

Rates Reduced.

Atlantic Lines Cutting the Steerage Passenger Rate.

First Steamer of the Dublin-Canada Line Starts June 15.

New Orders Issued Respecting Imported Canadian Cattle.

Wild Demonstrations of Joy Over the Release of the Imprisoned Tourists—Russia to Establish a Legation at the Vatican—Great Catholic Gathering—French Government Sustained.

Russia and the Vatican.

ROME, May 8.—The Russian Government has advised the Pope of its intention to establish a regular legation at the Vatican. The Czar's wish to go to England.

ST. PETERSBURG, May 8.—It is reported that the Czar will visit shortly the British court and meet the Princess Alix of Hesse, to whom he is betrothed.

The Canada-United States Line.

DUBLIN, May 8.—The Irish Times announces that the United States Steamship Company is about to commence direct steamship communication between Canada and Dublin. The first steamer in this trade will leave Montreal on June 15 next. She is the Teelin Head, of 1,071 tons register.

British Cabinet Meeting.

LONDON, May 8.—The Cabinet meeting today was to discuss the situation of the Government. The budget proposals are meeting with serious opposition, and the Government's position is said to be very unstable. The Conservatives assert that while the budget may pass the second reading, that it will not be carried through the committee stage.

Sustained.

PARIS, May 8.—In the Chamber of Deputies today Premier Casimir Perier demanded a vote of confidence on the question of prosecution of M. Soussaint. He declared he would regard the rejection of the Government's proposal to prosecute as an encouragement to Socialists and an insult to the authorities. A vote was taken, with the result that the Government was sustained—291 to 220.

Cut in Steerage Rates.

LONDON, May 8.—The International Navigation Company (American Line) will hereafter take steerage passengers from London to New York for 50 shillings, and from Liverpool and Queenstown via Southampton for 60 shillings. These reductions are made to meet the cut in passenger rates of the continental steamship lines from Hamburg and other ports to 50 shillings.

New Order Respecting Canadian Cattle.

LONDON, May 8.—The Official Gazette publishes an order directing that Canadian cattle imported to England be marked at the ports of arrival and that they be isolated and killed at special abattoirs. The carcasses of such cattle are not to be removed without the permission of the inspector of the board of husbandry. In addition the lungs of these cattle are not to be touched until examined by the inspectors. The order goes into force on May 15.

Canada and the British Customs Act.

LONDON, May 8.—In the House of Commons today Mr. Sydney Buxton, Under Colonial Secretary, in reply to C. E. H. Vincent, said that Canada and other British colonies have asked the Government to amend the Customs Act of 1873, with a view of enabling the colonies to conclude preferential arrangements with one another. The Government, he said, was considering the matter, but had not yet decided whether it was best to accede to the request.

Parisian Socialists.

PARIS, May 8.—The Socialist deputies issued this evening a manifesto which is intended to be an answer to the Chambers vote this afternoon. The manifesto says: "The intimidation attempted by the Government will not make us flinch. We shall do our duty and send our delegates to the Trignac works and elsewhere to follow the example of Comrade Toussaint. Deputies Bandin, Toussaint, Vaillant and Miller, of the Socialist party, have started for Trignac. A Socialist demonstration is being arranged by the Paris Socialists for next Saturday."

Wore Queen Bess' Lace.

LONDON, May 8.—It is not often that a woman is able to array herself in a fabric so fine as that which was worn by Queen Victoria at her wedding. The lace which she wore was made in the town of Valenciennes, and was valued at 100,000 francs.

Late Canadian News.

Wednesday last the rescuers launched a box of provisions on the torrent, and this reached the imprisoned party safely and enabled them to keep up their strength.

A Big Catholic Gathering.

LONDON, May 8.—The meeting of Roman Catholics, over which Archbishop Vaughan presided at St. James' Hall last week, offered several points of novelty. Cardinal Newman, while still an Anglican at Oxford, expressed great horror of the low ways of popular religion—had teas in chapels and festivals aboard steamers—but he himself lived to preside over teas of Roman Catholics at Birmingham, and Archbishop Vaughan has contrived a variety of entertainment in St. James' Hall without any taint of vulgarity. The audience was a paying one, the proceeds benefiting the Catholic society, and the company living up to the occasion, included all sorts and conditions of men and women, from a duke to an under-housemaid.

An Exciting Trial.

BUDA-PESTH, May 8.—The opening of the trial on a charge of treason of 23 members of the executive committee of the Roumanian National party in Hungary at Klausenburg yesterday was attended with great excitement. The indictment against the men charges them with causing the publication of a document in several languages, and widely distributing the same, denouncing the act of union of Austria and Hungary. The circular also declares that the union of Transylvania with Hungary unjustly deprived the former of its autonomy. The beginning of the trial of these men was made the occasion of a monster demonstration of sympathy. Thirty thousand Roumanians assembled outside the town yesterday waiting the word from their leaders to march into the town and protest against the prosecution of their compatriots. Three squadrons of hussars and three regiments of infantry were assigned to positions where they could guard all roads which would give the assemblage access to the town, and the Roumanians were commanded to disperse. This command was not obeyed, but as the crowds made up attempts to enter the town they were not fired upon. The Roumanians still held their position and the troops are still guarding the roads. It is expected that serious trouble will occur before the Roumanians are dispersed. Last evening thousands of persons sympathizing with the men on trial marched through the streets of Klausenburg singing patriotic songs, shouting, howling and smashing windows until the police succeeded in scattering them.

Civil Marriage in Hungary.

BUDA-PESTH, May 8.—The House of Magnates will vote on the civil marriage bill to-morrow. Should they reject it the Wokerle Ministry will resign. The local newspapers have roundly abused the Government for Count Kalnoky by asserting that he is intriguing to defeat the bill.

The Maid of Orleans.

ORLEANS, France, May 8.—A large number of American and English visitors have arrived here in order to take part in the Jubilee of the Maid of Orleans. Many wreaths were placed yesterday upon the statue erected in honor of the Maid of Orleans. Today is the anniversary of the day upon which Joan of Arc succeeded, in 1429, in raising the siege of Orleans. The city had been besieged by the English under the Earl of Salisbury and Suffolk since Oct. 12, 1428.

An Explanation.

LONDON, May 8.—The failure of the bimetallic movement in the House of Commons last Friday night when Samuel Smith's motion that the Government endeavor to secure a stable par of exchange for gold and silver by international agreement was counted out while Mr. Knox was in the middle of a speech supporting it, is explained by the secretary of the bimetallic league. He says its failure was not due to the apathy of the House toward the movement, but the fact that the motion having only second place at the sitting no division could be taken on it according to the rules.

A Dash for Liberty.

TORONTO, May 8.—On board the Hamilton train this morning in charge of a constable was Andrew Bowman, a young man on his way to Kingston to serve a three years' term for burglary. The train had scarcely come to a standstill when the prisoner, who had managed to slip a handcuff, made a bold dash for liberty through the crowd and out to York street. Constable Pague and the keeper overtook him in a vacant lot behind Dwy's engine works, and he went east on the next train wearing a logging chain.

Found Guilty.

The Campbell Heresy Case Comes Up To-day at Montreal.

Two Quebec Men Drowned Near Ferry Sound—The Governor-General to Visit Belleville at the End of the Month.

The Governor-General has decided to visit Belleville on the 27th or 30th inst. The late Peter Redpath, the sugar baron, bequeathed his entire property to Mrs. Redpath.

The Campbell heresy case will be considered by the Synod of Montreal and Ottawa to-day (Wednesday).

THE INGERSOLL TRAGEDY.

Conclusion of the Coroner's Inquest.

Names of Those Who Formed the "Rocking" Party—The Jury's Verdict "Non-Committal."

INGERSOLL, Ont., May 8.—The coroner's inquest in the stone throwing case came up this evening before Coroner Dr. McLaughlin. The witness, Mitchell, was re-examined and it was difficult to get a straight story from him. He denied having said the stone having fell so fast about him that he ran further west. He changed his evidence as to what the deceased had said after he and Everett got up to him.

