TAFT'S SPECIAL SESSION OF CONGRESS OPENS RECIPROCITY ALONE TO BE DEALT WITH

Other Matters To Be Taken Up After Decision as to Pact.

THE MESSAGE OUT TOMORROW

Champ Clark, Speaker of New House, Says He Is for Tariff Revision.

[Canadian Press.]

Washington, April 4.—President Taft's first message to the 62nd Congress will go in tomorrow, according to unofficial information at the White House today. The President began the dictation of the message early today, and when the cabinet met at 11 o'clock he laid before it a rough draft of the document. Following the cabinet session this afternoon, the President will take up the message with one of his secretaries, and proposes to complete it.

The message, according to the White House, will deal only with reciprocity with Canada. Reference to a permanent tariff commission or to other kindred subjects will be deferred until later, if the present plan is followed. The message will not be long, and will follow closely the speeches made by the President on the subject of reciprocity.

[Canadian Press.]

Washington, April 4.—Called in extraordinary session by President Taft to consider the question of Canadian reciprocity, which failed in the last session because of a filibuster against it in the Senate, the 62nd Congress assembled at noon today. In spite of the fact that the proclamation issued by the President mentioned nothing except reciprocity, and it is expected his message to the special session will be likewise circumscribed, an ambitious programme has been outlined by the new Democratic majority in the House, and the outcome is in doubt. The session, because of the anomalous situation created by one party being in control of one branch and its rival in power at the other end of the capitol, is expected to be long and filled with turmoil and political bickerings.

The chief feature of interest in the session today was the election of Champ Clark, of Missouri, as speaker of the House, and the return to the floor of "Uncle Joe" Cannon as a mere member from Danville, Ill., and a minority member, at that.

The swearing in of new congressmen was the first business of the day. This was to be followed by the presentation of the report of the new committee on rules and other matters of organization.

Champ Clark's Speech.

Washington, April 4. — This day marked the opening of the trial of the Democratic party to demonstrate its worthiness to receive "the wider confidence" of the voter and country.

Asking his colleagues to keep that fact uppermost in their minds during the present session of Congress, Representative Champ Clark, of Missouri, in his speech accepting the speakership of the House, today outlined the measures through which the Democratic party hopes to continue to enjoy the faith of the people.

Intelligent revision of the tariff, election of United Senators by popular vote, changes in the House rules to permit proper consideration of public measures, economy in handling the purse-strings of the country, the publication of campaign contributions, and the early admission of New Mexico and Arizona to statehood, were some of the things which Speaker Clark emphasized in the Democratic programme as measures that would be undertaken by the majority party in the House.

THE NEW CONGRESS

The political complexion of the 62nd Congress, convened in extraordinary session today, is as follows:

Senate—Republicans, 50; Democrats, 41; vacancy, 1.

House—Democrats, 228; Republicans, 160; Socialist, 1; vacancies, 2.

In the 61st Congress, which was adjourned March 4, the Senate membership was:

Republicans, 59; Democrats, 32; vacancy, 1.

The House membership was:

Republicans, 217; Democrats, 174.

The Senate vacancy is from Colorado, the Legislature being Democratic. Iowa is expected soon to elect a successor to the late Senator Dolliver, whose seat now is occupied by Lafayette Young.

The House vacancies are from the ninth Iowa and the second Pennsylvania districts.

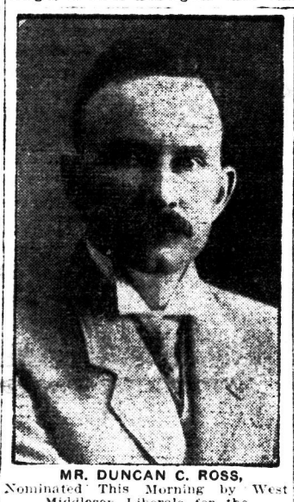

BRITISH GOVT. MAY ASK U. S. FOR TARIFF GIVEN CANADA

[Canadian Press.]

London, April 4.—Sir Edward Grey indicated in the House of Commons today that the British Government contemplates asking the United States to accord Great Britain the reduced duties granted to Canada under the Canadian-American reciprocity agreement.

Replying to the hecklers, who sought to draw him again into the much-discussed subject, the foreign secretary said that he was unable at present to make a definite statement, but added, significantly:

"There are complicated points involved in the question of the most-favored-nation treatment, now under examination. These must be settled before I can say what steps we shall take in laying our view of the matter before the United States Government."

JOHN SIDDONS DEAD ONCE OWNED PROTOTYPE

Former Well-Known Londoner Passed Away at Home in Sarnia.

Mr. John Siddons, for 28 years in the custom house here, and a resident of London for more than half a century, died at his home, 169 College avenue, Sarnia, yesterday morning, after an illness extending over some time.

Mr. Siddons was in his 80th year. He came to London when quite a young man from the north of Ireland, and learned the printing trade.

In the early fifties he joined the staff of the Prototype, a paper then published in London, and subsequently became its proprietor.

Later he sold out to the late Col. Dawson, and in October, 1873, was appointed to the customs.

Ten years ago he was superannuated, and two years later moved to Sarnia, where he had ever since resided. His wife died in this city some years ago. Mr. Siddons leaves two daughters and one son, who are residents of Sarnia.

He was very prominent in Masonic circles, and when in this city took an active interest in all the work. He was a member of St. John's Lodge, No. 209a, for 48 years, and acted as its secretary for many terms. The remains will be brought to this city for interment, and the funeral will be held from the Grand Trunk station on the arrival of the 1:10 p.m. train from Sarnia on Wednesday. It will be under the auspices of St. John's Lodge, No. 209a, A., F. and A. M. Very Rev. Dean Davis will conduct the church services.

BOY IN HIS POOLROOM PROPRIETOR IS FINED

Had Frequently Ejected the Lad But He Always Returned.

Allowing boys under 18 years of age to be in his poolroom cost F. Osborne, of Richmond street, $8.70 at this morning's session of the police court. Mr. Osborne appeared on three charges. On the first he pleaded not guilty. To the third he pleaded guilty on condition that the second was dropped.

P. C. Noonan and Sergeant McDonald were the witnesses, and they told of finding a lad under age in the place after 10 o'clock one evening. P. C. Noonan stated that he saw the lad there and was doubtful of his age. He asked the boy, who said he was 18. The officer then asked the boy's father and learned that the lad's correct age was 16 last February. The father testified in the box and said he had warned the boy not to go into poolrooms.

Mr. Osborne contended that it was an injustice to fine him in such a case, particularly as he used every means in his power to keep boys out, and in regard to this particular one had ejected him on previous occasions.

"I have no doubt you are doing what you can," said the court, "but I have no other option than to fine you. The law holds that you are responsible if boys are found in the poolroom at all. You must keep them out."

The evidence in the other case was not taken.

KEEP THE YOUNG OFF THE STREETS

Young People's Guild of First Presbyterian Church Will Aim to Do So.

FIRST MOVE IN LONDON

Organization Is Working Along Lines Laid Down by Rev. J. G. Inkster —A New Move.

The Young People's Guild of the First Presbyterian Church, following definite plans laid down by Rev. J. G. Inkster, will be one of the first organizations of the city to take up the work of keeping the young men and women of the city off the streets at night, and provide innocent amusement for them. At a gathering of the guild Monday night, Rev. Mr. Inkster urged the young people to do something along this line.

"We have heard a good deal about clubs and young men and women roaming the streets," he said, "and we are going to hear more. I would like this guild to follow this work and make the young men and women of London consider that they are welcome to come here with you. I would like to have the doors open every night in the week, and if these quarters are not large enough you might get some conveniently situated house and utilize it."

Working Out the Plan.

The members of the guild are entering heartily into the project, and a meeting of the executive committee will be held next week to consult with Mr. Inkster regarding the working out of his plans. Chairman Riach called for an expression of opinion Monday night on Mr. Inkster's proposal, and by a standing vote it was unanimously indorsed.

At Monday evening's meeting Mr. John Riach presided, and a fine musical programme, including an instrumental selection by Miss Madeleine Simpson, a violin solo by Miss Broderick, and vocal selections by Misses Flo Woolley and Lily Woolley and Walter Petrie were rendered and greatly enjoyed. Before the meeting concluded the ladies served pancakes syrup and coffee, and a very pleasant social time was spent.

GOVERNOR CARTER NEARING A RECORD

One More Release and He Will Have Lowest Since Taking Charge.

When one of the fourteen prisoners now confined secured his release a record for low business during Governor Carter's regime at the county jail will be equalled.

Thirteen prisoners is Mr. Carter's low mark, but if business does not improve materially this will be reduced during the next couple of days. One man is to go out on Thursday, and a couple more on Saturday, so it is up to the police to make it worth while to maintain the jail. There are now twelve men and two women there, all serving their sentences. There is not a prisoner on remand, a rather unusual condition.

GOES TO SUB-COMMITTEE

Majority Investigating the Lanctot Charges Would Have Exonerated Him.

[Canadian Press.]

Ottawa, Ont., April 4. — The committee on privileges and elections today referred to a sub-committee the consideration of a report on the charges against Adelard Lanctot, M. P. It will consist of Messrs. German, Geoffrion, Kyte, Monk and Barker, and will meet this afternoon. The suggestion was made by Mr. Barker and concurred in by Hon. Mr. Brodeur. Otherwise the majority of the committee would have made a motion to exonerate Mr. Lanctot.

WILL WORK TOGETHER TO UPBUILD THE WESTERN

Medical Faculty and Western University Board of Governors to Co-Operate in Management of Hygienic Institute—Personnel of Joint Boards.

There will be a conference between the medical faculty of the Western University and the board of governors in the near future to decide the question of a commission to manage the Hygienic Institute.

According to the terms of the agreement provided by the grant of $10,000 for the equipment of the institution a commission must be named from the board of governors, the medical faculty, and the hospital trust to manage it.

The board of governors have intimated that the three representatives from that body will consist of Sir George Gibbons, K. C., Mr. C. R. Somerville, and Mr. T. J. Murphy.

The chancellor, Mr. Justice R. M. Meredith, is an ex-officio member as the chairman of the hospital trust and the head of the institute will be.

This will make six members. The remainder will come from the medical faculty of the Western. The latter will have a majority of the board. Six members have been named already, and it is possible that another will be named if the conference decides that the ex-officio members of the commission have voting powers.

That is the reason the two bodies are to get together, and settle once for all the matter of representation.

The six medical men selected at the present time are Dr. Eccles, dean of the staff; Dr. Waugh, registrar; Dr. H. A. McCallum, Dr. John Wishart, Dr. R. Ferguson, and Dr. H. T. Williams.

If it is decided that the three elected members, Sir George Gibbons, Mr. Somerville and Mr. Murphy, alone have votes, then it is quite likely that the medical representation will be reduced by one or two men, in order not to make the body unwieldy.

"We will hold a conference in the near future, relative to the selection of a commission to manage the Hygienic Institute," said Dr. Eccles to The Advertiser. "The medical faculty must have the predominating influence on the board. We have striven long for higher education as well as medical education in this city, and now that our labors have been rewarded we want to have something to say in the management of the educational affairs of this city. At a recent meeting between the board and the medical men it was decided that we should have the majority on the board. We figured out that four members from the other bodies, and five from our own would be a proper representation. However, the number has been increased. Three are selected from the board of governors, and three other ex-officio members. What voting powers these may have must be determined at the conference, and I have no doubt that it will be settled there. If we have the majority as we should have, all will be well. There should be no difficulty about that.

The New Site.

"We will probably build nearer the Hygienic Institute, when we erect our new school. We have no intention of building outside the city or in the extreme north. We would be a long distance away from the hospital and the institute. It would be a disadvantage to go a great distance away. Some time in the remote future the medical school might go north, but it is not at all probable at the present time."

A meeting of the faculty of medicine will be held shortly to consider the question of a new building. No definite date has been set, owing to the rush of examinations. However, as soon as the conference between the board of governors and the medical faculty has taken place, it is probable that a definite announcement will be made.

"GOOBER TRUST" AGAIN IN COURT

Peanut Men Decide to Fight It Out With City.

HAVE ENGAGED COUNSEL

Latter Says They Have Right to Streets If Not Placing Carts on Walks.

There is every prospect of a very interesting fight between the London peanut trust and the city. The trust was represented in court today by its leading officers — George Lampotus, Gus Lampotus, Gus Gustin and Thomas Vans. The quartette of magnates were charged with breaking the law by not keeping their pushcarts moving in the vicinity of Park avenue and Dundas streets. Last week the trust were up on a similar charge, and the fines imposed made a big hole in the pile of nickels they had accumulated from various sales of the goobers. Yesterday when they received their summonses the magnates decided to take no more chances. They secured Mr. J. C. Judd, K.C., to look after their interests. Mr. Judd told the court today that as the law now is the men have a perfect right to stand at the corner of Park avenue and Dundas streets as long as they do not allow their carts to get out on the sidewalk. He contended that there is nothing in the bylaw to justify the police in laying the informations they have.

Citizens Complain.

"These fellows take possession of the place as though they owned it," said the chief. "I don't want them up here, in fact, I would ten times rather they didn't come, but the people in the vicinity complain repeatedly about them."

"Well, they will have to get the council to change the bylaw," said Mr. Judd, "before you can get after them."

Asked if he would make any move to obtain a refund of former fines the court has imposed, Mr. Judd said he would not say just now.

The court decided to adjourn the hearing of the case until Thursday morning in order that Mr. T. G. Meredith may handle the case for the city.

A DIME NOVEL STORY OF A BOLD "KEY MAN"

House Reported Robbed Had Been Vacant These Many Moons.

There is a great deal of amusement in police circles today over the sensational report that a "key man" operated early on Monday morning at 352 York street. The house, as it happens, has been vacant for some time.

"No key man would think of operating at night," said one of the detectives to The Advertiser today. "Men in the profession of robbing houses follow one line. A man used to night work would never operate in the afternoon. You can depend upon it that the man who operated in the English street houses took the first train out of London. That story about men driving up to a place in a hack and waiting outside while one goes in may go all very fine in dime novels but not in real life. Mr. Grayson, who is mentioned, moved out of the house some time ago and is living in another part of the city. If his house was entered by anyone no report whatever was made of it here."

ELECTIONS AT CHICAGO

Carter Harrison and Professor Merriam Contestants for Mayor.

Chicago, April 4.—A drizzling rain when the polls opened at 6 o'clock this morning did not serve to prevent an unusually large early vote being polled in the municipal elections today. Workers for Carter H. Harrison, the Democratic candidate for mayor, and Prof. Charles E. Merriam, the Republican candidate, began work as soon as the polling places were opened, and an extraordinary effort is being made to get out a large vote.

Political forecasters predict that at least 380,000 votes will be cast from a total registration of 423,000.

WEST MIDDLESEX LIBERALS NOMINATE FOR TWO HOUSES

Great and Enthusiastic Gathering at Mount Brydges Unanimously Selects Messrs. Ross and Elliott and Re-Elects Executive.

[By Our Own Man.]

Mount Brydges, April 4.—At a rousing meeting of the West Middlesex Liberals held here today, Mr. Duncan C. Ross, M. P., was renominated for the Dominion House, and Mr. J. C. Elliott, M. P. P., of Glencoe, for the Provincial Legislature. Both nominations were unanimous, and were received with enthusiastic applause. Mr. Ross' nomination was moved by W. H. Watterworth, of Moss, and seconded by Ed. Morrow, of Strathroy. Charles McFie, of Ekfrid, proposed Mr. J. C. Elliott, and this was seconded by J. A. McGugan, of Caradoc. Amid great cheering both candidates were called upon to speak, and both made brief addresses, thanking the electors for the honor they had received.

The meeting was a thoroughly representative one, and ratepayers from all parts of the riding were gathered here. This afternoon the session continued, and addresses were given by Messrs Hugh Guthrie, Duncan Ross and J. C. Elliott.

The election of officers resulted as follows: President, Mr. George Innes; vice-president, Mr. John McPherson, Lobo; secretary-treasurer, Warden W. D. Moss, Glencoe.

A MIGHTY SURPLUS

Ottawa, Ont., April 4.—It is expected that in his budget speech this afternoon Mr. Fielding will announce a surplus of $27,000,000. As to whether there will be any increase in the British preference there is much speculation and great secrecy. As the subject, however, is interwoven with reciprocity, which is not yet disposed of, the general idea is that no change will be made for the present. Mr. Fielding, however, is silent on the question. He is equally reticent regarding the steel bounties.

FEDERENKO VANISHES

Privy Council To Hear Crown's Appeal in Refugees' Case.

[Canadian Press.]

Winnipeg, April 4.—The Privy Council today consented to receive the crown's appeal in the Federenko case. In the meantime Federenko has disappeared. He is the fugitive wanted by Russia for shooting a policeman while escaping arrest for a political offence. His friends assert he is hiding in the Southwestern States, and others say he has joined the Mexican revolutionists. Sympathizers in St. Paul, Chicago, New York and Eastern Canadian cities raised $50,000 for his defence. He was released on a technicality, and frauds proved.

MORAL TEACHING NEEDED BY YOUNG

Circulation of Impure Literature Among Boys and Girls.

MRS. TILLEY'S VIEWS

National Council of Women Investigate and Combat Evil—A Teacher Finds Improper Literature in the Schools.

To the Editor of The Advertiser:

As one who takes a deep interest in the moral welfare of children, I cannot but be greatly moved by the present disclosures that have come before the public, and which, I hope, will arouse all parents and guardians of youth to the absolute necessity of obtaining and keeping the confidence of their children by teaching them truth. Do not put off answering their questions with vague and often false statements. As surely as parents do this, so surely will the child seek information from other sources, and thus be led into impurity by children who are already corrupt. When children are sent out from home to congregate with masses of children at school or elsewhere, they should be deunitely instructed and warned to shun the moral evil they will surely meet.

Impure Literature.

In the National Council of Women of Canada, some years ago, I was made convener of a committee on "deteriorating literature." The necessity for it arose from the fact that impure publications were coming into homes through the post, and also circulating in schools, both public and private. When the committee investigated they found that 52 publications were prohibited by Parliament from circulation in the Canadian mails. Fifty of these came from the United States, and two were published in Canada. The prohibition had been removed from seventeen, on the publisher promising to omit the objectionable matter. In spite of all this, the committee found a large amount of impure literature was being insidiously circulated, names of boys and girls being procured from school pass lists published in newspapers, and from other sources. Specimen copies were then sent by mail to these children and young people, offering the paper at a low rate, with some trifling prize, or in some cases a free supply to them in return for other names. Parents in several instances found such communications in their children's pockets. The names of these papers are generally of so innocent and misleading a character as not to awaken alarm, the evil being principally found in the advertising columns. Another method of distributing this literature is to send samples of it, and advertisements of cards and books, along with small articles such as knives, photographic and printing outfits, etc. It is known that agents are employed here, and there for the dissemination of this literature. In one case, traces were found of a club of young men existing for the purpose of obtaining such reading matter.

This is a very curtailed and restricted account of the report presented at the annual meeting of the National Council of Women of Canada, at which were gathered delegates from all over Canada.

The free discussion that ensued brought out facts showing that everywhere this immoral literature was circulating among young people in public and private schools, the young people lending such publications to one another.

A Teacher's Discovery.

I was asked later on to read the report at a meeting of the Local Council of Women of London, at which, a teacher in one of the public schools was present. She said: "A year ago I would have disputed these statements, but within this last year, in my own room, I found such literature passing from one pupil to another."

I conclude by saying that it is impossible for the young to indulge in such reading without it culminating in immoral actions.

Many times young women teachers know of things that give them anxiety, but they cannot bring themselves to consult with men about them, and so nothing is said. Is it not a necessity, that women, as well as men, should be on the school board, if the moral welfare of the young is to be considered?

CRIPPLE FROM RHEUMATISM

Now in Perfect Health Thanks to "Fruit-a-tives"

Vancouver, B. C., Feb. 1, 1910.

I am well acquainted with a man, known to thousands in Vancouver, Victoria and New Westminster, who for nearly a year was practically a cripple from Rheumatism. He was so troubled with the disease that he found it difficult to even turn over in bed. His heart appeared so weak that he could hardly walk upstairs.

Last June, he received a sample of "Fruit-a-tives." He used them and dates his recovery from that time. Today, there is no man in Vancouver enjoying better health.

He was building a house this fall and shingled a good part of the roof in a driving rain, without suffering any bad effects.

JOHN B. LACY

Mr. E. E. Mills (assistant postmaster at Knowlton, Que), also writes:

"I honestly believe that "Fruit-a-tives" is the greatest Rheumatism cure in the world." Try it yourself.

"Polly of the Circus" Tonight.

The mystic world of red wagons and their contents are told in Frederic Thompson's production of "Polly of the Circus," which appears at the Grand tonight. A pretty love story is woven into Margaret Mayo's story. The play, which is in three acts and six scenes, shows in sequence the study of a minister, a bedroom above the study, the rear garden of the parsonage, the interior of the big tent and the circus lot after the performance.

POLLY AND BIG JIM.
In "Polly of the Circus," at the Grand Tonight.

Miss Billie Burke in "Suzanne."

Charming Miss Billie Burke is to be the attraction at the Grand Opera House next Thursday evening, April 6, in "Suzanne," the new comedy in which she scored a pronounced success at the Lyceum Theatre, New York, at Christmas. "Suzanne" is a happy little play full of exquisitely funny characters and amusing situations. Indeed, so universal is its humor that it is being presented with success in France, Belgium and Germany as well as in America. There it was called "Le Marriage De Mlle. Boulemans," and the critics praised it especially because it introduced a naive, perfectly unsophisticated heroine. It was so refined, so simple, so unlike the comedies generally produced in Paris that the theatre-goers welcomed it as a genuine innovation. Seat sale opened today.

Ward and Vokes.

