

THE ACADIAN.

WOLFVILLE, N. S., FEB. 1, 1895.

The Civic Election.

Tuesday was the last day for filing nominations for Mayor and Councilors to fill the vacancies at the council board. Mayor Bowles and Councilors Thomson, Sawyer, and C. H. Borden, after two years' faithful service, declined to become candidates for re-election. These gentlemen have given a great amount of time and energy in the interests of the town, and are entitled to the thanks of the citizens. Upon them has devolved much of the work of organizing the town affairs after incorporation and getting the civic machinery into running order. This work has not been an easy or always a pleasant one, and many difficulties have arisen which had to be overcome. Mistakes they have of course made, and being only human nothing else could be expected. However there is no doubt but that they have done what appeared to them to be in the town's best interests, and have given a large amount of gratuitous work, for which they have not always received even thanks. There will be no election for Mayor again this year. Since the town became incorporated we have been called upon three times to select a man to fill the chair in our town government, and each time it has been without a contest. This is as it should be, and speaks well for the good sense of our citizens. For councillors no less than eight candidates have been nominated, viz: Prof. Westman, Dr. Barne, F. J. Porter, E. L. Collins, B. H. Armstrong, R. E. Harris, J. F. Herbin and C. M. Vaughn. Of these we understand that Dr. Barne and Mr. C. M. Vaughn are disqualified on account of holding office under the town. This will be a disappointment to many who would be glad to see them at the council board—the former being especially well qualified for service in both the town and county councils.

The Nova Scotia Fruit Growers' Association.

The 31st annual session of this well-known and valued society began in Witter's Hall, this town, on Tuesday afternoon, at 2 o'clock. The attendance was good and indicated a growing interest in matters pertaining to fruit growing. The address of President Bigelow is printed in full on our first page. A hearty vote of thanks was tendered him for his excellent address, and his work as executive during the past year, highly commended with speeches from members of the Association. The programme as published in the ACADIAN last week was fully carried out. The papers were all of a high character, and the discussion which followed was of an interesting and instructive nature. A great amount of information was elicited, and the meetings were doubtless of much profit to all interested in this most-valued industry, who were able to be present.

On Wednesday evening a public meeting was held in College Hall, which was well filled. President Bigelow presided and announced Prof. Keirstead as the first speaker of the evening. His address was a most scholarly, able and eloquent one, and received the closest attention of the large audience. We acknowledge our inability to give any correct report of it in the space at our disposal and only regret that we are unable to give it in full. Such addresses must have an effect of lasting good. The other speakers were J. B. Mills, M. P., Prof. Craig, Prof. Faville, Barclay Webster, G. B. McGill, John E. Starr, and Dr. Chipman. During the evening an excellent programme of music was rendered by a quartette consisting of the Messrs Bishop and Miss Bishop, of New Minas, and Mrs. Bigelow of Wolfville, which was much enjoyed.

The officers elected for the ensuing year are as follows: President—J. W. Bigelow. Senior Vice-Pres.—C. R. H. Starr. Secretary—S. O. Parker. Asst. Secy.—R. W. Starr. Treasurer—G. W. Manro.

Letter of Sympathy.

The following letter was forwarded to Mrs. Angus S. Murray by Wolfville Division, on the death of Mr. Murray who was an esteemed and valued member of that society:

To Mrs. Angus S. Murray, Wolfville, N. S. DEAR MADAM:—We, the members of Wolfville Division, No. 112, of the Sons of Temperance, beg to tender to you our heartfelt sympathy in the sad bereavement which in the providence of God you have been called upon to sustain. We naturally share in the deep sorrow of you and yours; for the hand of death which has deprived you of a devoted husband and your children of a loving father has also taken away one who was in genuine sympathy with our work as a Temperance organization. For many years he was an earnest worker in our society, and by his labors as a member of the Sons of Temperance and by his organization and oversight of the Cadets of Temperance, he did a work in the moral interests of this town which shall live in its beneficent results for many years. (When he was laid aside from work by sickness we were assured that his prayers and sympathies were with us in our efforts to save fallen man.) We mourn with sincere sorrow the so early removal of one whose unflinching zeal, indefatigable perseverance, high intellectual endowments and lofty moral character eminently qualified him for the work of social and religious reform. But we mourn not as those who have no hope, for "being dead he yet speaketh" through the lasting good he did in his short life, and we have the steadfast hope that he lives still in the Saviour whom he trusted and found his chief delight in serving. That you may have faith to realize that even your sore affliction is one of the "all things" which "work together for good to them that love God," and that you may ever be sustained by the perfect trust in Him who has revealed himself as "a father of the fatherless and a judge of the widows," is our earnest prayer.