Dr. Williams and Dr. Lucas, who made the post mortem examination, gave evidence as to the cause of death. They found only one wound, on the left side of the head, a little behind, and also a swelling below the jaw. There was a large cut of three by two and one-half inches pressing the brain. This wound was undoubtedly the cause of death.

The other witnesses examined were Everett, who, with Mitchell and McDermott, "the deceased," were the leaders of the "rocking gang." Everett said he was within five feet of deceased when he was struck and fell, but could not say how or who struck him. The other members of the gang were Alex. McCaskill, Geo. Bell, Joseph McGrath and Joseph McSherry, who are from 12 to 19 years of age, and went up with the other three more as hangers-on to see the fun than as participants.

The jury retired about 1 o'clock, and after an hour and a half returned with the following verdict: "We find that the deceased received injuries which caused his death through being hit by a stone, but by whom the stone was thrown the evidence does not show. We also find that the parties who went with the express purpose of breaking the law are accessories before the fact."

The prisoner, in evidence that Allward, one of the stones knocking off his hat. When he stooped to pick it up he found the stone and threw it, which, he said, did not strike the ground, and he had seen someone fall.

THE WILSON TARIFF.

House Democrats Not Pleased With the Senate's Changes.

WASHINGTON, D. C., May 8.—The changes made in the Senate committee on the tariff bill are not acceptable to the House. The Democratic members of the ways and means committee who framed the Wilson Tariff Bill and other leading representatives do not conceal their disappointment that the House measure should have been so materially modified. A general canvass of the House to-day disclosed no intention on the part of the Democrats to resist the Senate changes in an arbitrary fashion, but it developed the fact that the House Democrats generally were entirely satisfied with the bill as it went to the Senate and no attempt was made to conceal their regret that it should not have been returned to them in practically its original shape.

Wheat Dips Cheap.

CHICAGO, May 8.—The steady depreciation in prices of wheat resulted in a cereal reaching the lowest point in the history of the trade to-day—56½¢ for May and 58½¢ for July. There was no excitement accompanying the decline, and at the bottom the market showed recuperative powers, rallying and closing ½¢ of a cent above the low point.

Found Guilty.

Trial of Coxey, Browne and Jones Concluded.

The Trio Convicted, but Jones Acquitted of the Second Count.

Coxey Ready to Leave After He Makes a Speech to One of the Houses—He Disclaims Connection With the Other "Industrialists" Who Are Bound to Washington.

WASHINGTON, D. C., May 8.—At 3:40 p.m. the jury in the Coxey case returned to court, finding Coxey, Browne and Jones guilty on the first count of the information of carrying a banner in the capital grounds contrary to law, and Coxey and Browne guilty and Christopher Columbus Jones not guilty on the second count of trespassing on the grass. Pending a motion for a new trial the defendants were released on $500 bonds.

Representative Hudson, of Kansas, who was Coxey's counsel before the police court, authorized the statement that Coxey proposes leaving Washington with his followers as soon as he secures a hearing from one of the two Houses of Congress. An effort is being made to have the committee of the Senate, to whom his Good Roads Bill was referred, permit him to appear before them and make an argument in the support of his bill. If the Senate refuses, an effort will be made to secure a hearing from one of the House committees. This being accomplished, Coxey will have no further business in Washington, and will leave at once. Mr. Hudson says Coxey has no affiliation with the other commonwealth forces now journeying to Washington. He has had no correspondence with them and does not know them or their purposes. He will not attempt again to speak from the steps of the capitol, nor will he attempt in any way to contravene the laws.

LAFORTE, Ind., May 8.—The two factions of the Randall army of industrialists met with treatment here this morning that they did not relish. The city authorities met them at the city limits and forbade them to enter the city, and Gen. Randall, his son and two of his lieutenants were arrested and placed in jail. The citizens took pity on the starving army and sent out provisions to where it is camped, a mile south of the city, pending the release of the leaders. The two sections of the army are still on unfriendly terms, and marched from Westville about a third of a mile apart.

SPRINGFIELD, Wash., May 9.—This part of the State is filled with Coxeyites and their ranks are being constantly swelled. They have been interfering with the Northern Pacific Railway. One of them hid on the trucks of a cattle train last night, setting the air brakes when the train arrived here, preventing it being pushed through. A gang of his fellows boarded the cars, but the stock has been ordered unloaded, and the officials say they will not carry the men.

DES MOINES, Ia., May 8.—It is the intention of Gen. Kelly to start the flotilla of flatboats bearing his army, now swelled to 1,400 men, down the Des Moines River to-morrow. Ample provisions have been furnished the army for one day, and reports from points along the river indicate that the men will be cared for.

PUEBLO, Col., May 8.—Gen. J. S. Sanders and his army of commonwealthers, who have been encamped on the "vacant lot" here for several days, departed for Washington to-night in a highly sensational manner. At 6:30 o'clock they seized a switch engine standing on the Denver and Rio Grande tracks, moved it up to the Missouri switch and backed down on ten empty coal cars, and started east. A warrant was sworn out for the leaders, and a posse of 50 men started for Olney, where the legion is delayed by the action of the Missouri Pacific, by dumping an engine and freight car off the track. It is believed that the commonwealthers stopped their train between here and Boone, and tore up the track to stop pursuit. A hand car has been sent ahead of the posse to prevent an accident.

DARING DYNAMITERS.

Convicts Attempt to Blow Up the Michigan State Prison.

JACKSON, Mich., May 8.—An attempt was made last night to blow up the prison with dynamite. As the convicts who are locked in the new west cell block were being marched to their cells from an evening meeting, three of them—Edward Huntley, serving a term of twenty years for burglary, John Deeman, serving fifteen years for murder in the second degree, and Arthur Lawrence, serving fifteen years for burglary—made a break from the ranks. One of them seized the guard and another sprang up into a window and attempted to light a fuse connecting with a dynamite bomb. An alarm was given and deputies arrived in time to prevent any damage and to quell the disturbance.

Re Medical Exams.

To the Editor of the ADVERTISER:

Dear Sir:—Will you please answer the following questions through your paper? 1. What subjects are necessary for the medical matriculation of London Medical School, and where are these exams written? 2. Are the supplemental examinations of any other college recognized at the London Medical School? 3. If a student having passed a supplemental examination of any Medical School attend the London Medical School and pass his examinations, can he practice in Canada or Ontario? By answering the above you will greatly oblige, A READER.

Strathroy, May 3.

[ANSWER.—1. The subjects much the same as those necessary to take a second-class certificate, with the addition of Latin. The examinations are written in London. 2. Yes; all medical school examinations are. 3. No; the Ontario Council have an examination of their own. Dr. Pine, Toronto, can give you any information on that head.]

—[BROWNING.]

If you trust in God and yourself you can surmount every obstacle. Do not yield to restless anxiety. One must not always be asking what may happen to one in life, but one must advance fearlessly and bravely.

—[PRINCE BISMARCK.]

London, Wednesday, May 9.

THE LONDON ADVERTISER, with its morning and evening editions, covers the ground. With one exception, it is the ONLY EARLY MORNING DAILY IN ONTARIO, outside of Toronto.

—Only those communications to which the writers are willing to have their names appended in print will be published in these columns. Neither the writing nor the publication of anonymous letters can be justified.

—In the face of the innumerable pictures showing the British Queen with her crown on it is rather curious to learn that, as a matter of fact, she has not worn it twenty times during her entire reign. This disposes of the momentous question of etiquette long propounded as to whether a queen, on going to bed, laid her crown on the floor or hung it over the back of a chair.

—We are not quite certain, but we think no university has yet honored itself by making Wilfrid Laurier an LL.D. Laurier is a man of high principle, of varied accomplishments, of spotless record, and is easily the first orator in this Dominion. If Laurier were a prime minister, or a governor-general, or a millionaire he would probably have had his share some time ago. —[Canada Presbyterian.]

Mr. Laurier needs no honorary degrees to render him to his many thousands of admirers, but the hint herein contained might be acted upon by some of our universities who have frequently pitched upon his worthy men for distinction at their hands.

