Maintenance of Navy Must be the First Consideration

London, June 8.—The second meeting of the Imperial Conference was held today under the presidency of Reginald McKenna, First Lord of the Admiralty. Foreign Secretary Grey also was present and both ministers spoke on the navy. "If the navy fails," declared the Foreign Secretary, "it will be useless to discuss any other subject."

solidate and to quarrel as little as possible with other people and to uphold in the councils of the world the ideals of Great Britain. With so much at stake the maintenance of the navy must be the first consideration not only for the home government but for all the self-governing dominions of the empire.

Scene in British House

One sodden day years ago a thin, smallish, and, at a distance, almost commonplace-looking man with Welsh mountain imagination in his eye and a mass of black hair at the back of his head like a misplaced Celtic fringe darted across Palace yard and past the entrance of the Press gallery of the House of Commons, like a heron.

This week, in the most important moment of the parliamentary year I recall his words. The Press gallery policeman has a way of soaking up the best current thought. That "young fellow is a big man."

Having once swallowed the whole Liberal programme of the last quarter of a century, it was a superb treat to listen to Mr. Lloyd-George unfolding his first Budget.

Leaving party politics on one side, it was a thrilling performance. Intellectual, political acuteness, human eloquence, alluring promises, by turns shocked, rasped, delighted, excited and puzzled the thronged House of Commons.

Charming Scene One of the most charming scenes I have enjoyed in the House of Commons for years was that which occurred when Mr. Lloyd-George's breaking, falling voice, unwontedly thin and poor even at the start, wore down after three hours' output and threatened to peter out.

Together the speech of the young Welsh orphan from Llanwestudwy lasted four hours and a half. Mr. Asquith would have the sledge-hammered it into the m. ds of the assembly in a couple of hours.

At the date of her launch she was the veritable Dreadnought of her age, her bottom being 2145 tons. At the present time she only carries twenty-four light guns for saluting purposes--nearly a hundred fewer than formed her armament at Trafalgar.

Pains of women, head pains, or any pain stopped in 20 minutes sure, with Dr. Shoop's Pink Pain Tablets. See full formula on 25c. Box. Sold by all Dealers.

W. S. Carter to be Chief Superintendent of Education

At a meeting of the executive of the government, held Tuesday 8th, inst. it was decided that W. S. Carter would receive the appointment of chief superintendent of education in succession to Dr. Inch, resigned.

W. S. Carter, the government's appointee, is of Loyalist descent. He was born at Kingston, the old shiretown of Kings county, where he received his early education at the grammar school, subsequently removed to Hampton.

Inspector Carter has had experience in all branches of school work, both county and city, and is also the holder of a certificate for proficiency in manual training. He was the first teacher representative in the senate of the University of New Brunswick and is at present president of the Alumni Society.

Victory is 144 Years Old Now

London, May 29.—Nelson's famous warship victory is 144 years old this month. She was put afloat at Chatham dockyard on May 7th, 1765, and herage at Trawalgar, therefore, was more than forty years, or double the effective life of a modern warship.

Although popular idea associates the present victory with Nelson's immortal triumph she had established a glorious record prior to Trafalgar. She carries the flags of Keppel and D'Orvilliers at Brest, of Howe, at the relief of Gibraltar of Hood, at Toulon, of Hotham off Hyeres, and of St. Vincent in the famous fight of 1797.

The victory has recently been restored more closely to the semblance of her original appearance, save that her spare remains much more dwarfed than when she sailed the seas. She was the first ship of war to carry royals and top-gallant studding sails. Her top-sides are in a good state of preservation, albeit showing many signs of wood worm.

"War is not a Sham, but Your Army is a Sham."

"The manager of a stage army could learn a good deal from the Army Council in the art of making one man appear as several."

Earl Roberts, alert and hale, his bronzed face lighting up with pleasure at congratulations on his golden wedding, walked into the House with the briskness of a subaltern.

"We are told that the army of 315,000 men will suffice. Will suffice for what? Will it suffice to prevent a foreign army from invading this country?"

"I do not know what the Territorial Army is intended for. A noble lord said that you must give it a test. What test? There is no test in the world but one, and that is war. Are you going to wait until war comes?"

"I think it is a most extraordinary position that we are in at this moment. We have no army. The Duke of Bedford has shown that we have no army. We have neither an army to send abroad or to defend our country at home."

"Some enquiry should be made, and we should not let the people of this country think they are living in safety, and that we have an army fit to deal with any enemy who may come here. You will soon regret your action now."

"But it is to me a perfect marvel how anybody can see what is going on all around and not know that our army would be perfectly useless if a European power were to attempt to send an expeditionary force."

"If the nation came forward there would be no difficulty in the world in getting the army. Men would then have to come and join the army because the nation would insist on it."

