Relevant interrogatories will not be set aside. Applications to strike out interrogatories are extremely rare, as under O. 31, r. 6, of the Judicature Act, 1909, objection to interrogatories may be taken in affidavit in answer, even though no application has been made to set them aside.

Leveque v. Lambert, 42 N.B.R. 336.

INTERROGATORIES — ARTICULATED FACTS — ANSWERS — DEFINITENESS — QUE. C.P. 367.

To articulated facts it is necessary for the interrogated party to answer affirmatively or negatively to each question: It is sufficient to give answers that are not either vague, evasive or ambiguous. The interrogated party may answer thus: "The sum has not yet been paid, some delay having been granted."

Ives v. Moisan, 16 Que. P.R. 147.

(§ II—9)—RETURN — CERTIFICATE—OATH — SUPPLEMENTARY.

The return of a commission to take evidence should contain a certificate that the commissioner took the oath required by law; if it does not, the return will be rejected. However, the party in charge of the commission may have a supplementary return of the oath prepared. An application to strike out the answer to an interrogation in the commission will not be granted at the receipt of the return but should be reserved for the judge at the trial to deal with.

Cameron v. Montreal Tramways, 15 Que. P.R. 82.

PRELIMINARY ENQUIRY — READING DEPOSITIONS.

The King v. Rouleau, 17 Can. Ct. Cas. 281.

AFFIDAVIT FOR THE PROVINCE OF QUEBEC TAKEN ELSEWHERE.

A notary public in British Columbia has no authority to take the affidavits of a commissioner and clerk acting in a rogatory commission issued in the Province of Quebec.

Lariviere v. Royal Trust Co., 12 Que. P.R. 104.

UNDER COMMISSION—EXAMINATION OF WITNESSES ABROAD.

Graham v. Bigelow, 45 N.S.R. 118.

III. Objections.

(§ III—10)—The right of examination for discovery extends not only to the knowledge and recollection of the adverse party, but also to his information and belief. [Vanhorn v. Veeral, 3 O.W.N. 337, 439, followed.] Lindsey v. Le Sneur, 1 D.L.R. 61, 3 O.W.N. 486, 20 O.W.R. 851.

OPPOSITION APIN D'ANNULER — EXAMINATION OF OPPOSANT.

The deposition of an opposant given under art. 651 C.C.P. can only avail for the purposes of the motion demanding the rejection of the opposition. This evidence, contrary to that produced under art. 286 C.C.P., cannot be used upon the merits of the opposition.

Kaine etc. Transportation v. Morgan, 48 Que. S.C. 421.

(§ III—11)—SUFFICIENCY—AFFIDAVIT ON PRODUCTION—CLAIM OF PRIVILEGE—REPORTS FOR INFORMATION OF SOLICITOR—ABSENCE OF SPECIAL DIRECTION—REPORTS MADE TO BOARD OF RAILWAY COMMISSIONERS — EXAMINATION OF SERVANTS OF COMPANY.

Shapter v. G.T.R. Co., 3 D.L.R. 877, 3 O.W.N. 1334, 22 O.W.R. 252.

(§ III—12)—OBJECTION AS TO REGULARITY — TIME TO TAKE — INSCRIPTION IN SHORTHAND.

Where evidence taken under commission outside of the jurisdiction has been inscribed in shorthand without authority therefor in the commission order or otherwise, an objection on that ground alone will be overruled, where no such objection was raised upon the examination but is taken for the first time at the trial.

Minot Grocery Co. v. Durick, 10 D.L.R. 126, 6 S.L.R. 44, 23 W.L.R. 279, 3 W.W.R. 904.

IRREGULARITIES—DELAY.

Two months' delay in moving to suppress a deposition for harmless irregularities in taking is fatal.

Decrean v. Vancauneyt, 12 D.L.R. 412, 6 A.L.R. 384, 25 W.L.R. 27, 4 W.W.R. 1235.

(§ III—14)—It is a good ground for quashing a summary conviction that the stenographer who took down the depositions was not sworn as required by Cr. Code, s. 683. [The King v. L'Heureux, 14 Can. Cr. Cas. 100, followed.]

The King v. Johnson, 1 D.L.R. 548, 22 Man. L.R. 426, 19 Can. Cr. Cas. 203, 1 W.W.R. 1045.

AUTHENTICATION—PRELIMINARY INQUIRY
—STENOGRAPHER'S NOTES.

It is not necessary that the deposition of each witness on a preliminary inquiry should be separately certified; all may be included in one certificate. The reading of the depositions on the part of the prosecution to the accused on the preliminary inquiry, in conformity with Cr. Code, s. 684, may be proceeded with from the shorthand notes without the delay incident to transcribing them. The fact that the stenographer appointed by the justice to take down the depositions on a preliminary inquiry was duly sworn (Cr. Code, s. 683, as amended 1913), may be proved by the justice's certificate, although the stenographer did not sign the oath.

McDonald v. The King, 30 D.L.R. 738, 26 Can. Cr. Cas. 175, 25 Que. K.B. 322. [See also R. v. Limerick, 31 D.L.R. 226.]

UNSWORN STENOGRAPHER.

The petitioner's affidavit in support of an application for habeas corpus that the stenographer who transcribed the evidence at the preliminary inquiry had not been sworn will not be credited as against the certificate of oath signed by the magistrate and filed in the record.

Dick v. The King, 19 Can. Cr. Cas. 44, 13 Que. P.R. 57.

IV. Use on trial.

(§ IV—15)—OFFICER OF A CORPORATION.

The testimony adduced from an examination of an officer of a corporation residing out of the jurisdiction, under Con. r. 1321 (Ont.), may be used by the adverse party as evidence at the trial of the action, saying all just exceptions.

Grocock v. Edgar Allen & Co. (No. 2), 10 D.L.R. 147, 4 O.W.N. 660, 23 O.W.R. 788.

REFUSING LEAVE TO USE ON TRIAL — — GROUNDS.

Leave to use a deposition of the president of the plaintiff company, taken in the United States, for use on the trial "unless a judge shall otherwise order," will be denied, where to permit its use would work an injustice to the defendant, as it appeared that the plaintiff to the action was a mere nominal party, while the real plaintiff was guilty of fraud in the transaction in relation to which the note sued upon was given; and that the cross-examination of the witness, by reason of foreign counsel being retained to take it, and the difficulty of giving him adequate instructions, was not conducted so as to properly develop such phase of the case. [Union Investment Co. v. Perras, 2 A.L.R. 357; and Park v. Schneider, 6 D.L.R. 451, followed.]

Fidelity Trust Co. v. Schneider, 14 D.L.R. 224, 6 A.L.R. 446, 25 W.L.R. 611, 5 W.W.R. 237.

(§ IV—17)—OF ABSENT WITNESSES.

The admission in evidence for the Crown of the depositions of an absent witness taken on the preliminary inquiry without the proof of absence required by Cr. Code, s. 978 will not entitle the accused to a new trial where he, through his counsel, expressly requested at the trial that such depositions should be put in.

R. v. Hogue, 39 D.L.R. 99, 39 O.L.R. 427, 28 Can. Cr. Cas. 419.

AUTHENTICATION—CERTIFICATE.

A deposition taken before a magistrate on a summary trial for keeping a bawdy house is admissible on the hearing of an appeal from the conviction taken under Cr. Code, s. 797 only in case the personal presence of the witness cannot be obtained by any reasonable efforts, and in case the deposition is certified by the magistrate; the magistrate cannot be called as a witness to give viva voce proof of the regularity of the deposition in lieu of the certificate.

The King v. Hornstein, 19 Can. Cr. Cas. 127.

Where, upon a charge of an indictable offence, the evidence in the preliminary inquiry before the justice was taken down in shorthand, and it appeared that at the close of the taking of the evidence the accused party consented that the reading of the depositions should be dispensed with, that the accused was thereupon committed for trial and an indictment was afterwards returned against him by the grand jury for the offence recited in the commitment, but it did not appear that the transcript of evidence transmitted to the clerk of the Trial Court was accompanied by an affidavit of the stenographer to the effect that

It was a true report of the evidence:—Held, that the defendant was not entitled to have the indictment quashed on the ground that the charge therein was not founded on facts disclosed in any depositions regularly taken before the justice.

The King v. Montminy, 18 Rev. de Jur. 309.

EVIDENCE TAKEN UNDER COMMISSION—USE BY JURY.

Miles v. Bell, 40 N.B.R. 158.

DEPOSITIONS DE BENE ESSE.

The party on whose behalf an examination of a witness de bene esse has been taken, is not bound to read it at the trial, but the opposing party may be allowed the costs of the examination if it is not used.

Atkinson v. Caserley, 22 O.L.R. 52.

DEPOSITIONS OF WITNESSES AT PRELIMINARY INQUIRY—QUASHING COMMITMENT AND INDICTMENT WHERE DEPOSITIONS NOT AUTHENTICATED.

The King v. Robert (No. 1), 17 Can. Cr. Cas. 194.

V. Examination of transferees.

(§ V—25)—EXAMINATION OF TRANSFEREES.

Under the summary power conferred by Ont. Con. r. 903 for discovery in aid of execution, an examination under oath may be ordered of a person to whom the judgment debtor has made a transfer of his property or effects "exigible under execution" but the rule is not to be interpreted as extending to an examination of the transferee as to a conveyance made by the debtor to him of lands situate in another province although such lands may be exigible under execution in that province.

Crucible Steel Co. v. Ffolkes, 1 D.L.R. 381, 3 O.W.N. 750, 21 O.W.R. 302.

JUDGMENT DEBTOR—EXAMINATION OF TRANSFEREES—ACTION PENDING TO SET ASIDE TRANSFERS.

Crucible Steel Co. v. Ffolkes, 4 O.W.N. 1261, 24 O.W.R. 791.

DEPOT.

Establishment and maintenance of, see Carriers.

DESCENT AND DISTRIBUTION.

I. RIGHT TO INHERIT.

A. Who entitled generally.

B. Effect of alienage.

C. Effect of illegitimacy.

D. Effect of adoption.

E. Rights of husband and wife.

II. PROPERTY SUBJECT TO.

III. NATURE AND INCIDENTS OF ESTATE.

Succession duties, see Taxes, V.

As to devise or bequest of property, see Wills.

Devolution of lands to Crown upon failure of heirs, and next of kin, see Escheat.

Devolution of Estates Act, see Partition.

Annotation.

Effect of war on inheritance rights of alien enemies: 23 D.L.R. 375, 380.

I. Right to inherit.

A. WHO ENTITLED GENERALLY.

(§ I A—1)—The real estate in Ontario of an infant who died in the year 1882, leaving no brother or sister, devolves in accordance with the statute then in force in regard to real property (R.S.O. 1877, c. 105, s. 22), and goes altogether to the father surviving to the exclusion of the mother.

Re Brennan and Waldman, 7 D.L.R. 295, 4 O.W.N. 161.

K. died intestate, leaving no widow, one son, three daughters, and one granddaughter, daughter of a deceased daughter. Held, the word "children" in the clause beginning "and if there be no widow," in s. 2 of the Intestates' Estates Act, C.S. 1903, c. 161, includes grand-children, and that K's granddaughter was entitled to the share of the personal estate which her mother would have received if living.

Re Estate of David Kennedy, 40 N.B.R. 437.

A release of actions, etc., given by plaintiff to defendant had the effect of an absolute release notwithstanding it contained words limiting the release to the interest claimed by plaintiff in respect to one relationship only. The computation of relationship is made under the rules of the civil law by going back to the common ancestor, in this case the grandfather, and by adding together the degrees of kinship between the parties and the common ancestor, instead of under the canon law, by which the degree of kinship of the parties is that of the one furthest removed from the common ancestor. For this reason plaintiff and other cousins of the deceased stood in the same degree of consanguinity. The qualification as to persons taking by representation is only a device to change the general rule by which it may be varied, and is restricted to the case of brothers' and sisters' children. Such children would be one degree further removed from the deceased than brothers and sisters, but would take by representation the shares that would have been taken by their deceased parents if living, but where there are no children of deceased brothers and sisters the rule has no application.

Troop v. Robinson, 45 N.S.R. 145, 8 E.L.R. 366.

DISTRIBUTION OF ESTATE—INTESTATE SUCCESSION—ABSENTEE NEXT OF KIN—PRESUMPTION OF DEATH—EVIDENCE.

Re Moore, 9 O.W.N. 282.

DISTRIBUTION OF ESTATE—INTESTATE SUCCESSION—ABSENTEE NEXT OF KIN—PRESUMPTION OF DEATH—EVIDENCE.

Re Peacock, 9 O.W.N. 175.

DISTRIBUTION OF ESTATES—INTERSTATE SUCCESSION—ABSENTEE NEXT OF KIN—PRESUMPTION OF DEATH—INQUIRY—REFERENCE—LIABILITY.

Re Dunean, 8 O.W.N. 568.

FIRST COUSINS—RIGHTS OF CHILDREN OF DECEASED FIRST COUSINS—REPRESENTATION—DEVOLUTION OF ESTATES ACT, R.S.O. 1914 c. 119, s. 30.

Re Hale, 10 O.W.N. 376.

DEVOLUTION OF ESTATES ACT, R.S.O. 1914, c. 119—PERSONS ENTITLED TO SHARE IN ESTATE OF INTERSTATE DECEASED—NEPHEWS AND NIECES—EXCLUSION OF GRAND NEPHEWS AND GRAND NIECES—DISTRIBUTION PER CAPITA AND NOT PER STRIPES.

Re Carswell, 13 O.W.N. 80.

ABSENTEE SUBSTITUTES.

If the succession is opened and the substitute is an absentee, it goes to those to whom he would have the right to convey it or those who would have succeeded to him.

Picard v. Picard, 48 Que. S.C. 316.

RENUNCIATION BY SUBSTITUTE—NEPHEWS AND NIECES.

Renunciation of a universal legacy before its acceptance in case of substitution is governed by the same rules as one made after the acceptance. Thus, in case of a universal legacy given by a testator to his brother with the obligation of preserving the property and delivering it to his children born or to be born, and on failure of children to his nephews and nieces, if the substitute renounces his universal legacy it is the nephews and nieces who have a right to enjoy the proceeds and revenues on the failure of children of the substitute and not the heirs of the testator, the renunciation by the substitute having the effect of opening the substitution in favour of the institutes.

Robert v. Martin, 48 Que. S.C. 27.

(§ 1 A—3)—HOMICIDE—INSANITY.

The principle that no one can profit by his own wrong or criminal act does not apply so as to prevent an insane person who commits homicide, or her heirs, from taking an inheritance, under the provisions of the Inheritance Act (R.S.B.C. 1911, c. 108), from the person killed.

Re Estate of Maude Mason, 31 D.L.R. 305, 24 B.C.R. 329, [1917] 1 W.W.R. 329.

(§ 1 A—4)—DEVOLUTION OF ESTATES ACT, R.S.M. 1913, c. 54—INTESTACY—ONLY NEPHEWS AND NIECES SURVIVING—NO PROVISION IN ACT—DISTRIBUTION.

The Devolution of Estates Act, R.S.M. 1913, c. 54, makes no provision for the case of an intestate who dies leaving neither widow nor parents, nor lineal descendants, nor brothers nor sisters surviving, but only children of deceased brothers or sisters. The Act did not intend to change the law as it previously stood and the position of the estate as to which there is an intestacy should be distributed amongst the nephews and nieces of the intestate per capita and not per stirpes.

Re Smith Estate, 48 D.L.R. 434, [1919] 3 W.W.R. 745.

C. EFFECT OF ILLEGITIMACY.

(§ 1 C—10)—Relationship in the direct line exists between a father and his natural children even if they are the fruits of adultery. Hence, if he bequeaths to them his succession it will only be subject to the taxes imposable under par. 1 of art. 1375 R.S. Q. 1909.

McLaren v. Fortier, 41 Que. S.C. 315.

D. EFFECT OF ADOPTION.

(§ 1 D—16)—RIGHT TO INHERIT—BY ADOPTED CHILD—ADOPTION DECREE UNDER FOREIGN LAW.

The status of a person as next of kin of another is sufficiently established if recognized by the law of the foreign domicile of the deceased; and this principle applies to support the right and claim of an adopted son as next of kin, to personal property in Canada belonging to the estate of the mother by adoption, who, although resident in Canada at the time of her death, had acquired a domicile of choice in the state of Massachusetts, and while there domiciled, had, under the laws of that state, obtained a decree of adoption giving the adopted child the like claim upon her estate as if he had been her own child.

Robertson v. Ives, 15 D.L.R. 122, 13 E. L.R. 387.

E. RIGHTS OF HUSBAND AND WIFE.

(§ 1 E—20)—WIDOW—ELECTION TO TAKE LAND SUBJECT TO MORTGAGE—EFFECT.

A widow, who, under the Devolution of Estates Act, R.S.O. 1897, c. 127, as amended by 10 Edw. VII. c. 56, takes, in lieu of dower, one-third of land encumbered by a mortgage, takes her interest in the land subject to one-third of the mortgage; and will be chargeable with such one-third on an accounting with the estate, on the executor paying off the whole mortgage with estate funds.

Re Mackenzie, 11 D.L.R. 818, 4 O.W.N. 1292, 24 O.W.R. 678.

WILL—RIGHTS OF WIDOW FOR LIFE OR UNTIL REMARRIAGE—RIGHTS OF CHILDREN—PROVISION FOR WIDOW LESS THAN IF TESTATOR HAD DIED INTERSTATE—RIGHT TO RELIEF—DEVOLUTION OF ESTATES ACT, R.S.S. 1909, c. 43 AND AMENDMENTS.

The provisions of the Devolution of Estates Act, R.S.S. 1909, c. 43 as amended by 1 Geo. V. 1910-1911 c. 13 must be strictly interpreted. A widow may obtain relief against the provisions of a will by which she is left a lesser share of her late husband's property than she would have received had he died intestate.

Devolution of Estates Act; Re Baker Estate, 50 D.L.R. 422, [1920] 1 W.W.R. 259.

DEVOLUTION OF ESTATES ACT (SASK.)—RIGHT OF WIDOW TO RELIEF—FROM WHAT SOURCE PAYABLE—JURISDICTION OF JUDGE.

On an application by the widow for relief under c. 13 of the Stats. of Sask. 1910-11 (the Devolution of Estates Act), the judge has no jurisdiction to make an order providing from what source, as between the different persons interested in the estate of the deceased, the share of the widow should be payable. The order giving the widow a share in the estate is of the same effect as though the testator had made a codicil to his will giving his widow such share in priority to all other gifts, and such share takes priority over the residuary legatee.

Re Estate of Joseph Davidson, 46 D.L.R. 259, [1919] 2 W.W.R. 100, reversing [1919] 1 W.W.R. 497.

MARRIED WOMAN'S RELIEF ACT—DEFENCES.

A wife's separation from her husband, unjustifiable by her, and such as would be a complete defence to an action for alimony, disentitles her to any allowance out of her husband's estate under the Alberta Married Women's Relief Act (1910, 2nd Sess., c. 18).

Drewry v. Drewry, 30 D.L.R. 581, [1916] 2 A.C. 651, [1917] 1 W.W.R. 296, reversing 27 D.L.R. 716, 9 A.L.R. 363, 34 W.L.R. 163.

RIGHTS OF WIDOW IN HUSBAND'S ESTATE—DEFENCES—SAME AS IN ACTION FOR ALIMONY—DEVOLUTION OF ESTATES ACT, R.S.S. 1909, c. 43, AMENDED BY C. 13, 1910-11.

Re Estate of Souply, 41 D.L.R. 797.

DEVOLUTIONS OF ESTATES ACT—ELECTION OF WIDOW TO TAKE DISTRIBUTIVE SHARE OF ESTATE OF INTENTATE—LANDS SOLD UNDER MORTGAGE—SURPLUS PROCEEDS OF SALE—AGREEMENT—OPTION—ESTOPPEL.

Re Adair, 9 O.W.N. 280.

The scheme of the Married Women's Relief Act (Alta.) is to place a widow, at the best, in as good a position as she would have been if there had been no will.

Re Matheson Estate, 33 W.L.R. 621.

(§ 1 E—22)—TENANCY BY CURTESY.

Where a wife dies intestate leaving her surviving husband and children, the husband is not entitled to tenancy by the curtesy in the wife's real estate where the circumstances are such that s. 5, subs. 5, of British Columbia Statutes 1898, c. 40, can be applied, although the effect of its application may be to cut down the husband's interest from a life estate in the whole of his deceased wife's lands as tenant by the curtesy to a life estate in one-third thereof.

Romang v. Tamourni, 2 D.L.R. 295, 29 W.L.R. 825, 1 W.W.R. 1109, affirming 17 W.L.R. 133.

(§ 1 E—24)—WILL BY HUSBAND—RELIEF CLAIMED BY WIFE—DISCRETION OF COURT—MARRIED WOMAN'S RELIEF ACT, 1 GEO. V., 1910, 2ND SESS. C. 18, SS. 2 AND 8.

The discretion of the court in granting relief to a widow under the Married Women's Relief Act is restricted, by implication, to the amount that the widow would have received had her husband died intestate.

McBratney v. McBratney, 50 D.L.R. 132, 59 Can. S.C.R. 550, [1919] 3 W.W.R. 1009, reversing 48 D.L.R. 29, which affirmed 45 D.L.R. 738.

III. Nature and incidents of estate.

(§ III—30)—ENTRY TO POSSESSION UPON DEATH OF ANCESTOR—DUTY AS TO—ADVERSE POSSESSION.

An heir at law is not on the death of his ancestor bound to do any act to vest both the title and possession of the lands which he inherits, and he is not barred of his right of entry under C.S. 1903, c. 139, ss. 3, 4, on any part of such lands not held against him by adverse possession for twenty years.

Gooden v. Doyle, 42 N.B.R. 435.

PERSONAL LIABILITY OF BENEFICIAL HEIR—DEFENCES.

The admission of the heir to the benefit of inventory does not confer upon him a double personality. He can be sued personally subject to his right to plead his capacity to obtain an order that the judgment shall be executed only upon the patrimony of the de cuius. A beneficial heir sued personally for the purpose of causing him to shew by a quitance the payment to his auteur is without interest to set up his capacity as a bar to the action.

Furois v. Grace, 38 Que. S.C. 89.

COMMUNITY—RENUNCIATION.

In so far as the parties to a community are interested the renunciation or abandonment thereto may be made by any kind of agreement. But the abandonment by an heir of all the rights and claims that he has against the succession of his father and against his father's heirs cannot be considered as an abandonment of the community as to property which had existed between his father and his father's wife.

Montpetit v. Brault, 26 Que. K.B. 263.

SUCCESSION—SUBSTITUTION—REMUNERATION BY INSTITUTE—HEIRS—CONSERVATION ACTS.

Those called to a substitution may, before the opening of the substitution, perform any acts necessary to conserve their rights. In the case of a universal legacy given by a testator to his brother with the obligation of preserving the property and of giving it, on his death, to his children born or to be born, and on failure of children to his nephews and nieces, if the institute renounces his universal legacy before acceptance, it is not the nephews and nieces who have the right to enjoy the proceeds and revenues on the failure of children of the institute, but the heirs ab intesta of the testator until the death of the institute, on the same conditions as the first institute. Such renunciation has had the effect of making void the universal legacy given to the brother of the testator, but not the trust which was imposed upon him. In this case, the nephews and nieces of the testator have no other rights than those which they had before the renunciation of the institute, namely, any right in being present, but only contingent rights which will be brought into being only upon the death of the first institute if he dies without children.

Robert v. Martin, 27 Que. K.B. 54.

(§ III—31)—PROCEEDINGS TO PROVE HEIRSHIP.

Where a reference is ordered to inquire and report who is or are the next of kin of a deceased intestate, it is the duty of the officer conducting the reference to allow any claimants to present their respective claims as best they can, and at their own risk as to costs, and, if no claims be established, the estate goes to the Crown. An inquiry at the expense of the estate for the purpose of discovering the next of kin will not be allowed.

Re Corr, 3 D.L.R. 367, 3 O.W.N. 1177, 21 O.W.R. 798.

DEVOLUTION OF ESTATES ACT—CAUTION—APPLICATION BY ADMINISTRATOR FOR LEAVE TO REREGISTER AFTER EXPIRY OF STATUTORY PERIOD—INFANTS—OFFICIAL GUARDIAN—R.S.O. 1914, c. 119, s. 15.

Re Mahler, 7 O.W.N. 752.

MONEY IN COURT—PAYMENT OUT—PERSONS ENTITLED—ABSENTEE—PROOF OF DEATH—INTESTACY.

Re Fitzgerald, 10 O.W.N. 368.

ACCEPTANCE OF HEIRSHIP—POSSESSION OF EFFECTS BELONGING TO SUCCESSION.

The fact that a son has the custody, public and open, of things belonging to the succession of his father and that he refuses to deliver them to his coheirs, is not an act of acceptance of heirship nor a diversion of these effects which prevents him from abandoning the succession and oblige him to accept it.

Brulotte v. Brulotte, 24 Que. K.B. 398.

POSSESSION OF SUCCESSION—PARTNERSHIP—RIGHT TO JUDICIAL ABANDONMENT.

A demand for judicial abandonment of property cannot be made to a universal legatee of one of the partners of a commercial firm, if this universal legatee has accepted the estate under the benefit of inventory only, while the delay to make inventory has not yet elapsed. The taking of possession of the property of the succession by means of a "Saisie-conservatoire" by universal legatee does not submit him to a demand of abandonment of property.

Lemesurier v. Mahoney, 47 Que. S.C. 94.

(§ III—32)—DEBTS OF DECEDENT—PAYMENT OF DEBTS—RESORT TO UNDISPOSED OF PERSONALTY.

Re Piper (No. 2), 3 D.L.R. 882, 3 O.W.N. 1377.

DEATH OF SON IN LIFETIME OF FATHER—SIX OWING FATHER ON PROMISSORY NOTE AT TIME OF DEATH—RIGHT TO DEDUCT AMOUNT OF NOTE FROM SHARE OF SON'S CHILDREN IN THEIR GRANDFATHER'S ESTATE.

A son died in the lifetime of his father leaving children; at the time of his death he owed the father on a promissory note:—Held, that as the son was never entitled to a share in his father's estate because he died before his father, he never had in his hands a part of his father's estate, he only owed his father a debt. His children were not liable for that debt. [Re Akerman v. Akerman, [1891] 3 Ch. 212, distinguished.]

Re Robert Bells Estate, 47 D.L.R. 549, 12 S.L.R. 343, [1919] 2 W.W.R. 924, affirming [1919] 2 W.W.R. 553.

SALE BEFORE PARTITION—REDEMPTION—CONDITIONS—DONATION.

Taillefer v. Langevin, 39 Que. S.C. 274.

PARTITION—HYPOTHEC BY ONE CO-OWNER—IMPLIED CONDITION.

Owens v. Chopin, 39 Que. S.C. 213.

POSSESSION OF PROPERTY—ACCOUNT—RIGHT OF ACTION.

Vandry v. Bélanger, 39 Que. S.C. 55.

DESCRIPTION.

See Deeds; Bills of Sale; Chattel Mortgage; Vendor and Purchaser; Specific Performance; Wills.

In policy, see Insurance.

In notice of account, see Municipal Corporations, II G—260.

DESERTION.

See also Militia, Military law.

Annotation.

Desertion from military unit: 31 D.L.R. 17.

FROM MILITARY UNIT—EVIDENCE.

Under the order-in-council of January 6, 1916, the proof of engagement for overseas service by the soldier charged with being absent without leave is complete on production of the signed enlistment paper and proof that the accused had been passed as fit for military service and that the military unit had been regularly established, and prima facie proof of absence without leave may be made by the production of a letter to that effect from the officer commanding the Military District; it is no answer for the accused to shew at the trial that the age he gave at enlistment as under 45 was incorrect and that he was over that age.

R. v. Poulin, 31 D.L.R. 14, 26 Can. Cr. Cas. 216.

DESTRUCTION OF PROPERTY.

Of deeds, see Deeds.
Of property, see Nuisance.

UNDER STATUTORY AUTHORITY.

No order for destruction of property under the Public Utilities Act is valid unless the interested party has been notified of the application and has been afforded an opportunity of making a defence.

La Compagnie Electrique & Grandmere v. Public Utilities Commission, 6 D.L.R. 92, 22 Que. K.B. 25.

DETAINER.

See Forcible Entry and Detainer.

DETINUE.

As remedy, see Sale, III A—59.

DEVISE.

See Wills.

DISCHARGE.

Of indorser, see Bills and Notes, III.
Of surety, see Principal and Surety; Guaranty, II.; Bonds.
On habeas corpus, see Habeas Corpus.
Of servant, see Master and Servant, I.
Of mortgage, see Mortgage.

DISCOVERY AND INSPECTION.

- I. IN GENERAL; OF DOCUMENTS.
- II. PHYSICAL EXAMINATION.
- III. SUBMITTING PERSON TO.
- IV. BY INTERROGATORIES OR DEPOSITIONS.

Annotation.

Examination and interrogatories in defamation cases: 2 D.L.R. 563.

I. In general; of documents.

See also Depositions.

(§ 1—1)—DOCUMENT—LEDGER.

A ledger or other book of account containing accounts relating to transactions between the parties to an action and also other accounts between one of the parties and many other individuals not connected with the issues is not a "document" within the meaning of rr. 364-366 relating to orders for discovery and the affidavit thereon. The person making the affidavit must specify either by existing page numbers or by identification marks placed thereon specially for the purpose the particular pages wherein entries can be found relevant to the matters in issue.

Royal Bank v. Wallis, 41 D.L.R. 383, 13 A.L.R. 416, [1918] 2 W.W.R. 629.

NEGOTIATIONS FOR SETTLEMENT—RIGHT TO DISCLOSE.

Where fraud is alleged, a party is entitled to disclosure of what took place at negotiations for settlement made "without prejudice" only where the negotiations were for the purpose of committing or furthering fraud, but not where they were innocent. When statements or admissions would, if unqualified, have been pertinent to the issue and the question of their admissibility in evidence turns on the fact that they were made "without prejudice" in negotiations for compromise, they will be ordered disclosed on discovery at the instance of a party who was not a party in the negotiations, but they may not necessarily be allowed in evidence at the trial.

Schetky et al. v. Cochrane, 24 B.C.R. 498, [1918] 1 W.W.R. 821.

PRODUCTION OF DOCUMENTS—MEMORANDUM BOOK OF EMPLOYEE.

In an action for the recovery of the price of wheat alleged to have been delivered by the plaintiff into an elevator belonging to the defendant company held that the manager of the company must produce on examination for discovery a private memorandum book kept by the official in charge of the elevator which contained entries of the receipt of some of the grain in question. [Anderson v. Bank of British Columbia, 2 Ch. D. 644; Jones v. Great Central R. Co., [1910] A.C. 4; Pavitt v. North Metropolitan Tramways Co., 48 L.T. 730, applied.]

Campbell v. Dom. Elevator Co. (Man.), [1918] 1 W.W.R. 938.

Where the pleadings shew that there is no defense to the principal action except by way of counterclaim, the defendant is not entitled to be relieved from making discovery pending the disposal of the counterclaim.

Patterson v. Neill, 1 D.L.R. 22, 3 O.W.N. 516, 29 O.W.R. 887.

SUBPOENA TO COMPEL ATTENDANCE.

Under the Sask. Practice Rules (r. 503), before the person to be examined can be required to attend he must be served with a subpoena; not having been thus served he cannot be committed for a failure to attend.

Proby v. Erratt Co., 31 D.L.R. 342, 9 S.L.R. 378, [1917] 1 W.W.R. 161.

PRODUCTION OF DOCUMENTS BY STRANGER TO ACTION—RULE 359.

An order obtained by the plaintiff, under r. 359, requiring a company (not a party to the action) to produce documents for inspection by the plaintiff before the trial, was set aside. Purpose and scope of the rule explained.

McCurdy v. Oak Tire & Rubber Co., 44 O.L.R. 235.

IN GENERAL—OF DOCUMENTS.

Where a party, having asked for and obtained particulars, and the order was reversed on appeal, and then applied for discovery by interrogatories, the judge at Chambers dismissed the application on the ground that the application was an attempt to gain by another means that which had already been refused.—Held, that the judge was right.

Turner v. Surrey, 16 B.C.R. 349.

EXAMINATION OF DEFENDANT—POSTPONE-MENT OF, UNTIL RIGHT TO PARTICIPATE ESTABLISHED—PARTNERSHIP.

Haydes v. VanSickle, 5 O.W.N. 553.

DISCOVERY OF DOCUMENTS—SASK. R. 273
(3)—REQUIREMENT TO GIVE AFFIDAVIT
PRIMA FACIE CASE.

In an application under r. 273 (3) a reference to documents in question as "various letters between the plaintiff and the provincial hail commissioner" does not satisfy the requirements of the rule as to the documents being "specified." The applicant has done all that said rule requires, in order to make out a prima facie case, when on oath he pledges his belief that the opposite party at some time had the specified document in his possession and that the same is relevant.

Northern Crown Bank v. Etter, [1919] 1 W.W.R. 149.

(§ 1—2)—PRODUCTION OR INSPECTION OF DOCUMENTS.

Under the Cob. Tr. 1897 (Ont.), it is the duty of a person under examination for discovery to produce, if called upon, all books, papers and documents which he would be bound to produce at the trial.

Re Baynes Carriage Co. (No. 2), 8 D.L.R. 309, 27 O.L.R. 244.

When an affidavit on production of documents has been filed but the correctness of the schedule of documents produced is impeached by the opposite party, an order will be made for a further and better affidavit only when from the first affidavit itself or from the documents therein referred to or from an admission in the pleadings of the party from whom discovery is sought, the court is of opinion that the first affidavit is insufficient. [Jones v. Monte Video Gas Co., 5 Q.R.D. 556, followed. And see Ross on Discovery, 1912, Can. ed., p. 164.]

Irwin v. Jung, 1 D.L.R. 153, 17 B.C.R. 69, 19 W.L.R. 901, 1 W.W.R. 524.

In an action to restrain the author of a biography not yet published from making use of certain literary material, on the ground that the author obtained it from plaintiff by misrepresenting that the views he would propound in the book would not be in adverse criticism of the subject of the biography and on the ground that the work had been so adverse that it had been rejected by the publisher at whose instance it was written, the defendant may be ordered on discovery to deposit in court all extracts and copies of material supplied to him by the plaintiff and to answer interrogatories in regard thereto. [See Ross on Discovery, 1912 ed., pp. 152, 156.]

Lindsay v. LeSueur, 1 D.L.R. 61, 3 O.W.N. 486, 20 O.W.R. 851.

A company examined in discovery by a plaintiff injured in a railway accident will be compelled to produce and file a report of such accident prepared by the company's employees (e.g., motorman or conductor) at the time of the accident when such report is required from them in the ordinary course of their duties; such report being a "document" within the meaning of C.C.P. 289. [Southwick v. Quick, 9 Erling Cases 587, approved.]

Feigleman v. Montreal Street Ry. Co., 3 D.L.R. 125, 13 Que. P.R. 353.

PRODUCTION OR INSPECTION OF DOCUMENTS CLAIM OF PRIVILEGE—CONFIDENTIAL
DOCUMENTS—PREPARATION FOR PUR-POSES OF OBTAINING SOLICITOR'S ADVICE.
Inrie v. Wilson (No. 2), 2 D.L.R. 886,
3 O.W.N. 929, 21 O.W.R. 513.

PRODUCTION OR INSPECTION OF DOCUMENTS
—ACTION OF LIFE INSURANCE POLICY—ISSUE AS TO AGE OF ASSURED—PRODUCTION OF MARITAL CERTIFICATE—IRRELEVANTLY—AFFIDAVIT ON PRODUCTION.
MacMahon v. Ry. Passengers' Ass'ce Co.
(No. 2), 2 D.L.R. 912, 3 O.W.N. 1239.

PRODUCTION OR INSPECTION OF DOCUMENTS
—ACTION ON JUDGMENT—INQUIRY AS TO PROPERTY OF JUDGMENT DEBTORS—
COMPANY—PRODUCTION OF MINUTE
BOOKS AND ACCOUNTS.
Catty v. Toronto Belt Line R. Co., 1
D.L.R. 908, 3 O.W.N. 751, 21 O.W.R. 348.

PRODUCTION OR INSPECTION OF DOCUMENTS
—EXAMINATION OF OFFICER OF DEFENDANT —SCOPE OF EXAMINATION—PRODUCTION OF BOOKS—EVIDENCE—ADMISSIBILITY.
Canadian Knowles Co. v. Lovell-McConnell,
1 D.L.R. 906, 3 O.W.N. 690.

Information which would otherwise be compellable on an examination for discovery does not become privileged because an affidavit on production has been made, and the information sought would contradict the affidavit, or form a basis for a motion for a better affidavit.

MacMahon v. Ry. Passengers' Ass'ce Co.,
5 D.L.R. 423, 26 O.L.R. 430, 22 O.W.R. 196.

In an examination of an officer of a railway company for discovery in an action against the company for personal injuries where a motion was made by the plaintiff to require the production by such officer of certain reports to the company as to the happening of the accident which gave rise to the action, made by its officials who investigated the same, an affidavit as to the privilege of the reports filed by the officer being examined, must clearly and specifically state that they were provided solely for the purpose of being used by the company's solicitor in any litigation which might arise out of such accident and in the absence of such clear and specific statement a further and better affidavit will be directed to be filed.

Swaisland v. G.T.R. Co., 5 D.L.R. 750,
3 O.W.N. 960.

A document or statement of facts prepared by the employees of a company (e.g., conductors and motormen) at the request of the company and ostensibly for the use of the solicitors of the company in case of litigation is a privileged communication of which the adverse party cannot compel the production at an examination on discovery, notwithstanding that such report was made at a time when no litigation was contemplated and that it was only communicated to the solicitors of the company ten months after the accident. [Feigleman v. Montreal Street R. Co., 3 D.L.R. 125, reversed.] The report is privileged when it appears that the persons making the report prepared it under the impression that it was to be treated as confidential. [Southwick and Vauxhall Water Co. v. Tynick, L.R. 3 Q.B.D. 315; Anderson v. Bank of British Columbia, L.R. 2 Ch. D. 644; Bondy v. Valois, 15 Rev. Leg. 63; Hunter v. G.T.R., 16 Ont. P.R. 385, referred to; Collins v. London General Omnibus Co., 68 L.T. 831, followed. See also Swaisland v. G.T.R., 5 D.L.R. 750.]

Montreal Street Ry. v. Feigleman, 7 D. L.R. 6, 14 Que. P.R. 108, 19 Rev. Leg. 45.

An affidavit on production is conclusive, and must be accepted as true by the opposite party, not only as regards the documents that are or have been in the possession of the party making production, and their relevancy, but also as to the grounds stated in support of any claim for privilege from the production, subject, however, to the provisions of a rule of court whereby the court is authorized to judicially determine the question of privilege upon inspection of the document. The object of the provision in the Alberta Supreme Court Rules, permitting the court to inspect any document, for which privilege is claimed upon an application for an order for inspection, is to get rid of the fetters imposed by the old practice, and to give power to determine at once whether the objection sought to be raised is well founded. Where, on an application for an order for inspection of documents, privilege is claimed for any document, the judge applied to should not order the inspection of such document without first exercising his power under the Supreme Court Rules to inspect it himself, in order to see whether the claim for privilege is well founded.

Stapley v. C.P.R. Co., 6 D.L.R. 180, 5 A.L.R. 341, 22 W.L.R. 85, 2 W.W.R. 1010, varying 6 D.L.R. 97.

PRODUCTION — AFFIDAVIT — DEFAULT THROUGH ILLNESS—MOTION TO STRIKE OUT DEFENCE.

The default of a party defendant to make and file his affidavit on production is excused upon a shewing of incapacity through illness, and where the plaintiff, moving to strike out the statement of defence on the ground of such default, suggests no person other than the defendant himself capable of giving the discovery, the motion fails on proof of such incapacitating illness.

Colonial Investment Co. v. Smith, 17 D. L.R. 574, 28 W.L.R. 419,
Can. Dig.—92.

PRODUCTION OF DOCUMENTS—ACCOUNTING—CONDITION PRECEDENT TO COMPELLING.

Parties suing for alleged breach of fiduciary relationship in a syndicate agreement must establish the alleged breach before they can obtain discovery from the defendants by way of accounting for the reinvestment or profits alleged to have been made by them through the alleged diversion of the trust funds.

Shirk v. Bates, 19 D.L.R. 706, 30 W.L.R. 165, 7 W.W.R. 925.

DOCUMENTS — PRODUCTION OF — ENFORCEMENT—DEFENDANT IMPROPERLY JOINED.

Production of documents will not ordinarily be enforced against a defendant objecting that he is improperly joined as a party until that question is determined.

Lumber Manufacturers' Yards v. Moose Jaw Flour Mills, 20 D.L.R. 781, 7 S.L.R. 437, 30 W.L.R. 580, 7 W.W.R. 876.

DOCUMENTS—PRODUCTION OF—PLACE—DISCRETION OF JUDGE—MAY BE OUTSIDE JURISDICTION.

The place at which documents referred to in an affidavit on production are to be produced for inspection is within the discretion of the judge of first instance, and may, under special circumstances, be a place outside of the jurisdiction. [Bustros v. Bustros, 30 W.L.R. 374, followed.]

Lumber Manufacturers' Yards v. Moose Jaw Flour Mills, 20 D.L.R. 781, 7 S.L.R. 437, 30 W.L.R. 580, 7 W.W.R. 876.

PARTY RESISTING — RESTRICTIONS — INSUFFICIENCY OF GROUNDS—COSTS.

The party resisting discovery is not restricted to the grounds set forth in his affidavit of documents when an application is made to force him to produce, but the insufficiency of the grounds alleged will be considered on the question of costs.

Lumber Manufacturers' Yards v. Moose Jaw Flour Mills, 20 D.L.R. 781, 7 S.L.R. 437, 30 W.L.R. 580, 7 W.W.R. 876.

ACTION AGAINST COMPANY DIRECTORS FOR FRAUD—PRODUCTION OF AUDITORS' REPORTS—WHEN ORDERED—RELEVANCY—PRIVILEGED COMMUNICATIONS.

London Guarantee v. Henderson, 25 D.L.R. 754, 25 Man. L.R. 726, 9 W.W.R. 268, [See also 23 D.L.R. 38.]

DOCUMENTS—BETTER AFFIDAVIT—IDENTIFICATION—ISSUE AS TO RELEASE—ACCOUNT—RELEVANCY OF DOCUMENTS.

Rundle v. Trusts & Guarantee Co., 11 D.L.R. 845, 4 O.W.N. 1438, 24 O.W.R. 733.

BETTER AFFIDAVIT ON PRODUCTION—PRIVILEGE—REPORTS OBTAINED FOR INFORMATION OF SOLICITOR.

St. Clair v. Stair, 14 D.L.R. 919, 5 O.W.N. 269, affirming 12 D.L.R. 840.

PRODUCTION OF DOCUMENTS—LETTERS WRITTEN "WITHOUT PREJUDICE"—BREACHES OF CONTRACT—SCOPE OF EXAMINATION.

Pearlman v. National Life Ass'ee Co., 39 O.L.R. 141.

PRODUCTION OF DOCUMENTS—COPY CONTAINING LABEL.

A plaintiff suing for libel alleged to be contained in a letter sent by defendant to plaintiff's employers, which he alleges they have allowed him to see but not to copy, and setting out the letter in his statement of claim as well as he can remember it, cannot under rr. 489, 490, 491 of the King's Bench Act, upon a motion made prior to the trial, to amend the statement of claim by substituting an exact copy of the letter, compel the production of the document before the referee by a witness subpoenaed to attend on such motion and to produce such document, although such witness admits on oath that he is an officer of the employer and that as such he has in his possession a letter or writing referring to the plaintiff and signed by the defendant. So held by the Court of Appeal but without prejudice to the right of the plaintiff to apply at the trial to amend.

Poppitt v. Bowes, 27 Man. L.R. 616, [1917] 2 W.W.R. 194.

PRODUCTION OF DOCUMENTS—PLACE.

The discretion of a local Master in ordering a place for production ought not to be lightly interfered with. Held, upon the facts, that the proper place for inspection of documents in an action pending in the judicial district of Moose Jaw was at the office of the solicitor on the record in Regina.

Port Huron v. Gwin, 10 S.L.R. 60, [1917] 1 W.W.R. 1310.

PRODUCTION OF DOCUMENTS AND EXAMINATION OF PARTIES—ACTION FOR POSSESSION AND MESNE PROFITS — PRELIMINARY ISSUE AS TO RIGHT OF POSSESSION — POSTPONEMENT OF DISCOVERY AS TO MEASURE OF MESNE PROFITS—RULE 352 — COSTS.

Jarvis v. Keith, 9 O.W.N. 138.

PRODUCTION OF DOCUMENTS—EXAMINATION OF DEFENDANT—POSTPONEMENT OF DISCOVERY UNTIL LIABILITY TO ACCOUNT ESTABLISHED.

Foster v. Ryckman, 7 O.W.N. 665.

FURTHER PRODUCTION AND EXAMINATION—NOT RELEVANT TO ISSUE.

Davison v. Thompson, 4 O.W.N. 396, 23 O.W.R. 888.

MOTION FOR BETTER AFFIDAVIT—GROUNDS FOR.

Hay v. Coste, 4 O.W.N. 831, 24 O.W.R. 116.

EXAMINATION OF OFFICERS OF PLAINTIFF COMPANY—PRODUCTION OF BOOKS—AFFIDAVIT ON PRODUCTION—PRACTICE.

North American Exploration Co. v. Greene, 4 O.W.N. 1142, 24 O.W.R. 449.

MOTION FOR BETTER AFFIDAVIT FROM DEFENDANT COMPANY—DEALING IN SHARES—CONTRACT.

Jarvis v. Lamb, 4 O.W.N. 945, 24 O.W.R. 220.

PRODUCTION SOUGHT OF DOCUMENTS NOT RELEVANT TO CASE MADE ON PLEADINGS — LEAVE TO AMEND — FURTHER DISCOVERY.

Antiseptic Bedding Co. v. Gurofsky, 4 O.W.N. 1221, 24 O.W.R. 493.

IMPEACHING AFFIDAVIT OF DOCUMENTS — EXAMINATION FOR DISCOVERY — FURTHER AND BETTER AFFIDAVITS.

Phillips v. Lawson, 23 O.W.R. 965.

PRODUCTION OF DOCUMENTS — AFFIDAVITS — INFORMATION OBTAINABLE ON EXAMINATION OF PARTIES.

Kennedy v. Kennedy, 4 O.W.N. 1560, 24 O.W.R. 875.

DEPOSIT OF DOCUMENTS — PRODUCTION.

Grills v. Canadian General Securities Co., 4 O.W.N. 982, 1223, 24 O.W.R. 547.

PRODUCTION OF DOCUMENTS — AFFIDAVIT ON PRODUCTION — RIGHT TO CONTRADICT.

Forbes v. Davison, 11 O.W.N. 61, 86.

PRODUCTION OF DOCUMENTS — PLANS — ACCOUNTING FOR DOCUMENTS WHICH HAVE PASSED OUT OF POSSESSION OF PARTY — DOCUMENTS IN HANDS OF PARTY SEEKING PRODUCTION.

Wardlaw v. West Rydal; Pearson v. West Rydal, 10 O.W.N. 385.

ALIMONY — PRODUCTION OF DOCUMENTS BY DEFENDANT TO SHOW ASSETS — PRELIMINARY QUESTION OF LIABILITY — TRIAL OF, BEFORE QUANTUM OF ALIMONY ASCERTAINED — REFERENCE.

Whimley v. Whimley, 12 O.W.N. 229.

EXAMINATION OF DOCUMENTS — CROSS-EXAMINATION OF BY GARNISHEE—C.P. 591.

If a garnishee has, in his examination, referred to certain documents, the court may order the production of such documents that the seizing party may examine them.

Major v. Birchenough, 16 Que. P.R. 239.

PRODUCTION OF DOCUMENTS — AFFIDAVIT — PRESUMPTION OF POSSESSION.

A party who has made an affidavit of documents cannot be ordered to make a further affidavit, unless there is upon the face of the affidavit itself or of the documents referred to in it or in his pleadings or by his admission something raising a presumption that he has in his possession other relevant documents in addition to those of which he has admitted possession.

Farrer v. Kelso, [1917] 2 W.W.R. 1024.

PRODUCTION OF DOCUMENTS — DESCRIPTION.

The least description of a bundle of documents for which privilege is claimed which would be sufficient for the purposes of an affidavit on production of documents should give the number of the documents and every one of them should be stated to be initiated by the deponent or, in the case of a company, by some person connected with the office of the company.

Wortman v. C.N.R., 35 W.L.R. 428.

DOCUMENTS — AFFIDAVIT — DESCRIPTION.

An affidavit on production of document is insufficient if it describes them a "bundle," etc., and not by separate description.

Morse v. Moore Bros., 10 W.W.R. 966.

PRODUCTION OF DOCUMENTS RETAINED IN SOLICITOR'S OFFICE — INCRIMINATION — PROTECTION — AFFIDAVITS.

A custom for solicitors to retain in their own offices the documents produced by their clients and there to permit inspection of such documents is insufficient to warrant a directing of the express terms of r. 425 directing a deposit with the proper officer.

An order for production omitting the direction to deposit is insufficient whereon to ground an application for attachment or the striking out of a defence. A man is entitled to protect himself by refusing to answer questions, or to produce documents which might tend to incriminate him, but must in doing so satisfy the court or judge that under the circumstances of the particular case an answer of production might have that tendency. On a motion for production of documents disclosed in the affidavit of documents and for which the party has insufficiently claimed protection, he is, as a rule, allowed to file further affidavits for the purpose of shewing that they ought to be protected.

ATY-Gen'l v. Kelly (No. 2), 9 W.W.R. 863, 33 W.L.R. 233. [Appeal dismissed March 16, 1916.]

ACCIDENT REPORTS IN RAILWAY CASES — PRIVILEGE.

An affidavit of documents objecting to produce "all reports, letters, documents, or plans prepared or written for the city solicitor for the purpose of assisting him in defending the action," is insufficient. The reports should be specified together with the names of the officers who made them, so as to enable the court to decide whether they should be produced or whether they are privileged. Where reports of an accident are made by railway employees in the regular course of their duty, such reports are not privileged, but where they are made for the information of the solicitor of the railway company, for his advice thereon, or to enable him to defend an action, either actually brought or contemplated, they are privileged.

United Motor Co. v. Regina, 8 W.W.R. 185.

(§ I-3)—OF REALTY — INSPECTION OF MINE — RELEVANCE — PLEADING.

Jackman v. Worth, 4 O.W.N. 1220, 24 O.W.R. 596.

SERVICE OF WRIT OF SUMMONS — CON. RR. 223 AND 224 — PRESUMPTION THAT PARTY SEED A PARTNER — PARTNERSHIP DENIED — EXAMINATION FOR DISCOVERY.

Telfer v. Dun, 2 O.W.N. 1146, 19 O.W.R. 298, reversing 2 O.W.N. 1126.

EXAMINATION OF DEFENDANT — NEGOTIATIONS CAUSED ADJOURNMENT SINE DIE — DUTY OF DEFENDANT.

Horton v. Maclean, 2 O.W.N. 1493, 19 O.W.R. 891.

APPLICATION TO COMPEL PRODUCTION OF REPORT OF AN ACCIDENT MADE IMMEDIATELY AFTER ITS OCCURRENCE.

[Betts v. G.T.R. Co., 12 P.R. 86, 634, distinguished.]

Yonhocus v. Canada Foundry Co., 3 O.W.N. 44, 19 O.W.R. 966.

FURTHER EXAMINATION OF DEFENDANT — OBJECTION TO PRODUCE DOCUMENTS AS PRIVILEGED — ASSIGNMENT — COMMISSION IN LIEU OF COSTS.

Clarke v. Bartram & O'Kelly Mines, 19 O.W.R. 153, 2 O.W.N. 1056.

HUSBAND AND WIFE — ORDER FOR DISCOVERY — INABILITY TO SERVE ON FEMALE DEFENDANT — DEFAULT.

Langhaer v. Isaacson, 16 H.C.R. 321.

EXAMINATION OF DEFENDANT — NO CASE MADE AGAINST DEFENDANT ON STATEMENT OF CLAIM — REFUSAL TO ANSWER QUESTIONS.

Winnipeg Granite and Marble Co. v. Bennett, 19 W.L.R. 567, 21 Man. L.R. 743.

INSPECTION OF BUILDING — SHORT NOTICE — PRACTICE — JURISDICTION OF DEPUTY COUNTY COURT JUDGE.

Keyes v. McKeon, 23 O.L.R. 529, 18 O.W.R. 593.

EXAMINATION OF PLAINTIFF FOR DISCOVERY — PRIVILEGE — MALICE — SCOPE OF QUESTIONS.

Klenman v. Schmidt, 18 W.L.R. 393.

REPORTS OF EMPLOYEE TO THE COMPANY AND ITS ATTORNEY CONCERNING AN ACCIDENT — PRIVILEGED COMMUNICATIONS.

Beardsell v. Montreal Str. Ry. Co., 13 Que. P.R. 152.

II. Physical examination.

(§ II-5)—NUISANCE—GLUE AND FERTILIZER FACTORY—INSPECTION BY WITNESSES AND EXPERTS.

The plaintiffs alleged that the business carried on by the defendants in their glue and fertilizer factory constituted a nuisance, and that the defendants were negligent in the operation of their factory and plant; and the plaintiffs claimed an injunction and damages: Held, that the plaintiffs were entitled to an order, under rr. 266, 370, for the inspection (before the trial of the action) of the defendants' factory by the plaintiffs' witnesses and experts. [Barlow v. Baley, 18 W.R. 783, distinguished.]

Danforth Glebe Estate v. Harris & Co., 39 O.L.R. 553. [See 12 O.W.N. 189.]

(§ II-7)—GROUNDS FOR REFUSING—POSTPONEMENT OF TRIAL—ACTION FOR DAMAGES FOR PERSONAL INJURIES.

Barber v. Sandwich, Windsor & Amherburg R. Co., 1 D.L.R. 919, 3 O.W.N. 809.

MOTION FOR MEDICAL EXAMINATION OF PLAINTIFFS—CON. RR. 442, 462.

Kippen v. Baldwin, 3 O.W.N. 121, 20 O.W.R. 263.

IV. By interrogatories or depositions.

(§ IV—20)—Where the issue raised is whether, as charged by the plaintiff, a purchase contract for land had been assigned by way of loan to enable the assignee to pledge the same to a third party, such assignee concurrently transferring to the assignor of the land certain company shares as security for the return of the purchase contract, or whether, as claimed by defendant, the transfer of the latter was made absolutely in exchange for the shares, but no concealment, misrepresentation or fraud is charged against the defendant, the value of the shares as known to the parties at the time of the transaction may be relevant so as to form a subject of examination of defendant for discovery, but the fact of whether or not the shares were fully paid up and whether the defendant had paid anything on the shares is not relevant and the defendant will not be compelled to answer on discovery in regard to the latter points, although his pleading described the shares as "fully paid up." On examination for discovery under the Manitoba King's Bench Rules of 1902, FF. 387, 395, the plaintiff may question the defendant under oath not only as to facts which would go to prove the plaintiff's case, but by way of cross-examination to obtain statements or admissions from the defendant which would tend to displace the defence pleaded.

Morrison v. Rutledge, 8 D.L.R. 325, 22 Man. L.R. 645, 22 W.L.R. 364, 3 W.W.R. 121.

The opposite party may, upon an examination for discovery, be asked as to what relevant documents are in his custody or power, notwithstanding that his affidavit of documents already filed contains no reference to the documents forming the object of the examination. [MacMahon v. R. Passenger Ins. Co., 5 D.L.R. 423, approved.]

Stapley v. C.P.R. Co., 6 D.L.R. 97, 5 A.L.R. 391, 22 W.L.R. 1, 2 W.W.R. 894.

PERSONS FOR WHOSE IMMEDIATE BENEFIT ACTION PROSECUTED—CON. R. 440—AFFIDAVIT—INSUFFICIENCY.

Aikens v. McQuire, 6 D.L.R. 864, 4 O.W.N. 132, 23 O.W.R. 98.

Where plaintiff has put in evidence certain questions and answers from the defendant's examination for discovery, and defendant's counsel asks to read and does read certain other questions and answers which he says are explanatory, these questions can only become evidence if they are explanatory of what has already been put in, and if the Trial Judge, finding that they are not explanatory, does not direct that they be read in evidence, they are not before the court on appeal and cannot be looked at.

Washburn v. Robertson, 8 D.L.R. 183, 3 W.W.R. 209.

BY INTERROGATORIES OR DEPOSITIONS—ACTION FOR PRICE OF GOODS—COUNTERCLAIM—INFERIOR QUALITY OF GOODS—PARTICULARS OF SALES AND RETURN OF GOODS BY CUSTOMERS.

Canadian Oil Co. v. Clarkson, 3 D.L.R. 873, 3 O.W.N. 1331, 22 O.W.R. 230.

Upon a motion to compel answers upon an examination for discovery the pleadings and particulars are to be treated as the basis of the inquiry to be made as to whether the questions asked are relevant to the issues, and if objection is to be taken to the particulars or pleadings it must be done by substantive motion. In an action for slander upon a member of the governing body of a municipality in respect of his fitness for such membership, questions upon the examination of the plaintiff for discovery touching his general character, competence, capacity and ability are relevant and must be answered.

Brown v. Orle, 2 D.L.R. 562, 3 O.W.N. 1230.

BY DEPOSITION—ADMISSIBILITY—BY WHOM INTRODUCED—AFTER DECEASED'S DEATH.

Where the original plaintiff to an action was examined before trial by the defendant for discovery, the plaintiff's executors continuing the action on his death cannot give such depositions in evidence on their behalf unless the defendant has first used them.

Cartwright v. Toronto, 20 D.L.R. 189, 50 Can. S.C.R. 215, 50 C.L.J. 585, affirming 13 D.L.R. 604, 29 O.L.R. 73.

WILL CONTEST—INTERROGATORIES AND DEPOSITIONS—EXAMINATION BEFORE TRIAL.

An executor who has obtained probate in the Surrogate Court will not be compelled in an action brought in a Superior Court to set aside the will and probate thereof on the ground of the testator's mental incapacity to answer questions on an examination for discovery relating solely to a possible accounting in case the will and probate should be set aside; the plaintiff must establish that the will is invalid before he is entitled to discovery upon an accounting, in which otherwise he would have no interest. The examination of the opposite party for discovery before trial must be limited to matter relevant to the issues raised by the pleadings but subject thereto it has the same scope as a cross-examination at the trial.

Carney v. Carney, 15 D.L.R. 297, 6 S.L.R. 373, 26 W.L.R. 398, 5 W.W.R. 849.

RELEVANCY OF INTERROGATORIES UNDER PLEADINGS.

The right to discovery is limited to matters relevant to the case set up in the pleadings. [Hennessy v. Wright, 24 Q.B.D. 145, followed.]

Playfair v. Cormack, 9 D.L.R. 455, 4 O.W.N. 817, 24 O.W.R. 56, reversing 4 O.W.N. 647, 23 O.W.R. 783.

REFUSAL TO BE SWORN — OBJECTION ON GROUND OF PRIVILEGE FROM ANSWERING.

An objection by defendant to being examined for discovery in an action upon the forfeiture clause in a land contract claiming the cancellation of the contract and forfeiture of the money paid thereunder, is prematurely taken when the defendant refused to be sworn on the ground that the action was one to enforce a penalty or forfeiture; the objection of privilege, if available upon the facts, is to be raised not by refusing to be sworn, but by afterwards taking objection to any particular question put to him and obtaining a ruling thereon as provided by r. 294 of the Saskatchewan C. r. 1911.

Bartleman v. Moretti, 9 D.L.R. 805, 23 W.L.R. 533, 4 W.W.R. 132.

INTERROGATORIES AND ORAL EXAMINATION.

The rights of discovery by interrogatories and by oral examination, given by the Manitoba rules, are cumulative. [Timmons v. National Life Assurance Co., 19 Man. L.R. 139, and 227, applied.]

Baskin v. Linden, 17 D.L.R. 21, 24 Man. L.R. 352, 28 W.L.R. 130.

BENEFICIAL PARTIES — EXAMINATION OF BENEFICIARIES AND DISTRIBUTUTES.

A person entitled to a distributive share as a beneficiary of the estate of an intestate is not a person for whose "immediate benefit" an action is prosecuted by the administrator to recover from a third party funds alleged to be the property of the estate, and such beneficiary therefore cannot be examined for discovery under r. 334, Ont. C.R. 1913. [Stow v. Currie, 14 O.W.R. 223, followed; Macdonald v. Norwich Union Ins. Co., 10 P.R. (Ont.) 462; Garland v. Clarkson, 9 O.L.R. 281, distinguished.]

Trusts and Guarantee Co. v. Smith, 21 D.L.R. 711, 33 O.L.R. 155.

DEFINITENESS OF PERSONS NAMED — EMPLOYEES.

Under the Alberta Practice Rules (rt. 225, 234) an order for examination for discovery must plainly designate the person to be examined. The words "any person who is or has been employed by the defendant company" are too general and should be struck out.

McLean v. C.P.R., 28 D.L.R. 550, 12 A.L.R. 61, 34 W.L.R. 843, 10 W.W.R. 949.

CORPORATION — MISTAKE — AMENDMENT — NEW TRIAL.

An answer to an interrogatory by a defendant, as long as it remains unamended, is an admission of fact binding on him; answers to interrogatories by corporations are to be made after full inquiries and investigation as required by the rules;

where a jury is misled in its verdict by a mistake of the defendant in answering an interrogatory, a new trial will be ordered to enable the defendant to amend and re-frame the answers.

Pyne v. C.P.R. Co., 37 D.L.R. 751, 28 Man. L.R. 266, [1917] 3 W.W.R. 836.

ORDER FOR FURTHER EXAMINATION — STAY OF PROCEEDINGS UNTIL PLAINTIFF'S RETURN FROM ABROAD.

MacMahon v. R. Passengers' Ass'ce Co., 3 D.L.R. 892, 3 O.W.N. 1514.

In an action upon an accident insurance policy upon the life of the plaintiff's mother, where one of the defences is misrepresentation as to the age of the deceased, the plaintiff, on his examination for discovery, must answer questions as to the marriage certificate of his parents, which may be material in determining the age of the deceased, notwithstanding the fact that no mention of any marriage certificate has been made in his affidavit on production. [Dryden & Smith, 17 P.R. 500, distinguished.]

MacMahon v. R. Passengers' Ass'ce Co. (No. 2), 5 D.L.R. 423, 26 O.L.R. 430, 22 O.W.R. 196.

Discovery is in aid of the case as pleaded, and the examining party has no right to interrogate for the purpose of finding out something of which he knows nothing now, and which may enable him to present a case of which he has no knowledge, and which he has not set up in his pleadings.

Carter v. Foley-O'Brien Co., 5 D.L.R. 28, 3 O.W.N. 888.

One, who, subject to the approval of a company, solicits orders and sells machinery for it, and receives a commission on all sales effected by him, is an "officer" of the company, within the meaning of Sask. r. 201, which permits the examination of the officers of a company for discovery, since the word "officer" must receive a wide interpretation. [Powell v. Edmonton, Y. & P.R. Co., 2 A.L.R. 339, followed.]

Nichols & Shepard Co. v. Skedamuk, 4 D.L.R. 450, 5 A.L.R. 110, 21 W.L.R. 401, 2 W.W.R. 359.

Where relevant information for discovery to the opposite party in a damage action is specially within the knowledge of the plaintiff company's former agent and not of their present manager, the court may direct that the plaintiffs shall either produce the former agent for discovery or, in the alternative, that the plaintiff company's manager attend for further examination for discovery after having applied to the former agent for the information and thereupon disclose the information so obtained. [Bolekow v. Fisher, 10 Q.B.D. 161, distinguished.]

Ont. & Western Co-operative Fruit Co. v. Hamilton, G. & B. R. Co., 1 D.L.R. 485, 21 O.W.R. 82.

Under the Sask. rr. 278, 279 (1911), a person who is or has been an officer of a company may be examined for discovery in an action against that company, but a former foreman or employee not being an officer cannot be examined after the employment has terminated.

Toronto General Trusts v. Municipal Construction Co., 1 D.L.R. 552, 5 S.L.R. 126.

EXAMINATION OF DEFENDANT — LIBEL — QUESTIONS AS TO SIMILAR STATEMENTS — PRIVILEGE.

Meyer v. Clarke, 1 D.L.R. 927, 3 O.W.N. 893.

EXAMINATION OF FOREIGN DEFENDANT ON COMMISSION—COSTS, R. 477—PAYMENT OF CONDUCT MONEY TO BRING DEFENDANT TO ONTARIO.

Allen v. Grand Valley R. Co., 1 D.L.R. 903, 3 O.W.N. 687.

DEFAULT—FAILURE TO JUSTIFY—COSTS, R. 454—ORDER FOR PLAINTIFF TO ATTEND AT HIS OWN EXPENSE.

Rogers v. National Portland Cement Co., 6 D.L.R. 858 and 909, 4 O.W.N. 217 and 299, 23 O.W.R. 218.

RELEVANCY OF QUESTIONS—SCOPE OF EXAMINATION—PRODUCTION OF DOCUMENT.

Stewart v. Henderson, 6 D.L.R. 862, 4 O.W.N. 166, 23 O.W.R. 135.

OBJECTION TO BE SWORN—PRESENCE OF OPPOSITE PARTY.

Loper v. Cairns, 7 D.L.R. 913, 3 W.W.R. 37.

SALE OF WHEAT—DESTRUCTION BY FIRE—LOSS, BY WHOM BORNE—PROPERTY PASSING—SCOPE OF EXAMINATION—RELEVANCY OF QUESTIONS—FORMER DEALINGS BETWEEN PARTIES.

Inglis v. Richardson, 5 D.L.R. 880, 4 O.W.N. 23, 22 O.W.R. 977.

PLACE FOR EXAMINATION—RESIDENCE OF DEFENDANT—COSTS, RR. 447, 477.

Denneen v. Wallbert, 3 D.L.R. 891, 3 O.W.N. 1511.

DEPOSITIONS—EXAMINATION BEFORE TRIAL—DISCRETION OF COURT.

Covall v. Parsons Bldg. Co., 10 D.L.R. 805, 23 W.L.R. 529.

REFUSAL TO ANSWER QUESTIONS—IRRELEVANCY—NOTICE OF MOTION TO DISMISS ACTION—FAILURE TO SPECIFY QUESTIONS.

Clark v. Robinet, 10 D.L.R. 826, 4 O.W.N. 1092, 24 O.W.R. 399.

EXAMINATION OF CODEFENDANT—"PARTY ADVISE IN INTEREST"—ACTION TO ESTABLISH WILL—BENEFICIARIES.

Menzies v. McLeod, 25 D.L.R. 777, 34 O.L.R. 572.

EMPLOYEES—OFFICER OF CORPORATION.

An employee or officer of a corporation examined for discovery, cannot be compelled to give information acquired by him outside of his employment; the fact that an official has no personal knowledge of matters upon which information is desired is no ground for substituting another who has no knowledge acquired in a way which would make it available for the plaintiff on discovery.

Lea v. Medicine Hat, 35 D.L.R. 109, 11 A.L.R. 380, [1917] 2 W.W.R. 789. [See also 37 D.L.R. 1.]

PARTY RESIDENT OUT OF PROVINCE—COUNTERCLAIM—PERSON FOR WHOM BENEFIT ACTION BROUGHT—ASSIGNOR.

An order for the examination in Ontario of a person resident out of Ontario who was not a party to the action, but made a defendant by counterclaim, was varied so as to confine it to examination for discovery as to the counterclaim. The only cases in which an examination for discovery of a person resident out of Ontario may be had are those specifically provided for by rr. 328, 329. Examination for discovery of a person for whose benefit an action is brought and of the assignor of a chose in action, can be had only when the person is in Ontario and can be served with a subpoena: Rule 345 (2).

Stockbridge v. McMartin, 38 O.L.R. 95.

PRACTICE—DIVORCE—APPLICATION FOR SECURITY FOR COSTS—AFFIDAVIT IN SUPPORT—APPLICATION TO CROSS-EXAMINE ON.

On a petition for dissolution of marriage where there is a charge of adultery, neither the respondent, correspondent nor the petitioner, even where there is a counter charge, is bound to answer any question tending to prove him or her guilty of adultery.

Rogers v. Rogers, 25 B.C.R. 439.

COMMISSION TO EXAMINE PLAINTIFF—NECESSARY AND MATERIAL WITNESS—MATERIALITY OF EVIDENCE—TERMS ON WHICH ORDER WILL BE MADE—SECURITY FOR COSTS.

Stewart v. Henderson, 4 O.W.N. 355, 23 O.W.R. 414.

DISCOVERY—FURTHER AFFIDAVIT ON PRODUCTION — INSUFFICIENT MATERIAL—INSPECTION OF CAR.

Ramsay v. Toronto R. Co., 4 O.W.N. 420, 23 O.W.R. 513.

EXAMINATION OF DEFENDANTS—RELEVANCY OF QUESTIONS—PLEADING — AMENDMENT.

Gascayne v. Dinnick, 4 O.W.N. 1563, 24 O.W.R. 865.

EXAMINATION OF DEFENDANT—AMENDMENT OF STATEMENT OF CLAIM—FURTHER EXAMINATION.

Becher v. Ryckman, 4 O.W.N. 848, 24 O.W.R. 108.

EXAMINATION OF DEFENDANT—OFFICER OF COURT—PLACE OF EXAMINATION—EXPENSE.

Jordan v. Jordan, 4 O.W.N. 1484, 24 O.W.R. 842.

EXAMINATION OF PLAINTIFF—ACTION TO SET ASIDE AGREEMENTS—ALLEGATION OF PHYSICAL AND MENTAL INCAPACITY OF PLAINTIFF—ORDER FOR ATTENDANCE OF PLAINTIFF AT HIS OWN HOUSE—PRESENCE OF MEDICAL ADVISER.
Smith v. Stanley Mills Co., 4 O.W.N. 1269, 24 O.W.R. 510.

EXAMINATION OF PLAINTIFF—GENERAL QUESTIONS—RELEVANCY.
Wilson v. Suburban Estate Co., 4 O.W.N. 679, 23 O.W.R. 968.

JUDGMENT DEBITOR—EXAMINATION OF—SCOPE OF INQUIRY—REFUSAL TO ANSWER AS TO ASSETS REMOVED TO ANOTHER PROVINCE—RULES 580, 587—ORDER FOR FURTHER EXAMINATION—REFUSAL TO LEAVE TO APPEAL.
McGuinity v. Hamer, 8 O.W.N. 228.

EXAMINATION OF PARTIES—SCOPE OF—LIMITATION OF CASE MADE ON PLEADINGS—FOUNDATION FOR AMENDMENT.
Clarke v. Robinet, 8 O.W.N. 263.

EXAMINATION OF PERSON FOR WHOM BENEFIT ACTION PROSECUTED—RULE 334—ACTION BY TRUSTEE FOR CREDITORS—EXAMINATION OF MEMBER OF CREDITOR PANEL.
Argles v. Pollock, 12 O.W.N. 158.

EXAMINATION OF DEFENDANT—REFUSAL TO ANSWER QUESTIONS—VALIDITY OF AGREEMENT SET UP BY AGENT AND TRUSTEE—REFUSAL OF APPLICATION FOR TRIAL OF PRELIMINARY ISSUE AND POSTPONEMENT OF DISCOVERY.
Imperial Trusts Co. v. Jackson, 12 O.W.N. 126, 127.

EXAMINATION OF DEFENDANT—REFUSAL TO ANSWER QUESTIONS—ORDER STRIKING OFF DEFENCE.
Link v. Thompson, 11 O.W.N. 282, 390. [See also 12 O.W.N. 338.]

EXAMINATION OF DEFENDANT—SCOPE OF—INFORMATION OBTAINABLE FROM STRANGERS TO ACTION—EXAMINATION OF PERSONS FOR WHOM BENEFIT ACTION SAID TO BE DEFENDED—RULE 334—PERSONS LIVING OUT OF ONTARIO.
Jarvis v. Jaffray, 16 O.W.N. 97.

PRACTICE—ORDER FOR ATTENDANCE OF EXAMINATION FOR DISCOVERY—DEFAULT—DISMISSAL OF ACTION—PLAINTIFF ABSENT OUT OF THE JURISDICTION—SOLICITOR FOR PLAINTIFF UNABLE TO FIND HIM—RULES 328, 337.
Campbell v. Lebnox, 17 O.W.N. 179.

EXAMINATION FOR DISCOVERY—EXTRA-TERRITORIAL SERVICE—REGULARITY—WAIVER.

The omission to serve upon the party to be examined a copy of the order for examination for discovery outside the jurisdiction and, upon his solicitor, a copy of the appointment, are irregularities which would justify the party to be examined in refusing to attend on the examination. [Senn v. Hewett, 8 P.R. 70, applied.] Attendance by such party at the examination for the purpose of objecting to the proceedings, together with the fact that he was sworn (but not until after he had objected to the proceedings), does not amount to a waiver of the irregularities. Where it is very inconvenient to serve the appointment on the solicitor of the party to be examined, the order should provide that such solicitor should furnish the solicitor of the other party with the name and address of his agent at the place where the examination is to be conducted and that such agent should be served with the appointment. If a party resides outside the jurisdiction and comes temporarily within Saskatchewan his attendance for examination can only be obtained by an order under r. 285, and not by appointment under r. 283. If a party resides within Saskatchewan, he can only be examined at the office of the local registrar nearest to the place where he resides, unless special reasons are shown why he should not be. A second examination for discovery can only be held by leave of the court.

Dickson v. Gibbons, 6 W.W.R. 517, 27 W.L.R. 731.

The defendant had answered interrogatories sur faits et articles. He refused to sign his answers and wished to substitute a document prepared by his attorney. This was rejected and he appeared again to answer. Some of his replies contradicted those he had formally given—Held, that this was not a sufficient reason to allow the plaintiff's attorney to put supplementary questions.

Riordan v. McLeod, 13 Que. P.R. 266.
A party summoned to answer interrogatories sur faits et articles may make use of written answers which he prepared beforehand.

Phelan v. Coutlee, 13 Que. P.R. 239.

OFFICER OF CORPORATION.

The party who summons his opponent, or the latter's manager if it is a company, for examination on discovery should give notice thereof to the adversary's attorney. Permission of the court is necessary for examination of a party or his representative on discovery more than once, and special reasons should be given for obtaining it. Quere, is it permissible to examine on discovery the general manager of a company who resides in Ontario after having examined the local or provincial manager who resides in Quebec?

Durand v. Excelsior Life Ins. Co., 14 Que. P.R. 243.

The party who summons his opponent to be examined on discovery should give notice of such summons to the latter's attorney.

Ottawa Wine Vaults Co. v. Larche, 15 Que. P.R. 21.

BY INTERROGATORIES OR DEPOSITIONS.

A party will be allowed to answer interrogatories sur faits et articles even after an order to enter judgment if the delay is justified.

O'Brien v. Quebec & Saguenay R. Co., 14 Que. P.R. 177.

COMPANY EMPLOYEE—PRODUCTION OF DOCUMENTS.

In an action against a corporation the employee most fitted to give information may be examined on discovery, whatever his title. The production of a report prepared by the employees of a corporation for the use of its attorneys cannot be demanded.

Savignac v. Montreal Tramways Co., 18 Que. P.R. 369.

PLAINTIFF RESIDING ABROAD—PLACE FOR EXAMINATION—"JUST AND CONVENIENT."

One of the plaintiffs, in an action brought in the Supreme Court of Ontario, resided in New York, and an order was made, under r. 328, requiring him to attend in Toronto for examination for discovery at the instance of the defendants. On appeal the order was varied so as to provide for the examination taking place in New York. Ordinarily the place of residence of the person to be examined is the proper place for his examination; in this case no special circumstances were suggested; and it seemed "just and convenient" (r. 328) that the examination should take place in New York.

Duell v. Oxford Knitting Co., 42 O.L.R. 498.

EXAMINATION OF DEFENDANT—DISCLOSURE OF NAME OF PERSON TO WHOM PRINTED COPIES OF LIBELOUS DOCUMENT GIVEN—

RE-EXAMINATION OF DEFENDANT—REFUSAL TO ANSWER—MOTION TO COMMIT—FORUM—ORDER FOR FURTHER ATTENDANCE—COSTS.

Hays v. Weiland, 14 O.W.N. 189. [See 43 D.L.R. 137, 42 O.L.R. 637.]

EXAMINATION OF PERSONS FOR WHOSE BENEFIT ACTION DEFENDED—RULE 334.

Patterson v. Toronto General Trusts Corporation, 15 O.W.N. 42.

RIGHT OF DEFENDANT—LEAVE.

Until the defence has been delivered the defendant is not entitled to examine for discovery without leave.

Mitchell v. Renfrew, [1918] 1 W.W.R. 942.

DEMAND OF NOTICE—ISSUE OF DAMAGES.

An examination for discovery may be ordered in an action wherein no defence, but only a demand of notice, has been delivered, and the only issue to be determined is the amount of damages.

Bowen v. C.N.R., [1918] 1 W.W.R. 417.

INFORMATION BY EMPLOYEE—RIGHT TO COMPEL ANSWERS.

In an action by a purchaser to set aside an agreement for sale, held that the defendant must answer an examination for discovery certain questions in regard to information obtained by him from his employee who conducted the transaction with the plaintiff.

Burns v. Henderson, [1918] 1 W.W.R. 885.

DUTY OF EXAMINEE—INFORMATION—DISCLOSURE.

A party on examination for discovery is bound to make reasonable efforts to inform himself of all matters material to the issue, and to disclose such information.

Bondar v. Usinovich, 11 S.L.R. 64, [1918] 1 W.W.R. 557.

MORTGAGE—DISCOVERY AFTER JUDGMENT.

Where judgment is obtained on a mortgage the mortgagor may be required under r. 634, to attend for examination, notwithstanding the fact that, because of subs. 2 of s. 62 of the Land Titles Act, execution of the judgment is stayed.

Franco Belgium Investment Co. v. McNamara, [1918] 2 W.W.R. 929.

EXAMINATION OF WITNESS ABOUT TO LEAVE PROVINCE.

A witness who is ill, or about to leave the province, may be examined any time after the service of the summons and before the return of the writ.

Forest v. Montreal Tramways Co., 19 Que. P.R. 257.

FOREMAN—WORKMEN'S COMPENSATION ACT.

In an action under the Workmen's Compensation Act, the employer's foreman may be examined for discovery.

Stychlinsky v. Can. Steel Foundries, 20 Que. P.R. 131.

EXAMINATION AFTER JUDGMENT.

A creditor has a right to interrogate his debtor from time to time as to his property, and the latter cannot escape from the order by saying that he has already been interrogated, or that other means of execution have been taken against him.

Tracey v. Pariseau, 19 Que. P.R. 18.

EXAMINATION AFTER JUDGMENT—ILLNESS OF DEBTOR.

An attorney for a party to an action is functus officio as soon as judgment has been given. An attorney, who appears on a rule nisi issued against his client, is not entitled to a notice, if his client is later examined under art. 590 C.C.P. An application may be made to examine, after judgment, a debtor sick at his home, without being bound to notify him of such application. Even if such examination disturbs the debtor, the creditor exercising the right is not liable for damages.

Asselin v. Ducharme, 19 Que. P.R. 374.

DISCOVERY—SECURITY TO DEFENDANT ATTACKED AS FRAUDULENT AGAINST CREDITORS—REFUSAL OF DEFENDANT ON EXAMINATION TO STATE WHAT SECURITIES RECEIVED—RIGHT TO DISCOVERY.

The greatest latitude should be allowed to a party who is examining an adverse party for discovery so that the fullest inquiry may be made as to all matters which can possibly affect the issues between the patties. In examination for discovery in an action alleging execution of an assignment and power of attorney in favour of defendant in fraud of plaintiff and other creditors, defendant was asked, "You state that you did receive some securities at that time, will you tell us what those securities were?" which defendant refused to answer except as to the documents specifically attacked in the statement of claim. Plaintiff did not know, when he instituted action, what securities were assigned to defendant nor the nature of such assignment. Held defendant should answer the question and give information relating to the securities.

Mount Hope v. Findlay, [1919] 1 W.W.R. 297.

DISCOVERY—EXAMINATION—LATITUDE AND RELEVANCY OF QUESTIONS.

Where plaintiff claimed that a certain option for purchase of land was taken by defendant W. for plaintiff's benefit, and that defendant bank and defendant S. Co. had notice of such claim, and that to secure an indebtedness of W. to the bank the option was assigned by W. to S. Co., the purchase completed in its name and financed by the bank and the S. Co. and its business was owned and controlled by the bank, and alternatively that the transaction was an acquiring of land by the bank contrary to the Bank Act; the plaintiff was allowed on examination for discovery of officers of the bank and of S. Co. and the bank, not limited to the matter of the purchase of the particular land in question.

Johnson v. Walsh Land Co., [1919] 2 W.W.R. 713.

SECOND EXAMINATION OF PARTY—WHERE SUCH MAY BE ALLOWED.

It is a proper practice to allow a second examination of a party liable to examination for discovery where special circumstances are shown sufficient to satisfy the court that such is in the interests of justice. Where pleadings were amended raising new issues, an order for such second examination was made, limited to such new issues.

Graham v. Shannon, [1919] 2 W.W.R. 30.

ACTION FOR CRIMINAL CONVERSATION—NO RIGHT TO EXAMINE DEFENDANT FOR DISCOVERY—STATUTES—PARTICULAR ENACTMENT—SUBSEQUENT GENERAL ENACTMENT.

In an action for criminal conversation which is an action instituted in consequence of adultery, the defendant cannot be compelled to be examined for discovery, although r. 398 of the King's Bench Act makes no exception to the right of examination for discovery there generally given, the particular enactment of the Imperial Act, 32 and 33 Viet., c. 68, has not been repealed by necessary implication and is still in force. If defendant cannot be compelled to answer questions on an examination for discovery he should not be compelled to attend.

Warmbein v. Ulrich, [1919] 3 W.W.R. 959.

EXAMINATION—OFFICER OF COMPANY—LOCOMOTIVE FOREMAN—DUTY TO ACQUAINT HIMSELF WITH FACTS.

It is the duty of an officer of a defendant company examined for discovery to acquaint himself with the facts which are within the knowledge of other officers, servants or agents of the company who personally have knowledge of the facts or circumstances in question, which knowledge they acquire in that capacity. In an action for damages for the death of plaintiff's husband by being crushed between two cars in defendant's yards, a locomotive foreman of defendant company is an officer for purposes of such examination.

Giddings v. C.N.R. Co., [1919] 3 W.W.R. 15, affirming [1919] 1 W.W.R. 909.

PRACTICE—DISCOVERY—EXECUTION—EXAMINATION OF JUDGMENT DEBTOR—NECESSITY OF RETURN OF NULLA BONA ON WRIT OF EXECUTION BEFORE ORDER FOR EXAMINATION.

In re The Prudential Life Ins. Co. [1919] 3 W.W.R. 428.

PRACTICE—DISCOVERY IN ACTION FOR CRIMINAL CONVERSATION.

Rule 278 providing for examination for discovery is applicable to an action for criminal conversation.

Hunt v. Smith, [1919] 3 W.W.R. 586.

TWO DEFENDANTS—ONE DEFENDANT NOT DEFENDING BY DEMANDING NOTICE—EXAMINABLE FOR DISCOVERY.

In an action against two defendants for damages resulting from an automobile accident it was held that a defendant who had not defended but demanded notice of proceedings might be examined for discovery.

McCallum v. Mosher, [1919] 3 W.W.R. 537.

EXAMINATION FOR DISCOVERY—ISSUE OF NEW APPOINTMENT AND SUBPOENA—JURISDICTION OF COURT.

There is no power under the K.B. rules to serve a second subpoena and appointment for examination for discovery after one had already been served, but perhaps under such circumstances the court has power under its inherent jurisdiction to give leave for the service of a second subpoena and appointment.

McGilbon v. McNeil, 5 W.W.R. 1011.

GARNISHMENT—PARTIES AT BENEFIT.

The defendant is not a person "for whose immediate benefit" a garnishee issue in the action is being prosecuted to permit him to be examined for discovery by the garnishee. [Woodley v. Harker, 7 Terr. L.R. 334, 6 W.L.R. 102, followed; MacDonald v. Norwich Union, 10 P.R. 462, distinguished.]

U.S. Fidelity v. Gouin, 31 W.L.R. 912, 8 S.L.R. 182, 8 W.W.R. 1198.

SEVERAL DEFENDANTS—PARTNERSHIP.

In an action against two or more defendants in respect to a transaction which was entered into by them, in fact, though not nominally, as a partnership, the examination for discovery of each defendant may be used against the other or others.

Dominion Meat Co. v. Jamieson, [1917] 3 W.W.R. 929, 12 A.L.R. 353.

AS AGAINST CO-DEFENDANT.

Where there is no issue between plaintiffs and one of several defendants, that defendant is not bound to make discovery.

Welch v. McArthur, [1917] 1 W.W.R. 1343, reversing 24 B.C.R. 267, [1917] 1 W.W.R. 1081.

INTERROGATORIES ON ARTICULATED FACTS—NOTICE.

Differing from the examination on discovery, which is of English origin, the interrogation upon articulated facts is of French origin. Nothing in the law obliges the party who wishes to examine his adversary upon articulated facts, to give notice of the examination to his adversary's attorney.

Guillemette Co. v. Magnan, 17 Que. P.R. 461.

NOTICE.

Interrogatories upon articulated facts will be struck out if notice of service has not been given to the attorney of the party whom it is desired to interrogate.

Jago Co. v. Raymond Cement Products Co., 17 Que. P.R. 413.

EXAMINATION OF DEFENDANT—SECRET PROCESS—DISCLOSURE.

Ware v. Henderson, 11 O.W.N. 167.

MORTGAGE ACTION—AGENCY.

In a mortgage action A, the mortgagor, and B, the registered owner, of certain lands, A, pleaded that he had executed the mortgage as agent for B, to the knowledge of the plaintiff. When examined for discovery the plaintiff denies such knowledge. Held, that A, was not entitled to issue interrogatories to B, who had not defended.

Rutherford v. Mode, 34 W.L.R. 521.

(§ IV—31)—OFFICER OF CORPORATION—OFFICER OUT OF ONTARIO—PROOF OF OFFICIAL POSITION.

Con. r. 1321 (Ont.), providing for the making of an order for the examination for discovery "of an officer residing out of Ontario of any corporation party to any action," does not apply where a motion is made by the plaintiff for an order for the examination for discovery of the Canadian manager of an English company, with head offices in England, though the plaintiff swears this manager is conversant with the matters in issue in the action, but where the exact nature and duties of this manager's position are not shown, it not appearing clearly that he is an "officer" of the company.

Grocock v. Edgar Allen & Co. (No. 2), 10 D.L.R. 147, 4 O.W.N. 669, 23 O.W.R. 788.

OFFICER OR "SERVANT" OF CORPORATION—SALES AGENT.

The selling agent for a trading company who is held out as the company's "representative" and who assumed the right to sign the company's letters relied upon as constituting the contract in question is a "servant" of the company, examinable as such under r. 1259 (Ont. C.R. 1897), although paid only by commissions.

Clarke & Monds v. Provincial Steel Co., 9 D.L.R. 893, 4 O.W.N. 991, 24 O.W.R. 287.

RAILWAY EMPLOYEES—OFFICER OF CORPORATION.

One purpose of the Alberta Practice Rules (r. 234) is to enable a party to examine the opposite party, or such of his employees, as were directly connected with the transaction or occurrence, not merely as witnesses, but by reason of the character of their employment. Present or past employees who appear to have some knowledge touching the question in issue may be examined for discovery only.

McLean v. C.P.R., 28 D.L.R. 550, 12 A.L.R. 61, 34 W.L.R. 843, 10 W.W.R. 949.

Whether or not a person is an "officer" of a corporation for the purpose of being examined for discovery depends upon the circumstances of each particular case, and apart from any official designation given to him, may include an employee in a position of authority and responsibility to whom reports would be made by his assistants in the course of their duties.

King Lumber Mills v. C.P.R. Co., 2 D.L.R. 345, 17 B.C.R. 26, 19 W.L.R. 959.

A member of a firm, a part only of the business of which is to effect sales of the wares of an incorporated company on commission, who has no authority to close such sales or to bind the company by contract, and has no other connection with the company, cannot be examined for discovery as an officer of the company under the Alberta Supreme Court Rules. [Morrison v. G.T.R. Co., 5 O.L.R. 38, followed.] One who is examined for discovery as an officer of a corporation under the said rules must not only answer as to his individual knowledge, but must also obtain such further information from other officers, servants and agents of the corporation as will enable him to answer all proper questions, or must show sufficient reason for not doing so. [Southwark Water Co. v. Quick, 3 Q.B.D. 315, and Berkeley v. Standard Discount Co., 13 Ch.D. 97, followed.]

Nichols v. Skedanjuk (No. 2), 6 D.L.R. 115, 22 W.L.R. 114, 5 A.L.R. 110, 2 W.W.R. 1002, reversing 4 D.L.R. 430.

In an examination of an officer of a railway company for discovery in an action against the company for personal injuries, a motion to require the company to produce reports of its employees as to the accident which gave rise to the action, is answered by an affidavit made by another officer that such reports stated on their face that they were made only for the information of the company's solicitor and his advice thereon, and such affidavit is conclusive on the question of privilege as far as the motion proceedings are concerned, unless it can be shown from the documents produced or from the admissions in the pleadings or by the party himself that the affidavit is either untrue or has been made under a misapprehension of the legal position. There is no right under the practice established in discovery proceedings to cross-examine upon an affidavit filed by the officer being examined if such reports were made for the information of the company's solicitor and his advice thereon.

Swaissland v. G. T. R. Co., 5 D.L.R. 750, 3 O.W.N. 960.

A person in the employ of a railway company as a fire warden having superintendence over subordinates who patrolled a large territory to protect railway property from forest fires is an officer of the railway company for the purposes of discovery and not merely a servant.

King Lumber Mills v. C.P.R. Co., 2 D.L.R. 345, 17 B.C.R. 26, 19 W.L.R. 950.

FAILURE OF COMPANY'S OFFICER TO ATTEND EXAMINATION — IRREGULARITY IN PROCEEDINGS.

A defendant company cannot be penalized under K.B. r. 398 (Man.) on the ground that one of their officers had failed to attend an examination for discovery, when the officer was not properly subpoenaed.

Macdonald v. Domestic Utilities Manufacturing Co., 11 D.L.R. 812, 23 Man. L.R. 512, 24 W.L.R. 544, 4 W.W.R. 844, affirming 10 D.L.R. 429, 23 Man. L.R. 512.

EXAMINATION OF OFFICERS OF PLAINTIFF COMPANY — CON. R. 439 (A) — PRODUCTION OF DOCUMENTS — BETTER AFFIDAVIT.

Ontario & Minnesota Power Co. v. Rat Portage Lumber Co., 3 D.L.R. 866, 3 O.W.N. 1284, 22 O.W.R. 129.

EXAMINATION OF OFFICER OF COMPANY — MANAGING DIRECTOR — EMPLOYEES OR SERVANTS AS DISTINGUISHED FROM OFFICIALS.

Elliott v. Holmwood, 25 D.L.R. 765, 22 B.C.R. 335, 9 W.W.R. 490.

"PERSONS" EMPLOYED — OFFICER OF CORPORATION — KNOWLEDGE.

Magrath v. Collins, 31 D.L.R. 785, 12 A.L.R. 236, [1917] 1 W.W.R. 462, reversing 28 D.L.R. 723, 33 W.L.R. 907, 10 W.W.R. 19.

EXAMINATION OF OFFICER OF DEFENDANT TRUST COMPANY — STATUS OF SHAREHOLDER AS PLAINTIFF — BREACHES OF TRUST — ULTRA VIRES OR FRAUDULENT ACTS — SCOPE OF DISCOVERY.

Shaw v. Union Trust Co., 26 D.L.R. 757, 35 O.L.R. 146.

INQUISITORIAL POWER OF LIQUIDATOR — WINDING-UP BANK — RIGHT OF PERSONS CHARGED AS CONTRIBUTORIES TO EXAMINE FORMER BANK MANAGER.

Re Sovereign Bank; Newburn's Case, 27 D.L.R. 760, 34 O.L.R. 577.

OFFICER OF CORPORATION — CITY SOLICITOR.

A city solicitor, the appointed head of the city's legal department, serving exclusively in that capacity, is examinable for discovery as an "officer" of the corporation.

Duncan v. Vancouver (B. C.), 36 D.L.R. 218, 24 B.C.R. 267, [1917] 3 W.W.R. 18.

MORTGAGEE OF CHATTELS ON MORTGAGED LANDS — BANK MANAGER — EXAMINATION OF — PRACTICE — DIRECTIONS.

McDongall v. Merchants Bank, 46 D.L.R. 672, [1919] 1 W.W.R. 830.

OFF OFFICER — SECOND EXAMINATION — COSTS.

Under r. 279 (Sask. Rules of Practice) the defendant is entitled to examine any officer or servant of the plaintiff corporation without an order, but having examined one officer, he is not entitled to examine another without an order of the court, and will not be allowed the costs of a useless examination unless the plaintiffs have refused to furnish him with the name of the proper officer to be examined.

Canadian Bank of Commerce v. Eye, 43 D.L.R. 464, 11 S.L.R. 468, [1918] 3 W.W.R. 823.

FORECLOSURE ACTION — AFFIDAVIT OF DEFAULT — EXAMINATION ON — PERSONAL KNOWLEDGE.

Great West Permanent Loan Co. v. McEvers, 40 D.L.R. 755, [1918] 2 W.W.R. 396.

OFFICER OF COMPANY — INTEREST ADVERSE TO COMPANY.

A court or judge may name a new officer of a company to be examined for discovery under r. 250, substitutionally or additionally to one already selected by the company. Where, however, a company defendant had selected one of its officers for examination for discovery it was held that the court should not grant an order for the examination of another officer in lieu of the one selected, where such other officer, who was also an individual defendant, had defended in the name of a solicitor who was not the solicitor for the company, and had made admissions in his defence which the company contended would be prejudicial to it if made by him on examination as the company's representative.

Pelican Oil & Gas Co. v. Northern Alberta Natural Gas Co., [1918] 1 W.W.R. 957.

"OTHER OFFICER OR SERVANT" OF CORPORATION — AGENT OF INSURANCE COMPANY.

A local agent of an insurance company may be examined for discovery as an "other officer or servant" under subr. 2 of r. 370, C. of O. 31a.

Yamashita v. Hudson Bay Ins. Co., [1918] 3 W.W.R. 671.

Dominion Bank, 17 P.R. 488, followed; Brown v. London Fence, 19 Man. L.R. 138, distinguished.]

Houghton v. C.N.R. Co., 6 W.W.R. 160.
MISFEASANCE SUMMONS UNDER WINDING-UP ACT—DIRECTORS.

Appeal from the settlement by the district registrar of terms for an order under a misfeasance summons pursuant to s. 123 of the Dominion Winding-up Act, R.S.C. 1906, c. 114, against certain directors of the company for alleged misapplication of trust funds. The directors asked for a term in the order by which they should have the same rights of discovery by viva voce examination, delivery of interrogatories and discovery of documents as if the application had been an action in the Supreme Court. Sections 134, 135 of the Act were quoted by the applicant and directors. Held that the order should contain a term giving discovery as asked, and that the appeal should be allowed.

Re Traders Trust & Kory, 8 W.W.R. 1680.

DISCOVERY, R. 234—PERSON "EMPLOYED"—BANK PRESIDENT.

A bank president is examinable for discovery as a person "employed" by the bank within r. 234.

Carter v. Great West Lumber Co., [1919] 3 W.W.R. 901.

(S IV—32)—EXAMINATION IN LIBEL CASES—VAQUE CHARGE—JUSTIFICATION—RIGHT TO INTERROGATE PLAINTIFF.

On an examination for discovery of plaintiff before trial, in an action for libel, the plaintiff is not bound to answer questions which are directed to questions of fact as to which there was no specific allegation of fact in the alleged libel, if the alleged libellous words constituted merely a vague charge to which the defendant pleaded truth in justification without giving particulars. Zierenberg v. Labouche, [1893] 2 Q.B. 183; Walker & Son v. Hodgson, [1909] 1 K.B. 239; Yorkshire Provident Life Assurance Co. v. Gilbert & Rivington, [1895] 2 Q.B. 148, followed.]

Reid v. Albertan Publishing Co., 10 D.L.R. 495, 5 A.L.R. 486, 23 W.L.R. 330, 3 W.W.R. 919.

DEFAMATION, RELEVANCY OF EVIDENCE.

In an action for slander, where the defence raises pleas of justification and of fair comment, the following questions are admissible upon examination for discovery: Will you say you didn't intend to include C. (the plaintiff)? Such questions are admissible, even when the above defences are not raised. As a matter of discretion, discovery in aid of an action of tort should not even now be allowed where the sole object is to lay a basis for punitive damages, and particularly where there is danger that the answer would be improperly used to establish legal liability. In an action for slander, where both the meaning of the statements complained of, and the person to whom they referred, have to be established by innuendo, the defendant cannot properly be compelled to answer on discovery if the statements referred to plaintiff; where the defendant, however, has pleaded fair comment, such questions are proper, and must be directly answered.

Clarke v. Stewart, 32 D.L.R. 366, 10 A.L.R. 393, [1917] 1 W.W.R. 845.

LABEL—DISCLOSURE OF NAME OF AUTHOR.

On an examination for discovery in an action for libel based on a printed pamphlet, the defendant can be compelled to disclose the name of the author of the pamphlet as being a relevant fact in the case, although it involves the disclosure of the name of a witness.

Hays v. Weiland, 43 D.L.R. 137, 42 O.L.R. 637. [See 14 O.W.N. 180.]

EXAMINATION FOR DISCOVERY—REFUSAL TO ANSWER QUESTIONS—DELAY—ACTION FOR LIBEL—FOREIGN NEWSPAPERS.

Arsenyeh v. West Canada Pub. Co., 23 D.L.R. 896, 8 W.W.R. 920, 31 W.L.R. 694.

EXECUTION DEBTOR—EXAMINATION OF WIFE.

Killops v. Porter, 24 D.L.R. 888, 9 W.W.R. 181, 32 W.L.R. 469.

LIBEL—EXAMINATION OF PLAINTIFF—TIME R. 236—STATEMENT OF DEFENCE DELIVERED—PARTICULARS.

Foster v. Maclean, 10 O.W.N. 457. [See also 31 D.L.R. 259, 37 O.L.R. 68.]

(S IV—33)—EXAMINATION OF EMPLOYEES OF INDIVIDUAL PARTNER.

The employee of one of the partners of a firm, though he is not the employee of all the partners, is the employee of a party to the action, and therefore examinable on discovery under the provisions of r. 234 of the Alberta Judicature Act.

Medicine Hat Wheat Co. v. Norris Commission Co., 29 D.L.R. 379, 10 A.L.R. 19, 34 W.L.R. 1019, 10 W.W.R. 1092.

OF WITNESSES.

On a motion for particulars of the statement of defence, a witness cannot be examined by the plaintiff as to matters not relevant to the motion but which will be in issue at the trial, where it is plain that the ulterior purpose of the questions is to obtain discovery of the evidence which the defendant will produce at the trial.

D. v. W., 3 D.L.R. 293, 3 O.W.N. 993, 21 O.W.R. 853.

The production of the books and records of a trade union cannot be required, nor can witnesses be examined as to the organization and conduct of such union, where it abundantly appeared from the evidence of the plaintiffs that their design was to embark, under colour of such motion, on a preliminary cross-examination of persons who might be hostile witnesses at the trial, or upon an enquiry to obtain discovery greater than that permitted, which testimony might afterwards be used in a contest not only with the defendant in the action, but with the union as well.

Rickari v. Britton Mfg. Co., 4 D.L.R. 366, 3 O.W.N. 1272, 22 O.W.R. 81.

(§ IV—34)—PRIVILEGE.

In an action for damages in a railway accident, reports made by officials of defendant railway company relative to the accident admitted by a district superintendent of the company upon his examination for discovery to be in its custody or power, such reports being made in regular routine as in all such accidents and not for the purpose of the defence of the action at bar nor with reference to any particular action, though perhaps in anticipation of possible future actions, must be produced for inspection upon an examination for discovery, under Alberta rr. 207, 212, 215, and Reg. O. 31, r. 19a (2) of 1893 in force in Alberta. [Cook v. North Metropolitan Tramway Co., 6 T.L.R. 22, followed.]

Stapley v. C.P.R. Co., 6 D.L.R. 97, 5 A.L.R. 341, 22 W.L.R. 1, 2 W.W.R. 894.

AFFIDAVIT OF PROTECTION—"MIGHT CRIMINATE"—DESCRIPTION OF DOCUMENTS.

An affidavit to a claim for protection against the production of documents, on the ground that the same "might" tend to criminate the deponent, which fails to furnish a sufficient description of the documents sought by the discovery, is insufficient and will not be received. [Canada Evidence Act, R.S.C. 1906, c. 145, s. 5; Manitoba Evidence Act, R.S.M. 1913, c. 65, s. 5, considered.]

Attorney-General v. Kelly, 28 D.L.R. 409, 33 W.L.R. 963, 10 W.W.R. 131.

PRIVILEGE—EXAMINATION OF PLAINTIFF—PRIVILEGE—SOLICITOR—WILL—REPRESENTATIVES OF TESTATOR—WAIVER.

Langworthy v. McVicar, 5 O.W.N. 245, 25 O.W.R. 297.

MOTIONS FOR FURTHER EXAMINATION OF PARTIES—INFORMATION AND RELIEF—SOLICITOR AND CLIENT.

Phillips v. Lawson, 4 O.W.N. 390, 23 O.W.R. 646.

DISCOVERY—INTERROGATORIES—ACTION FOR PENALTIES.

Bowser v. McCutcheon Bros., 25 W.L.R. 608.

(§ IV—35)—DIVORCE PROCEEDINGS.

Harsh and oppressive interrogatories. M. v. M., 8 D.L.R. 1040, 17 B.C.R. 336.

ACTION FOR ALIMONY—EXAMINATION OF HUSBAND—RELEVANCY OF QUESTIONS AS TO ESTATE AND EFFECTS.

Allin v. Allin, 9 O.W.N. 411.

OFFICER OR SERVANT OF DEFENDANT MUNICIPAL CORPORATION—SUPERINTENDENT OF WORKS.

Young v. Gravenhurst, 2 O.W.N. 118, 167.

PRODUCTION OF DOCUMENTS—EXAMINATION FOR DISCOVERY—COSTS.

Anderson v. Imperial Development Co., 20 Man. L.R. 275, 16 W.L.R. 51.

COMPANY—EXAMINATION OF OFFICER.

After the close of an examination for discovery, an officer of a company, being examined under Order 31A, may not be ordered to inform himself of the knowledge of his fellow servants or agents touching matters in question in an action, and to reattend for further examination.

Brydson-Jack v. Vancouver Printing, etc., Co., 16 B.C.R. 55, 16 W.L.R. 262.

EXAMINATION—NOTICE—WITNESS.

Lalonde v. Mackay, 12 Que. P.R. 142.

QUESTIONS RELATING TO ASSIGNMENT OF CLAIMS IN MATTER AT SUIT—APPEAL TO MASTER IN CHAMBERS.

Clarke v. Bartram, 3 O.W.N. 335, 20 O.W.R. 530.

EXAMINATION OF PLAINTIFF—PLACE FOR—RESIDENCE OF PARTIES.

Ferris v. McMurrich, 2 O.W.N. 770, 18 O.W.R. 399.

EXAMINATION OF ARBITRATOR—FOR PURPOSE OF AN APPEAL—APPOINTMENT AND SUBPOENA ISSUED FOR—MOTION BY PLAINTIFF TO SET THEM ASIDE—NO LEAVE—ORDER GRANTED.

Myles v. G.T.R. Co., 3 O.W.N. 176, 259, 20 O.W.R. 241, 445.

RE-EXAMINATION OF DEFENDANT—NAME OF CHAUFFEUR—AUTOMOBILE ACCIDENT—DISMISSAL OF CHAUFFEUR FROM MASTER'S EMPLOYMENT—REASONS AS TO DISMISSAL.

Van Horn v. Verrall, 3 O.W.N. 439, 337, 20 O.W.R. 773, 545.

MOTION BY DEFENDANT TO SET ASIDE TWO ORDERS—ORDER FOR PARTICULARS AFTER DISCOVERY.

Crinkley v. Mooney, 3 O.W.N. 105, 20 O.W.R. 118.

EXAMINATION OF DEFENDANT—DISCRETION OF REGISTRAR—REVIEW.

Pratt v. Pipe, 3 O.W.N. 214, 20 O.W.R. 320.

EXAMINATION OF MEMBER OF PARTNERSHIP—MOTION TO SET ASIDE APPLICATION FOR—TECHNICAL WORK UNDER CON. R. 439—MUST NOT WORK INJUSTICE.

Hawes, Gibson & Co. v. Hawes, 3 O.W.N. 312, 20 O.W.R. 517.

EXAMINATION OF PLAINTIFF—ACTION FOR DAMAGES FOR INJURIES BY RUNAWAY TEAM—INFORMATION FOR USE AT TRIAL—PRIVILEGE.

Southwell v. Shedden Forwarding Co., 2 O.W.N. 562, 18 O.W.R. 342.

EXAMINATION ADJOURNED—NEGOTIATIONS FOR SETTLEMENT—RENEWED MOTION FOR FURTHER EXAMINATION.

Horton v. Maclean, 2 O.W.N. 504, 18 O.W.R. 619.

EXAMINATION OF DEFENDANT—ADJOURNED SINE DIE TO OBTAIN INFORMATION—DEFAULT IN REATTENDANCE.

McIntosh v. Robertson, 2 O.W.N. 869, 18 O.W.R. 636.

DISCRETION.

Review on appeal, see Appeal, VII.
Mandamus to compel exercise of discretionary power, see Mandamus.
As to awarding costs, see Costs, I.

DISMISSAL AND DISCONTINUANCE.

See Pleading.
Costs on, see Costs.
In Quebec, see Perception.

(§ 1—1)—VOLUNTARY.

It should be only where there is absolutely no doubt, that a party litigant, invoking the aid of the court to get rid of a conviction, should, after going a certain length, and being likely to fail, be permitted to stop short and deny the right of the court to go further.

R. v. Hamlink, 5 D.L.R. 733, 26 O.L.R. 381, 22 O.W.R. 167.

CON. R. 430—PROCEEDINGS TAKEN AFTER DELIVERY OF STATEMENT OF DEFENCE—ORDER TO PRODUCE AND APPOINTMENT FOR EXAMINATION OF DEFENDANT.

Christie, Brown & Co. v. Woodhouse, 5 D.L.R. 886, 4 O.W.N. 93, 23 O.W.R. 55.

ACTION—AFTER TRIAL AND JUDGMENT, HOW LIMITED.

After trial and judgment in a county court (Man.) action, the filing of a notice of discontinuance is not authorized, either by the County Courts Act, R.S.M. 1902, c. 38, or King's Bench Act, R.S.M. 1902, c. 40, or rules thereunder.

McInnes v. Nordquist, 13 D.L.R. 725, 23 Man. L.R. 815, 25 W.L.R. 422, 5 W.W.R. 95.

AGREEMENT TO WITHDRAW ACTION AND PAY COSTS.

When a plaintiff undertakes by a notarial act, to withdraw his action and pay the costs of the proceedings, and makes default in doing so, the defendant has the right to a judgment giving effect to the agreement, especially as to the question of costs.

Lapointe v. Dufour, 16 Que. P.R. 14.

DISCONTINUANCE—COSTS—QUE. C.P. 275, 685.

A discontinuance made without costs is void, and will be struck from the record.

Letang v. Laeroix, 16 Que. P.R. 207.

If the plaintiff pays to the defendant's attorney the costs of an action which he discontinues the latter cannot set up litem pendens to a second action even though no formal abandonment of the first is on record. In such case the defendant may withdraw the deposit which he made in the first action and tender anew in pleading to the merits of the second.

Maccarone v. Zanga, 14 Que. P.R. 59.

The demand by a plaintiff that his action be discontinued "without costs" cannot be granted.

Legaré v. Verret, 13 Que. P.R. 298.

NOTICE OF DISCONTINUANCE—NO PERSONAL SERVICE NECESSARY—EFFECT ON MONEY IN COURT—ASSIGNMENT OF SUCH MONEY.

Schmidt v. Giffen, 34 W.L.R. 1229.

(§ 1—2)—INVOLUNTARY.

The court cannot of its own motion supply the defence resulting from prescription under C.C. 1040, and when such defence is not raised the court cannot, therefore, base its reason for dismissal on such prescription.

Banque Nationale v. Godbout, 8 D.L.R. 668.

NO REASONABLE CAUSE OF ACTION PLEADED.

A motion under r. 261 of the Con. Practice Rules 1898 (Ont.) to strike out a statement of claim and dismiss the action on the ground that no reasonable cause of action is disclosed must be made in court and not to a Judge in Chambers. [Knapp v. Carley, 7 O.L.R. 409, followed.]

Harris v. Elliott, 12 D.L.R. 533, 28 O.L.R. 349.

FOR WANT OF PROSECUTION—WANT OF GOOD FAITH.

An action for criminal conversation is properly dismissed for want of prosecution, where plaintiff's counsel, after an undue delay, moved to postpone the hearing after the case had been reached for trial, on the ground that he was not prepared to proceed, and where he did not have witnesses ready who could prove a case, but desired to procure the evidence of plaintiff's wife, who was then in an insane asylum, but who, as it appeared by evidence of medical men from the asylum, was incurably insane and could never give credible evidence on the subject, and where the whole course of the plaintiff was indicative of want of good faith.

Haines v. MacKay, 10 D.L.R. 103, 4 O.W.N. 651, 24 O.W.R. 1.

WANT OF PROSECUTION—UNREASONABLE DELAY.

Even if still in force, s. 4 of the old Statute of Limitations, 21 James I. c. 16, which provides that the plaintiff must bring any new action not later than one year after the reversal either on error or by way of arrest of judgment, of a verdict in his favour, does not apply to limit the time within which he must bring his action on for retrial after the setting aside of a verdict in his favour and the ordering of a new trial by the Court of Appeal; since such order does not work a termination of the action. An order to dismiss an action for want of prosecution may be made after a verdict at the first trial had been set aside and a new trial ordered, if the plaintiff allows two months to elapse before the sittings at which he might have proceeded to a second trial and he fails to do so without any reasonable excuse. [Spawen v. Nelles, 1 Ch. Cham. (Ont.) 270, approved; Diamond Harrow v. Stone 7 O.W.R. 685, distinguished.]

Davis v. Wright, 16 D.L.R. 736, 24 Man. L.R. 205, 27 W.L.R. 772, 6 W.W.R. 491, affirming 15 D.L.R. 385, 26 W.L.R. 517.

WANT OF PROSECUTION—DELAY—COUNTER-CLAIM—TERMS—COSTS.

McNaughtan v. Mulloy, 2 D.L.R. 888, 3 O.W.N. 970.

Irregularity in inscription for judgment ex parte is not a reason for the dismissal of the action.

Serling v. Levine, 7 D.L.R. 265, 47 Can. S.C.R. 193, 12 E.L.R. 216.

STATEMENT OF CLAIM—SUFFICIENCY OF INFORMATION ALREADY GIVEN—DELAY IN MOVING.

Stuart v. Bank of Montreal, 6 D.L.R. 870, 4 O.W.N. 218, 23 O.W.R. 295.

WANT OF PROSECUTION.

Fowler & Wolfe Mfg. Co. v. Gurney Foundry Co., 14 D.L.R. 398, 14 Can. Ex. 336.

The court refused a motion for judgment quasi nonsumit upon a first default, where the plaintiff produced an affidavit showing absence of a material witness—although the affidavit did not state the residence of the witness or what had been done to procure his attendance upon an undertaking by the plaintiff to go down to trial at the next Circuit and upon payment by him of costs of the day and costs of the motion.

Rourke v. Tompkins, 40 N.B.R. 288.

ADMISSIONS OF PLAINTIFF ON EXAMINATION FOR DISCOVERY — MENTAL INCOMPETENCE.

Angevine v. Goodl, 4 O.W.N. 1041, 24 O.W.R. 376.

An action must not be dismissed on account of plaintiff's default to produce some documents, if the motion of defendant merely asked that he be relieved from pleading during plaintiff's default to file said documents.

Legaré v. Verret, 13 Que. P.R. 298.

DISMISSAL OF ACTION.

Upon proof of noncompliance by the plaintiff with a precept order for security for costs obtained under King's Bench, r. 978, the defendant is entitled to obtain ex parte an order dismissing the action.

Moore v. Vietel, 5 W.W.R. 1226.

(§ 1—3)—OF PARTY.

Where one of two defendants has appeared and pleaded, but the other defendant has not been served within the time limited for service, the appearing defendant is not entitled to treat the action as having been abandoned as against his co-defendant and to himself serve notice of trial; he should first inquire of the plaintiff as to the intention to proceed against the unserved defendant, and if it appears that the action is being informally abandoned as to the unserved defendant without service of a discontinuance, the appearing defendant may make an interlocutory application to strike out the name of his co-defendant. [Foley v. Lee, 12 P.R. (Ont.) 371, applied; Vandusen v. Johnson, 3 C.L.T. 505, distinguished.]

Schlick v. Selkirk, 1 D.L.R. 607, 22 Man. L.R. 323, 1 W.W.R. 1090.

SUBSTITUTION OF PARTIES — RIGHT TO DISCONTINUE ACTION — PLAINTIFF SUING ON BEHALF OF HIMSELF AND DEBENTURE HOLDERS.

Service v. Milne & Central Okanagan Lands, 27 D.L.R. 725, 22 B.C.R. 469, 34 W.L.R. 90, 19 W.W.R. 336.

A motion by a plaintiff that a complaint be eliminated from the proceedings cannot be granted unless the motion be served on that plaintiff.

Legaré v. Verret, 13 Que. P.R. 298.

CO-DEFENDANTS—PLEA OF ONE ONLY—MOTION TO DISMISS—INSCRIPTION IN LAW.

If, in an action against several defendants, one only appears, pleads personal means and prays for the dismissal of the action, the context shows clearly that such a request applies only to him, and his conclusions will not be set aside by way of an inscription in law.

Rabette v. Bouchard, 16 Que. P.R. 253.

(§ 1—4)—The court will hesitate to dismiss an action for want of prosecution although the plaintiff is in default in not proceeding with the cause within the time limited by rules of court, if the action is not a frivolous one and the plaintiff evinces a desire to proceed to trial.

Evans v. Evans, 5 D.L.R. 546, 5 A.L.R. 4, 21 W.L.R. 925, 2 W.W.R. 795.

DELAY IN PROSECUTION—REINSTATEMENT.

An action should not be dismissed merely for a delay in prosecution not seriously prejudicial to the interests of anyone; the party should be given time to proceed with the next step upon paying the costs of the application for dismissal; if this be not permitted, the action will be reinstated on appeal.

Lalberge v. Merchants Bank, 30 D.L.R. 144, 27 Man. L.R. 84, [1917] 1 W.W.R. 115.

DISCONTINUANCE OF ACTION AND JUDGMENT — ACCEPTANCE BY DEFENDANT.—REINSCRIPTION—QUE. C.P. 277.

The discontinuance, by the plaintiff, of his action and of the judgment founded upon it, accepted by the defendant (in the present case an action to nullify a marriage) puts an end to the suit between the parties. The defendant cannot reinscribe for judgment and such last judgment obtained by default, will be quashed and annulled.

Hebert v. Clouatre, 16 Que. P.R. 29.

REINSTATEMENT.

A judgment dismissing the action for a foreign plaintiff because the power of attorney was not filed in time, although security for costs had been given, will be set aside on a requête civile, if it is proven that the delays were due to consular correspondence, equivalent to a case of force majeure. The joinder and trial on a petition in revocation of judgment and on the dilatory exception for the production of a power of attorney must take place summarily; written pleadings and examination of witnesses can only be allowed on permission of the judge and the allegations in support of the petition can be proven by affidavits.

Malcolm v. Galloro, 13 Que. P.R. 314.

REINSTATEMENT — DELAY IN PROCEEDING WITH ACTION — ADDITION OF PARTY PLAINTIFF — LEAVE TO AMEND.

Brownie v. Timmins, 4 O.W.N. 897, 24 O.W.R. 187.

(§ 1-5) — STATUTORY DEFENCE — CHANGE OF SOLICITORS — NEW PLAINTIFF.

Land Owners v. Boland (No. 2), 6 D.L.R. 905, 4 O.W.N. 305.

STATUTORY DENIAL OF RIGHT OF ACTION — SUPPLEMENTARY DEFENCE.

Where the law denies a right of action, the court must of its own motion supply this defence and dismiss the action, although the defendants have not raised it. [Montreal v. McGee, 30 Can. S.C.R. 582, applied.]

Allard v. Peauharnois, 9 D.L.R. 162.

(§ 1-6) — DISCONTINUANCE OF PRINCIPAL ACTION — CROSS-DEMAND TO A CROSS-DEMAND.

If a plaintiff discontinues his principal action, and if acts is granted of his discontinuance, the cross-demand becomes the principal action; the plaintiff may plead thereto and even lodge a cross-demand to the said cross-demand.

Lair v. Michigan Buggy Co., 16 Que. P.R. 310.

DISORDERLY HOUSE.

(§ 1-1) — MAN AN INMATE OF.

A man cannot be convicted, under ss. 225, 228, 238, Cr. Code, of being an inmate of a bawdy-house, since such sections apply to female inmates only.

The King v. Knowles, 12 D.L.R. 639, 21 Can. Cr. Cas. 321, 6 A.L.R. 221, 25 W.L.R. 294, 4 W.W.R. 1344.

WHAT ARE.

In a prosecution for keeping a disorderly house where there was no evidence of disorderly conduct except on one single occasion but there was evidence of the bad reputation of the house, there was evidence upon which the magistrate could convict and as he was the judge of the weight to be attached to it, his conviction will not be disturbed. [Reg. v. St. Clair, 3 Can. Cr. Cas. 551, 27 A.R. (Ont.) 308, at p. 310, followed.]

R. v. Marcinko, 4 D.L.R. 687, 19 Can. Cr. Cas. 388, 3 O.W.N. 1626, 22 O.W.R. 846.

BAWDY HOUSE — PROSTITUTE — EVIDENCE OF GENERAL REPUTATION.

Reputation or mere hearsay is insufficient evidence upon which a court can hold that a woman has been proved to be a prostitute. Evidence that a known prostitute occupies a house, arranged with two men on different occasions that she would with each of them on a future occasion at that house commit acts of prostitution, nothing being done pursuant to these arrangements, and no act of prostitution in the house having been proved to have taken place at any time, is insufficient to sustain a charge of keeping a bawdy-house. [R. v. McNamara, 29 O.R. 489, applied.] Evidence of the general reputation of a house taken alone is insufficient without to convict a person of keeping a bawdy-house. [Reg. v. St. Clair, 27 A.R. 308, applied.] R. v. Sands, 9 W.W.R. 496, 25 Can. Cr. Cas. 120, 25 Man. L.R. 690.

Can. Dig.—53.

SUFFICIENCY OF CONVICTION — VAGABONDAGE.

A person can be found guilty of having kept a disorderly house without mention of the fact that he has rendered himself guilty of vagabondage.

Ex parte Evans, 48 Que. S.C. 469.

(§ 1-5) — KEEPER OF BAWDY HOUSE.

The offence, under Cr. Code, s. 228, of keeping a bawdy-house being punishable upon indictment, there is no limitation of time for commencement of a prosecution for it by indictment, although the keeper is also declared by s. 239 to be a loose, idle or disorderly person or vagrant, punishable in this character upon summary conviction, subject to the six months' limitation of s. 1142.

R. v. Sovereign, 4 D.L.R. 356, 26 O.L.R. 16, 20 Can. Cr. Cas. 103, 21 O.W.R. 618.

OFFENCE OF KEEPING — STATING PLACE OF OFFENCE.

A conviction made by a magistrate for keeping a bawdy-house will not be quashed because it is not expressly shewn in the depositions that the street address referred to in the depositions was in fact in the city which was named as the place of the offence in both the information and the formal conviction, although the magistrate's jurisdiction was limited to that city. [R. v. C.P.R. Co., 14 Can. Cr. Cas. 1, 1 A.L.R. 341, applied.]

R. v. Mateanu, 22 D.L.R. 336, 8 A.L.R. 519, 23 Can. Cr. Cas. 456, 30 W.L.R. 418, 7 W.W.R. 1174.

CRIMINAL LAW — SUMMARY TRIAL AND CONVICTION BY POLICE MAGISTRATE — PROCEDURE — DEFECTS AND IRREGULARITIES — SENTENCE — IMPRISONMENT FOR ONE YEAR IN REFORMATORY — POWER OF MAGISTRATE EXCEEDED — CONVICTION AND WARRANT OF COMMITMENT ADJUDGED BAD — HABEAS CORPUS — PROCEEDINGS IN MAGISTRATE'S COURT NOT BROUGHT UP ON CERTIORARI — POWER TO AMEND CONVICTION AND WARRANT BY REDUCING TERM AND CHANGING PLACE OF IMPRISONMENT — CRIM. CODE, ss. 1124, 754 — DIRECTION TO MAGISTRATE UNDER S. 1120.

The order of Middleton, J., in Chambers, held that the conviction was in substance good, and the form should be amended by describing the offence as "keeping a disorderly house, to wit, a house of ill-fame;" s. 791, 852, 1124 of the Code. The promiscuous use in Canadian statutes of the various synonymous terms descriptive of a house of prostitution, exemplified. [R. v. Hayes, 5 O.L.R. 198, 6 Can. Cr. Cas. 357, distinguished.]

R. v. Barroch, 32 D.L.R. 793, 27 Can. Cr. Cas. 402, 37 O.L.R. 27.

CLUB—GAMING—"KEEPER."

A place in respect of which the conviction was made—a club-house where "poker" was played for money—is a house kept by the club for gain (s. 226 Cr. Code); it was, therefore, a disorderly house (s. 228), and the keeper was guilty of an indictable offence. Although the defendants were not the real owners, and might not be the real keepers, they assisted in the care and management, and must be considered the real keepers (s. 228 (2)). [R. v. Jung Lee, 13 D.L.R. 896, 22 Can. Cr. Cas. 63; R. v. Hung Gee, 13 D.L.R. 44, 21 Can. Cr. Cas. 404, distinguished. A motion to quash the conviction was refused.]

R. v. Merker et al., 37 O.L.R. 582.

(§ 112)—RIGHT TO SEARCH—ARREST—EXAMINATION OF PERSONS.

Section 641 Cr. Code, as amended by 1913, c. 13, s. 21, gives authority to search, in the case of suspicion of the existence of a "disorderly house" as defined in s. 228. The arrest of all persons found in such house is consequently authorized, but no charge having been made in s. 642, such persons cannot be examined under oath for evidence that the place was being kept as a bawdy-house, but may be held pending the laying of a charge against them.

R. v. Shaak, 43 D.L.R. 608, 14 A.L.R. 76, [1918] 3 W.W.R. 889.

(§ 1—15)—OFFENCE OF KEEPING.

A charge of keeping a bawdy-house is cumulative, and evidence of particular acts and the particular time of doing them is admissible, although the charge is in general terms only.

R. v. Johnson, 19 D.L.R. 301, 23 Can. Cr. Cas. 136.

EVIDENCE.

The intention of Cr. Code s. 225 in defining a common bawdy-house as applied to the letting of rooms in a hotel is that it should appear that rooms were habitually let with knowledge that they would be used for purposes of prostitution; the fact of such habitual letting may be proved by direct evidence or may be inferred where the circumstances surrounding the letting on a single occasion for use by a known prostitute would prima facie shew the existence of a habit or custom in that regard and no attempt is made at explanation or excuse on the part of the accused.

R. v. Davidson (No. 1), 35 D.L.R. 82, 28 Can. Cr. Cas. 44, 11 A.L.R. 9, [1917]

2 W.W.R. 160. [See also 35 D.L.R. 94, 28 Can. Cr. Cas. 56, [1917] 2 W.W.R. 718.]

Evidence that the woman keeping the house and another woman living with her had together offered to have illicit sexual intercourse with two men for a consideration, will support a magistrate's conviction against the former for keeping a bawdy-house, although there was no other evidence of bad repute.

R. v. Emery, 33 D.L.R. 556, 27 Can. Cr. Cas. 116, 10 A.L.R. 139, [1917] 1 W.W.R. 337.

JURISDICTION—ILLEGAL ARREST—CERTIORARI.

It is not a ground for quashing a conviction on summary trial for keeping a disorderly house that the accused was arrested without warrant, if he pleaded to the charge without raising the objection, and, semble, had he objected and had the objection been overruled, it could not be raised on certiorari. [R. v. Hurst, 20 D.L.R. 129, 23 Can. Cr. Cas. 389, followed. But see R. v. Miller, 25 Can. Cr. Cas. 151.]

R. v. Pudwell, 26 Can. Cr. Cas. 47. [Followed in R. v. Carter, 28 D.L.R. 606.]

KEEPING BAWDY-HOUSE.

A man who knowingly permits prostitutes to resort to his house for the purpose of prostitution may be convicted of keeping a bawdy-house although he made no charge for the use of his rooms.

R. v. Fabri, 28 Can. Cr. Cas. 6.

KEEPING—EVIDENCE—QUASHING CONVICTION.

The court on certiorari will look at the evidence given at a summary trial before a police magistrate for keeping a disorderly house, and if there is no evidence of the offence, will quash the conviction.

R. v. Cross, 29 Can. Cr. Cas. 349, 14 O.W.N. 7.

COMMON BAWDY-HOUSE.

A conviction for having kept a bawdy-house is illegal, if the word "common" (publique) is not mentioned herein, and will be quashed on habeas corpus.

The King v. O'Brien, 19 Que. P.R. 204.

KEEPING DISORDERLY HOUSE—CONVICTED PERSON VISITING TEMPORARILY OUT OF CANADA—IMMIGRATION ACT, 1910 (CAN.).

Re Margaret Murphy, 17 Can. Cr. Cas. 103, 15 B.C.R. 401.

KEEPING DISORDERLY HOUSE—GAMING HOUSE—SUMMARY TRIAL WITHOUT CONSENT

—LIMIT OF PENALTY.

The King v. Shing, 17 Can. Cr. Cas. 463, 20 Man. L.R. 214.

DISQUALIFICATION.

Of candidates for election, see Elections. Of public officer, see Officers.

DISTRESS.

For rent, see Landlord and Tenant, III.

See also Mortgage; Chattel Mortgage, Levy and Seizure.

DISTRIBUTION.

Of decedent's estate, see Executors and Administrators, IV; Descent and Distribution; Wills.

DISTRICT COURT.

See Courts.

DIVORCE AND SEPARATION.

- I. IN GENERAL.
- II. SUIT FOR ANNULMENT AND JURISDICTION THEREOF.
- III. GROUNDS.
 - A. Cruelty; ill-treatment.
 - B. Desertion.
 - C. Drunkenness; use of morphine.
 - D. Imprisonment; miscellaneous.
 - E. Adultery.
- IV. DEFENCES; CONNIVANCE; RECRIMINATION.
- V. ALIMONY.
 - A. In general; grounds for granting or refusing.
 - B. Temporary alimony; suit money.
 - C. Permanent allowance.
 - D. Subsequent change.
- VI. OTHER PROPERTY RIGHTS.
- VII. CUSTODY AND SUPPORT OF CHILDREN.
- VIII. AGREEMENTS FOR SUPPORT AND MAINTENANCE.
 - A. In general.
 - B. Validity of.

Annotations.

- Validity of foreign divorce; domicile: 33 D.L.R. 146, 156.
- Validity of common law marriage: 3 D.L.R. 247.
- Power of legislature to confer jurisdiction on Provincial Courts to declare the nullity of void and voidable marriages: 29 D.L.R. 14.
- Divorce law in Canada: 48 D.L.R. 7.

I. In general.

- Annulment of marriage, see Marriage.
- DIVORCE A MENSA ET THORO—CRUELTY.
- Curry v. Curry*, 40 N.B.R. 96, 8 E.L.R. 487.
- DOMICILE—DIVORCE BY FOREIGN COURT.
- Gregory v. Odell*, 39 Que. S.C. 291.
- SEPARATION DE CORPS—INSANITY.
- Insanity or idiocy of a married man is not ground for an application on separation de corps by his wife.
- Hervian v. Benoit*, 12 Que. P.R. 97.
- SEPARATION DE CORPS—ACTION AGAINST HUSBAND—DOMICILE PENDENTE LITE.
- Jones v. Warman*, 39 Que. S.C. 174, 12 Que. P.R. 187.

II. Suit for annulment and jurisdiction thereof.

Validity of foreign divorce, remarriage, see Conflict of Laws, I C—65.

(§ II—5)—JURISDICTION—ANNULMENT OF MARRIAGE.

The courts in Ontario have no general power to annul a marriage.

Prowd v. Spence, 10 D.L.R. 215, 4 O.W.N. 998, 24 O.W.R. 329.

JURISDICTION—ANNULMENT OF MARRIAGE.

The courts in Ontario have no general power to annul a marriage. [Prowd v. Spence, 10 D.L.R. 215, 4 O.W.N. 998; Malot v. Malot, 4 O.W.N. 1465, 1577, followed. See as to limited statutory powers R.S.O. 1914, c. 148.]

Hallman v. Hallman, 15 D.L.R. 842, 5 O.W.N. 976.

MARRIED WOMEN'S PROTECTION ACT (MAX.).

The provisions of ss. 2, 6 of the Married Women's Protection Act, R.S.M. 1902, c. 107, limiting the jurisdiction in a separation proceeding by a wife against her husband to the judicial district (a) in which the husband was in a collateral proceeding convicted of an assault upon her, or (b) in which the cause of the wife's separation complaint wholly or partially arose, import that such jurisdiction lies in respect of offences originating within the prescribed territory, although those offences may have been condoned, where subsequent offences in another district have had the effect of reviving the first offences as acts of cruelty and of nullifying the condonation thereof.

Brizard v. Brizard, 16 D.L.R. 55, 24 Man. L.R. 119, 26 W.L.R. 734, 5 W.W.R. 1160.

IMPERIAL STATUTE IN FORCE IN MANITOBA—DOMINION LEGISLATION—PROVINCIAL LEGISLATION—JURISDICTION OF COURT OF KING'S BENCH TO ENTERTAIN DIVORCE ACTIONS.

The Dominion Act of 1888, which was passed to remove certain doubts as to the application of certain laws to the Province of Manitoba so far as it extended to the subject of marriage and divorce, was within the exclusive power of legislation conferred on the Dominion Parliament by s. 91 of the B.N.A. Act. This act provided that the laws of England relating to matters within the jurisdiction of the Parliament of Canada so far as the same existed on July-15, 1870, had been as from that date and were in force in Manitoba insofar as applicable to the Province, and unrepealed by Imperial or Dominion legislation. Their Lordships held, following the Watts v. Watts case ([1908] A.C. 573), that this act was sufficient to make the provisions of the English Divorce and Matrimonial Causes Act of 1857 part of the substantive law of Manitoba. The English Act of 1857 not only set up a new court, but introduced new substantive law and gave to the court constituted not only the jurisdiction over matrimonial questions which the old Ecclesiastical Tribunals possessed, but a jurisdiction arising out of the principle then for the first time introduced into the law of England of the right to divorce a vinculo matrimonii for certain matrimonial offences. The Court of King's Bench Act, passed by the Legislature of Manitoba in 1913, was sufficient to give the Court of King's Bench jurisdiction to entertain petitions for divorce, and in respect of matrimonial offences. [Review of Acts and authorities.]

Walker v. Walker, 48 D.L.R. 1, [1919] A.C. 947, [1919] 2 W.W.R. 935, affirming 39 D.L.R. 731, 28 Man. L.R. 495, which reversed 35 D.L.R. 297.

JURISDICTION OF COURT OF KING'S BENCH — EFFECT OF 20-21 VICT. 1857 (IMP.) — C. 85.

The law of England as established by the Divorce Act, 20-21 Vict. 1857 (Imp.) c. 85, forms part of the substantive law of Saskatchewan, and all rights arising under this Act may be dealt with by the Court of King's Bench. [Board v. Board, 48 D.L.R. 13, [1919] A.C. 956, applied.]

Fletcher v. Fletcher, 50 D.L.R. 23, [1920] 1 W.W.R. 5, reversing 42 D.L.R. 733, 11 S.L.R. 391.

IMPERIAL STATUTE IN FORCE IN ALBERTA—DOMINION LEGISLATION — PROVINCIAL LEGISLATION — JURISDICTION OF SUPREME COURT TO ENTERTAIN DIVORCE ACTIONS.

For the reasons given in Walker v. Walker, 48 D.L.R. 1, their Lordships held that the effect of the Dominion Act of 1886 was to make the English law of divorce as established by the Divorce Act of 1857 apply to the Territories as well as to Alberta. The Supreme Court Act passed by the Legislature of Alberta in 1907 gave the court jurisdiction to entertain petitions for divorce.

Board v. Board, 48 D.L.R. 13, [1919] A.C. 956, [1919] 2 W.W.R. 940, affirming 41 D.L.R. 286, 13 A.L.R. 362.

JURY — PROVINCIAL COURT — B.N.A. ACT — PROVINCIAL LEGISLATION — VALIDITY OF.

The procedure in the Court of Divorce and Matrimonial Causes is civil rather than criminal and the court is in the category of a Provincial Court; under s. 92 (14) of the B.N.A. Act the regulation of such court is within the jurisdiction of the provincial legislature, and ss. 26 to 30 of c. 115 U.S. S.B. 1903, which provide for the summoning of a jury in divorce cases are intra vires, although not contained in the original act creating the court, and passed since Confederation.

Fitz Randolph v. Fitz Randolph, 45 D.L.R. 529, 46 N.B.R. 259. [See also 41 D.L.R. 739, 52 D.L.R. —.]

There is no provision, under the divorce law in force in British Columbia, for granting a decree nisi in the first place. Purdy v. Purdy, 16 B.C.R. 493.

PRACTICE — GARNISHEE — JUDGMENT — DAMAGES ASSESSED AGAINST CORRESPONDENT — PROCEDURE — R.S.B.C. 1911, CC. 14, AND 67, s. 36 — 1 & 2 VICT. c. 110, s. 18 (IMP.).

A judgment in an action under the Divorce and Matrimonial Causes Act is, by s. 18 of the Judgments Act, 1838 (Imp.), enforceable by an attaching order issued under the Attachment of Debts Act.

McLeod v. McLeod, 25 B.C.R. 430.

SEPARATION FROM BED AND BOARD — INQUIRY EX PARTE — TESTIMONY — COMMISSIONER OF SUPERIOR COURT, QUE. C.P. 23, 418, 532.

In an action for separation from bed and board, heard ex parte, the oath of witnesses cannot be taken by a commissioner of the Superior Court.

Roy v. Belair, 15 Que. P.R. 294.

PLEADING — ALLEGATIONS — EVIDENCE — CROSS-DEMAND — COSTS.

Article 190 C.C. (Que.) enacts the doctrine of the old law, by which mutual wrongs of the husband or wife suing for separation may, according to their gravity and sufficiency, to be weighed by the court, be considered as a circumstance attenuating the complaints on which the action is based and such as to have the action dismissed as ill founded. Consequently the court before deciding should order evidence on the allegations of the plea tending to shew the grievances of which the plaintiff complains in his action. The compensation resulting from the plaintiff's wrongs may be raised by a plea to the merits; the cross-demand is necessary only in a case where the defendant asks that separation be granted from his husband or wife. The maxim of the old jurisprudence "Le criminel tient le civil en état," is still a rule of our laws. An allegation made for the sole purpose of insulting the opponent party must be struck out. If the plaintiff fails in most of his contentions, the costs will be set off.

Gouin v. Rone, 19 Que. P.R. 68.

CROSS-DEMAND—SIMILAR CONCLUSIONS.

Where a husband sues his wife for separation from bed and board, the wife may, without any special authorization, reply to the demand by a defence and cross-demand with similar conclusions to those of plaintiff's action.

Flood v. Sparling, 54 Que. S.C. 509.

SERVICE OF PETITION.

Unless a judge so orders, there is nothing to require service upon the husband of the wife's petition asking to sue for separation from bed and board.

Fréchette v. Patenaude, 20 Que. P.R. 234.

ADVERTISING.

One suing for separation from bed and board, who by mistake has not done all the advertisements required by law, may obtain permission to complete them instead of beginning them over again.

Contant v. Pion, 19 Que. P.R. 233.

DOMICILE AND CUSTODY OF CHILDREN — CONCLUSIONS.

In an action for separation as to bed and board taken under advisement, in which the plaintiff has made a petition to change her domicile during the suit and to keep her young children, the court may, notwithstanding such restricted conclusions, go beyond and order a modus vivendi for the husband and wife until the case is decided by a final judgment.

Contlée v. Héto, 27 Que. K.B. 442.

ANNULING DECREE — DOMICILE.

Article 96, C.C.P., does not apply to actions for annulling a decree of separation from bed and board, which can be taken before the court of the domicile of the defendant.

Dupuis v. Malo, 19 Que. P.R. 22.

JURISDICTION — DOMICILE — WIFE SUING FOR DIVORCE — HUSBAND'S CHANGE OF RESIDENCE — DOMICILE OF ORIGIN — PRESUMPTION — PRIMA FACIE CASE OF JURISDICTION.

A domicile of origin continues unless a fixed and settled intention of abandoning it and acquiring another as the sole domicile is clearly shown; and where a domicile of origin is proved it lies upon one asserting a change of domicile to establish it; no presumption of change of domicile arises from mere change of residence. In an undefended action by a wife for divorce, where it was clear that the husband's domicile of origin was Alberta where he had lived all his life until he left his wife there five years ago and all that was heard of him since was that he was living sometimes in another province, at other times in different parts of the United States, it was held the wife had made out a prima facie case of jurisdiction upon which the court was justified in action; the fact that there was no one to lay before the court any facts to show that a new domicile had been acquired should not throw upon her the onus of providing a negative, namely, that her husband had not acquired a new domicile.

Coleman v. Coleman, [1919] 3 W.W.R. 490.

HUSBAND AND WIFE — DECLARATION OF NULLITY OF MARRIAGE — SUFFICIENCY OF RESIDENCE TO FOUND JURISDICTION.

While residence only is sufficient to found jurisdiction in nullity actions, as distinguished from divorce actions, such residence must be bona fide. Where a petition setting up grounds for a declaration of nullity was dismissed on the erroneous ground of lack of jurisdiction because of want of a British Columbia domicile, the court declined to reinstate the petition, it appearing on the evidence that the petitioner was merely a casual visitor, although his wife was a resident, in British Columbia, other cases referred to in the judgment and the peculiar condition of divorce jurisdiction in British Columbia.

Purdy v. Purdy, [1919] 2 W.W.R. 551.

(§ II—6)—DOMICILE OF TRAVELING SALESMAN—PLACE OF ADULTEROUS ACTS.

The residence of a traveling salesman for the period of one year and a month, coupled with his affidavit of his intention as to permanent residence, does not establish a sufficient change of domicile for jurisdictional purposes in a divorce proceedings on grounds of adultery committed in another province.

Walcott v. Walcott, 23 D.L.R. 261, 48 N.S.R. 322.

RESIDENCE OF PLAINTIFF FOR JURISDICTIONAL PURPOSES.

A decree of divorce granted in a foreign country at the suit of the husband will not absolve him in Canada from criminal responsibility under s. 242 Cr. Code for neglect to provide necessaries for the wife whom he had deserted in Canada, if the husband had not in fact changed his domicile from Canada to the foreign country but had gone there merely for the purpose of living there long enough to enable him to obtain the divorce and of then returning to Canada.

The King v. Wood, 19 Can. Cr. Cas. 15, 20 O.W.R. 576.

JURISDICTION — RESIDENCE — DOMICILE OF WIFE AFTER DESERTING HUSBAND.

The domicile of the husband is also that of the wife; and the plaintiff, having acquired a domicile in British Columbia, was held entitled to a decree of divorce from the Supreme Court of that province, although the marriage had taken place in England, the wife's misconduct and her desertion of him in Manitoba, he himself had not left Manitoba till after her desertion, had never invited her to join him in British Columbia, and she had never been in British Columbia. [Le Mesurier v. Le Mesurier, [1895] A.C. 517, followed; Adams v. Adams, 14 B.C.R. 301, and Wilson v. Wilson, L.R. 2 P. & D. 435, explained.]

Cutler v. Cutler, 20 B.C.R. 34, 28 W.L.R. 569, 6 W.W.R. 1231.

JURISDICTION—DOMICILE

The question of jurisdiction of the court, other than that of the domicile of the husband, or of the last common domicile, to entertain an action on a separation de corps, being ratione materiae can be raised at any state of the cause and by any proper procedure. If, however, it is raised otherwise than by declinatory exception the court will not grant any costs.

Irwin v. Gagnon, 17 Que. P.R. 402.

(§ II—7)—RESIDENCE OF DEFENDANT FOR PURPOSE OF JURISDICTION.

In an action for separation from bed and board, or for separation of property only, the defendant must be summoned either before the court of the domicile of the husband, or, if he has left his domicile, before that of the last common domicile of the consorts; and an action for separation from bed and board, instituted before a court other than that so prescribed will be dismissed even though the husband as defendant has not entered any appearance, the provisions of art. 96 C.C.P. being jurisdictional.

Bonin v. Bergeron, 18 Rev. de Jur. 355.

(§ II-9)—PARTICULARS.

Acts of cruelty alleged in support of a petition for divorce should be specifically set out in the petition so that the respondent may know what charges he has to meet.

Edmonds v. Edmonds, 1 D.L.R. 559, 17 B.C.R. 28, 20 W.L.R. 541.

FOREIGN DECREE—EFFECT OF—DOMICILE.

R v. Wood, 25 O.L.R. 63, 20 O.W.R. 399.

MARRIAGE OF LUNATIC—DECLARATION OF VULNERABILITY OF MARRIAGE—JURISDICTION.

Quine v. Birmen, 2 O.W.N. 796, 18 O.W.R. 627.

PARTICULARS.

An action for separation from bed and board, as any other action, must state with precision the place, the day, and all the circumstances of the facts of which the plaintiff complains, so as to put the defendant in a position to oppose the action.

Drolet v. Cousineau, 20 Que. P.R. 40.

III. GROUNDS.

A. CRUELTY; ILL-TREATMENT.

(§ III A-10)—GROUNDS FOR—FRAUD.

No marriage shall be declared void merely because it has been contracted upon fraud, unless the party imposed upon has been deceived as to the person, in which case there is no consent.

Hallman v. Hallman, 15 D.L.R. 842, 5 O.W.N. 976.

ADULTERY—CRUELTY—DESERTION—DISMISSAL OF ACTION—COSTS—RULE 388.
Frind v. Frind, 12 O.W.N. 245.

MISCONDUCT OF WIFE—DEPARTURE FROM HUSBAND'S HOUSE—OFFER TO RETURN—REFUSAL OF HUSBAND TO RECEIVE HER BACK—NOMINAL SUM ALLOWED TO WIFE—COSTS.
Wiles v. Wiles, 13 O.W.N. 359.

FAILURE OF PLAINTIFF TO SHEW REASONABLE CAUSE FOR LEAVING DEFENDANT—EVIDENCE—CRUELTY—DISMISSAL OF ACTION—COSTS—RULE 388.
Heller v. Heller, 13 O.W.N. 148.

(§ III A-15)—CRUELTY—ILL-TREATMENT.

The cruelty charged in a suit for divorce in British Columbia must be such as would cause danger to life, limb, or health, or a reasonable apprehension of it. [Russell v. Russell, [1893] P. 315, and Tomkins v. Tomkins, 1 Sw. & Tr. 168, followed.]

Edmonds v. Edmonds, 1 D.L.R. 559, 17 B.C.R. 28, 20 W.L.R. 541, 1 W.W.R. 989.

LEGAL CRUELTY.

Legal cruelty sufficient to support an action for alimony where the husband is willing to take his wife back, is not shewn unless the husband's conduct has been such as to render future cohabitation dangerous to her mental or bodily health.

Lloyd v. Lloyd, 15 D.L.R. 892, 26 W.L.R. 722, 5 W.W.R. 1173. [Reversed in part 19 D.L.R. 502, 7 A.L.R. 307.]

The keeping of a razor and sharp knife underneath his pillow by a husband is insufficient to support a charge of cruelty, at any rate where the wife merely states that she became nervous through this action, but does not state that she feared acts of violence on the part of the husband, or that the weapons referred to were kept by him for that purpose.

Walsh v. Walsh, 7 W.W.R. 620, 20 B.C.R. 482.

LEGAL CRUELTY.

A charge made by a husband against the chastity of his wife without a shadow of foundation in fact, does not constitute legal cruelty justifying an action for alimony on the part of the wife, though the charge was made by the husband in the presence of his wife and their little girl and as a result thereof they left the husband's house and remained away up to the time of bringing the action, the husband in the meantime expressing a willingness to take them back, but not retracting or apologizing for making the charge, but, on the other hand, persisting in denying that he said it. [Russell v. Russell, [1897] A.C. 395, followed.]

Moon v. Moon, 9 D.L.R. 679, 6 S.L.R. 41, 23 W.L.R. 153, 3 W.W.R. 856.

LEGAL CRUELTY.

Abusive language held sufficient to constitute legal cruelty, as reviving former matrimonial offences.

Cherrington v. Cherrington, 9 A.L.R. 181, 32 W.L.R. 438, 9 W.W.R. 146.

B. DESERTION.

(§ III B-25)—LIVING WITH ANOTHER WOMAN—ASSAULT—ALIMONY.

The fact that a man leaves his wife and children and lives with another woman, in a house which is manifestly disreputable, and where she has the reputation of being his wife, that he has assaulted his wife and ordered her and her children out of the house and that he has called her vile names—is sufficient ground for maintaining an action for judicial separation and for alimony.

Desautels v. Mailloux, 42 D.L.R. 267, 24 Rev. Leg. 392.

E. ADULTERY.

(§ III E-38)—In a suit for divorce on the ground of adultery, corroboration of the fact will be required in addition to proof of an admission of adultery made by the defendant unless the admission is entirely free from suspicion.

Edmonds v. Edmonds, 1 D.L.R. 559, 17 B.C.R. 28, 20 W.L.R. 541, 1 W.W.R. 989.

ADULTERY—"CRUELTY."

The fact that on one occasion a husband came home drunk and called his wife terrible names before people held not to constitute legal cruelty sufficient together with acts of adultery to entitle her to divorce, his adultery alone not entitling her to divorce.

B. v. B., [1919] 3 W.W.R. 894.

GROUND FOR—ADULTERY OF WIFE—EVIDENCE—ADMISSIONS—CORROBORATION—JURISDICTION OF COURT.

C. v. C., 46 D.L.R. 666, [1919] 1 W.W.R. 982.

ACTION BY HUSBAND—ADULTERY BY WIFE—NO DIRECT EVIDENCE OF OFFENCE—PROOF REQUIRED—NO OTHER REASONABLE CONCLUSION.

Fitz Randolph v. Fitz Randolph, 41 D.L.R. 739, 45 N.B.R. 505. [See 45 D.L.R. 529, 52 D.L.R. —.]

ALIMONY—EVIDENCE—ADULTERY—CRUELTY—DESERTION—DISMISSAL OF ACTION—APPEAL—COSTS.

Frind v. Frind, 14 O.W.N. 133, affirming 12 O.W.N. 245.

SEPARATION BED—ALLOWANCE TO WIFE—CESSER—ACT SETTLING—HUSBAND TO DIVORCE—ADULTERY—APPEAL—AUTHORITY OF PREVIOUS DECISION.

Gordon v. Gordon, 14 O.W.N. 343.

ADULTERY—EVIDENCE—PRESUMPTION—MICHÈLE—CHANGE.

Adultery may be proved by any kind of proof, even by simple presumption, the law leaving all discretion to the judge in such matters. In order that there may be flagrant delicto, it is not necessary that the delinquents should have been seen in the accomplishment of the guilty act, it is sufficient that they have been heard in the consummation of the adultery. In an action for separation from bed and board the wife condemned on account of adultery nevertheless retains the right of watching over the maintenance and education of her children. When the husband and wife have not made any marriage covenants, the rule of law which applies is that they are presumed to rely upon the law of the country in which the husband has his domicile at the time of the marriage, and if the latter is domiciled in the Province of Quebec, there is community of property between the husband and wife. A change of residence is not sufficient to transfer the domicile; such change must be accompanied by an intention of definitely abandoning his last domicile, in order to establish permanently his residence in another place. If the law of the new place of residence is contrary to that of the original domicile, and recognizes the separation of property, while that of the former residence establishes the community of property, when there was no contract of marriage between the husband and wife, the intention to change the domicile is not presumed from the fact that the husband is described as separate as to property, in legal proceedings on various written agreements. The wife's adultery does not make her lose her rights in the community.

Malloch v. Graham, 27 Que. K.B. 446.

EVIDENCE TO ESTABLISH.

In the Province of Nova Scotia where a dissolution of marriage on the ground of adultery is sought, the petitioner cannot give direct evidence of the respondents' guilt, but may establish the same by circumstantial evidence.

Wood v. Wood, 16 E.L.R. 275.

IV. Defences; connivance; recrimination.

As affecting validity of foreign divorce, see Conflict of Laws, 1 C—65.

(§ IV—40)—SEPARATION AGREEMENT—RELEASES FROM ALL PRIOR CLAIMS—ADULTERY PRIOR TO AGREEMENT.

A release in a separation agreement made between husband and wife, whereby each of the parties released and discharged the other from all claims and demands whatsoever incurred or accrued up to the day of the date thereof, cannot avail the husband as a defence in an action by the wife for dissolution of the marriage, based on cruelty and adultery committed by the husband prior to the date of the agreement, but of which the wife had no knowledge until shortly before the proceedings for dissolution were commenced.

Holland v. Holland, 48 D.L.R. 26, [1919] 2 W.W.R. 966.

DEFENCES.

The husband, defendant in an action en separation de corps, can set up, in answer to an allegation of ill-treatment, provocation induced by the misconduct and disobedience of his wife.

O'Callaghan v. Aherd, 21 Que. K.B. 83.

(§ IV—41)—MATRIMONIAL OFFENCES—CONDONATION—SUBSEQUENT CRUELTY.

Unless it appears that there is a specific arrangement to the contrary, the presumption of cohabitation between husband and wife will operate as a condonation of prior matrimonial offences, subject to the forgiveness being cancelled and the old cause of complaint being revived should a subsequent offence arise.

Brizard v. Brizard, 16 D.L.R. 55, 24 Man. L.R. 119, 26 W.L.R. 734, 5 W.W.R. 1169.

V. Alimony.

A. IN GENERAL.

(§ V A—45)—The conduct of the husband in removing and taking up his residence with some of his own relatives with whom his wife is not on good terms and cannot reasonably be expected to reside, amounts to desertion on his part sufficient to found an independent action for alimony if he fails to provide for her maintenance. [See also Eversley on Domestic Relations, 3rd ed., p. 466.]

Goodfriend v. Goodfriend, 1 D.L.R. 368, 3 O.W.N. 784, 21 O.W.R. 637.

ACTION FOR—ADULTERY UNSUCCESSFULLY PLEADED AS DEFENCE—NOT A GROUND FOR GRANTING.

Pleading adultery of the wife as an answer to an action for alimony, and attempting unsuccessfully to support this plea by evidence does not in itself constitute a ground for awarding alimony. [Russell v. Russell, [1897] A.C. 395, followed; Lovell v. Lovell, 13 O.L.R. 569, distinguished.]

Whimby v. Whimby, 48 D.L.R. 190, 45 O.L.R. 228.

LEGAL CRUELTY.

Impetuousness and meanness and insisting on running his household on an efficiency method, although extremely maddening to the wife, is not cruelty which justifies her in leaving her husband, or which entitles her to alimony.

Forget v. Forget, 40 D.L.R. 662.

DESERTION—WIFE'S ANTENUPTIAL CHASTITY.

A husband is not entitled to be relieved from liability to alimony to the wife whom he has deserted by setting up in defence to an alimony action that the child born shortly after the marriage was not his by reason of the wife's alleged intercourse with another before the marriage, although he further claims that at the time of the marriage he believed himself to be the father of the child of which she was then enceinte.

Hogg v. Hogg, 20 D.L.R. 85, 28 W.L.R. 635, 6 W.W.R. 1291. [Affirmed, 21 D.L.R. 892, 25 Man. L.R. 226.]

CRUELTY—ASSAULT.

In the absence of cruelty amounting to a reasonable apprehension of danger to the life, limb or health of the wife as rendering cohabitation unsafe and impossible, an assault and battery is not sufficient ground for awarding alimony under the provisions of s. 34 of the Judicature Act, R.S.O. 1914, c. 51.

McIlwain v. McIlwain, 28 D.L.R. 167, 35 O.L.R. 332.

PROCEEDINGS UNDER DESERTED WIVES MAINTENANCE ACT, R.S.O. 1914, c. 152—ORDER—DEFAULT—ACTION IN SUPREME COURT.

A woman who has taken proceedings under Deserted Wives Maintenance Act, R.S.O. 1914, c. 152, and been granted alimony, and who subsequently brings an action in the Supreme Court for alimony which fails, cannot succeed in new proceedings under the statute, as these proceedings must be deemed abandoned or superseded by reason of her Supreme Court action. [Craxton v. Craxton, 23 T.L.R. 527, applied and followed.]

Re Wiley and Wiley, 49 D.L.R. 643, 46 O.L.R. 176.

WIFE LEAVING HUSBAND ON ACCOUNT OF CRUELTY—ACTS OF VIOLENCE—APPREHENSION OF FUTURE DANGER—OFFER TO RECEIVE BACK.

Bailey v. Bailey, 48 D.L.R. 750, affirming 15 O.W.N. 356.

ALIMONY—DESERTION—SUFFICIENT CAUSE—DUTY TO TESTIFY IN PERSON—PROPERTIES AND INDEMNITIES.

Batt v. Batt, 27 D.L.R. 718, 33 W.L.R. 550, 9 W.W.R. 1040.

In case the wife is living apart from her husband without a judicial separation, she is not entitled to an allowance or provision from her husband unless she be able to prove such a condition of things as would constitute the husband the guilty consort and would justify a judicial separation, being granted to her.

Gladstone v. Slayton, 3 D.L.R. 27, 21 Que. K.B. 440.

FAILURE OF DEFENDANT TO BELIEVE STATEMENT OF DEFENCE—MOTION FOR JUDGMENT ON STATEMENT OF CLAIM—RULE 354—ADMISSION OF FACTS—QUANTUM OF ALIMONY SETTLED BY COURT IN LIEU OF DIRECTING REFERENCE.

Hargrave v. Hargrave, 11 O.W.N. 54, 130.

ALIMONY—DESERTION—QUANTUM OF ALLOWANCE—LEAVE TO APPLY—COSTS.

Belisle v. Belisle, 8 O.W.N. 296.

QUANTUM—REFERENCE—FINDING OF NOMINAL SUM—APPEAL—MAINTENANCE OF INFANT CHILD OF PARTIES—COSTS.

Evans v. Evans, 12 O.W.N. 182.

PROPERTY TO WIFE—LIS PENDENS—QUANTUM OF INTERIM ALLOWANCE.

Upon an application for interim alimony the defendant set up that the plaintiff was able to maintain herself out of land which he had conveyed to her and out of moneys which her children might allow her. It appeared, however, that, although the plaintiff lived in the house upon the land conveyed to her, the land was tied up by the registration of a certificate of lis pendens, and the allowances from the children would, if made, be no more than compassionate gifts.—Held, that what was thus alleged was no ground for setting aside an order for the payment of 84 a week as interim alimony. [Eaton v. Eaton, L.R. 2 P. & D. 51; Knapp v. Knapp, 12 P.R. 105, distinguished.] Held, also, that the defendant's statement on oath that he had no means out of which payment could be compelled, was no ground for setting aside the order—the plaintiff had the right to test the truth of the statement by an execution.

Peel v. Peel, 42 O.L.R. 165.

JUDGMENT—ARRARAS—COSTS—DEATH OF PLAINTIFF.

In an action for alimony the defendant did not appear or defend, and judgment for the plaintiff was pronounced, on motion therefor, allowing her alimony from the date of issue of the writ of summons, but not before that date, though it was contended that "six years' back alimony" should be allowed. [Robinson v. Robinson, 2 Lee Ecl. r. 593 (app.); Soules v. Soules, 3 Gr. 113, followed.] The plaintiff was allowed full costs of suit. The motion for judgment was heard on the 8th April. The

ALIMONY—FAILURE TO PROVE MARRIAGE TO DEFENDANT—FORMER HUSBAND LIVING WHEN FORM OF MARRIAGE GONE THROUGH—ALTERNATIVE CLAIM TO PAYMENT FOR SERVICES AS HOUSEKEEPER—MONEY LENT—MONEY PAID FOR INSURANCE PREMIUMS IN RESPECT OF POLICIES ON LIFE OF DEFENDANT—MONEY TO BE RETURNED IF BENEFIT DIVERTED FROM PLAINTIFF—INTERIM ALIMONY—EXISTING ORDER FOR—RIGHT OF PLAINTIFF TO ARREARS—COSTS.

Curtie v. Currie, 16 O.W.N. 244.

ALIMONY—HUSBAND LEAVING WIFE—ALLEGATIONS OF ACTS OF CRUELTY BY WIFE—EVIDENCE—JUDICATURE ACT, R.S.O. 1897, c. 51, s. 34.

Peel v. Peel, 16 O.W.N. 79.

PLAINTIFF LEAVING DEFENDANT'S HOUSE WITHOUT CAUSE—REFUSAL TO RETURN—UNFOUNDED CHARGE AGAINST DEFENDANT—DISMISSAL OF ACTION—COSTS—CASH DISBURSEMENTS—RULE 388.

Lambert v. Lambert, 16 O.W.N. 30.

ALIMENTARY ALLOWANCES—INCREASE.

It is not necessary to bring an action to have an alimentary allowance increased; the right to it can be exercised by means of a petition.

Hainault v. Guy, 48 Que. S.C. 209.

HUSBAND AND WIFE—ALIMONY—EVIDENCE—CRUELTY—FAILURE TO ESTABLISH—DISMISSAL OF ACTION—COSTS—RULE 388.

McPhadan v. McPhadan, 16 O.W.N. 269.

HUSBAND AND WIFE—CRUELTY—FINDINGS OF FACT OF TRIAL JUDGE—RATE OF MONTHLY PAYMENTS FIXED IN JUDGMENT—LEAVE TO APPLY.

Riopelle v. Riopelle, 15 O.W.N. 429.

(§ V A—46)—JUDGMENT—ENFORCEMENT BY SALE—EXECUTIONS.

Cowie v. Cowie, 3 D.L.R. 887, 3 O.W.N. 1099.

INDEPENDENT SUIT FOR.

On an application by a wife to enforce the statutory charge for arrears due on a judgment for alimony, an order will not be made for a sale of the lands free from her dower, nor to provide for payment to her of a lump sum in lieu of this right. [Forrester v. Forrester (unreported), distinguished.]

Abbott v. Abbott, 1 D.L.R. 697, 3 O.W.N. 683, 21 O.W.R. 281.

ACTION FOR ALIMONY—SEPARATION—UNPROVED INFIDELITY CHARGES.

An offer on the part of the wife to return to her husband whom she had left voluntarily is dispensed with for the purposes of her action for alimony by the fact of the husband making and persisting in allegations of infidelity against her unsupported by any testimony at the trial.

Ney v. Ney, 11 D.L.R. 100, 24 O.W.R. 193, 4 O.W.N. 935. [Affirmed, 12 D.L.R. 248.]

JUDGMENT EN SEPARATION DE CORPS—ADULTERY OF WIFE.

When though the husband has obtained, on the ground of adultery on the part of the wife, a judgment on separation de corps, the wife, according to the law of Quebec, is entitled to a decree for alimony, but the court should consider the means of the husband and the conduct of the wife in fixing the amount.

Hamilton v. Church, 24 D.L.R. 266, 24 Que. K.B. 26, varying 20 D.L.R. 639.

APPLICABILITY OF DIVORCE COURT PROCEDURE, N.S., TO ACTION FOR ALIMONY.

The provision and procedure of the Divorce Court in Nova Scotia are not applicable to actions for alimony in the Supreme Court of Nova Scotia.

Dorey v. Dorey, 9 D.L.R. 150, 46 N.S.R. 469, 49 C.L.J. 75.

ALIMONY—INDEPENDENT SUIT FOR—NECESSITY FOR DECREE—R.S.S. c. 52, s. 23.

In the statutory action for alimony, where the question of divorce is not involved, a plaintiff must obtain a decree after trial before any alimony can be awarded her. [Dorey v. Dorey, 46 N.S.R. 469, followed.]

Sunderland v. Sunderland, 6 W.W.R. 40.

(§ V A—49)—COHABITATION AFTER ACTION—ALIMONY—COSTS.

Ruttle v. Ruttle, 4 O.W.N. 457, 23 O.W.R. 575.

B. TEMPORARY ALIMONY; SUIT MONEY.

(§ V B—50)—INTERIM ALIMONY.

An allegation in a husband's affidavit and defence to a wife's claim for alimony on the ground of desertion, that he is ready and willing to support and maintain his children is insufficient to defeat the wife's application for interim alimony in which she charges cruelty on his part. Interim alimony will be granted, although desertion only is charged by a wife, where the husband does not shew by his defence or affidavit that he is willing to resume cohabitation with her. Where desertion only is charged by a wife who is residing in her husband's house, interim alimony will not be granted where the husband, by his defence and affidavit, offers to resume cohabitation with her.

Karch v. Karch (No. 1), 3 D.L.R. 658, 3 O.W.N. 1032, 21 O.W.R. 883.

Where a wife without any means and unable to earn anything on account of the state of her health is entitled to interim alimony, an allowance of eight dollars per week as such is reasonable, notwithstanding that her husband asserts on oath that he is not the owner of any property within the province.

Secrest v. Secrest, 5 D.L.R. 833, 5 A.L.R. 389, 22 W.L.R. 51, 2 W.W.R. 928.

INTERIM — NO APPLICATION FOR — COURT CANNOT GRANT PERMANENT ALIMONY PRIOR TO THE DATE OF THE DECREE.

Where no application has been made for interim alimony, the court cannot carry the permanent alimony back to a date before the decree. [Nicholson v. Nicholson, 31 L.J.P. 165, Cooke v. Cooke, 2 Phillimore 40, followed.]

Dowitt v. Dowitt, 46 D.L.R. 242, 12 S.L.R. 213, [1919] 2 W.W.R. 181.

ALIMONY ACTION IN DEFAULT UNDER SEPARATION AGREEMENT — INTERIM ALIMONY AND DISBURSEMENTS.

An order for interim alimony and disbursements may be made, although the plaintiff sets up in her statement of claim a separation agreement and defendant's default in making the stipulated payments for her support and claims, in addition to future alimony, arrears due her under the agreement.

Riddell v. Riddell, 14 D.L.R. 222, 7 A.L.R. 4, 25 W.L.R. 656, 5 W.W.R. 241.

The fact that the wife has left the husband and refuses to return to him although he is willing to take her back to live with him, is no answer, in an alimony action, to her application for an order directing the husband to pay her interim alimony until the trial. [Wilson v. Wilson, 4 P.R. (Ont.) 129, approved.] A prima facie case is made out for an order directing payment of interim alimony in an alimony action, by proving the marriage. [Karch v. Karch, 3 D.L.R. 658, applied.]

Moon v. Moon, 6 D.L.R. 46, 22 W.L.R. 179, 2 W.W.R. 1071.

Interim alimony will not be ordered if it appears that the defendant has no ability to pay. [Pherrill v. Pherrill, 6 O.L.R. 642, applied.] Upon an application by plaintiff for interim alimony, the court will consider the following questions: (a) Dilatory course of plaintiff in going to trial; (b) her own earning capacity; (c) her sources of income from her adult children; but on the other hand will take into consideration the expense to which the applicant is put in supporting the five dependent children. Upon a motion for interim alimony resisted by the defendant upon the ground that he had offered to resume cohabitation with the plaintiff, such an offer where cruelty and desertion were set up in the statement of claim is not a bar to the application, although, in the absence of the allegation of cruelty, it would be otherwise.

Standall v. Standall, 7 D.L.R. 671, 22 Man. L.R. 591, 3 W.W.R. 402.

Where an application for interim alimony was not made in an alimony action until long after the delivery of plaintiff's statement of claim the court may refuse to order interim alimony computed from the delivery of the statement of claim and direct payment to be made only from the date of the order until the trial. An order for interim alimony will not be refused nor its operation stayed upon the ground that the plaintiff should first return to the defendant the child and certain chattels alleged to have been wrongfully taken away by her where the matter of the objection should properly be determined at the trial. [Karch v. Karch, 3 D.L.R. 658, 3 O.W.N. 1092, followed.]

Parish v. Parish, 6 D.L.R. 494, 4 O.W.N. 105, 23 O.W.R. 79.

INTERIM ALIMONY — REFUSAL — ORDER FOR PAYMENT OF DISBURSEMENTS.

White v. White, 2 D.L.R. 885, 21 O.W.R. 515.

INTERIM ORDER — HUSBAND WITHOUT MEANS.

McNair v. McNair, 10 D.L.R. 829, 4 O.W.N. 1093, 24 O.W.R. 390.

ALIMONY—WHEN DUE.

In an action for separation from bed and board, the alimony due to the wife begins from the moment it is asked for at law, and is payable in advance. Alimony exists by virtue of the law, and not by virtue of the judgment which grants it. A defendant cannot ask for the dismissal of the plaintiff's petition for alimony on the ground that the allowance is not a debt actually due.

Trahan v. Boutet, 15 Que. P.R. 315.

SEPARATION FROM BED AND BOARD — PROVISIONAL ALIMONY — RIGHTS AS TO MOVEABLE EFFECTS — QUE. C.P. 1100.

During a trial of separation from bed and board, the wife must receive suitable provisional alimony, according to the husband's means. The defendant wife may keep the conjugal bed with its appurtenances, her bureau and dressing table with its chair which should be in the conjugal room, and also the child's bed with its appurtenances.

Geoffrion v. Mongeon, 16 Que. P.R. 227. PROVISIONAL ALLOWANCE.

A wife cannot obtain a provisional allowance from her husband to defray her expenses pending an action for the separation from bed and board, until she obtains permission to live apart from husband.

Boy v. Girouard, 20 Que. P.R. 21.

No provision in the law permits an application for a provisional allowance during an action for an alimentary pension.

Reutenberg v. Reutenberg, 19 Que. P.R. 248.

INTERIM ALIMONY — AGREEMENT AS TO SUBSEQUENT TO COMMENCEMENT OF PROCEEDINGS — EFFECT.

In an application for interim alimony, no notice is to be taken of a subsequent agreement entered into by the parties to the suit, and almost entirely unperformed by one party. An agreement which is almost entirely unperformed is no agreement at all, but merely a subterfuge on the part of the husband. Moon v. Moon, 2 W.W.R. 1071, followed, as laying down that the merits of the case on such an application cannot be gone into perts. It standing husband action of Creek

INTERIM
M.

The

to 2399

of a hu

ver is a plaintiff to the same separat

her own

R. 241.

East.

(S. V. E.

III

In ac

is that is entit

to the

reasona

ing the

Glove

307, 28

Con N.

Upon counsel is alter

of coin

Stanc

Man. I.

Alimo'

VA

In a

is that shethe

not, bu must a her act

less sh

1 W.

Alimo'

In a band to pleatic

to fur order

but w

made a

to a F

will n

(Sec'd taille

At LOS

MI

U'

TO Four

gone into, and that practically the only subjects for consideration are the financial standing of the parties, particularly of the husband, and the proof of marriage. Application for interim alimony granted. Crooks v. Crooks, 6 W.W.R. 1307.

INTERIM ALIMONY — SEPARATION AGREEMENT — AN BAR — COSTS.

The Supreme Court of Alberta has power to grant interim alimony. A deed of separation executed by a wife at the persuasion of a husband and without independent advice is not a bar to interim alimony. The plaintiff in alimony actions is entitled to have her costs paid upon taxation subject to the right of the husband to dispute the same on the grounds of the wife having separate estate or sufficient means to pay her own costs. [Riddell v. Riddell, 5 W.W.R. 241, followed.]

East v. East, 7 W.W.R. 1239.

(§ V B—52) — SUIT MONEY — COUNSEL FEES — COSTS — JUST CAUSE.

In actions for alimony the general rule is that the plaintiff although unsuccessful is entitled to her costs unless in the opinion of the Trial Judge her solicitor had not reasonable and probable grounds for believing that he was prosecuting a just cause.

Lloyd v. Lloyd, 19 D.L.R. 502, 7 A.L.R. 307, 28 W.L.R. 806, 6 W.W.R. 1387.

COUNSEL FEES.

Upon an application for interim alimony counsel fees will not be included unless it is affirmatively shown that the employment of counsel was necessary.

Standall v. Standall, 7 D.L.R. 671, 22 Man. L.R. 591, 3 W.W.R. 402.

ALIMONY — COSTS — USUAL RULE — VARIATIONS OF — DISCRETION OF COURT.

In actions for alimony the usual rule is that the husband pays the wife's costs, whether she is successful in her action or not, but in order to obtain such costs she must apply for the same before bringing on her action to trial; otherwise if the case is lost, she is not entitled to costs.

Sewell v. Sewell, 49 D.L.R. 594, [1920] 1 W.W.R. 10.

ALIMONY — ACTION — SUIT MONEY.

In an action by a wife against her husband for alimony, the court will, upon application before trial, order the defendant to furnish security for plaintiff's costs, in order that she may have her case heard, but where no such application has been made and the plaintiff has brought her case to a hearing and has failed the husband will not be made liable for her costs. [Sewell v. Sewell, 49 D.L.R. 594, followed.]

Gilbert v. Gilbert, 50 D.L.R. 416.

ACTION FOR ALIMONY — INTERIM DISBURSEMENTS — COUNSEL FEE — AGENCY FEES — UNDERTAKING OF PLAINTIFF'S SOLICITORS — PRACTICE.

Foord v. Foord, 9 O.W.N. 139.

ALIMONY — EVIDENCE — DISMISSAL OF ACTION — COSTS — DISBURSEMENTS — RULE 388.

May v. May, 9 O.W.N. 476.

SUIT MONEY — COSTS — COUNSEL FEES.

Where a suit for a divorce is taken by a wife against a husband and the charges therein made have substance and the costs are reasonably incurred, then even though the wife proves unsuccessful it is just that the costs of her solicitor and counsel should be paid by the husband.

Vernon v. Vernon, 6 W.W.R. 1047.

SOLICITORS' FEES — COMMUNITY.

If an action in separation from bed and board is maintained, and the community heretofore existing thereby dissolved, the defendant's solicitors have no right to have their fees and disbursements for unsuccessfully defending the action paid out of the property of the community.

Conroy v. Carroll, 19 Que. P.R. 159.

(§ V B—53) — SUIT MONEY — WHEN REFUSED — INDEPENDENT MEANS OF SUPPORT.

An application for interim alimony may be refused in an alimony action if the defendant satisfies the court or judge that the plaintiff has ample means of support without any allowance by way of interim alimony or that he, the defendant husband, has neither property nor earning power wherewith to provide interim alimony.

Moon v. Moon, 6 D.L.R. 46, 22 W.L.R. 179.

The court will refuse to grant an order for interim alimony pendente lite, when a wife is in receipt of rents from the real estate owned by her sufficient, after providing for the costs of carrying the property, to produce an adequate income for her maintenance until the trial of the action. [Coombs v. Coombs, L.R. 1 P. & D. 218, followed.]

Allison v. Allison, 9 D.L.R. 418, 6 A.L.R. 127, 23 W.L.R. 570, 3 W.W.R. 1082.

ALIMONY — WHEN REFUSED — HUSBAND'S WANT OF INCOME OR EARNINGS — UNPRODUCTIVE PROPERTY.

A wife is not justified in leaving her husband, and is therefore not entitled to alimony merely because there were occasional quarrels between the parties in which intemperate language may have been used by each of them. A wife is not entitled to alimony where, although the husband has property of some value, he derives no income from it nor from any other source.

Gilbert v. Gilbert, 29 W.L.R. 714.

C. PERMANENT ALLOWANCE.

(§ V C—55) — PERMANENT ALIMONY.

The general rule in fixing permanent alimony in an alimony action is that the wife is entitled to one-third of the husband's income subject to deduction in respect of any independent separate income the wife may have apart from her own earnings.

Goodfriend v. Goodfriend, 1 D.L.R. 368, 3 O.W.N. 784, 21 O.W.R. 637.

AMOUNT OF—HUSBAND'S INCOME.

Where the husband liable to pay alimony has no income but his wages of approximately $80 per month, $20 per month is a proper allowance to the wife, but the order may provide for changing the amount by future order on proof of altered circumstances.

Nurse v. Nurse, 20 D.L.R. 863.

CHEQUELY—DESERTION—QUANTUM OF ALLOWANCE.

Tanner v. Tanner, 2 D.L.R. 907, 3 O.W.N. 1157.

REFERENCE TO FIX PERMANENT ALIMONY—SCOPE OF INQUIRY AS TO INCOME AND PROPERTY OF DEFENDANT.

C. v. C., 15 O.W.N. 332.

REPORT OF MASTER FIXING AMOUNT OF PERMANENT ALLOWANCE—ASCERTAINMENT OF INCOME OF HUSBAND—INTEREST IN INDUSTRIAL COMPANY AS PRINCIPAL SHAREHOLDER—SALARY AS MANAGER—EARNINGS OF COMPANY—ABSENCE OF FIXED RULE AS TO PROPORTION OF INCOME TO BE ALLOWED AS ALIMONY—CIRCUMSTANCES OF CASE—DISCRETION.

Malcolm v. Malcolm, 17 O.W.N. 93.

(§ V C—56)—EFFECT OF PREVIOUS AGREEMENT AS TO.

An agreement for the settlement of an action for alimony, providing for the transfer to the wife of an undivided half interest in certain lands and chattels, but containing no provision for her maintenance by means thereof, nor any other arrangement to maintain her beyond a covenant by the husband to do so, is not a bar to a subsequent action for alimony, though regard will be had thereto in fixing the amount of alimony to be awarded. [Gandy v. Gandy, 7 P.D. 168, and Atwood v. Atwood, 15 P.R. (Ont.) 425, distinguished.] The rule often followed in England of allotting to the wife as alimony one-third of the joint income will not usually be satisfactory in Ontario, but the court will look to what is just and reasonable, having regard to the amount and yearly value of the property of both husband and wife.

Morgan v. Morgan, 3 D.L.R. 802, 3 O.W.N. 1220, 22 O.W.R. 25.

PRIOR SEPARATION AGREEMENT—SUBSEQUENT GROSS MISCONDUCT.

If a state of facts is proved to exist which was not in contemplation of the parties when the agreement of separation was executed, as where the husband subsequently contracted a bigamous alliance with another woman, the wife instituting divorce proceedings on the latter ground may be granted the alimony appropriate to the case without being limited to the amount specified in the separation deed where the latter merely contemplated that the parties would live apart and contained no covenant that she would not apply for alimony if legal grounds therefor should arise.

Miller v. Miller, 16 D.L.R. 557, 19 R.C.R. 363, 27 W.L.R. 607, 6 W.W.R. 168.

(§ V C—58)—INSTANCES OF AMOUNT—PROPORTION OF HUSBAND'S INCOME.

Where the husband is incapacitated by illness from earning anything, the wife's right of action for alimony is not to be based upon his former increased income which included earnings during health, but upon his present income from any source; nor can the corpus of his estate be charged with the deficiency required for the wife's maintenance.

Goodfriend v. Goodfriend, 1 D.L.R. 368, 3 O.W.N. 784, 21 O.W.R. 637.

A wife will be granted some alimony notwithstanding her husband, who had properly provided for her, had suffered from her neglect of her household duties, and had finally left her because of her neglect of him and her continued nagging and scolding, as her conduct was not such as to disentitle her to alimony upon the defendant refusing to live with her.

Karch v. Karch (No. 2), 4 D.L.R. 250, 3 O.W.N. 1446, 22 O.W.R. 534.

GROSS SUM IN LIEU OF PERIODICAL PAYMENTS—PUBLIC POLICY.

Derby v. Derby, 31 D.L.R. 248, 26 Man. L.R. 320.

UNDERTAKING OF HUSBAND TO RECEIVE WIFE BACK—REFUSAL EXCEPT ON CONDITION—CONTEMPT OF COURT—ORDER TO COMMIT—LOCUS PENITENTIE.

Evans v. Evans, 10 O.W.N. 77, 11 O.W.N. 34.

AMOUNT—CIRCUMSTANCES.

To determine the amount of the allowance to be granted to a deserted married woman, the court may take into consideration the condition of fortune not only of the father-in-law, but also of the mother, who is bound, as he is himself, to supply such allowance, even if she has not been made a party to the action.

Phaneuf v. Prévost, 49 Que. S.C. 189.

(§ V C—59)—ALIMONY ACTION—ENFORCEMENT OF DECREE.

Cowie v. Cowie, 6 D.L.R. 886, 4 O.W.N. 224, 23 O.W.R. 237.

HUSBAND AND WIFE—DEFAULT IN PAYMENT UNDER ORDER—REALIZATION BY SALE OF DEFENDANT'S LAND.

Ancelle v. Ancelle, [1919] 1 W.W.R. 875.

D. SUBSEQUENT CHANGE.

(§ V D—60) — SEPARATION AGREEMENT — ALIMENTARY ALLOWANCE MADE TO WIFE — PROVISION FOR DECREASE OR INCREASE — APPLICATION TO JUDGE — APPOINTMENT OF ARBITRATOR — ARBITRATION ACT, R.S.O. 1914, c. 65, § 9.

He Gordon and Gordon, 17 O.W.N. 76.

WIFE CAPABLE OF SELF-SUPPORT.

Where, in an action for separation from bed and board, a husband was ordered to pay an alimentary pension to his wife, he may, by petition, be relieved of his obligation, if his wife has become capable of providing for herself by her work and industry.

Martel v. Page, 20 Que. P.R. 139.

(§ V D—66) — EFFECT OF HUSBAND'S DEATH.

The obligation of a husband to pay alimony to his wife, is personal to himself and does not pass to his heirs, from whom the wife cannot recover.

Hill v. Johnson, 44 Que. S.C. 160.

FOREIGN DIVORCE—FRAUD—ALIMONY.

Maday v. Maday, 4 S.L.R. 18, 16 W.L.R. 70.

ALIMONY — SEPARATION DEED — SETTING ASIDE DEED OF WIFE.

Ditch v. Ditch, 21 Man. L.R. 507, 19 W.L.R. 497.

ALIMONY—APPLICATION FOR CANCELLATION OF JUDGMENT.

Mellor v. Mellor, 16 B.C.R. 1.

SEPARATION DE CORPUS—COLLUSION.

The intention of the legislature, evinced by Art. 186, C.C. (Que.) and Art. 100, C.C.P., to prevent collusion between consorts in order to obtain a decree for separation de corps imposes on the court the duty, in adjudicating upon an application for such decree, where the only evidence tendered is that of the wife who brings the action, to demand corroboration as soon as it appears, that it is possible to obtain it.

Cameron v. Watson, 40 Que. S.C. 350.

ALIMONY—LIABILITY FOR—FATHER-IN-LAW.

Alimony is due without distinction from all those liable to furnish it, and recourse need not be had in the first place to the one primarily liable. Thus, a married woman can recover it from her father-in-law without first applying to her husband.

Paradis v. Letourneau, 40 Que. S.C. 24.

FATHER-IN-LAW — SUPPLEMENTARY ALLOWANCE.

Ex parte Allard, 12 Que. P.R. 213.

VI. Other property rights.

See Husband and Wife.

VII. Custody and support of children.

See also Infants; Parent and Child.

(§ VII—75) — CHILD'S WELFARE.

The court in making an order for the custody of infant children will first consider the welfare of the children rather than the punishment of the guilty parent and where the father's common-law right to their custody conflicts with this interest it will not prevail.

Tuxford v. Tuxford, 28 D.L.R. 239, 9 S.L.R. 251, 34 W.L.R. 419, 10 W.W.R. 598. [See also 12 D.L.R. 380, 6 S.L.R. 96.]

AGREEMENT AS TO—ACCESS TO CHILD.

A separation agreement providing the custody and control of a child with the wife and its maintenance and education by the husband with a privilege to the husband of access to the child entitles the husband to access to the child only while in the mother's custody and control, and unless it is otherwise stipulated he cannot object to the mother's presence in the room during his visits to see the child.

Re M., an Infant, 22 D.L.R. 435, 33 O.L.R. 515.

AGREEMENT FOR CUSTODY OF CHILDREN—ACTION TO SET ASIDE—UNDE INFLUENCE

— MISREPRESENTATION — CONCEALMENT OF FACTS—PUBLIC POLICY—ALIMONY—ADULTERY—CONSENSATION.

Schmidt v. Schmidt, 11 O.W.N. 405.

CUSTODY OF CHILDREN—DECREE OF SEPARATION FROM BED AND BOARD—QUE. C.P. 214, 215.

A motion by a wife to obtain the custody of her child will be refused if a separation judgment has already been granted to the husband.

Gravel v. Champagne, 16 Que. P.R. 31.

JUDGMENT GIVING MOTHER CUSTODY — HABEAS CORPUS—RES JUDICATA.

A child of eleven has not the right to choose for himself, at his will, a domicile different from that of his mother, when the custody of the child has been given to the mother by the court which has definitely adjudged on the consorts' application for separation from bed and board. A mother, who is deprived of a child's custody given her by the court, may claim him back by way of habeas corpus. The matter is res judicata when the judgment on the application for separation, and a previous writ of habeas corpus have been upheld in favour of the mother. So long as the orders giving the child to the mother have not been rescinded by the court's discretionary power, both the father and child are bound to obey such orders.

Kastel v. Hampton, 20 Que. P.R. 198.

(§ VII—78) — CUSTODY OF CHILDREN — CHANGE OF DECREE AS TO—EVIDENCE OF HUSBAND'S CHARACTER—RELEVANCY.

Where the claims made by the wife in an alimony action include one for the custody of the children, evidence of the defendant husband's character becomes admissible in respect of such claim.

Lloyd v. Lloyd, 19 D.L.R. 502, 7 A.L.R. 307, 28 W.L.R. 806, 6 W.W.R. 1387.

(§ VII—79) — ALIMONY ACTION—CUSTODY OF CHILDREN.

On the trial of an action by the wife for alimony and the custody of the children, the defendant husband against whom alimony is decreed, may be ordered not to visit or see the children at the plaintiff's house where such visits would interfere with plaintiff's business as a boardinghouse keeper, but the court will direct that any periodical interviews to which it considers the father entitled with his children shall be held elsewhere.

Fitchett v. Fitchett, 10 D.L.R. 367, 4 O.W.N. 844, 24 O.W.R. 109.

UNLAWFUL TAKING OR ENFORCEMENT OF CHILD—OFFENCE COMMITTED BY FATHER—DECREE OF FOREIGN COURT AWARDED CUSTODY TO MOTHER—VALIDITY.

R. v. Hamilton, 22 O.L.R. 484, 17 Can. Cr. Cas. 419.

SEPARATION DE CORPS—CARE OF CHILD.

The wife, defendant to an action on separation de corps retains pendente lite the provisional custody of a child two and a half years old and too young to be deprived of his mother's care.

Beaulieu v. Larivee, 12 Que. P.R. 163.

MAINTENANCE OF CHILDREN—COVENANT IN MARRIAGE CONTRACT—SEPARATION.
Gregory v. Odell, 39 Que. S.C. 291.

VIII. Agreements for support and maintenance.

See also Husband and Wife.

A. IN GENERAL.

(§ VIII A—80)—AGREEMENTS FOR SUPPORT AND MAINTENANCE.

Upon a separation of husband and wife, the wife is competent to make her own terms and her agreement to accept a stipulated allowance for her maintenance will be deemed valid in the absence of any showing that fraud or duress was practised upon her.

Frémont v. Frémont, 6 D.L.R. 465, 26 O.L.R. 6, 21 O.W.R. 644.

EFFECT OF ADULTERY.

An admission by the defendant on examination for discovery that he has been living in adultery is a new circumstance, not in contemplation of the parties at the time of entering into a separation agreement, sufficient to entitle the plaintiff to the custody of the infant children and to such increase in alimony as the court may think proper under the circumstances.

Tuxford v. Tuxford, 28 D.L.R. 239, 9 S.L.R. 251, 34 W.L.R. 419, 10 W.W.R. 598. [See also 12 D.L.R. 380, 6 S.L.R. 96.]

SEPARATION DEED—ADULTERY—"ENTITLING TO DIVORCE."

Adultery does not, in Ontario, entitle to divorce, which can only be granted by the Parliament of Canada; therefore a separation allowance under deed is receivable by a wife guilty of adultery subsequent to the execution thereof despite a condition therein that it shall cease if she be guilty of any act which would "entitle" the husband to obtain a dissolution of marriage.

Gordon v. Gordon, 32 D.L.R. 626, 38 O.L.R. 167. [See also 13 O.W.N. 172.]

ANNUITY—"DURING HER LIFE."

Although it is provided by a separation deed that an annuity is to be paid to the wife "during her life" for her maintenance, it may be held in view of another provision in the deed for the payment to her of a lump sum on the husband's death, that the annuity was to be payable during their joint lives only.

Rissmuller v. Baleom, 24 B.C.R. 353, [1917] 3 W.W.R. 535.

SEPARATION AGREEMENTS—RELEASE OF DOWER—REGISTRATION—RESUMPTION OF COHABITATION—DECLARATION OF CANCELLATION OF AGREEMENTS AND RELEASE—ACTION AGAINST ADMINISTRATRIX.

Wardhaugh v. Wiseman, 5 O.W.N. 456.

(§ VIII A—81)—ENFORCEMENT OF.

Where an alimony action has been settled and the husband and wife resumed cohabitation under an agreement stipulating that in the event of his wife being at any time "compelled for good cause to leave and live separate and apart from him" certain monetary benefits should be charged on his landed property in her favour, the charge will be enforced as upon a breach of the condition if the husband leaves the wife under circumstances which justify her in refusing to go where he is living and in refusing to cohabit with him further.

Nargang v. Nargang, 1 D.L.R. 323, 20 W.L.R. 206, 1 W.W.R. 865.

AGREEMENT FOR SUPPORT AND MAINTENANCE—SEPARATION—ENFORCEMENT OF—ARREARS OF ALIMONY.

Notwithstanding that ordinarily an agreement between husband and wife for a separation without sufficient cause, is prima facie a defence to an alimony action, yet where the breaches of the agreement are substantial, such as the refusal of the husband to make payments to a substantial amount thereunder so as to virtually amount to a repudiation of his obligation to pay, the agreement will not be recognized as a defence to the action.

Riddell v. Riddell, 14 D.L.R. 222, 7 A.L.R. 4, 25 W.L.R. 656, 5 W.W.R. 241.

(§ VIII A—82)—DEED OF SEPARATION—SETTING ASIDE—INADEQUACY OF WIFE'S ALLOWANCE—FAILURE OF WIFE TO OBSERVE COVENANTS—EFFECT.

A deed of separation between husband and wife will not be set aside on account of the inadequacy of the provision for the wife's support, where the latter, who deserted her husband in the first instance, after accepting such payments for six years, violated her covenant not to molest her husband or attempt to set aside the deed and be restored to her conjugal rights.

A deed of separation between husband and wife cannot be attacked by the latter six years after its execution, on the ground that she signed it by reason of undue influence and without independent advice, where before executing it, she had the draft deed in her possession for some time and made suggestions as to alterations, and also consulted her solicitor and the bishop of her church regarding it.

Tuxford v. Tuxford, 12 D.L.R. 380, 6 S.L.R. 96, 24 W.L.R. 611, 4 W.V.R. 894. [See also 28 D.L.R. 239, 9 S.L.R. 251.]

(§ VIII A-83) — AGREEMENT FOR ALLOWANCE TO WIFE HAVING CARE OF CHILDREN.

When a husband and wife differ greatly as to the amount that the husband ought to pay as a provisional allowance to the wife who has the care of the children, the court, upon inquiry, will fix the amount. This allowance is payable to the wife who has the care of the children, when the father has so bound himself in writing.

Gauthier v. Labelle, 16 Que. P.R. 25.

B. VALIDITY OF.

(§ VIII B-85) — DEED OF SEPARATION — RELINQUISHMENT BY A FATHER OF CUSTODY OF CHILD — ENFORCEMENT OF VALID PORTION.

Since the enactment of the Imperial Statute, 36 Vict. 1873, c. 12, deeds of separation between husband and wife are not invalidated by a provision whereby a father surrenders control of his children, since the valid portion of the agreement will be enforced.

Tuxford v. Tuxford, 12 D.L.R. 380, 6 S.L.R. 96, 24 W.L.R. 611, 4 W.V.R. 894. [See also 28 D.L.R. 239, 9 S.L.R. 251.]

TERMINATION BY DEATH.

The obligatⁿ of a provision in a separation deed for the payment of a monthly amount "hereafter" to the wife, who covenants that out of the said money she will maintain the children of the marriage, is terminated by the death of the husband, where the object of the deed appears to have been to provide for a separation merely and not to operate as a post nuptial settlement.

Re Dougall Estate, 28 D.L.R. 520, 27 Man. L.R. 62, 34 W.L.R. 924, 10 W.V.R. 1001.

(§ VIII B-88) — SEPARATION AS TO PROPERTY — EFFECT OF — SIMPLE ADMINISTRATION.

A wife separated as to property, who rents a house to occupy it herself, with her children, does an act of simple administration.

Lachance v. Leboeuf, 46 Que. S.C. 421.

DOCKS.

See Wharfs; Waters.
Can. Dig.—54.

DOCUMENTS.

Order for production, see Discovery.
Documentary evidence, see Evidence, IV.

Annotation.

Questioned documents and proof of handwriting: 44 D.L.R. 170.

DOGS.

See Animals.

DOMICILE.

See Conflict of Laws; Divorce; Aliens, I-3; Taxes, I F-90; V C-193.

(§ I-1) — CONFLICT OF LAWS — FOREIGN DIVORCE.

An absolute decree of divorce granted by a foreign court, confessedly obtained on an untrue statement of facts, and for a cause not recognized by Canadian law, to one who had at the time no bona fide domicile in the foreign state, is not effectual in Canada.

Cox v. Cox, 40 D.L.R. 195, 13 A.L.R. 285, [1918] 2 W.V.R. 422.

DOMICILE OF CHOICE — RESIDENCE — MARRIAGE AND DIVORCE — DEVOLUTION OF ESTATES.

In the absence of evidence of a contrary intention, the requirement of a domicile of choice may be inferred from the circumstances under which a person left his domicile of origin and the length of his residence in the jurisdiction where the domicile of choice is alleged to have been acquired. On an application under the Devolution of Estates Act, R.S.S. 1909, c. 43, for a direction from the court as to the person or persons entitled to the estate of the deceased, John Seilo, who married the applicant in Finland in 1888, deserted her and came to the state of Michigan in 1889, and obtained a divorce there in 1900. Held, that, in the absence of evidence to the contrary, the court should conclude from the circumstances under which the deceased left Finland and the length of his residence in Michigan that he had acquired a domicile there at the time of the decree of divorce.

Re Seilo Estate, [1918] 1 W.V.R. 441.

ELECTION OF DOMICILE — SUBSEQUENT LAW.

An election of domicile made in a contract or note cannot be affected by a law subsequently passed.

La Cie d'Assurance Mutuelle du Commerce contre L'incendie v. Lalanette, 20 Que. P.R. 142.

(I-4) — CHANGE OF — INTENTION — RESIDENCE.

An intention to make an abandonment or change of domicile must be proved by satisfactory evidence; domicile may be changed by the choice of another domicile evidenced by residence within the territorial limits to which the jurisdiction of the new domicile extends. [Re Martin, [1900] P. 211, followed; Udry v. Udry,

I.R. 1 Sc. App. 441; Huntly v. Gaskell, [1906] A.C. 56; Winans v. Att'y Gen'l, [1904] A.C. 287, applied.]
Seifert v. Seifert, 23 D.L.R. 440, 32 O.L.R. 433.

CHANGE OF.

There is a change of domicile when a person, after disposing of all his property, both real and personal, in a locality, removes to another locality, where he resides for some years at a hotel.

Moffat v. Montgomery, 14 Que. P.R. 353.

(§ 1-5)—HUSBAND AND WIFE—CONJUGAL DOMICILE—LAW GOVERNING PROPERTY RIGHTS.

When a man and woman living in different countries are married, the domicile of the husband becomes their conjugal domicile, the laws of which govern their property rights and relations during marriage.

Putnam v. Young, 45 Que. S.C. 161.

HUSBAND AND WIFE—CHANGE OF DOMICILE—PROOF.

An authentic certificate of a marriage celebrated in a foreign country, is no proof that at the time of the marriage the spouses were domiciled in that state. A husband's domicile of origin being in the Province of Quebec, where he was born, is supposed to be the one he had at the time of his marriage; by virtue of the presumption of art. 1290, C.C. (Que.), the spouses must be considered as possessing in common. The domicile of origin can be changed by habitation in another place with intention to make such place his residence and his main establishment sine animo revertendi. That proof of intention may result from the circumstances accompanying the change of residence and from legally proved judicial declarations, which show a well-determined will to change the birth domicile.

O'Meara v. O'Meara, 49 Que. S.C. 334.

SUCCESSION DUTY—DEPOSIT IN BANK—DEPOSITOR DOMICILED IN ANOTHER PROVINCE.

The King v. Lovitt, [1912] A.C. 212.

DONATIO MORTIS CAUSA.

See Gift; Evidence, XII—965.

DONATION.

See Gift.

Annotation.

Necessity for delivery and acceptance of chattel: 1 D.L.R. 306.

DOWER.

I. RIGHT OF.

A. Nature and extent.

B. In what property.

C. How barred.

II. RIGHTS AND REMEDIES OF WIDOW.

See also, Husband and Wife; Descent and Distribution; Partition.

Dower clause in deeds, see Deeds, II B—25.

I. Right to.

A. NATURE AND EXTENT.

(§ 1 A—5)—A widow who is a devisee of the freehold in lands cannot have dower in the same lands.

Re Allen, 7 D.L.R. 494, 4 O.W.N. 249.

RIGHT TO—NATURE AND EXTENT—DOWER ACT—CRITERION.

The object of s. 23 of the Dower Act, 9 Edw. VII Ont. c. 39, was to place the widow as nearly as possible as to the amount she should receive in gross in lieu of an assignment of dower in the same position as she would have been were it possible to make an assignment by metes and bounds; subject to the qualification that she shall not have the benefit of permanent improvements made after the alienation by or death of the husband; it does not make one-third of the rental value at that time an absolute criterion nor enlarge her right in respect to dower.

McNally v. Anderson, 19 D.L.R. 775, 31 O.L.R. 561.

DOCTRINE OF ELECTION—INTENTION OF TESTATOR TO EXCLUDE.

Re Wadsworth, 19 O.W.R. 32, 2 O.W.N. 999.

APPLICATION FOR ORDER TO CONVEY LAND FREE FROM DOWER OF WIFE OF MORTGAGOR—DOWER ACT, R.S.O. 1914, c. 79, ss. 14 (2), 17—PROOF THAT MORTGAGOR ALIVE—NECESSITY FOR ASCERTAINMENT OF VALUE OF DOWER WHERE WIFE NOT DISENTITLED.

Re Haycock, 11 O.W.N. 291.

LUMP SUM IN LIEU OF—CALCULATION UPON VALUE OF LAND—DEDUCTING AMOUNT OF MORTGAGE—ARREARS OF DOWER—COSTS, Jaynes v. Jaynes, 14 O.W.N. 193.

ELECTION BY WIDOW—EVIDENCE—NOTICE OF ELECTION—PRESUMPTION OF ELECTION IN FAVOUR OF WILL—JURISDICTION OF THE COURT IN AN ACTION NOT BROUGHT BY WIDOW.

Hurry v. Hurry, 9 E.L.R. 123.

B. IN WHAT PROPERTY.

(§ 1 B—11)—IN MORTGAGE LANDS.

The wife of a purchaser of land, who has joined, to bar her dower, in a mortgage to secure unpaid purchase money, is not entitled to dower in the whole value of the land, but only in the value of his land after deducting the amount of the mortgage debt. [Campbell v. Royal Canadian Bank, 19 Gr. 334, followed; Lindsay v. Lindsay, 23 Gr. 219, and Robertson v. Robertson, 25 Gr. 486, distinguished.] A wife who has joined, to bar her dower, in a mortgage by her husband which was not given to secure unpaid purchase money, is entitled, subject to the rights of the mortgagee, to dower in the whole value of the mortgaged land.

Re Auger, 5 D.L.R. 680, 26 O.L.R. 402, 22 O.W.R. 118, reversing 3 O.W.N. 377.

C. HOW BARRED.

(§ I C—18)—BAR BY MORTGAGE—LIMITED EFFECT.

Where the wife joins in a mortgage under the Short Forms of Mortgages Act (Ont.), for the purpose of barring her inchoate right of dower, and her husband is at such time seized in fee of the lands, her bar of dower will operate only to the extent necessary to give effect to the rights of the mortgagee; so where the mortgage had been paid off prior to the husband's assignment for creditors whereby his interest in the lands was conveyed to the assignee, but without any bar of dower by the wife, the wife's dower will accrue on her husband's death, although a statutory discharge of the mortgage was not registered until after the making of such assignment for creditors and although the husband died seized of no estate either legal or equitable in the lands.

McNally v. Anderson, 9 D.L.R. 449, 4 O.W.N. 901, 24 O.W.R. 182.

JOINING IN MORTGAGE—FORECLOSURE.

Where a married woman joined with her husband in a mortgage of his freehold property, and the husband afterwards gave a second mortgage on the property in which the wife did not join, on motion for foreclosure and sale:—Held, that the wife's dower was barred on the ground that she had not appeared and defended the action. Quære: Under the circumstances would the wife's dower be completely barred by the ordinary order for foreclosure and sale?

Vaughan v. Parker, 43 N.B.R. 442.

(§ I C—27)—BY ADULTERY OR DIVORCE—R.S.O. 1897, c. 164, s. 12.

Re S., 3 D.L.R. 896, 3 O.W.N. 1573.

II. Rights and remedies of widows.

(§ II—34)—ASSIGNMENT FOR CREDITORS—UNASSIGNED DOWER.

Where a mill and machinery and plant belonging to the debtor had been removed in his lifetime by parties claiming under his assignment for creditors, in which his wife had not joined to bar dower, and under circumstances which at most would amount to permissive waste for which equity does not readily interfere, and which the wife would have no locus standi to prevent, she is not entitled to have the value of the building so removed taken into account on an award in gross in lieu of dower.

McNally v. Anderson, 19 D.L.R. 775, 31 O.L.R. 561.

BASIS UPON WHICH DOWER SHOULD BE ALLOWED—LANDS PURCHASED—MORTGAGE GIVEN AS PART PAYMENT—WIFE JOINED MORTGAGE TO BAR DOWER.

Re Auger, 3 O.W.N. 377, 20 O.W.R. 656.

DRAINS AND SEWERS.

I. IN GENERAL; ESTABLISHMENT; REPAIRS; STATUTES.

II. PROCEDURE.

III. ASSESSMENTS.

Natural drainage, see Waters, II G—125.

Municipal contracts as to construction of, see Contracts, IV A—321.

Liability for damage resulting from, see Waters, II G—125.

Annotation.

Cost of work; power of referee: 21 D.L.R. 286.

I. In general; establishment; repairs; statutes.

(§ I—1)—RETROACTIVENESS OF STATUTE—REMEDIES FOR INJURIES TO LAND.

The Act of 1913, c. 18, amending the Drainage, Dyking and Irrigation Act, R.S.B.C. (1911), c. 69, is not retroactive operation, and the remedy as to arbitration provided by s. 58 of the amending Act for an injurious affection to land has no application to injuries arising before the passage of the amending Act.

Hemphill v. McKinney, 27 D.L.R. 345, 21 B.C.R. 561, 33 W.L.R. 688.

CONSTRUCTION—NEW AND EXISTING DRAINS.

Under s. 3 of the Municipal Drainage Act, R.S.O. 1914, c. 198, the construction of a drain may be authorized even though it follows in the main the course of an existing drain.

Re Gosfield South & Gosfield North, 35 D.L.R. 119, 39 O.L.R. 93.

(§ I—6)—PRIVATE DRAINS—HIGHWAY REPAIR—INTERFERENCE.

Where water which is the drainage of the plaintiff's own land, augmented by some slight flow of surface water from adjacent streets, is collected in a ditch constructed by the plaintiff and thence discharged on to a public highway, the defendant municipality responsible for the repair of the highway is not responsible for damages resulting to the plaintiff's lands by reason of its repairing the road and diverting the flow of surface water into the channel in which it would naturally flow.

Ollman v. Hamilton, 11 D.L.R. 1, 24 O.W.R. 454, 4 O.W.N. 1122.

PIPE ACROSS STREET—INJUNCTION RESTRAINING—DAMAGES—LOCAL RIGHTS OF MUNICIPALITY—WATER DECREASING RATHER THAN INCREASING.

Yelland v. Oliver, 3 O.W.N. 370, 20 O.W.R. 667.

DRAINAGE—FLOODING PRIVATE PROPERTY—

LEAVE TO CONNECT PRIVATE DRAIN WITH CORPORATION DRAIN—NEGLIGENCE IN CONSTRUCTION—NEGLECT TO REPAIR.

Woodward v. Vancouver, 16 B.C.R. 457, 19 W.L.R. 297.

REPAIRS AND IMPROVEMENTS—REPORT OF ENGINEER—PRACTICALLY A NEW SCHEME—MANDATE OF ENGINEER UNDER S. 77 OF THE ACT.

Gibson v. West Luther, 20 W.L.R. 405.

COMPULSORY POWERS—CONSTRUCTING STATUTE—IRRIGATION WORKS—NUISANCE—OBSTRUCTION OF HIGHWAYS—DUTY TO BUILD AND MAINTAIN BRIDGES.

Alberta R. & Irrigation Co. v. The King, 44 Can. S.C.R. 595.

II. Procedure.

(§ II—10)—DITCHES AND WATERCOURSES ACT—APPEAL FROM AWARD.

An appeal to a County Judge, under s. 21 of the Ditches and Watercourses Act, R.S.O. 1914, c. 260, is a rehearing, and all objections as to the regularity of the award should be made then; if no appeal has been taken within the time limited, the award is valid and binding under s. 23 of the Act.

Otto v. Roger, 38 D.L.R. 668, 40 O.L.R. 381, affirming 35 D.L.R. 339, 39 O.L.R. 127.

AWARD—REGISTRATION.

The effect of an award under the Ditches and Watercourses Act, R.S.O. 1914, c. 260, is to subject the lands affected by it to an easement: It is therefore an instrument affecting the land within the meaning of the Registry Act, R.S.O. 1914, c. 124, s. 71, and should be registered; it does not bind a bona fide purchaser for value without notice.

Delbridge v. Brantford, 38 D.L.R. 677, 40 O.L.R. 443.

DITCHES AND WATERCOURSES—PROCEDURE—INFANT'S LAND—NOTICE—GUARDIAN.

The guardian intended by the interpretation clause (s. 3) of the Ditches and Watercourses Act, R.S.O. 1897, c. 285, is such as has by law the management and control of the infant's land, and not merely the guardian of his person; and notice of proceedings under the act, given to the father of an infant whose land was affected by the proceedings—the father not having been appointed guardian of the infant's estate—is insufficient to satisfy s. 8 of the Act, which requires notice to be given to every "owner;" and the infant so improperly made a party to the proceedings is not bound by the award therein rendered, and all proceedings had thereunder are invalid.

Healy v. Ross, 22 D.L.R. 408, 33 O.L.R. 308, reversing 32 O.L.R. 184.

(§ II—12)—PETITION—NECESSITY OF.

Where what is proposed is not the construction of a new drainage work, but merely the repair and improvement of an existing system, which experience has proved is defective in that it provides no adequate outlet, the work falls within s. 77 of the Municipal Drainage Act, 10 Edw. VII. (Ont.), c. 90, and can be performed without a petition. (Oxford v. Howard, 27 A.R. (Ont.), 223, followed; Sutherland-Innes Co. v. Romney, 30 Can. S.C.R. 495, distinguished.)

Re Orford & Aldborough, 7 D.L.R. 217, 27 O.L.R. 107, 22 O.W.R. 853.

HEARING OF APPEAL TO COUNTY COURT JUDGE—TIME FOR DELIVERING JUDGMENT—PROHIBITION.

Re Rowland & McCallum, 22 O.L.R. 418, 17 O.W.R. 735.

INJUNCTION RESTRAINING PUBLIC CORPORATION FROM PERFORMING ITS WORKS—INTERFERENCE WITH DRAINAGE WORKS OF A MUNICIPALITY.

Maisonneuve v. Harbour Commissioners of Montreal, 39 Que. S.C. 36.

III. Assessments.

(§ III—15)—CREATION OF DISTRICTS—PRESUMPTION—ASSESSMENTS—JURISDICTION OF COMMISSIONERS—MAJORITY.

Where certain marsh lands appear to have been recognized as a district within the jurisdiction of the Commissioners of Sewers acting under the provisions of c. 159, C.S. N.B. 1903, the fact that no record can be found to shew the creation of the district will not rebut the prima facie presumption that it was legally constituted as such [Ex parte Dixon, 41 N.B.R. 133, followed]; if owing to resignation or refusal to act, or a refusal of the proprietors to elect, the Board of Commissioners is without a majority, a commissioner acting alone has the power to carry out the work as that of the majority, and to make valid assessments therefor, which are a lien upon the lands and enforceable as such.

Downey v. Hopewell Comm. of Sewers, 36 D.L.R. 644, 45 N.B.R. 90 at 139.

INDEPENDENT JUDGMENT OF ENGINEER—INCLUSION OF EXPENSES AND FEES OF SOLICITORS AND ENGINEER.

Re Bright and Sarnia; Re Wilson & Sarnia, 12 D.L.R. 848, 4 O.W.N. 1535, 24 O.W.R. 817.

(§ III—16)—RULE FOR MAKING ASSESSMENT.

The test in determining outlet liability under the Municipal Drainage Act, 10 Edw. VII. (Ont.), c. 90, is whether the drainage work is necessary in fact or in law to enable or improve the cultivation or drainage of the land proposed to be assessed, and where lands can be more effectively drained after the construction of the drainage work than before, because they will then have an outlet which they did not have before, or where they are effectively drained, but their waters are not taken to they have no outlet at all, and the drainage work will give them a sufficient outlet, they are assessable for outlet liability. (Per Henderson, Drainage Referee.)

Re Orford & Aldborough, 7 D.L.R. 217, 27 O.L.R. 107.

TOWNSHIP BY-LAW AUTHORIZING RAISING OF MONEY—ABSENCE OF ENGINEER'S REPORT—CONDITION PRECEDENT.

Re Johnson & Tilbury East, 25 O.L.R. 242, 20 O.W.R. 747.

CUMBERLAND SEWERS ACT—THE MARSH ACT — CONSTRUCTION OF DYKE AND ABUTTEAU — PRESCRIPTION — LOST GRANT.
Corbett v. Pipes, 9 E.L.R. 127, 532.

DRUGS AND DRUGGISTS.

For unlawful sales of intoxicating liquors by druggists, see Intoxicating Liquors.

LIABILITY FOR UNLAWFUL SALE.

A druggist who sells medicine for promoting dog breeding, composed of dangerous drugs, without consulting a veterinary and without possessing the necessary knowledge for the purpose, is liable for damages suffered by the owner of the dog if the latter dies on account of this medicine.

Van Camp v. Freeman, 48 Que. S.C. 410.

OPERATING DRUGS BUSINESS UNDER ANOTHER'S LICENSE—PENALTY.

One who, being neither a physician nor a licensed chemist, operates a pharmacy or drug store in the name of other licensed persons is liable for the penalty imposed by art. 5023, R.S.Q. 1909, even when the latter have made and registered a declaration to the effect that they themselves carry on the business of pharmacy, and that the defendant had given them absolute control of the sale of drugs and poisons, reserving only to himself a financial share.

Pharmaceutique Ass'n of Quebec v. Bergeron, 47 Que. S.C. 175.

QUALIFICATION—CERTIFICATE—PENALTY.

Where a statute provides penalties for keeping open a drug store without a qualifying certificate, only one penalty is incurred up to the time when proceedings are commenced for the infraction of the statute unless there be express provision for a separate penalty for separate periods. [Garnett v. Messenger, L.R. 2 C.P. 583; Marks v. Benjamin, 5 M. & W. 565, applied.]

Nova Scotia Pharmaceutical Society v. Riordan, 36 D.L.R. 652, 28 Can. Cr. Cas. 194, 51 N.S.R. 142.

JOINT STOCK COMPANY—VIOLATION OF ACT—SEVERAL OFFENCES—PENALTIES.

Pharmaceutical Ass'n of Quebec v. Modern Pharmacy, 20 Que. K.B. 212.

CIGARS NOT SOLD AS DRUGS—SUNDAY LAWS.
R. v. Wells, 24 O.L.R. 77, 19 O.W.R. 452.

DRUNKENNESS.

Regulation of intoxicants, see Intoxicating Liquors.

As rendering contract void or voidable, see Contracts, I D—45; Deeds II G—70.

DURESS.

As affecting validity of documents, see Deeds; Wills; Contracts.

Threat of criminal prosecution, see Compromise and Settlement, I—4.

(§ I—1)—IN GENERAL—DEED OF LAND—ACTION TO SET ASIDE—DURESS AND UNDUE INFLUENCE—WANT OF PARTIES—REFUSAL OF COSTS.

Pigden v. Pigden, 4 O.W.N. 391, 23 O.W.R. 694.

SETTING ASIDE CONVEYANCE OF LAND—DURESS—SALE AT UNDERVALUE—IGNORANCE OF VENDOR.

Kolp v. Hunter, 19 W.L.R. 709.

(§ I—7)—ACTION ON CHEQUE GIVEN IN ORDER TO OBTAIN RELEASE FROM CUSTODY—ARREST IN MASSACHUSETTS OF RESIDENT OF ONTARIO—LAW OF MASSACHUSETTS—CAPIAS—FRAUD—DEFENCE TO ACTION.

There being a dispute between the defendant, doing business in Ontario, and a trading company in Boston, Mass., as to the liability to pay for or to pay damages for the non-acceptance of certain machines which had been sent by the company to Ontario, the defendant wrote to the manager of the company stating that he (the defendant) would call on the company in Boston and endeavour to make an amicable settlement. This was at once assented to by the manager, who, as advised by the plaintiff, the company's attorney, intended to allow the defendant to come into Massachusetts at his own instance, and without being procured to come by the company, and that he should then be arrested under a capias for the claim asserted by the company. The defendant went to Boston, called on the manager, and found that no arrangement could be made. He was then arrested upon process obtained earlier in the day, upon an affidavit sworn by the manager, before any meeting had taken place. The defendant failing to obtain bail, sent for the manager and offered to pay for the machines, and proceeded to draw a cheque upon a bank in Ontario for the amount, but the manager refused to accept the cheque. The plaintiff then intervened and offered to take the defendant's cheque and give his own cheque to the company for the amount, less his fee. The defendant gave his cheque, and was released. The plaintiff gave the defendant a receipt for the cheque, "which when paid will be in full settlement and discharge" of the claim of the company. The defendant stopped payment of his cheque. The plaintiff gave his cheque to the company, but it was not cashed by the company until after the dishonour of the defendant's cheque was known.—Held, upon consideration of the law of Massachusetts, that the manager of the company acted fraudulently when he formed the plan to arrest, and, concealing this, permitted the defendant to walk into the net spread for him, and swore to all that was necessary to accomplish the arrest before he entered upon any discussion. The fraud was the procuring of the defendant's attornment to the jurisdiction of the courts of Massachusetts; and the intent to secure arrest while arranging an interview to negotiate a settlement was the gist of the fraud. [Stein v. Valkenhuisen, E.B. & E. 65; Grainger v. Hill, 4 Bing. N.C. 212, and Duke de Cadaval v. Collins, 4 A. & E. 858, followed.] Held, also that the duress afforded the defendant an ample defence to the plaintiff's action upon the cheque.

Blanchard v. Jacobi, 43 O.L.R. 442.

(§ 1—14)—WAIVER AND REPUDIATION OF.

The voluntary acting under an agreement for five months after knowledge of facts afterwards set up to prove that the agreement was obtained by fraud, duress, undue influence or extortion, is such an unequivocal affirmation of the contract as to amount to a waiver of the complainant's right to rescind the contract upon these grounds even if proved.

Brandon Electric Light Co. v. Brandon, 1 D.L.R. 793, 22 Man. L.R. 500, 20 W.L.R. 658, 2 W.W.R. 22.

DUTIES.

Succession duties, see Taxes.

Custom duties, see Internal Revenue.

(§ 1—1)—CUSTOMS DUTIES.

Under the customs tariff (Can.), 1907, the lumber of wood sawn, split or cut and dressed on one side only, but not "further manufactured," is entitled to free entry into Canada and this applies where the lumber is in the first place sawn on four sides in the sawmill and is subsequently sized on one side by a saw in a planing mill where it was in the same process also dressed on one side; the sizing affected by the second sawing does not constitute a "further manufacture" within the meaning of the provision.

Foss Lumber Co. v. King, and The B.C. Lumber, etc., Co., 8 D.L.R. 437, 47 Can. S.C.R. 130, 3 W.W.R. 110.

ACTION TO RECOVER—RULE OF CUSTOMS HOUSE PROHIBITING MAKING OF CHANGE FOR MORE THAN FIFTY CENTS.

An internal rule of a customs house prohibiting the cashier from furnishing change beyond fifty cents, is not a limitation of his authority sufficient to relieve a company from liability for unpaid duties on goods entered fraudulently by its duly appointed customs agent, where the company furnished cheques for the correct amount of duties and the cashier returned to the agent, who converted it to his own use, the difference between the amount of the cheque and the duties actually paid, since the agent's authority was broad enough to include the receipt of such moneys.

The King v. C.P.R. Co., 11 D.L.R. 681, 12 E.L.R. 309, 14 Can. Ex. 150.

REMISION OF TOLLS—SUBSIDY—EXEMPTIONS—VALIDITY OF CONTRACT AFFECTING.

The Audit Act (62 & 63 Vict. c. 34, s. 79) which enables the Governor-in-Council to remit any duty or toll payable to the Crown does not authorize a provision in a contract for years granting an annual subsidy and freedom from customs duties on certain imports; the statute grants a remission, the contract aims at exemption. Under responsible government all grants of public money direct or by prospective remission of duties are in the discretion of the legislature, and no contract is binding unless that discretion has been exercised in some sufficient fashion.

Commercial Cable Co. v. Government of Newfoundland, 29 D.L.R. 7, [1916] 2 A.C. 610.

(§ 1—12)—CUSTOMS ACT—SMUGGLING—SEIZURE OF GOODS—RELEASE.

Where jewellery not dutiable is mixed with dutiable jewellery which is being smuggled into Canada and all are seized for infraction of the Customs Act, the seizure is justified as to both dutiable and nondutiable goods, but as to any of the latter shown to the satisfaction of the Exchequer Court (Can.) to be the separate property of the wife of the party against whom the seizure was made, the seizure may be released under the power conferred on the court to decide "according to the right of the matter" (Customs Act, s. 180).

Burn v. The King, 22 D.L.R. 483, 15 Can. Ex. 91.

(§ 1—16)—CUSTOMS—CROWN INFORMATION TO RECOVER DUTIES.

Section 264 of the Customs Act, R.S.O. 1906, c. 48, does not apply to shift to the defendant the onus of proving compliance with the customs laws when sued for customs duties claimed on the trial of an information laid by the Crown charging a smuggling scheme, if no goods were found upon which to make seizure nor was proof made by the Crown of their actual introduction into Canada; evidence of suspicious circumstances accompanying the shipment of the goods in question in the foreign country to a frontier point in the foreign country made therefor by the defendant, a merchant carrying on business in Canada, is insufficient, in a customs prosecution, to raise a presumption of their further transportation into Canada.

The King v. Racicot, 11 D.L.R. 149, 14 Can. Ex. 214.

(§ 1—18)—VESSELS LIABLE FOR CUSTOMS DUTIES.

A ship or vessel and its equipment built in a foreign country for show purposes only is not subject to customs duty under items 589 or 590, sch. A, Customs Tariff Act (Can. 1907, c. 11); it may be sold or disposed of within Canada, so long as it is not to be used in Canadian waters.

Neville Canneries v. S.S. "Santa Maria," 41 D.L.R. 32. [See also 36 D.L.R. 619, 16 Can. Ex. 481.]

SMUGGLING—EVIDENCE—FAILURE TO PROVE MAJORITY OF CHARGES LAID—COSTS.

R. v. Lawande, 8 E.L.R. 136.

CUSTOMS ACT—PAYMENT OF DUTY—CONFESSION OF ONE SALE OF GOODS WITH ANOTHER—ALLEGED LOSS OF SALE—DELIVERY TO CARTER FOR CONSIGNEE.
Morris v. The King, 9 E.L.R. 430.

EASEMENTS.

- I. WHAT CONSTITUTES; NATURE; KIND.
 II. CREATION; HOW ACQUIRED.
 A. In general; by express terms.
 B. By prescription.
 C. As appurtenant; by necessity.
 III. EXTENT OF RIGHTS.
 IV. HOW LOST.

Annotations.

Easement by implication; servient and dominant tenements: 32 D.L.R. 114.
 Right of profit à prendre: 40 D.L.R. 144.
 Of way, how arising or lost: 45 D.L.R. 14.
 Dedication of highway to public use; reservations: 46 D.L.R. 517.

I. What constitutes; nature; kind.

Right of passage "without causing damage": see Deeds, II A—15.

Negative covenant or registration, easement, building restriction, see Vendor and Purchaser, I C—13.

Railway, servient and dominant tenements, see Waters, II C—80.

Cesser, union of dominant and servient tenements, see Vendor and Purchaser, I C—10.

(§ I—1)—DEED—INTERPRETATION.

In construing an easement, guaranteed by a duly registered deed, where the meaning of the same is doubtful, the common intention of the contracting parties must be sought and determined by interpretation rather than by an adherence to the literal meaning of the words of the contract.

Lemieux v. The King, 38 D.L.R. 711, 16 Can. Ex. 246.

THOROUGHFARE—CONTRIBUTION TO COSTS OF.

Since no servitude can be established without title, an understanding between certain farmers and the owners of a dairy, under which the farmers, by contributing a little towards the construction of a road over the owner's land, had obtained permission to go on in order to reach the dairy, does not constitute a title creating a servitude of thoroughfare, even if the municipality had contributed a small sum to purchase the wire for the fences on each side of the road.

Germain v. Hébert, 27 Que. K.B. 532.

RIGHT-OF-WAY — DESCRIPTION — WIDTH — ESTOPPEL — OBSTRUCTION — FENCE — JUSTIFICATION FOR REMOVAL.

McLennan v. Hutchins, 50 N.S.R. 358.

(§ I—2)—PERMISSION TO USE SPRING.

An agreement by an owner of land granting a privilege, to an adjoining owner, for a term of years, to draw water from a spring on his land, is a personal license by the grantor, not an easement, and does not run with the land.

Naegele v. Oke, 31 D.L.R. 501, 37 O.L.R. 61.

ACTION FOR INTERFERENCE—LAND REGISTRY ACT, 1906, s. 74—AGREEMENTS—REGISTRATION AT DIFFERENT TIMES.

Goddard v. Slingerland, 16 B.C.R. 329.

SERVITUDE OF PASSAGE—PROJECTED STREET.
Laboute v. Carrier, 20 Que. K.B. 280.

PREDIAL SERVITUDE—TITLE—PAROL AGREEMENT—EVIDENCE—BURDEN OF PROOF—CONSTRUCTION OF AGREEMENT.

Dubeau v. Ducharme, 40 Que. S.C. 538.

RAILWAY—SEVERANCE OF FARM—UNDER-GRADE CROSSING—USER FOR 20 YEARS—PRESCRIPTION.

Leslie v. Pere Marquette R. Co., 25 O.L.R. 326, affirming 24 O.L.R. 206.

RIGHT OF OWNER OF RIGHT-OF-WAY TO FENCE WITH GATES AT EACH END—LANE DEFINED.

Ross v. McLaren, 2 O.W.N. 1156, 19 O.W.R. 460, affirming 2 O.W.N. 86, 18 O.W.R. 818.

PRIVATE—INJUNCTION RESTRAINING USE AS PUBLIC STREET—NO EVIDENCE OF DEDICATION—PRESCRIPTION.

Plummer v. Davies, 20 O.W.R. 806.

RIGHT OF PRIVATE WAY—WHAT IS NECESSARY TO ACQUIRE BY PRESCRIPTION.

McLachlin v. Schlievert, 2 O.W.N. 649, 18 O.W.R. 457.

II. Creation; how acquired.

A. IN GENERAL; BY EXPRESS TERMS.

(§ II A—5)—RIGHT-OF-WAY—BY EXPRESS TERMS — IMPLICATION — APPURTENANT LAND.

A right-of-way will not pass by implication as appurtenant to the land specifically conveyed under the general words of conveyance which under the Transfer of Property Act (Ont.) include all ways, easements and appurtenances belonging to or appertaining to the land where the strip over which the way is claimed adjoins the parcel specifically conveyed, and the fee thereof was in the grantor, if the strip had not been in use as a way de facto to the specific parcel, although a right-of-way over it had been expressly granted to purchasers from the same grantor of lands on the other side of the strip and at the end of same.

Peters v. Sinclair, 18 D.L.R. 754, affirming 13 D.L.R. 468, 48 Can. S.C.R. 97.

PASSAGEWAY FOR CATTLE—INTERFERENCE—MINING.

A conveyance of land for mining purposes does not confer upon the grantee the right to carry on the excavations in derogation of a right to a passageway for cattle reserved in the deed.

Can. Cement Co. v. Fitzgerald, 29 D.L.R. 703, 53 Can. S.C.R. 263, affirming 9 O.W.N. 79, 7 O.W.N. 321.

LANDS APPURTENANT—RIGHT-OF-WAY.

In a conveyance of a house and lot were these words: "Together with a right-of-way for the purpose only of getting in . . . fuel and for the passage of an automobile over the 6 ft. adjoining the premises hereby conveyed to the north to a depth of 76 ft. . . . and subject to a right-of-way for the party of the first part and the owners or occupants of the adjacent premises to the north over the northerly 2 ft. 6 inches to a depth of 76 ft." The court held that upon a proper construction of the words quoted, the right-of-way over the 2 ft. 6 inches was limited to the owners or occupants of the parcel on which the house to the north stood and to which the easement was appurtenant. A colourable use could not be made of such right-of-way for the real purpose of reaching a different adjoining close.

Miller v. Tipling, 43 D.L.R. 469, 43 O. L.R. 88.

BUILDING PLAN — PASSAGEWAY — PARTY WALL.

Where adjoining owners construct their buildings according to a party wall plan and one is given a passageway to his building by means of a communicating door through the party wall, a valid easement is created to the stairways and passageways necessary for the proper user of his building, which is coextensive with the duration of the building. As a condition precedent to the relief being granted, the party seeking such relief must himself do equity by paying his share of the cost of the party wall.

Smith v. Curry, 42 D.L.R. 225, 29 Man. L.R. 97, [1918] 2 W.W.R. 848, varying 36 D.L.R. 400.

RESERVATION OF CATTLE PASS UNDER HIGHWAY—COVENANT TO REPAIR—DEVISE OF DOMINANT TENEMENT—SEVERANCE.

Land for a highway, laid out in 1857, was granted by M. to the defendant township corporation, and the right to a cattle-pass under the highway, to be made and maintained and repaired by the defendant corporation, was reserved to M. Held, that there was a grant, subject to an easement; it was a case of a separate and independent covenant imposing a duty on the defendant corporation in favour of M. [Austerberry v. Oldham, 29 Ch. D. 750, distinguished.] Held, also, that the easement, including the obligation to maintain and repair, passed by M.'s will with the land which remained to M., the dominant tenement; and was not destroyed by the severance in title (by the will) of the north and south halves of the dominant tenement.

Freeman v. Tp. of Camden, 41 O.L.R. 179.

RIGHT TO BURY IN ANOTHER'S FREEHOLD — ADMINISTRATION OF JUSTICE ACT — RULES OF EQUITY.

The right to bury in another's freehold is an easement which formerly could be conveyed only by deed, but since the passing of the Administration of Justice Act and the Judicature Act, the rules of equity prevail, and an agreement for valuable consideration, though not under seal, is sufficient to create a right to such easement, and for the purpose of lawful user is as good as a deed. Part performance by buying a tombstone and placing it upon the plot removes any objection under the Statute of Frauds. Refraining from buying another plot is in itself sufficient consideration.

Hubbs v. Black, 46 D.L.R. 583, 44 O.L.R. 545.

WAY — EXPRESS GRANT — LOST GRANT — LIMITATIONS ACT, R.S.O. 1914, C. 75.

An easement to use an existing and well-marked lane or roadway over another's land, the only means of access to a farm and constantly used as such for a half a century, is acquired by express grant under a conveyance of the farm together with "all ways, easements and appurtenances, belonging or appertaining, or used, occupied and enjoyed;" and title thereto would also be presumed from the doctrine of lost grant, or would arise under the Limitations Act, where there was no actual unity of possession of the dominant and servient tenements during the period of 20 years preceding the commencement of the action.

Robson v. Wilson, 48 D.L.R. 437, 45 O.L.R. 296.

RIGHT-OF-WAY — PARTITION AGREEMENT — PLAN ON PARTITION DEED — SUBSEQUENT PURCHASERS WITH NOTICE.

A right to go on abutting land to draw water from a well there situate may be the subject of an easement created by a partition agreement and evidenced by indicating the well and path to same running from the house on the adjoining lands on the plan accompanying the partition deeds; and such easement will be binding on parties subsequently acquiring the parcel on which the well is situate with notice of such plan and partition agreement.

Publicover v. Power, 29 D.L.R. 310.

PRIVATE WAY — GRANT OF RIGHT-OF-WAY BY DEED — PROVISIO — CONSTRUCTION — TERMINI A QVO AND AD QTEM — USER — MEANS OF ACCESS TO LOT OTHER THAN LOT TO WHICH EASEMENT APPURTENANT.

Grant v. Lerner, 7 O.W.N. 564.

CREATION OF — STATUTORY COMPLIANCE.

An easement must be created in the method directed by s. 48 of the Land Titles Act. MacDonald v. McLean, 7 W.W.R. 997.

SERVITUDE BY DESTINATION.

The writing required in the case of a servitude created by the destination made by the proprietor (art. 551 C.C. Que.), is not in the nature of a formal title; it is not even necessary that the intention to create the servitude be expressed in it. Any document put forth or subscribed by the proprietor, attesting the existence of the servitude, as if, in a sale of the servient tenement, he reserves the servitude in favour of the dominant one left to him, or vice versa, will answer the requirements of the article.

Dawes v. Ward, 43 Que. S.C. 456.

TITLE — EVIDENCE — DRAINING WATER — TRIMMING TREES — PRESCRIPTION — PREJUDICE — COSTS — C.C. ART. 528, 529, 531, 539, 549, 562, 549, 2242.

A title to create an easement need not necessarily involve verification by writing or by a contract under seal; this term should be taken in its broader meaning of an agreement whose existence can be proved in the terms of common law. An easement can even arise tacitly. The court can consequently, without violating art. 549 C.C. Que., deduce from the circumstances of the case, and well verified acts, the existence of an easement. The assistance given to a neighbor to place a dairy beside the separation line, is an act which constitutes a consent or an acquiescence; and which can be regarded, according to the above rules, as an understanding, an agreement, a title to the easement of draining off the roof of the said dairy. Such a consent, given without reserve, and legally established must produce its judicial effect. The neighbor who has thus given this consent cannot after seven or eight years, demand either the removal of the dairy or its demolition, if it encroaches on his land, as long as it is in good repair and not on the point of decay. The defence of planting trees along the separation line, although only constituting a restriction of the right of property, according to the majority of jurists is reckoned among the number of real easements; the duty of the court is then to apply this in spite of everything. The 30 years prescription applies to trees (but not to branches) planted along the separation line. The disposition of art. 529 is general; it applies then to all trees which extend over the property of a neighbor and at less than the legal distance. The right to cut the branches is, however, subordinated to the prejudice which the neighbor must suffer. Art. 531 endorses the principle that the prejudice caused to a neighbor is the basis of the right to trim the branches. The neighbor has no right to trim the branches except when his land is in a state of cultivation and adjacent to one which is not cleared. The request for trimming the branches should then be dismissed when the land of the claimant is not even susceptible to cultivation by reason of its sterility.

Bonin v. Champagne, 55 Que. S.C. 153.

(§ II A—6)—PASSAGEWAY — POSSESSORY ACTION — DEMOLITION — INTEREST IN ACTION — WARRANTY — OBSTRUCTION OF PASSAGE — C.C., ARTS. 557, 558; C.P. ARTS. 77, 1064.

A vendor who has obliged himself to give a clear and free passage over a piece of land, and never to sell it and never to allow it to be used for any other purpose than a public street as a passageway, has a sufficient interest in it to bring an action against any person obstructing that passage without right. A proprietor of a lot of land who has a title containing the following clause, "with the right of passage in common with others having titles thereto on this avenue," has no right to erect any building on that street and to obstruct the passageway of the adjoining proprietors who are entitled to it.

Gouin v. Javelle, 47 Que. S.C. 79.

(§ II A—7)—POLLUTION OF STREAM—LOST GRANT.

In an action for the pollution of the waters of a stream a defence of a right to do so under a lost grant cannot prevail in the face of testimony from the defendant that he had made annual payments for a number of years in respect to the damages occasioned by the fouling of the stream.

Hunter v. Richards, 12 D.L.R. 593, 28 O.L.R. 267, affirming 5 D.L.R. 116, 26 O.L.R. 458, 3 O.W.N. 1432.

B. BY PRESCRIPTION.

(§ II B—10) — PRESCRIPTION AGAINST CROWNS.

Before 1903 (C.S.N.B. 1903, c. 156) there existed no laws in New Brunswick whereby a subject could prescribe an easement as against the Crown.

The King v. Tweedie, 22 D.L.R. 498, 15 Can. Ex. 177. [Reversed, 27 D.L.R. 53, 52 Can. S.C.R. 197.]

WINTER ROAD—SUFFICIENCY OF USER.

A communicating path used by the families of adjoining owners habitually visiting each other; a way of access to wood land used for hauling wood during winter months while the snow is on the ground; a gateway used as a short cut for hauling hay during the winter months and by children going to school, without any visible formation of a road to indicate its course and bounds, are not sufficient acts of user as establishing private rights-of-way by prescription.

McLean v. McRae, 33 D.L.R. 128, 50 N.S.R. 536.

"WAYS, RIGHTS, PRIVILEGES AND APPURTENANCES"—TACKING.

The general words "ways, rights, privileges and appurtenances," in deeds of land, do not include the inchoate enjoyment of a prescriptive right-of-way until the statutory period has run; but the periods of user, by predecessors in title, may be tacked, if the period before commencement of the action is not connected with any parcel license.

McLean v. McRae, 33 D.L.R. 128, 50 N.S.R. 536.

SETTLING LIMITS — BOUNDARIES — ADJACENT OWNERS — PRESCRIPTION — POSSESSION — COMMON ORIGINAL OWNER — C.C. ARTS. 504, 2200, 2242.

Although there is no question of boundaries when two properties are separated by a natural and visible limit such as a stream, it is not so where on one side there is a 40 foot strip of land which is in question between the owners. When two owners hold their respective titles from the same owner, one of them, to complete his 20 years possession necessary for prescription cannot, in regard to a strip of land joining part of the original property and situated between the two lots, join to his possession that of the common vendor.

Plante v. Ouellette, 28 Que. K.B. 236.

RIGHT TO USE VACANT LAND FOR TURNING VEHICLES — PRESCRIPTION — USER — EVIDENCE.

Simmons v. Powell, 8 O.W.N. 274.

WAY — PRIVATE LANE — RIGHT OF USER — PRESCRIPTION OR GRANT — EVIDENCE — FAILURE TO ESTABLISH — SETTLEMENT OF CLAIM — EXECUTION OF DOCUMENTS UNDER SEAL — LEASE AND RELEASE — ATTEMPT TO OPEN UP — ABSENCE OF FRAUD AND MISREPRESENTATION — RENT — DAMAGES — INJUNCTION — COSTS.

Adams v. Abate, 13 O.W.N. 94.

(§ II B—13)—BY PRESCRIPTION — PRIVATE WAY — EXPROPRIATION — RAILWAY — DAMAGES.

Mothersill v. Toronto Eastern R. Co., 5 O.W.N. 635.

WAY — ASSERTION OF RIGHT OF USER — PUBLIC HIGHWAY — PLAN — ESTOPPEL — ABANDONMENT — EVIDENCE.

Vansickle v. James, 9 O.W.N. 146, reversing 7 O.W.N. 473.

(§ II B—14)—AS TO WAY OF NECESSITY.

A unity of possession of a dominant and servient estate, which will prevent the assertion of a right to a prescriptive way over it, is not created by a lease of the dominant estate to the owner of the servient estate where the dominant owner reserved to himself the use and enjoyment of the way. A prescriptive right-of-way is not lost by the occupancy of the dominant estate by another person where, during such occupancy, there was no suspension of the use and enjoyment of the way by the dominant owner.

Thomson v. Maxwell, 3 D.L.R. 661, 3 O.W.N. 995.

Where it was a part of an agreement and arrangement, made at the time of the purchase of a right-of-way by a railway company, that the plaintiffs' predecessor should have an under-pass for the passing of waggons and cattle from one part of a farm to the other—the granting of the pass was a part of the consideration for the right-of-way; and the plaintiffs were entitled to have it maintained. [McKenzie v. G.T.R. Co., Diekie v. G.T.R. Co., 14 O.L.R. 671, followed. Oatman v. G.T.R. Co., 2 O.W.N. 21, distinguished.] Where the pass was used in connection with and for the purposes of the farm for over 20 years, the plaintiffs had established an easement by continuous user as of right for that period. [C.P.R. Co. v. Guthrie, 31 Can. S.C.R. 155, and G.T.R. Co. v. Valliear, 7 O.L.R. 364, distinguished.] Semble, also, that the doctrine of presumption of a lost grant could be applied.

Leslie v. Pere Marquette R. Co., 13 Can. Ry. Cas. 219. [Affirmed 25 O.L.R. 326.]

WAY — LANE — PRESCRIPTION — EVIDENCE. Bolton v. Smith, 6 O.W.N. 531.

(§ II B—15)—WAYS — WAYS NOT APPURTENANT TO DOMINANT ESTATE — PRESCRIPTION.

An easement by prescription in a way not appurtenant nor essential to the beneficial enjoyment of a dominant tenement, can be acquired only by an uninterrupted use for the full period of 20 years.

Salter v. Everson, 11 D.L.R. 832, 4 O.W.N. 1457, 24 O.W.R. 757.

(§ II B—19)—AS TO WATERS.

A prescriptive right, claimed pursuant to the Limitations Act, 1910, 10 Edw. VII, (Ont.) c. 34, s. 35, to deposit sawdust and other mill refuse in a stream is an inchoate right until action is brought, and the user to support the same must be continuous and of right. A prescriptive right to dispose of sawdust and mill refuse by throwing the same into a stream does not arise from the mere fact that this had been done for more than the statutory period of prescription, where it is shown that the user was contentious and objected to, and was recognized as such by the payment of damage claims and the erection of a burner to destroy the refuse. The prescriptive right to pollute a stream by depositing the saw dust and mill refuse, arising from the operation of a one saw sawmill, does not justify the pollution thereof by the additional saw dust and refuse consequent on the operation of many saws in the mill, as well as shingle and lath mills, an edger and other modern appliances, notwithstanding that this evolution was gradual and that the rights of the mill owner lower down on the stream were not materially affected to his prejudice until forty years after the erection of the original mill.

Hunter v. Richards, 5 D.L.R. 116, 26 O.L.R. 458, 22 O.W.R. 408. [Affirmed, 12 D.L.R. 503, 28 O.L.R. 267.]

RIGHT TO WHARFAGE — REAL OR PERSONAL RIGHT — REGISTRATION — DAMAGES.

A clause in a deed that "the said D. sells and assigns from this day for ever to the said A. all rights to operate a ferry in flat-bottom boats or barges and to disembark on the northern part of the said D's land" does not, in any way, include the creation of a real servitude, but is only the transfer and sale of personal rights rendering the vendor liable for damages in the case of contravention; and the registration of such deed as a charge on the vendor's property is illegal and null. When the holder of certain rights declares that they have been granted to him by his vendor, who held them from those preceding him in title, he must allege and prove that the latter granted to him, and must establish the claim of title between him and the first holder; it is not sufficient to produce his immediate title; otherwise the registration of his rights is illegal, and may be struck out upon an application to the court. One who illegally and without right registers a charge upon real property, which prevents the owner from making an advantageous sale, is liable for the damages which the latter sustains. Such damages should include interest upon the sale price.

Dutour v. Bastien, 54 Que. S.C. 54.

FLOODING LANDS — DAM — TIGHTENING — INCREASED USER — PRESCRIPTION.

In order that a dam may be tightened so as to hold back all the water of a stream to a greater extent than an original prescription right permitted, there must be shown a user, although not absolutely continuous de die in diem so constant as to disclose the existence of a consistent course of action and user, even though periods elapse without an active assertion of such right.

Cardwell v. Breckenridge, 11 D.L.R. 461, 24 O.W.R. 569, 4 O.W.N. 1295.

C. AS APPURTENANT; BY NECESSITY.

(§ II C—20)—RIGHT-OF-WAY AS APPURTENANT — HIGHWAY BETWEEN DOMINANT AND SERVIENT ESTATES — TERMINUS A QUO.

The fact that a highway intervenes between the dominant and the servient estate is not a bar to the existence of a right-of-way as an easement.

Petipas v. Myette, 11 D.L.R. 483, 47 N.S.R. 270, 12 E.L.R. 537.

LIGHT AND PASSAGE — PRESUMPTION LIMITING AREA.

Where the plaintiff as lessee of certain premises used as a store and residence, claims as accessory thereto the right to use as a light and passage easement, a vacant yard owned by his lessor and lying in the rear partly of the premises occupied by the plaintiff and partly of adjoining premises there is a presumption against an easement in respect of the yard in its entirety (constituting the vacant space in the rear of both premises) being accessory to the plaintiff's lease, and the onus is upon him to establish strictly his alleged rights-of-way and of light over the whole yard.

Saad v. Simard, 10 D.L.R. 224, 43 Que. S.C. 499.

NECESSITY — WAY OF — ONLY EXISTS WHEN NO OTHER MEANS OF ACCESS.

A right-of-way of necessity only exists where the grantee has no other means whatever of reaching his land. If there be any other means of access, no matter how inconvenient, no way of necessity can arise.

Fullerton v. Randall, 44 D.L.R. 356, 52 N.S.R. 354.

(§ II C—22)—PETITORY ACTION — SERVITUDES CLAIMED BY DEFENDANT.

The defendant in a petitory action cannot set up, as a ground of nonsuit, servitudes of rights of view and of passage with which an immovable is charged for the benefit of the adjoining property (dominant tenement) owned by him, but he has a right to demand that his rights shall be preserved by the judgment in the action.

St. Sulpice v. Canada Industrial Co., 42 Que. S.C. 432.

RIGHT OF INGRESS AND EGRESS—LANE—DOORS AND WINDOWS—DESTINATION DU PÈRE DE FAMILLE—OWNERSHIP—PRESCRIPTION—C.C., ARTS. 349, 551, 562.

There does not arise a subservient easement allowing doors and windows to overlook an open lane when, at the time of the sale of part of the owner's land, these lights were opened not by the vendor but by the purchaser. There is no common property, when the site of a lane is furnished by each of the neighboring owners; each reserves the ownership of his land, unless he relies on the fact that the owners wished to create a common property. A man having property bordering on a lane over which he has no property right, cannot avail himself of art. 536, C.C. Que. to take on this lane a right of light at 6 feet from the dividing line. When an owner subdivides a property into building lots and establishes lanes connecting with the public street for the use of the purchasers to whom he has sold the lots, so that nothing is left him but a bare right of ownership, these lanes can be likened to public streets and the neighboring owner's have a right to light. The sale of a lot with the right of "ingress and egress" does not give a right to light. When a person establishes a lane entirely on his land and gives simply a right of passage, or even if he gives the use of it, to a neighboring owner, he does not give up on that account his property in the lane; but if he allows the right of light to his purchaser for thirty years, without protest there arises a presumption that he intended to give him the general right of using the lane. The obligation imposed by the act on an owner not to open passages of light on his land except at a certain distance from the dividing line between him and his neighbor is lost by prescription in 30 years, and the possession, during that time, of such lights opened at a less distance, frees the owner from the obligation to close them. The owner of a lane has an interest sufficient to complain that his neighbor has established lights on this lane, even when the wall which he has built opposite the latter is sold.

Friedman v. Bourrice et al., 56 Que. S.C. 356.

(§ II C—26)—SUPPORT OF BUILDING.

Where the defendant, while owner of two lots of land, extended the footings of a building into one of the lots so that they were concealed from view, one who subsequently purchased the latter lot without knowledge of the existence of the footings therein, under a certificate of title free from reservation, by reason whereof the defendant could not acquire an easement to maintain them in such a lot, except by a writing duly recorded under s. 3 of c. 50 of the Sask. Land Titles Act of 1909, cannot require their removal, as by his purchase he became the owner of the footings.

National Trust Co. v. Western Trust Co., 4 D.L.R. 455, 4 S.L.R. 210, 21 W.L.R. 571, 2 W.W.R. 667.

CENTRE WALL—RIGHT OF SUPPORT—VAGUE AND INDEFINITE—DEMOLITION—PRESUMED ACQUESCENCE—INSUFFICIENT CONFESSIONS C.C. ARTS. 522, 551, 560—C.P. ART. 541.

The demands of an action, asking the re-building of a centre wall of sufficient strength to support a new building which the plaintiff proposes to erect, are too vague to allow a court to award a judgment able to be fulfilled. One having a right to an easement on the walls of his neighbour, and who in good faith allows an important construction, capable of preventing the exercise of the easement, cannot suddenly demand the demolition of the building in order to get back his right. He should be restricted to a claim for indemnity.

Lavigne v. Nault, 28 Que. K.B. 14.

(§ II C—27)—IN ALLEY.

Where the vendor upon the sale of a portion of his land agrees to give the purchaser a right-of-way across the remainder of his property from a certain road to the parcel sold and to make a grant of such right-of-way "as soon as the same is surveyed" it is the duty of the vendor to define the way by selecting its precise location and having a survey made.

Burney v. Moore, 7 D.L.R. 357, 4 O.W.N. 173, 23 O.W.R. 161.

(§ II C—29)—PRIVATE RIGHT-OF-WAY APPURTENANT TO LAND—EXTINCTION BY SALE OF SERVIENT TENEMENT FOR TAXES—ASSESSMENT ACT, R.S.O. 1897, c. 224, ss. 7, 149—MUNICIPAL ACT, R.S.O. 1897, c. 223, s. 2 (8)—"LAND."

A. J. Reach Co. v. Crosland, 45 D.L.R. 140, 43 O.L.R. 635, affirming 43 O.L.R. 209.

APPURTENANCES—WAY NOT MENTIONED IN DEED.

A conveyance of land beside a way owned by the grantor, but which conveyance did not refer to the land as being bounded by such way, does not confer on the grantee any interest in the way as appurtenant to the land under the Transfer of Property Act, s. 32, R.S.O. 1897, c. 119 II Geo. V, c. 25, s. 15, R.S.O. 1914, c. 109 which provides that every conveyance of land shall include all ways, easements and appurtenances whatsoever "belonging to or in any way appertaining to the land conveyed, or with the same demised, held, used, occupied and enjoyed, or taken or known as part or parcel thereof." The way in such case does not belong or appertain to the land adjoining held under the same ownership, nor the person owning the fee in same, although subject to rights-of-way granted by such person to third parties.

Peters v. Sinclair, 13 D.L.R. 468, 48 Can. S.C.R. 57, affirming 8 D.L.R. 575, 4 O.W.N. 338.

WAY OF NECESSITY.

The right to use a prescriptive way over demised premises is included within a reservation in a lease of the right to cut and remove timber therefrom, as, of necessity, it implied the reservation of the usual means of ingress to and egress from the demised premises.

Thomson v. Maxwell, 3 D.L.R. 661, 3 O.W.N. 995.

ACCESS TO LAND—RIGHT-OF-WAY—PRIVATE WAY UNNECESSARY IF HIGHWAY AVAILABLE—ACCEPTANCE OF DEDICATION PROPOSED BY REGISTRATION OF PLAN—MUNICIPAL BY-LAW—COSTS OF ACTION.

Aroni v. Wilson, 9 O.W.N. 295.

EASEMENT—RIGHT OF PASSAGE—ENCLOSED LAND—DIFFICULT ACCESS TO PUBLIC HIGHWAY—C.C. ARTS. 540, 543.

An owner whose lands have only an exit on a public highway insufficient for his use, can demand a passage over the land of his neighbours, the same as an owner of lands completely enclosed. If the enclosed land results from a division or an agreement, the passage should be furnished without compensation, unless it results in any appreciable damage to the servient tenement.

Bernier v. Bernier, 28 Que. K.B. 300.

III. Extent of rights.

(§ III—30)—RIGHT-OF-WAY—STANDING OF VEHICLES—NEGATORY ACTION.

A right to a servitude of way to communicate from the street to an interior court does not imply a right to have vehicles stand there for loading or unloading. These acts constitute an aggravation of servitude, which the owner of the servient land is justified in checking by way of a negatory action.

Cantin v. Borne, 54 Que. S.C. 470.

RIGHT OF FISHING—BED OF RIVER—RIGHTS OF PARTIES.

A concession by the owner of a river-bank property neither navigable or floatable of "all his rights of fishing in the river, opposite the lot of the grantor, known under the letter C," does not confer on the grantee a personal servitude or a simple right of user, but an actual jus in re or right of ownership in the bed of the river for the purpose of fishing (the Chief Justice is of the opinion that this right is one of usufruct). (2) The preservation of this right of ownership is not subject to the formality of renewal of registration of title after the cadastral plan takes effect. (3) This right of ownership, limited in its object, permits nevertheless the coexistence, in favour of the owner of the river bank, of his right to the bottom for all purposes other than that of fishing.

Duchaine v. Matamajaw Salmon Club, 27 Que. K.B. 196. [Reversed 47 D.L.R. 625, 58 Can. S.C.R. 222.]

EASEMENT—TITLE—TESTIMONIAL EVIDENCE—WRITTEN PLEADING—COMMON PASSAGE—INDEMNITY—PARTITION—C.C. ARTS. 501, 508, 510, 523, 528, 531, 540, 541, 542, 543, 549, 591, 1233, 2193, C.C.P. ARTS. 199, 339, C.C. ARTS. 61, 62, S. REF. (1909), ARTS. 5551, 5552, 7349.

The word "title" in art. 549 C.C. Que. should be taken in a very extended conventional meaning. Evidence of title is from that time subject to the rules of common right. Testimonial proof of a payment made in acquiring a conventional easement it is admissible unless it is preceded by evidence in writing. Art. 549 above only applies to easements created by act of man and not to those created by the law itself as an easement of necessity. This article does not recognize like art. 690 of the Code Napoleon, a 30 years prescription as a mode of acquiring easements continuous and open. As to easements which are not continuous, as right of passage (art. 547) they can only be established in France, under the authority of art. 591, by a title, and possession from time immemorial, as here is not enough. The state of passage but not the right of passage can be acquired by prescription. The establishment of a common for pasturing animals does not imply a right of passage for cultivating the adjoining land. Although the obligations which the neighbours have, one with regard to the other, independent of any agreement (art. 508) only constitute according to the majority of jurists, a restitution on the right of property, they are nevertheless under the C.C. numbered among the real easements imposing, placing, an encumbering immovables with a real charge, and as legal easements. In the case of an enclosed field, it is the law itself which imposes, places and burdens with a right-of-way the surrounding land for the benefit of the enclosed land for the consideration of public good which requires all landed properties to be worked and cultivated. This right does not need to be justified by any title. Art. 549 is not applicable. To exercise this right the permission of the owner of the servient tenement is unnecessary. The fact that it is enclosed and the necessity of a passage way are sufficient. From the latter principle the three following consequences flow: (a) if the enclosed owner passes over the property of his neighbour without permission before an action is brought to determine the state of the passageway he cannot be forcibly ejected, and is not liable to the penalties imposed by art. 7349 R.C.S.Q. 1909, and by arts. 61, 62 Crim. Code. This would be so although the land passed over was sown with crops;

(b) a former passageway would not render inadmissible a later action by the enclosed owner so that he might pass over the land of his neighbour; (c) the payment of compensation is unnecessary for the exercise of the easement. The owner of the servient tenement has the right to use the passageway, but he must then contribute to the cost. When the enclosed state results from the division of a property by reason of a sale, exchange, partition, will, or any other contract, the easement can only be exercised over the lands which are subject to these acts, even though any other neighbouring land would present a possibility of exit infinitely easier and shorter. There is however an exception to the principle laid down by art. 543, if, for example, by reason of going across the land, the enclosed owner must pay an indemnity much greater to establish his passageway in following a shorter line, than for establishing it on another part of the land, or if it was necessary to follow a shorter exit to carry out buildings or expensive works, or if the passageway required expenses disproportionate to the value of the land, or if, by reason of conforming to the requirements and necessities of cultivation, it was impossible for the enclosed owner to pass elsewhere than on these lands. The action for indemnity is subject to prescription and it is not maintainable unless there is a prejudice by reason of the passageway.

Gagnon v. Caron, 56 Que. S.C. 416.

(§ III—31)—LIGHT AND AIR.

The owner of the servient land must not erect any building or structure to interfere, within the distances specified in arts. 536, 537 C.C. Que. with a right of light, air, and view incident to the right to the use of windows created by a partition deed as a servitude over adjoining land. The right to use windows in the rear wall of a house, being a servitude over the adjoining property created by a deed of partition, includes the right of view and the right to receive air, and is not limited to the right to receive light. (Arts. 534, 535.)

Rosenbloom v. Sutherland, 4 D.L.R. 712, 41 Que. S.C. 481.

VIEW AND LIGHT—GARAGE.