—Mr. Bayard, United States ambassador to Great Britain, made a speech at the recent St. George Day celebration in the British metropolis which has given rise to much favorable comment. Here is the eloquent peroration:

"He never met a body of representative Englishmen, British men, speaking the same language as he did—the language that contained the most articulate expressions of that liberty which was their life and soul—without a sense of grave joy and pleasure, the sense that they were his brethren in a great cause, and that he joined with them, he and his people, in sustaining the best hopes of the world's civilization, of its progress, of its better elements, of the best hopes and aspirations of mankind. (Cheers.) As a branch broken from them 120 years ago he drank to the health of the great root that sustained both branches, and asked them to join in the health of the Empire of Great Britain and the principles of the civil and religious liberty which that Government was intended to maintain and perpetuate. (Loud cheers.)"

MR. HOBBS AND MR. SPENCER.

Our esteemed city contemporary, under the title, "Liquor in Politics," endeavors to impose upon the confiding public the view that the liquor interest of the city, once more being manipulated in the interest of Mr. Meredith by Sir John Carling, is solid for Mr. Thos. S. Hobbs. Everyone knows that the liquor interest in the past has always been placed in favor of Mr. Meredith at the dictation of the brewery, and Sir John Carling has left his home in Ottawa to see that there shall be no departure from the rule on this occasion. By the way, what has Mr. Meredith ever done to promote temperance?

Presuming upon the credulity of its readers, the Free Press displays its banalities, stained with crocodile tears, because Mr. Spencer is not the Liberal candidate at the present election. We know of no citizen more highly respected or more capable than Mr. Spencer. London never had a better mayor, and the same qualities which distinguished him as a chief magistrate would distinguish him and will yet distinguish him in a higher position.

But it is pertinent to inquire whether when Mr. Spencer was a candidate for mayor the Free Press extended its support to him? Did it uphold his hands during his term of office? Did it not assume an entirely contrary attitude? Moreover, were Mr. Melville Spencer the citizens' candidate for the representation of the city to day instead of Mr. Thos. S. Hobbs, would it not subject him to the same opposition, the same misrepresentation, the same innuendoes, as it applies to his friend and fellow-citizen, Mr. Hobbs.

THEIR SPITE AGAINST LONDON.

Yesterday we observed with some pleasure, not unmixed with astonishment, that the London Free Press, in its treatment of the pending election in London, had dropped into the highly genteel style of argument. From past experience, we ventured to predict that the old Adam would re-assert itself in a very short time. The prognostication has been verified with a celerity that must alarm the friends of our contemporary, for it betokens an instability of purpose that may well cause dismay in the camp of the indorseers of the city solicitor of Toronto. It has happened as we expected, within 24 hours after this spell of mildness on the part of our esteemed contemporary. Whether it is that the candidature of Mr. Hobbs is developing altogether too much strength to suit his opponent, or whatever is the cause, the eminently genteel method of discussing the candidature of a formidable opponent seems to have been dropped. The argument of our contemporary is comical, though couched in language unusually violent. If it means anything, the reasoning of the Free Press must lead to the conclusion that the ADVERTISER is a candidate for election to the Legislature, instead of Mr. T. S. Hobbs. The ADVERTISER, so far as we are aware, is not asking the way to Westminster, with the breathless refrain, "It's a long road from St. Johns," and is not likely to be in that perilous position. As to what took place 20 years ago in the development of Ontario newspaperdom, it is hardly of sufficient importance to import into the live issues that are presented in the present campaign. The history and chequered experience of those who have made newspapers in Toronto or in any other center of population does not concern the electors who are called upon to decide between the Toronto city solicitor and the London wholesale merchant and manufacturer. More than one citizen of London has had experience of newspaper competition in the Great Hog City, as the late lamented Mr. Josiah Blackburn could testify to his cost if he were alive.

As to the phrase, the Great Hog City, to which, when applied to Toronto, the Free Press takes exception, we cannot lay claim to its authorship. It is the common designation of the extremely enterprising but extremely greedy Provincial capital. What could be a better illustration of the greed of the dominant section of the people of Toronto than is presented in the fact that while they could put up their city solicitor for any one of the four seats in that city, they should insist that the city of London must sacrifice its independence by electing him? The animus of this attack upon the ADVERTISER is easily understood by those who can read and reflect. It was not the ADVERTISER, but the Industrial Banner, the newspaper exponent of organized labor in this city, which first exposed the hoggishness of the attempt to add to Toronto's prestige by asking that London should elect W. R. Meredith, now drawing $13,500 a year as the special advocate of Toronto, to be representative of this western trade and educational center. Let there be no mistake made with regard to the views of the workingmen of London on this point. Here is how the Industrial Banner voices the prevailing convictions of independent electors on this subject:

"There is nothing small about Toronto. She is not content with wanting four city members in the Ontario Legislature, but manages to pick candidates for a score of rural constituencies as well. She is now reaching out after rival cities, and London is expected to elect her able solicitor to swell the crowd. Toronto is no hog, she doesn't want the universe. Give her all the land and someone else can have the water. She is always willing to go halves so long as she gets the solid half. Great head! Some day she will have the right to elect the whole Legislature; she has only got to go ahead as she is doing, and 'Get there, Jacob,' is the word while other people pay the piper."

Now let our contemporary attack this view, and oppose it, if it can. Why should not the Free Press cease importing irrelevant questions into the discussion, and honestly answer the queries we have again and again propounded to it? Here they are:

"1. Is there a city constituency in Canada that sends to Parliament or to the Legislature the paid agent of another city?"

"2. Is it right that London should select as its representative an officer of the city of Toronto?"

"3. Is Mr. Meredith, city solicitor of Toronto, having solemnly declared that in future the interests of that city would be his first consideration, in a position to be an independent representative of London?"

"4. Would Hamilton, Ottawa or Kingston go to Toronto for a representative in either the House of Commons or the Legislature?"

"5. Why should the progressive city of London alone advertise that it has no one within its bounds fit to represent it in the Legislature, and has to accept the candidature of a paid officer of Toronto?"

These queries are in exact line with those raised by the strong protest against Mr. Meredith's candidature by the official newspaper of organized labor in London, and the fact that the Free Press persistently refuses to answer one of them proves their strength. For the third time, we challenge our contemporary to cease its abuse of the ADVERTISER and of organized labor, and answer each and every one of the five questions put, or honestly confess its inability to do so.

OUTLOOK FOR THE FARMER.

The crop outlook in Western Ontario is much more favorable than it was a week ago. Seeding was finished this year in excellent time. An old resident of London says it is the earliest spring that he remembers in 50 years. Planting is in progress. Corn will be an important crop, as many farmers now have silos. The apprehended drought was warded off by the magnificent rains of Saturday and Sunday which were worth a great deal to the farmer. There is yet some apprehension that late frosts may injure the fruit crops. They are far advanced, and a good yield of apples, pears and small fruits is probable. Cheese factories are again in full swing, and the outlook for remunerative prices is good. Our climatic position is such as to enable dairymen to produce the best of cheese, and to command the highest market rates. But to do that they must be continually on the outlook for means whereby to improve their methods and keep up the standard of the product. In cheese, as in every other industry, what is worth doing is worth doing well, and in marketing a product which now brings $13,000,000 to Canada every year no care to maintain pre-eminence can be too great.

—In the new Northwest Bill provision is made for polling in contests there four weeks after the general election has been held elsewhere. Why this monkeying? All the elections should be held on one day, except they take place in winter, when in some parts of Canada it might be hard to get around.

GOOD TASTE OUTRAGED.

Who is responsible for permitting the painting of telegraph and telephone poles throughout the city? Even on Queen's avenue, one of the finest residential thoroughfares in the Dominion, the poles are being painted in shocking bad taste. The least that could be expected is to have the poles left without paint, or that the strong red should give place to a quiet tint. In some cities no poles are allowed on the streets. Here we not only have poles on every side of us, but they are made just as hideous as possible. Cannot the authorities see to it that some improvement is made? The residents of the street should certainly protest against this disfigurement and vulgarization of the beautiful thoroughfare. Even if, as is understood, the aldermen ordered the work to be done, it must now be seen to be a mistake which ought to be rectified.