"We are thousands and thousands of officers short. I pointed that out in 1905, but nothing has been done to alter it. These training colleges will not alter it. They existed before in another name. They will make no difference."

"I hope you will take the country into your confidence and not tell them there is no danger, and not tell them that the 315,000 men will suffice."

Duke of Bedford for being "unbusiness-like" and "ironical."

"It is no use blinking at the extreme difficulty of creating an Imperial Service Army," he said, and at the same time keeping up a sufficiently well-trained force at home. Of course, Earl Roberts' paucity is a simple one, but that is not the paucity of noble lords opposite. Besides, the cost would be enormous. It seems to me premature at the present time to hold an enquiry into a system which has been authorized by your lordships."

TOWN COUNCIL

A very interesting meeting of the town council was held Monday evening, at which a number of citizens indicated their interest by attending. The Mayor and all the councillors were present. Dr. H. I. Taylor was re-appointed a member of the school board. The Marshal's report was received and accepted, and there were also reports from the wharf and street committees. The question of town officials, being in the employ of the town, caused a rather acrimonious discussion, and brought out different interpretations of the law bearing on the matter. It was intimated that if the business was to be carried on according to the strict letter of the law, some interesting facts might be brought out that would affect members of the board.

The clearing up of the town dump, payment of the Marshal's salary, and some minor matters were dealt with and council adjourned.

Steamer Coggor Bros. arrived here Tuesday morning with freight from St. John.

A. D. Wetmore, Truro, went out on Monday's train to St. Stephen.

Samuel Dodds was a passenger out on Monday's train to St. Stephen.

Miss Ethel McNichol arrived here Saturday, and is the guest of Mrs. Thomas Kent.

Miss Lillian Hickey is visiting relatives in town.

Mrs. McCready, who has been the guest of Mr. and Mrs. Wallace Stewart, returned to her home in Waweg Monday.

Mrs. Thomas Coyne, St. Stephen, was called here Monday owing to illness of her mother Mrs. Conley.

There is more Catarrh in this section of the country than all other diseases put together, and until the last few years was supposed to be incurable. For a great many years doctors pronounced it a local disease and prescribed local remedies, and by constantly failing to cure with local treatment, pronounced it incurable. Science has proven catarrh to be a constitutional disease and therefore requires constitutional treatment. Hall's Catarrh Cure, manufactured by F. J. Cheney & Co., Toledo, Ohio, is the only constitutional cure on the market. It is taken internally in doses from ten drops to a teaspoonful. It acts directly on the blood and mucous surfaces of the system. They offer one hundred dollars for any case it fails to cure. Send for circulars and testimonials. Address: F. J. CHENEY & CO., Toledo, Ohio. Sold by Druggists, 75c. Take Hall's Family Pills for constipation.

A Dangerous Disease

Owing to its tendency to spread to all parts of the system, Catarrh should be checked in its incipient stages

Catarrh commences generally with a slight cold, and because slight, it is often neglected. But the seed that has been sown brings forth a dangerous harvest—perhaps it is the harvest of consumption, which is the harvest of death.

Better spend a few moments each day inhaling Catarrhoxone an aromatic, antiseptic remedy that is breathed in through the mouth, and, after permeating all the respiratory organs, is slowly inhaled through the nostrils. The immediate effect of Catarrhoxone is magical—so prompt and efficient. Relief is instantaneous, throat and nose cleared in a few moments by the penetrating vapor from the Inhaler. Catarrhoxone, taken in conjunction with Catarrhoxone, purifies the blood, cleanses it of all poisons, and builds up the system so that Catarrhoxone cannot exist.

You are sure to receive lasting benefit from Catarrhoxone if bothered by Catarrh in any part of the system. It is highly recommended for Bronchitis, Asthma, and Lung Trouble, and used for Coughs and Colds in the head it has no equal.

Remember that Catarrhoxone is both a local and constitutional treatment, and is warranted under all circumstances to give satisfaction. Money refunded if it fails.

Two months' treatment, consisting of a beautiful polished hard rubber Inhaler and large bottle of liquid for recharging, together with a box of Ferrozone tablets costs but $1; trial size, 50c. Sold by all druggists and N. C. Filson & Co., Kingston, Ont. Buy it to-day.

THE GOLF CLUB

The golf club is one of the town's institutions that is enjoying a prosperous and substantial growth. The course is one of the best in the country and is surpassed by none. From the grounds, at Mount Vernon a magnificent view of the town and surrounding country may be obtained. Every visitor here, stops to draw in deep draughts of the purest air, and to feast his eyes on the landscape. With the opening of Mount Vernon Lodge interest will be increased in the popular game, as the facilities for serving meals to the members will be a great source of enjoyment to the devotees of the game.