When the servitudes established by law are not of public order the parties interested have the right to change them as they may agree. Thus an owner may grant a neighbour a right of view and of light at the distance required by art. 536 C.C. If an owner grants such right to a garage built on the division line between the two properties, which obscures the view and diminishes the light, he is not obliged to demolish it.

Desjardins v. Dupras, 26 Que. K.B. 95.

VIEW.

Art. 536 C.C. (Que.), which forbids any one to have direct views or prospect windows overlooking the land of his neighbour at a distance of less than 6 feet from such land, applies to a stable built within the required distance even when opposite and near the line separating the two immovables, there is a barn having no opening on that side.

Papineau v. Nichol, 51 Que. S.C. 436.

BUILDING — ACCESS OF AIR AND LIGHT — INFRINGEMENT — PLEADING — STATEMENT OF CLAIM — UNITY OF EMBLS — IMPLIED GRANT — PRESCRIPTION — ALTERNATIVE CLAIMS — AMENDMENT.

Business Realty v. Loew's Hamilton Theatres, 15 O.W.N. 135.

WINDOW — TENANT — NEGATORY ACTION.

The owner of a house cannot be sued by a negatory action on account of the opening of a window looking from a prohibited distance on the neighbour's property, when such a state of things was established, without his knowledge, by a tenant who had obtained permission from the complainant.

Lachance v. Mathieu, 54 Que. S.C. 479.

(§ III — 32) — RIGHT OF WAY — ENCROACHMENT BY BUILDING.

The person having title only to a right-of-way over land the fee of which is in another, cannot maintain an action for encroachment of a cornice of an adjoining building over the passageway unless it interferes with the reasonable use of the way.

Ridge v. Brennan, 22 D.L.R. 594, 7 O.W.N. 829.

EASEMENT OF RIGHT-OF-WAY OVER BRIDGE AND SOBOLIGATION — ENCLOSED LANDS — INADEQUATE PASSAGE — OWNER MAY DEMAND PASSAGE AND REFUSE OFFER OF INDEMNITY — ACTION "CONFESSOIRE," DISTINCT FROM "NEGATOIRE" — C.C. 540.

A clause insuring an easement of right-of-way over land which has been sold is not merely a personal obligation of the vendor. The clause by which the vendor forever binds himself or his representatives, as an integral part of the sale, to build a substantial and suitable way, to keep it in good repair and to renovate it each time such need is reported by experts, provides that this way shall be a bridge over a river, as high as the N.W. side of said river, for the purpose of making a way from the ground sold to the road in front and to other sites on the N.E. side which might be sold. Ground which has an inadequate passage should be considered as enclosed ground. If land has an egress on a river, and if this egress presents dangers, which in reality make the thoroughfare impassable, then this land is sufficiently established as enclosed land. The admissibility of the action of the owner of enclosed lands, who asks that the site of the passage to which he is entitled under art. 540 C.C. (Que.) be determined, is not subordinated to an offer of compensation. The owner of such lands has the right to claim it if he thinks he is justified in so doing.

Petrin v. Desmarais, 25 Rev. de Jur. 532.

(§ III — 39) — RIGHT OF WAY — OBSTRUCTION — GATE.

An owner of land, on which there is a right-of-way, has no right to place thereon a fence with a gate and lock in such a way as to obstruct the passage over it, even if he does it to protect the adjoining land against tramps and offers to give a key to those who have a right to pass over it. In such case consideration may be given to what up to that time was the manner of making use of the servitude and whether or not the construction of the barrier and gate makes the use of it less convenient.

Barbeau v. McKeown, 51 Que. S.C. 311.

PASSAGEWAY — CHANGE OF SITE.

The owner of land burdened with a servitude of passage who, availing himself of a privilege given in his title deeds, changes the site of the servitude and signifies his intention to do so to the owner of the dominant tenement has, prior to any interference with the rights of the latter, a right of action to compel him to recognize the indicated change from the time that he expressly refuses to accept it. This refusal gives the plaintiff an interest sufficient to enable him to bring an action.

Duchaine v. Lemieux, 51 Que. S.C. 358.

(§ III — 42) — NEGATORY ACTION — EASEMENT OF AQUEDUCT — REMOVAL OF DAM — AGGRAVATION — PURCHASE BY THIRD PARTY — PRESCRIPTION — C.C., ARTS. 552, 553, 564.

One to whom an easement is due has the right to do the repairs necessary to preserve it. Nevertheless, after exercising an easement for more than 30 years according to a given manner, he cannot, under pretence of necessity, use a method different from the one provided for in the constitutive deed, if the condition of the servient property is thereby aggravated.

Lamy v. Bournival, 28 Que. K.B. 119.

INCREASE OF RIGHT — LAKE DITCH — PUBLIC WATERS — DESTRUCTION — C.C., ARTS. 501, 558 — C. MUN., ARTS. 471, 511, 512 — S. REF. [1909] ARTS. 3909, 5639.

A line ditch belongs jointly to neighbouring interested owners, and the municipality has no right, even in the public interest, to link up sewer pipes to divert water from the public streets and other places in a greater quantity than that which the ditch previously received from the higher land. If it does, it commits an aggravation of easement. It should in that case, put back the places in their former state and pay for the damages which it caused. However, if the municipality, in thus diverting the public water, has made improvements, the court ought not to order the destruction of the works but direct that these waters be diverted elsewhere than into this ditch. If this order is not obeyed in a fixed time the owner of the ditch will have the right to remove them himself.

Marsan v. Laval-des-Rapides, 28 Que. K.B. 174.

IV. How lost.

§ 14 IV-45)—LOST GRANT—USER—LIMITATIONS ACT.

The doctrine of lost grant as applied to easements was not superseded by the Limitations Act (R.S.O. 1914, c. 75, and previous Acts), but before it can be applied there must be affirmative proof that a burden was imposed on the servient tenement of the right claimed; the evidence of user sufficient to raise the presumption of a lost modern grant depends upon the circumstances of each particular case and where established nonuser not amounting to abandonment does not destroy it.

Watson v. Jackson, 19 D.L.R. 733, 31 O.L.R. 481.

RIGHT-OF-WAY—TAX SALE—EFFECT.

A right-of-way appurtenant is extinguished upon a sale and conveyance of the servient tenement for arrears of taxes. Confirmation of the sale and validation thereof by statute has the effect of curing any defect in the method of assessment.

A. J. Reach Co. v. Crosland, 45 D.L.R. 140, 43 O.L.R. 635, 15 O.W.N. 85.

DRAINAGE RIGHTS AND WATER SUPPLY — TERMINATION OF — ADJOINING TENEMENT — SEVERANCE OF THE PROPERTY

—BY-LAW MAKING IT UNLAWFUL TO DRAIN TWO TENEMENTS BY COMMON PIPE. Wilson v. Smith, 22 D.L.R. 909, 8 O.W.N. 117.

RIGHT-OF-WAY—PRIOR HYPOTHECARY CREDITOR—RES JUDICATA.

A servitude of right-of-way created by the owner on his property cannot affect the rights of a previous hypothecary creditor, if the latter exercises his rights either before the judicial sale by an hypothecary action or after the sale on the distribution of the proceeds of the sale. But if he allows the sheriff to sell the property, he cannot claim priority of his hypothecary right, which is swept away on that servitude. The sale of a piece of ground made by the sheriff at the request of that hypothecary creditor does not radiate that servitude. When an immoveable property on which some one has a right-of-way is advertised to be judicially sold, and if that owner makes an opposition to have his servitude, which is contested by an hypothecary creditor and set aside by the court, recognized, there is no "res judicata" between the opposant and that hypothecary creditor in a subsequent negatory action taken to have declared that such a right-of-way has been got rid of by the sheriff's sale as far as that hypothecary creditor is concerned. The right-of-way in a lane generally includes the right of ingress and egress.

Loranger v. Aubry, 27 Que. K.B. 519.

§ 14 IV-46)—PRESCRIPTIVE RIGHTS — LOSS OF—PAYMENT OF DAMAGES—INTERRUPTION OF USER.

A claim of prescriptive right to foul the waters of a stream is defeated by proof that, for a number of years within the period necessary to acquire a prescriptive right, annual payments were made a lower riparian owner for damages occasioned by the pollution of the stream.

Hunter v. Richards, 12 D.L.R. 503, 28 O.L.R. 267, affirming 5 D.L.R. 116, 26 O.L.R. 458, 3 O.W.N. 1432.

NONUSER—INTENTION TO ABANDON—STATUTE OF LIMITATIONS.

An easement not barred by the Statute of Limitations is not lost by nonuser unless there is some act clearly indicative of an intention to abandon the right; an acquired right to use a neighbour's well is not lost by commonly using a newer well on his own lands if resort is made to the former well in pursuance of the easement when the new well runs dry.

Publicover v. Power, 20 D.L.R. 310.

PRESCRIPTIVE RIGHTS — NONUSER — LOST GRANT—LIMITATIONS ACT.

The Limitations Act, R.S.O. 1914, c. 75, ss. 35, 36, render it necessary for a person seeking to establish a prescriptive right to an easement under the statute to prove uninterrupted enjoyment for a period of 20 years immediately previous to and terminating in some action or suit in which the right is called into question. The actual user of an easement by prescription under the Limitation Act, R.S.O. 1914, c. 75, ss. 35, 36, must during the whole statutory period be such as to carry to the mind of a reasonable person in possession of the servient tenement the fact that a continuous right to enjoyment is being asserted and ought to be resisted if denied; but where the doctrine of lost grant applies, nonuser not amounting to abandonment does not destroy it. [Hollins v. Verney, 13 Q.B.D. 294, followed.]

Watson v. Jackson, 19 D.L.R. 733, 31 O.L.R. 481, varying 30 O.L.R. 517.

RIGHT-OF-WAY—NONUSER—ABANDONMENT.

A mere nonuser by the abutting owners of a right-of-way or street as it appears in a registered plan of survey does not of itself, where there is no intention to that effect, operate as an abandonment of such rights; but these private rights or easements abate when the street becomes a public highway, and cannot be relied upon as a bar to the right of the municipality to close the street.

Re Jones & Tp. of Tuckersmith, 23 D.L.R. 569, 33 O.L.R. 634.

BY NONUSER.

The owner of land in the rear of which a third party had acquired the right to cover over a passage at a specified height from the ground is liberated from the burden on his property (whether regarded as a surface right or a servitude) by the extinctive prescription of 30 years, or by that of 10 years with title, when the beneficiary of the right allows either of these periods to elapse without making use of it.

Goldstein v. Allard, 42 Que. S.C. 255.

The owner of the servient tenement of a servitude of passage liberates it by the extinctive prescription resulting from his possession for 30 years with no use of their right by the owner of the dominant tenement. The owner of the dominant tenement can exercise the right of passage only in the precise place established by the constituting title; to do otherwise would be a violation of the rule "No servitude without title." The right of passage being a servitude non-continuous and nonapparent it is without registration, without effect against third persons acquiring it and subsequent creditors whose rights are registered.

Hamelin v. Pepin, 42 Que. S.C. 276.

(§ IV—49)—UNITY OF POSSESSION.

No such unity of possession is created by a lease of a dominant estate to the owner of a servient estate as to render s. 36 of the Limitations Act, 16 Edw. VII. c. 34 (Ont.) applicable to an action by the dominant owner to establish his right to use a prescriptive right of way, the use of which here served in such lease.

Thomson v. Maxwell, 3 D.L.R. 661, 3 O.W.N. 993.

When the ownership of the dominant and servient tenements is united the servitude is extinct by confusion unless the relation of common servitude between the two parcels is maintained by the owner through a written instrument declaring his intention therefor.

Rosaire v. G.T.R. Co., 42 Que. S.C. 517.

EAVESDROPPING.

AS CRIMINAL OFFENCE.

Eavesdropping is not a punishable offence either under the common law of England or the criminal law of Canada.

The King v. Mason, 39 D.L.R. 54, 29 Can. Cr. Cas. 210.

ECCLESIASTICAL LAW.

See Religious Institutions; Benevolent Societies.

EJECTMENT.

I. WHEN PROPER REMEDY.

II. TITLE AND DEFENCES.

A. Sufficiency of plaintiff's title.

B. Defences.

III. VERDICT; JUDGMENT; RELIEF GENERALLY.

IV. STATUTORY NEW TRIAL.

Eviction by landlord, see Landlord and Tenant.

Defences, authority of agent, see Principal and Agent, II.

Annotation.

Ejectment as between trespassers upon unpatented land; Effect of priority of possessory acts under colour of title: 1 D.L.R. 28.

I. When proper remedy.

(§ I—1)—PURCHASER IN POSSESSION OF LANDS.

A vendor who has put the purchaser in possession on being paid the purchase money has lost his right to maintain ejectment against the later although no grant or formal conveyance was made; nor can the heirs of such vendor maintain ejectment against the successors of such purchaser in the possessory title long acquired in by the decedent vendor and by themselves.

Halifax Power Co. v. Christie, 23 D.L.R. 481, 48 N.S.R. 264. [Appeal to Canada Supreme Court dismissed Oct. 12, 1915 (unreported).]

ACTION TO RECOVER POSSESSION—EVIDENCE—ONUS—BOUNDARIES—POSSESSION, USE, AND OCCUPATION—DISMISSAL OF ACTION AND OF COUNTERCLAIM FOR DAMAGES.

Brown v. Touks, 14 O.W.N. 46.

II. Title and defenses.

A. SUFFICIENCY OF PLAINTIFF'S TITLE.

(§ II A—5)—ROOT OF TITLE.

In an action of ejectment the plaintiff must trace his title back to his possession of the land or to the possession of someone else through whom he claims, or proves title under a Crown grant. [McLeod v. Delaney, 29 N.S.R. 133, approved.]

Tobin v. McDougall, 16 D.L.R. 359, 47 N.S.R. 470.

PROVISIONAL EXECUTION IN EJECTMENT—DELAYS—DISCONTINUANCE OF INSCRIPTION IN REVIEW—QUE. C.P. 594, 603, 654.

A defendant who has inscribed a case in review, and has later filed a discontinuance of his inscription, cannot make an opposition to annul on the ground that, previously, a provisional execution has been ordered and that the delays on that execution were not expired.

David v. Lambert, 16 Que. P.R. 65.

RECOVERY OF POSSESSION OF LAND—COUNTERCLAIM—STATUS OF DEFENDANTS COUNTERCLAIMING—DEVOLUTION OF ESTATES ACT, s. 13—EVIDENCE—DEMAND OF POSSESSION OR NOTICE TO QUIT—NECESSITY FOR—DUAL OF RELATIONSHIP OF LANDLORD AND TENANT.

Jones v. Hudson, 13 O.W.N. 106.

(§ II A—6)—SUFFICIENCY OF PLAINTIFF'S TITLE—DEED OF FORMER PERSON IN POSSESSION—BOUNDARIES.

It is not necessary in order to recover in ejectment to trace a title back to the Crown, and either party asserting title is only bound to trace it to someone who has been in possession of the land; it is quite sufficient for the plaintiff, in an action for trespass to determine the division line between lands of adjoining owners, to prove his title by putting in his title deed given by a person who had for a long time been in possession of the land. [Cunard v. Irvaie, 1 James N.S.R. 31, applied.]

McIsaac v. McKay, 27 D.L.R. 184, 49 N.S.R. 476.

(§ II A—15)—POSSESSORY TITLES.

On the trial of an action of ejectment in respect of a parcel of land claimed by two adjoining owners, if neither of them has any paper title to the disputed land, the action will be dismissed, notwithstanding proof that plaintiff had placed a tent on the land and was ousted by the defendant, if it appears that such was the only act of possession by the plaintiff and that the lands were not enclosed and that the defendant had at intervals exercised acts of possession equally adverse as to the plaintiff.

Mann v. Fitzgerald (No. 2), 4 D.L.R. 274, 3 O.W.N. 1529, 22 O.W.R. 690, affirming 1 D.L.R. 26, 3 O.W.N. 488.

POSSESSORY ACTION—INSCRIPTION IN LAW—VIOLENT POSSESSION AND OF IRREGULAR TITLE—C.P. 191—C.C. 2197—2198.

In an action for the possession of real property resting on titles dating three centuries back, provisu avant faire droit will be ordered on a demurrer asking the dismissal of the action because plaintiff does not claim to be the heir of the de cuius, not because the violent taking possession of the property by the defendant took place more than two centuries ago.

Caron v. Seminaire de Quebec, 15 Que. P.R. 302.

TITLE TO LAND—ACTION OF EJECTMENT—PAPER TITLE—POSSESSION BY ONE OF THE HEIRS AT LAW OF PATENTEE FROM CROWN—TAX SALE—INVALIDITY—DISTRESS ON PREMISES—SUFFICIENCY—ASSESSMENT ACT, R.S.O. 1897, c. 156—TITLE BY POSSESSION—LIMITATION ACT.

McAllister v. Defoe, 8 O.W.N. 175, 405.

POSSESSORY ACTION—CONTESTATION OF MUNICIPAL BY-LAW—DELAYS—C.C. 2192, 2193—C.P. 1064.

To maintain a possessory action, plaintiff must have been in peaceable, uninterrupted public possession, as proprietor for at least one year and one day. The defendant having jurisdiction to pass a by-law ordering the closing of a by-road if such by-law remains uncontested, by one of the means provided by law, for 20 days, it is presumed to have been legally passed and will be held to be binding on all concerned. By-law 134, herein in issue, for the closing of a by-road, will not be held to have been and to be illegal and without effect, because notice of the passing thereof was posted and read at the door of the parish church only. Ownership and control by defendant of said by-road, since 1823, under a process-verbal, may not be set up in defence to plaintiff's possessory action such defence tending to join a petition to a possessory action.

Patry v. St. Etienne de Beaumont, 20 Rev. de Jur. 192.

CROWN LANDS—TITLE OF OCCUPANT AS AGAINST WRONGDOERS.

Carr v. Ferguson, 9 E.L.R. 218.

Can. Dig.—55.

B. DEFENSES.

(§ II B—21)—OUTSTANDING TITLE—TENANCY IN COMMON.

One tenant in common may maintain alone an action of ejectment against a stranger in possession of the common property. [Scott v. McNutt, 2 N.S.D. 118, applied.]
Tobin v. McDougall, 16 D.L.R. 359, 47 N.S.R. 470.

III. Verdict; judgment; relief generally.

B. MESSE PROFITS; IMPROVEMENTS; EMBLEMENTS.

(§ III B—40)—MESSE PROFITS—IMPROVEMENTS—EMBLEMENTS—ACTION TO RECOVER LAND—LIEN FOR IMPROVEMENTS—MISTAKE OF TITLE UNDER STATUTE—AT COMMON LAW—INCREASED SELLING VALUE—EXCEPTION TO GENERAL RULE AS TO LIEN—ESTOPPEL—STATEMENT OF INTENTION TO GIVE LAND—EVIDENCE.

McBride v. McNeil, 4 O.W.N. 475, 23 O.W.R. 558.

POSSESSION UNDER OPTION—EJECTMENT ON DEFAULT.

Shand v. Power, 45 N.S.R. 97, 9 E.L.R. 342.

ACTION FOR POSSESSION—DAMAGES FOR DETENTION—MESSE PROFITS.

White v. Thompson, 2 O.W.N. 667, 18 O.W.R. 478.

APPLICATION TO BE PUT IN POSSESSION AFTER ADVERSE JUDGMENT AT TRIAL.

Girroir v. McFarland, 9 E.L.R. 109.

IV. Statutory new trial.

ACTION FOR POSSESSION AND MESSE PROFITS

—ENTRY OF DEFENDANTS UNDER PLAINTIFF'S TENANTS—FAILURE TO PROVE LEGAL RIGHT—NEW TRIAL.

Poulin v. Eherle, 3 O.W.N. 198, 20 O.W.R. 301.

EJUSDEM GENERIS.

See Statutes, II; Contracts, II.

ELECTION OF REMEDIES.

See Action; Pleading.

I. CHOICE.
II. EFFECT; PURSUING TWO REMEDIES.

I. Choice.

(§ I—1)—CONCURRENT RIGHTS.

When a plaintiff has separate, concurrent or successive rights of action on the same transaction, or for the same injury, he can have only one full satisfaction; this obtained, his further actions or remedies will be barred.

Black v. Dominion Fireproofing Co., 23 D.L.R. 161, 8 W.W.R. 823, 31 W.L.R. 352.

(§ I—2)—STRAY ANIMALS ACT (SASK.)—ANIMALS DAMAGE FEASANT—REMEDY UNDER ACT—AT COMMON LAW.

The Stray Animals Act (Sask. 1915, c. 32), provides that the owner of animals distrained damage feasant may proceed under the provisions of the Act to have a justice of the peace assess the damages but he is not bound to proceed under the Act and failure to do so does not deprive him of any other remedies he may have at common law. [Masked v. Horner, [1915] 3 K.B. 106, followed.]

Campbell v. Halverson, 49 D.L.R. 463, 12 S.L.R. 426, [1919] 3 W.W.R. 657, affirming 11 S.L.R. 58.

(§ 1-4)—TORT OR CONTRACT.

Two or more distinct causes of action for separate torts cannot properly be joined in one action; if joined the plaintiff must elect with which he will proceed. [Edinger v. McDougall, 2 A.L.R. 345; Nyblett v. Williams, 6 Terr. L.R. 206; Saddler v. Great West Ry., [1896] A.C. 430; Thompson v. London County Council, [1899] 1 Q.B. 840; Hinds v. Barrie, 6 O.L.R. 636, followed.]

Pringle v. Dwyer, 6 D.L.R. 446, 5 A.L.R. 449, 22 W.L.R. 158, 2 W.W.R. 1049.

(§ 1-7)—RECOVERY OF LAND OR ACCOUNT FROM GUARDIAN.

An action against a guardian and other defendants, both to set aside a sale of property of his ward made by the former to his codefendants, at an undervaluation, in breach of his trust, the latter being aware of such breach, and also to obtain an account of all the guardian's dealings with the estate of his ward, involves two distinct and separate causes of action against different parties, and therefore the plaintiff must elect which he will pursue.

Thomas v. Day, 4 D.L.R. 238, 4 A.L.R. 347, 21 W.L.R. 244, 2 W.W.R. 133.

CONTRACT TO PURCHASE LAND—NONPAYMENT OF INSTALLMENTS—ELECTION TO RESCIND CONTRACT—DECREE OF COURT—RIGHT TO RE-ELECT.

Where a party with full knowledge of all the facts, elects to rescind a contract for the purchase of land in default of payment, and asks the court to give effect to that election and the court grants the request, he is bound by his election, and cannot by neglecting or refusing to take the necessary steps to give complete effect to the court's decree obtain the right to re-elect. [Standard Trust Co v. Little, 24 D.L.R. 713, followed.]

Davidson v. Sharpe, 46 D.L.R. 256, 12 S.L.R. 183, [1919] 2 W.W.R. 76, affirming [1919] 1 W.W.R. 469. [Affirmed by Supreme Court of Canada, 52 D.L.R. 186.]

(§ 1-8)—ON TRIAL.

A party cannot, with full knowledge of all relevant facts and with a choice of two courses open to him, elect to adopt one of such courses and then invoke the aid of Nova Scotia Order 34, r. 24, to avoid the consequences of a mistake in his election, as that rule does not apply to a case where a party present at a trial elects for one reason or another not to take part in it, but is intended to cover cases of inadvertence, neglect or accident, etc.

Carruthers v. Nova Motor Co. (No. 2), 8 D.L.R. 690, 46 N.S.R. 516.

II. Effect; Pursuing two remedies.

(§ 11-10)—ACTION AGAINST PRINCIPAL OR AGENT—CHOICE.

For the purpose of determining their liability an agent acting for an undisclosed principal may be sued jointly with his principal; but if a judgment has been recovered against either in an action against them jointly or in an action against either separately, it will bar the prosecution of an action against either of them on the same grounds.

Brenner v. Thompson, 22 D.L.R. 375, 33 O.L.R. 465.

ELECTIONS.

I. VOTERS.

- A. Right to vote; residence.
- B. Registration; voters' lists.

II. ELECTIONS.

- A. In general.
- B. Ballots.
- C. Result; recounts.
- D. Election frauds; crimes.

III. NOMINATIONS.

IV. CONTESTS.

I. Voters.

A. RIGHT TO VOTE; RESIDENCE.

(§ 1 A-1)—PARLIAMENTARY ELECTIONS—ONTARIO VOTERS' LISTS ACT, R.S.O. 1914, c. 6, ss. 15 (1), 33, 40—APPEAL TO COUNTY COURT JUDGE—POWER TO SUBSTITUTE VOTER AS APPELLANT—APPLICATION TO JUDGE OF DIVISIONAL COURT FOR DIRECTIONS—REFUSAL TO GIVE DIRECTIONS BECAUSE QUESTION TO BE RAISED NOT PROPER FOR CONSIDERATION OF DIVISIONAL COURT—OATHS—JUDGES' ORDERS ENFORCEMENT ACT, R.S.O. 1914, c. 79.

Re Dumouchelle and Voters' List of Sandwich West, 11 O.W.N. 229.

(§ 1 A-6)—QUALIFICATIONS—CHALLENGE, EFFECT OF.

Where a person's name appears on an enumerator's list of voters, he can cast his vote without hindrance, unless he is challenged at the polls, and if challenged he can cast it by taking the prescribed oath.

Gross v. Strong, Pinchebeck v. Strong (No. 2), 10 D.L.R. 392, 5 A.L.R. 49, 23 W.L.R. 346, 362, 3 W.W.R. 879.

OBJECTION—FINAL REVISED VOTERS' LIST—NAME ON.

The status of the petitioner is established prima facie where on the hearing of a preliminary objection charging that he was not entitled to vote, proof was adduced that his name was on the final revised list in use at the election and that he did vote.

Re Lakeside Provincial Election; Tisbury v. Garland, 20 D.L.R. 286, 29 W.L.R. 628, 7 W.W.R. 340.

QUALIFICATIONS GENERALLY.

It is necessary that the name of a real estate owner should be placed on the valuation roll in order to be included in the list of voters for a municipal election though it is not required for the voters' list at an election for the House of Commons. It is also necessary that the name of the ratepayer should be placed on the valuation roll on or before the evening of Nov. 30, in order that it may appear on the list of voters which must be prepared and deposited on the following day, namely, Dec. 1. Hobdirk v. Lasalle, 14 Que. P.R. 421.

RULE OF PROHIBITION — RECALL — BALLOTING — MUNICIPAL ELECTOR — CALCULATION — BRITISH SUBJECT — INTERVENTION — INTEREST C.C., ART. 77 — S. REF. [1909] ART. 5368.

In order to be a municipal elector under the Cities and Towns Act, a person's name must be on the valuation roll, and he must be a British subject; otherwise a vote given on a municipal regulation abrogating a prohibition law, is void. A person who has petitioned the municipal council to obtain a license for the sale of intoxicating liquors has a sufficient interest to intervene in a contestation of a regulation abrogating a law of prohibition against that sale.

St. Germain v. Lachine et al., 56 Que. S.C. 300.

QUALIFICATIONS GENERALLY.

Under our constitutional and municipal form of government every citizen has the right to buy such properties which will be sufficient for him to qualify himself, as a parliamentary and municipal elector, in such electoral districts as he pleases.

Herbert v. Saint Michel, 18 Rev. de Jur. 228.

(I A—8)—MUNICIPAL ELECTIONS.

The fact that the voter's name is misspelled upon a printed voters' list of municipal electors will not deprive him of the right to vote, if he takes the form of oath provided by statute.

R. ex rel. Soverens v. Edwards, 8 D.L.R. 450, 22 Man. L.R. 790, 22 W.L.R. 723, 3 W. W.R. 581.

MUNICIPAL ELECTION — QUALIFICATION OF VOTERS—NAMES ON VALUATION ROLL.

A municipal council has not the right to register, on the eve of a municipal election, merely for the purposes of the election, without a previous notice in writing, a change of ownership in property on the valuation roll in force. And even if this change has been demanded in writing, and has been authorized by resolution of the council, it cannot be invoked for the purposes of a municipal election, if, at the time when the person presents himself to exercise his right as an elector, his name does not appear on the valuation roll in force and the change of ownership has not been inscribed on the valuation roll.

Messier v. Lefebvre, 47 Que. S.C. 354.

MUNICIPAL ELECTION — VOTERS' LISTS — PETITION TO ANNUL.

In municipal matters concerning the list of electors prepared under the Election Act, recourse may be had to C.C.P. to give full and complete efficacy to this Act. A motion asking for dismissal of a petition for annulment of a decision of a municipal council in relation to this list cannot be granted by a judge, the Superior Court alone having jurisdiction.

Bourassa v. Salaberry, 48 Que. S.C. 267;
MUNICIPAL ELECTION—VOTERS' LIST—REVISION—FINALITY.

When the validity of an election is questioned under s. 92 of the Municipal Elections Act, if it appears that the voters' list had been prepared and revised in accordance with the formalities required by the Act, it will be taken to have been revised "in accordance with law," and the court will not go behind the revision to inquire into the qualifications of the voters.

Re Kerr and Gold, 20 B.C.R. 589.

MUNICIPAL ELECTIONS—BARE OWNER—DAMAGES — PRESCRIPTION — C. MUN., ARTS. 19, 291, 300—S. REF. [1909] ARTS. 3387, 3388.

A person who has only bare ownership in an immovable worth $50, without having the possession which belongs to the usufructuary is not a municipal elector. An action for damages against the president of a municipal election for having prevented a bare owner, who pretended to be a municipal elector, from voting is barred within six months.

Valée v. Sabourin, 56 Que. S.C. 123.

QUALIFICATION — "REGISTERED OWNER" — HOLDERS OF AGREEMENTS TO PURCHASE.
Perry v. Morley, 16 B.C.R. 91, 16 W.L.R. 691.

MUNICIPAL—QUALIFICATION OF ALDERMAN—LAND SOLD SUBJECT TO RIGHT OF REDEMPTION.

Levasseur v. Pelletier, 40 Que. S.C. 490.

PARISH ELECTORAL LISTS—APPLICATION TO COUNCIL—REFUSAL TO HEAR WITNESSES — APPEAL—COSTS—QUE. C.P. 82, 549.

Upon a petition to be entered upon the electoral lists of a parish, the members of the council must hear the witnesses of the parties. They are no more allowed to judge of the merits of the application without examining the witnesses than an ordinary court is allowed to decide a case without hearing the witnesses. If the petitioner succeeds upon an appeal to have his application admitted, the municipality must pay the costs.

Letourneau v. St. Constant, 15 Que. P.R. 405.

MUNICIPAL BY-LAW—LIQUOR LICENSE.

It is not sufficient to have one's name inscribed on the assessment roll it is necessary for the legal exercise of municipal franchise that the party shall possess the qualifications required by law, one of which is that the elector shall be a British subject. In the case now submitted 21 votes were given by parties who were not naturalized British subjects and such votes were illegally recorded, and as a consequence the vote on the by-law is, therefore, illegal and must be so declared.

St. Germain v. Laehine, 24 Rev. de Jur. 76.

(§ 1 A—9)—ELECTORAL LIST—DOMICILE—REQUEST TO BE PUT ON LIST—QUE. C.C. 79 ET SEQ. 2 GEO. V., c. 10.

A declaration stating that the maker has asked to be put on the electoral list at Montreal, since he had been refused at Laprairie, is an acquiescence in the decision of the Laprairie council, and a formal declaration that he had his domicile in Montreal and that he wanted to have it there, since, according to the 1912 Act, one can vote only at his domicile.

Guerin v. Laprairie, 15 Que. P.R. 417.

RESIDENCE.

The owner of a house in a rural municipality where he resides each summer for five and sometimes 6 months and who carries on his business in an urban municipality, remaining there in rented premises for the balance of the year, has a right, on declaring that the country house is his principal establishment, to be inscribed on the list of electors of the municipality in which it is situated.

Godbout v. Laurent, 43 Que. S.C. 158.

RESIDENCE.

School teachers, professors and heads of institutions of learning, and the members of a teaching community, should be inscribed on the voters' list of the municipality where they have their institution or house even when they give no instruction there if they do give it in other places in the province.

Jodoin v. St. Hyacinthe, 43 Que. S.C. 123.

RESIDENCE.

An elector, unmarried and a teacher by profession, who occupies rooms in the town near the place where he teaches but passes his vacations and times of leisure with his parents in another municipality where he had formerly been domiciled, who has a room there at his disposal and who declares that he had never had any intention of changing his domicile, is validly inscribed on the list of voters of the latter municipality. The same is the case with the elector, owner of a house where he is domiciled, who retains such ownership and lives there for 4 months each year residing in another municipality during the remaining 8 months to carry on his business but without intending to change his domicile and always proposing to return to his first residence. The declarations which he makes to this effect should be favourably received.

Demers v. Saint Nicolas, 43 Que. S.C. 321.

RESIDENCE.

A period of habitation in another place is only a circumstance in establishing a change of domicile. Thus the Quebec Election Act (2 Geo. V., c. 10) does not disqualify a landowner in the province who leaves it to reside in the United States without selling his land unless it is proved that he intends to reside permanently there. This principle does not apply to a person who changes his residence from one place in the Province of Quebec to another or even elsewhere in Canada.

Gardin v. Saint David, 14 Que. P.R. 221.

B. REGISTRATION; VOTERS' LISTS.

(§ 1 B—12)—RIGHT TO VOTE.

The fact that a person's name does not appear on the enumerator's list of voters does not disfranchise him, for the person may, by taking the prescribed oath, have his name added to the list and swear in his vote.

Gross v. Strong; Pinchebeck v. Strong, 10 D.L.R. 391, 5 A.L.R. 49, 23 W.L.R. 340 and 362, 3 W.W.R. 879.

VOTERS' LIST.

Where the provincial voters' list constituting the foundation of the list of voters for a Dominion election was not forwarded to the clerk of the Crown in Chancery at Ottawa, as required by the Dominion Elections Act, but was instead delivered at his request to the committee of judges to fix the polling subdivisions and was afterwards delivered to the person appointed by the King's printer to receive the same, the fact that the list was not actually forwarded to Ottawa in the terms of the statute is not material to the validity of the list, nor does the fact that the King's printer had the list printed elsewhere than at the Government printing office in Ottawa affect the validity of the list of voters certified by the committee of judges which is the original and legal list of voters for the electoral district.

Re Provencher Election; Barkwill v. Moly, 1 D.L.R. 265, 22 Man. L.R. 16, 48 C.L.J. 155, 20 W.L.R. 11, 1 W.W.R. 768.

Where an applicant to have his name placed upon the municipal voters' list, properly qualified in every respect, made the necessary declaration before a special commissioner for taking affidavits appointed under the provisions of the Provincial Elections Act (B.C.) instead of making the same before a Commissioner for taking affidavits in the Supreme Court, as required by the Municipal Elections Act (B.C.), such noncompliance with provisions of the last-mentioned act is fatal, and the placing of his name on the municipal voters' list by the clerk of the municipality was improper and the Court of Revision rightfully struck his name from the list. [Davies v. Hopkins (1857), 3 C.B.N.S. 376, distinguished.]

Re Municipal Elections Act, 2 D.L.R. 349, 17 B.C.R. 31, 19 W.L.R. 830, 1 W.W.R. 531.

JURISDICTION OF SUPERIOR COURT.

When an elector's name has been, by error or otherwise, omitted from the electoral list for the legislature of Quebec, the Superior Court has jurisdiction to order the municipal corporation, which made and confirmed the list, to insert therein the name of such elector.

Belard v. Notre-Dame-de-Stanbridge, 54 Que. S.C. 405.

VOTERS' LIST.

When the name of an elector, possessing the qualification required by law, is inscribed on the list of voters for a district in which he has no domicile, the municipal council revising the list should not strike out his name but should order it to be transferred to the list of the district of his domicile.

Jodoin v. St. Hyacinthe, 43 Que. S.C. 123.
It follows from the provisions of art. 203 of the Quebec Election Law that the date for the revision of the electoral lists must be set within 30 days from their completion and therefore the decision of the municipal council fixing a date beyond that period on which to proceed to the hearing of complaints under a revision of such lists is illegal; and where the last day of such 30-day period is a nonjuridical day, and the municipal council assigns such revision for a Monday as the first juridical day, after the last day of the period, this will not (under 8 C.C.P.) prevent such arrangement from being illegal owing to the fact that the period fixed by art. 203 is not one of practice but is prescriptive.

Turgeon v. St. John, 18 Rev. de Jur. 422.

VOTERS' LIST.

The attestation under oath by the secretary-treasurer of the voters' list (art. 195); the examination of the list by the municipal council within 30 days from the date of its deposit and not afterwards (art. 203); the public notice and the special notice required by art. 206 of such examination; and the initialling by the president of the council before the sitting closed of insertions and corrections made in and to the list (art. 210), are all essential formalities the non-observance of which makes the list a nullity. The Superior Court has jurisdiction, under art. 50 C.C.P. to set aside a list prepared without observing these formalities.

Mahe v. St. Timothée, 14 Que. P.R. 278.

PARLIAMENTARY ELECTIONS — ONTARIO VOTERS' LISTS ACT, R.S.O. 1914, c. 6, ss. 15 (1), 33, 40—APPEAL TO COUNTY COURT JUDGE — POWER TO SUBSTITUTE VOTER AS APPELLANT — APPLICATION TO JUDGE OF DIVISIONAL COURT FOR DIRECTIONS — REFUSAL TO GIVE DIRECTIONS BECAUSE QUESTION TO BE RAISED NOT PROPER FOR CONSIDERATION OF DIVISIONAL COURT — COSTS — JUDGES' ORDERS ENFORCEMENT ACT, R.S.O. 1914, c. 70.

Re Dumouchelle and Voters' List of Sandwich West, 11 O.W.N. 229.

MUNICIPAL ELECTION — COUNCILLOR — VOTERS' LIST — REMOVAL OF NAMES — IRREGULARITY.

Dimeck v. Graham, 9 E.L.R. 417.

POLL TAX PAYERS — STRIKING OFF NAMES FOR NONPAYMENT OF TAX — POWERS OF TOWN CLERK.

Kelly v. McNeil, 44 N.S.R. 393.

II. Elections.

A. IN GENERAL.

(§ II A—15)—MUNICIPAL ELECTION — REFUSAL TO PRESIDE—NOTICE.

The secretary-treasurer of a municipality, bound ex officio to preside at an election of councillors, should fulfil this duty on the day fixed by the law, even when the previous public notice has not been regularly given. If he refuses to do so, he incurs the penalty provided by art. 254, Mun. Code.

Bureau v. Soulard, 54 Que. S.C. 507.

MUNICIPAL ELECTION — PRESIDING OFFICER — VACANCY.

A majority of the electors at an election meeting cannot elect a presiding officer, to remedy the absence or incapacity of the one appointed, except at the first election in a newly organized municipality. When a municipal election meeting has been opened and closed, by the person regularly appointed to preside over such meeting, the meeting cannot be continued or recommenced under the presidency of another person.

Olivier v. Roger, 53 Que. S.C. 136.

RESIDENCE—LIVING IN DIFFERENT PLACES.

The respondent, a bachelor, had for 14 years last past been engaged as his only business in farming lands which he owned in the municipality of St. Vital. During spring, summer and autumn he was almost constantly on his farm, but frequently went into Winnipeg to visit his sisters and brother-in-law, and slept during the summer more than half the time at the house occupied by them. During the winter he visited the farm every week and slept there occasionally, but most of the time at said house in Winnipeg. The house was owned by him but occupied by his sisters and brother-in-law rent free, and he, on the other hand, paid nothing for his meals and lodging when with them. Held, on the above facts, that the respondent was not an actual resident of St. Vital.
Mitchell v. Johnson, [1918] 1 W.W.R. 785.

(§ II A—16)—TO FILL VACANCY.

Failure to give 6 full days' notice of a special election to fill a vacancy in the office of municipal councillor, as required by s. 21 of the Municipal Ordinance, 1898, will vitiate the election held thereunder.

R. ex rel. Hogan v. Jollivette, 4 D.L.R. 697, 20 W.L.R. 264, 4 A.L.R. 233, 1 W.W.R. 829.

(§ II A—17)—NOTICE — STATUTORY PRELIMINARIES — BY-LAW REPEALING LOCAL OPTION BY-LAW.

Where there has been a failure by the municipal council to comply with the statutory preliminaries required by the Manitoba Municipal Act, R.S.M. 1902, c. 116, s. 376, in not posting the notice of the proposed voting on a local option by-law in four or more of the most conspicuous places in the municipality, and not publishing in the notice the places of voting such departures from the requirement of the act are fatal and the by-law will be quashed, notwithstanding the saving provisions of s. 200 of the act.

Re Thompson Local Option By-law, 10 D.L.R. 493, 23 W.L.R. 786, 4 W.W.R. 112.

(§ II A—19)—CHALLENGE — PROOF OF RIGHT TO VOTE.

The court will not, on the hearing of preliminary objections, set aside an election petition filed by a person named in the authenticated list used in the election as an elector, upon the ground that the list so authenticated was invalid for alleged noncompliance with statutory formalities in the preparation and printing of same.

Re Provencier Election (No. 2); Barkwill v. Molloy, 1 D.L.R. 265, 48 C.L.J. 155, 22 Man. L.R. 16, 20 W.L.R. 11, 1 W.W.R. 798.

(II A—20)—MUNICIPAL LAW — QUO WARRANTO — QUALIFICATIONS OF MAYOR AND COUNCILLORS — C.M. ARTS. 227—229.

No one can exercise the functions of mayor or municipal councillor or fulfil other municipal duties until he is legally qualified no one can be nominated for, or elected, mayor, or councillor (or other municipal office), who cannot read or write fluently. It is not sufficient to be able to read printed matter or to write his name, or even do both.

Lacaille v. Desmanches, 25 Rev. de Jur. 1.

MUNICIPAL ELECTIONS — APPLICATION TO UNSEAT REEVE OF TOWNSHIP — DISQUALIFICATION — CLAIM AGAINST MUNICIPALITY — INDEBTEDNESS TO MUNICIPALITY FOR MONIES IMPROPERLY RECEIVED — MUNICIPAL ACT, s. 53 — VOTING FOR BY-LAW AUTHORIZING IMPROPER BORROWING — S. 319 — CLAIM OF RELATOR TO SEAT.

R. ex rel. Dart v. Curry, 17 O.W.N. 203.

(§ II A—22)—ELECTION OF COUNCILLORS—DATE OF ELECTION — NULLITY — C. MUN. ARTS. 245, 250, 257, AND 258.

An election of municipal councillors, held on a different date from that fixed by the Municipal Code, is void. The president of the election has no right to change this date.

Lapierre v. Mercier, 56 Que. S.C. 261.

(§ II A—23)—IRREGULARITIES — FAILURE TO PROVIDE SUFFICIENT NUMBER OF POLLING PLACES — USE OF OLD VOTERS' LIST.

The fact that a town council did not provide a sufficient number of polling places as required by the Consolidated Municipal Act 3 Edw. VII, (Ont.) c. 19, R.S.O. 1914, c. 192, will not vitiate an election where it does not appear that any voter was misled by such omission. A local option by-law election is not invalidated by the fact that the voters' list used was two years old, where the failure to prepare a new one, as the law requires, was the fault of the assessor. [R. ex rel. Black v. Campbell, 18 O.L.R. 269, followed.]

Carr v. North Bay, 13 D.L.R. 458, 28 O.L.R. 623.

OFFICERS AND INSPECTORS.

There is no legal objection to the appointment of a person known to hold partisan views on the question voted on as a returning officer.

Re North Gower Local Option By-law, 10 D.L.R. 662, 4 O.W.N. 1177, 24 O.W.R. 489. [Affirmed, 14 D.L.R. 443, 5 O.W.N. 249, 25 O.W.R. 224.]

MUNICIPAL ELECTION — PRESIDING OFFICER.

When the person who should preside at a municipal election is absent or incapable of acting, the majority of the electors assembled at a meeting may choose a president and it is not only in the case of the first election in a new municipality that they can do so.

Olivier v. Rogers, 52 Que. S.C. 86.

OFFICERS AND INSPECTORS.

If three candidates are placed in nomination, the chairman of election, on petition to that effect, should declare a poll to permit the electors to elect two councillors out of the three candidates so nominated; and even if he considers that one of the three candidates is certain to be elected, the chairman of election has no right to address the meeting and ask if there is any opposition to such candidate being declared elected, and moreover he has no right to proclaim this candidate elected especially when there is a protest against it on the part of certain electors then present; and, on an election contest, such a proceeding will be declared illegal, and holding the poll as to the two other candidates will likewise be declared illegal, and the entire election will therefore be annulled, with costs against the candidates so elected, if they have accepted office and opposed the annulment of such elections.

Therrien v. Tisdale, 18 Rev. de Jur. 412.

MUNICIPAL ELECTION — DEPUTY REEVE OF TOWN — RIGHT OF TOWN TO HAVE DEPUTY REEVE — MUNICIPAL ACT, 1913, s. 51 — NUMBER OF MUNICIPAL ELECTORS — COUNT — NAME OF ANY PERSON TO BE COUNTED ONLY ONCE — EVIDENCE — AFFIDAVITS — ONUS — TENANTS — RIGHT TO VOTE — SS. 2 (S), 48, 161, 177, 178 OF ACT — REMEDY BY SUMMARY PROCEEDING UNDER ACT TO UNSEAT PERSON ELECTED WHERE TOWN NOT ENTITLED TO DEPUTY REEVE — MUNICIPALITY NOT A PARTY.

R. ex rel. Sullivan v. Church, 6 O.W.N. 265, reversing 6 O.W.N. 116.

MUNICIPAL ELECTION — VALIDITY OF ELECTION OF MAYOR OF CITY — ATTEMPT TO DISQUALIFY — LIABILITY FOR ARREARS OF TAXES — MUNICIPAL ACT, 1913, s. 53, SUBS. 1 (S) — EVIDENCE — SETTLEMENT WITH TREASURER — COLLECTOR'S BILLS — MAYOR ELECT ACTING AS SOLICITOR IN ACTIONS AGAINST CITY CORPORATION — TERMINATION OF RELATIONSHIP OF SOLICITOR AND CLIENT BEFORE ELECTION — LITIGATION ENDED BEFORE ELECTION — COSTS — PAYMENT OF CHEQUE OF CORPORATION FOR.

R. ex rel. Band v. McVeity, 6 O.W.N. 369.

(§ II A—24)—WATER COMMISSIONERS — DISQUALIFICATION.

Where, by a private act, the water commissioners of a city are elected by a general vote, and all the provisions and remedies by the Municipal Act, at any time in force with respect to councillors, are to apply in all particulars (not inconsistent with the private act) to such water commissioners as to election, inserting, filling vacancies, grounds of disqualification, and otherwise, while the aldermen of the city are elected by wards; it is the duty of a county judge, finding a commissioner disqualified by reason of having a contract with or on behalf of the municipal corporation, to order a new election, and s. 215a, providing that the unsuccessful candidate who received the highest number of votes at the last municipal election shall be entitled to the office, does not apply in this case.

R. ex rel. Martin v. Jacques, 10 D.L.R. 761, 24 O.W.R. 457, 4 O.W.N. 1112.

B. BALLOTS.

(§ II B—20)—PARLIAMENTARY ELECTIONS — BALLOTS — ONTARIO ELECTION ACT, s. 108 — CONSTRUCTION — VALIDITY OF BALLOTS — BALLOTS IMPROPERLY MARKED BY VOTERS.

Re East Lambton Provincial Election; Martin v. McCormick, 7 O.W.N. 29.

(§ II B—31)—FORM AND CONTENTS GENERALLY — STATUTORY REQUIREMENTS AS TO UNIFORMITY OF FORM — IRREGULAR BALLOTS USED — DUTY OF RETURNING OFFICER TO REJECT — NEW ELECTION.

Re Burnaby, 7 D.L.R. 785.

(§ II B—34)—PERSONS AND PARTIES ENTITLED TO PLACE ON BALLOT.

Under s. 88 of the Manitoba Municipal Act, R.S.M. 1902, c. 116, providing that if at a meeting of electors to nominate candidates for office only one candidate be nominated for a certain office within the time limited by law, the returning officer shall declare such candidate duly elected and under s. 89 of the same act, providing that if more candidates be nominated than are required to be elected, the returning officer shall announce the same and make known the time and place of the election, the returning officer has no authority after having announced that two candidates have been nominated and after having made known the time and place of election, to reject the nomination paper of one of the candidates on the ground that he was disqualified and to declare the other candidate duly elected.

Re St. Vital Municipal Election; Tod v. Mager (No. 2), 3 D.L.R. 350, 21 W.L.R. 203, 2 W.W.R. 185.

(§ II B—37)—BALLOTS—STAMPING—ENDORSEMENTS.

Section 114 of the Election Act, R.S.O. 1914, c. 8, being not applicable to the deputy returning officer, but to the "returning officer," a ballot not stamped by the latter official in accordance with the imperative direction of s. 71 (2) is not to be counted. [The Thornbury Case, 16 Q.B.D. 739, distinguished.]

Re South Oxford Election; Mayberry v. Sinclair, 20 D.L.R. 752, 32 O.L.R. 1.

(§ II B—46)—BALLOTS — CASTING — ASSISTING VOTER — OMISSION OF DECLARATION, EFFECT.

The taking of the declaration provided for by s. 171 of the Consolidated Municipal Act in the case of illiterate persons or persons incapacitated from marking the ballot papers is not a statutory condition precedent to the right to vote, and its omission is merely an irregularity in the mode of receiving the vote, which is cured by s. 204 of the Act.

Re North Gower Local Option By-law, 10 D.L.R. 662, 24 O.W.R. 489, 4 O.W.N. 1177, [Affirmed, 14 D.L.R. 443, 5 O.W.N. 249, 25 O.W.R. 224.]

(§ II B—47)—SECRECY OF BALLOT.

Where a judicial inquiry as to the probable grounds for quashing a municipal by-law is authorized under a city charter and provision is made by the same charter for voting on the by-law by ballot and that no person shall be compelled to say how he voted, the inquiry must take place subject to the like restriction.

Re St. Boniface (No. 2), 1 D.L.R. 366, 20 W.L.R. 332, 22 Man. L.R. 733, 1 W.W.R. 844.

A ballot per se imports secrecy, and, when voting by ballot was adopted, the legislature thereby wholly abandoned and repudiated open voting, and statutory infractions of the statute whereby secrecy is impaired are fatal to a local option by-law.

Stoddart v. Owen Sound, 8 D.L.R. 932, 27 O.L.R. 221.

(§ II B—55)—BALLOTS—MARKING.

The direction of s. 102 of the Election Act, R.S.O. 1914, c. 8, that a voter shall mark his ballot "making a cross with a black lead pencil" is not imperative so as to invalidate a ballot marked in ink.

Re South Oxford Election; Mayberry v. Sinclair, 20 D.L.R. 752, 32 O.L.R. 1.

(§ II B—58)—BALLOTS—MARKING.

A ballot clearly marked for each candidate must be disallowed.

Re South Oxford Election; Mayberry v. Sinclair, 20 D.L.R. 752, 32 O.L.R. 1.

C. RESULTS; RECOUNTS.

§ II C-65)—THE VOTE—COUNTING REJECTED BALLOT—CONTENT—QUO WARRANTO.

On a petition alleging that the respondent was not elected by a majority vote, an irregularity by the returning officer in opening a packet of rejected ballots, counting some of them as good, and declaring a candidate elected on the strength thereof, is not a ground for voiding an election; it may be raised by information in the nature of quo warranto.

Martin v. Erlendsson; Re Bifrost, 34 D. L.R. 82, 27 Man. L.R. 464, [1917] 2 W.W.R. 189.

§ II C-68)—RESULT—NEGLECT TO ENTER VOTE IN POLL BOOK.

A returning officer will not be required by mandamus to return a person as the candidate elected, where certificates of election in none of the polls were signed by the election officials as required by s. 35 of R.S.S. 1909, c. 4, nor the votes recorded in the poll books as required by s. 33 of the statute, except in one poll where the opposing candidate received a majority of the votes cast.

Re Cumberland Election (No. 2), 15 D.L.R. 48, 7 S.L.R. 8, 26 W.L.R. 176, 5 W.W.R. 688, affirming 12 D.L.R. 818.

RECOUNTS—CLERK'S DUTY TO RECEIVE RETURNS.

A premature return by the returning officer to the clerk of the Executive Council is as effective as a regular return, to the extent of imposing upon the latter the duty of receiving the return and documents therewith, and of thereupon performing his other duties, under ss. 233, 234, 236, 237, 238, 239 of the Alberta Election Act, 1909, c. 3.

Re Clearwater Election, 14 D.L.R. 32, 6 A.L.R. 431, 25 W.L.R. 589, 5 W.W.R. 181.

§ II C-69)—DISPUTED BALLOTS—POWER OF COURT OF ENQUIRY—DUTY OF RETURNING OFFICER.

Under the Alberta Election Act, 9 Edw. VII., c. 3, the individual envelopes containing "disputed ballots" are not to be opened at the court of enquiry; that court is to decide only the question of the qualification of the several voters, and the duty of the deputy returning officer is to return these individual envelopes unopened to the returning officer with the decisions of the court as to the qualification and its automatic decisions of allowance or disallowance or a statement of disagreement as the case may be. The Alberta Election Act, 9 Edw. VII., c. 3, s. 210, which requires the returning officer to add up votes from the statement of the polls and the returns of the statement of the court of enquiry. And any votes allowed by him as to which any court of enquiry has failed to agree, etc., implies that while neither the deputy returning officer nor the court of enquiry is at liberty to open the envelopes containing the disputed ballots, it is the duty of the returning officer to do so notwithstanding any apparent inconsistency of the returning officer's return (form 52), which must be deemed to have been drawn in contemplation of a return in cases where there were no disputed ballots.

Re Clearwater Election, 11 D.L.R. 353, 24 W.L.R. 396, 4 W.W.R. 639. [Affirmed in part, reversed in part, 12 D.L.R. 598. And see 14 D.L.R. 32, 6 A.L.R. 431.]

BALLOTS—CAVASSING—RECOUNT.

In a recount under the Election Act, R.S. O. 1914, c. 8, the ballot is to be looked at and not the poll book.

Re South Oxford Election; Mayberry v. Sinclair, 29 D.L.R. 752, 32 O.L.R. 1.

The court has no jurisdiction under the Elections Act, R.S.S. 1909, c. 3, or otherwise, to compel the judge of a District Court to hold a recount. [Re Centre Wellington Election, 44 U.C.Q.B. 132; McLeod v. Noble, 28 O.R. 528; Re Dubuc, 3 W.L.R. 248, followed.] The effect of the Elections Act, R.S.S. 1909, c. 3, is that, when once a recount has been ordered by the District Court Judge, all questions of the sufficiency of the affidavit upon which the order was made are concluded, and no subsequent application can be entertained to set aside the order on the ground of the insufficiency of the affidavit.

Re Pinto Creek Election, 6 D.L.R. 111, 22 W.L.R. 60, 3 W.W.R. 33.

RECOUNT.

By the election law of the province (R. S.Q. 1909, arts. 172 et seq.) the provisions of which are reproduced, mutatis mutandis, in the charter of the city of Quebec for the election of aldermen, the judge who makes a recount of the votes may use all means which he deems necessary to rectify the errors and omissions of the deputy returning officers. He can cause them to appear before him, interrogate them, and with the information thus obtained count the votes deposited in their boxes, although they may have omitted to include therewith the certified result of the voting required by the act.

Lamontague v. Bérubé, 43 Que. S.C. 196.

RECOUNT.

The affidavit required by s. 193 of the Dominion Elections Act, R.S.C. 1906, c. 6, upon receipt of which the County Court Judge is to proceed to recount the ballots cast at an election of a member of the House of Commons, must be such as to make it appear to the judge that a deputy returning officer has erred as therein stated, and such requirement is not satisfied by the affidavit of an elector who merely states that he verily believes that such error has been committed. All that was made to appear by the affidavit was the deponent's belief in certain facts, but

the most
the tion, return
the two to to be to be Court
[Re
Part lower
Re
is H
The
on th
to be to be to be Muni court the p
the C
c. 4, elect Muni
to be
Act.
A her of an Conse
of fr
the
that task, legal cast, of the a bal
tion l on th 21 of classe poors
of the place que
Local tingu votes not b under dated votes
disch
Re
26 O.
O.L.R.
451.]
Sect
I On local were upon major

the act requires that the facts themselves must be made to appear by the affidavit. [Re North Cape Breton and Victoria Election, 6 E.L.R. 37, 532, followed.] After the returning officer has made his return to the Clerk of the Crown in Chancery, it is too late to apply, under s. 206 of the act, to a judge of the King's Bench in Manitoba for an order compelling the County Court Judge to proceed with the recount. [Bellevue Election, 17 Q.L.R. 294, and Portneuf Election, 1 Que. S.C. 269, followed.]

Re Dauphin Election, 21 Man. L.R. 629, (3 H.C.—70)—SCRUTINY.

The right of a person whose name was on the certified voters' list, to vote upon a local option by-law, may be inquired into by a County Court Judge upon a scrutiny of the ballots cast, under the provisions of ss. 369, 371 of the Ontario Consolidated Municipal Act, 3 Edw. VII., c. 19, since the court's power in such proceeding is not limited to a mere recount or examination of the paper ballots themselves. Section 24 of the Ontario Voters' Lists Act, 7 Edw. VII., c. 4, applies to a scrutiny of a municipal election held under the Ontario Consolidated Municipal Act, 3 Edw. VII., c. 19, as well as to one held under the Ontario Election Act. Votes illegally cast at an election on a local option by-law, upon a scrutiny thereof under ss. 369 and 371 of the Ontario Consolidated Municipal Act, will be deducted from the total vote cast in favour of the by-law, where the official declaration that the by-law had carried is under attack, since there is no way of ascertaining legally in which way they were actually cast. Upon a scrutiny under ss. 369, 371 of the Ontario Consolidated Municipal Act, a ballot cast at a local option by-law election by a tenant whose name appeared upon the certified voters' list, may, under s. 24 of the Ontario Voters' Lists Act, be declared void by the County Judge if it appears that such tenant was not a resident of the municipality when his name was placed on the list, or that he had subsequently ceased to be one. [Re Orangeville Local Option By-law (1910), 476, distinguished.] A person who, without right, votes at a local option by-law election cannot be required upon a scrutiny of the vote under ss. 369, 371 of the Ontario Consolidated Municipal Act, to disclose how he voted, since s. 200 of such prohibits such disclosure.

Re West Lorne Scrutiny, 4 D.L.R. 870, 26 O.L.R. 339, 21 O.W.R. 813, reversing 25 O.L.R. 267, 277. [Affirmed, 47 Can. S.C.R. 451.]

SCRUTINY — BY-LAW ELECTION — CERTIFYING RESULT — EFFECT OF ILLEGAL BALLOTS — REMOVAL FROM WARD.

On a scrutiny of the ballots cast at a local option by-law election where there were illegal votes cast and where the count upon the inclusion of such votes gives a majority for the by-law, the judge may without inquiry as to whether the illegal votes were for or against the proposition, deduct the total of such illegal votes from the total cast in favour of the by-law, as there is no way of compelling testimony to prove for which side any of the persons who illegally voted had cast their ballots. [Re West Lorne Scrutiny, 4 D.L.R. 870, 26 O.L.R. 339, 47 Can. S.C.R. 451, followed.] Whether the removal from a town, or from a ward of a municipality of a person whose name was on the voters' list, disqualified him from casting a legal ballot in such ward may be determined on a scrutiny of the ballots cast at the election. Whether the ballot of a person who voted twice at an election was legal may be determined on a scrutiny of the ballots cast.

Under s. 23 of 1 Geo. V., c. 64, R.S.O. 1914, c. 215, whether the name of a non-resident who voted at an election was improperly placed on the voter's list may be determined on a scrutiny of the ballots cast. [Re West Lorne Scrutiny, 4 D.L.R. 870, 26 O.L.R. 339, 47 Can. S.C.R. 451, applied.]

Re Aurora Scrutiny, 13 D.L.R. 88, 28 O.L.R. 475.

BALLOTS—RECOUNT—SCRUTINY.

The clerk of the Executive Council in custody of election papers transmitted to him by a returning officer under s. 234 of the Alberta Election Act, 1909, c. 3, is bound strictly by s. 239 read with ss. 237, 238 to guard the secrecy and integrity of such papers as thereby prescribed, and under s. 239 to prevent any person, even a District Court Judge holding a recount from inspecting such papers, except under an order of a Supreme Court Judge as thereby provided.

Re Clearwater Election, 14 D.L.R. 32, 6 A.L.R. 431, 25 W.L.R. 589, 5 W.W.R. 181.

SCRUTINY.

A County Court Judge holding a scrutiny of the ballot papers deposited in a vote on a municipal by-law may go behind the voters' list and inquire if a tenant whose name is placed thereon has the residential qualification entitling him to vote. The judge has no power to inquire whether rejected ballots were cast for or against the by-law:—Ballots rejected on a scrutiny must be deducted from the total number of votes cast in favour of the by-law.

McPherson v. Mehring (Re West Lorne By-law), 47 Can. S.C. 451, affirming 4 D.L.R. 870, 26 O.L.R. 339, reversing 25 O.L.R. 267, which reversed 25 O.L.R. 598.

(3 H.C.—71)—ALBERTA MUNICIPAL ACT.

The Alberta Election Act, 9 Edw. VII., c. 3, which empowers the Lieutenant-Governor-in-Council to vary the forms provided in the Act, etc., does not affect the right of any officer to modify any provided form to meet the facts of the particular case.

Re Clearwater Election, 11 D.L.R. 353, 24 W.L.R. 306, 4 W.W.R. 630. [Affirmed in

part, reversed in part, 12 D.L.R. 598. And see 14 D.L.R. 32, 25 W.L.R. 589.]

RETURNS—DECLARATION OF RESULT—CONCLUSIVENESS OF CERTIFICATE.

The return by the returning officer to the clerk of the Executive Council under s. 234 of the Alberta Election Act, Statutes of 1909, c. 3, and the subsequent publication thereof in the official Gazette under s. 236, are final and conclusive, subject to the germane provisions of the Controverted Elections Act, and to the jurisdiction of the legislature itself.

Re Clearwater Election, 14 D.L.R. 32, 6 A.L.R. 431, 25 W.L.R. 589, 5 W.W.R. 181.

RESULT—DECLARATION.

The requirement of s. 35 of R.S.S. 1909, c. 4, that the deputy returning officer shall immediately after the close of the poll and the summing up of the votes, make the written declaration required by such section, is merely directory.

Re Cumberland Election, 12 D.L.R. 818, 24 W.L.R. 717, 4 W.W.R. 1119. [Affirmed, 15 D.L.R. 47, 7 S.L.R. 8.]

CLOSING POLLS—DECLARATION OF RESULT.

When at 4 p. m., on the first day of voting, there are in the polling booth some electors who have not yet voted, the election president has discretion in closing the poll until the following day. After having thus closed the poll, he cannot revoke his decision, and declare the election at an end and proclaim elected the candidate who has received a majority of the votes.

Lamontagne v. Paquet, 49 Que. S.C. 419. (§ 11 C-72)—DISPUTED BALLOTS—OF DISTRICT COURT JUDGE TO COUNT IN FIRST INSTANCE.

A District Court Judge, on a recount of an election by way of an appeal, has power to open envelopes containing disputed ballots and count those allowed by a court of enquiry.

Re Clearwater Election, 12 D.L.R. 598, 24 W.L.R. 683, 4 W.W.R. 1025. [See 14 D.L.R. 32, 6 A.L.R. 431.]

ALBERTA DISPUTED VOTES—DUTY OF RETURNING OFFICER.

In counting disputed ballots under Alberta Election Act, 9 Edw. VII., c. 2, s. 210, a returning officer should preserve their identity by restoring them to their respective individual envelopes.

Re Clearwater Election, 11 D.L.R. 353, 24 W.L.R. 306, 4 W.W.R. 630. [Affirmed in part, reversed in part, 12 D.L.R. 598. See also 14 D.L.R. 32.]

D. ELECTION FRAUDS; CRIMES.

(§ 11 D-75)—ELECTION FRAUDS—CORRUPT PRACTICES—EMPLOYMENT OF SCRUTINEER BY CANDIDATE—PAYMENT BY CANDIDATE OF DEBT TO VOTER.

For a candidate at a municipal election to employ and pay a scrutineer is not such a corrupt practice as is prohibited by s. 245 (2) of the Ontario Consolidated Municipal Act, 3 Edw. VII., c. 19, R.S.O. 1914,

c. 192, the employment of scrutineers being authorized by s. 179 (4) of the act, added by 5 Edw. II., c. 22, and as amended by 3 Geo. V., c. 43 (R.S.O. 1914, c. 192), where it does not appear that such payment was made for the purpose of influencing the scrutineer's vote. The payment to a voter by a candidate on election day of an honest debt is not such corrupt practice as is within the prohibition of the Ontario Consolidated Municipal Act, when made without any intention of influencing the former's vote.

R. ex rel. Fitzgerald v. Stapleford, 13 D. L.R. 858, 29 O.L.R. 133.

BRIBERY.

A charge of personal bribery against a candidate at an election which, if sustained, would cause the candidate's disqualification, must be established beyond a reasonable doubt and not upon a mere balancing of probabilities.

Rudy v. Shandro, 21 D.L.R. 266, 8 A.L.R. 425, 7 W.W.R. 1321, 30 W.L.R. 689, reversing 21 D.L.R. 230.

ILLEGAL ACTS—KNOWLEDGE OF.

In order to disqualify a candidate at a municipal election in respect of unauthorized illegal acts committed by his agents, he must be shown to have had knowledge of such acts.

R. ex rel. Mitchell v. McKenzie, 21 D.L.R. 438, 33 O.L.R. 196.

CORRUPT PRACTICE—GIVING LIQUOR TO VOTERS.

Having a two-gallon jug of whiskey in a stable back of a polling place, out of which an agent of a candidate treated voters after they had voted, does not amount to a drink given to any voter "on account of his being about to vote or having voted" within the meaning of s. 227 of the Election Act, R.S. S. 1909, c. 3, but is merely corrupt practice of a "trivial, unimportant and limited character" within the meaning of s. 226 (c) of the act, and not affecting the validity of the election. [Re Lennox, 1 O.E.C. 41; Somerville v. Laflamme, 2 Can. S.C.R. 216; Re West Prince, 27 Can. S.C.R. 241; Re South Oxford, 1 O.W.R. 795, applied.]

Hann v. Bashford, 26 D.L.R. 573, 9 S.L.R. 68, 33 W.L.R. 473, 9 W.W.R. 1044, reversing 8 W.W.R. 793.

DOMINION ELECTIONS—CORRUPT ACTS BY PARTISAN WITHOUT KNOWLEDGE OF CANDIDATE.

Where a candidate at a Dominion election and his recognized agents have not committed any illegality, R.S.C. 1906, c. 7, s. 56, applies. Consequently, illegal acts of a partisan, of a trivial character, and which can have no influence on the election or on the majority obtained by the candidate, cannot be charged against the latter as though committed by an agent, unless the proof of agency is direct and decisive.

Bergeron v. Fortier, 45 Que. S.C. 510.

MUNICIPAL ELECTION—IMPROPER PRACTICES—INVESTIGATION BY COUNCIL—QUO WARRANTO.

The court will not grant a rule for a quo warranto calling upon county councillors to show by what authority they exercise the office of councillors of a parish on the ground of fraudulent and improper practices in making up the voters' list and in receiving and counting the ballots where the by-laws of the county provide that such matters may be investigated and determined on petition to the council.

Ex parte Nadeau, 42 N.B.R. 473.

CORRUPT PRACTICES—AGENT OF CANDIDATE—GIVING LIQUOR TO VOTERS.

Charges of corrupt practice which if proved would result in disqualification should be dealt with in the same way as if the charges were criminal ones and proved beyond a reasonable doubt. The duly appointed agent of a candidate kept liquor in a stable at the polling place and gave drinks of it to voters after voting:—Held, such a corrupt practice as to avoid the election, and not one of a trivial, unimportant and limited character. [Rudyk v. Standro, 21 D.L.R. 266, followed.]

Rothern Election Petition, 31 W.L.R. 184, 8 W.W.R. 793. [Reversed in 9 W.W.R. 1044.]

(§ II D—76)—MUNICIPAL—DISQUALIFICATION—OFFICER.

A school board is an administrative body charged with the care of a department of municipal affairs, and a contract with a school board is a contract with or on behalf of a municipal corporation, and is a disqualification for the holding of a municipal office, under s. 80 of the Municipal Act, 3 Edw. VII. (Ont.) c. 19.

R. ex rel. Martin v. Jacques, 10 D.L.R. 761, 24 O.W.R. 457, 4 O.W.N. 1112.

OFFENCES—MUNICIPAL ELECTIONS.

It is an indictable offence in Ontario by virtue of the Cr. Code, s. 164 and the Ontario statute, 3 Edw. VII. c. 19, s. 193, for a person to fraudulently put into any ballot box any paper other than the ballot paper which he is authorized by law to put in at the taking of a poll under the Consolidated Municipal Act (Ont.).

R. v. Durocher, 9 D.L.R. 627, 28 O.L.R. 499, 4 O.W.N. 867, 24 O.W.R. 140. [Affirmed, 13 D.L.R. 243, 28 O.L.R. 499, 21 Can. Cr. Cas. 382.]

FRAUDULENT DEALINGS—CARRYING OF VOTERS—TREATING—CITIES AND TOWNS ACT—S. REP. [1909] ARTS. 5510, 5511, 5513, 5515, 5525, 5528.

In an election, a man who works actively and openly in the election, and with the knowledge, consent, and approval of the candidate, is the agent of the candidate. The hiring of carriages by an agent to carry the voters to the polling booth constitutes a fraudulent act sufficient to invalidate the election of the candidate. The fact that a candidate, on the evening of the election, after the votes were counted and his election was made known, received some voters at his home, and gave them drink and other refreshments, constitutes a fraudulent act sufficient to void his election and to make him lose his electoral franchise. The election day is computed from minute to minute, and does not only extend over the period of time during which the polling booths are open. The distribution of drinks to voters by a candidate on the day of an election constitutes a fraudulent act, even in the absence of any corrupt motive.

Lamontagne v. Tremblay, 56 Que. S.C. 393.

APPLICATION TO INVALIDATE THE ELECTION OF A SHERIFF OF THE CITY OF SOREL—SUFFICIENCY OF AFFIDAVIT, 52 VICT. c. 80, ARTS. 255, 257, 258, 260, 265, REPRODUCTION OF ARTS. 346, 349, AND 355 OF THE OLD MUNICIPAL CODE—C.P.C., ARTS. 123, 980, 988, 993, 1003, 43 AND 1006.

On an application to invalidate a municipal election the allegation "That the election and the majority of votes and voters in favour of the appellee has been obtained and caused by a general system of frauds, illegalities, and corrupt practices, by himself the said appellee personally, as well as by his followers, agents, and workers with his knowledge, and consent and he himself participating, "is sufficient to justify the reception of the said application as it demonstrates prima facie the legitimate cause for invalidating the election of the appellee according to the terms of the statute. The affidavit of the plaintiff may be based on his belief that the alleged facts are true. In such an application the ordinary procedure of the Superior Court on a prerogative writ ought to be followed as far as applicable.

Pouliot v. Robidoux, 25 Rev. de Jur. 424.

MUNICIPAL ELECTIONS.

The Nova Scotia Franchise Act (R.S.N.S., 1900, c. 4), is prima facie the list to be used (R.S.N.S., 1900, c. 71, s. 71, as amended by 1907, c. 56, s. 1) in the holding of town elections for mayor and councillors and is to be corrected by striking out therefrom "by scoring with red ink" the names of persons who are in arrears for taxes. Where on the trial of a controverted town election the Trial Judge rejected evidence which would have shown how many of the persons struck off by the clerk were delinquents with respect to the payment of their taxes, the case must go back to enable the petitioner to show that the persons whose names were so struck off were not delinquents.

Demock v. Graham, 45 N.S.R. 166, 9 E.L.R. 417.

(§ II D—77)—INTIMIDATING OF VOTERS.

The provisions of the law respecting municipal elections and elections to Parliament and the Legislature which make void an election secured by corruption, intimidation and undue influence apply to the vote on a temperance law provided for by arts. 1320 et seq. of R.S.Q. 1909. The influence exercised by a Roman Catholic curé and priests appointed by him to conduct a retreat or mission, by means of menaces from the pulpit, punishments temporal and spiritual, exclusion from the sacraments, imputations of moral sin and refusal of absolution to penitents who will not promise to vote in a certain way, which materially affects the vote at such election, is undue influence and makes the result of the voting void.

Boily v. Baie Saint Paul, 43 Que. S.C. 272.

RETURN OF ELECTION MADE BY RETURNING OFFICER—INJUNCTION—BREACH OF, BY AGENT OF DEFENDANT—CONTEMPT.

Davis v. Barlow, 20 Man. L.R. 158, 15 W.L.R. 49.

DOMINION ELECTION—RECOUNT—AFFIDAVIT SUFFICIENCY.

In an affidavit supporting an application for a recount of votes under the provisions of s. 193, of c. 6, R.S.N.B. 1906, it is not sufficient for the deponent to swear to his belief in the facts relied upon as grounds for the recount, but he must swear affirmatively and positively in relation to such facts.

Re Carleton, N.B. Election; Ex parte Smith, 10 E.L.R. 68, 141.

DOMINION ELECTIONS ACT—RECOUNT—COUNTY COURT JUDGE OUTSIDE OF ELECTORAL DISTRICT WHEN ORDER FOR RECOUNT MADE.

Re Sunbury and Queen's Election; Smith v. McLean, 10 E.L.R. 221.

IRREGULARITY OF OFFICIALS CONDUCTING ELECTIONS—ILLITERATE VOTERS—SECRECY OF THE BALLOT.

Re Brandon Election; Wallace v. Fleming, 20 Man. L.R. 765, 17 W.L.R. 207.

MUNICIPAL ELECTION—COUNTING BALLOTS—PAYMENT OF EXPENSES.

Gaudet v. Simpson, 12 Que. P.R. 333.

ELECTION OF COUNCILLOR—IRREGULARITY.

Prevost v. Paton, 40 Que. S.C. 146.

ELECTION OF MAYOR—CITIES AND TOWNS ACT.

Quelette v. Cantin, 40 Que. S.C. 92.

DOMINION ELECTION—LOAN—KNOWLEDGE OF PURPOSE TO WHICH MONEY TO BE APPLIED.

Cashon v. Kaulbach, 8 E.L.R. 411.

III. Nominations.

Qualification of candidates, see Officers.

(§ 111—80) — NOMINATION PAPER—SUFFICIENCY.

A nomination paper which fails to indicate the ward for which a municipal councillor has been nominated is defective, and may be rejected by the returning officer. Nonresidence of the candidate either in the ward or municipality is not a disqualification. Residence of the candidate in the ward is the sole requirement under s. 52 (e) of the Municipal Act (R.S.M. 1913, c. 133); but under s. 16 of the statutes of 1913, c. 20, this restriction may be avoided by the candidate, no so resident, agreeing to serve if elected. The omission of s. 16 from the revision of the Municipal Act did not thereby repeal it.

Smart v. Sprague, 35 D.L.R. 657, [1917] 1 W.W.R. 1537. [Affirmed, 37 D.L.R. 895, 27 Man. L.R. 566.]

DISQUALIFICATION—TAXES.

One who owes for school or municipal taxes at the time of his election as a municipal councillor is thereby incapacitated (in Quebec) from holding that office, and the council may thereupon proceed to have the office declared vacant, and to fill the vacancy accordingly.

St. Lazare v. Bilodeau, 35 D.L.R. 730, 26 Que. K.B. 129.

ELIGIBILITY OF CANDIDATES.

The president of a municipal election has a discretion to exercise in the nomination of the candidates. Before putting a candidate in nomination conformably with art. 309, Mun. Code, the president should assure himself of the eligibility of the person proposed, and if he considers him not qualified to be nominated he should show him a process-verbal of the reasons justifying him for his refusal to do so.

Messier v. Lefebvre, 47 Que. S.C. 354.

PROPERTY QUALIFICATION BEFORE NOMINATION—VALUATION.

No provision of the law states that a candidate in a municipal election should, for the 12 months preceding his nomination, possess as owner the same real property; he may be qualified by several properties, provided that during this period he had never ceased to own property of the value required by law. To establish the value of the properties upon which a candidate for municipal office may qualify, recourse should be had to the municipal valuation roll in force at the date of nomination. The fact that the candidate elected did not, in the declaration sent to the returning officer, mention the property on which he qualified will not annul his election when no other objection is taken to his nomination.

Birchall v. Deary, 48 Que. S.C. 418.

PREMATURETY—FAILURE TO QUALIFY.

When a municipal councillor has been required to furnish a declaration of electoral qualification, as provided by art. 283, the council cannot, before the expiration of the period of eight days which the law gives him for doing so, declare his seat vacant and proceed to appoint a successor. A resolution adopted in these circumstances for the purpose of filling the vacancy is premature and of no effect. Every ratepayer, in his capacity as a municipal elector, has the right to institute an action for the purpose of having the nullity of such a resolution declared.

Bilodeau v. St. Lazare de Goupil, 50 Que. S.C. 37. [Reversed, 35 D.L.R. 730, 26 Que. K.B. 129.]

NOMINATION PAPERS — SUFFICIENCY — RETURN — NOTICE OF CONTEST — SERVICE.

Controverted Elections Act, R.S.C. 1906, c. 7, as amended by 5 Geo. V., 1915, c. 13, does not provide for any preliminary hearing at law in the contestation of an election; it must be heard at the same time with the petition. The word "candidate" in s. 5 of Act 1915, means any person whose candidature has been brought forth by the electors; it is not necessary that the nomination paper should have been accepted by the returning officer. Fraud and undue influence practised on a returning officer cannot be admitted in evidence as to his refusal of accepting a nomination paper. Omitting the words "I give as my address for the service of writs and documents, etc." lacks an essential formality and is null, and the returning officer can reject it even after acceptance. When a returning officer rejects the nomination paper because of informality and declares the opponent elected, there is no acquiescence in that decision if subsequently the candidate withdraws his deposit money. Notice of a petition to contest a federal election can be effected by sending a copy by registered mail to the address given for service on the defendant, and such service dates from the deposit of that copy at the post office. A motion for particulars filed in the prothonotary's office, which has not been presented within five days' delay, as required by law, must be rejected.

Marsil v. Patenaude, 49 Que. S.C. 359.

MUNICIPAL QUALIFICATION — LANDOWNER. For the purpose of a municipal election the valuation roll constitutes a positive proof of the value of the real estate which is indicated on the roll, but it does not prove the ownership. The qualification as owner required of candidates for municipal office should be real and not fictitious or simulated. In setting aside an election for mayor or councillor on legal grounds the court should only declare another candidate elected if the evidence shewed that the latter had really received the majority of legal votes cast.

Lapointe v. Cauchon, 52 Que. S.C. 393.

NOMINATION OF CANDIDATE FOR HOUSE OF COMMONS — SUFFICIENCY — DOMINION ELECTIONS ACT, s. 40 — NOMINATION PAPER SIGNED OUTSIDE ELECTORAL DISTRICT — ABSENCE OF ADDITIONS OF NOMINATIONS — ERROR IN PLACE AND DATE OF SIGNING — "AFFIRMING TO" BEFORE JUSTICE OF THE PEACE, ETC. — MEANING OF — WHETHER EVIDENCE OF, MUST BE GIVEN TO RETURNING OFFICER — PETITION TO UNSEAT — DOMINION CONTROVERTED ELECTIONS ACT, s. 12 —

NO CANDIDATE DECLARED ELECTED WITHIN 40 DAYS AFTER POLLING — EFFECT OF IMPOSSIBILITY OF COMPLYING WITH ACT — RIGHT TO RAISE QUESTION AT TRIAL — EFFECT OF AMENDMENTS BY C. 13, 1915, AND OF THE MILITARY VOTERS ACT, c. 34, 1917 (DOM.).

It is not necessary that the signers of the nomination paper of a candidate for election to the House of Commons should sign it within the electoral district in which he is a candidate; and the nomination paper is not defective merely because the additions of the nominators are not given, or because of a clerical error in stating the place and date of signing. In s. 40 of the Dominion Elections Act, R.S.C., 1906, c. 6, which provides that in Alberta any four or more electors "may nominate a candidate by affirming to and signing, before a justice of the peace . . . a nomination paper in form H."

The meaning of "affirming" is a verbal corroboration of, or acquiescence in, the act of nomination evidenced by the writing. So long as the paper is so affirmed to and signed in the presence of one of the officials named in the section, the requirements in such respects are complied with, and when a nomination paper which has in fact been affirmed to and signed as required by the act and is in other respects regular has been accepted and acted upon by the returning officer, the nomination should not be declared null and void merely because no evidence of the facts of the affirming and signing before the prescribed official appears upon or accompanies the nomination paper. A returning officer is wrong in receiving a nomination paper which shows on its face that it was affirmed and signed before a barrister who is not shown to be a justice of the peace, magistrate or the returning officer. [Two Mountains Dominion Election; Fautoux v. Ethier, 7 D.L.R. 126, 47 Can. S.C.R. 185, followed.]

A petition under the Dominion Controverted Elections Act, R.S.C. 1906, c. 7, to unseat a candidate must be filed within 40 days after polling day, but the court has no jurisdiction to entertain it if at the date of filing no candidate has been declared elected. The result is that if such declaration is not made until after the 40 days, no petition can be effective. [Yukon Election Case; Grant v. Thompson, 37 Can. S.C.R. 495, followed.] The amendments made to the Dominion Controverted Elections Act by c. 13, 1915, and the enactment of the Military Voters Act, 1917, c. 34, do not affect the law in this respect. Under the new ss. 19 and 19 (a), enacted by c. 13, 1915, such questions as to the jurisdiction of the court may be properly raised at the trial of the issues (per Simmons, J.).

Re Bow River Election, Gouge v. Holliday, 14 A.L.R. 296, [1919] 1 W.W.R. 359.

NOMINATIONS — POLITICAL COMMITTEES.

The appointment of election president by resolution of a municipal council (art.

296, Mun. Code) is not essential to the validity of the election. A unanimous appointment by a meeting of electors is valid. The gratuitous holder of a municipal office becomes, on resigning it, eligible for election as councillor whether his resignation has or has not been accepted. The mere presence of electors at the polling booth at 4 p. m. of the first day of polling is not a reason for postponing it to the following day if they have had time to vote but shewed no intention of doing so. The closing of the poll in such case at 4 p. m. is legal.

Daoust v. Valois, 42 Que. S.C. 318.

DISQUALIFICATIONS—INTEREST IN MUNICIPAL CONTRACTS.

Section 22, subs. (1), of the Edmonton Charter, having reference to persons interested in a contract with the city, is limited in its operation to qualifications or disqualifications for election. The contract between the city of Edmonton and the Edmonton Industrial Association Drilling Co. is not a contract relating to municipal works or undertakings so as to fall within s. 429. [R. v. McNamara, 7 W.W.R. 324, distinguished.]

R. ex rel. La Fleche v. Sheppard, 8 W. W. R. 593.

(§ III—82)—NOMINATIONS—REGULARITY—“NOT LESS THAN SIXTEEN DAYS” MEANS “CLEAR DAYS,” WHEN.

Under s. 105 of the Alberta Election Act (Alta., 1909, c. 3), providing that the Lieutenant-Governor-in-Council may appoint a day not more than 29 nor less than 16 days from the date of the writs of election for the nomination of candidates, the 16 days referred to mean “clear days,” in the computing of which the dates of the writs and the nomination must both be excluded. [McQueen v. Jackson, 72 L.J.K. 696, applied.]

Redman v. Buchanan, 11 D.L.R. 389, 7 A.L.R. 35, 4 W.W.R. 85.

STATUTORY PERIOD FOR NOMINATION—NON-COMPLIANCE.

When the definite statutory hour for nomination of municipal councillors is departed from deliberately and intentionally, the election cannot be said to have been conducted in accordance with the Municipal Act, R.S.O. 1914, c. 192, so as to make applicable the curative provisions of s. 150.

R. ex rel. Yates v. Lawrence, 22 D.L.R. 599, 7 O.W.N. 819.

(§ III—83)—NOMINATION BY PETITION.

Papers proposing the nomination of a candidate for election as a member of the House of Commons, under the Dominion Elections Act, which do not mention the residence and addition or description of the candidate proposed in such a manner as sufficiently to identify him do not constitute a nomination in the form that is specified as essential by s. 94 of the Act. This being, in the present case, a patent and substantial defect, it became the duty of the returning officer to give effect to the objection, taken by an opposing candidate and to reject such proposed nomination on the ground that the essential requirements of the statute had not been complied with, and such rejection could properly be made after the expiration of the time limited for the nomination of candidates by s. 100 of the Act. Technical or formal objections to nomination papers filed with the returning officer under the provisions of the Dominion Elections Act, R.S.C. 1906, should not be permitted to defeat the manifest purpose and intention of the statute.

Two Mountains Dominion Election, Fanteaux v. Ethier, 7 D.L.R. 126, 47 Can. S.C. R. 185, 12 E.L.R. 129, affirming 42 Que. S.C. 235.

REJECTION OF PETITION.

The returning officer at an election for aldermen held under the Cities and Towns Act, R.S.Q. 1909, arts. 5256 et seq., cannot reject the nomination of a candidate on the ground that he has not the qualification of landowner required by art. 5364. He can only use this power when the nomination is not in the form required by arts. 5422 to 5428 and in such case he should inscribe the word “rejected” on the back of the nomination paper with the reasons therefor in order that another nomination can be presented before expiration of the delay therefor.

Labadie v. Rimquet, 43 Que. S.C. 374.

PUBLIC SCHOOLS—ELECTION OF TRUSTEES—NEGLECT TO FILE DECLARATIONS OF QUALIFICATION—ELECTION SET ASIDE ON SUMMARY APPLICATION UNDER S. 64 OF THE PUBLIC SCHOOLS ACT—S. 61 (4) OF ACT—S. 69 (4) AND (6) OF THE MUNICIPAL ACT.

Re Barrie Board of Education, 15 O.W.N. 439.

IV. Contests.

(§ IV—90)—RULES—PRACTICE.

The Controverted Elections Act, Man., has the effect of repealing the rules passed under the former act and substituting the English election petition rules as in force in England on May 26, 1874, until new rules shall be promulgated under the Manitoba Act.

Re Lakeside Provincial Election; Tidbury v. Garland, 23 D.L.R. 411, 25 Man. L.R. 197, 8 W.W.R. 33, affirming 20 D.L.R. 286.

Under the Alberta Election Act, 1909, c. 3, the clerk of the executive council is the proper custodian of the voters' lists for the various divisions, and a document produced from his custody, and purporting to be a voters' list will be deemed to be such list until the contrary is shown. Under s. 3 of the Controverted Elections Act (Alta. 1907, c. 2) providing for the bringing of a petition to set aside an election by “any duly qualified elector of the electoral district in which the election was held," the fact that the evidence of the qualification of the petitioner offered before the court was directed to his qualification existing at the time of the election instead of the date of the filing of the petition, is no objection, since there is nothing in the section which directly specifies the exact time at which the qualification of the petitioning elector must exist and it is therefore open to the court to put such an interpretation upon the section as is most consonant with the spirit and general intention of the act. Under s. 5 of the Controverted Elections Act providing that the person bringing a petition to set aside an election shall at the time of filing such petition deposit with the clerk the sum of $500, a deposit of the money by his solicitor is sufficient. On an application to set aside a petition against the applicant's election on preliminary objections, where one of the grounds of the objections provided by the Controverted Elections Act, s. 10, is that the petitioner was guilty of corrupt practices under the act, there is a presumption of innocence in favour of the petitioner. Under s. 103 of the Elections Act Alta. providing that "every voter shall be entitled to vote whose name is on the voters' list and has not been erased therefrom in accordance with the foregoing provisions of ss. 88 to 104, both inclusive, of this act," when once it is established that a person's name is on the list and has not been erased therefrom, his qualification to vote is at least prima facie established and the burden of proof is on the person contending that he is not duly qualified to establish that contention. On an application under s. 10, of the Controverted Elections Act, to set aside a petition against the applicant's election, on preliminary objections, the burden of proving the disqualification of the petitioner is upon the applicant. There is a presumption of sanity in the petitioner's favour, on an application to set aside a petition against the applicant's election on preliminary objections, where one of the grounds of objection provided by s. 10 of the Controverted Elections Act, is that the petitioner is an inmate of an insane asylum, and the petitioner is not called upon to prove that he was not suffering from such a disability.

Carstairs v. Cross; Re Edmonton Election (No. 3), 8 D.L.R. 469, 22 W.L.R. 797, 3 W.W.R. 566, affirming 7 D.L.R. 192, 5 A.L.R. 268, 2 W.W.R. 1057.

While the petitioner is to bear the costs of the publication by the returning officer in a newspaper notice of the election petition, neither the Dominion Controverted Elections Act nor the rules of court thereunder in force in Manitoba, make prepayment by the petitioner a preliminary to the insertion of the notice by the returning officer and the officer's neglect or delay should not prejudice the petitioner, particularly where the nonpayment of the money was not the cause of the delay. It is not an objection to an election petition that notice of the petition was not forthwith published as required by s. 16 of the Dominion Controverted Elections Act. The power given to the court under s. 87 of the Controverted Elections Act, to extend the period limited for proceedings "on the application of any of the parties to a petition" applies only to interlocutory proceedings after a petition has been regularly filed upon which the court has acquired jurisdiction and before the petition itself has lapsed. [Re Gleggarty Election, 14 Can. S.C.R. 453, and the Assiniboia Election Case, Davies v. McDougall, 27 Can. S.C.R. 215, distinguished; Re Bothwell Election, 9 P.R. (Ont.) 485, followed.] Where an election petition under the Dominion Controverted Elections Act is presented by two petitioners and each makes an affidavit of belief in the charges laid, in the form required by the statute, the petition which would have been valid with one petitioner only will not be set aside on the ground that one of the petitioners on cross-examination admitted that he knew nothing of several of the charges, or that while he had information as to certain charges, his knowledge and understanding of the contents of the petition generally were very defective. [Lunenburg Election Case, 27 Can. S.C.R. 226, applied.]

Re Provencher Election (No. 2); Barkwill v. Molloy, 1 D.L.R. 265, 22 Man. L.R. 16, 20 W.L.R. 11, 1 W.W.R. 768.

GROUND—ILLEGAL VOTES—ABSENCE OF RECOUNT—IMPROPERLY MARKED BALLOTS—FAILURE OF ELECTION OFFICERS TO TAKE OATH—ALLEGIANCE OF RETURNING OFFICER—ELECTORS VOTING TWICE—IMPROPER INTERPRETATION OF ELECTION LAWS—INTIMIDATING ELECTORS—IMPROPER USE OF MONEY—AGENCY—ABANDONMENT—ATTACKING WHOLE ELECTION.

In the absence of a recount, the fact that a large number of illegal votes were polled for a candidate is not ground for setting aside his election under the Yukon Election Ordinances. In the absence of a recount, the fact that a large number of improperly marked ballots were counted for a successful candidate is not sufficient ground for setting aside the election under the said Ordinances. The failure of election officers to take the oath of office required by law is not ground for setting aside an election under the said Ordinances. That the returning officer of an election was not a British subject is not ground for setting aside an election under the said Ordinances. The fact that a large number of electors voted twice, is not sufficient to justify setting aside an election under the said Ordinances. Improper interpretation of election laws by local authorities so as permit a large number of unqualified electors to cast ballots, is not sufficient reason for setting aside an election under the said Ordinances. An allegation that a person illegally, wilfully and deliberately endeavoured to intimidate electors, but not charging that he acted as agent for the candidate whose election was disputed, or that he threatened to employ force, violence or restraint in order to induce or compel any person to vote or refrain from voting at the election, or that any person was influenced or intimidated by him, is not sufficient to justify setting aside the election, under the said Ordinances. An allegation that supporters of a successful candidate paid the wages as well as the expenses of many voters in coming to the polls, does not, in the absence of an allegation that such supporters were "agents" for the candidate, and acted contrary to the law, shew sufficient ground for setting aside the election. Where the petitioner in a controverted election has, by his petition, claimed the seat for the opposing candidate, although no recount had been made on the latter's behalf upon which such claim could be made effective, the petitioner thereby adopts and ratifies what was done at the election so far as he was personally concerned, and, having thus elected, cannot abandon such claim of the seat for the unsuccessful candidate in order to attack the validity of the whole election proceedings.

Re South Dawson Election; Grant v. Mellemann, 12 D.L.R. 464, 24 W.L.R. 497.

On an application by the respondent to set aside a petition against his election as a member of the House of Commons, on preliminary objections, it is not improper to dispose of a demurrer to part of the petition. [Re Lisgar Election Petition, 16 Man. L.R. 249, followed.] Under the Controverted Elections Act, s. 18, c. 7, R.S.C. 1906, the service by the petitioner of a duplicate original of the petition against a person's election as a member of the House of Commons is not necessary, but the statute is sufficiently complied with by the service of a copy. A copy of the affidavit prescribed by s. 6 of the Act, need not be served by the petitioner on the respondent in order to maintain a petition against the respondent's election as a member of the House of Commons. Apart from statute, freedom of election is at common law essential to the validity of an election, irrespective of any question of the connection of the candidate whose election is sought to be set aside with the intimidation complained of. The fact that the given name of one of the petitioners was transposed in the printed voters' list, is not a valid objection, on an application to set aside on preliminary objections a petition against the applicant's election as a member of the House of Commons, where there appears to be no doubt as to the identity of the petitioner, who appeared and gave evidence, with the person intended to be named in the voters' list. A petition to set aside an election of a member of the House of Commons is not invalidated by the fact that the affidavit verifying the petition and which is required to be filed therewith was sworn four days before the date of filing the petition.

Re MacDonald Election; Myles v. Morrison, 8 D.L.R. 793, 23 Man. L.R. 542, 22 W.L.R. 755, 3 W.W.R. 597.

PETITION — SUBSTITUTIONAL SERVICE — GROUNDS FOR—PENDING PERIOD FIXED FOR PERSONAL SERVICE.

An order for substitutional service of an election petition under the Manitoba Controverted Election Act, s. 23, may in a proper case be made before the expiry of the time granted by the judge for personal service within Manitoba. [McLeod v. Gibson, 35 N.B.R. 376, applied.]

Re Kildonan and St. Andrews Election; Gunn v. Montague, 19 D.L.R. 796, 24 Can. Cr. Cas. 114, 25 Man. L.R. 114, 30 W.L.R. 594, 7 W.W.R. 1049, affirming 19 D.L.R. 478.

CONTROVERTED ELECTIONS ACT—SERVICE OF PETITION OF PAGE FROM COPY—EFFECT.

Where service was made on the respondent in a controverted election proceeding of what purported to be a copy of the petition, but from which copy was omitted an entire page of the original, and the omitted parts were of a substantial character and not merely formal, there is a non-compliance with the statutory provision for service contained in the Controverted Elections Act, 7 Edw. VII. (Alta.) c. 2, as to which the court has no power to permit an amendment but must set aside the petition on a preliminary objection raising the defect in service.

Re St. Paul Election, 13 D.L.R. 639, 25 W.L.R. 377, 5 W.W.R. 89.

Where, at the time of his nomination and election as mayor of Sherbrooke, a candidate for said office had the property qualification required by the charter of said city, but a day or two subsequent to his election encumbered his property to such an extent as to bring it below the amount required as a qualification to take or hold said office, his right or title to said office cannot be attacked in a proceeding to set aside his election on a petition by one elector alleging lack of property qualification at the times mentioned.

Demers v. Helbert, 8 D.L.R. 632, 42 Que. S.C. 314.

PROCEEDINGS TO UNSEAT ALDERMAN FOR DISQUALIFICATIONS—TIME.

R. ex rel. Stephenson v. Hunt, 30 D.L.R. 513, 36 O.L.R. 385.

PETITIONING VOTERS—QUALIFICATIONS OF.

The status of the petitioners as voters qualified to vote and so to bring a petition under the Controverted Elections Act, Man., may be shown by the list of voters for the election as revised by the revising officer, and identified by him and the clerk of the executive council; and it is not essential that such proof should be supplemented by proving that the petitioners' names were also on the list furnished to the deputy returning officer, and used at the poll. [Richelieu Election Case, 21 Can. S.C.R. 168, distinguished.] The revised list of vote

at
to to d und not that Brit age revi
on B lary
E. I
286
PETI
A stitu and howe is in er orde
to
B
Com
L.R.
CON
O
of 4 by shou and 168;
ber
to v pers ent, depe unde
the with per Wes
guis
8
28 V
ELEC

voters is conclusive as to the right to vote at a Manitoba provincial election subject to the voter taking the oath if called upon to do so; consequently an election petition under the Controverted Elections Act, will not be set aside on a preliminary objection that the petitioners were not proved to be British subjects and twenty-one years of age where their names appeared on such revised list and no other evidence was given on that question.

Re Lakeside Provincial Election; Tisbury v. Garland, 23 D.L.R. 411, 25 Man. L.R. 197, 8 W.W.R. 33, affirming 20 D.L.R. 286.

PETITION—SUBSTITUTIONAL SERVICE—MOTION TO SET ASIDE—GROUNDS FOR.

A motion to set aside an order for substitutional service of an election petition and the service thereunder cannot be allowed where based on an objection which is in the nature of an appeal from the former order, as where it was contended that the order was invalid for insufficient reference to identify the election in question.

Re Kildonan and St. Andrews Election; Gann v. Montague, 19 D.L.R. 478, 29 W.L.R. 625, 7 W.W.R. 347.

CONTENTIONS—BALLOT—RIGHT TO INVADE SECRECY OF—ONUS OF CONTENTION.

On the hearing of a petition, under s. 192 of the Municipal Act, R.S.M. 1913, c. 133, questioning the election of the respondent on the ground that he was not duly elected by a majority of lawful votes, evidence should not be admitted to show for which candidate any voter had cast his ballot: s. 168; and, although it is shown that a number of persons had voted who had no right to vote, it could not be assumed that these persons' votes had all been for the respondent, and, when the case for the petitioner depends on such assumption, it fails, and under s. 222 of the Act, the judge trying the petition will be right in dismissing it with costs. [Re Lincoln, 4 A.R. (Ont.) 206, per Moss, C.J.A., at p. 212, followed; Re West Lorne, 47 Can. S.C.R. 451, distinguished.]

Smith v. Baskerville, 24 Man. L.R. 349, 28 W.L.R. 484, 6 W.W.R. 1974.

ELECTION PETITION—PETITIONER'S DEPOSIT FOR COSTS—DEPUTY PROTHONOTARY—INTERPRETATION ACT—PUBLICATION UNDER MANITOBA ELECTIONS ACT.

That the petitioner's deposit for costs of an election petition under the Controverted Elections Act (Man.) s. 19, was made with the deputy prothonotary of the King's Bench, although the Act requires that the deposit be made with the prothonotary, is not a valid preliminary objection, for the deputy is included by virtue of the Interpretation Act, Man., s. 15.

Publication in the Manitoba Gazette and in a local paper of notice of the presentation of an election petition under the Manitoba Controverted Elections Act is no longer necessary as it was prior to 1914.

Can. Dig.—56.

Re Lakeside Provincial Election; Tisbury v. Garland, 20 D.L.R. 286, 29 W.L.R. 628, 7 W.W.R. 340. [Affirmed, 23 D.L.R. 411, 25 Man. L.R. 197.]

MUNICIPAL COUNCIL—BY-LAWS REGULATING ELECTIONS—PROTEST.

A by-law of a municipality respecting elections provided that an elector might file a protest against the election of a councillor with the county secretary within twenty days after the election; that the protest so filed should be read before the council on the first day of the first session after the election, and in case a majority of the council considered there was sufficient ground of complaint it should appoint a committee of three members to examine into the matter and report to the council. The by-law also provided that the council might adjourn the investigation from time to time:—Held, where a protest was filed and read before the council, and a committee appointed as provided by the by-law, and the council adjourned without receiving a report from the committee or adjourning the investigation, the court refused a rule for a writ to prohibit the council from proceeding to hear and determine the protest at a special meeting called for that purpose. Ex parte Murchie, Re Kerr, 42 N.B.R. 475.

DOMINION CONTROVERTED ELECTION—SUMMARY PROCEEDINGS—PETITIONER A BRITISH SUBJECT—PROOF OF CANDIDATURE—NOTICES.

The Dominion Controverted Elections Act intends that preliminary objections shall be decided in a summary manner; therefore an inscription in law cannot be made which will delay the proceedings. Legal grounds ought to be raised orally during the hearing of the objections. The fact that a petitioner is not a British subject can only be raised in the election petition itself, and ought to be decided at the same time as the merits. The petitioner proves that he has been a candidate by the production of the nomination paper, the writ of election, the return of the writ, and the proclamation in the Official Gazette. A defendant is not prejudiced by the fact that the notices of presentation of the petition and of furnishing security are duplicates instead of being copies.

Morris v. Fisher, 15 Que. P.R. 373.

REMEDIES OF CONTENTATION AND QUO WARRANTO—JURISDICTION OF COURTS.

The remedies of contentation and quo warranto are not exclusive the one of the other; but contentation proceedings must be brought within a fixed delay before the circuit or district magistrate's court, whereas quo warranto is of the jurisdiction of the Superior Court.

Desaulniers v. Desaulniers, 9 D.L.R. 201, 22 Que. K.B. 71, 19 Rev. de Jur. 352.

CONTROVERTED MUNICIPAL ELECTION—QUALIFICATION OF CANDIDATE.

In a controverted municipal election in which the contesting party asks to be declared the candidate elected, the court generally refuses to grant this application if such candidate has obtained only the minority of the votes and if the contestation is based upon the absence of qualification in the candidate elected, and when the objection is not taken at the time of nomination, but it has the power to do so.

Birchall v. Decary, 48 Que. S.C. 418.

MUNICIPAL ELECTION OF CONTROLLER—INTERVENTION TO CONTINUE CONTEST.

An elector has no right to intervene in the contestation of the election of a controller of the city of Montreal merely to watch the proceedings and continue them in case the petitioners should abandon them. Charpentier v. Hébert, 48 Que. S.C. 13.

MUNICIPAL ELECTION—CORRUPTION—JUDGMENT VOIDING ELECTION—APPEAL—NONSUIT—PUBLIC NOTICE.

Contestations of municipal elections are proceedings of public order, in which any elector has the right to intervene in order to continue them, when the applicant threatens to abandon by collusion. When a municipal election for mayor or councillor has been voided on account of violence and corruption, and that upon an appeal to the Court of Review, the applicant discontinues the judgment rendered, the court should, for reasons of public order, refuse to have such discontinuance noted in the record, unless public notice is given in the municipality concerned, and the parties file a sworn declaration that the arrangement is not collusive.

Naud v. Ferron, 53 Que. S.C. 1.

MUNICIPAL LAW—PROHIBITION—BALLOTING—FORMALITIES R.S. QUE. [1909], (CITIES AND TOWNS), ARTS. 5372, 5524, DO. (TEMPERANCE), ART. 1321, s. 9a—6 GEO. V., c. 13.

In an election for the repeal of a prohibition by-law, the following words written on the ballot, "for the by-law revoking the by-law of prohibition," and "against the by-law revoking the by-law of prohibition," conform to the law and cannot cause the electors to make a mistake. Secret balloting is violated when, some days after the voting, the mayor of the municipality, accused of having used his influence to obtain votes, replies, "the only three persons, whom I could have influenced, I mean my sister-in-law, M.C., and M.G., have voted against me." It is not art. 5362 of the Cities and Towns Act which applies to the voting for the adoption of a by-law repealing a prohibition by-law, but art. 1321, s. 9a of the Temperance Act of Quebec. (6 Geo. V., c. 13.) The legality of a resolution of a municipal council striking out or adding names to the assessment roll cannot be attacked in an action to set aside the approval of the municipal electors of a by-law repealing a prohibition by-law. It should be done by direct procedure within the times limited and with formalities required by law. In secret balloting, art. 5524 of the Cities and Towns Act has no application, since it is not a question of electing a candidate, but of a vote upon a principle. A person can legally vote under the name of "Mrs. A. T. widow" while her husband is still living, if she is thus described on the voters list of the municipality.

Pelland v. Joliette et al., 25 Rev. Leg. 316. Rule of Practice No. 59, relating to controverted elections for the House of Commons, which declares that no proceeding shall be rejected for defects of form, applies to every technical and formal defect which can be remedied by the judge without prejudice to the opposite party.

Morgan v. Cardin, 13 Que. P.R. 208.

MUNICIPAL—DISQUALIFICATION OF COUNCILLOR—LIABILITY FOR ABBEARS OF TAXES—MUNICIPAL ACT, R.S.O. 1914, c. 192, s. 53 (1) (s.), 242 (1), and FORM 2—DECLARATION OF QUALIFICATION—ISSUE OF WARRANT FOR NEW ELECTION—MOTION FOR INJUNCTION.

Kennedy v. Dickson, 7 O.W.N. 769.

DISQUALIFYING CANDIDATE—FORM OF REMEDY—QUO WARRANTO OR PETITION.

Where six aldermen were to be elected, and it is alleged that eight were nominated, and that the returning officer publicly declared the names of the candidates and the place and time for a poll, but on the following day issued a notice purporting to disqualify two of the candidates and declaring the other six elected by acclamation, the remedy of quo warranto is open notwithstanding s. 92 of the Municipal Act, c. 71, R.S.B.C. 1911. Subsection (f) of s. 92, which states that "no writ of quo warranto shall hereafter issue in respect of any municipal election after the expiration of thirty days from the declaration by the returning officer of the candidates elected," means that no proceedings by way of quo warranto shall be instituted after the expiration of such time.

R. ex rel. McFarlane v. Balmert, 8 W.W.R. 111.

(§ IV—91)—ELECTION FRAUD OR CRIME AS GROUND.

Where objection, supported by affidavits, is made to a petition to submit a municipal by-law that some of the signers' names were procured by fraud, such names will be disregarded by the court hearing a mandamus application in which the regularity of the proceedings is questioned, when it finds such charge established, but there should be corroborating evidence besides that in the affidavits, especially when such affidavits are not made by the voters affected by the charge.

R. ex rel. Sovereign v. Edwards, 8 D.L.R. 450, 22 Man. L.R. 790, 22 W.L.R. 723, 3 W.V.R. 581.

A returning officer, whose conduct is complained of and who is made a party to an election petition is to be deemed for most purposes of the Dominion Controverted

Election Act, a respondent and the petitioners who have deposited the statutory sum ($1,000) as security have sufficiently complied with the statute, such deposit standing as security for the payment of the costs of both the member whose election is protested and the returning officer whose official action is attacked.

Re Provencher Election (No. 2); Barkwill v. Molloy, 1 D.L.R. 265, 22 Man. L.R. 16, 20 W.L.R. 11, 1 W.W.R. 768.

OWING TAXES BY ELECT—CORRUPT PRACTICE.

To invalidate a municipal election on the ground that the alderman elect owed municipal taxes at the time of his election, it is necessary that the taxes should be owed personally and not on account of a hypothec, as would be the case of the possessor of an immovable charged with the payment of taxes that the vendor had not paid. Proceedings to set aside a municipal election for corruption and undue influence should be taken within the delay of 30 days; but if the proceedings are based upon the want of qualification in the elected party there is remedy by quo warranto within such delay. The want of qualification must always exist at the time of the summons. The terms "whoever has not paid all his municipal taxes" in art. 5363, R.S.Q. 1909, mean whoever is in default after his taxes have become exigible; but this default can only exist after the expiration of 20 days from the date of the notice provided for in art. 5749.

Barrette v. Gareau, 49 Que. S.C. 173.

(§ IV—91a)—JURISDICTION—ORDER WITHOUT—CLERK'S DUTY UNDER ACT—SCRUTINY.

In election recount proceedings, the order of a District Court Judge basing a subpoena duces tecum assuming to require the clerk of the Executive Council to produce for inspection upon a recount, certain election ballot papers without the order of a Supreme Court Judge provided for by s. 239 of the Alberta Election Act (1909, c. 3), being without jurisdiction and null and void; both the order so made and any subpoena issued thereunder may and should be disregarded by the clerk of the Executive Council. The official obligation of the clerk of the Executive Council as specifically prescribed by 239 of the Act, not to permit the inspection of any ballot paper in his custody except under an order of a Judge of the Supreme Court, constrains such clerk to disregard any order in contravention thereof which may be issued by a District Court Judge in an election recount proceeding, requiring such clerk to produce such papers for inspection, and there can be no contempt in such disregard.

Re Clearwater Election, 14 D.L.R. 32, 6 A.L.R. 431, 25 W.L.R. 589, 5 W.W.R. 181. [See also 11 D.L.R. 353 and 12 D.L.R. 598.]

JURISDICTION—ORDER WITHOUT—PURPOSE OF ORDER, DETERMINING FACTOR WHEN.

In an election recount proceeding, where an order is issued by a District Court Judge in direct contravention of s. 239, of the Alberta Election Act (1909, c. 3), requiring the clerk of the Executive Council to attend under a subpoena duces tecum before the District Court Judge with certain election ballot papers and accompanying immaterial documents, the fact that the immaterial documents might legally have been covered by an order of a District Court Judge will not serve to validate the order as made.

Re Clearwater Election, 14 D.L.R. 32, 25 W.L.R. 589, 6 A.L.R. 431, 5 W.W.R. 181.

JURISDICTION—DEPOSIT FOR COSTS—ADVANCED BY ANOTHER THAN THE PETITIONER—COPY OF PETITION MINUS ONE PAGE—EFFECT.

That the deposit for costs on an election petition under the Controverted Elections Act, Alta., 1907, s. 5, was not the petitioner's own money, but was supplied by another person for the purposes of the petition, does not constitute a valid preliminary objection. The mere change of name of the electoral district in which a petitioner resides on the creation of a new electoral district, including his place of residence, does not deprive the petitioner of his status as such in the new district although by reason of the election being held within 3 months after the creation of the new district the three months' prior residence necessary under s. 104 of the Elections Act (Alta.), 1909, c. 3, to qualify as an elector is made up partly of time in which the territory was part of the former district. It is a good preliminary objection to an election petition under the Controverted Elections Act, Alta., 1907, c. 2, to show that the "copy of petition" served was defective because of an entire page having been omitted from the alleged copy; the defect is not curable under s. 18 of the Act, which makes the Judicature Ordinance applicable in certain contingencies, and an amendment is not permissible; but, semble, the petitioner might have applied under s. 7 of the act for an extension of time within which to make a fresh service.

Tessier v. Lessard, 20 D.L.R. 243, 7 A.L.R. 405, 29 W.L.R. 646, 7 W.W.R. 251.

QUO WARRANTO—RELATOR, QUALIFICATION OF.

A person guilty of bribery at a municipal election is not thereby disqualified from acting as a relator upon quo warranto proceedings to have a seat in the council declared vacant.

R. ex rel. Salouirin v. Berthiaume, 11 D.L.R. 68, 24 O.W.R. 559.

JURISDICTION.

In order to establish the status of the petitioner on a preliminary objection to set aside a petition against a person's election as a member of the House of Commons, it is not necessary to produce a certified copy of the voters' list actually used at the polls in the polling subdivision in which the petitioner was entitled to vote, as was the former practice, but all that is now required under the Dominion Elections Act, ss. 14, 18 of c. 6, R.S.C. 1906, is the production of a copy of the original list of voters with the imprint of the King's printer. An election, held under such circumstances that, owing to threats, undue influence and menaces, the canvassers and workers on one side are effectually excluded from taking part in the election, while, at the same time, the electoral district is overrun with workers, agents and orators of the other side, is not free and fair, and is void at common law if such threats and undue influence can be reasonably held to have affected the result.

Re MacDonald Election; Myles v. Morrison, 8 D.L.R. 793, 23 Man. L.R. 542, 22 W.L.R. 755, 3 W.W.R. 597. [See 15 D.L.R. 151, 23 Man. L.R. 542 at 549.]

MUNICIPAL DISTRICTS ACT (ALTA.)—DISQUALIFICATION OF MEMBER OF COUNCIL.—POWER OF DISTRICT COURT—MAY DECLARE MEMBER OUSTED OF HIS SEAT—CANNOT DECLARE RELATOR ELECTED.

Section 78a of the Municipal Districts Act (see amendment 1918 Alta. Stats. c. 49) supersedes the former provisions on the same subject, and while a District Court Judge may, if it appears to him that a member of the council has forfeited his seat at the council or his right thereto, or has become disqualified to hold his seat, adjudge such person to be ousted of the same or may discharge the summons, there is now no jurisdiction in the District Court or a judge thereof to declare any relator elected.

R. ex rel. McNiven v. Smith, 47 D.L.R. 513, [1919] 2 W.W.R. 656.

(8 IV—92)—TIME—EXTENSION OF.

The court having jurisdiction over contested election cases under the Dominion Controverted Elections Act, has power to extend the time for filing preliminary objections to a petition filed against the return of a member of parliament although the 5 days limited therefor by statute had expired. [See Macpherson's Election Law of Canada, pp. 634, 660.]

Re Provencher Election; Barkville v. Molloy (No. 1), 1 D.L.R. 84, 22 Man. L.R. 6, 19 W.L.R. 794, 1 W.W.R. 463.

CONTROVERTED ELECTIONS ACT—OBJECTION TO PETITION—SECOND EXTENSION OF TIME FOR MAKING—ABANDONMENT—LACHES.

Delay in taking out an order for a second extension of time under s. 37 of the Controverted Elections Act, R.S.M. 1902, c. 34, for making preliminary objections to the sufficiency of a petition filed under the act, cannot be considered an abandonment of the original order, where the delay was due to a difference of opinion between the solicitors for the respective parties as to the terms of the order. Under s. 35 of the Act, which provides that if a petition in a controverted election proceeding cannot be served personally on the respondent at his domicile, "service may be effected upon such other person, or in such other manner as any judge may appoint," an order for substitutional service may be made after the expiration of a previous extension of time, granted under ss. 33, 34 of the Act, for personal service of such petition. Under s. 37 of the Act, providing that preliminary objections may be filed to a petition by the respondent within five days after service thereof, or within such further time as any judge shall grant for the purpose, after one extension of time has been made such further time may be granted as the judge may deem necessary, his power not being exhausted by the making of the first extension. [Power v. Griffin, 33 Can. S.C.R. 39, distinguished.] While s. 33 of the Act, provides that the petition and notice of presentation thereof shall be served within five days, "or within such further time as a judge shall order," the power of a judge is not exhausted by making one extension of time, but he may make a further extension under s. 34 of the Act, which provides that service may be made "within such longer time as any judge may grant, regard being had to the difficulty of effecting service, or to special circumstances."

Re Gimli Election; Rejeski v. Taylor, 14 D.L.R. 414, 23 Man. L.R. 678, at 684, 25 W.L.R. 677, 5 W.W.R. 363, reversing 13 D.L.R. 121, 23 Man. L.R. 678. [See 14 D.L.R. 863, 23 Man. L.R. 851.]

CONTESTS — RECOUNTS — TIME — ADJOURNMENT — EXTENSION.

Sections 224, 225 of the Alberta Election Act (1909, c. 3), requiring the hearing and determination of an election recount on the day fixed and as far as practicable in a continuous proceeding, will be construed so that if from any cause the proceeding cannot be carried on at the time appointed the judge may appoint another time for the purpose, giving to s. 225 merely the force and effect of requiring the recount (when once begun) to proceed continuously as far as practicable.

Re Clearwater Election, 14 D.L.R. 32, 6 A.L.R. 431, 25 W.L.R. 589, 5 W.W.R. 181.

The right given to any elector to intervene and be substituted at any stage of the proceedings in an election petition is prescribed by the Dominion Controverted Elections Act, R.S.C. 1906, c. 7, s. 38, subs. 3, for the purpose of providing against any possible collusion or fraudulent arrangement between the original petitioner and the candidate whose election is being contested; and it is, therefore, essential to advise all electors, in strict compliance with the statute and practice rules passed thereunder, of the time, status and place of the proceedings under the petition. Election petitions and hearings thereof, under the Act, are matters of public order (i.e., matters connected with the conduct of good government), and statutory regulations as to the time limitation of the proceedings are to be construed under the rules applicable to statutes of public order. When notice of the time and place fixed for the trial of an election petition is not given as required by R.S.C. 1906, c. 7, s. 38 (3), the order for the trial becomes null and void, and the court has no jurisdiction to proceed therewith, the statute and the rules thereunder being construed strictly.

Bergeron v. Fortier, 8 D.L.R. 459, 42 Que. S.C. 286.

DOMINION CONTENTED ELECTIONS — HEARING OF PETITION — DELAY — MOTION TO FIX DATE OF HEARING — DISCRETION OF COURT — R.S.C. c. 7, ss. 7, 40.

The hearing of a Dominion election petition must begin within six months from the date on which it was presented, and if the petitioner moves to have it fixed at a later date, when he might have done it soon enough to comply with the law, and does not give any reason for his delay, the court may, and should, in the exercise of its discretion, refuse the motion.

Paradis v. Cardin, 45 Que. S.C. 147.

(§ IV—93)—PLEADINGS — STATEMENT.

In an application to set aside an election petition under the Controverted Elections Act (Alta.) upon the ground, among others, that the petitioner was not qualified to file a petition, and where, upon the hearing it does not appear that the petitioner was, at the date of the filing, neither a defeated candidate nor a duly qualified elector, the objection, on this ground will be sustained.

McVaught v. McKenzie (re Claresholm Provincial Election), 8 D.L.R. 58, 5 A.L.R. 286, 22 W.L.R. 840, 3 W.W.R. 133.

NOTICE OF PETITION AGAINST.

Richelieu Dominion Election, Paradis v. Cardin, 15 D.L.R. 831, 48 Can. S.C.R. 625, 50 C.L.J. 118.

PETITION — PUBLICATION OF — COPY OF PETITION — PAYMENT OF FEES — NON-PUBLICATIONS — OBJECTIONS — CONTROVERTED ELECTIONS ACT (MAN.).

Where the petitioners had done all that they were bound to do to secure the publication of the returning officer's notice of an election petition under the Manitoba Controverted Elections Act, having supplied that official with a copy of the petition and sufficient money for the publication of the notice, its nonpublication will not constitute a good preliminary objection.

Re Lakeside Election; Tidsbury v. Garland, 20 D.L.R. 286, 29 W.L.R. 628, 7 W.W.R. 340.

CONTENTIONS — PLEADINGS — QUO WARRANTO — CHARGING BRIBERY — NAMING WITNESSES IN NOTICE OF MOTION.

It is not necessary in a notice of motion in the nature of a quo warranto, charging bribery against a member of a municipal council, to state that his disqualification will be sought, where the Act under which proceedings are taken automatically disqualifies the accused if found guilty. The provisions of s. 222 of the Consolidated Municipal Act (Ont.) requiring a relator to name, in his notice of motion, by way of quo warranto, the witnesses whom he proposes to examine are obligatory, and witnesses not so named cannot be examined.

R. ex rel. Sabourin v. Berthiaume, 11 D.L.R. 68, 4 O.W.N. 1201, 24 O.W.R. 559.

The fact that the precise words of complaint specified in s. 11 of c. 7 of the Controverted Elections Act have not been used by the petitioners is not a valid objection on an application to set aside, on preliminary objections, the petition against the applicant's election as a member of the House of Commons.

Re MacDonald Election; Myles v. Morrison, 8 D.L.R. 793, 23 Man. L.R. 542, 22 W.L.R. 755, 3 W.W.R. 597.

CONTENTIONS — CONTROVERTED ELECTIONS ACT — OBJECTIONS TO PETITION — WAIVER.

That a preliminary objection to a petition made under the Controverted Elections Act, R.S.M. 1902, c. 144, might have been raised on a previous objection to the sufficiency of the service of the petition will not bar a subsequent application based on the former objection, especially where the objection, if made on the first application, might have been considered a waiver of the irregularity in the service of the petition.

Re Gimli Election; Rejeski v. Taylor, 14 D.L.R. 863, 23 Man. L.R. 851, 26 W.L.R. 20, 5 W.W.R. 590.

PLEADINGS — STATEMENTS — NOTICES.

The defendant who presents preliminary exceptions to a petition filed against his return as a member of the House of Commons should furnish the following particulars:—1. In what respect the copies of the petition, of the receipt of the deposit, of the notice of presentation, of the notice of security, of the appearance and of the election of domicile by the petitioner's agent are not true copies and duly certified; 2. In what respect the publication of the petition by the returning officer is irregular and the notice thereof incomplete; 3. In what respect the functionary before whom the affidavit was sworn was not competent; 4. In what respect the service of the petition and the accompanying documents and the return of such service were irregular. The respondent cannot, by preliminary objection, claim that the petitioner had ceased to be a qualified elector through commission of corrupt practices at the election.

Latraverse v. Cardin, 14 Que. P.R. 365.

PLEADINGS — STATEMENT — NOTICES.

The contestation of a municipal election in the city of Maisonneuve is governed by the Cities and Towns Act. It is necessary that the petition should be served on the defendant within fifteen days from the date of the election; if not it will be dismissed on exception to the form.

Pichet v. Lemay, 14 Que. P.R. 282.

PLEADINGS — STATEMENT — NOTICE — SECURITY.

There must be an interval of ten days between the giving of security and the presentation of a petition asking the annulment of a mayor's election. The supplementary delays granted for the hearing of the petition from the original date to a later date must not be included in this delay of ten days. There is no illegality in the filing of a petition for the annulment of an election before the date of presentation.

Paquet v. Clermont, 15 Que. P.R. 89.

PLEADING — CORRUPT INTENTION — MOTIVE.

All the documents attached to a pleading furnished by order of a court form part of the pleading; and in a contestation of a municipal election, where under the charter the acts charged are only causes of nullity when they have been made with the intention to corrupt, it is sufficient to allege this intention in the petition without the necessity of repeating it in the particulars. Allegations in the reply which are personal to the petitioner, charging him with the intention to harass and that he is only a pretense of persons inimical to the respondent, will be dismissed upon an inscription en droit; the petitioner, through his status of a municipal elector, has the undoubted right to contest the election whatever may be the motives which cause him to do so.

Marsil v. McDonald, 49 Que. S.C. 407, 17 Que. P.R. 414.

DEPOSIT — SUFFICIENCY OF AFFIDAVIT.

In a contestation of a provincial election, where conclusions are taken only against the elected candidate, although the returning officer and his deputies may be considered as defendants in the case under arts. 457, 459, 460, R.S.Q. 1909, the deposit of a sum of $1,000 is sufficient. The fact that the copy of the affidavit served with the petition does not mention the name of the commissioner before whom it was sworn, is an irregularity without importance, because the defendant suffered no prejudice whatever by the omission.

Tansley v. Bryant, 26 Que. K.B. 385.

(§ IV—94)—CONTESTED MUNICIPAL ELECTIONS—TRIAL PROCEDURE.

Section 220 (4) of the Consolidated Municipal Act, 3 Edw. VII. (Ont.) c. 19, providing that the proceedings before a judge to declare a seat in the council vacant, shall be entitled and conducted in the same manner as other proceedings in Chambers, does not impose a duty upon the judge to take the evidence down in writing.

R. ex rel. Sabourin v. Berthiaume, 11 D. L.R. 68, 4 O.W.N. 1201, 24 O.W.R. 559.

PROCEDURE — PETITION — NOTICE.

It is not a good preliminary objection to an election petition under the Controverted Elections Act, Man., that the returning officer had failed to publish the notice required by s. 21, where the petitioner had not been required by the returning officer to pay the cost of publication, nor had he been notified of the amount required.

Re Killoman and St. Andrews Election, 21 D.L.R. 389, 30 W.L.R. 623, 7 W.V.I. 1498, 25 Man. L.R. 336. [Affirmed, 23 D.L.R. 887, 25 Man. L.R. 336 at 340. See also 19 D.L.R. 478, 796.]

TRIAL—PROCEDURE.

Where a charge involves disqualification of the municipal councillor whose election is contested, it should be proved beyond a reasonable doubt to warrant a finding adverse to him.

Camerton v. Beaton, 21 D.L.R. 386, 48 N.S.R. 353.

DISCONTINUANCE OF PROCEEDINGS — LEAVE — QUALIFICATION — SCHOOL TAXES.

The contestation of municipal elections being a matter subject to the summary jurisdiction of the court, one of the petitioners cannot, as of right, discontinue a petition in contestation on the ground that his consent to the taking of the proceedings was obtained by false representation, without submitting his reasons for the approval of the court. In order to exercise the rights and privileges which are conferred upon him in that capacity, a municipal elector is only obliged to pay the municipal and school taxes for which he is personally the debtor, and not those for which he may be followed under hypothecary claim.

Gamache v. Blais; 50 Que. S.C. 200.

(§ IV—95)—PENALTIES UNDER DOMINION ELECTION ACT — REMOVING NAME FROM VOTERS' LIST — ADMISSIONS — EVIDENCE.

In an action for the penalty provided by s. 249 of the Dominion Elections Act, an admission by the defendant that the plaintiff's name was on the voters' list and that he struck it off is sufficient to prove that the defendant had struck the plaintiff's name off the list, without its being produced. An admission of a party is always evidence against himself, unless privileged.

Castle v. Hayes, 47 D.L.R. 393, 12 S.L.R. 308, [1919] 2 W.W.R. 800.

SECURITY — CASH DEPOSIT — SUFFICIENCY.

The receipt of the prothonotary for the deposit of $1,000 accompanying an election petition under the Manitoba Controverted Elections Act is evidence of its sufficiency (s. 20) in answer to a preliminary objection, and throws upon the respondent the onus of shewing that the deposit was not made in bills of a chartered bank (s. 19).

Re Lakeside Provincial Election; Tidsbury v. Garland, 23 D.L.R. 411, 25 Man. L.R. 197, 8 W.W.R. 33, affirming 20 D.L.R. 286.

PROCEEDING TO VOID ELECTION — CIVIL PROCEEDING — JOINDER OF RESPONDENTS.

R. ex rel. Warner v. Skelton, 23 O.L.R. 182, 18 O.W.R. 534.

SECURITY — PARLIAMENTARY ELECTIONS — CONTROVERTED ELECTION PETITION — MONEY PAID INTO COURT AS SECURITY — PETITION NOT BROUGHT TO TRIAL — PAYMENT OUT — CONSENT OF RESPOND-ENT.

Crawford v. Trux, 9 O.W.N. 15.

ELECTION OF COUNCILLOR — INTEREST IN CONTRACT.

Therrieu v. Deschambault, 40 Que. S.C.
 263.

TARIFF — CONTESTATION OF MUNICIPAL ELECTION — SECURITY — CANDIDATE
 CHOSEN BY THE COUNCIL — S.C. TARIFF,
 ART. 22 — QUE. M.C. 252, 698.

The petitioner in a contestation of municipal election must, within the ten days prior to the presentation of the petition, offer security for costs. A petition to quash the appointment of a councillor elected by the council must be accompanied by the formalities required by Que. M.C. art. 695 et seq. Article 22 of the tariff of the Superior Court applies to such petitions.

Shoener v. Fortin, 16 Que. P.R. 15.

DISAVOWAL OF ATTORNEY — SETTING ASIDE JUDICIAL PROCEEDINGS — ELECTION
 COURT.

Quesnel v. Méthot, 20 Que. K.B. 57.

CONTROVERTED ELECTION — DISQUALIFICA-TION — HEARING DURING SESSION.

Bourbonnais v. Lortie, 12 Que. P.R. 397.

RECOURT — APPOINTMENT FOR, ISSUED BY COUNTY COURT JUDGE — FAILURE TO SERVE RETURNING OFFICER — MANDAMUS — APPLICATION NOT LAUNCHED
 UNTIL AFTER ELECTION RETURN MADE.

Re Dauphin Election, 21 Man. L.R. 629,
 19 W.L.R. 451.

MUNICIPAL ELECTIONS — INTEREST IN A MUNICIPAL CONTRACT — MUNICIPAL ACT (1903), SS. 80, 219, 220, 232 —
 FAILURE TO GIVE EVIDENCE — RULE 498 — INTENTION IMMATERIAL.

R. ex rel. States v. Homan, 19 O.W.R.
 621, 2 O.W.N. 1334, affirming 19 O.W.R.
 427, 2 O.W.N. 1221.

ELECTRICITY.

I. MUNICIPAL REGULATION OF.

II. CONFLICTING RIGHTS OF DIFFERENT COM-PANIES.

III. INJURIES RESULTING FROM.

- A. Negligence of party producing.
- B. Contributory negligence of person injured.

IV. SALE OF ELECTRIC LIGHT AND POWER.

Franchises as to, see Municipal Corporations, II F—165.

Negligence, see Master and Servant, II A—50.

Defective system, Nuisance, see Municipal Corporations, II G—195.

I. Municipal regulation of.

(§ 1—1)—REFUSAL OF PERMISSION TO ERECT POLES AND WIRES — REVIEW BY PUBLIC UTILITIES COMMISSION.

In the absence of a need, so extensive as to create a public interest, for the introduction of additional electricity and power into a town, the refusal of a city council to grant permission to place a system of poles and lines for the distribution of electricity throughout the entire settled portion of the city will not be interfered with by the Public Utilities Commission (Man.).

Re Winnipeg and St. Boniface, 14 D.L.R. 186, 25 W.L.R. 618, 5 W.V.R. 293.

ERECTION OF POLES IN LANES OF TOWN — LOCATION OF POLES — CONSENT OF MU-NICIPAL COUNCIL — NECESSITY FOR — UNREASONABLE WITHHOLDING.

Walkerville v. Walkerville Light & Power
 Co., 5 O.W.N. 429.

(§ 1—2)—RESTRICTIONS AS TO IMPORTATION.

A company empowered to operate a street railway and to supply electricity for light, heat and power, over poles and wires erected in the streets and public places of a city, may, without first obtaining the consent of the city, transmit thereon electricity generated and developed beyond the city limits. After an electric street railway has, to the knowledge of a city and its officers, and with their active co-operation, erected beyond the city limits, at a cost of millions of dollars, a plant for the generation of electricity, located in its sub-powers houses and erected poles and wires in the city, and after the city has received about $100,000 in taxes from the company, and has adopted by laws and resolutions requiring a company that the street railway had absorbed by amalgamation, to lay double tracks on certain streets, and to establish a schedule for operating its cars, the city cannot deprive the street railway company of the right to introduce into the city, electricity generated beyond the city limits, on the ground that its charter forbade such importation of electricity, or that permits were void which the city had granted for the erection of poles. A restriction in the charter of a street railway company that prevented it from importing electricity from without the city limits, is not binding upon a company formed by the amalgamation of such street railway company with other companies, none of which were so restricted.

Winnipeg Electric Ry. Co. v. Winnipeg, 4 D.L.R. 116, [1912] A.C. 355, reversing 20 Man. L.R. 337, 16 W.L.R. 62.

DESJARDINS CANAL — STRETCHING ELECTRIC WIRES ACROSS — NO INTERFERENCE WITH NAVIGATION.

Dundas v. Hamilton Cataract Co., 2 O.
 W.N. 517, 18 O.W.R. 168.

II. Conflicting rights of different companies.

(§ II-5)—CONTRACT — SUPPLY OF ELECTRICAL ENERGY — CONSTRUCTION AND OPERATION — ADJUSTMENT OF ACCOUNTS — FINDINGS OF TRIAL JUDGE.

Ontario Power Co. v. Toronto Power Co., 16 O.W.N. 94.

III. Injuries resulting from.

A. NEGLIGENCE OF PARTY PRODUCING.

(§ III A-16)—DESTRUCTION OF BUILDING BY FIRE — CROSSED WIRES — LACK OF SAFETY DEVICES.

Negligence sufficient to render an electric company liable for the destruction of a building from fire originating from an electric current of abnormally high voltage being carried upon wires leading into the building, may properly be inferred from the fact that several hours before the fire the company's high voltage wires became crossed with low potential service wires on the same poles, which trouble had been corrected prior to the fire; where it also appeared that the use of a simple safety device by the electric company on the pole nearest the building would have prevented the abnormally high current entering it, and that the electrical installation for the service of the burned building was not defective.

McElmon v. B.C. Electric R. Co., 12 D.L.R. 675, 18 B.C.R. 522, 25 W.L.R. 121, 4 W.W.R. 1315.

LIABILITY OF POWER COMMISSION — DEFECTIVE WIRING — INJURIES TO EMPLOYEES.

For injuries sustained by an employee of a steel company, through an explosion in a transformer station, the Hydro-Electric Power Commission of Ontario was liable, the explosion having occurred through the negligence of those employees of the Commission who made the installations in the station. The consent of the Attorney-General to the bringing of an action against the Commission entitles the Supreme Court to pronounce judgment against the Commission. [Graham v. Commissioners, 28 O.R. 1; Roper v. Public Works Commissioners, [1915] 1 K.B. 45, distinguished.]

Howarth v. Electric Steel & Metals Co.; Young v. Electric Steel & Metals Co., 29 D.L.R. 293, 35 O.L.R. 596. [As to costs, see 10 O.W.N. 67.]

ESCAPE OF CURRENT — DEFECTIVE TRANSFORMER.

A power company is liable to its consumers for damage caused by the escape of electricity in consequence of an unsafe system of transmission.

Vandry v. Quebec Ry. Light Heat & Power Co., 29 D.L.R. 539, 53 Can. S.C.R. 72, reversing 24 Que. K.B. 214. [Affirmed, 52 D.L.R. —.]

ELECTRIC LIGHTING SYSTEM — DEFECTS — FIRE — PRESUMPTION — ADDITIONAL PROOF — QUE. C.C. 1238 ET SEQ.

Where an electrician installed a lighting system whereby a fire was caused, in order to hold the electrician liable it is not sufficient to create presumptions by proving defects in the installation, it is necessary to establish a relation between the effect and the cause and to prove that the fire was due to these defects. If this relation, upon being proved, appears to the Trial Judge to be uncertain and he takes the case into deliberation, it is in the interest of justice to allow the plaintiff to give additional proof.

Ferland v. Laval Electric Co., 46 Que. S.C. 429.

DEFECTIVE WIRING — FIRES — PROXIMATE CAUSE.

In an action for damages caused by a fire, it is not sufficient to prove defective installation of electric wiring, by which the fire might have been caused, even though no other probable cause was shown by the defence.

Laval Electric Co. v. Ferland, 32 D.L.R. 291, 25 Que. K.B. 347. [Affirmed by Supreme Court of Canada, unreported to date.]

NEGLECT AS TO WIRES GENERALLY.

Where a pile-driver was ignorantly and crudely constructed and the contractor in whose control it was, continued, after notice of its dangerous proximity to high voltage electric wires, to maintain it there without utilizing the protective measures pointed out to him by the electric company which he had thereupon agreed to introduce, and where an employee was killed by the electric current coming in contact with the pile-driver, the contractor is liable in damages. Where an electric company with notice that their wires are in dangerous proximity to a crudely constructed pile-driver in operation over a river does not itself proceed to abate the danger but relies upon the promise of the operator of the pile-driver to do so, the electric company is not necessarily liable for resultant injuries, by reason of its being in control of a dangerous electric current; the electric company's undertaking being authorized by law there is no liability unless negligence can be affirmatively found. [Bylands v. Fletcher, L.R. 3 H.L. 339, distinguished; Dumphry v. Montreal Light, Heat & Power Co., [1907] A.C. 454, applied.]

Johnston v. Clark & Son, 7 D.L.R. 361, 4 O.W.N. 292, 23 O.W.R. 196.

ELECTRIC WIRES — ACCIDENT — PRESUMPTION—FORCE MAJEURE.

The owner of things under his care is liable for damages which they cause, if he does not rebut the presumption of fault arising from art. 1054 C.C. (Que.). The liability of an electric company for damages caused by broken wires of its transmission lines is not removed by proving that on the day of the accident there was a storm, and that wires were broken in several places in the town.

Senécal v. Montreal Public Service Corp., 24 Que. S.C. 80.

(§ III A—17)—WIRES — STATUTORY REQUIREMENT THAT WIRES CARRIED ABOVE GROUND BE "WHOLLY INSULATED" — WIRES CARRIED ON POLES.

Having regard to other portions of the same statute, the requirement of s. 7 of c. 139 of the N.S. Acts of 1889, that in all cases where any electric wire of any portion thereof, is carried "above ground," that it shall be "wholly insulated," relates only to wires where carried from pipes of conductors laid underground, and does not extend to wires carried from pole to pole above the minimum height fixed by statutory authority.

Att'y-Gen'l and Truro v. Chambers Electric Light & Power Co., 14 D.L.R. 883, 13 E.L.R. 443.

(§ III A—19) — INJURY BY WIRES IN STREETS — DANGEROUS AGENCY — STATUTORY AUTHORITY.

The effect of conferring statutory authority upon an electric power company to erect poles and power wires on a highway is that, apart from negligence, the company is absolved from the rule that any one who, for his own purposes, collects or keeps anything likely to do mischief if it escapes, is prima facie answerable for all the damages which are the natural consequence of its escape.

Roberts v. Bell Telephone Co., 10 D.L.R. 459, 49 C.L.J. 414, 4 O.W.N. 1099, 24 O.W.R. 428.

(§ III A—22)—MUNICIPAL LIABILITY — DEFECTIVE POLE—SHOCK.

An injury to a person by a shock of electricity while leaning against an electric light pole in a street, due to the faulty construction of the pole by a city, and not from want of repair, is the result of misfeasance and not merely nonfeasance, and therefore, notwithstanding the provisions of the Municipal Institutions Act, 3 & 4 Geo. V. (Ont.) c. 43, s. 460 (2), relating to preliminary notice of injury, and as to the time for bringing action therefor.

Glynn v. Niagara Falls, 15 D.L.R. 426, 29 O.L.R. 517.

(§ III A—24)—INJURY TO EMPLOYEES OF THIRD PERSONS—LIABILITY.

An electric light company whose wires are constructed under municipal authority and are carried 29 feet above the surface, even if originally not insulated, owes no duty of safety to workmen of a telegraph company operating on poles erected in dangerous proximity to the high-tension wires, and cannot, therefore, be held liable for injuries resulting to them from contact with such wires. [Roberts v. Bell Telephone, 10 D.L.R. 459, applied.]

Young v. Brandon, 25 D.L.R. 206, 25 Man. L.R. 810, 9 W.W.R. 914, reversing, 9 W.W.R. 62, 32 W.L.R. 231.

(§ III A—27)—TESTS AND INSPECTION — POWER LINE ON STREET.

An electric power company stringing its wires by statutory authority upon the public streets at a time when no other wires were there, is under no duty to inspect the wires periodically for the purpose of seeing that no other wires had subsequently been placed in too close proximity to their own wires and so avoiding injuries which might result to persons handling the dead wires of another company should the latter become charged by close contact with the power wires.

Roberts v. Bell Telephone Co., 10 D.L.R. 459, 24 O.W.R. 428.

B. CONTRIBUTORY NEGLIGENCE OF PERSON INJURED.

(§ III B—32)—EMPLOYEE TOUCHING LIVE WIRE — COURSE OF EMPLOYMENT.

The Workmen's Compensation Act (Que.) covers only claims for injuries received in the course of or by reason of the work done by the injured employee, and where a workman before working hours goes into the power house of his employer where he had absolutely no business and impelled by sheer curiosity touches a live wire and is killed, his employer is not liable in damages for such accident.

Coderre v. Sherbrooke, 9 D.L.R. 149, 43 Que. S.C. 201, 19 Rev. de Jur. 31.

DEATH OF INFANT—LIVE ELECTRIC WIRES LEFT ON GROUND — CONTRIBUTORY NEGLIGENCE.

Mueller v. B.C. Electric Co., 19 W.L.R. 278 (B.C.).

ELECTRIC CURRENT SUPPLIED BY MUNICIPALITY — BOARD OF COMMISSIONERS — STATUTORY AGENTS OF CORPORATION.

Young v. Gravenhurst, 24 O.L.R. 467 (C.A.).

EVIDENCE OF FAULT—PRESUMPTIONS.

Ottawa Electric Co. v. Cunningham, 20 Que. K.B. 481.

IV. Sale of electric light and power.

(§ IV—40)—CONTRACTS — SUPPLY OF ELECTRIC CURRENT — MODIFICATION OF CONTRACT — PAYMENT FOR CURRENT SUPPLIED — QUANTUM MERUIT — ACCOUNT — ITEMS — CLAIM FOR DAMAGES FOR DECEIT—COSTS.

Erindale Power Co. v. Interurban Electric Co. (No. 1), 9 O.W.N. 23.

CONTRACT — QUEEN VICTORIA NIAGARA FALLS PARK COMMISSIONERS — 62 VICT. (2) c. 11, s. 36 (5) — GRANT OF LICENSE TO TAKE WATER FROM NIAGARA RIVER WITHIN PARK — DEVELOPMENT OF ELECTRICAL POWER "FOR COMMERCIAL USE" — CONSTRUCTION OF CONTRACT — ASSIGNMENT BY GRANTEE

TO ELECTRICAL COMPANY — LEASE OF UNDERTAKING TO ANOTHER COMPANY — ASSIGNMENT OF LICENSE — "AMALGAMATION" — EXPERT EVIDENCE TO AID IN INTERPRETATION — INADMISSIBILITY — RENTAL PAYABLE TO COMMISSIONERS — ASCERTAINMENT OF — ENERGY CONSUMED IN ACT OF PRODUCTION — LIMITATION OF QUANTITY OF WATER TO BE TAKEN — RATE OF PAYMENT FOR WATER TAKEN OVER AND ABOVE AMOUNT LIMITED — DAMAGES—INJUNCTION AGAINST FUTURE BREACH OF CONTRACT BY EXCESSIVE TAKING — WAR MEASURES ACT, 1914 — ORDER OF POWER CONTROLLER FOR INCREASED PRODUCTION — EFFICIENCY OF PLANT AND MACHINERY — ADVANCE IN STANDARD.

Atty-Gen'l for Ontario v. Electrical Development Co., 45 O.L.R. 186.

(§ IV—41) — COMPENSATION FOR WATER POWER USED TO OPERATE ELECTRIC POWER PLANT — CONTRACT — VARYING RENTAL.

Under an agreement between the Queen Victoria Niagara Falls Park Commissioners and a power company, licensing the latter to exercise certain rights in the park and in the water of the Niagara river for the purpose of generating electricity and pneumatic power to be transmitted to places beyond the park and requiring payment therefor at a specified annual rental and "in addition thereto, payment at the rate of the sum of $1 per annum (with sliding scale) for each electrical horse-power generated and used and sold or disposed of over 10,000 electrical horse-power," the extra payments are to be made as the electricity is generated at a rate greater than 10,000 horse-power as shown by the meters, and so continue even when the generation falls below such rate, the proper basis of calculation, according to the true construction of the clause relating to additional rentals, being the highest amount or quantity of electrical horse-power generated and used and sold or disposed of at any one time, and so remaining (regardless of a drop in actual use or sale) until a higher point of generation and use or sale is reached. Where by an agreement in 1899, supplemental to an agreement in 1892, a power company stipulated to pay a specified fixed rental for a strip of land lying by the water's edge in a public park, together with the use of a portion of the flow of the river as it passes, which had been placed at its disposal for the purpose of constructing works and generating electricity; and also stipulated to pay additional rentals varying in amount by reference to the electrical horse-power generated and used and sold or disposed of by the company, "such additional rentals as shall be payable for and from such generation and sale or other disposition" to be payable half-yearly; the proper basis of calculation, according to the true construction of the clause relating to additional rentals, is the highest amount or quantity of electrical horse-power at any one time generated and used or sold, and such amount remains the true basis, regardless of a drop in actual use or sale until a higher point of generation and use or sale is reached. The extra price provided for in an agreement between the Queen Victoria Falls Park Commissioners and a power company, licensing the company to operate an electric power plant in the park and in the water of the Niagara river, for which the Park Commissioners, a public body, was to be paid "for each electrical horse-power generated and used and sold or disposed of over 10,000 electrical horse-power," includes power used by the power company for its own purposes as well as that sold to others. [Affirmed on this point.]

Atty-Gen'l for Ontario v. Canadian Niagara Power Co., 9 D.L.R. 191, 107 L.T. 629, [1012] A.C. 852, varying 2 D.L.R. 425.

ELECTRIC LIGHT AND TELEPHONE WIRES — INSTALLATION IN SUBWAY — GRADE SEPARATION AT RAILWAY CROSSINGS — PUBLIC INTEREST.

Where grade separation has been ordered and city streets are lowered, in the public interest, so as to go under the railway lines by subways, public utility companies having telephone and electric light overhead wires on the streets should bear the entire expense of putting these wires underground except for their long distance telephone wires which may be carried overhead. [Bell Telephone Co. v. G.T., C.P.R. Cos.; Toronto (Brook Avenue Subway Case), 5 D.L.R. 297, 14 Can. Ry. Cas. 14, followed.]

Toronto Electric Light, Bell Telephone Cos. and Hydro Electric Commission v. C.P., C.N. Ry. Cos. and Toronto, 15 Can. Ry. Cas. 309.

ELECTRIC LIGHTS.

Use and location of poles on streets, see Municipal Corporations.

ELECTRIC RAILWAYS.

See Street Railways; Carriers; Railways. Annotation.

Reciprocal duties of motemen and drivers of vehicles crossing tracks: 1 D.L.R. 783.

EMBEZZLEMENT.

See Theft.

EMINENT DOMAIN.

See Expropriation.

EMPLOYER'S LIABILITY.

See Master and Servant.

ENCROACHMENT.

Through mistake, see Adverse Possession; Estoppel.

Injunction to compel removal of encroaching wall, see Injunction.

NECESSITY OF STRICT DESCRIPTION OF LAND.
A plaintiff can only succeed secundum allegata et probata, and where a plaintiff takes a possessory action against his neighbour, charging him with encroachment on a specific part of his property (e.g., lot No. 6) and the neighbour denies this charge "as drawn" and the plaintiff persists, the action will be dismissed if the evidence shows the encroachment to have been on another part of the plaintiff's property (e.g., lot No. 7).

Viau v. Sauve, 9 D.L.R. 132. [Reversed by Supreme Court of Canada, judgment not reported.]

On an action for encroachment in constructing the wall of a building partly over the boundary line upon adjoining lands, the court has a discretion under 1 Geo. V. c. 25, s. 33 (Ont.) to award a money compensation for the encroachment if made under the belief that the land encroached upon was within his own boundaries, and in such case the judgment should decree that upon paying the compensation awarded the portion of the land which it represents should be vested in the encroaching party. If the land upon which lasting improvements have been made under mistake of title such as the wall of a building encroaching upon neighbouring land, is subject to a mortgage, the compensation money awarded on vesting the land in the trespasser under said s. 33 must be paid to the mortgagee and not to the owner of the equity of redemption unless the consent of the mortgagee to the adoption of the latter course is filed.

Ward v. Sanderson, 1 D.L.R. 356, 3 O.W.N. 802, 21 O.W.R. 254.

BUILDINGS — VENDOR AND PURCHASER — BUILDINGS ENCROACHING 2½ IN. IN REAR — INNOCENT PURCHASER.

Re Maton and Chavir, 6 D.L.R. 882, 4 O.W.N. 263.

BUILDINGS—INJURY TO ADJACENT PROPERTY — WATER FROM ROOF — INJUNCTION — DAMAGES — DESTRUCTION OF LINE FENCE—COSTS.

Huckell v. Pommerville, 1 D.L.R. 921.

The owner of an immovable sued by his neighbour for encroaching on the latter's land by a building in course of construction, may by dilatory exception have the proceedings stayed to enable him to summon in warranty the architect entrusted with the work.

Duberville v. Labelle, 12 Que. P.R. 177.

TRESPASS — LAND — BOUNDARY — OVERLAPPING BUILDING — SUIT TO ESTABLISH TITLE.

McIntyre v. White, 70 E.L.R. 88.

MUNICIPAL LAW — EDWARD VII. BOULEVARD — LIABILITY — C.C., ART. 1053 — C. MUN., ART. 453 — S. REF. [1909] ART. 5886 (CITIES AND TOWNS).

The municipalities in the Province of Quebec, through which the Edward VII. Boulevard passes, which boulevard is built by virtue of a special Act of the government of the province at its expense, in the general interest, and under its direction, are not responsible for encroachments by the government superintendents or for damages caused thereby. In this case, these municipalities escape from the responsibility which the law imposes on them up to the time of taking possession of the public road after the work is completed. When the owner of land charges the builder of a public road along the front of his land with having encroached on his property, he must prove his right to the land which he pretends has been encroached upon. This proof is not found in the existence of a foot path made by the owner in front of his farm outside his fence, nor in the fact that the ditch is three feet from this fence, but the fence itself, existing from time immemorial, is a stronger proof of the limit of the lot on that side.

Brossard v. Laprairie, 56 Que. S.C. 114.
VENDOR AND PURCHASER — DESCRIPTION OF LAND—POSSESSION.

Re Butler and Henderson, 4 O.W.N. 498, 23 O.W.R. 576.

BUILDING — ENCROACHMENT ON LAND OF ANOTHER — STREET-LINE — BOUNDARIES — SURVEYS — DEDICATION — PRESUMPTION — ACQUIESCENCE IN PUBLIC USER — CONVENTIONAL BOUNDARY — PROJECTING EAVES — DISCHARGE OF WATER — OBSTRUCTION TO LIGHT — EASEMENT — IMPLIED GRANT — PRESUMPTION OF INTENTION — INJUNCTION — DAMAGES — COSTS.

Rous v. Royal Templar Building Co., 6 O.W.N. 498.

BUILDINGS — DEPRIVATION OF LIGHT — NOMINAL DAMAGES — COSTS.
Singer v. Prosky, 4 O.W.N. 1000, 24 O.W.R. 353.

ENEMY ALIEN.

See Aliens.

ENFORCEMENT.

Of mortgage, see Mortgage.

Of contracts, see Specific Performance.

Of judgment, see Judgment, VI.; Execution.

ENGINEERS.Annotation.

Stipulation in contracts as to engineer's decision: 16 D.L.R. 441.

PROFESSIONAL SERVICES — ESTIMATES — NEGLIGENCE.

A consulting engineer, admittedly skilled and competent, who is called upon in a professional capacity to render an estimate of the cost of a work, is only liable, in the event of error, for negligence, and the onus of proving this negligence is upon his employer; his failure to test the bearing capacity of soil, to sustain a plant to be erected thereon, is not of itself negligence, if he was in fact familiar with the character of the soil.

Lea v. Medicine Hat, 37 D.L.R. 1, [1917] 3 W.W.R. 467.

ENLISTMENT.

See Militia; Military Law; Habeas Corpus, I B—7.

EQUITABLE ASSIGNMENT.

See Assignment, II.

EQUITY.

I. JURISDICTION.

- A. In general.
- B. Remedy at law.
- C. Relief against judgments, orders, or awards.
- D. Cases of fraud; mistake; conspiracy; trusts; wills.
- E. To prevent irreparable damage.
- F. To cancel instruments.
- G. To avoid multiplicity of suits.
- H. Retaining jurisdiction.

II. TRANSFERS BETWEEN LAW AND EQUITY.

III. EQUITY PRINCIPLES.

- A. In general.
- B. Coming into equity with clean hands.

Right to jury trial in equitable action, see Jury, I B—15.

Equitable execution, see Execution I—8.

Annotations.

Fusion with law; Pleading: 10 D.L.R. 503.

Agreement to mortgage after acquired property; Beneficial interest: 13 D.L.R. 178.

Rights and liabilities of purchaser of land subject to mortgages: 14 D.L.R. 652.

I. Jurisdiction.

A. IN GENERAL.

(§ I A—1)—FUSING EQUITY AND LAW — SUBSTANTIVE AND ADJECTIVE LAW — FORM OF REMEDIES.

A court with a single system of judicature combining both law and equity jurisdiction, may devise new forms of remedies to suit new and peculiar contract rights.

Boivin v. Lessard, 14 D.L.R. 808, 7 A. L.R. 97, 26 W.L.R. 312, 5 W.W.R. 794.

EQUITABLE DEFENCES.

In an action in the King's Bench Division the presiding judge has, under s. 18 of the Judicature Act, 1909, all the power and may exercise all the jurisdiction and apply all the procedure of the Chancery Division necessary to afford every kind of equitable relief claimed or appearing incidentally in the course of the proceeding, but if a defendant raises an equitable defence, he is bound by the equitable principles applicable to the circumstances of the case in their entirety.

Duffy v. Duffy, 43 N.B.R. 555.

(§ I A—2)—TITLES AND PROPERTY IN GENERAL.

An agreement by a shipbuilding company to build a vessel for a navigation company for a certain price, payments to be made every two months to the extent of 80 per cent of the work done and material supplied, and the balance on completion, which provides that, as the work goes on after the first payment, the property in the vessel so far as constructed and in all machinery and materials purchased therefor shall become vested in and be the absolute property of the navigation company, and that the shipbuilding company will, at the request of the navigation company, execute and deliver to it such bill of sale as may be necessary so as to vest the vessel, machinery and materials in the navigation company, operates in equity, without the execution of a bill of sale, as a transfer of ownership to the navigation company, from the time of the first payment, of all the vessel, machinery and materials. [Holroyd v. Marshall, 10 H.L.C. 191, applied.]

Re Canadian Shipbuilding Co., 6 D.L.R. 174, 26 O.L.R. 564, 22 O.W.R. 585.

(§ I A—12)—MISCELLANEOUS.

In matters where the Chancery and Probate Courts have concurrent jurisdiction, the Chancery Court will not act, when the question involved can be more conveniently and inexpensively disposed of in the Probate Court, unless some special reason be shewn why the Probate Court should not act.

Kennedy v. Slater, 4 N.B. Eq. 339.

B. REMEDY AT LAW.

Abatement of action pending action at law, see Abatement and Revivor.

Burden of showing that remedy is inadequate, see Evidence.

C. RELIEF AGAINST JUDGMENTS, ORDERS OR AWARDS.

Injunction against judgment, see Injunction.

Relief against judgment generally, see Judgment, VII.

D. CASES OF FRAUD; MISTAKE; CONSPIRACY; TRUSTS; WILLS.

Effect of fraud on right to equitable enforcement of contract, see infra, III.

Aid of, to participant in illegal contract, see Contracts.

Relief against fraudulent reduction of stocks, see Companies.

Setting aside sale for fraud, see Fraud and Deceit.

E. TO PREVENT IRREPARABLE DAMAGE.
See Injunction, I B.

F. TO CANCEL INSTRUMENTS.

As to cancellation of instruments generally, see Contracts V.

See also Reformation of Instruments.

On the ground of fraud, see supra, D. (§ I F—35)—In equity, it is not necessary to the validity of the rescission of a sealed document, that such rescission be effected by an instrument under seal, but rescission may result from the abandonment of the contract by one party and the other accepting the abandonment, and this may be implied from their acts, although there is no writing whatever.

Handel v. O'Kelly, 8 D.L.R. 44, 22 Man. L.R. 562, 22 W.L.R. 407, 3 W.W.R. 367.

(§ I F—37)—FAMILIES COMPENSATION ACT—RELEASE OBTAINED BY FRAUD—MONEY NEITHER TENDERED BACK NOR TURNED INTO COURT—EQUITABLE JURISDICTION.

In an action by the dependants of the deceased under Families Compensation Act, R.S.B.C. 1911, c. 82, a release pleaded in defence may be set aside by the court under its equitable jurisdiction, although the money paid as consideration for the release has been neither tendered back to the defendant nor brought into court to abide the issue of the action.

B.C. Electric R. Co. v. Turner and Trawford, 18 D.L.R. 430, 49 Can. S.C.R. 470, 6 W.W.R. 288, 18 Can. Ry. Cas. 430, affirming 9 D.L.R. 817, 15 Can. Ry. Cas. 39, 18 B.C.R. 132.

G. TO AVOID MULTIPLICITY OF SUITS.

See Jury, Trial, Injunction.

H. RETAINING JURISDICTION.

(§ I H—45)—SPECIFIC PERFORMANCE—PRIMARY RELIEF—DAMAGES—ALTERNATIVE RELIEF—COURT OF EQUITY—JURISDICTION.

Where specific performance was the primary claim in the action and a decree was made for specific performance and alternatively on failure of that relief, a reference as to damages, the proceeding for damages, is nevertheless one in equity and not at common law, and an appeal from the decision of the Provincial Appellate Court affirming the right to damages might have been taken as of right to the Supreme Court of Canada within 60 days thereafter without awaiting the result of the reference; and where no appeal was taken from that judgment it would not be competent for the court hearing the case on further directions after a report had been made on the referred question of damages, to open up the original decree, nor would it be competent on an appeal from the judgment on further directions for the Appellate Court to make an order which could not be made below.

Windsor, Essex & Lake Shore Rapid R. Co. v. Nelles, 20 D.L.R. 713, [1915] A.C.

355, affirming 10 D.L.R. 832, 47 Can. S.C. R. 230.

II. Transfers between law and equity.

(§ II—50)—Where there is a bona fide dispute as to plaintiff's title in a partition suit brought in a Court of Equity that court will not, under cover of a suit for partition, adjudicate upon a purely legal title but will leave the plaintiff to his remedy at law.

Durant v. Huestas, 1 D.L.R. 786, 10 E.L.R. 423.

III. Equity principles.

(§ III—55)—ASSIGNMENT OF FUTURE CHOSE IN ACTION.

An assignment of a future chose in action by way of a construction contract for a number of railway stations operates in equity as an agreement binding the conscience of the assignor and so binding the property from the moment when the contract becomes capable of being performed, on the principle that equity considers as done that which ought to be done and that the agreement imports in equity a trust.

Fraser v. Imperial Bank, 10 D.L.R. 232; 47 Can. S.C.R. 313, 23 W.L.R. 445, 3 W.W.R. 649, reversing 1 D.L.R. 678, 22 Man. L.R. 58.

(§ III—56)—MUTUALITY—REAL ESTATE AGENT'S COMMISSION—DEFAULT IN PURCHASE PRICE.

Where an agent, having become entitled to his commission for the sale of land, after receiving half of it, agrees with his principal that he waives all claim to the balance if the purchaser does not pay the second instalment of the purchase price on the due date, and the purchaser fails to pay on that date, but pays the instalment with interest on a subsequent date, the court in the exercise of its equitable powers will not allow the agreement to stand, where it appears that it was not the intention of the parties that there should be such absolute forfeiture, but that the agent understood that the agreement in question, which was drawn up by his principal's solicitor, was intended only to provide for a forfeiture in the event of the purchaser failing to carry out the agreement of purchase.

DeSalis v. Jones, 11 D.L.R. 228, 24 W.L.R. 65, 4 W.W.R. 322.

(§ III—59)—"HE WHO SEEKS EQUITY MUST DO EQUITY."

Where the court is called upon under equitable pleas to set aside a tax sale which is equally void at law and in equity, the court does so, only on such terms as are equitable, upon the principle of equity, "He who seeks equity must do equity," so that where the plaintiffs might have brought a simple action in ejectment, but, instead, asked and received equitable relief, they come under the obligation to do equity.

Richards v. Collins, 9 D.L.R. 249, 27 O.L.R. 390, 22 O.W.R. 592, 23 O.W.R. 499.

ESCAPE.RECAPTION UNDER ORIGINAL WARRANT.

If a prisoner, when being taken to jail to serve a sentence imposed on summary conviction, escapes because the constable became intoxicated and permitted him to go, the escape is not a voluntary one and the escaped prisoner may be retaken on the original commitment.

R. v. Hall, 32 D.L.R. 236, 27 Can. Cr. Cas. 1.

ARREST WITHOUT WARRANT.

On a charge of escaping from the custody of a police officer after an alleged arrest, the legality of the arrest must be shown.

R. v. Stackhouse, 41 D.L.R. 420, 29 Can. Cr. Cas. 151, 52 N.S.R. 242.

RECAPTION—PRISONER IN HOSPITAL.

When the period of imprisonment under a warrant of commitment following a summary conviction has begun to run, there can be no arrest to serve the remainder of the sentence after the period specified has expired by effluxion of time computed from the commencement of the imprisonment, because of the accused having been taken from gaol to a hospital whence she was allowed to depart without any attempt at recaption during the unexpired period of her sentence.

R. v. Peters, 29 Can. Cr. Cas. 298.

ASSISTING ESCAPE OF CRIMINAL INSANE PERSON COMMITTED TO INSANE ASYLUM.

The King v. Trappell, 22 O.L.R. 219, 17 Can. Cr. Cas. 346, 17 O.W.R. 274.

ESCHEAT.

As to assets of defunct corporation, bona vacantia, see Companies, VI C—330.

Annotation.

Provincial rights in Dominion lands: 26 D.L.R. 137.

PROVINCIAL AND DOMINION RIGHTS—BONA VACANTIA—JURA REGALIA—ESCHEAT.

In so far as the rights of the Dominion to escheated lands or bona vacantia in the province are concerned, the provisions of the Alberta Statute, 5 Geo. V., c. 5, s. 1, purporting to vest the property of intestates dying without next of kin or other persons entitled thereto in the Crown in right of the province, are to be regarded as ultra vires.

The King v. Trusts & Guarantee Co., 26 D.L.R. 129, 15 Can. Ex. 403. [Affirmed in 32 D.L.R. 469, 54 Can. S.C.R. 107, 35 W. L.R. 358.]

ESCROW.

SEALED INSTRUMENT—EXPRESS WORDS NOT NECESSARY—EVIDENCE OF SURROUNDING CIRCUMSTANCES SHOWING THAT CONDITIONAL DELIVERY INTENDED.

It is not essential to use express words in order to make a sealed instrument operate as a mere escrow; what would otherwise be an absolute delivery as a deed may be restricted by evidence of the surrounding circumstances shewing that only a conditional delivery could have been intended. [Trust & Loan Co. v. Ruttan, 1 Can. S.C.R. 564, followed.]

Molsons Bank v. Cranston, 45 D.L.R. 316, 44 O.L.R. 58.

Where upon the formation of a mining syndicate to take over the plaintiff's mining claim, a trust company was appointed trustee to hold a transfer of the property but, so as not to affect the rights inter se of the parties thereto, undertook not to register the transfer, a registration thereof in violation of such agreement will be vacated where no intervening rights are in question; but a reconveyance of the land will not be ordered merely because of such breach of agreement where the trust company held the title to the property for valuable consideration as against the plaintiff and upon trusts in favour of the members of the syndicate who had become such members and paid for their syndicate shares upon the faith of the title being "vested" in the trust company.

Wiley v. Trusts and Guarantee Co. (No. 2), 5 D.L.R. 409, 3 O.W.N. 1494, 22 O.W.R. 625, reversing 3 D.L.R. 295.

ESTATES.

See Deeds; Wills, III; Easements; Adverse Possession; Land Titles.

ESTOPPEL.

- I. OF MUNICIPALITY OR OF CROWN.
 II. BY DEED OR RECORD.
 A. By deed.
 B. By bond or mortgage.
 C. By record.
 III. EQUITABLE ESTOPPEL OR ESTOPPEL IN FAIS.
 A. In general; effect.
 B. Of married women.
 C. As to corporate evidence of powers.
 D. By contracts or agreements generally; ratification.
 E. By conduct, request, or admissions, generally.
 F. By assent.
 G. By laches, silence or acquiescence.
 H. By representations.
 I. By negligence or fraud.
 J. By inconsistency in acts, claims, etc.
 K. By receiving benefits.
 L. By character or relation of parties.
 M. Who affected.
 N. Who may be set up.

Annotations.

Ratification of agency: Holding out as ostensible agent: 1 D.L.R. 149.

Estoppel by conduct: Fraud of agent or employee: 21 D.L.R. 13.

Estoppel as against setting up ultra vires as a defence in actions on corporate contracts: 36 D.L.R. 107.

I. Of municipalities or of Crown.

(§ II A—20)—OF MUNICIPALITY OR CROWN.

A municipality or contract.

The liability of a contract between it and an electric railway company because the law authorizing its creation was not submitted to the electors for approval as required by s. 64 of the B.C. Municipal Act of 1897, where the company had made large expenditures as a direct consequence of its execution, it not in pursuit to the contract. [R. Point Grey, 16 B.C.L.R. 374, distinguished.]

Finlay v. B.C. Electric R. Co., 12 B.L.R. 329, 3 W.W.R. 628.

(§ II A—19)—BY INCONSISTENCY IN ACTS OR CLAIMS.

The rule of law that where one party to a contract refuses to perform his part, the other party is freed from the obligation to perform any conditions precedent thereto, he can maintain an action for the breach thereof, does not apply to wrongs independent of contracts, so as to waive the necessity for performing conditions precedent required by public authority (e.g., a permit issued by a public authority) as a condition precedent, although the permit was issued upon other grounds.

Finlay v. Winnipeg, 8 B.L.R. 219, 23 Man. L.R. 296, 22 W.W.R. 597, 3 W.W.R. 100.

(§ II A—18)—CROWN BECOMING OWNER OF LAND AFTER NOTICE TO EXPROPRIATE.

The fact that the Crown, after giving notice of expropriation of property required for public purposes both to the owner and for the public purposes both to the tenant and according to the contract of tenancy a waiver of the notice of expropriation served on the tenant, and will not estop the Crown from proceeding with the expropriation as to the tenant's leasehold interest.

The Minister of Public Works and Billing, in the matter of Public Works and Billing, 13 D.L.R. 766, 3 O.W.N. 49, 25 O.W.R. 58.

II By deed or record.

A. By deed.

(§ II A—20)—ACCEPTED SURVEY.—MUNICIPALITY.—(CROWN).

The owner of land as to the width of a highway running through the land, the fact that the land was acquired by the owner through a conveyance which described the land according to a certain plan then registered and which plan showed the width of the highway to be as claimed by the municipality, is binding on the owner, especially where a subsequent survey and plan were made at the request of the government based upon the former plan; and the owner

is not bound by the government's survey and plan where at the request of the government made at the request of the government based upon the former plan; and the owner

is not bound by the government's survey and plan where at the request of the government made at the request of the government based upon the former plan; and the owner

is not bound by the government's survey and plan where at the request of the government made at the request of the government based upon the former plan; and the owner

is not bound by the government's survey and plan where at the request of the government made at the request of the government based upon the former plan; and the owner

is not bound by the government's survey and plan where at the request of the government made at the request of the government based upon the former plan; and the owner

is not bound by the government's survey and plan where at the request of the government made at the request of the government based upon the former plan; and the owner

is not bound by the government's survey and plan where at the request of the government made at the request of the government based upon the former plan; and the owner

is not bound by the government's survey and plan where at the request of the government made at the request of the government based upon the former plan; and the owner

is not bound by the government's survey and plan where at the request of the government made at the request of the government based upon the former plan; and the owner

is not bound by the government's survey and plan where at the request of the government made at the request of the government based upon the former plan; and the owner

is not bound by the government's survey and plan where at the request of the government made at the request of the government based upon the former plan; and the owner

is not bound by the government's survey and plan where at the request of the government made at the request of the government based upon the former plan; and the owner

is not bound by the government's survey and plan where at the request of the government made at the request of the government based upon the former plan; and the owner

is not bound by the government's survey and plan where at the request of the government made at the request of the government based upon the former plan; and the owner

is not bound by the government's survey and plan where at the request of the government made at the request of the government based upon the former plan; and the owner

is not bound by the government's survey and plan where at the request of the government made at the request of the government based upon the former plan; and the owner

is not bound by the government's survey and plan where at the request of the government made at the request of the government based upon the former plan; and the owner

is not bound by the government's survey and plan where at the request of the government made at the request of the government based upon the former plan; and the owner

is not bound by the government's survey and plan where at the request of the government made at the request of the government based upon the former plan; and the owner

is not bound by the government's survey and plan where at the request of the government made at the request of the government based upon the former plan; and the owner

is not bound by the government's survey and plan where at the request of the government made at the request of the government based upon the former plan; and the owner

is not bound by the government's survey and plan where at the request of the government made at the request of the government based upon the former plan; and the owner is in an agreement for the sale of the land, dealt with it and described it by the new plan.

Peterson v. Blithithe & Contracting Co., 12 D.L.R. 444, 23 Man. L.R. 305, 24 W.W.R. 19, 4 W.W.R. 223, reversing 7 D.L.R. 580.

Railways v. Railway Employers' Association, 12 D.L.R. 444, 23 Man. L.R. 305, 24 W.W.R. 19, 4 W.W.R. 223, reversing 7 D.L.R. 580.

An agreement by a temporary employee of the Intercolonial Railway, as a condition to his employment, to become a member of the Temporary's Relief and Insurance Assn. and to accept the benefits provided by its rules and regulations in lieu of all claim for personal injury, is perfectly valid and a bar to his action against the Crown for injuries sustained in the course of employment. By accepting the course of employment, he is estopped from setting up any claim inconsistent with those rules and regulations. [Miller v. G.T.R. Co., and regulations.]

Any claim inconsistent with those rules and regulations. [Miller v. G.T.R. Co., and regulations.]

Any claim inconsistent with those rules and regulations. [Miller v. G.T.R. Co., and regulations.]

Any claim inconsistent with those rules and regulations. [Miller v. G.T.R. Co., and regulations.]

Any claim inconsistent with those rules and regulations. [Miller v. G.T.R. Co., and regulations.]

Any claim inconsistent with those rules and regulations. [Miller v. G.T.R. Co., and regulations.]

Any claim inconsistent with those rules and regulations. [Miller v. G.T.R. Co., and regulations.]

Any claim inconsistent with those rules and regulations. [Miller v. G.T.R. Co., and regulations.]

Any claim inconsistent with those rules and regulations. [Miller v. G.T.R. Co., and regulations.]

Any claim inconsistent with those rules and regulations. [Miller v. G.T.R. Co., and regulations.]

Any claim inconsistent with those rules and regulations. [Miller v. G.T.R. Co., and regulations.]

Any claim inconsistent with those rules and regulations. [Miller v. G.T.R. Co., and regulations.]

Any claim inconsistent with those rules and regulations. [Miller v. G.T.R. Co., and regulations.]

Any claim inconsistent with those rules and regulations. [Miller v. G.T.R. Co., and regulations.]

Any claim inconsistent with those rules and regulations. [Miller v. G.T.R. Co., and regulations.]

Any claim inconsistent with those rules and regulations. [Miller v. G.T.R. Co., and regulations.]

Any claim inconsistent with those rules and regulations. [Miller v. G.T.R. Co., and regulations.]

Any claim inconsistent with those rules and regulations. [Miller v. G.T.R. Co., and regulations.]

Any claim inconsistent with those rules and regulations. [Miller v. G.T.R. Co., and regulations.]

Any claim inconsistent with those rules and regulations. [Miller v. G.T.R. Co., and regulations.]

Any claim inconsistent with those rules and regulations. [Miller v. G.T.R. Co., and regulations.]

Any claim inconsistent with those rules and regulations. [Miller v. G.T.R. Co., and regulations.]

Any claim inconsistent with those rules and regulations. [Miller v. G.T.R. Co., and regulations.]

Any claim inconsistent with those rules and regulations. [Miller v. G.T.R. Co., and regulations.]

Any claim inconsistent with those rules and regulations. [Miller v. G.T.R. Co., and regulations.]

Any claim inconsistent with those rules and regulations. [Miller v. G.T.R. Co., and regulations.]

Any claim inconsistent with those rules and regulations. [Miller v. G.T.R. Co., and regulations.]

Any claim inconsistent with those rules and regulations. [Miller v. G.T.R. Co., and regulations.]

Any claim inconsistent with those rules and regulations. [Miller v. G.T.R. Co., and regulations.]

Any claim inconsistent with those rules and regulations. [Miller v. G.T.R. Co., and regulations.]

Any claim inconsistent with those rules and regulations. [Miller v. G.T.R. Co., and regulations.]

Any claim inconsistent with those rules and regulations. [Miller v. G.T.R. Co., and regulations.]

Any claim inconsistent with those rules and regulations. [Miller v. G.T.R. Co., and regulations.]

Any claim inconsistent with those rules and regulations. [Miller v. G.T.R. Co., and regulations.]

Any claim inconsistent with those rules and regulations. [Miller v. G.T.R. Co., and regulations.]

profit made by him from the sale, where the land was purchased for his benefit.

Shaw v. Tackaberry, 15 D.L.R. 475, 29 O.L.R. 490.

(§ II A—24)—ESTOPPEL BY RESERVATION.

A purchaser, taking under a registered plan is bound by the plan and is not entitled to set up that the plan is invalid as regards streets shown thereon on the ground that the same encroach on another plan and that no order altering the other plan had been made under the statute in that behalf, where the deed of conveyance to such purchaser excepts such streets from the land conveyed and reserves the right of others to use the same.

Peake v. Mitchell; Mitchell v. Peake 19 D.L.R. 140, 4 O.W.N. 988, 24 O.W.R. 291.

(§ II A—26)—COVENANTS FOR TITLE—

CROWN PATENT.

Estoppel arises against the grantor in a deed or mortgage of land in respect of his covenants for title from denying that he was the owner of the land at the date of the deed or mortgage, although his title at that time was merely that of a locattee prior to the Crown Patent; in such case a subsequent issue of the patent to the grantor or to his personal representative after his decease feeds the estoppel in favour of the grantee or mortgagee. [Bolter v. Hamilton, 15 U.C.C.P. 125; Doe d. Irvine v. Webster, 2 U.C.Q.B. 224, followed.]

Berard v. Brunneau, 22 D.L.R. 83, 25 Man. L.R. 400, 8 W.W.R. 635.

C. BY RECORD.

(§ II C—35) — BY RECORD — JUDGMENT AGAINST ONE OR TWO DEBTORS.

A default judgment irregularly signed against the employer in an action for wages brought against the employer and also against the bank which had taken possession of and sold the effects of the employer under the latter's statutory security given the bank under s. 88 of the Bank Act (Can.), 1913, will not bar the plaintiff from proceeding with the action against the bank, where the irregular judgment was abandoned by plaintiff at the trial of the claim against the bank, and leave would if necessary be given to have the judgment formally vacated, but, semble, both remedies might be pursued concurrently and no abandonment would be necessary to save recourse against the bank had the judgment been regular. [Wake v. C.P. Lumber Co., 8 B.C.R. 358, distinguished; Hammond v. Schofield, [1891] 1 Q.B. 455, applied.]

Edborg v. Royal Bank, 16 D.L.R. 385, 19 B.C.R. 314, 27 W.L.R. 680, 6 W.W.R. 180.

RES JUDICATA — SUMMARY CONVICTION — CERTIORARI—HABEAS CORPUS.

The doctrine of res judicata applies to prevent an Appellate Court reopening at the instance of the accused, on an appeal from a habeas corpus order which refused a discharge from custody, the question of the validity of the summary conviction in question which had previously been decided against the accused on her motion to quash the conviction itself against which decision no appeal had been taken.

R. v. Jackson, 29 Can. Cr. Cas. 352, 40 O.L.R. 173, affirming 12 O.W.N. 191. [See 12 O.W.N. 77, 161.]

(§ II C—36)—BY JUDGMENT ON INCONSISTENT PLEADING.

Where in an action for breach of contract the defendants set up a counterclaim asking for (1) rescission and (2) recovery of a certain sum of money as damages for alleged false representations upon which the claim for rescission is based, without asking for alternative relief, and then defendants' counsel elects to rely upon the claim for damages and the Trial Judge gives judgment both in the action and on the counterclaim, and formal judgment is duly entered thereon, the defendants, if they accept the judgment so far as it is in their favour, are precluded from taking a limited appeal from that portion of the judgment which is against them upon their other claim inconsistent therewith, particularly where no cross-appeal has been launched.

Garvey v. Massey, 9 D.L.R. 366, 23 W.L.R. 7, 3 W.W.R. 767.

BY JUDGMENT.

Where a municipal corporation accepted the promissory notes of a taxpayer for his tax arrears and by reason thereof had the taxes marked paid in the collector's tax roll and thereafter upon default in payment of some of the notes, took judgment thereon, the municipality is thereby estopped from afterwards seeking any other remedy for the taxes than what is available upon or incident to the notes and the judgment obtained.

Sturgeon Falls v. Imperial Land Co., 7 D.L.R. 352, 31 O.L.R. 62, 23 O.W.R. 170.

BY JUDGMENT—ACTION TO RECOVER POSSESSION OF LANDS.

Where an action to recover possession of land and for mesne profits brought by a trustee was not competent under the Land Registry Act, R.S.R.C., c. 127, s. 104, by reason of the transfer to the trustee not having been registered, but at the trial the cestui que trust as the registered owner was at the trustee's request substituted as a party plaintiff and after a trial of the merits to which the trustee proceeded under cover of the substituted plaintiffs name the action was dismissed and it was adjudged that neither the trustee nor the cestui que trust was entitled to possession, such judgment may be set up as res judicata in a subsequent action for possession brought by the trustee as to the merits disposed of in the former action; nor is the trustee's position improved as to the second action by the intermediate registration of his title and the operation of the Land Registry Act where the real issue in both proceedings did not affect the validity of the registered title but concerned the amount which the defendant should pay under a purchase agreement from the cestui que trust.

Dominion Trust v. Masterton, 20 D.L.R. 395, 20 B.C.R. 389, 29 W.L.R. 837, 7 W.V.R. 953.

ESTOPPEL BY JUDGMENT—CONCLUSIVENESS.

A judgment inter partes raises an estoppel only against the parties to the proceedings in which it is given and their privies, i.e., those claiming or deriving title under them. As against all other persons, it is res inter alios acta, and with certain exceptions, though conclusive of the fact that the judgment was obtained and all its terms, is not even admissible evidence of the facts established by it.

International Harvester Co. v. Leeson, 7 W.V.R. 590, 30 W.L.R. 293.

BY RECORD—JUDGMENT—RES JUDICATA.

Parties to an action are estopped by the findings of fact involved in the judgment. A party cannot in a subsequent proceeding raise a ground of claim or defence which upon the pleading was open to him in a former one.

Vicars v. Williams Machinery Co., 7 W.V.R. 177.

III. Equitable estoppel or estoppel in pais.

A. IN GENERAL; EFFECT.

(§ III A—40)—ESSENTIALS—KNOWLEDGE OF LEGAL RIGHTS.

No estoppel arises where there is no evidence that both the contracting parties were not fully aware of their respective legal rights. [Toronto Electric Light Co. v. Toronto, 31 D.L.R. 577, 591, [1917] A.C. 84, 38 O.L.R. 72, followed.]

Union Natural Gas Co. v. Chatham Gas Co., 34 D.L.R. 484, 38 O.L.R. 488. [See also 40 O.L.R. 148, 38 D.L.R. 753, reversed, 40 D.L.R. 485, 56 Can. S.C.R. 253.]

BY CONDUCT—MISREPRESENTATION AS TO VALUE—OBLIGATION ON DISCOVERY OF TRUTH.

A plaintiff who seeks to set aside an agreement for the sale of land to him on the ground of the defendant's alleged misrepresentation as to value relied upon and inducing the contract, cannot succeed where it appears that, after the plaintiff actually learned the value of the land, he ratified the agreement.

Giletz v. Runham, 13 D.L.R. 616, 25 W.L.R. 389.

BY CONDUCT.

A defendant who appears as a witness to answer interrogatories on articulated facts and who objects to the relevancy of questions put to him, and who objects to questions put to other witnesses, by such proceeding acquiesces in his being summoned as a defendant and cannot raise later the question of his incapacity.

Serling v. Levine, 7 D.L.R. 266, 47 Can. S.C.R. 193, 12 E.L.R. 216.

To constitute an estoppel in pais, there Can. Dig.—57.

must be a representation made with the intention that it should be acted upon, which representation is acted upon by the party to whom it is made, in the belief that it is true and by which he is prejudiced.

Giberson v. Toronto Construction Co., 40 N.B.R. 309.

(§ III A—41)—BY CONDUCT.

Canada Law Book Co. v. Butterworth, 9 D.L.R. 321, reversed; Canada Law Book Co. v. Butterworth (No. 2), 12 D.L.R. 143, 23 Man. L.R. 332. [Appeal to Privy Council dismissed, 16 D.L.R. 61.]

BY CONDUCT—CHANGE OF POSITION.

To establish an estoppel by conduct it must be shown that the party relying upon it was deceived by the conduct of the other party, and that he altered his own position to his detriment by reason of such conduct of the other party.

Monarch Life Ass'ce Co. v. Macckenzie, 15 D.L.R. 695, 25 O.W.R. 743, reversing 45 Can. S.C.R. 232.

ESSENTIALS OF—CHANGE OF POSITION.

To found an estoppel it must be shown that the party for whose benefit it is claimed altered his position because of the representation or act of the other.

Bank of Ottawa v. Stamco, 22 D.L.R. 679, 8 W.V.R. 574.

KNOWLEDGE OR RELIANCE OF OTHER PARTY.

A party may, without pleading it, take advantage of the estoppel derived from the rule that where one by his words or conduct wilfully causes another to believe in the existence of a certain state of things, and induces him to act on that belief, so as to alter his previous position, the former is concluded from averring against the latter a different state of things as existing at the same time. [Freeman v. Cooke, 18 L.J. Ex. 11 Ruling Cases 82, followed.]

Nixon v. Dowdle (No. 2), 2 D.L.R. 397, 20 W.L.R. 749, 2 W.V.R. 198.

BY CONDUCT—CHANGE OF POSITION.

To establish an estoppel by conduct the party setting it up must show that he relied upon it and altered his position in consequence.

Wood v. Smart, 16 D.L.R. 97, 26 W.L.R. 817.

Where a defendant, being sued by his lessor, in order to avoid all risk of cancellation of the lease, pays an alleged surcharge under protest, reserving to himself the right to proceed by way of action for the recovery of such surcharge; the defendant is, notwithstanding the protest, estopped of his right to recover back the amount of the surcharge so paid, provided he made such payment in the absence of mistake and so made it with full knowledge of the cause, although he could otherwise have resisted the surcharge on the very same grounds which he now invokes in his claim for payment back.

Girard v. Brunet, 18 Rev. de Jur. 503.

(§ III A-45)—FAILURE TO RAISE OBJECTION IN PLEADING.

Where the defendant's counsel failing to take any objection on the trial to the fact that the Statute of Frauds was not pleaded to the counterclaim though he treated it as if it had been properly raised, his objection first taken thereto after trial on an argument directed by the court upon a new question suggested at the close of the trial, will be overruled and the plaintiff's pleadings will be deemed amended so as to raise such defense.

Frith v. Alliance Investment Co., 5 D. L.R. 491, 4 A.L.R. 238, 20 W.L.R. 551, 1 W.W.R. 907. [Affirmed, 10 D.L.R. 765, 6 A.L.R. 197.]

B. OF MARRIED WOMEN.

From attacking assessment of property, see TAXES, III B-110.

Estoppel from claiming dower, see DOWER.

(§ III B-50)—COVERTURE—PLEADING.

A married woman failing to plead coverture is estopped by the judgment from setting it up afterwards.

Pearson v. Calder, 30 D.L.R. 424, 36 O. L.R. 458, 10 O.W.N. 93.

(§ III B-52)—AS TO SEPARATE ESTATE—PERMITTING EXPENDITURES—SUPPOSED OWNERSHIP OF HUSBAND.

A married woman is estopped from setting up her title to land as against the claim for expenditure in developing the land under an agreement with her husband by one whom she encouraged to make expenditures thereon, knowing that he supposed the property to belong to her husband.

Harvey v. Parton, 12 D.L.R. 834, 24 W. L.R. 379.

(§ III B-53)—SEPARATION AGREEMENT.

Where it is provided by a separation agreement that the husband shall obtain a religious separation in another country and if not procured within 3 months by reason of any default or neglect on the part of the wife the allowance for separate maintenance shall cease, it becomes the duty of the wife to facilitate the obtaining of such religious separation, and if she declines to go to the foreign country which she knew when making the agreement would be necessary to the obtaining of the religious separation and thereby prevents her husband from fulfilling that condition of the agreement, and thereafter makes no claim thereon for many years, she will be estopped from claiming that her husband was in default in respect of maintenance payable by the terms of the agreement "until the separation is procured."

Levi v. Levi (No. 2), 3 D.L.R. 535, 21 W.L.R. 593, 2 W.W.R. 521, affirming 1 D.L.R. 776, 20 W.L.R. 598.

(§ III B-54)—TO DENY VALIDITY OF INSTRUMENT—PINNING TOGETHER INCOMPLETE MEMORANDA—STATUTE OF FRAUDS—SUFFICIENCY.

Defendant's request that a memorandum extending an option given by him to plaintiffs to purchase land be pinned to the original option, estops him to assert insufficiency of the memorandum in itself within the Statute of Frauds.

McGregor v. Chalmers, 11 D.L.R. 157, 24 W.L.R. 176, 4 W.W.R. 256.

TO DENY VALIDITY OF INSTRUMENT, STOOD BY.

Where a husband, who had been in the habit of conducting his wife's business, executes an "oil lease" of lands belonging to her, in which lease she does not join, but stands by at the execution thereof, reads the instrument, knows its contents and expresses her approval, and the husband accepts rent under the lease, and later the wife herself actually subscribes her name to the instrument in order to confirm it, she is estopped as against assignees of the lease from claiming that there was no valid execution of the lease.

Maple City Oil & Gas Co. v. Charlton, 7 D.L.R. 345, 3 O.W.N. 1629.

C. AS CORPORATE EXISTENCE OF POWERS.

From disclaiming liability as shareholder after participating in meetings, see COMPANIES, V F-241.

(§ III C-56)—BY-LAW—PAYMENT FOR SHARES.

Where the plaintiff a committeeman of a co-operative society, had in such capacity given effect to a by-law of the society dealing with the withdrawal of members and payment for their shares, he was estopped from setting up, in an action to set aside such by-law, that it was irregular; and leave was granted to set up a proper plea of estoppel.

Merritt, etc., Society v. Young, 34 W.L.R. 826.

D. BY CONTRACTS OR AGREEMENTS GENERALLY; RATIFICATION.

Attornment clause, see Landlord and Tenant, I-1.

As to forfeiture of policy, see Insurance, III F-145; V B-180.

(§ III D-60)—BY AGREEMENTS GENERALLY—RIGHT TO OBJECT TO TITLE—ROOT OF TITLE.

Under an agreement for the sale of realty, a covenant by the purchaser accepting the plaintiff's title does not estop the purchaser from subsequently objecting to the title where the objection goes to the root of the title.

Baskin v. Linden, 17 D.L.R. 789, 24 Man. L.R. 459, 28 W.L.R. 418, 6 W.W.R. 1053.

PROMISE TO ASSIGNEE—"UNTIL OTHERWISE ADVISED."

A promise by a debtor to pay the money due under a building contract, to an assignee thereof, "until otherwise advised," does not estop him from setting up a provision in the contract as to his right to discharge out of the contract price any indebtors for the work on the part of the contractor.

Ledingham v. Merchants Bank, 35 D.L.R. 191, 24 B.C.R. 207, [1917] 2 W.W.R. 1016.
 (§ III D—62)—INITIALS IN BILL OF LADING—WEIGHTS OR QUANTITIES.

Where there is nothing in the bill of lading or shipping bill of the railway to limit its responsibility for the weights or quantities entered on the bill the railway company is estopped from denying that approximately the quantity stated with the addition of the words "more or less" had been received for shipment.

Randall v. C.N.R. Co., 21 D.L.R. 457, 25 Man. L.R. 293, 19 Can. Ry. Cas. 343, 8 W.W.R. 413.

(§ III D—63)—AGENCY—ESTOPPEL TO DENY—CLOTHING AGENT WITH FULL INDICIA OF AUTHORITY.

Where a railway company furnished its customs agent with the necessary documents, including accepted cheques, for the payment of duties necessary to enter goods through the customs house, and the agent, by a system of frauds, was able to pass a large quantity of goods free of duty, receiving back from the customs officers, on the assumption that all imposts had been fully paid, the difference between the face of the cheques and the duty actually paid, which the agent converted to his own use, the company is estopped in an action by the Crown for the duties unpaid on goods so passed and not entered for duty from claiming that in accepting the money returned, he was not acting within the scope of his employment. [British Mutual Banking Co. v. Charnwood Forest R. Co., 18 Q.B.D. 714; Ruben v. Great Fingall Consolidated, [1906] A.C. 439, distinguished.]

The King v. C.P.R. Co., 11 D.L.R. 681, 12 E.L.R. 309, 14 Can. Ex. 150.

AS TO AGENCY.

Where one has so acted as from his conduct to lead another to believe that he has appointed some one to act as his agent and knows that that other person is about to act in that behalf, then unless he interposes, he will in general be estopped from disputing the agency, though in fact no agency really existed. [Pole v. Leask (1863), 33 L.J. Ch. 155, applied.]

Ramelson v. North West Hide & Fur Co., 15 D.L.R. 905, 27 W.L.R. 160.

AS TO AGENCY.

Estoppel does not arise to prevent a denial of agency in respect of a purchase made by one in the name of another from whom in fact he had no authority, where the latter is first notified of the transaction after the pretended agency has been acted upon and after the consequent loss had been sustained, although, instead of directly repudiating any liability, the pretended principal answers a demand for settlement in terms which imported a doubt on his part as to the evidence of his legal position when he had no doubt, ex gr., by writing to the deceived party that while not admitting that the pretended agent is correct in asserting that he was authorized, the writer does not wish for the present to take the stand that he had absolutely no authority. Where one learns that another had been without authority purporting to act in his name, he owes a duty to the third person with whom the transaction has taken place, to inform him that the transaction was without authority, and a failure in this duty may operate as an estoppel against a subsequent denial of authority as regards obligations afterwards entered into by such third person on the faith of the pretended agency.

Wiggin v. Browning, 7 D.L.R. 274, 4 O.W.N. 155.

(§ III D—65)—POWER OF ATTORNEY.

The giving, by one to whom a certificate of title was issued and the land transferred as security for a debt, to the grantor of a power of attorney to deal with the granted land estops the former from questioning a subsequent transfer for value by the grantor to a third person.

Cosper v. Anderson, 5 D.L.R. 218, 20 W.L.R. 347, 21 W.L.R. 902.

(§ III D—66)—BY RATIFICATION—SALES BY PROMOTER TO COMPANY—SECRET PROFITS.

The right to compel a promoter to refund secret profits made from a purchase of property for a company he was promoting, is waived by the company, where, with full knowledge of all the circumstances, it entered into an agreement with the seller of the property for an extension of the time for payment.

Graham Island Collieries v. Canadian Development Co., 12 D.L.R. 316, 3 W.W.R. 817.

BY RATIFICATION.

To establish estoppel by ratification of a voidable transaction entered into between parties in a fiduciary relationship it must be shewn by clear and cogent evidence that the party against whom the estoppel is set up elected to proceed with the transaction as valid, notwithstanding the breach by the other party of the fiduciary obligation to disclose certain facts, and that such election was made after having brought to his mind the proper materials upon which to exercise his power of election.

Laycock v. Lee, 1 D.L.R. 91, 17 B.C.R. 73, 19 W.L.R. 841.

(§ III D—67)—BY RECITAL IN CONTRACTS GENERALLY.

Where the assignee of a contract desires to set up a claim against the other contracting party which would not be available if set up by his assignor, ex gr., his purchase without notice that a part of a sum recited in the contract to have been paid had not in fact been paid by reason of dishonour of the cheque given therefor, and the estoppel against the other contracting party by reason of the assignee's innocent reliance upon the recital, the onus of proving such claim of equitable estoppel is upon the assignee. [Hals. vol. 13, p. 371, par. 523, approved.]

McKenzie v. Goddard, 2 D.L.R. 354, 20 W.L.R. 912, 1 W.W.R. 1108.

(§ III D-68)—FORGERY INCAPABLE OF RATIFICATION — PROMISSORY NOTE — MATERIAL CHANGE.

The unauthorized addition of an interest clause to a promissory note is forgery which is incapable of ratification but under some circumstances the maker may be estopped even from setting up a forgery.

Wood v. Smart, 16 D.L.R. 97, 26 W.L.R. 817.

E. BY CONDUCT, REQUEST OR ADMISSIONS GENERALLY.

Acknowledgment of statement of account, see Banks, IV A-70.

Alteration of note, blanks, see Bills and Notes, V B-135.

(§ III E-70)—BY CONDUCT—UNEARNED FUNDS—CONSTRUCTION CONTRACT—CONTRACTOR—SUBCONTRACTOR.

Where a railway company pays the monthly estimates on a construction contract to a bank under a notice of prior assignment to it by the original contractor, and where the bank has notice that the beneficiary interest in such estimates has passed by equitable assignment to a subcontractor, the bank is estopped on its claim for future advances from denying such equitable assignment in defeat of the subcontractor's claim, if it has with such knowledge silently stood by and permitted the subcontractor to go on with the construction work under the contract. [Russell v. Watts, 10 App. Cas. 590, 613; Stronge v. Hawkes, 4 DeG. M. & G. 186, 196, applied.]

Fraser v. Imperial Bank, 10 D.L.R. 232, 47 Can. S.C.R. 313, 23 W.L.R. 445, 3 W.W.R. 649, reversing 1 D.L.R. 678, 22 Man. L.R. 58.

VENDOR OF LANDS—INCONSISTENT LEASE—RESCISSION.

Where a vendor, notwithstanding his contract to sell the lands whereby the purchaser was entitled to possession, leases for a year to a stranger, he has thereby disabled himself from performing his contract of sale and entitled the purchaser to rescind.

Larson v. Rasmussen, 10 D.L.R. 650, 5 A.L.R. 479, 24 W.L.R. 239, 4 W.W.R. 53.

CORRESPONDENCE—DEFENDANT, LIABILITY OF — PLAINTIFF EMPLOYED BY ANOTHER COMPANY—RELIANCE ON DEFENDANT'S CONDUCT.

Estoppel is not raised by correspondence shewing that defendant company entertained the belief that it was liable for work done by the plaintiff where the plaintiff was in fact employed by another company not assuming to act for or on behalf of defendant company, unless it is also shewn that plaintiff changed his position to his prejudice in reliance upon defendant company's conduct and letters.

Dominion Transport Co. v. General Supply Co., 20 D.L.R. 431, 7 O.W.N. 55.

No estoppel by conduct to deny an agent's authority is established on the part of the principal merely because one of its directors who had no particular management of the property in question upon being shewn a contract for the sale of pulp wood from the principal's land made by an agent who was employed for another purpose and for that alone, said nothing until he returned to the head office where he lost no time in informing the other directors as to the sale, resulting in the principal's solicitors at once taking the necessary steps to protect the principal's interest.

British North American Mining Co. v. Pigeon River Lumber Co., 2 D.L.R. 609, 3 O.W.N. 701, 21 O.W.R. 291.

SHAREHOLDERS' GUARANTY.

A majority of the shareholders who have signed a personal guaranty of the credit of the corporation are by their conduct estopped from alleging that under a resolution the guaranty was only to be effective upon all the shareholders signing it.

Robinson v. Ellis, 27 D.L.R. 391, 9 S.L.R. 149, 34 W.L.R. 294, 19 W.W.R. 370. [See K. & S. Auto Tire v. Rutherford, 28 D.L.R. 357.]

EXPROPRIATION PROCEEDINGS—IRREGULARITIES — PROSECUTING CLAIM BEFORE BOARD.

In expropriation proceedings the conduct and action of the expropriated party in appointing his commissioners and prosecuting his claim before the board estops him, after the award has been made from attacking it on the ground of alleged irregularities anterior to the notice of expropriation.

Royal Trust Co. v. Montreal, 44 D.L.R. 767, 57 Can. S.C.R. 352, affirming 26 Que. K.B. 557.

APPARENT AUTHORITY TO AGENT—AGREEMENT BETWEEN AGENT AND DEBTOR—RATIFICATION BY CONDUCT.

Where an agent of a company has apparently been given authority by the company to make a settlement with a debtor, and agrees with the debtor to take a part of the debtor's goods in full settlement of the debt, the goods being shipped to the company's office and retained for a long period under circumstances which justified the debtor in believing that the agreement had been accepted by the company, the company is estopped on the ground of ratification or adoption from denying such agent's authority or the agreement.

McKay v. Tudhope Anderson Co., 44 D.L.R. 100, 14 A.L.R. 131, [1918] 3 W.W.R. 994.

PURCHASE OF GOODS BY BRANCH OFFICE—

HEAD OFFICE HAVING NO KNOWLEDGE—

AGENT NOT AUTHORIZED TO PURCHASE—

ESTOPPEL FROM DENYING AUTHORITY.

Farm Products v. Macleod Flouring Mills,

43 D.L.R. 770, 14 A.L.R. 128, [1918] 3 W.W.R. 1035.

DEBTOR AND CREDITOR—APPLICATION OF PAYMENTS.

Plaintiffs were estopped from claiming an overpayment to defendant, the amount in question having been credited to plaintiffs' account and plaintiffs not having objected thereto on a going into of accounts between plaintiffs, plaintiffs' father and defendant, as a result of which, on payment of balance then appearing due, plaintiffs had given release to defendant and defendant had given up the father's note.

Milman v. Canadian Fairbanks-Morse Co., [1919] 1 W.W.R. 923.

(§ III E-71)—TO REPUDIATE AGENCY—RATIFICATION—DUTY TO REPUDIATE.

Where one learns that another without authority had purported to act in his name, he owes a duty to the third person with whom the transaction has taken place, to inform him that the transaction was without authority, and a failure in this duty may operate as an estoppel against a subsequent denial of authority.

Maple Leaf Portland Cement Co. v. Owen Sound Iron Works Co., 10 D.L.R. 33, 4 O.W.N. 721, 23 O.W.R. 907.

AS TO AGENCY—ESTOPPEL TO DENY—VALIDITY OF APPOINTMENT.

By holding out a person as its agent or permitting him to appear as such a company is estopped from questioning his authority on the ground that his appointment was not under seal; and contracts with persons dealing with him in good faith without notice of any informality in his appointment are binding on the company.

Fulford v. Loyal Order of Moose (No. 2), 14 D.L.R. 577, 23 Man. L.R. 641, 25 W.L.R. 868, 5 W.W.R. 452.

LEADING TO BELIEF APPOINTMENT OF AGENT.

Where one has so acted as from his conduct to lead another to believe that he has appointed someone to act as his agent, and knows that that other person is about to act on that behalf, then, unless he interposes, he will, in general, be estopped from disputing the agency, though in fact no agency really existed. [Pole v. Leask, 33 L.J. Ch. 161, followed.]

Imperial Elevator v. Hillman, 23 D.L.R. 420, 8 S.L.R. 91, 30 W.L.R. 951, 8 W.W.R. 381.

An owner who takes possession of and occupies a house upon its completion cannot escape payment for alterations made by the contractor because, in building, the contractor had departed from the owner's instructions or from the pattern of house he had indicated when making the contract for its erection.

Mackissock v. Black, 3 D.L.R. 653, 21 W.L.R. 424, 2 W.W.R. 465.

(§ III E-72)—TAKING POSSESSION AND PAYING INSTALLMENT.

A buyer who has taken possession of the immovable sold and some time thereafter has paid an instalment on account of the purchase price, is estopped from later instituting a redhibitory action.

Jacobsen v. Peltier, 3 D.L.R. 132, 42 Que. S.C. 35.

(§ III E-73)—SUBMISSION BY CONDUCT—EXCESSIVE TAXES PAID WITHOUT PROTEST.

An assignee cannot recover taxes paid on the ground that the assessments were excessive, under an assignment of the claim from the heirs of a taxpayer who had paid such taxes for many years without protest or claim that the assessments were excessive.

McCarthy v. Hull, 12 D.L.R. 502.

SUBMISSION.

If the lessor of hotel premises, having a covenant against the lessee's assignment of the lease and against subletting, encourages negotiations between the lessee and third parties to whom the lessee was arranging to sell out the hotel business with the lease of the hotel premises and the lessor's assignee of the rent, with the lessor's knowledge and consent, receives several months' rent the new occupants, the lessor will be estopped from setting up the terms of such covenant against them.

Rudd v. Manhattan, 5 D.L.R. 565, 5 A.L.R. 19, 21 W.L.R. 929, 2 W.W.R. 798.

When one party makes against another a claim in the existence and amount of which he has an honest belief, and the other agrees to pay it without investigation, such agreement, made in good faith, cannot afterwards be repudiated on the ground that the amount is excessive. [Dixon v. Evans, L.R. 5 H.L. 606, applied; Smith v. Cuff, 6 M. & S. 160, distinguished.]

Brandon Electric Light Co. v. Brandon, 1 D.L.R. 793, 22 Man. L.R. 500, 20 W.L.R. 658, 2 W.W.R. 22.

(§ III E-74)—FORBEARANCE—SALE OF SHARES—DELAY IN ASSERTING MISREPRESENTATION.

One whose subscription for company shares was obtained by misrepresentation is not precluded from obtaining relief by delay in asserting his rights, where no change occurs in the status of the company in the meantime. [Farrell v. Manchester, 40 Can. S.C.R. 339; Aaron Reefs v. Twiss, [1896] A.C. 273, followed.]

Pioneer Tractor Co. v. Peebles, 15 D.L.R. 275, 6 S.L.R. 339, 26 W.L.R. 503, 5 W.W.R. 989.

UNAUTHORIZED HYPOTHECATION OF BLANK SHARE CERTIFICATE—FORBEARANCE TO CLAIM IT.

Where the owner of a share certificate endorses it in blank and deposits it with a company as security for an advance, and such company hypothecates it with a bank as collateral security for its own benefit, such hypothecation is a fraud on the owner, and upon payment of his debt to the company he is entitled to a return of the certificate; but where the bank has in good faith made advances to the company on the strength of such security, and the owner, upon learning that the certificate is in the hands of the bank, takes no steps to recover it, he is estopped by conduct from claiming delivery of the certificate free from encumbrances which he, by his own neglect, has allowed to be created. [Colonial Bank v. Cady, 15 App. Cas. 267, followed; France v. Clark, 26 Ch. D. 257, distinguished.]

MacDonald v. Bank of Vancouver, 25 D. L.R. 567, 22 B.C.R. 310, 32 W.L.R. 339, 9 W.W.R. 8.

FORBEARANCE.

In the case of a subsidence or landslide through natural causes, from a high level land to a contiguous lower one, the proprietor of the part carried away, who, though notified to remove it, fails to do so, and when aware of its removal by the owner of the land on which it has fallen, stands by without objection or protest, is estopped, after the expiration of nearly 2 years, from suing to recover the value of it.

Bell's Asbestos Mines v. King's Asbestos Mines, 21 Que. K.B. 234.

(§ III E-75)—WAIVER OF STRICT COMPLIANCE WITH TERMS OF CONTRACT.

Where a purchaser of lands on the small monthly instalment plan makes default in the monthly payments, and where after the occurrence of some of such defaults the vendor condones them and waives the strict condition as to time, that waiver applies to the instalments then overdue and not to those falling due at future dates.

Handel v. O'Kelly, 8 D.L.R. 44, 22 Man. L.R. 562, 22 W.L.R. 407, 3 W.W.R. 367.

A strict compliance with the provision in an order for the purchase of an engine, that if the machine failed to develop the horsepower stipulated for in the order the seller should be immediately notified thereof by the purchaser in a specified manner, is waived by the seller sending out experts to remedy the defect upon a notice to them from the purchaser not exactly in accordance with such provision.

Lennox v. Goodl. etc., Co., 5 D.L.R. 836, 5 S.L.R. 228, 21 W.L.R. 918, 2 W.W.R. 829.

(§ III E-78)—TO DENY BEING SHAREHOLDER.

A shareholder's attendances as such at the meetings of the company may estop him from denying that he is a shareholder, but do not estop him from denying that he is a shareholder in respect of a greater number of shares than were covered by the certificates issued, issued to him and on which alone his vote at the shareholders' meeting would be based.

Re Matthew Guy Carriage & Automobile Co., (Thomas' Case), 1 D.L.R. 642, 3 O.W.N. 902, 21 O.W.R. 842.

(§ III E-79) — TO DENY BY RECEIVING RENT.

If a lessor of land who, after beginning suit against his lessee for possession, accepts rent from the lessee he thereby recognizes the latter as his tenant and his claim for possession must fail.

Alexander v. Herman, 2 D.L.R. 239, 3 O.W.N. 755, 21 O.W.R. 461.

TO DISPUTE LANDLORD'S TITLE.

Where, in proceedings against an alleged overholding tenant, certain evidence tendered by the alleged tenant in contradiction of the lease was improperly rejected by the Trial Judge, the question of estoppel from disputing the landlord's title does not arise until evidence for and against the making of the lease has first been fully introduced, although it is competent for and the duty of the Trial Judge to determine both questions (tenancy and estoppel) in their proper order.

Re St. David's and Lahey, 7 D.L.R. 84, 4 O.W.N. 32, 23 O.W.R. 12.

TO DENY VALIDITY OF PATENT.

A master who uses an invention under a license from his servant, the patentee, which license is not express, but is implied by law from their relationship and from the circumstances surrounding the invention, is estopped from denying the validity of the patent.

Imperial Supply Co. v. G.T.R. Co., 7 D. L.R. 504, 11 E.L.R. 340, 14 Can. Ex. 88.

CONDUCT—INTENTION—PREJUDICE.

Hathfield v. C.P.R. Co., 17 W.L.R. 554.

F. BY ASSENT.

(§ III F-80)—BY ASSENT—ENGINEERING CONTRACT—CERTIFICATE OF NAMED REFERENCE.

The acceptance of progress certificates from the engineer, who is declared by the contract to be the sole referee to "prevent all disputes and litigation," will not debar the contractor in respect of labour only in the installation of a public improvement from claiming damages not mentioned in the progress certificates for delays caused by the municipality's neglect to promptly supply the necessary material which it was to do at its own expense, as it cannot be assumed that the latter damages were to be included in a reference of disputes to the engineer which the entire contract shews to have been contemplated only in respect of the contractor's work.

MacDougall v. Penticon, 16 D.L.R. 436, 20 B.C.R. 401, 27 W.L.R. 713, 6 W.W.R. 478.

BY ASSENT.

There can be no ratification of a sheriff's sale vitiated by reason of grave informalities by the defendant in the case, his consent being absolutely useless for this purpose as against the rights of third parties.

Savoie-Guay v. DesLauriers; Rose v. Savoie-Guay Co., 7 D.L.R. 205, 21 Que. K.B. 560.

(§ III F-82)—APPEARING BY PARTY—LICENSING BOARD ISSUING LICENSE.

Upon a hearing before the Board of License Commissioners sitting as a licensing court on questions as to the renewal or transfer of liquor licenses under the Municipal Act, R.S.B.C. 1911, c. 170, s. 339, any person exercising his right to appear by his own motion as a party is estopped by his admissions there made as to the facts. [Stracey v. Blake, 1 M. & W. 168, applied.]

Re McEwen v. Hesson, 17 D.L.R. 99, 28 W.L.R. 137, 6 W.W.R. 977. [Affirmed, 20 R.C.R. 94.]

G. BY LACHES, SILENCE OR ACQUIESCENCE.

See Companies, V F-261, 262.

(§ III G-83)—BY LACHES OR ACQUIESCENCE.

Where a quantity of grain stored in a granary of the owner has been improperly seized by one claiming a lien thereon under the Threshing Lien Ordinance (Alta.) and sold to a third person, thus rendering the person seizing the same liable in conversion to the owner, the latter cannot complain if the court assess the value of the grain at the price sold to the third person rather than the market price at the time of the conversion, where the owner, knowing that the illegal seizure was being made and being in a position to prevent the same and to notify the buyer not to take it, remained passive and allowed the seizure and sale to be made, and the court is satisfied that the rights of the parties could have been adjusted if the owner had taken advantage of his opportunities to interfere.

Primeveau v. Morden, 11 D.L.R. 272, 6 A.L.R. 52, 24 W.L.R. 268, 4 W.W.R. 637.

BY LACHES—MUNICIPALITY—WAIVER OF RIGHT TO ASSERT FORFEITURE OF FRANCHISE.

Mere forbearance on the part of a municipality in asserting a forfeiture of a street railway company's franchise for noncompliance with its requirements, does not amount to a waiver of or acquiescence in the default of the company.

Brantford v. Grand Valley R. Co., 15 D.L.R. 87, 5 O.W.N. 583, 25 O.W.R. 543.

MARRIED WOMAN—DELAY IN BRINGING ACTION—HUSBAND RECEIVING MONEY FROM WIFE TO INVEST.

Mere delay by a married woman in asserting a claim against her husband on an express trust in respect of money belonging to her separate estate, received by her husband, is not sufficient to defeat an action to recover it, where the husband recognized the validity of her claim during the time of such delay, since a married woman is not chargeable with laches because of forbearance to bring an action against her husband to recover the money during the continuance of the marital relation.

Ellis v. Ellis, 15 D.L.R. 100, 5 O.W.N. 361, 25 O.W.R. 539.

BY ACQUIESCENCE—CORRESPONDENCE—SALE—COMMISSION TRANSACTION.

Where the plaintiff claims for the purchase price of consignments of apples, a letter and telegram by the alleged purchaser to the plaintiff inconsistent with a purchase and only consistent with a commission transaction operate as an estoppel against the plaintiff, it appearing that such letter and telegram were tacitly acquiesced in by the plaintiff.

Donaldson v. Scott Fruit Co., 18 D.L.R. 18, 28 W.L.R. 609.

BY LACHES, SILENCE OR ACQUIESCENCE—RECEIVING BILLS FOR RENT OF ENGINES—VERBAL REPUDIATION SUFFICIENT WHEN.

A contract to pay rental for a chattel is not created by the owner's notice to its possessor wrongfully detaining it that if he does not return it by a specified time he will be charged rent for it, unless such proposal is assented to by the latter.

Vancouver Machinery Co. v. Vancouver Timber & Trading Co., 18 D.L.R. 491, 29 W.L.R. 93, 6 W.W.R. 1523, reversing 17 D.L.R. 575.

INFRINGEMENT OF TRADEMARK—INJUNCTION.

A delay of several months in bringing an action for injunction, after the discovery of the infringement of a trademark, does not amount to such laches or acquiescence as will deprive the plaintiff of his remedy.

John Palmer Co. v. Palmer-McLellan ShoePaek Co., 37 D.L.R. 201, 45 N.B.R. 34.

BY SILENCE—FAILURE OF COMPANY TO CLAIM LIEN ON SHARES—EFFECT OF PURCHASER ACQUIRING NOTICE BEFORE PASSING OF LEGAL TITLE.

A company is not estopped from claiming a lien on shares of its stock for an indebtedness from the holder to the company, as against a purchaser from the latter, on the ground that the representative of the company consented to the sale without claiming its lien, of which the purchaser did not have notice at the time of the sale, but of which he was informed before receiving an assignment of the stock certificate, and paying over the purchase money.

Box v. Bird's Hill Sand Co. (No. 2), 12 D.L.R. 556, 23 Man. L.R. 415, 24 W.L.R. 668, affirming 8 D.L.R. 768.

Since a liquidator in proceedings for the compulsory winding-up of a bank has no right under s. 36 of the Winding-up Act, R.S.C. 1906, c. 144, to accept less than full payment from stockholders under s. 130 of the Bank Act, R.S.C. 1906, c. 29, on a deficiency in the assets and property of the bank, an estoppel by reason of his laches cannot be asserted against him where he places upon the list of contributories the transferees of the stock instead of the holders on the day the proceedings were commenced, since the liquidator cannot accomplish by mere laches that which he could not do with deliberation and intention. [Re National Bank of Wales, [1907] 1 Ch. 298, distinguished.]

Re Ontario Bank; Massey and Lee's Case, 8 D.L.R. 243, 27 O.L.R. 192.

The fact of a person seeing a prospectus wherein a company makes certain statements, which, if true, would affect such person's rights, and of not proceeding immediately to protest against such statements is no proof of acquiescence in such statements and of ratification of the acts or deeds therein described.

Consumers Cordage Co. v. Molson, 2 D.L.R. 451.

TAKING CHEQUE IN FULL PAYMENT.

The acceptance of a cheque bearing the words "in full rent" does not necessarily imply acquiescence therein on the part of the person who receives the cheque. In every case the special circumstances must be considered.

Royal Trust Co. v. White, 50 Que. S.C. 277.

A party who carries out an agreement and stands by for a number of years, after which a rescission of it must result in an unfair advantage to himself, is estopped from suing therefor.

Philé v. Coté, 21 Que. K.B. 128.

BY LACHES—ANIMALS—CONDUCT OF OWNER—POSSESSION.

Alcock v. Smith, 26 W.L.R. 322.

AS TO INSURANCE.

The fact that an agent, who had no authority to waive any of the conditions of a policy of insurance, after the expiration of the 2 years in which an assured person was, by the terms of the policy, prohibited from entering the employment of a railway without a permit from the company, acquired a knowledge that the former was engaged in such employment, which was never communicated to the company, cannot amount to a waiver of such condition of the policy.

Smith v. Excelsior Life Insurance Co., 4 D.L.R. 99, 3 O.W.N. 1521, 11 O.W.R. 863.

GOODS TAKEN AS PART CONSIDERATION—DUTY TO GIVE NOTICE OF INSUFFICIENCY OF QUANTITY OR VALUE—CONDUCT IMPLYING THEIR SUFFICIENCY.

Paquet Co. v. Bordeleau, 41 Que. S.C. 12.

(§ III G—87)—ACQUIESCENCE—MODIFICATION OF TERMS.

The vendor under an option of purchase who, on receiving a letter of purported acceptance accompanied by a cheque for the deposit, cashes the cheque pending negotiations between the parties as to discrepancies between the option itself and the formal agreement sent to him for signature, is not thereby estopped from insisting upon the terms in the option with which the cheque was consistent and from objecting to a variation made therefrom in the formal agreement; and if the agreement falls through because the parties are not ad idem, whereupon the vendor offers to return the money, his objection to the terms sought to be introduced by the prospective purchaser is not waived by his having cashed the cheque.

Pearson v. O'Brien (No. 2), 11 D.L.R. 176, 22 W.L.R. 703, 4 W.W.R. 342.

OPTION TO PURCHASE LANDS—MODIFICATION—FORFEITURE—WAIVER.

Defendant did not waive the right to avoid an option given plaintiffs to purchase land, because of dishonour of a cheque given by one of them for one-half the price, by allowing the latter time in which to pay the cheque.

McGregor v. Chalmers, 11 D.L.R. 157, 24 W.L.R. 176.

AS TO CONTRACTS—MODIFICATION OF TERMS—ACQUIESCENCE—WAIVER.

A condition that a proposal to modify the terms of an existing contract should not become effective until a new written agreement was entered into, is not waived by the conduct of the parties where they did nothing whatever in reliance upon such proposal after it was made.

Wallace Bell Co. v. Moose Jaw, 4 D.L.R. 438, 5 S.L.R. 155, 21 W.L.R. 871, 2 W.W.R. 752.

AS TO INFANT.

Where a bank has more than $500 on deposit in the name of an infant, and has paid a cheque for over $500 drawn by him upon his account during his infancy, and the infant has made no objection to such payment for more than a year and a half after coming of age, he will be precluded by his laches from recovering the amount of the cheque from the bank notwithstanding that he believed himself to be a year younger than he was.

Freeman v. Bank of Montreal, 5 D.L.R. 418, 26 O.L.R. 451, 22 O.W.R. 276.

(§ III G—88)—RATIFICATION AND ACQUIESCENCE—ENDORSEMENT OF NOTE IN ANOTHER'S NAME.

The act of another in placing the name of a person on a note to the knowledge of the person whose name has been placed, may be rendered valid by a ratification or acquiescence; and where the note to which the signature was disputed had been used to replace other notes which the party whose name appeared had actually signed and the extent of his liability was not increased, evidence that he and others by way of guaranty had signed a transfer to the bank of another signature referring to the endorsement of the disputed note as being the subject of the guaranty, is a proof of ratification.

Banque Nationale v. Lemaire, 15 D.L.R. 152, 44 Que. S.C. 445. [Affirmed, 25 Que. K.B. 259.]

BANKS—CUSTOMER—CHEQUES SIGNED BY OTHER PARTY—ACQUIESCENCE.

If a customer of a bank knowingly lets the bank believe that he has signed cheques which were presented for payment and paid by the bank, he is estopped from denying that subsequent disputed cheques were signed by him or by his authority.

Cabana v. Bank of Montreal, 50 D.L.R. 88, [1919] 3 W.W.R. 969.

AS TO FORGERY OF INDORSEMENT.

Where money had been paid by the defendant on account of the plaintiff on an unauthorized order, the plaintiff was held not to be estopped from denying or repudiating it simply because he had retained the forged order in his possession without prosecuting the wrongdoer, the defendant's position not having been materially altered to its disadvantage by the conduct of the plaintiff in this respect. 2. An act relied on as a waiver should (unless it has altered the position of the other party, thereby giving rise to an estoppel), be of a nature inconsistent with the exercise of the right claimed to have been waived.

Langley v. Peel Lumber Co., 11 E.L.R. 126.

(§ III G-90)—EQUITABLE ESTOPPEL—CONDUCT—AS TO REAL PROPERTY.

The plaintiff, who by purchasing the equitable interest of his vendor in a tract of land, with notice that such vendor had previously agreed to sell an undivided fractional interest in such tract of land to the defendant, renders himself prima facie liable to carry out his vendor's bargain so made with the defendant, is estopped from setting up an alleged collateral default by his vendor if such default was directly attributable to the plaintiff himself.

Strathy v. Stephens, 15 D.L.R. 125, 29 O.L.R. 383.

BY LACHES—TIMBER LIMIT—FAILURE TO INCLUDE ALL OF IN SURVEY—TRESPASS BY ONE AWARE OF LOCATOR'S CLAIM.

The failure of the plaintiff to include in his survey of a timber limit all of the land located, does not estop him, in the absence of evidence of an intention on his part to abandon the omitted land, from asserting his rights thereto against one trespassing thereon after being warned to keep off.

Chew Lumber Co. v. Howe Sound Co., 13 D.L.R. 735, 18 B.C.R. 312, 25 W.L.R. 105, 4 W.W.R. 1308.

CONTINUING PAYMENTS ON CONTRACT PROCURED BY FRAUD—IGNORANCE OF LEGAL REMEDY.

Continuing payments on a contract for the sale of land procured by fraud, or a delay in rescinding it on that account, does not necessarily amount to such acquiescence as will estop the purchaser from exercising his right of rescission, where all the material facts giving him the right to avoid the contract have not been discovered by the purchaser and where he was in ignorance of his rights as to the proper legal remedy.

Harvey v. Lawrence, 25 D.L.R. 706, 9 W.W.R. 91, 32 W.L.R. 297.

EXECUTORS—SALE OF LAND—ATTACK ON BY WIDOW OF TESTATOR—RELEASE—ESTOPPEL—CLAIM AGAINST ESTATE—ADJUDICATION BY SURROGATE'S COURT JUDGE.

Shaw v. Tackaberry, 4 O.W.N. 1369, 24 O.W.R. 630.

(§ III G-91)—EASEMENT—CONVEYANCE OF LOT ABUTTING ON INTENDED STREET—EFFECT OF.

The successor in title of the owner of a block of land containing 25 acres which had been laid out on a plan in lots with intended streets running through it, is estopped from denying that a purchaser of a lot described as abutting on one of the intended streets is entitled to use it as a right-of-way, although it is not used as a street and nothing has been done to it with the intention of making it a public street.

Budd v. Johnston, 42 N.B.R. 485.

(§ III G-94)—OF TENANT.

A tenant after having given notice of the exercise of an option to renew a lease, but which notice is unsigned, and who agrees in writing to surrender 2 years of the renewal term of 5 years, is estopped from asserting that the renewed term was to exist for more than 3 years.

Greenwood v. Bancroft, 2 D.L.R. 417, 20 W.L.R. 816, 2 W.W.R. 162.

(§ III G-102)—PURCHASE INDUCED BY MISREPRESENTATION—LACHES—OMISSION TO ASSERT CLAIM—DISCOVERY OF FRAUD.

It cannot be held that one who was induced to purchase land through fraud and misrepresentation, elected to abide by the sale, because of delay thereafter in suing for redress if the deception that had been practised upon him was of such a character as to preclude the discovery of the fraud until the time of bringing the action.

Boulter v. Stocks, 10 D.L.R. 316, 49 C.L.J. 232, 47 Can. S.C.R. 440, affirming 5 D.L.R. 268.

(§ III G-105)—PERMITTING IMPROVEMENTS—PARTY WALL—USE OF END BY ONE OWNER FOR FRONTAL FACING OF BUILDING.

Failure to object to the construction by one owner, for his own convenience, of the frontal facing of his building across the entire end of a party wall, does not estop his co-owner from insisting on the removal of half of it at a future time when he has occasion to make use of his portion of the wall.

Alberta Loan & Investment Co. v. Beveridge, 12 D.L.R. 292, 24 W.L.R. 736, 4 W.W.R. 995.

H. BY REPRESENTATIONS.

(§ III H-110)—RETRACTING BEFORE ACTED UPON.

Representations by the owner of a sand beach that it was public property, in reliance on which one has spent money for equipment to remove sand therefrom, will not create an estoppel against the owner, if before the representations were acted upon they were retracted, and the owner's true position disclosed.

Reid v. Standard Construction Co., 34 D. L.R. 65, 51 N.S.R. 33.

CLAIM OF CREDITOR AGAINST COMPANY—

MEETING OF CREDITORS OF COMPANY—
STATEMENT OF REPRESENTATIVE OF CREDITOR THAT HIS CLAIM WAS AGAINST THIRD PERSON—CHANGE OF POSITION OF COMPANY AND CREDITORS ON FAITH OF STATEMENT—ADOPTION OF STATEMENT BY CREDITOR—BILL OF EXCHANGE DRAWN ON THIRD PERSON—LETTER OF CREDITOR DEMANDING PAYMENT.

Paget Grain Door Co. v. North American Chemical Co., 13 O.W.N. 270.

(§ III H—112)—REPRESENTATIONS BY WIFE AS TO TITLE TO LAND—RELIANCE BY WIFE'S CREDITORS.

Representations made by a wife in respect of her title to land, and acted upon by her creditors, but which is in fact only held by her as trustee for her husband to be reconveyed to him upon his recovery from an illness, will not create an estoppel against the husband not being himself a party to the representations.

Windsor Auto Sales Agency v. Martin, 25 D.L.R. 549, 33 O.L.R. 354.

J. BY INCONSISTENCY IN ACTS, CLAIMS, ETC.

When inconsistent with claim for rescission for fraud, see Vendor and Purchaser, I E—27.

(§ III J—120)—BY INCONSISTENCY IN ACTS—
LEVY AND SEIZURE—BOND FOR DELIVERY OF GOODS AND SPECIAL STIPULATION.

Though a mere statement by a sheriff to an execution debtor, made in the office of the sheriff, that certain goods belonging to the debtor were seized by virtue of an execution against him, does not constitute a valid seizure, yet where the debtor admits the seizure and gives a bond for the delivery of the goods to the sheriff, he is estopped from setting up that the goods are not under seizure.

Dodd v. Vail, 9 D.L.R. 534, 23 W.L.R. 62. [Affirmed, 10 D.L.R. 694, 4 W.W.R. 291.]

BY INCONSISTENCY IN ACTS—SALE OF GRAIN WITHOUT SEVERANCE—PASSING OF TITLE.

Where a part of a quantity of grain stored in a grain elevator was sold to the plaintiff without severance or actual delivery of the parts so sold, and where after the sale, and before severance or delivery the entire quantity was destroyed by fire, the circumstance that, in an adjustment of the resulting insurance claims under a "blanket policy" between the seller and his insurers, the seller had stipulated with the insurers to stand between them and the plaintiff in the matter of the settlement and payment of the fire loss as a whole to him will not estop the seller as between him and the plaintiff from setting up that title under the stated sale had actually passed to the plaintiff.

Inglis v. Richardson, 10 D.L.R. 158, 4 O. W.N. 655, 24 O.W.R. 721. [Reversed, 14 D.L.R. 137.]

CONTRACT FOR SALE OF LAND—NONPAYMENT—FORECLOSURE—IMPOSSIBILITY OF PERFORMANCE.

A vendor who has put it out of his power to deliver possession of land he contracted to sell, and who refused to accept the remainder of the purchase money except on conditions he could not rightfully impose, cannot foreclose the contract for nonpayment of the purchase money.

Tytler v. Genung, 12 D.L.R. 426, 24 W.L.R. 569, 4 W.W.R. 797.

BY INCONSISTENCY IN ACTS, CLAIMS, ETC.

The accuracy of the weighing apparatus of a threshing machine that complied with the requirements of s. 33 of the Weights and Measures Act, cannot, even if the question could be raised without being pleaded, be attacked on the ground that the manner of ascertaining the number of bushels of grain threshed was contrary to the provisions of such Act, by one who tacitly assented to the use of such method of measurement by taking the grain from the separator, and afterwards, without attempting to ascertain the quantity under the Weights and Measures Act, broke the bulk thereof by drawing some of the grain to market.

Kyles v. Wilson, 3 D.L.R. 702, 21 W.L.R. 416.

(§ III J—125)—POSSESSORY TITLES—LANDS HELD IN COMMON—TRESPASSERS.

A tract of land devised by a testator to his sons to be held as tenants in common for their natural life, which had been tenesed off and partitioned by them into their respective severalties, does not create an estoppel against trespassers holding such land adversely against the heirs of the reversioner.

Stuart v. Taylor, 22 D.L.R. 282, 33 O.L.R. 20.

AS TO TITLE.

Where the plaintiff, after the death of one from whom he obtained title to land with warranty, discovered that the grantor had only a life interest and a mortgagee's title thereto, and informed the executrix, as well as the remaindermen, that he had a right of action against them on the warranty, but that rather than have difficulty he would give them $250 for a quit-claim deed of their interest in the land, which was refused, but; subsequently, upon the plaintiff threatening to foreclose the mortgage and bring an action against them on the warranty, they executed and delivered him such deed upon the payment of $500, the plaintiff not suggesting that he reserved or intended to reserve any further claim against them, he cannot subsequently maintain an action against them on the warranty.

VanBuskirk v. McDermott, 5 D.L.R. 5, 46 N.S.R. 98, 11 E.L.R. 100.

(3 III J-126)—TO PATENT OR ACCEPTING TITLE.

An estoppel against a person licensed to use a patent of invention from his disputing the validity of the patent may arise from the relative positions of the parties even without recital in the written license.

Imperial Supply Co. v. G.T.R. Co., 1 D.L.R. 243, 10 E.L.R. 414, 13 Can. Ex. 507.

(3 III J-130) — BY ACTS OR CLAIM IN JUDICIAL PROCEEDINGS — DEFENCE ON GROUNDS OTHER THAN FRAUD — SUBSEQUENTLY DISCOVERED FRAUD.

The fact that a person in an action for specific performance justifies his refusal to perform on other grounds, in ignorance of the existence of fraud in the inception of the agreement, will not prevent him from subsequently setting up the fraud to defeat the contract.

Beckman v. Wallace, 13 D.L.R. 541, 29 O.L.R. 96.

INCONSISTENCY OF CLAIMS IN JUDICIAL PROCEEDING.

Where a vendor is entitled to rescind a contract for the purchase of land by reason of the purchaser's long default in paying the instalments agreed on, but instead of so doing, he launches an action for the specific performance of the agreement and recovery of the outstanding purchase money the tender by the purchaser of such purchase money with a prepared deed for execution revives the contract, and the vendor is estopped from rescinding. [Dunlop v. Bolster, 6 D.L.R. 468, 4 A.L.R. 408; Handel v. O'Kelly, 8 D.L.R. 44, followed.]

O'Kelly v. Downie, 15 D.L.R. 158, 26 W.L.R. 413, 5 W.W.R. 859.

INCONSISTENT ACTS IN JUDICIAL PROCEEDING—CRIMINAL LAW—PLEA OF GUILTY AS BAR TO FUTURE CONTESTS OF FACTS ON APPEAL.

A plea of guilty operates as an estoppel against the accused from calling upon the prosecution to produce evidence to establish that he is guilty, and quia the facts alleged in the information or indictment, he is barred from a trial de novo which in certain cases is available on an appeal from two justices holding a summary trial on notice of appeal being given by a person aggrieved (Cr. Code, ss. 749, 797, as amended in 1913); any objection to be taken must then be to the form of the conviction.

R. v. Gillis, 18 D.L.R. 461, 23 Can. Cr. Cas. 160, 29 W.L.R. 129.

PRIOR INCREASED PUNISHMENT BECAUSE OF BREACH OF RECOGNIZANCE — ENFORCEMENT OF RECOGNIZANCE.

The fact that a court trying a charge of assault doubled the fine which it was about to impose on getting information that the defendant was at the time under recognizance to keep the peace given on complaint of threats to another party unconnected with the subsequent assault, will not bar the re-arresting of the recognizance; binding to good behaviour is not by way of punishment and the increase in the fine and the subsequent arrest of the recognizance are not two punishments for the same thing. [R. v. Rogers, 7 Mod. 29 applied.]

R. v. Walker, 18 D.L.R. 541, 23 Can. Cr. Cas. 179.

ACTS IN JUDICIAL PROCEEDINGS—DEPOSING

AS PLAINTIFF TO EXAMINATION FOR DISCOVERY.

A person who upon being served with an appointment for examination for discovery appears before the examiner and swears that he is the plaintiff will be estopped from denying after the claim has been dismissed with costs that he was the real plaintiff, where the defendants proceeded to trial on the assumption that he was the plaintiff notwithstanding a slight difference in name.

Barisino v. Curtis, 22 D.L.R. 899, 8 O.W.N. 195.

ACTION FOR DESTRUCTION OF TIMBER — SWORN STATEMENT AS TO QUANTITY.

A plaintiff suing a railway company for the value of logs cut in lumbering operations and which had been set fire by sparks from a locomotive of the railway line which ran through the timber limits, will, in the absence of satisfactory evidence of mistake, be held to the statement made in his sworn return to the government agent of the number of logs destroyed by the fire.

Dutton v. C.N.R. Co., 23 D.L.R. 43, 19 Can. Ry. Cas. 72, 31 W.L.R. 367. [Affirmed except as to damages 30 D.L.R. 250.]

WAIVER OF PROCEDURE REGULATIONS—AFFILIATION PROSECUTION.

The provision of s. 9 of the Illegitimate Children's Act, R.S.M. 1913, c. 92, that the justice of the peace shall take the information of the mother in affiliation proceedings brought by her or on her behalf is one which concerns procedure only and may be waived as it does not go to the jurisdiction; such waiver operates against the mother to prevent her repudiating the proceedings which were dismissed where the parties went to a hearing on the merits without objection in respect thereof on which the mother attended and gave evidence.

Davis v. Feinstein, 24 D.L.R. 798, 24 Can. Cr. Cas. 160, 25 Man. L.R. 507, 31 W.L.R. 635, 8 W.W.R. 1003.

ACTS OR CLAIMS IN JUDICIAL PROCEEDING.

The vendor who sues for the cancellation of a promise of sale of lands is not thereby estopped from praying for the demolition of work done in contravention to such promise of sale.

Lapierre v. Magnan, 2 D.L.R. 544, 42 Que. S.C. 59.

The trial of a contentious case in a Surrogate Court upon a date upon which, under the Surrogate Courts Act, 10 Edw. VII. (Ont.) c. 31, s. 29 (1), such a case cannot properly be tried, is not a nullity, but an irregularity only, and one who, by his counsel, appears at the trial, cross-examines witnesses, and argues as to costs, will be held to have waived the irregularity.

Connors v. Reid, 3 D.L.R. 636, 3 O.W.N. 1137.

Payment of the costs of an action, by the plaintiff to the defendant's attorney, made solely for the purpose of releasing the real estate of the plaintiff from the encumbrance resulting from the registry of the judgment, in order by this means to enable the plaintiff to sell such real estate but without any intention on the part of the plaintiff to waive his right to further prosecute the claim set up in his action, or the benefit of his proceedings in appeal against such judgment, does not constitute an estoppel by way of acquiescence in the judgment appealed against and does not put an end to the plaintiff's action nor invalidate his appeal in so far at least as the debt itself, and the costs of the appeal are concerned; and in these circumstances a motion on the part of the defendant asking the dismissal of the plaintiff's appeal based on such alleged acquiescence will be dismissed with costs.

Leroux v. Reade, 18 Rev. de Jur. 323.

K. BY RECEIVING BENEFITS.

See also Companies, V, F—261.

To attack regularity of judicial sale after sharing in proceeds, see Judicial Sale, II, A—15.

(§ III K—135)—VENUE OF LAND—ESTOPPEL BY CROPPING—RESCISSON—DAMAGES—FALSE REPRESENTATIONS.

A vendee of land loses his right to rescission of the agreement of sale, on the ground of false representations by the vendor, where, after he learns that the representations are untrue, he remains on the land and puts in a crop, but he is entitled to a set-off for any damages he may have sustained by reason of such false representations.

Strachan v. McGinn, 9 D.L.R. 448, 23 W.L.R. 66, 3 W.W.R. 795.

BY RECEIVING BENEFITS—IMPROVEMENTS ON LANDS INDUCED BY PROMISE TO GRANT.

While a person who expends money on property in which he has no interest has, as a rule, no lien therefor against the owner, particularly where the expenditure was incurred independently by such person for good and sufficient reasons of his own, although resulting in direct advantages to the owner; yet where the latter stands by and allows the defendant to spend money on certain farm lands in the expectation that the owner will receive the benefit of it, such defendant is entitled to a lien for the increased value resulting from the expenditure; and this principle applies where the expenditure is made upon the faith of a statement by the owner of his intention to give the lands to the defendant who makes the improvement, and the defendant is entitled to a lien for the reasonable and just value of such improvements in so far as they are permanent.

McBride v. McNeil, 9 D.L.R. 503, 27 O.L.R. 455, 23 O.W.R. 558.

COMPANY—BY RECEIVING BENEFITS FROM ULTRA VIRES CONTRACT.

The receipt of benefits by a company under an ultra vires contract and the altering of the position of the other party in reliance thereon, do not estop the company from setting up the invalidity of the agreement.

Union Bank v. McKillop, 16 D.L.R. 701, 30 O.L.R. 87. [Affirmed, 24 D.L.R. 787.]

BY RECEIVING BENEFITS.

Holt v. Brooks, 11 D.L.R. 838, 18 B.C.R. 301, 24 W.L.R. 944.

(§ III K—139)—LEGATEE—BENEFICIARIES.

Beneficiaries of a testator who have received all or part of the purchase money on the sale of the land of the estate cannot subsequently set up the claim that the sale was void or voidable.

Re Mills, 3 D.L.R. 614, 3 O.W.N. 1036, 21 O.W.R. 887.

Where a partner sold his interest in the business to the other members of the firm for a sum payable at a specified time and payment was not enforced when due (the selling partner having died before its maturity) a trustee and executor of his estate who was also a cestui que trust under the will and who acquiesced in allowing the debt to remain uncollected and received his share of the interest paid thereon from time to time by the firm and who with full knowledge of his rights executed a release and discharge under seal to his predecessors in the trusteeship to whom the firm had repaid the debt has no right to also claim an accounting of the profits earned in excess of the interest by the loan after it became due.

Carvell v. Aitken, 2 D.L.R. 709, 10 E.L.R. 432.

(§ III K—142)—RECEIVING INTEREST.

Where one agrees to sell securities for another within a limited time, for the face value thereof, or, if after the time agreed, for the face value thereof with accrued interest, and puts off the owner of the securities from time to time with promises to fulfil his agreement, the owner does not, by accepting interest and surrendering the coupons on the securities, waive his right to insist upon a sale.

Martin v. Munis, 3 D.L.R. 435, 3 O.W.N. 1055.

(§ III K—143)—BY RECEIVING PAYMENTS—

CONTRACT TO CONVEY—DEFAULT BY PURCHASER—CONDOXATION.

A contract vendor did not condone default in payment by the purchaser by receiving a partial payment after serving notice of intention to cancel the contract, but before expiration of the redemption period under the notice, since the vendor could assume that the balance due would be paid in that time. Massey v. Walker, 11 D.L.R. 278, 23 Man. L.R. 563, 24 W.L.R. 168, 4 W.W.R. 337.

RECEIVING PAYMENTS.

A condition in a contract for the plowing and improving of land that it should be plowed to a certain depth, is not waived by the payment of money on the contract during the performance of the work where the inspector, whose decision, by the terms of the contract was final, had approved of such payment only upon the understanding that portions of the land should be re-plowed to the required depth. Schultz v. Faber & Co., 4 D.L.R. 707, 4 A.L.R. 422, 21 W.L.R. 163, 2 W.W.R. 79.

L. BY CHARACTER OF RELATION OF PARTIES.

As to acts and authority of agent ratification, see Principal and Agent, II D—25; Insurance, V B—95.

(§ III L—145)—BY CHARACTER OR RELATION OF PARTIES—PRINCIPAL BY ACTS OF AGENT—BANK BY ITS MANAGER—IMPROVEMENT RECEIPT FOR DISHONOURED CHEQUE.

A principle who settles with his agent on the strength of a receipt by the manager of a branch bank purporting to shew a deposit made by the agent to his principal's credit, has no claim against the bank on the ground of estoppel where the deposit was of the agent's personal cheque which was dishonoured.

Saskatchewan & Western Elevator v. Bank of Hamilton, 18 D.L.R. 411, 7 S.L.R. 134, 29 W.L.R. 262, 7 W.W.R. 104.

BY CHARACTER OR RELATION OF PARTIES—OPTION TO PURCHASE IN ORIGINAL LEASE—EFFECT OF NEW LEASE.

A lessee, whose lease contains an option to purchase the demised premises during the term, does not prima facie waive his option by taking (some time in advance) a new lease without the option clause to begin when his original term expires; nor is he estopped from asserting his option to purchase at any time during the original term.

Matheson v. Burns, 18 D.L.R. 399, 50 Can. S.C.R. 115, reversing 18 D.L.R. 287.

AUTHORITY OF AGENT—SALE OF GRAIN.

A vendor of grain to a person who is in fact an agent for a member of the Winnipeg Grain Exchange, but is not known so to be by the vendor, by refraining to reply to letters written to him by such member, is not estopped from denying that sales of the grain effected by such members were authorized by him. [Ewing v. Dominion Bank, 35 Can. S.C.R. 133, distinguished.]

Winearls v. Hoey, [1917] 2 W.W.R. 287.

(§ III L—146)—BY RELATION OF PARTIES—TENANT'S ESTOPPEL UNDER LEASE—DURATION.

A lease which has expired by effluxion of time does not estop the former tenant from subsequently denying the title of his sometime landlord, but it is admissible in evidence to prove that the tenant admitted that lands covered by it were included in an ambiguous description contained in the landlord's title deeds.

Bartlett v. Delaney, 11 D.L.R. 584, 27 O. L.R. 594.

BECOMING TENANT.

Where defendant in ejectment proceedings had accepted a lease from the plaintiff which was not registered, such lease may be held to be valid between the parties and an estoppel could be raised upon it as against a mortgage subsequently made by defendant and registered.

Yeo v. Ahearn, 12 E.L.R. 73.

M. WHO AFFECTED.

(§ III M—150)—WHO AFFECTED—WHO MAY SET UP—VOLUNTARY CONVEYANCE—INSOLVENT DEBTOR—CREDITOR'S RIGHTS—HOW PROTECTED.

Even if a company were estopped by its conduct from denying the validity of a chattel mortgage made on its effects in the name of an individual mortgagor as against the mortgagee and those claiming under him, no such result follows even on the admission of authority by the company's pleadings, as regards execution creditors of the company; and the goods may be declared liable to their claims without regard to the chattel mortgage not regularly made by the company in whom the property in the goods was vested.

Smith v. Cremation Society, 20 D.L.R. 214, 29 W.L.R. 150.

(§ III M—151)—PRINCIPAL—AGENT'S RECEIPT—FREIGHT CHARGES.

Where the local agent of a railway company accepted the personal cheque of defendants' employee in payment of certain freight charges, and receipted the bills, and the employee attached the receipted bills to a draft on defendants, who paid it, the defendants are not liable for the unpaid freight charges, on the nonpayment of the cheque, on the ground that, having afforded means of inducing the defendants to pay the employee's draft, the plaintiffs were estopped from denying that they had received payment of the freight charges.

Continental Oil Co. v. C.P.R. Co., 28 D.L.R. 269, 52 Can. S.C.R. 605, 9 W.W.R. 1495, reversing 21 D.L.R. 1, 8 A.L.R. 363.

N. WHO MAY BE SET UP.

(§ III N—156)—BAR TO CLAIM OF—MISREPRESENTATION INDUCING STATEMENT RELIED ON AS ESTOPPEL.

A person cannot rely by way of estoppel on a statement induced by his own misrepresentation.

Wood v. Smart, 16 D.L.R. 97, 26 W.L.R. 817.

EVICTION.

See Landlord and Tenant.

EVIDENCE.

- I. JUDICIAL NOTICE.
- A. Laws and ordinances.
 - B. Proclamation.
 - C. Official and judicial character of acts.
 - D. Political, historical and geographical matters.
 - E. Other matters.
 - F. By jury.
- II. PRESUMPTIONS AND BURDEN OF PROOF.
- A. In general; laws; ordinances.
 - B. Establishing allegations or claims.
 - C. Defences.
 - D. Exceptions or exemptions.
 - E. Concerning person.
 - F. Corporations; partnership.
 - G. Continuance; cause.
 - H. As to skill; negligence; care.
 - I. As to official acts.
 - J. From circumstances and course of business.
 - K. As to rights, contracts, instruments, and property.
 - L. Payment; credit.
 - M. Miscellaneous.
- III. BEST AND SECONDARY EVIDENCE.
- IV. DOCUMENTARY EVIDENCE.
- A. Preliminary matters; genuineness and validity.
 - B. Statutes; ordinances.
 - C. Certificate; award.
 - D. Official records, reports and returns.
 - E. Judgments and judicial records.
 - F. Pleadings and papers in suit.
 - G. Evidence previously taken or used; affidavits.
 - B. Tax book or list.
 - I. Deeds; wills; leases; mortgages.
 - J. Accounts and account books.
 - K. Letters, telegrams, etc.
 - L. Records and papers of corporations or carriers.
 - M. Note; indorsement.
 - N. Contracts.
 - O. Scientific and medical books.
 - P. For purposes of comparison.
 - Q. Memoranda.
 - R. Miscellaneous.
 - S. Paper produced on notice.
 - T. Putting whole writing in evidence.
- V. DEMONSTRATIVE EVIDENCE; ARTICLES AND THINGS; VIEW OF JURY.
- VI. PAROL AND EXTRINSIC EVIDENCE CONCERNING WRITINGS.
- A. In general.
 - B. Custom, or usage.
 - C. Prior and collateral parol agreements.
 - D. Subsequent change.
 - E. Meaning; intention, explanation.
 - F. As to commercial paper.
 - G. Consideration, or value of subject-matter.
 - H. Fraud; mistake; omissions.
 - I. Condition; trust; mortgage.
 - J. To identify subject or person.
 - K. Circumstances.
- L. Concerning records.
 - M. Character of party.
- VII. OPINIONS AND CONCLUSIONS.
- A. In general.
 - B. Hypothetical questions.
 - C. Cause and effect.
 - D. Physical conditions; medical testimony; intoxication.
 - E. Sanity; capacity; character.
 - F. Values; damages.
 - G. Contingent results; what might have been.
 - H. Legal questions; meaning of terms; foreign laws.
 - I. Estimates of quantity; speed; time.
 - J. Danger; skill; negligence.
 - K. Intent; mental conditions.
 - L. Appearance; identity; quality; authenticity.
 - M. Handwriting.
 - N. Miscellaneous.
- VIII. CONFESSIONS; TESTIMONY OR EVIDENCE WRONGFULLY OBTAINED.
- IX. ADMISSIONS.
- X. HEARSAY, DECLARATION; RES GESTE.
- A. In general; pedigree; reputation.
 - B. Confidential communications.
 - C. Party's own acts and declaration.
 - D. Acts and declarations of third persons generally.
 - E. Acts and declarations of agent, representative or tenant.
 - F. Acts and declarations of former party in interest; testator or former owner.
 - G. Acts and declarations of partner; associate or coconspirator.
 - H. Complaints of injuries and suffering.
 - I. Threats.
 - J. Telephone conversations.
 - K. Conversation through interpreter.
 - L. Dying declarations, or those made in travail.
 - M. Former testimony.
- XI. RELEVANCY AND MATERIALITY.
- A. In general.
 - B. Customs or habit.
 - C. Character; reputation; age.
 - D. Knowledge; notice; belief; mental capacity.
 - E. Intent; motive; fraud; undue influence; good faith; malice.
 - F. Prices; values.
 - G. Damages.
 - H. Care; skill; negligence.
 - I. Suggestive facts; facts supporting inferences.
 - J. Circumstances.
 - K. Similar acts or facts.
 - L. Explanation and rebuttal.
 - M. Payment; consideration; credit.
 - N. Proof of negative.
 - O. Contracts; breach; waiver.
 - P. Matters pending suit.
 - Q. Pecuniary condition; family circumstances.
 - R. Persons; personal relations.

- s. Connecting with subject; matters about other persons.
 T. Criminal matters generally.
 U. Title or possession.
 V. Identification.
 W. Justification; mitigation.
 X. Authority.
 Y. Experiments.
 Z. Miscellaneous.
- XII. WEIGHT, EFFECT AND SUFFICIENCY.
 A. In general; corroboration.
 B. Cause and effect.
 C. Fraud or good faith; malice; undue influence.
 D. Negligence; skill; care.
 E. As to proper rights.
 F. Matters as to persons; relation of parties.
 G. To overcome writing, pleading, or judicial proceedings.
 H. Documents generally; official acts or record; demonstrative evidence.
 I. Contracts; gifts.
 J. Wills.
 K. Miscellaneous civil cases.
 L. Criminal cases.
- XIII. ADMISSIBILITY UNDER PLEADINGS;
 VARIANCE.
 A. Under particular pleadings.
 B. Variance.

Review on appeal, see Appeal.
 As to discovery, see Discovery and Inspection.

New trial for newly discovered or for insufficient evidence, see New Trial.
 Instructions upon, see Trial.
 Depositions and commissions to take, see Depositions.

Wills generally, see Wills.
 Witnesses generally, see Witnesses.

Annotations.

- Admissibility; competency of wife against husband: 17 D.L.R. 721.
 Admissibility; discretion as to commission evidence: 13 D.L.R. 338.
 Criminal law; questioning accused person in custody: 16 D.L.R. 223.
 Extrinsic; when admissible against a foreign judgment: 9 D.L.R. 788.
 Demonstrative evidence; view of locus in quo in criminal trial: 10 D.L.R. 97.
 Meaning of "half" of a lot; division of irregular lot: 2 D.L.R. 143.
 Opinion evidence as to handwriting: 13 D.L.R. 365.
 Oral contracts; Statute of Frauds; effect of admission in pleading: 2 D.L.R. 636.
 Proof of alienage: 23 D.L.R. 375, 376.
 Deed intended as mortgage; competency and sufficiency of parol evidence: 29 D.L.R. 123.
 Medical expert witnesses: 38 D.L.R. 453; 28 Can. Cr. Cas. 308.
 Law relating to questioned documents and proof of handwriting: 44 D.L.R. 170.
 Examination of testimony; Use of photographs: 47 D.L.R. 9.

Foreign common-law marriage: 3 D.L.R. 247.
 Sufficient to go to jury in negligence actions: 39 D.L.R. 615.

I. Judicial notice.

(§ 1 A—6)—CITY ORDINANCES.

A municipal by-law need not be set out in a conviction before a magistrate for its violation, since, by s. 68 of the Summary Convictions Act, judicial notice must be taken of such by-law.

The King v. Elderman, 19 Can. Cr. Cas. 445.

(§ 1 A—8)—TREATY.

Judicial notice is to be taken under s. 8 of the Extradition Act, R.S.C. 1906, c. 155 of the extradition treaties and extradition orders-in-council published in the Canada Gazette, the official paper of the Government of Canada, without production in evidence of a copy of the Gazette. [See also s. 1128 of the Cr. Code.]

Republic of France v. Peugnet, 1 D.L.R. 204, 19 Can. Cr. Cas. 179, 5 S.L.R. 143, 19 W.L.R. 938, 1 W.W.R. 703.

STATUTORY EFFECT OF BY-LAW ON PUBLICATION IN GAZETTE—PROSECUTION FOR OFFENCE PRIOR TO PUBLICATION—PROOF OF BY-LAW—NOTICE OF BY-LAW, WHEN NECESSARY.

The King v. C.N.R. Co., 18 Can. Cr. Cas. 170 (Sask.).

B. PROCLAMATION.

(§ 1 B—15)—PROCLAIMED RAILWAY ORDERS.

The publication of the orders and general train and interlocking rules under s. 31 of the Railway Act 1906, gives them the effect of statutes, of which the courts are bound to take judicial notice; but the omission to publish them does not necessarily invalidate them, it merely necessitates their proof before the courts can act on them. [Underhill v. C.N.R. Co., 22 D.L.R. 279, followed; Clark v. C.P.R. Co., 2 D.L.R. 331, 17 B.C. R. 314, distinguished.]

McPhee v. Esquimalt & Nanaimo R. Co., 23 D.L.R. 561, 22 B.C.R. 67, 32 W.L.R. 125, 8 W.W.R. 1319.

OF STATE OF WAR—SEDITION.

The court will take judicial notice of the existence of a state of war between His Britannic Majesty and a foreign power on a trial for using seditious language.

R. v. Trainor, 33 D.L.R. 658, 27 Can. Cr. Cas. 232, 10 A.L.R. 164, [1917] 1 W.W.R. 415.

C. OFFICIAL AND JUDICIAL CHARACTER OF ACTS.

(§ 1 C—20)—On an application to set aside a petition against the applicant's election on preliminary objection, where one of the grounds of objection provided for by the Controverted Elections Act, s. 10 (c. 2 of Alberta, 1907) is that the petitioner is a Judge of the Supreme Court or of one of the District Courts, the court is entitled to take judicial notice of the fact that the petitioner is not the holder of such an office.

Carstairs v. Cross, Re Edmonton Election, 8 D.L.R. 369, 5 A.L.R. 268, 22 W.L.R. 797, 3 W.W.R. 566, affirming 7 D.L.R. 192.

(§ I C—22)—JUDICIAL RECORDS AND DECISIONS—BANKRUPTCY ORDERS PROVABLE BY REFEREE INSTEAD OF BY SEAL OF COURT, WHEN.

An order of adjudication and an order of reference made in foreign bankruptcy proceedings are properly authenticated for use in evidence in Saskatchewan, although instead of being certified under the seal of the foreign court they are certified under the hand of the referee in bankruptcy, where it appears that the orders in question are, during the bankruptcy proceedings, kept continuously in the custody of the referee to whom they must be forwarded by the clerk of the Bankruptcy Court under the foreign law.

Minot Grocery Co. v. Durdick, 10 D.L.R. 126, 6 S.L.R. 44, 23 W.L.R. 270, 3 W.W.R. 904.

E. OTHER MATTERS.

(§ I E—53)—JUDICIAL NOTICE—RAILWAY TOLLS—COMPARISON.

The Board not having any jurisdiction over the tolls charged in a foreign country, no comparison can be made between them and those in Canada for the transportation of the same commodity.