WOMEN AT WORK

Regular Meeting of the W. C. T. U.—Busy Day Among Members.

Yesterday was "busy day" at the regular meeting of the W. C. T. U. Sixty-four members were present. The opening exercises and Bible reading were conducted by Mrs. Tilley in a most impressive manner, her subject being "The Power of Prayer." Mrs. (Dr.) Davidson and Miss Magee were nominated and received as members.

The librarian, Miss Spence, reported the new library now ready for use, a number of the very best temperance books of the day having been provided for circulation among members of the union. The law is—that in case a book shall be retained longer than four weeks a fine of 15 cents will be imposed. Mrs. Thornley reiterated the appeal made at last meeting and also the one printed in the Home Guard, for the financial co-operation of all friends of the temperance and prohibition movement. Little Miss Pearl Jackson delighted all present with a recitation, given in her little child-like way, and yet worthy of one many years older. She also responded to a hearty encore. The remainder of the afternoon was devoted to preparations for the coming Dominion convention, which will be held in the First Congregational Church, beginning Friday, June 1, and will close on Tuesday evening, June 5. Well known temperance workers from all parts of the Dominion will be present, and the London union is particularly anxious that this convention shall be an entire success in every sense of the word.

The news has come that Mrs. J. K. Barney, a very celebrated lecturer and temperance worker from Rhode Island, has promised to be present, and will give a lecture on Monday evening, June 4. Mrs. Barney has had a varied experience, and is the author of the story entitled "The Man That Died for Me." All the committees are now in working order, and the present outlook is that the Dominion convention of 1904 will be one long remembered with pleasure.

Rosebery's Horse Wins.

LONDON, May 9.—Lord Rosebery's Ladas won the Two Thousand Guinea stakes at Newmarket to-day Lord Arlington's Matchbox was second and Sir Blundell Maple's Athole third.

Deadly Labor Riot.

VIENNA, May 9.—A number of the striking workmen at Theresia Ostrau, Moravia, attempted to return to work this morning, but were prevented by the other strikers, who were largely in the majority. The strikers made an attack upon the gendarmes who were protecting the oil wells. The gendarmes fired into the mob and ten were killed and twelve were wounded. Troops have been sent to the scene.

An Appeal to Liberals.

LONDON, May 9.—The Daily Chronicle appeals to the Liberals to concentrate their energies and rally around the Government, otherwise dissolution is inevitable. It says: "The budget bill may escape defeat by a majority of only ten, to be followed by a reduced majority or even minority on the clauses. The Daily Telegraph says: 'The Government expects a majority of only a dozen. The whole edifice reared on the basis of Welsh home rule and other demands of discordant Liberal groups, totters to the wall.'"

Shot Herself in a Theater.

PARIS, May 9.—A young French woman, of the name of Cuyot, attempted to commit suicide in the Empire Theater last night. The woman occupied a seat in the gallery and was full dressed. At a certain point in the performance she arose from her seat and a moment later the sound of a pistol shot startled the audience. The woman had shot herself. She was carried from the theater and doctors were summoned. The ball had lodged in the abdomen and the doctors pronounced the wound serious and probably fatal. In the meantime the people in the theater were in a state of partial panic, and were with difficulty quieted. Nothing could be learned of the woman's motives for her action.

Dominion Paper Mills Burned. KINGSEY FALLS, Que., May 9.—Fire broke out early this morning in the mills of the Dominion Paper Company. The main building containing very expensive machinery was destroyed. Loss $75,000. The outbuildings were saved.

A Chance for Coxeyites.

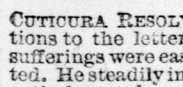

GREENVILLE, Miss., May 9.—If the various divisions of Coxey's army decide to work their way they can get all they want to do in the lower Mississippi Valley. Never in the history of this section have reliable farm laborers been so scarce as they are this season. There are hundreds of acres of fine farm lands lying idle because of the scarcity of labor.

ON FIRE WITH ECZEMA

Terrible Sufferings of Little Baby. Seven Doctors and two Hospitals Fail. Cured by Cuticura.

My baby boy, 5 months old, broke out with eczema. The itching and burning was intense; the eczema spread to his limbs, breast, face, and head, until he was nearly covered; his torturing agonies were pitiable to behold; he had no peace and but little rest night or day. He was under treatment at different times at two hospitals and by seven doctors in this city without the least benefit; every prescription of the doctors was faithfully tried, but he grew worse all the time. For months I expended about $5 per week for medicines, and was entirely discouraged. I purchased CUTICURA RESOLVENT and followed the directions to the letter. Relief was immediate, his sufferings were eased, and rest and sleep returned. He steadily improved and in nine weeks was entirely cured, and has now as clear a skin and is as fat a boy as any mother could wish to see. I recommend every mother to use it for every Baby Humour.

Mrs. M. FERGUSON, 88 W. Brookline St., Boston.

CUTICURA WORKS WONDERS

Babies on fire, babies burning up, babies in agony from torturing and disfiguring, itching and burning, skin and scalp diseases. None but mothers realize how they suffer. To know that a single application of the CUTICURA REMEDIES will afford instant relief, permit rest and sleep, and point to a speedy cure, and not to use them is to fail in your duty. Think of the years of suffering entailed by such neglect. Cures made in childhood are speedy and economical.

Thousands of Dollars

I spent trying to find a cure for Salt Rheum, which I had 13 years. Physicians said they never saw on severe a case. My legs, back and arms were covered by the humor. I was unable to lie down in bed, could not walk without crutches, and had to be bandaged twice a day. I began to take Hood's Sarsaparilla and soon I could see a change. The flesh became more healthy, the sores soon healed, the scales fell off. I was soon able to give up bandages and crutches, and a happy man I was. I had been taking Breeds vs. Halfbreeds.

GUTHRIE, O. T., May 8.—The Osage full blood Indians have obtained full control of the tribal council, and are preparing to drive the halfbreeds off the reservation and deprive them of their property. Serious trouble is anticipated and United States troops have been called for.

Took the Veil.
TORONTO, May 8.—Seven young ladies took the white veil this morning at Leinster Abbey. They were Mary Clifford, Stratford, Ont.; Alice Ede, Manchester, Eng.; Mary Cherrier, Hamilton; Margaret Singleton, Montreal; Mary Halloran, Hamilton; Kate E. Gorman, Douglas; Helen Gallagher, St. Thomas. They were addressed by the archbishop.

"A Common Old Thing."
BALTIMORE, May 8.—Mrs. Maggie G. Kennedy, a well-known professional spiritualist medium, has sued Alice Schirman for $10,000 damages for slander. Mrs. Kennedy alleges that at a meeting on May 1 Schirman said: "You (meaning Mrs. Kennedy) are no medium and you are no lady and no spiritualist. You ain't nothing; you are a common old thing." These remarks, she says, broke up her meeting and injured her reputation with her patrons.

Revision Reversed!

The Government Taking Back Its Boasted Tariff Reform.

One After Another the Old Rates Are Restored.

(Special to the ADVERTISER.)

OTTAWA, May 8.—Still further tariff changes. By the time the resolutions get through committee the country won't know where they are at. When the House met Mr. Davies moved that the expenditures which had been objected to by the Auditor-General, and in which cases his objections had been overruled by the Government, be referred to the public accounts committee for investigation.

Sir John Thompson objected to this proceeding, arguing that the Auditor-General should not have made public matters relating to expenditures for the current year, and such matters should not be made public through committee.

Mr. Davies said he thought it would be a great convenience if the House was obliged to wait nearly two years before obtaining information regarding public accounts.

Hon. Wilfrid Laurier said the public accounts committee was the proper authority to judge as to when accounts should be published.

Sir John Thompson contended that Mr. Davies should give notice of his motion, and Mr. Davies said that the Ministers were simply trying to prevent inquiry into expenditures that the Auditor-General had condemned as illegal and unwarranted.