THE EXAMINATIONS

To boys and girls at school the advent of summer is marked by that crucial period of examinations when lagged and lecher, the dull and the clever, the industrious and the lazy, are put on the firing-line of our modern educational methods and peppered with questions. They are now submitted to that queering process by which it is expected there will be extracted some of the knowledge with which their heads have been crammed during the preceding nine months. School boys and girls are only ordinary men and women in embryo, at a time of life when play seems more natural than work, and work seems harder than it really is. And that is why all sympathize with them and hope that their examiners will not be crafty enough to discover a question the scholars cannot answer, and that a safe, honest "pass" will be the fortune of every one. These boys and girls should bear in mind, and perhaps extract some comfort from, the fact that the ordeal is not only for themselves, but for their teachers as well, for the examinations are supposed to show both how much the scholars have learned, and how well the teachers have taught. Self-preservation from the disaster of "plucking" and loyalty to their teachers should combine to inspire the boys and girls to do their best. And besides, let them remember that examinations cannot last forever. The end will come and then the holidays will begin.

REPAIRS NEEDED

The temporary bridge at Armstrongs is in bad shape. It would be as well for the town to take up the work of rebuilding the structure. While it was once the custom of the local government to attend promptly to repairs of this kind, in this vicinity, we cannot afford to take too many chances in awaiting action on the part of the present administration. The death or injury of one of our fellow citizens would be a matter of regret to all. If the government will not move let the town take action at once. Delays are dangerous and the conditions at this place demand immediate action.

A CONVERTIBLE WARSHIP

Under the guise of a simple lighthouse vessel, the convertible cruiser Simcoe, for the Canadian naval service in the great lakes arrived in port and was officially handed over to the Minister of Marine and Fisheries by Mr. Clarence L. de Sola, representative in Montreal of the British shipbuilding firm which constructed the vessel. The Simcoe is especially adapted to carry heavy guns, which as is known for a fact, the Canadian Government has for the present stored away at some Georgian Bay port. On the stern, of this formidable little vessel is a barbette, which can be fitted in a few hours with a bow chaser while to protect herself from combats of real naval calibre, her hull is armor-plated, and especially strong in the forepart, which is 15 inches thick.

It was said that it needed the Simcoe could be transformed in three days from a peaceful vessel of busy service to a formidable battleship molder in every detail, and much bigger than anything of the kind on the upper lakes. The Canadian Government will thus have a real warship on the great lakes.

BY THE WAY

The plums are still being distributed.

A good thick blanket is all right with present temperature.

The street lamps have been in total eclipse for about a week.

Will some good hearted citizen present the town with a watering cart? Don't all speak at once.

The man who is smart enough to lick his weight in wild cats is outclassed by one of our amateur fishermen who caught his weight in trout.

When a woman goes calling she thinks she is lucky if she finds her friend out, but when a man goes calling he wants to find people home; he wants to see them.

When a woman can meet one of her husband's former sweethearts and treat her courteously or kindly, it is a sign that the former sweetheart has either grown very stout or faded terribly.

Toronto News.—The absence of important business failures in the Canadian West during the recent financial depression may be accepted as an indicating remarkable business solidity in the commercial fabric of so new a country.

"According to this magazine, said Mrs. Billingham, 'sliced onions about a room will absorb the odor of fresh paint.' 'I guess that's right,' rejoined Billingham. 'Likewise, also, a broken neck will relieve a man of catarrh.'

The bees that swarm in some of the gardens in town each year, is flattering evidence of local sweetness. These bees are very well behaved and do not sting, and the residents should feel quite honored by having them there as so well behaved.

It is easy to learn to swim, and once learned the art is never forgotten. Parents should make it a point, wherever opportunity presents itself, to see that their children learn to swim. And not only the boys but the girls should be instructed in the means of keeping afloat and making progress in the water. Many a heart ache will be spared among those who read this paragraph if this advice be followed without delay.

"Now remember, Mary," the teacher said just before the school exercises, "if you forget some of the words when you are singing your song, don't stop. Keep right on. Say tum-tum-tum-tum or something like that, and the words will come back to you and nobody will know the difference. Now don't forget."

On exhibition day little Mary (What's in a name?) edified her audience with something like this:
... and she wears a wreath of roses round her tummy-tum-tum.

The Old-Time Singer

We liked the old-time meetings—on Jordan's banks to stand
And cast a wistful eye far-off into the promised land.

The old songs of salvation—salvation full an' free,—
That great old tune: "Amanin' grace, that saved a wretch like me."

I recollect them old sweet hymns that used to float so high,
They seemed to shake the windows in the everlastin' sky!