E. D. Stair will present his pair of clever comedians, Ward and Vokes, for their annual visit at the Grand on Saturday next, matinee and night, in their new musical comedy success, the "Trouble-Makers," which title seems to fit them properly, for during the action of the farce they are in all sorts of trouble. It is said that wherever the "Trouble-Makers" has been presented, the theatre-going public has been unanimous in its high praise of this attraction. Lucy Daly, who has been associated with Ward and Vokes in all their previous successes, will play one of the most important parts, "Babbling Bess." Seats on Thursday.

Big Holiday Attraction.

Hanlon's new "Superba," with its romance and mystery, its clowns and comedy, its pretty girls and clever specialties, will be the attraction at the Grand Opera House, Good Friday, matinee and night. Mail orders will be received

The Sheffield Choir.

The famous Sheffield Choir opened the Canadian tour at St. John, N. B., on March 25, and the following, is taken from the St. John Telegraph of March 27:

"From the first glorious intonation of the first strains of 'Sisters of the Sea,' to the release of the final massive piled-up harmony of Bach's 'Sing Ye to the Lord' the vast audience became enthralled and were held in magical spell by the marvellous and subtle power of sound of which these 200 singers are the supreme and all knowing skilled experts. Their choir has so mastered the mechanics of singing that any possibility or ground of criticism or cavil is absolutely swept away and words like control, attack, expression, etc., applied to their work seem merely trite and feeble. Of Dr. Coward, the genius who has brought the mighty choral force into being, and who by his extraordinary perceptions and temperamental gifts has brought them to this state of perfection, it would be idle to speak. He showed some of the magic of his methods on Saturday night, and in his gestures to the choir while conducting them, sets up a magnetic connection between himself and his singers by which he plays on them as on an instrument."

The Sheffield Choir, accompanied by the Toronto Symphony Orchestra of 50 pieces, will appear in the Armories on Good Friday afternoon and evening.

Montreal Woman Says She Was Victim of Friends.

[Canadian Press.]

Montreal, April 4.—Claiming to have been drugged and robbed of $700 in a house in St. Hypolite Lane, a blind alley off Ontario street, Mrs. Angelo Grecko, requested Captain Beringer, of the city hall avenue station, last night to assist her in trying to recover her money. Mrs. Grecko, who is 50 years of age, said she was invited by some of her Italian friends to spend the evening at 26 St. Hypolite Lane, and while there was drugged and the $700 she had in her possession taken from her. The police arrested two men they found in the house on suspicion, but as they had no evidence against them, they were released.

CHICAGO JUDGE AND BLACK HAND

Tells Jurors They Must Not Be Influenced by Threats.

[Canadian Press.]

Chicago, April 4.—The boldness of the Black Hand in threatening United States officials and in attempting to swerve the course of justice in the federal courts, was recognized officially yesterday by United States Judge Landis. In delivering his charge to the jury, which later returned a verdict of guilty against Mrs. Santano Pizza, indicted for bringing Caterina Breszi, 17-year-old, from Italy to Chicago in violation of the white slave act, Judge Landis sternly warned the jurors to let no threats or efforts toward intimidation influence their verdict.

"During this trial there have been rumors of threats being sent to persons prosecuting this case," declared Judge Landis. "I need not say to you that the man who is influenced by the traction of a hair's breadth by having a threat is as guilty of corruption as though he had received a money bribe.

"In arriving at a verdict you must not let the thought of any ulterior consequences which may or may not result from your verdict influence you in the slightest degree."

The charge of Judge Landis was delivered as a result of threats which were reported to have been received by Assistant District Attorney Herbert.

FARM HANDS FOR BRUCE

But Majority of Immigrants Are Headed for the West.

Toronto, April 3.—Of the 300 or 400 immigrants who reached Toronto yesterday 100 were sent to Ripley for immediate distribution in the county of Bruce.

One hundred and fifty men, women and children were accommodated at the British Welcome League yesterday and last night.

The league's guests included some interesting families, which in size ranged from five to seven children. One family went two better, comprising four grown-up daughters and five younger children. Not only had the father a fine family, but he had some money, about $500.

"I am going West," he said. "My children and I think we might do some homesteading with advantage."

While farm hands are fairly numerous, they are to few to please the Ontario farmer. At the Dominion immigration offices today the farmers outnumbered the newcomers.

C. P. R. REQUEST WAS INVESTIGATED

City Council Will Deal With Changing of Streets at Next Meeting.

EGERTON ST. CROSSING

Mayor and Aldermen Found That It Is Now Very Well Lighted by City Lamps.

The city council yesterday afternoon paid a visit to Central avenue and Ontario street, where the C. P. R. have made plans for the diversion of Central avenue in order to give them more room to their new roundhouse to be erected on Quebec street. The request of the company for the right to make the change will be considered by the council at its next meeting.

Mayor Beattie, Ald. Eckert, Tancock, Saunders, Mitchell, Cooper, Bennett, Wilson, Ashplant, Deputy Engineer Wright, and others made the trip. Ald. Mitchell took the party in his new taxicab.

They were met by Resident Engineer Frank Cooper, of the C. P. R., who explained the changes in the streets.

Central avenue, according to the company's plans, will be diverted to the north about the centre of the block between Ontario and English streets. It will run about 100 feet north and then continue east to Ontario street.

Company to Bear Expense.

This means that about 100 feet of the east end of the avenue, a dead end, will be closed, and about the same distance on Ontario street.

"We will pay all the expense of grading the roads and the like," said Mr. Cooper. "We are not asking the city to bear any of the expense whatever. It will give us more room for our tracks. We will then remove the roundhouse from Adelaide street, and possibly end some of the complaints regarding the smoke nuisance, or rather alleged smoke nuisance, in that district. It will give a frontage to some of the lots through which we go, that are now nothing more nor less than back yards."

The majority of those present thought the request a reasonable one. The only objection made was the possibility at some future time of opening Ontario street across the C. P. R. to the Carling farm.

"That is the only possible objection I could see," said Mayor Beattie. "Otherwise we could easily grant the request."

Overhead Bridge.

"If the street is ever opened, it will have to be by the construction of a bridge," explained Mr. Cooper. "Level crossings are no longer in favor, and it is not at all likely that any other way out of the difficulty could be found than by the erection of a bridge. From every standpoint a bridge would be preferrable here, as the fill to the north makes it very easy to construct it. I do not think Ontario street will be opened. If that north section ever develops, bridges could be erected at Quebec and perhaps near English street. They would meet the necessities of the case much better than a bridge at Ontario."

However, the council did not discuss the matter at any length, it being decided to bring the question up at the next meeting of the city council.

Egerton Street Crossing.

After the council visited the Egerton street crossing. Some time ago there were complaints that the water commissioners had not properly lighted this thoroughfare. The council visited the place, their views, and it was found that the commissioners had lighted the street, and had done a good job. The G. T. R. watchman stated that there was an abundance of light there now, and if any person was hurt it was the victim's own fault.

Ald. Mitchell, however, wanted to impress upon the aldermen the dangers of the crossing. He pointed out that during Saturday night and Sunday there is no watchman at the crossing, although there is little or no cessation in the amount of switching.

The same was true of Rectory street which was next visited. The watchman goes off duty Saturday evening and returns Monday morning.

Protect the Crossings.

"These crossings should be better protected than they are," said Ald. Mitchell. "They should not be left unprotected for any length of time."

The matter is at the present time before the city council, and will be decided at the next meeting.

A number of the streets were visited. It cannot be said that many of them were ideal for travelling. Egerton street, Rectory street, the Hamilton road, and various others were fit the better than quagmires.

The attention of the board of works was called very vividly to the necessity of a good appropriation for roads, and they will insist that this year more roads be put in proper condition.

Permanent Pavements.

Many of the aldermen thought that permanent pavements were necessary for many of the streets.

"I have always contended that the city is wasting money putting gravel on some of the roads in the southeast end until a storm sewer system is installed," said Mayor Beattie. "The water stands on the street, having no chance to get away, with the result that every year they are in as bad condition as before. The citizens should have voted for storm water sewers."

PROSPERITY FOR WESTERN CANADA

Grand Trunk Pacific to Spend Seventeen illMion Dollars This Year.

Seventeen million dollars will be spent by the Grand Trunk Pacific during 1911 in constructing new lines and erecting station buildings throughout the West. There will be 319 miles of work undertaken on the branch lines and completed during the present season. This will include the Calgary branch, Battleford branch, Melville-Regina branch, Alberta coal branch, Regina Boundary branch, Moosejaw branch, Prince Albert branch and Biggar to Calgary. There will also be 265 miles of main line track laid, as well as 200 miles further grading on the branch lines.

Arrangements are also being made for the erection of 140 station buildings. This is the largest and most expensive year's work that the Grand Trunk Pacific has undertaken. The majority of new branch lines to be constructed will be laid in districts hitherto totally untouched by railroad development. Rapid strides have already been made towards completing the main line between Edmonton and the coast, and up to the present 365 miles of steel has been laid. From Edmonton, going west, the line is completed as far as Prairie Creek, which is the entrance to the foothills of the Rockies, and from the coast working towards the Rockies 165 miles of track has already been laid.

This year the work will be pushed ahead as rapidly as possible, and from Prairie Creek fully another 165 miles will be completed, while from the west end 100 miles are to be constructed.

The Alberta coal branch will tap an entirely new country by running a line from Bickersdike on the main line through the Pacific Pass coal fields, as well as those of the Yellowhead, and provision has been made for 69 miles of it to be constructed this year.

Another entirely new branch will be constructed between Regina and Moosejaw, a distance of 49 miles.

Besides all this construction work a vast mileage of grading is to be accounted for, and this will be carried on to the extent of two hundred miles on the Regina boundary branch and those others which will not be completed.

In addition to the above, the company is erecting some of the largest bridges in the west. Over the Red Deer River, on the Tofield-Calgary branch, an enormous bridge, 200 feet high is now under construction. Another huge bridge has just been constructed at Prairie Creek on the main line. A third is to be constructed further west over the Athabaska River. Another over the Skeena River, which is to be the largest on the Transcontinental.

Nature's Cure for a Cough

DR. CHASE'S SYRUP OF LINSEED AND TURPENTINE IS THE MOSE LARGELY IMITATED MEDICINE IN THE COUNTRY.

What to give the children for croup and colds is the problem mothers now have to solve. Most of them finally decide on Dr. Chase's Syrup of Linseed and Turpentine and make it a rule to always have some in the house.

In this medicine are linseed, turpentine, and other well-known ingredients of unmistakable value in the cure of colds. It is pleasant to take, so much so that children delight to use it.

So generally is this great medicine used that several imitations have been put on the market, all alike in name only. They are not made from the same formula, nor do they bear the name of Dr. Chase.

You know what you can expect from the use of Dr. Chase's Syrup of Linseed and Turpentine, but you cannot put much faith in an imitation which sells on the reputation of the article it imitates.

On every bottle of the genuine will be found the portrait and signature of A. W. Chase, M. D., the famous Receipt Book author. This is for your protection, and for the protection of your children. Be sure to get the genuine, even if it costs a few cents more; 25 cents a bottle, family size 60 cents. All dealers, or Edmanson, Bates & Co., Toronto.

MAKE YOUR OWN HAIR TONIC

A SPECIALIST'S ADVICE.

In a recent issue the New York Herald published a special article on the care of the hair, in which was given the formula for a home-made Hair Tonic, which was highly recommended for its remarkable hair-growing properties, as well as for stopping falling hair, revitalizing the hair roots, destroying the dandruff germ and restoring grey hair to its natural color. This article was of special interest to me, as the formula was one which I myself have prescribed in countless cases with most astonishing results. I remember one case in particular in which I prescribed it for a man who had been bald for many years, and in less than two months after he began its use his head was completely covered with a luxuriant growth of rich, glossy hair, thus proving that hair can be made to grow on a bald head, notwithstanding the opinion of many persons to the contrary.

For the benefit of those who have not seen it before, I give the formula herewith: Six ounces of Bay Rum, two ounces Lavona de Composee, one-half drachm Menthol Crystals. Dissolve the Crystals in the Bay Rum and then add the Lavona de Composee; shake thoroughly and apply night and morning to the roots of the hair, rubbing into the scalp with the finger-tips. This preparation contains no coloring matter, but restores grey hair to its natural color by its action on the hair roots. If you desire it perfumed, add one teaspoonful of To-Kalon Perfume, which combines perfectly with the other ingredients and imparts a most pleasing scent.

LONDON, TUESDAY, APRIL 4.

"UNCLE JOE" ON RECIPROCITY.

"Our Canadian neighbors must be laughing in their sleeves at some of the arguments advanced on this side of the border in behalf of so-called reciprocity, which, by the way, being altogether one-sided Canada having the side has nothing reciprocal about it."

So says "Uncle Joe" Cannon, late speaker of the House of Representatives, stalwart stand-patter, and still a power in Congress and American politics generally. His view is that professed by the Bourbon element of the Republican party, and by some insurgent leaders who are playing for the farmers' vote in the Northwestern States. "Uncle Joe" sees a time, not far hence, when Canada will supply half the United States with wheat. "With an open market here," he says, "who can doubt that they will sell here in preference to Great Britain." Many thousands of our American farmers have already migrated to the Canadian West to take up the new lands there, which are to be had for the asking, a title in fee, however, being given only on the immigrant becoming a British subject. It can be taken for granted that this exodus of a most desirable class of our citizens, and their transformation into subjects of King George is very likely to grow apace when to free land in Canada is added the inducement of a free market in the United States."

Uncle Joe furnishes good reasons why Canadians should support the agreement. A great stream of Canadian exports would be diverted to the United States, and a free American market would stimulate and diversify Canadian agriculture, though it does not follow that the American farmer, who would have the same market as his Canadian competitor, would be injured in the process. It will be noted that Uncle Joe's argument corresponds with that of many opponents of the agreement in this country, who say it would be so profitable that rather than forego it Canadians would sell their national birthright. But this argument is the victim of assault and battery at the hands of another school of anti-reciprocists who tell the farmers they will be ruined by a flood of cheap American farm implements. Sensible Canadians are not laughing in their sleeves at the attacks upon the agreement in the United States, as Uncle Joe pretends to think. They are finding occasion of mirth nearer home.

THE GROWTH OF ONTARIO.

The latest report of the Ontario Bureau of Industries gives some interesting estimates regarding the movement of population in this province during the past twenty years. It seems that since 1907 the rural population has at last taken an upward turn, an increase of some 10,000 being claimed for the past three years. There has been a something infecting the husbandry of Ontario, a decline of marriages perhaps, certainly a scarcity of children to fill the once thronged country school houses. Besides that, there is always the flight to the cities and the unremitting stream of emigration to the Canadian west.

Between 1890 and 1907, while the population of cities, towns and villages was steadily advancing, that of the townships ran down from 1,117,533 to 1,043,658, a decline of almost 75,000. The exodus to the west is mainly from the farms, and it is a double sort of drainage. Every citizen added to the western provinces means more demand for the products of Ontario factories, and increases the already powerful attraction of the cities to the people of the country, so we may say that for every number of farmers going west, a certain proportion of them also moves into the towns and cities for industrial or professional work.

As the westward trek is as powerful as ever, the increase in our rural population in the last three years is all the more remarkable and gratifying. Of course it must be borne in mind that the recent increase is partly accounted for by the opening up of more northerly Ontario for settlement. Once the G. T. P. has made a pathway for all through the virgin wilds of the northmost region, that rich clay country, there will be the most marked advance in the roll of Ontario husbandmen, and at the same time a new cause of booming prosperity in our cities.

It is true that in all countries this tendency to concentration of population in the cities has been showing itself for a considerable time. The farm is lonely and man is a social animal. But the world must be served. Ontario has a vast fresh country as well as the finest improved land with an unmatchable climate, and with the introduction of rural telephones, mail delivery, trolley lines, and such devices, even the old loneliness, the last remaining objection to a healthy life on the soil, is to be removed. Reciprocity comes just at the right moment to give a sweeping impetus to the turning tide of rural prosperity, to develop especially the intensive agriculture and correspondingly to enhance very materially that host of all national assets, a populous, well-to-do, contented and ambitious race of husbandmen.

BECK VERSUS BECK.

The local press advocate of reciprocity endeavors to twist Hon. Adam Beck into a supporter of the Fielding agreement because he told the farmers of Middlesex to be afraid of nothing if their home market could be built up and maintained to them. That is the great issue—the home market. As for Mr. Beck, his opinion is officially on record in the Ontario Legislature. London Free Press.

Our contemporary's resources in prevarication are always at the call of party. It cheerfully comes to Mr. Beck's relief with an untruth. Here is what Mr. Beck said to the county council:

"If the reciprocity agreement may help some and damage others, but if we develop our own resources by thrift and energy, we need not care for or fear the tariff agreements of the governments of today, or the future."

This is not a defence of the reciprocity agreement, and was not represented as such by this journal, but it is directly opposed to the declaration of the Ontario Government that the agreement will "cause widespread and revolutionary disturbance of business," and "lead to political union with the United States."

The Free Press represents Mr. Beck as saying in effect that so long as the farmer's home market is maintained by a tariff on food products he need not fear anything, not even free trade in food products! We acquit Mr. Beck of the nonsense put into his mouth by the Free Press. When he told an audience in the city hall some time ago that he paid no attention to the annexation boys, and when he assured the county council on Friday last that farmers need not fear the reciprocity agreement or any tariff legislation if they made the best of their opportunities, he was talking common sense, and doubtless expressing his private opinions. But at the same time he was characterizing as humbug and claptrap his official utterance as a member of the Government.

Congress assembles today to decide Canada's destiny, if we are to believe the Little Canadians.

The projected factory extensions in London should put some anti-reciprocity fiction out of circulation.

Mr. Sifton is no longer the favorite son of the west. He has to find compensation in the favor of the Albany Club and the Montreal Junto.

Lord Rosebery is lashing both parties with his eloquence. It is a congenial role for a rhetorician, and saves him the trouble of doing things himself.

Some Opposition members accuse the department of immigration of unfairly turning back negroes seeking to settle in the West. Other Opposition members complain of the extent of recent negro immigration. The situation is a new and difficult one for the department, as there is no color line in the immigration laws. The Opposition is taking care that the difficulties shall not be lessened.

Another Opposition M. P., Mr. Staples, of Macdonald, Manitoba, confesses that he doesn't know whether the reciprocity agreement is going to be to Canada's advantage or disadvantage. When the Opposition leaders and journals are cocksure that it will be disastrous, why is Mr. Staples wobbling? Probably because he has his ear on the ground, and is hearing from his constituents.

ATROCIOUS!

[Hamilton Times.]

I think it's scandalous that the mayor should allow manufacturers and others to go ahead building factories and other places of business without warning them when he knows that the city will go to not just as soon as the reciprocity agreement becomes law.

NO, FOR THE GOVERNMENT.

Mr. Fielding told the manufacturers on Saturday that they need have no fear of further tariff reductions. Of course, Mr. Fielding wasn't speaking for the west.

TROUBLES OF LEADERSHIP.

It is all very fine to be leader of the Opposition, but when a man has to stop every hour to ask whom he is leading, or when one has to take violent measures to obtain a forced expression of loyalty where loyalty does not manifest itself, then the thing is not so very pleasant.

LEGLESS, ARMLESS M. P.

[M. A. P.]

Probably the most remarkable man who ever sat in the British Parliament was Arthur Kavanagh, who, legless and armless, a mere trunk of a man, had to be carried into the house on the back of an attendant. Mr. Kavanagh was a hard worker, an excellent speaker, and made so light of his physical disqualifications as to become a daring explorer, who, among other feats, made his way overland through Russia and Persia to Bombay.

NOT AT ALL UNREASONABLE.

Asquith and Taft seem to think that two Christian nations might do worse than celebrate the tercentenary of the English Bible by practicing some of its precepts. Such an idea may be revolutionary and unprecedented, but it has much to be said in its favor.

"Is it true that you eat with your knife?"

"Not always," replied the representative of a backwoods district; "only in public, where my constituents can see me."

One shortened wheeze for lighted delight;
One bunch for walking less than was your need."

He sends but totals; and I am surprised
To see how much it foots. But yet I pay
Not loss my head and swear: "I shall not pay."

Sheffield Choir in Commons Gallery

[From the Ottawa Free Press.]

"O Canada," the beautiful national hymn of Calixte Lavallee, was yesterday formally adopted at the National Anthem of Canada, if it had not already become so by the custom of recent years.

And its dedication as our National Anthem was one of the most heart-stirring spectacles which the House of Commons chamber of Canada has witnessed for many and many a year.

All through the afternoon the ladies and gentlemen of the Sheffield Choir had been going through the parliament buildings looking at the various points of interest, which, of course, included the foundation stone laid by the late King Edward (when he visited Canada as Prince of Wales in 1860), and the parliament library. Of course, the visitors were delighted.

Suddenly about 5 o'clock a rumor went through the corridors that the visitors would be in the galleries of the Commons when the 6 o'clock recess was called and would then give some illustration of their wonderful ability as singers. Like every other rumor which ever finds its way to the lobbies of Parliament, it spread through the city like wildfire, and the result was that when 6 o'clock came and the business of the House was suspended, the chamber was better filled than it has been at any time since the grain growers invaded it on Dec. 16 last.

The smoking-room was deserted; the games of bridge and baccarat were stopped, the letter writing in the private rooms was ended, and everybody who could get inside the four walls of the chamber was there. They expected a treat, they got more than they expected. They were given a delight which will remain in their memories for many a year.

The formal proceedings having been suspended, Speaker Marcil arose and told the great crowd that the members of the Sheffield Choir were going to celebrate their visit to the capital of Canada by giving to the Parliament of Canada an illustration of what singing really is. In doing so, he expressed his appreciation of the courtesy of the choir in thus honoring the Parliament of Canada, and he extended the thanks of that parliament to those empire-binders in song and sentiment.

Of course, the mace had been removed. It would have been impossible for anything so unusual to take place when it was on the table, and the curious part of the story is that nobody knows what became of the mace; it did not leave the chamber; it probably stayed to enjoy its share of the entertainment; anyway it was there somewhere although unseen.