Imperial Rice Milling Co. v. C.P.R. Co., 14 Can. Ry. Cas. 375.

(§ I E—69)—FISH AND FISHERY RIGHTS.

The court is not bound to take judicial notice, as of a public deed, of a grant made to the Crown of a fishery right by the seigneurs who theretofore had proprietary rights or seigneurial title therein under Quebec law.

Robertson v. Grant, 3 D.L.R. 201, 21 Que. K.B. 270.

(§ I E—72)—USAGES AND CUSTOMS.

A custom, to have the characteristics intended by law, should be based upon facts uniform, public, many in number and of long duration. When a party sets up as a custom reprehensible facts, the courts should refuse to entertain them and not permit them to be more publicly known.

Denis Advertising Signs v. Martel Stewart Co., 47 Que. S.C. 266.

F. BY JURY.

(§ I F—90)—To support a jury's finding of negligence in not transferring a train at a particular place to the right-hand track from the unusual left-hand track on which it had been running temporarily because of an accident on the other track, there must be evidence as to the location of the switches at which the cross-over could have been made; and the finding cannot be supported in the absence of such evidence on the assumption that the jury acted upon local knowledge of the location of switches at or near the locus in quo. [Kessowji Issur v. Great Indian Peninsula R. Co., 96 L.T.R. 859, applied.]

Graham v. G.T.R. Co., 1 D.L.R. 554, 25 O.L.R. 529, 13 Can. Ry. Cas. 232, 20 O.W.R. 965.

II. Presumptions and burden of proof.

As to undue influence, see Deeds, II F—65; Husband and Wife, II A—50.

As to ownership from possession, see Interpleader, I—10; Mechanics' Liens, V—30; Taxes, I E—48.

Res ipsa loquitur, see Negligence.

A. IN GENERAL; LAWS; ORDINANCES.

(§ II A—95) — MOTOR VEHICLE ACT (MAN.).

Where a person sustains damage by a motor vehicle the onus of proof that the damage was not caused through the negligence of the owner lies strictly upon him under s. 38 of the Motor Vehicle Act, Man. (1908, c. 34.)

Halparin v. Bulling, 13 D.L.R. 742, 25 W.L.R. 317, 5 W.W.R. 37.

ACTION ON GUARANTY COMPANY BOND — DEFENCE — FALSE STATEMENTS ACCOMPANYING APPLICATION.

The onus rests on the defendant in an action on a bond of indemnity executed by a guaranty insurance company, to show the falsity of statements and answers to questions in a writing made by the mayor of a town accompanying the application of a tax collector for a fidelity bond.

Arnprior v. U.S. Fidelity & Guaranty Co., 12 D.L.R. 630, 4 O.W.N. 1426.

SHIFTING — ASSIGNMENT OF STOCK — PLEDGEE'S RIGHTS IN INTERPLEADER.

In interpleader proceedings, where an issue is directed between a bank, claiming as assignee of mining shares alleged to be transferred to it as security for advances, as plaintiff, and an execution creditor as defendant, if the plaintiff proves a valid transfer prior in date to the execution, the onus is shifted to the defendant.

Pallandt v. Flynn, 9 D.L.R. 460, 4 O.W.N. 821, 837, 24 O.W.R. 95, 254.

EMPLOYEE — STRICKEN AT WORK — WORKMEN'S COMPENSATION LAW.

When an employee is stricken at his work there is no presumption in the law of workmen's compensation that the seizure resulted from the labour. The burden of proof rests upon the workman or representative who sues for damages.

Bougie v. Canada Box Board Co., 46 D.L.R. 258, 25 Rev. de Jur. 189.

LAWS—ORDINANCES.

Though, under the statute, s. 303 of the Municipal Act, c. 170, R.S.B.C. 1911, providing that licenses, taxes, rate or rents payable to a municipality shall be a debt due to the municipality recoverable by action, a certified copy of the collector's roll is made prima facie evidence of the debt, such evidence may be rebutted.

Saanich v. French, 8 D.L.R. 637, 3 W.W.R. 270.

PRESUMPTION OF FACTS—DISCRETION OF THE COURT.

Presumptions of facts are left to the discretion and to the judgment of the court. They are means of proof which the law submits to none other, and which it admits without restriction.

Dubau v. Queen City Realty Co., 45 Que. S.C. 97.

EXECUTORS — GIFT BY DECEASED TO SON — LOAN.

The delivery of money by a father to his son is presumed to be a gift and the burden of proof lies upon the father's executors or other persons interested who contend that it was a loan. It is only when the executors representing the estate have made out a prima facie case against a person who is alleged to have borrowed money from the deceased, that the burden of proof is shifted and such person bound to furnish other material evidence in corroboration of his story, under the Evidence Act Alta., 1910 (2nd Sess.), c. 3, s. 12.

Groat v. Kinnaird, 20 D.L.R. 421, 7 A.L.R. 390, 29 W.L.R. 675, 7 W.W.R. 264.

(§ II A—102)—FOREIGN LANGUAGE.

It will be presumed that English-speaking people in Canada are not conversant with the Chinese language so as to understand an overheard dialogue in that tongue between two Chinamen and the conversation between the Chinamen in the presence of the chief of police but in which the officer took no part is to be treated as if the latter were not present as regards the proof of an admission or confession made therein.

The King v. Hoo Sam, 1 D.L.R. 569, 19 Can. Cr. Cas. 259, 5 S.L.R. 180, 20 W.L.R. 571, 1 W.W.R. 1049.

B. ESTABLISHING ALLEGATIONS OR CLAIMS.

(§ II B—105)—SOLICITOR AND CLIENT.

In an action by a client against his solicitor for damages for negligence in not instituting the client's action against a municipal corporation at an earlier date so as to prevent the operation of a Statute of Limitations, the onus of proof is upon the client to establish that the solicitor was given and accepted instructions to sue, and not merely to write a letter, as he did, demanding a settlement, and so leaving the question of future proceedings open for further instructions.

Howse v. Shaw, 9 D.L.R. 642, 4 O.W.N. 971, 24 O.W.R. 283.

The onus is upon a boom company whose unlawful operation in the wrongful construction of works in an international river causes confusion in connection with the driving of logs down the said river and which claimed the right to recover for services rendered in respect to the booming, sorting, rafting and driving of the logs, to shew affirmatively the quantity of such logs which lawfully came into its possession. [Warde v. Eyre, 2 Bulst. 323, applied.]

Can. Dig.—58.

Rainy Lake River Boom Corp. v. Rainy River Lumber Co., 6 D.L.R. 401, 27 O.L.R. 131, 22 O.W.R. 952.

ALLEGATION OF OWNERSHIP OF PROPERTY STANDING IN NAME OF DECEASED PERSON.

The court should require strict proof from one alleging that property belongs to him although standing in the name of a deceased person. Its attitude should be one of suspicion, until the truthfulness of the allegation is made clear by satisfactory and well-sifted evidence.

Trumbell v. Trumbell, [1919] 2 W.W.R. 198.

(§ II B—108)—ACCIDENT CAUSING DEATH —PRESUMPTION OF FAULT.

In an action claiming damages for the death of an employee due to an accident caused by an inanimate object, the French jurisprudence creates a presumption of fault against the custodian of such object and places upon him the burden of proving that the injury proceeded from a cause to which he was a stranger.

Norcross v. Gohier, 41 D.L.R. 687, 56 Can. S.C.R. 415.

TORTS—NEGLIGENCE.

In an action for damages for negligence, causing death, the personal representative, suing under Lord Campbell's Act, must shew more than the omission by the defendant employer of a statutory duty to guard the machinery; he must prove also that the fatal accident was occasioned by the neglect of the statutory duty, and where there was no witness of the accident, nor was there any evidence from which an inference could be drawn from the position of the body or otherwise that the neglect of the statutory duty was the cause of death, the action must be dismissed. [Canadian Coloured Cotton Mills v. Kervin, 29 Can. S.C.R. 478, applied.]

Loffmark v. Adams, 7 D.L.R. 696, 17 B.C.R. 440, 22 W.L.R. 547, 3 W.W.R. 269.

That death was caused by negligence of a master may be inferred, where there were no eye witnesses, from the fact that a careful and experienced painter was required to work in a cramped and insecure position on a scaffold within a few inches of improperly insulated and unprotected wires carrying a dangerous current of electricity, notwithstanding that he had been warned of their dangerous nature, where the painter's death resulted from contact with the live wire.

Lefebvre v. Trethewey, 5 D.L.R. 195, 3 O.W.N. 1535, 22 O.W.R. 694.

The onus rests upon the plaintiff of establishing the negligence of the defendant in an action for injuries sustained as the result thereof, and if, in the absence of direct proof, the circumstances are equally consistent with both the plaintiff's and the defendant's case, the plaintiff fails.

Queer v. Greig, 5 D.L.R. 308.

(§ II B-111)—IN CRIMINAL CASES.

There is an onus on the Crown in every criminal case to establish such a case as will not leave it so that it can be said there is room for any theory that is not unreasonable and improbable other than that the accused is guilty.

R. v. O'Neil, 25 Can. Cr. Cas. 323, 9 A.L.R. 365, 9 W.W.R. 1321.

(§ II B-112)—IN PATENT CASES.

The onus of proving that a device does not display the novelty required for a valid patent under Canadian law lies on the person attacking the patent. [Dompierre v. Baril, 18 Rev. Leg. 597, followed; Allen v. Reid, 14 Que. L.R. 126, disapproved.]
Rolland v. Fournier, 4 D.L.R. 756.

(§ II B-113) — IN PROSECUTIONS UNDER LIQUOR LICENSE ACT.

Evidence that in an unlicensed hotel there is a bar, and on the bar a beer pump used to pump a nonintoxicating beverage called "local option beer," and that brewer's calendars were there displayed is insufficient to convict the occupant of the offence of keeping up a sign or having a bar containing bottles or casks displayed so as to induce a reasonable belief that the premises were licensed for the sale of liquor, where the former official license sign over the door had been removed, and there was no display of bottles or casks such as are used distinctively for intoxicating liquors nor was there, apart from the brewer's calendars, any display of advertising matter suggestive of the sale of intoxicants in the place.

R. v. Bevan, 8 D.L.R. 86, 4 O.W.N. 400, 20 Can. Cr. Cas. 237.

(§ II B-114)—JUDGMENT — ENTRY — NEW EVIDENCE.

A court or judge is not bound by any decision until the judgment or order has actually been taken out and entered. If there are material facts which were not brought to his attention at the trial, he should hear them, and should consider affidavits as to further evidence suggested or proposed to be given and the circumstances under which and when it was discovered.

Stevenson v. Dandy, 43 D.L.R. 228, 14 A.L.R. 99, [1918] 3 W.W.R. 662.

WORKMEN'S COMPENSATION ACT — TEMPORARY DISABILITY — DURATION — PROOF — R.S.Q. 7322.

Where the injured plaintiff is temporarily incapacitated, proof must be given as to when he will be better. This proof should be made by a medical man, if possible.

McLean v. Fuller, 16 Que. P.R. 50.

C. DEFENCES.

(§ II C-115)—SALE — CONDITION AS TO NOTICE OF DEFECT — ONUS TO SHEW NONCOMPLIANCE WITH.

In an action to recover the price of an engine, the onus rests on the vendor raising the issue in his reply, to shew that the vendee did not give notice in the manner required by the contract of sale, of the failure of the engine to work properly.

Massey-Harris Co. v. Elliott, 11 D.L.R. 632, 4 W.W.R. 134.

MARGINS ON STOCK EXCHANGE—CUSTOMER'S ONUS AS TO "FICTITIOUSNESS."

Where a customer dealing in margins on a stock exchange resists payment of his calls to cover margins on the ground that the transactions involved were not "real" but only "pretended" sales and purchases, the onus of proof is on the customer.

Richardson v. Beamish, 13 D.L.R. 400, 23 Man. L.R. 306, 21 Can. Cr. Cas. 487, 24 W.L.R. 514, 4 W.W.R. 815.

(§ II C-119)—CONTRACTS GENERALLY.

The burden of proof rests upon the defendant in an action to recover for making a number of suits of clothing, to establish the truth of an affirmative counterclaim that the suits were not made according to a designated sample, as required by the contract, as well as to shew the defective quality of the workmanship of the suits.

Wener v. Rubin, 5 D.L.R. 539.

The party called upon to pay an account for work ordered done by the Public Utilities Commission has the right to have the value thereof established upon a hearing of the evidence pro and con, and if such right is denied him the order to pay is illegal.

La Compagnie Electrique de Grand'mere v. Public Utilities Commission, 6 D.L.R. 92, 22 Que. K.B. 25.

(§ II C-121)—COLLISIONS — SHIPS — BIDDEN OF ESTABLISHING DEFENCE.

Where two vessels are meeting in a river and one of them negligently turns to the wrong side thereby causing imminent danger of a collision, the onus of proving an allegation that the vessel offended against neglected her duty to reverse her engines promptly in order to avoid a collision, rests on the original offender and can only be discharged by clear evidence.

C.P.R. Co. v. "The Kronprinz Olav"; The "Montcalm" v. Bryde, 14 D.L.R. 46, 13 E.L.R. 178, reversing the judgment of the Canada Supreme Court (unreported) which affirmed the judgment of the Deputy Local Judge in Admiralty Montreal, 19 Can. Ex. 138.

(§ II C-122) — CIRCULATING OBSCENE PRINTED MATTER — ONUS TO SHEW SUBSERVIENCE OF PUBLIC WELFARE.

The onus of shewing that the circulation of a grossly disgusting description of an obscene nature, describing a theatrical performance, was for the public welfare, rests on the person circulating it.

R. v. St. Clair, 12 D.L.R. 710, 28 O.L.R. 271.

D. EXCEPTIONS OR EXEMPTIONS.

(§ II D-125)—ONUS — EXCEPTIONS OR EXEMPTIONS — RAILWAY CONSTRUCTION CONTRACT — STATEMENT AS BASIS FOR SUBSIDY.

Where a railway construction contractor and his employer stipulate that the payment to the contractor of a certain item of the contract price must depend upon the contractor's statement of the construction cost being passed by the Federal Government as basis for a specified additional subsidy, the employer is relieved from the payment where the subsidy in question is withheld by the government on the ground, among others, that the contractor's construction statement is not even in part established, unless the contractor satisfies the onus shifted upon him and affirmatively proves some other efficient cause for the denial of the subsidy.

Dini v. Brunet, 18 D.L.R. 385.

(§ II D-127) — EXEMPTIONS FROM TAXATION.

In an action against a railway company for recovery of taxes assessed against their property by a city corporation, where the company claims an exemption from taxation under s. 14, c. 40, R.S.N., the burden of proving such exemption is upon the railway company.

Prince Albert v. C.N.R. Co., 10 D.L.R. 122, 15 Can. Ry. Cas. 87, 6 S.L.R. 49, 23 W.L.R. 275, 3 W.W.R. 900.

SAVING CLAUSE.

When there has been a deviation from a statutory requirement the onus lies upon those supporting the deviation to shew that the effect of same comes within the terms of a statutory saving clause intended to validate the result of the voting, notwithstanding the occurrence of certain errors and irregularities in procedure. [Re Giles and Almonte, 21 O.L.R. 362, distinguished.]

Re Milne and Tp. Thorold, 1 D.L.R. 540, 25 O.L.R. 421.

E. CONCERNING PERSON.

(§ II E-135)—STATUS — MASTER AND SERVANT — PRESUMPTION OF RELATIONSHIP — STRANGER'S CLAIM.

In an action against the owner of a vehicle for damages for injuries alleged to have been sustained by the negligence of his servant resulting in a collision with the plaintiff, evidence that the vehicle in question was owned by the defendant, who was engaged in the transfer business, and that he employed men to drive vehicles at the time of the accident in question, is sufficient, in the absence of evidence to the contrary, to raise the inference that the person who was driving the vehicle, though his name was unknown, was the servant of the defendant.

Amundsen v. Ward, 16 D.L.R. 558, 6 W.W.R. 1922, 7 W.W.R. 311, 28 W.L.R. 654, affirming 11 D.L.R. 167.

(§ II E-140)—PARTNERSHIP AND DISSOLUTION.

In an action for winding up a partnership made for a fixed term, the onus is upon the defendant who sets up a dissolution by agreement during such term, to prove the same. If the partnership be at will, the onus is on the plaintiff to shew by what acts the partnership was terminated.

Town v. Kelly, 5 D.L.R. 14, 21 W.L.R. 610. [Reversed, 12 D.L.R. 490, 24 W.L.R. 541.]

(§ II E-142)—BURDEN OF PROOF AS TO AGENCY.

The burden of proof is on the person dealing with anyone as agent, through whom he seeks to charge another as principal; he must shew that the agency did exist and that the agent had the authority he assumed to exercise, or otherwise that the principal is estopped from denying it.

Ramelson v. North West Hide & Fur Co., 15 D.L.R. 905, 27 W.L.R. 160.

AGENCY.

It is competent to shew that one or both of the contracting parties were agents for other persons, and acted as such agents, in making the contract, as to give the benefit of the contract on the one hand to, and charge with liability on the other, the unnamed principals; and this, whether the agreement be or be not required to be in writing by the Statute of Frauds; such evidence in no way contradicts the written agreement.

Morgan v. Johnson, 4 D.L.R. 643, 3 O.W.N. 1526, 22 O.W.R. 868.

Assent by a principal to an unauthorized agreement for the sale of land made by his agent, is not shewn where the former continually repudiated the agent's act, although he at one time said he would sign the agreement, but immediately afterwards refused to do so, and refused to accept the money paid by the purchaser on the agreement to the agent.

Margolis v. Birnie, 5 D.L.R. 534, 4 A.L.R. 415, 21 W.L.R. 462, 2 W.W.R. 445.

(§ II E-145)—PRESUMPTIONS — STATUS — MASTER AND SERVANT — SCOPE.

In an action against the owner of a vehicle for damages alleged to have been sustained by the plaintiff through a collision with the defendant's vehicle, evidence that the vehicle in question was driven through the street at a time when draymen were usually at work, that the defendant was engaged in the transfer business and the driver of the vehicle was in the employ of the defendant, is sufficient, in the absence of any evidence to the contrary, to raise the inference that the person driving the wagon was acting in the scope of his employment and that he was about his master's business at the time of the accident in question.

Amundsen v. Ward, 16 D.L.R. 558, 6 W.W.R. 1022, 7 W.W.R. 311, 28 W.L.R. 654, affirming 11 D.L.R. 167.

REPRESENTATIVE CAPACITY — DESCRIPTIVE TERM.

If the name of the maker, payee or an endorser of a negotiable instrument be followed by words indicating a representative capacity, they are generally considered merely descriptive personae, and as such are immaterial.

Nicholson v. McKale, 5 D.L.R. 237, 41 Que. S.C. 340.

(§ II E—149)—LICENSEE — INVITEE — TRESPASSER.

The burden of proof rests upon the plaintiff in an action brought under the provisions of the Workmen's Compensation for Injuries Act (Ont.) and the Fatal Accidents Act (Ont.) for the recovery of damages for the death of her husband who had fallen into the hold of a vessel moored to a dock for the winter, while such vessel was lying between the dock and another vessel upon which the deceased had worked as an engineer during the previous navigation season and upon which he had been re-engaged for the ensuing season not yet commenced, to prove the right of the deceased to be where he was when he was killed.

King v. Northern Navigation Co., 6 D.L.R. 69, 27 O.L.R. 79, 22 O.W.R. 697.

(§ II E—151)—MARRIAGE — REPUTATION AND COHABITATION.

On the trial of a prisoner for incest with his daughter, formal proof of his marriage to the girl's mother is not essential; the marriage may be proved by evidence of reputation and of cohabitation.

R. v. Lindsay, 30 D.L.R. 417, 26 Can. Cr. Cas. 163, 36 O.L.R. 171.

A cogent legal presumption is raised in favour of any marriage which is shewn to be celebrated de facto, and this presumption of law is not lightly to be repelled or broken in upon by a mere balance of probability, but the evidence for the purpose of repelling it must be strong, distinct, satisfactory and conclusive.

Zdrahal v. Shatney, 7 D.L.R. 554, 22 Man. L.R. 521, 22 W.L.R. 336, 3 W.W.R. 239.

(§ II E—152)—IDENTITY—NAME.

It is not to be inferred merely from the similarity of name of the proposed purchaser in a written offer of purchase and of a member of the firm of real estate agents as disclosed upon the printed letter head accompanying such offer that the proposed vendor, on whose behalf the real estate firm were commissioned to sell the property, knew that such purchaser was the identical person who belonged to the firm, particularly where the firm were charging him a commission as for an alleged sale to which they would not legally be entitled on a sale to one of themselves for their joint benefit.

Edgar v. Caskey, 7 D.L.R. 45, 5 A.L.R. 245, 22 W.L.R. 91, 2 W.W.R. 1036, reversing 4 D.L.R. 460.

(§ II E—155)—PRESUMPTION OF DEATH — HOW ARISEN.

The presumption of death not as a matter of law, but as a matter of fact may arise on the particular facts of a case, although the seven years required for a presumption as a matter of law have not expired.

Hedge v. Morrow, 20 D.L.R. 561, 32 O. L.R. 218.

(§ II E—156)—PRESUMPTION OF DEATH — ABSENTEE NOT HEARD OF IN SEVEN YEARS.

If it is proved that for a period of seven years no news of an absentee has been received by those who would naturally hear of him if he were alive, and that such inquiries and searches as the circumstances naturally suggest have been made, a legal presumption arises that he is dead.

Re Ogilvie and Order of Canadian Home Circles, 9 D.L.R. 771, 4 O.W.N. 643, 23 O. W.R. 796.

ABSENCE FOR SIXTEEN YEARS — PRESUMPTION OF DEATH, HOW LIMITED.

Death may not be presumed after an absence of 16 years, or even longer, if the facts shew that the missing person would not be likely to communicate with relatives or friends. [Bowden v. Henderson, 2 Sm. & G. 360, 65 E.R. 436, and Watson v. England, 14 Sim. 28, 60 E.R. 266, applied.]

Wilcox v. Wilcox, 16 D.L.R. 491, 24 Man. L.R. 93, 27 W.L.R. 359, 6 W.W.R. 213, reversing 14 D.L.R. 1.

PRESUMPTIONS — DEATH — UNHEARD OF FOR SEVEN YEARS — BURDEN OF PROOF — R.S.O. 1914, c. 183, s. 165.

As part of the evidence on the question of presumption of death of a person who has not been heard of for 7 years as regards his life insurance under R.S.O. 1914, c. 183, s. 165, it is admissible to shew by the testimony of a person who was well acquainted with him that he had been informed by another acquaintance that the latter had within a year met the assured and that he was then leading a dissolute life. The 7 years which raises the presumption of death are the 7 years preceding the issue of the writ for the recovery of a claim based on that presumption. In a case of presumption of death of a person because he has not been heard of for 7 years, the presumption simply is that he is dead, not that he died at any particular time; if after evidence warranting that presumption, it be of importance to the contesting party to establish the date of death, the onus is upon him to adduce evidence as to that fact.

Duffield v. Mutual Life Ins. Co., 20 D.L.R. 467, 32 O.L.R. 299.

DEATH.

In an action to declare valid a title by possession where the party named as defendant has not been heard of for 7 years, the court may act upon the presumption that he is dead, and appoint counsel to represent his estate under Alberta R. 57.

Wallace v. Potter, 7 D.L.R. 114, 22 W.L.R. 281, 2 W.W.R. 1085.

(§ II E—161)—ASSENT.

The consent of one of the members of a partnership to the acquirement and ownership by the other of an interest in a business competing with that of the firm may be inferred from the surrounding facts and circumstances, and such consent, if established, will relieve the partner so interested from the obligation to account to his firm for the profits derived from such interest. [Aas v. Behnam, [1891] 2 Ch. 244 at p. 255, applied.]

Livingston v. Livingston, 4 D.L.R. 345, 26 O.L.R. 246, 21 O.W.R. 901.

(§ II E—162) — MALICIOUS PROSECUTION — AUTHORITY OF AGENT TO INSTITUTE CRIMINAL ACTION ON BEHALF OF PRINCIPAL—ONUS TO SUE.

In order that the plaintiff may recover against a company in an action for malicious prosecution for an arrest caused by its agent, the onus rests upon the plaintiff to give some evidence to justify a finding that from the nature of the agent's duties or the terms of his employment he had authority to institute the prosecution. [Thomas v. C.P.R. Co., and Bush v. C.P.R. Co., 14 O.L.R. 55, followed.]

March v. Stimpson Computing Scale Co., 11 D.L.R. 343, 4 O.W.N. 1259, 24 O.W.R. 591.

AUTHORITY.

The onus rests upon the defendant, in an action by an agent to recover commission for securing a purchaser for the former's property, to shew that the agent's authority was withdrawn before he found a buyer.

George v. Howard, 4 D.L.R. 257, 5 A.L.R. 391, 2 W.W.R. 443.

(§ II E—163)—Permission of a railway company to a brakeman of another company to enter its yards to look for cars that might be delivered his master in due course, so as to, for his own convenience, facilitate their disposal when received, cannot be inferred from the testimony of the plaintiff that he had done so for several months in the nighttime, or from the testimony of a servant of the defendant that he had "seen them come out different times," since it was not sufficient to shew knowledge on the part of the defendant of the plaintiff's conduct, much less to establish acquiescence therein sufficient to amount to leave or right to do so.

Cunningham v. Michigan Central R. Co., 4 D.L.R. 221, 3 O.W.N. 1395, 14 Can. Ry. Cas. 96, 22 O.W.R. 481.

(§ II E—164)—JURISDICTION OF INTERIOR COURT — ONUS OF PROOF.

Upon a plea of autrefois convict or of res judicata, where the previous decision pleaded is that of an inferior court, the burden of proving that that court was a court of competent jurisdiction rests upon the party pleading the previous decision.

R. v. Taylor, 15 D.L.R. 679, 7 A.L.R. 72, 22 Can. Cr. Cas. 234, 26 W.L.R. 652, 5 W.W.R. 1105.

(§ II E—165)—KNOWLEDGE — NOTICE — SANITY — CAPACITY — BELIEF — INTENT.

The onus is upon the agent who seeks to enforce against his principal an alleged purchase on his own account of the principal's property which he had been employed to sell to establish to the satisfaction of the court that he disclosed to his principal the fact that the offer was on his own behalf.

Edgar v. Caskey (No. 2), 7 D.L.R. 45, 5 A.L.R. 245, 22 W.L.R. 91, 2 W.W.R. 1036.

A trespasser on lands is to be dealt with as having notice or knowledge that the owner of the land will try to use it in any reasonable and usual way which may be profitable to him, and is accountable for damages accordingly.

Marson v. G.T.P.R. Co., 1 D.L.R. 850, 4 A.L.R. 167, 20 W.L.R. 161, 1 W.W.R. 693.

(§ II E—166)—Knowledge of a dealer in books, who had a stock of 150,000 to 250,000 volumes, of the obscene character of a book, cannot be inferred from the fact that a clerk had, without his employer's knowledge, ordered a few of them and sold one, and that the defendant had, about a year before, upon receiving a few copies of such book, without reading one of them, returned them to the publisher because he had heard that the book was immoral.

R. v. Britnell, 4 D.L.R. 56, 26 O.L.R. 136, 20 Can. Cr. Cas. 85, 21 O.W.R. 800.

KNOWLEDGE.

Where the seller of a boiler and its attachments is a wholesale dealer and manufacturer of such machinery, and where the attachments sent under the contract of sale are misfits and not workable, the seller will be held strictly to knowledge of their requirements in an action by the buyer for damages for delay in returning the attachments for readjustment and alterations.

Leonard v. Kremer, 7 D.L.R. 244, 4 A.L.R. 152, 20 W.L.R. 147, 1 W.W.R. 642. [Affirmed, 11 D.L.R. 491, 48 Can. S.C.R. 518, 4 W.W.R. 332.]

In the absence of actual knowledge, it cannot be assumed that one who purchased land under a certificate of title free from any reservation, without notice of the existence therein of footings, which were concealed from view, for sustaining a wall of a building on an adjoining lot, knew of their existence, where the wall could have been built without extending any of the footings into the land so purchased.

National Trust Co. v. Western Trust Co., 4 D.L.R. 455, 4 S.L.R. 210, 21 W.L.R. 571, 2 W.W.R. 667.

(§ II E—167)—OF PRINCIPAL OR AGENT.

Where one who has engaged an independent contractor has an agent upon the work, though the agent be without authority to authorize or adopt a wrongful taking of chattels by the contractor for the purpose of the work, yet, if he have knowledge of such a wrongful taking, such knowledge may be imputed to his principal.

National Trust Co. v. Miller; Schmidt v. Miller, 3 D.L.R. 69, 46 Can. S.C.R. 45, 22 O.W.R. 485.

(§ II E—169)—OF CORPORATION.

Acquiescence of the manager of a mortgagor in the making of extensive improvements on encumbered property by a mortgagor who was in possession, cannot be inferred from the fact that the former lived in the immediate neighborhood of the property and was aware of such improvements, where he did not object thereto for fear that the mortgagee would sell under the power in his mortgage.

Manitoba Lumber Co. v. Emmertson, 5 D.L.R. 337, 18 B.C.R. 96, 21 W.L.R. 503, 2 W.W.R. 419.

(§ II E—172)—TESTAMENTARY CAPACITY.

A plaintiff who takes proceedings to annul a will on the ground of testator's insanity, has the burden of proof. He must shew that insanity existed when the will was made. Proof of prior and subsequent insanity does not cast upon the defendant the obligation to establish a lucid interval. The nature of the will, whether it bear the stamp of justice, foresight, benevolence, caprice or the opposite, affords presumptions only, and does not, of itself, furnish proof of the testator's mental state.

Guimet v. Laberge, 43 Que. S.C. 221.

Where the party propounding a will in the Surrogate Court has adduced prima facie evidence on a contest there raised as to the testator's capacity, and has been granted probate thereof, other persons not made parties to such proceedings, who thereafter attack the will by an independent action to declare its invalidity on the ground of lack of testamentary capacity, have thrown upon them the onus of proof; although the contestant in the Surrogate Court had, for a consideration, withdrawn the opposition there raised.

Badenach v. Inglis, 14 D.L.R. 109, 29 O. L.R. 165.

Statements made by a testator in his lifetime were admitted on the contest of a will, as they bore, or might bear on the question of his capacity to make a will and of its due execution.

Toal v. Ryan, 4 D.L.R. 25, 3 O.W.N. 1267, 22 O.W.R. 127.

Oddities of habits and eccentric acts are not, per se, sufficient to justify a conclusion of unsound mind, especially when the provisions of the will itself are perfectly rational and logical, and evidence based on purely theoretical assertions is most dangerous and should not carry much weight as against testimony of facts. As a general rule the onus of proving that a testator was of unsound mind at the time of the making of the will rests on the person attacking the validity of the will, although special circumstances (e.g., intervals of unsoundness of mind) may shift such onus on the person defending such will.

Madore v. Martin, 3 D.L.R. 731, 18 Rev. de Jur. 480.

(§ II E—174)—PRESUMPTION AS TO SANITY — PREPONDERANCE OF EVIDENCE TO REBUT.

The rule as to presumption of sanity "until the contrary is proved" (Cr. Code, s. 19), as applied to a defence of insanity in a criminal case merely requires proof of insanity by a preponderance of evidence to the satisfaction of the jury.

R. v. Anderson, 16 D.L.R. 203, 7 A.L.R. 102, 22 Can. Cr. Cas. 455, 26 W.L.R. 783, 5 W.W.R. 1952.

(§ II E—177)—INTENT.

Upon an agreement to purchase vacant land on small monthly instalments where the purchaser now seeks specific performance and the vendor pleads abandonment, the intention of the purchaser to abandon the contract may properly be inferred from long continued default on the monthly payments.

Handel v. O'Kelly, 8 D.L.R. 44, 22 Man. L.R. 562, 22 W.L.R. 407, 3 W.W.R. 367.

There is reasonable cause for believing that the defendant is about to quit the province within the meaning of the Arrest and Imprisonment for Debt Act, R.S. B.C. 1911, c. 12, if the intended absence is likely to prove of such duration as would, before the abolition of imprisonment for debt, have prevented the taking of the defendant's person in execution.

Oliphant v. Alexander; Selkirk v. Alexander, 6 D.L.R. 261, 2 W.W.R. 908.

(§ II E—180)—MALICE — CRIMINAL INTENT—PROBABLE CAUSE.

In an action for damages resulting from false arrest the onus of proving that the defendant acted imprudently and without reasonable and probable cause in procuring such arrest lies upon the plaintiff.

C.P.R. Co. v. Waller, 1 D.L.R. 47, 19 Can. Cr. Cas. 190.

(§ II E—181)—MALICE.

Where the alleged libel is a privileged communication, the burden is upon the plaintiff to prove express malice.

Winnipeg Steel, etc., Co. v. Canada Ingot, etc., Co., 7 D.L.R. 707, 22 Man. L.R. 576, 22 W.L.R. 387, 3 W.W.R. 356.

Malice in laying the criminal charge may be inferred from the want of reasonable and probable cause in laying the information and proceeding with the prosecution.

Geers v. Nestman, 1 D.L.R. 312, 20 W.L.R. 212, 1 W.W.R. 861.

(§ II E—182)—LIQUOR LAWS — FINDING LIQUOR IN BOARDING HOUSE — STATUTORY PRESUMPTION.

The conclusive presumption that liquor is kept for sale in violation of law, arising under s. 27 of 9 Edw. VII. c. 82 (R.S.O. 1914, c. 215), from the finding of a greater amount of liquor on the premises of an unlicensed boarding-house keeper than may reasonably be supposed to be intended for the use of himself or family does not arise from the finding on his premises of liquor which was brought there by boarders, and which was not in the possession or control of the keeper of the house.

R. v. Borin, 15 D.L.R. 737, 29 O.L.R. 584, 22 Can. Cr. Cas. 248.

CRIMINAL INTENT — SEDITIOUS WORDS — INFERENCES.

On a charge of speaking seditious words (T. Code, s. 134), it is always open to the jury, or to the judge if trying the case without a jury, to infer the seditious intention from the words and the circumstances under which they were spoken.

R. v. Felton, 28 D.L.R. 372, 25 Can. Cr. Cas. 207, 9 A.L.R. 238, 33 W.L.R. 157, 9 W.W.R. 819.

RECEIVING STOLEN GOODS—KNOWLEDGE.

It is not essential to the offence of retaining stolen goods in possession that the goods should have been found in the possession of the accused; unlawful possession and knowledge of the theft may be shewn from the secret meetings between the defendant and the gang of young boys who stole these and similar goods and sold them to him from time to time.

Medres v. The King, 26 Can. Cr. Cas. 241, 22 Rev. Leg. 400.

(§ II E—185)—ONUS OF PROOF — FRAUD OR GOOD FAITH, UNDUCE INFLUENCE.

The onus probandi is upon the party who alleges fraud to prove his case as is alleged in the statement of claim or in his particulars.

Kert v. Starland, 20 D.L.R. 16, 24 Man. L.R. 832, 29 W.L.R. 759.

FRAUD OR GOOD FAITH — UNDUCE INFLUENCE.

In an action to set aside conveyances of a debtor as fraudulent and void as against creditors the good faith of the transaction may be shewn by the uncorroborated testimony of the debtor where he gives his recital in an honest, straightforward manner without attempting to conceal anything tending to support the creditor's contention and no evidence is offered to contradict him. (Merchants Bank v. Hoover, 5 W.L.R. 516, not followed.)

Barris v. Matejka, 1 D.L.R. 837, 4 A.L.R. 55, 19 W.L.R. 863, 1 W.W.R. 431.

(§ II E—186)—FRAUD IN GENERAL.

A party suing on a negotiable instrument need not allege, nor at the outset prove, that he gave consideration, or is a holder in due course since these presumptions are in his favour; but, if fraud or illegality be shewn, the burden is shifted, and he must shew that, subsequently to such fraud or illegality, he gave value in good faith.

Nicholson v. McKale, 5 D.L.R. 237, 41 Que. S.C. 340.

Fraudulent intent must be proved in an action for deceit. [Smith v. Chadwick, 9 A.C. 157, at p. 190; Derry v. Peek, 14 App. Cas. 337; Tackey v. McBain, [1912] A.C. 180, followed.]

Kinsman v. Kinsman, 5 D.L.R. 871, 3 O.W.N. 966, 22 O.W.R. 979.

(§ II E—187)—FRAUD IN CONTRACT — SALE OF SHARES — BURDEN OF PROOF. Smith v. Haines, 16 D.L.R. 877, 6 O.W.N. 150.

IN CONTRACT.

Where an incorporated company attacks a contract between itself and one of its directors on the ground of misrepresentation, the onus is upon the director to prove affirmatively the truth of the representation complained of.

Denman v. Clover Bar Coal Co., 7 D.L.R. 96, 6 A.L.R. 305, 22 W.L.R. 128, 2 W.W.R. 986. [Affirmed 15 D.L.R. 241, 48 Can. S.C.R. 318, 5 W.W.R. 564.]

(§ II E—189)—IN SALE OR PLEDGE.

Fraud and misrepresentation as to the probable yield of timber from land cannot be inferred from the vendor's exaggerated estimate thereof, where there was room for a wide difference of opinion on the question. Eaton v. Dunn, 5 D.L.R. 604, 11 E.L.R. 52.

The onus of shewing ratification by the seller of a sale of company shares, which was induced by fraud of the purchaser, after the former acquires knowledge thereof, rests upon the purchaser.

Gadsden v. Bennetto, 5 D.L.R. 529, 21 W.L.R. 886, 2 W.W.R. 733. [Reversed, 9 D.L.R. 719, 23 Man. L.R. 33.]

Every violation of the provisions of the law regarding the procedure to be followed at sheriff's sale raises a presumption of fraud juris et de jure which cannot be rebutted.

Savoie-Guay v. DesLauriers; Rose v. Savoie-Guay, 7 D.L.R. 205, 21 Que. K.B. 560.

Where a promissory note is given in payment for tenant's fixtures on the faith of the vendor's representation that there will be no difficulty in getting possession thereof, the inference may properly be drawn that the promissory note would not have been given but for that representation.

Tew v. O'Hearn, 3 D.L.R. 446, 3 O.W.N. 1116.

(§ II E—191) — FRAUDULENT CONVEYANCE — PRESUMPTION OF FRAUDULENT INTENT.

In order to set aside a voluntary conveyance of all of a debtor's property, fraudulent intent need not be shown where the effect of the conveyance is to prevent his creditors obtaining satisfaction of their claims. The fact that the amount owed by a grantor was small does not affect the presumption that his voluntary conveyance was intended to defraud his creditors, where the effect of the transfer was to denote the grantor of all of his property.

Whitford v. Brimmer, 12 D.L.R. 792, 47 N.S.R. 275, 13 E.L.R. 153, affirming 7 D.L.R. 190.

ONUS WHERE VALUABLE CONSIDERATION.

Although a transfer of property, even when made for valuable consideration, may be affected by mala fides, yet those who undertake to impeach such a transaction on that ground must adduce clear evidence of actual intent to defraud. [Harman v. Richards, 10 Hare 81; Hickerson v. Parrington, 18 A.R. (Ont.) 635, applied.]

Fisher v. Kowalski, 13 D.L.R. 785, 23 Man. L.R. 769, 25 W.L.R. 417, 5 W.W.R. 91.

CONSIDERATION — SUFFICIENCY — PRESUMPTIONS — ONUS — CONSIDERATION.

In an action to set aside a conveyance by a debtor as fraudulent under the stat., 13 Eliz. c. 5, the mere fact that the consideration is of less value than the property conveyed by the debtor, or that the consideration is paid to a third party, does not in itself establish fraud, but these are merely circumstances to be considered in determining whether or not there was actual intent to defraud. The burden of proving fraud in a conveyance by a debtor as against the stat. 13 Eliz. c. 5, is on those seeking to set aside the transfer. The doctrine of constructive fraud cannot be successfully invoked in favour of a creditor to deprive the grantee of the debtor of property conveyed to him by the debtor for valuable consideration, though the consideration which the grantee gave was the transfer of some of his property to a third person designated by the debtor, and though the effect of the conveyance, combined with business reverses was to impoverish the debtor, where no intent to defraud or knowledge thereof existed on the part of the grantee.

Jack v. Kearney, 10 D.L.R. 49, 41 N.B.R. 293, 11 E.L.R. 401, reversing 4 D.L.R. 836, 10 E.L.R. 298. [Distinguished in St. John v. Crystal, 10 D.L.R. 76.]

TRANSFER OF LAND — FATHER AND SON — FATHER UNABLE TO SPEAK ENGLISH — FIDUCIARY RELATION OF SON — ACTION TO SET ASIDE TRANSFERS — BURDEN OF PROOF.

Where a father can neither read nor write English and the son acts as interpreter in giving instructions to a solicitor for preparing a transfer, without pecuniary consideration, from the father to the son, the only means the father had of knowing what he is signing being to depend on the honesty and good faith of the son, the son occupies a fiduciary position of a very high character, and in an action brought by the father to set aside the transfer the burden of proof rests on the son to prove that the father knew quite well the nature and effect of the instrument he was signing. Iwanchuk v. Iwanchuk, 48 D.L.R. 381, [1919] 3 W.W.R. 263.

Where a transfer of property made by a debtor is attacked by his creditors as fraudulent and intended to defeat or delay the creditors, and the transaction is shown to be surrounded by suspicious circumstances, it will not be sustained on the uncorroborated evidence of the parties to the transaction; the onus on them to disprove the fraud, as to which a presumption has been raised against the parties to the transaction.

Green, Swift & Co. v. Lawrence, 7 D.L.R. 589, 2 W.W.R. 932.

(§ II E—193) — IN INSURANCE.

In an action on a policy of insurance exempting the insurer from liability if statements material to the risk made in the application upon which the policy was issued, were untrue, where it appears that the insured made a misrepresentation in his application and that the insurer relies thereon as a defence, the burden is upon the insurer to establish the materiality of the matter misrepresented unless the circumstances themselves raise that inference. Clarke v. British Empire Ins. Co., 4 D.L.R. 444, 5 A.L.R. 99, 21 W.L.R. 774, 2 W.W.R. 682.

(§ II E—196) — GOOD FAITH — CONTRACT — INTEREST IN COMPANY SHARES.

Warfield v. Bugg, 1 D.L.R. 897.

(§ II E—197) — UNDUE INFLUENCE.

In an action by a creditor of a limited liability company, upon a guarantee signed by a married woman, who was the secretary of, and a shareholder in the debtor company, the burden of proving undue influence in respect of her signature thereto obtained by her husband lies upon those who allege it. [Bank of Montreal v. Stuart, [1911] A.C. 129, followed.]

Gold Medal Furniture Co. v. Stephenson, 10 D.L.R. 1, 23 W.L.R. 664, 23 Man. L.R. 159, 49 C.L.J. 337, 4 W.W.R. 7. [Appeal quashed, 15 D.L.R. 342, 48 Can. S.C.R. 497, 26 W.L.R. 570.]

WIFE'S SECURITY FOR HUSBAND'S DEBT.

The burden of proving undue influence lies upon those who allege it, even where the security impeached is a mortgage of a married woman's property given to secure her husband's debt. [Bank of Montreal v. Stuart, [1911] A.C. 129, applied.]

Doll v. King, 10 D.L.R. 518, 24 W.L.R. 476.

(§ II E—198) — IN NEGOTIABLE INSTRUMENT.

Where, in an action upon a promissory note, it is shewn that a previous negotiation of the note was a fraud upon the defendant, the plaintiff must shew not only that value has been given subsequent to such negotiation by some other holder in due course, but also that it has been given in good faith without notice of the fraud. [Tatum v. Haslar, 23 Q.R.D. 345, followed.] Noble v. Boothby, 7 D.L.R. 1, 22 W.L.R. 232, 2 W.W.R. 1193.

In an action on a promissory note given pursuant to an agreement under which several persons advanced money to enable the payee to go on a prospecting trip for minerals for the benefit of all of them, fraud and collusion between the payee and makers of other notes that were given under such agreement will not be assumed from the unexplained fact that the payee returned their notes to them.

Lilly v. Robertson, 4 D.L.R. 852, 21 W.L.R. 585.

(§ II E-204)—TRUTH, INNOCENCE, GUILT—PRESUMPTION AS TO.

The statement or admission of the accused in the words, "I won't do it again," may constitute an implied admission of guilt of the particular crime of which he is charged, by inferences drawn from the circumstances under which the statement was made to identify what it was that his promise had reference to and to shew, in the absence of direct evidence, that the person to whom the exclamation was addressed must have charged accused with the crime immediately prior to the making of such statement.

R. v. Whistnant, 8 D.L.R. 468, 5 A.L.R. 211, 22 W.L.R. 762, 8 W.W.R. 486.

(§ II E-205)—PRESUMPTIONS—WITH-HOLDING OF EVIDENCE.

It is matter of comment as regards the credit to be given a plaintiff's testimony that, knowing that his version of the transaction would be contradicted by the opposing party, he failed to produce evidence of parties easily available as witnesses whose connection with the transaction was such that they could corroborate the plaintiff's testimony, if true.

Butterfield v. Cormack, 11 D.L.R. 797, 24 W.L.R. 250. [Affirmed, 13 D.L.R. 817, 7 A.L.R. 26.]

FROM SILENCE.

In an action against a street railway company for personal injuries alleged to have been caused by starting the car while a passenger was getting off the rear platform, the fact that the conductor, who, by a rule of the company was required to be on the rear platform when the car was stopped, was not called as a witness by the defendant company militates against the defence; and the jury may draw inferences against the defendants from the keeping back of evidence which is alone in their possession. [Euclid Avenue Trust Co. v. Hobbs, 24 O.L.R. 447, applied.]

Schwartz v. Winnipeg Electric R. Co., 9

D.L.R. 708, 23 Man. L.R. 60, 23 W.L.R. 688, 3 W.W.R. 1097. [Affirmed, 16 D.L.R. 681, 49 Can. S.C.R. 80.]

A presumption is raised against a spoliator who destroys or conceals the things, the finding of which would be evidence against him, and such presumption is applicable in matters of international law.

The King v. Chlopek, 1 D.L.R. 90, 17 B.C.R. 50, 19 Can. Cr. Cas. 277, 19 W.L.R. 837.

Where defendant was shewn to be unable to attend the trial on account of ill-health, and her application for a postponement of the trial has been denied, as it did not appear probable that her health would improve, no unfavorable inference is to be drawn against her from her failure to give evidence where the plaintiff insists upon proceeding with the trial.

Koop v. Smith, 20 D.L.R. 440, 20 B.C.R. 372, 29 W.L.R. 872, 7 W.W.R. 416.

The fact that one of the parties to an alleged contract with a corporation embodied in a corporate resolution, although present when the resolution was read, raised no objection or dissent, is not conclusive of his assent by silence, as such party is entitled to adduce evidence in explanation of his silence.

Re St. David's and Lahey, 7 D.L.R. 84, 4 O.W.N. 32, 23 O.W.R. 12.

Where reticence is accompanied by such circumstances as to give it an exceptionally misleading aspect, it can be assimilated to an affirmative false statement, and a contract entered into as the result of such reticence will be voided and set aside.

Liddell v. Lacroix, 8 D.L.R. 502.

(§ II E-206)—PRESUMPTION AGAINST SPOILIATOR.

In computing the amount of damages recoverable for clandestine use of a water supply the maxim "omnia praesumuntur contra spoliatores" applies.

Brandon Electric Light Co. v. Brandon, 1 D.L.R. 793, 22 Man. L.R. 500, 20 W.L.R. 658, 2 W.W.R. 22.

F. CORPORATIONS; PARTNERSHIP.

(§ II F-211)—POWERS AND ACTS.

In winding-up proceedings, the onus is on the liquidator who seeks to place a person on the list of contributors.

Re Port Hope Brewing & Malting Co.; Johnson's Case, 3 D.L.R. 426, 3 O.W.N. 1048.

(§ II F-217)—DIRECTORS.

The presumption in the case of a director of a company is that his services as such are to be gratuitous.

Re Solicitors, 7 D.L.R. 323, 4 O.W.N. 47.

H. AS TO SKILL; NEGLIGENCE; CARE.

(§ II H-224)—STREET RAILWAYS—SNOW AND ICE—REMOVAL FROM TRACK.

The onus rests on an electric railway company, in an action against it for injuries sustained from snow removed from its railway tracks and left heaped up in a highway, to shew that it was levelled off to a uniform depth as required by R.S.N.S. 1900, c. 71, s. 194.

Wright v. Pictou County Elec. Co., 11 D. L.R. 443, 15 Can. Ry. Cas. 394, 47 N.S.R. 166, 13 E.L.R. 47.

INJURY BY AUTOMOBILE—DUTY OF OPERATOR TO SHOW FREEDOM FROM NEGLIGENCE.

The fact that loss or damage was incurred or sustained on a highway or street by reason of a motor vehicle, under s. 7 of the Motor Vehicles Act, 8 Edw. VII. (Ont.), c. 53, R.S.O. 1914, c. 207, casts upon the owner or operator the onus of showing that the injury was not due to his fault.

Maitland v. Mackenzie (No. 2), 13 D.L.R. 129, 28 O.L.R. 506.

PRESUMPTIONS—NEGLIGENCE—INJURY TO MILL BY FLOATAGE OF LOGS.

Under art. 1054, C.C. (Que.), a presumption of negligence arises from an injury to a mill from the floatage of logs down a stream, which can be rebutted only by evidence that the obstruction of the stream by the mill itself was the sole cause of the injury.

Peppin v. Villeneuve, 12 D.L.R. 327, 22 Que. K.B. 520.

NEGLIGENCE—MORE PROBABLE INFERENCE SHIFTING ONUS.

In a negligence case where either of two inferences is consistent with the facts proved, the one involving negligence on the defendant's part and the other exonerating him, the onus is shifted to the defendant if the former is the more reasonable or likely. [Flannery v. Waterford & Lemerick R. Co., 1r. R. 11 C.L. 29; Crawford v. Uppar, 16 A.R. (Ont.) 449, applied.]

Amundsen v. Ward, 16 D.L.R. 558, 7 W. W.R. 311, 6 W.W.R. 1022, 28 W.L.R. 654, affirming 11 D.L.R. 167.

The maxim res ipsa loquitur applies to shew a prima facie case of actionable negligence on the part of a defendant who while riding a bicycle on a city street violently collided with and seriously injured a foot passenger who was crossing the street, where it appeared, (a) that there was nothing to prevent the defendant from seeing the plaintiff; (b) that he was in a better position to see the plaintiff than the plaintiff was to see him; (c) that the defendant did see the plaintiff long enough before the actual collision to warn him.

Woodman v. Cummer, 8 D.L.R. 853, 4 O.W.N. 371, 23 O.W.R. 504.

FORTUITOUS ACCIDENT—FORCE MAJEURE.

A fortuitous accident is an unforeseen event caused by a force majeure which it is impossible to resist, but it is not presumed and must be proved, and it is the one who invokes it who has the burden of proof.

Dechêne v. C.P.R. Co., 47 Que. S.C. 431.

(§ II H—226)—DERAILMENT—NEGLIGENCE—REBUTTAL.

The presumption of negligence arising from an injury to a passenger as the result of the derailment of a car at a switch over which many passenger trains passed daily, is not displaced by the railway company shewing that the accident was caused by the working out of an insecurely fastened bolt from a switch rod, if the defective condition should have been discovered by ordinary care.

Ashlee v. C.N.R. Co., 14 D.L.R. 701, 6 S.L.R. 135, 25 W.L.R. 884, 5 W.W.R. 543, 550.

(§ II H—227)—COLLISION.

Where evidence was given of a pass from the company having been found on deceased, but not to shew that this pass had been issued to him over that portion of the line, nor was the pass produced, the onus is on the defendant company to shew that deceased was travelling on a pass, and that it was not shewn that he was being carried in such circumstances as to make him a fellow servant with those operating the line. Wilkinson v. B.C. Electric R. Co., 16 B. C.R. 113, 13 Can. Ry. Cas. 378.

(§ II H—230)—PERSONAL INJURY—RES IPSA LOQUITUR.

Dominion Fish Co. v. Ishester, 43 Can. S. C.R. 637.

(§ II H—234)—BAGGAGE.

In case of accidental destruction of goods in a bailee's custody, where an accident is proved to have been caused by a hidden defect of such a nature that it could not be guarded against in the process of construction, nor discovered by subsequent examination, the presumption that the loss has resulted from the bailee's negligence is rebutted.

Carlisle v. G.T.R. Co., 1 D.L.R. 130, 25 O.L.R. 372, 20 O.W.R. 860.

(§ II H—235)—GOODS LADEN BY SHIPPER ON CAR ON SIDING—DELIVERY TO RAILWAY COMPANY.

Spedding v. G.T.R. Co., 40 Que. S.C. 463.

(§ II H—237)—DAMAGE TO FREIGHT.

The payment by a common carrier of damages for injuries to a portion of a consignment of goods is not an admission of liability in respect to other portions thereof. [Hennell v. Davies, [1893] 1 Q.B. 367, followed.]

Albo v. G.N.R. Co., 2 D.L.R. 290, 17 B. C.R. 226, 20 W.L.R. 844, 1 W.W.R. 1105.

GOODS DAMAGED IN TRANSIT—EXCEPTED RISKS.

When goods are given to a carrier for delivery and arrive at their destination in a damaged state, there arises a presumption of fault on the part of the one who is under an obligation to indemnify the consignee. A clause inserted in a bill of lading providing "That the carriers should not be responsible for any loss, damage or delay arising from the act of God, pilferage, breakage, perils or accident of the sea, as the entry or admission of water into the vessel for any cause or for any purpose," puts the burden of proof upon the carrier to prove that the damage to the goods arose from one of such causes.

Déchêne v. C.P.R. Co., 47 Que. S.C. 431.

(§ II H—241)—RAILROADS GENERALLY—EMPLOYEES—SKILL.

The flagrant failure of a section foreman improperly entrusted with the charge of a railway snow plow train in violation of statutory regulations requiring that only employees should be placed in charge who had passed the prescribed examination to observe the signals or to signal to the engine driver in rear may, in the absence of evidence to the contrary, be presumed to have resulted from his want of skill, knowledge or experience, or to some physical incapacity or defect, which the statutory examination or test would have revealed; and the railway company is properly held liable in damages for the death of his assistant on the snow plow in a collision resulting from the section foreman's neglect in which he also was killed; the company's action in setting an unqualified man to do such work was either the sole effective cause of the accident or a cause materially contributing to it, and the case therefore could not have been properly withdrawn from the jury.

Jones v. C.P.R. Co., 13 D.L.R. 900, 20 O.L.R. 331, 24 O.W.R. 917, reversing 5 D.L.R. 332, 3 O.A.W.N. 1404.

STATUTORY SPEED LIMIT FOR TRAINS—EXCEPTIONS.

Where a damage action against a railway company is based upon a level crossing accident due to the running of trains at a rate far exceeding that of ten miles an hour through the thickly peopled portion of a village or town and so primarily in contravention of s. 275 of the Railway Act, 1906, as amended by 8 & 9 Edw. VII, c. 32, s. 13, the onus of proof is upon the railway company to show that it comes within the exceptions contained in the statute by having a special order of the Railway Committee or of the Railway Board governing the mode of protection of the crossing and so exempting the company from the restriction of ten miles an hour at the locus in quo, or to show that the company had permission to exceed that limit by some regulation or order of the Railway Board applicable to the particular locality. [G.T.R. Co. v. McKay, 3 Can. Ry. Cas. 52, 34 Can. S.C.R. 81, distinguished.]

Hell v. G.T.R. Co., 15 D.L.R. 874, 48 Can. S.C.R. 561, 16 Can. Ry. Cas. 324, reversing 14 D.L.R. 279, 29 O.L.R. 247. [Leave to appeal to P. C. refused, May 22, 1914.]

In an action against a railway company for negligence causing death, the plaintiff is not bound to call the engineer or fireman on whose alleged neglect the action is based to prove a breach of duty by themselves.

Graham v. G.T.R. Co., 1 D.L.R. 554, 13 Can. Ry. Cas. 232, 25 O.L.R. 429, 29 O.W.R. 965.

(§ II H—250)—ELECTRIC RAILWAY—NEGLECT—INCOMPETENCE OF MOTORMAN.

A finding by the jury in a negligence action against an electric railway company that the defendants were guilty of negligence consisting of the motorman being incompetent of running the car will not in itself be sufficient to render the company liable unless it is proved in evidence and found by the jury that the incompetence of the motorman resulted in some definite act or omission which was the direct cause of the injury.

Mehner v. Winnipeg Electric Co., 21 D.L.R. 786, 25 Man. L.R. 384, 18 Can. Ry. Cas. 179, 8 W.W.R. 517.

(§ II H—251)—EXPLOSION OF CONTROLLER—EVIDENCE OF WANT OF CARE.

An explosion in the controller of an electric street car which would not have occurred in the ordinary course of events had proper care been used in inspecting it, is prima facie sufficient to shew negligence as regards a resulting injury to a passenger.

Toronto R. Co. v. Fleming (No. 2), 12 D.L.R. 249, 47 Can. S.C.R. 612, 15 Can. Ry. Cas. 386, affirming 8 D.L.R. 507, 27 O.L.R. 332.

BREAKING OF STRAP—EVIDENCE OF WANT OF CARE.

The fact that a strap in a street car by which a passenger was supporting herself broke when the car swerved and her weight was thrown on it, casts upon the railway company the burden of shewing that the breaking was not due to any negligence on its part. The case is one for the application of the maxim res ipsa loquitur.

Brawley v. Toronto R. Co., 49 D.L.R. 452, 46 O.L.R. 31, reversing 44 O.L.R. 568.

ELECTRIC RAILWAY.

Where a controller of a car is shown to have been "overhauled" by the defendant carrier shortly before an explosion occurred resulting in injury to a passenger, the burden is upon the defendant to shew that it had been properly done.

Fleming v. Toronto R. Co., 8 D.L.R. 507, 15 Can. Ry. Cas. 17, 27 O.L.R. 332, 23 O.W.R. 285. [Affirmed, 12 D.L.R. 249, 47 Can. S.C.R. 612, 15 Can. Ry. Cas. 386.]

(§ II H—255)—MASTER AND SERVANT—RES IPSA LOQUITUR—INJURY TO SERVANT.

The happening of an accident out of the ordinary course of events casts upon an employer the onus of explaining it and exonerating himself from liability for a resulting injury to an employee.

Dunlop v. Canada Foundry Co., 12 D.L.R. 791, 28 O.L.R. 140, affirming 2 D.L.R. 887, 4 O.W.N. 791.

(§ II H—263)—OF BAILEE—WAREHOUSEMEN.

The burden of proving the exercise of reasonable care and that a suitable place for storage has been furnished lies upon the warehouseman when he delivers in a damaged condition goods received by him in apparently good state.

Roy v. Adamson, 3 D.L.R. 139.

(§ II H—265)—OF MUNICIPAL CORPORATIONS.

In the absence of direct evidence to show that the deceased walked into the unprotected portion of an excavation in the street, which was being made by the municipal corporation and which was left with a partial protection only so that as to the remainder it constituted a dangerous trap, an inference to that effect may be drawn from the position in which his body was found and from the fact that deceased had left his house in a hurry to catch a car and that the trench was on his direct route to do so.

McDonald v. Sydney, 8 D.L.R. 99, 46 N.S.R. 438.

In an action against a municipality for neglect to take precautions against fire whereby the death of a prisoner resulted while occupying a wooden cell after his arrest, it is incumbent on the plaintiff to establish, by the burden of proof, that the deceased's death was caused by the defendant's negligence, from a negligent act or omission, to which the death of the deceased can be attributed and traced; and if there is no direct proof of negligence, and the circumstances proven are equally consistent with the absence of negligence as with its existence, the burden has not been sustained by plaintiff, and a recovery cannot be had. [Wakelin v. South Western R. Co., 12 App. Cas. 41, applied.]

McKenzie v. Tp. of Chilliwack, 8 D.L.R. 692, [1912] A.C. 888.

(§ II H—270)—STATUTORY PRESUMPTION—AUTOMOBILE ACCIDENT—NEGLIGENCE.

Section 63 of the Motor Vehicle Act, R.S.M. 1913, c. 131, places the onus of proof upon the automobile owner or driver in respect of damage done by collision with a bicycle; and the effect of the statute is that negligence in the operation of the automobile is prima facie presumed because of the collision. [Toronto General Trusts Co. v. Dunn, 20 Man. L.R. 412, followed.] Weigose v. McGregor, 16 D.L.R. 406, 50 C.L.J. 439, 24 Man. L.R. 133, 27 W.L.R. 324, 6 W.W.R. 175.

AUTOMOBILES AND MOTOR VEHICLES.

Section 33 of the Motor Vehicle Act, 2-3 Geo. V. (Alta.) c. 6, providing that the onus of shewing that any loss or damage incurred by any person from the operation of a motor vehicle did not arise through the negligence or improper conduct of the owner or driver thereof, shall rest upon the owner or driver, merely establishes a new rule of evidence in civil cases, and does not alter the common-law liability of the owner or driver for the negligent operation of a motor vehicle.

B. & R. Co. v. McLeod, 7 D.L.R. 579, 5 A.L.R. 176, 22 W.L.R. 274, 2 W.W.R. 1903.

Section 42 of the Motor Vehicles Act, R.S.B.C. 1911, c. 169, by which in any prosecution for any offence against its provisions occurring while the motor vehicle was in motion on any highway the person in charge or control of the motor vehicle, on being prosecuted therefor, shall be deemed to have been driving at an unlawful speed until the contrary is proven and is further required to prove the actual rate of speed at which the motor vehicle was being driven, does not apply to cast the same onus of proof on the defendant in a purely civil action for damages although the same default or neglect is relied upon as might be the subject of a prosecution for penalties under that statute.

Queer v. Greig, 3 D.L.R. 308.

The driver of an automobile must be held to be aware of the tendency of automobiles to frighten horses, especially in places where automobiles are so little used as to be strange objects to horses.

Stewart v. Steele, 6 D.L.R. 1, 5 S.L.R. 358, 22 W.L.R. 6, 2 W.W.R. 902.

I. AS TO OFFICIAL ACTS.

(§ II I—299)—ELECTIONS.

The onus of proving that the petitioner is not disqualified under the Alberta Election Act, 1909, c. 3, is discharged by his statement that he was a qualified elector and, thereupon the burden of proving disqualification is on the respondent raising the preliminary objection; proof that the petitioner was a qualified elector at the time of the election is sufficient.

Carstairs v. Cross, 7 D.L.R. 192, 5 A.L.R. 268, 2 W.W.R. 1087.

The onus probandi is upon the petitioner in proceedings under the Controverted Elections Act, 7 Edw. VII. (Alta.) c. 2, to support the regularity of his proceedings necessary to the maintenance of a petition when attacked by a motion to quash the petition, as regards the statutory grounds for setting aside election petitions under s. 19 of that statute. [Stanstead Election Case, 20 Can. S.C.R. 12, followed.] On an application by way of preliminary objection to the filing of an election petition under the provisions of the Controverted Elections Act, that the returning officer has not returned the respondent as duly elected, and that the notice prescribed by s. 119 of the Territories Election Ordinance had not been given, the onus of proof is upon the respondent raising that objection. In the absence of evidence to the contrary, a petitioner who has signed an election petition under the Controverted Elections Act, is presumed to know its contents; and the onus of supporting by proof the respondent's preliminary objection that the petitioner was not aware of the contents of the petition and therefore was not a petitioner in fact, is upon the respondent who raises it.

Carstairs v. Cross, 6 D.L.R. 59, 5 A.L.R. 266, 22 W.L.R. 48, 2 W.W.R. 891. [Affirmed, 8 D.L.R. 369, 22 W.W.R. 797.]

Residence in Canada for several years does not raise a presumption either of law or of fact that the resident is a British subject. [Currie v. Stairs, 25 N.B.R. s.; Doe dem Thomas v. Acklam, 2 B. & C. 779; Reg. v. Lynch, 26 U.C.Q.B. 208, distinguished.] The onus is upon the petitioner presenting an election petition under the Controverted Elections Act (Alta.) 7 Edw. VII., c. 2, to show that he is himself a duly qualified elector at the date of filing the petition, and failure to prove himself a British subject, which is an essential element of an elector's qualification, may be given effect to upon the hearing of preliminary objections to the petition. In the absence of evidence to the contrary, a petitioner who has signed an election petition under the Controverted Elections Act, is presumed to know its contents; and the onus of supporting by proof the respondent's preliminary objection that the petitioner was not aware of the contents of the petition and therefore was not a petitioner in fact, is upon the respondent who raises it. [Carstairs v. Cross; Re Edmonton Election, 6 D.L.R. 59, followed.] The onus probandi is upon the petitioner in proceedings under the Controverted Elections Act, to support the regularity of his proceedings necessary to the maintenance of a petition when attacked by a motion to quash the petition, as regards the statutory grounds for setting aside election petitions under s. 10 of that Act. [Carstairs v. Cross; re Edmonton Election, 6 D.L.R. 59, applied.]

McVaught v. McKenzie (Re Claresholm Provincial Election), 8 D.L.R. 58, 5 A.L.R. 286, 22 W.L.R. 840, 3 W.W.R. 133.

(§ II I—300)—SALE BY SHERIFF.

The onus of shewing that all of the requirements pertaining to a sheriff's sale of land under execution were complied with, rests on the person applying for confirmation thereof.

Re Price, 4 D.L.R. 407, 5 S.L.R. 318, 21 W.L.R. 299, 2 W.W.R. 394.

(§ II I—303)—JUDICIAL ACT.

When it is proved that a prisoner consented that the charge against him should be summarily tried by a magistrate under the Cr. Code, s. 778, the presumption arises that the preliminary requirement of stating to the prisoner his option as prescribed by s. 778 was complied with by the magistrate.

The King v. Mali, 1 D.L.R. 256, 22 Man. L.R. 29, 20 W.L.R. 217, 1 W.W.R. 766.

Where there is any conflict or discrepancy as to the action of a judge or court officer in any matter of routine, the presumption that all was done rightly should prevail.

R. v. Hamlink, 5 D.L.R. 733, 26 O.L.R. 381, 19 Can. Cr. Cas. 493, 22 O.W.R. 107.

J. FROM CIRCUMSTANCES AND COURSE OF BUSINESS.

(§ II J—305)—PRINTING CONTRACT.

In an action by the plaintiffs, a printing firm, on a disputed account for printing work done and delivered, the following circumstances raise a presumption against the claim (a) absence of plaintiff's customary records shewing the various orders for or the execution or delivery of the alleged work; (b) plaintiff's delay of about four years in pressing the claim after its repudiation by the defendant; (c) plaintiff's admission that a large portion of the claim is for work never delivered.

Kingdon Printing Co. v. Malcolm, 9 D.L.R. 651, 22 W.L.R. 939.

In the absence of direct evidence the contents of a box of military supplies was sufficiently shewn in an action by the Crown against a railway company for its loss, by the testimony of the officer in charge of the supplies, that he selected them from the general stores and turned them over to a person of excellent character, whose duty it was to box and ship them, and that the latter delivered a heavy box to the railway company, which receipted for it, and that such person could not be produced at the trial, as his term of enlistment had expired, and his whereabouts was unknown.

R. v. C.P.R. Co., 5 D.L.R. 176, 5 A.L.R. 9, 21 W.L.R. 709, 2 W.W.R. 627.

(§ II J—307)—SECONDARY MEANING OF TRADEMARK.

The onus is on the user of a merely descriptive word or term, not registered as a trademark, to shew, in his action to prevent sales of similar goods by others using the same mark as a "passing off" of their goods as his, that the mark as used by him had acquired a secondary technical and superinduced meaning denoting his goods as distinguished from the natural meaning.

Dominion Flour Mills Co. v. Morris, 2 D.L.R. 830, 25 O.L.R. 561, 21 O.W.R. 540.

(§ II J—308)—WHAT IS COMPETITIVE BUSINESS.

Whether or not a separate business, in which one of the members of a partnership is interested, competes with the business of his firm, so as to render him liable to account to his firm for the profits derived by him from his interest therein, is a question of fact to be decided upon the circumstances of each case.

Livingston v. Livingston, 4 D.L.R. 345, 26 O.L.R. 246, 21 O.W.R. 901.

K. AS TO RIGHTS, CONTRACTS, INSTRUMENTS, AND PROPERTY.

(§ II K—310)—TO SHEW RECEIPT BY HUSBAND OF WIFE'S INCOME WAS MERE LOAN—INTEREST.

In order to charge a married man with interest on the income of his wife's separate estate received by him, the onus, except possibly as to the last year's income, rests on the wife to show that he received the money as a loan. [Alexander v. Barnhill, 21 L.R. Ir. 515 followed.]

Ellis v. Ellis, 15 D.L.R. 100, 5 O.W.N. 561.

(§ II K-311)—REPRESENTATIONS BY PERSON IN FIDUCIARY CAPACITY—BENEFIT PERSONALLY ACQUIRED.

A director of a company who resigns his position as director to accept a contract of employment with the company obtained upon his representations as to material facts, has cast upon him the burden of proof of the truth of such representations, where his employment contract was in fact a bargain extravagantly advantageous to him and which would affect shareholders not concurring therein, and where the consideration for same consisted partly of an arrangement made between the resigning director and his fellow-directors by which the latter would obtain personal benefits from him.

Denman v. Clover Bay Coal Co., 15 D.L.R. 241, 48 Can. S.C.R. 318, 26 W.L.R. 435, 5 W.W.R. 564.

VARIANCE FROM WRITTEN BUILDING CONTRACT—SUBSEQUENT ORAL VARIATION.

In an action upon a building contract where the construction actually proceeded with differed from that contemplated by the written contract between the parties as to size of building and class of materials, the party who claims that the written contract was altogether abrogated and not merely varied in such respects by the verbal arrangement between the parties by which the change was assented to after the contract was made, has the onus cast upon him to prove such claim.

McKenzie v. Elliott, 10 D.L.R. 466, 4 O.W.N. 1151, 24 O.W.R. 443, 49 C.L.J. 414, affirming 2 D.L.R. 809.

SALE OF GOODS—SAVING PROVISION "IF UNABLE TO DELIVER PROMPTLY."

Where a written contract for the sale of goods contains a clause for delivery on a certain date with a proviso that "if for any reason the seller may be unable to fill the order or deliver the goods at the time stated, the buyer will not in any way hold the seller responsible for damages," the onus is upon the seller, in case of failure to deliver promptly to establish his inability to deliver at the stated time.

Leonard v. Kremer (No. 2), 11 D.L.R. 491, 48 Can. S.C.R. 518, 26 W.L.R. 568, 4 W.W.R. 332, affirming 7 D.L.R. 24.

CONTRACTS—SALE BY MANUFACTURER.

Where a person sends an order for an engine to the manufacturer thereof and subsequently refuses to accept an engine tendered in response to the order on the ground that it is not the article ordered, the onus is on the vendor to prove that it fulfills a requirement of the order that it is entirely a new engine.

Haug v. Baade, 15 D.L.R. 520, 7 S.L.R. 47, 26 W.L.R. 750.

ONUS OF PROOF—AS TO CONTRACTS—LIABILITY PRESUMED FOR USE OF ANOTHER'S CHATTEL, WHEN.

The onus is on the party setting up a specific agreement for car rental in railway construction work, to prove it; but if both parties had pleaded that there was no express agreement to pay, and the claimant had relied upon the presumption of a promise to pay the fair value of the use of another's chattels, the onus would be upon the party who used them to establish his contention that he was to have them free of charge.

Copresham v. Parsons, 19 D.L.R. 443, 7 W.W.R. 944.

CONTRACTS GENERALLY—BURDEN OF PROOF—FAILURE OF PLAINTIFF TO SATISFY.

McFarlane v. Collier, 3 D.L.R. 889, 3 O.W.N. 1510, 22 O.W.R. 579.

In an action upon a document purporting to be a promissory note, but which is in fact not a promissory note but an agreement in writing, consideration will not be presumed in favour of the plaintiff.

Imperial Life Ins. Co. v. Audett, 5 D.L.R. 355, 4 A.L.R. 204, 20 W.L.R. 372, 1 W.W.R. 819.

The onus rests upon the plaintiff, a real estate broker, in an action for one-half of the net profits from a sale of land by him under a contract with the defendant, of shewing that he was relieved by the former of the duty imposed upon him by such contract, of subdividing the land into lots at his own expense, and of advertising it for sale.

Cruikshank et al. v. Irving, 6 D.L.R. 237, 21 W.L.R. 172, 4 A.L.R. 248, 2 W.W.R. 131.

Where, after nearly half of the purchase price had been paid on a contract for the sale of land, the vendor sought to cancel the agreement, notwithstanding he had knowledge that the vendee was ready and willing to pay the balance due within three days of the time limited for payment in the notice of cancellation, in an action by the vendee for specific performance, the onus rests on the vendor to shew that such cancellation was in strict accord with the requirements of the contract of sale.

Brown v. Roberts, 2 D.L.R. 523, 17 B.C.R. 16, 1 W.W.R. 987.

In order to maintain a plea of prescription the defendant must prove affirmatively that the plaintiff did not attack the contract he seeks to have avoided, within the year following his knowledge of the existence of such contract.

Banque Nationale v. Godbout, 8 D.L.R. 668, 19 Rev. Leg. 401.

Where a publishing firm which publishes annually a residence and business city directory, sells under a written contract to the plaintiff, a practising barrister, a copy of the directory, and is bound by custom to insert in the directory in large, heavy type the subscriber's name, calling and office address, and where the contract specifies the name and office address, but where the publition

city recti-
the scrip-ment in the
to a
A que.
is I
the ance, comp alleg
by it affec
Pa Ins.
W.R.
In
of pt shall a co be v perm tract the c
the p accept notice sures police 89
R. 92
INSU
Th
just ance
on th
He cut I (§ II
It pearl exec been there were
He
R. 28
DREY
W his separment
that main-such french apar may and affim
Fr
L.R.

- (§ II K-316)—The onus rests upon a mortgagee in possession of encumbered property of showing that he had purchased the mortgagor's equity of redemption, since "one a mortgage, always a mortgage." Manitoba Lumber Co. v. Emmerton, 5 D. L.R. 377, 18 B.C.L.R. 99, 21 W.L.R. 303, 2 W.A.R. 419.
- (§ II K-317)—Will.
 On a motion to construe a will the court cannot look beyond the document itself and must reject the affidavit of the party who drew the will as to the testator's intention. The Dyer, 40 N.B.R. 27, 5 O.V.N. 1243.
- Where there was an evident doubt in the mind of a testator whether one of his sons or a daughter would inherit under a devise in that grantor's will, and the testator was desirous in his will that no preference of his being a devisee under his grantor's will, but that in case such daughter, instead of such son, should take thereunder, that the latter should replace the daughter as one of the testator's universal legatees, then in order that such son, who, as a fact, may take as universal legatee to the exclusion of his sister, he must show that he was not provided for by the will of his grandfather, and that the property he was supposed to take thereunder was a part of his father's estate.
- Although the word "child" in C.C. (Que.) also means not only child in the first degree, but all descendants, this presumption of law may be rebutted by other proof of the intention of the testator in making the will.
- (Gram v. Graham) 8 D.L.R. 533, 43 Que. S.C. 144.
- (§ II K-318)—NEGOTIABLE PAPER.
 The onus of proving for which a promissory note consideration for which a promissory note was given rests upon the maker thereof. Lilly v. Robertson, 4 D.L.R. 852, 21 W.L.R. 587.
- The true test to decide upon whom the burden of proof rests in an action on negotiable paper is to ask the question, on whom would success in an action on negotiable paper be added? If an action on negotiable instrument a plea of general denial by an endorser puts the defendant in the position that the defendant signed his name, the burden of proof is upon the defendant if he wishes to show that his signature was intended only in the capacity of a witness. McNeil v. McKim, 5 D.L.R. 257, 41 Que. S.C. 340.
- The onus rests upon the holder of a promissory note payable to the order of a person by him duly authorized to do so. Hamilton v. Inneson, 5 D.L.R. 114, 21 W.L.R. 333.
- (§ II K-319)—Publishing firm by custom (for its purpose) gives public newspaper notice to all persons to call or write and see to the correctness of their names and addresses in the sub-section may safely rely upon the specific mention of his name and address contained in his contract, and need not call or write to ensure accuracy.
- (Armstrong v. Lovell, 8 D.L.R. 611, 42 Que. S.C. 344.
- (§ II K-320)—INSURANCE.
 (a) an action on a policy of fire insurance, the onus rests upon the insurance company of establishing the materiality of alleged misrepresentations of concealments by the applicant of material circumstances affecting the risk.
- (Paterson v. Oxford Farmer Mutual Fire Ins. Co.) 22 D.L.R. 399, 4 O.V.N. 149, 23 O.W.R. 127.
- In order that the acceptance of payments of premiums on a contract of fire insurance shall constitute a waiver by the insurer of a condition of the contract that it shall be void if the insured should, without a consent, within two years from date of contract, enter into employment of a railway, the onus rests upon those claiming under the policy to show that the payments were accepted by the insurance company with notice or knowledge of the fact that the insured had violated such condition of the policy.
- (Smith v. Keelester Life Ins. Co.) 4 D.L.R. 99, 3 O.V.N. 1271, 22 O.W.R. 863.
- (INSURANCE—VARIATION OF STATUTORY CONDITIONS.)
 The onus of proof that a condition is not just and reasonable within the Fire Insurance Policy Act, R.S.R.C. 1911, c. 114, lies on the assured.
- (Hull Mining & Smelting Co. v. Connecticut Fire Ins. Co.) 18 B.C.L.R. 113.
- (§ II K-321) — PRESENTATIONS — DEEDS—ALTERATIONS IN.
 It is to be presumed that alterations appearing in a deed were made before it was executed, but where that presumption has been rebutted by proof to the contrary, there is no presumption that the alterations were made with the assent of the grantor. Hedley v. Morrow, 20 D.L.R. 361, 32 O.L.R. 281.
- (Deans)
 Where $250 is paid by the husband to his wife on the execution of a deed of separation which did not contain any alimentary provision and did not stipulate that such sum was intended for the wife's maintenance, it cannot be presumed that husband from his duty to support her as apart from its inadequacy, the payment may have been for other purposes, and the wife is, therefore, entitled to an alimentary allowance.
- (Premont v. Premont, 6 D.L.R. 463, 26 O.L.R. 6, 21 O.V.N.R. 644.

Where one defendant in an action upon a negotiable instrument relies upon a failure of consideration, either total or partial, or upon payment of the instrument or any part thereof, the onus is upon him to prove such failure or payment. Where a negotiable instrument has been endorsed to and left with a bank by a customer thereof, the proper conclusion, in case of a conflict of evidence as to the terms upon which the instrument was so indorsed and left, will usually be that it was as collateral security for any advances by the bank to the customer and not for collection only.

Merchants Bank v. Thompson, 3 D.L.R. 577, 3 O.W.N. 1014, 21 O.W.R. 740.

The fact that a promissory note bore conspicuously the words "renewable on payment of $50 cash" is some evidence that the note was not given for accommodation only.

Walsh v. Hennessy, 3 D.L.R. 823, 21 W.L.R. 609.

§ II K-321)—CAPITAL STOCK—SUBSCRIPTION TO STOCK.

A ratification of the sale of company shares to directors who made a secret profit from a sale of the company assets, cannot arise from the fact of the completion of the sale by the shareholders, where they did not learn until long afterward that the directors made such secret profit.

Gadsden v. Benetto, 5 D.L.R. 529, 21 W.L.R. 886, 2 W.W.R. 735. [Reversed on another point, 9 D.L.R. 719, 23 Man. L.R. 33.]

(§ II K-322)—GIFT.

In order to shew that money delivered by one person to another was intended as a gift, the onus rests on the recipient to establish a clear and unmistakable intention on the part of the deliverer to make a gift.

Johnstone v. Johnstone, 12 D.L.R. 537, 28 O.L.R. 334.

Express directions to executors to hold and invest all of the testator's property of all kinds until the time fixed for distribution thereof, precludes the inference of an intention to enlarge the gift of an annuity, which was expressly charged upon the income of his estate, so as to render it a charge upon the corpus thereof.

Re Irwin, 4 D.L.R. 803, 3 O.W.N. 936, 21 O.W.R. 562.

(§ II K-330)—OWNERSHIP OR POSSESSION.

On an application to the court to restrain expropriation proceedings taken by a railway company on the ground that the company had agreed upon a price with plaintiff, the plaintiff's status is proved prima facie by shewing that he had been served as owner with notice of arbitration proceedings by the company without his further shewing his title or interest in the land.

Haney v. Winnipeg & Northern R. Co., 1 D.L.R. 387, 20 W.L.R. 540, 14 Can. Ry. Cas. 39.

(§ II K-338)—PRESUMED GRANT—PRESUMPTION AS TO "LOST GRANT."

Where there is evidence of user, open and uninterrupted for twenty years, the jury may and ought to presume a lost grant. [Re Cockburn, 27 O.R. 450, followed.]

Hunter v. Richards, 5 D.L.R. 116, 26 O.L.R. 458, 22 O.W.R. 408. [Affirmed, 12 D.L.R. 503, 28 O.L.R. 267.]

(§ II K-339)—PRESUMPTION FROM POSSESSION.

In the case of chattels, as in the case of land, no presumption is made in favour of a wrongful possessor either as to the extent or as to the duration of his possession. [Ex parte Fletcher, 5 Ch. D. 809, at p. 813; Trustees and Agency Co. v. Short, 13 App. Cas. 793, at p. 798, followed; Glenwood v. Phillips, [1904] A.C. 405, applied.]

National Trust Co. v. Miller; Schmidt v. Miller, 3 D.L.R. 69, 46 Can. S.C.R. 45, 22 O.W.R. 485. [Reversed on another point, 15 D.L.R. 755, [1914] A.C. 197.]

(§ II K-343)—BOUNDARIES, STREET LINES, ETC.

In an action to restrain a municipality from interfering with a fence erected by the plaintiff along the centre line of land used as a highway, upon the ground that such centre line forms the boundary of the plaintiff's property, the onus is upon the plaintiff to establish that the boundary is as he alleges. In an action or counterclaim by a municipality for the removal of a fence erected upon and to restrain the obstruction of land alleged to form part of an allowance for road, the onus is upon the municipality to establish the existence and location of the allowance for road.

Lake Erie Excursion Co. v. Tp. of Bertie, 4 D.L.R. 585, 3 O.W.N. 1191, 22 O.W.R. 42.

Where, in a dispute as to the proper boundary between two farms, both owners claim a strip lying between them, and it appears that a fence, which has been standing for some thirty years, and was built by the defendant, throws the disputed strip on the plaintiff's side, and that the defendant's barn forms part of and is in line with the fence, though he says that he did not know the true boundary when he built the fence and barn, and a road has been made upon the strip by the plaintiff, who has had such use and occupation as is possible in the case of such land, and the defendant has repeatedly attempted to purchase the strip from the plaintiff, and there is evidence tending to shew an agreement by the defendant to fix as the boundary the line contended for by the plaintiff, the proper conclusion is that the plaintiff has established title by possession to the strip in dispute.

Snair v. Hume, 5 D.L.R. 687.

L. PAYMENT; CREDIT.

(§ II L-345)—ACTION FOR UNPAID CUSTOMS DUTIES—PAYMENT—ONUS TO SUE.

In an action by the Crown to recover customs duties on goods not entered or declared, the onus rests upon the defendant to show payment and full compliance with the requirements of the Customs Act.

The King v. C.P.R. Co., 11 D.L.R. 681, 12 E.L.R. 309, 14 Can. Ex. 150.

Where a claimant is a partner in a firm of ship-supply merchants and is also the owner of a one-third interest in a certain vessel, and where the claimant sells out his one-third interest in the vessel to the owners of the remaining two-third interest, and it appears that at the time of this sale there was a current account for ship supplies outstanding against the vessel in question and in favour of the firm of merchants of which the claimant was a partner, there is from these circumstances of themselves no presumption that the claimant by virtue of selling his interest in the vessel intended thereby to waive his claim as a merchant for the ship supplies, and this especially since none of the parties to the sale of the interest in the vessel appears to have so treated the supply account.

Ernst v. Slawenwhite (No. 2), 7 D.L.R. 239.

The fact of payment is and always has been a matter of defence, the onus of proving which is upon the defendant.

Ontario Asphalt Block Co. v. Cook, 4 D.L.R. 22, 3 O.W.N. 1289, 22 O.W.R. 203.

Credit entries in the books of the plaintiff company, as well as the receipts for payments received, are, as against the company, to be taken as admissions of payments received, and are prima facie evidence that the defendant is entitled to be credited with the various sums represented by these entries and receipts, but it is open to the plaintiff to shew by other evidence that the payments represented by these entries and receipts were not in fact made, but that the entries and receipts were in respect of the same amounts and the plaintiffs not having discharged the onus so resting upon them, the defendant was entitled to credit for all the amounts shewn.

Mansey-Harris Co. v. Horning, 4 S.L.R. 448.

MUNICIPAL CORPORATION—NOTE—CONSIDERATION—POWERS—WRITTEN PLEADING—EVIDENCE—C.C. ART. 1204—S. REP. [1909] ART. 5279.

Everyone being presumed to bind himself and his successors, therefore when the plaintiff produces a note, he is not obliged to produce evidence that he has given consideration for the note. When a municipal corporation, having the right to sign notes in the execution of all powers, rights and privileges "which are conferred upon it by the Act, and of all the duties and obligations which are incumbent upon it" is sued upon a note, and alleges that it had no right to sign or transfer it, or that it was given for an illegal consideration, it must plead this and prove it.

Guilmette Co. v. Montreal North, 55 Que. S.C. 53.

Can. Dig.—59.

(§ II L—348)—INSURANCE MONEY.

The fact that an insurance policy, issued by underwriters in England, is stamped with the name of an agent in Toronto, and bears a marginal note shewing the equivalent in Canadian currency of the face value of the policy, is an indication that it is payable in Ontario.

Farmers Bank v. Heath (No. 2), 5 D.L.R. 291, 3 O.W.N. 805, 879, 22 O.W.R. 614.

(§ II L—351)—CREDIT.

Apart from the fact that no surcharge was filed by the defendant as the rules require, the onus rests upon him of shewing that the plaintiff, a creditor, who was suing for a balance due him, and who had taken over and completed a contract the defendant had with a town, had received more money therefrom than he had accounted for.

Ontario Asphalt Block Co. v. Cook, 4 D.L.R. 22, 3 O.W.N. 1289, 22 O.W.R. 203.

(§ II L—353)—INSTALMENT PAYMENTS.

A receipt for "instalment due in November last with interest to date" is, unless the contrary be shown, sufficient evidence that all previous instalments and interest have been duly paid.

Gillespie v. Wells, 2 D.L.R. 519, 22 Man. L.R. 355, 21 W.L.R. 231, 2 W.W.R. 272.

(§ II L—354)—PRESUMPTION AS TO DEPOSIT UNDER ELECTION ACT.

The receipt for the required deposit of $200, accompanying the nomination papers, given under the provisions of s. 97 of the Dominion Elections Act, is evidence merely of the production of the papers and not of the validity of the nomination.

Two Mountains Dominion Election: Fauteux v. Ethier, 7 D.L.R. 126, 47 Can. S.C.R. 185, 12 E.L.R. 129.

Payment of the deposit required on filing an election petition, under the Alberta Controverted Elections Act, is sufficient, if made by the petitioner's agent on his behalf.

Carstairs v. Cross (No. 2), 7 D.L.R. 192, 5 A.L.R. 268, 2 W.W.R. 1087. [Affirmed, 8 D.L.R. 369, 22 W.W.R. 797.]

M. MISCELLANEOUS.

(§ II M—355)—MECHANIC'S LIEN—SUB-CONTRACTOR—DEFENCE—NONINDEBTEDNESS TO PRINCIPAL CONTRACTOR.

The onus rests on the owner, in an action by a subcontractor to obtain a mechanic's lien, of shewing that nothing is due from him to the principal contractor.

Brown v. Allen, 13 D.L.R. 350, 18 B.C.R. 326, 25 W.L.R. 128, 4 W.W.R. 1306.

(§ II M—362)—MALICIOUS PROSECUTION.

The innocence of the plaintiff in an action for malicious prosecution of the charge against him is sufficiently established where the allegation of his statement of claim that the defendant falsely and maliciously prosecuted him, was not denied by the defendants in their defence, the truth of such allegation being thereby admitted under order 19, r. 13, of the E.C. Rules.

Harris v. Hickey, 2 D.L.R. 356, 17 B. C.R. 21, 19 W.L.R. 948.

FALSE IMPRISONMENT—ONUS OF PROOF.

In an action against a town treasurer and a constable for false arrest and imprisonment, where the defendants set up that the plaintiff, if imprisoned, was not imprisoned against his own free will, the fact that the plaintiff when arrested by the constable did not resist but went willingly to gaol under the arrest does not prove or tend to prove the defendants' plea, it being a legal duty not to resist the arresting officer, and also the onus is upon the defendants to prove plaintiff's willingness to go to gaol.

Markey v. Sloat, 6 D.L.R. 827, 41 N.B. R. 234, 11 E.L.R. 295.

(§ II M—363)—INTESTACY.

The presumption is that a testator intended to dispose of his entire estate and not to die intestate as to the whole or any part thereof.

Re Christenson, 21 D.L.R. 354, 7 W.V. R. 1382, 30 W.L.R. 703.

LIBEL AND SLANDER.

In an action for libel, where the occasion is privileged, express malice may be proved in two ways: (1) By inference to be drawn from the excessive language of the document itself, and (2) by recklessly stating what was untrue or stating that which defendant knew to be untrue.

Winnipeg Steel Granary & Culvert Co. v. Canada Ingot Iron Culvert Co., 7 D.L.R. 797, 22 Man. L.R. 576, 22 W.L.R. 387, 3 W.W.R. 356.

Under a plea of truth and public interest brought to an action for libel, the onus of proof lies on the defendant.

Chiniquy v. Bégin, 7 D.L.R. 65, 41 Que. S.C. 261.

(§ II M—364)—VIOLATION OF LORD'S DAY ACT — NECESSITY OF PROSECUTION SHOWING CONSENT OF ATTORNEY-GENERAL.

It is not essential that a fiat from the Attorney-General authorizing the commencement of a prosecution for a violation of the Lord's Day Act, R.S.C. 1906, c. 153, should be put in evidence on the trial as a part of the case for the prosecution; the absence of such consent being a matter of defence. [R. v. C.P.R., 12 Can. Cr. Cas. 549, distinguished.]

R. v. Thompson; R. v. Hammond; R. v. Churchill; R. v. Aherns, 14 D.L.R. 175, 22 Can. Cr. Cas. 78, 7 A.L.R. 40, 25 W.L.R. 576, 5 W.W.R. 157.

RESIDENCE, PRESUMPTION AS TO.

Where it is shown that the petitioners presenting an election petition and whose status was in question had resided in the electoral district for four years, and preceding the election, for a whole year, and the date of the writ for the election was not shown, it will be presumed that he had resided in such district for the three months immediately preceding the issue of the writ.

Carstairs v. Cross, 7 D.L.R. 192, 5 A.L.R. 268, 2 W.W.R. 1087. [Affirmed, 8 D.L.R. 369, 22 W.W.R. 797.]

POSSESSION OF RANGING CATTLE—REGISTERED BRAND.

Where a defendant is charged with stealing a steer and the only evidence going to shew possession of the steer by him is that the steer was branded with the registered brand of the company owning it, that an indeterminate time after it was so branded it was found with a herd of cattle grazing in the vicinity of the defendant's ranch, that it was then branded with the defendant's brand and marked with his earmarks, the defendant's brand indicating that it had been put on within the previous two months, and it is not shown that the defendant ever saw the steer, there is not sufficient evidence of possession of the steer to throw upon the defendant the burden of proving that it came lawfully into his possession, and, therefore, s. 889, Cr. Code, has no application.

R. v. Dubois, 3 A.L.R. 477.

KNOWLEDGE—NOTICE TO SOLICITOR—FRAUDULENT PREFERENCE—ACTION BY JUDGMENT CREDITOR.

Gunn v. Vinegradsky, 20 Man. L.R. 311.

MURDER—LETTER RECENTLY IN POSSESSION OF ACCUSED FOUND BESIDE THE DEAD BODY.

The King v. Bennett, 17 Can. Cr. Cas. 332.

PRESUMPTION OF NEGLIGENCE—EVIDENCE TO REBUT.

Collas v. Langevin, 40 Que. S.C. 441.

III. Best and secondary evidence.

(§ III—365)—OF RULES.

An objection to allowing a witness to state the purport of a rule without its being produced, though serious, cannot prevail if not put forward in time.

Montreal Tramways Co. v. McAllister, 34 D.L.R. 565, 26 Que. K.B. 174. [Affirmed by Privy Council, 51 D.L.R. 429.]

A defendant, after refusing to produce a document in his possession when called for by the plaintiff, cannot afterwards put it in evidence for his own advantage.

Cyr v. DeRosier, 40 N.B.R. 373.

(§ III—369)—SECONDARY EVIDENCE—MATTERS IN WRITING.

Where secondary evidence of the contents of a written document has been given without objection, or a statement has been made by counsel and accepted by both sides as a correct version of the document, although there is no evidence of its loss or destruction, the court must construe its meaning in the same manner as if it had been produced.

O'Regan v. C.P.R. Co., 9 D.L.R. 849, 41 N.B.R. 347, 11 E.L.R. 457.

(§ III—372)—COPIES.

A copy of a notarial protest of a promissory note in the form prescribed by s. 125 of the Bills of Exchange Act, R.S.C. 1906, c. 119, in duplicate, is sufficient in an action on the note to prove the protest, where the repertory of the notary shews the regular protestation of the note, since, by art. 1209, C.C. (Que.), the acts of notaries are declared to be authentic acts. A copy of a notarial protest of a promissory note is sufficient evidence in an action on the note unless the defendant, as required by art. 1211, C.C. (Que.), shews that the original protest never existed.

Banque Nationale v. Jones; Noel v. Banque Nationale, 5 D.L.R. 276, 13 Que. P.R. 341.

(§ III—374)—ASSAULT AND WRONGFUL IMPRISONMENT—ACTION FOR—LOSS OF WARRANT OF ARREST—EVIDENCE AS TO REGULARITY OF.

At the trial of an action for assault and wrongful imprisonment the warrant of arrest could not be found. It was proved that the defendant had the warrant prepared by a solicitor and took it to the justice, who compared it with the form in the statute; found it correct and thereupon signed it. Held, that this was sufficient proof of the form and contents of the warrant. The form in the statute concludes with the words "Given under my hand and seal." Held, that there was prima facie evidence that the warrant had been issued under the seal of the justice.

Taylor v. Durno, 45 D.L.R. 450.

OF LOST CORPORATE RECORDS.

Secondary evidence may be given in an action against a joint stock company of matters in their by-laws and books when these cannot be found.

Lalonde v. Galeries Parisiennes Co., 51 Que. S.C. 134.

(§ III—376)—ADMISSIBILITY—SECONDARY EVIDENCE NOT OBJECTED TO AT HEARING.

Secondary evidence is admissible where the primary evidence cannot be produced, or where the party against whom the evidence is tendered does not object.

Barrie v. Diamond Coal Co., 17 D.L.R. 385, 7 A.L.R. 138, 28 W.L.R. 701, 6 W.W.R. 651.

PROOF OF ATTEMPT OF SIMILAR OFFENCE WITH ANOTHER PERSON AT ANOTHER TIME—CHILD'S EVIDENCE NOT UNDER OATH—CORROBORATION.

The King v. Iman Din, 18 Can. Cr. Cas. 82, 15 B.C.R. 476.

IV. Documentary evidence.

As to veracity, see Principal and Agent, III—30.

A. PRELIMINARY MATTERS; GENUINENESS AND VALIDITY.

(§ IV A—380)—CONTENTS OF WRITTEN DOCUMENT—PAROL EVIDENCE—REDUCTION IN SALE PRICE—IMPROBATION—QUE, C.P. 225—QUE, C.C. 1234.

A written document may be attacked by the sworn evidence of the adverse party, notwithstanding the terms of art. 1234, C.C. (Que.). A vendor who sues to have the sale price reduced may attack by improbation the defendant's contentions which were based on conversations having taken place after the contract.

Themens v. McDuff, 16 Que. P.R. 78.

(§ IV A—385)—CONCURRENT AGREEMENT.

An agreement concurrent with another writing may be proved by witnesses, and even constitutes a real condition of the written contract.

Lachance v. Petit, 53 Que. S.C. 368.

(§ IV A—393)—PROOF OF IDENTITY—ALLEGED ANCIENT DOCUMENTS IN PROOF OF—ENLARGED PHOTOGRAPHS—EVIDENCE—CONSIDERATION OF BY COURT.

Re Cochran's Trust; Robinson v. Simpson, 47 D.L.R. 1, 52 N.S.R. 278.

B. STATUTES; ORDINANCES.

(§ IV B—396)—FOREIGN STATUTES—EXTRADITION.

The provincial laws of evidence are applicable to extradition proceedings by virtue of the Canada Evidence Act, R.S.C. 1906, c. 145, s. 35, and where such proceedings take place in the Province of New Brunswick the provincial statute C.S.N.B. 1903, c. 127, s. 58, applies to make a copy of a statute of the demanding state authenticated under the seal of that state, prima facie evidence that the foreign law is as there enacted.

Ex parte Thomas, 38 D.L.R. 716, 28 Can. Cr. Cas. 396, 45 N.B.R. 148.

STATUTES.

Under the Alberta Evidence Act, 1910, c. 3, the statute law of another Province of Canada may be proved on a legal proceeding in Alberta by the mere production (that is, without the introduction of an expert witness) of a statute purporting to be printed by the authority of the legislature of the other Province, and the marking of a copy as an exhibit is merely for convenience.

Dodge v. Western Canada Fire Ins. Co., 6 D.L.R. 355, 5 A.L.R. 294, 2 W.W.R. 972.

C. CERTIFICATE; AWARD.

(§ IV C—401)—MARRIAGE LICENSE ISSUED IN UNITED STATES—AUTHENTICATION.

A copy of a marriage license and of a return shewing the performance of a ceremony thereunder, is admissible in evidence without further proof, under s. 23 of the Canada Evidence Act, when certified under the seal of a Court of Record of a state of the United States.

R. v. Hutchins, 12 D.L.R. 648, 22 Can.

Cr. Cas. 27, 6 S.L.R. 220, 25 W.L.R. 1, 4 W.W.R. 1240.

CERTIFICATES OF MARRIAGE AND BIRTH.

A certificate of marriage attested by the clerk of a court in the United States and the certificate of birth by a pastor are prima facie evidence of marriage and birth. Chiniquy v. Bégin, 24 D.L.R. 687, 24 Que. K.B. 294, reversing 20 D.L.R. 347, and varying 7 D.L.R. 65.

(§ IV C-104)—CHURCH DECREES—CIVIL ACTION TO ANNUL MARRIAGE BETWEEN TWO ROMAN CATHOLICS WHEN CEREMONY PERFORMED BY A METHODIST MINISTER.

Hébert v. Clouâtre, 6 D.L.R. 411. [Reversed on other grounds, 15 D.L.R. 498, 16 Que. P.R. 29.]

D. OFFICIAL RECORDS, REPORTS, AND RETURNS.

(§ IV D-405)—OFFICIAL RECORDS OF SURETY COMPANY—ADMISSIBILITY IN ACTION ON BOND.

Official books and reports which the official is bound to furnish as one of the duties incidental to his office are presumptive evidence against his sureties as such officer in an action under their bond that he should well and truly account for and pay over the moneys coming to his hands in his official capacity.

Jordan School District v. Gaetz, 23 D.L.R. 739, 8 A.L.R. 433, 32 W.L.R. 202, 8 W.W.R. 658.

COPY AS "SUFFICIENT EVIDENCE."

Under s. 45, Evidence Act, R.S.B.C. 1911, which makes provision for the production of copies of original instruments certified under the hand and seal of the registrar and provides that "in every such case the copy so certified shall be sufficient evidence of the original instrument and of its validity and contents," a copy of an original document offered in evidence under said section can have no greater effect than the original would have if it were produced.

Dinsmore v. Philip, [1918] 3 W.W.R. 457, 26 B.C.R. 123, reversing [1918] 1 W.W.R. 405.

(§ IV D-406)—LAND TITLES.

The production of further evidence to show that an execution was lodged in the land titles office on a day prior to that stated in the certificate of execution issued by the registrar, may be permitted by the court on an application to confirm a sale of land by the sheriff under such writ.

Re Price, 4 D.L.R. 407, 5 S.L.R. 318, 21 W.L.R. 299, 2 W.W.R. 394.

CROWN GRANT—IDENTITY OF PREDECESSOR IN TITLE.

The production on the trial by the plaintiff's solicitor of a grant from the Crown to a person of the same name as the person from whom the plaintiff claims the property granted as heir and devisee of the grantee is sufficient evidence of the identity of the plaintiff's predecessor in title with the grantee to sustain a verdict for the plaintiff in an action for the land.

Simpson v. Malcolm, 43 N.B.R. 79.

(§ IV D-408)—SHERIFF'S RETURNS.

The truth of the sheriff's return of nulla bona on an execution, cannot be questioned on an application to confirm a sale of land thereunder, without a substantive application to set aside the return as a matter of record.

Re Price 4 D.L.R. 407, 5 S.L.R. 318, 21 W.L.R. 299, 2 W.W.R. 394.

(§ IV D-409)—ANNUAL STATEMENT UNDER COMPANIES ACT.

In an action against the directors of a company for wages, under s. 94 of the Ontario Companies Act, 7 Edw. VII., c. 34 (see now 2 Geo. V., c. 31, s. 96), a certified copy of the last annual statement to the government of the affairs of the company, showing that the defendants were then directors, and the minute book of the company, showing that the directorate has not since been changed, is sufficient proof that the defendants are directors of the company.

Pukulski v. Jardine; Perryman v. Jardin, 5 D.L.R. 242, 26 O.L.R. 323, 21 O.W.R. 983.

REPORT OF COMMISSIONER.

Proceedings before commissioners appointed by the Crown to allot amongst the grantees named in a township grant the land to which they were entitled, as kept by the clerk of the commission, are admissible in evidence in cases subsequently arising concerning the allotments made by them. An allotment card containing the description of certain land allotted a person named in a township grant in Nova Scotia by the commissioners appointed by the Crown to allot it, is admissible in evidence in a subsequent action concerning the land described on such card.

Boehmer v. Hirtle, 6 D.L.R. 548, 46 N.S.R. 231, 11 E.L.R. 222.

E. JUDGMENTS AND JUDICIAL RECORDS.

(§ IV E-410)—RECORD OF COURT HOLDING SPEEDY TRIAL UNDER CRIMINAL CODE—RECITAL OF FACTS AFFIRMING JURISDICTION.

If the record of a County or District Judge's Criminal Court (or in Quebec a Judge of Sessions (or in Quebec a Judge of Sessions or district magistrate) on a prosecution under the speedy trials clauses (Part XVIII. of the Cr. Code) produced on a habeas corpus motion in pursuance of an ancillary writ of certiorari contains the recital of facts requisite to confer jurisdiction, it is conclusive and cannot be contradicted by extrinsic evidence, the proceedings of such court under Cr. Code, s. 834, having to be considered as those of a court of record. [Re Sproule, 12 Can. S. (R. 140, followed.)]

R. v. Guay, 19 D.L.R. 820, 23 Can. Cr. Cas. 243, 21 Rev. de Jur. 253.

DIVISION COURT—RECORD OF APPEAL CASE—EVIDENCE.

Where a case in a Division Court is appealable under s. 125 (a) of the Division Courts Act, R.S.O. 1914, c. 63, the judge is to take down the evidence in writing, and where stenographic notes are not taken, the judge should take down the depositions at least as fully as is customary on examinations taken in longhand before a Master; mere notes of such part of the evidence as the judge thought fit to take do not satisfy the requirements of the statute. [Smith v. Boothman, 9 D.L.R. 450, 4 O.W.N. 801, followed.]

Barrett v. Phillips, 21 D.L.R. 710, 33 O.L.R. 203.

OF PRIOR ACTION—PRINCIPAL AND AGENT—COMMISSIONS.

Where an agent obtains judgment against a principal for commission and thereafter sues a person in whose hands there are alleged to be moneys derived from the transaction wherein the commission was alleged to be earned, the judgment against the principal is not admissible as evidence of the facts established by it as against the defendant in the second action.

Chalmers v. Machray, 39 D.L.R. 396, 55 Can. S.C.R. 612, [1917] 3 W.W.R. 361, affirming 26 D.L.R. 529, 26 Man. L.R. 165, 9 W.W.R. 1435.

Under s. 103 (now 107) of the County Courts Act, the entry of a judgment in the procedure book constitutes the judgment, and as, by s. 162 (now 168), County Courts are Courts of Record, the production of the procedure book shewing the entry proves the judgment and it is not necessary to prove the cause of action upon which such judgment was founded to shew that the court had jurisdiction over it.

Dixon v. Mackay, 21 Man. L.R. 762.

(§ IV E—411) — FOREIGN JUDGMENTS — EFFECT OF APPEAL PENDING IN THE FOREIGN JURISDICTION.

The fact that the suit in which the foreign judgment given in evidence was rendered, is still pending by way of appeal to a higher court in the foreign jurisdiction, does not make the decision less conclusive as evidence between the parties to it while it stands. Howland v. Codd, 9 Man. L.R. 435; Scott v. Pilkington, 2 B. & S. 11, 121 Eng. R. 978, applied.]

Wilcox v. Wilcox, 16 D.L.R. 491, 24 Man. L.R. 93, 27 W.L.R. 359, 6 W.W.R. 213, reversing 14 D.L.R. 1.

TERMINATION OF CRIMINAL PROSECUTION.

The termination of a prosecution by withdrawal of the charge before the justice may be proved without any formal record or certificate as a basis for an action for malicious prosecution. [R. v. Ivy, 24 U.C.C.P. 78; Hewitt v. Cane, 20 Ont. R. 133; Me-

Cann v. Prevencan, 10 Ont. R. 573; Goddard v. Smith, 6 Mod. 262, disapproved.]

Tamblin v. Westcott, 20 D.L.R. 131, 23 Can. Cr. Cas. 391, 7 W.W.R. 1037

EXTRADITION PROCEEDINGS.

Under s. 16 of the Extradition Act, R.S.C. 1906, c. 155, authorizing the receiving in evidence in extradition proceedings of depositions or statements taken in a foreign state on oath, or copies of such depositions and statements and foreign certificates thereof, if duly authenticated, an affidavit tending to establish before the extradition commissioner the crime charged against a person sought to be extradited does not vitiate the extradition proceedings because such affidavit was taken by questions and answers and then written out in narrative form before being sworn to.

Re O'Neill, 5 D.L.R. 646, 19 Can. Cr. Cas. 410, 17 B.C.R. 123, 2 W.W.R. 368.

INDICTMENT IN FOREIGN STATE—EXTRADITION.

Where the demand for extradition is not founded on any conviction made in the foreign state, a certified copy of an indictment there found against the accused is not admissible in proof of the prima facie case required to justify a committal for extradition. [United States v. Browne (No. 2), 11 Can. Cr. Cas. 167; Re Browne, 6 A.R. (Ont.) 401; Re Harsha, 10 Can. Cr. Cas. (No. 1) 433, followed.]

United States v. Jackson, 28 Can. Cr. Cas. 290.

(§ IV E—412) — JUDGMENT IN CRIMINAL CASE AS EVIDENCE — BREACH OF RECOGNIZANCE.

While the general rule is that a conviction in a criminal case is not proof, in civil proceedings, of the acts upon which the conviction may be grounded, it is still evidence of the particular fact which it recites; and, where it is for an assault, the conviction is admissible as proof on application before another tribunal for forfeiture and estreat of a recognizance there given by the defendant to keep the peace and be of good behaviour.

R. v. Walker, 18 D.L.R. 541, 23 Can. Cr. Cas. 179.

PRIOR SUMMARY CONVICTION — LIQUOR ACT.

A memorandum signed by the magistrate in his docket at the time of a summary conviction for an offence under the Liquor Act, 1916 (Alta.), will be admissible to prove same before the same magistrate as a prior conviction upon a charge for a second offence, if no formal conviction for such prior offence had been drawn up. It is the fact of the first offence, not the first conviction, under ss. 40, and 60 of the Act, that attaches the increased penalty to the second, and, on proof of the offence charged as a second offence and on proof of the second offence and on proof of the first offence under the act for an offence of a prior date to that being tried, a conviction with the increased penalty for a second offence is justified. In proving the prior offence by a prior conviction which had not been attacked, regard need be had only to the adjudication of guilt, and the fact that the punishment awarded on the prior conviction was in excess of the statutory limit will not affect the validity of the adjudication of guilt when proof of same is adduced on the second charge as evidence of the prior offence.

R. v. Tansley, 29 Can. Cr. Cas. 225, 12 A.L.R. 88, [1917] 3 W.W.R. 70, affirming 38 D.L.R. 339, 28 Can. Cr. Cas. 280.

F. PLEADINGS AND PAPERS IN SUIT.

(§ IV F—415)—LEAVE TO PUT IN DOCUMENTS OMITTED AT TRIAL.

The plaintiff may, on terms, put in as evidence a document he failed by an oversight to put in at the trial.

Peirson v. Crystal Ice Co., 32 W.L.R. 919.

G. EVIDENCE PREVIOUSLY TAKEN OR USED; AFFIDAVITS.

(§ IV G—420)—DEPOSITIONS TAKEN AT FORMER TRIAL OF WITNESS ABSENT FROM CANADA — AUTHENTICATION — SIGNING BY JUDGE—C.R. CODE, s. 999—TRIAL FOR CONSPIRACY.

R. v. Baugh, 33 D.L.R. 191, 38 O.L.R. 559, 28 Can. Cr. Cas. 146.

JUDICIAL COMMISSION—WITNESS DOMICILED OUT OF THE JURISDICTION—EXAMINATION, THE LEGALITY OF WHICH IS SUBJECT TO THE OBTAINING OF A BEGINNING OF EVIDENCE BY WRITING—ADMISSION UNDER RESERVE—C.C.P., ART. 380.

An examination, by judicial commission, previous to the commencement of an action, of a witness domiciled in a foreign country, is subject to certain regulations and rules applicable to the case where a witness is allowed to give evidence before commencing the action on account of illness or permanent absence. When it is a question of knowing whether the interrogatories, which should be submitted to a witness by a judicial commission, are legal, and that their legality depends on a commencement of proof by writing, the court should allow the interrogatories, if they appear to be relevant to the action, reserving to the opposite party the right to object.

Continental Bag & Paper Co. v. Price, 56 Que. S.C. 339.

(§ IV G—421)—FORMER TESTIMONY.

Where a new trial has been granted to the accused by a court of criminal appeal on the ground that the principal witness for the prosecution had not been properly sworn at the first trial, the depositions of the accused given on the first trial as a witness on his own behalf and his cross-examination and re-examination, may notwithstanding be given in evidence on behalf of the prosecution on the second trial as being evidence of admissions made by the accused.

The King v. Deakin (No. 2), 2 D.L.R. 282, 19 Can. Cr. Cas. 274, 17 B.C.R. 13.

FORMER DEPOSITIONS OF ABSENT WITNESS—C.R. CODE (1906), s. 995.

The deposition of a witness taken on the preliminary enquiry upon the same charge may be read against the accused where the witness, a foreigner, had been summoned but had left for parts unknown.

R. v. Frank, 14 D.L.R. 382, 22 Can. Cr. Cas. 100.

CRIMINAL TRIAL—FORMER TESTIMONY—ABSENT WITNESS FOR PROSECUTION—DEPOSITION AT PRELIMINARY ENQUIRY.

A court of criminal appeal will not interfere with a preliminary finding by the Trial Judge under Cr. Code, s. 999 (amendment of 1913), on admitting in evidence the prior deposition of an absent witness for the Crown taken on the preliminary enquiry, that such witness was absent from Canada, where such finding was based on proof that the absent witness was a police officer who had obtained a short leave of absence and having thereafter failed to report for duty had been heard from in the United States under circumstances tending to show that he had gone there to avoid giving evidence at the trial in question; it is not a prerequisite to the admission of the prior deposition that there should be absolute proof of absence from Canada, but only that such facts should be proved from which such absence "can be reasonably inferred."

R. v. Angelo, 16 D.L.R. 126, 19 B.C.R. 261, 22 Can. Cr. Cas. 304, 27 W.L.R. 108, 5 W.W.R. 1303.

DEPOSITION OF ABSENT WITNESS.

Where a new trial had been ordered and the Crown on the second trial before the same judge desired to put in the evidence given at the first trial of a witness who had since left Canada, it is sufficient that the judge signs the evidence of such witness extended from the shorthand notes at any time before it is actually received in evidence under Cr. Code, s. 999 at the second trial; this may be done even after tender of same and objection taken by the defence to the lack of authentication.

R. v. Baugh, 33 D.L.R. 191, 38 O.L.R. 559, 28 Can. Cr. Cas. 146.

WITNESSES AND EVIDENCE—COMMENCEMENT OF PROOF IN WRITING—ACTION IN FACTUM—MARRIED WOMAN—QUE. C.C. 177, 1233.

The testimony of a person at law, when it is taken in writing, is equivalent to a written document coming from that person, and can serve as a commencement of proof in writing when it renders probable the fact alleged; this is the case when the answers given are more or less embarrassed or artificial, shewing that the party seeks to dissimulate the truth either by falling back on a defective memory, or by pretending to ignore facts which ought to be known to him, either by varying or wavering in his replies, or by recognizing facts whose truth one can reasonably infer from those facts which the witness has denied. Besides the actions in jus resting on a contract of civil law, or on a principle of positive law, doctrine, and jurisprudence have always recognized, under the name of an action in factum, demands based on certain principles of equity, and material facts which form quasi-contracts, such as the wrongful enriching oneself at the expense of others, and the recovery of what has been paid without reason, condictio sine causa. Default of authorization to contract, in a married woman, cannot be pleaded against an action for recovery of what has been paid without reason, or founded on wrongful enrichment, tending to put the parties in the condition they were before such contracts.

Langlois v. Labbe, 46 Que. S.C. 373.

(§ IV G—422)—FOREIGN COMMISSION—USE AT TRIAL "SAVING ALL JUST EXCEPTIONS."

An order to take the plaintiff's evidence on commission and directing that it may be used at the trial "saving all just exceptions," excludes only ordinary exceptions as to admissibility, and does not apply so as to leave it open for the Trial Judge to exercise a judicial discretion by insisting that the plaintiff's evidence shall be given viva voce at the trial, unless the order so provides.

Elgin City Banking Co. v. Mawhinney, 17 D.L.R. 577.

DEPOSITIONS IN COLLISION INQUIRY—ADMISSIBILITY IN MAIN ACTION.

Depositions of the mate of a vessel in proceedings of a judicial nature before the Court of Formal Investigation, to inquire into a collision under ss. 782-801 of the Canada Shipping Act (R.S.C. 1906, c. 113), cannot be received in evidence in the main action to determine the liability for the collision, the plaintiff having been a party to and represented by counsel at such proceedings.

The King v. The "Despatch;" The Border Line Transportation Co. v. McDougall, 28 D.L.R. 42, 22 B.C.R. 496, 16 Can. Ex. 319, 34 W.L.R. 123, 10 W.W.R. 230.

Marking a letter as an exhibit to a party's deposition on discovery examination does not make the letter evidence, even when all the depositions are put in as evidence; but when both parties conduct their case before the Trial Judge on the assumption that the letter so marked was in evidence, and no objection is made at the trial that it was not properly put in, an objection raised in appeal that it was not before the court will not be entertained.

Richardson v. Ramsay, 2 D.L.R. 686, 5 S.L.R. 110, 20 W.L.R. 566, 1 W.W.R. 1070.

In an action on a promissory note made by the defendant to a payee who endorsed to the plaintiff, upon an application by plaintiff to use at the trial his own evidence (taken on an examination for discovery, leave having been given on such examination to have the evidence taken as on a commission for use at the trial, subject to any order in respect to the use thereof which the Trial Judge might make), the Trial Judge, on the motion, while giving due weight to strong affidavits of physical inability, will, in his judicial discretion, consider whether plaintiff has an adequate legal remedy for the recovery from the payee upon his endorsement of the note, the obtaining of which from the defendant maker was tinged with fraud, particularly where the plaintiff with knowledge of many such fraudulent notes continues to associate himself with the payee by buying from him notes of other makers similarly obtained and tinged with fraud. Upon an application to use at the trial the evidence of the plaintiff taken on a commission, upon the ground of physical inability to attend, the fact that plaintiff is associated with a fraudulent payee of the note sued upon, and can introduce his alleged material evidence through that fraudulent payee, will be considered by the Trial Judge on the motion.

Park v. Schneider, 6 D.L.R. 451, 5 A.L.R. 423, 22 W.L.R. 70, 2 W.W.R. 1022.

The depositions taken before justices on a preliminary inquiry are not part of the trial proceedings, though in certain circumstances the court may give leave to have them read as evidence at the trial.

The King v. Montminy, 3 D.L.R. 483, 20 Can. Cr. Cas. 63.

DEPOSITION—STENOGRAPHER'S NOTES.

If one party does not put on the record the stenographic notes of the depositions of his witnesses, the other party may, by motion, ask that they be placed on the record within a fixed delay; and on his failing to do so the court will give judgment as if such evidence had not been given.

Arseneault v. Vachon, 20 Que. P.R. 195.

(§ IV G—423)—AFFIDAVITS OF VALUE PREVIOUSLY TAKEN.

The affidavit of value made by the executor of an estate on taking out probate may be admissible in evidence against the estate on an arbitration to fix the value of some of the lands belonging to the estate expropriated for railway purposes; the arbitrators should consider whether the time which had elapsed between the affidavit of value and the date as of which compensation was to be paid by the railway was such as to make the affidavit of little or no importance in fixing the value of the property at a later date.

Canadian North. West. R. Co. v. Moore, 23 D.L.R. 646, 8 A.L.R. 379, 30 W.L.R. 676, 7 W.W.R. 1327.

The court may permit it to be shewn by affidavit that a sheriff's sale of land under an execution was held at the hour specified in the notice of sale, where the application to confirm the sale did not disclose such fact. It is unnecessary, in Saskatchewan, to produce the original or certified copies of the execution, and its renewal, as well as the sheriff's return of nula bona thereof, on an application to confirm a sale of land thereunder, the practice of the court for many years in that province having permitted such facts to be shown by affidavit.

Re Price, 4 D.L.R. 467, 5 S.L.R. 318, 21 W.L.R. 299, 2 W.W.R. 394.

AFFIDAVITS — NON-RESIDENT PLAINTIFF — CROSS-EXAMINATION BY DEFENDANT.

Christner v. Fisher, 10 D.L.R. 804, 23 W.L.R. 530.

DIVORCE — PRACTICE — ADULTERY — EVIDENCE ON TRIAL BY AFFIDAVIT — DISCRETION.

On an application for an order for decision in a divorce action, counsel for petitioner asked for an order allowing proof of the facts by affidavit at the trial, owing to the remoteness of witnesses and the financial disability of the petitioner. Held, that the trial must be held on oral evidence, but a saving clause giving the Trial Judge power to allow proof by affidavit of such facts as he may deem proper may be inserted in the order.

Jensen v. Jensen, 25 B.C.R. 513.

I. DEEDS; WILLS; LEASES; MORTGAGES.

(§ IV I—430)—TITLE.

When there is no dispute between the parties on the question as to the right of ownership, the production by one of them of a title conformable to his possession is sufficient evidence of ownership without there being any necessity of going back to the titles of former owners.

Rigaud Vaudreuil Gold Fields v. Bolduc et al. 25 Que. K.B. 97.

(§ IV I—431)—DEEDS.

An admission or statement in a Crown grant will not adversely affect any interest in the land after the Crown has parted with all of its interest therein, the same rule applying in that respect as well to the Crown as to a private person.

Bochner v. Hirtle, 6 D.L.R. 548, 46 N.S. R. 231, 11 E.L.R. 222.

The rights of a grantee from the Crown under a patent are limited by the terms of the patent and these cannot be enlarged by reference to petitions, memorials, reports or correspondence in the Crown Lands Department leading up to the grant.

Hunter v. Richards, 5 D.L.R. 116, 26 O. L.R. 458, 22 O.W.R. 408. [Affirmed, 12 D.L.R. 503, 28 O.L.R. 267.]

(§ IV I—432)—DOCUMENTARY EVIDENCE—WILLS AND DEEDS—CERTIFIED COPIES—ADMISSIBILITY TO PROVE TITLE.

A document purporting to be a certified copy of an unprobated will executed in the Province of Quebec by a resident of that province and a certified copy of a conveyance purporting to have been made by the executors under the said will, both of which documents are registered in the county of Gloucester, are not, in the absence of proof of the death of the testator, admissible to prove title in one claiming through him.

Sweeney v. DeGrace, 42 N.B.R. 344.

(§ IV I—434)—MORTGAGES.

Proof of acquiescence in the discharge of a mortgage signed by executors will not be inferred. There must be positive documentary evidence to that effect or at least a commencement of proof in writing or the admission of the interested party.

Consumers' Cordage Co. v. Molson, 2 D. L.R. 451.

MORTGAGES—PAROL EVIDENCE TO SHOW DIFFERENT ADVANCE FROM THAT RECITED AS PAID—CORROBORATION—BROTHER AND SISTER—TRUST.

Where a mortgage is given for a specific sum stated to be then advanced, the receipt of which is acknowledged in the mortgage, the mortgagor may still shew by parol evidence that the sum named was not in fact advanced. On a claim against the estate of a deceased person for lands alleged to have been held in trust by the deceased for the claimant, who was his sister, a claim in the pleadings of the attacking parties (the other next of kin) that the property was partnership property between the deceased and his sister, may, although not established by the evidence, operate as an admission that the sister had at least a beneficial interest in the properties, and thus corroborated her testimony that the deceased brother acted as her business agent and employee in real estate investments and as such held the lands, purchased with her money and registered in his name, in trust for her. [Cook v. Grant, 32 U.C.R. 511, distinguished.]

Voyer v. Lepage, 19 D.L.R. 52, 8 A.L.R. 139, 7 W.W.R. 933, affirming 17 D.L.R. 476.

J. ACCOUNTS AND ACCOUNT BOOKS.

(§ IV J—435)—ACCOUNTS AND ACCOUNT BOOKS.

Where the bookkeeping entries for goods supplied are made as in the name of the wife of the defendant in respect of goods supplied to a woman introduced by the defendant as his wife, the defendant will be held liable for the price of the goods notwithstanding that the book account was not in his name, where the goods were in fact supplied on his credit and in faith of his representations and not on the woman's credit, if the method of charging was made in like manner as in the ordinary case of a wife buying as agent of her husband.

Redferns v. Inwood, 8 D.L.R. 618, 27 O. L.R. 213.

BANK BOOK OF ACCUSED—ADMISSIBILITY.

The private bank account of an accused cashier is admissible in evidence against him on a charge of embezzlement to shew that the deposits of moneys in his private account at or about the time of the alleged embezzlement is too large to be accounted for by his salary or known income, as tending to shew that the missing money went into his possession and not into that of his fellow employees.

R. v. Minchin, 15 D.L.R. 792, 22 Can. Cr. Cas. 254, 7 A.L.R. 148, 26 W.L.R. 633, 5 W.W.R. 1028. [Affirmed, 18 D.L.R. 349.]

CONCLUSIVENESS OF ACCOUNTS—PRINCIPAL AND SURETY.

A provision in a guaranty, that the stating, settling or admission of an account between the principal debtor and creditor shall be conclusive evidence against the sureties, will not prevent the sureties from objecting to illegal charges, nor to charges not illegal but improper to the knowledge of the creditor.

Northern Crown Bank v. Woodcrafts, 33 D.L.R. 367, 11 A.L.R. 1, [1917] 1 W.W.R. 1295, varying 28 D.L.R. 728.

An account stated between the principal debtor and creditor is not conclusive against nor binding upon the surety.

Standard Bank v. Alberta Engineering Co., 33 D.L.R. 542, 11 A.L.R. 96, [1917] 1 W.W.R. 1177, varying 27 D.L.R. 707.

CRIMINAL TRIAL — DEFENDANT'S BANK ACCOUNT — RELEVANCY ON CHARGE OF THEFT OF MONEY.

On a charge of theft in respect of the amount alleged to have been embezzled from the city's funds by a city employee it is admissible for the Crown to put in evidence the defendant's bank account shewing that about the time of the defalcation as disclosed by the audits, a deposit was credited to him by the bank of a like amount to that embezzled, but where any suggestion based on the bank deposit was met by shewing that the money was a loan procured by a discount at another bank of his own and his wife's note, there is no "substantial wrong or miscarriage" (Cr. Code, s. 1019) to entitle the accused to a new trial or to set aside the conviction, if the judge directed the jury that none of the deposits were shewn to have come from the city funds, and no unfair or improper use prejudicial to the accused had been made of the bank account.

Minchin v. The King, 18 D.L.R. 340, 23 Can. Cr. Cas. 414, 6 W.W.R. 800, affirming 15 D.L.R. 792, 22 Can. Cr. Cas. 254, 7 A.L.R. 148.

ENTRIES IN BOOKS OF VENDOR — ADMISSIBILITY.

Clergue v. Plummer, 38 O.L.R. 54, reversing 37 O.L.R. 432. [Affirmed by Supreme Court of Canada (judgment unreported). See 12 O.W.N. 367.]

(§ IV J—437)—SOLICITOR'S DOCKET.

Entries in a solicitor's docket, while not conclusive, are prima facie evidence of the proper remuneration for his services.

Re Solicitors, 7 D.L.R. 323, 4 O.W.N. 47.

K. LETTERS, TELEGRAMS, ETC.

(§ IV K—440)—ASSIGNMENT TO PLAINTIFFS OF CONTRACT OF DEFENDANT TO PURCHASE LAND IN SASKATCHEWAN—ACTION FOR SPECIFIC PERFORMANCE—DEFENCE BASED ON MISREPRESENTATION—PROOF OF—CONFLICT OF ORAL TESTIMONY—INFERENCES FROM DOCUMENTARY EVIDENCE—FINDING OF TRIAL JUDGE—REVERSAL ON APPEAL—EQUITIES AVAILABLE AGAINST ASSIGNEES.

Canadian Freehold securities Co. v. McDonald, 17 O.W.N. 65.

LETTER OF ATTORNEY—AFFIDAVIT.

In an action of disavowal against an attorney, a letter addressed by him to his client, even if sufficiently proved, does not constitute proof which can combat the judicial avowal contained in a sworn affidavit produced by the plaintiff, in which he described himself as being "one of the plaintiffs," such document being absolute proof against him on the question of authorization of his attorney to bind the action.

Paradis v. Nantel, 24 Rev. Leg. 123.

(§ IV K—441)—LETTERS.

Letters written without prejudice, and bona fide to induce the settlement of litigation, are not admissible in evidence against the party sending them, but this rule does not protect a letter not written for the purpose of a bona fide offer of compromise, but containing threats. [Pirie v. Wyld, 11 O.R. 422, followed.]

Underwood v. Cox, 4 D.L.R. 66, 26 O.L.R. 303, 21 O.W.R. 757.

ADMISSIBILITY OF LETTER.

Marking a letter with the words "without prejudice" does not necessarily exclude it from being given in evidence against the writer; the letter is to be excluded if the writer is in dispute or negotiation with another and is offering terms without prejudice for the settlement of the dispute or negotiation, but to determine whether these conditions exist the Trial Judge may look at the letter marked "without prejudice." [Re Daintrey, [1893] 2 Q.B. 119, distinguished.]

Bank of Ottawa v. Stameo et al., 22 D.L.R. 679, 8 W.W.R. 574.

(§ IV K—444)—TELEGRAMS.

The testimony of a telegraph agent that the original of a telegram, if it ever existed would have been destroyed long before the trial, but since he had never seen the original of the telegram, he could not say that that particular document had been destroyed, is not sufficient as a foundation for the admission in evidence of the copy received by the addressee. Before a copy of a telegram is admissible in evidence it must be first proved that it was sent and that the original, if it cannot be produced, was lost or destroyed.

Adamson v. Vachon, 8 D.L.R. 240, 5 S.L.R. 400, 22 W.L.R. 494, 3 W.W.R. 227.

L. RECORDS AND PAPERS OF CORPORATIONS OR CARRIERS.

(§ IV L-459)—PRIVATE BOOK OF AGENTS' RULES.

An agents' guide book marked "private and confidential" issued by an insurance company exclusively for the guidance of its agents, is not admissible against or binding on an insured person in an action on a policy issued by the company.

Gill v. Yorkshire Ins. Co., 12 D.L.R. 172, 23 Man. L.R. 368, 24 W.L.R. 389, 4 W.W.R. 692.

REGISTER OF VESSEL.

A certified copy of the register of a vessel is admissible as prima facie evidence of its ownership.

Boddington v. Donaldson Line, 31 D.L.R. 520, 44 N.B.R. 290.

FOREIGN COMPANY—EVIDENCE OF INCORPORATION—JURISDICTION OF COUNTY COURT.

In an action in a Magistrate's Court by a foreign corporation the only evidence of the incorporation was supplementary letters of incorporation increasing the capital stock. This evidence was received by the magistrate without objection and judgment entered for the plaintiff. On review before a County Court Judge the judgment was set aside on the ground that there was no evidence of incorporation. Held, on motion for a certiorari to quash the order of review, that, whether, or not, there is such evidence is a question of law and the County Court Judge had jurisdiction, notwithstanding the amount involved was under $40.

Ex parte Ault & Wilong Co., 42 N.B.R. 548.

N. CONTRACTS.

(§ IV N-460)—CONTRACTS—REPAIRS—QUEB. C.C. 1233.

An owner can give verbal orders to have certain necessary repairs made to his property, and, if such repairs are made with the knowledge of himself or his agent, parole evidence thereof may be given, and the owner must pay for them. It would be otherwise if there were a written order; in that case the owner's liability would be limited to the works specially mentioned in the written document.

Clavel v. Jacobs, 46 Que. S.C. 527.

O. SCIENTIFIC AND MEDICAL BOOKS.

(§ IV O-467)—MEDICAL BOOKS—ORAL PROOF OF THEIR AUTHORITY.

If a witness called to give expert testimony is asked about a text book e.g., as to mental diseases, and expresses ignorance of it, or denies its authority, no further use of it can be made by reading extracts from it, for that would be in effect making it evidence; but, if he admits its authority, he then, in a sense, confirms it by his own testimony, and then may quite properly be asked for an explanation of any apparent differences between its opinion and that stated by him.

R. v. Anderson, 16 D.L.R. 203, 22 Can. Cr. Cas. 455, 7 A.L.R. 102, 5 W.W.R. 1952.

P. FOR PURPOSES OF COMPARISON.

(§ IV P-471)—TO PROVE AUTHORSHIP.

The presence of lexicographical errors common both to the copyright book and to the later publication, alleged to be an infringement thereof, is prima facie evidence that the later publication was copied from the other.

Cartwright v. Wharton, 1 D.L.R. 392, 25 O.L.R. 357.

Q. MEMORANDA.

(§ IV Q-475)—STENOGRAPHIC MEMORANDA—ADMISSIBILITY AS EVIDENCE OR TO REFRESH MEMORY.

In an action for specific performance of an alleged contract entered into by an alleged agent for the sale of defendant's land, where the defence is that the agent had no authority to sell the land in question, a memorandum taken by the alleged agent's stenographer of portions of a conversation between the owner and the alleged agent, when instructions of some sort were given, but which memoranda were not signed by the defendant, is inadmissible in evidence to prove the authority of the agent, but it may be used by the stenographer for the purpose of refreshing her memory on the witness stand when called to prove the conversation.

Fysh v. Armstrong, 9 D.L.R. 575, 22 W.L.R. 966, 3 W.W.R. 747.

MEMORANDA CONSULTED BY WITNESS.

A witness under examination may be ordered to hand over for inspection such parts of notes from which he is reading as relate to the subject-matter upon which he has testified, not limiting it to the parts used by such witness.

Canadian Spool Cotton Co. v. Lyall, 14 Que. P.R. 203.

DOCUMENT HELD BY WITNESS.

A witness at the trial may be ordered to file into court a document which he has in his possession.

Dubee v. Vipond, 14 Que. P.R. 386.

R. MISCELLANEOUS.

(§ IV R-480)—HOSPITAL CHART.

A chart made by hospital nurses, one of whom was not available as a witness at the trial, shewing the plaintiff's condition while an inmate of a hospital, is not admissible against him in an action for negligent injuries, but may be used to refresh the memory of the nurse as to entries thereon which she herself made.

C.P.R. Co. v. Quinn, 11 D.L.R. 600, 22 Que. K.B. 428, 19 Rev. de Jur. 543.

(§ IV R-483)—MAPS—PLATS—SKETCH.

A township plan which shews an overlapping of different grants is to that extent erroneous and such overlapping as to the land last granted must be rejected as false description.

Boehmer v. Hirtle, 6 D.L.R. 548, 46 N.S.R. 231, 11 E.L.R. 222.

A plan or sketch of the locus in quo will be excluded on being produced to witnesses being examined as to the position and movements of a tug and its tow in a negligence action, if the sketch purports to show on its face the relative position of the tug and tow at different points in their course, and such positions are involved in the questions at issue. [Beamon v. Ellice, 4 Car. & P. 585, applied.]

Wattsburg Lumber Co. v. Cook Lumber Co., 4 D.L.R. 8, 17 B.C.R. 410, 20 W.L.R. 833, 2 W.W.R. 248.

SURVEY OF TIMBER LIMIT.

Surveys made by the plaintiffs and which were accepted by the Government of British Columbia and declared by government regulations to be the true boundaries of plaintiff's timber limits granted by the government, are sufficient evidence of title to maintain an action for trespass against persons who are clearly shown to be trespassers in cutting timber within the marked boundaries of the limit.

Adams Powell River Co. v. Canadian Puget Sound Co., 17 D.L.R. 591, 19 B.C.R. 573, 28 W.L.R. 13.

(§ IV R-485)—PRIVATE COST MARKS.

Private cost marks on merchandise or its containers in the usual course of business are admissible as evidence to fix the cost price of goods as to which the seller is unable to produce invoices under an agreement of sale at invoice price plus ten per cent.

Periard v. Bergeron, 9 D.L.R. 537, 47 Can. S.C.R. 289, 23 W.L.R. 425, 3 W.W.R. 633.

(§ IV R-489)—INSURANCE CASES—STOCK-TAKING RECORD.

In an action on a policy of fire insurance for the total destruction of a stock of merchandise by fire, in order to show the value of the stock then on hand, evidence is admissible of a stock taking four months previous to the fire, where there is nothing to throw doubt on the bona fides or accuracy of such record.

Strong v. Crown Fire Ins. Co., Strong v. Rimouski Fire Ins. Co., Strong v. Anglo-American Fire Ins. Co., Strong v. Montreal-Canada Fire Ins. Co., 13 D.L.R. 686, 29 O.L.R. 33.

INSURANCE CASES — STOCK-TAKING RECORD — ADMISSIBILITY.

In an action on a policy of fire insurance for the total destruction of a stock of merchandise by fire, in order to show the value of the stock then on hand, evidence is admissible of a stock taking four months previous to the fire, where there is nothing to throw doubt on the bona fides or accuracy of such record.

Anglo-American Fire Ins. Co. v. Hendry, 15 D.L.R. 832, 48 Can. S.C.R. 577, 50 C.L.J.

75, affirming, sub nom. Strong v. Crown Fire Ins. Co., 13 D.L.R. 686, 29 O.L.R. 33.

(§ IV R-494)—BUREAU OF PROOF — DELIVERY — RECEIPTS TO LOCATING GOODS.

The rule of evidence that a written receipt signed and delivered (acknowledging the delivery of goods by the shipper to a consignee) shifts the burden of proof, cannot be applied in favour of the shipper, in the face of the consignee's direct denial of delivery and the fact that such receipts were by the consignee company's rules of business exacted prior to inspection or delivery of the goods and that such receipts were not really effective until a later stage when the goods, if found, might be checked and delivered.

Henderson v. Inverness R. Co., 16 D.L.R. 420, 47 N.S.R. 530.

S. PAPER PRODUCED ON NOTICE.

(§ IV S-496)—NOTICE TO PRODUCE.

A notice to produce "all . . . reports, documents, questions and answers relating in any respect to the examination, relating to the matter in question in" an action for alleged conspiracy between the examiners and the College of Dental Surgeons to undermark the plaintiff's examination papers so as to prevent his admission to such college, is not sufficient to apprise the defendant that discovery of the examination papers and answers of other candidates at the same examination was required.

Richards v. Verrinder, 2 D.L.R. 318, 20 W.L.R. 779, 2 W.W.R. 102.

PROOF OF PREVIOUS CONVICTION — CERTIFICATE.

The King v. Atkinson, 18 Can. Cr. Cas. 279, 9 E.L.R. 212.

EXAMINATION FOR DISCOVERY — DECEASED PARTY.

Depositions on the examination for discovery of a party since deceased are not admissible on behalf of his executors on a revivor of the same action.

Atkinson v. Casserley, 22 O.L.R. 527.

LETTER—PROOF OF MAILING.

The posting of a letter, properly stamped, is evidence of the fact of its having been received by the person to whom it was addressed.

Canadian Druggists' Syndicate v. Thompson, 24 O.L.R. 108, 19 O.W.R. 401.

PROMISSORY NOTE — PROOF OF SIGNATURE — COMPARISON OF HANDWRITINGS BY JUDGE — ABSENCE OF EXPERT EVIDENCE.

Kalmet v. Keiser, 3 A.L.R. 26, 13 W.L.R. 94.

NEGLECTANCE — DEPOSITION OF WITNESS BEFORE THE CORONER'S INQUEST — INADMISSIBILITY.

Johnson v. The King, 13 Can. Ex. 379.

CUSTOMS ACT — REFERENCE BY MINISTER — AFFIDAVIT USED BEFORE MINISTER — ADMISSIBILITY.

The King v. Morris, 13 Can. Ex. 384.

ADMISSIBILITY OF EVIDENCE — LEASE — SECONDARY EVIDENCE WHERE NOTICE TO PRODUCE GIVEN.

Cyr v. DeRosier, 9 E.L.R. 550.

AFFIDAVIT OF DECEASED PLAINTIFF — EVIDENCE AT TRIAL — OPPORTUNITY FOR CROSS-EXAMINATION.

Macdonald v. Delion, 17 W.L.R. 614.

PAYMENTS MADE ON ACCOUNT OF DEBT — ENTRIES IN CREDITOR'S BOOKS — RECEIPTS GIVEN BY CREDITOR'S AGENT.

Massey Harris Co. v. Horning, 19 W.L.R. 260.

A writ of attachment, issued in Saskatchewan, under r. 417 of the Judicature Ordinance, is prima facie evidence on an interpleader, arising from a seizure thereunder that the attaching party was a creditor of the party against whom the attachment issued. [Palmer v. Ross, 18 W.L.R. 204, reversed as to ruling on this point at the trial, but the trial judgment affirmed on other grounds.]

Patterson v. Palmer, 19 W.L.R. 422.

V. Demonstrative evidence; articles and things; view of jury.

(§ V-505) — SAMPLES OF SUNKEN WRECK — DISCRETION — REVIEW.

Refusing to permit samples of the hull from the wreck of a floating dry dock to be taken for the use at the trial is within the discretion of the Trial Judge under r. 659 (B.C.) and therefore not reviewable, although the preferable course would be an order for survey or inspection of the res. Seattle Construction & Dry Dock v. Grant, Smith & Co., 26 D.L.R. 671, 22 B.C.R. 433, 33 W.L.R. 981, 10 W.W.R. 49.

PRODUCTION OF VALUABLE BONDS — PLACE OF PRODUCTION.

Bonds and debentures of value should be directed to be inspected at their place of safe custody, and the additional cost occasioned by reason of their inspection being there ordered should be borne by the person desiring that locality.

Lumber Mfr's Yard v. Moose Jaw Flour Mills, 7 W.W.R. 755.

(§ V-510) — ADMISSIBILITY OF ARTICLES SEIZED UNDER SEARCH WARRANT.

Upon a trial for keeping a common betting house in violation of ss. 227, 228 Cr. Code, articles for recording bets which were seized upon the premises by police officers, are admissible in evidence against the prisoner, irrespective of a claim by the accused that the alleged search warrant was illegal and that the police officers had obtained possession of the articles by means of their own trespass.

R. v. Honan, 6 D.L.R. 276, 20 Can. Cr. Cas. 10, 26 O.L.R. 484, 20 O.W.R. 527.

EVIDENCE OBTAINED BY ILLEGAL SEARCH AND SEIZURE

Evidence is none the less admissible because of the invalidity of the search warrant in the execution of which the evidence was procured. [R. v. Honan, 20 Can. Cr.

Cas. 10, 26 O.L.R. 484, 6 D.L.R. 276, applied.]

R. v. Gibson, 30 Can. Cr. Cas. 308, [1919] 1 W.W.R. 614.

(§ V-511) — VIEW BY COURT — CRIMINAL TRIAL BY MAGISTRATE.

A police magistrate sitting as such under Part XVI. Cr. Code, summarily trying an indictable offence, has no right during the trial to take a view of the land in respect of a transaction in which the charge of fraud was made which he was trying as such magistrate, at least where there is no consent of both the Crown and the accused to his so doing. [R. v. Petrie, 20 O.R. 317, applied.]

R. v. Crawford, 10 D.L.R. 96, 21 Can. Cr. Cas. 70, 18 B.C.R. 20, 22 W.L.R. 969, 3 W.W.R. 731.

CHILD EXHIBITED TO JURY AS EVIDENCE OF PATERNITY.

The King v. Hughes, 17 Can. Cr. Cas. 459, 22 O.L.R. 344.

MURDER BY STABBING — FINDING OF KNIVES BELONGING TO ACCUSED.

On a trial for murder by stabbing, it is not error to admit evidence of the finding in the prisoner's room, where he was arrested, of knives belonging to him capable of producing the fatal wound.

The King v. Ventricini, 17 Can. Cr. Cas. 183.

VI. Parol and extrinsic evidence concerning writings.

"Other and extrinsic evidence" as to jurisdictional amount, see Courts, II A-160. As to matters required by statute to be in writing, see Contracts, I E-67.

Annotation.

On Statute of Frauds: 2 D.L.R. 636.

A. IN GENERAL.

(§ VI A-515) — IN GENERAL.

Though terms cannot be imported into a written contract to vary it, evidence of circumstances surrounding the making of the contract or contemporaneous with its performance in whole or in part, may be taken into consideration in determining the amount of damages for breach of the contract.

Kelly v. Nepigon Construction Co., 8 D.L.R. 116, 4 O.A.N. 279, 23 O.W.R. 298.

Verbal representations, not contained in a written contract, cannot be relied upon to defeat it where the contract plainly provides that no representation not contained in the contract shall be binding, but in such a case the language of such proviso must be so clear that the average man entering into it would know that he was delaberring himself from relying upon the outside representation. Where a "satisfaction slip" is signed by one party to a contract for the purchase of an engine, which slip states that the "work done and supplies furnished" are accepted and satisfactory, such party is not thereby estopped

from was party was obtai him spee
with
E
L.R.
It sence part lease him ing asser cause only that of th sell t
the l (Cro
Eng.
Cas.
Hi
B.R.
STAT
W purch sence and not the
the l cann
the CI
INDE
Pa
the defin ute
Man
W
W.R
ADM
An
to a
the
and be p chair of p bee 1233
W
Can.
CON
W terit worl

from setting up that the engine purchased was defective and unsatisfactory, where the party signing did not read the slip, nor was it read to him, and his signature was obtained by defendant's agent stating to him that it was a certificate of the time spent by the seller's expert at his place in fitting up the engine.

Fisler v. Canadian Fairbanks Co., 8 D. L.R. 390, 22 W.L.R. 888, 3 W.W.R. 753.

It cannot be shown by parol, in the absence of fraud or misrepresentation on the part of the tenant as to the contents of his lease, which contains an option permitting him to purchase the demised premises during his term, that the landlord refused to assent to such condition and executed the lease on the express understanding that the only right of purchase given the tenant was that in case the former wished to dispose of the property during the term he would sell to the tenant for the sum mentioned in the lease in preference to any other person. [Roome v. Lediard, 2 My. & K. 251, 39 Eng. R. 940; Stewart v. Kennedy, 15 App. Cas. 108, followed.]

Hunter v. Farrell, 14 D.L.R. 556, 42 N. B.R. 323, 13 E.L.R. 354.

STATUTE OF FRAUDS.

Where there is no writing signed by the purchaser, the vendor of goods, in the absence of delivery, either complete or partial, and in the absence of earnest money, cannot establish his claim by the evidence of the buyer; i.e., the writing required under the Statute of Frauds (C.C. (Que.) 1235) cannot be supplied by the examination of the purchaser.

Clairoux v. Blouin, 9 D.L.R. 145.

INDEFINITE DESCRIPTION OF LAND — STATUTE OF FRAUDS.

Parol evidence is admissible to establish the legal description of land otherwise indefinite under the requirements of the Statute of Frauds. [Caisley v. Stewart, 21 Man. L.R. 341, followed.]

Williams v. Black, 23 D.L.R. 287, 8 W. W.R. 1139, 31 W.L.R. 844.

ADMISSIBILITY OF ORAL EVIDENCE—QUEBEC PRACTICE.

An admission by the Crown, in its plea to a petition of right, claiming commission on an option obtained for the Crown; that the option was obtained by the suppliant, and that while some remuneration should be paid it had not been fixed, and that the claim was excessive, is a "commencement of proof in writing" which will, under Quebec law, let in oral evidence under art. 1233 C.C.P.

Wright v. The King, 22 D.L.R. 269, 15 Can. Ex. 203.

CONTRACTOR TO FURNISH MATERIAL AND LABOUR — PAROLE EVIDENCE TO PROVE EXTRA WORKS DONE BY SUBCONTRACTOR IN ACCORDANCE WITH AN AGREEMENT.

Where a contractor is to furnish material, labour and skill in a contract for work by estimate, parole evidence is admissible to prove that certain extra works were done by a subcontractor in accordance with an agreement between him, the contractor and the proprietor, and that such work was charged as extras and apart from the contract price, and also to prove the cost of the work. Art. 1699 C.C. (Que.) has no application as between a general contractor and a subcontractor.

C. E. Deakin v. Harris Construction Co., 46 D.L.R. 222, 55 Que. S.C. 249.

COMMENCEMENT OF PROOF IN WRITING —

ADMISSIBILITY OF ORAL EVIDENCE.

The admission may be divided when the part contested and opposed is improbable or met by evidence of bad faith. This is the position when a defendant sued for loan of money pleads that the plaintiff did not advance this money by that title, but it was in order to pay the cost of a construction, the ownership of which was to be in common, and it is established that the defendant had tried to sell this immovable as his own and had even mortgaged it. These latter facts separated from the admission furnish a commencement of proof in writing which admits of the production of oral testimony.

Hébert v. Demers, 47 Que. S.C. 252.

NOTICE OF MECHANIC'S LIEN.

Although evidence of the notice to the owner of the registration of an architect's lien cannot be made by a process-verbal of a bailiff of the Superior Court, the bailiff may be called as a witness to prove the delivery of the written notice to the owner. As between the privileged creditors and the owner evidence of the notice cannot legally be made without production of the written notice itself, but if the litigation is between the privileged creditor and a third party it can be made by oral evidence, the prohibition in art. 1233 C.C. (Que.) not applying to such a case.

Brunswick Balke Collender Co. v. Racette, 49 Que. S.C. 50.

WRITING CONTAINING PART OF CONTRACT.

In applying the rule that oral evidence of a contract is admissible where it is contended that the writing relied upon does not contain the whole agreement, the distinction must be observed between an oral condition postponing the operation of a written instrument and an oral agreement which can affect the instrument only after it has come into operation.

Morse v. Mac & Mac Cedar Co., 25 B.C.R. 417, [1918] 2 W.W.R. 205.

LOAN — INTEREST — COMMENCEMENT OF PROOF IN WRITING — PRESUMPTION.

If a defendant pleads to an action for repayment of a loan that he has paid the interest but he does not owe the capital, and at the hearing admitted that the sum claimed had been given him by the plaintiff's grantor in consideration of the payment of interest during the life of the donor, there are, in these circumstances, a divisible admission and a commencement of proof in writing which allow the admission of parol evidence. The payment of interest upon a sum of money is a presumption of a loan rather than a gift.

Laplante v. Frappier, 24 Rev. Leg. 286.
SALE OF LAND — JUDICIAL ADMISSION — COMMISSIONS — CUSTOM.

A contract for sale of land on commission, between an owner and an agent, is not a commercial contract, and cannot be proved by witnesses unless there is a commencement of proof by writing. A judicial admission may be divided according to circumstances, in the discretion of the court, when the part of the admission objected to is impossible or invalidated by contrary evidence. According to established custom, the commission to be paid such agent, when at the vendor's request he finds a purchaser, is 2½ per cent upon the sale price.

Laporte v. Demault, 24 Rev. Leg. 248.

DURATION OF LEASE.

The duration of a lease, payable in monthly instalments can be proved by oral testimony.

Pelletier v. Lamarre, 50 Que. S.C. 441.

CONTRACT — WRITTEN — ACTION FOR RE- PAYMENT OF MONEY — ORAL EVIDENCE REQUIRED THAT CONTRACT WAS CARRIED OUT — EVIDENCE FOR DEFENCE TO VARY OR CONTRADICT — ADMISSIBILITY.

In an action for repayment of money due on a written contract, the fact that it is necessary for the plaintiff to shew by oral evidence that the contract had been carried out does not entitle the defendant to submit evidence to vary or contradict the contract.

Alexander v. Letvinoff, 26 B.C.R. 324, [1919] 2 W.W.R. 808.

DELEGATION OF PAYMENT — WRITTEN EVIDENCE — PRIVATE CORRESPONDENCE — DATE — COMMENCEMENT OF PROOF IN WRITING C.C. ARTS. 1173, 1229, 1233.

A purchaser who binds himself, in a deed of sale, to pay a delegatee, cannot prove by evidence against the latter the date of a private letter by which the deed of sale from the delegator to the delegatee has been revoked before the acceptance of the delegation; this evidence can only be received in a noncommercial matter, by another writing or by evidence which is commenced by some writing. A commencement of proof in writing will not be found in answers given by the party in his deposition before the court, when these answers only contain hearsay evidence, and beliefs, and do not contain any positive assertion rendering certain the fact which it is desired to prove.

Morin v. St. Pierre, 56 Que. S.C. 474.

CONTRACTS — CONDITION NOT EXPRESSED IN WRITTEN AGREEMENT — ORAL EVIDENCE OF CONDITION — INOPERATIVE AGREEMENT — PRINCIPAL AND AGENT — SALES OF LAND MADE BY AGENT NOT ASSENTED TO BY PRINCIPAL — COMMISSION.

Rimand v. Lines, 8 O.W.N. 464.

GARNISHMENT — CONTRACT.

Where garnishee in a mortgage to defendant covenanted to make certain payments, evidence of a verbal agreement at the time of the mortgage (sworn to by garnishee and defendant) that garnishee should be required to pay only in case she made a sale of the land, not if she kept it, was held inadmissible; and garnishee was held indebted to defendant.

Morrison v. Cybulak, [1919] 1 W.W.R. 880.

(§ VI A—516)—CONTRACT — AUTHENTIC DEED—WRITTEN EVIDENCE—MISTAKE OF FACT—ACTION FOR RECTIFICATION—C. CIV. ARTS. 992, 1233, 1234.

Written evidence cannot be received against an authentic deed of sale to prove mistake, when the mistake relates to the agreement itself; but it is admitted to establish facts showing that there has been a mistake in the wording of the deed. In such case the party injured has a right of action for rectification.

Black v. Amyot, 56 Que. S.C. 34.

LEASES — RENT — ORAL EVIDENCE — COMMENCEMENT OF PROOF — ILLEGAL EVIDENCE — C.C. ARTS. 1233, 2260, 8, 5 — C. PRAC. ARTS. 286, 316.

A lease of a store for commercial purposes is a mixed contract, in which, unless the matter or the amount in litigation exceeds $50, oral evidence is admitted against the merchant, but not in his favour. Consequently, a lease of a store for commercial purposes cannot, on the request of the merchant, be proved by oral evidence, without a commencement of proof in writing. Notwithstanding the rule of jurisprudence that the admission without objection of illegal oral evidence given by ordinary witnesses, or by a party for himself, raises the presumption of the consent of the adverse party to this evidence and renders it in fact admissible, it is not always the case when this illegal evidence is contained in the evidence of an adverse party. In this case, a commencement of proof in writing can be constituted by his attorneys against him, but not for him and in his favour. A commencement of proof in writing can be found not only in the evidence of the adverse party questioned as a witness in the inquiry, but also in his preliminary examination.

Blain v. Chèvrefils, 55 Que. S.C. 172.

(§ VI A—518)—WILLS.

In an action to set aside an authentic will, oral evidence is admissible to establish (a) that it was not properly made and dictated; (b) that the testator was not of sound mind though he had declared the contrary; (c) that an interlineation not signed nor initialled is an interpolation as to which an inscription de faux is not required.

Quimet v. Laberge, 43 Que. S.C. 221.

B. CUSTOM, OR USAGE.

(§ VI B-520)—CUSTOM OR USAGE—WRITTEN AGREEMENTS.

Although a written agreement for the sale of goods without any ambiguity, and complete under the Statute of Frauds, cannot ordinarily be varied or added to by parol evidence, trade terms in such an agreement may be explained by parol evidence as for example what is known to the trade as an automobile "fully equipped." Halifax Automobile Co. v. Redden, 15 D. L.R. 34, 48 N.S.R. 29, 13 E.L.R. 436.

C. PRIOR AND COLLATERAL PAROL AGREEMENTS.

(§ VI C-525)—REPRESENTATION OR GUARANTY — ORAL TESTIMONY — ADMISSIBILITY — FRAUD AND MISREPRESENTATION — CONTEMPORANEOUS OR PRIOR ORAL AGREEMENT — DISCOUNT ON PRICE — DEMURRAGE — EVIDENCE — COUNTERCLAIM.

M. Hilly Lumber Co. v. Thessalon Lumber Co., 3 D.L.R. 894, 3 O.W.N. 1593, 22 O.W.R. 770.

In an action to recover an amount claimed to be due on a written contract for cutting and hauling logs for a paper manufacturing company which contained the following clauses: (1) The plaintiff "agrees to haul none but good, sound, merchantable logs;" (2) all logs hauled by him "to be called by—or some other competent person to be appointed" by the company, "whose scale shall be final between the parties to this instrument;" and (3) "logs to be sealed by scaler to what in his judgment will make good merchantable lumber," parol evidence is admissible to shew that the parties entered into a collateral verbal agreement that the logs were to be sealed on the same scale as had been used by the company's scalers in scaling logs hauled for it by the plaintiff under similar written contracts during the two preceding seasons and that the parties entered into the written contract on the faith of the verbal agreement, where it appeared that the company's scalers did not use the method of scaling of the preceding seasons, but used, at the direction of the company, another method which materially reduced the plaintiff's remuneration, upon the ground that such evidence explained and made clear the aforesaid clauses therein which were so doubtful and uncertain in their meaning that without it the actual intention of the parties might and probably would be defeated, such evidence in no way altering the written contract.

Mann v. St. Croix Paper Co., 5 D.L.R. 596, 41 N.B.R. 199, 11 E.L.R. 81.

One who, to the knowledge of the seller, purchases land under a written agreement in his own name, for a syndicate he was about to form, of which he is to be a member, may shew a contemporaneous parol promise by the seller to pay him for organizing the syndicate, since such evidence does not tend to alter or vary the written agreement.

Benson v. Hutchings, 13 D.L.R. 273, 23 Man. L.R. 539, 24 W.L.R. 782, 4 W.W.R. 907.

PAROL OR EXTRINSIC EVIDENCE CONCERNING WRITINGS.

If a contract not required by law to be in writing, was not intended to express the whole agreement between the parties, an omitted term expressly or impliedly agreed on before or at the time of executing the written contract, if not inconsistent with the terms thereof, may be shewn by parol. McLean v. Crown Tailoring Co., 15 D. L.R. 353, 29 O.L.R. 455.

SALE OF GOODS—ADMISSIBILITY.

A verbal agreement made concurrently with a sale of goods but not referred to in the written order, that the vendor's representative would, in consideration of the sale, assist the buyer in demonstrating and retailing the goods is a collateral agreement of which oral evidence is admissible where it does not contradict the writing, and the buyer may set up a claim for damages for the breach of such collateral agreement by way of counterclaim to an action for the price.

Jeffress v. MacKinnon, 23 D.L.R. 151.

PROMISSORY NOTE — CONTEMPORANEOUS PAROL AGREEMENT.

Where a promissory note is given for shares of stock in furtherance of a plan to erect tanks for the supply of oil, a contemporaneous verbal agreement for the return of the note upon the failure to erect such tanks is inadmissible to disprove liability thereon in an action by the maker for the repayment of the instrument.

Wilton v. Manitoba Independent Oil, 25 D.L.R. 243, 25 Man. L.R. 628, 32 W.L.R. 465, 9 W.W.R. 292.

CONTEMPORANEOUS WRITINGS.

Although it is sound doctrine that a contract which is written establishes the rights of the parties between themselves and cannot be changed or modified by any prior negotiations or stipulations whether written or oral, nevertheless, a contract may be evidenced and established through the medium of several writings, as well as by one document, and the import of a written paper purporting to contain the terms of a contract may be controlled, altered or extended by a contemporaneous agreement in writing, provided that it be shown that both papers refer to the same subject-matter, persons and things. If a written document amounts to a mere admission or acknowledgment of certain facts forming a link only in the chain of evidence by which a contract is sought to be established, it may be given concurrently with, and be aided and supported by other evidence, even by oral evidence, when the contract is required by law to be in writing.

S. Hyman v. Jones Bros., 51 Que. S.C. 279.

SALES — MEMORANDUM OF TERMS — EVIDENCE OF PAROL AGREEMENT NOT ADMITTED TO VARY — REPRESENTATION BY AGENT OF PLAINTIFF TO OBTAIN SIGNATURE.

On the trial of an action to recover the price of a piano sold by plaintiff company to defendant, evidence was given, and the trial judge found, that it was orally agreed at the time the memorandum of sale was signed that the piano should be a new one and should be shipped direct from the factory to defendant. It was proved that the piano delivered to defendant did not come direct from the factory but was sent by plaintiff to a prospective buyer in Amherst and, after having been in his possession for a period of about two weeks and not accepted by him, was then sent to defendant. The contract having been reduced to writing effect could not be given to the defence set up with respect to the oral agreement. Phinney v. Vacheresse, 52 N.S.R. 508.

(§ VI C—526)—WARRANTY.

A parol warranty of a chattel defers a written agreement may be shown where the writing does not contain all of the terms of the contract.

Techer v. Thompson, 15 D.L.R. 31, 23 Man. L.R. 767, 26 W.L.R. 288, 5 W.W.R. 793, 812.

D. SUBSEQUENT CHANGE.

(§ VI D—530)—In an action for money received by the defendant for goods sold by him for the plaintiffs as their agent, the dispute was as to the amount of commission the agent was to receive, the agent claiming 5 per cent commission under a written agreement, and the plaintiffs claiming by subsequent oral agreement the defendant was to receive thereafter one-half such commission, the plaintiffs' contention was upheld where the evidence showed that after the date of the alleged oral agreement, the defendant received a statement from the plaintiffs bearing the words "two and a half per cent commission, when sold" and never disputed it, and he sent them his own statement charging only 2½ per cent, and that all the plaintiffs' cheques were made out to the defendant on the 2½ per cent basis and their correctness was never disputed by him.

Niagara Falls Co. v. Wiley, 4 D.L.R. 96, 21 W.L.R. 93.

AUTHORITY TO AGENT — MODIFICATIONS — QUE. C.C. 1233, 1235.

When written authority is given to a real estate agent for the sale of a property, verbal modifications of the contract, as for example a change in the sale price, cannot be proved by parol evidence.

Parizeau v. Tougas, 46 Que. S.C. 525.

E. MEANING; INTENTION; EXPLANATION. (§ VI E—535)—DESCRIPTION OF PROPERTY — EXPLANATION AS TO PROPERTY INTENDED.

In an action to compel defendant to carry out a written agreement to purchase leasehold property described as located at "No. 171 Chesley st.," on his refusing to proceed on discovering that the property was located on an alley and not on the named street, oral evidence offered by plaintiff to show that the sale was intended to cover property not located on Chesley st. was not only inadmissible, but such agreement would be void under the Statute of Frauds; no part performance of the contract appearing.

Porter v. Rogers, 11 D.L.R. 304, 42 N.B.R. 82, 12 E.L.R. 551.

INTENTION—AMBIGUITY.

Where the terms of a modified offer made by a plaintiff are left ambiguous and may equally refer to one interpretation or to another, the burden is upon the plaintiff to establish that his interpretation of the terms is the correct one.

Canada Law Book Co. v. Butterworth, 12 D.L.R. 143, 23 Man. L.R. 352, 24 W.L.R. 124, 4 W.W.R. 237, reversing 9 D.L.R. 321.

[Appeal to Privy Council dismissed, 16 D.L.R. 61.]

INTERPRETING WRITING — DISCOUNT—PENALTY CLAUSE — CONDUCT OF PARTIES.

Evidence is admissible to show from the dealing between the parties that a stipulation in a written contract for a discount on prompt payment was in fact a mode of stipulating a penalty for default and that the net amount was the actual purchase money.

Colgrove v. Gundy, 17 D.L.R. 45, 28 W.L.R. 731.

PAROL AND EXTRINSIC EVIDENCE CONCERNING WRITINGS — MEANING, INTENTION, EXPLANATION — CONTRACT FOR BRED FOXES.

A written agreement of sale of bred animals (e.g. blue foxes) is to be interpreted in the light of all the circumstances surrounding the parties at the time it was made, and if it bears internal evidence of an intention to deal with the progeny of the vendor's own stock and such is shown to be in line with the ordinary course of the vendor's business, such a term may be read into the contract although there would not otherwise have been sufficient parol evidence to warrant a reformation of the contract by adding a specific clause to embody such term.

Provincial Fox v. Tennant, 18 D.L.R. 389. [Reversed, 21 D.L.R. 236, 48 N.S.R. 555.]

CONTRACT IN FORM OF LETTER — PREVIOUS LETTER REFERRED TO — PREVIOUS LETTER CONTAINING EXPRESS REFERENCE TO PRICE LIST — ORAL EVIDENCE ADMISSIBLE TO EXPLAIN CONTRACT — JUDICIAL NOTICE OF PROVINCIAL LAWS.

Parol evidence is admissible to prove that the discount mentioned in a contract, in the form of a letter, to purchase steel drills, which merely quotes sizes and rate of discount, but does not mention any price, referring, however, to a previous letter which contains an express reference to a standard drill price list, means, according to the usage of trade, discount off the standard drill prices, and so proves that the written contract contains all essential terms. A term of the contract being that "The value of this contract to be from $25,000 to $35,000 net," the court further held that the purchaser was bound to purchase goods to the value of $25,000, with an option to purchase a further $10,000 worth, which the vendor was bound to supply if ordered.

Hankin v. John Morrow Screw & Nut Co., 45 D.L.R. 685, 58 Can. S.C.R. 74, affirming 34 Que. S.C. 208.

CONTRACT—TERMS COMMITTED TO WRITING—PAROL EVIDENCE NOT ADMISSIBLE TO SHEW OTHER TERMS.

Where the contracting parties have committed the terms of the contract to writing, especially a writing under seal, parol evidence is not admissible to shew that there were other terms agreed on which were not included in the contract.

Shields v. Landreth, 45 D.L.R. 330, 12 S.L.R. 102, [1919] 1 W.W.R. 763.

Oral evidence is admissible to make plain an ambiguous and uncertain provision of a written agreement in order to put the court and jury in possession of facts which throw light upon the intention of the parties which was obscured by their doubtful language in expressing it.

Mann v. St. Croix Paper Co., 5 D.L.R. 396, 41 N.B.R. 199, 11 E.L.R. 81.

Parol testimony is not admissible in contradiction of the contents of a writing, but the complete admission of the opposite party may be allowed as proof of a condition not expressed in the writing; the party himself may very well admit and acknowledge that the writing which is validly made does not contain all the conditions agreed upon.

Audet v. Jolicoeur, 5 D.L.R. 68, 22 Que. K.B. 35.

Oral testimony will not be admitted to explain a written agreement and amplify its terms on the ground that it does not express sufficiently the intention of the parties. In a sale or assignment by the contractor for manufacturing and supplying lumber, who contracted for the work with subcontractors, of his claim against the purchaser, the agreement that the assignee "will be responsible for, and hold the assignor indemnified against, all costs, expenses and damages whatsoever in connection with suits of the subcontractors respecting the work furnished or to be furnished" applies only to suits actually pending and not to claims which might afterwards give rise to actions.

Dubuc v. Laroche, 21 Que. K.B. 398.

MEANING OF CONTRACT.

Although oral evidence cannot be admitted against a writing, proof of attendant Can. Dig.—60.

facts and circumstances may be made by witness to shew that the real contract entered into differs from that which the writing purports to have disclosed.

Rainboth v. O'Brien, 24 Que. K.B. 88.

LEASE AND SPECIFICATIONS — CONTRADICTIONS.

When from the terms of a lease and of the specifications of certain works there are obvious contradictions as to what the owner undertook to do, these contradictions furnish a commencement of proof sufficient to permit of the admission of oral evidence.

Manion v. Bertrand, 47 Que. S.C. 270.

CLAUSE IN CONTRACT.

Oral evidence cannot be admitted to explain a clause in a contract on behalf of one who has caused it to be inserted.

Tessier v. Notre Dame-Du-Perpetuel-Se-cours, 52 Que. S.C. 510.

CONTRACT — SALE — "ABOUT."

The plaintiffs sold and delivered to the defendants, under a written contract, a quantity of mill machinery, one condition of the contract being that it could not be varied or added to by any agreement not expressly stated therein. In an action for an unpaid balance of the purchase money the defendants set up in a counterclaim, in addition to other items, a claim for damages resulting from breaches of parol agreements in respect to the subject matter of the contract. Held, that as the contract was meant to contain the whole bargain between the parties, evidence respecting the parol agreements could not be received. The contract provided for shipment, "delivered f.o.b. cars Fairville, N.B., about 6 weeks from receipt of order." Evidence could not be received to shew that the word "about" was intended to be used by the parties with any other than the ordinary and natural meaning.

Berlin Machine Works v. Randolph, 45 N.B.R. 201.

The onus is on the defendants to prove their plea that a written memorandum of contract was signed on the condition that the plaintiffs should not be entitled to payment until certain village debentures were sold; and that the defendants had not satisfied the onus. But, if the defendants had conveyed to the minds of the plaintiffs their (defendants') intention not to make payment until the debentures were sold, a mere unenforceable understanding, and not an effective agreement, would have resulted—an expectation, based upon representations of circumstances, that, though payment might be legally enforced upon performance, it would not then in fact be demanded.

Perrini v. Peacock, 19 W.L.R. 910.

CONTRACT — CONSTRUCTION — AMBIGUITY — PAROL EVIDENCE OF CIRCUMSTANCES — FALSA DEMONSTRATIO NON SOCET.

If the language of a written contract has a definite and unambiguous meaning, parol evidence is not admissible to show that the parties meant something different from what they have said. But if the description of the subject-matter is susceptible of more than one interpretation parol evidence of the surrounding circumstances is admissible to help in determining what the subject-matter of it is.

McLay v. Burns, [1919] 3 W.W.R. 917.
 (§ VI E—537)—TERMS OF PAYMENT — STATUTE OF FRAUDS.

Parol evidence is admissible to explain the terms of payment under a contract for the exchange of lands, whether under the Statute of Frauds or otherwise.

Martin v. Jarvis, 31 D.L.R. 740, 37 O.L.R. 269.

CONTRACT WITH RAILWAY — MEANING OF "RIGHT-OF-WAY CLEARING."

A contract in writing made for clearing the right-of-way of a railway contained a clause under which the plaintiff agreed to do and complete all the right-of-way, clearing between stations 490 and 714 in conformity with the specifications annexed, for 830 per acre. Held, that extrinsic evidence was properly admitted to shew that amongst railway contractors and in railway construction work the words "right-of-way clearing" had acquired a special and technical meaning, and applied only to land requiring to be cleared and not to the full area of the right-of-way.

Laine v. Kennedy, 45 N.B.R. 173.

(§ VI E—538)—WILLS.

Declarations of a testator are not admissible to prove what he meant by his will, but extrinsic evidence of surrounding circumstances is admissible to shew what he probably intended. [Davidson v. Boomer, 17 Gr. 509, followed.]

Re Anne Campbell, 7 D.L.R. 452, 4 O.W.N. 221, 23 O.W.R. 233.

PAROL EVIDENCE AS TO TESTATOR'S INTENTION — "SURROUNDING CIRCUMSTANCES" — ADMISSIBILITY OF TESTATOR'S DECLARATION.

Where a devise specifically describes land not owned by the testator, and there is no inconsistency otherwise in the description which would shew that the testator had misdescribed something which he owned as by the use of general words which would carry the land without the specific description, evidence of oral expressions of the testator that he intended to give certain of his lands to the beneficiary named is not admissible to prove that the latter lands were intended and not the lands which he did not own described in the devise.

Re Carvill; Standard Trusts Co. v. King et al., 15 D.L.R. 206, 6 S.L.R. 146, 26 W.L.R. 189, 5 W.W.R. 581.

F. AS TO COMMERCIAL PAPER.

Annotation.

Of presentment of bills and notes: 15 D.L.R. 41.

(§ VI F—540)—AS TO COMMERCIAL PAPER. Where a loan is made which is evidenced by a promissory note and a cheque is produced shewing payment of the alleged amount of the loan (less discount) bearing the endorsement of the borrower, he is not allowed to parol testimony to prove that he only signed this note as "additional security" at the request of another party to guarantee or secure any depreciation in the value of shares transferred or sold by this latter party to a stranger, the alleged agent of the party who loaned the money, with a right of redemption under the provisions contained in a deed, as this would be varying by parol testimony a written contract. Parol testimony is only allowed under s. 46 of the Bills of Exchange Act to prove "conditional" delivery or delivery "for a special purpose only and not for the purpose of transferring the property in the bill," but these words have only a limited application, and when the note is delivered and the property in it has passed, even if only for purposes of security, then parol evidence is inadmissible to vary or explain the contract, and ss. 40, 41 of the act do not in fact change the law as to the admissibility or inadmissibility of parol evidence. Verbal testimony upon facts and circumstances connected with the making and endorsement of a bill, not objected to at trial or hearing can be taken into account by the court, and such facts and circumstances might be sufficiently cogent to render the defendant's pretensions plausible and constitute a groundwork for admission of verbal testimony which would, standing by itself, be inadmissible; but the mere assertion of a contemporaneous verbal agreement is one which, being in contradiction of a written contract, cannot be put forward in verbal testimony.

Vineberg v. Jones, 8 D.L.R. 513, 22 Que. K.B. 128.

COLLATERAL AGREEMENTS — SIMULATION.

Bills of exchange, promissory notes and cheques are commercial documents, and all agreements or transactions which relate to them are, consequently, commercial matters. English law allows parol evidence of a collateral or secondary contract made at the same time as the written contract. Proving such a collateral contract is not contradicting or changing the terms of the written contract. An admission is divisible when one part of the reply is invalidated by allegations of fraud or simulation, or does not agree with the pleadings. Article 1210 C.C. (Que.), which establishes the principle that an authentic writing makes complete proof of the agreements to which it relates, has an exception where the writing is attacked on the ground of simulation; parol evidence is then admissible to shew the simulation, as it does not vary the terms of a valid written instrument. In the examination of evidence including simulation all the writings of the parties relating to the agreement or transaction should be interpreted one with the other, as forming a single agreement.

Lacouture v. Badeau, 24 Rev. de Jur. 519.

EVIDENCE — VERBAL AGREEMENT MODIFYING A WRITTEN CONTRACT — ADMISSIBILITY OF ORAL EVIDENCE — C.C. ART. 1254.

Oral evidence of a verbal agreement having the effect of modifying a written contract is permitted if it is a question of a commercial matter, or where the amount in question does not exceed $50.

Roy v. Doyon, 55 Que. S.C. 217.

(§ VI F—541)—CONDITIONAL ACCEPTANCE OF BILL OF EXCHANGE.

Parol evidence is admissible to shew, as against a bank standing in the position of holder with notice, that the acceptance of a bill of exchange rested upon a consideration that the acceptors are not to be liable unless they were at its maturity indebted to the drawers.

Standard Bank v. Wettlaufer, 23 D.L.R. 507, 33 O.L.R. 441.

(§ VI F—542)—PROMISSORY NOTE — DIRECTOR AND CORPORATION.

The general rule that parol evidence is inadmissible to vary the terms of a written contract applies also to a promissory note, and it is not open to the managing director of a corporation to shew by extrinsic evidence that the liability on a promissory note signed in his individual capacity was intended to be that of the corporation, which shortly afterwards went into liquidation. [Wilton v. Man, Independent Oil Co., 25 D.L.R. 243, 25 Man. L.R. 628; Crane v. Lavoie, 4 D.L.R. 175, 22 Man. L.R. 330, followed.]

Lindsay-Walker v. Hilson, 27 D.L.R. 233, 26 Man. L.R. 296, 34 W.L.R. 290, 10 W.W.R. 293.

(§ VI F—544)—CHEQUES.

A judgment in a prior action authorizing the amendment of a cheque by the curator in the insolvency of the drawer's estate so as to make it payable to the person found to be the legal holder instead of to a government official who made no claim thereto and declined to endorse same because of his official position, may be regarded in an action against the bank to recover the amount of the cheque, as evidence that such new payee is the lawful holder, where no valid objection to payment by the bank is shewn nor had it taken any steps to annul such judgment.

Brossard v. Sterling Bank et al., 8 D.L.R. 889.

NEGOTIABLE INSTRUMENTS.

An alleged oral agreement made prior to the making of a promissory note by which the payee and the proposed endorsee were to renew it at maturity for a further fixed period, cannot be shewn in contradiction of the effect of the note itself so as to extend the time for payment.

Union Bank v. MacCullough, 7 D.L.R. 694, 4 A.L.R. 371, 2 W.W.R. 403.

Where a debtor alleges payment and satisfaction of a claim against him in the hands of an assignee, and tenders parol evidence of an alleged agreement made between himself and the assignor under which the debtor joined the assignor in a promissory note and agreed to pay the note to the extent, and in satisfaction, of the assigned claim, and where it appears that neither the debtor nor the assignor was a trader, and that their agreement was therefore not a commercial matter, parol evidence of the agreement is not admissible.

Reader v. Calumet Metals Co., 6 D.L.R. 496, 10 Rev. de Jur. 346.

It may be shewn by parol evidence that the persons who signed a negotiable instrument ostensibly as agents were in fact not acting for any principal but for themselves.

Crane v. Lavoie, 4 D.L.R. 175, 22 Man. L.R. 330, 21 W.L.R. 313, 2 W.W.R. 429.

NOTE—GUARANTY.

The declaration of a party that the maker of a note is solvent, and that on his default it will be paid, cannot be proved by oral testimony at least without a commencement of proof in writing.

Mailoux v. Comfoltey, 18 Que. P.R. 473.

(§ VI F—548)—PRESENTMENT PROVED BY SUBSEQUENT PROMISE TO PAY.

When a promise to pay a promissory note is made by the maker after the note has fallen due, it is prima facie evidence of presentment.

Spatfow v. Corbett, 16 D.L.R. 184, 18 B.C.R. 356.

G. CONSIDERATION, OR VALUE OF SUBJECT MATTER.

(§ VI G—550)—PAROL EVIDENCE—SALE OF REAL ESTATE.

Parol testimony is admissible to prove the sale of real estate of a value and for a price that do not exceed $50.

Moquin v. Dingman, 44 Que. S.C. 341.

VALUE OF GOODS SOLD—DELIVERY AND ACCEPTANCE.

Parol testimony is admissible in regard to the sale of goods of a value exceeding $50, even although the goods have not been delivered, if there has been an acceptance of them by the purchaser.

Carrière v. Deziel, 50 Que. S.C. 28.

(§ VI G—551)—CONTRACT GENERALLY.

Where the document relied upon by the plaintiff to make out a contract for sale of lands under the Statute of Frauds does not purport to contain all of the terms of the bargain, it is open to the defendant to shew either by a cross-examination of the plaintiff or by other parol evidence, that the writing does not in fact contain all the terms of agreement and is therefore an insufficient memorandum under the statute.

Rogers v. Hewer, 8 D.L.R. 288, 5 A.L.R. 227, 22 W.L.R. 807, 3 W.W.R. 477.

(§ VI G-553)—CONSIDERATION FOR DEED AS SECURITY BETWEEN SOLICITOR AND CLIENT—VARYING BY PAROL.

That a deed from a client to his solicitor was intended as security for a greater amount than the consideration expressed cannot be shewn by parol; since the rule is that, in order to sustain such a conveyance the consideration therefor must be truly stated.

Duffy v. Mathieson, 13 D.L.R. 587, 13 E.L.R. 73.

CONSIDERATION OF DEED—ASSUMPTION OF MORTGAGES.

A deed of conveyance setting forth the consideration as "an exchange of lands and $1," subject to certain mortgages, "the assumption of which is part of the consideration herein," without further description of the incumbrances in the habendum, and no express covenant assuming the payment of them, is not a case of such precise expression of consideration as would preclude the admission of parol evidence to explain the full extent and nature of the transaction.

Campbell v. Douglas, 25 D.L.R. 436, 34 O.L.R. 580.

OF DEED.

Where a deed sets out only a nominal consideration, the parties thereto may give parol evidence of the real consideration, and there is no onus of proof upon the grantor.

Shaw v. Robinson, 40 N.B.R. 473.

H. FRAUD; MISTAKE; OMISSIONS.

(§ VI H-560)—Where fraud, mistake or accident is set up, the rule that parol evidence to modify a written instrument is not admissible is inapplicable to the extent of the facts and circumstances relating to the instrument or portion thereof put in issue by the allegation of fraud, mistake or accident.

Jadis v. Porte, 23 D.L.R. 713, 8 A.L.R. 489, 31 W.L.R. 234, 8 W.W.R. 708.

CONTRACT—MISREPRESENTATIONS.

One knowing how to read and write, who signs an agreement without reading it, cannot be allowed to prove by witnesses fraudulent representations the other party had made upon the tenor of the agreement, in order to induce him to sign it.

Paré v. Carotte, 34 Que. S.C. 231, affirming 53 Que. S.C. 306.

(§ VI I-561)—FRAUDULENT REPRESENTATIONS.

Oral testimony may be allowed to prove the facts and the false representations, especially when the parties have agreed in admitting that the obligation alleged to be incurred is not that stated in the written document.

Meunier v. Laprès, 47 Que. S.C. 470.

(§ VI H-562)—MISTAKE.

Parol evidence is admissible, in an action on a written contract, under a plea that it was executed under a mistake as to its contents, to shew all of the circumstances surrounding the making and execution of the agreement, from which is to be determined whether the signer is to be bound by it.

Edmonton Securities v. Lepage, 14 D.L.R. 66, 6 A.L.R. 282, 25 W.L.R. 532.

RECTIFICATION OF MORTGAGE.

Although there is no previous agreement in writing, rectification of a mortgage may be allowed on oral evidence when there is clear proof of the intention.

Fordham v. Hall, 17 D.L.R. 695, 20 B.C.R. 562, 27 W.L.R. 908, 6 W.W.R. 769.

RESERVATION OF MINERAL RIGHTS—INTENTION.

The real intention of parties, or a mistake as to a reservation of mineral rights in a written agreement for the sale of land, may be shewn by parol evidence in the same action for specific performance of the contract so varied, and this even where the Statute of Frauds is pleaded.

Greig v. Franco-Canadian Mortgage Co., 23 D.L.R. 860, 32 W.L.R. 280, 9 W.W.R. 22. [Reversed on another point, 29 D.L.R. 260, 10 A.L.R. 44.]

The maxim nemo ex facto alterius prægravari debet applies to contracts. Where the defence to an action on a contract is that it was executed in error, such error, as in the case of duress and fraud, can be proved by oral testimony.

Church v. Laframboise, 50 Que. S.C. 385.

I. CONDITION; TRUST; MORTGAGE.

Relationship of parties, purchaser or agent, see Mortgage, III-47; as trustee, see Vendor and Purchaser, I B-3.

(§ VI I-565)—CONDITION OF GUARANTY.

A written guaranty cannot be varied by verbal evidence shewing that its operation was to be conditional upon the incorporation of a company.

Kimball Lumber Co. v. Anderson, 27 D.L.R. 555.

GUARANTEES.

Numerous contradictions in the testimony of a party examined as a witness, and improbabilities in his statements form a commencement of proof in writing and render admissible oral evidence of a guaranty in writing of the debt of a third party exceeding $50. A creditor who, when the debt was paid, remitted the guaranty to the person who had signed it, may prove by witnesses, (a) the existence of the guaranty; (b) the possession which he had had of it; and (c) the remittance that he had made of it.

Pelletier v. Ackerman, 41 Que. S.C. 224.

CONDITION—WRITTEN NOTICE OF—PAROL EVIDENCE—QUE. C.C. 1232, 1622.

The service of a written notice informing an owner that the piano furnishing the lodg their right evid

A

(§ V pro

fici

Fra

rig

to;

son;

the jeet

not

suc

pro

whi

V

C.R

Co

F tha

don

23

Co

est

the con

wri

out

S

S.C

(§

J

por for 8

L.R

Co

J

me wh

con

evi

Fra

I

R.

(§

A

anc

245

the ad

mo

of wa

R.

(

29

597

lodging of his tenant is the property of a third person, and is not subject to his rights as lessor, may be proved by parol evidence.

Archambault v. Gerard, 46 Que. S.C. 346. (§ VI I—566.)—STATUTE OF FRAUDS—CONDITIONAL PURCHASE OF LANDS.

Where the receipt for the deposit on a proposed sale of land is not in itself a sufficient memorandum under the Statute of Frauds and no formal agreement has been signed, it is open to the proposed purchaser to shew by parol evidence that his promissory note given to the vendor as well as the cash deposit made, was delivered subject to a condition of the bargain that he would buy only in the event of his being successful in his efforts to sell his own property so as to place him in funds with which to carry out the proposed purchase.

West v. Browning, 17 D.L.R. 296, 19 B.C.R. 407, 28 W.L.R. 15, 6 W.W.R. 781.

CONDITIONAL DELIVERY OF DEED—ESCROW.

Parol evidence is inadmissible to shew that a deed delivered to a purchaser was done conditionally or in escrow.

Amar Singh v. Mitchell, 30 D.L.R. 719, 23 B.C.R. 249, [1917] 1 W.W.R. 201.

CONDITION OF SHARE SUBSCRIPTION.

Oral testimony cannot be received to establish that subscriptions for shares in the capital stock of a company were made conditionally contrary to the terms of a writing stating that they were made without conditions.

St. Roch Hotel Co. v. Barbeau, 48 Que. S.C. 94.

(§ VI I—567.)—TRUSTS.

A trust intended by an instrument purporting to be an assignment absolute on its face may be established by parol evidence.

Shepard v. Bruner, 24 D.L.R. 40, 31 W.L.R. 721, reversing 19 D.L.R. 869.

CONSTRUCTIVE TRUST—STATUTE OF FRAUDS.

An unexpressed trust cannot be supplemented by a deed of the grantor's wife who joined with him in the conveyance; a constructive trust may be proved by parol evidence, and is not within the Statute of Frauds.

Langille v. Nass, 36 D.L.R. 368, 51 N.S.R. 429.

(§ VI I—568.)—MORTGAGE—AFTER-ACQUIRED PROPERTY.

Where an agreement for the sale of land and other property provides for a "mortgage back" to secure an unpaid portion of the purchase price, parol evidence is not admissible to prove that a clause in the mortgage by which it was made to cover "after-acquired" property was not intended to be inserted therein. [Campbell v. Edwards, 24 Gr. 152; Clarke v. Joselin, 16 O.R. 68, applied.]

Cottonwood Timber Co. v. Molsons Bank, 29 D.L.R. 29, 22 B.C.R. 541, 34 W.L.R. 999, 10 W.W.R. 1215.

PAROL EVIDENCE AS TO ADDITIONAL EQUITABLE MORTGAGE—ADMISSIBILITY.

B.C. Trust Corp. v. Aickin, 27 D.F.R. 725, 22 B.C.R. 417, 34 W.L.R. 303.

(§ VI I—569.)—EQUITABLE MORTGAGE.

The intention to create an equitable mortgage by delivery or deposit of documents of title may be established by parol evidence alone, and it is sufficient if only some or one of the material documents of title be so delivered or deposited.

Zimmerman v. Sproat, 5 D.L.R. 452, 26 O.L.R. 448.

J. TO IDENTIFY SUBJECT OR PERSON.

(§ VI J—570.)—LACK OF DEFINITE DESCRIPTION IN WRITTEN AGREEMENT—EVIDENCE TO SUPPLEMENT—ADMISSIBILITY—PURCHASER'S BREACH OF CONTRACT—DAMAGES—COSTS.

Brooks v. Fletcher, 9 O.W.N. 335.

LEGATEE AND AMOUNT NOT NAMED—PAROL TRUST—STATUTE OF FRAUDS.

A person and an amount not named in a will, but referred to therein as having been made known to the executor, may be identified by extrinsic evidence, and the bequest thereupon be established; it is not a parol trust within the Statute of Frauds.

Lemon v. Charlton, 34 D.L.R. 234, 44 N.B.R. 476. [Affirmed, 45 D.L.R. 604.]

(§ VI J—571.)—SUBJECT—IDENTITY OF.

The production for reference at the trial of what purports to be a copy of a registered plan the correctness of which alleged copy was neither admitted nor proved, is insufficient in an action for taxes, to prove that lots and subdivisions referred to in assessment rolls are identical with those shewn on the registered plans, so as to prove compliance with s. 22 of the Assessment Act (Ont.), 4 Edw. VII., c. 23, s. 22.

Sturgeon Falls v. Imperial Land Co., 7 D.L.R. 352, 31 O.L.R. 62, 23 O.W.R. 170.

Where an agreement for the sale of land is evidenced by a receipt signed by the owner, which stated that he had received from the purchaser a certain sum of money "on acct. of purchase of 3 acres of land at" a certain price per acre on a specified body of water, such description is sufficient within the Statute of Frauds to permit the admission of parol evidence for the purpose of identifying the land which evidence is that the owner and the purchaser, before the agreement was made, went to the land and there found that three of the boundary lines were clearly visible to the eye because made by natural objects, and that the other was a line dividing the land from that of an adjoining owner which was pointed out to the purchaser by the owner. [Plant v. Bourne, [1897] 2 Ch. 281, followed.]

Baxter v. Rollo, 5 D.L.R. 764, 18 B.C.R. 769, 21 W.L.R. 892, 2 W.W.R. 786.

Where the instruments relied upon to shew a contract for the sale of land described the property sold with such certainty that its identity could be ascertained, parol evidence to identify it is admissible.

Rogers v. Hewer, 1 D.L.R. 747, 5 A.L.R. 227, 19 W.L.R. 868, 1 W.W.R. 471.

(§ VI J—572)—PERSONS, IDENTITY OF.

Parol evidence is admissible in proof of the connection of separate writings so as to form a complete memorandum to satisfy the Statute of Frauds.

Bailey v. Dawson, 1 D.L.R. 487, 25 O.L.R. 387, 20 O.W.R. 908.

A bequest in the following terms: "to the party at whose house I die," may be construed in the light of the surrounding circumstances as a gift to the son-in-law of the decedent as head of the household where the testator was making his home at the time of his decease, and not to the owner of the house.

Re Woeelle, 1 D.L.R. 105, 3 O.W.N. 518, 20 O.W.R. 896.

DESCRIPTION OF PARTIES.

A true description of the contracting parties may be established by the admission of extrinsic evidence.

Newberry v. Brown, 23 D.L.R. 627, 21 B.C.R. 556, 32 W.L.R. 118, 8 W.W.R. 1283, affirming 20 D.L.R. 896.

K. CIRCUMSTANCES.

(§ VI K—575)—CIRCUMSTANCES OF SALE — DELIVERY AND PAYMENT.

Oral evidence of the circumstances of a sale, of delivery and of payment can be admitted notwithstanding the signature on the written order.

Trudeau v. Beaudet, 47 Que. S.C. 401.

L. CONCERNING RECORDS.

(§ VI L—580)—In an action to determine the boundary of a street as appears by a regularly recorded subdivision plan or plat, evidence of instructions given to surveyors who laid out the street and made the plans at the instance of a private owner of the entire tract is not admissible to contradict what is shown by the plan itself as to the intended width of the street.

Saskatoon v. Temperance Colonization Society, 8 D.L.R. 875, 22 W.L.R. 897.

BIRTH CERTIFICATE — NAME — AUTHENTICATION.

Parol evidence is admissible to prove that a certificate of birth, signed by a competent public officer in a foreign country, containing the name "Herman," refers to a defendant described in an action for annulment of marriage under the name of "Moses Harry," when the same public officer has signed the certificate of marriage of the father and mother of this defendant, and the certificate is admitted as authentic by all the parties. It is not necessary, under art. 1220 C.C. (Que.), that this certificate should be authenticated before the British Consul.

Guttman v. Goodman, 26 Que. K.B. 270.

ATTACHMENT.

Proof of the existence of a judicial proceeding, such as an attachment after judgment which has been destroyed by a party himself or by his agent, cannot be made by witnesses.

Giroux v. Martin, 24 Rev. Leg. 195.

(§ VI L—581)—DISPROVING PLEA OF GUILTY STATED IN SUMMARY CONVICTION.

On a habeas corpus motion attacking a summary conviction as upon a plea of guilty for a vagrancy offence, the defendant's affidavit is admissible to show that he did not plead guilty but had admitted only one of the essential circumstances which must concur to constitute an offence.

R. v. Sweet, 19 D.L.R. 694, 23 Can. Cr. Cas. 272, 29 W.L.R. 887, 7 W.W.R. 698.

M. CHARACTER OF PARTY.

(§ VI M—586)—AGENCY.

Parol evidence may be given to show that a contract is binding not only on those whom, on the face of it, it purports to bind, but that it also binds another, by reason that the act of one of the contracting parties in signing the agreement was in fact done as the agent of such other and is in law the act of the principal.

Morgan v. Johnson, 4 D.L.R. 643, 3 O.W.N. 1526, 22 O.W.R. 868.

Parol evidence is admissible in an action on a contract by one whose name does not appear therein, to show that the person in whose name it was made was merely an agent.

Palford v. Loyal Order of Moose, 14 D.L.R. 577, 23 Man. L.R. 641, 25 W.L.R. 868, 5 W.W.R. 452.

(§ VI M—587)—PARTNERSHIP—PAYMENT — REAL ESTATE AGENT—COMMISSIONS.

A commercial partnership, no more than a civil partnership, cannot be proved by witnesses. It is only in a case where a third person acknowledges that a partnership is his creditor or his debtor that he can prove by witnesses the existence of such partnership, but such proof is not admissible when third person has only contracted with a partner personally. (2) If a payment made to another than the creditor is valid in a case where the one who receives the payment is the actual owner of the debt, the debtor ought then to prove the existence of the rights of such creditor to accept the payment according to the rules to which the latter would be himself subject. (3) There is no commencement of proof in writing, allowing proof by witnesses of the existence of a partnership to carry on the business of real estate agents, in the admission of one of the partners that, in two later instances, he has divided with the other partner his commission upon sales made by the instrumentality of the latter.

Lamontagne v. Lafontaine, 53 Que. S.C. 326.

CREATION OF PARTNERSHIP.

A partnership agreement may be established by parol evidence, even though the partnership is to deal in lands. [Forster v. Hale, 5 Ves. 308; Dale v. Hamilton, 5 Hare 369, 2 Ph. 206; Gray v. Smith, 32 Ch. D. 208, and De Nichols v. Curlier, [1900] 2 Ch. 419, followed.]

Mac-Kissock v. Brown, 10 D.L.R. 472, 23 Man. L.R. 348, 23 W.L.R. 782, 4 W.W.R. 60.

CONTRACTS—PAROL EVIDENCE—CONDITION.

Long v. Smith, 23 O.L.R. 121, 18 O.W.R. 88.

PAROL AGREEMENT SUPERSEDED BY WRITTEN

CONTRACT—IMPLIED OBLIGATION—FORMAL RELEASE OF ALL CLAIMS.

Wicks v. Miller, 21 Man. L.R. 534, reversing 17 W.L.R. 314.

AGREEMENT UNDER SEAL—COLLATERAL PAROL

AGREEMENT—EVIDENCE—TRUST.

Donald v. Manus, 10 E.L.R. 200.

ORAL EVIDENCE TO CONTRADICT WRITTEN

AGREEMENT—SPECIFIC CLAUSE IN WRITING INCONSISTENT WITH CONDITION.

Carter v. C.N.R. Co., 24 O.L.R. 370, 19 O.W.R. 853.

LOST DEED—SECONDARY EVIDENCE—WHEN ADMISSIBLE.

Eaton v. Crooks, 3 A.L.R. 1.

"READY PRINTS" FOR NEWSPAPER—ADVERTISEMENTS—ORAL EVIDENCE TO VARY

WRITTEN AGREEMENT.

Winnipeg Saturday Post v. Couzens, 21 Man. L.R. 562, 19 W.L.R. 255.

BILL OF SALE—SECONDARY EVIDENCE—ORAL

EVIDENCE OF CONVERSATIONS.

Evans v. Evans, 19 W.L.R. 237.

VII. Opinions and conclusions.

A. IN GENERAL.

(§ VII A—500)—EXPERT TESTIMONY—

DIFFERENCE IN VIEWPOINT OF EXPERTS

—WEIGHT.

Upon a question of negligence by a municipality, in omitting to take the advice of competent engineers in constructing a bridge, the ex post facto expert opinion of such engineers, although endorsing the methods adopted without their advice, is entitled to less weight owing to the difference in viewpoint of such experts.

Guelph Worsted Spinning Co. v. Guelph; Guelph Carpet Mills Co. v. Guelph, 18 D.L.R. 73, 30 O.L.R. 466.

OPINION WITNESSES—STATUTORY LIMITATIONS AS TO NUMBER—APPLICABILITY TO EXPROPRIATION AWARDS.

Unless a party brings his own witness within the terms of s. 10 of the Evidence Act, Alta., and makes him an opinion witness, such witness is not to be counted as one of the three witnesses who may be called upon either side to give opinion evidence merely because the opposite party brought out his opinion on cross-examination; but if the party who called him proceeds to re-examine in respect of such opinion, the witness is to be counted as his witness giving opinion evidence under the statute. Section 10 of the Evidence Act, Alta., limiting to three the number of witnesses on each side to be called to give opinion evidence applies to an arbitration under the Railway Act, Alta., 1907, c. 8, to fix compensation for land compulsorily taken.

Can. North. West. R. Co. v. Moore, 23 D.L.R. 646, 8 A.L.R. 379, 7 W.W.R. 1327, 30 W.L.R. 676.

An "expert" is one who, by experience, has acquired special or peculiar knowledge of the subject of which he undertakes to testify, and it does not matter whether such knowledge has been acquired by study of scientific works or by practical observation.

Rice v. Sockett, 8 D.L.R. 84, 27 O.L.R. 410.

Upon the proper interpretation of s. 10 of the Alberta Evidence Act, 1910 (2nd sess.), c. 3, in the event of a trial or inquiry involving several facts, upon which opinion evidence may be given, a party is entitled to call three witnesses to give such evidence upon each of such facts, and he is not limited to three of such witnesses for the whole trial. Section 10, is an attempt to put a limit to what is commonly known as expert evidence, and it should not be extended to all evidence which might literally be called opinion evidence, but should be given a fair interpretation so as to make it reasonable and workable.

Re Scamen v. C.N.R. Co., 6 D.L.R. 142, 5 A.L.R. 376, 22 W.L.R. 105, 2 W.W.R. 1006.

The evidence of expert witnesses should not necessarily prevail over that of disinterested nonexpert witnesses.

Wilson v. H. G. Vogel Co.; H. G. Vogel Co. v. Gardiner; Gardiner v. Locomotive & Machine Co., 4 D.L.R. 196.

IN GENERAL.

A party can only demand an expert or an order to his adversary to appoint an expert by means of an ordinary and direct action. The fact that the applicant, instead of stating the grounds of his claim in a declaration proceeds by the usual petition, is not a ground of nullity if this petition is accompanied by the ordinary writ of summons. The architect is an employee of the person for whom he superintends the construction of a building and cannot be appointed expert for such person in respect to said work.

Carboneau v. Matton, 13 Que. P.R. 287. EXPERTS—EXAMINATION OF WITNESSES.

The court appointing experts has a right to order that no witness shall be examined by them or to limit the evidence in the terms of art. 404, C.C.P. 2.

Lalonde v. Fickler, 50 Que. S.C. 453.

D. PHYSICAL CONDITIONS; MEDICAL TESTIMONY; INTOXICATION.

(§ VII D—606)—SUBMITTING TO MEDICAL EXAMINATION.

No right exists at common law to compel the victim of an accident, who sues for bodily injuries, to submit to a medical examination.

Hunt v. Donnelly, 17 Que. P.R. 341.

PROOF OF DISABILITY—WORKMEN'S COMPENSATION ACT.

The proof of partial permanent disability through the evidence of doctors who examined the victim is legal, even if in their appreciation those doctors are guided by the data of authors.

St. Maurice Lumber Co. v. Cadorette, 25 Que. K.B. 410.

Opinions of expert witnesses, such as those of physicians, are admissible as evidence of reduced capacity to work, under the provisions of the statute respecting accidents to workmen.

Jennings v. Brissette, 25 Que. K.B. 21.

(§ VII D—607)—TESTIMONY OF MEDICAL EXPERTS—STATUTORY NUMBER.

Section 10 of the Evidence Act, R.S.O. 1914, c. 76, which prohibits the calling of more than three expert witnesses without leave of the court, is not violated if in connection with the statutory number of experts there is also given the testimony of the attending physician describing the condition of the injured after the accident and that of the physician who made an examination for insurance, but not being regarded as expert witnesses.

Burrows v. G.T.R. Co., 23 D.L.R. 173, 18 Can. Ry. Cas. 183, 34 O.L.R. 142.

(§ VII D—609)—OPINIONS OF VETERINARY SURGEONS—CAUSE OF DEATH OF FOXES.

The defendant, to establish its defence that the foxes died from natural causes and not from its negligence, called a veterinary surgeon, who stated that the conditions he found in the lungs, on a postmortem examination, showed that the foxes died of pneumonia and not from suffocation, and gave his reasons for his conclusion; the plaintiff, in answer or rebuttal, called another veterinary, and, on the evidence of the defendant's veterinary being read to him, stated that the symptoms described would not necessarily shew that death resulted from pneumonia, and were quite consistent with the supposition that it resulted from suffocation. Held, that the evidence in answer or rebuttal was properly received.

Trenholm v. Dominion Express Co., 43 N.B.R. 98.

E. SANITY; CAPACITY; CHARACTER.

(§ VII E—615)—The evidence of one medical man that a person is of unsound mind is not sufficient upon which to base an application for the appointment of a guardian of his estate on the ground that he is insane, at least two being required.

Re George, 8 D.L.R. 731, 22 W.L.R. 885, 3 W.W.R. 743.

OPINION OF EXPERT.

The fact that an expert witness giving only opinion evidence for the defence was not cross-examined for the prosecution, nor was his evidence contradicted, does not place an obligation upon the Trial Judge to direct the jury that they are bound to accept the evidence as correct; it is properly left to the jury to accept or reject such opinion evidence.

R. v. Moke, 38 D.L.R. 441, 12 A.L.R. 18, 28 Can. Cr. Cas. 296, [1917] 3 W.W.R. 575.

F. VALUES; DAMAGES.

(§ VII F—620)—VALUE ON EXPROPRIATION—AFFIDAVIT OF VALUE ON LAND TRANSFER.

Affidavits of value of real estate filed on the transfer of same under the Land Titles Act (Sask.), for the purpose of fixing the fees payable on the transfer will not be taken as evidence of the value of the land on its expropriation, but are admissible for the purpose of confronting the deponent in cross-examination if called as a witness in the expropriation proceedings.

The King v. Ferrie, 14 D.L.R. 601, 14 Can. Ex. 260.

EXPERT EVIDENCE—ENGINEER'S ESTIMATES FROM PLANS.

A finding at the trial on the quantum of damages based on an engineer's estimate of quantities ascertained from plans will be reversed on appeal where a discrepancy, unnoted at the trial, clearly appears between the condition of the work as shewn by the testimony and that indicated by the plans, if the alterations in the work subsequent to the plans had necessarily made an estimate of quantities on the basis of the plans unreliable.

Neros v. Swanson, 16 D.L.R. 842, 28 W.L.R. 266, varying 1 D.L.R. 833.

QUANTUM VALEAT—MORTUARY TABLES.

The testimony of a witness in regard to estimates based on mortuary tables shewing the expectancy of life and the cost of an annuity at given ages is admissible, quantum valeat, though the witness is not capable of explaining the basis upon which the tables had been prepared. [Rowley v. London & N.W.R. Co., L.R. 8 Ex. 221; Vicksburg & M. R. Co. v. Putnam, 118 U.S.R. 545, applied.]

C.P.R. Co. v. Jackson, 27 D.L.R. 86, 52 Can. S.C.R. 281, affirming 24 D.L.R. 380, 9 A.L.R. 137, 31 W.L.R. 726.

(§ VII F—621)—SERVICES.

Affidavits of counsel expressing opinions regarding the propriety of a solicitor's conduct in obtaining money from his client as a retainer are most improper on an application by the client for delivery of a bill of costs and for an account of money handed by the client to the solicitor.

Re Solicitor (No. 2), 4 D.L.R. 217, 3 O.W.N. 1274, 22 O.W.R. 156.

G. CONTINGENT RESULTS; WHAT MIGHT HAVE BEEN.

(§ VII G—625)—While the general rule is that in a civil action any fact which tends to affect the amount of damages is relevant and admissible, opinion evidence is not admissible in support of a claim for special damgr. (c shew had tract with for 99P

Br
226.
In pass be re upon rates
-sul is from obtai
Da
Yuck
13 C
H. L
(§ V
The lands be es torne court havin speci
T
387, 1
(§ V
A juris and t opini prefe of a Un
R. 86
In man the n exper whic
of the
Cr. C
2 W.V
In
of the
to be testin is evi place suffici
Zeh
Man,
239.
FOREI
Wh
part law i dition missi
books

damage for delay in delivery of a chattel ex. gr. (a dredge) under a contract of sale, to show a mere probability that the purchaser, had he obtained the earlier delivery contracted for, might have obtained a contract with certain commissioners for public works for the use thereof but was deprived of the opportunity of so doing by the delay.

Brown v. Hope, 2 D.L.R. 615, 17 B.C.R. 226, 20 W.L.R. 907, 2 W.W.R. 153.

In determining whether the freight and passenger tolls of a railway company should be reduced, the Railway Board will not act upon the supposition that a reduction in rates would, by attracting additional traffic, result in an increase of earnings where it is impossible to discover any source from which such additional traffic could be obtained.

Dawson Board of Trade v. White Pass & Yukon R. Co., 2 D.L.R. 532, 21 W.L.R. 7, 13 Can. Ry. Cas. 527.

H. LEGAL QUESTIONS; MEANING OF TERMS; FOREIGN LAWS.

(§ VII II—631)—ABSTRACT OF TITLE.

The legal effect of an abstract of title to lands situated in a foreign country cannot be established by the conclusions of an attorney practising therein, but it is for the court to construe the effect of all documents, having in view the foreign law with respect to them as proved by him.

Tucker v. Jones, 25 D.L.R. 278, 8 S.L.R. 387, 33 W.L.R. 1, 9 W.W.R. 620.

(§ VII II—632)—FOREIGN LAWS.

A question as to the law of a foreign jurisdiction is one of fact and not of law, and the court should, therefore, accept the opinion of an expert in the foreign law in preference to its own upon the construction of a statute of the foreign jurisdiction.

United States v. Welber (No. 2), 5 D.L.R. 866, 20 Can. Cr. Cas. 6, 11 E.L.R. 379.

In a prosecution for bigamy the clergyman who, in a foreign country performed the marriage ceremony is competent to give expert evidence regarding the statute from which he derived his authority.

The King v. Bleiler, 1 D.L.R. 878, 19 Can. Cr. Cas. 249, 4 A.L.R. 320, 21 W.L.R. 18, 2 W.W.R. 5.

In an action for crim. con., the admission of the defendant, that he knew the plaintiff to be married, coupled with the affirmative testimony of those present at the ceremony, is evidence of the marriage, though it took place in a foreign country, but it is not sufficient to prove the foreign marriage law.

Zlralah v. Shatney, 7 D.L.R. 554, 22 Man. L.R. 521, 22 W.L.R. 336, 3 W.W.R. 239.

FOREIGN LAWS—EXTRADITION.

Where the expert evidence given on the part of the prosecution to prove the foreign law is contested by the accused in extradition proceedings, the extradition commissioner may refer to the foreign text books and reports bearing upon the subject.

[Bremer v. Freeman, 10 Moore P.C. 306, applied.]

Re Goodman, 28 D.L.R. 197, 26 Can. Cr. Cas. 84, 34 W.L.R. 531, 10 W.W.R. 781. [Affirmed 29 D.L.R. 725, 26 Can. Cr. Cas. 254, 26 Man. L.R. 537, 34 W.L.R. 1091.]

I. ESTIMATES OF QUANTITY; SPEED; TIME. (§ VII I—637)—SPEED OF AUTOMOBILE—EVIDENCE BASED ON SPEEDOMETER.

Evidence of the driver of an automobile and of his wife, as to the speed of the car, based on a shewing of a speedometer, is to be preferred in a prosecution for operating a motor vehicle at an unlawful speed, to mere opinion evidence.

R. v. Barker, 12 D.L.R. 346, 21 Can. Cr. Cas. 267, 47 N.S.R. 248, 12 E.L.R. 535.

J. DANGER; SKILL; NEGLIGENCE. (§ VII J—643)—SHUNTING TRAIN—COUPLING PIN—INJURY TO EMPLOYEE.

The undisputed evidence that an employee of a railway company who was employed to heat the cars in the railway yard, while attending to his duties, was going from a second-class car to the baggage car for coal, that as he was reaching for the door of the baggage car the train suddenly stopped, the baggage car and the second class car parted from the breaking of a knuckle pin, the employee being thrown to the ground and injured by the wheels of the baggage car, is sufficient evidence to justify the jury in finding that the injuries were the result of the negligence of the company in stopping the train too suddenly, when air brakes and safety chains were not in use.

Worseley v. C.N.R., 43 D.L.R. 287, 23 Can. Ry. Cas. 385, 11 S.L.R. 473, [1918] 3 W.W.R. 638.

L. APPEARANCE; IDENTITY; QUALITY; AUTHENTICITY.

(§ VII L—658)—HEATING APPARATUS. Where the litigation is about the capacity of an installation for the heating of a church, and the proof produced by the parties does not establish any scientific test of the heating apparatus, the court should order the facts to be verified by experts and persons skilled in this matter.

St. Alexis v. Record Foundry & Machine Co., 49 Que. S.C. 323.

M. HANDWRITING.

(§ VII M—660)—PROOF OF TESTIMONY OF EXPERTS—COMPARISON.

Under the law governing proof in the Province of Quebec, the testimony of experts in handwriting by comparison is admissible.

Pratte v. Voisard, 44 D.L.R. 157, 57 Can. S.C.R. 184.

OPINIONS—COMPETENCY OF WITNESS.

The manager of a bank who has handled commercial paper signed by the alleged makers of a note is a competent witness to give his opinion as to the genuineness of the signatures to such note.

Langley v. Joudrey, 13 D.L.R. 563, 13 E.

L.R. 135. [Affirmed on other grounds, Langley v. Joudrey (No. 2), 15 D.L.R. 10.]

SIGNATURE—HANDWRITING EXPERT—PROOF.
Proof by comparison of writing, made by a single expert, is legal, but is insufficient to establish the authenticity of a signature denied under oath by the person against whom it is pleaded. [Deschenes v. Langlois, 15 B.R. 388, followed.]

Banque Nationale v. Tremblay, 46 Que. S.C. 304.

INTENT TO DEFEAT INSURANCE COMPANY—WIFEFULLY SETTING FIRE.
The King v. Beardsley, 18 Can. Cr. Cas. 389.

FOREIGN MARRIAGE—EVIDENCE—ADMISSION OF ACCUSED—FOREIGN LAW—PRISUMPTION—JUDICIAL NOTICE.
R. v. Naoum, 24 O.L.R. 396.

(§ VII M—661) — COMPARISON OF HANDWRITING—FORGERY.

Evidence by comparison of writing should always be received by the courts with great care; the test of genuineness ought to be the resemblances between the writings compared in their general character and not in the manner of forming particular letters. The most efficacious means of shewing the general character of handwriting where evidence by comparison of handwriting is produced, is by witnesses who have seen the accused write when his mode of writing was not in question.

R. v. Ranger, 30 Can. Cr. Cas. 65, 53 Que. S.C. 423.

RIGHT OF TRIAL JUDGE TO COMPARE.

It is competent for a judge and jury to compare the handwriting of a disputed document with others which are in evidence in the cause and which are admitted or proven to be in the handwriting of the supposed writer.

Rohoel v. Darwish, 13 A.L.R. 180, [1918] 1 W.W.R. 627.

FORGERY — CORROBORATION — COMPARISON OF HANDWRITING—VALUE OF EXPERT EVIDENCE.

The King v. Henderson, 18 Can. Cr. Cas. 245.

VIII. Confessions; testimony or evidence wrongfully obtained.

(§ VIII—670)—CRIMINAL LAW — POLICE PHYSICIAN QUESTIONING PRISONER TO DETERMINE ON SANITY.

Answers to questions put to a prisoner in custody by a police physician who put the questions merely for the purpose of forming an opinion upon his mental condition are admissible to prove him sane where they were not in the nature of admissions or confessions as regards the charge against him, although no warning was given the accused that what he might say could be used in evidence against him.

R. v. Anderson, 16 D.L.R. 203, 7 A.L.R.

102, 22 Can. Cr. Cas. 455, 26 W.L.R. 783, 5 W.W.R. 1052.

A distinction is to be drawn between a solemn confession made before a justice of the peace or before any person having such authority over the accused as will bring the latter to believe that any promises made to him will be observed, and a confession made at any other time and under different circumstances.

R. v. Cummings, 5 D.L.R. 86.

An admission of the prisoner made on the witness stand and a letter written by him saying, among other things, "I can't marry you now," and making reference to procuring medicine for the girl's pregnancy is corroborative of a charge of seduction under promise of marriage.

The King v. Comeau, 5 D.L.R. 250, 11 E.L.R. 37, 104, 19 Can. Cr. Cas. 350, 46 N.S.R. 450.

PRIOR CAUTIONING BY POLICE CONSTABLE.

Answers made by the prisoner to questions propounded by the police at the police station are none the less admissible by reason of the fact that the usual caution was given by a constable while on the way there with the prisoner and that the latter was not again cautioned at the police station on his arrival there a few minutes later, if nothing was done to take away the effect of the caution. [R. v. Elliot, 3 Can. Cr. Cas. 95, 31 O.R. 14, and Reg. v. Day, 20 O.R. 209, followed.]

R. v. Wallace, 24 Can. Cr. Cas. 158, 20 B.C.R. 97.

VOLUNTARY STATEMENTS.

A statement voluntarily made by the accused to a police officer after the usual caution on his arrest on a criminal charge is admissible on his trial upon another criminal charge not connected with the first.

R. v. Van Horst, 24 Can. Cr. Cas. 157, 20 B.C.R. 81.

ADMISSION BY PRISONER TO CONSTABLE ON SUBSEQUENT OCCASION TO THAT ON WHICH HE WAS CAUTIONED.

R. v. Bela Singh, 25 Can. Cr. Cas. 169, 7 W.W.R. 603.

INTERROGATION BY POLICE—REPETITION OF STATEMENT AFTER CAUTION.

Where a person in custody as a material witness is interrogated by the police without being cautioned and thereupon makes admissions implicating himself in the crime, his repetition of the same statement before the same officers on another occasion, after being cautioned that he is not obliged to answer, but that if he does so, his statement may be used against him, will not be admitted if he was not further cautioned that his previous statements could not be used and that he need not repeat them or say anything further unless he so desired.

R. v. Kong, 24 Can. Cr. Cas. 142, 20 B. C.R. 71.

CONFESSIONS.

The admission of misconduct by the wife, defendant in an action en séparation de corps for adultery, may be proved by the plain art.

Ha
(§ V
In stat that black misu magi what with missi
tiff.
relev provi
such Dic
17 B
553.
A the s enqui from in ev trial untat enqui
charg of a then
the a ch the d ing i quent which
R.
Cas.
TEST
I
Th exam signm ment
sible char unles to an woul
other Cana or in 2nd the e irreg
and
3 Ter
R.
182.
8 W.
TEST An
with the c
the c plaintiff without violating the provisions of art. 186 C.C. (Que.) and art. 1006 C.C.P.

Hamilton v. Church, 42 Que. S.C. 233.

(§ VIII—671)—TESTIMONY AT PRELIMINARY INQUIRY.

In an action for libel complaining of the statement in a report of a Police Court trial that the plaintiff had been found guilty of blackmail, where the defence is an honest misunderstanding of what was said by the magistrate, and an apology, questions as to what was said about the plaintiff by the witnesses in the Police Court are not admissible in cross-examination of the plaintiff. Where Police Court proceedings are relevant in an action the proper method of proving them is to put in the record of such proceedings.

Dickinson v. "The World," 5 D.L.R. 148, 17 B.C.R. 401, 21 W.L.R. 529, 2 W.W.R. 553.

A statement made by the prisoner, after the statutory caution, upon a preliminary enquiry being held upon a charge of escape from custody will, if relevant, be admitted in evidence against him upon a subsequent trial for murder. A statement made voluntarily by a person upon a preliminary enquiry on an offence with which he was charged, and in which he gave an account of a shooting connected with the charge then being inquired into and admitted firing the shot, will be admitted in evidence upon a charge of murder laid against him after the death of the person injured by the shooting although such death occurred subsequent to the preliminary enquiry upon which the admission was made.

R. v. James, 4 D.L.R. 717, 19 Can. Cr. Cas. 391, 17 B.C.R. 163, 21 W.L.R. 563.

TESTIMONY OF ACCUSED IN PREVIOUS CIVIL PROCEEDINGS.

The evidence of the accused upon his examination taken under s. 52 of the Assignments Act, Alta., following his assignment for the benefit of creditors, is admissible against him on the trial of a criminal charge of obtaining credit on false pretences unless on the examination he has objected to answer on the ground that the answer would tend to criminate him or upon some other of the grounds referred to in the Canada Evidence Act, R.S.C. c. 145, s. 5, or in the Alberta Evidence Act, 1910, Alta., 2nd session, c. 3, s. 7, and this although the examination proceedings may have been irregular. [R. v. Widdop, L.R. 2 C.C.R. 3, and R. v. Van Meter, 11 Can. Cr. Cas. 207, 3 Terr. L.R. 416, applied.]

R. v. Graham, 21 D.L.R. 513, 8 A.L.R. 182, 24 Can. Cr. Cas. 54, 31 W.L.R. 117, 8 W.W.R. 460.

TESTIMONY AT CORONER'S INQUEST.

An answer given by a prisoner charged with murder, to a question put to him by the coroner in a conversation held before the opening of the inquest, is voluntarily made, and admissible against him on the trial.

Trépanier v. The King, 19 Can. Cr. Cas. 290, 18 Rev. de Jur. 177.

(§ VIII—673)—MIXED QUESTION OF LAW AND FACT.

An admission of the first marriage is to be received with caution on a prosecution for bigamy, because of the motives which might induce such a representation to be made whether true or not, and because it is an admission of a mixed question of law and fact.

The King v. Naoum, 19 Can. Cr. Cas. 102, 24 O.L.R. 396.

(§ VIII—674)—PROOF THAT VOLUNTARY.

An entirely voluntary confession by the accused made to one in authority and without interrogation by the person in authority, is admissible although no caution or formal warning was given the accused. A confession made to one not in authority in the presence of a person in authority need not be preceded by a warning, if it is shewn affirmatively that the confession was free and voluntary.

The King v. Hoo Sam, 1 D.L.R. 569, 19 Can. Cr. Cas. 259, 5 S.L.R. 189, 20 W.L.R. 571, 1 W.W.R. 1049.

A confession made in the office of the chief detective of the city, in his presence, and that of his assistant and one or two newspaper men who happened to be there, without pressure upon the accused, or threats or promises of immunity, but upon his own initiative and after he had been warned by the chief detective in the following words: "Now, I am going to ask you a few questions. Make a statement if you want to; but I am going to tell you that you are not obliged to make one, but if you do, it will be taken down and may be used in connection with your trial," is admissible in evidence on the trial of the accused.

R. v. Cummings, 5 D.L.R. 86.

INDUCING FELLOW-PRISONER TO ELICIT STATEMENT.

The admissibility of a confession in a criminal case is to be determined by the evidence given at the trial, and where a confession had been admitted in evidence as not having been shewn to have been induced by a person in authority upon the facts then deposited to, and an application after conviction for leave to appeal upon the question of law under Cr. Code, s. 1015, will not be granted upon the ground, supported by affidavits, that the fellow-prisoner who testified to the confession by the accused had been induced to obtain the confession by a detective acting in the interests of the prosecution, but not present when the confession was made.

R. v. Farduto, 10 D.L.R. 669, 19 Rev. Leg. 165.

INCrimINATING STATEMENTS MADE TO DETECTIVE—PRISONER NOT CAUTIONED.

Incriminating statements made by a prisoner to a detective who did not caution the prisoner, will not be admitted in evidence on the hearing of an extradition charge, without evidence to shew that they were made voluntarily.

United States v. Wrenn, 10 D.L.R. 452, 21 Can. Cr. Cas. 119.

SUBORDINATE FACT.

An acknowledgment of a subordinate fact directly involving guilt and not essential to the crime charged is not a "confession" within the rules by which evidence of a statement by way of confession made to a person in authority may be received only where shewn to have been made freely and voluntarily.

R. v. Hurd, 10 D.L.R. 475, 21 Can. Cr. Cas. 98, 6 A.L.R. 112, 23 W.L.R. 812, 4 W.V.R. 185.

Before the Crown introduces statements made by a prisoner while in custody as evidence of an admission or confession, the onus is on the Crown to shew that there has been no inducement given to make those statements. [R. v. Bruce, 12 Can. Cr. Cas. 275, 13 B.C.R. 1, followed.]

R. v. Bugh Singh, 12 D.L.R. 626, 18 B.C.R. 144, 21 Can. Cr. Cas. 323, 49 C.L.J. 594, 24 W.L.R. 941.

WRITTEN CONFESSION.

A written confession of his defalcations, signed by the accused after it had been read over and explained to him, is admissible, although no part of it but the signature was in his handwriting, if it be also shewn that no inducement was held out or threat made to obtain his signature, and that the confession was therefore a voluntary one.

DePaoli v. The King, 28 D.L.R. 378, 25 Can. Cr. Cas. 256, 24 Que. K.B. 525.

Where the master accompanied by a police constable threatened his servant, saying "you will be arrested if you do not say where the stolen goods are," the statement made by the servant should be excluded from being put in evidence against him because it was not made freely and voluntarily. [R. v. Thompson, [1893] 2 Q.B. 12; Ibrahim v. The King, [1914] A.C. 599; R. v. Ryan, 9 Can. Cr. Cas. 347, applied.]

R. v. De Mesquito, 26 D.L.R. 464, 21 B.C.R. 524, 24 Can. Cr. Cas. 407, 32 W.L.R. 368, 9 W.V.R. 113.

IRREGULAR CAUTION BY POLICE.

Every case reserved as to the admissibility of a statement made by an accused person while under arrest must be decided according to its own circumstances; and where the statements made by the accused under arrest for murder were not confessions of guilt, but were intended to justify the killing as done in self-defence and were, in substance, repeated by the accused in giving evidence on his own behalf at the trial, the Court of Appeal, acting under Cr. Code, s. 1019, should affirm the verdict whether or not the form of caution given by the police, before the admission was made, was strictly regular in telling him not only that he need not make any statement and that if he did so it might be used against him, but that he had "nothing to hope for and nothing to fear by any statement he might make," where the Court of Appeal finds the circumstances to be such that the case against the accused was clearly made out apart from the admissions to the police officers and their admissibility was most unlikely to have affected the verdict.

R. v. Spain, 36 D.L.R. 522, 28 Can. Cr. Cas. 113, 27 Man. L.R. 473, [1917] 2 W.V.R. 465.

In order that evidence of a confession of crime by an accused person may be admitted against him, his mind should be disabused of all idea of hope of securing leniency by making it, and he must not be led to expect that some benefit may be obtained by making such confession. In order that evidence of a confession of guilt made by one charged with crime, may be admitted on the trial therefor, it must be first affirmatively shewn that it was freely and voluntarily made after the accused had been warned that what he said might be used against him, and, where there is any doubt as to the sufficiency of such warning, the evidence of the confession should not be admitted especially on a trial of a person for his life. A confession of crime is not voluntarily made where a person accused of murder, who had for nearly a week been on a drunken debauch, while confined in a tavern crowded with curiosity seekers, was privately plied with questions by detectives, and who, after being told that his wife and son had made statements contradictory to his own, said he would tell all, and made the alleged confession after he was warned that what he said might be used for or against him. Evidence of a confession of crime is inadmissible against a prisoner where, before making it, he was informed by the officers having him in charge, that whatever he might say would be taken down and might be used "for or against him."

A confession of crime made by a person accused therewith, in connection with an appeal for assistance from his plight, is not admissible against him.

Trepianier v. The King, 19 Can. Cr. Cas. 290, 18 Rev. de Jur. 177.

INSUFFICIENCY OF CONFESSION TO SUPPORT CONVICTION FOR CARNAL KNOWLEDGE OF CHILD.

R. v. Blyth, 28 Can. Cr. Cas. 20, 11 O.W.N. 406.

CROWN USING ONE AFTER COMMITMENT FOR TRIAL AS COMPELLABLE WITNESS AGAINST THE OTHER.

Ex parte Ferguson, 17 Can. Cr. Cas. 437.

ARREST ON MINOR CHARGE—INTERROGATION OF PRISONER BY POLICE OFFICER—WARNING TO ACCUSED WITHOUT STATING THAT HOMICIDE MIGHT BE CHARGED.

The King v. Rossi, 17 Can. Cr. Cas. 182.

STATUTORY WARNING.

When the prosecution offers evidence of an alleged confession made by an accused to a police officer, it is the duty of the presiding judge to enquire into all the circumstances in order to ascertain whether the confession was made freely, and, if he finds that it was not, he must reject the evidence. [R. v. McGraw, 12 Can. Cr. Cas. 253, followed.] The onus is upon the prosecution to show that the statement or confession was made voluntarily, and the proper mode of proving that it was so made is by negating the possible inducements by way of hope or fear that would have made the statement inadmissible, and not merely by taking the affirmative answer of the officer under oath that the statement was made voluntarily. [R. v. Tutty, 9 Can. Cr. Cas. 544, followed.] The court should, perhaps, be more astute to see that the rules as to the statutory warning to a prisoner had been observed before it admits an alleged confession in evidence in cases where the accused is undefended than in those where counsel is employed.

R. v. Sanavitch, [1917] 3 W.W.R. 568.

IX. Admissions.

(§ IX—675)—OWNERSHIP OF LANDS.

Where the question at issue was whether the decedent, a former owner from whom no conveyance could be shown, was or was not the owner at the time of his death, his admission that he had sold the land to defendant's predecessors, whom the evidence showed he had let into possession and who with their successors had since exercised acts of ownership, such as logging on it, is admissible on defendant's behalf in the absence of any written evidence of the sale as a statement against decedent's interest to support the theory that he had sold the land and no longer claimed any title or interest therein as against plaintiff's claim of title under conveyances from such decedent's heirs taken with notice of such alleged sale and adverse possession; the admission was not in derogation of any grant made by the decedent, and as the plaintiff had identified himself in interest with the decedent, the latter's statement was admissible in evidence whether or not he was in possession at the time the admission was made. [Ivatt v. Finch, 1 Taunt. 141, applied.]

Halifax Power Co. v. Christie, 23 D.L.R. 481, 48 N.S.R. 264. [Appeal to Canada Supreme Court dismissed October 12, 1913 (unreported to date).]

ADMISSIONS BY CROWN—TITLE BY POSSESSION.

An instrument constituting an admission touching the title to lands claimed by adverse possession, made by the only executive authority competent to make it on behalf of the Crown, is admissible in evidence against the Crown, and is prima facie evidence of title by possession.

Tweedie v. The King, 27 D.L.R. 53, 52 Can. S.C.R. 197, reversing 22 D.L.R. 498, 15 Can. Ex. 177.

AFFIDAVIT—VALUE OF LAND.

An affidavit by an owner of land whose property has been expropriated, made by him prior to the expropriation, when he was acting in the capacity of an administrator, should not be received in evidence against him as an admission of its value at the time of expropriation.

Canadian North. West. R. v. Moore, 31 D.L.R. 456, 53 Can. S.C.R. 519, 10 W.W.R. 1231, affirming 23 D.L.R. 646, 8 A.L.R. 379.

CONFESSION—EQUIVOCAL STATEMENT.

A statement made by the accused will not avail as an admission of guilt if it be an equivocal one such as a request for forgiveness for "what he had done," made at a time at which no accusation was made against him of any criminal offence, and when it did not appear that he knew that he was suspected of the alleged offence.

R. v. Blyth, 28 Can. Cr. Cas. 20, 11 O. W.N. 406.

IMPEACHMENT OF.

One cannot, because of his negligence, impeach a prior declaration made by him.

Rivet v. Beauvais, 51 Que. S.C. 83.

WRITING.

Only complete admission of the party can replace the writing mentioned in art. 1235 C.C. (Que.).

Burtner Coal Co. v. Gano Moore Co. and C.P.R., 24 Rev. Leg. 435.

ACKNOWLEDGMENT OF LIABILITY—MASTER AND SERVANT—NEGLECT.

The payment of hospital bills and money advances by an employer to his employees, who was the victim of an accident in the course of his work, does not constitute an acknowledgment of liability, but are merely acts of generosity and sympathy.

Botara v. Montreal Locomotive Works, 54 Que. S.C. 359.

(§ IX—677)—ADMISSION BY INFANT—DELITS.

A minor is not bound by the admission or the acknowledgment that he has made delits or quasi delits in the absence of any other proof of it.

Lachapelle v. Guay, 47 Que. S.C. 346.

(§ IX—678)—ADMISSION IN PLEADINGS.

A statement of defence by an administrator of a deceased contractor, in an action to enforce a mechanics' lien for materials furnished in his lifetime, that the books and records of the deceased showed that the plaintiff furnished materials to a certain amount, which was the true balance due by the deceased, and that the administrator had no knowledge of the rights and liabilities of the parties, and that he submitted himself to the court for direction, does not amount to an admission of liability on the part of the estate, but only to a contention that it should not be held for a greater amount.

Canadian Equipment & Supply Co. v. Bell, 11 D.L.R. 820, 24 W.L.R. 415.

CONTRACT OF SALE—ADMISSIONS OF AGENT OF VENDEE.

Admissions by an agent of the vendee made months after the transaction had taken place to a person who had nothing whatever to do with it, are no part of the res gesta and are not admissible to establish a contract of sale of goods and their delivery.

LeBlanc v. LaPorte, 10 E.L.R. 261.

X. Hearsay, declaration; res gestae.

A. IN GENERAL; PEDIGREE; REPUTATION.

(§ X A—680)—STATEMENTS OF THIRD PERSON—NEGLIGENCE.

Evidence by a plaintiff as to statements made to him are admissible against him as proof of negligence by him, as establishing his knowledge of the existence of conditions he should have guarded against.

Stowe v. G.T.P.R. Co., 39 D.L.R. 127, [1918] 1 W.W.R. 546. [Affirmed by 49 D.L.R. 684.]

PEDIGREE — REPUTATION — ADMINISTRATION—NEXT OF KIN—MATTER OF PEDIGREE—HEARSAY—DECLARATIONS ADMITTED—COSTS.

Re Woods, Brown v. Carter, 4 O.W.N. 388, 23 O.W.R. 353.

CONTRIBUTIONS FOR MOTHER'S SUPPORT—MOTHER'S LETTERS ACKNOWLEDGING.

Moffit v. C.P.R. Co., 2 A.L.R. 483.

(§ X A—681)—PROOF OF RELATIONSHIP AND SURVIVORSHIP.

Evidence of a witness that he is a member of a firm of bankers who had acted as agents for a family and had had business relations with it for over fifty years, that he personally knew the plaintiff and from the knowledge and belief derived from such knowledge of the family he believes the plaintiff to be a daughter and the only surviving child of such family, is proper proof of the relationship.

Simpson v. Malcolm, 43 N.B.R. 79.

(§ X A—683)—BOUNDARIES.

The location of a township boundary line may be proved by hearsay evidence.

Bochner v. Hirtle, 6 D.L.R. 548, 46 N.S.R. 231, 11 E.L.R. 222.

DECLARATIONS AS TO OCCUPANCY—ADVERSE POSSESSION—WHEN ADMISSIBLE.

A declaration of one in adverse possession, made upon the land by its then occupant, is evidence in support of a claim of title by adverse possession; provided, such declaration is apparently made in good faith and goes to shew (a) the character, or (b) the extent, of the declarant's occupancy; but:—Semble, such a declaration is not admissible to prove simply the date when the declarant first acquired possession, or for how long a time he held it.

Merseureau v. Swim, 42 N.B.R. 497.

(§ X A—684)—GIRL'S AGE IN SEDUCTION CHARGE.

The girl's own statement of her age as nineteen is not competent evidence on a charge under Cr. Code, s. 212 of seduction of a girl under twenty-one under promise of marriage nor does s. 984 (2) enable the jury to infer a girl's age from her appearance except in charges of crimes against children under sixteen years of age referred to in s. 984.

R. v. Hauberg, 24 Can. Cr. Cas. 297, 8 S.L.R. 239, 31 W.L.R. 770, 8 W.W.R. 1130. PROOF OF DEATH BY LETTERS OF ADMINISTRATION.

Letters of administration are admissible to prove the death of the intestate. [Scribner v. Gibbon, 9 N.B.R. 182, followed.]

Simpson v. Malcolm, 43 N.B.R. 79.

PROOF OF DEATH.

When it is impossible to inscribe a death upon the registry, as in the case of a person drowned whose body was not recovered and who could not be buried, proof of the death may be made by witnesses.

Ladlamme v. Lewis Ferry, 47 Que. S.C. 291.

B. CONFIDENTIAL AND PRIVILEGED COMMUNICATIONS.

(§ X B—685)—COMMUNICATION BETWEEN SOLICITOR AND CLIENT.

The privilege attached to communications between solicitor and client is given in favour of the client and not of the solicitor, and is a matter of public order both under French law and English law.

Montreal Street Railway v. Feigleman, 7 D.L.R. 6, 22 Que. K.B. 102.

(§ X B—688)—SOLICITOR'S TESTIMONY—ADMISSIBILITY AS PART OF RES GESTE.—PROMISSORY NOTE—INTEREST—REASONABLENESS—ACTION AND CROSS ACTION—CONSOLIDATION—JUDGMENT—RECONVEYANCE OF LAND AND DISCHARGE OF MORTGAGE.

Matchett v. Stoffel; Stoffel v. Matchett, 10 O.W.N. 276.

(X B—690)—STATE SECRETS—PUBLIC OFFICER—PUBLIC INTEREST.

A public officer called as a witness cannot be compelled to reveal facts which should be kept secret in the public interest. This objection of public interest may be raised by a subordinate employee who by the direction of the Minister under whom he works, without the latter being obliged to testify personally before the court as to his reason for those instructions. The state does not give up its right to retain information of national interest by the fact that it has already communicated it to certain persons. The administrative power is the sole master of secrets; and after taking the stand of refusing to divulge them by reason of the national interest, the court has no discretion.

Rheault v. Landry et al., 55 Que. S.C. 1, 20 Que. P.R. 187.

(§ X B—693)—CONVERSATION WITHOUT PREJUDICE.

In an action on a policy of fire insurance it was error to admit evidence on the part of pla their same of hi

the p if th ever, evid been a con that disc a tim tender prove procu
Gui
Co., 2
145, 35.]
C. J (§ X
T
T Who estate but a ity of with that t cure a the ag sold e lowed derst the m of ans ity to the ag not m a pros
Fysl
R. 966
CASES
The sented eviden does n swee v mony success costs o gill, [L
Re F tario I
25 O.W.
(§ X C
sp Evid
by a d adverse Little
285, 27
The davits cannot on an junction

of plaintiff that the defendants had through their agents denied liability altogether, the same being offered by the plaintiff because of his contention that the requirement in the policy as to arbitration did not apply if the insured denied any liability whatever, where the defendants objected to such evidence on the ground that the denial had been made during negotiations looking to a compromise of the plaintiff's claim and that the negotiations were without prejudice and that it had been so stated at the time, without first hearing the evidence tendered in support of the objection to prove that the statement was made without prejudice in settlement negotiations.

Gaimond v. Fidelity Phoenix Fire Ins. Co., 2 D.L.R. 654, 10 E.L.R. 562, 41 N.B.R. 145. [Affirmed, 9 D.L.R. 463, 12 E.L.R. 35.]

C. PARTY'S OWN ACTS AND DECLARATION.

(§ X C—695)—PARTY'S ACTS AND DECLARATIONS—PROOF OF SCOPE OF AGENT'S AUTHORITY.

Where it appears that an owner of real estate listed his property with an agent, but a dispute arises later as to the authority of the agent to sign a contract of sale with the purchaser, the owner claiming that the agent had authority only to procure and submit an offer, a telegram from the agent to the owner stating that he had sold certain lots at the listed prices, followed by a reply by the owner that he understood that he had taken those lots "off the market" and declining to sell, instead of answering that the agent had no authority to sell, is evidence tending to show that the agent did have authority to sell and not merely to find and submit an offer from a prospective purchaser.

Fysh v. Armstrong, 9 D.L.R. 575, 22 W.L.R. 966, 3 W.W.R. 747.

CASES OF EXPROPRIATION—FIXING VALUES.

The fact that one party to the issue presented on an arbitration is allowed to give evidence of a class which is not relevant, does not entitle the opposing party to answer with the same kind of irrelevant testimony; and the opposing party, although successful in the issue is properly refused costs of his irrelevant evidence. [R. v. Cargill, [1913] 2 K.B. 271, applied.]

Re Ketcheson and Canadian Northern Ontario R. Co., 13 D.L.R. 854, 29 O.L.R. 339, 25 O.W.R. 20.

(§ X C—696)—AGAINST INTEREST—ADMISSIONS UNDER OATH.

Evidence of statements made to a witness by a deceased person is admissible if they are statements against the interest of the deceased.

Little v. Hyslop, 7 D.L.R. 478, 4 O.W.N. 283, 23 O.W.R. 247.

The rule that permits the use of affidavits based upon information and belief cannot be made the means of introducing, on an application for an interlocutory injunction in a suit to set aside a fraudulent transfer of property, the evidence of the judgment debtor taken in the suit in which the judgment was rendered.

Toronto Carpet Co. v. Wright, 3 D.L.R. 725, 22 Man. L.R. 294, 21 W.L.R. 304.

Where the defendant, sued for damages for malicious prosecution, is called as a witness on his own behalf, and with a mistaken notice of benefiting his own defence denies ever having entertained any belief of the plaintiff's guilt, a judge trying the case without a jury is bound to give effect to his denial as proving for the plaintiff that there was a want of reasonable and probable cause for the prosecution, although he may be of opinion that there was reasonable and probable cause and that the defendant did believe in the charge he laid and that his contradiction of such belief, under oath, was falsely made with a mistaken view of evading responsibility such as might be attributed to a very ignorant and stupid man acting from motives of low cunning.

Geers v. Westman, 1 D.L.R. 312, 5 S.L.R. 85, 20 W.L.R. 212, 1 W.W.R. 861.

Any statement of the accused made against self-interest is admissible if made voluntarily.

R. v. James, 4 D.L.R. 717, 19 Can. Cr. Cas. 391, 17 B.C.R. 165, 21 W.L.R. 563.

As on an application by a wife for interim alimony proof of marriage is all that is necessary, her cross-examination on the motion as to matters which might disentitle her to permanent alimony will not be considered where the plaintiff alleges cruelty. [Cook v. Cook, 12 C.L.T. Occ. No. 73, followed.]

Karch v. Karch (No. 1), 3 D.L.R. 658, 3 O.W.N. 1032, 21 O.W.R. 883.

(§ X C—697)—MOTIVES AND PURPOSES.

Evidence of an alleged incriminating admission said to have been made by the plaintiff, after his acquittal, is not admissible for the defence in an action for malicious prosecution in proof of reasonable and probable cause where the question of guilt is not in issue.

C.P.R. Co. v. Waller, 1 D.L.R. 47, 19 Can. Cr. Cas. 190.

(§ X C—699)—CRIMINAL CASES—DECLARATIONS BY ACCUSED—STATEMENTS AS TO ALLEGED FORGERY.

In order that the true sense of the statement of the accused put in evidence against him may be ascertained, he is entitled to shew the facts and circumstances surrounding the making of it to the like extent as in the case of a contract he is entitled to shew them in order to assist in its interpretation. Where the person charged with attempting to utter forged documents is not implicated with the commission of the alleged forgery, his statement made subsequent to his attempt to pass the document that the same is a forgery and that he "knew they were forged" is not necessarily a sufficient admission that he knew them to be forged at the time when he attempted to utter them; the admission is an equivocal one which has to be construed with reference to the surrounding circumstances, and if these indicate merely that he had formed an opinion from knowledge acquired after the attempt that the documents were forged, it affords no proof either of the forging itself or of knowledge of the forgery at the time of the alleged offense of attempting to utter forged documents.

R. v. Girvin, 34 D.L.R. 344, 27 Can. Cr. Cas. 265, 10 A.L.R. 324, [1917] 1 W.W.R. 907.

CRIMINAL CASES.

Detective officers may properly interrogate a prisoner charged with crime, while under arrest or being kept in sight in view of arrest, and answers given without threat or inducement may be given in evidence against him. R. v. McCraw, 12 Can. Cr. Cas. 253, distinguished.]

Trepianier v. The King, 19 Can. Cr. Cas. 290, 18 Rev. de Jur. 177.

D. ACTS AND DECLARATIONS OF THIRD PERSONS GENERALLY.

(§ X D—700)—JUDGE'S OPINION—VERACITY OF WITNESS—CRIMINAL PROSECUTION.

Reasons for judgment unfavourable to the credibility of a party in a civil action are inadmissible in evidence to impeach his veracity, when testifying in his own behalf, in a criminal prosecution.

R. v. Baugh, 31 D.L.R. 66, 27 Can. Cr. Cas. 373, 36 O.L.R. 436.

(§ X D—701)—AS TO ACCIDENTS OR INJURY.

About 5.30 on a December afternoon, G. left his place of employment to go home. An hour later his body was found some 350 yards east of a crossing of the G.T.R. Co., nearly opposite his house. There was no witness of the accident, but it was shewn on the trial of an action by his widow and children, that shortly after he was last seen an express train and a passenger train had passed each other a little east of the crossing, and there was evidence shewing that the latter train had not given the statutory signals when approaching the crossing. The jury found that G. was killed by the passenger train, and that his death was due to the negligence of the latter in failing to give such warnings. This finding was upheld by the Court of Appeal. Held, that the jury were justified in considering the balance of probabilities and drawing the inference from the circumstances proved, that the death of G. was caused by such negligence.

G.T.R. Co. v. Griffith, 13 Can. Ry. Cas. 302.

E. ACTS AND DECLARATIONS OF AGENT, REPRESENTATIVE OR TENANT.

(§ X E—710)—AGENTS GENERALLY.

In an action to recover the purchase price of certain liquor sold to the defendant, evidence by the plaintiff's attorney of statements made to him by defendant's husband that he was defendant's agent to purchase goods and that he purchased the goods in question as such agent, where such statements were made after action brought and one year after the purchase in question, is not admissible.

LeBlanc v. LaPorte, 40 N.B.R. 468.

(§ X E—714)—NEGLIGENCE—STREET RAILWAY—INJURY TO PASSENGER—ELECTRIC EXPLOSION—CONDUCT OF MOTORMAN—FINDINGS OF JURY—EVIDENCE—INSPECTION—RECOLLECTION OF WITNESS—WRITTEN REPORT—IMPROPER REJECTION—NEW TRIAL.

Fleming v. Toronto R. Co., 13 Can. Ry. Cas. 278, 25 O.L.R. 317.

F. ACTS AND DECLARATIONS OF FORMER PARTY IN INTEREST; TESTATOR OR FORMER OWNER.

(§ X F—720)—CIRCUMSTANCES AS TO VALUE OF DECEDENT'S ESTATE—LETTERS—WILL.

For the purpose of determining the object of a testator's bounty or the subject of disposition, evidence of the value of the testator's estate at the time of the making of the will or codicil is admissible as a circumstance surrounding the testamentary acts; but a letter written by the testator after the making of the codicil is not admissible for that purpose.

Re Aldridge Will (No. 1), 28 D.L.R. 527, 9 A.L.R. 422, 33 W.L.R. 910, 9 W.W.R. 1517. [See also 28 D.L.R. 531, 9 A.L.R. 512.]

CONVENTIONAL LINE—ADMISSIONS BY PREDECESSOR IN TITLE—CROWN GRANT.

Evidence to support a conventional line should be clear and definite. Authority to assist in ascertaining the true line between the properties of adjoining owners will not extend to the establishment of a conventional line. Admissions by a predecessor in title of one of the parties as to an alleged conventional line constitute an element for consideration, and in a doubtful case may be a controlling factor, but cannot be considered where the true line has been satisfactorily proved. A plan attached to a grant from the Crown and referred to in it, is receivable in evidence for the purpose of locating the lines of the grant.

Lewis Miller & Co. v. Clow, 52 N.S.R. 1.

(§ X F—722)—REBUTTING PRESUMPTION OF OWNERSHIP—POSSESSION.

The statements, acts and conduct of predecessors in title, with reference to the ownership of a strip of land, are receivable in evidence against a party claiming through them, by title obtained subsequent to such statements and conduct, and may be taken in connection with other circumstances to displace the presumption of ownership arising from possession.

Taylor v. Vanderburgh, 30 D.L.R. 196, 36 O.L.R. 337.

G. ACTS AND DECLARATIONS OF PARTNER;
ASSOCIATE OR CO-CONSPIRATOR.

(§ X G—727) — CONSPIRACY TO COMMIT
CRIME—ACTS AND DECLARATION OF CON-SPIRATORS AFTER COMMISSION.

Acts and declarations of those charged with the crime of conspiracy to procure the performance of an abortion, occurring immediately after its commission, and made while procuring care for the person upon whom the abortion was performed, are admissible as tending to establish the conspiracy.

R. v. Bachrack, 11 D.L.R. 522, 21 Can. Cr. Cas. 257, 28 O.L.R. 32.

CONSPIRACY TO COMMIT CRIME IN ONTARIO —COMMISSION IN FOREIGN COUNTRY—
EVIDENCE.

Where, on a criminal trial for conspiracy to procure an abortion, it appeared that the defendants conspired to procure its performance in Ontario, but finding it difficult to do, went to a foreign country, evidence is admissible as to what occurred there in furtherance of the conspiracy.

R. v. Bachrack, 11 D.L.R. 522, 21 Can. Cr. Cas. 257, 28 O.L.R. 32.

(§ X G—728)—AGENTS, REPRESENTATIVES, OR ASSOCIATES.

Where the charge is for carrying on an illegal lottery business and not for fraudulently representing that the accused was carrying on such business, the prosecution must prove that the business was in fact carried on as alleged and not merely that the accused represented that she was conducting such business or that she authorized her agents to so represent.

The King v. Laungair, 19 Can. Cr. Cas. 123; 3 O.W.N. 309.

H. COMPLAINTS OF INJURIES AND SUFFER-ING.

(§ X H—730) — ACCIDENT INSURANCE —
STATEMENT BY INSURED IMMEDIATELY FOLLOWING ACCIDENT.

For the purpose of proving the physical condition of a deceased person in an action on a policy of accident insurance, evidence is admissible as to what was said by him immediately after the occurrence of an injury alleged to have caused his death.

Youlden v. London Guarantee & Accident Co., 12 D.L.R. 433, 28 O.L.R. 161, affirming 4 D.L.R. 721, 26 O.L.R. 75.

STATEMENT BY DECEASED AS TO HAPPENING OF ACCIDENT.

In an action for compensation for death caused by the wrongful act or default or neglect of the defendant company, the defendant put in evidence, subject to objection of the plaintiff's counsel, a statement, made on cross-examination at the inquest by the doctor who attended the deceased immediately after the accident, as to what the deceased told him was the cause of the accident, and also a statement of a similar character made to the manager of the defendant company shortly after the accident.

Can. Dig.—61.

Held, on a motion to set aside the verdict for the plaintiff or for a new trial, that a statement made by the deceased to the plaintiff shortly after the accident, explaining how it happened, was, under the circumstances, properly received, and was not a ground for a new trial.

Wentzell v. New Brunswick, etc., R. Co., 43 N.B.R. 475.

J. TELEPHONE CONVERSATIONS.

(§ X J—740)—TELEPHONE CONVERSATIONS.

Where an alleged telephone conversation is set up and the defendant tenders the evidence of his stenographer who heard the defendant's end of the talk, the stenographer's evidence is admissible, such elements in the problem as (a) the fragmentary nature of the testimony; (b) the possibility of a dishonest party talking into a telephone in the hearing of his witness without having any connection with the person to whom he was purporting to talk and giving answers to questions that were never asked, merely go to the weight, not to the admissibility of such evidence.

Warren v. Forst, 8 D.L.R. 640, 23 O.W.R. 311, 46 Can. S.C.R. 642, affirming 24 O.L.R. 282.

JUDICIAL NOTICE OF SYSTEM—AS NOTICE.

A telephonic communication by the accountant of a bank, that the bank has funds to pay to a defendant, made in the usual way, and replied to by persons apparently in the office of the defendant is prima facie notice to the defendant that the money is available, and if it has not been stipulated that notice shall be given to a particular person, the identity of the recipient need not be proven, in the absence of denial by the defendant; where the automatic system of signalling is used, the court will take judicial notice that no call to "central" is necessary.

Fidelity Oil & Gas Co. v. Janse Drilling Co., 27 D.L.R. 651, 9 A.L.R. 439, 34 W.L.R. 370, 10 W.W.R. 533.

L. DYING DECLARATIONS, OR THOSE MADE IN TRAVAIL.

(X L—750) — WHEN ADMISSIBLE — HOMICIDE.

A dying declaration is only admissible in the case of homicide where the death of the deceased is the subject of the charge and the circumstances which led to the death are the subject of the dying declaration.

R. v. Inkster, 24 Can. Cr. Cas. 294, 8 S.L.R. 233, 31 W.L.R. 782, 8 W.W.R. 1098.

M. FORMER TESTIMONY.

(X M—755) — Notwithstanding certain departures from the rules of evidence are permitted in the interlocutory stages of a proceeding, the reading therein of depositions of another party taken in a different action is not thereby authorized.

Toronto Carpet Co. v. Wright, 3 D.L.R. 725, 22 Man. L.R. 294, 21 W.L.R. 304.

CHARACTER OF WOMAN SEDUCED.

Unless the plaintiff's character is impugned by the defendant's pleading in an action for breach of promise and seduction, it is not open to the plaintiff to give general evidence of good character; but if the defendant, without calling witnesses as to general reputation, brings out in cross-examination of plaintiff and of her witnesses, collateral facts which alone might lead to an inference that the plaintiff was of general bad character, it is not error to permit the plaintiff in rebuttal to make explanation of the specific instances, the facts as to which had been brought out only in part on the cross-examinations.

Collard v. Armstrong, 12 D.L.R. 368, 6 A.L.R. 187, 24 W.L.R. 742, 4 W.W.R. 879.

§ XI C—771)—THEFT—BAD CHARACTER—OTHER OFFENCES.

Upon a charge of theft it is not competent for the prosecution to adduce evidence tending to shew that the accused had been guilty of a theft subsequent to that for which he is being tried, where no evidence as to character has been offered by the prisoner. The introduction of such evidence, even though not objected to by counsel for the accused, will invalidate the conviction.

The King v. Doyle, 28 D.L.R. 649, 26 Can. Cr. Cas. 197, 50 N.S.R. 123.

§ XI C—774)—AGE—SEDUCTION.

On a criminal charge of seduction of a girl under twenty-one where the evidence of the girl's parents is not available, the girl's own testimony that her age was nineteen and the testimony to the like effect given by the woman under whose care she had been when a small child based upon information then received and upon personal observation is admissible in proof of her age being under twenty-one. [R. v. Cox, [1898] 1 Q.B. 179, 67 L.J.Q.B. 293, 18 Cox 672, followed.] Cr. Code, s. 984, does not exclude any other class of evidence that is by law admissible, but provides for another means of determining the age of the child or young person against whom the offence was committed in the specified classes of cases where the age is material, by enacting that the jury or magistrate, as the case may be, may infer her age by the girl's appearance.

R. v. Spera, 28 D.L.R. 377, 25 Can. Cr. Cas. 180, 34 O.L.R. 539.

D. KNOWLEDGE; NOTICE; BELIEF; MENTAL CAPACITY.

§ XI D—776)—In an action to enforce a separation agreement evidence is admissible to prove when and how the plaintiff became aware of the adultery of the other party relied upon as a cause of separation, provided that the adultery itself is regularly proved.

Nargang v. Nargang, 1 D.L.R. 323, 20 W.L.R. 206, 5 S.L.R. 115, 1 W.W.R. 865.

§ XI D—777)—MENTAL CAPACITY.

Where a conveyance is attacked on the ground of the insanity of the grantor, and a prima facie case of insanity is made out, so as to cast upon those supporting the conveyance the onus of proving that it was executed during a lucid interval, an affidavit of execution in the ordinary form attached to the conveyance, and formal statements in printed discharges from an asylum, not borne out by the material which should interpret them, are not sufficient evidence that the conveyance was so executed.

Hoover v. Nunn, 3 D.L.R. 503, 3 O.W.N. 1223, 22 O.W.R. 28.

