

CORNS

Lift Off with Fingers

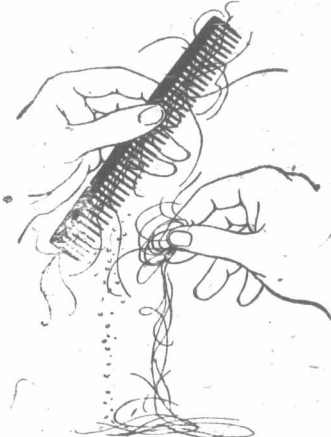

Your druggist sells a tiny bottle of "Freezone" for a few cents, sufficient to remove every hard corn, soft corn, or corn between the toes, and the calluses, without soreness or irritation.

Doesn't hurt a bit! Drop a little "Freezone" on an aching corn, instantly that corn stops hurting, then shortly you lift it right off with fingers. Truly!

A SEN TO LET HAIR FALL OUT

35c "Danderine" Saves Your Hair—Ends Dandruff! Delightful Tonic

Happy! It's your duty! Each day you see a little more hair falling out and you are making no effort to avoid baldness. What a pity. Falling hair means your hair is weak, sick—possibly dandruff is strangling it, or the hair root pores in the scalp are not firm and tight, thus wasting the hair-growing oils.

Danderine almost instantly stops falling hair of men or women and cleans every particle of dandruff away then the hair takes on new life, vigor and strength to grow strong, thick, and long.

Danderine is delightful—not sticky or greasy. Go to any drugstore now and get a bottle. Use it. Have healthy, beautiful hair and lots of it.

MOTHER!

Move Child's Bowels with "California Fig Syrup"

Even a cross, feverish, bilious or constipated child loves the "fruity" taste of "California Fig Syrup." A teaspoonful never fails to cleanse the liver and bowels. In a few hours you can see for yourself how thoroughly it works all the sour bile, and undigested food out of the bowels and you have a well-playful child again.

Millions of mothers keep "California Fig Syrup" handy. They know a teaspoonful today saves a sick child tomorrow. Ask your druggist for genuine "California Fig Syrup" which has directions for babies and children of all ages printed on bottle. Mother! You must say "California" or you may get an imitation fig syrup.

CONSERVATION

Much Used Word Has Two Different Meanings

"That much abused word 'conservation' has two meanings, totally opposite," says Edwin E. Slosson, in the Science News Bulletin.

"Conservation in some cases means using and conservation in other cases means not using. The legislator with his agate-bearing tongue will talk of the 'conservation of our coal and water-power' just as though the two things were alike and require the same treatment. It is just as absurd as if a man should ask a painter to have his house painted 'the color of snow and ink,' for the conservation of coal means saving it, for what is not used to-day will be of use tomorrow. The conservation of water-power, on the contrary, means using it, for what is not used to-day will be lost forever.

"The greatest waste is our failure to utilize, not our carelessness in methods of utilization. We Americans waste 50 per cent. of our petroleum through irrational and competitive drilling. We waste two-thirds of our coal before its energy gets into the engine. But we waste all of the sunshine that falls upon our arid region lands, and that means a greater loss of energy than we get from all our oil and coal. The richest region in the United States is Death Valley, California. Even the green leaves are not able to catch and incorporate more than one per cent. of the power of the sunshine that falls upon them. If some one would invent a solar engine with an efficiency of five per cent. it would add incalculably to the wealth of the country through the utilization of the wasted sunbeams that fall upon our land.

"Here is a prize bigger than any grasped by coal kings and oil magnates. But nobody comes forward to claim it. Yet very likely the knowledge necessary to achieve this supreme triumph of chemical engineering is already in existence—somewhere. If it is not, there is certainly enough brain-power in the world to solve the problem. If it were set to work at it. We are all of us the poorer because of this waste of ideas and inventive genius."

Harvesting Bananas.

Each banana plant—popularly but incorrectly called a tree—bears only a single bunch of bananas, which is made up of so-called "hands," or clusters. The "hands" grow separately in spirals, and each contains from one to twenty-five bananas, or "fingers." Commercially bananas are classified according to "hand." A bunch that has less than six is not readily marketable; the standard bunch has nine, and all bunches with nine or more clusters are classified as nine-hand fruit. A nine-hand bunch varies in weight according to the variety of the fruit and to the soil and the climatic conditions under which it is grown; the average weight is from fifty to seventy-five pounds. Occasionally you see a bunch that has as many as twenty-two "hands" and more than three hundred bananas; a bunch as large as that might weigh approximately one hundred and fifty pounds. When a bunch of bananas is cut the individual plant is destroyed, but the roots are still able to send up shoots. After the first crop of fruit from two to five of the most promising shoots are left to grow and supply fruit later. Cutting out the extra shoots is called pruning. As the season of harvest is drawing near, young plants are coming to maturity to replace those that will have to be cut down. There are areas where as a result of a single planting the plants have continued to produce bananas for a period extending to at least twenty years.