And when the speaker instructed the sergeant-at-arms to give the signal that all was ready, everybody was ready.

God Smith gave the signal, whatever it was. Dr. Coward replied, "Are you ready?" and then the mingled voices of the choir rang out with the English version of the Canadian National Anthem.

As the strains of the great anthem sounded through the chamber, the pride of every Canadian or adopted Canadian present was aroused to such a degree that the first verse of the anthem ended in such a demonstration of enthusiasm that the choir had to repeat the last stanza again.

Then patriotism was abandoned for a while while the choir gave an illustration of what they could do in classical work as they rendered passages of Dudley Buck's "Golden Legend." No greater contrast could have been given; but it was an appropriate contrast, and it held the House in thrall until its last strains died out and then there came a burst of applause which literally shook the walls of the chamber.

Next came the climax of it all. Dr. Coward and his choristers started up "God Save the King," and, of course, everybody rose at once. It was not the National Anthem as we know it, as a rule in Canada. There was none of the dragging which we are used to in the final words. There was an emphasis of the last words, "God Save the King," which made the words "The King" stand out as never before. It was a great scene; it was an historic episode.

NOT CONVINCED OF EVILS OF RECIPROCITY

Conservatives in Commons Say Not Informed Enough To Be Sure.

Ottawa, April 3.—"I have been trying to get at the facts of this reciprocity agreement, and I have not been able to ascertain yet whether it is going to be to our advantage or disadvantage."

So spoke Mr. Staples in the Commons this afternoon. That he spoke the mind of a considerable portion of the Opposition was evidenced by the fact that they joined industriously in his complaint. Even Mr. Perley, the chief whip of the party, added that it was impossible for the Opposition to express a reasoned or reasonable opinion on the merits of the proposals without further information.

This somewhat frank intimation that the Opposition is beginning to realize that it has too hastily taken an unpopular and indefensible position was bolstered up by petulant complaints that the Government was responsible for their misfortune. Their failure to study the agreement and to learn the rudiments of trade conditions was charged against the Government in that Hon. Messrs. Fielding and Paterson had failed to acquaint them with comparative records of prices on both sides of the international line, and such other data as would have enabled them to know, as Mr. Lake said, "whether this was a good thing or not."

As the Minister of Finance was not in the chamber at the time, the Conservative spokesman belabored his colleague in the negotiating with their anathemas. So strenuous was their plaint at times that it led them into rivalry with Mr. Goodeve's celebrated Trojan horse, the high-stepper which was stabled in Pandora's box, a descriptive originality which bade fair to hold the record for Parliamentary "bulls."

Mr. Reid, of Grenville, however, gravely assured the House this afternoon, amid roars of laughter, that the Canadian Ministers had been goldbricked in Washington "on cheese, butter, hogs and other vegetables," while Mr. Henderson still further added to the gaiety by describing President Taft as "holding a club over their heads and warning them that he would shoot if they did not come down."

Census Commissioners' Pay.

Mr. Best complained that certain census commissioners in Dufferin had been canvassing for signatures for petitions favorable to reciprocity. He wanted to know if they were paid for this.

"The census commissioners are not paid by the Government until they commence their duties in June," replied Sir Wilfrid Laurier; "moreover, I know of no fund except the anti-reciprocity fund," he added, amid Liberal approval.

"And that's doing good work," volunteered Mr. Reid.

The Prime Minister added that up till the present time census commissioners had not been appointed.

"Guess they're qualifying for the job," commented Col. Hughes, and the House laughed.

CURED THE WIFE AND HUSBAND TOO

GREAT WORK DONE BY DODD'S KIDNEY PILLS IN ONE QUEBEC FAMILY.

Thomas Lauriault Had Kidney Disease and His Wife Bright's Disease, and Dodd's Kidney Pills Made Them Both Well.

Lac Cayamont, Que., April 3.—(Special.)—There is a world interest in the simple story of Madame Thomas Lauriault, of this place. In her own words it is as follows:

"Dodd's Kidney Pills cured my husband of Kidney Disease and myself of Bright's Disease. We recommend Dodd's Kidney Pills to all who suffer from Kidney or Bright's Disease."

This is a splendid example of the grand work Dodd's Kidney Pills are doing among the plain people of Canada. Kidney Disease is the commonest of all ailments among those who have to work hard, because the kidneys are the first part of the body to feel the wear and tear of heavy work.

When the kidneys go wrong, the blood goes wrong, and the whole body goes wrong. Rheumatism, Dropsy, Diabetes and Bright's Disease are the usual results. Dodd's Kidney Pills cure these by simply curing the kidneys.

The Faun.

It is to Roman mythology that Edward Krobiauch has turned to find a method for his preachment against the evils of present-day society—the evils which are expressed in the matchmaking mothers who are willing to sell their daughters to any sort of husbands for the sake of titles or gold, and also the evil of artificality which considers it bad form to acknowledge one's humanity, and forces human beings into an icy reserve where nothing matters unless social position and finance are affected. In "The Faun," as presented by Mr. William Faversham, the eminent actor, at the Grand last night, the dramatist has constructed a fantasy which never rises to a pinnacle above a mere attempt at illusion, but nevertheless preaches a sermon as convincing and as far-reaching as the "Passing of the Third Floor Back."

If one will take the trouble to consult the dictionary, as was the case on the stage when the character was introduced, it will be found that the faun is a creature of classical mythology, half man and half goat, closely resembling a satyr, but not quite so lascivious as the latter. It is as a faun that Mr. Faversham appears, jumping from a geranium bed into the room of a spacious English home, the residence of Lord Stonebury. My lord is a sport. He has just lost seventy thousand pounds on the races, and in cold-blooded, well-bred Saxon manner, he tells his cousin, Lady Alex. Vancey, that he intends to shoot himself and end his misery and debts. She is a product of the same garden of artificiality, and with frigid callousness she leaves the room to allow him to execute himself in private, when the faun jumps through the window.

Stonebury wonders if it is "the second after" when he views the apparition. Finally, when he finds he cannot shoot the faun, he makes a bargain with him. The faun will scent out the winners in the races by means of his animal instinct, and Stonebury will introduce the faun to society under the name of Prince Sylvani, of Sardinia. Stonebury grows wealthy through the agreement, while those in his set are confronted with their own follies and weaknesses by the faun, in a manner which at first arouses their wrath, but in the end wins them back to their better selves. Love is the burden of the lessons read to the people of English society by the sylvan god, and they find that real happiness exists in being natural and putting aside the false ideals created by a mistaken social system.

In the dialogue are many barbed shafts aimed at the vagaries of society, and they are all placed in the mouth of the demi-god.

Mr. Faversham, as the faun, presented a masterly reading of an extremely difficult part. His acting, always finished and artistic, was last night revealed in a new light to his many admirers, for he accepted every situation of this striking comedy with the complacence and discernment of the actor to whom acting is a second nature.

Miss Julie Opp, who by the way is Mrs. Faversham, made a stately stage picture in the part of Lady Alex, and her work was of the high standard which her reputation calls for.

Mr. H. Nye Chant, as Stonebury; Miss Daisy Belmore as Mrs. Hope Clarke, and Mr. Lionel Belmore as Maurice Morris, showed much ability in their different parts. The staging was perhaps the most superb which has been seen at the Grand this season.

PRAYER ANSWERED DYING, SHE SPEAKS

Accomplishes What Doctor Declared Impossible.

New York, April 4.—When Mrs. Charles Schipf, of Roselle Park, N. J., wife of a retired clergyman well known throughout New Jersey, lapsed into a state of coma after a long illness, the doctor told the Rev. Mr. Schipf that death was very near.

"I only wish that I may speak to her once more," said the venerable clergyman. "Will she not regain consciousness?"

"That is beyond the power of medicine," replied the physician.

Mr. Schipf sent immediately for the Rev. John Schultz, of the Roselle Park Methodist Church. Mr. Schultz knelt by the bedside of the dying woman and prayed for half an hour.

Suddenly Mrs. Schipf opened her eyes and in another moment had regained complete consciousness. She was able to talk to her husband for several minutes before the state of coma returned, but she died soon after losing consciousness for the second time.

Mrs. Schipf is survived by four sons, three of whom are clergymen, and two daughters, one of whom is the wife of a clergyman.

CANADIAN PROFESSOR CHARMS CRITICS

Prof. Schofield Is Very Popular With the Parisians.

Paris, April 4. — Transatlantic men of learning are always heard with particular interest in European capitals. To the record of their achievements must be added the fresh laurels won by Prof. William H. Schofield, of Harvard, who has been lecturing for the past few weeks in French at the Sorbonne.

Up to now the Harvard lecturers at the Sorbonne who have come to Paris under the James Hazen Hyde foundation have always spoken in English, but Prof. Schofield, who was born in Canada, and is as thoroughly at home in French as in half a dozen other languages, was specially invited to talk in the French natal tongue.

Prof. Schofield is, besides, a good deal of a Parisian. He likes Paris and understands Parisians as they understand him. He has a beautiful home at 40 Avenue Henri Martin, where his dinners and receptions to members of the Anglo-American-French literary and university groups have become famous.

Prof. Schofield, whose specialty is English literature, may be described as a practical idealist. He has strong ideas about national ideals and nationalism is more important than nationality. He wants the optimistic thoughts of youth to go on into manhood, fashioning always a strong, moral and progressive nation, which shall always have the vision of greater advancement before it. He insists particularly on the obligation of the privileged classes to society.

His chief subject at the Sorbonne has been "Chivalry in English Literature." Prof. Schofield is perhaps best known for his book on English literature from the Norman conquest to the time of Chaucer, and he is now engaged in writing a second volume in which he brings his theme down to the Elizabethan period.

Keenly interested also in things Scandinavian, he is about to proceed north to speak at the University of Copenhagen and the University of Christiania by special invitation of the faculties there.

More water, more sleep, a careful diet and less worry doubtless constitute about as good a platform for attaining health and long life as any that may be put together.

PLAGUE'S TOLL 25,000

Frightful Mortality in Manchuria Due to Pneumonic.

St. Petersburg, April 4.—Dispatches from Mukden give official statistics of the plague in that city and other parts of Manchuria. The total number of cases in Mukden up to Feb. 14 was reported as 2,043, but the figures are regarded as incomplete. The total number of deaths to Feb. 18 was given as 1,028. The population of Mukden is about 180,000.

The total number of deaths in Manchuria up to Feb. 15 was given as 12,083, but this is probably only a rough estimate, and does not in any case include the deaths in the towns along the Russian and Japanese railways, which probably amount to as many more.

The plague has appeared at nearly every town along the railways from Changchun west to Chinchou and south to Liao Yang. The number of deaths daily at Chang Chou is estimated at 200.

A SOCIALIST VICTORY.

Helena, Mont., April 4. — Municipal elections held in the various towns of Montana developed some surprises. In Butte, for the second time in the history of the state, a Socialist was elected mayor of a city. Helena elected one Socialist alderman.

Citizens' party candidates for mayor were elected in Lewiston, Glasgow and Glendive.

Of Interest To Women

THE PEST OF INQUISITIVENESS.

The matron had just moved into her new home, in the new neighborhood. The house was pretty, the scenery was inspiring, and the matron was happy. Then the neighbors began to call, and the matron's troubles commenced.

"My," said the first neighbor, "what a pretty carpet! Must have cost a lot. What did you say you paid for it? What? That's too much, you were cheated. Did you say your husband was a lawyer? Does he get any practice? This is a poor town for lawyers. Well, I hope you get on. I must be going."

As the first neighbor's ample back disappeared around the corner, the second neighbor rang the doorbell.

"So glad to meet you!!" said the second neighbor. "And I hope you stay in the neighborhood. Two or three people moved into this house, but they always get behind in their rent, or something. I hope you will stay. You have bought the house? How nice! I hope you have paid for it. Did you say you had? Then your husband must be doing well. How many children have you? It's fine to have boys. I hope yours don't drink. I heard you were a Christian Scientist. No? Are you a Baptist? Methodist? What, then? Do you go to church regularly? I am glad. We don't like to have godless people in the neighborhood."

And the second neighbor departed to spread what she had found out.

By the time the third and the fourth called the history of the new family was pretty thoroughly known to everybody for blocks around, and was a subject of discussion at every tea or social in the community.

"What shall I do about it?" said the matron. "I haven't any more privacy in my life. My neighbors are dear, good people, and don't realize their rudeness. What shall I do? I do not want to hurt them."

Do, my dear woman? Refuse to reply to personal questions, and so help the inquisitive to come to a realization of their rudeness. Probably many of the questions were asked carelessly and with no understanding of their rudeness, because everybody had replied to such questions as you did.

No one has a right to question you about your personal affairs, and the sooner you let them know it politely and firmly, the better it will be for all parties concerned, and the fewer heartaches you will have.

Edited by Cynthia Grey.

Dear Miss Grey: Will you kindly give me a remedy for an itching scalp? My baby's teeth are starting to decay. What can I do to prevent this?

MOTHER.

A.—1. Shampoo head with castile soap every ten days; use quinine tonic every night with light friction to scalp. Avoid heavy or hot hair accessories. Take down the hair over night two or three nights a week. 2. Take the baby to see a dentist at once. If its general health is poor consult your physician also.

Dear Miss Grey: For the past three years I have worn my nails long, but before that I acquired the habit of biting them, which caused the skin under the nails to stop growing fast to the nails for about one-fourth of an inch down. Do you know how to make the skin grow to the nails? How can I add about 20 pounds of solid flesh to my weight?

A.—1. Keep the nails clipped just a trifle shorter than the end of the finger; do not bite or pull at the edges; nor push cleaner far back under the edges. Cleanse with soap and water; at night, wear kid gloves after rubbing the hands with glycerin; this will soften the nailbed if anything will. 2. Exercise daily; eat plain solid food well chewed, such as bread and butter, vegetables, milk, cream, eggs and meat.

DELICIOUS TEA BISCUITS.

One quart of flour, one level teaspoonful of salt, two teaspoonfuls of baking powder, two table spoonfuls of butter or lard, milk or milk and water to mix (about one and one-half to two cupfuls). Stir together the flour, salt and baking powder. Rub in the pan lightly with the fingers, working until it is well blended with the flour. Then mix to a soft dough with the milk or milk and water. Always use a knife for mixing, as it cuts the dough more thoroughly. Turn the dough on to a well-floured board and pat with hand until about three-quarters of an inch thick. Cut into biscuit and bake in a quick oven twelve or fourteen minutes. The chief requirements for good biscuit are a soft dough, almost sticky, little handling, and a quick oven. If not allowed to touch each other in pan they will be lighter and more delicate than when they are placed close together.

The hats are also the latest Paris creations, small, 'tis true, but ever so chic.

The bodice is empire effect with round neck and sleeves to match. The bottom of the overdress is handsomely embroidered in a deep border of coral and green silk embroidery.

Her nearest neighbor in the picture, Miss Ida Adams, looks strangely sad in a wonderful gown of two-tone green and rose satin imperial, veiled with flesh-colored chiffon. The bodice is empire effect, made of hand-embroidery in several tones of rose silk, picked up with steel beads. The sleeves of chiffon, edged with a velvet ribbon [illegible], show satin back and Persian buttons. The overdrape of very full green chiffon, slit at side, is held in by tabs of Persian trimming and buttons. The bottom of skirt is finished to match sleeves.

Miss Stair, on the left, wears a simple summer gown of messaline slip with overdress of marquisette with eyelet hand-embroidery in blue, and touch of Persian ribbon effect with long streamers at back. Empire waist effect, embroidered around the neck and forming a tie effect in front. Her close fitting hat is made of a burnt color silk braid and is trimmed in old rose velvet ribbon and cornflowers.

The Steering Wheel

BY ROBERT ALEXANDER WASON.
Copyright 1910, The Bobbs-Merrill Company.

"I beg your pardon," she said finally, "but is this Dick's—I mean Mr. Bannister's office?"

Ivan raised his solemn eyes and instantly recognized the girl who had forced him to flee through a private estate at midnight, wearing the garb of a female cook.

His glance noticed her. "Have you an engagement?" he asked severely.

"Why, it is not absolutely, yes, certainly, I have an engagement," asked Kate in confusion.

"Give me your card and I will take it to him," said Ivan coldly.

After a deal of fumbling Kate produced a card, which she handed to Ivan. Ivan bore the card to the president of the Dickie Nut-Lock Company in evident disapproval; but the moment Dick glanced at it he sprang to his feet. "Ivan," he exclaimed in a suppressed voice, "is there no limit to your stupidity! Now, don't let anyone bother us. Step right in, Miss Burton."

"Oh, Dick," cried Kate, as soon as Ivan had removed his reproachful countenance, "I can never in the world be conventional again. It seems to me that I always meet you where I shouldn't."

"Is that so?" asked Dick in surprise. "Now, it never struck me that way. It always seems to me that I never meet you half as often as I really should. The fact is——"

"Mercy, Dick, but this is a terrible place to have an office," interrupted Kate, going to the window and looking out.

"Yea, verily," answered Dick, flourishing his hand; "but what a super-dandy office it is when you once get inside."

"It is a most dreadful neighborhood."

"Makes the contrast all the sharper."

"I almost fainted on my way here. The odors, Dick, are perfectly shocking."

"Merely prejudice," said Dick, taking down a battered volume which he had picked up in a second-hand store. "Listen to the words of wisdom. 'It is an astonishing fact to many, but overpowering evidence seems to prove that rank odors are generally wholesome. This fact has been known by stockmen for years, and in many large stables male goats are kept to preserve the health of the horses and cattle——'"

"Dick! where in the world did you ever get such a horrid book? Well, anyway, I hope it will never be necessary to preserve my health by living in this neighborhood."

"How in the world did you get here?" asked Dick with interest.

"I walked; I did, indeed. I started in my car; but when I came to this neighborhood I sent it back a ways. I feared we should either slay some of the children, or some of the adults would slay us. So I journeyed hither with as much humility as possible, and was prepared to claim the privileges of a settlement worker had I been molested."

"You're a genuine heroine, you are. I knew you would come if I made it a test of courage."

"Well, now that I am here, what is the important business."

"I want to know why it is that I missed you the last three times."

[illegible]

"I know he was prejudiced, and I [illegible]

[illegible]

stop laughing. It is too funny."

"I didn't mean that. I mean that my proposal——"

"You might have known that a proposal in an office would be simply a burlesque."

"Then tell me when I may see you—when are you going back?"

"I am stopping at the Holland for a few days to do some shopping. Father has plans for every evening, and I think there is a very deep method in his gladness."

Dick was too intense to be diplomatic. He took her hand and said tenderly: "Won't you give me this little hand?"

"Dick, I hate to be unkind," replied Kate, her eyes dancing, "but I fear I can't even lend it. I shall have to hold up my skirt with one hand; and I fear—I do not wish to speak slightingly of your chosen neighbors—but I fear I shall have to hold my nose with the other."

Dick drew himself up stiffly, but failed to inspire awe. The girl patted him softly on the cheek with her gloved hand and ran lightly from the office.

MARY'S COOK BOOK

Potato Omelette.—Cut breakfast bacon in thin slices, then cut in cubes; there should be two-thirds of a cupful. Fry in omelette pan until crisp and add two cupfuls of cold boiled potatoes cut in dice, one teaspoonful of salt and one-fourth teaspoonful of pepper, and cook slowly until thoroughly heated. Beat three eggs slightly, add three tablespoonfuls of milk, one-fourth of a teaspoonful of salt, and a few grains of pepper. Pour over the potatoes and cook until set. Fold same as any omelette on a hot platter and garnish with parsley. A good corn cake makes an acceptable accompaniment to this omelette.

Parisian Salad.—Cut into small pieces three cold boiled potatoes and an equal quantity of beets and of celery. Make a dressing of the yolks of three hard-boiled eggs and one tablespoonful of anchovy paste, which have been pressed through a puree sieve, three-quarters of a cupful of olive oil, half a tablespoonful of mixed mustard, one and a half tablespoonfuls of vinegar, half a teaspoonful of salt and a little pepper. Be sure to add the oil and vinegar very slowly. When the dressing is done chop up the whites of the eggs and mix them with the vegetable, then put on the dressing, and stir it all through the salad. Serve on lettuce.

Grilled Breast of Lamb.—Score the top of a breast of lamb, and cover with beaten yolk of egg. Sprinkle with salt and pepper and then cover again with bread crumbs. Cook in the oven until thoroughly browned, basting with butter frequently. Serve with caper sauce.

Maple Custard.—Beat five eggs until they are very light. Add to them three cupfuls of milk that has been boiled and allowed to cool, a cupful of grated or crushed maple sugar, and a pinch of salt. Stir them all together until thoroughly mixed, and strain into custard cups. Put these in a pan of hot water, and cook in the oven until firm and slightly brown. Cool them in the refrigerator, and just before serving turn out of the cups and sprinkle them with chopped blanched almonds.

NOT A WORD OF JOINT BUILDINGS

City Council Accepted and Filed Report of the Special Committee.

MOVE TO ANNUL BYLAW

Ald. Bennett Would Like the City Take Back the Part of York Street Bonded Over to E. Leonard & Sons.

Contrary to expectations there was no debate whatever on the report of the special committee appointed to interview the county council relative to joint municipal buildings. When Ald. Bennett read the report, in which it was stated that the county council had refused to consider joint buildings, he moved its adoption, and there was not a word of comment on it whatever.

Some of the aldermen had stated that they would undoubtedly have something to say when the matter came before the council, but none made a word of comment on it.

The Old Boys.

A deputation from the Old Boys' Association, composed of Dr. H. G. Abbott, president; J. O. Weldon, secretary; Geo. H. Belton, Dr. Fred. L. Wood, ex-Mayor Samuel Stevely and others, appeared before the council, asking for the use of committee rooms, etc., for clerical work, and for a grant. The request for committee rooms was granted, but the matter of a grant was sent to the manufacturers' committee.