When Dr. Bérin moved the adoption of the report of the printing committee, Mr. Foster objected on the ground that the proposed amount for printing reports of experimental farms was too large, and the motion was withdrawn.

Mr. Daly's bill to extend the ballot to the Northwest Territories was considered the Government agreed to insert a clause providing for a recount of the vote.

Mr. Martin protested against the proposal to have four weeks elapse between nomination and polling, as this would make the elections in the Northwest three weeks later than elsewhere. The bill also gave an autocratic power to the Government and voters' lists. Officials might prepare lists, and no one could inspect them before polling day.

Mr. Daly said he had adopted the provisions of the Local Election Act in the Territories, which was found to work well and which the Northwest approved.

The committee rose without completing the consideration of the bill.

The tariff resolutions were then taken up, the iron duties being considered.

Mr. Foster moved that made cold rolled iron and steel be dutiable at the old rate of 4 per cent per pound instead of 5 per cent as first proposed; also to make the duty upon wire nails 1 cent per pound instead of the 2 of a cent as in the resolution, and admitted that this duty was equal to 10 per cent.

Messrs. Davies and Laurier pointed out that the Government was going back upon all their tariff reform proposals.

Mr. Foster also moved that brass and copper nails be 35 per cent instead of 25 per cent, and that the duty on enameled iron and steel ware be restored to the old rate, 35 per cent, and that copper wire be 15 per cent instead of 10 per cent. As regards wood pulp he proposed to make it dutiable at 25 per cent, with the proviso that if it was placed on the American free list duty would be abolished.

Mr. Laurier called attention to the statement of Sir Henry Tyler that the present Premier had renewed Sir John Macdonald's promise that coal would be placed on the Canadian free list if the American duty on coal was abolished.

Sir John Thompson said he had ascertained that Mr. Tyler had been misreported. No such promise had been given.

Mr. Foster then moved to change the duty on axes, springs, etc., from 35 per cent as first proposed to 1 cent per pound, and 20 per cent.

The opposition protested that this was returning to the old duty, but the motion carried.

Mr. Davies urged reduction on wrought iron piping, and strengthened his argument by reading statistics, showing a marked difference in the prices between Canada and the United States. The item finally passed as it stood.

After a discussion on collars and cuffs the committee rose and the House adjourned.

There is likely to be a lively sitting of the House to-morrow.

NOTES.
Mr. Ledue intends to ask the Government whether petitions have been received praying for the disallowance of the act of the Quebec Legislature giving the town and parish of Nicolet power to vote $8,000 each towards the construction of a cathedral church in the town.

Dr. Landerkin is inquiring as to the revenue derived from certain breweries in Ontario, and Mr. Gibson as to the pier at Oakville harbor.

Dr. R. J. Wicksteed, of the law office of the House of Commons, who was suspended for writing letters to the press of such a P. P. A. flavor as to be obnoxious to the Quebec contingent in the Cabinet, has been dismissed. Dr. Wicksteed is a member of the White Rose degree of the Sons of England.

THE LABOR SITUATION.
Eviction of Striking Miners Begun—Growing Strength of the U. M. W. of A.

NEGROES SUBSTITUTED FOR STRIKERS.
NASHVILLE, Tenn., May 8.—At Blue Creek mines, Ala., this morning, over 100 negroes were put to work and evictions of striking miners began. Strikers are much irritated in consequence, and many threats are made.

REINFORCEMENTS.
COLUMBUS, Ohio, May 8.—The anthracite coal miners are likely to be organized into the United Mine Workers of America. If this is done the organization will have 300,000 members.

A telegram received to-day from Kilgore, Kentucky, announces that 500 miners have suspended work.

President McKim has many of the railroads are reduced to such straits for fuel that they have seized the coal on their tracks for shipment and appropriated it to their own use.

NOTES.
Winnipeg Ministerial Association has passed a resolution urging the council to proceed as early as possible with the contemplated public improvements to give work to the bona fide residents of the city who are unemployed.

It is said that the unemployed of Winnipeg will hold a demonstration this week.

THE ONTARIO CAMPAIGN.

East Lambton Liberals Nominate Reeve R. McCormick.

Joseph Tait Unanimously Nominated by North Toronto Liberals.

OTTAWA, May 8.—The Conservatives of Russell county held their annual convention yesterday at Duncanville. Hurtubise was selected as the next candidate for the Dominion House, and ex-Reeve Spratt, of Gloucester, for the Provincial.

EAST LAMBTON LIBERALS.
WATFORD, May 8.—The Reformers of East Lambton held their convention here to-day, and it was well attended—nearly every polling subdivision being represented. On the platform were Messrs. Monteague Smith, of Forest, president of the East Lambton Reform Association; Petty, of the Forest Free Press; Albin Rawlings and Thos. Jones, of Forest; Dr. McKinnon and P. McLean, of Alvinston; R. Stuart, of Bosanquet; J. Anderson, Dr. Harvey and J. B. Dale, of Wyoming; Robt. Rice, of Bosanquet; Joseph Hall, R. McCormick and John Kingston, of Warwick. Monteague Smith was re-elected president; John Kingston vice-president and H. E. Williams secretary-treasurer.

A large number of nominations were made, all resigning excepting Mr. R. McCormick, Reeve of Warwick, and Mr. R. Stuart, of Bosanquet. Mr. McCormick was chosen on the first ballot.

JOSEPH TAIT.
TORONTO, May 8.—Mr. Joseph Tait was nominated this evening as the Reform candidate for North Toronto for the Legislature. The nomination was unanimous and the meeting harmonious.

What may be regarded as a significant piece of news is the statement that the firm of John P. Rose & Co., Toronto, has been awarded the contract by the Dominion Government for the supply of ballot-boxes for the next general elections. The contract stipulates that the boxes shall be ready within 90 days.

NOTES.
Mr. G. G. S. Lindsay, whose name has been frequently mentioned as the Reform candidate for West Toronto, has definitely announced that his physicians would not allow him to enter a contest.

Ex-Mayor Wm. Doran has been asked to run as an independent candidate for the Legislature in the East Hamilton constituency. Mr. Doran says if no other candidates are brought out he will probably accept. The candidates already in the field for East Hamilton are J. T. Middleton, Reform, and C. R. Smith, P. P. A.

"GUILTY!"
The Sharon Poisoning Case Closes With Conviction of Mrs. Evans and Osmar.

TORONTO, May 8.—The Sharon poison conspiracy case was brought to a conclusion this evening when the jury, after being out an hour and a half, returned with a verdict of guilty against Mrs. Evans and Osmar. Pegg was discharged early in the day. Judge Robertson holding there was no case against him for the jury.

The judge's charge was strongly against Mrs. Evans and against the theory of the defense that there was a conspiracy on the part of the Evans' family against Mrs. Evans. The counsel for the defense asked a reserve case on objections taken by them to portions of the charge. This the judge would not grant. Both prisoner heard the verdict calmly. Sentence will be pronounced Saturday.

Fatal Trolley Accident at Toronto.
TORONTO, May 8.—George Jones, aged 5, son of John W. Jones, carpenter, of Water street, was struck by a trolley on Queen street to-night. The trolley passed over the child's legs. One leg was cut off and the other terribly mutilated. He was taken to the hospital in a dying condition.

Prohibition in Force.
COLUMBIA, S. C., May 8.—The State Supreme Court has decided that prohibition is in force in this State.

The Supreme Court is scheduled to-day in announcing its decision in a case from Florence, asking for an injunction to restrain the city council from granting licenses for selling liquor, on the ground that there is no law authorizing the granting thereof.

May Make Another State.
DENISON, Tex., May 8.—News reached here to-day from the Chickasaw Nation that Gov. Wolf had been arrested, charged with appropriating $75,000 of the leased district's money. Justice Joe Kemp, of the Supreme Court, has been removed for malfeasance in office, and will be impeached. The excitement is at white heat, and it is believed the revolutions of to-day will result in the disruption of the Chickasaw Nation and bring about statehood.

INTERESTING LEGAL DECISION.
Affecting the London Mutual Insurance Company and the M. C. R.