The Quest of Youth.

How superfluous was the quest of Ponce de Leon, a man who, in his youth, some one wrote about "If Youth But Knew, If Age But Could!" Age not only can, but does. The news is filled with lively octogenarians. Mrs. Felton of Georgia, at 87, enters the Senate. "Step on the gas," yells Uncle Joe Cannon, setting out by motor from the capital for Danville, Ill. Out in Dena Mrs. Fannie Hallett, only 85, goes up in an airplane and finds it an improvement over the prairie schooner. Mrs. Richardson, 86, a football fan, of Davenport, Ia., charts a special year to carry these generations of Richardsons, headed by herself, to the Yale-Iowa game at New Haven. Up in Danbury, Conn., young W. H. Nelson, in his 82nd year, drives his trotter at the fair and takes a heat to the time of 2:11½. The moribund malampus idea has gone out of fashion. There is no such thing as being superannuated. Old age is simply a bad habit that nobody need acquire.—New York Tribune.

In Peru.

In the heart of La Joya, Peru, there are thousands of crescent-shaped sand dunes formed by the winds and slowly advancing across the level surface. One investigator measured one of these dunes, the points of whose crescent were 160 feet apart, while the length around the convex side was 477 feet. The width at the widest part of the crescent was more than 100 feet. The weight of the sand composing the dune was estimated at 8,000 tons, yet it moved 125 feet in a year. All the dunes have the same form, and all have the convex side toward the prevailing south winds.—Washington Star.

In Bavaria.

In Bavaria an attempt has been made to introduce into commerce what may be termed solidified petroleum. Soda lye, fat and petroleum are heated together for an hour and give a waxy product, which solidifies on cooling. Sawdust or other combustible may be mixed with the material, and it can be made into bricks for fuel. It would give a very smoky flame.

Pimples Disappear

"You don't need mercury, potassium or any other strong mineral to cure pimples caused by poor blood. Take Extract of Roots—druggists call it 'Mother Tincture'—and your skin will clear up as fresh as a baby's. It will sweeten your stomach and regulate your bowels." Get the genuine, 50c. and $1.00 Bottles. At drug stores.

WOMEN FROM FORTY TO FIFTY

Will Be Interested in Mrs. Thompson's Recovery by Use of Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound

Winnipeg, Man.—"Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound has done me good in every way. I was very weak and run-down and had certain troubles that women of my age are likely to have. I did not like to go to the doctor so I took the Vegetable Compound and am still taking it right along. I recommend it to my friends and to any one I know who is not feeling well."

Mrs. Thompson, 308 Lizzie St., Winnipeg, Man.

When women who are between the ages of forty-five and fifty-five are beset with such annoying symptoms as nervousness, irritability, melancholia and heat flashes, which produce headaches, dizziness, or a sense of suffocation, they should take Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound. It is especially adapted to help women through this crisis. It is prepared from roots and herbs and contains no harmful drugs or narcotics.

This famous remedy, the medicinal ingredients of which are derived from roots and herbs, has for forty years proved its value in such cases. Women everywhere bear willing testimony to the wonderful virtue of Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound.

Women who suffer should write to the Lydia E. Pinkham Medicine Co., Cobourg, Ontario, for a free copy of Lydia E. Pinkham's Private Text-Book upon "Affections Peculiar to Women."

BATH BREEZES

Backward, turn backward. O time in thy flight; Make me a child again—just for tonight. Such were the sentiments, perhaps not expressed at least implied by the women, both old and young, who attended the classes held under the auspices of the Women's Institute. A most enjoyable, yet very profitable week was spent. Millinery and dressmaking were the subjects taught, and perhaps not applicable to the older generation, were much appreciated by those who must in the near future take over the management of homes. The millinery course seemed to be the most popular one, which was taught by Miss Love of Fredericton. In dressmaking, Miss Leblanc of Moncton was the instructor. On Friday afternoon tea was enjoyed by both teachers and pupils. In the evening Miss Nutter, superintendent of the Women's Institute for New Brunswick gave a very pleasing and instructive lecture on Institute Work, following which Mrs. Lee Kearney, on behalf of the local branch tendered the teachers a most hearty vote of thanks.

Carl Delano, relieving C.P.R. station agent, during the absence of G. S. Larlee, local agent, spent the week-end in Andover.

Mrs. Walter Smith, who was out of town during the past week has returned home.

Holland Giberson of Tobique was visiting friends during the past week.

The dance held in the Club hall on Tuesday evening drew forth a much smaller number than was anticipated, due no doubt to the very severe storm.

Mrs. P. P. Brennan of St. John, who for the past three weeks has been visiting with friends has returned home.