For when we heard the preacher say: "Some brother raise the tune."
We always knew "Amanin' grace" was comin' pretty soon.

Somebody the new style singin' is rather out of line,
I lose my voice completely, an' with a kind o' sigh

Seek Jordan's sturvy banks of old, where my possessions lie, There's more than folks imagine, I tell you, in a song.

It's still the same old gospel, but they try to twist it wrong:
Lestways, the old folks think so, but what's the use to sigh?

So long as it's the Gospel, we'll get there by and by.

—F. L. Stanton, in Atlantic Constitution.

LOCAL AND SPECIAL

The Orangemen of the Province will celebrate the 12th of July at St. John.

Intending summer brides can order their wedding stationery from Greetings.

Reports from lumber markets would indicate that the American market is improving.

So much lumber piled in one place has caused the public wharf to settle a few inches.

The assessors are compiling their lists, which are later than usual, owing to difficulty in getting men to act.

Some slight fires have occurred in the vicinity of the saw mill, but were extinguished without much trouble.

Some of the bridges in the country districts are said to be in very bad condition, in fact dangerous in some places.

It required six horses to move a boiler, belonging to Tayte Meating & Co., from L'Etang to the new mill at Dewars.

Clarence Lank of Campobello attended last week the Intercollegiate track team at Moncton, N. B., where he won second prize in the shot put.

Fire at Presque Isle, Me., Monday night consumed one hundred buildings, with a loss of $300,000. One thousand people are homeless.

John O'Brien who has been confined to the house for some months, is able to be out again, and is so far convalescent as to be able to go to his store.

Reports from Beaver Harbor received here, state that pollock and cod have struck in shore in large quantities, and the fishermen are making good hauls.

A scow, loaded with granite for Epps Doolis & Co., grounded at the little island, and filled on the flood tide. After the pairs had been made she was raised and brought to the wharf.

The scow of lumber that met with a mishap on the way to the lake, after being put in condition, continued the journey, in tow of a power boat, and reached the landing safely.

It is hoped that a strong team will be formed to play base ball. The material is here and only requires a little development. The game is very popular in the towns near us, and it seems too bad that the team here will not come together, and represent the town in this manly sport.

At Port Hood.—F. I. Kenev, of St. Stephen, succeeded having the charge of theft against him dismissed, and the goods he got on January 12, last, from R. Koory and Company, of Inverness, under a search warrant, were today returned to him. Kenev will leave for New Brunswick on Wednesday.

The lumber mill has been shut down for some days during the installation of a new boiler. It was found that there was not power enough to run the mill profitably and safely with one boiler.

The new one was purchased from Tayte, Meating & Co. and had been used during the winter by the company operating at Letang.

The Presbyterian General Assembly in Denver, asked its churches to petition Congress to stop inter-state shipments of liquor and to forbid the passage of advertisements for liquor through the mails. A resolution declaring that tobacco should not be used by either ministers or laymen also passed with a cheer.

We the undersigned, do hereby agree to close our respective places of business on Wednesday at 1 p. m. during the months of June, July and August. Frauley Bros., Grant & Morin, H. Steamer Prince Arthur, sailing for Yarmouth last week for Boston, had the largest cargo of live lobsters ever shipped from Yarmouth, totalling 1630 crates. Besides these 150 barrels fresh mackerel, salmon and other fresh fish represented a very large amount of money. The Arthur was piled rails high on deck. This is an instance of the extent of the lobster industry in these western counties. Lobsters at the time of the last shipment averaged $10 a crate.

LOCAL AND SPECIAL

Early risers report ice of considerable thickness in evidence every morning the last week.

An elaborate soda fountain has been placed in the drug store. It is very handsome in design and finish.

H. McGrattan & Sons have sold an enormous lot of Martin Senour paint this season. It is giving excellent satisfaction.

Tayte, Meating & Co.'s store has been painted an attractive color by H. Douglas who has several painting contracts on hand.

Although the weather conditions have not been favorable, the ground is in good shape and the prospects for good crops are bright.

The travelling peddler is promptly looked after by the license committee, but sometimes, by sailing under false colors, a few escape the vigilant officers of the law.

Correspondents must be careful with their news items, and not send anything calculated to offend. It is not fair to us to do this, as we receive the correspondence in good faith.

H. R. Lawrence and Leo McGrattan broke all records for trout fishing this season. They arrived in town Thursday evening with a string of two hundred. "They were caught a few miles from town" is all the information the gentlemen have given out.

Saturday night the town, for the first time this summer, was lively. Everybody took advantage of the beautiful evening and crowds were on the streets the surrounding districts sent representatives in and business was good in all the stores. It was late when some of the boys wended their various ways homeward.