E. INTENT; MOTIVE; FRAUD; UNDUE INFLUENCE; GOOD FAITH; MALICE.

§ XI E—781)—TESTATOR; CHEQUE TO SON—GIFT OR LOAN—ADMISSIBILITY OF EVIDENCE—INTENT.

Evidence is admissible, on a dispute as to whether a cheque given to the son by the father was by way of gift or loan, to shew similar gifts of the parent to other children or of the general plan of the parent to lend and not to give property to his children under similar circumstances.

Groat v. Kinnaird, 20 D.L.R. 421, 7 A.L.R. 390, 29 W.L.R. 675, 7 W.W.R. 264.

F. FORGERY OF ENDORSEMENT TO CHEQUE.

On a charge of forgery of the endorsement of a cheque, the feigned handwriting of the signature, the retention of the proceeds of the cheque so endorsed and false statements afterwards made to the effect that no such cheque had been received are material on the question of criminal intent in signing the endorsement. [See also R. v. Pariseau, 28 Can. Cr. Cas. 112.]

R. v. Hoffman, 31 Can. Cr. Cas. 126, 45 O.L.R. 234.

F. PRICES; VALUES.

§ XI F—790)—FRAUDULENT SALE OF SHARES—MISREPRESENTATIONS AS TO ASSETS.

In an action for the rescission of a sale of shares on the ground of fraudulent misrepresentations as to the assets of the corporation due to an exchange of timber lands, a question in the examination of the defendant for discovery as to whether he disposed of the lands or utilized them for profit, or raised money upon them, is irrelevant to the issue.

Appleton v. Moore, 23 D.L.R. 673, 22 B.C.R. 28, 32 W.L.R. 114, 8 W.W.R. 1286.

SALES.

Evidence of sales subsequent to the date of filing expropriation plans is admissible to prove the value of the lands expropriated.

Toronto Suburban R. Co. v. Everson, 34 D.L.R. 421, 54 Can. S.C.R. 395.

ASSESSMENT FOR TAXES.

Evidence of the value at which the holder advertised mineral rights for sale is admissible for the purpose of assessing them for taxation.

Re Canada Co. and Tp. of Colchester North, 33 D.L.R. 61, 38 O.L.R. 183.

(§ XI F-793)—RELEVANCY AND MATERIALITY — EXPROPRIATION PROCEEDINGS — VALUE — SALE OF UNDIVIDED INTEREST IN PROPERTY EXPROPRIATED.

To establish the value of land expropriated, evidence is admissible shewing recent sales of land of similar character and use in the neighbourhood of that taken. Evidence of the sale of an undivided half of property expropriated is admissible on the question of damages in order to establish market value, but it is to be considered along with other circumstances establishing value.

Re National Trust Co. and C.P.R. Co., 15 D.L.R. 320, 29 O.L.R. 462.

(§ XI F-794)—SERVICES.

Evidence that the workman was earning a certain sum per day at the time of the injuries complained of is not relevant for the ascertainment of the "estimated earnings" during the three years preceding the injury which is an element in fixing the workman's compensation for the injury under the Workmen's Compensation for Injuries Act, R.S.O. 1897, c. 160, s. 7.

Nigro v. Donati (No. 2), 8 D.L.R. 213, 4 O.W.N. 453, 23 O.W.R. 438, affirming 6 D.L.R. 316.

(§ XI F-797)—AS TO VALUE OF REAL PROPERTY—RAILWAY EXPROPRIATION.

The price paid for lands contiguous to the land concerned in expropriation proceedings by a railway company, although such price includes damages caused by the operation of the railway alongside the property, is properly regarded in proof of the value of the expropriated property as is also the price mentioned in an option to purchase the same. [Dodge v. The King, 38 Can. S.C.R. 149, applied.]

Re Billings and Can. Northern Ontario R. Co., 15 D.L.R. 918, 16 Can. Ry. Cas. 375, 29 O.L.R. 608.

G. DAMAGES.

(§ XI G-800)—PERSONAL INJURY — EMPLOYER'S LIABILITY INSURANCE—RELEVANCY.

The rule that in an action for damages against an employer for personal injuries there must be no intimation to the jury that an insurance company with which the employer has an employers' liability insurance against such claims is the real defendant in interest, is not violated where the only reference on this point that was brought to the jury's attention was (a) plaintiff's testimony that he thought that a certain doctor who examined him told him that an insurance company sent him there, (b) the testimony of defendant's doctor brought out, upon cross-examination by plaintiff's counsel, that he was sent to examine plaintiff by a certain insurance company, (c) reference by plaintiff's counsel, in the examination of another witness, to the effect that this doctor was the doctor who examined the plaintiff "on behalf of the insurance company;" and where no reference to such insurance was made by plaintiff's counsel in his address to the jury. [Loughhead v. Collingwood Shipbuilding Co., 16 O.L.R. 64, distinguished.]

Mitchell v. Heintzman, 9 D.L.R. 29, 4 O.W.N. 636, 23 O.W.R. 763.

LOSS OF PROFITS FROM FAILURE TO LEASE HOTEL.

In order to determine the plaintiff's damages in an action for the breach of an agreement to build a hotel and lease it to him, evidence is admissible to shew the probable profits from the business had the hotel been built, not for the purpose of recovering such profits, which are too remote and speculative, but for the purpose of shewing the value of the term of the plaintiff's lease.

Beatty v. Bauer, 13 D.L.R. 357, 18 R.C.R. 161, 24 W.L.R. 830, 4 W.W.R. 1099.

(§ XI G-802)—PERSONAL INJURIES.

Contributions made by the employer before action towards the medical and hospital expenses of an employee who afterwards sued him for damages alleging that he has been injured by the negligence of the employer's foreman and that the employer was liable therefor under the Workmen's Compensation Act (Ont.), should not, in a subsequent action for the injuries, be taken as evidence of the payer's liability, unless expressly made upon that basis, but should count to his advantage in assessing the damages.

Nigro v. Donati (No. 2), 8 D.L.R. 213, 4 O.W.N. 453, 23 O.W.R. 438, affirming 6 D.L.R. 316, 4 O.W.N. 2.

PERSONAL INJURIES—SICKNESS RESULTING.

The allegations in an action claiming damages for bodily injury, that the plaintiff has received serious and harmful injuries which will prevent his working during the rest of his life, that he has had a nervous shock and will suffer all his life on account of this accident both physically and morally, permits evidence to be given of the opinion of doctors that the plaintiff is exposed in the future, on account of the injuries he has received, to other maladies.

Montreal Street R. Co. v. Normandin, 26 Que. K.B. 467. [See also 33 D.L.R. 195, [1917] A.C. 170.]

(§ XI G-803) — PROBABLE DURATION OF LIFE.

The fact that the deceased was an unusually healthy man, although 82 years old, may be considered in awarding damages, under the Fatal Injuries Act, 1 Geo. V., c. 33, R.S.O. 1914, c. 151, and a finding of a probable greater duration of life than that of the average man may be based thereon.

[Rowley v. London & North Western R. Co., L.R. 8 Ex. 221, 226, followed.]

Goodwin v. Michigan Central R. Co., 14 D.L.R. 411, 29 O.L.R. 422, 25 O.W.R. 182.

H. CARE; SKILL; NEGLIGENCE.

(§ XI H-810)—NEGLECT.

The rule that the failure of any person to perform a duty imposed on him by statute or other legal authority should be considered evidence of negligence applies only to violations of a statutory or valid municipal regulation established for the benefit of private persons, where the action is brought by a person belonging to the protected class, and only if other elements of actionable negligence concur.

Bears v. Central Garage Co., 3 D.L.R. 387, 22 Man. L.R. 292, 21 W.L.R. 252, 2 W.W.R. 283.

I. SUGGESTIVE FACTS; FACTS SUPPORTING INFERENCE.

(§ XI I-820)—CONTRACTS—SUGGESTIVE FACTS.

Canada Law Book Co. v. Butterworth (No. 2), 12 D.L.R. 143, 23 Man. L.R. 352, reversing 9 D.L.R. 321. [Affirmed, 16 D.L.R. 61.]

(§ XI I-823)—SUGGESTIVE FACTS—CRIMINAL CASE—CONNECTED CRIMINAL ACT.

Where evidence of the commission of one criminal act is in itself circumstantial evidence of the commission of another criminal act, it is admissible in evidence to establish the commission of the latter; so where a cashier is short in his accounts and alone has a check on the amounts, evidence of an alteration made by him in the books to make them tally with the cash is evidence tending to convict him of the theft.

R. v. Minchin, 15 D.L.R. 792, 22 Can. Cr. Cas. 254, 7 A.L.R. 148, 26 W.L.R. 633, 5 W.W.R. 1028. [Affirmed, 18 D.L.R. 340.]

K. SIMILAR ACTS OR FACTS.

(§ XI K-830)—Proof of vaccination of other persons than the plaintiff and evil results following is admissible, although far from conclusive, to contradict an averment of a plea stating that a large number of persons had been vaccinated by the same doctor with the same vaccine without evil results.

Boilard v. Montreal, 9 D.L.R. 152, 43 Que. S.C. 171.

(§ XI K-831)—LIBEL AND SLANDER.

Evidence of a slander spoken to a witness, but not complained of in the statement of claim, is not admissible to prove a subsequent slander which is complained of in the action. (Decision of Supreme Court of Alberta, affirmed on appeal without opinion.)

Wickens v. McConkey, 7 D.L.R. 602.

SIMILAR SLANDEROUS WORDS.

For the purpose of proving malice in action for slander actionable per se, evidence of similar slanderous words other than those set forth in the statement of claim is properly admissible.

King v. Londerville, 25 D.L.R. 352, 8 S.L.R. 376, 31 W.L.R. 821, 8 W.W.R. 1108.

(§ XI K-836)—VALUES—EMINENT DOMAIN.

Evidence of settlements made by the railway with other persons for parts of other farms taken for the right-of-way is not relevant in expropriation proceedings under the Railway Act (Can.).

Re Ketcheson and Can. Nor. Ontario R. Co., 13 D.L.R. 854, 29 O.L.R. 339, 25 O.W.R. 20.

CONDITIONS AS TO IRRIGATION AT OTHER PLACES.

To establish the question whether lands are irrigable within the meaning of an agreement warranting them to be, the evidence of adjacent owners as to the effect of irrigation upon their lands is irrelevant and therefore inadmissible. [Metropolitan Asylum v. Hill, 47 L.T.N.S. 29, applied.]

Babecek v. C.P.R. Co., 27 D.L.R. 432, 9 A.L.R. 270, 33 W.L.R. 941, 9 W.W.R. 1484.

(§ XI K-837)—MURDER—EVIDENCE OF OTHER CRIMES—ASSAULT ON COMPANION OF PERSON KILLED.

On a trial for murder, where the accused, for the purpose of robbery, induced the deceased by false pretences to leave his companion and accompany him to a lonely spot where the dead body was afterwards found, evidence of an assault and robbery of the companion made by the accused an hour after the separation is admissible if it tends to shew that the murder had taken place in furtherance of a scheme by the accused to rob both the deceased and his companion and for such purpose to get them separated, and this notwithstanding that it shews the commission of another crime. [R. v. Birds-eye, 4 C. & P. 386, distinguished.]

R. v. Gibson, 13 D.L.R. 393, 28 O.L.R. 525, 21 Can. Cr. Cas. 477.

OTHER OFFENCES—DEFENCE.

Where, in answer to questions to a Crown witness by counsel for the accused on the trial of a charge of theft, the witness divulges facts tending to prove another theft of about the same time from the same employer, and no objection is taken to the admission of that part of the testimony, the admission of the same will not constitute a ground for appeal from the verdict against the accused, and, semble, the evidence was admissible, as in answer to the plan of defence which was to throw the crime upon a fellow employee.

Rivet v. The King, 27 D.L.R. 695, 25 Can. Cr. Cas. 235, 24 Que. K.B. 559.

INTENT—ABORTION—PRIOR SIMILAR OFFENCES.

Where, in answer to a charge of using instruments to cause an abortion, the accused sets up in defence that the instruments were used to prevent septic poisoning in a miscarriage already begun, and he gives his own testimony to that effect, he becomes liable to be cross-examined as to alleged previous criminal acts similar to that alleged and performed in a similar manner, and, on his denial of same, to have his plea of innocent intent negatived by proof of the other similar criminal acts although these occurred two and four years previous to the offence charged. Such evidence would be admissible apart from any evidence of system, and if the defence does not develop until the defendant is in the witness box, he is to be given an opportunity of answering such rebuttal evidence by giving further evidence in sur-rebuttal.

Brunet v. The King, 42 D.L.R. 465, 57 Can. S.C.R. 83, 30 Can. Cr. Cas. 16, affirming 27 Que. K.B. 481. [See also 30 Can. Cr. Cas. 9.]

MURDER—OTHER CRIMES.

The mere fact that the evidence tends to show the commission of other crimes does not render it inadmissible if it is relevant to the issue before the jury, and it is relevant on a murder trial if it bears upon the question whether or not the shooting was in self-defence by shewing a chain of subsequent transactions by the accused from which the jury might infer that they were intended to cover up the disappearance of the deceased and his personal property.

R. v. Letain, 29 Can. Cr. Cas. 389, 28 Man. L.R. 386, [1918] 1 W.W.R. 505.

CONSPIRACY—FRAUD.

It is a general principle of the law of evidence that the proof adduced must have direct connection with the question in issue. Therefore, in a plea to an action on an insurance policy the allegations that the insured had conspired with other persons to defraud, and made a business of defrauding insurance companies in general, may be rejected on an inscription in law.

Glen Falls Ins. Co. v. Murcheson, 24 Rev. Leg. 342.

M. PAYMENT; CONSIDERATION; CREDIT.
 (§ XI M—846) — RELEVANCY AND MATERIALITY — PAYMENT — PROMISSORY NOTE — MEMORANDA OF — ADMISSIBILITY — SALE OF LAND.

A memorandum given on the day before the date of the agreement for sale of lands acknowledging receipt of a promissory note for the cash payment and specifying certain reservations and restrictions against the land in more detail than they were described in the formal agreement is properly admitted in evidence in an action to enforce the agreement for the purpose of shewing that the purchaser knew that the transfer was to be subject to the specified reservations.

Manufacturers Life Ins. v. Walsh, 20 D.L.R. 504, 8 A.L.R. 90, 7 W.W.R. 808.

O. CONTRACTS; BREACH; WAIVER.
 (§ XI O—855) — Upon the question of breach of implied warranty as to fitness on the sale of an engine the following are tests: (a) Would the engine properly govern; (b) were the castings unfit for use to seller's actual or presumed knowledge; (c) was the crank case defective; (d) were the frequent breaks due to inherent defects; (e) was one of the pistons defective and secretly plugged by the seller before delivery; (f) was it deficient in power; (g) was its workmanship of inferior grade.

Alabastine Co. v. Canada Producer, etc., Co., 8 D.L.R. 465, 30 O.L.R. 394, 23 O.W.R. 841.

BREACH OF PROMISE.

In an action for breach of promise, evidence that third parties have made accusations against the plaintiff, or that conclusions derogatory to the plaintiff will be drawn from the fact of the breach, is not admissible.

D. v. B., 38 D.L.R. 243, 40 O.L.R. 112.

(§ XI O—857) — BREACH.

Under the statute C.S.N.B. 1903, c. 116, s. 41, subs. (2), a plea of the general issue in an action for a breach of warranty of soundness of a horse, will permit the defendant to adduce evidence to shew that it was sound prior to and at the time of the sale.

Hale v. Tompkins, 6 D.L.R. 502, 41 N.B.R. 269, 11 E.L.R. 91.

Q. PECUNIARY CONDITION; FAMILY CIRCUMSTANCES.

(§ XI Q—865) — RELEVANCY TO SHEW RELATIONSHIP OF EMPLOYEE TO EMPLOYER — INDEPENDENT CONTRACT, NEGATIVE WHEN.

The solvency of the alleged independent contractor is an element to be considered in determining whether a person employed in driving logs on a river for various timber owners does so as their employee or as an independent contractor; and a finding of fact on that question by the Trial Judge should not be disturbed except on some strong ground.

Fraser v. Dumont, 19 D.L.R. 104, affirming on different grounds, 48 Can. S.C.R. 137.

R. PERSONS; PERSONAL RELATIONS.

(§ XI R—871) — CRIMINAL CASES.

It cannot be shewn on the trial of a person for rape, that a few minutes after the commission of the offence charged, or at any other time, he committed a similar crime against the person of a sister of the complaining witness, such evidence not being admissible either as part of the res gestae, or to shew a propensity on the part of the accused to commit such crimes. [R. v. Bond, [1906] 2 K.B. 389, 21 Cox C.C. 252, followed, and Reg. v. Bearden, 4 F. & F. 76, distinguished.]

R. v. Paul, 5 D.L.R. 347, 4 A.L.R. 377, 21 W.L.R. 609, 2 W.W.R. 614.

T. CRIMINAL MATTERS GENERALLY.

(§ XI T—885) — CRIMINAL CASES — RELEVANCY — INCIDENTALLY PROVING ANOTHER CRIME — EFFECT ON ADMISSIBILITY.

In a criminal trial where evidence of certain facts is directly relevant to the issue joined, the circumstance that such facts incidentally shew that the accused has been guilty of another crime does not render such evidence inadmissible.

R. v. Minchin, 18 D.L.R. 340, 6 W.W.R. 809, 23 Can. Cr. Cas. 340, affirming 15 D.L.R. 792.

U. TITLE OF POSSESSION.

(§ XI U—890)—TITLE OR POSSESSION OF REAL PROPERTY—DESCRIPTION IN PATENT SUPPORTED BY EVIDENCE OF OCCUPATION.

Where the description of an island referred to fixed points on the mainland and the sides of the channels were given as its limits, no area being given, and a plan referred to in the patent did not shew the locality by reference to fixed points but was said to render the description ambiguous, evidence of the circumstances, including correspondence leading up to the grant and of prior occupation of the land described in the patent was held to be admissible for any purpose of identifying the parcel intended to be granted. [Gardon-Cumming v. Houldsworth, [1919] A.C. 537, 541, and Grey v. Pearson, 6 H.L.C. 61, 106, followed.]

Bartlett v. Delaney, 11 D.L.R. 584, 27 O.L.R. 594.

(§ XI U—891)—OF PERSONAL PROPERTY—WIFE'S SEPARATE ESTATE.

Parol testimony of a wife separate as to property that goods, seized as her husband's, belong to her as having been acquired before marriage, or as gifts from friends and relatives after marriage, is sufficient evidence of the fact.

Plamondon v. Larue, 43 Que. S.C. 18.

(§ XI U—892)—OF REAL PROPERTY.

Possession of land must be considered in every case with reference to the peculiar circumstances; the character and value of the property, the suitable and natural mode of using it, and the course of conduct which the proprietor might reasonably be expected to follow with a due regard to his own interests must all be taken into account in determining the sufficiency of the possession.

Kirby v. Cowdery, 5 D.L.R. 675, [1912] A.C. 599, 2 W.W.R. 723.

V. IDENTIFICATION.

(§ XI V—896)—BY VOICE.

Evidence of the identity of the accused as the person who assaulted the complainant may be given by the latter's identification of the voice of the accused when taken into custody as being the voice of the man who spoke when the assault took place and whom he could not otherwise identify.

R. v. Murray and Mahoney, 33 D.L.R. 702, 27 Can. Cr. Cas. 247, 10 A.L.R. 275, [1917] 1 W.W.R. 404. [See also R. v. Murray (No. 1), 28 D.L.R. 372, 25 Can. Cr. Cas. 214, 9 A.L.R. 319. For later decision, see 11 A.L.R. 502, 38 D.L.R. 395, [1917] 2 W.W.R. 805.]

(§ XI V—897)—CRIMINAL TRIAL—IDENTIFICATION OF MONEY WITH PROCEEDS OF SEPARATE ROBBERIES.

Where the person accused of a murder committed in connection with a robbery is shewn to have suddenly become possessed of a sum of money, although previously he was entirely out of money and out of work, and the prosecution allege that such money is made up in part of money taken from the murdered person, but the accused giving evidence on his own behalf swears that the money was received in one sum from a third party not produced as a witness, it is competent for the prosecution to discredit such testimony by shewing that the excess over and above what was in the possession of the murdered man was obtained by robbing the latter's companion and so accounting for the difference in the amount of money of which the accused had suddenly become possessed, and the much smaller sum which the deceased had in his possession when robbed and murdered.

R. v. Gibson, 13 D.L.R. 393, 21 Can. Cr. Cas. 477, 28 O.L.R. 525.

W. JUSTIFICATION; MITIGATION.

(§ XI W—902)—MITIGATION—LABEL.

The facts and circumstances leading to the publication of a libellous charge that the plaintiff's candy factory was found by a public health inspector to be in an unclean and unsanitary condition, and that the destruction of a large quantity of candy was ordered, as well as the facts tending to shew the writer's belief that the premises described were those of the plaintiff, are admissible in mitigation of damages when so pleaded.

Lumsden v. Spectator Printing Co., 14 D.L.R. 470, 29 O.L.R. 293.

Z. MISCELLANEOUS.

(§ XI Z—915)—WRONGFUL REMOVAL OF CORPSE FROM BURIAL LOT.

In an action for the wrongful removal of human remains from a burial lot, evidence as to the amount of care bestowed on the lot by the plaintiff is immaterial.

O'Connor v. Victoria, 11 D.L.R. 577, 4 W.W.R. 4.

XII. Weight, effect and sufficiency.

A. IN GENERAL; CORROBORATION.

Corroboration, see Appeal, VII M—535; Witnesses, III—38; Forgery; Perjury, II B—30.

Corroborations of bona fides of conveyance, see Fraudulent Conveyances, VI—30. Credibility, see Appeal, VII L—485.

As to property rights, see also infra, XII—E.

(§ XII A—920)—EFFECT—SUFFICIENCY.

As s. 1003 Cr. Code specifically requires that the "testimony admitted by virtue of this section," i.e., a statement taken in court from a child of tender years not understanding the nature of an oath upon the trial of certain sexual crimes, must be corroborated by "some other material evidence in support thereof implicating the accused," the testimony so taken from one child of tender years cannot constitute the kind of corroboration required by the Code of the testimony similarly taken from another child of tender years.

R. v. Whistman, 8 D.L.R. 468, 5 A.L.R. 211, 22 W.L.R. 762, 3 W.W.R. 486.

Upon a sale of seed grain, where the buyer pleads that it lacked vitality, and was frosted, a random test of 100 seeds is unsafe upon which to base a conclusion as to the general vitality of 150 bushels of the grain, a more general and complete test being necessary under the circumstances. [Lawton v. Reid, 2 W.L.R. 240, applied.]

Carlstadt Development Co. v. Alberta Pacific Elevator Co., 7 D.L.R. 200, 4 A.L.R. 366, 21 W.L.R. 433, 2 W.W.R. 404.

Where the agreement under which the plaintiff seeks to hold the defendant liable is an unusual one, and there is nothing in writing to support the statements of the plaintiff, which are directly denied by the defendant, a very clear case must be made by the plaintiff to succeed and his evidence as to the terms of the alleged agreement should be clear and specific.

Kinsman v. Kinsman, 7 D.L.R. 31, 4 O.W.N. 20, 22 O.W.R. 979, reversing 5 D.L.R. 871.

As between two witnesses, of whom one is interested and the other is not, credit should, as a general rule and in the absence of anything to the contrary, be given to the latter.

Bateman v. County of Middlesex, 6 D.L.R. 533, 27 O.L.R. 122, 23 O.W.R. 685.

The rules of evidence applicable to a criminal prosecution requiring corroboration of the testimony of the complaining witness as to the fact of rape and requiring disclosure by her of the alleged act, do not apply to a civil action for damages for assaulting and ravishing the plaintiff without her consent.

Dunn v. Gibson, 8 D.L.R. 297, 20 Can. Cr. Cas. 195, 4 O.W.N. 329, 23 O.W.R. 356.

When the sole witness is an interested party and is giving evidence with respect to what took place between him and a deceased person it is a safe and judicious general rule to require corroboration, but there is no hard and fast rule to prevent a judge or jury from acting upon such evidence though not corroborated, where the inherent probabilities of the case are in favour of the truth of the evidence.

Power v. Munro, 5 D.L.R. 577, 11 E.L.R. 508.

In an action at the suit of the executrix of a grocer's estate for the balance on account of groceries furnished by the decedent to the defendant's wife, a corroboration of the alleged instruction by the decedent to his wife testified to by him not to run a bill, must be furnished to overcome the presumption that she had his implied authority to purchase on credit necessaries suitable to his degree and estate.

Scott v. Allen, 5 D.L.R. 767, 26 O.L.R. 571, 22 O.W.R. 597.

CORROBORATION—CONNECTED ACTS.

There need not be two witnesses to prove every fact necessary to make out an assignment of perjury, the corroboration being required merely for the perjured fact as a whole and not to every detail or constituent part of it; and where the accused had in his testimony connected two persons at different points with the one act, e.g., a joint attempt to bribe him for his vote at an election, evidence on the perjury charge by one of the alleged bribers negating the bribery charge as to himself and evidence by the other to the like effect as regards himself, may establish the perjury, the one statement sufficiently corroborating the other. [The King v. Houle, 12 Can. Cr. Cas. 56; Reg. v. Roberts, 2 C. & K. 607, 614, applied.]

R. v. Curry, 12 D.L.R. 13, 21 Can. Cr. Cas. 273, 47 N.S.R. 176, 13 E.L.R. 11. [Affirmed, 15 D.L.R. 347, 13 E.L.R. 550.]

AGAINST ESTATE OF DECEASED—TEST.

The corroboration required under s. 12 of the Evidence Act, Ont., against the estate of a deceased person is that the evidence of the claimant be corroborated by other material evidence sufficient to lead to the conclusion that the testimony of such claimant is true or probably true.

Cowley v. Simpson, 19 D.L.R. 463, 31 O.L.R. 200.

ACCOMPLICE—INDECENCY WITH MALE PERSON—Cr. CODE (1906), s. 206.

R. v. Williams, 19 D.L.R. 676, 23 Can. Cr. Cas. 339, 7 O.W.N. 426.

CONFLICTING TESTIMONY — PROBABILITIES — SCALE TURNED BY.

On conflicting testimony as to the application of a payment by cheque, the court will incline to give credence to the version which appears the more reasonable and probable.

Lancaster v. Hinds, 20 D.L.R. 238.

UNSWORN TESTIMONY OF CHILD—CANADA EVIDENCE ACT 1906.

Neither under Cr. Code, s. 1903 nor under s. 16 of the Canada Evidence Act, 1906, can there be corroboration of the unsworn testimony of a child of tender years who does not understand the nature of an oath, by similar unsworn testimony of another child.

R. v. McNulty, 16 D.L.R. 313, 22 Can. Cr. Cas. 347, 19 B.C.R. 109, 27 W.L.R. 464, 6 W.W.R. 315.

DECEDENT'S ACT.

An agreement of a decedent in connection with the settlement of an action may be proved and corroborated, under the Evidence Act (R.S.O. 1914, c. 76, s. 12), by the evidence of the solicitors for the parties thereto.

MacEwan v. Toronto General Trusts Co., 35 D.L.R. 435, 28 Can. Cr. Cas. 387, 34 Can.

S.C.R. 381, reversing 29 D.L.R. 711, 36 O.L.R. 244.

POLICE SPY NOT AN ACCOMPLICE.

A police spy is not an accomplice and the practice of requiring corroboration in the case of an accomplice does not apply to him.

R. v. McCranor, 31 Can. Cr. Cas. 130.

CHARGE OF ABORTION.

A conviction for procuring an abortion (Cr. Code, s. 293), made against the person performing the illegal operation, may be founded on the testimony of the woman on whom the operation was performed, although her testimony is not corroborated, there being no statutory requirement of corroboration in such case.

R. v. Sadick Bey, 25 Can. Cr. Cas. 259, 20 Rev. Leg. 149.

CREDIBILITY.

The evidence of one who impeaches his own veracity is to be received with the most scrupulous jealousy.

Baldwin v. Hesler, 38 O.L.R. 172.

REJECTION OF IMPROPER EVIDENCE BY APPELLATE COURT.

Where evidence has been improperly admitted before a judge without a jury, even when no objection has been there raised, it is the duty of the Court of Appeal to reject it and to decide the case on legal evidence.

Royal Bank v. Pound, 24 B.C.R. 23.

REJECTION OF IMPROPER EVIDENCE ADMITTED WITHOUT OBJECTION.

Where the Trial Judge allows in certain evidence to the reception of which no objection is raised, he may on giving judgment ignore the evidence on the ground that it is not proper and should have no weight with the court in deciding the rights of the parties. [Jaeker v. International Cable Co., 5 T.L.R. 13, followed.]

Robertson v. Brown et al., 24 B.C.R. 88.

SEVERAL CAUSES OF ACTIONS—SIMILARITY OF EVIDENCE.

When there are several causes instituted at the same time and the evidence is declared to be common to all, this evidence should be considered as a whole and as applying to each case.

Montreal Invest., etc., Co. v. Sarault, 24 Que. K.B. 249. [Affirmed in 44 D.L.R. 530, 57 Can. S.C.R. 464.]

EVIDENCE OF ACCOMPLICE.

The corroboration which is necessary in the case of evidence of an accomplice should be made by evidence independent of that of the accomplice and which affects the prisoner by fastening or tending to fasten the crime on to him. There should be evidence which implicates the prisoner, i.e., which corroborates in some material particular not only that the crime was committed but also that the prisoner was guilty of it. It is not, however, necessary to produce as corroboration direct evidence that the prisoner committed the crime, it is sufficient to establish proof of circumstances that he had something to do with its perpetration.

R. v. Dumont, 29 Can. Cr. Cas. 442, 54 Que. S.C. 9.

FORGERY—COMPARISON OF WRITINGS.

Evidence by comparison of writing should always be received by courts with great circumspection. The criterion of the authenticity of the writing should consist above all things in the resemblance between the writings compared, in the general character of such writings and not in the way the letters are formed. The most efficacious means of establishing such general character is by witnesses who have seen the accused write when his way of writing was not questioned.

Le Roi v. Ranger, 30 Can. Cr. Cas. 65, 53 Que. S.C. 423.

ACTION FOR MONEY DUE UNDER CONTRACT WITH MUNICIPAL CORPORATION—FALSE RECEIPTS—FRAUDULENT CONSPIRACY—ONUS—WEIGHT OF EVIDENCE—TESTIMONY OF ACCOMPLICES—CORROBORATION—FINDING OF FACT OF TRIAL JUDGE.
Jess v. Hamilton, 8 O.W.N. 489.

ACTION AGAINST EXECUTORS OF DECEASED MORTGAGEE—ATTEMPT TO ESTABLISH PAYMENT MADE ON ACCOUNT OF MORTGAGE—CORROBORATION—EVIDENCE ACT, R.S.O. 1914, c. 76, s. 12.

Bender v. Toronto General Trusts Corp., 11 O.W.N. 9, 129.

PREPONDERANCE OF PROOF.

It is not the number of witnesses, however respectable they may be, but the whole of the circumstances proved by a less number of equally respectable witnesses, which should prevail, if it removes all doubt in the mind of the court and supports the conviction of the contested fact.

Collector of Revenue for Quebec v. Lepinay, 50 Que. S.C. 433.

AS TO FACTS NOT PLEADED.

Evidence, given under reserve of objections, of facts which are not alleged in the pleadings should be disregarded by the judgment on the merits of the action.

Payette v. Can. North. Que. R. Co., 50 Que. S.C. 64.

(§ XII A—921)—EXPERT TESTIMONY—OPINIONS.

Where, at the close of the evidence in the trial of a breach of contract case, upon the motion of the plaintiff under ss. 392 et seq. C.C.P., for the appointment of viewers and experts, the Trial Judge, sua sponte and over the defendant's objection, appoints a single viewer and expert, such appointment will on appeal be set aside as irregular where the directory provisions of the Code have not been strictly followed.

Pontbriand v. Chateauguay, 7 D.L.R. 22, 46 Can. S.C.R. 603.

In an action for negligent driving in a collision case where the defendant is asked by his counsel "whether anything more could have been done than was done to prevent the collision which occurred," the question may properly be excluded as being the point which the jury has to decide, the proper procedure being that the defendant should state the facts without giving his opinion and leave it to the jury to determine whether he could have done anything more than he did to avoid the collision. [Conner v. Kirkbride, 23 N.B.R. 404, following.]

Campbell v. Pugsley, 7 D.L.R. 177, 11 E.L.R. 561.

STALE FACTS.

The fact that the claim made is old and stale forms an additional reason why incomplete and unsatisfactory parol evidence in its support should not be credited.

Cooper v. Anderson, 9 D.L.R. 287, 23 W.L.R. 241, 3 W.W.R. 962. [Affirmed, 16 D.L.R. 852, 28 W.L.R. 203.]

JUDGE—MAY ACCEPT EVIDENCE OF ONE WITNESS.

The Trial Judge before whom a matter is heard is at full liberty, having considered the evidence on both sides, to decide that he will trust and accept in toto the evidence given by one witness.

Foley Bros. v. McIlwee, 44 D.L.R. 5, [1919] 1 W.W.R. 403. [See 24 B.C.R. 532.]

(§ XII A—923)—POSITIVE AND NEGATIVE—EQUAL CREDIBILITY—CORROBORATION—ONUS.

If one person testifies to a fact and that fact is denied with equal certainty by the other, both standing equal as to credibility before the court, that one upon whom the onus lies to prove that fact has failed unless there be exterior circumstances which would come to his assistance.

Rainboth v. O'Brien, 20 D.L.R. 654.

In the estimation of the value of evidence in ordinary cases, the testimony of a credible witness who swears positively to a fact should receive credit in preference to that of one who testifies to a negative.

Hallett v. Bank of Montreal, 43 D.L.R. 115, 46 N.B.R. 62.

(§ XII A—924)—FALSE EVIDENCE.

The evidence of a witness will not necessarily be disregarded in toto because false in an immaterial particular.

Queer v. Greig, 5 D.L.R. 308.

PREJUDICIAL TO PARTY GIVING—ALLEGATION OF MISTAKE—COMPETENCY OF TRIAL JUDGE TO DECIDE—APPELLATE COURT SETTING ASIDE FINDING.

When a statement has been made prejudicial to the case of the person making it, and it is alleged that it was made under a mistake, no one is so competent to decide whether that allegation is correct as the judge who hears the evidence and can observe the manner of those making it. The finding of a judge under those circumstances, that the explanation is an afterthought and should not be accepted, ought not to be set aside except under very special circumstances showing that the judge has misapprehended the evidence or the effect of the documents put before him.

S.S. "Borghild" v. D'Entremont; S.S. "Borghild" v. Jordan; S.S. "Borghild" v. Boudreau, 46 D.L.R. 344.

B. CAUSE AND EFFECT.

(§ XII B—925)—REVERSING JURY.

In an action for personal injury alleged as resulting from infected vaccine used in the vaccination of a child, a finding by the jury that the vaccine was infected will be set aside where the evidence in the case does not go beyond showing that the injury complained of might be attributed to (a) infected vaccine, or (b) infantile paralysis, or (c) any of several other causes, and there is no direct evidence of the use of infected vaccine.

Boillard v. Montreal, 18 D.L.R. 366, 21 Rev. Leg. 58.

(§ XII B—927)—PERSONAL INJURIES—INFECTED VACCINE.

In a trial by jury the verdict must be based on actual proven facts, and not on mere opinion; therefore, in an action in damages for injuries resulting from vaccination alleged to have been performed negligently with infected vaccine, positive proof as to the quality of the vaccine must be adduced to justify a condemnation; the maxim res ipsa loquitur cannot apply, especially where it is proven that the illness following upon the vaccination might be due to one of several causes.

Boillard v. Montreal, 9 D.L.R. 152, 43 Que. S.C. 171.

(§ XII B—928)—DEATH, SUFFICIENCY OF PROOF OF NEGLIGENCE CAUSING.

In an action for negligently causing death, it is necessary that there be reasonable evidence from which it may be inferred that death was due to negligence, since it cannot be inferred from mere conjecture, yet it is not necessary that the manner of its occurrence should be shewn to a demonstration.

Lefebvre v. Trotehewy Silver Collant Mine, 5 D.L.R. 195, 3 O.W.N. 1535, 22 O.W.R. 694.

(§ XII B—929)—DAMAGES.

An award of damages for the wrongful removal by a railway company of a spur track adjoining a coal and lumber yard from which coal and lumber could be unloaded from cars into the yard with little labour, based upon the owner's evidence of the additional cost of hauling coal and lumber from the company's freight yards, is not erroneous, though evidence that a transfer company would handle such commodities at a less sum per day for each team, if it appeared that the coal and lumber owners' teams were better than those of the transfer company and would do more work per day.

Robinson v. C.N.R. Co., 5 D.L.R. 716, 21 W.L.R. 916, 14 Can. Ry. Cas. 281.

The court will not be deterred, by the fact that the evidence is, from the nature of the case, uncertain and unsatisfactory, from an attempt to assess damages where some damages have been suffered. [Chaplin v. Hicks, [1911] 2 K.B. 786, followed.]

Broderick v. Forbes, 5 D.L.R. 508.

C. FRAUD OR GOOD FAITH; MALICE; UNDUE INFLUENCE.

(§ XII C—932)—MALICE.

The fact that the examination papers of an applicant, who was refused admission to the College of Dental Surgeons, were undermarked as the result of a conspiracy between the examiners and the college, is not shewn, nor can a conspiracy be inferred where it appears that each examiner, who marked the applicant's papers differently, acted independently and without reference to the other, notwithstanding that expert witnesses for the plaintiff testified that he should have received higher markings.

Richards v. Verrinder, 2 D.L.R. 318, 20 W.L.R. 779, 2 W.W.R. 102.

(§ XII C—934)—COLLUSION.

Collusion between an architect and a contractor sufficient to invalidate the former's decision, which by contract was final as to the value of work performed or materials furnished for the defendant, is not shewn by the fact that the architect did not make any measurements, nor obtain any account of quantities, and that he acquiesced in the amount the plaintiff claimed therefor.

Hamilton v. Vineberg (No. 2), 4 D.L.R. 827, 3 O.W.N. 1337, 22 O.W.R. 238.

D. NEGLIGENCE; SKILL; CARE.

(§ XII—935)—VERDICT OF JURY—ACTION OF NEGLIGENCE—NONSUIT—NEW TRIAL.

At a trial before a jury in an action for alleged negligence, it is the duty of the judge to decide whether there is evidence from which the jury might reasonably and properly conclude that there was negligence. If there was not such evidence he should withdraw the case from the jury and direct a nonsuit, though it could not be said that there was no evidence at all.

Harris v. Winnipeg Electric R. Co., 29 Man. L.R. 306, [1919] 1 W.W.R. 453.

(§ XII D—936)—MASTER AND SERVANT—VIOLATION OF STATUTORY DUTY BY EMPLOYER—CONTRIBUTORY NEGLIGENCE.

Notwithstanding a prima facie right of action in favour of an employee is established by shewing his employer's violation of a statutory duty, such prima facie right disappears where a finding of the contributory negligence of the employee is properly reached.

Pressiek v. Cordova Mines, 11 D.L.R. 452, 4 O.W.N. 1334, 24 O.W.R. 631. [Affirmed, 14 D.L.R. 514.]

NEGLIGENCE IMPERILING EMPLOYEE.

When a workman in the course of his employment is placed in a position of peril by the negligence of his master in the construction of the works and ways of the master, and an accident happens to the workman in the way that might be expected from the negligence found, a jury can infer that the negligence caused the accident.

Fairweather v. Canadian General Electric Co., 10 D.L.R. 130, 28 O.L.R. 300, 24 O.W.R. 164.

(§ XII D—943)—PERSONAL INJURIES FROM ELECTRICITY—SPECIFIC ACT OF NEGLIGENCE.

It is not enough for the plaintiff suing in tort for personal injuries alleged to be due to negligence to shew that he has sustained an injury under circumstances which may lead to a suspicion or even a fair inference that there may have been negligence on the part of the defendant; he is bound to give evidence of some specific act of negligence on the part of the defendant whom he seeks to make liable. [Lovegrove v. London Brighton & S.C.R. Co., 16 C.B.N.S. 669, applied.]

Till v. Town of Oakville, 21 D.L.R. 113, 33 O.L.R. 120, varying 20 D.L.R. 635, 31 O.L.R. 495.

(§ XII D—944)—CONTRIBUTORY NEGLIGENCE—ANIMALS ON RAILWAY.

The onus of proof upon the defendant company, under subss. 4, 5 of s. 294 of the Railway Act, 1906, to establish negligence against the plaintiff in an action for injury to animals on the track, is not displaced by a finding that the plaintiff was careless in looking after the injured animals, if the nature of such carelessness was not determined.

Maves v. G.T.P.R. Co., 14 D.L.R. 70, 6 A.L.R. 396, 25 W.L.R. 503, 5 W.W.R. 212.

CONTRIBUTORY NEGLIGENCE OF CHILD.

In an action to recover for the alleged negligence of a railway company in running over a child eight and one-half years of age, where the testimony of the witnesses fails to bring out a material point as to the question of the contributory negligence of the child (e.g., why he failed to observe the approach of the car) it is error on the part of the Trial Judge not to permit the child to testify either under oath or in the form of unsworn evidence received under the provisions of s. 39 of the Evidence Act, R.S. M. 1902, c. 57, where it appears that the child understood the duty of telling the truth.

Schwartz v. Winnipeg Electric R. Co., 12 D.L.R. 56, 23 Man. L.R. 483, 24 W.L.R. 5, 4 W.W.R. 319.

E. AS TO PROPERTY RIGHTS.

(§ XII E—945)—PRESCRIPTIVE WAY.

A claim of continuous user relied upon as creating a prescriptive right-of-way across lands is negatived by evidence that a fence had stood at one end of the way for 12 years, over which persons using the way had to climb, although a gate was maintained, at the opposite end of the way for the convenience of the owner of the servient estate, that the way varied greatly as to locality, and that in several different years before the bringing of action, the servient owner had plowed the locus in quo and sowed grain thereon.

Petipas v. Myette, 11 D.L.R. 483, 47 N.S.R. 270, 12 E.L.R. 537.

AGREEMENT TO GIVE PROPERTY TO CHILD — CONSIDERATION — CORROBORATION.

Proof of facts sufficient to make out an express agreement must be given in order to support a claim made by a son against the estate of his deceased father that the son was to have the property upon which the father resided as an inducement for the son to remain at home and work the property. Under the provisions of the Evidence Act, R.S.N.S. 1900, c. 163, s. 34, such agreement, assuming it to have been made, can not be enforced in the absence of corroborative evidence. The statement of the widow to the effect that "my husband told me often that he wanted W. to have the place" is not corroboration of the character required.

Re George Fraser, 52 N.S.R. 122.

PROPERTY OF WIFE — TRUST — CORROBORATION.

Where a husband seeks to have it declared that his deceased wife held certain lands as a trustee for him, his own evidence requires corroboration.

Bachand v. Bachand, 33 W.L.R. 743, 9 W.W.R. 1184.

F. MATTERS AS TO PERSONS; RELATION OF PARTIES.

Relationship of parent and illegitimate child, see Master and Servant, V—340.

(§ XII F—950)—EXISTENCE OF ABSENTEE.

Mere information respecting an absentee furnished by third parties, the nature, origin and correctness of which cannot be established, does not prove the existence of the absentee.

Picard v. Picard, 48 Que. S.C. 316.

(§ XII F—951)—INSOLVENCY.

It cannot be inferred from a letter sent by a company to a creditor, which merely stated "have representative meet the creditors" at a specified time and place, that it was a meeting of the company's creditors called for the purpose of compounding with them, where the proceedings at the meeting are not disclosed, by means of which a special application or significance of the words of the letter might appear.

Re Manitoba Commission Co., 2 D.L.R. 1, 22 Man. L.R. 268, 21 W.L.R. 86, 2 W.W.R. 276.

(§ XII F—952)—MARRIAGE.

In a prosecution for bigamy the clergyman who performed the marriage ceremony is competent to testify that he was an ordained minister and, therefore, authorized to perform such ceremony.

The King v. Bleiler, 1 D.L.R. 878, 19 Can. Cr. Cas. 249, 4 A.L.R. 320, 21 W.L.R. 18, 2 W.W.R. 5.

In an action for criminal conversation, where evidence of a marriage can be proved by an eyewitness, in a jurisdiction wherein the old common-law disqualification has been removed and a party to the action is, therefore, a competent witness, the husband himself is one of the best eyewitnesses and is competent.

Zdrhal v. Shatney, 7 D.L.R. 554, 20 Can. Cr. Cas. 205, 22 Man. L.R. 521, 22 W.L.R. 336, 3 W.W.R. 239.

An extract from the baptismal register of a Presbyterian church in a foreign country certifying to the baptism of a child born of the marriage of two persons and signed by the officiating pastor is proof that such clergyman who signed such certificate is the custodian of records and authorized to issue certificates of baptism; and such proof coupled with that of an uninterrupted public status of legitimacy is abundant evidence of filiation. A certificate under the seal of the clerk of a County Court of a foreign state certifying to the fact that two persons were joined in matrimony is prima facie proof of marriage in accordance with the law of such foreign state, and it is immaterial whether or not that marriage is considered ecclesiastically valid in view of the rules and regulations of a religious body to which either of them may have belonged.

Chiniqy v. Bégin, 7 D.L.R. 65, 41 Que. S.C. 261.

BIGAMY — PROOF OF SECOND MARRIAGE.

A conviction of bigamy cannot be sustained where the sole proof of the second marriage is an admission of the accused that he and the woman "went through a form of marriage."

R. v. Hutchins, 12 D.L.R. 648, 22 Can. Cr. Cas. 27, 6 S.L.R. 229, 25 W.L.R. 1, 4 W.W.R. 1240.

(§ XII F—954)—INTENT.

Evidence is inadmissible to show that the intention of a testator, as expressed after making a will, was to thereby benefit one child to a greater extent than other members of his family.

Re Boehmer, 3 D.L.R. 857, 3 O.W.N. 1355, 22 O.W.R. 287.

HUSBAND AND WIFE — DIVORCE RULES — EVIDENCE OF ADULTERY BY AFFIDAVIT.

Leave may be given upon due cause shewn for petitioner to adduce evidence of adultery by affidavit under s. 21 of the Divorce Rules of British Columbia.

Macdonald v. Macdonald, 18 D.L.R. 308, 6 W.W.R. 244.

G. TO OVERCOME WRITING, PLEADING, OR JUDICIAL PROCEEDINGS.

(§ XII G—955)—PARTNERSHIP AGREEMENT.

The nonexistence of a partnership in fact may be proved by oral testimony in the face of a partnership agreement, and where a Trial Judge accepts as true the harmonious evidence of the only two persons who knew the facts and who signed the partnership agreement and thereupon found the written agreement to have been in fact merely contingent although on its face absolute, the finding will not on appeal be disturbed.

 Kelly v. Sayle, 15 D.L.R. 776, 19 B.C.R. 93, 26 W.L.R. 877.

H. DOCUMENTS GENERALLY; OFFICIAL ACTS OR RECORD; DEMONSTRATIVE EVIDENCE.

(§ XII H-960)—BOOK ENTRIES.

Credit entries in a bank account are only prima facie evidence, which may be contradicted by parol evidence to show that the amount credited was not in fact received.

Pyke v. Sovereign Bank, 24 D.L.R. 720, 24 Que. K.B. 198, affirming 14 D.L.R. 383.

ACTION UPON MORTGAGE BROUGHT BY EXECUTORS OF DECEASED MORTGAGEE — RELEASE OF PART OF MORTGAGE MONEYS ASSERTED BY MORTGAGOR DEFENDANT — FABRICATION OF DOCUMENTS IN CORROBORATION OF STORY OF DEFENDANT — PERJURY IN FACE OF COURT — EFFECT AS TO WEIGHT OF OTHER EVIDENCE — DISBELIEF OF TRIAL JUDGE — EFFECT OF CORROBORATIVE TESTIMONY GIVEN ON FOREIGN COMMISSION.

Toronto General Trusts Corp. v. Peterson, 13 O.W.N. 224.

(§ XII H-961)—CANADIAN NAVAL CHARTS.

Canadian Naval charts, issued under the orders of the Minister of the Naval Service of Canada, are accepted as prima facie evidence to the same extent as Imperial Admiralty Charts.

The King v. The "Despatch;" The Border Line Transportation Co. v. McDougal, 28 D.L.R. 42, 22 B.C.R. 496, 16 Can. Ex. 319, 34 W.L.R. 123, 10 W.W.R. 230.

(§ XII H-964) — AUTHENTICITY OF ENTRIES BY CAPTAIN OF SHIP — WEATHER CONDITIONS.

Evidence from the log of a ship, although authentic as respects those matters which the captain is obliged by law to enter in it, has no evidentiary force for other matters added, such as atmospheric and meteorological variations indicating bad weather and tempests.

Dechéne v. C.P.R. Co., 47 Que. S.C. 431.

I. CONTRACTS.

(§ XII I-965)—In an action for the recovery of a physician's bill for services, where the nature and duration of the services are in issue, and where the physician testifies in detail supporting the claim, and the other testimony is conflicting and unsatisfactory, the evidence of the physician should be given credence, under subs. 7 of art. C.C. (Que.) 2260.

Reader v. Calumet Metals Co., 6 D.L.R. 496, 10 Rev. de Jur. 346.

DOCUMENTS — PROOF BY ATTESTING WITNESS—NECESSITY.

A document to the validity of which an attesting witness is necessary must be proved by his evidence unless his absence is satisfactorily accounted for.

Nichols and Shepard Co. v. Skedanuk, 11 D.L.R. 199, 6 A.L.R. 368, 4 W.W.R. 587.

[Reversed on another point, 13 D.L.R. 892, 6 A.L.R. 368 at 380.]

CORROBORATION — DONATIO CAUSA MORTIS.

In order to properly establish a gift causa mortis the evidence of the donee must be sufficiently "corroborated by other material evidence," as required by the Evidence Act, R.S.N.S. 1900, s. 25, c. 63.

McGuire v. McGuire, 33 D.L.R. 103, 50 N.S.R. 477.

MONEY LENT — PROMOTION OF COMPANY — EVIDENCE.

Jackson v. Pearson, 4 O.W.N. 456, 23 O.W.R. 526.

(§ XII I-969) — WRITTEN OR PRINTED TERMS—WEIGHT OF.

A written clause of a contract is entitled to have greater effect attributed to it than a clause in a printed portion of the agreement pertaining to the same subject.

Mann v. St. Croix Paper Co., 5 D.L.R. 596, 41 N.B.R. 199, 11 E.L.R. 81.

K. MISCELLANEOUS CIVIL CASES.

(§ XII K-978)—INFRINGEMENT OF TRADE-MARK — TRAP WITNESS — CONFUSION.

A person sent as a "trap witness" to purchase an article of a certain brand claimed to be imitated, and who knew the distinctive character of the various brands, does not establish confusion as an element of proof in an action for injunction for the infringement of a trademark.

Ogden v. Can. Expansion Bolt Co., 22 D.L.R. 813, 33 O.L.R. 589.

(§ XII K-979)—INSURANCE MATTERS.

An inference of the cause of an injury may be drawn by the court from statements made by the injured person as to his symptoms immediately after the injury; courts like individuals habitually act upon a balance of probabilities. [Evans and Co. v. Astley, [1911] A.C. 674, followed.]

Youlden v. London Guarantee & Accident Co., 4 D.L.R. 721, 26 O.L.R. 75, 21 O.W.R. 674. [Affirmed, 12 D.L.R. 433, 28 O.L.R. 161.]

In the absence of evidence of the value of insured property it is impossible to say that the failure of the applicant to disclose that the property was incumbered was a nondisclosure of a material circumstance of which the insurer should have been informed. Testimony of the president of an insurance company to the effect that in his opinion, the board of directors would not have passed an application for insurance had the existence of an incumbrance on the insured property been known, is inadmissible to show that the company was prejudiced by the nondisclosure of such fact, since such testimony did not tend to show that the board of directors would have taken a similar view.

Patterson v. Oxford Farmers Mutual Fire Ins. Co., 7 D.L.R. 369, 4 O.W.N. 140, 23 O.W.R. 122.

(§ XII K—983)—LIBEL OR SLANDER.

In an action for slander the witnesses must be able to swear to the exact words of the defendant, and not merely to the substance or effect of them. [Decision of Supreme Court of Alberta affirmed on appeal without opinion.]

Wickens v. McConkey, 7 D.L.R. 602.

L. CRIMINAL CASES.

See Criminal Law, II A—44.

(§ XII L—985) — CORROBORATION OF ACCOMPLICE — DEFECTIVE — OFFENCE UNDER LIQUOR LICENSE ACT — PLACE OF OFFENCE — LIQUOR LICENSE ACT (SASK. STATUTES 1912, C. 64).

Amsteden v. Rogers, 30 D.L.R. 534, 26 Can. Cr. Cas. 389, 9 S.L.R. 323, 34 W.L.R. 1174, 19 W.W.R. 1337.

REASONABLE DOUBT.

In a criminal prosecution the guilt of the accused must be established beyond reasonable doubt.

R. v. Shortall, 28 Can. Cr. Cas. 98, 12 O.W.N. 94.

LIQUOR ACT—POSSESSION—CARRIER.

No alteration in the general rules of evidence or in the principle that the plaintiff must prove his case to the extent required by law is effected by the Liquor Act. Evidence by an official of an express company that he delivered parcels "said to contain liquor" to the defendant, cannot be evidence of possession of liquor by the defendant.

R. v. Scott, 11 A.L.R. 163, 28 Can. Cr. Cas. 402, [1917] 2 W.W.R. 317.

PREVIOUS OFFENCE.

A defect or invalidity in respect to the punishment awarded on a conviction cannot affect the validity of the adjudication as conclusive evidence between the prosecution and the accused on a subsequent proceeding that a previous offence had been committed.

R. ex rel. Nutt v. Tansley, [1917] 3 W. W.R. 70, affirming 38 D.L.R. 339, 28 Can. Cr. Cas. 280, [1917] 2 W.W.R. 1025.

(§ XII L—986)—CONFESSION.

A court should weigh all the circumstances which precede and surround a confession, in order that it may decide as to its accuracy, the observation of the rules in such cases provided, and its validity or invalidity.

R. v. Cummings, 5 D.L.R. 86.

While the matter of a confession in a criminal case should go as a whole to the jury, it is within the province of the jury to accept a part of it and discredit other parts.

R. v. Farduto, 10 D.L.R. 669, 19 Rev. Leg. 163.

STATEMENT OF CHILD—THREAT.

On an indictment for an indecent assault on a girl of 7 years of age, the answers given by the girl to questions put to her by her mother immediately on her return home after the assault, are properly admitted in corroboration of the girl's testimony. The mother's promise not to punish her if she told the whole truth is not an inducement to make the statement depriving it of being spontaneous.

Shorten v. The King, 42 D.L.R. 591, 57 Can. S.C.R. 118, [1918] 3 W.W.R. 5.

TESTIMONY OF STOOD PIGEONS.

Whatever the opinion of the court may be as to the use of stool pigeons in securing convictions there is nothing to prevent a conviction being based on their evidence. The character of witnesses is a matter touching only the credibility of their testimony.

R. ex rel. Tiderington v. Ross, 14 A.L.R. 118, [1918] 3 W.W.R. 950.

(§ XII L—987)—REASONABLE DOUBT.

While neither the character, reputation or extent of one's business, constitutes a reason why he should not be convicted of a criminal offence, or punished if guilty, yet they all have weight in considering the probability of the truth of the charge, and a bearing upon the question whether there was reasonable evidence of guilt, as well as upon the fact whether he was guilty or innocent.

R. v. Britnell, 4 D.L.R. 56, 20 Can. Cr. Cas. 85, 26 O.L.R. 136, 21 O.W.R. 800.

(§ XII L—989) — CORROBORATION OF ACCOMPLICE OR ASSOCIATE.

While it is the duty of a court to caution the jury as to the danger of convicting the accused on the uncorroborated evidence of an accomplice and to advise them not to convict him on such evidence, yet, notwithstanding such caution and advice, a verdict of guilty rendered by the jury will be legal and cannot be set aside on the ground alone that there was no evidence corroborative of that of the accomplice. [R. v. Stubbs, 25 L.J.M.C. 16; R. v. Frank, 16 Can. Cr. Cas. 237, 21 O.L.R. 196, 16 O.W.R. 50; R. v. McNulty, 17 Can. Cr. Cas. 26, 22 O.L.R. 350, 17 O.W.R. 611; R. v. Reynolds, 15 Can. Cr. Cas. 209, 1 S.L.R. 480, 9 W.L.R. 299, followed; R. v. Warren, 2 Cr. App. R. 194, 73 J.P. 359; R. v. Everest, 2 Cr. App. R. 116, 130, 73 J.P. 269, disapproved.]

R. v. Betchell, 5 D.L.R. 497, 19 Can. Cr. Cas. 423, 4 A.L.R. 402, 21 W.L.R. 665, 2 W.W.R. 624.

"SPOTTER" EVIDENCE — DISORDERLY HOUSE.

Pretended negotiations by persons in the pay of the police made merely for the purpose of getting evidence against the accused woman and with no intent of returning at the time appointed by her for purposes of prostitution will not support a charge against her of keeping a common bawdy-house.

R. v. Sands (No. 2), 28 D.L.R. 375, 25 Can. Cr. Cas. 120, 25 Man. L.R. 690, 9 W.W.R. 496. [See 25 Can. Cr. Cas. 116.]

EVIDENCE OF ACCOMPLICE—MANSLAUGHTER.

Defendant was indicted and tried on a charge of having caused the death of one S., and was convicted of manslaughter. There was no evidence to show that the accused was one of the persons present and participating in the affair which led to the death of S., with the exception of that given by two persons which were in company with the accused and participating with him in carrying out a common intention, and who, therefore, were accomplices within the meaning of Cr. Code, s. 69 (2). Held, that the case was one in which the Trial Judge should have warned the jury of the danger of convicting on the evidence given, and that, as he had failed to do so, the conviction must be quashed.

The King v. Morrison, 38 D.L.R. 568, 29 Can. Cr. Cas. 6, 51 N.S.R. 253.

(§ XII L—990)—THEFT.

The denial by a railway conductor of the receipt of a cash fare from a passenger, for which he did not account to the railway company, indicates a purpose to fraudulently convert it, sufficient to deprive him, on a trial for theft under s. 355 of the Cr. Code, of the defence that he might have accounted for it at some other time and place than on the occasion when he made returns to the company for the trip on which he received it. A prima facie case of theft under s. 355 is established by the fact that a railway conductor failed to account, as his duty required, to a railway company for cash received from a passenger in payment of fare, which he denied receiving.

R. v. Martin, 4 D.L.R. 650, 19 Can. Cr. Cas. 376, 4 A.L.R. 329, 21 W.L.R. 658, 2 W.W.R. 602.

CRIMINAL LAW — MURDER — EVIDENCE — DYING DECLARATION.

R. v. Giovannzi, 16 O.W.N. 291.

(§ XII L—993)—CORROBORATION — INDECENT ASSAULT — TIME OF COMPLAINT — ELICITING STATEMENT BY QUESTIONING CHILD.

Evidence of statements made by a child as to an indecent assault made upon her are not necessarily involuntary and inadmissible in corroboration of her testimony because she was led to make the statement only by questions put by her natural guardian and then only after the lapse of ten days from the alleged offence, if there was in the questions no suggestion as to the person to be blamed.

R. v. McGivney, 15 D.L.R. 550, 19 B.C.R. 22, 22 Can. Cr. Cas. 222, 5 W.W.R. 1181.

(§ XII L—995)—EXTRADITABLE OFFENCES.

The evidence to warrant a committal for extradition need not be such as to justify a conviction at the trial. A prima facie case only need be made.

United States v. Webber, 5 D.L.R. 863, 20 Can. Cr. Cas. 1, 11 E.L.R. 379.

EVIDENCE OF REPUTATION — HOUSE OF ILL-FAME.

Evidence of the general reputation of a house as being a house of ill-fame is not alone sufficient to convict the person whose residence it is of keeping a common bawdy-house without proof that the people who go there are of ill-fame or that prostitution is there carried on. [State v. Anderson, 72 Atl. Rep. 648, distinguished.]

R. v. Sands (No. 2), 28 D.L.R. 375, 25 Can. Cr. Cas. 129, 25 Man. L.R. 699, 9 W.W.R. 496.

DISORDERLY HOUSE.

Evidence as to a general reputation of the house is admissible upon a charge of keeping a disorderly house.

The King v. Demetrio (No. 1), 20 Can. Cr. Cas. 316.

(§ XII L—999)—SEDUCTION.

A finding that a woman under the age of 21 years had sexual intercourse with the prisoner on a number of occasions in the year 1910, he being then over the age of 21 years, negatives a charge of seduction under promise of marriage based upon a similar act in the year 1911 alleged to have been induced by a promise of marriage. [R. v. Romans, 13 Can. Cr. Cas. 68, distinguished; R. v. Longfield, 8 Can. Cr. Cas. 184, at p. 187, approved.]

The King v. Comeau, 5 D.L.R. 250, 19 Can. Cr. Cas. 359, 46 N.S.R. 450, 11 E.L.R. 37, 104.

DEATH FROM CONTACT WITH TRAIN — ABSENCE OF EYE WITNESS — NO WARNING AT CROSSING — REASONABLE INFERENCE — BALANCE OF PROBABILITIES. G.T.R. Co. v. Griffith, 45 Can. S.C.R. 380.

CORROBORATION OF CLAIM AGAINST DECEASED'S ESTATE.

Re Montgomery; Lumbers v. Montgomery, 20 Man. L.R. 444, 17 W.L.R. 77.

CONVICTION — REFUSAL TO STATE CASE — APPEAL — SUPPLEMENTING CASE FOR CROWN BY TESTIMONY GIVEN ON BEHALF OF DEFENCE.

R. v. Girvin, 3 A.L.R. 387, 18 W.L.R. 482.

ONUS OF PROOF — VARYING STATEMENTS OF PLAINTIFF AS TO NATURE OF ACCIDENT. Durocher v. Kinsella, 40 Que. S.C. 459.

CLAIM OF SEAMAN TO SHARE IN PROFITS OF SEALING — ORAL AGREEMENT — EVIDENCE — CORROBORATION—DOCUMENTS. Hansen v. The "Thomas F. Bayard," 16 W.L.R. 527.

XIII. Admissibility under pleadings; variance.

See Trial; Pleading.

Memorandum to refresh memory, from pleadings, see Witnesses, II A—32.

(§ XIII A—1000)—The admissibility of evidence is a question of right; its force or its weight is a question of fact given over for the decision of the court of the jury. The only facts admissible in evidence are those set out in the pleadings. Evidence allowed under protest of facts after the action or the dispute and not invoked by a supplementary defence or by a supplementary response, should be rejected as illegal.

Gagnon v. Caron, 56 Que. S.C. 416.

(§ XIII A—1003) — ADMISSIBILITY UNDER PLEADINGS — NEGLIGENCE — RAILWAYS.

In an action to recover the value of a horse claimed to have been killed by an engine of the defendants' railway, the fact that the statement of claim alleges an absence of cattle-guards at the railway crossing on plaintiff's land, does not preclude the plaintiff from relying on evidence adduced at the trial as to a defective fence, where the statement of claim does not specifically allege that the loss of the horse was due to the absence of cattle-guards, but alleges in general terms that it was due to the negligence of the defendants.

Stitt v. C.N.R. Co., 10 D.L.R. 545, 23 Man. L.R. 43, 15 Can. Ry. Cas. 333, 23 W.L.R. 641, 3 W.V.R. 1116.

(§ XIII A—1004) — UNDER PLEA OF PAYMENT—NOTE.

In an action for money due under a contract, evidence of payment by the defendant of a note which he had indorsed for the plaintiff, in connection with the same transaction, is admissible under the plea of payment.

Leblanc v. Lutz, 34 D.L.R. 454, 44 N.B.R. 398.

UNDER PLEA OF ACCORD AND SATISFACTION.

Where the trial is common to two cases, and in one of them a plea of previous settlement, accord and satisfaction, is set forth, but not in the other, the evidence sustaining the plea is relevant to both cases, and the plea may be maintained in the second action on a general denial.

Zelcovitch v. Shapiro, 26 Que. K.B. 286.

R. VARIANCE.

(§ XIII B—1010) — APPLICATION TO INTRODUCE NEWLY DISCOVERED — NECESSITY OF SHOWING REASONABLE DILIGENCE — APPLICATION REFUSED.

The rule with respect to applications for leave to introduce newly discovered evidence must be such as reasonable diligence on the part of the party offering it could not have secured before the trial or hearing; the newly discovered evidence must be material, going to the merits of the case, and not merely cumulative or corroborative, and must be such as ought to be decisive of the case. An affidavit offered in support of the application is fatal to it where it is shown that the manner of obtaining further evidence had been under consideration and was abandoned, and was only taken up again after an adverse decision had been given.

Re Cochrane's Trusts, 52 N.S.R. 271.

EXAMINATION.

See Discovery; Witnesses; Depositions.

EXCHANGES.

Of lands, see Vendor and Purchaser.

Bills of exchange, see Bills and Notes; Cheques; Banks.

BY-LAWS — AGAINST MEMBER ASSOCIATING HIMSELF WITH COMPANY THAT VIOLATES RULES OF EXCHANGE — VALIDITY — REASONABLENESS — UNJUST DISCRIMINATION — PUBLIC POLICY.

Since a by-law of the Winnipeg Grain Exchange, forbidding members entering the employ of any joint stock company that grants rebates from the commission established by the association for the sale of grain, is general in its nature, and prevents the taking of employment in any capacity with a nonconforming company, it is unreasonable and therefore void, where there is no reason for such a broad application of the restriction; and, the by-law is void in toto, since such unreasonable portion cannot be separated from the reasonable portion of the by-law forbidding any member of the exchange becoming a shareholder or officer of a nonconforming company. That a by-law does not extend to and prohibit entering the employment of partnerships which make such rebates, does not render the by-law void for inequality in its application; since it applies equally to all members of the association. Such a by-law is not contrary to public policy because of its imposing a restraint on the liberty of the members of the exchange in the disposal of their services as they may see fit; since such regulation is reasonable and necessary for the protection of the interests of the association. The manager of a joint stock company is within such by-law. The fact that the by-law would have an ex post facto effect on a contract of employment entered into before a person became a member of the exchange, and prior to the adoption of the by-law, does not render the by-law void, where such person on becoming a member of the association agreed as a continuing condition precedent to membership, to be governed by the constitution, by-laws and rules and regulations of the exchange and all amendments thereto.

Matheson v. Kelly (Winnipeg Grain Exchange Case), 15 D.L.R. 359, 26 W.L.R. 475, 5 W.V.R. 950.

WARRANTY—LATENT DEFECT.

A party to an exchange of property cannot be held liable for a latent defect, which he has denied at the time of the exchange, but against which he expressly refused to guarantee.

Gauthier v. Gagnon, 53 Que. S.C. 224.

EXCHEQUER COURT.

See Courts; Appeal, II A—35; Crown; Expropriation.

EXECUTION.

I. IN GENERAL.

II. SUPPLEMENTARY PROCEEDINGS.

Annotations.

What property exempt from: 16 D.L.R. 6; 17 D.L.R. 829.

When superseded by assignment for creditors: 14 D.L.R. 503.

Stay of proceedings in actions by alien enemies: 23 D.L.R. 375.

As affected by moratorium: 22 D.L.R. 865.

I. In general.

Exemption from, see Exemptions.

Rights and liabilities growing out of levy, see Levy and Seizure, III A—40.

Against property claimed by wife, judgment against husband, see Interpleader, I—10.

Title to property acquired by husband managing wife's property, see Husband and Wife, II D—70.

Against shares of stock, charging order, receiver, see Judgment, III B—205.

Against property on Indian reserve, see Indians, II—2.

Against partner, see Partnership, III—10; Interpleader, I—10.

Of declaration of right, see Judgment, VI—255.

Of personal judgment in action for specific performance and vendor's lien, see Vendor and Purchaser, II—30.

Stay of execution pending appeal, see Appeal, XI—720.

(§ I—1) — JUDGMENT AGAINST ESTATE —

EXECUTION ISSUED AGAINST LANDS — LANDS SOLD TO PLAINTIFF — LEGAL AND EQUITABLE TITLE.

Execution will issue and will bind the lands of an estate, when judgment against the estate has been allowed by the executors of the same to go by default. Such execution will be prior to the claim of any person obtaining his title through the executors: provided that the execution is filed before transfer to the claimant takes place. Land Titles Act, R.S. Sask. 1909, c. 41, s. 118, amended by 3 Geo. V. 1912-1913, c. 16. [Morgan v. De Geer, 36 D.L.R. 161, followed.]

Ruttie v. Rowe, 50 D.L.R. 346, [1919] 3 W.W.R. 1120, affirming 46 D.L.R. 164.

In the absence of the legal representative of a company appointed to receive legal notice addressed to the company from the bailiwick of a sheriff where the company had an office, the notice required to be served on the company that such of its shares as were owned by an execution debtor were to be seized on execution cannot be served on any other person unless he has been authorized to receive the same on behalf of the representative.

Malouf v. Labad, 2 D.L.R. 226, 3 O.W.N. 796, 21 O.W.R. 575.

IN GENERAL.

It was a sufficient seizure of the buildings, which were locked up and unoccupied and in a small remote settlement, for the bailiff to put up notices that he had seized them and of the date of sale without leaving any person in possession or attempting to remove them. As a solicitor, at the time of the sale, on the defendant's behalf, gave the bailiff a written notice forbidding the sale, the debtor must be presumed to have known of the day finally fixed for the sale, and the fact that no notices of the several adjournments of the sale had been given by the bailiff became unimportant. Although the price obtained at the sale was only a small percentage of the cost of the buildings, the circumstances were such that it did not appear that any greater price could have been got, and the bailiff was not bound to apply to the judge under s. 185 (now 192) for power to sell, as that section is only for the bailiff's protection and his not acting under it should not affect the validity of the sale. If a seizure is made while the writ of execution is in force, a sale may be made after the writ has expired.
Can. Dig.—62.

Dixon v. Mackay, 21 Man. L.R. 762.

FORM OF WRIT.

Re Writ of Execution, [1917] 1 W.W.R. 303.

(§ I—2) — RIGHT TO — AGAINST WHOM.

Where, in an action against a mining company for wages, two executions have been issued, the one to the sheriff of the county where the head office of the company is situated, and the other to the sheriff of the county where the company carries on its business, the costs of the latter execution will be disallowed in a subsequent action against the directors of the company for the wages, under s. 94 of the Ontario Companies Act, 7 Edw. VII, c. 34 (see now 2 Geo. V., c. 31, s. 96).

Pukulski v. Jardine, 5 D.L.R. 242, 26 O.L.R. 323, 21 O.W.R. 893.

INTEREST IN PARTNERSHIP—PROCEDURE.

The only method by which an execution creditor can reach a partnership interest upon a judgment against one of the partners only, is, not by virtue of his execution, but by a charging order founded on his judgment under the Partnership Ordinance 1899 c. 7, s. 25 (see Con. Ord. N.W.T. 1911, c. 94), without the necessity for an execution being issued thereon.

Re Reid; Ex parte Imperial Canadian Trust Co., 29 D.L.R. 349, 16 A.L.R. 40, 34 W.L.R. 1003, 10 W.W.R. 1110.

LAND TITLES ACT—FORECLOSURE — JUDGMENT FOR BALANCE.

The provision of s. 62 of Land Titles Act, Alta. (amended 1916), that no execution shall issue after final judgment until encumbered or mortgaged land has been sold, or foreclosure ordered, and that levy shall then be made only for the balance due, does not apply to a judgment in favour of the vendor for balance of the purchase price, after the purchaser has forfeited all interest in the land by permitting the foreclosure of a mortgage assumed as part of the purchase price.

Werth v. Davie, 32 D.L.R. 384, 11 A.L.R. 46, [1917] 1 W.W.R. 615.

QUEBEC PRACTICE.

A writ of execution issued by the prothonotary of one of the Quebec courts, on own authority and without an order from one of said courts, is illegal and irregular.

Clarkson v. Marcoux Succession, 14 Que. P.R. 309.

SAISIE-ARRÊT AFTER JUDGMENT—CREDIT ON WRIT OF EXECUTION.

A creditor being able to use at the same time the different modes of execution given to him by law can take a saisie-arrêt after judgment and a writ of execution simultaneously. If the saisie-arrêt is first instituted and the tiers-saisies having declared that they were indebted at the time of the seizure and that they will owe more later on, the seizing creditor is only obliged to give credit upon a writ of execution for the sums received by him up to that time, but not for the debts seized which will only become exigible in the future.

Dessaulles v. De Samboir, 47 Que. S.C. 396.

ORDER OF DOMINION BOARD OF RAILWAY COMMISSIONERS DIRECTING PAYMENT BY RAILWAY COMPANY OF SUM OF MONEY TO MUNICIPAL CORPORATION — ORDER MADE RULE OF SUPREME COURT OF ONTARIO—ISSUE OF WRIT OF F.I.F.A. THEREON—JURISDICTION OF BOARD—FINALITY OF ORDER—RAILWAY ACT, R.S.C. 1906, c. 37, ss. 46, 56 (1) — PROCEDURE — SALE OF PUBLIC UTILITY UNDER EXECUTION.

Re Toronto and Toronto R. Co., 42 O.L.R. 82.

LEAVE TO ISSUE—JUDGMENT.

Wigmore v. Greer, 8 O.W.N. 250.

SUBROGATION—COSTS—ATTORNEY'S FEES.

A creditor subrogated to the rights of his debtor may, in his own name, cause a writ of execution to be issued against the debtor of his transferor; but he cannot include in the writ the costs of the attorneys distraining.

Prudential Trust Co. v. International Construction Co., 24 Rev. Leg. 257.

REGISTRATION OF WRIT — LAND TITLES ACT — TRANSFER OF WRIT — RESEAL — COPY OF JUDGMENT.

In order to bind the lands of an execution debtor the copy of a writ of execution or of a renewal of such writ, delivered to the registrar of land titles must be delivered to him by the sheriff and the words in s. 149 (1) of the Land Titles Act "if a copy of such writ has not already been delivered or transmitted to the registrar" must be read as if they were followed by the words "by the sheriff or other duly qualified officer," the words "other duly qualified officer" meaning "other duly qualified officer acting in the capacity of sheriff." On the transfer of a writ of execution to a new district, unless a certified copy of the judgment is filed therein, the writ of execution when renewed can bind only the lands in the bailiwick of the sheriff by whom it was delivered to the registrar.

Re Land Titles Act, [1918] 3 W.W.R. 90.

(§ 1—3)—AGAINST WHAT.

The provision of art. 2134, R.S.Q. 1909, that the license is only transferable with the consent of the Minister, is a provision in favour of the Minister alone, and lack of his consent to transfer cannot be set up by the debtor in opposition to the seizure. [Durand v. Quebec, 12 Que. S.C. 308, approved.] The rights conferred by a mining license issued under the Quebec Mining Law, art. 2098 and following, R.S.Q. 1909, are immovable property and may be seized under a writ of execution.

Rouleau v. International Asbestos Co., 5 D.L.R. 434, 18 Rev. de Jur. 295.

HOW LIMITED — WHEN RATABLY APPORTIONED.

The Alberta Creditors' Relief Act does not pretend to give a creditor who issues a fi. fa. any right to levy, or to direct the sheriff to levy, for any more than his claim, but merely provides that when the amount is levied the sheriff may retain it so as to give other creditors a right to share, that is, the levy is to be for the benefit of the creditors under certain specified conditions. When a sheriff levies goods under a writ of execution against a debtor he is not prima facie entitled to seize more than enough to satisfy the writ, and any exception to this rule is rather apparent than real, e.g., where there is but a single chattel greatly exceeding the execution debt, in which case the excess seizure is by necessity merely.

Stacey Lumber Co. v. Cazier, 17 D.L.R. 823, 8 A.L.R. 59, 28 W.L.R. 943, 6 W.W.R. 1382.

PRIOR MORTGAGEE OR PLEDGEE — SALE OF COMPANY'S SHARES.

Where the sheriff seizes under an execution certain stock of a mining company, and certain other claimants set up alleged prior assignments of such stock securing loans, the right of the execution creditor to press an immediate sale of the stock, at the risk of sacrificing it, should be determined upon all the circumstances of the case, keeping in view the rights of the prior assignee in the event of their establishing in due course the validity of their alleged assignments; and in this respect the determining principle of the English practice, as to the forced sale of property under an execution where there is a prior mortgage against it, ought to be the guide in Ontario so far as consistent.

Pallandt v. Flynn, 9 D.L.R. 469, 4 O.W.N. 821, 837, 24 O.W.R. 95, 254.

PROPERTY SUBJECT TO.

An execution attaches to land only to the extent of the debtor's interest therein, existing when the execution was filed in the land titles office, as against a mortgage upon the land.

Rogers Lumber Co. v. Smith, 11 D.L.R. 172, 6 S.L.R. 187, 23 W.L.R. 946, 4 W.W.R. 441.

SEIZURE OF CHEQUE TO DEBTOR.

A cheque by the sheriff in favour of the judgment debtor for the latter's remuneration on his employment by the sheriff to feed and care for certain horses seized as to which an interpleader was pending is not subject, while still in the sheriff's hands before delivery to the debtor payee, to seizure by the sheriff under Alberta practice r. 359, considered without reference to the new r. 615. [Courtroy v. Vincent, 21 L.J. Ch. 291, 51 E.R. 626, followed.]

Greigore v. Markham Co., 22 D.L.R. 747, 7 W.W.R. 1096, 30 W.L.R. 427.

EQUITABLE INTEREST — MONEY IN BANK IN ANOTHER'S NAME — TRUST — ONUS.

Under r. 614 (Alta.), the sheriff may seize and sell any equitable interest in any goods and chattels. Money standing in a person's name in a bank, without any indication that it is a trust account, prima facie belongs to that person, and the burden of shewing that it is in reality a trust account rests upon the party making the assertion; unless that burden is met to the satisfaction of the Trial Court, an execution creditor cannot successfully seize under the writ an automobile claimed to have been purchased with the funds of the execution debtor standing in the name of another person.

McLean v. Merchants Bank, 27 D.L.R. 156, 9 A.L.R. 471, 34 W.L.R. 81, 10 W.W.R. 191.

SALE OF LANDS BY SHERIFF — SUBJECT TO MORTGAGE — GROWING CROPS — RIGHT TO SAME BY PURCHASER.

Growing crops upon lands sold by the sheriff under execution, which are not cut at the time of completion and confirmation of the sale, pass with the lands to the purchaser.

Nichol v. Pedlar & Johnston, 50 D.L.R. 47, [1919] 3 W.W.R. 712.

MORTGAGEE IN FEE — NOT IN POSSESSION — ESTATE OF, NOT SEIZABLE IN POSSESSION.

The estate of a mortgagee in fee who has not taken possession of the land is not seizable in execution on a judgment against him.

Cieeri v. Burino, 45 D.L.R. 340.

EQUITABLE EXECUTION — RECEIVER — COMPANY SHARES — CHARGING ORDER.

Equitable execution is not a means of reaching assets which in their nature are not exigible, but is a means of freeing exigible assets from impediments in the way of execution and reaching them when such impediments prevent them being taken in ordinary course; it cannot be made the means of reaching assets not in the province. [Holmes v. Millage, [1893] 1 Q.B. 551, followed.] A receiver by way of equitable execution cannot sell; his function is to receive and hold; and sale cannot be indirectly brought about by declaring the judgment to form a charge upon the property sought to be reached, unless the case can be brought within the provisions of s.

140 etc. of the Judicature Act, R.S.O. 1914, c. 56 (dealing with charging orders). [Flegg v. Prentis, [1892] 2 Ch. 428, followed.] The plaintiff, having recovered in Ontario a judgment against the defendant for payment of a sum of money, obtained, ex parte, an order for a receiver, with a view to reaching shares in a company of which the defendant was said to be the beneficial owner. The company was a Dominion company, having a place of business in Ontario, but its head office was in Quebec;—Held, that the order should be regarded as an interim one, and a motion should be made (on notice to the defendant) to continue it. Quere, whether the company was "a company in Ontario," within s. 140 of the Judicature Act. Semble, if a charging order were made, the receivership would be ancillary to it. The plaintiff's remedy was to make a seizure under the Execution Act, R.S.O. 1914, c. 80, s. 12, etc. A motion by the plaintiff to amend the order for a receiver, by adding a direction to sell, was refused.

Herold v. Budding, 37 O.L.R. 605.

AGAINST LAND — AMOUNT — QUESTIONING.

Land of a judgment debtor cannot be taken under execution for a sum less than $40. Another creditor may take an opposition à fin d'annuler against a writ of execution thus issued.

Michaud v. Destremes, 49 Que. S.C. 486.

PROPERTY IN COMMON — ERIE.

Co-owners of undivided moveable property, seized from one of them, in execution of a judgment against him, have, to exempt their undivided shares from seizure and sale, the recourse to the opposition "à fin de distraire."

Davie v. Caron, 25 Que. K.B. 415, 49 Que. S.C. 2.

COMPANY SHARES — DATE OF SEIZURE — PRIOR UNRECORDED TRANSFER.

An execution creditor can take under his writ only the true interest of his execution debtor, and this applies to cut down the apparent to the true title in the case of shares of the capital stock of a company—the true interest alone is exigible. [Morton v. Cowan, 25 O.R. 529, followed.] The rights of a bona fide purchaser without notice of the writ being in the sheriff's hands for execution are protected by s. 10 of the Execution Act, R.S.O. 1914, c. 80. Shares being by statute made exigible, the writ binds them only from the time of actual or constructive seizure. [Hatch v. Rowland, 5 P.R. 223, approved.] Although a transfer of shares must be duly recorded to complete the title, any unrecorded dealing is not void, but is valid as "exhibiting the rights of the parties thereto towards each other": Companies Act, R.S.O. 1914, c. 178, s. 60. An unrecorded transfer of a share, prior in time to the seizure by the sheriff of the share under a writ against the transferor, which was in the sheriff's hands before the transfer, was held to give the transferee the title to the share, as against the purchaser at the sheriff's sale under the execution, subject to proof of the bona fides of the transfer.

Re Montgomery and Wrights, 38 O.L.R. 335.

LAND—EFFECT OF TRANSFER.

The transfer of land having parted with all his interest therein, the land is therefore not subject to a writ of execution. [Union Bank v. Lumsden Milling Co., 23 D.L.R. 460, 8 S.L.R. 263, distinguished.] Schlosser v. Colonial Investment Co., 9 S.L.R. 382.

GOODS NOT WHOLLY PAID FOR — MERGER OF DEBT IN CHATTEL MORTGAGE.

Goods which have not been wholly paid for, and the balance of the price of which has been secured by a chattel mortgage subsequently released, a cheque being taken for the balance then due, are not exigible by the sheriff under a judgment in an action upon the cheque. This is due to the fact that the simple contract debt became merged in the higher security effected by the chattel mortgage, and upon the release thereof no right to sue for the price of the goods as such revived.

Shenkmán v. Steinhook, 7 W.W.R. 1051.

SEIZING CHEQUE PAYABLE TO DEBTOR.

A company assigned to a bank all debts, choses-in-action, etc., due or to become due to it, as collateral security for its existing and future indebtedness to the bank. Thereafter the company directed its agent to sell off the stock in his hands; pay himself his own salary and forward the balance to it. A sale for cash was effected by the agent, but the purchaser's cheque payable to the company was seized by the sheriff upon execution issued by the bank against it. Held, that at the time of the seizure the cheque was the property of the agent.

Bank of B.N.A. v. Wildren, 9 W.W.R. 997.

(§ 1—4)—TIME OF ISSUING.

An execution lodged in the land titles office and duly renewed, will, by virtue of r. 346 of the Judicature Ordinance of 1898 (Sask.) (now r. 466 of the Sask. Rules of Court), have effect, and priority from the time of the original filing thereof.

Re Price, 4 D.L.R. 407, 5 S.L.R. 318, 21 W.L.R. 299, 2 W.W.R. 394.

EXECUTION DE BONIS OR DE TERRIS — TIME OF ISSUING—DESCRIPTION.

A writ of execution de bonis must be exhausted before the issue of a writ de terris unless a procès-verbal de carence is produced, and it is not necessary in a petition for annulment of a decree on this ground to give a description of the movables. [Rose v. Savoie-Guay, 7 D.L.R. 205, followed.]

James Bay & E.R. Co. v. Bernard, 23 D.L.R. 701, 24 Que. K.B. 6.

(§ 1—6)—JUDGMENT—VARIATION—AMENDMENT—IRREGULARITY—RULES 219, 497, 502.

Sask. Land & Homestead Co. v. Moore, 9 O.W.N. 5, 343.

(§ 1—7)—RETURN OF SHERIFF—COLLATERAL ATTACK—COMPANY AND DIRECTORS.

A labourer with an unsatisfied judgment for wages against a company in Alberta is entitled to invoke the personal remedy against the directors which the Companies Ordinance, 1901, c. 61, provides, on obtaining bona fide the sheriff's return than the execution against the company cannot be realized upon; and the propriety of the sheriff's return can be questioned in a subsequent action against the directors only for fraud or collusion.

Guenard v. Coe, 16 D.L.R. 513, 7 A.L.R. 245, 5 W.W.R. 1044, 26 W.L.R. 626. [Reversed on another point, 17 D.L.R. 47.]

JUDGMENT DECLARING RIGHT TO FUTURE PAYMENTS—ABSENCE OF DIRECTION FOR PAYMENT OR RECOVERY—RULE 533—EXECUTION ISSUED UPON JUDGMENT AFTER ACCRUAL OF FUTURE PAYMENTS—IRREGULARITY—JUDGMENT ENTERED IN CONFORMITY WITH JUDGMENT PRONOUNCED—SUPPLEMENTARY ORDER FOR PAYMENT OF SUMS ACCRUED DUE—RULE 523—SCOPE OF—EFFECT OF SUBSEQUENT LEGISLATION AND AMENDMENTS OF CONSTITUTION OF FRIENDLY SOCIETY UPON RIGHTS PASSED INTO JUDGMENT—ONTARIO INSURANCE ACT, R.S.O. 1897, c. 203, s. 163, SUBSS. 5 AND 6 (3 ED. VII., c. 15, s. 8.)—5 GEO. V., c. 30—7 GEO. V., c. 99.

The distinction between a judgment that "the defendant do pay to the plaintiff" a sum of money and a judgment that "the plaintiff do recover against the defendant" a sum of money, is obsolete, and a judgment in either form is sufficient to found an execution (R. 553); but before any execution can issue there must be a judgment directing either payment or recovery of money. [Hoffman v. McCloy, 38 O.L.R. distinguished.] A retrospective statute will not interfere with rights that have already passed into judgment unless the intention of the legislature so to interfere is clearly expressed; it cannot be inferred from a mere expression of a general retroactive effect. [Re Merchants Life Association, 2 O.L.R. 682, followed.] The Act, 5 Geo. V., c. 30, which amends the Ontario Insurance Act, R.S.O. 1914, c. 183, by providing that no person who has become or may become entitled to an instalment under the earlier Act shall be entitled to receive payment unless he continues to be a member of the society and pays his dues, though retrospective in its operation, did not relieve the society from liability. The plaintiff was not bound to resort for payment to a fund of $200,000 provided by the society, which had been distributed. By a fil

la fil
w
A
"I s, w or in at m
w m et 1
P
11

judgment in appeal, 33 O.L.R. 116, at p. 119, it was decided that the plaintiff was entitled to be paid without discrimination as to the source of payment. Amendments to the constitution of the society, made in 1915, though intended to be retroactive and to include the plaintiff, could not interfere with the judgment; and there was nothing in an act respecting the society, passed in 1917, 7 Geo. V. c. 99, which indicated any intention to interfere with the judgment.

Grainger v. Order of Canadian Home Circles, 44 O.L.R. 53.

ERROR IN RETURN—AMENDMENT.

The return by a sheriff to a writ of execution may, in general, be amended even after execution has been executed, and, in some cases, even though application for the amendment be not made by the sheriff himself. In an action against a sheriff for a false return to writs of execution, held that the case was a proper one in which to allow the return to be amended to conform to the facts.

Gault v. Christopherson, [1918] 3 W.W.R. 898.

(§ 1—8)—SEIZURE BY SHERIFF—LIEN OF EXECUTION CREDITOR.

Where the sheriff seizes, under an execution, certain moneys belonging to the execution debtor, the execution creditor thereby acquires a lien upon the moneys so received, and such lien is protected on the execution debtor subsequently dying insolvent, and the administratrix of his estate is not entitled to delivery up of the moneys so seized for distribution pari passu under s. 52, Trustee Act (Ont.), the saving clause of which section declares, in effect, that the statutory direction for distribution pari passu shall not prejudice "any lien existing in the lifetime of the debtor on any of his real or personal property.

Re Hunter, 8 D.L.R. 102, 4 O.W.N. 451.

In Alberta an execution against lands filed in the Land Titles Office binds all lands of the debtor owned at the time of filing or subsequently acquired by him, while the writ remains in force.

Lee v. Armstrong, 37 D.L.R. 738, 13 A.L.R. 160, [1917] 3 W.W.R. 889.

"LANDS"—MORTGAGE.

The Execution Act (R.S.B.C. 1911, c. 79, s. 27), by virtue of which a judgment, when registered, forms a lien and charge on all the "lands" of the judgment debtor, includes also the interest of a mortgagee; and intending purchasers of the mortgage, also the mortgagor, when making payments, are obliged to search and determine whether any judgments exist against the mortgagee before dealing with him.

Re Land Registry Act; Re Mandeville, et al., 36 D.L.R. 292, 24 B.C.R. 137, [1917] 1 W.W.R. 1522.

PRIORITIES—AGREEMENT OF SALE—LAND TITLES ACT.

The English Judgments Acts (1838 to 1868) and the writ of elegit, if ever applicable to the North-West Territories, are not now in force in Saskatchewan; under a fi. fa. of the lands of an execution debtor, a sheriff may sell and transfer the lands, until registration of the sale, an execution creditor can only sell the property of his debtor subject to the same equities as when the title was in the debtor; when the sheriff's transfer has been registered, all unregistered incumbrances are not protected by the Land Titles Act (R.S.S., c. 41, s. 118, as amended by c. 16, s. 17, 1912-13, gives a writ of execution which has been filed in the proper Land Titles Office priority as a charge on the lands over prior equitable mortgages, liens, charges or encumbrances not registered or protected by caveat. The interest of the vendor who has not transferred the legal title to his vendee may be seized and sold under a fi. fa., subject to the equities existing against the vendor. An execution creditor cannot by fi. fa. obtain subsequent instalments of purchase money due under a prior agreement of sale: he must proceed by garnishee or equitable execution.

Weidman v. McClary Man. Co., 33 D.L.R. 672, 10 S.L.R. 142, [1917] 2 W.W.R. 210.

EQUITABLE INTEREST.

A vendor's lien for unpaid purchase money upon land the vendor has agreed to sell, but has not transferred, cannot be reached by fi. fa. against the lands of the vendor; some form of equitable execution is necessary for that purpose.

Seay v. Sommerville Hardware Co., 33 D.L.R. 508, 11 A.L.R. 201, [1917] 1 W.W.R. 1497.

SUBSEQUENT LANDS.

In Alberta an execution against lands filed in the Lands Titles Office binds all lands of the debtor owned at the time of filing or subsequently acquired by him while the execution remains in force. [Lee v. Armstrong, 37 D.L.R. 738, followed.]

Robin Hood Mills v. Hainson (Harrison), 40 D.L.R. 328, 14 A.L.R. 196, [1918] 2 W.W.R. 58.

EQUITABLE ESTATES—PURCHASER'S INTEREST IN LAND—CAVATS.

The filing of a caveat under s. 17, c. 16, of the Land Titles Act (Sask.), on a writ of execution does not bind the unascertained equitable interest of a vendee under an agreement for the sale of lands so as to make it enforceable against the interest in the lands under a transfer subsequently registered.

Foss v. Sterling Loan, 23 D.L.R. 540, 8 S.L.R. 289, 8 W.W.R. 1093, 31 W.L.R. 860, affirming 21 D.L.R. 755.

SUBSEQUENTLY ACQUIRED INTEREST.

An execution will bind not only the interest of the debtor at the time the execution is filed, but any further interest which the debtor may acquire during the continuance in force of the execution.

Rogers Lumber Co. v. Smith, 11 D.L.R.

172, 6 S.L.R. 187, 23 W.L.R. 946, 4 W.W.R. 441.

LIEN AGAINST LANDS—BENEFICIAL INTEREST.

The cancellation of an unregistered transfer of title under the Land Titles Act (Sask.), and the substitution of a transfer by the registered owner to another party at the request of the first purchaser so as to save double registration on the latter's resale of the land, will not re-vest in the registered owner any exigible interest in the property so as to subject it to an execution against the lands of such beneficial owner filed after he had parted with all beneficial interest therein to the first purchaser.

Mackenzie v. Gray, 17 D.L.R. 769, 7 S.L.R. 115, 28 W.L.R. 322, 6 W.W.R. 914.

CLAIM OF HOMESTEAD EXEMPTION.

The burden of proof and of expense in a claim for a homestead exemption as against an execution lodged in the Land Titles Office against the debtor's lands lies upon the debtor, and when he succeeds only upon proof of extraneous facts as to intermittent actual occupation of the lands and the effect of a cropping agreement with a tenant, he may properly be ordered to pay the execution creditor's costs of an application by originating summons to declare the exemption.

Hart v. Rye, 16 D.L.R. 1, 5 W.W.R. 1289, 27 W.L.R. 9.

LIEN BY REGISTRATION—PRIOR TRANSFER—INCOMPLETENESS OF TRANSACTION.

An execution registered against lands under the Land Titles Act (Alta.), before the registration of a transfer which had in fact been previously made by the debtor, may be ordered to be removed from the certificate of title as not binding the lands, notwithstanding that it was a term of the agreement under which such transfer was made that certain encumbrances should be discharged from certain other lands taken by the debtor in exchange and that such was not done until after the execution had been recorded. [Jellett v. Wikkie, 26 Can. S.C.R. 282, followed.]

Merchants Bank v. Price, 16 D.L.R. 104, 7 A.L.R. 344, 5 W.W.R. 1279, 27 W.L.R. 48.

EQUITABLE INTEREST IN LAND—LIEN FOR UNPAID PURCHASE MONEY.

A mere equitable interest in land cannot, unless authorized by statute, be reached by a common-law fi. fa., and in the absence of legislation giving that right, a vendor's equitable lien for the unpaid purchase money cannot be sold on execution.

Traunweiser v. Johnson, 23 D.L.R. 70, 11 A.L.R. 224, 8 W.W.R. 1028, 31 W.L.R. 712.

EQUITABLE INTERESTS—VENDOR'S LIEN.

A vendor's lien for the balance of the unpaid purchase money is not an interest in the land which can be reached by an execution creditor. [Bank of Montreal v. Condon, 11 Man. L.R. 365, followed.]

Bain v. Pitfield, 28 D.L.R. 206, 26 Man. L.R. 89, 33 W.L.R. 681, 9 W.W.R. 1163.

Under the Land Titles Act, Alta., an unpaid vendor of land has an interest which is subject to execution, and which can be sold or transferred thereunder. [Traunweiser v. Johnson, 23 D.L.R. 70; Merchants Bank v. Price, 16 D.L.R. 104, 7 A.L.R. 344; Bain v. Pitfield, 28 D.L.R. 206; disapproved.]

Adanae Oil Co. v. Stocks, 28 D.L.R. 215, 11 A.L.R. 214, 33 W.L.R. 864, 9 W.W.R. 1521.

STATUTORY LIEN FOR COSTS—RIGHTS OF SHERIFF—CREDITORS' TRUST DEED ACT, S. 14 (2).

Re Vancouver Carriage & Implement Co., 10 W.W.R. 579.

(§ 1—9)—PAYMENT—SATISFACTION—DISCHARGE.

Where, after judgment, the plaintiff placed an execution in the hands of the sheriff and a garnishing order was also issued and the money was realized by the sheriff under the execution, the judgment debtor is not entitled to a discharge of the garnishing order until it has been ascertained whether other creditors, if any, will come in with executions upon which they would be entitled to share pro rata upon the fund in case such other executions were received by the sheriff within the statutory period of three months after the sheriff's notice is given under ss. 24, 25 of the Executions Act, R.S.M. 1902, c. 58.

Kolega v. Genser, 6 D.L.R. 188, 22 Man. L.R. 518, 22 W.L.R. 197, 3 W.W.R. 22.

PROPERTY BID IN AT SALE—WITHDRAWAL FOR INSUFFICIENT BIDS.

Where an execution creditor instructs the sheriff not to sell certain of the property advertised for sale under the execution at a price less than a specified sum, such instruction is equivalent to an offer by the creditor to buy in at the sum so specified and is pro tanto a satisfaction of his claim, where it appears that under those instructions the sheriff actually withdrew the property from sale for insufficient bids and turned it over to the creditor who, by taking it into custody and subsequently offering to sell all and actually selling part, assumed ownership in relation thereto.

Corsbie v. J. I. Case Threshing Machine Co., 14 D.L.R. 55, 6 S.L.R. 118, 25 W.L.R. 466, 5 W.W.R. 153.

SATISFACTION AND DISCHARGE—RESALE OF PROPERTY BY UNPAID VENDOR—COSTS.

A resale by a vendor of a saw mill and machinery after the recovery of a judgment for the unpaid purchase instalments due thereon, will preclude the vendor, except as to the costs, from proceeding with the enforcement of the judgment even for the balance of the claim after crediting the amount realized upon the resale. [Cameron v. Bradbury, 9 Gr. 67; Gibbons v. Cozens, 20 O.R. 356, followed.]

McPherson v. U.S. Fidelity & Guaranty Co., 24 D.L.R. 77, 33 O.L.R. 524, affirming 9 D.L.R. 726.

SATISFACTION FOUNDED ON WRONGFUL LEVY—SETTING ASIDE.

The court has power to summarily set aside a sheriff's return of satisfaction on an execution founded upon a wrongful seizure and sale of property belonging to third persons, the value of which the execution creditor and the sheriff were compelled to repay to the claimants thereof in an action for conversion.

Bell v. Hart, 25 D.L.R. 389, 49 N.S.R. 348.

CREDITOR'S RELIEF ACT—ASSIGNMENT FOR CREDITORS.

The fund realized at a sheriff's sale under execution and an entry thereof made by the sheriff in the form required by subs. 1 of s. 6 of the Creditors' Relief Act, R.S.O. 1914, c. 81, prior to the making by the debtor of a general assignment for the benefit of creditors, is distributable ratably among all execution creditors and those who placed their executions after the making of the assignment but within the period fixed by subs. 2 of s. 6 of the Act. [Breithaupt v. Marr, 20 A.R. (Ont.) 689; Roach v. McLachlan, 19 A.R. (Ont.) 496, distinguished.]

Re Harrison, 26 D.L.R. 157, 35 O.L.R. 45.

PAYMENT—PRIORITIES—EQUITABLE ASSIGNMENT—COSTS.

Shaw v. Canada Motor Car Co., 28 D.L.R. 782, 34 W.L.R. 831, 10 W.W.R. 1086.

PARTNERSHIP—RECEIVER—PRIORITY.

Execution against the property of a partnership which were in the sheriff's hands prior to the date of the appointment of a receiver of the partnership assets, held not entitled to be satisfied in full in priority to executions, which did not reach the sheriff until after that date. [Roach v. McLachlan, 19 A.R. (Ont.) 496; Edmonton Mortgage Co. v. Gross, 3 A.L.R. 500, distinguished.]

Re Natural Gas, Light & Appliance Co., 13 A.L.R. 358, [1918] 1 W.W.R. 769.

RECEIVER — EQUITABLE EXECUTION — ORDER TO RECEIVE JUDGMENT DEBTOR'S SHARE OF ESTATE OF DECEASED PERSON — DEFENDANT EXECUTOR AND RESIDUARY LEGATEE UNDER WILL — APPLICATION FOR ORDER FOR PAYMENT OVER — UNNECESSARY ORDER — TRANSFER TO ANOTHER CREDITOR OF BENEFITS UNDER WILL.

Douglas v. Smart, 15 O.W.N. 141.

SHERIFF'S SALE—PAYMENT—OWNERSHIP.

The adjudication in a sheriff's sale being perfect only on payment of the price, the accrued income and revenue, before such payment belongs to the seized party.

St. Catherine St. Realty Co. v. Loraner, 19 Que. P.R. 307.

DISTRIBUTION—CONTESTATION.

The contestation of a petition for folle enchère by a purchaser is equivalent to a contestation of the judgment for distribution, and such contestation, after the homologation of the judgment for distribution, can only be made successfully if it is authorized by the court or a judge and accompanied by an affidavit.

Friedman v. Marchand, 18 Que. P.R. 140.

(§ 1-10)—LIFE OF JUDGMENT—FURTHER RENEWALS.

Where execution was issued upon a judgment within six years after the date of the judgment, and the execution was kept alive by renewal for more than twenty years, further renewals may be obtained under r. 571, C.R. Ont. 1913; The Limitations Act, 10 Edw. VII. (Ont.), c. 34, s. 49, is no bar to such renewal. [Re Woodall, 8 O.L.R. 288; McDonald v. Grundy, 8 O.L.R. 113; Price v. Wade, 14 P.R. (Ont.) 351, distinguished.]

Poucher v. Wilkins, 21 D.L.R. 444, 33 O.L.R. 125. [Distinguished in Doel v. Kerr, 25 D.L.R. 577, 34 O.L.R. 251.]

FORECLOSURE—STAY OF EXECUTION.

Section 62 of the Land Titles Act (Alta.), as amended in 1916, providing that no execution shall issue upon a personal judgment obtained under power of sale or covenant contained in a mortgage or agreement for the sale of lands, until sale or foreclosure of the lands is first ordered and had, does not apply with respect to an execution upon lands situate outside the province. The court has inherent power, however, in cases where it appears just and convenient, to order a stay of any execution proceedings.

Lineham v. McNeill, 31 D.L.R. 768, 10 A.L.R. 272, [1917] 1 W.W.R. 400.

ABATEMENT BY DEATH—REVIVOR—RENEWAL.

A writ of fi. fa. does not become inoperative, nor a sale thereunder invalid, because the executors of the execution creditor have not revived the action, nor obtained leave to renew the writ.

Mahaffy v. Bastedo, 33 D.L.R. 228, 38 O.L.R. 192.

STAY—PARTITION.

The coproprietor of an undivided interest in the bare ownership of immovable property, which has been seized under a writ of execution, may ask, by an opposition, for a stay of proceedings for the purpose of giving him time to prosecute an action in partition and licitation. He may demand partition and licitation against the usufructuary thereof and his coproprietors.

Martel v. Vigneault, 50 Que. S.C. 363.

There is no power to renew writs of execution which have expired. Even if there is any such power its exercise is purely discretionary.

Labrosse v. Choquette, [1917] 1 W.W.R. 491.

RENEWAL OF WRIT—LOCAL MASTER—REGISTRAR.

The Local Master in Chambers of a Judicial District has power to grant an order for the extension of time for filing a renewal writ of execution in a Land Titles Office. Where the question arises whether the rights of third persons have been affected by such an order the fact should not be determined by the registrar but on a reference to the court or "judge" issuing the order.

Re Renewal of Execution, [1917] 1 W.W.R. 113.

RENEWAL OF WRIT—LAND TITLES ACT.

A renewal of a writ of execution can only operate as a renewal if it is received by the registrar within 2 years of the receipt of the original writ, or if accompanied by a judge's order under s. 192 of the Land Titles Act; but if it is received by the registrar after such 2 years and without a judge's order permitting it to operate as a renewal, it operates in the Land Titles Office as an independent writ.

Re Land Titles Act; Re Beaver Lumber Co. [1917] 3 W.W.R. 760.

(§ 1—11)—SETTING ASIDE EXECUTION ISSUED ON SATISFIED JUDGMENT.

An execution will be set aside when issued on a judgment rendered on an award made under the Workmen's Compensation Act, R.S.B.C. 1911, c. 244, after the settlement of the claimant's demand by an employer.

B.C. Copper Co. v. McKittrick, 13 D.L.R. 111, 18 B.C.R. 129, 24 W.L.R. 939.

VOLUNTEERS AND RESERVISTS ACT—ENACTMENT—JUDGMENT AS NEW DEBT.

Although a debt becomes merged in a judgment, the original debt is not detracted from, and therefore a proceeding to enforce a judgment for a debt, obtained on the day the Volunteers and Reservists Relief Act (Alta. 1916, c. 6) came into force, is a proceeding for the enforcement of a debt due before the passing of the Act; and the defendant, a volunteer, is entitled to the protection afforded by the Act.

International Harvester Co. v. Hogan, 32 D.L.R. 455, 10 A.L.R. 400, [1917] 1 W.W.R. 857, reversing 30 D.L.R. 790.

STAY — SUMMARY JUDGMENT — TRIAL OF CROSS CLAIMS—SET-OFF—TERMS.

Cox Coal Co. v. Rose Coal Co., 11 O.W.N. 22.

On an application for the stay of execution, leave will not be granted to file further material. [Barker v. Lavery, 14 Q.B. D. 769, followed.]

Williamson v. Grigor, 6 D.L.R. 53, 17 B.C.R. 334, 22 W.L.R. 29, 2 W.W.R. 898.

STAY—PENDENCY OF APPEAL—SUPPLEMENTAL MATERIAL—TERMS.

Barthum v. Beckwith, 7 D.L.R. 931, 17 B.C.R. 496, 22 W.L.R. 761, 3 W.W.R. 441.

STAY OF—APPEAL PENDING—DISMISSAL OF ACTION—STAY OPERATIVE AS TO COSTS ONLY.

Ottawa Separate School Trustees v. Ottawa, 25 D.L.R. 783, 9 O.W.N. 324.

STAY OF PENDING APPEAL—WHEN GRANTED—AFFIDAVIT SHOWING INABILITY TO RE-PAY.

Atkinson v. C.P.R. Co., 25 D.L.R. 769, 8 S.L.R. 179, 9 W.W.R. 110, 32 W.L.R. 246.

SETTING ASIDE — PURCHASE-MONEY JUDGMENT—NOTE—LAND TITLES ACT, ALTA., s. 62, 1916, c. 3, s. 15.

Quebec Bank v. Mah Wah, 34 D.L.R. 191, 10 A.L.R. 417, [1917] 1 W.W.R. 1509. [See 33 D.L.R. 133, 10 A.L.R. 413.]

ORDER OF DOMINION BOARD OF RAILWAY COMMISSIONERS DIRECTING PAYMENT BY RAILWAY COMPANY OF SUM REPRESENTING PART OF COST OF BRIDGE—DOMINION RAILWAY ACT, R.S.C. 1906, c. 37, ss. 46, 56—ORDER MADE RULE OF SUPREME COURT—WRIT OF FI. FA. THEREON—MOTION TO STAY EXECUTION—JURISDICTION.

Re Toronto and Toronto R. Co., 43 D.L.R. 739, 42 O.L.R. 82, 23 Can. Ry. Cas. 218. [See 42 O.L.R. 413.]

STAY — OPPOSITION — INTERVENTION — PARTIS—HEIRS.

Where a judgment is executed on behalf of a plaintiff who has died since its rendition, and one of the defendants asks, by way of opposition, that the proceedings be suspended until the plaintiff's heirs have continued the suit, so that he may object by way of opposition to the irregularity of the seizure and the partial extinction of the debt, the plaintiff's heirs will be entitled to intervene in the case to contest the opposition. A proceeding by way of intervention is the only regular mode inasmuch as judgment having been rendered there can be no continuance of suit.

Deuscher v. Cohen, 19 Que. P.R. 329.

COSTS — EXECUTION FOR — STAY — JURISDICTION.

The Supreme Court of Canada gave judgment for the plaintiff for damages for deceit, ordered a reference as to the amount thereof with a direction that there should be a set-off of the amount due from the plaintiff to the defendant under a contract, and gave judgment unconditionally in favour of the plaintiff for costs. Held, that a Judge of the Supreme Court of British Columbia had no jurisdiction to order a stay of execution for the costs, pending the result of the reference.

Barron v. Kelley, [1918] 3 W.W.R. 466. [See 41 D.L.R. 590, 56 Can. S.C.R. 455, [1918] 2 W.W.R. 131.]

STAY PENDING APPEAL—WORKMEN'S COMPENSATION—ALTERNATIVE REMEDIES.

On the trial of this action, which was for damages at common law for alleged injury sustained, the jury awarded the plaintiff substantial damages, and judgment was entered accordingly. The defendant's counsel

there pend
The
the 2 possi
the 1 time ground in th
the p comp pend had comp appe shoul ingly mont paid
Sci
STAY WI
in th undel suspe
a jud prom
Bu
[1917
STAY
I
C
V
I
5
3
3
Sai
524.
STAY
V
I
C
I
D
I Fav
JUDGE
I
V
I
J
J Mc
(§ 1—
The execu torney
[Bef Fla
(§ 1—
C
The time
who perso

thereupon moved for a stay of execution pending an appeal to the court en banc. The evidence shewed that in the event of the appeal being successful it would be impossible for the defendant to recover from the plaintiff any money which in the meantime the plaintiff might obtain under his judgment.—Held, that although sufficient grounds were shown for a stay of execution in the ordinary case, yet as it appeared that the plaintiff would be entitled to substantial compensation under the Workmen's Compensation Act, and as the plaintiff's counsel had announced his intention to ask such compensation in the event of the defendant's appeal being allowed, a partial stay only should be granted, and a stay was accordingly ordered for the amount of the judgment less the sum of $1,200 ordered to be paid into court within ten days, and costs.

Shell v. Regina, 8 S.L.R. 24.

STAY—COUNTY COURT ACT.

When a plaintiff has recovered judgment in the County Court, a judge has power, under s. 113 of the County Courts Act, to suspend execution when the defendant has a judgment against the plaintiff in the Supreme Court for a larger amount.

Butterfield v. Jackson, 23 B.C.R. 489, [1917] 2 W.W.R. 362.

STAY—OPPOSITION TO SEIZURE ON IMMOVABLES DISMISSED ON MOTION—CHARTER OF THE CITY OF ST. JOHN, QUEBEC—53

VICT. c. 71, ss. 512 to 516, REGULATING CHATEL ATTACHMENTS AND 532, 533, 534 CONCERNING SEIZURE OF IMMOVABLES—C.P. OLD SS. 581, 651, AMENDED BY NEW SS. 645, 721.

Saint John v. Decelles, 18 Rev. de Jur. 524.

STAY OF PROCEEDINGS—RULE 523—RAILWAY—DESTRUCTION OF TIMBER—ACTION FOR DAMAGES—STATUTORY LIMITATION OF AMOUNT RECOVERABLE—TRIAL—FINDINGS OF JURY—JUDGMENT—ISSUE DIRECTED—NEGLIGENCE—ORDER STAYING EXECUTION PENDING TRIAL OF ISSUE.

Fawcett v. C.P.R. Co., 6 O.W.N. 634.

JUDGMENT FOR RECOVERY OF PURCHASE MONEY OF LAND—PROCEEDING UNDER EXECUTION AFTER COMING INTO FORCE OF MORTGAGORS AND PURCHASERS RELIEF ACT, 1915—NECESSITY FOR LEAVE OF JUDGE UNDER S. 2—STAY OF EXECUTION FOR LIMITED PERIOD—TERMS.

McMurtry v. Bullen, 8 O.W.N. 401.

(§ 1—12)—PRECIPE.

The fact that the precipe for a writ of execution for costs is signed by the attorney is a tacit consent to the execution itself being taken out in the client's name.

Flantz v. Wills, 14 Que. P.R. 256.

(§ 1—13)—CHANGE OF GUARDIAN—QUEBEC C.P. 621.

The party distrained, being absent at the time of the seizure, may have the guardian who was officially appointed replaced by a person of his choice, even by one of his own servants. Solvency is not absolutely required from a guardian, provided he is beyond any reproach.

Frost & Wood Co. v. Thibeau, 16 Que. P.R. 281.

II. Supplementary proceedings.

Priorities, Creditors Relief Act, Trustee Act, see Executors and Administrators, IV A—85.

Crops, assignment, priorities, see Fraudulent Conveyance, III—10.

(§ II—15)—Where a conveyance absolute in form is held merely as a mortgage security, the equity of redemption may be sold under execution upon a judgment against the person entitled to the equity, although the right of redemption is not disclosed upon the documents of title or upon the registry records. [McCabe v. Thompson, 6 Grant 175; Fitzgibbon v. Duggan, 11 Grant 188, distinguished.]

Wallace v. Smart, 1 D.L.R. 70, 22 Man. L.R. 68, 19 W.L.R. 787.

Ontario Con. R. 903, does not extend to authorize the summary examination of the transferee of a judgment debtor, although the transferee is within the jurisdiction if the sole property transferred was land outside of the jurisdiction and consequently not exigible under execution in Ontario.

Crucible Steel Co. v. Folkes, 1 D.L.R. 381, 3 O.W.N. 750, 21 O.W.R. 302.

CREDITOR'S RELIEF ACT (ALTA.)—CONTESTATION OF CREDITOR'S CERTIFICATE.

Only the debtor can take advantage of mere irregularities in the proceedings taken by a creditor to rank upon the debtor's estate by the deposit with the sheriff of a court certificate obtained under s. 9 of the Creditors' Relief Act, 1910, Alta., c. 4; another creditor has the statutory right to contest the collocation upon the ground that the debt claimed is not really and in good faith due from the debtor, but, by analogy to the rule of collateral attack of a judgment, he cannot take advantage of another creditor's irregularities in procedure against the same debtor in matters which are directory only and not conditions precedent to the granting of a certificate of claim.

Campbell v. Medicine Hat Grocery Co., 16 D.L.R. 471, 7 A.L.R. 365, 6 W.W.R. 561, 27 W.L.R. 748.

SALE UNDER SHERIFF'S WARRANT—JUDGMENT CREDITORS—PRUDENCE OF REASONABLE BUSINESS MAN IN CONDUCTING—NEGLIGENCE—DAMAGES.

The party having the conduct of the sale of goods and chattels, seized under the sheriff's warrant, issued at the request of the judgment creditors, is liable in damages, unless he exercises the judgment and discretion which a reasonably careful business man would exercise under the circumstances. Accepting the suggestion of the sheriff and one possible bidder that the goods be sold en blee, without any further inquiry, is not such prudence.

Fair et al. v. Wardstrom, 47 D.L.R. 16, [1919] 2 W.W.R. 555.

DISTRIBUTION UNDER CREDITORS' RELIEF ACT — RIGHTS UNDER EXECUTION SUBSEQUENT TO ASSIGNMENT FOR CREDITORS.

Section 6 of the Creditors' Relief Act, R.S.O. 1914, c. 81, applies to a case where the sheriff has realized money by sale of a debtor's property under execution, and made the entry required by subs. 1, before the making by the debtor of a general assignment for the benefit of creditors; and the fund realized is divisible among all creditors coming in within the time limited by subs. 2, although after the assignment. [Roach v. McLachlan, 19 A.R. (Ont.) 496, and Breithaupt v. Marr, 29 A.R. (Ont.) 689, distinguished, on the ground that the sheriff's sale in the first case was after the chattel mortgage and in the second case after the assignment, and so the sheriff was selling the goods of the chattel mortgagee and of the assignee.]

Re Harrison, 26 D.L.R. 157, 35 O.L.R. 45.

DISTRIBUTION — INTERPLEADER — ASSIGNEE FOR CREDITORS.

To enable claimants to share in money realized by the bailiff of the County Court under an execution they must observe the requirements of s. 207 of the County Courts Act. Where money has been paid by an assignee to the bailiff under a bond given for payment of the plaintiff's claim in the event of interpleader proceedings being decided against him, and which has not been realized under a writ of execution, it cannot be reached by an execution creditor, and the bailiff should not advertise it for distribution under ss. 204, 205. [Davies Brewing Co. v. Smith, 10 P.R. (Ont.) 627; Roach v. McLachlan, 19 A.R. (Ont.) 496, followed.]

Draper v. Jackson, 26 D.L.R. 319, 26 Man. L.R. 165, 33 W.L.R. 796, 10 W.W.R. 78.

CROPS — PRIORITIES — INTERPLEADER.

A sale of a share or interest in a growing crop, in good faith and for valuable consideration, is valid as against an execution creditor, even though the execution was in the sheriff's hands prior to the sale, this fact being unknown to the purchaser.

Forrester v. Elves, 32 D.L.R. 670, 11 A.L.R. 134, [1917] 1 W.W.R. 1384.

PROCEEDINGS TO DECLARE DEBTOR OWNER OF PROPERTY — FRAUDULENT CONVEYANCE — FAMILY SETTLEMENT — TRUST — GOOD FAITH.

Harvey v. Mitchell, 30 D.L.R. 478.

DISTRIBUTION — CREDITORS' RELIEF ACT — SHERIFF'S SALE OF LAND — PRIORITIES — COSTS.

Rogers Lumber Yards v. Stuart, 29 D.L.R. 771, [1917] 3 W.W.R. 1090.

CREDITORS' RELIEF ACT — SHERIFF'S SCHEME OF DISTRIBUTION — AMOUNT FOR WHICH EXECUTION CREDITOR ENTITLED TO RANK — CONTENTATION — EVIDENCE — INSOLVENT ESTATE — MOSEYS IN HANDS OF TRUSTEE FOR CREDITORS NOT DEALT WITH IN SCHEME OF DISTRIBUTION.

Re Michaud and Larson, 14 O.W.N. 65.

DISTRIBUTION — INSOLVENCY — OPPOSITION.
Articles 672-3, C.C.P., apply to the distribution of moneys realized from the sales of immovables as well as of movables. In an opposition filed to an order of collocation by a creditor, alleging insolvency of the debtor and demanding to be collocated for a dividend, the opposant should demand that the creditors be called in, in conformity with the provisions of art. 673, failing which the court may dismiss without costs the contentation of the opposition, leaving the opposition on the record to be proceeded with according to law.

Cardin v. Vigneault, 52 Que. S.C. 528.

DISTRIBUTION — VALIDITY OF PROCEEDINGS — WHO TO ATTACK.

The report of a scheme of collocation made after the delay mentioned in Art. 794, C.C.P., is legal: And, even if it was not, the illegality could not be invoked by a creditor or by a person having a privilege or claim upon the immovable.

Gadbois v. Denovan, 52 Que. S.C. 81.

INTERPLEADER — CLAIMS FOR RENT AND WAGES — PRIORITIES — STATUTE VIII, ANNE.

In 1910 the plaintiff leased certain lands to the defendants on crop rentals. In October, 1911, certain differences arose, and an agreement was entered into whereby the plaintiff was to receive out of the crop grown on the said lands grain to the value of $6,750, and the amount of certain notes. In November the plaintiff recovered judgment and issued execution against the defendants for $9,016, being the total secured by the last-mentioned agreement. The sheriff made a seizure, and the grain was sold November 29, 1911. The claimants then filed their claims for wages under the Creditors' Relief Act. The plaintiff then disputed their claims, and claimed the entire proceeds as rent. On an interpleader before the Local Master at Moose Jaw, the plaintiff was held entitled to the whole of the money as rent. The claimants appealed to a Judge in Chambers;—Held, that the Statute of 8 Anne, c. 14, does not apply when the landlord is also the execution creditor, the Act only contemplating executions issued by third parties.

Douglas v. Vivian, 7 S.L.R. 80.

MONEY IN COURT — ABSCONDING DEBTOR — CLAIMS OF JUDGMENT CREDITORS — CREDITORS' RELIEF ACT — ABSCONDING DEBTORS ACT — DISTRIBUTION OF FUND BY COURT — REFERENCE — COSTS.

Woodbeck v. Waller, 12 O.W.N. 201.

director were being examined as an officer of the company under r. 902.

Powell-Rees v. Anglo-Canadian Mortgage Corp., 8 D.L.R. 995, 4 O.W.N. 352, 23 O.W.R. 456.

Ont. Con. R. 902, providing that the officers of a corporation may be examined under a judgment against the corporation, includes a director and all who have been such officers. [Société Générale de Commerce, etc. v. Farina, [1904] 1 K.B. 794, followed.] One who has been mainly instrumental in obtaining letters patent incorporating a company in Ontario, and has twice been to England in connection with the company's affairs, and has been a director of the company and represented as the Canadian president, and purports and undertakes to act on behalf of the company, and does not deny that he knows all about its property, may be examined under a judgment against the company as an officer thereof, under r. 902.

Powell-Rees v. Anglo-Canadian Mortgage Corp. (No. 3), 5 D.L.R. 818, 26 O.L.R. 490, 22 O.W.R. 529. [Affirmed 8 D.L.R. 994, 4 O.W.N. 219.]

EXAMINATION OF JUDGMENT DEBTOR'S WIFE

—FOR DISCOVERY IN AID OF EXECUTION

—EX PARTE ORDER SET ASIDE—COSTS

—RUELES 582, 583.

Re Sovereign Bank; Wallis's Case, 11 O.W.N. 160.

JUDGMENT DEBTOR—MOTION TO COMMIT—

FAILURE TO ATTEND FOR EXAMINATION—

UNSATISFACTORY ANSWER—RULE 587

—FORUM—COURT OR CHAMBERS—

RULE 297 (4)—NOTICE OF MOTION—

NECESSITY FOR SETTING OUT ANSWERS

COMPLAINED OF—UNDERTAKING TO ATTEND AND ANSWER—COMPLIANCE

WITH—DISMISSAL OF MOTION—COSTS.

Thackeray v. Brown, 17 O.W.N. 171.

(§ II—25)—QUEBEC PRACTICE.

All immovables to be sold at sheriff's sale should be described according to the prescriptions of the civil law with indication of their boundaries and of co-terminous lands and of the cadastral name and number. Failure to give these boundaries or the proper cadastral description is a fatal irregularity vitiating the sale. In all execution proceedings the movables of the debtor should be seized and disencumbered before his immovables are sold, or at least it should be established by a return of nulla bona that there are no movables to seize; and failure so to do is a fatal irregularity of which any interested party may avail himself to have the sale of the immovables annulled.

Savoie-Guay Co. v. Deslauriers; Rose v. Savoie-Guay Co., 7 D.L.R. 205, 21 Que. K.B. 560.

The amendment to art. 801 C.C.P. by 2 Geo. V. (Que.), c. 50, enacting the proceedings to be taken where the judgment debtor's services are not valued in money does not apply to all debtors, but only to insolvents who have made an abandonment of their property for the benefit of their creditors pursuant to the terms of C.C.P. arts. 853 et seq.; nor does such amendment authorize the court to place a valuation upon the services of the judgment debtor performed without salary for his wife carrying on business as a contractor.

Pion v. Fortier, 6 D.L.R. 136, 14 Que. P.R. 74, 42 Que. S.C. 407.

OPPOSITION—PROVISIONAL EXECUTION—SERVICE OF JUDGMENT—ERROR—FIAT—QUE. C.P. 651.

It is not necessary to serve a judgment ordering provisional execution. An error in the title of a fiat for a writ of possession which is entitled "fiat for writ of summons," is not substantial, and does not give right to an opposition.

David v. Lambert, 46 Que. S.C. 384.

SALE—FRAUD.

An opposition à fin de distraire, founded upon a deed of sale of a restaurant, will not be dismissed upon motion, after the examination of the opposant and of two witnesses on the ground that the sale appeared to be tainted with fraud and bad faith. The sale should be contested in the ordinary way by making the vendor a party to the cause.

Chevalier v. Montreal, 50 Que. S.C. 418.

SALE EN BLOC—ACTION PAULIENNE.

It is permissible to attack, by the action paulienne, the sale of a hotel with the movables in it, when the sale is made pursuant to an action for passing title under an agreement for sale, executed and registered at a time when the contesting plaintiff was not yet a creditor. Advantage can be taken of the provisions of arts. 1569, a, b, c, d, C.C. (Que.) respecting sales en bloc, only by persons who are creditors at the time of the sale and not by those who become so only after the sale.

St. Charles & Co. v. Lavigne, 50 Que. S.C. 392.

NOTICE ON A REPORT "DE NON INVENTUS," BY WAY OF AN ENTRY—DEBTOR IN A LOCALITY IN A DISTANT PART OF THE PROVINCE.

A notice of "non inventus" may be filed when it is the most suitable under the circumstances. Here a legal debtor disappeared from the place where he was domiciled, without leaving his address with his creditors and settled in a distant part of the province. An opposition to annul, based on a flaw in the judgment should, in order to be maintained, move for revocation of this judgment. One who pleads on the merits is not concerned with an opposition to annul on account of an irregularity in the notice.

Choiniere v. Menard, 25 Rev. de Jur. 293.

HOMESTEAD LANDS—EXEMPTION FROM SEIZURE—REGISTERED ENCUMBRANCE.

Northwest Thresher v. Fredericks, 44 Can. S.C.R. 318.

INTE
1
1
Ka
LAND
1
Sic
R. 3
SEIZU
1
Me
CONS
7
Pa
161.
EXEC
7
8
Bo WRIT
A on a laill
Bri
SHER
1
The given at a direct petiti
Re
EXEM
F
G
T
S
Me
R. 27
JUDGE
A J Eve
SHERI
v
R COLLE
C
E
Bro
MARR
L
D
Ad EXECU
v
L
F Sm
SALE
T
C
L
Tho

INTERPLEADER—SEIZURE OF CROP GROWN ON LAND OF A MARRIED WOMAN—SEIZURE FOR DEBTS OF HUSBAND—FRAUD.
Karst v. Cook, 3 S.L.R. 406.

LAND TITLES ACT—FAILURE OF REGISTRAR TO REGISTER EXECUTION AGAINST LAND.
Sievell v. Haultain, 4 S.L.R. 142, 18 W.L.R. 388.

SEIZURE—DEFAULT OF GUARDIAN—DEMAND FOR IMPRISONMENT.
Mérisset v. Harris, 40 Que. S.C. 252.

CONSERVATION — SALE OF PERISHABLE THINGS.
Parizeau v. Meloche Heirs, 12 Que. P.R. 161.

EXECUTION UPON MOVABLES—OPPOSITIONS TO WITHDRAW — ADVERTISEMENT AND SALE.
Bourgeois v. Bourgeois, 40 Que. S.C. 238.

WRIT FOR ANOTHER BAILIFF.
A bailiff has no right to make a seizure on a writ of execution addressed to another bailiff.
Brittle v. Tammaro, 12 Que. P.R. 416.

SHERIFF'S SALE—INSUFFICIENT SECURITY—REMEDY.

The nullity or illegality of the security given by the purchaser of an immovable at a sheriff's sale should be attacked by direct action and cannot be dealt with by petition for folle enchère.
Ross v. Johnson, 12 Que. P.R. 378.

EXEMPTION — JUDGMENT RECOVERED FOR PRICE OF GOODS SEIZED—PAYMENT OF GOODS BY NOTE—ONE NOTE GIVEN BY TWO PARTIES FOR PURCHASES MADE SEVERALLY.
McBride v. Brooks, 4 S.L.R. 124, 16 W.L.R. 271.

JUDGMENT AND EXECUTIONS — PRIORITY AMONG ENCUMBRANCES—LAND TITLES ACT—EXPIRATION OF EXECUTION.
Evans v. Postill, 2 A.L.R. 141.

SHERIFF'S SALE OF LAND—RETURN OF GOODS WRIT—EXECUTION—EFFECT OF ON SALE.
Re Shere, 4 S.L.R. 51, 16 W.L.R. 277.

COLLECTION ACT—R.S.N.S. [1900], c. 182—COMMISSIONER—DISCRETION AS TO ORDERING ASSIGNMENT OF PROPERTY.
Brown v. Marshall, 10 E.L.R. 146.

MARRIED WOMAN — JUDGMENT DEBT — COLLECTION ACT (N.S.)—EXAMINATION OF DEBTOR—PROHIBITION.
Adams v. Slaughterwhite, 8 E.L.R. 57.

EXECUTION AGAINST GOODS OF ONE PARTNER — PRIORITY AS BETWEEN VENDOR OF LAND SOLD ON CROP PAYMENTS AND EXECUTION CREDITOR OF PURCHASER.
Smith v. Thiesen, 20 Man. L.R. 120.

SALE OF LAND UNDER MORTGAGE—DISTRIBUTION OF SURPLUS AMONG EXECUTION CREDITORS — PRIORITY — CREDITORS' RELIEF ACT.
Thompson v. Bergland, 3 S.L.R. 470.

ASSIGNMENT FOR BENEFIT OF CREDITORS—MONEY PAID TO SHERIFF BY ASSIGNOR BEFORE ASSIGNMENT—PRIORITY.
[Clarkson v. Severs, 17 O.R. 592, followed.]

Newton v. Foley, 20 Man. L.R. 519.
INTERPLEADER—SEIZURE OF CROP—LEASE OF LANDS TO DEBTOR—EXCESSIVE RENT RESERVED—INTENT TO PROTECT LESSEE.
Waterous Engine Works Co. v. Wells, 4 S.L.R. 48, 16 W.L.R. 274.

SALE OF LAND UNDER EXECUTION—ALTERATION IN BOUNDS OF SHERIFF'S JURISDICTION—WRIT RECEIVED BY ONE SHERIFF—SALE BY ANOTHER.
Reliance Loan & Savings Co. v. Goldsmith, 3 A.L.R. 197, 15 W.L.R. 53.

ASSIGNMENT FOR BENEFIT OF PARTICULAR CREDITORS—SEIZURE OF GOODS UNDER EXECUTION—VALIDITY OF ASSIGNMENT.
Canadian Bank of Commerce v. Davidson, 3 S.L.R. 403.

STATUTE EXECUTION—SALE OF LAND UNDER — NOTICE REQUIRED—EXCESSIVE LEVY—INTEREST ON DEBT AFTER MATURITY.
McWade v. McEachren, 9 E.L.R. 145.

COLLECTION ACT, R.S.N.S. 1900, c. 182—INTERPRETATION — COMMITMENT FOR FRAUD.
McCallum v. Bruce, 10 E.L.R. 143.

SEIZURE OF GRAIN—EXEMPTION—CLAIM OF OWNERSHIP—TENANCY—BILL OF SALE.
Roberts v. Gray, 17 W.L.R. 277.

EXEMPTION—CHATTEL USED BY EXECUTION DEBTOR IN HIS TRADE OR PROFESSION—MINING CLAIM—SEIZURE BY FILING WRIT.
McRae v. Fooks; Hanna v. Fooks, 17 W.L.R. 287.

EXECUTIVE.

Power of judiciary over, see Action, I B—5.

EXECUTORS AND ADMINISTRATORS.

I. APPOINTMENT; RESIGNATION; REMOVAL.
II. POWERS AND LIABILITIES; CONDUCT OF ESTATES; ASSETS.

- A. Rights, powers and duties.
- B. Liabilities.
- C. Assets.

III. SUITS AFFECTING ESTATE.

- A. On behalf of.
- B. Suits and judgments against.

IV. INDEBTEDNESS; DISTRIBUTION; ACCOUNTING AND SETTLEMENT.

- A. Debts and obligation.
- B. Instructions and control by court.
- C. Distribution; accounting; settlement; discharge.

V. CREDITOR'S RIGHTS AGAINST LAND; SALE OF LAND FOR DEBTS.

VI. FOREIGN EXECUTORS AND ADMINISTRATORS.

VII. EXECUTORS DE SON TORT.

Annotations.

Compensation: mode of ascertainment; 3 D.L.R. 168.

Status of alien enemies as: 23 D.L.R. 375.

I. Appointment; resignation; removal.

(§ 1-1) — SUBSTITUTED APPOINTMENT — NONACCEPTANCE BY SUBSTITUTE — APPOINTMENT AN EXECUTOR AND TRUSTEE UNDER WILL OF TESTATOR'S WIDOW — CONFIRMATION — ACCEPTANCE OF OFFICE BY PETITIONING FOR AND ACCEPTING LETTERS PROBATE.

Re Harper, 12 O.W.N. 208.

DESCRIPTION — "GUARDIAN OF ESTATE."

The appointment of "testamentary executors" can be made by using other words of the same sense, and the intention of the testator to that effect can be gathered from the whole will; therefore, the nomination of persons as "guardians to my estate," as described in the will cited below, is equivalent to the appointment of the same persons as "testamentary executors."

EX parte Allison, 51 Que. S.C. 188.

ADMINISTRATOR PENDENTE LITE.

The rules authorizing a court to appoint an administrator pendente lite do not apply where the estate to be represented is the very estate to be administered, or to the case of the plaintiff, who without right or title has commenced an action and then seeks to legalize his unwarranted act by an order of the court. [Fairfield v. Ross, 4 O.L.R. 534, followed.]

Hunter v. Dow, [1917] 3 W.W.R. 132.

(§ 1-3) — WHO MAY BE APPOINTED — TRUST COMPANY AS EXECUTOR — SYNDIC.

Under the British Columbia practice letters probate of a will may issue direct to a trust company authorized in that behalf without the intervening appointment of a syndic, but the company must appoint a suitable person to take the executor's oath, and an authenticated copy of the resolution of appointment should be verified by affidavit and filed with the application for the probate.

Re Comer Estate, 16 D.L.R. 850, 20 B.C.R. 432, 5 W.W.R. 1359.

ACTION BY ADMINISTRATOR — PROPER PARTY DID NOT BRING THE ACTION — SURROGATE COURTS ACT, R.S. SASK. 1909, c. 54, s. 77 — COSTS.

An administrator, who is not a proper one under the Surrogate Courts Act, R.S.S. 1909, c. 54, s. 77, cannot succeed in an action for compensation. The court cannot assume that the action will succeed on the merits, as the issues, apart from the right to bring the action, were never determined. Costs must be awarded to the defendant. [Forster v. Farquhar, 1 Q.B. 564, distinguished.]

Western Trust Co. v. C.N.R. Co., 49 D.L.R. 668, [1919] 3 W.W.R. 815, varying as to costs, [1919] 3 W.W.R. 612.

ADMINISTRATION ACT, R.S.B.C., 1911, c. 4, s. 12 INVOKED — DISCRETION OF COURT — LIMITED ADMINISTRATION GRANTED.

Re Owen, [1919] 1 W.W.R. 312.

(§ 1-4) — RENUNCIATION — APPOINTMENT OF COEXECUTOR BY COURT.

On the renunciation of a coexecutor appointed by the will, the court may, under art. 924 C.C. (Que.) appoint another executor in his place, where the intention of the will negatives control by one executor only; and such power may be exercised at the instance of a creditor of a partnership of which the deceased was a member, where recourse against his estate seems probable, not only because of the ordinary liability as a partner, but because of facts showing an independent personal responsibility on his part by reason of the manner in which the moneys were obtained from the creditor. Re Küssner Estate, 15 D.L.R. 14, 20 Rev. de Jur. 128.

ADMINISTRATOR OF NONRESIDENT'S ESTATE — APPOINTMENT — JURISDICTION — ORIGINATING NOTICE.

Under r. 433 a Judge of the Supreme Court has jurisdiction on an application by way of originating notice to appoint the public administrator a trustee to administer a trust under a will of a person domiciled outside Alberta whereby real estate in Alberta is devised.

Re Leonard, 13 A.L.R. 241, [1918] 2 W.W.R. 222.

EXECUTOR AN EXTRA-PROVINCIAL COMPANY NOT LICENSED IN B.C. — POWER OF ATTORNEY TO MANAGER — RIGHT OF MANAGER TO BE APPOINTED ADMINISTRATOR — TRUST COMPANIES REGULATION ACT, R.S.B.C. 1911, c. 43, ss. 12, 14 — ADMINISTRATION ACT, R.S.B.C. 1911, c. 4. Re Henderson, 26 B.C.R. 329, [1918] 3 W.W.R. 890.

ADMINISTRATION OF ESTATE — APPLICATION BY BENEFICIARY FOR ADMINISTRATION ORDER — RULE 612 — REFUSAL OF APPLICATION.

Re Foy, 13 O.W.N. 451.

REPLACEMENT OF TESTAMENTARY EXECUTORS.

Although before the coming into force of the Civil Code of Quebec the replacement of testamentary executors could not be left to the judges, art. 924 of the Code, which allowed such replacement, applies to wills made before the Code. If the testator has expressed a desire that his testamentary executors be replaced judicially it may be so done.

Masson v. Bastien, 19 Que. P.R. 462.

SURROGATE COURT PRACTICE — GRANT OF ADMINISTRATION TO NEXT OF KIN, PASSING OVER WIDOWS — PROOF AS TO COMMITMENT OF WIDOW ON CRIMINAL CHARGE — DISCRETION OF COURT AS TO PROPER PARTY TO ADMINISTER — ABSOLUTE OR LIMITED GRANT OF ADMINISTRATION — RIGHTS OF ADMINISTRATION AS BETWEEN WIDOW AND NEXT OF KIN — RULE, ON PETITION FOR ADMINISTRATION, AS TO REQUIRING

RENUNCIATION OR CITATION OF PARTY
HAVING PRIOR RIGHT TO ADMINISTER—RIGHT OF OFFICIAL ADMINISTRATOR AS AGAINST NEXT OF KIN—RIGHT OF AT-TORNEY FOR WIDOW—SERVICE OF NOTICE
ON OFFICIAL GUARDIAN—WIDOW'S RIGHT TO RETRACT RENUNCIATION.

The proper method of proving committal of an accused person is by a certificate under the hand and seal of the clerk of the court exhibiting the records thereof. On petition for grant of administration strict proof is not necessarily required to show committal on a criminal charge of one whose relation to deceased would ordinarily give such one the first right to administration, the allegation in the petition to that effect, verified under oath, being sufficient to enable the court to exercise its discretion as to who is the proper party to administer the estate. Whether a grant of administration shall be absolute or limited is largely in the discretion of the court. Where a widow has renounced administration in favour of another person, an absolute grant of administration to the next of kin applying therefor is a proper one to make rather than a limited grant conditional on the custody of the widow. The next of kin has by law the same title to administration as the widow has, but the practice is to make the grant to the widow, unless some objection exists against her. However the grant to her is discretionary, and the court will, on sufficient cause shown, exercise its discretionary power, and grant administration to the next of kin in preference to the widow (rule as laid down in Walker & Elgood on Executors & Administrator, 3rd ed. at p. 43 approved). It has become the established maxim of the court that where any party has a prior right to administration the court required him to be cited or to renounce before administration will be granted to any other person, but in certain cases, especially where the person entitled in priority was so entitled by the practice of the court and not by statute the court has relaxed the rule and granted administration to one with an inferior title without requiring the renunciation or citation of those with a superior right. By renunciation one waives or abandons his right to administration and is therefore not entitled to be cited or summoned on an application for grant of administration. An official administrator in Manitoba is not entitled to a grant of administration as against the next of kin. An attorney for the widow is not entitled to a grant of administration until all the next of kin have renounced. Where the applicant for administration serves the usual notice on the official guardian that he is about to apply for letters of administration no further notice on his part to such official guardian is necessary. A widow who has renounced administration may apply for permission to retract her renunciation, and if she is given such permission and is otherwise a fit and proper person, there is nothing to prevent her, if the court thinks fit, from obtaining a revocation of a grant of administration to the next of kin and securing a grant to herself.

Re Shulman Estate, [1919] 1 W.W.R. 62.

(§ 1-6)—STATUTORY NOTICE TO EXECUTOR TO APPLY FOR PROBATE—PENALTY ON DEFAULT.

Rockwell v. Parsons, 11 D.L.R. 850, 12 E.L.R. 180.

ADMINISTRATOR C.T.A. — APPOINTMENT OF RESIDUARY LEGATEE—PROCEDURE.

Where there are several residuary legatees and no executor, one of them may take out letters of administration with the will annexed, without the consent of or notice to the others, and may proceed to prove the will in solemn form, either mero motu or in consequence of having been challenged to do so by a party whose interests are adverse to it.

Curtis v. Skellington, 9 W.W.R. 834.

(§ 1-9)—WILL — CONSTRUCTION — APPOINTMENT OF TRUST COMPANY AS "EXECUTOR AND TRUSTEE"—REVOCATION BY CODICIL OF APPOINTMENT OF EXECUTOR AND APPOINTMENT OF INDIVIDUALS AS EXECUTORS—EFFECT AS TO TRUSTESHIP — APPEAL—CONSENT ORDER APPOINTING ADDITIONAL TRUSTEE.

Re Messenger, 6 O.W.N. 667, 7 O.W.N. 125.

ACTION TO REMOVE COEXECUTOR.

A testamentary executor has no right against his coexecutor to seek his destitution or dismissal; such an action belongs to the heirs and interested persons in case of mal-administration.

Waters v. Waters, 52 Que. S.C. 342.

(§ 1-12)—ADMINISTRATION OF ESTATES—APPLICATION FOR ADMINISTRATION—INFANT CHILDREN—NECESSITY OF BOND.
Re Luchetta, [1919] 2 W.W.R. 885.

(§ 1-13) — REMOVAL — GROUNDS — INDEBTEDNESS TO ESTATE—PERMITTING SURVIVING PARTNER TO CONTINUE BUSINESS.

It is not a ground for removing an executor that he is himself indebted to the estate upon a mortgage made to the testator if there are no arrears owing by him upon it, or that he had permitted the salaried and only partner in the deceased's law practice to take entire charge of the closing out of the accounts of the practice for the estate, where the salaried partner, by reason of his name being used in the partnership name, was personally liable to the clients and interested in seeing that trust funds were promptly accounted for, and no impropriety was shown in the partner's administration nor any loss attributable thereto.

Cooper v. Taylor, 22 D.L.R. 393.

JUDICIAL APPOINTMENT—RENUNCIATION—ACCOUNT.

The executor of a will appointed by the court having accepted the office cannot, any more than the one named in the will, renounce it except by authority of the court, or a judge. So long as the administration of the estate continues, he remains executor unless and until replaced in which latter case he must render an account of his administration to his successor. He is not obliged to render any to the heirs or universal legatees until his office expires with the final execution of the directions of the will.

Phehan v. Coultée, 42 Que. S.C. 396.

DISMISSAL—INVENTORY—DECLARATION OF CONVEYANCE—FOREIGN DOMICILE.

The neglect of an executor to cause to be made an inventory of the property left by the testator and to file the declaration of conveyance of ownership of the immovables does not furnish ground for his dismissal. Nor does the fact that he resides out of the province when he did so at the date of execution of the will and has a coexecutor residing in the province. The court is not obliged, in order to decide an application for dismissal of an executor to convoke and consult with a family council before doing so.

Myers v. Myers, 42 Que. S.C. 415.

REMOVAL—GROUNDS—UNPROFITABLE INVESTMENTS.

In a substitution the institutes have the right to perform conservatory acts such as the demand for removal of the executor in possession of the substituted property. An action for the removal of an executor by which it is alleged that the latter is badly administering the property of the succession sufficiently states the grounds for the removal to enable the plaintiff to resist an inscription en droit. An executor who leaves the funds of the succession on deposit in the bank at 3 per cent, when he could place them much more profitable in hypothecary loans, shows incapacity which justifies the interested parties in demanding his removal. Nevertheless, the court, in the absence of fraud and when the executor is solvent, instead of removing him may order him to place the money of the succession as required by law within a specified delay and reserve the final decision upon the demand in case of his default in making such investments.

Robert v. Martin, 48 Que. S.C. 27.

ACCOUNTING—ELECTION.

An action for an account against an executor may conclude for the removal of such executor if he does not offer to pay a certain sum to represent the balance of the account, and the plaintiff will be ordered to elect between these two demands.

Bourassa v. Bourassa, 17 Que. P.R. 452.

DEATH OF ADMINISTRATOR—UNADMINISTERED ESTATE OF INTESTATE—APPOINTMENT OF ADMINISTRATOR OF ESTATE OF DECEASED ADMINISTRATOR.

National Trust Co. v. Proulx, 20 Man. L.R. 137, 15 W.L.R. 349.

GRANT OF LETTERS OF ADMINISTRATION TO INFANT—VALIDITY OF GRANT UNTIL REVOKED.

Belanger v. Belanger, 24 O.L.R. 439, 19 O.W.R. 695.

II. Powers and liabilities; conduct of estate; assets.

A. RIGHTS, POWERS AND DUTIES.

(§ II A—15)—ASSETS—DISPOSAL OF—DUTY TO PREVENT SACRIFICE.

It is the duty of executors when obliged to realize on shares, to exercise a sound discretion and not to hastily and imprudently throw them on the market.

Re Fulford, 14 D.L.R. 844, 29 O.L.R. 375.

EXTENSION OF POWERS OF EXECUTORS.

Genéreux v. Brubeau, 47 Can. S.C.R. 400.

WILL UPKEEP OF PROPERTY DURING LIFE TENANCY BEFORE SALE—MONEY FROM GENERAL ESTATE NOT APPLICABLE FOR THE PURPOSE.

Testatrix gave certain land to her executors upon trust, together with all furniture and personal property thereon, to the use of her husband for life and on his death to be sold and the proceeds up to a certain sum to be paid to the park commissioners of Vancouver for a play ground. Held, that the executors could not apply any moneys from the general estate for the upkeep of the property.

Re Ceperley Estate, [1919] 2 W.W.R. 495.

REAL PROPERTY—DEVOLUTION OF LAND TO EXECUTOR OF SOLE OR SURVIVING EXECUTOR.

Under the Torrens System of Land Titles (Sask.) there is a right to the devolution of land to the executor of a sole or surviving executor.

Re Land Titles Act, Whitman's Case, [1919] 1 W.W.R. 600.

(§ II A—17)—CONTRACT ENTERED INTO BY ONE EXECUTOR—ABSENCE OF AUTHORITY TO BIND COEXECUTOR—FAILURE TO PROVE APPROVAL OF COEXECUTOR—ACTION BY CONTRACTOR FOR PRICE OF WORK AND MATERIAL—DEFENCE OF NONCONCURRING EXECUTOR—PAYMENT INTO COURT OF PART OF SUM CLAIMED—TOTAL RELIEF FROM PERSONAL LIABILITY—TERMS—COSTS—INDemnITY OF CONTRACTING EXECUTOR OUT OF ESTATE OF TESTATOR—STEAM BOILERS INSPECTION ACT AND REGULATIONS—EXPENSIVE LITIGATION OVER TRIFLING SUM.

Jones v. Toronto General Trusts, 17 O. W.N. 259.

(§ II A—21)—AS TO INVESTMENTS.

Where trustees who are vested with absolute discretion as to the conversion of nonproductive securities of an estate, delay the conversion thereof, the proceeds when realized enure to the benefit of life tenants so as to give them the same ben-ent as if the conversion had taken place within a reasonable time from the death. Re Irwin, 4 D.L.R. 803, 3 O.W.N. 936.

SHARES ACQUIRED UNDER OPTION HELD BY TESTATOR—SUBSIDIARY COMPANY—ILLEGAL TRUST—ASSETS—INVESTMENTS.

Nontrustee securities acquired by executors under an option held by a testator to subscribe for additional shares at less than the market value, become assets of the estate to be converted by the executors, and cannot be retained by them as a permanent investment under such testamentary direction. Neither can shares of nontrustee stock in various subsidiary companies received by executors on the dissolution of a company as a so-called trust, in exchange for shares of the latter company held by a testator. There is, in such case, no such similarity or identity between the shares of the parent company and the subsidiary companies composing it, sufficient to permit the executors to retain the substituted shares. [Re Smith, [1902] 2 Ch. 667, and Re Anson's Settlement, [1907] 2 Ch. 424, considered and applied.] Power to retain investments made by a testator does not amount to an implied authority to make similar investments on behalf of the estate. [Re Nicholls; Hall v. Wildman, 14 D.L.R. 244, 29 O.L.R. 206, distinguished.] Power to invest in nontrustee securities of similar nature to those held by a testator at his death is not conferred on executors by a testamentary direction to keep any investments held by the former at his decease, and to invest the money of his estate as it came in in government bonds and securities and municipal debentures, and also to hold any increased stock received as stock dividends or similar additions to the testator's holdings. That shares held by a testator at his death were not fully paid up, so that his executors were compelled to pay the balance due on his subscription, does not prevent them holding the shares as an investment made by the testator, under a testamentary power to keep any investment held by the testator at his death.

Re Fulford, 14 D.L.R. 844, 29 O.L.R. 375.

An executor cannot, except at his own risk, invest money of an estate in disregard of the express direction of a will that it should be deposited in a chartered bank at interest until the arrival of the time fixed for the distribution thereof, and, as no discretion was conferred on the executor as to the disposal of the money, s. 2 of c. 130, R.S.O., 1897, giving authority to executors or trustees to invest trust moneys in their hands or to vary investments already made, at their discretion, is not applicable.

Re Richardson, 5 D.L.R. 449, 22 O.W.R. 605.

DEPARTURE FROM DIRECTIONS OF WILL IN PURCHASING ANNUITIES INSTEAD OF INVESTING TO PROVIDE SAME—EXECUTORS RETAINING ONE OF THEMSELVES ON SALARY IN MANAGEMENT OF ESTATE.

Where the will directs the executors to set apart a sufficient portion of the estate to provide for certain annuities, they should not be permitted to depart from such directions, by purchasing annuities, especially where those entitled to the residuary estate (into which under the will the amount to be invested in the meantime to provide the annuities will ultimately fall) oppose such purchase. Executors permitted to retain one of themselves for work in the management of the estate and to pay him a monthly salary therefor.

Re Charlton Estate, [1919] 1 W.W.R. 134.

(§ II A—24)—DELAY IN DISTRIBUTION—ORDER TO BORROW—SUCCESSION DUTIES.

An order authorizing executors to borrow a sufficient amount to pay succession duties, a small sum advanced by the executors, an existing mortgage on the property, and the executors' commissions up to the time of the application, on the security of a mortgage on the testator's property, is properly made where the distribution of the estate is delayed under the will.

Re Elliott, 40 D.L.R. 649, 41 O.L.R. 276.

BORROWING MONEY TO PAY DEBTS—RIGHTS OF LENDER—TRUSTEE ORDINANCE—SUBROGATION—TAXES AND FUNERAL EXPENSES.

Where a will does not, either expressly or impliedly, give power to the executors to borrow money the estate is not legally liable to a person who has lent money to the executors for the purpose of paying off debts of the estate. [Farhall v. Farhall, L.R. 7 Ch. 123, followed.] Moreover, under the interpretation given by the Ontario decisions on the similar section of the Ontario Act from which the trustee Ordinance, C.O., c. 119, was copied and which must be followed here. [See Ward v. Serrell, 3 A.L.R. 123; B. & R. Co. v. McLeod, 18 D.L.R. 245.] Section 44 of the Ordinance not only makes all creditors of an estate payable pari passu, but prevents an executor from preferring one creditor to others: the court cannot, therefore, order the repayment of money borrowed by the executors for the purpose of making payments contrary to said section. Nevertheless a lender whose money has been used for such purpose is entitled under the principles applied in McCullough v. Marsden, [1918] 3 W.W.R. 725, affirmed 45 D.L.R. 645, to be subrogated to the position of the creditors whose claims have been paid. In respect to money which has been applied to preferred claims, e.g., funeral expenses, or in keeping down charges upon the lands, e.g., taxes, the lender is entitled to be placed in the position which the executors would have held if they had paid them out of their own pockets; and in the case of taxes may properly be subrogated to the position of the taxing bodies and thus given a charge upon the lands.

Re Breckenridge Estate, [1918] 3 W.W.R. 803.

PROMISSORY NOTE—ENDORSEMENT.

An executor, who has received from the testator only the usual powers conferred by law, has no right to endorse promissory notes. When an executor endorses notes the succession that he represents will not be liable for them if it is not proved that it benefited from them.

Carriage Harness v. Grenier, 47 Que. S.C. 310.

(§ II A—25)—COSTS.

An administrator is justified in contesting a claim of a woman for all of his decedent's property because of the breach of the latter's agreement to devise it all to her in consideration of her keeping house for him during his lifetime, since he could not safely recognize the binding force of the claim without a decision of a court in its favour and therefore he will be allowed his costs from the estate.

Leggans v. Trusts & Guarantee Co., 5 D.L.R. 389, 4 A.L.R. 190, 20 W.L.R. 172, 1 W.W.R. 802.

(§ II A—28)—POSTPONING SALE AND DISTRIBUTION.

Notwithstanding a clause in the will declaring that the trustees may postpone the sale and conversion of any part of the estate so long as they deem proper, it is their duty to sell and convert into money as soon as they reasonably can to realize a fund which would be immediately distributable in cash, using the power of postponement to obtain a better return but not for mere purposes of accumulation where there is no direction for accumulation in the will.

Re Caswell Estate, 1 D.L.R. 497, 5 S.L.R. 213, 20 W.L.R. 463, 1 W.W.R. 941.

POSTPONING SALE AND DISTRIBUTION—SECURING AGAINST ANNUITIES UNDER WILL.

Where the will bequeaths to one person a sum of money to be paid from the produce of lands devised to another, the executors upon whom the land devolves under the Alberta system of land tenure upon the owner's decease cannot safely transfer the land under the provisions of the Land Titles Act, Alta., to the devisee without obtaining from him a registrable charge in respect of the annuity or obtaining and registering a court order establishing the charges.

Re Cust, 19 D.L.R. 190, 7 W.W.R. 614.

(§ II A—30)—POWER OF SALE—RULE OF PERPETUITIES.

The power given to an executor by the Trustee Act, R.S.O. 1897, c. 129, s. 16, to sell real estate to pay a legacy for payment of which no express provision is made, is not cut down by the Devolutions of Estates Act, R.S.O., 1914, c. 119. A power of sale expressly conferred by a will does not fail merely because the use to which the fund is to be put offends against the rule as to perpetuities; in such an event the fund goes to those who would take upon an intestacy.

Kennedy v. Suydam, 30 D.L.R. 744, 36 O.L.R. 512.

POWER TO GIVE OPTION — EXECUTED CONTRACT.

Money paid on an option given by an executor, which has expired through no fault of the person who gave it, will be treated as an executed contract, and cannot be recovered back.

Muggrave v. Parker, 35 D.L.R. 427, 51 N.S.R. 370.

DIRECTION TO SELL LAND—POWER OF EXECUTORS TO EFFECT SALE—TRUSTEE ACT, s. 44—SALE TO ONE OF THREE EXECUTORS—CONSENT OF ADULTS INTERESTED—PAYMENT INTO COURT OF SHARE OF INFANT.

Re Ross, 13 O.W.N. 373.

BREACH OF TRUST—DIRECTION IN WILL TO CREATE TRUST FUND IN PART BY SALE OF COMPANY SHARES—SALE NOT MADE BECAUSE NOT IN INTEREST OF ESTATE—USE OF DIVIDENDS ON SHARES TO MAKE UP FUND—AGREEMENT BETWEEN EXECUTORS AND BENEFICIARIES OF FUND (LIFE-TENANTS AND REMAINDERMEN)—SATISFACTION OF COURSE TAKEN BY EXECUTORS—CONSTRUCTION OF WILL AND AGREEMENT—EXECUTORS ACTING "HONESTLY AND REASONABLY"—TRUSTEE ACT, s. 37 — REFUSAL TO PRODUCE JUDGMENT FOR ADMINISTRATION—R. 612.

In an action for an account and for administration, where the executors had acted honestly and reasonably, and had not been guilty of a breach of trust, they ought fairly to be excused. Trustee Act, R.S.O. 1914, c. 121, s. 37. Accordingly, an account could not be directed to be taken on the footing of a wilful default; and no sufficient reason was shown for taking the management of the estate out of the hands of the executors by pronouncing a judgment for administration, r. 612.

Elliott v. Colter, 45 O.L.R. 360.

A testator devised all his real and personal property to trustees "upon trust to sell and convert into money such real and personal estate." The trustees sold an undivided three-eighths part or share of a block of the land so devised. Held, that the power given the trustees did not authorize the sale of an undivided three-eighths part or share of a block of the land so devised, nor of an undivided interest in real property.

Re Land Registry Act and Anthony, 22 B.C.R. 535.

DIRECTION TO EXECUTORS TO SELL LAND AND INVEST PROCEEDS—SALE OF LAND BY TESTATOR AS NO REVOCATION OF WILL—DUTY OF EXECUTORS TO PAY OVER INCOME FROM ESTATE TO WIDOW DURING LIFETIME—DISTRIBUTION AFTER DEATH OF WIDOW.

Re Hobbs, 10 O.W.N. 437.

POWER OF EXECUTOR TO SELL LANDS—TIME—BEST INTEREST OF ESTATE—DELAY—POWER OF SALE STILL PRESERVED.

Re Henderson and Hill, 10 O.W.N. 340.

DIVISION OF FARM AMONG SONS—APPOINTMENT OF TRUSTEE TO MAKE DIVISION IF SONS SHOULD NOT AGREE—POWERS OF TRUSTEE—SALE OF LAND—COUNTY COURT JUDGE—RIGHT OF APPEAL.

Re Pherrill, 10 O.W.N. 459.

RIGHT TO PROPERTY OF TESTATOR—INVENTION OF RELATIVES IN POSSESSION OF ASSETS TO OPPOSE GRANT OF PROBATE OF WILL—INUNCTION.

Longstreet v. Sanderson, 11 O.W.N. 166.

TITLE—POWER OF SALE—REGISTRATION.

An unrestricted power of sale over real estate given to executors does not confer upon them an ownership in such real estate, and their interest should be registered merely as a charge.

Re Prefontaine, [1917] 1 W.W.R. 667.

(§ II A—40)—DISPOSAL OF REAL PROPERTY.

Under the provisions of the Devolution of Estates Act (Man.), as amended by s. 2, of c. 21 of 5 & 6 Edw. VII. (Man.), a sale of land of a decedent cannot be made by the administrators without the approval of the Registrar-General where there are no debts and there are adult heirs who do not concur in the sale, or where there are infants interested.

Melnis Farms v. McKenzie, 12 D.L.R. 100, 23 Man. L.R. 120, 23 W.L.R. 863, 4 W.W.R. 205.

In Manitoba an administrator is liable to creditors for real estate assets in his hands.

Re Montgomery; Lumbers v. Montgomery, 8 D.L.R. 699, 22 Man. L.R. 735, 22 W.L.R. 634, 3 W.W.R. 295.

POWER TO SELL AND CONVEY LAND—INTEREST OF INFANTS—APPROVAL OF COURT—VENDORS AND PURCHASERS ACT.

Re Burridge, 4 O.W.N. 1605, 24 O.W.R. 962.

WILL—CONSTRUCTION—POWER OF EXECUTORS OF DECEASED EXECUTRIX TO CONVEY LANDS OF TESTATOR.

Re Macaulay, 7 O.W.N. 134.

(§ II A—41)—PARTNERSHIP REAL ESTATE.

Where the executors of a deceased member of a partnership are empowered by a Michigan Court of Chancery to sell to themselves partnership lands situated in Ontario and to execute the necessary conveyance thereof, the administrator of the surviving partner, who was appointed by the Surrogate Court of Ontario, need not join in such conveyance.

Re Mills, 3 D.L.R. 614, 3 O.W.N. 1036, 21 O.W.R. 887.

(§ II A—42)—SALE BY ORDER OF COURT.

An application by administrators, for the approval of a sale of lands belonging to the estate may be made in Saskatchewan by way of an originating summons issued pursuant to the provisions of subs. 8, s. 624, of the Sask. Rules of Court (1911), following statutory form 80, and returnable before a Judge in Chambers. Administrators as trustees for the next of kin of the intestate have no right to purchase property belonging to the estate without the leave of the court, but a sale of land by the estate to one of the administrators may be approved and leave given to the administrator to purchase where the sale is an advantageous one for the estate.

Re Lockhart, 1 D.L.R. 754, 20 W.L.R. 413, 1 W.W.R. 933.

DEVOLUTION OF ESTATES ACT—APPROVAL OF ADULTS INTERESTED IN ESTATE—SALE WITHOUT APPLICATION TO OFFICIAL GUARDIAN—CONFIRMATION—TERMS.

Re McDonald, 5 O.W.N. 238, 25 O.W.R. 221.

(§ II A—43)—A decree of a court of competent jurisdiction directing the sale of lands of a deceased person to his executors will protect the purchasers where all or a part of the purchase money has been received by the testator's beneficiaries.

Re Mills, 3 D.L.R. 614, 3 O.W.N. 1036, 21 O.W.R. 887.

TRANSFERRING PROPERTY AS SECURITY FOR DECEDENT'S DEBT.

An executor has no authority under Quebec law to transfer property of an estate to secure payment of an unsecured debt of his decedent.

Klock v. Molsons Bank (No. 2), 3 D.L.R. 521, 44 Que. S.C. 193.

FRAUD—PURCHASE FROM CESTUI QUE TRUST—LIMITATIONS ACT—LIABILITY OF EXECUTOR—ACCOUNTS—INTEREST—COSTS.

Under a will, the defendants, two of the four sons of the testator were trustees of property which was vested in them, and was to be distributed among the four in equal shares, the distribution being left in the hands of the four individually, and not in the hands of the defendants as trustees and executors. The complaint of the plaintiff, one of the four, was that, certain residuary real estate having been apportioned in shares, the defendants, by fraud, obtained from the plaintiff a deed of his share, sold it to an innocent purchaser, and then laid out the proceeds in other land, on which they had made a profit. Held, affirming the finding of Riddell, J., the Trial Judge, that no fraud or overreaching on the part of the defendants had been shown. In the distribution, the homestead was conveyed to R., one of the defendants, and in the conveyance was included lot 2, which was not a part of the homestead, and was not mentioned by the defendant as part of R.'s share, and not noticed by the plaintiff when he signed the deed, which he did without reading it, although he was requested to read it. Held, that the defendants as to the division did not stand towards the plaintiff in a fiduciary relationship; they were bare trustees, bound to divest themselves of the legal estate in the way determined by the court; and were not brought within the rule against purchases from cestui que trust; but, assuming that they were trustees, they acted honestly and reasonably, and should, after the lapse of many years, have the benefit of ss. 46, 47, 48 of the Limitations Act, R.S.O. 1914, c. 75. And held, as to R., that, having got lot 2 as part of his share, and having sold it and received the proceeds, he should account personally to the plaintiff for his share thereof, were it not that the Limitations Act was a bar in his case also—there was no concealed fraud which prevented him from claiming the benefit of the statute. The plaintiff also claimed in this action to recover one quarter of the amount found by a Surrogate Court Judge to be in the hands of the defendants as executors. It appeared that the judge had, in taking the accounts, allowed the parties for all the payments made by them during the father's lifetime in order to preserve the property, and had deducted the amount of these payments from the amount for which the executors were chargeable. Held, that the evidence before the judge warranted this, and his approval was final and binding upon all the parties represented, except in so far as fraud or mistake might be shewn. [Re Wilson and Toronto General Trusts Corp., 15 O.L.R. 596, followed.] Held, also, that the plaintiff was entitled to bring an action upon the footing of these accounts just as if they were settled accounts, in case due payment was not made by the executors, or might make an application for an administration order if circumstances warranted that course. Held, therefore, varying the judgment of Riddell, J., that the plaintiff was entitled to judgment for his share of the moneys in the hands of the defendants, with such interest as the amount had borne since it was paid into court in this action.

Tyrrell v. Tyrrell, 43 O.L.R. 272; 14 O.W.N. 265, reversing in part 13 O.W.N. 105.

(§ II A—44)—MORTGAGE TO PAY ANNUITY.

Where a will provides for an annuity to be paid by the executors to the testator's widow "so long as my estate will pay the same," after giving a life interest in the family residence to the widow and a devise of land to the testator's son, and providing for other bequests with a direction that at the decease of the widow the proceeds of the residue and remainder of the estate, both real and personal, including the family residence, be divided among certain persons, the executors have no right to raise the annuity by way of a mortgage on the family residence or on the land devised to the son, the widow being entitled to the annuity only if there is cash enough on hand to pay for the same.

Re Erskine, 10 D.L.R. 93, 4 O.W.N. 702, 24 O.W.R. 15.

MORTGAGE OF REAL ESTATE.

After land has been transferred and conveyed by executors to the one to whom it was devised, the former cannot be authorized, under paras. 7, 8, Sask., r. 624, to execute a mortgage thereon.

Re Mater Estate, 4 D.L.R. 6, 21 W.L.R. 283.

CONDUCT OF ESTATE—HOMESTEAD AND EXEMPTION LANDS—MORTGAGE BY EXECUTOR—INFANT DEVISEES—RIGHT TO HAVE TRUST DECLARED.

Roberts v. National Trust Co., 23 D.L.R. 890, 32 W.L.R. 55.

B. LIABILITIES.

Liability for maintenance, request, see Wills, III G—150.

Under subs. (b) of s. 21 of the Devolution of Estates Act (Man.), declaring that the personal representative shall hold the land as trustee for the person beneficially entitled, the trust relationship of the administrator is the same in both real and personal property.

Re Montgomery, Lumbers v. Montgomery, 8 D.L.R. 699, 22 Man. L.R. 735, 22 W.L.R. 634, 3 W.W.R. 295.

(§ II B—45)—LIABILITY OF EXECUTOR—SECRET PROFITS.

A sole beneficiary under a will has a prima facie interest in an estate sufficient to maintain an action to compel an executor to account for a secret profit made on the sale of assets of the estate, even though the beneficiary may not ultimately share in the estate by reason of the debts exceeding the assets.

Shaw v. Tackaberry, 15 D.L.R. 475, 29 O.L.R. 490.

FRAUD—FAILURE TO PROVE—CLAIM TO MONEYS FOUND DUE BY SURROGATE COURT—FORUM—CREDIBILITY OF WITNESSES.

Tyrrell v. Tyrrell, 43 O.L.R. 272.

REFUSAL OF EXECUTOR TO ADMINISTER ESTATE—ESTATE OF WIDOW DURANTE VITAE—FAILURE TO PROVE REMARRIAGE OF WIDOW—CLAIM OF TITLE BY POSSESSION—EVIDENCE—JUDGMENT FOR ADMINISTRATION—MAINTENANCE OF CHILD ENTITLED IN REMAINDER—IMPROVEMENTS UNDER MISTAKE OF TITLE—COSTS.

Trainor v. O'Callaghan, 11 O.W.N. 315.

MAINTENANCE OF CHILDREN — LIABILITY FOR TUITION FEES.

In a case where a testator has appointed his wife his executrix with instructions to have his children educated, and a tutor is appointed for the children who without opposition on their part looks after their maintenance and education and incurs therefor expenses to the amount of $395, the executrix will be obliged to pay this amount the tutor having acted as her negotiorum gestor. A testator has the right to give to his executor the control of the education of his children.

Bruneau v. Paquette, 48 Que. S.C. 282.

C. ASSETS.

(§ II C—55)—UNDISPOSED PORTION—VOID GIFT OF BANK DEPOSIT.

Upon the failure of a testamentary gift of a bank deposit in the joint name of a testator and another, where the money was not disposed of by will or otherwise, it becomes undisposed property of the testator's estate.

Vogler v. Campbell, 11 D.L.R. 605, 4 O.W.N. 1389, 24 O.W.R. 680. [Reversed 14 D.L.R. 480, 5 O.W.N. 169.]

ASSETS OF ESTATE OF INTESTATE—BANK SHARES SUBJECT TO DOUBLE LIABILITY CLAIM — DISTRIBUTION OF SHARES AMONG NEXT OF KIN—PERSONAL LIABILITY OF ADMINISTRATORS—LIABILITY OF ASSETS—BANK ACT, ss. 53, 130—DEFASTAVIT — LIMITATIONS ACT—BAR TO CLAIM UPON DEFASTAVIT, BUT NOT TO CLAIM UPON CONTRACT—TIME WHEN CALLS MADE — PERSONS TO WHOM SHARES TRANSFERRED—TRANSFERS NOT RECORDED—SECTION 43 OF BANK ACT—EQUITABLE OBLIGATION TO PAY—LIABILITY NOT ONLY UPON SHARES TRANSFERRED BUT TO EXTENT OF ASSETS RECEIVED—COSTS.

Clarkson v. McLean, 42 O.L.R. 1.

RIGHT TO SELL—EXEMPTIONS ACT—CONFIRMATION OF SALE.

An administrator has no authority to dispose of property covered by s. 5 of the Exemptions Act, R.S.S., c. 47. A sale thereof which has been made by the administrator honestly and in good faith and is beneficial, may be confirmed, however, by the court, whereon an order will be made for the payment of the proceeds to the widow and children.

Re Kolbe Estate—Standard Trusts Co. v. Kolbe, 11 S.L.R. 405, [1918] 3 W.W.R. 310. LIQUIDATION OF ESTATE—ACTS OF TRADE—ABANDONMENT.

Upon the death of a trader his quality of trader does not pass to his heirs with his estate. Acts done by the testamentary executors of a trader to realize the assets of the estate, to close up deals begun, to terminate contracts on hand, or to free the estate from onerous obligations, without any intention of profit, do not constitute acts of trade, nor render the testamentary executors liable to the provisions of the law concerning abandonment of property.

Henry v. Seaton, 54 Que. S.C. 289.

DEVOLUTION OF ESTATES ACT—CAUTION—ORDER ALLOWING ADMINISTRATRIX TO REGISTER — APPLICATION TO VACATE ORDER—ADMINISTRATION ORDER—APPLICATION FOR PARTITION.

Re McCully, 23 O.L.R. 156, 17 O.W.R. 846.

ADMINISTRATION OF ESTATE—EXECUTORS—BREACH OF TRUST—DEVOLUTION OF ESTATES ACT.

McKinley v. Graham, 3 O.W.N. 256, 20 O.W.R. 441.

EXECUTORS SUBSCRIBING FOR STOCK IN A COMPANY—ABSENT BENEFICIARY OFFICIAL GUARDIAN.

Re Burke, 19 O.W.R. 924, 2 O.W.N. 1513.

SALE OF LANDS—NO POWER TO SELL IN WILL—PERMANENT IMPROVEMENTS.

Rose v. Parent, 2 O.W.N. 783, 18 O.W.R. 745.

SALE OF LAND TO TESTATOR'S SON—WHEN ALLOWED.

Order may be made allowing executors to sell lands to the son of the testator, less the amount of a mortgage on the same paid by him, and of which he holds an assignment.

Re Currier, 2 O.W.N. 1014, 19 O.W.R. 19.

APPLICATION BY EXECUTOR FOR DISCHARGE—EXECUTORSHIP MERGED INTO TRUSTEESHIP—LIABILITY OF EXECUTOR AS TRUSTEE.

Re Estate of Thomson, 9 E.L.R. 147.

TRUST FOR INVESTMENT—NATURE OF INVESTMENTS—"SECURITIES"—COMPANY SHARES — DEBENTURES—SECOND MORTGAGES—FOREIGN LAND.

Re J.H., 25 O.L.R. 132, 20 O.W.R. 474.

III. Suits affecting estate.

A. ON BEHALF OF.

(§ III A—60)—DOCUMENT—SIGNATURE OF DECEASED PERSON—DENIAL BY EXECUTION—AFFIDAVIT.

Article 208 C.C.P. is strict law, and the affidavit of a testamentary executor who declares that he knows the signature of the de cuius and has serious doubts of the authenticity of the document set up against him, is irregular and will be struck out of the record.

Beaulne v. Chene, 16 Que. P.R. 252.

MORTGAGE—ACTION FOR MORTGAGE MONEY BY EXECUTORS OF DECEASED MORTGAGEE—SERVICES RENDERED BY MORTGAGOR TO MORTGAGEE—PROMISE TO PAY FOR BY LEGACY—SPECIFIC PERFORMANCE—INTEREST—COMPOUND INTEREST—ADEMPTION OR SATISFACTION—EVIDENCE—CORROBORATION.

Eastern Trust Co. v. Berube, 7 O.W.N. 114.

(§ III A—65)—SUIT TO PROTECT ESTATE—APPOINTING RECEIVER ON EXECUTOR'S DEFAULT.

Where it appears that the executor of a decedent's estate lives out of the jurisdiction and no one is left in charge of the estate and the executor wholly ignores the Surrogate Court when called upon to account, an order appointing a receiver of the moneys and property of the estate will, if the property is in danger, be made on the ex parte application of a beneficiary under the will of the deceased.

Re Beaird 9 D.L.R. 842, 4 O.W.N. 720, 23 O.W.R. 955.

ACTION TO RECOVER DAMAGES FOR DEATH—
FATAL ACCIDENTS ACT—TRUSTEE ACT.

Where the death of a person was occasioned, as alleged, by the negligence of the defendant, it was held, that an action by the administrator of the estate of that person to recover money paid for funeral expenses and "damages for the death" would not lie. The action could not be maintained under the Fatal Accidents Act, R.S.O. 1914, c. 151 the relatives who survived the deceased not being within the limited class mentioned in s. 4 (1). Nor could the action be brought by virtue of s. 41 of the Trustee Act, R.S.O. 1914, c. 121, which is intended to prevent the wrongdoer escaping liability by reason of the death of the person injured, and does not create a new right of action. Before that enactment, the death of a person injured from any cause put an end to the action—Actio personalis moritur cum persona. Even if that maxim is now abolished, save as to actions of libel and slander, as said in Mason v. Town of Peterborough, 20 A.R. (Ont.) 683, 685, 686, the principle that, in a Civil Court, the death of a human being cannot be complained of as an injury, laid down in Baker v. Bolton, 1 Camp. 493, and affirmed in Admiralty Commissioners v. S.S. Amerika, [1917] A.C. 38, remains untouched.

England v. Lamb, 42 O.L.R. 60.

EXECUTORS AND ADMINISTRATORS—OFFICIAL ADMINISTRATOR—JURISDICTION—LETTERS OF ADMINISTRATION—FATAL ACCIDENT
ACT.

T, a foreman in the defendant's employ, received in the course of his employment injuries in the judicial district of Moosomin from which he subsequently died at Brandon, in the Province of Manitoba. He was not domiciled in nor did he leave any assets in Saskatchewan. The plaintiff was the official administrator for the judicial district of Regina and assuming to act under the authority of the Surrogate Courts Act (R.S.S., 1909, c. 54, s. 77), filed an affidavit in the office of the Surrogate Court at Regina and obtained a certificate from the clerk stating that it had filed such affidavit and that thereupon it became the administrator of T's estate to all intents and purposes. The present action was brought claiming compensation for the death of the deceased under an Act respecting Compensation to the Families of Persons Killed by Accidents, (R.S.S., 1909, c. 135). Held, that the plaintiff had no status to maintain the action inasmuch as in its capacity of official administrator it was limited territorially to the judicial district of Regina, whereas the accident had occurred in the judicial district of Moosomin, and that the filing of the affidavit under s. 77 of the Surrogate Courts Act, and the issue of the clerk's certificate thereon were both futile inasmuch as the statute applied only to the case of an intestate whose last place of abode was within Saskatchewan. Held, further, that it was doubtful whether any court in the province could in the circumstances make a grant of letters of administration but that in any event the plaintiff's application at trial to be allowed to apply therefor was an indulgence that should not be granted, the plaintiff being an entire stranger to the action, and the statutory time for bringing action having expired.

Western Trust Co. v. C.N.R., 12 S.L.R. 374.

ACTION TO SET ASIDE MORTGAGE MADE BY DECEASED—DENIAL OF SIGNATURE OF SUBSCRIBING WITNESS—EVIDENCE.

Way v. Shaw, 10 O.W.N. 124, 11 O.W.N. 27.

ACTION BY, TO RECOVER TWO SUMS OF MONEY
LENT BY TESTATOR—DEFENCE—GIFT OF
ONE SUM—EVIDENCE—CORROBORATION—
ENTRY IN DIARY—INSULTED EXCY—EVIDENCE
ACT, R.S.O. 1914, c. 76, s. 12—
EXTENDED TERM OF CREDIT AS TO OTHER SUM—ACKNOWLEDGEMENT—DEBT—
RELEASE BY PAROL.

Gardiner v. Shield, 17 O.W.N. 214.

TESTAMENTARY—EXECUTIONS—FRIVOLOUS CONTESTATION—EXPENSES—PERSONAL
AND CONDEMNATION—C.C. ART. 549.

A testamentary executor who frivolously contests a necessary action formed by a universal legatee, in order to have a request of the testament placed aside can be personally condemned to the expenses of the contestation.

Grisé v. Demers, 25 Rev. Leg. 332.

(§ III A—68)—SUITS AFFECTING ESTATE—
FOREIGN GUARDIAN—PAYMENT OVER OF INFANTS' MONEYS—"WELFARE OF CHILDREN" AS TEST.

A foreign guardian of the property of infants entitled to moneys derived from the estate of a person domiciled in Ontario is not entitled as of right to an order against the administrator of the estate for payment over of the fund; the court will refuse to direct payment over unless satisfied that such course is for the benefit of the infants. [Re Chartard, [1899] 1 Ch. 712; Stileman v. Campbell, 13 Gr. (Ont.) 454; Mitchell v. Richey, 13 Gr. 445; Flanders v. D'Evryn, 4 Ont. R. 704, applied; Hanrahan v. Hanrahan, 19 Ont. R. 396, distinguished.]

Re Lloyd, 19 D.L.R. 659, 31 O.L.R. 476.

(§ III A—69)—ADVICE OF COURT.

It is not within the power of the court to advise an executor under subs. (1), s. 29, c. 129, R.S.O. 1897, as to whether property belongs to the estate he represents or to another person, since that is not a question pertaining to "the management or administration of the property" about which the court may, under such subsection advise the personal representative of a deceased person. [Re Rally, 25 O.L.R. 112, followed.]

Re Turner, 5 D.L.R. 731, 3 O.W.N. 1438, 22 O.W.R. 543.

Upon an application under Con. R. 938, as amended 1904, by R. 1269, the court will decline to advise or direct an executor as to whether he should follow the opinion of his solicitor and lay claim, as part of the estate, to land held adversely thereto, such an application made summarily not being within the terms of rr. 938, 1269.

Re Gordon, 4 D.L.R. 3, 3 O.W.N. 1458, 22 O.W.R. 577.

APPLICATION OF EXECUTOR TO COURT FOR ADVICE—WHAT MAY BE CONSIDERED.

It is only upon legal matters or difficulties arising in the discharge of the duties of an executor, that the court is authorized to give advice in an application upon originating notice, and not such as involve the exercise of judgment and discretion on the part of the executor, such as the advisability of, and the proper time to realize on, the assets of an estate.

Re Fullford, 14 D.L.R. 844, 29 O.L.R. 375.

B. SUITS AND JUDGMENTS AGAINST.

(§ III B—70) — JUDGMENT AGAINST—PAYMENT IN DUE COURSE OF ADMINISTRATION—ELECTION OF JUDGMENT CREDITOR IN CERTAIN CASES.

The proper form of judgment against executors or administrators, in respect of a liability of the deceased, is a judgment for payment in due course of administration; unless there is on their part a distinct affirmative admission of assets sufficient to pay all the creditors of the estate, in which event the judgment creditor may at his election, have judgment either against the executors or administrators personally or judgment for payment in due course of administration. [J.I. Case Threshing Machine Co. v. Bolton, 2 A.L.R. 174, followed.] When judgment is for the amount recovered to be paid in due course of administration, it is improper to issue any executions whatever on the judgment. The remedy in case of anticipated or actual default on the part of the executor or administrator is to apply for an order for administration and, if necessary, the appointment of a receiver.

Northern Crown Bank v. Woodcrafts, 46 D.L.R. 428, 14 A.L.R. 473, [1919] 2 W.W.R. 347. [See also 28 D.L.R. 728, 33 D.L.R. 367, 42 D.L.R. 326.]

SPECIFIC PERFORMANCE — AGREEMENT TO TRANSFER STOCK.

Specific performance against the executors of an estate may be granted of the testator's agreement to transfer a fixed number of company shares which plaintiff was to receive for organization of the company.

McGregor v. Curry, 20 D.L.R. 706, 31 O.L.R. 261. [Affirmed, 25 D.L.R. 771.]

COSTS—WHEN ALLOWED OUT OF ESTATE.

Where a man defends an action brought against him as executor and fails, he may be forced to pay the costs out of his own pocket; but he is entitled to be allowed, out of the estate in his hands as executor, all reasonable expenses which have been incurred in the management of the estate, and these include the costs of an action reasonably defended. A Surrogate Court Judge, when asked to allow an executor such costs, must deal with them as charges and expenses; and the direction of the Trial Judge in the action in which such costs were incurred, as to allowance out of the estate or otherwise, cannot bind the Surrogate Court Judge. [Re Beddoe, [1893] 1 Ch. 547, followed.] Where the plaintiff's costs of an action brought against an executor as such were, by the judgment in the action, ordered to be paid by the executor, and were so paid, the allowance by the Surrogate Court Judge to the executor, on his passing his accounts, of the sum so paid, and also his own costs of defending the action, was affirmed—there being nothing to shew that the action was unreasonably defended.

Re Dingman, 35 O.L.R. 51.

PRACTICE—PLEADING—ACTION AGAINST EXECUTOR PRIOR TO PROBATE—EXECUTOR SUBSEQUENTLY TAKING PROBATE.

A writ of summons may be regularly issued against and served upon an executor prior to probate if the executor subsequently proves the will and accepts the trust. [Mohamadu, etc. v. Pitchey, [1894] A.C. 437, 63 L.J.P.C. 90, distinguished.] An allegation in a statement of claim that the defendant is an executor is a sufficient allegation, whether the defendant is sued before or after probate.

Canadian Bank of Commerce v. Francis, 12 S.L.R. 97, [1919] 1 W.W.R. 624.

ACTION BY DISTRIBUTEE TO RECOVER SHARE OF ESTATE BY EXECUTORS OF DECEASED ADMINISTRATOR — "TRUSTEE" — LIMITATIONS ACT, R.S.O. 1914, c. 75, ss. 47, 48—BREACH OF TRUST—ADMINISTRATION BOND—REMEDY BY ACTION AGAINST BONDSMEN—COMMENCEMENT OF PERIOD FOR STATUTORY BAR—ASSETS IN HANDS OF EXECUTORS.

Armstrong v. McIntyre, 9 O.W.N. 240.

BREACH OF TRUST BY INTESTATE—DIRECTOR OF COMPANY — MISFEASANCE — QUASI-CONTRACTUAL OBLIGATION—QUESTION OF LAW—MOTION FOR PRELIMINARY TRIAL—RULE 132.

Port Arthur Waggon Co. v. Trusts & Guarantee Co., 11 O.W.N. 88.

IMPROVEMENTS ON LAND—LEASE OF FARM BY FATHER TO SON—REQUEST—REPRESENTATIONS—FAILURE TO PROVE DEFENSIVE CONTRACT.

Muirhead v. Muirhead, 11 O.W.N. 221.

ACTION FOR REDEMPTION—ORAL AGREEMENT WITH TESTATOR—CORROBORATION—EVIDENCE ACT, R.S.O. 1914, c. 76, s. 12—TRUST—MORTGAGE—ADVERSE POSSESSION.

Girardot v. Curry, 10 O.W.N. 441.

CLAIM UPON ESTATE—MONEYS RECEIVED BY TESTATOR FROM WIFE—BEQUEST BY WIFE TO SON—EVIDENCE—CORROBORATION—EVIDENCE ACT, s. 12.

Wilson v. Jamieson, 12 O.W.N. 29.

ACTION AGAINST EXECUTOR OF DIVISION COURT CLERK FOR FEES NOT PAID TO BAILIFF—EVIDENCE OF BAILIFF—CORROBORATION—ENTRIES IN CLERK'S BOOKS—TIME LIMIT—PUBLIC OFFICERS ACT, R.S.O. 1914, c. 15, s. 13—APPLICATION OF PAYMENTS ON ACCOUNT—SURETY FOR CLERK—LIABILITY—INTEREST—CHANGE IN CONTRACT—RATE OF INTEREST—ACQUESCENCE.

Poole v. Wilson, 12 O.W.N. 340.

ADMINISTRATION ORDER—MOTION FOR—UNDEBTAKING AS TO SHARES IN ESTATE.

Re Davenport; Boyd v. Day, 5 O.W.N. 436.

DEATH OF EXECUTOR.

An action against executors will be dismissed on exception to the form when, owing to the death of one of them, the functions of the executors have ceased, and the heirs secured possession of the estate.

Fortier v. McIntosh, 17 Que. P.R. 387.

SUBROGATE COURTS—JURISDICTION—"CLAIM OR DEMAND"—CLAIM TO ESTABLISH DONATIO MORTIS CAUSA.

Re Graham, 25 O.L.R. 5, 20 O.W.R. 297.

IV. Indebtedness; distribution; accounting and settlement.

A. DEBTS AND OBLIGATIONS.

(§ IV A—75)—DIRECTIONS.

Before applying to the court for directions as to the share of a beneficiary whose whereabouts are not known, the executor should first institute inquiries as to where the beneficiary was last known to be alive.

Re Carvill; Standard Trusts Co. v. King, 15 D.L.R. 296, 6 S.L.R. 146, 26 W.L.R. 189, 5 W.W.R. 581.

FALSE CLAIMS—PENALTY—COSTS.

A plaintiff making an unfounded charge against an executor of having made a secret commission will be visited with costs to the fullest extent possible.

Cooper v. Taylor, 22 D.L.R. 393.

CLAIMS AGAINST ESTATE—MEDICAL ATTENDANCE UPON DECEASED—REASONABLENESS OF CHARGES.

Barnaby v. O'Donnell, 25 D.L.R. 739, 49 N.S.R. 386.

INSOLVENT ESTATE OF TESTATE—CREDITORS' CLAIMS—PAYMENT PARI PASSU—WHETHER CREDITORS DOMESTIC OR FOREIGN.

Re Scatcherd, 15 O.W.N. 222.

WILL—CLAIM OF WIFE AGAINST ESTATE OF TESTATOR FOR MONEY LENT TO HIM—DIRECTION TO EXECUTORS TO PAY NAMED SUM BORROWED FROM WIFE—CONVEYANCE OF PROPERTY AFTER DATE OF WILL—EVIDENCE—ADEMPTION—SATISFACTION—SET OFF.

Dandy v. Dandy, 16 O.W.N. 13.

IN GENERAL—NOVA SCOTIA PROBATE ACT, s. 119—FINAL ACCOUNT—SETTING UP STATUTE OF LIMITATIONS TO CLAIM FILED—AMENDMENT.

An executor or administrator, who has filed in the Probate Court a petition for the settlement of his account, and has formally cited the creditors and others interested to appear, etc., at such settlement, is, in respect of the claims of the parties so cited, in the position of a plaintiff and not a defendant; and, consequently is not bound to file an appearance to all or any of such claims. 2. It is not necessary, under the Nova Scotia Probate Act, for an executor or administrator in proceeding finally to settle his account, to file or deliver a written plea setting up the Statute of Limitations to any claim coming up for adjudication. Semble, that if such written plea were necessary under s. 119 of the Act, the executor would be allowed to amend his proceedings by filing such plea in the hearing of his final account.

Re Estate of Eleazer Gidney et al., and Armstrong, 11 E.L.R. 58.

(§ IV A—76)—DISBURSEMENTS—SOLICITOR'S FEES NOT TAXED.

As there can be no recovery of solicitor's costs without taxation, an agreement by a residuary legatee, authorizing an executor to retain an amount for legal service to be rendered the estate and the interest of the legatee, is illegal and affords no independent representation of the estate as to be capable of taxation, and the executor will not be discharged for disbursements made in respect thereto.

Cookson v. Driscoll; Re Estate of Leahy, 27 D.L.R. 488, 50 N.S.R. 1.

(§ IV A—80)—PRESENTATION AND PROOF OF CLAIM.

In an action against executors on a contract of option alleged to have been entered into between plaintiff and the executors' decedent, the plaintiff must be held strictly to the proof of his claim, especially where he bases that claim on verbal statements and acts of the deceased.

Adamson v. Vachon, 8 D.L.R. 240, 5 S.L.R. 400, 22 W.L.R. 494, 3 W.W.R. 227.

A father who maintains his married daughter at his home is presumed to do so out of kindness and in fulfilment of a natural obligation and cannot recover from her estate or that of her husband the cost thereof, unless clear proof is adduced to the effect that in keeping his daughter he intended making money advances only. [Robin v. Robin, 11 Rev. de Jur. 593, followed.]

Gladstone v. Slayton, 3 D.L.R. 27, 21 Que. K.B. 449.

CORROBORATION—DEGREE OF PROOF.

The corroboration required against the estate of a deceased person under a statute preventing recovery upon the evidence of the opposite party alone "unless such evidence is corroborated by some other material evidence" need only be of such material facts as lead to the conclusion that the testimony of the party is true. [Radford v. Macdonald, 18 A.R. 167, applied.]

McGregor v. Curry, 20 D.L.R. 706, 31 O.L.R. 261.

CORROBORATION.

The corroborative evidence required in proof of a claimed cause of action against the estate of a deceased person under the Evidence Act, R.S.B.C. 1911, c. 78, s. 11, must be of a material character, supporting the claimant's case, although not necessarily sufficient in itself to establish the case. [Thompson v. Coulter, 34 Can. S.C.R. 261, applied.]

Ledingham v. Skinner, 21 D.L.R. 300, 21 B.C.R. 41, 30 W.L.R. 741, 8 W.W.R. 52.

CORROBORATION.

Where the transactions between the plaintiff and the deceased were separate, each giving rise to a separate cause of action, corroboration in regard to one transaction is not corroboration in regard to the other as against the estate of the deceased person in an action to establish an agency and to recover an alleged secret profit as to both transactions.

Dandy v. National Trust Co., 22 D.L.R. 153, 30 W.L.R. 461.

CORROBORATION.

A claim for money loaned and goods sold a deceased, based solely on the parol evidence of the claimant, and not evidenced by any writing or entry in any book or document, nor corroborated by facts aliunde or by the testimony of other persons, cannot be allowed. (Critical review of authorities.)

McKinnon v. Shanks, 28 D.L.R. 77, 26 Man. L.R. 427, 34 W.L.R. 761, 10 W.W.R. 895.

"VOUCHERS"—UNSWORN DOCUMENT FOR SOLICITOR'S FEES.

An unsworn document authorizing an executor to pay an amount to a solicitor for professional services is not a "voucher," and cannot be allowed as an item in the executor's account.

Cookson v. Driscoll; Re Estate of Leahy, 27 D.L.R. 488, 50 N.S.R. 1.

ACTION AGAINST—CLAIM UPON ESTATE OF DECEASED PERSON FOR SERVICES RENDERED AND EXPENSES INCURRED.—EVIDENCE—DOCUMENTS SIGNED BY AGED PERSON SHORTLY BEFORE DEATH—LACK OF INDEPENDENT ADVICE—CORROBORATION—RECOVERY OF REDUCED AMOUNT—COSTS.

Wilson v. McMorrain, 7 O.W.N. 221.

CLAIM AGAINST EXECUTOR—PROMISE TO PAY SUM OF MONEY ON SETTLEMENT OF ACTION FOR RENT—EVIDENCE OF SOLICITOR—CORROBORATION—PROMISE MADE TO PERSONS REPRESENTING ESTATE OF DECEASED LESSOR—CONFIRMATION AFTER ISSUE OF LETTERS OF ADMINISTRATION—STATUTE OF FRAUDS—CONSIDERATION—PUBLIC POLICY—COSTS.

McEwan v. Toronto General Trusts Corp., 9 O.W.N. 185.

CLAIMS AGAINST ESTATE—RIGHT TO CONVEYANCE OR DAMAGES—FAILURE TO ESTABLISH.

Chapman v. Bradford, 10 O.W.N. 158.

(§ IV A-82)—CLAIM FOR SERVICES RENDERED DECEASED FOR LONG PERIOD—PROMISE TO PROVIDE BY WILL—PART OF CLAIM BARRED BY LIMITATIONS.

Re Rutherford, 25 D.L.R. 782, 34 O.L.R. 395.

(§ IV A-85)—MONEYS MADE BY SHERIFF UNDER EXECUTION BEFORE ADMINISTRATION ORDER—RULE 613 (B)—CREDITORS RELIEF ACT, R.S.O. 1914, c. 81—PRIORITYS—TRUSTEE ACT, R.S.O. 1914, c. 121, s. 63 (1).

Re Williamson, 36 D.L.R. 783, 39 O.L.R. 413. [See also 12 O.W.N. 202.]

BORROWING OF MONEY TO PAY DEBTS OF ESTATE—RIGHTS OF LENDER AGAINST ESTATE—CONSTRUCTION AND EFFECT OF S. 41, TRUSTEE ORDINANCE, C.O. c. 119—SUBROGATION—RIGHT OF LENDER TO BE SUBROGATED TO POSITION OF EXECUTORS AND CREDITORS—POSITION OF LENDER IN RESPECT TO MONEY USED IN PAYMENT OF TAXES AND FUNERAL EXPENSES.

Where a will does not, either expressly or impliedly, give power to the executors to borrow money, the estate is not legally liable to a person who has lent money to the executors for the purpose of paying off debts of the estate. [Farhall v. Farhall, L.R. 7 Ch. 123, 41 L.J. Ch. 146, followed.] Moreover, under the interpretation given by the Ontario decisions on the similar section of the Ontario Act from which the Trustee Ordinance, C.O. c. 119, was copied, and which must be followed here, Section 44 of the Ordinance not only makes all creditors of an estate payable pari passu, but prevents an executor from preferring one creditor to others; the court cannot, therefore, order the repayment of money borrowed by the executors for the purpose of making payments contrary to said section. Nevertheless a lender whose money has been used for such purpose is entitled under the principles applied in McCullough v. Marsden, 14 A.L.R. 94, to be subrogated to the position of the creditors whose claims have been paid. In respect of money which has been applied to preferred claims, e.g., taxes, the lender is entitled to be placed in the position which the executors would have held if they had paid them out of their own pockets; and in the case of taxes, may properly be subrogated to the position of the taxing bodies and thus given a charge upon the lands.

Re Breckenridge Estate, 14 A.L.R. 377.

(§ IV A—90)—BURIAL EXPENSES.

Where the effect of a will is to give to the testator's widow her maintenance for life out the whole estate, and debts are incurred by her for maintenance on default of the executors to furnish her with sufficient means to provide for herself the amount of such debts must be reimbursed to her estate by her husband's estate as being maintenance but the expenses of the widow's funeral are not maintenance and must be paid for out of her own estate.

Re Swayzie, 3 D.L.R. 631, 3 O.W.N. 621, 21 O.W.R. 95.

(§ IV A—91)—DEBTS AND OBLIGATIONS—“TESTAMENTARY EXPENSES”—SCOPE OF—“SUCCESSION DUTY AGAINST DEVISEE, WHEN.

A direction in a will for payment of “testamentary expenses” out of the estate is not sufficient to entitle a specific devisee to be relieved at the expense of the estate of payment of any succession duty to which the devise to him is subject.

Re Cust, 18 D.L.R. 647, 7 W.W.R. 387. [See also Re Cust, 19 D.L.R. 190, 8 A.L.R. 39.]

B. INSTRUCTIONS AND CONTROL BY COURT.

(§ IV B—95)—Where a person who held certain real and personal property under conveyances from the deceased which were admitted to have been made to him in trust for the grantee and other creditors of deceased was also the executor of the decedent's estate, but his conduct, in dealing with the property, was consistent only with the assertion of an absolute title and he had neglected for a long time to prove the will or to file an inventory of the estate, or to have the estate appraised, those circumstances constitute sufficient grounds for ordering the estate to be administered by the court.

Power v. Munro, 5 D.L.R. 577, 11 E.L.R. 508.

ADMINISTRATION ORDER—RULE 610—APPLICATION TO SET ASIDE—DELAY—STAY OF PROCEEDINGS—EXECUTOR'S PERSONAL CLAIM AGAINST ESTATE—APPLICATION TO SUBROGATE JUDGE TO DIRECT ACTION TO BE BROUGHT IN SUPREME COURT—SUBROGATE COURTS ACT, R.S.O. 1914, c. 62, s. 69 (7).

Re Cronan, 10 O.W.N. 300.

ADMINISTRATION ORDER—CONDUCT OF ADMINISTRATOR.

Re Stevens; Johnson v. Hancock, 17 O. W.N. 165.

C. DISTRIBUTION; ACCOUNTING; SETTLEMENT; DISCHARGE.

(§ IV C—100)—IN GENERAL.

On an application to the court for an order for payment out of the money deposited in court by the administrators of an estate, under r. 1258 (Ont. Con. r. 1897), of the shares of certain heirs, where it appears that there is a claim against the estate by one who alleges himself to be an heir, a sufficient amount will be ordered to be retained in court to cover that claim and an issue directed to determine the fact of whether or not the claimant is a lawful heir.

Re Vine, 8 D.L.R. 505, 4 O.W.N. 408, 23 O.W.R. 486.

Where all the parties beneficially entitled to a decedent's real estate agree that they do not want the estate divided, the administrator should hand it over to them undistributed and undivided. An administrator, though he has the right to sell real estate for the purpose of distributing the estate among the parties beneficially entitled thereto, cannot convey undivided fractions of it to some of the next of kin and retain a fraction in his hands so as to charge the expense of the administration after such distribution to the balance left in his hands. Where a decedent's estate is of such a nature that the administrator can reasonably divide it and thus distribute it in specie amongst the parties beneficially entitled thereto, he may do so instead of converting it into money.

Re Montgomery; Lumbers v. Montgomery, 8 D.L.R. 699, 22 Man. L.R. 735, 22 W.L.R. 634, 3 W.W.R. 295.

LEGATEES—DUTY AS TO PAYMENT—RELEASE OF LEGACY—ESTOPPEL—ACCOUNTING—EVIDENCE ACT.

An executor, who has been given a legacy payable at the death of a person to whom the bulk of the estate was devised subject to the legacy, owes no duty to those interested in the devisee's estate to see that sufficient assets were set apart to meet the legacy at the devisee's death. A release executed by an executor-legatee, to a devisee, for the purpose of enabling the latter to sell land upon which the legacy was a possible charge, though absolute in form, does not estop the executor from claiming the legacy or shewing the true state of affairs. Where a cheque belonging to the estate was cashed by an executrix, but stated by her to have been paid over and accounted for, she cannot be required to again account for it in an administration of the estate under another will, and her testimony as to payment requires no corroboration under s. 12 of the Evidence Act.

Sproule v. Murray, 48 D.L.R. 368, 45 O.L.R. 326.

ACCOUNTING — SECRET PROFITS — SALE OF LAND—PURCHASE FOR BENEFIT OF EXECUTOR.

An executor will be compelled to account for the difference between the actual value of land belonging to an estate, and what it was sold for, together with the rents and profits realized by him from the land, where it was secretly purchased for his benefit.

Shaw v. Tackaberry, 15 D.L.R. 475, 29 O.L.R. 490.

DISTRIBUTION IN SPECIE—SHARES OF STOCK.

Where in the administration of the estate of an intestate a sale of shares of stock cannot be profitably made because of the uncertainty of their market value, a distribution in specie will not be allowed over the objections of certain next of kin, in effect it would place the control of the corporation in favour of some over the others.

Re Harris, 22 D.L.R. 381, 33 O.L.R. 83.

SETTLEMENT OF ESTATE—RELEASE—VALIDITY.

Re Estate of Levose Bent, 34 D.L.R. 196 50 N.S.R. 390.

EXPENDITURES—REPAIRS—APPORTIONMENT.

The burden of expenditures made by executors for repairs and improvements of a permanent character, made in order to procure a tenant for the property, should be apportioned between capital and income in accordance with the rule in In re Freeman, [1898] 1 Ch. 28, 33. [Brereton v. Day, [1895] 1 L.R. 518; Re Smith; Bull v. Smith, 84 L.T.R. 835, followed.]

Re Elliot, 40 D.L.R. 649, 41 O.L.R. 276.

SETTLEMENT—APPROVAL OF COURT.

National Trust Co. v. Matheson, 15 O.W.N. 32.

Where a direction in a will to erect tombstones would if carried out probably exhaust the estate and prevent the executor paying any legacies, and as none of the next of kin insisted on such direction being carried out, the executor may disregard such direction. The devisee of the land must take it subject to the mortgage, and this having been paid out of the moneys of the estate, the devisee must, before securing a conveyance of the land, refund the amount so paid to the estate, and in default of such refund being made the executor should proceed against the land for the amount.

Re Carley, 4 S.L.R. 280.

ACCOUNTING AND DISTRIBUTION — TRUST COMPANY—MAINTENANCE AND EDUCATION OF INFANT—COMPENSATION FOR SERVICES—LOAN AND TRUST CORPORATIONS ACT, R.S.O. 1914, c. 184, s. 18 (E).

An infant became entitled to his mother's estate, valued at $9,000. A trust company was appointed administrators of the mother's estate and guardians of the boy's estate, one of their officers being appointed guardian of his person. During his minority the company expended on his behalf

$1,100 more than the income of his estate:

—Held, that sums paid out of capital, should not be allowed to the company upon the passing of its accounts:—Held, also, that it was not competent for the company to be appointed guardian of the person of the infant: Loan and Trust Corporations Act, R.S.O. 1914, c. 184, s. 18 (e); the appointment of an officer of the company as guardian was an evasion of the spirit of that Act; and the guardian so appointed was not entitled to any compensation out of the estate for his services. Order of the Judge of the Surrogate Court of York, varied.

Re Bundle, 32 O.L.R. 312.

SETTLEMENT OF DECEDENT'S ESTATE—PAYMENT OF LEGACIES—TIME FOR.

Re Allen Estate, 16 O.L.R. 883, 14 E.L.R. 151.

SETTLED ESTATES ACT—ORDER FOR SALE OF LANDS—PROCEEDS INVESTED BY EXECUTORS IN MORTGAGE TAKEN IN NAME OF ACCOUNTANT OF SUPREME COURT — MORTGAGE MONEYS PAID TO EXECUTORS — SPECIAL ORDER AUTHORIZING ACCOUNTANT TO EXECUTE RELEASE.

Re McInnes, 6 O.W.N. 672.

SETTLED ESTATES ACT—MONEY IN COURT—PAYMENT OUT TO EXECUTORS TO BE APPLIED ACCORDING TO TRUST OF WILL.

Re Moise, 8 O.W.N. 542.

ADMINISTRATOR'S ACCOUNT—PAYMENT OF DEBTS IN FULL—PRESUMPTION AS TO ASSETS—IDENTIFICATION OF ASSETS—ANOTHER ESTATE — ACCOUNT — REFERENCE — JUDGMENT—MODIFICATION ON APPEAL — COSTS.

Godkia v. Watson, 9 O.W.N. 251.

SHARE OF BENEFICIARY—SETTLEMENT—INCOME AND CAPITAL.

Re Hamilton, 9 O.W.N. 144.

ASCERTAINMENT OF NEXT-OF-KIN—IDENTITY.

Re Corr, 4 O.W.N. 824, 1068, 24 O.W.R. 103, 521.

MONEY IN COURT — PAYMENT OUT — AFFIDAVITS—COSTS.

Re Griffith, 12 O.W.N. 411.

PASSING ACCOUNTS — PAYMENT TO WIDOW OUT OF PERSONALTY OF LUMP SUM IN LIEU OF DOWER IN LAND DEVISED TO SON — ALLOWANCE TO EXECUTORS AS COMPENSATION FOR SERVICES—CHARGE OF PART OF SUMS PAID ON LAND—EXONERATION OF PERSONALTY PRO TANTO — COSTS.

Re McGrath, 13 O.W.N. 398.

PASSING ACCOUNTS IN SURROGATE COURT—ORDER OF SURROGATE COURT JUDGE—APPEAL — PAYMENTS — TAXES — COMMISSION—COSTS.

Re McCarty, 15 O.W.N. 449.

A partnership is formed by consent of the partners without the necessity of any formality and its existence can be deduced from facts and circumstances manifesting such consent, oral evidence of which is admissible. Notwithstanding the death of one partner, the partnership may continue by consent of the survivors for the term fixed by the will of the deceased. A provision in the will relieving the executor from the necessity of making any inventory other than the annual commercial inventory always prepared, followed by a provision that at the expiration of the partnership term the succession will be wound-up as economically as possible after an inventory is taken in the presence of the testator's wife and adult children, should be so interpreted as to recognize the validity of an inventory made by the executor himself with the aid of the employees in the business, a part of the assets so inventoried composing the succession of the testator in the movables. It is sufficient that this inventory, once taken, may be sent to, and accepted by, the interested parties though they had not been present at the weighing, measuring and counting of the stock. The settlement thus effected is final and binds the minor legatees. When an immovable belongs, in undivided parts, to a succession, and to its executor, the latter is entitled to retain possession of it until reimbursed the share of the expenses paid him properly apportionable to the succession.

Tanguay v. Tanguay, 44 Que. S.C. 253. [See also 42 Que. S.C. 193.]

INTERIM ACCOUNTS.

Although an executor is only obliged to render a final account after he has performed all his functions, he can, nevertheless, be obliged in the interim to furnish the heirs with a statement of the revenues of the succession.

Boufassa v. Boufassa, 26 Que. K.B. 521.

DISTRIBUTION OF SHARES—CO-EXECUTORS.

Where shares of an incorporated company, held in the names of two executors, are distributed by one of them amongst the heirs, transferred and delivered to them, the acceptance by the coexecutor of his number of shares is a presumption of his consent to the distribution and transfer.

Waters v. Waters, 52 Que. S.C. 342.

TESTAMENTARY EXECUTORS—RENDERING ACCOUNTS—JOINT AND UNDIVIDED LIABILITY TO RENDER ACCOUNTS—DISPUTES AND STRAIGHTENING OF ACCOUNTS—C. CIV. s. 913, 1123.

The curator of an interdict is not obliged to obtain the consent of the family council to bring an action for rendering accounts in the name of his ward. Be that as it may, the authority given to demand an account includes that of disputing it or of suing for redress. Several testamentary executors charged with the administration of a succession being "jointly bound to render one and the same account, this obligation is indivisible. It follows that an administration account cannot be disputed as against one of the executors alone, nor can it be made the object of an action for straightening the account brought against one of the executors alone. In an action concerning the straightening of an account the plaintiff cannot dispute or contest certain items of the account without admitting all the others. The plaintiff should add as parties all those whose presence is necessary for the exercise of his right of action; and the defendant is not obliged to supply an omission of the plaintiff to invalidate his remedy. It seems that a demand for rendering account for a period not covered by the account disputed cannot be added to an action for straightening the account which must result in a final adjudication of the audit since the new account would be itself susceptible to dispute.

Desmats v. M., 55 Que. S.C. 100.

(§ IV C—102)—TIME FOR SETTLEMENT—TRUSTEE'S DISCRETION.

A testamentary executor who under the will has had the administration of property for a lengthy and indefinite period is bound to render accounts of his administration to the interested legatees at reasonable intervals upon their demand and at their expense; this principle does not conflict with the provisions of art. 918 C.C. [Quinn v. Fraser, 19 Q.L.R. 320, approved and followed.]

Fiset v. Larue, 5 D.L.R. 569, 41 Que. S.C. 469.

It is a necessary consequence of the conclusion that a gift has vested, that the enjoyment of it must be immediate on the beneficiary becoming sui juris, and cannot be postponed till a later day unless the testator has made some other destination of the income during the intermediate period; a trustees' discretion to defer payment will be ignored in the absence of such a provision. [Wharton v. Masterman, [1895] A.C. 186, applied.]

Re Hamilton, 8 D.L.R. 529, 4 O.W.N. 441, 23 O.W.R. 549. [Affirmed, 12 D.L.R. 861, 28 O.L.R. 534.]

(§ IV C—103)—ACCEPTANCE OF LEGACY.

Where a niece went to live with her aunt, a widow and childless, but no arrangement was made as to the niece remaining any definite time and nothing being said by either party as to remuneration except a voluntary statement of the aunt that she would do well by the niece, and the niece ran errands, purchased provisions, and did a small portion of the housework and the aunt allowed her the sum of $10 a month, and by will bequeathed her $2,000 with a contingent interest in a further sum of $1,000, the niece cannot enforce any further claim for her services against her aunt's estate, for the period during which such allowance was accepted.

Smith v. Hopper, 3 D.L.R. 339, 3 O.W.N. 1039, 21 O.W.R. 891.

(§ IV C—107)—RELEASE OF, UNDER SEAL—LIMITATIONS ACT.

A release under seal executed by a beneficiary of an interest in remainder, dis-char,

and man in th
U.S. from Le 233, Disc
W tere only exec
distr rece
ment retu mini theve
Ka
(§

W a tru
the duri genc of U of it ter c lear trati a di tees exec
Chm
Re
O.W
(§ I

Re of t allo
wher shou nure on t allo will miss inter estat
St
B.C. firm
EXE

A exec
nary pens futu
and estat
Re
Man
882.

charging an executor from all accounting and demands, converts the interest in remainder into an interest in possession, and in the absence of fraud the Limitations Act (R.S.O. 1914, c. 75, s. 47) begins to run from the date of the release.

Lees v. Morgan, 39 D.L.R. 259, 40 O.L.R. 235, reversing 11 O.W.N. 222.

DISCHARGE OF EXECUTOR.

Where all the heirs have sold and transferred their shares of the estate to the universal usufructuary legatee, with the exception of one particular legatee, and no distribution or winding up of the estate is necessary; and where the executor testamentary and administrator in trust has refused to do acts necessary for the administration of the property, the office of the executor is ended, and he can be relieved from his function.

Keon v. McNally, 54 Que. S.C. 95.

(§ IV C-108)—SEPARATE TRUSTS—EXPENSES OF ADMINISTRATION.

Where a testator directs the creation of a trust fund from one of his properties and the investment of same by the executors during the minority of the beneficiaries, the general estate is chargeable with the costs of the creation of the trust fund but not of its investment and distribution; the latter costs are to be paid by the fund itself bearing the expenses of its own administration in like manner as if there had been a direction to pay it over to separate trustees instead of its being managed by the executors of the testator's estate. [Re Church, 12 O.L.R. 18, applied.]

Re Wilson, 9 D.L.R. 634, 4 O.W.N. 906, 24 O.W.R. 214.

(§ IV C-110)—REMUNERATION—COMMISSION—DISBURSEMENTS.

Remuneration to trustees, of a percentage of the gross value of the estate, should be allowed on the gross value as of the time when the accounts are passed, a valuation should then be made by the registrar of the unrealized assets and the percentage based on that valuation. Trustees who have been allowed a commission to manage the estate will not be allowed as a disbursement, commissions paid to agents on collection of interest of mortgages in which some of the estate moneys were invested.

Stephen v. Miller, 40 D.L.R. 418, 25 B.C.R. 388, [1918] 2 W.W.R. 1042. [Affirmed, 49 D.L.R. 698.]

EXECUTOR'S COMPENSATION—ADVANCE ALLOWANCES.

A Surrogate Court on the passing of an executor's accounts should not, under ordinary circumstances, fix in advance the compensation of an executor trustee for the future work to be performed in getting in and distributing the unrealized part of the estate.

Re Paterson Estate, 17 D.L.R. 466, 24 Man. L.R. 217, 28 W.L.R. 177, 6 W.W.R. 882.

FUTURE SERVICES.

An executor or trustee should not be allowed by an interim order a large sum as compensation for future services; the same rule should be applied even where a duly authorized trust company is the executor.

Re Fortune Estate, 21 D.L.R. 646, 25 Man. L.R. 239, 30 W.L.R. 735.

INTEREST—BEQUEST OF.

Where it was not necessary for the realization of the estate for the administratrix to carry on the business as she did for some time after the decedent's death, and the direction of his will was that the same should be sold and converted into money to be invested at interest, the administratrix may be allowed a reasonable amount for her services for carrying on the business which resulted in large profits, and may be allowed interest for the period during which the business was carried on to be computed at a reasonable rate on the amount of capital which the business represented at the testator's death, under a bequest to her of the "interest" on the fund to which the proceeds of the business belonged, but she is not entitled to take the entire profits as interest; the surplus profits are to be treated as belonging to the corpus of the estate.

Re Bean Estate, 23 D.L.R. 335.

COMPENSATION TO—REVIEW.

The amount allowed by the Surrogate Court Judge to executors for their services cannot be questioned in an action for an account, nor otherwise that upon an appeal from the order of that judge.

Sproule v. Murray, 48 D.L.R. 368, 45 O.L.R. 326.

COMPENSATION FOR SERVICES — QUANTUM — APPEAL — COMMISSION ON RECEIPTS — MANAGING BUSINESS — SOLICITOR EXECUTOR—TRUSTEE ACT.

In Ontario, executors and trustees have a right to be paid for their services, and generally by a percentage on the receipts: [Trustee Act, R.S.O. 1914, c. 121, s. 67.] Where there is no error in principle, the court is, on appeal, loath to interfere as to the quantum of the allowance made to executors, even though it seems that it is more liberal than the Appellate Court would in the first instance have given. Where the executors (the widow and the solicitor) of a retail liquor seller carried on his business for three years after his decease, paid his debts, and sold the business for a large sum, so that the value of the estate was increased from $26,237 to $230,126, an allowance of $4,650 to the executors, both of whom rendered valuable services during the three years, was confirmed. [Thompson v. Freeman, 15 Gr. 384, followed.] In estimating the value of the executors services, legal business done and advice given by the solicitor executor, for which, but for his position, he might have made professional charges, were properly taken into account: Section 67 (4) of the Trustee Act. Though the cash receipts from the business did not actually pass through the hands of the solicitor executor, the widow being empowered by the will to receive all moneys, he rendered such advice and assistance in the disposal of these moneys as entitled him to a commission for his services in respect of them.

Re Smith, 38 O.L.R. 67.

COMMISSION.

Re Godchere Estate, 5 O.W.N. 625.

SURROGATE COURTS — ORDER OF JUDGE ON PASSING ACCOUNTS FIXING COMPENSATION OF EXECUTORS — APPEAL — FORM — SURROGATE COURTS ACT, s. 34.

Re Henderson, 8 O.W.N. 31.

ADMINISTRATION OF ESTATE — PASSING OF ACCOUNTS — FAILURE TO SET APART TRUST FUNDS — ABATEMENT OF LEGACIES — RESIDUARY ESTATE — TRUSTEES' COMMISSION—COSTS.

Re Cormack, 11 O.W.N. 74.

COMPENSATION FOR SERVICES—QUANTUM.

Re Nesbit, 11 O.W.N. 93.

(§ IV C—111)—COMMISSIONS GENERALLY.

There is no fixed rate of compensation applicable under all circumstances for services of executors and trustees; they are entitled to reasonable compensation; and what is reasonable compensation must be governed by the circumstances of each case. [Robinson v. Pett, 2 White and Tudor, L.C. Eq. 214, followed.] Though shares in companies may be readily convertible, yet the risk of liability upon an executor in case of a loss to the estate owing to their fluctuation in value should be considered in fixing his compensation where a large part of the estate consists of corporate shares. Where an estate consists of assets in different provinces, and there are a large number of pecuniary legacies, many of the legatees being infants, and a trust fund is created by the will, a sum equivalent to about 3 per cent of the value of the estate is not too large a compensation to be allowed to the executors.

Re Griffin, 3 D.L.R. 165, 3 O.W.N. 1049, reversing 3 O.W.N. 759.

COMMISSION TO EXECUTORS — APPORTIONMENT OF COMMISSION.

Part of a testator's estate consisted of a dry goods business, which was carried on by his two executors for nearly a year before it was sold en bloc, one executor doing practically all the work. Upon passing the accounts, the probate judge allowed a commission of four and one-half per cent upon the whole estate to the executor who carried on the business and a commission of one-sixth per cent to the other. No commission was allowed upon sales made in carrying on the business. Upon appeal, the court refused to interfere with the judge's discretion in apportioning the commission.

Re Manzer, 42 N.B.R. 251.

(§ IV C—113)—ACCOUNTING — STENOGRAPHER'S COSTS.

Executors may charge for stenographer's costs incurred in their administration. McDonald v. Saunderson, 59 Que. S.C. 422.

(§ IV C—115) — ADMINISTRATRIX SOLE BENEFICIARY OF ESTATE AFTER PAYMENT OF DEBTS — RIGHT OF CREDITOR OF ESTATE TO SET OFF HIS CLAIM AGAINST A PERSONAL CLAIM AGAINST HIM BY ADMINISTRATRIX.

The plaintiff was an assignee of moneys owing by J. and of the rights under a covenant by the defendant guaranteeing payment thereof. The plaintiff was administratrix of estate of D., deceased, and defendant claimed the right to set off against the plaintiff the amount due upon the covenant in a mortgage given by D. and which mortgage had been assigned to J. If the D. estate was solvent the plaintiff became the sole beneficiary after payment of debts. When administration was granted there was a large apparent surplus. Over four years had elapsed since granting of administration to the plaintiff. No declaration had been filed under s. 99 of the Administration Act as to insolvency of the estate. Held that, as the plaintiff, while a party to this action in her personal capacity, is an appointee of the court, there should be judgment directing plaintiff to file and pass her accounts as administratrix with the registrar within two months; the plaintiff is entitled to judgment on her claim but all proceedings under such judgment are stayed pending the taking of and reporting upon the administration accounts and subsequent order as to set-off or otherwise. [Review of authorities.]

Donald v. Jukes, [1919] 1 W.W.R. 169.

(§ IV C—120)—ACCOUNTING OF EXECUTOR —FAILURE TO ACCOUNT FOR SECRET PROFIT.

That land belonging to an estate was secretly purchased for the executor's benefit at less than its actual value, and afterwards conveyed by the ostensible purchaser to a third person in payment of a debt of the executor, and that the latter failed to account in the Surrogate Court for the difference, is a fraud or mistake within s. 71 of the Ontario Surrogate Courts Act, 10 Edw. VII. c. 31, R.S.O. 1914, c. 62, which will permit the impeachment of his account in another action.

Shaw v. Tackaberry, 15 D.L.R. 475, 29 O.L.R. 490.

ACCOUNTS IN SURROGATE COURT — DISALLOWANCE OF PAYMENT TO WIFE OF EXECUTOR — EFFECT UPON CLAIM — NO BAR TO RECOVERY FROM ESTATE — PAYMENT WITHOUT NOTICE TO BENEFICIARIES — REFUSAL OF COURT TO RE-OPEN CASE FOR FRESH EVIDENCE.

Re Hopf, 10 O.W.N. 352.

EXECUTOR'S ACCOUNTS — PASSING BEFORE SURROGATE COURT — ITEMS OF ACCOUNT — SALE OF MORTGAGE AT DISCOUNT — COMMISSION PAID TO AGENT OF PURCHASER — COSTS — TAXATION — EXECUTOR'S COMMISSION — APPEAL — ACCOUNTS SENT BACK TO SURROGATE COURT.

Re Reinhardt, 17 O.W.N. 140.

(§ IV C—122)—IMPROVIDENT PAYMENTS.

The payment by an executor, in order to facilitate the settlement of an estate, of the succession duty on a legacy, on the theory that it created an annuity, is not improvident, notwithstanding it subsequently appeared to have been erroneously paid under a mistake of law.
Bechone v. The King, 4 D.L.R. 229, 26 O.L.R. 117, 21 O.W.R. 559.

PROOF OF CLAIM AGAINST ESTATE — NECESSITY FOR CORROBORATION — MATERIAL FACT.

Re Estate of Kaulbach; Moorhead v. Kaulbach, 45 N.S.R. 62, 9 E.L.R. 226.

PASSING ACCOUNTS OF ADMINISTRATOR — INTEREST ON MONEY DEPOSITED AS DISTRIBUTION SHARE IN BANK.

Re Estate of David Kennedy, 10 E.L.R. 56.

CLAIM FOR BOARDING, LODGING AND NURSING TESTATOR — UNCORROBORATED EVIDENCE.

Re Estate of Thomas Hastings, 10 E.L.R. 9.

V. Creditor's rights against land; sale of land for debts.

See Wills; Execution.

(§ V—125)—SALE OF REAL ESTATE FOR PAYMENT OF DEBTS — EVIDENCE — CLAIMS — LIMITATIONS — INVENTORY AND APPRAISEMENT — AFFIDAVIT.

On application to the judge of probate to revoke a license for the sale of real estate for the payment of debts, etc., granted by the registrar, the judge is not confined to the evidence that was before the registrar on the occasion of the ex parte application. But where the court is satisfied that, even on the materials which were before the registrar, a case was made out for the sale of real estate, the decision of the judge of probate refusing to rescind the order for sale will be sustained. There is nothing in the statutes, or in the practice of the court of probate, requiring claims to be filed in that court, apart from the permissive provision, for greater caution, enabling a creditor to file his claim in order to prevent any question being raised as to the running of the statute of limitations, which is all that the provision referred to means. The inventory and appraisal are binding upon the parties to the proceeding to prove the value of the estate. An affidavit referring to the original inventory on file and showing the amount at which all the personal property belonging to the estate has been appraised, and that none of it has been sold, realized upon or collected, but that it is all on hand, is a substantial compliance with s. 43 (1) of the Probate Act (R.S.N.S. 1900, c. 158) to support an application for leave to sell real estate for the payment of debts.

Re Chisholm Estate, 50 N.S.R. 341.

EXECUTION OF TRUSTS — SURVIVING EXECUTOR — TRUSTEE ACT, R.S.O. 1914, c. 121 — SALE OF LAND CHARGED WITH PAYMENT OF LEGACIES — CAUTION — REGISTRATION — DEVOLUTION OF ESTATES ACT, R.S.O. 1914, c. 119, s. 14 — TRANSFER OF INTERESTS — INTEREST ON LEGACIES.

Re Luton, 7 O.W.N. 768.

SALE OF LANDS OF TESTATOR TO PAY LEGACIES — ABSENCE OF DEBTS — CONVEYANCE — "PERSONS BENEFICIALLY INTERESTED" — LEGATEES — DISPENSING WITH CONCURRENCE OF PERSONS ENTITLED TO LAND SUBJECT TO PAYMENT OF LEGACIES — DEVOLUTION OF ESTATES ACT, R.S.O. 1914, c. 119, s. 21 (1), (2).

Re Pearcy and Finotti, 12 O.W.N. 36.

VI. Foreign executors and administrators.

(§ VI—130)—POWER OF — DISCHARGE OF MORTGAGE OF LAND IN ONTARIO.

On the registry of the will of a deceased mortgagee which has been proved in Great Britain, together with the foreign letters probate, in the proper registry office in Ontario for the county where the mortgaged land lies, a discharge of the mortgage by the executor may be registered; the latter has the right to discharge it without proving the will in Ontario or having the probate sealed by a Surrogate Court thereof, but a foreign administrator would not have the like right.

Re Green and Flatt, 13 D.L.R. 547, 29 O.L.R. 103.

FOREIGN ADMINISTRATOR — RIGHT TO SUE ON NEGOTIABLE INSTRUMENTS HELD BY HIM.

A foreign administrator has the right to sue, on negotiable instruments held by him, in any other jurisdiction without any other grant.

Browns v. Browns, 48 D.L.R. 72, [1919] 2 W.W.R. 754.

ALIEN EXECUTOR — QUALIFICATIONS UPON OATH—PROBATE TO.

Smithson v. Smithson, 25 D.L.R. 745, 9 W.W.R. 501, 33 W.L.R. 229.

FINAL DISTRIBUTION — PAYMENT OF BALANCE TO FOREIGN ADMINISTRATRIX.

Re Law, 24 D.L.R. 871, 34 O.L.R. 222.

PROPERTY OF INTESTATE DOMICILED IN FOREIGN COUNTRY — ANCILLARY ADMINISTRATION — TITLE TO COMPANY SHARES — SITUS — JURISDICTION AS TO — SALE.

Re Fenwick, 25 D.L.R. 850, 35 O.L.R. 29.

APPLICATION BY EXECUTOR FOR ADMINISTRATION ORDER — FOREIGN DOMICILE OF TESTATOR — ISSUE OF LETTERS PROBATE BY FOREIGN COURT — ESTATE SAID TO BE IN ONTARIO — ATTORNEYS' FEES FOR FOREIGN JURISDICTION — DISCRETION TO REFUSE ORDER.

Re Porter, 11 O.W.N. 363.

QUEBEC LETTERS OF ADMINISTRATION — RESEALING.

A certified copy of "letters of verification" issued out of the Superior Courts of Quebec may not be "resealed" under the provisions of s. 69 of the Surrogate Courts Act. (Sask.). It should be shown by someone having knowledge of the law of Quebec, that "letters of verification" issued in that province is a legal document of the same nature and effecting the same purpose and giving the same rights and authority as letters of administration in Saskatchewan, when such "letters of verification" are tendered for resealing.

Re Dunlop Estate, 31 W.L.R. 427.

NOTICE TO NEXT OF KIN.

An administrator appointed in U.S.A. to the estate of a person there domiciled may appoint an attorney who will be entitled to take out letters of administration in Saskatchewan, but there should be a summons to shew cause served upon the next-of-kin before the administration is granted, and administration should be granted to the attorney for the use and benefit of the U.S.A. administrator until such person shall apply for and obtain administration in Saskatchewan.

Re Wyatt Estate, 6 W.W.R. 1514.

DECEASED DOMICILED IN SASKATCHEWAN — DEBT OWING BY ALBERTA COMPANY — EXECUTRIX SUING IN ALBERTA — PROBATE GRANTED IN SASKATCHEWAN AFTER DEFENCE FILED BUT NOT IN ALBERTA — PAYMENT INTO COURT—COSTS.

An executrix named in the will of deceased who died domiciled in Saskatchewan brought action on demand notes given to deceased by defendant, a company incorporated in Alberta and carrying on business there only. The action was brought in Alberta and before probate was obtained either in Saskatchewan or Alberta. Defendant did not deny the debt but questioned plaintiff's right to receive the money which it paid into court. Probate was issued on Saskatchewan after defence was filed but there was never any ancillary probate in Alberta. An order of the Master giving plaintiff leave to enter judgment and costs of suit except of application for judgment, was varied as to costs and defendant given costs of appeal; the judgment to stand in favour of plaintiff for the moneys in court without costs but no payment out to be made until a judge is satisfied that the treasury department has no claim for succession duties.

Torguson v. Wayne Supply Co., [1919] 2 W.W.R. 875

MOTION FOR DIRECTIONS — LOCAL AND FOREIGN ADMINISTRATORS — LOCAL CREDITORS.

Re Donnelly, 2 O.W.N. 1388, 19 O.W.R. 708.

VII. Executors de son tort.

(§ VII—140)—VALIDITY OF SALE BY—RELATING BACK.

The validity of sale by an executor de son tort, which is done for the benefit of the estate, relates back, upon his appointment as administrator, to the death of the intestate by operation of law, and he cannot thereafter claim the property or the value thereof in his capacity as administrator. [Maher v. Hubley, 17 N.S.R. 295, distinguished; Whitehall v. Squire, 1 Salk. 295; Christie v. Clarke, 16 U.C.C.P. 544, 27 U.C.Q.B. 21; Robertson v. Burrill, 22 A.R. (Ont.) 356, followed.]

Murray v. Munro, 27 D.L.R. 98, 49 N.S.R. 501.

EXECUTOR DE SON TORT — SALE OF ASSETS OF DECEASED INTESTATE BY INTERMEDDLER — PROCEEDS APPLIED IN PAYMENT OF DEBTS AND FUNERAL EXPENSES.

Pickering v. Thompson, 24 O.L.R. 378, 19 O.W.R. 697.

EXEMPLARY DAMAGES.

See Damages.

EXEMPTIONS.

I. IN GENERAL.

II. PROPERTY AND RIGHTS EXEMPT.

A. In general.

B. Tools; implements; etc.

III. WHO MAY CLAIM.

From taxation, see Taxes, I F.

Annotation.

What property is exempt: 16 D.L.R. 6; 17 D.L.R. 829.

I. In general.

(§ I—4)—ASSIGNMENT TO EVADE — EFFECT — RIGHT TO RECOVER BACK.

Where a debtor owning property exempt by law from execution assigns such property to a third party merely for the purpose of defeating his creditors and solely without consideration, although it may appear that the debtor's intention was to do an act which would be a violation of the law, yet since his act could not have the effect of defeating or delaying his creditors, he is not by such assignment deprived of the right to recover back the property from the assignee who has given no consideration for it.

Scheuerman v. Scheuerman, 17 D.L.R. 638, 7 A.L.R. 380, 29 W.L.R. 246, 7 W.W.R. 522.

II. Property and rights exempt.A. IN GENERAL.*(§ II A-5)—EXERCISE OF RIGHT—ASSIGNMENT FOR CREDITORS.

The right to claim an exemption as against an assignee for creditors is founded on the restrictive words used in s. 17 of the Homestead Act, R.S.B.C. 1911, c. 100, and in the instrument of assignment which adopts the words of the Act; and in order to be entitled to such right it must be claimed at the time of the delivery of possession to the assignee or within a reasonable time thereafter, else it will be presumed to have been waived.

Roy v. Fortin, 25 D.L.R. 18, 22 B.C.R. 282, 32 W.L.R. 790, 9 W.W.R. 407.

WHEN PROPERTY EXEMPT FROM SEIZURE.

In a simple case, if clear proof were presented to the execution creditor by affidavit or otherwise that land apparently affected by the execution lodged by him in the Land Titles Office was exempt under the homestead exemption law, he should, at the expense of the debtor, do what was necessary to remove the cloud on the title.

Hart v. Rye, 16 D.L.R. 1, 5 W.W.R. 1280, 27 W.L.R. 9.

IN GENERAL.

The agreement for maintenance, as well as that ordered by judicial decree, ceases to be exigible on a change taking place in the condition of the creditor by which he is enabled to support himself. The debtor is not obliged to procure a judicial discharge of the agreement or decree.

Laflamme v. Saint Jacques, 41 Que. S.C. 172.

(§ II A-12)—HOMESTEADS — EXEMPTION ORDINANCE — EXECUTIONS — ADMINISTRATION ORDERS.

The duty of an administrator is to realize the assets of the decedent's estate available to pay debts, but he may not without the consent of the widow proceed to sell the homestead and distribute the proceeds in payment of debts if the homestead was exempt under the Exemption Ordinance; such homestead in the occupation of and necessary for the widow and children did not constitute assets available either under execution or under an administration order.

Re Conlin Estate, 19 D.L.R. 793, 7 A.L.R. 437, 7 W.W.R. 187.

PENSIONS AND PROCEEDS.

Exemption from seizure provided for in art. 599, par. 13, C.C.P. (62 Vict. c. 53) as to pensions created by financial institutions for their employees, extends itself to pension funds and provisions for old age created by a railroad company to assure the performance and efficiency of the service of the public use. In consequence the benefits of the insurance of a railroad employee in the association established by such company and providing such funds are exempt from seizure.

Jetter v. G.T.R. Co., 18 Rev. de Jur. 204. Can. Dig.—64.

(§ II A-16)—WAGES — PUBLIC OFFICE UNDER THE CROWN—RIGHT OF ATTACHMENT — EXIGIBILITY.

Where a judgment debtor holds a public office under the Crown whose remuneration is payable out of national funds, e.g. in the R.N.W.M. Police Force it is contrary to the policy of the law that his remuneration, intended to maintain him in a state of usefulness in the force, should be subject to attachment or other method of execution.

Hobbs v. Att'y-Gen'l of Canada, 18 D.L.R. 395, 7 A.L.R. 391, 29 W.L.R. 650, 7 W.W.R. 256.

WAGES.

Article 599, par. 9, C.C.P. declaring wages nonseizable in a certain proportion, assimilates thereby the part nonseizable to other exempt property as respects debts for maintenance. It follows that for such a debt the nonseizable part of the wages can be seized.

Panneton v. Gagnon, 47 Que. S.C. 8.

SALARY OF MUNICIPAL EMPLOYEES.

The salary of a municipal employee (a valuator), of a city or town, whose engagement is neither by the month nor by the year but by the day can be seized for the portion indicated in par. 11 of art. 599 C.C.P.

Chabot v. Ringnet, 49 Que. S.C. 4.

B. TOOLS; IMPLEMENTS; ETC.(§ II B-20)—STOCK-IN-TRADE — BUTCHER SHOP.

The safe, cash register, counter, etc., of a butcher are "stock-in-trade of his business" and so not exempt from seizure under a writ of fi. fa.

Endrizzi v. Peto and Beckley, [1917] 1 W.W.R. 1439.

STALLION AS MEANS OF LIVELIHOOD.

A stallion which is kept for breeding purposes and which is the chief source of revenue and means of livelihood of its owner is exempt, under s. 29 (a) of the Executions Act (Man.), from seizure under execution.

Williams v. M. Rumely Co., [1917] 3 W.W.R. 301.

(§ II B-22)—OF FARMER ON ASSIGNMENT FOR CREDITORS.

A farmer who operates a mill through an employee and who, when the season's work on his farm is over, buys and sells stock as opportunities occur, does not thereby cease to be a farmer; if he makes an assignment for benefit of his creditors he is entitled to retain two working horses and, if he sells them, the proceeds of such sale or the promissory notes representing the same. If in such case the curator, having allowed the insolvent, as a farmer, to keep the two horses refuses to deliver to him the note given on the sale of one of them and, with the authority of the inspectors, contests the proceedings by the insolvent for possession of said note although he had previously promised to deliver it over, he will be personally ordered to pay the costs of the proceedings.

Hébert v. Rondeau, 14 Que. P.R. 1.

AUTOMOBILE TO EARN LIVING.

An automobile worth $1,400, even if it is the only vehicle owned by a doctor, is not nonseizable from the fact that he used it to earn his living as a cabman.

Robitaille v. Asselin, 49 Que. S.C. 1.

PHYSICIAN'S VEHICLE.

A country physician's horse, vehicle and harness are not exempt from seizure.

Tudhope Anderson Co. v. Lafortune, 17 Que. P.R. 433.

III. Who may claim.

(§ III—30)—PERSON OF FAMILY — PARTNERSHIP.

The property of a partnership is not exempt by virtue of the Exemptions Ordinance (c. 27, C.O. 1898) from seizure under execution; the provisions of said ordinance being applicable only to an individual who may have a family and to the family.

MacKinnon v. Beals, 10 A.L.R. 503, [1917] 1 W.W.R. 1328.

EXPERT TESTIMONY.

See Evidence.

Annotations.

Medical experts: 38 D.L.R. 453.

Questioned documents and proof of handwriting: 44 D.L.R. 179, 13 D.L.R. 565.

EXHIBITIONS.

TRADE PRIVILEGES—CONCESSIONS.

Hopkins v. Canadian National Exhibition Assn., 5 O.W.N. 639.

EXPLOSIONS.

IN GENERAL.

There can be no recovery on the ground of negligence for injuries sustained by an explosion of dynamite into which a pick was stuck by a mine employee, where the proof fails to shew any negligence on the part of the master in permitting the explosion to be in the place where the injury occurred, or as to how it came there, or that its presence could have been discovered by the most careful inspection, or, if the explosion was caused by an unexploded charge, by counting the explosions at the time a blast was made.

Root v. Vancouver Power Co., 2 D.L.R. 303, 17 B.C.R. 203, 20 W.L.R. 847, 1 W.W.R. 1111.

ILLEGAL OR NEGLIGENT USE — INJURY TO SERVANT—USE OF EXPLOSIVES — UNARMED RECEPTACLE — FINDINGS OF FACT OF TRIAL JUDGE—APPEAL.

Davidson v. Peters Coal Co. (No. 2), 5 D.L.R. 882, 4 O.W.N. 36, 23 O.W.R. 25, affirming 2 D.L.R. 908, 3 O.W.N. 1160.

ILLEGAL OR NEGLIGENT USE.

Where in a process of thawing dynamite one employs an illiterate labourer and fails to acquaint him with the directions in which the process of thawing is to be followed, and that the mode of thawing was carried on contrary to the directions issued with each box, as a result of which an explosion occurs killing such servant, the master is liable in an action for his death by the administrator of the deceased.

Toronto Construction Co. v. Strati, 46 Can. S.C.R. 631, affirming 19 O.W.R. 88.

SERVANT INJURED BY EXPLOSION OF SHELL — CONTRIBUTORY NEGLIGENCE.

Smith v. Royal Canadian Yacht Club, 19 O.W.R. 1001, 3 O.W.N. 19.

EXPROPRIATION.

I. RIGHT TO TAKE PROPERTY.

- A. In general.
- B. Who may exercise.
- C. What may be taken.
- D. For what purpose.
- E. Right acquired.

II. PROCEDURE.

- A. In general.
- B. Petition.
- C. Trial; award.
- D. Appeal; new trial.

III. RIGHTS AND REMEDIES OF OWNERS.

- A. In general.
- B. What constitutes a taking of, or injury to, property.
- C. Right to compensation.
- D. Payment or security; taking possession of property.
- E. Consequential injuries.

IV. ADDITIONAL SERVICE.

- A. In general; on railroad way.
- B. On highway.

Annotations.

Allowance for compulsory taking, liquor license: 27 D.L.R. 259.

Damages for expropriation.—Measure of compensation, 1 D.L.R. 508.

I. Right to take property.

Municipal powers as to, see Municipal Corporations, II A—30.

A. IN GENERAL.

(§ I A—1)—HIGHWAYS — EXPROPRIATION — VALIDITY OF AWARD.

The members of the Ontario Railway and Municipal Board in fixing the amount of compensation allowed for land expropriated under the Toronto & Hamilton Highway Commission Act, act as judges rather than arbitrators merely, and the fact that they allowed another member of the Board who had not heard the evidence to read it and express his views regarding the case is no ground for vitiating the award.

Re Toronto & Hamilton Highway Commission and Crabb, 32 D.L.R. 706, 37 O.L.R. 656.

ILLEGAL EXPROPRIATOR BY MUNICIPAL CORPORATION — ACTION TO RECOVER PROPERTY.

A municipal corporation has no right to dispossess a person of his property without legal proceedings and under the due course of law.

Grenier v. St. Etouard de Fabre, 25 Rev. de Jur. 290.

(§ I A-4)—RIGHT OF MUNICIPALITY.

Articles 421, 423 (a) of the Montreal charter as to expropriation for improvements do not apply to the acquisition of real estate for the administrative purposes of the city corporation.

Birchborough v. Montreal, 3 D.L.R. 299, 21 Que. K.B. 467.

MUNICIPAL ACTS — IMPROVEMENTS—SETTING ASIDE.

When a municipal council passes a by-law for the expropriation of land, ostensibly acting within the powers conferred by s. 576 of the Municipal Act, 1903, purports to act in pursuance of a well thought out and comprehensive scheme for the acquisition of parks, pleasure grounds, boulevards, drives, gardens and places of recreation and enjoyment; when the propriety of the scheme has been generally approved, and has not been attacked by a single ratepayer as such, has been acted upon and money expended in pursuance of it for many years, and when each plot of land is essential to the harmonious development of the whole, such by-law will not be set aside at the instance of an owner of lots expropriated and included in the scheme who has been an active and zealous pioneer for the acquisition and construction of such improvements, especially when there is no evidence of fraud, dishonesty or trickery on the part of such council. The erroneous introduction of unnecessary words cannot destroy a description otherwise clear.

Watson v. Toronto Harbour Commissioners, 41 D.L.R. 633, 42 O.L.R. 65.

MUNICIPAL CORPORATION — EXPROPRIATION OF LAND — BY-LAW — NOTICE OF EXPROPRIATION — REPEALING BY-LAW — EXPROPRIATION OF SMALLER PORTION — NEW NOTICE — LIABILITY FOR DAMAGES FOR PASSING OF FIRST BY-LAW AND ENTRY — MUNICIPAL ACT, 1903, s. 463 — MUNICIPAL ACT, 1913, s. 347.
Guest v. Hamilton, 5 O.W.N. 889.

RIGHT OF MUNICIPALITY.

The provisions of Title VIII of the Municipal Code respecting expropriation for municipal purposes do not exclude those of art. 407 C.C. (Que.), which should be applied in regard to the damages.

Thibaudeau v. Ste. Th  cle, 43 Que. S.C. 207.

MUNICIPAL EXPROPRIATION — FORMALITIES — PROPERTY — PETITIONARY ACTION — C.C. ART. 407 — C. MUN. ART. 789.

A municipal corporation, desiring to expropriate certain land, sent notice to the owner of the time and place of the valuation. Later, after notice of the award had been received, the city notified the owner of this notice. The owner not having appeared to either of these notices, and not having filed an objection within 30 days, he cannot bring a petitionary action against the municipality which, on the payment of the indemnity fixed by the arbitrators, has become the owner of the expropriated. Leduc v. Lochaber Nord, 25 Rev. Leg. 152.

B. WHO MAY EXERCISE.

(§ I B-5) — MUNICIPAL CORPORATION — MUNICIPAL ACT — MUST BE BY BY-LAW — CORPORATION CANNOT CONFER JURISDICTION ON OFFICIAL REFEREE WHEN EXPROPRIATION ILLEGAL.

The acquiring or expropriation of land by municipal corporations is governed by s. 322 of the Municipal Act (R.S.O. 1914, c. 192) and must be done by by-law. An expropriation for civic purposes being illegal because there is no by-law authorizing it, the corporation cannot, by consent, confer jurisdiction on the official referee to assess the damages, and any award made by him is void.

Grosvenor St. Presbyterian Church v. Toronto, 45 D.L.R. 327, affirming 40 D.L.R. 574.

(§ I B-8) — RAILWAY COMPANY — PLANS AND PROFILE — VACATING FOR DELAY.

Where the plan of the line of a proposed railway has been approved by the Railway Commissioner of Manitoba, and filed in the land titles office of the district, but nothing has been done towards actually establishing the railway, except the obtaining of a charter which incorporated the provisions of the Manitoba Railway Act, and the payment in of a specified deposit in respect of such charter, the Public Utilities Commission of Manitoba has jurisdiction, upon the application of an owner through whose property the proposed line runs, to set aside the plans on the company's default in proceeding within a reasonable time.

Re Winnipeg North-Eastern R. Co. (No. 2), 11 D.L.R. 147, 15 Can. Ry. Cas. 183, 4 W.W.R. 256, affirming 10 D.L.R. 469, as to jurisdiction.

C. WHAT MAY BE TAKEN.

(§ I C-15) — GRAVEL LANDS — NEED OF SURVEYS.

Gravel land which is required by a railway company for obtaining construction material and the right of way for a spur line to take it out may be expropriated under s. 180 of the Railway Act, 1906, without any plans being submitted to the Railway Board; no deposit of plans is required as would be necessary were the land required for a right-of-way for its line, but a certified copy of the surveyor's plan is to be served upon the property owner as well as the notice to treat.

Sask. Land & Homestead Co. v. Calgary & Edmonton R. Co., 21 D.L.R. 172, 51 Can. S.C.R. 1, 8 W.W.R. 312, 19 Can. Ry. Cas. 126, affirming 14 D.L.R. 193, 6 A.L.R. 471.

OF TOLL ROAD — TOLL ROAD EXPROPRIATION — PARTIES TO ARBITRATION — TOWN-SHIPS INTERESTED.

Brockville & Prescott Road Co. v. Counties of Leeds & Grenville, 5 O.W.N. 362.

JX QUEBEC.

Article 5792 R.S.Q. 1909, relating to cities and towns forms part of the charter of the town of Outremont which, therefore, cannot, without the owner's consent, expropriate the property of any religious, charitable or educational corporation.

Outremont v. Missionary Sisters of the Immaculate Conception, 14 Que. P.R. 211.

(§ I C—16)—BEACH — HARBOUR — VALIDITY OF GRANT — COMPENSATION — VALUE — PUBLIC LANDS.

The right to alienate part of the public domain by the King of France has always been recognized even subsequent to the Edict of Moulins. A title to certain beach lots, in Quebec, founded on a grant from Louis XIV. is valid, and cannot be attacked by the Crown. Such lands do not form part of the Harbour of Quebec. In estimating compensation for the expropriation of land by the Crown, the value of the property for expropriation purposes cannot be taken as a basis; the value of the property to the owner, not to the party expropriating it, is to be considered.

Belanger v. The King, 42 D.L.R. 138, 17 Can. Ex. 333.

(§ I C—21)—TIDELANDS — LAND COVERED WITH WATER.

Land covered with water may be expropriated by a city for a water-works system under the provisions of the Sask. City Act, where the land was granted by the Crown, without reservation except the right of navigation and fisheries, before the passage of the North-West Irrigation Act, 1898.

Ex parte Young, 5 D.L.R. 83, 5 S.L.R. 351, 21 W.L.R. 860, 2 W.W.R. 758.

(§ I C—32)—LANDS OF PROVINCIAL RAILWAY—CROSSINGS.

When application is made under s. 159 of the Railway Act, 1906, for the approval of a location plan of a Dominion railway crossing lands of a provincial railway company, the Board must first determine in each case whether expropriation of the required lands of the provincial railway should be authorized, since the order of approval carries with it the right of expropriation of such lands within the limits set out in s. 177 of the Act. Section 176 of the Act does not authorize the taking of lands of a provincial railway company; and the settled practice of the Board accords with this view.

Lachine, Jacques Cartier & M. R. Co. v. Montreal Tramways, etc., 18 Can. Ry. Cas. 133.

FOR CROSSING OF OTHER RAILWAY.

An order was made by the Railway Board authorizing a railway company, for the purpose of completing a projected spur authorized by a former order of the board, to take a portion of land acquired by another railway company after the making of the former order referred to. It was also ordered that the expense of the crossings on the land in question should be borne jointly by the two companies.

Qu'Appelle Long Lake & Saskatchewan R. Co. v. C.P.R. Co., 21 W.L.R. 628.

D. FOR WHAT PURPOSE.

(§ I D—52)—ELECTRIC LIGHT.

The Municipal Act of 1903, 3 Edw. VII. (Ont.) c. 19, as amended, does not confer power upon a town to acquire "in invitum" by arbitration and expropriation proceedings a plant owned by a company organized for the manufacture of gas and electricity.

Sarnia Gas & Electric Light Co. v. Sarnia, 4 D.L.R. 19, 3 O.W.N. 1455, 22 O.W.R. 558.

(§ I D—55)—FOR RAILROAD — PUBLIC WORK — WHARF FRONTING ON AREA TAKEN.

The King v. Falardeau, 14 D.L.R. 917, 14 Can. Ex. 265.

RAILWAYS — CONDEMNING PROPERTIES FOR — FILING PLANS.

The sale, by deed, stipulating for immediate delivery and possession, to a railway company of all that portion of certain lots required by it for its right-of-way and other purposes necessary for construction, maintenance, or operation as the same appears on the plans already filed or to be filed in the land registry office of the county in which such lands are situate, does not give the company any right to the possession for the purpose of taking away sand and gravel therefrom of lands outside of the lands designated upon the plan or plans filed under the Railway Act, 1906, if further lands are required, the new or amended plan must first be filed before the railway acquires any right of possession under such deed.

Ha Ha Bay R. Co. v. Larouche, 10 D.L.R. 388, 22 Que. K.B. 92.

PUBLIC LANDS.

Lands dedicated to a public use under a provincial statute may be expropriated under the Railway Act (Dom.), for railway purposes.

Lachine, Jacques Cartier & Maisonneuve R. Co. v. Montreal Gas Co., 28 D.L.R. 382, 18 Can. Ry. Cas. 438.

GOVERNMENT RAILWAY ACT, 1881, s. 18 — VESTING OF PROPERTY IN THE CROWN — TITLE TO LAND — STATUTE OF LIMITATIONS — DISABILITY — ABSENCE FROM PROVINCE — GENTLEMAN'S RESIDENCE—INTEREST.

Under the provisions of s. 18 of the Government Railways Act, 1881, the land taken for the purpose of a railway became absolutely vested in the Crown, not only by the deposit of the plan and description in the registry office, but also by the actual possession assumed by the Crown. The title to the land does not become vested in the Crown by the mere survey of the land, as provided by s. 5 of the Government Railways Act. Under the circumstances of the case the claim was not barred by the Statute of Limitations. Where the expropriating party has done all that could reasonably be expected of it to settle for the land taken, and that the delay in prosecuting the recovery of the claim may justly have been construed as an abandonment of the same, interest will only be allowed from the date on which the Petition of Right was filed in court.

Howard v. The King & Pictou: Re Strathcona Estate, 50 D.L.R. 527, 19 Can. Ex. 271.

RAILROADS.

The right of expropriation is given to railway companies not for their own benefit but in the public interest and to enable reasonable facilities to be given to the public. Upon a strict compliance with the provisions of s. 178 of the Railway Act, 1906, the company has the right to acquire the lands covered by its application unless it is established that the application is not bona fide and that the company does not require the lands for public purposes, or that it is acquiring them for some ulterior purpose.

C.P.R. Co. v. Coquitlam Landowners, 13 Can. Ry. Cas. 25, 20 W.L.R. 632.

(§ I D—57) — EXPROPRIATION FOR RAILWAY YARDS.

Under s. 178 of the Railway Act, 1906, giving the Railway Board the right to give a railway company permission to take more land for railway purposes than it is entitled to take under subs. (b) of s. 177 of the Act, providing that there may be taken for stations, depots, etc., an area one mile in length by 500 feet in breadth including the width of the right-of-way, if such additional land is shown to be "necessary," the word "necessary" should be given a liberal construction.

Prince Albert v. C.N.R. Co., 10 D.L.R. 122, 15 Can. Ry. Cas. 87, 6 S.L.R. 49, 24 W.L.R. 275, 3 W.W.R. 900.

(§ I D—58) — SPURS OR BRANCH LINES — LANDS OWNED BY APPLICANT FOR SPUR — COMPENSATION.

Section 225 of the Railway Act, 1906, applies to spurs or branch lines ordered under s. 226 as well as to branch lines authorized under s. 222. The lands necessary for a spur constructed under s. 226 are, therefore, to be acquired by agreement or expropriation in the same manner as lands for other railway purposes. Consequently, where lands so required are owned by the applicant for the spur, and the applicant has not been compensated for them in accordance with the Act, they do not become vested in the railway company by the mere operation of s. 226, subs. 5, upon refund of the cost of the spur by means of rebates. [Boland

v. G.T.R. Co., 18 Can. Ry. Cas. 60, followed.]

Standard Crushed Stone Co. v. G.T.R. Co., 18 Can. Ry. Cas. 374.

INDUSTRIAL SPUR—SCOPE OF RIGHT — POWERS OF BOARD.

When an order of the Railway Board authorizing the construction and operation of an industrial spur provides that the respondent should retain the ownership of the right-of-way on which the siding is located, the Board can only authorize the applicant to take expropriation proceedings to enable it to acquire the right-of-way across the lands of the respondent so as to reach by an extension of the spur another industry which it desires to serve.

G.T.R. Co. v. Hamilton & Toronto Sewer Pipe Co., 18 Can. Ry. Cas. 369.

(§ I D—60) — RIPARIAN RIGHTS — WATER-POWERS — PUBLIC WORK — 7 W.M. IV., c. 66 — 9 VICT., c. 37, s. 7 — B.N.A. ACT, s. 108 — VALUATION OF WATER-POWERS.

The River Trent, by a series of statutes, was appropriated by the Crown for the purpose of constructing the Trent Canal. At the time of Confederation the whole river from Rice Lake to the Bay of Quinte had become part of the canal system. Held, that the river had, under the circumstances, become a public work of Canada and passed by s. 108 of the B.N.A. Act to the Dominion at the time of Confederation. 2. That the title of defendant to lots on the river did not carry with it the solum or bed of the river, and therefore the defendant had no legal right to compel the dam erected above his lots on the river to be maintained by the Crown. 3. In estimating the value of a water-power the cost of exploiting the same must be considered. That being so, even if the river in question were not a public work no value as accruing to the defendant could be placed upon the water-power, as it would cost more to develop than the results to be attained would justify.