The many friends of Mr. and Mrs. George Kilpatrick, formerly Dora Tompkins, Greenfield, are congratulating them upon the arrival of a little daughter, Gwendolyn.

Misses Nutter, Leblanc and Love have gone to Debec where a course of instruction, similar to that given here will be carried on. During their stay in town they were guests at Days Hotel.

Candlemas Day proved to be very bright and fair; Woo to them who desire the very severe yet invigorating Canadian winter months. Without a doubt they have not in the past been utilized as they should have been. The larger centers are now awakening to a true estimate of their value. Let the smaller towns do likewise in boasting this fair Canada of ours, so that in the field of sports she may lead the world unrivalled even by fair Switzerland.

During the past two years this community has been anxiously awaiting the development of the hydro powers of this province, immediate concern being given to the greatest of our water-powers—Grand Falls—we said it before and we say it once more that the development of this great power would make prodigious changes in our economic life. No one can deny this; Then let the people follow in line; taking up hammer and tongs and awakening their neighbors to this great fact. Let all be prepared for any new dodgeries in future; Perseverance and adherence to our rights in cooperation with our sister towns and villages will win the day. We accept the slogan of the Grand Falls Board of Trade, as ours also: "ours for a Progressive Province."

FOOD IN FICTION.

Authors Pay More Attention to Heart Than to Stomach.

"It is strange that so much should have been written of love and so little of eating," says a writer in John O'London's Weekly. "I suppose love will ever be regarded as the more elegant pastime; but they are akin in this, as subjects for fiction—that we read more of love marred and food spoiled than of perfection in either."

"Gargantua's birth-feast is the classic example of banqueting on a really huge scale. Dickens' meals are mostly comic—David and Dora, in difficulties with a barrel of unopened oysters; Mr. Pecksniff and his daughter, striving to impress the new pupil, young Martin Chuzzlewit, with slim sandwiches. Captain biscuits, a 'highly geometrical cake,' and currant wine. 'Pickwick' is, of course, packed with good, sound, patriotic English feasting, from the fortnightly swarms (leg of mutton and trimmings) to the jovial Christmas dinner at Dingley Dell."

"There is a fantastic charm in reading about meals with a grotesque setting, as where Chesterton's 'Man-alive' leads some of the inmates of a Hampstead boarding-house on to the tiles; and sprawling hugely against the flaring, windy sunset, invites them to picnic off cheap claret and a pocketful of biscuits. Let us seek a contrast in a volume of short stories by Joseph Hergesheimer, 'The Happy End.' Turn over the pages till you come to 'Bread.' It stands without rival in its eloquent, detailed, luscious descriptions of a profiteer's dinner, while his victims in the bread strike were starving; and, ironically, his dyspeptic wife was only able to swallow rusk dabbled in warm water."

"Grant Richards, Norman Davey, and Ernest Oldmeadow, among the moderns, are all adepts at inventing menus of light and attractive dishes. Arnold Bennett, too, has quite an epicurean reputation; you remember how 'The Gard' discovered the delicious flavor of a bit of chocolate accidentally dropped into lemonade, and made a small fortune by immediately working up lemon-chocolate into a cure for seasickness. To slip back a hundred years or so into Jane Austen's day, how one sympathizes with old Mrs. Bates when the hospitality of her host, Mr. Woodhouse, offers her the most toothsome fricassee of asparagus and sweetbreads, and then whisks it away again, substituting a nice basin of gruel—such was his agony of fear for his friend's digestion."

"Those that enjoy page after page of quiet rumination on the subject of meats and flavors will give preference to Gissing's 'Henry Ryecroft,' who liked meals to be served English fashion, with its native gravy, and not with foreign sauces, and who expanded into sheer lyrical ecstasy on the subject of a well-steamed potato!"

Roman Catacombs.

The Roman catacombs are 530 miles extent, and it is estimated that something like 15,000,000 dead are interred there.

Storks, gulls, and other long-legged birds sleep standing on one leg. The hat worn by women in 4,000 B.C. is stated to be very similar to models worn to-day.

EAST FLORENCEVILLE

A party of young people had a sleigh drive last Tuesday night to the home of Leo Brownell. Mrs. Brownell provided the party with an oyster supper. The young people enjoyed the music and games and returned to their homes in the wee small hours of the morning.

Mr. Hazel, the shoe repairer of our village was taken down sick with the prevailing cold and had to be taken to the hospital in Woodstock for treatment.

Leslie Stiles has secured a position in Boston and will make his home there for some time.

Harry Smith was a visitor to St. John on a business trip during last week and returned home on Saturday's express.

Friends of Lorne Simonson will regret to learn that it is necessary for him to undergo an operation. Lorne is taking treatment from Dr. Belyea and as soon as his condition is sufficiently improved will be moved to Hartland for the operation which will be performed by Dr. Belyea.