Both Sheriff Sweet and his deputies and the police officers of Eastport have been raising saloons in that town the past week, and 131 plants, 180 half plants, 27 quarts and two barrels of bottled beer and whiskey confiscated. The alleged owners were found guilty and appealed their cases to the next term of the Supreme court.

South Boston is in the hands of street renewers. The road machine has been at work and men are busy filling in, constructing a sidewalk that will be as high as the center of the highway. Perhaps when the work is done the benefits will be appreciated by the public generally. Meantime the dust is keeping the housekeepers busy and cross, and pedestrians are wondering why the nice smooth walk was ruined.

Yarmouth, N. S., June 4.—The steamer Prince Arthur sailing last evening for Boston had the largest cargo of live lobsters ever shipped from Yarmouth totalling 1,630 crates. Besides these were 150 barrels of fresh mackerel, salmon and other fresh fish representing a very large amount of money. The Arthur was piled rails high on deck. Lobsters of the last shipment averaged $10 a crate.

The Acme theatre at Eastport is presenting wonderfully realistic pictures which are highly commended by every visitor to this cozy little amusement palace. Refined singing and other acts on the bill are far above the average. Parents can bring or send their little ones with perfect safety as the program is both amusing and instructive. Visitors to Eastport are cordially invited to drop in and spend a pleasant half hour.

Mrs. Frank Foster's house at Bocabe was completely destroyed by fire Sunday evening and only part of the furniture in one room was saved. Seventy dollars in cash formed part of the property that went up in smoke. There was no insurance on the building or furniture. The fire is supposed to have caught about the chimney.

The house of Robert Cox at Bocabe was completely destroyed by fire Tuesday morning the fire originating from a defective fuse. The fire started while Mr. and Mrs. Cox were milking cows in the barn and it was only the peril of their own lives that they were able to rescue their children from the burning building. When Mr. Cox rushed into the kitchen the flames had entered such a headway that there ensued an explosion of kerosene in a can and some of the burning fluid ignited the coat on his back, which he quickly threw aside to save his life. Nearly all the contents of the house were consumed. The property was insured for only $300.

In both cases the assistance of neighbors prevented the destruction of the barns. Courier.

Rheumatism
I have found a tried and tested cure for Rheumatism! Not a remedy that will straighten the distorted limbs of chronic cripples, nor turn heavy growths back to flesh again. That is impossible.
But I can now surely kill the pains and pass of this dreadful disease.
In Germany—with a Chemist in the City of Dresden—I found the last ingredient with which Dr. Shoop's Rheumatic Remedy was made a perfect, dependable prescription. Without that last ingredient, I successfully treated many, many cases of Rheumatism; but now, at last, I can truly cure all curable cases of this heretofore unchangeable disease. Those same like granular waxes, found in Rheumatic Blood seem to dissolve and pass away under the action of this remedy as freely as does sugar when added to pure water.
And then, when dissolved, these poisonous wastes freely pass from the system, and the cause of Rheumatism is gone forever. There is now no real need—no actual excuse to suffer longer without help. We sell, and in worldwide recommend.

Dorando's Opinion of Longboat

Longboat, in my opinion, is the greatest long distance runner I have ever raced. In the London Olympic Marathon race he stopped, after going eighteen miles. He says the heat effected him, and he was forced to quit. His record shows his class, as they say in America. He is the idol of Canada.
Longboat would be still greater if he devoted himself to his profession, and forgot the wild and woolly path.
His managers say he is a "bad Indian." He is hard to handle. For days before a race he has to be watched and petted like a spoiled child. He frets, and becomes nervous. The night of his famous race against Shrubb I saw him in his room in the hotel before he started for the track.
His manager and trainer were joking and laughing, trying to cheer him up. Longboat sat up on his couch.
"It is all very funny for you," he said. "But it is not funny for me. I must go out and do the running!"
When told that he could do anything he liked after the race the Indian began joking and laughing, and started for the track in the best of spirits. He was as happy as a child over a new toy.

I had two races with Longboat and twice I met with misfortune.
With all due respect to the Indian, I must say that I am not satisfied that he is my better. The first time I met Longboat was in Madison Square Garden, on the night of December 15 1908. I was in fairly good shape, then, although somewhat heavy. I was about eleven pounds overweight.
When I first met Hayes I weighed 138 pounds. That was about fifteen pounds too much, but I had no time to get rid of it. I was four pounds lighter when I met Longboat. I felt fine and was sure of victory, and if it had not been for an accident I believe I would have won.

Longboat was a hard man to run in a two-man race. He was so much taller, and his stride so much longer, that it was hard to pace with him.
He was deceptive, and it annoyed me.
I sprinted with him several times in the early part of the race, and held my own with him.
In the fourth lay of the twenty-six mile, when rounding the turn of the ten-lap track, my left foot came in contact with the upright board that marked the inside of the dirt course.
My ankle turned in under me, and I fell to the ground. I tried to get up but I could not stand on my left foot, and my brother had to carry me from the track. My ankle was sprained.