The King v. Kilbourn, 47 D.L.R. 346, 19 Can. Ex. 7.

(§ I D—66) — RESERVOIR — WATERWORK SYSTEM.

Expropriation proceedings to acquire land for a city waterworks system must be based upon the Sask. City Act.

Ex parte Young, 5 D.L.R. 83, 5 S.L.R. 357, 21 W.L.R. 860, 2 W.W.R. 758.

(§ I D—67) — WATER RIGHTS — LAKES AND STREAMS — PUBLIC USE — PRIOR PUBLIC UTILITY FRANCHISE — LANDS COVERED BY WATER.

A right of expropriation granted to a mining and power company by legislative authority in its act of incorporation as to "lakes or streams or lands covered by water" will be construed as not including public rivers nor those in which rights and franchises of other corporations such as river improvement companies had become vested by special legislation. Mere general words in an expropriation clause of an incorporating statute will not confer the right to compulsorily acquire property which had formerly been acquired in the same way by another company where the purposes of the earlier project would be seriously interfered with.

Thomson v. Halifax Power Co., 16 D.L.R. 424, 47 N.S.R. 536.

(§ I D-73)—WATER AND WATER RIGHTS — DAMS.

Statutory powers of expropriation in the incorporating statute of a power company are to be strictly construed so as not, by mere general words authorizing expropriation for the damming of a river, to deprive the public of rights theretofore existing unless a clear legislative intention to abrogate public rights is disclosed in the statute.

Miller v. Halifax Power Co.; Thomson v. Halifax Power Co., 13 D.L.R. 845, 47 N.S.R. 334, 49 C.L.J. 707.

E. RIGHT ACQUIRED.

(§ I E-75)—RIGHTS ACQUIRED BY ADOPTION OF EXPROPRIATION BY-LAW — VESTING OF PROPERTY.

The mere adoption of a by-law providing for the expropriation of property for public purposes does not vest the property in a municipality. [Re Prittie and Toronto, 19 A.R. (Ont.) 563; Re Macpherson and Toronto, 26 O.R. (Ont.) 558, and Re McColl and Toronto, 21 A.R. (Ont.) 256, distinguished.]

Grimshaw v. Toronto, 13 D.L.R. 247, 28 O.L.R. 512.

(§ I E-78) — BY RAILWAY COMPANY AGAINST OWNER OF FEE.

The title to land expropriated for a right of way by a railway company that received a subsidy under 27 Viet. (N.B.), c. 3, 1864, and 28 Viet. (N.B.), c. 12, 1865, is, by such acts, limited to an easement merely, and upon abandonment thereof for railway purposes the title reverts to the original owner.

Catt v. C.P.R. Co., 5 D.L.R. 208, 14 Can. Ry. Cas. 49, 41 N.B.R. 225. [Affirmed, 15 D.L.R. 295, 48 Can. S.C.R. 514, 13 E.L.R. 559.]

PUBLIC LANE OR HIGHWAY—DEDICATION.
G.T.R. Co. v. Guelph, 12 Can. Ry. Cas. 371.

TRANSCONTINENTAL RAILWAY COMMISSION — RAILWAY ACT.

The King v. Jones, 44 Can. S.C.R. 495.

POWER TO ENTER LANDS AND TAKE MATERIAL FOR REPAIR OF HIGHWAYS — ARBITRATION.

Cook v. North Vancouver, 16 B.C.R. 129.

II. Procedure.

A. IN GENERAL.

(§ II A-80)—Land covered with water, which was granted by the Crown after the passage of the Irrigation Act, 1898 (Sask.) can be expropriated by a city for water-works purposes, only under the provisions of such Act.

Ex parte Young, 5 D.L.R. 83, 5 S.L.R. 357, 21 W.L.R. 860, 2 W.W.R. 758.

CITY CORPORATION — ERROR IN NOTICE — POWER TO DESIST — SERIOUS MISTAKE — NULLITY AS TO OBJECT.

A city corporation in Quebec has power to desist from an expropriation proceeding already commenced because of a serious mistake or error in the notice of expropriation given by it to the owner and the plan on which the notice was based, where such error is a cause of nullity as to the substance of the object of the expropriation.

Bisaillon v. Montreal, 46 D.L.R. 331, 58 Can. S.C.R. 24, affirming 26 Que. K.B. 1.

RIGHT TO REPEAL EXPROPRIATION BY-LAW.

Since under s. 463 (1) of the Consolidated Municipal Act, 3 Edw. VII, (Ont.) c. 19, R.S.O. 1914, c. 124, an award of arbitrators in an expropriation proceeding is not binding on a city unless adopted by a by-law within three months after award, the by-law authorizing the proceeding may be repealed before the completion of the arbitration. [Re McColl and Toronto, 21 A.R. 256, followed.]

Grimshaw v. Toronto, 13 D.L.R. 247, 28 O.L.R. 512.

WARRANT OF POSSESSION — VALIDITY — NONCOMPLIANCE WITH STATUTORY REQUIREMENTS.

A warrant of possession, issued under s. 217 of the Railway Act, 1906, will be valid until set aside, although all of the statutory requirements were not strictly complied with, as s. 220 of the Act provides that the proceedings are to be continued in the court which issued the warrant.

Sanders v. Edmonton, Dunvegan & B.C. R. Co., 14 D.L.R. 89, 6 A.L.R. 459, 25 W.L.R. 540, 5 W.W.R. 172.

WARRANT OF POSSESSION — NOTICE OF APPLICATION FOR — SERVICE OF ON REGISTERED OWNER ONLY, AFTER SALE — RAILWAY ACT.

The service of a notice to treat on the expropriation of lands for railway purposes need only be made upon the registered owner, and, in the absence of fraud, the railway company may disregard an unregistered interest of which they have notice; on the subsequent registration of an interest in a part only of the land the holder thereof may be added as a party to the expropriation proceedings, but he is not entitled to a separate offer of compensation or a separate award against the company for his portion. [Re Edmonton, Dunvegan & B.C. R. Co., 15 D.L.R. 938, varied.]

Sanders v. Edmonton, Dunvegan & B.C. R. Co., 18 D.L.R. 633, 28 W.L.R. 967, 7 W.W.R. 430, 18 Can. Ry. Cas. 71. [See also 14 D.L.R. 88.]

WARRANT OF POSSESSION—RAILWAY—EXPROPRIATION OF LAND—APPLICATION FOR WARRANT FOR IMMEDIATE POSSESSION.

Re Strong and Campbellford, Lake Ontario & Western R. Co., 5 O.W.N. 25, 24 O.W.R. 966.

BY-LAW—NOTICE OF EXPROPRIATION—REFEALING BY-LAW—EXPROPRIATION OF SMALLER PORTION—NEW NOTICE.

Gibst v. Hamilton, 5 O.W.N. 310, 25 O.W.R. 274.

QUEBEC PROCEDURE.

The indemnity is fixed by the valuers of the municipality as provided by art. 908, Minn. Code (Que.). Therefore, a resolution of council, naming an arbitrator, notice to the owner of the land expropriated to do the same and the arbitration which follows are nullities; especially if the rules required on pain of nullity for common law arbitrators have not been observed. The declaration of the owner that he is satisfied "under reserve of the damages which have not been estimated" is not an acquiescence which covers these nullities and is no bar to his exercise of the legal remedies to which they entitle him.

Thibaudeau v. Ste. Th  cle, 43 Que. S.C. 207.

CONSENT OF PARTIES.

The "consent of parties" provided for in s. 204 of the Railway Act, 1906, to the fixing of a day on which the arbitrators appointed to settle the value of land expropriated for railway purposes, can be given verbally and oral evidence of it is admissible.

Can. Nor. Quebec R. Co. v. Naud, 22 Que. K.B. 221, affirming 42 Que. S.C. 121. [Affirmed, 14 D.L.R. 307, 48 Can. S.C.R. 242.]

SPECIAL STATUTORY PROCEDURE—ARBITRATION—EXPROPRIATION FOR RAILWAY—RETROACTIVENESS OF STATUTE.

In railway expropriations the parties have a right to refuse to take proceedings under the special statutes passed for this purpose and to agree to an ordinary, voluntary and conventional arbitration, these acts not being of public order. By the Quebec Act of 1912, 3 Geo. V., c. 42, the arbitration in the matter of expropriation by railway companies is abolished and replaced by an enq  te before a Judge of the Superior Court, but this Act has no retroactive effect, and does not apply to an arbitration started before December 21, 1912, the date on which the Act was brought into force.

Girard v. Ha-Ha-Baie, 47 Que. S.C. 325.

(§ II A—81)—ATTEMPT TO AGREE—SALE—CONSENT THERETO MANIFESTED, PARTLY IN WRITING, AND PARTLY BY CONDUCT.

The owner of land who, on receiving notice from school commissioners that a notice of it is required for a school, causes a letter to be written to them that he is ready to surrender it (livrer le terrain), at $200 par arpent, cash..... "this amount to be paid within fifteen days," and afterwards agrees upon a date and hour to meet the secretary-treasurer, on the premises, to measure and to stake out the lot, which is done by that officer alone, he failing to attend, effects a sale of the lot so staked out, that gives the commissioners the ownership and right of possession thereof; and having admitted that he caused the above letter to be written, his own parol testimony is inadmissible to prove that the clause granting fifteen days for payment of the price, was unauthorized.

Matte v. School Commissioners of St. Jean, 44 Que. S.C. 289.

(§ II A—83)—RAILWAY—SEPARATE TITLES AND OFFERS TO TREAT.

Where titles are distinct, each separate owner is entitled as of right to have a separate offer of compensation made to him by the railway company expropriating the land for railway purposes.

Re Edmonton, Dunvegan & B.C.R. Co., 15 D.L.R. 938, 16 Can. Ry. Cas. 396, 5 W.W.R. 1192, 26 W.L.R. 767. [Varied in 18 D.L.R. 633.]

RAILWAY CO.—NOTICE—SERVICE OF—OWNER AT TIME OF DEPOSIT OF PLAN—SUBSEQUENT PURCHASE—RIGHTS OF.

A railway company taking expropriation proceedings for its right-of-way under the Railway Act, 1906, is not entitled to proceed upon a notice to treat served upon a person who was the owner at the time of the deposit of its plan, profile and book of reference to the exclusion of a purchaser whose title was already registered at the time the notice to treat was served on his vendor; the purchaser is entitled to have an offer made to him which he can either accept or refuse and it is not sufficient that the purchaser was offered the opportunity of taking the vendor's place in the arbitration proceedings.

Lachine, Jacques Cartier & Maisonneuve Ry. Co. v. Reid, 20 D.L.R. 816, 23 Que. K.B. 816.

(§ II A—84)—DESCRIPTION—CURATIVE STATUTE—CONSTITUTIONALITY—JUSTERIL.

No title passes to land taken under an expropriation proceeding in which the statutory requirements as to the description of the land are not complied with. The curative provisions of Act 1881 (R.S.C. 1906, c. 36, s. 82) only apply where the lands are taken possession of. Where the Dominion Parliament has power to authorize the expropriation of provincial lands for a Dominion railway, it has the like power to enact a curative statute relieving none pro tunc for a noncompliance with the strict provisions of the statute under which the expropriation is made.

The King v. Lee, 38 D.L.R. 695, 16 Can. Ex. 424, 23 Can. Ry. Cas. 218. [Affirmed, 52 D.L.R. —, 59 Can. S.C.R. 652.]

PLAN AND DESCRIPTION — SUFFICIENCY — SHERIFF'S SALE.

Where a large area of land, composed of several cadastral lots, has been expropriated by the Crown for the purposes of a military training camp, the deposit of a plan and description giving the number of lots in severally, the concessions and parishes in which such lands are situate, together with a red line upon the plan shewing the external boundary and metes of the camp, and the description referring to the same, in the following words: "This is a plan and description of certain lands, as shewn on the plan within lines marked in red." Held, such plans and descriptions are satisfactory compliance with the requirements of s. 8 of the Expropriation Act (R.S.C. 1906, c. 140), identifying with certainty the lands taken and conveying such notice both to the owners thereof and the public. A sale upon the owner at the date of the deposit of such plan and description made by the sheriff several months thereafter is to be treated as made super non domino, the lands being vested in the Crown, and the sale declared null and void.

Lamontagne v. The King, 16 Can. Ex. 203.

PLAN AND DESCRIPTION.

Depositing in a registry office of a plan and copy of the "Book of Reference," is not a compliance with the provisions of s. 8 of the Expropriation Act; it is a plan and description by metes and bounds that is so required.

The King v. Roy, 15 Can. Ex. 472.

PLANS—MODIFICATION.

An order of the Railway Board authorizing an expropriation, and the plans and specifications approved by it, for this purpose, can only be changed or modified by another order of the Commission.

Baril v. G.T.R. Co., 46 Que. S.C. 295.

B. PETITION.

(§ II B—85)—PETITION—OWNER'S LIABILITY AS TO COSTS—ARBITRATION—PUBLIC UTILITY.

A petition asking expropriation for building a church being the initial step in legal proceedings, only an offer of a sum of money to the party to be expropriated, followed by a deposit in court of the amount, can subject the latter to the costs of the arbitration. The costs incurred on expropriation in a matter of public utility, especially the costs of an arbitration for part of the proper indemnity, are payable to the expropriated owner.

Notre Dame de Sorel v. Rolerge, 15 Que. P.R. 65.

C. TRIAL; AWARD; JUDGMENT.

(§ II C—92)—INSTRUCTIONS—WARRANTS FOR POSSESSION—SUMS TO BE PAID IN COURT.

Re Campbellford, Lake Ontario & Western R. Co., 3 D.L.R. 889, 3 O.W.N. 1513.

(§ II C—93)—POWERS OF JUDGES—SCOPE OF JUDGMENTS.

In the exercise of jurisdiction conferred by the statutes in matters of expropriation for the purpose of construction of railways or of the exploitation of hydraulic power, the Judges of the Superior Court act in their official capacity, with the powers and attributes of their judicial functions; they are not experts or persons designate; judgments or orders made by them ought to dispose of all the questions of fact and of law which are involved in the contestations.

Bouchard v. Quebec Development Co., 50 Que. S.C. 246.

(§ II C—94)—AMENDMENT OF AWARD.

The powers of the expropriation commissioners of the city of Montreal do not cease until their final report is filed and published, and until such publication they may revise their awards, decrease or increase the indemnities to be allowed to expropriated parties, and reconsider their decisions, and a mandamus will not lie to compel them to make a return on a resolution which they had reconsidered before the publication of their report.

Hampson v. Dupuis et al., 8 D.L.R. 500.

(§ II C—95)—INVALIDITY—OMISSION OF ASCERTAINING AMOUNT OF COMPENSATION.

Bull v. St. John & Quebec R. Co., 13 E.L.R. 289.

D. APPEAL; NEW TRIAL.

(§ II D—100)—LAND—AWARD—APPEAL FROM JURISDICTION OF COURT—SCOPE OF.

It is competent for the court apart from the jurisdiction given by the Railway Act (Can.), to act upon its own view of the evidence taken by the arbitrators in expropriation proceedings upon an appeal taken from the award. [Re Macpherson and Toronto, 26 O.R. 558, followed.]

Re Muir and Lake Erie & Northern R. Co., 20 D.L.R. 687, 32 O.L.R. 150, 19 Can. Ry. Cas. 107.

EXPROPRIATION BY MUNICIPALITY—ORDER OF JUDGE FOR ISSUE OF WRIT OF POSSESSION—R.S.Q. 1909, ART. 5799—REVIEW.

An order of a Judge of the Superior Court, made under the authority of art. 5799, R.S.Q. 1909, for the issue of a writ to put a municipality of a town in possession of real property expropriated, cannot be reviewed. [Henriville (Corp.) v. Lafond, 2 B.R. 126; Richard v. Grand'Mere, 22 B.R. 272; Richelieu Ry. Co. v. Jetté, 17 Can. S.C.R. 493, and C.P.R. v. St. Therèse, 16 Can. S.C.R. 606, followed.]

Grand'Mere v. Balczer, 45 Que. S.C. 109.

(§ II D—101)—UNSATISFACTORY AWARD—INTERFERENCE WITH—REMITTING CASE TO ARBITRATORS.

The fact that arbitrators in awarding damages for the expropriation of a railway right-of-way through a brickmaking plant which entailed additional expense for the carriage of brickmaking materials to the factory, based their award on uncontradicted evidence as to an impracticable system of transportation will not justify interference with the award by the appellate court if there is evidence to support it, even though the court is dissatisfied with the award; as the appeal must be dealt with on the evidence produced before the arbitrators and the court cannot remit to them for the taking of additional testimony an award made under the Railway Act (Can.).

Re Davies and James Bay R. Co., 13 D. L.R. 914, 28 O.L.R. 544.

AWARD—LUMP SUM—WHEN TREATED AS EQUIVALENT TO VERDICT OF JURY.

An award of a lump sum as damages for land expropriated will not be treated on appeal as equivalent to the verdict of a jury, where it is apparent from the evidence that some items entering into the award should have been eliminated as a matter of law.

Re Van Horne and Winnipeg & Northern R. Co., 14 D.L.R. 897, 16 Can. Ry. Cas. 72, 26 W.L.R. 200, 5 W.W.R. 736.

WHERE EVIDENCE SUFFICIENT TO SUSTAIN AWARD.

Where, in an arbitration proceeding, the appellant's evidence was directed to establishing damages on a wrong basis, and, on appeal, he does not seek a rehearing on that ground, but insists that such evidence was proper, the award will be upheld if there is any evidence to sustain it.

Sask. Land & Homestead Co. v. Calgary & Edmonton R. Co., 14 D.L.R. 193, 6 A.L.R. 471, 25 W.L.R. 925, 5 W.W.R. 268. [Affirmed, 21 D.L.R. 172, 51 Can. S.C.R. 1.]

An application to the Superior Court of Quebec under s. 209 of the Railway Act, 1906, to set aside an award of arbitrators, made in expropriation proceedings under that Act, on the ground of the inadequacy of the compensation awarded, which application is instituted by a petition praying that a writ of appeal may be issued in the nature and form of an appeal from a decision of an inferior court, and that the court may decide upon the amount of compensation and may render the award which the arbitrators should have rendered, is an appeal to the Superior Court from the award, and not an action in that court to set the award aside, and, therefore, no further appeal lies to the Court of King's Bench from the decision of the Superior Court upon such an application.

Rolland v. G.T.R. Co., 7 D.L.R. 441, 14 Can. Ry. Cas. 21.

QUEBEC PRACTICE.

A document styled "declaration" and filed by the railway's arbitrator on an appeal of the award granted, and in which document he says that the allegations of the petition in appeal are true, will not be rejected from the record on a motion to that effect, although such arbitrator has not much interest to file such declaration.

Lachine, Jacques Cartier & Maisonneuve R. Co. v. Ross Realty Co., 14 Que. P.R. 305, (§ 11 D—103)—REMITTING AWARD TO ARBITRATORS—FAILURE TO ITEMIZE AWARD.

On an appeal from the award of arbitrators in an expropriation proceeding the court has power, under s. 46, of the Expropriation Act, R.S.M., 1902, c. 61, to refer back the award for reconsideration and redetermination where it is impossible to deal intelligently with the appeal by reason of a lump sum being awarded, without any indication by the arbitrators, who refused to give their reasons for their award, as to the nature of the items of damages comprising it.

Re Van Horne and Winnipeg & Northern R. Co., 14 D.L.R. 897, 16 Can. Ry. Cas. 72, 26 W.L.R. 200, 5 W.W.R. 736.

SETTING ASIDE AWARD—EXPROPRIATION FOR CHURCH—SPECIAL RULES—APPEAL.

The mode of acquiring, by means of expropriation, a lot of land required for construction of a church is specially provided for; it does not admit of the application of provisions general and inconsistent with "the law of expropriation." Though the law declares that there shall be no appeal from award of arbitrators on expropriation for a church the Superior Court has, notwithstanding, jurisdiction to set it aside if affected with serious irregularities or nullities.

Notre Dame de Sorel v. Roberge, 15 Que. P.R. 67.

CONSTRUCTION AND OPERATION—LOCATION PLANS—DELAYING NOTICE TO TREAT—ACTION TO COMPEL EXPROPRIATION.

Vancouver, Victoria & Eastern R. & Navigation Co. v. McDonald, 44 Can. S.C.R. 65, 12 Can. Ry. Cas. 74.

POSSESSION BEFORE PAYMENT OF COMPENSATION.

Re C.N.R. Co. and Blackwood, 20 Man. L.R. 113, 15 W.L.R. 454.

APPOINTMENT OF ARBITRATORS BY JUDGE—PERSONA DESIGNATA—POWER TO RESCIND.

Re Chambers and C.P.R. Co., 20 Man. L.R. 277, 15 W.L.R. 694.

PERSONA DESIGNATA—PAYMENT OUT OF COURT TO LANDOWNER—INTEREST ON AWARD.

Re G.T.P.R. Co. and Marsan, 3 A.L.R. 65.

WARRANT FOR IMMEDIATE POSSESSION.

Where a railway company moved under s. 217 of the Railway Act, 1906, for a warrant for immediate possession, it was held that although it was a case of hardship on the landowner there was no discretion left to the judge under the statute. Order granted.

McCarthy v. Tillsonburg, Lake Erie & Pacific R. Co., 12 Can. Ry. Cas. 272, 2 O.W.N. 34, 16 O.W.R. 964.

DOMINION RAILWAY ACT—AWARD—ENFORCEMENT BY SUMMARY ORDER UNDER ONTARIO ARBITRATION ACT—OMISSION TO NAME DAY FOR MAKING AWARD—STATUTORY PROVISION—WAIVER.

Re Horseshoe Quarry Co. and St. Mary's & Western Ontario R. Co., 22 O.L.R. 429, 12 Can. Ry. Cas. 155, 17 O.W.R. 757.

ARBITRATION—COSTS—FEES OF ARBITRATOR WHO RESIGNED PENDING THE ARBITRATION.

Blackwood v. C.N.R. Co., 20 Man. L.R. 161, 15 W.L.R. 110.

MOTION FOR TAXATION OF COSTS ON APPEAL.

When a sum of $17,000 has been granted to an expropriated party on an appeal confirming the decision of the arbitrators, such party's solicitor is entitled to a sum of $200 besides the taxable costs.

G.T.R. Co. v. Garceau, 12 Que. P.R. 337.

DISCONTINUANCE OF EXPROPRIATION PROCEEDINGS—ORDER.

Re LaFontaine Park; Montreal v. Cushing, 40 Que. S.C. 1.

III. Rights and remedies of owners.

A. IN GENERAL.

(§ III A—105)—EXPROPRIATION PENDING A TRESPASS ACTION.

Where, pending an action against a railway company for trespass, the company takes expropriation proceedings in respect of the land in question, judgment may be given for the plaintiff for such damages as he has sustained apart from the compensation which he would be entitled to claim in the arbitration to be held in respect of the expropriation of the land.

Como v. Can. Nor. Alberta R. Co. and C.N.R. Co., 9 D.L.R. 683, 15 Can. Ry. Cas. 46, 23 W.L.R. 299.

MONEY IN COURT—DISTRIBUTION OF FUND—SUM PAID BY RAILWAY COMPANY AS COMPENSATION FOR LAND EXPROPRIATED—EQUITABLE ASSESSMENTS AND ORDERS UPON FUND—NOTICE TO RAILWAY COMPANY—PRIORITIES—REFERENCE—COSTS.

Re G.T.R. Co. and Brooker, 16 O.W.N. 146.

(§ III A—106)—COMPENSATION—TITLE OF OWNERS—DEED—PRESCRIPTION—INFANCY.

By a deed between father and son, executed in 1880, it was provided that in consideration of the son's release of his rights in the estate of his mother, the father "promises to transfer to his son, at his demand, all his rights and pretensions into certain two lots of land." The demand to transfer was never made and prescription had meanwhile run against this right, except for the interruption thereof on account of the minority of certain children. The Crown expropriated the land. Held, that the deed created a gift upon a potestative condition exercisable by the donee and his heirs, a mere jus ad rem to demand the transfer but conveying no fee in the land.

which was extinguishable by prescription; that the compensation moneys may be paid to the owners in possession subject to their undertaking of indemnifying the Crown in respect of any claims which might be asserted by the children, against whom prescription was not acquired,—such right being a divisible right.

The King v. Timmis, 46 D.L.R. 578, 18 Can. Ex. 453.

RAILWAY ACT—QUEBEC—EXPROPRIATION—POSSESSION—OWNER'S ACQUESCENCE—REMEDIES OF OWNER.

The taking of possession of land by a railway company for the construction of its right-of-way, with the owner's acquiescence, does not deprive him of anything more than his remedy for disturbance or for recovery of possession. He retains his right to exercise his petitory claim and to revendicate the land if the company fails to compensate him according to law.

Canada v. Gulf Terminal R. Co., 23 Que. K.B. 299.

B. WHAT CONSTITUTES A TAKING OF, OR INJURY TO, PROPERTY.

(§ III B—110)—CONVERSION OF RIGHTS—COMPENSATION—ACTION—PARTIES—SPECIAL ADAPTABILITY.

By virtue of s. 8 of the Exchequer Court Act, the deposit of the plan and description of the land expropriated has the effect of vesting the property in the Crown, and from such time, under s. 28 of the Act, the compensation money stands in lieu of the land, and any claim to the land is converted into a claim for the compensation money. A corporation holding the shares of a subsidiary company has no locus standi to prosecute a claim for compensation on behalf of the latter; the action of the subsidiary company must be brought in its own corporate name. The special adaptability of land for railway purposes is but an element of the market value of the land. In assessing compensation for the taking of such land regard must be had of its value to the owner, not the value to the taker. The doctrine of reinstatement does not apply to the taking of lands not used as a going manufacturing concern. The best test of the market value is what other properties in the neighbourhood have brought when acquired for similar purposes.

The King v. Quebec Gas Co. and Quebec, 42 D.L.R. 61, 17 Can. Ex. 386. [Affirmed, 49 D.L.R. 692.]

WHAT CONSTITUTES A TAKING OF OR INJURY TO PROPERTY—RAILWAY PURPOSES—UNDERLYING MINERALS.

A railway company does not acquire any right to minerals underlying land expropriated for a right-of-way; since the respective rights of the company and the landowner to the minerals are to be fixed and determined under ss. 170, 171 of the Railway Act, 1906, on future application to the Railway Board, which may require the company to purchase the minerals, it necessary for the safe support of the railway, or to submit to such order as the Board may make relative to the working of the minerals by the landowner.

Re Davies and James Bay R. Co., 13 D.L.R. 912, 28 O.L.R. 544.

WHAT CONSTITUTES INJURY TO PROPERTY—RAILWAY TUNNEL—INJURY BY EXPLOSIVES—LIS PENDENS.

The injury to a building caused by a railway company by the use of explosives in making a tunnel is accidental and a quasi-delict and not of the nature of those contemplated by the Railway Act. An exception of his pendens demanding the dismissal of an action for the damages incurred by such injury on the ground that arbitrators have already been appointed, in proceedings for expropriation of the property damaged, to estimate the damages as provided by law will be dismissed.

Malouin v. Can. Northern Montreal Tunnel & Terminal Co., 15 Que. P.R. 123.

(§ III B—115)—“TAKING”—PLANS AND NOTICE TO TREAT—HIGHWAY.

Filing plans and specifications and service of notice to treat, in an expropriation by a municipality for the purpose of opening a lane, constitutes a “taking” of land in the statutory sense as entitling the owner to claim compensation under s. 399 of the Municipal Act, R.S.B.C. 1911, c. 170.

Hanna v. Victoria, 27 D.L.R. 213, 22 B.C.R. 555, 34 W.L.R. 307, 10 W.V.R. 457, affirming 24 D.L.R. 889, 32 W.L.R. 916, 9 W.V.R. 761.

MUNICIPAL ACT—ARBITRATION TO FIX COMPENSATION.

An arbitration under the provisions of the Municipal Act (R.S.O. 1914, c. 192) in regard to compensation for land expropriated is had only to fix the amount of the compensation after which, with a knowledge of the price that must be paid if the land be taken, the municipality may proceed or withdraw in the manner and under the circumstances set out in the Act: an award is binding and conclusive as to the price to be paid if the land is finally taken and as to that only.

Re Toronto and Grosvenor St. Presbyterian Church Trustees, 40 D.L.R. 574, 41 O.L.R. 352, reversing 40 O.L.R. 550. [Affirmed, 45 D.L.R. 327.]

DIVERSION OF HIGHWAY — PERMISSION OF BOARD — COMPENSATION — PROVIDING NEW ROAD.

An application by a railway company for permission to divert a highway in a city, and for that purpose to take lands of a private individual, was opposed by that individual, but approved by the municipality:—Held, that the application should be granted, but only on proper compensation being made to the owners of land affected; and the Board directed that the company should construct a road 41 feet wide along-side its right-of-way.

Re C.N.R. Co. and St. Boniface, 27 W.L.R. 830.

(§ III B—116)—RAILWAY IN STREET.

The Railway Board may make it a condition of the occupation of a street by a railway company's tracks running along that street, that the railway company should compensate landowners injuriously affected because of the operation of the railway on the highway, if such landowners have not been compensated in some other way.

Hamilton v. G.T.R. Co., 5 D.L.R. 60, 14 Can. Ry. Cas. 196.

POWER OF RAILWAY BOARD—CONSTRUCTION AND LOCATION OF RAILWAY—CONDITION AS TO COMPENSATING ABUTTING OWNERS ULTRA VIRIBUS—RESCISSIO OF ORDER OF BOARD.

G.T.P.R. Co. v. Landowners, etc., Fort William, [1912] A.C. 224.

(§ III B—119) — STREETS — DAMAGE TO PROPERTY BY CHANGE OF GRADE.

The provisions of the Arbitration Act, R.S.B.C. 1911, c. 11, s. 8, as to the appointment of an arbitrator by the court on the default of the opposite party to make an appointment, do not apply to an arbitration of the claim of an adjoining owner against a municipality for damages to his property by the regrading of the street: the procedure to be followed on the default of the municipality to name an arbitrator under s. 394 of the Municipal Act, R.S.B.C. 1911, c. 170, s. 394, is to apply for a mandamus against the municipality.

Walker v. South Vancouver, 14 D.L.R. 446, 18 B.C.R. 480, 25 W.L.R. 824, 5 W.V.R. 389.

(§ III B—126)—DRAINAGE.

The test in determining injuring liability under the Municipal Drainage Act, 10 Edw. VII. (Ont.) c. 90, is whether the drainage work is necessary in fact or in law to enable or improve the cultivation or drainage of lower land suffering injury from water brought from upper land by artificial means, and, where the drainage work will carry this water to a sufficient outlet, the lands from which the water causing the damage is artificially brought are assessable for injuring liability.

Re Tp. of Orford and Tp. of Aldborough, 7 D.L.R. 217, 3 O.W.N. 1517, 22 O.W.R. 853.

C. RIGHT TO COMPENSATION.

Valuation, special adaptability, 8 per cent allowance, see Damages, III L—240.

Railway Act, value of land, sufficiency of award, see Arbitration, III—15.

Compensation for mining rights expropriated for railway purposes, see Arbitration, III—17.

Tender of conveyance as prerequisite to compensation, Dominion and provincial statutes, see Arbitration, III-16.

Evidence as to value of land, see Evidence, XI F-790.

Interest on award, see Interest I C-25.

(§ III C-135)—EXPROPRIATION OF WATER-LOT—VALUES—SPECULATIVE BENEFITS.

Where there is no evidence of market value to guide the Exchequer Court in assessing compensation for a water-lot expropriated for public purposes under the Expropriation Act, Can., the compensation will not be granted with reference to a hope or expectation as to the use of the property which cannot be regarded as a right of property in the claimant, e. g. the expectation of the owner of a water-lot in a public harbour being able to obtain the requisite permission by order-in-council to place erections thereon under R.S.C. 1906, c. 115. Special adaptability is nothing more than an element of market value in expropriation cases; the compensation to be awarded for the property taken is to be fixed as if the scheme under which the compulsory powers are exercised had no existence. [The King v. Macpherson, 15 Can. Ex. 215, followed.]

The King v. Wilson, 22 D.L.R. 585, 15 Can. Ex. 283. [Affirmed by Supreme Court of Canada (unreported).]

AGREEMENT OF SALE—AUTHORITY OF MINISTER—JURISDICTION—ARBITRATION—COMPENSATION—SHIPYARD—EARNING CAPACITY—MARKET VALUE—ABANDONMENT—DAMAGES—SEVERANCE.

The Dominion Government expropriated some shipyard property on Richelieu and St. Lawrence rivers. The owners, claiming compensation, set up an agreement for the purchase of the property on behalf of the Crown entered into by the Minister of the Public Works, providing that payment therefor should be established by arbitration, and they contended that the Exchequer Court had therefore no jurisdiction to hear and determine the matter of compensation. Held, that as the agreement failed to comply with the requirements of art. 1434 C. P., it was invalid as submission to arbitration, and as no time was fixed the submission was revocable, by virtue of art. 1437, at the option of either party, and under the English common law at any time before the award. 2. The King has the undoubted right attached to his prerogative of suing in any court he pleases. 3. The Minister had no power, unless authorized by an order-in-council or statute, to bind the Crown with such agreement. 4. In fixing compensation for the expropriation of such property its "earning capacity" cannot be taken as the basis of the market value; the best test is what similar property sold for in the immediate neighbourhood. 5. In the valuation of the wharves, regard must be had to their present condition and allowance made for their depreciation. 6. Where part of the land expropriated was abandoned by the Crown, the owners were entitled to compensation for the use and occupation of the land for the period held by the Crown, but they could not claim any damages for injurious affection or severance of the land, inasmuch as the severed portion did not form a unit of the land expropriated, and was, in fact, severed by a highway.

The King v. McCarthy, 46 D.L.R. 456, 18 Can. Ex. 410.

MARKET VALUE—ESTIMATED PROFITS—BUSINESS NEVER UNDERTAKEN—INDEFINITE OFFERS—EVIDENCE OF VALUE.

An owner of property expropriated is not entitled to claim as an element of its market value at the time of the expropriation a sum representing estimated profits from a business which he asserts might have been done on the property but which in fact had never been undertaken. Offers to purchase property which are more or less indefinite and not so made as to be binding upon the persons making them are not to be regarded as satisfactory evidence of the value of such property in the opinion of the proposed purchasers.

The King v. Crosby, 46 D.L.R. 528, 18 Can. Ex. 372.

VALUATION OF RIGHT-OF-WAY—COMMON LANE—DAMAGE AND DEPRECIATION DUE TO SEVERANCE.

The rights of the owners of the "fee" in a piece of land between two properties, used as a lane way, and over which the neighbor has an absolute right-of-way, is in effect only a right-of-way, and no more valuable than the rights of the owner of the right-of-way, and will be valued as such. The value to be paid for in expropriation is the value to the owner as it existed at the date of taking, and not the value to the taker. The value to the owner consists in all advantages the land possesses, to be determined as at the time of taking. Between the westerly line of the expropriated property, and the buildings on the land adjoining, which buildings and land are also the property of the defendants, there is a strip of land, 10 feet wide, left vacant. Held, that, in as much as, when the property comes into the market, the buildings, now very old, will have to be torn down (if it is to be used in any practical manner), and the ten feet can be sold with the rest no damage or depreciation is suffered by reason of the severance of the ten feet and of their being left vacant.

The King v. Barrett, 49 D.L.R. 138, 19 Can. Ex. 175.

COMPENSATION—ACTUAL VALUE—HOMOLOGATION OF PLAN—DEDUCTION FOR.

Commissioners in fixing the owner's compensation in expropriation proceedings are not entitled to make any deduction from the actual value of the land taken, in respect of the burden imposed upon it by the confirmation or homologation of a plan.

Royal Trust Co. v. Montreal, 44 D.L.R.

767, 57 Can. S.C.R. 352, affirming 26 Que. K.B. 557.

Where it is not alleged that the financial limit of a municipality may be overrun, a landowner is entitled to judgment, on motion, for the amount of an award rendered by arbitrators under c. 20 of B.C. Statutes of 1873 and c. 64 of the B.C. Statutes of 1892, where the parties could not agree as to compensation for land taken possession of by a municipal corporation for waterworks purposes, notwithstanding the city, which did not pay the award within the time limited by the statute, proposed to abandon the arbitration and take a smaller amount of land, as, where land has been once expropriated and possession taken by a municipal corporation it cannot withdraw therefrom, [Reg. v. Commissioners of H. M. Woods, etc., 19 L.J.Q.B. 497, distinguished.]

Davis v. Victoria, 2 D.L.R. 287, 20 W.L.R. 544, 1 W.W.R. 1921.

WATER LOTS — VALUATION — RIPARIAN RIGHTS — DAMAGES — LOSS OF ACCESS — RIGHT-OF-WAY.

The Crown, having expropriated some water lots in the outskirts of Halifax, N.S., sought by an information to have determined the amount of compensation. Held, that in the absence of any sales of similar property in the neighbourhood from which the value of the property could be ascertained, a valuation of 7½ cents per square foot was a fair basis of compensation, adding thereto a 10 per cent allowance for the compulsory taking; that the owners were also entitled to damages for the depreciation of property not expropriated, occasioned by the loss of access to the waterfront for boating and bathing purposes, and of a right-of-way they enjoyed over a railway, as a result of the expropriation.

The King v. Brenton, 42 D.L.R. 373, 18 Can. Ex. 138.

CITY—COUNTY—STATUTORY RIGHTS—ABANDONMENT OF PROPERTY.

The rights of the County of York to damages for expropriation by the City of Toronto of the Toronto & York Radial R. Co. and all its real and personal property within the city are statutory under the Act of 1897, and are not affected by the fact that by a by-law the county has abandoned certain roads over which the line is operated to minor municipalities of the county.

Re Toronto and Toronto & York Radial R. Co. and County of York, 43 D.L.R. 49, 42 O.L.R. 545, 23 Can. Ry. Cas. 218.

MEASURE OF DAMAGES—EASEMENT.

In fixing the amount of compensation by arbitration in respect of an easement expropriated by a power company, under authority conferred on it by the Dominion Statute incorporating it (2 Edw. VII. c. 197, s. 21 (e)), the damage or depreciation caused by the possession and potential use of the power to expropriate is to be included in the award.

Re Coleman and Toronto & Niagara Power Co., 38 D.L.R. 65, 40 O.L.R. 130.

WHARF—POSSESSORY TITLE—RIGHT-OF-WAY —LOSS OF PROFITS.

It being undisputed that the suppliant was entitled to compensation for the expropriation of a wharf and for the deprivation of the right-of-way to and from the wharf over the railway tracks; the suppliant was, under the circumstances of the case, entitled to compensation for such expropriation and for the deprivation of the right of way; but the loss of business not affected by the taking of the wharf, or the loss of profits in connection with a business in anticipation but not actually embarked on, were not elements of compensation.

Maxwell v. The King, 40 D.L.R. 715, 17 Can. Ex. 97.

SPECIAL ADAPTABILITY—VALUATION.

On an expropriation of lots specially adapted for warehouse purposes the same value per square foot does not attach to small lots as to larger lots. The owners are entitled to an allowance for the compulsory taking in addition to the value of the land.

The King v. Vassie & Co.; Joseph Allison; Prudential Trust Co.; Petrie Mfg. Co., 40 D.L.R. 306, 17 Can. Ex. 75.

GRAVEL LANDS—VALUE.

In an expropriation of gravel lands by the Crown the basis of compensation is the true or fair market value of the property as a whole; the value to the owner, not the value to the Crown expropriating it, is to be considered. The amount awarded may be allowed to go to a mortgagee.

The King v. Thomas Nagle, 40 D.L.R. 266, 17 Can. Ex. 88.

FARM—TIMBER LAND—VALUATION.

The basis of compensation for the expropriation of farm or timber lands by the Crown for training camp purposes is the market value of the property as a whole at the time of expropriation, as shown by the prices other farms had brought when acquired for similar purposes.

The King v. Bowles, 41 D.L.R. 254, 17 Can. Ex. 482. [Affirmed by Supreme Court of Canada, December 11, 1916 (unreported).]

TOTAL OR PARTIAL ABANDONMENT—JURISDICTION OF EXCHEQUER COURT.

Under s. 23 of the Expropriation Act (R.S.C. 1906, c. 143) the Exchequer Court has jurisdiction to adjudicate upon claims arising out of a total as well as partial abandonment of the land expropriated. The claim for compensation arises on the original expropriation and is not defeated by the subsequent proceedings, even after revesting the claim for compensation still remains open for adjustment. The court, in assessing the amount, should take into consideration the fact of the abandonment, together with all the other circumstances of the case. The measure of the right should not be treated as something in the nature of a claim for damages for disturbing or injuriously affecting the value of the property.

The King v. Gibb; Gibb v. The King, 42 D.L.R. 336, [1918] A.C. 915, 119 L.T. 586, reversing 27 D.L.R. 262, 52 Can. S.C.R. 402.

HYDRO-ELECTRIC POWER COMMISSION—STRIP OF LAND TAKEN FOR TRANSMISSION LINE—5 GEO. V. c. 19, s. 5 (O).—COMPENSATION OF LANDOWNER—PROPER METHOD OF ASCERTAINMENT—AWARD OF ARBITRATOR—FINDINGS—EVIDENCE—APPEAL—UNDERTAKING TO ERECT AND MAINTAIN FENCE.

Re Hydro-Electric Power Commission and Porter Estate, 15 O.W.N. 19.

OWNER'S RIGHT TO COMPENSATION—AMOUNT UNDER "VALUATION" AS DISTINCT FROM "ARBITRATION"—RAILWAY ACT.

The "amount of compensation payable under the Railway Act," 1906, may refer as well to money payable under a valuation as to money payable under an arbitration both methods being recognized by the Act.

Re Laidlaw and Campbellford, Lake Ontario & Western R. Co., 19 D.L.R. 481, 31 O.L.R. 209.

COMPENSATION—RIGHT TO AMEND—REDUCING AMOUNT.

It is open to the court in an expropriation case to permit an information to be amended at the trial for the purpose of reducing the amount tendered as compensation.

The King v. College de St. Boniface, 15 Can. Ex. 68.

RAILWAYS—EXPROPRIATION OF LAND—AGREEMENT WITH OWNER AS TO COMPENSATION—MEANING OF "COMPENSATION" IN S. 210 OF RAILWAY ACT, R.S.C. 1906, c. 37—PAYMENT INTO COURT—COLLATERAL AGREEMENT—FARM CROSSINGS—DRAINAGE—BOARD OF RAILWAY COMMISSIONERS.

Re Campbellford L.O. & W.R. Co. and Buckley, 9 O.W.N. 105.

RAILWAYS—APPLICATION FOR APPOINTMENT OF ARBITRATOR—JURISDICTION—FORUM—SUGGESTED AGREEMENT AS TO COMPENSATION—CROSS-EXAMINATION OF OFFICERS OF CLAIMANT COMPANY.

Re Acton Tanning Co. and Toronto Suburban R. Co., 9 O.W.N. 450.

RAILWAY—EXPROPRIATION OF LAND—RAILWAY ACT, R.S.C. 1906, c. 37, s. 196—APPOINTMENT OF ARBITRATOR TO DETERMINE COMPENSATION—APPLICATION FOR DISPENSING WITH SERVICE OF NOTICE—APPLICATION ON PERSONS HAVING INTEREST—APPOINTMENT OF BOARD OF THREE ARBITRATORS.

Re Toronto Hamilton & Buffalo R. Co. & McCallum, 15 O.W.N. 433.

(§ III C—136)—SHIPYARD—COMPENSATION—VALUATION—PETITION OF RIGHT.

Where the Crown had been in occupation of a piece of land for a certain time previous to its expropriation, the compensation for such occupation was ascertained by accepting the value thereof as established in the expropriation proceedings and by allowing legal interest thereon.

McCarthy v. The King, 46 D.L.R. 620, 18 Can. Ex. 438.

(§ III C—140)—TAKING RAILWAY LANDS—RIGHTS—TERMS—FEE.

In fixing the rights which may be taken in railway lands, and the terms and compensation under s. 176 of the Railway Act, 1906, lands which are not only not put to an immediate railway use, but (as the Railway Board finds) will not reasonably and probably be required for such purposes by the senior railway, should be dealt with as the lands of a private individual, and absolute rights conferred on the applying company therein, but the fee in railway lands which may reasonably be required at some time in the future to be put to a railway use by the senior company, should be left in the senior company and compensation should be paid for the use and enjoyment that the applicant company obtains. [Re Guelph & Goderich Ry. Co. and G.T.R. Co., 6 Can. Ry. Cas. 138, followed.]

South Ontario Pac. R. v. G.T.R. Co., 38 D.L.R. 605, 20 Can. Ry. Cas. 152. [Affirmed by Supreme Court of Canada (unreported).]

RAILWAY TAKING GRAVEL PLOT.

Compensation for a gravel pit and the right-of-way thereto taken by a railway company under s. 180 of the Railway Act, 1906, to obtain a supply of material for construction purposes, is to be made as of the time when the company took possession of the land under judge's order or as of the service of the notice to treat, and not on the basis of values some years later when the arbitration took place.

Sask. Land & Homestead Co. v. Calgary & Edmonton R. Co., 21 D.L.R. 172, 51 Can. S.C.R. 1, 8 W.W.R. 312, 19 Can. Ry. Cas. 126, affirming 14 D.L.R. 193, 6 A.L.R. 471. [See also 50 D.L.R. 16, as to taxation of costs.]

BASIS—"SPECIAL ADAPTABILITY"—ALLOWANCE OF 10 PER CENT.

Where property is taken by the Crown for a proposed public work, in assessing compensation to the owner, it is not proper to treat the value to the owner both of the land and rights incidental thereto, as a proportional part of the value of the proposed work or undertaking when realized; but the proper basis for compensation is the amount for which such land and rights could have been sold had there been no scheme in existence for the work or undertaking. On the other hand, regard must be had to the adaptability of the property for such a use and the possibilities of the same being realized. "Special adaptability" as used in expropriation cases does not denote an element over and above or separable from the value of the land in the market; but on the contrary signifies something that enters into and forms an essential part of the actual market value. [Sidney v. North Eastern R. Co., [1914] 3 K.B. 629, applied.] The allowance of 10 per cent. upon the market value in view of the compulsory taking of property ought not to be made when the property was acquired with the open purpose of speculating on the chances of the property being expropriated.

Raymond v. The King, 29 D.L.R. 574, 16 Can. Ex. 1. [Affirmed, 49 D.L.R. 689.]

AMOUNT OFFERED—COURT'S POWER TO REDUCE—AMENDMENT.

Where the Crown in expropriation proceedings, and under the terms of the Expropriation Act, offers a definite sum as compensation by the information, and when there is no request to amend the information, and counsel for the Crown at the trial adheres to such offer, it is not for the court to reduce the same notwithstanding that the evidence may establish a smaller sum as the proper amount of compensation.

Att'y-Gen'l of Canada v. Cahan and Eastern Trust Co., 31 D.L.R. 149, 16 Can. Ex. 458.

ARBITRATORS—EXCESS OF JURISDICTION—AWARD FINAL AND WITHOUT APPEAL—COMPENSATION—BUILDING LOTS.

The appellant, by means of expropriation proceedings, obtained a servitude over lands of respondent, and, under the authority of arts. 5790 to 5800 R.S.Q., an arbitration took place to decide the amount of compensation payable to respondent. Prior to expropriation, the respondent laid out as building lots part of his lands, which were devoted mainly to agricultural uses. Article 5797, provides that the award of the arbitrators should be final and without appeal. Appellant took an action to set aside the award of the arbitrators. Held, that the arbitrators were within the scope of their jurisdiction in valuing the lands of respondent as town building lots instead of as agricultural property, as the decision, as to whether the lands had a present marketable value as town lots or not, was a question of fact upon which it was the duty of the arbitrators to pass.

Montmagny v. Letourneau, 39 D.L.R. 214, 55 Can. S.C.R. 543.

EXPROPRIATION OF LAND—ACCESS TO RIVER—COMPENSATION—MEASURE OF—ACCRUING ADVANTAGES.

The advantage accruing to a large residential property capable of useful subdivision from its frontage along a river is to be considered in fixing the compensation for injurious affection of the remaining lands on a strip of the property being taken for a railway right-of-way which cut off across to the river.

Re Muir and Lake Erie & Northern R. Co., 20 D.L.R. 687, 32 O.L.R. 150, 19 Can. Ry. Cas. 107.

MUNICIPAL CORPORATION—EXPROPRIATION OF LAND—SEVERANCE OF FARM BY TAKING STRIP FOR DEVIATION ROAD—ARBITRATION AND AWARD—COMPENSATION FOR LAND TAKEN—VALUE OF TREES IN ORCHARD—DAMAGE BY SEVERANCE—AWARD MADE BY TWO OF THREE ARBITRATORS—VALIDITY—MUNICIPAL ACT, 1913, SS. 332 ET SEQ.; INTERPRETATION ACT, R.S.O. 1914, c. 1, s. 28 (c)—APPEAL FROM AWARD—EVIDENCE—INCREASE IN AMOUNT—COSTS.

Re Fowler and Tp. of Nelson, 6 O.W.N. 409.

EXPROPRIATION—COMPENSATION—WISNIEG CHARTER—"INTRINSIC VALUE."

Under s. 818 of the Winnipeg Charter, the arbitrators are to determine (1) the intrinsic value of the property taken; (2) the increased value of the residue; (3) and the damage to the residue, and the difference between (1) and (2), or (1) and (3) shall constitute the compensation, which the party interested shall be entitled to. "Intrinsic value" means the ordinary or normal, as distinguished from the speculative, value of land. Under the English Lands Clauses Act, 1845, the owner is entitled to "full compensation" without any deduction for the increased value attaching to his remaining property, whereas, under the Winnipeg Charter, the owner is only entitled to the difference between the intrinsic value of the part taken and the increased value of the part left. It is inconvenient and unjust to apply the rule that "compensation to the owner should be based upon the value of the lands to the owner rather than to the expropriator" to the expropriation of lands for the purposes of streets.

Re Winnipeg and Battaglia, 7 W.W.R. 206.

EASEMENT—DAMAGES—PROSPECTIVE PROFITS.

One who has acquired the easement of laying pipes for an aqueduct and sewers upon certain lands, part of which are afterwards expropriated by the Crown has no estate or interest in the lands taken. All he is entitled to is value of the piece of aqueduct expropriated and the value of the easement upon the same.

Ruel v. The King, 38 D.L.R. 613, 16 Can. Ex. 214.

CANAL—RIPARIAN RIGHTS—VIEW—WATER.

Upon an expropriation of land by the Crown for the enlargement of a canal, compensation will not be allowed for an obstruction of view to property fronting thereon, by earth left piled up in the course of construction not necessarily incidental to the expropriation nor for the loss of the use of the canal for watering purposes, to which there are no riparian rights as such in the ordinary sense.

The King v. Farlinger, 39 D.L.R. 107, 16 Can. Ex. 381.

VALUE OF LANDS—VALUE TO OWNERS—SPECULATIVE VALUE.

The value of lands agreed to be conveyed by the Crown under an agreement for complete reinstatement of the owners of a gas and electric plant site expropriated by the Crown is not the value to the grantors, but to the owners, who are entitled to compensation according to the terms of the agreement only. No allowance will be made for the speculative value of the land expropriated, or for the additional value of the old site in regard to the increased cost of erection of buildings or of cost of operation.

The King v. Halifax Electric Tramway Co., 40 D.L.R. 184, 17 Can. Ex. 47. [Affirmed, 52 D.L.R. —, 59 Can. S.C.R. 650.]

CROWN GRANT—RESERVATIONS—ABANDONMENT—ADVANTAGES.

In an expropriation by the Crown of lands held under a Crown grant subject to a reservation in favour of the Crown of the right to retake the lands if required for public purposes, the owners are entitled to have their rights duly adjusted without fixing the actual value of the rights remaining in the Crown under the grant and want of registration does not affect the validity of the conditions or reservations. Where expropriation has been abandoned, but no legal rights are invaded and no damage suffered, compensation cannot be allowed; all advantages to the property by the construction of a railway crossing are to be taken into consideration in estimating the amount of compensation.

Fugere v. The King, 40 D.L.R. 51, 17 Can. Ex. 1.

FIXING COMPENSATION—GENEROSITY—10 PER CENT ALLOWANCE.

Generosity is not an element which should enter into the arbitrator's or judge's consideration, when fixing the compensation to be allowed for compulsory purchase. An additional allowance of 10 per cent of the award for the compulsory taking will not be allowed where the circumstances which justify such allowance do not exist.

The King v. Larivée, 42 D.L.R. 151, 56 Can. S.C.R. 376.

VALUE OF LAND—SPECULATIVE PURCHASE—10 PER CENT ALLOWANCE.

In assessing compensation for property taken under compulsory powers, it is not proper to treat the value to the owner of the land and rights, as a proportional part, the value of the realized undertaking proposed to be carried out. The proper basis of compensation is the amount for which the property could have been sold had the proposed undertaking by the Crown not been in existence, with the possibility that the Crown or some other person might obtain those powers. The price the property brought from purchasers speculating upon the expropriation affords no proper mode for arriving at its market value, and having been acquired for such speculative purposes, the usual 10 per cent allowance for the compulsory taking will be refused.

The King v. Picard, 17 Can. Ex. 452.

MARKET VALUE—RIGHT TO STREET—TITLE—REVERSION.

For purposes of compensation lands must be assessed as of the date of the expropriation, at their market value, in respect of the best uses to which they can practically and economically be put, taking into consideration any prospective capabilities. The best criterion of the market price is the price at which property in the neighbourhood changes hands in the ordinary course of business. Mere interference with a public right to travel upon a street, the person claiming compensation therefor not having the fee or any predial rights therein, is not an element of compensation. A reversionary right in favour of a vendor of the land materially affects the value of the land itself, as compared with land the title to which is free of any encumbrances.

The King v. Carrieres de Beauport Cie, 17 Can. Ex. 414.

WATER LOTS—RIPARIAN RIGHTS—ACCESS.

A riparian owner on the foreshore of a tidal and navigable water has the right to the water for domestic purposes, also the right of access and exit to and from his property, which are elements of value in estimating compensation for the expropriation of lots by the Crown.

The King v. Duncan, 17 Can. Ex. 433.

FARM—VALUE—MILL—TIMBER—CONVERSION.

In estimating the amount of compensation for the expropriation of a farm by the Crown for the purposes of a military training camp, the property is to be valued, not by segregating the acreage in severalty, so much for the timber and other things thereon, but by the prices paid for similar properties when acquired for similar purposes, and its value accordingly at the time of expropriation. The owner, however, will not be allowed compensation for a mill erected and operated upon the land after the expropriation, and he is answerable to the Crown, in conversion, for all timber cut and removed by him after that time.

The King v. Thompson, 18 Can. Ex. 23.

INDUSTRIAL OR AGRICULTURAL LANDS.

Lands in the vicinity of what promises to become a railway junction have a higher value than that of land for agricultural purposes, and are to be valued as land of the industrial or building class, in estimating the amount of compensation for their expropriation by the Crown.

The King v. Quebec Improvement Co., 18 Can. Ex. 35.

VALUATION—QUANTITY SURVEY METHOD.

The "quantity survey method" does not apply to the valuation of farm property as the basis of compensation in an expropriation thereof by the Crown. The best guide is the market value of the property as a whole, as shown by the prices of similar properties in the immediate neighbourhood when acquired for similar purposes.

The King v. Griffin, 18 Can. Ex. 51.

SEVERANCE—FARM—ACCESS.

Where the most serious damage from the severance of a farm, resulting from an expropriation by the Crown, is removed by the latter's undertaking to provide sufficient means of access across the expropriated property, compensation must be assessed in view of such undertaking.

The King v. Cote, 18 Can. Ex. 58.

VALUE—PROSPECTIVE CAPABILITY.

In estimating the amount of compensation for the expropriation of land by the Crown the prospective capabilities of the property or its speculative value cannot be taken into consideration. The compensation should be measured by the prices paid for similar properties in the immediate neighbourhood.

The King v. Blais et al., 18 Can. Ex. 63.

The re-instatement principle cannot be taken as the basis of compensation for residential property expropriated for a public work; nor can the prospective value of the property arising from the construction of the work be taken into consideration. The best guide is the selling value of similar property in the locality.

The King v. Blais et al., 18 Can. Ex. 67.

In estimating compensation for the expropriation of water-front property by the Crown for the purpose of harbour fortifications, mere prospects of developing the property into a summer resort cannot be taken into consideration in arriving at its true market value.

The King v. Davis et al., 18 Can. Ex. 72.

INTERFERENCE WITH BUSINESS—GOOD-WILL.

In awarding compensation for the compulsory taking of land by the Crown, a fair allowance will be made in respect of the interference with the owner's business as a going concern, small as the good-will of such business may be.

The King v. Jalbert, 18 Can. Ex. 78.

EFFECT OF ABANDONMENT — ADVANTAGES — SET-OFF.

An abandonment by the Crown, under s. 23 of the Expropriation Act, of part of the land taken for a public work, must be taken into account in assessing compensation therefor; and any benefit or advantage accruing from the construction of the public work must likewise, under s. 50 of the Act, be taken into account and consideration given to it by way of set-off.

The King v. Bannatyne, 18 Can. Ex. 82.

GOVERNMENT RAILWAY — GRAVEL PIT — COMPENSATION — BASIS OF VALUE.

Where land was taken for the purpose of a gravel-pit for a government railway the price paid at the sale of the land some three years after the expropriation of the right-of-way when the land had been enhanced in value by the operation of the railway, was held to be the best test and starting point for ascertaining the market value of the land.

Can. Dig.—65.

Demers v. The King, 15 Can. Ex. 492.

ABANDONMENT OF PROCEEDINGS — DAMAGES — COSTS—INTEREST.

Under s. 23 of the Expropriation Act, the Crown, through its proper Minister, in that behalf may abandon in whole or in part any land previously taken for the purpose of a public work. Where the owner is allowed to retain possession and such abandonment is made in full and no loss having been sustained by the owner between the time of the taking and of the abandonment, compensation even in the nature of nominal damages will not be allowed because the taking was authorized by statute. The court, however, may declare the owner entitled to the costs of and incidental to making his defence to the information and order such costs to be taxed as between solicitor and client including all legitimate and reasonable charges and disbursements under the circumstances. In such a case there should be no allowance of interest to the owner either upon the amount offered as compensation by the information or upon the amount of compensation claimed by the owner.

The King v. Frontenac Gas Co., 15 Can. Ex. 438.

RAILWAYS — COMPENSATION FOR SEVERANCE — DEDICATION.

A severance of development land occasioned by an expropriation by the Crown for railway purposes, whereby the owner is prejudiced in his ability to dispose and use certain lots thereof, entitles him to compensation for the damage caused by the severance; the measure of damages is the market value of the land at the time of the expropriation. [Holditch v. Canadian Northern Ry., [1916] 1 A.C. 536, 27 D.L.R. 14, distinguished; Cowper Essex v. Acton Local Board, 11 A.C. 153, followed.] A dedication of highways by registered plan, approved by the municipality, does not, until they are accepted as highways, divest the owner from the fee therein, so as to be considered in any pecuniary advantage to the land as a whole.

The King v. Studd, 16 Can. Ex. 365.

COMPENSATION — RAILWAYS — HOTEL PROPERTY—EASEMENT.

Upon an expropriation by the Crown of a portion of a hotel site for railway purposes, compensation should be allowed on the basis of a building lot, for injury to the property from the construction and operation of the railway, and for an easement of a right-of-way over a street affected by the expropriation.

The King v. Birchdale, 16 Can. Ex. 375.

COMPENSATION — RAILWAYS — FLOODING FROM DITCHES.

The commissioners of the National Transcontinental Ry. had expropriated a certain portion of a farm while in the possession of the suppliant's predecessor in title and paid him compensation therefor and for all damages resulting from the expropriation—the deed of sale stating that the compensation paid comprised “tous les dommages de quelque nature que ce soit.” After the suppliant acquired the farm flooding occurred, and the suppliant claimed that it was due to the construction of a new drain by the railway authorities. The evidence shewed that the flooding was occasioned by the failure of the suppliant to open and complete his boundary ditches. Held, that the injury, even if it arose from anything done by the railway authorities, was covered by the compensation paid to the suppliant's auteur, and that no claim for damages would lie unless another expropriation had been made or some new work performed, causing damages of a character not falling within the scope of those arising from the first expropriation.

Moisson v. The King, 16 Can. Ex. 431.

EXPROPRIATION BY RAILWAY — COMPENSATION — VALUE OF — LAND — REV. S., 1906, c. 37, ARTS. 197, 198.

The law of Canada, in matter of expropriation as regards the principles upon which compensation for the land taken is to be awarded is the same as the law of England. The indemnity to be paid for land is the value to the owner as it existed at the date of taking, not the value to the taker. The value to the owner consists of all advantages which the land possesses, present or future, but it is the present value along of such advantages that fails to be determined. When there is a special value over the bare value of the ground consisting in a prospective value on account of certain undertaking, the value is not a proportional part of the assessed value of the whole undertaking, but is merely the price enhanced above the bare value of the ground, which possible intending undertakers would give. That price must be tested by the imaginary market which would have ruled had the land been exposed for sale before any undertakers had secured the powers or acquired the other subjects, which made the undertakings, as a whole, a realized possibility.

Lachine, Jacques Cartier & Maisonneuve Ry. Co. v. Mitcheson, 47 Que. S.C. 3.

RAILWAY — EXPROPRIATION OF LAND — COMPENSATION — QUANTUM — AWARD — APPEAL.

Re Campbellford, Lake Ontario & Western R. Co. and Noble, 11 O.W.N. 245.

RAILWAYS — COMPENSATION FOR LAND TAKEN — ARBITRATION AWARD — RAILWAY COMPANY WRONGLY ENTERING UPON LAND — ACTION FOR TRESPASS — WHETHER TAKING POSSESSION RAILWAY COMPANY AMOUNTS TO ACCEPTANCE OF OWNER'S OFFER — PRACTICE — COSTS — OBJECT OF ACTION ATTAINED LEAVING QUESTION OF DISPOSITION OF COSTS — GOING ON TO TRIAL — JURISDICTION OF JUDGE IN CHAMBERS — MOTION FOR LEAVE TO DISCONTINUE.

A railway company entering upon land without payment of the price agreed upon or fixed by arbitration or without a warrant giving it leave to enter, is a wrongdoer and liable to an action of trespass. Where the whole object of an action has been attained and nothing remains but to dispose of the costs, it would be improper for the plaintiff to bring the case down to trial, for that purpose alone, unless the defendant, upon being applied to, refused to consent that the matter be disposed of in Chambers. But unless the defendant does consent to such a disposal of the matter, a Judge in Chambers has no jurisdiction except perhaps where the defendant has substantially conceded the plaintiff's demand. Where the defendant has not conceded the plaintiff's demand and objects to the disposal of the costs in Chambers, the plaintiff may move for leave to discontinue pursuant to r. 560. Upon such application the defendant is prima facie entitled to costs as a term of the plaintiff being allowed to discontinue; but in a proper case the application may be granted without payment of costs.

Haney v. C.N.R. Co., [1919] 1 W.W.R. 131.

(§ III C—142)—FOR INJURY TO BUSINESS.

The owner of land cannot recover as special damage resulting from the service of a notice of expropriation, by a railway company, which was abandoned, the anticipated profit on a crop which the owner desisted from raising because of the notice having been served.

Manson v. G.T.P.R. Co., 1 D.L.R. 850, 4 A.L.R. 157, 20 W.L.R. 161, 1 W.W.R. 693.

(§ III C—143) — MINERALS — QUARRY OF ROCK.

The words “or other minerals” used in s. 133 of the Ontario Railway Act (R.S.O. 1914, c. 185), do not include the ordinary rock of the district; where a quarry of such rock has a special value, such value should be included by arbitrators in fixing the amount of compensation for land expropriated.

Re McAllister and Toronto & Suburban R. Co., 39 D.L.R. 207, 40 O.L.R. 252, 22 Can. Ry. Cas. 272.

SUBJACENT AND ADJACENT SUPPORT—MINERAL RIGHTS.

The effect of the Railway Act (Can.) with regard to the expropriation of land by a railway company differs from that of the Railway Clauses Consolidation Act, 1845, in that under the former act the company acquiring the surface has a right of support from minerals subjacent and adjacent to the line. Under the Canadian Act the owner of minerals is entitled to compensation for loss arising from the restriction of his rights, without waiting until he wishes to work the minerals; this compensation is to be ascertained as at the date of the deposit of plans, and once for all.

Davies v. James Bay R. Co., 26 D.L.R. 450, [1914] A.C. 1044, varying 13 D.L.R. 912, 28 O.L.R. 544, 16 Can. P.V. Cos. 78.
NARROWING OF HIGHWAY — ABUTTING OWNERS.

The narrowing of a highway under municipal powers entitles abutting owners to claim compensation from the municipality for consequential injuries to their property. [Ramsay v. West Vancouver, 22 D.L.R. 826, 21 B.C.R. 401, approved.]

West Vancouver v. Ramsay, 30 D.L.R. 602, 53 Can. S.C.R. 459, 10 W.W.R. 1184.
TAKING RIGHTS OF ABUTTING OWNER.

"Due compensation" under s. 437 of the Consolidated Municipal Act (Ont.), 1903, providing for "due compensation" being made to owners of land taken for the purpose of widening streets, simply means a full indemnity in respect of all pecuniary loss suffered, and the only subjects of such pecuniary loss are (1) the lands actually taken, and (2) the injury to the leasing or selling value of what is left. Where a city, under a by-law, took, for the purpose of widening a street, ten feet from the front of a building lot, and the owner of the land has been sufficiently compensated by an award of arbitrators for the value of the land taken and for the consequent injury to the rest of the land by reason of the bringing of the street line nearer to the house, the fact that a street railway is to be placed on the widened street is not an element of damage to be considered, under s. 437 of the said Act, providing for "due compensation" in a case of that sort. Under s. 437 of the said Act, the fact that the claimant would be assessed for a portion of the cost of widening the street under a local improvement plan by which the city and the adjacent owners share the cost, does not constitute an element of damage to be considered by the arbitrators. [Re Pryce and Toronto, 20 A.R. (Ont.) 16, distinguished.]

An item for injuries for "depreciation caused by the change of the general character of the street" need not be considered by the arbitrators, under s. 437.

Re MacDonald and Toronto, 8 D.L.R. 303, 27 O.L.R. 179.

COMPENSATION FOR LOWERING STREET — ASSESSMENT FOR IMPROVEMENT NOT AN ELEMENT OF DAMAGE.

Under s. 394 of the Municipal Act, R.S. B.C. 1911, c. 170, providing for compensation to owners for damage to their property by a municipality in grading and paving the streets, the fact that the owner, whose property was damaged, may later be assessed for a portion of the cost of the work under a local improvement by-law, does not constitute an additional element to be considered by the arbitrators in their assessment of the damages. [Re MacDonald &

Toronto, 8 D.L.R. 303, 27 O.L.R. 179, applied.]

Okell v. Victoria, 16 D.L.R. 353, 6 W.W.R. E. 354, 27 W.L.R. 403.

(§ III C—144)—RIPARIAN RIGHTS—ARBITRATION—ACTION — COMMON-LAW REMEDY NOT SUPERSEDED.

A mere invitation to the upper riparian proprietor by the company whose works, constructed under statutory authority, have interfered with his riparian rights that he name his arbitrator, but without the company naming any arbitrator for itself, is not a commencement of expertise proceedings under R.S.Q., art. 7296, so as to operate as a bar to his proceeding by action in lieu of arbitration to recover compensation for the damages sustained, particularly where it was not shown that the company had taken any further steps towards an arbitration.

Dorchester Electric Co. v. Roy, 20 D.L.R. 32, 49 Can. S.C.R. 344, affirming 12 D.L.R. 767.

WATER LOT — CROWN GRANT — HARBOUR — CROWN DOMAIN — PRESCRIPTION.

The Crown, by instituting expropriation proceedings in respect of a water lot, elects not to exercise a right of resumption for purposes of public improvement reserved to it in a Crown grant of such lot. Such right being vested in the Quebec Harbour Commissioners, under (1859) 22 Vict., c. 32, notwithstanding their public character and the nature of their trust does not form part of the Crown domain. Under art. 2242 C.C. (Que.) such right was extinguished by lapse of time, it not having been exercised during the thirty years following its acquisition by the Harbour Commissioners.

Power v. The King, 42 D.L.R. 387, 56 Can. S.C.R. 499, reversing 34 D.L.R. 257, 16 Can. Ex. 104.

WATER LOTS — BASIS OF VALUATION — MUNICIPAL ASSESSMENT — ADVANTAGES — WHARF.

The basis or starting point for the valuation of water lots, expropriated by the Crown for the purpose of wharf improvements, may be had from a municipal assessment of the property, taking into consideration the higher assessable value of the land owing to its location, and the advantage afforded to the owners as a result of the improvements.

The King v. Hudson Bay Co., 42 D.L.R. 181, 17 Can. Ex. 441.

WATER LOTS — VALUATION — ADVANTAGES — SET-OFF.

In estimating the amount of compensation upon the expropriation of water lots by the Crown for harbour improvement purposes, regard will be had to the local market value of the land, its state of improvement respecting water frontage, and the advantage and benefit accrued to the owners as a result of the undertakings, the latter of which, under s. 50 of the Exchequer

Court Act, must be considered by way of set-off.

The King v. Bradburn, 42 D.L.R. 168, 17 Can. Ex. 447.

WATER LOTS—WHARVES—VALUATION—HARBOR COMMISSIONERS' LINE—SHERIFF'S SALE—NO REGISTRATION OF DEED—POSSESSORY AND PRESCRIPTIVE RIGHTS.

The King v. Heard, 16 Can. Ex. 146. [Reversed, 55 Can. S.C.R. 592.]

(§ III C—146)—LAND TAKEN FOR HIGHWAYS—COMPENSATION—WHEN FIXED.

The Rural Municipalities Act, c. 3, s. 196, subs. 5, 1911-12, does not contemplate the fixing of compensation and damage for lands taken for highways, before the actual taking of such lands by the municipality.

Blomfield v. Rural Mun. of Starland, 25 D.L.R. 43, 9 A.L.R. 203, 32 W.L.R. 995, 9 W.W.R. 552, affirming 21 D.L.R. 859, 31 W.L.R. 573.

OPENING AND CLOSING STREETS—LANDS INJURIOUSLY AFFECTED—ARBITRATION.

Upon the location plan being approved by the Railway Board and an agreement made with the respondent municipality, that if the respondent closed certain streets and opened others, the applicant would pay compensation to any one whose lands were injuriously affected; the remedy of the property owners is against the respondent recoverable by arbitration proceedings under the Municipal Act, and the applicant is responsible to the respondent for the amount of compensation awarded.

C.N.R. Co. v. North Bay, 18 Can. Ry. C.S. 309.

(§ III C—147)—EXPROPRIATION FOR PUBLIC WORK—COMPENSATION—MARKET VALUE.

In assessing compensation for lands taken for a public work, sales made by the defendant to the Crown of other lands for the purposes of the public work in the neighbourhood of those taken may be relied on as establishing the market value of the lots expropriated.

Rex v. Bickerton, 15 Can. Ex. 61.

(§ III C—148)—RIGHTS OF OWNER—VALUE

AT WHAT TIME—RAILWAY ACT (CAN.).

The exception of arbitrations then "pending" from the amendment made by 8 & 9 Edw. VII. (Can.), c. 32, to the Railway Act, 1906, as to the time in relation to which the value of property expropriated is to be fixed where title is not acquired by the railway within a year from the date of depositing the plans, does not apply so as to exclude the application of the amending act, unless the arbitrators had taken office before the statute took effect after having been sworn in under s. 197; so where prior to the amending statute (1909) an order had been made appointing arbitrators, but one of them declined the appointment and a new arbitrator was not appointed until after the passing of the amending act, the "arbitration" was not "pending" when the latter act was passed.

Re Taylor and C.N.R. Co., 9 D.L.R. 695,

23 Man. L.R. 268, 15 Can. Ry. Cas. 51, 23 W.L.R. 645, 3 W.W.R. 1072.

RAILWAY PURPOSES—VALUATION.

On the expropriation of land for railway purposes the value to be paid is the value to the owner as it existed at the date of the taking, and not the value to the taker; such value is the present value alone of the advantages which the land possesses whether present or future. [Cedars Rapids v. Lacoste, 16 D.L.R. 168, [1914] A.C. 569; R. v. Trudel, 19 D.L.R. 270, 49 Can. S.C.R. 511, followed.]

Greer v. C.N.R. Co., 22 D.L.R. 15, 8 S.L.R. 53, 19 Can. Ry. Cas. 139, 30 W.L.R. 572, 7 W.W.R. 1072.

BUSINESS PROPERTY—SHOPPING CENTRE—HOTEL—COMPENSATION—ALLOWANCE OF 10 PER CENT FOR COMPULSORY TAKING.

The Crown, for the purpose of extending the post office at Hamilton expropriated several properties in the shopping centre of the city, one of which was a hotel property. Held, that the owners were entitled to be compensated according to the value of the properties as business property, and that the hotel property, though acquired in separate lots, should be valued as one property, according to the frontage of the building occupied as the hotel, taking into consideration the present state of repairs of the properties, plus an allowance for the compulsory taking.

The King v. Hunting, Barrow, & Bell (3 cases), 18 Can. Ex. 442.

CONFLICTING THEORIES OF VALUE—VOLUNTARY SALE—TEST OF MARKET VALUE.

When, in establishing the amount of compensation payable for land expropriated, evidence is adduced by one of the parties to show that the land at the time of the expropriation had a potential commercial value inhering in an undeveloped water power, while the evidence of the other party is directed to show that the land had only a value for agricultural purposes, the court may accept the price paid for the property at a recent voluntary sale as the proper test of actual market value at the time of the taking.

The King v. Grass, 18 Can. Ex. 177.

RAILWAY—EXPROPRIATION OF LAND—ON-

TARIO RAILWAY ACTS, 6 EDW. VII., c.

30 AND 3 & 4 GEO. V., c. 36—LAND

"TAKEN" WHEN NOTICE OF EXPROPRI-

ATION SERVED—REGISTRY ACT—PUR-

CHASER OR VALUE WITHOUT NOTICE—

"OWNER"—TRUE OWNER AT TIME OF

EXPROPRIATION—NOTICE—COMPEN-SATION—ARBITRATION—STATED CASE—

COSTS.

Toronto & Suburban R. Co. v. Rogers, 17

O.W.N. 108.

(§ III C—150)—TO WHOM COMPENSATION

MUST BE PAID—UNREGISTERED OWNER.

An unregistered owner of lands setting up a claim for compensation for expropriation thereof or injury thereto under s. 394 of the Municipal Act, R.S.B.C. 1911, c. 170, may escape the disability imposed by s. 104 of the Land Registry Act, R.S.B.C. 1911, c. 127, provided such owner, prior to the commencement of his proceeding to obtain compensation, shall have procured and registered a conveyance of such lands, thus perfecting his title before action.

North Vancouver v. Jackson, 16 D.L.R. 400, 19 B.C.R. 147, 27 W.L.R. 456, 6 W.W.R. 389.

LIFE TENANT AND REMAINDERMAN.

A 10 per cent allowance for compulsory taking in eminent domain proceedings is really a part of the value, and is to be similarly treated as between a tenant for life and a remainderman; it is error to direct the ten per cent to be paid to the life tenant. Apart from any damage to the tenant for life in respect to inconvenience or injury independently of the value of the property, the compensation awarded in eminent domain proceedings is to be held for the remainderman, and the interest only on the fund paid to the tenant for life where by the terms of the trust the property was not to be sold until the latter's death. [Smith v. G.N.R. Co., 23 W.R. 126; Leedham v. Chawner, 4 K. & J. 458, applied.]

O'Mullin v. Eastern Trust Co., 21 D.L.R. 375, 48 N.S.R. 219.

DETERMINATION OF OWNERSHIP.

The proper practice in expropriation proceedings is to have the title settled before the assessment of damages, so that it will be certain that the arbitrator has the right claimants before him and the compensation may be properly fixed.

Miller v. Halifax Power Co., 24 D.L.R. 29, 48 N.S.R. 370.

RIGHT OF DEVISEE.

No right to compensation in expropriation proceedings exists in respect of the privilege conferred on other members of the testator's family under a devise of a farm to a son expressed in the following terms: "for his own use subject to the right of the rest of my family to use the same for the summer as heretofore as I know he will allow them to do;" the privilege referred to is to be construed as existing only so long as the devisee remained in occupation and was the owner, and could not be claimed to the detriment of the fee. [Dougherty v. Carson, 7 Gr. 31, followed.]

The King v. Taylor, 22 D.L.R. 473, 15 Can. Ex. 209.

WATERSIDE PROPERTY—RIPARIAN RIGHTS.

Where waterside property is expropriated by the Crown before the owner has asked for or obtained statutory permission to build wharves or other erections upon the solum, in the absence of evidence to shew that the possibility of obtaining such permission had increased the value of the property in the market, such possibility ought not to be taken into consideration in assessing the compensation.

Raymond v. The King, 29 D.L.R. 574, 16 Can. Ex. 1. [Affirmed, 49 D.L.R. 689, 59 Can. S.C.R. 682.]

OWNER OF ADVERSE POSSESSION.

In order to entitle an owner to claim compensation for the Crown's expropriation of a foreshore adjoining his land, he need not establish his ownership by a documentary title, but his title may be founded on adverse possession.

Tweedie v. The King, 27 D.L.R. 53, 52 Can. S.C.R. 197, reversing 22 D.L.R. 498, 15 Can. Ex. 177.

(§ III C—154) — COMPENSATION — RIGHTS OF MORTGAGOR—BONUS.

The King v. Macpherson, 20 D.L.R. 988, 15 Can. Ex. 215.

(§ III C—157) — LEASE—RIGHTS OF OWNER — RIGHTS OF LESSEE.

On expropriation of a portion of leased land the owners are entitled to compensation for the land taken and for injurious affection to the remainder without regard to the special use of the land; the lessees are entitled to compensation for interference to business and necessary expenses of removing to another site.

The King v. Montgomery-Campbell and Northfield Coal Co., 40 D.L.R. 147, 17 Can. Ex. 32.

"PERSON INTERESTED" — LESSEE — EXPIRATION OF LEASE — RENEWAL — FUTURE RIGHTS.

A lessee whose lease expired several weeks after a company had deposited its plans and given the general notice of expropriation mentioned in ss. 191 to 194 of the Railway Act, 1906, is not a "person interested" as therein mentioned. He is merely an occupant with a precarious title, who can be expelled from the land to be expropriated, without his having any remedy in compensation or damages against the company. After a company has deposited its plans, profiles and book of reference, and given the general notice for the purpose of expropriation, the owner cannot grant any future right upon the property or renew the lease to the detriment of the company.

Marleau v. Cedars Rapids Mfg. & Power Co., 24 Rev. Leg. 1.

LANDLORD AND TENANT.

Where land expropriated by a railway company is subject to a lease separate amounts should be awarded to both landlord and tenant. Quære as to whether a tenant has a right to have his compensation ascertained by a separate award by a different board of arbitrators. It is contrary to sound construction to permit the use of a term not altogether apt to defeat the intention of the legislature, which must not be assumed to have foreseen every result that may accrue from the use of a particular word.

Pacific Great East. R. Co. v. Larsen, 22 B.C.R. 4, 8 W.W.R. 1.

TENANTS—RAILWAY EXPROPRIATION—ARBITRATION.

In a railway expropriation, a tenant is entitled to compensation different from that of the proprietor and to have this compensation ascertained by a different Board of arbitrators.

The C.N.O.R. Co. v. Daniel McAnulty Realty Co., 15 Que. P.R. 168.

(§ III C—158) — COMMUNITY PROPERTY — WILL — AGREEMENT OF SALE — MORTGAGE — PRESCRIPTION.

In an expropriation of land by the Crown for training camp purposes, held, that land acquired by a testator during his married life being community property could only be disposed of by him to the extent of his interest therein, and those claiming under the will were entitled to compensation therefor to no greater extent: that the testator's wife having died intestate, half of the community went to her children, who were entitled to compensation accordingly. A purchaser of such land, who has resold it to the Crown, is only entitled to compensation according to the terms of the agreement of sale, but not to damages for the compulsory taking; nor will compensation be allowed for mortgages or hypothecs which have become prescribed. The amount recovered being greater than the amount offered, interest was allowed from the date of expropriation.

The King v. Berry, 41 D.L.R. 345, 17 Can. Ex. 462.

D. PAYMENT OR SECURITY, TAKING POSSESSION OF PROPERTY.

(§ III D—160) — COMPENSATION — POSSESSION — DEPOSIT OF PLAN.

The date of the deposit of a plan, profile and book of reference is the date with reference to which compensation or damages for land taken by a railway company under the Railway Act, 1903, are to be ascertained, and subsequent dealings with the land by the owner cannot affect the amount of compensation or damages to be awarded.

Re Myerscough and Lake Erie & Northern R. Co., 11 D.L.R. 458, 4 O.W.N. 1249, 15 Can. Ry. Cas. 168, 24 O.W.R. 525.

ABANDONMENT OF LAND TAKEN — COSTS — INTEREST.

Under s. 23 of the Expropriation Act, the Crown, through its proper Minister in that behalf, may abandon in whole or in part any land previously taken for the purpose of a public work. Where the owner is allowed to retain possession and such abandonment is made in full, no loss having been sustained by the owner between the time of the taking and of the abandonment, compensation even in the nature of nominal damages will not be allowed because the taking was authorized by statute. The court, however, may declare the owner entitled to the costs of and incidental to making his defence to the information and order such costs to be taxed as between solicitor and client, including all legitimate and reasonable charges and disbursements under the circumstances. In such a case there should be no allowance of interest to the owner either upon the amount offered as compensation by the information or upon the amount of compensation claimed by the owner.

The King v. Frontenac Gas Co., 15 Can. Ex. 438.

ACQUIESCENCE IN JUDGMENT — AUTHORITY OF SOLICITOR.

A railway company, after having been condemned, in a petitory action, to deliver up, within specified time, lands of which it had taken possession without previous expropriation, and taking advantage of the option given to it by the judgment of retaining the lands upon payment of a fixed sum, allows the time fixed to pass without abandoning the property and pays the owner the amount mentioned in the option: it becomes itself the owner of the lands and cannot afterwards proceed with expropriation. A deposit by the company of the amount mentioned in the option, in the hands of its solicitor in the action, for the purpose of security on an appeal, implies a tacit mandate to the latter to acquiesce in the final judgment by paying the sum fixed by the option, and the failure of the company to abandon the lands within the time fixed involves tacit ratification of that mandate.

Canada Gulf & Terminal R. Co. v. McDonald, 25 Que. K.B. 42.

DEPOSIT — FEES — GOVERNMENT TAX — "OTHER REASONS" — HYPOTHECARY CLAIMS.

In an expropriation under the Expropriation Act (Que.) the city of Montreal, which deposited in court the amount of the compensation instead of paying it directly to the owner, should pay the fee of 1 per cent fixed by art. 113 of the tariff, as well as the percentage of 1 per cent to the government (12 Vict., c. 112, s. 4), even in a case where the city had obtained from the owner an extension of the delay for making the payment on condition that the amount of the compensation was deposited in court. The words "other reasons" in art. 7599, R.S.Q., mean reasons of the nature of an hypothecary claim such as a rent, a dower, an open substitution and, other obstacles resulting from some hypothec, and which prevent, like those in art. 7599 the payment of the moneys into the hands of the claimant. So long as the creditor has not accepted the consignment, or so long as a judgment which can no longer be appealed has not declared such a consignment good and valid, its effects as to the extinction of the obligation and its accessories are neither final nor similar to a payment, and the consigned moneys remain in the debtor's assets.

Dufresne v. Montreal, 53 Que. S.C. 337, 24 Rev. de Jur. 161.

ARBITRATION — APPEAL — PAYMENT — INTEREST — POSSESSION — MUNICIPAL AND SCHOOL TAXES.

Where there is an appeal from an arbitration award under R.S.C., c. 37, s. 209, in an expropriation by a railway company, the judgment given upon such appeal is final, and in such case the action brought by the company to set aside the award does not deprive the person whose land was expropriated of his right to demand payment of his indemnity. The interest upon the indemnity in such an expropriation runs from the date of the actual taking of possession of the land expropriated by the company; and such possession only follows upon registration of the plan and notice of expropriation. These may, nevertheless, be exacted after a formal demand, when the final demand takes place only by action to record the indemnity, it runs only from the notice of action. As long as the company is not in possession of the land expropriated, it is not bound to pay the municipal and school taxes imposed upon such real estate.

Lachine, Jacques Cartier & Maisonneuve R. Co. v. Charlebois, 27 Que. K.B. 47.

(§ III D—161) — RAILWAY EXPROPRIATION — CLAIM FOR OCCUPATION PRIOR TO AWARD.

An award in expropriation proceedings under the Railway Act (Can.) fixing the compensation for land taken for the railway and the damages to the remainder of the land, does not include the damages to which the owner is entitled for the company's wrongful use and occupation of the lands prior to the expropriation.

Gauthier v. C.N.R. Co.; Dagenais v. C.N. R. Co., 17 D.L.R. 193, 7 A.L.R. 229, 19 Can. Ry. Cas. 144, 28 W.L.R. 240, 6 W.W.R. 949, varying 14 D.L.R. 490 and 494.

(§ III D—163) — COMPENSATION WHEN AWARDED — DEPOSIT OF PLAN — NOTICE.

The word "title" employed in s. 192 (2) of the Railway Act, 1906, as amended by 8-9 Edw. VII, 1909, c. 32, is equivalent to the word "right" and "effectively acquire a title under the terms of said statutes, to the lands which a company requires for its works" means acquiring a right which prevents the proprietor from disposing of his property. If an expropriating company has, within the year of the deposit of the plans and book of reference, served on the interested parties the notice mentioned in par. (a) and (b) of s. 193, of the Railway Act, 1906, the arbitrators must determine the compensation with reference to the date of such deposit, even if their award is made only after the expiry of the year from such deposit.

Forget v. Lachine, etc., R. Co., 24 Que. K.B. 174.

E. CONSEQUENTIAL INJURIES.

Land injuriously affected, offsets, advantages, see Damages, III L—280.

Loss of access, closing highway, see Damages, III L—275.

Severance, incidental damage to owner, lessee, see Damages, III L—236.

(§ III E—165) — VALUES IN VICINITY — OPINION EVIDENCE.

In eminent domain proceedings opinion evidence of a person competent to speak on the subject is admissible to prove the general course of values of what had been shown to be a certain class of real estate in the vicinity, and does not contravene the rule prohibiting proof of collateral issues as to the value of separate properties in the neighbourhood. [Lewin v. New York Elevated R. Co., 165 N.Y. 572, followed.] Re Billings and C.N. Ontario R. Co., 19 D.L.R. 841, 31 O.L.R. 329.

COMMERCIAL BASIS.

In estimating the damages incurred by reason of an expropriation of land by a city where it became necessary to cut away part of a residence, leaving the rest of the house and the remaining land of little value for residential purposes, but it appears that the locality having become a business district, the remaining land with the house entirely removed was worth more for business purposes than the value of the remaining land for residential purposes, plus the value of the house, it is error on the part of the arbitrators in making an award on the basis of the value of the land for commercial purposes to also allow damages for injury to the house because of the severance of part of it, since the value of the portion of the house removed is merged in the valuation allowed to the claimant on the basis of the greater valuation given to the property by reason of its adaptability for commercial purposes. [Ossalinsky v. Manchester, cited in Brown & Allen on Compensation, appendix, p. 659, followed.] Hawkins v. Halifax, 10 D.L.R. 747, 47 N.S.R. 233, 12 E.L.R. 167.

SEVERANCE AND LOSS OF ACCESS — SUBDIVISION LANDS — FUTURE ANNOYANCE.

The basis of a claim to compensation for lands injuriously affected by severance must be that the lands taken are so connected with or related to the lands left that the owner of the latter is prejudiced in his ability to use or dispose of them to advantage by reason of the severance; but the owner of a registered subdivision, which has been parceled out and a number of lots transferred before the taking of some of the lots for railway purposes, cannot claim additional compensation for injurious affection to the remaining land by the severance thereof and loss of access thereto. [Cowper' Essex v. Acton, 14 App. Cas. 153, distinguished.] Section 155 of the Railway Act, 1906, requiring a railway company to make full compensation to all persons interested for all damage by them sustained by reason of the exercise of the powers of expropriation, and ss. 191 and 193 distinguishing between compensation for land taken and damage suffered, do not change the well-settled rule, that land so taken cannot by its mere use, as distinguished from construction of works upon it, give rise to a claim for compensation, and gives no right to claim additional compensation for depreciation in value by reason of the prospective or future annoyance from noise, smoke and vibration of passing trains.

Holditch v. C.N.O.R. Co., 27 D.L.R. 14, [1916] 1 A.C. 536, 20 Can. Ry. Cas. 101, affirming 20 D.L.R. 557, 50 Can. S.C.R. 265.

BUILDING LOTS—LOSS OF ACCESS.

An expropriation of building lots by the Crown does not entitle the owner to special damages for the depreciation in value to the remainder of the lots because of their being cut off from the proposed extensions of a public street, the losses, if any, being offset by the advantages.

The King v. Torrens, 40 D.L.R. 108, 17 Can. Ex. 19.

VALUATION OF COMMERCIAL ENTERPRISE.

Suppliant alleged that the sand and clay to be found on the property expropriated had special quality and merit for manufacture of high class brick and brick tile, and, that with the small quantity of land left to him after the expropriation of the property it was impossible to carry on his proposed enterprise. The suppliant paid $10 an acre for the property; the Crown offered $30 an acre, and it was admitted that this amount was ample if there was no special merit in the clay. He never commercialized it, there has been no established business on the premises and the supposed profits are conjectural. The land taken is but a small piece of the whole. The land is to a certain extent swamp land not suitable for the alleged purposes, and other clay is available in the vicinity. Held.—That, in as much as there was no special or peculiar merit in the clay and sand found on the expropriated land, and furthermore that, as suppliant has suffered no injury to any feasible commercial undertaking, by reason of the amount of land taken or of the works constructed by respondent, there was no ground for increasing the amount of compensation tendered to suppliant by respondent.

Beharriell v. The King, 48 D.L.R. 272, 19 Can. Ex. 95.

RIGHTS AND REMEDIES OF OWNERS—WIDENING STREET.

Upon an arbitration to determine the compensation to which a landowner is entitled for the expropriation under a city by-law of a strip of his land for the widening of a contiguous street, the arbitrator will consider whether or not certain conditions, predicated as necessarily reducing the value of the expropriated land, are merely temporary, for instance, a prior city by-law rendering the property in question residential, thus opening to the owner the right in such event to shew that the restrictive by-law might later on be repealed and the property thereby might become commercial and in consequence more valuable.

Re Gibson and Toronto, 11 D.L.R. 529, 28 O.L.R. 29.

RAILWAY—COMPENSATION FOR SEVERANCE.

A severance of subdivision property, by a railway expropriation, which does not injuriously affect the land as a whole, is not an element of compensation. [Holditch v. Can. North. Ont. R. Co., 27 D.L.R. 14, [1916] 1 A.C. 536, followed.]

Re C.N.P.R. and Byng-Hall, 35 D.L.R. 773, 25 B.C.R. 38. [See also 28 D.L.R. 751.]

VALUATION—CLOSED DOWN MILL—INDUSTRIAL SITE.

The amount of compensation allowed for expropriation of a mill property, which has been closed down for a number of years and the buildings on which are in a dilapidated condition, should not be estimated as if the mill were a going concern, although its situation should be considered if it makes the property especially valuable for industrial purposes.

The King v. Peters, 32 D.L.R. 692, 15 Can. Ex. 462.

CROWN RAILWAYS—SHUNTING-YARD—SCHOOL—COMPENSATION—HARBOUR—RIPARIAN RIGHTS—CONSEQUENTIAL INJURIES.

The Dominion government, in the operation of its railways, constructed a shunting yard on lands reclaimed by it from the waters of Bedford Basin, partly in front of the school buildings of the suppliant corporation. The latter owning water lots thereon, which had been improved as a bathing pavilion and wharf in connection with the school, claimed compensation for injurious affection by reason of the construction and operation of said yard. Held, Bedford Basin being a public harbour at the time of Confederation, was the property of the Dominion by virtue of the B.N.A. Act, and no title to water lots thereon could pass under a provincial grant. [Maxwell v. The King, 40 D.L.R. 715, 17 Can. Ex. 97, followed.] The fact that the suppliant had been allowed a crossing over the railway tracks to reach the beach where its lots were situated, did not give it an irrevocable license as against the Crown, nor could it under the circumstances claim such license as a riparian proprietor, nor could such license be considered as an element of compensation. The injury having been caused by the operation of works on lands other than those taken from the suppliant, the latter was not entitled to compensation therefor.

Sisters of Charity of Rockingham v. The King, 46 D.L.R. 213, 18 Can. Ex. 385, 24 Can. Ry. Cas. 388.

COMPENSATION — NEW TAKING OR NEW WORKS — DAMAGES NOT CONTEMPLATED AT TIME OF FIRST EXPROPRIATION.

Where compensation for damages arising from an expropriation has been paid, it is no answer to a claim arising out of a new taking or the construction of new works, where the last mentioned damages could not at the time of the first expropriation be foreseen, or contemplated.

Therriault v. The King, 44 D.L.R. 641, 18 Can. Ex. 298.

Where the owner of riparian land upon whose land the Crown erects an ice pier becomes entitled to damages under the Expropriation Act, R.S.C. 1906, c. 143, for injurious affection to the remainder of his property, he cannot claim as one of the items damages sustained by reason of a collision of one of his vessels with the pier in question while the vessel was being launched, where it appears from the evidence that due care was not exercised in the launching.

Pickels v. The King, 7 D.L.R. 698, 14 Can. Ex. 379.

EASEMENT — DEPRECIATION FROM POSSESSION AND POTENTIAL USE — POWER OF COMPANY — REFERENCE BACK TO ARBITRATORS.

Upon an appeal from an award fixing the amount of compensation to be paid to a landowner in respect of an easement expropriated by the Dominion statute incorporating it, 2 Edw. VII. c. 107, s. 21 (c), it was decided that the landowner was entitled to be paid, not only for the damage caused to him by what had been done, but for all the damage that was caused to him by the power given to the company, whether it had in fact exercised it or not, provided the company's notice covered the user of it; and an order referring the matter back to the arbitrators was made. Pursuant to this order, the majority of the arbitrators made an award for a small sum; and it was held, upon appeal, that what was really in issue was the damage or depreciation caused by reason of the possession and potential use by the company of its unused powers—what was to be valued was the property in the owner's hands, subject to the restrictions or easements by which it was affected, though their discharge or the unlikelihood of their use or enforcement must be considered in case of the loss. Held, also, that it was beyond the power of the company to enter into an agreement to limit the easement to that actually in use. [Ayr Harbour Trustees v. Oswald (1883), 8 App. Cas. 623, followed. Stoureliffe Estates Co. v. Bournemouth Corp., [1910] 2 Ch. 12, distinguished.] Held, also, that the award could not be interfered with on the ground that the arbitrators had no right to deal with the costs of the former arbitration; the statute where applicable must govern. The award was set aside, and the matter again referred back to be considered by the arbitrators.

Re Coleman and Toronto & Niagara Power Co., 38 D.L.R. 65, 40 O.L.R. 130.

LAND INJURIOUSLY AFFECTED — INTEREST.

Where one parcel of land is expropriated for railway purposes and another parcel of land of the same owner is injuriously affected by the carrying out of such purposes, the amounts awarded in arbitration proceedings in respect to both subjects are to be treated as purchase money. [Re MacPherson and Toronto, 26 O.R. 558; Re Davies & James Bay R. Co., 29 O.L.R. 534, followed.] Arbitrators may award interest on purchase moneys from the date of the service of the notice of expropriation.

Green v. C.N.R. Co., 8 S.L.R. 255, 33 W.L.R. 261, 9 W.W.R. 907.

(§ III E—166)—BUSINESS — LICENSE — ELEMENT OF VALUE.

The defendant J.C. had been carrying on for a long period a grocery and liquor business in the premises expropriated. The liquor side of the business was being operated at a profit, while the grocery did not yield large returns. The liquor license was only good for one year, and its renewal was dependent upon a petition being endorsed by a certain number of the ratepayers. Moreover, it was granted to the individual only so long as he continued in business in the same premises; and the defendant was an old man. At the time of the expropriation it was also shown that prohibition legislation was impending which would have put an end to the defendant's sale of liquor. Held, that under all the circumstances the court, in determining the amount of compensation, was not called upon to decide whether the license was an interest in land and value the same separately, but that the proper principle to follow was to compensate the defendant for the value of the premises to him and the loss of his business as a whole.

The King v. Courtney, 27 D.L.R. 247, 16 Can. Ex. 461.

(§ III E—170)—ALTERATION OF STATE OF HIGH LAND — INJURY TO OWNER OF LOWER — DAMAGES — ART. 501 C.C. P.Q.

Where the owner of a superior heritage alters its natural state to the injury of the owner of lower adjoining land, he is liable under art. 501 C.C.P., to the latter for damages, not as for a simple tort, but as for a breach of duty imposed by law.

Therriault v. The King, 44 D.L.R. 641, 18 Can. Ex. 298.

COMPENSATION — CONSEQUENTIAL INJURIES BY RAILWAY CONSTRUCTION — SEVERED PARCEL.

When a railway intersects a piece of land the company must pay not only compensation for the land actually taken, but also damages for injuries to the remainder of siring to take land of a private individual should be given the right, provided the individual can be properly compensated for his land and for damages to adjoining land, but it is a ground for refusing to give the railway company that privilege that the proposed railway line is a cut-off for freight only which if permitted would run through a valuable suburban subdivision for the development of which the land proprietor had dedicated large sections for the construction of driveways and parks, which might be expected to benefit both the suburban locality and the adjoining city and so be considered as in the nature of a public undertaking.

C.P.R. Co. v. Smith, 5 D.L.R. 391.

(§ III E—176)—OBSTRUCTING ACCESS TO WATER.

Where arbitrators dealing with an objection to the admissibility of evidence of increased value to set off against damage in eminent domain proceedings under the Railway Act (Can.) stated that they would take the evidence, but would specify separately, in their award the increased value and the gross amount of damages against which it was set-off, and thereby enable the objecting party to have reviewed by the courts the application of the "set-off" provisions of the Railway Act, but no two of the three arbitrators could agree on the amounts on the basis of excluding the benefits, but concurred in awarding one dollar damages for lands injuriously affected but not expropriated, but without specifying how the amount was arrived at, the arbitrators' statement as to separate findings will be held to be equivalent to a promise to exercise their discretionary power to state a case for the opinion of the court, a reliance upon which may have prejudiced the objecting party in the conduct of his case, and the arbitrators' nonfulfilment, although unintentional, of the promise given is such misconduct on their part as will justify setting aside the award.

Re False Creek Flats Arbitration (No. 2), 8 D.L.R. 422, 17 B.C.R. 282, 21 W.L.R. 761, affirming 1 D.L.R. 363.

(§ III E—180)—LOSS OF ACCESS—HIGHWAY—RAILWAY.

The obstruction of natural, proximate and direct approaches to land by the construction of a railway, across existing streets, entitles the owner to compensation for depreciation in the value of the land, as against the railway company, but not against the city agreeing to the location. Holmested v. C.N.R. Co., 29 D.L.R. 761, 9 S.L.R. 327; Holditch v. C.N.O.R., 27 D.L.R. 14, [1916] 1 A.C. 536, followed.]

Holmested v. Moose Jaw and C.N.R., 36 D.L.R. 747, [1917] 2 W.W.R. 597.

(§ III E—186)—ALTERATION OF HIGHWAY—NUISANCE—REMEDY.

One who suffers special damage by reason of a nuisance created in a highway, by the execution of certain works under statutory powers, has a right of action at common law, if conditions precedent to such execution prescribed by statute have not been observed.

Dominion Iron & Steel Co. v. Burt, 33 D.L.R. 425, [1917] A.C. 179, 20 Can. Ry. Cas. 134, [1917] W.N. 46, affirming 25 D.L.R. 252.

CONSTRUCTION OF SUBWAY—COMPENSATION TO ABUTTING OWNER.

The construction of a subway in pursuance of an order-in-council under ss. 178, 179 of the Railway Act, R.S.N.S. 1900, c. 90, required for the public safety to carry a highway under a railway, entitles an abutting property owner to recover, from the company executing the work, compensation for the value of his land injuriously affected thereby though the land itself is not actually taken. [Parkdale v. West, 12 App. Cas. 602, followed; Burt v. Sydney, 15 D.L.R. 429, 50 Can. S.C.R. 6, 16 D.L.R. 853, applied.]

Burt v. Dominion Steel & Iron Co., 25 D.L.R. 252, 49 N.S.R. 339. [Leave to appeal to Privy Council granted, 26 D.L.R. 154. Affirmed, 33 D.L.R. 425, [1917] A.C. 179.]

COMPENSATION FOR LAND TAKEN—DAMAGES FOR INJURIOUS AFFECTION—BETTERMENT—INTEREST.

Re Humphrey and Victoria, 19 W.L.R. 615.

COMPENSATION FOR LAND TAKEN—ARBITRATION—JUDGMENT TO ENFORCE AWARD.

Usher v. Town of North Toronto, 2 O.W.N. 851, 18 O.W.R. 808.

COMPENSATION FOR LANDS INJURIOUSLY AFFECTED BY CLOSING OF STREETS—DETERMINATION BY COUNCIL.

Winnipeg v. Brook, 16 W.L.R. 45.

COMPENSATION FOR INJURY TO LAND—SUBWAY—MUNICIPAL POWERS—NO PART OF THE LAND ACTUALLY TAKEN—TIME ALLOWED FOR MAKING CLAIM.

Winnipeg v. Toronto General Trusts Corp., 20 Man. L.R. 545, 18 W.L.R. 50.

IV. Additional servitude.

See Damages, III L.

A. IN GENERAL; ON RAILROAD WAY.

(§ IV A—192)—PROSPECTIVE VALUE—SECOND INVASION—ELEMENTS OF DAMAGE—BENEFITS DUE TO EXPROPRIATION—QUANTUM OF DAMAGES.

Property used as a farm in proximity to a village, but with only a prospect that at some distant date, some parts might be sold as building lots, will be classed as farming lands, and be valued as such and not as building lots; such prospect being too distant. In a case of second expropriation, where the property has already adjusted itself to conditions created by the first invasion, the owner of property is entitled to other and different damages due to such second expropriation. Where by second expropriation a railway takes a strip of land for a railway yard on each side of the right-of-way first taken, the extra inconvenience and delay due to longer crossing and to the more extensive use of the property as a yard, are elements of the damages to be allowed him. The benefits accruing to the remaining part of the property by the expropriation and to the use to be made of the land taken, will be taken into consideration in fixing the quantum of damages due an owner. [The King v. Trudel, 19 D.L.R. 270, 49 Can. S.C.R. 501.]

The King v. Fontaine, 49 D.L.R. 126, 19 Can. Ex. 188.

B. ON HIGHWAY.

(§ IV B—195)—Where a railway established a freight shed and freight shunting yard which materially increased the traffic upon that part of the railway running along a city street and injuriously affected the value of the property fronting on the street to an extent not contemplated when the grant was made many years previously by the municipal corporation of permission to carry the railway line along such street, the Railway Board of Canada will order compensation to be paid by the railway to such of the landowners within the territory injuriously affected as were the owners of their property prior to such change of conditions. Purchasers of property upon a street upon which a railway is operated who bought subsequently to the establishment of a railway yard and the incidental damage to the properties on that street by reason of the shunting of cars thereon, having purchased with notice of the new conditions, are not entitled to compensation in damages as are the landowners who had acquired title previous to the establishment of the railway yard.

Hamilton v. G.T.R. Co., 5 D.L.R. 60, 14 Can. Ry. Cas. 196.

CONDITION AS TO CONSTRUCTION OF RAILWAY IN STREETS—COMPENSATION TO ABUTTING LANDOWNERS.

G.T.P. Ry. Co. v. Landowners, etc., of Fort William, 28 T.L.R. 37.

DIVERSION OF WATER—ORDER OF RAILWAY COMMISSION.

Blaiz v. G.T.R. Co., 39 Que. S.C. 236.

EXTENSION OF TIME.

See Moratorium.

For appeal, see Appeal, III F.

EXTORTION.

BY THREAT OR ACCUSATION OF CRIME—CONSTABLE WITH WARRANT.

A constable who is given a warrant of arrest for theft to have executed in another county on its being endorsed by a magistrate there and who, at the same time, acts for the private prosecutor in attempting to settle the charge with the accused is properly convicted of extortion under Cr. Code, s. 454, if he accuses or threatens to accuse the person against whom the warrant is directed of the criminal offence therein mentioned and thereby obtains from such person a payment of money as representing the value of the article alleged to have been stolen and a reimbursement for expenses.

R. v. Lapham, 10 D.L.R. 315, 4 O.W.N. 838, 24 O.W.R. 111, 21 Can. Cr. Cas. 79.

JUSTICE OF THE PEACE EXACTING UNLAWFUL FEES—QUIT TAM ACTION.

Aikens v. Simpson, 18 Can. Cr. Cas. 99. Threatening in writing to accuse of crime with intent to extort.

The King v. Hatch, 18 Can. Cr. Cas. 125.

INFORMATION—CRIMINAL OFFENCE DISCLOSED—REFUSAL OF MAGISTRATE TO ISSUE—MAGISTRATE RECEIVING ILLEGAL FEES.

R. v. Graham, 17 Can. Cr. Cas. 264.

EXTRA WORK.

Recovery for, building contracts, see Contracts.

EXTRADITION.

I. INTERNATIONAL.

II. WITHIN BRITISH EMPIRE.

I. International.

Certified copy of foreign indictment as prima facie case, see Evidence, IV E—411a.

(§ I—1)—SEVERAL OFFENCES.

An extradition charge may include more than one offence. [Re O'Neill, 5 D.L.R. 646, 19 Can. Cr. Cas. 410, followed.]

New York v. Israelowitz, 29 Can. Cr. Cas. 323, 25 B.C.R. 143.

(§ I—3)—BANKRUPTCY OFFENCES—CONCEALING PROPERTY.

Actual concealment of property in anticipation of bankruptcy, and failure to disclose the whereabouts of himself or the property, after the bankruptcy, are sufficient grounds for granting the extradition of the bankrupt, when demanded by a foreign state, upon a charge of fraudulently concealing while bankrupt, from his trustee, property of his estate. It is not necessary that the evidence should be sufficient to justify a conviction.

Re Goodman, 29 D.L.R. 725, 26 Can. Cr. Cas. 254, 26 Man. L.R. 537, 34 W.L.R. 1091, 10 W.W.R. 1178, affirming 28 D.L.R. 197, 26 Can. Cr. Cas. 84.

Extradition will be ordered for an offence under the Federal Bankruptcy Act of the United States, s. 29 (b), which enacts that "a person shall be punished by imprisonment for a period not to exceed two years, upon conviction of the offence of having knowingly and fraudulently, while a bankrupt, or after his discharge, concealed from his trustee any of the property belonging to his estate in bankruptcy" such enactment being similar in its terms to s. 417 of the Can. Crim. Code, subs. 2, which is in effect a bankruptcy law. [R. v. Stone (No. 2), 17 Can. Cr. Cas. 377, followed.]

Re Webber, 6 D.L.R. 805, 19 Can. Cr. Cas. 515.

PERSONS SUBJECT TO EXTRADITION. *

Extradition will be ordered under the extradition treaties and conventions with the United States, only upon its being established that the extradition offence is a crime against the law of the demanding country, and if it had been committed in Canada would be a criminal offence there. [Re Latimer, 10 Can. Cr. Cas. 244, followed.]

Re William Staggs (No. 2), 8 D.L.R. 284, 5 A.L.R. 354, 22 W.L.R. 853, 3 W.W.R. 393.

BREAKING PAROLE—FUGITIVE.

A person from another country who has broken his parole in that country, where he has been convicted of obtaining money under false pretences, may be extradited as a fugitive under s. 18 of the Extradition Act, R.S.C. 1906, c. 155, although breaking parole is not an extraditable offence.

United States of America v. Allison, 42 D.L.R. 595.

TRIAL—IDENTICAL OFFENCE.

An extradited person is to be tried for the offence only with which he is charged in the extradition proceedings and for which he was delivered up; this does not cover a distinct offence, though of a similar character, to which the evidence before the foreign extradition commissioner was not directed and which was not included in the charges on which extradition was demanded, although the foreign extradition warrant stated the offence in general terms which might include either of the transactions.

Buck v. The King, 38 D.L.R. 548, 55 Can. S.C.R. 133, 29 Can. Cr. Cas. 45, [1917] 3 W.W.R. 117, reversing 35 D.L.R. 55, 27 Can. Cr. Cas. 427.

[§ 1—4]—WARRANT ON PRIMA FACIE CASE.

If the proofs tendered on an extradition hearing show a prima facie case against the accused, a committal for extradition is justified.

United States v. Wrenn, 10 D.L.R. 452, 21 Can. Cr. Cas. 119.

Where two countries have enacted criminal legislation to prevent a certain crime, in respect of which extradition proceedings are instituted in manifest good faith by one of such countries, too much regard should not be paid by the other country in such proceedings to the ordinary technicalities of criminal procedure; and extradition may be ordered notwithstanding a discrepancy between the date of the alleged offence in the information and the date proved by the evidence. The offence of fraudulent concealment of property by a bankrupt committed in the United States and for which extradition may be had from Canada is a continuing offence which may be begun before the date of the bankruptcy adjudication and continued to completion thereafter.

United States v. Webber (No. 1), 5 D.L.R. 863, 20 Can. Cr. Cas. 1, 11 E.L.R. 379.

In determining whether the evidence upon a demand for extradition is sufficient for a commitment in extradition, the judge or commissioner may order extradition if the evidence makes out a probable case of guilt by shewing circumstances which raise a presumption against the prisoner; but if, from the slender nature of the evidence, the unworthiness of the witnesses, or the conclusive proof of innocence produced in answer, the judge or commissioner is satisfied that the charge is not sustained and that if the trial were within this jurisdiction, the accused must be acquitted, an order for extradition should be refused. [Girvin v. The King, 45 Can. S.C.R. 167, applied: 14 Hals. 412, approved.]

Republic of France v. Peugnet, 1 D.L.R. 204, 19 Can. Crim. Cas. 179, 5 S.L.R. 268, 19 W.L.R. 938, 1 W.W.R. 703.

A warrant issued by an extradition commissioner is not open to the objection, on an application for a writ of habeas corpus, that he acted merely upon the complaint, without taking any evidence, where, in his reason for his judgment, he sets out the various steps taken by him, since, under the statute, all that is necessary is that as a result of such proceedings, he shall be of the opinion that the warrant should issue. It is no objection to a warrant of extradition that it contains more than one charge.

Re O'Neill, 5 D.L.R. 646, 19 Can. Cr. Cas. 410, 17 B.C.R. 123, 2 W.W.R. 368.

PROCEEDINGS.

Where the original arrest or imprisonment upon an extradition charge has been illegal as made without warrant upon a request by telegram, it is not necessary that the prisoner should be first discharged from the illegal custody in order to hold him under good process subsequently issued in a criminal matter. [Hooper v. Lane, 6 H.L.C. 443, distinguished.] While a telegram from the authorities in the foreign country asking for the arrest of a fugitive criminal is not alone sufficient to justify an arrest, it is not an objection to an extradition warrant of arrest issued upon a sworn information that the information was not based upon personal knowledge, but merely upon such telegraphic communication.

Re Webber, 6 D.L.R. 805, 19 Can. Cr. Cas. 515.

PROVING FOREIGN INDICTMENT.

A certified copy of the indictment against the accused in a United States Court is admissible under s. 23 of the Canada Evidence Act, R.S.C. 1906, c. 145, in support of extradition proceedings taken in Canada to have him sent back to answer the indictment.

Re Goodman, 28 D.L.R. 197, 29 D.L.R. 725, 26 Can. Cr. Cas. 84, 254, 26 Man. L.R. 537, 34 W.L.R. 531, 1091, 10 W.W.R. 781. [Affirmed, 29 D.L.R. 725; 26 Can. Cr. Cas. 254.]

FORGERY—IDENTIFICATION—SIGNATURES.

For the purpose of extradition for the offence of forgery, identity of the person charged may be sufficiently established by a comparison of the signature with a document signed by the accused. [Re Smith, 3 Crim. App. 87, followed.]

United States v. Ford & Frary, 29 D.L.R. 89, 26 Can. Cr. Cas. 430, 34 W.L.R. 912, 19 W.W.R. 1042.

ON FOREIGN INDICTMENT—FOREIGN LAW.

Where extradition is demanded to answer a foreign indictment for larceny, proof of which indictment is made before the Extradition Judge, and the facts disclose an offence which would be an extraditable crime under Canadian law, it may be inferred from the fact of the indictment in the demanding state that such facts constitute larceny under the state law. [Re Deering, 24 Can. Cr. Cas. 133, 24 D.L.R. 818, applied.]

New York v. Israelowitz, 29 Can. Cr. Cas. 323, 25 B.C.R. 143.

PROVINCIAL LAWS—EVIDENCE ACT—JUDICIAL NOTICE OF FOREIGN LAWS.

The provincial laws of evidence are applicable to extradition proceedings by virtue of the Canada Evidence Act, R.S.C. 1906, c. 145, s. 35, where not inconsistent with Federal laws; and in an extradition case in Manitoba the Provincial Statute, R.S.M. 1913, c. 65, s. 32, enables the extradition tribunal to take judicial notice of the laws of any part of the United States of America.

Re Rosenberg, 29 Can. Cr. Cas. 309, 28 Man. L.R. 439, [1918] 1 W.W.R. 845.

SEALING—RESTITUTION OF MONEY TAKEN FROM PRISONER WHEN ARRESTED—PROVING IDENTITY WITH MONEY STOLEN.

Where there is no proof of identity of the money found on the prisoner when arrested, with the money which he was charged in extradition proceedings with having stolen, the Extradition Judge should order the return to the prisoner of the money taken from him by the police at the time of arrest.

United States v. Tounder, 23 Can. Cr. Cas. 76.

(§ 1—6)—IMMUNITY FROM PROSECUTION FOR DIFFERENT OFFENCE.

The president of a bank, on extradition from the United States under a treaty (convention of July 12, 1889), permitting extradition for "fraud" by a banker, when made criminal by a statute, cannot be held under s. 153 of the Bank Act, R.S.C. 1906, declaring penal the making of any "willfully false or deceptive statement" in a bank return required by law to be made to the Minister of Finance of Canada, fraud not being an essential ingredient of such statutory offence.

R. v. Nesbitt, 11 D.L.R. 708, 21 Can. Cr. Cas. 250, 28 O.L.R. 91.

EXTRADITABLE OFFENCES—FORGERY—DESCRIPTION.

When a requisition for the crime of forgery is amended by changing the offence to that of "uttering forged paper," also extraditable, and the fugitive is surrendered for the latter offence, his right not to be tried for any other crime or offence than for the one extradited has not been violated; the warrant of surrender is conclusive as to the offence charged, and the offence therein is sufficiently described if set out in the general words of the extradition treaty.

Re Hall, 39 D.L.R. 551. [See 42 D.L.R. 330.]

VALIDITY OF WARRANT OF SURRENDER.

A prisoner having been surrendered to the Canadian Government for a crime covered by the treaty between Great Britain and the United States; the court has no power to challenge the validity or regularity of the warrant of surrender, issued by authority of the Government of the United States nor has it any right to go behind the said warrant to inquire whether the proceedings upon which it is founded are or are not regular; although it may examine the proceedings abroad to see that a surrender has not been obtained on one charge, and then another or different crime laid and prosecuted in Canada.

The King v. Hall, 42 D.L.R. 330, 30 Can. Cr. Cas. 129, 52 N.S.R. 260. [See Re Hall, 39 D.L.R. 551.]

GOOD FAITH OF PROCEEDINGS.

On a demand for extradition the accused is not entitled to adduce evidence that the extradition proceedings are not being taken in good faith. [Re McTier, 17 Can. Cr. Cas. 80, disapproved; R. v. Delisle, 5 Can. Cr. Cas. 210, distinguished.]

Re Rosenberg, 29 Can. Cr. Cas. 309, 28 Man. L.R. 439, [1918] 1 W.W.R. 845.

(§ 1—7)—PRELIMINARY HEARING—DISCHARGE—REARREST.

Under s. 13 of the Extradition Act (R.S.C. 1906, c. 155), the Extradition Judge is not to try the fugitive for the offence laid, but merely to conduct a preliminary enquiry in the manner laid down in Part XIV, Cr. Code, in order to establish a prima facie case; a discharge of the fugitive is no bar to his subsequent arrest for extradition for the same offence.

United States v. Ford & Frary, 29 D.L.R. 80, 26 Can. Cr. Cas. 430, 34 W.L.R. 912, 19 W.W.R. 1042.

JUDGE SIGNING DEPOSITIONS—STENOGRAPHER'S CERTIFICATE—EVIDENCE—ADMISSIBILITY.

The omission of the Extradition Judge to himself sign the depositions, even if the signature by a duly sworn shorthand reporter is not alone sufficient, will not invalidate the order of committal for extradition. Where evidence is taken in the demanding country and the depositions are received by the Extradition Judge under s. 16 of the Extradition Act, (Can.), the admissibility of the matter contained in the depositions depends on the foreign law of evidence which it is to be assumed was rightly administered; the Extradition Judge need not enter into an enquiry as to whether certain formalities had been taken which would have been a prerequisite in a proceeding taken under Canadian law.

Re Rosenberg, 29 Can. Cr. Cas. 309, 28 Man. L.R. 439, [1918] 1 W.W.R. 845.

(§ 1—8)—REVIEW OF PROCEEDINGS.

In an extradition proceeding under the Extradition Act, the omission of the extradition Judge to read the accused the statement set forth in subs. 2 of s. 684, Cr. Code, is not fatal to the proceedings. A foreign deposition for use in an extradition proceeding must purport to be certified as the original or a true copy thereof by a judge, magistrate or officer of the foreign state; and it is not admissible in the extradition proceeding when it appears that the certificate is not given by any such foreign officer competent to certify that the original deposition contains a true record of the evidence given by the deponent.

Re William Stagge (No. 1), 7 D.L.R. 738, 5 A.L.R. 350, 3 W.W.R. 177.

On an application for a writ of habeas corpus for discharge from custody of a person remanded by an extradition commissioner for extradition to a foreign country the decision of the commissioner as to the sufficiency of the evidence, where there is any evidence at all, as to the identity of the party remanded by him, cannot be reviewed.

Re Darraq, 5 D.L.R. 771, 19 Can. Cr. Cas. 483.

EXTRADITABLE OFFENCES—LARCENY—FALSE PRETENCES.

If the crime for which extradition is asked is a crime against the law of both countries and is in substance to be found in the treaty, although under different heads, effect is to be given to the claim for extradition, so where the offence is larceny under the foreign law but in Canada is only obtaining money or goods by false pretences, which is likewise an extraditable crime, a committal for extradition on a charge of stealing will stand.

Ex parte Thomas, 38 D.L.R. 716, 45 N.B. R. 148, 28 Can. Cr. Cas. 396.

THEFT OR LARCENY—PROOF OF FOREIGN LAW.

An order for extradition to the United States on a charge of larceny of promissory notes is justified where the facts disclosed in the extradition proceedings make out a prima facie case of theft under Canadian law without more in proof that such facts constitute larceny under the foreign law than might be inferred from his indictment in the foreign state for the offence. [Re Murphy, 2 Can. Cr. Cas. 578, 23 A.R. 386;

R. v. Watts, 5 Can. Cr. Cas. 246, 3 O.L.R. 368; Porter v. McMannis, 25 N.B.R. 215, applied.]

Re Deering, 24 D.L.R. 818, 24 Can. Cr. Cas. 133, 49 N.S.R. 41.

(§ 1—9)—IDENTITY OF ACCUSED—PHOTOGRAPH.

The identity of the accused in an extradition proceeding founded on a foreign indictment may be shown by the production of a photograph of the accused verified in the foreign proceedings; the Extradition Judge may compare such photograph with the features of the prisoner before him and from such comparison conclude that the prisoner is the identical party who was indicted.

State of New York v. Israelowitz, 29 Can. Cr. Cas. 323, 25 B.C.R. 143.

COMMITTAL—HABEAS CORPUS—REVIEW OF EVIDENCE.

Re McTier, 17 Can. Cr. Cas. 80.

OFFENCES MADE CRIMINAL BY LAWS OF BOTH COUNTRIES—SECTION 296 OF UNITED STATES BANKRUPTCY ACT—BANKRUPTCY LAW—DECEITFUL CREDITORS—RETROACTIVITY OF THE EXTRADITION TREATY OF 1906 BETWEEN GREAT BRITAIN AND THE UNITED STATES.

The King v. Stone, 17 Can. Cr. Cas. 249 & 377.

PARTY COMMITTED UNDER EXTRADITION ACT—IRREGULARITY OF ARREST.

A prisoner committed by a judge under the Extradition Act, cannot set up an irregularity in his arrest as a ground for habeas corpus.

Stone v. Vallee, 39 Que. S.C. 424, 18 Can. Cr. Cas. 222.

TREATY WITH RUSSIA—ARREST WITHOUT FORMAL REQUISITION FROM FOREIGN STATE—VALIDITY—EXTRADITION ACT.

Re Fedorenko (No. 3); Atty-Gen'l for Canada v. Fedorenko, 18 Can. Cr. Cas. 256, [1911] A.C. 735, 27 T.L.R. 541.

II. Within British Empire.

(§ 11—15)—FUGITIVE OFFENDERS ACT—DEPOSITIONS—REFUSAL TO TESTIFY.

As a magistrate is expressly empowered by s. 29 of the Fugitive Offenders Act, 44-45 Vict. (Imp.) c. 69 (R.S.C. 1906, c. 154, s. 27), to take depositions for the purpose of that act in the absence of the person accused, he must be held to have the like power to punish a witness for refusing to testify in proceedings so taken in Manitoba in the absence of accused for the purpose of bringing the latter back from England to Manitoba to answer the charge.

R. v. Simpson; Re Whittle, 28 D.L.R. 402, 26 Can. Cr. Cas. 15, 26 Man. L.R. 129, 33 W.L.R. 547, 835, 9 W.W.R. 986, 1161.

FUGITIVE OFFENDERS ACT—WARRANT OF ARREST.

A Canadian magistrate hearing a demand for extradition to another part of the British Empire under the Fugitive Offenders Act, 44-45 Vict. (Imp.) c. 69 (R.S.C. 1906, c. 154), may legally issue a provisional warrant for the apprehension of the fugitive on the sworn information of some credible person, if in his discretion he sees fit to do so; and this although the information was upon information and belief only; but if he considers it desirable or necessary he may require the evidence of other witnesses. An information under the Fugitive Offenders Act (Imp.), should disclose the charge with sufficient certainty to enable the accused to know what he is charged with; but an information is not bad on a charge of obtaining money by false pretences in that two surnames are used conjointly without any Christian names to indicate the defrauded party, and without indicating whether or not the names represent a partnership or corporation or merely two individuals.

R. v. Harrison, 29 Can. Cr. Cas. 420, 25 E.C.R. 433.

(§ II—19)—IMMUNITY FROM PROSECUTION FOR DIFFERENT OFFENCE.

If an extradited prisoner intends to object that the indictment is for a different charge than that on which he was extradited, it is for him to prove the extradition warrant and so place on the record the fact of the variance, so that a court of criminal appeal may take cognizance of it on a case reserved.

R. v. McNamara, 16 D.L.R. 356, 22 Can. Cr. Cas. 351, 19 B.C.R. 175, 193, 27 W.L.R. 33.

ARREST OF PERSON CHARGED WITH OFFENCE IN ANOTHER BRITISH TERRITORY.

R. v. Wishart, 22 O.L.R. 594, 17 O.W.R. 565, 967.

EXTRINSIC EVIDENCE.

See Evidence.

FACTORS.

See Brokers; Principal and Agent.

COMMISSION ON SALES—REDDITION OF ACCOUNT.

In an action by a factor claiming a fixed sum as commission, and demanding, moreover, that his principal be condemned to render him an account for certain sales made by him and upon which he is entitled to a commission, the court may, if the plaintiff has already examined the defendant and his books during the trial, determine the amount due to the agent for his commission, without any reddition of account from the principal.

Holstead v. Sommer, 48 Que. S.C. 383.

FACTS.

Review of, see Appeal.

FALSE ARREST.

See False Imprisonment; Arrest; Malicious Prosecution.

FACTORIES.

See Master and Servant.

FALSE IMPRISONMENT.

I. IN GENERAL.

II. WHO LIABLE.

A. In general.

B. Officer.

III. DEFENCES; JUSTIFICATION.

Measure of damages for, see Damages.

III. Burden of proof to shew authority of, see Evidence.

See Malicious Prosecution; Arrest; Security for costs in action against peace officers or public authority, see Costs, I—14.

Annotation.

False arrest; Reasonable and probable cause; English and French law compared; 1 D.L.R. 56.

I. In general.

RAILWAY RULES AND REGULATIONS—HAND-CEFFING.

McAllister v. Johnson, 40 N.B.R. 73.

II. Who liable.

A. IN GENERAL.

(§ II A—5)—MISTAKE—MEASURE OF DAMAGES.

A person arrested by mistake, although entitled to damages for being detained an unreasonable length of time, cannot recover for injury to his reputation or feelings if his arrest was justified.

Anderson v. Johnston, 38 D.L.R. 563, 29 Can. Cr. Cas. 24, 10 S.L.R. 352, [1917] 3 W.W.R. 353.

LIABILITY OF MUNICIPALITY FOR ACTS OF CONSTABLES.

A municipal corporation in the Province of Quebec may be held liable in damages for an unlawful arrest made by constables in the employ of the municipality where no information had been laid or warrant issued and where there were no circumstances to justify an arrest without warrant.

Lacombe v. Lachine, 27 Can. Cr. Cas. 313, 22 Rev. Leg. 528.

(§ II A—6)—LIABILITY OF MUNICIPALITY FOR FALSE ARREST—RESPONDENT SUPERIOR.

A direction from the mayor and board of control of a city for the police department to prevent the erection of electric light poles on a city street is not in itself such an authority to the police to make an arrest of the electric company's employees attempting to put up the poles, as to render the city liable for a false arrest where the electric company's employees persisted in proceeding with the work of erecting poles against the directions of the police and one of them was arrested by a police officer having authority as a conservator of the peace upon a charge of disorderly conduct, which was afterwards dismissed.

[Kelly v. Barton, 22 A.R. (Ont.) 522, applied.]

Waters v. Toronto, 14 D.L.R. 477, 5 O.W.N. 210, 25 O.W.R. 173.

(§ II A-7)—ILLEGAL ARREST FOR PERJURY—WHAT MUST BE PROVEN.

In an action for damages on account of an illegal arrest for perjury, it should be first proven that an oath was taken before a court in which the testimony was given. In such an action to ascertain if there has been perjury, it is necessary, in examining the deposition of the accused witness, to take not only a part of what he said, but also the qualifications which he added to his statement.

Lafontaine v. Fournier, 48 Que. S.C. 113.

(§ II A-8)—PRINCIPAL OR MASTER.

Where the plaintiff, in an action for false arrest on capias from which he was discharged upon the quashing of the writ, alleged that the defendant acted with malice as the result of fraud and conspiracy, there is such a failure of proof as to the material allegations of the declaration which prevent a recovery by the plaintiff, where the evidence showed that the defendant, a stenographer in the employ of a member of the Bar, took the action in which the capias issued in her own name in the usual course of her employment, and, no doubt, without the slightest malice, signed the affidavit for the writ on the strength of fact explained by her employer, and possibly acted on the strength of what she had heard in the former's office regarding the circumstances of the plaintiff's claim, as under such circumstances, the plaintiff should have amended his declaration by substituting for the allegation of malice, fraud and conspiracy one of mere imprudence on the part of the defendant, as well as want of probable cause for suing on the writ.

Serling v. Olsen, 3 D.L.R. 845.

B. OFFICER.

(§ II B-10)—Every peace officer who, on reasonable and probable grounds, believes that an offence for which the offender may be arrested without warrant has been committed, is justified in arresting such person without warrant.

Lalonde v. Lachine, 18 Rev. de Jur. 360. The committal for trial for culpable homicide of a person arrested upon running down another with his vehicle and causing his death, and the subsequent finding by a grand jury of a true bill against him for that offence, completely negative the allegation of malice and want of probable cause on the part of the constable who made the arrest, even though the first charge by the latter was "of being drunk and loitering," upon which the prisoner was first detained, and, after trial before the recorder, found not guilty.

Dupuis v. Montreal, 44 Que. S.C. 169.

(§ II B-11)—ARREST.

In an action against a constable for false Can. Dig.—66.

arrest and imprisonment the statute respecting the protection of constables, C.S. N.B. 1903, c. 64, s. 2, requiring demand for perusal and copy of the warrant on which the plaintiff was arrested does not apply where it is admitted that the constable was not acting "in obedience to a warrant of a justice."

Markey v. Sloat, 6 D.L.R. 827, 11 E.L.R. 295, 41 N.B.R. 234.

ABUSE OF AUTHORITY BY OFFICER.

A peace officer who knows that he is acting illegally in taking a drunken man out of his home and placing him in jail without a warrant is liable in damages to the latter for his abuse of authority although he did not act with malice.

Asselin v. Davidson, 16 D.L.R. 285, 20 Rev. Leg. 193, 23 Que. K.B. 274.

(§ II B-12)—MAGISTRATE.

An action for false imprisonment lies against a Justice of the Peace, when the liberty of a person has been restrained against his will without the authority of law.

Washburn v. Robertson, 8 D.L.R. 183, 3 W.W.R. 209.

LIABILITY OF MAGISTRATE—ISSUING WARRANT WITHOUT SWORN INFORMATION—THE PEDLERS ACT, C.S.N.B. 1903, c. 175.

McCathern v. Jamer, Rolston v. Jamer, 9 D.L.R. 874, 41 N.B.R. 367, 11 E.L.R. 527.

(§ II B-13)—CONSTABLE'S CLAIM FOR INDEMNITY AGAINST MUNICIPALITY.

A police constable paid by the city has no claim for indemnity against the city for damages awarded against him in an action for false arrest where a person charged with a criminal offence was arrested without warrant under circumstances in which a warrant was necessary, the warrant being afterwards granted, but the charge being finally dismissed.

Pon Yin v. Edmonton, 24 Can. Cr. Cas. 327, 31 W.L.R. 402, 8 W.W.R. 809.

III. Defences; justification.

(§ III-15)—DEFENCES—JUSTIFICATION.

In an action against a justice of the peace for false imprisonment, where the defendant admits that the warrant under which plaintiff was arrested was his act, the onus is on him to plead and prove affirmatively the existence of reasonable cause as his justification. Where an action for false imprisonment is brought against a justice of the peace on an alleged unlawful warrant, he must show that he was authorized by law to issue the warrant when he did in fact issue it. Where the warrant was issued in pursuance of the Master and Servants Act, R.S.S. c. 149, the defendant must show that a complaint was made to him upon oath by an employee of the plaintiff, that he issued a summons commanding the plaintiff to appear at a time stated in the summons, which must be a reasonable time, that the plaintiff did not appear and that service of the summons upon him was proved either by the oral testimony of the person effecting such service or by his affidavit purporting to be made before a justice of the peace. Where it must be shown by the defendant that he had jurisdiction to issue the summons for nonattendance on which he had issued the warrant of arrest, such jurisdiction will not be presumed. In order for the defendant to take advantage of 11 & 12 Viet. c. 44 (Imp.), "An Act for the Protection of Justices of the Peace from vexatious Actions," the defence must be pleaded. As soon as imprisonment is proved, the burden is upon defendant to prove that the imprisonment was not his act or was justified.

Washburn v. Robertson, 8 D.L.R. 183, 3 W.W.R. 209.

In an action for damages for false arrest and imprisonment against certain police authorities, the defendants justified on the ground that the plaintiff was the keeper of a bawdy house within the meaning of the Cr. Code, (ss. 30, 35), and the New Brunswick Statute, 11 Viet. c. 12, s. 7. The plaintiff, who was managing the hotel where the arrest was made, was charged in the arrest book of the police with being an inmate of a bawdy house. The plaintiff was arrested without warrant. The facts showed that the plaintiff was not personally guilty of immoral conduct on the occasion of the arrest, but the jury being asked: "Might the plaintiff reasonably from her observation and opportunities of observation of the people resorting to the hotel have come to the conclusion that a number of such persons were of ill repute," answered: "We don't know." Held, that while the defendants could not justify without warrant upon the facts, under ss. 30, 35, Cr. Code, nor under the provincial enactment cited, yet because the jury had failed to answer the question stated, there should be a new trial.

Hopper v. Clark, 40 N.B.R. 568, 10 E.L.R. 305.

FALSELY WARRANTING BUSINESS AS FREE FROM DEBT—FALSE PRETENCES.

The arrest of a vendor for obtaining money under false pretences is not justified because the vendor declared in his deed of sale that he sold his restaurant "free and clear of all debts," while in fact he was in debt to his tradesmen. Such declaration is only a guarantee that the vendor will himself pay his debts.

Calogery v. Spencer, 47 Que. S.C. 12.

An action for damages for false arrest will not lie in favour of a party who has pleaded guilty to a charge in respect of which he was arrested.

Mignault v. G.T.R. Co., 10 E.L.R. 375.

ABSENCE OF PROBABLE CAUSE—NEGLECT TO INVESTIGATE SUSPICIONS OF WRONG DOING.

Waller v. C.P.R. Co., 39 Que. S.C. 240.

FALSE PRETENCES.

Sufficiency of indictment, see Indictment, II E—44.

Annotation.

False pretences; Crim. Code, s. 404; 34 D.L.R. 521.

(§ 1—5)—OBTAINING CREDIT.

The president of a company is criminally liable for obtaining credit by false pretences, where goods were secured on credit by the company upon false representations contained in a report made by him for the benefit of the company, where he was the largest shareholder in the company and was benefited by the credit obtained and became thereby indebted himself as a shareholder. R. v. Amos Campbell, 5 D.L.R. 370, 23 Que. S.C. 400.

PURCHASE OF GOODS—PREARRANGEMENT TO HAVE CHEQUE IN PAYMENT DISHONOURED—FRAUDS—ISSUE OF CHECK.

Where goods are obtained on the faith of the buyer's cheque given in payment therefor, a charge of false pretence of an existing or present fact, as distinguished from a future event, is sustainable, although there may have been funds in the bank to the credit of the drawer at the precise time of delivery of the cheque or of the receipt of the goods, if it be shown that the drawer issued other cheques at about the same time, the payment of which had been planned to so reduce the fund that the cheque in question would be dishonoured and that the drawer had no credit arrangements with the bank for an overdraft. The fact that the purchase was made through an agent who gave the worthless cheque in payment did not absolve the principal.

R. v. Garten, 13 D.L.R. 642, 29 O.L.R. 56, 22 Can. Cr. Cas. 21.

FALSE STATEMENT BY DIRECTOR AS TO FINANCIAL CONDITION.

The "prospectus, statement or account," the fraudulent issue of which by a director is made indictable under Cr. Code, s. 414, where done, inter alia, with intent to induce any person to advance any money to the company, does not include a statement made to a bank of his private affairs by a director offered by the company as its surety on obtaining a line of credit for the company, where the statement did not concern the financial standing or affairs of the company itself; but if the defendant obtained a credit for himself on his guaranty, although the money was actually paid to the company, and he benefited by it, a charge may be laid under Cr. Code, s. 405A, for obtaining such credit under false pretences, and, semble, that since the enactment of Code, s. 407A (Code Amendment of 1912), it is an indictable offence for a person knowingly to make any false statement in writing, with intent that it shall be relied upon, respecting his financial condition for the purpose of procuring a loan or credit for a company in which he is interested.

R. v. Cohen, 25 D.J.R. 510, 24 Can. Cr. Cas. 238, 33 O.L.R. 340.

Notwithstanding the distinction between "obtaining" and "procuring to be delivered to another person" made in s. 405, Cr. Code, and in English statute law, an accused person may, having regard to s. 69 of the Code, be found guilty of obtaining credit by false pretences in incurring a debt (Code, s. 105a), though the credit was obtained for a joint stock company in which the accused person was a shareholder and of which he was acting as manager in getting the credit.

The King v. Campbell, 18 Rev. de Jur. 317.

(S 1-4)—ELEMENTS OF OFFENCE—FRAUDULENT CONTRACT—PRETENDED STOCK SUBSCRIPTION.

A charge that the accused through false pretences induced the complainant to subscribe for shares and thereby obtained a promissory note and cash in payment thereof is within Cr. Code, s. 405 as charging that the security was obtained through the pretence of a contract fraudulent in fact.

R. v. Daigle, 18 D.L.R. 56, 23 Can. Cr. Cas. 92.

ELEMENTS OF FALSE PRETENCES.

To make out a charge of obtaining money by false pretences it is not sufficient to prove that the false representation was made, and that the person making it got money from the person to whom he made it, but it also must be shown that it was upon the strength of the representation thus made that the person wronged was induced to part with his money.

Re William Staggs, 8 D.L.R. 284, 5 A.L.R. 354, 22 W.L.R. 853, 3 W.W.R. 393.

FRAUD OF EMPLOYEE BIDDING FOR EMPLOYER — USING TRADE NAME.

Where an employee makes representations to his employer to the effect that a tender for the supply of goods to the latter is an actual bona fide one from an independent tenderer, whereas it was in fact, although unknown to the employer, the employee's own tender, submitted in a different trade name through such employee's nominee, the employee may properly be convicted of obtaining by false pretences the additional money which, by means of such tender and his employer's reliance on the same as independently made, he obtained for the goods supplied over and above the amount for which the employer would have obtained them by acceptance of a competitive tender which the employee fraudulently caused to be rejected.

R. v. Leverton, 34 D.L.R. 514, 28 Can. Cr. Cas. 61, 11 A.L.R. 355, [1917] 2 W.W.R. 584.

DISTINGUISHED FROM THEFT.

The offence is false pretences and not theft when goods are obtained from the owner on a worthless cheque fraudulently drawn by the purchaser in a fictitious name, as the owner consented to the property and possession going to the purchaser whom he knew under no other name than the fictitious one.

R. v. Hilsley, 29 Can. Cr. Cas. 195.

SALE OF ANOTHER'S AUTOMOBILE.

A person who obtains a quotation of a price for a motor-car from the owner thereof and without making any payment or obtaining any legal right or title thereto, offers it for sale as his own while still held in the possession of the true owner, and as a part of the pretended sale transaction obtains money on the faith of his ability to make delivery and give a title to the car, is properly convicted of obtaining money by false pretences through the medium of a contract (Cr. Code, s. 405).

R. v. Provost, 29 Can. Cr. Cas. 247.

FRAUDULENT OBTAINING OF ONE'S OWN OVERDUE NOTES.

A person may be convicted of obtaining the return to himself of his own promissory notes from the payee if such return is obtained under false pretences, and it is not a ground of defence that the notes were overdue when so obtained.

Abeles v. The King, 24 Can. Cr. Cas. 308, 14 Que. K.B. 260.

ELEMENTS OF OFFENCE.

The offence of obtaining money by false pretences is complete if at the time they were made the accused knew them to be false and the money was obtained through such pretence, and this notwithstanding that the party defrauded was in the same transaction incurring an indebtedness to the accused for an amount in excess of that fraudulently obtained and that the accused intended to refund the amount out of the larger indebtedness when it became payable.

R. v. Martel, 27 Can. Cr. Cas. 216.

EVIDENCE—PROMISSORY GUARANTY.

A mere promise as to the future conduct of the promisor whereby he obtains money, is not a false pretence with Cr. Code, s. 404.

R. v. Gurofsky, 31 Can. Cr. Cas. 59.

OBTAINING MONEY WITH INTENT TO DEFRAUD — EVIDENCE — SUFFICIENCY TO SUSTAIN CONVICTION.

The defendant was charged with obtaining money by false pretences with intent to defraud. The case for the Crown was that M. gave an order to the defendant for a suit of clothes to be made from cloth a sample of which was given to him by the defendant; that M. paid for a suit of clothes delivered to him by the defendant; and that the cloth of which the suit was made was inferior to the sample. The defence was that the sample which M. said had been given to him by the defendant had not been given to him; that there was no such cloth in the shop; and that the clothes were made from a piece of cloth which M. had himself selected. The defendant was tried by a judge without a jury and convicted upon conflicting evidence.—Held, that there was evidence to warrant a conviction.

R. v. King, 46 O.L.R. 28.

(§ 1—10)—FRAUDULENTLY INDUCING EXECUTION OF VALUABLE SECURITY.

A cheque on a bank is a "valuable security" within the statutory definition of that term under Cr. Code, s. 2 (40), although not covering the entire fund against which it is drawn, as regards the offence under s. 406, of inducing the execution of a valuable security by fraud.

R. v. Prentice, 20 D.L.R. 791, 7 A.L.R. 479, 23 Can. Cr. Cas. 436, 29 W.L.R. 665, 7 W.W.R. 271.

INFIDENTIAL PRETENCE WITHOUT EXPRESS WORDS.

False pretences may be founded on the false idea conveyed fraudulently by the accused: it is not requisite that the false pretence should be made in express words.

R. v. Holderman, 19 D.L.R. 748, 23 Can. Cr. Cas. 369, 7 S.L.R. 279, 30 W.L.R. 82, 7 W.W.R. 729.

FALSE REPRESENTATIONS.

See Fraud and Deceit.

As ground for rescission, see Contracts; Vendor and Purchaser; Sale.

In obtaining insurance, see Insurance.

FARM CROSSINGS.

See Railways.

FARM IMPLEMENTS ACT.

See Sale.

See Contracts, III G—295.

FATAL ACCIDENTS ACT.

See Death; Negligence; Master and Servant; Lord Campbell's Act.

FEEES.

See Costs; Sheriff; Levy and Seizure. Attorney's fees, see Solicitors.

FEE SIMPLE.

See Deeds; Wills, III.

FELLOW-SERVANTS.

See Master and Servant.

FENCES.

See Railways; Boundaries.

ADJOINING OWNERS—CONSTRUCTION AND MAINTENANCE—JURISDICTION OF LAND INSPECTOR.

Under art. 505, C.C. (Que.), every proprietor may require his neighbour to construct, at common expense, a fence dividing their properties. The division of the fence, to which each of the proprietors has a right under this article, can only be made by agreement between proprietors interested, and, in default of agreement, by a land inspector. Such division cannot result from the construction and maintenance, for more than 30 years, of definite part of the fence, as in such a case it cannot take effect from a right of ownership, but simply from a right of servitude, which cannot be acquired without title. Where the land inspector has jurisdiction to divide a line fence, or make a new division, he must divide the whole fence and not a part only. One who complains that the line fence has not been legally divided, or that the original division has, for any reason, become unfair, cannot claim to maintain the status in quo for one part only and repudiate it for the other. Held, in the absence of evidence of any agreement or municipal ordinance, the change which the plaintiff has made in operating his land, a change which he had the absolute right to make, entitled him to apply to the land inspector to have the fence divided, but the latter acted irregularly in dividing only a portion of the fence, namely the four arpents of the low ground, and under those circumstances the court cannot give effect to such proceedings and to such a division.

Poirier v. Ladouceur, 24 Rev. de Jur. 117.

FERRIES.

See Carriers; Shipping.

FERRY FRANCHISE—MUNICIPAL FERRY.

North Vancouver Ferry & Power Co. v. Bunbury, 16 B.C.R. 170, 17 W.L.R. 450.

CONTRACTS—COMMUTATION TICKETS—REGULATIONS—"FAMILY."

Fort Erie v. Fort Erie & Buffalo Ferry Co., 9 O.W.N. 135.

FIDELITY ASSURANCE.

See Bonds; Insurance, VIII.

FIDUCIARY RELATIONS.

See Principal and Agent; Brokers.

Of trustees, see Trusts.

Between attorney and client, see Solicitors.

Of corporate directors, see Companies.

FIERI FACIAS.

See Execution.

FILING.

See Registry Laws; Chattel Mortgages; Bills of Sale; Mechanics' Liens; Land Titles; Pleading.

FINDER.

RIGHTS OF FINDER—ABSENCE OF CLAIM AS LOST PROPERTY.

A wallet intentionally placed by one of a bank's customers on a desk furnished for their use, and forgotten by him, is not lost within the meaning of the rule of law giving title to lost property to the finder, and was under the protection of the bank, and a clerk of the bank who picked it up and at once turned it over to a superior officer of the bank without stating that he would claim it if the owner were not found, is not, as against the bank, entitled to the money in the wallet upon its remaining unclaimed for nearly four years.

Heddle v. Bank of Hamilton, 5 D.L.R. 11, 17 B.C.R. 569, 21 W.L.R. 514, 2 W.W.R. 560. [Affirmed, 19 W.L.R. 897.]

FINDINGS.

See Trials; New Trial.

Review of findings, see Appeal.

FINE.

See Summary Convictions; Certiorari; Criminal Law.

FIRE DEPARTMENT.

ESTABLISHMENT OF, BY MUNICIPALITIES.

The power given to cities and towns (Que. statute, 1903) to establish and maintain a fire department, is a facultative power and does not compel them to protect the property of its ratepayers in case of fire or make it responsible for fire losses.

Quésnel v. Emard and Montreal; Cote v. Emard and Montreal, 8 D.L.R. 537.

Bodies politic, such as municipal corporations, are governed as to their powers, rights and obligations, by public law, which, in Canada, is the law of England. Therefore, a city corporation, not bound by its charter or by the act under which it is constituted to supply means of protection in case of fire is not liable in damages for a death by asphyxiation at such a disaster. Brousseau v. Quebec, 42 Que. S.C. 91.

FIRE INSURANCE.

See Insurance.

Annotation.

Insured chattels—change of location: 1 D.L.R. 745.

FIRES.

Liability of railway for, see Railways, II.

(§ I—1)—NEGLECT USE OF.

Where servants employed to build a cabin on uncleared lands set out fire for the purpose of clearing a part of the land for the erection of the cabin, and the fire spread and caused damage, the employer will be liable for the resultant damage due to the failure of the servants to take reasonable means to prevent it spreading, even though he had forbidden the servants setting out any fires.

Derby v. Ellison, 2 D.L.R. 279, 20 W.L.R. 794, 2 W.W.R. 99.

COMMON LAW AND STATUTORY DUTIES, ONUS.

A contractor who is engaged in building operations on land is under no duty to watch a fire which has been started by another contractor on the land for the purpose of clearing it, although such fire necessarily endangers his lumber, since the duty to watch the fire at his peril is put upon the person starting it, both by the common law and under the provisions of s. 2 of c. 91, R.S.N.S. 1900.

McLean v. Rhodes, Curry & Co., 10 D.L.R. 791, 46 N.S.R. 491.

FAILURE TO WATCH—CONTRIBUTORY NEGLIGENCE.

Where a contractor built a fire for the purpose of clearing land for building operations, he is guilty of negligence, both at common law and under the provision of s. 2 of c. 91, R.S.N.S. 1900, in failing to watch such fire for the purpose of preventing it from spreading, where as the result of such failure the fire damaged lumber belonging to another contractor on the same land. The doctrine of contributory negligence does not apply where there is a violation of the provisions of s. 2 of R.S. N.S. 1900, c. 91, placing a duty on one who starts a fire for the purpose of clearing land to exercise "every reasonable care and precaution in the making and starting of such fire, and in the managing of and caring for and controlling the same."

McLean v. Rhodes et al., 10 D.L.R. 791, 46 N.S.R. 491.

NEGLECTANCE—SERVANT CLEARING LANDS—FOREST FIRES ACT.

Apart from the Forest Fires Act, R.S.B.C. 1911, c. 91, a person is liable for negligence on the part of his servant acting in the course of the master's business, in taking no steps to prevent fires set out for clearing lands from spreading to adjoining lands.

Gallon v. Ellison; Knowles v. Ellison, 20 D.L.R. 23, 20 B.C.R. 504, 7 W.W.R. 929.

HIGHWAY—LIABILITY OF FOREMAN FOR ACTS OF SUBORDINATES.

The foreman of a gang of workmen engaged in building a government road, who authorizes a subordinate to kindle a fire on the road for the purpose of making tea for the gang, is liable, even though the starting of the fire was not an unlawful act, for injury to adjoining property through the negligent failure of the workmen to extinguish the fire after the tea was made.

Bigras v. Tasse, 38 D.L.R. 651, 40 O.L.R. 415.

SETTING OUT ON DEFENDANT'S LAND—ESCAPE TO PLAINTIFF'S LAND—DESTRUCTION OF PLAINTIFF'S PROPERTY—FIRE SET OUT FOR PROPER PURPOSE—LACK OF REASONABLE CARE TO PREVENT IT SPREADING—NEGLECTANCE—FINDINGS OF FACT OF TRIAL JUDGE—APPEAL—DAMAGES—QUANTUM.

Hassan v. Reynolds, 8 O.W.N. 136.

DESTRUCTION OF PROPERTY—NEGLECTANCE—EVIDENCE—DAMAGES—FINDINGS OF FACT OF TRIAL JUDGE—APPEAL.
Nixon v. Nickerson, 8 O.W.N. 15.

RENT OF CHATTELS—FIRE—LIABILITY—TENANT—FAULT—PRESUMPTION—C.C., ART. 1629.

The presumption of blame, created by art. 1629 C.C. (Que.), against the tenant in case of fire in the house which he has rented, is rebutted from the time that it is clearly proved that there was no fault on his part or on the part of his men. The tenant rebutted this presumption where he showed that the owner had strung electric wires for lighting the house without insulation, and that he had filled the wooden boxes enclosing the water pipes and the electric wires with sawdust and shavings.

Henry v. Ward, 28 Que. K.B. 159.

PLAINTIFF STARTING PRAIRIE FIRE—ORDINANCE COMPLIED WITH—NO NEGLIGENCE—SUBSEQUENT GALE—FIRE CATCHING ON DEFENDANT'S LAND—PLAINTIFF NOT LIABLE.

For the purpose of burning off for farming purposes plaintiff set a prairie fire on his land. All precautions were taken and the Prairie Fires Ordinance was complied with. The fire lasted about 21 minutes when, according to the evidence, it was "out." The weather was favourable at the time but about two hours afterwards a very violent gale occurred and a fire started on defendant's land about 30 or 35 feet from plaintiff's fire guard, no doubt from sparks from plaintiff's land, which fire spread and damaged defendant's land. The court found the plaintiff was not guilty of negligence.

Fallis v. Bolton, [1919] 1 W.W.R. 417.

(§ 1-3)—ACTION FOR DAMAGES FOR INJURY TO PLAINTIFF'S PROPERTY BY FIRE ALLEGED TO HAVE SPREAD FROM FIRE SET OUT BY DEFENDANT—EVIDENCE—ONUS—NEGLIGENCE—PROOF OF CAUSE OF FIRE—DEMANDAGE OF WITNESSES—DELAY IN BRINGING ACTION—FINDINGS OF TRIAL JUDGE.

Misher v. Tyers, 17 O.W.N. 173.

SETTING OUT—NEGLIGENCE—DESTRUCTION OF NEIGHBOURING PROPERTY BY SPREAD OF FIRE.

Imperial Oil Co. v. Bashford, 18 W.L.R. 188.

(§ 1-4)—BACK FIRE.

An action for damages to the plaintiff's property from a prairie fire must be dismissed where it appears that on the day the damage occurred, there were two fires burning, one of which was kindled by the defendant for the purpose of backfiring to save his property from the other fire which was coming in the direction of his farm and he kept his fire under control so far as his property was concerned and that the two fires merged on the farm of the defendant or very near it, and one or both of them ultimately terminated in the plaintiff's land, destroying his crop.

Sklarink v. Whitehouse, 4 D.L.R. 327, 20 W.L.R. 654.

(§ 1-6)—SPARKS FROM A THRESHING ENGINE—SETTING FIRE TO PROPERTY ON ADJOINING LAND—NEGLIGENCE.

Mikulasik v. Scouter, 7 D.L.R. 807, 21 W.L.R. 241, 2 W.W.R. 325.

FROM THRESHING ENGINE—FAILURE TO EXTINGUISH.

Where the defendant in removing his threshing engine from the plaintiff's premises, upon which he had been threshing grain under contract with the plaintiff, takes inefficient means to extinguish the ash pile from his engine, with the result that fire spreads therefrom, the omission constitutes negligence.

Butcher v. Stuckey, 16 D.L.R. 839, 26 W.L.R. 719, 5 W.W.R. 1171.

PRAIRIE FIRES ACT (SASK.)—NEGLIGENCE.

Failure by the person in charge of a threshing engine to extinguish the fires drawn from the engine, as required by the Prairie Fires Act, R.S.S. 1909, c. 129, constitutes negligence and renders such person liable for the damage done by the burning of a field of wheat to which the fire spread.

Betzger v. Turner, 16 D.L.R. 484, 7 S.L.R. 228, 27 W.L.R. 625.

NEGLIGENT OPERATION OF THRESHING ENGINE—OPEN SPARK ARRESTER—PLACING OUTFIT IN DIRECTION OF WIND—CLOSE PROXIMITY TO BARS—MASCURE PILLS.

Farb v. Nelson, 25 D.L.R. 729, 33 W.L.R. 308.

FROM THRESHING ENGINE.

An official of the government having the management of some branch of the government business is not responsible for any negligence or default on the part of other officials, not his servants or agents, in the same employment, but where he is himself guilty of a breach of duty imposed upon him by law he is personally responsible to any person who sustains injury thereby. The defendant, being the person having charge of the management and operation of the machinery in question, was charged with the responsibility of seeing that the statutory conditions respecting its operation were complied with, and not having done so, and such failure having been the cause of the damage, he was liable therefor.

Carter v. Nichol, 4 S.L.R. 382.

DAMAGE CAUSED BY SPARKS FROM THRESHING ENGINE—NONREPAIR OF SPARK-ARRESTER.

Carter v. Nichol, 19 W.L.R. 736.

THRESHING—ESCAPE OF SPARKS FROM ENGINE—NEGLIGENCE.

Spratt v. Dial, 16 W.L.R. 678, affirming 15 W.L.R. 185.

(§ 1-7)—BURNING STUBBLE.

Where, for the purpose of getting rid of stubble, a person built a fire on his land in a heavy wind, and without having first taken the precaution prescribed by law to prevent its spread, and after burning off the stubble, left the land with no one to look after any smouldering matter, he is guilty of gross carelessness subjecting him to liability for the loss entailed upon the adjoining land by the spread of the fire thereon.

Ryan v. Gabriel, 2 D.L.R. 18, 20 W.L.R. 649.

(§ 1-8)—GOVERNMENT RAILWAY LOCOMOTIVE—GOVERNMENT RAILWAYS ACT, 9 AND 10 EDW. VII. c. 24—"MODERN AND EFFICIENT APPLIANCES"—PRESUMPTION.

While, under the provisions of s. 61 of the Government Railways Act, as amended by 9 & 10 Edw. VII. c. 24, the facts may give rise to a presumption in favour of a person suffering damage by fire that such fire was caused by a locomotive although equipped with modern and efficient appliances, it does not amount to a conclusive presumption of law, so as to excuse the party seeking damages from proving that the fire was so caused.

Rioux v. The King, 14 Can. Ex. 485.

TRACTION ENGINES.

The defendants, after operating a threshing machine upon the land of L., took the ashes out of the engine, and placed them in a heap upon L's land. Fire broke out on L's land, and spread to the plaintiff's land adjoining, and the plaintiff sued for damages for injury to his property by the fire:

—Held, upon the evidence that the fire which caused the injury complained of was caused by hot ashes left by the defendants when the ashes were drawn from the engine on L's land. Held, also, that the defendants were not guilty of negligence. Held, nevertheless, that the defendants were liable both at common law and under the Prairie Fire Ordinance. One who brings fire into dangerous proximity to his neighbour's property does so at his peril. Held, also, that the plaintiff's action was properly brought against the operators of the engine, instead of the owner of the land upon which it was operated; the plaintiff has his election and can sue either.

Betcher v. Turner, 25 W.L.R. 136.

FIRE STARTED BY SPARKS FROM LOCOMOTIVE—ACTION FOR INJURY TO LAND OUT OF THE JURISDICTION.

Winnipeg Oil Co. v. C.N.R. Co., 21 Man. L.R. 274, 18 W.L.R. 424.

GOVERNMENT RAILWAY—FIRE OCCASIONED BY CINDERS FROM ENGINE.

Duclos v. The King, 13 Can. Ex. 452.

FIRE CAUSED BY SPARKS FROM RAILWAY LOCOMOTIVE—DOMINION RAILWAY ACT, S. 298—POLICES PAYABLE TO MORTGAGEE.

Bunting v. Western Ass'ce Co., 17 W.L.R. 322.

(§ 1-9)—Apart from statutory provisions, the defendant was guilty of negligence in setting the fire on a dry, windy day, when the surrounding grass was very dry and inflammable. The defendant was also liable in that he did not comply with the provisions of the Prairie Fire Ordinance by providing a guard 20 feet wide, and in not having the fire guarded throughout its continuance by three adult persons, and thereby must be deemed to have permitted the fire to escape.

Imperial Oil Co. v. Bashford, 4 S.L.R. 360.

INJURY TO PROPERTY—SPREAD FROM FIRE—NOT EFFECTUALLY EXTINGUISHED—PRAIRIE FIRES ORDINANCE.

Whitehead v. McClave, 19 W.L.R. 216.

FIREWORKS.

FIREWORKS DISPLAY—LIABILITY FOR INJURIES.

In order to establish liability in negligence against those lawfully conducting a fireworks display in a public park for injury received from an ignited fragment, a failure on their part to exercise due care must be shown.

Halpin v. Victoria, 23 D.L.R. 333, 21 B.C.R. 14, 7 W.W.R. 1059.

LIABILITY OF MUNICIPAL CORPORATIONS.

A municipal corporation is not liable for the consequences resulting from the explosion of fireworks set off on one of its squares on the occasion of a political demonstration with no participation therein on its part except the presence of policemen sent to the square to maintain order and even though the fireworks had been set off contrary to the provisions of a by-law of the corporation requiring the same to be authorized.

Hughes v. Montreal, 21 Que. K.B. 32.

FISHERIES.

I. PUBLIC FISHERIES GENERALLY.

A. In general.

B. Regulations and protection.

II. PRIVATE RIGHTS.

See Waters for water rights in general.

Sea coast and inland fisheries, powers of province as to, see Constitutional Law, I 6-140.

Illegal fishing, treaty, 3 mile limit, coast, island, see International Law, 1-3.

Fisherman's wages, desertion, see Master and Servant, I C-13.

Annotations.

Public right of fishing in tidal waters; the 3 mile limit: 35 D.L.R. 28.

"Profits à Prendre": 40 D.L.R. 144.

1. Public fisheries generally.

A. IN GENERAL.

(§ I A-1)—The possessor of fishery rights who brings a possessory action against a person interfering therewith is not obliged to prove that the right had, by valid legislation, been withdrawn from the public to become part of the private domain. The provision of s. 35 R.S.C. 1860, c. 62, that those in possession of fisheries on the 15th of August, 1858, should be deemed owners thereof, has remained in force by virtue of s. 3 of 29 Viet. c. 11 (Que.), which repealed the remainder of said c. 62.

Robertson v. Grant, 3 D.L.R. 201, 21 Que. K.B. 279.

(§ I A-2)—EXCLUSIVE RIGHT—SPECIFIC GRANT.

A specific grant by the Crown, especially expressed and clearly formulated, is necessary to create an exclusive right of fishing.

Bonillon v. The King, 31 D.L.R. 1, 16 Can. Ex. 443.

FEDERAL AND PROVINCIAL POWERS — SEA FISHERIES—TIDAL WATERS.

It is not competent to the Legislature of British Columbia to authorize the government of the province to grant by way of lease, license or otherwise, the exclusive right of taking fish (ferre natura) either in tidal waters or in nontidal navigable waters within the "railway belt" of British Columbia, nor to grant, as to the open sea within a marine league of the coast of that province, by way of lease, license or otherwise, the exclusive right of taking fish which as ferre natura are the property of nobody until caught; and the same restriction applies as to tidal waters in the gulfs, bays, channels, arms of the sea and estuaries of the rivers within the province or lying between the province and the United States.

Att'y-Gen'l, for B.C. v. Att'y-Gen'l of Canada; Re B.C. Fisheries (No. 2), 15 D.L.R. 308, 26 W.L.R. 347, 13 E.L.R. 536, 5 W.W.R. 878, affirming 11 D.L.R. 255.

(§ I A—3)—ILLEGAL FISHING—SEIZURE OF BOAT—FRESH PURSUIT BEYOND THREE-MILE LIMIT.

In the enforcement of the fisheries protection laws of Canada, a foreign vessel which is being used in infraction of that law and which sets out to sea to escape capture, may be freshly pursued beyond the three-mile territorial limit, and may lawfully be captured in the open sea by a cruiser of the Canadian fishery protection service.

The King v. "Valiant", 16 D.L.R. 824, 15 Can. Ex. 392, 19 B.C.R. 521, 27 W.L.R. 781, 6 W.W.R. 713.

THREE-MILE LIMIT—FOREIGN SHIP—EVIDENCE REQUIRED TO ESTABLISH JURISDICTION.

To justify the condemnation of a foreign ship seized for alleged infraction of the Customs and Fisheries Protection Act (Can.), R.S.C. 1906, c. 47, it must be established with accuracy and complete certainty that the boat was within the three-mile limit of the coast, at the time of the alleged offence, as such finding is essential to jurisdiction over the offence.

Carlson v. The King, 17 D.J.R. 615, 49 Can. S.C.R. 189.

RIVER NAVIGABLE AND FLOATABLE — EXCLUSIVE RIGHT OF CROWN TO FISHING — LETTERS PATENT IN RESPECT OF LANDS—CONSTRUCTION.

Wyatt v. Att'y-Gen'l of Quebec, [1911] A.C. 489.

B. REGULATIONS AND PROTECTION.

(§ I B—5)—VALIDITY OF REGULATIONS—CONFISCATION AND FORFEITURES.

The Fisheries Act (Can. 1914, c. 8), provides that the fish caught in violation of the Act or any regulation thereunder shall be confiscated; a regulation providing that the fish may go to certain persons is ultra vires; s. 1037 of the Cr. Code does not apply.

Christian v. Christian, 29 D.L.R. 102, 26 Can. Cr. Cas. 260, 50 N.S.R. 231.

MUNICIPAL REGULATION—LICENSE—MANDAMUS.

The right of a riparian owner or occupant under N.S. 1912, c. 18, as amended in 1916, to receive a license from the municipal authorities for an exclusive fishing right, upon tendering the statutory license fee, is absolute, and cannot be destroyed by municipal regulation; the issue of the license may be compelled by mandamus.

Archibald v. The King, 39 D.L.R. 166, 56 Can. S.C.R. 48, affirming 35 D.L.R. 569, 51 N.S.R. 549.

(§ I B—9)—TACKLE AND APPLIANCES.

Dories used with a fishing vessel are a part of the fishing tackle or appliances of the vessel and proof that the fish were being transferred from her dories to a vessel not permitted to fish in Canadian waters at the point within Canadian jurisdiction, at which the vessel was overhauled, is evidence of illegal fishing within the Customs and Fisheries Protection Act (Can.).

The King v. Chlopek, 1 D.L.R. 96, 17 B.C.R. 50, 19 Can. Cr. Cas. 277, 19 W.L.R. 837.

II. Private rights.

(§ II—10)—LICENSE TO SET NETS—FISHERIES ACT—OBSTRUCTING CHANNEL—TEST—PRIVATE RIGHTS—DESTROYING FISHING NETS—WILFUL NEGLIGENCE IN NAVIGATING.

Where a navigable river has two channels, nets and fishing apparatus may, under the Fisheries Act, R.S.C. 1906, c. 45, s. 47, be set across the one of them which is not the main channel, if they do not obstruct the latter, and if one-third of the course of the river (not being a tidal stream) is always left open and no fishing apparatus or material is used or placed in that one-third of the stream. Due care and skill must be used in navigating so as not wilfully to destroy fishing nets, whether lawfully set or not, of the position of which those in charge of the boat had notice.

Smith v. Northern Construction Co., 19 D.L.R. 380, 30 O.L.R. 494.

INTERFERENCE WITH RIGHTS—ACTIONABILITY.

A licensee of a fishing berth may maintain an action at common law against a person who unlawfully impedes or intercepts the passage of fish to or towards his berth.

Christian v. Christian, 29 D.L.R. 102, 26 Can. Cr. Cas. 260, 50 N.S.R. 231.

QUEBEC—FISHING RIGHTS IN NON-NAVIGABLE STREAM—TERMINATION—PROFITS À PRENDRE.

There is nothing similar in the law of the Province of Quebec to the profit à prendre of the common law of England. The title of a riparian owner extends to the middle of a non-navigable and nonfloatable stream, and an indefinite grant by such owner of the right to catch fish in such stream is one of enjoyment only, and although assignable, is essentially temporary in its nature and cannot endure beyond the lifetime of the grantee.

Duchaine v. Mattamajaw Salmon Club, 47 D.L.R. 623, 58 Can. S.C.R. 222, reversing 27 Que. K.B. 196.

(§ II—12)—FISHING STATIONS OR STANDS (STATUTORY RIGHTS).

1. The Act, reproduced in c. 62, Con. Stat. of Canada, was creative of title in favour of persons in possession of fisheries prior to the 16th August, 1858. 2. Where it is proved that, in consequence of the compensation of the coast line of a bay in which the plaintiff's post and fishery is situated and of the action of the rising and falling tidal waters therein, the settling up by the defendants of a new fishery in the same bay at a distance of 300 feet from the plaintiff's fishery has the result that the fish are intercepted and caught in the new fishery whereby the catch in the plaintiff's fishery is greatly diminished, the defendants will be adjudged to take down the new fishery and not to set it up nearer than 250 yards from the old fishery.

Robertson v. Grant, 3 D.L.R. 201, 21 Que. K.B. 279, 18 Rev. du Jur. 135.

LOBSTER CANNING WITHOUT LICENSE.

The King v. Berrigan, 17 Can. Cr. Cas. 329.

"PERSON NOT DOMICILED IN THE PROVINCE"

—RIGHT OF RIPARIAN OWNER TO FISH.
Belisle v. Mowat, 20 Que. K.B. 66.

FIXTURES.

- I. GENERAL RULES.
- II. WHAT ARE, GENERALLY.
- III. BETWEEN VENDOR AND PURCHASER.
- IV. BETWEEN LANDLORD AND TENANT.
- V. EFFECT OF MORTGAGE.

Conversion of chattel into fixture by purchaser under conditional sale, see Sale, I C—15.

I. General rule.

(§ I—1)—ESSENTIALS—OWNERSHIP.

In order to convert a movable object into an immovable, and attach it to the realty, the person converting must be the owner of both the movable and the realty. [Waterons Engine Works Co. v. Banque d' Hochelaga, 5 Que. K.B. 125, affirmed by 27 Can. S.C.R. 496, followed.]

Bernier v. Durand, 32 D.L.R. 768, 25 Que. K.B. 461, reversing 49 Que. S.C. 217.

The conversion of a movable, by incorporation, into an immovable, can only take place when both the movable and the immovable into which it is incorporated are the property of the same owner, and this rule applies, not only between the owner of the movable and that of the immovable, but also between the latter and third parties, e.g., hypothecary creditors.

Genois v. Larouche, 41 Que. S.C. 110.

PERMANENCY—INTENTION.

Articles affixed to the land even slightly are to be considered as part of the land unless the circumstances are such as to show that they were intended to continue chattels. [Stack v. Eaton, 4 O.L.R. 335, followed.] If the object of setting up the articles is to enhance the value of the premises or improve its usefulness for the purposes for which it is used and, if they are affixed to the freehold even in a slight way, but such as is appropriate to the use of the articles and allowing an intention not of occasional but of permanent affixing them both as to the degree of annexation and as to the object of it, it may very well be concluded that the articles are become part of the realty at least in questions as between mortgagor and mortgagee.

D'Auigney v. Brunswick-Balke Collender Co., [1917] 1 W.W.R. 1331.

II. What are, generally.

(§ II—6)—WHAT ARE—WEIGH SCALES ON WHARF.

Where weigh scales for weighing coal are fastened to a coal wharf by bolts and have a scale-house built over a portion of the scale equipment so that a part of the building would have to be taken apart in order to remove the scales, the latter are presumably fixtures to the realty. [Haggart v. Brampton, 28 Can. S.C.R. 174; Ex parte Astbury, 4 Ch. App. 630, distinguished.]

Handrahan v. Bantain, 15 D.L.R. 117, 13 E.L.R. 377.

(§ II—7)—BUILDINGS.

Buildings erected by a squatter on Crown lands become the property of the Crown and part of the realty and cannot, therefore, be seized and sold under an execution against the goods of the squatter.

Dixon v. Mackay, 21 Man. L.R. 762.

(§ II—8)—MACHINERY.

Coal towers forming part of a coal plant and dependent on the power house for power, are immovable objects by destination, although they may be moved over a short distance on tracks built for the purpose, seeing they were placed on the property for a permanency and incorporated therewith: C.C. Que. 379.

Nova Scotia Coal & Steel Co. v. Montreal, 3 D.L.R. 750.

MACHINERY AND PLANT—ESTATE MORTGAGE.

"In passing upon the object of the annexation, the purpose to which the premises are applied may be regarded; and if the object of setting up the articles is to enhance the value of the premises or improve its usefulness for the purposes for which it is used, and if they are affixed to the freehold even in a slight way, but such as is appropriate to the use of the articles, and showing an intention not of occasional but of permanent affixing, then, both as to the degree of annexation and as to the object of it, it may very well be concluded that the articles are become part of the realty, at least in questions as between mortgagee and mortgagee." Said principle applied in adjudging certain specified articles to be, or not to be, fixtures such as to pass under a mortgage of the real estate on which they were placed, as between an assignee for the benefit of creditors of the mortgagors.

Royal Bank v. Coughlan, [1919] 2 W.W.R. 382.

(§ II—12)—SAFETY DEPOSIT BOXES—INTENTION.

If an intention to make chattels part of the freehold is sufficiently established from all the circumstances of the particular case, they may be held to be part of the freehold, notwithstanding that they are not affixed otherwise than by their own weight to the freehold.

Dominion Trust Co. v. Mutual Life Ass'n Co.; B.C. Securities v. Mutual Life Ass'n Co., 43 D.L.R. 184, 26 B.C.R. 237, [1918] 3 W.W.R. 415, affirming [1917] 3 W.W.R. 941.

MAPLE SUGAR CUTTIN—IMMOVABLES.

Peloquin v. Bilodeau, 39 Que. S.C. 388.

III. Between vendor and purchaser.

(§ III—15)—THEATRE CHAIRS — CONDITIONAL SALE—LIENS.

Theatre chairs sold under a lien agreement, whereby the vendor retains the ownership and possession until paid for, affixed permanently to the floor of the theatre, with the vendor's knowledge and consent, become part of the realty. A purchaser of realty is not bound to search for liens against goods which, under the law, have become part of the realty.

Berlin Interior Hardware Co. v. Colonial Investment & Loan Co., 38 D.L.R. 643, 11 S.L.R. 46, [1918] 1 W.W.R. 378.

SALE OF LAND — ARTICLES NOT AFFIXED TO FREEHOLD—EVIDENCE—INTENTION.

Lacey v. Querston Quarry Co., 11 O.W.N. 18, 120.

BETWEEN VENDOR AND PURCHASER — MACHINERY.

Machines placed on an immovable in a way to be easily removed without damage to either the immovable or the machines are not incorporated with the immovable and do not become immovables by destination. One who hands over a plant for making beer to a brewer, who places it in his brewery and operates it, can seize it in re-ventidation if the brewer does not comply with the conditions of his contract, the owner of the plant having reserved to himself the property in it.

Witterman v. Mongeau, 50 Que. S.C. 428.

One who leases a brewery, in which a machine has become immovable by destination and by being installed as a fixture, can, so long as the lease runs, resist seizure of the machine by the unpaid vendor. The seizure, however, can be kept in force to take effect after the expiration of the lease. Bishop, etc., Co. v. Independent Brewery Co., 49 Que. S.C. 499.

IV. Between landlord and tenant.

(§ IV—20)—BUILDING — LANDLORD AND TENANT.

A house not attached to the land upon which it rests is a chattel, not part of the realty. A provision between the owner of land and the builder of a house thereon, that the latter may remove the house, is not a mere license, but an essential part of a lease of the land.

Devine v. Callery, 38 D.L.R. 542, 40 O.L.R. 505.

BUILDING — ERECTION UPON LAND OF STRANGER — RIGHT OF BUILDER TO REMOVE WITHIN REASONABLE TIME — FAILURE TO REMOVE — BUILDING BECOMING PROPERTY OF OWNER OF LAND — ASSERTION OF TITLE BY PLAINTIFF — ACTION FOR TRESPASS — REMOVAL OF BUILDING.

McKenzie v. Blue, 17 O.W.N. 183.

(§ IV—22)—MACHINERY — RIGHTS OF LANDLORD AND MORTGAGEE.

An emulser in a boiler room, a cream separator, an ice chopper, fastened to the building by bolts imbedded in the cement floor, also a phase motor fastened by coach-screws to a frame bracket, which is nailed to the wall, and the supports of the brackets imbedded in the cement floor, are fixtures permanently annexed to the freehold and forming part thereof, and are not distrainable for rent as against the right of a mortgagee of the realty; but that does not apply to a vat used in connection with the same business which is not fastened to anything. [Hobson v. Gorringer, 12 Rul. Cas. 217; Stack v. Eaton, 4 O.L.R. 335, 338; Seeley v. Caldwell, 18 O.L.R. 472, applied.]

Assiniboia Land Co. v. Acres, 25 D.L.R. 439, 8 S.L.R. 426, 32 W.L.R. 589, 9 W.W.R. 268.

(§ IV—23)—BUILDINGS — LANDLORD AND TENANT.

Thistlethwaite v. Sharp, 7 D.L.R. 801, 29 W.L.R. 474, 1 W.W.R. 946.

V. Effect of mortgage.

(§ V—27)—EFFECT OF MORTGAGE — MACHINERY — CONDITIONAL SALE.

As the Real Property Act (Alta.) provides that a mortgage or encumbrance under the Act shall not operate so as to create the mortgagee a "grantee" of the land, a stipulation in the mortgage that machinery and improvements thereafter put upon the land shall become fixtures and form part of the security will not be effective as against the conditional vendor of machinery reserving title to himself under a conditional sale agreement made after the mortgage but before its registration and without notice of same. [Hobson v. Gorrings, 66 L.J. Ch. 114, distinguished.]

Purmal Brick Co. v. General Electric Co., 20 D.L.R. 124, 7 W.W.R. 143.

BOILER—RIGHT OF VENDOR.

A boiler placed in a building as one of its constituent parts instead of being placed there as an accessory, is an immovable by destination and can be seized by a third party with the building itself. If the vendors of a boiler and of other machinery incorporated with the immovables have filed oppositions to their seizure which have been allowed by the court without contestation, an hypothecary creditor cannot file an opposition on the principle that these movables have become immovables by destination without making the vendors parties in the cause.

Paradis v. Mongeau, 52 Que. S.C. 377.

REMOVAL OF HOUSE FROM MORTGAGED PREMISES — ACTION TO COMPEL RETURN — FIXTURE — ATTACHMENT TO FREEHOLD.

J. I. Case Threshing Machine Co. v. Beard, 17 W.L.R. 91.

FOOD.

Annotation.

Liability of manufacturer or packer of food for injuries to the ultimate consumer who purchased through a middle man: 50 D.L.R. 409.

MANUFACTURE OF CANDY — NEGLIGENCE — PURCHASE FROM MIDDLEMAN — INJURIES FROM EATING — DAMAGES — PRIVACY OF CONTRACT.

A manufacturer of chocolate bars for use as a food and supplied to the public through retail dealers, owes a duty to the public not to put on sale a chocolate bar filled with powdered glass or other injurious substance and is liable in damages to a purchaser who is made ill through eating the bar although there is no privity of contract between the manufacturer and the purchaser.

Buckley v. Mott, 50 D.L.R. 408.

FORCIBLE ENTRY AND DETAINER.

Assault in attempting to enter on one's own property in possession of a wrongdoer, see Assault and Battery.

(§ 1—1)—WHAT CONSTITUTES.

An owner is not justified in entering upon premises to which he has undisputed title, but which are, at the time of entry, in possession of a lessee under a claim of right, and where such owner removes the lessee's property and locks out the lessee's wife, all without giving the requisite legal notice of 20 days, he is liable in damages to the lessee. [Lewis v. McInnes, 17 W.L.R. 309, distinguished.]

Nilan v. McAndless, 8 D.L.R. 169, 22 W.L.R. 685.

USING POLICE FORCE WITHOUT DUE PROCESS.

A person alleging ownership by purchase of chattels still in the possession and on the premises of the original owner is not justified, without due process of law, in using police force for the purpose of preventing the original owner from resisting the forcible taking of the chattels by the alleged purchaser.

Sanders v. Hedman, 18 D.L.R. 481, 7 W.W.R. 133, 29 W.L.R. 460.

THREATS — VIOLENCE — EVIDENCE OF TITLE.

To constitute the crime of forcible entry, actual violence is not necessary; if the threats were such as to create a terror which has induced the occupant to leave the premises, the offence is complete; evidence of title in the defendant is not admissible as an answer to the criminal charge.

R. v. Moisan, 32 D.L.R. 449, 27 Can. Cr. Cas. 34.

LANDLORD'S RE-ENTRY.

To constitute the offence of forcible entry upon land under Cr. Code, ss. 102, 103, the entry must have been made under such circumstances of actual violence or terror. A breach of the peace or apprehension thereof under Cr. Code, s. 102, is not to be anticipated as a natural sequence to a re-entry by breaking in made by landlords upon office premises overheld by their tenant effected at night when neither the tenant nor any of his employees was present, so as to constitute the offence of forcible entry.

The King v. Campey, 20 Can. Cr. Cas. 492.

(§ 1—2)—WHO MAY MAINTAIN ACTION FOR.

A person who is in rightful possession of land has a right to recover substantial damages from one who forcibly enters and ejects him from the land, but he cannot get judgment to restore the possession to him without setting up his title to possession in the statement of claim and proving it at the trial.

Gardiner v. Ware, 7 D.L.R. 480, 5 S.L.R. 268, 3 W.W.R. 24.

FORECLOSURE.

See Mortgage; Vendor and Purchaser. As affected by moratorium, see Moratorium.

Annotations.

Effect of moratorium on foreclosure actions: 22 D.L.R. 865.

Remedies of alien enemies affected by war: 23 D.L.R. 375.

Reopening mortgage foreclosure: 17 D.L.R. 89.

AGREEMENT OF SALE — JUDGMENT FORECLOSING — TIME FOR REDEMPTION.

Subject to the right to apply for an extension on proper material, the ordinary judgment foreclosing the purchaser's rights under an agreement of sale of lands for default in meeting a deferred instalment of purchase-money should not allow a longer time than two months to redeem after judgment.

Davis v. Alvensleben, 20 D.L.R. 112, 20 B.C.R. 74, 29 W.L.R. 296, 6 W.W.R. 1184.

FOREIGN COMMISSION.

See Depositions; Discovery.
Taking evidence ex parte: 13 D.L.R. 338.

FOREIGN JUDGMENT.

See Judgment.

Annotation.

Action upon, 9 D.L.R. 788, 14 D.L.R. 43.

FORFEITURE.

See Contracts, V; Taxes, III E—140; Sale, III A—50.

Of lease, see Landlord and Tenant, III D—95.

Relief against, see Vendor and Purchaser, I B—5; Mines and Minerals, I B—10.

Annotations.

Contract stating time to be of essence—Equitable relief: 2 D.L.R. 164.

Remission of, as to leases: 10 D.L.R. 603.

REFUSAL OF LOWEST BIDDER TO ENTER INTO CONTRACT — RECOVERY OF DEPOSIT ACCOMPANYING TENDER — ABSENCE OF DAMAGE.

Where, by reason of the subsequent abandonment of the building scheme by the property owner, no damage was caused by the refusal of the lowest bidder to enter into the construction contract in conformity with the terms of the advertisement for tenders, he may recover the whole of the deposit accompanying his tender, notwithstanding a stipulation for its forfeiture on his failure to enter into a contract in the event of his tender being the lowest.

Brandon Construction Co. v. Saskatoon School Board (No. 2), 13 D.L.R. 379, 6 S.L.R. 273, 25 W.L.R. 6, 4 W.W.R. 1243, reversing on other grounds, 5 D.L.R. 754.

RELIEF AGAINST — CONTRACT STIPULATION — ADMISSION OF LIABILITY.

Relief may be granted in respect of a stipulation for a penalty in not paying within a fixed time although there was a subsequent admission by the promisor of indebtedness in respect of the penalty; the liability for the latter may be repudiated up to, but not after, actual payment thereof.

Colgrove v. Gundy, 17 D.L.R. 45, 28 W.L.R. 731.

REMISSION OF — ABSENCE OF LACHES — REALTY SALE — SUBPURCHASER.

Relief may be granted the plaintiff as assignee of the original purchaser's interest against the cancellation of the agreement of sale if the plaintiff, as subpurchaser, used reasonable diligence in getting his title in such a condition as would entitle him to demand a transfer from the vendor defendant, and had, as soon as he found that his assignor was in default, offered to make the payments due the defendant.

Howlett v. Broder, 20 D.L.R. 576, 7 A.L.R. 149, 29 W.L.R. 718, 7 W.W.R. 397.

CONTINGENT DAMAGE — "VERY GREAT OR VERY SMALL."

Where there is a stipulation that if on a certain day an agreement remains either in whole or in part unperformed (in which case the damage may be either very large or very trifling) there is to be a certain forfeiture incurred, that stipulation is to be treated as in the nature of a penalty.

Vansiekler v. McKnight Construction Co., 19 D.L.R. 505, 31 O.L.R. 531.

OF PAYMENTS UNDER LAND CONTRACT ON DEFAULT—PENALTY—RELIEF AGAINST.

A provision in a contract for the sale of land, that in case the purchaser should make default in any of the payments the vendor shall be at liberty to cancel the agreement and to retain any payments made on account of it by way of liquidated damages, and to retain all improvements made on the premises, is in the nature of a penalty, against which the court will grant relief on proper terms.

Steedman v. Drinkle, 25 D.L.R. 420, [1916] 1 A.C. 275, 9 W.W.R. 1146, reversing 14 D.L.R. 835, 7 S.L.R. 29.

CONTRACT — SALE OF GOODS — FAILURE OF BUYER TO CARRY OUT CONTRACT — MONEY PAID ON ACCOUNT — "DEPOSIT" — INTENTION OF PARTIES — RETURN OF MONEY, LESS DAMAGES SUSTAINED BY SELLER.

Money paid by a purchaser who ultimately fails to carry out his contract belongs to the seller only if the purchaser has agreed that it shall; and, even in such a case, the court may relieve against a forfeiture. The measure of damages for breach of a contract is the loss directly and naturally resulting, in the ordinary course of events, from the breach; the court has no power to add a penalty. [Howe v. Smith (1884), 27 Ch.D. 89, and Walsh v. Willaughan, 42 O.L.R. 455, distinguished. Steedman v. Drinkle, 25 D.L.R. 420, [1916] 1 A.C. 275, and Brickles v. Snell, [1916] 2 A.C. 509, applied.]

Brown v. Walsh, 45 O.L.R. 646.

CONSENT JUDGMENT — PROVISION FOR PAYMENT OF MONEY ON DEFINITE DATE — DEFAULT — HONEST MISTAKE AS TO DATE—POWER OF COURT TO RELIEVE.
Lovejoy v. Mercer, 23 O.L.R. 29, 18 O.W.R. 176.

FORGERY.

Annotations.

Offence of forgery under the Criminal Code: 32 D.L.R. 512.

Law relating to questioned documents and proof of handwriting: 44 D.L.R. 170; 13 D.L.R. 565.

PROCURING WOMAN TO JOIN IN DEED — FRAUD ON DOWER—PRINCIPALS.

A deed of conveyance executed by a married man, who procured a woman with whom he cohabited as his common law wife, to join therein as his wife, in fraud of the dower rights of his lawful wife, is a "false document" and "forgery" within the meaning of ss. 335 (j) and 466 Cr. Code; under s. 69 both are parties to the offence, and extraditable under s. 18 of the Extradition Act (R.S.C. 1906 c. 155).

United States v. Ford & Frary, 29 D.L.R. 80, 26 Can. Cr. Cas. 439, 34 W.L.R. 912, 10 W.V.R. 1042.

ASSUMED NAME—PETITION.

To petition the provincial legislature, under assumed names, for an act of incorporation is not a criminal offence.

Marsil v. Lanctot, 28 D.L.R. 380, 25 Can. Cr. Cas. 223, 29 Rev. Leg. 237.

CORROBORATION — DUPLICATING TICKETS — SIGNATURE.

A conviction for forgery will be quashed if there is no corroborative evidence under Cr. Code, s. 1002; quere, whether the false duplication of tickets or due bills with the exception of the signature appearing on the valid tickets is in itself a forgery.

R. v. Magnolo, 32 D.L.R. 510, 26 Can. Cr. Cas. 419, 22 B.C.R. 359.

UTTERING OR ATTEMPTING TO UTTER FORGED PAPER.

A conviction for uttering or attempting to utter a forged document cannot properly be made unless it be shown that the document in question was really forged; it is not enough to shew that the accused believed it to be forged and yet attempted to pass it.

R. v. Girvin, 34 D.L.R. 344, 27 Can. Cr. Cas. 265, 10 A.L.R. 324, [1917] 1 W.V.R. 507.

INDICTMENT—DESCRIBING THE OFFENCE.

A conviction on an indictment for forging a cheque on a bank is not bad by reason of the indictment charging that the forged cheque was one "made" by the person whose name was signed without authority, instead of describing the cheque as "purporting to be made" by him. The indictment sufficiently charged the crime of forgery to conform with Cr. Code, ss. 852, 853 as to stating the substance of the offence, and it was open to the prosecution to shew that the forgery consisted of making a false document (s. 335 (j)) and not by altering a genuine document (s. 466 (2)). [R. v. Stevens, 5 E.A. 244, 102 E.R. 1063, distinguished.]

R. v. Hillsley, 41 D.L.R. 130, 29 Can. Cr. Cas. 107.

ALTERATION OF FIGURES UPON A CHEQUE.

The amount in figures which appears upon the margin of a cheque does not constitute an essential part of such instrument, and consequently its alteration without changing the writing in the body of the cheque does not constitute the crime of forgery.

R. v. Tremblay, 31 Can. Cr. Cas. 262.

ACCESSORY TO OFFENCE — PREJUDICE AND MENS REA—CR. CODE SS. 69, 70, 466.

R. v. Pariseau, 28 Can. Cr. Cas. 112.

THE LIQUOR ACT — PRESENTING SPURIOUS
PRESCRIPTION TO DRUGGIST — UTTERING FORGED DOCUMENT.

Since the coming into force of the Liquor Act, the presentation of a spurious prescription by one knowing that the signature thereto is not genuine, to a druggist for the purpose of his procuring liquor from such druggist, is guilty of uttering a forged document.

R. v. X, [1919] 2 W.V.R. 998.

FORMER JEOPARDY.

See Criminal Law.

FORMER SUIT PENDING.

As ground for abatement, see Abatement and Revivor; Dismissal and Discontinuance.

FORTUNE-TELLING.

Annotation.

Pretended palmistry: 28 D.L.R. 278.

PRETENDED PALMISTRY.

An intent to deceive is essential to the offence of fortune-telling under Cr. Code, s. 443, but it is not necessary that the attempted deception should have been successful; a conviction may be supported, although the accused had taken from the persons whose fortunes were told a writing to the effect that they understood that what was being done was merely an examination of the lines of their hands and giving information in respect thereof in accordance with books on the subject of palmistry, if it be found that the taking of such writing was a mere sham and intended to evade the law. [R. v. Marcott, 4 Can. Cr. Cas. 437, 2 O.L.R. 105, followed.]

R. v. Mossell; R. v. O'Brien; R. v. Keller, 28 D.L.R. 275, 26 Can. Cr. Cas. 1, 35 O.L.R. 336.

FRANCHISES.

See Street Railways; Municipal Corporations, II.

FRAUD AND DECEIT.

- I. IN GENERAL.
- II. CONCEALMENT; FAILURE TO DISCLOSE FACTS.
- III. MATTERS OF OPINION OR OF THE FUTURE.
- IV. INTENT, KNOWLEDGE, BELIEF, AND BELIANCE OF PARTIES.
- V. TO OBTAIN CREDIT.
- VI. IN RESPECT TO NEGOTIABLE PAPER.
- VII. MISINFORMATION BY THIRD PERSON.
- VIII. REMEDIES.

As to subscription for shares, see Companies.

In application for insurance, see Insurance.

Of agent, see Principal and Agent; Brokers.

As ground for rescission, see Contracts; Sale; Vendor and Purchaser.

See also Fraudulent Conveyances; Creditor's Action.

Annotations.

Rescission of contract for fraud or misrepresentation: 21 D.L.R. 329.

Share subscription obtained by fraud or misrepresentation: 21 D.L.R. 103.

Rescission of contract for fraud and damages for deceit: 32 D.L.R. 216.

I. In general.

(§ 1—1)—FAILURE OF SERVANT TO ENTER TRANSACTION ON BOOKS OF EMPLOYER WITH INTENT TO DEFEAUD.

For a servant to omit to enter on the books of his employer an account of an agreement made by the former without authority, to set off his personal indebtedness to a third person against the latter's indebtedness to the employer, is not a violation of s. 415 (b) Cr. Code, relating to making or failing to make entries in the books of an employer with intent to defraud; since the servant could not bind his employer by such an agreement in the absence of express authorization to do so.

R. v. Wilson, 15 D.L.R. 168, 6 S.L.R. 348, 26 W.L.R. 148, 5 W.W.R. 620.

COMPANY PROSPECTUS — FALSE STATEMENT — OWNERSHIP OF LAND — HOLDING OPTION — SUBSEQUENT CONVEYANCE TO COMPANY.

The fact that, at the time a company stated in its prospectus that it had taken up certain lands, it merely held an option for their purchase, does not render the statement false so as to permit one who subscribed for shares in reliance thereon to recover the amount paid by him, where the company acquired title to the lands before the subscriber repudiated his subscription. One who is induced to subscribe for company shares by false statements in the prospectus cannot recover the amount paid thereon where, with full knowledge of their falsity and without repudiating his original subscription, he subscribed for additional shares, since his conduct showed that he did not consider that he had been misled to his prejudice by such statements.

Johnson v. Johnson, 14 D.L.R. 756, 18 B.C.R. 563, 26 W.L.R. 3, 5 W.W.R. 525.

FALSE SIGNATURE.

Where a purchaser refused to accept an offer for the sale of land without the signature of the wife of the seller, and the latter represented that a simulated signature in a feminine hand made by him, was that of his wife, it is a fraud that will vitiate the contract of sale.

Beckman v. Wallace, 13 D.L.R. 540, 29 O.L.R. 96.

CONTRACT INDUCED BY FRAUD — ELECTION TO AFFIRM — MISREPRESENTATION BY VENDOR'S AGENT—EFFECT.

In order to shew an affirmation of a contract obtained by false representation it must appear that the person deceived elected, after full knowledge of the falsity of the representations, to carry out the contract. One cannot be held liable on a contract for the sale of land which he was induced to enter into by the misrepresentations of the agent of the vendor that the latter intended erecting a pavilion and bath house on lots reserved by him, and that other lots had been sold to one who intended building a large hotel on them.

Bowles v. Chatfield, 12 D.L.R. 773, 25 W.L.R. 32.

MATERIAL AND FALSE REPRESENTATION — DELAY IN DISCOVERING THE FALSITY.

Where a party to a contract induces the other party to enter in by means of a material and false representation, the effect of such false representation cannot be got rid of on the ground that the person to whom it was made might have discovered the truth if he had used diligence, unless there is such delay as constitutes a defence under statutory limitations. [Aaron's Reefs v. Twiss, [1896] A.C. 273, applied.]

Sager v. Manitoba Windmill Co., 16 D.L.R. 577, 7 S.L.R. 51, 27 W.L.R. 656, 6 W.W.R. 265, affirming 13 D.L.R. 203.

MISREPRESENTATION — SALE OF LAND — ACTION FOR DECEIT — EVIDENCE — FINDINGS OF FACT OF TRIAL JUDGE — DAMAGES.

Heimbach v. Granel, 17 D.L.R. 835, 6 O.W.N. 334.

WHAT CONSTITUTES.

Fraud is proved when it is shewn that a false representation has been made knowingly or without belief in its truth or recklessly careless whether it be true or false. [Derry v. Peek, 14 App. Cas. 337, applied.] Bergh v. Frost, 23 D.L.R. 406.

MISREPRESENTATION—ACTIONABILITY.

Misrepresentation, even if it amounts to what is called legal fraud, is not sufficient to found an action for deceit; actual fraud must be proven.

Bank of Toronto v. Hattroll, 39 D.L.R. 262, 55 Can. S.C.R. 512, [1917] 2 W.W.R. 1149, reversing 31 D.L.R. 449.

SALE OF LAND — ACTION FOR DAMAGES FOR DECEIT—FAILURE OF PROOF.

Wilson v. Suburban Estates Co., 4 O.W.N. 1488, 5 O.W.N. 182, 24 O.W.R. 825.

CONTRACTS INDUCED BY — ACTION FOR RESCISSION — AFFIRMANCE BY DISPOSING OF PROPERTY REQUIRED.

Tucker v. Titus, 4 O.W.N. 1402, 24 O.W.R. 687.

SALE OF BUSINESS — DAMAGES FOR DECEIT.
Gartrett v. Gibbons, 4 O.W.N. 981, 24 O.W.R. 247.

SALE OF FARM — ACTION BY PURCHASERS AGAINST AGENT FOR VENDOR — VALUE AND CHARACTER OF LAND.
Menary v. White, 5 O.W.N. 472.

SALE OF GOODS — MISREPRESENTATION — AGREEMENT TO ASSIGN LEASE.
Bates v. Little, 5 O.W.N. 180, 25 O.W.R. 156.

UNFOUNDED ALLEGATIONS — COSTS — EVIDENCE — EVIDENCE OF DECEITFUL REPRESENTATIONS — IMPORTANCE OF GETTING EXACT WORDS USED.

A party making unfounded allegations of fraud should be deprived of costs. There should be required from a party giving evidence of deceitful representations some attempt at least at recalling the exact words complained of. Where a witness is permitted at once to testify to the substance of a conversation there is grave danger that he is swearing merely to his own inferences as to what was meant.

DeVal v. Archibald, [1919] 2 W.W.R. 984.

FRAUD AND MISREPRESENTATION—PROCUREMENT OF TRADE AGREEMENT — FINDING OF TRIAL JUDGE—COUNTERCLAIM.
Wonder Rope Machine Co. v. Scott, 12 O.W.N. 270.

CONTRACT FOR TRANSFER OF INTEREST IN LANDS — ACTION TO SET ASIDE — MISREPRESENTATION.
Stewart v. Dickson, 1 O.W.N. 1083, 2 O.W.N. 614, 18 O.W.R. 281.

FRAUD AND MISREPRESENTATION — FALSE REPRESENTATIONS INDUCING PLAINTIFF TO PURCHASE LAND — ACTION FOR DECEIT.

Macfarlane v. Davis, 18 W.L.R. 498, 47 Can. S.C.R. 399.

ACTION FOR DECEIT — FALSE REPRESENTATIONS INDUCING PLAINTIFF TO LIVE WITH A MARRIED MAN AS HIS WIFE — BIRTH OF CHILD — DAMAGES — ACTION.

Widgery v. Dudley, 4 O.W.N. 733.

II. Concealment; failure to disclose facts.

(§ II—5)—LEADING PURCHASER TO BELIEVE THAT ENCUMBRANCE IS SATISFIED.

For the holder of a mortgage to lead a purchaser of land to believe that the encumbrance was satisfied and to conceal from him the fact that foreclosure proceedings were pending, is such a fraud, under the Land Titles Act, R.S.S. 1900, c. 41, as to defeat a title subsequently acquired by the former under the foreclosure proceedings.

Robinson v. Ford, 14 D.L.R. 360, 25 W.L.R. 669, 5 W.W.R. 542.

CONTRACT — OMISSION OF MATERIAL TERMS — CONCEALMENT OF.

It is a fraud for the agent of a vendor and the vendee in a contract for sale of land to conceal from the vendor the omission from the contract of a clause permitting the latter to recede from the bargain within ten days, which was to be embodied in the contract.

Sheardown v. Good, 11 D.L.R. 318, 24 O.W.R. 658, 4 O.W.N. 1344.

USE OF ANOTHER'S PROPERTY — INJUNCTION.

Where one person obtains the property of another upon the representation that he wishes to use it for a particular purpose, he is not entitled to use it for another purpose, and upon so doing will be restrained from further use, and the owner will be entitled to recover his property.

Lindsay v. Le Sneur, 11 D.L.R. 411, 27 O.W.R. 588.

Where it was not alleged that one who negotiated for the sale of land which was purchased for his benefit in the name of a stranger, was the vendor's agent, and he and the vendor acted at arm's length, false representations to the vendor that he knew of nothing that would enhance the value of the property, are not sufficient to justify setting aside the sale. A sale of land will not be set aside on the ground that a third person for whose benefit it was purchased in the name of a stranger, obtained an option giving a firm of real estate brokers the right to purchase it which option he intended to use for his own benefit and concealed from the vendor knowledge of facts tending to enhance the value of the property, where the real estate brokers were not interested in such purchase other than to receive the commission which the vendor had agreed to give them if the property was sold and all negotiations pertaining to the sale to the stranger were conducted by the person for whose benefit it was purchased on his own behalf and not as agent for the brokers.

Kelly v. Enderton, 5 D.L.R. 613, 22 Man. L.R. 277, 21 W.L.R. 337, 2 W.W.R. 433. [Affirmed, 9 D.L.R. 472, 23 W.L.R. 310.]

Where an agent of a vendor through whom a purchase of land was negotiated by the plaintiffs, a firm of real estate brokers, ostensibly for a customer, must have had knowledge of the fact that the purchaser was a member of such firm, the plaintiffs' failure to disclose such fact to the vendor did not make them the agent of the latter so as to invalidate the sale on the ground of nondisclosure of material facts.

Edgar v. Caskey, 4 D.L.R. 460, 5 A.L.R. 245, 21 W.L.R. 444, 2 W.W.R. 413.

Where a debtor transfers all his assets, consisting of his stock-in-trade and of an immovable property, to a third party in payment of such third party's claim on the latter, assuming all of such debtor's liabilities, and the third party calls on a business creditor of the debtor ostensibly as the debtor's agent, and obtains a compromise agreement of fifty cents on the dollar on the representation that the debtor is insolvent and that his stock-in-trade is insufficient to meet his liabilities, but without disclosing that he is the transferee of the debtor's property, or mentioning the deed of transfer and the conditions therein mentioned, and without disclosing the fact that the debtor had an immovable property, such creditor on discovering the true state of affairs can have the deed of settlement he entered into with such third party set aside as being vitiated by fraud.

Liddell v. Lacroix, 8 D.L.R. 502.

MARKS ON MILITARY STORES—CR. CODE, s. 436A.

The dishonest application of a government inspection mark to military stores being manufactured for the government to indicate that they had passed the government inspectors whereas they had not in fact been passed, is an indictable offence under Cr. Code, s. 436A, although the stores were in no respect defective.

R. v. Rollings, 31 Can. Cr. Cas. 31.

It is a fraud, sufficient to vitiate the sale, for a real estate agent to lead the owner of land to confide in him as his agent to get the best possible price for the property and to allow him to close a bargain on his behalf when, as a matter of fact, he, the agent, was at the same time acting as agent for the purchaser in an endeavour to get the property at as low a price as possible, without disclosing that fact to the owner. The purchaser cannot, under such circumstances, although ignorant of the fraud, be allowed to retain the benefit of the transaction procured by his agent. Such conduct on the part of an agent is fraud within the meaning of that word as used in ss. 71, 76 of the Real Property Act, R.S.M. 1902, c. 148, and therefore the procuring by the purchaser of a certificate of title under that Act for the property would not prevent the vendor from having the sale set aside and the property ordered to be reconveyed to him upon payment of moneys received. [Pearson v. Dublin Corp., [1907] A.C. 351, followed.]

Wolfson v. Oldfield (No. 1), 22 Man. L.R. 159. [Affirmed, 2 D.L.R. 110, 22 Man. L.R. 170, 20 W.L.R., 484.]

SIMULATION — PROOF OF FRAUD — QUE. C.P. 191 — QUE. C.C. 991, 993.
Simulation is nothing else but fraud, and can be proved in every way.
Lambert v. Provost, 16 Que. P.R. 41.

(§ 11—6)—SALE OF SHARES — SECRET PROFIT ON PURCHASE BY DIRECTORS.

When officers or directors of a company combine to dispose of all its property, the holding and disposal of which were the sold objects for which the company had been incorporated, under terms by which they would make a secret profit for themselves, the acquisition by them of shares at prices much below their real value obtained from various shareholders by suppressing the real terms of the offer received for the company's property is a fraud upon such shareholders in respect of which the court will grant them relief. [Hyatt v. Allen, 8 D.L.R. 79, applied; Percival v. Wright, [1902] 2 Ch. 421; Carpenter v. Darnworth, 52 Barb. (N.Y.) 581, distinguished.]

Gadsden v. Bennetto, 9 D.L.R. 719, 23 Man. L.R. 33, 23 W.L.R. 633, 3 W.W.R. 1109, reversing 5 D.L.R. 529.

MISREPRESENTATION IN COMPANY PROSPECTUS.

A statement in a prospectus that thousands were interested in a company, which guaranteed its financial success, when as a fact there were not over one hundred and twenty-five shareholders, is a false representation sufficient to invalidate a subscription for shares made in reliance thereon. An unfounded statement recklessly made by the company's agent in order to obtain a subscription for company shares, without any reasonable basis for his opinion, that the company would earn 30 per cent dividends on its shares, may be relied on as a misrepresentation avoiding the subscription.

Pioneer Tractor Co. v. Peebles, 15 D.L.R. 275, 6 S.L.R. 339, 26 W.L.R. 503, 5 W.W.R. 989.

ACTS OF DIRECTORS—CONCEALMENT.

Fraud may be predicated on the part of directors of a corporation, as against its shareholders, where transfers from the latter were obtained in favour of the directors and the true purpose of the transfers was either concealed or misrepresented or the transfers misapplied. [Percival v. Wright, [1902] 2 Ch. 421, distinguished.]

Allen v. Hyatt, 17 D.L.R. 7, 26 O.W.R. 215, affirming 8 D.L.R. 79.

(§ 11—7)—CONCEALMENT BY AGENT—PERSONAL ADVANTAGE NOT DISCLOSED.

An option to purchase lands given the defendant, a real estate dealer, who had acted for the plaintiff in other sales, in order to facilitate a sale by the former, will be cancelled where obtained by the fraudulent representation that another agent had a purchaser for the land, without disclosing the fact that the defendant himself was the prospective buyer.

Starke v. Geriepy, 11 D.L.R. 430, 4 W.W.R. 539.

NAME WRONGFULLY DISPLAYED ON BUSINESS SIGN.

A former employee, who commences business for himself, has no right to use a sign which is calculated to deceive the public into believing that the business of his former employer is being carried on in the premises.

Beatty v. Mansfield, 42 D.L.R. 678, 54 Que. S.C. 145.

III. Matters of opinion or of the future.

(§ 11—10) — Promises or assurances which might, or might not, happen to be realized, or to fail in the future, do not amount to actual deception and cannot, therefore, avail as grounds to avoid a subscription to a memorandum of incorporation.

Bergeron v. Compagnie De Jonquiere, 22 Que. K.B. 341.

Where an agent of a vendor of land represented that the purchasers were buying a business lot in the business section of a proposed town and the vendees, who were buying on speculation, knew that no business section existed at that time, such a representation must be read in the light of existing circumstances, and must be considered as looking to the future development of the town, and hence is purely a matter of opinion and not a misrepresentation of a material ascertainable fact. It is merely an expression of opinion and not a misrepresentation of fact where an agent of a vendor of land represents to the purchaser that the latter would be able to dispose of the land at from two to three times the price before the third payment on the land was due. A representation to a purchaser by the agent of the vendor of land in a proposed town that the main street of the town would become a principal street, does not amount to a representation at law, but is only an expression of opinion.

Jackson v. People's Trust Co., 7 D.L.R. 384, 22 W.L.R. 325, 3 W.W.R. 99.

(§ 11—12)—ESTIMATES AND VALUATION.

A statement by a vendor as to the acreage of land sold will amount to actionable fraud where recklessly made without any bona fide conviction of its truth, and without regard to the actual facts of the case, notwithstanding the price to be paid therefor was based upon the quantity of lumber produced therefrom.

Eaton v. Dunn, 5 D.L.R. 604, 46 N.S.R. 156, 11 E.L.R. 52.

ESTIMATE OF QUANTITY.

An action for deceit in the sale of lands for the vendor's misrepresentation of the amount of timber thereon, will not lie where such estimate, as the purchaser must have known, was one of opinion only, and it was not found that the defendant either knew it to be untrue or knew that he had no ground for believing it to be the case.

Perry v. Downs, 11 D.L.R. 670, 24 W.L.R. 407.

ESTIMATES AND VALUATION — LAND SALE.

Rescission of an agreement for the sale of land will not be allowed for an alleged misrepresentation on the part of the vendor as to the value of the land, where it appears that it is doubtful whether the vendee understood the statement of the vendor as to the value to be anything more than an expression of opinion, and it further appears that the vendee, at all events, did not rely upon that statement in making his purchase, but that the idea of rescinding on that ground was merely an attempt to get out of what proved afterwards to be a bad bargain.

Knox v. Bunch, 11 D.L.R. 377, 24 W.L.R. 265.

Can. Dig.—67.

IV. Intent, knowledge, belief, and reliance of parties.

(§ IV—15)—SALE OF MERCANTILE BUSINESS — INNOCENT MISREPRESENTATIONS — RELIANCE ON EFFECT.

Misrepresentations, although innocently made by the seller of a mercantile business, as to the volume of business done in the past, and as to the probable future increases, will vitiate the sale, if the purchaser relied thereon.

Kidd v. Nelson, 12 D.L.R. 417, 18 B.C.R. 217, 24 W.L.R. 950.

TRADER FAILING TO KEEP BOOKS — FRAUDULENT INTENT.

The failure by a trader to keep books of account must have subsisted for five years before he became unable to pay his debts, otherwise, subs. (c) Cr. Code, s. 417, as amended by 4 Edw. VII. (Can.) c. 7, does not apply to make such neglect indictable; and an indictment under the subsection is bad, as disclosing no offence, if it omits all reference to the time for which the failure to keep books had continued.

R. v. Porter, 28 D.L.R. 555, 26 Can. Cr. Cas. 39, 35 O.L.R. 339.

RELIANCE OF PARTIES.

A deed of land by which an illiterate person is alleged to have sold and conveyed a substantial interest or equity in a farm in return for a lease given back by the grantee upon a "half-crop" rental will be looked upon with suspicion, and the transaction may be annulled, if the circumstances shew that the grantor misunderstood the nature of the transaction which he had been induced by the grantee to enter into without opportunity for independent advice.

Kokorutz v. Irwin, 1 D.L.R. 230, 19 W.L.R. 945, 1 W.W.R. 774.

ASSIGNMENT OF MORTGAGE IN EXCHANGE OF PERSONALTY — FALSE REPRESENTATIONS AS TO VALUE OF LAND—MATERIALITY—COUNTERCLAIM TO ACTION FOR BREACH OF CONTRACT TO DELIVER PERSONALTY.

McKenzie v. Morris Motor Sales Co., 26 D.L.R. 751, 9 O.W.N. 479.

FRAUDULENT MISREPRESENTATION — SALE OF BUSINESS — EVIDENCE — DECLARATION OF COPARTNERSHIP — FAILURE TO REGISTER — REMISSION OF PENALTIES — COSTS.

Dixon v. Georgas, 4 O.W.N. 462, 23 O.W.R. 524.

(§ IV—16) — INTENT — INNOCENT MISREPRESENTATION.

It is unnecessary that a representation made by the vendor that his land fronting upon a river had a sandy beach, should have been intentionally false to entitle the purchaser to repudiate the contract where the vendor in negotiations shewed to the purchaser land with a sandy beach as being the land for sale, whereas it was in fact part of a neighbouring tract; the party deceived by the misrepresentation, although innocently made, is entitled in equity to have his contract set aside.

McMeans v. Kidder, 10 D.L.R. 480, 23 Man. L.R. 111, 23 W.L.R. 794, 4 W.W.R. 108.

KNOWLEDGE OF FALSITY — SALE OF LAND.
Scobie v. Wallace, 11 D.L.R. 841, 4 O.W.N. 1345, 24 O.W.R. 641.

OF PARTY RECEIVING OR MAKING STATEMENTS.

A sale of land will not be set aside on an allegation that a third person by falsely representing that he was acting as an agent or employee of a firm of real estate brokers and, mentioning the name of a probable purchaser, obtained from the vendor an option giving the firm the right to purchase his property, though it was his intention to deceive the vendor and to purchase the property in another name for his own benefit.

Kelly v. Enderton, 5 D.L.R. 613, 22 Man. L.R. 277, 21 W.L.R. 337, 2 W.W.R. 453. [Affirmed, 9 D.L.R. 472, 23 W.L.R. 319.]

Where one who has no bona fide claim against the estate files a caveat against the granting of probate of the will of his deceased father, and obtains from his sister, the principal beneficiary under the will, an agreement purporting to be a compromise of his claim, whereby she covenants to pay to him more than the amount which she receives under the will, and it appears that she was overmatched, overborne, and overreached by his superior shrewdness, and that, though she consulted her husband, he was, to the brother's knowledge, of no assistance to her, and that she had no independent or professional advice, and, further, that the agreement was obtained by misrepresentations as to the legal situation, and by threats to give publicity to a secret of her past life, the agreement cannot be enforced.

Underwood v. Cox, 4 D.L.R. 66, 26 O.L.R. 303, 21 O.W.R. 757, reversing 3 O.W.N. 765.

FRAUD — MEANING OF "OVERREACHED" — MISREPRESENTATION INDUCING SALE.

A finding in an action where the pleadings presented a question of actual fraud, that a vendee "was overreached" in a sale of land, and that the vendor "must or should have known that [his] representations were false," means that the vendor's representations were not merely false, but known by him to be false, and that he made them for the purpose of deceiving the vendee. Where one was induced to purchase a farm, together with the stock and implements thereon, through false statements of the acreage knowingly made by the vendor, for the purpose of inducing the prospective purchaser to close the sale, upon the vendor's assurance so given as to the quantity of land, and the purchaser is deceived by reliance thereon, the transaction will be set aside. [Campbell v. Fleming, 1 A. & E. 40, distinguished.]

Boulter v. Stocks, 10 D.L.R. 316, 49 C.L.

J. 232, 47 Can. S.C.R. 440, affirming 5 D.L.R. 268.

SALE OF VEHICLE — RELIANCE ON FALSE REPRESENTATION — DAMAGES.

McCutcheon v. Penman, 2 D.L.R. 904, 3 O.W.N. 1154.

FALSIFICATION OF BOOKS — INTENT TO DEFRAUD CREDITORS — CR. CODE, S. 418.

A person who can neither read nor write may be guilty of falsifying books or making a false entry with intent to defraud creditors (Cr. Code s. 418) if he procured the commission of the offence or aided and abetted or counselled its commission (s. 69); it is a question of fact whether guilty knowledge shall be inferred from his subsequent act in filing an insolvency statement in which false debts were scheduled in accordance with the false entries made by another.

R. v. Lackman, 30 Can. Cr. Cas. 400.

(S. IV—17)—MISREPRESENTATION — RELIANCE ON OF PARTY DECEIVED.

The false representation of the seller of farm lands that two valuable springs of water were located thereon amounts to actionable fraud where the purchaser relied thereon.

Perry v. Downs, 11 D.L.R. 670, 24 W.L.R. 407.

An agent who purchased for himself property belonging to his principal, is not guilty of fraud, where the latter was aware of such fact and no advantage was taken of him.

Frith v. Alliance Investment Co., 5 D.L.R. 491, 4 A.L.R. 235, 29 W.L.R. 551, 1 W.W.R. 907. [Affirmed, 10 D.L.R. 765, 6 A.L.R. 197.]

FINDING OF TRIAL JUDGE — RECKLESS CARELESSNESS AS TO TRUTH OF REPRESENTATIONS — APPEAL.

A finding of fact by the Trial Judge that certain misrepresentations as to condition and capacity of goods sold, which induced the purchase of such goods were "at least made with reckless carelessness as to their truth" is a sufficient finding of fraud to sustain an action for deceit, and brings the case within the principle laid down in Derry v. Peek, 14 App. Cas. 337.

Devall v. Gorman, 45 D.L.R. 654, 58 Can. S.C.R. 259, [1919] 1 W.W.R. 836, reversing 42 D.L.R. 573, 13 A.L.R. 557.

KNOWLEDGE AND RELIANCE OF PARTY DECEIVED.

A representation by an agent of a life insurance company to the insured made at the time of the issuance of the policy, based on an innocent error in calculation, as to the surrender value of the policy, is not a promissory representation to the insured where the correct amount could have been ascertained by him by reference to a mortality table.

Shaw v. Mutual Life Ins. Co., 7 D.L.R. 637, 46 Can. S.C.R. 696, affirming 23 O.L.R. 559.

Where there is great disparity in intelligence between two persons, and the one, without proper information and advice, is overmatched and overreached by the other, so that he enters into an improvident bargain, he is entitled to have the bargain rescinded, even though there be no actual fraud. [Waters v. Donnelly, 9 O.R. 391, followed.]

Easton v. Sinclair, 3 D.L.R. 652, 3 O.W.N. 1103, 21 O.W.R. 994.

(§ IV—18)—EQUAL MEANS OF KNOWLEDGE — LANDLORD AND TENANT — LEASE — ACTION TO SET ASIDE — FRAUD AND MISREPRESENTATION — COLLATERAL AGREEMENT — ALLEGED BREACH OF — TENANT IN POSSESSION — COUNTERCLAIM—COSTS.

Ruff v. McFee, 4 O.W.N. 501.

(§ IV—19)—MISUNDERSTANDING THROUGH WANT OF CARE.

A charge of fraud, deception or misrepresentation by a vendor as to the income derived from property the defendant agreed to purchase, or as to any other matter inducing the contract, cannot be sustained where any misunderstanding by the purchaser in relation thereto was the result of his own stupidity or want of care, and was not induced by any act or representation of the vendor.

Reynolds v. Foster, 3 D.L.R. 506, 3 O.W.N. 983, 21 O.W.R. 838. [Affirmed, 9 D.L.R. 836, 4 O.W.N. 694.]

MISUNDERSTANDING THROUGH WANT OF CARE — MINTING VENTURE—BREACH OF AGREEMENT — RETURN OF MONEY PAID—DAMAGES.

Cheeseworth v. Davison, 2 D.L.R. 922, 3 O.W.N. 606, 20 O.W.R. 65.

(§ IV—20) — ABSCONDING DEBTOR — INTENT TO DEFAUD.

The departure from the province of Quebec of a person domiciled in the United States (who has contracted a debt in Quebec while there for a temporary purpose) is not sufficient to shew intent to defraud the Quebec creditor without evidence of special intention to defraud.

MacKenzie v. O'Connell, 22 D.L.R. 537.

SALE OF SHARES — MISREPRESENTATION — QUESTION OF BELIEF OF EVIDENCE — OUSUS ON PLAINTIFF.

Allen v. Turk, 3 O.W.N. 364, 20 O.W.R. 627.

FRAUDULENT SALE OF LAND SUBJECT TO EQUITY OF REDEMPTION — "PRIVILEGE."

R. v. McDevitt, 22 O.L.R. 490, 17 Can. Cr. Cas. 331, 17 O.W.R. 864.

MISREPRESENTATION AS TO CONTENTS OF CONTRACT.

Nichols v. Ross, 4 S.L.R. 194, 18 W.L.R. 398.

FRAUD AND MISREPRESENTATION — SALE OF CREAMERIES—MEASURE OF DAMAGES.

Lambert v. Wenger, 22 O.L.R. 642, 18 O.W.R. 170.

FRAUD — SALES — MISREPRESENTATION BY VENDOR.

Long v. Smith, 23 O.L.R. 121, 18 O.W.R. 88.

VI. In respect to negotiable paper.

(§ VI—25)—PROMISSORY NOTES GIVEN FOR STOCK SUBSCRIPTION — MISREPRESENTATIONS OF AGENT — ACTION AGAINST COMPANY AND AGENT.

Thomson v. International Casualty Co., 7 D.L.R. 944. [Affirmed 11 D.L.R. 634.]

A note is properly held to have been obtained by fraud where the agent of one who sold a stallion to a number of persons, fraudulently obtained their signatures to a joint and several note, instead of one by which each was liable only for his proportionate part of the purchase-price, as was contemplated by the agreement entered into by the parties.

Hamilton v. Isaacson, 5 D.L.R. 114, 21 W.L.R. 333.

INVALID NOTES GIVEN IN PAYMENT FOR AUTOMOBILE — ACTION TO RECOVER AUTOMOBILE.

Patterson v. Dodds, 2 O.W.N. 1054, 19 O.W.R. 152.

UNDUE INFLUENCE — FATHER AND SON — FRAUDULENT MISREPRESENTATIONS.

Lewis Furniture Co. v. Campbell, 21 Man. L.R. 390.

VII. Misinformation by third person.

(§ VII—30) — NEWSPAPER CIRCULATION CONTEST — VIOLATION OF RULES BY COMPETITOR — MISINFORMATION BY MANAGER.

A competitor in a newspaper circulation competition, who sought to obtain an unfair advantage over other competitors by buying subscriptions for unwilling subscribers, can not recover the money so paid, because of an untrue representation by the manager of the contest that no other competitors were doing the same thing.

Comeau v. "News Sentinel," 14 E.L.R. 529.

(§ VII—31) — CERTIFYING IDENTITY IN GOOD FAITH.

Where an applicant for a loan fraudulently represents himself to be the person named in the certificate of title which he produced to a firm of real estate brokers and thereby induced them to negotiate on his behalf a loan on the land upon a mortgage which was thereupon executed by the applicant in the name of the person whom he represents himself to be, the express and formal representation of the brokers to the lender as to the identity of the mortgagor with the person named in the certificate of title will make them liable for the loss occasioned by the fraud, although they were themselves imposed upon and were innocent of any intentional wrong.

Parker v. McAra, 10 D.L.R. 37, 6 S.L.R. 30, 23 W.L.R. 141, 3 W.W.R. 865.

(§ VII—32)—NOTICE OF FRAUD.

Where a party entering into a contract is aware that the other party is being induced to enter into it by the false and fraudulent representations of a stranger, such misrepresentations will entitle the deceived party to the same remedy against the other party who takes the benefit of the misrepresentations with knowledge of their falsity, as if the latter had himself made them.

Prescott v. Hancock; Crosbie v. Prescott, 13 D.L.R. 332, 4 W.W.R. 681.

VIII. Remedies.

(§ VIII—35)—DELAY IN DISCOVERING THE FALSITY AS DEFENCE.

Where a party to a contract induces the other party to enter into it by a material and false representation, the effect of such false representation cannot be got rid of on the ground that the person to whom it was made might have discovered the truth if he had used diligence, unless there is such delay as constitutes a defence under statutory limitations. [Clough v. L. & N. W.R. Co., L.R. 7 Ex. 26, 41 L.J. Ex. 17, applied.]

Sager v. Manitoba Windmill & Pump Co., 23 D.L.R. 556, 7 W.W.R. 1213, affirming 13 D.L.R. 203, 16 D.L.R. 577; 7 S.L.R. 51.

AGENT FOR BOTH PRINCIPALS.

Where the plaintiff, the original owner, was rightfully entitled to land of which his agent had obtained from him a transfer made secretly for the agent's benefit and not in pursuance of the contract of the latter with a third party as the agent had represented, has obtained and holds a judgment against the agent and the latter's nominee in whose name the transfer had been taken, revesting the property in himself, the plaintiff's rights thereby declared will be made effective in an action against such third party claiming under a decree which the latter had obtained against the agent and the agent's nominee declaring the retained property to belong to such third party as a part of the consideration for his contract; if the court in the action by the original owner against the latter finds that it was not in fact a part of the consideration and the third party had no equity as a bona fide purchaser or otherwise to call for a transfer of same to himself, and further finds that the original owner was not a third party to the action brought by the third party nor had he acquiesced therein by his conduct.

Tonteci v. Livingstone, 9 D.L.R. 659, 23 W.L.R. 20, 3 W.W.R. 770.

An executed contract will not be set aside merely on the ground of misrepresentation not amounting to fraud. [Angel v. Jay, [1911] 1 K.B. 666, followed.]

Abrey v. Victoria Printing Co., 2 D.L.R. 208, 3 O.W.N. 868, 21 O.W.R. 444.

The defendant was found liable in damages for representations made on the sale of a farm, as to its condition, upon which the plaintiff relied, and which proved to be untrue. Quere, whether the representation, that the land was "all fit for cultivation" could be taken as wide enough to warrant the accessibility of a part of the farm which was cut off by a fence.

Strome v. Craig, 17 W.L.R. 51, affirming 15 W.L.R. 197.

PURCHASE OF LAND ON FAITH OF FALSE REPRESENTATIONS OF AGENT OF VENDOR—OTHER POSSIBLE CONTRIBUTING CAUSES—ACTION AGAINST AGENT—FINDING OF FACT OF TRIAL JUDGE—APPEAL—DAMAGES—MEASURE OF INTEREST.

McCallum v. Proctor; Armstrong v. Proctor, 6 O.W.N. 556.

RECOVERING BACK PURCHASE PRICE OF COMPANY SHARES.

Johnston v. Haines, 8 O.W.N. 551, 10 O.W.N. 46.

SALE OF FARM—MISREPRESENTATION BY AGENTS OF VENDOR—RESPONSIBILITY OF VENDOR—DAMAGES.

Heynck v. Sova, 10 O.W.N. 262.

FRAUD AND MISREPRESENTATION IN SALE OF LAND—DAMAGES.

Hocken v. Shadle, 8 O.W.N. 619, 9 O.W.N. 303.

FRAUD AND MISREPRESENTATION—EXCHANGE OF LANDS—COLLUSION—RESCISSIION—RECONVEYANCE—DAMAGES—COSTS.

Gibbons v. Douglas, 3 O.W.N. 119, 20 O.W.R. 199.

FRAUDULENT CONVEYANCES.

I. IN GENERAL.

II. CONSIDERATION.

III. PREFERENCES; SECURITY.

IV. NOTICE; RIGHTS AND LIABILITIES OF PURCHASER.

V. RESERVATION OF INTEREST; CHANGE OF POSSESSION.

VI. TRANSACTIONS BETWEEN RELATIVES.

VII. SUBSEQUENT CREDITORS.

VIII. REMEDIES.

Annotations.

Deeds; conveyance absolute in form; creditor's action to reach undisclosed equity of debtor; 1 D.L.R. 76.

Right of creditors to follow profits; 1 D.L.R. 841.

I. In general.

(§ 1—2)—VALIDITY AS TO PARTIES.

An agreement for an absolute sale of the property of a debtor given to a creditor as security for past indebtedness and a further advance is not void under the statute 13 Eliz. in the absence of an intent to defraud other creditors though it does in fact delay and hinder the other creditors and was so intended by the debtor. [Mulcahy v. Archibald, 28 Can. S.C.R. 523, applied.] Beliveau v. Miller, 1 D.L.R. 819, 4 A.L.R. 108, 20 W.L.R. 96, 1 W.W.R. 588.

INSOLVENCY OF GRANTOR—SCHEME TO DEFEAT CLAIMS OF CREDITORS—FINDINGS OF FACT OF TRIAL JUDGE.

Vansickle v. Ratcliffe, 9 O.W.N. 296.

ACTION TO SET ASIDE CONVEYANCE—FRAUDULENT AND VOID—JUDGMENT CREDITOR—DEFENDANT'S GOODS SEIZED BY SHERIFF.

Manley v. Young, 3 O.W.N. 400, 20 O.W.R. 659.

VOLUNTARY TRANSFER OF LAND—REGISTRATION OF, IN FRAUD OF PRIOR TRANSFEREE.

Coventry v. Annable, 19 W.L.R. 400.

II. Consideration.

See Contracts; Deeds.

(§ II—5)—INADEQUACY OF CONSIDERATION—FAMILY SETTLEMENT.

Under a family settlement, mere inadequacy of consideration is not sufficient ground to set aside a transfer of property from a debtor to a third person at the instance of a creditor under the statute 13 Eliz., c. 5, unless there is such inadequacy as to induce the presumption of collusion, or such, in fact, as might have invalidated the sale as between the vendor and purchaser without the interposition of creditors.

Jack v. Kearney, 10 D.L.R. 49, 41 N.B.R. 293, 11 E.L.R. 401, reversing 4 D.L.R. 836.

PRE-EXISTING DEBT—PRESSURE.

A pre-existing debt is not in general so good a consideration for a conveyance or mortgage by the debtor to the creditor as money actually paid at the time, although it may be a valuable consideration, if it be given under pressure or pursuant to an agreement between the parties.

Killips v. Porter, 26 D.L.R. 326, 33 W.L.R. 380.

A conveyance of land made by a trader to a solicitor who had no reason to consider him as being in insolvent circumstances, to secure to the solicitor the repayment of two judgments obtained by him in favour of his clients together with a small further sum of money advanced to enable the trader to preserve his credit and add to his stock, must be considered a bona fide transfer of property made for a valid consideration equivalent to a cash advance, and does not contravene the Assignments Act of Nova Scotia, R.S.N.S. 1900, c. 145 [Campbell v. Patterson, 21 Can. S.C.R. 645, applied; Burns v. Wilson, 28 Can. S.C.R. 207, distinguished.]

Cape Breton Wholesale Grocery Co. v. McDonald, 15 D.L.R. 807, 47 N.S.R. 505.

ACTION TO SET ASIDE A TRANSFER OF MORTGAGES FOR FRAUD—C.C. (QUE.) 1577, 2202.

Plaintiff alleged that the defendant agreed to a transfer, with guaranty, of certain mortgages for the consideration of $4,000; that the defendant had then fraudulently concealed from the plaintiff that there were a number of mortgages including the property of the debtor D., and which had priority over the transfer by the defendant to the plaintiff; and other allegations of deceit and fraudulent acts. Under art. 1577 C.C. (Que.), when a debtor or vendor has fulfilled the duty of transferring the debt which constitutes the legal bond between him and the purchaser, the latter may verify the solvency and the mortgage statement and the purchaser cannot then complain that the debtor is insolvent or that the mortgages given up are not of sufficient value. A warranty does not cover conditions arising subsequently to the transfer.

Caya v. Theroux, 25 Rev. de Jur. 255.

(§ II—8)—AGREEMENT TO SUPPORT GRANTOR—CONSIDERATION.

An agreement to support a grantor and his wife during their lives may constitute, as against the grantor's creditors, a consideration upholding a conveyance of land under a family settlement.

Jack v. Kearney, 10 D.L.R. 49, 41 N.B.R. 293, 11 E.L.R. 401, reversing 4 D.L.R. 836.

RENEWAL OF NOTE.

A hypothec deed given to a bank in the ordinary course of business to secure the renewal of a note which the bank refused to renew without security, is not based on a gratuitous title, and will not be set aside at the instance of creditors on mere proof of the grantor's insolvency where there is no proof that the bank had notice of such insolvency.

Eastern Townships Bank v. Picard, 13 D.L.R. 389, 23 Que. K.B. 488.

VOLUNTARY CONVEYANCE.

A voluntary conveyance of all of a debtor's property in favour of his children is void against the grantor's existing creditors without any proof of an actual and express intent to defeat creditors.

Holmes v. Holmes et al., 13 D.L.R. 155, 6 S.L.R. 171, 25 W.L.R. 9, 24 W.L.R. 720, 4 W.W.R. 1065, 1335.

USAGE AS RECITAL OF CONSIDERATION—ABSENCE OF FRAUD.

Upon a purchase at a discount of the original vendor's interest in an agreement for the sale of land, where the actual cash consideration in the discounting agreement was $2,000, and the amount payable under the original agreement of sale was $2,650 in 10 semi-annual instalments at 6%, the recital in the contract drawn by the discounting purchaser of a $2,650 consideration is not evidence of an intention to hide the true consideration, if it appears that such was the ordinary usage and practice.

Fisher v. Kowalski, 13 D.L.R. 785, 23 Man. L.R. 769, 25 W.L.R. 417, 5 W.W.R. 91.

AGREEMENT FOR SUPPORT.

A conveyance in consideration of the support of the grantor for life is a voluntary one, and will be presumed fraudulent under the Statute of Elizabeth as to his existing creditors.

Omelette v. Albert, 13 D.L.R. 698, 42 N.B.R. 256, 13 E.L.R. 271.

VOLUNTARY SETTLEMENT.

To uphold a voluntary settlement the settlor must, at the time of making it, have property enough left out of the settlement to meet all his existing debts and liabilities. [Jackson v. Bowley, Car. & M. 97, followed.] If, after deducting the property which is the subject of a voluntary settlement, sufficient available assets are not left for the payment of the settlor's debts, the law infers that the intent is to defraud creditors. [Freeman v. Pope, L.R. 5 Ch. 538, followed.]

Killips v. Porter, 26 D.L.R. 326, 33 W.L.R. 380.

VOLUNTARY TRANSFER OF MERCHANDISE BY INSOLVENT—DOCTRINE OF CONFUSION AND MIXTURE OF GOODS.

Doucet v. Salem Sode & Co., 27 D.L.R. 731, 49 N.S.R. 492.

CONSIDERATION—VOLUNTARY CONVEYANCE—BY INSOLVENT TO WIFE.

A purely voluntary promise by the husband to transfer his property to the wife at a future time in default of his repaying money borrowed from her, cannot be relied upon to support as against his creditors, a subsequent conveyance of the property to her at a time when he is insolvent. [Harris v. Rankin, 4 Man. L.R. 115, followed.]

Kilgour v. Zaslavsky, 19 D.L.R. 420, 25 Man. L.R. 14, 30 W.L.R. 303, 7 W.W.R. 446.

VOLUNTARY — FORBEARANCE — CONCEALMENT OF REAL CONSIDERATION—TESTS OF VALIDITY.

Braddick v. Perky, 19 D.L.R. 870.

VOLUNTARY TRANSFER OF EXEMPT PROPERTY—TO EVADE AN EXECUTION—EFFECT.

A voluntary conveyance of property made by a debtor for the purpose of evading an execution although made with fraudulent intent has not the effect of defeating, or delaying creditors where such conveyance merely covers property already exempt by law from execution.

Scheuerman v. Scheuerman, 17 D.L.R. 658, 7 A.L.R. 738, 29 W.L.R. 246, 7 W.W.R. 522.

VOLUNTARY CONVEYANCE—"EFFECT TO DEFEAT"—ONUS—JUDGMENT AS ANTERESENT DEBT—TEST.

The mere proof of the existence of particular debts prior to a voluntary settlement does not, without more, establish fraudulent intent and thus invalidate the settlement, but to have that effect it is necessary to shew such a state of the settlor's affairs at the time of the settlement as would lead the court to infer that the effect of the settlement was to defeat or delay creditors. As against a person not a party to the proceedings in which a judgment had been recovered and execution issued, proof of such proceedings does not prove that the debt is still unpaid; the person relying on such judgment as an antecedent debt to a voluntary conveyance attacked in a creditors' action is bound to shew an unpaid debt.

Dancey v. Brown, 19 D.L.R. 862, 31 O.L.R. 152.

VOLUNTARY SETTLEMENT—SETTLOR NOT INDEBTED—SUBSEQUENT INDEBTEDNESS—ABSENCE OF PROPERTY OTHER THAN THAT SETTLED.

In the absence of actual fraud, a voluntary settlement made by a person who is not indebted at the time and not contemplating the incurring of debts, cannot be set aside merely because at some later date he happens to become indebted and has no other property wherewith to pay the debt.

Hogg v. Hogg, 7 W.W.R. 313.

BONA FIDES.

A transfer of property for the purpose of defeating an expected execution, although not necessarily a fraud, must, in order to be a valid conveyance, be made for full value, and as between debtor and grantee be a bona fide transaction.

Smith v. Orlean, 9 S.L.R. 113, 34 W.L.R. 105.

SERVICES—QUANTUM MERUIT—SETTING ASIDE CONVEYANCE—AMENDMENT—CREDITORS' CLAIMS.

Farley v. Farley, 11 O.W.N. 317.

VOLUNTARY CONVEYANCE—INSOLVENCY—CREDITORS.

A voluntary conveyance made by a person owing debts and having no means, other than the property which he voluntarily conveys, with which to pay such debts is bad, not only as against existing creditors, but also against future creditors. Such conveyance, made while the defendant was indebted to others than the plaintiff and after the defendant had sued the plaintiff for damages and the plaintiff had sued the defendant for malicious prosecution, set aside.

Ewachowski v. Marischuk, [1917] 3 W.W.R. 747.

SHAM CONSIDERATIONS—INTENT TO FRAUD CREDITORS—ACTION BY JUDGMENT CREDITOR TO SET ASIDE CONVEYANCE OF LAND AND ASSIGNMENTS OF MORTGAGES—JUDGMENT DEBTOR DIVESTING HIMSELF OF ALL HIS PROPERTY—FINDINGS OF FACT OF TRIAL JUDGE—APPEAL.

Karch v. Edgar, 12 O.W.N. 356.

HUSBAND AND WIFE—CONSIDERATION—ASSUMPTION OF MORTGAGE—BAR OF DOWER IN OTHER LAND—VOLUNTARY SETTLEMENT.

Ottawa Wine Vaults Co. v. McGuire, 24 O.L.R. 591.

III. Preferences; security.

See Assignment for Creditors; Insolvency. (§ III—10)—A mortgage taken in the name of the debtor's wife, and which is alleged to have been so taken in fraud of creditors, will not be declared in a creditor's action to have been taken with intent to defeat, hinder or delay the husband's creditors, if it appears that all the wife did with the mortgage when she got it was to assign it to certain of her husband's creditors as security for his debt.

Canada Law Book Co. v. Fieldhouse, 11 D.L.R. 384.

UNJUST PREFERENCE—INSOLVENCY—MANITOBA ASSIGNMENTS ACT—INTENTION TO DELAY OR HINDER CREDITORS.

A transfer of land to a creditor as security for a debt will not be set aside under ss. 38 and 39 of the Assignments Act, R.S.M. 1902, c. 8, as a fraud on the grantor's other creditors, where the land was actually worth and was subsequently sold for more than the amount of all his indebtedness, notwithstanding that at the date of the transfer he did not have ready money enough to pay all his creditors. [Davidson v. Douglas, 15 Gr. 347, followed.] A conveyance by one in insolvent circumstances, which has the effect of giving one creditor a preference over others, will, under ss. 40, 41, 42 of the Manitoba Assignments Act, R.S.M. 1902, c. 8, be held void if attacked within 60 days, irrespective of the grantor's intent in making the conveyance, or of pressure, or notice on the part of the grantee of the debtor's financial circumstances, or his knowledge of the effect of the conveyance. [Schwartz v. Winkler, 13 Man. L.R. 493; Codville v. Fraser, 14 Man. L.R. 12; Stephens v. McArthur, 6 Man. L.R. 496, distinguished.] Under ss. 38 and 39 of the Assignments Act, R.S.M. 1902, c. 8, a conveyance of land as security for a debt of the grantor to a creditor who was not aware of the former's financial condition, and who did not knowingly obtain an unjust preference, will not be set aside in the absence of evidence showing that both parties intended to prefer or defraud the grantor's creditors, unless it is attacked within the 60 days specified in the Act.

Robinson v. McCauley, 13 D.L.R. 437, 24 W.L.R. 617, 4 W.W.R. 930. [Affirmed, 14 D.L.R. 681, 23 Man. L.R. 781.]

A pre-existing agreement, to give security for goods, supplied to a person who is about to engage in a hazardous business, even though somewhat vague in its terms, where the finding is in favour of the making of such agreement, is sufficient to support conveyances which would otherwise be treated as made with intent to give an unjust preference.

Power v. Munro, 5 D.L.R. 577, 11 E.L.R. 508.

ADVANCES MADE BY ADMINISTRATOR TO HEIR ON ACCOUNT OF SHARE OF ESTATE—DEED TO ADMINISTRATOR.

Where the administrator of an estate advances money to one of the heirs on account of his share of the estate, taking a deed to himself on account of such advances, the advances made do not constitute the ordinary relation of debtor and creditor, and the deed taken is not open to attack as being in effect a fraudulent preference as against creditors in contravention of the Assignments and Preferences Act, R.S.N.S. 1900, c. 145.

Whidden v. McDonald, 9 D.L.R. 686, 47 N.S.R. 26.

CHATTEL MORTGAGE—KNOWLEDGE OF MORTGAGOR'S INSOLVENCY.

A chattel mortgage upon the property of an insolvent trader is void as to his subsequent assignee for creditors, because an unlawful preference in contravention of the Assignments and Preferences Act (Ont.), where the mortgagee at the time of taking the security had knowledge of the mortgagor's insolvency.

Cole v. Racine, 11 D.L.R. 322, 4 O.W.N. 1327, 24 O.W.R. 622.

TRANSFEREE'S NOTICE OF IMPENDING TORT ACTION AGAINST TRANSFEROR.

The preferring of one creditor, even though there be an impending action for tort of which both creditor and debtor are aware, is no ground for displacing the transaction as fraudulent and void under the Statute of Elizabeth. [Gurofski v. Harris, 27 O.R. 261; Ashley v. Brown, 17 A.R. (Ont.) 500, applied.]

Fisher v. Kowalski, 13 D.L.R. 785, 23 Man. L.R. 769, 25 W.L.R. 417, 5 W.W.R. 91.

CONVEYANCE OF LAND IN SATISFACTION OF VENDOR'S LIEN.

The conveyance of land by the defendant to his grantor in satisfaction of the latter's lien as vendor for the unpaid purchase money, which amounted to about the full value of the property, is not an unjust or unlawful preference which is open to attack by the defendant's general creditors.

Kaulbach v. Jodrey, 13 D.L.R. 782, 13 E.L.R. 409.

CHATTEL MORTGAGE—INSOLVENCY.

The insolvency of a debtor is not established where the estimated value of his assets are sufficient, if sold under legal process, to meet all his debts at the time of his execution of a chattel mortgage for money advances, so as to render the transaction an unlawful preference under ss. 40, 42 of the Assignments Act (Man.) [Davidson v. Douglas, 15 Gr. 347; Rae v. McDonald, 13 O.R. 352; Clarkson v. Sterling, 14 O.R. 469; Empire Sash, etc. v. Maranda, 21 Man. L.R. 605; Bertrand v. Canadian Rubber Co., 12 Man. L.R. 27, followed.]

Richards & Brown v. Leonoff, 24 D.L.R. 180, 25 Man. L.R. 548, 31 W.L.R. 621, 8 W.W.R. 966.

INTENT.

To constitute a fraudulent preference under s. 39 of the Alberta Assignments Act, there must be a concurrence of intent to give and to accept the conveyance as a preference over other creditors, and the transaction must be attacked within the statutory period.

Sutherland v. Clarke, 37 D.L.R. 518, 13 A.L.R. 350, [1917] 3 W.W.R. 672.

INSOLVENCY—BURDEN OF PROOF.

The burden of proving insolvency for the purpose of setting aside a conveyance as a fraudulent preference is upon the attacking creditor; there must be an inability to pay because of an insufficiency of assets.

Clarke v. Sutherland, 37 D.L.R. 368, 13 A.L.R. 132, [1917] 3 W.W.R. 624, affirming [1917] 3 W.W.R. 50.

SECURITY BY THIRD PERSON—SUBSTITUTION—RIGHTS OF "UNSECURED CREDITOR"—EXEMPT PROPERTY.

The holder of a security from a third person is in a position to attack a conveyance by his debtor to another creditor as a fraudulent preference. Section 47 of the Assignments Act, which provides that the substitution in good faith of one security for another security for the same debt, so far as the debtor's estate is not thereby lessened in value to the other creditors, shall not be affected by anything in s. 40 or 42 of the Act, did not save the chattel mortgage attacked even to the extent of the amount ($1,000) of the former chattel mortgage, although that formed part of the amount included in the new mortgage. It was not the substitution of one security for another for the same debt, nor was the mortgage taken in good faith. [Stecher Lithographic Co. v. Ontario Seed Co., 7 D.L.R. 148, 46 Can. S.A.R. 540, followed.] A chattel mortgage, in so far as it covers property declared free from seizure under execution by s. 29 of the Executions Act, R.S.M. 1913, c. 66, and which the sheriff is forbidden by s. 40 to seize or take in execution, cannot be set aside as a fraudulent preference under the Assignments Act. [Bates v. Cannon, 18 Man. L.R. 7, and Field v. Hart, 22 A.L. (Ont.) 419, followed.] A creditor who attacks a conveyance by his debtor to another creditor as a fraudulent preference under ss. 40, 42 of the Assignments Act, R.S.M. 1913, c. 62, is an "unsecured creditor" within the meaning of s. 42, if he holds no security upon the estate of the debtor, although he may hold a security for his claim given by some third party, the test being, would the estate available for distribution amongst the unsecured creditors be augmented if the particular security were discharged. [Ex parte West Riding Banking Co., 19 Ch. D. at 112; Bell v. Ottawa Trust, 28 O.R. 519, followed; Clark v. Hamilton, 9 O.R. 177; Sun Ass'n. Co. v. Elliott, 31 Can. S.C.R. 91, distinguished.]

Robinson v. Maple Leaf, 26 Man. L.R. 238, 33 W.L.R. 776, 9 W.W.R. 1453.

ASSIGNMENT—FUTURE CROPS—SECURITY—EXECUTIONS.

An assignment of future crops by an insolvent as security for advances to pit in and harvest the crops, and to pay off a debt due the assignee, is not fraudulent or preferential, and will prevail against executions in the hands of the sheriff prior to the assignment.

McKillop & Co. v. Royal Bank, 33 D.L.R. 268, 10 A.L.R. 304, [1917] 1 W.W.R. 1149. [Reversed on another point, 40 D.L.R. 556, 56 Can. S.C.R. 220.]

MORTGAGE ON EVE OF INSOLVENCY—"UNJUST PREFERENCE"—PRESSURE.

Gauley v. Bank of Montreal, 30 D.L.R. 483, 34 W.L.R. 1192, 10 W.W.R. 1359.

CROPS.

It would seem that a bona fide sale of a growing crop by an execution debtor would be protected by s. 45 and, perhaps, by s. 48 of the Assignments Act (Alta.), c. 6, 1907, from attacks on the ground that it gave the purchaser a preference over creditors.

Elves v. Pratt, 32 D.L.R. 670, 11 A.L.R. 134, [1917] 1 W.W.R. 1384.

MORTGAGE—SURETY.

A creditor holding security from a surety cannot by any dealing to which the surety is not a party change or prejudice the position of the surety without discharging him; but when a creditor holds other security which he is bound to retain for the benefit of the surety, he does not discharge the surety by improper dealing with or by releasing the security, but the surety is then entitled to a credit upon the account for the true value of the security improperly released. [Taylor v. Bank of New South Wales, 11 App. Cas. 596, followed.]

Union Bank v. Makepeace, 38 D.L.R. 361, 40 O.L.R. 368. [Reversed 46 D.L.R. 193, 44 O.L.R. 202.]

MORTGAGE—ASSIGNMENTS AND PREFERENCES ACT, R.S.O. 1914, c. 134.

Russell v. Kloepfer, 16 D.L.R. 874, 6 O.W.N. 102.

SETTING ASIDE—PARTIES.

In an action to set aside a conveyance as a fraudulent preference, the person complaining thereof, if not a judgment creditor, must bring the action on behalf of himself and all other creditors. [Thompson v. Nelson, 4 W.W.R. 712, distinguished.] But the omission to do so is a mere informality which may be amended by application during argument. [Seane v. Duckett, 3 O.R. 370, and Woodbridge v. Norris, L.R. 6 Eq. 410, followed.]

Drinkle v. Regal Shoe Co., 20 B.C.R. 314, 7 W.W.R. 194.

BILL OF SALE—FRAUDULENT PREFERENCE—EXEMPT PROPERTY—R.S.S. 1909, c. 142, s. 39.

A bill of sale covering goods which are exempt under the Exemptions Act should not be set aside on the grounds of fraudulent preference as to such goods. [Jones v. Jesse, 10 W.L.R. 627, distinguished.]

Bailey v. Howatt, 6 W.W.R. 1155.

KNOWLEDGE OF INSOLVENCY.

If bona fide pressure is exercised by the transferee upon the debtors, and there is no fraud, the transfer should be upheld, even if the inference is that the debtor was at the time insolvent and the transferee knew of his financial condition.

Brown v. Bank of Montreal, 23 B.C.R. 68.

ASSIGNMENT TO SECURE PRESENT ADVANCE AND PRE-EXISTING DEBT—FRAUDULENT PREFERENCE.

Where a creditor receives an assignment of certain assets from a debtor as security for both a present advance and a pre-existing debt, and it appears from the evidence that the present advance was made to enable the creditor to afterwards plead the validity of the assignment under s. 4 of the Fraudulent Preferences Act; held, that the assignment is invalid both as to the present advance and the pre-existing debt.

Hazell v. Cullen, 20 B.C.R. 603.

ASSIGNMENTS ACT, R.S.M. 1913, c. 12, ss. 39, 48, 49—INTERPLEADER.

A sale of horses was made by the judgment debtor to the claimant in this interpleader issue, who was one of his creditors, at a time when both the debtor and the claimant knew that the former was in insolvent circumstances. The claimant paid no money to the judgment debtor at or after the time of the alleged purchase, but took the horses on account of moneys owing to him by the debtor and moneys for which he was surety on the debtor's behalf. Held, that the sale was void, under s. 32 of the Assignments Act, R.S.M. 1913, c. 12, as against the plaintiffs, judgment creditors, although their execution had not been placed in the sheriff's hands within 60 days after the sale in question, also that the sale or transfer could be impeached in interpleader proceedings under subs. 2 of s. 49 of the Act, notwithstanding anything in s. 48, the provisions of subs. 3 of that section being permissive only and not exclusive. [Brown v. Peace, 11 Man. L.R. 409, followed.] Semble, the claimant was bound by the directions in the interpleader order that the question of the validity of the sale should be tried by way of interpleader issue. Judgment in favour of the execution creditors with costs.

Canadian Bank of Commerce v. McAuley, 24 Man. L.R. 561, 28 W.L.R. 597.

ASSIGNMENTS AND PREFERENCES—CHATTEL MORTGAGE—MONEY ADVANCED TO INSOLVENT FIRM TO PAY CREDITOR—ABSENCE OF KNOWLEDGE OF INSOLVENCY—ACTION BY ASSIGNEE FOR BENEFIT OF CREDITORS—VALIDITY OF CHATTEL MORTGAGE—BONA FIDES—FINDINGS OF FACT OF TRIAL JUDGE.

Maher v. Roberts, 6 O.W.N. 380.

ASSIGNMENTS AND PREFERENCES—TRANSFER OF GOODS BY TRADER TO CREDITOR—INSOLVENCY OF TRANSFEROR—WAREHOUSE RECEIPTS—BILLS OF SALE AND CHATTEL MORTGAGES ACT—IMPEACHMENT

OF TRANSFER AS FRAUDULENT PREFERENCE—RESPONSIBILITY OF TRANSFERREE—MEASURE OF—GOODS OF NO VALUE.

Langley v. Simons Fruit Co., 6 O.W.N. 449.

ASSIGNMENTS AND PREFERENCES—ASSIGNMENT OF POLICY OF LIFE INSURANCE—CONSIDERATION—BONA FIDES—ABSENCE OF NOTICE OR KNOWLEDGE OF CLAIM OF CREDITOR—INTERPLEADER ISSUE BETWEEN ASSIGNEE AND EXECUTION CREDITOR—FINDING OF TRIAL JUDGE AGAINST FRAUD—APPEAL.

Bingeman v. Klippert, 6 O.W.N. 552.

MORTGAGE MADE BY MINING COMPANY TO PROMOTERS AND OWNERS OF STOCK—ADVANCES MADE BY PROMOTERS.

Northern Electric & Mfg. Co. v. Cordova Mines, 5 O.W.N. 156, 25 O.W.R. 105.

CHATTEL MORTGAGE—INSOLVENCY OF MORTGAGOR—KNOWLEDGE OF MORTGAGE—ANTECEDENT PROMISE—BILLS OF SALE AND CHATTEL MORTGAGE ACT, R.S.O. 1914, c. 135, s. 16—FOLLOWING PROCEEDS—ASSIGNMENTS AND PREFERENCES ACT, R.S.O. 1914, c. 134, s. 13—AMOUNT FOR WHICH MORTGAGE ANSWERABLE TO CREDITORS.

Crouch v. Wilford, 10 O.W.N. 169.

CHATTEL MORTGAGE—DURESS—INSOLVENCY—KNOWLEDGE—INTENT TO DEFRAUD CREDITORS—INSTRUMENT EXECUTED WITHIN 60 DAYS BEFORE ASSIGNMENT FOR CREDITORS—PRESUMPTION—ASSIGNMENTS AND PREFERENCES ACT, R.S.O. 1914, c. 134, s. 5—SALE OF CHATTELS BY ASSIGNEE—CONVERSION.

Clifton v. Towers, 10 O.W.N. 224, 11 O.W.N. 11.

CONVEYANCE OF LAND—MORTGAGE—ACTION BY JUDGMENT CREDITORS TO SET ASIDE—INTENT—JUDGMENT SETTING ASIDE CONVEYANCE—ACTION DISMISSED AS TO MORTGAGE.

Sovereign Bank v. McIntosh, 10 O.W.N. 410.

CHATTEL MORTGAGE MADE BY INSOLVENT DEBTOR—ACTION BY CREDITOR TO SET ASIDE—EVIDENCE—SUSPICION.

London Shoe Co. v. Levin, 11 O.W.N. 200.

CONVEYANCE OF LAND—SECURITY TO SURETY FOR GRANTOR'S INDEBTEDNESS TO BANK—ABSENCE OF FRAUD—DECLARATORY JUDGMENT—COSTS.