Jimmy Melisaac who has been laid up with an injured foot is now much improved and able to be around again. He will be able to return to his work in the woods with his crew cutting lath wood in a few days.

Divine service was held in the Anglican church on Sunday, being conducted by Rev. Mr. Stead, the rector of this parish.

Lorne Boyer, who has been down sick with an attack of pneumonia is now on the improvement list. He is still in bed but expects to be up by the end of this week if no complications set in. All his friends are hoping for the best and wish him speedy recovery.

A group of young people went for a sleigh drive to Centerville on Saturday night to see the great picture the "Queen of Sheba."

Mrs. E. A. Britton of Hartland was a visitor to her nephew, Lorne A. Simonson over the week-end and returned to Hartland on Monday.

Mrs. Bartley Lewis is the president and Mrs. Barton Bell is the secretary-treasurer. It was decided to hold the regular supper every two weeks in the future, beginning with Thursday of this week.

Rev. D. H. Chown will preach in the Methodist church on Sunday night.

Rev. L. W. Williamson left on an afternoon express on Monday to conduct the week's special evangelistic meetings in the West End Baptist church, Halifax. During Mr. Williamson's absence his meetings will be carried on as follows: Sunday Feb. 11, Prof. Fletcher, the blind musician, will take all the services morning at East and Florenceville, and Bristol in the evening. The services will be conducted by Rev. Ben Hagerman of Hartland on the next Sunday.

The young people of the Methodist church gave a very interesting entertainment last Friday night in Smith's Hall, presenting the farce, "The Old District School," from which they realized the sum of nearly $50. All the characters were splendidly taken and much histrionic ability was displayed by these taking part in the play.

Specialists of the N. B. telephone company were last Saturday and transferred all the phones from the Farmers' line to the N. B. line, adding 150 names to the service.

Such will not be published, nor returned if postage is not included.

HARTLAND, N. B., FEB. 8 1923

The letter of I. A. J. Ward appearing in this issue conveys one idea, at least, that should be taken into serious consideration by those who seek to air their views concerning Hartland school house through the columns of The Observer.

Important as this topic is to Hartland people, its prolonged discussion in public print only incites outside readers to ridicule and raillery. It must be remembered that while The Observer is a local newspaper it is not at all local so far as Hartland is concerned, as it serves the whole of two counties. Less than one-tenth of the circulation of the paper is in Hartland and vicinity, so most of our readers are not at all interested in the affairs which appertain to Hartland alone. Besides to decry any of its institutions publicly is poor advertising for the town. Future communications in regard to Hartland school house, or any subject that is purely sectional in any town, can be printed only in brief.

The modest success that the Observer has met with is directly traceable to its policy to treat every section of its large territory with impartiality in its news service. Hartland cannot claim a greater share of the space available for the district news than is warranted by the patronage that the paper receives from the Hartland people.

Mrs. Levesque and family are moving into the Leslie house on Chapel St. Miss Hart of Four Falls spent Sunday and Monday with Miss Bernice McLaughlin.

Mrs. Loughridges, "The Designer" representative went to Fredericton to spend Sunday, returning here on Monday.

Another bad fire took place here Saturday night when the Burgess building on Broadway burned between 9 and 10 o'clock. The building downstairs was used by the Burgess firm as an office, while the upper story was occupied as an office and dwelling by Dr. Puddington. The fire had such a start before being discovered that it was impossible to save anything on the top floor. The Puddingtons barely escaped with their lives. It is a very heavy loss for the doctor. All his books and furniture and not much insurance. The men and boys of the town did great work, handicapped as they were by the cold and storm, in saving the Opera House which was so close to the burning building. The roof caught, but they succeeded in getting it out and keeping the fire from spreading to other buildings. The fire fighters looked like ice men. Burgess Co. got almost everything out of the office so I will be only the loss of the building to them.

A large number of the friends of Mr. and Mrs. C. P. McCluskey gathered at their home on Monday night to help them celebrate their 35th anniversary of their marriage. Refreshments were served and all who were there had a good time.

Mr. Stora of Argosy and Miss Stevens were married at the manse Jan. 31 by Rev. H. J. Miller.

Mrs. George Struy maintained the Ladies Aid Thursday evening.

Mrs. Whitehouse of Carleton Co. is visiting her sister, Mrs. Orin Day.

Mrs. J. E. Andrews entertained her Sunday school class at her home on Friday night. Refreshments were served and a very pleasant evening was spent.

Mr. and Mrs. F. L. Dixon returned Thursday night from a few days visit with Mr. and Mrs. Fred Hennikar at Juniper.

The W. M. S. met at the home of Mr. and Mrs. J. E. Andrews Monday evening.

Mrs. Fred McCluskey and little son who have been visiting Mrs. W. F. McCluskey, left for their home in Nova Scotia last week.

