a leading from Philadelphia 8 to 3, while Cincinnati was idle, the Pirates thereby retaining a lead of one and one-half games.

Chicago brought the Dodgers back to a tie for fourth place by downing them 5 to 4. Brooklyn had climbed into the all-west, or first division of the National on Sunday.

TO RAISE FUNDS FOR MEMORIALS TO "BIG SIX"

Will Erect Club House for Veterans and Gymnasium for College

AUGUST 25, a Saturday, has been set aside for "Christy Mathewson Day," a national baseball carnival in honor of the great Big Six, at which all or part of the receipts will be set aside for the fund to raise two memorials to the hero of the national pastime.

More baseball will be seen on that day than on any other day in the history of the game, according to the headquarters of Christy Mathewson Memorial Foundation Campaign of New York City, because of the growing wave of sentiment in favor of a lasting tribute to the gallant ball player and courageous soldier who died from an illness contracted while serving in France. League teams, amateur clubs and semi-pro teams in every city where they exist have all signified their intention of joining in the Big Matty day movement.

The arrangements for the event are going forward rapidly under the direction of James J. Davis, Secretary of Labor in President Coolidge's cabinet, who is chairman of the national committee. The committee has announced that the notification in the press of the designation of Aug. 25 is the only invitation required of clubs that wish to hold games and all who wish to participate are asked to get in touch with the Foundation at 270 Madison Avenue, Suite 1404, New York City.

The funds that are obtained at the game on Matty Day or on any other date that may be more convenient under local conditions, will go toward two buildings: One, a rotunda gymnasium as part of the equipment of the club house at Saranac Lake, N. Y., from which institution Mathewson was graduated; the other a club house for disabled veterans at Saranac Lake, N. Y., where Mathewson died from illness contracted in service overseas.

Charles H. Sabin, chairman of the board of the Guaranty Trust Company of New York, is treasurer. It was Matty who, during his illness at Saranac Lake, New York, started the movement for a benefit fund and club house there for the purpose of making less weary the hours of ex-service men who suffer as he did. Part of the funds raised in the present campaign will go to carry out this desire of his last days.

ALL STARS WIN AGAIN.

How To Swim

By LILLIAN CANNON

THE SINGLE OVERARM
The single overarm stroke is very much like the side stroke, except that in the single overarm the arm breaks above the water instead of below, with more roll toward the side on which the arm reaches above water.

Care should be taken to throw the arm just high enough and not too high, so that the arm will splash when it goes into the water. The elbow should be bent as it comes above the water and the hand reached forward and into the water while the elbow is bent.

This keeps the muscles well under control and is not nearly so tiring as a fully outstretched arm meeting the full leverage resistance of the water.

BRIGHT SCREEN
STORY ENJOYED AT IMPERIAL

"Bluebeard's Seven Wives"
Is Captivating Story—
Other Features Good

The Imperial was packed again last night when one of the best programs of the summer season pleased everybody. It was a laughter show almost throughout, with enough of beauty and drama to give that delectable mixture so essential to a movie show.

First National's production, "Bluebeard's Seven Wives," was the imperial's big pictorial feature. This is something different in the way of feature comedy. The principal male role was portrayed by Ben Lyon.

Playing opposite Lyon were seven of the screen's fairest leading women, headed by Blanche Sweet and Lois Wilson and including Dorothy Sebastian, Diana Kane, Katherine Ray, Lucy Fox and Kathleen Martin.

The story of the comedy relates of the manner in which a humble bank clerk is catapulted to movie stardom by the clever manipulations of a press agent. It permits Lyon to show his ability in four widely different phases of characterization.

At different phases the action picture studio are projected on the screen. The comedy, centering around the press agent's efforts to get the young star married as often as the original Bluebeard, is said to be hilarious in the extreme.

MEXICAN BORDER
PLAY IS AT GAIETY

Patsy Ruth Miller and Kenneth Harlan Lead in "The Fighting Edge"

"The Fighting Edge," a Warner Bros. classic, which opened yesterday at the Gaiety Theatre, is a thrilling melodrama of the Mexican border, with desperadoes, a haunted house, mystery and crime, lightened by the gleam of comedy and the charm of romance.

Patsy Ruth Miller and Kenneth Harlan make their initial appearance together in this production.

The story concerns a band of outlaws who have been smuggling Chinese into the country and baffling the government officials. They employ Juan de Dios O'Rourke (Kenneth Harlan) to spy on the smugglers, whose headquarters are on the Mexican side of the border.