I met Longboat again at Buffalo on January 2nd.
In this race I was again confident of victory, and eager to revenge myself.
I held the Indian in good style up to the nineteenth mile, when I developed a cramp in my right leg. I kept on going until the leg gave way under me, and I was forced to quit.
My other defeat was at the hands of Alfred Shrubb. I must say that I hardly hoped for victory against the tireless and speedy Englishman. He had shown his ability to beat any man in the world at ten or fifteen miles, and as the Marathon distance was my favorite race, I started with Shrubb with the odds against me.
The race was to be for fifteen miles.

In justice to myself, I must say that I was in no condition to do my best. For two days and a half I had been on the road, travelling night and day to reach the scene of the race.
I was summoned to take Longboat's place. The Indian had been matched to meet Shrubb, but several days before the race was to be run he slipped away from his trainers, and hid in the wilds of the Indian reservation in Canada. Nothing could lure him out, and the promoters of the race were forced to summon me.

I arrived in Buffalo somewhat tired but I was not disheartened. It is strange but nevertheless true, that a long distance runner usually even surprises himself if he starts in a race somewhat tired. Often I have started when I felt more like going to sleep, with the result that I did most amazing things on the track.
I once talked with Shrubb about this, and he told me that he always was sure of himself if he felt tired before the race. He knew then that he would slowly but surely come to his work. On the other hand if a runner is trained too finely, he will exhaust his spirit in nervousness before the race really starts, and come to grief before it is ended.

Shrubb defeated me, but he was forced to smash every American indoor record. In the first mile Shrubb took the lead, which he gradually increased in three laps in the tenth mile. I made several efforts to regain the lost ground in the twelfth mile and thirteenth, but failed.
I will never forget my tour of America. It was a sort of triumphal march, for everywhere I went my countrymen turned out to greet me, and I was banqueted and feted.
I went first to Fall River to meet Meyers and Doherty in a relay race of twelve miles. They were to run six miles each. This was my first race of this sort, and I was just a little bit anxious, although my managers assured me that I had an easy victory.
Nevertheless I had an easy victory.

IN RUNNING TRIM
I then ran a delay race at Rochester, and the following night I ran another delay race at Syracuse. I did not mind it. I wanted to run every day, and felt in shape to do it.
On January 11th I met Percy Smallwood, of Wales in a Marathon race at St. Louis. Smallwood had made a great name for himself in America, and I expected a hard contest. But he was no match for me.
He stopped after going twelve miles,
and I finished out the full distance in the fast time of 2 hours 44 minutes 44 seconds.

The next stopping place was Louisville, where I met five men in a fifteen mile relay. I won by a mile and a half. One of the men in this race was an Indian, Gardnery by name, who had been the five mile champion.
At St. Paul I raced against nine men, and won; and on February 11th
I met Meadows, one of the champions of Athens, Meadows ran part of a twelve mile relay; but I gained seven laps on him, and won easily. At that time I was running in great form.
Usually I covered twelve miles in 1 hour 7 minutes.
For nearly three months I travelled over the United States. I raced three and four times a week, and although I endured some hardship had no difficulty in winning.

DORANDO PIETRI
An Unusual Sentence
In New Brunswick a lad convicted of burglary has been sentenced by Judge Forbes, not to the penitentiary but to six years' regular attendance at church and Sunday school. This punishment is not ordered by the Criminal Code. Yet it may do more good than the regular penalty. The boy may learn something during his term that he had never known in his earlier days. Possibly he may get a view of life which his parents failed to convey to him either personally or through religious training by deputy.

HEAVILY HANDICAPPED

Is Every Man or Woman who Suffers from Indigestion.

No one can enjoy life fully, or do life's work properly, without good health, and no one can possibly have good health unless the stomach is working right. Headache—drowsiness—shortness of breath—pain in the stomach—apathy—irritability—bad breath and bad temper are some of the signs of indigestion—signs that should never be neglected, especially as there is a quick and sure cure—Father Morrisey's "No. 11" Tablets.

These tablets were devised by the late priest-physician to relieve and cure those of his parishioners who suffered from any form of stomach trouble, and they have relieved and cured thousands.

Here is what Mrs. Jerry Mullin, of Trout Brook, Northumberland Co., N.B., writes about them, dated Dec. 2, 1908: "I was afflicted with a very severe stomach trouble and the medicine I received from Father Morrisey cured me completely."

If your stomach is not right, just try "No. 11" Tablets, 50c. at your dealer's, or from Father Morrisey Medicine Co. Ltd., Chatham, N.B.