WOODSTOCK NOTES

Houlton horsemen are giving a banquet Wednesday evening, calling it a "Jackson Gratton" get-together meeting. Several of our prominent horsemen here have invitations and will surely attend if the weatherman permits. And say! the weatherman has quite a lot to do with all engagements this winter. Sudden changes with extreme cold followed inside of twelve hours by almost July weather. Big snow storms and blows have been a regular occurrence all through January and February is looking prosperous to give us the same dose.

Eddie Sunderlin has arrived in Houlton and has taken charge of Jackson Gratton. Mr. Sunderlin last year handled the unbeatable Iskander and Dan Hedgewood, driving the latter to her record of 2:04 1/2 on a half mile track. Houlton does not seem satisfied with two free-for-alls, and has been negotiating for another. Mary O'Connor is one of the birds in view, but the price now asked, 15,000, may possibly prove a stumbling block. Another prospect is not for sale.

At a recent meeting of the Maine State Fair the Aroostook county Fair decided to still cling to the old dates, and the old circuit. This agrees us of splendid racing at our big Fair this fall. One of the reasons for this wise decision of the management of the three big Aroostook Fairs was the refusal of the lower end of the State to give Woodstock a date in the fall circuit. We are sure getting to be some pumpkins and the buying of Dan Hedgewood has advertised Woodstock all over the United States and Canada.

The letter of Mr. Bishop in your recent issue surely could not have been widely read or else all the fools are not yet all dead as the Woodstock Driving Club has already had a very attractive offer for their free-for-all. The Club got their horse to race and encourage our own people to take more interest in the game, so would be extremely foolish to sell at any ordinary price.

College Swift is making good up in the French country. His owner in a recent letter says he has cleaned up everything in sight, even a new $1,100 importation. College is a reliable racing tool and we hope to see him in the circuit next year.

St. Stephen parties are angling for the celebrated Bill Sharon. He can go fast enough to make any of the pacers step some.

The sun now has quite a lot of power in the middle of the day. May will soon be here and rail birds will have a chance to speculate on the speed of the different horses.

A meeting of the racing manager of the several tracks is about due. This meeting will decide what tracks will be in the circuit the coming season, and fix the dates.

Parties living 8 to 10 miles away are getting wood for them and making good money at it. Call either one for prices and full particulars. S. W. Smith and B. J. Bell, East Florenceville, N. B.

Pencil Superstitions.

Carpenters always use flat lead pencils, as is well known, and the popular belief is that they are made especially this shape to prevent them rolling off the bench—an exasperating trick to the man of shavings, which might spoil his job. The reason for the flat pencil is, however, that it forms a handy flat rule in case of emergency. What seems at first sight a curious fact among cinema reviewers is that they always insist upon using very soft B.B.B.'s. However, there is a reason for this. The notes of the film man are made in the dark, and very often he finds it difficult to make out afterwards what he has written sketches upon the tablecloth. There is a queer superstition in Ireland that a broken pencil-point is the precursor of a domestic jar; and an old-fashioned rule indicated into shorthand writers was to sharpen a pencil at both ends in case of a breakage during the taking down of important verbal notes.

Making Eagle Screen.

Making the young eagle screen is one of the most trying duties of the father bird, and it would never learn to fly if it wasn't starved into it. Francis H. Herrick lived in a tree for two months to learn these and other inside facts on the domestic life of eagles, according to a paper he read at the meeting of the American Ornithologists' Union at Field Museum. Mr. Herrick said he observed from a tree house the hatching of two eagles and their early life. The youngsters were hatched into their nest screaming by their father and mother which soared above them with ash in their talons. The young eagles learned to fly by the starvation system also, he said.—Chicago Tribune.

Protecting Wild Bird Life.

What the Audubon Societies have accomplished in protecting wild bird life in America an international committee just formed in London hopes to do for the world at large. It will spread propaganda and make a sustained effort to get adequate legislation in every country where none now exists. In Southern Europe the peasants every year kill great numbers of song birds for food.

Congo Superstition.

Among the Congo natives a superstitious belief exists that the appearance of a baby's first tooth on the upper jaw is an ill omen to the community, and that the child must therefore be killed.

WANTED
VEAL, PORK, ETC.

Make the calves bring you money. Veal is in good demand and a good price.

Gains Weight, Nerves Steady and Other Troubles Gone Since Taking Tanlac, She Declares

"Three bottles of Tanlac did me a world of good, and I certainly think it is a fine medicine," declared Mrs. Nellie Mollard, 1424 Wascana Ave., Regina, Sask.

"For several months before I got Tanlac I was simply run-down all over and became dreadfully nervous. I had absolutely no appetite, never relished a bite I ate and weighed only a hundred and nine pounds. I was so unstrung the least little thing upset me terribly and I was so weak I couldn't even do my housework."