Water Cart Repairs

There was only one tender received for repairing and painting the water carts, that of Mr. Geo. Heaman, who asked $478 for the work. It was decided to leave the matter with No. 3 committee with power, and suggested that an expert be employed to see exactly what repairs were necessary.

Messrs. George White & Sons and the London Concrete Machinery Company petitioned for power to allow the Grand Trunk to run a switch up Cabell street to their factories. Mr. Henry Pocock addressed the board, and after some discussion, his request was granted.

Coronation Trees.

Mr. Richard Gibson, Denfield, wrote offering nine oak saplings for planting in the park on the occasion of the coronation. On motion of Ald. Saunders, the hearty thanks of the council were expressed to Mr. Gibson, and No. 2 committee instructed to have the oaks properly planted.

The recommendation of No. 3 committee that Market Clerk Miller be given an increase of $75 a year, was defeated.

To Annul a Bylaw.

Ald. Bennett gave notice of motion that at the next meeting of the council he would move the annulment of Bylaw 555, which gave to E. Leonard & Sons a portion of York street. He pointed out that according to the agreement E. Leonard & Sons were to have erected certain buildings, which they had not done. The bylaw was passed in 1898.

Watchmen at Crossings.

Ald. Mitchell gave notice of motion that at the next meeting of the council he would move that watchmen be employed continuously at the Egerton and Rectory street crossings of the Grand Trunk.

"Why not add William and Maitland streets?" asked Ald. Wilson.

Ald. Mitchell then included them.

"These crossings are very dangerous," Ald. Mitchell explained. "They are not guarded on Saturday night or Sunday, and they should be."

Mayor Beattie explained that the city might be liable for some of the cost of maintaining the watchmen on these crossings, so City Solicitor Meredith's opinion on the liability of the city will be obtained.

Ald. Tancock desired to know what the board of works intended to do about a better system of numbering the houses, but Ald. Cooper stated that nothing had been done as yet.

Stopping Street Cars.

Ald. Wilson did not favor stopping the street cars on the opposite side of the street as at present. He was told to look up Bylaw 916, when he asked if the council had any power in the matter, and he will bring the question up at the next meeting of the city council.

Ald. Cooper had a joke on Ald. Ashplant. When the recommendation of the committee that three new firemen be appointed temporarily, was moved by Ald. Ashplant, Ald. Cooper moved that a special committee composed of Ald. Eckert, Bennett, Wilson, Tancock, Mitchell and Morgan, be named to report upon the advisability of appointing three men.

"I want to show you that others can interfere with a committee's work," said Ald. Cooper. However, his motion failed to carry.

Those present were Mayor Beattie, Ald. Eckert, Richter, Stevenson, Bennett, Ashplant, Donnelly, Tancock, Wilson, Morgan, Mitchell, Saunders, Cooper, and City Clerk Baker.

CITY COUNCIL HAD SURPLUS OF $18,033

Receipts Last Year Were Over $12,000 Greater Than Had Been Estimated.

SOME OF THE "PICK UPS"

Disbursements Were Over $5,000 Less Than Estimated—The City Auditors' Figures.

The city council of 1910 quit the year with a surplus of $18,033. At the meeting last night, the auditors' report for the year was submitted and ordered to be printed. It is a very satisfactory statement.

The receipts for the year were $12,666.72 more than was estimated. The chief items of increase were: $8,573.18 from the water commissioners, $2,802.90 more surplus from 1909 than was estimated, $383 from receipts from dog tags and licenses, $281 from London and Port Stanley percentages, $299.17 from arrears in taxes, $825.87 at police court fines, and $115 in street watering rates. There were some receipts lower than the average, such as Government witness fees, $241.26 less than estimated, tavern licenses $100.85 less, registry office fees $80, and several other smaller items.

The disbursements also tell a satisfactory story. On the whole year's work the expenditures are $5,025.74 less than was estimated. Some of the accounts, of course, were overdrawn, but many more showed that the expense was less than estimated.

More and Less.

Some of the accounts where the expenditures were greater than estimated were as follows: Court house repairs, $778; county expense, $467; street repairs, $891; bridge expense, $637; exhibition buildings, $857; hospital trust, $3,793; sewer expenses, $2,186.66; street watering, $1,623.37; town hall expense, $141; salaries, $688.

Among the accounts where the expenditure was less than the estimates were the following: Administration of justice, $723.50; board of health, $1,028; street cleaning, $548; steam roller, $500; repairs to Talbot street pavement, $185; compensation for injuries, $958; fire department, $2,095; incidental expenditure, $2,930; law expenses, $551; London waterworks, interest on debentures, $995; electrical department, interest on debentures, $2,605; police department, $886; printing and advertising, $1,119; relief to city poor, $1,138; storage building expense, $23; street lighting, $569.

As usual, City Auditors Jewell and Andrew Dale have taken a great deal of pains with the statement, which is more than ordinarily explicit. It is now in the hands of the printer, and will be ready to be issued to the public at the next meeting of the city council.

HIGH ENGLISH TIDE TAKES SLICE OF LAND

A Big Piece of the Suffolk Engulfed—Treasure Trove Uncovered.

London, April 3.—An abnormally high tide today washed out a big "chunk" of the county of Suffolk, laying bare interesting relics of the long ago. Included among the things uncovered by the caprice of the sea were hundreds of gold, silver and copper coins, some of them dating as far back as the Saxon era, bronze rings and other ornaments for personal adornment.

The disappearance of the land was near the village of Thorpness, which so narrowly escaped that some of the cottages, which were yesterday a hundred yards distant from the sea, are now but a few feet from high-water mark.

This part of the British coast has been continuously eroded. Many big engulfments have been recorded during the past centuries.

BISHOP BARS THE HAREM.

Havana, April 3.—The Right Rev. Gonzales Estrada, bishop of Havana, has issued a pastoral condemning the so-called harem skirt as immoral and un-Christian.

Bishop Estrada warns women that persistence in its use will result in excommunication. The bishop's action has caused some surprise, as only one skirt of this type, which was worn by an actress, has been seen on the streets up to the present.

W. M. Aitken, Montreal financier and member of British Commons, says 75 per cent of Canadians oppose reciprocity.

LICENSE FEE REMITTED ST. ANDREW'S SOCIETY

Sheffield Choir Does Not Come Under the Meaning of the Bylaw.

St. Andrew's Society will not have to pay $50 license fee for bringing the Sheffield Choir to the city.

It will be remembered that at the last meeting of No. 3 committee, Mr. John R. Minhinnick, manager of the Grand Opera House, entered a protest against the appearance of the choir here unless the regular fee was paid. Inspector McCallum was instructed to collect the fee.

At the council meeting last night, the question was brought up, and it was decided that the inspector should not collect the license.

A deputation from the society, including Messrs. John Pringle, R. D. MacDonald, J. W. McIntosh, M. P. Irwin, Alex. Calder, A. Macpherson, and others, appeared before the council to ask that the fee be not collected.

Ald. Stevenson then moved that inasmuch as the appearance of the Sheffield Choir in the city did not come within the meaning of the bylaw governing amusements, the inspector be instructed not to collect the fee.

Mr. John Pringle then explained the objects of St. Andrew's Society. Their funds were devoted to charitable purposes, and there was no intention whatever of making money out of the entertainment for personal ends. It was a credit to the city to have such an organization come to London, and he considered the request of the deputation a reasonable one.

Ald. Richter read the clauses of the bylaw governing the matter, and stated that undoubtedly the concert did not come within the meaning of the law, consequently no fee could be charged.

"I think the request is a reasonable one," he stated.

The motion carried unanimously.

THE MODERN HEAD DRESS

Causes Baldness—We Cannot Change the Head Dress, But We Can Prevent Baldness.

Up to the time we began to civilize him a bald-headed Indian was a thing unknown. Wearing nothing on his head except the covering furnished by nature and being a stranger to the use of a hair brush, especially the public one, the scalp and hair had plenty of ventilation, much sunlight and, hence, a condition favorable to a luxuriant growth of hair existed at all times.

It was the adoption of air and light excluding head gears and artificial head decorations generally, together with the occasional use of a community hair brush, which gave the dandruff germ its opportunity. Since this parasite has multiplied to an alarming degree until now there is hardly a person who is not troubled more or less with dandruff and falling hair.

Many, to be sure, have passed the worrying stage. Having become chronically bald they realize that nothing is capable of producing natural hair for them. Let these be a warning to all who are experiencing the significant annoyance of dandruff and falling hair.

Dandruff, which is due to a germ, and falling hair can both be overcome by the regular use of Newbro's Herpicide.

This wonderful scalp remedy kills the vicious germ which causes dandruff, cleanses the scalp and stops the hair from coming out. The destruction of the germ permits the hair to grow naturally and luxuriantly as nature intends.

Herpicide makes the hair bright, snappy, light and fluffy.

One dollar size bottles guaranteed.

For sale at all drug stores.

OLDEST ENGLISH CLOWN IN SORROW

James Doughty, 92, Loses Wife; Was Famous Years Ago.

London, April 4.—Great sorrow has fallen upon James Doughty, the oldest English clown. For the first time in his life the old clown looks regretfully back upon the 92 years of his life. Always before retrospect had been linked with the boast, "I shall clown it till I'm a hundred." But now he has lost his wife, and rheumatic gout has made him a cripple.

When he first took to bed, five weeks ago, the veteran was cheered by the faithful attention of his wife, who for 35 years had assisted him in the little entertainments in the small wooden house at the head of Brighton West pier, where twice a day a number of his dogs performed tricks. A week ago his wife was buried. "However, I can manage without her I do not know," said the old man. "Clowns have white faces, but they have red hearts just like other folk."

By the old man's side was a huge pile of old programmes and letters. One by one he was tearing them into fragments, pausing ever and again to smile or sigh over this or that reminiscence. He held aloft a little sketch depicting a clown, gayly singing on a chimney pot. "That fellow is I," he said, chuckling in spite of himself.

"Seventy years ago, when I was touring with a circus, I used to do that to attract the people to our show." Another document was an old Drury Lane theatre programme for the season of 1811, with the name of James Doughty printed large upon it. Silently the old man regarded the faded sheet and then with a queer air of sudden resolution carefully refolded it. Whatever else he might destroy he would keep that one memento.

"I followed the great Grimaldi at Drury Lane," he said, "and after two long seasons there I appeared at Covent Garden for three seasons. Ah, but those were the days when to be a clown was to be an artist."

PEAT POSSIBILITIES

Enough in Canada To Save Many Millions Spent on Coal.

Ottawa, April 3.—Government statistics on the peat supply say:

"The provinces of Ontario and Quebec send $20,000,000 a year to the United States for coal. The development of some of our extensive peat bogs will help to keep some of this money at home and to furnish additional employment to Canadians in Canada.

"Canada has 37,000 square miles of known peat bogs, but these form probably but a small fraction of the total, constituting a potential national asset of enormous value.

"Some idea of the possibilities may be gained from the estimate that 28 acres of peat, nine feet deep, should yield 50,000 tons; enough to supply 100 families for 25 years, allowing 20 tons per annum to each family, or enough to furnish a power plant of 100 horsepower, using steam engines, with fuel for more than 25 years of 300 10-hour days, allowing 12 pounds of fuel per horsepower hour developed.

"The fuel, if used in a suitable gas producer, would last the same plant about 100 years."

GIRLS' HOTEL FOR MONTREAL

Expected To Help Solve Some Live Social Problems.

Montreal, April 3.—The scheme for the promotion of a hotel for women and girl workers in this city was today definitely set in motion by the conversion of the provisional committee into a permanent one, and a resolution to take active steps forthwith to raise the sum of $100,000, with a view to then selecting a suitable building for the object named.

This result was arrived at at a largely-attended meeting of ladies and gentlemen, held in the council chamber, at which Dr. Perrin, of Boston, related the history of the Franklin Square House, in that city, of which he was the founder.

The chief argument put forth by Dr. Perrin in favor of his scheme was that young women and young men are social beings and will arrange to see each other, and that it is better that this should happen under proper conditions.

"There ought to be opportunity in every great city," he said, "for young women who are forced to work and study to meet young men on fair and safe conditions. Every well-organized society should try to prevent the tragedy which comes only too often, not because the girl is bad, but because of the conditions of living."

Dr. Perrin concluded his address by an earnest appeal to those interested in the scheme to put it through while interest was aroused.

MRS. PETER GREEN, Jr.,

DESORONTO, ONT.

Says:—"Dr. Wood's Norway Pine Syrup is the Best Cough Syrup She Ever Used."

She writes:—"Dr. Wood's Norway Pine Syrup is the best cough syrup I ever used. My baby had a very bad cold. I was using Dr.'s medicine but that didn't seem to help the awful cough she had until I got a bottle of this great syrup. I have it in the house at the present time for the children and I think I couldn't get along if I didn't have it. I wish to thank you for all the good it has been to my family."

Dr. Wood's Norway Pine Syrup contains all the lung healing virtues of the Norway pine tree, which combined with Wild Cherry bark and other pectoral remedies makes it one of the greatest known preparations for Coughs, Colds and all Throat and Lung Troubles.

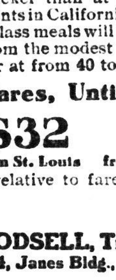

It is put up in a yellow wrapper; three pine trees the trade mark; price 25 cents at all dealers.

Manufactured only by The T. Milburn Co., Limited, Toronto, Ont.

ENARLY CHOKED

The children soon get choked up with a cold. Mrs. Fred Horne, of Newcastle, N. B., says: "My little 8-year-old son Arthur contracted a heavy cold. He coughed all night, and although he coughed up quantities of phlegm, the breathing passages did not clear, and I had thought he would choke for want of air. Our druggist recommended Hyomei. In less than half an hour it stopped the coughing, the choking sensation gradually died away, and there was no further trouble."

Hyomei is the Australian dry air treatment, and is guaranteed to cure Catarrh, Cold in the Head, Coughs, Asthma, Bronchitis and Croup. Money back if it fails. A complete outfit includes hard rubber inhaler, and costs only $1. All druggists, or postpaid from The R. T. Booth Company, Limited, Fort Erie, Ont. Extra bottles of Hyomei, if needed, 50 cents. Sold and guaranteed by Cairncross & Lawrence.

LONDON CURLERS STILL HAVE ICE

Held Another Tourney Yesterday and Are Preparing for Old Boy Matches.

THE PRIZE LIST ISSUED

Sore Heads, Swelled Heads, Bone Heads and Bald Heads To Be Rewarded.

London Club curlers, with as keen a sheet of ice as has been available all winter, held another bonspiel yesterday afternoon and evening in the rink at the transportation building at Queen's Park. Skip McKay's rink won first prize, four splendid umbrellas, donated by Dr. Wright and H. White; Skip Evans, second, four pipes given by Mr. C. A. Ross, and Skip Stevenson's crew took the rabbits' feet offered by Mr. W. T. Strong.

The London Club is one of very few having ice so late this season, and even should the weather moderate it will take some time to soften such a keen sheet. This is one of the post announcements:

Spring Opening.

London Club Bonspiel—Good ice guaranteed until week-end of Old Boys' Reunion, Aug. 12, in the good old summertime.

Game opens today at 4 o'clock. Doors closed at midnight.

Prizes galore for cripples, soreheads, swelled heads, bald heads, runners-up and tail-enders, including hams, sides of bacon, pigs' feet, pigs' heads, pigs' hocks, pork pies, lard, bologna sausage, sauerkraut, pigskin and limburger cheese.

For parched lips—Toronto water from the intake.

Aldermen Curl.

Yesterday afternoon as the aldermen were on their tour about the city, they visited the park rink and tried curling. They slammed the stones down in a manner that disgusted the veterans, showing none of that real science at all.

WOLGAST IS HELD FOR COURT TRIAL

Champion, Memsic and Fight Promoters Must Answer to Charge of Violating State Law.

Los Angeles, April 3.—Justice Reeves today held the two principals and two accessories of the alleged prize fight held at Vernon on March 17 for trial in the superior court for a violation of the state law against prize fights.

Ad Wolgast, lightweight champion, and George Memsic, the principals; Charles Eyton, referee, and Thomas J. McCarey, promoter, all appeared in court and were held in $1,000 bail each.

This was given by three of the men, but McCarey refused to provide bail and was held in custody. Habeas corpus proceedings in his behalf will be instituted.

BOWLERS OF LEADING CITIES IN TOURNEY

Results Will Be Exchanged by Telegraph During Evening.

[By Canadian Press.]

New York, April 4.—Details have been completed for the telegraphic bowling contest between Montreal, New York, Chicago, Pittsburg, Cleveland, Portland, Oregon and Seattle for the Thompson trophy, donated by the president of the New York Athletic Club.

The tournament will be held on April 22. It is to be an annual affair hereafter. Teams will consist of five men, with two substitutes allowed. Each club will bowl on its own alleys, which must be regulation size. Western teams will begin bowling at 7 o'clock, eastern time; the middle west teams at 9 o'clock, and the eastern teams at 10 o'clock. The first five frames and the total score of each game are to be telegraphed to the different clubs competing.

GREENSBORO IS HELD SCORELESS BY GIANTS

McGraw's New Yorkers Pile Up Eleven Tallies Against the North Carolinans.

Greensboro, N. C., April 3.—The Greensboro leaguers, who were beaten 34 to 0 last Saturday by the Boston Nationals, again failed to score today when they tackled the Giants. They were not disgraced today, however, as McGraw's men listened to reason and compiled only 11 runs, being satisfied to hustle through the game and back to their hotel to hug the radiators.

The cold wave that the Giants bumped into today was not at all to their liking. The temperature was down below 40, and after a month in Texas, this was like arctic weather to McGraw's tourists. The players wore heavy sweaters, and even then could not keep warm.

The game was well fielded, the only error being a bad throw by the Greensboro catcher in the eighth inning. Three batteries divided the work up to the ninth inning, when McGraw gave an exhibition of slow ball pitching. The Greensboro boys made a grand total of three hits.

The Value of Teamwork; By Manager John McGraw

MANAGER JOHN ("MUGGSY") McGRAW.

TEAMWORK on the diamond is nothing but a combination of knowledge and ability. Its value cannot be estimated in figures. With it we have everything—without it, nothing.

One reason teamwork is hard to attain is because it requires both of the necessities enumerated. Either will not do. Any number of players possess physical ability, but through inexperience are lacking in knowledge of the game's fine points. If told to make a play they can execute it beautifully, but they do not possess that initiative which is shown by unhesitating execution. Plays arise that call for instinctive action, which comes only from experience.

It is hard to say which is the most valuable—physical ability or knowledge. The man with ability has the best chance, as he can acquire knowledge, if he is a thinker, but the veteran with the knowledge has little chance to develop ability that is lacking. His day is gone.

Many big league players are retained because of the knowledge they possess. They may not be so fast as some of the youngsters, but they can direct plays in a way that would not occur to less experienced men.

To illustrate this I mention the case of Harry Steinfeldt, the Cub third baseman. Harry may not be as fast as he was ten years back, but Manager Chance will go a very long way before he can get a man who understands the game's fine points as well as Steinfeldt. With him on third the infield has confidence that a play in his territory will be made as it should be. They know he will do the right thing at the right time, and will assist in carrying out any play that may be started across the diamond. An inexperienced player on third would cause so much anxiety that the effectiveness of the whole machine would be impaired.

Teamwork in baseball is the same as teamwork in any other business. What corporation could succeed unless its men understood each other and worked together?

One individual start could not run a corporation smoothly any more than any one great player could win a pennant for his team.

Teamwork is not necessarily the result of prearranged plans, as many baseball lovers seem to think. Real teamwork is a combination of quick thinking and execution. In a limited time such as a play on the diamond occurs in, the men must think together, each knowing what he must do and what his fellow will do to bring about the desired result. When every man knows his mates will think as fast as he does and execute his work exactly right, we have teamwork.

Say the pitcher is to pitch a fast ball outside the plate to a left-handed batter to make him hit to left field; if the manager signals the shortstop to move toward third and play deep to stop a ball hit in his direction, it is not teamwork. It is one-man work. On the other hand, if the shortstop appreciates the situation, gets the catcher's signal, and then moves to the proper position, it is teamwork.

Another instance frequently occurring:

The team in the field is two runs ahead and there is a runner on base. If the outfielders have had experience they would at once move back and play a deep field. They would realize that a single could score only one run under any circumstances, and would play it safe and be ready to hold a hit to a single.

Should they play too close and attempt to catch a line drive, there would be a chance for the ball to get by for two or possibly three bases, breaking up the game. If a maanger had to direct outfielders in this respect it would not be teamwork. If the players took the action on their own initiative it would be teamwork.

The idea that a series of signals precede every bit of teamwork is erroneous. Without knowledge, based on experience and physical ability, no amount of signalling could make a player do the proper thing. On the other hand, with the knowledge and experience he would not require the signals.

THIS WOMAN MAY HEAD ST. LOUIS BASEBALL CLUB

MRS. HELENE ROBISON BRITTON AND SON.

She is the new owner of the St. Louis National League baseball club, as the result of the death of Stanley Robison, who left her three-quarters of the stock of the club, the remaining quarter going to her mother, Mrs. Frank De Haas Robison.

Owning the majority of the stock, Mrs. Britton can elect herself president, and as such can attend league meetings. She says she will continue the club, as her uncle desired, but will appoint F. N. Abercrombie, Robison's executor, as her representative, and choose a business manager to handle the financial affairs.

Mrs. Britton is the only woman owner in baseball so far as is known. Many owners have their stock in their wife's name, but this is merely a business arrangement. Garry Herrmann has been quoted as saying he expected Mrs. Britton would sell her stock in a short time, but the young woman has intimated that she will not do so.

The new owner has consulted with Manager Roger Bresnahan, and told him to go ahead and carry out the wishes of her late uncle. It is probable a business manager will be chosen upon Roger's advice.

JENNINGS CREW AGAIN ARE IDLE

After Spending Morning Loafing Tigers Attend Running Races Promoted by O'Leary.