The Authority of Christ.

The lecture by Professor Falconer on the above theme, in College Hall last Sabbath evening, was acknowledged by all who heard it to be an address both timely in its subject and able in its treatment. He had a large audience which listened most attentively for nearly an hour, although the lecture was closely reasoned, quietly delivered, and packed with weighty matter. The fourfold division of his subject was as follows: (1) The authority of Christ which resulted from the general impressiveness of his character; (2) from the titles he claimed for himself; (3) from the works he wrought; and (4) our guarantee that Christ of two thousand years ago is an authority for us of the nineteenth century. His treatment of the last head was of course the most practical. Why should we bow before the authority of this teacher of long ago? Simply because Christ teaches truths which appeal with irresistible conviction to the universal conscience. Any healthy well-trained mind which lays itself open to the influence of the gospel, cannot fail to feel the honesty of the claim of Christ, "I am the truth." In the sermon on the mount, for example, Christ announces first principles of religion, which make an unanswerable appeal to every conscience. He did not prove his teachings by argument—for first principles whether by ethics or religion need no proof—they are self-evident—but he simply declares his message; and they who are of the truth, who are in sympathy with the truth, hear the voice of Christ as that of one speaking with authority. Hence the duty of faith; hence the justification of the Christian minister's preaching: "Repent and believe the gospel." That man sins against light who refuses to hear the voice of Christ. The place of Christ as unique among the religious teachers of the world is being more and more generally recognized, and he who is too indolent or too proud to investigate the almost audacious claims of this wonderful personage, is certainly not taking an intelligent interest in life. These pretensions cannot afford to be ignored; the almost insupportable demands of explanation—such a life appeals to every thoughtful man to be accounted for. He who does not put the philosophy of life as taught by Christ to the practical test of experience, is surely a man who is taking a rational view of human life. The man who is living earnestly and who has made trial of Christ's method has never confessed to be disappointed.

Obituary.

A correspondent from Black River, Kings Co., sends the following obituary notice of the late Wm. Wier, whose death was recorded in this week's Journal:—Death has entered our community and taken from our midst an estimable gentleman, Mr. William Wier, who died on Saturday, Jan. 12th, aged eighty years and six months. Although sick only a short time, yet death was a relief, for his suffering was intense, but as he neared the end of his life, his pain entirely ceased and he passed peacefully away to his eternal rest. He leaves seven children (three boys and four girls) to mourn the loss of a kind and affectionate parent; and also a wide circle of friends by whom he will be missed. The deceased moved here from Newport, Hants County, about twenty-five years ago. Many in that place still, no doubt, remember him, as he was widely known. His funeral took place on Wednesday, Jan. 16th, from his late residence. Rev. D. J. Fraser, from Wolfville, conducted the services. We extend our heartfelt sympathy to the bereaved relatives.—Journal.