What Dreams Mean

Drums.—To dream that you hear drums beating foretells popularity.

Gold.—To dream of gold betokens good fortune.

Heather.—To dream of heather is an omen of good luck.

Palace.—To dream that you are in a palace is a good omen, showing a speedy advancement in your circumstances.

Sea.—To dream you are walking by the sea is a sign that you will have a very happy married life.

Spectacles.—To dream that you are wearing spectacles is a sign that you will be elevated to a post of honor.

Tower.—To dream that you see a tower is a very fortunate dream; indicating honors if you ascend it.

Fleishish Spring Hats

The movement in some of the churches to induce the women to remove their hats during the services is reasonable. The things women wear on their heads nowadays are so grotesque as to divert the attention of others from the religious exercises. They are so big that they obstruct the congregation's view or the pulpit. They are grossly inappropriate to a house of worship.

The spring hats, in fact are the worst examples of extravagant fancies gone mad. They are hideous in design and monstrous in execution. They compel the male observer to sigh for the very big hats of last fall. Those seemed then evils scarcely endurable, but fashion has brought us others that we knew not of. These polka effects and inverted baskets covered with artificial flowers and plants that seem to have been derived from the inferno, have no beauty at all, and when the Rev. Dr. McArthur says that they wearers look like gargoyles, one is not that he does not care for gargoyles.

It should decent, comely gentlewomen permit themselves to wear such things? The dictates of fashion, as fashion is formed by a band of milliners in France, are not recognized by the laws of nature. It is never in good taste to dress in the extreme of fashion anyhow. A sensible man does not change the block of his silk hat from year to year, or the cut of morning coat. As for churches, they should compel the women to leave such hats at home before going to service. St. Paul's remarks about uncovered females heads in church does not apply. Modest Oriental women always wore veils. Fancy that outspoken apostle looking down from a platform on a sea of such hats as the spring of 1909 is producing. It seemed last fall that the milliners had done their worst. They have shown their devilish ingenuity surpasses the imagination of plain folks.

The Famous English Generals

Wolfe, who won Canada for Great Britain, was born at Westerham, Kent, Eng., son of Lieut.-General Edward Wolfe.

Clive, the founder of British power in India, called by Pitt, Earl of Chatham, "the Heaven-born general," was born of rather poor parents near Drayton, Shropshire.

Howe, killed at Ticonderoga, to whom his men looked for inspiration and leadership, and whose untimely death cast to England an able and skillful officer, was son of a distinguished English Admiral, Earl Howe.

Hill, of Peninsular war fame, Wellington's tried and trusted companion in arms, was born at Innes, Shropshire.

Sir George Pollock, who commanded the expedition to Afghanistan, which took Cabul in 1842, and avenged the massacre of Kyber Pass, was born in London.

Of men who helped to save India for the Empire in the mutiny, Herbert Edwards was born at Frolesley, Shropshire, Eng., of an old family resident there. Havelock and Outram were English also the former born at Bishop's Wearmouth, Durham; the latter in Derbyshire.

"Chinese" Gordon was born at Wool-

Plain Economic Fact

Here is plain economic fact which should be frankly faced. No one can deny that the negro firemen would like to draw the same pay that goes to the white firemen. The fact that he has to content himself with less, asuming that he does the work equally well, is an economic discrimination against him on the ground of his color. To insist that the railway pay a higher price than necessary for his work, in order to have it done by a white man, is simply to minimize race prejudice. Unions are supposed to represent "all labor" not simply white labor. What they now ask, in effect, is that negroes shall no longer be employed.—Times-Despatch, Richmond.

Constitutional Figurehead

The new Sultan is evidently ready to do all in his power for the party that gave him his liberty and his throne, but he is too old and has been too long secluded to be fit for more than a constitutional figurehead. It is therefore, much to be desired that the military power on which the new system rests shall be kept in the background and constitutional forms strictly observed. An army is unfitted by its nature to govern; the experiment when tried has generally ended either in a military despotism or an anarchy followed by reaction. In England the power of the soldiers was first monopolized by Cromwell, and then broken down.—A. R. K., in the "Sphere."

Prejudice

Negro labor has long had preference in the South, not in the fields alone, but in the rougher phases of mechanical industry. Negroes still monopolize such labor as steamboat deckhands and hod-carriers, and many of them are found in more skilled vocations. There has been no prejudice in the South against their employment in any labor, and they have worked amicably with the whites. This strike in Georgia, which denies them the right to be firemen on locomotives, may spread to other pursuits in which negroes are now employed. It is foreign to any feeling that the old-time Southerner had for the brother in black. It is the same prejudice that has been manifested toward the Mongolian on the Pacific Coast.—Nashville Banner.