He meets a lovely girl, Phoebe Joyce (Patsy Ruth Miller) en route, but they are suspicious of each other's mission.

At the ranch house the cook (Heintze) has begun to suspect his employers, who in turn suspect O'Rourke. Phoebe has come in search of her father, held a prisoner by the smugglers, and O'Rourke convinces her of his honesty, when, in a series of thrilling fights with the smugglers, he aids her to escape with her father. O'Rourke brings the outlaws to justice, and wins the old Clark estate by E. J. Hills. The note was signed by William Sweet. This date was Dec. 2, 1912.

THE STAGE'S RICHEST

Lorraine Manville Gould, who married Jay Gould, comedian, while they were playing together on Broadway, has inherited $8,776,473 of the $22,179,049 estate left by her father, Thomas Franklin Manville, the "Absolutos King." As a result she is the world's richest actress.

DOLORES COSTELLO
AT UNIQUE THEATRE

Beautiful Actress in Mystery
Crock Comedy Drama "The Little Irish Girl"

Dolores Costello may try to look like a hard-boiled crook, let her cigarette droop from the corner of her mouth, and chew gum without making any attempt to keep it a secret, yet she remains an alluring and wistfully appealing slip of loveliness in spite of it, in "The Little Irish Girl," which opened yesterday at the Unique Theatre.

Although she gives a finished performance in the stellar role of a girl with a comely look in her eyes who is the decoy for a band of wilder swindlers, all were delighted when she came into her life and banished the cynical sneer which she wore as a mark of her trade.

When she reforms and appears in a charming love scene with John Harron, the boy from the country who made her see the error of her ways, she was, as in "The Sea Beast" and "Bride of the Storm," one of the most beautiful actresses on the screen.

"The Little Irish Girl" is excellent entertainment, being a mystery crook comedy-drama, directed by Roy Del Ruth and enacted by a cast that boasts Mathew Betts, Lee Moran, Gertrude Claire, Dot Farley, Joseph Dowling and Henry Barrows.

Paris Thinks Short
Skirt Here To Stay

PARIS, Aug. 2.—No encouragement is given here to the suggestion from London that the short skirts have lost their favor and that women are returning to the long.

One well-known couturiere on the Champs Elysees, who sometimes likes to take a strong line of her own, is reverting to the old style in a number of models with which she intends to challenge the vogue in the autumn.

But for the rest, expert opinion continues to be that the short skirt has come to stay. M. Lucien Lelong, whose "synthetic" dress design attracted attention a year ago, says the probability of a return to ankle-deep skirts is remote.

BELFAST, Me., Aug. 2.—A promising note, 11 1/2 years old, which pledges 9 bushels of corn and 9 bushels of rye in three years was found on the old Clark estate by E. J. Hills. The note was signed by William Sweet. This date was Dec. 2, 1912.

EYES UNHARMED
BY GOOD FILMS,
EXPERTS FIND

Specialists Agree Well
Screened Pictures Cause
No Strain on Vision

NEW YORK, Aug. 2.—Moving pictures shown under the proper conditions cause no specific harm to the eyes, according to the Eye Sight Conservation Council, which reports that vision experts in England and America have summarized their investigations with this finding.

The vision engineers point out a number of evils in viewing pictures and in the screening of them, notably that eyestrain results when spectators sit too close to the screen or view the picture from an angle. Faulty projection, resulting in jerkiness when pictures are reproduced, and scratched films, may cause eyestrain, the engineers find.

ENGLISH SAFEGUARD CHILDREN.
The English experts have found it necessary to take special precautions to protect the eyesight of English school children when films are projected by portable machines. They recommend proper distribution of general illumination in theatres or auditoriums, with the light of as high a degree of intensity as possible without interfering with the display of the pictures.

Preliminary investigation by the Illuminating Engineering Society of New York resulted in a different opinion than that of the Eye Sight Council. This society declares, "That while the eyes are strained a great deal by the observation of moving pictures, even in the better moving picture houses, they are damaged little more by that, in all probability, than they are by reading steadily the same length of time under the greater part of the lighting that is now in actual use."

Prolonged concentration of the eye, defective eyesight, position of the observer, faulty general illumination or poor films, had projection and faulty operation are contributing cause to eye strain in viewing pictures, the experts say, but all these conditions are avoidable.