"A neighbor advised me to try Tanlac, saying it had helped her wonderfully. So I started on the medicine and now I have a splendid appetite, relish what I eat, and feel greatly improved in every way. That tired, run-down condition is all gone, and I have gained considerable in weight. I can recommend Tanlac highly."

"Tanalac is for sale by all good druggists. Over 35-million bottles sold."

The Board of Trade of Grand Falls recently held its annual meeting, re-electing Frederick W. Pirie president. Discussion of the power development of Grand Falls took place, and committees were appointed to attend to the matter, one of them to meet the local government to urge immediate development of this power. That such magnificent power as Grand Falls possesses should be allowed to run to waste year after year is a pity and disgrace. —Port Frithfield Review.

A Carletonville subscriber writes: "As much as I appreciate it I simply cannot afford the price of your worthy paper this year." To offset this there came in the same mail the following: "There are many ways for money to go this year, but I cannot get along without the paper from my old home town." By way of pleasing we might mention that subscription renewals as well as new subscriptions received in December and January were most encouraging. The receipts therefore amounting to more than $1000. In the two months 145 new subscribers were added without any special effort.

The Queen of Sheba presented by the management of the Neighborhood Theatre last Thursday evening drew an audience that completely filled the auditorium. The story of the picture was published two weeks ago and the audience were not disappointed with its enactment on the screen. There was much that was historical and a pretty romance interwoven. The awards were made in the contest and Miss Faye Sealey received the annual pen and Andrew Tommy secured the flashlight. The contest was so highly interesting that the management are getting on another and voting coupons will be given tonight, and until the drawing which will be announced later. The prize in this case will be a ticket good for every show for a month. New features coming are "Skirts" on Saturday and "Experience" on February 15. Andover, Perth, Lansdowne, Mount Pleasant, Goldstream, Lakeville, and Greenfield and other district news, a total of about three hundred really interesting items, are crowded out of this issue chiefly by the space occupied by matters pertaining to Hartland School. This is admittedly unfair to the great majority of readers and in future communications on purely local topics can be accepted only if very brief and to the point.

The annual meeting of J. Clark & Sons, Ltd., took place in Fredericton on Wednesday afternoon. Shareholders from points outside Fredericton who were in attendance were H. R. Kingston, Bath, H. N. Dickinson of Hartland, B. T. Marten and Miss Barker of Woodstock, G. T. Harper and R. C. Peacock of St. John, and F. S. Creed of Sussex. It was reported that during the year the company had met with large losses, chiefly in Carleton and Victoria. For the coming year the outlook was better and there was a feeling of optimism. W. G. Clark was re-elected president and G. H. Clark secretary.

"The intense pains often caused me to cry out in agony. During my years of suffering I tried just about everything that I heard was good for piles. It was quite useless, however, and I despaired until one day, after using a sample box of Zam-Buk that a friend happened to bring along, I felt such pronounced ease that I was encouraged to persevere with the treatment. I got through three boxes of Zam-Buk in all and by that time to my great joy, all evidence of the piles had completely gone."

THE GRAND FALLS QUESTION (Edmundston Observer)

This year the option which a great United States industrial concern has on the water rights at Grand Falls expires. At the present time that firm is conducting a publicity campaign to acquaint the people of the province with the cost of harnessing the Falls, and making power available for manufacturing and industrial purposes. It purports to be for the benefit of the people. History repeats itself, for two years ago when the same company found a previous option expiring they did the same. Where is the colored gentleman, that these people are so concerned about? Their argument is practically the same as it was years ago, but the situation is vastly different.

Just a word about these magnificent Falls. There is said to be greater potential power there than in any other place east of Niagara Falls, counting both the United States and Canada. These Falls, because they happen to be on our side of the International Boundary, belong to Canada. Because they are located in New Brunswick they belong to this province.

The Falls are undeveloped, although days gone by numerous attempts have been made to secure the rights to them, by different people, and survey work has been carried out but today in the year of our Lord one thousand nine hundred and twenty three they are still undeveloped, and the power of the waters as they pour their millions of gallons down over the rocks, produces no wealth, contributes no well being to the people of the province, provides no work for the workman, develops no industry for the capitalists, and turns no wheels for the manufacturer.

But let this be clearly understood by the people of the province:

The rights of this great water-fall have been held for some years by an alien concern, who have no particle of interest in Canada and her progress, her industry, or her development—excepting in so far as it contributes interest to the capital invested. More than that, during the past years, the years that this concern has had the option on this project, this concern has done nothing to develop these Falls. And let it be noted, this option expires in a very few weeks.

The people of Madawaska county, the thinking people of the Province, the people of the Dominion who know the Falls, and the conditions at present existing, say with one voice that under no circumstances should the option be renewed. The time has come for the firm concerned to be told that it can have no further interest in the Grand Falls development.