TORONTO, May 8.—Judgment was given to-day in the Court of Appeal in the case of Wellens vs. the Canada Southern Railway Company.

The case was an appeal by the plaintiffs from the judgment of the Queen's Bench Divisional Court dismissing a motion by appellants to set aside a non-verdict entered by Judge Street at the trial of the action by J. Wellens and the London Mutual Fire Insurance Company against the Canada Southern Railway Company and the M. C. R. Company to recover $1,210 for loss sustained by Plaintiff Wellens owing to alleged negligence of the M. C. R. Company in running over the Canada Southern line a locomotive so faultily constructed as to emit sparks and set fire to the shed and barn of Wellens.

It was found at the trial that there was no negligence, and the plaintiffs appealed on the ground that the defendants, the M. C. R. Company, were liable as wrong-doers. The M. C. R. Company is a foreign corporation, and not authorized by any statute to run engines over lines in Canada, but they contended that by an agreement with the Canada Southern Railway Company, they were authorized to run their engines, and were not liable except for negligence.

The majority of the court held that the agreement amounted to a lease of the road to the Michigan Central company for 21 years, and was ultra vires, not being ratified or recognized by parliamentary authority, in so far as it professed to delegate corporate powers and immunity from the consequences of their acts, and that the plaintiffs were entitled to show that the agreement was ultra vires.

Chief Justice Hagarty dissented, holding that the engine was lawfully on the line with the consent of the Canada Southern Company, authorized by a statute giving power to make running arrangements.

Appeal allowed with costs; new trial; costs of the former trial and in the Division Court to be paid by the respondents.

AND HOW THEY EXHAUST

Some Personal Sketches and Incidents of Brain Workers in the Highest Walks of Life.

The reader of the daily paper who sits in his cosy home and is informed of what is transpiring in every quarter of the globe seldom realizes the amount of actual labor necessary to ascertain, collect, write, transmit and print this wonderful mass of news.

Mr. William Henry Smith, formerly manager of the Associated Press, is in the prime of life, and possesses a mind clear as to the requirements of the public. Mr. Smith has always been an arduous worker, and it is by no means surprising that his health should, in the past, have suffered more or less severely. The mental strain necessary to the performance of his duties caused difficulties of digestion which are not easily overcome, and also a uremic colic, both painful and exhausting. All attempts to overcome these tendencies by force of will proved futile, and he consulted eminent physicians, among them Dr. Barthol, of Philadelphia. In spite, however, of the care and skill of these practitioners, he grew weaker constantly. The result can best be described in his own words. He said:

"My brother, C. W. Smith, a manager of the Chesapeake and Ohio Railroad, came to visit me, and, seeing my condition, took upon himself to conduct my case, and so, in preparation, which I have since learned he had used successfully himself and in his family. I began to improve, and commenced improving at once. This improvement continued, until now I am well, and vigorous through the influence of Warner's Safe Cure."

Gov. Pack

"Turn to the Right."

Nothing could exceed the determination with which she said these words, unless it were the malicious pleasure in thwarting my wishes which made itself seen through the veil of assumed indifference. I felt myself brought up with a vengeance, and in a manner most provoking that could be conceived. But opposition so childish, so utterly wanton, by exciting my indignation, had presently the effect of banishing the peculiar bashfulness I felt in her presence, and revealing me to my duty.

"Mademoiselle," I said firmly, looking at her with a fixed countenance, "pardon me if I speak plainly. This is no time for playing with words. The men from whom you escaped are as determined and more desperate now. By this time they probably know of your arrival. Do then, as I ask, I pray and beseech you. Or this time I may lack the power, though never the will, to save you."

Wholly ignorant of my appeal, she looked in my face—for by this time I had advanced to her side—with a whimsical smile. "You are really much improved in manner since I last saw you," she replied, smiling. "Mademoiselle," I replied, baffled and repelled. "What do you mean?" "What I say," she answered, daintily. "But it was to be expected."

"For shame!" I cried, provoked almost beyond bearing by her ill-timed raillery. "Will you never be serious? I tell you this house is not safe for you! It is not safe for me! I cannot bring my men to it for there is not a room for them. If you have any spark of consideration, of gratitude, therefore—"

"Gratitude!" she exclaimed, swinging her mask slowly to and fro by a ribbon, while she looked up at me as though my excitement amused her. "Gratitude! A very pretty phrase and means much, but it is for those who serve us faithfully. M. de Marzac, and not for others. You receive so many favors, I am told, and are so successful at Court, that I should not be justified in monopolizing your services."

"But, mademoiselle—" I said in a low tone. And there I stopped. I dared not proceed.

"Well, sir," she answered, looking up at me after a moment's silence, and ceasing on a sudden to play with her toy, "what is it?"

"You spoke of favors," I continued, with an effort. "I never received but one from a lady. That was at Rosny, and from your hand."

"From my hand?" she answered, with an air of cold surprise.

"It was so, mademoiselle."

"You have fallen into some strange mistake, sir," she replied, raising her head, and looking at me indifferently. "I never gave you a favor."

I bowed low. "If you say so, did not, mademoiselle, that is enough," I answered.

"Now, but do not let me do you an injustice, M. de Marzac," she rejoined, speaking more quickly and in an altered tone. "If you can show me the favor I gave you, I shall of course be convinced. Seeing as believing, you know," she added, with a light, nervous laugh, and a gesture of something like shyness.

If I had not sufficiently regretted my carelessness, and loss of the bow at the time, I did so now. I looked at her in silence, and saw her face, that had for a moment shown signs of feeling, almost of shame, grow slowly hard again.

"Well, sir," she said impatiently. "The proof is easy."

"It was taken from me; believe, by M. de Rosny," I answered lamely, wondering what ill-luck had led her to put the question and press it to this point.

"It was taken from you?" she exclaimed, rising and confronting me with the utmost suddenness, while her eyes flashed, and her little hand crumpled the mask beyond future usefulness. "It was taken from you, sir?" she repeated, her voice and her whole frame trembling with anger and indignation.

"Then I thank you. I prefer my version. Yours is impossible. For let me tell you, when Mademoiselle de la Vire does confer a favor, it will be on a man with the power and the wit—and the constancy, to keep it, even from M. de Rosny!"

Her scorn hurt, though it did not anger me. I felt it to be in a measure deserved, and raged against myself rather than against her. But I gave through all of the supreme importance of placing her in safety, I subjected my immediate feelings to the exigencies of the moment and stooped to an argument which would, I thought, have weight though private pleading failed.

"Putting myself aside, mademoiselle," I said, with more formality than I had yet used, "there is one consideration which must weigh with you. The king—"

"The king?" she cried, interrupting me violently, her face hot with passion and her whole person instinct with stubborn self-will. "I shall not see the king!"

"You will not see the king?" I repeated in amazement.

"No, I will not!" she answered, in a whirl of anger, scorn, and impetuosity. "There! I will not! I have been made a toy and a tool long enough. M. de Marzac," she continued, "and I will serve others' ends no more. I have made up my mind. Do not talk to me; you will do no good, sir. I would to Heaven," she added bitterly, "I had stayed at Chizé and never seen this place!"

"But, mademoiselle," I said, "you have not thought—"

"Thought!" she exclaimed, shutting her small white teeth so viciously I all but recoiled. "I have thought enough. I am going to act now. I will be a puppet no longer. You may take me to the castle by force if you will; but you cannot make me speak."

I looked at her in the utmost dismay and astonishment; being unable at first to believe that a woman who had done things so much, had run so many risks, and ridden so many miles for a purpose, would, when all was done and the hour came, decline to carry out her plan. I could not believe it, I say, at first; and I tried arguments and entreaties without stint, thinking that she only asked to be entreated or coaxed.

But I found prayers and even threats breath wasted upon her; and beyond these I would not go. I knew I have been blamed by some and ridiculed by others for not pushing the matter farther; but those who have stood face to face with a woman of spirit—a woman whose very frailty and weakness fought for her—will better understand the difficulties with which I had to contend and the manner in which conviction was at last borne in on my mind. I had never before confronted stubbornness of this kind. As she looked at me, I said again and again, I might force her to Court, but I could not make her speak.