"GRIPPING" FILMS HURT.
Those pictures which grip the audience, causing concentration of vision over long periods, are more apt to cause eyestrain than the other types of pictures, the investigators say. "That while the eyes are strained a great deal by the observation of moving pictures, even in the better moving picture houses, they are damaged little more by that, in all probability, than they are by reading steadily the same length of time under the greater part of the lighting that is now in actual use."

At the Queen Square Theatre, Anne Q. Nilsson, Huntly Gordon and Charlie Murray score a hit in "Her Second Chance." Miss Nilsson plays a wild Kentucky mountain lass who develops into a society lady of New York. Huntly Gordon is a Kentucky judge and Charlie Murray, as a detective, brings a lot of humor into the picture. The story is marked by an exciting horse race scene in which swimming party. Corliss Palmer makes an excellent impression in her first picture, and the cast are Sam de Grasse, Dale Fuller, Mike Donlin and William J. Kelly.

Another feat at the Queen Square is Villa, in a mind reading act and this proved very entertaining yesterday.

ST. JOHN'S N.B., Aug. 2.—An escaped prisoner named Young was recaptured today sixty miles from the city after three weeks of freedom. His visits to various isolated houses had caused considerable alarm. This was his second break from the penitentiary.

Mystery Port Is Over 200 Years Old

LONDON, Aug. 2.—Any wine taster willing to sample a mystery bottle of port 200 years old may have the chance of a lifetime by presenting himself at the office of Leopold Farmer and Sons, Grosvenor street.

There are only two conditions stipulated. First, the taster must undertake to leave some in the bottle; secondly, he fastes at his own risk. This amazing bottle of wine is a mere dwarf, scarcely two inches high, and was found recently by Harold Farmer during excavations under the firm's offices, some 30 feet below pavement level.

JUTLAND HERO IS
KILLED IN MISHAP

LONDON, Aug. 2.—Vice-Admiral Charles Bleis Miller, retired, of Brixton Lodge, Crowmarsh Battle, Oxen, was mortally at the Berrick crossroads when a collision occurred between his car and a motor-cycle ridden by Henry Wells of Roke March. Admiral Miller received severe injuries and died soon after he had been taken to his home.

Wells was taken to Willingford Cottage Hospital in a serious condition. Both the car and the motor-cycle were badly damaged.

Admiral Miller, C. B., A. D. C., retired in 1924. In the three years following the Armistice he was successively appointed A. O. C. to the King, Rear-Admiral and Vice-Admiral.

JUTLAND GALLANTRY
As Captain with the North Sea fleet, he commanded the Nottingham in the Dogger Bank engagement and at Jutland. For his gallantry in that action he was made C. B. and decorated with the Legion of Honor. The Nottingham was sunk in a submarine attack in 1916 while hunting for the German fleet, which was reported to be out from Kiel.

STARS OF SCREEN AT
PALACE THEATRE

Matt Moore and Marie Prevost
Give Fine Performance in
"The Caveman"

In Warner Bros' production of "The Cave Man," starring Marie Prevost and Matt Moore, opened yesterday at the Palace Theatre. Matt Moore's characterization of Snugg, the clod, the human coal-heaving machine, whose flyer into exclusive New York social circles is the subject of the comedy-drama, is a gem which stands out among his former portrayals like a diamond in the rough.

Marie Prevost's performance as Myra Gaylord, social experimentist, tops even her high standard of performance. Any account of the picture would be incomplete without mention of Rupert Hughes' clever and intelligent title, Myra's clever and intelligent title, a French maid which stands out clear-cut as a fine cameo. Phyllis Haver and Mrs. E. J. Kelly are excellent, and "The Cave Man" takes its place as one of the worthwhile pictures of the season. Two performances tonight close the engagement.

JUTLAND HERO IS
KILLED IN MISHAP

LONDON, Aug. 2.—Vice-Admiral Charles Bleis Miller, retired, of Brixton Lodge, Crowmarsh Battle, Oxen, was mortally at the Berrick crossroads when a collision occurred between his car and a motor-cycle ridden by Henry Wells of Roke March. Admiral Miller received severe injuries and died soon after he had been taken to his home.

Wells was taken to Willingford Cottage Hospital in a serious condition. Both the car and the motor-cycle were badly damaged.

Admiral Miller, C. B., A. D. C., retired in 1924. In the three years following the Armistice he was successively appointed A. O. C. to the King, Rear-Admiral and Vice-Admiral.