Is Your Throat Husky?

This is the first step towards Catarrh. Everything depends on your remedy. A cough mixture slips quickly over the weak spots, drops into the stomach and does little but harm digestion. It's altogether different with Catarrhzone—it cures because it gets right at the trouble. You inhale Catarrhzone, breathe in the vapor of healing balsams that strengthen and restore the weak throat tissues. You'll not have colds, or coughs—Throat Trouble and Catarrh will disappear with the use of Catarrhzone. At all dealers, 25c. and $1.00. Get it today.

When we look about us and consider the happiness that exists, the families that have come to grief—some from misfortune, some from error, we are almost persuaded that those parents who die young, before the evil day comes when they no longer find pleasure in their children, are the only ones who die happy. Could the mother who fondly clasps her infant in her arms, the idol of her heart, and object of her tenderest devotion, while she prays without ceasing for his life to be spared that he may continue a consolation to her and prop for old age; could she foresee the future of that child, which is so wisely hid from her, could she see him or her overburdened and disgraced, poverty stricken and senseless, idle or insane, a worthless vagabond, or a debauched millionaire, way down in the dregs of society, or away up in the scum, would not "a change come o'er the spirit of her dreams, would she not more fully realize that life is only valuable as it is well spent, and while she is praying for life to last, pray also with greater fervency for his protection from the soul destroying things of the world.

Natural Protection

To those who are depending on irrigation as an insurance against lack of moisture the matter is worthy of consideration. Freshets in the spring will not only cause damage to works installed, but dissipate the moisture which would be conserved in reservoirs if the floods had been but normal. In some of the states to the south reservoirs are being built and hills on the watershed are being reforested in order to conserve the water. If western Canada took care of her natural protection it would obviate the necessity of this work being done at some later date, and at all the expense which attaches to all these reclamation projects.—Calgary Daily Herald.

As a Woman

It has fallen to the lot of few to inspire so general and so generous a measure of respect and devotion as went out spontaneously to the late Queen Victoria. All this she earned not as a ruler of a conquering people or the head of a mighty empire, but as a woman, who did honor to the highest and purest instincts of humanity. Her life was devoted to the service of her people, and not the least important of her services was the leaving of a worthy successor neither afraid nor ashamed to follow in her footsteps.—Woodstock Sentinel Review

Punishing Crime in China

An important factor in the punishment of criminals in China is the power of the Government to seize members of the criminal's family and hold them responsible should he escape. Few Chinamen will flee when they know that their father or mother or near relations may be pounced upon and imprisoned.

Good Old Saskatchewan

Canada will continue to have her Cobalts, her Gow Candas and her Klondikes, but after all the Canadian farm will always be the source of Canadian wealth. As a wealth producer Saskatchewan will, therefore, occupy a foremost place.—Regina Leader.

Smoked Cigarette on the Scaffold

William Joseph Foy was hanged at Swansea jail the other day for the murder of Mary Ann Rees whom he threw down a disused mine. He walked to the scaffold with a cigarette in his mouth and arrived at the gallows puffing vigorously. The cigarette was still between his lips as the cap was pulled over his face and the lever released.

The girl who is a favorite with her own brothers is apt to be popular with other girls' brothers, too, but there is no use in a girl trying to be nice with her brothers just which she is in company, for the sham is easily detected. She must be pleasant and "bon camarade" as the French say, all the time, then the other boys will want to find out for themselves why her brothers like to be with her.

CORRESPONDENCE

Editor Greetings:—

I noticed in last week's issue that the new principal of the schools has been in town. It has been generally understood that the schools were in good condition, and teachers giving excellent satisfaction, and the mention of a new principal was a surprise to a number of parents who have children attending school. On making enquiries I find that there is to be a wholesale change in the teaching staff. When we have a staff of teachers that are giving good satisfaction, and producing best results, it is advisable to move cautiously in making changes, and experimenting with new material. This is too important a matter to be made the subject of any whims or personal feeling. The whole community is interested, and a canvass will show that present conditions are quite satisfactory. —Parent.

In sickness, if a certain hidden nerve goes wrong, then the organ that this nerve controls will surely fail. It may be a Stomach nerve, or it may have given strength and support to the Heart or Kidneys. It was Dr. Shoop that first pointed to this vital truth. Dr. Shoop's Restorative was not made to dose the Stomach nor to temporarily stimulate the Heart or Kidneys. That old-fashioned method is all wrong. Dr. Shoop's Restorative goes directly to these filling inside nerves. The remarkable success of this prescription demonstrates the wisdom of treating the actual cause of these failing organs. And it is indeed easy to prove. A simple five or ten days test will surely tell. Try it once, and see! Sold by All Dealers.