There are several reasons for this. Today, more than at any time in the history of industry, men are turning to electric energy to help in the manufacturing end. We are living in a part of the Province, in a part of Canada, where under the best conditions coal is expensive, and oftentimes hard to get. With coal their is necessarily a large expense, the handling of it, the waste from it, and endless labour which is eliminated when electricity is used.

A Canadian concern is obviously more interested in the development of Canada than can an American be. By the development of these Falls either by a purely British concern, with British capital or by the Government of Canada, we are assured much more sympathetic handling of the plant after the Falls are developed.

There is still a more pressing question in connection with this thing, and one which the people of the province, which our representatives in Fredericton must see to.

Wherever water power is developed with as much power as will be available near Grand Falls, industries are attracted. Manufacturers are ever on the look out for cheap power, and if this power is developed it will mean that industries will be attracted, to this part of the Province in such numbers as we cannot at the present time conceive of. Look what has been done in Quebec, and in Ontario, to say nothing about other places across the border. And here is where there is a danger, a danger recognized by hard headed business men—wish we were at liberty to mention names—that SAFEGUARDS WILL NOT BE DRAWN AROUND ANY AGREEMENT WITH A PRIVATE CONCERN IN THE EVENT OF THE GOVERNMENT DECIDING TO LEASE OR SELL THE RIGHTS OF THE FALLS TO A PRIVATE CONCERN, so that electricity will not find its way across the border.

At the beginning of this article we said that the Falls are Canadian; the Falls cannot be taken into Maine, but the power can. It is up to the people of this province to see to it that only a small amount of electricity is taken across the border.

What was it that defeated the Liberal Party in 1911? More than any other factor in that contest was the statement attributed to the Present Chief Justice of the United States, then President Taft, who in advocating Reciprocity between the two countries said that if the agreement was ratified by both countries it would "make Canada an adjunct to the United States." And in this question of Grand Falls we do not want it made possible that New Brunswick should be an "adjunct" to Maine.

Let the Falls be developed by British capital, for British industry, to provide work for British Workmen, and to further the work of the development of New Brunswick.

HISTORY OF SURNAMES.

They Throw Light on Origin of Your Ancestors.

It is by no means every man who knows that in the name he bears there is probably an interesting and valuable clue to his ancestry.

Thus, if he bears it Harcourt or Venables, Pugham or Percival, Dwayne or Daubney, he may be pretty sure, says Mr. Thornton Hall, in John O'London's Weekly, that the founder of his family had his cradling in Normandy, though whether he was a lord, a knight, or a squire is hidden from him.

Similarly, if he bears the name of any town or village in England, of a surety that village or town was the cradle of his forefathers; though here, again, he gets no clue to the quality of his first ancestor, who might be the lord of manors, or an honest tradesman or artisan. And when there are several places of the same name, often in different counties, he is still ignorant as to which of them he originally hails from.

Even when a man's surname throws no light on the place of origin, it often gives interesting clues to past history. Thus, if he is called Tanner or Glover, Butcher or Baker, Carter or Carpenter, he may know that the first of his forefathers to bear that name followed one or other of these occupations.

The first Thrawites was a tanner of wood; Jenner was a joiner; Milner, a miller; Webster, a weaver; Barker, a tanner; Lorimer, a maker of bits and spurs; and so on through the long list of old-time trades, many of them now scarcely identifiable by the average man, such as Siffriges, a man who made bowsstrings; Tipper, who tipped arrows; and Fletcher, who amixed the feathers.

When surnames throw no light on the place of origin, they occasionally reveal the situation of the original home. Thus, Tom who lived at the foot of the hill was labelled Underhill; if his home was on the shore, he was Tom-by-the-sea. And similarly we get such patronymics as Undercliff, Atwood, Atmoor, Byfield, and so on.

Other surnames tell us what kind of men were they who first bore them: Dark or Fair, Ruddy (Russell) or pale (Whiteman); whether they were "Long" or "Short" or "Broad"; "Merry" or "Sadd"; "Bold" or "Coward"; "Lightfoot" or "Heavyride."

When in those often days there was no such way of distinguishing a man, it was an easy matter to identify him as his father's son. Thus Richard's boys became known as Richardsons, William's as Williamsons, and Robin's as Robinsons. And when, in process of time, these labels grew too plentiful and confusing, the maker's name was modified in other ways—to such an extent, indeed, that the connection is almost impossible to trace.

Even names which suggest no desirable lineage are often both ancient and honorable. Mr. Hobson can derive comfort from his name, for before the Conqueror set foot on our shores a Leoric Hobbesone figured among Saxon tenants in Suffolk. Mr. Buggins and Mr. Bangs, adds Mr. Thornton Hall, will be relieved to find that their names "came over with the Normans"; and Mr. Buckle can point to Devonshire as the cradle of his numerous family.