JUTLAND GALLANTRY
As Captain with the North Sea fleet, he commanded the Nottingham in the Dogger Bank engagement and at Jutland. For his gallantry in that action he was made C. B. and decorated with the Legion of Honor. The Nottingham was sunk in a submarine attack in 1916 while hunting for the German fleet, which was reported to be out from Kiel.

STARS OF SCREEN AT
PALACE THEATRE

Matt Moore and Marie Prevost
Give Fine Performance in
"The Caveman"

In Warner Bros' production of "The Cave Man," starring Marie Prevost and Matt Moore, opened yesterday at the Palace Theatre. Matt Moore's characterization of Snugg, the clod, the human coal-heaving machine, whose flyer into exclusive New York social circles is the subject of the comedy-drama, is a gem which stands out among his former portrayals like a diamond in the rough.

Marie Prevost's performance as Myra Gaylord, social experimentist, tops even her high standard of performance. Any account of the picture would be incomplete without mention of Rupert Hughes' clever and intelligent title, Myra's clever and intelligent title, a French maid which stands out clear-cut as a fine cameo. Phyllis Haver and Mrs. E. J. Kelly are excellent, and "The Cave Man" takes its place as one of the worthwhile pictures of the season. Two performances tonight close the engagement.

NOTED PLAYERS ON
QUEEN SQ. SCREEN

Program Includes Interesting
Picture, "Her Second Chance"
and Mind Reading Act

At the Queen Square Theatre, Anne Q. Nilsson, Huntly Gordon and Charlie Murray score a hit in "Her Second Chance." Miss Nilsson plays a wild Kentucky mountain lass who develops into a society lady of New York. Huntly Gordon is a Kentucky judge and Charlie Murray, as a detective, brings a lot of humor into the picture. The story is marked by an exciting horse race scene in which swimming party. Corliss Palmer makes an excellent impression in her first picture, and the cast are Sam de Grasse, Dale Fuller, Mike Donlin and William J. Kelly.

Another feat at the Queen Square is Villa, in a mind reading act and this proved very entertaining yesterday.

SEE THE FALLS

At high tide the water of the Bay of Fundy recedes to a level lower than the water of the Saint John River runs in its way through the gorges of the Falls, creating a "Falls" at low tide the water in the Bay recedes so much lower than that of the river, that the fall of water is visible and flows down river into the Bay.

At low tide, when the level in the Bay and River are about equal, the water disappears entirely, and the surface of a lake, as the world it should be seen at all seasons.

DECLINING NOW TO TAKE BONDS AWARDED ON BID

Wood, Gundy & Co. Action Engages Finance Officials of County

A meeting of the sub-committee of the finance committee of the municipal council was held this morning at the office of County Secretary J. K. Kelly, K. C., to discuss the refusal of Wood, Gundy & Co., Toronto, to accept the bonds for which they had tendered and offered the highest price.

It is understood the company declined to accept the bonds because they contended they were a direct liability on the Parish of Lancaster and therefore were not sufficient assets there to warrant the issue. The advice of the county officials was that the bonds were issued by the Municipality of the City and County of Saint John and therefore the buyers had as security the assets of the city and county for the bonds.

The issue amounted to $248,500, of which $200,500 was for the permanent sewerage works and $48,000 for Lancaster sewers. The sewer bonds were 20-year term and the paving bonds were serial, $12,000 being due each year for 20 years.

Action was taken this morning, but the matter is to be gone into again.

QUESTION AS TO WHO IS RESPONSIBLE

Frank Garson Reported in Matter of Case of Main Street Grating

Frank Garson, Paradise row, appeared in the Police Court this morning on a report by Sergeant Rankine of the North End Division, stating that a grating on his premises, Main street, bordering on the sidewalk, was in a neglected condition and dangerous for pedestrians. The defence was that responsibility for fixing the grating was on the city not on himself.

The court stated that the city disclaimed responsibility in the matter, and it was up to Garson. The case was given until Friday morning to see that the matter was attended to. He said that he would take the matter up with Commissioner Frink today.

John Mitchell was fined $25 in the police court yesterday afternoon for interfering with Inspector McGrath while the latter was in the act of arresting his brother, Harry Mitchell, on suspicion of having liquor in his possession other than his private dwelling. A meeting of the local branch of the N. B. Fish and Game Association was held last evening. Owing to the absence from the city of the president, King Fisher, on the matter of routine were taken up. The chair was occupied by W. E. Hale. It is probable that the annual provincial meeting of the organization will be held in September, following the federal election.