Indianapolis, Ind., April 3.—Rain of Sunday and the night that followed made play again impossible, and the Tigers will be lucky if they find themselves able to play tomorrow, get-away-day for Indianapolis.

Jennings' athletes loafed around the hotel lobby this morning, and in the afternoon attended the opening of the six-day walking and running races given here by Dan O'Leary.

THREE-I. MUST RETAIN WATERLOO

Quincy Will Not Get Berth and League Must Remain an Eight-Club Circuit.

Chicago, April 3.—The Waterloo, Ia., club of the Three-I. Baseball League, today won the final round of its fight to remain in the league. The national baseball commission ruled that the league must remain intact as an eight-club organization, including Waterloo. Quincy, Ill., loses its hopes of a place in the league by the ruling. This makes the victory for Waterloo complete and prevents the erection of a hostile majority by taking in extra clubs, who might be opposed to Waterloo.

ABE ATTELL'S INJURY TO KEEP HIM IDLE FOR YEAR

Physician Says Champ Must Refrain From Heavy Work for Period.

[By Canadian Press.]

New York, April 4.—The Times says Abe Attell, the featherweight champion, who suffered another injury to his left shoulder in his bout with Frankie Burns here last Friday night, is expected by his physician not to fight again for at least six months and probably a year. There is a possibility that the arm is so badly injured that Attell will never be his former self in the prize ring.

GERMAN JOURNAL ARRANGES FOR RACE

Aeroplanes Will Speed in the Kaiser's Land This Summer.

Berlin, April 4.—The Zeitung Am Mittag, which conducted the Paris and New York globe-girdling automobile race in 1909, in conjunction with the Paris Matin and the New York Times, today announces a prize of $25,000 for a trans-German aeroplane flight, to be competed for in the coming summer.

The competition will be patterned after that of the London Daily Mail, which offers $50,000 for a race around Great Britain. It is intended at present to allow only German aviators to compete.

The race will begin and end at Berlin. The event is the outcome of the withdrawal of the German section from the Paris journal's projected Paris-Berlin-Brussels-London race, that portion of the route having been excluded at the eleventh hour, owing to an outbreak of anti-German chauvinism in the French press.

BRITISHERS READY TO BACK MOTOR BOAT

Will Put Up Anything Up to $1,000,000 on Result of Races.

New York, April 3.—Commodore H. H. Melville, of the Motor Boat Club of America, has received a cablegram from London advising him that sportsmen there are ready to back the British entry in the international motor boat race in wagers for any part of $1,000,000. The Englishmen asked if the Americans have "any offers" to make.

The international cup, now in the custody of the Motor Boat Club of America, will be raced for off Huntington, L. I., Aug. 26, 28 and 29. One of the British challengers, a hydroplane model, in a recent test, made a speed of nearly a mile a minute, breaking all records.

Morgan, who started for the Americans, passed seven men to first in six innings, and was succeeded by "Lefty" Russell, a recruit, who pitched good ball.

Moore, Beebe and Rowan pitched well for the Nationals. The last two were obtained from Cincinnati, and their work was watched closely. Score:

DE MARINIS BAWLS DENIAL OF MURDER

Says That Camorrist Informer is Acting Through Spite.

[Canadian Press.]

Viterbo, Italy, April 4.—The jury in the Camorra trial listened today to the interrogation and defence of Guiseppe de Marinis, who is charged with having planned the murder of Gennaro Cuoccolo and his wife Maria. De Marinis has been frequently arrested in Naples, the accusations against him including robbery, assault and murder, and he has served brief sentences of imprisonment.

The Camorrist was not in good voice today, but he shouted his denials with considerable vehemence and with considerable effect at least upon the spectators. He denied any part in the assassinations and asserted that he had been involved in the revelations of the informer, Gennaro Abbatemaggio, because of the latter's personal spite. He had discharged Abbatemaggio from his employ, he said.

In forging the chain of evidence against the thirty-six Camorrists, the carabineers claimed to have found in De Marinis' house a postal card addressed to him by Luigi Arena, and asking for the death of Cuoccolo because he had betrayed the writer to the authorities. In telling the story of the murders, Abbatemaggio had said that such a postcard had been written, and that immediately upon its receipt by De Marinis the assassinations were planned. The informer also said that De Marinis took possession of Cuoccolo's ring for the purpose of sending it to Arena, who was in prison, as evidence that he had been avenged. Subsequently the carabineers claimed to have found the ring at the home of a woman friend of De Marinis.

TORONTO ELECTRIC MAY REFUSE OFFER

Turn Down City, But to Accept Electrical Development's Price.

Toronto, April 3.—That the shareholders of the Toronto Electric Light Company will refuse the offer made by the city, when they meet next Saturday, and that an offer made quite recently by the Electrical Development Company will be accepted, and that the price the shareholders of the former company will receive for the stock will be $135, was the information received from a reliable source. A majority of the shareholders of the Electric Light Company are opposed to the acceptance of the city's offer on the ground that the price offered is too low.

WEST DEFEATS PHELAN IN MATCHES AT TORONTO

Londoner Rolls High Scores and Annexes Two Good Games.

Toronto, April 4.—Joe West, the London crack, and Pap Phelan, hooked up in a ten-game match affair. It was a nip-and-tuck contest from beginning to end, and Pap looked good to win after five had been rolled. West got the money by 19 pins, with 1,993 for his ten, while Phelan collected 1,974. Pap then challenged West to another string of five games and Joe spilled the pins for a 220 average and a total of 1,110. The scores:

West (1,993)—
229 178 221 169 189 227 168 183 201 228

Lightweight Champ Refuses to Meet Packey Owing to Weight.

[By Canadian Press.]

Los Angeles, April 4. — According to Tom Jones, Ad Wolgast's manager, the match between Wolgast and Packey McFarland, which was to have been staged in New York on April 28, has been declared off. Jones says he has received numerous warnings against allowing Wolgast to meet McFarland, who, Jones declares, is a welterweight, and he says he sees no reason for taking a chance with his man against a fighter who can't make the weight.

SUNDAY BASE BALL WINS IN NEBRASKA

Senate Passes Measure Over Governor's Veto With Vote to Spare.

Lincoln, Neb., April 3.—The senate this afternoon passed the Sunday baseball bill over the veto of Governor Aldrich. The executive informed the senate of his reason for disapproving the bill this morning. He thought the measure was too radical in that it legalized Sunday baseball without restriction as to sections of the state outside the cities and towns.

The measure scored 21 votes when it was taken up this afternoon. This was one more than the number necessary to overcome the veto. The bill will be sent to the House tomorrow.

GREAT SHOW OF GEMS FOR CHARITY'S SAKE

Royal Family and Peeresses Put Priceless Tiaras on Exhibition.

[Canadian Press.]

London, April 4.—An exhibition of the wonderful collection of tiaras to be worn by members of the royal family and peeresses at the coronation was opened today.

The object of the exhibition is to benefit the Prince Francis of Teck memorial fund for the endowment of Middlesex Hospital. The value of the 50 tiaras is roughly estimated at a million dollars, but historic and sentimental associations make them priceless.

Princess Christian, the Duchess of Albany, and other royalties, set the example of helping along the fund, and the greatest among the titled ladies of the kingdom followed it by sending jewels worn only on great occasions like a coronation. There were many all-round crowns of diamonds, like those of the Duchess of Sutherland and the Duchess of Westminster; many precious heirlooms, like the tiara of the Duchess of Norfolk, and dozens of parures, and circles with diamonds set with sapphires, turquoises, pearls, emeralds and other jewels.

The managers of the exhibition have been unable to obtain several of the most famous tiaras seen at the coronation of King Edward VII., but seldom has there been a more brilliant display of sumptuous jewels. Among the most beautiful designs are Lady Newborough's crown of diamonds and emeralds, the Duchess of Newcastle's superb diamonds, Lady Kilmorey's jewelled ribbon, with a true love knot; Lady Tweed Dale's diamonds and sapphires, and the splendid tiaras of Lady Salisbury, Lady Plymouth, Lady Normandy, Lady Mount-Stephen, and many others.

It is a guinea show, confined to a single week. A strong force of detectives is guarding the jewels night and day.

THAT LAKE MERGER

Now Reported That Companies Have Failed To Come Together.

Montreal, April 3. — The directors of the R. and O. and some of the Northern Navigation interests, met from 10 a.m. until 12:30 today, but when the meeting broke up had nothing to say to the public.

If the plans were not changed this morning, and the deal goes through as outlined last week, $1,500,000 new R. and O. stock will be issued to take care of the Northern Navigation.

Whether this will prove a bull or bear card on Richelieu remains to be seen. Another question is, When will the 8 per cent dividend be paid? If the shareholders have to wait a year for it, the excitement will no doubt cool off quite a little.

Later it was stated that the directors of the R. and O. Navigation Company and of the Northern Navigation Company failed to reach an definite agreement regarding the proposed $10,000,000 navigation merger.

It is evident several meetings will have to be held before an agreement is reached.

MATTY AND JOHNSON TRADE TWIRLING TRICKS

Christy Shows Matty How to Work That Famous Fadeaway Ball.

Christy Mathewson and Walter Johnson, the pitching kings, met for the first time in Atlanta, and had a long talk. Each is a great admirer of the other.

Johnson asked Matty how he throws his fadeaway ball, and the Giant star took particular pains to show just how he handles his best fooler. Johnson said he believed he would try it.

"Go ahead, and good luck to you," said Matty. "If the fadeaway does you as much good as it has done me, you will win a lot more games with all your speed and control."

Matty learned a lesson from the American League king. Johnson has a way of his own of snapping the ball when he uses his fast one. He showed Matty how he does it.

There has been a lot of talk about a pitching duel between the two kings. They had a good laugh when it was mentioned.

ENGLISH POLO PONIES ARRIVE AT NEW YORK

Members of Challenging Team Send Equipment and Will Come Later.

New York, April 3.—Thirty-five polo ponies which the British contestants for the international polo trophy will use in the matches at the Meadowbrook Club beginning May 31, reached here from England on the steamer Minnetonka today. The ponies will be sent to Lakewood. With them came the entire equipment of the British challengers.

The members of the challenging team are expected here about the middle of this month.

CANADIAN FORESTERS' GAMES.

Court Eclipse, C. O. F., defeated Court Victory in a league match 81 to 76 last night. The former are now tied with Middlesex for first place. Last night's line-up:

Victory—Hobbs, Thorp, Ward and A. and W. Flowers.

Eclipse—Smith, Logan, Murray, Floyd and Burtch.

Baseball's Boiled Bulletins

Gene DeMontreville has announced that he will not play ball this season.

Ball games on Sunday before noon at Oakland, Cal., have proved successful from a patronage point of view.

Louisville has released James Byrd, Chief Miller and Charles Schneider, pitchers, and Catcher Sewell to Lexington, of the Blue Grass League.

They cut the recruits loose right and left during the last week until now the teams look more like they did when they finished the season last fall.

Lester Channell is having trouble with the ankle that he broke while with the New York Highlanders; he has been out of the Indianapolis practice work lately.

Terry Turner's arm seems to be a hopeless case, and Manager McGuire has about picked on Herman Bronkie to start the season at third base for the Naps.

New Haven, it is stated, has purchased Pitcher Mayberry from Cleveland. He was told to take his choice of Fanwell, Doane or Mayberry, and he took the latter.

If one report is to be believed, Addie Joss is all in; if another is listened to his arm was never so strong. Take your choice and wait until he gets on the firing line.

And Jiggs Donahue couldn't come back. But it was unkind to have the official announcement made on the same day that Comiskey cut loose a lot of morning glories.

Connie Mack has announced his regular lineup for the start of the season. Hogan, an outfielder, and Callamore, a pitcher, are the youngsters he picks to stay with the team.

Clark Griffith, like Bobby Wallace, it is said, wants no more of Hot Springs as a training camp, and the Reds may go into Texas next spring, probably to San Antonio.

Preliminary to the season's opening, Umpire William Brennan has had his eyes tested, and has gone on a short shooting trip to see if they are all the oculist guaranteed.

Another Joyce may win fame in the game, and under Jimmy Burke. The Indianapolis manager thinks in Catcher Mike Joyce, who hails from the Allegheny lots, he has a find.

Kelly Harris purchased his own release from the Dallas, Tex., team, in order to get a tryout with the Baltimore team. His home is near Baltimore, and he wants to stick there if he can.

W. H. Carrick, former pitcher for the New York Nationals and Toledo, has signed a contract with the New Orleans club. Carrick managed the New Haven, Conn., club last season.

Lee Magee's broken leg will keep him out of the game with the St. Louis Cardinals for two months, says the surgeon who examined the fracture. He broke the smaller bone of the leg just above the ankle.

If all accounts from the Pirate training camp are true, Manager Fred Clarke will not be keeping himself on the bench this season, for he is said to be as fast as any of them in the field, with a keen eye at bat.

ODD SITUATION FOR CONGRESS

A Democratic House and a Republican Senate.

TO DEBATE TAFT BILLS

Roll Call Will Show Many Noted Veterans Sent to the Discard.

[Canadian Press.]

Washington, April 3.—The interesting situation of a Democratic House and a Republican Senate meeting to consider a Taft administrative measure directs unusual attention to the convening of the 62nd Congress in extraordinary session at noon tomorrow. The political complexions of the two branches of Congress will be as follows:

House—Democrats 228, Republicans 160, Socialist 1, vacancies 2.

Senate—Republicans 50, Democrats 41, vacancy 1.

The roll calls in the two branches will show some remarkable changes from the last session. In the House the Democrats will show a gain of 54 members, and the Republicans a loss of 55, the Socialist member, Victor Berger, of Milwaukee, accounting for the difference in the equation.

By reason of the change resulting from the election last November, new faces will be seen not only in the membership of the House, but in the whole organization. Republican employees in great number will go out and their places will be filled by Democrats. Choice rooms in the capitol and in the house office buildings, long controlled by the Republicans, will be surrendered to the representatives of the party which is to gather up the House reins.

Many Veterans Gone.

More notable than even the number of new faces in the House and Senate will be the absence of so many veteran legislators. The speaker's marble rostrum will not resound with the vigorous whacks of the Cannon gavel, for Mr. Cannon will appear in the ranks of the minority. Veterans of many legislative struggles will be missed from the House floor. Chief among those whose absence will loom large will be Tawney of Minnesota; Boutell of Illinois; Scott of Kansas; McKinley, of California; Bennet, Fish, Parsons and Cocks, of New York; Hull and Smith, of Iowa; Denby, of Michigan; Keifer, of Ohio.

Four members, Hitchcock of Nebraska, Poindexter of Washington, Gronna of North Dakota, and Townsend of Michigan, have been elevated to the Senate.

No longer will the Senate roll call open with the familiar name of Aldrich, the Rhode Island leader having voluntarily renounced another term to devote himself to leisure, and the study of monetary reforms. Many other striking figures will be missed from the Senate floor, notably Hale of Maine, Beveridge of Indiana, who was vanquished by John W. Kern; Kean of New Jersey, Warner of Missouri, Dick of Ohio, and Carter, of Montana.

All of these changes represent Democratic gains, except in the case of Rhode Island.

LOST IN THE ARCTIC

No Word From Chief Members of Anderson Expedition For a Year.

[Canadian Press.]

New York, April 3.—Somewhere up in the Arctic regions thousands of miles from civilization, are the two chief members of the Stefansson-Anderson expedition, which left New York about three years ago, on a tour of exploration and scientific research in the frozen north. Nothing has been heard of Stefansson for nearly a year and officials at the American Museum of Natural History, which sent out the expedition in co-operation with the Geographical Survey of the Canadian Government, are beginning to feel some anxiety.

The museum has decided to discontinue the work of exploration in the Arctic regions and word has been already forwarded to this effect to Stefansson and Anderson.

ST. VITUS DANCE

A STRIKING EXAMPLE OF ITS CURE BY TONIC TREATMENT.

St. Vitus' dance is the commonest form of nervous troubles which afflicts children, because of the great demands made on the body by growth and development, and there is the added strain caused by study. It is when these demands become so great that they impoverish the blood, and the nerves fail to receive their full supply of nourishment, that the nervous debility which leads to St. Vitus dance.

The remarkable success of Dr. Williams Pink Pills in curing St. Vitus' dance should lead parents to give their children this great blood-building medicine at the first signs of the approach of the disease. Pallor, listlessness, inattention, restlessness and irritability are all symptoms which early show that the blood and nerves are failing to meet the demands made upon them. Mrs A. Winters, Virden, Man., says: "When my little girl was six years old she was attacked with scarlatina, which was followed by St. Vitus dance. Her limbs would jerk and twitch. Her speech became affected, and at last she became so bad that she could scarcely walk, and we hardly dared trust her alone. She was under the care of a doctor, but in spite of this was steadily growing worse, and we feared that we would lose her. As Dr. Williams' Pink Pills had cured her older sister of anaemia, I decided to try them again. After the use of a few boxes, to our great joy, we found they were helping her, and in the course of a few weeks more her power of speech fully returned, and she could walk and go about as well as any child, and she has been well and healthy since. When illness comes to any one of our family now, we never call in a doctor, but simply use Dr. Williams' Pink Pills, and they never disappoint us."

Sold by all medicine dealers or by mail at 50 cents a box or six boxes for $2 50, from The Dr. Williams' Medicine Company, Brockville, Ont.

SEARCHLIGHTS OF SHIP LIGHT BALL

Warships Furnish Illumination for Assembly at Chelsea Arts Club.

London, April 3.—It would seem an almost superhuman feat to transform in two days the somber vastness of Albert Hall into a scene after Watteau, gay and dainty, reflecting all the light-hearted elegance of eighteenth century France. Yet this colossal task was accomplished by the organizers of the Chelsea Arts Club ball.

This ball, which was attended by 4,000 people, is one of the most remarkable held in Europe. Its nearest rivals—the artists' balls at Paris and Munich—drawing attendances of only half that number. For the accommodation of the dancers a special floor, measuring 16,000 square feet, had to be laid and cloakrooms erected, as well as 21 extra boxes over the orchestra stalls.

This year the lighting arrangements were supplemented by two admiralty searchlights, from which lights of various colors were thrown on the dancers.

In order to carry out the scheme of Watteau decoration, the fronts of all the boxes were hung with white satin, and garlands of pink roses and great baskets filled with flowers of the same kind formed prominent features of the scheme. In front of the great organ a large frame ornamented with beautiful design of the period was fixed, and on this the numbers of the dances were flashed. The same design was repeated on the programmes. The only undecorated part of the great hall was the royal boxes, which, on account of the mourning, remained somber and empty.

The picture was completed by the appearance of a large group of artists and their friends in the beautiful costumes of the period. Fancy dress was compulsory, and some remarkable groups were devised. Great secrecy surrounded a party of "post-impressionists" who were unrecognizable even by their best friends.

FIREMEN OF JAPAN ARE HOWLING MOB

Cool in War, They Seem to Lose Their Heads at Blaze.

Tokio, April 3.—As a display of low comedy talent, of acrobatic skill and of lung capacity, the review of the Tokio fire brigades at Hibiya Park may have had a certain degree of interest, but as a demonstration of practical efficiency in dealing with what the Japanese translator loves to designate "conflagrations," it was unutterably farcical.

After witnessing such a lamentable display of ineptitude, one could only marvel that the capital has hitherto escaped total destruction or that the ravages to which Osaka was subjected last year were restricted to some 20,000 houses.

It is true that the metropolitan fire companies represent a great advance on what they were during pre-Meiji days, when the greatest solicitude of the members of the "[illegible]" was devoted not to the task of extinguishing the flames, but rather to that of preserving from incineration the little effigy of a god or patron saint, which every company unfailingly carried with it on these expeditions for good luck.

Old residents bear witness to the vociferous energy and enthusiasm with which the firemen fulfilled this self-appointed task, while the fire in its turn merely discharged its mission of gutting everything inflammable within an accessible area. If, however, in the end the firemen escaped in withdrawing with their little wooden god still intact, they were immensely pleased with themselves, and were satisfied that society at large could have no ground for demanding anything more than this.

Cool and capable in war, the Japanese, despite centuries of familiarity, appear to lose their heads when fire starts.

Confusion reigns supreme. Connected with each fire station are large numbers of what may be termed auxiliaries, who have really nothing to do with the actual work of extinguishing the flames, but whose duties consist in appearing on the scene at the earliest possible moment armed with lanterns and in thereafter helping to remove goods and chattels from buildings within the danger zone.

COME TO CELEBRATE FIND HOST DEAD

Noted American Educator Dies Suddenly at Washington.

[Canadian Press.]

Washington, April 3.—Dr. James Ormond Wilson, for many years superintendent of schools in the district of Columbia, and a well-known educator, had invited a number of friends to gather at his home yesterday in celebration of his eighty-sixth birthday, but when the guests arrived they found him dead. Dr. Wilson had been in poor health during the past week.

BIRRELL REPLIES TO GERMAN CHANCELLOR

Says Proposed Treaty With America Does Not Involve Disarmament.

[Canadian Press.]

London, April 3.—The most interesting of the many arbitration Sunday services and gatherings in London yesterday was the meeting at Whitefields Tabernacle, when Augustine Birrell, chief secretary for Ireland, replied to the speech of Dr. Von Bethmann-Hollweg, the German chancellor.

When carefully examined, he said the chancellor's words meant nothing more than that, in his opinion, some antagonisms might hereafter arise, even between England and America, of so agonizing and tremendous a character that the terms of no treaty could keep the nations involved from each other's throats.

"Kill each other we must," was the chancellor's view, Mr. Birrell said, and added:

"Well, if we must, we will, but surely the chancellor must admit there can be nothing but good in trying to raise up a barricade strong enough, and high enough, to prevent us from doing anything of the kind proposed."

"The treaty with America," continued Mr. Birrell, did not involve directly the question of disarmament, but none the less it lay at the root of such a thing and pointed in that direction."