Harkness means dweller at a temple built on a Ness (a headland jutting into the sea). It is probably of Scandinavian origin. Knox is "dweller at a hill" (from Gaelic knock, a hill). As is natural in a mountainous country the Highlands are full of "hill" names—as Knox, Law, Dun, Ard, and so on, all having to do with hills of great antiquity. John Knox is said to have been of this family.

Chap—or Chepman—is common to both England and Scotland. It is of great antiquity, being derived from the occupation of hawking haberdashery, etc., throughout the land. "Chapman" is mentioned both by Chaucer and in "Piers Plowman." Mason means a form of Mason, one working in stone, a very old name. Mason is old French for Mason.

Ewart means ewe-headed (shepherd), an old English name. "John Ewebird" is named in Terza "Poli-Tax," A.D. 1739. W. E. Gladstone's middle name, as is well known, was Ewart. Leith is from the place name, which is supposed to be from Gaelic "leith-on" (broad or wide). There is also a "leithen water" at Peebles.

Lecky is found as a place-name throughout Scotland, from Leck, East Lothian. Such stones seem to have had great significance in ancient times, especially they were Druidical sacrificial tables. Corrie and Corrie are derived from the Gaelic coire, which in land names is applied to deep hollows in mountains or to little valleys, and Dobbie is said to be a diminution or pet name for Robert.

Greatest Living Americans.

Of more than one hundred nominations for the honor of being considered one of the "twelve greatest living" Americans, Thomas A. Edison, inventor, easily heads the list. Here are the twelve, in alphabetical order—Thomas A. Edison (inventor), Charles W. Eliot (educator), Henry Ford (automobile maker), Herbert Hoover (engineer-organizer), Charles E. Hughes (statesman), John J. Pershing (soldier), John D. Rockefeller (philanthropist), Elihu Root (statesman), John B. Sargent (painter), William H. Taft (statesman), Woodrow Wilson (statesman). It will be noted that the list contains the names of none of the religious leaders of America.

Political Equality 2400 B.C.

The new thing is often the old thing returned. Even the political equality of the sexes was anticipated centuries ago. It has just been discovered that in the year 2400 B.C., a city in Asia Minor was ruled by a prince and princess with male and female prefect, and that the women had precisely the same power as their colleagues.

LOCAL AND PERSONAL ITEMS

"Blind Wives" on Tuesday evening last proved a picture most satisfying and painted a moral so lucidly that the picture was a real sermon. A frivolous wife, after having her account cancelled at an exclusive ladies' emporium by her husband, was lured into allowing the purchase of a beautiful gown for her by a rich adventurer and lady-killer whom she chanced to meet.

On its delivery the husband passionately pointed out the injustice of rich ladies bedecking themselves with trimmings, silks and furs, each one of which as a finished product represented sweat and tragedy by the poor workers who wrought and produced them. Falling asleep on her couch midway through the picture, she dreamed each story in itself, of the other side of life where these rich gawgaws were made. These dreams impressed her so forcibly that she awoke, and returned the stunning gown to the shop.

The three leading roles in the main story and the four complimentary tales were acted by Estelle Taylor, Marc MacDermott and Harry Southern and gave ample scope for some noteworthy acting. The fifth episode of "Bride 13" possessed the usual thrills.

On Saturday evening the theatre was pretty well filled and the audience was thrilled from start to finish by the mighty spectacle, Queen of Sheba, the story of which has been told on these pages before. Those seeing the picture were most deeply impressed at the unparing efforts of the producer to make the picture one of the greatest of the period. Those coming to the pictures on Saturday next would do well to read again "The Legend of Sleepy Hollow," with its quaint story of Ichabod Crane and "The Headless Horseman." Will Rogers will be shown in one of his late releases, "The Headless Horseman" on this date. On Tuesday next a William Fox special "Skirts" will be run together with the 17th episode of "Bride 13."

After the pictures on Saturday evening a drawing was conducted to determine the holders of the lucky coupons, entitling them to the door prizes. Mrs. George Taylor held the lucky ticket for the year's pass to all pictures at this theatre, while Ralph Jamieson won the flashlight. The contest had created a great deal of interest before its culmination on Saturday evening.

A Dominion Charter, without stock subscription, was recently obtained for the establishment in the city of Ottawa, of a Home, Nursery, Hospital and Kindergarten, for the blind under six years of age, free to all from many Provinces in the Dominion. So far nothing has been done for these poor unfortunate. According to reports received from various Provincial authorities, there are at present nearly 250 in the Dominion. The late Sir Arthur Pearson, before his death, claimed that "Sunshine Home," at Chorley Wood, England, was "the only home in the Empire for blind babies." It is hoped shortly to have the SECOND in Canada. To this end money is urgently required. Help us with your generous gifts. "Lest we forget! Do it now!