Ault v. Green, 12 O.W.N. 381. [Affirmed 13 O.W.N. 264.]

ASSIGNMENTS AND PREFERENCES—CONVEYANCES OF LAND BY INSOLVENT DEBTOR TO CREDITORS—PREFERENCES—ABSENCE OF INTENT TO PREFER.

Canadian Johns Manville, Ltd. v. Knight, 12 O.W.N. 211.

BANKS—KNOWLEDGE OF INSOLVENCY.

A demand by a bank to be put in possession of chattels, upon which it claims a lien, cannot be contested on the ground that the bank employed indirect and illegal means to secure, by the privilege, a guarantee for a debt "already existing" to the prejudice of the other creditors of a company, without alleging and proving the insolvency of the company and knowledge thereof by the bank.

Valentine v. Bank of B.N.A., 25 Que. K.R. 47.

A sale of the stock in trade of a restaurant, effected without complying with arts. 1569a et seq., C.C. (Que.), may be set aside as illegal and void.

National Breweries v. Chapman, 25 Rev. de Jur. 254.

ACTION TO SET ASIDE FRAUDULENT CONVEYANCE—PREFERRED PAYMENT—AGENCY—DELIVERY OF GOODS—INSOLVENCY C. C. ARTS. 1023, 1053, 1036.

Delivery by a merchant, within a few weeks of bankruptcy, of merchandise, the price of which had been advanced by the purchaser especially to allow the former to obtain them, does not constitute a preferred fraudulent conveyance. It is a delivery carrying out a contract of agency.

Lefavre v. Vermette, 28 Que. K.R. 193, affirming 53 Que. S.C. 27.

FRAUDULENT PREFERENCES ACT—NO "INTENT" TO PREFER—WHAT "CREDITOR" PROTECTED BY THE ACT—MORTGAGES—TRUSTEES—MORTGAGE GIVEN TO TRUSTEES—BENEFICIARIES SUBSEQUENTLY ASCERTAINED.

Mortgages of real estate given by defendant companies were attacked (after 60 days from their execution) as being void against creditors under the Fraudulent Preferences Act, but were held valid because from the extent and nature of the assets of the mortgagors, the surrounding circumstances and the nature of the indebtedness sought to be secured, there did not appear the "predominant intention" to prefer. Semble the "creditors" protected by said Act are only those existing when the instrument attacked was executed. [English Act distinguished.] The mortgages were given to plaintiffs as trustees, and some of the beneficiaries were named subsequently, to whom the plaintiffs became bound by a declaration of trust. Upon such ascertainment of beneficiaries the mortgage became a valid security in their favour.

Jones et al. v. Cameron Valley Land Co. et al., [1919] 1 W.W.R. 751.

FRAUDULENT PREFERENCE—ACTION BY JUDGMENT CREDITOR.

Gubb v. Vinegratsky, 20 Man. L.R. 311, 17 W.L.R. 54.

FRAUD—EQUIVALENT WORDS—ALLEGATIONS—THIRD OPPOSITION—ACTION PAULIENNE—LIMITATION—CREDITORS—CONSIGNANCE—DECLARATION OF TRUSTEE.

Fraud may be alleged without making use of that particular word, which has numerous equivalents. Thus fraud may be charged by saying: (a) that a judgment rendered by default has been obtained by surprise and by illegal proceedings; (b) that the attorney for the defendant neglected to look after the case and only used the plaintiff's name; (c) that he had connived between the plaintiff and the defendant to obtain judgment by default; (d) that the plaintiff had obtained the judgment on an erroneous declaration of the trustee of an insolvent estate without being authorized either by the inspectors or by the court. A tierce by a creditor to a judgment obtained by a creditor against a bankrupt, containing allegations of fraud, is of the nature of a paulienne action, and is prescribed in one year by art. 1040 C.C. (Que.) as to the party or tiers-opposant exercising the rights of the bankrupt and where he represents his simple contract creditors. Doctrine and jurisprudence state that simple contract creditors are bound by judgments given against their debtors, when such judgments only recognize the existence of one debt, carrying with it, by virtue of the law, a privilege or hypothec on the goods of the debtors. Nevertheless there is a difference of opinion where litigation is carried on solely on the existence of the privilege or hypothec. A judgment rendered on an attachment after judgment is without effect from the moment the principal judgment is itself reversed.

Touzin v. Peladeau, 25 Rev. Leg. 87.

CHATTEL MORTGAGE—UNJUST PREFERENCE.
Spotton v. Gillard, 18 O.W.R. 510.

ASSIGNMENTS AND PREFERENCES—AGREEMENT FOR SALE AND SUBSEQUENT TRANSFER OF LAND—TRUST—PREFERENCE.
Beliveau Co. v. Miller, 16 W.L.R. 469.

IV. Notice; rights and liabilities of purchaser.

(§ IV—15)—ONUS ON PARTY ATTACKING THE TRANSFER, WHEN.

The onus is upon the party attacking the validity of a transfer made to a creditor as an unlawful preference under the Fraudulent Preferences Act (P.A.C.), and bringing his action more than 60 days after the transfer attacked, as to which special provision is made by s. 3 (2a) to establish the mala fides of the transferee; hence, in the absence of proof of notice or knowledge on the part of the transferee of the transferor's financial embarrassment, the plaintiff will fail to make out a case of intent on the transferee's part.

Keop v. Smith, 20 D.L.R. 440, 20 B.C.R. 372, 29 W.L.R. 872, 7 W.W.R. 416.

ASSIGNMENT OF DEBTS—DEFECT OF NOTICE TO DEBTORS—INSOLVENCY—EXECUTION JUDGMENT—C.C. ARTS. 1032, 1570, 1571, 1970—C.C.P. ARTS. 113, 341—FRAUDULENT TRANSFER.

A judgment in a paulienne action which ordered that an assignment of commercial debts be set aside, and that the debts so transferred be declared to be part of the assets of the transferor, are sufficient to justify an execution judgment. An assignment of debts by a merchant to one of his creditors, and agreed to by the former some time before his bankruptcy, is void as regards third parties, especially creditors represented by the trustee of the insolvent, if the debtors had not been notified of the transfer before the failure. The assignee has no real possession against the debtors.

Gagnon v. Banque Nationale, 28 Que. K. B. 29.

(§ IV—16)—KNOWLEDGE OF TRANSFEROR'S FINANCIAL POSITION.

Where an insolvent firm sells its property, subject to a right of redemption, to a person who is aware of its insolvency, and uses the proceeds to pay certain creditors to the prejudice of the others, the sale will be annulled at the suit of the latter as being in fraud of their rights.

Landry v. McCall, 6 D.L.R. 793, 21 Que. K.B. 348.

PREFERENCES — KNOWLEDGE OF TRANSFEROR'S INSOLVENCY—INDEFINITENESS OF CONTRACT OF SALE.

Schlesinger v. Crowe, 16 D.L.R. 884, 14 E.L.R. 158.

KNOWLEDGE OF TRANSFEROR'S FINANCIAL CONDITION — CHATTEL MORTGAGES — MORTGAGE OF LAND — CONVEYANCE OF LAND—ACTION TO SET ASIDE—EVIDENCE — INSOLVENCY — KNOWLEDGE—ACTUAL ADVANCES—GOOD FAITH.

Saturday Night v. Horan, 4 O.W.N. 832, 24 O.W.R. 80.

ACTION TO SET ASIDE — INSOLVENCY OF GRANTOR—INTENT TO FRAUD ON PART OF GRANTOR — FAILURE TO SHOW KNOWLEDGE OF INSOLVENCY OR INTENT TO FRAUD OF PART OF GRANTEE.

Palangio v. Augustino, 10 O.W.N. 1, affirming 9 O.W.N. 244.

(§ IV—17)—INTENT TO DELAY AND FRAUD — INTENT OF BOTH PARTIES.

A chattel mortgage made with intent on the part of both mortgagor and mortgagee to delay and defraud the mortgagor's creditors will be declared invalid as against a writ of execution against the mortgagor on the trial of an interpleader issue following the seizure of the mortgaged goods by the sheriff.

Clare & Bockest v. Evans, 14 D.L.R. 227, 25 W.L.R. 626.

NOTICE OF TRANSFERREE'S FRAUD.

A fraudulent conveyance in contravention of art. 1035 C.C. (Que.) is made where a clerk buys the stock in trade of his employer when he knows that the latter is financially embarrassed and that he is selling to pay his debts.

Constantineau v. Buist, 18 Rev. de Jur. 40.

(§ IV—19)—RECOVERY BACK OF AMOUNT PAID OUT.

The purchaser as against whom a sale by an insolvent is set aside as fraudulent to the purchaser's knowledge cannot demand that if the sale be annulled he should be refunded the purchase price from the estate, but as the purchaser's money has gone to pay certain creditors, the court in annulling the sale will reserve to him any recourse which he may have after the affairs of the insolvent firm are wound up.

Landry v. McCall, 6 D.L.R. 793, 21 Que. K.B. 348.

V. Reservation of interest; change of possession.

(§ V—25)—SALE—WRITTEN ACKNOWLEDGMENT AS TO RETAINING TITLE.

Where there has been no delivery of the chattels and there is an absence of consideration on a pretended sale for value as to which each signed a written acknowledgment, the pretended seller in whose possession the acknowledgements were retained is not debarred from setting up his title and property in the chattels by the fact that the pretence of a sale was made up for the purpose of defrauding creditors, if the writing entered into was not in itself effective as a conveyance to transfer the ownership.

Sanders v. Hedman, 23 D.L.R. 833, 9 A.L.R. 18, 8 W.W.R. 664, affirming 18 D.L.R. 481.

VI. Transactions between relatives.

(§ VI—30)—Where a newly incorporated company claimed title to goods which up to its incorporation were in the possession or control of one of its shareholders as their apparent owner, but a formal transfer to the company was made by a bill of sale from a brother of the person so in possession and the company set up title solely under such bill of sale as against a levy made on the goods at the instance of an execution creditor of such apparent owner, the court will, in interpleader proceedings, on being satisfied that the transfer made by the bill of sale in the name of the brother to the company in exchange for shares was a part of a fraudulent attempt between the brothers and the company to put the goods out of the reach of creditors of the execution debtor, declare such goods to be still the property of the debtor and exigible under the execution.

Reindhardt Brewery v. Nipissing, etc., Bottling Works, 8 D.L.R. 261, 4 O.W.N. 366, 23 O.W.R. 377.

Where it appeared in a proceeding permitted by s. 5 of the Collection Act, R.S.N. S. 1900, c. 182, to be instituted by a judgment creditor for an examination of the financial condition, etc., of a debtor, the debtor in this case being one against whom judgment had been rendered in an action for slander, that a deed from the debtor executed to his wife was proved and recorded after he had received a letter calling for redress for the slander and that the debtor, after the action for slander had been brought, withdrew from the bank a fund over $600 deposited in the joint names of himself and wife, in which he had an interest of his own, and replaced the fund on the same day in his wife's name alone, these transactions bring the debtor within subs. 1 (e) of s. 27 of the Collection Act, R.S.S., 1900, c. 182, providing that if it appears to the officer conducting the examination of a judgment debtor that the latter has made a fraudulent disposition of his property, the officer may commit him to jail.

Henn v. Smith, 6 D.L.R. 48, 11 E.L.R. 1. Where a surety, to increase his security, plans and carries out in fraud of the other creditors, a scheme in which his brother is used as his more instrument in the transactions, equity will sheer the transaction of the brother's name and substitute that of the surety when necessary to shew the true nature of the transaction.

Stecher Lithographic Co. v. Ontario Seed Co., 7 D.L.R. 148, 46 Can. S.C.R. 540, varying 22 O.L.R. 577, 24 O.L.R. 503.

FAMILY ARRANGEMENTS — USE OF FIRM MONEY BY PARTNER.

Property purchased with money advanced to a partnership firm for that purpose, but the conveyance of which in fraud of the partnership was obtained to be made at the instance of one partner to a relative of his, who paid nothing for it, may properly be held subject to a resulting trust in favour of the firm on its insolvency where such grantee could set up as a consideration for same only a family arrangement with the partner, and no consideration as to the firm on whose credit the money to buy the property was obtained.

Sharp v. McNeil, 15 D.L.R. 73, 47 N.S.R. 406, 13 E.L.R. 425.

SUSPICIOUS CIRCUMSTANCES—ONUS SHIFTED, WHEN.

If the circumstances are suspicious in transactions between relatives which have the effect of defeating the claims of creditors, the onus is shifted to the purchaser to establish the bona fides of the transaction by clear and satisfactory evidence, and for this purpose the uncorroborated testimony of the parties to the transaction is, in general, not sufficient.

Kilgour v. Zaslavsky, 19 D.L.R. 420, 25 Man. L.R. 14, 30 W.L.R. 303, 7 W.W.R. 446.

RES IPSA LOQUITUR—BURDEN OF PROOF.

The principle of res ipsa loquitur applies to assignments made between near relations under suspicious circumstances, and when impeached by creditors the burden of proof is upon the defendant to establish by corroborative evidence, other than the testimony of interested parties, the bona fides of the transaction.

Keop v. Smith, 25 D.L.R. 355, 51 Can. S.C.R. 554, 8 W.W.R. 1203, reversing 20 D.L.R. 440, 20 B.C.R. 372.

CHATTEL MORTGAGE—BONA FIDE ADVANCES.

A chattel mortgage executed by a father to his son for actual bona fide money advances, consisting of a present advance and a previous undischarged mortgage, for the purpose of enabling the mortgagor to pay his debts and continue in business, is within the protection of ss. 44, 47 of the Assignments Act (Man.), and valid against creditors.

Richards v. Leonoff, 24 D.L.R. 180, 25 Man. L.R. 548, 31 W.L.R. 621, 8 W.W.R. 966.

CONVEYANCE BY HUSBAND TO WIFE — RECONVEYANCE—RIGHTS OF WIFE'S CREDITORS.

A voluntary conveyance of land by a husband to his wife in anticipation of death, to be reconveyed to him upon his recovery from his illness, a reconveyance of the land in pursuance of such arrangement does not render the reconveyance fraudulent against the execution creditors of the wife.

Windsor Auto Sales Agency v. Martin, 25 D.L.R. 549, 33 O.L.R. 354.

CONVEYANCE TO WIFE IN TRUST—FRAUD—RIGHT TO TITLE.

Where property has been conveyed from husband to wife with intent to evade execution, the wife verbally agreeing to reconvey the land when the judgment was satisfied, the husband, because of his fraudulent intent, cannot recover the property after the satisfaction of the debt, though the land was by statute exempt from execution. It is impossible to say the creditor was not prejudiced—the onus of proving that was on the plaintiff. The conveyance of exempted lands could not prejudice creditors. The fraudulent intent was therefore not fraudulent as against them. [Muckleston v. Brown, 6 Ves. 52, applied.]

Scheuerman v. Scheuerman, 28 D.L.R. 223, 52 Can. S.C.R. 625, 10 W.W.R. 379, reversing 21 D.L.R. 593, 8 A.L.R. 417.

HUSBAND AND WIFE—GOOD FAITH—CORROBORATION.

On an application under r. 462, calling on the judgment debtor and his wife to shew cause why the property should not be sold to realize the amount to be levied under an execution, the burden of proof is on the defendants to shew that a transfer from the husband to the wife is not made to delay, hinder, or defraud creditors, and the judge should not consider that burden satisfied unless the evidence of the parties themselves is corroborated by some other evidence. [Green, Swift & Co. v. Lawrence, 7 D.L.R. 589; Keop v. Smith, 25 D.L.R. 355, followed.]

Killips v. Porter, 26 D.L.R. 326, 33 W.L.R. 380, 9 W.W.R. 949.

BONA FIDES.

A bona fide conveyance by husband to wife for a past indebtedness, not equal to the full value of the property conveyed is not void, as against creditors, under 13 Eliz. c. 5; the continuance in possession by the husband, in a case where he assisted the wife in conducting a hotel business on the property, is not a circumstance of fraud. But a conveyance to a child for past services, presumably voluntary when rendered and partly paid for, is void under the statute.

Union Bank v. Murdock, 34 D.L.R. 150, [1917] 2 W.W.R. 112. [Reversed in part, 37 D.L.R. 522, 28 Man. L.R. 229, [1917] 3 W.W.R. 829.]

TRANSACTIONS BETWEEN RELATIVES—FAMILY SETTLEMENT—PARENT AND CHILD—PRESUMPTIONS AS TO FRAUD—CONSIDERATION.

A family settlement whereby a father conveys land to his son in consideration of the son transferring to his brother land belonging to him, reserving life support to the father and mother, where no actual fraud is shown and there is no intent to hinder, delay or defraud creditors, is a valid transaction, as against a creditor seeking to set it aside as fraudulent under 13 Eliz. c. 5, especially where such arrangement was made before the debt upon which the creditor obtained his judgment was contracted; such a conveyance from the father to the son is based upon a good and valuable consideration and is an honest family arrangement which will be protected in equity where it appears to have been made bona fide. Services rendered by a child during minority may constitute a consideration in support of a conveyance of land by the parent to the child as against the creditors of the parent. In order to determine whether a disposition of property by a debtor, under a family settlement, is void as to creditors under 13 Eliz. c. 5, the state of circumstances at the time the conveyance is executed must be regarded and not subsequent events, except such as must have been in the contemplation of the transferor at the time of transferring the property, and from which a fraudulent intent at that time may be gathered. Where a conveyance of lands under a family settlement is attacked by creditors, for alleged inadequate consideration, deeds under such settlements are exempt to some extent from the ordinary rules which affect other deeds, the consideration being there composed partly of value and partly of natural love and affection, not easily estimated on a scale of dollars and cents, yet favoured by the courts.

Jack v. Kearney, 10 D.L.R. 48, 41 N.B.R. 292, 11 E.L.R. 401, reversing 4 O.L.R. 836.

CORROBORATION.

The bona fides of a conveyance by husband to wife cannot be established by the uncorroborated testimony of the parties thereto. [Koop v. Smith, 25 D.L.R. 355, 51 Can. S.C.R. 554, followed.]

Union Bank v. Murdock, 37 D.L.R. 522, [1917] 3 W.W.R. 829, reversing 34 D.L.R. 150, 24 Man. L.R. 229.

TRANSACTIONS BETWEEN HUSBAND AND WIFE—IMPEACHMENT BY CREDITORS—PROPERTY PURCHASED WITH WIFE'S EARNINGS.

O'Leary v. Ferguson, 24 D.L.R. 911.

TRANSACTIONS BETWEEN HUSBAND AND WIFE—PRESUMPTION OF FRAUD—BURDEN OF PROOF OF GOOD FAITH.

Doucet v. Side Solo, 27 D.L.R. 732, 49 N.S.R. 485.

TRANSACTION BETWEEN PARENT AND CHILD—ASSIGNMENT OF SHARE OF DISTRIBUTION—ABSENCE OF INTENT TO DEFRAUD—DELAY IN SETTLING ASIDE.

Revillon v. Whalen, 24 D.L.R. 887, 32 W.L.R. 325.

CONVEYANCE FROM HUSBAND TO WIFE—ABSENCE OF INTENTION TO DEFEAT, HINDER OR DELAY CREDITORS—CIRCUMSTANCES NEGATING FRAUD—ACTION TO SET ASIDE CONVEYANCE.

Bank of Montreal v. Stair, 46 D.L.R. 718, 44 O.L.R. 79.

NEAR RELATIONS—SUSPICIOUS CIRCUMSTANCES—ONUS OF PROOF.

A transfer of land between husband and wife impeached as being in fraud of creditors, and the circumstances attending the transfer being suspicious, the onus is shifted to the transferee to establish the validity of the conveyance.

Imperial Bank v. McLellan, 12 S.L.R. 415, [1919] 3 W.W.R. 607.

TRANSACTIONS BETWEEN RELATIVES—SETTLING ASIDE—PRIORITY OF MORTGAGE.

Bankroft v. Milligan, 4 O.W.N. 1605, 24 O.W.R. 915.

HUSBAND AND WIFE—INSOLVENCY OF HUSBAND—VOLUNTARY CONVEYANCE TO WIFE—PRETENDED CONSIDERATION—EVIDENCE—INTENT.

Long Dock Mills Co. v. Dickey, 7 O.W.N. 692.

HUSBAND AND WIFE—PROPERTY CONVEYED TO WIFE BY STRANGER—INTEREST OF HUSBAND—RIGHTS OF CREDITOR OF HUSBAND—ABSENCE OF FRAUD.

Bateman v. Scott, 7 O.W.N. 722, 8 O.W.N. 256. [Appeal to Can. Sup. Ct. quashed, 29 D.L.R. 369, 53 Can. S.C.R. 145.]

HUSBAND AND WIFE—INTENT TO DEFEAT CREDITORS OF HUSBAND—CLAIM OF CREDITOR AGAINST HUSBAND—CONTRACT—NOVATION—EVIDENCE.

Canadian Pressed Brick Co. v. Cole, 8 O.W.N. 499, 9 O.W.N. 55.

HUSBAND AND WIFE—VOLUNTARY CONVEYANCES OF LAND—HAZARDOUS BUSINESS—INTENT TO DEFRAUD CREDITORS—FINDINGS OF TRIAL JUDGE.

Canadian Wood Products v. Bryce, 12 O.W.N. 409.

PURCHASE OF CHATTEL BY SON WITH MONEY GIVEN BY FATHER—SUBSEQUENT BILL OF SALE BY SON TO FATHER—ATTACK UPON, BY CREDITOR OF SON—CREDITOR'S CLAIM ARISING AFTER TRANSACTION—NO CREDITORS AT TIME OF TRANSACTION—FAILURE TO PROVE FRAUD—FINDING OF OFFICIAL REFEREE IN PARTNERSHIP ACTION—CLAIMANT UNDER BILL OF SALE NOT A PARTY—RES INTER ALIOS ACTA.

Davies v. Benson, 12 O.W.N. 295.

CONVEYANCE OF LAND BY HUSBAND TO WIFE — FRAUDULENT CREDITORS — EVIDENCE — HUSBAND'S OATH OF TRUTH ADMITTED. [1919, 15 O.M.N. 16. [AF. 1919, 15 O.M.N. 111.]

ASSIGNMENTS AND PREFERENCES — AGRICULTURAL SALE OF LAND — DEATH OF WIFE — CONVEYANCE OF LAND TO CREDITOR — MANAGEMENT BY ANOTHER CREDITOR — POWERS OF VENDOR — FORTHRIGHT PAYMENT BY ANOTHER CREDITOR — EXERCISE BY SON — HUSBAND AND WIFE.

Part v. Barfield, 17 O.M.N. 122. ACTION TO SET ASIDE CONVEYANCE OF LAND BY HUSBAND TO WIFE — EVIDENCE — NEW TRIAL.

Ward v. Smart, 17 O.M.N. 139. HUSBAND AND WIFE — VOLUNTARY CONVEYANCE — EXTENT — RIGHTS OF EXECUTION CREDITORS.

Camphell Flour Mills Co. v. Ellis, 10 O.M.N. 307. TRANSFERRING PROPERTY TO ANOTHER TO PROTECT IN REMEDY — ASSISTANCE OF CREDITORS — ASSISTANCE OF CREDITORS.

Where it appears that the purpose of a person transferring property to his wife was to protect it against his creditors, though it did not result in any creditor being prejudiced, the court should not assist such person in obtaining the restoration of his property. [See Scherman v. Scherman, 10 W.L.R. 379, followed.]

Thornhill v. Thornhill, [1919] 2 W.V.L.R. 198. HUSBAND AND WIFE — PREFERENCE AS TO GIFT — ACCOMMODATION EMPLOYMENT. In an action to set aside a conveyance as fraudulent, the whole of the circumstances surrounding the execution must be looked at, and then the question asked, whether the conveyance was in fact executed with the intent to defraud and delay creditors. Upon the payment of income by a wife to a husband, a presumption arises that such payment is made by way of gift. The liability on an accommodation endorsement is not a debt, at most it is an obligation, which may in certain circumstances become a debt.

London Bank v. Tyson, 7 W.V.L.R. 1117. TRANSFER OF LAND BY HUSBAND TO WIFE — VOLUNTARY CONVEYANCE — INTENT TO DEFRAUD CREDITORS — INSOLVENCY OF HUSBAND.

Ballhull v. Katz, 16 W.L.R. 1. VII. Subsequent creditors. (§ VII—23)—VOLUNTARY CONVEYANCE—SETTLING ASIDE AT INSTANCE OF SIBS—A voluntary conveyance that is made with intent to effect future creditors only, may be set aside at the instance of one who subsequently became a creditor, although there were no creditors remaining whose debts arose before the date of the conveyance. [See MacKay v. Douglas, F.L.C. 14 Eq. 106, followed.]

McGarr v. Orana Wine Vendors Co., 13 D.L.R. 81, 48 C.O.R. 84, 44, affirming 3 D.L.R. 229, 27 O.L.R. 319. VOLUNTARY CONVEYANCE — STRAIGHT CREDITOR.

No far as a creditor's action to set aside his debtor's voluntary conveyance is dependent upon the creditor's own claim incurred after the conveyance was made and not upon the existence of prior debts, he must show fraudulent intent.

Dancy v. Brown, 19 D.L.R. 867, 31 O.L.R. 132. SURETY.

A surety is within the category of creditors within the purview of 13 Edw. and the Assignments Act, 1907 (Mia., c. 6, s. 44, in actions to set aside fraudulent conveyances.

Robertson v. Wilson, 24 D.L.R. 274, 8 W.V.L.R. 1068, 31 W.L.R. 708. ACTION PREFERENCE.

A simulated sale does not withdraw the property sold from the purview of the vendor and can be attacked by the vendor's creditors more than a year after they obtained knowledge of it. In opposition to a fraudulent action, an action for a declaration that the sale was simulated, can be brought by a creditor whose debt is subsequent to the simulated contract. [Continued in Review.]

Cloutier v. Giguere, 49 Que. S.C. 202. VIII. Remedies. (§ VIII—10)—Upon an application by a creditor, under the Assignments Act, R.S. N.S. c. 145, to set aside a deed of conveyance of property made by the insolvent debtor in contravention of s. 1 with intent to hinder and delay the creditor, the deed may be declared void as against the creditor without a finding of the precise amount of the creditor's claim, provided some amount is found to be due, an accounting to follow if necessary.

Whitford v. Brimmer, 7 D.L.R. 190. [AFFIRMED, 12 D.L.R. 702, 41 N.S.R. 275. VOLUNTARY ASSIGNMENT BY INSTANT TO WIFE—FURTHER TRANSFER THEREAFTER—CERTAIN CREDITOR — ASSIGNMENT—WIFE—HUSBAND CONVEYS PROPERTY TO WIFE UNDER CIRCUMSTANCES WHICH WOULD MAKE THE TRANSFER VOID AS AGAINST CREDITORS AND SHE CONVEYS THE PROPERTY TO A CREDITOR HAVING A CLAIM OF EQUAL VALUE THEREOF, THE TWO CONVEYANCES MAY BE ATTACKED UNDER ss. 39, 40 of the Assignments Act (Mia.).] Where the husband conveys property to the wife under circumstances which would make the transfer void as against creditors and she conveys the property to a creditor having a claim of equal value thereof, the two conveyances may be attacked under ss. 39, 40 of the Assignments Act (Mia.).

Where the husband conveys property to the wife under circumstances which would make the transfer void as against creditors and she conveys the property to a creditor having a claim of equal value thereof, the two conveyances may be attacked under ss. 39, 40 of the Assignments Act (Mia.).

by the debtor and his wife. [Smith v. Sugarman, 13 W.L.R. 671, distinguished.]
 Kilgour v. Zaslavsky, 19 D.L.R. 427, 25 Man. L.R. 22, 30 W.L.R. 310, 7 W.W.R. 446.

PROCEEDINGS UNDER CREDITORS RELIEF ACT—PRIORITIES—MORTGAGES AND EXECUTIONS.

It is not obligatory upon the court to apply the scheme of distribution under the Creditors Relief Act, R.S.O. 1914, c. 81, in its entirety to moneys in court realized in equitable proceedings to set aside a fraudulent conveyance; so where there was a succession of mortgages registered at different dates with groups of executions during each interval, a fund so realized for the benefit of creditors and mortgagees will be distributed with reference to the priorities of the various mortgages, and by grouping the executions which intervened between any two mortgages so that each group of executions as a whole would rank ahead of mortgages afterwards placed on the land. [Roach v. McLauchlan, 19 A.R. (Ont.) 496; Brothaupt v. Marr, 20 A.R. (Ont.) 689, followed.]

Union Bank v. Taylor, 23 D.L.R. 679, 34 O.L.R. 255.

VOLUNTEERS AND RESERVISTS ACT—INTENTION TO DEFAUD.

In order to obtain an order permitting the commencement of an action under the Volunteers and Reservists Act (Alta. 1916, c. 6, s. 9), to prevent property from being disposed of, on the ground that it is being done fraudulently to defeat creditors, there must be clear and convincing evidence of an intention to so defraud.

Re Reservists and Volunteers Relief Act, 30 D.L.R. 220, [1917] 1 W.W.R. 44.

ACTION PAULIENNE.

A sale by an insolvent of all his assets to his cousin, under which no purchase money was passed at the time of the conveyance, though later some of the proceeds were used to pay some claims, is fraudulent and preferential, and may be successfully attacked, in an action paulienne, by a secured creditor, who was paid the secured amount, for a balance of an unsecured amount due him.

Banque Nationale v. Kennedy, 33 D.L.R. 714, 49 Que. S.C. 463.

REVOCATORY ACTION (PAULIENNE)—ESSENTIALS—FRAUD—INJURY.

It is essential to the success of a revocatory action that there should not only be fraud but also injury to the complaining creditor; if it appear that the debtor has no other assets, or that the creditor is deprived of his chance to realize on the remaining assets, the latter is prejudiced, and is entitled to succeed.

Raymond v. Rioux, 37 D.L.R. 370, 26 Que. K.B. 325, 23 Rev. de Jur. 519.

ACTION FOR TORT—JUDGMENT NOT GIVEN—SETTING ASIDE CONVEYANCE—FRAUDULENT CONVEYANCES ACT (R.S.O. 1914, c. 105, s. 1)—CREDITOR.

Where the fraudulent purpose in making a conveyance of land is plainly to defeat the expected execution in a pending action for tort, the conveyance may be set aside although judgment in the action for tort has not been delivered. It is not necessary under the Fraudulent Conveyances Act (R.S.O. 1914, c. 105, s. 1) that the plaintiff shall be a creditor at the time of bringing an action to set aside a conveyance as fraudulent.

Hopkinson v. Westelman, 48 D.L.R. 597, 45 O.L.R. 298.

ACTION TO SET ASIDE—EVIDENCE—INTENT—KNOWLEDGE OF GRANTEE—CLAIMS OF CREDITORS—COSTS—INTEREST—OPPRESSIVE, BARGAIN—FINDINGS OF FACT OF TRIAL JUDGE—APPEAL.

McNairn v. Goodman, 14 O.W.N. 97, affirming 12 O.W.N. 374.

ACTION TO SET ASIDE—STATUS OF PLAINTIFF—SECURED CREDITOR—ADEQUACY OF SECURITY—HUSBAND AND WIFE.

Dolson v. Jones, 15 O.W.N. 53.

ACTION TO SET ASIDE—EVIDENCE—INTENT.

Stone v. Stander, 11 O.W.N. 315; 12 O.W.N. 59.

ACTION PAULIENNE—PRESCRIPTION.

A donation of an immovable by a father to his son to indemnify the latter for advances made to the amount of the approximate value of the immovable, is a deed with an onerous title. If the father was insolvent at the time the contract was made the deed is only deemed to have been given with intention to defraud if the donee was at the time aware of this insolvency. The parties having an interest to demand the revocation of a contract by the action paulienne, are presumed to have known of the day of its registry and the prescription under art. 1040 C.C. (Que.) begins to run from that date.

Syndies Forestiers v. Mignault, 51 Que. S.C. 419.

(§ VIII—41)—TO WHOM AVAILABLE.

Under the Quebec Bulk Sales Act, 1 Geo. V, c. 39, only the unpaid creditor whose goods are included in the bulk sale to a third party has the right to attack the sale made without the formalities required by law, i.e., without the purchaser having obtained from the vendor an affidavit containing the names, addresses of, and amounts due to the unpaid creditors whose merchandise is being transferred by the bulk sale. An ordinary unpaid creditor or one whose goods have not been disposed of by their debtor by means of a bulk sale have no interest in attacking a sale even though made without the due formalities, such creditors having their ordinary common law right guaranteed by art. 1033, et seq. C.C.

(Que.), in case the sale is made in fraud of their rights.

Ramsay v. Turcotte, 7 D.L.R. 27, 42 Que. S.C. 459.

One action to set aside as fraudulent as against creditors two successive conveyances of the same property may be brought against both grantees where it is alleged that both conveyances were part of the same fraudulent scheme and that both grantees were parties to the fraud.

Burns v. Matejka, 1 D.L.R. 837, 4 A.L.R. 58, 19 W.L.R. 863, 1 W.W.R. 431.

TO WHOM AVAILABLE—SIMPLE OR JUDGMENT CREDITOR.

Where a creditor is seeking, on behalf of himself and all other creditors, to have a conveyance declared fraudulent and void, it is only necessary to allege and prove that he had a claim against the debtor, and not that the claim had been carried to judgment.

McDermott v. Oliver, 43 N.B.R. 533.

ACTION BY JUDGMENT CREDITOR TO SET ASIDE—EVIDENCE—ABSENCE OF INTENT TO DEFAUD—ESTOPPEL—UNREGISTERED RECEIPTS—CONVEYANCE TO DEBTOR—CANCELLATION—DISMISSAL OF ACTION.

Davidson v. Forsythe, 7 O.W.N. 762.

ACTION TO SET ASIDE—EVIDENCE—INTENT TO DEFAUD.

Aspinall v. Diver, 7 O.W.N. 828.

REMEDIES—TO WHOM AVAILABLE—ACTION BY JUDGMENT CREDITOR OF GRANTOR TO SET ASIDE—AGREEMENT—CONSIDERATION—LIEN FOR SERVICES—EVIDENCE—FINDING OF FACT OF TRIAL JUDGE—APPEAL.

Ellis v. Ellis, 7 O.W.N. 283.

ALMSHOUS JUDGMENT—VOLUNTARY CONVEYANCE.

A married woman who brings suit against her husband for separation from bed and board, on the ground of cruelty, and prays for a condemnation against him for alimony, and obtains judgment pursuant to her conclusions, becomes his creditor, and may bring an action paulienne against him and his donee in avoidance of a donation, made by him in the interval between the institution of her suit for separation and the judgment thereon, as being a gratuitous conveyance by her insolvent debtor of a nature to defraud and injure her.

Maxwell v. Halladay, 44 Que. S.C. 52. [Affirmed, 20 D.L.R. 981, 23 Que. K.B. 543.] (8 V.H.—42)—INJUNCTION.

Where a debtor has fraudulently transferred property a nonjudgment creditor is entitled to have further transfers enjoined until he can obtain judgment in his action to impeach the conveyance. [Fairchild v. Elmslie, 2 A.L.R. 115, followed.]

Albertson v. Secord, 1 D.L.R. 804, 4 A.L.R. 90, 20 W.L.R. 64, 1 W.W.R. 657, 659.

(8 V.H.—43)—The fact that a debtor applied some of his own money to the purchase of property in his wife's name would not render the whole property liable for payment of the creditors' claims, but such liability should be restricted to the amount so applied, with a proportional share of increase if the property has increased in value.

Burns v. Matejka, 1 D.L.R. 837, 4 A.L.R. 58, 19 W.L.R. 863, 1 W.W.R. 431.

FRAUDULENT PREFERENCES.

See Fraudulent Conveyances; Insolvency; Assignment for Creditors; Corporations and Companies; Banks.

Annotation.

Assignments for creditors—Rights and powers of assignee: 14 D.L.R. 503.

ATTACHMENT BEFORE JUDGMENT—RECEIVING—CONTESTING—C.C.P. ARTS. 919, 922, 931.

The payment of a debt by an insolvent creditor can be considered as a preferred payment, and can be annulled as such only where it has been done under circumstances which show an intention to defraud. When a creditor whose affairs are in disorder, realizes his assets as far as possible, and applies all his receipts to the payment of laborers without on each occasion paying the salary of his manager, so doing does not constitute a fraudulent preference. His conduct does not justify the issuing of an attachment before judgment.

Miner Lumber Co. v. Gagnon, 25 Rev. Leg. 126.

FREIGHT CARRIERS.

See Carriers, III.

FUGITIVE FROM JUSTICE.

See Extraditor; Aliens.

GAME LAWS.

GAME AND FISHERIES LAWS.

The jurisdiction of the magistrature under the Ontario Game and Fisheries Act, 7 Edw. VII., c. 49, is not ousted unless the accused acted under a claim of right, which is reasonable as well as bona fide; it is not enough that the claim is honestly made, if it be in fact merely fanciful and imaginary. [Cornwall v. Sanders, 2 B. & S. 206, followed.]

R. v. Harran, 3 D.L.R. 753, 3 O.W.N. 1107, 20 Can. Cr. Cas. 72, 21 O.W.R. 951.

PROVINCIAL LAW—INDIAN RESERVE.

The regulation of Indian reserves being under the exclusive jurisdiction of the Dominion Parliament, a Provincial game protection law is not effective, as regards such Indian reserve, to prohibit an Indian there resident from hunting and killing a deer on the reservation for his own use; a conviction under the Game Protection Act (B.C.) on a charge brought against an Indian for having venison in his possession without a permit, was therefore quashed.

[Madden v. Nelson & Fort Sheppard R. Co., [1899] A.C. 626, applied.]

R. v. Jim, 26 Can. Cr. Cas. 236, 22 B.C. R. 106.

"LOADED GUN."

A "pump" gun having shells in its magazine only is not a loaded gun within the meaning of s. 8 (a) of the Game Act, Sask. 1913, c. 58, s. 16.

Cunningham v. Hall, 33 W.L.R. 557.

GAMING.

See also Lottery.

As affecting validity of contract, dealing on margin, see Contract, III D; Brokers, I.

Annotations.

Lottery offence under Criminal Code: 25 D.L.R. 401.

Betting house offences: 27 D.L.R. 611.

Use of automatic vending machines for gambling: 33 D.L.R. 642.

(§ 1-1)—IMPERIAL ACTS—APPLICATION TO PROVINCES.

As the English statutes passed in the reign of Geo. II, prohibiting gaming and lotteries deal with offences merely mala prohibita, and not mala in se, they do not extend proprio vigore to Canada.

R. v. Hung Gee, 13 D.L.R. 44, 21 Can. Cr. Cas. 404, 6 A.L.R. 167, 24 W.L.R. 605, 4 W.W.R. 1128.

STATUTORY PRESUMPTION—GAMING IMPLEMENTS USED IN GAME NOT UNLAWFUL PER SE—OBSTRUCTING SEARCH—KNOWLEDGE THAT PERSON OBSTRUCTED WAS OFFICER—FAN-TAN—"BANKER."

In the absence of evidence that a constable was armed with a warrant when he was prevented from, obstructed or delayed in entering a place supposed to be used as a common gaming house, or that the person obstructing him knew that he was a constable, no presumption arises under ss. 985, 986, Cr. Code, that such place was used as a common gaming house. It is only implements used in playing such games as are unlawful per se that are within the purview of s. 985, which declares that certain paraphernalia and instruments used in playing any unlawful game found in a place suspected of being used as a common gaming house, shall, in a trial under ss. 228, 229, be prima facie evidence of the fact that such place was used as a common gaming house. Although a bank is kept in the game of fan-tan, which is one of mixed chance and skill, it is not within the prohibition of ss. 226, 228, Cr. Code, unless one player acts as banker to the exclusion of the others. [The Queen v. Petrie, 3 Can. Cr. Cas. 439, not followed.]

R. v. Hung Gee, 13 D.L.R. 44, 21 Can. Cr. Cas. 404, 6 A.L.R. 167, 24 W.L.R. 605, 4 W.W.R. 1128.

PROVING ELEMENT OF CHANCE.

There must be evidence or admissions to show that the game being played is one in which there was the element of chance. See Can. Dig.—68.

fore a magistrate can find the place to be a common gaming house under Cr. Code s. 226. The fact that money, buttons and chips were found on a police raid does not make out a prima facie case where there was no proof that the game of fan-tan was an unlawful one. Where s. 985 of the Cr. Code is relied upon to create a statutory presumption from the finding of instruments of gaming used in playing any unlawful game, the search order or warrant should be proved by its production. The provisions of s. 226, par. (b) as to what constitutes a common gaming house notwithstanding that there is no proof of gain by the keeper, do not apply to a game in which, though a bank is kept, the chances of being banker are equal to all the players.

R. v. Hung Hoy, 36 D.L.R. 765, 28 Can. Cr. Cas. 229, 11 A.L.R. 518, [1917] 2 W.W.R. 958.

GAMING — CLUB — LIABILITY — RETURN OF MONEY LOST — C.C. (QUE.) ART. 1927.

The exception as to gaming, under art. 1927, C.C. (Que.) is a public order, and can be supplemented by the judge of his own accord. Article 1927 makes no distinction, and applies, from that time, to all gaming contracts prohibited or not by the criminal law, except in the case of fraud. One who plays cards in a club with other members, and who loses a considerable sum, has no way of getting his money back from the club. Even though a rake-off is taken from the players, the club is not made liable for any offence against the loser. An action brought for this purpose can be rejected on inscription in law.

Lavalée v. Sailors Club, 25 Rev. Leg. 423.

(§ 1-2)—BONA FIDE CLUB — "KEEPER" — PERSONAL GAIN.

A bona fide club where the members frequently play games of chance and skill, and from a pool from the money staked to expend for refreshments and for the upkeep of the club, is not a common gaming house within the definition of s. 226 Cr. Code, and the steward cannot be convicted as a "keeper" under s. 228.

R. v. Riley, 30 D.L.R. 584, 26 Can. Cr. Cas. 402, 25 B.C.R. 192, [1917] 1 W.W.R. 325.

RESTAURANT PERMITTING GAMING.

Playing at cards to determine who shall pay for drinks, food or cigars for the use of the players is gaming; and a restaurant keeper who knowingly permits such to be done in his restaurant is guilty of keeping a common gaming house.

R. v. Bloomfield, 27 Can. Cr. Cas. 45.

COMMON GAMING HOUSE — CLUB ADMITTING NONMEMBERS — "RAKE-OFF" FOR CLUB'S BENEFIT — PLACE KEPT "FOR GAIN."

Where club premises are maintained chiefly for gaming and are open to both members and nonmembers, and the club gets the benefit of a "rake-off" collected from the games, the place is a common gaming house under Cr. Code, s. 226. The place is kept "for gain" if the rake-off goes to reduce the members' expenses of operating the club. [R. v. Riley, 30 D.L.R. 584, 26 Can. Cr. Cas. 402, 23 B.C.R. 192 distinguished; R. v. Ham, 29 Can. Cr. Cas. 431, 25 B.C.R. 237 followed; R. v. Long Kee, 26 B.C.R. 78, was decided on the law prior to the Code amendment made by 1918 (Can.) c. 16, s. 2, effective May 24, 1918, whereby clause (1a) was added to s. 226 of the Code.]

R. v. Long Kee, 31 Can. Cr. Cas. 217, 26 B.C.R. 78.

FAN-TAN — CLUB — DISORDERLY HOUSE.

Fan-tan is a mixed game of chance and skill, and when it is played in a club with others than members participating in the game and a rake-off is taken to the uses of the club from their winnings in like manner as from the winnings of members, the place is a disorderly house within Cr. Code, ss. 226A and 229. [R. v. Brady, 10 Que. S.C. 539, applied; R. v. Riley, 26 Can. Cr. Cas. 402, 30 D.L.R. 584, 23 B.C.R. 192, distinguished.]

R. v. Ham, 29 Can. Cr. Cas. 431, 25 B.C.R. 237.

KEEPING GAMING HOUSE—PLAYING CARDS.

Evidence that defendant was proprietor of a pool room and that he and others remained there after hours for the purpose of playing the game of chance known as poker, and that in the course of the game money was deposited in a box known as a "kitty" and used in part in paying for refreshments supplied by defendant, held sufficient to support a conviction for keeping and maintaining a disorderly house, to wit, a common gaming house.

The King v. Bertrand, 52 N.S.R. 127, 31 Can. Cr. Cas. 2.

(§ 1—4)—PRIZE CONTESTS — EXHIBITION ASSOCIATION — HORSE RACE — CONDITIONS OF QUALIFICATION—"TRAINED" IN SPECIFIED DISTRICT — MEANING OF.

Where one of the conditions of a horse race held in connection with an exhibition or fair conducted by an incorporated Exhibition Association was that the race was open only to foals owned and foaled in western Canada raced and trained in that territory, the training referred to means the entire training of the horse, and if the horse which came in first was taken outside of the territory mentioned and trained elsewhere to any substantial extent, a disqualification resulted upon which the owner of the second horse in the race may recover by action the first prize awarded at the race to the owner of the disqualified horse, although the plaintiff's protest made to the race officials was overruled by them, if the contestants are not shown to have been subject to any rule or racing regulations making the decision of the race officials final. [Jones v. Davenport, 7 B.C.R. 452, distinguished; Marryat v. Broderick, 2 M. & W. 371, applied.]

Sporle v. Edmonton Exhibition Assn., 18 D.L.R. 747, 7 A.L.R. 383, 29 W.L.R. 654, 7 W.W.R. 245, affirming 14 D.L.R. 769.

POOL SELLING — BETTING — JURISDICTION OF POLICE MAGISTRATE.

A person charged before a police magistrate with a contravention of s. 235 Cr. Code (as re-enacted by 9 & 10 Edw. VII, c. 10, s. 3), dealing with betting, wagering, pool selling, etc., has the right to elect to be tried by a jury, and cannot without his consent be tried summarily by the police magistrate.

R. v. Helliwell, 18 D.L.R. 559, 30 O.L.R. 594, 23 Can. Cr. Cas. 146.

(§ 1—5)—GRAIN TRANSACTION—DELIVERY.

Section 231, Cr. Code does not apply to a transaction for the purchase and sale of grain in which delivery is intended.

Smith Grain Co. v. Pound, 36 D.L.R. 615, 10 S.L.R. 368, [1917] 3 W.W.R. 516.

(§ 1—6)—SEARCH ORDER — FINDING OF BETTING SLIPS.

That the place was kept as a common betting-house may be inferred from the finding, as the result of a search order under Cr. Code, s. 641, of numerous betting slips on defendant's person when arrested and of bank books found on search of his personal belongings where he lived, which disclosed continuous deposits of large amounts from month to month, quite out of proportion to his cigar store business, and as to which the defendant offered no explanatory evidence, particularly where he had said, after his arrest, that he had been "too long in the game."

R. v. Johnson, 27 D.L.R. 607, 25 Can. Cr. Cas. 124, 35 O.L.R. 215.

MEANS OF RESISTING POLICE SEARCH—COMMON GAMING HOUSE — CR. CODE, S. 641.

Where windows are barred and special efforts made to hide what is going on in a building used by Chinamen as a club-house in which it was rumored gambling was being carried on, such cause of suspicion may be shown in justification of a warrant of search under Cr. Code, s. 641, in a civil action against the chief constable; it is not a sufficient ground for removing the suspicion or for shewing the grounds of suspicion unreasonable, to prove that only members of the club had access to the premises, and this apart from any necessity for finding that there had been any infraction of the law in the manner of conducting the club.

Wah Kie v. Cuddy, 19 D.L.R. 378, 28 W.L.R. 747, 23 Can. Cr. Cas. 325.

COMMON GAMING HOUSE — FINDING GAMING IMPLEMENTS — NECESSITY THAT ENTRY BE UNDER WARRANT OR ORDER — RESISTING ENTRY OF OFFICER.

The prima facie presumption that a place is a common gaming house created by s. 985 Cr. Code from the finding by officers of

2
o
o
a st d f la
a p
w pe
T
to m de st te by as ti is or 80
Ki
"F
"K
C
g at ag be ra a pr me an ise dei
10
Be
l kev
wh abl
by 225
Co
I 714
KE
I
Inc
I troi soci mor ish am

certain implements of gaming therein, arises only when the officer enters the place under a warrant or order. Where the circumstances create no statutory presumption under s. 985, 986, a conviction under s. 228 for keeping a common gaming house cannot be sustained in the absence of evidence that a "bank" was kept by one or more of the players exclusive of the others, or that there was a gain to accrue to the accused from permitting the gaming to be carried on. The fact that an officer on seeking admittance to a place suspected of being a common gaming house, finds the door locked does not constitute a wilful prevention, obstruction or delay of his entrance sufficient to raise the prima facie presumption created by s. 986, Cr. Code that the place was used as a common gaming house; the presumption is created only when something active is done amounting to a wilful obstruction or prevention.

R. v. Jung Lee, 13 D.L.R. 896, 5 O.W.N. 80, 22 Can. Cr. Cas. 63, 25 O.W.R. 63.

KEEPING COMMON GAMING HOUSE.

R. v. Do Ling et al., 27 Can. Cr. Cas. 446.

"KEEPING" COMMON GAMING HOUSE.

A conviction for the indictable offence of "keeping" a common gaming house (Cr. Code s. 228) based upon the playing of a game of chance by others in a store operated by the defendant can be maintained against the latter only in the event of its being proved that he participated in the rake-off of the game or otherwise obtained a gain by permitting such gambling on his premises. See Cr. Code, s. 228a (Amendment of 1913) as to summary conviction of an occupier who knowingly permits premises to be used for the purposes of a disorderly house.

R. v. Charlie Yee, 27 Can. Cr. Cas. 441, 10 S.L.R. 62, [1917] 1 W.W.R. 1307.

BETTING HOUSE OR GAMING HOUSE.

Keeping a common gaming house and keeping a common betting house, either of which are declared to constitute the indictable offence of keeping a disorderly house by the same section of the Cr. Code (s. 228), are distinct offences.

The King v. Mah Sam, 19 Can. Cr. Cas. 1. COMMON GAMING HOUSE — JURISDICTION OF POLICE MAGISTRATE — EXCESSIVE FINE — AMENDING CONVICTION.

R. v. Shing, 20 Man. L.R. 214, 15 W.L.R. 714.

KEEPING COMMON GAMING HOUSE—"GAIN" —PAYMENT FOR CARDS AND REFRESHMENTS.

R. v. Dubois, 17 W.L.R. 35.

INCORPORATED CLUB — OFFICERS AS "KEEPERS."

The secretary and treasurer in active control and management of an incorporated social club which maintains for gain a common gaming house for its members are punishable under Cr. Code, s. 228 (2), as amended in 1913, as keepers of a disorderly house, although the real owner and keeper was the incorporated club.

R. v. Merker, 27 Can. Cr. Cas. 113, 37 O.L.R. 582.

(§ 1-7)—LOOKING ON.

Playing and looking on in a gaming house are separate and distinct offences under Cr. Code s. 229, and a conviction in the alternative is not validated by s. 725.

The King v. Toy Moon, 19 Can. Cr. Cas. 33, 21 Man. L.R. 527, 19 W.L.R. 480.

(§ 1-20)—AUTOMATIC GUM-VENDING MACHINE — FREE TRADE CHECKS WITH PURCHASES.

An automatic vending machine is properly held to be a contrivance for unlawful gaming where, in addition to the chewing gum or other article obtainable from the machine on deposit of a coin, there is issued in some cases along with the article purchased one or more trade checks redeemable in goods at the store where the machine is kept and which may at the customer's option be replayed into the machine on the chance of more trade checks or a blank; the element of gaming remains notwithstanding the fact that the number of trade checks, if any, at the next operation of the machine is indicated in advance to the person using it, as, in addition to the fixed quantity of chewing gum given for the 5-cent coin, the operator obtains the opportunity of winning the trade checks indicated and the benefits incident thereto or in case of drawing a blank with his purchase he received the benefit of a fresh turn of the indicator and the chance that the machine would indicate trade checks along with the next purchase were he to repeat the operation with another coin. [R. v. Langlois, 23 Can. Cr. Cas. 43; R. v. Stubbs (No. 2), 25 D.L.R. 424, 24 Can. Cr. Cas. 303, disapproved; R. v. Stubbs (No. 1), 21 D.L.R. 541, approved.] Semble, that Cr. Code, s. 986, as amended 1913, has the effect of making it prima facie evidence that a room or place is a common gaming house if it is found fitted or provided with any means or contrivance for unlawful gaming, by a constable who enters by consent of the proprietor and without any search warrant or order under s. 641, as amended 1913; and it is not necessary for the prosecutor to prove there was any resorting to the place (s. 226 (a)) as part of their prima facie case where the provisions of s. 986, apply.

R. v. O'Meara, 25 D.L.R. 503, 25 Can. Cr. Cas. 16, 34 O.L.R. 467.

AUTOMATIC GUM-VENDING MACHINE — FREE CHECKS WITH PURCHASES — INDUCEMENT TO REPLAY EACH CHECK FOR MORE CHECKS OR BLANK — WHETHER GAMING ESTABLISHED.

To constitute gaming the result must be uncertain, and a charge of gaming is not established where a slot machine from which chewing gum is sold automatically at the ordinary cost of 5 cents per packet distributes in addition free checks varying in number with each sale but indicated to the customer before he deposits his coin although these checks are redeemable elsewhere for goods or may, at the customer's option, be replayed in a section of the machine on the chance of more checks or a blank. [R. v. Fortier, 17 Can. Cr. Cas. 423, applied.]

R. v. Langlois, 23 Can. Cr. Cas. 43.

AUTOMATIC VENDING MACHINE — TRADE CHECKS.

The maintenance of an automatic vending machine so contrived as to issue in irregular and varying quantities at intervals of its operation certain tokens called "trade-checks" which could be replayed into the machine with the chance of gaining more trade-checks, will make the person in charge of the premises criminally responsible for permitting the place to be used as a common gaming house (Cr. Code ss. 228, 228a) if such trade-checks have a value by reason of their being exchangeable for goods and the occupant of the premises permits two persons to repeatedly operate the machine by way of gaming and knowing that they have arranged that the trade-checks received by both in return for the coins each of them has deposited shall go to the one receiving the larger number of trade-checks. [R. v. Stubbs (No. 2), 24 Can. Cr. Cas. 303, 25 D.L.R. 424, 9 A.L.R. 26, distinguished.]

R. v. Berry, 34 D.L.R. 573, 27 Can. Cr. Cas. 278, 11 A.L.R. 236, [1917] 1 W.W.R. 817.

AUTOMATIC MACHINE—ELEMENT OF CHANCE.

Despite the fact that an automatic gum-vending machine, into which coins are placed and from which gum and trading checks are obtained, indicates in advance of each operation precisely what will be obtained, it is a gambling device, because the operator speculates each time he works it on the combination for the succeeding operation which will result.

R. v. Gerasse, 29 D.L.R. 523, 26 Can. Cr. Cas. 246, 34 W.L.R. 965.

The court was equally divided upon the question whether an automatic vending machine which indicates in advance exactly what the receipts from each drawing will be is a "contrivance for unlawful gaming," within the meaning of the Cr. Code.

R. v. Smith, 30 D.L.R. 587, 26 Can. Cr. Cas. 398, 23 B.C.R. 197, [1917] 1 W.W.R. 553.

The term "gambling, wagering or letting machine" as used in Cr. Code, s. 235, par. (b) (Code Amendment of 1913) is not restricted by its context to apparatus for the recording of bets or wagers or pool selling; any "gambling machine" is within the prohibition of par. (b) as enacted by 3 Geo. V., Can. c. 13, s. 13, and this will include an automatic gum-vending machine so contrived as to entice patrons to gamble by holding out the chance of getting, along with the gum for a 5-cent coin, something worth much more under a process of chance drawing. Where an automatic gum-vending machine is worked so as to give the customer along with a package of chewing gum a blank or a varying number of disks or trade-checks available for being replayed into the machine, and the manifest object is to induce people to gamble by enticing them with the chance of getting something of much larger value than the coin deposited by repeated operations of the machine, it is none the less a gambling machine because each operation of it causes to be displayed the chance result which will follow the next deposit of either coin or disk.

Bareham v. The King, 31 D.L.R. 431, 26 Can. Cr. Cas. 211, 25 Que. K.B. 354.

GUM-VENDING MACHINE — PREMIUMS.

A person does not keep a common gaming house under Cr. Code, ss. 228, 986, because of the maintenance of a chewing gum vending machine with a varying premium feature automatically operated in connection therewith whereby the exact result of the next operation of the machine is indicated immediately following its last operation; the fact that the inducement is thereby held out that in some future play of the machine the operator may receive something more than an adequate return for his money, does not introduce the element of chance essential to constitute the crime.

R. v. Stubbs, 25 D.L.R. 424, 24 Can. Cr. Cas. 303, 9 A.L.R. 26, 8 W.W.R. 902, reversing 21 D.L.R. 541.

EFFECT OF LICENSE.

The fact that slot machines are licensed in Quebec Province, under the authority of the Act 5 Geo. V, 1915, c. 23 (Que.), has not the effect of making the use of them legal if operated for gambling prohibited by criminal law.

R. v. Bernier, 33 D.L.R. 640, 27 Can. Cr. Cas. 225, 22 Rev. Leg. 258.

SUNDAY OBSERVANCE — GAMBLING — PLAYING CARDS — C.S.U.C. c. 104, s. 3.

The unrevoked Lord's Day Act, C.S.U.C. c. 104, s. 3, in force in Ontario, makes it a criminal offence to be engaged in playing cards for money in a private place, on a Sunday.

The King v. Quick, 17 Can. Cr. Cas. 61.

VAGRANCY—GAMING—EVIDENCE.

R. v. Kolotyla, 17 W.L.R. 398.

GARAGE.

See Automobiles.

GARNISHMENT.

I. WHEN GARNISHMENT LIES.

- A. In general, before recovery of judgment.
- B. Against whom.
- C. What subject to garnishment.
- D. Situs of debts.

II. EFFECT; RIGHTS, DUTIES, AND LIABILITIES OF GARNISHEE.

- A. In general.

- B. Duty as to exemptions; effect of failure to set up.
- C. Effect of judgment.
- D. Effect of payment.
- E. Priorities.

III. PROCEDURE.

See also Attachment; Execution; Levy and Seizure.

I. When garnishment lies.

A. IN GENERAL, BEFORE RECOVERY OF JUDGMENT.

(§ I A—1)—ACTION FOR BROKER'S COMMISSION—REFUSAL OF PRINCIPAL TO COMPLETE SALE.

A claim for a commission earned for finding a purchaser for land of which the owner refused to complete the sale, is a "debt" sufficient to permit a garnishment summons to issue in the action, notwithstanding alternative claims for damages being prevented from earning the commission, or for remuneration as on a quantum meruit for work done at the request of the defendant.

Van Ripper v. Bretall, 13 D.L.R. 352, 6 A.L.R. 145, 25 W.L.R. 162, 4 W.W.R. 1289.

ALLEGATIONS—AGREEMENT.

Where an agreement is to purchase an entire property and the statement of claim shows that the first payment was payable only on delivery of the transfer, no cause of action is shown upon which a garnishee summons can be issued until the statement of claim alleges that a transfer had been delivered or tendered.

Goose Lake Grain Co. v. Wilson, 40 D. L.R. 271, 11 S.L.R. 163, [1918] 2 W.W.R. 311.

METHOD OF EXECUTING.

Seizure by garnishment cannot have the effect of putting into the hands of the garnishee goods which the defendant possesses in his own name.

Robertson v. Guibault, 54 Que. S.C. 343.

POWER OF REGISTRAR — "COMPANY" — "BANK."

Section 20 of the Attachment of Debts Act (B.C.) does not take away the power which is expressly given to the district registrar to issue a garnishee order under s. 3 of said Act. A company is not a bank, nor is a bank a company.

Hogue v. Leitch, 22 B.C.R. 10.

LIQUIDATED DEMAND—LIQUIDATED DAMAGES OR PENALTY.

Upon a summary application to set aside a garnishee summons the question whether the sum of money agreed to be payable as "liquidated damages" was or was not in its essence a "penalty" should not be entered into.

International Supply Co. v. Black Diamond Oil Fields, 8 W.W.R. 475.

(§ I A—3)—QUEBEC PRACTICE.

A creditor is not entitled to the saisie-arrière before judgment for the reason that the debtor had received a considerable sum from the tiers-saisi and had not paid his creditors including the plaintiff when the debtor proves that he paid the whole sum to his creditors and has a good defense to the plaintiff's claim which he intends to contest.

Bode v. Eddy, 14 Que. P.R. 255.

B. AGAINST WHOM.

(§ I B—5)—The test as to the liability of a fund to be attached in garnishment proceedings under r. 911 (Ont. Con. rr. 1907), is the ability to serve the garnishee within Ontario or the ability to bring the case within Ont. Con. r. 162, if service cannot be made in Ontario.

McMulkin v. Traders Bank, 6 D.L.R. 184, 26 O.L.R. 1, 21 O.W.R. 649.

Although the liability of two defendants to the plaintiff is a joint one, a debt due to one of them only may be attached by garnishment.

Nohren v. Auten, 3 A.L.R. 310.

(§ I B—7)—NONRESIDENT.

When a company tiers-saisie has its head office at Montreal, the fact that the defendant works for it in another province under control of one of its branches does not withdraw the company from the jurisdiction of this court. When it affects the salaries mentioned in pars. 11, 12 of art. 599 C.C.P., the seizure is declared tenante by the law itself; a motion to have it so declared is unnecessary and will be dismissed.

Brandies v. East, 13 Que. P.R. 183.

When it is proven, in an attachment before judgment, that the defendant, who is a labourer, has left the country, the garnishee may be ordered, by the judgment rendered on the saisie-arrière itself, to pay not only the seizable portion of the defendant's salary, but the whole of it. No further proceedings are necessary.

Carter v. Belmont, 13 Que. P.R. 231.

(§ I B—9)—AGAINST CORPORATE DIRECTORS — ASSIGNMENT OF DEBTS.

Funds in a bank transferred by a company to its directors for the purpose of disbursements, and paid out by them accordingly, cannot be garnished against the directors, as a "debt due from the garnishee to the judgment debtor," except in so far as the transfer or assignment may be fraudulent.

Brown v. Fidelity Oil & Gas Co., 35 D. L.R. 759, 12 A.L.R. 367, [1917] 2 W.W.R. 951.

(§ I B—12)—ASSIGNEE—CREDITORS TRUST DEEDS ACT.

An assignee for the benefit of creditors appointed under the provisions of the Creditors Trust Deeds Act (R.S.B.C., 1911, c. 13) is an officer of the court, and subject to the summary jurisdiction of the court; his duty is to distribute the money in his hands in a particular way, and no debt is created which can be the subject-matter of attachment against him as garnishee.

Hoyes v. Fraternal Order of Eagles, 39 D.L.R. 516, 24 B.C.R. 505, [1918] 1 W.W.R. 873.

C. WHAT SUBJECT TO GARNISHMENT.

Of insurance, assignment, see Insurance, IV A—161.

(§ 1 C—15)—It is not essential to the binding effect of a garnishing order that the debt to be attached should be one for which action could be brought at the date of the order. [MacPherson v. Tisdale, 11 P.R. (Ont.) 263, followed.]

Empire Sash & Door Co. v. McGroovy; C.P.R. Co. (garnishees), 8 D.L.R. 27, 22 Man. L.R. 676, 22 W.L.R. 372, 3 W.W.R. 129.

BANK DEPOSIT OF INDIAN LIVING ON RESERVE.

Money deposited to his own credit in a bank beyond the Indian reserve by an enfranchised Indian living on a reserve, is subject to garnishment as personal property outside of the reserve and not within the prohibition of s. 102 of that Act as to liens or charges on nontaxable property of Indians.

Avery v. Cayuga, 13 D.L.R. 275, 28 O. L.R. 517.

OF TAXES DUE MUNICIPALITY—"DEBT."

Royal Bank v. Hodgson, 36 D.L.R. 799.

RENT—EFFECT OF ASSIGNMENT.

An attaching order does not bind prior assigned rent unless such assignment is proved to be invalid because made with intent to defeat, delay or hinder creditors or to give an unjust preference. [Barnett v. Eastman, 67 L.J.Q.B. 517, followed.]

Holliday v. Bank of Hamilton, 38 D.L.R. 128, 40 O.L.R. 203.

RENT DUE FROM GOVERNMENT.

Rent due from the government of Manitoba is subject to garnishment under s. 2 of the Garnishment Act, c. 77, R.S.M. 1913.

Elliott v. Forrester, [1918] 2 W.W.R. 220.

OF FUNDS IN BANK.

A bank cannot be garnished for an unascertained sum accruing due, and payable to it on behalf of a customer already indebted to the bank, when only the happening of certain contingencies will make the bank owe a portion of the money when paid to the customer.

Rat Portage Lumber Co. v. Harty, 39 D.L.R. 425, 40 O.L.R. 322, affirming 12 O. W.N. 211.

PENSION—TORONTO POLICE BENEFIT FUND

—ACT RESPECTING BENEVOLENT, PROVIDENT AND OTHER SOCIETIES, R.S.O. 1897 c. 211, s. 12—ONTARIO COMPANIES ACT, 7 EDW. VII. c. 34—INSURANCE ACT, s. 33.

Bell v. Bell, 15 O.W.N. 24.

WORKMEN'S COMPENSATION—COSTS—ATTORNEY'S FEES.

The compensation granted by the Workmen's Compensation Act not being transferable or seizable, a garnishment by the attorneys of the employer, for their costs, will be set aside upon an inscription in law.

Manchuck v. Rubber Regenerating Co., 19 Que. P.R. 371.

ATTACHMENT OF DEBTS—MONEYS NOT YET PAYABLE.

All debts due and accruing due are attachable under garnishee proceedings. [MacPherson Fruit Co. v. Hayden, 2 W.L.R. 427, followed.]

Nichols & Shepard Co. v. Gailing, 19 D. L.R. 899, 6 W.W.R. 1328, reversing 6 W.W.R. 1235.

ATTACHMENT AFTER JUDGMENT—FUNDS IN HANDS OF WIFE—C.P. 667, 3 GEO. V. c. 59—TAXATION OF GARNISHEE.

A woman ordered, by default, to pay to the creditors of her husband the 1/4th of his valued salary, will not be allowed, eight months afterwards, to declare that she has no moneys belonging to her husband, nor will she be taxed on such declaration.

Couture v. Lagace, 16 Que. P.R. 210.

WAGES.

It is in the interests of justice that a broad and reasonable interpretation should be given to art. 685 C.C.P. as amended. It should apply not only to those employees who receive no wages, but to those who receive inadequate wages for their services.

Labresque v. Moisan, 18 Que. P.R. 81.

BANK ACCOUNT—NAME.

A garnishee order was taken out in an action in which Henri Gautschi was defendant, and served on a bank in which one Gautschi Henri had an account. The bank notified Gautschi Henri that his account was garnisheed, and paid the amount of the account to their solicitors for payment into court. The solicitors advised the bank that they should not pay the money into court, and it was thereupon put back into the defendant's account, from which it was subsequently paid out. Henri Gautschi kept his account in the bank in the name of Gautschi Henri. Held, that on the facts the bank has concluded that Henri Gautschi and Gautschi Henri were one and the same person and is liable for the amount garnisheed.

Smith v. Gautschi, 23 B.C.R. 455, [1917] 2 W.W.R. 225, reversing decision of McInnes, C. J.

CHEQUE DRAWN BY THIRD PERSON ON BANK IN FAVOUR OF JUDGMENT DEBTOR—POSSESSION OF JUDGMENT CREDITORS.

Re Davis and Korn, 4 O.W.N. 1308, 24 O.W.R. 612.

WHAT SUBJECT TO—JUDGMENT DEBT—ENTRY OF JUDGMENT STAYED.

Sully v. Madigan, 4 O.W.N. 981, 1003, 24 O.W.R. 251, 368.

SEIZURE BY GARNISHMENT—VALUATION OF BOARD AND LODGING—JURISDICTION—C. P., ART. 685.

Where a garnishee declares that the defendant is in his service, and that part of his salary consists of board and lodging for himself and his family, the plaintiff may ask the court to ascertain the value of that portion of defendant's remuneration, and the court has jurisdiction, under art. 685, C.C.P., to determine the money value of the board and lodging.

Schnauffer v. Nurnberger, 56 Que. S.C. 277.

MONEY IN BANK.

Moneys in a bank standing to the credit of two persons and against which cheques may be drawn by either or both, cannot be attached by a third person, who is the creditor of one of such persons exclusively.

Runk v. Jackson, [1917] 1 W.W.R. 485.

(§ 1 C—16)—QUEBEC PRACTICE—DEBTOR HUSBAND WORKING FOR HIS WIFE WITHOUT WAGES.

Couture v. Legace, 20 D.L.R. 959.

(§ 1 C—17)—MONEY IN HANDS OF AGENT—DEBTS BY TRUSTEES.

Mortgage money transferred by a bank, at the mortgagee's instructions, to the credit of his agent to be paid to the mortgagor as trustee for a corporation, is not in the possession of nor constitutes a debt due by the agent to the mortgagor in his own right; and a debt due to a person who is merely a trustee, and who has no personal interest therein, cannot be garnished by his creditors.

Bailey v. Imperial Bank, 27 D.L.R. 484, 9 A.L.R. 315, 34 W.L.R. 141, 10 W.W.R. 317, varying 33 W.L.R. 387.

(§ 1 C—18)—INSURANCE MONEY.

Under Manitoba K.B. rr. 759, 761, the claim of the assured under a policy of fire insurance which provided that the loss should not be payable until after 30 days after the completion of the proofs of loss, cannot be attached by garnishing order before completion of the proofs of loss. [Lake of the Woods Milling Co. v. Collin, 13 Man. L.R. 154, followed.]

Brookler v. Security National Ins. Co. 23 D.L.R. 593, 25 Man. L.R. 537, 31 W.L.R. 460, 8 W.W.R. 861.

INSURANCE MONEY.

Defendant conveyed to a trust company, in trust for bondholders, all rights accrued or thereafter to accrue to it. Held, that the conveyance covered a sum of money paid by an insurance company to its agent, and that the money in the hands of the agent was not subject to garnishee process at the instance of a judgment creditor of the defendant. Also that, as against an attaching creditor, the equitable title of the trust company was perfect without notice, and, therefore, there was no fund upon which the attachment could operate. The mere circumstances that insurers, doing business outside the jurisdiction of the court, send money to their agent within the jurisdiction with instructions to pay it to the defendant, imposes no liability on the part of the agent to the defendant, in the absence of assent on the part of the agent to pay the money in accordance with the instructions received. The plaintiff in such case is not within the provisions of Ord. 43, r. 1, and has no right to the money in question.

Terrell v. Port Hood Richmond R. etc. Co., 45 N.S.R. 360.

MONEYS PAYABLE UNDER FIRE INSURANCE POLICY—"DEBT"—ELECTION OF INSURERS TO PAY MONEY TO INSURED—PAYMENT INTO COURT—CLAIM OF ASSIGNEE OF INSURED.

Jobin Martin Co. v. Tyne, 11 O.W.N. 279.

(§ 1 C—18b)—FUTURE EARNINGS.

Judgment creditors who have obtained a garnishee order attaching all debts due the debtor from a partnership firm of which the debtor is an employee and from which in addition to his wages he receives a percentage of profits under an agreement lawful under the Ontario Masters and Servants Act, 10 Edw. VII. c. 73, s. 3, which does not create any relation in the nature of a partnership, have no right to enter into an inquiry as to the organization of the garnishee's firm for the purpose of shewing that the judgment debtor is partner therein.

Bartlett v. Bartlett Mines, 3 D.L.R. 289, 3 O.W.N. 958.

FUTURE RENT, AS DEBT OWING OR ACCRUING DUE.

Town of Morse v. Lyone, 37 D.L.R. 600, 10 S.L.R. 357, [1917] 3 W.W.R. 351.

(§ 1 C—19)—OF "DEBTS, LIABILITIES, OBLIGATIONS"—DAMAGES.

A sum of money agreed upon in settlement of a claim for damages arising out of breach of contract and tort is within the category of "debts, obligations and liabilities, owing, payable or accruing due" within the meaning of the Attachment Act (R. S.B.C. 1911, c. 14, ss. 3, 4), and subject to garnishment.

Lanning v. Klinkhammer, 35 D.L.R. 611, 23 B.C.R. 84.

CLAIM FOR UNLIQUIDATED DAMAGES.

An action for breach of warranty of quantity upon a sale of goods is a "claim for damages" within the meaning of section 146 of the Division Courts Act, 10 Edw. VII. (Ont.) c. 32, and the plaintiff in such an action cannot garnish before judgment.

McCreary v. Brennan, 3 D.L.R. 318, 3 O.W.N. 1052.

UNLIQUIDATED DAMAGES.

Where a person has a claim for damages against another which the latter admits, but there is no agreement between them fixing the amount thereof, the claim is not an ascertained debt or liquidated amount and, therefore, cannot support a garnishee summons. [Waterloo Mfg. Co. v. Allan, 36 D.L.R. 596, followed.]

Macfarlane v. Owen, [1917] 3 W.W.R. 271.

"CLAIM AVAILABLE UNDER EQUITABLE EXECUTION."

The expression "such claims and demands as could be available under equitable execution," in s. 4 of the Attachment of Debts Act, refers only to ascertained debts. [Lake of the Woods Milling Co. v. Collins, 13 Man. L.R. 154, followed.] Therefore moneys which will be payable if the holder of an option decides to exercise it are not attachable.

Ryall v. Nelson, [1917] 3 W.W.R. 647.

(§ I C—20)—MONEY DUE CONTRACTOR—BUILDING CONTRACT.

Moneys earned by a contractor under contracts for the erection of buildings, and payable by instalments as the work progresses on certificates of the engineer employed by the proprietor, should be deemed to be "accruing due" and therefore attachable by a garnishing order at the suit of a creditor, (a) in the case of a completed contract, at the date of completion, (b) in the case of a contract abandoned by the contractor before completion and subsequently completed by the proprietor, at the date of the abandonment; provided that, in both cases, the engineer has subsequently given his certificates shewing that the amounts were payable to the contractor, and the garnishee has paid the moneys into court, unless it has been proved affirmatively that the certificate of the engineer was to be a condition precedent to the moneys becoming payable.

Empire Sash & Door Co. v. McGreevy, C.P.R. Co. (garnishees), 8 D.L.R. 27, 22 Man. L.R. 676, 22 W.L.R. 372, 3 W.W.R. 129.

(§ I C—21)—DAMAGES FOR PERSONAL INJURIES.

Damages granted as compensation for bodily harm are subject to seizure, unless they are adjudged by the court as allowance for maintenance.

Vézina v. Clavet, etc., Co., 49 Que. S.C. 118.

(§ I C—22)—UNASCERTAINED LEGACY.

The claim of a residuary legatee against the executors is not a debt "due or owing" from the executors attachable under Con. v. 911 (Ont. Con. R. 1897). [Deeks v. Strutt, 5 T.R. 690; Jones v. Tanner, 7 B. & C. 542, applied.]

Gilroy v. Conn, 2 D.L.R. 131, 3 O.W.N. 732, 21 O.W.R. 326.

(§ I C—23)—MONEY OF CLIENT IN SOLICITOR'S HANDS.

Where a creditor seizes in the hands of solicitors money alleged to be due and owing to his debtor and the solicitors declare that such debtor is their client and owes them more than they owe him, the seizing creditor can have no more rights than his debtor, and in order to have such seizure maintained must bring certain and conclusive proof that the garnishees are really indebted to his debtor.

Bernard v. Pelissier, 8 D.L.R. 545.

(§ I C—24)—JOINT PAYEE OF PROMISSORY NOTE.

A debt to be attachable under garnishment process must be a debt due to the judgment debtor alone, and where the debt is due to the judgment debtor jointly with another, it cannot be attached.

Lekas v. Zappas, 10 D.L.R. 646, 6 S.L.R. 197, 23 W.L.R. 560, 3 W.W.R. 1148.

D. SITUS OF DEBTS.

(§ I D—30)—WAGES—WINDING-UP ACT—JURISDICTION.

A garnishee order nisi issued by the Supreme Court of Ontario at the suit of the liquidator of an insolvent company, under the provisions of the Winding-up Act (R. S.C. 1906, c. 144), is no answer to a workman's claim for judgment under the Master and Servant Act (R.S.S. 1909, c. 149), for wages earned in Saskatchewan. (Discussion as to the extraterritorial jurisdiction of provincial courts under the Dominion Winding-up Act, upon which the court was equally divided.)

Henderson v. C.P.R. Co., 30 D.L.R. 62, 9 S.L.R. 62, 34 W.L.R. 1147, 10 W.W.R. 1281.

Moneys paid into court in Manitoba by the garnishees could not be affected by any legal proceedings in the courts of another province.

Empire Sash & Door Co. v. McGreevy; C.P.R. Co. (garnishees), 8 D.L.R. 27, 22 Man. L.R. 676, 22 W.L.R. 372, 3 W.W.R. 129.

RENTS.

Debts are generally to be looked upon as situate in the country where they are properly recoverable or can be enforced. Rent accrued due for a house in Alberta is situate in Alberta.

Beveridge v. Potter, [1917] 1 W.W.R. 702.

(§ I D—31)—NONRESIDENT GARNISHEE—INSURANCE COMPANY—AGENT.

By virtue of O. XLIII, r. 1 (N.S.), a judgment creditor has no right to garnishee the funds of the judgment debtor in the hands of a garnishee not within the jurisdiction of the court; the fact that the garnishee, an insurance company, has an agent within the jurisdiction, or the garnishee's assent thereto, cannot change the result. [Terrell v. Port Hood R. & Coal Co., 45 N.S.R. 360; Ranney v. Morrow, 3 Pugs. (N.B.) 270; Canada Cotton Co. v. Parmelee, 13 P.R. (Ont.) 308; Parker v. Odette, 16 P.R. (Ont.) 69; Boswell v. Piper, 17 P.R. (Ont.) 257, followed.]

Taylor v. Tucker, 26 D.L.R. 646, 49 N.S.R. 469.

GARNISHMENT—ACTION FOR UNLIQUIDATED DAMAGES.

Hart v. Dubrule, 20 Man. L.R. 234, 15 W.L.R. 602.

AFFIDAVIT SWORN BEFORE ISSUE OF WRIT—INFORMATION AND BELIEF.

Stewart v. Ross, 3 S.L.R. 401, 15 W.L.R. 425.

ASSIGNMENT OF DEBTOR BEFORE JUDGMENT, OBTAINED—GARNISHEE PROCEEDINGS.

Williamson v. Woodliss, 16 B.C.R. 346.

AFTER JUDGMENT—WRIT NOT RETURNED.

If a writ of attachment after judgment is not returned into court, the garnishee cannot ask by motion "main levée" of said garnishment.

Cham Mou Yiu v. Hum Jack, 12 Que. P.R. 204.

II. Effect; rights, duties, and liabilities of garnishee.

A. IN GENERAL.

(§ II A—35)—OF FUNDS IN BANK—EFFECT AND VALIDITY OF ASSIGNMENT THEREOF BY JUDGMENT DEBTOR—TRUST.

Bank of Hamilton v. Black, 37 D.L.R. 801, 24 B.C.R. 394, [1917] 3 W.W.R. 909.

EFFECT OF SERVICE—DEBTOR'S RIGHTS AND LIABILITIES, HOW LIMITED.

The effect of the service of a garnishee summons is merely to stop or bind the debt, that is, to prevent the person who owes it, or the defendant, from dealing with it in any way so as to prejudice the rights of the attaching creditor, but subject to these rights being secure the defendant may deal with the debt as he chooses.

Stacey Lumber Co. v. Cazier, 17 D.L.R. 823, 8 A.L.R. 59, 28 W.L.R. 945, 6 W.W.R. 1382.

EFFECT OF ASSIGNMENT.

The assignment of a debt sought by garnishment prior to the taking out of the garnishee order, and without notice thereof, is in itself ground for setting aside the garnishee order, though no notice of the assignment had been given.

Taylor v. Tucker, 26 D.L.R. 646, 49 N.S. R. 469.

DEBTS—ASSIGNMENT TO BANK—SECURITY.

H., a customer of a bank, had contracts with a railway company, by which he was to cut and deliver to the company, by May, 1916, certain piling, for which he was to be paid a specified price per foot. In July he assigned to the bank, as security for all his existing or future indebtedness to the bank, all the moneys due or that might become due to him from the railway company under the contracts. The plaintiffs, who had a judgment against H. and execution in the sheriff's hands, obtained, in December, an order attaching all debts owing or accruing due from the railway company and the bank to H., and served the order on both garnishees:—Held that an application for payment to the judgment creditors of an unascertained sum said to be due by the bank to H. was properly dismissed. When the bank received payment from the railway company, the bank did not in any sense receive money belonging to the plaintiffs or money impressed with any trust in favour of the plaintiffs—the attaching order does not transfer the garnish or any property in the debt attached; the bank were not liable by reason of their taking the money from the railway company with knowledge that it had been attached in the hands of the railway company.

Rat Portage Lumber Co. v. Harty, 39 D.L.R. 425, 40 O.L.R. 322.

DISPUTE NOTE—DISCHARGE.

A garnishee, upon filing a dispute note as to his liability, may apply, under s. 15 of the Attachment of Debts Act, for the discharge of the garnishee order, and for his costs.

Chew Deb v. Davie, 24 B.C.R. 18.

ATTACHMENT OF DEBTS—GARNISHEE DISPUTING LIABILITY—ORDER DIRECTING TRIAL OF ISSUE—APPEAL.

Bank of Montreal v. McAlpine, 8 O.W.N. 402.

DECLARATION OF GARNISHEE—ABSENT CREDITOR.

A seizing creditor, who is absent at the time of the declaration of the garnishee, will not be allowed to compel the garnishee to appear again and produce his books, statements and documents, when the declaration is clear and exact.

Bastien v. Davis, 20 Que. P.R. 213.

WAGES—RETENTION.

An employer, who permits an employee whose wages have been seized to pay himself from the moneys he collected and so frustrates the one who attached them, will, if he does not deposit the seizable portion of the wages earned by the debtor since the seizure, be condemned as a personal debtor of the seizing creditor.

Garand v. Kastner, 20 Que. P.R. 268.

RIGHT OF RETENTION—LIEN.

A garnishee has a right of retention on the effects of the debtor which he has in his possession and on which he has a lien. Such right of retention may be opposed to third parties. A garnishee having a right of retention may contest the garnishment made in his hands, but if he does not contest it he may retain the effects given as security until he is disinterested.

Gingras v. Maher, 53 Que. S.C. 289.

DISCHARGE OF GARNISHEE—DEFAULT.

A garnishee has the right, on the day following the date on which the writ of garnishment should have been returned, to ask to be discharged of the writ by default.

Ballantyne v. Currie, 19 Que. P.R. 141.

WIFE AS GARNISHEE—AUTHORIZATION.

If a wife separate as to property is summoned as garnishee, her husband must be summoned to authorize her. A married woman cannot, on her default of appearing, be condemned as personal debtor in a summons of garnishment issued against her husband; but the creditors must produce evidence of the husband's claim against his wife.

Appleton v. Reynolds, 20 Que. P.R. 28.

DEFERATION.

An attachment by garnishment remains in force as long as it has not been declared perempted, or that the debtor or the garnishsee has not been discharged. It is not necessary to have the seizure declared binding. Such procedure is only required to prevent the preemption.

Shorey v. Dolloff & Manuf. Life Ass'ce Co., 25 Que. K.B. 482; 22 Rev. Leg. 7.

B. DUTY AS TO EXEMPTIONS: EFFECT OF FAILURE TO SET UP.

(§ II B-40)—SETTING ASIDE SUMMONS—EXEMPTIONS—PENDENCY OF MAIN ACTION.

St. Gregor Mercantile Co. v. Roth, 12 D.L.R. 860, 24 W.L.R. 865.

C. EFFECT OF JUDGMENT.

(§ II C-45)—TRANSFER OF JUDGMENT—RENUSCIATION—SERVICE.

A transfer of a judgment, or a written renunciation to the judgment, made by one plaintiff in favour of his co-plaintiffs, cannot be set up against a garnishment after judgment issued by another creditor, if such transfer or renunciation has not been served either on the seizing party or on the garnishee.

Paquette v. Labelle, 24 Rev. Leg. 501.

D. EFFECT OF PAYMENT.

(§ II D-50)—PAYMENT INTO COURT—DISTRIBUTION UNDER CREDITOR'S RELIEF ACT.

Money paid into the Supreme Court under a garnishee summons and ordered to be paid out under the Rules of Court is not subject to the orders of a Judge of the District Court to pay the money to the sheriff under the Creditors' Relief Act (Sask.).

Royal Bank v. Lee, 23 D.L.R. 219, 8 S.L.R. 17, 8 W.W.R. 338, affirming 23 D.L.R. 216.

PAYMENT INTO COURT BY GARNISHEE—DEFENCE OF—RIGHTS OF UNPAID VENDOR OF GOODS—DISPOSITION AS TO COSTS.

Saskatoon Hardware Co. v. Priel, 22 D.L.R. 911, 32 W.L.R. 1.

DISCHARGE OF GARNISHEE—JURISDICTION.

Upon obtaining judgment the plaintiffs garnished certain debtors of the defendants. The defendants appealed from the judgment and obtained an order staying execution, pending the appeal, on condition that they pay into court $600,000 to be disposed of by the registrar in accordance with the result of the appeal. The defendants deposited with the registrar a marked cheque for $600,000 and moved for an order to discharge the garnishee order, which was granted. Held, on appeal that the order discharging the garnishee order was made without jurisdiction and must be set aside.

Mellree v. Foley, 24 B.C.R. 1.

DEBTS — PAYMENT INTO COURT BY GARNISHEE—PAYMENT OUT TO SHERIFF FOR DISTRIBUTION—CREDITORS' RELIEF ACT. R.S.O. 1914, c. 81, s. 5 (2)—RULE 394—FORM 79—PRACTICE.

Imperial Bank v. Boyd, 14 O.W.N. 230.

GARNISHEE EXECUTION AFTER JUDGMENT—

NOTE — BAIL — SECURITY — S. REF., [1906] c. 119, ART. 156.

If a note is given by a debtor to his creditor in settlement of certain accounts, and the note is not paid at maturity, the creditor, before attaching property in the hands of a third party, must offer to return the note or furnish security that the debtor will not be molested.

Blais v. Valin, 25 Rev. Leg. 31.

(§ II D-51)—GARNISHEE—EFFECT OF GARNISHMENT—DEFAULT IN NOT DEPOSITING AMOUNT—CONTRAINDTE PAR CORPS NOT AVAILABLE.

Arrest by process of contrainte par corps is not available against a garnishee in respect of his default in depositing under the court's order the seizable portion of the debtor's salary due from him; the effect of the garnishment is only to transfer a debt to the plaintiff, and it is enforceable only as an order to pay money.

Bell Telephone Co. v. O'Dell, 20 D.L.R. 514.

E. PRIORITIES.

(§ II E-55)—PRIORITIES—PRECEDENCE OF WINDING-UP ORDER AGAINST DEBTOR CORPORATION.

Swift Canadian Co. v. Island Creamery Assn., 10 D.L.R. 833, 17 B.C.R. 475.

ATTACHING CREDITOR CLAIMING LIEN ON FUND—PRIORITIES.

The fact that the party claiming a lien on a fund paid into court by the garnishee in garnishee process was the execution creditor at whose instance and suit the garnishment process was served will not deprive him from claiming priority over other creditors in respect of his statutory lien on the fund when the rights of all claimants and creditors come to be adjudicated upon.

Pomerleau v. Thompson, 16 D.L.R. 142, 5 W.W.R. 1369, 27 W.L.R. 254.

EXECUTION DEBTOR — MONEY PAID INTO COURT—GARNISHEES — LIEN-HOLDERS — ASSIGNEES — PRIORITIES — CREDITORS' RELIEF ACT, R.S.S. c. 63, s. 8—RULES OF COURT, 514 AND 515.

Money paid into court and belonging to an execution debtor should not be paid over to the sheriff until the priorities of garnishers, lien-holders, and assignees have been determined.

Mills v. Harris, 7 W.W.R. 968.

PRIORITY OF FIRST ATTACHING CREDITOR—CREDITORS' RELIEF ACT.

The right of a judgment creditor to an order for payment into court by a garnishee and payment out to himself after having served an attaching order on the garnishee is not affected by attaching orders subsequently served on the garnishee. [Ward v. Wilson, 13 B.C.R. 273, not followed.]

Slinger v. Davis, 20 B.C.R. 447.

ATTACHMENT OF DEBTS—CLAIM ARISING AFTER SERVICE OF ATTACHING ORDER.
Black v. Hohlstens, 9 O.W.N. 5.

SALARY—DEPOSIT IN COURT—SUBSEQUENT ATTACHMENT.

The voluntary execution of a judgment by a defendant who complies with the provisions of art. 1147 (a), C.C.P. renders him exempt from any further seizure upon his wages, whether the attachment issues from the Circuit Court or from any other tribunal.

Paquet v. Saint-Laurent, 53 Que. S.C. 32.
MONEY EARNED BY THRESHING—ASSIGNMENT—FARM IMPLEMENTS ACT.

Section 19 of the Farm Implement Act, c. 28, 1915, is not retrospective. Therefore, an assignment before the passing of the act of moneys to be earned by a threshing machine is good as against an attachment under a garnishee summons after the date of the enactment of money owing to the purchaser.

Canadian Bank of Commerce v. Nelson; J. I. Case Threshing Machine Co., claimant, [1917] 3 W.W.R. 190.

(§ H E—56)—DISTRIBUTION OF FUND PARI PASSU—CREDITORS' RELIEF ACT (ALTA.)

Where garnishment proceedings against the same fund are instituted by different attaching creditors and the fund which was thereupon paid into court by the garnishee under the Judicature Rules (Alta.) has been paid out to the sheriff pursuant to the Creditors' Relief Act (Alta.), the sheriff is to pay out on his first distribution to those only who have obtained judgment, but computing the distributive share on a collocation of all the claims upon which garnishee process had issued, including the pending claims as to which judgment had not yet been obtained against the debtor, and is to retain the distributive share in respect of the latter until after judgment thereon; and, in the event of an attaching creditor not succeeding in proving his debt and by reason thereof a surplus remains in the sheriff's hands, a second distribution is then to be made.

Canniff v. Chandler; Sargent v. Chandler, 15 D.L.R. 909, 7 A.L.R. 355, 27 W.L.R. 145, 5 W.W.R. 1357.

SAISIE-ARRÊTÉ AFTER JUDGMENT—MOTION TO DISMISS.

Mace v. Tibbs, 12 Que. P.R. 192.

III. Procedure.

(§ III—60)—SETTING ASIDE—IRREGULARITY—DETERMINATION OF ISSUE.

Under the Alberta practice rules, the right to have a garnishee summons set aside or dismissed, by a garnishee who has filed his answer denying the debt, for a delay in prosecution, is within the court's discretion; it cannot be set aside for an irregularity; but an order should be made for the speedy determination of the issue either by fixing a time and place for deciding it summarily, or by directing a formal issue to be tried.

Calgary Brewing & Malting Co. v. McMann Liquor Co., 35 D.L.R. 598, 11 A.L.R. 424, [1917] 2 W.W.R. 1005.

Where judgment creditors have obtained a garnishee order attaching all debts due the debtor from a partnership firm of which the debtor is an employee and from which in addition to his wages he receives a percentage of profits under an agreement lawful under the Ontario Masters and Servants Act, 10 Edw. VII. c. 73, s. 3, which statute further provides that such agreement shall give to the employee no right to examine into the accounts of or interfere in the management of the business and that any statement of the employer of the net profits of the business on which he declares and appropriates a share of profits payable under such agreement shall be final and conclusive between the parties and all persons claiming under them except in the case of fraud, such creditors have no right to go into the books of the firm and its business transaction with a view of establishing that there were greater earnings than the amount shown by the statements exhibited by the garnishees and that there ought to have been more carried to the credit of the debtor as his share of the profits.

Bartlett v. Bartlett Mines, 3 D.L.R. 289, 3 O.W.N. 958.

STEP IN THE ACTION—SMALL DEBT PROCEDURE—JURISDICTION AS TO COSTS OR COUNSEL FEES.

Great West Life Ass'ce v. Whitehelow, 8 D.L.R. 1033.

There is nothing in the Alberta rules requiring a praecipe for a garnishee summons. Nohren v. Auten, 3 A.L.R. 310.

DECLARATION—ADDITIONAL QUESTIONS—REFUSAL TO ANSWER—RULE 1181—EVIDENCE OF WIFE AGAINST HUSBAND—QUE. C.P. 314, 685, 834.

One cannot ask for the rejection of the declaration of a garnishee who refuses to answer additional questions put to her at the time of her declaration; the recourse is to obtain an order of the court compelling her to answer. When such an order has been given to the garnishee, wife of the defendant, to answer certain additional questions, she may not, in contesting the rule issued to have her declared guilty of contempt of court because she has not obeyed such order, allege that she cannot be compelled to give evidence against her husband; the interlocutory order to answer which was previously given cannot be changed otherwise than by the final judgment or on a subsequent appeal. If the garnishee objects that the order given is not res judicata because, being just an ordinary witness, she was not a party to the case and could not appeal from such a decision, then the court, having either to deprive her from protecting herself against the order issued, or to revise a judgment without jurisdiction, should adopt the easier solution and maintain the judgment, and thereby give her the power to appeal from the two judgments at the same time, seeing that she is regularly a party to the case under the rule.

Cole v. Birchenough, 46 Que. S.C. 414.

LACOMBE LAW—DEPOSIT—AWARD OF COSTS.

A defendant who has taken advantage of art. 1147a, C.C.P. (Lacombe Act), has not the right to make only one deposit at the office of the clerk of the Circuit Court and then to continue depositing directly with his employer; if he does so, his other creditors may issue against him a writ of saisie arrêt. The fact that a creditor has caused such writ to be issued for an amount greater than that due him, does not render the seizure void, the only right the debtor has is to contest the seizure and obtain a reduction to the amount actually due. Although such seizure included costs due to attorneys ad litem, the latter have the right to sue in the plaintiff's name.

Quimet v. Fleury, 24 Rev. Leg. 254.

The provisions of the Lacombe Act, art. 1147, C.C.P., cannot be opposed to a saisie arrêt, when the debtor made his deposits irregularly, e. g., when earning $120 to $140 a month he deposited only from $10 to $15 a month.

Giroux v. Martin, 24 Rev. Leg. 195.

(§ 11—61)—AFFIDAVIT—DEFECT.

When an affidavit for a garnishee summons does not comply with r. 648 (Alta.), there is no jurisdiction to issue the summons; it is not a defect which can be cured under r. 273. [Mohr v. Parks, 3 A.L.R. 252, followed.]

Beambier v. Lloyd, 39 D.L.R. 439, 13 A.L.R. 47, [1918] 1 W.W.R. 772.

DEFECTIVE AFFIDAVIT.

The omission in an affidavit for a garnishee summons before judgment under the Sask. Rules of Court to shew in what capacity whether as plaintiff, solicitor or agent for the plaintiff, the deponent makes his affidavit, is a ground for setting aside a garnishee summons issued thereon; the summons was a nullity as there was no proper affidavit and the defect in the latter was not a mere irregularity.

McGillivray v. Beamish, 23 D.L.R. 324, 8 S.L.R. 9, 7 W.W.R. 1188.

It is essential that the affidavit for a garnishee summons under Sask. R. 505 should comply strictly with the rule so that it may appear whether the action is for a debt or liquidated demand so as to warrant the issue of the summons. [Mohr v. Parks, 15 W.L.R. 250, followed.]

Chokey v. Huffman, 1 D.L.R. 679, 5 S.L.R. 127, 1 W.W.R. 1093.

AFFIDAVIT.

It is not material whether the affidavit, upon which a garnishing summons is issued, when made before the action is commenced, is or is not entitled in the cause about to be commenced. An affidavit required to be filed under Sask. Rules (1911) as a basis for the issue of a garnishing summons before judgment is not an affidavit for use on an interlocutory motion, and therefore does not require to have set out therein the grounds of belief but may be made on information and belief simply. [Nohren v. Auten, 15 W.L.R. 417; r. 505 of Sask. Jud. R. (1911), former Jud. Ord. R. 384, applied.] Held (following Marcey v. Pierce, 4 Terr. L.R. 186), the affidavit to lead to the issue of a garnishee summons may be sworn before the actual issue of the writ of summons in the action. That the rule providing as to the matters to be sworn to in such affidavit requires only that the deponent swear to the best of his information and belief as to the garnishee's indebtedness. An affidavit so framed is sufficient and need not shew the grounds of such information and belief.

Stewart & Matthews Co. v. Ross, 7 D.L.R. 378, 4 S.L.R. 469.

Rule 384 (Alta.) providing that a garnishee summons "may be issued by the clerk upon the plaintiff or judgment creditor, his advocate or agent filing an affidavit," must be construed as meaning upon the "plaintiff, his advocate or agent filing his affidavit," and a garnishee summons is irregular which is issued upon an affidavit made by a student-at-law with the plaintiff's solicitors. Where an affidavit for a garnishee summons does not comply with r. 384, there is no jurisdiction to issue the summons; and it is, therefore not a case of a defect which can be cured under r. 538. Semble, an affidavit for a garnishee summons which is not intitled as required by r. 294, may be cured under r. 538. On a motion to set aside a garnishee summons, where the affidavit for the summons is not one which gives the clerk jurisdiction to issue the summons, it is doubtful whether r. 540 (which requires the party moving to set aside proceedings for irregularity to set out his objections) has any application; at any event, r. 540 is within the terms of r. 538, and, if no prejudice has been caused by the failure to comply with r. 540, the motion to set aside should not be defeated thereby.

Mohr v. Parks, etc., Mfg. Co., 3 A.L.R. 252.

Rule 384 (Alta.), which requires the affidavit for a garnishee summons to shew the nature and amount of the claim, and the deponent to swear positively to the indebtedness and state to the best of his information and belief that the proposed garnishee is indebted to the defendant, is complied with by an affidavit in which the deponent, after swearing that he has a full and personal knowledge of the matters deposited to, states that the defendants and each of them are justly and truly indebted to the plaintiff in the sum of $2,080, being the amount due to the plaintiff for principal money and interest on a chattel mortgage, and that he is informed and verily believes that each of the proposed garnishees (who are named) is justly and truly indebted to the defendant (naming him) and that each is within the jurisdiction of the court.

Nohren v. Auten, 3 A.L.R. 310.

An affidavit upon which a general attaching order was obtained alleged an indebtedness by "The Prince Edward Island Agricultural Mutual Fire Ins. Co.," while the debt was actually owing by a corporate body styled "The Prince Edward Island Mutual Fire Ins. Co."—Held, that the affidavit sufficiently complied with the requirements of the Garnishments Act (44 Viet. (P.E.I.) c. 4), and that a general attaching order obtained thereon was valid and effectual to bind moneys attached thereunder in priority to a later attaching order.

Re Brace McKay & Co. and Prince Edward Island Mutual Fire Ins. Co., 12 E.L.R. 83.

If the affidavit refers to an account, that account must be served upon the defendant and annexed to the affidavit at the time it is filed.

Arnold v. Canadian Motors, 14 Que. P.R. 294.

CAPIAS—AFFIDAVIT FOR—PLACE OF DEBT.

The affidavit for capias is void unless it mentions when and where the claimed debt was contracted.

Weiss v. Wolff, 16 Que. P.R. 113.

STATUTORY DECLARATION—AFFIDAVIT OF MANAGER.

The affidavit of the manager of a company tiers-saisi, taken by a commissioner of the Superior Court, is not the declaration provided for by C.C.P. If the declaration of the tiers-saisi mentions subsequent writs of seizure there is ground for believing that the defendant is insolvent and for refusing to give judgment for the first seizing creditor for the whole of the sum due from the debtor.

National Bridge Co. v. Armstrong & Lytle Co., 18 Que. P.R. 399.

STOP ORDER—AFFIDAVIT SHOWING NATURE OF CLAIM—GENERAL CREDITOR.

An ordinary creditor, i.e., one not having any "title" to money paid into court under a garnishee summons, cannot apply under r. 646 (Alta.) for a stop order. An affidavit in support of a garnishee summons must shew the nature of the claim. The omission to do so is more than an irregularity capable of being cured under r. 273.

Smith v. Metzger, 7 W.W.R. 1386.

CONTENTS OF AFFIDAVIT—ENDORSEMENT—STATING NATURE OF EMPLOYMENT—AMENDMENT.

The omission to endorse on an affidavit leading to the issue of a garnishee summons a statement shewing on whose behalf it is filed is a mere irregularity curable by amendment. The requirement that the capacity in which defendant is employed must be stated in the affidavit is for the benefit of the garnishee-employer, and the omission of the statement cannot be complained of by the defendant.

Hart v. Greer, 9 W.W.R. 709, 33 W.L.R. 41.

PRACTICE—RULE 648—AFFIDAVIT TO SHOW THE NATURE OF THE CLAIM—REFERENCE TO STATEMENT OF CLAIM—INSUFFICIENCY OF AFFIDAVIT—STRICT COMPLIANCE WITH RULE NECESSARY—NONCOMPLIANCE FATAL.

The statement in the affidavit filed for the issue of a garnishee summons that "the defendant herein is justly and truly indebted to the plaintiff in the sum of $2,474.37 as shown by the statement of claim filed" is not sufficient to show the nature of the claim. Strict compliance with r. 648 (Alta.) is necessary and noncompliance is more than an irregularity; it is something which goes to the jurisdiction of the court to issue the summons.

Gellen v. Lavin, [1919] 2 W.W.R. 491.

PRACTICE.

Under r. 622 (B.C.) a garnishee order may issue although plaintiff's claim is to recover a specific sum for damages for breach of contract for delivery of goods, such claim coming within the term, "debt, claim or demand," in said section.

Wheeler v. McLean, [1919] 3 W.W.R. 310.

AFFIDAVIT FOR GARNISHEE SUMMONS—"GROUNDS" OF INFORMATION AND BELIEF AS TO INDEBTEDNESS.

The requirement of r. 648 (b) (Alta.) that an affidavit upon which a garnishee summons is founded must give the grounds of the deponent's information and belief as to the indebtedness of the proposed garnishee to the defendant is only for the purpose of disclosing that he really has some information on the subject and thus shewing that his oath has some foundation; the grounds need not be sufficient to shew the existence of an indebtedness. The statement that such grounds are that the defendant has a bank account with or that he transacts his banking business or a part of it with, the proposed garnishee, is sufficient for the purposes of the rule.

Gandara v. Davison, [1919] 3 W.W.R. 915.

(§ III—63)—SERVICE OF ORDER.

Though there is nothing in Order XLIII. (N.S.), which requires the service of a garnishment order on the judgment debtor, the preferable practice, in order to prevent difficulties and questions arising from want of notice, is to serve such order on him. [Ferguson v. Carman, 26 U.C.Q.B. 26, followed.]

Taylor v. Tucker, 26 D.L.R. 646, 49 N.S.R. 469.

Where summons is issued for payment out of moneys in court under a garnishee order, returnable on a certain date, but service of the garnishee order and summons is not effected on the defendant until after that date (the hearing in the meantime having been adjourned pending the return of service) and after the return of the service an order for payment out is made at an adjourned hearing in the defendant's absence. Held, on appeal, that as the order was made without proper notice to the defendant of the date upon which the application was to be heard it must be set aside.

Patton v. Hartley, 24 B.C.R. 5.

PAYMENT.

Art. 685 C.C.P., as to garnishment, ceases to have application if the debtor receives from the tiers-saisie any remuneration whatsoever directly or indirectly for his services or his work. A motion to have the seizable portion of the salary of the defendant fixed should be served on the tiers-saisi as well as on the defendant.

Martineau v. De la Durantaye, 18 Que. P.R. 397.

The garnishee order required by s. 12 of the P.E.I. Garnishment Act may be validly served on the primary debtor while he is outside the jurisdiction of the court. [Creditor's Gerunduse v. Van Weede, 12 Q.B.D. 171, applied.]

Davidson v. Wilkinson, 12 E.L.R. 412.

(§ III—66)—NONAPPEARANCE OF GARNISHEE—PRESUMPTIONS AS TO LIABILITY.

Where a garnishee fails to appear to a garnishee summons under the Saskatchewan practice, his failure raises against him and in favour of the creditor the presumption that he owes the debtor the amount of the claim sued for, but such failure cannot be considered an admission of liability as against any one except the creditor in the particular case in which he failed to appear.

Shierman v. Harris, 22 D.L.R. 694, 8 S.L.R. 165, 8 W.W.R. 514.

GARNISHEE NOT APPEARING—ADMISSION.

Where a garnishee does not appear to a garnishee summons under the procedure in force for Saskatchewan District Courts, his default should be taken as an admission that he owes the defendant an amount equal to the plaintiff's claim.

Dickson v. Van Hummel, 16 D.L.R. 774, 7 S.L.R. 88, 27 W.L.R. 612, 6 W.W.R. 307.

PROCEDURE—APPEARANCE BY GARNISHEE—ISSUE AS TO GARNISHEE'S INDEBTEDNESS.

Where the garnishee enters an appearance to the garnishee summons and besides denying the debt alleges in the appearance that the unpaid purchase money under his contract to purchase lands did not constitute an attachable debt as the sale had not been completed nor title accepted, it is not competent for the judgment creditor to take out a summons to shew cause why the garnishee's appearance should not be struck out and judgment entered against him on the ground that the debt is attachable; the creditor's proper procedure is under Alta. r. 654 to apply for an order fixing a time and place for summary trial or directing an issue.

Waters v. Campbell, 19 D.L.R. 772, 7 A.L.R. 398, 29 W.L.R. 721, 7 W.W.R. 254.

(§ III—68)—LIQUIDATED DEMAND—AGREEMENT FOR AMOUNT OF DAMAGES FOR INJURIES TO ANIMALS—SUFFICIENCY OF PLEADING.

Lloyd v. Ashdown, 22 D.L.R. 919, 8 S.L.R. 217, 32 W.L.R. 11.

FINDINGS—DEFINITE SUM.

Before an order for payment can be made in garnishment proceedings under Ont. Con. rr. 911, 915, the court must find some definite sum either as presently due, when it is to be paid forthwith, or as a debt payable at a future date.

Gilroy v. Conn, 2 D.L.R. 131, 3 O.W.N. 732, 21 O.W.R. 526.

TRIAL OF A GARNISHEE ISSUE—ASSIGNMENT OF LAND CONTRACT—RIGHTS OF JUDGMENT CREDITORS—PAYMENT OF CLAIM OF ASSIGNEE—RIGHT TO ATTACH SURPLUS.

Bank of Montreal v. Rogers, 7 D.L.R. 778, 2 W.W.R. 128.

(§ III—69)—AFTER JUDGMENT—DEBTOR WORKING FOR WIFE WITHOUT SALARY—VALUE OF SERVICES—EVIDENCE OF—QUE. C.P. 685.

When the defendant's wife declares, upon garnishment, that her husband works for her as a clerk in her restaurant, and that she does not pay him any salary, the plaintiff can bring proof of the value of the defendant's services for work.

Beauregard v. Beauregard, 15 Que. P.R. 430.

GARNISHEE SUMMONS—AFFIDAVIT SWORN BEFORE APPEARANCE—INFORMATION AND RELIEF—GROUNDS OF RELIEF.

Stewart and Matthews Co. v. Ross, 17 W.L.R. 179.

GAS.

I. IN GENERAL.

II. INJURIES FROM NEGLIGENCE AS TO.

Negligence in general. see Negligence.

Gas leases, see Mines and Minerals.

As to contracts to furnish gas, see Contracts, II D—157.

As to municipal franchises, see Municipal Corporations, II F—174.

I. In general.

(§ I—1)—STATUTORY REGULATION—PUBLIC HEALTH OR SAFETY.

The statutory provision that a gas company shall locate and construct its gas works and all apparatus and appurtenances thereto belonging or appertaining or therewith connected and where-soever situated so as not to endanger the public health or safety intends to provide that the works shall be so located and constructed that no danger to the health or safety of the individuals making up the general mass known as the public shall ensue either during the location, construction or operation of the works. [Midwood v. Manchester, [1905] 2 K.B. 579, and Charing Cross v. London Hydraulic, [1913] 3 K.B. 442, applied.]

Raffan v. Canadian Western Natural Gas, etc., Co., 8 W.W.R. 676.

(§ 1-3)—WASTE — FRAUDULENT USE — CLAIM FOR GAS SUPPLIED BY COMPANY TO CUSTOMERS OF ANOTHER COMPANY — FAILURE OF PROOF.

United Gas Cos. v. Forks Road Gas Co., 2 D.L.R. 895, 3 O.W.N. 1079.

CONVEYANCE OF NATURAL GAS LEASES AND WELLS — RESERVATION — BREACH OF CONTRACT—DAMAGES.

Eric County Natural Gas & Fuel Co. v. Carroll, [1911] A.C. 105.

FRAUDULENT USE OF GAS.

Where the wife being in charge of her husband's house fraudulently connects the gas stove with the gas company's service pipe without getting a meter installed and without the permission of the company, and uses the gas for cooking, the husband having profited by the offence committed by his wife is estopped from repudiating liability for the consequences of her act, and is liable for the statutory penalty.

Montreal Light, Heat & Power Co. v. Dechevigny, 40 Que. P.R. 233.

II. Injuries from, negligence as to.

(§ II-15)—CONDUITS — DUTY OF CARE — NEGLIGENCE.

The right of the Provincial Hydro-Electric Department to lay pipes and conduits in public streets is subject to a continuing duty not to disturb the existing pipes and works of others who have similar rights; the latter are entitled to recover from a contractor of the department damages caused through his breach of such duty, but they cannot recover for losses which, by the exercise of reasonable care, they might have avoided.

Hamilton Gas & Light Co. v. Gest, 31 D.L.R. 515, 37 O.L.R. 132.

(§ II-16)—ESCAPE OF—LIABILITY.

The owner of a gas works in connection with which gas pipes are laid under city streets is not liable for the escape of gas without his knowledge through the breaking of a street gas pipe by a third party not under his control, the consequence of whose act the defendant could not reasonably have anticipated.

Tidy v. Cunningham, 22 D.L.R. 151, 21 B.C.R. 53, 30 W.L.R. 547, 7 W.W.R. 1205.

NEGLECT AS TO ESCAPE OF GAS.

By application of the principle of the provisions of art. 1054 C.C. (Que.) that every person is responsible for injury caused by things which he has under his care, an action lies against a gas company to recover compensation for injury resulting from the escape of gas in a dwelling house owing to the defective condition of the pipes.

Van Telson v. Quebec Ry., Light, Heat & Power Co., 43 Que. S.C. 420.

(§ II-18)—NEGLECT — EXPLOSION OF ESCAPED GAS.

In an action against a natural gas company setting up personal injury from the escape and explosion of piped natural gas, the onus rests on the plaintiff to shew the cause of the injury and not a mere conjecture, and where the gas leak causing the explosion is not shewn to be attributable to any defect in the construction or laying of the pipes, nor to inefficiency in the system of operation or of inspection, and it is proved that there were probable causes unconnected with the possibility of negligence on the company's part the plaintiff must establish that the escape of gas was due to the company's negligence.

Karabelas v. Canadian Western Natural Gas Co., 16 D.L.R. 791, 28 W.L.R. 669.

GASOLINE.

GASOLINE ENGINE.

The seller of a gasoline engine is liable for injuries sustained by the purchaser as the result of the emission of dangerous fumes from the exhaust of the engine, which was installed by the former in a small building without conveying the exhaust pipe to the open air, the necessity of which must have been known to the seller, who did not warn the purchaser of the danger therefrom, notwithstanding it was explained in a book of instructions sent with the engine, which, however, the purchaser had not noticed or read. [Clarke v. Army & Navy Co-operative Society, [1903] 1 K.B. 155, followed.]

Tollington v. Jones, 4 D.L.R. 648, 4 A.L.R. 344, 21 W.L.R. 168, 2 W.W.R. 141.

GIFT.

- I. IN GENERAL.
- II. CAUSA MORTIS.
- III. DELIVERY.

See also Trusts; Wills.
Presumption as to undue influence, see Deeds, II F-65.

As affected by power of attorney, see Trusts, I D-24.

As to voidable gift, see also Infants, I D-20-32.

Annotation.

Necessity for delivery and acceptance of chattel: 1 D.L.R. 306.

I. In general.

(§ I-1)—VOLUNTARY ACT — ATTENDANT CIRCUMSTANCES.

In order to establish a gift from a very old person when on a sick bed, of a large sum of money, which would leave the donor in improvident circumstances, it must be clearly shewn not only that it was the latter's intention to make a gift, but also that it was a deliberate, well understood and voluntary act, the nature, effect and consequences of which were fully appreciated.

Kinsella v. Pask, 12 D.L.R. 522, 28 O.L.R. 393.

BETWEEN HUSBAND AND WIFE — INTENTION — IMPROVIDENCE.

A gift will not be inferred from the delivery of money to the husband by his wife who, by reason of illness and impaired mental incapacity, was unable to appreciate the nature of her act, which was one of improvidence, where the circumstances surrounding the transaction were more consistent with there being no gift than that there was a gift.

McDougall v. Paille, 13 D.L.R. 661, 4 O.W.N. 1602, 24 O.V.R. 912.

IN GENERAL.

Money obtained by prostitution given to the defendant by the plaintiff, an infant, who lived with him as wife is a gift, and no trust arises in her favour as to entitle her to recovery of any of the proceeds thereof, or to any lien on any of the property acquired therewith.

Johnston v. Desaulniers, 46 Can. S.C.R. 629, reversing Desaulniers v. Johnston, 20 Man. L.R. 64.

DONATION BY A MARRIAGE CONTRACT — INTERPRETATION — REMUNERATIVE DONATION REDUCIBLE TO A MONEY VALUE — TERM — POTESTATIVE CONDITION — C.A.

In a gift, the words "in case he should decide to cease living with the said B.M." does not impose a term, but a condition. This condition is potestative and purely personal, and can only be complied with by the donor himself, not by his heir.

Mercier v. Fortin, 25 Rev. Leg. 278.

GIFT CONDITIONAL ON MARRIAGE — CONDITION RENDERED IMPOSSIBLE BY ACT OF DONEE.

A gift by a young man to a young girl he is courting with a view to marriage, and who he wishes to have dismiss another suitor, given in accordance with a promise in these words: "If you will dismiss P. and marry me (en finir avec moi) I will give you a watch," is subject to the condition of marriage. If the marriage does not take place, through the refusal of the receiver of the watch who marries another man, the gift is voided, and the giver, or his representative, may attach the things given.

Joyal v. Saint Germain, 45 Que. S.C. 501.

(§ 1-3)—REVOCATION — INGRATITUDE — REFUSAL OF NECESSARIES — RENUNCIATION—ILLICIT AGREEMENT — C.C., ARTS. 6, 813.

The alimentary obligation against the donor is as strict as that resulting from marriage. The rule that the alimentary obligation is according to public order, is applicable to obligations arising from donations just the same as to those which arise from marriage. The donor cannot by a valid agreement free the donee from this obligation.

Loughrin v. Barke, 55 Que. S.C. 431.

ENGAGEMENT RING—RETURN.

A diamond ring given upon a view of marriage and upon reasonable expectation of success must be returned upon the refusal of the donee to continue her engagement with the donor.

Fortier v. Brault, 10 W.V.R. 807.

(§ 1-4) — DELIVERY OF TRANSFER AND DUPLICATE CERTIFICATE — REVOCATION — REPOSSESSION OF TRANSFER BEFORE REGISTRATION—TITLE.

Smith v. Smith, 21 D.L.R. 861, 8 W.V.R. 1077, 31 W.L.R. 607, 8 W.V.R. 1077.

OF LAND.

A burden imposed on the donee by a deed of donation of maintaining the donor during his life, guaranteed by hypothec of the immovables donated, does not create a life tenancy but is an agreement for maintenance, of a character purely movable. It therefore confers no right on the creditor to proceed by opposition a fin de charge to the seizure under execution of the immovable hypothecated in order to preserve the benefit of it. He is, however, entitled under his hypothec to be collocated on the proceeds for a sum, to be estimated, representing the value of future payments. The said hypothec is not extinguished by confusion when the donor resumes possession of the immovables pursuant to a judgment for rescission of the deed of donation if the donee has charged them with other hypothecs while in possession and there is danger of eviction by the creditors.

Lebrun v. Sévigny, 41 Que. S.C. 140.

(§ 1-5)—SUBSTITUTION.

An event which causes the opening of a substitution, or the date on which it shall take place, is as provided and fixed by the deed creating it, with no power in the grevé, by renunciation of his rights or otherwise, of causing it to be anticipated. Therefore, the substitution of property donated to the children of the donee living at his death cannot be opened before that takes place, and the deed by which he renounces his rights does not cause it to be opened and gives to his children only the continued enjoyment but no seizure of the substituted property which would entitle them to an action as appelés for possession.

Arbee v. Pepin, 42 Que. S.C. 222.

(§ 1-6)—OF NOTES OR CHEQUES—CHEQUE SIGNED IN BLANK BY DECEASED — ALLEGED GIFT—TRUST FOR CREDITORS.

Munn v. Keyes, 6 D.L.R. 878, 4 O.W.N. 250.

VALUITY—MEXICAL CAPACITY OF AGED PERSON—COMPLETED GIFT OF MONEY—INCOMPLETE GIFT OF PROMISSORY NOTE—SALE OF LIFE STOCK—ACTION BY EXECUTORS — EVIDENCE — CONDOMINIUM.

McIntire v. Martha, 9 O.W.N., 430.

NOTE.

A holder in the course of a note payable to order can dispose of it through a gift inter vivos, even with the intention of avoiding payment of the taxes which the law imposes on open successions.

(§ 1-7)—BANK DEPOSIT TO JOINT ACCOUNT—EIGHT OF WITHDRAWAL BY EITHER—STAYBORN.

A written direction to the bank by 2 depositors, father and daughter, whereby the bank can draw with the other and with the sole property of the father, shall be deposited in the bank to their joint credit as their "joint property" subject to withdrawal by either of them and in the case of the death of one by the survivor, and which expressly authorizes the bank to pay to the survivor, is evidence of a completed gift to the daughter of so much as remained on deposit at the father's death. [111 v. Hill, 8 O.L.R. 710, distinguished.]

Walker v. Campbell, 11 D.L.R. 480, 5 O.W.N. 199, 25 O.W.L.R. 137, reversing 11 D.L.R. 905.

OF BANK DEPOSITS.

Where one who has a sum of money on deposit in the savings department of a bank, being ill in the hospital, signs a written memorandum instructing the bank to arrange for her money in her daughter's name so that she can draw it, which she hands to her daughter to take to the bank, saying, "If anything should happen to me in the hospital, take my money and my furniture and do the best you can with it," and requesting the daughter to pay her funeral expenses, and the bank thereupon makes it appear as a joint account in the name of the mother and daughter, and the evidence of any intention of the mother to do more than make an arrangement by which, for convenience, the daughter could draw the money, the daughter has no right to the money at her mother's death, either by survivorship or otherwise. [The Ryan, 32 O.R. 274, and Schwartz v. Roebler, 21 O.L.R. 112, distinguished.]

Levy v. Dunlop, 8 D.L.R. 829, 27 O.L.R. 411, 29 O.W.L.R. 419, affirming 3 D.L.R. 824.

Where a deposit in the bank, upon the refusal of the bank to permit the wife of the depositor to withdraw the husband was by earned thereon when the husband was by illness prevented from going himself to the bank, was, at the suggestion of the bank

(Cam. Dig.—69.)

others and with the consent of the depositors, placed in the joint names of the donor and his wife as a matter of convenience in withdrawing money for household expenses, the wife upon the death of the husband who had made a testamentary disposition of all his property did not become vested with the title to such deposit. [Marshall v. Crumwell, L.R. 29 Eq. 258, and the Daily, 37 N.R.L.R. 483, Daily v. Brown, 39 Can. S.C.R. 122, followed.]

Van Wart v. Synd of Fredericton, 5 D.L.R. 779, 42 N.R.L.R. 1.

MONEY ON DEPOSIT IN BANK — DIRECTOR TO BANK TO HOLD FOR RECEIPT OF DEPOSITOR AND WIFE AND DAUGHTER AND FATHER — ADMITTANCE BY MAJESTY'S ADVISOR — VALIDITY AND EFFECT OF CHANGE — MEXICAL CAPACITY OF DEPOSITOR — EVIDENCE OF DEEDS.

[Affirmed] 41 D.L.R. 976, 41 O.L.R. 278.

PROPERTY STANDING IN NAMES OF MOTHER, SON, AND DAUGHTER — DEATH OF SON — ACTION BY EXECUTORS — PROPERTY FORN TO BELONG TO MOTHER ONLY — ABSOLUTE OF EVIDENCE TO ESTABLISH GIFT TO SON AND DAUGHTER — CO-PROPRIETARY RELATIONSHIP — MOTHER'S INTEREST IN SON.

Toronto General Trusts Corp. v. Laskie, 13 O.W.N. 213.

DEPOSIT OF MONEY IN SAVINGS-BANK ACCOUNT TO CREDIT OF INTEREST BORN BY BANKER EXCEPT AFTER DEATH OF DEPOSITOR — EVIDENCE — INTEREST — PARTIAL BARRAGEMENT GIFT, NOT GIFT OF PRESENT BARRAGEMENT GIFT.

Horne v. Hudson and Merchants Bank, 16 O.W.N. 172. [Affirmed, 17 O.W.N. 2.]

INVEST — VOIDABLE GIFT — DEPRECIATION AFTER MAJORITY — ACTION FOR RETURN OF MONEY. 23 O.L.R. 287, 18 O.W.L.R. 217.

MORTGAGE BY INTERESTOR — RESCISSION OF DONATION — LEASIN V. SELLING, 29 Que. S.C. 139.

GIFT MADE BY PRECONCEIVED PLAN TO EXECUTIONS OTHERS — RIGHT OF CONTRIBUTION TO SEE FOR ANNUITY.

Desjardins v. Bastien, 41 Que. S.C. 49.

II. Causa mortis.

(Corroboration of gift, see Evidence, XII 1—965.)

(§ 11-19)—ADVERTISE.

A sum of money handed over by a person in last illness holding the donee "as a gift causa mortis, not inter vivos, and will be treated as a legacy which will abate in the event of an insolvency of personality to pay the debt of the donor's estate. McIntire v. McIntire, 33 D.L.R. 103, 50 N.S.R. 477.

DELIVERY.

Delivery is essential to a complete donatio mortis causa; a letter by a deceased to his solicitor directing him to pay a cheque drawn in favour of a patriotic fund which he left in his trunk, and that certain persons be given certain chattels, will not justify his executors, where there was no delivery of the cheque or the chattels, in carrying out these directions.

Re Aldridge Will (2), 28 D.L.R. 531, 9 A.L.R. 512, 34 W.L.R. 546, 10 W.W.R. 701. [See also 28 D.L.R. 527.]

ESTATE OF INTESTATE — EVIDENCE — CORROBORATION — DISCRETION OF TRIAL JUDGE—APPEAL.

Trusts & Guarantee Co. v. Smith, 8 O.W.N. 587.

PARENT AND CHILD — GIFT OR LOAN — INTENTION — EVIDENCE — DOCUMENTS — WILL.

In July, 1913, the testatrix lent her daughter a sum of money; and on that day two documents were executed. By the first, signed by the daughter, she acknowledged the receipt of the sum "as a loan to be used as a first payment upon the house . . . I also hereby agree to pay you interest . . . half-yearly, and further agree that the said loan is to be a lien upon my equity in the said house, until paid or otherwise satisfied, but repayment of said loan is not to be demanded of me so long as I pay interest, and provide for the aforesaid lien, or give equivalent security satisfactory to you." By the second document, signed by the testatrix, she declared that, notwithstanding any testamentary disposal of her estate, the sum lent to her daughter "is hereby given to her absolutely and unconditionally for her own use, benefit, and disposal, and . . . the said gift . . . is not to be considered a part of my estate or subject to any condition of my will." No interest on the loan was ever paid. The testatrix died in March, 1917. By her will, her daughter was appointed one of her executors. The 2 documents were found enclosed in an envelope with this endorsement: "In the event of my death, this envelope is to be delivered, unopened, to my daughter;"—Held, the intention to give being plain and absolute, being communicated to the donee, and continuing until the death of the testatrix, that "donatio in presenti tradenda in futuro" was shewn, and that the daughter was not a debtor to her mother's estate in respect of the sum lent or interest thereon. [Re Goff, 111 L.T.R. 34, followed.]

Re Barnes, 42 O.L.R. 352.

GIFT INTER VIVOS — MINOR — ACCEPTANCE — "ASCENDANTS" — ILLNESS OF DONOR — WILL — VALIDITY — ACQUESCENCE.

The words "other ascendants" used in arts. 303 and 789 C.C. (Que.), relating to the acceptance of a gift to a minor, ought to be taken in their widest sense, so as to give effect to the gift. The word "ascendants" can be understood to mean ascendants in collateral line as well as in direct line. The duty of courts is to apply the law so as to give it the whole effect, and not to make distinctions where the law has not done it. A gift by parents to their minor son may be accepted by the minor's aunt, namely his father's sister. The words "unless circumstances tend to render them valid," in art. 762 C.C. (Que.), enable the court to enquire into the circumstances surrounding a gift made during the illness of the donor. Such a gift may be upheld (a) if the illness of the donor, though serious, was not, at the moment of the gift, considered mortal either by the donor or by his children; (b) if in the deed itself there are clauses benefitting the donor which can be realized during the latter's life. The fact that a donor had made his will at the same time with the gift does not imply that he believed he was about to die. The heirs cannot attack the validity of a gift inter vivos and of a will in which they have acquiesced by receiving the benefits under those instruments, after giving quitance and discharge thereof to the donee by notarial deed, and their silence for 13 years, under pretence that they acted in error and ignorance of the nullity of the gift and of the will.

Pelletier v. Pilon, 24 Rev. Leg. 70.

CONDITION IN MARRIAGE CONTRACT.

A gift, in a marriage contract, by the husband to the wife of the furniture actually owned by him, or that he may own at the date of the solemnization of the marriage, or that he may acquire thereafter, the whole to be his property in case of the predecease of the wife, is a gift causa mortis, and only takes effect at his death if the wife survives.

Plumondon v. Larue, 43 Que. S.C. 18.

(§ II—11)—DEPOSIT OF MONEY IN SAVINGS-BANK ACCOUNT TO CREDIT OF DEPOSITOR AND INTENDED DONEE — TERMS OF DEPOSIT — "PAYABLE TO EITHER BUT ONLY ON PRODUCTION OF PASS-BOOK" — RETENTION OF PASS-BOOK BY DEPOSITOR—DEATH OF DEPOSITOR—IMPERFECT GIFT.

Horne v. Huston and Canadian Bank of Commerce, 16 O.W.N. 93. [Affirmed 17 O.W.N. 1.]

(§ II—12)—GIFTS CAUSA MORTIS AND INTER VIVOS DISTINGUISHED.

A clause in a deed for resiliation of a donation of immovables that if the donor, who retakes possession, should enjoy it until his death, they should then become the exclusive property of the donee (with the additional provision for a penalty in case of alienation) is not a donation in contemplation of death, but the consideration for the resiliation and, therefore, valid.

Plouffe v. Plouffe, 21 Que. K.B. 385.

GIFT INTER VIVOS—RESERVATIONS—INTERPRETATION OF ARTS. 177, 2192, C.C. (QUE.).

Morin v. Dejardins, 25 Rev. de Jur. 229.

MARRIAGE CONTRACT -- DONATION MORTIS CAUSA -- GIFT INTER VIVOS -- ACCEPTANCE.

Future consorts may, by their marriage contracts, respectively make to each other, or one to the other, or to their future children, donations of property as well existing as to be acquired, the acceptance of which is to be inferred and presumed as well with respect to the consorts as to their prospective children, but they are not allowed to make to other persons donations of property to be acquired in the future. On account of the favour with which marriage is regarded, and of the interest which the future consorts should have in the arrangements made in favour of third parties, the ascendants of the future husband may make, in the marriage contract, donations mortis causa to his brothers and sisters of the husband who is also benefitted by it, but other donations mortis causa in favour of third parties are void. Although the donation inter vivos binds the donor, and has effect only, on account of its acceptance, such acceptance is presumed in a marriage contract as well in regard to the consorts as to the children to be born.

Tassé v. Goyer, 47 Que. S.C. 424.

CHEQUES ON BANKS -- PRESENTMENT AND PAYMENT AFTER DEATH OF DONOR -- NOTICE OF DEATH.

McLellan v. McLellan, 25 O.L.R. 214, 20 O.W.R. 673, affirming 23 O.L.R. 654.

CHEQUE -- NOT SUBJECT OF DONATIO MORTIS CAUSA -- DEATH OF DRAWER -- REVOCATION OF BANKER'S AUTHORITY TO PAY.

Re Bernard, 2 O.W.N. 716, 18 O.W.R. 525.

III. Delivery.

(§ III-15) -- HUSBAND AND WIFE -- FURNITURE IN HOUSE -- DELIVERY -- INTENTION.

A gift may be made by a husband to his wife -- there is now no difficulty by reason of the supposed unity of husband and wife; and, unless creditors can assert the provisions of the Bills of Sale Act, such a gift is valid. But there cannot be a gift unless there is a deed or an actual delivery of possession. Delivery may be symbolic, but it must be such as to give to the donee complete dominion over the subject. Review of the authorities. [Cochrane v. Moore, 25 Q.B.D. 57, followed. Kilpin v. Ratley, [1892] 1 Q.B. 582; Ramsay v. Margrett, [1894] 2 Q.B. 18, explained and distinguished.] The difficulty of making out a case of gift between husband and wife arises, not from the legal relation between them, but from the fact of their living together. The furniture in a house, in which house the defendant had a life-interest under the will of her husband, was claimed by her as having been given to her by her husband, when he brought her to live with him in his house. It was said that he used such words as, "The furniture is yours to do as you like with." The personal property of the husband was bequeathed to his son: -- Held, that no intention to give was shewn by such words from a husband to his wife; and, for that reason, and also because no delivery was shewn, the wife's claim to the furniture, after her husband's death, could not be upheld.

Kingsmill v. Kingsmill, 41 O.L.R. 238.

(§ III-16) -- ANIMALS -- INSUFFICIENT PROOF OF DELIVERY -- INVALIDITY OF UNATTESTED WILL.

Kelsey v. Varco; Kelsey v. Klein, 30 D.L.R. 561, 9 S.L.R. 294.

PRESUMPTION AS TO GIFT FROM DELIVERY OF MONEY.

A gift will not be presumed from the mere delivery of money by one person to another.

Johnstone v. Johnstone, 12 D.L.R. 537, 28 O.L.R. 334.

NECESSITY AND SUFFICIENCY OF DELIVERY.

An interlocutory injunction to restrain the transfer of shares of stock will be granted where it appears that the defendant's husband transferred them to her after he had given a guaranty, on which a liability subsequently arose, where, on the trial, it would be a question whether the transaction was a gift, and whether there was a sufficient delivery of possession to effectuate the gift, as such circumstances justify the application of the rule that corroboration is necessary where such a transaction affects third parties.

Toronto Carpet Co. v. Wright, 3 D.L.R. 725, 22 Man. L.R. 294, 21 W.L.R. 304.

A claim made by the wife of the debtor as against her husband's execution creditors to an automobile bought with the husband's money but which she claims was verbally given to her by him, is not substantiated as against the seizure under execution if there was not a bill of sale or other written evidence of the transfer by the husband to the wife, nor proof either of actual delivery to her or of constructive delivery by words of present gift accompanied by change of possession. [Kilpin v. Ratley, [1892] 1 Q.B. 583, distinguished.]

Huggard v. Bonnetto, 1 D.L.R. 305, 20 Man. L.R. 44, 20 W.L.R. 233, 1 W.W.R. 837.

FROM HUSBAND TO WIFE -- CONSTRUCTIVE DELIVERY -- CLAIM BY ADMINISTRATOR -- COSTS.

White v. Canadian Guaranty Trust Co., 31 D.L.R. 560.

VOLUNTARY ASSIGNMENTS OF MORTGAGES BY DEED -- INTENTION OF GRANTOR THAT DEEDS SHOULD NOT OPERATE UNTIL DEATH -- TESTAMENTARY WRITINGS -- ESCROW -- ABSENCE OF DELIVERY -- ADMINISTRATION ACTION -- COSTS -- COMMISSION -- DISBURSEMENTS -- R. 653.

Linck v. Gainsbeck, 11 O.W.N. 209.

SUFFICIENCY OF DELIVERY—VERBAL AGREEMENT FOR POSSESSION.

Gift of moveable property by verbal agreement is valid only when possession is given by the donor to the donee; and the common, private and equivocal possession of movables by a daughter whilst she was living alone with her father is not sufficient to admit verbal evidence of manual gift between them.

Hammond v. Nesom, 47 Que. S.C. 179.

GOODS.

See Sale; Bills of Sale; Chattel Mortgage.

GOODWILL.

See Trade name; Partnership; Contracts, III E.

SALE OF.

Where a trader sells his route in which he had previously supplied goods (e.g. milk) and binds himself not to sell to any of these customers under a forfeiture of $25 each, and he does subsequently sell, the penal clause can be immediately invoked by the purchaser and the vendor's plea to the effect that such customers had left the purchaser and solicited him to supply them again will be of no avail. [Lea v. Whitaker, 8 L.R.C.P. 70; Wallace v. Smith, 25 L.J. Ch. 145, applied.]

Fortin v. Ferras, 9 D.L.R. 16, 43 Que. S. C. 313.

SALE OF BUSINESS—CANVASSING CUSTOMERS—INJUNCTION—DAMAGES.

Stewart v. Calbert, 8 O.W.N. 437.

UPON SALE OF BUSINESS—LEASE—RENEWAL—INJUNCTION.

Where a business carried on in leased premises is sold as a going concern, the taking by the seller of a new lease of the premises with the idea of returning them after the expiration of the existing lease, amounts to a direct solicitation of the old customers and consequently tends to depreciate that which was sold. The seller will be ordered to assign the new lease to the buyer, or if the lessor's consent to such assignment cannot be had, the seller will be restrained from carrying on business in the premises.

Pulos v. Demarco, [1917] 2 W.W.R. 1000.

GOVERNMENT CONTROL.

See Constitutional Law; Crown. Of carriers, see Carriers; Railway Board. Of corporations, see Companies. Of lands, see Public Lands; Mines and Minerals; Waters.

GOVERNOR.

Extent of power of judiciary over executive, see Action, I B—5.

PREROGATIVE POWERS—CONTRACTS.

The Governor of Newfoundland has not full prerogative power of the Crown; his capacity is limited by his commission and instructions, and by the law of the colony contracts in his public capacity are subject to the constitutional practice of the colony; all contracts by him extending over a period of years and creating a public charge are, by statute, not binding until approved by the House of Assembly.

Commercial Cable Co. v. Government of Newfoundland (Imp.), 29 D.L.R. 7, [1916] 2 A.C. 610.

PREROGATIVE POWERS OF LIEUTENANT-GOVERNOR—INVESTIGATIONS—COMMISSIONS—CONSTRUCTION OF PARLIAMENT BUILDING.

The Lieutenant Governor-in-Council, as the chief executive officer, has the prerogative power under the constitutional Acts, and under the Inquiries Act (Man.), to appoint investigation commissions and to clothe them with special powers to compel the attendance of witnesses and production of documents. The appointment of a commission by the Lieutenant Governor-in-Council to investigate certain matters relating to the construction of a new Parliament building conforms to the powers enumerated in the Inquiries Act, R.S.M., c. 34, respecting commissions to any matter connected with the good government of the province.

Kelly v. Mathers, 23 D.L.R. 225, 25 Man. L.R. 589, 31 W.L.R. 931, 32 W.L.R. 33, 8 W.W.R. 1298.

POWERS OF LIEUTENANT-GOVERNOR—SUSPENSION OF ACTIONS BECAUSE OF WAR—CLASS PROCLAMATIONS—LIQUOR LICENSES.

Chapter 2 of statutes 1914 (Sask.), authorizing the Lieutenant Governor-in-Council to prohibit the issue of processes in all or any classes of civil actions, for the protection of persons whose interests may be jeopardized during a state of war, a proclamation prohibiting the taking of actions by creditors against liquor licensees as a class, whose interests are affected by the closing of bars for the proclaimed period, is not ultra vires and in conformity to the spirit of the statute. [Bywater v. Brandling, 7 B. & C. 643, applied.]

Imperial Elevator & Lumber Co. v. Kuss, 25 D.L.R. 55, 8 S.L.R. 369, 32 W.L.R. 941, 9 W.W.R. 606, varying 9 W.W.R. 164, 32 W.L.R. 378.

GRAIN.

Grain Act, see Sale, I B—5.

GRAND JURY.

Complainant as grand juror, see Indictment, IV—75.

CONDUCT OF PROCEEDINGS.

Where a grand jury improperly brought in a true bill without calling any witnesses merely upon perusal of the depositions taken at the preliminary enquiry before a magistrate, and such fact is brought to the notice of the court by the omission to inital the names of any witnesses whose names were endorsed on the bill of indictment, the court has a discretionary power to remit the case to the same grand jury to find on the bill on proper evidence only, and the grand jury is not necessarily disqualified from acting because of having read and considered the depositions.

The King v. Thurstan, 20 Can. Cr. Cas. 505.

SUMMONING—NUMBER.

Under sch. B of the Jurors Act (R.S.B.C. 1911, c. 121), not more than 13 persons need be summoned by the sheriff to act as grand jurors.

R. v. Bonner, 13 D.L.R. 162, 21 Can. Cr. Cas. 442, 18 R.C.R. 454, 25 W.L.R. 112, 4 W.W.R. 1255.

IMPROPER COMMUNICATION TO JURORS.

Proof that an improper communication reflecting on the accused had been made to the grand jurors who returned the bill of indictment would not be a ground for quashing the indictment.

Vernonau v. The King, 31 D.L.R. 332, 26 Can. Cr. Cas. 278, 25 Que. K.B. 275. [Affirmed, 33 D.L.R. 68, 54 Can. S.C.R. 7.]

EXEMPTION.

Where the names of two persons drawn to serve upon the grand jury are dropped by the sheriff, on the ground that they are exempt from serving, but without requiring from them the affidavit prescribed by the act (R.S.N.S. 1900, c. 162, s. 43), and the names of two other persons, properly qualified to serve, are drawn upon a special panel to serve in the stead of those omitted, this is not an irregularity in connection with the constitution of the jury, or prejudicial to prisoners, for which an indictment will be set aside.

The King v. Brown, 45 N.S.R. 473, 19 Can. Cr. Cas. 237.

GUARANTY.

- I. VALIDITY; CONSTRUCTION; EFFECT.
II. REVOCATION; CONDITION; DISCHARGE.

As to Statute of Frauds, see Contracts, I E.

As to suretyship, see Principal and Surety; Bonds.

I. Validity; construction; effect.

Powers of company as to, see Companies, IV D—79.

(§ I—1)—ILLITERACY—FRAUD.

The fact that a person signing a guaranty is a foreigner unable to read English, without the document being read over or the nature of the liability explained to him, will not, in the absence of fraud, relieve him from liability thereon; whether or not there was fraud is a question of fact ascertainable from the evidence by the Trial Court.

Kimball Lumber Co. v. Anderson, 27 D.L.R. 555.

COMPANY—INCORPORATED BY DOMINION AUTHORITY—GUARANTEE OF ACCOUNT OF ANOTHER COMPANY WITH BANK—SPECIAL CLAUSE IN CHARTER—ABSENCE OF DIRECT AUTHORIZATION OF DIRECTORS—LIABILITY OF COMPANY.

Bank of Ottawa v. Hamilton Stove & Heater Co., 46 D.L.R. 706, 44 O.L.R. 93.

SOLICITOR—UNDERTAKING—LIABILITY UNDER—"COSTS OF SALE."

In an action by a mortgagee for foreclosure of a mortgage of lands, a solicitor appeared on the motion for judgment in Chambers and asked for an order for sale on behalf of a defendant and guaranteed the "costs of sale." Held, that the solicitor was personally liable on the guarantee, and that by "costs of sale" are meant the extra costs incurred in proceeding by way of sale instead of foreclosure.

Standard Trust Co. v. Szlachetka, 12 S.L.R. 412, [1919] 3 W.W.R. 614.

An agreement by defendant company for the purchase of a quantity of salt, f.o.b., at San Francisco, to be delivered at Nanaimo, British Columbia, was signed by the president and secretary-treasurer. Under their signatures was added: "We, the undersigned, guarantee payment of the obligation as noted above, Imperial Fisheries, Ltd., J. O. Hearn, president; Saml. J. Levy, secretary-treasurer; William Kilroy, vice-president":—Held, that the three officers signing the guarantee following the execution of the agreement, were personally liable, and that judgment under Order XIV. was properly allowed.

Johnson, etc. v. Imperial Fisheries, 16 B.C.R. 445.

INDEBTEDNESS OF COMPANY TO BANK—ACTION AGAINST GUARANTORS—DEFENCES—INNOCENT MISREPRESENTATION BY BANK MANAGER AS TO SECURITY TO BE TRANSFERRED TO GUARANTORS—SECURITY NOT ACTUALLY TRANSFERRED—ELECTION, AFTER DISCOVERY OF MISTAKE AS TO SECURITY, TO STAND BY TRANSACTION—LEAVE TO APPEAL FURTHER EVIDENCE UPON APPEAL.

Bank of Ottawa v. Carson, 15 O.W.N. 375.

BY AGENT TO PRINCIPAL—CONSIDERATION.

An agent's guaranty for the payment of rent by a tenant to whom he leased the property contrary to the principal's instruction, that the rent be payable in advance, which guaranty was not the inducing cause for the principal's acceptance of the tenancy, is without consideration and the agent is not liable for rent in default.

Lunt v. Perley, 35 D.L.R. 214, 44 N.B.R. 439.

(§ I—2)—WARRANTY—WHAT IS—AFFIRMATIVE WORDS—INTENTION OF PARTIES—EVIDENCE.

The question whether an affirmation made by the vendor at the time of the sale constitutes a warranty depends on the in-tion of the parties, to be deduced from the whole of the evidence, and the circumstance that the vendor assumes to assert a fact of which the purchaser is ignorant, though valuable as evidence of intention is not conclusive of the question.

Gardner v. Merker, 44 D.L.R. 217, 43 O.L.R. 411.

INFANT'S DEBT—ORIGINAL UNDERTAKING.

A promissory note given by a third person for the purchase price of a business purchased by an infant is an original undertaking on which the maker is primarily liable and not a guaranty of the infant's debt. [Harris v. Huntbach, 1 Burr. 373, applied.]

Pearson v. Calder, 27 D.L.R. 478, 35 O.L.R. 524. [See also 30 D.L.R. 424, 36 O.L.R. 458.]

REALTY SALE—PROMISE "TO REALIZE" SPECIFIED PROFIT.

Where, on a realty sale the vendor promises his purchaser "to realize" for such purchaser, before the date of the next instalment of the original purchase price matures, a specified profit adding a hope to even double such specified profit, the promise as distinct from the hope goes beyond mere opinion and imports a legal obligation by way of guaranty enforceable by the original purchaser against his vendor.

Boivin v. Lessard, 44 D.L.R. 808, 7 A.L.R. 97, 26 W.L.R. 312.

SUBSTITUTION—CONSIDERATION.

Northern Crown Bank v. Elford, 30 D.L.R. 562, 9 S.L.R. 304, 34 W.L.R. 1185, 10 W.W.R. 1311.

CONSTRUCTION.

In a sale or transfer of a claim against the purchaser by a contractor for manufacturing certain quantities of lumber per year who had sublet part of the work, the agreement that the assignee "will be liable for, and indemnify the assignor against all costs, expenses and damages whatsoever in respect to any action by the subcontractors relating to the lumber furnished or to be furnished" applies not only to the sole action then pending which the assignee knew to be a test case, but also to all claims of the subcontractors capable of becoming litigious. It covers as well the capital sum as the costs and incidental damages.

Lavoie v. Laroche, 43 Que. S.C. 113.

(§ I-3)—INTENTION AS TO LIABILITY—ASSOCIATION—PARTNERSHIP.

A guaranty for the payment of all moneys which are now or shall at any time be due for lumber and building materials supplied to "The Ponteix Hotel Co.," or "The Ponteix Hotel Co., Limited," manifests an intention to treat the association as a partnership and that the guarantee shall accordingly apply to liabilities prior to the incorporation.

Kimball Lumber Co. v. Anderson, 27 D.L.R. 555.

WIFE AS SURETY—SIGNING GUARANTY AT HUSBAND'S REQUEST.

In a transaction between a creditor and a limited liability company by which the indebtedness of the company was secured by a guaranty which was signed by a married woman at the request of her husband, the married woman cannot escape liability where it appears that she had a personal interest as the secretary and a shareholder in a company by pleading that she signed the guaranty at her husband's request without reading it over, where there was no misrepresentation and the creditor received it in good faith from the company as represented by the husband. [Bank of Montreal v. Stuart, [1911] A.C. 120, followed; Chaplin v. Brammall, [1908] 1 K.B. 233, doubted.]

Gold Medal Furniture Co. v. Stephenson, (No. 2), 10 D.L.R. 1, 23 Man. L.R. 159, 23 W.L.R. 664, 4 W.W.R. 7, varying 7 D.L.R. 811. [Affirmed, 15 D.L.R. 342.]

LIABILITY—DAMAGES—AUTOMOBILE ACCIDENT—DEFECTIVE ROADS—INCOMPETENCY OF CONDUCTOR—PRESCRIPTION—JOINT LIABILITY—INTERRUPTION AGAINST ONE OF THE CREDITORS—ACTION ON GUARANTEE—C.C. ss. 1054, 1106, 1117, 1118, 2231, 2232, 2236—S. REF. [1909], s. 1406—6 GEO. V., [1916] c. 43, s. 11—29 VICT. [1865], c. 57, ART. 33.

The liability for an injury caused involuntarily by the combined fault of two persons is a joint one. The victim can bring his action for all the damages from the accident, subject to a recourse in guarantee of the one who is sued, against the other for his share of the damages which he has been called upon to pay. A recourse in guarantee only existing by reason of a principal action, the prescription of this recourse does not commence to run until the moment that the principal action is brought and not at the moment when the right of action arises.

Bégin v. Richard; Richard v. Quebec, 55 Que. S.C. 114.

(§ I-6)—AGREEMENT TO GUARANTEE BANK OVERDRAFT—DURATION OF LIABILITY—BREACH OF CONTRACT.

In an action on a note made by a corporation in favour of defendant, who held practically all the company's stock, and endorsed by him to plaintiff, defendant was entitled to counterclaim for plaintiff's breach of agreement, on which defendant claims the note was endorsed by him, that plaintiff would continue to guarantee the company's overdraft at a bank up to a stated amount; the breach consisting in stopping payment on a cheque, rendering the company insolvent and defendant's shares worthless.

Sweet v. Archibald, 11 D.L.R. 570, 47 N.S.R. 35, 12 E.L.R. 486.

CONTINUING GUARANTY TO BANK—GENERAL CLAUSE AS TO "OTHER DEALINGS"—CLAIM AGAINST DEBTOR ASSIGNED TO BANK.

A contract of guaranty given to a bank and expressed to be for the debts of the company arising from dealings between it and the bank and from "any other dealings by which the bank may become creditor in any manner whatsoever" will not constitute a guaranty of debts incurred by the company in favour of third parties who transferred them to the bank without the concurrence of the guarantor; the guaranty must be limited, in protection of the guarantor, to claims in which the debtor participated in their creation and which have been recognized by him as to be secured by the guaranty.

Northern Crown Bank v. Herbert, 13 D. L.R. 304, 22 Que. K.B. 374.

DURATION OF LIABILITY—DEBT OF INSOLVENT COMPANY—DURATION OF LIABILITY—BANK ACT—SECURITIES—PAYMENT FOR TIMBER.

Quebec Bank v. Sovereign Bank (No. 1), 5 D.L.R. 879, 4 O.W.N. 22, 22 O.W.R. 966.

INDEBTEDNESS OF COMPANY AS CUSTOMER OF BANK—CONSTRUCTION OF INSTRUMENT—LIMITATION OF AMOUNT OF LIABILITY—BANK ALLOWING INCREASED INDEBTEDNESS OR LIABILITY—AGREEMENT FOR "ADDITION THERETO"—INTEREST—LIABILITY OF GUARANTORS.

Dime Savings Bank v. Mills, 17 O.W.N. 246.

NOTE SECURING ACCOUNT—SETTLEMENT—DELIVERY OF GOODS.

A third party giving a note in guaranty of a debtor's account cannot refuse payment of the note if the subject matter is delivered after the delay stipulated in the settlement of the account, the note not being intended to guarantee the amount that would become due for the work ordered, but relating to the account due at the time of the settlement, and the debtor has a right to be reimbursed the advances that he has made thereon.

Martin v. Bourdis, 49 Que. S.C. 247.

EXTENT OF — DAMAGE CLAIMS — ILLEGAL ACTS.

The extent of a warranty by which the warrantor binds himself to hold the warrantee harmless from any claims by a third person, does not cover demand of damages arising out of illegal act committed by the warrantee.

Mongrain v. Canadian Carbonate Co., 46 Que. S.C. 534.

NATURE, EXTENT AND DURATION OF LIABILITY — INDIVISIBILITY OF ADMISSION — SALE — DECEIT — CONCEALMENT — C.C. 1530.

Thibodeau v. Vian, 18 Rev. de Jur. 299.

(§ 1—7)—CONTINUING LIABILITY.

As a contract of guaranty creates a continuing liability from its inception a subsequent voluntary transfer of the guarantor's property without consideration will be set aside where a liability afterwards arose on such guaranty.

Toronto Carpet Co. v. Wright, 3 D.L.R. 725, 22 Man. L.R. 294, 21 W.L.R. 304.

CONTINUING GUARANTY—PROMISSORY NOTE.

A guaranty note executed concurrently with a suretyship contract covering future advances, and in substitution of a prior continuing guaranty, is intended up to its face amount as continuing security for past, present and future indebtedness.

Standard Bank v. Alberta Engineering Co., 33 D.L.R. 542, 11 A.L.R. 96, [1917] 1 W.W.R. 1177, varying 27 D.L.R. 707.

MISTAKE OF GUARANTOR AS TO PERSON WHOSE INDEBTEDNESS TO BE GUARANTEED—INTENTION OF GUARANTOR—NEGLECT TO READ INSTRUMENT OF GUARANTY—EVIDENCE—FINDINGS OF FACT—APPEAL.

Bank of Toronto v. Morrison, 12 O.W.N. 288.

ACCOUNT OF CUSTOMER WITH BANK—ADVANCES — OVERDRAFT — OUTSTANDING NOTES — INTEREST — APPROPRIATION OF PAYMENTS—LIABILITY OF GUARANTOR.

Union Bank v. Makepeace, 12 O.W.N. 397, affirming 10 O.W.N. 28.

BANK—ACCOUNT OF CUSTOMER—LIABILITY OF GUARANTOR—FRAUD OF ASSOCIATE—FINDINGS OF FACT OF TRIAL JUDGE.

Bank of Nova Scotia v. Salter, 13 O.W.N. 145.

LIABILITY OF TRADING COMPANY TO BANK—BOND EXECUTED BY CERTAIN SHAREHOLDERS—ACTION ON—DEFENCE THAT BOND EXECUTED ON CONDITION THAT ALL SHAREHOLDERS SHOULD SIGN—ABSENCE OF KNOWLEDGE OF CONDITION BY BANK—ADMISSION OF ORAL EVIDENCE.

Dominion Bank v. Cameron, 13 O.W.N. 420.

(§ 1—9)—LAND SALES.

Where a subpurchaser of one lot of a block of land sold by the owner to the original purchaser has been directed by his vendor to pay his purchase money to the owner and get title from him direct, but the owner declines to accept payment or to convey unless paid a bonus in addition, the original purchaser may be ordered to indemnify his subpurchaser in respect of a reasonable bonus paid to the owner in order to obtain title.

Duggan v. Wadleigh, 1 D.L.R. 871, 4 A.L.R. 114, 20 W.L.R. 102, 1 W.W.R. 595.

CONTRACT FOR SALE OF LAND—ABANDONMENT BY VENDEE—PAYMENT BY GUARANTOR—RIGHTS INTER SE.

The mere fact that a purchaser under an instalment contract, on becoming unable to pay an instalment overdue, went out of possession of the property is not evidence of an intention to abandon his rights thereunder to a surety, who thereupon paid the arrears and assumed possession; the latter's rights will be limited as to such purchase by the terms of the contract of suretyship, although the surety had procured the transfer of title to himself from the vendor.

Campbell v. Munros, 12 D.L.R. 289, 6 A.L.R. 176, 24 W.L.R. 732, 4 W.W.R. 1007.

GUARANTY—INDIVIDUAL LIABILITY OF GUARANTORS.

Johnson Co. v. Imperial Fisheries, 167 C.R. 445, 19 W.L.R. 285.

GUARANTEE—INDEMNITY—ORAL PROMISE TO ANSWER FOR THE DEBT OF ANOTHER—STATUTE OF FRAUDS.

Shea v. Lindsay Co., 20 Man. L.R. 208, 15 W.L.R. 362.

ACTION ON — DEFENCE — MISREPRESENTATION.

Bank of Toronto v. Bier, 2 O.W.N. 897, 18 O.W.R. 844.

CONTRACT—GUARANTEE OF RAILWAY BONDS—3 EDW. VII. (CAS.), C. 71, AND 4 EDW. VII. (CAS.), C. 24.

G.T.P.R. v. The King, [1912] A.C. 204.

CONSTRUCTION—EXTENT OF LIABILITY—EXECUTION BY ATTORNEY FOR ONE GUARANTOR—ABSENCE OF AUTHORITY—REPRESENTATION OF AUTHORITY.

Gold Medal Furniture Co. v. Stephenson, 17 W.L.R. 651.

CONTRACT OF GUARANTY—SALE OF GOODS—CONTINUING GUARANTY—INTEREST.

Brook Co. v. Young, 8 E.L.R. 244.

II. Revocation; condition; discharge.

(§ II—10) — PURCHASER'S AGREEMENT — AGENTS—EFFECT OF WORDS IN TELEGRAM.

In an action claiming that real estate agents engaged in the purchase of "purchasers' agreements" on behalf of the plaintiffs had guaranteed in writing payment of the balance of the purchase price under an agreement for sale, reliance was placed on a telegram in the following words: "Value on title made low to reduce registration costs are getting declaration as to moneys received from Love who is a good man. Agreement good and guarantee it." Held, that the telegram taken with the other correspondence and circumstances did not guarantee payment of the agreement, but went no further than to guarantee that the agreement was a bona fide one and that the property and parties were good.

Schell v. McCallum, 42 D.L.R. 563, 57 Can. S.C.R. 15, [1918] 2 W.W.R. 735, affirming 38 D.L.R. 133, 10 S.L.R. 440.

(§ II—11) — REVOCAION—CHANGE OF CONTRACT — INTEREST — DISCHARGE — NOTICE.

An illegal increase in the rate of interest charged the principal debtor will not render a guarantee null and void, nor will the renewal made, after revocation of the guarantee, of notes made before the revocation, discharge the guarantor from liability therefor, but a condition will be read into the contract that the interest is not to exceed the rate allowed by statute. A clause that "this shall be a continuing guarantee, and shall cover all the liabilities which the customer may incur or come under until the undersigned, or the executors or administrators of the undersigned, shall have given the bank notice in writing to make no further advances on the security of this guarantee" stipulates that the guarantee is to remain in force until there is a notice given by each and all of the guarantors, the executors of any deceased cosignatory coming in his place.

Egbert v. Northern Crown Bank, 42 D.L.R. 326, [1918] A.C. 903, [1918] 3 W.W.R. 132, affirming 33 D.L.R. 367, 11 A.L.R. 1, sub nom Northern Crown Bank v. Woodcrafts.

OBTAINING SIGNATURE BY MISREPRESENTATION AS TO EXECUTION BY OTHERS—FAILURE OF CONSIDERATION — DISCHARGE OF GUARANTOR.

One who was induced to execute a contract of guaranty on the strength of the representation of the guarantor that it would be signed by certain other persons as well, is relieved from liability by the guarantor's concealment of the fact that one of such persons had refused to sign the contract. Where a guarantee agreed to make future advances to a principal debtor in consideration of a guaranty not under seal, of the payment of the former's existing indebtedness and of the advances to be made, which required a consideration to support it, the guarantor's refusal to make such advances amounts to a failure of consideration which will discharge the guarantor from liability. The discharge of a surety from liability on a contract of guaranty by reason of the release of a co-surety by the guarantee without the knowledge or consent of such surety, is not, governed by s. 39 (r1) of the Manitoba King's Bench Act, R.S.M., 1902, c. 40, providing that the giving of time to a principal debtor will not discharge a surety, but shall be a defence only in so far as it is shown that the latter has been thereby prejudiced. [Blackwell v. Percival, 14 Man. L.R. 216, distinguished.] Where the plaintiff was liable as guarantor for the whole amount secured by his guaranty, all of which was evidence by the principal debtor's notes, the delivery, without the former's knowledge or consent, by the guarantee on payment to him by a co-surety of the amount for which he was individually liable, which was less than the amount of the whole debt secured, of a portion of such notes to the amount of his payment, will relieve the plaintiff, pro tanto at least, from liability; since the guarantee by parting with some of the notes, put it out of his power to turn over to the plaintiff all of the notes to which he would be entitled on payment of the amount for which he was liable. The release by a guarantee of one surety from liability on a contract of guaranty, on the payment of less than the amount for which he is liable, without the knowledge or consent of his cosurety, will release the latter from all liability on the contract.

Scandinavian American National Bank v. Kneeland, 12 D.L.R. 292, 24 W.L.R. 587, 4 W.W.R. 944.

(§ 11—12)—TO BANK OF INDEBTEDNESS OF COMPANY—BANK HOLDING ALSO OTHER COLLATERAL SECURITY—ASSIGNMENT FOR CREDITORS—BANK PROVING CLAIM AND VALUING SECURITIES—SUBSEQUENT CONVEYANCE BY ASSIGNEE TO BANK—RELEASE OF GUARANTOR.

The plaintiff was the holder of a written guaranty given by the defendant to secure the repayment to the bank of part of the indebtedness of a manufacturing company. In addition to the defendant's guaranty the bank held as collateral security for its claim against the company, a mortgage against the lands of the company, a mortgage on the plant, machinery and chattels of the company and an assignment of book debts. The company made an assignment for the benefit of creditors. Thereupon the bank proved its claim and valued its securities at the amount of the claim as filed—subsequently the assignee with the approval of the inspectors, conveyed all his right, title and interest in the mortgaged property of the company to the bank and received from the bank a certain sum of money and a release of the book debts. The court held that the bank must be held to have accepted the conveyances in satisfaction of their claim against the company and to have thus determined any liability the defendant was under to pay any part of the debt.

Union Bank v. Makepeace, 46 D.L.R. 193, 44 O.L.R. 292, reversing 38 D.L.R. 361, 40 O.L.R. 368.

VARIATION—INCREASE OF LIABILITY—DISCHARGE—ESTOPPEL.

A guaranty is not discharged because of a variation in the terms of the transaction which increased the liability, if the guarantor, at the time the change was made, knowingly acquiesced in it, and by his conduct subsequently ratified it.

K. & S. Auto Fire Co. v. Rutherford, 28 D.L.R. 357, 36 O.L.R. 26, affirming 27 D.L.R. 736, 34 O.L.R. 639.

DISCHARGE—IMPAIRMENT OF SECURITY.

A failure to register a lien note, in consequence whereof a third person has acquired a good title to the property covered thereby, will discharge a guarantor from liability thereon.

Gray-Campbell v. Reimer, 36 D.L.R. 181, 11 A.L.R. 437, [1917] 2 W.W.R. 991.

A guarantor is not released, where after the guarantee is given the creditor fails to effectively secure additional security, which, of his own motion, he attempted to secure and which was not in the contemplation of either party when the guarantee was given. Cases of loss of security through failure to comply with the provisions of a statute considered.

Northern Crown Bank v. Walker et al., 24 B.C.R. 163, [1917] 2 W.W.R. 573.

ACTION ON SURETYSHIP BOND—ASSURANCE OF DUE PERFORMANCE OF CONTRACT—MATERIAL ALTERATIONS IN PROPOSED CONTRACT—ABSENCE OF ASSENT OF GUARANTORS.

Richardson v. London Guarantee & Accident Co., 11 O.W.N. 223.

BANK OVERDRAFT—ACTION AGAINST GUARANTORS—DEFENCES—EXECUTION OF GUARANTY ON UNDERSTANDING AS TO EXECUTION BY OTHERS—DEALINGS WITH COSURETIES—RELEASE—PLEADING—THIRD PARTY PROCEDURE—R. 179.

Bank of Ottawa v. Smith, 10 O.W.N. 394, 11 O.W.N. 374.

DIRECTORS OF COMPANY GUARANTEEING ACCOUNT WITH BANK—ALLEGED EXTINGUISHMENT OF GUARANTY BY PAYMENT—FINDING OF FACT—COUNTERCLAIM—JUDGMENT AGAINST EXECUTORS OF DECEASED DIRECTORS—LIMITATION TO ESTATES IN HAND FOR ADMINISTRATION.

Mather v. Bank of Ottawa, 15 O.W.N. 354. [Affirmed, 17 O.W.N. 249.]

TIME FOR PAYMENT OF DEBT GUARANTEED EXTENDED FOR DEFINITE PERIOD BY ARRANGEMENT BETWEEN CREDITOR AND PRINCIPAL DEBTOR—RELEASE OF GUARANTOR.

North-Western National Bank v. Ferguson, 12 O.W.N. 15, affirming 11 O.W.N. 178. [Reversed, 44 D.L.R. 464, 57 Can. S.C.R. 429.]

ACTION OF SURETYSHIP BOND—ASSURANCE OF DUE PERFORMANCE OF CONTRACT—MATERIAL ALTERATIONS IN PROPOSED CONTRACT—ABSENCE OF ASSENT OF GUARANTORS.

Richardson v. London Guarantee & Accident Co., 11 O.W.N. 223, 321.

MONEY EMBEZZLED—CHEQUES SIGNED IN BLANK—MATERIAL REPRESENTATION TO GUARANTEE COMPANY.

[Elgin Loan v. London Guarantee Co., 11 O.L.R. 239, followed.]

McDonald v. London Guarantee & Accident Insurance Co., 19 O.W.R. 807, 2 O.W.N. 1455.

DISCHARGE—JUDGMENT—SETTING ASIDE—EFFECT.

Where a guarantor is once relieved or discharged of his liability as such he cannot again be rendered liable upon his contract without his consent, therefore the setting aside at the instance of the plaintiff of a judgment against the principal debtor only and the restoration of the latter's original liability does not place the plaintiff in a position to obtain judgment against the guarantor.

Crown Life Ins. Co. v. Lendrum, [1917] 2 W.W.R. 1062.

GUARDIAN AND WARD.

- I. APPOINTMENT; REMOVAL; DISCHARGE.
II. POWERS; RIGHTS; DUTIES; AND LIABILITIES OF GUARDIAN.

Guardianship of infants, see Infants; Incompetent Persons.

Suit by foreign guardian, see Conflict of Laws, 1 C—71.

I. Appointment; removal; discharge.

(§ 1—1)—APPOINTMENT AND REMOVAL—DOMICILE.

Where the natural and legal guardian and the person seeking to be made the judicial guardian of an infant are both domiciled and resident within the province where the application is made, the court has jurisdiction to set aside the natural and legal guardian and appoint another guardian, although the infant is at the time residing outside the province.

Re McGibbon, 39 D.L.R. 177, 13 A.L.R. 196, [1918] 1 W.W.R. 579.

(§ 1—2)—MINOR NOT DOMICILED OR RESIDENT.

Although a minor, neither domiciled nor resident in Quebec, has a tutor appointed by the court of domicile, the court may appoint a tutor resident in the province to represent and protect the minor in a matter to be judicially determined in the Quebec courts.

A. F. Byers Co. v. Bartolucci, 42 D.L.R. 486, 27 Que. K.B. 359.

(§ 1—3)—TESTAMENTARY GUARDIAN—APPOINTMENT OF NEW GUARDIAN—EX PARTE ORDER WITHOUT NOTICE—ERRONEOUS JURISDICTION OF PROBATE COURT.

No special form of words is necessary for the appointment of a testamentary guardian, and after such guardian has been appointed and the office is full, it is an erroneous exercise of jurisdiction in the Probate Court to appoint another guardian without serving notice on such testamentary guardian and taking evidence in support of the allegations contained in the petition for his removal.

Re Kelly, 47 D.L.R. 521.

II. Powers; rights; duties and liabilities of guardian.

(§ II—11a)—INVESTMENTS.

It is the duty of a guardian (or tutor) of a minor, having charge of the latter's money awaiting investment, to deposit it in a chartered bank in an interest bearing account, instead of merely on safe deposit where it would earn no interest but would remain the property of the minor unaffected by the failure of the bank or other depository, and the tutor depositing in the savings department of a chartered bank is not liable for the loss occasioned by the failure of the bank.

A guardian who, in good faith and during the period by law allowed him to arrange for the investment of the funds of his ward, deposits thereof the sum of $225 in a bank, reputed solvent, will not for that reason be held responsible for the loss of such sum, if, after the deposit, such bank becomes insolvent.

Gervais v. Boudreau, 8 D.L.R. 802, 18 Rev. de Jur. 433.

APPOINTMENT FOR CHILDREN—INVESTMENT—GUARDIAN—TRUSTEE—DUTIES.

Where the residuary estate of a testatrix is apportioned in equal shares amongst her children, the shares not to vest in the children until they respectively attain the age of 25, the income from the several presumptive shares to be paid by the trustees to the guardian of the children for maintenance, education and support until such shares are vested, the trustees are justified in paying the whole of the income to the guardian both before and after the majority of the children; and upon a child attaining his majority the guardian becomes a trustee for him.

Re Eliot, 11 D.L.R. 34, 4 O.W.N. 1198, 24 O.W.R. 494.

INCOME OF FUND—SURPLUS—INVESTMENT—INFANTS.

Where the income of a fund is paid to a guardian for the maintenance, education and support of a child, the guardian should invest the surplus income not required for that purpose, for the benefit of the child.

Re Eliot, 11 D.L.R. 34, 4 O.W.N. 1198, 24 O.W.R. 494.

MAINTENANCE OF INFANT OUT OF FUNDS IN HANDS OF GUARDIAN—POWER OF COURT TO AUTHORIZE PAYMENT TO MOTHER.

The court has power to enforce the duty of any guardian or other trustee to maintain and educate infant children according to their needs and means; and has power over the person and property of an infant, which power ought to be freely exercised for the benefit of the infant whenever necessary. An order was made by a Judge in Chambers, upon the application of the mother of two infants (girls), who resided with her, authorizing the guardians of the infants to pay to the applicant, out of the infants' moneys in their hands—largely out of the corpus, the income being insufficient—the same allowance for the infants' maintenance and education that had been paid for a limited time under a previous order, so long as past conditions as to maintenance and education should continue, up to the time of each infant, respectively, attaining the age of 21 years or marrying. Held, that the application was regularly made at Chambers, by way of originating notice of motion; and equally so whether the guardians were assenting or dissenting, there being no question involved respecting the power of the court, or the right of the infants to the property in question.

Re Adkins Infants, 33 O.L.R. 110.

CURATOR OF ABSENTEE—RIGHT TO CLAIM SUCCESSION—DISBURSEMENTS BY.

A curator to the property of an absentee, who cannot prove that he was alive at the time of the opening of the succession to which he is substitute, has no right to claim the succession in the name of the absentee or to retain it against those who are called upon to succeed him. A curator who, with no right to do so, has taken possession in the name of the absentee of immovables devised to him and has made out of his own money useful and necessary disbursements, cannot by a plea filed in his capacity of curator claim the amount of these disbursements nor avail himself of the right to retain the property.

Picard v. Picard, 48 Que. S.C. 316.

INVESTMENTS—GOOD FAITH.

In an action for an account of tutorship the defendant cannot plead that he, in good faith, made investments other than those provided for by arts. 981o, 981r, C.C. (Que.), nor oblige the plaintiff to accept the investments in settlement of the balance of the account.

Barrette v. Dumontet, 18 Que. P.R. 53.

(§ II—13)—LIABILITIES.

A minor on becoming of age may claim, by ordinary action, reimbursement of a fixed sum from his tutor; he is not obliged to resort to the action en reddition de compte especially if the sum is small, comprises all his possessions and he declares that he relieves the tutor from the necessity of rendering an account.

Brennan v. Benoit, 15 Que. P.R. 42.

CURATOR—QUE. C.P. 833, 834, 874—ADMINISTRATION—LIABILITY.

A curator is entitled to set up, on the presentation of a motion to issue a rule of coercive imprisonment, all the grounds he might set up against the rule itself. [Crevier v. Crevier, 9 Rev. Leg. 313.] The law does not oblige the curator to furnish security, and does not prescribe any penalty against him. Therefore a curator is liable to imprisonment only for what is due by reason of his administration.

Re Hebert & Hood, 16 Que. P.R. 97.

BENEFICIARY CERTIFICATE—APPOINTMENT OF GUARDIAN BY WILL.

Brooks v. Catholic Order of Foresters, 2 O.W.N. 771, 18 O.W.R. 397.

JUDICIAL GUARDIAN—VALUE OF THE MOVABLES SEIZED.

Meresse v. Harris, 12 Que. P.R. 399.

HABEAS CORPUS.

I. IN PROVINCIAL COURTS.

A. In general.

B. Power to issue; who may demand.

C. Scope of writ: questions considered; right to discharge.

D. Procedure; judgment.

Review of proceedings, see Appeal; Certiorari; Criminal Law.

Annotations.

Habeas corpus, procedure: 13 D.L.R. 722.

Prosecution for same offence after conviction or commitment quashed: 37 D.L.R. 126.

Ball pending decision on writ of habeas corpus: 44 D.L.R. 144.

I. In Provincial Courts.

A. IN GENERAL.

Quashing conviction, discharge, rearrest for same offense, see Criminal Law, II G—79.

(§ I A—1)—JURISDICTION OF QUEBEC SUPERIOR COURT—EXCEPTION OF CRIMINAL MATTERS—C.C.P. QUE. ARTS. 50, 1114.

The Court of King's Bench alone, and not the Superior Court, can grant a habeas corpus in the province of Quebec to a person accused in a criminal matter.

Miller v. Malepart, 31 Can. Cr. Cas. 203.

JURISDICTION OF COURT OF KING'S BENCH (APPEAL SIDE)—QUASI-CRIMINAL MATTER—IMPRISONMENT FOR BREACH OF LICENSE LAW—C.C.P. ARTS. 43, 1114, 1125.

The Court of King's Bench, appeal side, in the Province of Quebec has no jurisdiction by way of appeal in habeas corpus arising from a summary conviction for a criminal or quasi-criminal matter under a provincial law. When a writ of habeas corpus was refused by a judge, a new application may be made to the Court of King's Bench, at its next sitting in appeal, conformably to the provisions of art. 1125 C.C.P. The Court of King's Bench, appeal side, acts, in that case, as a court of the first instance, and not as a Court of Appeal.

Du Petron v. Jacques, 31 Can. Cr. Cas. 183, 26 Que. K.B. 258.

CRIMINAL LAW—MAGISTRATE'S CONVICTION

—WARRANT OF COMMITMENT—MIN-

NUMBER OF DEFENDANT—HABEAS CORPUS

—PRODUCTION OF WARRANT BY GAOLER—

ISSUE AND LODGING OF NEW WARRANT

DESCRIBING DEFENDANT BY TRUE NAME

—AMENDMENT—CR. CODE, s. 1124.

R. v. Bearden, 17 O.W.N. 68.

(§ I A—2)—ALIEN ENEMIES—MILITARY CUSTODY.

A prisoner held in military custody as an alien enemy must have the consent of the Minister of Justice before he can claim to be released in habeas corpus proceedings in support of which he adduces proof that he is a British subject by naturalization; he cannot be released upon bail or otherwise discharged or tried without the consent of the Minister of Justice under the War Measures Act, 1914, 5 Geo. V., Can. c. 2.

Re Beranek, 25 D.L.R. 564, 24 Can. Cr. Cas. 252, 33 O.L.R. 139.

INTERNMENT OF ALIEN ENEMY—REVIEW.

The judgment of a register of alien enemies as to the necessity of the internment of a resident alien enemy under the War Measures Act, 1914, and under the statutory regulations made thereunder, is not subject to review by the courts on habeas when the proceedings before the magistrate are brought up upon a writ of certiorari in aid of the habeas corpus writ.

The King v. Johnson, 1 D.L.R. 548, 22 Man. L.R. 426, 19 Can. Cr. Cas. 203, 21 W.L.R. 900, 1 W.M.L.J. 1042.

Neither a proceeding to quash a summary conviction by way of certiorari, nor a motion to discharge on habeas corpus writ in aid constitutes an "appeal," and where the powers of amendment of a conviction under a provincial statute are limited to "appeals" from convictions and orders, a conviction which illegally imposed hard labour for an offence against the provincial inquirer laws cannot be amended on the habeas corpus motion and the King v. Phelan, 40 C.L.T. 125, applied.

The (King How, 1 D.L.R. 273, 19 Can. Cr. Cas. 176, 2 S.L.R. 128, 19 W.L.R. 891, 1 W.M.L.J. 674.

R. Power to issue, who may demand, as to minor offences without parental consent, see Milina, I-5.

(S. 1 P-3)—APPELLATION FOR—CERTIORARI (OFFENDERS ACT)—WARRANT OF COMMITMENT BY MAGISTRATE—SIX MONTHS TO STRAY OR GIRL—(BYRONES, AS TO OFFENCE.

Re Harrison, 41 D.L.R. 231, 30 Can. Cr. Cas. 120, [186-25 B.C.R. 433, 31, 32, and 33.]

A writ of habeas corpus can only be had in the case of persons imprisoned or detained of their liberty. So it cannot be issued when children are ordered to choose whom they wish to live with, indicate a desire to remain with their grandparents, with whom they are free and by whom they were brought up. In such circumstances, without denying to the father the right to obtain possession of his children in favourable cases, a writ of habeas corpus should be refused him, if, at the time of the application, he is at the war and does not show any reasonable motive to take the guardianship of his children away from their grandmother, de jur. 251.

TERMINATION — STATUTE LIMITATION — ORDER OF INQUIRY (EXPERIMENTAL MIGRATION ACT.

There is no jurisdiction on habeas corpus or certiorari to review any order of a board of inquiry under the Immigration Act, 9-10 Edw. VII, (Can.) c. 27, for deportation of a rejected immigrant unless he is a Canadian citizen or has Canadian domicile as defined by the Act, i.e. that acquired by at least five years' residence.

Re V. Schloppel, 31 Can. Cr. Cas. 253, 1919] 3 W.M.L.J. 322.

DISCRETION IN APPEAL.

A judge of the Superior Court of Quebec has concurrent jurisdiction with a judge of the King's Bench, on habeas corpus, refor a summary conviction (Cr. Code, s. 238) is properly emitted into upon habeas corpus

(S. 1 A-4)—(CERTIORARI IN AID.

Re partie Evans, 25 Can. Cr. Cas. 239, 48 Que. S.C. 409.

To all be valid.

It is held that the remaining commitments are void, if the validity of one of several commitments, in execution of several commitments, is questioned.

The court hearing a habeas corpus application without a certiorari, need not enquire into the validity of a board of inquiry under the Immigration Act, 9-10 Edw. VII, (Can.) c. 27, for deportation of a rejected immigrant unless he is a Canadian citizen or has Canadian domicile as defined by the Act, i.e. that acquired by at least five years' residence.

Re V. Schloppel, 31 Can. Cr. Cas. 253, 1919] 3 W.M.L.J. 322.

DISCRETION IN APPEAL.

A judge of the Superior Court of Quebec has concurrent jurisdiction with a judge of the King's Bench, on habeas corpus, refor a summary conviction (Cr. Code, s. 238) is properly emitted into upon habeas corpus

(S. 1 A-4)—(CERTIORARI IN AID.

Re partie Evans, 25 Can. Cr. Cas. 239, 48 Que. S.C. 409.

To all be valid.

It is held that the remaining commitments are void, if the validity of one of several commitments, in execution of several commitments, is questioned.

The court hearing a habeas corpus application without a certiorari, need not enquire into the validity of a board of inquiry under the Immigration Act, 9-10 Edw. VII, (Can.) c. 27, for deportation of a rejected immigrant unless he is a Canadian citizen or has Canadian domicile as defined by the Act, i.e. that acquired by at least five years' residence.

Re V. Schloppel, 31 Can. Cr. Cas. 253, 1919] 3 W.M.L.J. 322.

DISCRETION IN APPEAL.

A judge of the Superior Court of Quebec has concurrent jurisdiction with a judge of the King's Bench, on habeas corpus, refor a summary conviction (Cr. Code, s. 238) is properly emitted into upon habeas corpus

(S. 1 A-4)—(CERTIORARI IN AID.

Re partie Evans, 25 Can. Cr. Cas. 239, 48 Que. S.C. 409.

To all be valid.

It is held that the remaining commitments are void, if the validity of one of several commitments, in execution of several commitments, is questioned.

The court hearing a habeas corpus application without a certiorari, need not enquire into the validity of a board of inquiry under the Immigration Act, 9-10 Edw. VII, (Can.) c. 27, for deportation of a rejected immigrant unless he is a Canadian citizen or has Canadian domicile as defined by the Act, i.e. that acquired by at least five years' residence.

Re V. Schloppel, 31 Can. Cr. Cas. 253, 1919] 3 W.M.L.J. 322.

DISCRETION IN APPEAL.

A judge of the Superior Court of Quebec has concurrent jurisdiction with a judge of the King's Bench, on habeas corpus, refor a summary conviction (Cr. Code, s. 238) is properly emitted into upon habeas corpus

(S. 1 A-4)—(CERTIORARI IN AID.

Re partie Evans, 25 Can. Cr. Cas. 239, 48 Que. S.C. 409.

To all be valid.

specting a commitment in a criminal matter.

R. v. Morgan; Morgan v. Malepart, 25 Can. Cr. Cas. 192, 20 Rev. Leg. 277.

POWER TO ISSUE.

Subject to any statutory restriction of the right, an application for a writ of habeas corpus for the discharge of a prisoner from custody may be renewed before another judge of co-ordinate jurisdiction, notwithstanding that a similar application upon the same grounds had been refused by the judge to whom the application was first made.

Re Baptiste Paul (No. 2), 7 D.L.R. 25, 5 A.L.R. 442, 2 W.W.R. 927.

LIBERTY OF THE SUBJECT ACT, R. S. N. S. 1900, c. 181—POWER UNDER, OF COUNTY JUDGE ACTING AS MASTER OF SUPREME COURT.

Rule 1 and subr. (a) of order 54b (N.S.) does not confer upon a judge of a County Court, when acting as a Master of the Supreme Court, power to discharge from jail, under the Liberty of the Subject Act, R.S. N.S. 1900, c. 181, a person confined for the violation of the Nova Scotia Temperance Act.

Re Noble Crouse; R. v. Crouse (No. 1), 11 D.L.R. 749, 47 N.S.R. 64, 21 Can. Cr. Cas. 231, 12 E.L.R. 416. [See 11 D.L.R. 759, 21 Can. Cr. Cas. 243, 12 E.L.R. 499.]

POWER TO ISSUE—MASTERS OF N.S. SUPREME COURT.

The effect of Nova Scotia practice r. 2 (b) of order 54, by which it is provided that Masters of the Supreme Court of Nova Scotia shall exercise the jurisdiction of a Judge in Chambers "except in causes or matters belonging to a prothonotary's office in the district for which he is a County Court Judge," is to exclude jurisdiction to order the release in habeas corpus proceedings of a prisoner held in custody under a commitment for violation of the Canada Temperance Act, R.S.C. 1906, c. 152, such commitment not being a matter belonging to a prothonotary's office.

The King v. Woodworth, 21 Can. Cr. Cas. 187, 12 E.L.R. 70.

CRIMINAL MATTER—SUPERIOR COURT—JURISDICTION — REFERENCE TO KING'S BENCH—C.C.P. ARTS. 48, 50, 170, 171, 1114.

The first duty of the Superior Court on an application for a habeas corpus, which has for its object the liberation of a prisoner sentenced by a Criminal Court, is to ascertain whether it is competent in the matter submitted to it. If not competent it should refuse the application of its own motion. The Superior Court, which receives its powers from the provincial legislature, has only jurisdiction in purely civil matters, since criminal law, and the procedure which relates to it, are reserved exclusively to Dominion authority. Accordingly the Superior Court has no jurisdiction to liberate, either by way of habeas corpus or certiorari, a person sentenced to imprisonment by a Criminal Court for having committed a criminal offence, such as keeping a common bawdy house. Quere. Can the Superior Court refer the case to the Court of King's Bench, the only competent court? Do arts. 170, 171 C.C.P., which authorize the referring of a case to another court having sole jurisdiction, relate to civil cases only?

Harris v. Landriault, 55 Que. S.C. 40.

(§ 1 B—7)—WHEN PROPER REMEDY.

Habeas corpus, and not an application to a magistrate for the release of a person remanded by him to custody, is the proper mode of inquiry as to whether his detention was illegal.

R. v. Bouchard, 4 D.L.R. 317, 20 Can. Cr. Cas. 95.

WHO MAY DEMAND.

Any person is entitled to institute proceedings to obtain a writ of habeas corpus for the purpose of liberating another from illegal imprisonment. [Hottentot Venus Case, 13 East's Reports 195, followed.]

Re Thaw; Boudreau v. Thaw (No. 2), 13 D.L.R. 712, 22 Can. Cr. Cas. 3, 15 Que. P.R. 47.

APPLICANT OUT ON BAIL—NONDISCLOSURE.

The essential and leading theory of habeas corpus procedure is the immediate determination of the right to the applicant's freedom; and when a habeas corpus is obtained without disclosing so material a fact as that the applicant was not in custody at the time of the application, as he had been released on bail, it will be set aside.

Re Bhagwan Singh, 17 D.L.R. 63, 19 B.C.R. 97, 23 Can. Cr. Cas. 5, 5 W.W.R. 1090.

WHO MAY DEMAND—WHEN PROPER REMEDY.

An objection that the prisoner is held on two warrants for conflicting offences (bigamy and refusal to maintain) cannot be raised on habeas corpus; if available at all, it is by a demurrer or analogous proceeding at the trial.

R. v. Beaudoin, 17 D.L.R. 273, 22 Can. Cr. Cas. 319.

BY PARENT—MILITARY SERVICE.

The military discipline and control to which a soldier enlisted for active service is subject, along with his fellow soldiers, is not in law a detention or restraint upon liberty upon which to base a habeas corpus application made by the soldier's parent or other person having civil control over him during his minority for the purpose of having the soldier released from military service which he had voluntarily entered during minority.

Re Fournier (Que.), 32 D.L.R. 720, 26 Can. Cr. Cas. 405.

ALIEN ENEMIES.

An alien enemy has no right at common law to a writ of habeas corpus. [R. v. Schiever, 97 Eng. R. 551, followed.]

Re Gusetu; Gusetu v. Date, 24 Can. Cr. Cas. 427, 17 Que. P.R. 95.

(3 I B-8)—COMMON LAW WRIT.

As regards summary convictions the jurisdiction to review commitments thereunder on habeas corpus is not limited to the statutory powers founded on Imperial Statute 31 Car. II., c. 2, and the writ may be supported also upon the jurisdiction at common law. [R. v. McEwen, 13 Can. Cr. Cas. 346, 17 Man. L.R. 477, distinguished.]

The King v. Johnson, 1 D.L.R. 548, 22 Man. L.R. 426, 19 Can. Cr. Cas. 203, 21 W.L.R. 900, 1 W.W.R. 1045.

SUCCESSIVE APPLICATIONS.

The restriction imposed by 23 Vict. c. 57, s. 27 (C.S.L.C., c. 95, s. 28) in habeas corpus matters in Quebec, whereby an application once refused should not be renewed before another judge, except on new facts, but the applicant might apply to the Court of Queen's Bench in appeal, applies to the statutory habeas corpus and not to the common law writ, consequently a writ of habeas corpus at common law to examine into the legality of detention under a conviction by an inferior court for a criminal offence may be issued by a Judge of the King's Bench, after the refusal of an application upon the same grounds, made before a Judge of the Quebec Superior Court.

R. v. Therrien (1), 28 D.L.R. 57, 25 Can. Cr. Cas. 275, 17 Que. P.R. 285. [See also 28 D.L.R. 462, 26 Can. Cr. Cas. 309.]

C. SCOPE OF WRIT; QUESTIONS CONSIDERED; RIGHT TO DISCHARGE.(3 I C-10)—PERSON COMMITTED FOR TRIAL BUT NOT INDICTED AT NEXT ASSIZE—REMEDY.

A person committed for trial but not indicted at the following assize, is not entitled to his discharge on habeas corpus, under s. 7 of the R.C. Habeas Corpus Act of 1897, his only right under such act being to make application for release on bail.

R. v. Dean, 11 D.L.R. 598, 18 B.C.R. 18, 21 Can. Cr. Cas. 310, 3 W.W.R. 781.

JURISDICTION—SUPREME COURT ACT, R.S.C., c. 139, ss. 39(c), 48—AMENDMENT 8-9 GEO. V., c. 7, s. 3—EFFECT OF PERSON BEING AT LARGE.

An appeal to the Supreme Court of Canada from the court of final resort in any province except Quebec in the case of habeas corpus will not lie under s. 39 (c) of the Supreme Court Act unless the case comes under s. 48, as amended by 8-9 Geo. V., c. 7, s. 3. And when the person, the legality of whose custody was in question, has been released by the court below and is at large, the right of appeal given by s. 39 (c) does not exist. [Mitchell v. Tracey & Fielding, 46 D.L.R. 526, 58 Can. S.C.R. 640; Cox v. Hakes, 15 App. Cas. 506, followed.]

The King v. Jeu Jang How, 50 D.L.R. 41, [1919] 3 W.W.R. 1115, quashing 47 D.L.R. 538.

EXEMPTION FROM CIVIL ARREST UNDER ARMY

ACT—SOLDIER ON ACTIVE SERVICE—THE BASTARDY ACT, R.S.N.S., c. 51.

Ex parte Hughes, 24 D.L.R. 898, 24 Can. Cr. Cas. 222.

PROCEEDINGS UNDER BASTARDY ACT.

It is not a ground for discharge on habeas corpus where the accused was arrested for default under a filiation order under R.S. N.S. 1909, c. 51, that no depositions had been taken in the filiation proceedings, if he had consented to the filiation order for he thereby effectively waived the taking of evidence.

R. v. Locke, 24 Can. Cr. Cas. 337.

REVIEW OF COMMITMENT.

Habeas corpus proceedings will lie to review a justice's commitment of the accused for trial made on a preliminary enquiry.

R. v. Mackey, 29 Can. Cr. Cas. 167.

EXTRADITION CASE.

The question before the court on a habeas corpus case under the Extradition Act (Can.) is whether the accused was in lawful custody at the time of the issue of the writ. The lawfulness of the custody must depend upon the question whether there was a sufficient compliance with the provisions of the Extradition Act and if there was evidence upon which the Extradition Judge could act in making a committal order; his discretion is not reviewable on habeas corpus.

Re Rosenberg, 29 Can. Cr. Cas. 309, 28 Man. L.R. 439, [1918] 1 W.W.R. 845.

REDUCING IMPRISONMENT.

On the hearing of a habeas corpus to which a regular commitment and a regular summary conviction is returned, the court has no discretion to reduce the award of imprisonment lawfully made by the lower court.

O'Neil v. Carbonneau, 29 Can. Cr. Cas. 340, 54 Que. S.C. 417.

SCOPE OF WRIT.

A conviction for selling liquor or keeping liquor for sale in contravention of a local option municipal by-law prohibiting the issue of liquor licenses is a conviction under the Liquor License Act for selling or keeping for sale "without a license," and is subject to the same limitations as to review on certiorari and habeas corpus as a conviction against a nonlicensee in a district in which licenses are issued.

Re Leach and Fogarty, 18 Can. Cr. Cas. 487, 21 O.W.R. 919.

FIRE INQUEST.

The Superior Court has no right nor power to review, by means of the writ of habeas corpus, decision rendered during the course of an enquête by one of the Fire Commissioners of Montreal.

De Mazuel v. Vallée, 14 Que. P.R. 397.

not be entertained as it was not competent for the magistrate to make such an affidavit, or for the court to consider such a question, the only question being whether or not the defendant was legally detained in custody. A prisoner is legally detained where a gaoler has returned a good warrant, based upon a conviction which was not attacked, and which was apparently regular, the law justifying the sentence imposed. The court cannot on an application for the discharge of a prisoner from custody by way of habeas corpus review the action of the magistrate on the merits, or send the prisoner back to the magistrate to impose a lighter sentence where the sentence actually imposed was not in excess of what the law authorized.

The King v. Fraser, 7 D.L.R. 496, 43 Que. S.C. 309, 19 Rev. Leg. 251.

An accused person, in an application on the return of a summons for a habeas corpus, may avail himself of an objection to the jurisdiction of a police magistrate to try him for an offence against the Liquor License Ordinance, on the ground that no sworn information had been lodged against him and that he was, therefore, improperly brought before the magistrate, under a warrant of arrest, where his objection before the magistrate was overruled, the trial proceeded with, and the accused found guilty. [Re Baptiste Paul, 7 D.L.R. 25, followed.]

R. v. Davis, 7 D.L.R. 608, 5 A.L.R. 443, 22 W.L.R. 837, 3 W.W.R. 1.

ARREST—COMMITMENT.

A prisoner whose attendance for trial by a magistrate in a summary conviction matter has been compelled by arrest without warrant in a case where a warrant is required by law, will be discharged upon habeas corpus from the commitment following conviction, if he protested before the magistrate against the illegal procedure. The fact that a person charged before a magistrate with an offence punishable on summary conviction had been brought before the magistrate under arrest without warrant, although a warrant was required by law, does not go to the jurisdiction of the magistrate, nor affect the validity of a conviction and commitment made at the hearing. [Reg. v. Hughes, 4 Q.B.D. 614, 48 L.J.M.C. 151, applied.]

Re Paul (No. 1), 7 D.L.R. 24, 5 A.L.R. 440, 20 Can. Cr. Cas. 159, 2 W.W.R. 892. [See 7 D.L.R. 25.]

A warrant of commitment is invalid which does not contain even a summary of the nature and gravity of the offence charged against a prisoner, nor give the name of the presiding magistrate who committed him.

Lalour v. Vallee, 5 D.L.R. 57.

The fact that a warrant of commitment for trial was illegally issued on a charge of assault and occasioning actual bodily harm after the justice before whom the accused had been brought to answer the charge had with his consent entered upon a summary trial thereof, which trial had proceeded to the close of the evidence for the defence, is a ground for discharge upon habeas corpus. Where the court has power upon habeas corpus, instead of discharging a prisoner from custody under an invalid commitment, to remit the case to the magistrate under s. 1129 Cr. Code, consideration will be given to the imprisonment already suffered and to the costs to which the accused has been put in moving against the illegal warrant of commitment.

R. v. Hicks, 7 D.L.R. 171, 5 A.L.R. 371, 22 W.L.R. 236, 2 W.W.R. 1100.

EXTRADITION—REVIEW OF, ON HABEAS CORPUS.

It is without the province of a court, to whom an application is made for writ of habeas corpus directing the discharge of a person to be extradited to a foreign country, to review on such proceedings the decision of the extradition commissioner if there is evidence justifying the issue of the warrant of extradition, the only duty of such court in that regard being to decide if any such evidence exists.

Re O'Neill, 5 D.L.R. 646, 19 Can. Cr. Cas. 410, 17 B.C.R. 123, 2 W.W.R. 368.

The function of a judge upon the return of a writ of habeas corpus in the case of one who has been committed for extradition is not to sit in appeal from the extradition commissioner, but simply to decide whether he had jurisdiction to order the commitment, and evidence offering reasonable grounds of suspicion against the accused will be sufficient for a refusal of his discharge.

United States v. Wehler (No. 2), 5 D.L.R. 866, 20 Can. Cr. Cas. 6, 11 E.L.R. 379.

SCOPE OF WRIT—RELEASE UPON RECOGNIZANCE BEFORE APPLICATION.

A writ of habeas corpus cum causa in respect of an alleged illegal arrest and a subsequent detention order made by a justice will not be granted when the accused has obtained a release upon giving bail and remains at liberty under the recognizance; such habeas corpus process is intended to give relief only to persons in actual custody under illegal process.

Ex parte Seriesky, 10 D.L.R. 612, 21 Can. Cr. Cas. 140, 41 N.B.R. 475, 12 E.L.R. 387.

SCOPE OF WRIT—REVIEW OF COMMITMENT FOR TRIAL.

The court has jurisdiction upon habeas corpus to examine into the legality of a commitment for trial made by a justice upon a criminal charge, and in a proper case to order the discharge of the accused.

R. v. Weiss; R. v. Williams, 13 D.L.R. 166, 21 Can. Cr. Cas. 438, 6 A.L.R. 163, 25 W.L.R. 286, 4 W.W.R. 1358.

PENITENTIARY REGULATIONS OF 1898—PARTIAL REMISSION OF SENTENCE FOR GOOD CONDUCT.

Prima facie the warden and officers of a penitentiary are to determine questions of remission of part of sentence under the Penitentiary Regulations of November, 1898, for good conduct of the convict while in the prison, and also questions of the forfeiture of remissions earned, subject to review and sanction by the Minister of Justice under such regulations; it is not open to the court on habeas corpus to enquire into the validity of a direction contained in a report duly approved by the Minister forfeiting on the ground of misconduct the periods of remission previously earned by the convict.

R. v. Huckle, 19 D.L.R. 359, 6 O.V.N. 661, 23 Can. Cr. Cas. 73.

NOVA SCOTIA TEMPERANCE ACT—INFORMATION CHARGING MORE THAN ONE OFFENCE—POWER TO AMEND.

An information under s. 16 (4) of the N. S. Temperance Act charging more than one offence is bad, and the magistrate, at the commencement of the trial, refusing to amend, and then hearing the evidence to all the charges, has no power to make a conviction disclosing one offence only. [S. 724, Cr. Code. R. v. Alward, 25 O.R. 519, 522 applied.]

The King v. Keeper of Halifax Jail, Ex parte Simpson, 44 D.L.R. 136, 30 Can. Cr. Cas. 334, 52 N.S.R. 299.

WARRANT OF COMMITMENT—AMENDMENT.

The fact that a warrant of commitment is defective is not a ground for an application by way of habeas corpus for the release of the prisoner, if the conviction was validly made under a proper indictment; the warrant may be amended or replaced by another in due form.

The King v. Flaherty and Malepart, 43 D.L.R. 253, 27 Que. K.B. 555.

RIGHT TO DISCHARGE.

The right to discharge on habeas corpus does not depend on the legality or illegality of the prisoner's caption but on the legality or illegality of his detention. [R. v. Whiteside, 8 Can. Cr. Cas. 478, 8 O.L.R. 622, followed.]

R. v. Gage, 30 D.L.R. 525, 26 Can. Cr. Cas. 385, 36 O.L.R. 183.

IRREGULARITIES.

If the court of record making the conviction possesses the requisite jurisdiction, no matter what errors or irregularities occur in the proceedings or judgment, provided they are not of such a character as to render them void, its action cannot be reviewed or examined into on habeas corpus.

R. v. Therrien (1), 28 D.L.R. 57, 25 Can. Cr. Cas. 275, 17 Que. P.R. 285. [See also 28 D.L.R. 462, 26 Can. Cr. Cas. 309.]

ARREST—COMMITMENT—GROUNDS.

A prisoner in custody under two warrants of commitment for trial for different offences cannot set up the irregularity of a remand under s. 679 Cr. Code, because of an adjournment exceeding 8 days, during the preliminary inquiry on one of the charges, as Can. Dig.—79.

a ground for a motion for his release on habeas corpus.

R. v. Beaudoin, 17 D.L.R. 273, 22 Can. Cr. Cas. 319.

An order for discharge on habeas corpus will not be made if a valid cause of detention is shown at the time of the return to the writ, although it did not exist when the imprisonment commenced.

The King v. Mitchell, 19 Can. Cr. Cas. 113, 24 O.L.R. 324, 19 O.W.R. 588.

COMMITMENT—BASTARDY—FORM OF WARRANT.

A warrant of commitment in default, which is drawn in strict conformity with a statutory form, will not be set aside on habeas corpus, although it does not fix the costs of conveying to jail which the defendant must pay as a condition of his release; so a commitment in default of giving security in filiation proceedings under the Illegitimate Children's Act, R.S.M. 1913, c. 92, is valid if issued in form 10 of that Act for the term of six months or until defendant gives the statutory bond or makes the cash deposit and pays "the costs and charges attending the commitment and conveying to jail."

R. v. Book, 25 Can. Cr. Cas. 89, 25 Man. L.R. 480.

COMMITMENT IN DEFAULT OF FINE.

When a warrant for commitment to jail in default of paying a fine has been issued with an overcharge in the costs of conveyance to the common jail, it will be quashed on habeas corpus and the prisoner discharged as the warrant is indivisible.

Ex parte Msadaquis, 24 Can. Cr. Cas. 384, 16 Que. P.R. 26.

IRREGULAR PUNISHMENT.

Where a conviction imposes an absolute order for imprisonment and also a fine with imprisonment in default (Cr. Code, s. 781), the direction as to punishment is divisible, and the absolute term may stand notwithstanding the invalidity of that part of the conviction which conditionally orders imprisonment in default; and a discharge on habeas corpus will be refused where the detention can be justified by reason of the absolute term not having expired. [R. v. Carlisle, 7 Can. Cr. Cas. 470, followed.]

R. v. Miller, 25 Can. Cr. Cas. 151, 25 W.L.R. 296.

SUMMARY TRIAL—ILLEGAL ARREST—JURISDICTION.

It is a ground for discharge on habeas corpus that the accused was illegally arrested without a warrant, and not on view, for an indictable offence, and was summarily tried by the magistrate, notwithstanding a protest made that he had no jurisdiction because of the illegal arrest. [R. v. Miller, 25 Can. Cr. Cas. 151, followed.]

R. v. Wilson, 29 Can. Cr. Cas. 42.

REVIEW OF COMMITMENT FOR TRIAL.

If a committal for trial has been made without proof of an essential ingredient of the offence charged, it will be reviewed on habeas corpus and certiorari in aid, and the prisoner discharged if the depositions disclose no criminal offence.

R. v. Morency, 30 Can. Cr. Cas. 395.

That the magistrate proceeded with the hearing of the evidence on preliminary enquiries for two offences at the same time, against the same accused, is not a ground for habeas corpus in respect of his committal for trial.

Dick v. The King, 19 Can. Cr. Cas. 44, 13 Que. P.R. 57.

ARREST—COMMITMENT.

If an information under the Cr. Code is dismissed with costs, and the complainant condemned to imprisonment for default in payment of such costs, a warrant stating that he is committed to imprisonment with hard labour is illegal and he will be discharged by habeas corpus.

Yanosky v. Vallée, 14 Que. P.R. 198.

CRIMINAL PROCEDURE — PRELIMINARY INVESTIGATION — PERJURY — EVIDENCE AS TO ACCUSED TAKING OATH—RIGHT OF ACCUSED TO HAVE WITNESS HEARD ON HIS OWN BEHALF—CR. CODE, ARTS. 590, 596, 684, 686, 1120.

In the preliminary investigation on a charge of perjury, direct evidence of the accused having been sworn, when heard as witness is not necessary to warrant a committal for trial, if it be shown that probable cause exists to believe that he committed the offence charged. The discretion exercised by the magistrate who found a prima facie case is not to be questioned on habeas corpus proceeding. Even though the accused might answer by error, at the preliminary investigation, that he has no evidence to offer, he must not be deprived of such right, if he wishes to have witnesses heard on his behalf and makes application therefor. Upon application for habeas corpus on such ground, the judge shall not release the accused, but may direct the magistrate to hear the witnesses called by the accused.

R. v. Payne, 28 Que. K.B. 468.

(§ I C—13)—TRIAL—SENTENCE.

A summary conviction by a city police magistrate under the vagrancy clauses, Cr. Code ss. 238, 239, may be quashed for irregularity on proceedings in habeas corpus and certiorari in aid taken on behalf of the defendant committed under such summary conviction, and is, in that respect, distinguishable from convictions made by city police magistrates for indictable offences under their extended jurisdiction under s. 777. [R. v. McEwen, 13 Can. Cr. Cas. 346, 7 Man. L.R. 477, distinguished.]

R. v. Johnson, 5 D.L.R. 523, 20 Can. Cr. Cas. 8, 22 Man. L.R. 426, 21 W.L.R. 900, 1 W.W.R. 1045.

A formal commitment of a person under art. 459, Cr. Code for house-breaking, on a trial and conviction under art. 464 with having a house-breaking instrument in his possession, is illegal as being upon a charge different than that which was tried, and the prisoner will be discharged on habeas corpus.

Hoolahan v. Malepart, 5 D.L.R. 479, 19 Can. Cr. Cas. 405.

SCOPE OF WRIT—SUMMARY TRIAL—FAILURE TO INFORM PRISONER AS TO MODE OF TRIAL.

A prisoner will be discharged on habeas corpus from imprisonment under a conviction on a plea of guilty in a summary trial proceeding where the magistrate did not, as required by s. 778, Cr. Code, inform the accused that he might, at his option, be tried forthwith without a jury, or remain in custody or under bail as the court might decide, to be tried in the ordinary way by a court having criminal jurisdiction.

The King v. Davis, 13 D.L.R. 612, 22 Can. Cr. Cas. 34.

SUMMARY TRIAL — FAILURE TO INFORM PRISONER AS TO MODE OF TRIAL—EFFECT —TRIAL DE NOVO.

On quashing on habeas corpus a conviction before a police magistrate on a summary trial, because of his failure to inform the prisoner, as required by s. 778 (b) Cr. Code, as amended by 8-9 Edw. VII. c. 9, of his option to be tried forthwith by the magistrate, or to remain in custody or under bail as the court might decide, for trial in the ordinary manner by a court having criminal jurisdiction, the discharge of the prisoner may be refused and he may be remanded to custody so that he may again be taken before the magistrate on proceedings de novo on which his election can be taken in proper form.

The King v. Fuerst, 15 D.L.R. 314, 26 W.L.R. 445, 22 Can. Cr. Cas. 182.

SENTENCE BY COURT OF KING'S BENCH.

The Superior Court will not revise on habeas corpus a sentence pronounced by the Court of King's Bench. In order that the Superior Court may revise a sentence, the sentence must be filed in that court.

Flaherty v. Malepart, 20 Que. P.R. 68.

(§ I C—14)—PROCEEDINGS FOR CUSTODY OF CHILD—PROCEDURE.

An application for a writ of habeas corpus to obtain the custody of an infant cannot be renewed before any judge while there is an order pending of another judge that no application shall be made by the petitioner until the infant attains the age of 7 years unless, if under the practice ret. 9, 10, adopted by s. 34 of the Infants Act (Alta.), 1913, c. 13, such judge is unavailable, another judge may exercise his jurisdiction. [Re Holt, 16 Ch. D. 115, followed.]

Re Davies, 25 D.L.R. 96, 9 A.L.R. 222, 32 W.L.R. 716, 9 W.W.R. 361.

A signed and agreed agreement by a father giving the custody of his infant daughter to her maternal grandparents until she reaches her majority or marries under that age and covenanting that the father would not revoke the instrument, is not a bar to the father's application for a writ of habeas corpus to obtain the custody of his child.

Re Hutchinson, 5 D.L.R. 791, 26 O.L.R. 113 and 601, 22 O.W.R. 390, reversing 26 O.L.R. 113.

INFANT—REMOVAL OF, FROM JURISDICTION—FATHER'S APPLICATION.

Re Hilker, 16 D.L.R. 868, 6 O.W.N. 82, 50 C.L.J. 236.

PROCEEDINGS FOR CUSTODY OF CHILD—EVIDENCE, HOW TAKEN—ORDER OF JUVENILE COURT—CERTIORARI IN AID.

On the return of a writ of habeas corpus issued under the Ontario Habeas Corpus Act, 9 Edw. VII, (Ont.), c. 51, s. 7 (R.S.O. 1914, c. 84) to determine the lawful custody of an infant, the applicant may dispute both the validity of the return in law and its accuracy in fact, and evidence may be taken in vivo or by affidavit for that purpose. [Re Smart, 12 P.R. (Ont.) 2, approved; and see, on the question of custody of children on separation of parents, Smart v. Smart, [1892] A.C. 425, affirming the unreported decision of the Ontario Court of Appeal.] A parent desiring to contest by way of review the findings of a Commissioner of a Children's Court in proceedings taken under the statute 8 Edw. VII, (Ont.), c. 59, should have them brought up on a certiorari in aid of a writ of habeas corpus; but the Supreme Court of Ontario on an application in habeas corpus proceedings for the child's custody has jurisdiction to supersede the Commissioner's order on an independent consideration of the proper custody of the child as of the later date when the habeas corpus application is heard, by virtue of its general Chancery powers, and under the jurisdiction specially conferred by statute, although no certiorari in aid had been issued (see 3-4 Geo. V, (Ont.), c. 62, s. 27), and is bound by the order of the Commissioner only as to facts established by that order as existing at its date. [Re McGrath, [1893] 1 Ch. 143, applied.]

Re Kenna, 15 D.L.R. 844, 29 O.L.R. 590.

INFANT—ABANDONMENT BY FATHER.

R. had the custody of the infant daughter of S., who at the time of the application was seven years old. The infant's mother having died shortly after the infant was born, S. gave the custody and possession of the infant to R., who kept her for some two years, when S. retook possession of her, keeping her only for a very short time, when she was returned to the custody of R. at R.'s request. R. and his wife had in the meantime become much attached to the infant and were solicitous that they should have her in custody. The infant had been with R. ever since. S. made no further request for her return.

Smith v. Reid, 6 W.W.R. 145.

PROCEEDINGS FOR CUSTODY OF CHILD.

A child which had been placed by its grandparents in the care of B. and his wife was handed over by the latter, who had separated from her husband and was about to leave the province, to defendant. B. obtained an order from the court for the adoption of the child and went to defendant and demanded the possession of it, but, before such demand, and without notice of the application made by B. or the granting of the order, defendant, at the request of R.'s wife, had sent the child to her. B. thereupon applied for and obtained an order for a writ of habeas corpus, and upon return being made setting out the facts, moved to quash the return and to commit defendant for contempt, or in the alternative, to have the return amended;—Held, following Barnardo v. Ford, [1892] A.C. 326, that the return was good, that there was no contempt and that the application must be dismissed.

R. v. Parsons; Ex parte Boomhauer, 45 N.S.R. 210.

FOR CUSTODY OF CHILD.

A wife who was awarded the custody of her child by the judgment granting her separation from bed and board, is entitled to a writ of habeas corpus to obtain possession thereof, and a rule nisi is not the proper remedy to enforce the judgment of the court.

Kastel v. Hampton, 18 Que. P.R. 363.

(§ I C—15)—POWERS OF AMENDMENT. A prisoner confined under an informal warrant of commitment may be held in custody upon a proper warrant being subsequently issued.

Lafleur v. Vallee, 5 D.L.R. 57.

SUMMARY CONVICTION — PUNISHMENT — AMENDMENT—QUASHING.

An amended warrant of commitment and an amended conviction may be returned to a writ of habeas corpus, so as to omit an unauthorized imposition of hard labour which the justice, making the summary conviction, had no jurisdiction to impose for the particular offence, and this, notwithstanding that the adjudication imposing hard labour had been acted upon; but the unauthorized portion of original commitment and of the original conviction brought before the court may be quashed.

Re Muschik, 25 Can. Cr. Cas. 170, 9 S.L.R. 1, 33 W.L.R. 468, 9 W.W.R. 1285.

POWERS OF AMENDING COMMITMENT—COSTS.

Where it appears that several commitments in default of paying fines imposed for infraction of the Canada Temperance Act were all actually executed at the one time, the court hearing a habeas corpus application may amend the commitments by striking out of all but one of them the costs of conveying the prisoner to gaol which had been included in each commitment; but semble the commitments would not be bad in that respect, inasmuch as the magistrate could not fortell that all the commitments would be executed at once.

Ex parte Richard R. v. Steeves, 24 Can. Cr. Cas. 183, 42 N.B.R. 396.

POWERS OF AMENDMENT.

A conviction under the summary trials clauses (Cr. Code, ss. 771-779) is not subject to amendment on a habeas corpus application as a summary conviction would be.

The King v. Stark, 19 Can. Cr. Cas. 67, 18 W.L.R. 419.

(§ I C-16)—PRELIMINARY INQUIRY ON ANOTHER CHARGE.

A prisoner convicted by a magistrate on a summary trial and remanded for sentence to a fixed date may be brought up in the meantime for preliminary inquiry upon another criminal charge by means of a writ of habeas corpus ad respondendum ordered by a Superior Court on the prosecutor's application. [Ex parte Griffiths, 5 B. & A. 730, followed.]

R. v. Henry, 25 Can. Cr. Cas. 86.

(§ I C-17)—COMMITMENT OR CONTEMPT—QUASHING—DISCHARGE.

A person undergoing sentence for contempt of court (for refusal to be sworn and testify) imposed upon him by a royal commissioner sitting by virtue of R.S.M., c. 34, was released from custody by Haggart, J.A., sitting in Chambers as a Judge of the Court of King's Bench. The order for release provided that all proceedings under the writ of habeas corpus should be adjourned. Held, that, inasmuch as the whole basis of proceedings by way of habeas corpus is that the applicant for the writ is actually detained in custody, the proceedings under the habeas corpus came to an end upon discharge of the prisoner. On habeas corpus proceedings there is no power to quash a warrant of commitment made by a royal commissioner sitting by virtue of R.S.M. c. 3. A Judge of the Court of Manitoba has power as an ex officio Judge of the Court of King's Bench to direct the issue of a writ of habeas corpus returnable immediately before himself in Chambers.

Re Beck, 32 D.L.R. 15, 27 Man. L.R. 288, [1917] 1 W.W.R. 657.

(§ I C-18)—EXTRADITION PROCEEDINGS—DEPORTATION.

Upon an application on habeas corpus for the discharge of a prisoner from custody, where it appears that in extradition proceedings he was committed upon the charge that he did "on or about the 8th day of February, 1912," obtain a promissory note from a certain party by false pretences with intention to cheat and defraud, and where the proceedings were begun by an information which stated that the offence had been committed on "the 8th day of February, 1911," and where throughout all the documents forwarded from the foreign jurisdiction up to the date of the present application the offence is alleged as of "the 8th day of February, 1911;" the warrant of commitment is invalid.

Re Wm. Staggs (No. 1), 7 D.L.R. 738, 5 A.L.R. 350, 23 W.L.R. 196, 3 W.W.R. 177.

On an application for a writ of habeas corpus for the discharge from custody of a person who was remanded by an extradition commissioner for extradition to France, the only question for examination is whether the extradition proceedings are in strict conformity with the requirements of the treaty of August 14th, 1876, between England and France, of the Imperial Extradition Act 1870, and the Canadian Extradition Act, R.S.C. 1906, c. 155. The justice or the propriety of the order of the commissioner in that regard cannot be inquired into. [United States v. Gaynor, 9 Can. Crim. Cas. 205; United States v. Gaynor, [1905] A.C. 128, followed.]

Re Darracq, 5 D.L.R. 771, 19 Can. Cr. Cas. 483.

The Superior Court of Quebec has no jurisdiction to revise, annul or modify an order made by the Minister of Agriculture or by a public officer pursuant to the provisions of the Immigration Act (Can.) respecting the deportation of an immigrant; and a writ of habeas corpus asked for that purpose will be refused.

Robinson v. Reginald, 18 Can. Cr. Cas. 478, 13 Que. P.R. 41.

CRIMINAL LAW — FUGITIVE OFFENDER — ESSENTIALS OF OFFENCE OF OBTAINING BY FALSE PRETENCE—EXTRADITION.

It is an essential ingredient of the crime of obtaining by false pretence that not only should the representation be false, but that it should be shown to have operated on the mind of the party who paid over the money on the strength of such representation. A person charged, under a warrant issued under the provisions of the Fugitive Offenders Act, with the offence of obtaining by false pretences, cannot be committed for the offence of attempting to obtain by false pretences when the evidence does not justify a committal for the full offence.

Re Harrison (No. 2), 25 B.C.R. 541.

(§ I C-19)—DISCONTINUANCE ON PRISONER'S APPLICATION.

A prisoner who applies for and obtains a writ of habeas corpus, alleging unjust detention, has the right to discontinue and desist from his petition, and the court will give effect to an application for the discontinuance of the proceedings, and order the prisoner's return to jail.

Ex parte Thaw (No. 1), 13 D.L.R. 710, 22 Can. Cr. Cas. 1, 49 C.L.J. 670.

D. PROCEDURE; JUDGMENT.

(§ I D-20)—JURISDICTION OF CO-ORDINATE JUDGES OF SAME COURT.

Each successive judge to whom a habeas corpus application is made must act upon his own view of the law applicable to it, and where an application of this character is made before a judge of the Alberta Supreme Court, the fact that the same application had two vest no dete app

B.
12N
REN

A is n app
dec tion
28.)
M
20 C
RET
It
cust unde
corp
E.

(§ 1
Ti
appl
the vand
the
R.
13 I
P.R.
No

A a w stitu
the wher mag for Albe
"upe serv enou
Gen' his l as agen
part
Gen'
R.
Cas.

Ti habe foun
a m cees sent gene nore
Ti
48 C
217.
At of S conv

had previously been dismissed by each of two other justices of the same court, all vested with co-ordinate jurisdiction, is in sense a bar to the de novo hearing and determination of the third habeas corpus application on its merits.

RENEWED APPLICATIONS—QUESTIONS DECIDED ON PRIOR MOTIONS—C.C.P. 1175 (Q.P.C.).

An applicant for habeas corpus on a renewed application is not entitled to raise again on a renewed application the same grounds which were decided adversely to him on the prior motion. [C.C.P. art. 1175; R.S.L.C. c. 93, s. 28.]

Myles v. Malgaret, 31 Can. Cr. Cas. 323, 29 Que. P.R. 217.

RETURNS—GENERAL

It is not necessary, though it may be convenient, for a gaoler to make his return under oath in answer to a writ of habeas corpus.

(§ 1 D—27)—SEVERANCE OF PETITION.

Ex parte Evans, 48 Que. S.C. 469.

RETURNS TO WRIT

Although it is usual in Quebec for the gaoler to make his return under oath to a writ of habeas corpus, a valid return may be made without its being sworn to.

Ex parte Evans, 25 Can. Cr. Cas. 239, 48 Que. S.C. 469.

RETURN—(OBTAINING)

Where a summary conviction is made by a Court of Record, e.g., by a Court of Sessions of the Peace in Quebec, for an offence punishable only on summary conviction, the same rule applies to exclude extrinsic evidence in contradiction of the record on a habeas corpus application in respect of other convictions made by a Court of Record; and if the record produced contains the record of facts requisite to confer jurisdiction it is conclusive and cannot be contradicted by extrinsic evidence. [Re Sprout, 12 Can. S.C.R. 149, applied.]

O'Neil v. Carrouseau, 29 Can. Cr. Cas. 340, 54 Que. S.C. 417.

SEVERANCE OF PETITION OR APPLICATION

An application for a writ of habeas corpus in a criminal matter will not be entertained without the production of the warrant of commitment, or a copy thereof, for the prisoner.

Ex parte Aubin, 19 Can. Cr. Cas. 94, 13 Que. P.R. 27.

(§ 1 D—22)—PARTIES—STRAYERS

Where the application for the issue of a writ of habeas corpus is made by the prisoner himself, the party who laid the information upon which the prisoner was originally arrested has no status to appear in the habeas corpus proceedings, and ask for the illustration of the prisoner, although such ground upon which a motion for a writ of certiorari in aid is properly made as the magistrate "exceeded his jurisdiction in convicting and sentencing said prisoner" is too vague and general to be dealt with, and may be ignored.

The King v. Madi (No. 1), 1 D.L.R. 256, 48 C.L.T. 157, 22 Man. L.R. 29, 20 W.L.R. 217, 1 W.W.R. 766.

Abdulla entitled in the matter of the Saskatchewan and in the matter of the ground upon which a motion for a writ of certiorari in aid is properly made as the magistrate "exceeded his jurisdiction in convicting and sentencing said prisoner" is too vague and general to be dealt with, and may be ignored.

The grounds upon which a motion for a writ of certiorari in aid is properly made as the magistrate "exceeded his jurisdiction in convicting and sentencing said prisoner" is too vague and general to be dealt with, and may be ignored.

The grounds upon which a motion for a writ of certiorari in aid is properly made as the magistrate "exceeded his jurisdiction in convicting and sentencing said prisoner" is too vague and general to be dealt with, and may be ignored.

The grounds upon which a motion for a writ of certiorari in aid is properly made as the magistrate "exceeded his jurisdiction in convicting and sentencing said prisoner" is too vague and general to be dealt with, and may be ignored.

The grounds upon which a motion for a writ of certiorari in aid is properly made as the magistrate "exceeded his jurisdiction in convicting and sentencing said prisoner" is too vague and general to be dealt with, and may be ignored.

The grounds upon which a motion for a writ of certiorari in aid is properly made as the magistrate "exceeded his jurisdiction in convicting and sentencing said prisoner" is too vague and general to be dealt with, and may be ignored.

The grounds upon which a motion for a writ of certiorari in aid is properly made as the magistrate "exceeded his jurisdiction in convicting and sentencing said prisoner" is too vague and general to be dealt with, and may be ignored.

The grounds upon which a motion for a writ of certiorari in aid is properly made as the magistrate "exceeded his jurisdiction in convicting and sentencing said prisoner" is too vague and general to be dealt with, and may be ignored.

The grounds upon which a motion for a writ of certiorari in aid is properly made as the magistrate "exceeded his jurisdiction in convicting and sentencing said prisoner" is too vague and general to be dealt with, and may be ignored.

The grounds upon which a motion for a writ of certiorari in aid is properly made as the magistrate "exceeded his jurisdiction in convicting and sentencing said prisoner" is too vague and general to be dealt with, and may be ignored.

The grounds upon which a motion for a writ of certiorari in aid is properly made as the magistrate "exceeded his jurisdiction in convicting and sentencing said prisoner" is too vague and general to be dealt with, and may be ignored.

party claims that the prisoner has been illegally arrested.

Ex parte Thaw (No. 1), 13 D.L.R. 710, 22 Can. Cr. Cas. 1, 49 C.L.J. 670. [See 13 D.L.R. 712.]

DEMAND BY PARTY WHO LAID INFORMATION UPON WHICH PRISONER WAS ARRESTED—PRISONER'S OPPOSITION TO HIS OWN LIBERATION.

The petition for a writ of habeas corpus issued under authority of c. 95 C.S.L.C. (which extend the provisions of the English Habeas Corpus Act to Quebec) can validly be made by the party who illegally caused the arrest of the prisoner, although the prisoner may by intervention oppose the application, and by affidavit declare the same is so made without his authority, the prisoner further declaring that he desires to remain in jail. [See Re Thaw (No. 3), 13 D.L.R. 715.]

Re Thaw; Boudreau v. Thaw (No. 2), 13 D.L.R. 712, 22 Can. Cr. Cas. 3, 49 C.L.J. 71, 15 Que. P.R. 47.

PROCEDURE—SERVING ORIGINAL WRIT.

A writ of habeas corpus can be properly served only by delivering the original writ to the person to whom it is addressed, or to the principal person where there are more than one; and where only copies of the writ had been served the irregularity is a ground for quashing the writ, although the original had been exhibited to the persons to whom it was addressed at the time when the copies were left with them.

Re Thaw; Thaw v. Robertson (No. 3), 13 D.L.R. 715, 22 Can. Cr. Cas. 8, 15 Que. P.R. 133, 49 C.L.J. 672.

(§ 1 D—23)—BURDEN OF PROOF.

The onus is upon the defendant on a habeas corpus application to disprove a recital of his consent to summary trial contained in a conviction following Cr. Code form 55 (s. 799).

The King v. Mali, 1 D.L.R. 484, 19 Can. Cr. Cas. 188, 22 Man. L.R. 29, 20 W.L.R. 601, 1 W.W.R. 1047.

(§ 1 D—24)—DISCHARGE OF PRISONER—JURISDICTION TO SET ASIDE.

The Supreme Court of Nova Scotia has no jurisdiction to set aside an order for discharge in the nature of habeas corpus. [Re Blair, 23 N.S.R. 225, followed.]

Re Mackey, 40 D.L.R. 287, 29 Can. Cr. Cas. 282, 52 N.S.R. 165.

DISCHARGE—APPEAL—REARREST.

Where an order discharging a prisoner on habeas corpus has been carried out but the order is reversed on an appeal taken by the Crown, the Appellate Court may direct that an order issue for the rearrest of the accused. Query whether a decision of the Appellate Division of the Supreme Court of Alberta, in a habeas corpus matter, reviewing under Alberta Crown r. 2, the decision of a single judge, may not itself be reviewed by the entire court.

R. v. Thornton, 30 D.L.R. 441, 26 Can. Cr. Cas. 120, 9 A.L.R. 163, 34 W.L.R. 178, 398, 9 W.W.R. 825, 968.

DISCHARGE OF PERSON COMMITTED FOR CONTEMPT—SCOPE OF JUDGMENT.

A Superior Court Judge, hearing a motion to discharge from custody a person who had brought before him on a habeas corpus writ, exceeds his powers when he directs that the warrant of commitment should be quashed, the only power he has on such an application is to discharge from custody the person produced before him under the writ, if in his opinion that person was unlawfully detained. Having made an interim order adjourning the application and discharging the applicant from custody without making any order for bail, the applicant was thereby discharged permanently, the purpose of the writ accomplished, the proceeding at an end, and the body of the person already released could not be retaken into custody for further enquiry under the habeas corpus writ. [Re Sproule, 12 Can. S.C.R. 140, distinguished.]

Re Beck, 32 D.L.R. 15, 27 Man. L.R. 288, 27 Can. Cr. Cas. 331, [1917] 1 W.W.R. 657.

(§ 1 D—25)—BAIL PENDING DISPOSAL OF MOTION—JURISDICTION.

The express provisions of the Cr. Code as to bail do not exclude the common law jurisdiction of a superior court having the inherent powers of the former English Court of King's Bench to order bail pending the disposal of habeas corpus and certiorari motions unless the commitment be one in execution on a criminal charge tried on indictment according to the course of the common law or unless the remedy by certiorari or by habeas corpus be excluded by statute.

R. v. Iwanachuk, 30 Can. Cr. Cas. 139, 13 A.L.R. 543, [1918] 3 W.W.R. 207.

JURISDICTION—IMMIGRATION ACT (CAN.)—DEPORTATION.

The Superior Court of Quebec has no jurisdiction to revise, annul or modify an order made by the Minister of Agriculture or by a public officer pursuant to the provisions of the Immigration Act (Can.) respecting the deportation of an immigrant; and a writ of habeas corpus asked for that purpose will be refused.

Robinson v. Regimbal, 18 Can. Cr. Cas. 478, 13 Que. P.R. 41.

OFFENCE—DISCHARGE ON HABEAS CORPUS WHERE REMAND FOR DEPORTATION ORDERED WITHOUT INDORSER WARRANT—FUGITIVE OFFENDERS' ACT.

The King v. Wishart, 18 Can. Cr. Cas. 146, 22 O.L.R. 594.

PARTY COMMITTED UNDER EXTRADITION ACT—IRREGULARITY OF ARREST.

A prisoner committed by a judge under the Extradition Act, cannot set up an irregularity in his arrest as a ground for habeas corpus.

Stone v. Vallée, 18 Can. Cr. Cas. 222, 39 Que. S.C. 424.

JUSTICES' CONVICTION FOR INDICTABLE OFFENCE—ABSENCE OF JURISDICTION—DIRECTING FURTHER DETENTION.

R. v. Frejd, 22 O.L.R. 566, 18 Can. Cr. Cas. 110, 17 O.W.R. 991.

IMPRISONMENT UNDER MAGISTRATE'S CONVICTION—COMMITMENT FOR TRIAL AT ASSIZES.

R. v. Hazelwood, 20 Can. Cr. Cas. 488, 19 W.L.R. 706.

EXAMINING PROCEEDINGS ANTERIOR TO CONVICTION—THIRD OFFENCE—IRREGULAR CONVICTION FOR A PRIOR OFFENCE.

The King v. Broadfoot, 17 Can. Cr. Cas. 71.

INFORMATION OMITTING TO CHARGE KNOWLEDGE—CRIMINAL OFFENCE NOT DISCLOSED—PLEA OF GUILTY.

The King v. Leshinski, 17 Can. Cr. Cas. 199.

HABEAS CORPUS PRACTICE—WREIT AT COMMON LAW AND UNDER THE HABEAS CORPUS ACT—AFFIDAVIT REQUIRED.

Re McMurrer (No. 1), 18 Can. Cr. Cas. 41.

IMPRISONMENT WITHOUT WARRANT—HABEAS CORPUS—SUBSEQUENT WARRANT—COSTS OF CONVEYING TO JAIL.

R. v. Degan, 17 O.L.R. 366, followed; R. v. Mitchell, 24 O.L.R. 324, 19 Can. Cr. Cas. 113, 19 O.W.R. 588.

PRELIMINARY ENQUIRIES UPON TWO OFFENCES AT THE SAME TIME—POWER TO ADJOURN A PRELIMINARY ENQUIRY.

Dick v. The King, 19 Can. Cr. Cas. 44, 13 Que. P.R. 57.

CRIMINAL PROCEEDINGS—ASSAULT OF POLICE OFFICER.

Ex parte Aubin, 19 Can. Cr. Cas. 94, 13 Que. P.R. 27.

HANDWRITING.

Annotations.

Comparison of: When and how comparison to be made: 13 D.L.R. 565.

Questioned documents and proof of handwriting: 44 D.L.R. 170.

HARBOURS.

See also Waters: Collision; Expropriation, III C—144: Constitutional Law.

Annotation.

"Public harbours," B.N.A. Act: 26 D.L.R. 69.

(§ 1—1)—HARBOUR COMMISSIONERS—REGULATIONS—RIGHTS OF ANCHORAGE—TRANSOCEANIC VESSELS—VESSELS IN INLAND WATERS.

A regulation of the harbour commission, which imposes the rights of anchorage on "steam vessels navigating between Quebec and a place below Quebec, or between Quebec and a place above Quebec, but below Montreal, or a place on the river Richelieu or the river Saguenay," does not apply to transoceanic vessels. The following general clause cannot be invoked: "On all steamers and sailing vessels entering and using the said harbour of Quebec, not included in the foregoing provisions, and which do not pay tonnage dues to the commissioners under the by-laws hereinbefore cited," when the context of the regulation makes it evident that it does not apply to ocean-going vessels.

Quebec Harbour Commissioners v. C.P.R. Co., 23 Que. K.B. 92.

(§ 1—2)—LEASE OF WHARF BY CROWN—RIGHT OF PUBLIC TO LOAD AND UNLOAD SHIPS—R.S.C. c. 35, AND C. 145, s. 34.

A lease assented to by His Majesty the King represented by the Minister of Railways and Canals acting by virtue of a statute and under the authority of an order in council, is an authentic deed which establishes its contents, and is a valid title of occupation by lease. A reservation, in a lease, of the right of the public to load and unload ships at a wharf does not entitle any one to occupy it by depositing thereon his own construction timber. Such an abuse gives to the lessee a right of action to recover damages against the one who commits such an act.

Turgeon v. Esplin, 23 Que. K.B. 116.

POWERS OF HARBOUR COMMISSIONERS—DEDICATION OF LAND TO MUNICIPALITY.

The Harbour Commissioners of Montreal have only the administration of the properties in their possession, the ownership pertaining to the Crown. They have then no right to make a donation of part of their land to a municipal corporation even for the purpose of enlarging a public street.

Chars Urbains de Montreal (Cie de) v. Commissaires du Havre de Montreal, 24 Que. K.B. 503.

(§ 1—5)—PUBLIC HARBOURS B.N.A. ACT—PROVINCIAL GRANT—EXPROPRIATION.

Bedford Basin, being a public harbour at the time of Confederation and the property of the Province of Nova Scotia, passed to the Dominion by virtue of the provisions of the B.N.A. Act. A subsequent provincial grant of a water-lot thereon is therefore void and confers no title. [Fisheries case, [1898] A.C. 700; Att'y-Gen'l v. Ritchie (English Bay case), 52 Can. S.C.R. 78, 26 D.L.R. 51, followed.]

Maxwell v. The King, 40 D.L.R. 715, 17 Can. Ex. 97.

PUBLIC—WHAT CONSTITUTES.

A place does not necessarily become a "public harbour," within the meaning of s. 108 of the B.N.A. Act, because public moneys had been expended by the Federal Government at that place and several government wharves are situated there. [Fisheries Case, [1898] A.C. 700, applied.]

Pickels v. The King, 7 D.L.R. 698, 14 Can. Ex. 379.

PUBLIC, WHAT CONSTITUTES.

English Bay, which forms the outer approach to Bucard Inlet which leads to the City of Vancouver, is not a "public harbor" within the meaning of the term as used in the third schedule of the B.N.A. Act and is therefore not the property of Canada, and the Dominion Government cannot restrain the removal of sand and gravel therefrom. [Holman v. Green, 6 Can. S.C.R. 707; Fisheries Case [1898] A.C. 700, considered.]

Att'y Gen'l for Canada v. Ritchie Contracting and Supply Co., 48 D.L.R. 147, [1919] A.C. 999, [1919] 3 W.W.R. 347, affirming 26 D.L.R. 51, 52 Can. S.C.R. 78, affirming 29 B.C.R. 333; which affirmed 17 D.L.R. 778.

HEALTH.

I. BOARDS OF HEALTH.

II. EPIDEMICS.

III. REGULATIONS TO PROTECT HEALTH.

A. In general.

B. Vaccination.

IV. DESTRUCTION OF PROPERTY TO PROTECT.

V. LIABILITY OF OFFICERS.

Representations as to application for insurance, see INSURANCE.

I. Boards of health.

(§ 1—1)—Where a building is used or established as a hospital for all contagious diseases, its establishment and user as such must be in compliance with and governed by s. 43 (w) of the by-laws of the Board of Health of the Province of Quebec.

MacIntosh v. Westmount, 8 D.L.R. 829.

(§ 1—2)—POWERS OF BOARD OF HEALTH—JURISDICTION OF BOARD.

The provincial Board of Health, when entrusted by statute with the performance of a public duty, such as the approval or rejection of the plans and specifications for a city water supply scheme, is an inferior tribunal subject to the jurisdiction of a Superior Court exercising the jurisdiction formerly pertaining to the Court of King's Bench, in respect of its power to prevent the intentional usurpation or mistaken assumption of a jurisdiction beyond that given to the board by law and also in respect of the board's refusal of its true jurisdiction by the adoption of extraneous considerations in arriving at its conclusion or deciding a point other than that brought before it. [R. v. Board of Education, [1910] 2 K.B. 165, followed; Graham v. Commissioners, 28 Ont. R. 1, distinguished.]

Re Ottawa and Provincial Board of Health, 20 D.L.R. 531, 33 O.L.R. 1.

MEDICAL OFFICER OF HEALTH—APPOINTMENT.

The Public Health Act, 2 Geo. V. (Ont.) c. 58, requiring municipalities to appoint medical officers of health, who should hold office during good behaviour and their residence in the municipality for which they are respectively appointed or in an adjoining municipality, and who should not be removed from office except for cause, did not continue in office as permanent officials, Medical Health Officers appointed under the old Act, holding office at the date of the coming into force of the new Act at the will of the council, and does not preclude a municipality from dismissing such a "Medical Health Officer" without cause being shown, and appointing a "Medical Officer of Health" under the new Act.

Re Warren and Town of Whitby, 10 D. L.R. 222, 4 O.W.N. 1029, 24 O.W.R. 317.

EXERCISE OF STATUTORY POWERS BY THE PROVINCIAL BOARD OF HEALTH.

Layton v. Montreal, 39 Que. S.C. 520.

II. Epidemics.

(§ II—5)—CONTAGIOUS OR INFECTIOUS DISEASE—PRIMARY AND SECONDARY LIABILITY.

The municipality is primarily liable for obligations incurred by a local board of health under N.S. Acts 1910, c. 6, ss. 28, 29, in connection with the suppression of contagious or infectious disease with a remedy over against the patient or other person or persons liable for his support if able to repay. [Cameron v. Dauphin, 14 Man. L.R. 573, followed.]

Johnston v. County of Halifax, 9 D.L.R. 229, 46 N.S.R. 474, 12 E.L.R. 251.

III. Regulations to protect health.

A. IN GENERAL.

(§ III A—10)—MUNICIPAL BY-LAW FIXING PERCENTAGE OF BUTTER FAT IN MILK ULTRA VIRES—DOMINION ADULTERATION ACT.

Regina (City) v. Sharley, 5 D.L.R. 877, 20 Can. Cr. Cas. 164.

EMPLOYMENT OF MEDICAL ATTENDANCE FOR EMPLOYEES ON PUBLIC WORKS—WHO LIABLE FOR—CONTRACTOR OR SUBCONTRACTOR.

The duty imposed by the Public Works Health Act, R.S.C. 1906, c. 135, and the regulations adopted thereunder by order-in-council, to provide medical and surgical attendance for men employed in the construction of any public work, rests on the company or person owning the work and not on a contractor or subcontractor employed in its construction.

Larose v. Webster (No. 2), 14 D.L.R. 80, 7 A.L.R. 6, 25 W.L.R. 517, 821.

(§ III A—11)—ORDERS OF BOARD—DISINFECTATION—MUNICIPALITY.

A municipal council is bound to obey an order of the board of health directing the disinfection of houses on account of contagious diseases, whatever may be the personal opinion of the members of the council upon the necessity of doing so. The president of the board has the right, in the interval between meetings of the board, to have such order sent to the municipal council by the secretary of the board. It is not necessary that the order should be in writing. The proof that the order was given can be made orally with the notice signed by the secretary as a commencement of proof in writing.

Quebec Board of Health v. Coteau Landing, 52 Que. S.C. 195.

(III A-13)—SMOKE REGULATIONS—NON-
APPLICATION TO GOVERNMENT BUILDINGS.

As neither the Crown nor its servants are bound by a statute of a criminal nature unless expressly mentioned therein, an engineer in charge of the engines and boilers of a Government customs house is not within a provincial Act (1 Geo. V, c. 44 (Man.)) declaring the emission of dense, black smoke from chimneys to be a nuisance. (Cooper v. Hawkins [1904] 2 K.B. 164, and Gorton Local Board v. Prison Commissioners, [1904] 2 K.B. 165 (3), followed.)

The King v. Clark, 21 Can. Cr. Cas. 208.

B. VACCINATION.

(§ III B-15)—VACCINE—INFECTED IN ITS PREPARATION—CITY SUPPLYING SAME, NOT LIABLE, WHEN.

Where a city supplies vaccine free for the general vaccination of its resident children, the onus is not on the municipality to shew that such vaccine was not infected in its preparation, it appearing that the city, with due care and prudence, buys the vaccine already prepared from a reputable Institute of Vaccination after examination and approval by the Provincial Board of Health.

Bollard v. Montreal, 18 D.L.R. 366, 21
Rev. Leg. 58.

CONVICTION.

An appeal lies to the Court of King's Bench (Crown side) from a conviction rendered by a justice of the peace against the appellant who had refused to allow himself to be vaccinated under the provisions of the Quebec Public Health Act.

Paradis v. Tp. of Dunham, 15 Que. P.R.
189.

IV. Destruction of property to protect.

(§ IV-20)—The Public Health Act of the Province of Quebec does not justify the destruction of goods seized as deleterious to the public health; and the power to destroy will not be inferred from a statute authorizing health officers "to dispose of them (the articles seized) so that they shall not be offered for sale or served as food for man."

Montreal v. Layton, 1 D.L.R. 160. [Affirmed, 10 D.L.R. 852, 47 Can. S.C.R. 514, 49 C.L.J. 231, 305.]

MUNICIPAL REGULATIONS—SALE OF MILK.

The City of Montreal has statutory authority under 14-15 Vict. 1851 (Can.) c. 128, s. 58, and under subsequent provincial statutes, to pass a by-law to prohibit under penalty the sale in the city of adulterated or unwholesome milk, or milk not conforming to a specified standard such by-law may be supported not only as a public health regulation but as warranted under the pre-Confederation statutes continued in force by s. 129 of the B.N.A. Act, 1867, until repealed or altered by competent legislative authority.

Savaria v. Geoffrion, 27 Can. Cr. Cas. 36,
22 Rev. Leg. 433.

MUNICIPAL LAW—NONORGANIZED TERRITORY
—CONTAGIOUS DISEASE—SANITARY SERVICE—MEDICAL CASE—RESPONSIBILITY—
C. M.U. (OLD) ART. 28—S. REF. [1909],
ART. 3861, 3894, 3969.

A corporation of a county is not liable for the costs of a sanitary service incurred to prevent the spread of a contagious disease in a nonorganized territory situated within its limits. Nonorganized territories are under the immediate control of the Provincial Board of Health; and the expenses of applying the Health Acts in these territories are part of the expenses of the Board of Health.

Corneau v. County of Champlain, 56 Que.
S.C. 518.

REGULATION OF INDUSTRIES—OFFENCES—JURISDICTION—RECORDER'S COURT—PROCEDURE—NOTICE—SECURITY FOR COSTS—PENALTIES—BOARD OF HEALTH.

An action for having kept an establishment for the melting of suet, constructed contrary to the rules of the trade and without the equipment required by the Act respecting industrial establishments of Quebec, can be taken only before a Judge of sessions or a police magistrate in Montreal or Quebec. The Recorder's Court of Montreal, although having the powers of two justices of the peace, is not competent to decide such an action. Before the accused can be considered in default he must have received 30 days' previous written notice, stating the offence complained of, to enable him to obtain the apparatus and instruments required by the Act. If the complaint is made by a person other than the inspector, such person must previously deposit with the one issuing the summons the sum of $20 to secure the costs. The statute imposing fines for offences under it and requiring that they shall be payable to the treasurer of the province, is of public order, and the provincial board of health of Quebec, although it has the right to pass by-laws concerning industrial establishments, cannot change that provision of the law and order that the fine be payable to the board.

Chaput v. Duquette, 54 Que. S.C. 399.

PUBLIC HEALTH ACT—NOXIOUS OR OFFENSIVE TRADE.

R. v. Barber Asphalt Paving Co., 23 O.
L.R. 372, 18 O.W.R. 778.

EMPLOYMENT OF PHYSICIAN BY LOCAL BOARD OF HEALTH TO ATTEND SMALLPOX PA-TIENTS.

Ross v. Tp. of London, 23 O.L.R. 74, 18
O.W.R. 82, affirming 20 O.L.R. 578.

SEIZURE OF STORAGE EGGS—NOTICE—EXECUTION OF STATUTORY POWERS BY THE PROVINCIAL BOARD OF HEALTH.

Layton v. Montreal, 39 Que. S.C. 520.

HEARSAY.

See Evidence.

HEIR.

See Descent and Distribution; Wills; Executors and Administrators.

HIGHWAYS.

I. ESTABLISHMENT; WIDTH.

A. Establishment.

B. Width.

II. TITLE; USE; OBSTRUCTION.

A. In general; title and property rights.

B. Uses; what allowed in street generally.

C. Obstruction generally.

D. Use and obstruction by railroads.

E. Rights as to trees or materials in street.

III. IMPROVEMENTS; DIVERSION; CHANGING GRADE.

IV. DEFECTS; LIABILITY FOR INJURIES TO TRAVELERS.

A. Liability of municipality.

B. Liability of others.

C. Contributory negligence.

D. Notice.

V. DISCONTINUANCE; ALTERATION; ABANDONMENT.

A. Discontinuance.

B. Alteration.

C. Abandonment.

VI. HIGHWAY OFFICERS.

Municipal by-laws as to, see Municipal Corporations.

Use and obstruction by railways, see Street Railways; Railways.

Use of automobiles on, see Automobiles.

As to bridges, see Bridges.

Negligence generally, see Negligence.

As to expropriation, see Expropriation; Damages, III L.

Annotations.

Establishment by statutory or municipal authority; irregularities in proceedings for the opening and closing of highways: 9 D.L.R. 490.

Defects; notice of injury; sufficiency: 13 D.L.R. 886.

Duties of drivers of vehicles crossing street railway tracks: 1 D.L.R. 783.

Unreasonable user as negligence, nuisance: 31 D.L.R. 370.

Liability of municipal corporations for nonrepair of highways and bridges: 34 D.L.R. 589.

Liability of municipality for defective highways or bridges: 46 D.L.R. 133.

Private rights in, antecedent to dedication: 46 D.L.R. 517.

I. Establishment; width.

A. ESTABLISHMENT.

See also Dedication.

(§ 1 A-1)—EXPENDITURE OF PUBLIC MONEY.

Rideout v. Howlett (No. 2), 15 D.L.R. 634, 13 E.L.R. 562, affirming 13 D.L.R. 293.

SURVEY—ALTERATION OF STREET LINES.

The special survey which the Att'y-Gen'l may direct at the request of a municipal council under the Special Surveys Act, Sask., 3 Geo. V. c. 24, applies only for the correction of errors; and to justify the acceptance of a new survey altering the street lines it must be shown that there was an error in those lines and that they did not carry out the intention of the former owner on whose behalf the original survey was made or that the expressed intention leads to an absurdity.

Smith v. Master of Titles, 21 D.L.R. 47, 8 S.L.R. 47, 32 W.L.R. 22, 7 W.W.R. 1105.

BORDER ROAD — ADJOINING LANDS — USAGE.

It has been the usage, if not the law, in Quebec, from time immemorial, that when a border road between two properties is opened, one half of the land necessary for the building of such road is taken from each of the two adjoining properties.

Cormier v. Vaillant, 24 Que. K.B. 161.

HIGHWAY COMMISSION — JURISDICTION — EXPROPRIATION — COMPENSATION — HEARING AND AWARD.

By the Toronto and Hamilton Highway Commission Act, 5 Geo. V. c. 18, s. 10 (Ont.), the Commission may expropriate land, and "shall have and may exercise the like powers and shall proceed in the manner provided by the Public Works Act, where the Minister of Public Works takes land or property for the use of Ontario and the provisions of that Act shall mutatis mutandis apply."—Held, having regard to ss. 27, 29, 31, and 32 of the Public Works Act, R.S.O. 1914, c. 35, that when the Ontario Railway and Municipal Board acts in fixing compensation for land expropriated by the said Commission, it does so as a Board or court, exercising the powers given to it by the Ontario Railway and Municipal Board Act, R.S.O. 1914, c. 186; and there is no pretence for saying that the members of the Board act as arbitrators merely. Therefore, where two members of the Board, who had heard the evidence upon a proceeding before the Board for the purpose of fixing compensation for land expropriated for a new highway, allowed the third member, who had not heard the evidence, nor previously taken part in the inquiry, to read the evidence and express his views regarding the case to them, before giving their decision, it could not be said that the decision was thereby vitiated: Quære, whether the Board was within its powers under s. 9 or s. 52 of the Ontario Railway and Municipal Board Act. A Divisional Court of the Appellate Division refused leave to appeal from the decision of the Board in regard to compensation, being of opinion, after a full discussion and consideration of the evidence, that the amount awarded was reasonable and just. Properties fronting on the new road and those benefited by it are to be assessed. Access is a special benefit, and its value may be set off as direct, while the advantage gained by proximity, though paid for by assessment, may still be general in its effect.

Re Toronto & Hamilton Highway Commission and Crabb, 37 O.L.R. 656.

PUBLIC ROAD — ROAD BY TOLERANCE — ACQUISITION BY THE MUNICIPALITY — WIDENING OF THE ROAD — LIMITATION — DONATION — C.C., ART. 2193 — C. MUN., ART. 464.

A public road is a means of communication from one place to another on public property and open to the public which can have access to it without passing on private property. Thus he who constructs a sidewalk in front of his estate, the length of a ditch, separating it from the public road, and who allows the public by tolerance during more than thirty years to pass there does not by this lose his right to the border. The municipality cannot claim the ownership of this property (a) either as an extension of the public road, seeing that the public road has been separated from the bordering ground by a large ditch (b) or to the title of dedication, seeing that the public has only made use of this walk by tolerance, and that the owner has prohibited the use of it for several years (c) or by prescription of ten or of thirty years, since the public never really owned this property.

The Parish of St. Hubert v. David, 25 Rev. Leg. 413.

LOCAL ROAD — ROAD BY TOLERANCE — MAINTENANCE — COUNTY ROAD — SECONDARY PROOF — PRESUMPTION — INTEREST — MANDAMUS — C.C.P., ART. 992, C. MUN., ART. 445, 464, 519.

There is nothing in law requiring a plaintiff for mandamus against a municipal corporation to reside in the limits of the municipality. It suffices to show that he has an interest to make his request. When following a fire which has destroyed the archives of the local municipal council it is impossible to furnish documentary proof that a road is municipal, secondary proof will be admitted. In this case the following presumptions form a sufficient proof; (a) the testimony of the first inhabitants of the place whose memories go back 37 to 40 years, who swear that this road was open to the public since that time and that it had been built with money supplied by the department of colonization; (b) the council of the parish in which the road is situated has always controlled and maintained it; (c) whatever registers saved from the fire shew that the inspectors of highways were in charge of the road; (d) the road has already been sold à la corvée; (e) it has been maintained by the inhabitants of the upper ranks for at least 44 years. Against these presumptions, the facts that the road has not the width desired by law, that it is not registered, that the possession of the corporation is uncertain, do not count. Even if this road was only a road by sufferance, opened at both extremities, separated by neighboring estates and opened to public, the municipality has the supervision and maintenance of it. A road which passes across several municipalities is not necessarily a county road. If a municipal corporation refuses to maintain in good condition a municipal road opened to the public, the only efficacious remedy to force it to do so is "mandamus."

Lavoie v. Village of St. Siméon, 25 Rev. Leg. 349.

CITIES AND TOWNS — OPENING OF STREETS — WIDTH — ACQUIRING OF LAND — ABSENCE OF AVAILABLE LAND — RESOLUTION — ULTRA VIRES — INTEREST — MUNICIPAL ELECTOR — S. REF. [1909], ART. 5591, 5623, 5634, 5641, 5782, 5887.

When a municipal council acts ultra vires, every ratepayer has a direct right of action to have the impeached act declared void. This action is lost by prescription in three months from the demand for repeal by reason of illegality. When a corporation of a city or a town orders the opening of a street it must act by by-law and not by resolution under pain of nullity. Article 5887 S. ref. which prescribes that streets opened up by the subdivision of land into town lots must be sixty-six feet wide, does not apply to streets opened up by reason of the circumstances. A corporation of a city or a town cannot order the acquisition of lands for drainage purposes if it has not on hand the necessary funds to pay the price, unless it can make a loan in the manner prescribed by law. Otherwise its act is ultra vires.

Deshiens v. Town of la Tuque & Gauthier, 56 Que. S.C. 430.

OPENING AND MAINTENANCE — WHO SHOULD BE CHARGED — C. MUN. (OLD), ART. 782, 794, 795.

A municipality should not by ordinance or regulation bind itself to open or to maintain a road parallel to one which the interested tax payers had established and for the purpose of which, they had given part of their lands.

The District of Grantham v. Boisvert, 28 Que. K.B. 9.

A SIDEWALK MADE BY A BY-LAW OF THE CORPORATION AND NOT BY CONTRACT — REPORT NOT NECESSARY — GENERAL POWERS — MUNICIPAL CODE (OLD) 401, 376, 397, 796, 528 ET SEQ. 714 ET SEQ. 802, 828.

The corporation of the village of Rougemont, in virtue of a rule ordering the construction of sidewalk by certain owners, can after notice have a sidewalk made at the expense and cost of an owner in default. It is not necessary to have these works done by contract, after having adopted a by-law to this end.

Village of Rougemont v. Carden, 25 Rev. de Jur. 504.

NATIONAL ROADS — MUNICIPAL CONTRIBUTIONS — HOW DIVIDED — NOTICE OF MOTION — TAXABLE GOODS — C. MUN. (NEW), ART. 350, 359, 697 — 3 GEO. V. [1912], c. 21.

In order to levy the amount of its contribution for the construction of national roads undertaken by the government, a municipal corporation does not need to adopt by-laws, or make official reports, or perform the ordinary formality decreed by the Municipal Code for the opening or the reconstruction of roads. It is sufficient to pass a resolution under the law called "good roads," said law decreeing that the contribution should be under the custody of the entire municipality or of the rate-payers who would profit by the new road, provided that in this latter case a request to that effect had been presented by the majority of the rate-payers thus benefited. In this particular event, the resolution might be passed even after the work had been performed. A resolution of the municipal council, charging the secretary treasurer to give public notice that at the next general session of the council an order to this effect would be adopted is equivalent to a preliminary notice required by C. mun. art. 359. A by-law decreeing that an assessment shall be imposed on the taxable goods of a certain class is sufficiently set out when the tax will lay exclusively on the land and not on taxable personalty.

Mathieu v. The Parish of St. Francois, 28 Que. K.B. 98.

(§ I A—2) — USER — PRESCRIPTION — "CHEMIN DE TOLERANCE" — DEDICATION — CANADA 18 VICT. 1855 C. 100 S. 41 — ARTS. 749 AND 750, QUE. MUNICIPAL CODE.

The subs. 8, 9, s. 41, c. 100, of 18 Vict. are still in force but apply only to roads in existence, and in public use for ten years prior to 1855. A road open at each end and having a fence on one side and a sidewalk on the other is not necessarily a public road under art. 749 Mun. Code.

Harvey v. Dominion Textile Co., 50 D.L.R. 746.

TOWNSHIP BY-LAW AUTHORIZING THE TAKING OF LAND FOR ROAD — VALIDITY — PRESCRIPTION — TITLE TO LAND IN CROWNS — SUBSEQUENT CROWN GRANT NOT RECOGNIZING LAND INDICATED BY BY-LAW AS ROAD-ALLOWANCE — BY-LAW INEFFECTIVE ALSO BECAUSE REQUIREMENTS OF MUNICIPAL ACT NOT COMPLIED WITH — DEDICATION — USER — ACQUISITION — EVIDENCE — TITLE OF PLAINTIFF — ACTION FOR TRESPASS — DAMAGES — INJUNCTION.

Sawyer v. Sherborne, 14 O.W.N. 22.