HEBREW SCHOOL PICNIC

The third annual picnic of the local Hebrew school and the Sunday school will be held on Tuesday at Pannenden under the management of Hyman Jacobson, J. Eilman, A. I. Garson and Rev. A. Babb, principal. Extensive arrangements have been made for the outing and a sports program will be conducted under the supervision of Mitchell Bernstein. Special cars will be attached to the regular suburban train Thursday morning and the entire day will be spent at Pannenden. The picnic will mark the official closing of the summer activities of the Hebrew school in the city until September. Rev. Mr. Babb will leave soon for New York where he will attend a teachers' convention. He expects also to spend his vacation in and around New York State.

PICNIC PUT OFF AS PARADE HOUR NEAR

Just as the hour had approached for the start of the procession of the Sunday school children of the Cathedral parish from old St. Malachi's Hall, Sydney street, to march to the Union Depot, where trains were waiting to carry them to Torryburn for the annual picnic, came a shower of rain, and, with the sky overhung with heavy clouds, Rev. William Duke, parish priest, announced a postponement of the annual event until tomorrow.

There were many disappointed boys and girls, but, if the Weather Man smiles, the big picnic will be "on" tomorrow.

The Cathedral bells rang out at 5 o'clock announcing that the picnic was to be held, as it was thought at the time that the day would be fine.

INJURED IN FALL

"Teddy" McDonald, North End Boy, Hurt at Scene of Fire

"Teddy" McDonald, aged about 10 years of age, son of Mr. and Mrs. Stephen McDonald, Elm street, received severe injuries to his head and face late yesterday afternoon while playing on the American Dye Works premises in Elm street. Workmen who are engaged repairing the damage done recently by fire there had quit work at 5 o'clock, and it is said the boy, along with some others, started climbing about the repair work. He fell off a concrete wall and was severely hurt.

He was taken into D. J. Purdy's grocery store in Main street, and later removed to his home. Today he was kept in his bed as a result of his injuries received in the fall.

ANOTHER ATTEMPT

Seventh Effort in Two Years to Break Into Sub Post Office

It was said this morning by Allick Taylor, who conducts the post office at Kane's Corner, that during the last 24 months there had been seven attempts to force an entrance into the post office. Last Sunday, he said, efforts were made to break in, the lock on the iron gate being bent in efforts to force it. A bundle of newspapers also was stolen from the entry. Mr. Taylor emphasized that it was a serious offence to break into a post office.

Checks Not Common In Police Court

Hyman Taxer, junk dealer, caused some merriment in the Police Court this morning when he was charged with not having a license to conduct business and also with not keeping proper records. The magistrate struck a fine of $40 after Detective Biddiscombe gave evidence.

Taxer asked for a check. "Is his check any good?" asked the magistrate of court officials.

"It was the last time," came back the answer.

"Have you got a check?" burst in Taxer.

"No, I have not," said the magistrate.

Taxer apparently in desperation turned to the reporters.

"There is no use of asking them," jokingly remarked the magistrate, "newspapermen never have any checks."

Taxer was taken to the guard room to await the developments while the members of the detective department were busily engaged hunting for a blank check.

HIGHWAY BOARD MET

A pleasing feature of a meeting of Oliver Lodge, I. O. O. F., held last night in their rooms, Market building, was the presentation of a veteran's jewel to Joseph A. Murdoch, who has been for 48 years a member of the order. The presentation was made by John Jackson, who paid tribute to the services rendered the Oddfellows by Mr. Murdoch during his connection with it. Mr. Murdoch was for more than 20 years secretary of Pioneer Lodge and was the first secretary of Oliver Lodge.

After the business session a social hour was enjoyed and refreshments served.

W. H. Bowman of Saint John Central Figure of Birthday Celebration

W. H. Bowman, 95-year-old resident of Saint John, celebrated his birthday on Aug. 2, at the summer residence of his daughter, Mrs. Charles A. Fisher, Lakeside. A large number of friends called during the day to tender congratulations.

Relatives and family friends enjoyed a birthday supper where, of course, the outstanding feature was a birthday cake with its 95 candles.

Mr. Bowman is well and quite able to get around. He enjoys the outdoor freedom that Lakeside affords him during the summer and resides at his own home in Stanley street during the winter.