When I had tried every means of persuasion, and still found no way of overcoming her resolution—the while Franchette looked on with a face of wood, neither aiding me nor taking part against me—I lost, I confess, in the chagrin of the moment that sense of duty which had hitherto animated me; and though my relation to mademoiselle should have made me as careful as ever of her safety, even in her own desire, I left her at last in anger and went out without saying another word about removing her—a thing which was still in my power. I believe a very brief reflection would have recalled me to my duty; but the opportunity was not given me, for I had scarcely reached the head of the stairs before Franchette came after me, and called to me in a whisper to stop.

She held a taper in her hand, and this she raised to my face, smiling at the disorder which she doubtless read there. "Do you say that this house is not safe?" she asked abruptly, lowering the light as she spoke.

"You have tried a house in Blois before?" I replied with the same bluntness. You should know as well as I, woman."

"She must be taken from here, then," she answered, nodding her head, cunningly. "I can persuade her. Do you send for your people, and be here in half an hour. It may take me that time to wheedle her. But I shall do it."

"Then listen," I said eagerly, seizing the opportunity and her sleeve and drawing her farther from the door. "If you can persuade her to that, you can persuade to all I wish. Listen, my friend," I continued, sinking my voice still lower. "If she will see the king for only ten minutes, and tell him what she knows, I will give you—"

"What?" the woman asked suddenly and harshly, drawing at the same time her sleeve from my hand.

"Fifty crowns," I replied, naming in my desperation a sum which would seem a fortune to a person in her position. "Fifty crowns down, the moment the interview is over."

THE OPEN FORUM.

The Labor Question.

To the Editor of the ADVERTISER:

An old friend, an iron molder and an old and respected citizen of London, when asked what of Gen. Coxe and the labor question, said men cut of work cannot starve and sit down and see their families starve, or suffer from want, but will help themselves.

But why go to Washington? Well, it is the right way to get help and the right place to look for it.

Now, Mr. Editor, is this so? Should the unemployed look to the Government, and is this petition with boots on right? Gen. Coxe says it cannot be put in the pigeon hole. The United States Government answers them: "Don't come here; and if you misbehave you will suffer the consequences." They are prepared to destroy, but not to hear them. And this is the United States that the workmen of the world are looking for to a solution of the labor troubles and a right way of adjustment!

Another friend, when asked his opinion of the unemployed going to Washington, said it would be better for the lazy men to go to work, and he further said they don't want it.

Another friend, a man of much experience, said they are a lot of fools. Another, a business man of many years, said they are a set of cranks, and good-for-nothing tramps that don't want work.

So unemployed labor gets our hard names, but no help to the solution of the great labor troubles. The writer had some experiences in carrying the petition of the unemployed of this city and neighborhood to Ottawa, and being referred to the Local House at Toronto. The one said, we cannot; the other said, we will help you, but did not. This is in reference to the Colonization and Aid Society of this city, and its effort to direct the mind of the laboring men to the land as a right and wise way of relieving an oversupply of labor, and which the writer is pleased to see the Italian Government is now trying at Masania, Africa. An effort is being made to help themselves at Pensacola, Fla., United States, having headquarters in Chicago, Ill.

Another good way is by a private company in the Island of Cuba, West Indies, where an allotment of land was given and help until the crops were matured, and a cure market for their sugar cane, to enable them to make good their loan, which was at a low interest. This was done on a business basis and not charity, and was carried into effect by our esteemed friend, David Rougier, of this city.

The items about the Italian colony in East Africa will be found in the colored-headed Scientific American, page 274, middle column, May 5, 1894.

A good illustration of the labor question is at present going on in this city—Dundas street west, between Ridout street and the bridge. If the General Coxe army are bad they may be allowed to work with the boys in black and ginger-green clothes under the eye of the sheriff's man that the county helps, and our own honest, hard-working men in blue, which color they have worn, at least for many years, trying to help themselves in a way honorable to the city and themselves.

Leaving the above review as a proper and perhaps the best solution of the labor question for the consideration of the different labor unions among your numerous readers, in which they may unite their efforts to unload the present oversupply of labor and also prevent an oversupply in the future, and to the benefit of all and to the injury of none.

Asking space in your workmen's column, I remain, yours ever, JOHN LAW.

Why Do You Live? "Live for those who love me, for those who know me love me. For the heavens that bend above me, and the good that I can do." But that fate would give me, and hundreds say so too. Some safe and potent agency. That would mean health renew.

Of course, because then you would be more useful to your fellow-men. Well, that wished for agency is Dr. Pierce's Golden Medical Discovery. There is nothing that can compare with the "Discovery" as a curative agent for sour stomach, constipation, impure blood, biliousness, liver and kidney troubles. Pierce guarantees a cure.

His Narrow Escape. It was in the far west. "Darling!" he whispered. "After I left you last evening I walked on air!" She met his words with a look of wonder and amazement. "Well I declare!" she exclaimed. "Who cut you down, Hank?"

You're Losing Something every day that you try to worry along without Pearline. And what's the use? What do you gain? You can't have washing done more safely than it's done with Pearline. And it can't be done more cheaply—if it's done safely. You lose in time and labor. Pearline saves half of both. You lose in clothes, too. You can't rub them clean in the old way on the washboard, without rubbing them to pieces. All these things that you lose are money.

Beware of Peddlers and some unscrupulous grocers will tell you, "this is the best and cheapest same as Pearline." IT'S FALSE—Pearline is never peddled, and if your grocer sends you something in place of Pearline do the honest thing—send it back. 350 JAMES PYLE, New York.

CASTORIA

Castoria is Dr. Samuel Pitcher's prescription for Infants and Children. It contains neither Opium, Morphine nor other Narcotic substance. It is a harmless substitute for Paregoric, Drops, Soothing Syrup, and Castor Oil. It is Pleasant. Its guarantee is thirty years' use by Millions of Mothers. Castoria destroys Worms and allays feverishness. Castoria prevents vomiting Sour Curd, cures Diarrhoea and Wind Colic. Castoria relieves teething troubles, cures constipation and flatulency. Castoria assimilates the food, regulates the stomach and bowels, giving healthy and natural sleep. Castoria is the Children's Panacea—the Mother's Friend.

Castoria.

"Castoria is an excellent medicine for children. Mothers have repeatedly told me of its good effect upon their children."

Dr. G. C. Osceola, Lowell, Mass.

"Castoria is the best remedy for children of which I am acquainted. I hope the day is not far distant when mothers will consider the real interest of their children, and use Castoria instead of the various quack nostrums which are destroying their loved ones, by forcing opium, morphine, soothing syrup and other hurtful agents down their throats, thereby sending them to premature graves."

Dr. J. F. KINCHELOE, Conway, Ark.

Castoria.

"Castoria is so well adapted to children that I recommend it as superior to any prescription known to me."

H. A. ANCHER, M. D., 111 So. Oxford St., Brooklyn, N. Y.

"Our physicians in the children's department have spoken highly of their experience in their outside practice with Castoria, and although we only have among our medical supplies what is known as regular products, yet we are free to confess that the merits of Castoria has won us to look with favor upon it."

called for last night, has been indefinitely postponed.

—There is a little difference existing in the local society of stationary engineers, caused by the action of one or two of the members. On the last regular meeting night a quorum could not be secured.

—A local boiler insurance company is contemplating the holding of open meetings for the instruction of stationary engineers.
If the plan is carried out lectures will be delivered and lessons on economy in engineering work given. Employers will also be invited to attend.

—"John B. Gough" was the subject of a rich intellectual treat by John R. Clarke in the Hamilton Road Methodist Church Monday evening. Mr. Clarke attributes much of his own success to the inspiration of Gough's life and labor. He considers himself a ready, but Gough was quite beyond imitation, and at the same time was the king of imitators. Gough said he had no logic, but plenty of experience, and Mr. Clarke remarked that quite as useful as logical acumen. He related Gough's experience with the straight-laced members of session, when he spent an hour and a half in giving a logical and therefore very uninteresting lecture, and then "let him out" next evening to the unbounded amusement and edification of his delighted audience. Mr. Clarke's repetitions of several of Gough's witty and pathetic utterances showed that in reality the mantle of J. B. has fallen on J. R. The lecture was listened to by a very attentive and appreciative audience, and one of whom would willingly miss another opportunity of hearing it.