PRIVATE ROAD — PUBLIC USER — ABANDONMENT — INTENTION OF OWNER — PRESCRIPTION.

A road laid out by an individual for the sole use of his estate does not become a public road by the sole fact of long public use. It is necessary, besides, that the owner has made a formal or presumed abandonment of it to the public. Abandonment may be inferred from acts of the owner and from particular circumstances in the particular case, but proof of his intention to give up his ownership should be unequivocal. Following the conclusions adopted by the majority of Judges of the Supreme Court in the case of Dominion Textile Co. v. Harvey, the ten year prescription for roads enacted by the Act 18 Vict. c. 41, only applies to roads open and used by the public ten years before the adoption of the act. In order to lay a basis for the prescription of a road possession by the public should unite all the conditions of the common law. A road of suffrance may always be closed by the owner.

Page v. Gauvreau, 27 Que. K.B. 490.

BY PRESCRIPTION OR USER — DEDICATION.

A public road was established by prescription in 1808. The municipal council, in 1856, directed by by-law that this should be a private road to be used and maintained by the two owners of the lands from which the road had been taken. Nevertheless the public continued to use it without molestation for more than 10 years. This public use made it a public road. The road was not abolished by the by-law of 1856 in the sense of art. 753, mun. code, and the ownership of the land did not return to the original proprietors, as provided in art. 753. It follows, therefore, that one of these proprietors had no right to close this road and cultivate the ground. The prescription for roads open to the public for 10 years provided for by 18 Vict. (1855), c. 100, s. 9, is based upon the presumption that a competent authority has so directed, but no order of such authority has been produced. Moreover, this prescription does not apply when such competent authority has formally declared that the road is not public. For a road to become public by dedication, expressed or implied, it is necessary that the intention of the owner to give his land for a road or a street should be established by evidence; it is necessary also that, to be effective, this dedication should be accepted by competent authority at least tacitly.

Nolin v. Gosselin, 24 Que. K.B. 289.

(§ I A—4) — MUNICIPAL SUCCESSION TO TOWNSHIP'S RIGHTS.

When a certain territory which formerly constituted part of a township became part of a town, the town succeeded to the rights and obligations of the township concerning land in that territory dedicated as a highway.

Larcher v. Sudbury, 11 D.L.R. 111, 4 O.W.N. 1289, 24 O.W.R. 659.

COMMON LAW METHOD OF ESTABLISHING DEDICATION — ACCEPTANCE AND USER — HIGHWAY ACT — MUNICIPAL ACT — EVIDENCE.

Section 13 of the Highway Act (R.S.B.C. 1911, c. 99), does not abrogate the common law method of establishing a highway by dedication, acceptance and user, and although a by-law to widen a municipal street may be invalid through lack of proper advertising as required by the Municipal Act, such by-law, and all the proceedings carried on under it, may be looked at as evidence of the establishment of such highway in this manner.

AU-Y-Gen'l of B.C. v. Bailey, 44 D.L.R. 338, [1919] 1 W.W.R. 191.

DEDICATION — ACCEPTANCE BY CITY — ONTARIO SURVEYORS ACT.

A sufficient acceptance, under the Ontario Surveyors Act, 1 Geo. V. c. 42, s. 44, subs. 6, as amended by 2 Geo. V. c. 17, s. 32, of the dedication of land for a public highway and its assumption for public use by a municipality, is shown by a memorandum endorsed on a plan, as filed in the registry office by the mayor, treasurer and clerk of the city, under its corporate seal, to the effect that the consent of the corporation is given to the registration of such plan.

Re Toronto Plan M. 188, 11 D.L.R. 424, 28 O.L.R. 41.

ACCEPTANCE — PLANS AND SURVEYS — EFFECT OF — SURVEYS ACT, R.S.O. 1897, c. 181, ss. 14, 15 — ESTOPPEL — MUNICIPAL BY-LAW DEFINING STREETS.

In an action to restrain the defendant corporation from trespassing upon a piece of land to which the plaintiff company set up title, but which was, according to the contention of the plaintiff, part of a street, it was held, after consideration of the plans and deeds, that, in accordance with the principles laid down in [Badgely v. Bender, 3 O.S. 221, as approved and acted upon in Kenny v. Caldwell, 21 A.R. 110, 24 S.C.R. 699], the designation of the locus in quo as part of a street in two plans prepared for public purposes before the corporation acquired its alleged title, was sufficient prima facie evidence of that fact; and, in the absence of direct evidence to the contrary, this designation was treated as conclusive. The predecessors in title of the plaintiff obtained from the Crown a confirmatory patent of the lands in question, and in the description one of the plans was referred to and public streets within the described tract were excepted:—Held, that this was a recognition and acceptance of the existence of the street, and that thereafter neither the patentees nor any successor in title could set up that the locus in quo was not a public street as shewn on the plan. The contention of the corporation was also held, to have been much strengthened by a subsequent survey shewing the street, confirmed by the Minister of Crown Lands under the Surveys Act, R.S.O. 1897, c. 181, ss. 14, 15, and adopted by by-law of the corporation, the plaintiff having been given notice of the proceedings and not having shewn cause against them.

Niagara Navigation Co. v. Niagara, 31 O.L.R. 17.

ACCEPTANCE — HIGHWAY — LIMITED ROAD — ACCEPTANCE BY PUBLIC — NEW BRUNSWICK HIGHWAY ACT, 1908.

Groundwater v. Waterman, 13 E.L.R. 317.

DEDICATION—EVIDENCE OF—STREET WIDENING BY-LAW — INSUFFICIENT PUBLICATION—INVALIDITY—ASSESSMENTS THEREUNDER — VICTORIA CITY RELIEF ACT, 1918 (NO. 2)—MUNICIPAL ACT, s. 141.

The judgment of Murphy, J., declaring that the city of Victoria was entitled to a certain strip of land requiring for street widening free from defendant's mortgage, and dismissing defendant's counterclaim for relief from assessment because of the invalidity of the street widening by-law, was upheld; Martin and McPhillips, J.J.A. refusing to disturb his finding as to dedication and the defendant mortgagee's assent thereto, and holding on the counterclaim that the assessment is not open to review because the special tribunal created in part V. of the Victoria City Relief Act, 1918 (no. 2) (c. 105) has jurisdiction and its "report and directions" to the council cannot be questioned; Gallilher, J.A. agreeing with the trial judge that there was dedication and assent by defendant mortgagee, and holding that this finding disposed of the counterclaim or if not s. 141 of c. 52, 1914 (the Municipal Act) was a bar to the counterclaim.

Victoria v. Bailey, [1919] 3 W.W.R. 19, affirming [1919] 1 W.W.R. 191.

(§ 1 A—7)—CUL-DE-SAC—DEDICATION.

The existence of a public highway is not necessarily confined to a place which is a thoroughfare, and a cul-de-sac may properly exist as such and may be established by dedication. [Bateman v. Bluck, 18 Q.B. 870, followed.]

De Young v. Giles, 26 D.L.R. 5, 49 N.S.R. 398.

DEDICATION—BY USER.

The dedication of a road as a public highway may be inferred from thirty years' user by the public without objection or interruption, and by recognition of same as a highway by the municipal council which had closed portions of it during such period.

O'Neil v. Harper, 13 D.L.R. 649, 28 O.L.R. 635, reversing, on other grounds, 10 D.L.R. 433.

DEDICATION AND ACCEPTANCE — RESOLUTION — QUASHING.

The question whether a dedicated highway has been accepted by a municipality cannot be determined upon a motion to quash the resolution relative to the highway for illegality.

Re Sanderson and Sophiasburgh, 33 D.L.R. 452, 38 O.L.R. 249.

DEDICATION — INTENTION — EASEMENTS.

Dedication as a public street is not shown in the absence of express grant as regards an unimproved strip forming a cul-de-sac in a subdivided tract by references to it in conveyances made by the common owner to purchasers of lots on one side thereof as a "street" over which an express right of way was granted to each, while no reference was made either to a street or right of way in the conveyance of land in one parcel abutting on the other side of such strip made by the common grantor.

Peters v. Sinclair, 18 D.L.R. 754, affirming 13 D.L.R. 468, 48 Can. S.C.R. 97.

MUNICIPAL LAW — ROAD — DEDICATION — ACCEPTANCE — PRESCRIPTION.

In order that a road be acquired by the public by dedication, it is not enough that the land has been offered to the municipal corporation for the purpose of a highway; it is also necessary that this offer be formally accepted by the corporation, or that the public has shown its acceptance of the dedication by a proper possession on which to found prescription.

Plante v. The Corp. of Princeville, 55 Que. S.C. 210.

DEDICATION — REGISTERED PLAN — SALE OF LOTS ACCORDING TO PLAN — USER OF ROAD BY PUBLIC — MUNICIPAL ACT, R.S.O. 1914, c. 192, s. 433 — SURVEYS ACT, R.S.O. 1914, c. 166, s. 44 — AMENDMENT TO ORIGINAL STATUTE — RETROACTIVE EFFECT — APPLICATION TO TOWNSHIPS.

Burlington v. Coleman (No. 1), 12 O.W. N. 217.

VILLAGE STREET — ASSUMPTION BY BY-LAW OF COUNTY CORPORATION — HIGHWAY IMPROVEMENT ACT, R.S.O. 1914, c. 40, ss. 4 (1), 5 (1), 12 — APPROVAL OF BY-LAW BY LIEUTENANT-GOVERNOR IN COUNCIL — ACTION TO SET ASIDE BY-LAW.

Merrittton v. Lincoln, 12 O.W.N. 370. [Reversed, 39 D.L.R. 328, 41 O.L.R. 6.]

DEDICATION — BY-LAW OF MUNICIPALITY — WAIVER OF CONVEYANCES — EVIDENCE. Reaume v. Windsor, 7 O.W.N. 647.

DEDICATION — ACCEPTANCE — SALE OF LAND INCLUDING PORTION DEDICATED — ACQUIESCENCE OF PURCHASERS.

Hislop v. Stratford, 11 O.W.N. 321, affirming 10 O.W.N. 430.

BOUNDARIES — ASCERTAINMENT — ENCROACHMENT ON LAND OF NEIGHBORING OWNER — HIGHWAY ACQUIRED BY PURCHASE — POSSESSION FOR MORE THAN 20 YEARS — LIMITATIONS ACT — ONUS — FINDING OF TRIAL JUDGE — APPEAL — PERMISSION FOR FURTHER LITIGATION — RIGHT TO FLOW OF WATER OF CREEK — AGREEMENT WITH MUNICIPALITY — DUTY OF MUNICIPALITY TO MAINTAIN FLOW — INTERFERENCE WHEN ROAD CONSTRUCTED — RESPONSIBILITY OF MU-NICIPALITY — DEDICATION AND ACCEPTANCE — MUNICIPAL ACT, ss. 433, 460 (6) — BREACH OF DUTY — REMEDY — INJUNCTION — DAMAGES — COSTS. Lockie v. North Monaghan, 12 O.W.N. 171.

§ I A-8) — ESTABLISHMENT BY STATUTE STREETS ON REGISTERED PLANS.

The statute, 1 Geo. V. (Ont.) c. 42, s. 44 (1), providing that allowances for roads, streets or commons surveyed in a city, town, village, or township, which have been surveyed and laid down on the plans thereof, and upon which lots fronting on or adjoining such allowances, roads, streets or commons have been or may be hereafter sold to purchasers, shall be public highways, streets and commons, does not apply to an unregistered plan, because this section is subject to the provisions of the Registry Act and no plan can be altered or amended by a judge until it is registered.

Peake v. Mitchell; Mitchell v. Peake, 10 D.L.R. 140, 4 O.W.N. 988, 24 O.W.R. 291.

B. WIDTH.

§ I B-15) — WIDTH — OVER RAILWAY — RESTRICTING TO PORTION DEVOTED TO HIGHWAY TRAFFIC.

The right of the public in a street over a railway right of way is not limited to the portion planned and gravelled for traffic by reason of the fact that no town-by-law was adopted for opening the street, under s. 705 (b) of c. 57 of 8 & 9 Edw. VII, after the crossing was ordered by the Railway Board, where, prior to application to the Board, a by-law was passed authorizing the extension of such street across the right of way of the railway company; and the latter acquiesced in the opening of the road for its full width, and subsequently recognized its existence.

Campbell v. C.N.R. Co. (No. 2), 12 D.L.R. 272, 23 Man. L.R. 385, 15 Can. Ry. Cas. 357, 24 W.L.R. 447, 4 W.W.R. 914.

HIGHWAY ACT, 1908 — EXISTING HIGHWAYS — PRESUMPTION AS TO WIDTH — DEDICATION — TRESPASS.

Subsection 1 of s. 34 of c. 34, of 8 Edw. VII, providing that "all existing highways, except those heretofore laid out and recorded as two-rod highways, shall, until the contrary be proved, be deemed to have been laid out 4 rods in width, and all highways hereafter to be established shall be laid out not less than four nor more than 6 rods wide. All highways shall be worked out to such width as the Commissioners in their respective districts shall consider necessary," does not operate to make a road upon which expended and statute labour performed a four-rod highway when such road had been dedicated and accepted of a less width, and along the side of which an adjoining proprietor had erected his fence up to which he has held possession.

Groundwater v. Waterman, 42 N.B.R. 396.

TORONTO AND HAMILTON HIGHWAY COMMISSION — INCREASED WIDTH OF HIGHWAY — APPORTIONMENT AMONG MUNICIPALITIES OF ADDITIONAL COST — ORDER OF ONTARIO RAILWAY AND MUNICIPAL BOARD — APPLICATION FOR LEAVE TO APPEAL—5 GEO. V., c. 18, s. 13 (O.).

Re Ontario Railway and Municipal Board and Toronto & Hamilton Highway Commission, 12 O.W.N. 333.

ENCROACHMENT — ACTION FOR MANDAMUS TO TOWNSHIP CORPORATION TO RESTORE ROAD TO ORIGINAL WIDTH — FENCES — NONFEASANCE—REMEDY.

Tompkins v. Harwich, 14 O.W.N. 325.

PURCHASE OF LAND BY TOWNSHIP CORPORATION — DEDICATION FOR ROAD — BY-LAW ASSUMING — DEFECT IN REGISTRATION — NOTICE TO GRANTEE OF VENDOR — WIDTH OF ROAD—ACTION FOR DECLARATION OF RIGHT.

Harvey v. Galvin, 11 O.W.N. 38.

CONSTRUCTION OF ROAD ON PLAINTIFF'S LAND — NO PROCEEDINGS FOR EXPROPRIATION.

Fodey v. South Qu'Appelle, 3 S.L.R. 412.

LAYING OUT STREETS AND EXPROPRIATION THEREOF — SERVITUDES — EXTINCTION BY NONUSER.

Montreal v. Thlin, 20 Que. K.B. 430.

TOWNSHIP BOUNDARY LINE — DEVIATION — SUBSTITUTED ROAD — ASSUMPTION BY COUNTY.

Wentworth v. West Flamborough, 23 O.L.R. 583, 19 O.W.R. 445.

II. Title; use; construction.

A. IN GENERAL; TITLE AND PROPERTY RIGHTS. Prescriptive right as to user, stream, see Easements, II A-7; Parties, II A-70.

(§ II A-20)—DEDICATED BY OWNER — MUNICIPAL ACT — COMMON AND PUBLIC — EASEMENTS.

Section 433 of the Municipal Act (1913, 3 & 4 Geo. V., c. 43, Ont.), provides that "the soil and freehold of every highway shall be vested in the corporation of the municipality or municipalities," and by s. 432, "all roads dedicated by the owner of the land to public use" are declared to "be common and public highways." The effect of this legislation and of the repeal of 3 Edw. VII, c. 19, which was concurrent with it, is to remove any easement or reservation to which the vesting of the highway was subject, and to vest absolutely and without qualification the soil and freehold in the municipal corporations.

Abell v. Woodbridge et al., 46 D.L.R. 513, 45 O.L.R. 79, reversing 37 D.L.R. 352, 39 O.L.R. 382. [See 17 O.W.N. 55.]

MUNICIPAL ROAD — PRESCRIPTIVE RIGHTS.

A piece of land becomes a municipal road as soon as the corporation has taken possession of it for such purpose, even if the works for making the road have been done only on part of its width. When all the formalities required for the taking over of land for road purposes have been fulfilled by a municipal corporation, that land is no longer private; it becomes imprescriptible and cannot become the object of useful possession to base a possessory action.

Faucher v. Hébert, 54 Que. S.C. 316.

ACTION FOR POSSESSION — PATHS — PUBLIC DOMAIN — SETTLING LIMITS — POSSESSION — C.C.P. ART. 1064.

When a sidewalk is built on public land, and is in part destroyed by a neighbor claiming that it is on his property, a possessory action will not lie.

Seguin v. Turanne, 25 Rev. Leg. 453.

(§ II A-21)—RIGHTS AND TITLE OF PUBLIC.

Every municipal road or every part of the municipal road, wholly situate in one local municipality, is by law (755 mun. Code) a local road and preserves its character until the County Council or the board of delegates take advantage of the prerogatives conferred upon them by arts. 758, 759 Mun. Code.

Brunet v. Comte de Beauharnois, 18 Rev. de Jur. 141.

(§ II A-23) — OBSTRUCTION — ADVERSE CLAIM OF ABUTTING OWNER.

A purchaser taking under a plan upon which streets are shown is not entitled to cut off access to those streets if dedication was intended, although they have not been accepted by the municipality.

Peake v. Mitchell; Mitchell v. Peake, 10 D.L.R. 140, 4 O.W.N. 988, 24 O.W.R. 291.

RIGHTS AND TITLE OF ABUTTING OWNER.

Where the facts do not establish an immediate necessity for opening and grading a public street, a municipal corporation will not be required to do so under the terms of an agreement between the municipal corporation and the dedicators of the right of way, whereby the municipality was to open and grade, "when necessary," certain streets in a subdivision in which the plaintiff was an owner under conveyance from the dedicators of lots abutting a new street so constructed for.

Hutchison v. Westmount, 3 D.L.R. 333, 4 O.W.N. 338. [Affirmed, 16 D.L.R. 853, 49 Can. S.C.R. 621.]

B. USES; WHAT ALLOWED IN STREET GENERALLY.

(§ II B-32)—USE OTHER THAN FOR PASSAGE — PRIVATE PURPOSES OF ADJOINING OCCUPANT.

Highways are dedicated prima facie for the purpose of passage, but a person may, notwithstanding, use a highway for other purposes in conformity with the reasonable and usual mode (e.g., unhitching a horse to be stabled in adjacent premises) without being considered a trespasser in respect of such use as regards a claim for damages sustained by another's negligence. [Harrison v. Duke of Rutland, [1893] 1 Q. B. 142, applied.]

McLean v. Crown Tailoring Co., 15 D.L.R. 353, 29 O.L.R. 455.

(§ II B-34)—BRIDGES OVER.

A bridge crossing a river, connecting the separated parts of a public highway is part of the highway itself and is also a public place and is within the operation of s. 248, subs. 2 of the Railway Act, 1906. Haldimand v. Bell Telephone Co., 2 D.L.R. 197, 25 O.L.R. 467, 21 O.W.R. 194.

(§ II B-35)—AUTOMOBILES AND HORSES.

Drivers of automobiles and drivers of horses have equally a perfect right to use the highway, but the right of each is subject to the qualification that he must use it in conformity with any statutory requirements, and not so as to make its use dangerous to others.

Stewart v. Steele, 6 D.L.R. 1, 5 S.L.R. 358, 22 W.L.R. 6, 2 W.W.R. 902.

DRIVER OF AUTOMOBILE — COLLISION WITH MOTHER ON HAY WAGON — COLLISION — DEATH OF COLL — NEGLIGENCE — DAMAGES.

Stevens v. Saskatoon Taxicab Co., 45 D.L.R. 763, [1919] 1 W.W.R. 958.

(§ II B-47)—POLES — CONSENT OF MUNICIPALITY TO ERECTION.

The fact that an electric company had previously acquired statutory power to erect poles and wires in the streets of a town does not prevent it coming within the provisions of a subsequent Act, e. 21 of N.S. Acts of 1911, declaring that poles shall not be erected except with the written permission of the street committee of the town under such terms as public safety may require. The right to erect poles and wires in the streets of a town conferred on an electric company by s. 6 of c. 130 of the N.S. Acts of 1889, can be exercised, under s. 7 of the Act, only under the direction and supervision of such person as the town may appoint, who, however, must exercise his power in a fair and reasonable manner.

Aty-Gentl and Truro v. Chambers Electric Light & Power Co., 14 D.L.R. 883, 13 E.L.R. 443.

ELECTRIC LIGHT WIRES, POLES AND CONDUITS.

The powers conferred upon the Toronto & Niagara Power Co. by ss. 12, 13 of its Act of incorporation, 1902, remain intact notwithstanding the provisions of the Railway Act, 1906, and the company is entitled to erect poles for the purpose of stringing power of transmission lines along the streets of a municipality, without the consent of the municipality.

Toronto & Niagara Power Co. v. North Toronto, 5 D.L.R. 43, 14 Can. Ry. Cas. 392, [1912] A.C. 834, 23 O.W.R. 85, reversing 2 D.L.R. 120.

All doubt as to the power of a company to erect poles to carry electric wires through the streets and public places of a city is concluded by the fact that the city agreed to grant the company permits, under certain conditions, to erect poles therein, and requiring that it should permit the use thereof by other companies, and also by the city for wires of its fire alarm system, or for heat and light.

A city that has, under a general by-law, granted permits to a company to erect poles in its streets and public places cannot, after such permits have been acted upon, require the removal of such poles on the ground that the permits were void because issued without the adoption of a by-law in each instance.

Winnipeg Electric Co. v. Winnipeg, 4 D.L.R. 116, [1912] A.C. 355, 1 W.W.R. 964, reversing 20 Man. L.R. 337, 16 W.L.R. 62.

(§ II B-49)—TELEGRAPH AND TELEPHONE LINES.

The powers conferred on the Bell Telephone Co. by its Act of incorporation authorizing it to erect its lines along the side and across or under any public highway, bridges, etc., are controlled by the Railway Act, 1906, s. 248, which imposes certain conditions precedent to the construction by any telephone company of its lines, and this notwithstanding that the word "bridges" is specially mentioned in the incorporating Act and omitted from the Railway Act.

Haldimand v. Bell Telephone Co., 2 D.L.R. 197, 25 O.L.R. 467, 21 O.W.R. 194.

(§ II B-52) — VOLUNTARY LICENSE TO ABUTTING OWNER TO PUT STEPS ON HIGHWAY—REVOCATION.

Where a city municipality, by way of mere license and voluntary concession, permits a property owner to put steps on the highway as an approach to his property, the city has the right at will to withdraw such license without the owner's consent or concurrence.

Forster v. Medicine Hat, 17 D.L.R. 391, 28 W.L.R. 685, 6 W.W.R. 548. [See 9 D.L.R. 555, 5 A.L.R. 36.]

C. OBSTRUCTION GENERALLY.

(§ II C-60)—UNOPENED ROAD ALLOWANCE — OBSTRUCTION BY FENCES—SUBSTANTIAL INJURY TO PLAINTIFF—DEPRIVATION OF ACCESS TO LAND—RIGHT TO MAINTAIN ACTION—SURVEYS ACT, R. S.O. 1914, c. 166, s. 19—MANDATORY INJUNCTION—TRIVIAL DISPUTE—COSTS. Membury v. Smith, 15 O.W.N. 119.

(§ II C-67)—OF SIDEWALK.

A building contractor who, in the course of building operations, obstructs parts of streets and sidewalks after he has obtained a municipal permit so to do, is not liable in damages for the inconvenience and annoyance and even losses caused thereby to the public and neighbouring proprietors, provided every precaution be taken to prevent the aggravation of this servitude, and the public and neighbouring occupants are bound to suffer such temporary interference with their rights.

Cochenthaler v. Pauzé, 2 D.L.R. 234. (§ II C-68)—REMOVING OBSTRUCTION — FENCE—CRIME.

The defendant charged under Cr. Code,

s. 530, with breaking down a fence erected across a road which had been a public highway, may set up in answer that the proceedings by which the municipal council purported to order the diversion of the highway and the closing of that portion thereof were irregular and invalid, and on its so appearing is entitled to have the charge dismissed by reason of his lawful right to remove the obstruction.

R. v. Hatt, 27 D.L.R. 640, 25 Can. Cr. Cas. 263.

PRIVATE REMEDY FOR — SPECIAL INJURY SUFFERED BY PLAINTIFF—PARTIES.

One who, by the act of the defendant in obstructing a road, is prevented from passing along it to and from his property, suffers a special injury which entitles him, without the intervention of the Attorney General, to maintain an action in his own name against the wrongdoer, for the removal of the obstruction, and a declaration that the road is a public highway.

O'Neil v. Harper, 13 D.L.R. 649, 28 O.L.R. 635, reversing 10 D.L.R. 433.

D. USE AND OBSTRUCTION BY RAILROADS.
 (§ II D-70)—Application for leave to carry a street across the lands of the respondent. The street was not opened up to the right of way of the respondent on the south side, and there was a block of land owned by the respondent between its terminus and the said right-of-way:—Held, 1. That under s. 237 of the Railway Act, the Railway Board had jurisdiction to give leave to construct a highway across "any railway." 2. That under s. 2 (21) of the Act, the word "railway" included real property such as the said block of land. 3. That the application should be refused as not being in the public interest because the crossing would be dangerous and would almost at once require protection. Quere whether "railway," as used in s. 237, would include more than the full width of the right-of-way and not "property, real or personal and works connected therewith."
St. Thomas v. G.T.R. Co., 13 Can. Ry. Cas. 134, 22 O.W.R. 257.

TOLL ROAD ACQUIRED BY COUNTY — BY-LAW — TOLL ROADS EXPROPRIATION ACT — COUNTY ROAD — TRANSFER OF PORTION TO CITY — POWERS OF ONTARIO RAILWAY AND MUNICIPAL BOARD — ANNEXATION OF PART OF TOWNSHIP TO CITY — MUNICIPAL ACT, 1903, s. 34, SUBS. 2 (6 EDW. VII, c. 34, s. 1 (2)) — AGREEMENT BETWEEN COUNTY AND RAILWAY COMPANY — ESTOPPEL — CHANGE FROM PROVINCIAL TO FEDERAL JURISDICTION — PAYMENTS FOR RUNNING RIGHTS MADE TO CITY — RECOVERY BY COUNTY FROM COMPANY — MISTAKE OF LAW — COSTS.

Wentworth v. Hamilton Radial Electric R. Co. & Hamilton, 31 O.L.R. 659.

(§ II D-71)—RIGHT TO CROSS STREET.
 Where it appeared that a testator had for years used as a private road a strip of his lands and in his will reserved the same as a public road by words insufficient to amount to a dedication of such strip for such purpose, the reservation apparently being made for the purpose of widening a public road which was established many years after he had made his private road on a strip of land adjoining his by the owner thereof, and where an order of the Railway Board granted the application of a railway company for permission to cross the public road which was described in the plan accompanying the application somewhat inaccurately as the road between the testator's land and the adjoining land above mentioned which order was made after a contest which was confined to the terms upon which the railway company should be permitted to cross the public road, nothing being said about the private road and no question being raised as to whether it was or was not part of the public road, such order did not give the railway company any permission to cross the private road.
 Can. Dig.—71.

C.N.R. Co. v. Billings, 5 D.L.R. 455, 3 O.W.N. 1504, 22 O.W.R. 659.

(§ II D-72)—RIGHT TO USE OR OCCUPY STREET GENERALLY.

A roadway running alongside a railway track used by vehicles and pedestrians is a highway within the meaning of the Railway Act.

G.T.R. Co. v. McSweeney, 2 D.L.R. 874.

(§ II D-81)—SUBWAY.

Upon an application by a town corporation for an order requiring a railway company to provide a suitable crossing where the railway crossed a street:—Held, that a right-angle subway was suitable and it was all that the Board should be required to contribute to; but, if the town corporation desired a straight subway, and was willing to pay the extra cost it should be so ordered, upon proper terms.

Re North Battleford and C.N.R. Co., 23 W.L.R. 584.

E. RIGHTS AS TO TREFS OR MATERIALS IN STREET.

(§ II E-95)—RIGHT AS TO MATERIALS IN — UNOPENED ROAD ALLOWANCE — REMOVAL OF EARTH — NECESSITY OF BY-LAW AUTHORIZING — RIGHTS OF ABUTTING OWNER.

The removal of earth by an individual for his own use from an unopened road allowance can be authorized by a county council only by by-law, notwithstanding a portion of the earth was used in improving a near-by road. [Pratt v. Stratford, 14 O.R. 260, 16 A.R. 5, distinguished.] For a person to remove earth from an unopened road allowance without the authority of a municipal by-law is an actionable wrong where injurious to an adjoining owner as an interference with his means of access to or the drainage of his land.

Taylor v. Gage, 16 D.L.R. 686, 30 O.L.R. 75.

IRRIGATION WORKS—NUISANCE—OBSTRUCTION OF HIGHWAYS—DUTY TO BUILD AND MAINTAIN BRIDGES.

Alberta R. & Irrigation Co. v. The King, 44 Can. S.C.R. 505.

USE OF STREETS—PERMISSION FOR SPORTS.

Waterville v. Dudevoir, 20 Que. K.B. 306, affirming 37 Que. S.C. 381.

ENCLOSURE OF PART OF ROAD—TAKING DOWN FENCES—ABATEMENT OF NUISANCE.

Waddell v. Richardson, 19 W.L.R. 531.

OBSTRUCTION—INJURY TO AUTOMOBILE—NEGLIGENCE—LIABILITY OF MUNICIPAL CORPORATION.

Tait v. New Westminster, 18 W.L.R. 470.

III. Improvements; diversion; changing grade.

As to protection of railway crossings, see Railways, III—45.

Precautions as to icy sidewalks, see Negligence, I D—70.

(§ III—100) — BOUNDARY ROAD BETWEEN TOWNSHIPS — DEVIATION — LIABILITY FOR MAINTENANCE.

Euphrasia v. St. Vincent, 30 D.L.R. 506, 36 O.L.R. 233. [Affirmed by Supreme Court of Canada; see 12 O.W.N. 367.]

HIGHWAY IMPROVEMENT ACT—POWERS OF COUNTY.

A county for the purposes of the Highway Improvement Act (R.S.O. 1914, c. 40, ss. 4 (1), 5 (1), 12 (2) and 22) in order to make a continuous good road, may assume a part of a road within a village corporation.

Merritton v. Lincoln, 39 D.L.R. 328, 41 O.L.R. 6, reversing 12 O.W.N. 379.

LOCAL AND COUNTY ROAD—VALIDITY OF PROCEEDINGS.

A road, whose side is entirely situated within one municipality, is a local road, even if one of its sides runs along a neighbouring municipality. The act of a county council which, by its minutes of proceedings, charged a local municipality with the costs of opening and maintaining a road which benefited only one taxpayer, constitutes an injustice and oppression sufficient to found an action to annul the minutes.

Nicolet v. Villers, 27 Que. K.B. 289.

CONSTRUCTION OF HIGHWAY ACROSS RAILWAY—MUNICIPAL LIABILITY AS TO COSTS.

The opening of a highway across the lands taken for right-of-way of a railway company is a new public right over it, and the cost of its construction and maintenance should be borne by the applicant municipality.

Mount Laurier v. C.P.R. Co., 18 Can. Ry. Cas. 387.

CARRYING SUBWAY UNDER RAILWAY—LIABILITY OF MUNICIPALITY AS TO COSTS.

The well-defined policy of the Railway Board in cases where there is no evidence of any dedication of a way of communication to the public by a railway company across its tracks, is that the entire expense of grade separation necessary to carry the subway under the existing tracks of a railway company should be borne by the applicant municipality. [Western v. G.T. and C.P.R. Cos. (Denison Avenue Crossing Case), 7 Can. Ry. Cas. 79; St. Pierre v. G.T.R. Co. (Simplex Avenue Crossing Case), 13 Can. Ry. Cas. 1; Montreal v. C.P.R. Co., 18 Can. Ry. Cas. 50, followed.] Lachine v. G.T.R. Co., 18 Can. Ry. Cas. 385.

CONSTRUCTION OF SUBWAY UNDER RAILWAY—SENIOR AND JUNIOR RULE—APPORTIONMENT OF COST.

A street having been opened across the right-of-way of the respondent, the applicant was given permission by the Railway Board to construct and maintain a subway under the railway at its own expense and the respondent, under the senior and junior rule, was not ordered to contribute to the expense, but if the applicant agrees to close a neighbouring street, notwithstanding this rule and that the equities as well as the title are in the respondent's favour, the cost of the subway will be apportioned equally between the applicant and respondent.

Winnipeg v. C.P.R. Co., 18 Can. Ry. Cas. 381.

CONSTRUCTION OF SUBWAY BENEATH RAILWAY—POWER OF MUNICIPALITY.

The city of Regina has, by virtue of R.S.S., c. 84, s. 184, power to construct a subway beneath a railway track. [Forster v. Medicine Hat, 3 W.W.R. 618, dissenting from.] (Semble.) A by-law authorizing the construction of the subway is unnecessary.

Armour v. City of Regina, 8 S.L.R. 368, 9 W.W.R. 928.

ENLARGEMENT—INTEREST OF OWNERS.

An Act which orders a municipal corporation to enlarge certain streets and to acquire for this purpose "the necessary land for the price of $13,000 so as to include the options given by the interested owner," does not create any privity between the municipality and those who have the option. If under the Act the incorporation is to enlarge the streets within a definite time, and this is found to be impossible on account of the refusal of the owners to sell the lands required, the municipality is relieved from its obligation and cannot be compelled to have the streets enlarged. Nevertheless it is lawful for it to proceed with the enlargement if it deems it expedient.

Prevost v. Montreal, 52 Que. S.C. 349.

SIDEWALKS—ABUTTING OWNERS—INVALID BY-LAW.

A by-law requiring an owner to construct a cement sidewalk, across land unoccupied, marshy and under cultivation over a surface of 56 arpents across which the public road passes, indicating a capricious course at a very high cost and without benefit to the owner, does not conform to the principle that the expenses of construction and maintenance of watercourses, bridges and municipal roads should be borne by those who benefit by them, or be paid by the municipality itself. Consequently this by-law should be adjudged as unjust and oppressive to the owner and should be quashed. A delay of 15 days given to the owner to construct the sidewalk, with the declaration that if he does not do so within this delay the municipality will do it at his expense, is insufficient and therefore illegal.

Sisters of Charity of General Hospital of Montreal v. Chateauguay, 52 Que. S.C. 8.

COUNTY AND LOCAL ROADS.

Although a county council has the right, under art. 758, Mun. Code, to order that a county road, under the exclusive direction of the county council, shall in the future be a local road under the direction of the local corporation in which it is situated or which separates it from another municipality, it cannot put the maintenance of the road upon the local municipality. When a county council imposes upon a certain number of ratepayers the expenses of a by-law that is passed at their request, a local corporation has no interest to complain.

St. Jerome v. Terrebonne, 51 Que. S.C. 468.

IMPROVEMENTS — REPAIRS — FIXING AND CHANGING GRADE.

The fact that a special superintendent testified in the office of the counsel to an information which he had to make, two days after the expiration of the delay fixed for so doing, will not render the proceedings an absolute nullity if it does not result in any substantial injustice. The costs of opening and maintaining a road, which does not lead from one range to another, or which does not lead exclusively to a ferry or to a toll bridge, must fall on the corporation.

Frechette v. St. Maurice, 18 Rev. de Jur. 49.

(§ III—103) — IMPROVEMENTS — CONTRACT FOR EXEMPTION WITH DONOR OF LAND — "COST OF OPENING."

Under a grant by the landowner to the municipality of land for a public street, made upon condition that no special assessment should be levied upon the remainder of his land to defray the "cost of the opening" of the street and further providing that such condition should not be construed as exempting the lands from special assessments for drains and macadamizing such street, the words "cost of the opening" must be held to include all the work of whatever kind necessary to render the contemplated street fit to be used by the public for the traffic usual in that community and the grantor is exempt from assessments for grading, filling in, rock cuttings and levelling undertaken by the municipality in respect thereof. [As to irregular proceedings in compulsory openings of highways and streets, see Seguin v. Hawkesbury, 9 D.L.R. 487.]

Outremont v. Joyce, 9 D.L.R. 499, 107 L.T. 569, affirming 20 Que. K.B. 385.

(§ III—104) — CHANGING GRADE OF STREET — SUBWAY — DAMAGES TO LANDOWNER.

The fact that an order-in-council authorizing the construction of a subway at a railway crossing had directed that "all land damages" should be paid by the municipality on whose behalf the application had been made, in pursuance of the Nova Scotia Railways Act, R.S.N.S. 1960, c. 99, ss. 178 and 179, does not confer a right of action in damages for the change of grade against the municipality upon a landowner whose land fronted upon the opposite side of the street from that on which the subway was built and where there was consequently left to the landowner his original mode of access on his side of the street, although of diminished width.

Burt v. Sydney, 15 D.L.R. 429, 47 N.S. R. 480. [Affirmed in 16 D.L.R. 853, 50 Can. S.C.R. 6.]

FIXING AND CHANGING GRADE OF STREET.

In a complaint lodged before the Quebec Public Utilities Commission it is sufficient to allege an interference with the public right of travel or an obstruction to free access to a building in order to give such commission jurisdiction to proceed to the merits of the complaint, and an exception for such jurisdiction on the ground that the municipal corporation has alone jurisdiction to deal with the road complained of will be dismissed. (R.S.Q. 741 et seq.)

Canadian Light & Power Co. v. Julien, 2 D.L.R. 496, 21 Que. K.B. 476.

MUNICIPALITY RAISING ROADWAY — DITCH — DANGER — GUARD.

Where a municipality, in order more easily to perform its duty to repair, raises the roadway or lowers a ditch across it so as to create a substantial danger, it is its duty to provide a guard (e.g. a "wing wall") on the culvert so as to prevent vehicles going off the road into the ditch.

Ackersviller v. Perth, 22 D.L.R. 666, 32 O.L.R. 423, 33 O.L.R. 598.

CHANGING GRADE OF STREET.

Bergeron v. Hull, 2 D.L.R. 923.

TOWN ACT — CHANGING GRADE — DRAINAGE — NEGLIGENCE.

No action will lie for doing that which the legislature has authorized, if it be done without negligence. The fact that by altering the grade of a street under authority of the Town Act (1915, Sask. Stats., c. 19) the natural drainage was diverted would not constitute negligence, but where the raising of the grade has the effect of, not only diverting the drainage, but of damming it up, the town is liable for negligence in not providing proper means for carrying off the accumulation. [Geddis v. Bann Reservoir, 3 App. Cas. 439, followed.]

 Eakins v. Shaunavon, 42 D.L.R. 473, [1918] 2 W.W.R. 1077, affirming 11 S.L.R. 310, [1918] 1 W.W.R. 566.

CHANGE OF LEVEL—INCREASED VALUE—COMPENSATION.

The owner of a house fronting upon a public street the level of which is changed by the City of Montreal, can recover from the city the depreciation in value sustained by his real property; but the damages may be compensated for by the increased value given to the property by the change of level.

Boisjoly v. Montreal, 53 Que. S.C. 122.

GRADE SEPARATION—PAVEMENTS AND SIDEWALKS—APPORTIONMENT OF COST.

In grade separation proceedings the cost of pavements and sidewalks on highways carried over the railway should be borne by the municipality unless a permanent pavement already laid is destroyed by the work ordered by the Railway Board; in that case the cost of the substituted pavement is added to the cost of such work. A municipality making highway improvements for the convenience of the public, with the incidental grade separation, should, in addition to its own portion of the cost of the works, bear the portion of such cost from which an electric railway operating on the highway was relieved by the judgment of an Appellate Court.

Vancouver v. V.V. & E.R. & N. Co., 18 Can. Ry. Cas. 296.

In the matter of the local road, no taxpayer of a local municipality can be held to work on a road situated in a neighbouring local municipality, unless such road is a county road, and the only county roads which may exist, under the Mun. Code, are those by nature, by virtue of art. 755, and those by will of the County Council, by virtue of arts. 758, 761, 762.

Brunet v. Beauharnois, 18 Rev. de Jur. 141.

(§ III—111)—ROAD WORK—FRONT ROAD.

A front road is one which is laid out across the lots of a range and which does not lead from one range to another. Art. 801, Mun. Code, which provides that if, by reason of special circumstances, the works to be done on a front road by a ratepayer are in excess of half of the usual amount of such works to be done by owners of lands of the same value, such ratepayer may be excused from performing a part of such works, confers discretionary power on municipal councils which they may refrain from exercising without contravening the law.

Cacouna v. Thibault, 25 Que. K.B. 213.

(§ III—113)—DIVERSION—MUNICIPAL BY-LAW.

Where a by-law for closing a street at the instance of a railway company in exchange for new streets to be opened by them contained no provision for compensation as is required by s. 629 of the Ontario Municipal Act, the court will quash the by-law at the instance of the person to be compensated for the closing of the street unless the municipality agrees to pay such damage as may be awarded and to proceed in due course to have the amount fixed.

Re Seguin and Hawkesbury, 9 D.L.R. 487, 4 O.W.N. 521, 23 O.W.R. 857, varying 6 D.L.R. 903.

BOUNDARY LINE BETWEEN TOWNSHIPS—ORIGINAL ROAD ALLOWANCE—DEVIATION—COST OF OPENING UP AND MAINTAINING ORIGINAL ALLOWANCE—ARBITRATION—ORDER OF ONTARIO RAILWAY AND MUNICIPAL BOARD.

Re Middleton and Dereham, 10 O.W.N. 11. DIVERTING—MUNICIPAL BY-LAW.

A municipal by-law, for the diversion and closing of certain highways and the transfer of the land to a railway company, provided that it should "come into force and effect" on the execution of a supplementary agreement between the municipal corporation and a railway company "duly ratified by council;" it also determined the classes of persons and property entitled to compensation in consequence of being injuriously affected by the diversion and closing of the streets. The stat. 3 & 4, Edw. VII, c. 64, s. 708, subs. e (1), conferring these powers, gave persons dissatisfied with the determination the right to appeal to a judge "within 10 days after the passage of the by-law." Another by-law was subsequently enacted by which the first by-law was "ratified and confirmed and declared to be now in force." The defendants, who had been excluded from the class of persons to receive compensation, appealed to a judge, under the section of the statute above referred to, within 10 days after the enactment of the second by-law:—Held, that the words "within ten days after the passage of the by-law" in the statute had reference to the date when the by-law affecting the streets and determining the classes entitled to compensation became effective; that the first by-law did not come into force and effect in such a manner as injuriously to affect the defendants until it was ratified and confirmed by the subsequent by-law; and, consequently, the defendants' appeal came within the time limited by the statute.

Winnipeg v. Brock, 20 W.L.R. 243, affirming 20 Man. L.R. 699, 18 W.L.R. 28.

(§ III—114)—SPECIAL SURVEY ACT (MAN.)—DEFINING BOUNDARIES OF STREETS.

A plan made pursuant to the Special Survey Act, R.S.M. 1902, c. 158, authorizing a survey by a municipality "for the purpose of correcting any error or supposed error in respect to any existing survey or plan, or of showing the divisions of lands" is not an act of expropriation, but is simply intended as evidence of the position or location of the boundary lines which have been obliterated, and when the plan is ratified by the Attorney-General, incorporated in and promulgated by the order of the Lieutenant-Governor-in-council, it is a substitute for the evidence which has been lost and for the landmarks which have been obliterated, and is conclusive on the owners of the lands in question.

Peterson v. Bitulithic & Contracting Co. (No. 2), 12 D.L.R. 444, 23 Man. L.R. 136, 24 W.L.R. 19, 4 W.V.R. 223, reversing 7 D.L.R. 586.

COMMUTATION WORK—TIME FOR PERFORMANCE—NOTICE.

Halifax v. Fredericks, 44 N.S.R. 418.

POWER TO ENTER LANDS AND TAKE MATERIAL FOR REPAIR OF HIGHWAY—ARBITRATION.

Cook v. North Vancouver, 16 B.C.R. 129, 18 W.L.R. 349.

EXPENDITURE ON ROADS IN TERRITORY SOON TO BE ANNEXED BY ADJOINING MUNICIPALITY.

Re Angus and Widdfield, 24 O.L.R. 318, 19 O.W.R. 769.

BY-LAW FOR WIDENING STREET—DESTRUCTION OF SIDEWALKS—STATUTORY OBLIGATION.

Todd v. Victoria, 15 W.L.R. 502.

MANDAMUS TO COMPEL A MUNICIPALITY TO REPAIR A STREET.

Farly v. Montreal, 39 Que. S.C. 13.

MAINTENANCE OF ROADS—APPEAL TO COUNTY COUNCIL—IRREGULARITY.

Grouldines v. Portneuf, 40 Que. S.C. 289.

ROADWORK—ORDER OF INSPECTOR—TELEPHONE.

Bégin v. Crawford, 39 Que. S.C. 539.

MEANING OF "OPENING" A STREET AND OF "MACADAMIZING" A STREET.

Outremont v. Joyce, 20 Que. K.B. 385.

IV. Defects; liability for injuries to travelers.

A. LIABILITY OF MUNICIPALITY.

Duty to keep free from nuisances, defective electric light system, see Municipal Corporations, II G—195.

(§ IV A—115) — UNGRADED ROAD — UNKNOWN BODY OF WATER—DRIVING INTO —INJURY—NEGLIGENCE.

Where the effect of a statutory amendment is to cast upon a municipality the necessity of immediately constructing roads throughout the whole municipality, it is entitled to a reasonable time to construct the roads before it will be held liable for nonfeasance. A person who drives into an unknown body of water 100 feet wide and across which there is no indication of any one having traveled, in the centre of an ungraded road allowance, unless he has first ascertained the depth of the water and the character of the bottom of the slough, does not exercise that degree of care and prudence which he should exercise and cannot recover damages for injuries sustained in consequence.

Ogloff v. Sliding Hills, 44 D.L.R. 108, 12 S.L.R. 73, [1919] 1 W.W.R. 126.

RIGHTS OF TRAVELER TO WHOLE WIDTH—UNIMPROVED PORTION — ARTIFICIAL OBSTRUCTION—INJURY—LIABILITY OF CORPORATION.

In the case of an ordinary highway, although it may be of varying and unequal width running between fences, unless there is evidence to the contrary a traveler is entitled to use the whole space between the fences and is not confined to the part which is kept in repair for the more convenient use of carriages or foot passengers. A horseman on the unimproved part of the highway, although he cannot recover damages if his horse stumbles against a boulder, or steps into a depression in the ground in its natural state, is entitled to damages if he is injured by his horse coming suddenly in contact with an artificial obstruction of an unusual nature, and one which is practically invisible at the time of day when the accident occurs.

Salt v. Cardston, 46 D.L.R. 179, [1919] 1 W.W.R. 891; see also 49 D.L.R. 229, reversing above case but on another point.

REPAIR—NEGLECT—ONTARIO MUNICIPAL ACT.

In an action for damages for injuries caused by the alleged negligence of a municipality to keep a highway in repair the onus is upon the plaintiff to prove that the road in question was not in a proper state of repair; and when the weight of evidence is such as to shew that the road was in a reasonable state of repair, and that those requiring to use it might do so with safety upon using ordinary care, the plaintiff has not proved "want of repair" to be the cause of the accident. [Foley v. East Flamborough, 29 O.R. 139, applied.]

Raymond v. Bosanquet, 50 D.L.R. 560, affirming 47 D.L.R. 551, which reversed 43 O.L.R. 434.

ACCIDENT—SOLE EFFECTIVE CAUSE—WHISKEY AND GASOLINE DON'T MIX—CORPORATION NOT RESPONSIBLE—CONTRIBUTORY NEGLIGENCE—R.S.Q. ART. 1427—36 GEO. III., c. 9, ARTS. 768, 771 AND 788, NOW 468, 470 AND 478, OLD MUNICIPAL CODE.

That the driver of the automobile was the sole effective cause of the fatal accident and consequently respondent has no legal claim against appellant, there being no contributory negligence. The width of roads means the width of right-of-way and not the traveled track.

Corp. of the Tp. of Shipton v. Smith, 25 Rev. de Jur. 476, reversing 25 Rev. Leg. 364.

IV A—120) — NONREPAIR—SNOW AND ICE ON SIDEWALK—INJURY TO PEDESTRIAN—GROSS NEGLIGENCE—MUNICIPAL ACT (ONT.).

Ashton v. New Liskeard, 47 D.L.R. 723, 45 O.L.R. 113.

DEFECTIVE BRIDGE — TRACTION ENGINE — ROUTE.

Loss sustained by the owner of a traction engine through traveling by another route, rather than cross a bridge not considered strong enough to carry his engine, and which the township has refused to strengthen, are not "damages" by "default," of the defendant township within the Municipal Act, R.S.O. 1914, c. 192, s. 460, and otherwise the damages were too remote.

Dick v. Vaughan, 34 D.L.R. 577, 39 O.L.R. 187.

DEFECTIVE BRIDGE — CONTRIBUTORY NEGLIGENCE.

The obligations of the municipality, under s. 158 of the Calgary (Alta.) Charter, which vests every public highway in the city, to keep every bridge or public highway "belonging to the city" in good repair, extends to a bridge forming part of a highway, notwithstanding the statutory obligation of a railway company under the Irrigation Act (R.S.C. 1906, c. 61, s. 25) for its safe maintenance, and a failure of the municipality to equip such bridge with proper railings will render it liable for injuries sustained by a vehicular traveler in consequence thereof. The absence of the railings being the real cause of the accident, the question of contributory negligence becomes immaterial.

Lusk v. Calgary; Wheatley v. Calgary, 28 D.L.R. 392, 10 A.L.R. 91, 33 W.L.R. 935, 10 W.W.R. 37, affirming 22 D.L.R. 50.

LIABILITY OF COUNTY FOR DEFECTIVE HIGHWAY—ROAD TAKEN OVER.

Where, under the Highway Improvement Act, 7 Edw. VII. (Ont.) c. 16, as amended by 2 Geo. V. (Ont.) c. 11, a county council has assumed highways in any municipality in the county in order to form or extend a system of county highways therein, the county is liable for the maintenance and repair of those roads, and for damages sustained by reason of the nonrepair of any of them.

Armstrong Cartage Co. v. Peel, 10 D.L.R. 169, 49 C.L.J. 336, 4 O.W.N. 1031, 24 O.W.R. 372.

WHAT IS PUBLIC HIGHWAY—DUTY TO KEEP IN SAFE CONDITION.

In order that a street may be considered public, so as to render a municipality liable for injuries resulting from a failure to keep it in a safe condition, it is not necessary that it should be indicated on the plan or the registry of the city; it is sufficient that it is free for public passage and that the public use it therefor.

Montreal v. Gamache, 25 D.L.R. 303, 24 Que. K.B. 312.

PRIVATE ROAD—DUTY AS TO REPAIRS.

A highway laid out by private persons, which had not been assumed by the municipality, does not impose a duty on the latter to keep it in repair, as to render it liable for injuries sustained in consequence of a ditch constructed thereon by private persons.

Jones v. Swift Current, 23 D.L.R. 11, 8 S.L.R. 310, 31 W.L.R. 899, 8 W.W.R. 1100.

DUTY TO REPAIR—ACCOMMODATION OF TRAFFIC.

The statutory duty of a municipality to keep its highways in repair may be limited by its financial ability in view of the limitation placed by statute upon its borrowing powers; the duty of the municipality is to keep the roads under its control in a reasonably sufficient state for traffic requirements.

Ackersviller v. Perth, 22 D.L.R. 666, 32 O.L.R. 423, 33 O.L.R. 598.

FAILURE TO REPAIR—INJURIES TO TRAVELER.

Where a statute vested in a municipality the public roads within its boundaries and empowered the municipality to repair, but did not purport to impose a duty to repair nor to create a liability on failure to repair, the municipality is not liable in damages for injuries sustained by a person driving on the road through its lack of repair, where the nonrepair was due to nonfeasance only as distinguished from misfeasance. [Macpherson v. Bathurst, 4 A.C. 257; Cowley v. Newmarket, [1892] A.C. 345; Geldert v. Pieter, [1893] A.C. 324; Sydney v. Bourke, [1895] A.C. 433, 64 L.J. P.C. 140; Vancouver v. McPhalen, 45 Can. S.C.R. 194, distinguished.]

Von Mackensen v. Surrey, 22 D.L.R. 253, 21 B.C.R. 198, 8 W.W.R. 541.

WANT OF REPAIRS—INJURY TO TRAVELER.

Section 532 of the Halifax City Charter does not impose an absolute liability upon the city to keep the streets in good order and repair as under s. 522, the committee on works is to exercise a discretion as to the expenditure of the money at its disposal for the purpose of street repairs; and mere nonrepair, as distinguished from an act of misfeasance, does not give rise to an action on the part of the person injured in consequence thereof. [Vancouver v. McPhalen, 45 Can. S.C.R. 194, distinguished.]

Coleman v. Halifax, 22 D.L.R. 781, 48 N.S.R. 442.

NONREPAIR—INJURY TO TRAVELER—NOTICE TO CITY CORPORATION—CONTRIBUTORY NEGLIGENCE—FINDINGS OF FACT OF TRIAL JUDGE—EVIDENCE—CONFLICT BETWEEN WITNESSES—WEIGHT OF NEGATIVE STATEMENTS—DAMAGES.

Bradish v. London, 9 O.W.N. 296.

NONREPAIR—INJURY TO PERSON IN MOTOR VEHICLE—NEGLIGENCE—SPEED—CARELESSNESS—KNOWLEDGE—DRIVER UNDER AGE—MOTOR VEHICLES ACT.

In an action by a husband and wife to recover damages from a township corporation for injuries caused to the wife, by reason of a motor vehicle in which she was being driven along a road in the township dropping into a hole at the edge of a bridge forming part of the roadway, it appeared that the vehicle was owned by the husband, and was, at the time of the occurrence, being driven by the plaintiff's son, a boy under 16 years of age, and that the speed of the vehicle, as it descended a hill and passed off the bridge, was between 15 and 20 miles an hour. The son had driven the vehicle over the same place two days before, and he and the plaintiffs then felt a bump as they passed from the road to the bridge. Held, that the son's duty, having regard to the knowledge which he had of the condition of the road at the bridge, was to have driven with caution off the bridge; his carelessness was the cause of the injury to his mother; and, although the road was not in good repair for motor vehicle traffic, at the speed the plaintiffs were traveling, there was no negligence on the part of the defendants, and the plaintiffs were not entitled to recover damages. Held, also, that the plaintiffs were identified with their driver; his negligence was theirs; the father knew that his son, owing to his youth, was prohibited by the Motor Vehicles Act, R.S.O. 1914, c. 207, s. 13, as amended by 7 Geo. V., c. 49, s. 10, from driving a motor vehicle; and yet it was by the father's authority, and with the concurrence and sanction of his coplaintiff, that the boy was driving. The use of the highway which the son was making, at the instance of the plaintiffs, was unlawful—they were unlawfully upon the defendants' highway. [Review of the authorities.] A rural municipality is not bound to maintain its roads in such repair that they shall be safe for motor vehicles driven at the speed at which the plaintiffs were proceeding. [Dietum of Meredith, C.J.O., in Davis v. Usborne, 28 D.L.R. 397, 36 O.L.R. 148, 151, explained.]

Roe v. Wellesley, 43 O.L.R. 214.

NONREPAIR — OPENING IN ROADWAY — ABSENCE OF GUARD — INJURY TO BICYCLIST — DEFECTIVE EYESIGHT — NEGLIGENCE OF MUNICIPAL CORPORATION — NEGLIGENCE OF BICYCLIST — FINDINGS OF TRIAL JUDGE — APPEAL.

Westcott v. Woodstock, 14 O.W.N. 291, affirming 13 O.W.N. 480.

PARTIES — MUNICIPALITY — PROVINCE — PETITION OF RIGHT.

A corporation, sued in damages for an accident which happened in a road formerly under its control, but which, at the time of the accident, was under the control and direction of the government of the province, cannot call the Crown in warranty; the proper way to plead a claim against the government is by petition of right.

Turcotte v. St. Joseph, 20 Que. P.R. 250.

NONREPAIR — JUDGMENT AGAINST COUNTY CORPORATION — RIGHT OF COUNTY TO CHARGE DAMAGES AGAINST TOWNSHIP CORPORATION.

Toronto v. Peel, 5 O.W.N. 632.

NONREPAIR — INJURY TO MOTOR VEHICLE AND PERSON OF OWNER — LIABILITY OF TOWNSHIP CORPORATION — NEGLIGENCE — CONTRIBUTORY NEGLIGENCE — FINDINGS OF TRIAL JUDGE — WORK UPON ROAD DONE BY PROVINCIAL DEPARTMENT OF PUBLIC WORKS — CONSTRUCTION OF CULVERT — ROAD NOT PROPERTY OF PROVINCE BUT OF MUNICIPALITY — MUNICIPAL ACT, S. 460 (7).

Kankkunen v. Korah, 17 O.W.N. 273.

NONREPAIR — DEATH OF PERSON WALKING ON HIGHWAY — DANGEROUS CONDITION CONTINUED FOR LONG PERIOD — NEGLIGENCE — CAUSE OF DEATH — INFERENCE FROM FACTS FOUND BY TRIAL JUDGE — APPEAL.
Bowles v. Toronto, 16 O.W.N. 233.

NONREPAIR — INJURY TO TRAVELER — NOTICE TO CITY CORPORATION — CONTRIBUTORY NEGLIGENCE.

Bradish v. London, 9 O.W.N. 296, 10 O.W.N. 161.

WINTER ROADS IN QUEBEC.

Notwithstanding the provisions of art. 849, Mun. Code (Que.) when an accident results from the fact that a winter road over a river is laid out at a place where the ice is too thin, there is negligence on the part of the municipal corporation (or its officials) which makes it liable in damages therefor.

Morency v. L'Ange-Gardien, 43 Que. S.C. 537.

MUNICIPAL ROADS — EXTENSION OF THE RESPONSIBILITY OF MUNICIPAL CORPORATIONS IN REGARD TO ACCIDENTS — C.M. 778, 771, 788 — REDUCTION OF AMOUNT OF DAMAGES BECAUSE OCCUPANTS OF THE AUTOMOBILE WERE INTOXICATED.

It is the duty of municipal corporations to see to the maintenance, in good order, of municipal roads under its control and when accidents occur from the defective condition of such roads the municipal corporation is responsible.

Smith v. The Tp. of Shifton, 25 Rev. de Jur. 194.

INJURY FROM IMPROVEMENTS.

Where a municipal corporation has made improvements on its streets and bridges, an individual who has sustained no special injury has not, on this account, recourse by an action for damages against the corporation; but, if he has sustained special injury which, so far as he is concerned, constitutes a permanent servitude which the other ratepayers of the municipality do not suffer, he is entitled to compensation.

Houle v. St. Louis de Gonzague, 49 Que. S.C. 136, 25 Que. K.B. 256.

A municipal corporation cannot free itself from liability for an accident caused by the bad state of one of its streets, by the fact that in virtue of a contract sanctioned by a by-law the obligation to repair the roading of the street is imposed upon a tramway company. It cannot by a private agreement discharge itself from an obligation which falls upon it by virtue of the Act.

Begin v. Richard; Richard v. The City of Quebec, 55 Que. S.C. 114.

NON-COMPLIANCE WITH TRACTION ENGINES ACT.

The driver of a traction engine weighing less than eight tons was not disentitled by reason of his failure to lay down planks before crossing the bridge with the engine (R. S.O. 1914, c. 212, s. 5, subs. 4), to recover damages for injury, as the object of that section was not to strengthen the bridge, but to protect its flooring, and if such protection were not afforded, and the flooring were damaged, the owner would be liable. The question had been settled to the contrary by the Godison Thresher Co. v. McNab case (19 O.L.R. 188, 44 Can. S.C.R. 187), which the court was bound to follow, but that the injured person in this action, being merely a passenger, though actually driving the engine at the time of the accident, was not identified with the owner of the engine, and was not disqualified from recovering damages.

Linstead v. Whitechurch, 30 D.L.R. 431, 36 O.L.R. 462, affirming 27 D.L.R. 770, 35 O.L.R. 1.

LATERAL SUPPORT—WITHDRAWAL BY OPERATIONS IN HIGHWAY—SUSPENDENCE.

Boyd v. Toronto, 23 O.L.R. 421, 18 O.W.R. 897.

(§ IV A—127)—SEWER—LEGISLATIVE SANCTION—NEGLIGENCE—CONSEQUENTIAL INJURIES.

Where the legislature has authorized or sanctioned the construction of a sewer under a roadway, and the sewer has been constructed without negligence, and every precaution has been observed to prevent injury arising therefrom, the sanction of the legislature carries with it this consequence, that if damage results which is the natural consequence of constructing such sewer independently of negligence, the city is not liable. [Vancouver v. Cummings, 2 D.L.R. 253; Jamieson v. Edmonton, 36 D.L.R. 465, followed.]

Douglas v. Regina, 42 D.L.R. 464, 11 S.L.R. 255, [1918] 2 W.W.R. 1000.

(§ IV A—132)—OBJECT FRIGHTENING HORSES—INDEPENDENT CONTRACTOR.

The negligence of a contractor for the repair of a highway, in leaving a scraper upon the roadway, and thereby causing a horse to run away, is not ascribable to the municipality for which the contractor is doing the repairs, even though the scraper belongs to the municipality, and is loaned to the contractor.

Lottine v. Langford, 37 D.L.R. 566, 28 Man. L.R. 282, [1917] 3 W.W.R. 778, affirming [1917] 3 W.W.R. 307.

WORK NECESSARILY DANGEROUS—INDEPENDENT CONTRACTOR WITH MUNICIPALITY.

An employer cannot divest himself of liability for negligence by reason of having employed an independent contractor, where the work to be done is, from its nature, likely to cause danger to others, unless precautions are taken to prevent such danger; so that a municipal corporation employing an independent contractor to lay cement sidewalks, where it is within the knowledge of the corporation that the contractor will have to use a mechanical mixer on the highway, will be liable for accidents to third parties arising from its use if no proper precautions have been taken to prevent accidents.

McIntosh v. Simeoe and Sunnidale, 15 D.L.R. 731, 5 O.W.N. 793.

(§ IV A—135)—MOTOR TRUCK WIDER THAN ALLOWED BY ACT—BREAKING THROUGH BRIDGE—NOT LAWFULLY ON HIGHWAY—MUNICIPALITY NOT LIABLE FOR INJURY TO MACHINE—OWNER LIABLE FOR DAMAGE TO BRIDGE.

The Load of Vehicles Act, 6 Geo. V., c. 49, s. 6 (Ont.) provides that "no vehicle shall have a greater width than 90 inches." A motor truck 96 inches wide, has, under this Act, no right to be upon the highway, and in respect thereof is a mere trespasser. The owner cannot recover damages for injuries to such truck caused by its breaking through a bridge on the highway, although the extra width may not have had anything to do with causing the accident. The owner is, however, liable to the municipality for the damage done by the truck, prohibited as it is from using the road.

Sercombe v. Tp. of Vaughan, 46 D.L.R. 131, 45 O.L.R. 142.

NONREPAIR—INJURY TO FOOT-PASSER BY SLIPPING ON SIDEWALK—DEPRESSION IN SIDEWALK—ACCUMULATION OF WATER—FROZEN SURFACE—MUNICIPAL ACT, S. 460(3)—"GROSS NEGLIGENCE"—LIABILITY OF TOWN CORPORATION—DAMAGES—PROSPECTIVE PROFITS.

Bingham v. Trenton, 17 O.W.N. 277.

(§ IV A—136)—DUTY TOWARD CHILDREN—STREET RAILWAY.

A tramways company or a municipal corporation using public streets are held to a strict responsibility in regard to children using these streets and should take the greatest precautions not to expose them to danger.

Montreal v. Turgeon, 26 Que. K.B. 496.

(§ IV A—142)—STATUTORY DUTY OF MUNICIPALITY TO REPAIR—MOTOR VEHICLES—DEATH OF TRAVELER BY REASON OF NONREPAIR.

In an action against a municipality under the Fatal Accidents Act for damages sustained because of the death of the plaintiff's husband, owing to alleged want of repair of a highway, the main witness for the plaintiff, when recalled at the close of the case, was asked by the presiding judge a number of questions, and a judgment in the plaintiff's favour was based to some extent upon the answers to them. Some of the questions were, it was contended, leading and suggestive:—Held, that, even if they were, the judge was within his rights in putting them to the witness for the purpose of clearing up any point his former testimony had left doubtful, and indeed as to any relevant matter as to which information not brought out by counsel was desired; though, in considering the weight to be given to the testimony, the form of the questions was an element to be taken into account. The statutory duty to keep highways in repair is a duty which is owed to persons using motor cars, as well as to those using vehicles drawn by horses or other animals. [Judgment of Lennox, J., affirmed.]

Connor v. Brant, 31 O.L.R. 275.

SUITABILITY FOR AUTOMOBILE TRAFFIC—ACCIDENT.

The laws of the Province of Quebec do not impose upon municipal corporations the duty of constructing highways in a manner other than to provide for the uses thereof which were customary at the time of the passing of those laws. If municipal highways have been constructed and maintained in conformity with these laws, the corporation cannot be held to have been at fault on account of having failed to construct them in a manner suitable to the use of automobiles, and of having failed to provide for the dangers inherent to this new mode of locomotion. A municipal corporation is not liable in damages for injury caused in an automobile accident occasioned on one of its highways, theretofore in perfect condition, by reason of the fact that there was a turn at right angles in the road on the top of a hill.

Deguisse v. Notre-Dame des Laurentides, 50 Que. S.C. 31.

Municipal corporations are not responsible for the natural dangers resulting from the fact that their streets run alongside precipices or adjoin them. They are not obliged to protect such streets with walls which are solid and capable of withstanding the shock from an automobile driven or carried outside of its highway, nor to provide more than the erection of barriers or ordinary palisades for the protection of persons traveling in dangerous places.

Fafard v. Quebec, 50 Que. S.C. 226. [Affirmed in 26 Que. K.B. 139.]

(§ IV A—145)—OBSTRUCTION IN STREET—LONG CONTINUANCE OF AS GROUND OF EXEMPTION FROM LIABILITY.

Long continuance of an obstruction in a street will not relieve a municipal corporation from liability for an injury sustained by a person falling over such obstruction. Knowledge on the part of a person injured by falling over an obstruction in a street of the existence thereof is not a defence per se to an action against a municipal corporation for the injuries sustained.

Rouch v. Port Colborne, 13 D.L.R. 646, 29 O.L.R. 69.

REMOVAL OF SNOW AND ICE—NUISANCE—DAMAGES.

Where a statutory power has been conferred on a street railway company for the removal of snow from its tracks "so as to afford a safe and unobstructed passageway for carriages and vehicles" the company is liable in damages, if in the exercise of such power it renders the highway unsafe for traffic, thereby causing injury to a pedestrian.

Elliott v. Winnipeg Electric R. Co., 42 D.L.R. 106, 23 Can. Ry. Cas. 194, 56 Can. S.C.R. 560, [1918] 2 W.W.R. 820, reversing 38 D.L.R. 201, 28 Man. L.R. 363.

NUISANCE—SNOW AND ICE—REMOVAL.

The efficient removal of snow and ice from a highway, in accordance with statutory powers given, by a municipality, does not create a nuisance for which damages can be recovered. [Elliott v. Winnipeg Electric R. Co., 38 D.L.R. 201 (reversed in 42 D.L.R. 106, 56 Can. S.C.R. 560), followed.]

Clark v. Winnipeg and Winnipeg Electric R. Co., 40 D.L.R. 533, 28 Man. L.R. 609, [1918] 2 W.W.R. 457.

TELEPHONE WIRES—OBSTRUCTION—NUISANCE—DAMAGES.

Rural telephone wires so placed that a person driving on to the highway with a load of hay has to stoop when passing under them, constitute an obstruction in the highway and amount to a nuisance; where the position of the wires is the proximate cause of an accident the owner or trustee of the system is liable for damages under the Fatal Accidents Act; the fact that the line was erected and continued under statutory authority is no bar to the action.

Magill v. Moore, 41 D.L.R. 78, 41 O.L.R. 375, reversed in 44 D.L.R. 489, 43 O.L.R. 372.

NUISANCE—TELEPHONE POLES—REMOVAL—LICENSE—RIGHT OF SECOND COMPANY.

A private corporation should be careful in interfering with the property of others upon a highway to which it has obtained a limited right of user; where it seeks to justify the removal of such property on the ground that it was a nuisance, it must shew that it could not have constructed its works without so interfering therewith. [Bagshaw v. Buxton Local Board, 1 Ch. D. 220; Reynolds v. Presteign Urban District Council, 65 L.J.Q.B. 400, applied.] A telephone company which acquires from another company the latter's poles and wires, which have been on a highway for years without objection from the municipal council, is entitled to assume that such equipment is on the highway with the council's approval. Where a licensee of a highway, e.g., a telephone company, has placed its equipment thereon, a second licensee of the same highway is not entitled to interfere with it or do any act to the injury thereof. [Bell Telephone Co. v. Belleville Electric Light Co., 12 O.R. 571, followed.]

Okanagan Tel. Co. v. Summerland Telephone Co., 25 B.C.R. 221, [1918] 1 W.W.R. 656.

REMOVAL—DAMAGES—CONCLUSIONS THAT A ROAD BE DECLARED PUBLIC—PARTIAL NONSUIT—C.P., ARTS. 49, 1130.

There is no ground for removing from the Circuit Court to the Superior Court an action to recover damages amounting to $10 based on the fact that the defendant obstructed a public highway, as long as the action does not put in question real rights or others susceptible to justify removal.

Beaudoin v. Durocher, 55 Que. S.C. 220.

(§ IV A—146)—OBSTRUCTION — CONCURRING CAUSES—NEGLIGENCE.

The rule in regard to negligence where a person is injured by coming in contact with an obstruction on a highway is that two things must concur to support the action, an obstruction in the road by the fault of the defendant, and no want of ordinary care to avoid it on the part of the plaintiff.

Freedman v. Winnipeg, 43 D.L.R. 126, 29 Man. L.R. 134, [1918] 3 W.W.R. 479.

OBSTRUCTIONS—DEATH—LIABILITY — FORCE MAJEURE.

A municipality is responsible in damages for the death of a person caused by the bad state of a road under its care, that is (a) where the road had neither ditch nor culvert to carry off the surface water; (b) where the gully on the side of the road was not protected; (c) where sticks of timber were left alongside the road, projecting a few inches above its level; (d) where a considerable slope existed towards these sticks and gully without any guard rails to protect the traveling public. A municipality, sued in damages for the bad state of the road under its care, cannot plead cas fortuit or force majeure and climatic condition brought about by a great thaw which took place in the vicinity of the road and covered it with ice, when there has been ample time between the thaw and accident to remedy the condition of the road.

Denault v. Mansfield and Pontefract, 54 Que. S.C. 499.

(§ IV A—147)—DUTY OF REPAIR—TRAVEL SAFETY—UNGUARDED DITCH.

The statutory duty imposed upon a municipality by s. 460 of the Municipal Act, R.S.O. 1914, c. 192, to keep roads in good repair, requires it to make them reasonably safe for the purposes of travel, and so safe from any additional danger incident to the lawful use of the highways by motor vehicles. A municipality is liable for injuries sustained by a vehicular traveler, in consequence of her horse becoming frightened by an approaching motor vehicle and throwing her into a deep ditch beside the road, which was unguarded by any railing.

Davis v. Osborne, 28 D.L.R. 397, 3 O.L.R. 148.

OBJECT BY ROADSIDE FRIGHTENING HORSE—MUNICIPAL LIABILITY.

To permit a milkstand to be constructed upon the highway for the loading of milk cans close to the traveled portion of the road, does not of itself constitute a breach of a municipality's statutory duty to keep the road in repair, so as to make it liable for injuries sustained by a horse taking fright at the milkstand without coming into actual contact with it. [Maxwell v. Clarke, 4 A.R. 469; and O'Neil v. Windham, 24 A.R. 341, followed; Rice v. Whitty, 25 A.R. 191, distinguished.]

Colquhoun v. Fullerton, 11 D.L.R. 469, 28 O.L.R. 102.

POLE IN STREET—GUY WIRE—INJURY TO HORSEMAN — LIABILITY — MUNICIPAL ORDINANCE—TIME FOR BRINGING ACTION.

An action against a town municipality in Alberta for injuries sustained by the plaintiff's horse coming in contact with a guy-wire attached to an electric light pole on a highway in the municipality must be brought under the Municipal Ordinance (Con. Ord. N.W.T. 1898, c. 70, s. 87), and is barred if not brought within six months after the damages have been sustained. [Rylands v. Fletcher, L.R. 3 H.L. 339, distinguished.]

Town of Cardston v. Salt, 49 D.L.R. 229, [1919] 3 W.W.R. 646, reversing on another point, 46 D.L.R. 179.

POLE IN STREET.

The negligent failure of a township to remove a pole erected in the highway by stranger is a nonfeasance not a misfeasance. An action against a township for injuries received by a person colliding with a pole erected upon the highway by a telephone company who had no statutory or other right to do so falls within subs. 1 of s. 606, of the Municipal Act, R.S.O. 1897, c. 223, and must be brought within three months after the damage has been sustained as required by such section.

Howse v. Southwold, 5 D.L.R. 709, 27 O.L.R. 29, 22 O.W.R. 797.

OBJECT FRIGHTENING HORSES — INJURY TO VEHICULAR TRAVELER—NUISANCE—LIABILITY OF CITY CORPORATION—DAMAGES — COSTS.

Poulin v. Ottawa, 9 O.W.N. 454.

INJURY TO TRAVELER—HORSE SHYING AT OBJECT LEFT BY TOWNSHIP CORPORATION AT THE SIDE OF A ROAD BUT OFF THE ROAD—CAUSE OF ACCIDENT AND INJURY —WEIGHT OF EVIDENCE—NEGLIGENCE—NONREPAIR—ABSENCE OF NOTICE UNDER MUNICIPAL ACT, S. 460 (4).

Garner v. Gosfield North, 16 O.W.N. 209.

(§ IV A-150)—DEFECTS IN — PLACING GRAVEL ON ROAD DURING WINTER—LIABILITY OF MUNICIPALITY.

To unnecessarily place gravel on a highway in repairing the same during the winter months in violation of s. 558 Con. Municipal Act, R.S.O. 1914, c. 192, so as to leave the middle of the road impassable, without giving notice of the danger, or closing the road, or providing a safe way for traffic, renders a municipality liable for an injury sustained by the upsetting of a sleigh as the result of the condition in which the road was left. The obligation to keep its highways "in repair" while traffic is permitted thereon is incumbent upon a municipality (Municipal Act, 1913 (Ont.) s. 460, and R.S.O. 1914, c. 192, s. 460), although work was being done thereon by way of rebuilding the road under the Public Highways Improvement Act, 7 Edw. VII. (Ont.), c. 16.

Weston v. Middlesex, 19 D.L.R. 646, 31 O.L.R. 148, affirming 16 D.L.R. 625, 30 O.L.R. 21.

NONREPAIR—INJURY TO TRACTION ENGINE—NOTICE.

It is a sufficient compliance with R.S.O. 1914, c. 192, s. 460 (4) (Municipal Act), for the person making the necessary repairs to damaged machinery, to send to the reeve of the municipality, at the request of the owner, a statement of the account for making the repairs, with a request that the municipality pay the account; no formal notice is necessary.

Pipher v. Whitechurch, 34 D.L.R. 702, 39 O.L.R. 244.

DAMAGE FROM SAND DEPOSITS—NONREPAIR—NOTICE.

An action for damages to land by a deposit of sand caused by the damming of water which naturally flowed across a highway to and over the plaintiff's land is not for nonrepair, although the sand came from a cutting in the road not kept in repair, and consequently a failure to give the notice required by s. 460 of the Municipal Act, R.S.O. 1914, c. 192, is not a bar to the action. [Strang v. Arran, 12 D.L.R. 41, distinguished.]

Ormsby v. Mulmur, 31 D.L.R. 76, 36 O.L.R. 566.

COMMISSIONER OF ROADS—LIABILITY—WINTER ROAD ON THE RIVERS—BREAKING OF THE ICE—C. MUN. (OLD), ART. 849—C.C. ART. 1053.

Under the new municipal code the liability of municipal corporations, as to accidents which happen on winter roads which they make on the ice, is regulated by the common law. If they are to blame they are responsible for accidents occasioned by the breaking of the ice just as they would be for those caused by the bad state of the road.

Cloutier v. The Corp. of the Parish of St. Jacques-des-Piles, 55 Que. S.C. 12.

(§ IV A-151)—UNGUARDED CULVERT—INJURY TO TRAVELLER — MOTOR VEHICLES ACT—SUFFICIENCY OF NOTICE TO MUNICIPALITY—AMOUNT OF DAMAGES.

Smiley v. Oakland, 31 D.L.R. 566.

NONREPAIR — STATUTORY OBLIGATION OF TOWNSHIP — MUNICIPAL ACT, S. 460 — INJURY TO MOTORISTS—LIABILITY.

A municipal corporation is not liable for damages under s. 460 of the Municipal Act, R.S.O. 1914, c. 192, when the particular highway in question is kept in such a reasonable state of repair that those requiring to use it may do so, with ordinary care, in safety.

Southwold v. Walker; Southwold v. Gosnell, 50 D.L.R. 176, 46 O.L.R. 265.

DITCH ALONG—MUNICIPAL DRAINAGE ACT—MUNICIPAL WORK—INJURY TO AUTOMOBILE—LIABILITY.

Where a ditch or drain has been constructed under the authority of the Municipal Drainage Act (1914 R.S.O., c. 198), along a highway, the boundary between two townships, for the purpose of draining the lands of an adjoining township, it is not a municipal work undertaken by the two townships; such townships are not bound to erect a rail or guard along the course of such drain. If the road is a good clay road for the locality having regard to the means at the townships' disposal for keeping it in repair, they are not guilty of negligence in the maintenance of the road, although in wet weather the surface of the road is slippery and there is danger of automobiles skidding into the ditch.

Anderson v. Rochester and Mersea, 46 D.L.R. 350, 44 O.L.R. 301.

LACK OF GUARD RAILS—INJURIES TO TRAVELLERS—CONTRIBUTORY NEGLIGENCE.

Contributory negligence of the driver of a democrat wagon in which the plaintiff's goods, consisting of commercial traveler's samples, were being conveyed for hire along with the commercial traveler as a passenger, is not attributable to the plaintiffs in answer to their claim against the municipality for damages to the goods on the wagon being upset and the trunks broken due to the neglect of the municipality to protect a narrow part of the roadway by a guard rail, if the plaintiffs' traveler in no way participated in or was responsible for the driver's alleged acts of negligence.

Robinson v. Dereham, 23 D.L.R. 321.

LACK OF RAILING OR BARRIER—NONREPAIR—INSUFFICIENCY OF GUARD-RAIL AT CURVE OF ROAD — DANGEROUS HILL — NEGLIGENCE OF MUNICIPAL CORPORATION.

Miller v. Wentworth, 5 O.W.N. 317, 25 O.W.R. 270.

HIGHWAY—NONREPAIR—MUNICIPAL ACT, S. 460 (1)—INJURY TO PERSONS—AUTOMOBILE GOING OVER SIDE OF BRIDGE—GUARD-RAIL — SUFFICIENCY — FINDING THAT TOWNSHIP CORPORATION NOT

NEGLIGENT—NEGLIGENCE OF PLAINTIFF, OWNER AND DRIVER OF VEHICLE—EVIDENCE—ONUS—MOTOR VEHICLES ACT, s. 23.

Johnston v. Korah, 16 O.W.N. 365.

NEGLIGENCE—UNSAFE CONDITION OF HIGHWAY—ABSENCE OF RAILING—DAMAGES. Kelly v. Carrick, 19 O.W.R. 796.

(§ IV A—152)—ABSENCE OF WARNING—BARRICADE.

The plaintiff, a physician, was injured, while driving along a county road, early in the morning, by reason of a barricade being left without a light, or without a sufficient light, upon the road at a place where it was under repair:—Held, that the defendants, the county corporation, were liable.

Bateman v. Middlesex, 24 O.L.R. 84, 19 O.W.R. 442.

(§ IV A—154)—DEFECTS—SNOW AND ICE—AVOIDANCE OF DANGEROUS WALK.

A woman who is injured by falling on a slippery sidewalk is not guilty of contributory negligence as a matter of law because she failed (a) to walk on the other side of the street which was less dangerous, or (b) to take the arm of her escort for support, where it appears that she was perfectly able to walk unassisted. The mere existence of ice or snow on sidewalks in a city will not make the municipality liable so long as there is no danger, but it is the duty of the municipality to provide against a dangerous condition which may result from such accumulation of ice or snow, and the liability of the city is established if after the lapse of a reasonable time the sidewalk is not put into safe condition for pedestrians. Under a city charter requiring the municipality to keep in repair every street and sidewalk in the city, in default of which it is made "civilly responsible for all damages sustained by any person by reason of such default," it is the duty of the municipality, apart from its common law liability, to keep its sidewalks in such condition as not to be dangerous to pedestrians by reason of accumulation of snow or ice.

Touhey v. Medicine Hat (No. 2), 19 D.L.R. 691, 5 A.L.R. 116, 23 W.L.R. 880, 4 W.W.R. 176, affirming 7 D.L.R. 759.

BRIDGES—SNOW AND ICE.

A municipal corporation, although required by the Municipal Act (R.S.O. 1914, c. 192, s. 460) to keep highways and bridges in a reasonably safe condition, is not liable for injuries sustained on account of snow and ice thereon, unless a reasonable opportunity for removing the same has been afforded.

Palmer v. Toronto, 32 D.L.R. 541, 38 O.L.R. 20. [Affirmed by Supreme Court of Canada: see 12 O.W.N. 367.]

FROZEN WATERS—BREAKS—ROADS OVER ICE.

Municipal corporations are not responsible for accidents caused by the breaking of the ice on roads laid out and maintained by them on rivers or other bodies of water. A municipal corporation is liable for accidents due to the bad state of the roads across frozen waters, but not for accidents caused by the breaking of the ice on the roads; those who venture upon them take the risk of the danger.

Bedard v. Beauharnois, 32 D.L.R. 250, 50 Que. S.C. 470.

SNOW AND ICE ON SIDEWALKS.

Municipal corporations are bound to maintain their roads, streets and sidewalks in a safe condition so as to allow pedestrians to walk thereon without danger, and a city municipality which allows in winter time a dangerous piece of glare ice to remain without ashes or sand upon it, or other protection or warning to pedestrians on a sloping street in a central locality, is liable in damages to a person who falls thereon and suffers injury.

LeBlanc v. Fraserville, 9 D.L.R. 299, 42 Que. S.C. 539.

FALLING ON ICE-COVERED SIDEWALK—"GROSS NEGLIGENCE" DEFINED — MUNICIPAL ACT, R.S.O. 1914, c. 192, s. 460, SUBS. 3.

Gauthier v. Caledonia, 19 D.L.R. 879, 7 O.W.N. 171.

SNOW AND ICE—REPAIRS.

In determining whether a highway is in repair at the time an accident occurs, it is necessary to take into account the nature of the country, the character of the roads, the care usually exercised by municipalities in reference to such roads, the season of the year and the nature of the accident.

Clark v. Winnipeg and Winnipeg Electric R. Co., 40 D.L.R. 553, 28 Man. L.R. 609, [1918] 2 W.W.R. 457.

NONREPAIR—PITCH HOLE IN SNOW.

Oakville v. Cranston, 39 D.L.R. 762, 55 Can. S.C.R. 639, affirming 10 O.W.N. 315, 19 O.W.N. 175.

NONREPAIR—INJURY TO PEDESTRIAN BY FALL UPON SIDEWALK—LIABILITY OF MUNICIPAL CORPORATION—DAMAGES.

Lawrence v. Orillia, 13 O.W.N. 453.

NONREPAIR—INJURY TO PERSON FALLING ON SIDEWALK COVERED WITH ICE—MUNICIPAL ACT, s. 460—"GROSS NEGLIGENCE"—EVIDENCE.

McAfee v. Deseronto, 15 O.W.N. 98.

ICY SIDEWALK—INJURIES TO PEDESTRIAN.

The gross negligence required by s. 450, subs. 3, of the Municipal Act, R.S.O. 1914, c. 192, is established in an action for injury to a pedestrian by falling on an icy sidewalk in a town where the ice on a sidewalk in front of a store on a busy street was lumpy and formed a slope and it was shown that within a period of five days three other persons fell at the same place, notwithstanding which the town corporation did nothing to remedy the dangerous condition of same.

Edwards v. North Bay, 22 D.L.R. 744, 8 O.W.N. 119.

SNOW AND ICE—INJURY TO PEDESTRIAN—GROSS NEGLIGENCE—DAMAGES.

Yates v. Windsor, 3 D.L.R. 891, 3 O.W.N. 1513, 22 O.W.R. 608.

NONREPAIR—ACCUMULATION OF SNOW AND ICE—INJURY TO PEDESTRIAN BY FALL—EVIDENCE — FAILURE TO ESTABLISH "GROSS NEGLIGENCE"—MUNICIPAL ACT, R.S.O. 1914, c. 192, s. 460.

Ellis v. Toronto, 12 O.W.N. 128, 205.

NONREPAIR—SNOW AND ICE ON PUBLIC WALK IN CITY — DANGEROUS CONDITION — INJURY TO PEDESTRIAN — GROSS NEGLIGENCE—MUNICIPAL ACT, s. 460 (3)—EVIDENCE—FINDINGS OF TRIAL JUDGE—DAMAGES.

Seames v. Belleville, 12 O.W.N. 414.

NONREPAIR—ICE ON SIDEWALK—INJURY TO PEDESTRIAN—LIABILITY OF MUNICIPAL CORPORATION — "GROSS NEGLIGENCE" — MUNICIPAL ACT, s. 460 (3).

McMillan v. Toronto, 13 O.W.N. 357.

NONREPAIR—INJURY TO TRAVELLER AT NIGHT — BUGGY OVERTURNED BY RIDGES OF ICE AND SNOW — CLIMATIC CONDITIONS — FINDING OF FACT—CREDIBILITY OF WITNESSES.

McKinnon v. Wellington, 9 O.W.N. 486.

SIDEWALKS—ICE AND SNOW.

A city is not an insurer of the safety of the pedestrians on its sidewalks, but is only obliged to take such care to keep them in good order as a prudent man takes of his own property. It is not responsible for damages suffered by one who fell when the climatic conditions do not require that ashes and sand should be sprinkled on it, as in the spring when the snow is almost all melted down, leaving the sidewalk almost bare.

Fee v. Montreal, 52 Que. S.C. 336.

NONREPAIR—SNOW AND ICE ON SIDEWALK OPPOSITE CHURCH PROPERTY USED AS BINK—INJURY TO PEDESTRIAN—CLAIM AGAINST CITY CORPORATION — FAILURE TO GIVE NOTICE REQUIRED BY MUNICIPAL ACT—CLAIM AGAINST TRUSTEES OF CHURCH PROPERTY OCCUPIED BY SEPARATE ORGANISED BUT UNINCORPORATED BODY—OWNER AND OCCUPIER—LIABILITY—NOTICE CREATED BY SERVANTS OF CITY CORPORATION.

Grills v. Ottawa, 8 O.W.N. 313.

(§ IV A—154a)—DEPRESSION OR HOLE IN PAVEMENT.

Where personal injury results from negligent protection of a drain in a municipal corporation highway, opened by a gas company, the municipality is not relieved from liability for the injury resulting from breach of a statutory obligation to maintain them in a safe condition, by setting up that the authority to open the streets was given to the gas or water company by the Legislature, since that authority was subject to the consent of the municipality, nor by setting up that the municipality did not consent to the making of the excavation.

Vancouver v. Cummings, 2 D.L.R. 253, 22 W.L.R. 164, 45 Can. S.C.R. 194, 2 W.W.R. 66, affirming, 19 W.L.R. 322.

LACK OF REPAIR—FILLING UP HOLE WITH MANURE—NOTICE.

Filling up a hole in a highway with manure in an attempt by a municipality to remedy its dangerous condition, is actionable negligence which will render the municipality liable for injuries to a traveler resulting therefrom, unless by a failure to comply with the notice requirements under s. 21 Rural Municipalities Act, c. 87, R.S.S. 1909, the right to such recovery is defeated.

Carleton v. Sherwood, 25 D.L.R. 66, 8 S.L.R. 431, 32 W.L.R. 936, 9 W.W.R. 611, reversing 32 W.L.R. 177, 8 W.W.R. 502.

CITY OF MONTREAL—RESPONSIBILITY—SIDEWALKS—ACCIDENTS—MAINTENANCE OF SIDEWALKS—ASHES—NEGLIGENCE—C.C. ART. 1053.

The city of Montreal although not obliged to insure pedestrians against all possible accidents on sidewalks, ought nevertheless to take ordinary means to maintain them in a proper and safe state of repair, and is responsible if it neglects to carefully fulfill this obligation or if it only fulfills it imperfectly and negligently. Thus the negligence of the city of Montreal is established if it is proved that the sidewalk, with respect to where there had been an accident, was in a slippery and dangerous condition; and an employee of the city cannot say he put ashes thereon where generally he covered 50 to 60 feet of the sidewalk with a single shovel-full of ashes. Jurisprudence has established a rule to constitute a municipal corporation in fault, in the case of pedestrians falling on sidewalks, and this rule is that the dangerous condition of the sidewalks must exist only long enough for the said corporation to learn of it.

Lefebvre v. Montreal, 25 Rev. Leg. 18.

(§ IV A—155)—DEFECT IN SIDEWALKS—BROKEN PRISMS IN LIGHT GRATINGS.

Under s. 393 of R.S.S. 1909, c. 84, which requires cities to keep sidewalks in repair, and declares them to be responsible for all damages sustained by any person by reason of a neglect of such duty, a city is liable for injuries sustained by a pedestrian by his heel catching in a hole in a light area or grating containing glass prisms, from which a number of prisms had been missing for several years, notwithstanding that the grating, which was flush with the surface of the sidewalk, was, without the consent of the city, placed therein by an adjoining property owner for his own convenience, at the time the city built the sidewalk.

Hutson v. Regina, 14 D.L.R. 372, 6 S.L.R. 126, 25 W.L.R. 628, 668, 5 W.W.R. 395.

Where a person is injured by a fall as the result of a defective sidewalk bordering on a road managed by road commissioners in Quebec, no liability whatsoever attaches to such trustees, and if action be taken against them the plaintiff will be nonsuited, as the duties of the road commissioners extend to the roadbed only, and the municipal corporation has control of the sidewalks.

Raby v. Road Commissioners; Road Commissioners v. St. Paul and Montreal, 2 D.L.R. 511, 42 Que. S.C. 26.

DEFECTIVE SIDEWALK—FAILURE TO ENFORCE BY-LAW.

A municipal corporation having, by its charter, power to maintain its highway in a reasonable state of repair, which permits continued vehicular traffic over a sidewalk, although no proper crossing had been provided, and although regulations had been enacted prohibiting such traffic, is charged with notice of a condition of disrepair, and having failed to remedy the defect within a reasonable time is guilty of negligence and liable for injuries caused thereby.

Jamieson v. Edmonton, 36 D.L.R. 465, 54 Can. S.C.R. 443, [1917] 1 W.W.R. 1513, reversing 27 D.L.R. 168, 9 A.L.R. 253.

DEFECT IN SIDEWALK IN POLICE VILLAGE—LIABILITY OF TOWNSHIP FOR.

A township is liable, under s. 606 of the Municipal Act, R.S.O. 1897, c. 223, for injuries sustained on a defective sidewalk, notwithstanding it was within the limits of a police village; as the fact that by sec. 741, of said Act, as amended, power to build and repair sidewalks is conferred on the trustees of such village, does not effect the primary liability of the township for the condition of all sidewalks within the village limits.

Smith v. Bertie, 12 D.L.R. 623, 28 O.L.R. 339.

EXCAVATION IN SIDEWALK—INJURY TO PEDESTRIAN.

A municipality is answerable for the death of a pedestrian resulting from his falling into an excavation on the sidewalk, around which there was no enclosure or safeguard to warn against the danger, although the street itself was partly closed by a barrier indicating dangerous operations thereon.

Montreal v. Gamache, 25 D.L.R. 303, 24 Que. K.B. 312.

NONREPAIR—INJURY TO PEDESTRIAN BY FALL ON DEFECTIVE SIDEWALK—NEGLIGENCE—LACK OF SYSTEM—FAILURE TO GIVE NOTICE TO MUNICIPALITY IN DUE TIME—MUNICIPAL ACT, R.S.O. 1914, c. 192, s. 460 (4), (5)—REASONABLE EXCUSE—ABSENCE OF PREJUDICE.

Wallace v. Windsor, 9 O.W.N. 100.

INJURY CAUSED BY FALL OF TREE AT SIDEWALK.

A tree which is situated on a slope upon the edge of a public sidewalk and the branches of which are trimmed by the municipal corporation is under the control of the latter, which is liable for the damages caused by a fall of an unsound branch.

Coaticook v. Laroche, 24 Que. K.B. 339.

NUISANCE—REPAIR OF SIDEWALKS—STATUTORY DUTY—NEGLIGENCE—NONFEASANCE.

Vancouver v. McPhalen, 45 Can. S.C.R. 194.

NONREPAIR—INJURY TO TRAVELER—NOTICE OF ACCIDENT.

Young v. Bruce, 24 O.L.R. 546.

NONREPAIR—INJURY TO PEDESTRIAN—HOLE IN SIDEWALK.

Cummings v. Vancouver, 16 B.C.R. 494, 19 W.L.R. 322.

NONREPAIR—DEFECTIVE SIDEWALK—INJURY TO PEDESTRIAN—NUISANCE OF LONG STANDING AMOUNTING TO MISFEASANCE.

McPhalen v. Vancouver, 15 B.C.R. 367, 14 W.L.R. 424.

(§ IV A—156)—DEFECTIVE SIDEWALK—CORRUGATED SURFACE—LACK OF REPAIR—LIABILITY OF MUNICIPALITY FOR INJURIES.

Huth v. Windsor, 24 D.L.R. 875, 34 O.L.R. 245.

INJURIES FROM DEFECTS—DEFECTIVE CROSSING PLACE.

While a city municipality is not obliged to keep the whole street surface in a condition safe for foot passengers, yet, if it so deals with a portion of the street adjoining a public building as to invite the public to use that part of the street as a crossing place for foot passengers, the city is under an obligation to make it safe for that purpose, although the place so used is not a continuation of any sidewalk and was not paved in the manner usual for street crossings in that locality.

Wong Ling v. Montreal, 10 D.L.R. 558, 44 Que. S.C. 329.

It is actionable negligence for a municipal corporation, in rebuilding a sidewalk, to cover an opening therein with an old, defective grating, through which a person fell and was injured.

MacPherson v. Vancouver, 2 D.L.R. 283, 17 B.C.R. 264, 20 W.L.R. 926, 1 W.W.R. 1114.

NONREPAIR—FALL ON SIDEWALK—FINDINGS OF FACT—LIABILITY OF MUNICIPAL CORPORATION.

Deutschmann v. Hanover, 6 D.L.R. 860, 4 O.W.N. 134.

OBSTRUCTION IN ROADWAY—CITY PERMIT FOR ALTERATIONS—BRINGING IN PARTY RESPONSIBLE—MONTREAL CHARTER, s. 548.

Rosenthal v. Montreal, 20 D.L.R. 982.

NONREPAIR OF SIDEWALK.

In the absence of a statutory enactment, imposing such liability, no action will lie against a municipal corporation for injuries caused by mere nonfeasance, such as failure to keep a sidewalk in repair where there is no suggestion that the sidewalk was defectively or negligently constructed in the first instance. [Cowley v. New Market Local Board, [1892] A.C. 345, and Geldert v. Picton, [1892] A.C. 524, followed.]

Cullen v. Glace Bay, 46 N.S.R. 215.

NONREPAIR—CAP OF PIPE PROJECTING ABOVE SIDEWALK—INJURY TO PEDESTRIAN—NEGLIGENCE—ABSENCE OF CONTRIBUTORY NEGLIGENCE—DAMAGES.

Trombley v. Peterborough, 11 O.W.N. 62. Municipal corporations are obliged to maintain their streets and sidewalks in a safe state of repair, so as to allow their use without danger; default in so doing makes them liable for damages which result of such neglect.

Leblanc v. Fraserville, 42 Que. S.C. 539.

SIDEWALKS—OBLIGATION TO MAINTAIN THEM—ABSENCE OF BY-LAW—JURISDICTION OF THE CIRCUIT COURT—C. MUN., ARTS. 411, 453, 478, 803—S. REF., [1909] ART. 7538.

It is not necessary, in order that a sidewalk existing and undertaken de facto by the corporation be considered as a municipal sidewalk, when its construction has been ordered by a by-law of the council. A municipal corporation which neglects to reconstruct with care a sidewalk which it has maintained for several years, incurs the penalty of $20 laid down by the Municipal Code. Although the new Municipal Code does not expressly name the tribunal having jurisdiction to try penal actions, the Circuit Court is still a competent tribunal.

Breton v. The Village of Charlesbourg, 55 Que. S.C. 424.

ACTION AGAINST MUNICIPALITY—NONREPAIR OF SIDEWALK—SURFACE OF BOULEVARD BELOW CURB.

Brown v. Toronto, 2 O.W.N. 982, 19 O.W.R. 906.

OBSTRUCTION OR NONREPAIR—INJURY TO PEDESTRIAN—BOULEVARD FORMING PART OF CITY STREET.

Breen v. Toronto, 2 O.W.N. 690.

LACK OF REPAIR.

The owner of a house in a municipality whose by-laws oblige him to maintain the street and sidewalk opposite it in a specified manner is liable in damages for injury to a passer-by who breaks a limb owing to the defective condition of such street or sidewalk. When the by-law states what means shall be used to obviate danger to passers-by it is not sufficient to conform to its letter; it is necessary, in addition, to use the usual means for safety, e.g., if there is glare ice to cover it with salt, ashes or sawdust or other proper material.

Vidal v. John D. Ivey Co., 42 Que. S.C. 509.

NONREPAIR OF SIDEWALK AT CROSSING—INJURY TO PEDESTRIAN—KNOWLEDGE—INFERENCE FROM TIME OF CONTINUANCE.

Innes v. Havelock, 2 O.W.N. 205, 871, 18 O.W.R. 310, 508.

APPROACH TO WEIGH SCALE—OUT OF REPAIR—PERSON INJURED IN USING SAME—LIABILITY OF MUNICIPALITY—LIABILITY OF OWNER OF SCALES.

O'Neil v. London, 3 O.W.N. 345, 20 O.W.R. 573.

MANHOLE—DEFECTIVE STRUCTURE AND CONDITION—INJURY TO PERSON.

Skewis v. Kamloops, 19 W.L.R. 612.

(§ IV A—157)—IMPERFECT CONSTRUCTION OF SIDEWALK—MISFEASANCE.

To leave an unfinished gap in a cement sidewalk at the crossing of another sidewalk and to finish the grading at such gap with loose earth or ashes on a hillside where it would soon wash away and leave a dangerous hole is misfeasance for which the municipality is liable to a person injured by falling into the hole so made.

Tobin v. Halifax, 16 D.L.R. 367, 47 N.S.R. 498.

HOLE IN—NONREPAIR—INJURY TO PEDESTRIAN.

Armstrong v. Barrie, 6 D.L.R. 851, 4 O.W.N. 64, 23 O.W.R. 243.

(§ IV A—158)—DEFECTS IN SIDEWALK—DEVIATION FROM LEVEL—PROJECTING WATER PIPE.

For the municipality to maintain a water pipe projecting above the level of a cement sidewalk so as to be the cause of a pedestrian tripping over it, is a want of repair rendering the corporation liable for the injuries sustained where the pipe could easily and inexpensively have been lowered to the level when the walk was so constructed as to include the pipe as a part thereof, but rising two inches above the level of the walk. [Redford v. Woburn, 176 Mass. 520; O'Brien v. Woburn, 184 Mass. 598, followed; Ray v. Petrolia, 24 U.C.C.P. 73; Ewing v. Toronto, 29 O.R. 197; Ewing v. Hewitt, 27 A.R. (Ont.) 296, distinguished.]

Roach v. Port Colborne, 13 D.L.R. 646, 29 O.L.R. 69.

NONREPAIR—INJURY TO PEDESTRIAN BY FALL ON ICY SIDEWALK—NEGLIGENCE OF MUNICIPAL CORPORATION—DANGEROUS CONDITION DUE TO EXCESSIVE SLOPE AND BROKEN CONCRETING AS WELL AS ICE—"GROSS NEGLIGENCE"—MUNICIPAL ACT, S. 460 (3), (4)—CAUSE OF INJURY—ABSENCE OF CONTRIBUTORY NEGLIGENCE—NOTICE OF INJURY—DAMAGES.

Hutchison v. Toronto, 16 O.W.N. 372.

B. LIABILITY OF OTHERS.

Unlawful user, dog kennel on, see Animals, I C—30.

(IV B—160)—POLES—COLLISION—LIABILITY OF COMPANY.

Authority by statute to erect poles along the side of a highway, and municipal supervision of such erection, will not excuse a company from liability for injury by collision therewith, if they unreasonably interfere with the free use of the highways by the public.

McIsaac v. Maritime Telegraph & Telephone Co., 33 D.L.R. 31, 50 N.S.R. 331.

NEGLECT—OBSTRUCTION IN HIGHWAY—
INJURY TO CONDUCTOR OF STREET CAR—
MUNICIPAL CORPORATIONS—CONTRACTORS—
ABSENCE OF AUTHORITY—LIABILITY OF CONTRACTORS—CONTRIBUTORY NEGLI-GENCE—EVIDENCE—FINDINGS OF TRIAL —JURY—APPEAL.
Tessler v. Orkney, 40 D.L.R. 12, 41 O.L.R. 205, 13 O.M.N. 234.
EXCAVATION—JURY TO PASS BY—NEGLECT OF GAS COMPANY—FINDING OF FAULT—POSSIBLE REBUT AGAINST NE-
GLIGENT COMPANION LOST BY FAILURE TO GIVE NOTICE FROM MUNICIPAL ACT —POINT TO BE ESTABLISHED—EFFECT OF RE-LEASE OF OXP—RIGHT OF CONTRIBUTION
—MISFEASANCE—CONFEASANCE.
King v. Consumers Gas Co., 8 O.M.N. 494.
EXCAVATION OF EARTH—JURY TO ADJUDICATE
THE CAUSE—PERMANENT OBSTRUCTION OF ACCESS.
Taylor v. Gage, 4 O.M.N. 947, 24 O.M.L.R. 268.
WIRELESS—DRIVERS.
One who places drains, wires, etc., in the streets of a town where there is continual traffic assumes thereby the risks appertain-ing to this dangerous vicinity.
McIntyre v. Montreal Light, Heat & Power
Co., 52 Que. S.C. 366.
(§ 1V B-161)—(OBSTRUCTIONS—MINING OPERATIONS—POWER OF COMMISSIONER OF MINES.
The powers conferred upon the Commissioner of the Mines in Council by the Yukon Territory Act of laying out, building or closing up any public road or highway within the Territory, do not extend so as to permit a mining company to dredge up and deposit its operations, any such public road or highway, by legislative enactment or otherwise, and the mining company is liable in damages to an owner of land adjoining the highway for injuries caused to his land by such wrongful dredging up and depositing of the highway, and by trespass upon his land occasioned there-
by.
Moran v. Can. Klondyke Mining Co., 31
D.L.R. 411.
SAND HEAPS LEFT IN FRONT OF HOUSE IN CITY—ERECTING INTO IT—OBSTRUCTION—LIABILITY OF SUBROGATED CONTRACT-ORS FOR BUILDING—CONTRIBUTORY NEGLI-GENCE—EVIDENCE—(OVERS—FINDING OF TRIAL—JURY—APPEAL—(CONS.
O.M.N. 184.
(OBSTRUCTION) ACCESS AND EGRESS TO PUBLIC ROADS—LIABILITY OF MUNICIPAL COR-PORATIONS.
When a municipality causes public works to be done on its streets and agrees with the contractors, among other things, that the latter will not close the streets nor obstruct them further than necessary and through the lanes, roads, houses and properties bordering on the works, a ratepayer who has a place of business upon one of such streets and who has suffered damages by the fact that the contractors have completely closed all access to his business, when they could at some expense obtain for the plaintiff a passage over the neighbouring properties, has a recourse for damages against the contractors.

Bruner v. Beauchamp, 47 Que. S.C. 409.
(§ 1V B-164)—LIABILITY OF TENANT—(EX-
TRADE ROOM.
No climatic condition can absolve the party responsible for the maintenance of a sidewalk or highway from damages for acidents sustained on it, if there was fault or carelessness in the removal of the danger. A tenant of a store, who maintains a defective iron trap door in the sidewalk in front of his property, is responsible for the damages suffered by a person falling on account of its slippery condition.
Levesque v. Valiquette, 19 Que. S.C. 481.
(§ 1V B-176)—DEFECTS IN SIDEWALKS.
If subs. 29 of art. 341 of the Cities and Towns Act, R.S.Q. 1907, providing that every owner of land situated in a municipal public way, etc., established in a municipality (which owner of land is obliged by the sub. 5 of said art. 341 to make and maintain a sidewalk in front of his property) shall be responsible towards the municipality for the damages resulting from his neglect and may be called in warranty by the municipality in all cases brought against it for damages, renders such owner not only liable in warranty to the municipality but also to the public, he can be so only jointly and severally with the corporation, and therefore no action for injury to a person resulting from a defective sidewalk can be maintained against the adjoining owner alone.
Hatford v. Lanthier Paper Co., 5 D.
L.R. 306, 41 Que. S.C. 367, 18 Rev. de Jur.
70.
An adjoining property owner is exempt, under subs. 14-15 of Vancouver Incorporation Act (1900), c. 54, from liability over-on a judgment against a municipal corporation for personal injuries sustained by a defect in a sidewalk due to the negligence of the agents or servants thereof. A property owner does not "leave" or "maintain" an excavation under an adjoining sidewalk, within the meaning of subs. 14-15 of Vancouver Incorporation Act (1900), c. 54, so as to render him liable over on a judgment against a municipal corporation for injuries sustained by falling through an old, defective grating, placed in the sidewalk by the servants or agents of the city over an opening therein, notwithstanding such excavation was for the use and convenience of the adjoining owner.

MacPherson v. Vancouver, 2 D.L.R. 283, 17 B.C.R. 264, 20 W.L.R. 926, 1 W.W.R. 1114.

(§ IV B-179)—DEFECTS—LIABILITY OF ABUTTING OWNER—GRATING IN SIDEWALK.

Relief over against the adjoining owner will be granted a city municipality in respect of damages recovered against it for injury caused a pedestrian through a defective prism light grating in the city sidewalk maintained in connection with the basement of the owner's building, although the defect had existed prior to his acquiring the property, particularly if a municipal by-law required the owner from time to time to keep it in repair.

Hutton v. Regina, 14 D.L.R. 372, 6 S.L.R. 126, 25 W.L.R. 628, 668, 5 W.W.R. 395.

(§ IV B-182)—ACTS OF INDEPENDENT CONTRACTOR.

One who, as an independent contractor and for his own profit, agrees with a municipal corporation to do work upon a highway within the municipality, is liable in damages to persons who, without fault on their part, are injured by reason of any obstruction to the highway caused by him.

Hawkins v. McGuigan, 3 D.L.R. 307, 3 O.W.N. 564.

(§ IV B-191)—CONTRACTOR WITH MUNICIPALITY.

A municipal corporation which is having work done under contract is not liable for the acts of the contractor, but is guilty of negligence, and liable for injury caused thereby, if it leaves open for traffic a street on which the contractor has done work which produces a condition of danger, such as an excavation.

Scott v. Quebec, 44 Qué. S.C. 184.

(§ IV B-195)—OBSTRUCTION BY RAILWAY—ABUTTING OWNERS—FORM OF REMEDY.

A railway company with which a municipal corporation agrees to close a certain street, and which is authorized by the Railway Board to construct a level crossing thereon, is liable in damages to the owners of lots on said street, if, before the street is closed by the city, the company obstructs the street by constructing a railway across it; such damages may be recovered in an action, although a claim for compensation is pending under the Railway Act, 1906, for trespass on land of the plaintiff actually taken for the purposes of the railway, or for portions of lots of which parts have been so taken.

Holmsted v. Moose Jaw and C.N.R. Co., 29 D.L.R. 761, 9 S.L.R. 327, 22 Can. Cr. Cas. 169, 34 W.L.R. 1135, 10 W.W.R. 1265.

CHANGES OF GRADE—INJURY TO ABUTTING LAND—REMEDY—COMPENSATION UNDER MUNICIPAL ACT, s. 325—COUNTY AND TOWNSHIP CORPORATION PERMITTING STREET RAILWAY COMPANY TO OBSTRUCT
Can. Dig.—72.

ACCESS TO HIGHWAY—60 VICT. c. 92, ss. 2, 7 (9)—LAYING RAILS IN CONFORMITY WITH GRADE OF HIGHWAY—SLIGHT CHANGES IN ELEVATION OF RAILS—ABSENCE OF APPRECIABLE DAMAGE.

Watson v. Toronto & York Radical R. Co., 10 O.W.N. 362.

RAILWAY TUNNEL—ABUTTING OWNER.

A railway company under an agreement with a municipal corporation having, with the authority of the Railway Board, obtained the consent of the city, and built a tunnel under a street, is liable as well as the city for damages suffered by an abutting owner.

Doucet v. Montreal, 51 Que. S.C. 241.

(§ IV B-203)—OBSTRUCTION BY STREET RAILWAY—SNOW REMOVED FROM TRACKS—DUTY TO LEVEL.

The failure of an electric railway company on removing snow and ice from its tracks into a highway, to level it to a uniform depth as required by R.S.N.S. 1900, c. 71, s. 194, is negligence rendering it liable for injuries sustained as a result of such neglect.

Wright v. Picton County Electric Co., 11 D.L.R. 443, 15 Can. Ry. Cas. 394, 47 N.S.R. 166, 13 F.L.R. 47.

(§ IV B-204)—STREET RAILWAYS—LIABILITY FOR PROTRUDING RAILS.

Where a city by-law declared that a street railway company should be responsible for all damages occasioned by the construction, maintenance and operation of its railway, it is answerable for injuries sustained by the plaintiff who was thrown from a vehicle by the striking of a wheel against a rail that was four inches above the surface of the street, notwithstanding the rail had originally been laid flush with the street and its elevation was due to acts of the city in repairing the street. [Aldred v. West Metropolitan Tramway Co., L.R., [1891] 2 Q.B. 398; and Howit v. Nottingham Tramway Co., 12 Q.B.D. 16, distinguished.]

Montreal Street R. Co. v. Bastien, 12 D.L.R. 342, 23 Que. K.B. 7.

C. CONTRIBUTORY NEGLIGENCE.

(§ IV C-210)—DEFECTS IN—LIABILITY OF MUNICIPALITY—INJURY TO TRAVELER—CONTRIBUTORY NEGLIGENCE.

It is not contributory negligence where a person injured by the upsetting of a sleigh by reason of the graveling of a highway during the winter months in violation of s. 558 of the Ontario Consolidated Municipal Act of 1903, R.S.O. 1914, c. 192, continued on the same side of the road after knowledge of its condition, and did not attempt to break a new track in the snow on the opposite side, where to have done so would have been extremely dangerous where such person did not get off and walk until unsafe places were passed, it does not amount to contributory negligence, if his conduct, under the circumstances, was that of a reasonably prudent man. To drive a properly loaded sleigh on a much-traveled highway, the middle of which had been rendered impassable by gravel placed thereon during the winter months, is not contributory negligence, sufficient to prevent a recovery for an injury sustained by the upsetting of the sleigh where the municipality neither gave warning as to the condition of the road, nor provided a safe way for traffic.

Weston v. Middlesex, 16 D.L.R. 325, 30 O.L.R. 21.

SIDEWALKS—FAILURE TO LOOK.

Mere failure to keep one's eyes riveted upon the sidewalk while walking thereupon is not proof of such contributory negligence as would preclude recovery from a municipality for damages resulting from the defective condition of the sidewalk.

Robertson v. Montreal, 30 D.L.R. 312, 50 Que. S.C. 298.

DRIVING UNBROKEN HORSES—VIOLATION OF BY-LAW.

The driving of an unbroken team of horses, in contravention of a by-law prohibiting the act, precludes recovery for injuries sustained by reason of a defect in the highway.

Jones v. Swift Current, 23 D.L.R. 11, 8 S.L.R. 310, 31 W.L.R. 899, 8 W.W.R. 1100.

(§ IV C—211)—MAINTENANCE OF, BY MUNICIPALITY—DEGREE OF CARE REQUIRED—LOCAL CONDITION—CONTRIBUTORY NEGLIGENCE—KNOWLEDGE OF DANGER.
Williams v. North Battleford, 4 S.L.R. 75.

(§ IV C—222)—ALTERNATIVE HIGHWAY.

Where an obstruction has been placed upon a highway, failure on the part of one using the highway to avail himself of an alternative road provided by the person responsible for the obstruction does not of itself disentitle him to recover damages for injuries sustained by reason of the obstruction, but the question of contributory negligence may still be left to the jury.

Hawkins v. McGuigan, 3 D.L.R. 307, 3 O.W.N. 564.

D. NOTICE, OF DEFECTS; OF INJURIES.

See also Municipal Corporations, II G—260.

(§ IV D—225)—Failure to give the notice of intention to bring an action for damages required by special statutes, for instance, notice required for the protection of municipal corporations, should be invoked by a preliminary plea. Filing a defence to the action is an avowal of want of notice.

Scott v. Quebec, 44 Que. S.C. 184.
(§ IV D—230)—OBSTRUCTION—NOTICE OF—LIABILITY OF MUNICIPALITY.

Notice of the existence of a milkstand close to the traveled portion of a highway is not sufficient to render a municipality answerable for damages sustained by a horse taking fright at it without actual contact therewith, where it appeared that the stand had been erected but two or three weeks before the injury without the knowledge of the municipal council or of the municipal officers other than the pathmaster, and it did not appear either that it was his duty to guard, or remove the stand or to notify the municipal council of its existence.

Colquhoun v. Fullerton, 11 D.L.R. 469, 25 O.L.R. 102.

NOTICE OF DEFECTS.

King v. Limerick, 25 O.W.R. 87.

(§ IV D—231)—NECESSITY OF.

Lack of notice of the existence of a defect in a sidewalk will not avail a municipal corporation as a defence to an action for injuries thereby sustained, where the defect was caused by a contractor employed by the year by the city to build, under the direction of the city officials, all sidewalks required.

MacPherson v. Vancouver, 2 D.L.R. 285, 17 B.C.R. 264, 20 W.L.R. 926, 1 W.W.R. 1114.

(§ IV D—232)—IMPLIED.

Where a hole has been opened in a municipal street, a court may infer that it would attract the attention or notice of municipal officials entrusted with the oversight or guarding of the street, and further, that the failure of such an official to report the existence of the hole, was in itself a breach of duty by said official for which the municipal corporation is liable. [McClelland v. Manchester, [1912] 1 K.B. 118, followed.]

Vancouver v. Cummings, 2 D.L.R. 253, 22 W.L.R. 164, 46 Can. S.C.R. 457, 2 W.W.R. 66.

DEFECTS—IMPLIED NOTICE OF—NEGLIGENCE OF MUNICIPALITY—WORK DONE BY PRIVATE PARTIES.

Where it must be inferred from the nature of the work on a city sidewalk and the length of time it was carried on before the accident to a pedestrian that the city officials having supervision of streets must have been aware of the work, the fact that it was not done under their authority but by private parties interested in adjacent lands without a permit which the terms of the city charter required, will not absolve the city from responsibility for the unsafe condition of the sidewalk. [Vancouver v. Cummings, 46 Can. S.C.R. 487, 2 D.L.R. 253, applied.]

Tweeddale v. Calgary, 20 D.L.R. 277.

(§ IV D—235)—NOTICE OF INJURY—PERSONAL INJURY FROM REPAIR OPERATIONS.

An action brought against a municipality for personal injuries from negligence in the operations under way for making repairs to its streets, but not due to any defect in the condition of the street itself, is not within the Ontario Municipal Act, 3 Edw. VII. c. 19, s. 406, so as to require a preliminary notice of injury.

Waller v. Sarnia, 9 D.L.R. 834, 4 O.W.N. 890, 24 O.W.R. 204.

OF INJURIES.

The failure to give notice to the clerk of a municipality within sixty days of an injury sustained on a defective sidewalk, without an explanation sufficient to justify the court to permit the maintenance of the action after the expiration of such period, or the failure to begin action for injury against the municipality within six months of the date of the accident as required by art. 5864 of the Cities and Towns Act, R.S.Q. 1909, will bar an action not only against the municipality but also against the property owner who is answerable to the municipality under s. 20 of art. 5641 of said Act for failure to maintain such sidewalk in a safe condition as required by a municipal by-law, whether the liability created by such subs. 20 rendered the property holder liable to the public as well as to the municipality or only gave a right to the municipality to call him in as warrantor.

Batsford v. Laurentian Paper Co., 5 D.L.R. 306, 41 Que. S.C. 367, 18 Rev. de Jur. 79.

NONREPAIR—INJURY TO TRAVELER—NOTICE OF INJURY—MUNICIPAL ACT, R.S.O. 1914, c. 192, s. 460(4)—TIME FOR SERVICE—EXPIRY ON SUNDAY—SERVICE ON NEXT DAY—INTERPRETATION ACT, s. 28 (H).

Ellis v. Toronto, 10 O.W.N. 146.

(§ IV D—236)—DEFECTS—INJURY TO TRAVELER—LIABILITY OF MUNICIPALITY—NOTICE OF INJURY—SUFFICIENCY.

In the absence of a reasonable excuse for the plaintiff's failure to give a municipality notice of injuries sustained on a defective highway, in the manner required by s. 606 (3) Consolidated Municipal Act, 1903, R.S.O. 1914, c. 192, the want of notice, although not prejudicial to the municipality, is a full defence to an action for damages.

Egan v. Saltfleet, 13 D.L.R. 884, 20 O.L.R. 116.

SUFFICIENCY OF NOTICE.

If in the notice required to be given to the city of Montreal in an action in damages for a defective sidewalk, there is a slight variance with the real place where the accident occurred, there is no prejudice to the defendant, especially when the latter had the fullest opportunity to make its defence and to call in its warrantor.

West v. Montreal and Rector of St. Martin's Church, 14 Que. P. R. 238.

V. Discontinuance; alteration; abandonment.

A. DISCONTINUANCE.

Closing, loss of access, compensation, see Damages, III. L—275.

Obstruction by railway, compensation, see Expropriation, III. E—180.

(V A—240)—LANES—CLOSING BY CITY—LEASING FOR PRIVATE USE.

Under the Vancouver Incorporation Act, 1900, ss. 125 (52) and 215, the city of Vancouver may pass a by-law diverting a public lane, and may without a vote of the ratepayers lease the portion thereof closed by such diversion for building purposes for the period of twenty-five years limited by s. 8 of the amending act of 1907; the decision of the City Council that such closing and diversion is in the interest of the general public must prevail notwithstanding the lease of the closed portion to adjoining owners at a nominal rental, where the evidence does not support a charge of mala fides against the City Council.

United Buildings Corp. v. Vancouver, 19 D.L.R. 97, [1915] A.C. 345, 6 W.W.R. 1335, affirming 13 D.L.R. 593, 18 B.C.R. 274.

(§ V A—245)—CLOSING—POWER OF RAILWAY COMMISSION.

The jurisdiction of the Railway Board as to the closing of a highway is limited to the extinguishment of the public right to cross the railway; and this power is ordinarily exercised by first granting permission to divert the highway and afterwards making the order to close the road allowance within the limits of the company's right-of-way after the construction of the new grade crossing on the diverted highway.

Re Applications to close Highways, 12 D.L.R. 389, 49 C.L.J. 550, 15 Can. Ry. Cas. 305.

CLOSING—POWERS OF MUNICIPALITY—DEDICATION—RIGHTS OF ABUTTING OWNERS—EASEMENT.

Jones v. Tucker-Smith, 23 D.L.R. 569, 33 O.L.R. 634, 8 O.W.N. 344. [Reversed by Supreme Court of Canada, 47 D.L.R. 684, 45 O.L.R. 67; see 13 O.W.N. 383.]

A municipal by-law to close a public highway, the passage of which is authorized by statute, is ultra vires, unless passed in compliance with the provisions of the statute, including such requirements as notice to the owners of lands abutting on the highway in question and public notice by advertisement. [Town Act, 2-3 Geo. V. (Alta.), c. 2, s. 163, subs. 17, construed.] Re Bassano, 7 D.L.R. 601, 3 W.W.R. 189.

CLOSING—NOTICE.

The notice which must be published by a municipality of its proposed by-law to close part of a public street under the Municipal Act, R.S.O. 1914, c. 192, s. 475, must state a time when the by-law will be considered so that those interested may then attend and be heard. [Re Birdsall and Asphodel, 45 U.C.R. 149, followed.]

Re Rogers, 22 D.L.R. 590, 7 O.W.N. 717

REVERSION OF LAND UPON ABOLITION OF ROAD.

According to the principles of our municipal law, the land of an abolished road returns to the lot from which it has been detached, and if the land of such road has not been taken from the adjoining lot, it belongs to the lots between which it is situated—half of it to each lot.

Cormier v. Vaillant, 24 Que. K.B. 161.

CLOSING AND SALE OF PART OF HIGHWAY IN CITY—MUNICIPAL ACT, R.S.O. 1914, c. 192, ss. 325 (1), 433, 472 (1) (c)—PIPES OF GAS COMPANY LAID UNDER SOIL OF HIGHWAY—STATUTORY AUTHORITY (29 VICT. C. 88, s. 2)—REMOVAL OF PIPES AND RELAYING IN SUBSTITUTED STREET—RIGHTS OF COMPANY AND CITY CORPORATION IN HIGHWAY—EXPENSE OF REMOVAL OF PIPES—COMPENSATION—RIGHT TO—AWARD SET ASIDE—AMOUNT OF AWARD.

A gas company, having power by 29 Vict. c. 88, s. 2, to lay down gas pipes in the highways of a city, and at all times, and from time to time, to open up and dig up the highways for the purpose of repairs and renewals, and laying down new plant and pipes, had laid down their pipes under the surface of a street in the city. The city, under s. 472(1) (c) of the Municipal Act, R.S.O. 1914, c. 192, and pursuant to a by-law passed by the council, stopped up and sold a part of the street and substituted for that part land which they had acquired for the purpose. The company then took up their pipes and relaid them on the new line.—Held, that they were not entitled to compensation from the city for the cost of taking up and relaying the pipes. The gas company took no permanent right in the land—their rights in the highway ended when the highway's existence ended. There was no right to compensation under s. 325 (1) of the Municipal Act, the company were deprived of nothing, and no injurious effect was caused to any of their property. [Metropolitan R. Co. v. Fowler, [1893] A.C. 416, and Toronto Corp. v. Consumers' Gas Co., [1916] 2 A.C. 618, distinguished.] The pipes, being laid by statutory authority, became partes soli: [Toronto Corp. v. Consumers' Gas Co., supra.] There were thus two freeholds—that of the company in their pipes, with all the incidents thereto either at the common law or by statute, and that of the city in the soil, etc., which was limited by the rights of the company. s. 433 of the Municipal Act. The city could not by any act affect the rights of the company—whatever rights the company had before the by-law it still had. But the company had no right to compensation, for their own purposes they took up the pipes from the old position and laid them down in the new street; they did not do this upon the compulsion or request of the city, which simply did not interfere with the company doing it.

Re Ottawa Gas Co. and Ottawa, 45 O.L.R. 617.

(§ V A—246)—CLOSING FOR BENEFIT OF PRIVATE PERSON—PUBLIC INTEREST—VALIDITY OF BY-LAW.

Though the operation of a by-law benefits one or more persons more than others, it does not follow that by enacting it, a municipal corporation must be taken to give "any bonus" within the B.C. Municipal Act, 1906, s. 194; nor can a by-law be said to be outside the powers conferred by the Vancouver Act, 1900, s. 125, merely because steps taken in the public interest are accompanied by benefit specifically accruing to private persons.

United Buildings Corp. v. Vancouver, 19 D.L.R. 97, 111 L.T. 663, [1915] A.C. 345, 6 W.W.R. 1335.

(§ V A—250) — DEDICATION BY PLAN — HOW LOST — RIGHT OF WAY — NONUSER — CONVERSION TO PUBLIC HIGHWAY — CLOSING — OBJECTIONS TO — OPPORTUNITY OF HEARING — POWERS OF MUNICIPAL COUNCIL — RIGHTS OF ABUTTING OWNERS — MEANS OF ACCESS — SALE OF CLOSED HIGHWAY — AUTHORITY OF COUNCIL — BY-LAW AUTHORIZING — VALIDITY.

Jones v. Tucker-Smith, 47 D.L.R. 684, 45 O.L.R. 67, reversing 23 D.L.R. 569, 33 O.L.R. 634.

CLOSING BRIDGE — DAMAGES — ABUTTING OWNER.

A municipality having the power to close a bridge forming part of a highway is responsible for the immediate damage caused thereby to an abutting owner. The latter is entitled to be indemnified for the loss of access and the losses directly resulting therefrom in connection with the working of his farm.

Bedard v. Lochaber West, 29 D.L.R. 312, 49 Que. S.C. 459.

R. ALTERATION, DIVERSION OF STREET.

By railway, nuisance, see Expropriation, III E—186.

(§ V B—255)—ALTERATION BY MUNICIPAL CORPORATION—EXCHANGE OF LOTS—VALIDITY OF BY-LAW—ARTS. 16, 527, 794, 799, M.C. ART. 1081, C.C.

Daoust v. Chantal, 25 D.L.R. 852, 47 Que. S.C. 236.

An abutting owner cannot claim a right to possession of an original road allowance unless he can establish that he or his predecessors in title had laid out and opened a new public road in lieu of the original road allowance, without having received compensation therefor.

Mills v. Freel (No. 2), 5 D.L.R. 679, 4 O.W.N. 79, 23 O.W.R. 45, affirming Mills v. Freel, 2 D.L.R. 923, 3 O.W.N. 1240.

UNOPENED STREET—ALTERATION.

Where a dedication of land for a highway was duly accepted by a city, but the highway was not opened, the dedicators cannot proceed under s. 44 of the Surveyors Act, 1 Geo. V. c. 42, s. 44, subs. 6, to secure the change of the plan, as filed in the registry office on which the highway was dedicated, in order to close such highway and open another in its stead.

Re Toronto Plan M. 188, 11 D.L.R. 424, 28 O.L.R. 41.

Where it was impracticable, because of physical obstacles therein, to open a part of a road allowance between 2 townships, and to take its place, another road running parallel thereto, but wholly within one township, was opened through private lands and dedicated by their owner to public use and his dedication was accepted by the council of the county in which the townships were located, and, in lieu thereof, the old unopened part of the boundary line allowance was conveyed to him by the council, and the public for more than 30 years used the new road to reach points which would have been reached over the original allowance if it had been opened, such road was, and is, a deviation of a town line road within the meaning of s. 622 of the Ontario Municipal Act, 1903, giving jurisdiction to adjoining townships over a road lying wholly or partly between them, "although the road may so deviate as in some places to be wholly or in part within either of them," notwithstanding the fact that the new road did not actually terminate in the old line, if by means of some other public road, the old original line might be conveniently reached and its main purpose—a way into a certain city—accomplished. [Fitzroy v. Carleton, 9 O.L.R. 686, distinguished.]

Wentworth v. West Flamborough, 3 D.L.R. 479, 26 O.L.R. 199, 21 O.W.R. 876.

MUNICIPAL POWERS AS TO NARROWING.

A municipality, empowered by the Municipal Act, R.S.B.C. 1911, c. 170, s. 52, subss. 176, 193, to alter, divert or stop up public thoroughfares, has power to close up a portion of a highway for the purpose of narrowing it.

West Vancouver v. Ramsay, 30 D.L.R. 602, 53 Can. S.C.R. 459, 10 W.W.R. 1184. [See also 22 D.L.R. 826, 21 B.C.R. 401.]

(§ V B—256)—PUBLIC SERVICE CORPORATION CROSSING—SUBSTITUTION.

Where in the exercise of a right conferred by statute upon a public service corporation, a public highway is interrupted by the work which the public service corporation is authorized to construct, there is an implied obligation that the public service corporation shall maintain an adequate substitute for the highway by a bridge or other means. [The King v. Alberta R. & Irrigation Co., 3 A.L.R. 70, affirmed on appeal; Alberta R. & Irrigation Co. v. The King, 44 Can. S.C.R. 505, reversed on appeal.]

R. v. Alberta Railway & Irrigation Co., 7 D.L.R. 513, [1912] A.C. 827.

(§ V B—257)—STREET WIDENING—BUILDING RESTRICTIONS—EXPROPRIATION—COMPENSATION.

Upon an arbitration to determine the compensation to which a land owner is entitled for the expropriation under a city by-law of a strip of his land for the widening of a contiguous street, the arbitrator may properly consider (a) the damage suffered by the owner in being precluded from erecting commercial buildings on the expropriated strip, (b) that, although the city had passed a prior by-law rendering the property residential and restricting the erection of any building within a fixed distance of the street, such by-law might later on be repealed and the property might thereupon become commercial.

Re Gibson and Toronto, 11 D.L.R. 529, 28 O.L.R. 20.

C. ABANDONMENT; CLOSING.

(§ V C—260)—ABANDONMENT; CLOSING.

Where an original road allowance was opened up and actually used by the public throughout its entire length, the fact that, for a short distance, it is only traveled occasionally does not amount to an abandonment; the road opened up by an abutting owner across his land not "in lieu" or "in place" of the original road allowance is in addition to and not in substitution thereof, and the abutting owner cannot claim the benefit of the provisions of 3 Edw. VII. (Ont.), c. 19, s. 642, by which an abutting owner who encloses an unopened road allowance with a lawful fence where he has provided a substituted road, is legally possessed thereof against any private person.

Mills v. Freed, 5 D.L.R. 679, 4 O.W.N. 79, 23 O.W.R. 45, affirming 2 D.L.R. 923, 3 O.W.N. 1240.

DEDICATION—ACCEPTANCE BY CITY—ABANDONMENT—FAILURE TO OPEN—TITLE DEDICATORS TO.

Upon the failure of a city to open and use as a public highway the land dedicated therefor on a plan filed in the land titles office, and duly accepted by the city as a highway, the title thereto is not re-vested in the dedicators, under s. 44 of the Ontario Land Surveyors Act, 1 Geo. V. c. 42, as amended by 2 Geo. V. c. 17, s. 32, subject to the land Titles Act, 10 Edw. VII. c. 60, s. 85, for the amendment or alteration of plans, notwithstanding that the city ignored such dedication and acceptance, and that the city council subsequently adopted by-laws looking towards the opening of such highway, but under which nothing was ever done.

Re Toronto Plan M. 188, 11 D.L.R. 424, 28 O.L.R. 41.

ABANDONMENT OF ROAD BY ROAD COMPANY.

A road company incorporated under the provisions of the General Road Companies Act, taking a conveyance of a road from a county corporation upon terms requiring the company to keep and maintain the road in repair is not debarred thereby from exercising its statutory right to abandon the whole or any part of the road, as contemplated by that statute.

Ottawa & Gloucester Road Co. v. Ottawa, 10 D.L.R. 218, 4 O.W.N. 1015, 24 O.W.R. 344. [Affirmed, 13 D.L.R. 944.]

Where in pursuance of a municipal by-law a portion of a public road was diverted to run a different course and the use to the former piece of road was granted to certain mill-owners, but on which public traffic continued, does not operate as an abandonment or as a change of the public character thereof so as to entitle one through whose land it traversed to fence it in or to erect any barriers thereon.

Nolin v. Gosselin, 18 Rev. de Jur. 306.

MUNICIPAL CORPORATION—CLOSING STREETS—“PASSAGE OF BY-LAW”—COMING INTO FORCE OF BY-LAW—TIME FOR APPEALING.

Winnipeg v. Brock, 45 Can. S.C.R. 271.

(V C—263)—CLOSING OF STREET—WORK DONE BY RAILWAY COMPANY—POWERS OF DOMINION RAILWAY BOARD—INJURY TO NEIGHBOURING LANDOWNERS—DAMAGES.
Seguin v. Hawkesbury, 11 D.L.R. 843, 4 O.W.N. 1409, 24 O.W.R. 695.

STREET—ACCEPTANCE AND IMPROVEMENT BY CITY—DISCONTINUANCE OR CLOSING.

A street that has been conveyed to and taken over as such by a city and in which a sewer has been constructed can be closed only by appropriate action on the part of the municipality, and not by an application by landowners to amend the registered plan under the Ontario Registry Act, 10 Edw. VII. c. 60, s. 85, or the Land Titles Act (Ont.), 1 Geo. V. c. 28, s. 110, by closing the street as laid out on the plan.

Re Toronto Plan M. 188, 11 D.L.R. 424, 28 O.L.R. 41.

MUNICIPAL CORPORATION — CLOSING OF STREET — INJURY TO NEIGHBOURING LANDS — COMPENSATION — AWARD — AMOUNT OF — APPEAL — VALUE OF PROPERTY DEPENDENT UPON EXISTENCE OF ACCESS BY CLOSED STREET.
Re Neal and Port Hope, 7 O.W.N. 264.

COUNTY—APPROVAL.

A municipal corporation may by by-law order the abolition of a road established by a process verbal. As a general principle a process verbal can always be repealed or amended by a process verbal or by-law. A by-law ordering the closing of a road serving for passage to and from a neighboring local municipality, can only be put in force after approval by the county council.

Morrisette v. Canton Tremblay, 52 Que. S.C. 474.

MUNICIPALITY—BY-LAW TO CLOSE STREET—MEANING OF “PASSAGE OF THE BY-LAW”—DELEGATION OF POWERS OF COUNCIL.

Winnipeg v. Brock, 20 Man. L.R. 669, 18 W.L.R. 28.

VI. Highway officers.

(§ VI—265)—Road Commissioners in the Province of Quebec are entrusted with the management, making and repairing of roads; but this trust comprises the roaded only and does not extend to the construction and maintenance of sidewalks, which fall exclusively, under the jurisdiction of the municipal corporations within which they are situate.

Raby v. Road Commissioners; Road Commissioners v. St. Paul and Montreal, 2 D.L.R. 511, 42 Que. S.C. 26.

(§ VI—266)—PATHMASTERS.

A pathmaster acting within the scope of his instructions from a municipality is not liable to an abutting owner for the removal of a fence erected by the latter enclosing a portion of a road allowance.

Mills v. Freed, 5 D.L.R. 679, 4 O.W.N. 79, 23 O.W.R. 45, affirming 2 D.L.R. 923, 3 O.W.N. 1240.

HOLIDAYS.

CRIMINAL LAW—WARRANT OF COMMITMENT—FORM OF CONVICTION—HABEAS CORPUS—NEW WARRANT—STATUTORY HOLIDAY—THE SASKATCHEWAN TEMPERANCE ACT.

The defendant was, on Labor Day, a statutory holiday, convicted of an offence under the Saskatchewan Temperance Act and sentenced to imprisonment with hard labor. The conviction and also the warrant of commitment described the offence in accordance with form “F” of the Act. On an application for a writ of habeas corpus the crown filed by way of substitution a new warrant of commitment omitting the penalty of hard labor. Held, that the new warrant of commitment was good. That the conviction of the accused on a statutory holiday was legal. That the conviction being in the form prescribed by the statute was sufficient notwithstanding an apparent discrepancy between the wording of the form and that of the offence in the statute.

R. v. Hengartner, 12 S.L.R. 391, [1919] 3 W.W.R. 320.

HOMESTEAD.

I. THE EXEMPTION GENERALLY.

- A. In general; who may claim.
- B. In what property.
- C. Establishment by occupancy.

II. CREDITORS' RIGHTS.

III. LOSS; ABANDONMENT.

IV. ALIENATION, ENCUMBRANCE AND TRANSMISSION OF EXEMPT PROPERTY.

- A. Sale, lease, or mortgage.
- B. Transmission in case of death.
- V. ALLOTMENT AND SETTING APART.

I. The exemption generally.

A. IN GENERAL; WHO MAY CLAIM.

(§ I A—1)—IN GENERAL.

Land acquired as a homestead under the Dominion Lands Act and exempt from execution under the Exemptions Act, c. 47, R.S.S. 1909, will become liable to execution immediately upon the land ceasing to be a “homestead.” Though an execution is registered against land which is really a homestead acquired under the Dominion Lands Act, and hence exempt from execution under the Exemptions Act, such registration does not constitute a cloud upon title, but is merely an "apparent charge," since the land may at any time cease to be a "homestead" by the act of the debtor and it would then immediately become liable to the execution. Whether a piece of land is a homestead under the Dominion Lands Act, and hence exempt from execution under the Exemptions Act, is a question for the court and not for the registrar to decide.

Trotter v. National Mfg. Co., 8 D.L.R. 138, 5 S.L.R. 244, 22 W.L.R. 615, 3 W.W.R. 383.

B. IN WHAT PROPERTY.

(§ I B—5)—EXTENT OF—CAVEAT FILED BY WIFE—HUSBAND ONLY HALF INTEREST.

The protection given to a wife by an Act respecting Homesteads (1915, c. 29), is limited to the quarter-section (not exceeding 160 acres) upon which the home is situate, and her right to claim the protection of the Act is not affected by the fact that the husband owns only an undivided half interest therein.

McDongall v. McDongall, 12 S.L.R. 289, [1919] 2 W.W.R. 637.

PROCEEDS OF FORCED SALE—VOLUNTARY TRANSFER.

The surplus proceeds after the involuntary or forced sale of a homestead under process of law still retain their exempt character. The 1913 Amendment to s. 118 (2) of the Land Titles Act does not affect a voluntary transfer, if made by the debtor to a member of his family.

National Trust Co. v. Staneul, 7 W.W.R. 1389.

REGISTERED OWNER—ALIENATION—CONSENT—CAVEAT.

A "homestead" under the Act respecting Homesteads, c. 29, 1915 (Sask.), against the alienation of which without her consent a wife may file a caveat, may be land of which the husband is not the registered owner.

Re Land Titles Act and Homestead Act; Re Wolter, [1917] 3 W.W.R. 573.

C. ESTABLISHMENT BY OCCUPANCY.

(§ I C—10)—ACTUAL OCCUPANCY—TEMPORARY ABSENCE—INTENTION TO RETURN—EXEMPTION.

"Actual occupancy" of a homestead to satisfy the requirements of the Alberta Exemption Ordinance, N.W.T. 1911, c. 27, does not necessarily imply constant personal presence there, and a temporary absence necessitated by some casualty or for the purposes of business or pleasure may be consistent with "actual occupancy," provided there is a constant and abiding intention to return. The "homestead" which, as against execution creditors, is under s. 2 of the Alberta Exemption Ordinance, protected as exempt, means the "home residence" or "home place" or "actual residence" of the debtor and his family. [Re Claxton, 1 Terr. L.R. 282; Re Hetherington, 3 S.L.R. 232, applied.]

Hart v. Rye, 16 D.L.R. 1, 5 W.W.R. 1280, 27 W.L.R. 9.

II. Creditor's rights.

FRAUDULENT CONVEYANCES.

A transfer of a homestead exempt from seizure under execution cannot be set aside on the ground that it was made to defeat prospective creditors.

Wonderburg v. Fulmer, [1919] 3 W.W.R. 183.

III. Loss; abandonment.

(§ III—20)—ABANDONMENT—RIGHT TO RECOVER BACK—AGREEMENT—AMENDMENT.

One cannot succeed in an action for the recovery of homestead lands, which he abandoned in favour of a company to enable it to erect a smelting plant, after the latter had ceased to operate and later went into liquidation, in the absence of an agreement for the reconveyance of the land upon such event; if, however, such agreement can be gathered from the subsequent dealings by the parties, the Court will direct an amendment of the pleadings for the purpose of establishing it.

Drum v. Fowler, 26 D.L.R. 1, 33 W.L.R. 142, 9 W.W.R. 766.

(§ III—23)—WAIVER.

The right of exemption of a homestead from seizure under execution under Rev. Ord. 1911 (Alta.), c. 27, although once complete, may cease by reason of some act or conduct on the part of the owner forfeiting his claim to exemption.

Love v. Bilodeau, 7 D.L.R. 175, 5 A.L.R. 548, 22 W.L.R. 689, 3 W.W.R. 81.

IV. Alienation; encumbrance and transmission of exempt property.

A. SALE, LEASE OR MORTGAGE.

(§ IV A—25)—ALIENATION.

Whether land on which an execution was levied was a homestead, or whether a sale thereof to another rendered it liable to an execution registered in the land titles office prior to such sale, are mixed questions of law and fact.

Re Price, 4 D.L.R. 407, 5 S.L.R. 318, 21 W.L.R. 299, 2 W.W.R. 394.

ALIENATION—BEFORE PATENT.

The provision of the Dominion Lands Act rendering void assignments or transfers of homesteads or purchased homesteads before the issue of letters patent does not apply to land as to which the locator had obtained the cancellation of his homestead entry and the substitution of a location upon half-breed scrip. [See R.S.C. 1906, c. 55, s. 142.]

Gladu v. Edmonton Land Co., 19 D.L.R. 688, 8 A.L.R. 80, 29 W.L.R. 685, 7 W.W.R. 279.

(§ IV A—30)—TRANSFER OF — PARTIES —
SIGNATURE OF WIFE.

Overtor v. Gettity, 30 D.L.R. 282, 9 S.L.R. 262, 34 W.L.R. 875, 10 W.W.R. 1113.

EXECUTION AGAINST—MORTGAGE—PRIORITY.

A homestead in Saskatchewan is free from the operation of any writ of execution, and the owner is entitled to dispose of it as he sees fit. A mortgage takes priority over an execution registered against the homestead although registered subsequently.

Pollock v. Holitski, 42 D.L.R. 491, 11 S.L.R. 352, [1918] 3 W.W.R. 41.

EXCHANGE—PARENT AND CHILD—CROWN GRANT—AGREEMENT—NEW BARGAIN.

A father entered into an agreement to exchange his homestead for that of his son's. At the time of the agreement the son had not obtained a Crown grant for his homestead. After the son had received his Crown grant two letters passed between them with reference to the exchange that contained all the elements necessary to create a binding agreement. On the death of the son, his wife, who became administratrix of his estate, brought an action to enforce the agreement. Held, that the original agreement was void under s. 142 of the Dominion Lands Act, but that as the letters that passed between father and son after the son obtained a Crown grant to his homestead, contained all the elements necessary to create an enforceable contract, they should be treated as a new bargain, and the exchange of the properties should be enforced.

Cotton v. Leighton, 24 B.C.R. 253.

GENERAL RELEASE BY WIFE OF HER RIGHTS—
REGISTRATION—NECESSITY OF JUDGE'S ORDER—HOMESTEAD ACT, AS AMENDED
BY S. 2 (2), C. 27, 1916 (SASK.).

Re Land Titles Act; Re Homesteads Act, [1918] 1 W.W.R. 504.

RIGHT OF ALIENATION—BONA FIDE PUR-CHASER.

The father and mother of 12 children who, as such, have benefited by the free grant of a lot of land under 55-56 Vict. c. 79, can only dispose of it in favour of one or more of their children by gift inter vivos, or by will. Any other alienation is fundamentally void. A subsequent purchaser of a lot of this kind who does not know the origin of it, is a holder in good faith, and has the right of retention for his improvements and outlay.

Naud v. Lambert, 53 Que. S.C. 403.

LEASE—NULLITY—RIGHT TO CROP.

A lease of homestead or pre-emption lands is void as being in contravention of the Dominion Lands Act, s. 31; but corn grown at the sole expense of the person taking the void lease is the property of that person, and not of the lessor.

Bunce v. Galvin Walston Lumber Co., 10 W.W.R. 797.

HUSBAND AND WIFE—ACT RESPECTING HOME-STEADS, 1915, C. 29—APPLICATION BY HUSBAND FOR ORDER DISPENSING WITH WIFE'S SIGNATURE — WHETHER WIFE
LIVING APART UNDER CIRCUMSTANCES
DISENTITLING HER TO ALIMONY—NECES-SITY OF ESTABLISHING SUCH CASE BE-YOND QUESTION — PREFERABLY DECIDED BY ACTION RATHER THAN BY ISSUE
RAISED ON APPLICATION UNDER HOME-STEAD ACT—INFERENCE FROM WIFE NOT BRINGING ACTION.

The provision of the Act respecting Homesteads, 1915, c. 29, as amended by c. 27 of 1916, that where the wife of the owner is living apart from her husband under circumstances disentitling her to alimony a judge may dispense with her signature and acknowledgment, is only intended to apply to those cases in which it is shown beyond all question that the wife is disentitled to alimony. The question whether a wife is or is not entitled to alimony should and could more properly be decided in the ordinary action with the usual procedure than in an issue raised by the husband on an application under said Act for an order dispensing with her signature. The husband's application for such an issue was dismissed without prejudice to his making a further application, the court expressing the view that if no action were brought for alimony within a reasonable time it would be cogent evidence that the wife abandoned any real intention to claim alimony and the court might conclude that the circumstances under which she was living apart from her husband were such as disentitled her to alimony.

Re Homestead Act, C's Case, [1919] 3 W.W.R. 30.

REAL PROPERTY—HUSBAND AND WIFE—AN ACT RESPECTING HOMESTEADS — SIGNA-TURE BY WIFE NECESSARY TO MORTGAGE OF HOMESTEAD—AFFIDAVIT OF ATTESTA-
TION OF HER SIGNATURE UNNECESSARY.

Under s. 2 of the Act respecting homesteads, the registrar cannot register a mortgage of homestead land if it is not signed by the mortgagor's wife, although in a paper attached to the mortgage she purports to have relinquished her homestead rights in favour of the mortgagee. Semble an affidavit of attestation by the witness to her signature is not necessary, due compliance with the forms required by the Act being sufficient.

Re Land Titles Act, [1919] 1 W.W.R. 711.

B. TRANSMISSION IN CASE OF DEATH.

(§ IV B—35)—ORDER AUTHORIZING SALE
BY ADMINISTRATOR—NULLITY.

The holder of a homestead entry in the railway belt died without obtaining a Crown grant or recommendation for patent. The official administrator obtained an order for the administration of the estate and a further order, under the Intestate Estates Act, R.S.B.C. 1897, c. 106, authorizing him to sell deceased's real estate. He then executed an agreement for sale of the homestead to the plaintiff. In an action for specific performance of the agreement, held, that the agreement for sale was null and void under the provisions of s. 28 of the regulations affecting Dominion Lands in Railway Belt in British Columbia. [American Abell Engine & Thresher Co. v. McMillan, 42 Can. S.C.R. 377, followed.]

Johnson v. Anderson, 20 B.C.R. 471.

V. Allotment and setting apart.

(§ V-40)—PATENT—PERIOD OF RESIDENCE.

A residence for 6 months, though not continuous, in each of 3 years between the date of entry and the application for patent, is sufficient to prevent the setting aside of a patent to a homestead.

R. v. Connaught and McDougall, [1917] 2 W.W.R. 830.

TRANSFER TO WIFE WHILE EXEMPT—EXECUTION AGAINST TRANSFEROR—REGISTRATION AGAINST LAND.

Hamilton v. McCraig, 4 S.L.R. 193, 18 W.L.R. 84.

HOMESTEAD—WHEN IT CEASES TO BE EXEMPT—INTENTION OF DEBTOR.

Re Dallin, 4 S.L.R. 158, 17 W.L.R. 557.

HOMESTEAD EXEMPTION—REGISTRATION OF EXECUTIONS IN LAND TITLES OFFICE.

Gilmore v. Callies, 19 W.L.R. 545.

HOMICIDE.

I. IN GENERAL.

II. WHAT REDUCES CRIME TO MANSLAUGHTER.

III. EXCUSABLE OR JUSTIFIABLE HOMICIDE.

A. In general.

B. Self-defence.

Confession, justification, self-defence, see Evidence, VIII—674.

I. In general.

(§ I-2)—MANSLAUGHTER—CRIMINAL NEGLECT OF INFIRM FATHER.

A son who has received his aged father into his household and undertaken his care and support may be convicted of manslaughter if the father dies from exposure while under the son's charge and from insufficient care and food where the son had the means to supply the food and the means to prevent the father from suffering from exposure, but was reckless whether the father died or not and was wickedly negligent with respect to the duty owed to the father who was incapacitated by old age, infirmity and illness from looking after himself or from withdrawing himself from the son's charge; the charge is one imposed upon the son "by law" within the meaning of Cr. Code, s. 241, under such circumstances.

The King v. Dalke, 27 D.L.R. 633, 25 Can. Cr. Cas. 98, 33 W.L.R. 113.

(§ I-4)—INTENT—ACT CALCULATED TO CAUSE DEATH—SHOOTING.

If a person deliberately does an act which was calculated to cause the death of another, he will be presumed to have intended the death of that other, although he may have hoped that death would not result; and, where death results, he will be liable to be convicted of murder unless he proves extenuating circumstances which may reduce the act from murder to manslaughter or to justifiable or excusable homicide. If the firing of the fatal shot was done for the purpose of facilitating the commission of robbery or the flight of the robber, but not with the intention of doing grievous bodily harm, the offence is manslaughter and not murder.

R. v. Krafchenko, 17 D.L.R. 244, 24 Man. L.R. 652, 22 Can. Cr. Cas. 277, 28 W.L.R. 76, 6 W.W.R. 836

(§ I-5)—MANSLAUGHTER—EVIDENCE—NEGLECT OF HUSBAND TO PROVIDE MEDICAL ATTENDANCE.

R. v. Sanderson, 31 Can. Cr. Cas. 60.

(§ I-6)—NEGLECT—COLLISION OF SHIPS—FINDINGS—DEPOSITIONS.

If a commitment for trial for manslaughter, based on alleged negligence, is found on a habeas corpus application to be entirely unsupported by evidence, the prisoner will be discharged on the ground of want of jurisdiction in the magistrate to commit.

R. v. Mackey (N.S.), 29 Can. Cr. Cas. 167. [See 40 D.L.R. 287, 29 Can. Cr. Cas. 282, 419.]

ENGAGING IN UNLAWFUL ACT—CONSTRUCTIVE HOMICIDE.

Where defendants are charged with homicide as resulting from the physical act of the deceased himself, but alleged to have been caused by the unlawful acts in which the accused were then engaged towards the deceased, not involving physical force or compulsion on their part against him, they are not guilty of culpable homicide unless the act of the deceased from which death resulted (i.e., in this case using as a club a gun reversed) was induced by threats or fear of violence, or by deception.

Graves v. The King (No. 4), 9 D.L.R. 589, 47 Can. S.C.R. 568, 12 E.L.R. 332, reversing 9 D.L.R. 175, which affirmed 9 D.L.R. 30.

WHILE ENGAGED IN UNLAWFUL ACT—PRIZE FIGHT OR BOXING CONTEST—DEATH OF CONTESTANT IN RING.

On a trial for manslaughter against one of the contestants in a so-called boxing contest in respect of the death of the other contestant in the ring following a knockout blow, the jury in considering whether the contest was one prohibited by the provisions of the Cr. Code, as to prize fights, may take into consideration the weight of the gloves as bearing on the intention that the fight should terminate by one or the other being incapacitated, although limited to ten rounds.

R. v. Pelkey, 12 D.L.R. 780, 21 Can. Cr. Cas. 387, 6 A.L.R. 103, 24 W.L.R. 804, 4 W.W.R. 1055.

ACTION AGAINST OWNER OF MOTOR VEHICLE FOR RUNNING OVER AND KILLING A PERSON—NEGLIGENCE—PARTICULARS.

Cuperman v. Ashdown, 20 Man. L.R. 424, 16 W.L.R. 687.

(§ 1—8)—MANSLAUGHTER—SEDUCTION FOLLOWED BY DEATH.

A man engaged in a criminal act is liable for its indirect as well as for its direct consequences, and a verdict of manslaughter for the death of a young girl under the age of consent will be supported if it appears that the accused had induced her to go alone with him to a secluded apartment and there had criminal sexual intercourse with her, following which she had jumped from the window to the street to get away from him and was instantly killed by the fall.

R. v. Valade, 26 Can. Cr. Cas. 233, 22 Rev. de Jur. 524.

(§ 1—12)—WILFUL EXPOSURE OF CHILD—EVIDENCE AS TO CAUSE OF DEATH—SUFFICIENCY.

That the accused took his new-born illegitimate child out of doors on a cool day and left it exposed with no covering other than a little straw on the day of its birth and that it died shortly afterwards, is sufficient to show that death resulted from or was hastened by his failure to properly care for the child so as to make him guilty of culpable homicide. [See Cr. Code, R.S.C. 1906, ss. 256, 259, 262.]

R. v. Hammond, 14 D.L.R. 804, 6 S.L.R. 363, 26 W.L.R. 153, 5 W.W.R. 704.

MATERIAL QUESTION AS TO NUMBER OF PERSONS PRESENT AT QUARREL—CONFLICTING TESTIMONY OF SAME WITNESS—JUDGE'S CHARGE—ERROR IN REVERSING THE ORDER OF WITNESSES' STATEMENTS.

The King v. De Marco, 17 Can. Cr. Cas. 497.

II. What reduces crime to manslaughter.

(§ II—15)—MURDER—EVIDENCE POINTING TO MANSLAUGHTER—COURT'S DUTY TO INSTRUCT.

On the trial of an accused on a charge of murder, when the evidence shows that the jury may reasonably infer a case of manslaughter, there must be a direction on that point. Semble, a judge ought to be slow to arrive at the conclusion that there are no circumstances that would justify a verdict of manslaughter.

R. v. Jagat Singh, 25 Can. Cr. Cas. 281, 32 W.L.R. 637, 9 W.W.R. 514.

(§ II—17)—PROVOCATION.

If the defendants had no intention, when they assembled in front of the residence of the deceased, beyond that of annoying him and his family, against whom they had some ill feeling, and if, being drunk, their passions were inflamed by the production by the deceased of a loaded gun, and the deceased used the gun as a club and was mortally wounded by its accidental discharge, and if the death was hastened by the subsequent battery of the deceased by defendants in sudden and uncontrollable passion on seeing the gun and hearing its discharge, which caused them to think they had been shot at and that one of them had been wounded by the shooting, although in fact he had only been hit with the stock of the gun, the crime of the defendants, if any, was manslaughter, and not murder.

R. v. Graves (No. 2), 9 D.L.R. 30, 46 N. S.R. 305, 20 Can. Cr. Cas. 384, 12 E.L.R. 1. [But see R. v. Graves (No. 3), 9 D.L.R. 175; and Graves v. The King (No. 4), 9 D.L.R. 589, 21 Can. Cr. Cas. 44, 47 Can. S.C.R. 568.]

PROVOCATION — DIRECTING JURY — MANSLAUGHTER ON MURDER CHARGE.

Where there are no circumstances in evidence which could reduce the charge of murder to manslaughter, such as sudden provocation, the Trial Judge need not direct the jury that they have the alternative power to find a verdict of manslaughter. [Eberts v. The King, 7 D.L.R. 538, 20 Can. Cr. Cas. 273, applied.]

R. v. Sparkes, 41 D.L.R. 102, 51 N.S.R. 482, 29 Can. Cr. Cas. 116.

(§ II—18)—DRUNKENNESS.

Homicide is reduced from murder to manslaughter where the accused, at the time he committed the act, was so under the influence of liquor that his reason was deranged and he did not know what he was doing or know that he was liable to cause grievous bodily harm.

R. v. Studdard, 26 D.L.R. 271, 25 Can. Cr. Cas. 81.

III. Excusable or justifiable homicide.

A. IN GENERAL.

(§ III A—20)—EXCUSE — ABUSE AND THREATS.

It is no justification of homicide that the deceased had on previous occasions abused and threatened the accused so as to make the latter apprehensive either of being killed or of receiving grievous bodily harm, if, at the time of the shooting, the accused was well armed and he was in no immediate danger from the other who was neither armed nor in a position threatening attack.

R. v. Moke, 38 D.L.R. 441, 12 A.L.R. 18, 28 Can. Cr. Cas. 296, [1917] 3 W.W.R. 575.

(§ III A—21)—EXCUSE—DRESS AND COMPELSION.

Compulsion by threats of immediate death or grievous bodily harm from a person actually present at the commission of the offence, does not in point of law acquit of the crime the party so under compulsion to assist in a murder, where no actual physical force is exercised upon the person of the compelled party, nor is the nature of the offence thereby reduced; so, where matter relied upon as a confession of the accused included an exculpatory statement by him that he had been forced by an alleged third party to hand over a razor to him, with which then and there to cut the throat of the murdered person under a threat by the third party that if the accused did not give up the razor the third party would forthwith shoot the accused, and that the noise of the shooting would bring the police, it is not error for the Trial Judge to instruct the jury that such part of the prisoner's story, even if believed, formed no excuse in law and that his participation would make him an accessory liable as for the principal offence under s. 69 C. Cr. Code.

R. v. Farduto, 19 D.L.R. 669, 21 Can. Cr. Cas. 144, 19 Rev. Leg. 165.

(§ III A—22) — ACCIDENTAL SHOOTING — HUNTING IN CLOSE SEASON.

The criminal liability of the accused, who while hunting with his friend accidentally shot the latter while aiming at what he believed to be a moose, is not sufficiently enhanced by the circumstances that the hunting took place in the close season (the latter infringement being merely malum prohibitum and not malum in se) to warrant a conviction for manslaughter on that ground alone, and the jury may be directed to acquit unless they find that the accused was criminally negligent in discharging the gun without exercising due care and precaution.

R. v. Oxley, 19 D.L.R. 721, 23 Can. Cr. Cas. 262.

(§ III A—24) — DEFENCE OF BROTHER—JUSTIFIABLE OR EXCUSABLE HOMICIDE—CR. CODE, ss. 52 AND 55.

R. v. Callahan, 26 Can. Cr. Cas. 93.

B. SELF-DEFENCE.

(§ III B—25) — BURDEN OF PROOF.

When on a murder trial, homicide by the accused is proved, it is for the latter, if he claims to justify his act as one of self-defence, to prove that the mode of defence that he employed was necessary.

R. v. Shayanez, 26 Can. Cr. Cas. 438, 25 Que. K.B. 316.

(§ III B—28) — DANGER—PLACING IN FEAR OF VIOLENCE—COUNTER ATTACK.

Where the deceased took a gun to drive away several persons who had unlawfully congregated and were causing a disturbance in front of his house, and in handling the gun, took it by the barrel and used it as a club, its accidental discharge upon himself when so used, although resulting in his death, is not sufficient, where it does not appear that the deceased had been placed in any fear of violence from the accused, to charge the disturbers with murder, even if their acts prior thereto technically constituted an assault.

R. v. Graves (No. 2), 9 D.L.R. 30, 46 N.S.R. 305, 20 Can. Cr. Cas. 384, 12 E.L.R. 1. [But see R. v. Graves (No. 3), 9 D.L.R. 175; and Graves v. The King (No. 4), 9 D.L.R. 589, 21 Can. Cr. Cas. 44, 47 Can. S.C.R. 568.]

BAIL FOR PRISONER COMMITTED TO TRIAL—JUSTIFIABLE HOMICIDE—SELF-DEFENCE.
R. v. Monvoisin, 20 Man. L.R. 568, 18 Can. Cr. Cas. 122, 17 W.L.R. 633.

HOMOLOGATION (QUE).

See Motions and Orders.

HORSE RACE.

EXHIBITION ASSOCIATION — HORSE RACE — CONDITIONS OF QUALIFICATIONS.

A condition in a horse race for a prize donated by an exhibition association that each horse contesting should be "trained" in a specified district implies that the training should have taken place wholly in such district and a horse is disqualified from the contest, and its owner disentitled to the prize money on his horse taking first place, where the horse, although trained partly in such district, had been taken out of it and trained elsewhere within a few months prior to the race.

Sporle v. Edmonton Exhibition Association Ltd., 14 D.L.R. 769, 26 W.L.R. 100. [Affirmed, 18 D.L.R. 747, 7 A.L.R. 383.]

BOOK-MAKING — ACTION, CAUSE OF — CONSPIRACY—BOOKMAKER—EXCLUSION OF, FROM RACE TRACK—INTERFERENCE WITH BUSINESS.

Scully v. Madigan, 4 O.W.N. 394, 23 O. W.R. 876.

HORSES.

See Animals; Highways; Negligence; Railways; Street Railways; Automobiles.

HOSPITALS.

Election of trustees, powers, charter, by-law, see Companies, IV A—35.

Municipal statutory liability for maintenance of resident sick, see Municipal Corporations, II A—30.

The "trust fund doctrine," under which the funds of a public hospital were deemed exempt from liability for damages, has no longer any application, and on the principle of respondeat superior such hospital is liable for the negligence of a nurse who in the course of her duty had inflicted burns on a patient after an operation not under the orders of the surgeons or physicians.

Lavere v. Smith's Falls Public Hospital, 26 D.L.R. 346, 35 O.L.R. 98, reversing 24 D.L.R. 866, 34 O.L.R. 216.

A patient in an apparently normal condition, and in no apparent need of any special attention who, during a short absence of the nurse in charge, leaves the room and is on the following day found drowned in a creek in the proximity of the hospital, presents no case from which a jury could reasonably find the physician or his nurse guilty of want of reasonable care in discharging their duties and should therefore be withdrawn from their consideration; the fact that the defendant failed to timely notify the authorities of the patient's disappearance is immaterial in the absence of evidence that such failure was the cause of the patient's death.

Brandeis v. Weldon, 27 D.L.R. 235, 22 B.C.R. 405, 10 W.W.R. 45.

MEDICAL SUPERINTENDENT — WRONG DIAGNOSIS.

Where a workman pays a monthly sum out of his wages to an institution in order to secure hospital treatment and medical attention, a contract is created and an action for damages for negligence will lie against the institution as well as the medical attendant where the workman has occasion to use the hospital and receives unskilful treatment amounting to malpractice whereby he suffers injury. (Hillier v. St. Bartholomew's Hospital, [1909] 2 K.B. 820; and Evans v. Liverpool Corporation, [1906] 1 K.B. 160, distinguished.)

Thomson v. Columbia Coast Mission, 15 D.L.R. 656, 20 B.C.R. 115, 26 W.L.R. 861, 5 W.W.R. 999.

The obtaining of the consent of the municipality within which certain lands lie, to the use of said lands by another municipality for an isolation hospital required under s. 104 of the Public Health Act, R.S.O. 1897, c. 248, is not a condition precedent to the acquiring municipality's power to make the purchase.

Verner v. Toronto, 1 D.L.R. 539, 3 O.W.N. 586, 21 O.W.R. 170.

LIABILITY TO MUNICIPALITY FOR CARE AND MAINTENANCE — PARENT AND CHILD.

Where a child taken to a municipal hospital by its father is not brought there of the father's own free will, but because he believes he is compelled to do so by officials whom he believes to be authorized to so compel him and the hospital authorities receive the child in the belief that the superintendent of neglected children will be responsible for the expense of its care, the father cannot be held liable for such expense.

Prince Albert v. Sturgill, [1917] 3 W.W.R. 451.

HOTELS.

As to sale of liquors, see Intoxicating Liquors.

Hotel Act, loan by-law, validity, see Municipal Corporations, II C—60.

HOUSE OF ILL-FAME.

See Disorderly Houses.

HUSBAND AND WIFE.

I. RIGHTS, LIABILITIES AND DISABILITIES GENERALLY.

- a. Of husband.
- b. Of wife.
- c. Joint liabilities.

II. PROPERTY RIGHTS; TRANSACTIONS BETWEEN.

- a. In general.
- b. Estate by entireties.
- c. Community property.

D. Wife's separate estate or business.
E. Contracts with or conveyances to each other.

F. Conveyances or mortgages to third persons.

G. Trusts.

H. Partnership.

I. Antenuptial contract.

J. Fraud on marital rights.

K. Rights of husband's creditors.

III. ACTIONS.

a. By husband.

b. By wife.

c. By both husband and wife.

d. Between husband and wife.

IV. ABANDONMENT OF WIFE.

V. WIFE'S AUTHORITY TO SUE OR DEFEND.

As to validity of marriage, separation, see Marriage; Divorce and Separation.

Custody of children, see Divorce and Separation; Infants, I C.

As to domicile, see Domicile; Conflict of Laws.

Transactions between, see Fraudulent Conveyances.

Recovery by wife of chattels and gifts in husband's house, see Judgment, I F—46.

Annotations.

Wife's competency as witness against husband; criminal non-support: 17 D.L.R. 721.

Married women; separate estate; property rights as to wife's money in her husband's control: 13 D.L.R. 824.

Enemy alienage as affecting status of married women: 23 D.L.R. 375, 380.

Validity of foreign divorce; domicile: 33 D.L.R. 146, 156.

Foreign common-law marriage; Validity: 3 D.L.R. 247.

I. Rights, liabilities and disabilities generally.

A. OF HUSBAND.

As affected by War Relief Act, see Moratorium; Volunteers and Reservists Relief Act.

Power of husband to indorse for accommodation under wife's general power of attorney, see Principal and Agent, II A—7.

(§ I A—15)—LIABILITY OF HUSBAND FOR WIFE'S SUPPORT — NEEDY CIRCUMSTANCES — ALIMENTARY ALLOWANCE — LAW OF QUEBEC.

A decree of separation from bed and board obtained by the husband against his wife in the Superior Court of Quebec absolves him from the obligation to receive the wife into his house but it does not relieve him when resident in that province from the obligation of paying for her support when in needy circumstances in an action brought by her for an alimentary allowance while also resident in the Province of Quebec. The law of Quebec applies in deciding the question of alimentary allowance to a wife separated from bed and board, where the parties reside in that province although they were married elsewhere.

Church v. Hamilton, 20 D.L.R. 639.

LIABILITIES.

The father of a woman voluntarily living away from her husband cannot recover from his son-in-law the moneys he disbursed for the board and lodging, travels and medical attendance of his daughter, even though the husband knew thereof and had even visited his wife at her father's residence. Creditors of the wife cannot urge against the husband any greater rights than the wife herself could have brought forward.

Gladstone v. Slayton, 3 D.L.R. 27, 21 Que. K.B. 440.

(§ 1 A—16)—ON CONTRACTS BY, OR FOR SUPPORT OF, OR NECESSARIES FURNISHED TO, WIFE — ESTOPPEL.

Where a man represents a woman to be his wife, and a third party acts upon that representation to the extent of selling necessaries to the alleged wife, the man is estopped from saying that she is not his wife, in an action to recover the purchase price of the goods. [Mumro v. De Chamant, 4 Camp. 215, 216; Hawley v. Ham, Tay. 386, followed.]

Redfern v. Inwood, 8 D.L.R. 618, 27 O. L.R. 213.

NECESSARIES — LUXURIES — WHAT ARE — POSITION OF HUSBAND — HUSBAND'S PROMISE TO PAY.

Dresses at $150 and $135 for a wife whose husband earns $225 a month are not necessaries but luxuries. The fact that the husband said to send the bill over and he would see to it, is not a promise to pay if the husband at the time did not know what goods had been sold to his wife but believed them to be necessaries for which he would have paid.

Jacobs v. Colt, 46 D.L.R. 245, 55 Que. S.C. 298.

Where a deed of separation entered into by a husband and wife contains no covenant on the part of the wife to maintain herself and no covenant not to institute alimony proceedings against the husband, the wife not having released her right to be maintained, the mere agreement to live separate, and the payment of the sum of $250 by the husband to the wife, together with several debts referred to in the deed, does not relieve the husband from his liability to support and maintain the wife, even though the deed stipulated that each party should not take any proceedings against the other for the restoration of conjugal rights and each agreed not to annoy or interfere with the other in any manner whatsoever, the wife further agreeing to pay her own debts and support the two children. A husband by the act of marriage undertakes to support and maintain his wife so long as she remains faithful to him, and where the wife is living separate from the husband under circumstances which justify her so doing, the husband is bound to support her unless she has expressly renounced her rights to such support and maintenance or has means of her own which renders it unnecessary for the husband to maintain her.

Frémont v. Frémont, 6 D.L.R. 465, 26 O.L.R. 6, 21 O.W.R. 644.

LIABILITY FOR NECESSARIES—CREDIT.

The liability for necessaries furnished is determined by the question whether credit was given to the husband or the wife and when credit is extended to one of them, it cannot later be altered by varying the heading of the account.

Boland v. Skead, 24 D.L.R. 543, 48 Que. S.C. 244.

LIABILITY FOR GOODS SUPPLIED TO WIFE.

The defendant's wife purchased goods from plaintiffs from time to time during 3 years to an amount of more than $1,000. The price of the goods was charged to the wife, who occasionally made payments on account. Finally this action was brought against the husband to recover a balance of account amounting to $346. The plaintiffs had no dealings with defendant until he issued a notice that he would not be responsible for his wife's debts, when they sought to fix the debt upon him. It was proven at the trial that defendant had always furnished his wife with sufficient money to clothe and feed herself and her children, and that he knew nothing about the goods having been obtained from plaintiffs, and had expressly forbidden his wife to pledge his credit. Held, that the husband has rebutted the presumption placed upon him by law that he authorized his wife to purchase the goods.

Finch v. Minnie, 20 B.C.R. 331.

NECESSARIES CONTRARY TO HUSBAND'S CHOICE.

The husband is not liable for the price of goods ordered or accepted by his wife contrary to the choice that he himself made, though they were movables necessary for the household.

Casavant v. Ciccin, 47 Que. S.C. 412.

HUSBAND'S FAILURE TO PROVIDE MAINTENANCE — DUTY OF FATHER-IN-LAW.

A wife, whose husband does not furnish herself nor her children the necessaries of life, has a right to demand maintenance from her father-in-law if she is incapable of working. It is no defence of the latter that the husband is able to maintain his wife and children, and that, if he does not do so, it is owing to the fault of the latter.

Laporte v. Brunet, 48 Que. S.C. 74.

SEPARATION DE CORPS—MAINTENANCE.

A voluntary separation de corps between consorts does not cause the wife to lose her right to maintenance and to care necessary for her life for which her husband is under an obligation towards her as well by virtue of law as under the marriage contract. Whatever may have been the misconduct of a wife so voluntarily separated, she does not lose her recourse against the husband for assistance and support so long as the marriage ties exist or so long as it has not been declared dissolved on special grounds by a competent authority.

Bilodeau v. Chartrand, 47 Que. S.C. 249.

LIABILITY FOR MAINTENANCE AS AFFECTED BY SECOND MARRIAGE.

A second marriage does not deprive a mother of the right to a claim for the maintenance of her children. The community as to property between consorts is obliged to furnish maintenance to one of them even married a second time. The husband, as the head of the family, can be sued for a debt of the community without his wife being made a party.

Dorion v. Robert, 47 Que. S.C. 207.

NECESSARIES — HUSBAND'S LIABILITY.

The husband who after assaulting his wife, expels her from the conjugal domicile and forbids her return, cannot set up, against an action to recover advances of money to her and the cost of providing for her maintenance, that no decree en separation de corps had previously been made against him.

Tyles v. Miner, 44 Que. S.C. 395.

ALLOWANCE — HUSBAND AND WIFE — CAPACITY TO WORK — DISCONTINUATION OF ASSISTANCE — C.C., ARTS. 173, 202.

That person alone, who in a real case of destitution cannot supply his needs by his work, has a right to allowances. The judge in order to determine these facts ought to take into consideration the age, sex, state of health, social position, and the previous occupation of the plaintiff. A woman of 31 years of age without children, a dress-maker by occupation, by which she earned her living before her marriage, capable of working but who has made no serious effort to secure work, and who only relies on the pension which she demands from her husband, has no right to allowance.

Martel v. Page, 25 Rev. Leg. 254.

SALE — FOOD — RESPONSIBILITY — C.C., ARTS. 1317, 1423.

The rule recognized by jurisprudence that a married woman has a tacit authority to bind her husband in the purchase of necessities; and the rule that it is necessary to examine in order to know who is responsible for food which has been given in credit to the husband or the wife, should not be applied in an absolute manner. The particular circumstances of the opening of the account by the merchant, can prevent the application of the above rules. Thus the wife will be held responsible for payment for food stuffs when the husband is insolvent, and when she herself is a public merchant having two stores, and when the groceries and meats sold on credit have been given at her repeated requests. It does not matter that the husband recognizes his responsibility and has even given his note in payment, if the note has not been paid at maturity.

Debien v. Dumoulin, 56 Que. S.C. 271 and 542.

PRESUMPTION OF AGENCY—NECESSARIES.

The presumption of law is that a wife in purchasing necessities acts as agent for her husband and the onus is on him to rebut that presumption. [Vopni v. Bell, 8 W.L.R. 205, followed.]

Gaetz v. Jarvis, [1918] 3 W.W.R. 888.

NEGLECTING TO PROVIDE NECESSARIES FOR WIFE — PREVIOUS ACQUITTAL ON LIKE CHARGE—LAWFUL EXCUSE — INABILITY OF PRISONER.

R. v. Yuman, 22 O.L.R. 500, 17 Can. Cr. Cas. 474, 17 O.W.R. 859.

NECESSARIES OF LIFE SOLD TO FAMILY AND DEBITED TO HUSBAND — LIABILITY OF THE WIFE.

Gloutnay v. Davignon, 40 Que. S.C. 228.

(§ I A—17)—FOR TORTS OF WIFE.

A wife separate as to property, the owner of the farm on which she lives with her husband, is liable for the damage caused by a dog that belongs to him, and that she allows to remain on her property.

Theoret v. Allen, 43 Que. S.C. 401.

FRAUDULENT CONVERSION OF GAS—HUSBAND PENALLY LIABLE FOR ACT OF WIFE.

Montreal Light, Heat & Power Co. v. Dechevigny, 40 Que. S.C. 233.

(§ I A—18)—AGENCY OF WIFE.

Where a wife is living apart from her husband, by mutual consent or in any case other than that of separation duly pronounced by the court, she will not be presumed to have her husband's authority to pledge his credit, and no consent can be inferred on the husband's part to pay for his wife's expenses. [Johnson v. Summer, 27 L.J. Exch. 341, followed.]

Gladstone v. Slayton, 3 D.L.R. 27, 21 Que. K.B. 440.

AGENCY OF WIFE FOR HUSBAND — WHEN ESTABLISHED — SIGNING NOTE.

That a signature was properly affixed to a note by the wife of the maker may be inferred where the former was not called as a witness, and her husband would not deny that she had authority to sign for him.

Langley v. Joudrey, 13 D.L.R. 563, 13 E.L.R. 135. [Affirmed, 15 D.L.R. 10, 47 N.S.R. 451.]

It is a presumption of law that a wife living with her husband has his implied authority to pledge his credit for such things as fall within the domestic department ordinarily confided to her management and as are necessary to the style in which her husband chooses to live, though the presumption may be rebutted by shewing that she had no such authority.

Scott v. Allen, 5 D.L.R. 767, 26 O.L.R. 571, 22 O.W.R. 597.

LIABILITY FOR WIFE'S NOTE NOT "REGISTERED"—AGENCY.

A husband carrying on business for his wife as her attorney and who, by error, for her benefit, signs notes in her name without adding the word "registered," is not liable to the holder of the notes if the latter was aware that they were given on account of the wife.

Finlay v. Boileau, 48 Que. S.C. 444.

(§ 1 A-19)—CRIMINAL LIABILITY OF HUSBAND FOR FAILURE TO PROVIDE "NECESSARIES."

It must be established, in order to convict a husband under s. 242 Cr. Code, for failing to provide necessaries for his wife or children, whereby their death resulted, that the articles or things which, without lawful excuse, he omitted to furnish were "necessaries" within the meaning of such section of the Code, and also that the death of his wife or children followed as a result of his omission to provide them. A husband's failure to follow his wife and bring her back to his house, which she left in anger, on a bitterly cold night, and, being thinly clad, was frozen to death, does not render him criminally liable under s. 242 Cr. Code, for failure to furnish her with "necessaries," where he provided a home according to his station in life and supplied his wife, who was in possession of all her faculties, with plenty of warm clothing, and, when she left his home, he had reason to believe that she had gone to a neighbour's but instead she got lost on the way.

The King v. Sidney, 5 D.L.R. 256, 20 Can. Cr. Cas. 376, 5 S.L.R. 392, 21 W.L.R. 853, 2 W.W.R. 761.

B. OF WIFE.

(§ 1 B-20)—IN GENERAL.

The wife under control of her husband is subjected to the preliminary proceedings of conciliation under the provisions of art. 7613, R.N.Q. 1909.

Morrisette v. Auger, 14 Que. P.R. 65.

(§ 1 B-24)—DEFTS OF HUSBAND — PROPERTY OWNED BY WIFE — TRANSFER — UNDUE INFLUENCE — CONSIDERATION — VALIDITY OF TRANSFER.

Proof of false and misleading statements and undue influence on the part of a husband in whom the wife had confidence in order to obtain a transfer of land by the wife who had no independent advice, is sufficient to set aside the transfer. [Wingrove v. Wingrove, 11 P.D. 81; Bank of Montreal v. Stuart, [1911] A.C. 120 followed.]

Ashdown v. Milburn, 50 D.L.R. 523.

(§ 1 B-25)—AUTHORITY OF REPUTED WIFE — LEASE.

A married woman has implied authority to rent an immovable for the habitation of her family just as she has for the usual and ordinary affairs of the household, when the circumstances justify it. It is the same when the woman is not married but living with the man as his wife, when they present themselves to the landlord as married and allow him by their actions, by their visit together at the premises they wish to lease, by their common habitation of another house belonging to the same owner, to believe that they are really married. A verbal lease entered into by the woman renders the man responsible for the rent and for the damages incurred under the said verbal lease.

Dufresne v. Brousseau, 49 Que. S.C. 67.

(§ 1 B-26)—LIABILITY OF WIFE ON PROMISSORY NOTE AND AGREEMENT SIGNED FOR BENEFIT OF HUSBAND — DURESS — THREAT OF PROSECUTION — IMPLIED PROMISE NOT TO PROSECUTE — AGREEMENT MADE — ESTOPPEL — EVIDENCE — APPEAL — UNDUE INFLUENCE OF HUSBAND — WANT OF INDEPENDENT ADVICE.

McCallum v. Cohoe, 46 D.L.R. 733, 44 O.L.R. 497, reversing, in part, 42 O.L.R. 595.

NOTE BY WIFE — HUSBAND'S PART — INDEPENDENT ADVICE.

A married woman is liable on a promissory note signed by her as security for a debt of her husband, without any independent advice, if no undue influence was exercised upon her and the solicitor acting in the matter has done so merely as a friend and not on behalf of either husband or creditor. [Bank of Montreal v. Stuart, [1911] A.C. 120, distinguished.]

Macdonald v. Fox, 35 D.L.R. 198, 39 O.L.R. 261.

AGENCY OF HUSBAND—TO EMPLOY BROKER FOR WIFE'S PROPERTY.

A husband managing a hotel belonging to his wife has no implied authority to employ a real estate broker to lease the property, and she is not liable for the brokerage commissions, in the absence of proof that she adopted the broker's work.

McCormack v. Gallagher, 36 D.L.R. 711, 44 N.B.R. 630.

PROMISSORY NOTE SIGNED BY WIFE AT REQUEST OF HUSBAND — ABSENCE OF INDEPENDENT ADVICE — FAILURE TO SHOW MISREPRESENTATION OR MISCONDUCT.

Medland v. Cowan, 28 D.L.R. 371, 10 O.W.N. 4.

ERECTION OF BUILDING ON WIFE'S LAND — CONTRACT MADE WITH HUSBAND — AGENCY OF HUSBAND FOR WIFE—EVIDENCE — ELECTION — RATIFICATION — ESTOPPEL.

East v. Harty, 14 O.W.N. 126, affirming 12 O.W.N. 413.

(§ 1 B-27)—PROMISSORY NOTE — CONSIDERATION — ADVOCATE — FEE — CONTRACT — C.C. ARTS. 984, 1013, 1301.

A wife, separate as to property, who signs a note, is not responsible if she proves that she has taken no benefit under the note, the husband alone benefiting.

Cordasco v. Garneau, 56 Que. S.C. 1.

(§ I B-31)—POWER TO EMPLOY AGENT TO SELL LAND—CONSENT OF HUSBAND.

A wife separated as to property cannot authorize a real estate agent to sell her property and undertake to pay him a commission if he sells it, without special authority in writing from her husband.

Jacques v. Léonard, 47 Que. S.C. 344.

LIABILITY FOR SERVANT'S WAGES.

A wife who engages a domestic servant is liable for the latter's wages, although by the contract of marriage between said wife and her husband, it is stipulated that said husband undertakes to pay the expenses of marriage.

Johnson v. Hudson & Vir, 24 Rev. de Jur. 570.

POWERS OF WIFE — APPOINTMENT OF CURATORS — FILING OF CLAIM — AUTHORIZATION OF HUSBAND.

The filing of a claim by a woman separate as to property and the appointment of an attorney to represent her at the meeting of the creditors without the authorization of her husband is valid, being a pure act of administration. In the appointment of a curator, unsecured claims should receive more consideration than those secured, even by notes. In the absence of special reasons, only one curator should be appointed to a small insolvent estate, and as far as possible, he should reside in the district of the insolvent.

Savard v. Gagnon, 15 Que. P.R. 386.

(§ I B-35)—LIABILITY OF WIFE AS SECURITY — INDEPENDENT ADVICE — CHANGE OF POSITION OF PARTIES.

A creditor, without notice of any undue influence on the part of the husband in procuring his wife's signature to a security for the amount of an indebtedness due by a company of which the wife was secretary and also a shareholder, given at the instance of the husband who was manager of the company, is not bound to see that she understood the document and had proper independent advice, particularly in a case where in consideration of the delivery of the security, the creditor extended the time of credit to the debtor, advanced other goods and materially changed his position. [Bischoff's Trustees v. Frank, 89 L.T. 188; Talbot v. Van Boris, [1911] 1 K.B. 854, followed; Turnbull v. Duval, [1902] A.C. 429, distinguished.]

Gold Medal Furniture Co. v. Stephenson (No. 2), 10 D.L.R. 1, 23 Man. L.R. 159, 23 W.L.R. 664, 4 W.W.R. 7, varying 7 D.L.R. 811. [Appeal quashed, 15 D.L.R. 342, 48 Can. S.C.R. 497.]

(§ I B-36)—PROMISSORY NOTES MADE BY WIFE AS SECURITY FOR LOAN TO HUSBAND — KNOWLEDGE OF WIFE OF NATURE OF TRANSACTION — ABSENCE OF UNDUE INFLUENCE — WANT OF INDEPENDENT ADVICE.

Shilton v. Michie, 8 O.W.N. 571.

(§ I B-40)—AGENCY OF HUSBAND—SCOPE — CONTRACT FOR SALE OF WIFE'S LAND.

A husband has no original or inherent power to act as his wife's agent; and, where he purports to sell his wife's lands without due authority, she is not bound unless she has ratified his act after obtaining full knowledge of the transaction.

Beek v. Duncan (No. 2), 12 D.L.R. 762, 25 W.L.R. 11, 4 W.W.R. 1319, affirming 8 D.L.R. 648.

POWER OF ATTORNEY TO HUSBAND TO EXECUTE NOTE—SCOPE.

A husband signed a note to a bank to secure an advance to himself in his wife's name under a power of attorney containing a clause permitting him to sign notes "in which I shall be interested or concerned which shall be requisite." The power of attorney was not produced to the bank at the time the note was given and the advance made. Held, that the signing of the note by the attorney put the bank on enquiry, and, there being no evidence that the wife was interested or concerned in the note, she was not liable on the note.

Bank of Nova Scotia v. Hawkins, 31 W.L.R. 505.

WIFE'S LIABILITY FOR HUSBAND'S SERVICES — POWER OF ATTORNEY.

Article 685, C.C.P., which declares that if the debtor is in the employ of a tiers-saisi or works for him, but without receiving any salary or remuneration, the judge can order proof to be made of the value of the services or his work, does not apply to the case of a husband who, though holder of general power of attorney from his wife, only engages in her business occasionally, as he feels inclined, for receipt of her revenues, the wife being an owner of immovables and carrying on no business or industry.

Latour v. Lefebvre, 48 Que. S.C. 447.

AGENCY OF HUSBAND FOR WIFE—FINDINGS OF MASTER ON REFERENCE—VARIATION.

Brady v. Ranney, 10 O.W.N. 390.

(§ I B-41)—AGENCY OF HUSBAND—RATIFICATION — SIGNATURE OF WIFE TO AGREEMENT AS CONDITION PRECEDENT.

Where, as a condition precedent, the signature of the wife of a seller was required to an offer of sale, and the latter fraudulently passed off a simulated signature made by himself as that of his wife, the latter's subsequent ratification of the signature will be of no avail, since ratification is not equivalent to a prior mandate.

Beckman v. Wallace, 13 D.L.R. 541, 29 O.L.R. 96.

RATIFICATION.

The acceptance by consorts of a proposal made to the husband alone to purchase land owned by his wife constitutes an agreement to sell by the latter the nonfulfilment of which makes her liable to action.

Dubeau v. Greffe, 44 Que. S.C. 113.

C. JOINT LIABILITIES.

(§ I C-45)—USE OF WIFE'S PROPERTY BY HUSBAND FOR USE OF HIMSELF AND FAMILY — PRESUMPTION OF GIFT BY WIFE.

When husband and wife are living together and he uses her property or the income therefrom, for the joint use of himself and family, she is presumed to have made a gift of the same to him.

Adolf v. Adolf, 47 D.L.R. 525, [1919] 2 W.W.R. 908, reversing 12 S.L.R. 109.

SALARY — GARNISHMENT AFTER JUDGMENT — C.C. ARTS. 1031, 1034—C.C.P. ART. 685.

New laws, especially Rules of Procedure, must be interpreted in the light of the principles of the Civil Code. Married people owe each other assistance, and for this reason, they have no right to any remuneration for services rendered mutually to each other. A creditor can, by attachment, enforce his rights against his debtor, or annul any transfers or fraudulent gifts made by him; but he cannot by means of this attachment create a debt in a case where the law declares that a debt cannot exist. Thus art. 685 C.C.P. can only be applied to the case where a workman had not made an agreement as to his salary or to the case where, being insolvent, he had given up the salary which he had a right to receive; and not to the support which during marriage, the husband gives to his wife or the latter to her husband. Without explicit wording of a law the court cannot interpret it in such a way as to destroy the principles of civil rights relating to rights and duties of married people and to rights of creditors under a garnishment.

Duquette v. Dion, 56 Que. S.C. 480.

BREACH OF TRUST BY HUSBAND — KNOWLEDGE AND BENEFIT OF WIFE—LIABILITY. Harrison v. Mathieson, 9 O.W.N. 170.

LIABILITY FOR HOSPITAL EXPENSES—CHARGE ON ESTATE.

Homeood Sanitarium v. Parker, 8 O.W.N. 402.

II. Property rights; transactions between.

A. IN GENERAL.

Presumption as to ownership from possession of property, see Interpleader, 1-10.

Ownership of property for taxation purposes, see Taxes, III B-110.

(§ II A-50)—PURCHASE OF LAND BY WIFE WITH MONEY FURNISHED BY HUSBAND FOR INVESTMENT FOR JOINT BENEFIT.

A married woman who purchases land in her own name with money furnished by her from time to time by her husband from his wages and other sources, will be required to convey a half interest therein to her husband, where the money was given her for the express purpose of being invested in land for their joint benefit, share and share alike.

McKissack v. McKissack, 13 D.L.R. 822, 18 B.C.R. 401, 25 W.L.R. 95, 4 W.W.R. 1327.

PRESUMPTION — UNDUE INFLUENCE — INDEPENDENT ADVICE—ONUS.

There is no presumption of undue influence in regard to a mortgage made by a married woman as security for her husband's indebtedness to a bank, and no burden is cast on the person sustaining such transaction to prove that the wife had independent advice; the onus is upon the person attacking the transaction to prove undue influence by the husband and knowledge thereof by the creditor. [Bank of Montreal v. Stuart, [1911] A.C. 120, distinguished.]

Hutchinson v. Standard Bank, 36 D.L.R. 378, 39 O.L.R. 286.

SEPARATION AGREEMENT — POWER OF WIFE TO SELL LAND AT FIXED PRICE — MORTGAGE—LIABILITY OF HUSBAND'S SURETY.

Van Aalst v. Van Aalst, 30 D.L.R. 471, 10 A.L.R. 34, 34 W.L.R. 1222, 10 W.W.R. 1105.

LEASE BY WIFE—BOARDING-HOUSE.

Women keeping boarding houses are not public merchants. A married woman common as to property cannot enter into a personal obligation by leasing a building for a boarding-house even when her husband is absent, but she can be expelled from the premises that she occupies under the lease. Biron v. Laprade, 51 Que. S.C. 462.

SALE — TRANSFER — EVIDENCE — FIDELITY — C.C. ARTS. 770, 1205, 1483 — C.C.P. ART. 207.

The prohibition of sales between husband and wife laid down by art. 1483 C.C. is strict law and should not be extended from one case to another. The onus is on him against whom a transfer of a debt has been done between husband and wife, if he desires to ask that it be set aside. Every procedure made by a party who has been duly foreclosed, should be accompanied by the consent of the adverse party in order to be received by the prothonotary.

Arthur v. Baillargeon, 53 Que. S.C. 369.

MARRIED WOMEN'S HOME PROTECTION ACT — CAVEAT—DOWER ACT.

A caveat filed under the provisions of the Married Women's Home Protection Act, c. 4, 1915, while that Act was in effect, may be maintained until it is disposed of in the manner provided by s. 7 thereof, notwithstanding the repeal of said Act by the Dower Act, c. 14, 1917, at least in a case, where before the Dower Act came into force, the husband entered into an agreement for the sale of the land in question to a third party.

Russell v. Russell, 12 A.L.R. 111, [1917] 3 W.W.R. 549.

PRESUMPTIVE TRUSTS—CONSIDERATION.

A husband is entitled to the help and assistance of his wife, and the profits of a business carried on by them jointly, accrue to the husband solely. Where a husband deeds property to his wife without consideration, no presumption of trust arises, but the presumption is that a gift is intended. Down to the passing of 6 Geo. V., c. 29, the common law rights of a husband in his wife's real estate were unaffected as regards property received by her from him. Garnett v. Garnett, 45 N.B.R. 466.

SEPARATION OF PROPERTY — GIFT — USUFRUCT — HEIR — CREDITOR — REGISTRATION — HYPOTHEC.

One who, in a marriage contract, makes his wife a gift of $1,000, reserving to himself the usufruct during his life, is entitled, at his wife's death, to claim from her heir a separation of the property, and to register a notice against a property belonging to her estate, in order to secure his privilege against creditors of the heir. The fact that the donor might have sued his wife's heir to recover 1 year's interest on the said $1,000 has not given rise to novation, or made him lose the benefit of the separation of the assets, or rendered void the hypothecary registration.

Roi v. Peladeau, 53 Que. S.C. 97.

JUDICIAL ABANDONMENT OF GOODS—AUTHORIZATION.

When the refusal of a husband to authorize his wife to make a judicial abandonment of property is not without good grounds marital authority should be respected.

Paltiel v. Paltiel, 54 Que. S.C. 517.

REAL PROPERTY — PAYMENT — AUTHORIZATION OF HUSBAND.

When a contract is in writing, the demand for payment, in execution of the contract, must also be in writing. A demand of payment made by an advocate's letter is not sufficient. A married woman cannot renounce her rights to real property, and give real property in payment without the authority of her husband.

Dufresne v. Antonacci, 53 Que. S.C. 36.

GRAIN AND OTHER CHATTELS SEIZED ON WIFE'S FARM UNDER EXECUTION AGAINST HUSBAND — CLAIM BY WIFE — INTERPLEADER ISSUE — EVIDENCE — FINDING OF TRIAL JUDGE IN FAVOUR OF WIFE AS TO GRAIN GROWN ON FARM — FINDING IN FAVOUR OF EXECUTION CREDITOR AS TO OTHER CHATTELS — REVERSAL ON APPEAL.

Robinson v. Robinson, 15 O.W.N. 285, reversing 14 O.W.N. 199.

TRANSACTIONS BETWEEN — LAND PURCHASED IN NAME OF WIFE — ACTION BY JUDGMENT CREDITOR OF HUSBAND TO ESTABLISH TRUST.

Macdonell v. Thompson, 5 O.W.N. 654.

HOUSE AND LAND PURCHASED BY HUSBAND — ACTION BY WIFE TO ESTABLISH CO-OWNERSHIP — EVIDENCE — CONTRIBUTIONS TO PURCHASE PRICE — SEPARATE EARNINGS — GIFT — PAYMENT OF TAXES—POSSESSION.

Kraakee v. Kraakee, 7 O.W.N. 648.

CLAIM OF EXECUTRICES OF DECEASED WIFE TO INTEREST IN PROPERTY OF HUSBAND — EVIDENCE — FAILURE TO ESTABLISH PARTNERSHIP OR TRUST — CLAIM FOR MONEY LENT — DISMISSAL OF ACTION — COSTS.

Faye v. Roungous, 42 O.L.R. 435.

§ II A—52—GIFT BANK DEPOSIT.

Where a deposit in a bank, upon the refusal of the bank to pay the wife of the depositor the interest earned thereon when the husband was prevented by illness from going himself to the bank, was at the suggestion of the bank officers and with the consent of the husband, placed in the joint names of himself and wife to be withdrawable by either of them or the survivor of them, as a matter of convenience for obtaining money for household expenses, the wife upon the death of the husband who made a testamentary disposition of all his property did not become vested with the title to such deposit.

Van Wart v. Synd. of Fredericton, 5 D.L.R. 776, 42 N.B.R. 1.

C. COMMUNITY PROPERTY.

§ II C—65—CONTINUATION — INVENTORY—INSOLVENCY.

A husband's failure to make inventory of community property, which has been in a state of insolvency at the time of the wife's death, does not, by virtue of arts. 1223, etc., have the effect of causing a continuation of the community. [King v. McHenry, 30 Can. S.C.R. 459, followed.]

Laroche v. Laroche, 28 D.L.R. 709, 52 Can. S.C.R. 662, affirming 24 D.L.R. 909, 24 Que. K.B. 138.

SEPARATION FROM BED AND BOARD — COMMUNITY PROPERTY — MORTGAGE OF — FRAUD—CONTESTATION.

Lafontaine v. Guindon, 25 D.L.R. 858, 48 Que. S.C. 332.

RIGHT OF ACTION.

By Quebec law, a wife common as to property has no right of action against her husband to recover a debt due by him to her as long as the community exists.

Reid v. Pinault, 39 D.L.R. 152, 53 Que. S.C. 156, 24 Rev. de Jur. 59.

COMMUNITY PROPERTY.

A universal donation by the husband alone of the property of the community which puts in jeopardy the matrimonial rights and advantages of his wife gives to the latter a right to demand for separation de biens.

Bolduc v. Bouchard, 21 Que. K.B. 6.

As a matter of form there is nothing to prevent a married woman, even if in community as to property with her husband, from taking judicial proceedings with his authority. It is by demurrer (exception de fond) and not by exception to the form that the defendant should object that the claim set up by the plaintiff belongs to the community. Notice must be given to the adverse party of the deposit made when an exception to the form is filed. If such notice is given after the expiration of the delay for filing the exception it is too late.

Bellefeuille v. Billard, 13 Que. P.R. 331.

RIGHT TO SELL.

A married woman in community of property with her husband cannot, even authorized by a judge, sell the usufruct of an immovable, which usufruct belongs to the community.

Durnin v. Heney, 51 Que. S.C. 515.

ENFORCING RIGHTS AGAINST HEIRS.

A wife common as to property, who has the right to claim her half of the community in properties which are in possession of her husband's heirs, cannot bring against them an action for debt; her recourse is to enforce her right as heir.

O'Meara v. O'Meara, 49 Que. S.C. 334.

DOMICILE—LEASE.

A lease signed at Montreal by a married woman, who as well as her husband is then residing in that place, it is presumed until the contrary is proved, that the domicile at the time of their marriage was in the Province of Quebec, and that, therefore, the wife who signed the lease was common as to property and under the control of her husband when she signed it.

Bolté v. Brière, 49 Que. S.C. 229.

JUDGMENT AGAINST WIFE — SEIZURE OF PROPERTY OF COMMUNITY — PROCEEDS OF ILLEGAL SALE.

Dorval v. Morin, 39 Que. S.C. 494.

(§ II C—68) — DONATION TO MARRIED DAUGHTER — ACCEPTANCE — COMMUNITY AS TO PROPERTY — NO AUTHORIZATION BY HUSBAND — FAILURE OF INTENDED GIFT — ARTS. 177, 183, 776, C.C. QUE.

The appellant, by deed of cession for good and valuable consideration, gave a sum of money to his daughter, the respondent's wife, common as to property, and she accepted without the authorization of her husband. Some years later the appellant brought an action to set aside the deed as null and void. The court held that the donation required acceptance by the wife on her own behalf in the form prescribed by art. 776 C.C. (Que.) given with the authorization of her husband, evidenced either by his execution of the deed itself or otherwise in writing (art. 177 C.C. (Que.) and that for lack of such authorization the intended gift failed under art. 183 C.C. (Que.).

Pesant v. Robin, 46 D.L.R. 369, 58 Can. S.C.R. 96, reversing 27 Que. K.B. 88.

INTERDICTED HUSBAND — CONVEYANCE BY WIFE—AUTHORIZATION.

A notarial deed by which a wife transfers to one of her children all the rights in the community as to property existing between her and her interdicted husband of whom she is the curatrix, as well as her future and eventual rights in an immovable belonging to her husband in case of his death, is void, and the wife, either personally or as curatrix of her husband, can demand that it be annulled. This nullity proceeds from three causes: (a) The deed is prohibited by the statute which forbids alienation of eventual rights in the succession of a living man unless provided by marriage contract; (b) as curatrix of her husband, or personally, the wife, being subject to her husband's control, cannot execute a deed of alienation without the authority of her husband, or, failing that, the authority of a judge.

Dunn v. Wheatley, 48 Que. S.C. 245.

SEIZURE BY CREDITORS — OPPOSITION AFIN DE DISTRAIRE.

When lots of land belonging to community property between consorts are seized by a creditor, and an opposition is made by one of the heirs of the deceased wife, setting up his undivided rights and "that he intends to take proceedings in partition and licitation," this opposant has a right to demand a suspension of the seizure until after the partition and licitation of the said immovables. It is immaterial that the opposant has only a bare title in the lots seized.

Martel v. Vigneault, 47 Que. S.C. 53.

D. WIFE'S SEPARATE ESTATE OR BUSINESS.

(§ II D—70) — TITLE TO ANIMALS ACQUIRED BY HUSBAND MANAGING WIFE'S PROPERTY — EXECUTION AGAINST HUSBAND — MARRIED WOMEN'S PROPERTY ACT, R.S.S. 1909, c. 45.

Minaker v. Hadden, 37 D.L.R. 795, [1917] 3 W.W.R. 774.

POWER TO SELL—AUTHORIZATION OF JUDGE.

The authorization of a judge, under art. 181 C.C. (Que.) to a married woman, to sell her immovable property, given in general terms, without mentioning the price of the sale and the name of the buyer, is illegal, and gives no power to her to dispose of her real property.

Durnin v. Heney, 51 Que. S.C. 515.

NOTE — WANT OF AUTHORIZATION—NULLITY.

A married woman, separate as to goods, who gives a note for part of the price of property, does not do an act of administration; and if she is not authorized to sign this bill, it is void. It would be otherwise if the husband had authorized the purchase of the property for a sum which would cover the note.

Beaulieu v. Pearson, 54 Que. S.C. 361.

ANIMALS BOUGHT BY HUSBAND FOR WIFE WITH WIFE'S MONEY — PURCHASE MADE IN SASKATCHEWAN — ANIMALS AFTERWARDS BROUGHT TO ALBERTA AND BRANDED WITH WIFE'S BRAND — BILLS OF SALES ORDINANCE, C.O. C. 43 — APPLICATION OF — WHETHER TRANSACTION BONA FIDE.

Live stock branded with the registered brand of the plaintiff was seized under executions against the plaintiff's husband. The stock, except such as was obtained by increase or exchange, was bought for the plaintiff by the husband in Saskatchewan with money which had been given, either as a gift or in payment of a debt, by the husband to the plaintiff, and the stock was afterwards brought to Alberta. In an interpleader issue between the wife and execution creditors of the husband. Held, that the Bills of Sales Ordinance, C.O., c. 43, did not apply and that, there being no evidence that such investment by the husband of the wife's money was not bona fide, the issue should be decided in favour of the plaintiff.

Hett v. Craignyle Trading Co., 14 A.L.R. 331, [1919] 1 W.W.R. 679, reversing Jenison D.C.

HOUSEHOLD GOODS PURCHASED BY WIFE OUT OF SAVINGS FROM MONIES PAID TO HER BY HUSBAND AS HOUSEKEEPING ALLOWANCE — MARRIED WOMEN'S PROPERTY ACT, R.S.O. 1914, c. 149 — SEPARATE PROPERTY OF WIFE — CHATTEL MORTGAGE MADE BY HUSBAND.

Codway v. St. Louis, 12 O.W.N. 264. [Affirmed, 13 O.W.N. 45.]

(§ II D-71)—WIFE'S BUSINESS MANAGED BY HUSBAND — HUSBAND'S CREDITORS — TRUST.

Where a wife, with her own money, purchases a drug business and employs her husband at a nominal salary as manager to carry on the business in her name, the profits of the business are hers, and cannot be reached under a personal judgment against the husband, even though the drugs sold were labelled with the husband's name. The transaction discloses no fraudulent design to defeat the husband's creditors. With regard, however, to shares in a wholesale drug business purchased by the husband with his own money, and standing in the wife's name, she is merely a trustee for the husband, and the shares and profits upon the shares are liable for satisfaction of a judgment debt against the husband.

Walker v. Brown, 30 D.L.R. 204, 36 O.L.R. 287.

(§ II D-72)—RIGHTS OF HUSBAND AS TO.

There is no obligation on a wife to pay her husband any salary for his services given by him in relation to her separate business as a contracting carpenter for which there was no agreement to pay, and no execution proceedings can issue at the instance of a judgment creditor to seize any salary or wages purporting to be due by the wife of the judgment debtor to him under such circumstances.

Pion v. Fortier, 6 D.L.R. 136, 14 Que. P.R. 74, 42 Que. S.C. 407.

SEPARATE ESTATE — INCOME EXPENDED FOR JOINT BENEFIT — HUSBAND'S LIABILITY.

Where income of the wife's separate estate came to the hands of the husband and was expended for their joint purposes and advantages, the onus is upon the wife to shew by conclusive evidence that such income was dealt with by way of loan or under circumstances requiring him to repay.

Ellis v. Ellis, 12 D.L.R. 219, 24 O.W.R. 846, 4 O.W.N. 1461. [Affirmed 15 D.L.R. 100, 5 O.W.N. 561.]

MARRIED WOMAN CARRYING ON SEPARATE BUSINESS — LIABILITY OF HUSBAND — CERTIFICATE REQUIRED — MARRIED WOMEN'S PROPERTY ACT.

When a married woman carries on or proposes to carry on business as a trader, separately from her husband the husband is liable on all contracts made by her so long as the certificate required by s. 18 (1) of the Married Women's Property Act (R.S.N.S. 1900, c. 112), is not filed, but is not liable on contracts made by her after such certificate has been filed. [Browning v. Carson, 163 Mass. 255, followed.]

Brook v. Allen, 44 D.L.R. 463, 52 N.S.R. 403.

WIFE'S SEPARATE ESTATE — INTERMINGLING WITH HUSBAND'S PROPERTY.

Where a testator during his lifetime has had the handling of his wife's estate as well as his own and the two estates have to some extent been mixed, the moneys of the wife being transferred into his name or their joint names, the husband is presumed to be a trustee for the wife, at least with respect to the corpus, though the presumption of a gift is raised with reference to the income unless a contrary intention is proved.

Bartlett v. Bull, 16 D.L.R. 82, 5 W.W.R. 1207, 26 W.L.R. 831.

(§ II D-73)—LOAN OF, TO HUSBAND.

Leave to adduce further evidence as to the circumstances under which a married woman executed a mortgage upon her separate property to secure a debt of her husband so as to shew that she acted without independent advice, was properly denied where it appeared that the money secured by such mortgage was applied largely to building a number of houses upon the wife's property, and that she had knowledge as to the condition of such indebtedness, and that, on account of the husband's ill-health, she took an unusually active part in looking after his business while the account secured by such mortgage was current. [Stuart v. Bank of Montreal, 41 Can. S.C.R. 516, and Bank of Montreal v. Stuart, [1911] A.C. 120, distinguished.]

Union Bank v. Crate, 3 D.L.R. 686, 3 O.W.N. 1018, 21 O.W.R. 871.

LOANS—HUSBAND'S AUTHORITY.

A married woman separate as to property can, without authorization from her husband, lend money and be repaid from the proceeds of the sale of a restaurant.

Chevalier v. Montreal, 50 Que. S.C. 418.
(§ II D-74) — LIABILITY FOR HUSBAND'S DEBT.

Where there is no contradiction of the defendant's evidence that shares of stock which were transferred to her by her husband after a judgment had been rendered against him, were purchased by the latter in his own name with the proceeds of lands owned by her, in an action against her by the judgment creditor to set aside such transfer, an interlocutory injunction restraining the disposal of such shares will be denied.

Toronto Carpet Co. v. Wright, 3 D.L.R. 725, 22 Man. L.R. 294, 21 W.L.R. 304.

PARTNERSHIP—PAROL EVIDENCE.

Pulos v. Lazaris, 49 D.L.R. 697, affirming 24 Rev. Leg. 482.

SEIZURE OF WIFE'S PROPERTY FOR HUSBAND'S DEBTS—FURNITURE.

Furniture purchased by a wife separated as to property with a sum of money which had been given to her by her father-in-law as a wedding gift, like those bought by her with her savings as mistress of the house from a moderate sum that her husband gave her each week for the maintenance of the household and payment of the rent, belongs to the wife and cannot be seized by the creditors of the husband. The payment of this sum each week by the husband to his wife for the necessary household expenses cannot be regarded as one of the advantages forbidden between consorts.

Goulet v. Gratton, 47 Que. S.C. 465.

SEPARATE BUSINESS CARRIED ON BY WIFE—INSOLVENCY — UNREGISTERED BILL OF SALE OF STOCK MADE BY HUSBAND — SALE OF STOCK BY MORTGAGEE — FRAUD ON CREDITORS.

Bentley v. Morrison, 9 E.L.R. 135, affirming 8 E.L.R. 456.

GRAIN AND OTHER CHATTELS SEIZED ON WIFE'S FARM UNDER EXECUTION AGAINST HUSBAND — CLAIM BY WIFE — INTERPLEADER ISSUE — EVIDENCE — FINDING OF TRIAL JUDGE IN FAVOUR OF WIFE AS TO GRAIN GROWN ON FARM — FINDING IN FAVOUR OF EXECUTION CREDITOR AS TO OTHER CHATTELS — REVERSAL ON APPEAL.

Robinson v. Robinson, 15 O.W.N. 285.

CROP GROWN ON LAND OF A MARRIED WOMAN — SEIZURE FOR DEBTS OF HUSBAND — FRAUD.

Karst v. Cook, 3 S.L.R. 406, 15 W.L.R. 679.

(§ II D-76)—LIABILITY FOR WIFE'S DEBT.

Under art. 1301 C.C. (Que.), as amended 1904, in order to be able to recover upon a security given by a wife upon her separate estate a creditor must have contracted in good faith and such good faith can only exist in case the amount of the loan is paid directly to the wife and the lender has no suspicion that the money will be used for the benefit of any one but the wife; if these two conditions exist then the lender is not obliged to verify the use made by the wife of the money loaned to her.

Lebel v. Bradin, 7 D.L.R. 470, 19 Rev. Leg. 16.

MARRIAGE LAW OF RHODE ISLAND — RENTING ROOMS — COMMERCIAL ACT — WIFE'S ADMINISTRATION — QUE. C.P. 174—QUE. C.C. 1318.

According to the laws of Rhode Island, the husband and wife are separated as to property, unless contrary ante-nuptial conditions have been stipulated. If a woman separated as to property is engaged in renting rooms, she carries on a trade. Moreover, if she rents a house to occupy it with her children she then does only an act of administration, and she is responsible.

Leclanche v. Leboeuf, 16 Que. P.R. 37.

E. CONTRACTS WITH OR CONVEYANCES TO EACH OTHER.

Bona fides of transactions, Corroboration, see Fraudulent Conveyances, VI—30.

(§ II E-80)—CONTRACTS WITH OR CONVEYANCES TO EACH OTHER.

Where a marriage contract provides that the community property of the proposed husband and wife shall during the marriage be used for their joint benefit, and that upon the death of either, the use and benefit shall go to the survivor for life, and that after the survivor's death the property goes in moieties to the two families of the proposed husband and wife; such a marriage contract creates a substitution in moieties in favour of the heirs of the two families of the contracting parties as to the community property. Where a marriage contract creates a substitution, as to the community property of the proposed husband and wife, under which such property goes to the heirs of the two families of the husband and wife, upon the death of the survivor of them, such substitution prevents either the husband or wife from disposing of any of such property by will in derogation of the rights of the heirs of the two families, and any such testamentary disposition will be declared null and void.

Houde v. Marchand, 8 D.L.R. 431.

SEPARATION AGREEMENT—WORDS RELEASING HUSBAND FROM LIABILITY—CONSTRUCTION.

In construing a separation agreement between husband and wife, there is no justification for treating the words, releasing the husband from all claims of the wife, as meaning anything different from what the language indicates, unless it can be gathered from the evidence of the expressed intention of the parties, or of their conduct or of the circumstances that a special meaning different from the ordinary meaning was intended.

Wineland v. Audett, 45 D.L.R. 406, 14 A.L.R. 314, [1919] 1 W.W.R. 665.

PROHIBITED ADVANTAGES—SECURITY FOR HUSBAND—COMMUNITY.

The transfer by a married woman as collateral security of a debt she has against her insolvent husband, to a creditor of the latter, in order to obtain his consent to a deed, in compromise, is not an advantage prohibited between consorts by art. 1265 C. C. (Que.) but falls within art. 1391 C. C. (Que.) by the terms of which the wife can only obligate herself, with or for her husband, in her capacity as a member of the community, and is in consequence void and of no effect.

Joubert v. Turcotte, 51 Que. S.C. 152.
A sale or benefit between consorts is not radically null; those whose rights are or can be affected alone are allowed to set up this nullity. In the case of the donation of a debt by the husband to his wife the debt or cannot set up this nullity as a ground for refusing payment.

Nadeau v. Prevost, 52 Que. S.C. 387.

GIFT BY HUSBAND TO WIFE DURING COVERTURE—ANTENUPTIAL GIFT—EVIDENCE—INTENTION—WORDS OF GIFT—ACTUAL DELIVERY—MARRIED WOMEN'S PROPERTY ACT.

Elliott v. Elliott, 15 O.W.N. 218.
SEPARATION DEED—COVENANT BY WIFE—MORTGAGE.

A covenant in a separation deed whereby the wife covenanted to indemnify the husband against all debts and liabilities contracted by her held not to cover a covenant in a mortgage made by him, notwithstanding the facts that he had conveyed the mortgaged land to her and she had, subsequently to the execution of the separation deed, covenanted with the mortgagee to pay him principal and interest.

Walker v. Lees, 25 B.C.R. 511, [1918] 3 W.W.R. 586.

EASEMENT—RIGHT-OF-WAY—BENEFITS.
The owner of real property cannot establish on his property a servitude of right-of-way in favour of an adjoining lot belonging to his wife, since art. 1265 C. C. (Que.) prevents a husband and wife conferring benefits inter vivos upon each other.

Desautels v. Laramée, 53 Que. S.C. 519.
CONTRACTS WITH OR CONVEYANCES TO EACH OTHER.

A husband may validly lend his wife, who is separate from him as to property, the purchase price of an immovable that is sold to her, and he, thereby, becomes her creditor for the amount. His heirs, if he dies, or his creditors, if he becomes insolvent, have no other action arising from the transaction, but a personal one to recover the money lent.

Saint-Armour v. Lalonde, 44 Que. S.C. 39.

LANDS BOUGHT BY HUSBAND AND CONVEYED TO WIFE—PRESUMPTION OF GIFT—EVIDENCE TO REBUT—ACTION FOR DECLARATION OF TRUST.

Slater v. Slater, 13 O.W.N. 429.

LAND VESTED IN WIFE—ORAL AGREEMENT BETWEEN HUSBAND AND WIFE—EVIDENCE—CORROBORATION—STATUTE OF FRAUDS, R.S.O. 1914, c. 102, s. 10—TRUST—JOINT TENANCY—SURVIVORSHIP—ACTION BY HUSBAND AFTER DECEASE OF WIFE—DECLARATORY JUDGMENT—PARTIES—COSTS.

Fulton v. Mercantile Trust Co., 12 O.W.N. 139.

GIFT OF FURNITURE IN HOUSE BY HUSBAND TO WIFE—DEVISE OF HOUSE TO WIFE FOR LIFE—BEQUEST OF PERSONAL PROPERTY TO SON—FAILURE TO PROVE GIFT OF CHATELAIN—EVIDENCE—INTENTION.

Kingsmill v. Kingsmill, 41 O.L.R. 238.

CONVEYANCE OF LAND BY HUSBAND TO WIFE—RIGHT OF WIFE TO CONVEY WITHOUT ASSENT OF HUSBAND—TENANCY BY CURTESY—INCROACH RIGHT—MARRIED WOMEN'S PROPERTY ACT, ss. 4 (1), 6 (3).

Re Budd & Tripp, 16 O.W.N. 68.

CONTRACT BETWEEN—ASSIGNMENT BY WIFE TO HUSBAND OF BENEFICIAL INTEREST IN POLICIES OF INSURANCE ON LIFE OF HUSBAND—CONSIDERATION—PROMISE TO MAKE WILL IN CERTAIN WAY—WILL MADE BUT REVOKED—DEATH OF HUSBAND LEAVING WILL DISPOSING OF ESTATE OTHERWISE THAN AS AGREED—ACTION BY WIFE AGAINST EXECUTORS—RIGHT TO PROCEEDS OF INSURANCE POLICIES—JOINT POLICY ON LIVES OF SPOUSES—DOWER—ELECTION.

O'Connor v. Fitzgerald, 16 O.W.N. 171.

PURCHASE BY HUSBAND IN WIFE'S NAME—REAL ESTATE—ORAL AGREEMENT FOR LIFE LEASE.

Nelson v. Nelson, 2 O.W.N. 1043, 19 O.W.R. 225.

MORTGAGE OF WIFE'S LAND—ALLEGED BENEFIT OF HUSBAND—ABSENCE OF INDEPENDENT ADVICE.

Smith v. Doll, 3 A.L.R. 383, 16 W.L.R. 471.

SALE OF GOODS TO HUSBAND—CONDITIONAL SALE—CONTRACT—REPOSSESSION BY VENDORS IN DEFAULT OF PAYMENT—WIFE JOINING IN MORTGAGE AS SECURITY FOR PRICE.

Reeves & Co. v. Friel, 18 W.L.R. 539.

LAND PURCHASED BY HUSBAND CONVEYED TO WIFE—MORTGAGE BY WIFE TO PAY DEBT OF HUSBAND—LACK OF INDEPENDENT ADVICE.

Great West Permanent Loan Co. v. Badenoch, 18 W.L.R. 1.

LAND PURCHASED BY HUSBAND IN NAME OF WIFE—JUDGMENT RECOVERED AGAINST HUSBAND.

Toronto General Trusts Corp. v. Estlin, 18 W.L.R. 11.

MARRIAGE SETTLEMENT—CONSTRUCTION—GIVEN ITS LITERAL MEANING—"HEIRS," [Lazier v. Robertson, 27 A.R. (Ont.) 117, distinguished.]

Re Cummer Marriage Settlement, 2 O.W.N. 1486, 19 O.W.R. 882.

DEED BY HUSBAND TO WIFE—VOLUNTARY SETTLEMENT—NOT FRAUDULENT AND VOID AS AGAINST CREDITORS—13 ELIZ.
Ottawa Wine Vaults Co. v. McGuire, 3 O.W.N. 143, 18 O.W.R. 159.

AGREEMENT AS TO LANDS—ACTION TO RECOVER AN UNDIVIDED HALF INTEREST IN CERTAIN LAND—STATUTE OF FRAUDS.
Birrows v. Birrows, 20 O.W.R. 63.

WIFE PLEDGING SEPARATE PROPERTY FOR HUSBAND'S DEBT—INDEPENDENT ADVICE—UNDUE INFLUENCE.
Bank of Montreal v. Stuart, [1911] A.C. 120, 27 T.L.R. 117.

AGREEMENT BY HUSBAND TO CONVEY WIFE'S LAND—CONVEYANCE BY HIM, WIFE HARRING DOWER—MISTAKE.
Lacroix v. Longtin, 22 O.L.R. 506.

(§ II E—81)—SEPARATE ESTATE—TRUST OF CORPUS IN HUSBAND'S POSSESSION—GIFT.

The husband claiming that there has been a gift from his wife to himself of any of the corpus of the wife's separate estate must make out the gift by clear and conclusive evidence, or he will be held to be still a trustee for his wife of any of such corpus of which he has obtained possession.

Ellis v. Ellis, 15 D.L.R. 190, 5 O.W.N. 561, 25 O.W.R. 539, affirming 12 D.L.R. 219, 4 O.W.N. 1461.

MARRIAGE CONTRACT—SEPARATE ESTATES.
Where in a marriage contract the future consorts have stipulated that there should be no community of property between them and that the wife should have the free and absolute administration of her property, without any authorization being necessary, there is separation as to property.

Duclos v. Dagenais, 50 Que. S.C. 333.
(§ II E—82)—CONVEYANCES OF WIFE'S SEPARATE ESTATE.

A married woman may effectually pay a debt owing to by her husband. She can, therefore, transfer to him a promissory note made payable to her in order that he may set it off in compensation of a claim for which he is sued by the maker.

Bastien v. David, 14 Que. P.R. 253.

(§ II E—83)—CONVEYANCE BY HUSBAND TO WIFE—TRUST FOR SURVIVORSHIP—STATUTE OF FRAUDS.

The Statute of Frauds affords no defence to an action by the husband against the personal representative of his deceased wife to enforce an agreement made between the husband and wife that the survivor of them should become the owner of certain lands on his conveyance of same to her, where the wife on her part had at the same time made her will in his favour for the purpose of carrying out such agreement; such agreement is enforceable as against a later will made by the wife in contravention of the agreement.

Breitenstein v. Munson, 16 D.L.R. 458; 6 W.W.R. 188, 27 W.L.R. 503, 19 B.C.R. 495.

PURCHASE IN WIFE'S NAME—INTENTION—ONUS OF PROOF—ACCOUNTING—EVIDENCE—ADMISSIBILITY OF LETTER.

Where land purchased by a husband as a home for himself and wife was by his direction conveyed to her and a house was built thereon with his money, but the facts and surrounding circumstances established an intention that it was to be held by her for him, it was held that there was a resulting trust in the husband's favour. Where, in such a case the wife claims that the money with which the property in question was purchased, and the house built, was her money, the burden of proof to the contrary is upon the husband. A letter to the wife from her mother, since deceased, is not, without more, admissible in proof of the wife's claim. An accounting and payment ordered of the moneys in the wife's possession belonging to the husband.

Palmer v. Palmer, 42 N.B.R. 23.

The gift of $500, in the form of a cheque, made 13 days before his death, by a husband to his wife, separate as to property, is a benefit prohibited between husband and wife and is of no effect; such an amount so given cannot be considered as a manual gift.

Courville v. Paquette, 50 Que. S.C. 94.

PROHIBITED GIFTS—MAINTENANCE.

Sums of money given monthly by a husband to his wife separated as to property, for the support of herself and the family, constitute payment of marital expenses and are not a donation prohibited between consorts.

Jodoin v. Thériault, 50 Que. S.C. 347.

PRESUMPTION OF GIFT.

Property purchased or investments made by a husband in his wife's name, a gift to the wife is thereby presumed; the presumption is not rebutted by the uncorroborated evidence of the husband.

Bachand v. Bachand, 9 W.W.R. 1184, 33 W.L.R. 743.

MONEY PAID BY WIFE TO HUSBAND—ACTION TO RECOVER AS MONEY LENT—PLEADINGS—DECLARATION OF RIGHT TO PAYMENT OUT OF PROCEEDS OF SALE OF LAND.

Biggar v. Biggar, 11 O.W.N. 145.

TRANSACTIONS BETWEEN IN REGARD TO LANDS—ACTION BY HUSBAND AGAINST WIFE AND ACTIONS BY WIFE AGAINST HUSBAND—MORTGAGE—LIEN—EVIDENCE—APPEALS—NEW TRIAL—COSTS.

Rosenbes v. Rosenbes, 17 O.W.N. 137.

(§ II E—84)—CONTRACTS AND LIABILITIES INTER SE—MANAGING WIFE'S PROPERTY.
A husband living with his wife on a farm

DEED—PAROL EVIDENCE—RIGHTS OF CREDITORS.

A notarial deed of partnership cannot be contradicted by parol evidence in an action by a creditor to shew that a married woman is only nominally a partner in the interest of her husband. A husband may represent his wife in her trade, without being considered as carrying the trade himself or in partnership with his wife; his creditors cannot, for such reason, seize the wife's assets under the pretence that she is only lending her name.

Kladis v. Pulos, 24 Rev. Leg. 482. Motion to quash dismissed, 44 D.L.R. 523, 57 Can. S.C.R. 337.

MERCANTILE BUSINESS.

When a husband and wife, separate as to goods, have together a mercantile establishment without special agreements, it forms between them a partnership in which each has an equal share, even though a third of the business should be considered as that of the wife. It is usually customary, in actions between husband and wife, for each party to pay their own costs, unless, for special reasons, the court decides otherwise.

Guertin v. Brunet, 27 Que. K.B. 123, 24 Rev. de Jur. 2.

I. ANTENUPTIAL CONTRACT.

(§ II I—110)—PROPOSED MARRIAGE—REPRESENTATIONS MADE BY HUSBAND'S FATHER AS TO PROPERTY—MARRIAGE—DEATH OF HUSBAND—REPRESENTATIONS NOT CARRIED OUT.

Representations made by the father as to the state of property of his son who is about to contract marriage, upon the faith of which such marriage is subsequently contracted must be carried out by the person who made them. [Montefiori v. Montefiori, 1 Wm. Bl. 363; Jordan v. Money, 5 H.L. Cas. 185, followed.]

Heichman v. National Trust Co., 50 D.L.R. 401, [1920] 1 W.W.R. 220.

DONATION CAUSA MORTIS—FUTURE PROPERTY—THIRD PARTY—NULLITY.

A donation in a marriage contract, by which the husband gives to his wife a third of the assets which he may possess in full ownership at the death of the first of the two consorts, to her and to her legal or testamentary estate, is a donation of future assets and "causa mortis." Such a donation is, as such, and seeing that it is made by one of the consorts to third parties, in contravention of art. 820 C.C. (Que.), void as to those parties. The words "legal or testamentary estate" contained in that donation can legally apply only to the children of said consorts and not to collateral heirs of the wife, who, as far as the donor is concerned, should be considered as third parties. Such donation becomes void by the wife predeceasing without leaving any children.

Marceau v. Tasse, 53 Que. S.C. 425.

GIFT BY MARRIAGE CONTRACT—ENFORCEMENT.

A donation inter vivos by a husband to his wife, in their marriage contract "d'une somme de 81,000, qu'il s'oblige de lui payer à demande," constitutes a claim which may be the basis of a demand of abandonment. Such demand need not be founded upon a commercial claim.

Robitaille v. Fiset, 51 Que. S.C. 248.

MARRIAGE CONTRACT — MUTUAL GIFT OF USUFRUCT—CONDITION CANCELLING—RETURN OF GOODS TO ISSUE—REMARBIAGE.

In a mutual gift, to the survivor, of the usufruct of their goods made by the husband and wife in their marriage contract under the condition of cancellation in the case of remarriage, the clause "the said usufruct being extinct, to return the said goods to the heirs of the said intended spouse of the side or line from which they shall issue," is not an obstacle to a legacy, made by the will of one spouse to the other, of the property of the same goods. The word "heirs" in the clause applies equally to residuary legatees under the will as to legal heirs, and the words, "from the side from which they shall issue," have no force. Consequently, if the husband dies first, after having constituted his wife his residuary legatee, this latter becomes the owner of the goods, and, even if she contracts a second marriage, the legal heirs of the husband are unable to take them from her.

Tasse v. Goyer, 45 Que. S.C. 65.

The clause in a marriage contract whereby the parties mutually make donation of the usufruct of their property "to the survivor . . . to enjoy it as a good tenant for life and careful owner . . . in order that the said property . . . may return in good condition to the heirs of the two families after the death of the survivor . . . and this in equal proportions" is a donation, in contemplation of death, of the property of the one dying first to the survivor with substitution to the heirs of the latter. Therefore, the subsequent disposal of the same property by will is void. The heir of a part of the succession has a right of action against the party in possession to have his right to the succession recognized without concluding for a partition and an account. He may also demand payment of the value of his part if the succession is composed of debts, money, securities, or other things essentially divisible in their nature.

Honde v. Marchand, 21 Que. K.B. 184.

COMMUNITY — PROPERTY — MARRIAGE CONTRACT — INTERPRETATION — C.C. ARTS. 1273, 1275, 1305, 1306, 1385, 2251.

In including the following clause in their marriage contract: "The goods of each party will belong to that party his relations and to those on his side of the line," the parties have shown their intention to reserve as their own the property which shall be acquired in future, except movables and immovables which will be acquired together during their future marriage.

Duhamel v. Hubou, 36 Que. S.C. 445.

MINORITY—MARRIAGE CONTRACT—GUARDIAN

—FAMILY COUNCIL—GIFT INTERVIVOS

—NULLITY—ORDINARY OBLIGATION OF SUPPORT—C.C., ARTS. 122, 1267.

Dufresne v. Dufresne, 28 Que. K.B. 318.

ANTE-NUPTIAL CONTRACT—GIFT TO WIFE—

PAYMENT AT DEATH OF HUSBAND.

Garland v. O'Reilly, 44 Can. S.C.R. 197.

MARRIAGE SETTLEMENT—CONSTRUCTION—

POWER OF APPOINTMENT—EXERCISE OF

—DEATH OF APPOINTEE—LIFE ESTATE

—VESTED REMAINDER—RIGHTS OF REPRESENTATIVE OF DECEASED.

Re Plumb, 8 O.W.N. 284.

(§ II I—112)—"MÉNAGE"—FURNITURE—PIANO.

In a donation by a marriage contract from the husband to the wife of a "ménage" to the value of $400 the word "ménage" comprises the whole of the furniture and other articles necessary or useful for the household, but not furniture that is not a necessity, such as a piano.

Bloin v. Cantin, 49 Que. S.C. 154.

(§ II I—113)—BENEFIT OF SURVIVAL—RENUNCIATION.

A marriage contract by which the husband declares that, in the case of his death leaving children living, his wife "will have the enjoyment of all the estate, moveable and immovable, of him the said future consort until the time of her death or until such time as she may contract a second marriage," constitutes a benefit of survivorship which cannot become effective until the death of the donor, and only effects the property of which the husband is possessed at the time of his death. The wife may make a renunciation thereof in favour of a creditor of the husband.

Hope v. Leroux, 25 Que. K.B. 130.

REVOCATION.

The clause in a marriage contract by which "the future husband donates to the future wife a sum of $4,000, one-half of which at his death shall belong to the children born of the marriage and in failure of children, the total of the said sum shall return to the future husband" constitutes a donation in contemplation of death and gives the wife no right of action to recover it during her husband's life.

Martel v. Fignault, 44 Que. S.C. 542, reversing 44 Que. S.C. 68.

(§ II I—114)—MARRIAGE CONTRACT—ENFORCEMENT OF.

Fortier v. Brunet, 20 D.L.R. 979.

J. FRAUD ON MARITAL RIGHTS.

(§ II J—115)—HYPOTHEC—ASSIGNMENT.

The abandonment by the wife of a hypothec, which her husband had agreed to in the marriage contract to secure the payment of a sum donated, constitutes a derogation from their marriage obligations prohibited by art. 1265 C.C. (Que.) on pain of absolute nullity.

Bank of Montreal v. Roy, 26 Que. K.B. 549.

(§ II J—127)—DECLARATION OF VALIDITY OF MARRIAGE—DOWER ACT—"HOMESTEAD"—CAVEAT CLAIMING UNDER DOWER ACT—ORDER CONTINUING CAVEAT—ALIMONY—HUSBAND LEAVING FOR MILITARY SERVICE AND SUBSEQUENT INTENT TO DESERT INFERRED FROM LETTERS AND CONDUCT—DESERTION FOR TWO YEARS AND UPWARDS WITHOUT REASONABLE CAUSE—SOLDIER'S RELIEF ACT—WHEN "LIABILITY" AROSE—COSTS—DATE FROM WHICH GIVEN—INJUNCTION AGAINST DISPOSITION OF LAND AND CHATTELS—DOMICILE—STATEMENT OF CLAIM (UNDEFENDED) ALLEGING DEFENDANT'S ALBERTA DOMICILE BUT DEFENDANT'S LETTERS EXHIBITED ALLEGING HIS REASSUMPTION OF FRENCH DOMICILE.

Anelle v. Anelle, [1919] 1 W.W.R. 620.

K. RIGHTS OF HUSBAND'S CREDITORS.

(§ II K—130)—The wife of a debtor may purchase property in her own name and the debtor may assist her in the transaction if he does not thereby withdraw from the reach of his creditors any portion of his estate which should be applied in payment of their claims.

Burns v. Matejka, 1 D.L.R. 837, 4 A.L.R. 58, 19 W.L.R. 863, 1 W.W.R. 431.

RIGHTS OF HUSBAND'S CREDITORS AS TO HIS EARNINGS.

A gift, in a marriage contract, by the husband to the wife, of the furniture actually owned by him, or that he may own at the date of the solemnization of the marriage, or that he may acquire thereafter, the whole to be his property in case of the predecease of the wife, is a gift causa mortis and only takes effect at his death, if she survive him. The goods, therefore, remain his property as long as he lives, and if seized at the suit of his creditors the wife cannot claim them by an opposition. A wife separate as to property cannot claim as her own, nor convert to her own use, money saved by her out of the allowance made her by the husband to meet the cost of housekeeping.

Plamondon v. Larue, 43 Que. S.C. 18.

(§ II K—132)—SEIZURE OF AUTOMOBILE GIVEN TO WIFE—LICENSE IN NAME OF HUSBAND.

An automobile given by a husband to a wife, which remains in the disposition and the license for which is in the name of the husband, can be seized under execution against the husband.

Standard Trusts Co. v. Little, 7 W.W.R. 1285.

CONVEYANCES TO WIFE.

Where a husband mortgagor, without any new consideration, voluntarily transferred to his wife, the mortgagee, the property the subject of the mortgage, at a time when he is insolvent, and it appeared that he believed the property to be of a higher value than the amount of the mortgage debt:— Held, the conveyance was void as against creditors. Held, further, that the transfer should not be set aside, but that the judgment should be declaratory to the effect that the transfer was void as against creditors, leaving it to the plaintiffs to realize their claim under their execution.

Union Bank v. Johnson, 3 A.L.R. 207.

SEPARATE BUSINESS—LICENSE—CONTINUATION OF SAME UNDER WHICH HUSBAND PREVIOUSLY CARRIED ON BUSINESS—BILL OF SALE—FRAUD.

Bentley v. Morrison, 8 E.L.R. 456.

DIVISION COURTS—JURISDICTION—PERSONAL JUDGMENT AGAINST MARRIED WOMAN BEFORE 1897.

Re Hamilton v. Perry, 24 O.L.R. 38, 19 O.W.R. 379.

PAYMENTS FOR TAXES, ETC.—WIFE'S LANDS — HUSBAND'S VOLUNTARY PAYMENTS WITHOUT THE WIFE'S KNOWLEDGE—LIABILITY OF HUSBAND FOR WIFE'S FUNERAL EXPENSES.

Re Montgomery; Lumbers v. Montgomery, 20 Man. L.R. 444.

WIFE SEPARATE AS TO PROPERTY—AGENCY OF HUSBAND — INTERRUPTION OF PRESCRIPTION.

Granger v. Scotte, 40 Que. S.C. 247.

MORTGAGE BY WIFE TO SECURE ADVANCE TO HUSBAND — ABSENCE OF INDEPENDENT ADVICE—UNDEE INFLUENCE.

Euclid Avenue Trusts Co. v. Hols, 24 O.L.R. 447, affirming 23 O.L.R. 377, 18 O.W.R. 787.

MARRIAGE CONTRACT—DONATION—EVIDENCE.

Lasher v. Decary, 39 Que. S.C. 469.

RIGHT OF ACTION BY HUSBAND SEPARATE AS TO PROPERTY FOR INJURY CAUSED TO HIS WIFE.

Caron v. Kleinberg, 39 Que. S.C. 121.

CONFESSION OF JUDGMENT—CONFESSION BY THE WIFE—AUTHORIZATION.

A wife separate as to property may, without her husband's authority, admit, by a confession of judgment, that some property attached in her hands belongs to the plaintiff; she does not thereby alienate any of her property but simply does an act of administration.

Picher v. Gaumont, 12 Que. P.R. 391.

EXECUTION OF MORTGAGE BY WIFE AT REQUEST OF HUSBAND—NO INDEPENDENT ADVICE.

Reeves v. Friel, 4 S.L.R. 198, 18 W.L.R. 539.

PROPERTY REGISTERED IN NAME OF WIDOW UNDER DEED FROM DECEASED — CROSS DEED FROM WIFE TO HUSBAND NOT REGISTERED—SALE BY WIDOW AS ADMINISTRATRIX.

Re Howard, 16 B.C.R. 48, 16 W.L.R. 246.

III. Actions.

A. BY HUSBAND.

COMMUNITY — ACTION — DEFORMATION AND VERBAL INJURY — C.C., ARTS. 183, 1059, 1202, 1298—C.C.P., ARTS. 76, 77, 78.

A married woman in community, authorized by her husband, has the right to bring an action alone for damages for verbal injuries. This action is personal and does not fall within the community.

Sabourin v. Barrette, 55 Que. S.C. 460.

PRINCIPAL AND AGENT — AUTHORITY OF AGENT — HUSBAND AND WIFE — ACTION AGAINST BOTH — ELECTION TO TAKE JUDGMENT AGAINST WIFE ONLY—AMENDMENT.

Simcoe Construction Co. v. McMurtry, 7 O.W.N. 515.

(§ III A—140)—DEPRIVAL OF RIGHT OF WIFE, SUMMONED IN AN ACTION FOR SEPARATION, TO SUE FOR HER SHARE OF COMMUNITY OF GOODS—C.C. 209.

By art. 209 C.C. (Que.), the wife preserves, in a case where she accepts community, the right to sue for her share of it, unless she has been declared to be deprived of this right. A wife sued for separation should be authorized to commence a cross action for separation.

Coote v. Rick, 25 Rev. de Jur. 333.

(§ III A—141)—ALIENATION OF WIFE'S AFFECTIONS—WAR RELIEF ACT.

The War Relief Act (Man.) 5 Geo. V., c. 88, refers only to matters arising out of contract; its benefits cannot be claimed in actions for tort.

Stokes v. Leavens, 40 D.L.R. 23, 28 Man. L.R. 479, [1918] 2 W.W.R. 188.

LOSS OF WIFE'S SERVICES—COMPANIONSHIP.

In an action by husband and wife for injuries done to the wife the husband was held entitled to recover damages for the loss of his wife's services, past and future medical and surgical expenses, hospital charges and charges for nurses, but nothing for the loss of his wife's companionship.

Lawrence v. Edmonton, [1917] 2 W.W.R. 940.

WRONGFUL HARBOURING.

The refusal to allow a husband (whose wife has left him without sufficient justification) to visit the house where the wife is staying on the part of the owner thereof is sufficient evidence of a wrongful harbouring.

Homewood v. Beaton, [1917] 1 W.W.R. 1308.

ACTION BY HUSBAND AGAINST PARENTS OF WIFE FOR INDUCING HER TO LEAVE HIM AND ALIENATING HER AFFECTIONS — FINDINGS OF TRIAL JUDGE—DAMAGES.

Webb v. Bulloch, 13 O.W.N. 343.

(§ III A—142)—REVENDEICATION—SEIZURE. The action for revendication of a sum of money paid in court by a married woman separate as to property cannot be taken by her husband; it must be by herself. A creditor seizing the money has a sufficient interest to contest this action by setting up the above defence.

Dastous v. Girard, 52 Que. S.C. 431.

(§ III A—143)—PARENTS INDUCING WIFE TO LEAVE HUSBAND—BEST INTEREST OF WIFE—LACK OF MALICE—HARBOURING—DAMAGES.

Parents who act without malice and believing it to be in the best interest of their daughter who is ill, take her with her consent from her husband to their own home, where she voluntarily remains, in order to be relieved from domestic worry, and as the best means of restoring her to mental and physical health, are guilty of no actionable wrong. The refusal of the parents to allow the husband to see his wife if honestly done in the best interests of the wife while she is ill does not constitute a harbouring for which the parents are liable. [Discussion of the law and authorities upon alienation of affections, loss of consortium, the respective rights of husband and parents enticing away and harbouring.]

Osborne v. Clark, 48 D.L.R. 558, 45 O.L.R. 594.

ACTION BY HUSBAND—ALIENATION OF AFFECTION—PROOF OF ADULTERY UNNECESSARY.

An action for enticing away and alienating the affections of plaintiff's wife is maintainable without proof of adultery, and notwithstanding that the wife continues to live with her husband. [Winsmore v. Greenbank, Willes R. 577, followed.] Notwithstanding the fact that a wife still remains in her husband's house though occupying separate apartments and that adultery has not been proved, an action will lie in damages for the enticing away and alienation of her affections. [Smith v. Kaye, 20 Times L.R. 261, followed.]

Bannister v. Thompson, 15 D.L.R. 733, 29 O.L.R. 562.

ALIENATION OF WIFE'S AFFECTIONS—DAMAGES.

Brizard v. Heynen, 16 D.L.R. 859, 24 Man. L.R. 127, 27 W.L.R. 308.

FOR INDUCING WIFE TO ABANDON HUSBAND.

A married man has a right of action against his wife's parents, who receive and harbour her in their house and encourage her to disregard the duty of cohabitation, to recover the damages thereby suffered. The court on such an action may order the defendants to return their daughter to her husband within a fixed period, reserving for the interval, the adjudication as to damages.

Lafontaine v. Poulin, 42 Que. S.C. 292.

ALIENATION OF AFFECTIONS—CONDONATION OF OFFENCE.

A husband, having complained of the bad conduct of his wife, who continues to live with her, cannot maintain an action for damages against one whom he accuses of having alienated his wife's affections any more than he could have taken proceedings against her, since he is presumed to have condoned her offence.

Roberge v. Sylvestre, 47 Que. S.C. 118.

LIABILITY FOR RECEIVING AND HARBOURING WIFE LIVING APART FROM HUSBAND.

The defendant was found liable in damages for having, without good cause, received and harboured the plaintiff's wife while the latter was living apart from her husband without her husband's consent.

McKillop v. Kennedy, [1919] 1 W.W.R. 186.

HIRING FOR SERVICE—HUSBAND LEAVING EMPLOYMENT—WIFE REFUSING TO LEAVE—RECEIVING AND HARBOURING—LOSS OF SOCIETY AND SERVICES—DAMAGES.

Van Dord v. Felger, 42 D.L.R. 769, 14 A.L.R. 110, [1918] 3 W.W.R. 295.

(§ III A—144)—CRIMINAL CONVERSATION—HUSBAND'S RIGHT OF ACTION FOR CRIMINAL CONVERSATION—MEASURE OF COMPENSATION—DEFENDANT'S FAILURE TO TESTIFY—PRESUMPTION OF ADMISSION, Herve v. Dominique, 7 D.L.R. 787, 2 W.W.R. 235.

In a criminal conversation action there need not be evidence of the validity of the marriage ceremony, but there must be strong evidence of the marriage itself going beyond mere evidence of cohabitation and reputation, and the best proof that could be given of an actual marriage is by some person actually present at the solemnity.

Zdrabal v. Shatney, 7 D.L.R. 554, 22 Man. L.R. 521, 22 W.L.R. 336, 3 W.W.R. 239.

B. BY WIFE.

(§ III B—145)—The wife may not appear in court to sue for recovery of damages resulting from an accident wherein she herself was the victim, seeing that the point in question is a right of action which belongs exclusively to the husband as head of the family. When the husband is debarred or prohibited on account of being interned in an asylum for the insane, judicial authorization may replace marital authorization.

Dore v. Outremont, 25 Rev. de Jur. 70.

AUTHORIZATION TO APPEAR AND PLEAD—APPELLATE JUDGE.

Authorization to appear in judicial proceedings, which a judge may grant to a wife upon the refusal of the husband, can be granted only by a judge of the court of original jurisdiction, and not by a judge of an Appellate Court except in the case of authorization for a particular proceeding. Aubry v. Allard, 27 Que. K.B. 86.

ACTION AGAINST SURETIES—AUTHORIZATION.

A wife, separate as to property, and who has the entire administration of her property, may, without being authorized by her husband à ester in justice, exercise her recourse against the sureties for the purpose of recovering the amount of a judgment obtained against the principal debtor.

Duclos v. Dagenais, 54 Que. S.C. 71. [See also 59 Que. S.C. 333.]

SERVICE OF WRIT — DOMICILE — JUDICIAL AUTHORIZATION.

A husband absentee, who has never had his domicile at the place of ordinary residence of his wife, is not summoned in judicial proceedings for the purpose of authorizing his wife, by the service made on the wife of an action taken against her, and designating the husband as mis-en-cause. The judicial authorization to be party to a case, which can be granted to the wife only if the husband refuses to authorize her, cannot be granted by the court until the husband has been validly summoned in the case. Proceedings taken by a wife under her husband's control, who has not been regularly authorized to be a party to the case, are absolutely null. Such nullity can be invoked at any time in the course of the proceedings, and as soon as it is established the parties will not be entitled to proceed further.

Lafèche v. Laroché, 53 Que. S.C. 214.

OPPOSITION — COMMUNITY — PRESUMPTION.

If a married woman, styling herself as a widow, files in her capacity of owner an opposition to withdraw to a seizure of movables, and later amends her opposition to describe herself as a married woman authorized by her husband, there is a legal presumption that she is common as to property with her husband. In such a case the opposition should have been made by the husband as head of the community, and the opposition will be dismissed.

Banque Nationale v. Bourdeau, 54 Que. S.C. 446.

AUTHORITY TO SUE.

A complete absence of judicial authority in default of authority from her husband, renders a married woman absolutely incapable of taking judicial proceedings. It is not the same when there is authority but it is irregular; the irregularity only involves nullity if it causes prejudice. In the second case an exception to the form will be dismissed without costs.

Paris v. Montreal Tramways Co., 18 Que. P.R. 91.

CRIMINAL PROSECUTION FOR NEGLIGENCE TO PROVIDE.

A wife, separated as to bed and board by a judgment of the court, is not obliged to renounce such a judgment and to go back and live with her husband before bringing a criminal prosecution against him for his neglect to provide her with necessaries.

Buteau v. Hamel, 24 Can. Cr. Cas. 53.

(§ III B—147) — ACTION FOR PERSONAL INJURIES — AUTHORITY TO SUE.

A married woman, separated as to property, may bring an action to recover damages caused to her automobile as the consequence of a collision with a tramcar, without alleging that she has been authorized to sue by her husband, such an action being simply an act of administration.

Corbeil v. Montreal Tramways Co., 50 Que. S.C. 196.

EFFECT OF FOREIGN MARRIAGE.

A woman married in the State of New York, without any marriage contract, her husband and herself having at that time their domicile and residence in that state, are separated as to property and she had the right to sue, in her own name, in damage for personal injuries.

Gest v. Berghauer, 25 Que. K.B. 200.

EFFECT OF ADULTERY ON RIGHT OF ACTION.

Marson v. Coulter, 3 S.L.R. 485, 16 W. L.R. 157.

IV. Abandonment of wife.

(§ IV—160) — NONSUPPORT — CRIMINAL LIABILITY.

For the purposes of a prosecution under Cr. Code, s. 242A (Amendment of 1913), for the summary conviction offence of non-support of a wife living in destitute or necessitous circumstances, it is no answer that the wife is being provided for by her parents, if she has no legal claim against her parents for her support, and if they are little able to provide that support.

Algiers v. Tracey, 30 D.L.R. 427, 26 Can. Cr. Cas. 178, 22 Rev. Leg. 240.

NONSUPPORT OF WIFE OR CHILDREN — SUMMARY PROCEEDINGS — WIFE AS A WITNESS.

Sections 242A and 242B Amendment to Cr. Code, 1913 (3-4 Geo. V., c. 13), will not affect the interpretation of the words "the three last preceding sections" used in s. 244; the three sections intended are 241, 242, 243, and these relate to indictable offences as to criminal omission of duty, while the added sections relate to summary convictions for neglect to provide for wife or children; the reference in the Canada Evidence Act, R.S.C. 1906, c. 145, s. 4, to offences against s. 244, does not constitute the wife of the accused a competent witness against him on a summary hearing of a charge under the added s. 242A.

R. v. Allen, 17 D.L.R. 719, 23 Can. Cr. Cas. 67, 50 C.L.J. 543.

ABANDONMENT OF WIFE (CRIMINAL).

Where the deserted wife had been compelled to work continuously at menial labour to support herself and child and required rest and surgical treatment for organic disease to stop the breaking down of her health, but was unable to obtain such surgical treatment and rest without being dependent on charity, such facts will support a special finding by the jury that the wife's health is likely to be permanently injured from the husband's neglect to provide necessaries for her which neglect in such event is an indictable offence under Cr. Code, s. 242.

The King v. Wood, 19 Can. Cr. Cas. 15, 20 O.W.R. 576.

LIABILITY FOR WIFE'S MAINTENANCE.

The obligation to furnish maintenance not being a joint responsibility but a subsidiary one, the wife must first apply for it to her husband and it is only in case the latter is unable to provide her with it that she may apply to her mother-in-law.

O'Brien v. Berger, 49 Que. S.C. 278.

NON-SUPPORT OF WIFE—OMISSION TO SUPPLY NECESSARIES—FORMER ACQUITTAL ON SIMILAR CHARGE—FINANCIAL INABILITY OF HUSBAND TO SUPPORT WIFE.

The King v. Yuman, 17 Can. Cr. Cas. 474, 22 O.L.R. 500.

OMITTING TO PROVIDE NECESSARIES FOR WIFE.

R. v. Wood, 25 O.L.R. 63, 20 O.W.R. 399.

V. Wife's authority to sue or defend.

(§ V-170)—MARRIED WOMEN'S RELIEF ACT—TESTATOR DYING PRIOR TO PASSING OF ACT.

A widow may apply under the Married Women's Relief Act although the testator died some years prior to the passing of the act, where there is property of the estate still unadministered.

Re Houston Estate, [1919] 1 W.W.R. 521, reversing judgment of Harvey, C.J.

(§ V-171)—WIFE'S AUTHORITY TO DEFEND—WHEN IMPLIED—HUSBAND'S DEFAULT OF APPEARANCE.

A summons to a married woman with her husband makes the latter a party to the action, and if he does not appear he tacitly authorizes his wife to appear in judicial proceedings. Such a tacit authorization also applies if, later, the case is inscribed before the Court of Review.

Ducasse v. Montgrain, 46 Que. S.C. 511.

ACTION AGAINST WIFE—HUSBAND MIS-CONDUCT.

Robert v. Arnold, 12 Que. P.R. 180, COMMUNITY—WIFE'S RIGHT OF ACTION.

Côté v. Richardson, 39 Que. S.C. 1.

HYDRO-ELECTRIC POWER COMMISSION.

Actions against, see Action.

HYPOTHEQUE (QUE.).

- I. IN GENERAL.
- II. RIGHTS AND LIABILITIES.
- III. CLASS OF PROPERTY.
- IV. DISCHARGE.
- V. HYPOTHECARY ACTION.

See also, Mortgage.

On fixtures subject to conditional sale, see Sale, I C-15.

I. In general.

(§ I-1)—INSOLVENCY—PREJUDICE TO CREDITORS.

The nullity attached by art. 2023, C.C. (Que.) to the hypothec acquired upon the immovables of a person notoriously insolvent is not absolute but relative. The hypothec is valid against the debtor and against all creditors who are unable to prove that it is prejudicial to them. In order to obtain the annulment of the hypothec it is not sufficient to prove the notorious insolvency of the debtor and to cause an eventual prejudice to be presumed; the creditor who claims it must establish a real prejudice from the judicial liquidation of the property of the debtor and from an order of distribution.

Raymond v. Rioux, 50 Que. S.C. 467.

(§ I-10)—IN GENERAL.

In certain circumstances the hypothecation of a property is tantamount to its alienation, and under art. 1092 C.C. (Que.) would give the creditor the right to demand the immediate return of his money, as being in diminishment of his security.

Frank v. Forman, 13 Que. P.R. 29.

II. Rights and liabilities.

(§ II-20)—Though as between a creditor and the debtor the former may reserve the privilege which attached to an ancient debt so as to make it attach to a new debt substituted by novation to the old one, nevertheless if the immovable affected has passed into the hands of a third holder, the hypothec cannot be so reserved and attached to a new debt without the consent of such third holder.

Marcoux v. Gray, 18 Rev. de Jur. 133.

DONATION INTER VIVOS—VENDOR'S HYPOTHEC.

A donation inter vivos constitutes a vendor's hypothec in favor of all the obligations imposed on the donee either in favour of the donor or of third parties without the necessity of an agreement providing for that purpose. The provision of art. 2044, C.C. (Que.), which declares that the conventional hypothec is only valid in so far as the sum agreed upon in it is certain and fixed by the deed does not extend to the payment of a sum of money imposed as a charge in a donation inter vivos.

Drouin v. Gaudet, 48 Que. S.C. 137.

PAYMENT BY PURCHASER—EXTENSION OF TIME.

When a purchaser, who is obliged to pay a debt guaranteed by a hypothec upon the property sold and another immovable belonging to the vendor, at the maturity of the debt obtains from the hypothecary creditor an extension of time without the vendor's consent, the latter is entitled to judgment against him for the amount of the debt.

Bédard v. Hurtubise, 48 Que. S.C. 285.

DEMOLITION OF IMPROVEMENTS—RIGHTS OF THIRD PARTY.

