The morn is over the world,
And the sunlight floods the sea;
I sit and dream as the waters gleam,
Of the dear, dead past and thee—
Of the fair dead past, too fair to last,
And the heart that lived for me.

O heart that loved me so! Still in your dreamless rest;
You are not dead, and I lay my head
Once more on the tender breast,
I hide my face in its olden place,
In the place I loved the best.

Dear lips, pressed close to mine!
You are not cold in death,
For close to my ear sweet words I hear,
And feel on my hair your breath,
And a voice says low, "I love you so!
With a lowe that knows no death."

I open my eyes and look
Far out on the sualit sea,
And the waters gleam, but my tender

Has passed from my heart and me,
And the grasses wave on a lonely grave
That holdeth my heart and thee. But the leve that blessed us so

I pray God hold thee fast,
Close in his strong embrace,
And some fair day I will come and say,
Viewing thy radiant face,
"Dear one, stoop low, for I love thee so!
With a love that time nor space
Nor all the tears of desolate years
Could rob of its heavenly grace."