The Delimitor for March is the Great Spring Number, and in our opinion is the finest issue of this popular magazine that has yet been published. All the departments are unusually well filled, through being the first authoritative pronouncement of the Spring modes. The chief feature of the literary matter is a most comprehensive chapter on Order, their Uses and Etiquette, by Mrs. Roger A. Pryor, this being the first of a series entitled the Social Code. There is also a very interesting first article on the Experiences of Life at a Training School for Nurses, with an introduction by Mrs. Frederic Rhineland Jones. Woman as a Musician is the subject of a "Conversation" between Edith M. Thomas and Dr. S. P. Elliott, to which is appended a delightful bit of verse by Miss Thomas. Mrs. Carrie M. Dearborn, ex-Principal of the Boston Cooking School, writes of the Teaching of Cookery as an Employment for Women, and Josephine Adams Rathbone of A Girl's Life and work at the University of Michigan. Mrs. Longstreet has an instructive paper on the Care of the Hands and Feet, Mrs. Maud C. Murray contributes another chapter to her interesting series on the Relations of Mother and Son, and Mrs. Witherspoon continues her entertaining gossip in Around the Tea-Table. Pleasurable and profitable amusement is found in Barnard's Notes on Forbes, Vegetarian Iron Work—J. Harry Adams, and Crene and Tissue Papers—Tillie Rooze Littlell. The household will find much of value in and hints on serving Lemons, and the fancy worker will appreciate the new designs in Knitting, Netting, Tatting, Etc. Begin a subscription with this number.

THE ACME OF PERFECTION.

DIAMOND DYES SUPERIOR TO ALL OTHERS. Colors bear a relation to each other something like that of the musical notes, and there is a harmony of colors, analogous to that of musical sounds. An exquisite taste in the combination of colors may be the result of a nice perception of these relations, in the same way that an exquisite taste in music is produced by a perception of the relations of musical notes. It is unquestionable that there are some combinations of color which are universally pleasing, and others which are universally disagreeable, independently of any associations or acquired habits. To the connoisseur and lover of colors, no more lovely or beautiful sight can be presented, than the tasteful arrangement of over forty standard colors of Diamond Dye, and the one hundred rich shades and tints which are produced from them. Diamond Dye colors are scientifically prepared, and when used according to directions in the home, the results are pleasing and truly good. It would require a good sized volume to tell the comfort, joy and pleasure they are capable of giving. Mother's and daughter's dresses are made new by them; their wraps, jackets, shawls, ribbons and hose are with little trouble renewed for home and street wear. Father's and son's suits are made to look brand new; and any cast-off article of wearing apparel can be made to bloom as in the rose. The work of transformation, remember, can only be successfully accomplished by the invisible Diamond Dye.

Town elections next Tuesday.

Don't forget the Carnival in the Aberdeen Rink Wednesday eve., Feb. 6th. Windsor Band and other attractions.

The body of Mrs James Witter of Berwick, who died in Boston a short time ago, was brought to her late home this week, and the funeral was held on Wednesday.

On Tuesday evening of last week, a large party of students chaperoned by Mr Keirstead, enjoyed a drive to Kentville and vicinity behind the handsome team of greys owned by Mr W. J. Balcan.

We understand that Capt. H. Taylor has purchased the property of Mr J. S. Dudd in this town. The property is a good one, and we congratulate Capt. Taylor on securing it.

Among the strangers at the rink last Friday night we noticed Dr Percy Woodworth, of Kentville; Dr and Mrs Marworth, Mr J. W. Churchill and Miss Laura Churchill, Hantsport; and Mr Freeman Davison and Miss Kathleen Black of Windsor.

Mr Jacques, who opened a Kandy Kitchen here last December, not finding business enough to warrant a further continuance in Wolffville profitable, followed the example of the Arab, and folding up his tents silently stole back to Auburn, on Thursday of this week.

A four-horse load of students from Kings College, Windsor, drove to Wolffville on Thursday afternoon last. They stopped and had tea at the Royal, and about half-past eight drove home again making the air resound with their college yell and songs.

We are glad to learn that Mr Geo. V. Reed is improving in health, and hopes soon to be able to go out of doors. On the evening of Wednesday, Jan. 23d, Mr and Mrs J. S. Moore took to Mr Reed a splendid Rattan chair and a beautiful silk handkerchief and a pair of slippers with a written message of sympathy and respect from thirty-two ladies of Wolffville.

We are in receipt to-day of a copy of a special edition of Cope, Clark & Co.'s Canadian Almanac for 1895, printed for the enterprising corporation of H. H. Warner & Co., Ltd., of London, England, who are now the sole proprietors of Warner's Safe Cure. It is full of valuable information and reflects credit on the publishers as well as on the enterprise of the English Company.