CHURCH IS FILLED TO HEAR JOWETT

Many Have To Be Driven Out in Compliance With Fire Regulations.

New York, April 4.—The Rev. John Henry Jowett, D.D., gave the first message of his new ministry in the Fifth Avenue Presbyterian Church on Sunday morning. His sermon was on the compassion of Christ for the multitude and indicated that the minister who has been said to be the "greatest living preacher in England" would bend his energies toward developing the institutional and home missionary work of the church along conservative lines.

Dr. Jowett wore the black silk preaching gown of the Covenanters and looked rather more than his 47 years. He is slender and has a prominent forehead. He is somewhat bald and his hair is nearing whiteness. He wears a gray mustache. His voice, while not unusually powerful, carried to every part of the large church auditorium and still carried when he lowered it almost to a whisper in the more impressive parts of his discourse.

Of course, there was a big crowd there. New Yorkers dearly love a popular preacher and elbowed and shoved their way into every place where the ushers would let them stand. A good many were sent out who had already stationed themselves in the gallery, when one of the church officials explained that only one row of standees could be allowed along the walls. One young man with steel-rimmed spectacles and fair hair objected that he had as good a right as anybody, but quieted down when the fire regulations were explained. The congregation as well as the crowd at the door was about equally composed of men and women and the ushers succeeded in finding seats for most of the women.

The morning offering was taken for the needs of the chapels and schools which the church supports in various parts of New York, and Dr. Jowett explained that more than $19,000 was needed for the payment of salaries of ministers, visitors, organist, secretary, janitors, chapel, Sunday school, clubs, gymnasium and sewing school, as well as for fuel, light supplies and printing. "Of course the offering will exceed $20,000," said the doctor. James H. Schmelzel, treasurer of the session, when asked in the afternoon if the expected amount had been realized, said that he could not tell until the returns were all in.

DUBLIN COUNCIL WILL NOT WELCOME GEORGE

Decide Against Presenting an Address During Royal Visit Next Summer.

Dublin, April 3.—The corporation of the city of Dublin today rejected a motion in favor of presenting an address to King George on the occasion of his visit to this city in July next. The vote was 42 to 9 against the plan.

The corporation also adopted a resolution to send the lord mayor and a deputation to present a petition at the bar of the House of Commons in favor of a woman suffrage bill.

The action of the Dublin corporation was probably prompted by the action of the Irish Nationalists in deciding not to take any part in receptions to the King until Ireland had been granted home rule.

MYSTERY IN DEATH AT COLBORNE, ONT.

A Butcher Named Riley Found Dead in His Shop.

Colborne, Ont., April 3. — William Riley, a butcher, aged 50 years, was found dead in his shop under circumstances which led Coroner E. E. Latta to open an inquest. Evidence will be taken on Thursday night.

In view of the unsettled state of the public mind since the death of Josephine Brimacombe, a deaf mute cook at George Teasdale's hotel, and the subsequent death of Mrs. Teasdale, the coroner deemed it wise to hold an inquiry.

One of the doors leading to the shop was barricaded, but so far there has been nothing to indicate foul play. No marks of violence were found on the body.

STABBED IN THE JAW.

Montreal, April 3.—During a row in a German boarding-house in St. George street here, Sunday afternoon, Moses Wicker was stabbed in the jaw. His wound, though serious, is not fatal.

Wm. Hilps was later arrested by Constable Dupres, and is held on a charge of assault and wounding.

RAIDED A RESORT.

Montreal, April 3.—Acting under instructions from Chief of Police Campeau, the civic morality squad early Sunday morning raided an Italian resort in St. David's Lane. Six men and a woman, all Italians, were taken into custody.

Though a search was made for dangerous weapons, nothing was found on the prisoners but two razors.

ROBERTS WANTS MILLION MEN

Says Great Britain's Army Is Too Weak Numerically.

FEARS DISASTROUS WAR

Lord Haldane in Reply Declares Addition Asked For Would Mean Bankruptcy.

London, April 3.—The debate on the subject of national defence was opened in the House of Lords this evening.

Field Marshal Lord Roberts moved a resolution reading:

"That in view of the altered strategic conditions of Europe this House views with grave and growing concern the inadequate military arrangement of the Government of the defence of the country and his majesty's oversea dominions."

In speaking of his resolution Lord Roberts said it required especial courage to introduce such a motion at a time when there was so much talk of disarmament and peace, but a totally unexpected incident had encouraged him. He referred to the speech of Imperial Chancellor Von Bethmann-Hollweg in the German Reichstag last week.

Arms and the Nation.

The manly sense of this speech, Lord Roberts said, appealed to him in a way which he found difficult to express. The German chancellor had defined what was the true relation of a nation to its armed forces and had put into words a principle which during the last few months had been in his (Lord Roberts') own mind.

Lord Roberts affirmed that Great Britain's existing forces did not represent either her resources or the spirit which animated the nation, because it had neither army nor navy to protect the territories abroad.

After referring to the costly experiences of the South African war, which occurred principally through insufficiently trained troops, Lord Roberts asserted that the army needed an additional million trained men. The condition of the army, said Lord Roberts in conclusion, ought to be examined into by experts who had no axe to grind.

Training Vital.

Lord Roberts recalled many historic incidents to show the danger of relying in time of war upon untrained men. He declared that the saying that one volunteer was worth two impressed men was sheer nonsense. The truth was that one man, whether pressed or unpressed, if carefully trained and well disciplined, was worth at least six undisciplined and insufficiently trained volunteers. He added:

"I began by referring to the auspicious and happy recent discourses on the subject of peace. I am old enough to remember the enthusiasm excited by a somewhat similar occasion 60 years ago. Then, as now, we were besieged from every pulpit and from every newspaper office by the aspirations and promises of the immediate future, in which it was predicted that our swords would soon be beaten into plowshares and our spears into pruning hooks. This was in 1851, and I recall that there was not a single year in the next two decades that was not marked by some war in one portion of the globe or another. Let us by all means listen to the aspirations of the advocates of universal peace and do all in our power to help them along, but in the meantime, warned by what followed the prophetic outburst of 1851, let us in all respects be ready for war. There is no time to be lost if our army is to be made ready to fight. It is my deliberate opinion that while other nations are daily and steadily losing ground our margin of safety on the sea is rapidly disappearing, and should war come upon us with the startling rapidity wherewith it has come to other nations in recent years, we shall be found absolutely unprepared."

Haldane Replies.

Viscount Haldane, the secretary of war, in reply, said Lord Roberts' suggested war for which Great Britain must prepare must be for the defence of either India against Russia or of Canada against the United States, or of Egypt and for the maintenance of the balance of power in Europe. He (Lord Haldane) feared that Lord Roberts' short service army of a million would bring the nation to the verge of bankruptcy.

Viscount Haldane, admitted that there were many defects in the present volunteer system, but when the Government was asked to abandon it for compulsory service he said that he felt as a man might who was asked to sell his consols and invest the money in a speculative gold mine. Referring to Lord Roberts' suggestion of an army of a million men, he said that he could not see the necessity for such a huge force.

"We are now," he continued, "engaged in negotiations with the United States for a possible treaty of arbitration. The German chancellor has spoken on the willingness of his country to exchange naval information with us, a course which, if adopted, would tend to diminish war scares.

"The risk of war with France and Russia appears less likely now than it has for some time, and the people of all lands are beginning to show signs of a desire to have diminished the tremendous burdens of armaments. Is this the time for us to talk of increasing our armaments? I think that it is true that the commander of the forces of this country is neither a soldier nor a sailor, but the foreign secretary. Let us beware lest in the desire to better our condition we make it worse."

A number of speakers followed, and on adjournment was taken.

OPPOSITION DRAWS THE COLOR LINE

Commons Discusses the New Issue of Negro Immigration.

LAWS MAY BE AMENDED

The Minister of the Interior Says the Laws Must Be Lived Up To.

Ottawa, April 3. — The color line was drawn in the House of Commons today by members of the Opposition, who declared that the increasing negro immigration into Canada from the United States, especially from Oklahoma, was a menace to the country. A Western Conservative members called the attention of the Minister of the Interior to newspaper articles referring to recent arrivals of several hundred negro families in the prairie provinces from Oklahoma. Mr. Oliver, the minister of the interior, whose department administers the immigration laws, said it was true a large number of negroes had come into Canada during the last few weeks.

"We can do nothing but administer the law as we find it," said Mr. Oliver. "If negroes coming into Canada meet the requirements of our immigration laws we cannot keep them out simply because of their color. We are in the hands of Parliament entirely."

Mr. Foster, an Opposition leader, said he did not wish to raise the color line in Canada if it could be avoided, but, he said, there are 10,000,000 negroes in the United States, many of them living under conditions irksome to them. If it becomes known that every healthy American negro can come to Canada and get 160 acres of land free, how long will it be before we have a negro question in Canada?

The Government declined to announce any policy with regard to the new conditions, but it is possible that amendments to the immigration act may be proposed. At the last census in 1901 there were only 17,000 negroes in Canada.

ROYAL PERMISSION FOR LANSDOWNE BILL

Measure to Limit Royal Prerogative Can Be Introduced.

[Canadian Press.]

London, April 3.—Lord Chesterfield, lord steward of the King's household, stated in the House of Lords this evening that the King's reply to the address, moved by Lord Lansdowne, asking his permission for the introduction of a bill limiting the prerogatives of the crown so far as they relate to the creation of peerages, had been received, and that it granted his lordship's wishes.

SARNIA CIRCLE TEAS PUT TO GOOD USE

Ladies' Aid of St. George's Church Help Reduce the Debt.

Sarnia, April 4. — That the system of raising money for the church by means of circle and talent teas at the homes of different members is a success was evidenced at the annual meeting of the Ladies' Aid of St. George's Church held the other evening, when the secretary's report showed that the amount collected during the year by this means totalled $420 92. The sum will be applied on the interest and principal of the debt on the church. The teas will be continued with a view of preparing for a sale of work to be held the second week in December.

Busy on the Wharves.

The wharves along the river front present a busy scene at the present time. All the large boats and a great many of the smaller ones are being rapidly equipped for the season about to open. Gangs of men can be seen on the decks of each, some scrubbing, some painting, and others repairing different parts of the vessels. All the vessels have steam up and give the impression that they are just about to steam out into the river. The Wauketa arrives tonight on her first regular trip of the season.

John Godfrey, who trespassed on G. T. R. property, was given ten days in the county jail.

Two drunks, who claimed they came to town to go to work on the boats, were given time to pay a fine and costs.

NEW SPANISH CABINET

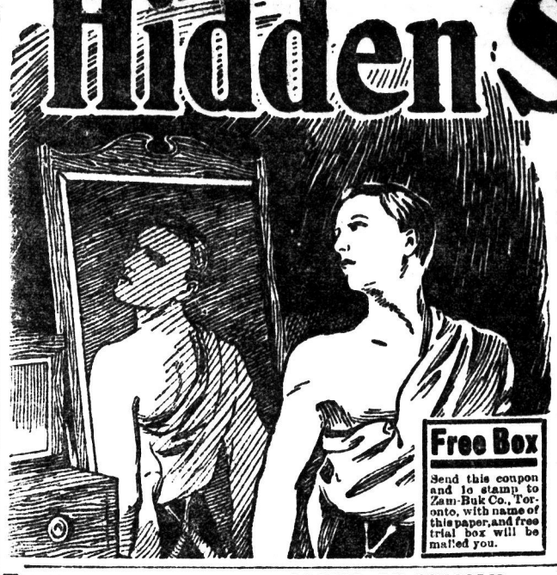

Alfonso Gives Canalejas a Free Hand in Its Construction.

[Canadian Press.]

Madrid, April 3.—The Canalejas ministry, as reorganized, was gazetted today. The changes were dictated by the Premier, who was given free rein by King Alfonso as a condition upon which he withdrew his resignation of Saturday. The ministers announced are: Premier, Jose Canalejas Y Mendes; minister of foreign affairs, Garcia Prieto; minister of the interior, Ruiz Valarino, minister of war, Senor De Luque; minister of marine, Senor Pidal; minister of justice, Senor Barroso; minister of public works, Senor Gasset; minister of public instruction, Senor Gimeno.

Prieto and Gasset retain their portfolios. Valarino, who was minister of justice, becomes minister of the interior, and is succeeded in his former post by Senor Barros, who was at the head of the ministry of public instruction in the Moret Cabinet, but is new in the Canalejas ministry, as the others are. General De Luque held the portfolio of war in the Moret Cabinet.

ZAM-BUK

THE GREAT SKIN-CURE.

ZAM-BUK AND A MIRACLE OF HEALING

Over and over again Zam-Buk has performed a miracle of healing when applied to sores and skin injuries which have refused to heal under any other form of treatment. Why not let it heal your trouble? Immediately Zam-Buk is applied to a sore or wound or diseased portion of flesh it commences its work in two directions. It anoints the exterior, and its antiseptic properties prevent any germs and bacilli from creating trouble. Then the herbal essences and juices so finely purified and concentrated, penetrate the subjacent layers and stimulate the weakened or diseased cells to active, healthy operation. These cells then put forth their "Building" products and replace the diseased outer layer with fresh and healthy tissue. By degrees the whole diseased surface is thus replaced by new healthy skin.

In this way Zam-Buk cures cuts, burns, bruises, ulcers, abscesses, itch, eczema, eruptions, pustules, scurvy, salt rheum, blood poison, and other forms of skin trouble. Zam-Buk also cures piles, varicose ulcers, etc. All druggists and stores sell at 50c per box, or from Zam-Buk Co., Toronto, for price. 6 boxes $2.50.

THINKS HERSELF ECKERT'S WIDOW

Eccentric Old Lady Turns Up to Confuse Will Contest.

TELLS A PECULIAR TAIL

Refuses to Produce Any Proof of Her Statements When Ordered to Do So by the Judge.

New York, April 3.—A gray-haired woman called at the home of Surrogate John P. Cohalan, in the Bronx, Thursday night and declared she was the widow of Gen. T. T. Eckert, the former president of the Western Union Telegraph Company, whose two sons have been contesting his will before Surrogate Cohalan. The woman said she had decided at first to keep silent, but "her conscience pricked her" to such an extent she had decided to speak out. She spoke in a somewhat mysterious way of her ability to prove her claim.

The surrogate had her in his office today. Counsel for the executors of the Eckert will, and for Clendenin Eckert, who has been contesting the will, which is in favor of his brother, Thomas T. Eckert, jun., were present. The woman was accompanied by a lawyer, Mr. Treadwell. The woman at first refused to be sworn, saying "no Irishman could compel her to be sworn," but her lawyer advised her to take the oath. Then she said she called herself Mrs. E. L. Davies, being the widow of a man who died some years ago. She was sometimes called "Dora," she said, but never called herself Eckert. She is 68.

Dined With General.

In the fall of 1908, after her husband, Mr. Davies, had died, the woman said she called to see Gen. Eckert at his home, and at his invitation went to the Hotel Belmont to dine with him. She said Gen. Eckert told her "they" were persecuting him and threatening to put him in an asylum, and that some woman was trying to compel him to marry. Mrs. Davies said Gen. Eckert appealed to her to protect him.

Mrs. Davies said that after they had dinner they got into an automobile and went for a long ride—she did not know where. The ride ended at a house where there was a marriage ceremony, and the man she took to be the minister gave her a marriage certificate. She never lived with Gen. Eckert, she said, but had luncheon at his home several times after, and on one occasion he gave her a deed to a house in West Eighty-sixth street. She never had the deed recorded, she said.

The woman said her permanent home is in Washington, and declared she had both the marriage certificate and deed "in safe place," in Washington. The surrogate told her he wanted her to produce the deed and the certificate, and she replied she would if she did not decide to burn them. Mrs. Davies said she had no intention of putting in a claim for a widow's share of the Eckert estate, but merely wanted to "show them" she could do so if she wished. She was told to return Thursday morning and bring the alleged deed and marriage certificate.

NO MORE BIRCHING OF ETON BIG BOYS

Just a Cane for Them, But the Old Style Remains for "Kids."

[Canadianu Press.]

London, April 4. — The birch has been abolished at Eton College so far as the upper form boys are concerned. A cane may be used instead over the clothing.

The lower form boys, however, still may be birched on the bare flesh. The use of the switching block at Eton dates back to 1770.

EXPRESS RATES ON CREAM REDUCED

Railway Commission Finds Complaints of Dairymen Well Founded.

Ottawa, April 3. — The railway commission is issuing an order which practically restores the express rates on shipments of cream for buttermaking to the rates existing prior to the increases made by the express companies some three years ago. Representatives of the creamery shippers of Ontario and Quebec appeared before the commission some weeks ago to protest against the present rates, which are about 50 per cent. higher than they were in 1907. The board has found their complaint well founded, and has accordingly ordered substantial reductions.

The charge for returning empty cans is, however, left at five cents per can, instead of the cans being returned free of charge, as formerly. Shippers will thus be able to hold the express companies responsible for any loss through failure to return empties.

LETTER BY LINCOLN SAVES HER POSITION

Aged Employee of Treasury, Ill, Was to Have Been Dropped.

Washington, April 3. — Forty-seven years ago, April 13, 1864, Abraham Lincoln paused in the cares of civil war for one of those kind and homely acts which have lived after him. It was to pen a personal letter to the postmaster-general, asking that official to employ Miss Susan Dugger, a young belle of Carlinsville, Ill., who was the sole support of her brother, a Union soldier, crippled at Shiloh. Miss Dugger got a position and preserved the latter religiously.

Secretary MacVeagh, after reading the same letter today, though the paper has yellowed with age and the ink is dim, ordered that Miss Dugger's name be not dropped from the treasury's list of employees, though she has been ill for more than a year. When an employee has been absent without pay that length of time it is customary to strike the name from the rolls.

Senator Cullom brought the letter to Secretary MacVeagh, who promised that Miss Dugger may have her old position if she is ever able to work again. She is now 70 years old. Miss Dugger was transferred from the postoffice to the treasury soon after President Lincoln's letter got her employment, and became an expert in detecting counterfeit money. She has handled billions of dollars, some good and many bad, during 45 years' service for the Government.

IT'S 9 BELOW ZERO IN ADIRONDACKS

Coldest April Weather in Years Is Being Recorded in Mountains.

Utica, N. Y., April 3.—At 8 o'clock this morning the thermometers of Big Moose, in the Adirondacks, registered 9 degrees below zero, and in Tupper Lake the mercury stood 3 below. This is the coldest April weather registered in the Adirondacks region in years.

Last year at this time the woods were practically free of snow, and the ice had gone out of the lakes. At present snow to a depth of five feet covers the ground and ice from 10 to 20 inches thick.

ARBITRATE WEBSTER CLAIM

Land in Dispute Between Great Britain and United States.

Vancouver, B. C., April 3. — Great Britain and the United States have agreed to arbitrate the Webster claim, involving ownership of millions of acres of land in New Zealand.

This was announced by W. G. Findlay, attorney-general at New Zealand, with Sir Henry Ward, premier of the commonwealth, who arrived today from the Antipodes. The personnel of the board has not been settled. The claimants are descendants of Capt. J. Webster, a New Bedford, Mass., whaler, who operated in the South Seas in the early '30's, making his headquarters in New Zealand before Great Britain established a Government in the islands. The claim has been pending before the American state department for years. The claimants demand compensation for lands, which, it is maintained, were given Captain Webster by various Maori chiefs. These fertile lands, after the captain's death, reverted to the crown and were subsequently occupied by settlers.

Webster, dying in the United States, left a will, bequeathing his New Zealand estate to his heirs, whose claim has been prosecuted by the United States for many years.

Recently the Imperial Government, with the consent of the New Zealand Government, agreed to arbitration.

Well-to-Do Patronage

Rather Than the Millionaire, the Feature at the Hotel St. Regis.

Said a prominent visitor to New York recently, who stopped for an extended period at the Hotel St. Regis and thus was able to judge from personal observation: "I believe that the multitude of patrons whom the St. Regis has had are among the well-to-people of the country rather than from the millionaires."

This speaker has struck the keynote of St. Regis service. The great "middle class" are its constant and satisfied patrons. These the St. Regis never fails to attract. Situated on Fifth avenue, at Fifty-fifth street, its location is ideal for visitors to New York who desire to combine business and pleasure. Far enough removed from the commercial districts to avoid the clatter and roar of business traffic, it is still within five minutes' ride of the retail shopping and theatrical centres. Its very aim is to retain "homelikeness" in its atmosphere, and to make every patron so satisfied that he will be sure to come again. The St. Regis restaurant has no superior in all the world in quality of food, skill in preparation and perfection of service; while the charges are no higher than those of other first-class hotels. Transient guests coming to New York and stopping at the Hotel St. Regis will find accommodations of the very highest grade in every particular, and at standard rates. Single rooms are $3 and $4 a day; the same with private bath for $5 a day, or $6 for two people; while for a parlor, bedroom and private bath the rates are $12 a day and up.

New York, April 3. — Philip H. Kirby, for many years private secretary to Melville E. Stone, general manager of the Associated Press, was stricken with heart disease while teaching his Sunday school class yesterday. He was carried to a pew by members of the class, but died before the two physicians who were summoned could arrive.

For several weeks, up to about one month ago, Mr. Kirby had been in a hospital as the result of an attack of pneumonia. Since then his health has caused his family much anxiety. He was a direct descendant of Joseph Brandt, the famous Indian chief, and was born 50 years ago at Toronto, Ont. He studied law at Toronto, but never practiced.

MANN IS ELECTED LEADER IN HOUSE

Republican Members of Congress Take Unanimous Action at Their Caucus.

Washington, April 3.—Representative James R. Mann, of Illinois, was unanimously chosen candidate for speaker and floor leader by the Republicans in the House of Representatives at a caucus held in the House chamber tonight. He was proposed to the caucus by Former Speaker Joseph G. Cannon and received the support of the regulars and those insurgents who were present. His indorsement means that he will receive the Republican vote in the House tomorrow when a speaker is elected, and that he will become the active head of the minority party in the House in the new Congress.