The holder of a hypothecated immovable has no right to demolish constructions on it even to replace them by others of greater value. Such demolitions, by diminishing the security of the hypothecary creditor, subject the third party holder to the application of art. 1092, C.C. (Que.), which causes him to lose the benefit of the term. (Inscribed in review.)

Demers v. Strachan, 48 Que. S.C. 71.

DEMOLITION OF BUILDING—DISTRIBUTION OF PROCEEDS.

The demolition merely of a building causes it to lose its character as an immovable. Therefore, if a building which has been hypothecated and, without the knowledge or consent of the hypothecary creditor, it has been removed from its foundation and transported without being demolished, to other lands, the judicial sale of the latter property does not deprive the hypothecary creditor of his right to be collocated by preference on the proceeds of the sale for the amount of capital and interest owing to him.

Laprise v. Morin, 50 Que. S.C. 11.

IMPAIRMENT OF SECURITY—RIGHTS OF CREDITORS.

In order that the benefit of the term provided for by art 1092 C.C. (Que.) be lost, it is necessary that the security given to the creditor has been diminished by the act of the debtor. The article does not apply to one to whom a delegation of payment has been made but not accepted and who consequently is only a third party in possession, if the diminution of the security is the act of the latter. A third party in possession, who demolishes a building erected upon the land which he has bought and upon which there is a hypothec, is liable in damages to the hypothecary creditor by virtue of arts. 2054-5 C.C. (Que.) which the latter may recover even when his debt is not yet exigible. But the hypothecary creditor must prove that the immovable has been deteriorated. When there are several hypothecary creditors upon an immovable, and one of them sues in damages a third party in possession, accusing him of having caused deterioration in the immovable mortgaged, he should ask that the amount to be awarded him by the judgment be deposited in court for distribution among the hypothecary creditors according to their respective rights. He cannot demand that this money should be paid directly to himself. A creditor whose debt becomes exigible by virtue of art. 1092 C.C. (Que.), through the fault of his debtor, can not only sue the latter personally but he can also bring an hypothecary action against the third party in possession.

Chenier v. Rosentzweig, 52 Que. S.C. 463.

III. Class of property.

(§ III—30)—CLASS OF PROPERTY.

The hypothec upon an undivided part of an immovable is valid and the creditor may maintain an action en déclaration d'hypothèque against the party in possession thereof without first having recourse to partition and sale. If the defendant is in possession of the whole of the immovable the action may be brought in respect to an undivided part. If the plaintiff is himself in possession of one undivided part he may maintain an action en déclaration d'hypothèque against the other without abandoning his portion under the provisions of art. 2069 C.C. (Que.).

Cartier v. Boudreault, 41 (Que.) S.C. 127.

The vendor of an immovable, part of the price of which is secured by a hypothec on another immovable of the purchaser, who agrees to discharge the hypothec on receipt of a reconveyance of the immovable sold, can validly stipulate in the deed of reconveyance for retention of the hypothec by way of damages only if the immovable which had been hypothecated remains the property of the purchaser. Therefore, in an action en déclaration d'hypothèque against a third party in possession of this immovable, he is obliged to prove that fact. The provision in art. 1176, C.C. (Que.), that privileges and hypothecs attached to a debt pass to another debt substituted for it does not apply in such a case.

Marceux v. Guay, 21 Que. K.B. 162.

V. Hypothecary action.

(§ V—50)—The exception resulting from a privileged claim or prior hypothec provided for by s. 1073, Cr. Code, for the benefit of a third party holder of the hypothecated immovable can only be invoked by the latter to compel the party suing to give security that it will bring a price that will pay his claim or hypothec in so far as the same amounts to or exceeds the value of the immovable. The right to payment of sums expended on the immovable cannot be claimed by dilatory exception, but recourse must be had to s. 2072, Cr. Code. The third party sued en déclaration d'hypothèque has a right to call in his vendor and may exercise it by dilatory exception.

McIntyre v. Wilson, 14 Que. P.R. 45.

An hypothecary action can be brought only against the party in possession of the immovable and if taken against the debtor personally it must be alleged that he is in possession just as if taken against a third party. The deposit note given to a mutual fire insurance company, as provided in art. 7009, R.S.Q. 1909, although essential to the formation of the contract, does not constitute the title to the legal hypothec of art. 7023. The issue of the policy describing the property insured is necessary and this involves, as a consequence, the hypothec, the assessment by-law of art. 7011, the fixing of the proportions under art. 7017 and the other formalities evidenced by the certificate of the secretary-treasurer according to art. 7021. Hence, the production of the deposit note alone, in an action en déclaration d'hypothèque against the assured, will not support the conclusions. When a mutual fire insurance company is placed in liquidation the liquidator only can collect the amounts due on deposit notes which are not transferable. A deposit note on which the words "deposit note" are not "printed in conspicuous type at the head" is a nullity. When a defendant, summoned before a court incompetent ratione persone does not appear and the action is remitted to a competent court, he is entitled to notice and to be put en demeure to defend.

Clement v. Bodier, 41 Que. S.C. 289.

The registration of the transfer of an hypothecary claim is necessary in order that the discharge of the debtor by the assignor may be registered and the hypothec erased from the registry. The expenses of a voluntary or judicial assignment of the hypothec claim is not to be borne by the debtor nor are those of the registration of the transfer.

Corbière v. Stuart, 13 Que. P.R. 374.

REMEDY FOR DETERIORATING PROPERTY SUBJECT TO HYPOTHEC—INTENTION TO DEFRAUD.

In order to be able to exercise the remedy given by arts. 2054, 2055 C.C. (Que.), it is not sufficient for the creditor to allege and prove an act of deterioration committed by the debtor or by another holder, for the law does not make damages depend on a simple physical fact of deterioration, whether great or small, but the intention to defraud must be added to the act of deterioration.

Guindon v. James MacLaren Co., 24 Rev. de Jur. 483.

PRIORITIES — HYPOTHECARY CREDITOR CONSENTING TO REHYPOTHECATION—CONDITION—VALIDITY.

A creditor, who expressly or impliedly consents that real property hypothecated in his favour be hypothecated in favour of another, is deemed to have ceded the preference to the latter. But if the first creditor gives his consent, subject to the accomplishment of several conditions, the second creditor, in order to obtain priority and retain it, must see that each one of those conditions be fulfilled. A condition which cannot be accomplished in its entirety is not void and does not invalidate the obligation which depends on it; but such a condition is then reduced to so much of it as can be carried out.

Lenghan v. Nicole, 53 Que. S.C. 392.

OPPOSITION TO ANNUL—HYPOTHECARY CREDITOR — INTEREST — JUDGMENT — AMOUNT.

An hypothecary creditor has not, as such, a sufficient interest to make an opposition to annul the seizure of an immovable upon which he has his hypothec. Neither can he, without invoking the right of another, allege as reasons for his opposition: (a) that there is no valid executory judgment against the defendant; (b) that the allegations in the writ of execution are false; (c) that even if there was a judgment, it did not amount, in principal, interest and costs, to $40.

Michaud v. Destremes, 54 Que. S.C. 152.

REGISTRATION—BONA FIDE HOLDER—TITLE—SIMULATION—RES JUDICATA.

One in possession of land under a title apparently regular and valid, can give a third party in good faith an hypothec upon the land; and such hypothec, duly registered, cannot be set aside even if the courts have afterwards cancelled the title of the vouchee of the hypothec as being only a donation inter vivos disguised in the form of a deed of sale by private deed. The presumption of res judicata holds only against parties to the action; a debtor does not represent his hypothecary creditor.

Little v. Reaycraft, 24 Rev. Leg. 8.

EXECUTION — SALE — REGISTRATION — TIERS OPPOSANT—DEPOSIT IN COURT.

One who has acquired real property and has assumed the payment of an hypothec upon such property, has not the right, if the property is subsequently seized by the hypothecary creditor, to make a tiers upon position and to ask for the avoidance of the seizure proceedings, if his deed of sale was only registered after the seizure, and he does not put in court the amount of the hypothecary debt with interest and costs.

Dubuc v. Pigeon, 53 Que. S.C. 58.

OPPOSITION TO JUDGMENT—SECURITY.

An opposition to judgment filed in an hypothecary action by a third party in possession, based upon the fact that he paid the hypothecary debt prior to that for which the action was brought by the plaintiff, and alleging that he has a right to demand that before he can be obliged to deliver up the property the plaintiff should be compelled to give him security that the immovable will be sold at such a price that his hypothecary debt will be paid in full in preference to that of the plaintiff, is not frivolous; on the contrary it raises a serious question of law and the judge should permit it to be filed.

Lemieux v. Dickman, 52 Que. S.C. 347.

CONTENTATION—PRIOR WARRANTORS.

A person who loans money upon the security of a hypothec is not bound by transactions made by the borrower affecting the immovable hypothecated, and he is not obliged to appear and answer in actions instituted by the warrantors and prior warrantors of his debtor. In matters of simple warranty it is not permissible for a prior warrantor to intervene for the purpose of defending the principal debtor and contesting the principal action; such a defence may be set aside on motion.

Décarie v. Archambault, 50 Que. S.C. 83.
HYPOTHECARY ACTION—OPTION—C.C.P. ART. 176, S. 6 — COMMERCIAL DEBT — PRESCRIPTION—C.C. ARTS. 2081, 2226, 2247, 2267—ACCESSORY.

A hypothecary action against "the tiers-détenteur" and a personal action against the debtor cannot be united and are incompatible; the plaintiff, on a dilatory exception, may be ordered to declare his option between the two. A commercial debt is prescribed, by five years, even when a hypothecary action is pending for the same debt, as a "tiers détenteur" is never presumed to owe the debt personally. When the debt is prescribed, a pending hypothecary action for the same debt is extinguished, as hypothec is merely an accessory to, and subsists no longer than the original claim. A deed of hypothec for future advances which contain no fixed amount of indebtedness is not valid and the hypothec is without effect.

McCaskill v. Lariviere, 46 Que. S.C. 289.

ICE.

Liability for icy condition of highways, see Highways, IV A-154.

FROZEN BAY—PUBLIC DOMAIN—RIGHT TO CUT—NEGLIGENCE IN REMOVING—INSUFFICIENT GUARD.

When a bay forming part of the public domain is frozen over, the public right to cut ice thereon is subordinate to the public right of travel over the entire bay, and the person who insufficiently guards the place where he has been cutting ice is liable in damages for the loss of a horse which ran away while being driven by its owner and without any negligence on his part, and leaving the regularly travelled ice track fell through on the newly formed thin ice at the place which defendant had left without the protection required either by Cr. Code, s. 287, or by the common law.

Little v. Smith, 20 D.L.R. 399, 32 O.L.R. 518.

ILLEGAL CONTRACTS.

See Contracts, III.

ILLEGITIMATE CHILD.

See Affiliation; Bastardy.
As to right to custody of illegitimate child, see Infants, I C.

IMITATION.

Passing off, see Trade-marks; Trade-name; Copyright; Patents.

IMMIGRATION.

See Aliens, I-3.

IMPLIED AGREEMENT.

See Contracts.
Implied covenant in lease, see Landlord and Tenant.

Implied warranty in sale of goods, see Sale.

IMPLIED POWERS.

Of corporation, see Companies.

IMPRISONMENT.

See Criminal Law.
Liability for false imprisonment, see False Imprisonment; Malicious Prosecution; Arrest.

Can. Dig.—74.

IMPROBATION.

See Cancellation of Instruments.

IMPROVEMENTS.

Lien for, see Liens; Mechanics' Liens.
Local improvements, see Taxes; Municipal Corporations.

ALLOWANCE TO PURCHASER FOR IMPROVEMENTS—LIEN FOR ON SETTING ASIDE SALE IN FAVOUR OF PRIOR PURCHASER.

Where a vendor, who had contracted to sell land to a vendee who went into possession, subsequently on such vendee absconding sold it to another person who was aware of, or who had notice sufficient to put him on inquiry as to, the original vendee's rights, although they were not disclosed by the records in the land titles office, the sale may be set aside at the instance of the original vendee's assignee, but the purchaser is entitled to a return of his purchase money, and if charged with occupation rent he is also entitled to interest on his purchase money; he will also be allowed for the value of improvements made by him and for taxes paid; and if a balance is found in his favour, he is entitled to a lien on the land therefor.

Allan v. Riopel, 14 D.L.R. 811, 7 A.L.R. 65, 26 W.L.R. 248, 5 W.W.R. 712.

COMPENSATION—WHAT ARE IMPROVEMENTS.

Where the owner of farm lands, by stating that he intends to give them to the defendant, induces him to spend money thereon, such statement being made by the owner in expectation that he will receive the benefit of any improvements so made, and where the defendant is subsequently awarded a lien for the increased value resulting from such expenditure, an allowance will be made for the value of improvements of a permanent nature, such as fencing and draining, but not for mere repairs to the dwelling-house which do not properly come under the caption of permanent improvements.

McBride v. McNeil, 9 D.L.R. 503, 27 O.L.R. 455, 23 O.W.R. 558.

COMPENSATION FOR WHERE BENEFIT IS TAKEN ADVANTAGE OF.

Where plaintiffs are entitled by reason of a prior "oil lease" to enter upon and prospect for oil and gas upon land subsequently leased to defendants and upon which defendants have already done work and made improvements, if the plaintiffs wish to take the benefit of this work done and improvements made, defendant is entitled to compensation therefor. [McIntosh v. Leckie, 13 O.L.R. 54, followed.]

Maple City Oil & Gas Co. v. Charlton, 7 D.L.R. 345, 3 O.W.N. 1629.

INCEST.

ESSENTIALS.

Evidence of penetration and emission is not essential to the proof of a charge of incest.

R. v. Lindsay, 30 D.L.R. 417, 26 Can. Cas. 163, 36 O.L.R. 171.

INCOMPETENT PERSONS.

- I. WHO ARE.
- II. CONTRACTS; DEEDS.
- III. TORTS.
- IV. CONFINEMENT; SUPPORT IN ASYLUM.
- V. SUITS BY OR AGAINST.
- VI. POWERS OF COMMITTEE AND ADMINISTRATION OF ESTATE.

See also Infants.

Annotation.

Irresistible impulse; Knowledge of wrong; Criminal law: 1 D.L.R. 287.

I. Who are.

(§ 1—1)—LUNATIC—PETITION—EVIDENCE.
Re Yeo, 4 O.W.N. 734, 23 O.W.R. 961.

LUNATIC—APPLICATION FOR ORDER DECLARING INCOMPETENCY — NECESSITY FOR NOTICE TO SUPPOSED INCOMPETENT—PROPER MATERIAL UPON APPLICATION.
Re Morrison, 15 O.W.N. 338.

EXAMINATION OF DEFENDANT ON SANITY OF MIND—LONG TIME BETWEEN SIGNING OF THE NOTE AND INTERDICTION—4, P. 286.

A motion to have a medical examination of a defendant who has pleaded insanity will be dismissed if many months elapsed between the signing of the note sued upon and the interdiction of the defendant.

Belleau v. Paquet, 15 Que. P.R. 291.

(§ 1—2)—WHAT CONSTITUTES INCOMPETENCY.

The policy of the law is that the liberty of no man shall be interfered with on the ground of mental infirmity, if he have sufficient understanding for the handling of his business according to the ordinary usages of the neighbourhood where he lives. One who is free from any mental disease cannot be regarded as of unsound mind within the meaning of the Lunacy Act, 9 Edw. VII. (Ont.) c. 37, s. 7, if, notwithstanding his lack of mental acuteness, he has sufficient understanding for the handling of his business according to the ordinary usages of the neighbourhood in which he lives. The Act, 1 Geo. V. (Ont.) c. 29, amending the Lunacy Act, 9 Edw. VII. (Ont.) c. 37, deals with cases on the border line between sanity and insanity, and mental disease need not be established in an enquiry under that Act, but the test is whether the person is so weak-minded as not to be able to manage his affairs.

Peel v. Peel, 3 D.L.R. 696, 3 O.W.N. 1127, 21 O.W.R. 945.

On an application for the appointment of a guardian of the estate of an alleged lunatic, in order to determine whether or not he is of unsound mind, evidence of the facts and circumstances which go to shew insanity must be submitted. A petition for the appointment of a guardian of the estate of a supposed lunatic must, under r. 753 (Sask. r. 1911) be addressed to the judge of the court. On an application for the appointment of a guardian of the estate of a supposed lunatic, the fact that he was committed to a hospital for the insane by a justice of the peace and that he is there at the time of making the application, is not evidence of insanity, for he may have been committed improperly. The affidavit of persons that, in their opinion, a supposed lunatic is of unsound mind is not sufficient upon which to base an application for the appointment of a guardian for his estate, since it is necessary to state such facts from which the court itself may judge whether the person is of unsound mind or not.

Re George, 8 D.L.R. 731, 22 W.L.R. 885, 3 W.A.R. 743.

An issue as to lunacy under s. 77 of the Lunacy Act, 9 Edw. VII. (Ont.) c. 37, is to be conducted in the same manner and according to the same rules of law and procedure as any other trial. Power to examine an alleged lunatic is conferred by subs. (4), of s. 7 of the Act, only upon the judge presiding at the trial of the issue as to his soundness of mind, and cannot be exercised by an Appellate Court.

Re Fraser; Fraser v. Robertson; McCormick v. Fraser, 8 D.L.R. 955, 26 O.L.R. 508, 22 O.W.R. 353, reversing Re Fraser, 24 O.L.R. 222.

Before a declaration of lunacy will be made on a summary inquiry under s. 11 of the Lunacy Act, R.S.M. 1902, c. 103, the following rules must be strictly complied with: (a) The petition must be endorsed as required by r. 772 of The King's Bench Act, and should be signed by the petitioner. (b) It must be personally served upon the supposed lunatic: [Re Miller, 1 Ch. Ch. 215] unless service has been dispensed with. (c) Personal service will only be dispensed with when it would be dangerous to the lunatic to serve him and, to prove that, the affidavit of the medical superintendent of the asylum in which the party is confined is not sufficient without corroboration: [Re Newman, 2 Ch. Ch. 390; Re Mein, 2 Ch. Ch. 429.] (d) The petition should be presented by the nearest relative and, where the petitioner is out of the jurisdiction, some person within the jurisdiction should be joined as copetitioner: [Heywood & Massey's Lunacy Practice, 20.] (e) It should be supported by the affidavits of at least two medical men: [Re Patton, 1 Ch. Ch. 192.] and such affidavits must show all the facts evidencing the lunacy from which the court may judge for itself whether or not the prisoner is of unsound mind: [McIntyre v. Kingsley, 1 Ch. Ch. 281; Ex parte Perse, 1 Moll. 219.] (f) There should also be affidavits from members of the family of the alleged lunatic and other persons who know him, not merely giving their opinions, but stating with particularity the material facts pointing to unsoundness of mind and incapacity to manage himself and his affairs: Nothing can be inferred against the supposed lunatic from the fact that he is confined in a lunatic asylum. He may be there improperly. If, however, proper evidence is produced that the person has been found a lunatic by a foreign tribunal having jurisdiction to so find, the court would generally act upon such finding, though not binding upon it. It is doubtful whether there is any power to serve the petition out of the jurisdiction. Leave to do so was given in Re Webb, 12 O.L.R. 194, but that was under the Ontario rules, which are not the same as those in force here.

Re Bulger, 21 Man. L.R. 702.

PETITION FOR ORDER ADJUDICATING LUNACY—FAILURE TO MAKE CASE.

Re Pherill, 10 O.W.N. 429.

An applicant for interdiction for imbecility should, on pain of nullity of the proceedings, be interrogated by the judge in presence of the clerk of the court or his deputy, or by the prothonotary and the examination should be put in writing and communicated to the family council. Therefore, the decree for interdiction when the prothonotary who interrogated the applicant did not report the examination but contented himself with declaring his view of the mental state of the interdict is null and should be set aside.

Chatelle v. Chatelle, 21 Que. K.B. 158.

(§ 1-3)—PERSON ALLEGED TO BE INCOMPETENT TO MANAGE HER OWN AFFAIRS—CONTRADICTORY EVIDENCE—PREPONDERANCE—DISMISSAL OF APPLICATION FOR APPOINTMENT OF COMMITTEE.

Re Thomas, 15 O.W.N. 185.

INTERDICTION—VALIDITY OF PROCEEDINGS—POWERS OF NOTARY.

No provision of the law respecting interdiction gives the right to a tribunal, judge, or prothonotary, to authorize a notary or any other person to hold meetings of a family council called to give its advice upon an interdiction asked for. An interdiction is of public order and a court should ex officio, take knowledge of illegalities with which the proceedings in interdiction are tainted even if the interdicted party had not pleaded them.

Legault v. Legault, 20 Que. P.R. 53.

INTERDICTION—CHOSE JUGÉE.

Where a second demand for the interdiction of a person for imbecility is asked for the same reasons as those contained in a first petition rejected 5 months before, after contestation, and no new facts of insanity are alleged, the last petition will be dismissed on the ground of chose jugée. The judge has the power to name an alienist for the purpose of examining a person whose interdiction is sought, but it is for him a matter of discretion.

Goltman v. Davidson, 53 Que. S.C. 437.

COSTS—HUSBAND AND WIFE.

Nothing in the law authorizes a wife, whose husband asks her interdiction for lunacy, to claim from him provision for her costs of defence.

Goyette v. Clermont, 20 Que. P.R. 224.

LUNATIC—APPLICATION FOR APPOINTMENT OF COMMITTEE—REFUSAL AS UNNECESSARY.

Re Taylor, 9 O.W.N. 110.

(§ 1-4)—APPLICATION BY SON FOR DECLARATION OF FATHER'S INCOMPETENCE—EVIDENCE—CONFLICTING AFFIDAVITS—DISPOSITION OF PROPERTY OF SUPPOSED INCOMPETENT—APPREHENSION AS TO—CARE AND CUSTODY—DISMISSAL OF APPLICATION.

Re Howell, 17 O.W.N. 47.

(§ 1-6)—LUNATICS—RESTORATION TO CAPACITY—EFFECT OF DEATH.

Where a person was by an order of court adjudged a lunatic and his affairs and estate placed in charge of a committee, the court has no jurisdiction, after the death of the lunatic, to enter by virtue of s. 10 of the Lunacy Act, R.S.O. 1914, c. 68, upon an inquiry with a view of ascertaining whether the lunatic had in fact, some years before his death, become of sound mind and capable of managing his own affairs, and that certain payments, in the nature of gifts, made by the committee out of the lunatic's property, with his knowledge and approval, might be validated.

Re Rourke, 22 D.L.R. 830, 33 O.L.R. 519.

INSANITY OF ACCUSED—TRIAL AND CONVICTION WITHOUT PRELIMINARY TRIAL AS TO SANITY.

The King v. Leys, 17 Can. Cr. Cas. 198.

LUNACY—ORDER DECLARING—PETITION FOR.

Re Brown, 2 O.W.N. 924, 18 O.W.R. 919.

II. Contracts; deeds.

(§ 11-10)—CONTRACTS—DEEDS.

Where the endorser of a promissory note was at the time of the endorsement mentally incapable of making a contract, and where it appears that the note was merely a renewal of certain subsisting and enforceable notes, upon which the endorser was jointly and severally liable with others, such circumstances will govern, and the plaintiff holder may revert to the earlier notes and recover upon them, upon the ground that the renewal endorsement was made under a mistake of fact, especially where it does not appear that the plaintiff had knowledge of the mental incapacity of the endorser.

Bank of Ottawa v. Bradford, 8 D.L.R. 722, 4 O.W.N. 333, 23 O.W.R. 818.

DEED—SETTING ASIDE.

A deed of land will not be set aside on the grounds that the grantor was insane, unless it is proved that he was insane, to the knowledge of the grantee, at the time the negotiations were being carried on and the deed executed.

Conrad v. Halifax Lumber Co., 41 D.L.R. 218, 52 N.S.R. 250.

AGREEMENT—NULLITY.

An agreement made by a person interdicted as insane, by which he bound himself to pay $100 to another party, should the latter succeed in freeing him from the asylum in which he was interned, is valueless and nonexistent in law. The freedom of an insane person, interned for his own good in an asylum, is not violated, even admitting that all the formalities required for his internment have not been carefully fulfilled. The administration of some one else's business, in order to create obligations in favour of the administrator against that one whose business is managed and who is unable to contract, owing to his age or insanity, should be taken up "usefully" and bring some advantage to the person whose business has been thus managed.

Craig v. Gibault, 53 Que. S.C. 488.

Upon an action by the curator to a person interdicted for insanity, against the purchaser of an immovable property, it became alleged that said property had been bought by defendant a month only before the interdiction of the vendor and when the latter was insane, defendant pleaded denying the material allegations of plaintiff's action and alleging specially that said interdiction was irregular and null, and prayed that the same be avoided. Plaintiff, equal, thereupon filed an inscription in law against that portion of said plea containing said last allegations and conclusions:—It was held that the interdiction of the vendor being set forth in the declaration as one of the principal reasons of the action, defendant was entitled to attack its legality, but that said interdiction having been adjudged on the petition of plaintiff who was not personally in cause, herein, the nullity of such interdiction could not be declared by the court. Under such circumstances, the court will maintain such inscription in law in part, and reject from the conclusions of the plea the words praying for the annulling of the ordinance of interdiction, with costs against defendant. On the merits of the case the court maintained defendant's plea and dismissed plaintiff's action with costs.

Charland v. Bissonnette, 18 Rev. de Jur. 56.

(§ II—11)—DEEDS.

Where a conveyance is attacked on the ground of the insanity of the grantor, and a condition of insanity which is not merely temporary is proved to have existed from a time prior to the execution thereof, the onus is upon those supporting the conveyance to show that such execution took place during a lucid interval such that the grantor was capable of understanding the nature of the act he was performing. [Russell v. Lefrançois, 8 Can. S.C.R. 325, followed.]

Hoover v. Nunn, 3 D.L.R. 503, 3 O.W.N. 1223, 22 O.W.R. 28.

SETTLEMENT OF PROPERTY—APPLICATION TO COURT TO CONFIRM—CAPACITY OF SETTLER—LUNACY ACT, R.S.O. 1914, c. 68, s. 37.

Re Bromley, 10 O.W.N. 286.

LUNATIC'S WILL—COPY.

The curator of a person interdicted for insanity has the right to obtain a copy of a notarial will made by the interdict.

Gauthier v. Filiatrault, 49 Que. S.C. 260.

AGREEMENT—CAPACITY OF CONTRACTING PARTY—DRUNKENNESS AND MENTAL DEBILITY—O.S.U.S. PROBANDI.

Murray v. Weller, 3 A.L.R. 180, 14 W.L.R. 677.

ACTION BY INSPECTOR OF PRISONS AND PUBLIC CHARITIES—PARTITION AND SALE OF LUNATIC'S LANDS—RECOVERY TO CAPACITY—MOTION TO STAY PROCEEDINGS.

McCabe v. Boyle, 2 O.W.N. 695, 18 O.W.R. 551.

CAPACITY TO CONTRACT—SALE OF STANDING TIMBER—CONTRACT FAIR AND HONORABLE.

Fyckes v. Chisholm, 5 O.W.N. 21, 19 O.W.R. 977.

IV. Confinement; support in asylum.

(§ IV—20)—DETENTION OF DANGEROUS INSANE.

The court has a discretion to refuse the discharge of a person from an insane asylum, if he appears dangerous to be at large, however irregular the proceedings under which he is detained.

Re Oliver King, 30 D.L.R. 599, [1917] 1 W.W.R. 132.

ORDER DECLARING LUNACY—APPLICATION BY LUNATIC TO SUPERSEDE—LUNACY ACT, 9 EDW. VII. c. 37, s. 10.

Re Annett, 5 O.W.N. 331, 25 O.W.R. 311.

PERSON OF WEAK MIND—CONFINEMENT IN ASYLUM—HABEAS CORPUS—RETURN—FINDING OF FACT—DISCHARGE—ONTARIO HABEAS CORPUS ACT, R.S.O. 1914, c. 84, s. 7.

Re Davidson, 8 O.W.N. 481.

LUNATIC—CONTRIBUTION BY RELATIVES TO SUPPORT OF—ASYLUMS.

The determination, by the Provincial Secretary of the sum which the relatives ought to pay towards the support of a lunatic under art. 4108 R.S.Q. 1909 only applies to the amount paid by the Government under art. 4137. Therefore the payment of the sum so determined does not release the relatives from the amount they are obliged to pay to the county municipality or the local municipality under arts. 4148, 4149. A municipality may demand, from the relatives, the amount payable under arts. 4148, 4149 only from the time they became liable for the support of the lunatic under the common law (e.g., for a son-in-law only from the time of his marriage) and according to his means.

Nicolet v. Beaulac, 46 Que. S.C. 1, affirming judgment of Superior Court.

FRESH PROCEEDINGS AFTER ABSENCE.

When a patient in a lunatic asylum leaves it and is absent for more than fourteen days, in this case more than three months, the same proceedings must be taken for his retention when he does return as were necessary for his original commitment. If he is retained without these proceedings he may be discharged on habeas corpus.

Dubeau v. Brothers of Charity, 14 Que. P.R. 258.

(§ IV—21)—MAINTENANCE IN ASYLUM—LUNATIC — MAINTENANCE — INSUFFICIENT MATERIAL.

Re Barley and Fawcett, 4 O.W.N. 426.

ASSISTING ESCAPE OF CRIMINAL INSANE PERSON COMMITTED TO INSANE ASYLUM.

The King v. Trapnell, 17 Can. Cr. Cas. 346, 22 O.L.R. 219, 17 O.W.R. 274.

V. Suits by or against.

(§ V—25)—DEMAND FOR INTERDICTION—DEATH—COSTS—REVIVAL OF ACTION.

An application for interdiction for insanity, interrupted by the death of the person sought to be interdicted, cannot be revived or continued against the heirs of that person in so far as to arrive at an adjudication upon the costs.

Juneau v. Bergeron, 42 D.L.R. 468, 27 Que. K.B. 300.

ACTION ON MORTGAGE—STAY OF PROCEEDINGS.

The mere fact that a mortgagor is a lunatic and the mortgagee is proceeding to realize upon his mortgage is not a ground for a stay of proceedings moreover, the rule that in lunacy matters the welfare of the lunatic must be given first consideration, even to the injury of his creditors, does not apply to such a proceeding.

Re Smith, [1918] 2 W.W.R. 540.

RECOURSE OF MUNICIPALITY AGAINST ALIMENTARY DEBTOR.

Alimentary payments for which the debtor is bound only at his domicile are convertible into a pecuniary pension when, for an overpowering cause, life in common has become impossible between the alimentary creditor and debtor. A municipal corporation which has paid the pension of a lunatic confined in an asylum can, in default of payment by the lunatic, bring a direct action for the purposes indicated against the person who is obliged to make these alimentary payments to the lunatic.

Montmorency v. Guimont, 48 Que. S.C. 378.

SUITS AGAINST—LUNATIC—INCENDIARISM.
Otter Mutual Fire Ins. Co. v. Rand, 5 O.W.N. 653.

GUARDIAN AD LITEM — NOTICE MUST BE SERVED ON APPLICANT.

A guardian ad litem will not be appointed until notice of application has been served on the party on whose behalf application is being made.

Bank of Ottawa v. Bradfield, 2 O.W.N. 1014, 19 O.W.R. 18.

VI. Powers of committee and administration of estate.

(§ VI—30)—Before a guardian of a lunatic's estate can be appointed, it must appear that the alleged lunatic is at the time of the application of unsound mind and that he has property and is incapable of managing such property. A petition for the appointment of a guardian of the estate of a supposed lunatic must pray specifically for a declaration of lunacy. The petition will be refused where no facts are set out from which the Court can determine whether or not the alleged lunatic is of unsound mind, or whether or not he is incapable of managing himself and affairs. A petition must be supported by the affidavits of at least two medical men, containing not only the conclusions at which they arrive but also the facts upon which these conclusions are based.

Re George, 8 D.L.R. 731, 22 W.L.R. 885, 3 W.W.R. 743.

LUNATIC DISCHARGED FROM ASYLUM—GIFTS.

So long as the order declaring a person a lunatic stands unrevoked and his committee undischarged, that person, though discharged from the insane asylum, is not legally capable of dealing with his estate; gifts of money made by the committee upon the orders of such persons may be recovered back and can be followed into lands purchased therewith.

Rourke v. Halford, 1 D.L.R. 371, 37 O.L.R. 92, varying 9 O.W.N. 347.

EXPENDITURES—CHARITABLE PURPOSES.

The Court has, under s. 12 of the Lunacy Act (R.S.O. 1914, c. 68), no power to sanction the disbursement of large amounts for the benefit of charitable and philanthropic schemes.

Re D., 39 D.L.R. 368, 40 O.L.R. 365.

LUNATIC'S ESTATE—INVESTMENTS.

The property of persons not sui juris should not be left for private investment, but should be paid into or lodged in Court and become subject to the general system of administration, by which the interest is punctually paid and the corpus is always forthcoming when needed.

Re Rourke, 22 D.L.R. 830, 33 O.L.R. 519.

LUNATIC'S ESTATE—PAYMENT OF DEBTS.

Before the Court will make an order for the payment of debts of a lunatic, an inventory of the lunatic's estate must be presented in order that the Court may be informed of the nature and extent of the estate. A claim for maintenance of a lunatic while confined in an asylum has priority over the claims of creditors.

Re Main, 7 W.W.R. 1152.

LUNATIC—SALE OF LAND—APPROVAL OF—DISPOSITION OF PURCHASE-MONEY—COSTS—PAYMENTS TO COMMITTEE FOR MAINTENANCE—PAYMENT OF BALANCE INTO COURT.

Re McDonnell, 13 O.W.N. 320.

(§ VI—31)—AGED PERSON — UNABLE TO CARE FOR HIMSELF—DEEMED INSANE—APPOINTMENT OF GUARDIAN UNDER LUNACY ACT.

A person who by reason of mental impairment due to old age is unable to take care of himself or his property, is an insame person within the meaning of s. 2 of the Lunacy Act (R.S.N.S. 1900, c. 125).

Re Tupper, 44 D.L.R. 85, 52 N.S.R. 385.

LUNATIC—POWERS OF COMMITTEE—REMOVAL OF COMMITTEEMAN.

Re Lees, 14 D.L.R. 495, 5 W.W.R. 662

STATUTORY COMMITTEE.

Re Montgomery Estate, 6 D.L.R. 912, 4 O.W.N. 308.

INTERDICTION — MENTAL DERANGEMENT — OPINION OF FAMILY COUNCIL—FATHER —C. C. ART. 282, 329, 332.

The father, unless he is judged unfit, has the right to be named curator over his widowed daughter who is of unsound mind, to the exclusion of every other person, and even in spite of the opinion of the family council, of which he was not one.

Vannalton v. Vannalton, 56 Que. S.C. 288.

APPOINTMENT OF TRUST COMPANY—INVESTMENT.

A trust company appointed committee of the estate of a lunatic can, under its statutory powers, act without giving security; but this does not enlarge its powers in dealing with the funds of the lunatic's estate. Yearly balances must be paid into Court: s. 11 (d) of the Lunacy Act, R.S.O. 1914, c. 68; and this rule must be strictly followed. [Re Norris and Re Drope, 5 O.L.R. 99, 101; Re Rouke, 22 D.L.R. 830, 33 O.L.R. 519, followed.] The report of a Master authorizing the investment and reinvestment by a company-committee of the lunatic's funds and the application of the interest and part of the capital for his maintenance, was varied, upon motion for its confirmation, by directing payment into Court.

Re Hunter, 37 O.L.R. 463.

APPOINTMENT OF COMMITTEE—NONRESIDENT.

The court will not appoint as sole committee of the estate of a lunatic a person resident out of the jurisdiction of the court. [Ex parte Ord, Re Shields, Jac. 94, followed.]

Re Swain, 35 O.L.R. 613.

STATUTORY COMMITTEE—HOSPITALS FOR THE INSANE ACT, R.S.O. 1914, c. 295, ss. 40, 45—INSPECTOR OF PRISONS AND PUBLIC CHARITIES—ESTATE OF PATIENT—DISCHARGE FROM TRUST—DIRECTION AS TO ACCOUNT AND COSTS—APPOINTMENT OF INSPECTOR AS COMMITTEE OF ESTATE.

Re Hillam, 9 O.W.N. 373.

(§ VI—33)—SALE OF PROPERTY OF INCOMPETENT.

Where, under an order of the Court, lands of a lunatic are sold, and a mortgage thereon taken in part payment, Ont. Con. r. 66 applies, and the mortgage should be taken in the name of the accountant of the Court, unless otherwise ordered, but it is the duty of the committee to look after the mortgage investment as though the mortgage had been taken in his own name.

Re Gibson, 3 D.L.R. 448, 22 O.W.R. 8.

RECOVERY OF SANITY—MOTION TO QUASH ADJUDICATION—MORTGAGE BY COMMITTEE WITH APPROVAL OF COURT—PROOF OF SANITY—AFFIDAVITS—RULE 226—PROTECTION OF MORTGAGEE—JUDICATURE ACT, R.S.O. 1897, c. 51, s. 58(11)—ORDER SUPERSEDING DECLARATION OF LUNACY—LUNACY ACT, R.S.O. 1914, c. 68, s. 10(5).

Re Annett, 10 O.W.N. 280.

PARTITION AND SALE—WIFE CURATOR.

A wife who is the curator of her interdicted husband, may, without any special authority, as an act of administration, cause herself to be represented in an action for partition and auction sale against her husband, to look after the interests of the interdict in all proceedings and bind the latter by receiving his share of the inheritance.

Archambault v. Maher, 25 Que. K.B. 456.
LUNATIC'S ESTATE—SALE OF LAND.

The administrator of a lunatic appointed by the Lieut. Gov. in Council has power to deal with the real estate of the lunatic without application to the court, whereas in the case of a guardian appointed by the court, the rules of court provide that the real estate can only be sold by order of the court after application made to the court by the guardian.

Re Polgreen, 7 W.W.R. 1184.

LUNATIC—FOREIGN DOMICILE—FOREIGN ASYLUM FOR INSANE—SALE OF LANDS IN ONTARIO.

Re Carr, 2 O.W.N. 680, 18 O.W.R. 205.

PETITION FOR DECLARATION THAT PARTY IS A LUNATIC — MATTER COMES WITHIN 9 EDW. VII, c. 37, s. 7(1).

Re Peel, 19 O.W.R. 511, 2 O.W.N. 1275.

RECORDS IN WRITING—PAROL TESTIMONY—LOSS OF WRITTEN EVIDENCE—DEVOLUTION OF ESTATE—LEX LOCI—NATIVE OF QUEBEC—FOREIGN DOMICILE—PROPERTY IN QUEBEC—LANDS SOLD BY LICITATION—CURATOR—RENDERING ACCOUNTS.

Hawthorne v. O'Boone, 40 Que. S.C. 503.

INCORPORATION.

See Companies.

INDECENCY.

INDECENT ACT — PUBLIC PLACE — INFORMATION—"WILFULLY"—AMENDMENT—"PRESENCE OF ONE OR MORE PERSONS"—SEC. 205 OF THE CRIMINAL CODE.

R. v. Clifford, 26 D.L.R. 754, 26 Can. Cr. Cas. 5, 35 O.L.R. 287.

CRIMINAL PROCEEDINGS—SUMMARY CONVICTION—UNCERTAINTY AND MULTIPLICITY.

A summary conviction for that the accused did "at various times and in public places unlawfully commit acts of indecency" at a named city within a period of 2 months specified is invalid for uncertainty and as including several offences, and no amendment is permissible on certiorari, if the evidence at the hearing included several distinct offences within the period named in the conviction and the magistrate had neither indicated any particular occasion regarding which he found the accused guilty nor found him guilty in respect of all of such occasions.

R. v. Roach, 19 D.L.R. 362, 6 O.W.N. 630, 23 Can. Cr. Cas. 28.

INDECENT EXPOSURE—INTENT TO INSULT.

On the trial of summary conviction proceedings for an indecent act charged to have been wilfully committed with intent to insult the informant and his friends who were with him, and also charged to have been committed in a public place, the proof of the former makes it immaterial whether the place specified was one to which the public had access or not, and the defendant may be convicted under subs. (b) of Cr. Code, s. 205; the latter subs. refers to an offence committed in any place, whether public or private, where there is the intention to insult or offend one or more persons as distinguished from the public generally.

Berman v. Kocurka, 25 Can. Cr. Cas. 44.

INDEMNITY.

See Contracts, II D—152; Bonds; Guaranty; Principal and Surety; Insurance; Master and Servant, V—34a.

ACTION FOR—JUDGMENT.

In an action for indemnity, law and equity now being administered by the same court, a plaintiff may have judgment for the full amount against which he is indemnified, although he has paid no part of it and may never pay any part of it, in cases where the defendant is not concerned in the application of the money. A claim for an indemnity cannot be made the subject of a special endorsement, but where the whole merits of the case have been gone into, the trial should not be set aside and a new trial ordered, r. 183 being broad enough to enable the court to make all necessary amendments and to give judgment according to the rights and merits of the case.

McDonald v. Peuchen, 41 D.L.R. 619, 42 O.L.R. 18.

COVENANT IN DEED—AGAINST WHOM ENFORCEABLE.

A purchaser's covenant for indemnifying a vendor against all claims, actions, or demands in respect of a mortgage of the lands conveyed, similar in terms to a prior covenant on the part of the vendor in the conveyance of lands to him, may be enforced by the vendor, notwithstanding that he has not paid the principal interest and costs due on the mortgage; but the judgment will direct payment into court by the defendant of the amount to be applied in satisfaction of the mortgage debt. [Re Richardson, Ex parte Governors of St. Thomas's Hospital, [1911] 2 K.B. 705, followed.]

Shaver v. Sproule, 9 D.L.R. 641, 4 O.W.N. 968.

AGAINST WHOM.

A defendant who is liable to the owner of a building for damages caused by the fall of a water tank erected by the former on the roof of the building, as a result of the faulty construction of the supports thereof, is entitled to indemnity from a defendant in warranty from whom the former obtained the tank and its supports.

Wilson v. H. G. Vogel Co.; H. G. Vogel Co. v. Gardiner; Gardiner v. Locomotive & Machine Co., 4 D.L.R. 196.

CASH INDEMNITY—TELLER'S RISK MONEY—RECOVERY—BREACH OF CONTRACT FOR SERVICES.

An indemnity fund furnished to a bank by a clerk, under an agreement separate from his contract of employment, may be recovered by him, notwithstanding his breach of the contract of employment prevents his recovering compensation for his services.

Ashmore v. Bank of B.N.A., 13 D.L.R. 73, 18 B.C.R. 257, 24 W.L.R. 840, 4 W.W.R. 1014.

INDEPENDENT ADVICE.

See Husband and Wife; Deeds.

INDEPENDENT CONTRACTORS.

Liability for acts of, see Highways; Municipal Corporations; Master and Servant

INDIANS.

- I. IN GENERAL.
- II. LANDS OF.
- III. GOODS OF.

As to supplying intoxicating liquors to, see Intoxicating Liquors.

As to lease of Indian lands, see Landlord and Tenant.

See also Public Lands; Incompetent Persons.

I. In general.

(§ I—1)—OFFENCES OUTSIDE RESERVATION. An Indian is punishable as other persons are for offences outside a reservation against provincial legislation.

R. v. Martin, 39 D.L.R. 635, 41 O.L.R. 79, 29 Can. Cr. Cas. 189, affirming 40 O.L.R. 270.

(§ I—2)—STATUS—BRITISH SUBJECTS WITH CIVIL RIGHTS, LIMITED HOW.

Indians in Manitoba are British subjects enjoying full civil rights as such, except as specially limited by statute.

Prince v. Tracey, 13 D.L.R. 818, 25 W.L.R. 412.

INDIAN ACT—SUSPENSIVE SALE.

Under the Indian Act (R.S.C. 1906, c. 81) any person who sells anything to a non-treaty Indian can take security on that article for any part of the price thereof which has not been paid. In this case the question arose from a conditional sale, and sales of that nature are valid in law. The action and attachment of goods of the plaintiff is allowed following these conclusions with costs.

Rousseau v. Nolette, 25 Rev. de Jur. 210.

II. Lands of.

(§ II—5)—JUDGMENT AGAINST—EXECUTION —“PROPERLY” ON RESERVE—“PERSON.”

Section 102 of the Indian Act (R.S.C. 1906, c. 81) which prohibits any “person” from taking any security whether by judgment, mortgage or otherwise, upon the property of any Indian applies also to a judgment recovered by an Indian as indorsee of a promissory note given by an Indian to one not an Indian, and is therefore not enforceable against the property on the Reserve; the word “person” in s. 102, includes an Indian.

Atkins v. Davis, 34 D.L.R. 69, 38 O.L.R. 548.

INDIANS — RESERVE — OCCUPATION — CONSTRUCTION—GENERAL SUPERINTENDENT —INJUNCTION—C. PROC. ART. 957 R.S.C. 1906, c. 81, ss. 33, 34.

Under the Indian act (R.S.C. 1906, c. 81) no other than an Indian of the band can, without the authority of the superintendent general, reside in the limits of a reserve belonging to this band or occupied by it. Nevertheless in the case of such illegal residence the superintendent alone can expel him from it, and the mayor of this reserve, a member of the band alone has the right of demanding an injunction to prevent him from building on his land.

D'Ailleboust v. Bellefleur, 25 Rev. Leg. 50.

SEIGNIORIAL GRANT.

The grant of fief by the Governor and Intendant of New France in the usual form and confirmed by the King passes a proprietary title in which are specified all the obligations imposed on the grantee. No others can be added drawn from the circumstances under which the grant was made or from the negotiations and correspondence preceding or accompanying it. An Act passed before the abolition of the seigniorial tenure, confirming the grant and declaring that it was made “for the moral and religious instruction of the Indians, etc.” does not affect the title conferred and gives no real rights in the fief to the Indians named. The religious instruction mentioned in the Act is that to be given by the grantees when it was passed and does not oblige them to resort to any other kind whatever change may since have taken place in the religious belief of the Indians.

Corinthe v. Seminary of Ste. Sulpice, 21 Que. K.B. 315, affirming 38 Que. S.C. 268. [An appeal to the Privy Council was dismissed, Corinthe v. Seminary of Ste. Sulpice, 5 D.L.R. 263, 28 Times L.R. 549, [1912] A.C. 872.]

(§ II—8)—TRIAL LANDS AND PROPERTY.

The effect of 2 Vict. (Can.) c. 50 (see now C.S.L.C. 1861, c. 42), is to place beyond question the title of the Seminary of St. Sulpice of Montreal to the Seigniorie of The Lake of Two Mountains, and to make it impossible for the Indians of Oka to establish an independent title either to possession or control in the administration of the seigniorie, either by prescription or aboriginal title or on the theory that the title of the seigniorie was merely as trustees for the Indians; any benefits to which the Indians were entitled as upon a statutory charitable trust enforceable by legislation or possibly in an action by the Attorney-General were not such as to support an action for recovery of the land by the elected chiefs of the bands of Indians concerned.

Corinthe v Seminary of St. Sulpice, 5 D.L.R. 263, 28 Times L.R. 549, [1912] A.C. 872.

LOCATION AND EXTENT—PLAN—POSSESSION. Where oral evidence of acts of possession by the Indians extending the boundaries of their reserve beyond the limits of a plan of reserve in the public records of the province, was unsatisfactory, the boundaries laid down on such plan were adhered to.

R. v. Heisler, 13 E.L.R. 375.

REMOVAL TO NEW RESERVE—EXPEDIENTY—COMPENSATION.

The Exchequer Court, pursuant to the provisions of s. 49a of the Indian Act, will recommend the removal of Indians from their Reserve to a new site, if, in the interest of the public and the welfare of the Indians, such removal seems expedient. Under s. 2 (4) of the Act, they are to be compensated for the special loss or damage in respect of their buildings or improvements upon the Reserve.

Re Indian Reserve, Sydney, N.S., 42 D. L.R. 314, 17 Can. Ex. 517.

COMMITTAL UNDER JUDGMENT DEBTOR PROCEDURE — CONTEMPT — EXECUTION — DIVISION COURTS ACT—INDIAN ACT—EXEMPTION — POWERS OF PROVINCE—B.N.A. ACT.

Sections 190 et seq. of the Division Courts Act, R.S.O. 1914, c. 63, relating to the imprisonment of debtors, are not intended to apply to Indians. An Indian who has no property other than what is, by virtue of s. 102 of the Indian Act, R.S.C. 1906, c. 81, exempt from seizure under execution, cannot be committed to gaol by a Division Court Judge, after examination as a judgment debtor, even though the Judge be of opinion that the Indian has sufficient means and ability to pay the debt: the Indian Act preventing the judgment creditor from taking the assets of the Indian in execution, they cannot be reached indirectly. There can be no contempt in withholding that which is by law exempt from seizure; and the person of an Indian—a ward of the Dominion Government and subject to the legislation of the Dominion Parliament by the B.N.A. Act, s. 91 (24)— cannot be taken in execution under a provincial statute.

Re Caledonia Milling Co. v. Johns, 42 O.L.R. 338.

INDIAN LANDS—EXTINGUISHMENT OF INDIAN TITLE—PAYMENT BY DOMINION—LIABILITY OF ONTARIO.

The Province of Ontario is not liable to pay a proportion of the annuities and other moneys which the Dominion of Canada bound itself in the name of the Crown to pay to the Salteaux tribe of the Ojibway Indians under the Treaty of October 3, 1873.

Dominion of Canada v. Province of Ontario, [1910] A.C. 637, 26 Times L.R. 681, affirming 42 Can. S.C.R. 1.

INDIAN LANDS — B.N.A. ACT — CROWN GRANT — CONSTRUCTION — ADVERSE POSSESSION.

The Crown, in right of the Dominion Government, as having the management, charge and direction of Indian affairs, claimed the ownership of St. Nicholas Island as part of the Seignior of Sault Saint Louis as conceded in the year 1680 by the King of France and the Governor of Canada to the Jesuit Order for the Indians. Neither in the grant by the King nor in that by the Governor was the island conveyed by express words to the Jesuits. Held, (applying the rule that a Crown grant must be construed most strictly against the grantee and most beneficially for the Crown, so that nothing will pass to the grantee but by clear and express words), that the Dominion Government as representing the Indians, had no title to the island in question. Held (following St. Catherine's Milling & Lumber Co. v. The Queen, 14 A.C. 46), that only lands specifically set apart for the use of the Indians are "lands reserved for Indians" within the meaning of s. 91, item 24 of the B.N.A. Act. The evidence shewed that some of the Indians residing on the Caughnawaga Reserve had erected a small shack and sown at different times some patches of corn and potatoes on the island. Held, that no title by adverse possession could be founded upon such facts, as no ownership or property can be founded upon possession of land or prescription by Indians. The island in question in this case having been the property of the province at the time of Confederation, under the provisions of s. 109 of the B.N.A. Act, it must be held to belong to the province subject to the provisions of the said section.

The King v. Bonhomme, 38 D.L.R. 647, 16 Can. Ex. 437. [Affirmed, 49 D.L.R. 690.]

INDIAN LANDS — SERIP — GIFT — ESTOPPEL — INFANT.

The suppliant, when a minor of 18 years of age, gave to his father a scrip in satisfaction of half-breed claim arising out of the extinguishment of Indian title, which was issued to him in November, 1900. In 1913 he filed a petition of right to recover the scrip which in due course had found its way back into the hands of the Crown after location, and failing the Crown to return the same he asked the value thereof. Held, that although an infant he had full power to dispose by gift of this scrip to his father. The gift might be voidable but not void. He could for cause, repudiate within a reasonable time after having attained majority. A period of 10 years having elapsed since then he is now estopped by his laches having acquiesced by his conduct in all that has taken place.

On October 20, 1900, a scrip, in satisfaction of half-breed's claim arising out of the extinguishment of Indian title, was issued to the suppliant, who gave it to his father. The latter sold the same for consideration, and the scrip, after acreage had been located, apparently in due form, found its way into the hands of the Crown, and the suppliant now, 13 years after, sues the Crown to have the scrip certificate returned to him and that failing to do so, he asks to recover the value thereof. Held, as there was no covenant running with the scrip and the suppliant having parted with the same, there was no privity as between the Crown and himself, and furthermore he is barred by his laches having, by a period of 12 to 13 years, acquiesced in what had taken place.

Hirondelle v. The King, 16 Can. Ex. 193.

III. Goods of.

(§ III—15)—ENFRANCHISEMENT DE FACTO — SEIZURE—R.S.C., c. 81, ss. 107—123—QUE. C.P. 645.

An enfranchised Indian is only such de facto. No Indian is enfranchised unless he has first conformed to the requirements of ss. 107 to 123 of the Indian Act, and has received letters patent which proclaim and authorize his enfranchisement. The movable and immovable goods of unenfranchised Indians are exempt from seizure.

Brossard v. D'Aillebout, 15 Que. P.R. 412.

INDICTMENT, INFORMATION AND COMPLAINT.

I. FORM; REQUISITES.

II. SUFFICIENCY OF ALLEGATIONS.

- A. In general.
- B. Intent; knowledge.
- C. Negation of defences or exceptions.
- D. Duplicity; repugnancy.
- E. Description of offence.
- F. Amendment.
- G. Sufficiency to support conviction.

III. JOINDER OF COUNTS OR PERSONS.

IV. QUASHING.

Annotation.

Criminal information; functions and limits of prosecution by this process: 8 D.L.R. 571.

I. Form; requisites.

See Criminal Law; Intoxicating Liquors;

Summary Convictions; Certiorari; Habeas Corpus; Extradition.

Of warrant, see Justice of the Peace, 1-2.

(§ 1-1)—C. signed an information for an offence against the Canada Temperance Act, leaving the date and a place for the magistrate's name in blank, and mailed it to magistrate J. J., being ill, handed the information to Magistrate M. C. then requested Magistrate M. over the telephone to take the information and to issue a summons thereon. Summons was issued and at the hearing, after the evidence was all in, the defendant's counsel appeared and objected to the magistrate's jurisdiction, but took no further part in the proceedings. Held, that the information was improper, because not laid and signed before the magistrate and that the magistrate acted without jurisdiction. Held, also, that the appearance of defendant's counsel merely to object to the jurisdiction did not operate as a waiver.

The King v. Murray, ex parte Copp, 40 N.R.R. 289.

Where an information under the Canada Temperance Act was laid within 3 months after the offence, but no summons was issued thereon for a year and 14 days after information laid, the delay in issuing summons did not deprive the magistrate of jurisdiction. The Act 7-8 Edw. VII, c. 71, takes effect wherever Part II. of the Canada Temperance Act is in force, without being voted upon.

The King v. Peek, ex parte Beal, 40 N. B.R. 320.

(§ 1-2)—VERIFICATION.

A conviction for an offence against the Liquor License Ordinance cannot be sustained under an information and warrant describing the accused as "Big Boy of Calgary, Alberta," where, before the accused pleaded to it, the information was amended, without being resworn to, by striking out the words "Big Boy" and substituting therefor the name of the accused, William Davis, and where his objection to the jurisdiction of the police magistrate to try him on the ground that no sworn information had been laid against him, was overruled and the trial proceeded with. [R. v. Crawford, 6 D.L.R. 380, distinguished.]

R. v. Davis, 7 D.L.R. 608, 5 A.L.R. 442, 3 W.W.R. 1.

INFORMATION ON SUMMARY TRIAL.

A conviction by two justices sitting together and having the powers of a magistrate for summary trial without the consent of the accused for an offence under Cr. Code, s. 773, is not invalid because the information was taken before one only of the 2 justices, as by s. 796, one justice has power to remand before 2 justices for the purposes of a summary trial under Part XVI. of the Cr. Code.

R. v. James, 25 D.L.R. 476, 25 Can. Cr.

Cas. 23, 9 A.L.R. 66, 32 W.L.R. 528, 9 W.W.R. 235.

AMENDMENT OF INFORMATION—RESWEARING.

It is not essential that an information before a magistrate should be resworn after being amended at the hearing, if the amendment merely gives greater particularity or certainty to the charge without changing the charge to an offence of a different kind or alleging it as of a time or place materially different from that first alleged.

R. v. Tally, 21 D.L.R. 651, 23 Can. Cr. Cas. 449, 8 A.L.R. 453, 30 W.L.R. 396, 7 W.W.R. 1178.

INFORMATION BEFORE JUSTICE—STATEMENT OF BELIEF.

If the reasonable or probable grounds for believing that an offence has been committed are anything less than the actual knowledge of an eye-witness, the written and sworn information under Cr. Code, s. 654, should be worded accordingly, and the informant not allowed to take a positive oath that the offence was committed.

White v. Dunning, 21 D.L.R. 528, 8 S.L.R. 76, 24 Can. Cr. Cas. 85, 30 W.L.R. 585, 7 W.W.R. 1210.

VERIFICATION.

Since 8 & 9 Edw. VII, (Can.), c. 9, s. 2, amending s. 655 of the Cr. Code, a magistrate may issue a summons under the Canada Temperance Act upon a written and signed information alleging information and belief only, without examining witnesses. He must, however, be reasonably satisfied that a summons ought to issue. The defendant, by appearing without objection, waived any defect in the procedure upon issuing the summons.

The King v. Kay, ex parte Dolan, 41 N. B.R. 95.

(§ 1-3)—CONSENT OF OFFICIAL OR COURT.

Only in rare cases will the court grant leave to prefer an indictment for criminal libel at the instance of a private prosecutor who has not been bound over at the preliminary inquiry.

R. v. Daniel, 4 D.L.R. 443, 17 B.C.R. 150, 21 W.L.R. 563.

An "acting Attorney-General" is the Attorney-General pro tem, and as such may give a direction to Crown counsel for the preferment of a bill of indictment under Cr. Code, s. 873. Such direction to prefer an indictment may be in general terms written upon the bill authorizing counsel acting for the Crown at a specified Assize sitting to prefer the same.

The King v. Faulkner, 19 Can. Cr. Cas. 47, 16 B.C.R. 229.

POWERS OF ATTORNEY-GENERAL—EXTRADITION.

Cr. Code, s. 873, which permits the Attorney-General to prefer a bill of indictment for any offence, is of general application as to persons, and is not limited to persons already committed for trial or otherwise brought before the court. The fact that the Attorney-General had caused extradition proceedings to be taken in a foreign country to bring the accused back to Canada and that such proceedings are still pending, is no bar to the Attorney-General preferring a bill of indictment for the same offence under the powers conferred by s. 873.

R. v. Kelly, 27 Can. Cr. Cas. 94, 10 W.W.R. 1345. [Affirmed, 34 D.L.R. 311, 54 Can. S.C.R. 220, 27 Can. Cr. Cas. 282, [1917] 1 W.W.R. 46.]

LEAVE TO PREFER.

Leave to prefer an indictment may properly be refused the Crown when the accused has been discharged on a habeas corpus reviewing a magistrate's commitment for trial in respect of the same charge and holding the evidence insufficient on the merits to justify a committal for trial.

R. v. Mackey, 29 Can. Cr. Cas. 419, [See 40 D.L.R. 287, 29 Can. Cr. Cas. 167, 282, 52 N.S.R. 165.]

(§ 1-4)—FORM AND REQUISITES—ADULTERATION ACT (CAN.).

Where a summary prosecution under the Adulteration Act, R.S.C. 1906, c. 133, is permissible, only when brought at the instance of an inland revenue officer, the information must correctly designate his official capacity or it will be void; nor can an amendment be permitted to add his official designation to the information as such would be equivalent to substituting a new information.

Beland v. Boyce, 13 D.L.R. 147, 21 Can. Cr. Cas. 421.

DISCRETION OF ATTORNEY-GENERAL—LEAVE TO PREFER FORMAL CHARGE.

In exercising the discretion given to the provincial Atty-Gen'l in Saskatchewan and Alberta, under Cr. Code 873 A, as to whether a formal charge shall be preferred on the depositions on which there has been a committal for trial, the Atty-Gen'l has practically to perform what would be Grand Jury functions in provinces where there is a Grand Jury system. Leave to a private prosecutor to prefer a charge in Saskatchewan upon which, in lieu of an indictment, the accused would in that province be triable should be refused if the Atty-Gen'l has instructed his agent not to prefer a charge although there has been a committal for trial for the offence, unless such a strong prima facie case is disclosed on the depositions as to suggest an attempt to stifle a proper prosecution.

R. v. Weiss, 23 D.L.R. 710, 23 Can. Cr. Cas. 460, 8 S.L.R. 74, 30 W.L.R. 458, 7 W.W.R. 1160.

UNDER WAR REVENUE ACT.

A summary prosecution under the Special War Revenue Act, 1915, can only be instituted in the name of the Minister of Inland Revenue; and where the complaint is laid by an excise officer it should specially allege the authorization of the Minister, and in default the complaint cannot be amended, as there is no power to substitute a complainant where the original complainant had no status. [Beland v. Boyce, 21 Can. Cr. Cas. 421, 13 D.L.R. 147, applied.]

Ex parte Richard, 30 D.L.R. 364, 26 Can. Cr. Cas. 166.

NEW INFORMATION ON THE SAME FACTS.

The discharge of the accused upon a preliminary enquiry for an indictable offence is not a bar to fresh proceedings upon a new information based upon the same facts.

The King v. Burke, 19 Can. Cr. Cas. 141.

WHO MAY PREFER.

Where an indictment has been preferred by counsel acting on behalf of the Crown at a court of criminal jurisdiction, it will not be presumed that he would not have preferred it but for the direction of the Atty-Gen'l or acting Atty-Gen'l written thereon, and the indictment may be sustained under the general powers conferred upon Crown counsel under Cr. Code, s. 872, if for the same charge as that upon which the accused was committed for trial, whether or not the Attorney-General's direction under s. 873 was regularly given.

The King v. Faulkner, 19 Can. Cr. Cas. 47, 16 B.C.R. 229, 18 W.L.R. 634.

SIGNATURE BY CROWN PROSECUTOR—CR. CODE, s. 872.

A bill of indictment preferred by the Crown prosecutor under Cr. Code, s. 872, for a charge founded on the evidence taken before the committing justice, need not in addition to the signature of the Attorney-General's representative include a statement that he was in fact such representative.

Gagnon v. The King, 24 Can. Cr. Cas. 51.

SIGNATURE BY ACTING ATTORNEY-GENERAL—NOT A BARRISTER—VALIDITY.

An indictment preferred by an "acting Attorney-General" in Manitoba, under Cr. Code, s. 873, will not be quashed because the member of the provincial government who acted pro tem. as Attorney-General under a provincial order-in-council passed in pursuance of R.S.M. 1913, c. 112, s. 12, was not a member of the Bar.

R. v. Nyczzyk, 31 Can. Cr. Cas. 240, [1919] 2 W.W.R. 661.

WHO MAY PREFER—ACTING ATTORNEY-GENERAL.

An "acting Attorney-General" in Manitoba has authority to prefer an indictment under Cr. Code, s. 873, although there may not have been a properly conducted preliminary enquiry.

R. v. Nyczzyk, 31 Can. Cr. Cas. 240, [1919] 2 W.W.R. 661.

DISQUALIFICATION—RELATIONSHIP—INFORMATION—OMISSION TO STATE PLACE OF OFFENCE—SIGNING.

Campbell v. Walsh, 18 Can. Cr. Cas. 394, 40 N.B.R. 186.

ORIGINAL INDICTMENT LOST OR MISLAID—JUDGE'S DIRECTION TO PREFER NEW IN-DICTMENT BEFORE GRAND JURY.

The King v. McAuliffe, 17 Can. Cr. Cas.
495, 7 O.W.R. 704.

SPECIAL LEAVE OF ATTORNEY GENERAL—
PREFERRING INDICTMENT WITHOUT A PRELIMINARY ENQUIRY AND COMMIT-MENT.

The King v. Houle, 17 Can. Cr. Cas. 407.

VENUE—INDICTMENT OR CHARGE—LOCALITY OF THE CRIME—RIGHT OF ACCUSED TO LOCAL VENUE—CHARGE IN LIEU OF IN-DICTMENT.

The King v. Lybb (No. 1), 17 Can. Cr.
Cas. 354, 3 S.L.R. 339, 15 W.L.R. 336.

WITNESSES ON APPLICATION FOR WARRANT.
R. v. Johnston, 17 Can. Cr. Cas. 369, 44
N.S.R. 468.

II. Sufficiency of allegations.

A. IN GENERAL.

(§ II A—5)—INFORMATION FOR SEARCH WARRANT.

A search warrant issued under the Canada Temperance Act, R.S.C. 1906, c. 152, will be quashed, upon certiorari, where no grounds of suspicion are stated in the information.

The King v. Nickerson, ex parte Weston,
40 N.B.R. 382.

(§ II A—6)—AS TO FALSE DECLARATIONS—
SURPLUSAGE.

A conviction under Cr. Code, s. 175, for making a false solemn declaration in an extra judicial proceeding, may be supported in respect of a statutory declaration authorized by the Canada Evidence Act, and taken with the formalities which the latter Act requires, although the formal charge was that the accused "being required or authorized by law, to wit, by the Alberta Insurance Act, Alta., 1915, c. 16, to make a solemn declaration," made the false statement with knowledge, etc., "contrary to s. 175, Cr. Code," the reference to the Alberta Insurance Act being treated as surplusage.

R. v. Nier, 28 D.L.R. 373, 25 Can. Cr.
Cas. 241, 9 A.L.R. 353, 33 W.L.R. 180, 9
W.W.R. 838.

(§ II A—7)—TIME.

Where the accused is committed under a warrant of commitment for extradition based on an information alleging the offence as of a year prior to the date shewn by the commitment, the information is not a sufficient basis for the commitment, and the prisoner will be discharged in a habeas corpus proceeding.

Re William Staggs (No. 1), 7 D.L.R.
738, 5 A.L.R. 259, 3 W.W.R. 177.

VIOLATION OF TEMPERANCE ACT—TIME—STATING ALTERNATIVELY.

A conviction for selling intoxicating liquor in violation of law on one of the days mentioned is good under an information charging illegal sale on the 24th or 25th days of December inclusively.

Ex parte Toed, 11 D.L.R. 743, 21 Can.
Cr. Cas. 255, 41 N.B.R. 555, 12 E.L.R. 497.
TIME OF OFFENCE.

The term of limitation for summary prosecution for vagrancy is six months after the offence (Cr. Code, s. 1142); therefore a complaint is invalid in which the only mention of the time of the offence is that it was within 2 years last past.

R. v. St. Armand, 25 Can. Cr. Cas. 103.

(§ II A—8)—PLACE.

An objection on the ground that the information for an indictable offence did not mention the place where the offence was committed is not a ground for habeas corpus upon the committal of the accused for trial.

Dick v. The King, 19 Can. Cr. Cas. 44,
13 Que. P.R. 57.

B. INTENT; KNOWLEDGE.

(§ II B—10)—KNOWLEDGE.

In an information for exposing for sale and selling obscene books under s. 207, Cr.
Code, as amended by 8 & 9 Edw. VII, c. 9, it is necessary to allege that it was knowingly done, and an allegation that it was done "contrary to law" and "contrary to the form of the statutes," is not sufficient.

R. v. Britnell, 4 D.L.R. 56, 26 O.L.R. 136,
20 Can. Cr. Cas. 85, 21 O.W.R. 800.

D. DUPLICITY; REPUGNANCE.

(§ II D—20)—DUPLICITY.

The particular acts referred to in the subss. of s. 490, Cr. Code, are the ingredients of the single offence of the unlawful use of a beverage trademark, and the fact that more than one of such particular acts are included in the statement of this offence as contained in an information or summons, does not invalidate such information or summons.

The King v. Coulombe, 6 D.L.R. 99, 20
Can. Cr. Cas. 31.

SUFFICIENCY OF ALLEGATIONS—DUPLICITY—"COMMON PROSTITUTE OR NIGHT-WALK-ER."

A conviction and warrant of commitment issued by a police magistrate charging a woman with vagrancy in that she is "a common prostitute or night-walker" without stating to which of these 2 classes she belongs, is not void of duplicity, since at most this is a mere defect in form within the meaning of the curative provisions of
s. 724, Cr. Code, especially where the offence is described in the words of s. 238
(1).

Re Brady, 10 D.L.R. 423, 21 Can. Cr.
Cas. 123, 5 A.L.R. 400, 23 W.L.R. 333, 3 W.
W.R. 914.

VAGRANCY—MULTIFARIOUSNESS.

It is a ground for dismissing a charge of vagrancy on a summary hearing under Part
XV. of the Cr. Code that the complaint alleges distinct offences under different subss. of s. 238, and is, therefore multifarious. [R. v. Code, 13 Can. Cr. Cas. 372, followed.]

R. v. St. Armand, 25 Can. Cr. Cas. 103.

ASSAULT—DUPLICITY.

Where a charge of assaulting a Crown land surveyor concluded with a statement that accused had prevented the surveyor from performing his official duties, a summary conviction made by a justice reciting the offence in the same words is bad, as the justice had no jurisdiction to deal with the alleged offence of obstructing the surveyor; the conviction was in effect for 2 separate charges, although they were tried as one and a single penalty was imposed, which, however, was excessive even for the assault because of the unauthorized order for payment of damages in addition to the fine, and the conviction could not be amended by the court under Cr. Code, s. 1124, on certiorari.

Ex parte Aylward; R. v. Dugas, 26 Can. Cr. Cas. 144, 43 N.B.R. 443.

SIMILARITY OF COUNTS—ALTERNATIVE MATTER.

It will not be assumed on a motion to quash a count of an indictment for duplicity that a charge of theft of money between stated dates with an interval of 2 years refers to more than a single act or transaction, nor that the money in question is identical with a like sum charged in another count to have been unlawfully received during the same period by the accused as to which particulars delivered by the Crown shew it to be the aggregate of 19 different amounts. An indictment should not charge in the alternative, different offences in the same count in averring the specific act which particularly constitutes the offence, but a count will not be quashed because it charges in the disjunctive merely as to the subject-matter of the offence, e.g., in a charge of theft that it was of "money, valuable securities or other property."

R. v. Kelly, 27 Can. Cr. Cas. 94, 10 W.W.R. 1345. [Affirmed, 34 D.L.R. 311, 27 Can. Cr. Cas. 282, [1917] 1 W.W.R. 46.]

(§ II D—22) — DISCREPANCY BETWEEN COUNT AND PARTICULARS.

An objection to a count of an indictment that there is discrepancy between it and the particulars furnished under it and that the averments of the count are not borne out by the particulars, is not matter to be considered on a motion to quash the count, but may be raised at the trial.

R. v. Kelly, 27 Can. Cr. Cas. 94, 10 W.W.R. 1345. [Affirmed, 34 D.L.R. 311, 27 Can. Cr. Cas. 282, [1917] 1 W.W.R. 46.]

E. DESCRIPTION OF OFFENCE.

(§ II E—25)—THEFT.

An information or charge which, in addition to the date of the alleged offence and the name of the local municipality, gives only the following particulars of the nature of the offence: "did steal a certain quantity of towels, the property of the Dominion Textile Co.," is insufficient because of its vagueness; and such insufficiency being a matter of substance is not amendable by the court on the trial so as to charge theft of goods in process of manufacture under Cr. Code, s. 388.

R. v. Leelere, 31 D.L.R. 615, 26 Can. Cr. Cas. 242.

EXTRADITION.

Where the accused has been brought from a foreign country, under extradition proceedings, to answer an alleged extraditable crime, an indictment against him which does not shew an extraditable crime cannot be sustained until after the accused has been returned to or had the opportunity of returning to the foreign country from which he was extradited (Extradition Act, R.S.C. 1906, c. 155, s. 32).

R. v. Nesbitt, 11 D.L.R. 708, 21 Can. Cr. Cas. 259, 28 O.L.R. 91.

IN LANGUAGE OF STATUTE.

The effect of subss. 2, 3, s. 852, is to permit the use in an indictment of the popular word under which the offence is known instead of setting forth in detail all of the legal elements of the offence which such word indicates; for example, a charge of theft by fraudulent conversion without colour of right may be laid simply as theft by charging that the accused "did steal" a specified article and naming as the owner the person in fraud of whom the accused converted the article to his own use.

R. v. Trainor, 33 D.L.R. 658, 27 Can. Cr. Cas. 232, 10 A.L.R. 164, [1917] 1 W.W.R. 415.

VAGUENESS—PARTICULARS.

A charge against a company director under Cr. Code, s. 414, for concurring in the making of a false statement with intent to induce the public to become shareholders will not be quashed for failure to set out the alleged false statement; but such details may properly be made the subject of an order for particulars under ss. 559, 860.

R. v. Buck, 35 D.L.R. 55, 27 Can. Cr. Cas. 427, 10 A.L.R. 437. [Reversed in 55 Can. S.C.R. 133, [1917] 3 W.W.R. 117, 29 Can. Cr. Cas. 45, 38 D.L.R. 548.]

(§ II E—26)—INMATE OF BAWDY HOUSE—STATING LOCATION OF HOUSE.

A charge of being an inmate of a common bawdy house under Cr. Code, s. 229 A, which is tried by a magistrate under s. 774, without the consent of the accused, is not invalid because the precise locality of the house is not designated in addition to the town or territory over which the magistrate had jurisdiction, but the magistrate may order the prosecution to give particulars. [R. v. Crawford, 6 D.L.R. 380, 20

STATUTORY OFFENCES—STAMPOSS BISHOPS—

NO LACK OF ATTEMPTION BY LAYING OFF

TRIAL.

Where a summons calls upon the defendant to answer an information under the (Canada Temperance Act received therein to have been laid at a date more than three months after the offence charged, and the statute limits the time for laying the information to three months, the defendant is not bound to appear as the summons shows on its face that the justice has no jurisdiction to hear the charge; such a defect is not within the curative provisions of the

(C. Code, ss. 724, 724, of the Canada

Temperance Act, R.S.C., 1906, c. 152.

The King v. Lehmann, 21 Can. Cr. Cas., 221, 12 E.L.R. 66.

DATE—LAYINGS.

A summary conviction founded on a proper information charging the offence under the Canada Temperance Act as having been committed within specified dates both within the three months limitation of the act will not be set aside because the summons to the accused upon which he failed to attend erroneously described the date of the information so as to make it appear that the time limitation had already expired as to a part of the period specified as the time of the offence. [R. v. Lehmann,

21 Can. Cr. Cas., 221, 12 E.L.R. 66, distinguished.]

Ex parte Johnson, R. v. Lambert, 27

Can. Cr. Cas., 421, 41 N.R. 332.

STATUTORY EXEMPTION.

An information for that the defendant did conduct and give a concert without obtaining a license, so to do from the provincial authorities, is insufficient in form to charge an offence under the Quebec

Licenses Law, arts. 1292A, 1292B, imposing a penalty upon the manager of any travelling troupe or organization giving concerts or minstrel shows; and a summary conviction made on defendant's default of appearance to such charge will be quashed on certiorari.

Lamontagne v. Lanctot, 25 Can. Cr. Cas., 449.

STATUTORY LANGUAGE.

It is sufficient to describe in an information an offence in the words of the section of the act which creates it.

The Wagner, 9 W.W.R. 1000, 25 Can. Cr.

Cas., 406.

(§ 11 E.—38)—FOR OBSCENE LANGUAGE—

PARTICULARS.

An information for using obscene language is defective if it does not set out the language used, but the defect may be cured by defendant's appearance and plea without taking exception thereto at the hearing.

R. v. Bathington, 22 Can. Cr. Cas., 385.

(§ 11 E.—40)—OBSCENITY.

A person cannot be summarily convicted by a magistrate under s. 207, Cr. Code,

Can. Cr. Cas., 39, and R. v. Mischam, 10

Can. Cr. Cas., 282, applied.]

(R. v. James, 25 D.L.R. 476, 25 Can. Cr.

Cas., 27, 9 A.L.R. 66, 32 W.L.R. 528, 9 W.W.

R. 223.

(§ 11 E.—27)—PARTICULARS OF OFFENCE.

The requirement of s. 827, Cr. Code, that a count shall contain in substance that the accused has committed "some in-discrible offence therein specified" has reference to the particular kind of offence charged as distinguished from other kinds of offences as recognized by the law; it is not directed to the specific acts and things which constituted the offence alleged to have been committed, and while by s. 827 particulars should be included with reasonable details to identify the transaction a count cannot be quashed for their absence.

R. v. Kelly, 27 Can. Cr. Cas., 94, 10 W.W.

Cr. Cas., 297, [1917], 1 W.W.R. 46.]

(§ 11 E.—30)—STATUTORY OFFENCES AND LANGUAGE.

Where the information and the conviction follow the language of the statute under which the conviction was made, that is all that is required, even though the information and the conviction charged two offences and the evidence was not confined to one offence. [R. v. Leconte, 11 Can. Cr.

Cas., 41, 11 E.L.R. 408, applied.]

R. v. Riddell, 4 D.L.R. 562, 19 Can. Cr.

Cas., 400, 3 O.W.N., 1028, 19 Can. Cr. Cas.,

400, 27 O.W.N. 847.

STRICTNESS OF—(CONSPIRACY TO PRODUCE AMORTISMENT).

An indictment for conspiracy to procure an abortion is sufficient under ss. 303, 302,

301, Cr. Code, where it alleges that the defendants did, at a place in the Province of Ontario, at a given time, conspire, commit a certain indictable offence, to wit, conspire, confederate, and agree together the crime of abortion, by then and there agreeing together to procure the miscarriage of a named woman, thereby committing an indictable offence, contrary to the Criminal Code.

R. v. Bachrach, 11 D.L.R. 522, 28 O.L.R.

352, 21 Can. Cr. Cas., 257.

STATUTORY LANGUAGE.

It is not an objection to an information

under the Medical Profession Act, 1906,

Alta., c. 28, for practising medicine without being licensed, that the acts which constitute the offence are not set out in the information, since the Alberta laws make under the provincial statute, makes a description of the offence sufficient if it is in the words of the section of the statute which creates it. [The King v. Brady, 10 D.L.

R. 421, 21 Can. Cr. Cas., 128, 3 A.L.R. 400, applied.]

Re Wagner, 25 Can. Cr. Cas., 406, 33

W.L.R. 415, 9 W.W.R. 1000.

which declares that it is an indictable offence to "knowingly . . . sell, or expose for sale" any obscene book, upon an information which did not charge that he "knowingly" exposed for sale or sold such book.

R. v. Britnell, 4 D.L.R. 56, 26 O.L.R. 136, 20 Can. Cr. Cas. 85, 21 O.W.R. 800.

COMMON BAWDY HOUSE.

An information in a summary proceeding charging the keeping of "a bawdy house" and omitting to describe such as a "common" bawdy house, is bad as not disclosing a legal offence, and the charge thereon should be dismissed; that it is a "common bawdy house" is an essential ingredient of the offence under Cr. Code, s. 228, which declares a "common bawdy house" to be a disorderly house, the keeping of which is punishable thereunder, and the omission of the description in that particular is not cured by a plea to the charge nor is there power in the magistrate to amend such a defect of substance.

R. v. Jousseau, 24 Can. Cr. Cas. 417.

(§ II E-44) — CONSPIRACY — ASSISTING ALIEN ENEMY.

A conviction against the husband only upon an indictment of husband and wife, upon which the wife was acquitted, for conspiracy to aid and comfort a public enemy at war with the King by inciting and assisting a subject of the enemy country to leave Canada and join the enemy's forces, is not sustainable where there was no evidence of the husband conspiring with any person other than the person named in the indictment as the person incited and assisted, although the indictment charged that the two defendants did maliciously and traitorously "conspire, confederate and agree with each other "and with others," for if it had been intended to cover a charge of a conspiracy with the assisted alien he should have been specifically named; the words "with others" must, in that connection, be construed as excluding the person specifically named as the alien who was assisted to leave Canada and as referring to persons unknown.

R. v. Nerlich, 25 D.L.R. 138, 24 Can. Cr. Cas. 256, 34 O.L.R. 298.

COMMON ASSAULT.

An information charging that the accused "threatened" the complainant with an axe, "contrary to s. 291 of the Criminal Code," is sufficient to charge the offence of common assault for which that section of the Code provides.

R. v. Tally, 21 D.L.R. 651, 23 Can. Cr. Cas. 449, 8 A.L.R. 453, 30 W.L.R. 396, 7 W.W.R. 1178.

FALSE PRETENCES.

An indictment or charge for obtaining money under a false pretence is not bad for not setting out what the false pretence was or stating to whom it was made. (Cr. Code, ss. 852, 1152, Form 64 (c).)

R. v. Leverton, 34 D.L.R. 514, 28 Can. Cr.

Cas. 61, 11 A.L.R. 355, [1917] 2 W.W.R. 584.

OMISSION OF WORD "MATERIAL" FROM CHARGE AGAINST SERVANT FOR OMITTING ITEMS FROM EMPLOYER'S BOOKS.

It is error to omit the word "material" from an indictment or formal charge against a servant under s. 415 (b) Cr. Code, relating to the fraudulent making of a false entry in, or the fraudulent omission to make entry in, a book of account of the employer in any material particular.

R. v. Wilson, 15 D.L.R. 168, 6 S.L.R. 348, 26 W.L.R. 148, 5 W.W.R. 620.

(§ II E-49)—SUFFICIENCY — OFFENCES BY BANK OFFICERS.

A variance in charging the offence of making a wilfully false statement in a bank return as fraudulently making such statement will not be permitted where it is necessary, in order to sustain the indictment under extradition laws, that the offence should be one of fraud, and the statute under which the prosecution is based does not make fraud an essential ingredient of the offence thereunder.

R. v. Nesbitt, 11 D.L.R. 708, 28 O.L.R. 91, 21 Can. Cr. Cas. 250.

F. AMENDMENT.

(§ II F-55) — DIRECTION OF ATTORNEY-GENERAL.

When an amendment is made at the request of the Att'y-Gen'l to a charge brought in Alberta where there is no grand jury system, the amended charge has the same validity as the former charge, unaffected by a consideration as to whether an indictment could be similarly amended by the court in a matter of substance.

R. v. Wallace, 24 D.L.R. 825, 8 A.L.R. 472, 24 Can. Cr. Cas. 95.

IRREGULARITY OR INSUFFICIENCY.

An indictment purporting to charge an offence under Cr. Code, s. 536, para. (b), in laying out poison, but which charged that the poison was wilfully placed in such a position as to be easily partaken of by "animals" instead of by "cattle" (s. 536), should not have been quashed on defendant's motion, but should have been amended or a new indictment in due form preferred.

Richard v. Goulet, 19 D.L.R. 371, 23 Can. Cr. Cas. 327, 45 Que. S.C. 374.

SPEEDY TRIALS CHARGE — SUBSTITUTING NEW COUNT NOT COVERED BY PRELIMINARY ENQUIRY — AMENDMENT — ATTACHING NEW COUNT TO FORMAL CHARGE.

In Saskatchewan where a charge in lieu of indictment may be laid by the Att'y-Gen'l's agent without any preliminary enquiry, it is not a valid objection to a substituted count added by leave of the district judge holding a criminal trial under the Speedy Trials clauses (Cr. Code, s. 827, as amended 1909), that the new charge being one for fraudulently omitting to make entries in his employer's books (s. 415b) was not covered by the preliminary enquiry which was held only upon a charge of theft. Annexing a new count written on a separate paper to the formal charge brought under the Speedy Trials clauses (Cr. Code, s. 827) which had been duly signed by the prosecuting counsel is sufficient, where done by such counsel, to incorporate the new count in the formal charge so amended by consent of the Trial Judge, and so validate a speedy trial on the new count upon which the trial proceeded when the original count was quashed.

R. v. Wilson, 15 D.L.R. 168, 26 W.L.R. 148, 6 S.L.R. 348, 5 W.W.R. 620.

Upon the summary trial of a charge of keeping a disorderly house, the magistrate has power to amend the information during the course of the trial, by changing the street number of the alleged disorderly house, without having the information re-sworn. The powers of amendment granted by s. 1124 Cr. Code, are not confined to summary convictions, but may be exercised in the case of convictions for indictable offences. [R. v. Shing, 17 Can. Cr. Cas. 463, dissenting from.]

R. v. Crawford, 6 D.L.R. 380, 20 Can. Cr. Cas. 49, 5 A.L.R. 204, 22 W.L.R. 107, 2 W.W.R. 952.

A complaint under c. 35 of 1 Geo. V. of Quebec, which prohibits the sale of cocaine, morphine or their compounds, except to wholesale dealers, physicians, druggists, dentists, veterinary surgeons, or the holders of physicians' prescriptions, cannot be amended, upon such acts, being held void because in conflict with the subsequent enactment of the Dominion Parliament, 1 & 2 Geo. V. c. 17, which makes it a crime to sell, take, or have in one's possession cocaine, without lawful excuse, so as to set out an offence under the Dominion Act, since the effect of allowing such amendment would be to change the nature and gravity of the offence charged in the original information.

Dufresne v. The King, 5 D.L.R. 501, 19 Can. Cr. Cas. 414.

A conviction for a common assault may be sustained under an indictment for shooting at a person with intent to kill, where an accused person, when within shooting distance, pointed a gun at another, the bullet from which struck a horse the latter was riding. [Regina v. St. George, 9 C. & P. 487, followed.]

The King v. Chartrand, 4 D.L.R. 397, 20 Can. Cr. Cas. 116, 6 S.L.R. 184, 21 W.L.R. 850, 2 W.W.R. 773.

An indictment charging an offence under s. 405 Cr. Code, of obtaining money by false pretences, upon which a true bill has been found by the grand jury, cannot be amended at the close of the case for the Crown so as to charge an offence under s. 405a of obtaining credit by false pretences, inasmuch as the two offences are not substantially of the same nature. An indictment cannot be so amended, after having been passed upon by the grand jury, to charge an offence substantially different from that charged in the original indictment.

R. v. Cohen, 5 D.L.R. 437, 19 Can. Cr. Cas. 428, 26 O.L.R. 497, 22 O.W.R. 456.

A conviction under the Canada Temperance Act was erroneously drawn up in the "District of Chipman Civil Court." It was in fact made by the stipendiary magistrate for the district of Chipman. Upon certiorari the court amended the conviction by striking out the words "Civil Court."

Ex parte Weston; Ex parte Dykeman, 40 N.B.R. 379.

(§ II F—56)—OF NAME OF ACCUSED.

The true name of the person against whom the offence was alleged to have been committed may be substituted by the court in an indictment after the grand jury has found a true bill, where the name originally in the indictment was that by which the same party was commonly known.

The King v. Faulkner, 19 Can. Cr. Cas. 47, 16 B.C.R. 229.

(§ II F—57)—CHANGING DATE OF OFFENCE.

Where the particular offence laid in the indictment is not of the class as to which a change of date would be tantamount to charging a different offence, the court may order an amendment of the date of the offence to conform to the evidence even after the close of the evidence. [R. v. Laelle, 10 Can. Cr. Cas. 229, 11 O.L.R. 74, distinguished.]

Veronneau v. The King, 31 D.L.R. 332, 26 Can. Cr. Cas. 278, 25 Que. K.B. 275. [Affirmed, 33 D.L.R. 68, 54 Can. S.C.R. 7, 27 Can. Cr. Cas. 211.]

SUMMARY CONVICTION PROCEEDINGS — TIME OF OFFENCE NOT DISCLOSED.

When neither the summary conviction nor the information on which it was based mentioned the time of the offence, an appeal from the conviction will be allowed, there being no power on the hearing of the appeal to remedy the defect by an amendment, although the magistrate might have amended the information under Cr. Code, s. 639.

R. v. Dunlop, 22 Can. Cr. Cas. 245, 27 W.L.R. 121, 6 W.W.R. 3.

G. SUFFICIENCY TO SUPPORT CONVICTION.

(§ II G—60)—DATES.

An information charging the keeping of a disorderly house between certain dates, the last which was the date of the information, excludes the latter date and, semble, also the first date mentioned.

R. v. Emery, 33 D.L.R. 556, 27 Can. Cr. Cas. 116, 10 A.L.R. 139, [1917] 1 W.W.R. 337.

LACK OF PARTICULARS—SEDITION.

On an indictment for speaking seditious words with intent, etc., an objection that neither the words nor their purport were set out in the count, will not be made the subject of a reserved case where no objection was taken at the trial and where no application had been made to the Trial Judge to order particulars; failure to supply reasonable particulars if demanded might have constituted a mistrial, but, where not demanded, the objection was cured by verdict. [The Queen v. Stroulger, 17 Q.B.D. 327, followed.]

R. v. Trainor, 33 D.L.R. 658, 27 Can. Cr. Cas. 232, 10 A.L.R. 164, [1917] 1 W.W.R. 415.

Several persons may be convicted of the one offence of keeping a house of ill-fame, and that either jointly or severally.

R. v. Bloom, 15 D.L.R. 484, 7 A.L.R. 1, 26 W.L.R. 459, 5 W.W.R. 897.

SUFFICIENCY — LATITUDE AS TO PARTICULARITY.

While fair information and reasonable particularity as to the nature of the offence under the summary conviction sections of the Cr. Code, must be given in informations and convictions, this merely means that such particulars as to the time, place and subject matter of the charge must be given, as, with the statutory description of the offence, will shew upon the face of the conviction exactly what it is for; especially since such sections are administered generally by a body of men without special legal training or experience.

Re Effie Brady, 10 D.L.R. 424, 21 Can. Cr. Cas. 123, 5 A.L.R. 400, 23 W.L.R. 333, 3 W.W.R. 914.

An information charging, under the Motor Vehicle Act (Alta.), the offence as driving "at a greater speed than 15 miles per hour" instead of in the words of the statute "at a greater speed than one mile in 4 minutes," charges the identical offence covered by the words of the statute and is sufficient, although it may be the better practice in such cases to follow the words of the statute itself.

R. v. Lev, 7 D.L.R. 764, 20 Can. Cr. Cas. 170, 2 W.W.R. 849.

The information for the warrant upon which defendant was arrested stated an offence under the Indian Act, R.S.C. 1906, c. 81, s. 135. At the hearing the informant admitted that his knowledge was based on information and belief only. Upon certiorari:—Held, the magistrate acquired jurisdiction by the information, which was sufficient on its face, and even if the warrant was bad, the conviction would not therefore be set aside. The conviction purported to follow Form 62 Cr. Code, but omitted to adjudge costs of commitment, and also omitted to order that the costs should be paid to the informant. Held, the court would amend the conviction by adding the parts omitted.

The King v. Matheson; Ex parte Belliveau, 40 N.B.R. 368.

(§ II G—61)—PARTICULARS.

The proviso in s. 853 (1) Cr. Code that the absence or insufficiency of details shall not vitiate an indictment, does not dispense with the right of the accused to demand particulars of the time, place and matter of the offence sufficient to identify the transaction complained of; the count will not be quashed for the absence of these details, nor is there any mistrial on that account where no objection was raised at the trial and where the indictment followed a preliminary inquiry, the depositions upon which gave reasonable information to enable the accused to know what he had to answer.

Can. Dig.—75.

R. v. Trainor, 33 D.L.R. 658, 27 Can. Cr. Cas. 232, 10 A.L.R. 164, [1917] 1 W.W.R. 415.

III. Joinder of counts or persons.

(§ III—65).—The Crown prosecutor may prefer indictments for as many different offences as he finds disclosed by the depositions, and also for the charge set out in the commitment for trial.

The King v. Montminy, 3 D.L.R. 483, 20 Can. Cr. Cas. 63, 18 Rev. de Jur. 309.

Upon more than one information for separate offences of a similar character being lodged against a person, a magistrate should not hear evidence at the same time as to all the charges, where some of it would be relevant to one, but not to the others. [Hamilton v. Walker, [1892] 2 Q.B. 25; Reg. v. Fry, 67 L.J.Q.B. 67; Reg. v. McBerny, 3 Can. Cr. Cas. 339, 29 N.S.R. 327, and R. v. Burke (No. 2), 8 Can. Cr. Cas. 14, followed; R. v. Dunkley, 1 O.W.N. 861, and R. v. Sutherland, 2 O.W.N. 595, distinguished.]

R. v. Lapointe, 4 D.L.R. 210, 3 O.W.N. 1469, 20 Can. Cr. Cas. 98, 22 O.W.R. 601.

HUSBAND AND WIFE.

A husband and wife may be charged jointly with keeping a house of ill-fame.

R. v. Bloom, 15 D.L.R. 484, 7 A.L.R. 1, 26 W.L.R. 459, 5 W.W.R. 897.

PERJURY.

A conviction for perjury which shews but one conviction on a charge of making several false statements in the course of a trial, will be construed and treated as a charge and conviction for a single offence only, notwithstanding that each false statement might have been charged as a distinct offence.

R. v. Yee Mock, 13 D.L.R. 220, 21 Can. Cr. Cas. 409, 6 A.L.R. 231, 4 W.W.R. 1342.

JOINT OR SEPARATE CHARGES.

When the depositions taken before the committing magistrate disclose the fact that on the preliminary inquiry evidence had been given of statements made by each of the accused in the absence of the other, which tended to implicate the one but not the other, and which might work an injustice to such other if introduced at a joint trial, the prosecuting counsel desiring to use such statements in evidence when the trial shall take place should see to it either that separate indictments are laid against the two accused or that an application to the Trial Judge for a separate trial is not opposed by the prosecution.

R. v. Murray, 33 D.L.R. 702, 27 Can. Cr. Cas. 247, 10 A.L.R. 275, [1917] 1 W.W.R. 404. [See also R. v. Murray (No. 1), 28 D.L.R. 372, 25 Can. Cr. Cas. 214, 9 A.L.R. 319. For later decision, see 38 D.L.R. 395, [1917] 2 W.W.R. 805, 11 A.L.R. 502, 28 Can. Cr. Cas. 247.]

ADDED COUNTS FOR CHARGES NOT BEFORE MAGISTRATE — RIGHT TO SUMMARY TRIAL.

Where the indictment has been preferred at the direction of the Att'y-Gen'l (Cr. Code, s. 873), in a form which includes counts for other offences as well as the offence charged in the information before the magistrate, and for which he committed the accused, the latter cannot object to plead on the ground that he elects trial before the magistrate on such of the charges as are subjects of summary trial if the magistrate had no jurisdiction of summary trial on the information before him, at least where the defence does not shew that the magistrate was one of the class acquiring jurisdiction under s. 777, subs. 2, as amended 1909.

R. v. Pawliski, 25 D.L.R. 527, 24 Can. Cr. Cas. 147, 31 W.L.R. 675.

MISJOINDER OF PERSONS.

There is a misjoinder which nullifies the information and the summons thereon where 3 persons are jointly charged with a vagrancy offence as being a night walker.

R. v. Lachance, 24 Can. Cr. Cas. 421.

(§ III—66)—DIRECTION OF ATTORNEY-GENERAL.

The inclusion in the indictment of a count which is not supported by the depositions taken on the preliminary inquiry is validated by obtaining the direction of the Att'y-Gen'l to the preferring of the indictment in that form.

R. v. Pawliski, 25 D.L.R. 527, 24 Can. Cr. Cas. 147, 31 W.L.R. 675.

(§ III—67)—IN EXTRADITION.

The onus lies upon the accused to show on a motion to quash an indictment that the offences therein charged are not offences for which he was extradited and that the indictment is consequently proceeded with in contravention of the Extradition Act; the record in the extradition proceedings may be looked at, as well as the warrant of surrender, to determine the precise offence for which the extradition was ordered.

R. v. Kelly, 27 Can. Cr. Cas. 94, 10 W.W.R. 1345. [Affirmed, 34 D.L.R. 311, 27 Can. Cr. Cas. 282.]

CUMULATIVE OFFENCE—PARTICULARS.

R. v. Michaud, 17 Can. Cr. Cas. 86, 39 N.B.R. 418.

INDICTMENT — SEPARATE COUNTS — DISCRETION AS TO SEPARATE TRIAL.

The King v. Hughes, 17 Can. Cr. Cas. 450, 22 O.L.R. 344.

IV. Quashing.

(§ IV—70)—Where an indictment, upon which a true bill has been found by the grand jury, has been amended at the close of the case for the Crown so as to charge an offence substantially different from that charged in the original indictment, and the accused has been convicted of the offence charged in the amended indictment, a substantial wrong or miscarriage has occurred at the trial, inasmuch as the accused has been convicted upon a charge which has not been dealt with by the grand jury, and s. 1019 Cr. Code, is, therefore, inapplicable, and the conviction must be quashed.

R. v. Cohen, 5 D.L.R. 437, 19 Can. Cr. Cas. 428, 26 O.L.R. 497, 22 O.W.R. 456.

The absence of a properly proved transcript of the depositions is not a ground for quashing the indictment, provided such indictment sets out the same charge as the one contained in the commitment.

The King v. Montminy, 3 D.L.R. 483, 20 Can. Cr. Cas. 63, 18 Rev. de Jur. 309.

JOINDER OF PERSONS — WANT OF JURISDICTION AGAINST ONE.

Where a joint information for keeping a house of ill-fame is laid before a police commissioner in Alberta whose jurisdiction under Alta. statutes 1907, c. 5, is subject to the limitation that the first tribunal of justices having cognizance of the fact in any particular case shall have exclusive jurisdiction, the jurisdiction of the commissioner is ousted as to one of the two parties, from the fact that a prosecution is pending before a police magistrate having jurisdiction over the offence upon a prior information which included the same offence, the trial of which had been adjourned by the police magistrate; and the charge on the joint information before the commissioner must fall as to both because of such want of jurisdiction.

R. v. Bloom, 15 D.L.R. 484, 7 A.L.R. 1, 26 W.L.R. 459, 5 W.W.R. 897.

INFORMATION TREATED AS FORMAL CHARGE OR INDICTMENT—SPEEDY TRIAL.

Where the information on which the preliminary enquiry proceeded is used in place of a formal indictment or "charge" on a speedy trial, and the accused moves to quash it as such, he thereby treats it as a de facto indictment and cannot object to the lack of a formal document, at least where no prejudice is shewn.

R. v. Daigle, 18 D.L.R. 56, 23 Can. Cr. Cas. 92.

CONCURRENT INDICTMENTS FOR SAME OFFENCE—CROWN TO ELECT—DEPOSITIONS—SIGNATURE.

Where a second grand jury was summoned and a second indictment brought in for the same offence because of the prosecution being in doubt as to the regularity of the first indictment, it is the privilege of the accused to compel the Crown to elect upon which of them it will proceed, but if the accused was tried only upon one of the indictments and made no motion to compel the Crown to elect, no prejudice is shown which will invalidate the conviction made on such trial. Irregularities in the signature of the depositions on which the commitment for trial was founded will not invalidate the bill found by the grand jury where no objection on account thereof has been raised until after electing a jury trial when arraigned under the speedy trials clauses, Part XVIII, Cr. Code, s. 827.

R. v. Morin, 38 D.L.R. 342, 26 Que. K.B. 428, 28 Can. Cr. Cas. 269.

MOTION TO QUASH — DEFECTS IN DEPOSITIONS — INDICTMENT WHICH MIGHT HAVE BEEN PREFERRED WITHOUT A PRELIMINARY ENQUIRY.

Alleged defects in the taking of the depositions on the preliminary enquiry cannot be raised on a motion to quash an indictment preferred under Cr. Code, s. 873, by the Att'y-Gen'l or by his direction or under the consent of a judge or of the Attorney-General.

R. v. Nyezyk, 31 Can. Cr. Cas. 240, [1919] 2 W.W.R. 661.

FOR MISJOINDER OF DEFENDANTS.

An objection to summary conviction proceedings for misjoinder of 3 persons accused under one complaint for an offence several in its nature will be maintained even after plea as it forms a ground of nullity of the proceedings and not a mere irregularity which might be waived.

R. v. Lachance, 24 Can. Cr. Cas. 421.

MOTION TO QUASH INDICTMENT—REFUSAL—RENEWAL AFTER DISAGREEMENT OF JURY—CR. CODE, SS. 216, 872, 873, 898.

R. v. Perkins, 8 O.W.N. 600.

(§ IV—71)—GRAND JURY—NUMBER REQUISITE TO TRUE BILL—OMISSION TO INSTRUCT.

Where a true bill was brought in by a grand jury consisting of 12 jurors which number, as the law then stood for that district, was the minimum for bringing in a bill, the proceedings will not be invalidated because the grand jury had not been instructed by the court as to the number required for that purpose, where no proof is produced that the 12 were not unanimous.

R. v. Spintum (No. 1), 15 D.L.R. 778, 22 Can. Cr. Cas. 483, 18 B.C.R. 606, 26 W.L.R. 849, 5 W.W.R. 977, 1199.

INTERPRETER TRANSLATING FOR GRAND JURY—PRESENCE DURING DELIBERATIONS.

Where it is necessary to have an interpreter to translate the testimony of witnesses before a grand jury, the presence of such interpreter in the grand jury room during the grand jury's deliberations will not invalidate an indictment.

Gagnon v. The King, 24 Can. Cr. Cas. 51.

SELECTION AND QUALIFICATION OF JURORS.

An information will not be quashed on the ground that the jury which returned it was illegally constituted because the sheriff, in drawing it, struck from the panel the names of 2 regularly drawn jurors, who, to his own knowledge, were exempt from jury duty, and substituted therefor 2 other duly qualified jurors, without having before him the affidavit of exemption required by ss. 43, c. 162, R.S.N.S. 1900, as such requirement is not imperative, although a disregard thereof is a dereliction of the sheriff's duty.

The King v. Brown and Digges, 19 Can. Cr. Cas. 237, 45 N.S.R. 473.

(§ IV—72)—CONSTABLES ACCOMPANYING GRAND JURY—PRESENCE AT DELIBERATIONS.

An indictment will not be quashed because of the presence in the grand jury room of the constables sworn to accompany the grand jury to secure the secrecy of its deliberations.

Gagnon v. The King, 24 Can. Cr. Cas. 51.

(§ IV—75)—QUASHING INDICTMENT—IRREGULARITY IN GRAND JURY PROCEEDINGS.

R. v. Birchenough, 16 D.L.R. 394, 22 Can. Cr. Cas. 483.

COMPLAINANT BEING GRAND JUROR.

If in fact he took no part in the proceedings of the grand jury which found and presented an indictment, it is not a ground for quashing the indictment that the complainant in the proceedings which led up to the grand jury was himself a grand juror, and was summoned, sworn and attended at the hearing by the grand jury, and that he made statements to another who repeated them to other jurors, with reference to the conduct of the accused.

Vernonau v. The King, 33 D.L.R. 68, 52 Can. S.C.R. 7, 27 Can. Cr. Cas. 211, affirming 31 D.L.R. 332, 26 Can. Cr. Cas. 278, 25 Que. K.B. 275.

(§ IV—80)—FAILURE OF COMMITTING JUSTICE TO AGAIN READ DEPOSITIONS.

An indictment founded upon a committal for trial is subject to be quashed for failure of the committing justice to ask the accused after the examination of the witnesses for the prosecution whether he wishes the depositions to be read again, even where the depositions were taken in shorthand (Cr. Code, ss. 683, 684), if the rereading of the depositions was not waived by the accused (s. 684) and did not take place; the direction of s. 684 in that respect is imperative and not merely permissive. [McDonald v. The King, 30 D.L.R. 738, 26 Can. Cr. Cas. 175, 25 Que. K.B. 322, applied.]

R. v. Beaulieu, 28 Can. Cr. Cas. 336, 25 Que. K.B. 151.

SPECIFIC GROUNDS.

On a motion to quash an indictment on the ground that the grand jury finding it was not properly constituted, the objecting party must specifically set forth his grounds of objection, and will not be given the benefit of a ground not specified.

R. v. Morrow, 24 Can. Cr. Cas. 310.

GRAND JURY RETURNING TRUE BILL UPON DEPOSITIONS WITHOUT HEARING EVIDENCE.

R. v. Thurstan, 16 B.C.R. 326, 20 Can. Cr. Cas. 505.

MOTION TO QUASH—QUASHING OF FORMER INDICTMENT—NEW INDICTMENT PREFERRED BY ATTORNEY-GENERAL.

The King v. Robert (No. 2), 17 Can. Cr. Cas. 196.

INFORMATION—LOCALITY OF OFFENCE—INFORMATION BY TELEPHONE MESSAGE.

R. v. Harrington, 17 Can. Cr. Cas. 62, 16 O.W.R. 169.

INFORMATION—CRIMINAL OFFENCE DISCLOSED—REFUSAL OF MAGISTRATE TO ISSUE PROCESS.

The King v. Graham, 17 Can. Cr. Cas. 264.

COMMON GAMING HOUSE—UNLAWFUL PLAYING OR LOOKING ON—WHETHER SEPARATE OFFENCES.

The King v. Toy Moon, 21 Man. L.R. 527, 19 Can. Cr. Cas. 33, 19 W.L.R. 480.

An objection on the ground that the information for an indictable offence did not mention the place where the offence was committed is not a ground for habeas corpus upon the committal of the accused for trial.

Dick v. The King, 19 Can. Cr. Cas. 44, 13 Que. P.R. 57.

JUSTICE OF THE PEACE—RELATIONSHIP—INFORMATION—OMISSION IN TO STATE PLACE OF OFFENCE—SIGNING.

Campbell v. Walsh, 40 N.B.R. 186, 18 Can. Cr. Cas. 304.

EVIDENCE NOT TAKEN BEFORE SUMMONS ISSUED—SUFFICIENCY OF INFORMATION—PREVIOUS CONVICTION—“AUTREFOIS CONVICT.”

R. v. Mitchell, 19 Can. Cr. Cas. 113, 24 O.L.R. 324, 19 O.W.R. 588.

INDORSEMENT.

See Bills and Notes.

See also Pleading; Writ and Process.

INFANTS.

I. IN GENERAL: CONTROL; SUPPORT; RIGHTS AND LIABILITIES.

A. In general.

B. Support of, and care for.

C. Custody.

D. Disabilities and liabilities.

II. SALE, LEASE OR MORTGAGE OF REAL ESTATE.

III. ACTIONS.

As to proceedings for custody of child, see also Habeas Corpus, I C—14.

See also Parent and Child; Husband and Wife; Incompetent Persons.

Liability of parent for tort of imbecile child, see Parent and Child, I.

Annotation.

Disabilities and liabilities; contributory negligence of children: 9 D.L.R. 522.

I. In general; control; support; rights and liabilities.

A. IN GENERAL.

(§ I A—1)—ADMINISTRATION OF ESTATE—LETTERS OF GUARDIANSHIP—NOTICE—COUNSEL.

Under c. 19, 1917 (Alta.), an act to provide for an administrator of the estates of infants and an official guardian of said estate, the official guardian is not entitled to notice of, or representation by counsel on, an application by a widow for letters of guardianship of the estate of an infant child.

Re Nicholls, [1917] 3 W.W.R. 652.

B. SUPPORT OF, AND CARE FOR.

(§ I B—5)—COURT ALLOWANCE FOR MAINTENANCE OUT OF INFANT'S ESTATE—INSURANCE MONEY.

The general rule is that, on an application to get in the shares of infant children under a policy of insurance, the fund must be brought into court; but under its discretionary power as to allowances for maintenance, the court in a proper case may dispense with payment in and permit the trustee to expend the entire sum for maintenance under an undertaking so to apply.

Re Havey, 14 D.L.R. 668, 29 O.L.R. 336.

PERSON IN LOCO PARENTIS—BOARD AND LODGING OF INFANT—ABSENCE OF AGREEMENT—PRESUMPTION.

In the absence of an express agreement with a person acting in loco parentis that he is to be remunerated for board, lodging and maintenance, the presumption is that these are rendered gratuitously.

George v. Peart, 44 D.L.R. 569, 52 N.S.R. 436.

MONEY IN HANDS OF TRUSTEES—PAYMENT FOR MAINTENANCE.

Re Carnahan, 6 D.L.R. 857, 4 O.W.N. 115, 23 O.W.R. 97.

INFANT'S ESTATE.

The court does not sanction the use of the corpus of an infant's estate for maintenance unless satisfied that such use will be more beneficial to the infant than preserving his property intact until he comes of age; there should be no encroachment on the principal except for unavoidable reasons falling little short of necessity. [Goodfellow v. Rannie, 20 Gr. 425, and Crane v. Craig, 11 P.R. 236, approved.]

Re Rundle, 32 O.L.R. 312.

FUND IN HANDS OF TRUSTEES—PAYMENTS OUT OF CORPUS FOR ADVANCEMENT IN LIFE OF INFANT—SAFEGUARDS.

Re Chapman, 15 O.W.N. 3.

NIECE IN CUSTODY OF UNCLE—PRESUMPTION AS TO GRATUITOUS MAINTENANCE—SUCCESSION RIGHTS.

In the case of a child brought up by a relation, the court may, according to the circumstances, decide that the relation has no right to make a claim for the expenses of board, maintenance or education; nevertheless, gratuitous maintenance is never presumed. Where a young girl, an orphan, is adopted by her uncle, with whom she lives for a number of years having in the meantime inherited $300, which she gives to him, and afterwards dies intestate, her heirs have no right to claim that amount, which should remain in the possession of the defendant for payment of the expenses for her illness, care and maintenance.

July v. Piche, 47 Que. S.C. 9.

MAINTENANCE AND EDUCATION—DIRECTIONS OF WILL—APPLICATION OF INTEREST UPON SHARE OF ESTATE—ENCROACHMENT UPON CORPUS—REFUSAL TO ALLOW.

Re Vidal, 9 O.W.N. 115.

(§ 1 B—8)—CRIMINAL LIABILITY FOR FAILURE TO PROVIDE NECESSARIES.

A father is not criminally liable under s. 242 Cr. Code, for failing to provide necessities for a child 10 years of age, who was taken by its mother, in anger, from the father's house on a bitterly cold night, and who was, with its mother, frozen to death, where the father, who had provided a home according to his station in life, had reason to believe that the mother and child had gone to a neighbour's, but, instead, they were lost on the way, since the father did not have reason to anticipate that the mother would expose the child to such danger.

The King v. Sidney, 5 D.L.R. 256, 20 Can. Cr. Cas. 376, 5 S.L.R. 392, 21 W.L.R. 853, 2 W.W.R. 761.

"NEGLECTED CHILD" — CHILDREN'S PROTECTION ACT—CONVICTION OF MOTHER'S PARAMOUR—JURISDICTION OF JUVENILE COURT—POWERS OF PROVINCIAL LEGISLATURE.

Under s. 18 (d) of the Children's Protection Act (Ont.), which enacts that any person who is guilty of an act or omission which contributes to a child being or becoming a neglected child, shall incur a penalty and be liable to imprisonment, there is no right to punish unless it is shown that there was an actual injury to the child; when the child is of such tender years as to be unable to appreciate the moral quality of its mother's conduct, her adultery does not ipso facto make the child a neglected child within the meaning of the act; and the adulterer cannot be convicted of contributing to making the child a neglected child. [R. v. Owens, an unreported decision of Clute, J., followed.] Conviction by the Commissioner of the Juvenile Court for Toronto, under s. 18 (d), quashed on the ground that the evidence did not disclose an offence against the statute. Semble, that in this enactment the Ontario Legislature has exceeded its powers, has made a statutory crime, and has made it punishable before a tribunal of its own creation, although the provincial authorities have not the power to appoint judges.

R. v. Davis, 40 O.L.R. 352.

CRIMINAL CHARGE OF CONTRIBUTING TO DELINQUENCY OF JUVENILE.

No legal offence is disclosed in an information charging a woman with knowingly and wilfully "keeping company with" a man and thereby depriving him from keeping his children under proper parental control and contributing to their being or becoming juvenile delinquents; s. 29 of the Juvenile Delinquents Act, 1908, 7 & 8 Edw. VII. (Can.) c. 40, does not support such a charge.

R. v. Curry, 24 Can. Cr. Cas. 340, 8 O.W.N. 512.

C. CUSTODY.

(§ 1 C—10)—POWER OF FATHER TO DESIST OF, TO PREJUDICE OF MOTHER.

Section 14 c. 59, 8 Edw. VII. (Ont.), applies only to validate an agreement surrendering the custody of a child to a children's aid society as against the parent signing the agreement, and, where signed by the father only, the mother is not debarred from claiming the custody.

Re Maher, 12 D.L.R. 492, 28 O.L.R. 419.

ABANDONMENT BY PARENT PRECLUDING ASSERTION OF RIGHT—ADOPTION AGREEMENTS—RIGHTS OF FOSTER-PARENTS—COMPENSATION.

Re Clarke, 31 D.L.R. 271, 36 O.L.R. 498.

CHILD'S INTEREST.

The custody of a child will not be given to a mother against the child's interest.

Re Taggart, 39 D.L.R. 559, 41 O.L.R. 85, [Affirmed by Supreme Court of Canada, not reported.]

APPLICATION OF MOTHER—CHILD IN CUSTODY OF GUARDIAN APPOINTED BY WILL OF DECEASED FATHER—WELFARE OF INFANT—ABILITY OF MOTHER TO UNDERTAKE CARE AND CUSTODY — INFANTS ACT, R.S.O. 1914, c. 153, ss. 2, 3, 28.

Re Smith, 15 O.W.N. 4.

ACTION BY FATHER—REFUSAL OF DEFENDANT TO ANSWER QUESTIONS ON EXAMINATION FOR DISCOVERY—CONTEMPT OF COURT—ORDER FOR REATENDANCE—DEFENCE TO BE STRUCK OUT UPON DEFAULT.

Link v. Thompson, 11 O.W.N. 282, 390.

ILLEGITIMATE CHILD—RIGHT OF MOTHER—INTEREST OF INFANT—EVIDENCE.

Re Jeanes, 11 O.W.N. 365, 12 O.W.N. 28.

RIGHTS OF MOTHER—DESERTION—ABANDONMENT—NEGLECTED CHILD—CHILDREN'S AID SOCIETY—FOSTER-PARENTS—WELFARE OF INFANT—ACCESS BY MOTHER—CHILDREN'S PROTECTION ACT OF ONTARIO, R.S.O. 1914, c. 231.

Re Sinclair, 12 O.W.N. 79.

NEGLECTED CHILD—CHILDREN'S AID SOCIETY—RIGHTS OF PARENTS—ACQUIRED RIGHTS OF FOSTER-PARENTS—WELFARE OF CHILD.

Re Butcher, 12 O.W.N. 197, 238.

SEPARATION OF PARENTS—DISPUTE BETWEEN —INTERESTS OF INFANT—DETERMINA-TION IN FAVOUR OF FATHER—COSTS.
Cronk v. Cronk, 12 O.W.N. 236.

RIGHT OF MOTHER—NEGLECTED CHILD—CHILD-REN'S AID SOCIETY—CHILDREN'S PRO-TECTION ACT OF ONTARIO, R.S.O. 1914,
c. 231—INVESTIGATION BY JUVENILE COURT—APPLICATION TO JUDGE IN CHAMBERS UPON HABEAS CORPUS—DIS-CRETION—WELFARE OF INFANT.
Re Cox, 12 O.W.N. 347.

APPLICATION BY MOTHER ON RETURN OF HABEAS CORPUS—PECULIAR CIRCUM-STANCES—HUSBAND AND WIFE LIVING
APART—CHILDREN PLACED IN BOARDING-SCHOOL—ORDER FOR PAYMENT BY HUS-BAND OF EXPENSES OF WIFE VISITING CHILDREN—TERMS.
Re Fitzpatrick, 13 O.W.N. 176.

APPLICATION OF FATHER—CHILDREN'S AID SOCIETY.
Re Rendle, 13 O.W.N. 179.

WELFARE OF CHILDREN—ORDER UNDER CHILD-REN'S PROTECTION ACT OF ONTARIO, s.
9—ABSENCE OF EVIDENCE TO SUPPORT—
"NEGLECTED CHILD"—ORDER QUASHED—
TEMPORARY ARRANGEMENTS FOR CUSTODY OF CHILDREN.
Re H, 16 O.W.N. 210.

NEGLECTED CHILD—CHILDREN'S AID SOCIETY
—FOSTER HOME FOUND BY SOCIETY—
APPLICATION BY PARENTS FOR CUSTODY OF CHILD—WELFARE OF CHILD—RIGHTS OF FOSTER-PARENTS.
Re Driscoll, 17 O.W.N. 144.

DISPUTE AS TO PARENTAGE—TRIAL OF ISSUE —EVIDENCE—FINDING AS TO BIRTH OF CHILD.
Matters v. Ryan, 17 O.W.N. 232.

ILLEGITIMATE CHILD—INABILITY OF MOTHER TO MAINTAIN—CUSTODY—ORDER OF COMMISSIONER OF JUVENILE COURT—
JURISDICTION—"NEGLECTED CHILD"—
COMMITTAL TO CARE OF CHILDREN'S AID SOCIETY—JUVENILE DELINQUENTS ACT,
7 & 8 EDW. VII. c. 40 (DOM.)—CHILD-
REN'S PROTECTION ACT OF ONTARIO R.
S.O. 1914, c. 231, ss. 2 (1) (h), 9, 28
—CHILDREN'S PROTECTION AMENDMENT
ACT, 1916, 6 GEO. V. c. 53, ss. 3 (4b), 4
(2)—NOTICE TO PERSON HAVING ACTUAL CUSTODY OF CHILD—IRREGULARITIES IN PROCEDURE—MOTION TO QUASH ORDER—
"ANGELICAN"—"PROTESTANT"—DIS-CRETION—WELFARE OF CHILD.

"An illegitimate child whose mother is unable to maintain it" is declared by s.
2 (1) (h) of the Children's Protection Act of Ontario, to be a "neglected child" within the meaning of that act:—Held, that A.S., an illegitimate child of Mary S., who was unable to maintain him, was a "neglected child" to whom the act applied, although he was not in fact neglected, having been adopted by persons who fully and faithfully cared and provided for him. Under the combined effect of the Juvenile Delinquents Act, 7 & 8 Edw. VII. c. 40 (Dom.), and the Children's Protection Act of Ontario, R.S.O.

1914, c. 231, the Commissioner of the Juvenile Court, Toronto—had jurisdiction to investigate and to declare that the boy was a neglected child and a Protestant, and to order that he should be made a ward of the Children's Aid Society of Toronto. The statute does not void proceedings resulting in an adjudication so long as the Commissioner is satisfied that the parents or the person having the actual custody of the child have been notified of the investigation before he proceeds to dispose of the matter: Children's Protection Amendment Act, 1916, 6
Geo. V. c. 53, s. 3 (4b). Trifling irregularities in the procedure in the Juvenile Court, none of them affecting the merits, were not considered in determining whether the order of the Commissioner should be quashed. By
s. 4 (2) of the Act of 1916, the illegitimate child of a Protestant mother shall be deemed to be a Protestant; and the Commissioner did what the law required in making the boy a ward of the aforesaid society: ss. 9 and 28 of the principal Act. A distinction is made in the statute between "Roman Catholic" and "Protestant;" "Protestant" must be taken to include "Anglican." The plain directions of the statute must be followed—the court had no discretion to exercise in regard to the custody of the child.
Re S, 45 O.L.R. 46.

CUSTODY—CHILDREN'S AID SOCIETY—CHILD-REN'S PROTECTION ACT OF ONTARIO, R.
S.O. 1914, c. 231.
Re Wardle, 8 O.W.N. 517.

POWER TO CHANGE CUSTODY AWARDED BY EXTRA-TERRITORIAL DECREE.

A father may be given the custody of his child, notwithstanding the existence of an order of an Extra-territorial Court awarding such custody to the mother upon a decree for divorce obtained by misleading and fraudulent testimony of the mother (no personal service having been made of the petition), at any rate where it is impossible for the court to say that it is to the benefit of the child that she should remain with the mother.

Ryser v. Ryser, 7 W.W.R. 1275.

HUSBAND AND WIFE—CUSTODY OF INFANT.

The guiding principle for the court in awarding the custody of an infant between parents living apart is the interest of the child. On infant 3 years old was given to the custody of the mother. Matters considered in so deciding were: the need of its mother's attention, the desirability of keeping the child with its 2 sisters, children of the mother by a former marriage who were with the mother, and the lack of companionship for the child on its father's farm. The father to have access to the child at all times.

Wood v. Wood, [1919] 3 W.W.R. 246.

WILFUL REFUSAL OF PARENT TO MAINTAIN—NONRESIDENCE WITH FATHER.

The King v. Barthos, 17 Can. Cr. Cas. 459.

(§ I C—11)—RELIGIOUS INSTRUCTION—WELFARE OF CHILD.

Where the children concerned are too young to have a real religious preference they may be given into the custody of their mother, who is a protestant, without condition as to the faith in which they shall be brought up, notwithstanding their deceased father was a Roman Catholic, and the Juvenile Court had placed the children with a Roman Catholic Children's Aid Society.

Re Maher, 12 D.L.R. 492, 28 O.L.R. 419.

A father will not necessarily be deprived by the court in an alimony action of the custody of minor children, although the mother was given the right to visit them weekly, where it appeared that he was a fit and proper custodian for the children, and that he was willing and able to care for them, and that for several years the personal care of the younger child had fallen to him, although the wife is granted a decree for alimony.

Karch v. Karch, 4 D.L.R. 250, 3 O.W.N. 1446, 22 O.W.R. 334.

The custody of a 14 year old girl was denied her father, where it appeared that for 8 years she had lived with her maternal aunt, and that the child, who was extremely nervous, greatly feared her father and had a strong aversion to her stepmother, and the court found that they were not proper custodians for the child, whose welfare required that she should remain with the aunt.

Re Hart, 4 D.L.R. 293, 22 O.W.R. 200.

PARENT'S RIGHT TO.

Notwithstanding a widowed father's prima facie right to the custody of his child, it will be permitted to remain with its maternal grandparents, until the age of 6 years, where its welfare will thereby be best secured, the father, in the meantime, having reasonable access to the child at all times.

Re Hutchinson (No. 2), 11 D.L.R. 827, 28 O.L.R. 114, reversing 5 D.L.R. 791, 26 O.L.R. 601, reinstating 26 O.L.R. 113.

FATHER'S AGREEMENT RELINQUISHING CUSTODY—VALIDITY—REPUTATION.

Section 3 of 1 Geo. V. (Ont.) c. 35, providing that the father of a minor child may at any time by deed dispose of its custody and education for any length of time while the child remains under the age of 21 years and that such disposition shall be good and effectual against every person claiming in any way the child's custody or education, does not apply to make irrevocable an agreement signed by a widower relinquishing the custody of his infant daughter to her maternal grandparents until she reaches her majority or marries under that age, and covenanting that the father will not revoke the instrument. [Fidelity Trust

Co. v. Buchner, 5 D.L.R. 282, 26 O.L.R. 367, followed.]

Re Hutchinson, 5 D.L.R. 791, 3 O.W.N. 1552, 22 O.W.R. 390, 26 O.L.R. 113 and 691. PARENTS' RIGHT TO CUSTODY—WELFARE OF CHILD TO GOVERN.

In determining whether the father or mother, who are living apart, shall have the custody of a minor child, the wishes of the mother are to be considered, as well as the wishes of the father, but the primary consideration is the welfare of the child. In awarding the custody of infants to their mother as against the father, the order should provide that the latter shall have reasonable access to them.

Re Baylis Infants, 13 D.L.R. 150, 7 A.L.R. 54, 25 W.L.R. 181, 4 W.V.R. 1357.

RIGHT OF GUARDIAN APPOINTED BY FATHER—RIGHT OF MOTHER.

Infant children will not be taken from the custody of a guardian appointed by their father and given into the care of their mother, who was living apart from her husband, where the welfare of the children will be best conserved by remaining with such guardian, with a right of access by the mother at reasonable times.

Re Chisholm, 13 D.L.R. 811, 47 N.S.R. 250, 13 E.L.R. 182.

CONDITION AS TO PROVIDING HOME.

The court exercising its discretion as to awarding the custody of children aged 6 and 4 respectively to the father as against the mother living apart from him, may require the father to provide a suitable house with a relative in charge to look after the children.

Ney v. Ney, 12 D.L.R. 248, 4 O.W.N. 1536, 24 O.W.R. 873, affirming 11 D.L.R. 100, 4 O.W.N. 935.

CHILDREN'S PROTECTION ACT—WELFARE OF CHILD.

The custody of a child having been awarded under the Children's Protection Act R.S.O. 1914, c. 231, will not be granted to a parent unless it is shown that the welfare of the child would enure therefrom.

Re D'Andrea, 31 D.L.R. 751, 37 O.L.R. 30.

NEGLECTED CHILD—CHILDREN'S PROTECTION ACT. 7-8 GEO. V. 1917, N.S., c. 2—APPLICATION BY FATHER—FATHER UNSUITABLE PERSON—INTERESTS OF CHILD.

An infant who has been declared a neglected child and sent under the authority of the Children's Aid Society to a suitable home, will not be allowed to return to the custody of his father, when the latter has been found to be an unsuitable person.

Re Buckley, 49 D.L.R. 646.

PARENT'S CLAIM—CONSENT TO ANOTHER'S CUSTODY.

A father prima facie has a right to the custody and control of his children and this right will ordinarily be accorded where there is no evidence (a) of his abandoning the child, (b) of his moral turpitude or misconduct, or (c) that the best interests of the child stand in the way. [R. v. Gyn-gall, [1893] 2 Q.B. 232, applied.] Parents cannot enter into an agreement, legally binding, to deprive themselves of the custody and control of their children, and if they elect to do so, can at any moment resume their control over the infants provided the best interests of the child, which are always the determining factor, do not conflict.

Smith v. Reid, 17 D.L.R. 59, 7 A.L.R. 143, 27 W.L.R. 671, 6 W.W.R. 486.

PARENT'S RIGHT TO CUSTODY—RIGHTS OF FATHER—INABILITY TO FURNISH SUITABLE HOME—WELFARE OF CHILD.

Re Evans, 16 D.L.R. 851, 28 W.L.R. 203, affirming 15 D.L.R. 218, 26 W.L.R. 468, 5 W.W.R. 919.

PARENT'S RIGHT TO — BEST INTERESTS OF CHILD.

Re Castle, 20 D.L.R. 955.

RIGHT OF FATHER—WELFARE OF INFANT—CONDUCT AND CHARACTER OF FATHER.

Re Phillips, 12 D.L.R. 854, 24 O.W.R. 709, 4 O.W.N. 1408.

FATHER'S RIGHT TO—WELFARE OF CHILD—MOTHER LIVING APART.

The court, empowered under the Infants Act, R.S.O. 1914, c. 153, s. 2 (1), to award the custody of an infant, having regard to the welfare of the infant and to the conduct of the parents, will not deprive the father of his immemorial right to the control of his child, where he has done no wrong and is able and willing to support the mother and child, merely because the mother chose, without valid reasons, to live apart from him. [Re Mathieu, 29 O.R. 546, followed.]

Re Scarth, 26 D.L.R. 428, 35 O.L.R. 312.

UNLAWFUL DETENTION—CRIME.

Where husband and wife have separated and the wife and young child had become domiciled with the accused without objection on the part of the husband, a demand by the latter on the wife's death for the custody of the child, so as to change its domicile, should not be prosecuted by means of a criminal charge under Cr. Code, s. 316, for unlawful detention until the question of the rightful custody under the changed conditions had first been submitted to and decided by the competent Civil Court. [R. v. Hamilton, 17 Can. Cr. Cas. 410, distinguished.]

Cummings v. The King, 26 Can. Cr. Cas. 304, 25 Que. K.B. 237.

APPLICATION OF FATHER—FACTS NOT SUFFICIENTLY SHOWN—LEAVE TO RENEW UPON FURTHER MATERIAL.

Re Richardson, 9 O.W.N. 142, 10 O.W.N. 75.

SEPARATION OF HUSBAND AND WIFE—AGREEMENT AS TO CUSTODY OF CHILD—WELFARE OF CHILD.

Re Armstrong, 8 O.W.N. 567.

CUSTODY — CONTEST BETWEEN PARENTS — MISCONDUCT OF FATHER—WELFARE OF INFANT—INFANTS ACT, SEC. 2.

Upon a contest between the father and mother of a child, a girl of 11 years, as to her custody, it was held, that the mother was justified by the misconduct of her husband, the father, in leaving him, and that, having regard to the welfare of the child, the custody should be awarded to the mother: s. 2 of the Infants Act, R.S.O. 1914, c. 153. [Re A. and B. (Infants), [1897] 1 Ch. 786, followed; Re Scarth, 35 O.L.R. 312, distinguished.]

Re Wilkites, 45 O.L.R. 181.

PARENT'S RIGHT.

Under s. 32 of the Infants' Act, R.S.M. 1902, c. 79, an order was, under the circumstances of this case, made for the delivery of the children into the sole custody of the mother, notwithstanding the prima facie common law right of the father. Liberty to the father to apply again should he desire to do so, because of circumstances arising hereafter.

Re Tomlinson, 21 Man. L.R. 786, 19 W. L.R. 522.

CUSTODY — APPLICATION OF PATENTS — REMOVAL OF BOY FROM INDUSTRIAL SCHOOL.

Re Brunner, 17 O.W.N. 235.

PATERNAL POWER — GUARDIANSHIP OF INFANT CHILD — EDUCATION — C.C. ARTS. 214, 215.

Article 214 C.C. (Que.) is only concerned with one of the prerogatives of paternal authority: the guardianship of children. When the court gives the children to the care of the mother, or to a third person, the power of the father is slightly altered, but this alteration does not prevent the paternal authority, with regard to the supervision of the education and advancement of the children, from existing in all lawful respects according to art. 215. By "education" is meant not only material and intellectual education but the moral and religious education of the children. A judgment which, in decreeing the separation of the husband and wife, gives to the wife or to a third person the guardianship of the children born of the marriage, does not take away from the husband all the rights attached to paternal authority, and especially the right to supervise the religious education of the children, which is the greatest of all their interests, even when the husband and wife profess different religions.

Blythway v. Lile, 56 Que. S.C. 196.

TUTORSHIP — FAMILY COUNCIL — SUBROGATE TUTOR — NOMINATION — C.C., ARTS. 251, 267.

It is not necessary that the subrogate tutor be chosen from one line in preference to another, nor must he be chosen from among the relatives in the paternal line when the guardian is taken from among those in the maternal line.

St. Jacques v. Lafaille, 25 Rev. Leg. 244.

PARENT'S RIGHT TO.

When there is an action in separation pending between husband and wife, the care of a girl of 12 years, who is very bright and intelligent, will be left to the mother, pending the suit, if the child declares that she wants to remain with the mother.

Acton v. Larsen, 14 Que. P.R. 231.

PARENT'S RIGHT TO.

On a writ of habeas corpus to recover the custody of a child of tender years, the welfare of the child must be considered in determining the rights of the parties. The right of the father to the care of his child is not absolute, and, in certain cases, the child may be given to the mother even if the courts have not pronounced a separation.

Woolven v. Aird, 14 Que. P.R. 165.

EMBITTERING CHILD AGAINST PARENT AS AFFECTING.

When children are remitted to their father's custody in preference to that of their mother, on the ground that his stronger disposition would be a better safeguard for their proper upbringing, attempts made by him to destroy their love for their mother would be ground for rescinding the order.

Re Crux Infants, 33 W.L.R. 932.

(§ I C—12)—RIGHT OF TESTAMENTARY GUARDIAN—INFANT ALLOWED TO VISIT GRANDMOTHER ON UNDERTAKING TO RETURN—VIOLATION OF UNDERTAKING—CUSTODY AWARDED TO GUARDIAN PENDING LITIGATION AS TO WILL—COSTS.

Re Coward, 17 O.W.N. 105.

(§ I C—13)—DISPOSAL OF—RIGHT OF BASTARD'S FATHER.

The custody of an illegitimate child cannot be controlled by its putative father. [Re C., 25 O.L.R. 218, followed.]

Re Maher, 12 D.L.R. 492, 28 O.L.R. 419.

RIGHT OF MOTHER OF ILLEGITIMATE CHILD—WELFARE.

In awarding the custody of an illegitimate child, the desire of the mother is a primary consideration, but the child's welfare, in view of all surrounding circumstances, is the determining factor.

Re Gefrasso, 30 D.L.R. 595, 36 O.L.R. 630.

(§ I C—14)—JUVENILE COURT—INTERIM DETENTION PENDING HEARING.

On the arrest of a juvenile under 14 years of age, in respect of whose support a delinquency charge against the parent is pending before a Juvenile Court, the Judge of the Juvenile Court may make an interim order for the detention of the child in a detention home pending the hearing of the charge.

Re Stenhouse, 10 D.L.R. 560, 21 Can. Cr. Cas. 182.

RIGHT OF PARENT TO CUSTODY OF CHILD—WELFARE OF CHILD.

The Child's Protection Act (Ont.), 8 Edw. VII. c. 59, s. 30, as amended by 3 Geo. V. c. 62, s. 28, R.S.O. 1914, c. 231, directing that a Roman Catholic child shall not be placed in a foster home in a Protestant family does not compel a change of custody at the instance of the father of a child of tender years so as to take it from its Protestant foster parent with whom it was placed by the Children's Aid Society under the authority of the Children's Court Commissioner acting on the statement of the child's mother that she was a Protestant, where the Commissioner had adjudicated that the mother, who seemingly was in sole control and charge of the child, was unfit to have the child's future custody, it appearing that the applicant had abandoned or abdicated control of the child whose temporal and moral welfare was opposed to the change of custody. [Re Faulds, 12 O.L.R. 245, followed.]

Re Kenna, 15 D.L.R. 844, 29 O.L.R. 590, affirming 11 D.L.R. 772, 4 O.W.N. 1395.

ORDER OF COURT.

A husband cannot refuse to obey the judgment of the court on the ground that years have elapsed since the case was tried, that conditions have changed, and that the child (aged 12) prefers to remain with him.

Kastel v. Hampton, 18 Que. P.R. 363.

CUSTODY OF—AGREEMENT BY FATHER TO SURRENDER CHILD—RESTORATION TO FATHER—PATERNAL RIGHTS.

Re Porter, 15 B.C.R. 454.

ILLEGITIMATE CHILD—CUSTODY—RIGHTS OF MOTHER AND PUTATIVE FATHER.

Re C., an infant, 25 O.L.R. 218.

CUSTODY OF—CHILDREN'S AID SOCIETY—FOSTER PARENT—MAGISTRATE'S ORDER.

Re Pilkington, 15 B.C.R. 456.

DIVORCE DECREE AWARDED CUSTODY OF CHILD TO MOTHER—FATHER EXTINGUISHED CHILD FROM THE MOTHER'S CUSTODY.

The King v. Hamilton, 17 Can. Cr. Cas. 410, 22 O.L.R. 484.

D. DISABILITIES AND LIABILITIES.

(§ I D—16)—MISREPRESENTATION AS TO BEING OF AGE—CONVEYANCE OF LAND.

A minor, making a conveyance of land by means of a fraudulent representation that he is of full age, cannot afterwards have the conveyance set aside and thus take advantage of his own fraud.

Gregson v. Law, 15 D.L.R. 514, 19 B.C.R. 240, 26 W.L.R. 576, 5 W.W.R. 1017.

DÉLITS—MISAPPROPRIATION OF FUNDS—SETTLEMENT FOR AN AFFECTED BY INFANCY.

A minor is not exempt from liability for obligations arising from his délits and quasi-délits. Thus the minor who commits frauds on his employer by appropriating the money which he was ordered to collect, and, being discovered, settles with and repays his employer, cannot afterwards claim repayment of the money on the ground of his minority alone.

Lachapelle v. Guay, 47 Que. S.C. 346.

(§ I D—20)—MARRIAGE CONTRACT—NULLITY—EFFECT ON OTHER PROVISIONS.

A minor, a party to a marriage contract, must be assisted by his tutor, and in order to be valid, the matrimonial conventions adopted must have been approved by the family council. Otherwise the marriage contract is null. Such nullity only extends to the matrimonial conventions properly so called, and not to those bound to exist apart from the marriage contract, to which the minor may be a party if represented by his tutor. So, a donation inter vivos, made by a third party to the minor in the marriage contract, is not null, notwithstanding the nullity of the marriage contract itself.

Dufresne v. Dufresne, 54 Que. S.C. 255.

PURCHASE OF GOODS — RENT OF BUSINESS PREMISES—CONSIDERATION — RIGHT TO RECOVER MONEYS PAID.

Sturgeon v. Staff, 17 W.L.R. 402.

(§ 1 D—22)—DEPOSITS IN BANK.

Section 95 of the Bank Act, R.S.C. 1906, c. 29, does not impose upon a bank in Ontario, which has more than $500 on deposit in the name of an infant, without knowledge of his infancy, a liability to repay to the infant the amount of a cheque for over $500 drawn by him upon his account.

Freeman v. Bank of Montreal, 5 D.L.R. 418, 26 O.L.R. 451, 22 O.W.R. 276.

(§ 1 D—23)—INSURANCE.

A minor, having attained his majority, can be sued for the recovery of the amount of a promissory note, made by him while a minor, in payment of the first premium on a policy of insurance on his life, where the defendant retains the insurance policy and where he has not taken any procedure to annul the insurance contract; and, the insurance premium having been so paid, the insurance stands in force for all purposes as of right; and a minor, having attained his majority, can avoid a contract entered into during his minority in so far only as he proves legal injury or prejudice.

Simoneau v. Hebert, 18 Rev. de Jur. 363.

(§ 1 D—25)—ASSIGNMENT OF INTEREST IN LAND — DISAFFIRMANCE — REASONABLE TIME.

An assignment by an infant of his interest in a purchase of land not prejudicial to the infant's interest is merely voidable; but a lapse of 3 years after his attainment of majority is not a reasonable time for the exercise of his right of avoidance, so as to entitle him to the enforcement of a parol trust founded thereon. [Bronfield v. Smith, 2 T.R. 436; Edwards v. Brudenell, [1893] A.C. 360, applied.]

Shepard v. Bruner, 24 D.L.R. 40, 31 W.L.R. 721, reversing 19 D.L.R. 869.

PURCHASE OF LAND—REPUDIATION—VENDOR'S REFUSAL TO ACCEPT INFANT'S MORTGAGE.

An infant, who enters into a contract for the purchase of land of a vendor who is unaware of his infancy, cannot compel the vendor to accept a mortgage, under the terms of the contract, for the balance of unpaid purchase price which has been executed by the infant; nor may infancy be set up as a ground for the repudiation of the contract to recover the moneys paid thereon by the infant after the latter has assumed potential ownership of the sold premises. [Short v. Field, 32 O.L.R. 393, followed.]

Robinson v. Moffatt, 25 D.L.R. 462, 35 O.L.R. 9.

PURCHASE OF LAND—PREJUDICE—FORFEITURE—VOID CONTRACT.

A contract for the purchase of land entered into by an infant, with a forfeiture clause as to the land and payments prejudicial to the infant's interests, is wholly void, not merely voidable, and the infant is entitled to recover the payments made thereunder.

Phillips v. Greater Ottawa Dev. Co., 33 D.L.R. 259, 38 O.L.R. 315.

A lease of a farm with the right to purchase, entered into by an infant unassisted by his guardian, subject to a forfeiture of the land and payments in case of default, under which the infant apparently has derived no benefit, is prejudicial to his interests, and if not ratified by him after attaining majority it will be annulled by the court.

Bernier v. Choinard, 35 D.L.R. 648, 23 Rev. de Jur. 318.

REPUDIATION OF PURCHASE—BENEFITS.

An infant on attaining majority has the right to repudiate a contract for the purchase of personal property of which he had not taken possession, and to recover the payments made by him thereon, not having received any benefit under the contract.

Nicklin v. Longhurst, 31 D.L.R. 393, 27 Man. L.R. 255, [1917] 1 W.W.R. 439.

RATIFICATION OR DISAFFIRMANCE.

An infant who has made a sale of real property, and afterwards during infancy repudiated the contract, may, after attaining majority, maintain an action to cancel the contract, although such action is not brought immediately; provided that he has done nothing since attaining full age to avoid the previous avoidance; but in order to succeed in the action he should return any money received from the purchaser.

Phillips v. Sutherland, 22 Man. L.R. 491.

CONTRACT — ACCORD AND SATISFACTION — EVIDENCE—COMPENSATION FOR INJURIES — JOINT TORTFEASORS — PAYMENT INTO COURT—JURY.

Horton v. Leonard, 12 O.W.N. 67.

SALE OF HORSE—INFANT—RESCISSIION.

McDonald v. Baxter, 46 N.S.R. 149, 9 E.L.R. 316.

CONTRACT—LAND—TRADER—LESION.

The purchase of an immovable by a minor in business is not a commercial matter—and under the title nonrescindable on account of lesion—unless the purchase is made by the minor in the exercise of his profession or business. Lesion in contracts of exchange of property results for the minor from the differences existing between the value of that which he undertakes to deliver and the lesser value of that which he receives in return. The disproportion between the means of the minor and the value of what he receives does not constitute lesion.

Paré St. Louis v. Jobidon, 52 Que. S.C. 499, affirming 51 Que. S.C. 112.

VOIDABLE GIFT—REPUUDIATION AFTER MAJORITY—ACTION FOR RETURN—RELEASE OF EXECUTRIX.

Murray v. McKenzie, 23 O.L.R. 287, 18 O.W.R. 747.

(§ I D—26)—LIABILITY AS CONTRIBUTORY—FAILURE TO DISAFFIRM.

An infant who, within a reasonable time after attaining majority, fails to repudiate a contract respecting bank shares purchased during infancy and standing in the infant's name, thereby assumes the statutory liabilities in respect thereto on the ground of laches and acquiescence: receiving dividends on the shares after attaining majority amounts to a ratification of their ownership, and upon insolvency of the bank the statutory double liability of shareholders under s. 125 of the Bank Act, R.S.C. 1906, c. 29, will therefore attach.

Re Sovereign Bank; Clark's Case, 27 D.L.R. 253, 35 O.L.R. 448.

LIABILITIES OF COMMERCIAL CONTRACTS—RATIFICATION.

A minor cannot be released from his commercial engagements or from those which he has ratified on his majority. [Banque du Peuple d'Halifax v. Gauthier, 14 Que. S.C. 18, followed.]

Grenier v. Simoneau, 45 Que. S.C. 329.

(§ I D—28)—PURCHASE OF LAND—REPUUDIATION—RIGHT TO REPAYMENT.

Although an infant is not compellable to complete a contract, yet when he has paid money under it he cannot recover it back unless he can shew that fraud has been practised upon him. Wilson v. Kearsé (1800), Peake Add. Cas. 196, and Holmes v. Blogg, 8 Taunt. 35, 2 J.B. Moore, 552, approved and applied to a case where the plaintiff, an infant, agreed to purchase from the defendant a house and lot and paid a deposit at the time the agreement was signed, and where the evidence negatives any misrepresentation on the part of the defendant, and shewed that the plaintiff took possession of and controlled the property.

Short v. Field, 32 O.L.R. 395.

(§ I D—30)—ACTION IN APPEAL—EMANCIPATED MINOR—TESTAMENTARY EXECUTOR—C.C., ARTS. 919, 991, 1001.

An action for cancellation on account of prejudice suffered is a privilege personal to minors, and cannot be instituted by testamentary executors, even when they have the powers of administration extended for a period of a year and a day.

Charbonneau v. Boileau, 56 Que. S.C. 295.

(§ I D—31)—REPAYMENT OR RESTORATION BY INFANT.

An infant who, during minority, repudiates his contract to sell land, must, in order to maintain an action to cancel the contract, after arriving at majority, return or offer to return any money received from the purchaser, and unless he does so a nonsuit will be granted, with a direction, however, that it shall not have the same effect as a verdict on the merits for the defendant.

Phillips v. Sutherland, 22 Man. L.R. 491.

REPUUDIATION OF SALE—RETURN OF DEPOSIT.

A deposit paid to an infant may be recorded notwithstanding his infancy. Lord Tenterden's Act is in force in the province of Saskatchewan.

Molyneux v. Traill, 32 W.L.R. 292, 9 W.W.R. 137.

II. Sale, lease or mortgage or real estate.

(§ II—35)—APPLICATION TO SELL PROPERTY AND DIVIDE PROCEEDS—PROSPECTIVE RIGHTS OF INFANT—SUGGESTED PAYMENT INTO COURT.

Re Laws, 6 D.L.R. 912, 4 O.W.N. 304, 23 O.W.R. 408.

PURCHASE OF OUTSTANDING INTEREST FOR BENEFIT OF INFANT LANDOWNER.

It is a ground for the court to exercise its discretion in refusing to authorize the purchase of an outstanding interest in land for the benefit of an invalid infant owner, a girl of tender years, where, by reason of an existing lease, the effect would be materially to reduce her income until she became 35 years of age, notwithstanding that at that time her fortune would be greatly increased as a result of making the purchase.

Collier v. Union Trust Co., Re Leslie, 12 D.L.R. 4, 4 O.W.N. 1465, 24 O.W.R. 761.

AGREEMENT FOR PURCHASE OF LAND—PAYMENT OF SUM AS DEPOSIT—RIGHT TO RECOVER—ABSENCE OF FRAUD.

Although an infant is not compellable to complete a contract, yet when he has paid money under it, he cannot recover it back unless he can shew that fraud has been practised upon him. Wilson v. Kearsé, Peake, Add. Cas. 196, and Holmes v. Blogg, 8 Taunt. 35, 2 J.B. Moore 552, approved and applied to a case where the plaintiff, an infant, agreed to purchase from the defendant a house and lot and paid a deposit at the time the agreement was signed, and where the evidence negated any misrepresentation on the part of the defendant, and shewed that the plaintiff took possession of and controlled the property.

Short v. Field, 32 O.L.R. 395.

(§ II—37)—SALE OF LANDS—EXAMINATION OF WITNESSES.

An application on petition for an order for the sale of the land of an infant will not be heard under the Ontario practice, where the procedure prescribed by Con. rr. 960 to 970 has not been followed in that one of the guardians of the infant has not been made a party to the application and no explanation of such absence is given, and neither the witnesses to the petition nor the infant herself (being over the age of 14, years) have been examined viva voce as to the consent of the infant to the sale as the practice rules require. On an application on petition for an order for the sale of land belonging to an infant, under the power conferred by the Infants Act, 1 Geo. V. (Ont.) c. 35, the merits of the application cannot be taken into account until the court is satisfied that the mode of procedure prescribed by Ont. Cons. rr. 960 to 970 and 1308 has been complied with.

Re Sugden, 10 D.L.R. 780, 4 O.W.N. 924, 24 O.W.R. 212.

SALE OF LANDS — ORDER FOR — DEVOLUTION OF ESTATES ACT.

The provisions of the Devolution of Estates Act, 10 Edw. VII. (Ont.) c. 56, are not applicable on an application on petition for an order for the sale of land of an infant, where the estate has been wound up by the executors and the land has been conveyed by them to the infant or to some one in trust for her, and where the executors are not in any way parties to or represented on the application.

Re Sugden, 10 D.L.R. 780, 4 O.W.N. 924, 24 O.W.R. 212.

UNDIVIDED INTEREST IN LAND — MOTION FOR AUTHORIZATION BY COURT OF CONVEYANCE — SECURITY FOR PURCHASE-MONEY — OFFICIAL GUARDIAN — REFUSAL OF MOTION.

Re Mack, 8 O.W.N. 74.

III. Actions.

(§ III—40)—ACTION TO PROTECT INFANT'S PROPERTY—RECEIVERSHIP.

A receiver will be appointed to a decedent's estate where it appears to be necessary in order to protect the interests of an infant.

Re Beaird, 9 D.L.R. 842, 4 O.W.N. 720, 23 O.W.R. 955.

MARRIED WOMAN—SEPARATION—CURATOR.

A wife who is a minor, whether plaintiff or defendant in an action for separation from bed and board, should be assisted by a curator in order to appeal in judicial proceedings.

Verret v. Robitaille, 54 Que. S.C. 228.

PARTNERSHIP — MINOR IN BUSINESS UNDER FIRM NAME — DAMAGE TO THEIR BUSINESS — QUE. C.P. 174, QUE. C.C. 320, 323.

If several minors do business together under a firm name, they are deemed to be emancipated for business purposes. Such a partnership can sue for damages a third person who would have depreciated the quality of their goods.

St. Julien v. Quesnel, 16 Que. P.R. 35.

ACTIONS—QUEBEC PRACTICE.

An action for annulment of marriage is well brought against the wife, though herself a minor, if her husband is made a party with her to the suit, and is himself assisted by a curator.

Hagen v. Stewart, 44 Que. S.C. 121.

(§ III—41)—ACTION — APPOINTMENT OF GUARDIAN AD LITEM.

In an action for cancellation of a deed against the widow and infant children of the grantee, the appointment of a guardian ad litem for the children is necessary.

Leblanc v. Leblanc, 15 D.L.R. 773, 14 E.L.R. 150.

ACTION BY — APPOINTMENTS OF NEXT FRIEND — WORKMEN'S COMPENSATION CLAIMS.

In proceedings in a District Court under the Workmen's Compensation Act (Alta.) the practice of the District Court is applicable where not inconsistent with the act; and, therefore, an amendment may be made during the trial so as to add a next friend in a proceeding thereunder to recover compensation of an employee under the age of twenty-one.

Barrie v. Diamond Coal Co., 17 D.L.R. 385, 7 A.L.R. 138, 28 W.L.R. 701, 6 W.W.R. 651.

DEFENCE BY INFANT — EXCEPTION ON GROUND OF MINORITY — STATUTORY PROTECTION—SERVICE OF PROCESS.

If a minor is named as defendant in an action for malicious arrest brought under the Quebec law, and excepts on the ground of his minority (C.C.P., art. 174), the court may summon such defendant to appear and support his exception on issue being joined thereon, but by so appearing he does not affect the generality of the veto under art. 78 C.C.P., whereby no person can be a party to an action either as claimant, or defendant in any form whatever unless he has the free exercise of his rights, saving where special provisions apply. Under the law of Quebec the incapacity of minors to sue or be sued is absolute, subject only to certain exceptions; and when it has once been established that the so-called defendant in an action for malicious arrest is a minor, he ceases ab initio to be a defendant, and he cannot be treated as if he were a defendant by summons or order in such action.

Levine v. Serling, 19 D.L.R. 108, [1914] A.C. 659, 23 Que. K.B. 289, reversing 7 D.L.R. 266, 47 Can. S.C.R. 103, 12 E.L.R. 216.

SUIT BY NEXT FRIEND — ADDING AT TRIAL.

The bringing, by an infant under twenty-one of an action to recover damages for personal injury without joining a next friend is a mere irregularity which may be cured by adding a next friend at the trial, when the circumstance of the original plaintiff not being of age was then first disclosed without objection having previously been taken.

Durie v. Toronto R. Co., 15 D.L.R. 747, 5 O.W.N. 829, 16 Can. Ry. Cas. 334, 25 O.W.R. 789.

ACTIONS BY — WORKMEN'S COMPENSATION ACT — GUARDIAN — QUE. C.P. 174 — QUE. C.C. 304.

A minor over 14 years of age, authorized by the court to take proceedings under the Workmen's Compensation Act, does not require the assistance of a guardian.

Touquette v. Dominion Textile Co., 15 Que. P.R. 298.

APPEAL TO PRIVY COUNCIL — REPRESENTATION OF INFANT LITIGANT — COUNSEL FEE — ADVANCE — SUITORS' FEE FUND — PRACTICE — GUARDIAN AD LITEM.

Re Farrell, 5 O.W.N. 455.

GUARDIAN AD LITEM—NAMING.

If a tutor is appointed to a minor to represent him in an action in nullity of marriage, it is of no importance that he be named tutor or tutor ad hoc.

Guttman v. Goodman, 26 Que. K.B. 270.

ACTION AGAINST—HEIRS—GUARDIAN.

An action against the heirs of one who died less than six months previously is valid notwithstanding the incapacity of the defendants; but upon declaration and proof of their minority the action will be stayed until they are provided with a tutor.

Desrochers v. Frechette Heirs, 50 Que. S.C. 436.

(§ III—44)—COMPROMISE OR SETTLEMENT OF.

If the widow agrees to divide with her children the damages awarded under the Workmen's Compensation Act (Que.) for the death of her husband it is not necessary for a family council to be called to authorize the tutor of the minors to accept their share which is a mere donation.

Re Turner, 13 Que. P.R. 261.

(§ III—55)—SUSPENDING THE PAYMENT OF DAMAGES TO INFANT DURING MINORITY.

The court has the power, by its judgment, to order that a sum assessed by a jury as the amount of damages sustained by the plaintiff, a minor suing through his tutor in an action of tort or ex quasi delicto, be paid, in part at once, the remainder when he becomes of age, and not at all if he dies before, and that the interest on such remainder be paid to the tutor until he comes of age or dies during minority.

Montreal Street R. Co. v. Girard, 21 Que. K.B. 121.

PERMISSION TO SUE BY NEXT FRIEND IN FORMA PAUPERIS.

Re Sturgeon, 20 Man. L.R. 284.

ACTION AGAINST MINOR — SUBSEQUENT MAJORITY—MOTION FOR CONTINUANCE.

Paquette v. Auclair, 12 Que. P.R. 403.

INFORMATION.

See Indictment; Summary Conviction; Criminal Law; Intoxicating Liquors.

INFRINGEMENT.

See Copyright; Trademark; Tradename; Patents.

INHERITANCE.

See Descent and Distribution; Wills, Executors and Administrators.
As to taxation, see Taxes

INITIATIVE AND REFERENDUM.

See Constitutional Law, I D—90.

INJUNCTION.

I. RIGHT TO AND WHEN GRANTED.

- A. In general.
- B. Contract rights; covenant.
- C. Transfer or disposition of property.
- D. Illegal or tortious acts; crimes.
- E. Taking of, injury to, or trespass upon, real property.
- F. Water rights.
- G. As to corporate matters; associations.
- H. As to office; elections.
- I. Against legal proceedings.
- J. Against officers generally.
- K. Against taxes or assessments.
- L. As to parks, highways and railroads.
- M. As to patents, copyrights, trademarks, tradenames and imitations.

II. INTERLOCUTORY AND INTERIM INJUNCTIONS.

III. PROCEDURE.

Annotation.

Injunction; when injunction lies: 14 D. L.R. 460.

I. Right to and when granted.

A. IN GENERAL.

As not proper remedy where appeal is provided, see Drains and Sewers, II—10.

As restraining in personam, acts in foreign country, see Patents, IV A—35.

(§ I A—1)—PRESERVING ASSETS — APPOINTMENT OF RECEIVER.

When the circumstances are such as to justify the granting of an injunction against the disposition of goods and it appears that an injunction is likely to be ineffective, the court may go the further step of appointing a receiver to take actual possession of the goods.

Kay v. Ratz, 44 D.L.R. 145, 14 A.L.R. 72, [1918] 3 W.W.R. 885.

PECUNIARY INTEREST TO BE COMPENSATED IN DAMAGES ONLY, WHEN — QUEBEC AND ENGLISH LAW AND PROCEDURE COMPARED.

An injunction will not be granted to restrain a railway company from repudiating its contract with the construction company for the building of the railway by employing anyone else to complete it after the construction company had entered upon the work where the latter's interest under the contract was pecuniary only and could be compensated in damages. Injunctions are not authorized to be given under C.C. (Que.) in cases where a similar remedy would not be given under English law, from which the procedure of injunction was adopted.

Wills v. Central R. Co., 19 D.L.R. 174, 24 Que. K.B. 102.

BY APPELLATE COURT—TO PRESERVE ASSETS PENDING APPEAL.

The Court of Appeal will, in a proper case, grant an injunction to prevent disposition of the assets in dispute, pending the hearing of the appeal.

A. R. Williams Machinery Co. v. Graham, 23 B.C.R. 481.

INJUNCTION — RECEIVER — SALE OF OIL WELLS—COMPANY.

McCormack v. Caribou, 15 O.W.N. 350. TO RESTRAIN ILLEGAL ACT.

When the act which one wishes to prevent by an injunction has been performed the injunction cannot be granted.

McCann v. Pontiac, 51 Que. S.C. 440.

(§ 1 A—2)—ANTICIPATED OR THREATENED INJURY.

Where a right at law is clearly or fairly made out it is the duty of the court to interfere by interlocutory injunction to prevent effect being given to an illegal vote at a meeting of company shareholders.

Elliot v. Hatzie Prairie, 6 D.L.R. 9, 21 W.L.R. 897.

WHEN GRANTED — ANTICIPATED INJURY — RATEPAYERS' REMEDIES ON CHANGE OF SCHOOL-SITE — CHANGE OF SCHOOL-SITE.

If ratepayers complain of the injustice done to them by change of the site of a schoolhouse, their remedy is by appeal to the Circuit Court and not by application for an interlocutory injunction.

Chaine v. School Commissioners of St. Séveré, 15 Que. P.R. 103.

(§ 1 A—4)—REFUSAL ON GROUND OF INCONVENIENCE TO DEFENDANT — REMEDY IN DAMAGES.

The court may decline to award a mandatory injunction for the removal of an obstruction to plaintiff's riparian rights where the plaintiff had sustained, and would sustain, a comparatively trifling injury as compared with which the defendant would be placed at a large expense to remove the obstruction which had remained in place for a number of years.

Haggerty v. Latreille, 14 D.L.R. 532, 29 O.L.R. 300.

INJURY OR INCONVENIENCE TO DEFENDANT.

Where a railway company had agreed in building its road to erect permanent bridges over plaintiff's irrigation ditches and it appeared that, without first erecting temporary bridges, and maintaining them for some months, the agreement could only be performed with great difficulty and considerable delay and consequent loss to the company and there was no proof that plaintiff would sustain more than nominal damages, the court has a discretion to refuse an interim injunction to restrain the railway company from erecting the temporary structures, leaving it open for the court at the trial to make a mandatory order for their removal or to award damages or to do both, and this particularly in view of an express statutory power to award damages in lieu of, or in addition to an injunction for breach of contract. The ordinary rule is to grant damages in lieu of an injunction in cases where (a) the injury to plaintiff's legal rights is small, and (b) is capable of being estimated in damages, and (c) can be adequately compensated by a small money payment, and (d) where it would be oppressive to defendant to grant an injunction. [Shelfer v. City of London Electric Lighting Co. (No. 1), [1895] 1 Ch. 287, at 322, approved.]

C.P.R. Co. v. C.N.R. Co., 7 D.L.R. 120, 5 A.L.R. 407, 22 W.L.R. 289, 3 W.W.R. 4.

DANGER AND INCONVENIENCE FROM QUARRYING STONE.

One who leases his immovable for the taking out stone from a quarry by dynamite, may, if the lessee carries on his operations in an imprudent and dangerous manner, be subject to an injunction from exploiting the quarry, and by taking means to prevent all danger and inconvenience to the petitioner, his family and his property. This principle has a stronger application if the owner directly participates in the exploiting of the quarry by receiving a fixed price on each ton of stone taken out.

Lachance v. Cauchon, 24 Que. K.B. 421. [Appeal to Canada Supreme Court quashed, unreported.]

(§ 1 A—6)—TITLE IN DISPUTE — EFFECT OF INJUNCTION PROCEEDINGS, HOW LIMITED.

Where, in a pending action between the plaintiff and the defendant involving title to certain property, an injunction order is made restraining the defendant in his disposal of such property and subsequently a motion to commit the defendant for contempt of court based on an alleged breach of the order is launched, the question of contempt is one between the offender and the court and ordinarily has no legal effect upon the rights of the litigants in their issue as to title in the original action.

Snowball Co. v. Sullivan, 14 D.L.R. 528, 42 N.B.R. 318, 13 E.L.R. 349.

(§ 1 A—7)—MUTUALITY OF REMEDY.

Where a statutory proceeding to quash a municipal by-law (as under s. 242 of the City Act, R.S.S. c. 84) would practically serve every purpose that an injunction could serve, an injunction to restrain the passing of the by-law ought not to be granted even if the by-law is ultra vires.

Keay v. Regina, 6 D.L.R. 327, 5 S.L.R. 372, 22 W.L.R. 185, 2 W.W.R. 1072.

AS TRADE OR COMMERCE—MUTUAL COMPANIES—POWERS.

The business of insurance, carried on by a mutual benefit association not for the sake of profit, is neither trade nor commerce, and therefore, the common law powers of agents of trading corporations are not applicable to a company or association of that kind. [Citizens Ins. Co. v. Parsons, L.R. 7 App. 96; Paul v. Virginia, 75 U.S. 163, applied.]

Richardson v. Urban Mutual Fire Ins. Co., 28 D.L.R. 12, 26 Man. L.R. 372, 34 W.L.R. 586, 10 W.W.R. 733.

MUNICIPAL WORKS—OTHER REMEDY.

An interlocutory injunction to restrain proceedings on municipal works, on the ground of changes made in the specifications, will not be granted when the changes are not of a nature to cause a serious or irreparable wrong, and when there exists several legal remedies effective and sufficient if the works cause damage to the petitioner.

Montreal v. Maisonneuve, 18 Que. P.R. 95.

(§ I A—9)—RESTRAINING DEFENDANT FROM ALLOWING DUST, ETC., TO ESCAPE — ADJOURNED TO TRIAL.

Montreuil v. Ontario Asphalt Block Paving Co., 19 O.W.R. 942, 2 O.W.N. 1512.
RESTRAINING BARBER FROM CARRYING ON BUSINESS—INCONVENIENCE.

Sexton v. Broekenshire, 2 O.W.N. 800, 18 O.W.R. 640.

(§ I A—10) — RESTRAINING MAYOR'S ORDERS FOR EXCLUSION FROM CITY HALL—NEWSPAPER REPORTERS.

A newspaper reporter has a right of entry into the city hall of the city in which the newspaper is carried on, both as a representative of the publishers and as a resident of the city, and the enforcement of an order given by the Mayor of the city to the city hall officials excluding newspaper reporters from the city hall will be restrained by injunction.

Journal Printing Co. v. McVeity, 21 D. L.R. 81, 33 O.L.R. 166.

(§ I A—14)—AGAINST TRANSFER OR COLLECTION OF NOTE.

The right to grant an injunction is not limited to cases in which irreparable mischief may otherwise result and in which the plaintiff could not be compensated in damages; and the transfer of a promissory note may be enjoined in an action for cancellation thereof if the court is satisfied that it is just and convenient to grant the same.

Thompson v. Baldry, 1 D.L.R. 32, 22 Man. L.R. 76, 19 W.L.R. 773, 1 W.W.R. 461.

B. CONTRACT RIGHTS; COVENANT.

(§ I B—20)—WRONGFUL DETENTION OF GAS—REMEDY FOR DAMAGES.

The right to an injunction for wrongful withholding a supply of natural gas detrimental to the rights under a contract depends upon the situation and abilities of the parties, as to their plants and connections, and a company may be enjoined from allowing such gas to be taken from a sufficient area of the lands if it still owned them; but after it had parted with the lands to others not bound by the covenant or not having notice thereof, a remedy for damages may be sufficient.

Tilbury Town Gas Co. v. Maple City Oil & Gas Co., 27 D.L.R. 199, 35 O.L.R. 186. [Affirmed, 32 D.L.R. 771.]

A contract entered into by the proprietor of a country newspaper to accept and use exclusively every week the "ready prints" furnished by a publisher may be enforced by an injunction restraining the defendant during the period covered by it from using or publishing any ready prints except those published by the plaintiff, who should not be limited to the recovery of damages for the breach of the contract. [Metropolitan Electric Co. v. Ginder, [1901] 2 Ch. 799, followed; Whitwood Chemical Co. v. Hardman, [1891] 2 Ch. 417, distinguished.]

Winnipeg Saturday Post v. Couzens, 21 Man. L.R. 562.

INTERFERENCE WITH SALE BY PLAINTIFFS OF GOODS MANUFACTURED BY DEFENDANTS—DEFAMATORY STATEMENTS — CLAIM MADE IN BAD FAITH — EVIDENCE — INTERIM INJUNCTION—SPEEDY TRIAL.

McKenzie v. Auto Strop Safety Razor Co., 17 O.W.N. 150. [Affirmed, 17 O.W.N. 375.]

NONCOMPLIANCE WITH TERMS — INTERIM INJUNCTION — MOTION TO CONTINUE — EXCLUSIVE LICENSE — BALANCE OF CONVENIENCE.

United Nickel Co. v. Dominion Nickel Co., 4 O.W.R. 480, 23 O.W.R. 619.

AS TO POSTING BILLS.

A grantee of a right to bill-sticking conceded by the lessee cannot obtain an injunction or damages from one, having obtained a similar right from the proprietor, posting on the house.

Asch v. Haney, 49 Que. S.C. 131.

CONTRACT FOR CONSTRUCTION OF RAILWAY—ENFORCEMENT—CONDITION PRECEDENT.

One who contracts with a railway company to build its railway on the condition of not being bound to begin the work until he has been assured that the company has the funds required to proceed with the work and to pay him the amounts stipulated, and who, by a subsequent writing obtains from it the admission of such a right by a writing expressed as follows: "If you should commence the execution of the works, you shall be at liberty at any time, to refuse to proceed with the works, if you are not absolutely satisfied that there are funds available for the payment of your monthly contract estimates, etc." cannot, if the company, after his refusal to proceed with the work, the said refusal being based on the above agreement, cancels the contract and declares its intention to give it to others, take an action against the company to have the contract declared in force and to obtain a permanent injunction preventing the company from giving the contract to others.

Central R. Co. v. Wills, 23 Que. K.B. 126.

CONTRACT — SUPPLY OF GAS — ORDER OF ONTARIO RAILWAY AND MUNICIPAL BOARD — POWERS OF BOARD — VALIDITY OF LEGISLATION CONSTITUTING BOARD — INTERPRETATION OF STATUTES — RETROSPECTIVE OPERATION — ORDER OF BOARD MADE WITHOUT HEARING PLAINTIFFS AS TO THEIR CONTRACT — RIGHT

TO SHUT OFF GAS IN DEFAULT OF PAYMENT OF DEMANDS — INJUNCTION — RIGHT TO MONEY PAID INTO BANK.

Dominion Sugar Co. v. Northern Pipe Line Co., 16 O.W.N. 249. [See 17 O.W.N. 95.]

(§ I B—21) — ULTRA VIRES CONTRACT OF CORPORATION.

A question of ultra vires as to a lease made of the company's entire undertaking will not ordinarily be decided upon an interlocutory application for an injunction and receiver, but will be left to be decided at the trial, where it is not plain that all the material facts which might be brought out at the trial are before the court on the interlocutory application.

Newhouse v. Northern Light, Power & Coal Co., 15 D.L.R. 249, 26 W.L.R. 532.

(§ I B—22) — CONTRACT FOR PERSONAL SERVICE.

One who contracts to give an exclusive sale agency within a specified area and for a specified time will not, where there is no express negative stipulation, be enjoined from giving others the right to sell within that area before the expiration of the specified period.

Macdonald v. Casein, 35 D.L.R. 443, 24 B.C.R. 218, [1917] 2 W.W.R. 1132.

RESTRAINT OF TRADE — AGREEMENT BETWEEN MASTER AND SERVANT—SELLING GOODS.

Lovell v. Pearson, 17 D.L.R. 856, 6 O.W.N. 357.

CONTRACT FOR PERSONAL SERVICE.

When the services of an employee are of no special or peculiar value and are of such a nature that they can readily be duplicated, relief by injunction will be denied, since the injury in such a case is not of an irreparable nature. [Pitre & L'Association Athletique d'Amateurs Nationale, 11 Que. P.R. 336, followed.]

Aird v. Birss, 14 Que. P.R. 285.

INJUNCTION — QUEBEC LAW — PERSONAL SERVICES.

Pitre v. Amateur Athletic Assn., 20 Que. K.B. 41.

(§ I B—23) — RESTRICTION UPON SERVANT'S EXERCISE OF TRADE FOR LIMITED PERIOD — TRADE SECRETS — RESTRAINT OF TRADE.

William Shannon Co. v. Crane, 25 D.L.R. 843, 9 O.W.N. 293.

(§ I B—24) — CONTRACT RIGHTS — COMPETING BUSINESS.

Canada Law Book Co. v. Butterworth (No. 2), 12 D.L.R. 143, 23 Mar. L.R. 352, 24 W.L.R. 124, 4 W.W.R. 237, reversing 9 D.L.R. 321, 23 W.L.R. 505, 3 W.W.R. 1014. [Appeal to Privy Council dismissed, 16 D.L.R. 61, 26 W.L.R. 937, 5 W.W.R. 1217.]

CONTRACT RIGHTS — COVENANT NOT TO COMPETE IN BUSINESS — MODE OF PLEADING.

An order enjoining the breach by defendant of a covenant in restraint of trade may be in general terms conforming with the restriction and need not set out specifically the acts from the doing of which it was intended to restrain; it will be left to the party enjoined to find out how to comply with its terms. [Dysart v. Hamerton, [1914] 1 Ch. 822, and Wood v. Conway, [1914] 2 Ch. 47, applied.]

Farkers Dye Works v. Smith, 20 D.L.R. 500, 32 O.L.R. 169.

CONTRACTS NOT TO ENGAGE IN OR AID COMPETING BUSINESS.

On transferring to the plaintiffs his shares in a company dealing in automobiles and their accessories, the defendant covenanted that he would not engage in, carry on, be interested in, have money invested in or hold shares in any business similar to or in competition with the business carried on by the said company in the Province of Manitoba, Saskatchewan or Alberta for a period of five years. The company had power to engage in other lines of business. Held (1) the covenant only extended to the business actually carried on by the company at the time of the signing of it and was, therefore, not too wide to be enforceable. [Maxim v. Nordenfledt, [1893] 1 Ch. 630, [1894] A.C. 535, distinguished.] 2. Extrinsic evidence might be given to show what was the business carried on by the company at the time. (3) The plaintiffs were entitled to an injunction in the terms of the covenant against the defendant who had accepted the position of manager for another company carrying on, at Winnipeg, the business of dealers in automobiles, limited to dealing in automobiles.

Kelly v. McLaughlin, 20 Man. L.R. 789.

(§ I B—26) — SCHOOL BUILDING — INJUNCTION TO RESTRAIN PAYMENT.

The expenditure of money for the erection of a school building having received the sanction of the Local Government Board and a majority of the ratepayers, and the erection of the building having been completed under a contract entered into by the trustees of the school district, and the contractors, the court has no power to restrain the trustees from proceeding to obtain, if necessary, further authority from the ratepayers to borrow and expend on the contract such further sum as may be necessary to pay the contractor the balance due him on the building.

Lawrence v. Beaver Valley School Dist., 43 D.L.R. 318, 11 S.L.R. 429, [1918] 3 W.W.R. 607, reversing, [1918] 3 W.W.R. 71.

BREACH OF COVENANT—RESTRICTION UPON USE OF LAND—ERECTOR AND OPERATION OF FOUNDRY — UNREGISTERED AGREEMENT — PURCHASER FOR VALUE WITHOUT NOTICE — TECHNICAL AND OBSCURE RESTRICTION—STATUS OF PLAINTIFF TO INVOKE RESTRICTION — NO DAMAGE OR LIKELIHOOD OF DAMAGE SHOWN. Cowan v. Ferguson, 14 O.W.N. 303. [Affirmed, 48 D.L.R. 616, 45 O.L.R. 161.]

(§ I B-27) — RESTRAINING PROCEEDING WITH BUILDING CONTRACT, AFTER CANCELLATION.

As the owner may, at will, resiliate a contract for construction of a building the contractor who continues the work after notice of resiliation will be stopped by injunction.

Ettenberg v. Desroches, 13 Que. P.R. 279.

C. TRANSFER OR DISPOSITION OF PROPERTY.

(§ I C-30) — INTERIM INJUNCTION RESTRAINING DEFENDANTS FROM SELLING MORTGAGED LANDS, UNTIL THE TRIAL OF THE ACTION GRANTED ON TERMS.

Carson v. Middlesex Mills Co., 16 O.W.N. 144.

SALE — RACE TRACK — C.C. ARTS. 406, 414, 2016, 2053, 2054, 2055.

A vendor of real property cannot compel the purchaser, by way of injunction, to cease carrying on a race-track which is on the sold property even when the purchaser has not complied with the conditions of the deed of sale.

Paradis v. Wharton Co., 55 Que. S.C. 353.

(§ I C-31) — SUPPLEMENTARY TO RECEIVERSHIP.

The executors are not necessary parties to a motion to continue an injunction restraining a judgment debtor legatee from dealing with his legacy and appointing a judgment creditor receiver thereof.

Gilroy v. Conn., 1 D.L.R. 580, 3 O.W.N. 899, 21 O.W.R. 526.

As shares of stock may be easily lost to judgment creditors, the court will, as an exercise of discretion, grant an interlocutory injunction restraining their transfer by one to whom it was alleged they were fraudulently transferred, notwithstanding it did not appear on the application that there was imminent danger that they would be transferred and lost to the judgment creditor if the writ were denied. Upon an application by a judgment creditor for an interlocutory injunction to prevent the disposal of shares of stock by the wife of the judgment debtor, to whom it is alleged the latter transferred them in his lifetime with intent to defraud his creditors, the judgment debtor's examination in the suit in which the judgment was rendered cannot be considered.

Toronto Carpet Co. v. Wright, 3 D.L.R. 725, 22 Man. L.R. 294, 21 W.L.R. 304.

(§ I C-32) — BETWEEN HUSBAND AND WIFE.

An injunction is improperly granted to restrain a debtor and his wife from using or in any way transferring certain funds placed to the credit of the wife upon the mere ground that such funds had been and still were the property of the husband but had been deposited in the wife's name in the absence of any allegation that the money had been given to the wife and that the same was fraudulent and void as to creditors.

Can. Dig.—76.

Albertson v. Secord, 1 D.L.R. 804, 4 A.L.R. 90, 20 W.L.R. 64, 1 W.W.R. 657.

D. ILLEGAL OR TORTIOUS ACTS; CRIMES.

Ice falling from roof, sufficient remedy for damages, see Negligence, I C-37.

(§ I D-37) — PUBLICATION OF CONFIDENTIAL INFORMATION — IMPLIED CONTRACT UNDER WHICH HISTORICAL DATA OBTAINED.

Where an author is given access to and permission to make extracts from a collection of private documents of historic interest as to the life of a deceased public man by one of his descendants for the purpose of obtaining information for use in preparing under contract with a publisher, a biographical sketch to be included in a series of appreciative biographies of public men as indicated by the title given in advance to the series, it is an implied term of the arrangement between the public man's descendant and the author that the latter should not make use of the documents for any other purpose; and where the article written was adverse in view and was in consequence rejected by the publisher the author may be restrained from publishing the extracts and may be ordered to deliver them up to the plaintiff on its being shewn that he had threatened to use them in breach of the implied condition upon which he had obtained them.

Lindsey v. Le Sneur, 15 D.L.R. 809, 29 O.L.R. 648, affirming 11 D.L.R. 411, 27 O.L.R. 588.

E. TAKING OF INJURY TO, OR TRESPASS UPON, REAL PROPERTY.

(§ I E-40) — TRESPASS TO REAL PROPERTY — ADEQUACY OF LEGAL REMEDY.

An injunction will not be granted to prevent the erection of a building alleged to encroach on the plaintiff's land, if his remedy by an action for damages is adequate.

Douglass v. Bullen, 12 D.L.R. 652, 4 O.W.N. 1587, 24 O.W.R. 890. [See 3 D.L.R. 898, 3 O.W.N. 1619.]

An injunction will not be continued against a landlord for trespass on the demised premises where the plaintiff has not made out a case of actual damage, present or future, there being a sufficient remedy in an action for damages if any were sustained.

Taylor v. Pelof, 1 D.L.R. 212, 3 O.W.N. 571, 20 O.W.R. 927.

(§ I E-42) — An action by a lessor for an injunction restraining a lessee from using the land demised in a manner contrary to the lease, may be maintained as an independent action, without the addition of a prayer for the cancellation of the lease, [McArthur v. Coupal, 16 Que. S.C. 521, distinguished, and dictum therein disapproved.]

Audet v. Jolicoeur, 5 D.L.R. 68, 22 Que. K.B. 35.

INJURY TO REAL PROPERTY — RIGHT OF LANDLORD TO RESTRAIN TENANT — INJURY TO REVERSION.

The removal of sand from a water lot by a lessee will be enjoined, where it amounts to an injury to the reversion, and the lessee's covenants restrict his use of the demised premises except as a mooring place for vessels and obtaining access to a clubhouse by the construction of wharves and approaches.

Toronto Harbour Commissioners v. Royal Canadian Yacht Club, 15 D.L.R. 106, 29 O. L.R. 391.

ALLEGED OBSTRUCTION AND NUISANCE — INJUNCTION RESTRAINING — FORFEITURE OF LEASE.

Appelbe v. Douglas, 4 O.W.N. 389, 23 O.W.R. 396.

(§ I E—43) — TRESPASS — STATUTORY RIGHT.

Damages are not assessable in a trespass action where the defendants have by statute a right to do legally (on complying with certain prerequisites) the very thing which constitutes the trespass. The proper course is by injunction restraining the defendants from continuing the trespass unless they acquire title and proceed to have the compensation or damages determined under the provisions of the Railway Act, within a reasonable time.

Holmsted v. C.N.R. Co., 22 D.L.R. 55, 21 W.L.R. 896, 19 Can. Ry. Cas. 105, varying 20 D.L.R. 577.

COMMISSION OF TRESPASS OR WASTE.

In an ordinary case of trespass where there is an adequate legal remedy in the nature of damages, an injunction will only be granted by a Court of Equity when special circumstances are shown.

Godard v. Godard, 4 N.B. Eq. 268.

PRIVATE WAY — LANE — TRESPASS — EVIDENCE—INJUNCTION.

White v. Anderson, 6 O.W.N. 144.

SUBDIVISION OF LAND ACCORDING TO REGISTERED PLAN — STREETS SHOWN ON PLAN BUT NOT OPENED ON GROUND — PURCHASE OF BLOCKS ACCORDING TO PLAN—RIGHT OF ONE PURCHASER TO RESTRAIN ANOTHER FROM PLOUGHING LANDS SHOWN AS STREETS — SPECIAL AND PECULIAR DAMAGE — COSTS.

Bragg v. Oram, 16 O.W.N. 222.

(§ I E—44)—WRONGFUL SEIZURE OF GOODS INJUNCTION AGAINST.

An injunction will not be granted to restrain a person from seizing, or from keeping possession of, or from selling, or from advertising for sale, a carriage and three cows claimed by the plaintiff, where he has a full, complete and adequate remedy at law in replevin or in an action for damages. [Moren v. Shelburne Lumber Co., Russell's Equity Decisions, N.S. 134, applied.]

Prairie Stock Farm Co. v. McFatrige, 2 D.L.R. 749, 11 E.L.R. 514.

INTERIM ORDER — JUDICATURE ACT, S. 58 (9), JUST AND CONVENIENT — LANDLORD AND TENANT—DISTRESS FOR RENT —INJUNCTION AGAINST—GROUNDS FOR —REMEDY BY REPLEVIN—RENT NOT PAYABLE AT A TIME CERTAIN.

Neal v. Rogers, 22 O.L.R. 588.

(§ I E—46) — UNLAWFUL ERECTION OF BUILDING—ESSENTIALS NECESSARY TO OBTAIN INJUNCTION — MUNICIPAL BY-LAW.

In order to obtain an injunction, on the quia timet principle, the plaintiff must prove imminent danger of a substantial kind, or that the apprehended injury (if it does come) will be irreparable, and affidavits that a building: (1) is erected in defiance of a municipal by-law, and (2) amounts to a menace to the public, are insufficient to support such an application. [Fletcher v. Bealey, L.R. 28 Ch. D. 688, followed.]

Oak Bay v. Gardner, 17 D.L.R. 802, 19 B.C.R. 391, 27 W.L.R. 960, 6 W.W.R. 1923.

INJURY TO REALTY—INTERFERING WITH PARTY WALL.

An application by a realty owner for an injunction against an adjoining owner interfering by additional construction work with a party wall already erected and maintained between the two properties, will be refused where no real danger from such additional work is shown and where the expense of protecting the applicant without restraining the proposed interference would be trifling with the inconvenience, cost and delay which an injunction would occasion, especially where the application is dilatory.

Monadnock Realty Co. v. Quebec Bank, 18 D.L.R. 250, 24 Man. L.R. 763, 28 W.L.R. 339.

ERECTION OF BUILDING OR OTHER STRUCTURE —TRESPASS—BOUNDARY.

Douglas v. Bullen, 3 D.L.R. 898, 3 O.W.N. 1619, 22 O.W.R. 837.

(§ I E—47)—EXTRACTION OF GAS, PETROLEUM OR OTHER MATERIALS — MINING RIGHTS — MANDAMUS.

Curry v. Wettlaufer, 3 D.L.R. 909, 3 O.W.N. 1641.

(§ I E—48)—RIGHT TO REMEDY—DAMAGES AND INJUNCTION—ENCROACHMENT.

Peterson v. Bitulithic & Contracting Co. (No. 2), 12 D.L.R. 444, 23 Man. L.R. 136, 24 W.L.R. 19, 4 W.W.R. 223, reversing 7 D.L.R. 586, 23 Man. L.R. 136, 22 W.L.R. 398, 3 W.W.R. 377.

MUNICIPAL CORPORATIONS — INTERFERENCE BY TOWNSHIP CORPORATION WITH PRIVATE WAY — DAMAGES—INJUNCTION—COSTS.

Hosetter v. Grantham, 17 O.W.N. 218.

F. WATER RIGHTS.

(§ I F—56)—VENDOR AND PURCHASER—AGREEMENT FOR SALE OF LAND—AGREEMENT NOT EXECUTED BY CO-OWNER, WIFE OF VENDOR—PURCHASER GOING INTO POSSESSION OF PART OF PREMISES—SHUTTING OFF SUPPLY OF GAS AND WATER—INJUNCTION—PAYMENT FOR ARTICLES USED.

MacGillivray v. Davis, 16 O.W.N. 366.

(§ I F—58)—POLLUTION.

The owner of land on the bank of a river can maintain an action to restrain the fouling of the water by municipal drainage works without shewing that the fouling is actually injurious to him, if it appears that there is a probability that in summer the stream would thereby be made dangerous to health. [Crossley v. Lightowler, L.R. 2 Ch. 478, and Young v. Bankier, [1893] A.C. 691, applied.]

Crowthier v. Cabaug, 1 D.L.R. 40, 3 O.W.N. 490, 20 O.W.R. 844.

RESTRAINING POLLUTION OF STREAM—DELAY TO MAKE CHANGES IN MINING CONCENTRATOR PLANT.

On decreeing a permanent injunction in favour of riparian owners against the pollution of the stream by a mining company in the working of its concentration plant, a reasonable stay of the injunction may be granted to enable defendants to make alterations to their works to obviate the damage to riparian rights.

Nipisiquit Co. v. Canadian Iron Corp., 14 D.L.R. 752, 42 N.B.R. 287.

Not only will damages be awarded for past injuries, but an injunction will be granted to restrain the defendant from dumping debris from a quarry upon a steep declivity on land owned by or under his control, from which earth was washed into a mill pond owned by the plaintiff, which not only fouled the waters thereof but threatened as well to fill the pond itself, notwithstanding it did not appear that the plaintiff had title, either by deed or right of possession, to the bank of the pond at the place where such debris washed into it.

Fisher v. Doolittle, 5 D.L.R. 549, 3 O.W.N. 1417, 22 O.W.R. 445.

RESTRAINING DISCHARGE OF WATER AND OIL UPON PLAINTIFF'S LANDS—DAMAGES.

Bell v. Superior Portland Cement Co., 19 O.W.R. 941, 2 O.W.N. 1513.

(§ I F—59)—STREAMS—OBSTRUCTIONS—TIGHTENING DAM—INCREASED FLOODING OF LAND.

Where, for many years, a 7-foot water level was maintained by a dam only during spring freshets and late in the fall and winter, the maintenance, by tightening the dam, of water at such level during the entire year, in the absence of a prescriptive right, will be enjoined so as to prevent the flooding of the land of the plaintiff during the summer months.

Cardwell v. Breckenridge, 11 D.L.R. 461, 4 O.V.N. 1293, 24 O.W.R. 569.

DEFECTIVE DRAINAGE.

The provisions of s. 166 of the Railway Act (B.C.) 1911, c. 44, authorizing the Minister of Railways to make orders in cases of defective drainage, do not deprive the courts of jurisdiction in a proper case to grant an injunction.

McCrimmon v. B.C. Electric R. Co., 24 D.L.R. 368, 19 Can. Ry. Cas. 329, 22 B.C.R. 76, 32 W.L.R. 81, 8 W.W.R. 1289, affirming 20 D.L.R. 834, 7 W.W.R. 137.

OBSTRUCTIONS.

Riparian owners have a right of action to compel the removal of a dam which seriously interferes with their riparian rights and to compel the restoration of the former status in quo so that the waters may escape from the lake at their natural level, and this without prejudice to their claim for damages.

Marbleton v. Ruel, 1 D.L.R. 624, 21 Que. K.R. 434.

RAILWAY CONSTRUCTION—OBSTRUCTION OF WATERWAYS—INJURY TO BUSINESS OF EXPRESS COMPANY—REMEDY IN DAMAGES.

The plaintiff company applied in Chambers for a mandatory injunction to compel the defendant company to cease obstructing certain rivers, and to remove a temporary bridge built by it across a river, and to make openings in 2 permanent steel bridges crossing a river constructed by it under statutory authority:—Held, upon the evidence, that all the requirements of the Railway Act of Canada had been complied with, and that the Public Works Department of Canada had sanctioned the temporary obstruction of these streams. That the plaintiff company was not obstructed in its navigation of the streams, nor was its business jeopardized thereby. The interim injunction was refused; the plaintiff company having a remedy in damages if its business should be injured by the operations of the defendant company.

B. C. Express Co. v. G. T. P. R. Co., 20 B.C.R. 215, 18 W.L.R. 460.

G. AS TO CORPORATE MATTERS; ASSOCIATIONS.

To restrain invalid issue of school debentures, see Schools, IV—70.

(§ I G—60)—AS TO CORPORATE MATTERS.

An injunction should not be granted to restrain the president of the board of directors of a church corporation from proceeding with a sale of pews to the church members, where plaintiffs set up as a ground for the injunction that two-thirds of the members are opposed to the proposed sale, but where the constitution of the church corporation is not being infringed by the defendant officer.

Gold v. Maldaver, 6 D.L.R. 333, 4 O.W.N. 106, 23 O.W.R. 75.

DIVERSION OF PROPERTY OF VOLUNTARY ASSOCIATION.

Injunction lies to prevent the diverting of the property of a voluntary society by a majority of the members thereof to uses alien to and in conflict with the fundamental principles of the society, contrary to the wishes of the minority, who contributed toward its acquisition.

Vick v. Toivonen, 12 D.L.R. 299, 4 O.W.N. 1542, 24 O.W.R. 802.

ULTRA VIRES ACT OF MUNICIPALITY—CARRYING ON MOVING PICTURE BUSINESS—INTEREST OF RATEPAYERS.

An injunction will be granted at the instance of a ratepayer having a special interest as a competitor in the moving picture business, who sues on behalf of himself and all other ratepayers, to restrain a municipal corporation from carrying on a moving picture business in the township hall under the guise of a lease to the township's agent made with the intention of evading the law; and the action may be maintained without first quashing the township by-law under which the illegal lease purported to be made.

Crichton v. Chappleau, 22 D.L.R. 796, 8 O.W.N. 67.

INTERNAL MANAGEMENT OF ASSOCIATION—MEDICAL COLLEGES—ELECTION OF COUNCIL—VALIDITY—PARTIES—STATUTORY REMEDY—MEDICAL PROFESSION ACT, c. 28.

Park v. MacDonald, 25 D.L.R. 792, 8 W.W.R. 431.

MUNICIPAL MATTERS—ULTRA VIRES ACTS—INTEREST OF RATEPAYER.

The fact that a complaining ratepayer is the agent of a rival company, and that he would receive a commission if his company gets the contract, is too remote an interest to entitle him to an injunction against a municipality to prevent its execution of a contract ultra vires.

Dubuc v. Montreal & Aztec Oil, etc., Co., 48 Que. S.C. 366.

A resolution to sell part of the assets of a company passed by the directors and to be confirmed at a meeting of the shareholders will not be suspended by an interlocutory injunction, the petitioner having an action at common law to rescind the same. The courts of justice should not interfere by interlocutory injunction with the internal management of a joint stock company acting within its powers.

Eldredge v. Calumet Metals Co., 14 Que. P.R. 260.

WAR RELIEF ACT—INJUNCTION RESTRAINING DEFENDANT FROM DEALING WITH FUNDS OF UNION—ACT NOT APPLICABLE.

Hunt v. Royal Bank, [1919] 2 W.W.R. 547.

RESTRAINING PUBLIC CORPORATION FROM PERFORMING PUBLIC WORK.

Maisonneuve v. Harbour Commissioners of Montreal, 39 Que. S.C. 36.

(§ 1 G—61)—LOCAL OPTION BY-LAW—SUBMISSION OF—INJUNCTION TO RESTRAIN.

Where an injunction is sought by a ratepayer to restrain the submission of a local option by-law on the ground of a defective affidavit of execution of the petition for the by-law, he must shew something more than the incidental and comparatively trifling expense by the municipality for taking a public vote to establish his individual status to sue in a matter affecting the public generally—where no special damage to himself more than to other citizens is shown. [Shrimpton v. Winnipeg, 13 Man. L.R. 219, and Davis v. Winnipeg, 17 D.L.R. 406, 24 Man. L.R. 480, followed.]

Stephenson v. Cowan, 20 D.L.R. 605, 25 Man. L.R. 67, 30 W.L.R. 297, 7 W.W.R. 772.

JURISDICTION TO DEAL WITH ACTS OF THE CORPORATION—CONDITIONS PRECEDENT TO THE SALE OF MUNICIPAL PROPERTY UNDER 1 GEO. V. 95, s. 10.

Parsons v. London, 25 O.L.R. 172, 19 O.W.R. 878.

ACTION TO RESTRAIN MUNICIPALITY FROM INTERFERING WITH ERECTION OF POLES AND TRANSMISSION WIRES AND FOR DAMAGES—CONDITION PRECEDENT TO BEGINNING CONSTRUCTION.

Toronto & Niagara Power Co. v. North Toronto, 3 O.W.N. 77, 20 O.W.R. 57.

(§ 1 G—62)—ILLEGAL RESOLUTIONS.

In an action to restrain a company from acting upon a resolution said to have been illegally passed at a shareholders' meeting, it need not be shewn that application was first made to the company to begin proceedings, if it appear that such an application would have been futile.

Elliot v. Hatzic Prairie, 6 D.L.R. 9, 21 W.L.R. 897.

(§ 1 G—64)—FINANCIAL INSTITUTIONS—BANKS.

The Courts of Justice should interfere with the business of a financial institution only for the most weighty reasons; an injunction which would suspend the business of a bank should not be granted on the sole ground of apprehension of a call on the shareholders to make payments on their stock unless there are specific allegations of fraud or bad management.

Ducout v. Forget, 14 Que. P.R. 42.

H. AS TO OFFICE: ELECTIONS.

(§ 1 H—65)—RETURN OF ELECTION MADE BY RETURNING OFFICER—INJUNCTION—BREACH OF, BY AGENT OF DEFENDANT—CONTEMPT.

Davis v. Barlow, 20 Man. L.R. 158.

I. AGAINST LEGAL PROCEEDINGS.

(§ 1 I—70)—POLICE-COURT PROCEEDINGS—INFRACTION OF CITY BY-LAW—MOTOR VEHICLES—LEGISLATION ALLOWING CITY TO PROHIBIT USE OF—APPLICATION TO STAY PENDING DETERMINATION OF VALIDITY OF ACT—B. C. STATS. 1918, c. 104, s. 7.

Before an injunction will be granted to restrain police-court proceedings for infraction of a city by-law until the validity of the legislation upon which it is founded, and the municipal enactment is first finally determined, it is necessary that the court should be satisfied that there is a serious question to be tried at the hearing, and that on the facts before it there is a probability that the plaintiffs are entitled to relief. Public bodies invested with statutory powers must take care to keep within the limits of the authority committed to them, and in carrying out their powers must act in good faith and reasonably and with some regard to the interest of those who may suffer for the good of the community.

Blue Funnel Motor Line v. Vancouver, 26 B.C.R. 142.

(§ I J—75)—RESTRAINING ACTION.

Fundamentally, as well as under s. 57, subs. 9, of the Judicature Act (Ont.), the law is that no cause pending in the High Court of Justice or before the Court of Appeal shall be restrained by a prohibition or injunction, but that the remedy, if any, must be by an application for a stay in the original action. Where in contravention of s. 57 subs. 9 a motion in a new action is made for an injunction against a judgment in a prior action between the same parties seeking the identical remedy already sought and refused in the original action, the court in dismissing the motion for injunction may broaden it into a motion for judgment and also dismiss the substantive action, where its decision of the injunction motion in effect disposes of the whole action.

Boeck v. Gowganda-Queen Mines, 6 D.L.R. 292, 4 O.W.N. 27, 23 O.W.R. 4.

(§ I J—78)—CONDEMNATION PROCEEDINGS.

Where an order appointing an arbitrator for the purpose of assessing compensation under the Victoria Water Works Act has been made by a Judge of the Supreme Court, an interim injunction to restrain such arbitration will not be granted upon the motion of the municipality in the absence of evidence that the municipality is likely to suffer damages if the arbitration proceeds.

Healey v. Victoria, 5 D.L.R. 704, 17 B.C.R. 345, 21 W.L.R. 966.

RESTRAINING SHERIFF FROM SELLING UNDER EXECUTION — INTERPLEADER ISSUE TO DETERMINE OWNERSHIP OF GOODS.

Nipping Coca Cola Bottling Works v. Wisse, 2 O.W.N. 677, 18 O.W.R. 270.

JUDGMENT CREDITORS' RIGHTS—DIFFERENCE BETWEEN LEGAL AND EQUITABLE INTEREST.

The courts will not enlarge a judgment creditor's rights, nor by way of an injunction motion will they assist him in reaching property of the judgment debtor which is not liable to execution.

Reilly v. Doucette, 2 O.W.N. 1053, 18 O.W.R. 51.

An action for an injunction restraining a board of education from proceeding with an arbitration under the School Sites Act, 9 Edw. VII. (Ont.) c. 93, to fix the value of lands desired by the board for a school site, and from taking possession of the lands, and for a declaration that the board has no right to arbitrate and that the arbitration and award are irregular and void, and to set aside the award, is not maintainable in the High Court of Justice, but such relief can be obtained only upon a summary application to the County Judge under s. 20 of the Act.

Sandwich Land Improvement Co. v. Windsor Board of Education, 3 D.L.R. 423. [Affirmed, 6 D.L.R. 854, 4 O.W.N. 112.]

CONDEMNATION PROCEEDINGS—RESTRAINING APPLICATION TO GOVERNOR-IN-COUNCIL FOR LEAVE TO EXPROPRIATE LAND.

The court will not enjoin a proposed application by a company to the Governor-in-council for permission to expropriate land or an easement for the purposes of its business, as permitted by its charter, c. 113 of N.S. Acts, 1911, on the ground that the property sought was not such as could be acquired by expropriation, because affected with public rights, or rights already acquired by others under statutory grants; since the Court cannot assume in advance that the Governor-in-council will exceed his jurisdiction or act illegally and grant permission to take land not subject to expropriation.

Miller v. Halifax Power Co.; Thompson v. Halifax Power Co., 13 D.L.R. 844, 47 N.S.R. 334, 13 E.L.R. 394.

SALE OF LANDS TO WATER COMMISSIONERS—DISAGREEMENT AS TO PRICE—EMINENT DOMAIN.

Gerry v. London Water Commissioners, 19 O.W.R. 64, 2 O.W.N. 1016.

J. AGAINST OFFICERS GENERALLY.

To restrain illegal exercise of municipal powers, see Municipal Corporations, II F—165.

(§ I J—80)—An injunction will lie to restrain a municipality from proceeding to confiscate and destroy articles (e.g., eggs) which have been neither inspected nor seized.

Montreal v. Layton, 1 D.L.R. 160. [Affirmed, 10 D.L.R. 852, 47 Can. S.C.R. 514.]

JUDICIAL INVESTIGATION—SCHOOL BOARD—CONTRACTS.

Section 214, Vancouver Incorporation Act is wide enough to enable the city council to request by resolution a Judge of the Supreme Court to enquire into contracts which had been entered into by the School Board. Such an enquiry is not a judicial process, and, therefore, even if the above section were not wide enough to support it, the court would not restrain it by injunction.

Vancouver School Trustees v. Vancouver 10 W.W.R. 1330.

(§ I J—83)—AS TO ORDINANCES—BY LAWS.

Injunction will not lie to prevent the passing of a town by-law after it had been carried by a majority of the rate-payers when there is an appropriate remedy in a motion to quash the by-law.

London v. Newmarket, 2 D.L.R. 244, 3 O.W.N. 565, 20 O.W.R. 929.

Upon an application by a person (not in the name of the Atty-Gen.) for an injunction, restraining a city corporation from passing a certain twice-read by-law respecting an agreement between the defendant city and a certain railway company, renting to it, for 99 years at a nominal rental, a valuable portion of a city park, for hotel purposes, and granting a partial exemption from taxation, and thereby in effect bonusing the company in contravention of ss. 185 and 210 to 240 of the City Act, c. 84, R.S.S., the application for the injunction will be refused, in view of s. 242 of the Act, which expressly provides a method available to any elector of the city, to apply to the court within 2 months after the passing of any ultra vires by-law to quash the same.

Keay v. Regina, 6 D.L.R. 327, 5 S.L.R. 372, 22 W.L.R. 185, 2 W.W.R. 1972.

MUNICIPAL CORPORATION—SUBMISSION OF QUESTION TO VOTE OF ELECTORS—MUNICIPAL ACT, s. 398(10)—PROCEEDING PREVIOUSLY DETERMINED TO BE ILLEGAL—MOTION FOR JUDGMENT.

Gaulin v. Ottawa, 6 O.W.N. 38.

(§ 1 J—84)—MUNICIPAL EXPENDITURES—USE OF PUBLIC FUNDS.

A municipal council may be enjoined from acting upon a resolution passed for the making of expenditures which could be legally made only on the passing of a by-law voted upon and passed by the burgesses.

Howson v. Medicine Hat; Yuill v. Medicine Hat, 22 D.L.R. 72, 30 W.L.R. 319.

AS TO USE OF MUNICIPAL FUNDS—ADVERTISEMENT—TAX SALE.

Dickson v. Edmonton, 34 D.L.R. 183, 10 A.L.R. 525, [1917] 1 W.W.R. 1489.

ILLEGAL SCHOOL BUILDING CONTRACT.

In case of noncompliance with statutory requirements a permanent injunction may issue against the school commissioners restraining them from commencing the work of building so long as they have not received the approval required by statute.

Desjardins v. School Commissioners of Maisonneuve, 51 Que. S.C. 450.

(§ 1 J—85)—SCHOOL OFFICERS.

An injunction will be granted restraining the trustees of a school district from preventing the child, of a parent whose permanent and principal place of residence is within the school district, from attending the school without the payment of a fee chargeable only against "non-resident" pupils.

Inkster v. Minitonka School District, 6 D.L.R. 57, 22 Man. L.R. 487, 22 W.L.R. 57.

(§ 1 J—88)—PROHIBITION BY-LAW—CONSTITUTIONALITY.

An interlocutory injunction will be granted suspending the bringing into force of a prohibition by-law attacked as unconstitutional, the petition making it appear that there would be more inconvenience to the petitioner if the by-law was put in force than for the respondent if it was suspended. The injunction, however, will not prevent the holding of the meeting of the electors summoned to approve or disapprove the by-law.

Gingras v. Longueuil, 17 Que. P.R. 352.

K. AGAINST TAXES OR ASSESSMENTS.

Illegal tax, remedy by appeal, see Taxes, III D-135.

(§ 1 K—90)—WRONGFUL SEIZURE FOR TAXES—REMEDY FOR DAMAGES.

The court will not continue an interim injunction restraining the seizure for taxes of property claimed by another where there is an adequate remedy at law. [Dominion Express Co. v. Brandon, 19 Man. L.R. 257, followed.]

Smart Hardware & Contracting Co. v. Melfort, 24 D.L.R. 540, 32 W.L.R. 382, 9 W.W.R. 134.

In an action for a declaration that the school district was not properly incorporated, that the trustee defendants were not legally elected and that the rate struck and assessment made by them were illegal, held that the plaintiff was entitled to an injunction restraining the district from levying against his property the taxes payable under the rate and by reason of the fact that the trustees had acted in bad faith to a personal judgment against the trustees for amount of his taxes paid by him into court in the action with his costs; but that the secretary-treasurer, having signed the warrant in his official capacity, was not by reason thereof personally liable.

Muirhead v. Bullhead Butte S.D., 4 A.L.R. 12.

ILLEGAL MUNICIPAL ASSESSMENTS.

When a municipal council illegally contracts obligations without power or in excess of its powers, the rate payers cannot be compelled to pay the resulting debts on the sole ground that they are accomplished facts. They are entitled to an injunction to have the illegality stopped.

St. Jerome Power & Electric Lighting Co. v. St. Jerome, 26 Que. K.B. 534.

RESTRAINING SEIZURE OF COMPANY'S PLANT FOR TAXES—PAYMENT INTO COURT.

Ontario & Minnesota Power Co. v. Fort Frances, 18 O.W.R. 514.

L. AS TO PARKS, HIGHWAYS AND RAILROADS.

(I L—100)—ROAD BUILDING—BENEFIT TO PUBLIC—QUE. C.P. 957—3 GEO. V. c. 21—4 GEO. V. 19.

If, by ordering the installation, on a lot opposite that of the petitioner, of a stone-crusher used for building public roads, a corporation acts within its discretionary and administrative powers, the resolution passed to that effect can be set aside only if it constitutes a real oppression of the petitioner.

La Palme v. St. Basile Le Grand, 16 Que. P.R. 84.

(§ 1 L—104)—AS TO HIGHWAYS—TELEPHONE AND ELECTRIC POLES—LOWERING WIRE TO INTERFERE WITH THOSE OF COMPETITOR.

An electric company will be restrained from arbitrarily and unreasonably lowering its wires for the sole purpose of compelling a competitor which otherwise could string its wires below the first company's wires and still leave a clear space of 3 feet as required by s. 6 of c. 130 of N.S. Acts of 1889, and had begun operations accordingly, to rearrange its entire plan and go above the first company's wires.

Att'y Gen'l and Truro v. Chambers Electric Light & Power Co., 14 D.L.R. 883, 13 E.L.R. 443.

TELEPHONES AND ELECTRIC LIGHT POLES.

Where a public service corporation proceeds with its undertaking without complying with the statutory requisites as to its use of the highway, it is deemed a trespasser upon the highway and may be enjoined from further continuance of such trespass.

Haldimand v. Bell Tel. Co., 2 D.L.R. 197, 25 O.L.R. 467, 21 O.W.R. 194.

(§ 1 L—107)—STREET RAILWAY—INJURY TO ADJOINING OWNER—RESTRICTING ACCESS.

A property owner on the street affected who would sustain special damage because of restricted access to his property if an electric railway line were extended along the adjoining street, may sue the railway company to restrain the construction, although authorized by the municipality, if no permission has been obtained from the Ontario Railway and Municipal Board by the company subject to its authority under the Ontario Railway Act, 3 & 4 Geo. V. c. 36, s. 250.

Mitchell v. Sandwich, Windsor, etc., R. Co., 22 D.L.R. 531, 32 O.L.R. 594, 19 Can. Ry. Cas. 300.

(§ 1 L—109)—AS TO RAILWAY TRACKS—CONSTRUCTION BY DOMINION RAILWAY ON RIGHT-OF-WAY OF PROVINCIAL RAILWAY.

A Dominion railway company will not be enjoined from expropriating and building tracks on a right-of-way acquired by a provincial railway company, where the latter has not yet utilized it for railway purposes; the rights of a Dominion railway company being in such case superior to those of the provincial company.

Can. Northern Western R. Co. v. C.P.R. Co., 13 D.L.R. 624, 6 A.L.R. 147, 25 W.L.R. 212, 5 W.W.R. 9.

RIGHT OF CITY TO QUESTION POWER OF RAILWAY COMPANY.

An injunction will be denied a city to enjoin the operation of an electric railway on the ground that the company has no power to do so by reason of an irregularity in the proceedings of the municipality purporting to confer the franchise on the company, where it does not appear that the railway is a nuisance, or that the city suffered special damages from its operation, although it crossed some public streets under an order made by the Dominion Railway Board.

Burnaby v. B.C. Electric R. Co., 12 D.L.R. 321, 3 W.W.R. 628.

M. AS TO PATENTS, COPYRIGHTS, TRADE-MARKS, TRADE NAMES AND IMITATIONS.

To restrain use of corporate name or trade name, see Companies, I D—15.

(§ 1 M—116)—SUFFICIENT REMEDY—DAMAGES.

The court will not issue an injunction when the mischief complained of can be fully and adequately compensated by a pecuniary sum, or where the granting of the injunction would not do the petitioner any practical good.

Marconi Wireless Telegraph Co. v. Canadian Car & Foundry Co., 43 D.L.R. 382, 54 Que. S.C. 535. [See 44 D.L.R. 378, 18 Can. Ex. 241.]

(§ 1 M—117)—TO PREVENT NOTICE OR CLAIM OF INFRINGEMENT.

The fact that a foreign corporation has written letters from its head office in the foreign country addressed to and received by merchants in Ontario, threatening actions for damages for infringement of its Canadian trademark in respect of sales of goods of plaintiff's manufacture bearing a similar name, does not alone bring the foreign corporation within the jurisdiction of an Ontario Court for the purposes of plaintiff's action for an injunction to restrain the continuance of such notices; nor will the jurisdiction attach in respect of such injunction action from the additional circumstances that the foreign corporation, while not maintaining any branch in Ontario, transacts business in the province in respect of which an order for service out of Ontario would be permissible under Ont. Con. R. 162 in an action relating to such business.

Capital Mfg. Co. v. Buffalo Specialty Co., 1 D.L.R. 260, 3 O.W.N. 553, 20 O.W.R. 920.

(§ 1 M—118)—COPYRIGHT.

An injunction will be granted to protect a copyright and to restrain infringement although in the infringing work the protected literary matter has been inseparably mixed up with the defendant's own compilation so that the injunction will have the indirect effect of restraining the publication of both. [Mawman v. Tegg, 2 Russ. 385, followed.]

Cartwright v. Wharton, 1 D.L.R. 392, 25 O.L.R. 357.

INTERIM INJUNCTION—INFRINGEMENT OF COPYRIGHT—DAMAGES—COSTS.

Hawkes v. Whaley Royce, 4 O.W.N. 394, 23 O.W.R. 404.

(§ I M—119)—WHEN GRANTED—TRADE-MARK INFRINGEMENT.

Further infringement of a trademark registered in Canada may be restrained by the Exchequer Court of Canada in a decree awarding damages for past infringement, where both remedies are claimed on the pleadings.

Canadian Rubber Co. v. Columbus Rubber Co., 14 D.L.R. 453, 14 Can. Ex. 286.

TRADEMARK.

When a company incorporated under the name of "H. Vineberg & Co. Limited," owns a registered trademark, consisting of the words "Progress Brand," and another company, subsequently incorporated under the name "Vinebergs Limited," publish advertisements under the heading, "Progress Proclaimed," such advertisements amount to a dishonest attempt to get possession of part of the first company's business, and an injunction will lie to restrain the offending company from advertising in that form.

H. Vineberg & Co. Ltd. v. Vinebergs, Ltd., 43 Que. S.C. 406.

(§ I M—121)—PROTECTION OF TRADENAME—DESCRIPTIVE TERM—UNFAIR USE OF.

The use by a clothes cleaning establishment of the descriptive terms "Fort Rouge Cleaners," with the last word prominently displayed in the form of an inverted crescent and the first two in smaller type will be enjoined as a wrongful imitation of the tradename "The Cleaners," previously adopted by a competitor, with the word "The" in small letters and the word "Cleaners" prominently displayed in the peculiar form adopted by the defendant, where the defendant's use of such name results in confusion between the two establishments so as to mislead a number of the plaintiff's customers.

Matthews v. Omansky, 14 D.L.R. 168, 24 Man. L.R. 85, 25 W.L.R. 603, 5 W.W.R. 382.

PROTECTION OF TRADENAME BY INJUNCTION—ATTEMPT TO "PASS OFF."

The use of the word "My New Valet" as a tradename is properly enjoined as an attempt to pass off the business of the user as the business of one who has for many years used the words "My Valet" as a tradename in the same city, where the latter's customers are shown to have been frequently misled by the similarity of name and it is found that the defendant attempted to trade unfairly and to represent his business as identical with the plaintiff's.

"My Valet" v. Winters, 13 D.L.R. 583, 29 O.L.R., affirming 9 D.L.R. 306, 27 O.L.R. 286.

TRADENAME — INFRINGEMENT — SOLICITING CUSTOMERS — INFORMATION OBTAINED BY FORMER OFFICER OF COMPANY—GROUNDS FOR INJUNCTION—RELATIVE CONVENIENCE OR INCONVENIENCE.

York Publishing Co. v. Coulter, 19 D.L.R. 824, 4 O.W.N. 1091, 24 O.W.R. 384.

II. Interlocutory and interim injunctions.

(§ II—130)—GRANTING OR REFUSING—ADEQUATE REMEDY AT LAW.

Before the court will interfere by interlocutory injunction with the conduct of business of companies operating and supplying public utilities, there must be a very strong urgent reason shown, and in the absence of any irreparable injury or any injury so material that it cannot be adequately remedied in damages, such relief will not be granted.

Canadian-Klondyke Power Co. v. Northern Light, Power & Coal Co., 27 D.L.R. 134.

TO RESTRAIN DISPOSITION OF PROPERTY—ALIMONY—COSTS.

The power of the court under s. 26 (a) of the King's Bench Act (R.S.M. 1913, c. 46) to grant an injunction in alimony cases restraining the husband from disposing of his property, "whenever it appears just and convenient," in protection of the wife's interests, does not extend to enable such injunction being granted before judgment is obtained. Such injunctions having been granted, wrongfully, a motion by the wife that she be allowed costs in connection with such injunctions improperly granted cannot be allowed.

Ferguson v. Ferguson, 29 D.L.R. 364, 26 Man. L.R. 269, 33 W.L.R. 923, 10 W.W.R. 113. [See also 34 W.L.R. 804, 836.]

Where there is a bona fide dispute by the defendant of the plaintiff's title to riparian rights in an action for interference, an interlocutory injunction will not be granted, unless the interim injury sustained by the plaintiff is clearly greater, in case he succeeds in the action, than the interim injury which the defendant would sustain, by the interlocutory injunction.

Minnesota & Ontario Power Co. v. Rat Portage Lumber Co., 1 D.L.R. 95, 3 O.W.N. 502, 20 O.W.R. 876.

It is not usual to grant an interim injunction ex parte after the defendant has entered an appearance in the action, although it may be done in pressing cases; and then the plaintiff applying ought to inform the judge of the fact. [Mexican Co. v. Maldonado, [1890] W.N. 8, approved.] On an ex parte application for an injunction, the fact that a prior interim injunction had been granted and that a motion made to continue same had been dismissed for irregularity, should be disclosed to the judge to whom the second application for a similar injunction is made, and the fact of such disclosure should at least be evidenced in the order itself by a statement or recital that the prior orders had been read on the last application.

Capital Mfg. Co. v. Buffalo Specialty Co., 1 D.L.R. 260, 3 O.W.N. 553, 20 O.W.R. 920.

INTERIM — GRANTING — BALANCE OF CONVENIENCE — COMPENSATORY DAMAGES.

An interim injunction will not be granted where the preponderance of convenience, both public and private, does not require it, and a proper inference can be drawn from the undisputed facts only on the trial; and the damages, if any, which are not irreparable, may be compensated in money.

Breed v. Rogers, 12 D.L.R. 620, 4 O.W.N. 1576, 24 O.W.R. 864.

IRREPARABLE DAMAGE — NO CASE — REFUSAL OF.

An interlocutory injunction should be refused where the plaintiff makes out no case for irreparable damage stronger than that made out for damage which the defendant would suffer by the injunction if he should establish his defence.

Great Northern Film Co. v. Consolidated Film Co., 20 D.L.R. 601, 45 Que. S.C. 464.

LESSOR AND LESSEE — REPAIRS.

When an owner, during the existence of a lease, makes considerable improvements to the property, which, however, detract from its enjoyment by the tenant he can be restrained by interlocutory injunction, and this injunction can only be suspended for very grave reasons. [Haycock v. Pa-caud, 7 Que. P.R. 249, followed.]

Morgan v. Provost, 15 Que. P.R. 209.

POWERS OF PROTHOSOTARY — QUE. C.P. 957, 961, 962, 963, 970.

A judge alone has the right to grant and to suspend an interlocutory injunction, to regulate the proceedings and the time for contestation, and to prescribe the security. Consequently, an interlocutory injunction signed by a prothonotary is ultra vires of the powers given him by law.

Morgan v. Provost, 15 Que. P.R. 282.

INTERIM ORDER — INQUIRY AS TO DAMAGES — FORUM — DISCRETION — SPECIAL CIRCUMSTANCES.

An application for an order directing an inquiry as to and payment of the damages occasioned to the defendant by reason of an interim injunction obtained by the plaintiff upon the usual undertaking as to damages, and dissolved by the judgment in the action, should be made to the Trial Judge. [Smith v. Day, 21 Ch. D. 421, 427; Gault v. Murray, 21 O.R. 458, followed.]

Such an application is in the discretion of the judge. In this case—where the chief point at issue was, whether or not the plaintiffs were liable to assessment and taxation for local improvements—the good faith of the plaintiffs, their duty as trustees to assert what they conceived to be their rights, the importance of the issue as to assessment (involving, as it did, the right of the defendants, a city corporation, to pass the by-law under which they acted), the arbitrary, though legal, conduct of the defendants in laying out the work to the manifest disadvantage of the plaintiffs, and the equally manifest benefit of interested property owners on the opposite side of the street, and the fact that the dismissal of the action was without costs, were held to be circumstances which warranted the conclusion that, if the defendants had suffered damages by reason of the injunction, they were not such damages as the plaintiffs ought to pay; and the defendants' application for an order for an inquiry and payment was dismissed with costs. Review of the authorities.

Upper Canada College v. Toronto, 40 O.L.R. 483. [See 32 D.L.R. 246; 38 D.L.R. 323, 55 Can. S.C.R. 433.]

INTERIM ORDER — IRREPARABLE LOSS — CONTRACT FOR SUPPLY OF ELECTRIC ENERGY — THREATENED CANCELLATION

—BONA FIDE DISPUTE AS TO AMOUNT DUE.—TERMS OF GRANTING INJUNCTION —PAYMENT INTO COURT OF AMOUNT IN DISPUTE.

Ontario Power Co. v. Toronto Power Co., 14 O.W.N. 274.

MOTION FOR INTERIM ORDER — SOLVENCY OF DEFENDANT — PREPONDERANCE OF CONVENIENCE — ADJOURNMENT TILL THE TRIAL.

Boutet v. Thibideau, 15 O.W.N. 26.

DELAY IN BRINGING ACTION — INCREASE IN RATES OF BENEFIT SOCIETY — ALLEGATION OF ILLEGALITY — MOTION REFUSED — BALANCE OF CONVENIENCE — SOCIETY TO KEEP AN ACCOUNT — SPEEDY TRIAL.

Noel v. L'Union St. Joseph du Canada, 13 O.W.N. 427.

CUTTING AND REMOVAL OF TIMBER — MOTION TO CONTINUE — ORDER CONFINED TO REMOVAL — BALANCE OF CONVENIENCE — PRESERVATION OF RIGHTS UNTIL THE TRIAL.

McGirr v. Standeven, 15 O.W.N. 467.

CONTRACT — MINING COMPANY — IMPROVEMENT OF MINING PROPERTY — NOTICE — PREJUDICE.

Connell v. Bunker, 12 O.W.N. 380.

STYLE — TEMPORARY — INTERLOCUTORY.

There is nothing sacramental in descriptive terms used in matters of procedure; it is no cause of nullity that an injunction should be styled "temporary injunction" in lieu of "interlocutory injunction."

Martin v. Tourangeau, 25 Que. K.B. 358.

SOLICITING CUSTOMERS.

A petition for an interlocutory injunction against a bread driver for soliciting bona fide customers of his employer contrary to an agreement between them, will be dismissed if the facts are not clearly established before the court. Quære, whether an agreement by a bread driver not to engage in bread business during a year after his departure is valid or not?

Aird v. Birss, 14 Que. P.R. 285.

NONRESIDENT — POWER OF ATTORNEY.

A person applying for an interlocutory injunction to be served at the same time as the writ of summons must, if he resides out of the province, produce a power of attorney.

Leccene v. Guay, 18 Que. P.R. 426.

BY-LAW—QUASHING.

An interlocutory injunction will not be granted to suspend the enforcement of a municipal by-law while a petition to quash such by-law is pending.

Lukis v. Beaconfield, 18 Que. P.R. 15.

(§ II—131)—NOVEL AND DIFFICULT QUESTION.

A novel and difficult legal question should not be dealt with upon a motion for an interim injunction, but the plaintiff will be left to his remedy at the trial.

Rickart v. Britton Mfg. Co., 4 D.L.R. 366, 3 O.W.N. 1272, 22 O.W.R. 81.

(§ II—134)—CONTINUANCE—BALANCE OF CONVENIENCE—COMPENSATORY DAMAGES.

An interlocutory injunction will not be continued where the balance of convenience, as well as avoidance of loss by both parties, does not require it, and any injury may be remedied by an award of damages, and the status quo of the parties restored when the case is tried.

Baldwin v. Chaplin, 12 D.L.R. 387, 4 O.W.N. 1574, 24 O.W.R. 869.

STAY PENDING APPEAL — DISCRETION — MUNICIPAL CONTRACT.

Though the court is given absolute discretion under art. 969 C.C.P. to temporarily suspend an interlocutory injunction pending an appeal, no such relief will be granted where it has the effect of completely destroying the object of an interlocutory injunction against a municipality to prevent the execution of a contract which has been wrongfully awarded, through favoritism, as against the rights of a lowest bidder.

Warner-Quinlan Asphalt Co. v. Montreal, 26 D.L.R. 72, 24 Que. K.B. 499, 17 Que. P.R. 188, 25 Que. K.B. 147.

DISCONTINUANCE AND CONTINUANCE—ALBERTA PRACTICE.

While in England the usual practice in granting an interim injunction on an ex parte application is to grant the injunction for a definite period, the practice has become quite common in Alberta to grant it "until further order," since this method avoids the necessity of a second application where there are no real grounds of objection to the injunction; but where a motion is made to dissolve the injunction, the burden of supporting the injunction is still on the party who applied for it, in the same way and to the same extent as if the motion were one by him to continue the injunction.

Hart v. Brown, 9 D.L.R. 560, 23 W.L.R. 295.

NUISANCE—RESTRAINING NUISANCE—LOCUS STANDI OF PLAINTIFFS—ENLARGEMENT OF MOTION—LEAVE—SPEEDY TRIAL.

Smith v. Harris (No. 1), 6 D.L.R. 861, 4 O.W.N. 134, 23 O.W.R. 109.

APPLICATION TO CONTINUE—WRONGFUL EXERCISE OF POWER OF SALE—NOTICE.

Sackville v. Can. Permanent Mortgage Co., 27 D.L.R. 790, 9 S.L.R. 161.

DISCONTINUANCE AND CONTINUANCE—CLAIM TO HAY—REMEDY IN DAMAGES.

Hewitt Allen v. Adams, 1 D.L.R. 907, 3 O.W.N. 750.

NECESSARY ALLEGATIONS—DISSOLUTION OF.

A plaintiff seeking ex parte an interim injunction is bound to disclose on the affidavits and material submitted to the court all the material facts within his knowledge without either misrepresentation or concealment, and failure to do so is in itself a ground for dissolving the injunction; the plaintiff may, however, be given leave to apply for another injunction on the merits. [Fitch v. Rochford, 18 L.J. Ch. 458, applied.]

Mickelson Shapiro Co. v. Mickelson Drug Co., 23 D.L.R. 451, 8 W.W.R. 153, 30 W.L.R. 798.

MOTION TO CONTINUE—FAILURE TO DISCLOSE MATERIAL FACTS.

In an appeal from an order continuing an interim injunction on the ground of failure to disclose material facts on the ex parte application for the interim injunction, the court, where all the material facts were before the judge, on the motion to discontinue, dismissed the appeal without considering whether or not all the material facts had been disclosed on the ex parte application.

McDermott v. Oliver, 43 N.B.R. 533.

INTERIM INJUNCTION—COMPANY—PURCHASE OF PROPERTY—ACTION BY SHAREHOLDER TO RESTRAIN—EVIDENCE—REFUSAL TO CONTINUE INJUNCTION—SPEEDY TRIAL.

Hawkins v. Miller, 7 O.W.N. 752.

ACTION TO SET ASIDE SALE OF PROPERTY—FRAUD AND MISREPRESENTATION—INTERIM INJUNCTION—CONTINUANCE—TERMS—PAYMENT INTO COURT—SPEEDY TRIAL.

Peppiatt v. Reeder, 7 O.W.N. 753.

PRESERVATION OF ASSETS SUBJECT TO EXECUTION—JUDGMENT SET ASIDE—CONTINUANCE OF INTERIM INJUNCTION PENDING APPEAL—PRACTICE—COSTS.

Levinson v. Gault (No. 2), 9 O.W.N. 16.

CONTRACT—REMOVAL OF MACHINERY—INTERIM INJUNCTION—MOTION TO CONTINUE—UNNECESSARY PARTY.

Commissioners of Transcontinental R. v. G.T.P. Co. and Commissioners of Temiskaming & Northern Ontario R., 4 O.W.N. 495, 23 O.W.R. 624.

PAYMENT OF INSURANCE MONIES—INJUNCTION DISSOLVED UPON TERMS—UNDERTAKING.

McMillan v. McMillan, 9 O.W.N. 430.

MOTION TO CONTINUE—AFFIDAVITS—SERVICE.

Tourbin v. Ager, 4 O.W.N. 1405, 24 O.W.R. 748.

REFUSAL TO CONTINUE — BREACH — CONTEMPT OF COURT—IGNORANCE—COSTS.

Casey v. Kansas, 4 O.W.N. 1581.

TRIAL—PLEADINGS DELIVERED DURING VACATION.

Baugh v. Porcupine Three Nations Gold Mining Co., 19 O.W.R. 938, 2 O.W.N. 1508.

ACTION TO RESCIND CONTRACT—ELECTION TO AFFIRM—LEAVE TO AMEND.

Boothe v. Rattray, 18 W.L.R. 61.

III. Procedure.

(§ III—135) — CONSENT JUDGMENT—MOTION TO SUSPEND—JURISDICTION.

The defendants, in 1918, sought an order to suspend for a few weeks the operation of an injunction contained in a consent judgment pronounced in January, 1916:—Held, that the court had no jurisdiction to make the order. There is no law which enables the court to sanction the breach of a contract or the violation of a judgment granting an injunction. There is jurisdiction to alter a judgment once entered only when it does not express the real intention of the court or when it has been obtained fraudulently. The judgment can be attacked only upon grounds upon which a contract can be attacked—and emphatically so when the judgment is a consent judgment.

Lewis v. Chatham Gas Co., 42 O.L.R. 102.

EX PARTE ORDERS — MISSTATEMENTS AND SUPPRESSION OF MATERIAL FACTS—DISSOLUTION OF INJUNCTIONS—COSTS.

Clergue v. Lake Superior Dry Dock, etc., Co.; Hodge v. Clergue, 12 O.W.N. 411.

The procedure to obtain an injunction is a petition and this petition constitutes an action. Therefore, a petitioner who does not reside in Quebec must give security for costs and furnish a power of attorney.

Thomas v. Fish, 13 Que. P.R. 406.

UNDER QUEBEC CODE.

Under the new C.C.P. there is no longer a writ of injunction; an injunction is only an incident in the action with which it is connected, and the class of an action is not changed because it is accompanied by an application for an injunction or in the course of the action an interim injunction has been asked for.

Desjardins v. Maisonneuve School Commission, 18 Que. P.R. 302.

(§ III—137)—PARTIES.

Upon a motion by an owner of realty for an injunction to restrain an adjoining owner from interfering by additional work with a party wall already erected and maintained between the two properties, a third party for whose benefit and under whose instructions the additional work is being done as well as the building contractor doing it may properly be joined as codefendants. [Dalton v. Angus, L.R. 6 App. Cas. 740, applied.]

Monadnock Realty Co. v. Quebec Bank, 18 D.L.R. 250, 24 Man. L.R. 763, 28 W.L.R. 339.

PARTIES—BLASTING IN STREETS—SKILL AND CARE—ADDITION OF PARTIES.

Bell Tel. Co. v. Avery, 6 D.L.R. 852, 3 O.W.N. 1664, 22 O.W.R. 963.

(§ III—138)—AFFIDAVIT FOR—WILL—ACTION TO SET ASIDE—RESTRAINING EXECUTORS FROM DEALING WITH ESTATE.

Thompson v. Thompson, 17 D.L.R. 831, 7 O.W.N. 23.

AFFIDAVITS—FALSE.

A preliminary injunction obtained ex parte on an affidavit which the applicant knew was false, or which he stated to be true as of his own personal knowledge, while as a matter of fact it was false, will be dissolved on motion of the defendant.

Hart v. Brown, 9 D.L.R. 560, 23 W.L.R. 205.

It is within the discretion of a judge sitting in Chambers to act upon an affidavit to which exhibits have been annexed, contrary to Ord. 38, r. 23, but the party offering such affidavit may be deprived of costs, under Ord. 38, r. 3, or Ord. 65, r. 27 (20).

D'Israeli Asbestos Co. v. Isaacs, 40 N.B.R. 431.

ENDORSEMENT ON WRIT OF SUMMONS—AMENDMENT.

Loveland v. McNairney, 4 O.W.N. 680, 23 O.W.R. 972.

(§ III—139)—DELAY IN APPLYING FOR FORMAL ORDER.

An application to commit the defendant for contempt of court based on an alleged breach of an interim injunction order will be refused where there has been a delay of several months after the order was made before any formal order was applied for or taken out. [James v. Downes, 18 Ves. 522, 34 Eng. R. 415, applied.]

J. B. Snowball Co. v. Sullivan, 14 D.L.R. 528, 42 N.B.R. 318, 13 E.L.R. 349.

Where delay in applying for an interlocutory injunction is satisfactorily explained the writ will not be denied.

Toronto Carpet Co. v. Wright, 3 D.L.R. 725, 22 Man. L.R. 294, 21 W.L.R. 304.

(§ III—141)—NOTICE—SECURITY.

If after obtaining an interlocutory injunction the petitioner does not cause it to be issued but contents himself with giving notice to the defendant of the judgment granting it and furnishing the requisite security, the defendant cannot set up this ground after the proceedings are at an end and a permanent injunction has been granted.

Lachance v. Cauchon, 24 Que. K.B. 421.

(§ III-142) — BONDS — ENFORCEMENT — DAMAGES.

Where an order declared that "an issue be and is hereby directed as to what damages, if any, have been sustained by the defendant . . . by reason of the injunction herein which the plaintiff, according to the practice of this court, ought to pay" and sent the issue for trial and directed the parties to file pleadings, and upon the trial of the issue the court dealt only with the amount of damages and did not consider the question whether any damages should be assessed and it appeared that the judge issuing the order did not intend to decide the latter question, the duty devolves upon the court to do so. The undertaking of a plaintiff in an injunction suit to abide by any judgment the court may make as to damages suffered by the defendant by reason of the injunction is not a contract with the defendant but a conditional obligation to the court which becomes absolute only when the court finds as a condition precedent to liability that the case in view of all the circumstances is a proper one in which to direct an enquiry as to damages. The mere vacating of an interlocutory injunction is not sufficient to entitle the defendant to an enquiry as to the damages sustained by him in the absence of a shewing on his part that the injunction was improperly granted upon a consideration of the facts involved in the action. Where an injunction against a debtor and his wife restraining them from using funds deposited in the wife's name stopped the use also of money to which the husband had no claim, but which was used in another business in which the wife was a partner, and it was shewn that such business had been profitable but that the injunction suspended the same for a time and caused the wife and her partner great inconvenience she was entitled to damages therefor. A claim for damages upon an injunction undertaking is not established on shewing only that the defendant by reason of being restrained from withdrawing his bank deposit account lost the opportunity of securing an assignment of an option for the purchase of lands, the contents of which were not offered in evidence.

Albertson v. Secord, 1 D.L.R. 804, 4 A.L.R. 90, 20 W.L.R. 64, 1 W.W.R. 657.

(§ III-147) — ANTICIPATED INJURY — NUISANCE.

Where a city corporation violates subs. 2 of s. 12 of the Public Health Act (Alta.) which inhibits the maintaining of a system of sewerage without a connecting system of sewage purification and disposal, an injunction order against discharging the sewage into the passing river without purifying it, will lie against the city, but, an adequate delay may be allowed in the public interest, so that the sewage may be otherwise disposed of without further menace to the public health. [Att'y Gen'l v. Birmingham, 4 K. & J. 528, 70 Eng. R. 220, applied.]

Clare v. Edmonton, 15 D.L.R. 514, 5 W.W.R. 1133, 26 W.L.R. 678, 5 W.W.R. 1137.

DECREE — FORMAL REQUIREMENTS — TIME LIMIT—ENDORSEMENT—ISSUING SOLICITOR'S NAME.

Rule 5, Order 41, Judicature Rules of Practice (N. B.) does not apply to merely negative orders and it is no objection on a motion to commit for breach of an injunction prohibiting a trespass to the injunction decree was not endorsed with a memorandum and the name of the issuing solicitor under that rule, nor is it an objection that no time was limited for compliance; a time limit is essential only where the judgment or order is to do an act as distinguished from a merely prohibitive order.

Turnbull Real Estate Co. v. Segee, 19 D.L.R. 525, 42 N.B.R. 625.

(§ III-150) — LOCAL JUDGE — INTERLOCUTORY INJUNCTION — GRANTING EX PARTE.

Under Con. r. 357 an interlocutory injunction may be granted by a local judge on an ex parte application only when delay may entail serious mischief.

Baldwin v. Chaplin, 12 D.L.R. 387, 4 O.W.N. 1574, 24 O.W.R. 860.

LOCAL JUDGE — INTERIM INJUNCTION.

A local judge has no power under Ontario Con. r. 46 to grant an interim injunction except in cases of emergency and on proof to his satisfaction that the delay required for an application to the High Court is likely to involve a failure of justice; and this power is not to be exercised without notice of the application being given, unless the court is satisfied that the delay caused by proceeding by notice of motion might entail serious mischief. An interim injunction for a period not exceeding 8 days may be granted by a local judge under r. 46, and after the expiry of an 8 day injunction granted by one local judge a second 8 day injunction should not be granted by another local judge to the same effect as the first injunction.

Capital Mfg. Co. v. Buffalo Specialty Co., 1 D.L.R. 260, 3 O.W.N. 553, 20 O.W.R. 920.

(§ III-155) — DISCRETION OF COURT — WHEN TO BECOME OPERATIVE.

In an action by a railway company, which had the right to expropriate the land in dispute, to restrain the defendant from interfering with the construction by the company of its railway across a certain road, in which action a counterclaim was made by the defendant for a declaration of his right to the road as a private way and for an injunction restraining the company from trespassing thereon, the ex parte injunction granted the company should not be dissolved and the injunction awarded the defendant upon the merits in accordance with his counterclaim should not be made operative until an opportunity is given to the company to take expropriation proceedings. [Sandon Water Works & Light Co. v. Byron N. White Co., 35 Can. S.C.R. 303, followed.]

C.N.R. Co. v. Billings, 5 D.L.R. 455, 3 O.W.N. 1504, 22 O.W.R. 659.

(§ III—160)—AMENDMENT OF INJUNCTION ORDER.

Upon an application to amend an injunction, in an action in which the plaintiff (a sublessee) claimed against the defendant (assignee of the fee in the demised premises) damages for wrongful distress, and an injunction limiting the right to distrain, and where the injunction, statement of claim, lease and sublease, all erroneously described the demised premises as "lot 7, block 150" instead of "lot 7, block 152;" leave to amend will be granted, but with the proviso that no process for contempt shall lie against the defendant for any act in the interval between the service of the original injunction order and the amendment, with respect to "lot 7, block 152."

Pigeon v. Preston, 6 D.L.R. 399, 22 W. L.R. 181, 2 W.W.R. 1089.

AGREEMENT TO POSTPONE INTERIM INJUNCTION HEARING—NECESSITY FOR FORMAL CONTINUANCE BY COURT UNDER THE CONSENT.

Where an injunction order restraining the defendant in his disposal of certain property is made ex parte for a period ending on a certain day and hour, or "until such time as any motion to be on that day made to continue it should be heard and disposed of," such order will not be held in the absence of any direction by the court for its continuance, to extend the injunction period "until a date to be agreed upon by both parties," merely because of an agreement between counsel for their convenience to that effect, and the injunction will be strictly construed to expire with the original injunction period.

J. B. Snowball Co. v. Sullivan, 14 D.L.R. 528, 13 E.L.R. 349.

COURT OF KING'S BENCH—JURISDICTION OF TWO JUDGES—C.P., ART. 969.

Two judges of the court of King's Bench may, on application made out of term, provisionally suspend any injunction, but they cannot authorize the issue of an interim injunction when it had already been refused.

Davis v. Jacobs Asbestos Mining Co., 28 Que. K.B. 480.

ACTS OF INTIMIDATION BY STRIKING EMPLOYEES—RESTRAINING ORDER—ASSOCIATION OR CLASS—REPRESENTATIVES.

Cumberland Coal & R. Co. v. McDougall, 44 N.S.R. 535.

INNKEEPERS.

I. RIGHTS OF AND LIABILITIES TO GUESTS.
II. LIABILITY FOR LOSS OF PROPERTY OF GUEST.

INNKEEPER—WAYFARER—BOARDING HOUSES—LOSS OF PROPERTY OF GUEST—LIABILITY—INNKEEPERS ACT, R.S.O. 1914, C. 173.

An innkeeper is liable quâ innkeeper only when he keeps a common inn and the guest is a wayfaring traveller using the inn as a wayfarer. Where a contract is made by the hotelkeeper to take a person in as a guest for a long time paying at a weekly or monthly rate, the relationship is that of boarding house keeper or lodging house keeper and not of innkeeper, and while not liable as an insurer because of that distinction, the hotelkeeper must take reasonable care for the safety of the property brought by the guests to the hotel. The onus is upon an innkeeper claiming the benefit of the Innkeepers Act, R.S.O. 1914, c. 173, c. 4, limiting his liability for loss of a guest's goods in certain cases to $40, to prove his compliance with the statute by posting up the statutory notice to that effect throughout the hotel.

MacDonell v. Woods, 20 D.L.R. 366, 32 O.L.R. 283.

NEGLECTANCE.

The baggage of a hotel guest placed in the room assigned to him is under the charge of the innkeeper when the guest is temporarily out of the room, and he is liable at common law for its loss as for breach of duty unless the guest was himself guilty of negligence and such negligence conduced to the loss; it is not negligence on the part of the guest to leave the room unlocked without further inquiry at the hotel office for a key on being informed by the bell-boy conducting him to his room that there was no key.

Vicars v. Arnold, 29 D.L.R. 838, 7 W.W.R. 676, 7 S.L.R. 298, 30 W.L.R. 70.

"GUEST" AND "BOARDER" DISTINGUISHED.

The defendant, a resident of Midland, made a special agreement with the plaintiff, a hotelkeeper, to board at his hotel for a certain sum per day. He remained there about 10 months, paying at the agreed rate. A few days before leaving, his overcoat was stolen from his room by a person who was not in the employ of the plaintiff. The plaintiff brought action to recover $40 the balance due by defendant for board and lodging, and the defendant counterclaimed for damages for loss of his coat to the same amount. Held, that the defendant was a boarder and not a guest, and therefore, the plaintiff was not liable for the loss of the coat. The distinction between a "boarder" and a "guest" discussed.

Katz v. Noland, 50 C.L.J. 193.

LIEN ON BAGGAGE—TRAVELER'S SAMPLES.

The lien on and right to sell the baggage and property of their guests, boarders or lodgers given to hotelkeepers by art. 1816a C.C. (Que.), does not extend to samples taken to a hotel by a traveler who is not the owner of such goods.

Computing Scale Co. v. Fortin, 41 D.L.R. 136, 53 Que. S.C. 268, 24 Rev. de Jur. 148.

EFFECTS OF STRANGER—R.S.O. 1914, c. 173.

The provisions of the Innkeepers Act, R.S.O. 1914, c. 173, are supplemental to the common law and an innkeeper still has his common law lien on the property of a stranger brought to the inn by the guest as part of his personal effects; the hotelkeeper may be justified in retaining under such right of lien against a transient guest a typewriting machine brought by him to the hotel, although the property in the machine was in a typewriter company. [Huffman v. Walterhouse, 19 O.R. 186, and Newcombe v. Anderson, 11 O.R. 665, followed.]

United Typewriter Co. v. King Edward Hotel Co., 20 D.L.R. 519, 32 O.L.R. 126.

It is within the ostensible authority of a hotel clerk to take charge of the luggage of a departing guest who says he intends to return, and even if the service is without charge, the hotel proprietor is in the position of a gratuitous bailee. In an action by the owner for the value of the luggage, the nonproduction of the property, except perhaps in extraordinary cases, is prima facie evidence of negligence, and upon proof of nonproduction the onus is shifted to the proprietor to shew that the luggage was lost without negligence on his part.

Sutherland v. Bell, 3 A.L.R. 497.

HOTEL NECESSARY REFUGE—AGREEMENT—BURDEN OF PROOF—C.C. ART. 1814, 1815.

A hotelkeeper who, during a rush of travellers, rents some beds placed in the corridors of the hotel, because all his rooms are taken, can make an agreement with his guests that he will only be answerable for goods expressly confined to his care. In such case the common law presumption of responsibility ceases, and the traveler whose goods have been lost or stolen must prove that the theft or loss is due to the fraud or fault of the hotelkeeper.

Julien v. Lapointe, 55 Que. S.C. 27.

LUGGAGE LEFT IN ROOM BY GUEST—ABSENCE OF GROSS NEGLIGENCE.

Warner v. Cameron, 19 W.L.R. 461.

INSANE PERSONS.

See Incompetent Persons.

See also Descent and Distribution; Homicide.

INSCRIPTION (QUE.).

See Appeal; Pleading.

INSCRIPTION DE FAUX—LOSS OF ORIGINAL.

If the depositary in the office of the notary, by whom the copy of the document, the signature of, which is alleged to be false, is signed, declares that he has been unable to find the original of this document and that the defendant en faux has declared that he wishes to make use of it, the plaintiff who has not filed his reasons for his allegation cannot by motion demand that the document be declared false.

Sylvestre v. Boucher, 18 Que. P.R. 428.

INSOLVENCY.

I. IN GENERAL.

II. UNLAWFUL PREFERENCES.

III. WHAT PASSES TO ASSIGNEE OR TRUSTEE.

IV. CLAIMS AGAINST AND DISTRIBUTION OF ESTATE.

V. DISCHARGE.

VI. PROOF OF.

What constitutes, burden of proof, see

Fraudulent Conveyances, III—10.

Fraudulent preferences, see also Fraudulent Conveyances; Assignment for Creditors.

I. In general.

(§ 1—3)—WHAT CONSTITUTES INSOLVENCY.

A person who operates a factory in which he manufactures cheese and butter out of materials belonging to other parties and who sells the product in his own name, receiving a commission thereon, is a trader, and is subject to C.C.P., regarding abandonment of property.

Blanchette v. Levesque, 5 D.L.R. 481, 41 Que. S.C. 477.

A person is to be deemed insolvent within the meaning of the Assignments Act, (Alta.) if he does not pay his way and is unable to meet the current demands of his creditors and if he has not the means of paying them in full out of his assets realized upon a sale for cash or its equivalent.

Walter v. Adolph Lumber Co., 23 D.L.R. 326, 8 W.W.R. 351.

WHAT CONSTITUTES — "NOTORIOUS" INSOLVENCY—EMBARRASSMENT KNOWN TO BUT FEW.

A person is not so notoriously insolvent as to render a hypothec deed void against creditors where his insolvency was known to but a few people, and most of his creditors, including the grantee in the deed, were unaware thereof.

Eastern Townships Bank v. Picard, 13 D. L.R. 389, 23 Que. K.B. 488.

A debtor should be held to be "in insolvent circumstances" within the meaning of s. 40 of the Assignment Act, R.S.M. 1902, c. 8, if he does not pay his way and is unable to meet the current demands of his creditors and if he has not the means of paying them in full out of his assets realized upon a sale for cash or its equivalent, or when he is not in a condition to pay his debts in the ordinary course as persons carrying on trade usually do.

Empire Sash & Door Co. v. Maranda, 21 Man. L.R. 605.

A trader who has actually ceased payment of the bulk of his debts becomes a debtor who has suspended payment. A trader who has faithfully paid all his acknowledged debts cannot be deemed insolvent because he left unpaid some that can reasonably be disputed, especially when the creditor who demands an assignment admits that his claim is litigious.

Ward v. Proulx, 14 Que. P.R. 133.

Insolvency, or cessation of payments, results from successive protests, law suits, condemnations, and from all circumstances serious enough to infer that the debtor has ceased to meet his business obligations. Financial difficulties or temporary tightness is a cessation of payments. There is no possible distinction between suspension and cessation of payments. A creditor who has not a claim of sufficient amount to make a demand of assignment to a debtor, cannot legally have another creditor's claim transferred to him to complete the amount of his claim.

Perron v. Drouin, 16 Que. P.R. 121, 46 Que. S.C. 336, affirming 14 Que. P.R. 7.

INSOLVENT ESTATE—ACTION BY THE CURATOR—AUTHORIZATION.

Lamarche v. Montreal, 12 Que. P.R. 153.

ABANDONMENT OF PROPERTY—CESSATION OF PAYMENTS—NOMINAL ASSETS IN EXCESS OF LIABILITIES.

Mondou v. Paulet, 39 Que. S.C. 504.

II. Unlawful preferences.

(§ II—5)—CONVEYANCE BY PERSON NOT "NOTORIOUSLY" INSOLVENT—KNOWLEDGE OF INSOLVENCY.

Where, at the time a deed of hypothec was given, the grantor was not notoriously insolvent, in order to set it aside in favour of a creditor it must positively appear that the grantee was aware of the insolvency of the grantor.

Eastern Townships Bank v. Picard, 13 D. L.R. 389, 23 Que. K.B. 488.

AGREEMENT FOR EXTENSION—SECRET PREFERENCE—PUBLIC POLICY.

Where at a meeting of creditors an agreement for extension of time provided that the debtor will not give a preference, a prior secret agreement by which one of the creditors obtains security and more favourable terms is against public policy and void as against the other creditors.

Hochberger v. Rittenberg, 36 D.L.R. 450, 54 Can. S.C.R. 480, affirming 31 D.L.R. 678, 25 Que. K.B. 421.

CHATTEL MORTGAGE—UNJUST PREFERENCE—INTENT.

A chattel mortgage obtained by a creditor from an insolvent debtor, within 60 days before an assignment for creditors, whether voluntarily or under pressure, is prima facie an unjust and intentional preference under s. 5 (4) of the Assignments and Preferences Act (R.S.O. 1914, c. 134).

Clifton v. Towers, 35 D.L.R. 623, 39 O. L.R. 292.

WHAT CONSTITUTES—PREFERENCES—SECURITY FOR PRE-EXISTING DEBT.

International Harvester Co. v. Campbell, 27 D.L.R. 715, 33 W.L.R. 726, 9 W.W.R. 1183.

ASSIGNMENTS AND PREFERENCES—BILLS OF SALE—INSOLVENT BARGAINOR—CONSIDERATION—PAYMENT OF COMPOSITION TO CREDITORS—INVALIDITY AGAINST NON-ASSENTING CREDITORS—ASSIGNMENTS AND PREFERENCES ACT, R.S.O. 1914, c. 134, s. 5 (1).

Herzig v. Hall, 8 O.W.N. 242.

CONCEALMENT OF EFFECTS.

Preferential payments by an insolvent debtor constitute in law a concealment of effects within the meaning of art. 895 C. C.P. The defendant who declares, in speaking of a transaction he had carried through "I passed near the gates but did not enter," gives evidence of a fraudulent intention, meaning to say that he had been able to dispose of his property without incurring the danger of arrest by his creditors.

Chapleau v. Auger, 15 Que. P.R. 25.

PAYMENT IN GOODS—KNOWLEDGE OF INSOLVENCY.

An allegation in a statement of claim to recover articles given in payment, to the prejudice of an estate in bankruptcy, on the very day on which the debtor made an assignment of all his goods is sufficient to allow the plaintiff to prove that the creditor so paid had knowledge of the insolvent state of the debtor. Accordingly, the defendant cannot make an inscription in law to set aside the action by reason of the omission of a more express allegation that the creditor was aware of the state of insolvency in question.

Chayrand v. Dominion Paper Co., 23 Que. K.B. 43.

PREFERENTIAL PAYMENT—DILATORY EXCEPTION.

A creditor who takes proceedings against a co-creditor and a debtor who owes both of them, in order to have a preferential payment annulled, can by one and the same action, ask judgment against the debtor for the sum due, and also against the co-creditor to make him return to the estate the goods received by him, or to pay their value. A dilatory exception asking suspension of proceedings until the plaintiff has made his option between the two demands, and declared which of the two he abandons, reserving his recourse, and which of them he will continue now, will be dismissed as ill-founded.

Moore v. Rousseau, 46 Que. S.C. 399.

MONEY ADVANCED TO INSOLVENT COMPANY TO PAY ONE CREDITOR—PREFERENCE.

Steecher Lithographic Co. v. Ontario Seed Co., 24 O.L.R. 503; 20 O.W.R. 1.

CREDITOR PURCHASING FROM INSOLVENT—AUCTION SALE—CASH DISCOUNT—PREFERENCE.

Curry v. Kirkpatrick, 8 E.L.R. 455.

HYPOTHEC—INSOLVENCY OF DEBTOR—DEBT TO MUNICIPAL CORPORATION.

Cowansville v. Duggan, 20 Que. K.B. 165.

INSOLVENT—PAYMENT TO CREDITOR.

Lallemand v. Harne, 39 Que. S.C. 218.

III. What passes to assignee or trustee.

(§ III—10)—PURCHASE OF LICENSE UNDER SUSPENSIVE CONDITION — DEFAULT IN PAYING INSTALMENTS — EXISTENCE OF CONSIDERATION AND ABSENCE OF FRAUD
Turgeon v. St. Charles, 15 D.L.R. 298, 48 Can. S.C.R. 473, 13 E.L.R. 521, reversing 7 D.L.R. 445.

(§ III—11)—WHAT PASSES TO RECEIVER—LIABILITY OF INSURED ON PREMIUM NOTES.

The fact that a permanent fund required by the charter of a mutual insurance company to be maintained for the security of its policyholders was depleted and nonexistent when a policy of insurance was issued, does not render the contract null and void so as to relieve the insured from liability on a note given for the premium thereon for an insurance upon the "mutual" plan. [China Mutual Ins. Co. v. Smith, 3 D.L.R. 766, affirmed on appeal.]

Pickles v. China Mutual Ins. Co., China Mutual Ins. Co. v. Smith (No. 2), 10 D.L.R. 323, 47 Can. S.C.R. 429, 12 E.L.R. 390.

(§ III—12)—RIGHTS OF CURATOR UNDER QUEBEC LAW — RECOVERY OF MONEYS PAID AS FRAUDULENT PREFERENCE.

Recovery may be had under art. 1036 C.C. (Que.) by the curator of an insolvent broker's estate for the benefit of the general body of creditors of a sum repaid by the insolvent with the alleged profits, on the eve of insolvency and under circumstances proving the customer's belief that the broker was then insolvent as he was in fact, where the customer had handed over moneys to the insolvent broker to be used by him along with moneys of other customers in his alleged speculations in stocks on a "blind pool" in which there was no segregation of each customer's money nor control thereof by anyone but the broker; and such recovery is not barred by art. 1927, even if the transactions between the customers and the broker were to be considered as gaming contracts.

Wilks v. Matthews, 16 D.L.R. 746, 49 Can. S.C.R. 91, 50 C.L.J. 118, reversing 7 D.L.R. 395, 22 Que. K.B. 97.

VACANT SUCCESSION—SALE.

If the succession of an insolvent trader has been declared vacant, and an immovable offered for sale after advertisement has not found a purchaser at the price fixed, the curator will be allowed to sell it whenever he deems it expedient.

McGowan v. Lamotte, 18 Que. P.R. 390.
PRINCIPAL AND AGENT—ADVANCE OF FUNDS FOR SPECIAL PURPOSE.

Vermette v. Gagnon, 20 Que. K.B. 466.

ASSIGNMENT OF ANOTHER PERSON'S PROPERTY—REVENDEICATION.

Leskas v. William, 12 Que. P.R. 168.

SALE OF IMMOVABLES.

Fortier v. Michaud, 12 Que. P.R. 259.

IV. Claims against and distribution of estate.

(§ IV—15)—ABANDONMENT OF PROPERTY—SMALL ESTATE—APPOINTMENT OF ONE OR SEVERAL CURATORS—MARRIED WOMAN—FILING OF A CLAIM WITHOUT THE AUTHORIZATION OF HER HUSBAND—C.P. 867—C.C. 1422, 1424.

The filing of a claim by a woman separate as to property and the appointment of an attorney to represent her at the meeting of the creditors without the authorization of her husband is valid being a pure act of administration. In the appointment of a curator, unsecured claims should receive more consideration than those secured, even by notes. In the absence of special reasons, only one curator should be appointed to a small insolvent estate, and as far as possible, he should reside in the district of the insolvent.

Re Savard & Gagnon, 15 Que. P.R. 386.

(§ IV—16)—PRIORITIES.

All creditors (apart from privileged creditors) are entitled to share alike in the proceeds of their debtor's property and if some alone receive the proceeds the others are prejudiced, even if the property be sold for its full value, and although a right of redemption has been reserved by the debtor; and the purchaser cannot ask that the objecting creditors exercise this right of redemption on the debtor's behalf.

Landry v. McCall, 6 D.L.R. 793, 21 Que. K.B. 348.

CESSION DE BIENS — CONTESTATION OF SCHEDULE—REPLICATION.

Rasminski v. Wilks, 12 Que. P.R. 375.

CESSION DE BIENS—CONTESTATION OF APPLICATION—DELAY FOR INSCRIPTION.

Dufresne v. Villani, 12 Que. P.R. 160.

SETTLEMENT WITH CONTESTING CREDITOR—INTERVENTION.

Superior v. Hutchins, 12 Que. P.R. 174.

VI. Proof of.

(§ VI—25)—Insolvency is not proved by the opinion of witnesses, but by the filing of a statement verifying the assets and liabilities of the debtor.

Murphy v. Murphy, 23 Que. K.B. 529.

INSPECTION.

Of documents, see Discovery.
Right of, see Sale.

INSTRUCTIONS TO JURY.

See Trial; New Trial.

E
8

of

—
NE
M-
HE P.

te an
of
of a ive en ns,
a os-he red in ty eda opgh by ask his alf.

ue.

OF

.

PLI-

.

R-

74.

by g of bili-