Successful Canadian Inventors

Costly Riding.

Yesterday afternoon, says a Windsor dispatch, Peter F. Murphy, Peter Moore and Wm. Brown, we dismounted at the Ontario Natural Gas Company, and shortly after boarded a train at Kingsville to come to Walkerville. They neglected to provide themselves with tickets, and when they refused to pay fare Conductor Whitley stopped the train and put them off.
After the train started again they jumped on and got in a box car, but were seen by the conductor, who telegraphed to Superintendent Woollart from Harrow. As soon as the message was received a special train was sent out with Officer Weston on board, who arrested the men at the junction and had them brought to Walkerville. Magistrate Bartlet was sent for, and inside of two hours the men had been tried, convicted and sentenced to pay a fine of $8 each. The cost came high, but the Walkers want it understood that there is to be no monkey work on that road.

Water Commissioners.

The Board of Water Commissioners met last night, with Chairman Wm. Jones, Commissioner Cowan, Engineer Moore, Secretary Ellwood and Inspectors Platt and Piastov present. Mrs. Bartlett, 724 Maitland street, complained of insufficient hydrant pressure. The engineer will put in a new service if necessary. E. F. Johnston, London West, applied for a service.
The request was granted on condition that Mr. Johnston supply an agreement satisfactory to the engineer. Petitions for mains from H. Payne, Duchesse avenue, E. H.
Cowan, Wellington street, and Mrs. M.
Bruce, Chesapeake street, were referred to Engineer Moore to report. The engineer recommended that Portland cement mortar be used as the foundation of the new pumping station instead of lime mortar, owing to the wet condition of the soil.
This suggestion will be acted upon. The cost will be $90. A new veranda will be placed on the north side of the Springbank Hotel at a cost of $150.

Free Library Board.

The Free Library Board shows decided signs of life once more. The members met last night, and on the strength of the $20,000 in debentures passed by the City Council, took what steps they possibly could in the present state of affairs to secure a site and building. Henry Macklin occupied the chair, and Mr. Keene acted as secretary. The others members present were James Egan, Robert Reid, E. R.
Cameron, Geo. Burnett, J. B. Dignan and Joseph Marks. The first business done was to take steps to secure the proceeds of the debenture issue, and on motion of Messrs. Reid and Cameron the council will be asked to say when the proceeds will be placed at the disposal of the board. On motion of Messrs. Keene and Dignan the chairman was instructed to enter into an agreement with Mr. Durnand for the purchase of his lot of 100 feet on Queen's avenue, and 80 feet on Wellington street, at the price of $5,500. As soon as the ground has been secured a special meeting a building to cost $13,000 or $14,000.

MUSICAL AND DRAMATIC.

Splendid Performance of "La Grande Duchesse" by Local Amateurs—
"Dr. Bill" and Marie Tempest.

"DR. BILL" TO-MORROW.

An attraction that appeared in London and received a favorable impression was the performance of "Dr. Bill" last season.
It was produced with all the accessories that witnessed the long run of 200 nights at the Garden Theater, New York city.
The company was exceedingly clever and the play itself a climax of fun. It has been touring the country ever since. This, the second visit, should draw large audiences to both the performances. A matinee will be given, and ladies and children who attend will enjoy the play. Low prices are prevailing for the matinee.

"FENCING MASTER" FRIDAY NIGHT.
The Whitney Opera Company presenting Messrs. De Koven and Smith's most tuneful opera, "The Fencing Master," with the charming little Dresden china prima donna, Miss Marie Tempest, in the leading role, is attracting more attention in society than any theatrical event of this season. Manager Whitney adheres to his original plan of having but one "Fencing Master," and but one Whitney Opera Company, and keeping that up to the metropolitan standard.
"The Fencing Master" is one of the most popular operas ever written, and it was presented at the Casino in New York over 250 consecutive nights, after which it made a tour of the leading Eastern and Southern cities and a few large cities in Canada.
Both the public and the leading critics unite in saying that it is the best opera on the road this season. This will be the last opera to appear here this season. Plans opens Wednesday morning.

"LA GRANDE DUCHESSE" Weeks of practice and preparation culminated in a splendid performance of "La Grande Duchesse" at the Opera House last night. The audience was large and enthusiastic enough to inspire the performers to do their best—and they did. Though an amateur production it was characterized by a professional smoothness and finish, due in a great measure, no doubt, to the admirable coaching of Mr. and Mrs. A. D. Holman.

When Mrs. George Holman assumed her place at the piano, as of yore, she was greeted with a hearty round of applause, supplemented by several beautiful floral tributes from friends. She handled the instrument and conducted the orchestra with all her former brilliancy and tone. The chorus was carefully picked and well balanced, and managed the crescendo with plenty of vigor. The voices were clear and fresh, advantages which amateurs have over traveling troupes, who are often tired and unenthusiastic.
The melody and mirth of Offenbach's tuneful opera were therefore most ably interpreted last night. Praise must be accorded the management for the sumptuous costuming of the piece, which must have entailed trouble and expense. The dresses were very pretty and tasteful.

The principals acquitted themselves famously. Of course Mrs. A. D. Holman as the Duchess was the bright particular star and shone resplendent.
Her dramatic treatment of the role was delightfully crisp and artistic, while her voice, trained in the best schools of opera, took the highest notes with apparent ease and sustaining power. Her admirers sent her a number of bouquets. Mrs. Holman's dresses were rich and unique in pattern.
As Vanda, Miss Eva Roche looked demonstrably charming, and her unaffected manner won many favorable comments and a couple of handsome presents from the greenhouse. Mr. Holman had been in bed all day from a severe cold, and went bravely through his part while really ill.
Few would have suspected it, however, for despite his hoarseness he played with his usual felicity and shared the honors with his wife. Mr. J. M. Daly, in the important role of Fritz, acted with commendable sang froid and self-possession and sang with much spirit. His cleverness surprised his friends. Mr. William Thorne, an old favorite, showed his stage aptitude again by his humorous conception of Baron Puck, and Mr. Alf Wicks as the insipid Prince Paul was the best of a thankless part. Aid. Coe, who was a funny Baron Grog, sang to a catchy tune a topical song which told of the visit of Tom Essey and himself to the ladies' club in the instance of an irate father, whose daughters they had escorted home one night, and also revealed the secret that the aldermen were drinking toddy in a neighboring saloon when the council quorum on the license reduction bylaw disappeared. Mr.
W. H. Irvine made a capital aide-de-camp and Master Holman beat the kettle drum in a way that proved him a chip of the old block. The maids of honor—Miss Katie McLaughlin, Miss Blanch Pigott, Miss Pauline Hennevey and Miss Nellie Deacon—each rendered a solo. Individually and collectively the entire company are entitled to eulogy, and it is gratifying to know the performance was a financial as well as an artistic success. This will encourage them for the future when added experience if that is possible.

The chorus included the following:
Misses Nora Pendergast, Lizzie Pendergast,
Louie L. Taylor, Lena O'Mara, Hattie Short, Lydia Palmer, Nellie Deacon, Pauline Pendergast, Pauline Hennevey, Annie Taylor, Katie McLaughlin, Lottie Palmer,
Eva McCarthy and Mrs. Blanch Pigott;
Messrs. H. C. Searson, H. Kenzie Mc-Cormick, William Wood, Robert H. Giese,
William A. Martin, Edgar Rossie, William
Percival, Henry Short, Frederick Grant,
William E. Traher, Edward Green, Ernest
S. Welch, John Pope, Miller Bacon, James
H. Percival, Philip Murphy, Frank Coles,
C. E. A. Webb, Harry Hodgins.

Little Gussie Graham, between the first and second acts, sang two popular ditties to the amusement and delight of her hearers. She has a wonderful voice for a child.