More than a dozen insurgents were not present at tonight's caucus. During the afternoon the insurgents held a meeting at which 46 were either present or accounted for. For more than four hours they discussed the party leadership and the method of filling committee assignments. While a majority of those present favored Mr. Mann as party leader and approved the plan of having a committee on committees for the Republican places, no definite action was taken on either of these proposals.

Many of those who are opposed to Mr. Mann did not attend the caucus tonight. There was no concerted action, however, toward disagreeing from the general party programme. Among the insurgents who were absent from the caucus room tonight were Representatives Norris, of Nebraska; Murdock, of Kansas; Lenroot, Nelson and Cooper, of Wisconsin; Haughen and Hubbard, of Iowa; Davis, Lindbergh and Anderson, of Minnesota, and Kent, of California. A number of other insurgents had not reached the city.

PEERS' DAUGHTERS ARE AGGRIEVED

No Seats for Them in Abbey at the Coronation Ceremonies.

London, April 4. Some new regulations which have been issued with regard to the coronation ceremonies in the case of peers' daughters have given rise to much discussion and a little heartburning, and the action in announcement that no places in the Abbey on June 22 can be allotted for their use has caused bitter disappointment. Although this may at first sight seem rather an unkind departure from the precedent and order of similar ceremonies in other reigns, the authorities had really very little choice.

To begin with the number of peers for whom accommodations must be found in the Abbey is considerably larger than it was ten years ago, and, further, room will have to be found for a far larger contingent of representatives from overseas. Last, but not least, some of the sections which were erected at the last coronation and afforded seats for a large number were thought to be unsafe, and consequently will not be available on this occasion. This is one of the points on which the King and Queen satisfied themselves personally on the occasion of their visit to the Abbey a week or two ago.

Several of the aggrieved noble ladies had, however, already provided themselves with dresses for the great occasion, and now find themselves with festal garments on their hands the very sight of which only serves to embitter their disappointment. But the powers that be are doing everything in their power to soften the blow as far as may be, and probably a certain number of peers' daughters will, by ballot, be able to obtain privilege seats in the Abbey. Still there is no help for it that the majority of them will be disappointed.

WAR ON MORMONISM.

London, April 4. — A meeting to protest against the presence of Mormon missionaries in this country will be held at the Birmingham town hall on Monday next. A number of church and civic dignitaries will attend and the lord mayor of Birmingham will preside. It is expected that this meeting will be the forerunner of others in all the more important centres where Mormonism has made itself felt in Great Britain.

EXPLOSION AT SPRINGFIELD.

Springfield, Mass., April 4. Daylight inspection of the new million dollar municipal building, the scene of an early morning dynamite explosion, allayed the fear of serious injury to the structure, which is in the process of construction, and its costly tower. The force of the explosion tore a small hole in the abutment of the tower which in the opinion of the police can be readily repaired without the removal of the upper stories already completed.

Labor troubles are hinted at as probable reasons for the explosion, which shook the city for a radius of several blocks. All the windows in the police offices were smashed by the concussion.

REFUGEES FROM MEXICO

El Paso Filling Up With Mexicans From War Zone.

[Canadian Press.]

El Paso, Texas, April 4.- The first passenger train from Casas Grandes since the battle on Feb. 6 arrived at Juarez yesterday, bringing General Samuel Garcia Cuellar, who lost an arm in the battle. Two hundred soldiers and a machine gun also arrived. Three hundred and fifty soldiers were left on duty at Casas Grandes. The foreign prisoners are still confined there.

The train came through without accident, passing on the way north the first passenger train southbound in more than a month.

Juarez is still strongly guarded as a result of the bomb explosion Sunday morning.

El Paso is rapidly filling with refugees from the war zone. They have been walking into the city for several days.

The crops have been ruined in the war zone, the food supply is exhausted and the workmen and poor people are crossing the border to earn enough to provide their families with food until another planting season arrives.

JAP TO TURN ENGLISH

And Banker Clews Wants Them in the Peace Pact.

New York, April 2. "Invite Japan to become a party to the proposed arbitration treaty between the United States and Great Britain," urged Henry Clews, the banker, who helped 50 years ago to float Government bonds to carry on the civil war. He was addressing a meeting of peace advocates in the Metropolitan Temple tonight, held under the auspices of the International Peace Forum. "No peace alliance will be complete without a representative from the Far East," he continued, "and Japan is the logical candidate for that honor.

"I predict that within the next 25 years the Japanese will be an English-speaking people, both becoming their allies in promoting peace. With England, Japan and the United States working in harmony for the maintenance of peace other nations could not, with credit to themselves, stand aloof."

The shadow of the dove of peace will rest permanently upon all Christendom within the life of the present generation, is the opinion of Henry W. Taft, a brother of President Taft, who presided at the meeting. The proposed arbitration treaty between English-speaking peoples had stimulated a movement for universal peace, which, he said, promised soon to become irresistible.

EVANGELIZE FOREIGNERS

Protestants of Toronto Planning an Active Campaign.

Toronto, April 3. — The union of the Protestant churches in Toronto, in a campaign to Christianize the foreign population of the city, was discussed and approved by the Toronto Ministerial Association today. The many ministers present were united in the belief that something must be done soon to evangelize the foreign races, particularly in the down-town district.

Rev. Dr. Bartley, of the Methodist Church, suggested that each denomination take charge of the work among some particular race. This would prevent overlapping and also insure the covering of the entire mission field.

Already this is being done in an indefinite way. The Methodist have specialized on the Italians in "the ward." The Presbyterians are doing missionary work among the Jews; the Baptists are working among the Russians and Bulgarians, and so on.

The idea was received with approval.

SHE WANTS A HUSBAND

And Has Six More at Home Like Herself.

Toronto, April 3. — The Canadian Northern Steamship Company is receiving many applications from English girls, who, as one puts it, would like to come to Canada "to be a prospective bride." From a batch of letters written by one woman here is one taken at random, and it is much like the rest of them:

"I am an English girl and would like to go to Canada, and I would like a young man for my husband, and my age is 20 on the third of May. Please let me know if you can advance the passage fare. If you do write back and let me know when you want me to come. So I will close x x x x x x x with fond love and kisses, because I am a poor girl and I would like to go somewhere from home because we are thirteen in our family, with father and mother, and we have six sisters If you would like more from the same family."

FINANCE MINISTER'S PROSPERITY TALE

Ottawa, April 3.—That Mr. Fielding's budget speech, to be made tomorrow, will tell the tale of a prosperity never before reached in the history of Canada, is what is generally expected here.

It is said that the Finance Minister will report to the House the biggest surplus ever held by the Canadian treasury — a surplus of about twenty-seven million dollars.

It is estimated that the revenue of the Dominion will be between one hundred and seventeen and one hundred and eighteen millions, or enough to pay for the whole of the Transcontinental, as well as other items belonging to the capital account.

Thousand Settlers, Mostly French-Canadians, From the New Eugland States Leaving Montreal Today for Saskatchewan and Alberta.

[Canadian Press.]

Montreal, April 4. — A thousand settlers for various points in Manitoba, Saskatchewan and Alberta left by the G. T. R. today to find new homes along the line of the Grand Trunk Pacific in the far Canadian west. Almost all of these are French-Canadians, most of them from the New England States. The rest are Canadians from various points in this province, who are going west to aid in the historic work of the French race in extending the boundaries of the Dominion.

The first special train left Bonaventure station at 9:45 this morning, and will carry chiefly New England French people for points in Saskatchewan. The party will be in charge of Father Gagne, a Saskatchewan missionary, who has made a specialty of getting his compatriots from the New England States to settle in the Canadian west, especially Saskatchewan.

The second train will leave the Bonaventure station at 10:30 tonight, and will be bound for points in Alberta. The train will carry some five hundred persons, in charge of Father Ouellette, who is a colonizing missionary for that province, and the settlers will find homes at various points, chiefly along the line of the Grand Trunk Pacific.

The Express Delivery Limits Defined

Ottawa, April 3.—The Dominion Railway commission has just issued an order in regard to the much complained of "delivery limits" of the express companies.

In the past the companies have set up areas in cities and towns in which they will collect or deliver parcels. People living outside those areas, yet within the boundaries of the municipalities, have for years given voice to their grievance.

The commission, in its judgment, after hearing both sides of the question, makes collection and deliveries within municipal boundaries compulsory, starting June 1 next, but it gives an opportunity to the companies to ask for relief in special cases.

HEAD OF THE MINERS SAYS STRIKE GOES ON

Sends Word That He Expects Big Walk Out in the West To Be Sustained.

[Canadian Press.]

Fernie, B.C., April 4.—The executive board of the miners is in session this morning. Vice President Stubbs, District 18, is chairman of the delegation in conference with the international officers today. He says that he expects the strike to be extended. All interests, both like and labor workers, are awaiting the conclusion of the Indianapolis conference. The strike officials threaten to call out the other men in the Corbin camps because it is selling coal to the C. P. R. coal trainmen, but it is said that the agreement with the United Mine Workers prohibits restrictions of output where companies employ union men. The Corbin camp miners' agreement expires May 1, and the men do not want to quit on account before that time. Manager Roberts, of the Corbin district, is here trying to negotiate a new agreement for his section. Meantime the entire strike district is quiet and no coal is being mined.

NEW BASEBALL LEAGUE

Ottawa, Farnham, Quebec and Granby to Form a Circuit.

[Canadian Press.]

Montreal, April 4. — At a meeting of the Montreal Professional Baseball League last evening, the first business was the adoption of the revised schedule as drafted by the president, Mr. Joe Page, which was unanimously adopted with the understanding that the games shall take place as scheduled, weather permitting. Many of the teams outside of town were anxious to have games with the members of the league, and stood ready to arrange regular series of games if same could be arranged. This was left in the hands of the president.

Ottawa, Farnham, Granby and several others, including Quebec, were among those anxious to arrange such a schedule. The next order of business gave power to the president appointing four official scorers and the double umpire system. Another thing that was passed was the approval and adoption of the rain check system.

HANGING STAKE IN GAME

Two Murderers Play Seven-Up in Denver Cell.

Denver, April 4.—A game of seven-up, with the stake a hangman's noose, was played by two condemned murderers in their cell at the county jail. The players were Michael H. Murphy, whose sentence had been fixed at life imprisonment by the jury that found him guilty of the murder of his former sweetheart, Anatolia Wonderlic; the other, Wechter, adjudged guilty of murdering W. Clifford Burrowes. In his case the jury had fixed hanging as the punishment.

But the game was not finished, for Murphy was taken into court to be sentenced to life imprisonment by Judge Bliss.

"You need not look to this court for any mitigation of your sentence," said Judge Bliss.

Wechter was dealing in the game. "Let's play for sentences," said he to Murphy, his cell mate. "If I win I'll take your place. If I lose I'll take my own medicine. It's my life against yours," said Murphy, and the game started, never to be finished.

WEALTHIEST NEGRO DEAD.

Philadelphia, April 4.—After a long illness, John Trower, reputed to have been the wealthiest negro in the United States, died today at his home in Germantown, a suburb. Mr. Trower, whose fortune is said to amount to $1,500,000, was prominent in church work and founded a Baptist seminary in Downingtown, Pa., near here. He was 61 years old.

ROW ON THE MARKET COST ONE A HAT

Butchers in a Mix-Up Following Argument Over Meat.

John Stover, of Belmont, was fined $2 and costs, amounting to $2.85, and was ordered to pay for a new hat when he was found guilty by Deputy Magistrate Graydon today of assaulting George Falls, of Dorchester. Both men are butchers, and Stover alleged that Falls was trying to run him off the market and had made remarks regarding some meat he had for sale. Falls denied the charges absolutely. Stover admitted that he had struck Falls.

"The only thing I can do is to fine you," said the court. "You broke this man's hat and you must make the damage good."

Organist Colborne Street Methodist Church

Mr. Jordan, the organist of Colborne Street Methodist Church, speaks of New Scale Williams Pianos in the following terms:

"The people of Western Ontario know of my connection with the piano trade, and I wish to take this opportunity of saying that I have always considered the Williams Piano one of our very best Canadian makes, but it was only after visiting the factory at Oshawa a few weeks ago and spending three days with the workmen there that I fully understood what a great piano the Williams Company were manufacturing; in fact, my eyes were opened by the careful work which is put on the Great New Scale Piano. I have always thought of the Heintzman piano as being the leader on our Canadian market, but had to change my opinion after visiting nearly all the leading piano factories of this Province. Without doubt, the New Scale Williams Piano is a marvel both in tone and construction, and the honest principle of selling which was shown to me so clearly places the Williams Company in the front rank of progressive firms in this country. I might say that the Williams Piano Company are making to my order a special instrument for use in my studio, and my parents in Toronto, who have always used Heintzman Co. pianos, are also having a New Scale Piano made to order to replace their present instrument. I have every confidence in recommending the New Scale Williams Piano as the highest grade and best piano made in Canada, and the musician's ideal piano.

"JOHN EAST JORDAN,
"Organist Colborne Street Methodist Church."

Organist First Methodist Church

The Williams Piano Company, Oshawa:

Gentlemen, I have very much pleasure in testifying to the merits of your New Scale Williams Piano. The brilliancy and flexibility of tone, together with the delightful action, makes this instrument one that will satisfy the demands of the most exacting musician.

I congratulate you on the excellence to which you have brought the New Scale Williams Piano. Sincerely yours,

ALBERT D. JORDAN,
Organist First Methodist Church.

FINES FOR SPITTERS IN THE FUTURE

Magistrate Determined to Put Stop to Disgusting Habit.

After today all persons whom the police find spitting on the sidewalks will be fined if they are brought before Magistrate Graydon. The last of those summoned appeared before him today and the six young men were all let go with a warning.

"There have been enough cases up now to thoroughly warn the public," said the court. "Any others who come up now will be fined. This bylaw must be enforced, as spitting on the walks is a general nuisance and a menace to the health of the citizens."

DEMAND FOR FUR HAS SPREAD PLAGUE

Animal Resembling a Muskrat Carries Germ of Deadly Disease.

Pekin, April 4.- From all descriptions, the hanta or tarbagan, to which the deadly plague is directly traceable, much resembles the prairie dog or the muskrat in its habits of life, and perhaps appearance. It is a burrowing animal, somewhat larger than a marmot. The Chinese name, "hanta" carries the literal translation of "land otter." "Tarbagan" is the Mongol name—or the Siberian—and seems to be generally used by the Russians.

Up to three years ago there was no demand for tarbagan or hanta skins. The natives did not use them, having so many other and larger animals from which to draw their supply of furs. Then some enterprising European furrier discovered that when dyed the skins of these little animals might be passed as sable upon unsuspecting buyers in Europe and America, and since then there has been a very considerable demand, and the rapid rise in value from a few kopecks to roubles was a sufficient incentive to direct the attention of hunters to them.

Times to Catch Them.

The old-time Mongol hunters, through long experience, had learned that there were times when the hanta was to be avoided as one would avoid the evilest of evil spirits. Ordinarily this little animal is exceedingly wily and of movement so swift as to keep it from the clutches of all save the most skillful trappers. But these come times when he is sluggish and slothful, and then he is easy prey.

It is at these times that he is, according to the lore of Mongol hunters who make headquarters about Jehol, to be avoided, if one would avoid certain death.

In the last few years—especially since the Russo-Japanese war—the tide of migration has carried many Chinese from over-populated Shantung up to Manchuria and into the lands across the Siberian border. These pioners of China's expanding nationalism were new to the business of hunting and trapping, but none the less keen than their nomadic neighbors in supplementing the slender income from agricultural pursuits by traffic in skins.

New Trappers Careless.

To these, the Mongol talk about danger in pursuing the elusive hanta sounded like old women's tales. The stories told them of certain death striking those who handled the hanta in the times of his slothfulness were put down as mere coincidence.

The hanta was easy to trap at these times, its skin was valuable.

So the hanta was caught, and with him came death, as

The first appearance of the dread disease was at Manchuli, where it seems to have been brought in by the hunters from the north, that is, from Russia's Transbaikala. The Chinese say this is evidence that it was carried by natives of that territory—Russian subjects. The Russian story places the responsibility upon the Chinese hunters, who had come in from the region surrounding Hallar. Both agree, however, in tracing the source to the hanta or tarbagan.

REV. MR. M'INTOSH FORMALLY INDUCTED

Impressive Ceremony in King Street Presbyterian Church Last Night.

At the induction of Rev. W. R. McIntosh, B. D., the new pastor of King Street Presbyterian Church, last evening, Rev. J. C. Robinson, of Dutton, preached on "The All-Important Question," his text being Matthew, xxii, 42: "What think ye of Christ?"

"Christ constantly abides with us," said the speaker, "and actually condescends to dwell with us in the secret chambers of the human heart unto the end of time. Others may come and go, but Jesus Christ abides with us forever.

"If we love Christ we will love our Bibles, the church, the Sabbath, to keep it holy, and we will love our neighbors. If we love Christ we will love our bodies wherein he dwells. We will not defile with evil the bodies of ourselves or others.

"Christ is the magnet that lifts all men up, drawing them towards him. This is the true test of character to raise up others as well as ourselves. Destiny is determined by character. An outward profession of the orthodox religion is one thing. An inner attachment to Christ is another thing.

"As a man thinketh in his heart, so is he. If our thoughts are right, they will soon find their expression in noble deeds. It does not matter what we believe. To believe one wrong thing concerning Christ may mean our destruction."

Following Rev. Mr. Robinson's sermon, Rev. Thomas H. Mitchell, as interim moderator, described the steps which had been taken leading up to the induction of Rev. Mr. McIntosh. Following the departure of Rev. Mr. Rollins, the charge had been declared vacant on Dec. 25. On Feb. 22 Rev. Mr. McIntosh had been called, and this call had been sustained by the London Presbytery on March 6. On March 21 the call had been prosecuted before the Guelph Presbytery, and Rev. Mr. McIntosh had accepted it.

The Ceremony.

The formal ceremony of induction was then presided over by Rev. Dr. Nixon, after which Rev. Peter E. Nichol, of Knollwood, addressed the charge of the presbytery to the new minister.

"God works through his teachers and pastors," said Rev. Mr. Nichol, and through the agency of his Holy Word. By teaching the truth of God's Word, and by waiting often on God, the pastor can best help and lift up men to higher things."

Rev. E. I. Pidgeon, of St. Thomas, addressed the congregation. "Man's capacity to learn," said Rev. Mr. Pidgeon, "is the trait which marks him off from the lower animal creation. The church trains the heart and soul, just as the university and lecture hall train the intellect. Every man is a personalized type of the common life about him. We simply grow up to assimilate that which is about us. The power which the church has given to society is what makes man all the best that he is. The church is a quiet and silent power in the community for good.

"The very influences which have raised the church's critics above the church they criticise have come from the church.

"You owe to your church a service which never grows weary, a loyalty which never changes, and a love that sees faults only to right them."

There was a very large attendance at the induction service.

A MADMAN AMUCK AT ST. PETER'S, ROME

Shoots at Canons While They Were Reciting the Breviary.

[Canadian Press.]

Rome, April 4. — A man, subsequently identified as Pietro Pesanti, and thought to be insane, entered St. Peter's today armed with a revolver, and without warning fired upon the canons, who were engaged in the recitation of the breviary "in choir." The shot went wild and the man was seized and placed under arrest. He fought savagely and slightly wounded a policeman. The worshipers were much alarmed until the madman was secured.

FARMERS KEPT BACK BY BAD WEATHER

Unable Yet to Commence Seeding—But It's Fine for the Coalman.

One year ago the great majority of the farmers of Middlesex had finished seeding, and were engaged in other work, but up to the present the weatherman has failed to provide the proper conditions and temperature for commencement of the work.

Local coal dealers are delighted with the outlook while the farmers are discouraged. It is reported that a number of the coalmen are running short in their supply in stove sizes as they did not anticipate such a lengthy season.

The street railway company has been ready to commence work on the reconstruction of the line on Dundas street between Wellington and Richmond streets for a couple of weeks, but as yet nothing further than the placing of the cross-overs has been accomplished.

It is estimated that it will take about three weeks to complete two blocks, as ten days are required for the concrete to set, alone. Good time will be made on the straightaway lines, but the greatest task will be the construction of the intricate mass at the corner of Dundas and Richmond sreets. It is not known how the service will be operated while this is torn up, but it may be necessary to avoid crossing there for a couple of days at least.

NEW YORK, April 4.—(Noon)—After the first few minutes the market wavered to some extent under a lessening demand, and recessions were in order in nearly all the stocks in which there is activity. Canadian Pacific has become established as a speculative favorite, and the room traders, as well as outside operators, are more disposed to take a position in that stock than anything else on the floor. The upturn this morning continued after the opening, advancing to 227½, a new high record. There was some covering of shorts on this advance, the trading element on the floor now including it in its operations, were not disposed to a bearish position in the market. London was a moderate buyer, but its transactions in C. P. R. seemed a purely speculative one. The general list reflected moderate covering, which with the scant supply of stocks on the market was easily effective in causing some sharp advances. General comment on the market was that the uncertainty prevailing on Monday had created an oversold condition, and some further covering on shorts might be expected until the flating short account is practically eliminated.

The stock market was generally steady, with Canadian Pacific the feature on further heavy general buying. Investment securities were active and foreign shares and Kaffirs steadier, but Mexican railways declined on realizing. American securities opened steady and a traction higher. During the forenoon Canadian Pacific was active and strong, and gained 3½ points, while the rest of the list advanced from ¼ to ⅞. The improvement was maintained on Wall street buying in the afternoon, and the market closed steady.

An Egg Record.

The goose that laid the golden egg may have been purely a myth, but Mr. Joseph Winters, of concession 9, London Township, has a real live duck which is almost as wonderful. This marvellous fowl on Sunday last performed the prodigious feat of laying four large-sized eggs. In other respects this remarkable bird is just a common-place, ordinary duckling.

No More Applications To Be Received For the Present.