We have received from Mr C. R. H. Starr, agent of the well-known apple firm of Northard & Lowe, a very handsome and useful calendar. It is so arranged that by a simple change of cards the day, month and year may be indicated, and the calendar will be good for an indefinite time. It is handsomely illustrated with engravings of Messrs Northard & Lowe's establishment.

Mr T. A. Munro was ordained to the eldership in St. Andrew's church on Sunday morning last; and Mr W. H. Chase, formerly an elder in St. Paul's church, Kentville, was inducted to the same office in the Wolffville and Lower Horton congregation. Prof. Falconer of the Presbyterian College, Halifax, preached a sermon very appropriate to the occasion, on the Headship of Christ. His text was Ephs. 4: 15-16.

The Orchardist is responsible for the startling announcement that bear tracks have been seen on the mountains this winter.

J. M. Owen, barrister, of Annapolis, has been appointed judge of probate for Annapolis in place of the late Judge Cowling.

It is expected that there will be a hockey match in the rink on Saturday evening, between teams from Wolffville and Hantsport.

On our first page this issue we give in full the annual report of the president of the Fruit Growers' Association. It will be found interesting reading.

The society boys had a sleigh drive to Kentville on Wednesday afternoon. Mr Balcan's greys carried the load and the boys enjoyed the trip immensely.

The bluff known as Singer Loaf on the D. A. Ry., between Hantsport and Mount Denison has been causing the railway men considerable trouble of late owing to a threatened land slide.

The different hotels in Wolffville this week have been taxed to their utmost to accommodate the guests which have had to be quartered here. The town presents a very lively appearance and the streets have quite an Anniversary look.

Mr William Hardwick met with quite a serious accident on Tuesday. He was on his way to the mountain for a load of wood, when his horses in going over a "pitch" in the road started suddenly throwing him down and giving him a severe shaking up.

Mr George B. Taylor, brother of Mrs H. P. Burton, of this town, died at Halifax on Wednesday, Jan. 23d. Mr Taylor was a man highly respected by all who knew him. For some years he had been in failing health, and visited Jamaica for his health, but gradually grew worse. The funeral was held on Saturday. Out of a family of seven Mr Butler is the sole surviving member. His wife has the sympathy of many friends in Wolffville.

Meeting of Grand Division, S. of T.

The Grand Division of the Sons of Temperance met in quarterly session at Port Williams on Wednesday and Thursday of this week. The first session opened on Wednesday afternoon at 2 o'clock, with a good attendance of representatives and visitors. In the absence of G. W. P. Guild, who was detained by illness, and G. W. A. Holloway, the chair was taken by D. G. W. P. Mills, of Annapolis. Thirteen candidates were initiated members of Grand Division. The reports of the various officers and committees were read, and showed the order to be in a flourishing condition, advance having been made during the past quarter along all lines. The Divisions number 247, with a membership of 12,762. During the past quarter eight new Divisions were organized and three others re-organized. On Wednesday evening a public meeting was held and addresses were given by leading members of the order.

A Statement of Facts.

In reference to the death, at Halifax, Jan. 2nd, of the late Wm. A. Payzant, Dentist, Wolffville, and the many unjust things to his memory that have appeared more especially in the distant press, the following communication has been sent in:

Preparing for his holiday trip Dr. Payzant contracted a cold the Saturday before the Monday morning he left home. Arriving in Montreal he was unable to leave the hotel until long rested, and it was noticed that he was not in health good enough to enjoy the entertainment freely accorded him by the family he was interested in. On the return trip, unwell and wishing to meet his father, he stepped off at Stubbenscudie, New Years day, but his father had left that very morning to visit his eldest son then sick in Newport. The storm of the day prevented telephone communication and he left for Halifax. His uncle, J. W. Bigelow, meeting him in town, advised him at once to return to Wolffville and he went out to the depot, but returned to Dr. Bigelow's office with whom he later visited the offices of Dr. Gow and Dr. Smith, only to find them absent. Every one was satiric on the eve of the great funeral occasion at that time. The full evidence is that he was deranged through an attack of La grippe, so often of a tragic terminal tendency.