Postmaster Dr. MacDonald states that no more applications will be received for a while from boys or men desiring to enter the navy, as all the vacancies are filled. London is represented in the navy by four of her citizens. Considering that this is an inland city, it is regarded as a very creditable showing.

SOME FRICTION OVER DUMOULIN'S SUCCESSOR

Rev. Mr. Kerr Criticises Method Taken To Name Bishop.

Hamilton, April 4. — Trouble is already brewing in connection with the appointment of a successor to the late Bishop Dumoulin. To avoid any friction between the high and low church factions, Canon Howitt and Canon Sutherland, representing the high and low clergy of the church, sent out a circular calling a meeting, at which it was hoped to agree on a candidate.

Rev. Robert Ker, of St. Catharines, has written an open letter denouncing this action as lacking decency and good taste. Now there promises to be friction between the laity and the clergy in the matter of the appointment.

WOMAN'S ART ACADEMY

Protest Against Sex Is Not Included in Burlington House Hierarchy.

London, April 4.—There is a movement on foot for the earl yestablishment in London of a woman's academy of art as a kind of practical protest against the fact that not a single woman artist is included among the members or associates of the Royal Academy. It was contended that women painters entitled on their merits to inclusion in the hierarchy of Burlington House are systematically passed over solely on account of their sex.

As a matter of fact the Royal Academy has no absolute rule in the matter, though it is undeniable that no woman has ever reached the charmed circle of the "forty" since the days of Angelica Kauffmanı, or hos even been accorded an associateship. Lady Butler (Miss Elizabeth Tshompson), the painter of some famous battle pictures, was narrowly defeated as a candidate for election nearly a generation ago, but since then no artist of her sex has even been regarded in the running for academy honors.

In this connection it is perhaps intresting to note that the rare honor of commissioning a presentation portrait from a woman artist, has recently been paid to two women painters. One is an Austrian woman, resident in Paris, to whom the King gave a sitting at Buckingham Palace the other day for a portrait which she is doing for his majestys Austro-Hungarian regiment of artillery. The other is Miss Canziani, daughter of Mme. Starr-Canziani, who has just put the finishing touches to a portrait of Sir George Gibb, the president of the road board.

A BIG POSITION FOR DR. ROBERTSON

May Be Made Commissioner of Dominion Agriculture.

Ottawa, April 4.—Since the announcement of the appointment of J. H. Grisdale to the position of director of Dominion experimental farms, specualtion has been active as to what will be the nature of the appointment of Dr. J. W. Robertson, now chairman of the technical education commission. It has been known for some time that the Government does not intend to let his services slip out of reach, and he was rumored as the probable appointee of the farm directorship. It is hinted in government circles, however, that he is in line for something bigger, probably commissioner of Dominion agriculture, a new post. At present the department of agriculture includes branches diverse from that industry, such as patents branch, director-general of public health, Dominion archives, census branch and registrar of trade and commerce. It is said that Dr. Robertson may be placed at the head of the purely agricultural branches, and the others put under the mangament of the present deputy minister of agriculture.

FIRE DRILLS FOR FACTORY EMPLOYEES

Hamilton to Ask Government to Make Them Compulsory.

Hamilton, April 4.—The city will likely appeal to the Ontario Government for power to compel factories to have fire drills for their employees. Puilding Inspector Anderson made the suggestion to the controllers today. He related how recently there was a panic on the top floor of a big factory here when fire started. Only two girls ran to the fire escape. The rest rushed to the stairs, choking the exit, and several fainted.

TOWN NEAR OTTAWA RAVAGED BY FLAMES

Stittville Almost Wiped Out by Fire This Morning.

Ottawa, April 4.—Fire at Stittsville, Ont., a little town on the C. P. R., about 25 miles west of Ottawa, came near wiping out the place this morning. Assistance was summoned from Ottawa and Carleton Place, but the fire was under control before it was sent. The loss is about $30,000, the destroyed buildings being several stores, a foundry and other buildings. A gale blowing at the time made the blaze a dangerous one.

Ottawa, April 4.—Hon. George P. Graham was asked this morning for a statement of the Government's position in regard to the gigantic scheme of Engineers Kerr and Tye for a solution of Ottawa's railway entrance problem, which embodies diverting the Rideau Canal outlet here, and the construction of a tunnel under the city.

The Minister of Railways and Canals said, however, that pending a report by Government engineers, he could not speak authoritatively. One thing certain though was that the Government, while it might agree to the proposition if feasible, would not agree to stand the cost of building a new canal outlet. That would have to be done by the parties directly interested—the city and the railways.

The scheme is so great, involving transportation interests by rail and water, and affecting towns all along the Rideau from Ottawa to Kingston, that an exhaustive inquiry will precede the Government's consent to it.

"NE TEMERE" DISCUSSION

Rev. Father Burke Replies to Criticism of Ministers.

Toronto, April 3.—Rev. Arthur Burke, editor of the Catholic Register, in replying to some ministerial critics of "Ne Temere" decree said today:

"The whole turmoil is dishonest and mistaken. As Cardinal Logue stated the other day, the 'Ne Temere' is intended to save poor innocent Protestant girls from designing Catholic boys and as such it should have the kiss and not the kick of those would-be 'Protestant champlons.'"

The Toronto Ministerial Association at its meeting today did not take action on the decree, but referred it back to the committee appointed to deal with it. One member of the association stated that the legal advice received had been of such a complicated and involved nature that no immediate action could be taken. It is hoped, however, that in the course of two weeks the matter will be in such shape that the course of the association will be decided.

It is understood that constitutional questions are involved and the matter of the autonomy of various provinces is affected.

MISSION ENTERPRISE OF HURON DIOCESE

Convention of Women's Auxiliary Society Opened Today.

The convention of the Women's Auxiliary Missionary Society of Huron Diocese, opened this morning in St. Paul's Cathedral when Bishop Williams delivered an able and instructive sermon to the delegates from the text, Romans' x., 14, "How then shall they call on him in whom they have not believed, and how shall they believe in him of whom they have not heard, and how shall they hear without a preacher?"

"The gospel itself," said the bishop, "is light divine in its origin, nature and authority. It is the power of God unto the salvation of men. But the means of propagating it are human. The church must send out the messengers of the gospel.

"God might have chosen other means for the propagation of the gospel. He might have converted the world by a word or a fiat, or by a marvellous universal display, but he did not choose to do so. By the method which he has adopted he enlists the interests and sympathies of men on his side. God has called us into a share of his innermost life and love.

"His chosen method also strengthens human brotherhood by making every man his brother's keeper. Human energy is responsible for the progress of the church. Human indolence is responsible for its stagnation. It remains for each one to do some part faithfully, for the chain is no stronger than its weakest link, and when one fails to do his or her part, the chain is broken.

"You can bring disciples to Christ at home as well as in heathen lands. Let us try to be worthy of the great trust which God has placed in us."

Rev. Dean Davis and Rev. Principal Waller assisted in the service.

This afternoon the board of management met at 2 o'clock, and the annual meeting of the society was held at 3, when reports were received from the different officers and committees.

Tonight the various committees will meet separately and tomorrow general meetings will be held. Tomorrow evening an open missionary rally will be held in Cronyn Hall, when addresses will be given by Dr. Gould, the new general secretary of the Church of England in Canada; Miss Harris, a returned missionary from Cairo, Egypt, and the Bishop of Huron.

A MAMMOTH STORE

Hudson's Bay to Erect One at Winnipeg at a Cost of $2,000,000.

[Canadian Press.]

Winnipeg, April 4.—The Hudson's Bay Company has completed its plans for a mammoth new store on Portage avenue, between Colony and Vaughan streets, to cost, with the site, $2,000,000. The site alone is half the total, and the plans are in the hands of a prominent Winnipeg architect. This is the first definite announcement of the purchase by the Hudson's Bay Company of the site in question, and it is now known through the arrival of a dispatch from the company's Canadian headquarters in Montreal. Work is expected to begin on the ground at once in order that the new store may be ready for the fall and Christmas trade.

CUBAN CONGRESS.

Havana, April 4.—The Cuban Congress reconvened today and received the presidential message, in which President Gomez announces the continuance of peace and order throughout the republic. During the past two years the public debt has been reduced $3,465,000, and there has been unprecedented activity in the construction of railroads, highways and public buildings. The sugar crop has been large, in spite of the lack of rain, and the sanitary conditions in the island are excellent.

The present prosperity of the country, says the president, is most gratifying, and the outlook most encouraging.

STRIKE ON NORTHERN PACIFIC.

Rosiyn, Wash., April 4.—Three thousand coal miners employed in the mines of the Northwestern Improvement Company, subsidiary of the Northern Pacific Railroad, went on strike yesterday as a result of a disagreement over the open shop. The mines affected are at Roslyn, Cleelum, Jonesville and Ronald.

CHEWED THE MESSAGE.

Agua Prieta, Mexico, April 4.—It was reported in Cananea today that Wm. Norman, a British subject, had been arrested at Puapac, Sonora, charged with carrying messages from Madero for Juan Cabral. When arrested by the federals Norman chewed the message to a pulp. He was taken to jail at Arizpe. Thirteen prisoners have been taken from Cananea to Hermosillo, charged with sedition.

A SWEEPING PROBE.

Toronto, April 4.—Judge Winchester intends to make a clean sweep in his investigation of the board of education. The city council having passed a motion widening the scope of the inquiry, the judge will probe the letting of coal contracts and also the sale of different sites for school buildings, concerning which there have been rumors of graft. Inquiry will not go on for a week owing to the absence of Alfred Rogers, of the Elias Rogers Company.

NOT ENOUGH FIGHTING.

Chicago, April 4.—General Kaid Belton, the young Englishman who commanded the army which deposed the late Sultan Abdul Aziz, of Morocco, in the revolution there, entered as a student at the Chicago School of Aviation yesterday and expects to complete his course in a few months. He came to Chicago several days ago, and gives desire for excitement as his reason for studying aviation. General Belton said:

"My game is dying out. There is less and less fighting and I must have adventure, consequently I decided on aviation."

JUDGMENT IN WILL CASE.

Toronto, April 4.—Mr. Justice Middleton gave judgment, holding that Rose Wadsworth is entitled to dower in the estate of her husband, J. A. J. Wadsworth, of Ottawa, as well as to the provision made for her in his will made in 1906. J. A. J. Wadsworth died Oct. 24, 1910, and by his will left two-thirds of the net income from the entire estate to his wife and children till the youngest is 21 years of age. After that date or after his wite has married again she is to get three-sevenths of the net income. Mr. Justice Middleton declared that the widow by asserting her claim would no doubt reduce the income, and it is two-thirds of the reduced income that is to be paid her.

TASCHEREAU BETTER.

Ottawa, April 4.—Sir Elzar Taschereau, of the judicial committee of the privy council, who was stricken with paralysis some weeks ago, is now convalescent, though his physicians have not yet allowed him out of doors. It is probable he will visit England this summer, if his health is sufficiently restored.

In 1564 a woman introduced starch into England. She was a Mrs. Dingham, a Dutch woman, wife of a coachman in the service of the queen. The England of her day blossomed into ruffs, enormous, snowy, until the tight little island looked like a huge snowdrift. These ruffs were a foot wide and stood straight out, starched stiff as a board, on men and women alike. They were gotten up with a "poking stick" until they were a marvel to behold, and propped up with a framework of wire underneath. All the women of the kingdom were driven to the starch bowl, and they used starch in all colors of the rainbow. "A certain kind of liquid matter which they call starch, wherein the devil hath willed them to die their ruff," is the way one crabbed old chronicler puts it.—New Idea Woman's Magazine.

MORE LIGHT ON STREET LIGHTING

City Council Last Night Refused to Sanction Contract for the Year.

$10,000 PAID ON ACCOUNT

But the Other $20,000 Must Wait Until Such Times as the Figures Are Inquired Into.

The city council broke a long-distance record last night, when it took them two hours and 40 minutes to discuss No. 3 committee's report. The most of the time was taken up with the recommendation of the committee that the water commissioners be paid the same amount for street lighting that the London Electric were paid last year. The council decided to lay the matter over for further consideration, but they ordered a check for the sum of $10,000 issued in favor of the commission to pay for light already consumed.

When Ald. Ashplant moved that the commission be paid the same sum as the London Electric formerly received, Ald. Mitchell made strong objections. "I do not think we are prepared to state that we are getting value for our money," he declared. "In fact, I am convinced that we are not getting it. We are not getting the voltage, nor the amperage the London Electric furnished us. The lights are 45-candlepower, not 60. There are other things in the consideration of this problem that need explaining. I move that the contract lay over."

Ald. Stevenson's Opinion.

Ald. Stevenson pointed out that Mr. Kelsch, in his report to the city council, recommended that the city pay the same sum for street lighting as paid under the old system until such a time as the enterprise was on its feet.

It is not a question of whether or not we are getting value for our money—although a lot of people think we are," said Ald. Stevenson. "It is our duty to pay the price asked. We are partners in this business, and we should stand by each other until we get the thing right. We have no method of finding out what the voltage was under the London Electric system. We do know that the streets were never before so well lighted."

"We want to be convinced that we are getting value for our money," said Ald. Eckert. "I would suggest that the commissioners be paid some money on account, and in the meantime we can find out just where we stand."

Superintendent Glaubitz explained that the commissioners intended installing 250 more lights, for which there would be no charge. Any lights above that number would have to be paid for by the council. He pointed out that the commissioners were lighting 24 more miles of streets than the London Electric illuminated in the past.

"It is a fair bargain, and I am in favor of it," said Ald. Donnelly. "You can talk about watts, and whatnots, but this is a straight business deal. The commissioners are dealing fairly, and we never had the city lighted like it is at the present moment."

Paying Too Much.

"We are told that we are paying too much for the lights," said Ald. Wilson. "I do not think we are. I would like to get the lights cheaper if we could, but we cannot, so let us be fair."

"We were told once upon a time that we would get the lights for half price," said Ald. Saunders. "We have not got them yet. It looks very much to me as if the commissioners and No. 3 cannot figure out the price. They follow the London Electric's figures in every case. Why do you not submit your own figures? If you are not getting enough, let us pay the price. If lighting is going to cost us $35,000 a year, let us pay it; but we want our own independent figures. If the commissioners paid as much attention to the price of power as to salaries and increases, we might get light for much less."

Ald. Eckert took the ground that the city should not pay any more for power than any other consumer. Other customers were getting power much cheaper than the city.

Ald. Tancock considered that the city council are being greatly overcharged when they had to pay $120 per horsepower for lighting the streets, when others were getting it for $30.

"It has been stated that we are using 288-horsepower on the streets," said Ald. Mitchell. "I do not believe that. I do not think we are getting more than 160. The cost of maintenance—$12,000—is beyond all question too high. If the system costs that much it is too expensive, and should be changed. It is a country village style, anyway."

Chairman Pocock.

Chairman Pocock, in addressing the council, stated that so far as he was concerned, he courted the fullest investigation into the matter. The council overlooked the fact that practically the whole outlay of $235,000 was made for street lighting. Had it not been for that, there would have been no necessity for so extended a system. Eventually, the poles, etc., would be used for street lighting as well as power and light customers. When the latter bore their proportion of the cost, then street lighting would have to come down in price. In the meantime, the commissioners had no alternative but to charge the higher price. Experts have agreed, he continued, that the system installed in London was the very best. Toronto was paying $260,000 per annum for this kind of lighting as compared with $125,000 for the old kind.

"We are not trying to overcharge," continued Mr. Pocock. "There was a tacit agreement that the city should pay us the same price for street lighting as under the old regime. We do not object to the council sending it back. We will submit the matter to arbitration, or we will settle it any way satisfactory to the council. You cannot fail to see, I think, that we are offering you a first-class proposition."

Ald. Richter then moved that the clause be referred back for further consideration, and that the members of the council be supplied with copies of Superintendent Glaubitz's report on the question, together with a map of the city showing the present layout of lights. Ald. Eckert seconded the motion.

Council Made Mistake.

"The whole trouble was caused by this council," said Ald. Stevenson. "We voted for this system of street lighting, and if there is any mistake we have made it."

"The big mistake was made when we handed this business over to the water commissioners," said Ald. Saunders. "They have wasted enough money on engineers to have paid much of the cost of street lighting."

"We have listened all night, but we have not heard a suggestion," said Ald. Donnelly. "What is the use of sending it back to No. 3 committee. We are well satisfied with it."

"That is what should be the case with all the aldermen," said Ald. Cooper. "We should be satisfied. But we are not. We were told that the workingman would be able to light his house at the price of a tallow candle, and we would have street lighting at half the cost. We do not forget those things. Now we are taxed to the limit for street lighting. It is fine business."

Mayor Beattie pointed out that the council and commissioners were partners in the business, and that they should get along amicably. There should be no division. It was the people's project, and the council should stand behind it. The commissioners wanted to make the enterprise pay, and they were doing their best. It was the purpose of the commission, as Chairman Pocock explained, to pay off $14,500 sinking fund and interest on $235,000 this year, and it would be necessary to have the full price for light now in order to do this. The council was being relieved of that burden.

However, Ald. Richter's motion to lay it over, carried. Later Ald. Eckert moved that the commission be paid $10,000 on account, and that motion passed without difficulty.

AMATEUR CONTORTIONISTS AT "CLOCK" CORNER

Many Pedestrians This Morning Prey of the Slippery Walks.

"There's many a slip, 'twixt the asphalt and hip" was a parody of terrors that obsessed the minds of Dundas street pedestrians this morning. Had you stood in the neighborhood of London's traffic centre, the old clock corner, you might have counted three and four people within the brief space of thirty seconds recline backward at a momentum and angle of disinclination that varied directly with the sex, age, costume, size and understanding of the impromptu performers. Amateur night at the roller rink is not nearly so amusing. Strangely reluctant to drop down gracefully when the spirit moved them, the foolish creatures contorted their bodies into all sorts of fantastic shapes. After the manner of a physical culturist they extended either hands sideways, backwards, forwards, heavenwards, downwards, alternately and together, stood first on one foot and then on the other, circled about helplessly, and at last came to earth either in spiral or longitudinal fashion.

A portly dame in a hobble skirt, with an umbrella and paper parcel containing a hair-net, some lace embroidery and a box of toothpicks, moved first unto the lcy stage of life. Evidently she had not rehearsed her parts and her performance was brief and touching.

Then came a sweet young thing, with mincing steps and discriminating manner. Shyly she passed under the cynosure of the audience and made her bow. With pretty movements she balanced on the atmosphere first in one direction and then the opposite, and finally dropped after the charming manner of a Salome dancer.

Old ladies, carefully avoiding the centre of the stage, walked gingerly on the street car tracks. Several workingmen came boldly on and fell flat without ceremony. But the greatest diversion of all was provided by an old chap, who with gritty perseverance rather than touch the earth bodily, cavorted about on all fours, for full fifteen seconds, after the fashion of a dancing bear.

Later in the morning the liberal application of sand and sawdust made the old street once more a safe walking place.

7TH BOYS UNDECIDED REGARDING 24TH MAY

First Drill of the Season Was Held by Full Regiment Last Night.

There was a splendid turnout of the men of the Seventh Regiment at the Armories last night when the first drill of the season, in which all the companies took part, was held. Prior to last night the regiment has been divided into two halves, and each half drilled by itself.

Col. Cumpbell was much pleased with the big turnout last night.

"It is the largest attendance we have ever had at an opening drill," said Major McCrimmon to The Advertiser. "Every company was well represented."

The battalion in command of Col. Campbell were put through a number of manoeuvres.

Captain Brown, who was recently gazetted captain of "D" Company, took charge last night.

The 24th of May.

After the drill was concluded, the officers had an informal discussion regarding what they will do on May 24. Nothing definite was decided upon, but it is generally thought that the regiment will spend the holiday out of the city. Many of the officers and men would favor going to Sarnia again, but others think that while Sarnia is a splendid place it would be as well to go somewhere else for a change and go back to the lakeside some other year.

The matter will be discussed later, and the officers expect to hear from some places where the people would like to have the regiment over the holiday.

At last night's drill the band turned out more than 40 strong and rendered a programme in the Armories that was much enjoyed.

It the weather permits, next Monday night there will be a route march about the city.

ACCIDENTALLY KILLED.

Buckingham, April 3.—The body of James Belter, aged 15 years, son of a prominent farmer, was found on the St. Malachi road, nine miles from here, with a bullet hole in the breast, on Saturday. He left home on Tuesday in company with another lad named Edward Kelly and had a shotgun. They were going into the bush to cut wood. The coroner and sheriff consulted today and decided the affair was accidental.

R. W. BRO. SPENCER PAID OFFICIAL VISIT

Tuscan Lodge, A., F. and A. M., Welcomed D. D. G. M. Last Night.

The official visit of Rt. Wor. Bro. J. C. Spencer, D. D. G. M., St. Thomas to Tuscan Lodge, A., F. and A. M., was paid last night. He was accompanied by a number of the brethren from St. Thomas, and there were many visitors from Toronto, Thorndale, Woodstock, and other places.

Wor. Bro. W. H. Abbott and his officers exemplified the first degree in faultless style. On the conclusion of the work the members of Tuscan Lodge were congratulated on the excellent showing.

When the lodge arose, a banquet was held in the temple, Wor. Bro. Abbott presided, and there were speeches by Rt. Wor. Bro. Spencer, Wor. Bro. Finley Marshall, Bro. Freeman (Toronto), Wor. Bro. Angus Elliott, Wor. Bro. W. S. Davidson, and others. A very pleasant hour was spent.

It was announced that a lodge of instruction for the London district would be held in this city on May 16. The M. Wor. the Grand Master Judge Mawatt will be present, and it is possible that he will be accompanied by a number of the prominent brethren of the craft.

At this session the first degree will be exemplified by Tuscan Lodge, the second degree by St. George's Lodge and the third by Kilwinning Lodge. It is expected that this gathering will be one of the largest held in many years in connection with Masonry in London.
